RAP SESSION—Paul Hurt, the adult probation officer, has instituted a program of group discussions for probationers. Clear-cut, abrupt success is hard to find, he said, but success can be measured in small doses. Even a small change for the better is meaningful, he feels. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

Carter Won't Tolerate Blackmail From Arabs

By MAUREEN SANTINI
Associated Press Writer

PLAINS, Ga. (AP)-President Carter says he would not tolerate blackmail from Arab nations, but refuses to say whether he would go to war over Mideast oil.

"I would not let an Arab country blackmail our nation. We don't have to take that," Carter said in an interview with newspaper editors in Florida.

A transcript of the interview was released here Friday while the president took a stroll through his hometown, ducking into each downtown business to say hello to friends reportedly feeling a financial pinch from dwindling tourist trade.

Beneath a scorching [illegible] Carter and wife Rosalynn later caught a [illegible] bream while fishing [illegible] their Webster [illegible] pond.

After fishing, the president shed his shirt and [illegible] jogged down a dirt road before joining 500 people at a homecoming picnic in his honor.

During the interview with editors Thursday, Carter was asked whether the United States would go to war if the Arab nations cut off the U.S. oil supply. He said the question was hypothetical to answer directly, adding:

"I would do everything I could to avoid a war, but at the same time [illegible] number one responsibility [illegible] security of [illegible]

"We have not been blackmailed," Carter insisted. "There was no threats whatsoever issued to me or implied through the Iranians or any other intermediary."

He said the decision to sell the kerosene was, in effect, a goodwill gesture because Iran supplies the United States with so much oil and needed the kerosene when its own refinery was sabotaged.

The president was not asked about, and did not address, reports that Iran no longer needs the kerosene and may sell it at a profit.

The president also discounted reports that U.S. oil companies purposefully have withheld gasoline so prices would increase.

"You can hold up that tide for a little while, perhaps, like a few days," he said. "But it's got to move. What goes in one end of the pipeline has to go out the other."

Sessions Show Promise...

Self-Help For Probationers

By JOHN LONG

Can twice-monthly doses of positive thinking and self-help philosophy make a difference in the life of a man serving probation?

Paul Hurt believes they can. He's the adult probation officer for Scurry and Borden Counties and he has begun twice-a-month meetings outside his courthouse office with his probationers.

Abrupt, about-face changes in attitude are rare, although Hurt can cite a few examples since the program began. What is more common are small changes in attitude and outlook that are hardly noticed at first, but changes which Hurt hopes can lead to bigger things later.

The discussions are held in the community room of the county jail and each lasts about an hour and a half. Attendance is voluntary and only five to 20 of Hurt's 280 felony and misdemeanor probationers attend. Generally, several jail inmates also go to the meetings, Hurt said.

"The discussion groups have addressed topics of improving self-image, setting short-term and long-term goals, dealing with old friends and habits, acceptance of responsibility, and the cause and effect of drug and alcohol abuse," said Hurt.

What the [illegible] is that the men are told they can help themselves, that their mental attitude is important, and that they can control their lives.

One probationer who sometimes attends the discussion groups compared the sessions to meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous. The same type of self-help and help-thy-neighbor attitude prevails.

He said the meetings produce "some feeling of camaraderie" and added that with them "you can see a light at the end of the tunnel."

The sessions were [illegible] last November. Hurt said after several probationers approached him with the idea. The printed materials used in the program are furnished by the Border Jaycees who [illegible] self-help program to get it own going at that area.

Exactly who is helped by the program and to what degree is difficult to determine, Hurt pointed out.

"You don't have any empirical data to [illegible] is helped and who isn't," he noted. "I [illegible] person to attend without [illegible] larity whose probation was revoked."

Success, Hurt [illegible] can be measured [illegible] doses. A person [illegible] be able to completely [illegible] make himself over [illegible]

The SDN Column

Somehow, we never did feel confident that a flood control project on Deep Creek actually would come to pass. There were times in the years following the flood of 1972 when we were encouraged over its prospects, but there was always a "gut feeling" that the proposal never would clear all of the hurdles.

In the first place, the time frame for processing such projects worked against us from the very beginning. They (the Soil Conservation Service people) told us immediately that it would take six to eight years to get any actual construction work going, even if everything moved along on the best possible schedule.

It has been seven years now since the flood, and even if the green light had been flashed, these early estimates would have been correct. Such a time lag appears somewhat ludicrous when you consider the character of the project. You are talking about something that could happen tomorrow, next week, next month, next year or the next decade.

The experts talk about the "100-year flood," which may lead to some complacency. But what a 100-year flood means is that every year the odds for it to occur increase by one percent. On that basis, we have a seven percent chance for a 100-year flood this year---that is if the flood of 1972 was a 100-year flood---and next year it will move up to eight percent. And you never know when there may be two within a single decade followed by a 190-year gap.

Anyway, we were somewhat disappointed, but not exactly surprised Thursday when the official word came that the Deep Creek project had failed to meet economic criteria.

Congressman Charles Stenholm was preaching the same private enterprise doctrine Thursday night that he did during his campaign. His philosophy on "windfall profits," the Department of Energy and the federal bureaucracy in general is the same as that expressed by some leaders in our community who have been in contact with officials in Washington and voiced their views whenever opportunity presented itself.

However, very few of those who have been most actual in lodging complaints went to Austin for a first-hand report, or to personally encourage the 17th District Congressman on his stand, which could have been accomplished without a trip to Washington, or even the expense of a phone call.

Snyderites To Visit Industry

A four-man delegation from Snyder is scheduled to visit Wah Chang's offices and plant in Albany, Ore., Tuesday.

Wah Chang is the major industry now considering possible sites for a new plant in the Southwest, and Snyder and Scurry County are believed to be among front-runners in the race. Wah Chang officials made a visit here in June and at the time indicated that a decision would be made later in the year. The number of sites under consideration had been trimmed to three when the company officials visited here.

The Wah Chang management invited the Snyder Chamber of Commerce to send a delegation to Oregon this week, and four local men will depart from the Lubbock airport early Tuesday.

Making the trip will be Dalton Walton, chamber president; Bill Warner, chamber manager; Roy McQueen, head of the chamber's industrial team, and Milton Ham, who heads the industrial team's site division and who also is mayor pro tem of Snyder. They are scheduled to return Wednesday.

Observance Of Labor Day Set

Many Snyder area residents will have a holiday Monday as the community observes Labor Day.

Offices of government agencies, including city, county, state and federal, will be closed for the day, along with some retail business firms and other offices, banks and savings and loan offices. Although all local law enforcement agencies will be on duty, the Department of Public Safety Drivers License office will be closed.

Area public schools that began the fall term earlier, including Hermleigh, Ira and Hobbs, will observe the holiday. Snyder and Borden County Schools will not begin classes until Tuesday, the day after Labor Day. However, their offices will be closed Monday.

Also, the offices at Western Texas College will be closed for the holiday, and the Scurry County Museum on the WTC campus is closed today and Monday for the holiday weekend.

WTC will begin registration for the fall semester at 1 p.m. Tuesday when sophomore students enroll. Evening students will enroll from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Freshmen will register from 9 a.m. to noon Wednesday, and registration for all students will continue from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday. Students will report first to the officers of counselors in the Student Center. Classes for both day and evening students will begin Thursday.

The Snyder Daily News will publish its regular issue Monday, but press time will be moved up so that the staff may take off for part of the holiday.

3 Shoppers Win Prizes In Contest

Three lucky Snyderites [illegible] pers have had their names drawn in the "Back To School" Contest sponsored jointly by the Snyder Daily News and the participating Snyder merchants.

The names drawn were Joyce Barnes of 2[illegible] St., winner of $50 worth merchant money; [illegible] Adams of Rt. 1, Snyder, and Terri McClain of [illegible] 32nd, both winners of $25 worth of merchant money.

These three winners may pick up their merchant money at the SDN today.

Entrants signed up at participating local [illegible] and their merchandise will be good at [illegible] stores: J.C. Texas Traffic Toll Higher (AUSTIN - AP)—Texas traffic deaths are five percent higher this year [illegible] most of the increase [illegible] on country roads and [illegible] streets, the Department of Public Safety said Friday.

DPS figures show 2,545 deaths on streets and highways this year compared to 2,429 for the same period last year. There have been 2,206 accidents in which deaths occurred, compared to 2,118 in 1978.

The DPS said County roads show an increase of 12 percent over last year while there is a 12 percent increase in cities. On the other hand, there is a 3 percent decrease in traffic deaths on interstate highways, 1 percent decrease on state and U.S. highways and a 3 percent decrease on farm to market roads.

Ask Us

Why have plans to build the mall been canceled?

According to Alan Spain, project engineer for Ambinder and Associates, the plans have not been scrapped. However, several factors, including the high interest rates, have delayed the construction start date perhaps late 1980 or even 1981.

Weekend update

Scuttled Rig Shocks White

AUSTIN (AP)-Democratic Attorney General Mark White says he was "shocked" at the fact that the SEDCO-owned oil drilling rig involved in the giant Mexican oil spill was scuttled by its owners.

White told Austin television station KTBC that the sinking of the rig raises concerns "as to why they would dispose of the rig in this fashion if they in fact had no fault."

"I was shocked," White said.

"I couldn't understand why they would have taken that action. You know this was obviously going to be a piece of evidence that would be important in terms of an assessment of negligence."

Says 15 On Davis Hit List

FORT WORTH (AP)-FBI informant David McCrory has testified that Cullen Davis outlined a plan in August 1978 to engineer the deaths of 15 persons on an alleged "hit" list.

During his second day on the witness stand Friday, McCrory also told jurors that Davis told him to hire a killer to "throw grenades" or gun down his ex-wife, Priscilla, with an automatic rifle and "kill her and whoever was with her."

Biggest Lettuce Strike Ends

SALINAS, Calif. (AP)-A seven-month strike against the state's largest lettuce grower has ended with a pact hailed by United Farm Workers as a major victory while the grower warned it could help make California lettuce less competitive.

The tentative agreement reached Friday between the UFW and Sun Harvest was "a victory for both the union and the company," said UFW president Cesar Chavez, who called off a boycott against United Brands, the firm's parent company.

"I think we're relieved and we think we have a competitive contract," said Roland Kemp, vice president of Sun Harvest.

But Kemp warned the increase in wages, coupled with higher fuel costs, could make California lettuce less competitive with Eastern and Midwestern products.

Mexican Gas Deal Shelved

MEXICO (AP)-Mexico has called off a bid to sell natural gas to the United States after failing to agree on a price in two days of negotiations with a special U.S. envoy, Foreign Minister Jorge Castaneda announced.

After the talks broke down Friday, Castaneda told a news conference that Mexico had offered to sell 300 million cubic feet of gas a day at a price pegged to that of home heating oil selling in the United States.

Sources said the Mexican offer worked out to more than $3.20 per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas - or about 40 cents more per 1,000 cubic feet than the United States currently pays for gas imported from Canada.

Prizes Announced For Cooking School Here

[illegible] groceries and a microwave oven will be [illegible] of the door prizes to be given away at this month's Progressive Farmers Cooking School.

The [illegible] event, co-sponsored by the Snyder Daily News and the Progressive Farmer magazine, will be held Tuesday, Sept. 25, in the Snyder High School auditorium.

Tickets for the show, [illegible] beginning at 7 p.m. will be free and can be obtained from any participating merchant beginning next week. A full list of places where tickets may be obtained will be announced next Sunday.

Tickets are required for the show since seating in the auditorium is limited. In addition, those attending will sign the back of the tickets and they are then used for drawing of the door prizes.

This is the second year for the show to be held in Snyder. "We had more than 950 persons present last year," stated SDN publisher Roy McQueen. "We look for an even larger crowd this year since there are fewer conflicts that night.

It was emphasized that it will be an all-new show this year, with a fresh presentation and a batch of new recipies.

Home economist for this year's show is Gayla Jennings, a native of Graham who is a graduate of the University of Texas. The program coordinator is Joan Powell of Dallas.

The groceries for the show will be donated by Furr's Super Market and Roe's Appliance will give away the microwave oven. There will also be a variety of other door prizes. Also, each person attending the school will be handed a gift bag containing a variety of items--including cooking tips and valuable coupons.

Judo, Aikido Offered As PE Courses

Judo and aikido will be offered as physical education courses at WTC this fall.

"These two courses compliment each other," Dr. Shel Hillis, instructor, says. "Judo deals with throws, hold-downs, chokes and arm bars, while aikido deals with striking technique, wrist locks, joint locks and throws."

Judo is taught as a sport, Hillis commented, and consequently has rules to insure that judo players are not injured. Aikido is taught for self-defense and has no rules. In practice, students must exercise ethics so no one is injured. Aikido skills are especially helpful to pre-service and in-service teachers, policemen, nurses, housewives, and other persons as well.

Safety is heavily stressed in all classroom situations.

Interested persons should check the fall schedule or call Dr. Hillis at his office, 573-8511, extension 237 or 312.

RELOCATING—The Gold Bond and Buccaneer stamp redemption stores are consolidating and relocating at 1801 25th St. Although the process of moving hasn't been completed yet, the center is accepting stamps. The Gold Bond and Buccaneer stamps may now be mixed for trade-in, said Patsy Martin, acting manager, shown in the above photo. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

Stamp Centers To Join At New Site

The Gold Bond and Buccaneer stamp redemption centers are being consolidated in one facility at 1801 25th St., in the building on the northeast corner of the courthouse square formerly occupied by Farm & Ranch Western Wear.

The Gold Bond store has already relocated in the new facility, and the Buccaneer store is expected to start moving in within the next few days, said Patsy Martin, acting manager.

The decision to consolidate was a company one, she said. Both outlets are owned by The Carlson Co.

"I like it real well," she said of the new location. "I think it's going to be real nice. We've got a lot of new things."

Noting that some work still needs to be done on the inside of the building, she said, "I think once they get it all done it'll be real nice. We'll have a lot of things not in the catalog."

Store hours, she said, will be from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday. The store is closed Sunday and Monday.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Pesina

Funeral rites were held at 4 p.m. Saturday at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church for Mrs. Delia A. Pesina, 35, who died Thursday night at the Health Science Center in Lubbock.

The Rev. Thomas Jordan officiated, and burial was in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mrs. Pesina, who lived at 408 34th St., was a native of Brownsville. She is survived by her husband, Cecil Pesina of the home; four daughters, Yolanda Pesina, Betty Jo Pesina, Beatrice Pesina and Melinda Pesina, all of Snyder; two sons, Gilbert Pesina and Eric Pesina, both of Snyder; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ascension Rodriquez of Brownsville; eight sisters, Rosa Guajardo of Grand Prairie, Tina Martinez of Michigan, Rebecca Martinez of Indiana, Oralia Garza of Colorado, Amelia Sacento of Stephenville, Elena Sacenta of Louisiana, Ester Sacento of Brownsville and Aurora Sacento of Grand Prairie; five brothers, Paul Rodriquez of Dallas, Veto Rodriquez of Bay City, Eliseo Rodriquez of Brownsville, Raymond and Ruben Rodriquez, both of Grand Prairie.

Exploration Of Saturn Finished

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP)—Pioneer 11 challenged the perilous and uncharted space just beyond Saturn's glistening rings today as it raced to complete mankind's first exploration of the giant yellow planet.

Mission officials waited impatiently for radio signals to confirm that the spacecraft had survived the brief but dangerous crossing. Dashing along at 53,000 mph, the trip through the danger zone should take less than one second.

Chief scientist John Wolfe had earlier estimated the ship's chance of survival at about 50-50.

Scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center here, 963 million miles from Saturn, worried the little ship might be mortally wounded by a collision with chunks of debris. The space rubble is believed to be circling out beyond the visible rings, wide flat sheets of orbiting particles that reach 48,000 miles from Saturn.

Although today's journey was fraught with hazards, Pioneer scientsist said they had wanted to send the ship right through a gap in the rings to get even closer to the planet than the 12,950 miles expected today.

"But we got a lot of criticism for that idea," said Thomas Gehrels of the University of Arizona.

Child Has Burns

Evening Art Classes Set

Want to paint in oils or watercolor?

Interested in wearing your own handcrafted jewelry?

Are you interested in learning to draw, or to create beautiful and useful ceramic pieces?

The Western Texas College Art Department has scheduled several evening art classes to fulfill the leisure time activities community residents would like to pursue. Each course offers the student the opportunity to develop his own creative abilities with individual assistance.

Courses offered in the fall semester are:

Art 132 - Freehand Drawing, 6:30-9:20 p.m. on Tuesdays.

Art 232 - Painting, 6:30-9:20 p.m. on Thursdays

Art 234 - Ceramics, 6:30-9:20 p.m. on Tuesdays

Art 235 - Jewelry, 6:30-9:20 p.m. on Mondays.

Persons wishing further information may contact the instructors, Mike Thornton and John Gibson, or may call the Fine Arts division office at 573-8511, extension 234.

Scholarship Given By Lubbock Firm

Yellowhouse Machinery Co. in Lubbock has given Western Texas College a $200 scholarship for use by a Diesel Mechanics student in the fall semester, Jerry Dennis, Diesel Mechanics instructor, said.

The Lubbock firm is the John Deere Industrial dealer, and presently employs three graduates of the WTC diesel program. They are Kurt and Travis Schwertner from Wilson and Mark Odom from Crosbyton. All three were the recipients of academic and departmental honors at WTC.

Twelve other scholarships will be awarded sophomore Diesel Mechanics students this fall, Dennis said. Each of these scholarships will be for $125. The money for the scholarships has come from donations made to the department by individuals and businesses who have had work done by students or who are interested in promoting the program because of their needs for diesel mechanics. Students who are interested in the diesel program are invited to contact Dennis for information. Classes for day and evening students will be starting in the fall semester on Sept. 6.

but if he can change even a part of his overall attitude for the better, it is a start in the right direction, he feels.

The interaction among the probationers helps. "An individual probationer has individual problems that no one else in the community has but another probationer," he said, adding, "Only one probationer can break down the resistant nature of another probationer."

That long sought-after change of attitude is most apparent, said Hurt, when police and law enforcement personnel "become 'us' instead of 'they.'"

MUSEUM EXHIBIT--Janet Davis is shown with one of the weavings nearing completion in her studio. She will be exhibiting her works in the Scurry County Museum in September and is to be guest at a reception in the museum from 1-5 p.m. on Sept. 9.

Janet Davis Weavings To Show Sept. 9-25

Trees hold a special fascination for Janet Davis, and this interest will be manifested in the weavings she will be exhibiting in the Scurry County Museum at Western Texas College from Sept. 9-25.

Born in New Hampshire, Mrs. Davis moved to Texas when she was 18 and attended Stephen F. Austin University in Nacogdoches. She later received her bachelor's degree in weaving from Texas Women's University in Denton and has done graduate work at Texas Tech University. She attended a field school in spinning and dyeing at the Winedale Museum at Roundtop.

Since moving to West Texas, Mrs. Davis has taught many classes in weaving at her studios in Lubbock and Wilson and at the Lubbock Garden and Arts Center. She has worked as an art consultant at Ballinger School for the Mentally Handicapped and set up a weaving and spinning program in Ballinger's art department. She has volunteered many hours to teach weaving to handicapped adults in the Lubbock area.

For the past 18 months Mrs. Davis has worked with internationally-known artist Rameo Reyna weaving tapestries for homes and offices, including the large tapestry now hanging in the Lubbock Civic Center.

Mrs. Davis is a member of the South Plains Designer-Craftsman Guild and was instrumental in organizing the Lubbock Weavers' Guild. She has participated in several local and area shows, including the recent Lubbock Festival of Arts.

Janet's husband, Eual, is employed by the USDA Soil Conservation Service and is District Conservationist for Lynn County. The couple has two daughters, Freida and Cindy, students at Texas Tech, and a son, Justin, a senior at Wilson High School.

Everyone in the family pitches in to help with the weavings, Mrs. Davis says. They build looms, wind yarn, and do finishing work on the tapestries. They also help out around the house so she has more time to devote to her weaving.

A reception honoring the guest artist is planned from 1-5 p.m. on Sept. 9 in the museum, and the public is invited to attend.

A joint exhibit by C. Warren Cullar of Bertram and Jim Thomas of Amarillo is scheduled for the museum in October.

The museum is open each weekday and from 1-5 on Sunday afternoons without admission charge. Information about guided tours or other special activities may be obtained by calling the museum office at 573-6107.

Dr. Fallon To Teach Course

Dr. Berlie Fallon from Texas Tech University will be the instructor for a graduate level course in Education Administration to be offered at Western Texas College this fall.

The course is titled EDAD 5320, Administration of School Business Service. Classes will meet from 6-9 p.m. on Thursdays at WTC. Registration and the first class are scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. on Sept. 6 in the WTC Administration Building.

WTC Drama Production Schedule Set

The fall production of the Western Texas College Drama Department has been set to open Nov. 13 and run Nov. 16, 17 and 19, Jim Rambo, speech and drama instructor, has announced.

Community residents who are interested in working with students on the production are invited to contact Rambo for information.

Theatre Activities (Drama 111) will be offered in the fall semester so that persons working with the production may receive one hour of academic credit if they choose to enroll. Students are to register during the regular registration hours on Sept. 4 and 5.

The WTC Drama Department functions with a philosophy that community residents play a vital part in the education theatre program structure. On many occasions acting and technical positions have been filled by local residents in a highly successful manner, and many more people have assisted by attending the productions.

As The Decade Closes...

Students Must Contend With Problems Of 70s

By Barbara Riegelhaupt
Associated Press Writer

America's youngsters heading back to school this month for the last semester of the 1970s will get a hint of the reshaping in store for them in the 1980s. But they'll have to cope with lingering problems of the closing decade, like crowded classrooms and school violence.

The years ahead, say parents and educators, will bring a continued emphasis on teaching basic skills, a growing concern for the needs of the individual pupil, a close examination of how schools are financed - and possibly a complete revision of the public school structure.

Dr. Ernest Boyer, who left the post of U.S. Commissioner of Education this summer, predicts an entirely new school system will emerge as a result of changes in the next few years.

"I think it's time to reshape the structure to meet the greater diversity of students," says Boyer, who said the last thorough scrutiny of the schools came in the post-Sputnik 1950s.

His proposed format for the '80s involves three steps: a basic school, in which youngsters learn fundamental skills; a middle school, in which junior high students focus on "general knowledge" that will probably involve mixing contemporary issues with traditional disciplines; and finally, a "transition school" in which students specialize and develop talents in the arts, science, health care or business.

The first move has already been made," says Boyer, president-elect of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. "The emphasis on language and basic skills in the early grades is now well established as a national trend."

The federal government, in fact, plans to increase money this year for local programs aimed at improving basic skills, says Dr. Peter Relic, deputy assistant secretary for education.

"Educators and citizens over-whelmingly have said this is one area where we must improve," said Relic.

With attention already fixed on the basics, the next objective should be the high school, or transtiion stage, according to Boyer.

"Reforms here are urgently needed," he says. "The continued dropout rate of 25 percent is unacceptable ... The mood in many schools is one of hostility. Students, I think, sense a great gap between their own goals and the goals of the institution."

Their hostility often spills over into classroom violence and discipline problems. The National Education Association reported 110,000 teachers were assaulted in the nation's schools last year.

In an effort to meet the needs of some of the disgruntled students, school districts in many cities already are experimenting with programs that fit Boyer's "transition" model for high schools. Specialized "magnet schools" are being offered as incentives in integration programs to draw students from their neighborhood schools.

However pressing curriculum reform may be, both Boyer and Relic stress that school financing overshadows all else.

"Everybody agrees curriculum development is a high priority," Relic said. "But the question is, how do you heat your schools?"

Staff Of 4 Does WTC's Counseling

The counseling center at WTC is staffed by four professional and certified professionals who are available to devote personal attention to everyone at the college.

The office opens daily at 8 a.m. and closes at 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday. On Friday, the office closes at 4 p.m.

Services offered through the counseling office are academic counseling, career counseling, personal counseling, testing, human development courses and placement.

The office gives assistance in locating part-time jobs, and permanent job placement services also are offered.

In addition, DUFI, a phone-tape system for various types of information, is operated through the counseling office.

Counselors are Dr. Mary Hood, Dr. Gilbert Fleer, Bettie McQueen and Jerry Baird.

Two Vehicles Are In Mishap

A minor traffic accident was reported to city police Friday.

The mishap occurred in the 2000 block of 25th St. and involved a 1977 Chevrolet driven by William Mack White of Longview and a 1973 Buick driven by Julie Martinez.

It was reported at 4:10 p.m.

Hearing Test Set For Snyder.

Free Electronic hearing tests will be given at the Pal-O-Mar Motel, East Hwy. 180 Tuesday, September 4, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Factory-trained hearing aid specialists will be at the Pal-O-Mar Motel to perform the test.

Anyone who has trouble hearing is welcome to have a test using modern electronic equipment to determine if his loss is one which may be helped. Some of the causes of hearing loss will be explained, and diagrams of how the ear works will be shown.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly.

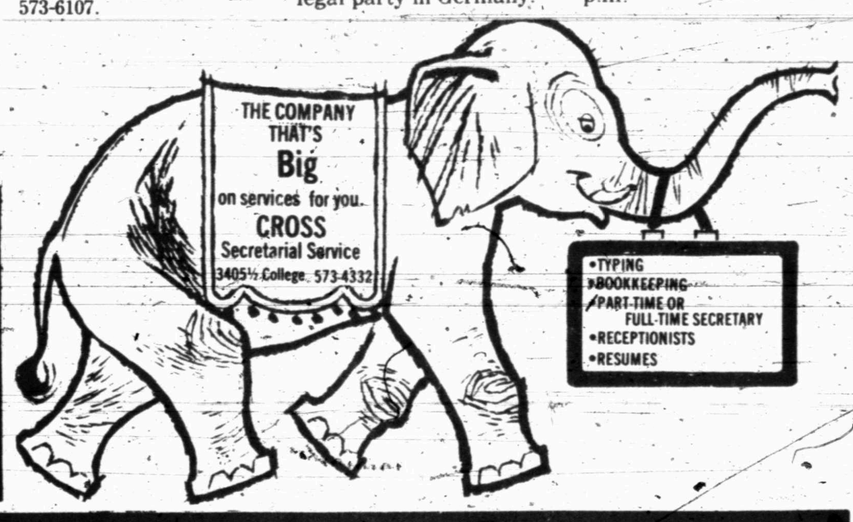

Even people now wearing a hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out if they are one of the many a hearing aid can help.

The free hearing test will be given at the Pal-O-Mar Motel, East Hwy 180 Snyder, Texas. If you can't come Tuesday call 573-2633 and arrange for an appointment at another time. In home testing is also available.

All Hearing Aid users are welcome to our services. Batteries for all makes.

'The Romance' Of 1966 Ends In Austin Court

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)-It was the romance of 1966 - President Lyndon Johnson's slender, black-haired teen-age daughter and the personable young Air Force enlisted man named Pat.

When Luci Baines Johnson, then 19, and Patrick Nugent, 23, married in the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, D.C., thousands attended and millions watched on television.

Pat and Luci were divorced Friday, 25 days after their 13th wedding anniversary. Details of child custody and property arrangements were covered by a settlement that was not disclosed.

They have four children, Patrick Lyndon, 12; Nicole, 9; Rebekah, 5; and Claudia, 3.

Luci, 32, filed for divorce in January. She specified no grounds, and none are required under Texas' no fault divorce law. Following the language of the statute, she alleged merely that irreconcilable differences had made the marriage insupportable.

She issued a brief statement Friday, saying that "after over a year and a half of separation an amicable resolution was reached and divorce was granted for Luci and Pat Nugent. Those involved would like to express to friends within and without the media their appreciation for their consideration toward us during this time of personal pain."

Pat, 36, resigned last November as general manager of the Johnson family's radio station KLBJ.

He now publishes a state government directory and owns a service station called "The Gas Station" in far Northwest Austin.

Luci converted to Pat's Roman Catholic faith in July 1965 and became engaged on Christmas Eve 1965 at the LBJ Ranch.

Pat, a Marquette University graduate, was then serving as an Air Force enlisted man. He later went to Vietnam for a 12-month tour of duty and returned with the Distinguished Flying Cross and other decorations.

Johnson's other daughter, Lynda, 35, is married to Lt. Gov. Charles Robb of Virginia and is chairwoman of the President's Advisory Committee for Women.

Financial Assistance Available

Students who need financial assistance to enable them to attend Western Texas College are invited to contact Glenn Davis, Financial Aid Officer.

Several types of financial aid are offered, and Davis can explain to the individual how these differ and who may be eligible for what programs. Provisions of the Middle Income Student Assistance Act signed into law last November will make financial aid available to many college students who were not eligible in previous years through the Basic Education Opportunity Grant (BEOG).

Davis' office is in the WTC Administration Building and is open each weekday. Persons who would like to make appointments may call the office at 573-8511, extension 204.

Five Courses For Adults Set

The WTC Division of Adult Vocational and Continuing Education has scheduled five courses to begin in September and others through the remainder of the year.

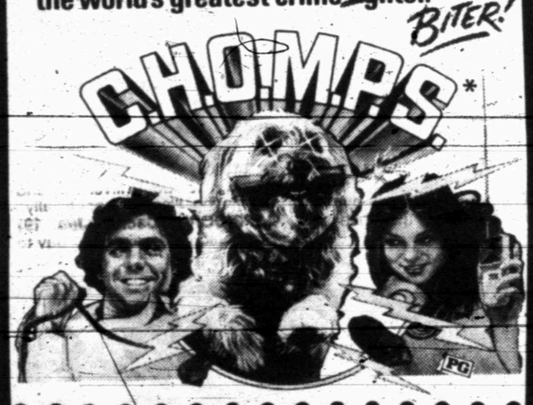

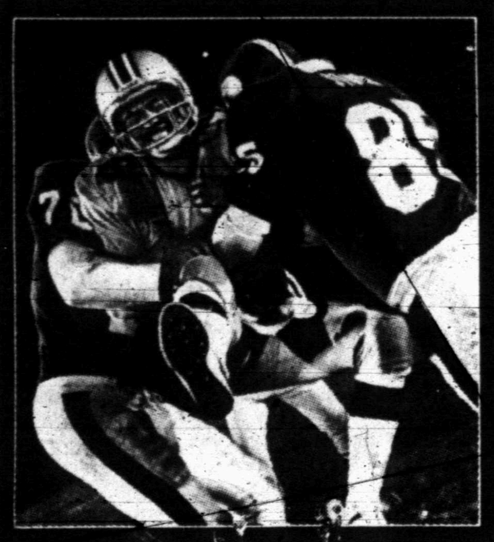

Set to begin in September are Basic Bookkeeping, Beginning Typing, Old Testament Survey, Entomology for Farmers and Horticulture.

These courses do not carry college credit and do not conform to the class schedule of the college. Fees vary according to the length of the course and other factors.

Persons wishing details about the courses are invited to call the Adult Vocational and Continuing Education office at 573-8511, extension 240, during regular office hours.

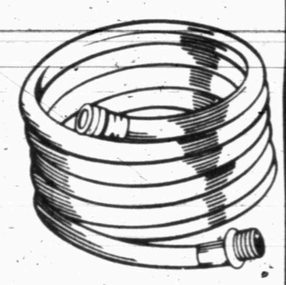

The Galapagos Islands were named by Spanish explorers for the giant land tortoises found there. The tortoises are believed to be among the oldest living creatures on earth.

Exchange Students Take Home Image Of America

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)— They come for a year to experience America, practice their English, learn to love hamburgers and the freedom of being a teen-ager in a nation that worships youth.

Then they go back home to their own country, carting with them boxes of scrapbooks and trendy clothes, radical ideas that shock their parents and an image of the United States that will last a lifetime.

The foreign exchange student, awkward on the first day of classes, unsure of the system, a minor celebrity singled out by the principal and fussed over by the teachers. They were shy and embarrassed by the attention, but bursting with pride at being chosen to go to the promised land.

Whatever happened to the kids with strange names and A-averages whose faces stare out of our high school yearbooks?

Remigio Izquierdo, Class of '73, Hubbard High School, Hubbard, Ohio, is an electronics whiz kid who tracks satellites for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and dreams of working for NASA in the United States.

Leticia Altamirano, Class of '74, Northeast High School, Kansas City, Mo., is in her final year of law school, one of only three women in the class, and wants to buck a centuries-old legal system that favors the rich and discriminates against peasants.

Both are Ecuadorians, live in the capital city, and are casual acquaintances. Besides being alumni of the international student exchange program AFS, formerly American Field Service, they have many more things in common.

They come from upper-middle class homes, had educated parents and studied English in their private Ecuadorian high schools.

In the past 30 years, 972 Ecuadorians have gone to the United States for a year under the auspices of the AFS, while 406 Americans have come south to sample Ecuadorian life.

Today there are AFS veterans scattered throughout the fabric of this beautiful Andean nation's life. They are becoming leaders of business, finance, government, medicine, the judiciary, and the arts.

"We have placed Ecuadorian kids in every state except Alaska," said Juan Rodriguez, the country's AFS director. "Every year we have about 250 applicants to pay $1,500 to send them to the States for a year."

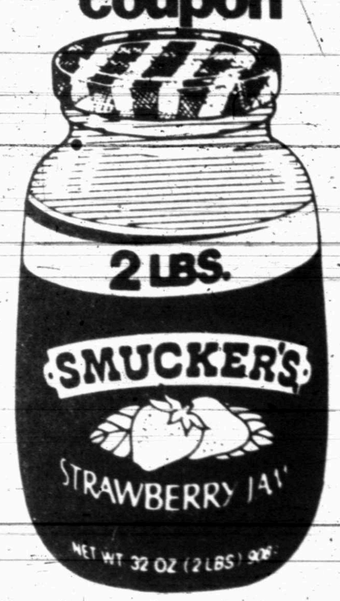

The list is narrowed to 80, "and if there's enough money, about 50 kids fly north in July."

Host communities must pay $925 to sponsor a student. Families and their young visitors are matched by mutual interests. Today a computer and personal interviews determine compatibility.

Remigio Izquierdo has no doubts about wanting to go back to the United States to live. The strapping, athletic, and handsome young electronics expert is already earning $2,000 a month as a shift supervisor at the NASA tracking station clustered atop a mountain 40 miles south of Quito, supervising 40 employees.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Your Birthday

Bernice Bede Osol

Sept. 2, 1979

Don't disregard any doors that open up for you this coming year. You could pass up a chance to meet some interesting people who would add much to your social life.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A little quick thinking may be called for today when two pals of yours get into it, threatening to ruin everybody else's fun. You'll know what to do. Learn more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter, which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It would be wise not to insist that everybody do things your way today. Though you may not see it, there is a strong chance you could be wrong.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If somebody says something to rub you wrong, try not to inflate it into a major issue. Your day will go better if you know how to turn the other cheek.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's good to want things and to strive for them, but not to the point where you must pay too dearly. Compare the price with the value.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) What profit is there is gaining your point but making an enemy? Even if you instinctively know you are right, try to find a way out of proving it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) More work than you may have counted on could be dumped into your lap today. Don't fret. You'll handle it so superbly that you'll attract an important person's attention.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Someone's interference could cause your social plans to get all fouled up today. However, you'll come up with a revised plan better than the original.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Welcome the unexpected. It brings excellent results today. Several things you may have been counting on could fall through, but this will turn out for the best.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't belabor issues today and try not to get involved in somebody else's business. Say your piece, then let the subject drop.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'd be smart to stay home and not let anyone pressure you into doing anything you really don't want to do today. Heed your common sense.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try to go along with the surprises of the day. If you buck the unanticipated, you might end up with more opposition than you bargained for.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Improvisation may be called for today because of your poor planning. As chance will have it, things will work out better.

Sept. 3, 1979

A marked improvement is likely this coming year in areas affecting your career. Don't turn your back on any opportunity just because the conditions may be different than what you're used to.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you get some fresh thoughts today on ways or methods to perform your work, give them a try. Chances are they'll enhance what you are trying to do. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter that begins with your birth date. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Friends may not behave in their usual fashion today. This could turn out to be fun. The turnabout should bring out the zest in you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Spending the day at home may not be as uneventful for you as it is normally. Invigorating happenings could occur.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec, 21) Others go along with your ideas today because they find your thinking to be enlivening and stimulating. Use this beneficially.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This could be an excellent day to do your marketing, because there may be some unusual finds and possibly price cuts. Shop around.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Concentrate on situations that serve your self-interests today. Do what has to be done on your own without waiting for anybody else.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You'll probably get the best results from things you do alone today. You need to feel unhampered to be imaginative.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Feelings of stagnation may urge you to seek out new ideas with new people today. However, take care not to go to extremes merely for a change.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You can do well today if your ideas have originality and flexibility. Have faith in yourself and your ability to create.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Bright ideas always have come naturally to you, but today this talent is accentuated. Keep everything in perspective so you can utilize them properly.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) One with whom you are closely associated could introduce an element of diversity into your relationship today. The change could do you good.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Cooperation and an interchange of viewpoints should be stressed today in all your important one-to-one relationships. You'll like the results.

Brownwood, Cooper Head Poll

By The Associated Prses

A pair of defending state champions, Brownwood in Class 3A and China Springs in A, plus Abilene Cooper in 4A and Pittsburg in 2A, start the 1979 season as the No. 1 ranked teams in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll.

Brownwood marched through the 1978 season unbeaten in 15 games, defeating Gainesville 21-7 in the title game. The Lions return only one offensive starter, split end Billy Sawyer, from that team.

But a strong defensive unit and the return of Coach Gordon Wood for his 36th season, apparently was enough to sway the AP panel of Texas sports writers and sportscasters.

McKinney, which lost out to state finalist Gainesville in its district race, returns 20 lettermen and high credentials for advancing in the 1979 season.

Abilene Cooper played out a 7-3 season once again under the shadow of Odessa Permian last year but they are expected to give La Porte from the Texas 2-A Coast a strong run for the championship this season.

LaPorte, 10-3 last year, will return a strong offensive team but has only two defensive starters back. LaPorte rolled up 22 first downs last year against eventual state champion Houston Stratford and still lost the game 38-16.

Seguin, with a No. 3 preseason ranking, was another runnerup last year despite an outstanding 8-2 season. Seguin finished second in its district race to San Antonio Churchill, which returns only two offensive and two defensive starters this campaign.

China Springs and San Saba will start out 1-2 in Class A with San Saba hoping for a rematch of the 1978 regional playoffs when China Springs ended their Cinderella season.

Celina, Falls City and Haskell, all playoff teams a year ago, round out the top five in A.

Pittsburg and Childress, both eliminated from the playoffs last year by 10th ranked Wylie, head the Class 2A list with Pittsburg grabbing eight of the 15 first place votes.

Here is The Associated Press Schoolboy Preseason Football Poll with first place votes in parentheses, last season's record and points based on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Class 4A
1. Abilene Cooper (6) 7-3 128
2. LaPorte (3) 10-3 100

Detroit's Danielson Down Tampa Bay Now Favored

By The Associated Press

The Tampa Bay Buccaneers with a winning record - the best record in the National Football League? Aw, c'mon now!

It's not so farfetched, considering they're starting their season before anyone else in the NFL, except for the crippled Detroit Lions.

The Bucs, who set a record for futility in their first season three years ago by losing all 14 games, inched up to a ghastly 2-12 the next year, then became competitive last year with a 5-11 mark, get underway at home tonight as slender favorites.

The Lions, who looked so impressive in the latter stages of the 1978 season and had been picked by many to win the National Conference's Central Division title in 1979, were dealt a severe blow eight nights ago when starting quarterback Gary Danielson underwent surgery to repair a knee damaged in an exhibition loss to Baltimore.

Ironically, a year ago it was the Colts' quarterback, Bert Jones, who was injured in a preseason game against the Lions. The Colts' season went downhill from then on. Detroit hopes this year will be different. The Lions are expected to start Joe Reed with rookie Jeff Komlo and late acquisition Scott Hunter in reserve.

Sunday's games are San Francisco at Minnesota, Cincinnati at Denver, Oakland at Los Angeles, Houston at Washington, Miami at Buffalo, the New York Giants at Philadelphia, Atlanta at New Orleans, Dallas at St. Louis, Green Bay at Chicago, Cleveland at the New York Jets, Baltimore at Kansas City and San Diego at Seattle.

Monday night it's Pittsburgh at New England.

The Bucs, who lost to Detroit 15-7 last year, might have done better than 5-11 had not their own quarterback, Doug Williams, spent half the season on the bench with a broken jaw and other injuries. They were 4-4 in games Williams completed.

And his was only one of many injuries. The Bucs were 4-2 before the parade to the infirmary began, with running backs Jimmy DuBose and Ricky Bell and defensive end Lee Roy Selmon down with knee trouble.

"The most important thing for us this year is to keep everybody healthy," Selmon said.

John McKay, the Bucs' long-suffering coach since their inception, sees things more brightly this year. "First, we've proven we can win," he said. "We now have had three full drafts, corrected some earlier mistakes. We have deepened our squad where we obviously needed it - at running back, wide receiver and in the offensive line. So certainly on paper we appear to be moving along with our five-year scheme of things."

Along with Reed, trying to hold the Lions together, several other quarterbacks have things to prove this year.

The Vikings' Tommy Kramer will be attempting to wake up a lethargic Minnesota attack that staggered through a winless exhibition season, scoring a meager 17 points. The Vikes virtually backed into the NFC Central title last year with an 8-7-1 record and it'll be a torturous season if they learn they really did rely too much on Fran Tarkenton.

Minnesota will be making its start against the 49ers, the worst team in the league last year with a 2-14 record.

Ovett Narrowly Misses Record

LONDON (AP)-Steve Ovett of Britain just missed setting a world record for the mile as he was timed in 3:49.6 in an international track and field meet.

Overt's time was the third fastest mile run of all time and just six-tenths of a second slower than the record set by countryman Sebastian Coe at Oslo six weeks ago.

In other events, Edwin Moses led a 1-2 sweep for the United States in the 400 meters hurdles with a time of 49.36, while Allan Wells of Britain won the 100 meters in 10.33 and the 200 meters in 20.62.

Ozark Fired; Rose Steamed

ATLANTA (AP)—Star first baseman Pete Rose, for one, was not willing to blame the Philadelphia Phillies' troubles on Danny Ozark after Ozark was fired Friday as the club's manager.

"I don't give a damn if Sparky Anderson, Miller Huggins, Danny Ozark or Billy Martin were managing this team. We'd still be struggling in fifth place the way we've played," Rose said.

The end for Ozark, who guided the Phillies to three consecutive East Division titles during his seven years at the helm, came as Philadelphia fell 12½ games off the pace of the Pittsburgh Pirates after dropping five straight and eight of nine games.

Dallas Green, a former Phillies pitcher and currently director of minor leagues and scouting for the club, was named interim manager for the final month of the season.

Paul Owens, the director of player personnel, made the announcement at a news conference just prior to the Phillies 6-2 victory Friday night over the Atlanta Braves.

"There's no way it was his fault," said Rose of the 55-year-old Ozark, who was called a "players' manager" by many of the Phillies.

"The gentleman tried everything in his power," said Rose. "He had been very successful during the past seven years, winning three titles which was something no other National League manager had ever done. I have all the respect in the world for him. He tried to get us out of the rut but everything didn't work out."

Owens said he and owner Ruly Carpenter decided to make the change "after two or three days of deliberation. We were disappointed in the way the club has performed the past few weeks and felt that something had to be done."

Green, 45, who had a 20-22 major league record with the Phillies, New York Mets and Washington Senators in the 1960s, said "They asked me to do the job the rest of the year and I agreed to go down on the field and make every effort to get the athletes to believe in themselves and give the Philadelphia baseball fans the kind of effort they deserve."

SENDS IT BACK-Lisa Cobb sends one back over the net as Snyder varsity girls gear for the 1979 volleyball season. The team will be introduced to fans Tuesday night at 7 in the high school gym. Coach Joyce Elrod will explain rule changes and preview the upcoming season, as well as introduce the varsity, junior varsity and freshmen teams. The public is urged to attend. No admission will be charged. (SDN STAFF PHOTO By John Dunnam)

Belle Star From The Blocks, But Can She Hold On To Win?

RUIDISO DOWNS, N.M. (AP)-Streakin Six and Pie In The Sky have been drawing a lot of attention as the horses to beat in Monday's All-American Futurity. But there's another name that keeps popping up around the barns at Ruidoso Downs - Sages Belle Star.

Sages Belle Star hasn't made the big splash Streakin Six did in winning the Rainbow Futurity or Pie In The Sky in setting the top qualifying time for the nationally televised $1.28 million All-American that will yield a $437,500 payoff to the winner.

And Sages Belle Star is a filly with the trademark of a lightning quick bolt from the gate, while the other two are both colts known for their late charges.

But the filly does have something in common with Streakin Six and Pie In The Sky - she runs like the wind.

Sages Belle Star has never finished worse than second en route to a 5-3-0 mark in eight outings that has earned $133,190 for owner J.H. Crouch Jr. of Midland.

"We'll have to catch that filly," said Pie In The Sky's trainer Leo Wood. "We'll have to catch her for sure, and I don't know if we can."

Streakin Six's trainer, Don Farris, agrees that the final leg of quarter horse racing's triple crown will shape up with the two colts chasing the filly down the 440-yard straighaway.

"Sages Belle Star is the one to beat," predicted Farris. "She's the quickest in the field away from the gate. We've got to catch her. Make a mistake and she'll beat you."

"I hope that's the way it is," said Roger Fagan, the 34-year-old Del Rio trainer who will saddle Sages Belle Star. "And I hope they don't catch us."

His chief concern is that the race is longer than most his horse has run, and that the filly is not as strong as the colts. Sages Belle Star held the lead in the 400-yard Rainbow Futurity until the final stride when Streakin Six nudged in front for the victory.

"It might, it might not. But I don't believe the extra 40 yards will bother her," said Fagan, who has had horses in two previous All-Americans but is still searching for that first triumph. "At least I hope it won't."

Townsend Leads After 2 Rounds

WOODBRIDGE, Ontario (AP)-Peter Townsend of Great Britain matched the best score of the round, a par-71, to lead after two rounds of a $100,000 international tournament which also serves as the Canadian PGA Championship.

For Game Against St. Louis...

Cowboys Will Need Great Team Effort, States Landry

ST. LOUIS (AP)-Something could happen to the Dallas Cowboys in the National Football League on Sunday that hasn't in a long time.

Beset by injuries, the defending champions of the National Conference could stumble in an opener for the first time in 15 years if unprepared for the St. Louis Cardinals.

The coach of the Cowboys, pro football's glamour team, admits as much by conceding, "My main concern about St. Louis is our ability to play to the level we need to play because of the uncertainties...

The Cardinals have always played us well, but I think what we do will determine whether we win or not," Tom Landry added, however. "For us to win, we're really going to have a great team effort."

Dallas, a National Conference East rival of St. Louis, begins its 20th season under Landry with questions if would just as soon be without. By positions, they include:

-Strong safety, where all-pro Charlie Waters suffered a knee injury in a preseason game and has been lost for the year.

-Running back, where Tony Dorsett remains hobbled by a broken toe and might not be ready to play.

-Wide receiver, where, following the placing of Butch Johnson on injured reserve, Tony Hill and Drew Pearson are the only healthy veterans.

There are, of course, other injuries - including a broken hand which has restricted placement holder Danny White's duties to punting and made doubtful the availability of defensive back Randy Hughes. But the absences of Waters and Johnson and Dorsett's light duty, if any, will hurt most.

Even with those three, the Cowboys needed an overtime to turn back St. Louis 24-21 the last time they met. And until 1978, when it won twice, the perennial NFC kingpin had done no better than split with the Cardinals for four years.

Perhaps Bob Young, the Pro Bowl left guard for St. Louis, summed up best the reason the Cardinals play Dallas so tough.

"Their main strength has been their front four and our main strength has been our offensive line," the 279-pound Young explained. "When we get together, the fur just naturally flies."

The Cowboys, with the aid of their two victories over St. Louis, breezed to a 12-4 record last year and won twice more in the playoffs before bowing 35-31 to the Pittsburgh Steelers in Super Bowl XIII. Meanwhile, the Cardinals salvaged a 6-10 record from a 0-8 start.

A sellout Busch Stadium crowd will be on hand to watch St. Louis try to reverse its fortunes and turn the 1979 season around at the start of Bud Wilkinson's second year as coach.

Unser Wants Title At California 500

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP)- The front line in Sunday's $300,000 California 500 Indy-type car race should look most familiar to fans and the man in the middle could do something that hasn't been done.

Al Unser will be seeking his third straight victory in the same race, having won at the Ontario Motor Speedway in both 1977 and 1978.

Others have won the 500 races more times, but not in succession.

A year ago, the veteran from Albuquerque, N.M., won 500s at Indianapolis, Pocono, Pa., and Ontario to become the first to take the Triple Crown of the sport. And he's been the Indy king on three occasions - 1970, 1971 and 1978.

Unser is just learning intricacies of Jim Hall's new Chaparral-Cosworth machine but still only current Indy champion Rick Mears drove a faster time in the qualifying.

On the outside will be Al's brother Bobby, twice a winner at Indianapolis. Both have won the California event twice.

Mears, from Bakersfield, Calif., qualified at a track lap record speed of 203.046 mph Thursday and decided to skip Friday's session while a fresh engine was installed in his Penske PC-7 Cosworth. Bobby Unser, who had gone 201.378 Thursday, also sat out Friday.

Al Unser hadn't seen his new car until Thursday when he posted 201.844, second best of the day. So he decided to try to better the time on Friday and did with a 202.202.

Mario Andretti, the third member of the Penske team, posted 200.396 on Thursday. Since he hasn't been racing Indy-type cars while concentrating on Formula One, he went out again on Friday but he didn't improve, although he came close with 199.194.

"I thought I was safe unless it came up cool with no wind," commented pole-sitter Mears.

The weatherman cooperated with breezes and a temperature of 86, two degrees warmer than the day before so conditions over the 2½-mile Ontario Motor Speedway track were not conducive to faster runs.

Jennings Wins Senior Crown

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Richard Jennings of Lubbock beat Frank Hardison of Laguna Beach, Calif., 6 and 5 in the final round of the 20th World Senior Golf Championship at the Broadmoor East Golf Course.

Young 'Skins To Face Campbell-Led Houston

WASHINGTON (AP)—Houston's Earl Campbell, the NFL's leading rusher as a rookie last season, will give Washington's youthful linebacker corps a true test Sunday when the Oilers meet the Redskins in their opener of the 1979 National Football League season.

Campbell, the Texas bulldozer, had 302 carries last year in 16 games, averaging 4.8 yards per rush en route to an NFL-high 1,450 yards along with 13 touchdown. The last rookie to lead the NFL was Jim Brown in 1957.

To stop Campbell, the Redskins will rely on their renovated defense featuring the "Kiddie Korps," a group of seven linebackers with only one, Brad Dusek on the left side, having game experience at the position.

The others include second-year man Don Hover in the middle, replacing Harold McLinton who was cut, and five-year man Pete Wysocki, primarily a special teams player previously, on the right side, replacing All-Pro Chris Hanburger.

For all practical purposes, they are backed up by three of the seven rookies who made the Redskins squad this year — Neal Olkewicz, Rich Milot and Monte Coleman - and Dallas Hickman, another special teams player.

Word leaking out of the closed practices this week indicated that Milot, out of Penn State, was running with the first string and could replace Wysocki as a starter.

In the final exhibition game against Cleveland, the Redskins, 24th in the league against the run a year ago, permitted Greg and Mike Pruitt to gain 145 yards, averaging nearly 5 yards per carry.

Washington Coach Jack Pardee said last week "We're going to have to play better run defense than we did (against Cleveland).

"They (Houston) got Earl Campbell carrying the football as much as he does and he has the speed to get outside and the strength to break tackles and veer back inside, it gives you a problem stopping their running game," he said. "What makes that even better is that if you worry about the run and White Shoes (Billy Johnson) or Ken Burroughs or Mike Barber, any of the three receivers, can get behind you.

"To beat the Oilers, we can't give them the TD ball. We can't let them get behind on us for two or three plays. But we can't let Campbell keep the ball and run all day, either," he said.

Dan Pastorini, though still sore and required to wear a special brace to protect his ribs, is expected to start at quarterback for the Oilers.

Sideline Glances...

Briefs From Snyder High

"It's an honor to be picked in the top 10, "beamed Tiger coach Mike Jenkins, studying over The Associated Press Schoolboy Poll which has ranked Snyder No. 9 in class AAA (see page 6A).

"We're proud. But it carries a responsibility to see if our team members can stand up to it. We've still got to play on Friday nights."

Actually, the prediction was only a mild surprise, since Dave Campbell's Texas Football Magazine had already listed the Tigers at ninth earlier in the summer.

The Tigers begin "carrying the weight" here Friday, hosting a tough Midland Lee team at 8 p.m.

For an in-depth look at the Tigers, and other area teams, look for the annual SDN football section in Monday's paper.

PHYSICALS

Due to a doctor's medical staff meeting, junior high physicals will not be held Sept. 4, but will be held on the 6th. Eighth graders will take physicals at 7 p.m., followed by seventh graders at 7:30. They will be taken at the junior high boys' and girls' gyms. This is also the time set aside for all high make up physicals.

VOLLEYBALL

Coach Joyce Elrod invites the public to meet her volleyball teams (varsity, JV and freshmen) Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the high school gym. New assistant coach Patty Grimmett will also be introduced. Elrod will explain new rule changes, and an intra-squad scrimmage will be held for fans. There is no admission charge.

Khomeini Army Begins Attack

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)— Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's army was on the move today to invade the Kurdish stronghold of Mahabad, and Kurdish rebel commanders inside the city told their forces to be ready for "the battle of their destiny."

The mountainous northwestern Kurdish region has been relatively calm since Monday when a government force, backed by a column of tanks, halted outside Mahabad while a Kurdish delegation went to the Iranian capital to explore the possibility of a negotiated settlement.

But fighting broke out again Friday night, leaving seven dead and six wounded, members of the Kurdish delegation reported no breakthrough in the talks, and Interior Minister Hashem Sabaghian said "the army has started its program of action which will result in the army entering Mahabad."

An official of the outlawed Kurdish Democratic Party said by telephone, "We are faced with any army which regards us as enemies so we have no other choice but to try and defend our existence with our fingernails and teeth."

On Friday, Prime Minister Mehdi Bazargan glumly admitted his government "has been a knife with no blade" in dealing with the Kurdish rebellion and asked Khomeini to formally take over the regime he has been running behind the scenes since February.

Rust Warranties Offered By GM

DETROIT (AP)-General Motors Corp. has joined the list of automakers offering rust warranties.

The country's largest automakers said Thursday its 1980 model cars and trucks would carry a warranty for three years against "corrosion perforation," for unlimited mileage.

Weather Strikes Blows On Crops

COLLEGE STATION (AP) - Weather has struck some blows against Texas farmers this week, with millions in hail damage in the South Plains and heavy tropical rains in South Texas and along the coast.

South Texas had begun to dry out following downpours triggered by a tropical depression in northern Mexico when tropical storm Elena brought still more moisture. Some of the rain was beneficial, but harvests are delayed.

One of South Plains' worst and most widespread hail storms in history stripped corn, cotton and sorghum fields, with damage estimates of $150 million. Hail and high winds also damaged cotton in parts of Far West and West Central Texas.

Elsewhere over the state, scattered rains continued to boost late crops and caused some delay in cotton, corn, sorghum and hay harvesting, said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Sorghum, corn and cotton harvesting is active throughout Southeast, South Central and Central Texas as weather permits. Sorghum harvesting is also active in North Central Texas, and is just beginning in eastern counties. Rice is being harvested along the Upper Texas Coast.

Most High Plains wheat land is ready and some planting is now underway, Pfannstiel said.

Fall vegetable planting continues in the Winter Garden and Rio Grande Valley, and many fall gardens are going in over central and eastern areas.

Livestock continue to flourish with good grazing across the state, said Pfannstiel. Grazing has been short in parts of South Texas and the Coastal Bend, but recent rains should boost grass.

Reports from district Extension agents showed these conditions.

PANHANDLE: Hail and high wind caused some crop damage. Cotton is fruiting well but needs dry weather. Corn and sorghum continue to do well. Fall wheat is being planted. Pastures and ranges are average to above average due to recent rains.

SOUTH PLAINS: Crops in Castro, Lamb and Hockley counties, were ravaged by hail and high winds with loss estimates at $150 million. Most crops are doing well in other areas but cotton is late and needs hot weather. Some vegetable harvesting continues, and early sunflowers are being harvested. Livestock have excellent grazing.

ROLLING PLAINS: Rains benefitted crops and pastures. Corn is in excellent shape. Hay making remains active as weather permits. Fall wheat preparation continues. Cattle are doing well with good forage.

NORTH CENTRAL: Corn and sorghum harvesting is active, with fair to good yields. Insects remain heavy in late cotton. Peanuts continue to do well. Land preparation continues for wheat, with some planting to start soon. Hay yields have been good and more hay remains to be made.

NORTHEAST: Second and third cuttings of hay continue between showers. Sorghum is maturing and some harvesting has started. Harvesting of summer vegetables is about complete, with good yields of peas and watermelons. The peach harvest is about complete and the pecan crop looks good. Livestock have plenty of forage for grazing.

FAR WEST: Cotton was heavily damaged by hail in Midland, Martin and Howard counties. Elsewhere, cotton, sorghum and pecans are doing well and livestock are in good condition due to excellent forage. Lamb and calf weights are heavier than average.

WEST CENTRAL: Hail and high winds caused some crop damage in Menard, Concho, Irion and Runnels counties. Most crops are making fair to good progress; lack of moisture will reduce some crop yields. A second hay cutting is being harvested in some areas. Pecan crop prospects continue good to excellent. Weevils and hot weather are causing some nut drop.

CENTRAL: Sorghum harvesting continues active as weather permits. Yields are generally averaging about 3,000 pounds per acre although some are hitting 5,500 to 6,000 pounds per acre. Sorghum yields are generally lower than expected. Cotton is opening but boll weevils continue to build up. The yield potential for late cotton is bleak. Peanut and pecan prospects continue to look good.

On a day when the track is muddy, some jockeys wear several pairs of goggles, substituting a clean pair for a dirty pair as the race unfolds.

FIELD DAY SEPT. 11

The latest research on cotton varieties, water use efficiency, sorghum improvement, and weed control will be featured attractions for the annual field day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station for Lubbock and Halfway. The event begins at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 11, at the research site, 7½ miles north of Lubbock on U.S. 87 at Farm-Market Road 1294.

The field day is a cooperative presentation of TAES, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the High Plains Research Foundations, the Science and Education Administration of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the National Weather Service.

Principal stops on the tour of the Lubbock station will feature reports on ways to help plants make more efficient use of water, tests of cotton hybrids, tissue testing to assess soil fertility, weed control research, improving sorghum varieties, the potential for wine grape production in the South Plains, breeding and improvement program in soybeans and sunflowers, and sesame variety trials.

During the stops on the tour of the 320-acres research site, Experiment Station scientists and Extension Service specialists will answer questions and discuss problems with the visitors.

Farm machinery and irrigation equipment will be on display and visitors can view other research projects being conducted at the station.

COTTON INSECT UPDATE

This week was our first pheromone trap check since rebaiting of boll weevil traps.

As was expected boll weevil activity has increased and is expected to increase in the weeks to come. Average catches varied from a low of .20 weevils per trap to 6.68 per trap. This compares to last year (1978) when during the same week the count was 0.3 per trap to .67 per trap.

We must remember though that weather conditions of last August were very dry prior to this count and this year weather conditions have been excellent for weevil reproduction. There are no areas with economic infestation at this time, and it appears that damage from weevils will be delayed until after the cotton has been able to reach optimum production. It does appear however we may go into fall and winter with a higher number of boll weevils in the fields.

We have had several inquiries about whether we will have a diapause spray program or not since the weevil populations were so low. At the present time it appears that we will need a spray program and plans are being made to conduct a diapause spray program.

Formal Wedding Held In Colonial Hill Baptist

As candles glowed softly in the sanctuary of the Colonial Hill Baptist Church, Miss Donna Rena West and Richard Keith Huddleston pledged their wedding vows to one another in an Aug. 4, 7 p.m. ceremony. Rev. Miller Robinson officiated the double ring rites.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Don West and Mrs. Doyle Buchanan and the late Kenneth Huddleston, all of Snyder.

The bride was presented in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of soft white qiana and Alencon lace. The moulded bodice featured a modified Queen Anne neckline and cap sleeves. Pearl embossed Alencon lace embellished the bodice and sleeves. A single row of matching lace defined the empire waistline, which fell to the floor and swept to back fullness forming a chapel length train. The entire skirt and train was edged in scalloped Alencon lace.

The bride's two tiered floor length veil was fashioned similar to that of her dress. The veil was borrowed from Mrs. Gary Hooten of Muleshoe. Following tradition, the bride wore her wedding dress for something new, pearl earrings borrowed from her sister, a blue garter and a diamond engagement ring for something old, that had belonged to her grandmother.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of yellow and white daisies, French sonia carnations and baby's breath tied with yellow and white satin ribbons and lace streamers.

Debbie Hicks, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a pale yellow knit gown that gatered at the waist and accented with a short sleeve chiffon jacket. Andra Crenshaw served as bridesmaid and Shanna Sojourner of Stamford served as flower girl. Their dresses were styled like the matron of honor's. The bridesmaids carried nosegays of yellow and white daisies with baby's breath nestled in sonia ribbon with long streamers.

The bridegroom wore a brown tuxedo featuring a yellow ruffled shirt and a white double daisy boutonniere. Best man was Joel McCommon. Groomsman was Russel Mraz of Hermleigh. Ring bearer was Chris Huddleston of Cisco. The bride's father and the attendants wore tuxedos fashioned like the groom's with yellow daisy boutonnieres.

The sanctuary was decorated with a brass arch and two 15 branch rainbow candelabra. Candlelighters were Kelly Nance of Midland and Kay West of Brownwood.

Guests registered at a table covered with a yellow cloth and an overlay of linen and lace. A seven votive candle holder with yellow daisies centered the table. It held yellow scrolls circled with gold bands which were given to guests. Robin Nail presided at the registry.

Ushers were Mike Huddleston of Cisco, Glen West of Brownwood, Doug Huddleston and Bubba Dennis.

Jane Womack presented traditional wedding music and accompanied her daughter, Jane Ann of Arlington as she sang "The Twelfth of Never", "Time In A Bottle" and "The Wedding Song."

A reception following the ceremony was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with a pale yellow cloth. Centering the table was a white tiered candelabrum adorned with yellow daisies, yellow crystal votice candles. Also, two white doves were featured on the table. Punch was served from a silver punch bowl. Serving were Jean Anne Payne of San Angelo and Billie Franks.

The groom's table held a Bohemian pound cake and coffee was served from a silver coffee service. The centerpiece was an arrangement like the one on the bride's table on a smaller scale. Sherry Neves and Kathy Harrell served at the groom's table.

Our of town guests were from Ballinger, San Angelo, Houston, Midland, Balmouree, Cisco, and Stamford.

The couple's wedding trip was to Ruidoso, N.M.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Snyder High School and is employed by Nelson Brice, M.D. The bridegroom is a 1976 graduate of SHS and 1979 graduate of Western Texas College with a degree in law enforcement. He is currently employed by Bill Dennis Quick Auto Service.

Womens Career Program Planned

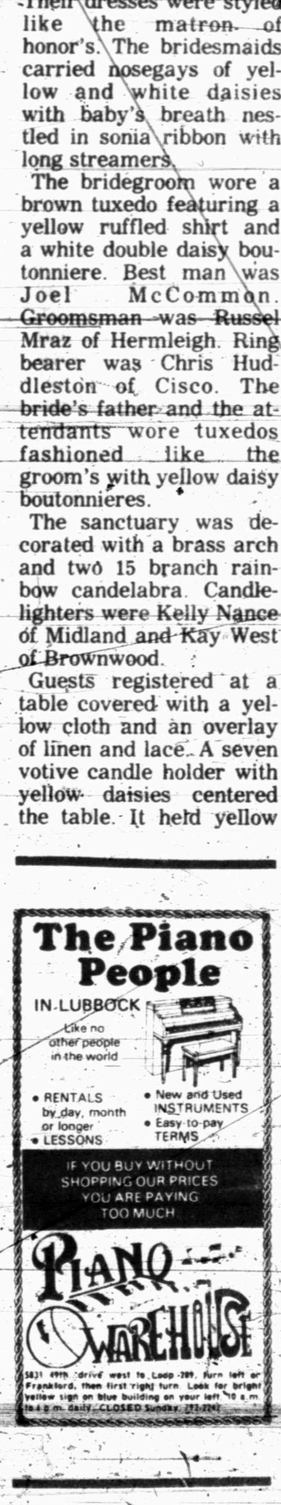

NEW YORK (AP)-A program aimed at giving women the skills and experience they need to succeed in areas from which they have largely been excluded will be offered this fall by New York University's School of Continuing Education.

Known as "Women Advancing Through Career Help" WATCH, the program provides counseling, course work and unpaid internship.

Couple Exchange Nuptial Vows

Starla Renea Hatfield and Mark S. Kaczyk pledged wedding vows Saturday as the Rev. Buck Hatfield, pastor of the Faith Baptist Church in Snyder and uncle of the bride, read the 1 p.m. rite before an archway sprinkled with spring flowers in colors of pink, yellow, green an blue. Greenery also entwined the arch. Accentuating the background was a heart-shaped candelabrum flanked on either side by bush candelabra.

Parents of the bride are Sybil Duncan of Robert Lee, and Bruce Hatfield of Vealmore. The bridegroom's parents are Mildred Kaczyk of Snyder and Jack Kacyzk of Auburn, Mass.

Performing wedding selections were Penny Hatfield, pianist; and Barbara Perkins, organist; and Allison Israel vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage wearing a traditional style gown of bridal satin. The fitted bodice featured a Chantilly lace-adorned yoke defined with a ruffle of coordinating lace. The long, fitted sheer sleeves ended in ruffled Chantilly lace at the wrists and were marked by white satin bows. Her full, flounced skirt fell gracefully to floor-length and was enhanced by her chapel length veil of illusion attached to a pearl-embellished headpiece.

She carried a cascading bouquet of blue, pink, yellow, and green roses and carnations sprinkled with baby's breath.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Natalie Shaeffer. She wore a floor length gown of yellow organza beautified with Chantilly lace.

Serving as bridesmaid was Shari Hatfield, cousin of the bride. She wore a gown identical to that of the matron of honor in the color of blue.

The bride's brother Vince Hatfield, attended the groom as best man. Groomsman was John S. Kaczyk, brother of the groom.

Kenneth Conner, uncle of the bride, and Larry Simer, Ira, served as ushers.

Attired in a green, floor-length gown accented with green lace, Kimberly Morgan, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. Mike Hatfield, Vealmore, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

Candles were lit by Kim Forehand, Weinert, and Donelle Fite, Sweetwater, both cousins of the bride.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Kaczyk were feted with a reception in the church Garden Room.

White lace draped the bride's table which was enhanced by a memory candle and a three tiered wedding cake.

MRS. MARK S. KACZYK

The groom's table was covered with brown cloth featuring the engravement "Okie." Chocolate cake was served.

Assisting at the reception were Melba Moeller, San Angelo; Brenda Parker, Sweetwater; Genie Forehand, Veinert; and Terri Murphy.

Andrea Fowler, Coahoma, registered guests at a table featuring a basket of mixed spring flowers.

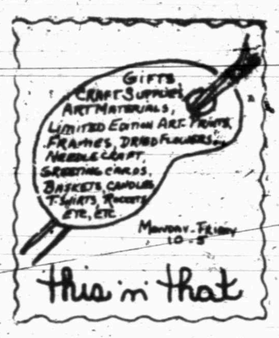

The bride attended Big Spring High School and the groom graduated from high school in Panama, Okla. He is presently employed by Quality Transports.

When the couple return from their wedding trip to San Antonio, they will be at home at 311 W.12th and Lancaster, Big Spring.

Pat Walker's presents: the Splendor of being Slender

"I MAY BE 63, BUT I'M A NEW PERSON!"

(Agnes Hall lost 36½ pounds and 59¾ inches.)

Agnes Hall made a marvelous new start in her life when she slimmed down to a trim, attractive size 10 on Pat Walker's proven program of weight reduction. Her story:

"I'd been overweight for so long I was beginning to think I was just naturally a fat person.

"Even when I got married 40 years ago, I weighed 160 pounds—not what you'd call a slim bride. Over the years, my weight crept up to 175, and I found myself wearing size 16. That's when I decided something had to be done.

"I tried a health spa, but I didn't like undressing or mussing my hair or going in the water—and I couldn't do floor exercises because of back problems. I heard some women there talking about Pat Walker's, and since I'd already seen some ads, I thought . . . well, why not?

"Two, sometimes three, treatments a week on Pat Walker's passive exercise unit have gotten me down to—would you believe it?—a size 10. I've lost 36½ pounds and 59¾ inches, and I've kept my figure firmed and toned the whole time.

"My friends are amazed. One of my bowling partners says that almost everyone she knows who's lost the pounds I have has gotten bags and sags, but I haven't . . . I look and feel better than I have in at least 14 years. I may be 63, but I'm a new person . . ."

Find a loveliet you

You can believe in Pat Walker's program: its benefits have been confirmed repeatedly during a distinguished 27-year history of success throughout the world. Akroyd Refusing To Sign Contract

NEW YORK-Dan Ackroyd is telling friends he may not be "Live from New York" this fall, says The New York Daily News.

In today's editions, the News reported Ackroyd - who plays Jimmy Carter, Papa Conehead and a number of other characters as one of the stars of NBC's "Saturday Night Live" - has joined colleague John Belushi in refusing to sign a contract for the show's fifth season, which begins Oct. 13, the paper said. Both are working in Chicago in a film based on their hit musical team, the Blues Brothers.

Super model Cheryl Tiegs in a recent interview in Beauty Digest magazine told of her own plan for losing 5 pounds fast. "I eat a big breakfast of hot water with lemon, plain yogurt and whole-wheat toast for bulk. For lunch I have a salad. If I'm still hungry at dinner time, I eat only a small piece of chicken and a small salad. And most importantly, I never eat anything after 6 p.m.

Vows Said By Candlelight

MR. AND MRS. BRIAN TIMOTHY MARLAR
(Harley Bynum Photo)

Shelly Deanna Nutt and Brian Timothy Marlar were united in marriage at 7 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 11 in the chapel of First Baptist Church. Ken Andress, minister of the church, officiated the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hammonds of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Marlar of Iowa Park, formerly of Snyder.

Given in marriage by her brother, Shane Nutt, the bride was attired in a gown designed and made by the groom's mother. The formal dress of white taffeta had a sheer silk organza overlay which fell into a chapel train. The fitted bodice was covered with single daisies and Venise lace appliques. Her long full sleeves of silk organza featured lace appliques at the shoulders and cuffs. Single chain daisies encircled the hemline. Her finger-tip veil was also made by the groom's mother.

The bride carried a nosegay of yellow and white daisies with baby's breath and brown and white streamers. For something old, she wore a diamond ring belonging to her grandmother, Joan Brake. She wore a blue garter and borrowed diamond earrings and necklace from her mother. Her new gown completed the tradition.

Maid of honor Carolyn Russell wore a full length sleeveless dress of yellow quiana. The dress had a blouson bodice and drape neckline. She carried a nosegay similar to the bride's.

Bridesmaids were Marca Parham and Patti Ayers of Aledo. They wore dresses and carried bouquets identical to the maid of honor's.

The groom was attired in formal white tuxedo with tails. Mike Marlar of Wichita Falls, served his brother as best man. He wore a chocolate brown tuxedo with a yellow ruffled shirt. Groomsmen were Clint Wolfe of Wichita Falls and Steve Miller. They wore tuxedoes identical to the best man.

Seating guests were Terry Kubena of Hermleigh, Terry Jones and Toby Black, both of Lubbock, and Ricky Hopper.

Bobby Wells accompanied vocalists on the piano. "The Wedding Song" and "You Make Me Feel Brand New" was sung by Jeanne McCormick and Ricky Bowden. Terry Jones sang "You're My World" and Steve Miller sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Following the vows, the couple lit a candle representing the two becoming one.

A reception honoring the couple was hosted by the couple's parents. Guests were received by the couple and their parents. The bride's table was covered with a white lace tablecloth. The bridesmaid's bouquets served as the centerpiece. The three tiered cake was served by Mrs. Kathy Moore and Susan Scott of Abilene. Punch was served by Andra Crenshaw.

The groom's table was covered by a brown eyelet tablecloth made by the groom's mother. Jeanne McCormick served coffee from a silver coffee service and Jana Wesson served the cake.

For the wedding trip, the bride chose a three piece blue knit pantsuit. Following the trip the couple will be at home in Snyder where the bridegroom is employed by Texaco Inc.

Labor Day For Mothers

Labor Day has traditionally been a legal holiday in this country in honor of labor and the workers who keep industry going. Taking care of a house and family may be a labor of love, but the chores never let up or go away.

Those who keep households going, whether male or female, might well ask for a holiday in honor of their never-stop efforts to keep house, kids, dogs, and washing under control! But there are occasional rewards that make the work a little lighter.

One of those rewards is enjoying the company of neighbors. Nonworking mothers who see their youngsters off to a new school season with a sigh of relief often enjoy gathering with their neighbors to visit and exchange household news.

Dairy Council, Inc. home economists suggest this light and delicious recipe for apricot twist rolls to serve to your friends and neighbors who gather for a morning visit.

Apricot Twist Rolls
1 package (13¾ oz.) hot roll mix
½ cup dairy sour cream
½ cup apricot jam
1 cup shredded coconut
2 tablespoons apricot jam

Prepare dough according to package directions. Cover and allow to stand in warm place until doubled (about 30 minutes). Divide in half. On lightly floured surface, roll half of the dough to measure 8x12 inches. Spread center one-third of rectangle with ¼ cup sour cream and ¼ cup apricot jam, and sprinkle with ½ cup coconut. Fold in from long sides of rectangle to cover filling. Cut crosswise into 12 strips. With a wide spatula, carefully lift and twist each strip as placed on baking sheet. Repeat with second half of dough. Bake strips 20-25 minutes.

To glaze, brush with 2 tablespoons apricot jam immediately after removal from oven.

There is a simple, but expensive way to play today's hand.

South wins the heart, plays his king of diamonds, continues the suit, finesses dummy's jack and winds up down three since he never gets a trick out of dummy. As the late Hal Sims once said, "He has played the hand like a millionaire."

There is a slightly complicated and far better play. South does go after diamonds at trick two, but he doesn't lead his king. Instead, he leads his four spot to dummy's jack.

Now if East takes his queen, as he probably will, South winds up with four diamond tricks and his contract. He will even score an overtrick if he bothers to take the spade finesse.

Suppose East is brilliant enough to duck that diamond. Now South does take the spade finesse. After it works, he returns to dummy by overtaking his king of diamonds with dummy's ace. A repeated spade finesse gives him three spades plus two tricks in each of the other suits and he can go home with the rubber.

MR. AND MRS. RICKY DALE JOHNSON
(Photo By Craft Studio)

United In Marriage

Teresa Rulinn Batchelor became the bride of Ricky Dale Johnson in a candlelight ceremony Aug. 18 at 7 p.m. at Faith Baptist Church. Rev. L.W. Hatfield, pastor of the church officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Batchelor of Midland. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Johnson of McKinney.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal white, floor length gown. The fitted empire bodice was overlaid with lace and pearls featuring full puff sleeves with lace cuffs. The train was trimmed with pearls and lace. The bridal veil was attached to a pearl headpiece with a lace trim.

The bride carried a cascade of ivory silk carnations, roses and forget-me-nots with accents of baby's breath and pale blue silk forget-me-nots. Streamers were ivory satin picot ribbon.

In keeping with tradition, for something old the bride had her grandparents first wedding bands tied in her bridal bouquet. The rings belong to Mr. and Mrs. I.L. Wilson of Snyder. Something new was her bridal veil. For something blue, the bride wore a blue garter with minted coins of the year of the birth of herself and the groom placed inside. For something borrowed, the bride wore a gold chain necklace with a teardrop stone that belongs to her aunt, Mrs. Kenneth Pierce.

Maid of honor was Becky Digby of Hermleigh, cousin of the bride. She wore a long blue dress. She carried a colonial style nosegay of ivory silk carnations, blue roses and blue forget-me-nots tied with blue satin streamers.

Bridesmaids were Regina Pierce and Leeann Pierce, cousins of the bride and Lynnetta Johnson, sister of the groom. They wore long powder blue dresses trimmed with white lace and carried colonial style nosegays.

Flower girls were Melissa Batchelor of Midland, sister of the bride and Buffie Wilson, cousin of the bride. They were attired in identical long dresses, Melissa's was powder blue trimmed with white lace and Buffie's was white trimmed with white lace. Each carried a white basket with a blue bow on the side filled with blue petals.

The mother of the bride was attired in a long white dress with white shoes and bag. She wore a blue corsage of baby roses and carnations. The groom's mother chose a white short dress with black shoes and bag, accented with a blue corsage of baby roses and carnations.

Blue carnation corsages were presented to the grandmothers. Mrs. Mildred Wilson, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Claudia Johnson and Mrs. Oscar Galaway, grandmothers of the groom.

The groom was attired in a dark blue suit with a white carnation boutonniere. Best man was Tommy Joe White of Odessa. He wore a dark blue suit with a blue carnation. Groomsmen were Bryan Batchelor, brother of the bride, Wayne Batchelor, brother of the bride and Gerald Johnson, brother of the groom. The groomsmen and the bride's father wore a blue tuxedo with a blue carnation.

The service was conducted amid a setting of flickering candlelight and an archway of greenery with white carnations. Candlelighters were Lee Ann Langford and Julie Brock. Music was presented by Alton and Brenda Weidel of Kennedale. They sang "If" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Janice Brock registered guests.

During the reception, the couple greeted guests in the fellowship hall of the church.

The table featured a blue cloth covered with white lace. It held a four tiered wedding cake with blue roses on it topped with the small traditional bride and groom. Serving cake were Mrs. Linda Wilson and Mrs. Betty Elam. Becky Elam and Rhonda Elam served the punch.

For going away attire the bride chose a wine dress with tan shoes and bag and a white carnation corsage.

After a short honeymoon, the couple will reside in McKinney where they will both be students at McKinney High School.

Following the rehearsal Friday night, Aug. 17, the families had cake and coffee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I.L. Wilson, grandparents of the bride.

Pears, Beef Special Flavor Combo

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

The next time you want a special flavor combination, serve fresh fruit such as pears in season with beef or poultry.

A recent visit to the Seattle area proved an eating treat because many local restaurants serve fresh or poached fruit instead of the standard french fries with their entrees. The fruit is a refreshing complement to the main dish.

You'll find this a delicious way to enjoy fruits throughout the year. And you will cut calories while doing so.

Family and guests will enjoy this platter of mustard pears and beef. Serve with fresh homemade bread or heated sourdough for a weekend football-watching session.

MUSTARD PEARS AND BEEF PLATTER

- cup brown sugar, packed
- cup tarragon-flavor white wine vinegar
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1/16 teaspoon dried dill
- ½ cup water
- 3-4 large fresh California Bartlett pears
- Crisp lettuce
- 6 slices roast beef
- 6 cherry tomatoes
- Mustard Mayonnaise

Combine sugar, vinegar, mustard and dill in 10-inch skillet. Stir together over low heat until well blended. Add water and heat to simmering.

Select firm ripe pears. Halve, pare and core pears. Place cut side down in liquid. Heat to boiling. Turn heat to low and cover. Cook about 3 minutes.

Uncover. Turn pears carefully and cook about 3 minutes longer, basting constantly. Remove from heat. Cool in syrup, then chill.

When ready to serve, arrange drained pears on lettuce. Roll up beef and arrange around pears with tomatoes. Serve with Mustard Mayonnaise. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

Mustard Mayonnaise

Stir 2 teaspoons prepared mustard and 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish into 1 cup mayonnaise.

FRESH Bartlett pears with beef make refreshing lunch or dinner.

Researchers Note Time Evolves Marital Discord

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—According to research into marital disharmony carried out by a Czech psychiatric institute, the length of time a marriage has been in existence plays a part in the irritations expressed by husbands and wives.

Men who had been married 5-14 years complained most frequently that their wives were: 1, too nervous; 2, always in opposition; 3, too hasty. Men married longer than 15 years said disharmony was caused by their wives being: 1, always in opposition; 2, too hasty; 3, unable to discuss things calmly.

Women married 5-14 years complains most frequently that their husbands: 1, do not tell the truth; 2, are insincere; 3, are always in opposition. Wives married more than 15 years listed most frequently dissatisfaction with the fact that the husband: 1, likes to spend time without them; 2, does not tell the truth; 2, is insincere.

The annual per capita consumption of table wines by adults in the United States has doubled in the past 10 years to 1.7 gallons.

Reflective Film Cools Down Home

COLLEGE STATION—Want to try for an almost instantly cooler home?

Cool down your home with reflective film on the windows – to keep heat out of the house, says Pat Seaman, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

Simply buy the film and apply it to windows.

It stops heat from coming in through the windows – by reflecting heat away, she explains.

Ms. Seaman is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Reflective film is made of metal and polyester, and it's available in a variety of colors and reflective ability.

You can buy it in several widths by the foot – and in premeasured packages.

Follow the manufacturer's directions for a do-it-yourself installation project, Ms. Seaman suggests.

Nosy Neighbors Sniffish, Too

By Abigail Van Buren

1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago you ran a letter from a busybody who was frustrated because she couldn't figure out what her new neighbors were up to. She claimed they were ruining the neighborhood.

You put her in her place with a three-word answer that wiped me out! Please dig it up and run it again. This country could use a good laugh right now. Thanks.

CHARLIE

DEAR CHARLIE: Is this it?

DEAR ABBY: About four months ago, the house across the street was sold to a "father and son"—or so we thought.

We later learned it was an older man about 50 and a young fellow about 24.

This was a respectable neighborhood before this "odd couple" moved in. They have all sorts of strange-looking company. Men who look like women, women who look like men, blacks, whites, Indians. Yesterday I even saw two nuns go in there!

They must be running some sort of business, or a club. There are motorcycles, expensive sports cars and even bicycles parked in front and on the lawn. They keep their shades drawn so you can't see what's going on inside but they must be up to no good, or why the secrecy?

We called the police department and they asked if we wanted to press charges! They said unless the neighbors were breaking some law there was nothing they could do.

Abby, these weirdos are wrecking our property values! How can we improve the quality of this once-respectable neighborhood?

UP IN ARMS

DEAR UP: You could move.

DEAR ABBY: We are having a disagreement at our house and you are elected to settle it. One of our family feels that when walking our puppy we should get dressed and not go out in our night clothes. The puppy isn't house-trained yet and has to go out often.

The person who thinks the dog-walker should be fully dressed never walks the dog, so I don't see why he has any say in the matter.

We live in the suburbs where hardly anyone walks by who would really care if he sees a 12-year-old girl in her bathrobe.

DECENT IN HER BATHROBE

DEAR DECENT: Bathrobes are for indoors. Better slip into some outdoor clothes when walking the dog.

DEAR ABBY: I caught a cold in my back, but instead of going to my regular acupuncturist, who is a noted lecturer and author, I went to another acupuncturist who stuck 40 gold needles in my back.

Then I went back to my regular acupuncturist who told me I should get a lawyer and sue the man who put 40 needles in my back because he broke every rule of acupuncture.

Then I went to Kaiser Hospital and they said trying to remove those needles would be like going on a fishing expedition, and I would be better off leaving them in.

Abby, I've had these needles in my back for two and a half years, and I'd like to get them out. They are playing havoc with my system.

NEEDLED IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR NEEDLED: Get another opinion. And a third if necessary. But stick with qualified, conventional, medical doctors—unless you don't mind being stuck again.

DEAR ABBY: Bravo to the TWO SUNKEN TREASURES IN NORTHRIDGE for learning to laugh at their "Great Depressions."

We here in Seattle are considering starting our own "Bosomless Buddies" chapter. We have learned to be grateful for what we have, and to quit worrying about what we don't have.

Underdeveloped women of the world, unite! Be proud. And remember, "Flat Is Beautiful!"

MICHELLE IN SEATTLE

DEAR MICHELLE: Right on, sister! Although you probably have no bras to burn, you're obviously way out in front for women's lib.

If you need help in writing letters of sympathy, congratulations or thank-you letters, get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for all Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

At one point West Virginia is less than five miles wide, but it stretches farther south than Richmond, Va.; farther north than Pittsburgh, Pa.; farther east than Buffalo, N.Y., and farther west than Port Huron, Mich.

Kiss-A-Baby Week Begins Sept. 24

The 1979 Kiss-A-Baby Week campaign of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation begins September 24, in the Snyder area, and Chairman Bonnie Hodge is asking volunteers to donate their time to fund raising activities.

"I'm looking for people who can give a little of their time so that millions of lung-damaged children across the United States can live longer, more normal lives," said Mrs. Hodge of the Lone Star Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

"Just breathing is a struggle for these kids. They must have constant care and treatment. Some must take as many as 50 pills a day to fight infection and aid digestion, and breathe a medicated mist from a face mask each day."

The much needed funds raised from the campaign will go to support research, care and education programs aimed at lengthening lives and finding a cure for C-F. These programs include support for more than one hundred Cystic Fibrosis Centers across the nation which provide diagnosis, treatment and referral to children suffering from asthma, chronic bronchitis, "childhood emphysema," and recurrent pneumonia, as well as cystic fibrosis.

"In addition to finding a cure for C-F," said Mrs. Hodge, "researchers are hoping to find a test to detect carriers of the C-F gene, and also a method of diagnosing the disease at birth. Early diagnosis and treatment helps extend and improve lives."

"In 1955, when the C-F Foundation was established, most children with C-F died before reaching 3 years of age. Now, more than 50 percent can be expected to live past age 19. But, we want to make it possible for all children with cystic fibrosis to live normal, full lives." Volunteers can help, she added," by giving of their time to support the giving of the most precious gift of all--the Breath of Life."

a big image problem

There's no getting around it - Jimmy Carter has a real problem when it comes to upgrading his image as a leader.

As recent events graphically demonstrate.

Here we are racing up on Labor Day, and it seems like only last year that the president and those members of his immediate family with the highest public relations visibility boarded the Delta Queen to the toot of the calliope and the grumbling of a press corps initially preoccupied with its second-class accommodations.

Talk about fantastic voyages! This one covering a thousand meandering Mississippi miles between St. Paul and St. Louis was almost as extensively covered as the Apollo II moon mission. To what purpose is still something of a puzzlement to landlubbers, who are legion compared to the few thousands actually aboard the Queen or in attendance at its frequent down-river stops.

The excursion was billed as part vacation and part road - pardon, river - trip for the administration's energy program. Undoubtedly the president is far from alone in finding appeal in the conservation of energy by alternately taking it easy aboard an elegant old anachronism such as the Delta Queen and expending some in jogging around the decks or along a pier.

But even taking note of the frequent homilies on the subject delivered to audiences down on the levees the voyage as symbol had no discernible relevance to energy reality.

Even the White House PR wizards have to acknowledge that there are not many regular commuters between St. Paul and St. Louis. And even were every navigable stream in the country jammed with paddle-wheelers, it would do nothing for the millions sentenced to regular commuting on the dilapidated public transit and auto-jammed highways characteristic of most metropolitan areas.

So much for the Mississippi scene. Meanwhile back at various ranches, all hell has been breaking loose. Say Andrew Young and you've said enough.

True, the traveler did keep in touch by phone. But apparently the schedule made no provision for cutting the cruise short and returning to his desk, as many an ordinary vacationer has been known to do when the situation gets a bit sticky back at the office. Perhaps it would have required too much energy.

Mercifully it's all over at last. Maybe once settled in again in the Oval Office, a first vacationer refreshed from direct contact with some of the people will buckle down to the problems at hand - the comedy of diplomatic errors at the United Nations, for instance; the chaos in the Mideast; the sniping between blacks and Jews that threatens his own political future as well as the credibility of the nation's foreign policy. And, oh yes, energy.

Maybe.

"Here's our estimated required increase in allowances, passing along uncontrollable costs for bubble gum, candy, hamburgers, movies ..."

a symbolic crime

A West German maker of pornographic films has run afoul of the law because of what his star was wearing, not what she wasn't.

According to a wire report, the producer, one Horst P., was responsible for a little epic entitled "Nazi Games" in which the most visible player was costumed in a pair of panties decorated with a swastika.

Since West German law bans public display of the Nazi symbol, the film maker was slapped with a fine for "dissemination of propaganda for an illegal organization."

The law is the law, and it was Horst P.'s misfortune that the German court couldn't be guided by the U.S. Supreme Court's attitude on the subject. By linking Nazism and pornography, he was certainly delivering a message of redeeming social value.

Case closed.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Nothing is impossible for the man who doesn't have to do it himself."

We've heard a lot lately about the "barrel" in that the government is becoming so conscious of the measurement relative to the oil industry.

The former mayor of Midland, Hank Avery Jr., recently came up with some figures on "The Mighty Barrel." It's interesting:

"Since the energy shortage and the dependency of America on the OPEC nations, the barrel (42 gallons) has become a timely and more common unit of measurement. Listed below are the prices Americans are paying for various items as the cost relates to this popular unit of measurement--the barrel.

Yogurt, $58.80; milk, $84.00; butter, $302.40; Aramis aftershave lotion, $10,752; Caviar, $13,440; silver, $421,427; house paint, $249; crude oil, $22; coffee, $483; Right Guard deodorant, $1,177; gasoline, $35.28; copper, $2,643; perfume, $48,400; whiskey, $1,848; gold, $24,327,867; beer, $168; Coca Cola, $92.40; uranium, $243,500; salt, $53; Edge shave gel, $1,067; flour, $41; peanut butter, $407; honey, $403."

Some folks in Scurry County wish they could get that $22 the mayor listed for OPEC oil.

A guy in the coffee shop suggested, "If the Labor unions were smart, they would tie salaries not to the cost of living index, but rather to the National Debt."

It's been stated repeatedly that Washington has little conception of how the real world really lives.

While the rest of the country has struggled this summer with a fuel shortage, rising gasoline prices and at times long service station lines, a special station in Washington is pumping gas to Capitol VIP's at 57 cents a gallon.

This private filling station, funded by taxpayers, serves customers such as the House Speaker and the Senate Minority Leader. The Energy Secretary, however, has to wait in line like the rest of us.

at wits end

by erma bombeck

I used to be a nice person.

Ask anyone. I was giving, loving and sharing.

Then the children came along and I realized a woman who was giving, loving, and sharing could end up with a drawer full of dirty pantyhose, a broken stereo and a wet toothbrush every morning.

Also, a camera with sand in it, a blouse that died from acute perspiration, a library book with a bent back, a sleeping bag with a broken zipper, a tennis racket with a cracked frame, and a transistor that "just went dead when it hit the pavement."

For awhile, I had a closet that enjoyed more traffic than a discount house on Mother's Day. One day, I wandered in to see three kids picking and choosing. "May I help you?" I asked stiffly.

"No, I'm just browsing," said my son. "Where's the luggage?"

"We've moved it to the annex," I snapped. "Will you get out of here?"

"Mom!" said my daughter, "you've got to learn to share."

"Share! You saw what happened to my car when I shared."

"What did I do to your car?" asked my son.

"I'll tell you what you did to it. You left the radio up so loud that when I got in and turned on the motor, the noise struck me sterile. I still have swelling in my teeth. Not only that, the car smells like a gym before showers."

"You told me to bring my gym clothes home."

"I didn't tell you to keep the car windows rolled up when you did."

"Mom," asked my daughter, "Can I borrow this sweater? You can borrow any of mine you like."

"Then why don't you wear your own?" I asked.

"They're all dirty."

"Why would I borrow a dirty sweater?"

"You never go anyplace to wear a clean one."

"Hold it," I said to my son. "What did you do with the binoculars you borrowed for the game last week?"

"They're in my room."

"Why don't you put them back where you got them?"

"Why?" he shrugged. "Why would you want to hang on to a pair of broken binoculars?"

"They weren't broken when you borrowed them."

"You buy cheap, Mom, and you pay for it in the long run."

As I slumped down in the closet, I heard my daughter say, "Mom's so selfish. It's hard to believe she wasn't an only child!"

commentary

donald f. graff

If you're looking around for a new buzz word, you could do worse than "productivity".

It won't necessarily make you the conversational star of the cocktail circuit, but it will cue you in on what is becoming a leading topic of discussion in the economic circles.

Basically, productivity is a way of measuring the effectiveness of an economy according to output per individual worker. Rising productivity, increasing output of goods and services per individual, is the sign and the impetus of a healthily expanding economy.

In the United States, productivity is still rising, but at a progressively slower rate. A considerable body of expert opinion believes this is the essential problem with the American economy, underlying and contributing to mounting trade deficits, the declining dollar and inflation.

That includes Jimmy Carter, who has fingered unsatisfactory productivity as a symptom of the malaise he sees afflicting the American spirit.

U.S. productivity was long - and until not so long ago - unrivaled in the world. Along with sheer size, it was the major factor in the preeminence of the American economy. But in the last decade growth has been slowing until today it is down to about 1 percent annually.

That is not sufficient to keep pace with the rest of the industrialized world. As the congressional joint economic committee observes in a current somber report: "If present trends continue, German and French workers will be outproducing us within six years; Japanese and Canadian workers will follow soon thereafter."

It might be asked why it should matter whether U.S. workers fall behind their foreign counterparts in the productivity race. The answer is that in the short term it would make more difficult if not impossible the effort to balance U.S. trade bills and halt the decline of the dollar's value on that front.

In the long run, it could mean a stagnant or declining economy, lower living standards and even worse inflation.

It is much easier to describe what is wrong than to determine why and what to do about it. One factor is certainly the age and inefficiency of important segments of the U.S. industrial plant. Europeans and Japanese, forced to rebuild from the wreckage of World War II, now have the advantage of more modern equipment.

The character of the U.S. economy has also changed, shifting from manufacturing toward services. Some industries, because of high labor costs among other reasons, are no longer efficient competitors with foreign operations. Apparel is a prime example. But phasing out can be both economically and politically painful, so they continue to exert a drag on the overall productivity rate.

Cases are also made against excessive government regulation and tax and interest-rate policies that work against capital investment and business expansion.

Interestingly, the one major industrial country which has not presented the United States with a productivity challenge - yet - may provide the most useful guidance in dealing with the problem.

Britain years ago reached an even more pronounced stage of hardening economic arteries years ago. It is a primary goal of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's program to reverse that situation and revive growth through a package of measures trimming government's direct involvement in economic activity and encouraging private initiative.

Not all in the British situation is analagous to the American, and not all measures taken will be similarly applicable. But in some areas, particularly tax and investment policies, the results in Britain over the next year or so could be highly instructive for American political and economic leaders seeking tips as to what can be done to reverse the declining productivity trend.

And it is certain that something must be done. This is not a problem that is about to buzz off on its own.

thoughts

Owning a home and having a garden meant not only food but was the foundation of family life, Jeremiah wrote to the captives in Babylon.

"Build ye houses, and dwell in them and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them; take ye wives, and beget sons and daughters." — Jer. 29:5-6

In the days when ice houses were common in most communities, the proprietor of one of them lost his pocket watch among the cakes of ice.

With a young assistant's help, the man moved the frozen masses from one side of the shed to the other, but he didn't find his treasured timepiece.

Then he got a broom and swept through the sawdust, but still he did not locate the watch.

Finally, the man told his helper to stand still; he had an idea. Getting down on his hands and knees, the iceman put his ear to the floor and listened. In a short while, the sound of the ticking led him to the watch.

Sometimes people go to great lengths searching for the missing things in their lives, the elements they feel will make them happy. But struggle and straining don't bring them nearer their goal.

Some, in desperation, bombard God with prayers hoping He will bring their elusive wishes to fruition, but still their dreams go unfulfilled.

Some people become bitter and antagonistic. Others say: "God, I'm going to turn this over to You. You take it. When the time is right, maybe You'll grant my prayer."

When the latter happens, a sudden peace invariably descends upon the person. He or she is covered with a strange calmness. And then something else often happens: God grants the person's desire.

Like the iceman who found his watch when he resorted to thoughtful quiet, we often obtain the things for which we've been searching when we try to synchronize our plans with God's timetable. When we do, our tensions abate, our anxious minds become serene and peace fills our souls.

Board Moving Toward Plain English Policies

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - The State Insurance Board appears ready to move on two consumer issues - "plain English" homeowners policies and new health insurance advertising rules - that have been hanging fire since May 1978.

Turnover on the board - starting with the Senate's removal of chairman Hugh Yantis in August 1978 - plus a five-month legislative session account for much of the delay.

Board members held a hearing 15 months ago on a readable homeowners policy submitted by a committee that included insurance men, academics and representatives of the Texas AFL-CIO and the Texas Consumer Association.

Yantis was "busted" by the state Senate less than three months later, and the readable policy has been on the back burner ever since.

Clint Dare, director of the Texas office of the Insurance Information Institute, says he cannot understand the delay on something so many diverse interests have agreed on.

"It's just like apple pie as far as I am concerned," said Dare.

Opposition came mainly from G.J. Jones, chief property actuary for the board, who objected that the readable policy also makes some coverage changes, such as putting a $500 limit on boats, $500 on jewelry and $1,000 on guns that are stolen.

William Daves, the new board chairman, said the board will take up the readable homeowners policy "as soon as we possibly can. Whether in the fall or winter, I don't know."

"It's as difficult for me to read one of those as anybody else," said Daves, who was an insurance company executive and then a banker before Gov. Bill Clements put him on the board this year.

The board has required readable "outlines of coverage" on all individual health insurance policies since Dec. 1, 1978, but clarity of language has not eliminated consumer deception.

One thing that is needed is tighter control over what insurance companies can and cannot say in their advertising, says Woody Pogue, manager of the policy approval division.

"There are new inventions, new sales gimmicks, in the insurance industry all the time," says Pogue, who believes existing advertising rules "are antique, and we need to put in some teeth."

The board last reviewed the rules drafted by Pogue's staff on May 2, 1978.

Only Durwood Manford remains of the three men who then were on the board. Lyndon Olson replaced Yantis and Clements put Daves on in place of Ned Price.

A board staff member, who asked anonymity because his job might be in jeopardy, said Manford was a stumbling block to tighter advertising rules.

"Mr. Manford shot us down every time we were up...Always Manford," the source said.

The staffer said he believed the two new members are not likely to be influenced by Manford and predicted Daves and Olson would "be much more receptive to our proposals."

Daves said the board would consider the advertising rules "sometime in the next few months."

Credit Courses Set In Mass Communications

Several college credit mass communications courses will be offered this fall semester at Western Texas College. Students of all ages are invited to enroll for journalism, photography, publications and creative writing classes.

JOU 131-332, Principles of Journalism, will meet from 9:55-11:10 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday mornings. The class will emphasize news writing and reporting for all the mass media, with stress on newspapers and interviewing techniques.

Students will study various types of published stories (news, feature and editorial) and then gather information and compose their own. The class is designed to enhance journalistic skills as well as acquaint the non-journalist with the role of mass media in the public domain.

JOU 130-333, Introduction to Photography, will meet from 6:30-9:20 p.m. Thursday nights only. The class is designed for anyone interested in learning about photography, improving picture-taking and picture-making skills, and working in a darkroom.

A self-directing worktext will be used to help cover such topics as camera types and operation, exposure, composition, developing film and printing pictures, filters and flash photography. College camera and lab equipment will be available for all student use.

ENG 133-309, Creative Writing, is scheduled to meet from 11:15-12:05 Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, but the time may be changed to better fit more student class and work scheduled. If enough students prefer, it may be moved to the evening slate.

The class will emphasize personal creativity through the written word in a variety of literary genres. Class members will keep journals of their own writing, and will experience flexible assignments in poetry, fiction and non-fiction, playwriting, short story, "new" journalism and essay.

JOU 111-330, Publications (Newspaper), and JOU 112-331, Publications (Annual), also are open to all students who want to work on college publications staffs. No experience is necessary. Staff meeting times are activity periods (11:10-11:55 a.m.) Tuesday for Annual and Thursday for Newspaper.

Some of these courses may be taken on an individualized study basis, with approval of the instructor, and for any students pursuing the Associate in Arts degree a class will satisfy part of the 12-hour communications requirement.

For further information, contact Dr. Mike McBride, associate professor, in the WTC Student Center, or call (915) 573-8511, ext. 273, or 573-8536.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Perhaps a spastic colon

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 17-year-old male. About three years ago while I was trying out for the high-school baseball team, something happened to my right abdomen while I was running the mile.

I developed a pain that was present almost every day for a year and a half before I went to see a doctor. The pain is 2 or 3 inches directly above my appendix. I've had X-rays of my stomach and my colon that were negative. My doctor put me on medicine for an ulcer to see if that might be the cause but it didn't help.

The pain did subside for a while and then came back. My running seemed to be the thing that affected it most. If I ran more than a quarter of a mile, the pain would occur. Sometimes I'd have it if I ate tomato sauce or occasionally something very spicy.

Now I can't run more than 50 yards, ride a bicycle or lift weights. Sometimes if I take a deep breath, it sets the pain off. Sometimes I have a slight feeling of nausea and belching. My bowel movements are irregular and I might have diarrhea and be constipated during the same movement.

I was told it was probably an emotional disturbance, but I visited two psychiatrists and they said that wasn't the problem. I'm tired of living with the pain because it hampers my activities.

Actually, I'm fairly tolerant of pain. I broke my jaw and let it go for a year and a half before I went to the doctor and found out it had been broken. Any help you can give would be greatly appreciated.

DEAR READER — You may have more than one problem. The story of your bowel function sounds very much like you have a spastic colon. That will cause pain in the side, either right or left.

These strong spasms are really cramps of the muscles in the wall of the colon itself. They can be aggravated by nervous tension and they can be affected by diet and bowel habits.

The clue is your statement that you can have diarrhea and constipation in the same bowel movement. This is fairly typical. The undigested food residue caught in the area of spasm may have the water squeezed out of it and gives the appearance of a constipated stool. In between segments of spasms, there may be an accumulation of fluid and mucous giving the appearance of diarrhea.

You might try a program of your own to develop better regularity. To help you, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 2-1, Spastic or Irritable Colon and Constipation. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

There are a number of things that can contribute to such bowel complaints, including intolerance of milk.

I believe it would be helpful for you to see a specialist in gastroenterology if you continue to have this problem. He may also be able to give you some medicine that counteracts muscle spasms in the colon.

The other possibility that your letter suggests is that you have a spasm of a muscular area, perhaps in your back with referred pain to the abdomen. For this reason, if pursuit of the question of spastic colon doesn't resolve your problem, I think you ought to see a specialist in physical medicine.

Graduation For Square Dancers

A graduation dance for beginning square dancers from the Senior Citizens Center was held Tuesday night in the National Guard Armory.

Sponsors for the program were members of the advanced group, the Promenaders.

Square dancing is planned for the first and third Monday nights of each month at the armory, Gloria Shaw, Senior Center Director, said, and other Senior Citizens who would like to join the group are welcome. Senior Citizens who would like information about square dancing may contact any officer of the Promenaders or Mrs. Shaw at the Senior Center at 2603 Avenue M. The Center is open each weekday, and men and women 60 years of age or older are invited to participate in the activities there.

Burt Whitaker from Big Spring was caller for the Tuesday night dance and will be calling for Monday night dances of the Promenaders.

Graduate Level Course Slated

A graduate level course dealing with educating gifted and talented children is to be offered by Texas Tech University at Western Texas College in the fall semester.

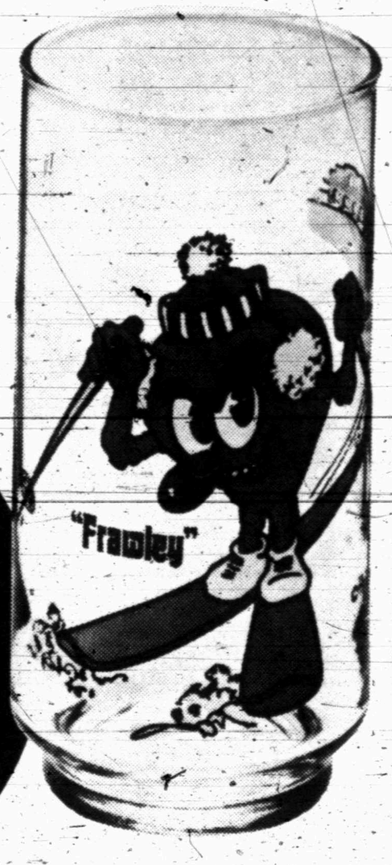

Dr. Bruce D. Mattson from Tech is to be instructor for the course, EDSP 5311. Dr. Mattson said EDSP 5310 is a desirable prerequisite for the new course but will not be required.

Registration for EDSP 5311 will be held starting at 6 p.m. on Sept. 10 in the WTC Administration Building, with the first class meeting to follow.

FUNNY BUSINESS

Stripper Wells Cited As Price Incentive Example

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP)—Three out of every four oil wells in the United States are strippers.

By law, a stripper well produces 10 or less barrels of oil a day.

But the Independent Petroleum Association of America says these low producing wells offer graphic evidence of how market pricing can bolster domestic oil supplies.

The trade group says market pricing has increased ultimately recoverable stripper oil reserves by 2.3 billion barrels.

And it is estimated actual stripper production during the 1974-1978 period was 180 million barrels of oil more than would have been produced had stripper oil been under price controls.

That amounts, the independents add, to 180 million barrels of oil the United States did not have to import.

With 73 percent of the oil wells in the nation falling within the stripper category, the average daily stripper production per well is 2.91 barrels of oil from 368,930 wells in 28 states.

Actual production falls below the 2.91-barrel average in 16 of the states. In Pennsylvania, New York and West Virginia, for example, the average daily production is one-half barrel from each of 47,188 stripper wells.

The independents say that, given such low productivity, stripper wells are extremely sensitive to any change in operating costs.

A relatively minor increase in the cost of the power required to lift the oil or for the cost of labor and equipment can render a stripper well uneconomic and cause it to be abandoned.

In a new fact sheet on the low producing wells, the independents say it was with an extraordinary demonstration of insight that Congress recognized the tenuous hold of stripper wells on economic life and saw fit to exempt them from the price controls the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act imposed on other types of production.

Originally adopted in 1973, the stripper well exemption was subsequently twice reaffirmed by Congress.

The exemption from price controls has permitted stripper oil to be sold at the world price.

A study of C.H. Keplinger of Keplinger and Associates Inc. indicates market pricing of stripper oil saved some 73,000 such wells from abandonment between Jan. 1, 1974, and Jan. 1, 1978, and extended the life of an average stripper well 10 years.

The independents contend the stimulus provided by market pricing to the production of stripper oil cannot be underestimated.

Market pricing, the report adds, has contributed to the maintenance of the marginal production to such an extent that in 1977 the number of stripper wells abandoned declined to 9,000 for a 16-year low.

The independents estimate there now are 8,800 stripper wells on the verge of abandonment even under existing market pricing economic conditions.

And they fear the 8,800-well estimate could mushroom under a congressional proposal that would impose an excise tax on stripper oil and force a price rollback.

The independents say a new tax such as proposed in a House approved bill would more than double the number of wells on the verge of abandonment and could very well push the number of 26,500 wells.

The trade group's report says such a tax would restrict stripper operations, force premature abandonments for economic reasons, and accelerate the rate at which the strippers are abandoned.

As a consequence, the independents report, an estimated 143 million barrels of oil could be left unproduced and stripper reserves recoverable under current technology could be slashed from more than 7 billion barrels to about 5 billion.

Big poly bags of frozen vegetables are money savers.

Pour out only as much as needed, and save the rest, suggests Gwendolyne Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

New Prospectors Set In Howard And Borden

V-F Petroleum, Inc., of Midland No. 1 Price will be drilled ½ mile northeast of production in the Romack (Ellenburger) oil pool of Borden County, eight miles northeast of Gail.

Scheduled for an 8,527-foot bottom, it is 1,980 feet from north and 1,100 feet from east lines of section 39, block 30, T-6-N, John H. Gibson survey.

Texaco Inc. No 1-F Howard-Fee is a new test in the Coahoma, north (Fusselman oil) pool of Howard County, three miles east of Coahoma.

One location southwest of Fusselman production, it is 467 feet from north and west lines of section 45, block 30, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Contract depth is 8,900 feet.

Estoril Producing Corp. of Midland announced location for a 10,000-foot wildcat in Howard County, 10 miles north of Big Spring.

It is No. 1 Mildred Cree, 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 25, block 33, T-2-N, T&P survey. There is no nearby production. It is one and one-quarter miles east of an 8,959-foot dry hole.

Britton Management Corp. of Midland announced potential test on a new well in the Coahoma, North (Fusselman) field of Howard County, four miles northeast of Coahoma.

One location north of other fusselman production, it finaled for a 24-hour flowing potential of 230 barrels of 52-gravity oil, no water, through an 18-64-inch choke and perforations from 8,876 to 8,886 feet.

The gas-oil ratio is 1,048-1, and the pay was acidized with 1,000 gallons.

Total depth is 9,000 feet, 4.5-inch pipe is set on bottom, and hole is plugged back to 8,960 feet.

Location is 2,195 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 32, block 30, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Campana Petroleum Co. No. 5 Read is a new well in the Coahoma, north (Fusselman) pool of Howard County, five miles northeast of Coahoma.

Three-fourths mile northwest of other fusselman production, is completed for a daily flowing potential of 220 barrels of 49-gravity oil, no water, through perforations from 8,852 to 8,866 feet. The pay was treated with 1,650 gallons of acid, and the gas-oil ratio is 1,081-1. The flow was gauged through a 12-64-inch choke.

Total depth is 8,960 feet and 4.5-inch pipe is set on bottom. Hole is plugged back to 8,938 feet.

Wellsite is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 28, block 20, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Convest Energy Corp. of Houston No. 1 G.B. Clark Jr. and others is a new well in the Pollan (Ellenburger oil) pool in Kent County, two miles southwest of Polar.

It finaled on the pump for 85 barrels of 43-gravity oil per day, and from open hole at 7,758 feet, where 5.5-inch pipe is set, and total depth of 7,784 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 550-1.

Location is 1,321 feet from north and 925 feet from west lines of section 60, block 5, H&GN survey.

Jack C. Elam of Midland No. 2-61 Wallace has been completed as the third well in the Elam (Strawn) pool of Kent County, nine miles south of Clairemont.

On 24-hour potential test, the well pumped 104 barrels of 41-gravity oil and 35 barrels of water, through perforations from 6,875 to 6,896 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 325-1.

The Strawn was topped at 6,845 feet on ground elevation of 2,122 feet. Other tops include the San Andres, 1,425 feet; Cogdell lime, 4,520 feet; Pennsylvanian shale, 4,788 feet, and Cisco Sand), 4,830 feet.

Wellsite is 467 feet from south and 2,168 feet from east lines of section 61, block 4, H&GN survey, abstract 82.

Hundreds Expected Conference On Gasohol

LUBBOCK—Several hundred are expected to attend a statewide Gasohol Know-How Conference Sept. 6 in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

The meeting is co-sponsored by the Texas Tech University Center for Energy Research and the Texas Farmers Union (TFU).

State Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale will be keynote speaker. Kubiak's support of gasohol production has earned him the name "Mr. Gasohol" in Texas.

Inquiries concerning the conference have come from six states, according to Jon Thomas, TFU staff conference coordinator.

"We expected interest to be widespread," he said, "but we have had inquiries from as far away as New York and Montana."

Gasohol is a mixture of gasoline and ethanol. It usually consists of 90 percent unleaded gasoline and 10 percent ethanol. Ethanol is made from grain but can be made from any product containing cellulose.

The conference will begin with registration at 9 a.m. The registration fee is $10, including lunch for participants.

Five major facets of gasohol production will be addressed at the conference. Ethanol technology; legalities of gasohol; financial assistance; small vs. large-efficient processes, equipment and techniques; and mixture, marketing, storage and use of ethanol products.

Following Kubiak's address, rotating sessions will begin, which will allow participants to take part in each session.

Victor Ray, director of National Farmers Union Field Services, will make a comprehensive presentation on all stages of modern ethanol production, including a demonstration of a working ethanol glass still. A slide program, "Alcohol Fuels: A Declaration of Independence for Farmers," will illustrate ethanol production.

Discussing legal aspects of gasohol production and marketing will be James Bynum, inspector of the federal Bureau of Tobacco, Alcohol and Firearms, and Lubbock District representatives of the Texas Alcohol Beverages Commission. They will explain procedures for obtaining both federal and state permits as well as answer questions from participants.

In reviewing financial assistance a panel representing various agencies will explain processes for obtaining funds. Participating will be Bill Beauchamp, Small Business Administration; L.W. "Bear" Curfman, Economic Development Administration; Marlis Barker, Special Projects, Farmers Home Administration; and Ben T. Haney, Community Services Administration. Each of the agencies represented offers financial assistance to individual farmers and farmer cooperatives interested in ethanol production.

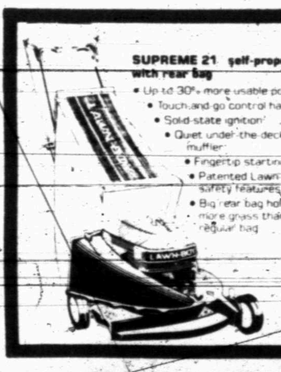

The advisability of investing in small production plants or large units will be discussed by several company representatives. They will present ideas regarding the economics of scale in ethanol production in view of thermodynamic feasibility, operational constraints and availability of equipment.

The Land of Ah's not Oz...

Campaign On To Alter Impression Of Kansas

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)-- Ever since L. Frank Baum told how a tornado lifted Dorothy Gale from her Kansas farm home and carried her to the Land of Oz, some Kansasans have cringed at the image his classic story gave the state.

To generations who read "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz," or saw the movie starring Judy Garland, the mention of Kansas conjured up thoughts of tornadoes, flat land, dust and drabness.

Now Kansas officials have set out to dispel such somber impressions created by the 1900 book and the 1939 movie. Employing the adage "When life gives you lemons, make lemonade," Kansas is unblushingly becoming "The Land of Ah's."

That pun is the promotional slogan adopted this year by the Kansas Department to attract tourists.

The 1976 national tourism figures show Kansas 33rd among the 50 states with travel-generated expenditures of $975.5 million.

Harriet Langs, director of the KDED's travel and tourism division, is counting on the mythical Dorothy, her dog Toto and traveling companions Scarecrow, Tin Woodsman and Cowardly Lion to lead Kansas up the yellow brick road to greater tourism.

And some other Kansans are following suit.

The city of Liberal and the Seward County Historical Society are remodeling a farm home into a replica of the house depicted in Baum's book and the movie. Wichita officials are using the book's characters in promotional advertisements that say, "Here's the Land You Heard Of."
