DUBIOUS GLARE SHINES AROUND THOMAS LOVE

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS.
Washington Correspondent of the Record News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Thomas B. Love, Democratic National committeeman from Texas, has been in the glare of the spotlight in Washington for the last six days. It has not been particularly favorable spotlight, but it has been the spotlight just the same.

The calcium glow began to shine on the Texas committee last Monday morning when Democratic leaders read his startling proposal that the Democratic party be reorganized at once, Chairman George White retired and a salaried national manager be employed, just as Will H. Hays has been employed by the Republican National committee.

Whatever may have been the reaction to Mr. Love's proposal in other parts of the country, it precipitated a storm here that ranged all the way from mild criticism to wild abuse. Up to date no responsible Democrat leader in Washington has approved the Love plan.

Committee Meets Thursday.

Meanwhile there is much added interest in the meeting here of the executive committee recntly appointed by Chairman White. This committee is scheduled to meet Thursday and already out-of-town leaders are drifting in to be on hand for the "doings."

Mr. Love was left off this committee, which was announced ten days ago. The question of the ap-

SLEUTH ADMITS FLEEING RIOTS IN MATEWAN

By Associated Press.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Feb. 12.—Excited and confused, with pistols and rifles popping on every side, John McNowell, one of the Baldwin-Felts detectives who battled with the citizens of Matewan last May 19, testified today that he fired three shots at Reece Chambers, a defendant, and then fled from the scene where seven of his comrades and three of the townspeople lay dead.

McDowell was the first witness called at the trial of 19 Matewan men who have been indicted in connection with the death of Albert C. Felts, leader of the detectives. He was followed by two telephone operators, May Chafin, a niece of Reece Chambers, and Elsie Chambers, his daughter.

ASK INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION OF DAKOTA TO QUIT

By Associated Press.

BISMARCK, N. D., Feb. 12.—Resolutions were adopted by the Independent Voters Association of North Dakota, in convention here late today calling upon the state industrial commission to resign.

The commission also was called upon to make arrangements for release of "frozen" assets of the Bank of North Dakota and to explain certain recent alleged political advertisements.

RECAPTURE 2 OF NINE STOWAWAYS

By Associated Press.

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 12.—Emil Johannes Teras, one of the two stowaways who escaped from the steamer Federal that arrived here February 1 from Antwerp, was captured today at Galveston, according to advices received here by local immigration authorities. The other stowaway was taken a short time after he left the vessel.

GORE INSISTS OIL EMBARGO BILL IS DEAD

Senator Declares Phelan Measure Can Not Pass at This Session

Record News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.—Senator Gore of Oklahoma, Saturday issued a statement declaring that the Phelan bill authorizing the president to embargo exportation of oil is dead, so far as this session of congress is concerned. Senator Gore also told why he opposed such legislation.

"I have given some attention to the bill introduced by Senator Prelan of California to lay an embargo on the exportation of petroleum," Senator Gore said. "This bill, if passed would aggravate the difficulties of the situation with which the producers of oil are now confronted. The export business as far as oil is concerned is already greatly reduced. This is one of the major factors in considering the present depression in the oil business. An embargo on oil exports would not relieve this depression, but would intensify it.

"I do not think the committee on naval affairs of the senate will report the bill, but it may be offered as an amendment to the naval appropriabill. I don't think it will pass. It will not pass before March 4 and I shall resist in every way its possible passage should the matter be brought up. I do not deny Senator Phelan's good intentions in presenting this matter, but good intentions are no safeguard against consequences."

FRANCE INCURRED BULK OF ALLIED SHIPPING LOSSES

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The reparations committee has transmitted to Walter D. Hines, American arbitrator in the distribution of German inland shipping under the peace treaty, its determination of the allied losses to be paid from Germany's Rhine fleet of 820,000 tons, 63 per cent of which was incurred by France, 33 per cent by Belgium and 4 per cent by other countries.

The entire river fleet is placed at upwards of 6,000,000 tons and therefore the losses are less than the 20 per cent limit the treaty placed on the amount Germany must replace.

This award, which Mr. Hines must approve, is in addition to the allocation of 235,000 tons of barges with a capacity of 24,000 horsepower allocated to France by Mr. Hines early in January.

AIRPLANES HOVER ABOVE GRAVE OF POSTAL AVIATOR

By Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 12.—Airplanes hummed overhead as the body of William L. Carroll, one of three men killed in the crash of the air mail plane at La Crosse Wednesday, was lowered into the grave here today.

One plane, piloted by H. F. Smith, circled three times over the grave, dipped once in salute and then started southward with the daily mail consignment for Chicago.

KANSAS LOWER HOUSE INVITES ADDRESS BY MISS MARY M'SWINEY

By Associated Press.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 12.—The Kansas house of representatives today adopted a concurrent resolution, inviting Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late lord mayor of Cork, to address a joint session of the legislature next Wednesday afternoon. The senate has not acted on the resolution.

GREEKS PREPARE FOR OFFENSIVE

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The Greeks have finished preparations for an offensive in Asia Minor and already have made reconnaissances in the Ismid and Brusha sectors, according to dispatches from Constantinople today.

The Turks have made small attacks in the Ushak district.

TWO KILLED IN ARGENTINE CLASH.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Feb. 12.—Two persons were killed and a number of others were wounded in a clash Friday between laborers and police at Villaguay, province of Entre Rios.

The police, the account states, resisted an attempt by the laborers to release an imprisoned comrade.

MOVIE STAR TO WED AVIATOR

Lila Lee and her fiance, Capt. Claude Collins.

There is no stopping these young motion picture actresses when it comes to romances. The newest star to be hit by young Dan Cupid is Lila Lee. It is reported, and Lila Lee has confirmed the report, that she is engaged to Capt. Claude Collins of the United States aviation service. Collins, you may remember, the is young officer who offered his services to science when he resolved to be the victim to be shot to Mars on a gigantic sky rocket. Instead he seems to have been shot to a "star" on an arrow from a very small and romantic bow.

Tired and Worn Wife of Self Confessed Slayer Comes to Aid in Trial

Worn by her long journey from Scrantoh, Pa., and still visibly suffering from the shock of the tragedy which brought her here, Mrs. H. J. Toussaint, wife of Henry J. Toussaint, charged by indictment with the murder of his father, O. H. Toussaint, on last Sunday night, arrived in Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon and went immediately to the jail where her husband has been confined since last Monday, when he was arrested following his confession that he shot his father.

Mrs. Toussaint spent about two hours with her husband, being accompanied to the jail by Toussaint's lawyers, C. C. McDonald and Luther Hoffman. She will remain here until after the trial, which was set for February 24, at the arraigning trial held Saturday morning in the Thirtieth district court.

Mrs. Toussaint is at the home of R. L. McDonald, 502 Austin. She has been away from Wichita Falls since last summer, according to statements made by her husband. On January, this year, Toussaint filed suit for divorce.

Rudolph Toussaint, younger brother of the accused man, is expected to arrive in the city the middle of the present week.

When arraigned before Judge Weldon of the Thirtieth district court Saturday morning, Toussaint entered a formal plea of "not guilty" to the charge of murder. His counsel, Attorneys McDonald and Hoffman made objection to the date, February 24, set for the trial.

A request for continuance, with possibly a change of venue, was indicated as the probable course of the defense, when the trial is called. Widespread publicity given the case, and the shortage of time are factors entering into the objections to the immediate trial.

That an insanity plea will be offered was indicated in the attorney's mention of witnesses to be brought from various parts of the country, associates of the defendant at various times since he was a small boy.

Records of the war department during the young man's service, first as an enlisted man, and later as a lieutenant in the engineer corps will probably also be called into the trial, it has been indicated.

VICE PRESIDENT MAY GET $3,000 BOOST IN SALARY

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The salary of Speaker Gillet of the house would be increased from $12,000 to $15,000 under an amendment to the annual federal salary bill adopted today by the senate. The amendment was offered by Senator Pomerene, democrat, Ohio, who also sponsored the amendment adopted yesterday to increase the vice-president's salary to the same sum. Both increases still have to be approved by the house.

SHIP OWNERS TO MEET IN ATLANTA

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Representatives of steamship owners from the North Atlantic, South Atlantic and gulf coasts will meet at Atlanta, Ga., Monday for a two-day rate conference, it was announced today by the shipping board.

Stabilization of ocean rates will be considered, board officials said, with the view of preventing discrimination between different ports. The board will be represented at the conference.

ROAD BUILDERS ASK REDUCTION ON GRAVEL RATE

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—The full strength of the American Road Builders Association will be put behind a demand to reduce immediately, freight rates on gravel; sand, cement, stone, brick and other materials used in road building when consigned to officials or contractors for actual use in such construction.

Resolutions calling on the interstate commerce commission to reduce the rates were adopted at the closing session of the association today.

ARKANSAS SOLONS TO PROBE THEFTS

By Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Feb. 12.—The house today passed a bill under which Speaker Joe Joiner appointed a commission of five members to investigate cases of theft and larceny in the house. Members declared that several articles of value have been stolen from their desks and that many copies of the new Crawford and Moses digest of the state have disappeared from desks and even lockers.

BOLD PIPE LINE TAPPING SCHEME UNCOVERED WITH ARREST OF SIX OPERATORS

Ten Indictments Returned, Charging Theft of Oil From Empire Storage Tanks.

One man is in the county jail in default of bond, five others have been released in $5,000 bail each pending trial, and the arrest of four others is expected momentarily on an indictment charging felony theft in connection with investigations by the grand jury into the theft early in December of 3,000 barrels of oil from the Empire Oil & Fuel company by tapping a pipe line from their storage tank in block 74 of the Northwest oil field.

O. E. Fuller, who is said to be a former employee of the Empire company, was arrested by operatives of the Pinkerton Detective agency at Los Angeles on Jan. 10. He has been held in jail following his return here on Jan. 25 by Texas Ranger M. T. Gonzaullas on extradition paper from the governor.

The five other men who perfected bonds of $5,000 each immediately after their arrest in the fields here early this month by Gonzaullas and Deputy Sheriff J. W. McCormick, are Adolph Michna, son of a well known local royalty owner, B. F. Beill and G. W. Husted, alleged brokers, Terry Baldborn, former deputy sheriff and proprietor of a rooming house at Newtown, and "Red" (C. A.) McDonald.

The remaining four men are charged in the same indictment but have not yet been taken into custody. Authorities say that they have fled the state but are confident that they will be apprehended in time for trial which is set for Wednesday.

Theft of the oil from the Empire tanks was first brought to the attention of the company through the offices of the Uniform Oil & Gas company, to whom it was reported from the field that the oil being delivered them under a contract just made was coming from the Empire's tanks.

Tap Discovered Early.

The local office at once communicated with the Empire office in Oklahoma, advising that Empire oil was being delivered into their field lines, and asking if payment was

MINERS ENTOMBED FOLLOWING BLAST

By Associated Press.

OAK CREEK, Colo., Feb. 12.—Four miners are trapped in the No. 2 mine of the Moffat Coal company, one and one-half miles from here as a result of an explosion late today. Rescuers with oxygen helmets entered the mine at 7:20 o'clock tonight.

Patrick St. Patrick, a fifth miner trapped by the explosion, was found wandering around in a stope in a dazed condition.

RIOT FOLLOWS ADDRESS MADE BY 'PACIFIST'

Cincinnati Police Reserves Called to Hall Where Editor Is Delivering Lecture.

By Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 12.—Turbulent scenes that necessitated the sending of a riot call to police headquarters marked the course of an address delievered here today by Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of "The Nation" and former editor of the New York Evening Post. The address was given under the auspices of the City club and the Woman's City Club.

During the week there had been many resignations from both clubs on the ground that Villard was an admitted pacifist and that he opposed the military draft as a means of bringing the World War to a successful conclusion. Prominent women who belonged to the Woman's City club, circulated petitions protesting against the Villard meeting and the use of several halls were denied the club.

Villard was in the midst of his address when about fifty men rushed up the stairs to the auditorium. A closed door containing a glass panel opened into an ante-room. The glass was broken and several of the invaders and defendaners who rushed to hold the door shut were slightly cut. The crowd poured into the ante-room and there was a wild melee. Women members of the club threw themselves against the main door to bar the invaders, who were yelling "Let's go," "We demand to hear this man." Blows were exchanged and a riot call was sent in. Villard stopped his address but continued when the police had cleared the place.

Herbert Seal, who denied that he was the leader of the attacking force, was charged with assault and battery by Attorney Guy Mallon, a member of the City club, but he was released on bond. Villard was escorted from the hall to an automobile by the police after the streets had been cleared for a block in each direction, and was said to have been taken to a suburban residence. He left later for Cleveland.

REMARK ON FIRE STARTS GENERAL CLASH AT BURK

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Feb. 12.—"Let the whole thing burn up!"

This angry remark, attributed to a discharged employe whose oil shack was burning down in the northeast part of Burkburnett near the Fowler addition Saturday morning, led to a free-for-all neighborhood fight while the flames lit the battle scene.

Occupants of nearby property resented the remark and began the fracas. Others joined in, some defending the brothers, others helping the attacking party.

The discharged employe and his brother lived in separate but adjoining shacks on the lease. The brother was helping the unlucky workman to remove his belongings when the fire took place. The gas had been left burning.

No casualties, other than bloody noses and black eyes, resulted.

LAST "JAYHAWKER" DIES IN OAKLAND

By Associated Press.

OAKLAND, Calif., Feb. 12.—L. D. Stephens, 96 years old, said to be the last member of the ill-fated "Jayhawker" expedition to California in 1849, died Thursday night, it became known today. The "Jayhawkers" were said to have gone 52 days virtually without food, and for some days without water.

DUSKY MINISTER BLAMES CYCLONE ON NEGRO DANCE

By Associated Press.

OCONNE, Ga., Feb. 12. — As many as six funerals at once were conducted here today when 29 negroes and one white boy, victims of last Thursday's tornado, were buried.

Dan Davis, a negro preacher, who, with his wife, escaped death in the storm, announced tonight that he would preach tomorrow on "Sin and Tornadoes."

There was a dance in the negro settlement the night before the storm, he said, and it was followed by a free-for-all fight and shooting affray.

Mrs. Vallance, Charged With Death of Young Farmer, Waives Preliminary Hearing.

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Tex., Feb. 12.—Mrs. Bernice Vallance, pretty widow, postmistress at Palaska, 12 miles southwest of here, who shot and killed Floyd Barnham, a farmer, 23 years of age, on the main street of Memphis Friday afternoon, following a few words between them, waived preliminary examination here today and was bound over to the grand jury under bond of $7,000, fixed by Judge Hoffman. The bond was signed by a score of Palaska and Memphis citizens late Saturday night.

Newspaper men were unable to obtain a statement from Mrs. Vallance, who having lapsed into a melancholy state declared she had nothing to say regarding the tragedy.

Conflicting reports as to the disposition of the dead man's body was finally settled by the announcement that Barnham would be buried at Memphis, Sunday at 10 a. m.

This is said to be the first killing in Memphis since March 1890.

Young Barnham had on his person at the time he was killed, a marriage license authorizing his marriage to Vera Johnson of Springlake, a small town near where he was living.

Both the young people have lived in Hall county several years. Mrs. Vallance came to this section of the state from some point farther east. Later her husband died, since which time she has resided with relatives and has had charge of the Palaska post office.

LYNCH NEGRO IN FLORIDA AFTER WOMAN ATTACKED

By Associated Press.

OCALA, Florida, Feb. 12.—A mob broke into the county jail here tonight and seized a negro who had been arrested earlier in the afternoon on the charge of attacking an aged white woman yesterday, and, taking him to the place, where the crime was committed, hanged him.

The mob overpowered jail officials as they opened the doors to admit the victim of the attack, who had been brought there to identify him. He was taken to her home, where she identified him as her assailant. He is said to have then confessed, and was taken away a short distance and lynched.

KU KLUX KLAN DENIES HOUSTON LAWYER STORY

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Feb. 12.—Sam Houston Chapter No. 1 of the Ku Klux Klan over its official seal tonight issued a denial that the Ku Klux Klan had anything to do with the running of B. I. Hobbs, attorney tarred and feathered in Houston a week ago, out of Alvin, Texas, this afternoon.

BANDITS ROB PAYMASTER IN PAWHUSKA

By Associated Press.

PAWHUSKA, Okla., Feb. 12.—Four masked men held up and robbed the paymaster of the Empire Construction Company here of $4,000 late today, according to the police. The robbery occurred at the plant while the working force was being paid, police said, and the men escaped in the direction of Tulsa, Okla., in a waiting automobile.

JURY DEADLOCKED IN MURDER TRIAL

By Associated Press.

LAWTON, Okla., Feb. 12.—The jury in the trial of Mrs. Dera Kortbaus, 24 years old, charged in the district court with the murder of her 8-year-old nephew, Clarence, appeared hopelessly deadlocked here tonight at 9 o'clock, after having been out since noon today.

PRODUCERS OPEN FIELD NEAR EMPIRE

Local Operators Show Active Interest in New Development Around Duncan.

Completion of two big producers, several miles from the discovery pool, marking the opening up of an entirely new pool of apparently considerable extent, has given a considerably accelerated impetus to operations around Duncan, in the Stephens county (Okla.) oil fields.

Both these new producers are at the new 2200 foot depth. There is one producer at that depth in the old Empire pool, where the discovery well of the Empire company was drilled in early last year.

Gaunt, Fagan and Dolman have a thousand barrel producer in section 32, 1n, 8w, another test just completed, the names of the operators not being known here at this time, has been completed in the same sand a mile and a half to the northwest, in section 25, 1n, 9w. The former test is six miles west of Duncan. The latter test is reported good for 2,000 barrels, the high gravity oil produced in Sephens county.

In the old Empire pool there is a producer in the 2200 foot sand, completed several days ago, the Daltos No. 1 in section 32, 1s, 8w, reported good for 1200 barrels. The No. 2 of this company in the same section is on this deeper sand, as is a test of the McMann Oil company in the discovery section of the pool, section 33, 1s, 8w. Dusters at this depth condemn territory between the Empire and the new pool, however.

Wichita Falls operators, who lead in the development of the Empire pool, are showing considerable evidence in the new strike, in spite of the fact that the shallower stuff in which the Empire discovery was made has proved rather streaked and treacherous.

Among local operators who have "close-in" stuff to the new producers is the Shamrock Oil company, which lead in the development of the original Empire pool.

TENANTS UNION DENIES SUPPORT OF NIGHTRIDERS

By Associated Press.

BRIDGEPORT, Ala., Feb. 12.—Officers of the Tenants' union issued a statement today denying any connection with the recent night riding when land owners were warned by men describing themselves as union members, not to rent property to non-union tenants. The statement attributed the demonstration to a "disreputable gang of outsiders."

It was the purpose of the riders to injure the union, the statement said, adding that its 9,000 members would assist the authorities in identifying the band. The demonstration was designed, it was said, to force better terms from landowners for tenants.

CABINET MINISTER APPOINTMENTS ARE GIVEN APPROVAL

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—King George today approved the appointment of Winston Spencer Churchill as secretary for the colonies; Sir Laming Worthington Evans as secretary for war; Lord Lee of Fareham as first lord of the admiralty, and Sir Arthur Griffith Boscawen as president of the board of agriculture.

The appointment followed the resignations from the cabinet of Lord Milner and Walter Hume Long as secretary for the colonies and first lord of the admiralty, respectively.

GAS-VEINED BURK BAD SITE TO BURY YOURSELF ALIVE IN

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Feb. 12. — A gas-veined country like Burkburnett is no place to bury yourself alive in, because the resurrection might never come true, even if you were hypnotized, Dr. J. M. F. Gill, city health officer, so ruled today.

A company of hypnotists buried a subject in the street here. Dr. Gill ordered the man exhumed, explaining that poisonous gas collects rapidly in holes in the ground under the oil city.

OKLAHOMA WOULD BAR CIGARETTES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 12.—A bill was introduced in the Oklahoma house today to make use of tobacco in any form by minors a misdemeanor, and prohibit the sale, advertisement, or distribution on cigarets within the state limits a felony.

pointment of Love on the committee caused a ruction. It was declared by some leaders that his activities since the election have been "pernicious" to party interests. White finally put Love on the committee, but Love declined the place and is said to have declared that he did so in order that he "would be free to fight."

The principal objection to Mr. Love's plan is that it creates a schism at a time when harmony is the thing most needed. It is cited that the Democratic party will relinquish the executive office on March 4 and its record before which it will ask for support in 1922 and 1924 must be made by Democrats in the senate and house.

Party Unity Vital.

The number of Democrats in the house after March 4 will be only 132, even if all the contests brought by Republicans against Democratic seats, are decided in favor of the Democrats. This is the smallest number of Democrats in any house in three decades. To make a creditable record they must stand together against any legislation which party caucuses decides is against the best interests of the country.

It is a matter of history that every top-heavy majority of any political party has led to a recklessness which brought punishment to the predominant party in the subsequent election.

Therefore, leaders say, any attempt to drive out any of the recognized leaders now would precipitate a row and divide the house forces to the detriment of organized democratic legislative action.

McAdoo Men Oppose Love.

The objection to Mr. Love's plan comes from men who supported McAdoo, from men who lined up with Cox, and from followers of Davis, Glass and other candidates. Some of the most earnest objectors have been McAdoo men, though Love is known as an out-and-out McAdoo man.

The general opinion expressed here this week might be emphasized as favoring "letting nature take its course." Leaders believe that the party must be organized from the bottom up at the demand of the men and women in the rank and file and not by any set of leaders.

Objection is also made to the apparently specific plan of the Love faction to make Robert W. Woolley of Virginia chairman of the national committee. Woolley did excellent work as director of publicity for the democratic national committee in 1916 and was rewarded with a place on the interstate commerce commission, from which he has recently retired.

Object to Dixie Chairmen.

Although recognizing the loyalty of the South to the democratic cause, there is serious objection among democrats anxious to rehabilitate the party and place it back in power to resume its brilliant record of eight years to any plan to go below the Mason and Dixon line for a national chairman.

As a cold matter of fact, if the democratic party ever is to regain its ascendancy, the votes to put it there must come from the North, East and West, leaders say. Therefore, a sound, progressive national chairman must be found somewhere outside of the old South.

Various names have been suggested, including Joseph P. Tumulty of New Jersey, Scott Ferris of Oklahoma and J. Bruce Kremer of Montana. The national chairman chosen, leaders say, must be progressive, and the more unacceptable he is to Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall and George Brennan of Illinois the better it will be for the party. There is also a strong feeling that Wilbur W. Marsh, the national treasurer, should retire.

Some Endorse White.

There are a number of democrats who believe White himself should continue at the head of the committee. They say that he is progressive, was the recognized dry leader in Ohio, has been a consistent opponent of machine politics, and is altogether a man of highest character.

These men say that White was put on the job as national chairman in the middle of August and his efforts had to go mainly to getting enough money to keep the national headquarters at New York open and that he never really had a chance to show whether or not he is an administrator.

Another school believes that while White is not temperamentally fitted for the chairmanship in a presidential election he should retain his place until after the congressional elections of 1922. By that time two years' of republican rule will be in the background, issues will be made and the choice of a national chairman can be made with more precision.

Mention McAdoo, Cox.

There are many prominent democrats here who believe William G. McAdoo is the logical man to lead the party in 1924. There are others who think James M. Cox should have another chance. But all of them admit that whether one of these men or some other man yet unthought of is to be the party standard-bearer in 1924 is something that presidential primaries and solemn state conventions must decide.

Governor Cox and former Secretary McAdoo themselves are said to adhere to this belief. Governor Cox on his recent visit here made it plain that he is more interested in party success than in his own personal fortunes. If the party convention in 1924 thinks that he would be the strongest candidate and offers him the nomination, he, of course, would accept. But Governor Cox knows there is little resentment in making a single-handed campaign such as he made last year and would not care to repeat that performance.

Mr. McAdoo has pointed out that business of the national committee is organization, not policies, Friends of McAdaa say he will do little to aid any attempt to nominate him for president in 1924. Any movement for him must come from the men and women in the ranks.

Deny McAdoo Builds Ring.

These friends of McAdoo deny the cruel statements made since Love started the reorganization fight that it is really the plan of McAdoo himself to build up an organization which will promote McAdoo's interests rather than the general interest of the party. These charges against Mr. McAdoo are one of the most unfortunate features of the reorganization movement.

Equally unfortunate is the story going the rounds that Cox, Palmer and others have formed an anti-McAdoo combine. As a matter of fact Palmer has little party strength. His delegates at San Francisco were largely beneficiaries of Palmer patronage. His strength dissipated when Palmer withdrew on the last hectic night of the San Francisco convention.

Mr. McAdoo is now in Mexico. Governor Cox is soon to depart for Europe to study world problems. William Jennings Bryan is in Florida, but Bryan is not taken into consideration in any of the talk heard here on democratic plans. The peerless one may still, and probably emphatically does consider himself a democrat, but in party calculation he is now considered one of the Harding "best minds."

Thursday is only five days away and then Chairman White's executive committee will meet here with the promise that a lively time for all will be held when the Love proposal for a meeting at St. Louis on March 1 is taken up.

HOG ISLAND SHIPYARD, WAR PRODUCT, TURNED OVER TO BOARD

M. C. Brush presenting key to shipyard to Fred Morris, and birds-eye view of the $66,000,000 plant, with its shipways and docks.

The world's greatest shipyard, and the most glaring example of waste growing out of the war, Hog Island, has been turned over to the United States shipping board by the American International Shipping Corporation. The plant is valued at $66,000,000. About 122 steel ships of 956,750 deadweight tons were turned out of the plant in three years. The transferring of the yard to control of the shipping board was attended by elaborate ceremonies.

M. C. Brush, president of the American International Shipbuilding Corporation, presented Fred Morris, authorized representative of the shipping board, with an immense "key" to the yard. The key itself was a mammoth affair, symbolic of the work done by the shipyard. Employes of the yard, government officials and leading figures in the shipbuilding world attended the ceremonies.

The land acquired for the great shipyard was mainly idle land on the edge of the river and filling in of sections of the lower part of the land was the first engineering problem met. The yard was not in full operation in time to give the country the maximum benefit before the war ended.

NEW FIELD FOR WAR PROBE IS ADDED TO FOLD

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—A resolution which is expected to shift congressional investigation of the conduct of the war into a new field was introduced today by Representative Flood, democrat, Virginia, a member of the general investigating body.

The resolution called upon Secretary Baker for all facts connected with the application of J. M. Hill and C. C. Lindsey, "for permission to inspect the secret archives of the war department and the refusal of the department to grant such permission."

Hill and Lindsey were employed by an investigator who was employed by the Johnson sub-committee, the chairman explained tonight.

A voucher for $2,400 for their work, made out in the name of their employer, is held by Chairman Ireland of the house committee on accounts and has not been paid.

The names of Hill and Lindsey were brought before the general investigating committee, of which Representative Graham of Illinois is chairman, last June. At that time, Mr. Flood, in denying charges by republican members that the war department's attitude was unfavorable to the investigation, declared the only refusal was in the case of Hill and Lindsey, who were seeking certain secret records containing the settlement of contracts.

This action, Mr. Flood charged, was taken after the department authorities had found that the real purpose of Hill and Lindsey was to obtain money from a newspaper for information supposed to be on file among government records, "in the event they were unable to obtain a large sum through blackmail."

Mr. Flood announced that his resolution, being privileged, would be called up from the floor in the absence of a prompt report from the military affairs committee, to which it was referred.

Chairman Ireland of the committee of accounts this week criticized the expenditure of large sums by investigation committees, declaring he had seen "no real application of concrete results" from the war investigations, and that his committee undoubtedly would have disapproved many of the contracts had it known about them.

In his statement to the committee today to explain the reason for the resolution, Mr. Flood said that Hill and Lindsey went to the war department with a letter from Samuel T. Ansell, former acting judge advocate general of the army, counsel for the Johnson sub-committee.

Landis Silent on Senator's Threat To Impeach Judge

By Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Feb. 12.—Federal Judge K. M. Landis of Chicago declined to make any statement tonight regarding reports reaching here that Senator Dial of South Carolina would bring impeachment proceedings against him if he could obtain confirmation of statements credited in the press to Judge Landis in the case of Francis J. Carri, a bank clerk, charged with embezzlement.

Judge Landis was here to speak at a mass meeting of the Iowa American Legion. Judge Landis had heard nothing of Senator Dial's intention until reports reaching here were shown him upon his arrival.

REVENUE MEN SEIZE OPIUM FROM STEAMER

By Associated Press.

FORT ARTHUR, Tex., Feb. 12.—Custom officials today confiscated eight pounds of opium and 10 cases of liquor on the Dutch steamer Iris, which arrived in port from London yesterday. The opium, officers said, was claimed by the Chinese members of the crew. No attempt was made to smuggle the contraband from the ship.

to be made to parties making delivery.

The Empire office requested that payment be withheld until an investigation could be made—an investigation which resulted in the arrests made, including the men acting as "brokers" in making a 10,000 barrel contract with the Uniform.

The discovery of the connection was made by a field man for the Interocean Oil and Refining company, whose gathering line was used in common with the Uniform.

The tap was discovered at practically the same time by a gauger for the Empire, who had gauged one of the tanks around 1,000 barrels short on each of two successive gauges.

Immediately after the tap was discovered, the valves were closed by the Uniform and no runs made until the lines had been disconnected. In all, around 25,000 barrels were delivered. Subsequently, it was learned from an official of the Uniform, a bill with a bill of sale attached was presented for a portion of the oil.

The original contract by the company with the brokers carried the usual provision for a division order or bill of sale to be delivered on payment for the oil. The contract called for 10,000 barrels of oil at $3.10.

T. W. Shannon, chief special agent for the Empire, and his assistant, W. R. Johnson, were active in the investigation which followed discovery of the tap.

May Give Evidence.

Rumors that one of the men now under arrest has expressed the intention of turning states evidence were neither denied or affirmed by the district attorney and his staff Saturday.

Fuller's case, which is set separately, has been announced for trial Wednesday. The other nine men, all charged in the same indictment, will be tried together unless a severance is requested and granted. Their case has also been set for Wednesday.

The whole case was laid before the Thirtieth district grand jury when it convened at the opening of court on Jan. 3. The indictments were returned in their first report but have been kept secret pending arrest of the 10 men involved.

A corps of legal talent is said to have been employed by the accused men to fight the case.

O'CALLAGHAN AWAITS ORDER ON EXPULSION

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—No order has been issued for the deportation of Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork and he will not be deported, Michael F. Doyle of his counsel, said tonight after a conference late today with Secretary of Labor Wilson. For O'Callaghan to go back at this time, he added, would mean giving himself into the hands of his enemies and his legal status and rights will be defended to the utmost to maintain for him freedom to return to Ireland at "his own convenience."

One thing at least has been established by congressional investigation—General Charles G. Dawes, while professing no radical views, is an earnest advocate of free speech.—Philadelphia North American.

EMPLOYES BONUS STRICKEN FROM APPROPRIATION

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The provision in the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill continuing the present annual bonus of $240 to virtually all government employes was stricken from the bill today on a point of order by Senator Curtis, republican, Kansas, after a hot fight over extending the bonus to employes of government naval yards and arsenals.

Senator Curtis announced, however, he would consent next week to restoration of the general bonus item if navy yard and arsenal employes are not included.

Troop 7 Wins Scout Contest; Camp Downtown

Troop 7 took first place in the field meet held Saturday by the boy scouts at the corner of Ninth and Indiana streets, the winners in the inter troop contests lead with 52½ points. Troop 1 was second with 42½ points. Troop 4 took third place.

In the individual contests George Bolin, sending and Edgar Ellis, receiving, took first place in the wig-wag signalling contest, sending 15 letters in 37 seconds. In the semaphore contest troop 7 won, sending and receiving 34 letters in one minute.

The track meet Saturday was the best all around athletic event that has been held in the history of the local scout organization, according to Scout Executive Taylor. More events were held and more scouts took part than in any previous meets that have been held.

In handling field day events Scout Executive Taylor was aided by Scout Master E. C. Huckabee, J. Chester Powell and George Waldrup. Several local residents acted as judges in the various events.

The scouts formed at the corner of Lamar and Tenth streets at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and marched through the downtown district. After the march the flag raising ceremony was held at the corner of Ninth and Indiana streets, where all field events were held during the remainder of the morning and the afternoon.

In the knot board contest first place was awarded to troop 7, second place to troop 3 and third place to troop 2. In the wall scaling contest first place was also won by troop 7 with troop 1 taking second place. Fire building, tug-of-war, wrestling and rooster fighting were among the other contests in which the various troops engaged.

ADDED ACTION TAKEN TO STOP TYPHUS SPREAD

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Strict enforcement of precautionary measures providing for periodical fumigation of ships conveying immigrants to this port was a development today in the fight being waged by federal and municipal authorities to prevent the spread of typhus in this country.

The regulations prescribe vessels transporting immigrants must be fumigated after each voyage when sailing from the following foreign ports:

All ports in Asia including the Straits Settlements, Japan, the Philippine islands and the Malay archipelago.

All ports in South America excepting vessels from Dutch, French and British Guinea.

Ships plying between New York and the following ports on the Gulf of Mexico: Vera Cruz, Tampico, New Orleans, Pensacola, Galveston, Beaumont, Sabine, Orange, Neches and Port Arthur.

Vessels from all ports in Mexico, except Vera Cruz and Tampico, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Colombia must be fumigated once every four months.

All ships, irrespective of these regulations, must be fumigated once every six months for the destruction of rats.

The thirty-four cases of typhus discovered by authorities have been isolated on Hoffman island, where they are being treated. One of the patients is not expected to recover.

Six immigrants suffering with measles, who arrived on the liner Adriatic today are being detained by the federal authorities.

Local immigration authorities were advised today by telegram from the federal commissioner of immigration at Washington to proceed with their admission of aliens in this country in the customary manner, leaving the municipal authorities the responsibility for such steps as they may see fit to take after the immigrants have left the federal stations.

Injuries Fatal To Electra Man

Struck by a broken mast pole used in pulling casing at a well of the Magnolia Petroleum Company on a lease near Electra Saturday morning, J. H. Talley of that city, died at a local hospital Saturday evening as a result of his injuries. Attending physicians here stated that Talley's back was broken when he was struck by the broken pole.

No other employes of the company several of whom were near the hole were injured in the accident. The accident occurred at 10 a. m., Talley was brought to a local hospital on the Fort Worth and Denver train in the afternoon. He died at the hospital at 5 p. m

Mr. Talley was 28 years old and has been employed by the Magnolia Company for some time. The body will be shipped today to Electra for burial by the Merkle and Lunn Undertaking Company. He is survived by his wife and two children who were here at the time of his death.

FEBRUARY 22 PROCLAIMED KILLING DAY

A proclamation has been issued by Mayor Pro Tem W. S. Curiee designating February 22 as official "Clean Up and Rat Extermination Day" which date will mark the beginning of a concerted campaign to improve the sanitary conditions in this city. Added to this statements have been made by Fire Chief McClure, A. H. Douglas, director of health department, Chief of Police Lee Huff and M. M. Walker, city health officer emphasizing the importance of making a thorough clean-up campaign at this time. Lessening of the rat menace by destroying the sources of food and protection and incidentally improving sanitary and fire hazard conditions in general are recommended by these officials.

The mayor's proclamation follows:

"Whereas, The local rat population has assumed such proportions that it promises to become a menace from a public health and economic standpoint; and,

"Whereas, The state-wide movement on rat eradication demands concerted action of our community in this work for its own protection, I therefore proclaim Tuesday, February 22, 1921, the official day for starting the actual rat extermination work in the local 'clean-up and rat extermination campaign.'"

The general disposal of trash and rubbish by the public will materially reduce the fire hazard and will probably lower fire insurance rates. State insurance inspectors are now making a survey of this city for the purpose of establishing our rates, and a thorough clean-up will convey a most favorable impression, Fire Chief McClure said.

There will be immediately instituted, in connection with the local "clean-up and rat extermination campaign" a rigid enforcement of city ordinances by the health and police departments prohibiting the maintenance of those nuisances which offer food and harbor for rats.

All waste, trash or rubbish must be disposed of, garbage kept in metal cans, lumber and kindling placed on racks about two feet above ground, according to Health Director Douglas.

Belated Gift Given 'Copper' By Uncle Sam

The postman Saturday added two necktiés and a silk handkerchief to the wardrobe of Joseph Bailey Lowry, former service man and policeman.

It took Uncle Sam two years to deliver them, but Lowry says he will wear the necktiés in spite of the changing styles.

The haberdashery was sent to Lowry by his mother two years ago while he was still in the navy at San Francisco. Nothing was heard of the package until a week ago when he received notice that the package was being held in the postoffice at San Francisco.

When it arrived the package showed that it has chased the former gob all over the United States. Lowry changed naval stations so often that apparently the mail service was never able to catch up with him. Lowry has been out of the service over a year.

ITALIAN TYPHUS SHIPS EXAMINED BY U. S. MEDICOS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Further instructions have been sent American consuls in Italy by the state department, assistant Secretary La Porte, in charge of public health service, announced tonight, to withhold issuance of bills of health to all vessels leaving for this country unless they have absolutely conformed to American quarantine regulations against the spread of typhus.

By requiring passengers leaving Italy to pass American medical inspection, Mr. La Porte said, it was believed the public health service would have the typhus situation under complete control.

THIEVES STEAL SAFE FULL OF CASH AND BONDS

TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 12.—Thieves broke into the Bank of Temperance, Temperance, Mich., about 20 miles north of here, today, loaded a heavy safe containing $11,000 in cash and liberty bonds into the truck and escaped.

F. L. Wallace, president of the bank, said the safe was equipped with a three-day time lock and that it could not be opened through the combination until Monday morning.

Death Claims Noted Prelate In Knoxville

By Associated Press.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 12.—The Right Reverend John P. Farelly, bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Cleveland, Ohio, who was taken ill while celebrating mass here last Sunday morning, died this afternoon at the residence of Alexander Bonnyman.

The first indication of illness was a slight cold, which rapidly developed into pneumonia, and resulted on Friday in a heart affection. Several local physicians were called into consultation with Dr. Merrie of Cleveland, the bishop's personal physician.

Last rites of the church were administered this afternoon by William A. Schullen, chancellor of the Cleveland diocese, and by Rev. Francis Grady of the church of Immaculate Conception, Knoxville. The body will be taken to Cleveland tomorrow. Funeral services will be held there Thursday.

ARMY AVIATORS FAIL TO FIND MISSING FLYER

By Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 12.—After "fanning out" 500 miles of what aviators describe as the worst terrain in Texas, between El Paso and San Antonio 40 patrol machines landed tonight in their respective border aviation fields without having found any trace of Lieut. Alexander Pearson Jr., army flier, who has been lost since last Thursday at 10 o'clock in the morning when he took the air for San Antonio. The aviator was going over the route he was scheduled to take in an attempted 24-hour flight from Pablo Beach, Fla., to San Diego, Calif., on Washington's birthday anniversary.

The search for the missing aviator will be resumed Sunday morning, every available machine at San Antonio and El Paso and border patrol points joining in the search.

May Be on Ranch.

Belief that Lieutenant Pearson fell north of the Southern Pacific railroad on one of the large ranches which abound in the western part of the state, was expressed here tonight by Maj. H. C. Pratt, air service officer of the Eighth corps area.

The theory that the missing aviator became lost and flew across the Rio Grande or into the Big Bend district was scouted by Major Pratt.

Declaring that Pearson is an experienced flier who thoroughly understands the border country, Major Pratt said it is hardly probable that the flier crossed the Rio Grande. The weather on Thursday, the day Pearson became lost, it is pointed out, was remarkably clear over the western part of the state.

During the day two reports on the missing aviator were received at the air service office. One that a machine was seen flying over the little town of Saragosa in Reeves county, and the other that an aviator was seen over a ranch 20 miles west of Sanderson, in Terrell county, at 2:30 Thursday afternoon, four and a half hours after Lieutenant Pearson left El Paso for San Antonio. The machine which was seen over the former place is unaccounted for by border patrols. It has not yet been determined by air service officers here whether the flier over Sanderson was one of the regular border scouts or that of the missing aviator.

On Final Trip.

Lieutenant Pearson was flying in the airplane in which he expected to make a record-breaking flight from Pablo Beach, Fla., to San Diego, Calif., Feb. 22. He proposed to make the trip across the continent in less than 24 hours with only two stops, at Houston and El Paso, Tex.

The only changes in the construction of his plane were to be the addition of extra capacity gasoline and oil tanks, carrying sufficient quantity to make the entire trip from coast to coast in three hops, thus losing little time in stops for supplies. The plane was a De Haviland 4-B, equipped with a Liberty motor of 400 horsepower. He was going over the route on his way to Pablo Beach to begin the flight on Washington's birthday anniversary.

NEFF APPOINTS W. L. HARDING TO DISTRICT BENCH

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Feb. 12.—Governor Neff today announced the appointment of W. L. Harding of Waxahachie as district judge of the 40th judicial district to succeed Judge F. L. Hawkins who was recently appointed a member of the court of criminal appeals. Judge Hawkins succeeded the late Judge W. L. Davidson.

SAYS FIRST LITTLE KAR LACKED PARTS

Special to The Record News.

DALLAS, Feb. 12.—C. H. Peters, consulting engineer of Cleveland, Ohio, today took the stand for the state in the Little Motor Kar Company case. Peters declared that the first car produced by the company was a crude affair and that many of the parts were made in a blacksmith shop. He claimed that important parts had been left off and that the car was a poor one.

On cross-examination he admitted that the car was serviceable and that in experimental assembling, frequent changes probably would be made before the car was finally approved.

TEXAS SOLONS TRY SPEEDING LEGISLATION

By the Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 12.—For the first time since the legislature convened, both the senate and the house convened in regular session on the last day in the week. However, both branches adjourned at noon until Monday. Members said this was caused by the desire of the leaders of both branches to speed up the disposal of the business now pending before both branches.

The senate joint resolution by Senator Darwin of Paris proposing an amendment to the constitution increasing the salaries of the legislators to $10 per day for the first eighty days of the session and $5 per day thereafter, was passed to engrossement in the senate. The present pay of the legislators is $5 per day for the first sixty days and $2 per day thereafter.

The bill by Senator Dudley of El Paso proposing to increase the allowances for traveling expenses of district judges and district attorneys to $4 per day for hotel bills, 4 cents per mile for traveling on railroads and 15 cents per mile when traveling in private conveyances, was engrossed in the senate. Senator Darwin's bill providing for sanitary regulations for barber shops and beauty parlors and requiring all instruments used in these places to be sterilized was also engrossed.

Governor Neff recommended in a message to the legislature the discontinuance of the Texas state railroad which runs from Rusk to Palestine, a distance of thirty-four miles. He pointed out that in the thirteen years the road had been operated it had continually thrown the state deeper into debt. He recommended that the penitentiary commission or a committee of three business men be authorized, by proper legislation, to either lease or sell the road and all of its equipment.

Very little business was disposed of in the house. The bill by Cofsee of Wise proposing a 3 per cent tax on gross production of oil was up for consideration and after debating it all morning, it was finally laid on the table, subject to call. Several amendments were offered, but none of them finally acted upon.

Another minimum wage bill was introduced in the house by Teer of Williams and was reported favorably by the committee on labor. Two other minimum wage measures are now pending in the house and set for special order next Tuesday morning.

CLOAKROOM GOSSIPS ON WURZBACH

BY B. N. TIMMONS,
Washington Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Representative-elect Harry M. Wurzbach of Seguin will be one of the "curiosities" of the house that the capitol guides will point out to the folk from the states after March 4. As a reppublican congressman from Texas he was a "curiosity" even to such veterans as "Uncle Joe" Cannon.

When Wurzbach visited Washington recently a group of curious congressmen surrounded him the moment he entered the house chamber. They all wanted to know "how he did it." None of them had ever seen a republican from Texas before, and even "Uncle Joe" remarked that he wanted to take a good look at him as he had not "seen one of his species for twenty years."

Since that time much of the cloakroom gossip has centered about Wurzbach. Many members hailed him as the first republican ever elected from the Lone Star state until "Uncle Joe" searched his congressional memory that dates from the Forty-third congress. "Uncle Joe" told the "boys" that George A. C. Noonan of San Antonio was elected in 1894 to the Fifty-fourth congress as a republican, and R. B. Hawley of Galveston was elected in 1896 and reelected in 1898.

Uncle Joe Tells Yarn.

Then someone mentioned Colonel Tom Ochiltree's name. Colonel Tom was long one of the characters of Washington. Everyone wanted to know how it came that he, an ex-Confederate soldier of democratic antecedents, and living in a rock-ribbed democratic state, should have affiliated with the republicans. "Uncle Joe" then told the old cloakroom yarn of how Tom Ochiltree "turned republican."

It seems that the colonel one day, somewhat in a spirit of mischief, started a political argument with a young democrat. He pressed the young man's confident assertions so closely that finally, nettled and discomfited, he said, "Colonel Tom, why are you not an avowed republican? You state that side of the case more strongly than the republicans themselves and you have talked me to a standstill. It can't be a lack of nerve, for you are a dead game man. What's the answer?"

It was then the colonel's turn to be nettled and discomfited, and when alone later he communed with himself. What was the answer? He was fond of politics read a great deal on the subject and when visiting New York or Washington had been thrown socially with prominent republicans. Had he unconsciously been absorbing republican doctrines until he could talk like a republican?

Colonel Confesses.

The suggestion intrigued it. He puzzled over it long. At last he decided that his political views had undergone a change, and he decided to confess it. Although he failed to talk his young friend out of the democratic party, he talked himself into the republican party.

At least that's "Uncle Joe's" story of how it happened.

Although there have been four republican representatives from Texas, their congressional existence has been ephemeral. Charming and picturesque character that he was, Colonel Tom Ochiltree only stayed in congress one term from the Galveston district. However, the state of Texas honored him by naming a county after him in "no man's land" at the tip of the Panhandle.

Musicians to Appear Before Wichita Club

A musical program will be rendered by the recently organized Musicians club symphony orchestra next Wednesday at the regular weekly luncheon of the Wichita club in the club rooms, according to an announcement made Saturday by club members. The orchestra, which is being directed and trained by Ernest Katz, will hold its first public concert in about a week, according to present plans. A practice concert will be given by the orchestra Sunday afternoon in the Wichita club rooms.

The following recent additions to the orchestra from the local professional musicians was announced Saturday by Director Katz: Mr. McCord, flute; Mr. Eberton, viola; Mr. Lickey, cello; Leon Taylor, trumpet.

Will Petition Congress for Relief Ships

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Congress will be asked to enact special legislation authorizing the shipping board to employe vessels to haul to China grain donated by American farmers for the relief of the starving in that country and giving the navy department permission to pay the necessary expenses of volunteer naval reserves to form crews for the vessels, it was announced today after a conference between Secretary Daniels and Chairman Benson of the shipping board.

The decision was reached after a committee, headed by Carl Vrooman former assistant secretary of agriculture, has said that the grain already had been given by farmers in the west and that members of the railroad brotherhood stood ready to haul it to the coast without charge for their services.

Chairman Benson agreed to ascertain at once what ships are available for the purpose on the Pacific coast. He will meet again with Secretary Daniels Monday to draft the proposed legislation.

HUNS AMAZED AT SHIPPING BOARD SPEED

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Both the allies and the Germans were astounded at the rapidity with which the shipping board constructed ships after the United States entered the war, the house committee investigating the boards operations, was informed today by E. N. Hurley of Chicago, who was chairman of the board from July, 1917 to the summer of 1919.

High government officials in England, France and Italy told him during a visit to Europe after the armistice, Mr. Hurley said, that they were highly pleased at the achievements of the board, which, he said, built ships faster than those countries had thought possible. He leared also, he said, that the Germans, too, had been amazed at the board's construction program.

The former chairman discussed the favorable comment he had heard abroad after touching in a general way on criticisms directed at the board in this country. Admitting that mistakes had been made, Mr. Hurley said that was inevitable since it was necessary to create a mammoth organization in a short time.

"We delivered the ships," he declared. "That's what we were supposed to do."

Mr. Hurley paid tribute to the men associated with him, especially Charles M. Schwab, who, he said, had been drafted to take charge of construction when satisfactory progress was not being made. At the peace conference, Mr. Hurley continued, Clemenceau told him that the appointment of Mr. Schwab had frightened the Germans, heartened the French and enthused the British.

"I know that his appointment," he added, "inspired the American people to get behind the shipbuilding program."

He expressed optimism over the future of the American merchant marine, but said that too many ships might prove a liability in case sufficient cargoes could not be obtained for them.

Junking of the government's fleet of wooden ships was favored by Mr. Hurley, who said the vessels were no longer of any use or practical value.

FORDNEY BILL GOES TO DEBATING PLACE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Fordney emergency tariff bill was placed in parliamentary position by the senate tonight for resumption of debate on Monday and leaders in charge announced that they expected its final disposition by Wednesday.

There was no arrangement or understanding regarding a final vote but those in charge said that they hoped to have the bill disposed of in time for resumption of work on appropriation bills next Thursday.

Jap Statesman Much Opposed To Disarming

By Associated Press.

TOKIO, Feb. 12.—Commenting on the recent defeat in the house of representatives of the resolution of Yukio Ozaki, proposing curtailment of naval armaments, Viscount Kato, leader of the opposition, said today that no practical statesman dare propose restriction of the defense scheme that meets the minimum naval requirements of the empire. The kensei kai, or opposition party, he said, considered the eight battleships and eight cruiser program vital to the country's defense.

Ozaki's proposal that Japan take the initiative lost value, according to Viscount Kato, because Japan was not in a position to take the initiative. The vote shows that sixty-six members of the kensei kai refused to vote for or against the Ozaki measure. The government seiyu kai solidly opposed it, chiefly out of a desire to preserve the unity of the party, according to parliamentary writers, who claim the party whips forced the members of parliament to defeat what many individually believed would be a good thing for the country and the world at large. One writer declares that many believe Ozaki will be a Moses leading the progressive elements out of their political bondage and amalgamating them in an important party.

COMMERCE CHAMBER RESTORES TRAFFIC ON TENTH STREET

Quick work by the Chamber of Commerce officials Friday afternoon, through co-operation with the city engineer's department restored the communication of the Scott and Tenth street merchants via the Tenth and Scott crossing through removal of the barriers which were placed there during the two weeks remaining during which it is required to be protected of the traffic.

The contract for the placing of the temporary covering was let Friday afternoon and the barrier removed Saturday. The Chamber of Commerce underwrote the expense, which is to be prorated later among the various business houses benefiting.

BOX PLANNING NEW BILL FOR IMMIGRATION

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Although Representative Box of Texas believed today that hope of restrictive immigration legislation at this session has passed, he is active in drafting a new plan for restriction to be taken up early in the special session in April.

With but 17 legislative days left in the dying congress, Box said there was little chance of enacting into law the measure that he has taken a leading part in formulating during the past two years to safeguard citizens of this country from the flood of alien undesirables. Box is one of the stricted of restrictionists in congress and the death of the one-year restrictive bill, which passed the house by the decisive vote of 205 to 41, in the senate committee, is a keen disappointment to him.

With the measure going over to the next session, and with changes in the committees in both senate and house, it is probable that hearings will again be held reopening all the old questions. This would mean that the question of admitting Mexicans ostensibly for farm work without head tax or literacy test would have to again be considered.

This, of course, would mean that delegations will again come here from Texas to discuss pro and con the desirability of admitting this class of immigrants. The subject is one which has divided the Texas congressional delegation, Congressman Hudspeth and Mansfield favoring admission and most of the rest opposing it. Congressman Box has been the most outspoken opponent.

The present attitude of the senate committee indicate the battle over immigration that will reopen with the special session. The senate committee does not feel convinced that there is such an emergency as will require such drastic legislation as the house measure. They do believe that more effective immigration legislation must be put on the statute books and it is probable that an amended bill will be reported to the senate before the close of the session. However, there is no liklihood of its passage.

Senator Colt of Rhode Island chairman of the senate immigration committee, is not a restrictionist. Senators King of Utah, Hiram Johnson of California and Pat Harrison of Mississippi are the only members who are inclined to be for rigid restriction.

There will be three or more changes in the membership in the new congress and this may change the complexion of the committee.

There will be at least three changes on the house committee. Some of the good men who will remain on the committee are Representatixe Box, Wilson of oLuisiana, White of Kansas, Kletzka of Wisconsin and Waile of Colorado. Representatives Siegel of New York and Sabbath of Illinois are always in the minority in opposing restrictions on immigration and the latter also has a contest on for his seat.

DIRECTOR OF WAR RISK BUREAU WILL RESIGN POSITION

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Colonel R. G. Chomely-Jones, director of the war risk insurance bureau, will tender his resignation as soon as the new secretary of the treasury takes office. Mr. Jones said he hoped to be able to return to his home in New York soon.

The change in administration, he added, had no connection with his decision to resign. Mr. Jones was appointed to the post in May, 1919.

INDICTED "SOX" FIGHTING TO CLEAR THEIR NAMES

DENY CHARGES OF CONSPIRACY TO TOSS GAME

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Attorneys representing Chicago American league baseball players indicted in connection with the alleged throwing of the 1919 world series today opened their fight to exonerate the men by announcing that a demand would be made before County Judge William E. Dever Monday for a bill of particulars in the case.

Notification of the contemplated action was accompanied by affidavits from Claude Williams, Joe Jackson and Buck Weaver denying that they had entered into any conspiracy to throw the series. Jackson and Williams denied that they had confessed to a conspiracy when they testified before the baseball grand jury, but did not repudiate announcement made at the time of the indictments that they had accepted money to throw games.

The action of the defense was not taken by state officials to mean that Jackson and Williams would repudiate their grand jury testimony when brought to trial, but attorneys representing the plaeyrs refused to deny or assert that this might be done.

Will Fight to Finish.

"We expect to fight from beginning to end and take advantage of every legal process and technicality," said Benedict Short, representing the two players. "Whether the alleged confessions will be repudiated, ignored or defamed when the trial begins cannot be said now."

Announcement of the action taken by the defense brought a statement from Judge Charles McDonald, who brought the world series case before the grand jury, that if Jackson, Williams or Eddie Cicotte repudiated any part of their grand jury testimoney, immediate steps would be taken to prosecute them for perjury.

"These men had better proceed very carefully," said Judge McDonald, "for they may jump from the frying pan into the fire. They face possible maximum penalties of five years in the penitentiary at present, if they are found guilty. But a perjury charge might make it much harder for them."

George E. Gorman, assistant state's attorney, who has charge of the prosecution, said the state would "simply sit tight" as its case was complete.

Some Counts Denied.

"The men were indicted on several counts," he said. "They deny only that they entered into a conspiracy while we can prove without question that they did. But even if they did not actually throw games, the receiving of the bribe was crime enough."

The defense petition asks that the state be compelled to furnish the defense with a bill of particulars of the following:

What control and supervision, if any, the White Sox club owners had over the players after the expiration of their contracts for the playing season, September 28, 1919.

When and where and in what manner did William Burns and Hal Chase, former major league players, charged with helping engineer the alleged throwing of the series, and Rachel Brown, Sport Sullivan and Abe Attell conspire with the petitioners to destroy the business and reputation of the White Sox club.

What bribe was offered and given and by whom and to whom and when, where and how was such bribe offered and given and by whom was it accepted and received.

Players Ask "Where?"

When, where and in what manners the petitioners did not execute plays with their best skill and ability and in what known and in what particular plans of each game did the petitioners not play with their best skill and ability.

How games alleged to have been thrown could have been won by the players under indictment.

Claude Williams, before going to the grand jury to testify, issued a sworn statement that he received $10,000 to help throw the series and that he gave Jackson $5,000. He said arrangements were made to throw the series in a conference between himself, Jackson, Weaver, Risberg, Felsch, Gandil, Cicotte and McMullin and two gamblers named Brown and Sullivan in a South side hotel previous to the series. His affidavit today said he did not know whether the Brown and Sullivan at this conference were the Brown and Sullivan indicted and that he did not know N. K. Nims, mentioned in the indictments as a victim of the alleged conspiracy. The other affidavits were similar to his.

Yachts Prepare To Defend Cup On Challenges

BOSTON, Feb. 12.—Defence of the American cup against the next foreign challenger has already begun, it was announced today. Forward looking yachting interests have gone farther to anticipate another international effort to lift the cup than at any time in the past.

Two model yacats unequaled in size by any working models known were the medium of tests, the results of which will probably be reflected in the next cup races. The models were matched against each other under all kinds of wind and weather in the isolated waters of Cape Cod Bay off Provincetown, in a series of races that extended through several months of the fall and early winter.

The models have been shipped to the New York Yacht club for safekeeping and exhibition and the data is held by W. Starling Burgess, the naval architect and builder who designed the boats and supervised their sailings. He says the lessons learned in the tests will be held against the time that America's possession of the famous cup is again challenged. The models were nine feet long; masts stood 15 feet high, and the boats were built with other dimensions proportionate to the America's cup specifications. In length they are approximately one-tenth the size of the Resolute. The models cost $3,000 each to build. They weighted between 200 and 300 pounds each.

Ex-Indian Post To House First San Angelo Club

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Feb. 12.—League baseball will have its first tryout here when the West Texas League opens April 20, with this city represented. The Eastland franchise players and equipment have been purchased for $3,250 and a contract is now being closed for the remodeling of the Fort Concho Park, within the shadows of old Fort Concho, a post maintained by the government in the '70s and '80s mainly for the protection of the settlers from the Indians.

Other clubs in the Class "D" circuit will be Sweetwater, Abilene, Ranger, Cisco and Mineral Wells. A schedule of 144 games will be arranged at a meeting in Cisco, Sunday, February 13. Lake Robinson, a former Galveston Sandcrab and later a manager in the old Central Texas League and a pennant winner for Abilene last year. Robinson has been in baseball for the past 15 years.

title went to Miss Gladys Robinson of Toronto.

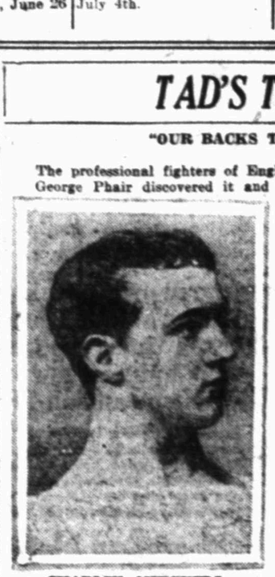

McWhirter set a new world's amateur record in winning the three-mile event in 8 minutes and 45 seconds. This was two-fifths of a second faster than the former record made by John Nillson at Montreal in 1918.

TAD'S TID-BITS

"OUR BACKS TO THE FLOOR."

NEW YORK, February 10.

The professional fighters of England have made this their college yell. George Phair discovered it and rushed it into print.

CHARLIE MITCHELL.

Was ever anything truer ever chirped?

What an awful bunch of chumps England has, to be sure.

She hasn't had a heavy worthy of his salt since the days of Charlie Mitchell, and, as the waiter who served the oxtail soup remarked. "They had to go a long ways back for that."

Think of it, not a real good heavy since Mitchell.

That was in John L. Sullivan's day, and think of the stars we've had since then: Corbett, Cmoynski, Sharkey, McCoy, Jefferies, Langford, Johnson, Dempsey, Fulton, Wills, Phil Jack O'Brien, Weinert, and then on and on.

Frank Moran stops Beckett, Ted Lewis stops Champion Basham, and Kid Herman stops Jimmy Wilde.

We'd hate to think of Dempsey and Leonard going across for trouble. My word, wouldn't it be fearful.

ORDER, PLEASE—A LITTLE QUIET, THERE.

In today's mail a poet burst forth. It makes a column snappy to have a bit of verse in it and today we shoot you one that will make your hair curl. It is unsigned. The author is undoubtedly one of those blushing violets who prefers to remain unknown.

Here it comes: get ready. As Will Shakespeare said, years ago: "If you have tears, prepare to shed them now."

Larry, Turn the Crank!

THE CHAMPION'S LAST FIGHT.

The fight was in a crowded hall,
And both were fighting fair
The champion did not dare to stall,
For the girl he loved was there.

He knocked his rival through the ropes
To the chair marked "Double A"
And when that gent gave up all hope,
The champion, brave, did say:

"Oh, do not blame me for this Jack.
My girl is such a saint,
She thought that I was going back,
And I showed her that I ain't."

GUN CLUB WILL HAVE CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERSHIP

A meeting of membership teams, composed of the members of the Wichita Falls Gun club, to formulate final plans for a one-day drive for new members, will be held at the Little sporting goods store Monday morning.

The teams will be given a list of all men who are interested in shooting and who are prospects for membership in the local club. They will canvass the city trying to end the day with at least 100 new members.

MONGOLIAN CITY TAKEN BY RUSS

PEKING, Feb. 12.—Unconfirmed reports have been received of the capture of the Mongolian city of Urga by a force of Russian and Monols under General Baron Sternberg. Wireless communication with Urga ceased February 3, when the operator reported the station there was under shell fire. One American and two Britishers are believed to be still in Urga.

GRIFFIN MAY PROVE TARTAR FOR CHAMPION

Will Joe Lynch, bantam champion of the world add to his long list of knockouts when he meets "Dandy Dick" Griffin, the pride of Fort Worth Tuesday night, in a 15-round encounter? "The greatest bantam that ever lived," as Pop Boone, Fort Worth sport writer speaks of Lynch has a job cut out for him, when he meets the little Texas battler, but if past records count for anything, it is a pretty safe bet that Lynch will be declared the winner at the end of the setto.

Lynch has the reputation, with a record to back it up, of putting to sleep more opponents than any batter in the world, not excluding Benny Leonard or Jack Dempsey. Yet with this reputation, he is challenged oftener than any boxer on the globe. Only one man, in the past few years, however, has had the nerve to challenge the slim little New Yorker the second time, and that is Pete Herman, the man from whom Lynch took the title.

The new bantam champion in his drive to the championship soon after returning from service overseas with the army. From that time until this, he has knocked out every prominent bantam in the country, which is saying a mouthful. The bantam ranks hold more good boxers, fighters and plain battlers than any other class in the game. Starting with the ex-bantamweight champion, Kid Williams, whom he disposed of in four founds, Lynch put to sleep Bobby Joseph in eleven settos, Eddie O'Keefe in four three minute periods, Andy Burns in one period less, Frankie Burns in nine rounds, Willie Astey in seven rounds, Kid Regan in a half dozen sessions, Harry Bremer in five rounds, Sammy Marine in two rounds, George Kirkwood in three rounds, Bennie McNeil in four rounds, Eddie Seigel in three periods, Johnnie Ritchie in two rounds, Bobby Hubon in six rounds, Johnny Seizberg in four rounds Battling Lahn in three rounds, Abe Friedman in two rounds and Abe Goldstein in eleven rounds. Three weeks after he beat Goldstein he was matched with Jack Sharkey the leading contender for the championship held by Pete Herman and later fourteen rounds of the hardest kind of fighting, finally scored a technical knockout in the last and fifteenth round. Later Lynch was matched with the champion by Tex Rickard, and after a battle that received much criticism, a new champion was created when the referee raised Lynch's right hand in token of victory.

The ex-champion, Pete Herman went over to England some weeks later and gained the distinction of being the first American to win over Jimmy Wilde convincingly. Lynch fought Wilde twice and beat him both times, according to newspaper reports but was robbed of the decision by the English referees. Many people now believe that Herman can win the title back from Lynch and with public sentiment directed in this channel, a return bout is not unlikely within the next few months.

Lynch arrived in Fort Worth Saturday morning and immediately went into training at the Nat Arena. Griffin has been in training for several weeks but is thought to have been able so long that it will be impossible for him to get down to the limit by Tuesday night. If he does not, and happens to knock Lynch out, he will not win the title. Griffin has been training with Matt McKee and Stubby Durham, two Oklahoma City bantams who meet in the semi- windup.

COCKER SPANIEL ASCENDS THRONE OF KENNELDOM

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Midkiff Seductive, an 18-pound cocker spaniel, tonight ascended the throne of dogdom and for one year will reign as the best dog in America.

Midkiff was chosen as the winner of the forty-fifth annual show of the Westminster Kennel club. He is owned by W. T. Payne of Kingston, Pa. This was the first time a cocker spaniel captured the major honors.

Spudders, Big Leagues, High School and City Clubs Offer Wichita Festival of Baseball

Wichita Falls may be disinterested in boxing, wrestling and other professional sports, but when baseball is mentioned, something lights up in the faces of its citizens, both male and the opposite gender, which makes up for the apparent lack of interest in the other games. This light is interpreted as the love of the national game.

The Spudder's home town will have plenty, and then some more baseball this year, if the officials of the 1920 City League, and the coaches of the schools, perfect their plans for 1921.

Not only will the fans see the Spudders in action eighty times during the league season, but will also have the opportunity of getting first hand information on the prospect of several major league and Class "AA" teams for the coming campaigns. Fifteen games will be played between the visiting teams and the Spudders before the opening of the Texas league season.

Bigger City League

The officials of the 1920 City League have decided to increase the number of clubs from six to eight this year, taking in a pick of several companies who have signified their intentions of supporting a team this year.

According to Jack Bristol of the Southern Electric 1920 team, a meeting of all the members of last year's clubs with the representative of the the teams that desire to enter the league, will be held at the Kemp hotel, sometime during the week.

This meeting will be in form of a banquet, at which plans will be discussed to draw up a schedule, put the league on a firm financial basis, and assign the various details of direction to more than one man, as was the case last year. The league has secured permission to use the Spudder's park during the time the professionals are on the road, and will use the diamonds at Eighteenth and Holiday, the Wichita Motors Athletic Field and the Texhoma Athletic field when the Spudders are at home. Further retails will be available after the league meeting.

High School Busy

Baseball officially opens at the High school, Monday afternoon when at least fifty youngsters will be out trying for a place on the team. Many of the boys who made the first team last year are still in school and great things are expected of them during the coming season. The High youngsters have been forunate in obtaining one of the teachers, a former Texas University star, Henderson, to take charge of them. He is one who will get results if the students and candidates are loyal.

Among the letter men who will be out for the team this year are a few who helped materially in making baseball go last spring: Whatley, captain and catcher of last year's team; McAbee, a southpaw with good sharp curves; Eyestone, star first baseman; Kizzian, utility man and slugger; Haney, the tall fielder and a few others will be almost sure of landing places on the first team. The students are anxiously waiting for the first inter-scholastic game and should attend in a body throughout the season.

All the other schools will have their teams and there is a probability of a strong semi-pro team being chosen to represent the city against independent teams from other towns close by.

That Wichita Falls will be on the baseball map, in capital letters is a foregone conclusion for with ten teams to represent the city, Wichita Falls will get almost as much publicity as if another oil boom would hit the city.

Johnny Bars None

Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion has a few more things to say about Mike O'Dowd, Mike Gibbons and the rest of his challengers, now that he has fought his first battle after winning the championship from O'Dowd some six months ago. Wilson thinks that his critics have done him an injustice and that had they known he was suffering from a broken nose and an abcessed ear they would have stepped a trifle more lightly. Wilson wants to fight any and all, so he says, and bars no one. "The faster they come," he says, "the faster they will learn that I am a champion and not a dub as many would like to make out."

Johnny and Mike should put up a wonderful scrap if they are matched for each man has been saying some nasty things about the other. However, a match between the two is a long way off unless O'Dowd's demands are materially lessened. Mike only wants 30 per cent of the gate receipts, something which no right minded promoter would think of giving a challenger. If Mike was the champion, his demands would not seem so exorbitant, but as the challenger, he has no chance whatsoever of getting near that percentage.

Smoke Challenges Leonard

Benny Leonard has a new challenger, a negro, who recently received draw with Panama Joe Gans, a middleweight. Sailor Darden is the name and he wants a crack at either the lightweight, welterweight or middleweight championship. Darden is a legitimate lightweight, fighting at 135 pounds. He has just received his discharge from the navy and hearing that Leonard did not draw the color line, immediately challenged the champion.

Seats For Few

Here is something for baseball fans to think a few minutes over. Of all the baseball parks throughout the United States in cities that are represented by professional teams, the total seating capacity is less than one per cent of the total population of the country.

The seating capacity of all the parks in the majors and the principal minor leagues totals approximately 961,000, which, with the few minor leagues whose statistics were unavailable, probably would bring the total seating capacity of all the leagues in the country up to a round million.

The cities represented in the National League have a total population of 12,653,308 and the seating capacity of the ball parks are only limited to 199,000. This means that there are seats in all the National League parks for only 1.6 percent of the population. Classes "AA" and "A" have still smaller percentages while the smaller minor leagues are in the same boat.

STARRING IN SPORTS

George Chaney, who once upon a time got a bit too ambitious and tried to take the featherweight crown from Johnny Kilbane, is back in the limelight again.

He's now the knock-'em-stiff kid of the little fellows. He has drawn the K. O. spotlight from Jack Dempsey by knocking out the last nine men to face him.

He was born in Baltimore in 1883. He began his ring career in 1910 and his knock-out ability soon won him fame.

Then he tackled Kilbane Labor day, 1916, at Cedar Point. Johnny knocked him cold in the third with a right to the heart and a left to the jaw.

Chaney slid into oblivion after a year or so and then dropped out of the game for a year to get a fresh start. He returned to the game as a lightweight.

He began his present string of knockouts by stopping one Stockyards, Johnny Rose in three rounds. George Brown failed to last a round. So did George Reynolds.

Joe Phillips fell in two rounds. He was the first real tough bird. Johnny Mahoney, another hard boy, got his in the third.

Charlie Metrie was the next victim. He fell asleep involuntarily in the first round. Followed two victories over Joe Welling, in six and eight rounds. And then Cal Delaney dropped, beaten and cold, in the third round.

DALLAS BUSINESS MEN DINE LYNCH AND DICK GRIFFIN

Special to The Record News.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 12.—Joe Lynch and Dick Griffin were the guests of honor at a banquet in the Metropolitan hotel Saturday night. The banquet was given to the champion and his coming opponent by business men. Several of the clergy attended and spoke highly of the boxing game as a builder of physique. Neither Lynch nor Griffin made a speech. They explained that their managers did all their talking.

Both boxers announced themselves in perfect condition for their fifteen-round bout Tuesday night. Lynch in talking with the Fort Worth sport writers, on arriving in this city, said he was a trifle off in condition the night of his battle with Jabez White in St. Louis, but that was due to the eleven-week layoff after meeting Herman.

Lynch is confident that he will repeat his performance over Griffin in Detroit some two and a half years ago.

HOUSE ACCEPTS PROVISION TO REDUCE SAILORS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The house today accepted the provision for reducing the enlisted strength of the navy from 143,000 to 100,000 men after July 1.

During consideration of the navy appropriation bill, no objection was raised to the section providing funds sufficient only for a force of 100,000 during the coming fiscal year. It elicited neither criticism nor friendly comment and remained in the bill intact.

Clauses providing for a reduction of the marine corps personnel from approxmately 27,000 to 20,000 men and for an appropration of $90,000,000 to carry on the 1916 building program of the navy during the next fiscal year probably will be reached Monday.

FLOOD DANGER IN ALABAMA PASSES

By Associated Press.

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 12.—While it is believed the menace of damaging floods from the rapid rise in the river systems of Alabama has passed, several of the streams have not reached their crest, according to the weather bureau officials.

The crest has been reached on the Black and Warrior at Tuscaloosa, and while the flood stage has already been exceeded on the Tom Bigbee and Alabama rivers, these two rivers will continue to rise for several days.

The study of fire prevention has been added to the curriculum of the New York public schools. Fire prevention has been a compulsory course for some time in Kentucky. New Jersey has a law, recently passed, which provides for the teaching of fire prevention.

HUNGARY FIGHTS OVER RESTORING HAPSBURG RULER

By Associated Press.

BUDAPEST, Feb. 10.—Admiral Horthy, the regent, today adjourned the national assembly indefinitely because of the incessant clashes over the question of restoring the Hapsburg dynasty.

All factions agree that the question of an occupation of the throne is the country's sole affair. It is understood that if it is impossible to reach an agreement as to a ruler regent, Horthy will appeal to the country, break up the assembly and issue writs for a new election.

ASK CAVALRY FOR INAUGURATION DAY

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Secretary Baker has been asked by the joint congressional inaugural committee to place the squadron of cavalry at Fort Meyer at the committee's disposal on March 4. Mr. Baker did not know what the cavalry would be used for and no information was forthcoming from the committee.

It was assumed that the troops would be used at the capitol in connection with the handling of the crowds which will gather on the east plaza to hear President Harding deliver his inaugural address.

A method has been perfected for spinning glass into practically endless threads, which can be wound on spools like ordinary threatd and used

MANY CHANGES IN MAJOR LEAGUE MANAGERS MADE DURING "HOT STOVE LEAGUE" SEASON

By JACK VEIOCK
International News Sporting Editor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Changes in the managerial ranks of major league teams have featured the present off season.

When the curtain rises on the 1921 baseball campaign next April seven of the sixteen big time clubs will swing into action with new pilots leading them.

The widespread upheaval among the managers, the like of which has not been seen in many years, is expected to put new life into the coming pennant races. Here are the "new" field generals when the season gets under way:

Chicago Cubs—Johnny Evers.
Boston Braves—Fred Mitchell.
Philadelphia Nationals—Bill Donovan.
Washington Senators—George McBride.
Detroit Tigers—Ty Cobb.
St. Louis Browns—Lee Fohl.
Boston Red Sox—Hugh Durry.

In addition the "batting staff" of the New York Giants has been augmented by the signing of Hugh Jennings as assistant to Manager McGraw and Jesse Burkett as coach of the pitchers.

Five of the seven new managers have the advantage of previous experience in the holding of the reins over major league teams.

"Wild Bill" Donovan, who succeeds Gravvy Cravath as boss of the Phillies, was a popular and far from unsuccessful pilot of the Yankees for several years.

Evers Back in Chicago.

Johnny Evers, who takes Fred Mitchell's place in Chicago, is merely returning to an "old love," as he was there before. In addition Evers has had experience as assistant manager of the Braves, Giants and Phillies.

Fred Mitchell left the Boston Braves, where he made a reputation as a coach with Stallings, to take the management of the Cubs. This year he returns to the Hubtown Nationals and is shaking the team up to a fare-thee-well.

Hughey Duffy comes back to the majors as a manager after somewhat of an absence. Hughey once managed th White Sox and has had many years of experience as a minor league pilot.

Lee Fohl, who resigned the management of the Cleveland Indians in July, 1919, and served as a coach and scout of the Browns last season, will be at home as manager of the St. Louis team. He is well liked by his players and the fans of the Mound City and should make a success of the job.

Ty Cobb Steps In.

Ty Cobb and George McBride, both veteran players, are breaking into major league managerial ranks for the first time. Both of these men are thoroughly steeped in baseball lore. They know the ins and outs of the pastime from "A to izard" and their efforts at the helms of the Tigers and Senators will be watched with interest.

Hugh Duffy, by the way, will have Jimmy Burke, erstwhile manager of the Browns, to assist him at Boston this year, and Miller Huggins will have the helpful counsel of Ed Barrow, new business manager of the Yankees and former pilot of the Boston Americans.

APPLEBY AND LORD WIN AT BILLIARDS IN CHICAGO PLAY

By Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 12.—Robert Lord of Chicago and Francis S. Appleby of New York were the winners in today's play in the national amateur 18.2 balk line billiard tournament.

Lord won from Dr. A. I. Brown of Cleveland, 300 to 214, and Appleby defeated Emil Renner of Youngstown, 300 to 218.

Lord had an average of 5 10-58 with a high run of 51, and Brown an average of 3 43-57 and high run of 24.

Appleby had an average of 7 13-41 and a high run of 51, and Renner an average of 5 13-40 and a high run of 23.

Kansas Trap Shot Wins U. S. Crown

ORLEANS BOXING PROMOTERS PLAN COMPLETE ARENA

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 12.—What is promised to be the most complete boxing arena in the South will be erected in this city in the near future by three boxing promoters. According to the advance plans, the new stadium will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000 and will seat at least 8,000 fans.

Plans include special rings for workouts, as well as every other known convenience for training. Special attention will be paid to permanency, and, with this end in view, it is said the structure will be of concrete, fireproof in every particular. A view of the ring will be possible from each of the 8,000 seats, it is said.

The heads of the new syndicate are Johnny Dillon, Frankie Edwards and Al Buja. They plan to begin operation this summer and will endeavor to put on the best bouts obtainable. The enclosed auditorium will adorn the heart of the winter capital.

PRODUCING PROPERTIES WANTED
We are in the market to purchase producing properties from 200 to 1,000 barrels daily production. Also smaller producing shallow field properties. Well priced offerings will be promptly investigated and closed. Give detailed particulars. Replies held confidential. MARR & CO., ENGINEERING DEPT., INSURANCE BLDG., DALLAS, TEXAS.

MR. OIL OPERATOR:
If you are in the market for some real bargains, I have three exceptionally good ones, as follows: 40 acres, 5 producing wells; price $12,500; 20 acres, 18 producing wells, with the very best of equipment for $20,000; 10 acres, 7 producing wells, extra well equipped. Price $12,500.
Production properties can be bought much cheaper at the present time, than they can when oil prices advance, which they are sure to do in the near future, as we know the consumption far exceeds the production and the low prices will not continue for long. Now is your chance to buy oil property at the right price and realize good returns on your investment.

The State of Texas to the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon D. D. Caldwell by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper publishd in your county, to appear at the next regular terms of the 78th distric court of Wichita County to be holden at the courthouse thereof in Wichita Falls on the 1st Monday in March, A. D. 1921, the same being the 7th day of March, A. D., 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 4th day of February A. D., 1921, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 10111-B, wherein May Caldwell is plaintiff and D. D. Caldwell is defendant and said petition alleging: That plaintiff and defendant were married on the 16th day of May, 1909, and lived together until the 10th day of November, 1909, at which time plaintiff abandoned defendant, because of cruel, unkind and harsh treatment and a steadied course of abusive conduct, plaintiff was compelled to abandon defendant. That such conditions render their further living together insupportable. Plaintiff prays for divorce, the care and custody of their minor child, James, and for costs of suit. Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same. Given under my hand and the seal of said court at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 4th day of February, A. D., 1921.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE.
W. J. Lee vs. Abner Davis, Trustee, No. 3614. In the county court at law of Wichita County, Texas. Whereas, by virtue of an alias execution issued out of the county court at law of Wichita county, Tex., on a judgment rendered in said court on the 19th day of June, 1920, in favor of W. J. Lee and against the said Abner Davis, trustee, No. 3614, I did on the 27th day of January, 1921, levy upon the following described tracts of land situated in Wichita county, Texas, belonging to said Abner Davis, trustee, to-wit: All the right, title and interest of the said Abner Davis, trustee, in and to an oil and gas lease, being a part of Block 23 of the Musgrave addition, Burkburnett, Tex., being 145 feet by 165 feet, and all personal property thereon situated, described in Book 126, pages 56 and 57. A certain 50-acre tract out of the M. Carbojal survey, Abstract 44, described in Book 126, page 547 of the deed records of Wichita county, Texas, and on the first day of March, 1921, being the first Tuesday of said month, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m and 4 o'clock p. m. on said day at the courthouse door of said county, I will offer for sale and sell at public auction for cash all the right, title and interest of the said Abner Davis, trustee, in and to said property, selling each tract separately to satisfy a judgment of $475 and costs of suit. Witness my hand this 27th day of January, 1921.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.
The State of Texas to the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon Claude Wade by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 78th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the courthouse thereof in Wichita Falls, on the 1st Monday in March A. D., 1921, the same being the 7th day of March, A. D., 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 5th day of February A. D., 1921, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 10115-B, wherein Flora Wade is plaintiff and Claude Wade is defendant, and said petition alleging: That plaintiff and defendant were married on the 31st day of August, 1919, defendant at that time being in the service of the U. S. navy, but was at home on a furlough, his term of service to expire on July 1, 1920; that plaintiff was induced to marry defendant while at home on his furlough by reason of his avowed love for her and his promise to return to her at once at the expiration of his service and also to contribute to her support during the time he is in the service. She also alleges that very soon after going back to the service, that he grew cool and indifferent in his letters and failed entirely to write to her after the first of April, 1920, although she answered all of his letters and often wrote without receiving mail from him; that since the first of April she has heard nothing from him, and does not now know where he is, whether he is out of the navy or whether he reinlisted. She has written several letters to him since the first of April, but has never had a reply to any of them; that recently she wrote him two letters addressed to him where she had last heard from him, but both of these letters were returned to her uncalled for, and she prays for judgment dissolving the marriage between them. Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same. Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 5th day of February, A. D., 1921.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.
The State of Texas to the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County Greeting:
You are hereby commanded to summon Robert Burns by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 78th District court of Wichita County, to be holden at the courthouse thereof in Wichita Falls, on th first Monday in March A. D., 1921, the same being the Seventh day of March A. D., 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 26th day of June A. D., 1920, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 8237, wherein, Lucile Burns is plaintiff and Robert Burns is defendant, and said petitoin alleging, That plaintiff was lawfully maried to defendant about Dec. 25, 1915, that they lived together as husband and wife until about July 5, 1919, when by reason of cruel and harsh treatment and improper conduct of defendant toward plaintiff she was forced and compelled to abandon him; since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife; that during the time they lived together as husband and wife, she was kind and affectionate to him; but defendant, unmindful of his marital obligations, about one year prior to their separation, often cursed and abused her, calling her vile names, etc., without cause or provocation, on the part of the plaintiff; that he failed and refused to provide proper support for plaintiff; that because of the above facts their further living together as husband and wife has been rendered insupportable. Wherefore plaintiff prays that defendant be cited in terms of law, to appear at the next term of this court and answer herein, for judgment dissolving the marriage relation now existing between them for absolute divorce, cost of suit and general and special relief. Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same. Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 27th day of January A. D., 1921.

The State of Texas to the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon Pearl Stoneback by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 78th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the courthouse thereof in Wichita Falls, on the 1st Monday in March A. D., 1921, the same being the 7th day of March A. D., 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 3rd day of February, A. D., 1921, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 10100-B, wherein Jack Stoneback is plaintiff and Pearl Stoneback is defendant and said petition alleging: That plaintiff and defendant were married Nov. 20, 1920, and lived together until about the 3rd of January, 1921, when the defendant abandoned plaintiff and went to live at another place in Wichita county in open adultery with another man, and since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife. That such acts of the defendant were of such a nature that plaintiff cannot condone same and are of such nature as to render their further living together as husband and wife insupportable. Wherefore, plaintiff prays the court that the defendant beduly cited to appear and answer for judgment dissolving said marriage relations. Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same. Given under my hand and the seal of said court at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 3rd day of February A. D., 1921.

HARDING PLANS FOR PEACE AND NO ARMIES DIM

By Associated Press.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 12.—While the cabinet problem was taking on new elements of uncertainty today, President-elect Harding let it be known that his plans for universal peace and disarmament also are far from definite formulation. Taking note of published reports that a disarmament conference would be called early in the new administration, Mr. Harding said he had made no such plans, although the idea fitted in with his general scheme for an association of nations.

It was a feature of the problem, he added, to which he would give no specific attention until he came into the presidency and was fully advised as to the status of diplomatic relations with the other powers.

Repeatedly the president-elect has included reduction of armaments among the requirements for a peace association and his close advisers believe the subject will receive his earnest attention as soon as he takes up negotiations for his peace plan.

Today's cabinet developments concerned chiefly Charles G. Dawes and Frank O. Lowden, both of Illinois, and mentioned for the post of secretary of the treasury and secretary of navy, respectively. The net result was to leave more in doubt than ever whether either would be a member of Mr. Harding's official family.

Tonight Mr. Harding took part in two Lincoln birthday celebrations, pressing a button to open a Lincoln banquet in Seattle, Wash., and during the evening attended a Lincoln memorial service held in the lobby of his hotel.

Tax Collection Here Tops Texas By 12 Per Cent

Topping the 1919 average by more than 12 per cent, state and county tax collections here for 1920 totaled $1,151,065.52, or slightly more than 72 per cent of the entire tax roll of $1,573,681.59, according to figures made public Saturday by County Tax Collector M. L. Tittle.

The report showed the amount of money paid in until midnight of Jan. 31 and does not include payments received with the additional 10 per cent as penalty for delinquency, which amounts to several thousand dollars.

The collection for January more than doubled the total of the three months preceding.

October	$ 21,502.46
November	52,670.97
December	400,697.14
January	676,244.95

WALTER PATTERSON, 28, FOUND DEAD IN ROOM

Special to The Record News.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 12.—Walter Patterson, 28 years of age, of Walnut Springs, was found dead in his room at a local sanitarium here at 4 o'clock Saturday morning.

His necktie was fastened to the head of the bed.

Emmett Moore, jutsice of the peace, has issued subpoenas. He probably will complete the case Sunday morning.

Deputy Sheriff Accepts Place On State Force

Deputy Sheriff J. W. McCormick has received an offer of enlistment in the state Ranger force and will leave within the next few days for Austin to receive his commission he announced Saturday upon receipt of a communication from the attorney general.

The offer, coming at this time, created surprise among local authorities and Rangers stationed here, as notice of a complete reorganization of the force, in which four companies will be disbanded was received simultaneously.

According to orders of the adjutant general, which will become effective February 15, Companies E and F and emergency companies Nos. 1 and 2 will be disbanded, some of the men being honorably discharged and the others transferred to companies which will be retained.

This action is said to be in conformance with Governor Neff's announced policy of reducing the force to minimum strength.

Eligible Voters Here Number 7,018

Only 7,018 out of a total estimate of 12,000 qualified voters in Wichita county, are eligible to vote during the year, it was announced Saturday with the compilation of figures on poll tax payments by County Tax Collector M. L. Tittle.

Records showed that 6,683 poll tax receipts had been issued and 335 exemptions granted.

Out of this numberv the major portion were male voters. Although the exact percentage was not available, it was said that fully 60 per cent more negro women than the white women took advantage of their enfranchisement and bought their right to voice in coming elections by purchasing poll taxes.

Apparent negligence on the part of the remainder of the qualified voters in not becoming eligible to cast their ballot during the year was attributed to the fact that interest of the voting minority is centered solely in national, state and county elections.

WORK ON $21,000 INCINERATOR TO START MARCH 1

Work on the construction of the city incinerator will begin March 1, according to the city engineer's department. The contract for construction of the incinerator was recently let to the Superior Construction company of Dallas for a sum of $21,000. A site for the incinerator was recently purchased by the city on the east side.

AUXILIARY IS PLAN OF LEGIONAIRES

Formation of a woman's auxiliary to the post, and the carrying on of an active membership campaign until approximately all of the local ex-service men are brought into the organization featured plans discussed by members of the Pat Carrigan post, American legion, for the revival of activities by the organization here.

Hearty endorsement of the bill establishing hospitals for the treatment of disabled ex-service men, and the adoption of resolutions expressing the thanks of the post to Congressman Lucian Parrish for his efforts in behalf of the bill for providing treatment for the disabled soldiers, and his efforts in behalf of cases taken up with Washington by the local post for the relief of individual cases.

Endorsement of the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce to secure location of one of the military hospitals in Wichita Falls, declared as an ideal location, was also voiced by the membership, and the co-operation of the post in any possible way offered.

Organization of the woman's organization will be pushed with all possible dispatch, it was indicated. The membership campaign will be carefully and systematically worked out.

Permanent Quarters.

Plans for securing permanent club quarters were discussed to some extent, but it was the consensus of opinion of those present that the securing of the membership should be the first step.

In discussing the organization of the auxiliary, it was pointed out that the work of the legion had been a biggest success, and succeeded best in retaining the active interest of the members, where a strong woman's organization was allied with the post.

A committee to confer with prospective members of the woman's auxiliary in connection with the formation of such an organization was named by Post Commander Hatchitt as follows: John Gould, chairman; E. C. de Montel and John W. Naylor.

Past Year's Activities.

A general report on the activities of the local post last year was given by E. C. de Montel, who was adjutant. He reported that nearly 1,700 former service men were found temporary or permanent employment, that close to 1,000 were provided one to three meals, and shelter provided for many.

In addition to this, legion officials aided many ex-service men in securing compensation for disabilities, securing back pay due from the military service, and straightening out allotment, war risk insurance and liberty bond entanglements.

Transportation was provided for a number in fleedy cases, and aid was given parents of deceased soldiers in obtaining payment of government insurance. One man, one who was disabled from an open wound, was cared for for two months.

"Many of these men were not legion members—in fact, the mapority were not," Mr. de Montel said.

All Ex-Service Men.

"They were all ex-service men, however, and that is the consideration that was our guide in helping them.

"Neither were all of these men American ex-service men. There was one French soldier, a British soldier or two, and several Canadians and Australians. We were instrumental in taking the cases of some Canadian soldiers up with their government."

Mr. de Montel spoke especially of the untiring work of Drs. Walker and Fletcher in examining ex-service men for compensation, and treating them when sick. Dr. Fletcher, who was present, when called upon, reported that something like 300 ex-service men had been examined in their office for compensation alone, and that for the most of them compensation ranging from $8 to $90 per month had been obtained. Only about one-fifth of those applying were found not to deserve the compensation, he reported.

He spoke of the number of cases where the disability was due to tubercular infection, and urged the support of all legion members of the soldiers' tubercular hospital at Kerrville, and for the establishment of the proposed hosiptals for the treatment of the disabled.

Legislative Committee.

The post paid its apportionment toward the expenses of the legislative committee at Austin. "If they had done nothing but unseat Neinast, they would have performed a service worth more than we could give them," said one. "Their efforts in behalf of the popularization of the boxing bill alone is worth the money," another declared.

Meeting nights were fixed for the first and fourth Saturday nights in each month. H. E. Taylor, the post finance officer, whose office is in the basement of the Morgan building, in the city council room, is receiving payments for 1921 dues.

Have residence well located will trade for grocery store worth the money.

Things That Abide

In a world where everything, at times, seems to be nothing but unrest and change—a world unstable and groping as a child that has lost its way, the Church stands steadfast and strong—"A rock in a weary land."

Men may forget their obligations to her and wander away for a time but there is that stability—that steady influence for good which draws men back when they have found that all other help is unworthy.

Faith, Hope, Love—and the Church, which is built upon three foundation stones—abide.

The Church stands for the things which make the world a good place in which to live—the things which make Wichita Falls a fit city for you and for your family.

No man, therefore, can abide in peace and safety and happiness without the Church.

Have you realized your obligation? And are you giving the Church your active support in her efforts to lift men up? Are you attending her services and helping her to keep this city a good place for a home?

Your duty to yourself is included in your duty to the Church. The time you give in participating actively in her services will bring inspiration and increased courage.

The financial assistance you give to increase the power of the Church and to make her spirit of Faith, Hope and Love the predominating spirit of the world, will come back to you multiplied many times in the pleasure and happiness of living in a city, in a community of high ideals and wholesome surroundings.

Go to Church today and come into closer touch with the things that are worth while. Lay hold of the substantial things and help others, by your example, to realize their worth.

POLICE IN IRELAND CENTER OF ATTRACTION

DUBLIN, Feb. 12. — Ireland in these troubled times is not without its humor as well as its pathos.

In Belfast recently there were serious riots, resulting in three deaths. The nationalist element were rather out for the blood of the constabulary.

A big quayside worker met a policeman on Royal avenue and went for him immediately. The policeman was worsted and the docker had him held down and was pounding him furiously.

A comrade rushed up to give the dock worker assistance.

He was waved away with an angry gesture, the victorious nationalist shouting:

Householders Asked to File Tax Statements

Co-operation of land owners in the city and county whose property has not yet been assessed for 1921 taxes was requested Saturday by Irvin Deaton, county tax assessor, in a statement suggesting that the property owners prepare lists of their real and personal property to be turned over to the agents making assessments. It is thought that much valuable time for both the people and assessor's office will be conserved in this manner.

Mr. Deaton said that the people are put to a great inconvenience and loss of time when the agent appears and is forced to take "inventory" of the property. Likewise, the assessor's office is pushed for time in order to complete the assessments in the allotted time and the assessor is of the opinion that the situation can be bettered to a great extent if the property owners will prepare to meet the agent with a complete list of their taxable property.

He cited an instance of Saturday where, upon calling at a man's home to make the assessment, he was handed a complete list of the property. This transaction consumed only a matter of five minutes, where if it had been necessary, as is generally the case, to go over the property and set down the numerous items, it would have taken several hours.

The man said that it had taken him only a few minutes to prepare his property list and declared that it was much more satisfactory than the method which he had heretotore been accustomed to.

Colby Denies Atrocities of Negro Troops

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Stories about alleged atrocities committed by French colonial troops in the occupied area in Germany, which have been circulated in this country, "originated in Berlin and appears to be very largely anti-French propaganda" Secretary Colby wrote to Senator Spencer, republican, Missouri.

The senator made the letter public today with the explanation that it answered "many inquiries and protests" received by senators about the alleged misconduct of the French troops.

Secretary Colby stated on information supplied by American diplomatic military agents in Europe that "there are no negro troops remaining in the occupied area and no recent examples of misbehavior have been brought forward."

STAMFORD, Texas, Feb. 12.—The smouldering embers of the oil boom of two years ago are being fanned into another flame of optimism as revived interest in being shown in prospect tests in this section. The Kouri No. 1, twelve miles east of Haskell, is expected to become a producer in a short time ,according to information brought to Stamford today. This well is expected to be swabbing by Sunday or Monday. The bottom has been cemented between 3,300 and 3,400 feet, where an oil vein was struck. It was drilled to a depth of 3,500 feet. S. Kouri, operator, is very optimistic over the outlook, declaring that he has a well. This well is making gas and had a good showing. In case the swabbing does not prove the well to be a commercial producer, Mr. Kouri is reported as having stated that he will shoot it, insuring, it is believed, a lively producer.

Heavy casing of extra length has arrived for the Kouri No. 2, fourteen miles northeast of Haskell. It is reported to have reached a depth of 1,400 feet when casing was used up.

Proctor Being Cleaned.

The Texas Cushing's Proctor No. 1, twenty-two miles southeast of Stamford, in the northwest part of Shackelford county, which was plugged back to 3,300 feet and shot some time ago, is being cleaned out and cement set. After the shot it bridged. It will be swabbed next week. The cement in this well has dried. The Texas Cushing Nos. 2 and 3 are still locations with no new developments.

The Weart-York Colbert No. 1, four and one-half miles northeast of Stamford, is drilling away at 2,200 feet and the casing is working free. The driller believes that the worst of the caving has been overcome. Stamford pins its faith on this well. Weart and York also are optimistic. Canadian capital is drilling this test. It owns about 11,000 acres in that section.

Scores of Stamford people went to the Poindexter Ibex well yesterday upon reports of its increasing output. This well is on the Judge William Poindexter ranch, ten miles east of Albany, and about 15 miles due west of Breckenridge. It is reported making about 600 barrels a day and gradually increasing its flow.

Black Flowing by Heads.

According to reports which reached here this afternoon, the Texhoma Oil and Refining company's Black well, twelve miles north and east of Albank, Shackelford county, is flowing by heads. A flowing by heads of thirty-five barrels to the "gulp" was reported Wednesday night after a shot. It is believed this well will be a big one when the bore has been cleaned. It establishes Shackelford county's claim to the latest new oil field of West Texas.

According to D. D. Huddleston, Breckenridge oil operator the large companies are filling Albany with scouts. It is reported that the Ibex company has purchased additional acreage south and west of its Poindexter well. Three 500-barrel steel storage tanks already have been erected, into which oil is flowing from the Ibex well, according to Huddleston. Tanks and lumber for additional storage is being hauled out from Albany. It is said that the gas pressure in this well has been something tremendous in the last forty-eight hours.

The latest well is about 40 miles from Stamford. It is believed that with the development sure to follow Stamford will be one of the chief beneficiaries, according to the views of local business men. That Shackelford county has flowing oil in large quantities, is verified from the mouths of actual spectators who went from here soon after the announcement. With Stamford midway of the big field and wildcatting development in Haskell county, it is believed that the big "bump" pronounced good by geologists will prove to be another considerable oil field which will put Stamford centrally in the district.

"In case Stamford does come into the oil field class," said a prominent citizen today, "we propose to see that law and order are maintained here, and that the town does not get into the tough class."

Committee Preparing Park Survey

A preliminary survey of the parks system of the city as preparation for an immediate campaign of beautification was started Saturday by the Chamber of Commerce parks and playgrounds bureau, followng the request of Commissioner M. O. McDowell Friday that the chamber takes over this phase of city work.

The bureau, of which R. O. Harvey is chairman, also has instituted inquiries on the question of engaging in the very near future the services of a city forester whose entire time will be devoted to detailed work on the parks and playgrounds of the city. Letters have been sent to the St. Louis office of George E. Kessler asking for suggestions in this connection, with special reference to features of landscape architecture that may add to the general beauty and usefulness of the parks already owned by Wichita Falls.

All of this work will be pushed vigorously in the expectation that the close of 1921 will see a definite program of beautification in steady progress with results that will be of benefit to Wichita Falls children and a matter of civic pride to their parents.

The City National Bank of Commerce offers you service such as only a thoroughly progressive institution with great resources, broad facilities, new and complete equipment and a carefully trained organization, is in a position to give. The bank welcomes both small and large accounts.—adv.

Stop the Waste!

It is estimated that there is an investment of $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 represented today in oil well machinery and equipment on leases in Wichita County, much of which could be advantageously sold by the owners. Most of this equipment is in good condition.

It is also estimated that about $500,000 per week is sent out of this county to Eastern centers for new equipment. This results in a waste of capital on the part of the operators who have their money tied up in equipment they do not need, and it also cuts down our local bank deposits by sending money away for new equipment.

Let's Get Together!

At the request of several oil operators, the Chamber of Commerce will open a Machinery & Equipment Exchange in its headquarters at 806 Scott Avenue, beginning Monday, February 14th.

All operators who have machinery and equipment which they are willing to dispose of at reduced prices, are requested to file description of article, name and address with the Chamber of Commerce.

All operators who need equipment which they would like to purchase at reduced prices, are requested to notify the Chamber of Commerce.

This movement is undertaken solely in the interest of thrift and public economy for this community and district.

No charge is to be made for this service.

A delightful five-course luncheon was enjoyed by members of the Standard club and their guests Saturday at the Y. W. C. A. in which the valentine color scheme was carried out and a program was given. Mrs. J. C. Albright sang "Two Little Stars," by Geoffrey O'Hara, and a group of Victrola selections, including Morning, Aise Death, and Anitra Dance and their interpretations were given by Miss Henrietta Pyle. Several charming toasts were also given with Mrs. J. M. Isbell as toastmistress, among which Mrs. T. P. Kelm took for her subject, "Past and Future." Mrs. S. L. Conn gave one on "It's a Pretty Good Little Old World," and Miss Margaret Watson one on "Hearts."

Mrs. J. C. Berney, founder of the Standard club, was present, and gave an informal talk on the club's origin.

LEOPARD CANNOT CHANGE SPOTS

Mr. Dodson, the "Liver Tone" Man,, Tells the Treachery of Calomel.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and you can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.—Adv.

MRS. HUGH WEAVER IS HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. Hugh F. Weaver of 1640 Collins avenue entertained with a pretty five-course luncheon at her home Tuesday. The table was decorated in sweet peas and ferns, with valentine place cards and individual nut cups.

The afternoon was enjoyed with "42" in which prizes were won by Mrs. Kermott and Shackelford.

Those enjoying Mrs. Weaver's hospitality were: Mesdames Oral Jones, J. E. Trigg, Frank Shackelford, W. V. Buehtman, A. C. Dulaney, O. R. Weaver, Emil Hermann, W. C. Meister and E. A. Kermott of Chicago.

THREE SMART LITTLE HATS FROM FIRST SPRING SHOWINGS

These three small chapeaux chosen at random from the early spring displays show many of the predominate tendencies of the new millinery modes. The hat at the left is a rather high-crowned tailored model. It is made of orange colored organdy embroidered in brown. The embroidery forms a border on the edge of the brim and a design on the high crown.

The hat at the left is one of the very popular stitched felt hats which are being worn now for sports wear. These hats come in all brilliant new shades to match sweaters and sports suits. This one is jade green ribbon placed high about the crown and finished in a tailored bow. The ribbon has a picot edge of silver threads.

Perhaps the most fashionable or newest hat is the one in the center, for it shows the use of ribbon, which is the keynote of the present millinery tendencies. The hat is a small sailor shape of brown straw with a rather high crown. It follows the mode for ribbon so ardently that the hat is almost lost behind the bow and long streamers of string colored satin ribbon. Ribbon used in just this fashion is seen on many of the newer hats for present moment wear.

"We Dance That They May Eat" Cypher Slogan

"We dance that they may eat" is a slogan that can well be followed by the dancing set of Wichita Falls in connection with the muchly heralded event, the Cypher Club Charity ball for the starving children of Europe to be given next Friday evening at the Kemp hotel.

There are charity balls and "charity" balls, some of which really accomplish some good outside of giving the ladies an opportunity to show off their finery; some of very doubtful charitable description, but the one that will be given here for the starving children's fund is without a doubt a genuine charity ball and one that will prove of real service by reason of the fact that all of the money received will go to the fund, deducting for the music only.

R. J. Marin, president of the club, wishes to thank the following firms for their generous donations: Palace drug store, American Printing company, and the Kemp hotel, who gave the use of the ballroom free.

Music for the affair will be furnished by the popular "Jazz Bandits," who disport themselves under Doc Ross' leadership. Some real new hits are to be featured by the orchestra and the club urges everyone to come and participate in this charitable event whether they dance or not.

DAY OF "CHICKEN PASSING IN PARIS

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The day of the "chicken" is at an end.

Women, both young and old, have been cultivating an extremely ingenue appearances for the past six years. Now comes news from Paris that an attitude of mystery and a distinguished mien have gained the upper hand.

White locks have replaced bobbed curls. Women are bleaching a part of their hair to obtain a distinguished effect.

There is a distinct slump in roguish faces, tangled babyish curls and schoolgirls of thirty-five. Even the youngest women are trying to look older than they are and have cast their tomboy frocks aside.

Frocks, hats, coats, evening dresses and coiffeurs all show the decline of the youthful pose and the return of a more sedate and stately pose.

Meeting of Federation of Women's Clubs Tuesday to Mark New Epoch in Clubdom

With the first meeting of the Wichita Falls Federation of Women's Clubs, announced for Tuesday morning, February 15, at 10 o'clock at the Kemp library, a new epoch for the women's organizations of the city will be marked, and, similarly, those who have been instrumental in organizing the city federation believe, a new and more interesting period for all women of the city, who are not now members of any club or organization, but who are interested in activities of any sort. This first meeting will have the first part taken up with busines, the presentation of the constitution and by-laws, as adopted by the executive board, the announcement of the standing committees, and the special committees for the First District federation meeting, to be held here in April, and the outlining of the duties of these committees.

A brief program of varied nature has been arranged by the program committee, Mrs. J. C. Berney, chairman. Mrs. Fred C. Barron, the president, ... in the chair, and all the other officers will be in their places.

Every member of a woman's club in the city is expected to attend the federation meeting, as is shown in the constitution and by-laws, printed elsewhere, and giving the details of qualification for membership. The qualifications for club membership and individual membership are explained in this document, as are all other matters concerning which questions have been asked of the executive board members, and the president asks that all club members, particularly the delegates to the executive board from the various clubs, read every article of both the constitution and by-laws before coming to the meeting.

Executive Board at 9:15.

A meeting of the executive board has been called for 9:15, it being necessary to dispose of some business before the general meeting. All members of the board are urged to be present.

The program is announced as follows:

"History of the Musicians Club," Miss Florence Sammons.

"Report of Year's Work of the Delphian Society." Mrs. J. J. Perkins.

"Why a Law in the Home Is Best for the Convenience and Comfort of the Mother," Mrs. Walter M. Priddy, Unity club. Ten-minute discussion to follow.

Quartet, selected, Mesdames F. C. Barron, N. M. Clifford, C. Y. Tully and Robert Lyle.

"Report of the Year's Work of the Standard Club," Mrs. E. E. Fisher.

"Feeding of Infants," Dr. J. C. A. Guest.

Mrs. Berney and her program committee are planning to have a program at each monthly meeting of the federation that will touch on all phases of activity in which women are interested at present, including everything from national issues to the care of children and the home problem. With all the talent of the various clubs to draw from, programs of wide diversity and exceptional interest are to be anticipated.

Star in "The Tavern" Marries Banker's Son in Rapid Romance

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Three weeks after their first meeting Miss Alberta Burton, who plays one of the two leading roles in "The Tavern," now playing in this city, and David L. Meyers, son of Leopold Meyers, Patterson, N. J., banker, were wed. As Mrs. Meyer expresses it, Papa Meyers is "rich as can be."

Next summer the happy couple plan a belated honeymoon to Europe. Meanwhile Mrs. Meyer will continue as Virginia, the governor's daughter, one of the two leading roles in the Cohan play, in love with her sweetheart, Lieutenant Governor Tom Allen, despite that intriguing vagabond, Arnold Daly, who woos her, saying:

"Because I should love to have you like me, that doesn't mean I should like to have you love me. I do ont care for that at all, for while I like you very much, I swear to you that I do not love you." But her husband knows that this only part of the play.

Mrs. Meyer was born in Chicago where her father was surgeon in the Cook county hospital and received her education at Miss Finch's school in New York. Last season she had the leading role in "She Walked in Her Sleep" and also created the leading role in Frank Bacon's "Five O'Clock." Previously she had the lead in "La La Lucille." She is a nice of Tully Marshall, who played in Clyde Fitch's "The City" and "Paid in Full."

Mrs. David L. Meyer, nee Alberta Burton.

Meyers father owned one of the largest stores in Paterson before retiring from business and is still connected with the Paterson Savings bank and the Paterson First National bank. His son is in the rubber business.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

By Edith Moriarty

With cut of Miss Agnes Lowe

The housing situation is still proving as serious in the West as it is in many of the Eastern cities. It is particularly bad in Santa Clara county, California. Miss Agnes Howe, superintendent of the schools of that county, has a plan which she is sure would relieve the prevailing conditions. The plan is not original with her, as it is being worked out with excellent results in many of the more progressive communities, but she is the first one to suggest it in her section of the country for the purpose of relieving the housing situation.

She has made an appeal to the supervisors of the county asking that a fund be set aside so that additions may be built to the different school houses, these additions to be used by the teachers as dwellings. Miss Howe points out that the salaries of the instructors are not high and that they cannot afford to pay the rents demanded in the mojority of cases. She believes that the teachers could pay a small sum monthly and would be glad to do so if the additions were built. The payment would go toward the upkeep of the property and would be more in keeping with the salaries of the instructors than the present high room rents.

Women Study Market Problems.

In a report made by Mrs. Mary Brown of Swedesboro, N. J., to the New Jersey federation of women's clubs, it is urged that city and country women work out a simplified marketing method, to save waste and lower prices. In the federation are 220 clubs. Mrs. Arthur B. Broad of Nutley, N. J., endorses the report. She is president of the federation.

SAUCES ADD PIQUANCY.

Bernaise Sauce—One and one-half tablespoons finely chopped onion, two tablespoons vinegar, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, three egg yolks, one tablespoon chopped parsley. Cook the onions in the vinegar. Place in double boiler and add the egg yolks and seasoning. Cook until the mixture becomes creamy.

Caper Sauce—Two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon onion juice, one cup boiling water ,four tablespoons capers, one tablespoon vinegar. Make a sauce of the first five ingredients. Just before removing from the fire add the capers and vinegar.

Hollandaise Sauce—Four tablestarch, two egg yolks, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one-half cup scalded milk, juice of one lemon, speck of cayenne. Cream the butter, add the cornstarch dissolved in one tablespoon cold water, then add the egg yolks one at a time, beating thoroughly; next put into the mixture the seasonings and milk and cook in a double boiler, stirring constantly until thick. Last add the lemon juice, beating it into the sauce thoroughly. Serve at once.

IF YOU ARE SICK

PROFIT BY THE EXPERIENCE OF OTHERS

Consult Dr. Schultz

THE RELIABLE SPECIALIST

For scientific treatment of chronic, nervous and special diseases of both sexes, catarrh of all mucous membrane, stomach, liver, kidney complaints, blood and skin diseases. Hemorrhoids and prostatic complications treated without the knife, by a safe and humane system of scientific office treatment.

If you are sick of experimenting, sick of failures, sick of being sick, come to me. I invite sick people who contemplate taking treatment to come. Special attention given in the combination of curative powers, modern electricity, vibrations, etc., with the scientific administration of selected Specific Medicines. I endeavor to do everything to promote the welfare of my patients.

IF YOU NEED A SPECIALIST WHY NOT THE BEST?

Are you a nervous wreck? Are you worn out and broken down. Are you suffering from vicious Blood and Skin Diseases, that destroy bone tissue, and disfigure for life? Backaches and kidneys give you all-gone feeling? Whether these conditions were caused by early excesses, or contracted by inoculation, it does not matter, for they will all respond to my treatment. Consult Dr. Schultz, the Reliable Specialist, who is well equipped by long experience that enables him to offer his service on a basis that no other can; his charges are lower for cures than the average physician generally charges for failures.

Those who have wasted time and money, and failed to get rid of their ailments, are especially invited to consult FREE. I am giving the benefit of over 30 years' honorable experience; some of my cures are truly wonderful, yet I do not work magic; I do not make the old younger, nor the blind see; I simply apply the knowledge my years of honorable experience have given me, and I do this honestly and intelligently.

OLYMPIC BILLS FILM VERSION OF NOTED BOOK

Opie Read's celebrated novel "The Juckins," has been transferred to the screen by Paramount and it will be seen at the Olympic theatre Monday and Tuesday.

The story is said to contain many colorful and human characters which have been made to live on the screen by such capable players as Mabel Julienne Scott, Monte Blue, Ruth Renick, Charles Ogle, Fannie Midgely, Zell Covington, Winter Hall, J. M. Dumont, Clarence Burton and many others who make up the all-star cast.

The story revolves around the family of Jucklins and their neighbors in the rural districts of North Carolina and the young school teacher, who, disliked and discouraged by his own people and his neighbors in Alabama, comes to board with the Jucklins and teach the country school. Two delightful romances are developed, one of which leads to the supposed murder by Alf Jucklin of his rival, after the latter makes slighting remarks about his girl. By clever plot manipulation, the author finally frees the supposed murderer, and by the introduction of surprising circumstances, proves him technically innocent. Then comes the big surprise finish and everything ends happily for all concerned.

INJUNCTION GRANTED TO PREVENT CHATTEL MORTGAGE EXECUTION

An injunction order restraining County Clerk W. T. Harris from filing and indexing a chattel mortgage lien on certain property executed by H. V. Griffin and delivered to the Cochran Motor company, was issued Saturday by Judge Ed Napier in Seventy-eighth district court in proceedings of H. V. Griffin against W. T. Harris, county clerk, and the Cochran Motor company.

The petition sets out that the plaintiff executed three promissory notes, aggregating a sum of $3,200, on February 4 and dellvered them to the Cochran Motor company. The first note was due six months after date, and to secure it the plaintiff says that he executed a chattel mortgage on 12 head of horses and mules, five head of cattle and certain farming implements. A second lien was also executed on eight head of horses and mules.

The plaintiff charges that the Cochran Motor company represented to him that the personal property was free of incumbrance, which was false, and that on February 10 the grantor to the company filed suit against them and sued out writ of attachment. The writ has been executed, it is alleged, and the sheriff has seized the property and is withholding it from the possession of the plaintiff.

It is represented that the chattel mortgage lien has not yet been filed in the county clerk's office and not entered into the index records. The plaintiff therefore asked that the county clerk be restrained from entering it upon the records because he will suffer "serious and irreparable injury" if this is done, since the title to the property is not clear and the obligation will stand against him.

LADY NICOTINE FOLLOWS "J. B."

COWLEY, Wyo., Feb. 12.—Lady Nicotine has been laid to rest here alongside of John Barleycorn, and the two "kings"—Alcohol and Tobacco—are peacefully reposing in a local cemetery.

Impressive funeral services were held recently for King Tobacco. Headed by a brass band that played mournful dirges, the funeral procession, including a hearse that contained the "corpse" of "Old King Tobacco," and scores of mourners who marched behind the hearse, wended its weary way through the business section to the little hillside graveyard, where the "departed" friend of most of the male population was buried with pomp and ceremony.

The obsequies followed a week's campaign during which religious workers secured the pledge of all local merchants that they would cease selling tobacco.

ALLEGED DERRICK DAMAGED PROPERTY

Damages of $1,250 for alleged negligence and carelessness on the part of the defendant in maintaining an oil derrick on adjoining property are sought in a suit filed Saturday in Seventy-eighth district court by Mrs. E. M. Downess of Burkburnett against Zack Parsons of Burkburnett.

The plaintiff represents in the petition that she owns a residence at Burkburnett, valued at $3,000, from which she receives a monthly rental of $50.

She alleges that on April 7 an oil derrick owned by the defendant on an adjoining lot was blown over and fell on top of her house due to the fact that it was not properly secured and anchored and inflicted damages to the house in the amount of $1,000.

This, she charges, reduced the rental value of her house to the extent of $10 per month, and that in this particular she was damaged to the amount of $250.

WILL FEED UNEMPLOYED.

FINDLAY, Ohio, Feb. 12.—In an effort to see that the unemployed here do not suffer, the Findlay Ready Workers' Association was formed at a mass meeting at the Salvation Army hall. Sheriff Frank C. Hoy was elected president.

The organization plans to see that families of workers who may be idle due to threatened industrial depression shall not want for food or other necessities.

Mountains in California Are Doing 'Shimmy'

BERKELEY, Calif., Feb 12.—Mountains in the vicinity of San Francisco are gradually floating northward on the subterranena sea of the flowing zone of the earth, and and now subject to an elastic rebound causing earthquakes, according to Professor Andrew C. Lawson, of the University of California, in a recent university publication.

The crust of the earth in the coast range region is in a condition of elastic strain due to a slow northerly sub-crustal flow, says Lawson. The deep movement tends to carry the crust with it. When the limit is reached the strain is relieved by a sudden rebound. It is this sudden rebound of the strain that causes the earthquakes which from time to time affect the region.

Professor Lawson says that from 1854 to 1882 Mt. Tamalpais moved 5.4 feet, or at the rate of .19 of a foot a year. Between 1882 and 1906 it moved 4.6 feet more, a total of 10 feet. In 1906, at the time of the slip on the San Andreas faault, which caused the earthuake, Mt. Tamalpais shrank back suddenly to the south 6.6 feet. This was due to the relief of the strain.

For seventeen years Ukiah moved steadily north at the rate of a foot a year, 1900 to 1917, but was too far south to participate in the San Andreas fault rebound. During the ten-year period, 1893 to 1903, Mt. Hamilton was crawling northward at the rate of four feet a year, and after a sudden shift in 1913, it has again been creeping along at 2.2 feet a year. It was not affected by the rebound in 1906. Says Professor Lawson:

"Conclusions reached as to the mobility of the Coast ranges indicate that there is a most interesting field here for the discovery of laws governing the slow and sudden movements of the earth's crust."

ALBURTUS IS MIRACLE MAN OF HYPNOTISM

Alburtus, who opens a two days engagement at the Wichita Theatre Monday night, is billed as the "Miracle Man of the Stage."

Alburtus is regarded as one of the premier hypnotists and mind readers on the stage at present. He presents a complete show of hypnotism and mind reading which is highly entertaining.

In conjunction with his show Alburtus will place one of his mediums in a thirty-six hour hypnotic sleep in the window of the Freear Furniture Store where all may see, before she is finally awakened Monday night at the Wichita Theatre.

BILLIE BURKE TO SHOW GAY PARIS AT BEST

Paris aflutter with the spirit of the carnival season—brightly colored with streets in holiday dress, flags and bunting and almost buried in tons of confetti—this is the sort of Paris that is disclosed in "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson," Billie Burke's new Paramount picture which will be the feature at the Empress theater Monday and Tuesday.

It is a picture with the smart setting of the Ritz tea room and the atmosphere of the Boulevards; beautiful women in costly gowns and jewels; glimpses of the carnival itself, great crowds in costumes, elaborately decorted floats. Comedy and drama are conspicuous elements of the story. Ward Crane is the leading man and others in the excellent cast include Huntly Gordon, Lumsden Hare and Jean de Briac.

Mennonites, Cut Off From States, Invading Mexico

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 12.—One hundred thousand Mennonites, who were prevented from settling in the United States largely because of opposition by the American Legion, now plan to take over several thousand acres of land in Mexico, according to word received at Legion nation headquarters here from I. C. White, adjutant of the Legion's department of Mexico. The Mennonites are being expelled from Canada.

Because the members of the sect live under a communistic form of government, speak only German and refuse to accept the obligations of citizens of the land in which they live, the second annual convention of the Legion opposed a colonization project in Mississippi. A later attempt to settle in Louisiana was fought by the Legion members of that state under the leadership of The Policanairo, official Legion newspaper.

Legion leaders pointed out that the Mennonites refused to serve in the Canadian forces during the world war and that they have not complied with the Canadian laws which provide that school instruction be conducted in English. Previously to the settlement in Canada, thousands of the sect were forced to leave South Dakota because of their refusal to comply with the laws of that state.

HOLLANDERS CRAZED OVER BIKE RIDING

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 12.—The day of the bicycle is not past in Holland. In fact, it is still going as strong as fifteen and twenty years ago in America when almost everybody pedaled along, delighted with the new machine which gave them exercise and airing at the same time.

In Amsterdam, especially, the traveler will at once notice the unusual number of bicycles in every-day use. The narrow streets are full of them, dodging in and out among the taxicabs, handcarts and heavy wagons which are so typical of Holland. The old-fashioned rack in front of a store where the cutsomer may lock up his wheel while making a purchase is still in full vogue and the court of every department store and commercial house is filled with bicycles during the day's work. Not only the workers are seen hurrying to work on their bicycles, but the better class of business men also ride to work. It is not because Holland lacks tram cars and other transportation, but bicycles simply remain in favor.

Throughout the villages of Holland a better reason for the popularity of the bicycle is seen. There the cars form the pricipal arteries of travel. Next to them are the "stoom trams" little steam railways which wheeze along and make but poor time as they stop at every tiny farm and village to pick up cans of milk bound for the great cheese-making centers. The roads are narrow and not suited to automobile travel, but are excellent bicycle paths.

Hence, all the villages are equipped with fleets of bicycles. In the districts like Vollendam, where the old native costume is still worn, it is a common sight to see a man in wooden shoue and trousers three feet wide pedaling bravely along in a stiff wind. The women, too, in their full skirts and white winged caps, often dash away on wheels to the nearby town to buy something which cannot be obtained in their own small villages.

Ladies' models of bicyles are in principal vogue on account of the voluminous garments of both the men and the women. The machines are largely of Holland make, although there are many American brands to be seen in the stores, just as there are many brands of other American goods on sale in Holland, whereas there are but few American products seen in other European countries.

Nevertheless, the bicycle retains a popularity in Holland that is does not hold in any other country abroad or even in the United States. It is the great time-saver of Holland, and never was it more popular for business and for sport.

BUDDIES LOST SIGHT OF BY WAR VETERANS

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—While his buddies in the One Hundred and Thirty-eighth infantry marched on through the streets of New York in a triumphal parade after their return from France, John Hughes was forced to fall out of line because of illness. That is the last time he was seen by his friends. He enlisted from St. Louis, although his home is in England. Information about him is wanted by Mrs. C. J. Petrie, 305 South Poplar street, Wichita, Kan.

In realization that there are thousands of similar mysteries of the war, this newspaper publishes this and other similar cases with a view of obtaining information for relatives and friends of veterans of the World War. The information has been requested in letters to the American Legion Weekly.

John H. Earliwine, a member of Company C, One Hundred and Eleventh infantry, listed by war department as a deserter. However, William W. Baker, of his company, makes affidavit that he and Earliwine were wounded in the St. Mihiel sector on November 4. Baker, who was captured by the enemy, swears that as he was bein g carried away on a stretcher he saw Earliwine lying on the ground seriously wounded. Earliwine has not been heard from since October, 1918, and his father desires information regarding his fate to clear his good name and to make claim for his insurance. Address S. F. Earliwine, Loudenville, W. Va.

Joseph S. Brewster, second lieutenant, Company F, Fifty-ninth infantry, was reported killed in action of July 30, 1918, but other reports say he died on July 20. Information regarding his death and burial is wanted by his brother, Virgil S. Brewster, Erson Hill, Ga.

Edgar H. English, private, Seventy-third Company, Sixth Marines, was reported killed in action on November 1, 1918; later message said he was seen on November 10, 1918. His sister, Mrs. Fred E. Ryan, St. Marys, W. Va., seeks any information.

Charles E. Moss, private, Company K, One Hundred and Twelfth infantry, was reported killed in action at Fismette on August 24, 1918. All efforts to locate grave unavailing. Buddies who know nature of his death and place of burial are asked to communicate with Charles L. Ralston, Charles B. Gillespie Post, American Legion, Freeport, Pa.

Leon Burr, Three Hundred and Eighth infantry band, was reported dead in France on October 14, 1918. Later message said he was in a hospital in Louisiana and was known there, but he was not located. Information concerning him should be sent to Mrs. Etta Burr, 108 Oakwood avenue, Syracuse, N. Y.

Teddy Roth, private, Company F, Second ammunition train, reported killed on October 8, 1918, and missing in action on October 9. Seen on the rear end of an ambulance, apparently wounded, on October 7. Red Cross reported him in a field hospital on October 7 and later in a base hospital, number unknown. His mother, Mrs. Fred Roth, route 1, box 18, Ellisville, Ill., desires authentic details.

Photo of Ad League to Be Made at Lunch

A banner program for the weekly Ad Club luncheon to be held Monday at the Kemp hotel, when it is planned to take the club picture to be sent to national headquarters, is announced by Charleston Kleinman, chairman of program committee. Mr. Kleinman declared that the local club has been having a larger attendance than Dallas and Fort Worth and urges that all members attend the Monday luncheon, so the local body can send the picture of the largest club in the state.

Happy Roy Thomas, who was for a number of years a professional minstrel, is announced as one of the program. The form of his entertainment has not been announced.

Other numbers on the program included: Piano solo, Rigoletta paraphase de concert, Verdi Liszt, by Prof. Frank F. Loew; an address on "County Assessments," by Irvan Deaton, county tax assessor; vocal solo, Miss Tillie Mae Schaeffer and an address on Advertising asset of Wichita Falls by T. A. Bradley, advertising manager of the Perkins-Timberlake Company.

WOMEN IN ORCHESTRAS NECESSARY, SAYS LEADER

LONDON, Feb. 12.—"I will never conduct an orchestra without women in future; they do their work so well," declared Sir Henry Wood, at the Brighton School of Music's annual festival.

"Women have greater talent for the violin," added Sir Henry. "They have a greater delicacy of touch. They are sincere. They do not drink and they do not smoke as much as men."

"In my concerts they have given a certain tone to our rehearsals and a different spirit to our performances."

The famous conductor deplored the fact that choral singing is on the wane in England, and that the musical festivals for which certain parts of England were famous were going to their doom.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND
BY DAISY DEAN

With cut of Buster Keaton and Natalie Talmadge.

That youngest Talmadge sister has always been an up and coming young woman. When her sisters became famous in pictures she followed closely in their footsteps, and although she has not been starred yet she has always been commended for her good work. When Connie startled everybody by running off and getting married, it was thought that the family would lead a settled life for some little time, for Connie was the irrepressible one.

Buster Keaton in the act of falling for Natalie Talmadge.

But young Natalie was not to be outdone in affairs of the heart, for announcement has just been made of her engagement to Buster Keaton, the famous comedian. The wedding, which will culminate a war romance begun while Keaton was in the American army, will take place in New York next summer, according to reports. At present Miss Talmadge is in New York and Mr. Keaton is making comedies in Los Angeles.

Tom Moore to Marry.

A motion picture romance that is surprising because of the suddenness with which it happened is the announcement of the engagement of Tom Moore and Renee Andoree. Mr. Moore was here only a few weeks ago making exterior scenes for a Goldwyn picture. Miss Andoree, formerly in musical comedy, was engaged for an important part in the picture and returned to the Goldwyn studios with the Moore company. The title of the picture they played together in is "Made in Heaven." No plans for the wedding have been announced.

Mr. Moore formerly was married to Alice Joyce, who later divorced him and married James Regan, the son of the owner of the Knickerbocker hotel.

BOTTLE OF LIQUOR ORDERED RETURNED BY FEDERAL JUDGE

By Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 12.—Judge John H. Cotteral in federal court here today ordered one quart of liquor, seized in a raid by federal agents in the home of Moman Pruiett, returned to Pruiett, holding the seizure to be unlawful, since the agents were shown to have had no search warrants. Pruiett's attorney then moved that the grand jury dismiss charges against Pruiett. The court is considering such dismissal.

OHIO VARSITY CLAIMS RECORD IN ATHLETICS

The University of Illinois, not content with bein in opposition or rivalry with the University of Pennsylvania in the matter of holding relay carnival, now claims several record-breaking performances during the past three years.

In 1917, Waldo Ames, one of the greatest hurdlers that ever donned an Illinois track suit, smashed two world's records, running the 75-yard low hurdles in 8 and 2-6 secands, and the 75-yard high hurdles in 9 and 3-5 seconds. The record in the 75-yard lows stood for many years made in 1913 by R. R. (Railroad) Templeton of San Francisco and equalled the following year by J. J. Eller of New York at the New York athletic club, on the famous island track. Their performances of 9 seconds flat was thought to be unbreakable until Ames took 3-5 of a second from it in one of the greatest indoor races of the 1917 meet.

The year 1919 saw the records of Waldo being put into the discard by Carl Johnson, the greatest of the great Michigan athletes. In the final heats of both the low and high sticks Johnson won from LeGendre of Georgetown, lowering the low sticks record to 8 seconds flat and the high hurdles to 9 and 2-5. Jock Scholz, the game little Missouri University flyer, equalled the world's record for the 75-yard sprint in 1920 on the Illinois indoor track. This record is held at 7 and 3-5 seconds by the four joint holders, Benny Welfer, Archie Hahn, Howard Drew, the colored sprinter, and Jackie Scholz.

Many reasons have been given for the fast performances on the Illinois track, but the biggest is that it is kept in perfect condition the year round. The 75-yard straight-away is built of the finest southern clay and is said to be the best in the country.

The Illinois Carnival is perhaps one of the biggest athletic events of the year in the West and middle West. Coaches are always anxious to try out their men in order to find the weak spots on the teams and have time to remedy them before the out-door season starts. Last year over 800 athletes competed in the meet. Judging from the number and class of the entries received at this early date a far greater attendance is expected this year. Many schools are entering the events, as well as entering their relay teams. The colleges are following suit.

GEORGIAN "PRESENTED" WITH 11 CHILDREN, WILL KEEP SIX

Below, Mrs. F. E. A. South and the triplets she "presented" to her husband New Year's day. Above, South and the twins, Ruth and Jewel, two of the other children his wife obtained from the hospital.

Six of eleven children taken from maternity hospitals and "presented" to her husband by Mrs. F. E. A. South, Atlanta, Ga., as her own will be adopted legally and cared for by Mr. and Mrs. South in their home, South has decided.

The "triplets" presented South on New Year's day must go, South says. Two of the eleven children "foisted" on South during the last fourteen years are dead.

"I am going to send those three back to the maternity hospital," said South.

Mrs. South, equally as determined as her husband, reiterated her determination to "keep them all."

South, however, expressed the belief that Mrs. South would "meet him half way" and adjust their future amicably.

"My wife has done nothing criminal," he said, "but it is an imposition on me, and I won't have the three little ones brought here New Year's day.

"I will adopt the other six. I have learned to love them and to lose them would be like giving up my own children."

Local Poloists Ambitious for Distant Games

Say what you will, but the Wichita Falls Polo Club is an ambitious aggregation, the latest dope coming from Cecil Wilfong, star No. 1 of the team. Arrangements are being made, Wilfong said, to enter a tournament to be held by the Oklahoma City Polo club in the very near future. This tournament will include such teams as the Ft. Sill officers, the Kansas City Polo club and several other first class teams of the Southwest. Wilfong firmly believes the Wichita Falls team will win the tournament.

The game or rather series of games which were supposed to have been arranged in the near future with Jim Minnots' Cowboys of Crowell, has fallen through. Latest reports have it that Minnot has packed up his tent and ponies and migrated to California for a couple of weeks. The cowboy leader is known as one of the best, if not the best, polo players in this part of the country and when asked to play on one of the California teams during a tournament out there, readily accepted.

If the local polo team goes to Oklahoma City as planned, they will have the opportunity to play against Mayor McCoullah, the champion amongst army poloists. The major is rated as the best polo player in the American army, which is rather a compliment, considering the army has some of the best players in the world. The local team will practice Sunday afternoon on the club grounds at Call Field.

FRENCH WOMEN MAKE EFFORT TO GET SUFFRAGE

PARIS, Feb. 12.—Still another attempt is to be made in France to allow women to vote and sit in parliament. The author of the latest project is Deputy Henri Roulleaux-Dugage, who considers that not only should women be allowed to vote, but that children under twenty-one and above fifteen should have equal rights and be represented at the voting booths by their parents. M. Rolleaux-Dugages reasoning is that large families should have more advantages than single persons or childless marriages. Indirectly he thinks that in this way French families might be encouraged to have more children and thereby help to revive the birthrate, inasmuch as the children, if not old enough to vote, could be represented by their parents and thus have a voice in their immediate future.

Figures of the voting population in France during the last election in 1919 showed that but eleven million men voted out of a total population of forty million. Only four million of the voters were fathers of three children. More than two hundred French deputies are supporting M. Roulleoux-Dugage and the project is to come up for discussion in the chamber of deputies in the near future.

ROMANCE OF 45 YEARS SOON TO BE CULMINATED

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Feb. 12.—A romance of forty-five years will culminate in the marriage of J. C. Gibbs, bachelor farmer, with Miss Myrtle Sanderson of Ceylon, India. He is 65 and his bride-to-be 63. Hhey came with their parents from Manitowoc, Wis., by ox team to Florence, Neb., over forty-five years ago. Miss Sanderson's father was formerly a minister at Manitowoc and also preached to the Indians in the early days of Nebraska. It was then that she and Gibbs became engaged, but the father wished the girl to become a missionary and is said to have told her, "While I live I want you to serve God and after that, if you want to serve the devil and get married, you can." A month ago Rev. G. C. Sanderson died near Los Angeles and Gibbs is selling the livestock on the farm he rents and will go to San Francisco to claim his bride, to arrive from Ceylon this month. During the forty-five years Gibbs would farm for a few years then tour a foreign country, always visiting his sweetheart, and then come back, farm and earn more money to take another trip. His bride has made one proposition to him, that she will marry him now if he will take a three years' course in theology and study for the ministry.

RUSSIAN REFUGEES KEPT ON SHIPBOARD

PARIS, Feb. 12.—Five thousand Russian refugees, including many former Wrangel officers and their wives, remained huddled aboard ships off the Tunis coast for several days without being permitted to go ashore, because of the strange error of a French administrative official.

The refugees were to have been debarked at Bizerta and orders were issued from Paris that they were to occupy a number of barraks used to house Serbian refugees during the war. Paris had forgotten that the barracks had been demolished two years before and it took a long exchange of messages to straighten out the situation. Among the refugees were 350 women, belonging to the upper and middle classes of Russian society who were without even a change of clothes.

Applications for domestic work in New York city have increased 600 per cent over those of a few months ago.

LOCAL CHAMBER IS RELATIVELY GIANT OF KIND

The Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce has the largest membership and the largest annual income of any city in the United States with populations ranging from 25,000 to 50,000, according to authentic statistics which were made public Saturday.

The report also shows that the Wichita Falls chamber has a membership and revenue that is known to exceed that of the Young Men's Business League of Waco, which has been heralded as the largest commercial organization in the South. The reports show the Wichita Falls body will have a membership of 2400 and will receive an annual income om $50,000.

Only four Texas chambers of commerce are quoted in the list, Wichita Falls leads all of those quoted. The others are:

Austin, population, 34,876; membership 400; income $10,000.

Beaumont, population, 40,422; membership, 672; income, $16,800.

Galveston, population, 44,255; membership, 600; income, $7,600.

The Wichita Falls commercial club has more than 704 more members than the combined memberships of Galveston, Beaumont and Austin and nearly twice as much income. Their total is $30,400. Wichita Falls alone has $60,000.

Some of the cities inclued in the list of cities passed in progressiveness by the local body are: Montgomery, Ala.; Pohenix, Ariz.; Fort Smith, Ark.; Pasadena, Calif.; Pueblo, Col.; Muncie, Ind.; Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Dubuque, Iowa; Lexington, Ky.; Shreveport, La.; Battle Creek, Mich.; Kalamazoo, Mich.; Perthy Amboy, N. J.; Winston-Salem, N. C.; McKeesport, Pa.; Austin, Beaumont, Galveston and Sheboygan, Wis.

SHIP BUILDING IN ENGLAND IS BEING CURTAILED

LONDON, Feb. 12.—For the first time since the end of the war Lloyd's register of shipping shows a decrease in the United Kingdom in shipping construction.

The decrease for the final quarter of last year is about $22,000 tons, as compared with the previous quarter's returns.

The total number of steamships launched during the past year in the United Kingdom was 574 vessels of 1,991,732 tons.

One very striking feature of the returns is the number of oil tankers under construction in various countries. There are at the present time 160 steamers and motor vessels under construction for the carriage of oil in bulk. These ships are all over 1,000 tons and 14 of the largest ones are being built in the United Kingdom and 28 in the United States.

America ranks second to the United Kingdom with the amount of shipping tonnage on hand. The United States has 235 vessels with a total tonnage of one and one-half million—the United Kingdom has 921 vessels with a tonnage of three and one-half millions.

The registrar of shipping suggests that the present decline in the world's shipbuilding may prove to be the beginning of a downward movement which will be just as rapid as the increase which has taken place since 1918.

MONROE ACQUIRES INSURANCE AGENCY

A half interest in the Sharpe Insurance Agency, heretofore conducted by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sharpe in the Bob Waggoner building has been purchased by N. O. and J. C. Monroe, real estate dealers, offices 220-22, First National Bank building, according to an announcement made Saturday.

The new firm will be known as the Monroe-Sharpe Insurance Company, and will be conducted by Mr. Sharpe, in offices 220-22 First National Bank building. Mr. Sharpe, who has been in the insurance business in Wichita Falls for several years, is one of the representatives of local insurance firms on the Chamber of Commerce business council.

Mr. Monroe, announced that he and his brother will continue in the real estate business leaving the conduct of the incurance company entirely in the hands of Mr. Sharpe.

The new firm announce that they will be located and ready for business in their new quarters Monday morning.

"TWINKLE FOOT" IS LATEST IN HOSIERY

In other words, fancy stockings in colored silk, with a design embroidered at the instep in metallic thread and a center of iridescent sequins which sparkle in the ballroom.

There are also shaded-color stockings. A French firm has produced these in colors which change from maroon to champagne, or from navy to pink, or black to white. The deepest tone of the colors is at the foot.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY IS NEXT EXCUSE FOR GAY PARTIES; SOME SUGGESTIONS

Next to Christmas to the youthful mind comes Valentine day, with its fun of making and giving Valentine and its many fancy dress parties. The possibilities for the decorations on this day are unusually good and many pretty ideas are to be had for small sums, from ten cents up, which are the prices of the paper sets and novelties most of the stores carry.

Nowadays the table decorations are about the simplest part of any luncheon. The illustration shows a table set with a paper cloth decorated with many hearts and a garland border. Paper plates, paper napkins, paper baskets with little cupids attendant, paper streamers form a large paper cupid holding a large paper heart centerpiece, and love-letter place cards delivered by a dove form a pretty and attractive decorations. A fortunate may be attached to each favor or some little prophetic saying as to the heart affairs of each guest. The little heart-shaped baskets may hold small after-dinner candies or salted nuts.

Of course, all the dishes served at the luncheon or supper party should have some sort of heart decoration or be in some way a reminder of the occasion.

The dress which is illustrated may be readily made over from an old muslin slip or frock. It is all fashioned of paper with hearts and garlands for decorations. The hat is also made of paper.

How the Dress Is Made.

Paste the decorated crepe paper which forms the lower part of the skirt, to the fold of plain pink crepe paper which forms the upper part. Paste while the paper is spread flat. Then gather the skirt at the waistline with silkateen.

Four narrow ruffles of pink paper trim the hips and the sleeves. The ruffles are best made on the sewing machine.

The waist is made of plain pink crepe paper slightly fulled and cut with rounding neck.

A shirred band of crepe paper, two inches wide, also made on the machine, trims the waist, extending around the belt line, crossing in front and ending at the shoulders. A heart and ribbon motif pasted on where the bands cross the waist in front repeats the skirt motif.

The foundation of the hat is simply a wire ring shaped as illustrated. A double piece of pink crepe paper is drawn around this wire to form the brim, and is then pasted together at the back. A gathered crown of the decorated design is sewed in place and the hat is finished with a narrow ruffle around th eedge and streamers.

Here are descriptions of a number of attractive dishes from which you may select the menu best adapted to your needs.

Tomato soup or bouillon with heart-shaped croutons. Creamed oysters or chicken in heart-shaped pattie cakes. Large red apples hollowed out and filled with a mixture of apples, nuts, celery and salad dressing.

Cupid's Salad: Cut out heart-shaped pieces of tomato jelly that was hardened in a large, flat dish and place on crisp lettuce leaves. Prepare a cupful of stoned olives, sliced and chopped cucumber pickles mix with mayonnaise and place a little heap upon each red heart.

Love Sandwiches: On a thin slice of buttered bread lay a lettuce leaf spread with mayonnaise dressing and sprinkle lightly with grated cheese and finely minced English walnuts. Lay another slice of butered bread over this mixture and trim into heart shapes. Or boiled eggs cut in thin slices may be used for the filling.

Gingerbread may be baked in thin layers and cut in heart shapes, then frosted deftly so that only the upper half of a Cupid's dart is seen, giving the impression that the other half is buried within. Gelatin also can be prepared and served in heart-shape molds and colored with strawberry or grape juice to make it quite realistic.

St. Valentine's Nectar: Melt six rounding teaspoons of grated chocolate, then add quickly six cups of boiling milk. When chocolate is thoroughly dissolved add two tablespoons of strong, clear coffee and a teaspoon of vanilla. Serve hot with whipped cream and sugar.

MODERN WOMAN DECLARED UNFIT FOR MOTHERHOOD

BOSTON, Feb. 12.—Modern woman is becoming more and more unfit for the burden of child bearing, and all the aid science and medical care can give is not offsetting this fact, according to Dr. Merrill E. Champion of the state department of health.

More than 20,000 women die every year in childbirth, added the doctor. Between 600 and 700 such victims of civilization are reported yearly in this state alone, he declared.

Conditions are getting worse instead of better, said Dr. Champion, who blames civilization for the trouble.

As the largest bank in West Texas, the City National Bank of Commerce occupies a unique place in the industrial and commercitl life of the Wichita Falls district and is one of the most vital factors in promoting the progress of the community. Its officers welcome consultations with those interested in up-to-date banking service.—adv.

Fire Prevention Course to Slice Local Key Rate

Notice that a 3-cent reduction in the key rate schedule of fire insurance will be granted Wichita Falls in recognition of the fire prevention courses being given pupils in the city schools was received Saturday by Lee Clark, superintendent, from G. W. Tilley, state fire marshal.

A final report of the fire insurance rates for this year will not be obtained until after the rerating board, now working this city, has completed its report, according to Fire Chief McClure.

COMPLETE PAVING ON NINTH STREET

The paving on two sides of the residential block between Ninth and Eighth street and between Grace and Brook avenues, which is owned by W. Newton Maer, local oil operator and real estate owner, has been completed. The completed paving, the entire cost of which is being paid by Mr. Maer, is on Grace avenue and Ninth street. Work will begin at once on the paving of the Brook avenue side of the block. The Eighth street side of the block will be paved as part of the 15-block paving contract let by the city to extend out Eighth street from the residential section.

Six modern bungalows with garages and servants' quarters have been constructed by Mr. Maer in the block. Mr. Maer purchased the block a year ago. He will construct other residences during the coming summer.

POSTAL APPLICANTS TAKE EXAMINATIONS

Twenty-eight applicants for appointments as postoffice clerks and city carriers took the civil service examinations Saturday morning at the senior high school building.

Applicants who qualify will be appointed to serve here, according to Postmaster Howard.

One negro took the examination, according to Mr. Howard.

Another examination for appointment of clerks and carriers at the local office will be held March 12, it was announced.

"POOH BAH" MAYOR HOLDS 11 OFFICES

WESTFIELD, Mass., Feb. 12.—Westfield's Pooh Bah, George W. Searle, first mayor of the newest city in the commonwealth, holds eleven offices and plaintively remarks that he is the real "nothing to do until tomorrow" party.

In addition to being the chief executive of a city, which is commonly assumed to be enough work for one man, Searle is chairman of the school committee and chairman of the police commission.

As previous to his election, he was town clerk, treasurer and collector, and as no successors have been appointed, he continues to fill the duties of these offices.

In addition Mayor Searle is clerk of the water department, treasurer of the water department, clerk of the registrars and treasurer of the light board.

SUPERVISOR TO INSPECT INSTITUTIONS

Miss Georgie Walker, assistant state rural school supervisor, will arrive here Feb. 17, and begin an inspection of the schools in Wichita county as final action by the state to determine whether or not the different applicants are entitled to receive state aid, it was announced Saturday by Burl Bryant, superintendent of the county board of education.

Only five schools of the county were garnted aid by the state board of education in their conditional report made public several months ago. The five schools were among eight in the county which applied.

In the report, which conditionally granted aid by the state board of edueach school must finally qualify by complying with the laws and orders governing the placing of the various appropriations. It is for the purpose of determining whether or not the schools have qualified that the inspection by Miss Walker will be made.

The five schools which have applied and the amounts which they will receive provided the inspection is reported favorably are:

Iowa Park, $1,000; County Line, $1,000; Enterprise, $500; Barwise, $500, and Pond Creek, $200.

Cut Expenses But Boost Tax For Montana

Her 17th legislature assembly, with 108 representatives and 54 senators, is in session and they are meeting with many difficulties, chief of which is to cut down the $12,000,000 budget for the next fiscal year to fit the income, which will be less than half that amount.

Development of hundreds of thousands of acres of new farm land, excitement in the oil industry, commercialization of corn growing, extension of the cattle industry and growth of more than a score of new towns and creation of a dozen new counties in two years have led to huge expansions in the governmental activities of the state.

Now the solons are trying to tighten up the belt across the diaphragb of the state's financial affairs while they go up and down the highways and the byways eliminating expenses on one hand and seeking additional revenues on the other.

In two weeks bills have either been introduced or notice given of introduction of revenue measures to double the present tax on express companies, to boost the ante for privately owned freight car lines, to exact one cent a gallon on every gallon of gasoline and one-half cent a gallon on distillate sold, to tax every pound of copper one cent a pound and charge in proportion the same amount on the intrisic value of all other metals, including gold, silver, lead, antimony, manganese and other products of the metal mines, and a tax of 25 cents a ton on coal and a graduated license tax on hydro-electric properties which will cost the Montana Power company two and a quarter millions on the net revenue. Filing fees of foreign and domestic corporations are not forgotten nor is the motor vehicle license fee, which will be revised upward along with an income tax and a new and more productive inheritance tax.

While these revenue measures are being introduced the members of both houses are also planning a wholesale consolidation of departments and elimination of many high salaried executives, who have enjoyed the appointment system for years.

The consolidation idea is even being extended to the commission form of government for combined city and town governments and one senator has gone to the point of providing for consolidation of many new counties which are not enjoying a double A-1 rating in Bradstreet.

NO GOLD IN TOOTH UNTIL DENTIST PAID

MOBEY, Mont., Feb. 12.—All dental work cash.

This is the message which Dr. A. K. Wearns, of this city, is sending to his customers and possible customers. He says that he is through with the credit dentistry business and will require desposits when he starts working on a patient because they are prone to forget his ministrations and his own need of living as soon as the pain from a bad tooth is relieved.

Only 20 per cent of his credit customers live up to their promises, he said. Which, he explained, makes it a problem of either raising prices on the cash customers or requiring all to pay cash.

To be fair to all he will keep the same level of prices but will require gold in the palm before putting any in the tooth.

MADE LIVING SLIPPING ON BANANA PEELS

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 12.—Frank Smith of Philadelphia is listed by the police here as a "professional banana peel slipper." He made a living, it is alleged, by doing plain and fancy falls, after skidding on banana peels dropped in his path by a confederate. They would always occur on railrosd or street cars and after the fall Smith would present a claim for damage to the company and receive a fat check in settlement. But he skidded once too often, for when he entered the office of the Public Service Railway company here, asking for damages for a fall in one of their street cars he was placed under arrest. The police say he admitted this newest of "skin games" and the court sentenced him to six months in jail.

Burkburnett Barber Found Dead in Jail

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Feb. 11.—Dick Sawyer, aged 28, Newtown barber, formerly connected with the Two-Brothers Barber shop at Burkburnett died in the city jail here early Saturday morning from poisoning, the coroner believes. Sawyer's sweeheart said they were to have been married in a week.

Sawyer and a Newtown woman had a fight, the woman claiming in a statement to the police, that he had whipped her. Officer Lane drove him to Burkburnett from Newtown in a dozen condition. The officer thought him under the influence of liquor. This morning he found him dead in jail, his mouth seared with poison. The officer believes the poison was hidden earlier in the night.

Sawyer was divorced from his first wife some time ago. He is survived by R. T. Sawyer, Port Arthur, and E. J. Sawyer, Smithville, brothers.

DANIELS BUYS CABINET SEAT FOR SOUVENIR

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Secretaries Daniels and Meredith are to retain their "cabinet seats" permanently. They arranged today to purchase the chairs which they have occupied each Tuesday in the cabinet room at the White House and plan to move them to their homes after March 4 as souvenirs of their service under President Wilson.

Formerly the chairs were sold for $65, but these are days of higher prices, and the two cabinet officers are understood to have paid more than $100 each for the chairs.

Secretary Baker has contented himself with removing the brass nameplate from the back of his cabinet chair. He paid $4.50 for the plate.

Cornerstone Laid For Air Traffic Way

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The "cornerstone" of America's first airway from Washington to Dayton, Ohio, was laid today at Bolling field here with appropriate ceremony High officials of the army, members of congress, and aviators of note attended.

Army aviation officials described the event as a "milestone in the progress of American aeronautics."

A feature of the dedication was the first public appeaarnce of the American messenger airplane, one of the smallest in the world, which is planned to take the place of motorcycles for certain messenger work. The plane has a wing spread of only twenty feet and stands seven feet high. It will carry a load of 240 pounds and with its sixty-horsepower motor makes 95 miles an hour.

VICE PRESIDENT MAY MOVE INTO AMARILLO HOME

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.—Vice President Thomas Riley Marshall today admitted that he still is "sorter considering" moving to Amarillo after his term of office expires. He recently had a flattering offer to enter a law firm in the Panhandle metropolis. He gave the idea up, and then reconsidered it.

Marshall will leave here for Massachusetts immediately after March 4. He will then go to Texas for a lecture tour and may definitely make up his mind about the Amarillo offer while there.

From Texas he will go to Arizona for a short stay and then will go to New York, where he will sail for Europe early in May. He expects to return to this country in September.

LIME PRODUCTION IN TEXAS GROWS

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Texas furnished 55,900 tons of the total of about 3,350,000 short tons of lime, valued at $33,518,000 produced and sold in the United States in 1920, according to the announcement today of the directr of the geological survey.

The value of the lime produced in 1920 is considerably more than the value in any previous year. The average value per ton in 1920 was $10; in 1919 it was $9.50 and in 1918 $8.36. The total value of the Texas lime was $564,500 or $10.10 a ton.

Texas increased her production of hydrated lime 16 per cent last year over 1919. The total production in Texas was increased 9 per cent, which is the same increased production for the entire country last year over 1919. The quantity produced in 1920 was more than that produced in any year since 1917, though it was not quite equal to the average pre-war production.

CHILDRESS LUMBER MEN PREDICT BIG MATERIAL DEMAND

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, Feb. 12.—Lumber companies here predict a strong demand for lumber in the next few weeks, with indications promising for the erection of a large number of new residences here. A. H. Manzer, local contractor, is now drawing house plans.

He says that he expects a building progress soon, exceeding anything of its kind in the last eight years. The Quarles Lumber company expects to enjoy a brisk demand for lumber shortly.

PIONEER LUMBER MAN DIES.

By Associated Press.

WICKERSHAM ENTITLED TO ALASKA SEAT

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—George B. Grigsby, democrat, delegate from Alaska, is not entitled to his seat in the house, the elections committee reported today after long investigation.

The committee held that James Wickersham, republican, had been duly elected to serve in the present congress which expires March 4.

THREE KILLED AS TRAIN HITS AUTO

By Associated Press.

FAIRFAX, Okla., Feb. 12.—Two men and a 14-year-old girl were killed and a woman and two other children were seriously injured today when a southbound Santa Fe train struck an automobile driven by Frank Janet at a crossing a mile and a half north of here.

RUSSO-POLISH PEACE TREATY IS DELAYED

By Associated Press.

RIGA, Letvia, Feb. 12.—Signing of a peace treaty between Poand and Russia has been postponed until March at least, delegates to the peace conference said today.

The postponement is chiefly because of differences regarding the amount of Russian gold to be assigned to Poland.

PATENTS GRANTED TO MANY TEXANS

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON Feb. 12.—Patents were granted to the following Texans, the commissioner of patents announced today:

WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1921.

THOUSANDS OF MEN RETURN TO WORK IN DETROIT MOTOR CAR PLANTS AS INDUSTRY REVIVES

DETROIT, Feb. 12.—Detroit the past week displayed further signs of awakening from a three months' industrial sleep and the beginning of the back-to-the-factory movement became evident. More than 35,000 men have returned to work, the great majority of them automobile or accessories workers. There are 50,000 men now employed on a "short" day, or three-days-a-week schedule, according to George W. Grant, secretary of the Detroit Employers' Association, whereas records thirty days ago showed that only 17,000 men were at work in all factories.

Back to Work.

Resumption of operations at the Ford factory was the outstanding feature of the week, of course. While only 10,000 men were at work—about one-fifth of the normal number, additional thousands will be taken on shortly. It is understood that the present force will be employed entirely on the manufacture of repair parts. This division of the plant is an industry in itself, the income from this source amounting to $1,000,000 a month.

In order to properly care for this branch of the industry, it is understood that the Ford interests are contemplating the erection in the near future of a separate plant, second only in floor space to the mammoth Highland Park factory. It will be devoted entirely to the manufacture and repair of parts and accessories. Rumor has it that practically 150,000 Ford cars remained unsold when the plant ceased operations. Some dealers are said to be overstocked, while others report that the demand is as brisk as ever and that they have been unable to secure cars.

Reviving Activities.

Evidence of revival of activities appeared in other sections of the city. The Briggs Manufacturing company, which produces Ford closed bodies, called 1,000 men back to work this week. The Wadsworth Manufacturing company, a Ford body-making plant, is reported almost ready to resume operations.

At the Liberty Motor company plant it was said that sufficient orders now are on hand to warrant the taking on of more men. A large number were taken on this week and more will be added each week, dependent in a measure on results from the Chicago Automobile Show. Officials said that they were feeling cheerful, believing that they had passed "the low spot."

At the Hudson Motor Car company it was said that a few men were being employed each day.

True Prediction.

"It was predicted freely that the automobile shows this year would greatly stimulate and renew activities in the automobile industry," said R. D. Chapin, president of the Hudson Motor company. "It was not a false prediction, nor was it surface optimism. The New York show lifted the curtain on what promises to be one of the busiest years in the history of the trade."

Activities of the Continental Motor corporation at Detroit and Muskegon are considered a barometer of the automobile conditions. Officials said the plant was running from 25 to 30 per cent of normal.

The transmission department of the Reo Motor Car company, Lansing, resumed operations on full ten-hour schedule Wednesday. This will affect about 1200 men. The Reo plant has been working on a five-hour schedule for the last few weeks, but full time will be resumed in all departments as rapidly as material can be obtained. The full fordce of 6200 men is employed. Many cars are being sold at the Chicago Automobile Show.

More Activity.

Signs of increased activity are apparent at Lansing's second big automobile, plant, that of the Oldsmobile company, and it may be necessary to increase the working force. It is reported that 600 cars have been ordered by California distributors. Olde distributors in Chicago received an entire trainload of passenger cars from Lansing this week.

Maxwell Chalmers corporation has added 600 men to the working force of 2.000.

Since the plant of the Paige Detroit Motor Cor company was reopened January 3 with 100 men, the working force has been gradually increased to 900 and about forty cars a day are being produced. Orders on hand show an excess over normal of about $2.000,000.

No official word is forthcoming concerning resumption at the Dodge Brothers plant. It is understood that a big crew of men is engaged in altering the interior of the plant and notice of resumption may be expected at any moment.

"Our factory is operating practically in all departments, but on a much reduced basis," said a statement issued by the Packard Motor Car company. "Upon taking inventory recently we found the inventory somewhat unbalanced, a condition almost unavoidable in time of curtailments, so we decided to shut off incoming stock for a period and to operate on a minimum production basis until a better balance is secured.

"When that is accomplished and in about two weeks we expect to increase production largely in anticipation of the opening of real spring business."

BLOW-OUTS FROM AUTO ROW
BY FLAT TIRE

Prospects for the automobile business in Wichita Falls looked better the past week, there being many inquiries and a few sales reported. Business in general is reported much better all along the row, with a great outlook for early spring buying.

Don't forget the dealers' meeting next Friday night, as we understand there are some good times scheduled for this particular evening, to say nothing about a good dinner and some explanatory talks by the more fortunate who attended the big shows up east.

One of our out-of-town visitors the past week was W. A. Wilhelm of Vernon, who is a prominent dealer of that city in automobiles and farm machinery. Mr. Wilhelm is also a member of the local firm which bears his name, Wilhelm & Moulder Automobile company.

Our friend, Toute Suite Dodson of the Southern Tire and Vulcanizing company, says that business is booming these days. The less fortunate ones can't see the joke.

Some folks say that the man runs the business, others that the business runs the man, but be that as it may we report the sale of three cars for the Excelsior Motor company the last few days. F. D. Keim, the one who holds sway over the destinies of this organization, has just returned from the Chicago show and likewise a trip through the factories in Detroit and South Bend. Mr. Keim is very optimistic about spring business and predicts that a shortage of cars is bound to come.

W. K. Thompson of the Williams-Thompson Motor company has been chasing all over the county this last week and we have not found him in one spot long enough to check up on his Packard sales, so cannot give the exact number.

The sales of Jordans have hardly been up to par lately, but D. H. Rubsam, the one behind the gun at this place, has just returned from the Chicago show, and, according to Rubsam, it was "some show." He says that crowds were large and the outlook good for spring buying, but we suggest that someone call on him for a talk at the next dealers' meeting so he can tell us all about it.

L. L. Dixon of Buick fame was called to Dallas last week to attend a state dealers' meeting. Just what happened we can't say as Mr. Dixon was not back at this writing, but we will back his judgment in anything he does.

The Motor Supply company has added to its staff of salesmen C. H. Hite who will be occupied in the tractor department. Whether this addition was caused by increased business or the fact that the last man couldn't get along with Queisser, we don't know, but we welcome this new man just the same.

C. C. Randle got back Tuesday from Ranger, where he went with the Chamber of Commerce to the convention. Randle says that Ranger is a fine place, but give him Wichita Falls all the time.

W. C. Cook of the W. W. company reports the sale of a Wichita truck last week. Whether it was salesmanship or the idea of buy goods made at home that inspired the sale, we don't know, but nevertheless the sale went over.

W. S. Langford of the Motor Supply company left last week for South Carolina, where he will spend the next two weeks. We imagine that for this length of time Bland Omohundro can be found anywhere but at the Motor Supply company.

G. C. Eckman of Eckman & Von Allmen, the boys who sell "the best car in the world in its class," say that things are looking fine lately and that business is getting better all the time. Wonder who he has convinced that they have the right slogan.

The Overland Motors company has had a good week the past seven days, even if Al Booth has been half sick and out of sorts. They report the sale of three cars, with plenty of prospects left.

Julian McFall says he had the "thrill that comes once in a lifetime" Friday for he sold a Dodge sedan. These statements about thrills are almost true these days when all is considered.

BELIEVES AUTO INDUSTRY NOW IN SOLID SHAPE

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—John Kelsey of the Kelsey Wheel company declares depression of the past few months is the inevitable result of an over-extravagant period and he foresees a motor industry on a sound business basis during the coming years.

Mr. Kelsey, whose company supplies nearly all wheels and rims to automobile plants in Detroit and vicinity, predicts a gradual recovery in the automobile industry through the remainder of 1921, with everything working at full production by 1922.

"The sudden drop in the automobile market was mainly due to the automobile manufacturers and dealers themselves," said Mr. Kelsey.

"For two or three years dealers could not get enough cars to supply the demand in their territory, and their tendency was to raise their allotment as much as possible.

"Suppose dealer A was getting 100 cars a month. While he was selling them he always had the money to pay when a new shipment arrived.

"But the market fell off and A still had fifty or seventy-five of last month's cars when the new month's allotment arrived. He did not have the cash, but must take them or give up his franchise.

"So he borrowed to keep things going. This continued until the federal reserve bank officials ruled that automobiles were non-essentials and that no more money would be advanced on the bills of lading. The banks could not take the bills to the federal reserve banks and get cash, so they refused to loan money on them. The result was that everything came to a standstill."

SPEED MOTORS ARE DEATH ON GASOLINE

While the motors of the tiny 183 cubic inch racing cars are vastly more efficient than those of the racing giants that preceded them, still it must not be imangined that they deliver anything like remarkable gasoline mileage. If they show in action something like ten miles per gallon of fuel, it is a fair average, according to the drivers who pilot them. Great speed and great economy simply cannot be built into the same motor, no matter how skillful the designer.

"Something like $1,000,000 was expended by the experimental department of the Packard Motor Car company in the years of work that went into the building of the single six," declares W. E. Fessenden, general sales manager for Earle C. Anthony, Inc. "No less than thirteen different types of engine were built and they included sixes, eights and twelves. After the decision was finally made that the six was the type desired six different motors were built. One was purchased from Capt. LaPere at a cost of $75,000 and, while satisfactory in many respects, proved too noisy.

"Finally, when the present single six motor was developed, it was put through the severest imaginable test. Several hundred hours of block test operation at a throttle opening which corresponded to a 45-mile-an-hour car speed failed to reveal any weakness. A road test of sixty-seven days of continuous running, day and night, followed. A total of 25,0000 miles was covered, an average of 375 miles per day.

ASSEMBLING PLANT RUMOR IS DENIED

CHICAGO, Feb. —Reports from California that the Ford Motor company would establish an assembling plant in San Jose are without foundation. Officials of the company say that no building project has been planned in that city, and that the rumor probably concerns a showroom and service station which is to be erected by the local Ford distributor.

ANTIQUE CADILLAC GETS AWAY CHEAP

OLIVET, Mich., Feb. 4.—George Holden recently paid $7.05 for an automobile license, the smallest fee paid by any owner in Eaton county and probably in the state. The car is a one-cylinder Cadillac, seventeen years old, and said to be the second car put out by the Cadillac company, and is in daily use on the village streets. It is still in good running condition.

A wine made of tomatoes and said to be superior to orange wine, was once popular in Florida.

AUTO TOP BUILDERS SUBJECTED TO TAX

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Concerns engaged in building over automobile tops or bodies for installation on new or old chassis were held to be manufacturers and subject to tax as such in regulation issued by the bureau of internal revenue. The regulations apply in cases even though all such tops or bodies are manufactured as needed for an immediate job.

HUPMOBILE

A month—or six months—or a year from the day it is new, the Hupmobile is just as easy to care for, performs just as well, costs just a little to keep up, and is just as faithful.

That may explain, in part, the great good will which the American people hold toward the Hupmobile.

LIMIT OUTPUT, HIRE EXPERTS, IMPROVE CARS

"The man who buys a motor car built today is getting the most carefully finished product that has been built in years. The Chandler and Cleveland factories are building just enough cars to meet the orders from their dealers. Their working forces have been cut down and only the most skillful and efficient men were retained. I have never seen such a force of picked mechanics as that which the Chandler and Cleveland factories possess today, nor have I ever seen such uniform excellence of workmanship."

This was the declaration last week of G. J. Moulder, of the firm of Wilhelm-Moulder Co., local distributors of the Chanlder and Cleveland line and who has just returned from a six weeks' trip to the factory and taking in the recent shows of the East.

"With the lessened production schedule that prevails today, the Chandler and Cleveland factories are both in a position to pick only the very best workmen. A rigid standard of inspection likewise prevails and the quality of the cars being produced is very high, indeed.

"If the demand for motor cars opens up in the spring, as there is every prospect that it will, there cannot help but be a shortage of cars. Most of the big automotive plants are building only to meet immediate orders and are not building the customary winter stocks. This has caused the parts makers to slow up their production, many parts plants being shut down. Even the producers of raw materials have in many cases closed down, and mines and lumber mills are closed. It will take some time for the automotive industry to attain anything like big production again, and if the spring demand comes suddenly it is bound to create a decided shortage in cars for some time.

"The big men of the automotive industry are not worried over the present situation. They have simply curtailed their production, in accordance with the lessened demand, and are thoroughly confident of a reawakened demand in 1921. Business among the New York motor car men was very good, I found. The greatest depression exists in territories dependent directly upon the agricultural [illegible] for the farmers are not very prosperous this winter.

"The Chandler and Cleveland officials believe the foreign demand in 1921 will likewise be good."

DETROIT'S AUTO SHOW TO BREAK ALL OLD MARKS

DETROIT, Feb. 12.—Once more the great problem of housing Detroit's annual automobile show has been solved, and the largest in the history of the Detroit Automobile Dealers' association is promised to be held in the new manufacturing building of Morgan and Wright, Jefferson avenue East, at Bellevue avenue, March 19 to 26.

All exhibits will be arranged on one floor, which contains about 150,000 square feet of exhibition space. It is a difficult matter to comprehend just what this means, but when it is stated that here is more room on one floor han he show occupied on five floors of the former Ford branch building last year, the magnitude of this building can be realized. As in former years, the 1921 Detroit show will again be a leader from the standpoint of completeness, as it will be possible to exhibit passenger cars, commercial cars, accessories and equipment all in one big show.

Barring the shows at New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, few cities in the country are able to include commercial cars in their annual exhibit, and the Detroit show has gained a reputation as being the most comprehensive of any held in the United States.

NOT EXCITED OVER MOTOR TAX THREAT

DETROIT, Feb. 12.—Proposals of Senator James Henry of Lansing to levy a tax of $3.00 on each car driven from factories over the roads of Michigan for delivery, is likely to meet strenuous opposition from both the factory and the dealer interests. Senator Henry has embodied his idea in a bill which is to be introduced in the legislature.

The reason for it is found in continued complaints from both state and county authorities that drive-away trains damage roads. Representatives here of the National Automobile Dealers' association are laying the facts before that body. It is pointed out, as well, that the tax would mean an extra expense on Detroit dealers as many cars not made here are driven in, particularly from Toledo

FIRM DISPLAYS NEW MODEL OF FRANKLIN HOOD

The new design Franklin, one of the first of the new 1921 cars, which first met the gaze of the public at the New York Automobile Show, arrived in Wichita Falls last week and made its first debut on the salesroom floor of the Franklin Sales company.

Few cars at any price make a more attractive appearance on the street or in the show room than do the new design Franklins. Gone is the distinctive sloping "nose" of the Franklins of the past which marked the car as a Franklin air-cooled design, and in its place a new hood of equally distinctive appearance, but with an artistocratic touch that adds a wealth of beauty to the whole appearance of the car.

Carl Waelder declares that he faces the year with more optimism than he has felt for some time back.

"There are many minor refinements and improvements in the car which will make for even more notable economy and greater comfort," he said. "They are as noticeable to us and as much appreciated by us as is the change in the design of the hood, although of course that is the feature that will undoubtedly create the most comment and the widest discussion.

"A notable feature of the new Franklin is the use of the long piston, the invention of an old Franklin owner, which materially increases the power of the car."

JOHN WILKINSON, GRAND PA OF ALL AIR-COOLED CLAN

So swiftly does time pass that only a few of the men who were responsible for the early success of the automobile in this country are still alive. Fewer yet are actively engaged in the mechanical improvements of the cars which they sponsored back in the days when the horseless carriage was still a decided novelty and hitching posts were on every corner.

An Exception.

One of the exceptions to the rule is John Wilkinson, who in 1898 designed and built the first four-cylinder, air-cooled, valve-in-the-head gas engine ever made in America. Four years later this engine was installed in the first Franklin automobile, which then, as now, was air cooled, had full elliptic springs, a laminated wood sill and was very light in weight.

Mr. Wilkinson, as chief engineer, was responsible for all these fundamentals of design, and for many of the other refinements which have found their way into the Franklin car since 1902. For the past eight years Mr. Wilkinson has acted as vice-president, as well as consulting engineer, of the Franklin company. He has an international reputation as an engineer and is conceded to be the foremost authority on the air-cooled engine.

Early Days.

In the early days of the automobile industry Mr. Wilkinson was a familiar figure on the racing track. Those were the days when brick and concrete courses were unknown, all automobile races being held on dirt tracks, designed and generally used for horse racing.

AUTO RACES WILL BE HELD IN DIXIE ON GEORGE'S DAY

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—The 1921 championship speedway season will open here on February 22, when a series of five sprint races will be held on the mile and a quarter Los Angeles speedway. The announcement was made recently by Manager A. M. Young of the Speedway Association.

According to Young, the races this month will be divided up into four 25-mile heats and a final race of fifty miles. An unusually large purse will be hung up, and in addition word has been received from Richard A. Kennerdell, chairman of the A. A. A. contest board, that a large number of 1921 championship points will be awarded in the race.

Ralph De Palma and his fast little Ballot car, the same car which failed to arrive from France in time for the last race on Thanksgiving Day, is all tuned for the event and De Palma is understood to have been out on the large bowl for practice a number of times during the past month. It is rumored that the little French racing car is even faster than the Duesenbergs, which took all honors in the recent race.

The Bridge of Sighs, at Venice, over which condemned prisoners were transported from the Hall of Judgment to the place of execution, was built in 1589.

Don't Hesitate

The members of the Wichita Falls Automotive Dealers Association have talked to thousands who want to buy a car now or trade in their old car for a newer model. Many have bought but more have hesitated and procrastinated.

The result of this lack of definite action on the part of those who will want a car in the Spring or Summer is sure to be bitter disappointment, for when the day arrives when the purchaser's mind is absolutely made up and he is ready to order that car—the dealer will be unable to deliver.

If you don't speak now—the car you want will never be made from the raw materials. You will have your own self to blame.

If you are thinking of buying a motor car and want delivery on it by next Summer, place your order now. Don't hesitate.

WORST ANIMAL CRIMINAL DIES IN U. S. GRASP

The Custer wolf is dead."

He was the master criminal of the animal world.

For nine years this wolf had lived as an outlaw—the cruelest, the most sagacious, the most successful animal outlaw that the range country ever had known. His cruelty was surpassed only by his cunning. He killed with the refinement of animal ferocity. Here tonight, tomorrow night he devastated a range half a hundred miles away.

He loped through every kind of danger. He sniffed at the subtlest poison and passed it by. The most adroitly concealed trap was as clear to him as a mirror in the sunshine. Old hunters, unerring shots, drew the bead on him and saw him glide away unharmed. The price on his head was $500. Bounty hunters sought him for profit. Sportsmen put forth every device to slay him for reputation's sake. And still the old wolf went unscathed about his work of destruction.

Credulous persons said he was a charmed thing. Others attributed his immunity to a wisdom greater than beast ever before possessed. Still others said he escaped by plain luck. In whatever way they explained his uncanny elusiveness, everybody feared him.

All kinds of stories got abroad. This thing, they said, was not merely a wolf. They believed that nature had perpetrated a monstrosity, half wolf and half mountain lion, possessing the craftiness of both. In public opinion he had all the qualities of the werewolf of Old World legends.

No wonder that the telephones hummed when the word went out that a hunter, sent by the department of agriculture to protect the livestock industry, had killed the criminal wolf. That word ended a nine years' reign of dread, during which the stockmen around Custer had paid tribute to this wolf to the extent of $25,000 worth of live stock. And mere money loss was not the whole of the horrible toll he took. When he killed for food he took only the choicest animals, but sometimes he killed in atrocious ways for the mere sake of killing. Often he wounded cattle, breaking their legs, biting off their tails, mutilating them in unspeakable ways.

Four years ago his mate was killed. He never took another and many persons supposed that he devoted himself to revenge for her death. Later on he attached to himself two coyotes. He never permitted them to come near him, and they could feed from his kills only after he had finished. They traveled far out on his flanks, giving warning of ambush or approaching danger, and adding to the atmosphere of mystery that surrounded him.

After a bounty failed to bring in the old criminal's scalp, after private trappers and sportsmen had given up the quest, after poisons and dogs had failed, the stockmen tried a round-up. Having, as they thought, located the wolf, a large number of riders started in a great circle and closed up. This, like all the other devices, was unsuccessful. Therefore, in March, 1920, the bureau of biological survey sent to Custer H. P. Williams, one of its best hunters, with instructions to stay after the wolf until he was taken.

Williams went. He took with him a bunch of traps, but as the old wolf was known to be trap-wise, he expected to depend mainly on his rifle. As things turned out, he required both the trap and the rifle to get the wolf when he finally was taken, October 11, 1920.

Here is the story from the time Williams went to Custer until he brought down the criminal:

"When Williams first went into the country where the wolf ranged, he tried to find fresh tracks, but without success. He asked some of the men who had lost stock where the wolf made his headquarters in their section. They said the wolf may have had quarters anywhere within a distance of 40 miles wide and 65 miles long. Williams went into the hills west of Pringle and found that the wolf was staying around some old dens in Pelgar mountains.

"Williams scented up the soles of his shoes and started stringing out his traps. The wolf got on his trail that night and showed signs of great excitement at what he thought to be he presence of a possible mate. He followed the scent entirely around the line, and then, returning to Pelgar mountains, cleared out two old dens and made a new one which ran back into the hill about 50 feet.

"On April 1 Williams had his first glimpse of the wolf, but was unable to get a shot at him. The coyotes were acting as bodyguards, traveling from 100 to 200 yards on the flanks of their master. They would warn him of danger by taking flight. For a while Williams did not shoot the coyotes, hoping that he would get a chance at the wolf without having to give him warning by the shots that would be necessary to dispatch his bodyguard. Finally, realizing that there was no chance of getting at the wolf unless the coyotes were killed, Williams shot them.

"The wolf played hide and seek with him. After making a kill he would go on some distance, back trail for a few rods to a point where he could keep under cover and watch the hunter on his trail. At other times the wolf took to fallen timber and so could not be tracked.

"Twice during May the wolf stepped on the jaws of traps and on the night of July 3 he rolled into one, lay down on one and had a lot of his hair pulled out. This gave him such a scare that he left the country for a while.

"Early in September the wolf stepped on a trap and was caught slightly by one foot. Apparently the trap had tipped so that it caught only one side of the foot and the wolf was able to pull loose. This happened again in the early days of October.

"Williams finally got the wolf October 11. Here is his own account of it:

"He stepped into a trap in the morning and it got a good grip on him. He ran with it about 150 yards, when the hook caught on a tree, but that did not seem to stop him at all. He broke the swivel of the trap, and ran on with it on his front foot. I trailed him three miles and got a shot at him and got him. He is smaller than the average male wolf, weighing 98 pounds, and measured six feet from tip to tip, 11 inches from toe to hock, and had a tail 14 inches long. He was an old wolf, with a fur that is almost white.'"

Mexican Traveler Loafs About Union Station Day Before He Plunges Into Trip by Railway

Travel on a railroad is one of the chief diversions enjoyed by the Mexican, and when he decides to ride the cars he takes a day off before catching the train and hangs around the station, so Mrs. W. O. Davidson, day secretary of the Traveleys' Aid at the union station, observes. And she ought to know, because she has ample opportunity to study the habits of this nomadic race on account of the great numbers that are always "on the go" in and out of the local station.

Almost every day groups of Mexicans leaving the city come into the waiting room early in the morning, regardless of the fact that their train does not leave until late at night, and take their post. Almos invariably here will be one of the number who will have a guitar and it is not long before he will pick out a few tunes, Mrs. Davidson says.

Sometimes she lets them play, that is, if the crowd is not very large, but usually she has the nearbly patrolman interrupt the serenader.

One peculiarly trait of the swarthy Latin is that he seems completely at rest and happy while waiting for his train. The average American, especially the commercial traveler, is always restless and consults his watch at frequent intervals, but not so with "Pedro" or "Jose."

One particular case that illustrated their inherent love of waiting for a train, was seen Wednesday when three diminutive Mexicans "rested" in one spot in the waiting room the entire day. This party, in addition to the familiar guitar, carried the modern portable talking machine. When their train was called late that night, they reluctantly wended their way out into the dark, jabbering in their own lingo.

ANNOUNCES LIST OF POSTOFFICE PLUMS IN TEXAS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. — The postmaster general announces the appointment of the following fourth-class postmasters in Texas:

Goodlet, Haredman county, John D. Finley, vice Charles S. Shires, resigned; Hurley, Bailey county, Fred Witt, vice Clarence W. Hewett, resigned; Crow, Wood county, William S. Zathen, vice Nathan B. Hall, resigned; Tona, Kaufman county, Mamie A. Gipson, vice Neal Stroud, Mamie A. Gipson, vice George W. Gipson, resigned; Turpentine, Jasper county, Neal Stroud, vice Arch R. Neyland, resigned; Northfield, Motley county, James A. Tipton, vice Lily Heath, removed; Courtney, Grimes county, Robert N. Hudson, vice Pearl O. H. Drayer, resigned; Glidden, Colorado county, Sadie R. Nilentz, vice Edwin L. Campbell, resigned; Milvid, Liberty county, Anna M. Evans, vice Roberta R. Davis, resigned.

The civil service commission has been asked to hold an examination to fill the postmaster vacancy existing at Reisol, Texas.

The postoffice at Elena, Harris county, has been ordered discontinued February 15. Mail for that community will go to Crosby. The postoffice at Centralia, Trinity county, has been ordered discontinued February 15, and mail for that community sent to Apple Springs.

The sites of the postoffices at Copeville, Collin county, Pioneer, Eastland county, and Jones Prairie, Milam county, have been changed.

Special service has been established from Brad, Palo Pinto county, to Strawn. Star route service has been authorized from Roma to Samfordyce and from Perryton to Alfalfa.

The "Missouri Compromise" restricting slavery to 36 degrees 30 minutes was passed on March 8, 1820, and repealed on May 24, 1854.

LEGAL AID WILL NOT ASSUAGE HEARTACHE CHESTERTON CLAIMS

Written by Margery Rex for the International News Service.

This is the opinion of Gilbert K. Chesterton, noted author and commentator upon human habits and frailities, concerning a story in the day's news, in which a woman of Philadelphia has been awarded $5 for each of the twenty years she wasted upon a man who finally jilted her to marry another.

He shook his head, that great, tawny mop of hair that surmounts the mellow personality of "G. K. C." as he is dubbed by affectionate Fleet street in London and the literary world that palpitates at his every paradox.

The author of "Heretics," "The Man Who Was Thursday," took the newspaper clipping that told of the woman who had wasted her time. He read it carefully, doubled it and tipped it into a neat half cylinder (we thought he was going to roll his own)—and then changed his paradoxical mind and folded it into a neat square.

This he slipped cautiously into a waistcoat pocket in the middle distance, made sure it was safe, then, from the outside of the pocket, pressed it carefully to his stout and benevolent bosom. It was like a fortune teller pressing your ring to her swarthy, forehead to get in touch with you—or whatever they do it for.

Chesterton, the parent of paradox, is also the exponent of the orthodox. He is a devotee of midiaevalism. While many of the near-great affect to despise convention, "G. K. C.," the truly great, espouses the cause of duty and righteousness.

Tragedies of Two Types

"You can never take the tragic element out of sex," said Chesterton, being questioned as to the woman's story.

"But one can have a sordid tragedy or a noble tragedy."

"Would the 'Continental' plan of the marriage of convenience, arranged by the families of the two concerned have averted this and hundreds of similar tragedies?" we asked.

"In France, for instance, the girl has more to do with settling her own fate than is often thought.

"That type of social arrangement, and marriage, really give the girl more freedom," he continued, "and I do not mean the 'freedom' that is popularly believed to follow such a marriage.

"If she is behind the curtain and particular behind her Continental mother, she may let the mother know that she wouldn't be sorry to have a certain young man speak for her hand.

"I think that the ordinary human reasons actuate it, but the formula only is different. The parents work the deal.

"It is apt to be an early marriage, as I've already said, but it will bear repeating in connection with this affair. I do certainly think the cure is early marriage.

Cold Iron Can't Be Smelted

"To tie up two pieces of cold iron with a piece of string cannot make them one. They are different and they must be red-hot to be smelted. I cannot approve of a prudent marriage for that reason.

"Meanwhile the primary instincts should be put straight at the time when they need to be.

"There is this ridiculous modern chimera to get rid of tragedy in such but the facts are old and cannot be relieved in any such way.

"That is where the silly divorce enthusiasts are wrong. They want to accomplish something by sorting out yet again and pairing off people in new couples—thus to be happy.

The Tragedy of Man's Soul

"One can be faithful, though the other is not. You will find in marriage or in no marriage, in free love or in no free love, the same tragedy.

"I am a great believer in religious principle, and think the difference in the two types of tragedy is that in one case—the noble tragedy—we must believe in God and try to do our duty."

HOOCH AND HOME BREWS HAVE MORE THAN 'KICK' WARNS DR. HARVEY WILEY

Pure Food Expert Asserts There Is More Than Much Desired Thrill in Kitchen Stove Beverages or Cellar Distillations; Practically All Are Highly Injurious to Human System.

BY HARRY ROGERS
(International News Service Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.— Dr. Harvey Wiley, the pure food expert, who during Roosevelt's administration propounded the famous question, "What is Whiskey?" and then answered it, at least to his own and the president's satisfaction, recently issued a solemn warning against hooch of all names, shades and horsepower.

HARRY ROGERS

Since the Volstead law went into effect newspapers have frequently contained accounts of mysterious cellar explosions which later investigation disclosed to have been caused by the spontaneous combustion of amateur distilling plants. Dr. Wiley admits that such explosions might easily prove a source of danger to life and limb, but it is upon another aspect of the menace that he lays greatest emphasis.

The former chief of the United States bureau of chemistry believes that practically all the so-called "home brews" and other concoctions having for their end and aim the much-prized alcoholic "kick" are highly injurious to the human system and if indulged in long enough will inevitably result disastrously.

"Where Is Whiskey?"

The question of the hour, according to Dr. Wiley is not "What is whiskey?" but "Where is whiskey?" and thousands of otherwise perfectly respectable citizens seem willing to go to any length to answer their quest, they're sure to come to a bad end. Dr. Wiley believes, for he has chemically examinedl the result of the handiwork of many of these tyros and finds it little short of poisonous.

"All these so-called home brews and concoctions now being prepared by the every-day American citizen," he said, "are injurious to health and happiness of those who take them into their systems. In my judgment you might just as well mix a lot of poisonous chemicals together and drink them down as to take into your stomach the vast majority of alleged beverages which have made their appearance on the market and in private homes since the advent of prohibition.

While Dr. Wiley was chief of the chemistry bureau and just after prohibition act went into effect, he answered the question "What is whiskey?" and his definiation stands to this day, notwithstanding a vigorous fight which was made by whiskey "restifiers" who opposed Dr. Wiley's plan for branding their product as "adulterated."

Aligned with the rectifiers, Dr. Wiley found Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and two other members of the board of food and drug inspection, which was alleged to have been created without legal authority for the purpose of combating the efforts of Wiley.

Made Whiskey in White House

When Wiley's definition of whiskey was overruled by this board, he took his fight direct to President Roosevelt and for the first time in the history of the United States an official demonstration of whiskey-making took place in the White House.

"On February 22, 1908," said Dr. Wiley, "this hostile board overruled all my decisions regarding whiskey and defined it according to the wishes of the rectifiers, who contended that any alcohol with coloring matter added should be classed as whiskey. Through Mr. Loeb, the president's secretary, I asked for an appointment, and the next day I was invited to the White House.

"I carried with me a portable laboratory, with bottles containing all sorts of flavoring extracts and coloring material. I also carried samples of genuine Bourbon whiskey, rye, corn, Scotch and Irish. I walked into the president's office, explained the object of my visit and opened up my laboratory.

Whiskey From Sawdust.

"I took sawdust and mixed it with a number of chemicals and various preparations and in a few minutes produced whiskey, brandy and rum. The president smelled of the preparations, but he did not sample any of them. My demonstration lasted over two hours and during the entire time Colonel Roosevelt only interrupted once or twice.

"Then I handed the samples of real whiskey I had brought with me to the president. It was difficult for him to distinguish between them. After I completed my demonstration, President Roosevelt gave me a ringing slap on the back which I seem to feel even now and said:

"'Dr. Wiley, I have heard nothing but whiskey for the past three months, but this is the first time anyone has given me any idea as to what it is.'"

The president then told Dr. Wiley to take his samples and the brief he had prepared and place them before the attorney general.

"I did so," said Dr. Wiley, "and upon an opinion from that official the president ordered the commissioner of internal revenue to put my definition of whiskey into operation in that branch of the government. I was sustained in every point I had made."

WILL INVESTIGATE 'PHANTOM LIMBS'

LONDON, Feb. 12.—A grant has been made by the British government to Dr. G. Jefferson of Manchester infirmy, to study the after history of cases where men have complained of aching in what is known in the medical profession as "phantom limbs."

There are cases in which a person who has had an arm or a leg amputated continued to speak of it as if it were still there and often complains of pains in the missing member.

APPOINTMENT OF ONE OR TWO CARDINALS TALKED OF AS ARCHBISHOP VISITS POPE

The visit of Archbishop Hayes of the New York diocese to the vatican has stirred up considerable interest in the report that at least one more cardinal is to be appointed for this country to fill the vacancy left by the death of Cardinal Farley. It is hinted that the vatican may appoint more than one, and that if there are to be two, one of them will be a western prelate—Mundelein of Chicago or Glennon of St. Louis.

Both Archbishop Hayes and Archbishop Denis Dougherty of Philadelphia are mentioned in this connection. Philadelphia has never had a cardinal, and it is understood the Philadelphians are making an extraordinary effort to win the red hat for their archbishop.

Archbishop Dougherty has been but two years in the Philadelphia archdiocese, to which he was promoted from the diocese of Buffalo. Prior to his appointment to the Buffalo See he had been one of the diocesan bishops of the Philippines. He was consecrated in Rome in 1903, along with the late Bishop Rooker. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, about fifty-five years old and was educated at St. Charles' seminary, Overbrook, Pa., and other educational institutions of the Catholic church.

BURLESON FORCED TO HOUSEHUNTING BEFORE MARCH 4

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGON, Feb. 12. — Postmaster General Burleson is even more unfortunate than the other cabinet officers, who will have to do house hunting after March 4. He is obliged to do some house hunting in Washington right now. George Washington University has bought the residence in which the postmaster general has been living, and wants possession immediately.

The friends of the general were talking with each other about Burleson's hard luck.

"So the officials of the university told the general," the first said, "that they were sorry, but that he would have to give possession."

Big Motion Picture Studios In California Resume After Long Non-Production Period

BY C. E. HUGHES.
(International News Service Correspondent.)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—While the closing of large industrial plants in the east in the last few months has been felt in many ways in the economic world, resulting in some communities in business depression, the the temporary curtailment of production in the large motion picture studios here is said to have a beneficial effect and to have served a long-desired need.

Inquiries at the largest plants today that the lull which set in about two months ago is almost over, with most of the big organizations working at least 80 per cent of the time, and with some large numbers of persons are out of employment as has been reported in news dispatches supposed to have emanated from this city.

W. J. Reynolds, secretary of the Motion Picture Producers' association, said:

"The motion picture industry, like other great industries, was forced to curtail its output when the recent business depressions began in many parts of the east. The curtailment was gradual, however, no huge numbers of people being left without work as I understand was reported. Many actors suffered slight cuts in their salaries and there was a weeding out of all but the best help in the large organizations.

"One of the splendid results of the recent slump—for it is now about over—will be the elimination of 'fly by night' producers who turned out cheap offerings which have often been so objectionable to state censorship boards."

Cecil B. de Mille, director-general of the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, said:

"The motion picture industry was never on a sounder business basis than at the present time. Such retrenchment as there has been in the last few weeks has been along the line of curtailment in wasteful and extravagant production methods and has differed little from the corresponding retrenchment in all industrial lines.

"Overproduction during the year of 1920 was responsible in a measure for the recent lessening of production activities. But this has now been adjusted and the motion picture industry is facing the era of its greatest prosperity. Production activities at the Lasky studio alone at the present moment exceed the mark set at any time during the past six or eight months."

Joseph Engel, in charge of Metro's Hollywood studios, said:

"Recent reports that big studios are closing down and that armies of players are unemployed are absolutely untrue. Such reduction of production as has taken place has occurred in so gradual a manner that there has been no serious shock to the industry.

"There was a maximum of production of motion pictures last year, with the result that a certain percentage of the films made have not yet been assimilated by the exhibitors. This, too, has operated to keep down the number of new pictures made.

"But with a reduction of the quantity of productions the quality is raised correspondingly. Obviously, the use of the same organization to make fewer pictures, with the greater length of time devoted to each production will result in a better product."

Irving Thalberg of the Universal organization, said:

"Groundless reports that the industry has been in hard straits have come in most cases from small, irresponsible producers who have gone into business on other people's money and have been forced to suspend operations when their loans were called in.

"I can say for Universal that it is busier now than at any time during the past year."

AGAINST IMPROPER DANCING.

MARTIN'S FERRY, Ohio, Feb. 12.—Cheek-to-cheek dancing is arousing the ire of some local mothers. That style of dancing is one of the most popular among the young people here. It is the subject of discussion in women's clubs and some of the mothers have stated they plan to place it under the ban. Quite a number have said they will not permit their children to attend dances at which that form of the art is permitted.

Velie 48

The Velie 48 is strikingly attractive. Its straight-line, high-cowl body and tapering hood give the eye a long unbroken unit of beauty from front to rear. Bevel border fenders, octagonal lamps and a radiator distinctly different in outline, indicate the modernity of detail built into the entire car.

Velie also presents a new motor in this car. A motor having an internally-heated vaporizer, burning successfully low-grade fuel, giving vastly more miles per gallon. A balanced motor, with four-bearing shaft and durable bronze-backed bearings everywhere. A motor as far in advance of the ordinary as the car itself.

We claim more improvements in the Velie 48 than the industry has created in a decade. You can not know what engineering science has done until you see and try this car.

We invite you to a thorough acquaintance with the New Velie Six—The headline Car of Today.

THE WONDER THAT MAN TRIES.

Somebody has volunteered the suggestion that if you want to cut your cost of living down, you can find tips to that end by an hour's reading in the public library. And there is truth in the advice. While his suggestion has the flavor of freshness, it may also be recalled, even at the risk of tiresome repetition that the library is an age-old source of saving worry.

On its shelves may be found precedent for almost any situation, solace for many a care, cheering advice, masterfully expressed.

Among those books which the local library contains is a little copy of Robert Louis Stevenson's essays, which may well be taken as an example. It contains a sermon of faith in the face of recognition of only half success, for those who choose to look upon it from the church-goers viewpoint.

To those who join no church and ordain to regulate their lives upon such a philosophy as experience may afford them, it carries a vital message.

"And as we dwell, we living things, in our isle of terror and under the imminent hand of death, God forbid it should be man the erected, the reasoner, the wise in his own eyes—God forbid it should be man that wearies in well-doing, that despairs of unrewarded effort, or utters the language of complaint. Let it be enough for faith, that the whole creation groans in mortal frailty, strives with uncoquerable constancy; surely not all in vain."

It is a message from a man who has lived, suffered and, however great his fame and success, realizes that painfully often he has shot short of the mark. It opens a vista of a goal attained, only to find the sugar or attributes of that achievement lacking. It suggests another picture of a dream girl who turned out to be only a woman like others of ordinary failings. It suggests the story of the American multimillionaire, captain of all he surveys, who at middle age finds that he has thrown away his health in mounting the ladder.

Doing good, the author says, is not optional with us. We are "doomed" to it.

Speaking of men, he says in this connection:

"They may seek to escape, and yet they cannot; it is not alone their privilege and glory, but their doom; they are condemned to some nobility; all their lives long the desire of good is at their heels, the implacable hunter."

The wonder to Stevenson is not that man fails in so large a share of his efforts, but that he continues to try. Painting an almost loathsome picture of us, he says:

"What a monstrous specter is this man, the disease of the aggulinated dust, lifting alternate feet or lying drugged with slumber, killing, feeding, growing, bringing forth small copies of himself; grown upon with hair like grass, fitted with eyes that move and glitter in his face; a thing to set children screaming;—and yet, looked at nearlier, known as his fellows know him, how surprising are his attributes!

"Here for so little, cast among so many hardships, filled with desires so incommensurate and so inconsistent, savagely surounded, savagely descended, irremediably condemned to prey upon his fellow lives; who should have blamed him had he been a piece with his destiny and a being merely barbarous."

The same volume contains this message of cheer that man has tried. The conclusion of his essay on Aes Triplex gives the message:

"In a hot-fit of life, a-tiptoe on the highest point of being, he passes at a bound on to the other side. The noise of the mallet and chisel is scarcely quenched, the trumpets are hardly done blowing, when, trailing with him clouds of glory, this happy-starred, full-blooded spirit shoots into the spiritual land."

THE BERGER DECISION.

Three years ago Victor Berger and four other socialists were convicted of violating the Espionage act and sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment. At the trial an affidavit was presented by the defendants charging the presiding judge with prejudice against three of them and asking that another judge be substituted. So far as can be discovered, the "prejudice" attributed to Judge Landis was shared at the time and is now shared by all patriotic Americans. It was a prejudice in favor of the United States as against Germany, in favor of the law as against the breakers of the law. On the record and the face of the proceedings there is nothing to indicate to the layman that the defendant didn't have an absolutely fair trial; nor is there any apparent reason to suppose that the verdict would have been different with a different judge.

Judge Landis' denial of the motion for the assignment of a new judge in the case has been disapproved by six justices of the supreme court, and the conviction of Berger and his associates reversed. The majority opinion holds that the affidavit of prejudice was sufficient; that Judge Landis had a right to pass upon its sufficiency; but that he "had no lawful right or power to preside as judge on the trial." These are technical questions; and the average citizen will perhaps be attracted by the reasoning of the minority opinion, given by Justice McReynolds, who distinguishes between actual personal prejudice and "intense dislike of a class." "A public officer who entertained no aversion toward disloyal German immigrants during the late war was simply unfit for his place. And, while 'an overspeaking judge is no well-tuned cymbal', neither is an amorphous dummy unspotted by human emotions a becoming receptable for judicial power."

However attractive much of the minority opinion may seem to many of us, the prevailing decision of the court is a signal triumph of public justice, a signal refutation of the calumnies of the enemies of the state. It shows the highest court eager to remedy the slightest shadow or suspicion of unfairness, to protect to the uttermost the rights of defendants, to take advantage in their favor of the smallest cloud of doubt, to give even to the foes of our institutions the fullest measure of their privileges and liberties, under the laws and in the courts which they condemn. Mr. Berger and his socialist brethren are making a great clatter, as if they had been "vindicated." Law, the equality of all under the law, pondered, painstaking and unbiased justice, have been "vindicated." The decision is not a socialist, but an American, triumph.—New York Times (Ind. Dem.)

ABOVE SUSPICION.

Reversal of the conviction of Victor L. Berger and three fellow defendants by a majority opinion of the United States supreme court is something for which the court and country may be congratulated. The decision is one that has been needed for some time to give proper protection to popular confidence in the judiciary.

The everyday man will see in this decision that Judge Landis should not have sat in the Berger trial when his judicial quality was assailed, a determination to throw a sternly jealous guard around the courts. The legal organization should be as far above suspicion as Caesar's wife. There must be nothing intervening between the courts and the trust of the people. Every judge should be so fair that if he has the slightest reason to believe his fairness is questioned even in silence without the utterance of a word, he should graciously retire from the issue at bar—merely to emphatize his fairness as a judicial representative.

The majority opinion of the supreme court does not declare that Judge Landis was unfair. He may have been, but the decision does not say so. The opinion makes no charge that Judge Landis was prejudiced. He may have been, but that point was not before the court. The decision does not accuse Judge Landis of prejudicing the interests of Berger and his fellow defendants by what he said or what he thought. Judge Landis may have done that, but the supreme court was deciding another point, merely related to that.

What the supreme court decides has nothing to do with the facts in the Berger case. What the court said has nothing to do with the evidence in the case. The testimony upon which Berger and his co-defendants were convicted remains the same. If the evidence was sufficient to convict once it may be enough to make a second conviction certain. But if Judge Landis happened to hold serious prejudices against Berger and his fellows in the trial and if those prejudices were active enough to influence the minds of the jurymen, it is possible the testimony that convicted will not be sufficient to bring a second verdict of guilty.

But after all, the big point is that the supreme court declares our judicial proceedings must be above suspicion, or even a baseless hint of suspicion. That is something which transcends the conviction of Berger or the order for a new trial. It strengthens the sanctity of the courts.—Pittsburgh Leader (Prog. Rep.)

PUNISHMENT THAT FITS THE CRIME, BUT NOT THE CRIMINAL.

The whole question concerning the German indemnity, says the Newark News ,Ind.) is that which was raised two thousand years ago by Adam's first son, when Cain said unto the Lord: "My punishment is greater than I can bear," and the majority of American newspapers, while they make no effort to ignore the mark of Cain, seem pretty well agreed that the allies have loaded Germany with more than the traffic can carry. For the proposed export tax there is almost no praise whatever, even from those who think the reparations just.

A unique view is presented by the Washington Post (Ind.) which believes that the allied demands will work to Germany's advantage, first, negatively, because there is no advantage to Germany in the allied occupation of the country," and secondly, because "under the reparations plans they can well afford to take the load of debt and sturdily march forward toward a new future" since "the opportunity to obtain credit abroad is worth all that Germany will be called upon to pay." The Kansas City Star (Ind.) not altogether sentimentally, demands:

"Why is it unreasonable to ask Germany to pay annually an amount which is only a fraction of what other nations are having to pay on her account, and which is not not much more than half as much as the French people must pay in taxes to meet interest on the sum raised to repel the Germany invasion?"

That the period of 42 years of payments "is long and hard" the Pittsburg Sun (Dem.) grants, but recalls to its readers that "it is fair to remember that it nearly parallels the period wherein the German people paid out tremendous sums annually in preparation for the war they have lost." "Just" is the comment of the Buffalo Express (Ind. Rep.) with which the Syracuse Post Standard (Rep.) agrees, though it suggests that "the wisdom of imposing a 12 per cent tax on exports is doubtful." The New York Post (Ind.) and the New York Times (Ind. Dem.) go a step further. To the latter the allies' proposition is "reasonable" "but for the crass folly" of the tax; and the whole plan, the former thinks, would "have been accepted without criticism" except for that unfortunate feature.

Many writers feel that the duty on exports has made the plan futile, for they believe, with the Norfolk Virginian Pilot (Ind. Dem.) that it would," if imposed, tend to defeat the very ends of reparation." The Johnstown Democrat (Dem.) adds:

"An advalorem tax on exports will make it certain that there will be no exports. If there are no exports Great Britain's commercial forunes are secure. But, and here is the other side of the question, if there are no experts Germany can not pay France."

The Hartfort Times (Dem.) condemns this idea as "worse than ridiculous" since it would force the debtors to find "some hitherto undiscovered means of producing gold" and the New York Globe (Ind.) asserts that because of "the interests of the allied countries" it will have to be modified sooner or later.

The effect of the tax upon American trade is not overlooked by the commentators and the Springfield Republican (Ind.) remarks that "to say that the proposal should interest American business men is to put the case very moderately." The Brooklyn Eagle (Ind. Dem.) echoes this thought and adds that among other "fallacious features" of allied policy operating "at the expense of American interests" is the fact that it would "control our own financial relations" with Germany.

Considering the demands of the allies as a whole, the St. Louis Post Dispatch (Ind.) finds them exhibiting a "lack of good faith, statesmanship and sound judgment on the part of the premiers" and "vitiated with politics, revenge and ruthless greed." The Minneapolis Tribune (Rep.) complains that the allies have not considered that they are confronted "with a fact and not a theory" and adds that "almost any economist conversant with Europe knows that such a sum as 56 billions is nothing short of preposterous." On the same hypothesis the Minnesota Star (Ind.) from the same city, finds the indemnity terms "absurd." The Chicago Tribune (Ind. Rep.) does not think the premiers "have any idea that Germany will pay the amount in the long run" nor that "she can be compelled to pay it," and the Columbia (S. C.) State (Dem.) remarks that it has already "become evident that these plans will not meet the approval of the several allied nations." The St. Louis Star (Ind.) likewise thinks it "inconceivable" that a policy, which it attributes to the "blind obstinacy of France" and which would "wreck Europe" will "receive international support."

A French firm of wine growers has recently had made a bottle which is said to hold 300 quarts of champagne. This, however, is not the record, for a cologne bottle was shown at the Paris international exposition which measured more than ten feet high and four feet in diameter.

On the Spur of the Moment

THE HARDEST TEST.

An eminent Herr Doktor in Vienna
Has discovered a new process, so they say,
Without cosmetics, rubber masks or henna,
To make a lady handsome in a day.

He guarantees them youth and pristine beauty,
He'll banish every wrinkle, freckle, stain;
A grandma he will make into a cutie,
And all of this without the slightest pain.

The double chin he chases from the presence,
He brings the blush of roses to the cheek,
Returns one to the age of adolescence,
The age of jazz and chimmy, so to speak.

He brings a powerful X-ray to a focus
Upon the optic nerve. That does the trick.
No monkey glands or other hokus-pokus,

We'd like to have him demonstrate before us,
An acid test, the hardest sort of pull;

Vienna doctor has told all the women of the world how they may become beautiful, and—gosh! how they will dread it!

Another example of thrift is furnished by the telephone company, which will not allow its operators to tell you the time of day, as it wastes too much time. Instead of saying, "Eight o'clock," the operator saves a lot of time by saying, "We are not permitted by the rules to tell you the time of day."

DINNER STORIES

"A burglar?" George sat up, too. "Yes. I can hear him distinctly crossing the floor of the room below. Now (excitedly) he's lighting one of those cigars I gave you for Christmas. I heard him pick up the box and put it down again."

Then he snuggled once more comfortably between the blankets.

"Go to sleep, Mary," he said complacently. "We'll find the poor wretch in the morning."

Six-year-old Margaret often played with Nellie, a neighbor's little girl. One rainy day the two were just starting across the clean kitchen floor at Margaret's home when the latter's mother, seeing their muddy shoes, headed them off and sent them out to play on the porch. After a moment Nellie returned.

"My mother don't care how much I run over the kitchen floor."

There was quite a long interval of silence. Then Margaret said:

"I wish I had a nice dirty mother like you've got, Nellie."

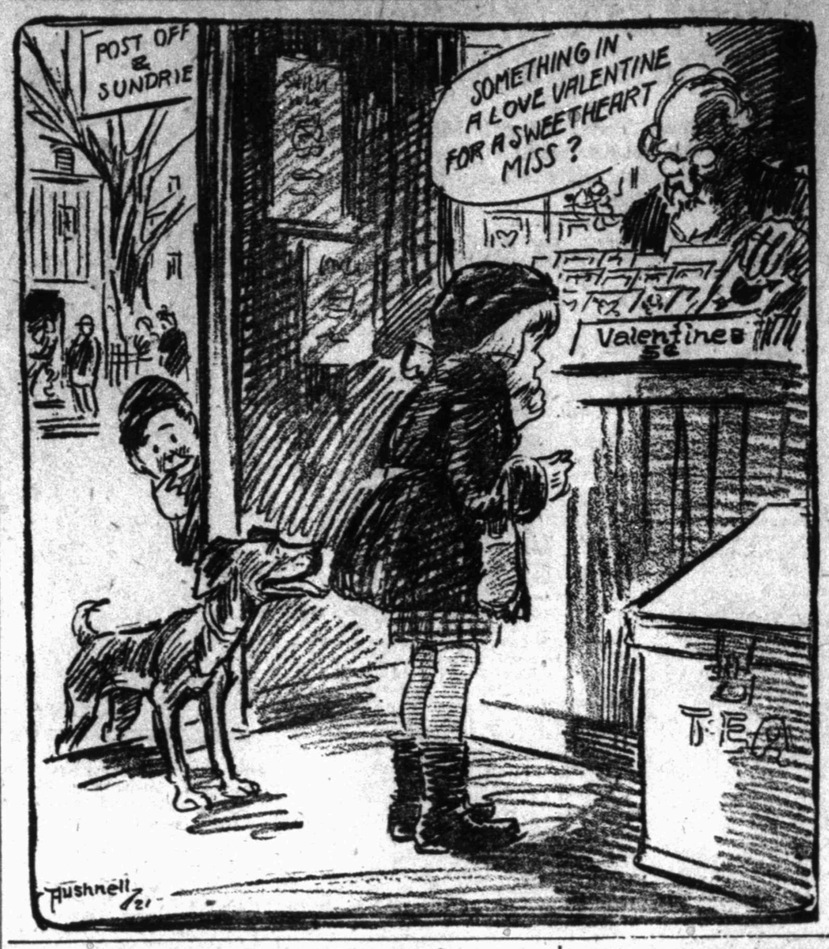

"To see ourselves as others see us would, as the poet suggests, cause us to think things over."

"Perhaps," replied Miss Cayenne, "But it doesn't seem to make much of an impression on some of the motion picture stars."

GEE WHIZ—I WONDER HOW HE KNOWS?

Lillian Lorraine, Ex-Folly Girl, Badly Injured, May Leave Stage

At the sanitarium where she was taken it was said her condition was so serious there was doubt that she would ever be able to return to the stage. Inquirers were referred to her physician, Dr. Phillip M. Grausman, but he refused to discuss the case, as did Mrs. Wallace Owens of the Hotel Monticello, Miss Lorraine's closest friends.

Other friends of Miss Lorraine in the theatrical world said they understood she had suffered a fracture of the spine in two places and had lost the use of both arms. It was said she was in a plaster cast and would probably have to remain in this condition 12 weeks.

Miss Lorraine, who had not appeared on the stage in several months, was to have opened next week in a vaudeville sketch based on the "swing" act she gave at the Ziegfield Midnight Frolic a year ago.

According to the best information, she went to a party the night of the accident and was on her way home when she dropped in at another party and slipped on the ice in alighting from an automobile.

The management of the Hotel Walton, where Miss Lorraine lives, said she kas brought home early in the morning. A doctor was summoned and ordered her removed to a hospital. She was taken to a sanitarium several hours later.

Miss Lorraine's last appearance on the stage was in "Sonny," a play by George Hobart, in which she played the leading part—a cabaret singer—in a road engagement. The play was not produced in New York and the company was disbanded in November. This was Miss Lorraine's only venture into a dramatic role, as she had devoted her previous efforts solely to vaudeville and musical comedy.

She came to New York from California and began her theatrical career in the chorus of "The Gay White Way" and "The Orchid." Her first speaking part was in "Miss Innocence." The song "Row, Row, Row," made her popular in vaudeville. She has had leading parts in the "Ziegfield Follies," "Odds and Ends" and "The Little Blue Devil."

Lillian Lorraine, well-known vaudeville and moving picture star.

In 1913 she married Frederick Gresheimer, who later had his name changed to Gresham. Since their marriage both have frequently figured in newspaper stories. Gresham once attacked Florenz Ziegfeld with a cane when the theatrical manager stopped to talk to Miss Lorraine, who was in an automobile in front of a restaurant. The actress obtained a divorce in 1919.

FREIGHT CARS HOUSE REFUGEES IN WAR ZONES

ARRAS, Feb. 12.—Freight cars of the type in which the American doughboy toured France are housing small colonies of refugees in the devastated sections of the country. When upon the conclusion of peace the love of home tugged hard at the hearts of the people who had been driven from city, town and village by the invasion and they swarmed back to what had been their own, they found nothing but a mass of troubled stones.

Anything that offered shelter was eagerly seized upon, those securing a freight car counting themselves fortunate. Stoves, cots and beds salvaged from the ruins were moved into the cars which, once taken possession of, provided they were on out-of-the-way sidings, were allowed to remain undisturbed. Steps were fashioned for the side-doors and the more inventive of the occupants prevented drafts from sweeping up through the floor by framing in the space between carbed and ground by slabs of corrugated iron gathered from field and trench.

Blankets and bedding were scarce, and these the American Red Cross undertook to supply to the freight-car dwellers.

MANKIND SHOULD THANK THE WORM

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The first great colonists of the land, said Professor J. Arthur Thompson during the course of a lecture at the Royal Institute, were worms.

Mankind should look back to them with gratitude, because they began with the profitable habit of moving with one end of the body always in front—a habit which was the beginning of a more vigorous life and opened up a great process which has resulted in one being able to tell one's right hand from ones left.

In the Mail Bag

Editor Record News:

I have read with much interest the letters that have appeared in your paper from time to time on the subject of Sunday observance, by J. Ellwood Wellingtopn and others. I note that these gentlemen appear to be very much alarmed over what might happen to some of our citizens if a Sunday law should be passed by our nation.

They evidently fear that such a law might be used to oppress a portion of our citizens who differ from the majority as to which day ought to be observed as the Sabbath.

It seems to me that these gentlemen do not fully appreciate the fact that those who are interested in making these laws are entirely willing to exempt all such as conscientiously keep some other day of the week as a day of rest, some day other than the majority of the people keep.

What harm could possibly come from such a law if those who desire to observe another day than Sunday are allowed to keep their chosen day unmolested, when the Sunday law makes provision for them and exempts them from the general requirements or the penalty of the law?

Surely no one wants to oppress these people nor anyone else; and they ought not to trouble themselves so much about things that are not at all likely to happen.

Death Reveals Hermit's Love For Many Pets

SWAN, Neb., Feb. 12 — When Silas Breen, aged 68, bachelor farmer, failed to appear at the post office for his mail for a few weeks, neighbors investigated.

Breen's body was found in his home practically eaten away by the cats and dogs which he had kept. He died of smallpox. Among the animals found about the place were 11 small poodles, one dachshund, three water spaniels, one St. Bernard, 11 bulldogs, three Scotch collies, five airdales and 16 mongrels. A total of 50 dogs, 37 cats, a cellar infested with white mice, the remains of a dozen canary cages, several broken bowls of goldfish and a barnyard of animals dying of starvation were among the effects of the dead man.

Breen had not been known as a recluse and had appeared normal in every respect. He had few visitors and thus his peculiar hobby of collecting animals was unknown.

In his writing desk was found an envelope containing $4,500 in bills and a note asking that his animals be provided for in case of his death until a home could be found for them.

Breen came to Holt county, Neb., many years ago. His wife ran away with another man. He married again, but his second wife died during the honeymoon and Breen returned to his ranch.

He was born and spent ihs boyhood days on a farm near LaSalle, Ill. Ten years ago he made a third attempt at matrimony. With the birth of a son, who died in infancy, the woman became an invalid and Breen spent all of a good fortune on her, but she died.

Mother of Polish Girl Met Death With Smile, Starved Child Is Saved by U. S. Charity

A story from Coningsby Dawson, the Canadian ex-lieutenant of artillery, who is traveling through the countries of Central and Eastern Europe, where the European Relief Council carries aid, sent from Warsaw in the early part of January, reads:

Some weeks ago a haggard man limped into the headquarters office of the American Children's Relief of Warsaw. He had come to seek assistance for his daughter, he explained. She had just escaped from Kharkov where she had been held prisoner by the bolshevists for many months. Her health was broken with hardships; if something was not done for her, she would die.

Unfortunately, he couldt not offer money, but whatever was done for her he would consider a debt, which one day he would repay. By profession, he was an engineer. The Georgian government owed him the equivalent of over $300,000.

Both Escape Same Day.

He had only that day recovered his daughter and learned her condition. While she was being taken prisoner at Kiev and carried a thousand miles into the interior, he had been cut off at the Caucusas by another bolshevist offensive. She had been escaping while he had been escaping, and neither had known of the other's predicament. From places far apart as continents, after life and death adventures, they had both reached Warsaw the same day, and had arrived at the house of a relative within a few hours of each other.

He was almost as spent as she was. From being rich, he was penniless. She was the apple of his eye; she was only fourteen and in danger of dying. There was no one to whom he could turn in his distress, so he bethought himself of the Americans.

Upon investigation, his story proved correct. His daughter, Wanda Marchzeloska, was in the last stages of exhaustion. The American Children's Relief took her in hand, feeding her first of all on milk, a luxury in Poland, until at last she was brought back to strength. Her story is worth recording, as illustrating what the relief work is doing and as the kind of sufferings which children are called upon to endure at this outpost of civilization.

This is how she told it to me today:

Saw Reds Storm Kiev.

She was in Kiev with her mother when the bolshevists stormed the city last May. In their conclusion, they separated, her mother escaping while she was taken prisoner.

With ten other Polish girls and eighteen boys, she was herded by rail and road to Tokharkov, a town very far in the interior. On arrival there, after many miseries, they were lined up in the square and sentenced to be shot. On the instant the sentence had been pronounced, it was carried out. When the firing stopped, only she and one other girl remained. A consultation took place, and it was decided that she, on account of her youth, should be spared. The soldiers pleaded for her. But the other girl—

The other girl had a sister who lay dead across her feet ,killed by the first volley. When she understood that she, also had to die, she commenced to weep bitterly. Wanda Marchzeloska placed her arms about her, whispering, "Remember, you are Polish!"

Met Death with Smile.

And so Wanda, aged fourteen, was left.

Throughout that summer, her life was a living hell. She was made the prison drudge. She was worked to a shadow. She was given little to eat and scarcely any rest. But she received many blows; her companions were brutalized men and women who had lost all mercy for their sex.

It was hot within these walls, she told me—like a furnace. Very often she wished the soldiers had not pleaded for her; she wanted to be dead. But the phrase she had uttered to the girl who had to be shot lingered in here memory: "Remember you are Polish!" She whiswered it in the long hot night when she felt she would go mad; "Remember you are Polish!" Among all the foulness of the people and her surroundings, she kept her soul clean by remembering she was different; she was Polish!

Girl Serves Time.

In August, she was served her punishment, and was released. Her one thought was to get back to her parents. So she set out for Kiev.

More than a thousand miles lay between herself and her goal. How she accomplished the journey even she cannot tell. The nights were dark, she says; they caused her to fear greatly. She hid in the woods. She slept on the bare ground. She lived on roots. Sometimes she thought that those dead children, who had been shot in the square, accompanied her.

By luck and cunning she made the last part of her journey to Kiev by rail. When she got there, it was to find the city still in bolshevist hands. She had no passports. If she had had them, they would not have served her. But how was she to get across the frontier into Poland?

Reduced to Skeleton.

She took to the woods again, this fourteen years old girl, with her body that was a bag of bones, tattoed with scars and bruises. Growing feebler and feebler, she struggled on. The last hundred miles were the hardest. But she urged herself forward by repeating, "Remember you are Polish!"

She did not know at what point she crossed the frontier, how or when. There are blank spaces in her memory, and visions of dead fields across which moves the scarecrow figure. It

PUT CURSE ON STOLEN SHOES; WEARER FALLS

AKRON, Feb. 12.—Goloshes, burglary, curses, sprained ankle and damage fees figured in the story of the theft of a pair of goloshes a few days ago.

The story came out today when a downtown stenographer called on her attorney and requested that action be filed against the owner of the goloshes, whom, she had been informed, had voiced a curse upon her.

Inquiry developed that the owner of the goloshes did utter a curse, to-wit: That "she hoped the person who had stolen the goloshes would fall down and break her neck."

Instead of breaking her neck, however, the taker of the goloshes did fall and sprained her ankle. She requested the attorney to institute damage proceedings, claiming the uttered curses was responsible for the accident.

"CONGREGATION WILL WHISTLE HYMNS," ETC.

PORTLAND, Maine, Feb. 12.—Congregational whistling has been introduced into the service of the First Baptist church by the Rev. John H. Thompson, who has become known here as the "Whisling Parson."

The pastor so far has proved himself the champion whistler of his congregation. At a recent service he invited all who could not sing to join in whistling the tunes of the hymns.

ANNIVERSARY OF SUSAN B. ANTHONY'S BIRTH FINDS HOPES AND AIMS OF HER ENTIRE LIFE A REALITY

At the lower left is a new base relief of Susan B. Anthony, and the photograph shows the suffrage memorial statue with Mrs. Adelaide Johnson, the sculptor, and Speaker Gillett.

February 15 marks the 101st anniversary of the birth of Susan B. Anthony, the suffrage pioneer who dedicated her life to gaining recognition for women in political and government affairs. The universal suffrage for which she fought so hard and gave so much was attained during the centennial year marking her birth. As a fitting commemoration for her life, the National Woman's party will present a statue to the United States capitol on her birthday. This suffrage memorial statue is a block of marble in which the busts of Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott, all suffrage pioneers, have been carved out of the stone itself by Mrs. Adelaide Johnson. Speaker Gillett will make the speech of acceptance for congress. He is shown in the picture viewing the partially unpacked statue with Mrs. Johnson. The statue will be presented to the nation by thirty-six women's organizations, representing between 5,000,000 and 10,000,000 women. Jane Addams of Chicago will preside at the unveiling.

The Packard Single Six

We offer this new car to the public, keenly sensitive of our obligation to the Packard name. Accordingly we have worked carefully and with thoroughness in its development, making sure that in all ways it truly met Packard's traditional standards. Our own tests and the experience, so far, of owners make us confident that under normal driving conditions it will deliver service of exceptional character and duration. We expect it to do more, last longer and cost less, simply because it embodies the twenty years of Packard experience.

Week's Development Featured by Report Honaker Wildcat Will Be Drilled Into Sand Within Few Days

Promise of immediate definite developments in the East Wichita is held out in the report from the company that the sand will be drilled into in the next few days and this will be the outstanding feature of the week, regardless of the outcome.

The bailing on Thursday repeated the previous showing favorable. The necessary preliminaries to drilling in setting the liner and cleaning out the hole, were begun on Friday.

The East Wichita showing has revived interest in the other tests drilling to the east and southeast of Wichita Falls. Latest reports show the General Oil company's No. 1 Keith, on several different occasions the subject of rumors of sand strikes, to be shut down around the 2,500-foot depth. This shut-down is due to the General Oil company's state of litigation.

On the Elliott farm, west of the General test, the 389 Oil company is reported drilling around 1,400 feet. This is the second hole of this company, the first being junkel under the thousand-foot depth, and the derrick skidded.

The test of William Champion on the Hatfield farm has been reported shut down around 1,500 feet for several months.

New Iowa Park Sand.

The Iowa Park Land & Leasing Co., has opened up a new sand, at 1,370 feet, on the Edgerly land, two and a half miles east of the Gulf Production's Burnet strike, the No. 2 well making 15 barrels in five hours on the pump. This well was reported on the sand, with about 1,000 feet of oil standing in the hole, some weeks ago, and in the showing made last week the earlier estimates of a small producer seem to have been too conservative. The well is now being cleaned out, and the tubing re-run. Results of a full 24-hour run will be interesting.

The same company's No. 3 on this lease is reported also on the 1,370-foot sand and setting the casing in cement.

Reports from the various pools around Electra show the activity cut into slightly by the day or two of bad weather this week, with the effect of slowing up completions, and there are few new welss on the sand to report.

The No. 1 S. B. Burnet et al of the Greater Texas Oil company is reported on the sand at 840 feet, and the No. 2 is reported as ready to drill.

The No. 1 Fisher of Fisher and Gilliland is reported drilling around 400 feet. Forbess et al's No. 3 Burnett is reported drilling around 300 feet.

The No. 2 Burnet of the Churchill Trust company is reported rigging up on section 4, M. T. and B. R. R. survey.

The Hub Oil company's No. 6, D. A. Fisher, is reported drilling around 350 feet.

Three new wells are reported under way on the Gladiolus Burnet lease. The No. 16 is reported down around 600 feet; the No. 17 drilling around 460 feet, and the No. 18 rigging up.

On the E. W. Harriott land the No. 1 of Jahnson and Weaver is reported drilling around 250 feet.

The Planet Petroleum company is reported drilling around 1,400 feet on it's No. 1 Waggoner, A., and around 900 feet in it's No. 10 Burner et ar.

Sunshine Hill.

The territory between Electra and Sunshine Hill, the one-time famous "little Spindle Top" and between this shallow pool and the old Burkburnett producers is coming in for more new drilling than at any time since the Burkburnett townsite excitement centered all operations the new Burkburnett pools. Some of the old shallow wells on the little knoll around the Sunshine Hill school house have been deepened to find a 900-foot sand, according to reports, and there is some new drilling under way. The new, deeper producers in this pool are said to produce between 20 and 35 barrels, flush, on an average, there usually being gas enough to make a flow, after a few runs of the swab, so that the wells give an appearance of a much larger production when first drilled in, just as was the case with the shallower sands.

After Deeper Stuff.

About two years ago several tests were drilled on the outskirts of the shallow production area for the deeper sands, with the 1918 Oil company, to the southwest, getting the only satisfactory results. These earlier efforts at opening up deeper sands are being revived at present and with better promise of favorable development, according to the result so far. The 1910 Oil company No. 6 Eads was reported a completion in the deep Burkburnett sand depth last week and the No. 7 is now reported drilling around 1,100 feet. The test of W. D. McClure on the McClure land, not far from the producers on the Eads, is reported drilling around 400 feet.

Among the few rigs running on the Ward & Todd subdivision, Sunshine Hill, the following are reported: Dale et al, No. 1 Ward and Todd, rotary; Griswold Oil company, No. 2 Ward and Todd, drilling around 850 feet; Montex Oil company No. 2, Ward and Todd, drilling around 900 feet;; Brown et al, No. 1 Ward and Todd, drilling around 300 feet.

On the H. T. Geetze farm, east of Sunshine Hill, the Texas Producers and Shippers' No. 5 Goetze, is reported on the sand at 1,100 feet. This company has recently completed two shallow producers on this lease, and the Texas company has shallow production nearby, brought in some time ago.

K. M. A. Quiet.

Very little activity is reported from the Kemp-Munger-Allen section, as usual,. The only completion which was recorded for the week was the second 50-50 well of the Kemp-Munger-Allen company and the Sibley Drilling company, reported at the end of the week as pumping right around 200 barrels daily.

Drilling is reported ready to start on the Jones and Vaughn No. 1 Kemp and Kempner the first test to be drilled in block 40, in the south part of the extension, since the Texas Banker's test failed to make a producer. This block has so far not been drilled, the south pool, starting with the No. 1 of Boger, Ard and Maer, in block 41, being tested out to the westward up to the present time. For this reason this block 40 test will be watched with interest, even at the present stagnated condition due to the halving of the price of oil in the past month.

Block 20 Active.

Block 20 is one of the most active sections of the K. M. A. at present. The No. 3 of the Universal Oil company which opened up the 1,500-foot sand on the Lewis, is reported rigging to pump. This well is on the 1,300-foot sand, from which the No. 1 is producing. This same company's No. 2 is reported to have the liner set on this same sand and now preparing to complete after several weeks of work in getting the hole in good shape, while the No. 4 has the derrick up.

The No. 1 Lewis, same block as the above, of Smith and McAuliffe, is reported resetting casing, the cement having failed to hold, according to recent reports from the field. This test got the 1,500-foot sand, and the No. 3, same lease, is reported drilling near sand depth.

A couple of new shallow wells are reported for the Holliday pool, the Lawrence Oil company's No. 6 and No. 7 McCall and Sanderson, five barrel wells. The production is from the 600-foot sand.

Bissonet and Cezreaux.

The No. 4 Parkey of Bisonet & Cezreaux, got the 1,600-foot sand last week, and passed it up, according to reports, drilling for the 1,760-foot sand, from which the No. 2 Parkey is producing.

Scattering reports from the Burkburnett pools show the same degree of inactivity as the other pools. Few of the tests now under way show any change of interest since last week's reports.

On the P. P. Langford, south of the Texhoma, the Ryan and Rogers Nos. 1 and 2 are reported on the 1,600-foot sand and preparing to complete after shooting.

On the J. W. Donehoo, Robertson survey, the No. 2 of E. E. Fuller is reported testing out a sand found at 590 feet and the No. 1, same tract, of the Silver Cycle Oil company is reported drilling around 500 feet.

The Reiseing Trust company's No. 1 R. E. Moore is reported drilling around 800 feet. Good oil showings are reported around 200 and 500 feet, but no attempt to test.

In the Clara neighborhood the No. 11 W. F. Ramming of W. G. Skelly is reported rigging up; Staley and Ramming are reported rigging up for their No. 1 G. W. Chapman.

On the Musgrave, about half way between the city of Wichita Falls and the Texhoma field, the Pope Steward syndicate is reported drilling around 1,900 feet in their No. 1. The test of Johnson & Robertson drilled during the Burkburnett townsite boom, first drew attention to the Musgrave, and though favorable showings were reported this test failed to get production. The new test is reported to have encountered a fair oil showing around 700 feet, which was not tested.

RETURN OF BUYER ARMY TO NEW YORK INDICATES BUSINESS IS IMPROVING

Sensitive Wife Sues Kin Of Washington for Divorce

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—"My wife is the most lovely, exquisite and sensitive woman in the world, but she has a tendency to err in her judgment at times."

Thus spoke William Lanier Washington, banker, clubman and direct descendant of the brother of George Washington, in discussing the suit for absolute divorce brought against him by Mrs. May B. Washington.

The Washingtons have been living apart for a year, but their marital troubles were not revealed until a petition was submitted recently to Justice Aspinall, in Brooklyn, asking for the appointment of a referee to take testimony.

Another Woman Mentioned.

The original petition was served on Washington on December 28 last. Mrs. Washington, in her petition mentions another woman. Mrs. Washington says she has not lived with her husband since January, 1920. There are no children.

Despite her charges, Washington said that there is no hatred between himself and Mrs. Washington. Simply they did not understand each other. He said:

"There is no bitterness between us. I have denied all the charges through my attorney. There has been no woman entering my life in such a manner. I know Mrs. Washington is not of a jealous nature, but she is extremely sensitive and apt to draw hasty conclusions."

Known as Bluegrass Beauty.

The Washingtons were married in 1906, and the union was the occasion for much comment in social circles. Mrs. Washington, before her marriage was May Bruce Brenan, a Kentucky beauty. She was much sought after by prominent artists on account of her distinctive type of beauty.

A satisfactory monetary provision has been agreed upon by the couple, says attorneys.

In "Who's Who" it is stated that the defandant is the direct descendant of Augustine Washington and Colonel John Augustine Washington, brothers of the first president. The first marriage of the line was between cousins.

Mr. Washington's business activities began in 1886, when he became president of the Laurel Land company of Pittsburg. He is listed, chronologically, as president and general manager of the Elliot-Washington Steel company, chairman and managing director of the Pittsburg Sheet Steel Manufacturng company, president of the United Oil Cloth company and as an officer in many other enterprises.

Mrs. May B. Washington.

He is a member of the board of governors of the Sulgrave Institution, Society of Cincinnati, Society War of 1912, Hugenot and several other patriotic, historical and social organizations. He is the author of many papers on George Washington.

LEGION STARTS DRIVE TO ROLL UP MEMBERSHIP

A spring offensive on the strongholds of indifference has been launched by the Department of Texas American Legion, State Commander Guy O. Shirley announced today, and the greatest membership drive the Legion in Texas has ever known is now under way.

"With only approximately fifteen per cent of the 217,000 ex-service men and women of Texas enlisted," said Commander Shirey, the American Legion has proven to be one of the strongest factors for good in the state. Police authorities of more than one city of Texas have welcomed the proffered assistance of the Legion when a ripple of the crime wave that has been sweeping north of us trickled over our boundaries.

Citizens of the Rio Grande Valley found the Legion awake to that section's interest when the first hint of Japanese invasion threatened. The influence of the Legion in some of the towns of Texas which were boomed off their equilibrium by oil developments was for law and order. Other instances of good done, ranging from providing a destitute former service man with a bed for the night to fostering movements to care for their disabled former comrades in arms, which may be traced to the American Legion in the states, are too numerous for detail.

"The Department of Texas, American Legion, is now requesting the general public and former service men who have not lined up, to assist in strengthening this organization, which, borrowing from a famous quotation that I do not think will suffer by the comparison, was first in war, first in peace, and is now seeking to be first in the hearts of its fellow countrymen."

In order that the drive may not prove all work and no play, the Department of Texas, American Legion, has instituted a game in which each post will have an objective to work towards. These objectives range from a player piano down, and include phonographs, desks, book cases and Shetland ponies aggregating in value $6,000. Each post can secure points in this game by securing new members for the Legion and new readers for the Texas Legionnaire, the official publication which is owned exclusively the Department of Texas, American Legion. In order that no post shall be at a disadvantage because of the size of the town in which it is located, the state department has arranged a sliding scale of credits, which will place all on an equal basis. For example, a membership secured by a post in a town of 5,000 population or less credits that post with 2,000 points, while a membership secured by a post in a town of more than 50,000 population brings a credit of 150 points. Arrangements are also completed under which the aggressiveness of posts of each district will be recognized, and individuals most successful in routing indifference to the Legion are also provided for."

MOVIES BOOST DRAMA, STAGE STAR INSISTS

DENVER, Feb. 12.—The mantle of William Shakespeare is being thrown about the "movies" in an effort to protect them from the "slings and arrows" of overzealous legislators and blue law reformers who see in the silver sheet a pernicious form of amusement and who would have it put under drastic censorship.

Robert B. Mantell, famous exponent of the Bard of Avon's works, and recognized as one of the world's leading actors of classical roles, has come to the defense of films with the following personal observations:

The "movies" have greatly elevated the speaking stage.

Since films came into popular favor the intelligence of the American public has been considerably lifted.

Films Aid Speaking Stage.

In an interview Mr. Mantell, who is appearing here, said:

"Whatever may be said about the influence of films upon the American public, the fact remains that they have been a big help to the speaking stage. During the last four years I have made more money with my Shakespearean offerings than in the 15 years immediately preceding.

"Motion picture fans are quick to appreciate true art. They see productions which cost huge sums. When pretentious and worthy offerings of the speaking stage come along these same people are usually eager to be present. At Los Angeles, the center of the world in film productions, I was told that a brilliant galaxy of film stars attended my performances. Some of them came four or five nights a week.

"I am pleased to say that all over the United States there is an awakening for the best in dramatic art. At one matinee in Cleveland, Ohio, last fall, I played to a $2,800 house in 'As You Like It.' Quite a few were turned away, and it was merely the usual mid-week matinee.

Stage on Higher Plane.

"The stage is on a much higher plane than 20, or even 10, years ago. The 'movies' have helped to bring about this condition in several ways, but one of the principal ones is to compel managers of the so-called legitimate houses to actively compete with successful film offerings.

"The syndicate system of management, while it has been condemned, has worked wonders with the American stage. Irresponsible managers have been pretty well banished and the business conducted as well as any high-grade undertaking."

When not on tour Mr. Mantell lives at Atlantic Highlands, N. J., with his wife and son, Bruce, aged 8 years. Mrs. Mantell is known on the stage as Miss Genevieve Hamper and is the star's leading woman. Mr. Mantell gets a lot of fun out of supervising the raising of vegetables on his Jersey country place. Last year he beat his previous records by having 35 varieties of garden products.

ONE-CENT VERDICT FOR SLAP IN THE FACE

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 12.—A $5,000 damage suit arising from a slap in the face has finally been settled here by a jury verdict of one cent after the case had dragged through the courts for nearly two years.

John Tennison was the plaintiff and Riley Riggs the defendant. They met on the Wheeling creek bridge in July, 1919, became involved in an argument, and Riggs is said to have slapped Tennison's face. He had the latter arrested and appeared against him in Magistrate J. J. Gomper's court, where Tennison was fined $5 and costs. Tennison then brought suit for $5,000 damages in circuit court, where a jury has just terminated the long-drawn-out proceedings by awarding the plaintiff one cent damages.

The princess has but the two children in the photograph.

U. S. URGES USE OF WASTED GAS IN DRUGMAKING

By B. N. TIMMONS,
Record News Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—That chloroform, carbon tetrachloride, methyl chloride and other valuable chemical compounds containing chlorine may be manufactured from natural gas that is otherwise going to waste is indicated as the result of experiments recently made by the bureau of mines, and announced today.

A great amount of natural gas is being wasted at present because the wells are so far from industrial centers, or the gas supply so limited, that it is not worth while to build pipe lines for the transportation of gas.

The bureau points out that the enormous gas fields near Amarillo, Texas, are an instance of where the fields are so far from industrial centers as to make the expense of building pipe lines almost prohibitive. The situation is also said to be acute in Louisiana, Wyoming and California.

It has been known for over fifty years, bureau experts said, that chlorine gas would unite with natural gas, but the essential facts on which to base commercial developments had never been determined. The result of the bureau of mines studies of the processes and reactions involved are given in a report just published, Technical Paper 255, "Chlorination of Natural Gas."

In this report apparatus for laboratory investigation of the problem is described, and the chemical and thermal reactions involved are discussed. A table is given showing the sources from which natural gas particularly adaptable to chlorination can be obtained. The most important feature is the very complete list of catalyzers which are described, together with the method of preparation and the yield of valuable products when used in the laboratory.

Because of the likelihood that Texas interests will be interested in developing these industries the bureau announced today that it has had sufficient copies of the report printed and will distribute them free to Texas business men who are interested.

Figures compiled by the National Tuberculosis Association show that a sum approximating $2,000,000 is spent each year by residents of New York for fake tuberculosis "cures," and that the perpetrators of these frauds throughout the country take from their confiding victims between $15,000,000 and $25,000,000 annually.

BOGUS BARON ARRESTED BY BERLIN COPS

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Germany has succeeded, despite the difficulties imposed by the Versailles treaty, in producing, at any rate, one genius besides Einstein.

Robert Oerthel of Dresden, aged 26, has been arrested in the zone occupied by the Americans (says the Daily Express Berlin correspondent) on a charge of smuggling cocaine and has been handed over to the Berlin police.

Oerthel's career is an unusual example of extraordinary criminal ability. He was called up as a soldier during the war, but managed to simulate insanity successfully for eight months, despite the closest observation in a military hospital. He escaped from the hospital with help, accompanied by a nurse.

Swell Mobsman.

He then began a highly successful career as a swell mobsman. He obtained several birth cirtificates and managed to procure three different police passes under the name of Baron Egloffstein, besides other papers purporting to show his real name to be von Ritchthoffen (that of the famous German airman). He also posed as von Koenig, Hahn Kobolds, an American doctor called MacHenry.

When the revolution broke out Oerthel succeeded in imposing himself on the soldiers' council at Dresden, where he was nominated commander-in-chief. Shortly afterward, however, he appeared at the prisoners' camp at Holzminden, where he made great friends with French and Belgian officers.

Visit to Foch.

In the company of one of the French officers he visited Marshal Foch, who gave him, as Baron Egloffstein, a letter of recommendation to General Dustein in Berlin as the officicial representative for the supervision of the welfare of French prisoners.

"Baron Egloffstein" thus became an official personage in Berlin, with the entry of the French, Rumanian and Spanish embassies and with two motor cars at his disposal besides diplomatic passes and special conveniences for communication. He had his own private train for journeys to Bucharest, and had large sums of money at his command.

Finally Nemesis overtook this criminal genius when he was endeavoring to smuggle cocaine into the American occupation zone, passing himself off as a member of the allied commission.

QUARRELSOME MARRIAGE BECOMING MORE COMMON

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Are married people becoming more quarrelsome?

It would seem to be so, for applications for separation orders have increased enormously in the London police courts, according to Rev. Harry Pearson, secretary of the police court mission.

"Many of these are on very frivolous grounds," said Mr. Pearson, "and the magistrate hands the cases over to our missionaries. In 50 per cent of the cases a reconciliation is effected.

"Of course, our missionaries have to be very tactful. One of them said to me: 'If I can just get one of them to smile the trick is done.'

"The magistrate handed over 8,500 people to the missionaries during last year and most of them had domestic troubles."

CLEVELAND SIX

Twenty Thousand Owners In Little Over a Year!

The Cleveland Six will be one of the big features at the Automobile Show this year. In little over a year its wonderful success has established its position with the public as the "better light six."

NO OTHER CAR OF SUCH QUALITY AT SUCH A LOW PRICE

Built in its own great modern plant, the Cleveland Six is the product of years of intelligent thought and careful work, and is produced by men skilled in the design and construction of fine cars. There is no other light car of similar high quality at similar low price.

The exclusive Cleveland six-cylinder motor, most highly developed of the overhead valve type, gives an abundance of speed, rare flexibility of power and an unusual degree of endurance and dependability. The sturdy chassis construction, the ease of control and the soft cushion-like action of the underslung rear springs, are distinguishing qualities.

You are asked to pay about as much or even more for small four-cylinder cars. And Sixes of similar size list at hundreds of dollars more. Select your new car wisely and you will buy the Cleveland Six.

HaynesService

It is our desire to have all Haynes owners bring their cars to us for service. The secret of success in getting the most out of your car for the least expense and worry depends on the care and attention the car receives. This can best be accomplished through strict co-operation between the owner and the service department of the organization that handles the car.

It is ever our greatest desire to give the most attention possible to Haynes cars and their owners and a small amount of co-operation from the owners will assist us more than any other one thing.

We are proud of our service department and its personnel and sincerely believe that it has been a success from the beginning. This does not mean that we are not open for suggestions. You, the Haynes owner, are the one we are trying to please and any improvement you can suggest redounds to both your advantage and ours.

The enjoyment and satisfaction any owner gets out of his car depends primarily on the service and co-operation he gets on maintaining the car. Bring your Haynes to us for any trouble you may have and we will help you. Any information or suggestion that we can give we are eager to do so. Why not get the habit of dropping in at least once every month for a brief inspection. There may be some small things that need adjustment which if allowed to go too long will mean a large repair bill, but which might be repaired now at a small expense.

Prospective owners should by all means consider an organization's ability to render complete service before purchasing from them.

Young County, South Bend District, in Flourishing And Promising Condition

Young county's South Bend district is in a most flourishing and promising condition, as far as regards developing of the various sands that have already been opened up, the past week recording several new tests to reach the sand, and several extensions. But in regard to the marketing of the oil, the situation remains as unencouraging as it has been for the past few weeks, with wells still tied up, on top of the sand, waiting for connection, or for storage. The last of the present month is the time fixed now for the completion of the Prairie's eight-inch line from the field to the Eliasville pump station.

Under the present market conditions it appears highly improbable that another pipe line company would attempt to enter the field. There is one bright spot in the situation for the Young county producers already hooked up with the pipe line, however, cuts in prices not withstanding, for the Prairie is paying for all the oil that it runs at present, operators in the South Bend state with approval.

Shamrock Builds Storage.

Friday reports from the field were to the effect that the Shamrock Oil Company's No. 1 Graham, in the 1900-foot sand and the furthest west production, blew itself in and is showing around 60 barrels without going further into the sand. This well has been testing this shallow sand for several weeks, and has been making oil for some time, swabbing.

The Shamrock has two 55,000 barrel tanks under construction, it is reported, this storage making it possible for the compan ywells to be completed as soon as they strike the sand, whether there are pipe line connections available or not. Good progress is reported from the several other tests drilling on the various Shamrock leases, where several produces were completed in the last few weeks. The Shamrock is also reported spudding in on its first test on the McCluskey, this being its No. 1 Hockaday-McCluskey.

The Heydrick and Spoonts No. 1 McCluskey, between the North American No. 2 Braddock and the Oklahoma Petroleum and Gasoline Company's McCluskey well, is reported in the 2100-foot sand. The North American Braddock well was reported flowing 35 barrels an hour still on Friday. This well was reported in the mid-week completion list, with an estimate of 900 barrels.

Young County Test.

Reports from the Young County Oil and Gas Company's No. 1 Graham, a mile to the west of production, show the five and three-sixteenths casing being run, in preparation to test a sand around 2880 feet. This test got a sand at 2200 feet which was not satisfactorily tested, but which later reports say was estimated good for around 100 barrels.

The most westerly test in the field at present, the National No. 1 Rotan, is reported having boiler trouble at around 2180 feet. The test of W. R. Shankle on the M. B. Dooley is reported drilling around 1400 feet. The No. 1 Dooley of the Scott et al is reported drilling around 1700 feet.

Operations are gradually stretching out the line of test derrick from South Bend to the Lydon pool, in Stephens county. About two miles southwest of the producing wells on the Clear Fork of the Brazos, the Johnson Oil company is reported preparing to start drilling in block No. 1113 of the T. E. & L. survey. Other tests, known to be contemplated but not yet having reached the certainty of derricks or proven locations, are presumably delaying because of the market problem of oil, as well as watching the outcome of tests already drilling.

To Shoot Scott Test.

In the territory around the town of South Bend, there are practically no new definite developments. The North American Scott test, on the 3100-foot sand, is preparing to shoot to complete.

The Panhandle Scott well has run the five-inch casing, it is reported, and is ready to be put on the pump. It has been making some oil, and the present the amount of oil varying, but at no time has its output been considered as a real test of its capacity.

German Girls Marry French Rhine Soldiers

PARIS, Feb. 12.—Scores of French soldiers, serving in French army of occupation on the Rhine have married German girls and protests of an official nature are reaching the French authorities from Germany. Germans suggest that French army commanders are violating the treaty of Versailles in allowing these marriages to be celebrated and say they should not be considered legal until sanctioned by a German authority in the town where the bride lives. French laws, however, make it perfectly legal for a soldier to marry in any country where he is if he complies with the necessary regulations which are that he be married before his commanding officer.

Whether marraiges between French soldiers and German girls are happy ones is not known. The German authorities and people evidently attempt to make them very unhappy both for bride and bridegroom, as well as for the former's parents, by passing notices to the public to the efffect that Fraulen So and So has married an enemy and asking that the girl's parents be made personally responsible. The French army authorities, however, firmly approve of the marriages and believe that in these marriages, they have a good propaganda service for French culture.

BOY FIGHT KING OF SCHOOL HUNG TO NEARBY TREE

LONGMONT, Colo., Feb. 12.—Ten year old James Rush is the "Benny Learned" of the local public school. He had whipped every youth in the school and yesterday the losers sought revenge. They pounced on him when school adjourned and had him hanging from a tree in the school yard with a rope around his neck when a policeman happened along and cut him down. His condition is said to be serious.

INCOME TAX FAVORED FOR U. S. REVENUE

That the sentiment of this country is overwhelmingly in favor of the income tax as one of the principal sources of federal revenue is strikingly indicated by a recent vote of national council of the National Economic League. The vote was on a series of questions concerning the most important taxation problems of the United States.

In the council of the league, which is composed of leading men from all parts of the country, are such men as Ex-President Taft,, President-Elect Harding, Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, Charles W. Eliot, former president of Harvard, and Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University.

The first question presented; "Should the income tax be retained as one of the principal sources of federal revenue?" was answered affirmatively by 90 per cent of the 530 members who took part in the voting. About one-half of the members expressed themselves in favor of retaining the present minima of taxable income, while of those voting in the negative, two-thirds are recorded as in favor of lowering the minima. A substantial majority expressed themselves as opposed to the present rates of surtax upon incomes in excess of $5,000, all but ten per cent being in favor of diminishing the rate. About 70 per cent are recorded as in favor of retaining the federal estate, commonly called inheritance tax. About 75 per cent are of the opinion that the excess profits tax should be abolished.

The proposal for levying a direct tax by the United States upon the site value of land, i. e., that portion of the value of land due to the presence and activities of the community and to natural advantages, mineral deposits, harbor frontages and the like, was favored by 162 and opposed by 317 of those voting. Nearly all of those who favored this form of taxation are recorded affirmatively in answer to a supplementary uestion, "If your answer is yes to the preceding question, should the federal constitution be amended so that such a tax could be levied at a uniform rate throughout the United States, instead of being apportined among the states in proportion to population as at present required?"

With respect to a tax on imports, a majority (260) voted in favor of a tariff for the protection of home industries, 185 favored a tariff for revenue only, while 54 are recorded as being in favor of free trade, that is, no tariff whatever.

Of the three remaining questions, the first is as follows: "Should congress undertake a survey of the ultimate effect of various kinds of taxes to determine (a) what taxes involve administrative expenses disproportionate to the revenue collected? (b) what taxes, if any, directly or indirectly increase the cost of living by an amount materially in excess of the revenue collected? (c) what taxes if any, could be levied that would directly or indirectly reduce the cost of living?" This proposal is favored by a vote of 441 to 51. The second: "Is it advisable for the United States to pay off its bonded indebtedness as rapidly as the bonds mature?" was favored aq 206 and opposed by 242. The last, "Should the federal power of taxation be used as an indirect means of imposing regulations in behalf of the public health, morals or safety which congress would have no power to impose directly?" was answered in the affirmative my 154 and in the negative by 300.

MODERN FARMER SHOPS BY RADIO

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 12.—The modern farmers ship by radio sometimes. E. A. Turpee, living seven miles from here, happens to be an amateur wireless operator. In urgent need of medicine last night and with the phone line down, he recalled that a drug store clerk in town also belonged to the radio fraternity. He rapped out an S. O. S. and had his order filled promptly.
