Ballot Okehd By Democrats

Several Candidates Seeking Office of Public Weigher Left Off Ticket Because of Failure to Pay Quota

Members of the Lubbock County Democratic Executive committee met Wednesday afternoon in the county court room for the purpose of making final approval of the ballot. Several names were left off the ticket, according to J. K. West, chairman of the committee, due to the fact that assessments had not been paid by midnight Monday.

All names, however, which were omitted were those who sought the office of public weigher. None of the major offices were changed.

The chairman reported that of the $215 assessed at a recent meeting of the committee, $100 had been collected. The ticket was approved and is now in the hands of the printer.

Fliers Reach Canada After Bitter Fight With Heavy Fog

(By Associated Press)

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 25. The mighty alpine Southern Cross, five-year-old weatherbeaten veteran of the skies, swept in here from the fog-ringed North Atlantic today with her crew of four, conquerors of two vast oceans.

The great plane that thrilled the world with a record-breaking flight over the Pacific, fought a bitter battle with fog above the Grand Banks and along the coast of Newfoundland as the gasoline supply that carried the ship from Ireland ebbed away to the danger point.

Second To Cross.

Then at 6 a. m. (E. S. T.) still a thousand miles short of New York, its goal, and with barely enough petrol to wet its tanks, it dropped through the fog bank to the field here, the second airplane to negotiate the treacherous east-west flight of the North Atlantic and the first ever to land undamaged and able to continue. The German plane, Bremen, made the other westward crossing.

As it rolled to a stop, 32 hours after soaring away from Port Moresby, Irish Free State, the quartet that had piloted it on its long flight climbed out.

There were Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, the pilot and Evert Van Dyke, co-pilot, J. Patrick Saul, navigator, and John W. Stannage, radio operator.

Airmen Tired.

They were tired, but in good control. See SOUTHERN CROSS, Page 9.

Temperature Officially Recorded Here Wednesday at 106 Degrees for Hottest Day of Year

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, June 25. — West Texas persisted today under a heat blanket which sent the temperature to 119 1-2 at Childress and caused concern among farmers for crops. Wichita Falls reported a maximum of 106 degrees and similar temperatures over a wide surrounding area; Lubbock, 106; Abilene, 107; Amarillo, 106; Fort Worth, 101; Dallas, 106; Texarkana, 100; Austin, 89; and San Antonio, 88.

While a mid-summer sun beat down with unrelenting fury upon Lubbock Wednesday, official recordings at the state experiment station three miles east of the city, showed the thermometer at 106 degrees, its highest point reached this year.

Temperatures vary approximately three degrees in the city to that at the experiment station which indicated that unofficial readings in the business district were about 109 degrees. This condition is caused by reflection of the sun from buildings and paved streets.

Third Hot Day.

Monday and Tuesday of this week were recorded as extremely hot days for this period of the year. Mercury on the first two days of the week varied from 103 to 105 degrees at mid-afternoon.

Lovington Is To Celebrate New Railroad

Lubbock High School Band to Accompany Local Group to Rail Party Saturday; L. C. Ellis Chairman

Plans are to be outlined this morning to send the Lubbock high school band and a large delegation of local citizens to Lovington, N. M., Saturday, June 28, for the celebration of completion of the Texas and New Mexico railroad.

L. C. Ellis is chairman of the committee which will meet at the offices of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce this morning at 9 o'clock to lay the plans.

Go By Auto.

The local group will go by automobile and an effort will be made to take a larger number of citizens from this city than from any other represented town.

The chamber of commerce will be faced with a problem in securing sufficient transportation for the band and will call on Lubbock people to furnish it, according to Mr. Ellis.

Lovington is preparing to entertain 5,000 visitors, according to a letter received here from Seth Alston, president of the Lovington Chamber of Commerce. Members of the good will party that visited Lovington, Tatum and Hobbs recently brought back invitations to the citizens of Lubbock to be there in large numbers. The party was royally entertained on its recent visit.

Shipments This Season Are Likely to Be Double Last Year's Total; Testing Is Proving Higher This Year

R. R. STUARD, Lubbock Grain Exchange inspector, announced Wednesday that 237 cars of wheat have been handled in and out of Lubbock since receipt of the first car on June 18, an average of about 34 cars per day.

Each car runs 1,500 bushels, a total of 355,500 bushels which have been handled in Lubbock in the past seven days.

This wheat, according to Mr. Stuard, is to be delivered to Texas export points at approximately 80 cents per bushel.

Increase Expected.

Wheat movements in this section this year are expected to be about double that of last year for the entire season. Only 109 cars were marketed for June of 1929, while that mark has already been passed this year with a run over of 128 cars. The high mark for 1929 was reached in July when 945 cars were recorded but, according to Mr. Stuard, that total will probably be doubled next month.

Mr. Stuard, working under direction of the United States department of agriculture, said Wednesday that all grain is testing high.

Hembree On Trial In Attack, Shooting Of Gainesville Teacher

(By Associated Press)

DUNCAN, Okla., June 25.—State witnesses followed each other in rapid succession this afternoon in the trial of E. S. Hembree, as the prosecution attempted to weave a net of circumstantial evidence about the man accused of attacking and shooting Leota Booley, a school teacher of Loco, Miss Booley's home is in Gainesville, Texas.

The state contends the trail of a wrecked car, followed from the scene of the alleged attack, led to the Hembree home.

Elmer Clay, farmer living near where the attack was alleged to have occurred, testified Hembree and his brother, Ay Hembree, also charged with assault, visited his home March 9 and left about 10 p. m. The alleged assault occurred about 10:30 p. m. Ay Hembree will be tried later.

Clay testified he heard an automobile turn around in his yard before the Hembree's left. Miss Booley and Chad Thirman, her companion the night of March 9, previously had testified they turned around in a farm yard shortly before a car bearing the attackers overtook them.

Witness Identified.

Jim Brown, deputy sheriff who arrested Hembree, identified a broken windshield taken from a wrecked car at the Hembree home. E. L. Conn, filling station owner living northeast of Duncan, testified Hembree bought gasoline from him about 2 a. m. March 10.

The state expected to rest its case tomorrow morning.

Motive Sought In Murder of Newspaperman

Study of Tribune Reporter's Finances Made in Probe of Chicago Slaying; William Russell Testifies

CHICAGO, June 25. (P)—The motive for Jake Lingle's murder was sought today in a study of his finances.

His close friend, William Russell, former police commissioner, was questioned yesterday at the state's attorney's office. What he told the investigators was not revealed; but it was understood he was asked if he knew.

Ask Bank Deposits
What were the bank deposits of the Tribune reporter?
What was the source of his income aside from his modest salary as a newspaperman?
What were his transactions with stockholders?
In whose name did he write checks and why?

The nature of the questioning was taken as an indication that the finances of the slain reporter, who was friend alike of police chiefs and gang leaders, would be placed before the grand jury which is to investigate the murder.

To Be Witness
The former police commissioner, whose resignation resulted from public indignation touched off by the Lingle assassination, is expected to be one of the first jury witnesses. The state's attorney has indicated he wants Russell to tell the jurors what, if any, special privileges were accorded Lingle by the police.

In an address before the city club yesterday Donald R. Richberg, attorney, sought to point an "interlocking relationship between Public Utility control and corruption of government and the political protection of crime." He spoke of Samuel Etzelson, city corporation counsel, as "Mr. Insull's political lawyer" (Samuel Insull, Public Utilities magnate) and added that Etzelson "is also chief operator of the city government, with Mayor Thompson only a figurehead."

Income Reported.
"Newspapers have reporters in detail an enormous income obtained by Lingle from unknown sources—perhaps a natural result of being confidential chief of police, and a friend of gangsters plundering the town," Richberg said in his address. "And now we read that a man named Forsythe (James 'Red' Forsythe) is accused of the Lingle murder; and it is also reported that the last time this man was arrested in a gangster hangout he was released when it was found that he was working in Etzelson's office in the city hall."

The hunt for Forsythe, so far as information from the special crime headquarters reveals, has been thus far without success.

Former Radio Head Suicides

Edwin Rolleston Takes Own Life After Failing to Win Back Position He Once Has Occupied in Oklahoma

TULSA, Okla., June 25. (P)—Failing in his effort to "beat back" to the position he once had occupied, Edwin K. Rolleston, 36, who established at Bristol the first radio broadcasting station in Oklahoma, committed suicide yesterday in his hotel room here. He shot himself in the head with a revolver.

A collection of incoherent notes to relatives and friends indicated he had contemplated suicide for several days.

Relative ascribed financial difficulties as the principal cause of Rolleston's act. Once independently wealthy and a prominent figure in eastern Oklahoma business and oil circles, he had seen his fortune depleted in promotion of the radio station and losses in the oil business. He and his wife had been separated six months.

The radio station was started as KPRD. Subsequently it was redesignated as KVOO, and later brought to Tulsa and purchased by W. G. Slaty.

This season YOU CERTAINLY CAN AFFORD GOODYEARS

THERE never has been a time when the tire-buyer's money could buy as much as right now.

Rubber's cheap — and consequently tire prices are the lowest they've ever been.

People with an eye to values are seizing this chance and making the most of it.

They're buying Goodyear Tires — because right now they can buy them for as little as they used to pay for inferior or unknown tires.

Why are they singling out Goodyear Tires with especial insistence as against all others? Because Goodyear Tires are definitely superior in tread and carcass, the two main parts of a tire.

The Goodyear All-Weather Tread is superior in traction.

The Goodyear Supertwist Carcass is superior in vitality and long life.

You are not asked to accept these statements without inquiry. Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the facts. The facts certainly are: Goodyear Tires do give greater value. As far back as 1916, it became a fact that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Every year since that time it has been increasingly true that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Today this preference for Goodyears runs into millions: millions more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

More Goodyear Tires than any other kind annually leave motor car factories on new cars—more Goodyear Tires go into service through the great Goodyear dealer organization — more Goodyear Tires are used by transcontinental, urban and interurban buses.

There can be only one conclusion: Goodyear Tires must be better—and at present prices they are a matchless bargain. Now is the time to get yours.

Chief Interest Centered on Gubernatorial Campaigns as Few Lubbock Candidates
Have Opponents

As yet, but faint ripples have stirred the waters insofar as political campaigns of local candidates are concerned. Chief interest has centered in the puzzling and kaleidoscopic tangle now being unmeshed throughout the state in fiery speeches delivered by speakers of the chief office, that of governor.

With the advent of the political season, prospects for a Lubbock county race of any interest were dim. Major offices of the county were held by men whose service had proved a stone wall to the aspirations of opposing candidates.

Three Seek Judgeship.
Announcement that Robert H. Bean would seek re-election as county judge was hailed with some degree of satisfaction by those with whom he had associated. Later in the race, however, Judge Bean withdrew to take up the active practice of law. With announcement of his withdrawal, two bids were promptly tossed into the ring the same day. Burton S. Burks, present assistant district attorney, and Charles Norky, former county judge, had placed their names before the voters in the same breath.

Each of the three men have been certified by the executive committee and the county judge's race has taken on an importance heretofore unlooked for. Each of the candidates have strong supporters among the voters of the county. No quarrel is to be had and no quarter will be given.

Races Warm Up.
Two other races, both two-sided, also held the attention in the warming up process before the primaries on July 28. Mrs. Flora Atchison, present incumbent in the office of district clerk, is campaigning diligently as is her opponent in the race, Charles Metcalf. Amos Howard, present county clerk, also has a hard-working opponent in Mr. Allen.

Several other contests are expected to be hotly fought, none however, holding the center of spotlight as the three first named. All county commissioners offices are being contested with exception of precinct 2, held by J. T. Pinkston.

Seven county and district offices have no opponents. These are Durood Bradley, district attorney; Vaughn E. Wilson, county attorney; Wade Hardy, sheriff; A. J. Clark, county collector; A. B. Ellis, county assessor; Anne Ford, county treasurer, and A. L. Harris, county surveyor.

Summer Trip To Carlsbad Cavern
Planned By Tech

Plans are now being laid for the annual Texas Tech excursion to Carlsbad Caverns, according to announcement yesterday by school officials. Each summer several hundred students with faculty members and townspeople make the trip to the cave.

On Saturday, July 6, a holiday is to be observed, but classes are to be held on Monday, July 7. This arrangement will give Friday, Saturday and Sunday as consecutive holidays.

Final examinations will be held at the college on July 11 and 12.

Lubbock Morning Avalanche MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS FULL LEASED WIRE SERVICE

Published every morning except Sunday and Monday and containing all the news of the day...

L. H. QUINN, Publisher CHARLES A. GUY, Editor

Entered at the Postoffice at Lubbock, Texas, for transmission through the mails as second-class matter.

Advertising Representative: Texas Daily Press League, Dallas, New York, Chicago, Kansas City.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches received by it...

It is not the intention of The Avalanche to cast reflection upon the character of anyone known, and if through error we should, the management will appreciate having our attention called to such errors...

The Avalanche is an independent Democratic newspaper, supporting in its editorial columns the principles which it believes to be right and opposing those which it believes to be wrong...

However, this doubtless was simply a slip in Senator Glass' arithmetic; he ought to have said "nine instead of 'six'."

But even so, I would have thought Senator Watson was nearly right—that genuine, old-fashioned, free trade or tariff-for-revenue democrats (a tariff being merely a mighty bad way for raising revenue but not necessarily inconsistent with free trade principles) are at least scarce enough to class as curiosities.

Furthermore, it seemed to me that Senator Glass himself (when I asked him about it) vindicated the Hooper lawmaker, to all intents and purposes.

"Oh," said the Virginian statesman, impatiently, "if you mean free trade in its literal sense, no, I don't know of any democratic free traders of that sort."

"That is, none in responsible positions," Henry George believed in it.

"So does Representative George Huddleston of Alabama, and I know of one other democratic congressman who does but is afraid to say so out loud but it is interrupted as a violent form of communism."

"We must have some means," added Senator Glass, "of equalizing other countries' lower production costs with ours."

As previously suggested, the senator spoke impatiently; it did not seem discreet to ask him to amplify much further; his fulmination very easily, as a safe source of information, I sought out Senator Albert W. Barker, of Kentucky, who also considers the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill perfectly awful.

Nevertheless, Senator Barker agreed with Senator Glass that unadulterated free trade would be too much of a good thing.

"This country," he said, "is fortunate in that it is immensely rich in resources, with a comparatively small number of people to divide these riches among, which allows each of them a much larger share than is possible in other countries—in other words, a far better living."

"I don't believe," continued the Kentuckian, "that Americans ever are going to be willing to give up any part of this advantage to peoples who are not so lucky."

"For a few of our own number to become greedy and try to gouge the rest of us, by demanding a monopoly, is overlooking matters."

"But as for permitting the folk of the old world to underbid us in our own markets, which would put us on their standard of living—although doubtless it would raise their standard somewhat, as it lowered ours, and be highly altruistic in us—no, no, we must equalize the difference—and an adequate import tax on their products appears to be the only way of doing it."

Without disputing this reasoning's soundness, if it is anything but protective tariff logic, it will strain any economist's imagination to describe what she is. Yet it makes Senator Glass angry to call him a protectionist.

In reality, too, of course there is ground for disputing it.

It works well as a means of keeping out imports, but positively is a serious handicap to export development, on which the United States every year becomes more dependent.

To borrow an illustration from former Commissioner David J. Lewis of the U. S. tariff board— "The protective tariff system, in the long run, were to a single country's advantage in its international relationships, it would be to a single American state's advantage in its interstate relationships—but it is fairly well recognized that America's prosperity, both in general and as to each individual state, is due largely to the republic's vast extent as an unobstructed free trade area."

There is a seeming piece of good fortune that has brought nothing but disaster and hatred, broken the peace of a home, and supplanted love of him with unrelenting greed. Tragedy seems to stalk in the wake of this piece of easy money.

Many have been wondering what sort of a king the wretched Prince Carol would make.

One of his first steps is a good one.

His aides laid before him copies of French and English papers, on sale in Bucharest, violently attacking him. The press office of his government wanted to know whether the old Rumanian custom of confounding such sheets would be continued.

"I will tolerate no confounding," ordered the king. "The whole world may write about me as it likes. I have just returned from France, where the press enjoys real freedom."

He added a word on hostile demonstrations, actually inviting the public to demonstrate against him, if it had a grievance, even within the palace courtyard.

King Carol, with the enthusiastic support of the dominant party behind him, can afford to be confident.

But these acts are based on more than confidence. Older heads, afflicted with political "wisdom," would frown on them, no matter how great the king's support.

They are another form of the king's daring, his carelessness, his trick of going the whole hog, advertising one day, setting down the next. They are Carol's audacity given official substance.

And they make his reign a most successful one. It is odd but true that the qualities of sobriety, caution and exceeding timidity which make successes of private careers, are the very qualities which leaders profit most by lacking.

St. John Ervine, critic, says that night drinking is ruining the drama. Now is the time for some enterprising bootlegger to advertise his product: "Not a Drop in a Cask."

OLD STYLE FREE TRADE DEMOCRATS NOW SCARCE ENOUGH TO BE RARITY

By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Senator Carter Glass of Virginia resented it hotly recently when Senator James Watson of Indiana, O. O. F. leader in the upper house of congress, took it for granted that the whole democratic party of the present day and generation believes in a protective tariff.

In reply the Virginian questioned whether there were, right then, six democratic protectionists in the senate.

The fact is, at that very time the votes of democratic Senators Bratton, Brummar, Copeland, Kendrick, Pittman, Standish and Trammell already were on record in favor of the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, the highest in the world's history, and an eighth, Senator Fletcher, was listed as "paired" on the same side.

However, this doubtless was simply a slip in Senator Glass' arithmetic; he ought to have said "nine instead of 'six'."

But even so, I would have thought Senator Watson was nearly right—that genuine, old-fashioned, free trade or tariff-for-revenue democrats (a tariff being merely a mighty bad way for raising revenue but not necessarily inconsistent with free trade principles) are at least scarce enough to class as curiosities.

Furthermore, it seemed to me that Senator Glass himself (when I asked him about it) vindicated the Hooper lawmaker, to all intents and purposes.

EMOTIONAL STRESS SENDS ONE'S BLOOD PRESSURE UP

By DR. MORRIS FISHER Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

It has long been recognized that extremes of emotion will raise the blood pressure, that the blood pressure falls when one is asleep, and that when sleep is restless and disturbed by dreams the blood pressure may rise even during rest. In people who are subject to high blood pressure, the rise during restless sleep may constitute a menace because of the danger of brain hemorrhage.

It is generally known that the excitement associated with the blood pressure being taken by a life insurance examiner may cause a rise of 10 or 20 millimeters of mercury.

In a recent consideration of the effects of the emotion on high blood pressure, Dr. E. J. Sitigals gives the records of eight cases, including seven women whose blood pressure was normal when they were at rest, but which rose as much as 47 millimeters due to mental excitement.

In six of the eight cases the mental excitement was the reason which caused the women to seek medical attention. When the cases were carefully studied and means taken to allay the mental excitement to keep the blood pressure within the normal limits.

It is obvious that the factors which control the circulation of the blood are intimately bound with the nervous system and that through stimuli from the nervous system, the blood vessels may be made to contract and in that way raise the blood pressure. When the bad habit of over-response is developed to the degree they are likely to over-respond with much less stimulus than an ordinary occasion.

One of the difficulties of the situation lies in the fact that the person may develop the high blood pressure when he or she is undergoing examination for life insurance or for some other cause and that the very high rate taken at that time may be the cause for upsetting living conditions generally.

It is important to correct such conditions as soon as possible, since it is the tendency to get worse unless attention is given to the condition. The emotional high blood pressure may form the basis later of a permanent high blood pressure.

THE AIRPLANE THAT FLIES FASTER AT 10,000 FEET THAN AT SEA LEVEL: This airplane used a super-charged engine. The super-charger delivers air to the engine at sea level atmospheric pressure, thus enabling it to "breathe" as normally in rarified atmosphere as at sea level. This, at 10,000 feet, because the weak resistance is only three-fourths as great as on the ground, the plane makes greater speed since the engine is not affected by the altitude. Planes without super-charges would travel slower at 10,000 feet than at sea level, as engine power drops off faster in altitude than air resistance to the plane.

Story Of Self Inflicted Torture Is Substitute For Girl's Extortion Plot

PELICAN RAPIDS, Mich. June 25.—A girl's bubble of an extortion plot burst today and in its place was her strange tale of self-inflicted torture to win her grandfather's consent to attend school.

Miss Viola Hunt, 18-year-old orphan, confessed last night to Sheriff O. J. Twetten that her tale of having been tortured by three young men Sunday after receiving notes demanding $30,000 on pain of death to her grandparents and brother, was a myth. Miss Hunt said she slashed herself across the body with a knife, tied her own feet and her neck to a handkerchief about her neck to make her story realistic.

Nice To Her. "The old folks were nice to me," the girl said, "but they wouldn't let me go to school. I thought if I made them think I had been hurt to save them, they might let me go."

Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arno Holt, reputedly wealthy, were at a loss to explain the girl's act. They told police they would have sent the girl to school if she had expressed such a desire.

(P)—The administration building of the Woodmen's Circle National home for orphans and aged was dedicated here today before more than 3,000 visitors as cool breezes tempered the hot Texas sun. The building is on the second highest point between the Red river and the Gulf of Mexico.

The program was begun with a flag raising by the local legion corps. Dedicatory services were conducted by national officers with Lee Simmons of Huntsville master of ceremonies for the corner stone laying.

The executive committee of the association is to decide upon the gathering place for next year.

C. L. Adams, of Lubbock, was re-elected vice-president of the association at the closing session Tuesday. Mr. Adams and Mr. Brewer, both of this city, appeared on the program for addresses.

Roberts today filed an affidavit against Cecil Bickerstaff, oil field worker of Orange county, Texas, charging him with killing and murder while driving an automobile in an intoxicated condition. The accused is held in the Parish jail in Lake Charles.

The charges follow the drowning of a two-year-old son of Bickerstaff Tuesday afternoon in a tangle canal along the Louisiana side of the Sabine river where the car which the accused was driving, tore through a guard rail and plunged into four feet of water.

Four other children and Mrs. Bickerstaff were rescued by travelers along the Old Spanish trail.

LOADED WITH DEADLY GERMS - SPREADING DISEASE - CONTAMINATING ANYTHING TOUCHED

THE FEARFUL

Scientists say flies transmit thirty different diseases. Kill them NOW. In a single season a pair of flies can produce over five billion descendants. Each one carries deadly bacteria, each alone with burning torment!

FLY-TOX KILLS THEM ALL

Flies, reeking with germs, are the filthiest of the Fearful Seven. They contaminate everything they touch. Don't risk disease from the taint of flies. Kill them. Use pure, stainless FLY-TOX. Developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Research Fellowship. Refuse substitutes.

Absolutely Harmless to People and Animals

Tired and Weary!

Your blood needs the strengthening, invigorating effect of a good tonic to fight off the malaria or other poison that is taking your strength.

By all means get a bottle of Grove's TASTELESS CHILL TONIC and take this splendid old southern tonic for a few days. It will purify and enrich your blood and bring back your strength, your color, and your appetite. Hundreds of thousands of people say GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC for this very reason every year—60¢ at all drug stores.

A package of Grove's Chill Tonic Pills is enclosed with every bottle for those who wish to take a medicine with the tonic.

TAKE A HINT

When tempted to over-indulge

"Reach for a Lucky instead"

Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

*No special dietary, but moderation in eating and drinking and not more than three meals daily, is Dr. F. McKelvey Bell's advice in the New York Medical Journal to all men and women who want to keep a proper figure. We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky instead," you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.
