Enemy Targets From Paris To Germany Hit

Over 1,500 U. S. Heavy Bombers In Great Armada

(By The United Press)

LONDON, June 14—More than 1,500 American Flying Fortresses and Liberators blasted a chain of Nazi targets from the suburbs of Paris to western Germany today in the greatest daylight bombing assault ever hurled at the embattled continent, while waves of U. S. medium bombers smashed at enemy supplies and reinforcements moving into the battle for Caen.

Allied air forces swarmed to the attack, beginning with the first light of dawn, in a seemingly-endless parade of power that continued through the late afternoon without let-up.

The giant American bombers centered their fire on the Le Bourget, Creil, Etampes, Mondesir and Chateau-Dun air fields in France, the Brussels-Melsbroeck and Eindhoven fields in Belgium and oil refineries at Emmerich, Germany, splitting up into separate task forces for these widespread raids.

Enemy Lines Bombarded

Simultaneously, the U. S. Ninth Air force hurled 10 waves of Marauders and Havocs into a shattering bombardment of enemy installations and road lines behind Caen in direct support to the Allied armored thrust around that town.

As the heavies and mediums struck, clouds of Allied fighters and fighter-bombers slashed across the battlefront to hose the Nazi troops and tanks with machine-gun and rocket fire.

By mid-afternoon the Allied fliers were estimated to have flown over 4,000 sorties. A headquarters announcement said Anglo-American air fleets in the first week of the invasion flew about 56,000 sorties over the continent and dropped 42,000 tons of bombs.

Heavies Strike From Italy

Coincident with the daylight blows from Britain today, a strong force of fighter-escorted American heavies struck up across the Alps from Italy to bomb seven oil refineries in Hungary and Yugoslavia, including the giant Shell-Koolaz plant on the Danube river five miles south of Budapest. Good bombing results were obtained on

Allies Seize Road Junction 75 Miles From Rome In Steady Northward Push

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, June 14—Fifth army elements have swung around the heavily-defended strong point of Orbetello, 71 miles northwest of Rome, and captured the important junction of highways No. 1 and 74, some four and a half miles beyond the town, Allied headquarters announced today.

Reconnaissance elements pushed still further north.

"In the coastal sector our troops, having encountered increased resistance south of Orbetello, developed their strength in the mountains and late June 12 cut the road junction of highway No. 1 and 74. Reconnaissance elements are moving further north," said a headquarters communique.

(This movement presumably blocked the retreat route of the Germans defending Orbetello.)

To the east the Eighth army advanced 60 miles north of Rome.

Gains also were made both east and west of Lake Bolsena and Allied troops were closing in on Narni, seven and a half miles below Terni and 43 miles due north of Rome.

The town of Latera, four miles northeast of Valentano, was gathered in by Fifth army units and the advance moved on toward Gradioli, less than two miles farther northwest.

Closing In On Bolsena

Other Fifth army forces were closing in on Bolsena, on the eastern shore of the lake.

Meanwhile the Eighth army continued to march up the Tiber valley on a broad front and armored units penetrated several miles north of Magliano.

These troops were advancing under heavy shell fire directed from observation posts high in the hills. Two thousand shells screamed down on the forward troops two days ago, the Germans apparently having determined to fire every possible shell from their dumps as they fall back.

While the Germans were withdrawing in some places without resistance, elsewhere advanced Allied patrols encountered concentrated fire from automatic weapons and mortars.

Nazis Planting Mines

The Germans were planting teller mines whenever they had time, and continued demolitions on a wide scale.

Tattered remnants thrown in to slow the Allied advance ever included a number of cavalry units and much horse-drawn artillery.

The Mediterranean Air force, besides providing support for the advance north of Rome, broadened its activities, RAF night bombers attacking the Munich area early today, a few hours after between 500 and 750 American heavies blasted the same region yesterday.

Navy Blasts Hit Jap Islands In Central Pacific

Guam, Saipan And Tinian Targets In Three-Day Strike

BY J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

Big guns as well as a swarm of carrier planes poured explosives on U. S.-owned Guam and other Marianas islands during the heavy three-day strike against these enemy defenses flanking the Philippines, Tokyo radio acknowledged today.

Adm. Chester Nimitz, commander in the Central Pacific, reported the carrier task force sank 13 Japanese ships, damaged 16 and destroyed 141 planes, but did not claim that surface ships bombarded the islands. Nimitz did not say, either, that the bold foray into Japan's inner defenses had been concluded.

Islands Principal Targets

He and Tokyo agreed that Guam, Saipan and Tinian islands of the group lying approximately 1,500 miles south of Japan were the principal targets. Guam, southernmost and largest of the group, was seized by the Japanese in the first six days of the Pacific war.

This sea action and the mounting battle for Changsha in South-Central China overshadowed developments on the other fronts. Chungking revealed that the Chinese desperately defending Changsha, key point on the Hankow-Canton railway, were holding their own. The defenders turned back an enemy attempt to cross a river east of the city and killed 300 Japanese in one sector.

Besieged From Three Sides

Changsha is besieged from three sides and the invaders at one point were within six miles of the city. The Japanese need it to cut off eastern China from the Allies.

Mokmer airdrome on American-invaded Biak island off Dutch New Guinea is now in use by Fifth Army Air force planes, Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed. This meant the Allies have a new base within 880 miles and heavy-bomber range of the southern Philippines. The field came into Allied use five days after the Japanese were pried loose from the drome.

MacArthur's troops continued driving westward on Biak toward two other airfields, Sorido and

Enemy Throws 4 Divisions Into Fierce Fighting

Armored Struggle Rising In Intensity; Savage Nazi Blows Follow British Drive 23 Miles Inland; Caen Is Outflanked

BY WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, June 14—The Germans have flung four armored divisions into fierce fighting to hold their eastern battleline bastion of Caen, the Allied command announced tonight, and heavy fighting is raging at Montebourg and Troarn at opposite ends of the 100-mile front with both towns changing hands in the last 24 hours.

The savage German counteraction on the eastern flank in Normandy followed a British drive 23 miles inland outflanking Caen from the west, and the armored struggle is rising in intensity.

The four Nazi armored divisions were hurled into the area between Caen and Caumont, 20 miles southwest, seized in the hard British punch.

The U. S. Fourth division fought the Germans fiercely for Montebourg, 14 miles southeast of the strategic port of Cherbourg, and the great guns of the British battleships Rodney and Ramillies

HOW TO PRONOUNCE

Caen — French city between Cherbourg and LeHavre. Pronounced KAHN.

Rouen — French city southeast of Dieppe. Rhymes with Run-on.

Seine — French river emptying into the sea at LeHavre. Rhymes with pen.

Orne — French river emptying into the sea from the northern coast of France. Rhymes with corn.

Coutances — French city on the west side of the Cherbourg peninsula. Rhymes with two fawns.

thundered in support of the British fight to hold Troarn, town seven miles from Caen taken in an outflanking drive on that bastion to the east.

Towns Change Hands

Both Germans and the Allies have fought into and been thrown out of Montebourg and Troarn in the last 24 hours, headquarters said.

Meanwhile in the Carentan area south of the bitter Montebourg battle, other Americans of the largest U. S. force ever thrown into fighting in this war chopped deep gashes in the Nazi defense of Cherbourg peninsula.

American armored forces there smashed the Germans back, and the Berlin radio acknowledged a withdrawal of several miles west and north of Carentan, with doughboys thus apparently cutting half to two thirds of the way across the narrowest neck of the peninsula.

Yanks Give Some Ground

Headquarters said Americans fighting in the Montebourg area had to give some ground along the road to the sea.

"In some areas were continued our advance and in others the Germans had some local successes," the supreme command said in describing the whole battlefront.

The four Nazi armored divisions plunged into battle around Caen, Tilly-Sur-Seulles, Troarn, and Caumont included the 21st and 12th S. S. divisions. It was not known whether all the armor of these units was committed in battle, but all their infantry was.

Caen Said In Flames

The Germans said Caen itself was in flames and was being attacked from all sides. Berlin also reported Allied armored thrusts south of Caumont.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery launched a squeeze on Caen with his thrusts reaching 23 miles inland into the area southwest of the big anchor city.

Striking as he often did against Field Marshal Erwin Rommel in the African desert, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, Allied ground commander, sent tanks rumbling south of Bayeux along the central sector of the front. They smashed through Caumont and Villers-Bocage, then turned

Employment Group To Be Formed Here

People Reassured On New Program

BY H. I. KIEFER
Journal Staff Writer

No one should feel panicky because of the "priority referral employment plan" to be put into effect throughout the nation July 1.

This assurance came today from spokesmen for Lubbock County Council for Defense, the War Manpower Commission and the U. S. Employment Service.

At the same time, Hubert L. Allen, chairman of the Council, announced it has authorized appointment of a committee to cooperate in putting the plan into effect in Lubbock and after it has been placed in operation.

The committee may not be completed for several days, he said. It will be representative, and members will be selected with utmost care, he added.

Plan Explained In Detail

The committee was authorized after the referral plan had been explained in detail by Fred A. Wells of Amarillo, area director of WMC, and M. W. Waldron, Lubbock area manager of the U. S. Employment Service.

In explaining the plan, the officials laid particular stress upon what the employment referral system does NOT contemplate. Some people, it was noted, have gained an entirely erroneous impression of what is planned. Extreme impressions are, it was said, that government agents will start grabbing workers left and right and sending them where they

Plans Shaped For Parade

Plans for the Fifth War Loan drive military parade here Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock took definite shape at a meeting of the parade committee this morning according to Walter F. Smith, chairman.

Honor guests will be Gold Star Mothers, who will view the parade from a special reviewing stand on the balcony of Lubbock hotel.

Special guests in the parade will be wearers of the Order of the Purple Heart — men who have been wounded in action. They are to meet at West Texas Recruiting and Induction center at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Transportation will be provided there for them.

Shackelford Grand Marshal

Maj. George W. Shackelford, provost marshal of LAAF, will be grand marshal of the parade, and the order of march follows: SPAAF bands and units; LAAF bands and units, including WAC unit; Texas State Guard units; 3086th College Training unit, Texas Technological college, with band; ROTC and ASTRP units, Texas Technological college; and West Texas Recruiting and Induction center representatives.

The parade will form at the city hall, Texas avenue and Tenth street and will break up at

Parity Farm Prices Voted

House Beats Down Textile Proposal

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The House wrote into the price control extension bill by a voice vote today an amendment designed to guarantee parity prices for all farm commodities, by penalizing processors who do not pay parity.

The proposal, with administration support, was approved after the administration won a thumping victory as the House beat down, 87 to 191, the Senate-approved Bankhead-Brown cotton textile amendment to the bill.

Offered by Rep. Pace (D-Ga), the parity amendment would require processors to pay parity for farm commodities, or else they could charge only up to 90 per cent of OPA ceiling prices for their commodities.

Cotton Chiefly Affected

Cotton would be chiefly affected, since it is the only major farm commodity now selling below parity. It now is about 1 cent below the 21.08 parity figure.

The vote on the Bankhead-Brown amendment came after House Majority Leader McCormack, of Massachusetts, told the House President Roosevelt would veto the measure extending price controls for another year, if it contained this amendment.

Declaring the proposal was inflationary, McCormack declared: "I cannot conceive of the bill becoming law with this amendment, unless over the veto of the President."

Southerners For Amendment

All except a few Republican members threw their strength with the administration in voting. Southern Democrats voted almost solidly for the cotton textile amendment, revising textile ceilings to reflect a parity price for raw cotton and assure textile mills a reasonable profit.

Before rejecting the Bankhead-Brown amendment, the House defeated 103 to 189 an amendment by Rep. Crawford (R-Mich) that would have forbidden OPA mak-

Reds Active On Northern Front

Forces Advance On Port Of Viipuri

LONDON, June 14 (AP) — Red army troops have advanced to within 30 miles of the important port of Viipuri, crushing Finnish troops resisting from strongly fortified positions, Moscow announced today and enemy reports said Russia's whole northern front from the Arctic to the White sea and Gulf of Finland was ablaze with action.

Finnish and German radio broadcasts declared the Russians were attacking in the Lisa sector between the Arctic ports of Murmansk and Petsamo, and Berlin asserted Soviet forces also were striking southwest of Narva in Estonia.

In addition, the broadcasts said, there was reconnaissance activity in the Kandalaksha sector on the shore of the White sea, 550 miles northwest of Viipuri, and near Loukhi, on the railway from Archangel across Finland to the Gulf of Bothnia.

Capture Strongpoints

The Moscow communique was restricted to the Karelian isthmus fighting, saying Soviet troops captured several Finnish strongpoints during yesterday's battling and listing five in the area of Kivunnapa taken Monday.

The Russians are within 20 miles of the Mannerheim line, main defense barrier across the Karelian isthmus, Moscow bulletins indicated, after cleaving the second belt of approaches.

Finnish advices relayed through Stockholm said that stout resistance was confronting the Russians in the Kivennappa sector, with the Vammelsuu river front still intact.

One dispatch from Helsinki via Stockholm said some sections of the Finnish press advocated a defend-or-die spirit, but other advices said the Finns, resentful of lack of German aid, were ready to evacuate not only Viipuri but virtually the entire isthmus.

Germans Expect New Invasion Of France

LONDON, June 14 (AP) — The Germans are expecting a new Allied invasion in France, their propaganda indicated today.

Vichy radio, quoting a Berlin military spokesman, said important Allied shipping had been sighted in the Bay of Biscay off southwestern France, near the Spanish coast.

The Berlin correspondent of La Suisse in Geneva said German observers expected "important new events" on the Atlantic coast within 48 hours, with the expectations based on alleged reports of Allied fleet movements in the English channel and activity in British invasion ports.

Possibly put out as feelers, the German hints drew no response from Allied quarters. The Bay of Biscay area is about 400 miles below the Norm ndy front.

Mrs. Farmer Resigns Post

HOUSTON, June 14 (AP)—Mrs. James F. Farmer of Fort Worth has submitted her resignation as a member of the state Democratic executive committee and withdrawn her name as an independent candidate for presidential elector, Chairman George A. Butler of the state committee announced today.

Mrs. Farmer is a sister-in-law of Chief Justice James P. Alexander of the State Supreme court, before which pro-Roosevelt forces are seeking a mandamus to comple the state committee to certify the names of their electors on the July primary ballot.

Committee Meets Monday

The executive committee, meeting in Dallas Monday, voted against such certification, and the pro-Roosevelt group then took the matter to the court.

Beyond the announcement that he had received a telegram from Mrs. Farmer resigning from the state committee and withdrawing as a candidate for elector, Chairman Butler refused to comment on the elector controversy.

Mrs. Farmer was one of five "independent" candidates who filed for elector. In addition to the independents the pro-Roosevelt Democrats have offered a full slate of 23 electors and the "regular" Democrats have 23 electors who were named at the recent state convention.

Nazis Say Le Havre Under Heavy Attack

LONDON, June 14 (AP) — The Berlin radio said tonight that "heavy and super heavy Allied naval guns shelled Le Havre today."

There was no Allied confirmation of the report. German broadcasts frequently have asserted that the Allies were planning a land drive to take the strategic port at the mouth of the Seine river.

Le Havre is about 20 miles northeast of the eastern edge of the present beachhead in Normandy.

Theater And Tire Store Burglarized

Money and merchandise, valued at $148 were taken in two burglaries reported this morning to police.

Joe Bryant, manager, said $63 was taken from the office when his Midway theater, at 1805 Broadway, was entered through a back door.

Four new tires valued at $85 were taken from B. E. Needles' tire and service station, at 1502 Avenue H, it was reported by Belverd Needles. A window was broken.

Operator Of Liquor Store Shot To Death

FORT WORTH, June 14 (AP) — William Eldridge Selden, operator of a package store at Azle, was killed and State Liquor Inspector Paul L. Jordan wounded in a shooting last night near Azle—14 miles from Fort Worth on the Jacksboro highway.

Justice of the Peace Gus Brown returned an inquest verdict that Selden died of gunshot wounds at the hand of Jordan.

Jordan said he fired three times at Selden after the liquor dealer shot once, grazing Jordan's arm and inflicting a flesh wound in his left side. The inspector said he confiscated three cases of liquor.

An elderly employe of Selden, jailed in Fort Worth, was released today after making a statement about the shooting.

In Austin, State Liquor Administrator Bert Ford said Jordan's home was in Rosenberg and that he had been employed by the liquor board since May 6, 1942.

Jordan said he and W. B. Russell, an undercover agent, met two men for a pre-arranged purchase of liquor in wholesale quantities. The shooting started when Jordan announced he was an inspector and that the men were under arrest, he said.

Jury Completed For Rape, Incest Trial

LAMESA, June 14 (Special) — A jury for hearing evidence in the rape and incest charges against W. M. Harris had been completed when special Judge J. E. Garland recessed court at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Evidence was to be presented early this afternoon.

Harris, father of 13 children, is charged in two indictments with statutory rape, rape by force, threat and fraud and incest. Complaining witness is his 14-year-old daughter.

C. O. Key of Lamesa is counsel for Harris, and Karl Cayton, Dawson county attorney, is assisting District Attorney Rollin McCord in prosecution.

Approximately 30 members of a special venire of 75 men were exhausted in efforts to complete the jury.

Another special venire of 40 men called in connection with a rape charge against a negro was discharged when the case against the black was continued, court officials said.

Rehearing For Newton Denied

AUSTIN, June 14 (U.P.) — The Texas court of criminal appeals today overruled the state's motion for a rehearing of the case of Dr. W. R. Newton of Cameron, whose seven-year sentence for alleged assault to murder Dr. Roy Hunt of Littlefield, his former classmate, had been set aside and new trial ordered.

The decision leaves the case for retrial in Lamb county.

The court here had reversed and remanded the case last March 15, but a rehearing was requested by Dist. Atty. H. M. LaFont, who contended that testimony of persons at the home of Dr. Hunt about a telephone conversation conducted by Dr. Hunt was admissible. The court had excluded it as hearsay.

Charged In Shooting

Dr. Newton, prominent Central Texas physician, was charged with shooting Dr. Hunt on a road near Littlefield the night of May 21, 1942, after Dr. Hunt said he had gone out in response to a telephone message purporting to come from Mrs. Newton.

Dr. Hunt identified Dr. Newton as a man who came from behind an automobile and shot him. Mrs. Newton also was indicted in the case but has not been tried.

On Oct. 26, 1943, Dr. Hunt and his wife both were found brutally slain in their home at Littlefield. James Thomas, an ex-convict, was indicted last April on a charge of being the killer.

PLANS FOR NEW TRIAL WILL BE SHAPED

OWI Tightens Bans On Its Magazines

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—Director Elmer Davis of the Office of War information was disclosed today to have laid down a "tighter editorial control" over the contents of magazines OWI publishes for overseas distribution.

Acting Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) of the Senate appropriations committee had criticized a recent issue of Victory magazine, an OWI publication printed in several foreign languages, for an article which he said led people to think that United States is promising relief to "take care of 20,000,000 people, wandering homeless in Europe."

Davis, in a statement to the committee, said he had reviewed the story in question and was "in agreement with the committee that the article did go too far."

"As a result, we are setting up a tighter editorial control of the contents of our magazines," Davis added.

Wichita Falls Man Leads In Vote For Methodist Bishop

TULSA, Okla., June 14. (AP) — Dr. Paul Martin of Wichita Falls, moved into a strong lead on the ninth ballot today in voting on the second bishop's post to be filled at the Methodist church's south central jurisdiction conference here.

Dr. Martin, pastor of the Wichita Falls First Methodist church, polled 135 votes on the ninth count to 75 for Dr. Charles E. Schofield, president of Southwestern college of Winfield, Kas. A total of 173 votes—a three-fifths majority — was needed to elect.

The early leader in the race, Dr. Paul Quillian of Houston, apparently had dropped out of the running. On the third ballot, Dr. Quillian had 108 votes to 102 for Dr. Schofield and 25 for Dr. Martin. The other votes were divided among several candidates.

Dr. Smith Elected

Dr. William Angie Smith, pastor of the First Methodist church of Dallas, was elected bishop on the second ballot of the conference last night, receiving 200 votes to 81 for Dr. Quillian and 75 for Dr. Schofield.

On the third ballot, Dr. Quillian received 95 voted and Dr. Scho-

Carlsbad Threatened With Ice Shortage

CARLSBAD, N. M., June 14 (U.P.) —An ice shortage is threatening the town of Carlsbad with food spoilage and other inconveniences, and city officials today had sought the aid of Rep. Clinton Anderson.

The city normally uses some 100,000 pounds of ice daily during summer months. Now, however, only about 20,000 pounds are being produced by the Bond Ice Co., the sole ice plant in the town.

Opening of an additional plant has been held up because of the delay in arrival of needed equipment. Company officials said today that the equipment is from an eastern factory, and has been held up by priorities.

Pearl Harbor Defenses Said Delayed By 'Mismanagement'

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP) — The House military committee said today "mismanagement" on the part of an Army engineer colonel contributed to delays in pre-war defense installations at Pearl Harbor. Also it said the major stockholder of the company doing the installing job was a German-born Californian who acquired American citizenship three months before the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Had an aircraft warning system been completed on schedule, the committee said, it "might have robbed the Japanese attack of much of the element of surprise."

Principals in the formal report, submitted to the House by the committee without comment other than the verbal statement of Chairman May (D-Ky) that "the next move is up to the War department," were:

'Pearl Harbor' Bill Is Signed

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP) — Against the recommendation of the secretaries of war and navy, President Roosevelt today signed legislation extending the statute of limitations for possible trials growing out of the Pearl Harbor disaster and directing the services to investigate the catastrophe and commence proceedings "as the facts may justify."

The measure extends the statute of limitations six months from June 7—until December 7, 1944.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early announced that the President approved the legislation last night, several days after the June 7 deadline for the trials had expired.

In an accompanying statement, the President expressed confidence that Congress does not intend for investigations of the Pearl Harbor raid to interfere with the war effort in any way. It was fear of such interference which prompted Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of Navy Forrestal to suggest that the President withhold his approval.

While Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel and Maj. General Walter C. Short, commanding at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese struck, have waived the statute of limitations as to trial in their cases, an indefinite number of other persons are affected by the legislation.

Nazis Holding Back Planes In Normandy

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, June 14 (AP) — The German air force now has some 500 single-engined fighters within tactical range of the Normandy battlefields, it was disclosed at supreme headquarters today, and their relative inactivity is baffling to observers.

The first of three major mysteries was the small amount of air reconnaissance over Britain by the Germans during the weeks before invasion. German reconnaissance was so "astonishingly" small, one air expert said, that the Germans could have had little idea of the vast-scale invasion preparations under way.

The second mystery is why the Germans, losing ground in the battle of Normandy, have not made more use of 500 bombers they officially are believed to have distributed among the fields between the battle front and Germany.

The third is why the German air force has not decided whether to fight or not to fight. Since D-day swarms of German fighters have sometimes swooped down to tangle with our fighter-bombers while on other occasions sizeable formations hovered in the clouds during an Allied attack and our planes were unable to coax them into a fight.

Churchill Lays Allied Successes To Unity

LONDON, June 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, in a United Nations day message, declared Tuesday that as final victory is approached it is fitting "we should emphasize unity which alone can make it possible."

"We honor the cause of the United Nations," Churchill said. "This is the cause of good men throughout the world. It is the cause which inspires energies and claims the loyalties of the greatest alliance that history has ever assembled to do battle against the powers of evil."

HEALTH QUIZ

	YES	NO
Do you have poor digestion?	☐	☐
Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested, lie sour and heavy within you.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's, taken as directed, aid digestion after Nature's own order. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—only 25¢. You'll be glad you did.

CIO's Political Aims Defended

WASHINGTON, June 14 (U.P.)—The CIO political action committee, in view of "what we think the Republican party is going to do," has no choice but to support President Roosevelt for re-election, Chairman Sidney Hillman said today.

Testifying at a hearing of the Senate campaign expenditures committee, in which Republican and Democratic members clashed over charges that CIO witnesses were being "harrassed," Hillman said his organization is urging the Democratic party to "draft" the President and will continue to support him after the Chicago convention if he is nominated.

Says Singled Out

Earlier, Hillman had asserted in a statement that his committee is violating no laws and that if Congress is going to turn the spotlight on organized political activity, it ought also to investigate groups "spawned by big business." He said the CIO committee does not object to being investigated but added:

"We take exception only to the fact that labor has been singled out as a target."

Sen. Joseph H. Ball, R., Minn., asked Hillman if CIO posters displaying a portrait of the President with the legend, "1-A in our draft," could be "squared" with provisions of the Smith-Connally anti-strike act which bans campaign contributions by labor unions.

Referred To Counsel

Hillman turned the question over to John J. Abt, political action counsel, who told Ball that the poster is not a "contribution to a campaign" because there isn't any campaign.

"No one has been nominated yet," Abt said, "so there isn't any campaign. I would say this comes under the heading of an 'expenditure', rather than a contribution."

"Well, then, Mr. Hillman," Ball said, "that means that after the President is nominated and a campaign is on that you will stop supporting him?"

"In view of what we think the Republican party is going to do," Hillman said, "we will have no choice but to support him."

Neyland Replaced As Chief Army Engineer

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—Transfer of Brig. Gen. E. H. Marks to southwest division headquarters of the army engineers, with headquarters in Dallas, Texas, was announced today by the office of Chairman Mansfield (D-Texas) of the House rivers and harbors committee.

Marks leaves tonight for Texas, where he served from 1933 to 1937 as army engineer at Galveston. For the past two years he has been commanding general of the replacement center at Fort Belvoir, Va. He replaces Col. Robert Neyland at Dallas as chief engineer of the division. Neyland left Dallas last week for overseas duty.

Britain Sides With U. S. On De Gaulle

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—Great Britain has officially indicated that it will go along with United States policy toward General Charles De Gaulle, it was learned today.

The notice, untangling a year-long diplomatic snarl, arrived not long ahead of announcement in London that the exile governments of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Luxembourg and Belgium, are recognizing De Gaulle's French committee as a provisional government. It served to offset the embarrassment created by the exiles' action.

The United States has held out against such recognition for the Algiers committee before a liberated French people can make their own views known. The contention here has been that General Dwight D. Eisenhower should be free to deal with whom he chooses in French areas his invading troops set free.

Britain had leaned a good deal further toward acceptance of De Gaulle's demands for recognition.

The British message presumably was a reply to President Roosevelt's formula for dealing with De Gaulle, sent to London three months ago.

General De Gaulle is expected to come here late this month or early next month to confer with President Roosevelt.

Latin Americans May Get Small Vessels

WASHINGTON, June 14 (U.P.)—The House naval affairs committee today approved legislation to permit the outright transfer, by sale or otherwise, of small naval vessels—under 1,000 gross tons—to other American republics "for the purpose of aiding the defense of the Americas."

The measure, endorsed by President Roosevelt and the Navy as reported by the committee, contained a stipulation that if the vessels were requisitioned by the government for war purposes they must first be offered for resale to the former owners. If the former owners do not decide to repurchase, they must be offered to other persons in the United States. If they still are not purchased, they then may be transferred to a Latin American republic.

Local Man's Brother Dies Unexpectedly

S. B. Summers of eight miles northeast of Lubbock left this morning for Santa Fe after being informed that his only brother, Tom Summers, 64, had died unexpectedly Tuesday at Springerville, Ariz., which is across the border from his New Mexico ranch.

The New Mexican divided his time at the ranch and at his Santa Fe, N. M., residence.

He was warden 16 years of the New Mexico state penitentiary, subsequently chief of police at Santa Fe six years, after which he retired.

Funeral services will be read Friday at Santa Fe.

Miss Harriett Price Is Lieutenant's Bride; To Live In Hastings

From Pampa comes word of the marriage of Miss Harriett Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Price, and Lt. Otis F. Lowry, Army Air Forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Lowry of Freeport, which was solemnized in that city at the home of the bride's parents with Rev. Robert Boshen officiating.

Mrs. R. G. Patterson, the bride's sister, was matron of honor and Lt. John E. Witt of Adrian was best man. Mrs. Lowry wore a rose tinted slipper satin wedding gown ending in a long train and a veil of illusion attached to a coronet of seed pearls. The dress was worn by her two sisters at their weddings.

After a wedding trip to Santa Fe, the couple will be at home in Hastings, Neb. Mrs. Lowry is a former student at Texas Technological college where she was a pledge to DFD social club and a nominee for campus beauty. She has been employed in the Pampa First National bank for the past year and a half.

Lt. Lowry is a former student at Texas A. and M. college and Tech college. He received his wings and commission at Pampa Army Air field.

Mesdames Robert Stone, Ann Penh Aston and S. C. McCarty presided at the refreshment table. They were assisted in serving by Mary Frances and Jean Patterson and Jean Shelley and Charlene Smith.

Vets Administration Seeking Employes

With more than ten thousand men and women being discharged each month from the armed services, the work of the Veterans administration become increasingly heavy demanding more stenographers and typists, W. S. Sampley, civil service representative, said here today, initiating a drive to recruit personnel for employment with the Veterans administration at Amarillo and other points in Texas.

"The new employes will work approximately 30 days at the Veterans administration at Amarillo, Waco, or Legion before they will be transferred at government expense to work for the Veterans administration in Washington, D. C.," Sampley said.

The Veterans administration will arrange for economical and comfortable housing for recruits in Washington, and will meet them at the train to escort them to their new homes.

Contrary to public opinion, housing is easy to obtain in Washington, Sampley declared, emphasizing that rentals range from $20 to $30 a month for room and from $40 to $50 a month for room and board.

Typists and stenographers are urged to see Sampley or his associate, Mrs. Marion Hiatt, at the U. S. Employment Service for an immediate appointment. Applicants must pass a civil service test. Appointments are made in conformance to WMC regulation.

Federal Jury Favors Defendant In Suit

After hearing testimony which lasted one and one-half days, the jury in federal district court here Tuesday returned a verdict in favor of the defendant in the civil case of W. D. Wilkins and others against Ed Grier and others, a suit for damages and for infringement of patent. The case was opened Monday morning before Federal District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson and the jury's verdict was returned shortly after noon Tuesday.

Another civil case, California Land and Cattle company against C. I. Bedford and Son and others, a suit for damages and breach of contract, opened at 10 o'clock this morning. This is the last jury case on the docket. The June term of federal district court, which opened here Monday of last week, is scheduled to end sometime Friday.

Amazing results in building STURDY BODIES!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

YOUNG people, especially those of grammar and high school age, are prone to be deficient in stomach digestive juices and red-blood.

A growing person who is operating on a 65 to 70% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped.

In such cases Nature needs extra help. Organic troubles or focal infection, if they exist, must be corrected. Tissue foods must be digested and rich, red-blood must be present to build sturdy bodies.

SSS Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach which digest the food so the body can make proper use of it in tissue building and repair and (2) to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient.

These two important results enable the body to make use of the food as Nature intended. Thus you may gain a keen appetite . . . firm flesh . . . body energy . . . mental alertness!

Build Sturdy Health and Help America Win

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits SSS Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "SSS Tonic builds sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again." At drugstores in 10 and 20 oz. sizes. © S.S.S. Co.

Ross Funeral Is Set Today

Services for Rev. D. C. Ross, 92, organizer of many South Plains churches and former Methodist circuit rider, were to be held at 4 p. m. today at the Asbury Methodist church with Rev. C. A. Bickley, pastor, officiating. Rev. J. R. Wood, Rev. O. A. Graydon and others were to assist in the service.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery under direction of Sanders Funeral home. The minister died Tuesday at his home, 1924 Twenty-second street, following an illness of several months.

He is survived by Mrs. Saunders, seven nephews, four nieces, 21 great-nephews, and 19 great-nieces. Four generations of the family now reside in Lubbock.

Pallbearers were to be C. H. Campbell, Jake Sligar, E. D. Smallin, Arch Harper, E. B. Merrill and B. L. Williamson.

Born Nov. 19, 1852, Mr. Ross had been preaching in West Texas since 1902. He received his ministerial license at the age of 19 and became a trail blazer for Christianity as a preacher of the faith. He was a man of strong faith and convictions and always preached in small churches at small pay.

Helped Organize Asbury

First contributor to the erection of the Mexican Methodist church, Mr. Ross was one of the prime movers behind the organization of the Asbury church here and continued working as one of its most loyal and outstanding backers. In 1915 he retired from active ministry and moved to Lubbock to live with his daughter, Mrs. Minnie Saunders, only survivor of the five children. Mrs. Ross died here Aug. 22, 1922.

He began his ministry in Arkansas, and his service in the West Texas conference when he moved to Texas in 1902. In 1910 he came to the Northwest Texas conference and was stationed at Turkey, later at Abernathy. He held pastorates in Junction City, Water Valley, Fredonia, and Rochelle. Superannuated in 1915, he did supply preaching in the Lubbock and West Lubbock, Muleshoe, Plains and Morton circuits.

Over 5,000 Conversions

Mr. Ross led in the building of churches and parsonages at many points and led to conversion of more than 5,000 persons. From that number, a great many became ministers. He organized churches in New Hope, Woodrow,, Carlisle, Hurlwood, Sudan, Bledsoe, Shallowater, Liberty, Idalou, Canyon, Muleshoe, Goodman, Grovesville, Wilson and Enochs.

Worley Seeks Harvest Help For Panhandle

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—Rep. Worley (D-Tex) seeks assignment of war prisoners and allocations of additional combines and tractors to the Texas Panhandle in anticipation of labor and machinery shortages when wheat harvesting begins late this month in the area.

The Texan likewise urged War department officials to allow American soldiers stationed in that area to work in the fields provided it would not interfere with their regular duties.

Funeral Set Thursday For Mrs. Williams

Funeral services for Mrs. W. L. Williams, 42, of Route 2, Lubbock, will be conducted at 3 p. m. Thursday at the First Baptist church with Rev. Chas. J. McCarty, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, and Dr. C. E. Herzford, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating.

Burial will be in the Lubbock cemetery with the Rix Funeral home directing.

Mrs. Williams, who died in a local hospital Tuesday after an illness of several months, came to Lubbock county about 18 years ago from Oregon.

Survivors are her husband, three sons, Wayne, Jimmie and Jackie of the home; one daughter, Mrs. Garland Stokes, Route 3; four sisters, Mrs. Leo Davis and Mrs. Alfred Dickens of Glendale, Calif., Mrs. Horace Neely of Long Beach, Mrs. Wayne Beebe of Oklahoma City; two brothers, Turner Ball of Santa Paula, Calif., and Clifford Ball, who is in the armed service overseas.

An Advertisement Addressed to Buyers of BLACK MARKET Gasoline

Phillips's production of 100-octane gasoline could fuel enough Flying Forts to drop 3,000 tons of bombs on the "Invasion Coast" every day!

Gasoline shortage on the home front is a grim reality, and gasoline rationing is our American system of sharing the available supplies fairly, in accordance with car-owners' essential needs.

Why is gasoline short?...Re-read the headline above. It is presented not in boastful spirit, but in explanation of one of the vital military uses of the gasoline which you cannot purchase.

Remember, Phillips is only one of many producers of 100-octane aviation gasoline, of butadiene for synthetic rubber, of various fuels for ships and tanks and combat cars. The petroleum raw materials which go into the literally oceans of these military fuels are obviously not available for the manufacture of civilian supplies of gasoline.

Every Black Market purchase reduces the already greatly diminished pool of gasoline which must suffice for our country's essential transportation needs. That is why no thinking, patriotic American will be a Black Buyer. And without Black Buyers there can be no Black Markets.

So do your patriotic part to break the Black Market in gasoline: Endorse every gasoline ration coupon in your possession. Don't accept any gasoline at any price without giving up coupons. And most important of all, use the legal gasoline you buy for, essential driving only.

Red Sox Gaining As Pennant Contenders

Reds Hit Skids In National League

(By The Associated Press)

The Boston Red Sox are blossoming out as pennant contenders in the American league while the Cincinnati Reds have hit the skids in the National loop.

The second place Sox chalked up their sixth straight win yesterday by beating the Philadelphia Athletics, 7 to 2, behind the veteran Joe Bowman. Meantime, Cincinnati dropped its fourth in a row as Ray Starr, waived from the Reds two weeks ago, pitched Pittsburgh to a 3 to 2 triumph in a five-inning fray halted by rain.

Dutch Leonard, veteran knuckleball flinger for the Washington Senators, extended the New York Yankees' losing streak to seven straight. Dutch rubbed it in by shutting out the New Yorkers, 3 to 0, under the arcs.

Cards Wallop Cubs

Sparked by Danny Litwhiler, who bashed out three doubles and a single, the first place St. Louis Cardinals walloped the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 3. Southpaw Max Lanier was credited with his seventh win of the campaign although George Munger relieved him in the eighth.

Trailing until the ninth the league-leading St. Louis Browns banged over three runs to beat the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 3, for Jack Kramer's eighth triumph. A single by Mark Christman with the bases full was the deciding blow.

The Phillies snapped a five-game losing streak by beating the Boston Braves, 8 to 7, in the second game of a doubleheader. Jim "No-Hit" Tobin twirled the Braves to a 2 to 1 triumph in the opener.

Three home runs, one of them by Dixie Walker with two on in the fifth, gave Brooklyn a 9 to 4 decision over the Giants as Ed Head registered his second win of the season.

The Detroit-Cleveland game was rained out.

Barrett Upholds An Old Pirate Custom

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP)—Wartime innovations and experiments have turned things topsy-turvy in the National League but there remains one note of normalcy — a player wearing the uniform of the Pittsburgh Pirates is leading the circuit in the manufacture of three-base blows.

John Joseph Barrett, who takes his cuts from the wrong side of the plate, has bashed out seven triples, two more than runnerup Phil Cavarretta of the Chicago Cubs. The averages include games of Monday, June 12.

The Crown in this division of batting has been considered Pirate property ever since 1900, primarily through the efforts of Honus Wagner and Arky Vaughan. Each led the league three years in that specialty. Paul Waner, then a Buc, topped the circuit in 1926 and 1927.

J. Owen (Chief) Wilson of the 1912 Pirates, set the present loop record of 36 in a season. It's the oldest mark in the National League book.

Despite Barrett's triples, Dixie Walker of the Brooklyn Dodgers continues as the league's outstanding batter with an average of .416—a drop of 10 points from his dizzy aggregate of a week ago. Walker also has the most hits, 82, and his 18 doubles is the league's best collection.

SPAAF Softballers Down Keith's 10-2

Breaking away with a four-run splurge in the third inning, the South Plains Army Air field Varieties softball ten romped away to a 10 to 2 victory Tuesday evening over Keith's Wizzers in the season's opener for both teams in the men's softball loop.

Hyder donned the mask for the Varieties while Ingersoll pitched his way to victory by whiffing seven of the Wizzers and allowing only three hits during the seven innings. Hood and Conditt composed the battery for the Wizzers.

Wakeland homered for the South Plains boys in the final inning with no one aboard, and bringing the final count to 10 to 2.

The 23rd street and Avenue W basin will again be the scene of action this evening with the Hurlwood All-Stars taking on the Federal Employes.

Score:

SPAAF Varieties	104 220 1—10
Keith's Wizzers	100 000 1— 2

Six Men Arrested On Gambling Charges

PHILADELPHIA, June 14 (AP)—Acting upon baseball fans' complaints, vice squad detectives went into Shibe Park yesterday and arrested six men on gambling charges at the doubleheader between the Boston Braves and the Phillies.

From five of the men, accused of bookmaking, the detectives took a total of $4,210. The sixth man, they said, served as a "lookout," who was supposed to tip the others off to the presence of police.

At least 30,000,000 tires are considered necessary to meet essential wartime driving.

Passing Rules Liberalized

Coast Loop Votes 'Flashy' Football

HOOD RIVER, Ore., June 14 (AP)—A flashier brand of collegiate football was voted today by Pacific Coast conference coaches who ruled in favor of forward passes from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage.

The move, admittedly toward a more spectacular game, was the first time any American collegiate league has adopted the professional grid practice.

The new rule is in direct opposition to the N.C.A.A. code, which calls for a five-yard restraining wall behind the scrimmage line for forward passing, and may have lively national repercussions. The effect on future intersectional games was the subject of lively speculation among coaches who also voted to eliminate the intentional kickoff out of bounds.

To Kick Downfield

Every effort will be made to instruct players to kick downfield —"to preserve one of the most colorful, vital plays in the game" coaches said, but in cases where kickoffs unintentionally go out of bounds, regular rulebook provisions will be followed.

After going against the N.C.A.A. in the forward pass vote, the conference coaches made three suggestions to the national football rules committee.

1.—Penalties inside the 10-yard line should not exceed half the distance to the goal line; no penalty outside the 10-yard line should place the ball closer to the goal than five yards.

2.—Defensive teams be permitted to advance any recovered fumble.

3.—That the penalty on downfield forward-lateral passes be reduced from the present fine that brings the ball back to the point of origin of play.

Optimist Club Stops ABC Demons 4 To 1

A well pitched six-hitter by Davidson brought the Optimist club Demons a 4 to 1 victory over the American Business club in the American league junior baseball game Tuesday afternoon at Tech field.

The Demons took the lead in the third inning and were never headed off as Davidson improved in the late innings. Five of the six hits off the Optimist ace came in the first three innings, and he breezed through the final four frames without the least trouble.

Mickey McCollum pitched for the losers, and was stingy with base hits in the pinches, but was nicked for safe blows in every inning. He gave up 13 hits in the seven innings, but tightened in the pinches to keep down the score.

Davidson struck out seven men, most of them coming in the home stretch, and in three of the last four innings he retired the side in order, and faced only four men in the other.

California occupies more than one-half of the Pacific coastline of the United States.

Ed Robertson stopped the "reign of terror" started last week by the Hemphill-Wells Cats as he turned in a well pitched four-hitter to best Bob Galey 3 to 2 and give the West Texas Gassers a .500 rating in the league standings.

It was the best game of the season, and was a real battle all the way with Bob Galey pitching great baseball for the losers, but his mates were never able to overcome the Gassers. Galey allowed the winners only three hits, and kept these well scattered.

One Bad Inning

Robertson ran into a little trouble in the fifth inning when Hemphill-Well staged a rally that put them back in the ball game, but after getting by this troublesome spot, Robertson finished strong to whiff the last three men in the seventh for a game total of seven strikeouts. Galey whiffed an even dozen.

Galey retired the first four men on an easy roller and three strikeouts, then Seth Murphy blasted a lusty triple and came home on a fielder's choice. Galey then came out of the hole by forcing the next man to pop up and the next to roll out to the pitcher.

Galey Has Trouble

Galey fanned three in a row in the third, but in the fourth again ran into trouble. Newsome singled and stole second. After Ragland had popped out, Murphy was hit with a pitched ball, then a series of errors and passed balls moved both runners around the bases to give the Gassers a 3 to 0 lead.

Robertson had his trouble in the fifth when Walker led off with a single. Galey walked and Benefield filled the bases with another single. An error then shoved across two runs before Robertson could get them out.

The Cats will return to action again today, facing David Coursey's Sears and Roebuck nine.

High School Sports Teams Help Relieve Manpower Shortage

AUSTIN, June 14 (AP)—When the manpower situation became knotty in East Texas, Horace Kirshner, area director of the War Manpower commission, figured high school students below the draft age could help out.

Kirshner staged a 30-day recruitment campaign and to date 374 of 767 youth who registered have jobs in railroad, food processing and pulpwood industries.

Some of the results:

The Judson Consolidated High school football team is working for the Texas and Pacific railroad at Longview.

The Pale Tine and Frankston High school teams are working for a pulp mill.

The Henderson High school team is working in a tomato packing shed.

Vitamin B-1 Tablets Have Buoyed Ancient Gus Mancuso Into Regular Catching Berth

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP)—Those vitamin B-1 tablets, to which Mel Ott attributes his remarkable home run scurge, have given ancient Gus Mancuso a new lease on life.

One of the oldest catcher in the major leagues in point of service, Mancuso apparently has won the New York Giants' first string receiving job from Ernie Lombardi.

Inserted into a revived lineup on May 23, the swarthy 38-year-old Texan made two hits and drove in a pair of runs. Since then, Gus has handled the pitchers flawlessly.

Batting .372

Including Tuesday's game, Mancuso has caught 15 of the last 19 games and made 16 hits in 43 at bats for an average of .372. Besides, he has coaxed nine free passes.

"Yes, I've been taking the same pills Ottie has and they're wonderful. I take a shot every night before I go to bed, Gus says.

Mancuso credit the vitamins for his increase in speed. Of late, he has been going from first to third on an outfield hit and has even outlegged a couple of infield hits.

OUR old chum, Senor Eduardo Pooley, el editor de El Paso Herald-Post, has recently done some serious research at a cost, no doubt, of considerable time and study. Piqued by suggestions that some of our generals are unusually young, Senor Pooley checked upon the great military leaders of the past and comes up with the discovery that many of them were "mere kids" when at the very height of their fame.

Gen. Mark Wayne Clark, the leader of our conquering army in Italy, is 48, which, of course, is something less than a doddering age. But Alex the Great, whom Mr. Pooley finds was only 21 when he walloped the Persians, died at 34, after cleaning up on everything in sight.

Brig. Gen. Edward J. Timberlake, jr., somewhere in the Mediterranean theater, won't be 35 until next November and, as far as we can find, is the youngest man with stars in our forces today. He is an airman and the son of an old Army family; has two brothers who are older but who also are generals. But Frederick the Great was 32 when he won his first war and Hannibal, the elephant boy, was 31 at Cannae, according to the Pooley findings.

General Eisenhower, at 54, still gets around without a cane as he directs the greatest military campaign in world history. But Napoleon was 37 at Austerlitz; Jeb Stuart rode around McClellan at 29, and Phil Sheridan was 33 when he directed the ravagement of the Shenandoah. Atilla the Hun was quite some commander himself at 41. Sherman scourged helpless Georgia at 44.

We think of George Washington as being an old codger, because most of the pictures around and about show him as such. But he was four years younger at Trenton than General Clark is today, and was only one year older when Cornwallis threw in the towel at Yorktown. A guy you might not ever have heard of, but who was quite a military strategist just the same, was one Belisarius. At 28 he chased the Vandals out of Africa and by the time he was 31 he had conquered Sicily, Southern Italy and Rome. Senor Pooley comments that there's no telling how far Belisarius might have gone if he hadn't had trouble with his wife, who disturbed him no end.

ONE of the greatest present day commanders, and an oldtimer who probably was the finest fighting man the world has ever produced, have something in common. They are Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who consistently accomplishes more with less than any U. S. leader in the current war; and the astonishing Genghis Kahn, whose hordes scattered progeny over Europe to such an extent that a trace of Mongolian cast remains in the faces of millions now scattered over the world. Genghis Kahn was 66 when he trounced the Turks at Angora, as compared with MacArthur's current 64 as he pounds the Japs on every side. Genghis kicked the bucket in a most prosaic manner at 69. But up to the last minute he was a hell-for-leather guy and at the time he was cut down by the Old Man with the Scythe he was completing plans for the conquest of China.

But the business of leaving fighting direction to youngsters is nothing new.

Didn't somebody say once, "old men for counsel; young men for war"?

THREE couples of us dropped into a soda emporium the other night and were approached by the young waitress. She was just a kid, hardly dry behind the ears, and naturally her thoughts were probably on some uniformed gent, somewhere, rather than on her job.

As we started to tell her what we'd like to drink, she stopped us.

"Don't give me more than two orders at once," she said. "That's all I can remember at one time."

So two of us ordered, and after she brought those drinks, two others ordered; she brought those, and then took care of the latter two.

Of course, several of us had some wisecracks to make while the young girl was out of earshot, but one of the six of us took the other slant.

"Don't laugh at that kid," he said. "She is wise enough to know what a lot of older and, perhaps smarter, people do not know. Already she recognizes her own limitations."

Our philosophic friend had something there. Too many of us never recognize our limitations, therefore are always being made unhappy and disappointed because we bite off more than we can chew!

MORE than a half-century ago, one of the wisest men this nation has produced—a man firmly rooted in the common people—proclaimed 10 truths which, although called "reactionary" and "oldfashioned" today, are still axiomatic. Said he:

"YOU CANNOT:

. . . "bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift;

. . . "strengthen the weak by weakening the strong;

. . . "help small men by tearing down big men;

. . . "help the wage-earner by pulling down the wage-payer;

. . . "further the brotherhood of man by inciting class hatred;

. . . "help the poor by destroying the rich;

. . . "establish sound security on borrowed money;

. . . "keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn;

. . . "build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence;

. . . "help men permanently by doing for them what they should do for themselves." Who said these things?

Abraham Lincoln, who doubtless knew that everything that is politically expedient for an individual is not good for the nation as a whole.

COL. FRANK KNOX is dead. But at least one observation by the late Secretary of the Navy will bear remembering—and repeating—until Victory is ours. Said he:

"There is nothing in our private lives that compares in importance for one instant with fighting this war to success."

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT
(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

IF women really want to do something about juvenile delinquency, besides just discussing it, here is a recommendation they should back with all their strength.

MILLETT

It comes from the National Advisory Police committee of the Federal Security agency and in a few words it is this: "Whenever a girl of juvenile age is discovered in a compromising situation her male companion should be held, too."

There is more than one reason why women should get behind that recommendation. First, because as the NAPC points out, you can't control that type of juvenile delinquency by taking the girl into custody and letting the boy or man found with her go free. When you do that you are only attacking half of the problem.

MAN EQUALLY GUILTY

BUT there is another reason why women should be interested in seeing that the problem is handled in that way. And that is because there is no justice or democracy in holding only the girl responsible for a moral offense in which there are two persons, equally guilty.

And why stop with juveniles if we start holding men equally responsible with women for sex offenses? There is no justice in the way we fill our women's jails with prostitutes and let the men who contribute to their support go free.

There is no better time for women to try to get justice for themselves than now when "democracy" is in the front of most people's minds.

Today's Journal Editorial

OLD GLORY—IN CONTEMPLATION

Old Glory is 167 years old today. On June 14, 1777, the Congress of the United States officially adopted the Stars and Stripes as the National Flag. Thus, today is particularly an appropriate occasion for a contemplation of our Flag, of what it has meant to everyone of us, and of the obligations to the future it symbolizes for every American.

The nation has experienced no period of greater uncertainty than at the time of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes. The War of the Revolution had been going badly for the Colonists. The outlook was dark. All save the most hopeful and most courageous were at the point of despair. Yet the Flag was adopted and for 167 years it has floated of the nation we proudly call "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

It has become the oldest national flag to survive without substantial change for so long a time. The basic design of alternating stripes of red and white and of white stars on the field of blue hasn't been changed at all, although the Flag was composed of 15 stripes from 1795 until 1818. By that time, it became apparent that it would be impractical to add a stripe for each new state, so the shift back to 13 stripes, to symbolize the 13 original colonies, was made. The only alterations since have been the additions of one star for each new state entering the Union.

With contemplation of the fact that the Flag adopted at a time of such extreme uncertainty still is waving so vigorously 167 years later, it would seem that a certain question would follow automatically in the minds of every American: Will Old Glory still be waving 167 years hence?

The answer to that question depends in very large degree upon the Americans who are living today. If we of today measure as well to our responsibilities to the present and the future as did the Founding Fathers, then we may be reasonably sure that the Flag still will be there. At least, we will have done as much as we could to insure that it will be there. But if we fail . . .

However, we won't fail. We must not fail. We cannot fail those to come for whom we are the custodians of the blessings symbolized by Old Glory.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

Wallace Is Target For Texas Democrats Vice-President, Not FDR, Arouses Ire Justice Douglas Could Be Compromise

WASHINGTON, June 14.—George Butler, nephew of Jesse Jones and the man who led the Texas revolt against Roosevelt, has been in Washington trying to get a license for an airplane, and has been whispering politics discreetly with a few friends.

To one friend, Butler confided that "his people" were more interested in keeping Henry Wallace off the ticket than in putting Roosevelt on.

PEARSON

"There is no question how our electors are going to vote," Butler said. "They're going to vote for Roosevelt, but they won't agree to vote for Wallace even if he carries the state. The electors would throw Wallace's election into the House of Representatives."

Butler went on to say that he feared the President was going to insist on having Wallace on the ticket. He added that some negro editors had come South to see him to ask that Texas accept Wallace. They wanted him to patch up the quarrel between Uncle Jesse and Wallace. They thought this would be a fine thing for the country.

But Butler didn't agree. So it looks as if there would be a bitter-end fight beween mild-mannered Henry Wallace and the gentleman from Texas.

DOUGLAS FOR VP

WHEN the nine middle-aged men closed one of the stormiest Supreme court sessions in history on Monday, one of the first to scamper out of town was Scotch, sandy-haired, infant progidy of the court, Justice Bill Douglas.

Justice Douglas left for the Far West and his summer ranch near Pendleton, Ore.—almost as if a Presidential bug was biting him and he was trying to flee from it.

Actually, a Vice Presidential bug was trying to bite him—with the aid of well-wishing friends—but Bill doesn't want to be bitten. Various President-makers, figuring that the Vice Presidency will be the vital spot on the Democratic ticket, have tried lately to build up the youngest Supreme court justice. But he has shied away like the broncos featured in the Pendleton rodeo each summer.

Nearest he got was a speech before the Free World association in New York this spring—a speech which some of his friends hoped would put him more definitely in the political public eye. In the front row at that meeting, just under the nose of Justice Douglas, sat none other than "St. Bernard" Harold Young, faithful secretary, political adviser and retriever of Vice President Wallace.

Texan Is Adamant

Loyal big Harold has already sacrificed his popularity with diehard friends back in Texas but would sacrifice anything else he has to re-elect his chief. So, as Justice Douglas spoke, he looked down on Wallace's 250-pound secretary, glaring up from the front row with an "I dare you" look on his face.

In the end, big Harold went away happy. The potential rival for Wallace's place got only a line in next day's press. The country never knew he spoke.

In his heart, Bill Douglas is wholly happy to hold his present office. Only 45 years old, he has attained the Supreme court after starting his legal career by riding the rails from Yakima, Wash., to New York to study law at Columbia. There, Dean Harlan F. Stone, now chief justice of the Supreme court, befriended him but advised him to leave school and take a teaching job until he could afford to pay his tuition. Douglas worked his way through, however, and now sits on the Supreme court bench with his former dean.

Douglas figures he wants to sit there a long time. However, should the President find that the rebel South is too rebellious to keep Wallace, the sandy-haired young Scotchman from the West would probably be his first substitute.

MARSHALL'S FINE JOB

ACROSS the Potomac, in the sprawling Pentagon building, Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. Chief of Staff, gives all credit for U. S. invasion success to the boys over there, their officers and to General Eisenhower. However, those who have watched lean, greying General Marshall close-up during the tense months of the war, know how he too has worked, planned, dreamed almost every detail of the invasion.

Three years ago, beforre we entered the war but when everyone knew it was a certainty that we would, this columnist asked General Marshall what chance there was of a British cross-channel invasion.

"Do you realize what it takes to land an army in France?" he replied. "It takes not merely ships and men—and naval vessels to protect those ships. It also means docks, warehouses, railroad terminals, and freight cars by the thousand. But especially it means docks—some place to land. In the last war, we didn't have to worry about any of these things. The French supplied them. But in this war"—he shook his hand ruefully—"it is different."

As he talked, Marshall thought back to 1917-18, when he was only 36 and a captain. At that time, he performed a modern miracle of maneuvering—second only to that of the present second front. He worked out for Pershing the plan whereby one million men were transferred from the St. Mihiel to the Meuse-Argonne front.

Nineteen railroads, 34 hospitals, 40,000 tons of ammunition, 93,000 horses, 164 miles of railway, 87 supply depots and 4,000 cannon all were moved up just beyond the German lines—and the enemy didn't even know it.

Cooperation With Ike

A general in modern warfare does not ride into battle waving a sword. He sits behind a desk. And this time, General Marshall, instead of being close to the battle-front, has done his planning from behind.

And unlike the situation in the last war, Marshall and his European commander cooperate beautifully. They are close friends. In the last war, General Pershing was in bitter conflict with General Tasker Bliss, the U. S. Chief of Staff; later with General Peyton March, who succeeded Bliss.

Today, Marshall and Eisenhower are considered Pershing's boys. He is strong for both of them. And every Sunday, before the war got too tense. General Marshall went out to Walter Reed hospital to chat with his former chief. Pershing still believes he can win wars, and gives Marshall his opinion on various strategic problems. After each interview, Marshall rises and salutes.

"Thank you, general," he says.

"Thank you, general," is the reply.

NOTE: General Marshall is one of the few Chiefs of Staff we have had who did not go to West Point. Due to the fact that his father was about the only Democrat in Uniontown, Pa., during the McKinley administration, he could get no West Point appointment, went to Virginia Military Institute instead.

BY ERNIE PYLE
Special Correspondent

NORMANDY BEACHHEAD — (By Wireless) — On our first morning after leaving London the Army gave us assault correspondents a semifinal set of instructions and sent us off in jeeps in separate groups, each group to be divided up later until we were all separated.

We still weren't given any details of the coming invasion. We still didn't know where we were to go aboard ship, or what units we would be with.

ERNIE PYLE

As each batch left, the oldsters among us would shake hands. And because we weren't feeling very brilliant, almost our only words to each other were, "take it easy."

The following morning, at another camp, I was called at 4 a. m. All around me officers were cussing and getting up. This was the headquarters of a certain outfit, and they were moving out in a motor convoy at dawn.

For months these officers had been living a civilized existence, with good beds, good food, dress-up uniforms, polished desks and a normal social existence. But now once again they were in battle clothes. They wore steel helmets and combat boots, and many carried packs on their backs.

Men Razz Each Other

They joked in the sleepy pre-dawn darkness. One said to another:

"What are you dressed up for. A masquerade?"

Everybody was overloaded with gear. One officer said:

"The Germans will have to come to us. We can never get to them with all this load."

This most-repeated question, asked jokingly, was:

"Is your trip necessary?"

These men had spent months helping to plan this gigantic invasion. They were relieved to finish the weary routine of paper work at last, and glad to start putting their plans into action. If they had any personal concern about themselves they didn't show it.

I RODE with the convoy commander, who was an old friend. We were in an open jeep. It was just starting to get daylight when we pulled out. And just as we left it began raining — that dismal, cold, cruel rain that England is so capable of. It rained like that a year and a half ago when we left for Africa.

We drove all day. Motorcycles nursed each of our three sections along. We would halt every two hours for a stretch. At noon we opened K. rations. It was bittter cold.

Enlisted men had brought along a wire-haired terrier which belonged to one of the sergeants. We couldn't have an invasion without a few dogs along. At the rest halts the terrier would get out in the fields to play and chase rocks with never any worry. It seemed wonderful to be a dog.

The English roads had been almost wholly cleared of normal traffic. British civil and army police were at every crossing. As we neared the embarkation point, people along the roads stood at their doors and windows and smiled bon voyage to us. Happy children gave us the American O. K. sign — thumb and forefinger in a circle. One boy smilingly pointed a stick at us like a gun, and one of the soldiers pointed his rifle back and asked us with a grin:

"Shall I let him have it?"

One little girl, thinking the Lord knows what, made a nasty face at us.

"Vet" Gets Wet Feet

Along toward evening we reached our ship. It was an LST, and it was already nearly loaded with trucks and armored cars and soldiers. Its ramp was down in the water, several yards from shore, and being an old campaigner I just waded aboard. But the officer behind me yelled up at the deck:

"Hey, tell the captain to move the ship up closer."

So they waited a few minutes, and the ramp was eased up onto dry ground, and our whole convoy walked aboard. Being an old campaigner, I was the only one in the crowd to get his feet wet.

WE had hardly got aboard when the lines were cast off and we pulled out. That evening the colonel commanding the troops on our ship gave me the whole invasion plan in detail — the secret the whole world had waited years to hear, and once you have heard it you become permanently a part of it. Now you were committed. It was too late to back out now, even if your heart failed you.

I asked a good many questions, and I realized my voice was shaking when I spoke but I couldn't help it. Yes, it would be tough, the colonel admitted. Our own part would be precarious. He hoped to go in with as few casualties as possible, but there would be casualties.

From a vague anticipatory dread the invasion now turned into a horrible reality for me.

In a matter of hours this holocaust of our own planning would swirl over us. No man could guarantee his own fate. It was almost too much for me. A feeling of utter desperation obsessed me throughout the night. It was nearly 4 a. m. before I got to sleep, and then it was a sleep harassed and torn by an awful knowledge.

USE SEA POWER TO GET
HOGS IN A HURRY
FEED STANTON'S
20% PIG RATION
Today, more than ever before, it is extremely important to speed up growth and keep mortality down in young pigs. Feed is too precious to waste on the laggards and pork is too valuable to lose before it goes to market. Stanton's 20% pig ration provides extra protection against both. In hundreds of hog lots, it is working consistently to improve pig health, speed up growth and reduce mortality because it gives little pigs the same kind of boost that chick starter gives to baby chicks. It is being fed widely to sows before farrowing and through creep feeding—to pigs from 3-3 weeks of age on up.

MANAMAR
In Stanton's 20% pig ration supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials—fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "complex."

B-G PLUS
Is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra tract minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 20% pig ration.

Mexican Aliens To Be Sent Back Home

HARLINGEN, June 14 (U.P) — Lower Rio Grande valley farmers found their manpower plight growing in intensity by the hour today as an augmented U. S. immigration service force intensified a joint U. S.-Mexican drive to send thousands of Mexican aliens home.

The rounding up of "wetbacks," so-called because many of them gain illegal entry into this country by wading or swimming the narrow, and usually shallow Rio Grande, has reached a pace that saw 841 aliens deported through the port of Hidalgo during May. Seventy aliens were processed through this same port yesterday.

The immigration service has imported 75 inspectors in 25 patrol cars to aid in the campaign to send home the estimated 22,000 (U. S. and Mexican government figures) aliens in this country. This figure was disputed by some valley officials, but all acknowledged that there were a great many Mexican laborers in this country illegally.

Wartime employment problems, which hit the valley farmers as hard as any others, had been partially alleviated by use of the aliens, but now, with this source rapidly drying up, oncoming crops may go unpicked.

About 40,000 Canadian women are now in uniform.

MARKET CLOSES STEADY

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP) — The stock market lost some of its bullish momentum today but fresh buying in specialties gave the list a steady tone near the close.

Steels, rubbers, motors and other leaders of the "peace" boomlet earlier in the week fell back a little under profit selling. Buying interest switched to sugars, air transports, and gold mines and this support was buttressed in the late dealings by firmness of such key issues as General Motors, Westinghouse and Dupont. Rails also hardened after a first-hour sell-off.

Stocks in the improved group showed gains ranging from fractions to more than a point.

Volume dropped sharply from the above-two million share levels of Monday and Tuesday to around 1,500,000 share for the five hours.

Ahead in the last hour were United, American and Eastern Air Lines, Dome Mines, Homestake, National Cash Register, West Indies Sugar, South Porto Rico Sugar, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft and Illinois Central. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Goodyear, Harvester and Johns-Manville were among the losers.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP) — Cotton futures moved irregularly today and rallied sharply in the final hour on covering and trade buying, following news that the House had passed an amendment designed to guarantee parity prices. Earlier in the day values were more than $1 a bale lower as the market broke on the rejection of the Bankhead amendment to raise cotton textile ceilings.

Futures closed 20 to 25 cents a bale higher.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 14 (AP) — Weakness developed in all grain futures today and trading was quiet, a result of yesterday's short covering which exhausted much of the market's purchasing power. Traders preferred to await developments in the harvest of southwestern wheat following reports that black rust was prevalent in West Texas fields.

Wheat closed ⅛ higher to ⅝ lower than yesterday, July $1.58. Oats were ⅛ higher to ⅝ lower, July 74⅝. Rye was unchanged to ½ lower, July $1.07⅛. Barley was off ⅛ to ⅝, July $1.17⅛.

FORT WORTH REPORT

Texas Democrats

an answer to the proposed suit of pro-Roosevelt Democrats to force names of presidential electors to be on the party's July primary election ballot.

Knapp's answer objected to the court hearing a mandamus petition on three principal grounds:

1. That the electors named at the regular Democratic state convention, May 23, and certified to the secretary of state are necessary parties to the suit and have not been made respondents.

Court Without Jurisdiction

2. That the Texas supreme court is without jurisdiction to hear a political matter.

3. That the applicants are not entitled to come into court and ask for the court to take a hand because they participated in the state convention.

Meanwhile, an amended petition of the pro-Roosevelt faction apparently left Chief Justice James P. Alexander of the state supreme court eligible to sit in the case. The amendment removes Mrs. James F. Farmer of Fort Worth as a party to the litigation.

Fighting In Italy

hit two 400-foot cargo ships in the harbor at Livorno (Leghorn). It was believed the Germans were preparing to fill them with concrete and sink them at the entrance of the harbor.

RAF coastal Beaufighters roamed southern France, strafing enemy vehicles in the Istres-Montpelier area.

The Mediteranean naval command announced that British destroyers engaged four German E-boats off the Dalmatian coast the night of June 11 and sank one, picking up a few survivors.

British light naval forces shelled the Adriatic harbor of Lussinpiccolo the night of June 10. Enemy return fire was termed ineffective.

Issuance Of Invasion Currency In France Defended By FDR

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP) — President Roosevelt said today the invasion currency Allied troops are carrying into France was issued only after consultation with representatives of the French Committee of National liberation.

Declaring we don't want to cheat anybody, Mr. Roosevelt said the supplementary currency is intended to be used only until France can set up its own stable government.

General Charles de Gaulle, head of the French committee, is reported to have critized the use of the specially-printed money on the grounds it might force inflation upon France. The President said, however, that representatives of the French committee both in London and in this country were consulted along with the British treasury.

In a carefully worded, school-room-simple discussion of the money, the President said repeatedly the currency was issued chiefly because (1) there wasn't enough printed money in France to support the invasion, and (2) there was no established French government with authority to issue currency.

The supplemental currency was issued at the approximate ratio of fifty French francs for one dollar and two hundred francs to the British pound sterling. The money was printed in this country, bears the French motto and tricolor on one side and the legend "issued in France" on the other. It is backed, the President said, by the combined chiefs of staff who issued it on the authority of Allied governments.

Employment Plan

choose to any jobs they choose without consulting employer or employe. Suppositions of this kind are wholly without foundation, Wells declared.

High points of the plan, as he explained them, include:

It will apply to male workers only. Women will not be affected at all.

It will be operated strictly upon a voluntary basis. No compulsion of any kind is contemplated.

Every employer and every worker will be urged to cooperate.

The whole purpose of the plan is to channel male labor — particularly highly skilled labor of the types for which needs are most critical in war industries — into the jobs where they can help most in the victory effort.

All employers will be urged to employ their male labor through the U. S. Employment Service. All workers will be urged to get their jobs through that agency.

Effects Negligible

Actual working effects of the plan upon areas like Lubbock probably will be negligible, Wells said. The number of workers likely to be subject to referral and transfer is very limited in this city and area, he added.

In explaining the operating effects of the plan, he cited the hypothetical case of a former skilled mechanic now employed as a clerk in a store. If the local committee and WMC representatives feel that such a person would serve the victory effort better by transferring to another job, they will go first to the employer to urge him to suggest to the employe that the transfer be made. Members of the committee, or WMC agents, also may go to the worker. The whole thing will be entirely voluntary. If refusals are encountered, then that will be that — at least for the time being.

To Be Advisory Body

Functions of the local committee, which will be an advisory body, will be cooperations of the kind mentioned. A further duty, it was explained, will be to assign "priority ratings" to employers whose businesses are most closely tinked with the victory effort. This will be done with the intent of trying to supply the available labor to those who may need it most in jobs that are most closely identified with the war, officials explained.

Many details of the plan still are to be worked out, officials continued. However, suggestion was made that all employers of male labor consult with Waldron at the Employment office for any clarifications they feel they need.

Further announcement was made that group meetings of employers are tentatively planned in the near future to hear explanations of the plan and to give them opportunity to ask any questions they desire.

Price Control Bill

ing any price ceiling on any processed agricultural commodity that did not reflect to the farmers standards set up in the 1942 stabilization acts—a support price or parity.

President Roosevelt has assailed the Bankhead-Brown amendment. OPA Administrator Chester Bowles asserted it would raise consumer costs of textiles by $250,000,000 or more a year.

Proponents of the amendment denied this.

The Senate approved the Bankhead amendment by a four-vote margin last week. The proposal defeated by the House was almost identical. Differing from the Senate version only in that the War Production board chairman could designate "essential" textiles to which the formula would apply. The Senate amendment gave that power either to the WPB chief or the War Food administrator.

When the House completes passage of its bill, it and the Senate bill will be laid in the hands of a conference committee for adjustment of differences.

Opponents of the cotton amendment have predicted its adoption would bring on a veto at a time when Congress is driving toward a summer recess for the national political conventions.

Bricker Forces Claim Their Candidate Is Gaining Support

BY JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

A prediction came today from the forces of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio that he "will receive between 250 and 300 votes on the first ballot" at the Republican presidential nominating convention.

This report, supplied by directors of the field staff of the Bricker-for-president committee, accorded their man a total of 174 votes now — 50 pledged and 124 definitely claimed — and figured the total for Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York at 285—72 pledged and 213 "probable." Dewey supporters, on the other hand, say he has a total of 391.

Said Growing Stronger

Five hundred and twenty-nine votes are needed to nominate and the Bricker people viewed the field of uninstructed delegates as fruitful and said the Ohioan is "growing stronger each day."

The "first ballot analysis" from the Bricker camp came as the election of a Republican to Congress from the 19th Illinois district shuffled House standings to the point that for the first time in 13 years the Democrats lack an actual majority of the House membership.

The election yesterday of Rolla C. McMillen, unopposed, gives the Republicans 212 members. The Democrats still have 216 but there are four minor party members and thus the Democrats have exactly half the total. There are three vacancies.

Foreign Policy Plan

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) yesterday put the party on record —as far as one individual can— for a foreign policy plank declaring for effective cooperation of the nations of the world toward postwar peace and the termination of military aggression.

Vandenberg, who heads the GOP postwar advisory committee on foreign policy, will lay that group's formal recommendations before the platform builders in hearings next week in Chicago.

He told the Senate yesterday that the Republicans would "stand for a just peace which will implement major promises of the Atlantic charter."

The fourth term question figured in the debate when Senator Hatch (D-NM) said he was sure President Roosevelt would be willing to retire if, by that action, he could unite the country behind peace aims. But the Democrats are not going to let him make that sacrifice, Hatch said.

Later at his news conference, Mr. Roosevelt refused to be drawn out.

In Idaho the Democratic senatorial primary developed into a nip-and-tuck race among three contenders, each of whom held the lead at one stage.

Returns from 641 of the states 845 precincts placed Senator D. Worth Clark in the van, with Glen H. Taylor, Pocatello's "singing cowboy," a close second; James H. Hawley, Boise attorney, third, and John Cornell far behind.

Gov. C. A. Bottolifsen piled up a commanding lead for the Republican senatorial nomination over Ben Johnson, 37-year-old Preston attorney.

Aerial Warfare

all targets.

The raid on Emmerich was the second attack today on German territory by Allied planes. RAF bombers made their first night attack on Munich from Italian bases before dawn, when they concentrated on the main railway station in a follow-up of yesterday's assault.

The German DNB agency reported that American bombers, escorted by strong fighter formations, entered the Hungarian area today and were engaged by German fighters over Lake Balaton and West Budapest.

While Liberators and Flying Fortresses were spreading havoc among the German supply routes to the front, approximately 300 Marauders and Havocs split into small task forces to smash at 10 communication targets—eight of them just south of the battle zone in Normandy and two near Paris.

The attacks were made between 7:30 and 9 o'clock this morning and were concentrated on roads 10 to 25 miles south of the beachhead in an attempt to create roadblocks and bottlenecks in the flow of German truck-borne reinforcements and supplies.

One Marauder was lost in the morning operations which took the bombers over Beugency and Cloyes, some distance south of the battle zone; Gallardon in the Paris area, the rail embankment at Chartres and a cluster of six road and rail targets just behind the German lines.

The Marauders and Havocs found anti-aircraft fire generally light.

In the third major early morning operation, strong formations of P-38 Lightnings, P-47 Thunderbolts and P-51 Mustangs ranged across a wide area to attack ground installations and enemy shipping.

The Allied air support, both strategically and tactically, was described officially at supreme headquarters as "wonderful," with the operations "satisfactory every day."

Vote For Bishop

field, 79, with the balance divided among a dozen other candidates. Balloting will continue until a second bishop is elected.

The bishops are being chosen to fill vacancies caused by the death of Bishop Charles L. Mead of the Kansas City area and the approaching retirement of Bishop John Calvin Broomfield of the St. Louis area.

Dr. Smith was the first bishop to be elected in a jurisdictional conference. He is a brother of Dr. Angie Frank Smith, bishop of the Houston area. This makes the second time in Methodist history that brothers have been elected bishops.

Agreement Reached On Pipeline Plan

WASHINGTON, June 14. (AP)—The Senate's special petroleum policy committee said today it had received administration assurances that a trans-Arabian pipeline will not be built "without timely notice to the committee."

In his first formal statement since a recent White House conference with President Roosevelt, Chairman Maloney (D-Conn) said that on the basis of the assurances the committee voted unanimously today to defer public hearings "pending further conferences" between the United States and British government on petroleum matters.

Senator Moore (R-Okla), a member of the committee, has been critical of a proposal by Interior Secretary Ickes to have the Petroleum Reserves Corp. participate in construction of a 1250-mile line from the Persian gulf area to the Mediterranean.

Convicts Get Short Taste Of Freedom

LAKE JACKSON, Tex., June 14 (U.P) — Frank (the midget bandit) Celli made his fourth escape from a Texas prison farm last night, but his freedom was short lived as he and a fellow convict were cornered by bloodhounds and recaptured near Lake Jackson before dawn today.

Celli, serving 47 years for armed robbery in Harris and Dallas counties, was recaptured with Ollie York, under life sentence for robbery, less than eight hours after escaping Retrieve farm in Brazoria county.

Two other convicts who made the break with Celli and York were still at large. State police identified them as Lonnie Jackson, serving life for murder, and Elsie McElroy, serving 12 years for robbery.

SENTENCE AFFIRMED

AUSTIN, June 14 (U.P) — The two-year sentence of Mary A. Stone, former superintendent of the Gainesville State School for Girls, for passing a forged instrument was affirmed here today by the court of criminal appeals.

WOMEN VOTERS ELECT

AUSTIN, June 14 (U.P) — Mrs. Eugene R. Brownscombe of Dallas today was elected president of the Texas League of Women Voters, and the annual convention here adopted resolutions calling for a revision of Texas election laws and a secret ballot.

CONFESSES MURDER

PARIS, Mo., June 14 (U.P) — The state highway patrol said today that Raymond Paul Patrick, 20, of Monroe City had confessed to the triple murder of Albert Foltz, 60, Monroe City farmer, and Foltz' wife and son.

RIVER FLOODING

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 14 (U.P)—The Missouri river hit flood level at various points in southeastern Nebraska today as it took the waters from tributaries swollen by heavy rains during the last three days.

Local Bond Drive

Broadway and Avenue Q. Line of march will be on Texas to Main, east on Main to G, south on G to Broadway and west on Broadway to Q.

Chief event tonight in the loan drive will be the rally in Booker T. Washington negro park at 8:45 o'clock. A negro band from SPAAF will play a one-hour concert. Negro Boy Scout troops 18 and 19 will give a first aid demonstration. Jitterbuggers will be given an opportunity to compete in a contest. Brief talks will be made. Dr. J. A. Chatman, negro bond chairman will preside.

Thursday, Lubbock and South Plains units of Texas State guard will observe national "infantry day" by buying and selling war bonds.

Bond officials reminded that the bond drive is continuing on a basis of voluntary buying. Sales were reported picking up today, but no figures were available. First reports probably will be rounded up late in the week.

Bonds are being issued at the banks, First Federal Savings and Loan association, the postoffice and the Junior Chamber of Commerce booth in the Lindsey theater lobby. Bonds bought in the Lindsey will entitle purchasers to free tickets to the bond premieres July 6.

Dr. Newton Case

Cameron will cause officials of the Lamb county district court to begin shaping plans for a new trial of the case, it was indicated this morning.

District Attorney Harold LaFont of Plainview had indicated the trial likely would be called at Olton in August, in case the appellate court took adverse action on the state's motion.

Would Require Much Time

It would require almost that much time to round up witnesses, who have been reputed to have "scattered."

LaFont has said that evidence admitted into the record of the former trial could be reintroduced into records of the new trial, despite the fact Dr. Hunt, the state's principal witness in the former trial, is dead.

Such testimony as was given against Dr. Newton could not be read from the Newton trial record in any trial of Mrs. Newton, however, under the premise she had not been afforded a chance at cross-examination, it was explained.

Judge C. D. Russell of Plainview moved the case of Mrs. Newton, on his own motion, to Hale county when her case was called at Olton. Her trial at Plainview, Hale county seat, will not be called before Dr. Newton is retried, officials have indicated.

News Briefs

Bond of $2,000 was set early this afternoon by Walter Davies, justice of peace, for Walter Nickens, 35, who had been charged in a complaint sworn to by Raymond Land, deputy sheriff, before District Attorney Burton S. Burks, charging burglary of Silver Dollar cafe on College avenue.

West Texas hospital this afternoon was preparing to admit L. L. Kelso, 51, of 1809 Main street, for treatment of head injuries suffered in what authorities here said they believed was a wreck near Smyer, in Hockley county. Two members of the state highway patrol left for Smyer just before 2 o'clock, about the time police said they were informed the victim entered the hospital.

Pearl Harbor Probe

work in Hawaii, Alaska, and South Pacific islands.

Col. Theodore Wyman, jr., 56-year-old veteran of the last war, an engineer officer in charge of defense construction in the Hawaiian and South Pacific areas at the time of the Japanese attack, and now stationed overseas.

The committee said that despite knowledge that Rohl had been a German alien only three months previously, the War department, upon Wyman's recommendation, on December 20, 1940, entered into a contract with Hawaiian constructors to install defense projects in Hawaii "which meant the safety and protection of the United States."

Contract For Air Route

Less than two months before the Pearl Harbor attack, it added, the department gave the company a contract to begin construction of an air route by way of Christmas island, Canton, Nandie, New Caledonia and Australia.

Immediately after his naturalization, and at Col. Wyman's request, the committee said, Rohl went to Hawaii, repeatedly inspected defense works with Wyman, and was there when the Japanese attacked.

"How did it so happen that after nearly thirty years without taking the steps necessary to becoming a citizen, although meantime enjoying the fruits of government contracts, he suddenly began using every possible effort to become naturalized in order that he might be permitted to go to Hawaii just a little less than three months before the attack on Pearl Harbor?" the committee asked.

Wyman Said Drunk

Evidence in its files, the committee said, "indicates that on the morning of the attack" on Pearl Harbor, "Col. Wyman was at the home of Rohl, having spent the night there; that he rushed to his office in civilian clothes and in a drunken condition; and that he changed from his civilian clothes to a uniform in the presence of all of his office help, women as well as men, shouting orders to everybody."

Summing up, the committee said:

"A deduction from these undeniable facts and official admission based entirely on the records of the War department is that not only did the contractor fail to complete the contract for defense projects on time, but the Army officers responsible for the completion of such defense projects, from the commanding general, Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, down through the lower echelons, and particularly Col. Theodore Wyman, jr., did not register any complaint and were directly at fault for failing to give the necessary orders to proceed with the construction work promptly."

Committee investigators said that so far as they knew Rohl still is in business in Los Angeles.

The committee began its investigation nearly six months ago, following an inquiry by a California legislative committee. It conducted executive hearings here and its investigators questioned numerous witnesses on the West coast.

Four Cargo Ships Sunk

In Geelvink bay, wherein Biak lies, cannon-firing Mitchell bombers sank four 1,000-ton cargo ships and three coastal vessels.

The Japanese invasion of India, launched with fanfares months ago, was fast receding. A ridge 18 miles from once-threatened Imphal was cleared of enemy troops, Southeast Asia headquarters announced.

Chinese troops aiming for a junction with Lt. Gen. Joseph Stilwell in northern Burma reported new successes, defeating an enemy column near Lungling and capturing a village some 20 miles from the principal Japanese base of Tengchung.

Lowering Of All Tariffs Proposed

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—American cotton industry representatives meeting Tuesday with government officials proposed a lowering of all tariffs as a means of regaining world markets for the South's staple crop after the war.

Headed by W. L. Walker of Houston, a committee representing both growers and shippers conferred with War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes, War Food Administrator Marvin Jones and Foreign Economics Administrator Leo T. Crowley.

A member of the group, Major Burris Jackson of Hillsboro, Tex., said the talks with Byrnes dealt primarily with trade barriers. Byrnes expressed the opinion that high tariffs were partially responsible for the present war, and that they must be lowered between all nations in order to secure the peace, he added.

Enemy Strikes Back In France

east and north to drive savagely into the German flank protecting Caen on the west.

Caen itself was under heavy naval bombardment from Allied warships. A flier who flew over the city said it seemed "scarcely possible for life to exist there."

Villers-Bocage stands athwart a main highway to Caen, 16 miles to the southwest. Caumont, seven miles west and slightly north of Villers-Bocage, commands a secondary route, also leading to Caen.

The British tanks struck with "great effect," the Allied supreme command announced.

A fierce German counter-attack was made on British forces in newly-captured Troarn in an attempt to blunt or cut off a Montgomery pincers coming to flank Caen on the east.

It was the old Montgomery tactic of attacking on the flanks to cut off a large force of Germans and take them prisone, or destroy them rather than push them back.

100-Mile Fighting Front

On the western end of the Allied beachhead, now enlarged to a 100-mile fighting front, Americans used armored forces to break a deadlock at Carentan, six miles from the sea. The German radio acknowledged a Nazi withdrawal west and north of Carentan "to spare German lives."

This several-mile withdrawal would put Americans between half and two thirds of the way across the Cherbourg peninsula at its narrowest point.

Berlin conceded that Americans advancing on strips of non-flooded land had infiltrated Nazi lines northwest of Carentan, and taken "a number of villages."

Nazis Lose Town

A Transocean broadcast said the Nazis had lost Tilly-Sur-Seulles, which several times has changed hands. The German high command claimed recapture of a number of unidentified localities, and declared Nazi tanks breaking into the beachhead east of the Orne river had inflicted heavy casualties. The Germans said Allied tank thrusts south of Caumont and near Tilly-Sur-Seulles were broken up and destroyed.

The Allies, aided today by fair weather, already have seized a foothold in France of 600 to 700 square miles, and captured more than 10,000 prisoners. Allied officers estimate 250,000 Germans are engaged in Normandy. Berlin, apparently trying to picture Allied successes as due to overwhelming numbers, has placed the figure of Allied soldiers as high as 500,000.

Allies Cut Two Roads

The Allied advance to Caumont and Villers-Bocage cut two roads leading northeastward to Caen, the strongest point still in German possession. This drive swerved southeastward from the Cerisy forest area.

Expanding Allied pressure has in three days enlarged the length of the battlefront from 60 miles to nearly 100, forcing the Nazi defenders to spread their forces over a greater area.

American troops who plunged through the Cerissy forest pushed southwest several miles toward the important German communications hub of St. Lo German broadcasts acknowledged two advances in that area as Allied forces attempted to throw a pincers around the town.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, Allied ground commander, threw British tanks into the attack on the German flank south of Tilly-Sur-Seulles and today's communique, No. 17, said the blow had a "great effect," although the exact extent of the drive was not revealed.

Supreme headquarters said the Germans were expending a large number of soldiers in a furious assault on Troarn, east of Caen.

Troarn is the left arm of a Montgomery pincers movement closing in on Caen. The right arm is the double blow from below Tilly-Sur-Seulles and the Caumont and Villers-Bocage roads.

In a Berlin broadcast, the German Transocean agency declared that Nazi forces broke through American lines and into Carentan late Tuesday but "Montgomery hastily ordered heavy British warships to the support, which, with all their guns, shelled the Carentan area, whereupon the Germans withdrew again to hill positions more advantageous for defense."

Transocean said the "situation changes hourly" in the Carentan area as attacking American forces try to "widen their bridgehead toward the south and west."

The Allied drive has placed the ground forces out of range of warships in many places on the bridgehead for the first time. American and British battleships still are supporting the flanks of the battle area, but the center is rolling on with the aid of air support only.

Mrs. J. M. Marcy Dies In Local Hospital

Mrs. John M. Marcy, 61, a long time resident of the Cooper community and recently of Lubbock, 1926 Avenue O, died at 9:13 a. m. today at St. Mary's hospital following an illness of several months. She was admitted to the hospital Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcy had a farm in the Cooper community for about 30 years and when Marcy retired they moved to Lubbock.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed early this afternoon, Bryan McDonald Funeral home reported.

Survivors are her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Elsie Williamson of California, Mrs. Gordon Richardson and Mrs. Stanley Scott of Lubbock and four sons, Zed M., J. M., Louis and Eude Marcy of Lubbock.

Allied Position At Cherbourg Better

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Allied position in the furious and fluid battle of the Cherbourg peninsula has improved steadily, as witness the extension of their front from sixty miles to about 100 during the past three days despite determined resistance.

General Montgomery is exhibiting all the skill and initiative which have made him famous. Right from the start he has used every ounce of the great strength at his disposal not only to lengthen the front, but, more important, to extend its depth from those dangerous beaches and gain strategic points so as to prepare for the main counter-attack which still is to come. As a result we appear to be in good shape to meet this crucial test.

Nazi Generals Disagree

In connection with this anxiously awaited Nazi counterassault, we get the highly interesting report that Marshall Rommel, who is commanding the Nazi field forces for the defense of Hitler's Atlantic wall, has had a clash with his boss, Marshal von Rundstedt. W are told that Rommel wanted to fling reserves into the peninsula as fast as possible so as to catch the Allies off balance on the beaches. Von Rundstedt preferred to sit tight until he saw whether Cherbourg represented the main Allied thrust.

The probabilities are that the Hitlerite command could have moved considerabl forcs to the peninsula at the outset of the landings, just as Rommel is said to have advocated. Had this been done it might have created a tough situation for the Allies.

Early Attack Was Expected

Of course, such an early attack was exactly what Montgomery expected from his old opponent of the desert fighting in North Africa. Monty knows his Rommel as few others do. That's why the Allied skipper has pushed so hard right from the start to increase the depth of his beachheads.

One is inclined to think that Rommel was right, if indeed he was urging quick action, and that the Germans may have missed the bus. Anyway it can be said with certainty that the Allies are most grateful that they didn't have to deal with the major counterattack in those critical early hours. As things now are, the wily Montgomery again has out-Rommeled Rommel.

Bearings Shipments To Nazis To Be Cut

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—Sweden has agreed to make a very substantial reduction in shipments to Germany of ball-bearings vital to the Nazi war effort, it was learned today.

The agreement was negotiated by Stanton Griffis, American movie executive and special representative of the Foreign Economic administration, directly with the SKF ball bearing company.

It is a compromise between the American, British and Russian demands that Sweden eliminate all ball-bearing shipments Germany and the argument of the Stockholm government that it could not make any reductions.

The compromise leaves the way open for further negotiations with the Swedish government to cut off completely not only ball bearings but all similar strategic material moving to the Reich from Sweden.

It Looked Bad For Texan For A While

LONDON, June 14 (AP) — Lt. Luciano B. Herrara of Brady, Texas, a Ninth Air force Thunderbolt pilot, dangled for 30 seconds half in and half out of the cockpit of a smoking plane Tuesday over the channel.

When he shook loose he could not at first find the rip cord of his parachute and he plunged downward until he finally grasped the cord. He landed in the water and was picked up uninjured by the air-sea rescue command which had been notified by other pilots in his formation.

President Sidesteps Fourth-Term Issue

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—Fourth term questions drew banter, and nothing more, at President Roosevelt's press conference Tuesday.

The subject came up when Mr. Roosevelt told reporters they would have to go to Congress to find out the status of a pending bill.

"Is there any place we can go to find out about a fourth term?" a reporter asked.

Mr. Roosevelt laughed and said he did not know although he wanted to be helpful.

"How about our going to the Democratic convention to find out?" another reporter said.

The President shook his head again and said he did not know the answer to that one either. He added the questions were getting over his head.

Then a reporter asked him where they could go to find out about the vice-presidency.

The President said again that he didn't know but smilingly told the newsman maybe he could get a place on an airplane and the President could send him out to China.

Vice-President Wallace is now in China on a military and diplomatic mission.

A repoter said that Senator Hatch (D-NM) told his colleagues today that the President would be willing to retire from public life if he were certain of unanimous agreement on postwar peace aims but that Hatch added the Democrats would not let Mr. Roosevelt retire.

To that, Mr. Roosevelt replied with a grin that he could not comment on current senatorial debate.

French Helped Ready Coast For Invasion

ALGIERS, June 14 (U.P.)—German railroads and power stations along the Atlantic wall were attacked and blown up by a French underground army of 700 in the week preceding the Allied invasion of Normandy, French quarters here disclosed today.

One railroad line was reported blown up in 18 places.

Official French quarters hailed the news that 20 administrative liaison officers had gone to Normandy to assist in the civil administration of the liberated territory as the most significant forward step indicating that Gen. Charles DeGaulle, president of the French provisional government, had reached a working agreement.

Support Prices Set On Texas Onions

DALLAS, June 14 (AP) — Onions will be purchased in Texas starting today under the War Food administration's support price program, L. J. Cappleman, regional distribution director, announced.

WFA will support Texas onions, packed 50 pounds per new bag, inspected, sacked and loaded F. O. B. carrier in carlots at the following prices: U. S. No. 1, $1.25 per fifty pound bag; 80 per cent U. S. No. 1, $1.15 and U. S. commercial $1.00. Onions will be purchased from growers, associations of growers or authorized dealers.

Partisans Re-Take Town, Slash Enemy

LONDON, June 14 (U.P.)—Yugoslav Partisan forces have recaptured the town of Kicevo and have thrown back the enemy in several sectors with heavy losses, a communique from Marshal Tito's headquarters said today.

The Allied air force have been in active support over Yugoslavia and within the last few days destroyed 70 railway cars loaded with ammunition and gasoline.

Allied naval forces also were reported active along the Dalmatian coast of the Adriatic, sinking several enemy ships recently.

In Herzegovina all enemy attacks were reported thrown back but it was admitted the enemy offensive still was in progress in western Bosnia.

Mercerized cotton is named after John Mercer, who discovered ordinary cotton could be made stronger and more lustrous by treating it with caustic soda.
