JOYCE SHEPARD, SELF-BLINDED, DIES IN CHAIR

Woman's Story Of Double Poisoning Begins Quest For Accused Texas Man

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

M. E. Foster, in his column in the Houston Press suggests that the time has come when we ought to stop forcing the counties of Texas to issue bonds for part of the costs of building state highways through the counties.

"Our state highway department," writes Mefo, "disbursed $47,339,081.60 for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1930. That's some several millions. It isn't quite the $50,000,000 we predicted, but there was a balance on hand of just a little less than five millions. To be exact, it was $4,966,698.48. The commission spent $32,950,357.26 on construction, including bridges, and $13,294,879.47 on maintenance. It seems the more roads we build, whether concrete, gravel of black topping, the more it costs us to maintain them. The balance of the expenditures, about $7,000,000, was for 'overhead.' That's some considerable 'overhead.'

"We cannot analyze the figures until the annual report of the commission is prepared and released for publication. We know, however, that the counties of Texas which were favored furnished some of the millions. Gasoline tax receipts amounted to probably $22,000,000. Then there were registration receipts and federal aid.

"The point we wish to make finally is that Texas is receiving an immense highway fund. We think the time has arrived when we must stop forcing or inducing counties to issue bonds for part of the state highway building expense. We hope that next year the commission will complete a few across-the-state highways and cease the present patchwork. That may mean less money, but should result in more needed construction. With $30,000,000 we could build 1000 miles of concrete roadway. That would complete many gaps and give us a few state highways from border to border. We need them."

An important state highway is the Colorado to Gulf highway running down through the Panhandle and Northwest Texas through central Texas to Houston and Galveston. This highway is probably more used by those who travel through the state than by many of the residents of the counties through which it passes. Some of these counties can hardly support a bond issue for the hard surfacing of the highway within their borders. It is unfair to ask them to do so and the highway will probably never be paved throughout its length unless the state and federal governments supply all the funds.

County Commissioner Kuntz invites the public to tell the county commissioners court how it can save money and reduce the tax rate. Talker isn't going to volunteer for the job but he will say that it does look like that a quarter of a million dollars is too much money for the road and bridge fund unless a lot of permanent improvements are being made.

And he would like for the commissioners to consider the employment of a county purchasing agent who would purchase all the supplies used by the county. Talker has heard it estimated that at least 10 per cent could be saved on the county's purchases if this method were employed. That would effect a material saving.

In Virginia there are a number of counties operating under a county-manager plan. It will be interesting to learn the experience of

MILLIONAIRE'S WIDOW DIES MYSTERIOUSLY

Accusations Made by Woman in Marshall Hospital Bring Probe

ORGANS EXAMINED

Secret Marriage Bared By State Attorney's Investigation

TEXARKANA, Texas, Oct. 16. (AP)—A hurried trip tonight by R. G. Waters, district attorney, and deputy sheriffs of Texarkana to Marshall, to investigate the story told earlier in the day by Mrs. Wiley Jones of Gilmer, that a man had poisoned her and her grandmother, Mrs. W. W. Sanders, 74, of De Kalb, Texas, failed to furnish officers with clues to aid in the investigation of Mrs. Sanders' death.

Mrs. Jones repudiated the story told earlier in the day, according to the officers, and was unable to furnish proof that she had been poisoned or that an attempt had been made by the man she named to poison Mrs. Sanders. Mrs. Sanders died Sept. 21.

TEXARKANA, Texas, Oct. 16. (AP)—Charges made in a hospital at Marshall, Texas, today by Mrs. Wiley Jones of Gilmer that a man had poisoned her and also poisoned her grandmother, Mrs. W. W. Sanders, 74, of De Kalb, Texas, who died Sept. 21, were being investigated tonight by Bowie county officers.

District Attorney R. G. Waters and deputy sheriffs left for Marshall to question the woman, while other officers went to Gilmer to search for the man accused.

Carnival Spirit Invades Haskell As Thousands Gather For County Fair

By FRED L. HASKETT
Staff Correspondent

HASKELL, Texas, Oct. 16.—Aglow with fair and carnival spirit the Haskell county fair opened Thursday morning under cloudy skies and a cool atmosphere but with the guests and citizenship in high spirits over attendance. Large crowds poured into the city all morning long and the fair grounds were crowded with a mass of humanity.

The Haskell country shows no evidence of drouth and apparently has little knowledge of a business depression. Crop conditions are better this year than last. Fields of cotton and feed crops are producing almost record yields and the farmers and merchants are busy.

The fair opened with a big downtown parade in which many decorated floats were entered. The public square was jammed with visitors from neighboring cities and farming communities.

Wichitans Arrive

The Junior chamber of commerce caravan from Wichita Falls arrived after 4 o'clock in the afternoon and a big parade was staged about the square. After the parade speakers of Haskell welcomed the Wichitans. Responses were made in turn and then all left for the fair grounds to see the wonderful display and to participate in the big western pageant that was held in the early evening.

The Wichita delegation met with big crowds in all the towns visited from their home city to Haskell, Seymour, Bomarton, Goree, Munday and Weinert gave the school children a partial holiday so they could hear the band and receive the vast store of souvenirs that were given away. The Junior chamber of commerce members were jubilant over the splendid reception accorded them in every town.

Winners Picked

Winners in the decorated float contests in the big morning parade follow: Commercial floats, Oates Drug store, first; McNeil and Smith Hardware company, second; Mays Dry Goods company, third.

School floats: South ward school, first; senior high school, second; north ward school, third.

Decorated cars: Farmers State bank, first; John E. Robertson store

'Baering' Down On The News

With ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

Joe Tumulty has joined Dwight Morrow on light wines and beer.

JOE WILL COMPROMISE ON EITHER.

Dwight comes out flatfooted for both and agrees with Oscar Wilde that work is the curse of the drinking classes.

The 18th amendment might be repealed. If we could find the blamed thing.

Why not be conservative about this liquor business? Start taking a teaspoonful every hour. And then throttle down to steady production.

Why didn't Joe talk about liquor when he was in the White House? Were the acoustics bad?

There is only one sure method of discovering a politician's stand on the constitution and its substitutes.

Start a fire and see whether he saves the vacuum cleaner or the thermos bottle.

MAJORS SLASH OIL PRICE FOR NORTH TEXAS

Humble Institutes 35-Cent Reduction for Wichita District

UNDERSELLING CITED

Statement Says Crude Sold For Less Than Posted Schedule

Asserting crude oil is being sold in many instances at prices below the posted schedules, the Humble Oil and Refining company Thursday announced a new price structure for seven North Texas and Panhandle counties, cutting the average price for the Wichita Falls district 35 cents per barrel.

Oil of 38 gravity in North Texas was cut from $1.36 per barrel to $1.01. Gray county crude of 38 gravity went down from $1.195 to 96 cents. Average price for Carson and Hutchinson county crudes dropped from $1.065 to 91 cents. North Texas counties taking the cut are Archer, Wichita, Wilbarger, Clay and Young.

The Texas company and Prairie Oil and Gas company offices here announced they would meet the reduction immediately. The Humble's order, made public at the district offices here, placed the new schedule in effect at 7 a. m. Thursday.

Earlier Reductions

Forerunners of the reduction were seen earlier in the week when Bell Oil and Gas company and Champlin Refining company, Oklahoma independent concerns, posted lower schedules for North Texas and Oklahoma crudes.

The Humble offices here posted the following statement:

"Proration involves cooperative effort between the industry and state and national conservation authorities to prevent waste in the production of oil and gas, and when successfully attained, results in bringing production in all areas into balance with the demand therefor.

"The practice of proration in new fields and unit pool operation alike make for reduction of producing costs and when progress is made

Fisher County Killer Jokes With Reporters While Waiting 'Last Mile'

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Oct. 17. (Friday) (UP)—Joyce Shepard, a murderer, walked with firm step "the last mile" to the electric chair here tonight, blinded by his own hands, but unfaltering.

The current switch was thrown at 12:11 a. m. He was pronounced dead at 12:17 a. m.

He walked determinedly from his cell, down the corridor into the death room. Guards directed his steps. The gray pallor of the walls was hidden from his view. He had been stone blind for two weeks. It was revealed tonight he had gouged both his eyes out two weeks ago.

Entering the death room, he stood in front of the chair, and addressed the spectators, "I want to thank all of the prison officials for the kind way they have treated me. I hold no malice toward anyone."

Embraces Cross

He sat in the chair and the straps were adjusted. "God be with you all," he mumbled. Father Hugh Finnegan, prison chaplain pressed a cross to his lips. He kissed it. The deadly current was turned on, the body stiffened with a jerk. He relaxed and slumped forward. Twice again the current was applied.

Dr. M. H. Judd, prison physician, applied a stethescope. "Joyce Shepard, I pronounce you dead," he said. The body was released and carried from the room. The scene required eight minutes.

A grim-faced audience, consisting of a dozen prison guards and newspaper men witnessed the scene.

At the same time, hundreds of miles away, a throng of New York theater-goers wended its way homeward, the stage's version of "The Last Mile" fresh in their minds. The theater patrons saw an actor, whose role was written about the life and death of Shepard, burlesque the very scene that transpired here tonight.

Show on Broadway

"The Last Mile" was just a show on Broadway. Its actors turned to gay Manhattan when the work was done. At Huntsville it was a stark reality. Shepard will never repeat his role. He lay a lifeless corpse. His lips, from which the cries of a tortured killer rent the stillness of death row here night after night, were sealed forever.

The same eerie cries inspired Robert Blake, a cellmate of Shepard, to write "The Last Mile" while he himself was awaiting death in the same electric chair.

Shepard resorted to those terrifying screams, flung himself onto the floor of his cell, writhed in apparent agony, and tore his clothes from his body to impress prison officials that he was insane. He admitted that to Prison Manager Lee Simmons last night.

His constant cry throughout the months of his confinement in death row was "Jones, Oh Jones." Blake used these lines in his play. The Broadway actor, a few hours earlier, sent shivers through the theater-goers with the same scream. "Jones, Oh Jones."

But Shepard went further. Out of the ventilator at the top of his cell he drew a loose nail, whetted it to a sharp point on the walls and floor of his death cell, then plunged it into both of his eyes.

It was thus he made good his promise to meet death "without a tear in my eye."

For two weeks prison officials kept Shepard's self-torture a secret. It was not until Thursday night, when newspaper men visited him in his cell, that the world that lay be-

Cannon Wants $5,000,000 Damages For Stories 'Maligning' His Bride

Accused Bishop Sues Hearst for Alleged False Statements About Pre-Nuptial Visit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—Attempts to discredit Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and malign the character of the present Mrs. Cannon were charged today in a $5,000,000 libel suit the bishop filed against William Randolph Hearst in the District of Columbia supreme court.

The churchman charged that last July 24 and 27 the New York Evening Journal and other Hearst newspapers printed accounts saying the bishop had been at the home of his present wife, then Mrs. Helen Hawley McCallum and his secretary, at the time of the late Mrs. Cannon'h death and while there telephoned his sons to obtain information as to his wife's condition. The first Mrs. Cannon died two years ago.

The bishop and Mrs. McCallum were married in England last July and went on an extended honeymoon to South America. Just before they sailed to return to the United States, four ministers of the Methodist church filed charges against him. They have never been made public.

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, with whom the charges were filed, is expected to appoint a committee of 12 ministers to determine whether a church trial is necessary.

In his suit today, the bishop also found fault with an Evening Journal account Sept. 27 last. It inferred, he said, that C. Bascom Slemp, an attorney and a secretary to Calvin Coolidge, when the latter was president, had been employed by Cannon to defend a man named Goldhurst, charged with a criminal offense.

Cannon also said he understood Hearst had criticized one of his editors for not connecting the bishop with a difficulty involving one of Cannon's sons in California. Hearst, Cannon further charges, had said one of the duties of the Hearst newspapers was to destroy the influence of the group of which the bishop is a member.

Statements Hearst has caused to be published on information obtained by special agents between April 3, 1930 and Sept. 27, 1930, Cannon said, have injured his reputation, brought him into disgrace and disrepute and impaired his influence. He said all of the allegedly libellous statements were false and made with the intention of damaging him.

PEACE FLIER DIES IN CRASH

Pilot Carrying Copy of Pact Plunges

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y. Oct. 16. (AP)—Carrying documents signifying Japan's ratification of the London naval treaty, Lieut. I. E. Woodring landed here tonight after a transcontinental journey by air from Victoria, B. C.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 16. (AP)—Speeding across the continent on a mission of peace, Lieutenant William W. Caldwell, army flier, lost his life during a raging Wyoming blizzard Wednesday in the crash of his fast pursuit ship 70 miles west of here.

Caldwell's flying companion, Lieutenant Irving A. Woodring, whose plane bore the document of Japanese ratification of the London navay treaty, made his way through the storm and continued on his mission to New York from Victoria, B. C.

Crushed and broken in the wreckage of his plane, Caldwell's body was found on a hilltop near Lookout in the rugged country north of Laramie. It was apparent his plane had plunged to the ground at terrific speed during weather characterized by veteran mail fliers as "zero-zero"—no ceiling and no visibility.

Army officers from Fort Francis E. Warren claimed the body of the airman and were to bring it to the fort here tonight.

Lieutenant Woodring also was lost in the swirling snow storm that cost his companion's life but was able, after two forced landings, to make his way here. Bearing the valuable document, Woodring took off for the East early today.

The wreckage of Caldwell's plane was discovered by Ray W. Meskimen, Boeing air mail pilot, who sighted it from the air and reported to officials here.

Labor To Meet In Canada

BOSTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—The American Federation of Labor in convention here, today re-elected its entire set of officers headed by President William Green and selected Vancouver, B. C., as the 1931 convention city.

During the debate, insinuations were made and denied that the delegates were placing sentiment and "thirst" ahead of judgment in determining the winner. William P. Clarke, of the Flint Glass workers, who urged the convention be given to a United States city told the delegates that "those of you who may be thirsty, exercise your manhood to right the wrong done in the United States and not run away to Northwest Canada."

SLEUTHS PROBE WARSHIP FIRE

Sabotage Suspected On U. S. S. Colorado

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (US)—Sleuths in the guise of seamen have been aboard the U. S. S. Colorado for weeks to learn who thrust phonograph needles into electric cables causing a short circuit and disastrous fire which disabled the ship last June.

That the apparent sabotage is under investigation was revealed by Secretary of the Navy Adams today. He said the naval intelligence investigators have found that the phonograph needles caused the short circuit but have not discovered the culprit.

The fire which occurred while the battleship was awaiting passage through the Panama canal wrecked the "nerve center" of the vessel and put her out of commission until repairs can be made at a cost of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Competition Exists

"In no sense, however, does proration freeze prices or otherwise interfere with the free play of competitive forces. Competition will always exist between oils of different grades from different pools and in different localities.

"When any considerable amount of oil is being sold from any field at less than the posted price, as is now the case in certain areas, the lower price establishes the market and readjustment of the posted price in the particular field must inevitably follow. We cannot continue to pay more for crude than others are paying.

Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, two days before the slaying.

Members of the Traum gang have been accused of the Lingle murder in a confession in Chicago by an ex-convict.

George.

McBride will be extradited to Ohio to face trial if he refuses to waive extradition, George said.

burdened stream. Officials believed that an additional two-inch drop at the lake would end the flood period and allow the creek to return to its banks. Meanwhile it was only the hardiest travelers who cared to take their cars through the overflow waters that still covered sections of the lake road.

Patrol at Dam

Although all the crumbled sections of the lake dam were filled late Thursday, a crew of workmen stayed on through the night, watching for fresh cracks. The shift in the wind made their task easier and falling waters also reduced the pressure against the dam where the currents have been making small inroads since the high water level Monday.

NORTHWEST FEELS COLD WEATHER

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 16. (AP)—Snow in the Northwest and a cold wave driving down into the Mississippi valley states gave a forewarning over a broad expanse today that winter soon will be here again.

Snow fell in the Dakotas and Minnesota and cloaked the northern Rocky mountain region to a maximum depth of seven inches. A trace fell in Denver.

Temperatures in the section first hit by winter's advance foray ranged far below the freezing point. Through Montana and Wyoming the mercury hovered around 10 and 15 degrees above zero and skies were clearing after a storm last night.

The tentacles of the cold wave spread today down into Nebraska with threat of extending as far as the northern Oklahoma border. Farther south temperatures will be lower but not severely cold.

His latest marital venture came to an end when Doris Arbucle, known in the movies as Doris Dean obtained her final decree. She won an interlocutory decree from Arbucle Oct. 4, 1929.

Miss Dean testified at the hearing that one reason why she did not care for the comedian was because he was sullen and morose. A property settlementwas effected out of court. The couple married May 16, 1925 and separated May 26, 1928.

WOMAN STARTS POISON PROBE

Widow of Millionaire Dies Mysteriously

cera of Mrs. Sanders' body and that tests for alkaloid poisons were being started.

Mrs. Sanders died while convalescing from a broken snoulder. Physicians declared her death was untimely and were unable to assign the cause. Suspicions of Bowie county authorities were aroused and an autopsy was held last Saturday, the vital organs of the body being sent to Austin.

She was the widow of a millionaire banker and one-time president of the New Orleans Street railway, who died in 1919.

Secret Marriage Revealed

The investigation by District Attorney Waters revealed that Wiley Jones, of Gilmer, had secretly married Miss Zell Ingram granddaughter of Mrs. Sanders, the day following her death. The investigators also learned that Jones visited in the Sanders home the day of the aged woman's death.

After the death of Mrs. Sanders, her daughter, Mrs. Mamie Ingram, mother of Mrs. Jones, deeded her inheritance to Jones for a consideration of $10, investigators learned. The district attorney estimated the inheritance totaled about $20,000 in value, since the one-time large estate had been practically swept away by the failure of a De Kalb bank several years ago.

Couple Wed in Gilmer

In the meantime, Jones and his bride had returned to his home at Gilmer. Further investigation by county officers resulted in Mrs. Mamie Ingram being declared mentally incompetent by a county judge last Thursday, and the transfer of the estate to Jones was ruled void.

Marshall physicians late today advised Bowie county officers that no evidence of poisoning was revealed by an examination of Mrs. Jones and doctors who treated her yesterday at Longview reputedly made the same report.

District Attorney Waters said the man accused had been under surveillance while the chemist's examination of the viscera of Mrs. Sanders' body was in progress.

these counties with this plan in its efficiency and economy.

"I don't think these fellows should be prosecuted. There were only two of them and such things don't bother me," Secretary of War Patrick Hurley is reported to have said in his comment on the arrest of two Communists who climbed onto his car and said uncomplimentary things at Oklahoma City the other day. Such incidents do not bother a really big man. They might disturb a little man greatly. Mr. Hurley is right in asking that they not be prosecuted. The less attention paid to them the sooner they will pass from notice.

Harold G. Hoffman, commissioner of motor vehicles for the state of New Jersey, reminds us that accidents from backing automobiles ought to give pause to all those interested in safety. He says that in six months there were 1,142 such accidents in one state of which 26 resulted in faltalities, and others in personal injuries of more or less seriousness.

"Because a car is moving slowly when going backward," says Mr. Hoffman, "one is entirely apt to overlook the fact that it is in any way dangerous. Observation, however, shows that the average motorist does not look behind with that degree of thoroughness necessary, while the pedestrian behind the car is quite likely to be looking in the opposite direction, toward traffic approaching from his left as he walks out behind the backing car. This situation, when one pauses to think it over, is obviously made for a mishap."

Deer Returned To T. R. Boone Pasture

Following a night of roaming the streets of the residential section of the western part of the city, a spotted English deer, belonging to T. R. Boone, was safely lodged in the pasture back of his home on Pierce street Thursday morning.

Chief of Police Frank Burns and Officer A. L. Stubblefield effected the capture of the animal in a vacant lot in Indian Heights after bulldogging and securely tying it and placing it in the patrol wagon.

The animal escaped from the pasture when some one left the gate open.

Suicide and Murders Mark Polish Campaign

CZENSTOCHAU, Poland, Oct. 16. (US)—The assassination of three election candidates and the suicide of their murderer here today gave fresh impetus to the disorders that have marked the campaigning for next month's parliamentary elections.

The dead men, all shot to death, were Candidates Rojewski, Molda and Furmanczyk. All were receiving support. Their assassin was a member of the Socialist militia named Kostrzewski.

New Red River Rise Covers Temporary Span

DENISON, Texas, Oct. 16. (AP)—An overnight rise of three feet in the Red river today submerged the remaining 300 feet of the temporary span used by the Southwest L. E. Myers Construction company, building a free bridge across the river on highway 6 north of Denison.

Before construction can be resumed it will be necessary to rebuild the trestle.

Although still in its banks the river has risen 14 feet in three days.

Duck Season Claims Victim at Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Oct. 16. (UP)—Duck season claimed its first fatality here today when Victor Clemens, 19, stereotyper, was drowned in Lake Worth while attempting to swim from a duck blind to a boat.

The boat had drifted from the shore and Clemens swam after it, when he apparently was overcome by cramps, H. E. Smith, Clemens' companion, said.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germladen phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Tetterine, by its cooling, soothing antiseptic effect, kills the parasites that bore into the skin, causing irritation and itching. Tetterine is sold and guaranteed by all druggists at 60c a box, or sent direct, postpaid, upon receipt of price. Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.—Adv.

CHURCH GROUP NEEDS FUNDS

Disciples of Christ Hear Of Empty Coffers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—Explaining that when the international convention of Disciples of Christ closes here this week-end, "this outfit is going to be broke," Graham Frank of Dallas, general secretary, today suggested a permanent organization to provide "a modest fund" to finance the annual meeting of the brotherhood.

Frank told the recommendations committee of the convention that when he left Dallas the convention treasurer told him "there was less than $24 in the bank." Expenses here will total about $10,000.

The explanation of the financial situation followed a suggestion that the convention assume responsibility for obligations of a commission. Declining, Frank said:

"This organization has not money enough to employ a half time stenographer and wouldn't have one except for the generosity of the First Christian church of Dallas."

"I have hoped for several years," Frank told the committee, "that a group of business men would organize and provide a fund that would provide for the convention."

Other members of the convention said about half the expenses of the meeting would be met by registration fees.

Tombstone Re-Lives Lawless Days Of Long Ago in 51st Birthday Party

One Time Booming Mining Town Sees Re-Enactment of Bloody Episodes When West Was Young

By DENNIS LANDRY

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., Oct. 16. (UP)—The glory of Tombstone's past—a rapid panorama of fighting and sudden death, of gaiety and pleasure in wild abandon, of murderous Indians, stage coach robbers, cowboy episodes, honky tonks, and six gun battles—will live again as time is whisked abruptly backward half a century.

Thousands of persons were here tonight for the city's 51st birthday celebration. For the next three days they will see in vivid reincarnation many of the great names of yesteryear, the old characters who shot and galloped through innumerable pages of history and fiction.

Hard-boiled men of the long ago will walk the streets, swagger into saloons and gambling houses, stage gun battles and live over again the lives of the raw and lawless West.

Such names as Earp-Clanton, O. K. Corral, Can Can restaurant, Bucket of Blood, and Tub of Suds saloons and Crystal Palace, were on the tongues of everyone tonight.

Back to its faded glory of half a century ago will come the Oriental saloon where the dauntless Wyatt Earp defended "Johnnie-Behind-the-Deuce" from a mob of 500 would-be lynchers.

The bloody Charleston claim jumping battles will be re-enacted, and the new generation will see the old Modoc stage held up, the guard "killed," and the Wells Fargo treasure box looted.

Once more the angry citizenry will lynch an outlaw to a telegraph pole and again will be re-enacted the street battles so numerous when Tombstone was the hustling mining camp of 14,000 souls.

"Ten Nights in a Barroom," will be staged in the Bird Cage opera house, once the most famous variety house between San Francisco and New Orleans.

Roulette wheels will spin, chuck-a-luck and other games will run full blast in the historic buildings as they did in the hectic 80's.

Interest again will center around the O. K. corral, where the Earps and Clantons fought their epic gun battle, in which three were killed.

Customs and manners of 50 years ago have been rejuvenated, every effort has been made toward realism—and the banishment of the modern touch.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of Pile sufferers have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, after years of study discovered a real internal Pile remedy and called his prescription Hem-Roid. He prescribed it for 1,000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get Hem-Roid from their own druggist with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and Allison's Drug store invites every Pile sufferer to try Hem-Roid and guarantees to refund the purchase price if it does not end all Pile misery.—Adv.

WRAPPING COSTLY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (US)—Department stores of the United States spend more than $25,000,000 annually for wrapping and packing supplies, according to bureau of standards figures today.

DEMOS TO GAIN HOUSE CONTROL

Both Parties Concede Victory for 'Opposition'

By FRASER EDWARDS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (US)—President Hoover will be confronted by a Democratic house and a hostile coalition-controlled senate in the next congress.

Such was the consensus of the best minds in both parties today, with Republican leaders conceding Democratic control of the house and Democratic managers admitting majority in the senate.

This represents the rock-bottom estimates of the political situation three weeks before the election given to Universal Service by recognized Republican and Democratic authorities with the understanding that their names be withheld.

G. O. P. Gloomy

In candid discussions of the outlook, Republican leaders were gloomy and pessimistic, while the Democratic high command was extremely optimistic and jubilant. For the Republicans have nothing to gain and the Democrats nothing to lose.

In order to gain control of the house, the Democrats must capture 53 seats now held by Republicans. While that is a tremendous turnover, Republican leaders say that conditions are ripe for it and the Democrats are confident that it can be done.

A canvass of the situation shows nearly 100 districts in which the Democrats have either held the majority or been within less than 1,000 votes of it in the last eight years. These are the places which are expected to furnish the needed Democratic gains.

The senate roster now stands: Republicans, 56; Democrats, 39, and Farmer-Labor, 1. A net gain of 10 seats is necessary to give the Democrats control of the senate organization and committees. But the Democratic leaders, even with all their optimism, are not prepared to make that claim.

Claim Seven Seats

The Democrats, however, assert with confidence that they will make a net gain of seven seats and concede the loss of one. The states in which they expect to replace Republicans with Democratic senators are Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Delaware, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois and Oklahoma.

They concede the defeat of Senator Steck of Iowa.

On the other hand, Republican leaders by no means concede these claims but admit that the chances are very much against them in Oklahoma, West Virginia, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Ohio. In addition to Iowa, they have high hopes of carrying Montana for the senatorship.

While the Republican leaders ridiculed Democratic claims in Illinois, where Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick is the Republican candidate against J. Hamilton Lewis, they admit they will have hard fights to hold Kentucky and Delaware.

A gain of two or three votes by the Democrats in the senate, however, would supply the strength which the Democratic-insurgent coalition lacked on several occasions during the tariff fight, it was pointed out.

What to Do About Thomas P. Gore Is Big Worry of Wilsonian Demos

Fiery Oklahoman's Apparent Victory in Senatorial Race Recalls Nationalistic Views

By FRASER EDWARDS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (US)—Democracy is due for a new spokesman in the senate.

All reports reaching Washington from both Republican and Democratic sources indicate that former Senator Thomas Pryor Gore will be re-elected after a lapse of a dozen years.

These reports are received by Democratic managers with mixed emotions because of Gore's sturdy opposition to all of the old Wilson policies of internationalism.

Gore Is "Problem"

While the Democrats are anxious to garner another senate seat in Oklahoma, they are somewhat at a loss as to what to do with Gore. His tongue was one of the sharpest ever heard in the senate—not discounting Jim Reed of Missouri—and the Democratic leaders are wondering how he can be controlled.

The Democrats are split wide open on the question of ratifying the Root-Hurst formula for the American adherence to the league court and they know that Gore will oppose with the force of a great orator and a sound logician.

Gore's come-back in Oklahoma politics is ascribed to his tenacious nationalistic views. He was defeated for re-election because of his opposition to American entrance in the world war.

Loses Fortune

Since his defeat Gore has practiced law in Washington. He was fairly successful for several years, but it is said that he lost his fortune in the stock crash last year.

This blind man who admits that he was educated largely by his wife reading to him many hours a day, sat in a one-room office here in Washington and wondered whether he could come back politically. He wrote to his friends in Oklahoma. They replied that he had no chance. But he went into the primary and won.

Now Gore appears to be on the road to political rehabilitation. He has grown since he left the senate and he is expected to wield a power that few men in that body have done in recent years.

For a number of years, Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, has been regarded as the Democratic spokesman in the senate. But it is conceded that Pat must look to his laurels if Gore returns.

If he does return, the Democrats know that his voice will be lifted on every occasion against the league court and the Democrats who have espoused that policy in the past. For that reason they look upon the probable return of Gore with more or less concern.

America Apologizes to Mexico for Air Violation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (US)—The United States has apologized to Mexico for an unintentional violation of aviation regulations, it was learned today and the incident amicably adjusted.

Four American army fliers returning from Panama made a landing at San Geronimo, a point not designated on the authorized route. Following the protest from Mexico and the apology negotiations were completed whereby San Geronimo has been made a regular stop.

$1,000,000 IN LIQUOR SEIZED

Uncut Canadian Stock Captured

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 16. (INS)—Police today raided a building here formerly used as a leather factory and seized quantities of liquor valued at nearly $1,000,000.

The estimate of the vault of the haul was made by Lewis J. Tutt, deputy prohibition administrator for New Jersey.

The raid was conducted by 10 city policemen under Lieut. James W. White.

Tutt said the police declared the liquor was uncut Canadian stock.

Legion of Honor Ribbons Become Common at Geneva

GENEVA, Oct. 16. (US)—French legion of honor ribbons are as common in Geneva as sparrows on a Kansas barn at twilight.

There is a facetious standing bet here, open to all comers, that three out of five men who enter the league building will be wearing the red ribbon of the legion in their lapels.

The ribbon is awarded for service to France.

During the meetings of the council and assembly, the ribbon was widely conspicuous among the delegates. Not only delegates representing countries all over the world, but sub-officials of the league, interpreters, journalists, publicists, etc., sported the decoration.

So prevalent, in fact, have the ribbons become, as well as badges and other national decorations, that the question engendered a lively controversy in the league.

Carl J. Hambro, of Norway, not disguising his displeasure at the practice, brought it to the attention of the budget committee, which has charge of the staff of the league secretariat. He said:

"To my mind it is essential for the future work of the league that it should be understood that to have any national emblems or badges of any kind when a man is on duty in the league, is incompatible with the international character of the work done."

Committee members, many of whom wore ribbons, took no formal action, however, to proscribe the wearing of the decorations.

SIMPLICITY

-the keynote of GOOD DESIGN

As sky-scrapers reach higher towards the clouds, they leave behind them the fussy carvings and ornamentation of yesterday. As automobiles and airplanes become more efficient, mechanical complications are replaced with simpler, better devices.

One glance at a Brunswick Radio will tell you why it lays just claim to the title of "The Radio of the Future." It is housed in a sturdy graceful cabinet, beautifully carved but not over-decorated.

Then look inside. Compare the Brunswick chassis with any other. Notice its square, solid construction, with heavy sheet steel shielding the mechanism from dust and damage and electrical interference.

Remember, too, that Brunswick gives you Tone Control and a Rigid Tuning Scale.

And then, most important of all, examine the UNI-SELECTOR. See for yourself how this amazing new device centers every operation of the set under the fingers of one hand. Here at last is simplified control in radio! (Illustrated above).

See your Brunswick dealer now. Ask him to let you operate the new Brunswick models yourself. Nothing can be so convincing as their actual performance.

"At last . . . the ideal soap for silks"

say distinguished Committee of 17

Mary Roberts Rinehart, Anne Morgan, Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, Ethel Barrymore . . . on committee appointed to watch silk experts test revolutionary new soap.

A SOAP so perfect for silks that all the great silk manufacturers urge its use! A soap that so completely meets the needs of every woman that a committee of 17 distinguished women, appointed to judge it, enthusiastically voted it "the ideal soap for all fine fabrics"!

Mrs. James J. Davis and Mrs. Oliver Harriman, compare garments washed in modern Palmolive Beads with those washed in old-fashioned flakes.

Gather at Ritz to watch soap tested

Home economics consultants, social and political leaders, university authorities, a noted author, a great actress . . . the Committee of 17 includes famous representative women from every walk of feminine activity.

Gathered at the Ritz Hotel, the committee heard silk experts tell how modern, hasty washbowl laundering—because of hot water, half-dissolved soap and sketchy rinsing—was costing American women thousands of dollars in damaged silk stockings and lingerie each month. They heard how soap chemists finally solved the problem by creating an utterly new type of soap . . . a soap made of olive and palm oils, that cleanses at lower temperatures. A soap in the form of tiny, hollow beads, so as to dissolve instantly . . . completely.

Reveal superiority of "beads" over "flakes"

Again and again the new soap was tested in comparison with flakes and granules. Again and again the "Beads" performed miracles no soap has ever performed before.

They dissolved instantly . . . completely. No gummy, clinging flakes. They rinsed away 100%. No trace of harmful soap residue. They cleansed in water 20 degrees cooler than ordinary soaps require. Their gentle olive and palm oils made a velvet suds even in hard water. Utterly protective to delicate colors and exquisite textures.

So revolutionary did the tests reveal the new soap to be . . . so completely did it fulfill all requirements . . . that the Committee of 17 unanimously approved it the perfect soap for silks.

The new soap is called Palmolive Beads. It costs no more than ordinary soap. Order it from your dealer.

STATE CANCELS TRUCK PERMITS

Failure to Pay Taxes Charged by Official

AUSTIN, Oct. 16. (AP)—Cancellation of approximately 250 truck permits and prospective cancellation of 80 other truck permits and 25 bus permits for failure to pay taxes was announced today by Mark Marshall, supervisor of the motor transportation division of the state railroad commission.

Twenty-five bus operators and 80 class A truck operators who have failed to pay their taxes were ordered to appear in Austin Oct. 30, to show cause why their permits should not be cancelled. Class A trucks operate over a fixed route.

Permits of 200 class B trucks and 50 trucks authorized under temporary emergency certificates were cancelled outright. These carriers operate over any route within a given territory.

Marshall said the taxes were due on Sept. 15 and that repeated efforts had been made to collect them. Cancellation was decided upon after all other means had failed, he said.

Marshall also announced a hearing would be held in Wichita Falls Nov. 6 on applications for truck permits to operate in that territory.

Institutions For Cancer 'War' Urged

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16. (AP)—Creation of five or six great institutions at strategic points throughout the country to be devoted to the fight against cancer was recommended today by Dr. James Ewing of the New York Skin and Cancer hospital, at a round table conference at the clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Ewing said the institutions would cost about $10,000,000 each and that one or two of them should be government owned and the others privately owned. He expressed the opinion that until such steps are taken it would be almost impossible to control cancer because the study of the disease was such a tremendous undertaking as to demand group study.

Writers Department Has Original Opening Program

A beautiful arrangement of brilliant autumn flowers made an artistic setting for the first autumn meeting of the writers department at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Thursday. Mrs. J. Truman Stevens, with Mesdames Ann Barker and J. W. Akin, were responsible for the lovely decorations. Members of the county federation joined the writers at luncheon as guests of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, through the courtesy of John Boswell, general manager.

Mrs. W. M. Cason, chairman of the department, presided and after a short greeting introduced each number. The program began as usual with the dessert course and Mrs. Philo Boddy of Henrietta was first with a lovely little poem of her own composition, "My Son." Mrs. Walter Priddy and Mrs. C. Y. Tully, with Mrs. Lucille Brooks Huff at the piano, sang "I Would That My Love," their beautiful voices blending in perfect harmony.

A word picture in verse was given by Mrs. W. S. Culwell of Henrietta, painting many lovely scenes. Mrs. Flora Greenwood followed with an exquisite violin number, accompanied by Miss Annette Walsh, two perfect artists in their lines. Mrs. Burke Scott of Iowa Park read a poem, "The Story the Violin Told," a fit group of lovely verses to follow the violin number. Mrs. H. F. Weldon read two beautiful poems written by Mrs. Bennie Hyatt Burke of Seattle, Wash., a sister of Mrs. P. P. Langford and long a forum member. Mrs. Curtis Atkinson concluded the program by special request, with two of her much loved poems.

Members of the writers department present were Mesdames J. W. Akin, A. D. Anderson, Curtis Atkinson, James P. Bowen, J. F. Boyd, Ann Barker, Harry Cravens, C. W. Cook, W. M. Directors Lunch Featured by Talk On Unemployment

A new procedure was adopted by the board of directors of the Y. W. C. A. when members met in their monthly luncheon Thursday at the club room for luncheon and business. Instead of detailed reports, they voted to hold an educational hour in which they would study the work of each department.

Mrs. C. W. Snider, president, presided and Mrs. E. B. Gorsline gave the devotional. Mrs. Ralph DeShong, chairman of the employment department, had charge of the devotional and introduced Miss Frances Brooks who made a stirring talk on vocational guidance as the best remedy for an unemployed situation. Mrs. DeShong led in an informal discussion of untrained and uneducated girls who apply for work and it was announced that in the month of September, the total applications for work at the Y. W. C. A. was 83 with 26 applicants placed.

Other reports were given by Mesdames H. F. Weldon, Girl Reserves; Ella Keevil, room registry; Miss Zula McKay, Business and Professional Woman's club; Mesdames E. T. Duff, house maintenance; C. W. Gilliland, hospitality; Charles Pogenpohl, emergency; T. A. Hicks, cafeteria and Miss Annette Coffield, publicity.

A delightful luncheon was served at a table made lovely with vases of beautiful roses.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

A car that insisted on keeping just in front of us had on its back wheel cover, "Learn to Fly" in enormous letters. We were moving as rapidly as the driver before us would allow and the phrase made us a little sore.

And then we thought of the many things from which we might learn to fly; the little harassing things that happen in every person's life; the dwelling on forgotten ideals and on the smashing of one's ideals of other folk that happens every day.

That bromidic thought came back to "there's so much good in the worst of us," etc. But it would, at that, prove a splendid rule if one had strength to rule each day's life so.

We liked the quotation from "Talker" in Home Town Talk, "Every act I perform, every word I speak—and every feeling of happiness or discontent I experience—is controlled by the concept of myself."

There are so many things that one may start the day with that give an uplift. There's a long fence at Mrs. J. B. Nail's home on Hayes street that early in the October mornings wears purple and blue morning glories that are inspiration for any downcast soul.

For ourself, nothing makes us more happy than those friends who feel as we do in some of our inner thoughts that at times we express in this column and tell us of it. It was sweet at the county federation Thursday to have unknown people let us know they were friends.

Friends probably, are the greatest uplift in life. We see and read of men and women who live to themselves and do not care for friends, but we believe their souls are lonely spaces.

If every child might be taught the right concept of his own life, it would make the world a heaven. But where are the teachers?

All we get from life, some one said, is what we give to others. But we wonder sometimes, how much is given to others so that the giver may gain.

But cynicism is another thing life should shun. We would learn to fly, if it might be, from all that makes life bitter or unkind. Life is too short.

Mussolini says that the speeding up of delivery of letters, without extra cost, must prove benficial to the nation at large.

Lovely Breakfast Given to Honor Adele Jarrell

Cupid must have been delighted when he viewed the pretty home of Mrs. G. D. Fox Thursday morning at the breakfast and handkerchief shower given in honor of Miss Adele Jarrell, bride-elect of Col. Ralph Emmett Spake. The old-fashioned motif was beautifully carried out.

Bridge tables were used for breakfast, each covered with lovely madeira cloths and centered with old-fashioned bouquets in all the exquisite pastel shades bordered with ruffles of lace. The place cards were dainty little hand made bouquets with the names attached to pretty cards and the handkerchief shower presented was made into a great old-fashioned bouquet with the staid and dainty lace ruffle of half a century ago.

With the attractive honoree, covers were laid for Misses Willette Jarrell, Margaret Smith, Marjorie Bright, Jeannette Moore, and Mesdames Walter Priddy, Alfred Piatt, E. E. Haverstick, H. W. Krenning, S. M. Gose Jr., H. N. Severs, J. W. Akin Jr., A. R. Dillard, Frank Wood, A. K. Jarrell and the hostess.

Three Mothers Agree

When mother is tired, nervous or ill the whole home is upset. For her family's sake, every mother wants to be well and strong. These three women tell how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps them to care for their families.

Mrs. H. Dolhonde,
6318 York St.,
New Orleans, Louisiana

"Before my last baby was born, I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I got such good results that I named her Catherine Lydia. I have six older children and five grandchildren, too. I am now taking the Vegetable Compound again because of my age. I eat and sleep better and I do all my housework, and my washing. I will do my best to answer letters."

Mrs. Harold Goodnow
36 Cane St.,
Fitchburg, Massachusetts

"I cannot praise your medicine enough. After my baby came I was rundown. I had to go to bed often through the day. I took three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I felt like a different woman. If any mother has those tired feelings I advise her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. Lloyd R. Blasing,
115 So. Ohio St.,
Anaheim, California

"After my baby came I was so nervous and tired that I felt miserable. One day a booklet was left at our door and after reading it I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now on my fourth bottle and I feel much stronger. It has helped me in every way and I feel sure that other women in rundown condition will pick up if they will only take a few bottles."

THE REAL THING IN BRAN FLAKES

WHEN you taste Kellogg's Pep Bran Flakes your search for perfect bran flakes is at an end.

You taste the flavor of PEP such as no other bran flakes have. They stay crisper in milk or cream. You get the vitamins, the mineral salts of the wheat. And just enough bran to be mildly laxative.

Kellogg's PEP BRAN FLAKES

BETTER BRAN FLAKES

She grew up right here but her apple cake has a Dutch wrinkle!

When I was on the train going from New Orleans to Houston last summer, I was so hot that I thought, "If I got into a frying pan with some Crisco I'd sizzle!"

And then my eyes fell on a plump rosy-cheeked woman in a cotton dress who looked as cool as an April breeze.

While we were rolling between Texas cotton fields, I got to chatting with her. And naturally (being me!) I turned the conversation toward cooking. Then she gave me a recipe for a delicious Dutch apple cake. "I'm home-grown," she said, "but my folks came from Pennsylvania. This cake's come down in my family for generations."

And wasn't I a happy woman when I saw that the recipe called for Crisco!

"Oh, I swear by Crisco," she said. "I'm just a plain cook, I guess, but I like things to taste good. So I stick by Crisco—even when I can get other fats at a bargain. I guess I'm finicky."

Well, it did my heart good to hear her. For she's right. Taste is the test of all cooking fats. And you can always depend upon Crisco because it tastes as fresh and sweet as new-churned, unsalted butter!

Every cook should be finicky about her cooking fat. Even your eyes will tell you the difference between Crisco and ordinary pail fats. When you open Crisco's air-tight can, you'll see a pretty sight. It looks like whipped cream—no yellowish streaks or coarse graininess.

Then smell Crisco. There's nothing to smell—it's a pure Southwest product you can be proud of. No tallowy odors or rancidity. You'll find Crisco stays firm and sweet even when your kitchen feels like an oven! Notice when you make this cake that Crisco's delicate flavor allows every little piece of apple to assert its juicy goodness. That's because Crisco brings out flavors—it never smothers them! And notice how your men folks will eat up every smitch of their helping! That's your reward. Appetites that say "more." Doesn't it pay to spend Crisco's price for Crisco's quality?

WINIFRED S. CARTER

Fluffy Lemon Sauce: Combine ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch and ½ teaspoon salt. Stir in 1 cup water and cook, stirring constantly until thick. Add a slightly beaten egg, 1 tablespoon Crisco, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg and continue cooking for just a minute. Pour this hot mixture over 2 egg whites, beaten stiff.

Wichita County Federation Is Successfully Organized

Mrs. John Barbour of Iowa Park was elected president of the Wichita County federation organized Thursday morning at the Woman's Forum clubhouse with approximately 100 women present. Mrs. Grover C. Johnson, temporary chairman, presided during the organization, and Mrs. B. F. Butler of Electra, acted as secretary.

Mrs. W. L. Denny of Iowa Park gave the invocation and Mrs. Johnson introduced Mrs. Newton Maer, president of the forum, who extended a welcome for the forum.

Stating that the highest cultural center of the city was the Forum clubhouse and that she hoped the county federation would use it steadily, Mrs. Maer said also that it was the dream of the forum that in time the county federation would have its own room for meeting and exhibits. Mrs. Maer asked for the cooperation of the entire county in the flower carnival to be given Oct. 31, Nov. 1, and expressed her personal delight in the large number attending.

Mrs. Ben G. Oneal read a copy of the state constitution and by-laws for county federations, which was adopted with one change, that the second vice president should be the program chairman.

A nominating committee composed of a member from each federated club present with Mrs. Ben G. Oneal chairman, was appointed and withdrew to prepare the slate of officers and Mrs. Walter Coffield, chairman in the district for the county federations, was presented and gave greetings from Montague county. Mrs. Coffield stressed the deepened affection for one another brought about by the county federation.

The cooperation between city and rural home in home work and in education were features of which she also spoke.

Miss Robbie Castleberry brought the congratulations of Wilbarger county, stating that they had been organized since 1919 and with their four federated clubs and nine home demonstration clubs had brought the women of the county into close cooperation. The success of any work, she said, was due to the support of each individual member.

The nominating committee reported and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. John Barbour, Iowa Park; first vice president, Mrs. E. W. Barr, Electra; second vice president, Mrs. W. R. Hill, Burkburnett; recording secretary, Mrs. L. E. Brooks, Pleasant Valley; corresponding secretary, Mrs. B. F. Butler, Electra; treasurer, Mrs. D. E. Hooks, Valley View and parliamentarian, Mrs. T. Oneal, president of the first district was next to greet the "baby federation" of the district. Wichita county, Mrs. Oneal stated, was seventh to federate but would not be the baby long as the women of Archer county were looking forward to an early organization. Mrs. Oneal told of the report of Phoebe K. Warner at the national convention in Denver when she spoke of the work done by country clubs all over the nation. One little town in New Mexico was particularly mentioned; a club with seven members in a town of 75 residents with a library of 1,000 volumes. They bought a box car for a clubhouse, made a Spanish style building from it and flourished in their work. Mrs. Oneal stressed the objectives of the Wichita county federation, cooperation between rural and town women, scholarships, a county library and the establishment of a public market.

Federated clubs present who joined the county federation were the Unity, Senior Travel, Junior Travel, Twentieth Century and Forum of Wichita Falls, the Twentieth Century of Iowa Park, the Artcele and Athena Delphians of Electra.

Miss Ethel Louise Webb, county demonstration agent of Wichita county told of the work being done in her line and said that with the 4-H clubs, Texas had the largest group of extension workers in the world. In Texas there is one state and one assistant state agent, eight home economic specialists, nine district agents and 120 agents in the field. Miss Webb told of the aims and objects of the workers, the improvement of all home and community work, the attention to food from production to the market and read the beautiful creed of the country woman.

Mrs. John Atterbury of Benjamin, extended greetings from Knox county, telling of the club in Benjamin of which she is president which is the highest scoring in the district. In a town of 450 people, it has 28 working members and has raised about $1,000 to equip the three rooms given them by the Masons.

Mrs. Frank Creighton, outstanding in P.-T. A. and club work made the final address of the day, greeting the new federation for the organizations with which she has done county work. DRINK WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Plain water best diuretic. Add a spoonful of ordinary JAD Salts to clear intestines of poisons that may pass from intestinal tract to kidney and invite trouble.

If you have miserable pains in your back, or strained feeling, don't jump to the conclusion you have a bad kidney ailment and start dosing yourself with a lot of medicine. Plain water is the best diuretic—the best flusher of the kidneys you can find.

Drink a full glass one-half hour before breakfast to which you've added a spoonful of ordinary Jad Salts. The water will flush the kidneys. The Jad Salts will cleanse the intestines of the dangerous toxins of Systemic Poisoning which are probably the real cause of those back pains.

According to recent discoveries of able men of science, these toxins frequently pass from the lower intestines to the kidneys, causing pus formations and pain—and inviting trouble. Get them out of your system and chances are, those pains you've diagnosed as "kidney pains" will go like magic. You'll feel a general easing up, less of that horribly tired and strained feeling at your back. You'll feel more snappy and alert than perhaps for years.

You can get the Jad Salts at any corner drug store. Just ask for ordinary Jad Salts. Take as suggested above. Also drink two glasses of plain water between every two meals and at bedtime. Then if your "kidney pains" aren't completely gone in six days or less see a good doctor. Try this simple way today. You'll be glad that you did.—Adv.

Of all the features of the new Ford there is none more important than reliability. It is a reflection of the substantial worth of the car.*

Evidence of the high quality built into the Ford is the extensive use of ball and roller bearings. There are more than twenty in all—an unusually large number. From the engine to the road, the entire drive of the new Ford on all forward speeds is wholly on ball and roller bearings.

In addition to smoother operation, this saves gasoline, gives the car more speed and power, decreases noise and increases the durability and efficiency of every moving part.

Another important factor in good performance is the care with which the car is made. The aluminum pistons are an interesting example of precision manufacture.

Though weighing more than a pound each, they are made so accurately that they do not vary more than two grams in weight. In size they are held true to within one one-thousandth of an inch. The wrist-pin holes in the pistons are diamond bored to within a limit of three ten-thousandths of an inch. In each motor, complete piston and connecting-rod assemblies are not permitted to vary from each other by more than 3½ grams.

Throughout the car you find many other instances of this same accuracy in the manufacture and assembly of vital mechanical parts. Combined with simplicity of design and high quality of materials, it is the reason for the economy and long life of the car and the satisfactory service it is giving millions of owners the world over.

See the nearest dealer and have him give you a demonstration ride in the new Ford. You will know then that it brings you everything you want or need in an automobile at an unusually low price.

Medical Ethics
A Scientist's Suicide
Knew Too Much of Life
Hoarding Our Helium

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Is the medical profession a profession? If it is, what is wrong with a physician resorting to advertising to get trade? And is it unethical for a member of the medical society to permit his name to be used in connection with the exploitation of a toothpaste or soap?

All these questions have come up again because Dr. Wynne, New York health commissioner, quit the N. Y. County Medical society when it prepared to try him for unethical" conduct in lending his name and reputation to an advertising syndicate. Social workers back his attitude. Conservative physicians deplore and criticise it.

If a doctor really thinks a toothpaste or a soap or a hair brush or a chewing gum beneficial, there seems to be nothing unethical in his saying so, privately or publicly.

There is no reason why a profession like medicine should be shut out from the opportunities and benefits of advertising. Dispensing aid cannot be unethical. A physician who has something new and vital to offer should not be limited to a locality. He has a right to address himself to a nation. Men like Steinach and Lorenz get free advertising through publicity. Are those who are willing to pay for it less ethical?

A German scientist, Dr. Peter Schmidt, who worked for years to prolong the lives of others, is a suicide at 38. A disciple of rejuvenation, as expounded and practiced by Professor Steinach, he decided that existence, which was so avidly sought by millions, was not worth while as far as he himself was concerned. He ended his life in Berlin by firing a bullet into his temple.

With certain restless spirits the glamor of a profession wears off in direct ratio to the time devoted to it. Dr. Schmidt dealt with prolonging life. The glamor of living, therefore, began to wear off and bore him.

Empedocles, ancient philosopher of Sicily, regarded by his fellow men as a kind of god, threw himself off Mt. Aetna, wearied of divinity. So, too, Jupiter, forsaking Olympus, visited the earth time and again in the guise of man or beast.

The law of life is change. Even immortals must chafe at eternity. Ever since the days of Lucifer, there has been discontent in heaven.

No appeal to political consideration is stronger than an appeal from a suffering fellow man, whether friend or foe.

The United States is right to hoard every defense weapon at hand. Helium happens to be one of those weapons. Europe depends on America solely for its supply of this gas. In time of stress this country has never been found wanting. This is characteristic in war or peace.

The disaster of the R-101, due in large measure to the fact that the dirigible did not use helium gas, should impel the authorities to cooperate to avert further tragedies. The progress of lighter-than-air ships depends on helium. To withhold it would be equivalent to denying oxygen to a living organism. Obstructing progress thus would only act as a boomerang.

Some will say it would not be very pleasant to be bombed by a dirigible inflated with our own helium. We should be friendly but we should be prepared for that, too. One well managed little airplane would find it as easy to destroy a $5,000,000 airship as to blow up a $50,000,000 battleship.

"Sure we feel the slack times. You see folks hain't bein' operated on, fer they jest hain't got the money," said Undertaker Aaron Shot, this mornin'. Some flappers think so much o' ther sweeties that nothin' but hittin' a telephone pole 'll jar 'em loose.

With one party in Turkey favoring the fez and the other the derby for the national top-piece, it is a simple matter for a candidate to announce his platform by throwing his hat in the ring.

Unwanted Compensation

PROOF of the fact that society, as well as individuals, must pay for an insufficiency of wisdom, might be found in the isolation and study of such criminals as have been driven actually by prevailing economic conditions to acts of theft.

It may be assumed that many of those who commit felonies would follow careers of crime regardless of the conditions under which they lived. By nature they are parasitic or predatory, as various other creations, and remain indifferent to moral laws as to legislative statutes.

Unquestionably there are many others classed as criminals who would prefer to get along without violating society's laws, if they could do so without curtailing too severely their own acquisitive desires. They would avoid infractions of the law, normally, merely because that procedure would best guarantee their own liberty of action.

But it is equally obvious that there are at least some in the vast hords of transgressors who resort to robbery because actual want has overruled their natural tendencies to respect property rights. If an approximately accurate isolation and analysis of such cases were possible, it would be found that the state has in confinement and is supporting hundreds of men who robbed because they had no income and did not know how to produce them; men who would vastly have preferred to work, but for whom society apparently had no use.

Society may be divided into classes. There is a criminal class. But classes overlap, and among those styled "criminals" are many whose presence there merely point society's inefficiency in the matter of utilizing the capacities of its members and the provisions of their individual needs. We shall continue to pay until our wisdom improves.

More or Less True

SOME connection, direct even though remote, will be seen by many readers between a comment by the London Daily Express on crime in America and the new fee bill which is to become effective as a Texas law on Jan. 1.

Commenting upon the Jack Diamond shooting in New York, the London Journal Tuesday morning declared that "judges, politicians and attorneys have made crime one of the safest callings in America." Could the situation be sifted down to its elements, it doubtless would be found that actual and prospective financial gain have served to dull law enforcement in America very materially.

With reference to the situation in Texas, it would appear on the face of things that active enforcement of the law by county officers would be admirably encouraged by a system which allows a fee for each case successfully handled, and places no limit upon the amount which the incumbent in office may earn. On the other hand, it has indirectly encouraged the operation of law-enforcement machinery at a forced production rate instead of seeking the repression of lawlessness primarily for the public good. The humane and moral factors for whose furtherance laws are presumably created become objectives secondary to that of wealth and power.

The bill passed by the 41st legislature relative to fees in county offices at least has the virtue of placing the emphasis upon law enforcement for the good of the public rather than for the financial enrichment of the incumbent. In that respect it implies agreement with the daring criticism voiced by the London paper.

The November Election

IN THE August finals 856,000 men and women Democrats participated. They are reminded that the general election is coming in November. They are reminded that it is just as important to go to the polls on general election day as on primary election day. They are reminded that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty and that it is the duty of the qualified voter to show responsibility and face the issues as they bob uppermost. There are important amendments to be voted upon. They were submitted by the 41st legislature. There is an amendment which if adopted will change legislative procedure. This amendment has the support and backing of the best minds of Texas. There are other amendments equally as important. There should be a campaign of the education until November election day. There are taxation amendments which concern university lands. Why not study these amendments? Why not arouse the voter from his apathetic condition or trance? A voter should not be dragged to the polls. It should not be necessary to prod him to do his duty. He is interested in the cost of government. He is interested in the way the public money is spent. He is interested in intelligent as well as honest government. If he isn't, then the franchise is worthless in his hands.

Anti-Aircraft Defense

FOR a striking example of the influence of the airplane on warfare, consult the reports of the recent demonstration of new army ordnance at the Aberdeen proving grounds.

Many new weapons were on display there, including artillery and machine guns in profusion; and practically all of them were devised so that they could fight foes overhead as well as on the ground.

It is not enough, nowadays, for a battery to be able to shell an opposing battery beyond a hill three miles away; it must be able to repel a raider who is a mile off in a perpendicular direction. A new form of attack, the airplane calls for new forms of defense, and the Aberdeen show indicates that army chiefs are fully aware of the fact.

Quotations Worth Noting

Education of our adults is needed now as never before, for in this machine, mass-production age, the life of the worker must be enriched or, in many cases, his spirit will die. We probably can hold the place we now have by schooling children only, but to make real progress we must educate adults.—L. R. Alderman, U. S. office of education.

Why, Mrs. Gilhooley!

Helen Hayes, the femme star of Jed Harris' "Mr. Gilhooley" show, was more caustic than was first supposed in her chat over the air the other Sabbath eve.

Among other pot-shots at the critics (all of whom superlatived her) Helen objected to a critic "who likes to use big words and takes up two columns of space to say what could be said in two paragraphs."

"He reminds me of Houdini," Miss Hayes also said, "trying to get out of the dictionary."

The critic Helen should really scold is Charlie MacArthur, her husband, who, on the premiere night, was caught hissing her.

A Form of Criticism

"In the crowds which greeted me everywhere on my tour," says Rudy Vallee, "the simple country type of girl predominated."

As if we didn't know.

Gag

Joel J. Levenson, of Worcester, Mass., offers you this eavesdropped patter: "Nu, Yussel, howz business?"

"Even the pipple who dun't intend to pay are not buying."

Things That Burn Me Up

One of the critics covering the new "Brown Buddies" show said, among other things, that Bill Robinson was "indifferent" and that Bill wouldn't appear with the rest of the troupe during the finale. Robinson, as you probably read, was shot by an excited policeman in Pittsburgh, where the show played last week. He refused to disappoint the management, the cast and the public, and appeared Tuesday eve'g as scheduled. He suffered great agony, they say, doing the various routines, and the reason Bill didn't appear in the finale was that he collapsed in the wings.

The Morning Mail

"My dear Winchell," replies Dr. Vizetelly of the Funk & Wagnall Dictionary Co., "away back in 1807 the Great Washington Irving made use of the phrase 'in a fit of the blues' in his 'Salmagundi.' The reference to Barham's "Ingoldsby Legends" that you printed I cannot verify for lack of the book. But for desperation of spirits and despondency as 'the blues,' we must look back about 400 years when 'blue' acquired the significance of 'desperation, discouragement, dismay and low-spiritedness." . . . To 'look blue' dates back to the time of the Robin Hood ballads, which Ritson printed. Of conditions in England in 1840, Disraeli wrote to his sister of 'the great panic that exists here,' and 'even the knowing ones look pale and blue.' Burns had a 'fit of the blue devils' in 1798. The great Thomas Jefferson acknowledged having 'something of the blue devils at times' in 1810, and in 1923 Byron ran the 'blue devils' in his 'Don Juan'!

"The six days smoothly run,
The seventh will bring blue devils or a nun'"

Doctor, I feel much botter, thanques.

The Plot Thickens

According to Willard Keefe, two actors paused to read the headlines in the newspapers at a 47th street news stand. One headline shrieked: "Crater Vault Empty!"

"Hmmm," hmmmd one of the boys, "then he wasn't in there, huh?"

The Idea Splendid

Some of us who broadcast via the air waves and have to submit our speeches to the officials of the station are bored with them. Because perhaps at the last moment, they invariably delete this and that, and when pressed for a reason, the officials offer That Blank Stare.

The other night we told Alexander Woollcott, also an air fiend, about it. "It is most irritating," we groaned, "how do you get around it?"

"I merely send them ten typewritten pages of last Sunday's Times," said Mr. Woollcott, "and they never know the difference."

Self-Indictment

The papers appear to be packed with quarrels between managers, actors, actresses and critics, which is as it should be—to make something in the profession interesting. One of the bitter feuds was that between Woollcott, when he was a reviewer, and Lowell Sherman, alleged actor.

The tiff was one-sided, of course, considering that Woollcott has the sharpest pencil and a nimble mind. It all became quite dull after a time, however, and the critic decided to close the matter.

Which was accomplished by publishing a letter of indignation from Sherman—so hammy in tone it immediately swung all doubtful voters over to the critic.

HEARTBREAK GIRL

By ROB EDEN . . .

Nick Walther, wealthy young Hollywood real estate man, impressed by the earnestness of Gail Stuart, beautiful young hiker he has picked up on the road, arranges with Tod Janson, press agent to get her a film test. Gail meets Ross Hardy, handsome movie extra. They pledge each other their help if they get a "break" in pictures. Gail's test is poor, and she goes to Carla Cross, the famous star who comes from her home town. Carla hires her as her secretary. Rita Billings, whose place she takes, tells Gail that Carla is hard to work for, but the Kansas girl is in a seventh heaven, living in the great star's home.

CHAPTER LX

In a daze Gail followed Martin the butler, up the stairs to a wing on the second floor. She couldn't believe her good fortune. Just to be near Carla. All the time. She pinched herself and wondered as she closed her eyes, whether she would find herself back in the shabby rooming house on Highland avenue. This all must be a dream. It couldn't be true. It had happened so quickly. Too quickly to be true.

When she opened her eyes she was still going down the hall, treading the soft rugs, following Martin, whose back loomed broad, and straight in front of her.

"This will be your room, Miss Stuart," he said distantly, as he rapped on a closed door. It was opened almost immediately, by a girl older than Gail, with a shock of black bobbed hair.

"Miss Billings, this is Miss Stuart. Miss Cross told me to introduce you." With that he left the girls together, and went down the hall.

"You're going to be the next secretary?" Rita Billings asked. There was a half smile on her thin lips. She wasn't exactly pretty Gail thought, but there was a vividness, a brightness about her face that was arresting. Gail put her age at about 22.

"Well, come in and see your new home." The flippant remark hurt Gail, for Miss Billings' voice was edged with sarcasm.

"I'm getting out as soon as I can. I'll be gone in an hour, if I can make it." Rhoda remarked, and she went furiously at her packing again. Now and then she glanced at her companion, who was sitting on the edge of the bed looking round with wide violet eyes.

The room was comfortably furnished. An easy chair, a small mahogany bed, a vanity table, and a dresser. Luxurious compared to the room at the Green rooming house.

By the window was a table holding a small typewriter. Gail looked at it in dismay, as she had never used one. The view from the window was lovely, for it looked down on a flagged garden, with a fountain tinkling in the center, bright iron chairs under wide flame colored umbrellas.

"You want to know what you have to do, I suppose?" Miss Billings asked.

Sarcasm

"Miss Cross said you'd tell me about my duties—"

"Well, there aren't any except doing what Carla Cross wants."

"No duties?"

"No regular ones." All you have to do is to be at her beck and call all the hours of the day and night. Sounds simple, doesn't it? Well, it isn't. It's hell. That's why I'm quitting."

"Are you quitting?" Gail couldn't imagine anyone who would quit working for Carla.

"Sure. Can't stand the place any longer. Stood it a month, and it's got me down. Carla Cross may look like an angel, but she isn't—"

"Perhaps you don't understand her."

The girl laughed harshly. "Say little innocent. How long have you been in Hollywood?"

"Only a few days."

Rita nodded wisely. "I thought so. Well, I won't disillusion you. You'll know quick enough."

"Have you another job in mind?" Gail wanted to be polite.

"I'm going back to Frank's store where I was before I came here to work for Carla. Glad to get back, too. My job is open."

"Clerking?"

"Yes."

Gail shook her head slowly. She couldn't imagine preferring to clerk in a store to working for Carla. Something was the matter with the girl. "You were going to tell me what to do." She reminded Rita.

"I've already told you, but you didn't understand. Anything Miss Cross wants you to."

"That isn't definite enough—"

"It will be definite enough pretty soon, when you see all the things that are expected of you. Now and then you'll have to mend her clothes when her maid can't get upstairs fast enough. You'll have to take her telephone calls, and all the grief. Sometimes at night you'll have to read her to sleep. No use me telling you. You'll find out."

Getting Settled

Gail left for her things before the packing was completed. She went to the rooming house in Carla's limousine and brought back her small bit of luggage. The car hardly seemed real to her. Cream colored with a deep velvet upholstery in the same shade. A fairy automobile. She hadn't seen Carla when she had left the house. Martin told her the car was waiting for her, and she had found it at the door, and stepped in bewildered.

Mrs. Green had been surprised that she was leaving so soon. As Ross hadn't come in yet, she left a note under his door, explaining her good luck, and asking him to call her at Carla Cross' house.

Rita Billings had left her when she returned to the Spanish mansion. The room was clean and tidy. Her few things were hung in the closet, and she was ready for work. Should she go, and tell Carla she had finished unpacking? Or should she wait until she was called?

She was debating the question, when a bell buzzed in her room. Was that Miss Cross?

It was, she discovered, when she put her head out the door, and saw a trim maid beckon her.

"Miss Cross wants you," she pointed to a closed door. So Gail entered Miss Cross' suite of rooms. A boudoir, hung with yellow satin drapes, a heliotrope rug on the floor, dainty French furniture. A gigantic bunch of yellow roses in a vase on the fragile table. The bedroom was done in the same colors. The high gilded bed on a dais fascinated the girl, with its canopy and hangings of yellow silk, the coverlet of real lace, the chaise longue of tufted velvet in lavender.

The rug, so fine, so soft, every imprint making a scar on its surface, leaving a shadow on the pile.

Carla was not in her bedroom. Gail found her in a mirror-walled dressing room, a thousand images of her golden hair, her white skin with flowing green chiffon negligee before her. She was seated before a long mirror-topped table, loaded with vials of perfume. Hundreds of bottles reflected in the glass. Cloudy lalique, Venetian, French bottles, each filled with perfume. She could not help exclaiming, the vision was so perfect.

Carla heard the exclamation and smiled. "Have you finished unpacking?"

"Yes, Miss Cross."

"Call Me Carla"

"Call me Carla. Everyone does. I'm going to call you Gail, for we're going to see a lot of one another. I wanted you to help me choose the dress I'm going to wear tonight. I'm undecided, and I need help. An opening, you know, and I have to look my best." Carla rose and went to the mirrored wall, pressing a small glass knob. A panel slid back, and revealed a wardrobe, filled with evening gowns. She pointed to a green dress and a white one, glittering with rhinestones.

"Which would you suggest?" she asked anxiously, as if Gail's advice meant everything to her.

"The white, Miss—Carla, I mean. It's so lovely. The stones look like dew on it."

Carla thanked her, and said she would wear the white. She was quite pleased with her new secretary, and she showed it. Such patient admiration. The girl clearly adored her.

"You might hunt for some slippers to match the dress, if you want."

Gail gladly hunted in the slipper closet. Anything for Carla.

Twenty-five dollars a week for this! She wanted to tell Carla she didn't deserve it. That it was too much. At Troy's store she had earned only $15 per week.

Miss Billings was wrong about Carla. Carla was so sweet, so good.

The actress pressed a bell on the dressing table. It tinkled softly. Mary, the maid, appeared in a few minutes, just as Carla again rang the bell.

"I rang, Mary," she said petuantly, "and when I ring you are to come at once. Do you understand?"

"Yes, Miss Cross, but—"

"There are no excuses—fix my bath." Her voice was imperious, and her eyes dangerous. The maid hurried away. Gail felt sorry for her. She wanted to shield her, but did not know how.

"Mary is so lazy. She takes her own time about answering the bell," Carla remarked as if giving an explanation for her flare of temper.

Gail was silent but she resolved when her own bell rang to answer it immediately. She didn't want Carla to have any excuse to talk to her the way she had to Mary.

"Be a good girl, and run down and see what there is for dinner," Carla asked.

Gail hurried out, wondering just when she would start her secretarial duties. Worrying about them a little, for they were so vague.

At any rate, she had a job. A marvelous one. And Carla had promised to see if there would be a part in her next picture. The girl hugged her arms around her as she sped down the stairs to do Carla's bidding. She might be an actress, regardless of what Tod Janson said, regardless of the test at Werber's.

"Which would you suggest?" she asked anxiously, as if Gail's advice meant everything to her.

Q.—How can you keep leather goods from mildewing?—M. N. H.

A.—The simplest way to prevent mildewing is to keep the articles in a well-ventilated, dry, well-lighted place. When first detected, mildew should be wiped off with a damp cloth, the leather well dried, and put in a drier place. Mildew probably will not seriously damage the leather unless it is allowed to remain for several weeks or longer, but it may change its color.

Q.—What does the Battle of Fallen Timbers stamp commemorate?—L. M. C.

A.—The Battle of Fallen Timbers commemorative stamp issued by the postoffice department is a memorial to Gen. Anthony Wayne, and to commemorate the 105th anniversary of this battle. "Mad Anthony Wayne of Revolutionary war fame was called upon to end the Indian trouble at the frontier, when Harmar and St. Clair had failed. He began his campaign in Ohio in the fall of 1793. In 1794 he was active on the Maumee, and on Aug. 20th defeated the Indians decisively at Fallen Timbers, and in August 1795, he and 127 of the Northwestern tribes signed the treaty of Greenville by which the United States acquired a large tract of territory.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Modern Manners

Do you know that when calling you should not apologize for staying longer that you had intended? Remarks such as, "I must be going," or "I really did not intend to stay so long," and the like are frequently possible of misinterpretation. Do not talk about leaving and then remain because your hostess says, "Oh, don't go!" Above all, do not linger after you have risen to leave. Go promptly, and if you have some last minute thoughts, save them for another time. It is bad form to keep your hostess standing while you delay your leave taking.

This may seem a little thing, but it is the little things that make for good manners in all social relations.

In sending for a copy of Modern Manners use this coupon and enclose 10 cents for handling and postage:

M'KELVIE ASKS NEW INQUIRY

Grain Trade Accused Of Attacks on Board

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—Sam R. McKelvie, grain member of the federal farm board, said today the organized grain trade was back of attacks on the farm board which he has requested the federal trade commission to investigate.

Most of the attacks emanated from Nebraska and the Northwest, he said, although material published in Nebraska is being circulated in Kansas.

In addition to requesting the trade commission to determine whether the attacks constitute unfair trade practices, McKelvie said he had directed articles circulated through the mails to the attention of the post office department.

In instances, McKelvie said, "We have found that supposed friends of the cooperatives are being used" by those engineering the attacks to circulate the matter among farmers.

Chairman Legge said the attacks were of two classes, one holding the board is inefficient and is not aiding the farmer, and the other from the grain trade saying it is hurting their business.

Rescuers Work Through Night In Vain Effort to Save Baby From Well

LEVELLAND, Texas, Oct. 16. (AP)—A baby boy, 22 months old, lost his life far underground in a windmill well near here today despite the desperate efforts of his parents and scores of volunteer workers to rescue him.

While playing outside the cottage of his father, J. R. Mauldin, on a farm about sundown yesterday, little Royse Alvin Mauldin attempted to walk on a plank placed over a newly-drilled well about 14 inches wide at the top. The plank careened and he fell a few feet into the hole.

Mrs. Mauldin heard the child's cries and ran to his assistance. Lying on her face, the mother touched the baby's fingers, but at the moment the child slipped a little farther.

An appeal brought scores of men from Levelland to the scene, they worked all night trying to bring the child to safety. Throughout the night his cries were heard, but toward morning they grew fainter and fainter until finally they were stilled.

Ropes with nooses at their ends were first dropped into the well and then hooks were placed on the ropes. While these caught several times, the rescuers feared to exert much pressure lest the child be torn apart.

Finally despairing of lifting the child by ropes, the workers began sinking a shaft nearby, and at sunrise they removed the tiny body from a spot 38 feet beneath the surface of the ground.

The baby was dead. The neck and one arm had been broken, physicians said, aparently by the ropes.

The Mauldins were cotton pickers and came to this vicinity recently from Merkel.

Joyce Shepard Calm at Last

yond the prison walls learned the doomed man was blind.

Shepard made a confession just before the death march began, admitting the killings, absolving his alleged accomplice, Lloyd Conatser, of blame, and saying he had been feigning insanity.

Shepard told newspaper men that he had climbed on top of his cot, torn a nail loose from the ventilator in the ceiling of his cell, attached a piece of string to the nail to serve as a handle, and scraped a sharp point in the instrument. He then dashed the point into both eyes, blinding himself, he said.

Quotes From Bible

Simmons said that guards had found Shepard writhing on the floor soon afterwards and administered medical attention to him in his cell.

"If the eye offendeth thee, pluck it out," Shepard quoted from the Bible when questioned about tortouring himself. "Also Scripture says: 'It is better for a part of the body to die than to be cast into hell'," he continued.

"Then, too, I wanted to prove that I would not try to escape.

While Shepard, blinded and defiant, prepared to walk "the last mile" to the electric chair tonight, an actor hundreds of miles away on Broadway burlesqued his doom.

Shepard sought peace in religion as the last hour of his life dwindled away. He summoned Father Finnegan to his cell and said he wanted to be administered the rites of the Catholic church.

Asks More Ice Cream

He maintained his calm demeanor and asked for more ice cream and cigars which were furnished.

Occasionally he stood at the bars of his cell shouting defiantly at other prisoners.

"Are you ready to go?" they asked him.

"Boys, I'm not going to have a tear in my eye when I go over," he replied. "I'm ready."

He appeared jovial when newspaper men visited his cell and joked with them. "Excuse me while I finish this ice cream," he said. "I can't wrap it up and take it with me, you know."

Two years ago he was convicted of the murder of Jake Owens, a fisher county deputy sheriff.

He talked and acted rationally tonight, discarding a role that he clung to desperately in an effort to delay his execution.

Once he almost averted it. His mad ravings won him a sanity trial and he was declared insane. Sent to an sylum at Rusk his demeanor changed abruptly. He went about sanely, talked and acted jovially. The warden thereupon ordered him removed and he was returned to prison and death row.

Resumes "Madness"

Again he assumed the appearance of one insane. On the coldest wintry nights he stripped his clothes from his body and lay on the floor moaning and crying. Throughout the months he screamed at intervals "Jones, oh Jones." No significance ever has been attached to this cry.

The same cry is used in Blake's play on Broadway. Tonight that role in the drama will carry a touch of realism.

Blake himself was executed at the same prison several months ago. He was an obscure Texas youth convicted of murder. His play has made his name notorious. It has provided wealth for his aged mother who lives in Amarillo.

Shepard, who inspired the play, outlived the author, although he was the first one doomed.

Official Visits Cell

Lee Simmons, prison manager, visited Shepard in his cell tonight. He was calmer than he has been at any time since his confinement.

"Why have you been doing all of that screaming?" Simmons asked him.

"When a fellow is in a fix like I am he's got to do all he can to help himself," was the reply.

He asked for a dish of ice cream and a cigar which were sent to him.

Asked if he had a request, Shepard replied that he did not, only "he would like to have Father Hugh Finnegan, the prison chaplain beside him when he went over."

He sent a telegram to Viola Smith, at Phoenix, Ariz., late today. He refused to discuss the woman.

Only one visitor has been to see Shepard since he has been confined in death row. The man, whose name was not learned, was a cousin Shepard said. He has been at the prison three times in the last few weeks.

Simmons said Shepard was lying on his back in his cot, staring at the ceiling and refusing to answer questions of fellow inmates.

Man and Daughter Held in Slaying

WHITESBORO, Texas, Oct. 16. (AP)—O. B. Martin, 42, and his daughter, Miss Velta Martin, 19, were released on $250 bond each here today after a preliminary hearing before A. F. Jones, justice of the peace, on charges in connection with the slaying of Jim McMenamy, 48.

McMenamy was found yesterday in the yard of the Martin home mortally wounded and died several hours later. He had been shot in the head with a small rifle.

The families resided on farms about three miles south of here and had been neighbors, their houses being only about 200 yards apart.

Witnesses testified to statements that Miss Martin made to them about McMenamy's conduct toward her. The girl's mother is confined in a Wichita Falls sanitarium, where she has been for several years.

Noise of Breaking Glass Thwarts Burglary Here

An attempt to burglarize the Summers Cigar company, 608 Tenth street, was made late Thursday night when a plate glass was broken from the door.

Police were called by a passerby who found the glass broken and two large bricks laying on the sidewalk by the door. F. D. Summers, proprietor of the place, was unable to find anything missing after a check-up on stock.

The noise of the falling glass, police believe, caused the burglars to abandon their plan.

HOUSTON MAN SHOT TO DEATH

Robbery Motive Seen In Merchant's Slaying

HOUSTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—K. Sandow, Japanese produce man of Houston, was found murdered nine miles from Eagle Lake on the Garwood road late this afternoon, according to advices received by Houston officers. He had been robbed.

The man's hands were bound behind him with a piece of rope. He had been shot through the right temple with a .32 or .38 caliber revolver. Apparently he had been dead since Tuesday.

Sandow's truck, parked on the road about 30 feet from where the body was found on the banks of a small bayou, had been seen at the spot since Tuesday, but it was not until today that officers began investigating after communicating with Houston officers. G. W. Keith, farmer, found the body had been thrown into the stream.

The proprietor of a Houston cafe, operated by Japanese, told police he cashed a check for $50 for Sandow Saturday and was told Sandow was going to San Antonio to buy a load of vegetables and sell them along the road to Houston, a business which he engaged in extensively. The cafe proprietor said Sandow had about $50 additional at the time.

Robbery was indicated from the fact the man's pockets were turned inside out.

Eagle Lake authorities expressed belief that Sandow was forced to leave the Houston-San Antonio road, from which he seldom deviated in his produce peddling trips, by one or more "hitch hikers" whom he had picked up along the road. Officers believe the hitch hikers then slew him for his money after making him drive out the Garwood road from Eagle Lake.

One or more clues were obtained.

$50,000 Held Too Much Bond For Vagrancy Charge

CHICAGO, Oct. 16. (AP)—The "public enemies" of Chicago, so nominated by the Chicago crime commission, sipped a measure of comfort today from a supreme court decision holding $50,000 was prohibitive bond for the detention of James Sammons as a vagrant.

The bond was fixed by Judge John H. Lyle on the theory that "the lower the criminal reputation, the higher the bail."

Sammons' bond was reduced to $5,000. But his relief was not complete, for, as the high court indicated, he may face various charges of driving while intoxicated, assault, carrying concealed weapons and vagrancy in Chicago.

A pure food dinner at the Floral Heights Presbyterian church on Buchanan street will be served Friday night from 6 to 8 o'clock. The price will be 25 cents, with coffee and dessert extra. Come.—Adv.

MADILL, Okla., Oct. 16. (UP)—When W. A. Edgar, 34-year-old Madill resident, failed to return home Tuesday after a week's absence, relatives consulted a Hindu mystic at Ada.

At the seance they were advised the man's body would be found south of Madill.

They returned and searched for the body. Failing to find any trace of Edgar, the relatives invited the magician to aid in the search.

Accompanied by John Richardson, Lee White and Johnny Edgar, brother of the missing man, the Hindu drove to a spot three and one half miles southwest of town and found Edgar's body along the roadside.

He had been murdered. A bullet wound was found in his head. Edgar had been dead several days.

Edgar had been released from jail where he was held on a charge of drunkenness only a few hours before he disapepared. He is survived by three children. He had separated from his wife several weeks ago.

County authorities intimated arrests may be made soon.

CENSUS 'NOTE' SALVES CITIES

State-Line Towns Given Special Concession

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—Census Director William M. Steuart's footnote system of giving cities their place in the sun is increasing its scope as more and more demands are made upon it.

It started with Atlanta, Georgia. When the census director conceded a footnote to the 360,692 "Greater Atlanta" population which he would not accept, many an enterprising chamber of commerce pricked up its ears and exclaimed, "What? A footnote! There's where we might come in!"

The most successful applicants have been state-line cities, divided between the separate covers of two census bulletins, in the strict legal course of population publication.

"Cities are no respectors of state or county boundary lines," sighed the director. "Congressmen from Texas come and want me to put in their state bulletin the Arkansas population of Texarkana. Congressmen from Arkansas come and want me to put in theirs the Texas side. They argue Texarkana is one town with one postoffice, and is entitled to its combined population in comparative lists of cities."

The census director shook his head at the impossibility of counting Texarkana twice in state population publications, since, after all, the whole must be the sum of all its parts.

However, he brightened as he announced he had been able to see his way clear to give Texarkana the following complete coverage in a footnote in both bulletins: "Combined population of Texarkana city, Miller county, Arkansas, and Texarkana city, Bowie county, Texas: 27,385 in 1930; 19,737 in 1920; 15,445 in 1910; 10,170 in 1900; 6,380 in 1890; and 3,223 in 1880."

The Texas side this year numbered 16,601, the Arkansas side 10,764. Another request number in the Arkansas bulletin was Junction City, footnoted as combined 1,202, though 388 of the inhabitants were over in Louisiana.

Among others granted bigger and better census showings by the footnote system are: Texhoma, 1,119 altogether, 819 in Texas county, Oklahoma, and 300 in the state of Texas.

SHAMROCK, Texas, Oct. 16.—Tom C. Johnson, former Wheeler deputy sheriff and one-time peace officer in Wichita county, charged with murder in connection with the death of George Brooks here Saturday, has been released under a $5,000 bond.

Brooks was shot to death in a local cafe.

Green Spurs Miners To Conclude Peace Pact

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 16. (AP)—Peace overtures of the faction of the United Mine Workers of America that has broken away from the control of International President John L. Lewis have been spurred by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, Lewis' headquarters announced today.

In a letter addressed to John H. Walker, secretary-treasurer of the reorganized mine union, addressed from the Boston convention of the federation, Green said the only way in which Illinois miners and others who aided in reorganizing the union could regain affiliation with the American Federation of Labor was to reunite with the Lewis organization.

Sunset Peanut Acreage Produces Big Yield

SUNSET, Texas, Oct. 16.—The grade of the peanut crop here this year is much better than last year's crop, and the yield is better, but the acreage is only about one-fourth as much as that of last year. The average yield will be near 20 bushels of nuts and a half a ton of hay per acre.

J. A. Boykin, of this vicinity, harvested 800 bushels of nuts and 800 bales of hay from a 45-acre peanut crop. He is getting $20 a ton for the hay.

Oklahoma Pastors Learn to Smile At the Whims of Eloping Texans

Special to The Record News

WAURIKA, Okla., Oct. 16.—When Texas passed the marriage laws, there was some discussion in Oklahoma about the value of it, but few thought of the effects it would have on number of licenses issued in the counties bordering on Red river.

In the first year more than twice the number of licenses were issued in Jefferson county than in the year previous. Local ministers no longer are surprised to be called out of bed at any time during the night to marry a couple from Texas.

They come to Waurika from beyond Fort Worth and Dallas, driving here after work and planning to get back to work the next morning.

Fifty Cent Wedding

Perhaps it is because they are not known by the minister or perhaps it is because of the expenses of getting here that make for some of the amusing incidents that most any of the Waurika ministers can relate.

As the last "amen" was pronounced by a local minister at a wedding of a middle-aged couple, the bridegroom spoke up, "Well, how much do I owe you, preacher? If it is more than 50 cents I'll have to come back in the morning and work it out."

One young couple who had eloped asked the minister to call the girl's parents after the ceremony and tell them of the wedding. He complied and when he was asked how much the call cost, answered 45 cents. The bridegroom took a dollar from his pocket and requested the minister to just keep the change.

Missing Check

Another young man who professed to be a prosperous merchant from Dallas told the minister that he had car trouble and had spent all of his money but would send a check the following day. The check has never come.

Most of the time the fees or lack of them are not mentioned until after the ceremony but one bridegroom walked up on the porch of a local minister and in answer to his ring greeted him: "We want to get married, but we have no money. Will you marry us?"

One of the most amusing incidents was the wedding of an elderly couple. As the minister read the words "It is not good for man to live alone," the elderly bride spoke up, "That's right!"

Waurika Stages Charity Drive

Special to The Record News

WAURIKA, Okla., Oct. 16.—A drive is being staged here this week for old clothes to be distributed this winter by the United Charities.

The Business and Professional Women's club volunteered their services in collecting the clothing and were put in charge of the drive.

A number of organizations have offered their services in mending, cleaning and working over the garments.

Last year was the first year that Waurika has had an active United Charities. The drive for funds provided an ample amount to care for the local poor throughout the year. With the continued drouth this year, as well as the unemployment problem, more calls are anticipated for this winter so plans are being made early to care for them.

OLNEY GETS CITY SERVICE

Mail Delivery Standard Is Raised

Special to The Record News

OLNEY, Texas, Oct. 16.—Announcement was received here today from the United States postoffice department that Olney would have city delivery instead of village delivery mail service.

This change means an enlargement of territory served by free delivery in the past and the employment of an additional man to handle parcel post deliveries in the city.

This increased service was granted because of a constantly increasing volume of business, which is amounting to 50 per cent above the volume last year, and additional paved streets and sidewalks, according to Ms. Sam Casey, postmistress.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

(Copyright 1930, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

EXPECTING A PERFECT DIGESTION

There is a type of patient who never eats a meal without expecting unpleasant results. To this kind of patient I would advise something like this: Before you eat, chose your meal carefully, putting in all the thought you wish on the combinations and foods you are to have, but once you begin to eat, concentrate on enjoying your meal, and once the meal is eaten, forget it.

The one who has suffered from digestive disturbances usually has a vivid recollection of many unhappy hours, and there is no denying the fact that even though the best foods are used in the right way, yet, the unconscious expectancy of trouble is so definitely impressed upon the memory that there will be set up a tendency to look for disturbing symptoms which will prevent the enjoyment of normal digestion until this habit is overcome.

If you follow the dietetic instructions given in these health articles you will no doubt feel that good results have been obtained but complete results will not have been achieved until you learn to expect digestion and vigorous health as a matter of course.

Especially would I urge you to help yourself in every way by cultivating the habit of loking for improvement in every direction day by day.

As you go to the table, cast aside every distressing thought and proceed to concentrate upon the taste and flavor of the food before you. Talk about how good you feel and how well everyone at the table looks. Try this tonight when you get home or begin it at breakfast.

Do not make the mistake of trying to use the will as an aid to digestion, but rather put into operation the powers of desire and expectancy, as these will be found to be much more powerful elements in bringing about the object that you are trying to accomplish.

After you have partaken of what you honestly consider a wholesome repast, do not proceed to look for trouble, but expect your digestive process to be without symptoms. Forget you have eaten.

When a human being has just shared a satisfactory, attractive dinner, he should arise from the table feeling replete and at peace with the world, particularly with his own stomach.

Give your mind to any thoughts of a constructive nature which please you.

No doubt, when you have become sufficiently improved in health you will have then unconsciously developed that faith which will add the best mental treatment possible, and such a combination can rarely fail to lead you to the perfect health to which you are entitled.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Appendicitis

Question—Mrs. O. L. asks: "Will you kindly explain the ice treatment for threatened appendicitis?"

Answer—I do not recommend the ice treatment in a case of threatened appendicitis. When ice is applied over the appendix, it only serves to congest the circulation of blood and lymph, and tends to localize any pus. It is wiser to use hot applications over the entire abdomen, which increase the circulation and encourage absorption of any pus pocket which might be forming. The ice treatment is good as a preparation for surgery, but if an operation is to be avoided the hot applications are the proper treatment.

Saccharin

Question—H. C. writes: "My mother has diabetes, and I would like to know something about saccharin, the substitute for sugar in such cases. She has been told to abstain from sugar, and from all fruit and vegetables containing sugar or starch."

Answer—Saccharin is often recommended to be used as a substitute for sugar, although it has no food value. It is one of the coal tar products and its continued use is unquestionably injurious. Practically all fruits may be used by the diabetic, as the fruit sugar alone is not sufficient to produce trouble as long as other sugar is not used. There are very few vegetables which are starchy. Potatoes contain from 14 per cent to 20 per cent and Hubbard squash as high as 15 per cent. Most of the starch we use cames from the cereal foods and everything made of white flour.

Waterbrash

Question—Mrs. I. N. asks: "Is waterbrash a kind of indigestion? What will stop it? It bothers me especially through the night."

Answer—Waterbrash usually comes from overeating or using liquid with your meals. Try cutting down on the amount of food you are using at dinner, and do not use any liquids at all after 3 p. m.

Ned Record Ill

Word comes that Ned C. Record, sports editor of the Fort Worth Record-Telegram, was operated on for appendicitis Wednesday night. Those of us personally acquainted with Ned, and readers of his stuff in The Star and Record Telegram join in wishing him a speedy recovery. Ned was at our side throughout the late lamented playoff, both here and at Fort Worth, and there couldn't be a better fellow to work with. In fact we have only one thing against Ned, and that is the memory of the calm, satisfied look he gave us after them drated Cats had won the pennant.

Rests Between Drafts

A checkup of the records in Guy Airey's office reveals that the Spudders were not included in the draft this year for the first time in four years, the longest a Spudder club has ever gone without assenting to demands of big leaguers for Spudder talent.

The last time the club failed to receive a request was in 1926. In the 10 years the club has been organized, a player has not been drafted in but four years. Every other year, a Spudder was called on to visit, either temporarily or permanently, the big show.

Last year it was Andy Messenger, drafted by the Cards. In 1928 it was Mike Cvengros, drafted by the Cubs. In 1927 the White Sox drafted Shortstop Johnny Mann.

The other three Spudders drafted were Bobby Jonnard, catcher, by the Phillies in 1925; the late Hal Carlson, pitcher, by the Phillies in 1923; and Infielder Danny Clark, by Detroit in 1921, the second year of the club.

Cats Win Dispute

Advices from Fort Worth state the Cats have won their argument with the Waco Cubs in relation to Pitcher Hank Thormahlen. Though no official notice to that effect has been carried on the wires from up East, the Fort Worth papers said it has already been decided by the national board of arbitration, in favor of the Cats.

Meaning, specifically, that the Cubs have been ordered to return to Fort Worth the sum paid down for Thormahlen, reputed to be $5,000, and that the remainder of the indebtedness—also reputed to be $5,000—has been canceled.

The Cats, you remember, claimed Thormahlen was in no physical shape to pitch when delivered by the Cubs. The Cats at the time paid the first installment of $5,000, but later declined to pay the remainder of the debt. And now, under the ruling of the board, they won't have to, and will get their first payment back. The Cats claimed Thormahlen had been injured at Brenham when trying to separate a baseball player and a civilian who had been fighting, the hurler receiving a blow on the head.

Thormahlen is regarded as a pretty fair pitcher, but hardly anything more. His first start against the Spudders after he had been purchased by the Cats saw him bounced high, wide and handsome by Spudder bats.

More Gossip

Did you know that the Mobile franchise in the Southern association had been transferred to Knoxville, Tenn?

If you didn't know it, it isn't any fault of yours. The other day that story came in, and we couldn't find room to print it. So here it is.

I don't guess there need be any explanation for the change.

Cameron Aggies Meet Eastern Junior Eleven

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., Oct. 16.—Coach Penn O. Dickson has placed an order for fair weather for this weekend, that his 168-pound aggregation may be on an equal footing with the "powerhouse" crew from Eastern Junior college of Wilburton who comtest the Cameron Aggies here Saturday.

Red Weissinger is bringing to Lawton a Miner machine which boasts both beef and speed, and which gave the 1929 champions one of their toughest battles.

The Cameron Aggies have been working on the defensive end of the game and will make an effort to defy Eastern Junior college, their first conference opponent, in her attempt to follow the precedent established in the first two Cameron games. In these games both Cameron rivals succeeded in twice crossing the goal line; the score of the Aggie-Texas Tech game being 24-14, and the Aggie-Wayland game being 25-13.

The absence of injuries in the Cameron squad will allow the "smooth running machine," as it was depicted by Capt. "Biff" Jones, who officiated in the Wayland game, to use the starting lineup of a week ago.

Stamford Plays First Conference Game Today

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, Oct. 16.—Stamford Bulldogs will go into the first conference game of the season here Friday when they meet the Merkel team in what promises to be a hard fought battle.

Last year Stamford's first conference game was played against Merkel with a decision of 6-0 favoring the visitors, so the Bulldogs are anxious to carry off the honors in the present game. In practice games played this season Stamford has made a good showing with two victories, one scoreless tie, and one defeat.

Negro Star May Be Out Of Grid Game Today

Recent developments in the Leopard camp indicate that Sutton Payne, first string center, will be out of the Washington-Fort Worth B-Y game Friday on account of an injury received in the Dallas game last week. Tom Bass, center for the second squad will replace Payne at center, and from all indication in the practices, will take care of the position in a satisfactory way. The entire first string backfield, including Barrett, the new flash from Ardmore, is intact and ready to go.

OLNEY INVADES BURKBURNETT

Lubbock-Electra Game Is District I Feature

By FRED THOMPSON

While the loop-leading Chillicothe Eagles take a rest from conference warfare today, six other teams wrangling for recognition in class B, district No. 3 will stage a series of entertaining battles as a curtain raiser to week-end football skirmishes. After the curtain raiser comes the various gridiron duels in district No. 1, and between the two an array of football encounters soothing to even the most particular should result.

Fairview Forfeits

Chillicothe, boasting three straight conference victories with Megargel, Burkburnett and Henrietta as its victims, added a fourth victory to its string the other day when Fairview informed Eagle officials it would forfeit today's game, scheduled to have been played at Chillicothe. Fairview elected to play the Iowa Park Hawks instead, in a practice game. The conference games that will be played Friday include Olney at Burkburnett; Seymour at Megargel, and Archer City at Henrietta.

Turning to district No. 1 matches of Saturday, the main attraction promises to be the efforts of the > Thursday is getting to be a traditional day of zealous work for the Coyotes. Coach Barry Holton drilled his main-stringers unmercifully yesterday, in preparation for the Quanah Indians. Everybody was on hand, including Harland Ray, backfield ace who has been absent the past two days. A light workout today will round the boys in shape for Saturday's invasion of Quanah, the coach said.

Wichita Falls, Plainview and Quanah teams to squirm out of the cellar. Certainly the league-leading Amarillo Sandies will not offer anything unusual in trouncing Plainview, and a trouncing is exactly what Plainview is certain to get. That would leave the Coyotes and the Quanah Indians remaining in the hunt for higher altitudes in the percentage column, and which one it will be to come across and boast a victory will be announced about 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

The other district No. 1 match finds Lubbock pitted against Electra. This game may offer the thrill of watching the valiant Tigers fight but the score of this game is also certain to lean heavily to one side—in favor of the Westerners. The little Tigers, though, may be regarded as certain to put up a whale of a scrap, and it wouldn't be going too far to say that the Electra-Lubbock game will offer one of the most attractive spectacles to fans.

Scrap at Quanah

At the first of the season, a game between the Coyotes and the Quanah Indians would simply have called for a yawn, for the Coyotes were rated fairly high, but after dropping last week's encounter to Electra, their skirmish with Quanah Saturday will provide a scrap of no mean proportions. Quanah has lost to Childress, Amarillo and Vernon, in order, and faces the task of presenting a better front to the world. The Coyotes, beaten by Lubbock and Electra, face the same task. The Indians will have the advantage of two weeks' rest over the Coyotes, the Indians' practice game with Slaton last week having been called off.

Vernon, Childress and Pampa are not scheduled in conference games this week. Vernon will play Grandfield, Okla., in a practice game at Vernon Friday.

Today may mark the end of the four-way tie for first place in class B, with Seymour and Archer City being the ones standing a chance of being ousted. Chillicothe, as stated, will remain on top by virtue of Fairview's forfeit. Olney, pitted against the Burkburnett team, is a certainty to stay up there. But Seymour and Archer City are going to have to fight for the honor.

Seymour is pitted against Megargel. The latter team showed up well last week in defeating Burkburnett, 7 to 0, the victory providing the only upset in last week's B conference games. Showing evidences of added strength after every game, the team will be fighting hard Friday to maintain this reputation. It has been the only team to hold the rampaging Chillicothe Eagles to two touchdowns, the Eagles downing other foes by impressive scores. Seymour, meanwhile, in its first conference game last Friday, defeated Fairview, 12 to 0, while other teams have run up top-heavy scores against the lads from Thrift. So Seymour had better watch out.

Henrietta will have to do some fast stepping to oust Archer City from the first division, but the records indicate that it can be done. In its first conference game last Friday, the Archer City team whipped Fairview, 26 to 0, a task not superhuman in the least. Henrietta has won only one game, that from Megargel on first downs, and it has dropped games to Burkburnett and Chillicothe, nevertheless, the team has exhibited rare fighting qualities, and Coach Gillette is confident his outfit can make life miserable for the Archer county boys.

While the races are going on in these two districts, scores of other high school football teams in neighboring divisions will be carrying on. The list of scheduled games, in addition to those already mentioned, includes:

Bowie at Bellevue.
Benger at Alvord.
Olustee, Okla., at Eldorado, Okla.
McClean at Estelline.
Memphis at Turkey.
Frederick, Okla., at Hobart, Okla.
Merkel at Stamford.

Zundy Whips Vernon, 6-0, In Last Two Minutes Of Play

BURGAMY GETS ONLY SCORE

Tilt Opens New Loop; Reagan Plays Denton Today

VERNON, Texas, Oct. 16.—A freak play followed by a three-yard line plunge by Burgamy, Zundelowitz half back, two minutes before the end of the game, gave the Zundy eleven a 6-0 victory over the Vernon Junior high school Cubs here Thursday. With less than two minutes to play, Burgamy passed to Bratton who fumbled the ball bouncing to two Vernon players who in turn fumbled it. Then Captain Johnson, Zundelowitz guard, captured the pigskin before it touched the ground, giving the visiting eleven the ball on Vernon's three-yard line. Burgamy, who was the outstanding offensive star of the Zundelowitz team throughout the game, hit the center of the line for a touchdown, giving the Wichita Falls eleven the opening conference game of the year in the newly organized Northwest Texas Junior High shool conference.

Hard Fought Game

The game was hard fought throughout with the Vernon team registering the most first downs by one and slightly outplaying the visiting gridmen. The Cubs, led by their ace fullback, Kenny Bowden, started two sustained marches, both ending on the 20-yard line. The gun at the end of the first half stopped the first Vernon drive after Bowden, Grogan and Brown had marched down the field for 20 yards Captain's Bowden's own fumble, after he had almost single handed carried the ball to Zundelowitz 20-yard marker stopped the second Vernon drive.

Zundelowitz carried the ball to the Cubs 10-yard line late in the initial period, but the Vernon line stiffened and held, and Zundelowitz lost its only real scoring chance of the contest until the fourth quarter. Early in the fourth quarter when both teams flung passes recklessly, the Wichita Falls team completed two passes of over 20 yards each in three plays but were not close enough to the Cub goal to threaten seriously.

Runs 40 Yards

Bodwen's 40-yard sprint around right end in the fourth quarter was the outstanding running feat of the game. Burgamy saved a Vernon touchdown by momentarily stopping the Cub back after Bowden had outdistanced all other pursuers. In the same period, Hines intercepted Brown's toss and ran 38 yards before he was stopped.

The starting lineups:

REAGAN PLAYS DENTON JUNIOR HIGH TODAY

With the weather all in their favor, provided it doesn't rain, Coach A. D. Beck's warriors will depart this morning at 7 o'clock for Denton, where they will meet the Denton Junior high school eleven in the second game of the new Texas Junior high school conference. It will be Reagan's first venture into conference football, and the team enters its first big fray confident of victory. The team will go in cars, accompanied by scores of rooters.

The first game in the new conference was played Thursday, when Coach Roy Golden's Zundelowitz eleven met Vernon at Vernon.

CUBS SHOW SIGNS OF OVER-CONFIDENCE

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Texas, Oct. 16.—Spurred to extra effort by reports that the teams of district three are determined to dethrone them in the next six weeks of play, Coach Acker's champion Cubs got down to hard work this week in quest of their second conference victory at Burkburnett Friday.

The team's performance against Stamford last week lacked the consistency shown in previous games. Pass receivers muffed numerous heaves that should have counted for large gains.

The brilliant play of R. J. Duckworth at halfback post was the encouraging feature of the Cub offense Friday and little complaint can be made over the defense, but Coach Acker is guarding against the coach's nemesis, over-confidence, which seems to have crept into the Cub camp.

With George Gilmore playing an improved game in the line, some shifts are likely to be made for this week's tilt at Burkburnett.

INJURIES SLOW UP HENRIETTA TEAM

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, Texas, Oct. 16.—The Henrietta football team meets Archer City at Henrietta Friday. This promises to be a hard fought game as the teams are evenly matched.

Henrietta has several of their men out on account of injuries and it will be a crippled team that goes on the field to play Archer City. Despite these injuries, however, the Henrietta boys have lots of pep and are confident that they will win.

BEARCATS READY FOR VERNON INVASION

Special to The Record News.

GRANDFIELD, Okla., Oct. 16.—Grandfield Bearcats are in the best of shape for the Vernon game Friday although their scheduled practice has been delayed to some extent by heavy rains. The local band, students, girls' pep club and scores of fans will accompany the team to Vernon.

Sandies, With Fresh Memories of Win Over Pampa, Meet Plainview Saturday

Special to The Record News

AMARILLO, Texas, Oct. 16.—Still on top of the heap in district No. 1, the Amarillo Sandies Saturday tangle with the Plainview eleven here in a game regarded as hardly less than a set-up for last year's league champions.

The educated toe of Odell Fowler, crafty pilot of the Sandstorm, turned back the threat of Pampa, conquerors of Lubbock, last Saturday in a game played in the proverbial sea of mud and with a downpour falling during most of the contest. Playing strictly a kicking game, the Sandies managed to keep the Harvesters deep in their own territory much of the time, and the break came when Don Saulsbury, the big Harvester captain, was tackled behind his own goal line for a safety. That happened in the first quarter, and from that time on, the Sandies played defensive football, the final score being 2 to 0.

Boast Star Punter

Fowler's cool thinking and expert punting was demonstrated in the first few minutes of the game when the Harvesters, having marched down the field to the Amarillo eight-yard line, fumbled and the Sandies recovered. Fowler dropped back to punt from behind his own goal line. The rain was pouring down. The ball was soggy, and the pass from center dribbled along the ground. Fowler scooped it up and coolly kicked it 60 yards down the field. Pampa failed to threaten seriously again.

Although the Sandies have Pampa behind them, Lubbock is to come, and they must hurdle this obstacle before they can claim the title. At the outset of the season, the Westerners were touted as the probable titlists in the district. But Pampa arrived at Lubbock one sunny afternoon, and when the sun set over Tech ffield the Harvesters were on the heavy end of a 12 to 9 count. It was the first game for both teams.

Has Powerful Team

Lubbock unquestionably has a clever, powerful team—one that should give Amarillo no end of trouble. The Westerners' one chance to remain in the running is to defeat the Sandies, and Pampa also is pulling for a Lubbock victory. Granting that Pampa, Lubbock and Amarillo win their remaining games, a victory of Lubbock over Amarillo on Nov. 1, would result in a triple tie for first place.

At present, Electra is second in the percentage column. The Tigers have played only one game and came out on top. They beat the Wichita Falls Coyotes last week, 6 to 0, and virtually eliminated Barry Holton's crew from the race. The Tigers still are to be counted in the running, although their showing in pre-conference games hardly rates them with Amarillo, Lubbock or Pampa.

Lubbock, with a 21 to 0 victory over Childress last week, is in third place, with two games won and one lost.

Lions, Lubbock Tied

The Vernon Lions are tied with Lubbock, having won two games and lost one. They beat Plainview last week, 38 to 13. However, the Wilbarger county lads have not yet clashed with any of the three prospective leaders of the circuit.

Childress has played four games, and has won two and lost two. Then comes Pampa, having already met their two strongest opponents in the district, with a one game won and one lost percentage. The Harvesters are expected to win their remaining games without too much trouble.

Froggy Lovvorn's Plainview Bulldogs have played only one game, last week's contest with Vernon, and came out on the short end of the score. Then comes Wichita Falls, with defeats at the hands of Lubbock and Electra, and no victories. The Quanah Indians are at the bottom with three losses and no victories.

HARVESTERS TAKE REST THIS WEEK

Special to The Record News.

PAMPA, Texas, Oct. 16.—Coach Odus Mitchell of the Pampa team is giving his Harvesters a rest he believes they earned in playing six games in as many weeks.

The open date this week gave the huskies a chance to forget football for a few days and to concentrate on their studies. The next practice will be held Friday. Plainview, the next opponent, will play here Oct. 25.

Players All Okay

The Harvesters came out of the Amarillo game, which they lost 2-0 in a sea of mud, with no serious injuries. Ralph Poe went out of action on account of a knee injury, but he is improving daily and will be able to start the Plainview tilt.

It is safe to assume that the Pampa team will have some concentrated training in mud manipulation in the near future. Though roundly outplaying their opponents backfield, including Barrett, the still lacked the punting and punch to strike through to the goal. They fell short a few yards when fumbles cost them possession of the ball, then Fowler of the Sandies would get away 60-yard boots.

On a dry field it has been difficult for any opposition to solve their reverse bucks and triple pass formations, but these went to pieces in the mire. The passing attack held under cover for the occasion likewise proved impotent. Captain Don Saulsbury does practically as well in the mud as on dry turf, but the rest of the Four Horsemen—Martindale, Lard, and Chastain, are antelopes only with good footing. The uniforms, shoes, and hose weighed an average of 50 pounds after being caked with the mud of Butler field.

The Harvesters still hope for a mathematical tie which would result from a Lubbock victory over the Sandies Nov. 1. The locals would go into the play-off on the Pampa field, and with good weather they feel capable of winning over either Amarillo or Lubbock.

Harvester backs have run up a total of 229 points this season to 33 for their opponents. The games and results:

Pampa 19, Spur 14.
Pampa 53, Perryton 0.
Pampa 73, Hollis 0.
Pampa 12, Lubbock 9.
Pampa 72, Canyon 7.
Pampa 0, Amarillo 2.

Most of the above scores of opponents were made while Pampa reserves were on the field.

Razorbacks Cast Off Nervousness As Winter Sweeps O'er the Ozarks

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 16. (AP)—A sudden cold wave over the Ozark region buoyed the spirits of the Arkansas Razorbacks as they went through the final scrimmage in preparation for Rice university here Saturday. For the first time this season the Porkers went through a brisk workout with their apparent nervousness gone.

Holmes, veteran quarterback, who has been on the injured list, was in uniform, but Coach Fred Thomsen would not say if he will be in the starting lineup.

AGGIES GET READY FOR TOUGH BATTLE

Special to The Record News

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Oct. 16.—Having sustained defeat at the hands of pennant holding teams from two other conferences so far this season, the Texas Aggies will take on Saturday what is expected to be one of the toughest assignments of the year in their own conference when they face the Horned Frogs from Texas Christian university on Kyle field. There is no illusion about what will be required for a win over the Frogs, Southwest champions of last year and victors last Saturday over the Arkansas Razorbacks, 40 to 0. "It's going to be a tough game against a powerful team," Matty Bell, Aggie mentor, commented. And that seems to be the general opinion.

SET-UPS LOOM FOR 'BIG FOUR'

Oil Belt Leaders Face Easy Week

Special to The Record News

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Oct. 6.—The Oil Belt's perennial "Big Four"—Ranger, Cisco, Abilene and Breckenridge—are again out in front in the annual district 3 grid race. At least three of the "Big Four" are stronger than they were last year, while Breckenridge, 1929 state co-champions and easy district winners, are regarded as slightly weaker than they were the past season, although the Buckaroos have not yet faced strong enough opposition to actually determine their 1930 strength.

Each of the four leading clubs have won two games to date. All have more or less set-up affairs this week-end but hit real test snags in games of the next week-end. This week Ranger meets Sweetwater at the latter place; Eastland comes to Breckenridge; Abilene goes to Brownwood and Cisco entertains Big Spring in a night game. In the other lone district contest, Mineral Wells plays San Angelo a visit.

Two of the "Big Four" are doomed to drop out of the race on Oct. 24 or 25. The feature game of next week's exciting card will probably be the Cisco-Breckenridge tilt in this city. Ranger and Abilene play the following day. Grid dopesters are predicting victories for Ranger and Cisco, with these two powerful elevens scheduled to decide the district championship on Nov. 11.

Games of the past week-end were almost featureless except for the decisive victory gained by Ranger over the San Angelo Bobcats. Dan McCarty, flashy Ranger quarterback and captain led his teammates to an impressive victory by scoring four touchdowns and kicking one goal himself. Ranger won, 32 to 6.

Breckenridge defeated the Big Spring Steers last week, Mineral Wells routed Brownwood; Eastland and Sweetwater played a scoreless tie while Abilene and Cisco took easy non-district victories.

Glenna Collett Survives Quarter Final Round

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16. (UP)—Glenna Collett of New York, survived the quarter final round in defense of her women's national amateur golf title here today, but only after Miss Peggy Wattles, her young Buffalo, N. Y., opponent, had forced her to 17 holes.

The match ended on the 17th green with a 2 and 1 victory for Miss Collett.

The quarter final round today saw the end of the coast's last chance to win the title when its two survivors, Mrs. Roy Green and Mrs. Leona Pressler were defeated.

Miss Collett will play Helen Hicks, another New Yorker, in the semi-finals tomorrow. Miss Hicks eliminated Mrs. Pressler of San Gabriel, California state champion, 2 and 1.

In the upper bracket tomorrow, Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, will play Virginia Van Wie, Chicago.

Mrs. Hill defeated Maureen Orcutt of Englewood, N. J., 3 and 2, and Miss Van Wie made short work of Mrs. Roy Green of Los Angeles.

Cotton products were quoted at the following spot prices in Wichita county Thursday:

	Cotton, middling 7/8-inch staple Per pound	Cottonseed Per ton
Wichita Falls	8.90 cents	$26.00

and local selling which was promoted by the easier showing of grain and stocks. New December contracts sold off to 10.32 and closed at that figure, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 12 to 18 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 4 points to a decline of 3 points. Liverpool cables were just about as due on the New York close of yesterday, but there was some buying early which appeared to be encouraged by reports of some increase in the South Carolina mill activity and an official forecast for probable frost in Northwest Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

Some further trade buying was reported here during the day and reports that a few cotton mills in the Greenville section were planning to increase their working time from three to four days per week, were said to be a contributing factor on the early steadiness. Such bullish features as were in evidence, however, evidently failed to stimulate any general or aggressive buying and this seemed to render the market more sensitive to the influence of the easier ruling in grain and stocks.

Liverpool cables said that hedging in that market had been absorbed by trade calling and continental buying and reported improved sales of cotton cloths for the British home trade and India. Port receipts today 55,901. U. S. port stocks 3,155,630. Exports today 68,003, making 1,732,897 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 16. (AP)—The cotton market was comparatively quiet today and prices developed no definite trend until in the late trading when they turned easy with lower stocks and grain and some hedge selling. After an irregular opening prices rallied slightly owing to favorable cables and a forecast for frost in the Northwest belt, gaining 6 to 7 points. Later prices eased off 7 to 8 points on realizing and declined rather sharply in the late trading, losing 20 points from the highs. The close was steady practically at the bottom, showing net declines for the day of 13 to 15 points.

Liverpool came in 1 to 2 points better than due and first trades here were 3 points up to two down. Cables reported that local traders and the continent were buying. This sort of foreign advice and a forecast for frost in the Northwest caused buying which carried December up to 10.54 and March to 10.86, up 6 to 7 points from the opening figures.

Later trading became very narrow and prices gradually eased off on moderate selling and realizing. December eased off to 10.46 and March to 10.79, or 7 to 8 points down from the highs. After fluctuating narrowly for most of the afternoon prices weakened in late trading, with stocks and grain and made new lows at 10.34 for December, 10.46 for January and 10.68 for March, down 20 points from the highs and closed at the bottom showing net losses on these active months of 13 points.

Port receipts 53,037, for week 332,236, for season 3,467,061, last season 3,085,054. Exports 63,003, for week 213,977, for season 1,694,597, last season 1,401,295. Port stocks 3,161,126, last year 1,863,168. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 139,439, last year 160,233. Spot sales at southern markets, 40,327, last year 71,858.

Futures closed steady at net declines of 13 to 15 points:

Stock Transactions Fall Below 2,000,000-Share Level; Prices Firm

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 16. (US)—The stock market today contracted further, from the volume standpoint, transactions falling below the 2,000,000-share total. Prices generally were under quiet pressure which was offset only to moderate degree by strength in a few issues responding to specific influences unrelated to the general market. From the opening it was evident that the price tendency was toward lower levels.

Only modest demand appeared on fractional setbacks in the great majority of issues, although the demand was sufficiently persistent to offset any sharp setbacks. General Motors and General Electric proved the disturbing features of the day by their weakness.

The commodities furnished less cheer than on recent sessions, but news from abroad was somewhat more favorable, particularly with respect to Germany, with the strength in German bonds considered significant.

Warner Bros. Pictures provided the outstanding strong spot of the market, achieving a 3½-point net gain despite unsettlement elsewhere in the list. Its sudden strength was attributed to a variety of causes, with a new pool mentioned as sponsoring the stock. It is very likely that its upswing represents as much as any other factor the lifting of bear pressure, in view of the stock's substantial decline from its high prices earlier in the year. Gillette Safety Razor was another exception to the weakness, spurting five points on consummation of the deal with Auto-Strop. The bears in this stock had also achieved their objective.

The main body of the market evidently was reflecting absence of an extended short position, despite the attempts to emphasize this factor as exceedingly important. As a matter of fact, the speculative element in the market is becoming convinced that the intense underground activity against "bear-raiding" has hardly strengthened the technical position of the market. The premiums on leading stocks remained in effect, but the market is accepting this as merely a reflection of the campaign against short selling, rather than an actual huge demand for borrowing purposes.

As already disclosed here, many of the former most aggressive bear operators have temporarily suspended all activities in the market, pending further disclosures in the campaign against bears. The setback in such stocks as Westinghouse Electric, Steel Common, American Can and others, while not unduly severe were a reflection in large part of only modest accounts in these issues.

Weakness in General Electric, however, which declined over three points could hardly be attributed entirely to bear-raiding, and there was a disposition to belief that more important selling was taking place. Some of this liquidation may be forced selling, due to impairment of speculative accounts, but the lack of aggressive demand for these premier industrial stocks is explained by the relatively low yield and the high selling ratio to per-share earnings, factors repeatedly emphasized here when the stock was at much higher prices. The General Motors selling was a combination of outright liquidation and concentrated bear pressure, the latter induced by discouraging reports of fourth quarter earnings prospects.

Practically all the leading issues in all groups lost ground. The market is in a most confusing area for day-to-day traders who are generally bearish but have full regard for the influences being exerted against concerted short selling.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Oct. 16. (AP)—Wheat sank on the cash grain market today following the late decline in contract values on the big markets. Other grains were affected more or less; but demand was reported fair at the market's close. Mill bids of 86½c@87c for No. 1 hard wheat delivered Texas common points were getting some grain. Other trading was light but fairly steady.

Estimated receipts—Wheat, 13 cars; corn, 4; oats, 1; barley, 1, and sorghums 4.

Bids and offers on other grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed $92@93c; No. 2 white 94@95c; No. 2 yellow 95@96c.

Oats—No. 2 red 50@52c, according to desirability for seed. No. 3 white delivered Texas group 1 points 45½@46c, to which add 1 cent for delivery Texas group three.

Barley—No. 2, 66@67c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds, nominally $1.65@1.70. No. 2 kaffir $1.40@1.43.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 16. (AP)—Big shipments of wheat, the largest yet announced this season, led to sudden downturns in wheat values today, despite an earlier upward trend. Russian wheat exports for the week were 4,616,000 bushels and there were advices today that 6,500,000 bushels of Russian wheat were now afloat unsold, with 37,000,000 bushels more wheat ready to clear from Russia in the next seven weeks. Sharp breaks in corn prices today resulted largely from undoing of spread trades between corn and wheat, with consequent heavy selling of corn future deliveries.

Closing quotations on wheat were weak, 1¼-1⅞c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1⅞-2⅝c down, oats ¼-⅜c off, and provisions varying from 30c decline to a rise of 37c.

Downturns of prices today for wheat came abruptly after a strong advance with which the market here and at other leading centers had started. The early advance was associated with reports of continued wintry weather in Canada diminishing the rural movement of wheat there, and damaging the quality of millions of bushels that were likely to remain exposed in the fields throughout the winter, with a large percentage promising to be made worthless.

Corn showed independent weakness, influenced a good deal by enlarged arrivals of corn in Chicago and at other leading markets. Primary receipts of corn today amounted to 1,102,000 bushels compared with 331,000 bushels one week back and 541,000 bushels a year ago. Oats sympathized with the downward course of other grains.

For the most part, provisions were lower with grain and hogs, notwithstanding decreased stocks of lard.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, Dec. 75, 78¼; March 79, 82¼; May 80⅝-¾, 84⅛-¼. Corn, Dec. 74⅞-¾, 77⅞; March 74⅞, 79⅛; May 78⅝, 81⅞.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Oct. 16. (US)—Wheat traders were inclined at the close today to look for further influence from action of the corn market. A liquidating period in any one of the markets has a tendency to restrain buying enthusiasm in all other pits.

The free offerings of Argentine new wheat reported in cables is not suggestive of unfavorable crop conditions in that country.

It was not very clear why a very greatly increased run of corn was to be expected as many traders were suggesting, unless it is because the time of the month for usual heavy first arrivals is here. However, country offerings were being held substantially above the market and it is pointed out that this year the movement has been unusually early.

While wheat buying at no time after the reaction set in appeared to be aggressive, pit observers said that the scale down buying orders being executed by houses with eastern connections were still in evidence in the market.

No Secret Here

A simple explanation of great success

A well known author is writing a story about A&P. "What," he has asked repeatedly, "is the secret of A&P's success? Why is it the largest grocer in the world?"

At first he was disappointed and puzzled. For he found no secret, no key to success. He had expected to solve a mystery, to discover a magic formula. He found, simply, an organization of wide-awake men hard at work.

After a few weeks' study, he has forgotten all about secrets of success, and he is no longer puzzled. But he is amazed at how much can be accomplished when great numbers of men work together with a common purpose. His will not be a new story. Real success comes only to those who believe in what they're doing—and do it.

All A&P men believe that good food should be sold at low prices—and you'd be surprised to know how simple it is when they all work together.

POWER STUDIED AT FREDERICK

Council Weighs Competing Proposals

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Oct. 16.—Several propositons are now being considered by Mayor J. J. Rogers and members of the city council regarding the light and power situation, the latest being an offer of the Fulton Iron works of St. Louis, Mo., to furnish a plant for about $150,000. This proposal did not arrive until Tuesday which did not give the mayor and councilmen time to properly consider the matter by the time of the regular bimonthly meeting night. John Zumwalt, manager of the water and light department, was instructed to study the figures and assemble all the data so this offer can be compared with the other propositions.

A. H. Krause and Grover Hope submitted a proposition to furnish electricity at 3 cents a kilowatt for a period of 20 years at the end of which period the plant is to be turned over to this city gratis.

S. I. McElhoes of Oklahoma City, vice president of the Southwestern Light and Power company, and others connected with that concern were in Frederick the first of the week but when they learned the council was not going to act upon the new contract that night which had been submitted they were not present at the meeting. A rate of 2½ cents a kilowatt for a five-year contract and a 2 cent rate for a 10-year contract was submitted by this company some time ago.

There are some citizens who favor the voting of bonds for the purpose of installing a plant. Others are much opposed to voting bonds for any purpose.

As soon as Zumwalt has been able to assemble all the data regarding the latest proposal Mayor Rogers will probably call a special meeting, said Councilman E. J. Cowen, chairman of the light and water committee, when all the propositions will be considered.

CHEST BOARD PLANS ACTIVITY

Welfare Work to Go On Cash Basis

Rejoicing over the $5,463 surplus in the budget and declaring "that every cent of it will be used to a good advantage," members of the Community Chest held the first meeting since the 1930 financial campaign in the director's rooms of the City National bank building Thursday morning.

The final total was announced as $75,123 which shows a considerable increase over the $69,600 quota.

With the usual shrinkage of the fund due to non-payment of subscriptions, weather conditions and the unemployment situation, the participating agencies will probably operate under difficult conditions, it was announced by representatives of the organization present at the meeting.

"Other chests count on about 2 or 3 per cent shrinkage in their fund each year but we can count on from 10 to 15 per cent shrinkage in our fund due to non-payment," Harry Gray Jr., past president of the chest said. Wichita Falls suffers more from shrinkage than any other city in it's community chest," Mr. Gray pointed out.

Plans were made to place the chest on a cash basis insofar as will be possible for the coming year. Each organization will be given its allotment at the first of each month and will be expected to operate on that amount.

John F. O'Donohoe, the new president, presided at the meeting.

Junior C.-C. To Honor Leaders Of Chest Today

Leaders of the recent community chest drive will be guests of honor at the weekly luncheon of the Junior chamber of commerce at the Kemp hotel Friday noon, according to Wilburn Page, secretary.

Walter Cline, a former president of the community chest, will give the principal speech and will commend the chest workers. Chest leaders who will be present are J. F. O'Donohoe, J. S. Bridwell, Roy B. Jones, M. W. Blair, A. E. Kelly, and Walter Nelson Jr.

A musical program will be furnished by Cleo Grantham and his KGKO orchestra. Several special numbers, including a saxophone solo "Valse Vanite" by John Harrell, a vocal solo by Lorene Tucker, "What Wouldn't I Do for That Man," and a violin solo, "Humoresque," by Mr. Grantham will be included.

"Three Live Ghosts" is a good play and one of those best adapted to the new type of talkie-stage drama. With Claud Allister, Beryl Mercer, Robert Montgomery and Charles McNaughton, it is beautifully presented, and the State theater may well congratulate itself on booking a picture of its type.

Beryl Mercer plays a role which is not all mothery and sobby for once and does it so much better than her mother parts that she will be within sight of Marie Dressler some day. She reaches the peak of her performance in the story of her old admirer who presented her with jewels. "Tike 'em,' sez he," she explains, and Scotland Yard is baffled again.

Claud Allister didn't have much difficulty in looking shell-shocked, but it all goes to prove that somebody knew how to pick out a cast. He is the ideal "Spoofy" and he imbues his role with more reality than he has ever done in any part.

As for that extremely talented young man, Robert Montgomery, he comes third in the list of expert performances. Third in the "Three Live Ghosts" list is better than fifth in the ordinary show, however. Charles McNaughton and Hilda Vaughn turned in such good work in their lesser roles that Mr. Montgomery had to step to get in at third.

If there's anything funnier than Lloyd Hamilton, it's Billy Barty, who plays the part of Hamilton's baby son in "Follow the Swallow," on the same bill as "Three Live Ghosts." And if there's anything funnier and less painful than going to a carnival by oneself, it is going with Hamilton and "Googlums."

There's a Rin-Tin-Tin short feature and a Graham McNamee newsreel, which complete a better-than-average program for the State.

Property Tax to Yield $716,403

The final recapitulation of the city tax roll which was completed Thursday shows a valuation for the year 1930 of $51,171,690, according to W. Ralph Hyer, city tax collector.

The total figure embraces $14,451,580 worth of ground values and $23,549,330 for improvement values which makes a total of $38,000,910 worth of real estate values. Personal taxes were estimated at $13,170,780.

The total valuation figured at the rate of $1.40 per hundred dollars gives an income from the current tax rolls of $716,403.66 for the year, Mr. Hyer said.

Court to Decide Auto Crash Suit

Taking of testimony and attorneys' arguments in the $20,000 damage suit brought before Judge Allan D. Montgomery in the 30th district court by Miss Donna McDuffey et al. against W. F. Parish et al, were completed late Thursday afternoon. It was announced by the court that a decision in the case will be rendered at 1:30 p. m. Friday.

The suit was converted Thursday morning to a non-jury case by agreement of opposing attorneys after a jury had been selected and lengthy examination of an important witness completed Wednesday afternoon. Discussion of statements made by one of the participating attorneys while the jury was being selected lead to the decision to complete the trial without a jury, it was announced.

In her petition, the plaintiff alleges that serious and permanent injuries were suffered while she was riding in the defendant's automobile when it crashed with another car last May.

Wichitan Urges Support to State Amendment to Aid Texas University

NICE TIME

Lubbock Principal Praises Sportsmanship Shown By Wichitans

A letter received from E. J. Lowrey, principal of the Lubbock High school, by John Boswell, manager of the chamber of commerce here, expressed appreciation of the courtesy and hospitality shown the Lubbock delegation which attended the Lubbock-Wichita Falls football game here a short time ago.

Mr. Lowrey expressed the Wichita Falls attitude toward its visitors as "unexcelled sportsmanship."

Boswell to Attend Two C.-C. Conventions

John Boswell, manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, will go to Dallas Friday to attend the annual meeting of the directors of the Texas Commercial Executives' association Friday night.

Mr. Boswell plans to attend the state fair of Texas Saturday, which has been designated as "Secretaries day." Dudley B. Foy, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce here will join Mr. Boswell at that time.

Mr. Boswell will leave Dallas Saturday night for Tulsa, Okla., where he will attend the convention of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries during Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, returning to Wichita Falls Thursday morning.

An effort is being made by these organizations to bring about changes in present standards to cause all conventions to be self-sustaining, Mr. Boswell said, eliminating heavy expenses for entertainment and meals that cities entertaining conventions have had to bear in the past.

State Supervisor To Inspect Rural Schools

Miss Georgia Walker, supervisor from the state department of education at Austin, will be in Wichita county next week for the purpose of inspecting rural schools which are making application for state aid, it was announced Thursday at the office of Burl Bryant, county superintendent.

Editor, The Record News:

When an amendment to the constitution does not cost taxpayers a cent yet allows the University of Texas and Texas A. & M. college an adequate instead of a woefully limited return on their investment of endowment, I am glad to advocate and even urge adoption of the amendment by voters of this district.

Suppose the constitution limited the investment of the average man's money to government bonds paying about 4 per cent and destined to pay, in the present trend, no more than 2½ per cent in 1933 when $12,000,000 of the university's permanent fund is to be re-invested. This is the situation of the two schools which hold the permanent fund. Unless the constitution is amended, both schools must delay their building programs, since buildings can be erected only with income from the land endowment.

This condition of possible loss is the result of constitutional restrictions established 50 years ago when there was no thought of having a large endowment to invest. The proposed amendment provides only for a wider field of investment for the endowment, in specific securities judged safe, but paying more than federal securities; such as school bonds, city bonds, county bonds, obligations issued by the university regents for buildings, or in bonds under the federal farm loan act.

I sincerely hope every voter will support this amendment. It will cost taxpayers nothing, yet allow the two principal state schools to carry on their building programs as scheduled.

Burglars Abandon Feed Store Loot

Burglars who entered the Berry Seed and Feed company, 1904 Austin street, Wednesday night taking several cans of feed and a typewriter were unable to make away with their loot, according to Frank Burns, chief of police.

After securing entrance to the place by hurling a large stone through a window, the intruders ransacked the desks, but took only the typewriter and feed which were abandoned outside the building.

Rotary Hears Talk On Manufacture of Steel

Manufacturing methods in the production of steel and its increasingly varied use in building processes were discussed before members of the Rotary club Thursday noon by W. M. Eliot, president and general manager of the Panhandle Steel Products company of this city, in a classification talk.

A brief demonstration for the purpose of showing some of the unique uses of steel, and to compare it with other materials, accompanied Mr. Eliot's remarks. He stated that the local company sold more buildings in Amarillo during the past year than in Wichita Falls.

Following a talk by Rabbi S. J. Schwab relative to the American Legion day celebration which is to be held here on Oct. 24, the club voted to recommend to the community service committee that a Rotary float be prepared for entry in the parade.

Guests were introduced by Herbert C. Voelcker, president.

Radio Stations To Tell of Amendments

KGKO will join other radio stations in the battle of the Texas legislative amendment committee for the constitutional amendments affecting the legislature which will be voted on in the general election to be held in November, according to authorities of the local station.

Beginning next week, short talks will be made over each of the participating stations by present and former members of the legislature. The arrangements have been made through the courtesy of A. P. Barrett, president of the Southern Broadcast company.

The participating stations include KTAT, Fort Worth; WACO, Waco; KTSA, San Antonio; KGKO, Wichita Falls, and KGRS, Amarillo.
