Kennedy Asks Funds For Bold Projects

Space Plans Emphasized

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy called on Congress today to beef up the military, strengthen foreign aid, attack unemployment, and pump $7 billion to $9 billion into rocketing a man to the moon.

To meet an extraordinary challenge of extraordinary times, Kennedy summoned the legislators and the nation to undertake "a great positive adventure" on behalf of freedom everywhere.

And his was an extraordinary message—a second report on the State of the Union, for delivery in person before a joint Senate-House session, almost on the eve of the President's departure for momentous conferences abroad.

It was broadcast and telecast by major networks.

Kennedy asked for $1.5 billion new appropriations now to get on with his programs plus a recognition from Congress and the country that billions more will be required in the future.

Speaking of the objective of "landing a man on the moon and returning him safely to the earth," a project some experts believe may require 9 or 10 years, the President said:

"Let it be clear that I am asking the Congress and the country to accept a firm commitment to a new course of action—a course which will last for many years and carry very heavy costs—an estimated $7-$9 billion additional over the next five years. If we were to go only half-way, or reduce our sights in the face of difficulty, it would be better not to go at all."

Kennedy said the nation faces an "extraordinary challenge to protect the jeopardized freedom of the world."

"It is a contest of will and purpose as well as force and violence—a battle for minds and souls as well as lives and territory," Kennedy said in describing Communist efforts to seize and exploit the newly emerging nations.

"And in that contest, we cannot stand aside."

". . . This nation was born of revolution and raised in freedom. And we do not intend to leave an open road to despotism."

The message called for a sweeping reorganization of military combat power, an increase in the Marine Corps, and a build-up of the land and air weapons needed for brush fire wars and paramilitary (guerrilla) operations.

The President committed the nation to take "a clearly leading role in space achievement"—a blunt notice to the Soviet Union that this country intends to make a contest of the race to the moon and planes.

"For while we cannot guarantee that we shall one day be first, we can guarantee that any failure to share this effort will make us last," the President said.

"Space is open to us now, and our eagerness to share its meaning is not governed by the efforts of others.

"We go into space because whatever mankind must undertake, free men must fully share."

Kennedy asked $679 million of new funds for space exploration, including $531 million for the moon project.

He asked $535 million of new foreign aid funds, shared about equally between military and economic assistance.

The economic portion, $250 million, would go into a presidential contingency fund, he said, to be used only upon the President's finding that a sudden and extraordinary drain on the regular funds made necessary the use of this emergency reserve.

The need for such funds, he said has been "illustrated by recent events in Southeast Asia"—a reference to the Communist drive into Laos and the threat to neighboring nations.

The total foreign economic aid program, to be boosted $2.65 billion if Congress accepts the new presidential recommendations, is "both minimal and crucial," Kennedy said.

House May Take Up Tax Package Again

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN (AP)—House members were expected today to take another crack at the $329 million Senate-approved tax package which the House rejected last week.

House members of a compromise committee that has been unable to agree on the Senate measure said today there likely will be a motion to reconsider the previous decision rejecting the Senate tax bill.

Rep. Menton Murray of Harlingen said he and his four House tax conferee colleagues would report to the House their inability to agree, but they would not officially ask to be relieved of their compromise assignment yet.

"When that report is made you can assume that a motion to reconsider last week's vote will be in order," Murray said. "Personally I think it is up to the House to decide whether it wants to veto this bill or to let the governor veto it. I don't believe the Senate is changing its position."

Murray added that should the House refuse to take another vote on the Senate's revenue bill that is heavy with sales taxes, that would be another instruction that his committee or another conference committee could take back in hopes of changing the Senate's position.

There was no indication of whether the House move on the tax bill will come before it takes up a long calendar of local bills.

Monday midnight is the end of the legislature's regular session but today was the day of decision.

An announced last-minute effort to resolve Senate and House differences on a tax bill package to finance state operations in 1962 and 1963 failed to materialize Wednesday night.

Rep. Charles Ballman, Borger, head of the House Compromise Committee, said he will tell fellow representatives today that his 5-man negotiating team has been unable to agree with the Senate.

Sen. Wardlow Lane, Center, head of the Senate conferees, is expected to say the same thing in the Senate chamber.

Each house can either give the same conference committees a vote of confidence and send them back for more talks, appoint a new conference committee, or do anything and let the clock run out with the tax question unsolved.

Members of the 10-man group trying to dissolve a $16 million dollar difference between spending bills passed by the House and Senate met until after midnight.

The appropriations group is not expected to announce its decision until, and if, a tax agreement is reached.

Numerous legislators worked late at their offices Tuesday night. July 10 was the choice date for the beginning of a special session. Gov. Price Daniel is expected to wait until after his visit to Honolulu for a governors' conference in late June and after the July 4 holidays before calling another legislative meeting, if one is needed.

Today was technically important because Friday is the last day for a measure to start the legislative road to debate with just simple majority votes. The constitution says no bills may be added to those already on the Senate and House calendars without a four-fifths majority to suspend this rule.

Important issues that must be dealt with promptly or they will be dead include:

A proposed mandatory contribution by cities to firemen's pensions (HB73) which was half-heard by the Senate State Affairs Committee Wednesday. It has passed the House.

Proposed regulation of small loan firms (HB7) which was blockaded by the fireman's bill on the Senate committee calendar. It has House approval.

Teachers pay raise and other school improvements recommended by the Hale-Aikin School Study Commission (HB9). It has been passed by the House but has been left untouched on the Senate agenda.

Reorganization of the State Board of Water Engineers (HB332) which has passed the House but is still waiting a Senate commitee hearing.

Odessa Man Charged In Check Scheme

ODESSA (AP) — Gus Marion Raymer, 49, publisher of an oil industry magazine, was arrested Wednesday night on federal charges stemming from a check scheme that cost seven banks $882,029.

Raymer was arrested by Secret Service and city police on a sealed indictment returned by the federal grand jury at Fort Worth.

Officers said Raymer is accused of printing over $500,000 worth of counterfeit $100 and $20 bills in his Odessa printing plant. The money is alleged to have been used to back up good money in the River Oaks State Bank at Fort Worth to help a sagging insurance firm.

Burton Ellis, 37, J. C. Mount, 35, and Harold Ainsworth Jr., 36, all of Fort Worth, were indicted on charges of conspiring to counterfeit and receive counterfeit money.

Ellis surrendered Wednesday in Fort Worth and posted $1,000 bond.

Mount and Ainsworth appeared before U.S. Commissioner R. C. Van Orden Monday. Both made $1,000 bond.

Ainsworth, already under $2,000 bond, was released on a $1,000 recognizance bond.

Robert Keller, a lawyer, who died in a 1956 plane crash, also is named as a co-conspirator but not as a defendant in the bogus bill case.

Raymer, who publishes the Drill Bit Magazine here, is charged with conspiracy to make counterfeit Federal Reserve notes. He was taken to Pecos for arraignment before the federal commissioner there.

Jaycees Set For Cleanup Campaign

Snyder Jaycees have completed plans for pickup operations in the annual city-wide cleanup campaign here Saturday.

The Jaycee workers will be assisted by Boy Scouts in manning the trucks as they make their rounds.

The pickup work will begin at 7 a. m. Saturday on the courthouse square, and it will continue until the entire town has been covered.

Jaycee spokesmen appealed to residents to have trash and refuse stacked along alleys and at the curb on streets to facilitate the pickup work.

Gerald Johnson and Gerald Pullig are project chairmen for the cleanup campaign, while Durwood Hopper and Lee Mixon are committee chairmen.

'Cooling Off' Plea Ignored

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Integrationists today turned a deaf ear to U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's plea for a cooling-off period on integrated bus trips into Alabama and Mississippi.

Negro leaders vowed they'll increase efforts to crack bus segregation in the Deep South despite the jailing of "Freedom Riders" by police in this Mississippi capital city of 150,000.

Two buses carrying 27 "Freedom Riders" — 25 Negroes and two whites — pulled into Jackson four hours apart Wednesday accompanied by bayonet-wielding Mississippi National Guardsmen.

City police officers, ringing the bus terminal, arrested the 27 when they refused to leave.

The "Freedom Riders" remained in jail in lieu of $500 bail each.

Still another group of "Freedom Riders"—including white college professors from the North — arrived Wednesday in Montgomery, Ala., to make another stab at cracking "Jim Crow" barriers. The two groups jailed at Jackson and the third party all plan to end their trips in New Orleans, which has virtually no segregation in city bus terminals.

At Montgomery, the Rev. Martin Luther King, Negro integration leader, said the movement to break down racial barriers would be continued. He said students were being encouraged to test bus segregation laws despite the attorney general's request.

Also in Montgomery, the Rev. Wyatt T. Walker, executive director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference of Atlanta, said his organization would pay no attention to the attorney general's appeal for a cooling-off period.

The Negro minister said his group would continue its efforts and would try to broaden them. "We are trying to establish the constitutional privileges of every American citizen," said Wyatt.

The "Freedom Riders" were charged with breach of peace and disobeying an officer. The breach of peace charge stemmed from a 1960 statute which the Mississippi legislature passed as an anti-integration measure.

They are expected to be tried in municipal court Friday.

When each bus arrived, police ordered the "Freedom Riders" to leave the bus terminal. When the order was ignored, police hustled them into a waiting patrol wagon.

Big Portion Of Marshal Force Pulled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy today withdrew the major portion of the force of U.S. marshals sent into Alabama last week to help halt violence surrounding the "Freedom Riders."

As of this morning, there were 666 imported federal officers at Maxwell Air Force Base outside of Montgomery.

Kennedy said that all but 100 of these would be returned to their home posts during the day.

Kennedy said "a number of factors influenced this decision."

He said these included the continued presence of the Alabama National Guard in Montgomery, the protective actions taken by the Alabama State Police, and "the assurances we have received from the Alabama delegation—its senators and congressmen—as well as from leading citizens and officials and finally the strong legal action we have taken in the last few days."

The legal action referred to the order obtained from the U.S. District Court in Montgomery enjoining the Ku Klux Klan and others from interfering with interstate travel through Alabama.

Kennedy said that with the dispersal of the major portion of the imported marshals, Deputy Atty. Gen. Byron White, who has been in charge of them at the Air Force Base, will return to Washington before the end of the day.

Boy Drowns; Rites Set Here Today

Funeral service for Victor Ruiz Jr., 14, who drowned in a stock tank here Wednesday afternoon, was to be held at 4 p. m. today in the Latin American Church of Christ.

The youth drowned after he slipped from a raft on which he and two others youths were playing. W. C. Davidson, justice of the peace, who was called to the scene during rescue attempts, pronounced the Ruiz youth dead from accidental drowning at about 3:30 p. m.

Young Ruiz and Paul Hernandez and Rosalio Viallalla were attempting to float across the pond, located on the L. H. Jones farm near the northeast edge of town.

Assistant Fire Chief E. L. Autry headed rescue operations after the fire department was notified of the mishap. The boy's body was pulled from the water an estimated 45 minutes after he slipped from the raft in the water seven feet deep. Resuscitation efforts failed.

Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor L. Ruiz Sr.; four sisters, Bettie, Rolia, Janie and Rosie Ruiz; and five brothers, Andy, Neville, Prucincio, Raymond and Lupe, all of Snyder.

Following the funeral rites, burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell Funeral Home.

Adlai Is Named Father Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, who has three sons, one grandson and two granddaughters, was picked today as the national Father of the Year.

The national Father's Day Committee said Stevenson was honored for his "forceful and eloquent presentation of our country's position on key issues before the United Nations."

Stevenson, twice the Democratic candidate for president, is U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Young Korean Chief's U. S. Trip Apparently Off Again

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Premier Chang Do-young's on-again off-again flight to Washington to see President Kennedy appeared off today.

The young general who led the overthrow of South Korea's elected government last week was refused both a visa to enter the United States and an invitation from the White House.

U.S. Charge d'Affaires Marshall Green told him that Kennedy is too busy to see him before leaving for Europe early next week.

Apparently still hopeful, the soldier-premier conferred for 45 minutes again today with Green. Informants said the diplomat tried to explain to Chang why Kennedy was unable to meet him now and at the same time put new pressure on the leader of the military junta for an early return to civilian government in South Korea.

Brushing aside protocol, Chang made a surprise announcement Wednesday that he was going to see the President. It brought a quick reply from Washington that the visit was "not practical or feasible at this time."

Military censors prevented Korean newspapers from carrying the State Department's statement and most Koreans still had the impression Chang planned to depart as soon as possible.

Between the time the statement was issued in Washington and today's meeting between Chang and Green, five airline seats were booked for the United States Friday.

This led to the speculation that Chang might be thinking of going to the United States to sell his revolution even if he couldn't see Kennedy.

The airline bookings were made by the Rev. Edward J. Moffett, 39, a Maryknoll priest who runs a mission and hospital on South Korea's Paeng Yong Islands near the 38th Parallel about 4 miles from Communist North Korea.

Father Moffett could not be reached immediately for comment.

The military junta ruling South Korea meanwhile released from prison at least nine former cabinet ministers of the overthrown government. They were allowed to return to their homes but kept under guard.

Four ministers were known to be still imprisoned.

Ex-Premier John M. Chang—no relation to his soldier successor—defied an attempt to haul him off to prison but is under house arrest.

Cabinet Gets Report On Johnson's Mission

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson reports to the Kennedy cabinet today on his first-hand conclusion that embattled Asian countries can win their struggle against communism if they are properly supported with U.S. advice and aid.

Back from a 29,000-mile trip that took him through a half-dozen Asian countries, Johnson told a news conference late Wednesday: "Communism is not riding a tide of inevitable triumph in Asia. In the lands we visited, Asians have both the will to resist tyranny and the determination to have whatever sacrifices are called for."

At President Kennedy's invitation the vice president arranged to make a report to the cabinet in a morning meeting at the White House. In the afternoon, Johnson reports on his trip to a closed meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. All other senators have been invited to sit in.

The ingredients for a successful resistance to Communist terror, threats and pressures against the free nations of Asia, in Johnson's view, include adoption of "shirt sleeve diplomacy" by U.S. representatives, a stepped-up aid program and extensive social reforms within the countries.

He foresees the possibility of a summit conference of President Kennedy and Asian leaders—though that would be sometime in the future.

Throughout his trip, Johnson reported, he did not encounter a single request for U.S. troops to be sent into the area and he declared there "is no plan and no intention at this time" to dispatch troops there.

The fact is, Johnson said, that "the free nations of Asia have the manpower." What they want from the United States, he said, is financial support and "technical guidance" that will make it possible for their own forces "to meet an unscrupulous enemy whose stock weapon is terror."

But they also need more than dollars, weapons and training, the vice president declared. They require "social and governmental reforms to make certain that the benefits of economic development reach all the people and not just the dictators and the aristocrats."

"I know," Johnson said, "that given something for which to fight the peoples of Asia will man the ramparts of freedom and they will man them with valor. But you know as they do, that people do not fight in the steaming jungles to preserve hunger and squalor and oppression."

For its part the United States can do more not only by stepping up its military and economic assistance, Johnson continued, but also by developing new approaches to the peoples of Asia.

"We must get out of the air-conditioned and stately comfrots and go among the people as the friendly, straightforward men and women the world believes that we are in America, and that we in America want to be," he said.

As an example of shirt sleeve diplomacy in action, Johnson cited the activities of Ambassador John K. Galbraith, President Kennedy's envoy to India. Galbraith is a former Harvard Uiversity economics professor.

"He goes out in his shirt sleeves among the people who till the soil," Johnson said, "talks to them about their problems — he goes into the schoolrooms and exchanges viewpoints.

"I went with him one entire day. We visited a village that had been remade and rebuilt. We went to a housing project. We went to an agricultural school and participated in the dedication of that school, all far removed from New Delhi and quite different from the atmosphere and surroundings there.

"I learned from him, myself, and tried to apply what I learned in my other visits. I am sure that other ambassadors will do likewise."

Johnson said he was disturbed to find that many Asian leaders expressed doubt about United States intentions but he gave them reassurance "that we shall honor our commitments."

He declared he had made it clear, at Kennedy's request, that the United States would "make any sacrifice and risk any danger that the protection of liberty may call for."

As a result of his trip and his talks with Asian leaders, Johnson said he believes those leaders now know "that no amount of peril is going to cause the United States to shrink away as human liberty is stifled in Asia."

Mayors Send JFK A Scroll

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today received a scroll from nearly 1,500 mayors expressing their support to him "in guiding the destiny of our nation in this critical period of world turmoil."

Kennedy said he was particularly glad to receive the scroll at this time—"as I prepare to go to Europe next week" for conferences with French President Charles de Gaulle and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Kennedy said he was pleased with the "expression of national support."

The scroll was presented by Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland along with three other cochairmen of the Mayors-of-America-unity organization.

The others are Mayors William B. Hartsfield, Atlanta; Don Hummel, Tucson, Ariz.; and John F. Gilgun Jr., Woburn, Mass.

Feed Grain Program Is 'Over Top'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman said today enough farmers have signed up under the emergency feed grain program to insure the planned 20 per cent reduction in acreage of corn and sorghum grain this year.

Freeman said the program went "over the top" last Friday in the drive to reduce costly feed grain surpluses in government hands.

By May 19, farmers had agreed, Freeman said, to idle 20.6 million acres of the slightly more than 100 million used to grow these crops.

With two more weeks to go, the grain land to be taken out of production will greatly exceed the goal. The result could be a feed grain crop this year below requirements. This would permit use of the present surpluses and a reduction in storage and other costs.

Under the program, growers of corn and sorghum who retire at least 20 per cent of their land used for these crops get government payments and are eligible for price supports, which have been set at a higher level than for last year's crops.

Million Voters Are Expected At Polls

DALLAS (AP)—Bob Johnson, head of the Texas Election Bureau, forecast today a vote turnout approaching one million in the special Senate election Saturday.

Earlier Johnson estimated that 750,000 to 800,000 persons would ballot. He increased his estimate after many counties reported an unexpectedly high number of absentee ballots filed.

Senate Action On School Aid Is Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today was poised for final action on President Kennedy's $2.55 billion public school aid bill. Its backers predicted the measure would pass by a margin of more than two to one.

Voting on amendments was completed Wednesday night, after a second successive 12-hour session to hasten passage of the hotly disputed measure.

But the final vote had to be put over because of several lengthy speeches against the legislation still to be delivered, mostly by Southern senators. A final vote is expected late in the afternoon.

The House may act on the legislation week after next. There the fight is expected to be much tougher.

However, administration forces in the House were encouraged by their success in getting the measure approved finally by the Education and Labor Committee Wednesday, 18 to [illegible]. It does not carry any religious school or civil rights riders.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Senate floor manager for the measure, has been successful in keeping all such provisions out of the Senate version.

However, Democrats did promise a strong effort to pass civil rights legislation on school desegregation next year and to put through some benefits for private schools in a later education measure this session.

In all the Senate voted on 17 amendments and feated all 15 of those opposed by the President. The two adopted were accepted by Morse with the concurrence of the President.

Among seven amendments defeated Wednesday were ones to eliminate funds for teacher salaries, to add $351 million for loans to help build private schools and to bar withholding of funds from any state.

First Lady Looking Forward To Trip To France Soon

EDITOR'S NOTE — In a sense, Mrs. Kennedy's trip to Paris next week with the President will be like going home. Of French descent, she speaks the language fluently and has studied at the Sorbonne. Frances Lewine, who covers the distaff side of the First Family for The Associated Press and will be going to Paris with the Kennedys, examines Mrs. Kennedy's ties with France in the following article.

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the French take to Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy as she has long taken to them, there will be plenty of excitement in Paris next week.

Mrs. Kennedy has lived in Paris as a student and has traveled in France as a devotee of French history, art and literature.

On May 31, she will be returning as America's First Lady, joining the President for a major state visit abroad.

Mrs. Kennedy has ancestral ties in France, she speaks the language fluently and she already is acquainted with France's president, Charles de Gaulle.

It probably would be hard to find a place better suited to the tastes and interests of the 31-year-old First Lady.

Mrs. Kennedy, just a little more than four months in the White House, already is eclipsing the official foreign travel records of most of her predecessors, with the obvious exception of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. She will be the first since Mrs. Woodrow Wilson to accompany her husband on an official visit to Paris.

Mrs. Kennedy has the benefit of knowing what to expect after last week's two-day state visit to Canada, the Kennedys' first trip outside the country since inauguration.

In Ottawa, the capital of a country with many French-speaking inhabitants, Mrs. Kennedy won high praise from top officials and drew admiring crowds on her brief public appearances.

Fashion-conscious, young beautiful and new in the role of first lady, Mrs. Kennedy undoubtedly will create wide interest abroad. She proved in Canada that she has something of the drawing power and popularity of a movie star.

Mrs. Kennedy was last in France on a visit in August 1959. She first went there years ago, and spent her junior year in college studying at the Sorbonne.

On her father's side, Mrs. Kennedy traces her ancestry back to France. A great-great-great grandfather, Andre Eustache Bouvier, came from the neighborhood of Grenoble in southeastern France.

When John F. Kennedy was elected president last November, Mrs. Kennedy received congratulations from officials in several French towns, indicating the Bouvier family came from their community. But the White House has been canny about pinpointing the hometown of Mrs. Kennedy's ancestors, noting that there are many with the family name of Bouvier and that the actual origin of the First Lady's family is obscure.

There's no chance that Mrs. Kennedy will make any nostalgic journey to family seats on this trip.

The President and Mrs. Kennedy will spend three days in Paris, May 31 to June 2. There are reports they may be entertained at a dinner in the fabulous palace of Versailles, where Louis XIV held sway at the height of his power.

They will go on to Vienna for Kennedy's meeting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev and then to London to visit relatives of Mrs. Kennedy and to dine with Queen Elizabeth in Buckingham Palace on June 5.

Petticoat Rule Has Won Out

NEW DELHI (AP) — Women of a south Indian village have proved they are better administrators than men.

The experiment was tried in the seven square-mile Mattampalli village of Andhra State, with a population of 1,710 men and 1,890 women.

The village administration is conducted by an elected body of elders called Panchayats. Women have never been admitted into it. Many villagers opposed the entry of women into politics last year. "We will not submit to a petticoat government," some shouted.

But the majority view prevailed. Women candidates were selected and to the eight-man body, six women were returned unopposed. Men who contested the two other seats lost by large margins.

Within a year, the "petticoat rule" produced results. The village got its first school, its first co-operative society. A spacious children's park and a community listening radio set enlivened its hitherto dull existence.

The improvement of the lot of the untouchables received the topmost priority. Wells have been sunk to provide drinking water for them, and loans given to enable them to build houses for themselves.

"All these have been accomplished within a year," a former cynic exclaimed, nodding his head, and added: "I think the time has come for us, menfolk, to take to household work."

Toys Get Sick

TORONTO (AP) — An interest in applied psychology has led doll manufacturer Emanuel Grossman to bring out a doll that gets sick.

Working with child psychologists and child welfare clinics, Grossman thinks he has discovered why little girls—and little boys—love dolls.

"A little girl cradling a doll is acting out her role in the family group," says Grossman.

The faculty children have of seeing themselves reflected in their dolls led the firm to produce a doll that can go through stages of illness. Spots may be stuck on to simulate measles and leg and arm casts, adhesive tape and bandages are provided for recovery from accidents.

Miss Carpenter Selected, Choir To Tour Orient

Karen Carpenter, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. O. D. Carpenter, 323 Thirtieth Street left today for Dallas to join a 14-voice state Baptist student choir that will tour the Orient on a two-month goodwill mission and religious music tour.

Miss Carpenter, a junior education and English major at Howard Payne College, was one of the 14 selected. The selections were not only for singing talents, but also according to abilities to preach, teach, and to present a positive Christian witness by the example of their lives. A 13-member state Baptist Student Union missions committee selected the choir members after interviews and auditions with more than 85 Baptist students from 31 college campuses.

The final selections represent "the cream of the crop" of Baptist students in Texas, said Committee Chairman Roy Harrell of Dallas, Baptist Student Union director at Baylor Medical Center.

The venture marks the first time that a college group has toured the Orient completely financed by gifts from fellow college students.

Primary objectives of the tour are to promote goodwill in the fringe areas of Communist influence, to utilize religious music as a means of Christian witnessing, to demonstrate the ideals of Christian fellowship and dedicated service, and to create a greater missions awareness for all of the 45,000 Baptist Students in Texas.

In addition to conducting religious music concerts, the student will divide into evangelistic teams to conduct revival meetings, assist in Vacation Bible Schools, youth camps, and work in the churches of the Baptist missions posts in the Orient.

Accompanying the choir will be director Dan Pratt of Baylor Univesity and Lois R. Cobbs, associate in the Texas Baptist Division of student work.

The itinerary for the choir goes something like this: Meet in Dallas May 25 for rehearsal (40 musical numbers are being prepared) Leave Dallas May 26 by jet; Hawaii, May 26-27; Indonesia, May 28-June 22; Thailand, June 22-28; Hong Kong, June 28-July 7; Philippines, July 7-11; Taiwan, July 11-13; Okinawa, July 13-19; Japan, July 19-29; Hawaii, July 29-21; Back to Dallas on Aug. 1.

Members of the choir include Miss Carpenter of Howard Payne; Milburn Price and Don Looser, Baylor University; Roseann Nicholson, Mary-Hardin Baylor; Jim Pfafflin, Hardin-Simmons University; Michael Stoune, University of Texas; Don Norris, East Texas Baptist College; Leon Rodgers, Lamar Tech; Albert Bent and Yoshiko Shiga, international students at Wayland Baptist College; Bettye Jean Goodson, East Texas State College; and Donna Sue Meeks, Kilgore Junior College.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sellars and Brenda were honored with an open house, in their home in the Dermott community Friday evening.

The dining table was laid with an off-white lace cloth over turquoise linen. An arrangement of pink roses center the table with other appointments in milk glass and silver.

Gifts were displayed in Brenda's bedroom. Games of 42, dominoes and conasta were played by the 35 guests.

Brenda entertained 16 guests with a record party in the ranch bunkhouse.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mmes. Alton Greenfiled, Jimmy Smith, T. B. Scrivner, J. T. Sullenger Jr., Clyde Burns, O. P. Tate, Jack Beall, Marvin Dorman and Miss Pearl Metcalf.

Simple Fruit Gelatin Can Be Fancy

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

FRUIT DESSERTS are in style. Epicures have always voted for them, but probably you can thank present-day weight-watchers for the popularity of this trend.

So what do we offer? A simple pantry shelf combination — canned fruit molded in strawberry-flavored gelatin, but with a heavenly taste nuance. This subtle flavoring comes from adding clear cherry brandy or white wine to the spiced fruit syrup in which the gelatin is dissolved.

This dessert is good enough for company, and no trouble to prepare. We arranged the drained fruit in a large glass compote, then poured the cooled (but not set) gelatin mixture over and refrigerated it to set. At serving time, all we had to do was to bring the compote to the table—no unmolding necessary.

FANCY-FREE FRUIT COMPOTE

1 can (9 ounces) sliced pineapple
1 can (1 pound) pear halves
1 can (1 pound) peaches
¼ cup water
5 whole cloves
1 stick cinnamon
1 packaged (3 ounces) strawberry flavored gelatin
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ cup clear cherry brandy or white wine

Drain syrup from pineapple into a 1-quart measure. Drain pear and peach halves and add enough of their syrup to the pineapple syrup to make 2¼ cups. Slowly heat the 2¼ cups fruit syrup with the water, cloves and cinnamon to boiling; simmer 5 minutes; strain. Add gelatin to the hot spiced syrup and stir until dissolved. Stir in lemon juice and brandy or wine. Arrange drained pineapple pears and peaches in serving dish; pour gelatin mixture over fruits. Chill until gelatin is set. Makes 8 servings.

TV West Was Never Like This

FOR FEAR WE SHALL PERISH. By Josephy Pigney.

This book is an excellent antidote for those whose image of the Old West is drawn from TV and the motion pictures.

This is an extremely well written and documented story of the ill-fated Donner party which crossed the plains in the days of the gold rush to California, only to meet disaster in the mountains almost on the threshold of their goal.

Author Joseph Pigney gives an exciting and graphic picture of the days of the wagon trains as they really were. The danger from Indians was a poor second to the rigors of crossing the country by wagon beset by continual physical hardship, no doctors, little food and the petty jealousies and stupidities that grow out of long months of close association with fellow tattlers.

Although reading as easily as fiction, the book is completely documented and tells a fascinating if sometimes gruesome tale of cannibalism, adventure and murder. The story is woven around the fate of one family in particular and how an unproven charge of cannibalism ruined the lives of all those involved. The terrible winter in the Sierras is pieced together in detail, showing how hunger and hardship released all normal human restraints in the fight to survive.

Prichard Among Red Raider Stat Leaders

LUBBOCK — Third baseman Charles Harrison of Abilene inserted his name throughout the Texas Tech baseball record book during the past season, according to the 1961 statistics announced today.

Harrison, a football fullback during the fall, led the Red Raiders in batting with a .440 average, but that only begins to tell the story of his hitting prowess.

With eight homeruns, Harris doubled the previous record set in 1927 and tied in 1928 by Ray Marshall. Thirteen extra-base hits beat Marshall's mark of nine in 1927, and Harrison's 51 total bases came to 13 more than Marshall's record 34 years ago.

Records Harrison tied were for homeruns, one game, two against Colorado (Marshall vs. New Mexico Military in 1927 and vs. McMurry in 1928 and by J. D. Waller vs. Shallowater in 1928), and doubles, season, five (Elmer Wilson of Pampa in 1955. Joe Reaves of Snyder in 1959.) Catcher Dennis Willett of Lubbock and outfielder Cagel Davis of Amarillo also tied the mark this season.

Davis' 31 runs-batted-in surpassed Marshall's 19 in 1927, and his eight in one game against Highlands University exceeded the standard of six by Elmer Wilson against Sul Ross in 1955.

Pitcher Mike Bromley of Sweetwater tied the record for total wins, four (Volney Hill in 1926), but Abilene's Roger Mac Evans had the best win-loss mark, 3-0, as Bromley lost three.

Team marks established were consecutive wins, single season, seven (1926); total strikeouts chalked up by Raider pitchers, season, 120 (90, 1956); and total wins, 13 (11, 1926). Coach Berl Huffman's debut resulted in the second best win-loss percentage as the Raiders' 13-5 mark, or .722, trails the 1926 team's 11-2 and .846.

Harrison's batting figure is surpassed only by Hill's .529 in 1926.

Other Raiders batting better than 300 were Willett, 417; shortstop Tommy Prichard of Snyder, .409; shortstop Doug Gibbins of Fort Worth, 395; Davis, .344; and outfielder Walter Rankin of Midland, .345.

Other departmental leaders: most hits, 28, Willett; runs, Harrison, 20; triples, 1, Prichard; stolen bases, 4, Davis, outfielder George Gibson of Dallas, and outfielder Dean Horton of Lancaster.

Gibson handled 20 chances without an error to have the best fielding percentage, 1.000. Catcher Billy Wilson of Killeen bobbled only twice out of 134 opportunities to land a .985 percentage.

Bromley obviously was the workhorse of the pitching corps. He had the most innings pitched, 39 1-3; wins, 4; losses, 3; runs permitted, 30; hits allowed, 36; strikeouts, 37; walks, 50. Evans, who hurled 29 1-3 innings, had the best earned-run-average, 2.46, among the regular pitchers. Barry Scott of Merkel, who pitched just 4 2-3 innings, was credited with a victory and an ERA of 1.90.

As a team the Raiders compiled a .312 batting average against a .205 mark for the opposition and fielded at a .943 clip against .908.

Between You And Me

BY JERRY JACKSON

The proverbial little monkey was heard to exclaim it shortly after inadvertently getting his tail whacked off by the power mower—"It shan't be long now!"

He might've been referring to the 3-AAA all-district picks, too, as the release date of Sunday, June 4 is steadily drawing nigher.

Affable Dave Knapp, sports editor of the Lamesa Reporter, is doing the honors this year, and going "great guns" at it too, I might add. The questionnaires were sent out early last week to the coaches and sports editors of the district, thus allowing ample time for the selection, compilation, and release of the dream team by the designated date.

Lamesa's Tors, who have proven their championship caliber time and again, and Snyder's Tigers, senior-studded and perennial kingpins who just missed the boat the past season, will no doubt hog the lion's share of the spots on the team. Colorado City, the toughest team with which to cope in the stretch following a lackluster early season, will make a dent in the selections. And Sweetwater, competing in the sport for the first time, should gain a spot or two on the second team, it is surmised.

The Lamesa - Dumas regional playoff series (best of three games) got underway in Lamesa this afternoon at 2:30 following a switch in time and site as brought on by heavy final examination and graduation activity loads. It had originally been slated to start Saturday in Dumas, but

Our hopes will be riding with the Tors during the series, where victory would tend to earn for them a ticket to Austin and the 4-team state tournament. Win or lose, the "lucky" tag which has been their lodestone through much of the season should be permanently banished. The fact remains that they beat Snyder two in a row in the special district playoff series, then duplicated the performance in bi-district against Mineral Wells. Showings such as that are not to be scoffed at or belittled.

Permission Granted

Remember Friday's fabled "fish run," in which chemical was injected into the Towle Park Pond so as to bring the wigglers up to the surface due to a shortage of oxygen?

Thought you would. People came from far and near to haul them in in any manner deemed advisable.

Charlie Park, a local 14-year old, was one of those wading in for his share of the finned rascals. Not being equipped with swim trunks, he beat the system by embarking on his journey in full dress.

He excused his action with a meek, "I can resist almost anything except temptation."

In the first American League baseball game played April 24, 1901, Chicago defeated Cleveland 8-2.

Pole Vault Prodigies In Try For Mark

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — That long-awaited 16-foot pole vault could arrive Saturday night at the California Relays with a field that includes new world recordholder George Davies and Olympic champion Don Bragg.

Davies, a sophomore at Oklahoma State, cleared 15 feet 10¼ inches in the Big Eight meet five days ago to break the record of 15-9¼ established by Bragg at the U.S. Olympic trials in 1960.

The new record vaulter told newsmen his aim now is to go "a little higher."

The pole vault field will have four other vaulters who have cleared 15 feet or better—Ron Morris of the Southern California Striders, J.D. Martin of Oklahoma and Dick Gear and Dick Kimmel of San Jose State. Still it's no cinch the meet record of 15-7¾, set 19 years ago by the great Dutch Warmerdam, will fall.

ALL SUNSHINE AND NO MORE SMOG—Tiger speed demon Jesse Crawford and his coach, Dutch Stehley, grab a look-see at the brochure and program of last year's initial Golden West Invitational Track Meet as held in Los Angeles, to which Crawford has been invited to compete next month. The most outstanding graduating senior tracksters from over the nation will be displaying their wares there at that time. (Photo by Jackson)

Invitation Forwarded To Snyder's Jesse Crawford

Add a new feather to the Jesse Crawford cap.

Snyder High's crack hurdling dashman has been notified of his invitation to participate in the second annual Golden West Invitational Track and Field Meet, which will be held at Los Angeles State College Stadium on June 17.

The meet is one designed to hand-pick the cream of the graduating high school crop to compete against each other, and is the only National Invitational High School meet as is held in the country. It is open only to high school seniors who will be graduating prior to the date of the meet, with only eight boys in each event from over the entire nation having been extended invitations.

Crawford drew the nod in his "specialty," the 180-yard low hurdles. He has been clocked in 18.7 seconds in the event this year, and has run numerous 18.9s over the course of the season. He gained all-state recognition recently in that event and also the 100-yard dash, in which he has been timed at 9.6.

Mel Renfro, a Portland, Oregon product, won the lows last year in the initial running of the Golden West Invitational. His winning time—which was run against a nine and a half mile per hour wind—was 19.4 seconds.

The Meet is sponsored by the Monterey Park (California) Junior Chamber of Commerce. Entire proceeds will be donated to the "Cal Poly Fund" to alleviate the expenses of the survivors and families of the football players killed in the crash of the Cal Poly football airliner last fall.

As the organization concerned is a non-profit one and operating funds are necessarily maintained at a minimum, the cost of Crawford's transportation to and from the meet will not be furnished, nor will any of the expenses of his coach, Dutch Stehley, be footed. Crawford's meals and housing are to be furnished at the Cal Poly Campus in Pomona at the expense of the sponsoring group, however.

A fund drive is presently in the planning stages in which it is hoped that local civic organizations will be able to donate the necessary money which it will take to send both Crawford and Stehley to the meet.

The facilities and competition in the unique meet will both be "tops," as the best graduating senior athletes in the whole of the United States will be on hand, while the track itself is brand new this year and has all the most modern conveniences and equipment as are available.

The running track is made up primarily of crushed brick and clay, and track experts in Southern California rate it as one of the best in the entire country.

Cardinals Topple LA

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Right-hander Larry Jackson, who lost three in a row after being sidelined by a broken jaw, won his first for the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night with a 7-2 victory over Los Angeles that knocked the Dodgers out of second place in the National League race.

San Francisco padded its lead to a full game again by beating Cincinnati 5-4. Pittsburgh took over second place with a 7-3 decision over the Chicago Cubs, and Philadelphia defeated Milwaukee 7-1.

In the American League, Detroit stayed 4½ games ahead, getting past Minnesota 5-4 while second-place Cleveland whipped the Los Angeles Angels 7-1. New York defeated Boston 3-2. Baltimore swept a twi-night doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 2-1 and 5-3, and Kansas City beat Washington 6-5.

Jackson, now 15-6 lifetime with the Dodgers, gave up eight hits and seven walks, but left a dozen Dodgers stranded. Relief ace Lindy McDaniel finally nailed it, coming on and striking out Tommy Davis with the bases loaded in the ninth.

The sixth-place Cards, winning their second in a row, scored once in the first on Bill White's home run and then beat Roger Craig (3-3) with two in the second on singles by Stan Musial, Daryl Spencer and Alex Grammas and a force out by Hal Smith. Jackson doubled home two more in the sixth.

Winner Mike McCormick (5-2) of the Giants and the Reds' Jim O'Toole (4-4), a pair of young southpaws, dueled through six scoreless innings before San Francisco scored three unearned runs in the seventh. The Giants sewed it up with two more in the eighth.

Art Mahaffey (5-3) beat the Braves with a four-hitter. Jim Woods and Charlie Smith hammered homers for Philadelphia, with Smith's two-on shot triggering a six-run fourth that beat Don Nottebart (2-3).

Clem Labine mopped up with a perfect 2 1-3 innings of relief for the Pirates as Wilmer Mizell (1-4) was the loser.

Better Than Average 'Warmup'

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Dyrol Burleson, warming up for his biggest mile tests next month, showed he is near or at peak form by cracking the U.S. and American citizens' standards with a 3:57.6 performance here Wednesday evening.

Two timers even caught him at 3:57.4 as he breasted the tape far in front of Archie San Romani Jr., a Wichita University transfer and son of a great miler of the 1930s. The other four had him .2 of a second slower.

For Burleson, 20, a University of Oregon junior and member of the 1960 U.S. Olympic team, it was his fastest mile and the third time he has been under four minutes. He broke an American record in April, 1960, in beating Ernie Cunliffe in 3:58.6. A month later Jim Beatty of the Santa Clara, Calif. Striders Club and formerly of North Carolina, smashed that record in defeating Burleson in a California race although Burleson was 3:59.1.

Ageless Arch Gives Out With Charm

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Archie Moore gazed into the audience at a press luncheon. He spied one writer who had been critical of him.

"You took me apart the other day," he said. Then, turning on the charm he added, "You said I was greedy. I wasn't greedy, just hungry."

That was the way it went with Archie, the ageless one, talking about himself and his June 10 title defense against Giulio Rinaldi of Italy at Madison Square Garden.

The title is Moore's share of the world lightheavyweight crown. He is recognized in New York, Massachusetts and Europe. Harold Johnson is recognized in the National Boxing Association states.

Moore spoke about his losing fight with Rinaldi last Oct. 29 in Rome which he described as "not unfriendly grounds but kind of pro-Rinaldi grounds." Of course, the title was not at stake that night for Archie was way over the 175-pound class limit.

"I suffered the same thing, only a more bitter dose, many years ago," he recalled. "Jimmy Murray (a matchmaker) called me up and asked me to fight a young man named Leonard Morrow. I told him I was not in shape but he said you don't have to be in shape for this. I went in there thinking I could take him out any time I wanted. I think I lasted 2:3[illegible]."

Arizona Rates Pre-Series Diamond Nod

AUSTIN (AP)—Arizona appears to hold the edge over Texas in both batting and pitching as the teams prepare to square off in the fight for the District 6 NCAA baseball championship.

They clash here June 5-6-7 to determine which goes to the NCAA world series at Omaha June 9-14.

Arizona has a 41-7 season record, boasts eight players who are hitting over 300 and three pitchers who have won eight or more games.

Texas has a season record of 20-4-2, has five batters doing over 300 and four pitchers who have won four or more games. The leaders are Bob Callaway with a 6-3 record and Tom Belcher with 5-0.

Eligibility Whys, Wherefores Not To Be Sniffed At

By Harold V. Ratliff
Associated Press Sports Writer

This is the time of the year when high school athletes can run afoul of the Texas Interscholastic League amateur rule if they don't know the ramifications of this strict regulation or if they think they can get away with a violation.

There have been many boys forfeit their high school eligibility for doing what the rule says they can't.

The first big case, one that brought the rule into focus, occurred in the early forties. It involved Jitter McKinney, a great football player at Lufkin High School. It was all very innocent and neither McKinney nor those who made the gift knew they were violating a rule.

A group of fans got up a fund to buy McKinney a suit of clothes. It occurred during the off season and Lufkin itself asked for a ruling. The district committee found McKinney ineligible.

Undoubtedly most of the violations are through ignorance of the regulation. Thus, it is well that the schoolboys be warned each year in the press and that the coaches and school officials instruct the athletes thoroughly on the rule.

One of the sports that has given major trouble is rodeo, especially junior rodeo for boys not over 21 years of age. The promoters of the rodeos persist in wanting to give valuable prizes for attainment. There is the celebrated calf scramble where by a boy who catches a calf may keep the animal. The League worked out a plan under which he can own a calf if he keeps it for a year, feeds it, grooms it and shows it. The League will consider that the boy has earned the calf.

The amateur rule means that any student who receives cash or valuable consideration for teaching, officiating or participating in athletics will be considered a professional and will have to forfeit any high school eligibility he has remaining.

The boy can not compete on an athletic team with a paid player nor can he allow his name to be used for the promotion of any product, plan or service.

The League considers these sports to be under the scope of the amateur rule: baseball, basketball, bowling, boxing football, golf, rodeo events, softball, swimming and diving, tennis, track weight lifting and wrestling.

A boy can not accept anything considered valuable consideration from the promoters of these sports. In a golf tournament a boy can take only something of symbolic nature, like a cup or medal; he can not take a golf bag, a set of clubs or a batch of golf balls. Moreover, the boy can not play with a professional although he can play against him. He can receive instructions from a professional.

Many high school boys play summer baseball. This is all right but he must not play on a team with a paid player, he can not receive expense money either in cash or transportation tickets, he can not participate in the gate receipts and he can not accept a collection that might be taken up among the fans to reward him for hitting a home run or winning the game.

High school boys can participate in athletic contests but it has to be as amateurs. There must not be any reward of value awaiting him.

A daily bath or shower—plus reaching for soap 'n' water instead of more powder during the day—will do more than anything else toward keeping your complexion clear and glowing.

President To Face Handicap In Dealing With Khrushchev

BY INEZ ROBB

Since the announcement of the Kennedy - Khrushchev meeting in Vienna, there has been a queasy feeling in press, pulpit and public that the President already had two strikes on him in the coming encounter.

Laos, in the opinion of many, is a dead horse that we are energetically beating in the hope that by some miracle we can raise it from the political dead.

As for the Cuban fiasco — it seems doubtful if there has ever been another incident so inept and deeply humiliating to the United States, its people, its power and prestige.

I do not remember a time when the American people have been so profoundly disturbed by a "peace" - time fiasco as that of the Cuban invasion and what it plainly reveals about the men and institutions that govern us and decide out national fate.

That the President of the United States should meet the Communist dictator, with his brutal respect only for the realities of power politics, at this time is cause for worry. To many, it seems that Mr. Kennedy is going to Vienna with the bases loaded and with him in a terrific slump.

Now, with the ugly situation in Alabama, Mr. Kennedy has three strikes against him as he heads for Paris, London and particularly for Vienna. Only the dispensations of his office, after three strikes, keep him in there swinging instead of warming a bench.

The inexcusable Alabama racist mobs [illegible] the eve of this most important trip abroad, on the very brink of the meeting with the power - drunk, triumphant arch-enemy is the jackal stab in the back to the nation and its commander-in-chief.

The free world is in a period of peril seldom rivalled in history. The President, intent on saving the Western world is engaged to meet and confer with a shrewd, unscrupulous dictator who means to bury us under Communist power, and yet we encumber our man with the work of the despicable Ku Klux Klan.

The gloomy among us, and they are numerous, believe the West has not much longer to go its careless, arrogant and heedless way. The pessimists believe there is no will in the West to save our civilization, no determination to discipline, sacrifice and freedom.

I am, by nature, an optimist with a firm belief that liberty will endure as long as man and that totalitarianism must pass. But when I look at Montgomery, I am not so certain.

Eventually, when the United States moved in, Gov. John Patterson, who should stay off television unless he wishes to convict himself out of hand, declared martial law and made some attempt to stop the mob pleasures of abusing the "niggers".

Everyone, in Patterson's enlightened opinion, involved in attempting to test Federal statutes in Alabama is an "outsider" and a "communist". I gathered from the governor's teevee appearance that the two are one and the same.

So now, with this third strike on him, a President fighting for the very preservation of the nation, including Alabama, heads for Europe with a cracked bat in his hand to face the toughest spitballer of them all. God help and us.

Steel Firm Calls Back 200 Workers

DALLAS (AP)—Lone Star Steel Co. says it plans to call back more than 200 employes from layoff this week. The big East Texas steel mill will move to increase production in three major departments.

A fourth open hearth furnace went on the line Monday, and the No. 1 electric-weld pipe mill will be stepped up May 28.

Call-backs were in the pipe mill and rolling mills, and in the finishing department, inspection department and production planning departments, also affected by the increased operation.

Open hearth employes were placed on a full five-day week. They had been working a 32-hour week for several months.

The No. 1 pipe mill manufactures large diameter pipe. Its small counterpart, the No. 2 mill, has been on major operation for some time. Open hearth production was stepped up from three to four furnaces.

These latest increases in rate of production moved the works to near-full capacity operation, and the highest level of operation in more than a year, company officials said.

Market For Women's Pants Grows

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"You have to have an ego satisfaction in life or it isn't worth living," said Jack Winter. "You have to create—you must have a sense of uplift."

Winter has found his own sense of uplift. He is the world's largest manufacturer of women's costume pants.

Women now buy between 25 and 30 million pairs of pants a year—"please don't call them slacks, the word slacks has a sound of looseness"—and the fact that America's new First Lady wears pants has been a big source of satisfaction to the industry.

"So far as we know Jacqueline Kennedy is the first mistress of the White House to wear them," said Winter, whose Milwaukee firm turns out more than two million pairs a year.

The leaders in this field estimate that the impact of Mrs. John F. Kennedy's fondness for pants will boom the output 25 per cent this year. She is the first U.S. president's wife in a long time who has the sense of personal style to establish an American fashion in women's wear.

But Winter's success formula didn't spring from Mrs. Kennedy's acceptance of pants.

Many parents complain today about the problem of dealing with teen-age children. Jack Winter is the only businessman I have met who proudly credits a teen-age son with giving him a million-dollar idea.

In 1934 he was selling and buying in a retail store, and in an early-day moonlighting operation started making men's pants as a sideline.

"It was a basement operation," he recalled. "I started with $2,500 and the first few years I felt lucky if I did $20,000 business a year.

"We moved out to the suburbs about 10 years ago. My son Jack was then 15 and my other son, Michael, was 10.

"My wife and I went to their school activities. Both boys attracted the girls. I noticed more and more that Jack's girl friends were going in for casual wear, and so were their mothers.

"That gave me the idea for concentrating on pants for women, instead of pants for men. It also helped to convince me that my own wife, Muriel, who is a high-style person, liked to wear pants.

"If I have had any success, I owe it to my own family."

The big market for women's pants is among high school and college girls and young married women, but they also have a widening market—figuratively speaking—among older women, including grandmothers.

Heavy Road Toll Seen For Holiday

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council estimated today as many as 100 persons might be killed in traffic over the Memorial Day holiday.

The estimate, which the council stressed was not a prediction of that many deaths, covers those occurring in the 30-hour period between 6 p.m. local time Monday and midnight Tuesday.

The last one-day Memorial Day holiday was in 1957 when the traffic death toll was 94. The 15-year high for a comparable Memorial Day holiday was 109 in 1956. The low was 81 in 1951.

Junior Editors Quiz on NATURE

QUESTION: What causes earthquakes?

• • •

ANSWER: The earth may seem to be a very solid place but it is always being shaken with tremors, or earthquakes. Scientists say there are about a million each year. We don't feel most of these. For one thing, some are so slight and deep that it takes very special instruments to record them. For another, many occur beneath the deep waters of the ocean. There are many mysteries concerning earthquakes. The real cause of them is not known, although scientists agree that most are the result of fracturing—that is, a breaking between two masses within the earth. If we are able to figure out how they happen, we may be able to forecast them. And that would mean a great saving in human life. The earthquakes which make great cracks in the surface of the earth and cause a trembling strong enough to shake down buildings, generally occur about 37 miles below the earth's surface.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: One of the greatest disasters by an earthquake in the United States occurred at San Francisco. This is a story you should read and you can find a book about it in any library.

Odria Is Back In Peru's Limelight

By THOMAS J. STONE

LIMA, Peru (AP)—An ex-dictator has returned from self-exile in the United States with the intention of ruling Peru once again.

Retired Gen. Manuel A. Odria is an extreme rightist, a friend of Uncle Sam and an emeny of communism and Fidel Castro.

He ruled with an iron fist in 1948-56 but built houses, schools and hospitals.

Before stepping out, he called free elections and was succeeded by Manuel Prado, whose term expires next year. Under Prado the country has enjoyed a democratic form of government.

Within the past six months, it has broken off diplomatic relations with Cuba and passed an anti-Communist law.

The presidential elections are still a year away but the campaign is already off to a fast and violent start. And the man most in the headlines is Odria.

Riding a campaign jeep into Huancayo, 125 miles east of here, Odria was attacked by a mob. A student, using an Inca slingshot, struck Odria just above the left eye with a stone and almost fractured his skull. Stunned and bleeding, he was led into the safety of a hotel.

In a bloody clash that followed, seven persons were killed. Scores were injured.

Odria charged the attack was executed by his political enemy, the once notorious APRA (American Revolutionary Popular Alliance) party.

Odria has not officially announced his candidacy. But that is a formality that can be taken care of later.

Only two candidates have publicly announced: Fernando Belaunde Terry, leader of the leftist Popular Action party, and Hector Cornejo Chavez, candidate of the middle-of-the road Christian Democrats.

The key to the elections may well lie in the hands of the APRA party, leftist but anti-Communist.

APRA may do what it did in 1956—build up voting strength and then throw it all to the candidate most likely to win and cooperate with APRA.

In this case, it might go to Prime Minister Pedro Beltran. He denies he is running but privately is reported actively interested. Beltran belongs to no party. He was appointed prime minister in July 1959 to help Prado straighten out the economy.

If Beltran decides to make an open bid, he would probably be a candidate of Prado's Peruvian Democratic Movement party and with APRA support would have an excellent chance to win.

House Being Cut In Two

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)— The house of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Jones is a divided one.

Jones, 62, and his wife, Margaret, were divorced in 1953.

Jones moved across the street and rented a place to live while his wife finished raising the younger of their five children.

Then the Negro couple got around to completing a property settlement.

They talked about selling the five-room frame house, Jones said Wednesday, but cutting it in two was "kind of her idea and I went along with her."

Jones moved back into his half of the house.

A brother, Ellis, helped Jones start sawing the house apart in their spare time.

Jones said it won't be long before there are two houses instead of one.

He plans to skid his wife's part of the house three feet away, nail on new siding on both sections and slap a coat of paint on them.

Mrs. Jones isn't available for comment.

Jury Voids Haden Will

HOUSTON (AP)—A jury decided Wednesday that Mrs. Lucy Haden was of unsound mind and influenced unduly by a son, Edgar, when she signed a will disposing of a $4.7 million estate.

Mrs. Haden was 84 when she died in 1958.

It was the second time for the case to reach a district court jury since probate Judge Clem McClelland in 1949 set aside the will, challenged by five other heirs. A trial last June ended with a hung jury.

Haden appealed to district court after McClelland ruled in favor of the challenge filed by another son, Cecil; a daughter, Mrs. Lila Haden Brandon, both of Houston; and three granddaughters, Mrs. Edna Moody Summers of San Antonio, Mrs. Virginia Moody Dietzman of Houston and Mason O'Kieff of Houston.

Under the will, Edgar Haden would have received an undivided one-fifth interest in the estate and share the other four-fifths equally with the other heirs. Testimony indicated this would have given him $1.5 million, compared to $627,000 for the other heirs.

If the verdict stands, each participant in the case and two other heirs who did not participate would receive about $783,000 each. Those who did not participate are Mrs. Lucy Deen Haden McDow and William Moody IV.

Edgar Haden's lawyer said he was uncertain whether he will appeal.

Four Persons Die In Traffic Crash

LIVINGSTON, Tex. (AP)—Four persons were killed in the collision of a station wagon and a sedan Wednesday night on U.S. 59 about 20 miles north of here.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Haygood of Genoa, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Warrendorf of Humble. Warrendorf died early today in a hospital.

Highway Patrolmen said the Warrendorfs were en route to Hope, Ark., to attend graduation exercises in which their son was to take part. They recently moved to Humble from Hope.

Bribery Revealed On Stock Exchange

EDITORS NOTE J. P. Morgan once described the action of the stock market this way: "It fluctuates." He didn't say why. Now a federal agency has launched an investigation of the American Stock Exchange to see if its regulations are tight enough against possible inside shennanigans. This is the third of a series of four articles by Frank Cormier of The Associated Press staff in washington who has done extensive research on questions raised by the price rigging case which triggered the investigation.

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal investigators have turned up evidence that Jerry Re, as a prominent member of the American Stock Exchange, tried to manipulate brokerage recommendations through bribery.

To officials of the Securities and Exchange Commission, this is one of the most shocking aspects of the agency's case against Re and his son, Gerard. Both men were expelled from the exchange May 4 by federal order.

The Res were found guilty by the SEC of wilfully manipulating the market in stocks of nine corporations, plus other violations described by agency lawyers as "deliberate, numerous and gross." They did not contest the charges.

Now the SEC is investigating the exchange itself, to see whether this second largest stock market is properly policing its members.

Two brokerage employes, Harrison Parsons and Edward Ballman, told SEC investigators that Jerry Re invited them to lunch in 1956 and offered a bribe.

Parsons said Re offered "10 cents a share under the table" if he and Ballman would induce customers to buy about 50,000 shares of I. Rokeach & Sons Inc., a kosher food manufacturer now operating as Exquisite Form Brassiere.

The witness said Re suggested he meet them "uptown" and make payments in cash.

Both Parsons and Ballman, who were employed at the time by Harris, Upham & Co., said Re's offer was rejected.

Parsons said Re led him to believe some other brokerage workers hadn't been as scrupulous.

Re and his son were market specialists who conducted the daily auctions for the exchange in shares of Rokeach and 19 other corporations.

Although Ballman and Parsons were the only brokers to report a bribe attempt, they were not the only witnesses to speak of bribery.

The SEC also heard testimony indicating that Jerry Re accepted a promise of $75,000 for market rigging.

Financier Jennis M. Doroshaw acknowledged that he promised Re $75,000. Dorshaw at the time was president of Thompson-Starrett Co. Inc., which has since had a complete change of management.

Doroshaw said he made the promise because Re suggested a number of potential mergers for the company. He said that while none of these materialized, he felt Re should get something for his efforts.

Another witness was Edward J. Garrett, vice president of Loral Electronics Corp. He said Doroshaw told him "he had to make a deal with Jerry Re where he promised Jerry $75,000 in cash if Jerry would push the stock up to a particular point."

Much of Garrett's testimony was echoed by Eugene L. Bondy Jr., member of a New York law firm, and by a real estate operator named Samuel Edelman. Both were present at Garrett's meeting with Doroshaw.

According to the records of the case, Re collected only $7,500. Notes for the balance still are outstanding.

Joshua Davis of Blair & Co., one of the underwriters involved, told the SEC he suspected chicanery. Paul Porzelt of Emanuel, Deetjen & Co., the other member of the underwriting group, said he had no inkling at the time that anything might be wrong.

However, he said: "I always thought that after a while the market action wasn't natural. I saw it on the tape. I watched the tape — I saw for a long time Thompson-Starrett closed at the height of the day. There was something fishy obviously, but I couldn't prove anything."

Garrett, in his testimony, said the president of another corporation told him earlier that he made "special financial arrangements with Mr. Re with regard to manipulation of the stock — up and down, at will."

The stock involved was that of the old Claud Neon Corp., now Dynamics Corp. of America. Re was Neon's specialist.

Garrett said the late David T. Bonner, president of Neon, told him that payments to Re were channeled through a particular division of the corporation because "they had lots of government cost-plus contracts."

Several witnesses said they never heard such talk from Bonner, and doubted Garrett's story. The SEC did not delve deeply into the question.

[illegible] Corp. (an[illegible] stock), testified that Jerry Re repeatedly solicited bribes from him.

Schmidt said Re called him three or four times to say: "If you want this stock to go anywhere, you got to grease my palm."

Schmidt said that at about the same time he got a series of phone calls from brokers who would say, "Mr. Schmidt, do you know that your specialist isn't doing right by your stock?"

The Silver Creek president said that "the story would always be the same, that at the end of the day the stock is sold off."

He said he never greased Re's palm.

Schmidt also testified that Jerry Re once gave him a hard time about a merger contemplated by the company.

He said Re told him: "You better put this deal through, because if you don't, why you'll be in a lot of trouble. You might even get bumped off."

The deal did not go through.

Death Given Houston Pair In Slaying

HOUSTON (AP)—An all-male jury Wednesday night sentenced a female impersonator and his girl friend to death in the [illegible] chair for murdering a [illegible]

[illegible] Leslie Douglas Ashley, 23, and Carolyn Lima, 18, appeared to take the verdict calmly.

Their lawyer, Jack Knight, said he will appeal.

The pair was convicted of the Feb. 6 murder of Fred A. Tones, 46, whose bullet riddled body was found burning in a ditch after being doused with gasoline.

Dist. Atty. Frank Briscoe praised the jury's verdict.

Neither Ashley nor Miss Lima would comment as they were taken back to their jail cells.

The case went to the jury at noon after Briscoe demanded death sentences for the couple.

Knight challenged the morals of Tones and said the couple killed Tones only after he threatened them during a sex party.

"These defendants should be executed as they have been tried," Briscoe told the jury.

"It is inconceivable this prostitute and homosexual, with murder on their conscience, could point a finger at the man they murdered and burned and say he is immoral."

Ashley and Miss Lima were arrested Feb. 26 in New York City.

During testimony, Ashley said he fired the first shot at Tones and that Miss Lima fired five more. Miss Lima agreed.

Three Jets Break Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Three Navy jet fighter planes streaked from coast to coast Wednesday, all breaking the transcontinental airspeed record.

Lt. Richard F. Gordon, 31, Seattle, Wash., piloted the fastest plane (2 hours, 47 minutes, an average speed of 871.38 miles per hour).

Accompanying Gordon was Lt. Bobbie R. Young, 34, Modesto, Calif., a radar-interceptor officer.

In winning the Bendix Trophy Race, Gordon made the run from Ontario, Calif., to Floyd Bennett in about the same time it takes to go from Pelham Bay to Coney Island by subway.

The previous record over the same course was 3 hours, 7 minutes, 44 seconds, set in 1957 by Air Force Lt. Gustav B. Klatt.

Solons Interested In Navy Captain's Idea For Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., said today he has asked the Navy to halt the transfer of Capt. Cooper B. Bright until Congress can investigate Bright's dispute with certain admirals over an inflatable plane project.

Flood, member of the House subcommittee handling defense appropriations, told a reporter he has so written to Secretary of Navy John B. Connally.

He said he told Connally the veteran Navy captain's transfer should be set aside "until such time as responsible congressional committees can examine the project further on its merits" and until it can be determined whether the transfer "could be attributed to this operation."

Bright, 52, who once headed a Navy-industry study of the inflatable plane concept, said Wednesday that on orders from superiors last November he destroyed data on a new version designed to take off straight up from virtually any kind of ship.

At the same time, he said, he was directed to talk to nobody about the matter — an order he said was relaxed in February to allow off-duty conversations.

Bright contended the novel inflatable plane idea was suppressed. He attributed this to some admirals who he said feared it posed a threat to the future of carriers.

During testimony before House committees last year, Bright clashed with Vice Adm. John T. Hayward, deputy chief of naval operations for development. Hayward said he rejected the project and defended his action as "a sound technical decision."

Bright said that during this time he was told by Adm. James S. Russell, vice chief of naval operations, to stop pushing the project.

The Navy had no comment Wednesday on Bright's charges.

The balding, heavy-set captain said that last month—three days after making a formal new pitch for the project to Connally and Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations—he was ordered to report in June to a new post as inspector of Navy material in San Francisco.

Bright regards this assignment as just about the end of the line.

He now is attached to Navy's logistic war plans branch, where he was moved more than a year ago after beling relieved as project officer on the inflatable plane study.

Bright said he decided to make a presentation—on what he said was a promising vertical takeoff aspect of the inflatable plane concept—after hearing Connally tell Navy and Marine officers "to move your ideas out in the open with boldness and courage."

Attached to that presentation, a copy of which was made available to a reporter, was a proposed memorandum to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

It said of the inflatable plane: "In event of a surprise nuclear attack it could make the United States sufficiently strong that it could still retaliate from hidden, moving and invulnerable bases with devastating power.

"The limited war forces could be strengthened with this new type of vertical and short aircraft."

Courtroom Loss Hailed As Victory

DALLAS (AP)—A Texas Young Republican leader and lawyer hailed a courtroom loss suffered by his client Wednesday as a victory for the people of Texas.

The 5th Court of Civil Appeals ruled that voting booths don't have to be built in McKinney for Saturday's Senate runoff, but the stalls must be ready for the next election in the Collin County town.

"I consider this a victory for the people of Texas as the court made its decision on two basis: The allegations of the defendants that they did not have time (to build the booths) and the implied statements that at all future elections there would be in voting booths," said Howard Lydick of Richardson.

Lydick represented Russell Griffith, a McKinney real estate man, who sought a writ of mandamus that would force the Collin County Election Board to provide the booths by Saturday in compliance with the state election law.

Lydick said he envisioned a sweeping movement in other Texas counties to petition election board to provide booths in cities over 10,000.

In announcing the decision, Chief Justice Dick Dixon said: "We have decided to deny the applications for a writ of mandamus. We are of the opinion that it is the duty of the Collin County election board to provide voting booths.

"But we find that to issue the writ would be inequitable in view of the time element. If the court was sure there was time for the election board to comply, it would issue the writ."

Griffith's suit named County Judge Don Davis, County Clerk James Web and Sheriff H. S. Hand as defendants.

Davis, 31, represented himself in court and was called down several times by Dixon and threatened with a contempt citation. Davis insisted that Griffith's suit was the work of people from outside the county.

"We resent someone out of the county coming in here and jumping on the good people of Collin County who have never had any election troubles," Davis stated.

Seminary Integration Is Studied

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A resolution calling for racial integration in Southern Baptist seminaries is being studied by a committee of the Southern Baptist Convention (SBC) here.

The resolution was introduced Wednesday by the Rev. John Phillips of Saxapahaw, N.C. It says:

"That we ask, or instruct, our Southern Baptist seminaries to welcome publicly and openly, qualified students of any race."

The Rev. Dr. Herschel Hobbs of Oklahoma City was elected president of the 9,700,000-member group.

The Rev. Dr. Mack Douglas of St. Louis and the Rev. Dr. Roland Leavell of Jackson, Miss., face a run-off for first vice president.

Dr. Hobbs called communism the greaest threat to Christianity in history.

He said patience is needed in efforts to solve the problem of racial intolerance. Recent racial strife in Alabama, his native state, is evidence of peculiar problems inherent in the South, he said.

James C. Blakely Dies Wednesday

James Cohen Blakely, 64, a Snyder native and former policeman here, died at 11:30 a. m. Wednesday in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Big Spring. He lived in Odessa at the time of his death.

Survivors include his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Neilda Osborn, both of Odessa; a brother, Merrell Blakely of Wichita Falls, and one granddaughter.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 p. m. Friday in the Sherwood Baptist Church in Odessa.

Second Line Delegates Hold Parley

GENEVA (AP) — Second-string delegates went through the motions today of an international conference on Laos, but it looked as if they could make small progress until President Kennedy sees Premier Khrushchev.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, one of the last of the major spokesmen attending, left Wednesday night. There was no word on when he might return. Marshal Chen Yi, Communist China's foreign minister, is staying on, though.

Chen Yi made his second major speech to the week-old meeting Wednesday. He went down the line for Gromyko's proposals. The Communists want a system that would give them an iron-bound veto against action on complaints that Laotian neutrality was being violated.

In the Western view, this would hamstring any move to halt a Communist takeover in Laos. U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has said he will not accept a system that would be paralyzed by a veto.

President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev are the leaders who can bring these positions together, if anyone can. They will almost certainly have a try when they meet in Vienna June 3-4.

Beef Makes Comeback This Week

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef makes a comeback this week as the top-featured meat among weekend specials of supermarkets and neighborhood stores.

For the past two weeks fish and fowl were the leaders.

Stores around the country are posting bargain prices for steaks, rib roasts and chuck roasts.

However, pork, fowl and fish are being given a good share of the spotlight.

Eggs prices are inching downward with declines for a dozen large whites ranging from two to four cents in various parts of the country.

A great variety of new vegetables is arriving on the market.

These include Broccoli, escarole and beets from Virginia; green peas and red cabbage from North Carolina; field peas and red cabbage from South Carolina; iceberg and romaine lettuce, white turnips, endive and escarole from New Jersey.

New fruit arrivals are plums from Texas, mangoes from Florida and strawberries from New Jersey, Delaware and Mayland.

Best buys among vegetables a snap beans, corn, eggplant, green onions, radishes, kale, mustard, hanover salad, turnip tops, new potatoes from Florida, old crop potatoes from Maine, spinach, parsley, rhubarb, tomatoes and broccoli.

Oranges and grapefruit are best buys among fruits.

Good buys are watermelon, honeydew melons, strawberries, bananas and lemons.

Brawl Ends In Five Deaths, 3 Injuries

PACHUCA, Mex. (AP) — A drunken brawl touched off by two teen-age brothers ended in five deaths and three injuries in nearby Metepec Wednesday. Both brothers were killed, along with two policemen and a fifth man.

Police said the brothers, J. Remedios and Jesus Sosa Perea, 16 and 19, had been drinking steadily for 24 hours and started a fight.

WET WASH—A line of laundered clothes hangs on a line outside a farm home near two miles northwest of Emporia, Kansas, after it was surrounded by the flood waters of the rampaging Neosho River. The farm family apparently hung the wash out to dry just before high waters surged around the house. (AP Wirephoto)

First Work Toward Dam Is Scheduled

DEL RIO (AP)—The first actual construction order—for work on an access road—has been issued to get the giant Amistad Dam project on the Rio Grande started.

District highway engineer C. N. Parsons received instructions from the Highway Department Wednesday to prepare final plans for a road between U.S. 90 and the dam site, 12 miles upriver from Del Rio.

Parsons said construction of the $305,000 access road, Spur 349, will begin as soon as possible. It will be turned over to the Boundary Commission while the dam is being built, and then will revert to the state.

Congress authorized the $79 million international dam last summer and has appropriated $5 million to start the project.

L. H. Hewitt of El Paso, U.S. member of the Boundary Commission, asked Congress earlier this year to provide $15,173,000 for construction work on the Rio Grande. He said most of this amount would go to complete preliminary plans for the dam, near the confluence of the Rio Grande and Devil's River.

Swedish Princess Weds In Stockholm

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Princess Birgitta of Sweden today was married to Bavarian Prince Johann George of Hohenzollern.

The 24-year-old princess, granddaughter of King Gustaf VI Adolf of Sweden, was wed to the handsome 29-year-old history student in a short civil ceremony in the stately throne hall at the royal palace.

Youths Riot In California

IONE, Calif. (AP)—Rioting between Mexican and Negro youths erupted Wednesday night during a track meet at California's biggest institution for juvenile offenders.

Ten youths were injured, two seriously, officials said.

From 50 to 100 inmates battled for one-half hour with sticks, lengths of pipes and other weapons. Police, highway patrolmen, sheriff's deputies and guards finally used tear gas to put down the brawl at Preston School of Industry.

Curtis Fuller, 17, a Negro from Venice, was stabbed five times in the back and upper chest. His condition at Sacramento County Hospital was described as critical.

Jerry Hasting, 18, white, from Santa Ana, suffered a stab wound in his side. His condition was termed serious.

Mann Says Mexico's Aims Recognized

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Ambassador Thomas Mann said Wednesday the United States recognizes Mexico's drive toward freedom, individual liberty, and economic independence and "We intend to help all we can."

Mann spoke to the Mexico City Chapter of the Good Neighbor Council.

"There are times when temporary misunderstandings give rise to the feeling the job of obtaining friendship and cooperation between our two governments and two peoples can never be accomplished; that there are cultural differences and divergent points of view which always threaten to create a schism between us," the Laredo-born ambassador said.

"But we all know these differences must and can be overcome."
