Price Drop May Offset Shrimp Increase

By Pat Blair

With the opening of Gulf shrimping this week, area shrimpers can look forward to better catches — but that benefit may be offset by a drop in the prices they can expect to get.

That at least is the concern of two local seafood houses as Rockport-Fulton shrimpers prepare for the opening of shrimping in the Gulf of Mexico.

Officially the opening is at midnight, Wednesday, July 15. As a practical matter, says John Jackson of Jackson Seafood, it means shrimping can begin in the Gulf on Thursday, July 16.

"We should have a good crop of shrimp," Jackson said. "It will be a good year from the standpoint of production — but we're worried about a fall in the price (for shrimp)."

L.E. Casterline Sr. at Casterline's in Fulton voiced a similar concern. "We (the shrimpers) should have a pretty good production poundwise this year, but the price is a little cheaper than it was this time last year."

Shrimp landings for this area — and for Texas ports in general — have been below — in some cases well below — the landings for the same period last year.

According to the National Marine

Fisheries Service, the catches in the Rockport-Fulton-Aransas Pass area for 1981 through May 30 (the most recent figures available) have totalled 1,091,600 pounds. That's about 700,000 pounds less than the landings for the January through May period last year.

And, NMFS officials point out, this area is still leading the statewide shrimp totals. The Rockport-Fulton-Aransas Pass ports are the only area in the state where shrimp landings have even approached the million-mark.

Jackson said Monday that the NMFS figures for January through May — "or even through June — are not a good barometer of the past season. The

Commissioners Grapple With Aransas Budget

County money and where and how to use it were recurring topics at the regular meeting of the Aransas County Commissioners' Court Monday, July 13.

The commissioners are, at present, working on the budget for the upcoming year and a rumored cutback in county personnel and payraise for some county officials prompted District Clerk Tony Harden and County Tax Assessor-Collector Allena Jones to appear before the court to question the commissioners' intent in regards to their departments.

District Clerk Harden told the court that she had heard that a reduction of district clerk deputies was being considered and that in her opinion, it was "out of line."

"All I ask for is a 10 percent increase for my personnel," said Harden. "There is no way I can function without the help I now have."

She continued, "I also understand that some elected officials are getting raises and some are not and I think it should be across the board. . . . I feel that if any elected officials get a raise, it should be across the board."

In answer Commissioner J.M. Spriegel told Harden, "We're just planning — making the budget. We aren't committed to anything at this point."

Harden replied, "I do not approve of any one elected official getting a raise and it not being across the board. I think we're all here — we're elected by the people and we're all trying to do a good job."

No comment was offered on Harden's statement.

County Tax Assessor-Collector Allena Jones then spoke to the court and read a letter she had prepared for them. She told the court that Commissioner Ray Longino had told her that her deputy staff of seven would possibly be cut down to four or five. She had asked Commissioner John Lee for

Refuge Land In Jeopardy

By Becky Werhan

The management of 19,000 acres of Matagorda Island (now part of the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge) may be handed over to the state of Texas, according to a May 29 letter from Secretary of the Interior James G. Watts to Governor Bill Clements.

Assistant secretary for the Department of the Interior, G. Ray Arnett will, according to department spokesman Phil Million, arrive at the Aransas National refuge on Sunday, July 19 for a fact finding tour and will meet Monday with Governor Bill Clements.

Watts stated that he prefers giving over the land to state management in an effort to "cut the red tape" involved with federal management.

The possible transfer of the land, now managed through the refuge by the Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service, has caused considerable controversy, because of the possible jeopardy of several endangered species now living on the island.

Parks and Wildlife spokesmen have indicated that under state control, beach and wildlife recreation development of the island would almost certainly be considered.

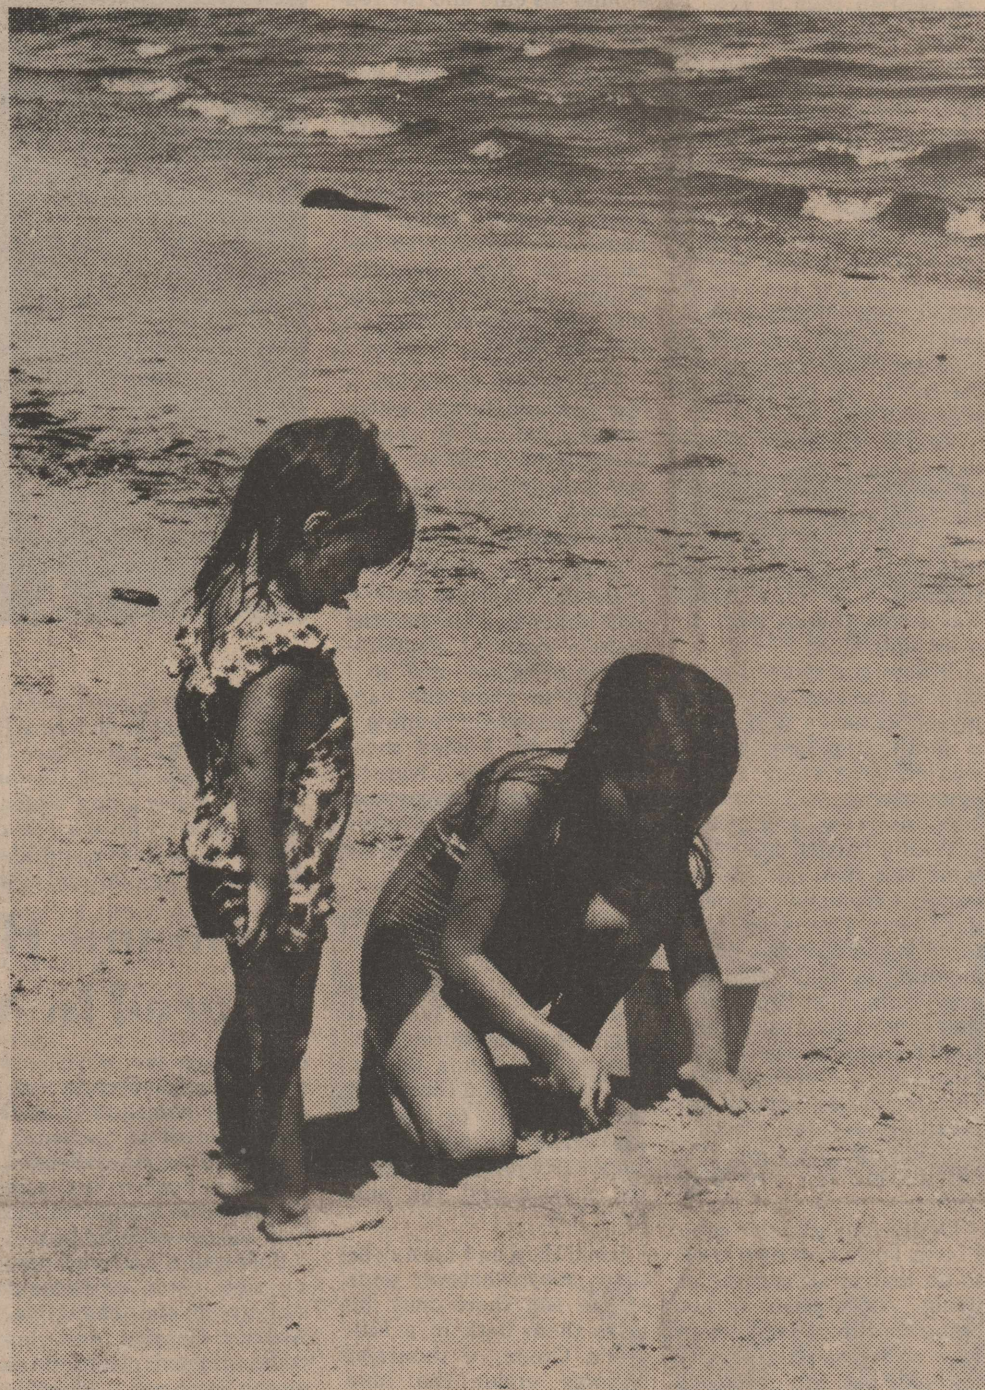

Conservationists, namely the National Defenders of Wildlife group, based in Washington D.C., have argued that any development would be hazardous to the wildlife on Matagorda.

Ken Butts, assistant manager of the Wildlife Refuge, said Tuesday, July 14, that negotiations between the state and the Department of the Interior are "still pretty high level". Butts explained that refuge management personnel have not yet been notified of any details of the negotiations or of the outcome.

Pilot Model For Journalism Class

The Rockport Pilot has been selected as a model for the journalism class at Calallen High School.

The Pilot was recently notified of the decision which was made after several area newspapers, including the Corpus Christi Caller Times, were considered.

Erica was doing the excavating in preparation for one of a youngster's favorite beach-side activities — building sand castles. The girls were at the beach with Mom, Debbie Machac. Despite rains that have dampened quite a bit of the county lately, going to the beach remains a favorite summertime activity for local residents and visitors alike.

Board Hears Report On Vienna Trip

By Becky Werhan

A report on what is becoming known simply as "the Vienna Trip" was given to the Aransas County School Board by Martha Luigi, director of the high school choir, at the board's regular meeting Monday, July 13.

The choir, under Mrs. Luigi's direction, received an invitation last spring to the 1982 Vienna International Youth Music Festival. In order to make the trip, choir students have begun working on an individual basis, earning the needed money.

To help the students achieve their goal, the Rockport-Fulton Choir Boosters, a parent support group, has formed.

Mrs. Luigi explained to the board that the Boosters will raise only half of the required funds, thus encouraging the students to work for their goal.

"It will hopefully teach the kids responsibility," said Luigi. "We feel very strongly about the students working — we don't want any freeloaders. A few parents working to earn money should not be responsible for any students who are not working."

Luigi reported to the board that the student job placement program has been "very successful". At present the Chamber of Commerce is the contact for anyone with a job — lawn work, babysitting, painting, etc. — for a student.

The choir director read to the board a letter from Frances Iles, president of the Choir Boosters, explaining the fundraising projects now being planned by the club. These activities include games at the Catholic Church, a drawing and auction, a SeaFair project and the continuing sale of "Ask Me About Vienna '82" T-shirts.

Though the itinerary of the actual trip is not yet known, Luigi explained basic rules and regulations that will be imposed on the students during the trip. Asked by a board member if there were enough sponsors for the trip, Luigi laughingly replied, "We may have more sponsors than kids!" At this point, some 15 parents have volunteered as sponsors. All sponsors will pay their own way to Europe.

The School Board at a previous meeting did sanction the trip.

In other action, the board heard a building report from architect Lamarr Womack of SWHC, Inc. the firm in charge of the bond election-funded building program now underway throughout Aransas County.

Womack presented the board with a color board for the new auditorium, which will be done in earth-tones of orange, beige and brown. Considerable discussion followed, with several board members questioning Womack on the possibility of using green, the school's colors, in the scheme.

A decision on fabric for the auditorium seating was put off until the next meeting, when Womack has promised to bring a revised color scheme to the group.

The group of parent "regulars" attending the meeting was considerably smaller at this session. Gayle Atchley asked the board, during the regular question-and-answer period, if any more had been done on obtaining a lecturer on assertive discipline.

Plans had been made at the last meeting to get John Clay, an assertive discipline expert from Corpus Christi, to

Hurricane Preparedness Meeting Set For Friday

The dangers of hurricanes, how to prepare for them and how to get out of their way are among topics to be considered during a Hurricane Preparedness Meeting at 7:30 p.m. Friday, July 17, in Rockport.

The meeting will be in the District Courtroom of the Aransas County Courthouse. It is open to the public.

Last year's Hurricane Allen has given many people a false sense of security, according to Bill Hare, meteorologist with the National Weather Service and one of the scheduled speakers at the meeting.

Other speakers at the meeting will be Captain Charles Gunn of the Texas Department of Public Safety; Rupe Gambel, liaison officer for Region 3, Office of Civil Defense and Civil Preparedness; and representatives with the

Hurricane season lasts until October 1, and officials point out that the most likely months for hurricanes in this area are traditionally August and September.

Local Residents Put On Fireworks Display

A group of area residents including Jerry Wendell are responsible for the annual Fourth of July fireworks show in Rockport.

In addition to Wendell, others who contribute to the event are Dr. Charles Corbett, Phillip Ernster, Mrs. L. Glassel, Wilson Harkins, Jim Monk, Tommy Smith and Tom Ward.

The group used Key Allegro Marina as their base for this year's display which began about 9 p.m. Saturday, July 4.

PERCHERON POSES

The Percheron, the 55-foot rocket that Space Services Incorporated hopes to launch from Matagorda Island in early August, arrived in Rockport early Saturday morning after a confusing and delayed trip from Sunnyvale, California. The rocket was loaded on the barge "Miss Matagorda" for the trip to the Matagorda launch site. See story page 8B in today's Pilot.

BEYOND MUCH QUESTION the three most stupid, useless and dangerous situations in the world exist in three countries, Northern Ireland, Israel and Iran.

Begin with Ireland. There the danger exists only for the Irish themselves. No danger of that silly and pointless conflict leading to anything like a world war. The sad part of it is that in this 20th century Christian people conflict in the same primitive manner that most of us regard as belonging to a thousand years ago.

For those of us outside Ireland it is often difficult to realize that the savagery that exists belongs to the ranks of powerfully armed and fanatic minorities on each side.

It is simply not true that every Roman Catholic hates every Protestant, and vice versa. Yet, I'm obliged to confess that that is the way the word comes through to most of the rest of the world.

IN ISRAEL I SEE A situation that reminds me not a little of pre-World War II Japan where the military vied and prevailed over the civilian population. In Japan it was Tojo. In Israel it is Begin.

Both men are by way of being super-patriots. In the name of self-defense Begin has concentrated upon building a huge war machine and like others before him he is reaching (if he has not already reached) the point where he will be obliged to use it.

Monday morning headline: "Israel Attacks Palestinians in Lebanon Bombing Raid." Before that an air raid on Syria. Next?

TOTAL INSANITY IS literally the only way to describe the national leadership of Iran. It would be nice in a way to say "Let the blithering idiots destroy themselves", but one can't very well say that without adding "along with the rest of the world".

Circumstances in Iran itself might easily be called simplistic when compared with the ramifications and effects it may have upon the rest of the world. Meanwhile the war with Iraq staggers along, the United States fearfully watches what Russia may be doing to influence the situation and Russia wonders the same about us.

COMPETITION IS ONE of the greatest things in life. In large measure it is the thing that has made the world go around, in business, industry, sports, games — even love.

Altogether I like it, approve, even though I am not a very hard competitor myself. Perhaps I should explain that. I glory in competition for so long as it is fun, and that applies to all the categories I have mentioned and any other that you may care to add.

Once upon a time and very long ago I was considered a fairly good track man, in the mile. My coach, a very fine man whom I admired, regarded me as being potentially better than I was. He was bent on my winning the South Atlantic Prep Conference, or whatever the name was. And so I trained — and trained.

Off-season that meant miles of cross-country every day. At the time I didn't realize it, but I really didn't think all that dullish, lonely training was so bad because I was running for the coach, not the potential medals.

Tennis was more to my liking, but I think because of all those lonely hours on the track I never became a team player. On the court in doubles I simply hogged the ball, a circumstance I was never able to learn to overcome.

Bridge is a game I gave up long before I ever gave myself a chance to become a half-decent amateur. I was led one evening, rather against my will, into a supposedly casual game.

Within half an hour, my mind less than half on the game, I trumped my partner's ace. I've been blistered in my time but never anything to match the tongue-lashing that came from that lady — uh presumably. Under such stress conditions I am one of those who always come up with an apt retort — but afterwards. The one for that night was "If it's not fun why play it?"

Oddly enough, perhaps, I've in large measure tried to do that in all aspects of living. Aside from its not being sporting I take a dim view of the ball player who huris his bat, the chap that rants and curses when he loses, the businessman who berates an employee, not realizing that a simple mistake won't end the world.

Three of the happiest years of my life were spent during the middle 1930s as third mate aboard an old cargo ship. The Birmingham City was what was known in the parlance of the sea as a "happy ship". Her captain, the "Old Man", I remember with deep affection even unto this day. Captain H.G. Eaton of Bangor, Maine.

Of medium height and rather stocky build, he had a gimpy leg, the result of an accident in a sailing ship where he had commenced his career. The remaining hair on his head was mostly around his ears and the red had turned to mostly gray. However the hair on the back of his hands remained a vibrant red and his back, like his pate, was covered with huge freckles.

At his most serious, Capt. Eaton could be humorous. He enjoyed berating the ship's previous skipper who for some reason had removed the tub from his bath.

The captain spoke like a true down Easterner, with a broad "a". "I can't understand. A shower is no way for a gentleman to take a bath." A few hundred times I replied "Yes sir."

In the long, lonely days at sea one comes to know a man better in a few months than in years of acquaintanceship ashore, and so I learned to know the captain's concepts of running a proper ship. I liked them and in short order I learned to anticipate his every command. In time I had often carried out the order before it was ever given.

But all good things must end. Had it not been for the office of the marine superintendent and even perhaps to a degree World War II, I might still be third mate under Capt. Eaton on the S.S. Birmingham City. I left her on orders to advance my grade — or else. A couple of years later both the master and the ship were lost.

I said then as I have ever since, may whatever gods of the sea there may be bless them both in a Fiddler's Green, a thousand fathoms under the blue South Atlantic. — ahab

JULY ARTIST

A resident of Rockport since 1976, Peggy has owned and operated Potpourri since 1977. In 1978, she purchased Custom Framing and added it to her business which, as of this month, is now going under the name of Golden Gull. Peggy, who's been painting six years, doesn't have a "favorite" subject, and her exhibits at First National display a variety from flower still lifes to land-and "dunescapes." Peggy's paintings will be on display through the end of this month. [Pilot Photo by Pat Blair] out through the windshield and, though suffering serious cuts, managed to pull Stephanie out of the car.

She had partially fallen out of the car but her feet were caught in the floor board and both ankles were broken.

Suffering a fractured nose as well, she underwent surgery in the Huntsville, Alabama Hospital. An orthopedic surgeon placed three pins in Stephanie's left ankle and rebuilt her right heel.

Stephanie Hattenbach, a recent graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School, was injured in a one-car accident on Thursday, July 9, in Boay, Alabama.

Stephanie was on the passenger side of the vehicle when a front tire blew out, causing the driver to lose control.

The car, a Chevy Nova, went off the road, hit a brick wall and careened into a ditch.

The driver was thrown. A long term recovery is expected and Stephanie will be staying with relatives in Alabama.

Iran: One Crazy Country

You have to sit down and really concentrate on the matter before you can fully realize just how crazy a place is Iran and just how crazy are the bunch of bananabollahs who run it.

Until that group of "students" who should have been in school learning such things as better personal hygiene took over our embassy in Tehran almost two years ago, I hadn't really thought about Iran since one of those boring college geography courses, always taught by fat instructors with thick glasses, who always ask final exam questions like:

"Lower Zingoola may best be described as () Arid, (B) Mountainous, (C) Thickly forested, (D) Dark and wet with lots of spiders and snakes and they never heard of American Express."

But Iran has just about dominated world news for two solid years, and most Americans now know more about that dreadful little country than they do about our own state of North Dakota.

Name the person most likely to end up the target for a firing squad in Iran?

Everybody knows the answer to that — former Iranian President Abolhasan Bani-Sadr.

Okay, now name the governor of North Dakota. See what I mean?

Iran. It's a miserable place with giant sandstorms and a bearded old coot dressed up in the living room drapes giving all sorts of orders to drag people out and shoot them.

It's a country where the national pastime is death, as in "Death to Carter!", popular until last January, "Death to America!", always popular and "Death to Bani-Sadr", the current rage.

It is a country of what seems like a thousand factions, all squabbling and rioting and clashing at once. I still don't know the difference between a Kurd and a Baluchi, or a Shiite and a Hezbollah.

It all sounds like the dessert menu at a Greek restaurant.

And what else confuses me is, did Iran invade Iraq, or did Iraq invade Iran, and will Iran defeat Iraq, or will Iraq defeat Iran, or who in Irhell can ever figure out an answer to any of it?

I decided that the Iranians had absolutely flipped their turbans when they decided to blame the United States for the recent bombing that killed 74 of Iran's leaders.

"Death to America!" came the cry again.

"Death to the Great Satan!" the hordes of demonstrators screamed.

An expert on the radio was saying, "They have to blame somebody on the outside because they refuse to accept the fact that anybody in their own country would do such a thing. So, they blame the U.S."

It couldn't have been us. Remember the last time we tried to take some forceful action against the Iranians? Our helicopters broke down, a bunch of good men got killed and it cost Jimmy Carter four more years in the White House.

If the U.S. had tried to plant the bomb, it probably would have gone off at the wrong time, wounding four chairs and the night cleaning lady's mop.

It is my feeling that something will have to be done about Iran eventually.

What if Iran got the bomb, or what if Iran decided to declare war on North Dakota?

Maybe, the more I think about it, there is only one way to make the world safe from the crazies in Iran, and that is for the crazies in Iran to cross one nation that doesn't pussyfoot around with dangerous dingbats — Israel.

On second thought, don't count on that solution, either. The Iranians aren't that crazy.

Rotary Club's officers for the organization's 1981-82 year were installed at the local civic club's annual Ladies' Night dinner at Sandollar Restaurant Wednesday, July 8. Eighty-four members, their wives and guests attended.

Veteran Rotarian Arlo Hansen succeeded Jimmie Luigi as president of the club. Installed as vice president was Calvin Scholz who has been secretary during the past year, while Larry Boone, formerly sergeant at arms, became secretary, and Pat Brown, a member of last year's board of directors and editor of the club's weekly bulletin, was installed as sergeant at arms.

Club directors for the 1981-1982 year are Milt Sorem, Vann Taylor, Alex Knox, Dutch Koppenhaver, Bill Wilson, Roy Hicks, Dudley Bracht and Luigi.

Outgoing president Luigi presented the club's official gavel to incoming president Hansen. Luigi credited officers and directors as well as members of the club's working committees with making the club a success during the past year. During Luigi's administration the club grew to record size and has substantially increased its participation in local activities.

President Hansen presented Luigi an engraved plaque on which was mounted a ceremonial gavel and a Rotary Club emblem as a token of the club's appreciation of Luigi's leadership.

Mrs. Luigi received a large glass serving plate embossed with emblems in appreciation for her support and for bringing to Rotary meetings programs by the Rockport-Fulton High School choir of which she is the director. In her most recent appearance before the club she outlined plans for the possible participation of the choral group in the 1982 Vienna International Youth Music Festival. The club enthusiastically endorsed the plan and members pledged financial support.

Accident Report

Three Injured In Weekend Mishaps

Three persons were reported injured in accidents during a busy weekend for Rockport police.

Edward Hinojosa, 25, of Fulton, was treated at the scene by paramedics after he suffered apparently minor injuries in a two-car accident on Seabreeze Drive (Rockport Beach Road).

Hinojosa was injured after his car, westbound on Seabreeze, was in collision with an eastbound vehicle driven by Maria G. Hutchinson, 52, of Star Rt. 1.

The collision occurred about 160 feet east of Laurel Street at about 3:21 p.m. Mrs. Hutchinson was ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way to oncoming traffic.

Two persons were reported injured in an earlier accident at about 10:53 p.m. Friday, July 10, at the Broadway-Nopal intersection.

Tara Jeanette Elder was taken to Coastal Bend Hospital's emergency room by private vehicle, suffering possible injuries after the mishap. Thomas Glenn Riley was reported suffering minor injuries.

Both were passengers in a car driven by James Marcy Kay, 16, of 1005 Oak.

Police said Kay was southbound on Broadway and was in collision with a car driven by William Richard Dean, 31, of Houston as Dean was backing from the Duck Inn parking lot.

Kay was ticketed for failure to control speed to avoid an accident.

DWI Charge

An accident on South Young Street Saturday afternoon resulted in driving while intoxicated charges against the driver of one of the vehicles involved.

Police said Joel Don

Casey, 27, of Fulton was charged with DWI after his car was in collision with a parked vehicle belonging to the Wagley-Lilly Lumber Company about 4:35 p.m.

The accident occurred on Young about 600 feet north of Market. Casey's bond was set at $500.

Wet Brakes

Wet brakes and bad weather were cited as contributing factors in an accident at the intersection of Raht and Maple about 12:10 p.m. Monday, July 6.

Police said Roy W. Barber, 34, of Winnsboro, Louisiana, was northbound on Raht when a vehicle driven by Ronald A. Ridgeway, 38, of Rockport, slid through the intersection at Maple and collided with Barber's car.

Ridgeway told police he attempted to stop at the stop sign on Maple but his brakes failed to hold. Police said it was raining at the time of the mishap.

Total value of the missing items was estimated at almost $6,000.

The burglary of the residence, at 2403 Shorewood in Harbor Oaks, was reported by Charles Demaree of Southern Builders in Fulton.

Police said the catch was apparently pried from a sliding glass door and the

The burglary occurred between 11:30 a.m. and 1:01 p.m.

Motorcycle Taken

A motorcycle was taken when a residence at 615 King Street was burglarized between 11 a.m. Thursday, July 9, and 3:45 p.m. Friday, July 10.

Entry was apparently gained after someone broke the glass from a window on a rear door. The motorcycle was removed from a front room of the residence.

Church Street Burglary

A residence at 1515 South Church was burglarized between Thursday morning and 10:10 a.m. Saturday.

Police reported a rear screen was forced open and the window raised to gain entry with exit believed to have been through the west side door.

The carpet was pulled up from a "stepway" into a bedroom, an estimated $75 damage, but nothing else was reported disturbed and nothing missing.

GENERIC PRODUCTS

HERE'S PROOF!
H.E.B. Is Helping Keep Food Costs Low!

Plain Label Generics

Products are readily recognizable by the plain white labels with minimum identification and no fancy packaging. By eliminating costly multiple colored labels and elaborate packaging, these products are sold at lower prices than name brands. With many generic products to choose from, you'll find that this method allows you to get the most value for your dollar.

What's the best way to shop for Plain Label Generics?

If you're concerned with saving money, then you should make the generic labels your first stop when you come into H.E.B. Go through your weekly shopping list and select the comparable generic items which fill the bill. Then proceed to the rest of the store and complete your shopping list. With many generic products to choose from, you'll find that this method allows you to get the most value for your dollar.

Will Plain Label Generics carry the Golden Guarantee?

Yes! H.E.B. guarantees your satisfaction on everything it sells. This applies to all "Plain Label" products. Your complete satisfaction is guaranteed or your money back.

What about the quality of Plain Label Generics?

These products are of standard grades and offer acceptable quality. For example, Plain Label peaches are packed in light syrup instead of heavy syrup and vary in size. While wholesalers are not affected, this does help lower the price. Restricted values are the same or very close to the national value of comparable brand names. Restricted information is on the label. These good wholesale foods may vary in appearance from fancy foods, but are good looking and cost less.

Council Accepts Mimosa Street Appraisal, Sets Budget Workshop

An appraisal value of $68,000 for a portion of Mimosa Street won acceptance from Rockport's city council Monday night, July 13, and City Attorney Allen Lee was instructed to draw up an agreement selling the property to HEB.

In other action during the busy council session that began at 7:30 p.m., council members voted to join the Texas Municipal League in possible legal action against Southwestern Bell and set 5 p.m. Monday, July 20, as the date for the council's first workshop on the proposed 1981-82 city budget.

Under the agreement proposed for sale of Mimosa Street between Austin and Magnolia streets, HEB would be required to pay the city of Rockport the $68,000 appraised value for the property plus the cost of appraisal fees.

HEB would also be required to grant an easement to the city, allowing the city to use the property as a street up to 60 days prior to the start of the construction that HEB proposes on the property.

At the time the property is abandoned for use as a street, HEB would be required to grant easement to the city for existing utility lines, and if it is necessary to move the lines, it will be done at HEB's expense.

At the end of five years, if the property is not being used according to plans presented to the council earlier by HEB officials, the property will revert back to the city at no cost to the city.

Lee was also authorized to prepare a quitclaim deed for the property.

HEB officials requested the closing of that portion of Mimosa Street earlier this year to allow for proposed expansion of the store here in Rockport.

The council's vote to join the TML action against Southwestern Bell Telephone followed a report on a recent TML meeting in Austin. City Secretary Herman Johnson said the cost of Rockport will be approximately 3.5 cents per capita. TML proposes to study the telephone company's pending request for a rate increase. In the past such studies have led to lawsuits to block utility increases.

In other action Monday night, council members: —Voted to turn off a street light recently installed at the South Austin/Murray Street intersection, following a complaint from property owners on the street.

—Accepted appraisal of $3500 on a portion of Liberty Street right-of-way on the northeast corner of Gagon and Highway 35 and authorized the city attorney to draw a quitclaim deed selling the property to the adjacent property owner at the appraised value.

—Approved bills paid between June 9 and July 9, including a bill for more than $36,000 to the San Patricio Water District from which the City of Rockport buys its water.

—Authorized Alternate Municipal Court Judge Olive Holmes to attend a three-day school for municipal and alternate municipal court judges in Brownsville.

—Approved expenditures for City Inspector Mike Henry to attend an inspectors training school at Texas A&M University in College Station, August 3-7.

—Approved a request for installation of a street light in the 1100 block of Lady Clare.

—Reviewed the police and animal control reports for June and approved Dick MacMurchey, city animal control officer, attending a school for jailers in Corpus Christi. Police Chief Joe Hinojosa said MacMurchey is a part-time jailer.

—Approved purchase of a used copy machine, at a cost of $600, for the police department.

Reef Marker Is 'Back In Service'

ARANSAS PASS — The Texas Coastal and Marine Council announced today that the buoy marking the Liberty Ship fishing reef offshore Port Aransas is back in service.

The fishing reef has been without a marker buoy since Hurricane Allen struck the Texas Coast last summer and destroyed the existing buoy.

The fishing reef is located 18 miles offshore Port Aransas and contains three surplus Liberty Ships which were sunk in March, 1976. The reef can be reached on a compass bearing of 141 degrees from the Port Aransas jetty. LORAN-C coordinates are 11092.1 and 23946.6.

Representative Leroy Wieting, Chairman of the Texas Coastal and Marine Council, said the Port Aransas Reef is one of five fishing reefs that were constructed by the Council to provide enhanced fishing opportunities for Texas fishermen.

Other reefs are located off Freeport, the Matagorda Bay Channel, and Port Mansfield.

"The Liberty Ship fishing reef program has been very popular with Texas fishermen and the members of the Council are very pleased with the positive responses they have received over the past several years," Wieting said. However, maintaining buoys on the reefs has continued to be a problem for the Council.

Initially buoys were placed on five reefs to mark their locations. Acts of vandalism and violent storms have resulted in buoys being lost to the point where the Council presently maintains buoys only on the Port Aransas reef and one of the two reefs located offshore Freeport.

To date the program has been supported by funds received from the salvage of valuable materials before the Liberty Ships were

EARTH SHAKING

*Ice does not melt, it evaporates.
*Where there is a fire there is now always smoke. Smoke simply means that a fire is not burning properly and that bits of unburned material are escaping. A perfectly clean fire produces no smoke.

by Ted Norman
The Rockport Volunteer Firemen hosted the quarterly volunteer firemen pumper races Sunday and both the Rockport men and women's teams did well.

Six men's teams and four women's teams showed up for the pumper races Sunday in Rockport and the Rockport Firemen Ladies Auxiliary won first place in the six man pumper race. The Rockport men were the host team and unable to compete in timed competition.

In men's competition Beeville came in first in out-of-district competition with Portland winning first in district followed by Sinton in second place and Taft in third.

In the ladies events Rockport placed first with Beeville second and Aransas Pass third.

Rockport Volunteers hosted a dinner and dance for over three hundred people at the Paws and Taws building and served 300 pounds of fish and 100 pounds of shrimp.

The volunteers meet every three months and the next meeting will be at Lagado, Texas.

Rockport Sailing Club Hosts Annual Fun Regatta

By Ted Norman

The Rockport Sailing Club held its annual Fun Regatta Sunday with over 150 people turning out for the event.

It used to be called the "I Can't Believe It's a Regatta" regatta and this was the sixth or seventh or eighth year that it has been held.

A few years ago the long and formal name was shortened simply to Fun Regatta because that explained its intention better — to have fun.

The Rockport Sailing Club posted notices around the area inviting non-club members to come join the fun and according to club spokesmen, about a half dozen non-members participated in the event.

The regatta was held at 1:30 p.m. Sunday on Key Allegro Island near the bridge at the entrance to the island.

About two dozen sailors participated in eight races with ribbons and trophies being awarded to the top contenders.

The committee boat was equipped with radio communications to the shore with an amplifying system and spectators were kept informed on the progress of the offshore races and some color and humor were added in the narrations for those who needed an explanation of what was taking place.

The regatta was for board boats of the Sunfish and Dolphin class with one race for dinghies of any class.

The first race of the regatta was the man overboard event where a captain and one crewman enter the race and sometime during the race the crewman must fall or be thrown overboard and then be rescued by the captain. John Brown scored the lowest points of this race and came in first with Guy Haskell taking second place and James Otto third.

In the Fleet B class, (inexperienced sailors) Jody Kroesche was first with Thad Barnes second and Brian Beasley third.

The next race of the Fun Regatta was the backward race, an event where the downwind leg of the race is sailed backwards and the boat comes across the finish line stern first.

In Fleet A, John Brown was first with Andy McMillan second with Guy Haskell coming in third.

In the Fleet B class Thad Barnes was first with Jody Kroesche second and Jeff Shaw third.

Perhaps the event that gave the spectators the biggest thrill was the Le Mans Race. In this event the sailors had to moor their boats offshore with the sails down and on the starting signal run from the beach to the boats, raise the sails and get underway. The event had a false start when the captains left the beach on the wrong signal and had to be called back for a new start.

Several captains got their centerboards fouled in mooring lines and had less than ceremonious starts. But eventually the fun-filled Le Mans Race got underway.

Guy Haskell finished in first place with Andy McMillan coming in second and John Brown taking third.

In Fleet B of the Le Mans Race Jamie Shaw was first with Jody Kroesche coming in second and Thad Barnes third.

The fourth race of the regatta was the Old Salts Trophy Race with Ken Otto taking first place in the event and Bob Brownell finishing second and Bob Albin third.

After the Old Salts Trophy Race the regatta got back to the fun stuff with the fifth race of the day being the one that many spectators and few captains looked forward to — the Capsize Race.

In the event each captain was required to capsizes the boat on each of the three legs of the race, right the boat and continue to race.

In Fleet A class Guy Haskell took first place with Andy McMillan second and John Brown coming in third.

Thad Barnes captured first place in the Fleet B class with Brian Beasley second and Jody Kroesche third.

Race number five and one-half was the dinghy race. This was the race for those who had boats other than Sunfish and Dolphin. Four captains entered the event with Lloyd Umfleet taking first place followed by Fred Comingore in second and Cap Henkel in third with Rick Umfleet cruising to a fourth place finish.

Things actually began to get serious and look like a sailboat regatta when the warning flag went up for race number six, the "Round-the-Marks" race. In this event the seasoned sailboat race enthusiast will feel more at home with the captains trying to stay aboard during the race, keep the shiny side up and the pointy end in front in a more traditional manner.

In Fleet A John Brown took first place with Guy Haskell second and Scott McMillan third. In Fleet B Jody Kroesche was first, Brian Beasley second and Rick Nerod third.

Things returned to the normal mood of a fun regatta with the last event of the day, the Man (or Woman) Overboard event.

Joe Kroesche captured first in the event with Andy McMillan second and Jody Kroesche third.

Trophies were awarded for low points in five of the events with first place in Fleet A going to John Brown, second place to Guy Haskell and third spot to Andy McMillan. In Fleet B first place went to Jody Kroesche, second was won by Thad Barnes and third place went to Brian Beasley. Beasley was one of the non-member participants.

economics haven't been good," he said.
He added that this is also the first year that the Gulf has been closed to shrimping for the June 1 through July 15 period out to the 200-mile mark. "There's always been a closure, but in the past it's gone out only 10 miles," he said.
That fact will affect the June landings for Texas. The fisheries service has not yet released the June totals.

Another factor that will affect Texas shrimpers, Jackson added, is that "with the predicted good season here, we can expect an unprecedented number of boats from other states fishing off Texas this year."
"That," he continued, "is going to add to the pressure."
Jackson and Casterline both said fuel prices have dropped some, but Jackson at least doesn't expect the drop to significantly affect the shrimpers. Fuel prices are currently ranging from around $1.05 to $1.13, he said, and, according to Casterline, "That's better than it was a couple of weeks ago."
Right now, Jackson said, "price (for shrimp) is the big variable that we have no control over."
"I think we can catch significantly more shrimp this season," he added.
The test will be whether increased catches can balance out the decrease in what shrimpers are paid for their work.

verification and he had agreed.
"As you know," Jones told the court, "The Tax office collects 90 percent of the revenues for the county." She explained to the court, that even with the central appraisal office, there was much work still to be done by her staff. The number of deputies now, seven, is the same number she began work with in 1977, since employees hired in the interim had been cut back.
Jones gave the court a detailed analysis of the work of the tax office and had a prepared breakdown of the various departments — tax rolls, auto license, title work, etc. — and illustrated that revenue as well as work in those areas had increased in the last four years, and was estimated to increase further.
She asked that the court, prior to making any budget decisions, inform themselves on the office's function by coming in and seeing the operation.
In other action, the court granted requests for two water line applications, one to cross county road Doughty, near Fuqua Street and Terry; and another in Lamar, to cross Bay Street.

Board

speak to teachers and interested parents. Clay had been unable to come, and the board told Atchley that no one else contacted will be coming in future. However, Clay may be able to deliver a program after the start of the school year in the fall.
Grouping procedures for junior high students were discussed at length by the board with the parents. The proposed policy for the seventh and eighth grade grouping is to divide each grade into two ability groups with a compensatory program in reading for extra low ability students. Subjects to be ability-grouped in the grades are English, math and reading.
Nelda Lee questioned the board about whether the top level students would be served by the school's new grouping procedures on the elementary level.
School superintendent Joe Randow explained to Lee that all grouping would be horizontal only, with enrichment materials for high ability students. Bobby Jackson, a teacher present at the meeting, explained that a student with a skill level above his actual grade would be provided with enrichment materials but would not be given work from the next grade level.
Lee then brought up the issue of pay for the teachers who worked out the new curriculum programs at the end of the last semester. Lee explained that teachers had said they worked on their own time to develop the program and were not paid in any way. Calling it "a complete abuse" of the teachers' professionalism, Lee asked that the board make a motion that night concerning the paying of the teachers involved.
Randow commented, "At this point, they are considered volunteers," and no action was taken on the matter.
Randow reported to the board that, as yet, no bids have been submitted to the district for the removal or destruction of the 80-year-old administration building. The building will have to be moved in order to get underway with the new auditorium building.
The board selected Polly Bracht as a delegate to the state school board convention to be held in San Antonio in September. Jerry Brundrett, newest member of the board, was selected as an alternate.

Get maximum cooling ~ at minimum cost!

If you're looking for ways to keep your electricity bills in line this summer, Central Power and Light Company suggests you concentrate your main effort on making your air conditioning system more efficient.

During the hot months, more than half the electricity used in most air conditioned homes is for cooling. By using air conditioning wisely, you can exert substantial control over your use of electricity—and the size of your bill.

Here are some tips to help you keep your house cool at the lowest possible cost:

- DON'T OVERCOOL. Keep your thermostat at the highest comfortable setting—about 78°. For each degree below 78°, you add another 14% to the cost of operating your air conditioner.
- Have your air conditioner cleaned and checked annually by your dealer or other qualified technician.
- Clean or replace the filter once a month or, preferably every two weeks. A dirty filter makes your air conditioner work harder than necessary.
- Stop air leaks; a well sealed house can save up to 10% on air conditioner operating costs. Caulk cracks and holes. And install weather stripping around windows and doors.
- Clear obstructions away from outside sections of central air conditioning to ensure free circulation of air.
- Protect the house from direct sunlight with draperies, blinds, shades or awning. Provide additional shade by planting trees and shrubbery.
- If you're shopping for a new air conditioner, make sure the unit you select has an Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER or SEER) of 8 or more.

Rocket Finally Arrives In Rockport

By Ted Norman
After some bad weather, a brush with the New Mexico law and perhaps being lost on some backroads, the Space Services Inc. rocket arrived in Rockport about 3:00 a.m. Saturday.

After several dozen members of the press and a few curious individuals showed up Friday morning with a promise from SSI spokesmen that the 55 foot rocket would arrive at 9:30 a.m. the vehicle arrived almost 18 hours late.

At one point Friday morning public relations people for SSI said the rocket was 30 minutes out of Rockport and several television news crews from Houston launched camera crews in helicopters, still photographers took up positions on the Copano Bay bridge, the highway and the roof of the Sea Gun Inn in an effort to get the best shot of the long awaited arrival.

After four hours of waiting the helicopters returned and landed, the photographers came in off their hot perches and everyone gathered around public relations man Walt Pennino who said the driver of the truck had just called and said he was stopped by a wash-out in the road near Fort Stockton.

A member of the press reminded Pennino that wash-outs only occur on fairly small roads and he was asked if the truck was taking the backroads. Pennino responded by saying, "I didn't know that, he may be oversized; that bothers me, he may be lost."

Pennino restated his claim of the wash-out and rumbles of doubt and disbelief began to travel through the press corps who had been promised the arrival of the rocket for over two days.

After the announcement of the "wash-out" Pennino began to try and calculate how long it would be before the rocket could arrive. He said he felt the earliest possible time of arrival would be 9:00 or 9:30 p.m. Friday night.

Late reports determined that the truck driver had been stopped in New Mexico for violation of that state's trucking laws and the driver and the rocket had been held by the New Mexico authorities.

Pennino said the first violation was that of not having identification as to what the truck was hauling. He also said the rocket exceeded the legal length by a few feet.

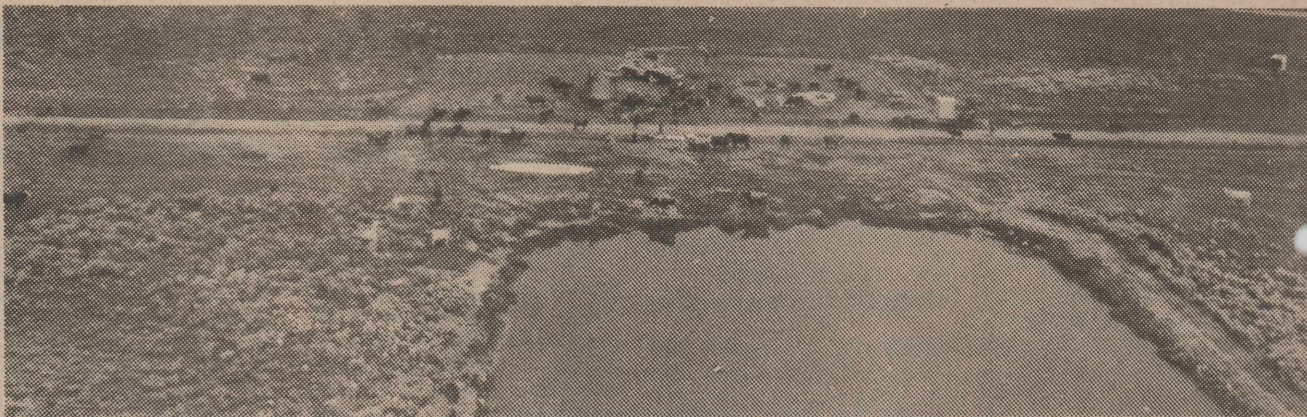

Pennino said the truck was stopped at a New Mexico weighin station where it was found to be too long. Officials also reportedly said the driver was not carrying the proper insurance documents and was detained until it could be verified that there was proper insurance on the vehicle.

He said the driver had to wait at the weighin station while officials sent a telex to verify the insurance.

During the night the driver reportedly drove away and unlawfully continued his trip to Rockport.

After the last member of the press departed at around 1:00 a.m. Saturday morning the truck carrying the white and black rocket on the blue custom-made trailer and covered with a black tarp rolled into Sea Gun Inn between 3:00 and 3:30 a.m. with no one to greet it.

SSI personnel initiated a rotating lookout program and members of the company who are going to launch the rocket stood

WHERE'S THE ROCKET?

After the Percheron rocket failed to arrive in Rockport as announced by company officials the press corps began to wonder if there really was a rocket. SSI public relations man Walt Pennino, with sun glasses, tries to answer the questions from the press. [Pilot Photo by Ted Norman]
