CLEANUP WORK CONTINUES IN CITY

TODAY IS FRONT YARD DAY IN 2ND ANNUAL CAMPAIGN HERE

Today is front yard day in the second annual cleanup and paintup campaign which began here Monday and will continue through April 30.

Eleven members of the Akipsia group of the Campfire Girls were to present a playlet pertinent to cleaning and painting at the noon luncheon of the Lions club today at the Hilton hotel. The playlet will be given before the American Business club at its luncheon Friday noon.

To Make Reports

Report sheets to be filled by parents were distributed to school children yesterday and today. When grade and junior high school pupils return the completed reports, in which the parents record work done at home in connection with the cleanup program, buttons will be issued to the pupils. High school students also received the blanks.

Campfire Girls of the Akipsia group Monday afternoon placed 200 colored posters advertising the cleanup and paintup program in shop windows and at other vantage points.

Campfire Girls are designing posters to advertise the campaign and those making the best ones will receive leather honors.

Monday was fire prevention day and tomorrow will be flower-bed day on the cleanup program.

Program Planned

A speaking program for the campaign is being arranged.

Competing in the national contest last year, Lubbock won a 12-inch silver loving cup as first ranking city in Texas.

WHY ARGUE?

* * *

Southerners may declare that May Queen Miss Mary D. Gunter, top, of Dodd College in Shreveport, La., is more beautiful than Miss Helen Manning, below, beauty queen at the University of Iowa, picked by Florenz Ziegfeld. But let's not argue—there's glory enough for both.

CASES SET TO COME UP ON JULY FIRST

ASSAULT, KIDNAPING, INTENT TO ROB ARE CHARGES FACED

(By The Associated Press)

LAREDO, April 21.—Cases against C. C. Julian, Oklahoma and California oil man, charging assault with a prohibited weapon, kidnaping and assault with intent to rob Lamar S. Bolling of San Antonio of $50,000, today were continued until June 1.

The continuance was granted on a motion by M. J. Raymond, one of Julian's attorneys, who claimed among other things that his co-counsel, C. B. Neel, was ill.

Not Contested

District Attorney John A. Valls did not contest the motion. He said Neel had called him on the telephone advising him of his illness and that he made it a rule to agree to continuances when illness entered into a case.

Raymond's motion also recited that certain documentary evidence in the form of cashier's checks on Oklahoma banks was not available at this time. He said this evidence would prove that money amounting to more than $100,000 had been advanced by Julian as a trust fund to Lamar S. Bolling and that the charges preferred against the oil man were "in fact a subterfuge."

Fined $500

Julian yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawfully carrying arm and was fined $500 and costs.

Indicements also were pending against C. C. Boren and Clay Mann, former employes of Julian, in connection with the alleged kidnaping.

Bolling claimed the three had forced him from his room in a hotel and were attempting to extort $50,000 from him when he attracted the attention of Homer T. Sealey, state highway patrolman, in the lobby of a Laredo hotel and caused their arrest.

CHILDREN AND WOMEN SEEK SAFETY

FOREIGNERS IN COAST CITIES BOARDING AMERICAN SHIPS

BY MARIO RIBAS

(Copyright by The Associated Press)

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, April 21.—Foreign women and children, principally Americans, of Tela and Trujillo, coast cities of Honduras, today sought safety aboard ships in the two harbors from attacks of revolutionary armies harassing the north coast.

The battleship Maryland took up a station in the harbor of La Ceiba for the protection of Americans in the banana-raising regions of that district. While the cruiser Memphis sailed post-haste to Trujillo, the Marblehead was en route to the danger zone.

Fear Developments

Several hundred Americans along the northeast seaboard were not thought today to have been in real danger from the rebel armies, who some believe to be in league with the Sandino insurgent movement of Nicaragua, but fear is felt that developments may increase their hazard.

The Honduran congress last night imposed martial law on the entire country. All available troops were called to the colors and civil guard groups were organized to aid in putting down the revolt which the government claims is sponsored by irresponsible discontents drawing upon disaffected laborers for the rank and file of their armies.

President Optimistic

President Vicente Majia Colindres, in a statement to The Associated Press, said that while the government recognized the revolt had not yet been put down, he believed it to be near its termination. He had been forewarned, he said, and was ready for its outbreak Saturday night.

President Mejia claimed that the people of Honduras, irrespective of their political leanings, were backing up the government and he mentioned that the friendly Guate-

SEEK MARINE FOR SLAYING

DELAY WEDDING AT LAST HOUR

HONOLULU, April 21. (AP)—After making hurried plans to be married here, Dorothy Mackaill, motion picture actress, and Neil Albert Miller announced postponement of the event a few hours before it was to have taken place last night.

DOROTHY MACKAILL

The principals at first failed to obtain a license because Miss Mackaill did not have a certified copy of her divorce from Lothar Mendes, motion picture director.

District Court Judge Francis M. Brooks issued a special permit to circumvent Honolulu's law requiring the elapse of three days between the time of application for and issuance of a license.

Later Miller notified Judge Brooks the marriage had been postponed. Miss Mackaill said there would be no wedding prior to her sailing for California next Saturday.

SERVICE MAN TO BE QUESTIONED AFTER BODY IS FOUND

(By The Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 21.—Officers sought an unidentified marine corps private today for questioning in the death of Louise Teuber, 17, whose body was found hanging from a tree Sunday.

Police said a girl, whose name was withheld, had reported Miss Teuber was either engaged or married to the service man, stationed on a vessel in Los Angeles harbor.

Not Assaulted

No definite clues to the slayer's identity had been found after two days of investigation. Autopsy surgeons reported the girl had not been criminally assaulted.

Among the men questioned yesterday was a photographer for whom police said, Miss Teuber had posed for "art" pictures.

State criminologists, baffled by murder of Virginia Brooks, 10-year-old school girl whose body was found north of the city last March 12, joined city and county officers in an effort to trace the killer.

Miss Teuber's body was found by a picnic party. The former five and ten cent store salesgirl had left notes to her father and sister saying she was going away. Investigators theorized that her slayer knew of this and made a clumsy attempt to make her death appear a suicide.

AWAIT CURTIS DECISION

VICE PRESIDENT MAY NOT RUN AGAIN FOR HIS POST

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—Republican leaders looking ahead to the 1932 presidential race are eagerly watching for the decision to be made by Vice President Curtis on seeking reelection.

If this party veteran determines to go out for his former seat in the senate from Kansas rather than take a chance on another four year term as vice president, it is conceded the move will bolster anti-Hoover Republican forces.

Curtis will announce his decision in the fall. Meanwhile he is keeping his own counsel. Friends say he is confronted with pleas from both those who would have him run again for vice president and those in Kansas who would have him campaign against Senator McGill, a democrat.

Certain it is that Curtis has no intention of retiring from public life. Consequently he is keeping a weather eye on things.

While he was one of the outstanding foes of President Hoover in the pre-convention campaign of 1928, the Kansan has served the Hoover administration loyally since he was nominated vice president. He is a regular attendant of cabinet meetings and always ready to lend a helping hand.

NOT TO RETURN

CHICAGO, April 21 (AP)—The Chicago Tribune said today that Mary Garden would not return to the Chicago Civic Opera company next season.

TEXANS MEET ON BATTLE GROUND

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY OF VICTORY AT SAN JACINTO

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, April 21 — Texans from every section of the state were arriving today at San Jacinto battle ground to take part in celebration of the battle, 95 years ago, which won Texas her freedom from Mexico.

The program will be opened by Governor Sterling who will dedicate the memorial live oak trees being planted by members of the Sons and Daughters of the Republic of Texas in honor of the San Jacinto battle heroes.

Connally To Talk

Senator Tom Connally will make the principal address, in the form of an eulogy to the heroes of this battle.

Miss Elizabeth John, great granddaughter of General Sam Houston, will decorate the marker erected on the park site to the memory of the heroes who fell in the battle.

Mrs. Madge Hearne will award prizes to the Houston students who won an essay contest on the capitals of the republic of Texas.

Mrs. Lucy Craig, daughter of General Sidney Sherman, will present a replica of the San Jacinto battle flag to the Sons of the Republic of Texas, with R. M. Love making the speech of acceptance.

NO USE TO CALL UP WOMAN LISTED IN MAN'S "LITTLE BLACK BOOK"

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—Christopher Dahl, a methodical man of 47, wrote a note.

"If anything happens to me," it said, "call Mrs. Betty Brightbill. Her phone number is in my little black book."

Something happened last night; but it wasn't any good to call Mrs. Betty Brightbill—whose phone number was in "the little black book."

She was dead. So was Christopher Dahl.

Mrs. Brightbill, 30-year-old widow, had started to leave Dahl's apartment escorted by Dahl's roommate, Albert Fine. Dahl became enraged.

One shot from his pistol dropped her dead, a bullet between the eyes. Then he turned the gun on himself.

C.-C. CONCLAVE ENDS TODAY

ELECTION FEATURE OF TODAY'S PROGRAM AT MARLIN

(By The Associated Press)

MARLIN, April 21—It was wind-up day today for the fifth annual convention of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce with selection of officers heading the program.

Dr. N. D. Buie, home town candidate, appeared to have the inside track for the next presidency. Four other prospective nominees were Tom Ball, Huntsville; E. P. McKenna, Tyler; L. D. Gilbert, Texarkana, and Mayor T. E. Acker, Jacksonville.

Lufkin, meanwhile, had been awarded the next convention as result of the Houston delegation having made a late hour withdrawal in favor of the Angelina county town. Dallas, leading candidate at the start of the convention, pursued the fight until roll call of county delegations revealed t he cause was lost.

One major item of interest remaining for the convention was the question of prorating East Texas oil fields. Guy Blount, Nacogdoches, retiring president, brought up the subject yesterday.

"It will be a crime," he declared, if East Texas does not arrange to "ratably produce" its new resource.

SUNDAY MOVIE BILL PASSED

MEASURE APPROVED IN SPITE OF PRAYERS OF ENGLISHMEN

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, April 21.—While kneeling Britons outside prayed for a divine "visitation upon the heads of iniquitous defenders" of the bill legalizing Sunday movies and other amusements, the house of commons last night passed the measure, 258 to 210, on its second reading.

A barage of prayer was raised by ardent Sabbatarians while debate on the movie bill was in progress. A huge prayer meeting was organized by the Lord's Day Observance society in a nearby hall to synchronize with the debate and as division time approached most of those attending repaired to parliament square and formed groups for prayer.

The parties were mixed up in extraordinary manner in the lobbies when the vote was taken on the measure. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and the conservative leader, Stanley Baldwin, for once found themselves in the same lobby, voting for the bill.

The measure if passed on its third reading will cancel blue laws of 1780.

FINGER PRINT EXPERT WILL AID PROBE

ABOUT $20,000 WORTH OF NOTES, $1,200 CASH TAKEN

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANGELO, April 21—Robbers blasted the safe of the dry goods and grocery store of Travis Moore at Best, near here, about 2 o'clock this morning and took $20,000 in notes on land leases and about $1,200 in cash. Officers have called in a finger print expert.

The safe, which was blown with nitro glycerin, was wrecked and some damage done to the store. sacks of sugar were used to deaden the sound. Mr. Moore, who lives across the street, said he heard a noise early this morning but did not attach any significance to it.

To Make Probe

The yeggs left their tools at the store. The safe had not been touched since, and J. E. Grimland, Sonora finger print expert, has been called to make a thorough investigation.

Until the remaining contents of the safe are investigated, it will not be known how much in checks was taken. The land lease notes are not negotiable, Sheriff J. E. Carroll said some clues othr than the finger prints are expected to be helpful in running down the robbers.

SEIZE KING'S PROPERTIES

JUDGE APPOINTED TO PROBE REPORTS OF MISSING JEWELS

(By The Associated Press)

MADRID, April 21—The Republican government is moving rapidly to seize for the nation all property of the exiled King Alfonso which can be considered the property of the nation rather than of the man, Alfonso de Bourbon, aside from his titles.

A special judge has been appointed to investigate that valuable jewels and documents relating to the Moroccan wars have disappeared from a showcase at the royal palace which has been sealed by the government.

Turn Over Deposits

The mediation of the British embassy was understood today to have been sought in connection with transfer of money deposited in the Bank of Spain by Alfonso XIII, the bank deciding after a lengthy conference to turn over part of the deposits, which run into a high figure.

An appeal to the patriotism of all Spaniards, particularly aristocrats and capitalists, to stop their withdrawals of funds from the banks and industries of Spain to be taken abroad for investment was published today by Indalecio Prieto, new minister of finance, who warned that if the practice had not ceased within four weeks drastic measures would be inaugurated.

Two Other Bandits Sought By Officers

MARLOW, Okla., April 21 (AP)—With one wounded gunman captured, officers today searched for two others who left their injured confederate at a farm house and then continued their flight after killing one peace officer here and wounding another.

Japanese Royalty To Philadelphia

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—Concluding a six day visit to the capital, Prince and Princess Takamatsu of Japan left for Philadelphia today on a private car.

In saying farewell the Prince told Under Secretary of State Castle the visit had been "the happiest" he had had in 25 countries visited so far in his tour.

The youthful Prince, second brother of the Emperor, and his Princess paid farewell respects to President and Mrs. Hoover before dining last night with Under Secretary Castle and Mrs. Castle.

Homage Paid George Washington By DAR

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP) — Daughters of the American Revolution paid homage today to the man who had much to do with the reasons for their organization—George Washington.

Toward Mount Vernon, the home of the commander-in-chief of the revolutionary army, they turned their thoughts. They chose to honor his memory with a pilgrimage to the beautiful colonial house sitting atop a hill over the Potomac river.

St. Louis Doctor Thought Kidnaped

ST. LOUIS, April, 21. (AP)—A search was under way today for Dr. Isaac D. Kelley, jr., a physician, on a theory by police that he had been kidnaped for ransom.

Dr. Kelley has been missing since he left his home at 10 p. m. last night on what appeared to be a professional call. His telephone conversations with a man who called him from his home, ostensibi to treat a patient with an ear ache, were heard by Mrs. Kelley, daughter of the late William Cullen McBride, a millionaire oil magnate.

Weatherford Names Delegate To Meet

Miss Ethel McDonald, secretary of the Weatherford Chamber of Commerce, has been selected to represent Weatherford in a pageant which will be presented here May 15 as a part of the thirteenth annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Miss McDonald was chosen by directors of the Weatherford chamber, according to Bert Rawlins, president.

Everything Else Was All Right

QUINCY, Ill., April 21 (AP)—State Senator Roy Adair walked in on a luncheon club yesterday, was ushered to a seat, ate his dinner nervously, arranged some papers, cleared his throat, and prepared to be introduced.

The man who sat at his elbow was keenly interested in the senator's notes. "What," he asked, "are those?"

"They're notes for my speech," replied the senator in surprise.

"Speech?" exclaimed the neighbor. "Oh yes. You're speaking at the Kiwanis club today, aren't you "

"Certainly."

"Well—pardon me, this is the exchange club."

MRS. EDGAR WILL BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. J. T. Edgar, 70, who died at 9 p. m. Monday at her home 10 miles south of Lubbock, were to be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Rev. J. O. Haymes, pastor of the First church, was to officiate. Rev. Solon Johnstin was to assist him. Burial was to be in Memorial Park cemetery by Bynum-Morgan funeral home.

Pallbearers were to be:

Ed Timms, Horace Burkett, Fred Menson, Luther Roberson, G. E. Lowe, and C. R. Cagle.

Mrs. Edgar suffered paralysis at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, members of her family said. Death followed six hours later.

Mrs. Edgar moved to Lubbock county with her husband four years ago from Dallas county. Besides her widower, she is survived by two sons, J. P. Edgar, 2305 Ninth street, and M. H. Edgar, route No. 6 both of Lubbock, and two daughters, Mrs. R. E. Paschall, of Mesquite, Texas, and Mrs. R. O. Mahres, of Eastland.

No Change Seen In Farm Board Policy

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—Chairman Stone of the Federal Farm board said in a statement today the board's decision of several months ago to sell 35,000,000 bushels of wheat abroad and to refrain from making stabilization purchases from the 1931 crop was unchanged.

"The board has made no decisions in regard to future wheat stabilization operations except those previously announced," he said.

SHOT TO DEATH

MARSHALL, April 21. (AP)—E. P. Hopkins, 65, veteran Texas & Pacific railroad conductor, died here last night from a bullet wound in the head. He was found shot in a hotel room at Mineola early yesterday and was brought here to a hospital.

Attorney's Caddy Wins Probation

GREEN BAY, Wis., April 21 (AP)—A 14-year-old boy was arraigned in juvenile court yesterday, charged with truancy.

"Where," demanded Clatus Chadek, the assistant district attorney, "were you last Saturday when you were supposed to appear in this court?"

"I was," replied the lad, "out on a golf course, caddying for you."

"Oh," said Mr. Chadek as he refreshed his memory. "I do believe I recognize you now."

"Probation for the boy," said the court.

Negro Is Killed By Bolt Of Lightning

SHERMAN, April 21 (AP)—Od Ayers, 16, negro youth living about two miles east of Sherman, was instantly killed by lightning late yesterday while crossing a field.

His twin brother, who was with him, was knocked down by the same bolt but ran for aid. T. N. Maxwell was recovering in a hospital today from an accident believed caused by the same bolt of lightning. He was knocked unconscious while talking over a city telephone line.

SHOT TO DEATH

DENISON, April 21 (AP)—O. M. Cuchener, 66, laundryman, was found shot to death at his home early today. A revolver was found near the body and the shooting was believed accidental. He leaves a widow and two sons.

MAN REJECTS WRIST WATCH; COULD NOT AFFORD TO BE CALLED 'SISSY'

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, April 21—Because he couldn't "afford to be classed as a sissy," H. E. Browne of Independence, Kans., today rejected the proffered gift of a $100 wrist watch.

For years Browne has served the Petroleum Industry Electrical association as secretary, and when the board of directors met in connection with the organization's annual conference, it was voted to purchase the gift for Browne as a token of appreciation.

"My rejection is a matter of record," Browne said last night. "I appreciate the offer, but I can't afford to be classed as a sissy."

Browne was reelected secretary, and in addition the treasurer's duties were handed over to him. The organization named A. J. Balcom, Dallas, Texas, president, to succeed F. S. Leonard, St. Louis, R. M. Bayless, Houston, Texas, was named vice-president.

The association is composed of telegraph, telephone, and electrical superintendents of 24 mid-continental pipeline and oil companies.

RUTH NICHOLS TO MAKE OCEAN HOP

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—Ruth Nichols within two weeks will attempt the first woman's solo flight across the Atlantic, Colonel Clarence D. Chamberlain, her aeronautical adviser, said today.

In the red Lockheed-Vega monoplane which she flew at a speed of 210 miles an hour at Detroit a week ago, she will take off from Harbor Grace, N. F., to follow the Lindbergh trail to Paris.

The airplane, which belongs to the Crosley Radio Corp., Cincinnati, is being overhauled at the New Jersey aircraft factory of Colonel Chamberlain, who, it is said, vainly tried to dissuade her from the attempt.

Ten Women And Nine Men Arrested

Ten women and nine men were arrested Monday afternoon and night and charged with vagrancy, police records show. Nine had been fined $15 and two had paid the assessments this morning.

Two boys were arrested by police in connection with theft of several shirts and a box of candy. No charges had been filed against them this morning, Chief of Police John Lemond said.

SIMPSON UNCHANGED

The condition of L. H. Simpson, former fire chief and fire marshal who is critically ill at his home at 1402 Avenue M, appeared to be unchanged, relatives said at noon. Mr. Simpson's health has been poor the last several years. Members of his household said he had not rested well Sunday night or Monday.

WEATHER BUREAUS OF SUN WILL SEEK TO PREDICT DISTURBANCES ON EARTH

BY WALTER B. CLAUSEN

MOUNT WILSON OBERVATORY, Calif., April 21 (AP)—Twenty-five weather bureaus of the sun are being organized around the earth.

By these, astronomers expect to learn just how storms in the sun cause magnetic storms on the earth.

The question involved is how long it takes the outbreaks on the sun to start a storm on the earth.

Light from the sun travels the 93,000,000 miles to the earth in eight minutes. Perhaps the magnetic disturbance travels that fast but it will be a year or so before the astronomers are ready to report the results of the solar observations. Then will be known the possibility of forecasting storms on earth caused by solar magnetic disturbances.

Dr. Charles E. St. John, member of the international committee on the relation of solar to terrestrial phenomena, announced today that organization of the weather bureaus of the sun may be perfected next July in Brussels. The committee holds its triennial session then.

These solar weather bureaus will be equipped with spectrohelioscopes that observe the bright and dark floccuii on the sun's disk.

Legion Auxiliary Reception Tuesday Is To Honor Mrs. Van Stewart, Perryton

Bridge Party Is Feature Of Meeting Monday Evening Of Legion Auxiliary

Mrs. Van Stewart, of Perryton, district chairman in the American Legion auxiliary, will be honored next Tuesday at a reception to be tendered by the local chapter of the auxiliary. Plans for this affair were made Monday evening at a meeting of the Lubbock society at the American Legion home.

A bridge party with four of the members, Mesdames Thomas E. Boyd, H. D. Stanley, F. H. Stanton and R. Q. Stubbs, as hostesses was a feature of the meeting.

Mrs. N. L. Peters, child welfare chairman, reported on four operations for removal of tonsils which have been performed for children of ex-service men and financed by the Legion auxiliary.

Those who attended the meeting were Mesdames L. A. Howard, Thomas E. Pirtle, J. A. Phipps, jr., E. Paul Carter, Fred Childress, N. L. Peters, J. P. Giles, E. A. Gatlin, Vernon Brown, C. O. Bergholm, F. A. Kleinschmidt, George Brewer, Marcus E. Helber, R. E. Dick, W. M. Petticolas, jr., Earl Moore, J. L. Murfee, K. L. Riggs, and A. C. Jackson.

Dr. Stafford Will Be Picnic Honoree

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Mahoney of 2309 10th street, are to entertain with a picnic supper and bridge party Saturday evening at their home in honor of Dr. Elizabeth Stafford, professor of Texas Technological college, who has resigned, effective with the close of the spring term at the institution.

Mr. Mahoney, who is head of the department of horticulture of Texas Technological college, has resigned his position and will be in the horticultural department of Michigan State college, East Lansing, Mich., after June 1.

Leidigh Home To Be Scene Of Party

Misses Mary Virginia Ballinger, Kathryn Barr and Katherine Leidigh are entertaining several of their friends Saturday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock with bridge and forty-two at the Leidigh home, 2101 17th street.

Mary Anne is the name Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Holt, 1918 Avenue N, have chosen for a daughter who was born Sunday evening at the West Texas hospital.

Such greasy hands!

Hard water won't clean them

HARD water can't do much with greasy hands. Of course, you use lots of soap. You try to get a thick lather. But the water is too hard; it combines with the soap and forms a scum. How can you expect to clean greasy hands in that water?

There is a way. Use Mel'o. Sprinkle a little in the basin. Water softened with Mel'o makes a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. Soft water and soap and lots of lather; grease won't stay long on your hands. Get a can of Mel'o at your grocer's today.

Two Girl Leaders To Go To Amarillo

Two Lubbock leaders in Girl Scouting, Mrs. C. O. Mansell, captain, and Miss Christine Anderson, lieutenant, expect to go to Amarillo Friday to attend the Girl Scout Cautus Region conference there during the week-end.

"You show us your way and we'll show you ours" will be the keynote of the conference. Mrs Sybil Gordon Newell, secretary of the national field division, and Miss Edith Conant, national leaders' training instructor, will represent the national office, New York, at the conference, while Miss Marguerite Twohy, Cactus Region director, and Miss Mary White regional camp advisor, will head the western delegates representing Girl Scout councils in Texas, Arizona, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Picturesque Feature

The most picturesque feature of the conference from a purely artistic standpoint, will be the exhibit of handcraft. This will include the work of several Indian troops in the Cactus Region, of which that at Pawnee, Oklahoma and that at Bacone College, Muskogee, Oklahoma have the longest record in Girl Scouting. The leaders of these troops, Miss Mae Bratton, and Miss Jessie Smith, received their training in Camp Mary White, Roswell, N. Mex.

Miss White herself, whose father is donor of the camp, will show the eastern visitors how the westerns live outdoors. She will direct demonstrations of fire-building, hike activities, and typical western games. Motion pictures of pack trips taken at Camp Mary White will be given during her demonstrations.

Star study on the roof of the Amarillo Hotel will be another interesting feature of the conference. This will be under the direction of Mrs. Frank Spiller, Girl Scout director of Austin.

A "get-together" luncheon which town officials will attend and a banquet will be part of the purely social entertainment. Mrs. Newell will officiate at the distribution of Girl Scout awards. There will be two prizes for the best work in the exhibit.

Boles Anniversary Is Celebrated Here

As a surprise to Mr. and Mrs. George Boles on their fortieth wedding anniversary, about 100 persons, intimate friends of the couple, went to their ranch home Monday evening for a picnic supper and several hours of dancing.

The women brought lunch baskets of food, with coffee in tin cups which was served in the saddle house. Lanterns were hung on the walls to give light for the occasion.

Following the supper, the group went to the main house and danced the square dance. The first dance was made up of couples over fifty and was led by Mr. and Mrs. Boles. The cover design on the guest book in which all registered was the picture of a man and woman riding horseback across the prairies and inside the fly leaf was a tinted portrait of the honored couple.

Reminiscences of early days in Lubbock were exchanged by old-timers who were from this city and nearby towns.

The group presented Mr. and Mrs Boles with a linen table cloth and napkins, with Durwood Bradley making the presentation speech, to which the couple responded. Other special gifts included a set of glassware from J. T. Davis, of Sterling; a piece of silver from Mr. and Mrs. Edd McLaughlin and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dean of Ralls, and a bridle from O. L. Slaton. Mr. and Mrs. Coke Fullingim, of Lorenzo, were in attendance, also.

F. E. Wheelock made a talk telling of the early life of Mr. and Mrs. Boles in this section of the country.

The occasion also marked the birthday of Mr. Boles.

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

PARENTS AND TEACHERS

When I talk or write to teachers I advise about as follows:

When parents come to school to scold you, you have an opportunity to prove to them and to your pupils the moral fiber of which you are made. I know as well as you do that parents do not hire you, and rarely do they fire you. You do not have to take abuse from them, nor orders. But you know that the Great Teacher once said. "If a man compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain." He knew whereof He spoke. He advised us to do many things we don't have to do. It is from such deeds that we reap our biggest harvest, clip our largest dividends.

When an irate parent comes to your schoolroom let him say what he pleases. Be wholly calm and courteous. Your gentleness and refinement will be your most powerful weapon. Once that parent has said all the mean things he can think of without your antagonism, he will begin to feel ashamed of himself and will then be ready for quite reasoning together with you. The parent then who came to curse will stay to pray. And think of your pupils. They will marvel at your courtesy and self-control. They will go home telling their parents how wonderful you were. Other parents with more self-control will come to see you, come with humility to learn of you.

* * *

To parents I should say: Never go to school until you have waited long enough to be a perfect master of yourself. Pray first for poise and self-control. Go to learn about your child and talk things over. When your child tells at home some things about the teacher or the school that sound to you very bad, say nothing. Listen carefully and let the child say what he likes, so long as he does not grow abusive. Just remember that you are hearing only one side of the story and that your child may have a good imagination and that he naturally reports matters in his favor. You do not want him to acquire the habit of arriving at conclusions hastily, nor of passing judgment without being sure that all the possible evidence is in.

* * *

In case you think the matter should be looked into, even then say nothing to the child; but as soon as you are sure you have complete composure, go see the teacher without letting the child know about it until after your return.

Just remember that you are not the teacher's boss and that no matter how you feel, your problem is to get such results as will be useful to your child, not just to let off emotional steam. So long as your child must have that teacher, you might as well do the best you can to help him adapt himself to her.

Think about the child and his best interests. If you antagonize the teacher, or say or do anything to cultivate the child's dislike for her, you only make your problems and his worse.

It is possible, indeed, to learn from the teacher some things about your child that you had never known, some things which would help you in being a better parent. In the meantime, pray to your superintendent to select only teachers who are fit to teach.

CALL OFF OIL PROTEST

PRORATION PROBLEM THOUGHT SOLVED FOR 60 DAYS

AUSTIN, April 21. (AP)—The vexing East Texas oil proration problem seemed settled today at least for the next 60 days.

Proponents and opponents of proration agreed last night on a "stabilization" program, only the details of which remained to be worked out today. The agreement was reached after two all-day conferences.

Call Off Fight

Under the agreement, the fight against proration would be called off for 60 days. Carl Estes of Tyler, who had obtained a temporary injunction which had delayed proration of the new area was one of the conferees.

Those attending the conference said they had been assured of an immediate increase in the price of oil as a result of the agreement.

It was understood that under the truce, the East Texas allowable production would be increased over the amount originally recommended by the railroad commission. The commission had recommended 90,000 barrels daily at the start, increasing gradually to 130,000 barrels June 15.

The agreement was subject to the approval of J. D. Moore of Austin, the district judge from whom Estes obtained his temporary injunction, and the railroad commission.

WAGE SYSTEMS ABANDONED

SOCIALISM PRINCIPLE OF EQUALITY TO BE ENDED IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW, April 21. (AP)—Russia's communist socialist government, in the hope of speeding up production, is dropping socialism's principle of equal wages and is instituting piece work, generally associated with capitalistic systems.

Under a new wage system to be introduced in factories, plants, collective farms, mines, railroads and the like May 1 the wages of workers will not be based on the communistic theory of equal division but on the capitalistic idea of rewarding individual efforts on a basis of skill and ability.

No Interference

The new system will be called "khozrachiot" which means literally "economic accounting," and as interpreted in the government decree means that the affected industries must henceforth take the responsibility of fulfilling contracts and adjudging wages without interference from trade unions.

The Stalingrad tractor factory, where chaotic conditions prevail, is cited as an example of the new system. The factory must contract with the state collective farms for so many tractors at an agreed price. If factory production continues to slump, wages will be cut, but if output increases wages and bonuses will be raised proportionately. Piece work will be introduced throughout, it is understood, there and elsewhere.

BANK RECORDS SCRUTINIZED

ACCOUNTS OF CHICAGO POLICE CAPTAINS BEING PROBED

CHICAGO, April 21 (AP)—Special grand jurors, seeking to uncover alleged police graft, today were putting the private banking records of Chicago captains under scrutiny.

The records of the financial affairs of seventeen captains were already in the jury's possession and the information reported to have been obtained led to an announcement by officials that the inquiry would be extended to include every nook of the department where crookedness might be suspected.

Bankers Testify

Officials of more than 20 banks yesterday told the jurors what they knew of the accounts of six of the captains and while no official announcement was made of exactly what they revealed, the Herald and Examiner said it was learned that one captain had been depositing as much as $8,000 a day.

"We are on the right track at last," said J. A. Farmar, foreman of the jury. "We found substantial sums which are suspicious at least. In the case of one police captain we fond that he had been carrying separate accounts in two different banks. In other instances we found that the captains under scrutiny had transferred accounts to their wives."

Officials said they eventually would require more than 200 banks to furnish the jurors with records of police captains' financial affairs.

HELPED MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

Cardui Used For a Weak, Painful Condition, Writes South Carolina Lady.

"About six years ago, I took Cardui for a weak condition," writes Mrs. U. S. Ard, of 209 West Hall Street, Savannah, Ga. "I suffered a great deal with my back. I was hardly able to go.

"I did not feel able to do my work. I thought I was going to get down in bed.

"This worried me a great deal. My husband saw Cardui advertised, and told me that I had better take it.

"I am glad that I did, for it built me up. I took six bottles and felt just fine.

"Since that time I have given it to my daughter, and she was helped. I am glad to recommend Cardui."

The confidence of thousands of women, in the value of Cardui, has been demonstrated by the fact that they have given it or recommended it to their daughters, after having learned from their own use of Cardui how helpful it is in the relief of many simple disorders, when due to a weak, run-down condition.

He Shows you how to save Time and Money

He preaches a gospel of efficiency based upon facts.

JACK MARSHALL is, in his way, a wizard. Not that you'd guess it, of course, when he walks into your office in neat business suit and soft hat, and settles down to talk. His business card reads simply, "Commercial Representative."

But give him a chance to "wave his wand" ... an opportunity to do things for you.

Then, as you watch sales go up and sales costs down ... as you see shipping department and sales manager begin to purr happily together ... you'll probably find yourself wondering what magic he uses!

* * *

TO MARSHALL himself there's nothing magical in his work ... nothing of wizardry. He preaches simply a gospel of efficiency based upon facts ... facts that are analyzed, weighed and sifted in a search for effective ways of saving money by saving time.

Follow him for a week. Go with him into stores, offices and factories, talking to executives, studying their problems.

Here is an industrial plant. He visits department heads, learns the type of work they do, studies their telephone equipment and the way they use it. Painstakingly he organizes the facts he obtains, pores over them intently. And always, in his mind, he carries this question:

"How can more work be done ... in less time ... with less effort?

* * *

HE IS EXPERT at getting the answer, for the basis of his "magic" is keen, sound judgment. He works with the knowledge gained from scores of similar studies, in many different businesses.

Here is a wholesaler whose salesmen today are covering more territory, quicker, at lower cost. Jack Marshall showed him how it could be done by using the telephone to "call on" dealers in the "in between" cities and communities.

Here is a factory where lost time, friction, misunderstanding between departments have been reduced to a minimum. Jack Marshall planned the intercommunicating system that makes it possible.

Here is an office, where a secretary is doing more work, and doing it more efficiently with a telephone "wiring plan" that enables her to handle all telephone calls without leaving her desk—a result of Jack Marshall's visit.

Here is a coal distributor* whose telephone brings a constant stream of orders from out-of-town dealers. Jack Marshall's analysis showed him how he could give faster service, handle a larger territory, by urging customers to order by long distance.

* * *

WHEN MARSHALL comes into your office, shakes hands with a smile, and settles himself to talk business, his mission is not to sell ... but to serve.

Call him, if you like, a "service engineer."

His job is to find how the widespread network of the telephone system ... a network linking your telephone with millions of others in mansions and cottages, stores and factories, throughout the city, the nation, the world ... can best be used to meet your individual problems.

Day by day, in towns and cities throughout the land, he and his comrades go about their work. They plan telephone systems for factories, offices and stores. They show how these systems can be used to do things quicker and better, at lower cost ... locally or by long distance. Alertly, efficiently, they bend their efforts toward the goal for which the Bell System is striving:

"The best possible telephone service at the least cost to the public consistent with financial safety"

Our files contain letters from scores of men in different lines of business who have profited thus. We'll gladly show them to you.*

SOUTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

EIGHT-CLUB RACE LOOMS IN NATIONAL LEAGUE THIS SEASON

Collier Parris

SPYING ON SPORTS

"Way down at College Station, where the Texas Athletic and Military college and nothing else is located, the khaki-clad cadets recently heard the annual announcement by the Association of Former Students, otherwise the alumni association, that it (the A. F. S.) was behind the old collitch, win, lose or draw, and pledged "unfaltering adherence" to a policy decreeing that responsibility for the conduct and administration of athletic affairs resta wholly within the hands of the constituted authorities of the college.

* * *

A nice little speech, and it made quite an impression on the present enrollment of the college when the alumnuses delivered it. Alumni and ex-student associations (and the progenitor of the column is a member of one) would be okeh, to say the least, if they really meant what they said when they made annual statements to the above effect. They mean well when they make the statements but about the time the football team gets to losing a bunch of games they fall on the coach's neck and cry for his blood. They forget, along about November 15, what they said in April about storing "entire confidence in the coach" and being willing to leave the business of turning out a team to said mentor.

* * *

We mean this barrage as no slam at the Texas A. & M. alumni organization. It is to be commended for the recent statements pledging support, etc., etc., but such statements were expected. If associations of that sort did not make them there might be cause for alarm, but after they are made they are forgotten. It is characteristic of ex-students to stand up for and to support their alma mamas, but they do it in such comical ways, such as clamouring for the cessation of a coach's activities because his team did not win the championship.

* * *

Followers of sport pages have not forgotten what a howl the Aggie exes made last year during and after the football season. The Aggie gridmen were gridmen in name more than in fact and the shortage of material resulted in a loose season. But you can't make the alumni believe that. The exes go home after receiving the sheepskin and prevail upon their high school athletic friends to go to their college. They know that All-District Quarterback Smackover will set the woods afire when he gets on the varsity. If he doesn't it's because Coach Whoosis didn't know his calories, so throw him out! The Aggie exes wanted Coach Matty Bell's scalp after the grid season last year and they made no bones about their desires.

* * *

Now they come back and unanimously adopt a report and recommendations by the association's athletic committee, headed by Tyree L. Bell of Corsicana. The report sets forth that the committee "viewed with alarm a diversity of opinion of late in association ranks concerning the administration of athletic affairs," and closed with its pronouncement of opinion that the conduct of such affairs is the function and responsibility of the college authorities.

* * *

The association, it is reported, unanimously adopted resolutions expressing "entire" confidence in Coach Madison Bell and pledging to him wholehearted support, extending best wishes and sincerest cooperation to D. W. Carlton who will become business manager of athletics, July 1, and expressing deep appreciation to James Sullivan, who recently resigned as business manager of athletics, for his "untiring efforts, notable accomplishments and meritorious service" in behalf of athletics at A. & M.

* * *

It is hardly a secret that Sullivan's resignation came about as a result of complaints made by the A. F. S. association kept rather quiet about its movements in the case and wisely so. It thought a change somewhere might bring about a twist that would result in more games won. Sullivan took the hint, stood all he could and stepped out. Matty Bell refused to scram, being a coach and knowing that there was still time to get somewhere with the Aggies. Sullivan had reached the top, set a record, done all any man could have done even under better circumstances. Both men were perhaps wise in their movements.

* * *

Well, somebody has to keep the home coaching fires burning. They can't all come into that haven for coaches—a penitentiary for lifers where the players don't graduate and where there are no alumni associations.

BROOKLYN AND CINCINNATI COP GAMES

FANS THINK ROBINS HAVE BAD PLAY FROM SYSTEM

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National league, it seems, is to have an eight-club race after all. Brooklyn and Cincinnati, after taking it on the chin with alarming regularity since opening day, finally have broken into the winners' circle.

Brooklyn fandom feels certain the Robins have gotten a lot of bad baseball out of their system early and are ready now to romp right on to the flag. Cincinnati enthusiasts have harbored no pennant hopes to speak of, but they are happy to see Colonel Howley's charges get a start, even if from the bottom.

Power Is Revived

Both clubs chose yesterday to come out of their five-day trance. Brooklyn's batting power, dormant for several days, came to life and blasted a 10 to 5 victory over four Philadelphia pitchers.

Nick Cullop, former American association homerun king, led the Reds into the light. His circuit drive off Meine with two on beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 5. Red Lucas held the Pirates to eight hits.

Meantime, the St. Louis Cardinals took over the undisputed leadership by downing the Chicago Cubs, 3 to 2. Burleigh Grimes besting Bob Smith and Guy Bush in a mound duel.

Battle Into Tie

The New York Giants and Boston Braves battled their way into a tie for second place by dividing their patriots' day doubleheader. Rookie John Berley pitched McGraw's clan to a 4 to 3 win in the morning, aided by Freddie Lindstrom's home run, but the Braves came back with a 1 to 0 verdict later in the day.

Babe Ruth enjoyed one of his most spacious days as the Yankees squared accounts with the Athletics. His two wallops into the stands, each time with Lyn Lary on base, accounted for all but one run in their 5 to 4 victory over Earnshaw.

Streak Is Halted

The Boston Red Sox abruptly halted Washington's four-game winning streak, 13 to 3. While Russell kept eight Senator hits scattered, his mates piled into four opposing hurlers for 18, driving Crowder out in the seventh.

Although hit hard, Willis Hudlin was tight in the pinches and Cleveland stayed in the thick of things with a 9 to 3 decision over Detroit. Rain stopped the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns in the latter city.

LETTERMEN AT TECH NAMED

EIGHT ARE ELIGIBLE TO RECEIVE AWARDS IN BASKETBALL

As a result of outstanding play in the 1931 Tech basketball season, eight varsity players were named yesterday by the Tech athletic council as having earned letter awards. The players were recommended to the council by Varsity Coach W. L. (Crip) Golightly.

Letters will be awarded later this spring to the eight men provided scholastic grades made by the athletes are of passing quality.

The eight men were announced as follows: Captain Clarence Hodges, Abilene, forward; Captain-elect J. H. Tadlock, Amarillo, guard; Leon Fisher, Memphis, center; Harvey Dunn, Ralls, guard; Alvin Crews, Wilson, forward; Haden Moody, Becton, forward; Howard Baker, center, and A. F. Darr, Melrose, N. M.

Coach Golightly announced that all of the above men, without an exception, would be eligible for varsity play next season. The men have resolved to return to Tech for another season of basketball.

J. H. Tadlock, recently elected captain for next season, is credited with playing more minutes than any other member of the 1931 team. His record for matched play is 812 minutes.

Shoulder Ailment Held Not Serious

CHICAGO, April 21 (AP)—Ted Lyons' shoulder ailment is not serious, Dr. Philip Kreuscher, White Sox physician, has decided and the Sox ace hurler will be back in action next week.

Lyons won 22 games for a seventh place club last year, but the catch in his shoulder, diagnosed as a slight ligament strain, has kept him from working more than a few innings, let alone win a game this season.

Hostilities in the Texas league Monday were cut to a pair of games when rain washed out the Dallas-Fort Worth and Shreveport-Wichita Falls combats. At Fort Worth, the Steers and Cats went through their batting practice, but it started raining during fielding practice and the game had to be called just when Lee Meadows of Dallas and Dick McCabe of Fort Worth, veteran hurlers, were ready to stage a mound duel.

At Beaumont they staged a ball game that saw George Malicky tame the San Antonio Indians, 4 to 1. Malicky allowed San Antonio's lone run in the fifth inning when Deviveros smashed a double and Manager Robertson duplicated, scoring Deviveros. Pierce and Wise led Beaumont's attack on pitchers Moore and Walker with two hits each. Nash, San Antonio's right fielder who has crashed out two home runs since the season opened, went hitless Monday in three times at bat. White Beaumont's middle pasture guardian, furnished the only home run of the game.

Two Home Runs

At Houston where Galveston and Houston staged a night game, the Buccaneers made the Buffaloes walk the plank, 2 to 1. It was a close pitching battle between Harris of Galveston and Payne of Houston in which two home runs, one by Puccinelli of Houston and the other by Mellano of Galveston, featured.

A crowd, estimated at 6,000 saw the Buccaneers win. A delegation from Galveston, led by President Moody of the Buccaneers, witnessed the game and cheered Bill Harris as his mound offrings handcuffed Houston's heavy hitters.

Al Moore Balking Over His Transfer

CHICAGO, April 21 (AP)—Outfielder Al Moore, whose release to the Columbus American association club was announced last night by the St. Louis Cardinals, today was balking over the transfer.

Moore, drafted from Buffalo of the International league, said he would like to buy his release from the Cardinals. He believes he can sell his services to some major league team, but if he is forced to go back to the minors he would prefer to return to Buffalo.

Buffalo, under baseball law, had first claim on Moore, but that team waived the claim, supposedly on the strength of another deal with the Cards.

TRACK MEET SET AT TECH TODAY

With all track activities and exhibitions confined to intramural play at Tech college "for this season only" by the existing powers, the first of a series of intramural track meets will be held over the campus oval and turf this afternoon. The teams of the School of Agriculture and the military corps meet at 4:30 this afternoon in a dual meet.

Russell "Dutchey" Smith, official track coach, will supervise the intramural games but has placed varsity men in charge of the thinly clads during the intramural season.

The meet this afternoon, open to all student and town spectators will include nearly all the events of a regular meet. Track events include high and low hurdles, 100-yard, 220-yard and 440-yard dashes, 880-yard run, mile run and half-mile relay. Pole vault, broad jump, high jump, discus throw, shot put and javelin throw constitute the field program for today.

Three Are Tied In Billiards Tourney

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., April 21 (AP)—Robert B. Harper of Denver, the defending champion, Frank Fleming of Champaign, Ill., and Walter Schwietzka another Champaign entrant, today were tied for the lead in the national amateur three-cushion billiards tournament.

Each won his opening match last night, with Schwietzka creating an upset by defeating Joseph Hall, San Francisco, Pacific coast titleholder, 50 to 39, in 83 innings. Harper defeated H. N. Purdy of Atlanta, Ga., 50 to 22 in 58 innings, while Fleming outscored Anthony Ciesl, Beaumont, Texas, 50 to 44, in 89 innings.

Malcolm Campbell To Seek New Mark

LONDON, April 21 (AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell has definitely decided to attempt to better his world's land speed record of 246 miles an hour set recently at Daytona Beach, he said today.

As soon as his car, The Bluebird, is returned from Buenos Aires where it was exhibited in the British industrial exposition it is to be rebuilt for the new attempt, said Sir Malcolm.

He said he considered Daytona Beach the world's best racing way.

PITCHERS ALL LOOK GOOD TO VET

SAYS A'S WILL WIN AT LEAST 85 OF THEIR GAMES

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—There is one young man on the roster of the world champion Philadelphia Athletics who knows considerable about their pitching staff. Most every day he's in there catching one of the other of Connie Mack's hurlers. Here's what Mickey Cochrane has to say about them:

"A two-man staff, eh? Well, now let me tell you something.

Walberg Is Right

"For the first time in a couple of years Rube Walberg is right again. And when he's right he's as tough a man to hit as there is in baseball.

"The Rube got away to a bad start last year. He got to shooting those left hand slants of his too much from the side. He got discouraged.

"Now all of a sudden he's back again. Rube is shooting them in there straight overhand and he's great. His curve is a corker and his speed is second only to Lefty Grove's and George Earnshaw's. Watch him this season. He'll win all year for us."

Having disposed of one of Connie Mack's chief problems, a third starting pitcher, Mickey went on to straighten out the situation even further. He reached right down and came up with a number 4 man for the staff.

Others Look Good

"This fellow is Hank McDonald, the big youngster from the Pacific coast," said Mickey. "He's tall and strong and weighs about 190. He should have beaten Washington in his first start but he got some tough breaks. He'll win ball games for us and so will Leroy Mahaffey. Roy's a cinch against some clubs. Bill Shores is hurt right now but he's been threatening for a long time and this may be his year too.

"Two-man staff, eh? Why Lefty Grove is a pitching staff all by himself. That game he lost to Washington Saturday was a heart-breaker. They only got five hits. He's better than ever this year. George Earnshaw always starts slow but they won't be beating him after June.

"I figure Grove and Earnshaw will win fifty games between them. Walberg will win 20 and McDonald is good for 15. That doesn't leave many for Mahaffey and Shores to get a chance at. Two-man pitching staff, eh?

"The first three months of this season will be the toughest for us. Washington has a whale of a ball club. The Yankees are always dangerous.

"You've got to figure Cleveland in, too. In fact you've got to figure all of them in until August. You can't ever tell where the breaks are going to go. But after August—well, it looks like the A's again to me."

JESSE HARPER IS COMING BACK TO NOTRE DAME TO CARRY ON FOR ROCK

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 21 (AP)—Jesse Harper is coming back to Notre Dame to carry on for the man who carried on for him—Knute Rockne.

Harper, athletic director at Notre Dame from 1913 to 1918, yesterday consented to return to serve in the same capacity, replacing Rockne whose tragic death three weeks ago today robbed the institution of its athletic leader. Harper will assume his duties May 1, the Very Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, president of the university, announced.

Position Familiar

Harper left Notre Dame after the 1917 football season to manage his father's ranch at Sitka, Kas., and prevailed upon the school's officials to give his assistant, Rockne, the job, although it was feared the latter was too young. He never was out of contact with Notre Dame's athletic situation, and will not find the position unfamiliar.

Where Harper not only acted as director of athletics in 1913-1918, but coached all major sports as well, he will do no active coaching this time. He will direct the administrative affairs of the athletic department, leaving football to Senior Coach Heartley (Hunk) Anderson, and Jack Chevigny, assistants to Rockne last year. George Keogan will continue to coach basketball and baseball, and Dr. Jon P. Nicholson will remain as track coach.

Harper, from Ashland, Kas., accepted the call from Notre Dame yesterday during a telephone conversation with Father O'Donnell. He said he was "glad to be called back after being away so long," and that he planned to continue the policies now pursued at Notre Dame.

STARS OF GAMES ON YESTERDAY

Babe Ruth, Yankees—Hit two home runs, each with one on, to beat Athletics, 5-4.

Harry Selbold, Braves—Blanked Giants, 1-0, with six hits in second game of double-header.

Charley Berry, Red Sox—Clouted Senator pitching for two doubles and pair of singles, drove in three runs and scored three.

Jim Bottomley, Cardinals—His homer beat Cubs, 3-2.

Willis Hudlin, Indians—Pitched effectively to stop Tigers, 9-3.

Nick Cullop, Reds—Homer with two on beat Pirates, 7-5.

Thrills of the First Woman Pilot To Fly Around the World Alone

By LADY MILDRED BRUCE

Arabian sand storms, Oriental monsoons, forced landings among wild, desert tribesmen of Baluchistan and the jungles of French-Indo China, did not stop Mrs. Mildred Bruce, who here begins the exciting story of how she learned to fly in seven weeks, and then hopped the globe

Lady Mildred Bruce . . . "I said to the instructor, 'I simply must have a lesson today. . . '. I'm flying around the world in two or three weeks.' . . . I am sure he thought I was quite mad."

"I swooped down and dropped a smoke bomb right in the center . . . These people ran faster than any Angorans ever ran before . . . and when they ran away, I landed."

I HAVE been asked many times during the last three months, why I undertook to fly around the world, but even now I hardly can say why I really did. Many things, perhaps, influenced me, but the chief one was that all my friends were flying in England—and that if I did not wake up soon and become air-minded, I should become so old-fashioned that nobody would want to talk to me.

But I think the thing that influenced me the most occurred one day about six months ago, walking down Burlington Street, London, and seeing a little aeroplane called a "Blue Bird," in a showroom with a price tag, and the words: "Ready to go anywhere." I had never cared about flying, in fact, I had only once been up in the air, and although I do a great deal of motorboat racing, car racing, I had always been afraid of flying.

I used to tell my friends that I should never fly. I told them sometimes I even hated butterflies or anything with wings. I used to say it made me dizzy to look at my own foot. And that was my outlook so far as flying was concerned until this day when I espied this little machine in a shop window.

I turned back and had another look. It was painted a pretty blue and silver and seemed so neat. I strolled down the street a little further and saw a very pretty frock in another shop window. This tempted me to go in, and I tried the frock on, only not to be pleased with it and impelled again toward the aeroplane. I lingered a while and then stepped inside.

I was greeted by a very smart salesman and asked him the price of the machine. I said, "Could one fly around the world in this?" and he replied, "Of course, easily." He was certainly a good salesman and spoke just as though he might have been selling a package of tea, a yard of cloth, not an aeroplane.

THIS impressed me, made me realize that flying was an ordinary affair and had really come to stay. When one found aeroplanes in shop windows and could go in and buy them just as one would a new frock, I suddenly woke up to the fact that I should soon be left behind, and become old-fashioned.

I did not buy the machine that day. I went home, but it was constantly in my mind. That same evening I took an Atlas of the World and from that moment I felt that I was going to take up flying and see all the countries of the world.

I took a pencil, drew a line from England to India, and then on from India, across the jungles of Siam to China and Japan. Here I would put my little aeroplane on board a steamer, fold its wings, and fly away again when I landed on the other side. So I drew my line across from Japan to Vancouver. From Vancouver I drew a line down the west coast to California and San Francisco, and from here across the United States to a little town called New Albany, Indiana. Here I drew a circle and I had the first idea of what I could do if I decided to buy this machine.

My mother is an American lady and was born in New Albany, Indiana. She left America 42 years ago to pay a visit to England, and met my father, who was an Englishman. They were married and she never returned to her home town. She said she lost all track of her relations and most of them had died.

Two days after I had first seen the machine in the shop window I met my mother and told her, "Mamma, I'm going to fly from Esher (that is the town I live in) to Indiana, and I am going to find the old house where you were born, and if I do I will send you a telegram and tell you what it is like." My mother was very upset at the time, for she feared for me to take this lonely journey.

BUT when she saw that I was determined, she gave me an American flag and said to me, "If you do find the house where I was born, drop this American flag upon it from the air."

I took the flag home with me and returned to Burlington Street the next day.

In 10 minutes I had bought the little blue machine. They asked me how long I had been flying and I told them I had not yet learned to fly, but that before I started to fly around the world, naturally, I would learn. The salesman certainly looked astounded and I expect he thought I was quite mad, to be organizing a flight around the world before I had learned to fly.

But there was a reason for this. There was so much to do in organizing a flight of this kind. There were routes to choose, supplies for fuel to be laid down, weather to be considered, so that if I were going, I knew that the only time of the year possible to make this flight would be in the autumn. That left me eight weeks from the day that I bought the machine. So you can well understand that I had very little time to worry about the flying part of it, and I naturally ordered the maps and arranged for my supplies before I had my first lesson.

I went down to the aerodrome at Brooklands and asked if I could have some lessons in flying. I said to the instructor, "I simply must have a lesson today. I'm flying around the world in two or three weeks." Again I was met with a look of astonishment and again I am sure the instructor thought I was quite mad.

Anyhow, six days later I had made my first solo and was well on the way to start off on my journey.

There still remained the most important part of the flight, and that was to learn something about navigation.

Seven weeks later, on the 25th of September last, 1930, at dawn, I left Heston Aerodrome on my great adventure. That was a very difficult moment for me, as I had to say goodby to my husband and my little boy, who is 10, and they looked so sad that it almost broke me down leaving them. My father was there, too, and he looked very upset; I can see them all now waving a last goodby as I disappeared into the sky on that misty September morning at dawn.

AS soon as I was in the air, I was all right and I had plenty to do. When one is in a machine, solo, one's time is generally fully occupied finding the way, and there is very little time to think of other things. I had taken with me a phonograph recorder, or dictating machine, as I had conceived the plan of making records in the air so that I would have a complete record of my flight made as I journeyed along. And I am very glad I did this because I was able to keep in constant touch with my friends at home and they were able to hear the records, which I posted to them at each stopping point.

My machine had been so heavily loaded with fuel and spares for this long journey that I had to decide whether to take with me the dictating machine or a parachute. I could not take both owing to the extra weight, and my husband told my friends, jokingly, "Please let her take the dictating machine because she can never be happy unless she can be talking."

The same evening, on the 25th of September, found me in Munich, and I was able to telephone my husband and bid him a final goodby. He was overjoyed at the fact that I had reached Munich and told me that all my friends had said that they had not expected me to leave England and that they expected that I should land somewhere in Kent.

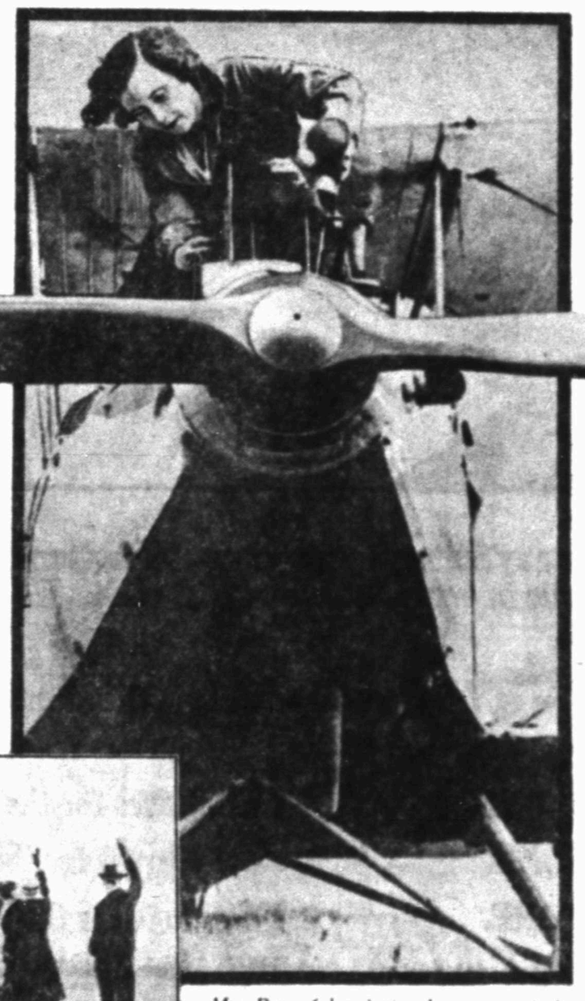

Everything went well for some days after that, as I did not experience any trouble until after leaving Constantinople. Now there is a great difficulty for aviators to make arrangements to fly over Turkey, and I was warned when I left Constantinople I must not detour at any point, and to make a non-stop flight of 650 miles across Aleppo, in Syria, north of the Holy Land. I had also been warned in England that I must not come down anywhere in Turkey, as the military regulations made it highly dangerous to fly over restricted territory in Turkey.

I LEFT Constantinople at dawn and flying across the Bosphorus, I started my lonely trip across Asia Minor. I had not covered more than 200 miles before I realized that the weather would not be suitable for me to make the journey across the tallest mountains, and, owing to the wind being directly against me, I know it would be necessary to descend somewhere in Turkey.

I decided to fly off my course about 100 miles to Angora, the capital, for I knew the governor was there.

After about three hours I sighted Angora in the distance and looked for the airdrome.

Angora is situated in a basin surrounded by mountains about 5000 feet above sea level, and you can imagine my disappointment when I could see no airdrome.

Mrs. Bruce (above) gives her motor a final going over . . . before hopping off on a flight . . . which was to take her alone around the world. . . . At left, the take-off in the dawn, with friends waving a goodby as the little "Blue Bird" took the air in England.

I found that the tiny little stadium in that town was the only place I should be able to come down, and I made several attempts to land, but a great number of Turkish peasants were playing football in the stadium and simply stared up at me waving their handkerchiefs.

I was carrying with me smoke bombs, which I used to drop when making a forced landing in order to determine the direction of the wind.

I suddenly thought of the idea of dropping one of these smoke bombs on the stadium with the object of frightening the people out of the way. I swooped down and dropped a smoke bomb right in the center. These people ran faster than any Angorans ever ran before, and while they ran away, I landed.

I was immediately surrounded by the military with fixed bayonets and rifles. I saw the astonishment on their faces when I stepped from the airplane and took my hat off, showing that I was a woman. They left right away to inform the governor, and soon he came down in his car. He spoke French, and as I was able to understand a little French, I was able to talk with him. I explained to him that I wished to land in Turkey and that I had come 200 miles to ask his official permission. This certainly did the trick.

THAT same afternoon I took off from the stadium and flew east to Eskishehr, another little military outpost on the great plateau. The military here were waiting for me and did everything possible to help me, filling my little machine up with gas and they piloted me with one of their own planes across a portion of the mountains the following day.

Although I had been told by so many officials in London, before I left, that anything might happen to me if I came down in Turkey, I could not resist sending a telegram home with the words "HAVING A WONDERFUL TIME IN TURKEY. BEST WISHES. MRS. BRUCE."

The following morning, having left Eskishehr, I made a second attempt to cross the final range of mountains, the tallest of which are 12,000 feet high. The weather was still very unsettled and the wind was blowing with hurricane force, which tore the aerial wires off my wireless installation. I did not descend, but battled on through the storm, making the pass about four o'clock the same evening. Now in that district the sun sets very quickly, and there is no twilight, and I saw that I was not going to be able to make Aleppo before sunset.

I had passed over the Turkish border and crossed into Syria. I looked about for a flat piece of ground on which to bring the machine down, and in the distance I could see a little village. I was soon surrounded by a number of Arab children, who galloped over on ponies and donkeys. They seemed very uneducated and rough and did not understand what I required.

Just as I was arguing and beginning to get a trifle anxious, as I did not like the looks of these people very much, I saw in the distance some horsemen coming towards me. They were the French military. The commandant galloped ahead and rode up to the aeroplane. He did not seem to see me at first hidden among these Arabs, but I quickly said to him, "C'est moi"—"It is I," in French. He seemed very mystified, but he smiled and told one of the soldiers to give me his horse, and then informed me he would have the machine guarded, and he would like to have me meet his wife at the military outpost about 10 miles away.

I was very glad to have been rescued, and rode back across the plain and spent the night in his little outpost. His wife was most kind. The next morning we rode back again. I started up my machine and flew off to Aleppo, some 300 miles north of Jerusalem. The next day I reached Bagdad and began my flight over the world's loneliest countries.

* * *

A broken oil line over the Persian Gulf, a forced landing in Baluchistan, and a meeting with desert brigands are among the thrilling experiences Mrs. Bruce relates in her next chapter, published in this section a week from today.

PIGEONS DIE IN BLAZE

McCULLOUGH HOME IS RAZED BY FIRE ON MONDAY NIGHT

More than 2,500 pigeons died Monday night as fire virtually destroyed pigeon sheds and residence of W. O. McCullough in the 3700 block of Twenty-first street. The birds which did not die in the flames were suffocated by smoke which filled the long sheds.

Effort to save either the household furnishings or the birds, proved futile, according to members of the fire department. Only a small section of the pigeon sheds was salvaged. It is thought that all of the pigeons quartered in the section escaping the fire were suffocated by the smoke, or died from the heat.

Beyond Control

The fire was beyond control when the fire department reached the residence, which is located outside of the city limits, officials of the department said.

Although the exact cause of the fire had not been determined, Mrs. McCullough said that she believed it originated at one of two gas heating stoves, which were left burning while she and her husband were outside of the building caring for the pigeons.

Partial Insurance

The fire had gained considerable headway before it was noticed, she said.

"We saw a great deal of smoke in the neighborhood, but thought that it was coming from a trash pile nearby," Mrs. McCullough said. "When we went to the house, it seemed that the entire interior was in flames."

The loss was partly covered by insurance.

Two Women Fined For Shoplifting

Two women were fined for shoplifting upon appearing in justice of the peace court Monday. The two suspects said they lived near Idalou.

The two women were charged with taking several small items, valued at approximately $2.50, from the Montgomery-Ward company store here.

Their fines were set at $1 and costs, totaling $13.15, each.

NEW AND GREENER GOLF GREENS ARE NOW BEING GROWN

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 21 (AP)—New and greener golf greens are growing in experimental fields at Penn State college department of agriculture.

They become green earlier in the spring, stay greener in dry weather and retain their color later in the fall. They are the result of applying literally one of the golf stories of the nineteenth hole—the caution of the player who said he studied every blade of grass before sinking a wonderful putt.

Among a family of grasses, the blades differ like a family of children. Some possess special talents for putting greens.

Agricultural science has developed methods of selecting just one such promising grass child and multiplying him uncontaminated until his offspring covers a field, a while new tribe as similar as selected peas. This is the work Mr. Musser has been doing for two years.

"When I sell anybody on Germ-Processed Oil once . . . they stay sold!"

THE use of Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil becomes a decided preference once you have had it in your crankcase. Its value to your motor, and to you, is quickly demonstrated. You may never have need to call on it for the extra safety factor it provides. You may never drive fast enough to test its ability to stand up day after day at 60 miles per hour. But when your speedometer says it is your usual oil changing time and you find your oil in perfect condition for longer use . . . when your gas-gauge tells you that your mileage has definitely increased . . . when the space of time between added quarts of oil and between repair bills has appreciably lengthened . . . then you know that you were right in changing to Germ-Processed oil.

¶So many motorists have changed to Germ-Processed and "stayed sold" that it has caused a real stir in oil circles. Join these motorists in their satisfaction. Stop today at the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle and ask for Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil. All grades 35¢ per quart.

Thought For Today

I have coveted no man's silver, or gold, or apparel.—Acts 20:33.

To the covetous man life is a nightmare, and God lets him wrestle with it as best he may.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Letter Writing

Few state executives in the United States have made any appreciable contribution to literature or the art of letters. Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania—always an individualist—has proved the exception.

Governor Pinchot has turned his attention to letters, in particular the state house correspondence. He has issued a list of ancient, cumbersome phrases henseforth banned officially from letters leaving the various Pennsylvania state departments. They are phrases familiar to every businessman, every stenographer. Here are a few samples: "Your favor at hand"; "contents noted"; "your letter of even date"; "and oblige"; "in re." The governor points out that such phrases are meaningless, waste time and tend to clutter up rather than clarify what the writer wishes to say.

Other critics have attacked this style of letter writing. One of the most celebrated is Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch, professor of English literature at Cambridge University, whose volume "On the Art of Writing" contains a masterly bit of satire, Hamlet's soliloquy written in the style of the average business correspondent. Sir Arthur's plea is that words should express thought instead of sound.

Even those whose daily mail never contains communications from the state of Pennsylvania can find satisfaction in Governor Pinchot's letter writing reforms. It is a slight step in clearing the language of archaic underbrush. Still it is a step. The whole matter of the morning mail needs attention. Too many words. Too many letters. Perhaps, once the meaningless words have been eradicated, some champion will come forward with a plan to do away with the meaningless, unnecessary letters every office receives. There would be a worthwhile reform!

"Even Up"

The law of the savage is "an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth." It is the spirit of revenge carried to the point of reprisal.

It survives in America in some of our laws. In many states, he who kills his fellow man must pay with his life if convinced of willful murder. This is nothing more than a primal law translated into modern usage. Perhaps it is the best method of punishing murderers.

The state of Michigan just said: "No it is not!" The people voted down a proposition to re-establish capital punishment.

This has brought to the front again the old question of whether the death penalty prevents murders. Statistics on the matter are controversial. The significant fact is this: England and other countries have proved a high percentage of convictions is a deterrent. Their few murders, compared with the number in the United States, proves it.

Figures show that the number of murderers who actually pay the supreme penalty in this country each year is comparatively small. In fact the percentage of convictions for all classes of murder is much less than in England, for example.

To worry about capital punishment, then, at this time, would seem to be evading the issue. Before taking up the problem of "to kill or not to kill" in reprisal, as the savages did, it would be well to consider the more important problem of law enforcement and the certainty of some kind of punishment.

For we know realization by the slayer that he will probably be convicted, even though conviction may mean only imprisonment, strikes fear into his heart. That will prevent murders. That is the important result.

A golf ball hit by a California woman killed two wild canaries. Even so, a birdie in hand would have been more desired than two in the bush.

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says a person who pines over his hard luck should spruce up a bit.

* * *

WE'VE all heard that 'people who live in glass houses should pull down the shades' but what of the people of 1965? According to building experts, the home of the future will be constructed of steel, rubber, glass and aluminum—which is something to ponder over.

* * *

These same building experts claim that the use of the above-mentioned products will build prettier homes, more enduring homes, healthier homes—which interests all of us—but The Plainsman, as usual, is 'from Missouri' when such innovations are discussed.

* *

If people are going to start living in such homes, where will our future presidents come from? The old log cabin disappeared and taking its place is the tenement. But it'll be hard to work up any sympathy for a fellow born and reared in a synthetic house, constructed through the courtesy of the United States Steel corporation, Harvey Firestone, Andy Mellon an the Kerr Glass works.

* * *

THE Plainsman won't vouch for the truth in this house-building forecast but to be on the safe side, don't raise your boy to be a carpenter or a building contractor. The advance dope is that these houses will be made in factories and shipped out to the user, just like automobiles or bicycles, and set up at about $4,000 a throw. Believe it or not, that's what the experts say.

* * *

We've got synthetic castor oil, synthetic gin, synthetic paints, colors and, in some places such as hospitals, synthetic food. Before long they'll be introducing synthetic babies to crawl over the floors of the synthetic houses.

* * *

BUT enough of this doleful patter. The City of Snyder is leading the way in something different, which proves there is something new under the sun. Under the leadership of Mayor H. G. Towle, the Scurry county capital is experimenting with a municipal farm with which the mayor and his commission expect to pay a lot of city bills.

* * *

The way The Plainsman understands it, the officials down at Snyder took over some city land that wasn't in use, laid out some irrigation ditches, turned on the water and let her rip. Now the land is in good shape for rowing crops and no matter whether it rains or not they'll make a good yield. That's municipal ambition for you, isn't it?

* * *

WEST Texas is still a long way from being effete, if that's the way you spell it. While not the land of the romantic cowboy and two-gun bandit, as some of the movies folks would have us believe, it lacks a lot of being entirely civilized.

* * *

Recent news dispatches from San Angelo tell of wolves and coyotes, roaming in five West Texas counties, slaying sheep and cattle at every turn. The animals are suffering from rabies, the report discloses, making every bite and slash near fatal. Groups of ranchmen have taken to the ranges, armed with rifles, to thin out the beasts.

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says the two most popular musical instruments are the horn of plenty and the dinner horn.

* * *

* * *

WELL, those politicians down at Austin, who are in the habit of smoking big fat cigars that other people buy for them, have decided that us poor folks will have to pay a cigaret tax. The way they explain it is that the tax will go on the manufacturer but don't you kid yourself. The well known "man in the street" will pay the bill.

* * *

Governor Sterling, according to the 'dope' from Austin, is in favor of the cigaret tax. It's a safe bet that he smokes cigars, if he smokes at all. Those boys down there wouldn't put a tax on the things rich guys like and use. They let Jones have it in the neck though, and expect him to like it.

* * *

The Plainsman doesn't give a darn about three cents a package tax on cigarets. If he doesn't spend his pennies that way, he'll spend 'em some other way. But it sure does get under a fellow's hide to be taken for a ride—to be made a chump out of.

* * *

Pretty soon they'll be taxing people for breathing air, eating cherry pie and walking on sidewalks. And all the time, with the taxes mounting, they'll be singing a song at Austin entitled "How Poor We Are".

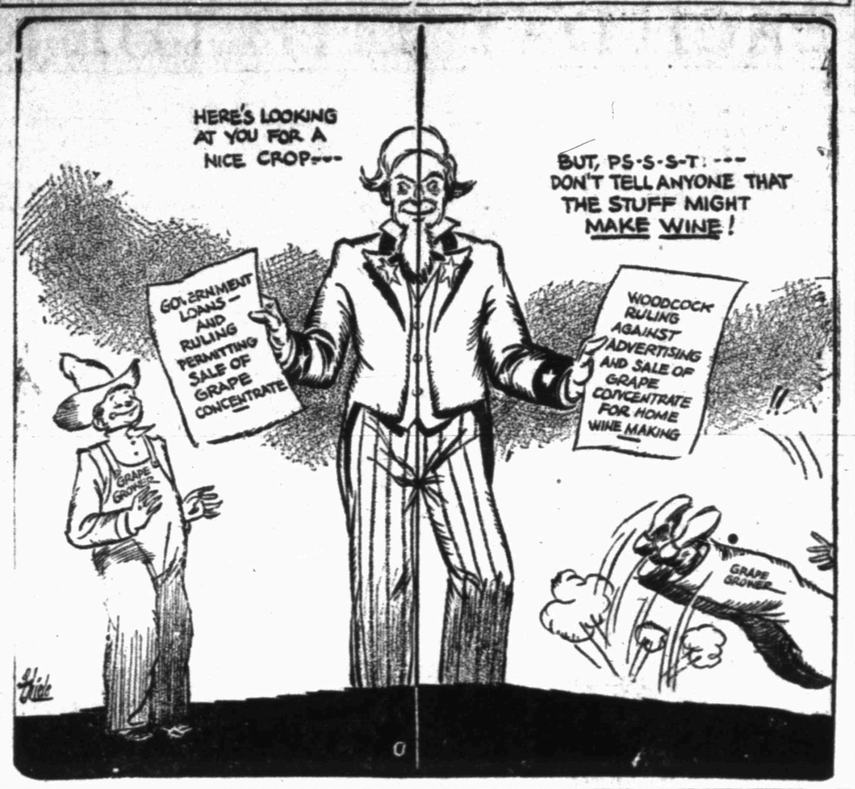

* * *

Many a young daughter looks like her mother because they dress alike.

* * *

According to an international survey, there is little unemployment in Switzerland. Climbing up and down the Alps would keep anybody busy.

Greater National Capital Committee To Spend $50,000 In Next Year To Boost Washington And Lure Visitors

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, April 21—There is plenty of opinion here that the capital gets quite enough visitors and it is also generally suspected that the rest of the country hears quite enough about Washington.

But the Board of Trade's Greater National Capital Committee will spend $50,000 in the next year to combat both those disloyal ideas and an expert municipal press agent has been engaged to sell Washington as a place to visit, to bring more conventions, tourists, permanent headquarters and trade organization headquarters here, to make better arrangements to take care of them all and to promote the city as the educational, musical and art center of America.

Free information facilities for visitors will be featured. New secretaries to members of Congress, charged with getting the office fixed up for the boss, complain that the government furnishes cuspidors for senators and representatives but not ash trays. The theory is that somebody with an economical mind decided the immense brass goboons supplied would hold everything.

Others on Capitol Hill are sore because that master showman, Congressman Sol Bloom of New York, impresario of the Washington bicentennial, unloaded in every one of the 531 offices a massive bust of George Washington, two feet high. Some members insist that they are aesthetically qualified to decorate their own offices, but the busts are pretty heavy and none have turned up yet at the town dump.

* * *

This city has been anticipating its own newspaper merger, but reports that the Washington Post had been sold have been denied by Ned McLean, its owner, who has been celebrated for his old intimacy with President Harding, the Hope diamond and other troubles. For months the rumor has been that the Post would be merged with Hearst's Washington Herald, the other morning newspaper here.

* * *

No collection of current local gossip would be complete without mention of the unkind things being said by Hoover's enemies about the president's invitation to Bryan Untiedt, boy hero of the Colorado bus disaster. "Ruining the boy at his own expense," they say, and point to the report of the White House conference on Child Health and Protection which warns against subjecting children to the limelight and emotional excitement. But the Hoover haters are always saying mean things like that and as long as the president, the boy and the photographers all have a swell time, no one is expected to interfere.

* * *

Nearly 10,000,000 persons have ascended the Washington monument since it was opened in 1888. The elevator, incidentally, holds 35 persons.

IN SERIOUS CONDITION

MINERAL WELLS, April 21 (AP)—Fred Poler, assistant manager of the Montgomery-Ward branch at Sweetwater, was in a serious condition in a hospital here today from injuries received Saturday night in an automobile collision three miles east of here. Charges were filed against a Mineral Wells man in connection with the collision, alleging he was driving while intoxicated and failed to stop and give aid. Poler was accompanied by Roy Bridgewater of Sweetwater, who was unhurt.

A fellow doesn't realize how many back-slappers there are until he acquires a tender sunburn.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1438 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining;" "Feminine Hygiene" "Indigestion and Constipation;" "The Care of the Hair and Skin," "Infant Feeding" and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

EMERGENCIES

A PATIENT was talking to me about the charge Dr. A. made for an obstetric case. She said it was not excessive, but that Dr. B. charged her friends less. But that Dr. B. charged extra for repair work, etc., and Dr. A.'s charge, it had been agreed beforehand, would include everything. Dr. B., she admitted, usually had to do repair work on his patients, so her friends' fees were usually actually more than hers. Dr. A. had not been compelled to do any extensive repair work on her.

Dr. Clendening

In my opinion Dr. A.'s charge was fair because the patient was paying him, among other things, for preventing a number of disagreeable or dangerous things from happening. He was a competent man and he was prepared for any emergency, even took steps to forestall any.

That is certainly what you should expect from your doctor—that he will protect you not only from disease itself, if possible, but also from useless, painful and dangerous procedures, of which the world is full.

Rereading the farewell address of Oliver Wendell Holmes to the medical students of Harvard, I found the passage in which he tells that one of the surprising things he learned during his early hospital career was that many patients got well without any medicine at all. It was a startling revelation in those days for, as Dr. Holmes said, a practitioner carried his own bag of drugs around full of bottles and pill boxes and dispensed the drugs to his patients himself. That was the only way he got paid. Patients would not pay for the "visit," but they would pay for the medicine. So they all got medicine. No wonder students and preceptories in medicine came to believe drugs were necessary to treatment.

But isn't the doctor worth his fee just as much if he saves you from the use of an expensive, probably inert and nauseous drug when it is unnecessary as he is when he prescribes one that is necessary?

Just after I was discharged from military service—the date is important to the story and that is how I remember it—I was called by telegram across the continent to see a patient in consultation. He had been told he needed a very serious operation. The surgeon, in my presence, told him if he did not have the operation then he would have to have it in two years, and if he did not have it then he would die within four years. I persuaded them both to wait and see. That was 12 years ago. The patient is still alive, has never had the operation, and is in better health than he ever was. Was I, or was I not, entitled to just as bountiful a reward as the surgeon would have received if he had performed the operation?

The sick man wants something done right now for him. "Let's get down to business at once on this—get things done." The doctor who saves you from doing some radical and useless, even harmful procedure is worthy of his hire.

The New York youth who was convicted of theft by the print of his rubber heel probably will henceforth watch his step.

SWAN

In New York With Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, April 21.—Notes from a convenient cuff:

Back stage, at the "biggest show on earth," I ran into Wallace Beery, of film fame, snooping among the cages and the animals. And why not? Have you forgotten that Beery began his career as a circus elephant man?

At Will Oakland's nightspot, in the guise of guest at the seventh birthday of Will's broadcasting over remote control—And there was a table filled with famous old-timers of Broadway; all of them folk who have seen their names in the brightest lights—Well after midnight, the orchestra swung into a grand old lilting melody: "The Merry Widow" waltz—A dapper, middle-aged man, getting just a trifle portly, rose and began to spin in a graceful, whirling step.—The dance of dances of another generation — — "The Merry Widow"—And this was the fellow who put it on the map—To wit, Donald Brian.

The old-timers shouted and applauded. The post-war youngsters asked curiously, "Who's that?" How were they to know that the women who now may be their mothers once framed his pictures and the matinee girlies stood in line just to get a peep at the gay Viennese prince the the operetta?

* * *

Broadway has a funny way of putting tags upon its people. If anyone happens to ring the bell for any particular achievement, the tag is never removed. It makes little difference what the person may do from that time on. He may become a bank president, a producer, a politician or a bum—but he's pointed to as the "guy that wrote that song," or the bird that "once sang that swell number."

George Cohan will never be able to divorce himself from the "Yankee Doodle" tag, or the "give my regards to Broadway," no matter how many fine roles he plays. Gus Edwards can put over a dozen movies but he'll always be the "school days" man. Weber and Fields, after a generation of trying to be producers and individual stars, finally surrendered to their old German-dialect duet. — — — Anna Held never lived down her "can't make my eyes behave" song — — — And if Eva Tanguay stepped back on the stage tomorrow everyone would shriek for "I Don't Care." Harry Lauder's audiences seldom fail to cry for "I got a lassie." — — No old-timer has ever forgotten De Wolf Hopper's "Casey at the Bat." And so it goes.

For these were the things upon which they made their first reputations — — the things that stopped shows back in the days when — — They grow into legends and are passed from one generation to another — — The old-folks want to hear and see them again and the youngsters want to know what they've missed.

My cuff reminds me that a new sort of sandwich man has appeared upon the streets. He is to be found chiefly on side streets where there are cheap-priced millinery stores. Instead of the old-fashioned sandwich signs he now carries the nifty, Frenchy wax head of a window figurine — — The head wears a tricky new hat and transplants the display windows right out on the sidewalks.

And while I don't go in for numerology and other forms of prognostication, a note from Lorna Fantin, the broadcasting young number expert, advises me to write down on my cuff that the Cards and the Yankees will lead the tickets next year. Or at least, so the mathematics indicate.

BURNS TO DEATH

CORSICANA, April 21 (AP)—One was dead and the second was critically injured in a hospital here as the result of a fire which swept a farm house near Rice, 12 miles north of Corsicana late Monday. Miss Edith Ellis, 25, died after being brought to a hospital here. J. C. Ellis was so seriously injured he was unable to give details of the fire.

CONDITION SERIOUS

SHERMAN, April 21 (AP)—T. N. Maxwell, dispatcher for the Texas Electric railway, was in serious condition here today as a result of an accident thought to have been caused by lightning. He was knocked unconscious while talking over a city telephone line.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Travel Man said, "I think we would have some fun if we could see the way some Chinese fishermen get fish out of a stream. I've read about it in a book. What say we go and take a look? They do their fishing in a way that you would never dream."

"Oh, goody, goody," Clowny cried. "A lot of fishing I have tried, but it has always been with pole and hook and sinker, too. I'm for this plan that you suggest. I promise to behave my best. It ought to be a real thrill to discover something new."

Wee Scouty promptly asked a man just where the nearest fish stream ran. The man snapped back in Chinese. Then he broke into a smile. "I speak good English, too," he said. "One mile ahead a stream you'll see." "Come on," cried Coppy, "won't take long to walk one little mile."

They reached the stream and there they found a fisherman was on the ground. Upon the shore a long boat stood and he was fixing it. Said Carpy, "Hey! We Tinies wish that we could watch you w you fish." "Climb in the boat," man exclaimed. "Real quiet must sit."

The whole bunch soon found the way the Chinese fished the l long day. Some trained birds sq ted on the boat. They were fishermen. They'd dive down in water quick and grab a large mighty slick. They'd bring it into the boat and then dive d again.

The fisherman said, "You note a piece of rope on each b throat. That's so they cannot low fish they catch within bill. Of course I feed my b real well and so they think sport is swell. To sit and w the birds all day is really quit thrill."

(The Tinymites visit a Chi school room in the next story.)

It's a terrible blow to me," the saxophone teacher critically his pupil hit a sour note.

CHICAGO'S NEW MAYOR IS QUIET AND RESERVED; OPPOSITE OF 'BIG BILL'

ANTON J. CERMAK

CHICAGO (AP)—A gentle, quiet man of imposing physical proportions, whose soft voice and kindly eyes give no hint of their owner's powers of leadership and organization is Anton J. Cermak, Chicago's new mayor.

In every aspect except the physical Cermak is the antithesis of William Hale "Big Bill" Thompson, whose long rule he overthrew in the April election. Thompson is a free, easy and often vindictive talker, and inclined to the staging of spectacular stunts for the entertainment of the voting public.

Cermak is reserved, taciturn, almost always serious except when attending ball games or outings, or with his family, of which he is most proud.

The mayor, despite his taciturnity, has a personality that has consistently won him friends, both within the democratic party organization and among the public at large, as attested by his steady rise in politics from a humble beginning to his present position. As virtual dictator of the Cook county board of commissioners and now as mayor of Chicago, he has headed two of the greatest money-spending civic units in the country.

A son of poor Bohemian parents, Cermak worked as a breaker-boy in mines near Braidwood, Ill., until he was 16, then came to Chicago. He gradually built up a scrap-wood business, then progressed in teaming and coal distributing and made some strategic real estate purchases that led to formation of a big real estate firm.

Meanwhile he was climbing the political ladder first as precinct committeeman, then secretary, president and ward committeeman, member of the general assembly, alderman, chief bailiff of the municipal court, and thence to the county position he has held since 1922.

In his only sally into national politics, he was defeated by Otis Glenn for a United States senatorship in 1928.

Much of his appeal lies in his humanitarianism, manifest in his creation of the Cook county forest preserve, huge natural playground, and his direction of relief work during the war and at the time of mine and hurricane disasters.

Partners—At Home, At Work

The bonds of matrimony are not the only ones that bind together these two graduates of the New Jersey Law School. A few days ago Francis Keating and his wife, Mrs. Anita P. B. Keating, were admitted to practice in the U. S. Supreme Court as partners in the firm of Keating & Keating.

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, April 21. (AP)—The stock market continued its fretful and unimpressive fluctuations in the early trading today.

The list worked a little higher during the first few minutes in continuation of the rally late yesterday, but turned downward by the end of the first half hour for the third successive day.

U. S. Steel sold up 3-4, then lost its gain. A further advance of 1 1-2 points in American Tobacco "B" was soon cancelled.

Railroads turned heavy. Nickel Plate lost 2 points and Pennsylvania and Frisco 1 point.

Eastman dropped 3 points and Auburn 5. American Telephone lost 2 points and Union Carbide, Sears, International Harvester, and Goodyear, a point or so.

Ingersoll Rand, a thinly traded issue, dropped 10 points. Trading remained sluggish and largely professional.

Sterling cables were firm, opening at $4.85 15-16, up 1-16.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, April 21 (AP) — Cotton here opened lower owing to very poor Liverpool cables, the weakness in the foreign market being attributed to a decline in Egyptian. First trades here showed losses of 10 to 13 points and prices eased off a little further after the start, July trading at 10.47 and October at 10.83, or 13 to 14 points below yesterday's close.

Near the end of the first hour, the market was a little steadier owing to the prospects of unfavorable weather and some improvement in stocks. Prices rallied three to four points from the lows.

The market ruled rather quiet most of the morning and after the slight rally at the end of the first hour prices eased off again on selling induced by fresh weakness in the stock market. July dropped to 10.44 and October to 10.79, or 7 points below the highest of the morning and 17 points below yesterday's close. At noon the market was slightly steadier and had recovered 1 to 2 points from the lows. Trading was very quiet at noon.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 9 to 12 points in response to lower Liverpool cables and a renewal of liquidation coupled with local and commission house selling. May sold off to 10.19 and October to 10.80 under this early pressure, or about 13 to 15 points net lower, but reports of cold rains in the western belt brought in covering. This checked the decline and offerings were well enough absorbed to cause rallies of 3 to 4 points by the end of the first half hour. Liverpool cables reports local and continental liquidation in that market influenced by weakness in Alexandria and said the business in cotton cloth and yarns was restricted. Egyptian futures in Alexandria were reported 5 to 36 points lower, and Indian spot quotation in Liverpool was 2 points lower.

Trading was quiet later in the morning with fluctuations correspondingly narrow and irregular. Rallies of 4 or 5 points from the early decline were not fully maintained but the market was holding fairly steady around midday at 10.20 for May and 10.81 for October, or about 12 to 14 points net lower. Much of the business consisted of further exchanges from near to late months with May ruling about 61 points under October at midday compared with 63 points at the close of yesterday.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, April 21 (AP) — Cotton opened steady today: May 10.22; July 10.50; Oct. 10.86; Dec. 11.08; Jan. 11.18; March 11.36.

NEW YORK OPEN

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP)—Cotton opened steady today: May 10.21; July 10.49; Oct. 10.82; Dec. 11.07; Jan. 11.17; March 11.39.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, April 21. (AP)—Rumors that there had been a change in plans to sell 35,000,000 bushels of wheat abroad from the holdings of government sponsored agencies bearishly affected the wheat market at the opening today. It had been announced some time ago that such an amount of wheat would be exported by July 1. Chairman Stone of the Farm Board later issued a statement, saying there had been no changes either as to export sales or the decision not to support the 1931 crop. Opening unchanged to 3-4 lower, the market in wheat soon stabilized. Corn started unchanged to 3-8 off and continued weak.

LITTLE THEATER HOME TALENT PLAY IS PRESENTED FOR SAKE OF CHARITY

Eight samples of what is affectionately—and often optimistically—called home talent composed the cast of "The Intimate Strangers," a three-act comedy by Booth Tarkington, as presented by the Little Theatre in the Palace theater Monday night for charity.

R. L. (Bob) Stevenson was convincing as a station master at a country junction in New York, and contributed some comedy, although all of his lines could not be heard in the rear of the house.

Portrayal Satisfactory

Mrs. Alfred B. Strehli's portrayal of Isabel Stuart, 28-year-old farm woman inclined toward mild flirtation, possibly was the most satisfactory of those carried through the three acts.

Portrayal of William Ames, another of those fellows who talked knowingly about "old fashioned girls" and became flustered upon meeting Miss Stuart, whom he believed to be one, was by W. O. ("Dan") Daniels. Mr. Daniels was fortunate in that his evident confusion usually contributed to the agitation he was supposed to be interpreting. In several instances he probably was more disturbed than Mr. Tarkington had intended.

Roles Effective

Alene Spears and Audrey Brown played juvenile parts as Florence and as Johnnie White, who came to the conclusion that Florence too long had taken him for granted. Miss Spears—a redhead as was Billie Burke in the original cast— and Mr. Brown handled their roles effectively. Miss Spears spoke naturally—in a clear and somewhat husky voice—and possessed the required attractiveness.

O. W. Ribble, Mrs. W. C. Rylander, and Mrs. J. H. Eubank completed the cast, having the parts of a houseman, an older half-niece of Miss Stuart, and a maid. Mrs. Rylander's part was the most difficult of the three and she performed creditably, while both Mr. Ribble and Mrs. Eubank left the impression that minor parts had been perfected.

Although Wesley Read, financial head of the Little Theatre expressed appreciations between the first and second acts, the period elapsing between acts was prolonged tiresomely.

Players sometimes forgot to carry articles from the stage when their lines implied that such should have gone along.

Proceeds were to be given to the Salvation Army and United Charities.

U. S. WARSHIPS PROTECT COAST

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP) — Along a 600-mile coastline United States warships were posted today to protect Americans from insurgents.

From the state and navy departments went orders which dispatched seven fighting vessels to seaports in Honduras and Nicaragua.

At La Ceiba, Honduras, the cruiser Memphis dropped anchor yesterday, her commander reporting none of the four principal ports of that country—La Ceiba, Tela, Puerto Cortez and the Puerto Castilla-Trujillo bay—was endangered seriously by revolutionists. Likewise, a lull was seen in activity near three Nicaraguan seacoast towns where American fighting ships were sent.

HOOVER SAYS SANDINO WILL BE CAPTURED

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—President Hoover said today General Sandino, the leader of the Nicaraguan insurgents, had "placed himself outside the civilized pale" by the murder of American civilians and Nicaraguans.

The president said he was "perfectly confident the Nicaraguan bandit General Sandino will be brought to justice."

Statement Given

The president's statement follows:

"Our advices are that the Nicaraguan government has now placed in the field a total of over 1300 men of the newly created national guard in a drive to clean-up Sandino and his fellow bandits. Our representatives advise that this force is several times that of Sandino and his bands. His raids upon important points have been frustrated by the dispositions of the guard and protection of our citizens on the coast is made doubly sure by the presence of our naval vessels.

"Sandino has placed himself and his band outside the civilized pale by the cold blooded murder of 8 or 9 American civilians and many Nicaraguans at isolated places in the interior.

"The Nicaraguan government has shown itself fully cognizant of its responsibilities. It is moving vigorously despite the difficulties created by the earthquake. While it may require some time to accomplish their purpose due to the mountainous and jungle character of the country I am confident Sandino will be brought to justice."

Meanwhile, a report from Rear Admiral Arthur St. Clair Smith to the navy department today listed total deaths of foreigners in Nicaraguan attacks at 16, including eight Amelcan civilians and one marine officer.

GOOD DAY TO BE ON THE ROAD

WAUSAU, Wis., April 21. (AP) —Unsung, a vagabond walked the railroad ties into Wausau. Bright and sunshiny, it was a good day to be on the road.

Two boys, Norman Knox, 7, and a playmate, inveigled by near-summer weather, decided to take a swim in the Wisconsin river near the tracks. The vagabond heard a scream. He rushed to the river, calling for help as he ran. He dived in, dragged one boy ashore, and went back into the water. Policeman Empy arrived and followed the stranger. Between them they pulled the Knox boy ashore. But he was dead.

As a crowd gathered and started to sing praises of the unidentified vagabond, he slipped out and disappeared down the tracks in his wet rags. It was a good day to be on the road.

TO SUSPEND TECH CLASSES SATURDAY

Texas Technological college students and faculty members will be enabled to aid in the annual district interscholastic meet here Friday when lecture classes are suspended from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the college, has announced.

The professors and students are to act as judges in the preliminary declamation, debate, extemporaneous speaking and other contests during Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

der Santa Anna at San Jacinto and in 16 minutes gained one of the most decisive victories in the history of the world's warfare.

Today the balm of April had given way to a wintry blast. Ninety-five years ago today Sam Houston's men, history will tell you, suffered from cold as they huddled about, waiting to charge the mexican army at 4 a. m.

The Texans charged that morning to the tune of Yankee Doodle, a letter from J. W. Hassell one of Houston's soldiers, to his family in Mississippi, stated. The letter is now in possession of the University of Texas.

"On the 20th the Mexicans recieved a reinforcement which augmented their numbers to 1,500 strong. Our number was about 800," Hassell said in his letter.

"Our officers determined to give them a battle at 4 o'clock in the morning. At the above stated time the drum beat a general parade," Hassell explained.

"Our colonel then ordered Yankee Doodle played and beat in double quick time, and we were commanded to charge. It appeared to me that we were among them in an instant and it would have done your heart good to see them fall.

"Well, sir, I must tell you that when we got so near them as to shake hands with them they could not bear that. They appeared rather bashful at such a meeting as that and turned their backs upon us About that time we were slaying them like corn stalks. This was an open field fight. We gained complete victory over them in about 16 minutes. We took about 700 prisoners."

REVIVAL BEGINS

A revival will begin at the Church of God, Third street and Avenue T, at 7:30 o'clock tonight and continue indefinitely, according to G. E. Anthony, pastor. Rev. W. E. Rampy and his wife, evangelists of McCamey, Texas, will conduct the services. Singing is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m. and preaching at 8:15 p. m.

BROWNWOOD BOY TAKES OWN LIFE

BROWNWOOD, April 21 (AP)—Pausing in the midst of a casual conversation with Miss Willie Simon, his estranged sweetheart, her aunt and another youth, Robert L. (Buster) Landrum, 23, placed a pistol to his temple and sent a bullet crashing into his brain. He died instantly.

The youth's family said he had been going with the girl for three years and that recently there had been a misunderstanding.

The shooting took place in the home of Mrs. Oma Maxwell, where the boy had gone to visit the girl. There had been no talk of the estrangement when Landrum calmly remarked: "This is the way to do it", and shot himself. A verdict of suicide was returned.

Mrs. Adams Rites Slated For Today

Funeral services for Mrs. W. Z. Adams, 76, who died at her home in the Acuff community Monday afternoon, will be held there this afternoon at 3:30. Services are to be in charge of Rev. B. F. Dixon of the First Baptist church there.

Following services, the remains will be sent to Greensburg, Indiana, for burial. Rix funeral directors are in charge.

Mrs. Adams died after a long illness. She is survived by her husband and relatives in Indiana.

A safe door recently was sent by the Cardiff, Wales, police to Scotland Yard, London, for the photograph and examination of fingerprints, in the hope that a clue might be obtained to what appears to be an expert gang of safe breakers.

ANOTHER HONEYMOON MAY BE ADDED BY MARY McCORMICK, PRINCE SERGE

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 21 (AP)—Another honeymoon may be added by Prince Serge Mdivani and Mary McCormic, opera star, to the one they interrupted after their secret marriage to assist police in tracking robbers who rifled their home of $12,000 worth of furs and rugs.

The pince, a Georgian nobleman and until recently the husband of Pola Negri, film star, said today he and his bride might tour the European capitals as soon as arrangements could be made for a longer absence.

Auto Honeymoon

The diva said she married Prince Serge ten days ago, but neither she nor her husband disclosed where the ceremony was performed. They said upon their return here Saturday night they had taken an "automobile honeymoon tour through three western states."

The prince added that they had planned to be married at Las Vegas, Nev., when they slipped away from the home of Prince David Mdivani and Mae Murray. Serge's brother and sister-in-law, but that they met newspapermen who knew them and "kept going." They said they were in San Francisco when they learned their house here had been ransacked last Thursday.

The secret marriage culminated a long romance. After the prince and Miss Negri first quarreled in 1929 at the film actress' chateau in France, Miss McCormic greeted him warmly upon his return to the United States. When it became known that Miss Negri was seeking a divorce in Paris, both Prince Serge and Miss McCormic admitted they were engaged.

Miss Negri is en route to Hollywood, where she plans to resume her motion picture career.

TO COMPETE IN AMARILLO

RUSSELL WILKINSON IN ORATORICAL EVENT THIS AFTERNOON

Winner of a local oratorical contest on the constitution, Russell Wilkinson, senior in Lubbock High school, will compete in a district contest at Amarillo late this afternoon.

"Personalities in the Constitution," was the subject of his oration, with which he won here April 10.

Twenty-One Entered

There are 21 students in West Texas high schools entered in the contest being sponsored by the Amarillo newspaper. Winner will be sent to the zone contest at Kansas City in May. Winners from each zone later compete for a trip to Europe, with cash prizes to each of the other contestants. Expenses are being met by the sponsoring newspapers.

All contestants must meet in the Amarillo senior high school at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Four groups will be formed, with schools of approximate size in each section. Winners of the four groups will then go into the semi-finals.

Prizes Offered

Prizes for first place winners in each group are; first place, official entrant in the Kansas City zone contest with all expenses paid; second, $50 offered by the Amarillo Bar association; third, $35 from the American Legion post; fourth, $15 by the Llano Estacado chapter of the D. A. R.

All second place winners in the four groups will be given $10, contributed by: B. and P. W. club, Little Theater, Speech Arts club and J. O. Guleke, all of Amarillo.

Out of town contestants and judges will be given a banquet tonight at 6 o'clock. T. W. Johnson, managing editor of the News-Globe, will be toastmaster. W. A. McIntosh, superintendent of Amarillo's schools, and O. V. Vernon of the chamber of commerce will speak.

Thompson Chairman

Mayor Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo is chairman of the finals contest. Judges are: Hon. Marvin Jones, congressman; J. O. Guleke, state board of education; C. W. Batchelor, head of public speaking department, W. T. S. T. C.; Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, head of public speaking department at Tech; L. E. Sheffy, head of history department at W. T. S. T. C.

Contestants are: Lola Pascoe, Amarillo; Ila Collier, Abernathy; Ruth Crawford; Bushland; Ethel Rowland, Dalhart; Orice Webb Dimmitt; Charles Bourne; Lockney; Russell Wilkinson, Lubbock; Lola Ruth Stanfield, McLean; Kathryn La Master, Perryton; Tommie Mae Boren, Memphis; Malcolm Carr, Pampa; Jensine Nelson, Panhandle; J. H. Kelly, Quanah; Marlene Vaughn, Tulia; Bill Swanson, Vega and Erith Grimes White Deer. Contestants not announced yesterday were: Childress, Friona, Hereford and Stratford.

Preliminary judges are from W T. S. T. C. They are, Dr. S. H Conron, Dr. Charles McColley, Mrs. T V. Reeves, Miss Hattie M. Anderson, Dr. J. L. Duflot and Miss Mattie Swayne.

Thurstons Standing Together

Just as they are together on the stage, Howard Thurston, noted magician, and his daughter assistant, Jane Thurston Harris, are standing together against Jane's husband of a year, Harry Harris. She is bringing suit for divorce and Thurston has filed suit for assault and battery following a quarrel in the Thurston's hotel suite in Detroit. According to Detroit dispatches, Thurston discharged tear gas from a fountain pen at Harris after his son-in-law allegedly beat Jane and had kicked Mrs. Thurston.

TEXAS SCHOOL GRADUATES ASKED TO WEAR COTTON CLOTHES AT EXERCISES

Texas school graduates were asked to wear cotton garments to spring commencement exercises in a letter received by the chamber of commerce Monday from J. E. McDonald, state agriculture commissioner.

The appeal bears the facsimile signatures of ten state officials the first being that of Gov. Ross Sterling.

In a letter accompanying the message, Mr. McDonald stated that the movement was being initiated as a means of teaching the school children the significance of cotton to the economic well-being of the state.

The message from the state officials follows in part:

"Texas produces one-third of the cotton production of the United States. Cotton is the greatest of all textile plants. Its economic condition is fundamental to the general welfare of every Texan. We, as your state officials and public servants, would be delighted if Texas teachers and pupils would clothe themselves for the closing exercises of their schools in cotton garments upon which are pinned bouquets of flowers plucked from the Texas prairies or gardens."

HORN WILL MAKE NINE ADDRESSES

Nine commencement addresses are on the schedule of Dr. Paul W Horn, president of Texas Technological college and one of the most sought-after speakers for these occasions on the South Plains, it was announced today.

Because of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention here the middle of May, Dr. Horn explained he had not planned to make many addresses over that week-end. However, some time ago he accepted an invitation to speak at Ballinger. He has two others the same week at Littlefield and Idalou. Because both are close to Lubbock, it will not be necessary to make an overnight trip.

His schedule is as follows: May 11, Quanah; May 12, Littlefield; May 13, Idalou; May 14, Ballinger; May 17, Anton; May 19, DeLeon; May 21, Big Lake; May 22, Mertzon; May 27, West.

Austria plans to spend nearly $71,000,000 on social welfare this year.

LOANS WILL BE DISCUSSED

REPAYMENT OF MONEY BY FARMERS IS TO BE TAKEN UP

In holding a group conference at its convention here on federal agricultural loans, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce hopes to formulate a plan for quicker and more complete repayment of the loans by West Texas farmers than by those in any other section, according to O. P. Thrane of Snyder.

Mr. Thane is chairman of the production loan conference. Jerry W. Debenport of Childress is secretary. The thirteenth annual convention of the regional chamber will be held here May 14, 15 and 16.

The West Texas chamber is actuated by the thought of demonstrating that West Texas agriculture is self-supporting and that the territory can "come back" sooner and stronger than any other farming section in the United States, Mr. Thrane declares.

The leadership and efforts of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have been accorded credit for securing the production loan appropriation, and he points out that it is as important for the loans to be paid back as it was for them to be made available.

Cooperation of the extension service department of Texas A. and M. college has been pledged to the program by O. B. Martin, dirtctor, who also is chairman of the Texas Drouth Relief committee.

"I certainly like your idea of putting forth special effort," Mr. Martin says, "to have the federal loans repaid. That will be the best advertisement for West Texas that could be devised. Prospects are good for normal crops and if the seasons keep up, most of the crops will be above normal. If prices are at all fair, it will be easy enough to pay these notes in full.

"If the efforts to live at home and sell to the family table and local markets are successful in large proportions, the debts will be paid and reforms will be started which will be far-reaching in the future."

LUBBOCK BANKERS ATTEND MEETING

Five Lubbock bankers were to leave here this morning for Big Spring to attend a meeting there today of the South Plains Bankers association.

Among the local men who are expected to attend the conference are Prance Baker, president; W. O. Stevens, vice president, and P. M. Hardwick, cashier, of the Citizens National bank; Roy Riddle, cashier, First National bank, and John Mitchell, cashier of the Lubbock National bank.

Mr. Stevens is to speak on "Bank Expense."

Youth Given Five Years For Slaying

CARTHAGE, April 21. (AP)—Willie Bynum, 16, confessed slayer of J. R. Kirby, 75, of Galloway community, near here, was sentenced to five years imprisonment in the state reform school at Gatesville by District Judge R. T. Brown. Cases of Frank Hensley, 25, and Jack Brimer, 28, under indictment in connection with Kirby's death, were dismissed by Judge Brown for lack of evidence on motion by the state.

The case consumed but 35 minutes after Bynum entered a plea of guilty. Kirby was found dead and the store looted last February. Bynum, arrested a few hours later, confessed.

The new PONTIAC

is a car of unusual grace and beauty . . economical . . powerful . . selling at only

DELIVERED $818 EQUIPPED

Owners of the new Pontiac are people who know from experience how to judge performance and quality. Theirs is no blind choice. They select Pontiac because it enables them to enjoy fine-car advantages at moderate cost. You'll appreciate these fine-car features:

NEW 60-HORSEPOWER MOTOR—An engine far above old ideas of quality performance possible at this price. Smooth, flexible, dependable—and decidedly economical despite its power.

FISHER BODY CRAFTSMANSHIP—That inimitable beauty of design and styling which contributes so much to motoring pleasure—particularly when you have guests. Upholstery is fine, durable whipcord or mohair. Cushions are form-fitting. There is plenty of room for the comfort of all in the car.

RUBBER-CUSHIONED CHASSIS—A distinctly fine-car feature greatly adding to riding ease. Road shocks are absorbed by rubber insulation at more than 40 chassis points. Rubber-cushioned shackles, an important part of this insulation system, not only promote comfort and stability on the road, but eliminate lubrication at 12 points.

INSULATED CONSTRUCTION—A notable advance in snugness of body structure and insulation which shuts out heat, cold, dampness and excessive noise. Building the cowl and windshield pillars as a single piece prevents leaks and rattles.

LARGE, POSITIVE BRAKES—Brakes that evenly grip all wheels with a stopping power that gives every member of the family new confidence in driving.

If the new Pontiac is anywhere near the motor car price you have in mind, test its actual value for yourself. A demonstration will be arranged at your convenience.
