Discover Body of Missing Woman in Clump of Bushes

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—The body of Miss Grace Delaney, 30-year-old member of a socially prominent family of Bryn Mawr, who disappeared from her home Tuesday morning, was found today in a clump of bushes five miles south of Malvern.

Captain Herbert C. Ford, of the Philadelphia police, said after an examination at the scene he was convinced Miss Delaney had committed suicide by poison.

Started After Doctor

Police believe Miss Delaney drove to the isolated spot where she left her home Tuesday, intending to summon a physician to attend to an illness in the Newlin home.

In Miss Delaney's handbag, found beside her body, were two small bottles containing poison and a roll of money. A small amount of poison had been drawn from one of the bottles. A table tumbler containing traces of another poison was found near her head.

In the front seat of her car was found a carton which had contained a bottle of poison.

The body was found a few hours after Miss Delaney's family had offered a reward of $2,500 for information leading to her return or the finding of the body. It had been feared by members of her family that she might have suffered a nervous collapse due to the strain of her devotion to her mother and nurse, Miss Anna Dowd, both of whom have been ill.

Delegation Pledged Cooperation of Washington Officials in Proposal to Form Credit Organizations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Almon O. Carter of Fort Worth, chairman of the committee appointed by the West Texas drouth relief organization to confer with government officials on relief plans for certain Texas counties, said in a statement today that the delegation had been assured of cooperation by Washington officials in its proposals to organize credit organizations.

The statement follows:

"The committee which came to Washington in behalf of drouth relief measures for certain counties in West Texas has had conference with Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, with Mr. Eugene Meyer, F. D. Roosevelt, and the Federal Reserve Board at Dallas. After separate conferences with these officials, Chairman Carter arranged a joint conference of all the above government officials with the Texas committee at which was present in addition Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National bank of Los Angeles, who is a member of President Hoover's drouth relief committee.

"At these several conferences conditions in the drouth area of Texas were fully discussed. All of the government agencies gave assurance of their sympathetic attitude and accorded the committee a cordial and courteous hearing.

STOCKS IN DECLINE

New Bottoms Reached by More Than Hundred Shares

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The stock tape today told another story of declining prices today. When the market closed, net losses of $1 to $5 were general throughout the quotation tables and the average of 30 representative issues was less than 3 points above the year low.

Reached June 24. More than 100 shares touched new bottoms for the year today. The break did not develop with the starting weakness of yesterday. Roundings of movement were heard throughout the entire day, despite the further loss in the grain markets, the strength of bonds and the cheapness of money, which went down to rates unequalled in 20 years; up to mid-afternoon the movement of prices was decidedly irregular with the swing favoring the down side.

With the coming of the train, the town has been linked with the outside world in general, and the town has been linked with the outside world in general.

Memory Lapse Is Claimed by Levelland Man

Red-Haired Carpenter-Preacher Cannot Clarify Mysterious Disappearance; Held in Hockley County Jail

Remains Reticent

Registers in Hotel Here as "George Graham of Amarillo"; Admits Telephoning Wife at Levelland Wed.

BY J. SAM LEWIS, Avalanche Staff Writer

LEVELLAND, Sept. 25.—Reticent concerning his mysterious disappearance which actuated a corpse-burner a month ago, C. B. Hankins, 30-year-old red-headed carpenter-preacher of Levelland who was arrested Wednesday afternoon in a Lubbock hotel, tonight in the Hockley county jail here reiterated a statement that he had suffered a lapse of memory and could not clarify the case.

Hankins, whose battered automobile was found abandoned in Erv, Okla., August 22, said he remembered being at a filling station in north Plainview August 23, the day he last was reported seen in Amarillo.

When he recovered his second memory, he was in Oklahoma City. He then left Oklahoma City, spending four or five days riding freight trains to Amarillo, which he reached Wednesday, he related. From Amarillo he came to Lubbock, where he registered at a hotel as "George Graham of Amarillo" between 9 and 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Hockley and Lubbock county officers arrested him in the hotel shortly after 4 o'clock that afternoon. Hotel attaches reported that he had told them he was "sick."

Hankins admitted talking to his wife in Levelland from a telephone in a railroad station at Lubbock. The woman called Mrs. Hankins. The man who called Mrs. Hankins refused to reveal his identity but gave her instructions for coming to a designated place in Lubbock to see her husband.

The woman consulted a Baptist minister here, subsequently, Hockley county officers were notified. Deputy Sheriff E. L. Cannon went to Lubbock and with Chief Deputy Sheriff O. B. Conley of Lubbock took Hankins into custody. Means by which the officers learned of the theory that the priest lived at his whereabouts have not been disclosed. Mrs. Hankins arrived at

Fascist Chief Would Tear Up German Treaty

Adolf Hitler Is in Favor of Revolution to Set Up New German Empire and Destruction of Versailles Treaty

LEIPZIG, Germany, Sept. 25.—Adolf Hitler, chairman of fascism in Germany, took advantage of a ready-made platform in the Leipzig supreme court today to tell Germany's international post-war agreements have not been set up by a "German" empire.

The plan he sketched while a witness in the trial of three German Reichwehr officers on charges of subversive activities involved tearing up the Versailles treaty with such consequences as might follow that action, and intimation that blood would flow at home once his "revolutionary tribunals" were set to work.

Parcel Bally Seen

With all of the conviction and confidence of a man who stakes his all on a cause, he asserted that thirty-five or forty million German voters would rally under the fascist banner.

The court at intervals exerted a moderating influence on the fascist leader and the House, ever sensitive politically, reacted downward.

The trial itself, occupying public attention for several days, lost its own prominence in the light of Hitler's personality. While he testified in the courtroom swarms of his followers remained in the streets before the building, loudly voicing their slogan, "Germany awake!"

Hitler was outspoken. He said just as soon as German fascists by legal means had attained political ascendancy they would disrupt the peace treaty, if necessary by means looked upon by the world as illegal. He said his party did not regard Germany's international post-war agreements as law but as something "forced upon us."

Wheat Prices Hit New Lows

Decline Caused by Statement of Farm Board Member that Price Trend for Next Few Years Will Be Downward

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Wheat prices fell from monetary gains today as James C. Stone of the Federal Farm Board subscribed publicly to the theory that the price trend for the next few years would be downward.

The report quoting the farm board member precipitated a flurry of last minute selling, brought steep orders into execution, and wiped out earlier advances of around 2 1/4 cents. The close found quotations at 1-1/2 cents lower to 5-8 cents higher than yesterday's finish. Corn and oats scored fractional advances.

Stone's statement furnished a disconcerting forecast for a day of assurance that things were not as bad as they seemed.

Gusher Under Control After Spraying Oil

Enormous Well at City Limits of Oklahoma City Offers Threat of Blowing Wild as Precautions Taken

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 25.—An enormous well at the edge of the Oklahoma City limits and only a mile from the business district was brought under complete control late today after cutting connections had threatened to let it blow wild. The well had sprayed oil over a wide area and the fire precautions had been taken.

The well, which was completed late today with an initial flow at the rate of 82,000 barrels a day, greater than any well previously completed in the field, was equipped with a control head with double flow lines. The shut in was effected by shifting pressure from the one flow line on which the master gates were being damaged by cutting, to the other.

The well is the number 1 John Hurt, owned by the Skelly Oil company, W. G. Skelly of Tulsa, president of the company and Republican national committeeman, witnessed the closing in operations.

Before the well was closed in, city firemen were dispatched to the nearby city dump, where refuse smoulders continually to extinguish the fires. Oil field fire fighting equipment was concentrated at the well, fires of nearby drilling wells were shut down and roads blocked for a half mile in all directions.

WARFARE PREVENTED

SAN MARCOS, Sept. 25.—(P)—When upper classmen and freshmen at the San Marcos teacher's college showed indications today of opening their annual warfare, H. E. Speck, dean of students, cognizant of what happened last year when such hostilities broke out, stopped the proceedings quickly.

He gathered the students together and reminded them of the clashes last year which were featured by the kidnapping of class leaders and their cold plunges in the San Marcos river.

Endurance Hop Ends in Storm

Oklahoma Fliers Forced Down Near Norman by Heavy Windstorm After Approximately 293 Hours in Air

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 25.—(P)—The endurance plane piloted by Bennett Griffin and Roy Hunt of Oklahoma City was forced down at Norman, about 20 miles south of here by storm conditions completing approximately 293 hours in the air.

A huge Western Air Express liner also was forced down during the terrific windstorm, landing in corn field about a mile west of the Norman municipal airport where the endurance plane came to earth. Both planes landed safely without damage to ships or passengers.

Owner of Woman's Hat Is Sought as Slayer of Man; Victim Found Dying

PORT WORTH, Sept. 25.—The discovery tonight of the blood stained automobile of Homer Rodgers, 41, who was found dying late last night in a lonely spot near Glen Garden Country Club, police renewed their search for a woman to whom a well-worn hat, found near Rodgers' body, belongs.

Police believe the wearer of the hat, if not the actual slayer, was present when the crime was committed. The identity of the woman, coupled with the weapon used, were the puzzles confronting detectives.

Knife or Razor Used

The wounds inflicted on Rodgers either may have been made with a knife or razor, police said. If made with a knife, the slayer probably was a right handed man, due to the length, depth and position of the wound.

The well trampled condition of the weeds and grass around the spot where Rodgers was found, as well as a location in the palm of his left hand indicated there was a struggle.

Disconnected Radio Aerial Causes Deaths

Effort of Two Brothers-in-Law to Rescue First Victim of Live Wire Results in Triple Tragedy Thursday

Victims Paralyzed

Radio Wire Falls Over 2300 Volt Power Transmission Line; Wet Street Aids in Conductivity of Electricity

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Sept. 25.—Picking up a disconnected radio aerial after it had fallen across a 2300 volt power transmission line three youths, two of them brothers, were electrocuted here tonight.

Dyess Long, 26, disconnected the aerial and picked up one end which was lying in the street in front of a home his family was vacating. The shock paralyzed him so that he did not release the wire. His brother-in-law, Louis Down Halcombe, 22, attempted to pull the wire from Long's hand and himself was electrocuted. His brother, Walter Halcombe, 16, also attempted to free the other two and met a similar fate.

Witness to Tragedy

Mrs. Long, who was the sister of the two Halcombe brothers, saw the tragedy from the porch, and with a stick knocked the wire loose from the youth's hands.

The Longs and Halcombes lived together. They were moving to a house a block down the street and all their furniture except their radio had been removed. Long had climbed into a tree to disconnect the aerial.

The street was wet from rain and power company workmen said the conditions were such as to cause instantaneous death from the electricity.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

HOW little we know of what our neighbors are doing! Half of Lubbock probably knows the kind of constructive things that are going on all of the time. Within the last twenty-four hours a number of things have occurred to remind me of the writers we have here and announcements of fine arts and athletic events at the West Texas Exposition at San Angelo, have served as reminders that Lubbock has several unheralded artists.

Mrs. Chester Hubbard, who won first place in every medium among professional artists exhibiting at the Amarillo fair, has for the last few years been gaining distinction as an amateur painter through her showings in various Texas points, and has an acquaintance that is state wide in artistic circles.

Her awards in art exhibits last year in non-professional classes in Texas were so encouraging that she entered in professional circles this fall and made a creditable showing at San Angelo. Alongside known artists from Texas, Dallas, San Antonio and other centers.

The work of Mrs. T. R. Priddy, who has lived here and been actively associated with club and civic work for a number of years, is highly in better known locally. Mrs. Priddy has marketed a number of stories during the last few years, also, and is expecting to continue with her writings as she has more leisure.

Last year Mrs. J. V. Conner, who had sold an occasional story, had a series of articles accepted by a publishing company in England; Mrs. W. A. McGee sold some poems; a number of Tech faculty members publish technical or other articles at intervals. It would not venture a guess as to the number of writers in Lubbock and there is probably no one person who has this information. Several years ago there was talk of the organization of a pen women's society here and at that time I remember hearing of several writers of whom I had known nothing before.

Last night I happened to see a story on early days in West Texas written by Roger Burgess, a former resident of the city, and published in the Pashan-Hill Historical Review. Mrs. J. B. Mobley and Mrs. Albert Taylor have been writing for years and Mrs. E. L. Robertson makes an occasional literary venture.

Musicians of the city have a medium for expression in the Lubbock Music club and talents are discovered and developed through this society. But artists and writers of Lubbock have no common meeting place and usually are not acquainted with each other. And it is hard for neighbors to believe that the housewife next door is occasionally seeking an hour from her routine to pen a poem or write a short story to market in any one of the hundreds of magazines of the nation. We like to believe that our artists and authors are different, that they lead some sort of Bohemian existence. We are loathe to accord them the honor which is their due simply because we know them as members of the family next door who have their three meals a day, a radio and medium priced car.

FOR THE CHILDREN
WHEN children are included among the guests, a smaller table especially set for them, not only simplifies the serving problem but keeps forbidden foods out of their sight, according to a hint I read the other day.

FOR DISOBEDIENT CHILDREN
SINCE one of my hobbies is telling parents how to rear their children, I can't overlook an opportunity to quote a Dr. Heretout of France who has recently written an article for La Victoire in Paris in which he says that sometimes disobedient children are mentally unbalanced but that in nine cases out of ten the trouble is due as much to parents or teachers as to the child, he says.

"That a child may obey perfectly, he must understand well the order that is given him. It must be capable of execution, and given at the proper time. It is next necessary that the child should be convinced, that is, that his act of obedience should appear profitable to him both in the present and the future, and especially that it shall appear to be of use for somebody or something. Many parents should take lessons from the trainers of horses, and 'learned' animals. These would tell him that the way to obtain a frightened horse is not to punish him before the obstacle, but the way to accustom a dog to the woods is not to force him into an impenetrable thicket, and that the way to accustom any animal to obey an order is not to give him orders when he is manifestly tired and desires only to rest."

Words of parents and teachers punish children for disobedience when they are actually responsible for the act themselves. Children are individuals, capable of thought and action and are not apt to obey at all times when unreasonable demands are made for them. Yet the obedient child is not hard to control if he is approached with some diplomacy and wisdom.

County Fairs Under Way on South Plains

Terry, Cochran and Hockley Counties Hold Expositions; Exhibits to Be Displayed at Fair Here Next Week

Although the hustling carnival spirit which accompanies fair time will not be fully apparent in Lubbock until the seventh annual Panhandle-South Plains fair opens here Monday, it already has become firmly entrenched in Terry, Cochran and Hockley counties, which have county expositions underway today at Brownfield, Morton and Levelland, respectively.

Hockley county fair began Thursday and will end tonight, while the other two county expositions swing open their gates for the first time today and will continue through Saturday.

To Exhibit Here

The three counties will enter displays in the Panhandle-South Plains fair here from exhibits at their respective shows. Lubbock residents have indicated that they expect to attend the three county fairs. The city will be represented by a delegation which will visit all three show places as a group, if tentative plans materialize.

TERRY COUNTY EVENT TO BE LARGER

BROWNFIELD, Sept. 25.—(Special)—Farm products of Terry county, the corn county of the South Plains, will be shown at the cotton compress here Friday and Saturday. The fair is sponsored by Terry county business men in Brownfield.

Despite present conditions it is believed the fair this year will be larger than ever. Many communities have sent word they would have a good exhibit this year.

Rodeo Is Feature

A well-known rodeo will be a feature of the fair this year. Last spring one of these was held and it was extremely popular. In addition the old time rodeo will be held on the Brownfield estate a mile west of town.

Carl Rushing of Plains, Yeakum county and a Brownfield horse owner will stage a race between their animals, both said to be wild. Five or six outlaw horses and a whole string of broncs for the riding events, have been secured.

COCHRAN COUNTY TO BRING PRODUCTS HERE

MORTON, Sept. 25.—(Special)—Determined to select the best products of the youngest county on the South Plains, Cochran county farmers will display their farm products here Friday and Saturday.

George E. Lance, president of the fair, announces that he expects to win first prize at Lubbock next week. Mr. Lance will take to Lubbock Sunday the prize winning.

Every community in the county will be represented here. The square will be used for displaying the products and a large crowd of farmers is expected.

HOCKLEY COUNTY IS OPENING TODAY

LEVELLAND, Sept. 25.—(Special)—Everything is in readiness for the annual Hockley county fair here today and Friday.

Show windows of the stores on the square will be used for display of products and merchandise. Tents have been erected for poultry, livestock and other exhibits.

Plays To Be Given

Community plays with several of the communities of the county in one-act plays will feature the night program. There will also be an old-fashioned contest, a rodeo, races and stunts of various kinds and football games as side attractions.

W. P. Lee is president and J. Warren Pearcey secretary. Directors include: J. M. Jones, G. D. Denison, T. M. Hester, L. E. Griffin, A. G. Johnson, J. L. Shuman, Charles Hawk, Mrs. A. F. Mathis, L. L. Strader, Ed. Harte, J. W. Berry, William Beakley.

Propose Paving College Avenue One Mile Long

Forty-Foot Boulevard Urged on Highway Strip Bordering East Side of Campus by Guy Johnston, Engineer

A 40-foot mile-long boulevard on state highway strip which bounds the east side of the Texas Technological college campus has been proposed by Guy R. Johnston, district construction engineer of the state highway department.

Mr. Johnston said Thursday that he believed the state would favor the project, that it would enhance value of property on the street and improve appearance of the college.

The proposed boulevard would be along the east side of Texas Technological college between 19th street and the north end of the college grounds, near the Santa Fe line to Brownfield and Seagraves.

Beer-Drinking champ Wins by a Lap

Here you are, ladies and gentlemen, the high-speed beer-drinking champion of the world, J. A. Dent, 40, El Paso, Texas, business man, won the title and a $20 gold piece as a prize in a contest with 31 others at a cafe in Juarez, Mexico, just across the border, the other day, by gulping a half gallon of beer in 22 3-5 seconds. P. B. Bradley, El Paso, was second, his time being 39 4-8 seconds, and won a $10 hat, while Mrs. May Armstrong, only woman contestant, was leading, but was disqualified by the judges for spilling beer. Here you see the start of the race, Dent being on the left and Bradley on the right with Mrs. Dent, his "trainer," between them. Above at the right, Dent is shown in action and below, at the finish—not his own, but that of the race.

Street Belongs to State
Highway No. 7 to Clovis and the highway to Brownfield, pass in front of the college. The street is state-owned property, not city property as the city corporation line is on the east side of the highway.

Under ordinary circumstances a standard 20-foot highway would be built, leaving the rest of the 60 or 80-foot road as at present.

Mr. Johnston conceived the idea of a boulevard, with a 20-foot parking on either side of a 20-foot parkway, the latter with trees and grass or left so as to be paved later. He has submitted the proposal to both the city and county for consideration and is said to have met with some favorable response.

Explains Plan
"I had the idea of having the city, perhaps through property owners, pay the paving of ten feet and the county pay for the paving of ten more feet," Mr. Johnston said in discussing the plan. "Then the state would pay for paving 20 feet. There would be a 20-foot parking on either side of the parkway, so that it could be paved later if traffic justified."

"Each cross street would be paved across to connect with the slab on the west side of the parking. There would be curb and gutter on both sides, assuring drainage."

To Cost Little
"My opinion is that the paving will cost about two dollars a square and with the curb and gutter, it might be possible to get the whole thing for something like $250 per foot."

Community plays with several of the communities of the county in one-act plays will feature the night program. There will also be an old-fashioned contest, a rodeo, races and stunts of various kinds and football games as side attractions.

front foot. That is mighty cheap paving."

The county commissioners' court is said to have looked with favor on the project and to have agreed to lend whatever assistance is necessary in the carrying out of the work.

"We could not do the work if there are any leaveouts on the part of the property owners on the east side of the highway," Mr. Johnston continued. "It would have to be 100 per cent paving all the way along."

Several suggestions have been made for handling the city's end of the work as there is said to be some doubt that the city can pay for paving work outside the actual corporation limits. One is for the city to extend its corporation line west ten feet or whatever is necessary, to include enough in the limits to permit paving.

Another plan might be for the property owners individually to handle the matter.

TOWN CRIERS IN PHILIPPINES
Employment of town criers in the smaller barrios of the Philippines has been authorized by the executive bureau. The criers will be used to inform the people about laws concerning which they would otherwise be ignorant, due to poor methods of communication.

Of interest in collegiate circles here is announcement of marriage of Morton J. Smith, Jr., of this city and Miss Kate Bean, Colorado City, which took place Wednesday in Clovis, New Mexico. The couple are former students of Texas Technological college.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith returned to Lubbock Wednesday night and are here now, although they are leaving for Dallas and Fort Worth on a short honeymoon trip, after which they will be at home at the Hilton hotel.

The groom has grown to manhood in Lubbock living with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Morton J. Smith who reside at the Hilton. He is a graduate of the Lubbock high school and is now with the South Plains Pipe line company.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. U. Bean. Recently she has been employed in Cleburne.

Opponents of Soviet Regime Are Executed

Forty-eight Members of Anti-Revolutionary Society in Russia Shot to Death by Secret Police

MOSCOW, Sept. 25.—(P)—Forty-eight Russians who dared to oppose the Moscow Soviet regime have paid with their lives for their opposition.

An official communique through Tass, Soviet news agency, said that all members—numbering 48—of the counter-revolutionary society revealed Sept. 22 had been shot by secret police after trial and conviction on charges of attempting to starve the population of the U. S. S. R., by destroying the food reserves of the country.

The doomed men numbered Professor Alexander Ryazanov and Eugene Karatynin, government officials, among them. All were described as "unreconcilable enemies of the Soviet government and active counter-revolutionists."

Discovery Revealed

The secret police revealed discovery of the alleged counter-revolutionary society last Monday in a brief notice which said the men had been arrested. Their activities, it was charged, embraced the organizations of the meat, fish, vegetable and other industries as well as the commissariat of trade and state planning institutions.

Professor Ryazanov, former czarist general and chairman of the meat department of the Soviet commissariat, was named as head of the organization, which included former noblemen, czarist officers, manufacturers and property owners. The secret police claimed that the society was initiated by a British meat packing house.

A police body instead of the supreme court is understood to have tried the men.

Okla. Widow Says She Was Hounded And Tortured Into Shooting Official

ENID, Okla., Sept. 25.—(P)—Insisting she was "tortured" and "hounded" into shooting a United States commissioner and attempting to wound a judge in district court here yesterday, Mrs. Dolly Douthitt, eccentric elderly widow, was held in jail today awaiting the outcome of her victim's injuries.

Angered when a civil suit was decided against her, Mrs. Douthitt shot and seriously wounded H. Z. Wedgwood, United States commissioner, who won the suit and sent a wild bullet at Judge Arthur Sutton, on the bench. Attorney and bailiffs overpowered her.

Memories Revived
Mrs. Douthitt, whose gunplay revived memories that she was acquitted of the slaying of her husband 28 years ago, told newspaper men she was "a volcano by temperament." Trimly dressed, appearing younger than her sixty years, she shouted from her cot in the Garfield county jail last night:

"They tortured me 'till it hurt; they hounded me 'till it hurt. For months they have been after my money. I have $35,000 or $40,000 they are trying to get."

"I am a Christian; I will not even kill a chicken. I don't know why I did it. I don't know why I wanted to kill."

Mrs. Douthitt added that she didn't feel "I have committed any crime."

"I'm not through with them yet," she cried. "I'll get out warrants and fight them to the last ditch."

She added "they harassed me until it broke my health and they forced me into court when I was too sick to come."

Long known to Enid townspeople for her peculiarities, her house shunned by youngsters as "haunted," Mrs. Douthitt came to court to act as her own lawyer in a group of suits in which she was involved.

The case which led to the shooting grew out of her failure to pay for a roof on her house. The dwelling was attached and sold but she continued to live there and the roofing company attached her equity for rent. The widow obtained a grand jury hearing of the attachment action, lost again and came into district court for redress.

Judge Sutton, sitting for jurists Mrs. Douthitt claimed were prejudiced, just had ruled against her on motion of Wedgwood.

Mrs. Douthitt also has damage suits, based on "persecution" charges against Wedgwood, Judge O. C. Wybrandt of the 20th judicial district; Fred Hanson, assistant state attorney general; Justice Charles Shindall of the Oklahoma supreme court, and A. E. Ford, foreman of the grand jury which decided against her. She is involved in other litigation because of her alleged failure to pay taxes on valuable property holdings.

Officers waited for further word from the hospital where Wedgwood is in a critical condition before filing charges.

Advocate Less Government in U. S. Business

Return of Power to States Is Urged by James A. Reed on Return from Vacation Trip in Europe; Well Contented

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. (AP)—Less government in business and a return of power to the states were advocated today by James A. Reed, Missouri Democratic senator, as he discussed public questions on his return from a vacation trip to Europe.

Confronted with pleas from friends that he return to public life, the former senator and presidential candidate replied:

"I am back where I want to be and I am very well contented." But the old gleam came to his eyes as the silver haired veteran pressed questions with newspapermen over public issues and he showed an intense interest in the problems of the day. He said he probably would participate in the fall campaign.

"Prohibition?" he asked back. "I think it is perfectly obvious that the American people have given this law a very thorough trying out and that it has been found to be the greatest failure in the last half century of legislation. Repeal the nineteenth amendment and as a preliminary to that repeal the volstead act."

Reed assailed the federal reserve board for leading government credit to the "riot of speculation in the stock exchange" which preceded the collapse of prices a year ago and he blamed the republican administration "for inviting" participation in this "riot" by the public through the issuance of statements deluding the resources of the country.

Frightens Everyone
The Massachusetts said President Hoover "frightened everyone and spread alarming news about 'the calling in the 'captains of industry' last fall and 'telling them to save us.'"

"It was just notice to all the world that our office was toppling and had to be helped by a few men—to be saved by a class of men who always take advantage of such situations to gather money for themselves."

Reed said the attack by Secretary Ryde on Russia "for selling wheat" and his plea to the people to eat more food came under the classification of "humor."

"He added his best visit to Georgia had 'strengthened my conviction that we were right when we kept out of the League of Nations.'"

Declining to discuss proposals that he run again for Democratic presidential nomination or consider returning to the senate two years hence, Reed said he would be glad to take a part in the campaign this fall.

Cats are an enemy to pneumonia because they kill mice which are among the worst instruments for the spreading of all germs, especially pneumonia. NEBRASKA CITY—Many weeds growing wild in the fields and swamps of the United States are edible, according to Mary F. Meserve, Nebraska botanist. Young shoots of this plant are said to be as tender and choice as asparagus.

Lubbock Meets Pampa Here In League Opener

Pafford R. Guard McGee
Burch R. Tackle Brawley
Kennedy R. End Martin
Lard Quarter Lawson
Chastain L. Half Teal

Saulsbury C. Full Smith

The above lineup tells the story of a game that will be played this afternoon, and as far as the story is concerned that is about the only story that can be told before the game is over. The Pampa Harvesters and the Lubbock Westerners, two of the leading contending teams for the District 1 interscholastic league football title, meet in their first conference game of the season this afternoon at 3:45 on the Tech Athletic Park gridiron.

Westerners Are Outwitted
If the individual weights of the above players were printed opposite the names it would be discovered that the visiting Pampa gridsters outweighed the Westerners by several pounds, man for man, line for line, and backfield for backfield. And that fact is about the only difference that is discernable right now. Both teams have played and won practice games—that is, Pampa has played and won three, running up an average of 50 points, and Lubbock has won her only practice game by a score not quite as impressive.

There was little sleep last night in the rooms of Harry Fruka, coach of the Westerners, and Odeus Mitchell, coach of the Harvesters. The mentors realize that the game today is one of significant importance, that the winner is the favorite of the district, and that the game will be one of the hardest fought of the season.

Light Workout at Tech
Both coaches sent their charges through a light workout on the Tech field yesterday afternoon, polishing them off for what may be the hardest game played in this district. A last minute inspection showed that nearly every man on both teams was in good physical condition for the game, and that when the opening whistle blows this afternoon each coach will be able to put his strongest team on the field. Coach Mitchell, arriving with his team yesterday morning, appeared to be in rather optimistic spirits in regard to his team, stating that "The Harvesters have come to put up a real battle, and Lubbock's team will know that it has been through a mill, win or lose. We don't load of the strongest team in the district, but before the season is over the other teams are going to know that Pampa is to be beaten before another can win the championship."

Fruka Less Optimistic
Coach Fruka was less optimistic, though certain that his flock would stage a great fight for supremacy. He believes that the outcome of today's game will go a long way toward determining the potential champion of the district, and he says "I am sure that I can place a team on the field that can fight the Harvesters with all the determination that it takes to win, but I know that we are entering the game as underdogs. The Westerners have a great fighting spirit, and lots of hustle, and I believe in them, but it would be no surprise to me should the Pampa team, with their superior weight, and having gone through a longer practice season and played two more games than Lubbock, come through with the heavy score, though we shall do our very best to prevent it."

A communication from Pampa late last night disclosed that a special train, bearing more than 400 students and fans, would leave Pampa at 9 this morning, arriving in Lubbock about 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Ralls and Lamesa In Big Game Today

RALLS, Sept. 25 (Special).—Coach Hendricks' Jackrabbits will meet the Lamesa high school eleven in their second game of the season on Friday, Sept. 25.

Hendricks has been putting his boys through stiff practice this week, smoothing out the rough spots which showed up in last Friday's game with the Idaho team. The team got away with a good start with a 20-0 win in their first game and hope to keep this up.

Although the game with Lamesa does not count in the interscholastic league race, the boys are anxious to meet them as it was this team which beat the Jackrabbits out in the 31-District championship last

PICTURE CHECKS
A new ingenious method of preventing forgery has been devised by an English bank. With its "picture books" it places a cut-out of a picture of a man or woman on a pad of adhesive stamps, and the man or woman is then placed on the stamps on it, thereby preventing its being copied by anyone.

Where Bobby Jones Battles for Fourth Title

It's an old story when Bobby Jones sets out to smash par in a national golf tournament—but it's an ever-new story to the crowds of spectators, as this picture shows. The photograph was taken on the ninth green at the Merion Cricket Club, Ardmore, Pa., at the opening of the National Amateur Golf Tournament; Jones, indicated by the arrow, is just putting. The vast crowd shown in the photo followed him all around the course and was rewarded by seeing him tally a 68.

Atlanta Lawyer Enters Golf Semi-Finals in Sensational Comeback to Beat Westerner

After Day and a Half Ragged Playing, Bobby Jones Shows Familiar Form to Outplay Fay Coleman, 6 and 5

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
MERION CRICKET CLUB, ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 25.—It isn't news when the ordinary golfer drives out of bounds, slices into a trap or takes three putts. It is not news when Bobby Jones does these things, but after a day and a half of embarrassing moments, the great Georgian suddenly snapped out of his slump this afternoon, applied the par crusher to Fay Coleman, 23-year-old Californian, and swept into the semi-finals of the national amateur golf championship.

Characteristic Comeback
Jones, after an erratic morning round in which he looked like anything but a triple champion, staged a characteristic return to form to wallop Coleman by 6 and 5 in the 36-hole quarter final. As a result, Bobby has only two more all-day battles between him and the goal that no other golfer has ever approached—a clean sweep of all four British and American championships in one year.

Plays Sweeter Today
Tomorrow Jones will play an old rival, Jess W. Sweetser, Kentucky-bred New Yorker who shared with Jones the distinction of having held both the American and British amateur titles. Sweetser, who had to engage in a playoff to qualify in this tournament, put on a comical show of himself today, as the youthful iron-man, Maurice J. McCarthy, of New York, conqueror of George Von Elm in a record-breaking 35-hole second round match. Sweetser captured his quarter final match 3 and 4.

Two Youth In Semi-Final
Two other semi-finals tomorrow bring together two youngsters who have been upsetting golfing dogs by the wholesale in this tournament—19-year-old Charles Seaver, thickest Los Angeles youth, and Eugene V. Hennaux of Englewood, N. J., 22-year-old, frail-looking former Princeton golf captain.

The only other time they have met in the national amateur, Sweetser walloped Jones by the lopsided margin of 8 and 1 at Brookline in 1922, the year that Big Jess won the tournament. But the Georgian has become the giant of the links since then, holder of more national titles than any other man in golfing history.

Plainview High To Meet Lockney Gridmen Tonight

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 25 (Special).—The Plainview High Bulldogs have a tough assignment when they meet the Lockney High school football team Friday night on Wayland college's new lighted field at Plainview. Lacking in weight and experience, the Bulldogs will more than make up this deficit with fighting heart and with the excellent coaching of Coach Frank Lovorn.

Plainview defeated Floydada last Friday by a score of 1 to 0, and Lockney has defeated Tulsa and Heford already this season, and it was the first defeat for Heford in two years.

Hornsby Takes Charge of Cub Team and Wins

McCarthy's Sudden Withdrawal Causes Hornsby to Assume Early Charge; Cubs Down Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 3

(Special To The Journal)
CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Rogers Hornsby snatched the Chicago Cubs reins as they dropped from Joe McCarthy's hands today and steered his charges to a 4 to 3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. The victory enabled the Cubs to remain mathematically in the National league pennant race for at least one more day as the St. Louis Cardinals needed two triumphs, including today's game, to clinch the title.

McCarthy, deposed in favor of Hornsby 48 hours before with the understanding he was to finish the season, suddenly requested he immediately be relieved. His request was granted by President William L. Verck, who handed the club over to Hornsby shortly before game time.

The contest was a battle of home runs and came very close to becoming a Cincinnati victory in the ninth inning. Leading by 4 to 1 as he went into the ninth, young Bud Thomas, who had pitched effectively, saw Tony Cucinello crash his second homer of the game over the left field wall and Harry Heilmann, the next batsman, slam one over the same barrier.

Ford followed with a single and Hornsby struck his head out of the dugout and motioned Pat Malone to the mound. Malone ended the rally, quickly disposing of two pinch hitters.

Cards Need One Win To Clinch; Beat Pirates
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 25.—Cheered on by more than 20,000 home town fans, the St. Louis Cardinals shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates 9 to 0, here this afternoon and now need only one more game to clinch the 1930 National League pennant.

Burlison Grimes, veteran spitballer, pitched superb ball to bring the Redbirds victory, while his hard-hitting teammates blasted Ray Kremer, Pirate right hander, from the hill in the second inning.

(By The Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—The Athletics turned the first game of their final series of the season into a session of batting practice against the New York Yankees today, pounding out a 13 to 3 victory before the game was halted at the end of the sixth inning by rain. Lou Gehrig accounted for all the Yankee runs in the first inning as he hit his first home run of the season after Reese had doubled and Ruth had reached first on an error. Freshmen Meet Cameron Aggies In Night Game

Cawthon to Polish Matadors This Afternoon with Light Workout; Jackrabbits Said to Be Powerful

The Texas Tech Matadors will watch the Lubbock-Pampa high school gridsters in their first conference game of the season this afternoon—for about ten minutes. Then they'll be herded to the west side of the stands and sent through a light workout for the rest of the afternoon. To some teams the workout might seem stiff, but in comparison to the drills to which the Matadors have been made subject to since the first day of the practice season, today's work will seem light.

Tomorrow afternoon Coach Pete Cawthon shall send his Matadors against the Wayland College Jackrabbits of Plainview. The game will be played on the Tech field, starting at 3:15, and will be the maiden effort of the 1930 Tech grid aggregation, and the first appearance of a Cawthon coached Matador get up.

First Night Game
Soon after the close of tomorrow's game on the Tech field, another Tech football team will be preparing to take part in a night exhibition at Lawton, Oklahoma. Coach Dutcher Smith's freshmen, who have been holding their own in a surprising manner against the onslaught of the varsity candidates in scrimmage sessions every day this week, will meet the Cameron Aggies, champions of a junior college district in Oklahoma, on lighted gridiron tomorrow night.

Agiens Are Champions
Pen O. Dixon, coach of the Cameron State School of Agriculture, boasts of a strong team this season, and hopes to repeat his championship of last year. Eight letter men return to his fold, and while the game tomorrow night is the opener of the season, his squad is reported to be looking good in practice. The game will be first, night contest to be played by a Lubbock team, and the first game of the season for the Picadors. Officials have scheduled seven games for the Tech freshmen this season, though the regular Picador team will play only three, according to Southwest Conference rules. Team B, which will be practically as strong, will play four games.

No Reserved Seats
There will be no reserved seats at the game tomorrow. All tickets will be $1 each, with every seat in the stands, including boxes, going alike. Tickets are on sale at the Hilton Hotel and Lubbock Hotel drug stores. Students of Lubbock public schools will be admitted free to the Wayland game provided they have signed certificates from a teacher. These certificates, and 25 cents will admit the students to all succeeding Tech games on the local field.

Coach Dutcher Smith 25 freshmen gridsters will leave this morning at 8 o'clock for Lawton. The trip will be made in a bus, and the squad expects to arrive in Lawton this afternoon late. The Picadors will work out tomorrow morning on a Lawton field. The game will start about 8 o'clock tomorrow night. Coach Smith was not certain of his starting lineup, preferring to wait until the squad reached its destination before making a definite decision.

Spur Bulldogs to Meet Haskell Team

SPUR, Sept. 25. (Special).—The Spur Bulldogs are going through hard workouts this week in preparing for the Haskell Indians. The Bulldogs have won two games of the three they have played. Lost to Pampa 19 to 14, won over Memphis 32 to 0 and over Hamlin 36 to 0.

These games do not count in the conference standing, however, the first conference game will be with Ralls, October 10, at Spur.

The Spur Bulldogs have one open date October 3. Any team wishing a game on this date should notify Gene Taylor.

LAMESA, Sept. 25. (Special).—Much interest is being manifested in the football game to be played here Friday between the Golden Tornadoes of the Lamesa high school and the Ralls Jackrabbits. Coach McGillem's Golden Tornadoes were the champions of this Class B district last year, defeating the Jackrabbits, who were runner up. The Tornadoes are training intensely for this game and for the opening of the conference, which will be October 10th, with Tahola on the local gridiron. Fans are hoping for another championship team; and Coach McGillem states the team is showing up very satisfactorily.

Mustangs Beat Jackets, 26 to 7

Morrisonmen Use Straight Football to Crush Weaker Opposition in Opening Game of Season

DALLAS, Sept. 25. (P)—Sticking to straight football and using an army of reserves, the Southern Methodist University Mustangs demolished the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets, 26 to 7, in their opening game here today. Approximately 12,000 saw the tilt.

Coach Ray Morrison started his strongest array against the Jackets, but pulled them after three touchdowns had been scored in the first period. He sent them back in again late in the final quarter, when they quickly scored across another score.

Howard Payne scored its only touchdown in the third period, against a full list of Pony reserves. A pass, Gibbs to McQueen, carried to the one-yard line, from whence McCarver plunged it over. It was the Jackets' only scoring threat of the game.

From the opening kick-off, which Weidon Mason carried back to Howard Payne's 25-yard line, the contest was one-sided. On the second play from scrimmage, Ray Johnson circled left end 31 yards for a touchdown.

Every Child Born in 1930 May Expect 10 More Years Living Than 1910 Baby

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Every child born in 1930 may expect to live 10 more years than a baby born in 1910, according to a report by the United States public health service.

Figures revealed by the latest campaign against infant mortality, and to increased public health activities throughout the country, show that the average life expectancy of a child born in 1930 is 47 years, compared with 37 years for a child born in 1910.

The public health service announced today the practical demonstration of the trend toward longer life expectancy. The service said that the average life expectancy of a child born in 1930 is 47 years, compared with 37 years for a child born in 1910.

No Action on Short Selling Action Taken

Steps to Be Taken by Board of Trade in Chicago Not Determined After Session with Government Officers

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
What steps will be taken by the Chicago Board of Trade to prevent short selling of wheat such as that indulged in by traders for the benefit of governments has today become a question of the board and high federal officials.

Left With Board
Secretary Rives after the meeting "We are not asking that they do anything but clear their own house."

Strawn was reluctant to talk. He did say, however, that the board emphasized the attitude toward the "bushel" and "not the slightest bushel" would be sold.

Differences of opinion as to the effect on prices of short selling of wheat, the national trade commission said, was the main reason for the board's action.

According to questions of investigation, Strawn said it was his personal belief that short selling of wheat was not beneficial to the board. He said that the board's action was a result of the board's desire to maintain the price of wheat.

The action was taken by the board, an official of the board said, "because the board is a body of men who are not interested in the wheat market, but in the wheat price."

Shriners Will Visit Caverns

Special Train of 200 from Albuquerque to Attend First Rites Ever Given in Underground Cavern Today

CARLSBAD, N. M., Sept. 25. (Special.)—A special train bearing 200 Shriners and their wives from Albuquerque, N. M., are expected to arrive here at 6 o'clock today morning for the first Shrine rites ever to be given in an underground cavern, a part of the Shrine ceremony to be in Roswell Saturday.

Thomas Bole, superintendent of the Carlsbad National park, will be one of the class of 45 or 50 novices who will tread the "guano" path through the underground caverns in preparation for a trip across the dusty sands of Eastern New Mexico towards Mecca.

Ballot Ahyad Temple, of Albuquerque, will be here Friday. After arrival there will be a parade and then the trip to the caverns.

Friday night at the armory a dance will be held for the ladies and visitors by local Shriners.

Shriners from El Paso, Lubbock, Amarillo, Wichita Falls, and other Texas towns as well as from Roswell, Alamogordo, Carlsbad, Glorita, Artesia and Santa Fe are expected.

Extension Given Water Rates Here

Summer water rates will be continued through October as a result of a decision to extend the rate a month, city officials announced Thursday morning.

Last spring, the city commission voted to offer contracts of $3 for the first 6,000 gallons and 16 cents a thousand for all over the amount, less 10 per cent during the summer and through September.

The contracts, which were intended principally to stimulate development of lawns and gardens, were signed by a large number of consumers, city officials said.

Citizens desiring to take advantage of the summer rate during October must communicate with and so advise the water department.

ment. Otherwise the rate will be discontinued September 30.

ROCKETS IN WAR

PARIS.—Skyrockets, containing gases, liquid fire, shrapnel or smoke-producers, will replace cannons in future wars, if experiments being carried on by well-known European engineers are successful. They are endeavoring to devise a means of controlling the flight of skyrockets through the air. The feature of their use is that they can be more easily transported than huge heavy guns.

STATUE DOCTOR

LONDON.—J. Cheek has one of the oddest jobs in the world. Known as "Surgeon" Cheek, he is the doctor for more than 1000 statues in the Crystal Palace. In his "operating" room he repairs the noses, legs, arms, feet and other portions of a statue's anatomy which need fixing. His services are made necessary by the fact that bits are chipped off in the usual wear and tear of keeping the statues clean.

INJUNCTION GRANTED

AUSTIN, Sept. 25. (P.)—A temporary injunction restraining the state railroad commission from enforcing its proration order against the Danciger Oil company was issued in district court here today. The company operates in Gray, Carson and Hutchinson county.

COTTON DESTROYED

DEHIDDER, La., Sept. 25. (P.)—Between 75 and a hundred bales of cotton were destroyed early today by a fire which burned a loading shed of the Southern Pacific railroad beside the Deridder gin. Most of the cotton was owned by farmers and carried little insurance. The railway lost one car with 18 bales. The gin was undamaged.

FRESH AIR FUND

BEAUMONT, Sept. 25. (P.)—Among the private papers of James Henry Hobson, 51, mining engineer, amateur poet, photographer and adventurer, who died yesterday in a hospital here, was found a will which left an endowment of $200 to the fresh air fund for Life Magazine, to be used in promoting the health of children from big cities. The remainder of his estate, of an unknown value, was left to three children in Tacoma, Wash.

ne nervous."

And she tersely narrated her experience for him, explained what she had hoped to do in pictures and what she had tried to prepare herself for. Sloan studied her intently as she talked. She was very earnest.

"You've read this play, of course?" He laid a hand on the manuscript in his lap.

"Oh, yes. You see, I know the man who wrote it. He's a very good friend of mine."

"Who is this Rortimer?"

"You've met him, Mr. Sloan. He was at the opening with me. Don't you remember? Paul Collier introduced him to you."

"Oh, yes. Well, he's written something pretty good, hasn't he? Seems funny he couldn't sell it before this."

Anne wished that Dan Rortimer were there to hear Sloan say that. She replied that she thought it was a very fine thing. "Do you really like it?"

"I think," Sloan said thoughtfully, "it may make a wonderful picture," and Anne said that she was sure it would, if he directed it. Nor did she intend any flattery. There was, after all, only one Garry Sloan.

The director prodigally tossed his cigar away and folded his arms. His shirt sleeves came down not quite to his elbows and the sun glinted on the back bones of his arms and Anne remarked the girth of the wrist around which he had strapped his watch.

He said presently, with a slight frown: "If you want a test I'll be glad to give you one. I've been trying to make up my mind who I wanted to play opposite Moore. You're sure you'd like to do it?"

She was, she assured him eagerly and she thought the smile with which he greeted her fervency was a bit skeptical. She was resentful of that, and she said a little proudly, "I won't let you long to find out whether I'll do."

Sloan, she felt, persisted in thinking of her as just what he had called her—a child.

Garry Sloan grinned. When he asked, would she like to have the test? "What about this afternoon?" Anne was thankful then for the study she had put in last night with Mona and Dan as her audience and critics.

"Any time will do for me," she told him, and Sloan said he would make the arrangements and let her know.

She left him then, sitting on the bench where she had found him, with his gaze trailing her and a humorous twinkle in his eyes.

At lunch the thought of what lay just ahead made her so apprehensive that her appetite disappeared with the first bite. Fred Hurley, the director, seeing her alone, came over to her table and told her he had learned what she was going to do.

"I was just talking with Garry. I wish you a lot of luck, Anne. Do you mind if I'm around?" He smiled at her. "Maybe I'll be an inspiration for you."

And Anne, remembering a day when Hurley had played the piano for her in her first tryout, and remembering his friendliness and the courage it had inspired in her, smiled and was somewhat comforted.

She knew that she would feel better if Hurley was there; it would be so much better than having Sloan's skeptical eyes alone upon her.

So she told him that she welcomed him, and throughout their meal Fred Hurley chatted pleasantly and told her amusing stories, and he succeeded in taking her mind off the forthcoming trial while she ate.

"Just remember," he told her when they parted—Anne to put on her makeup—"That Garry Sloan's humor like the rest of us. You needn't be afraid of him, Anne."

Mid-afternoon found her and Sloan on one of the stages. The director sat quietly by while she read the manuscript he had placed in her hands and a crew made ready the sound-recording apparatus. He had her choose one of the scenes.

Rortimer had recommended the afternoon before, had even approved her choice of it by telling her it was what he would have had her do.

And he had looked at her with something like respect in his eyes, for the scene was a difficult one.

and one lacking in courage, or in confidence, or both, would have hesitated to choose it.

Fred Hurley sauntered on the scene a short while later, and as he sat down Sloan and one of the crew exchanged looks and the director nodded. Presently the silence called sounded.

Garry Sloan looked at Anne. "Ready?" he asked, and she rose and handed the manuscript back to him and faintly smiled.

Anne nodded. "I know," she looked at Hurley, who smiled and waved his head encouragingly.

"All right," Sloan held up a hand. "Remember, Anne, you come on just as they're taking Michael away."

Sloan, consciously or not, had called her by her first name. Anne wondered to be was aware of it.

The scene was the one in which the unfortunate Michael, guilty of many crimes but charged now with one of which he was entirely innocent, accused Jenny, his "girl," of helping to "frame" him. Her first reason was utter bewilderment at his cruel accusation; then protest; and finally, when Michael had gone, complete despair.

"Silence!" A quick nod from Sloan. Anne stepped into the brilliant light, and Sloan leaned forward and watched her through eyes intently narrowed.

"Anne cried, 'Michael!'" She moved toward the camera, and then she suddenly checked herself, and a look of incomprehension and of hurt came into her eyes. Then she shook her head quickly, vehemently. "No, Michael, no! How can you say that?"

A little distance in back of Sloan sat Hurley. Chin in hand, he listened to the girl voiced her dazed protest.

Michael had gone now. Toward the door through which he presumably had passed Anne gazed with eyes bewildered and pained and frightened. She stood thus for some moments, then turned and moved dazedly a few steps and dropped in to a chair.

her lips were trembling; she plucked at them with her fingers. And then her hand moved uncertainly in front of her and she pressed its fingers into a cruel clasp on her wrist below the spooler.

"What good is life, anyway?" she murmured.

Sloan stirred. He barked an order and Anne rose from her chair and came forward, wearing a timid little smile.

In front of him she paused, her eyes looking a question. Sloan rose and said, "Out down here," and he patted a chair close to his own.

"Anne, that was great," he told her softly. He glanced around toward Hurley. "Want to see the camera?"

Hurley grinned. "I guess the little girl surprised you, eh? Well, she surprised me too. You sure did. Anne, took me right off my feet."

"She's got the nerve of a burglar," Sloan said proudly, taking Anne's hand in his own and holding it. "Said she didn't want to rehearse. Just stepped up to the mike and let it go. Anne, you're all right. We'll have a playback now and see what it sounds like."

Hurley scratched his nose. "This guy Michael," he said, "hasn't that a pretty tough game for a tough guy?"

But Sloan laughed and shook his head. "You haven't read the play," he said. "Mike wouldn't suit this guy at all. It's got to be Michael; he's that kind of a person."

He continued to hold Anne's hand as she waited for the playback that would bring to her the sound of her own voice.

Presently they heard a scratching in the loudspeaker overhead, and then came a word, low in pitch, vibrant, full of bewilderment and anguish—

"Michael!"

Cotton Market Is Active and Narrow Livestock Demand for Cattle Moderate Thursday Grain Prices Nominal for Most Grain Thurs.Cotton*NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25. (AP)—The cotton market was active today with frequent fluctuations. Today was first and notices for 6,500 bales were issued here and 31,700 bales in New York. The notices were responsible for opening irregularly but prices soon became steadier as it was apparent that spot interests were stopping the notices at prevailing differences and prices rallied 7 to 8 points from the opening lows.

After mid-session prices reacted owing to considerable liquidation of October and hedge selling, declining 14 to 15 points from the highs. The market continued to decline in the final trading and made new lows right at the end 21 to 22 points under the highs and closed at the lowest showing net losses for the day of 17 to 18 points.

Liverpool came in 2 to 3 points better than due but first trades here were 3 points down to 1 up. After easing off a few points in early trading on October liquidation the market rallied on the stoppage of the notices, October trading up to 10.57, and December to 10.83, or 7 to 8 points above the early lows.

NEW YORK COTTON
NEW YORK, Sept. 25. (AP)—Advances from an irregular opening were followed by renewed weakness in cotton today, with prices making new low ground for the movement in the market here.

The new October contract after selling at 10.59 during the early trading, broke to 10.44 late in the afternoon, or 7 points net lower and to the lowest price touched by any contract in New York futures since the earlier years of the World War. Closing quotations were at the lowest of the day with the market barely steady at net declines of 5 to 11 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 points to an advance of three points with near months relatively easy under liquidation incident to the issuance of October notices. There was some buying on the relatively steady showing of Liverpool, which was reflected in the later months, while the near month selling was readily absorbed by trade buying or buying by spot houses against sales of later deliveries.

MINIATURE GOLF BANNED
Horne Bay, England, has revoked the license granted to a miniature golf course because boarding house keepers complained that crowds who watched the players were an annoyance to guests, who threatened to leave. Shopkeepers in the vicinity petitioned for retention of the game because it helped their business, but the city fathers sided with the landladies. Receipts from charges of 15 cents a round totaled nearly $400 in 11 days, giving the city an income of $160.

Appointed to examine the possibility of an assisted land settlement scheme, a committee has just reported to the government of Tanganyika Territory, East Africa, suggesting the creation of a Land Settlement Board.

FIREMEN HONOR SCOTT

Two firemen and a group of men out of work, organized the audience at the celebration in Glasgow, Scotland, this year, of the ninety-eighth anniversary of the death of Sir Walter Scott. The firemen supplied a ladder for Walter Ove, vice president of the Glasgow Firemen's Club, who placed a wreath at the monument, then took off his hat in honor of the great writer. At Edinburgh members of the Edinburgh Firemen's Club placed a large wreath of white heather at the Scott monument.

Stock Market Shrouded in Gloom and Another Tumble in Thursday Session

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer
NEW YORK, Sept. 25. (AP)—Refusing to accept the cheer it might have had from the firmness of the commodities, the strength of bonds and the cheapness of money, the stock market shrouded itself in gloom today and took another tumble.

Although the net losses of 1 to 5 points did not represent bottom prices, touched on the wave of selling, the market rolled over in the afternoon, rallying tendencies in the late trading were feeble, indicating that the shorts felt confident of their position. Sales just exceeded 3,000,000 shares.

The average loss on the day was 3 points and the composite for 30 shares dropped to 154.7, only 27 points above the year's low, established June 24. Utilities were hardest hit, but the industrials were not far behind.

Only at the opening did the market exhibit strength. The initial gains were quickly lost and prices then began an up and down movement that carried into afternoon, displaying little or no recuperative powers on the rallies and manifesting a willingness to go lower on increasing activity, until the list topped over toward the beginning of the final hour.

The domestic news, such as it was, on the whole moderately favorable. Grains closed steady. Bonds, especially the rails took another sharp, aided by the easiest time money in two decades. Call loans were available at 1 per cent, but so feeble was the demand that some $500,000 went unloaned. In addition, the American Federation of Labor reported a definitely better trend this month in the employment situation.

Lubbock by train after her husband had been arrested. When in the county jail last night, Hankins, who is tall, thin and of medium build, and slightly bald, said he would not talk much, on advice of counsel. Weldon Johnson, Levelland lawyer, tried to collect.

The wife of the man who was attempting to collect on a $3,500 double indemnity life insurance policy issued to him, Hockley county officers said. Mrs. Hankins tonight said that she did not recognize her husband's voice when he talked to her by telephone. She denied that she and her five children were in destitute circumstances, although she had received a $60 donation from a Plainview church group.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, September 25. (AP)—In a late selling flurry today, the wheat market suffered a quick loss of 1-1/2 to 2 bushels advance that earlier had step by step been attained. The sudden drop in wheat values went hand in hand with reports that James C. Stone, a member of the federal farm board, said he agreed with the theory that the price trend would be downward for the next few years. Many standing orders to stop losses at various set limits were forced into execution by the market tumble, but hurried rallies were in progress as trading came to an end.

Where Gangsters Struck at Raiding Dry Agents

One of the most daring acts of counter-warfare in prohibition enforcement was committed here, when twelve gunmen ambushed six dry agents, killed one and disarmed his companions. The above photo shows one of the agents peering into the boiler-room entrance of the Rising Sun brewery at Elizabeth, N. J. There John G. Finello, one of the raiding enforcement agents, was slain by the gangsters who had lain in wait to surprise them.

Women Played and Kibitzers Paid As Marathon Bridge Proved Success

BY GENE COHN
NEA Service Writer

MINNEOLA, N. Y., Sept. 25.—"Good gracious," sputtered 78-year-old Anna Seaman, "I was just beginning to get good hands. I never had such cards in my life."

Mrs. Seaman stifled a yawn. And will she might. She had been playing bridge for almost 36 hours, which, as your clock will tell you, is a period of time sufficient to play that "one more rubber" folks are always talking about.

But even though someone had trumped her partner's ace five times, everyone was still talking to everyone else. It was the end of the great Minneola bridge marathon; that historic moment in endurance contests. Any man who has ever had his wife for a partner over a period of three hours will inform you how much one can endure in a single evening.

All Husbands Barred
The Minneola long distance bridge contests did not play with their husbands. They were smart women. They wanted the game to last. Even then a deputy sheriff was on hand. He was not called upon. His only task was to keep peace among the kibitzers rather than the players.

Imagine playing for 36 hours with your husbands, sisters, sons-in-law, daughters and neighbors going on the sidelines and kibitzing for all it is worth. "I really can't blame my partner for trumping out of turn the last few times," Mrs. Seaman can be quoted as saying. "She really was quite sleepy and probably couldn't play her cards very well. After three cups of coffee she played much better. And so did I."

All of the participants are quite aware of what they may have started. Humans who have been perched in trees for a thousand hours may come down; gents who have been waiting for five months may suddenly turn off the band; hardy bicycle riders may dismount and rush to beat the 36-hour bridge record so proudly held for a moment by this New York suburb.

Bridging Their Difficulties
In case, in the rush of other endurance contests, you may have overlooked this one, here are the brief statistics:

The ladies of the Davison Republican Club hope to build a new clubhouse. Looking about for novelties by which money might be raised, they hit upon the card-playing endurance contest. The one question involved was whether kibitzers enjoyed kibitzing sufficiently to pay for the privilege. As everyone knows, the role of a kibitzer is a most gratuitous one; he volunteers offstage advice whether or not anyone wants it. Generally he just crashes in, willy nilly.

And here was a grand opportunity for kibitzers to run the entire critical gauntlet. For a small sum they could look over shoulders and make their classic comments: "She should have led a heart..." "Why didn't the poor sap take her out in no trump..." "Imagine leading from a king..." "Well, if they hold out long enough they may know something about the game..."

Huggins was crossing the street at the time.

Four Cameron Men Indicted

County Officials Charged in Alleged Misappropriation of Funds and Failure to Make Financial Reports

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 25. (AP)—Four Cameron county officials were indicted by a state grand jury today for alleged misappropriation of county funds and failure to make required financial reports.

They were: John Scanlan, district clerk, charged with misappropriating funds and failing to make reports.

R. F. Watson, justice of the peace at Los Fresnos charged with misappropriating $1,888.71 in county funds.

Joe Cunningham, justice of the peace at Harlingen charged with failing to make reports.

J. J. Fox, county tax collector, failure to make reports.

Four indictments were returned against Scanlan and one each against the other men.

Although the men had not been arrested bond of $500 was fixed for each charge. Service on the indictments was delayed because Scanlan, whose office must issue the necessary papers, had not been in his office today, officers said.

OPERATOR!
PARIS—No longer can you bail out the telephone operators here. The telephone company has perfected a device similar to the photograph to reply to busy and wrong number calls, or inform that the line is out of order. At each exchange there are several photographs, each equipped with appropriate faces. If a number is busy, the operator merely switches the line to the photograph, which says so. Argument with the record is useless, because it continues repeating the line until the receiver is hung up.

At Newport, England, recently, three adults and four children living in the same house were found to be suffering from amnesia.
