Emergency Measures Taken to Combat Flu Epidemic Here

Welfare Board Provides Fund To Give Help

Dr. J. M. Whitworth, City Physician, Resigns Post to Enter Private Medical Practice; Dr. Filmore Named to Take Place

Drastic action to combat the influenza epidemic now prevailing in Wichita Falls was determined on Thursday at a meeting of the Municipal Welfare board which, among other things, set aside an emergency relief fund, authorized the hiring of additional help to assist in combatting the flu; received the resignation as city physician of Dr. J. M. Whitworth and appointed as his successor Dr. H. D. Filmore, recently of Iowa Park and now a resident of this city.

The action was taken at a special meeting of the board Thursday morning. Dr. Whitworth, who is resigning to devote full time to private practice in the city, turned in his notification just before noon and announcement of Dr. Filmore as his successor was made at the conclusion of an afternoon meeting.

Because of the severity of the flu epidemic here, especially in the negro districts, immediate action was found necessary yesterday and the meeting was accordingly called. Funds were set aside by the board and a committee composed of J. J. Perkins, chairman; Joe Huckins III, and J. C. Hunt appointed to administer them. They will be handled by Mrs. Kathleen Gorsline, secretary of the board.

Will Make Investigations.

She was instructed to make investigation of all cases, and an assistant will be placed in the central office during the day to handle all incoming cases and refer them to the secretary's disposition.

Mr. Huckins donated the services of one of his colored employes, who is an officer of the Negro Community club.

The chamber of commerce has loaned an automobile to the secretary to carry on her investigation in the emergency work.

Burton Stayton, president of the local chapter of Red Cross, announced that the Red Cross would furnish an additional bedside nurse to assist Miss Rosa Lee Harkins who has been working day and night during the flu epidemic.

Estimation of the number of cases of influenza in the city had not been made at the meeting of the board Thursday, but it is said that probably three thousand persons are suffering from the malady.

To Post Bulletins.

Bulletins will be posted by the Municipal Welfare Board in all public gathering places in the colored community advising that precautionary measures be taken.

The board went on record recommending to the board of directors of the chamber of commerce that an employment bureau be established for the next few months, and that a manager of this situation. Mr. Stayton should be employed full time to take will present the matter to the chamber of commerce.

Mayor R. E. Shepherd, who presided at the meeting, announced that Dr. Whitworth had tendered his resignation shortly before noon Thursday to take effect immediately. Every effort was brought forth to find a successor, and later in the day Dr. Filmore received the appointment.

Dr. Filmore has lived in Iowa Park for the past seven years and moved to this city two weeks ago with no intimation that he would be appointed to his present position. He is employed as full time city physician.

Captain in Army.

He was a captain in the United States medical corps during the war and spent two and one-half years in France. He has many friends in this section of the state and is well known here.

Dr. Whitworth has been in the city for almost three years in the capacity of city physician. He has formed a partnership with Dr. A. D. Pattillo and will remain in the city to do regular practice.

Those present at Thursday's meeting were Mayor Shepherd, chairman; J. H. Allison, J. C. Hunt, Burton Stayton, J. J. Perkins, Joe Huckins III, Hubert M. Harrison and Mrs. Kathleen Gorsline, secretary.

Republican Congressman In San Antonio Due For Lots of Fun

HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Record News Staff.

AUSTIN, March 11.—Representative Harry M. Wurzbach, the only republican in congress from Texas, is an insurgent, according to the republican bosses of Texas and there promises to be interesting developments in the San Antonio district. Harry M. Wurzbach is a native Texan and the son of a confederate soldier. He has won three times in his contest for a seat in the lower house of congress, this is a democratic district.

Rene B. Creager, the republican national committeeman and the close friend of President Coolidge, is a native Texan. State Chairman Nolte is a native Texan. The national committeeman and the state chairman are said to be out for the scalp of Wurzbach.

There are republican politicians who say that State Senator Julius Real will enter the race as a candidate for congress against the sitting member in the San Antonio district. Julius Real is a native Texan, of German ancestry, and hails from a democratic senatorial district. If Real makes the race against Wurzbach, there should be something doing of an explosive or exciting nature. In the counties of Guadalupe, Comal and Bexar, Wurzbach has a powerful following and this following is not confined to republicans. There are hundreds of democrats who have voted for Wurzbach in three rather memorable campaigns.

Klan Issue Uppermost.

Two years ago the klan issue was uppermost in the district and Wurzbach won by a majority of 12,000. At the same time, Julius Real was swept into the state senate over the democratic nominee by a very large majority. Conditions were not normal two years ago. Thousands of voters in these districts, all of German ancestry, voted in the democratic primary for democratic candidates for the major and minor offices. This happened in other districts in Texas.

Haskell Man, Lost From His Wife And Family for Year Because Of Lapse of Memory, Finds Joy at Last

The C. T. Scott That Abilene and Haskell Knew As An Executive of the West Texas Utilities Company Finds Himself to Be Dularcher of Chicago

HASKELL, Texas, March 11.—This is a story stranger than fiction, filled with mystery and romance. It has a touch of sorrow, a few heart throbs, and a happy ending. Above all, it is a true story.

A little more than a year ago a man was walking down the streets of Abilene without work or funds—and, so far as he knew—friends. He had suffered a lapse of memory. He knew not whence he came; neither did he know of the friends and loved ones who grieved because of his mysterious absence.

Suddenly he came to a halt in front of the office of the West Texas Utilities company. The merchandise in the window had a familiar look. He went in, asked for a job, and got it. His employers were highly pleased with his work. In a few months he was transferred to the Haskell office of the company to take charge of the plant. His work had merited the promotion.

Became a Popular Citizen.

In Haskell he became one of the town's most popular business men and took a prominent part in its affairs. But in the man's mind there was a great question mark. In Abilene and in Haskell he was known as C. T. Scott. He knew that was not his name, but neither did he know what his real name was. His memory refused to serve him. But gradually his memory began to come back.

In vain he sought to trace his footsteps of the last few years. Then suddenly there came to him the premonition that he knew someone in Chicago. He sent a photograph of himself to the chief of police in that city and asked for aid. Reproductions of the photograph were printed in the Chicago newspapers.

Wife and Family Grieved.

For more than a year a wife and two sons in Chicago had not heard from their husband and father. He had disappeared—literally dropped out of life. For more than a year the wife and two sons lived and hoped, grief-stricken though they were.

One afternoon one of the little boys picked up the paper.

Frantically, he ran into the house. "Mother! Here's a picture of daddy!" he exclaimed.

Soon there came a letter to Haskell from Mrs. F. A. Dularcher, whose husband had disappeared.

And now, while friends in Haskell still refer to him affectionately as "Scotty," F. A. Dularcher has found his lost memory. Mrs. Dularcher and their two sons, aged 12 and 14, have joined their father in Haskell. He is happy and is one of the valued employes of the West Texas Utilities company.

W. K. HALE GETS HEARING TODAY

Wealthy Oklahoman Named In Osage Death Probe

PAWHUSKA, Okla., March 11.—(AP)—Prosecution and defense joined tonight in declaring themselves ready for the preliminary hearing tomorrow of W. K. Hale, wealthy rancher and John Ramsey a farmer, charged with the murder of W. E. Smith.

Smith died with his Indian wife and a servant girl when their home at Fairfax was dynamited in the spring of 1923. Their deaths have been listed as among the several mysterious killings in the Osage country that prompted a state and federal investigation of an alleged conspiracy against the lives of wealthy Indians.

The investigation thus far has produced nothing in the way of prosecutions. Indictments returned by a federal grand jury against Hale and Ramsey were quashed for lack of jurisdiction. There are indications now, however, that a show down is imminent and that attorneys for both the state and defense are determined either to establish a basis of prosecution or drop the matter entirely.

JARDINE SAYS STAMPEDE FOR FARMERS VAIN

U. S. Will Not Be Rushed Into 24-Hour Panaceas, He Declares

AID MUST BE SOUND

Says the Problem Will Get Good, But Cautious Attention

DALLAS, March 11.—(AP)—The Coolidge administration "is not going to be stampeded in any 24-hour panaceas to aid the farmers, William H. Jardine, secretary of agriculture, declared at a luncheon given for him him here today by the Dallas republicans.

Sound changes based on accurate information is what President Coolidge wants and he does not expect to do anything in a "jiffy," Jardine said.

He is taking back to Washington, he said a true picture of the problems of Western Texas, "after several days spent in close contact with the ranchemen and dirt farmers of that section. This picture, he explained, is what the Washington authorities must have at first hand because 'the people who are actually doing things, the people in the country, are so far away from us it is difficult to obtain a clear picture of the whole situation.'"

Is Biggest Problem

The agricultural problem is the biggest thing in confronting the administration and the administration is intently interested in it but it expects to move cautiously he explained.

Secretary Jardine warned the democrats of Texas that the republicans are going to get you if you don't watch out and he said it wouldl be good plan to move some of the Texas democrats up to Kansas and some of the Kansas republicans down to Texas, so both states would have the two-party system.

"The two-party system i sa good thing," he said. "We need some of it up in my own state of Kansas. You need it here in Texas."

In agricultudal matters we are moving up the hill a little. We have made some progress, but we are going cautiously. President Coolidge desires sound changes, based on facts.

Want to Help All

"The country has such diverse interests that one thing good for a certain section may be death for another. What is good for farmers everywhere, that is the problem we must solve."

"The department of agriculture's interest in investigation of the cotton industry at present is in he organization of facts for congress to consider assured Mr. Jardine.

He declared that in view of the numerous requests for information on cotton business, particularly on cotton prices, his department feels justified in conducting a "fact finding" investigation.

The cabinet member believes it would be unwise for the government to go into the business of organizing or controlling the agricultural industry and expresses no views as to possible stricter governmental regulation of the cotton industry.

"Leave it to the farmers," he urged. "By their own efforts and their own organization they will put the cotton business on a good sound basis."

Newspaper Poll On Dry Law Without Value, Says League

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—Friends of prohibition "should not and as a result do not participate" in unofficial newspaper polls on prohibition the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon league declared in a statement published here today.

The league holds, the statement said, that "straw ballots upon questions which have been decided in a legal and orderly manner by the whole electorate by the methods provided in the constitution not only serve no good purpose, but actually create a false impression."

Opportunity for repeated voting, frequently ambigious character of ballots and "the limited number who participate in any voting precinct make such tests of public opinion valueless," the committee said. "The irreconcilable and thirsty minority," it said, "is always more active in such ballots than the majority."

Methods of the unofficial wet committee of the house were condemned in the statement which was signed by Bishop Thomas Nicholson, president of the league, and 18 others.

SENATE ASKS TARIFF PROBE

Effort At Executive Influence Over Board Is Also Quizzed

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—Investigation of the tariff commission and of charges that President Coolidge and others have sought to influence it, was ordered today by the senate.

The inquiry will be conducted by a special committee of five senators—one republican insurgent, two regular republicans and two democrats. The committee will be selected by Vice President Dawes after consultation with leaders.

There was little opposition to a general inquiry as originally proposed by the democratic leader, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, but the proposal to investigate specifically all efforts to influence the official acts of the commission met stubborn resistance from administration senators.

This proposal was put forward as an amendment by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, who recently laid before the senate a series of letters from members and former members of the commission alleging efforts at executive influence. The senate approved it, 38 to 30, with a combination of democrats and republican insurgnts constituting the majority.

Negro to Die For Assault on Girl

AUSTIN, March 11.—(AP)—Gv. Miriam A. Erguson made no announcement on the execution of Willie Vaughn, negro, set for some time after midnight tonight at the state prison at Huntsville. Vaughan was sentenced to die in the electric chair for criminal assault on a young San Antonio white girl. The court of criminal appeals affirmed the sentence, and the woman governor did not interfere.

The young girl was on her way to early mass when the crime was committed. She was passing through a park when attacked. She was found some time later, in a serious condition. When she regained consciousness she said she could not tell whether the man was negro or white, except that he had a nose that "filled her hand." She had scratched and fought her assailant until she could remember no more.

Skin of a negro was removed from under her finger nails, and Vaughan was found with his face badly scratched. He fitted the meager description given by the girl.

HIGDON HAPPY AT ESCAPING DEATH DECREE

He Killed His Sweetheart On the Day Set For Nuptials

TELLS OF DEATH TRIP

Girl, Dressed In Marriage Gown, Was Slain In a Pasture

WEWOKA, Okla., March 11.—(AP)—Erman P. Higdon was found guilty of first degree murder by a jury in district court here tonight and sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary. He was charged with killing his sweetheart, Rita May Gosa on February 14, two hours before they were to have been married.

Formal sentence will be passed by Judge Crump Saturday, it was indicated.

The early verdict was a complete surprise to the many court spectators who expected long deliberation. Few of the hundreds who crowded the tabernacle, which served as a court room during the day, were on hand when the jury reported.

Is Relieved at Verdict.

Higdon seemed greatly relieved when the jury's recommendation for life imprisonment was read. He had nothing to say, except that he did not know whether his attorneys would ask for a new trial or would appeal the case. His counsel, likewise, gave no indication of what their next step would be.

In connection with the Higdon trial it was brought out that the death sentence has never been imposed in Seminole county either before or after statehood.

Higdon killed his sweetheart as she was preparing to go to the church for their wedding.

A Tragic Courtship.

Throughout the day until late in the afternoon witness after witness added bits to the tale of the rural courtship and its tragic end.

Higdon himself told most of the story. He had known Rita May four years, he said, had learned to love her and had won her promise to marry him about a year ago. Their wedding was to have been on Feb. 14. Their little home which he had built was ready.

With scarcely two hours remaining before the ceremony he went to Rita May's home, intending to go from there to the church. They were left alone. The girl told him, he said, that there was something he must know before the ceremony. It was that she expected to become a mother. The child he declared was not his.

Higdon had given Rita May his pistol. He asked her for it. They were standing in a pasture near her home, the girl in her wedding dress.

Kissed Her As She Fell.

Higdon said he took the pistol and fired one shot through her heart. She fell in his arms. He laid her on the ground he said and kissed her. Then he hid the gun and went to tell her parents who were at a religious service that she was missing. Searchers later found the body. Higdon did not lead them to it.

"I don't know," was all he said when state's attorneys demanded the reason why he killed her.

Higdon's defense was insanity. It was not made until late in the day when Dr. M. M. Turlington of Seminole testified that in his belief the boy was momentarily insane when he fired the shot.

"He was in a jealous rage," Dr. Turlington said, "when he shot Rita May. I know that is not classified as insanity but I believe it should be. I have practiced 30 years in Seminole and have known Erman a long time. He was always mild mannered. I am convinced that the discovery that his bride-to-be was expecting motherhood unbalanced him for the moment. I believe he is perfectly sane now."

Boy's Parents Testify.

Higdon's parents both testified for him. His mother Mrs. Lulu Higdon, 42, said that she objected to his association with Rita May and that as a result of the difference of opinion, Erman left home in December. The state protested when she started to answer a question as to the basis of her objection to the courtship and the query went without a reply. Wes Higdon, the boy's father also voiced an objection to the match and said that he "drove Erman from home" because he would not forget his love affair.

The trial today was held in a large tabernacle erected for a union religious service having been moved there when such a crowd overran the court house on the first day that not half who came were able to hear the testimony.

SELF DEFENSE RANGER'S PLEA

Grover Dunn, Former Officer, to Trial for Death Of Lufkin Resident

CENTER, Texas, March 11.—(AP)—Graphic stories of the fatal shooting of Ben F. Smith at Lufkin in September 1924, were related here today by the first of the eye witnesses, summoned by the defense in the murder trial of Grover C. Dunn, ex-ranger, whose attorneys are trying to prove he shot Smith in self defense.

Tom Mantooth, who said he was across the street at the time of the shooting, testified that when the first shot called his attention to the scene, Smith had his hands at his right side as though attempting to draw a pistol Under cross examination, Mantooth said he was not "clear" as to how Smith fell face down some distance away and with his head in the opposite direction.

Previously John Brantley had testified for the defense that he ran to the scene immediately after the shooting and that Dunn had cautioned the crowd to "stand back," that Smith "might get somebody." He denied that he had heard Smith ask who shot him, as was adduced in yesterday's testimoony or that Dunn had said, "stand back" I'm going to shoot him again." Brantley said that when he saw Smith lying on the ground with Dunn standing over him, Smith appeared to be reaching for a gun.

Vernon May Give Up District Meet

VERNON, March 11.—Vernon school officials may be forced to ask some other town to hold the district Interscholastic league meet this year because there is no track available here, according to Superintendent W. T. Lofland of the high school. Inquiries are coming into the local superintendent's office in regard to the meet daily, and the officials have been unable to secure any sort of a track up to date, it was announced.

Vernon has been designated as the permanent district center, and the annual meet has been held here each year.

The athletic and literary winners of nine counties have assembled here each year. The recent sale of Fair park to private interests lost the Fair park track to the local school and no other track has been obtained.

The district meet is scheduled to be held April 16-17, according to Mr. Lofland, and the county meet is to be held here on April 2-3.

At present the Vernon track team is working out daily by running around the blocks in the vicinity of the high school.

MARINE CORPS OFFICER IS MUM

Col. Williams Refuses To Discuss Butler's Dry Charge

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 11.—(AP)—Under technical arrest as the result of charges of intoxication brought against him by Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler of the marine corps, Col. Alexander Williams, until recently commander of the local marine base, is maintaining strict silence, so far as words to reporters are concerned and so are all the other officers interested in the case.

The large navy colony in and about San Diego, however, is doing a lot of talking about the case, although not for publication. The incident arising from a dinner party given in General Butler's honor by Col. Williams, who relinquished his command to the latter on his arrival here from his tour of duty as head of Philadelphia's police, has caused keen interest.

Speculation today among navy and marine officers interested in the action to be taken on the charges which have been turned over to Rear Admiral Robertson, commanding the 11th naval district, for transmission to Washington.

The phases enter into General Butler's charge of intoxication against Col. Williams. The first concerns reports that a dinner given by Col. Williams at his home in Coronado last Saurday night at which General Butler was the guest of honor, cocktails were served. Reports declare that General Butler made some pointed remarks.

Gneral Butler's report as to intoxication, however, the second phase, referred to the allegation that Col. Williams appeared in an intoxicated condition after a hotel party in Coronado which followed the dinner at the colonel's house.

US Would Cancel Texas Co. Patents On Cracking Plan

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP) Proceedings to cancel 16 patents, through which the Texas company is alleged to control or threaten to control the manufacture of gasoline by the "cracking process" were filed by the department of justice today in Brooklyn.

The suit names as defendants Joseph H. Adams of Flatbush, Brooklyn, and the Texas company. It alleges that fraud was practiced on the patent office in order to procure the patents.

Adams, the government charged, prepared false affidavits and obtained false affidavits from others "for the purpose of misleading and deceiving patent office officials."

Department officials said today they understood that more than $1,000,000 was paid by the Texas company for the patents which were issued beginning in 1919.

BURKBURNETT, March 11.—On Thursday morning at 5 o'clock fire destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Howell on South Avenue D, near the Tidal Western refinery.

Highway Board To Consider Change In Road Law of Texas

FORT WORTH, March 11.—Announcement that a meeting of the legislative committee of the Texas Highway association is to be held in the near future to consider the effect of the recent decision of the United States supreme court in the Archer county road bond case was made today by W. T. Wheeler, secretary of the organization.

Official call for the meeting is to be issued by Leonard Tillotson of Sealy, chairman of the committee. A large number of leading citizens representing every part of the state also will be invited to meet with the committee.

The supreme court's decision in the Archer county case, Wheeler said today involves approximately $100,000,000 of district road bonds and will tie up completion of a large number of miles of highways which are now under construction. It also will prevent, he believes, the starting of other highway projects, which means that highway building in the state will be materially handicapped until the suitnation is remedied.

"Something must be done, and done quick," Wheeler's announcement stated, "and the Texas Highway association is the proper agency to handle the case. There is too much at stake todelay."

TO SELL FAIR STOCK IN WEEK

Hope to Raise Full $100,000 Budget In Short Time

With committees practically completed and with the detailed plans outlined, all will be in readiness by Saturday afternoon for the big campaign starting Monday for the sale of the $100,000 stock in the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association. W. B. Hamilton is general chairman in charge of the campaign and is enthused over the promised success of the work. General Manager Hubert M. Harrison of the chamber of commerce, the campaign director, announced last night that final details for the canvas would likely be made today so that the committee may enter on their work Monday morning.

One Week's Work

It is the hope of those in charge that the entire stock of $100,000 will have been subscribed before the end of the week. Already $16,500 of the stock has been taken. This amount was subscribed March 6, at a meeting of fair association directors when plans were considered for financing the fair in order that the 1926 event might be made bigger and better.

Many Taking Part

Many prominent men of the city are urging the purchase of the stock, contending that the success of the campaign means much toward the development of the valley, in that it will give Wichita county an opportunity to show what may be grown on the irrigated land of this section. The success of the campaign, it is said, will enable the fair officials to begin now the plans for the fair this fall. All indebtedness will be paid with the stock subscribed and this will enable those in charge to begin for a bigger fair.

IT HAPPENED IN JERSEY

FOR an annual expenditure of $225,000 for mosquito extermination work the state of New Jersey has received $43,000,000 in increased taxable value. The statement was made by Arthur Stringer of Chicago, assistant director of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, who said the mosquito caused three million cases of malaria annually, which means an economical loss of one hundred million dollars. He made this declaration before the Thirteenth Annual convention of a New Jersey Mosquito extermination association.

There were many speakers and many papers read. All foresaw the time when mosquitoes would not be tolerated in any section of the country. Use of moving pictures in an educational campaign was urged. General Gorgas exterminated the mosquito pest in the Canal zone. In destroying the breeding places of the winged scourge, he destroyed the germs of yellow fever as well as typhus and typhoid. He made it possible for the building of the Panama canal. He made it possible for the mortality rate to drop from the highest figure known in semi-tropical countries to the lowest.

After Gorgas had finished his work, Panama was just as healthy a place to carry on as Utah where the Mormans enforce the laws of sanitation to protect the public health and the death rate is the lowest in America. Why shouldn't the mosquito plague be banished from Texas? Why should the breeding places of mosquitos be permitted to flourish?

Why should the mosquito be fostered and protected through the indifference of public officials or rather the people themselves who are responsible for the existance of breeding places for the winged pests which carry disease and are responsible for malaria and many other afflictions of the body as well as the mind? New Jersey endured the mosquito pest for a hundred and fifty years, and then some of the people came out of their trance. They drained the marshes, which were under the very nostrils of Miss Manhattan Island. They made use of the proper preventative. It cost some money to do it, but it added millions of dollars to the taxable values of the state, reduced the death rate and decreased annually the number of cases of malaria and other fevers which torment the mind and rack the body. There is no reason why a mosquito plague should prevail any place under the shining sun.

General Gorgas pointed the way. He won where the greatest of French engineers had failed. Yellow Jack had been the terror of Panama for four centuries. General Gorgas slew Yellow Jack. He did not do it with gun powder or the sword. He did it by adopting the proper laws of sanitation and then saw to it that these laws were rigidly enforced. He had the military behind him. He did not have political boards of health or political inspectors as law enforcement agents.

He destroyed the breeding places of the mosquito tribe and in so doing he destroyed the mosquito death messenger. Gorgas did not build the Panama Canal, but he made it possible for the engineers to build it. France and the people under their brilliant engineer in a vain attempt to channel the Isthmus of Panama and thus unite the waters of two oceans. Thousands of Frenchmen and thousands of natives were swept away by the yellow fever and malaira and typhus.

De Lesseps did not have a Gorgas to destroy the breeding places of disease and so he lost the fortunes of his countrymen, his reputation as one of the foremost engineers of the civilized world, and died years before his days should have been numbered. And the mosquito death messenger was responsible for it all.

Gorgas should have a monument down on the Isthmus as tall as the highest peak Exterminate the mosquito. Do it by exterminating his breeding place. It will cost a little money and a little effort. Gorgas pointed the way.

NOW IT IS TEA

AMERICANS drank more tea in 1925 and paid more for it than ever before. In that year imports of tea approximated 1,962,226 pounds, valued at $31,455,181. Per capita consumption for the year was almost a pound. Imports for the year had been exceeded only once in the past five years, but never surpassed in value. British possessions supplied approximately 48 per cent of the tea consumed in the United States, with 29 per cent coming from Japan and 12 per cent from China. Herbert Hoover isn't on the job. He should insist that Americans cultivate their own tea plants. He has had his fling with rubber and sugar and coffee and dye stuffs and phosphates. Why overlook tea?

HUNTING FOR OIL IN ALASKA

A GREAT scandal was caused when the Harding administration turned over the naval oil reserves in Wyoming and California to Harry F. Sinclair and Edward L. Doheney. It will be recalled that the officials of the Harding administration asserted that new naval oil reserves would be found in Arctic Alaska. Now a search for oil in the Alaskan petroleum reserve is announced by the department of the interior.

Gerald Fitzgerald and W. T. Smith of the United States Geological Survey, will do the research work. Both are said to be familiar with the northern Alaska penninsula, having made several trips there to make topographic surveys and examinations for oil. It is interesting to be told that the Alaskan region in which the naval reserve is located, is so remote and inaccessable that only by travelling during the summer is it possible to take advantage of the brief open season when the Arctic circle country is free from snow and rocks are exposed.

Throughout the area there are no trees. Even bushes to supply fuel for camp purposes are scarce. They will go by rail to Seward, Alaska, the southern terminal of the Alaska railroad, then the party will go by railroad to Nenana, where they will buy dog teams, then they will take the mail route by dog team on a run of 700 miles, and if they have good luck, it will take twenty-seven days to get to the naval oil reserve.

They will carry six months supplies, and will probably not even see a person, white or native, until they return to the coast in September. It is believed that as a result of their survey, an area from seven thousand to ten thousand square miles of hitherto unsurveyed country, a tract about as large as Massachusetts will be mapped, and that the major geologic features will be determined, as well as the principal kinds of mineral that are likely to be found in the region.

Under Alaskan Arctic circle skies, a petroleum discovery would be valuable, would it not? And a bunch of politicians traded the rich oil reserves of Wyoming and California for an alleged prospect under the northern light. Politicians are very wise men.

BEST YEAR OF THEIR HISTORY

ACCORDING to a New York financial journal while the American railroads as a whole enjoyed the best year of their history during 1925, the prosperity of those in the southern district was outstanding. Southern railroads showed the largest gain in both gross and net, and appropriated the largest amount for the preservation of their property. Furthermore, according to the aforesaid financial journal, the Florida boom was only partially responsible for the large increase of traffic in the southern territory. This comment is interesting:

"The various commercial organizations in southern cities have been boosting for many years, and have apparently made some headway in selling the southern climate and the opportunities it offers for agriculture and industrial enterprises."

Why "apparently?" More than four hundred million dollars was the northern investment in Florida enterprise in 1925, and the so-called boom is still on. And then take the Texas coast country, the Magic Valley, the Plains country, the Panhandle country and other sections of Texas where the drive is on and investors and home seekers are arriving by the train loads.

All this will convince the doubting Thomas that the various commercial organizations and the newspapers have made astounding headway in selling the southern climate and the opportunities it offers for agricultural and industry enterprise.

Really, the old south is dead; a new south is on the way, and the new south will be a section that will be rich beyond the dreams of avarice and the manufacturing as well as the agricultural leader of the United States.

The Powerful Katrinka

When she entered the modest waiting-room—Cochran's office was not in one of the official buildings—she found it filled already to overflowing. A courteous but firm secretary advised her that her turn would not come until the day after tomorrow. Molly said she would wait. All that day she waited—and the next.

At a few minutes before closing time on the second day the secretary beckoned to her. Some official had been unable to keep his appointment. If she could be brief—verboseness wouldn't help her with Mr. Cochran anyway. This with a smile, as one who gives a friendly tip. Perhaps he felt sorry for her because she had waited so long.

The secretary was holding the door open for her—a trifle impatiently. She crossed the threshold. The door closed behind her.

"Won't you be seated?" the man at the desk said, without looking up. He was jotting down some memoranda or other on a pad.

Molly sank into the chair nearest the desk, and he went on writing, oblivious at once of her presence—of her very existence. Five years, yet how little he was changed—a sprinkling of silver in the bronze hair, the face a little more reserved, more careworn, perhaps, the lines cut deeper. But not so changed—surely not so changed as she, or he must have recognized her at once, even through the veil, even without looking up. She could not have come into a room without her knowing it.

She was so close she could have leaned across and touched him. She could have whispered, "Greg, look at me. I am Molly, and I love you . . . But that was not what she had come to say. She had to keep reminding herself of that.

Greg there so near—oh, so dangerously near, and yet . . . A treacherous, hot rush of tears against the veil required at that moment all her attention.

Presently Cochran shoved back the pad and turned with the deliberate cumbrous movement she knew so well. "And what can I do for you, Miss"—he paused to consult the card before him—"Bayne . . . ?" "Margaret Bayne" was the paraphrase of her great-grandmother's name which Molly had chosen to use.

She did not answer at once. The few simple words when finally she brought them out took all the courage she owned—or ever had owned or ever would own. "I'm not Miss Bayne. I am Molly. I must talk with you. It is of the utmost importance to you . . ." Her eyes were fastened on the hands clasping and unclasping at her knees. For a long time he said nothing at all, and she dared not look at him.

But she might have known that his face would betray nothing. When at last she lifted her eyes she could not be certain even that he had heard her. She was about to repeat her words, when he said courteously, as one addresses a stranger in the street who has made an error in identity: "I'm sorry. I'm afraid there's some mistake. I know no one by either name."

"Greg . . . !" Molly pushed aside at him, her eyes wide and blank with fear—blue as blue glass. He looked back at her—still as one regards a stranger in the street. That look—it was not angry, it was not even reproachful. It merely denied her existence.

He picked up a sheaf of papers from the desk and began to assort them in the orderly, methodical way he had. "The only person I ever knew by that name is dead."

Molly went on staring at him. There must be some way—something she could say, something she could do. But, no, she knew him too well. He was four square, impregnable.

"Greg," she said, "you don't need to recognize me. I know I don't deserve it, and it doesn't matter. . . . But I must tell you why I came. Rumor has it that you are to be married . . ."

"Pardon me—I am not in the habit of discussing my personal affairs with strangers."

"I know, but you must hear this I have seen Stephen Renfro. He recognized me. If you do marry, he has threatened exposure, scandal. You see what it would mean—at this critical time—not merely to you . . . I didn't know but maybe you thought I was dead. I had to let you know."

"You are very good," he said, rising with the air of one who brings an interview to a close, "but I believe there's nothing to concern yourself about."

"There is, Greg—you won't let me tell you. But you must listen to this. If there's anything I can do to give you your freedom, to make it possible for you to be happy . . . if there's anything at all . . ."

He came over, took up a deliberate stand in front of her. Again she could have reached out and touched him—oh, so easily. "Perhaps," he suggested, "it is you who wish freedom . . ."

"No, not that—not that." She made a single movement of negation, and turned away her face. Head bent, hands still clasping her knees, she was, without knowing it, in almost exactly the same attitude in which he had first seen her—like a slender pine tree blown half over by the wind. "Greg, won't you let me do this—for you? It's the last thing I shall ask. There must be some way it can be managed—quietly, without publicity — out West, perhaps, or in Paris . . . You're so terribly clever about law—you must know some way . . ." She was pleading with him, abasing herself. She went on, not looking at him, abasing herself further: Greg, I'm nothing—less than nothing. I'm not worthy you should recognize me—not worthy even you should look at me. But if you'll only let me do this for you . . . I'll do anything to give you your freedom. I mean just that—anything . . ."

Before he could answer—if he had such intention—there was a light rap at the door. With some murmured apology, Cochran went to open it.

On the threshold stood the woman whose picture Molly had seen in the papers. Beautiful, charming, admired—yes, one could understand all that. Not quite so young, perhaps, as the pictures had led one to suppose, but lovely—oh, beyond words—with that loveliness which life had left lovingly untouched. No scars there, no poverty and heartache and despair—no mark set in her mouth, fair brow. Beside her, Molly, who was in reality younger, felt herself of a sudden immeasurably old.

"Incorrigible man," the fur-swather, silken creature crinkled her eyes and her mouth adorably at Cochran, "do you realize that your mother and I have been waiting below exactly 30 minutes?"

"It's good for her character, though," Cochran laughed.

"Dreadful man, what have they been doing to you—besides talking both your arms off" She reached up, laughing, too, to straighten his tie—gave his coat collar in passing a little winged brush and a pat.

They had gorgotten, apparently, Molly's presence—if, indeed, the woman had ever noted in. Molly began to doubt, herself, if she were really there. Perhaps it was only another of the dreams that had tormented and mocked her. But that scene . . . It dissolved and another came before her—that last day when she had gone to fetch him from the office, when she had straightened the offending collar and made it an excuse to kiss him. Perhaps if she were not here . . . Wait possible he had forgotten.

She pulled down her veil with uncertain fingers, got to her feet. Cochran turned. The woman gave her a little friendly, incurious smile. She was nice, unspoiled and kind.

"Oh, Miss Bayne—Mrs. Whitman . . ." Cochran presented them. "Miss Bayne, you know, is a very good friend of Myron Eldredge, the dramatic critic. You remember we met him at a dinner in New York . . . ?"

"Of course." The other woman offered her hand with a quick, friendly gesture.

"Miss Bayne has been kind enough to offer to write some articles for us . . ."

After a time, somehow, Molly got out. She stumbled into a waiting elevator. In the lobby below she found Myron Eldredge. Not until hours afterward did it occur to her to ask—or even to wonder—how he happened to be there. It was enough that he was there.

He put her into a taxi, gave some order to the driver. After a time she told him incoherently, a little here and a little there—everything. It was mercy and salvation to have him to tell it to—to be able to talk about it.

"You must let me go to him," he said at last. "You see you didn't really explain anything."

"I couldn't—he wouldn't let me."

"I'm the logical one to do it, anyhow. He's probably jealous as the devil."

Molly shook her head. "No, he's not jealous. He's not anything. For him I simply don't exist, that's all. Besides this other woman. . . . Don't you see how it would look—like a dog in the manger—as if I'd only come back to stop him from marrying her? No, I shall never tell him—I didn't mean to tell him. Anyway, it doesn't matter about me. I want only his happiness."

"And I want only what is for your happiness. . . ."

"I know." She laid her hands for a moment over his. "I can't think what I should have done if you hadn't come."

CHAPTER XXXI.

It was not until she was saying good-by to Eldredge at the station in New York some weeks later that she remembered to tell him just how much his coming had meant. There was something beautiful and rare about this affection which had sprung up from not the most promising of beginnings.

Eldredge had done everything in his power to induce her to let him act as mediator between her and Cochran; to bring about some basis of understanding if not of reconciliation. Having failed, he held his conscience clear. He had hoped that she would come back from this absurd pilgrimage at least resigned, ready to take what life still held for her and make the best of it.

"Two are better than one,' you know," he reminded her in the last half minute before the train pulled out. His mouth twisted a little with the effort to keep it casual and humorous. "For if they fall the one will lift up his fellow, but woe to him that is alone when he falleth. . . ."

Molly bent forward and put both her hands over his. "Myron, I can't count myself alone when I have a friend like you. You've lifted me up times without number—picked up the pieces and put them together again. . . ."

He crushed the hands between his, got to his feet. The train was beginning to move. "It's all right," he said, and with another abrupt, hurtful pressure of her hands took himself off.

Her last glimpse of him was from the train window—head bare, smiling and waving to her—that veiled, boyish eagerness in the ironic, old-young eyes, the seamed and corded old-young face. It cut to the heart somehow—she was really fond of him. . . .

Molly was going home—home—not to Laws' Chapel, but to her native state, the Capitol, the university—the Gothic spires Stephen had maligned.

Jardine Accused Of "Rabbit Tracking"

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—Secretary Jardine was accused by Representative Kincheloe, democrat, Kentucky, of "rabbit tracking" on farm legislation at hearings today before the house agriculture committee.

Rabbit tracking, he explained, was "weaving in and out and leaving doubt as to his exact position."

William Hirth, chairman of an agricultural conference committee appointed at Des Moines, when the charge was made, was testifying on a bill designed to handle the surplus crop problem through collection of an equalization fee on agricultural products and the setting up of a federal board to deal with the subject.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

SWALLOWING.

The virtues mortals must possess
Have all been mentioned more or less,
And yet the older that I get,
The grayer that I grow,
I find that there's another yet
A mortal needs to know:
Another virtue I would sing,
The gentle art of swallowing.

The older that you get, my son,
My girl, the longer race you run,
The more you'll wonder at the rest,
The little meanness of mankind.
They'll put your temper to the test,
And many chances you will find
To do the really wiser thing,
To do a lot of swallowing.

I would not have a man too meek,
A human doormat, so to speak,
And yet occasions will rise,
Yes, even when they do you wrong,
Occasions when the really wise
Will take their pack and trudge along,
Too big for petty quarreling—
Who know the grace of swallowing.

Some seem to think that ev'ry word
We must resent as soon as heard.
Yet one can oftentimes be right
And yet not need to go to war.
The really great will only fight
For things that are worth fighting for.
You'll often find the wiser thing
Is just a little swallowing.

Predicting a Planet.

The planets Mercury, Mars, Venus, Jupiter, Saturn and, of course, the earth, had been known from antiquity and in 1781 Sir William Herschel with a powerful telescope caught sight of a dim and distant planet, Uranus, also traveling around our sun. But much the most spectacular discovery of our solar system was the way that Neptune was found. In 1846 two astronomers at precisely the same time, by one of those coincidences in science that are so common, figured out by mathematics that there must be another planet somewhere, as otherwise Uranus would not be pulled out of its normal orbit around the sun in the peculiar fashion in which it was. Adams at Cambridge, England and Le Verrier in France arrived at this conclusion. Still nobody could find the planet until Galle at Berlin caught sight of a dim planet whirling around the sun at a tremendous distance from it on an orbit so great that one of its years is 164 of our years. It was exactly in the spot where it had been predicted.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to Yesterday's Questions:

1—A malarial mosquito "stands on its head" as it bites, while a non-malarial mosquito does not.

2—Dr. Noguchi, Japanese scientist, discovered the yellow fever vaccine in 1919 at the Rockefeller institute.

3—Dr. Jesse Lazear gave his life in Cuba in the fight against yellow fever by permitting mosquitoes to bite him and so proving that mosquitoes spread the disease.

4—Major Lavarav, a French army doctor in 1880 found malaria germs in patients in Africa, and in 1898 Major Sir Donald Ross in India proved that the germs were found in female Anapheles mosquitoes.

5—Quigine is obtained from the Chinochona tree, native of Peru but the regular quinine supply comes from the Dutch East Indies.

6—Five ways of guarding against malaria are by stocking ponds and rivers with fish, or covering the water with oil, or draining the swamps, and by screening houses and taking quinine.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Her Name.

While I remember how you smiled
So see me write your name upon
The soft sea-sand—"O what a child!
You think you're writing upon stone."

Shall ever wash away; what men
Unborn shall read o'er ocean wide
And find Ianthe's name again.

PRAYING FOR ROSE
(A Sonnet of a Small Sister.)
By Florence Ashley Beeler.

Bab was the youngest of six girls, and bright;
A sunbeam she, who danced and played about
Amongst her sisters grown who had "come out."
And, what she knew of them was wondrous, quite!
At length the oldest was betrothed.
That night
They noticed, from Bab's little prayer devout
That Rose's name was absent. Lost in doubt
The Mother questioned: "Dear, is that just right?"

Willing to Please.

Hostess (at card party): "Will you shuffle!"
Margie: "No, but I'll do a little Charleston for the folks." —Wilbur Mottwid.

THE FUN SHOP RADIO STATION

Announcer: "This is station MFJ, THE FUN SHOP STUDIOS. The popular Dr. Walter E. Traprock, as perhaps you know, has been very ill. He sprained his ears in a gum-chewing contest. But he is now his genial self again and we are sure that he will have many interesting things to tell you. Just a moment, folks. The Doctor has just dropped a bottle out of his pocket. He says it contains his medicine. Please stand by."

Dr. Walter E. Traprock: "Well, my little friends of the air, here is your Uncle Walter, back on the job and glad indeed to greet you. Mr. Judell has told you how I sprained my ears in a gum-chewing contest.

"The contest was organized by the Chiclemint Gum company and the prize was a handsome cup and the title of Long-Distance Chewing champion for the one who could chew longest without missing a chew.

"I trained faithfully by chewing a rag for four hours every day, and every night my trainer rubbed my jaw-bone with linseed oil to toughen it. You know, kidlets, Saul slew the Philadelphians with the jaw-bone of an ass, which shows how important it is to keep your jaws in good condition.

"The contest was held in the Madison Square Garden in New York—packed with eager society people. At the shot of the pistol the 308 contestants started, chewing in time to the orchestra which played in the gallery. At the end of the 47th hour only five were left, three ladies and two men. One by one the ladies dropped out. One had a touch of lock-jaw, another pulled out the filling of her pet tooth, and the third swallowed her gum! It was now between me and a big Swiss named Yodelmann, who was using a wopper-jawed stroke known as the 'Swiss Movement.' I pretended to be much amused at this, which so maddened him that in his rage he began to chew carelessly. Suddenly he dropped writhing to the floor. He had bitten off one of his tonsils! Amid tremendous cheers I was crowned the victor.

"It was then that I discovered that I had sprained my ears! They hung down like broken Ford mudguards, and it is only now that I am able to 'pick' them in my old, alert fashion. And that, kidlets, is how your old Nuncky became champion!

"And now, little klub komrades, you must toddle off to bed. Don't forget to say your prayers, and while you are praying you might pray for me. Good night—good night— good

Announcer: "This is station MFJ signing off. GOOD NIGHT!!!"

"Yes, I think so," replied his wife, "they were all nodding their heads."

SOCIETY

W.C.A. Executive Board Hears Excellent Reports At Thursday Meeting

With the president, Mrs. T. A. Hicks in the chair, one of the most enthusiastic meetings in the history of the Y. W. C. A. executive board was held in the club rooms Thursday morning.

Mrs. E. B. Corsline opened the session with an unusually beautiful devotional, taking her subject from the Bibical parable of the good Samaritan which she applied to conditions today.

Miss Elizabeth Jane Miller read the minutes after which reports were heard from the various committee chairman. Among them rural register, employment, girl's work, and from three school girls telling in their own words the work being done in the various Girl Reserve organizations in the schools. These were Charlotte Joiner from the Junior high annex; Juanita McAda from the Travis, and Lelia Moore from the San Jacinto school.

Miss Juanita Kinsey told of plans being made by the Junior college and high school Girls Reserves for an Easter hunt and also for an over night party to be held next week-end at Camp Noble. Mrs. Guy Rayley reported on plans to increase the Y. W. C. A. membership, and Mrs. M. W. Snoddy, chairman of the house committee outlined plans for freshening up the Y. W. C. A. club rooms. Miss Louise Moseley, representing Ward-Belmont at Nashville, was present, and gave a brief talk, complimenting the Y. W. C. A. club rooms, stating that she travels all over the country and has seen the Y. W. C. A. in many cities, but declares that the Wichita Falls club is the most comfortable, attractive and home like of any she has visited. Miss Annette Coffield, publicity chairman, spoke a few words commending the co-operation of Wichita Falls newspapers with the Y. W. C. A. in giving publicity to its work.

Committee members were guests of the executive board and all enjoyed a lovely luncheon. The table was arranged banquet style and decorations of spring flowers carried out a color scheme of green and yellow.

Seated at the table were Mesdames Hicks, J. A. Richolt, Mildred Packer, Charles Pogenphol, Bert Bean, M. M. Adickes, E. T. Duff, Dean J. Wolf, M. W. Snoddy, E. B. Gorsline, J. D. Bright, A. W. Barker, O. Abernathy, Iva E. Austin, Misses Annette Coffield, Juanita Kinsey, Ivo Wilson and Mrs. W. T. Jones of Waxahachie and Miss Louise Moseley, visitors.

Drama History Is Traced in Address Before Forum Dept.

Tracing the history of the drama from its beginning to the present day, Mrs. J. C. Berney gave a most comprehensive lecture to the literary department of the Woman's Forum at the social meeting held Thursday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Berney's subject was "America's Gift to the Drama," and the completeness of her discourse showed her audience that she has spared no time or labor in collecting material for this intellectual treat. The speaker brought out the point that all dramas that live must have action, individuality and other attractive qualities and that America in its youth has four distinct periods of the drama beginning with the Indian legends.

Another feature of the program was a violin duet by Mrs. Joe Crouch and Miss Monterey Lewis accompanied at the piano by Mrs. A. M. Lewis.

During the business session the nominating committee announced Mrs. J. C. Berney, chairman of the literary department for next year; Mrs. M. M. Walker, vice chairman and Miss Clara Schultz secretary.

Mrs. W. N. Maer also made an announcement concerning the big tournament to be given by the Forum March 23 for the benefit of the club house building fund. In the plans outlined by the club house committee meeting preceding the program, the 20 affiliated clubs will be asked to take a certain number of tables ach.

It is expected that 150 tables will be reserved for afternoon and another 150 for evening, many planning to take advantage of the event for entertaining friends and for parties.

Tea was poured by Mrs. Ola Hamlin and refreshments were served. The program was in charge of Mrs. P. P. Langford, literary chairman.

Seeks $100,000 For Aiding a Divorce

CHICAGO, March 11.(AP)—Cyrus C. Shipman, Oregon rancher, is seeking $100,000 he claims was promised him by Mrs. Katherine C. Thorne, wealthy Chicagoan, for his services in speeding a divorce for William C. "Billy" Camp, so that she could marry Camp.

The praecipe of the suit was filed two years ago, but details of the action were not known until Shipman's declaration was placed on record. The case is set for trial April 1.

In December, 1918, Shipman claims he was retained by Mrs. Thorne, widow of a former vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co., to bring about a reduction in the alimony demanded by Camp's first wife, Elita Otis Camp, New York actress, and thus hasten her divorce suit. Mrs. Camp was asking $1000 a month.

Bicycle Racer Eats 12 Lbs, of Meat a Day

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—It is costing $100,000 to stage the current six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden. The payroll of the cyclists is $75,000. The food bill for the week is $3,500, an average of more than $100 for each of the 32 riders.

Three shifts of French and German chefs prepare the menus.

In spite of the unusual amounts most riders eat the average contestant loses from three to ten pounds during the week.

Charlie Stein, ex-rider, now chef at the garden, hands the palm for eating to Alphonse Goosens of Belgium and Pete Van Kempen of Holland.

"Goosens once ate 365 eggs during a race," Stein said. "That, I believe, is a world's record. Van Kempen used to consume six full meals during 24 hours, including almost two pounds of meat to a meal. In between he would take a little hot soup, bread and coffee."

Woman Mayor Says She'll Be Sensible

SEATTLE, March 11.—(AP)—Seattle's first woman mayor, Mrs. Bertha K. Landes, who defeated Dr. Edwin J. Brown, incumbent, by approximately 6,000 votes in an election here Tuesday, has declared she will be a dignified city executive. She said she did not believe the mayor being a woman would make any difference in details of official etiquette.

"If an officially important visitor comes to town, I'll meet the train and extend the same courtesy I would accord a guest in my house," she answered. "I shall not meet visitors of lesser distinction in person. Circumstances and common sense and not my sex will determine what to do."

Her election is expected to make no change in the routine of her private life as she has been serving as president of the city council. She takes over the mayor's office June 7.

Mrs. Landes declared she resented remarks about a "petticoat rule."

"I was tempted to answer them by saying in public that women didn't wear petticoats any more," she laughed, "but then I felt that possibly that wouldn't be quite—wouldn't be quite ah, you know."

She said her selection for police chief "will be a man already in the department." She stated, however, that she would not keep W. B. Severyns, present head of the department.

France Re-Opens War Debt Problem

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP) France has re-opened discussions with this country for settlement of her $4,000,000,000 war debt.

Ambassador Berenger, the newly appointed French envoy here, has been in conversation on the subject with Secretary Mellon.

While the secretary declined to discuss the negotiations today in detail, it was disclosed that he had advised President Coolidge that settlement of the French debt hinged to some extent upon the action of congress on the Italian agreement, now under fire in the senate.

It is believed therefore that the French negotiations will not be hastened until the senate acts on the pending debt pacts.

The French debt is the largest remaining to be settled by the debt commission. Several ineffectual efforts to make a funding agreement have taken place since the close of the war.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Soviet to Center Propaganda on US

MOSCOW, March 11.—(AP)—In a long speech M. Zinioff, president of the third internationale, told that body that the work of the organization in all the countries would continue unabated, largely by clandestine methods "demanding a great number of victims."

Special attention would be given to America and Great Britain, which the internationale had placed at the head of its propaganda list.

"The American government is against recognition of soviet Russia," he said, "but as far as I know the Russian cabinet will quietly and confidently await recognition which will and must come."

Spanish Queen To Heed Pope's Plea For Long Dresses

MADRID, March 11.—(AP)—Queen Victoria is shortly to establish a precedent as regards women's dresses to be worn at court and during religious services. In compliance with the wishes of Pope Pious, the queen will wear long dresses with a high-cut bodice and collar. The sleeves would be long. Decollette gowns and gowns with short sleeves or no sleeves at all are to be frowned upon. The new dress with which Queen Victoria will set the new style of fashion will be of gold brocade.

Since the modes of the queen are followed by virtually all the women in Spain the new fashion is likely to become universal.

Crater Drinks Up Waters of Stream

SHARON SPRINGS, Kan., March 11.—(AP)—A yawning crater today was drinking up the headwaters of Smoky Hill river, a Western Kansas stream.

With startling suddenness a short stretch of the river bed sank 200 feet near here, leaving a great funnel-shaped hole.

Water pouring into the opening from the river and subterranean streams crumbled away sides of the cavern until today it was more than 150 feet in diameter. The water was gradually rising in the pit, indicating that a lake may be formed.

An earthquake or a subterranean explosion of gas was the conjecture of persons in Wallace county who rushed to the scene following the rumble and cloud of dust which accompanied the phenomenon. But so far as is known there is no gas in this section and no earth disturbane was felt any great distance from the river bed.

1 Mexican State Has 7 Governors

MEXICO CITY, March 11.—(AP) The state of Morelos has seven governors and three legislatures, each claiming sole legal existence and denying the claims of the others. The three legislatures support the cause of as many different so-called governors. The four "governors" are said to be drumming up legislatures to support them.

Mexican states often have several claimants for executive and legislative places, but Morelos seems to have established a record in the present situation.

Unless the tangle is adjusted by a local agreement before long, it is believed President Calles will appoint a governor.

2 Members of Mob Slain by "Victim"

ROYSTON, Ga., March 11.—(AP) One man is dead and two seriously injured, one perhaps fatally, as the result of a shooting affray here last night which was precipitated by the visit of a band of 50 or more white robed men to the home of H. L. Bigby, lumberman.

Sheriff T. H. Moss expressed the opinion that the members of the band who had surrounded Bigby's house became confused when he opened the door and began firing and shot each other and Bigby.

Walton Adams, well known farmer, who was killed, and Ben Harrison, seriously wounded, are believed by the sheriff to have been members of the band.

Bigby is in an Anderson, S. C., hospital shot through the head, and little hope is held for his recovery.

The sheriff said the band had visited Bigby because of alleged attentions he paid to a married woman here.

TEXAS FLOGGER IS DENIED PLEA

Murray Jackson Loses In Fight to Keep Himself Out of Prison

FORT WORTH, March 11.—(AP)—Petition of Murray Jackson for an injunction to restrain the state from issuing a mandate to incarcerate him was dismissed in federal court here this morning by Judge James C. Wilson for lack of jurisdiction.

Jackson was sentenced to serve five years on conviction of assault with a prohibited weapon in connection with the flogging of R. H. Burleson, traveling salesman in Williamson county. Prosecuted by Dan Moody, since attorney general, then district attorney, Jackson after conviction appealed to all of the state courts for a reversal but his appeal was denied in each instance.

Jackson was one of a score of men alleged to have taken Burleson into the country between Georgetown and Taylor to have flogged him and poured creosote over his wounds.

In the hearing before Judge Wilson, the state was represented by Moody, Judge Hal Lattimore of 90th district court and Assistant Attorney General May. Jesse Martin, first assistant district attorney, represented the government.

In rendering his decision, Judge Wilson asserted he believed a federal court does not have jurisdiction in a state criminal case.

Joe Burkett of Eastland, counsel for Jackson, gave notice of appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

G. O. P. PRIMARY

For the first time since the primary election law has been in vogue, the republicans must hold a general primary this year for the nomination of all candidates for the major offices at least, including candidates for congress.

This primary will take place on the same day that the democrats hold their state primary. It will be impossible for a voter to play both ends against the middle. He must take his choice. He must participate in the democratic primary or cast his ballot as a republican in the republican primary ballot box. There are thousands of voters in Texas who are democratic goats in one campaign and republican sheep in the next campaign. Now a man must be a sheep or a goat on primary election day. At least, in the year of our Lord, 1926.

Real a Real G. O. P.

Julius Real is a straight republican in state affairs as well as in national affairs. He has been sent to the state senate twice by democrats in a dyed-in-the-wool democratic district. Harry Wurzbach has been sent to congress by democrats in a dyed-the-wool democratic district. This was easy in the three campaigns of the past. His followers found it easy to vote the democratic primary ticket and then scratch the name of a democratic congressional nominee at the general election. This has been the story of other years. It cannot be the story of this year. A republican state primary has changed the irregular rules of the game. Followers of Harry Wurzbach, if they wish to renominate him for congress, must enter the republican primary. If they are more interested in the fortunes of one of the three contenders for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, then they must permit Wurzbach to go by the board and proclaim themselves full fledged democrats for primary election purposes.

Hard For Fergusons.

If the Wurzbach democrats absent themselves from the republican primary, then the contest for the prize between Wurzbach and Real is certain to be more exciting than any congressional battle for the primary prize in recent years in the Alamo district. If these irregulars in the Alamo district decide to dance this set with the republicans from start to finish, Wurzbach may ride the crest of the waves, but democratic contenders for the seat now held by Mrs. Ferguson are going to lose a big bunch of votes on primary election day. Or to be more exact, Mrs. Ferguson and James E. Ferguson may lose a bunch of votes.

In the "show down" primary contest in 1924 these voters participated in the democratic primary and they helped to snow Felix Robertson under so deep that researchers have never been able to find his remains in the Alamo district. In the November election of 1924, more than 50,000 republicans voted for the democratic nominee for governor, and perhaps 225,000 democrats voted for Dr. George C. Butte for governor. These are the figures and figures never lie.

It was the anti-klan vote and not a Ferguson vote that placed Mrs. Ferguson in the office of governor. It was the anti-klan vote that placed Harry M. Wurzbach in the lower house of congress. It was the anti-klan vote that placed Julius Real in the state senate of Texas.

This year a sheep must be a sheep and a goat must be a goat. If the state executive committee of the democratic party of Texas attempts to shut out bolters and scratchers, there is going to be merry hell in Texas skies in the glorious summer months of the year.

Richard Barthelmess in "Just Suppose"

Follies Edition To Be Here March 16 A Study in Color

One of the signally important theatrical events of the season in this city will be the engagement of the special edition of the "Greenwich Village Follies," which is announced for the Palace theatre March 16.

The edition of the "Follies" is a thing of beauty, a treat to the eye, a delight to the ear, and a joy to behold. It is a typical John Murray Anderson devised and staged revue, dazzling, elaborate, youthful and gay.

The "Follies" has plenty of good comedy, excellent comedians and specialty dancers, and a large pulchritudinous chorus, who contribute much to the success of the beautiful revue.

The cast, too, is as fine as it is long. Everyone deserves mention. The featured member of the huge organization is Raymond Hitchcock, famous musical comedy and revue star and comedian of over half a hundred of the most successful musical plays ever produced in America. The name "Hitchcock" stands as a trade-mark for the best in entertainment of the musical type. With Mr. Hitchcock are Tom Handers and Arthur Millis, two comedians of international repute; they add much to the festivities of the numerous songs, dances and comedy skits. Others in their importance are: Claire Devine, Evelyn Hoey, Claude Rhys, Edward Leslie, Lucille Peterson, F. Bud Williamson, Josephine Cushman, and thirty ravishing artists' models of exceptional grace and beauty.

Two Stars Appear In Strand Film

Richard Barthelmess as a Prince and Lois Moran, beautiful screen star, as a Princess! In the whole world of make-believe nothing more rapturously romantic can be imagined.

It all happens in the mythical kingdom of Koronia, a dominion of pomp, ceremony, grandees—and love. It is "Just Suppose"—two of the happiest words in the English language.

Barthelmess, who in many ways in the picture resembles the Prince of Wales, woos a young American girl. But the death of an elder brother suddenly places him in direct line of regal inheritance, and his country supersedes his love. However, though Cupid seems routed and love is apparently sacrificed for the throne, all is rearranged at the end, and the sun shines smilingly on a happy Prince and a happy Princess. It is all like a beautiful fairy tale—and yet nothing like it at all.

The supporting cast comprises Geoffrey Kerr, Henry Vibart, George Spelvin, Harry Short, Bijou Fernandes and Prince Rokneddine, a real Persian Prince.

For sheer beauty and romance "Just Suppose" is not to be missed. It opens at the Strand today.

For Head Colds

THERE are many ways to treat a cold in the head, but only one DIRECT way, and that is with vapors that can be inhaled.

The easiest and most satisfying way to get these vapors is to snuff a little Vicks VapoRub well up the nose, or melt a little in a spoon or tin cup and inhale.

The medicated vapors reach immediately into every corner of the air passages, soothing and healing with every breath.

For other forms of cold troubles just rub Vicks over the throat and chest at bedtime. It is then the body heat which releases these vapors.

2 YOUTHS DIE UNDER TRAIN

Boy, Believed Riding Under Pilot, Crushed to Death

ROSENBERG, March 11.—(AP)—Attempts were being made here today to identify two young men who were killed under a Southern Pacific train near Tavener 72 miles west of here late last night. Documents on one of the men indicated that he was John A. Lancaster and that he had been in jail at Beaumont. Officers there said Lancaster's companion had given his name as Horace Hood of Pittsburgh, Texas, and that they had said they were en to California.

Finger prints o the two men will be sent to Beaumont at once in an effort to have identification of the men completed.

The two men are known to have spent the day in Rosenberg yesterday, one of them having told a resident here that he was in Kentucky at the time of the "Collins sand cave" episode.

RAIL MACHINE MERGER IS O. K.

Two Companies With Assets Of $130,000,000 Are Combined

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—A merger of the American Locomotive and Railway Steel Spring companies bringing together two leading railroad equipment manufacturers with combined assets of approximately $130,000,000 was approved by the directors of both companies today. The consolidation, if approved by the stockholders, will be effected by an exchange of two shares of American Locomotive common stock for three of Railway Steel Spring and a share for share exchange of preferred.

The combination will place under the active direction of William H. Woodin, a group of equipment companies with total resources of almost $250,000,000. Mr. Woodin, who is head of the American Car & Foundry company, will advance from president to chairman of the board of the enlarged American Locomotive company. Frederick F. Fitzpatrick, head of the Railway Steel Spring company, will succeed him as president.

The possibility of a further consolidation embracing the American Car and Foundry company is being discussed in Wall street, although the latter so far has not figured in any of the negotiations.

Rural Schools To Receive $314,346

AUSTIN, March 11.—(AP)—Out of the rural aid fund, the state board of education today apportioned $314,346 to 844 rural schools. Approximately $150,000 worth of school bonds were bought for benefit of the permanent school fund.

S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction, was sustained in his ruling that R. L. Phelps has no binding contract with the Christine common school district of Atascosa county because his agreement was not signed by the county superintendent.

Texas Factories Do Business of A Billion a Year

SAN ANTONIO, March 11.—(AP)—Manufacturing industries of Texas are turning out products valued at more than one billion dollars annually, according to George Knebel, executive vice president and general manager of the Texas state manufacturers' association.

"While everyone knows the Texas leads the Union in the value of its agricultural production many do not appreciate the rapid strides the state is making with its manufacturers," he said. "In 1900 the total value of products manufactured in Texas was placed at only $92,894,000; by 1910, these figures had jumped to $272,895,000, and in 1923 the aggregate value increased to $979,667,000, according to the United States industrial census taken that year. In 1926, the output of factories will be worth much more than one billion dollars.

"Manufacturing in Texas has increased more than 1,000 per cent during the past 25 years, while the population, although rapidly increasing, has not doubled in the same period.

"The rapid development of manufacturing in Texas has not come about by chance, but is based on right conditions for manufacturing and distribution.

TEXAN HELD IN AUTO KILLING

Arrested After Body Found Slain Under Submerged Machine

HOUSTON, March 11.—(AP)—C. C. Cashmere, caretaker of a Boy Scout camp about 10 miles from Houston, was brought here today and held in connection with the death of W. J. Hogan, whose body was found early in the day in a nearby bayou under a submerged automobile. County authorities said Cashmere first declared he and Hogan had been held up by bandits who had killed Hogan when he refused to heed a command to halt. Later they said, Cashmere admitted he had shot Hogan during a quarrel and then plunged the auto with the body in it into the bayou.

Hogan was apparently a laborer or small farmer.

Better Than Whiskey For Colds and Flu

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy that they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonsful. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away like a dream, within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night.—Adv.

"HER MAN"

--By Beatrice Burton--

READ THIS FIRST:

SYLVIA STARR, who looks like a flirt, but isn't one, is engaged to marry Randall Phelps. He asks her to break their engagement and tells her he is in love with her best friend, FAY SHIRLEY.

Sylvia gives him up, greatly to the satisfaction of her maiden AUNT AGONY, with whom she lives. Aunt Agony declares that Ranny is a good-for-nothing and that Sylvia couldn't do better than to marry PETER WILK, a sober bachelor who is in love with her.

But Sylvia knows that she never will care about anyone but Ranny, and she is curiously stirred when Fay tells her that she is sure Ranny really cares more for her than he does for Fay herself! Sylvia discovers that Fay is seeing a great deal of EDDIE CARTER, the prosperous young business man to whom she was engaged when she fell in love with Ranny.

One night Fay gives a Sunday night supper. Eddie puts liquor into the fruit punch and the party grows very wild. Late in the evening Sylvia sees Fay slip out of the back door with Eddie Carter and start off with him on an automobile ride.

Ranny comes into the kitchen and asks her where the pair have gone, but Sylvia refuses to answer him and walks away from him.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

The life of the party that night was Fay's castoff admirer, Eddie Carter.

"I Can Think of Nothing More Grand," Declared Peter.

"She certainly had brass to ask him here, after the way she threw him down and got herself engaged to Ran Phelps! Peter remarked to Sylvia, with a sort of disgusted admiration as they joined the gay, noisy crowd in the Shirleys' big, white-tiled kitchen.

Everybody was helping with the supper, and at the far side of the kitchen Eddie Carter was measuring something from a flask into the punch that Fay had made. He had a white apron tied around his fat middle, and as he poured the liquor he sang to Fay in his loud cheerful bass:

"Can she make fine fruit punch?
"Yes, she can make fine fruit punch!
"That certain par-a-arty of mine!"

It was quite plain that Eddie was just as wild about Fay as he had ever been—a little more, perhaps.

He stopped his song abruptly as Randall Phelps came into the room, and put on an icy stare that was very funny. Then he turned to the laughing group behind him.

"Look here, you hot sizzers, you want this punch peppy, don't you?" and he emptied the contents of the big flask into Aunt Aggony's Sheffield bowl.

At 10 o'clock when the party was at its wild, hilarious height, Sylvia saw Fay and Eddie Carter slip out of the back door of the house. As she stood there in the big, bright, empty kitchen, wondering where they had gone, the door of it swung open and Ranny came in.

His hair was rumpled, his tie askew, and his face flushed with the punch he had drank.

"Where'd they go?" he asked roughly—"Fay and Eddie Carter? They just drove away in his car! Did Eddie ask her to go with him, or was it her brilliant idea to sneak away?"

Sylvia laughed. "Which one of your questions do you want me to answer first?" she asked and walked out of the kitchen.

CHAPTER V

It was midnight and the party was breaking up when Fay and Eddie got back.

They came, driving like the wind, down between the lamp-posts of Bleak street and slid to a stop before Shirley's house.

Fay jumped out and rushed up the steps and into the living room, where Peter was doing the Charleston as a slow-motion camera would show it.

"Atta boy, Petey!" she cried, clapping her hands and laughing shrilly.

She was plainly excited. Her eyes shown greenly and there were two spots of genuine color high on her cheek bones.

"Where's Ranny?" she whispered to Sylvia, who was playing "I Wonder Where My Baby Is Tonight," at the grand piano at the fartherest corner of the room.

Sylvia shrugged her shoulders. It was not until then that she noticed that Ranny had gone.

Only a moment before he had been there, talking to Peter as he smoked a cigaret or two, but when she went to the front door and looked out, his automobile was gone and from the place where had parked it.

"Never mind, I should begin to worry about Ranny!" Fay said, carelessly. "I have other things on my mind more important! For instance, how are we going to get this mob out of the house before mother and dad come back from Greenville?" She named the neighboring town where Mr. and Mrs. Shirley had driven to to spend the day with Fay's grandparents.

"That's easy," Sylvia answered, "just tell them to go. That's what I have to do when Aunt Agony's on a rampage."

Aunt Agnoy was waiting up for her when Peter brought her home.

She was sitting up, stiff and straight as a ramrod, in her chair under the parlor lamp with her worn old Bible on her knees.

"Well, you certainly spent the Lord's day in a fine way., Sylvia Starr!" she observed grimly when the girl came into the room and sat down opposite her.

She jerked her gray head in the direction of the Shirley house across the street.

"I heard all the shouting and cheering and yelling going on over there the whole blessed evening!" she went on. "You'd of thought the place was full of wild Comanche Indians!—and wasn't that you hammering the piano a while ago?"

"Yes, Aunt Agony," and Slyvia flushed guiltily.

"And, after the way I've tried to bring you up, too," her aunt said with kind of a wail. "When I think of the small fortune I've spent giving you music lessons so you could play Chopin or Liszt and Beethoven—and you reward me by rattling off a lot of cheap jazz on the holy Sabbath!"

Sylvia hung her head. "I didn't stop to think," she breathed. "I forgot it was Sunday."

"The whole world nowadays, seems to forget that it's ever Sunday!" scolded Aunt Agony, and picked up her Bible. "Get up to bed."

Sylvia had not reached the first landing of the stairs when she called her back.

"Was Randall Phelps over there tonight?" she asked shortly.

"Yes."

There was a long silence before Aunt Agony spoke again.

"Sylvia, I'm ashamed of you," she said. "Where's your pride? I shouldn't think you'd ever want to see him or Fay Shirley ever again after the way they've treated you; nothing had ever happened. I can't understand you at all.

"I can't understand myself, Aunt," Sylvia answered and went up to bed.

And yet she knew perfectly well why she had gone to Fay's supper party that night.—simply because Ranny would be there and she would see him again and hear his voice.

Not only that, but to find out if what Fay had said about him was true—that he still had a lingering feeling for herself, after all.

Well, she had found out, she told herself. She couldn't feel that he cared the least bit for her. Not after the way he had behaved when Fay sneaked away with Eddie Carter! If ever a man had been jealous, Ranny had been jealous, then, of Eddie Carter.

"No, he's mad about Fay, and there's no mistake about it," was the last thing Sylvia thought that night before she dropped off to sleep. "I may as well go on forgetting him."

But she couldn't.

Little things kept happening that reminded her of him.

There was her birthday, for instance.

Always on her birthday, which came on the 10th of May she and Ranny had gone on a picnic together—just the two of them.

They had usually cooked their own supper out of doors somewhere on the woods or on the beach of Punderson lake. Steak and onions or fried chicken and potatoes; and afterward they had sat beside their fire while Ranny smoked a pipe or two and Sylvia sang to him in her clear, sweet soprano that all of Aunt Agnoy's friends had admired so much.

She would miss that birthday picnic this year.

She happen to mention it to Peter Wilk one Saturday afternoon when he came to the library to beg her to go for an automobile ride—rather wistfully, Peter thought.

"I'll tell you—I'll give you a picnic," he said. "I won't inflict myself upon you, though. If it's all right, I'll ask that wild party of yours and we'll have a steak supper out in the woods, somewhere, that night. You pick your place and I'll do the rest."

"Fair enough," agreed Sylvia but there was no brightness in her voice.

How could she tell Peter that she did not want to go on his picnic? She couldn't, so she said: "You're a dear," instead, and was amazed at the slow painful blush that reddened his face and disappeared into the top of his collar.

On the afternoon of the 10th she and Peter drove out to Blake's woods a full two hours before the rest of the crowd.

It was one of these heavenly spring days that are fresher and greener and sunnier than any of the days that come in mid-summer. The clouds were silver-white and the sky was softly blue behind them. It was a day to make your heart, sang, no matter how badly the world was treating you—and Slyvia's actually did began to sing with the sheer joy of being alive on a day like this as she and Peter rolled along.

They built a huge fire in an open space in the very middle of the woods, and by the time the sun had set and the night was beginning to creep through the trees it was a mass of glowing embers—just the kind of fire for broiling steaks.

"Wouldn't it be fun to live like this—out in the open, all the time, Peter?" Sylvia asked this as she began greasing frying pans with a piece of buttered wax paper. "Don't you think it would be lots more fun than being mewed up in houses?"

Peter looked at her solemnly.

"I can think of nothing more grand," he said, with a queer, thoughtful look, "providing it was you that I was living with."

Sylvia glanced up at him, startled. There was no laughter in those teasing, violet eyes of hers now. Peter had never seen them so grave in his life before.

"I'd make a good husband, Sylvy," he promised, "homely men make the grandest husbands in the world, you know. They don't step out—"

"Hush!" Sylvia raised her hand, "let's not spoil things. Being friends with you is the nicest thing in my life, Peter—but that's all it ever can be—just friendship, see?"

If Peter saw, he didn't say so. He silently, almost grimly, filled his pipe and didn't open his mouth until the first of the picnickers arrived.

They were Sally March and a new man. A Yale man, so Sally said privately to Sylvia. "And, he's just mad about me," she added. "I suppose the minute Fay Shirley lamps him she'll try to lure him from me, but she'll have some time doing it. Is is true that she and Randall Phelps have busted their engagement?"

Sylvia's heart leaped, but she went on cutting bread and butter as calmly as Werther's "Charlotte."

"I guess they havent," she said. "When I asked htem to come tonight they said they'd cometo gether. That looks as if they were pretty good friends, doesn't it?"

Sally nodded. "Yes, but you never can tell," she said vaguely. Sally had been engaged almost as many times as Fay, herself."

However, at 9 o'clock Fay nor Randall Phelps had arrived.

"What'll we do about it?" Peter asked Fay, coming up to her as she stood a little apart from the others, peering into the darkness.

"Let's eat," bawled the man from Yale. "I'm going to take a mouthful of moss in a minute if someone doesn't give me FOOD!"

And so they gathreed around the glowing fire and began their meal.

The steaks were done to a turn and the smothered onions would have done credit to a French chef. Peter, who had cooked them, was proud of himself.

"I didn't know I had it in me," he admitted modestly.

"Your picnic's a darb, Sylvy," Eddie Carter said afterward when everyone was busy packing the plates and silver and grills into the automobiles.

Then his fat voice sank to a whisper. "Say, but listen, what do you suppose happened to Fay? She told me this afternoon that she was coming out with Ran Phelps at 6 o'clock."

"Sylvia raised her arched eyebrows. "I don't know where they can be," she answered. "Sally March says she heard that they've broken their engagement. But my own private bet to myself is that they've ran away to be married."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

What should a girl do when the man she loves comes back to her after jilting her for another? Will Sylvia swallow her own pride and take Ranny back? Or will she return humiliation for humilation. Is the love big enough she has for him big enough to make her forget her own hurt and administer to his hurt?

Biggest thing of all, will she find happiness under those conditions?

PLAINVIEW MAN KILLED BY TRAIN

N. A. Price, 60, Meets Death When Auto Is Hit Broadside

PLAINVIEW, March 11.—(AP)—N. A. Price, about 60 years old, was killed here today when the car in which he was riding alone was struck broadside by a southbound Santa Fe passenger train.

Dr. J. L. Guest and Grady Dickey, returning to their homes here from Amarillo, were a short distance behind Price's car and reached his side almost immediately after his body was thrown from the machine.

This Texan Knows Nothing About The Era of the Camels

WACO, March 11.—(AP)—Evidence of pre-Volstead days was received in the mail here today and revealed the fact that there is at least one man in Texas who does not know that the United States is "dry."

In the days of the saloon there was a firm here known as the Goodman and Ellis Liquor company, and with the coming of prohibition he name was changed to the Ellis Dry Goods company. The firm that dealt in "wet" goods did an extensive bottle business and supplied convenient order blanks.

Today there was received through the mail from a man living near Marlin one of these orders asking that he be sent two quarts of "Jersey Cream," one quart of "Paul Jones" and one quart of "Casey Jones." Accompanying the order blank was a postoffice money order for $4, this being the quoted price on the order blank.

IRELAND REJOICES AS U. S. WELCOMES SHAMROCK.

DUBLIN, March 11.—(AP)—Ireland is rejoicing in the knowledge that the beloved Shamrock is not forbidden entry into the United States.

Many persons who previously sent the national emblem to friends and relatives in the United States as a St. Patrick's day token were under the impression that American regulations had stopped the importation of Shamrock because of the danger of plant disease. Inquiries at the American consulate-general, however, revealed that Shamrock could be sent to the United States without restriction if the soil was entirely removed and the roots washed or if the leaves were cut and placed in moist moss or other preservatives.

BLOOD TEST ACCEPTED AS PATERNITY EVIDENCE.

VIENNA, March 11.—(AP)—A scientific blood test has been accepted by a court as conclusive evidence in determining the paternity of a child. A Vienna judge ruled today that a young engineer was not the father of the child in a case brought by an unmarried mother for alimony. The court accepted the testimony of scientists that the defendant's blood was in "group 4," the child's in "group 3," and the mother's in "group 2."

Wichita Falls Druggists Great Offer To Chronic Rheumatic Sufferers

Money Back If Allenrhu Fails to Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

"It does not matter to me whether you are disabled with cursed rheumatism or have only occasional twinges," says James H. Allen. "I know that Allenrhu, my own discovery, will stop the agony, do away with the gnawing pains and reduce the swollen joints."

"I know it will dissolve the uric acid deposits that have become deeply imbedded in joints and muscles and quickly drive every trace of rheumatism from your body. I know this because I was crippled for years and many times was unable to work, and Allenrhu made a well, robust, healthy man of me."

"I know because since I cured myself, hundreds have taken Allenrhu and speedily rid themselves of this agonizing disease."

Allenrhu is no laggard; it starts right in at once; it gets into the blood, searches out the poisonous uric acid deposit and in two days starts to drive the concentrated impurities that cause rheumatism, out of the body through the natural channels.

James H. Allen of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenrhu, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenrhu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases.

With this understanding he has instructed Wichita Falls druggists and druggists everywhere to guarantee it in every instance.—Adv.

Wichita County Wildcat Gives Promise of 1,000 Barrels a Day

WELL FLOWING BY HEADS WITH FLUID IN HOLE

Expect to Swab Down And Clean Out Today

Flowing by heads through 800 feet of mud, the wildcat test of Perkins-Cullum and Stump on the Dutton land late Thursday afternoon gave every promise of swabbing between 700 and 1,000 barrels. The well, located in the center of blockk 11, league 4, of the Denton county school land, and approximately two miles to the north and east of the Shappell production north of Holliday, gives Wichita county its newest wildcat area and one which was the scene of a good deal of activity yesterday. Sand was at 1,811-14 feet.

Locations have already been made for four offsets to the new well to be drilled immediately. Two by the discoverers will be located as follows: No. 1 Chilson will be 300 feet north of the discovery well and No. 3 Dutton will be located 300 feet t othe south of No 1. The Simms company has made location for a test to be drilled 300 feet to the east while the fourth test is that of C. W. Gilliand which will be 300 feet north and 300 feet east of the new well.

Geological credit for the new discovery goes to H. W. C. Prommel of the Perkins-Cullum company.

North Extension To Cromwell Area Has Been Defined

TULSA, Okla., March 11.—The north extension of the Cromwell pool in northern Seminole county appears to have been stopped by the Gypsy Oil company in No. 11 Stephenys in the southeast corner of the northeast of 17-11-8, that had sand with a hole full of water from 3,443 to 3,463 feet. It is not drilling ahead at 3,670 feet, seeking the Wilcox.

The Cromwell pool averaged 19,393 barrels a day the past fiscal week from 408 wells, a gain of 107 barrels.

The Wewoka field in 8-8, 8-7 and 7-8, Seminole county, averaged 15,904 barrels a day the fiscal week just ended, an increase of 724 barrels a day over last week's average of 14,180 barrels. The shallow sand wells, numbering 140, averaged 7,746 barrels a day, a gain of 211 barrels and one new well. The deep sand wells number four and are doing 8,158 barrels a gain of 513 barrels.

Planter Held In His Wife's Death

CLARKSDALE, Miss., March 11.—(AP)—T. G. Cox, former Arkansas planter, was being held here tonight while investigation was being made of the circumstances in connection with the death of his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Cox, 38, who was shot and fatally wounded in her hotel room here today shortly before the couple were to have left Clarksdale to resume an automobile trip from Memphis to Shreveport, La.

Cox is quoted as explaining that the shooting was accidental—that the bullet which struck the woman in the heart was fired when a cartridge in the pistol he was handling was accidentally discharged as he attempted to remove the cylinder of the weapon.

The couple came to Clarksdale several days ago, registering at the hotel, it was stated, as "Mrs. T. T. Bateman," and "T. C. Scott," the woman, who registered for both, explaining that Scott was her uncle. At her request they were assigned a double room.

Cox declared, however, that the woman was his wife, that they were married in Memphis several months ago, that prior to their marriage, her name was Mrs. Elizabeth Quarrels and that she formerly lived in Texas

Concrete Canals For Valley Farms

DALLAS, March 11:—(AP)—Construction of concrete lined canals to water 15,000 acres of land in the Rio Grande valley is contemplated by developers of that section of Texas. John Shary, early resident of the valley, was in Dallas today outlining tentative plans for the project.

The first cost of laying concrete-lined canals will be much more expensive than the system now in vogue Mr. Shary pointed out. He said that loss of water through seepage will be saved, however, and that less land for right of way will be required.

ROAR OF HUMOR ON AT OLYMPIC

5 Good Acts of Vaudeville Offered At Theatre This Week

Fun of the kind that makes you chuckle long after the first big roar is provided at the Olympic this week where five acts of Bert Levy vaudeville appeared last night to the delight of a huge crowd. It is one of the most evenly balanced and meritorious, all-around numbers presented this season.

"Linder and Starr," scheduled as "Don't You Remember" gave their audience a continual round of high powered hilarity in the shape of good music, excellent dancing and a liberal sprinkling of comedy thrown in. As a "Character Comedian," Jack (Alone) Davis proved himself a past master. His nut portrayals proved sufficient to rock the house more than once; and in doing it he blended some sound common sense and homely philosophy with his foolishness.

Royce and Company in "It's Up to You to Decide," turned out to be a capable aggregation of musical comedy dancing stars who put on a lively and scintillating round of song and dance amid a riotous burst of colorful costuming. Art Smith and Fern McQuern were especially well received in this number.

Hip Raymond, formerly a headliner at the New York Hippodrome and now in vaudeville with his own company, rolled through a long series of comedy antics that only a seasoned clown can perform. With him was Mildred Maison who aided greatly in putting the number down as one of the best.

"Two Men of the Past" were Baldwin and Haley whose rapid fire line of comedy chatter and dance steps stamped them as entertainers extraordinary.

FEDERAL STYLE SHOW TO OPEN

Very Low Prices for High Quality Goods To Prevail

The annual spring opening and fashion show staged each year by every unit of the Federal Clothing store chain will start here tomorrow. It is an event started simultaneously by every store operated by the company—some 75 in all, reaching from Maine to Texas.

An unusually large shipment of new merchandise arrived in Wichita Falls yesterday for the Federal and has been put away by Manager E. R. Ferguson and his staff in preparation for the event. The shipment came direct from the style centers in New York where the Federal company maintains permanent buying headquarters that are in constant touch with the latest and most-up-to-the minute modes.

During the spring sale, prices will be cut to a remarkably low price, although style and quality of merchandise will in no place be sacrificed because of this price cut. Manager Ferguson states he has an abundant stock of high grade goods on hand and predicts an unusual success for the spring fashion carnival.

More Truth Than Poetry

UNUSED ADVICE

A friend of banditts whom I know,
(He says they're better than they're painted
And only fly a trade so low
Because they have been prison tainted)
Informs me that a friend of theirs
Is never in the slightest danger;
They only roam the thoroughfares
To slug and rob a total stranger.

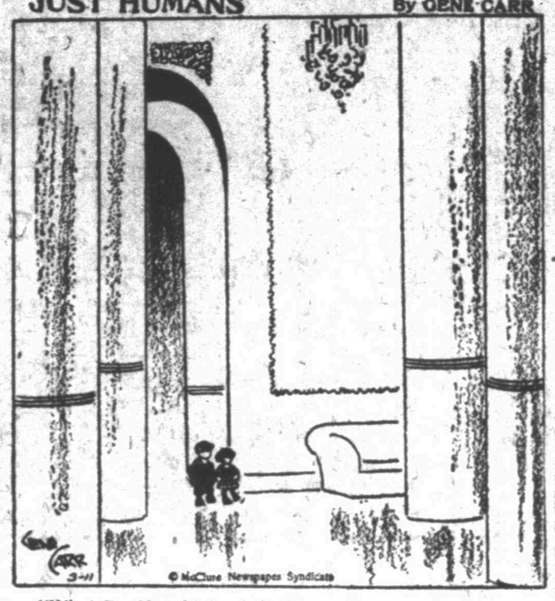

He says if I am on my guard
And have the words "I love a bandit"
Engraved upon a little card
That he will read and understand it.
He thereupon will cease to frown,
Nor of my watch and cash divest me—
But lay his gun and blackjack down,
And no more trouble nor molest me.

But if a card like that I had
Perhaps the bandit could not read it,
Besides my memory is bad,
I can find nothing when I need it.
And if I spoke these words to him
I'm rather sure that it would grieve me
If his expression, dour and grim
Proclaimed that he did not believe me.

I make allowance for his kind,
No doubt that jail makes rascals of them
But just the same I can not find
It in my heart of hearts to love them.
And so I shall not use that card,
But if a bandit seeks to harry me—
I'll turn around and run as hard
As my poor, frightened legs can carry me.

Minature Riot Follows Mantell's Roughing of Ted Waters

HE WINS MATCH IN WILD ROUND IN ARENA HERE

Cops Use Guns to Stop Crowd Going After His Scalp

A riot was narrowly averted Thursday night when Dutch Mantell, welterweight wrestler was charged by an angry mob of fans in the American Legion auditorium as he stepped from the ring after putting Teddy Waters cut with a flying mare. A crowd of men jumped up and attempted to hold Mantel who, seeing his predicament, fled toward the exit instead of the dressing rooms. Chief of Police Hodgins together with Officers McClelland and Haigwood stepped in front of the mob and with drawn revolvers and held it back until Mantel was out of danger. The crowd's anger cooled somewhat and in a few moments Mantell was sitting in the pop stand mouthing his reasons for roughing and attacking Waters and attempting to explain it as a wrestling privilege. Waters was knocked unconscious by the flying mare which came after 39 minutes and 20 seconds of the roughest and dirtiest wrestling local fans have ever witnessed.

Wins Second.

Waters gamely revived and insisted on coming back for the second fall which was an easy one for Mantell, who put him out in nine minutes and 50 seconds with another flying mare.

Immediately after the match the crowd began prophesying what Matty Matsuda, world's welterweight champion, will do to Mantell and Manager Ross immediately wired Matsuda for a match promising him a $500 guarantee.

The crowd's ire was aroused not because Mantell was proving too much for Waters or because he put his adversary out with a flying mare, but because throughout the entire match he played his dirtiest tricks on the Childress boy, who remained clean until almost the last moment when he attempted to retaliate.

Clever Wrestler.

There is no doubt but what Mantell is a clever wrestler and could have put on an exhibit which would have been a credit to himself and to the crowd but he would not play fair. He attempted to tear Waters' mouth apart, he beat his face with his fists and feet and even when outside the ropes refused to turn loose although Referee Adolph Freeman demanded it.

Too Much for Him.

Waters found the dirty work too much for him and had Mantell wrestled clean he might have put the Dutchman down. The match started with a bang and was almost too fast to follow for a few seconds. Mantell clapped a headlock on Teddy who retaliated with a toe hold; Teddy put a had body scissors on the Dutchman and the rough stuff started. An arm scissors clapped on Waters was broken with a hammerlock and they were soon wrestling near the ropes.

Called to the center of the ring Waters got a toe hold and Mantell retaliated with a wristlock. Mantell dropped that for a head scissors which Teddy broke. Mantell got another headlock and Teddy came out with a head scissors. About this time Mantell was roughing it good and kicked Waters in the face with his knees. The crowd yelled, for him to stop and he turned his attention in that direction.

They arose to their feet and Waters clapped a headlock which he held for almost a minute and which was broken when Mantell pulled for the ropes. Mantell came back with a headlock on Waters and Waters broke it, going into a hammerlock which Mantell broke by kicking his opponent free. Mantell put on an armlock and Teddy kicked off. Mantell then put on a headlock and Teddy got a nasty armlock which looked for a moment as though it might put the Dutchman out. Mantell, however, crawled for the ropes and after getting on his feet came back with a headlock.

When Teddy put another hammerlock on, Mantell began tearing at his mouth at the same time hurling abuse into the audience which was so thoroughly aroused by this time that more were out of their seats than were seated.

Arm Holds Fall.

In the next few moments Mantell was clapping on arm holds and Waters was struggling out of them. The latter put a split on Mantell which was broken with a headlock. They milled around for a few moments and then the flying mare took Wateas unaware. After he fell with a thud to the floor the crowd attempted to seize Mantell.

When they came back five or ten minutes later for the second fall Teddy put on a headlock which he held for exactly one minute but Mantell shook loose and Teddy followed with a toe hold. The ropes saved Mantell. Both got to their feet and Mantell seized Waters in a second flying mare. The Childress lad fell to the mat and was shaking himself free when the Dutchman leaped on him. It was an easy matter to put his shoulders to the mat.

The preliminary was a slow go between Lee Meyers of Houston and Jack Vincent of Lawton, Okla. Vincent outweighed his man by 15 pounds and they played through 37 minutes. Vincent then clapped a stepover toe hold on Meyers and put him down. Time was called in 45 minutes without a second fall.

Sutherland and Kerr In Camp; Weather Holds Up Practice; Fussell Signs

Fred Dorman Sends Word He's On the Way Shortly

Suds Sutherland and Mel Kerr were the only two new men to show up in camp Thursday. Both rolled in, pronouncing themselves fit and ready to go, this being a point of special importance for Sutherland who last year had considerable hard luck mixed in with his hurling performances.

Kerr is the Canadian outfielder turned over to the Spudders by the Chicago Cubs last fall. He is well known in Canada as a sprinter and one of the fastest men on the paths in those parts. He played in the M-O league in 1925. Kerr has been playing basketball in the north all winter, while Sutherland has been keeping in trim in a logging camp of the north woods.

* * *

Fred Fussell became a Spudder, officially, Thursday when he signed his contract and got down to business. He originally came to the Spudders from the Chicago Cubs and was passed on to Seattle in the Coast league where he was one of the main reasons for winning a pennant in 1924. Last year he was not so successful, but declares himself now to be in the best shape and ready for a big time. He is expected to help Pat Martin carry the brunt of the left handed hurling assignments this summer.

* * *

Fred Dorman, third sacker extraordinary, sent word Thursday he was preparing to leave in a day or so for Spudder camp and start the battle for his old infield berth.

* * *

Thursday's workouts were rather light because of the cold weather. In the evening session Brainard confined activities to an hour or so of light exercises, while the afternoon was but little more strenuous. A moderation today will bring another rookie-regular practice game.

REESE SQUAD IS TRAINING HARD

Electra Track Men Are In Shape for Fast Season

ELECTRA, March 11.—Jim Reese's Tiger track aspirants are still working away this week although it has been announced that the local schools will not be represented at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show meet this week as was previously believed.

The squad is fast hitting its stride and the mentor is developing a fast squad that is due to carry away many honors this season before the curtain is drawn. Gerald Gillum and Bob More are still leading the dashmen by a good margin and these men are going to cause some records to fall before they lose out in the century, 220 or 440 yard dashes this season. Ed Foster, Cleve Jones, Harry Preston, Louis Kent, Lendon Smith, Raymond Cullper and Henry Culpepper continue to give these men some mighty stiff competition in these events. Cecil Grant is still by himself in the mile run but Willis Carnahan is making him step for it in the half mile. Carnahan is also showing to a good advantage in the 220 and 440 as well as the low hurdles. Lonnie Grisham continues to be the outstanding performer in the Tiger camp. He is working away in the vaulting and high jump and is well on his way toward making one of the most valuable men on the squad this year. Hardy Hall, Sylvan Cloninger and Dewey Byrd are giving him a battle in the jumps with Dennis Head, Roy Cooledge and Trever Bell his most consistant rivals in the vaulting. Louis Kent, Harry Preston, Willis Carnahan, Trever Bel land Tracey Bell are still the most promising hurdlers while Toots Gilger continues to show the way with the shot put with Pug Sanderlin leading with the discus.

May Divide Girls Basket Tourney

DALLAS, March 11.—(AP)—Games of the Texas A. A. U. high school girls basketball tournament may be divided between Cisco and Eastland, because the new gymnasium at Cisco probably will not be completed for the three-day meet, March 18, 19 and 20.

Dallas headquarters of the Texas A. A. U. has announced that March 13 is the final date for entries.

Eastland is only 12 miles from Cisco and Eastland officials who have offered use of their gym, believe the preliminary rounds can be divided between the two towns to advantage.

Miss Ryan Wins Dixie Tourney

TAMPA, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Miss Elizabeth Ryan, of Santa Monica, Calif., today won the Dixie women's singles tennis title and, with Mrs. Hildergarde Taylor of Boston, won the doubles title. Miss Ryan defeated Miss Mary K. Browne, New York, for the singles title 6-3, 8-6.

Miss Ryan and Mrs. Taylor conquered Miss Browne and Mrs. Louise Raymond of New York in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4.

GLOOM FOR CUBS.

CHICAGO, March 11.—(AP)—Gloom reigned in the Catalina Island haunts of the Chicago Cubs yesterday after an X-ray examination revealed that Grover Cleveland Alexander, the Bruins' hurling ace, had a fractured right ankle. The injury will prevent him playing for six weeks or more. Alexander sustained the injury a week ago, but thought the ankle had only been sprained.

Rain at Shreveport, La., kept the Chicago White Sox indoors yesterday. The interruption brought no sour words from Manager Collins, however, for he is well pleased with the condition of his men. Johnny Mostil, regular fielder, reported and appears in excellent form.

DODGERS GET PITCHING

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—Brooklyn has shown some pitching in its first training game of importance, Jesse Petty, Jess Barnes and Bus McWeeney being the producers. The trio allowed the St. Louis Browns only four hits at Tarpon Springs yesterday and won, 5 to 4, errors letting in most of the Browns' tallies.

George Kelly's appearance at the Giants' camp featured the day in Sarasota, while Babe Ruth brought attention upon himself by bewailing his low weight at the Yankees' camp in St. Petersburg.

SOX PROSPECTS BETTER.

BOSTON, March 11.—(AP)—Observers at the New Orleans camp say that prospects of the Red Sox are materially better than last year. Todt will play first, McCann second, Haney third and Lee short.

As for pitching it looks as if Ehmke, Wingfield, Ruffing and Zahniser will be the varsity four. The outfield will be settled after the season opens.

At St. Petersburg the Braves had a warm practice session in preparation for a game with the Yankees.

FT. WORTH HERE TONIGHT READY FOR A BATTLE

Landon-Hill, Local Champs, Prepared to Give Lots Of Argument

Landon-Hill's championship basketball quintet seeks new fields to conquer tonight when it holds the Junior college fort against an invasion of the Fort Worth Power and Light five, winner of a Cowtown flag which they hope to stretch into a pennant inclusive of Houston and San Antonio. The game is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

Fort Worth is coming with an aggregation of tall, rangy basket shooters and a record that includes the scalps of about all the amatuer basket ball teams in Tarrant county. In the Landon-Hill crowd, though, they meet a fast, aggressive and intelligent team that has waded through all local opposition without much trouble. They lost their first city league game by a count of 25 to 24 and then went ahead to win eight straights.

Chubby Neal, manager, said Thursday he would have to go into the battle tonight without the services of Gantner, star forward, but that otherwise his team was in the best of shape and ready to put up a real battle. Beck and an Horn will probably start at forward, Rawls at center and Clary and Rice at guards.

BURK IS TO GO TO FT. WORTH

Orange and Black Enters Fat Stock Show Contests

The Orange and Black from Burkburnett high school wil send a track team to Fort Worth for the meet to be held there at the Southwestern stock show Saturday. The tracksters are expecting to put a team on the field that will carry off several honors.

Captain Harrold Hickman, Mitchell Wolfe, Douglas Tiffin, Wilburn Griffin and Pat Hood will be the relay team that is counted on in the meet. Douglas Tiffin will also be in the broad jump and with Leroy Eddie will be in the sprints.

Pat Hood and Harrold Hickman will run the mile and if possible will enter the half mile. Mitchell Wolfe, a great favorite with the fans to take off the 440 yard dash, will be greatly counted on in this department.

The lone hurdle man will be Phillipy who has been doing some great work in practice. Floyd Patterson will be the only field man and will toss both the javelin and the discus.

YOUNGSTERS IN HARNESS

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—(AP)—Because of the absence of Leach and Williams, the Phillies' outfield for today's game with the Giants at Bradentown consisted mainly of younger players. Yesterday the second team beat the regulars, 5 to 1.

Connie Mack's regulars journey to the Baltimore Orioles' spring play ground at Punta Gorda and lost 7 to 6.

MRS. DUNN IN CAMP.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 11.—(AP)—Mrs. James C. Dunn, America's only woman major league baseball club owner, was with her Cleveland Indians at Lakeland today. She arrived yesterday just too late to see her team defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 12 to 3, in its first game of the season. She plans to stay in Florida during the remainder of the Indians' stay.

ONE CASUALTY

PITTSBURGH, March 11.—(AP) The initial game of the spring training season between the first and second squads of the Pittsburgh Pirates at Paso Robles yesterday resulted in one casualty. Pie Traynor, regular third sacker, sustained a badly wrenched ankle when he slid into second base and will likely be incapacitated for a week. The second team defeated the first team, 1 to 0.

GRIMES COUNTY ROAD BIDS TO BE OPENED MAR. 30

AUSTIN, March 11.—(AP)—Bids for construction of 17 miles of grading and draining structures on highway 45 from Huntsville to the Grimes county line will be opened March 30 by the Walker county commissioners court, the state highway department announced today. Estimated cost of the project is $100,000.

BRUINS OPEN SEASON.

GREENVILLE, March 11.—(AP)—The Bruins of Burleson college will open their baseball season Friday with a game with the McKinney high school team there. The Bear squad this year has been recruited largely from new material.

TRAINING CAMP NEWS

HOUSTON, March 11.—(AP)—The Buffs and the former Bisons who now sport the habiliments of the St. Louis Cardnilas will open the exhibition season at West End Friday afternoon. Games with these Bison alumni will also be played Saturday and Sunday afternoon.

In this first test the Buffs will face serious competition. Only the mighty Rogers Hornsby himself will be absent from a line-up which is given more than an outside chance of winning the national league pennant and in the place of the manager species Torporcer, himself a second-sacker of merit, will play.

Today after another indoor session at the Y. M. C. A. gym, Joe Mathes indicated the batting order which he will employ. Nick Meggio, the five-foot-four infielder will start, with Johnny Kane at second base following. Then will follow Powell in center, Vigare at third, Watkins in right, Ellis at first and Bloxsom at short, with the battery-men at the bottom.

During the process of the struggle Bailey will supplant Kane at the keystone, Speer will go to third, Hatch to first and McAdams to short.

It is probable that Mathes will use three pitchers in each of the conflicts, with each flipper chunking for three innings. The catchers too, will be changed frequently.

It will be an imposing array of diamond talent that Bill Killifer will lead and every player but Torporcer has once played under the Houston banner.

MINERAL WELLS, March 11.—(AP)—The scheduled game between the Steers and the Mineral Wells Knights of Pythias team and the banquet to follow were postponed until Friday out of deference to the whims of J. Pluvius and Old Man Winter.

The Herd will trek overland to the home corral at Dallas Saturday. On the same afternoon they will play Oklahoma City at the Steer stadium.

George Schoops and Joe Singer are the only new arrivals in camp. Dusty Pence is expected to join the club about March 17. The news bringing great delight to the other player. The stellar curve-ball heaver was a great favorite with the Steers last year and in Manager Snipe Conley's opinion is one of the best pitchers to come to Texas in many moons.

Despite cold weather today Conley's charges got a snappy work-out.

The Steers will have a bunch of hitting pitchers this season, judging from Wednesday's game with Breckenridge. Four of the hurlers smacked the ball for the circuit.

FORT WORTH, March 11.—(AP) The Fort Worth Panthers, champions of the Texas league, after a stiff workout today in spite of a north wind that whipped the field, are ready for their first game of the season. After looking them over under the showers, Manager Atz pronounced them fit and ready for Mike Kelly and his outfit of former Giants and Dodgers who invade the lair of the cats Saturday and Sunday.

Jake has been working eight pitchers, veterans and rookies, in rotation in batting practice, four daily, for four days, and all are in shape to work three or four innings under battle conditions. Every man on the squad with the possible exception of Wayne Windle, who took his first workout of the season today, probably will get action during the two days of play against Minneapolis.

Atz has a wide variety to pick from with the exception of first base, which big Ed Konetchy is alone contending for. Although he was fighting the flu just nine days ago, Ed thinks he can last the whole eighteen innings against the Millers.

Lou North looking well in spite of five days overland travel, reported this afternoon and will take his first workout tomorrow.

SAN ANTONIO, March 11.—(AP) Until the seventh inning the San Antonio Bears held the St. Louis Cardinal regulars to a one-run lead in their first exhibition game but the big leaguers started a bombardment that netted nine runs and the game by a 11-3 score.

It was good battling practice for the Cards and a practical session for the Bears.

In the seventh inning the Bears made enough blunders to last them for the season. The Cardinals got their nine runs on seven hits.

With the exception of the seventh inning, it was a fair ball game.

Score by innings:

St. Louis	1	0	1	0	0	0	9	0	0	11 16 2
San Antonio	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	3 7 3

Batteries: Mails, Hall, Clough and O'Farrell, Vick; Williams, Newman, Webb and Wirtz, Gurra.

BEAUMONT, March 11.—(AP)—Skipper Jim Galloway sent his Exporters through a short game this afternoon and at the close ducked for the showers a broad smile on his face for he had seen some of his veteran sluggers mallerate the pitching of half a dozen rookie hurlers. But that was not all, for McClannshan, a Conroe youngster who came to camp unannounced asking a chance, stepped to the plate and whaled the ball most satisfactorily. The lad, barely 17, is a right-handed hitter who does not indulge in swinging. He came to bat three times and took four swings, three of them were line hits for six bases while the fourth effort was a sizzling foul, outside by inches that was his heftiest blow. Skipper Galloway declared the young outfielder appears one of the best young prospects he has looked at for years.

The line-up used today will likely start against Kansas City Saturday in Lake Charles with Galloway at first, Connolly at second, Handley at third, Devireros at short, Ormand, Robinson and Davis in the outfield, Robertson and Boelzle catchers and Riggs, Brooks, Ricketts and Emmons, rookie hurlers for the pitching.

ELECTRA PARK IS NOW READY

New Grounds Being Rushed To Completion Before Sunday

ELECTRA, March 11.—The baseball park being erected by the local twilight league is fast nearing completion and will, in all probability be ready for the invasion of the Wichita Falls Spudder baseball squad Sunday afternoon when the exhibition game is to be staged between the Spuds and a picked team from the local loop. The park was under construction on the site used by the sandlotters last season but it was impossible to obtain these grounds for this year. The new site is located southeast of the city, just north of the diamond used by the twilighters during the season of 1924.

The locals are working hard and will probably be in condition to give the Texas leaguers a pretty stiff work out in the seasons initial tiff for both clubs. Tommie Courtney, Bill Williamson, Troy Ray, Roscoe Sargeant, Agate Scott, Frank McMullen, Claude Conyers and several others who are the cream of this league will probably be in the Electra lineup and there are some pretty nice performers among this bunch, both with the club and afield. Farmer Ray, veteran of many campaigns and most consistent tosser of the local twilight, will probably be the opening chunker for the All-Stars. Roscoe Sargent, Dewey Williams, Claude Conyers and possibly Worth Shanafelt will take turns on the mound. Bill Williamson, who has made quite a record with the locals as a backstop is slated to be on the receiving end.

HELEN STILL WINS.

NICE, France, March 11.—(AP)—Miss Helen Wills advanced another step in the singles of the Nice lawn tennis tournament today by defeating Miss Joan Ridley of England, 6-0, 6-2.

Danish Prince Reaches New York

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—Prince Erik of Denmark, first cousin of King Christian, arrived here today on the liner Lithuania, en route to his chicken farm at Adcadia, Calif.

The prince, who was accompanid by his wife, the former Lois Booth, heiress to one of Canada's largest fortunes, said he would rather raise chickens than anything else.

BEAUMONT OUT OF T. U. ASS'N

Eligibility Dispute Over Star Leads to Its Presumption

BEAUMONT, March 11.—Beaumont high school withdrew from the University of Texas interscholastic league today when the athletic council voted unanimously to discontinue association with that body. The action no donbt closes the recent Sam Ballew ineligibility case which resulted in a decision which forced the Royal Purple from the state football race when most Texas fans thought the state championship would come to Beaumont. "We thought the basketball boys should have a chance to defend the title won last year," declared Harry Roberts, secretary of the council, "and for that reason retained our membership. We will ask for admission into the Texas high school association," added Mr. Roberts, "an organization formed two years ago at a meeting of representatives of Houston, Port Arthur, San Antonio and a number of other major high schools."

CARDS OPTIMISTIC

ST. LOUIS, March 11.—(AP)—The Browns were held to four hits and dropped the first exhibition game of the season to the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5 to 4, yesterday at the Brownie camp at Tarpon Springs. The Dodgers collected nine bingles. Hargrave, Brown catcher, got a home run.

The Cardinals at San Antonio were idle yesterday because of rain. A tough fight is on for berths on the Cards' pitching staff and because of this and coaching methods the 1926 corps of hurlers is expected to be the best the club has ever had.

VERNON LIONS ENTER TOURNEY

Will Carry Their Colors In Stock Show Events Saturday

VERNON, March 11.—Coach E. A. Baggett and five Vernon Lions will leave Vernon Friday morning for Fort Worth where they will compete in the Southwestern Exposition track meet to be held in connection with the Fat Stock Show Saturday. The Lions will enter five events, including the relay, mile run, discus throw, broad jump and high hurdles.

The fiven men who will make the trip are Ryan, Crouch, Roy Key, Clois Key and Keith Pigg. The relay team will be composed of Ryan and Crouch, stars of last year's state championship quartette, Roy Key and Clois Key, Keith Pigg will run the mile for Vernon, Crouch will hurl the discus and enter the broad jump, Ryan will run the high hurdles for his school.

Although the Lion relay team has two new men on it this season, it has been making the mile in slightly better time than it was at this time last year, and it is expected to make a good showing. However, the relay team won only third place in the meet at Fort Worth, copping state championship honors at Austin during the interscholastic league meet.

GUARDS COSTLY ARMS

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP) The veteran pitching arms to which are pinned the Washington Senators' pennant hopes are not be exposed unduly to pre-season strains for the sake of a good box office at exhibition games, it appears in reports from the club's Tampa camp.

Manager Harris plans to keep Johnson, Coveleskie, Ruether and Bush under wraps until just before the big grind begins, using his rookie hopefuls for the practice tilts. Three of these which have shown something thus far were given the mound duty in today's game with the Buffalo club at Palmetto. They are Ray Royce, Irving Hadley and Lefty Thomas.

TIGER STARS ARRIVING.

DETROIT, March 11.—(AP)—Several outfielders and infielders have arrived to augment the squad of Detroit American League players at their Augusta, Ga., training camp. Another stiff workout featured yesterday's training with Heinie Manush, Frank O'Rourke and Bob Fothergill among the regulars who joined in the practice.

With the BROWNS of the SOUTH

By NORMAN E. BROWN

BRADENTON, Fla., March 11.—It's a far cry from the ranks of the semi-pro ball fields to the major leagues. And it is rarely that a player leaps the gap without the help of a year or two in fast minor league company.

But there are two lads in the Phillies' camp here who are making a heroic effort to land at least a chance to remain the property of the Philadelphia club while they're getting some experience in a fast league.

They are Ed Baecht and John Morgan.

They're tiny chaps. Baecht stands six feet two with his spikes buried in the sod and Morgan is half an inch taller. Baecht is 19 and Morgan 20.

The former drew considerable attention around Alton, Ill., last summer before he pitched a perfect game for the Alton team. That performance made the big league scouts pay some attention to him. He is a righthander by profession and inclination.

Morgan is a lefthander and pitched for the Abbington team last season.

NO TEARS SHED WHEN DEMPSEY DEPARTED

Floridians generally give sport celebrities the glad hand coming and express sincere regret at their departure. But as I roam about this state I can't find anyone who worked up much enthusiasm over Jack Dempsey.

Not for any reason whatever other than the fact that Dempsey is the only luminary who has come and gone without participating in competitive events while visiting the state.

The leaders in every other branch of sport have not only been glad to exhibit what prowess they boast, but have waged battle in championship contests where defeats are registered as such and where they must play at their best to ward off such defeats.

Helen Wills, first ranking woman tennis player, is abroad, as everyone known. But Mary K. Browne, Elizabeth Ryan and the other ranking stars have been participating in sectional and state tourneys for many weeks.

Vincent Richards and Bill Tilden have crossed racquets with other leaders the past two or three winters in Florida.

In golf the women's ranks in Florida number Glenna Collett, national champion and greatest of American stars. She has been meeting Dorothy Campbell Hurd, former national champion and British women's champ, and the other feminine stars who are constantly challenging her claims to fame.

* * *

Nor does the list end there. The leading swimming champs, headed by Johnny Wiesmuller, Arne Borg, Sybil Bauer, Ethel Lackie, Martha Norelius and a score of others, have been trying diligently to break existing records in pools in the state, and have succeeded.

The 10 big league baseball clubs training in the state will meet each other in various games before the training season ends and thus will give the natives a chance to see the creas of the baseball world in action.

But Dempsey?

The man who has met but two really formidable men in the seven years he has held the title, dispensed idle chatter and sweet nothings while here. As for stepping into a ring and testing his skill (or whatever of it remains) in a real fight, mon dieu!

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, March 11.—(AP)—The cotton market was comparatively quiet today and fluctuations were narrow for May, the most active month, being only 14 points. Following an opening decline on poor cables which was gradually extended from eight to 14 points owing to prospects of a return of fair weather in the belt the market rallied on short covering and regained practically all of the early loss. Prices eased off six to 10 points in the early afternoon owing to lack of sustained support but rallied again in the late trading, particularly on the new crop positions and several of the months unpicked the earlier highs. The close showed net losses to the day of two to seven points on near positions but net gains of four to nine points on more distant months.

At the start Liverpool cables were lower than due and as a result first trades here were four to seven points down. After a brief but trifling rally prices again eased off on the forecast for fair weather in the belt until March traded down to 18.31, May to 17.85 and July to 17.34, or eight to 14 points below the close of yesterday. These proved to be the lows of the day.

Near noon prices rallied on shorts covering due to fears that crop preparations in the belt might be delayed by recent rains. There was renewed demand to cover scarcit yof contracts. On this bulge May advanced to 17.97, July to 17.45 and October to 16.74, or 11 to 14 points up from the lows. These prices proved to be the highs of the day.

After easing off six to 10 points from the highs in the early afternoon the market firmed up in the late trading and the later positions duplicated the earlier highs and closed at moderate net gains while near months showed small net losses.

Exports for the day totaled 8,720 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—The cotton market was steadier today. After selling off early to 18.52, May contracts rallied to 18.65 on covering and a little trade buying and closed at 18.63. The general market closed steady, net one point lower to six points higher.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to a decline of eight points with near months relatively easy in response to lower Liverpool cables, continued complaints of poor spot demand and unfavorable reports from the cotton goods market. July sold off to 17.95 and October to 17.24 at the start, but while bearish sentiment was much in evidence, offerings were comparatively small and were absorbed by price fixing in the near months and covering by recent sellers who seemed inclined to secure profits. There also may have been a little buying of new crop months on reports of cold rains in the south.

Prices steadied and the market was comparatively quiet later in the day, July selling up to 18.10 and October to 17.35, net advances of about one to nine points on the general list. The close was within a few points of the best on most positions.

The late steadiness was promoted by reports of a better tone in the stock market and Wall street buying, although the latter was attributed chiefly to coverings by shorts.

Private cables attributed the relatively easy ruling of Liverpool to hedging and liquidation and said that cotton cloth buyers were holding off in Manchester in anticipation of lower prices.

Exports today were 8,720 bales, making 6,163,546 so far this season. Port receipts 15,219; U. S. port stocks 1,311,728 bales.

T. B. V. Road Asks Texas Port Rate

DALLAS, March 11.—(AP)—The Trinity and Brazos valley railroad today joined the Santa Fe in favoring a differential for Texas ports against New Orleans.

Representatives of the T. and B. V. which now is in receivership, said that anything which would give them more freight traffic to Texas ports would be welcomed. They testified in the Texas ports differential rate case.

V. C. James, assistant to the receiver, presented an exhibit showing what he called the unprofitable character of the road's investment. When asked by Attorney Luther Walters of Chicago representing New Orleans interests, why the road continued to operate, he replied that it was because the Texas and Brazos valley was a short, economical line to Texas ports. The road runs from Fort Worth to Houston.

John T. Bowe of Houston, general freight agent of the road, said that the geographical location of Texas ports entitle them to a differential and if "they don't get it there will be no Texas ports ten years from now." Walters characterized this as "a wild prediction."

"Anything that increases traffic to Texas ports would aid the Texas and Brazos valley because naturally we would get some of the business," Mr. Bowe said.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—Revival of activity and strength in the railroad shares featured the resumption of the upward movement of prices in today's stock market. More than a score rails showed net gains ranging from one to nearly six points with buying apparently influenced by reports of heavy car loadings, large current earnings and prospects of special dividend and merger developments.

Buying of the industrials was of a more selective character, with a tendency noted to take profits on the bulges, particularly in the issues which had registered a sustained rise earlier in the week. Oils made the best group showing. Trading showed a moderate increase in volume the day's sales aggregating 1,836,400 shares.

Special strength developed in Chesapeake and Ohio issues on buying influenced by the belief that current earnings justified a substantially higher dividend, regardless of whether the "Nickel Plate" merger plan was revived. The common soared nearly six points to 133 and the preferred over four points to 133⅛, both new high records, despite the fact that a large amount of bonds is convertible into common stock at $90 a shar etc April 1. Other Van Sweringen rails were mixed. "Nickel Plate" common advancing two points to 157 on a few sales while Perre Marquette and Erie first preferred showed fractional recessions.

Norfolk and Western was another outstanding strong spot also soaring six points to 153 and closing within a fraction of the top. "Katy" preferred advanced four points to 92½ and New York Central, Reading, Baltimore and Ohio, Delaware and Hudson, Kansas City Southern and Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred all gained two points or more.

Oils were helped by the increase in California and Gulf Coast crude prices and by a revival of merger rumors affecting several of the large producing companies. California Petroleum was lifted over three points to 37¼ or within a point of the year's high and Atlantic Refining was bid up 5¾ to 104¾ but slipped back to 103. Standard Oil of California, Independent Oil and Gas, Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, General Asphalt, Houston Pacific and Shell Union advanced one to 2½ points.

American Locomotive ran into profit taking on the announcement that two shares of the stock would be given for three of railway steel spring under the plan approved by directors for the merger of those companies. It closed ¾ net lower at 105 after selling between 106 and 104¾. Railway Steel Spring was run up over two points to 68¾ but eased to 67¼.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent, which rate was maintained all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

With the exception of Danish kroner, which rallied 16 points to 26.10 cents the principal foreign exchanges moved within narrow and irregular limits. Demand sterling and French francs ruled slightly easer around $4.86 11-16 and 3.62 cents, respectvely.

SENATE BOARD FIGHTS M'CAMANT'S SELECTION

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP) The senate judiciary committee voted 7 to 2 today against the nomination of Wallace McCamant of Oregon to be federal circuit court judge.

Hurls Gauntlet at California

Suggestion that Arizona may resort to a "physical protest" against diversion of Colorado river water by California and other states, is being made by Gov. W. P. Hunt of Arizona. His state is suffering from loss of irrigation and power potentialities, he declares. California contends it is within its rights.

Livestock

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK.

FORT WORTH, March 11.—It did not take long to dispose of the Thursday's cattle and calf receipts in Fort Worth. Buyers and salesmen were anxious to clear all decks as early as possible, on account of the auction sale of fat cattle in the new sales pavilion at the Southwestern Exposition and fat stock show. And again, receipts for the market were very small. Only 1,800 head of cattle and 200 calves were on offer. A year ago, 2,512 cattle and 416 calves. Last Thursday 3,832 cattle, 550 calves.

Cattle trading generally steady, calf session spirited, rates well in line with week's advance of 25c.

Slaukhter steer receipts two cars fed type and six loads grassers. Fed steers $8.25 on early rounds, a satisfactory value. Grassers were fast to go.

Mixed shipments made up the big end of day's arrivals in butcher stock division. No very desirable cows here, odd drafts excepted but two cars yearlings rather useful. Bull receipts almost exclusively odds and ends.

Reports from outside hog markets uncertain, Fort Worth buyers inactive until very late. Chicago and St. Louis quoting lower hog market, Kansas City opening rate higher to shippers. Opening offers here slightly lower than Wednesday, prospects were for near steady market. Receipts 1,200. Best grades $13.00@13.25.

A deck of breeding ewes and lambs $7.00, nothing else on offer in sheep house, actualy receipts under 200 head.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, March 11.—(AP)—Active buying which appeared to be largely of an investment character, brought about a sharp advance in wheat values today. Traders gave much attention to reports that bordered on the sensational regarding the inferior quality of the Argentine crop as a whole. Closing quotations on Wheat were strong, 1⅝ to 3¼c net higher, May (new) $1.62⅝ to $1.62⅞ and July $1.41⅜ to $1.41½, with corn at ⅛c decline to ⅝c gain, oats ⅛ to ⅝c up, and provisions varying from 10c setback to a rise of 22c.

Corn prices lagged throughout the day. Better weather was a bearish influence and no aggressive buying was apparent. Oats sympathized with wheat, rather than with corn.

Provisions averaged higher, owing chiefly to foreign buying of lard.

Nations to Act On China Situation

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP) Decisive action by the United States and the other world powers is in prospect in China unless the principals in the civil war there amend their practices.

Not only the Peking government, but the rival generals themselves have been notified by the foreign diplomatic corps in China that their governments will cooperate in whatever action is necessary to protect foreign shipping, between Peking and the sea. The safety of this water route was guaranteed by the Boxer protocol, but is endangered now by mines and by an artillery duel.

There is every indication that the strongly worded "demand" presented to the Chinese leader had the full backing of the Washington government. American warships are in Chinese waters and it is assumed they will be used, if necessary, as they have been frequently in the past, to enforce the full protection promised in the Boxer agreement.

Marsh Insists He Will Visit Panama

BROCKPORT, N. Y., March 11.—(AP)—Declaration of Foreign Minister Alfora of Panama that Richard G. Marsh will not be permitted to land on the isthmus of Panama should he set out upon a fourth expedition to the interior of the country will not change prepared plans for the project, Mr. Marsh asserted at his home here today.

"I understand the Panama officials have made the threat that I will be shot on sight if I return to Panama," Mr. Marsh said. "I intend to go back there in response to an invitation from the head chief of the congress of the Tule Indians to visit them.

"This threat will not change my plans to head a fourth expedition to the San Blas country. I do not intend to visit the president of Panama at his palace, but I shall be in the country and they are welcome to the task of trying to catch me.

"Naturally I can not say as much about my plans as if we were to be welcomed down there by the government, but we shall go in about a month.

Girls, Charged With Manslaughter For Allowing Mother to Freeze To Death, are Given Freedom by Court

District Attorney Learns That Parent Would Not Allow Them to Build a Fire In the Furnace, Because of Her Health

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 11.—(AP)—Aileen O'Connor, 18, and her 14-year-old sister, Honora, were free today after being jailed on a charge of manslaughter for letting their mother freeze to death.

The indictments were nolle prossed by District Attorney Arthur K. Reading, who said he wanted to save the girls from a night in jail.

"I do not believe these girls acted much differently from other children lacking guidance," he said.

Mother a Paralytic.

"The father of the defendants died two years ago and the mother took over his real estate business. Last May, Mrs. O'Connor suffered a paralytic shock and from that time until her death was confined to her home.

"When winter came the mother refused to allow the furnace to be repaired, saying that a fire would not be beneficial to her health. She insisted that the children go to the real estate office to sleep.

"Both daughters returned to the home each morning and Aileen usually remained at home until noon each day.

"On the afternon of Dec. 31 when Aileen returned to her home her mother was dead. She was afraid to tell even her younger sister; she did not return to her home for several weeks.

Neighbors Suspicious.

"The suspicions of neighbors were aroused and on Jan. 14 entrance was made to the house and the body was found in bed."

The girls, who had been unable to furnish $1,000 bail and had no attorney, were preparing to spend the night in jail. A half an hour after the indictment had been nolle prossed they left the court house with Mrs. Celia Wellman, probation officer, who assured the district attorney she would get them a good home.

Bible and Science Agree, Says Bishop

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—The Bible teaches religion, not science, and its account of creation is not incompatible with the theory of evolution, Bishop William T. Manning, asserted today, speaking at a lenten conference in St. Thomas Episcopal church.

"Any one today who talks as though there were an irreconcilable conflict between science and religion is behind the times and gives evidence of that most dreaded of all maladies, a mid-victorian mind," he said.

GRAFT CHARGED ON PRISON FARM

Officials Reap Rich Harvest, Woman Supervisor Declares

SAN ANTONIO, March 11.—(AP)—An impending clash over provision of the proposed prison bill for complete re-location of the Texas prison system came to a head in today's session of the Texas conference on social welfare. Mrs. J. E. King, chairman of the supervisory board of the Texas prison system, took issue with Mrs. Elizabeth Speer, executive secretary of the committee for Texas prisons and prison labor, who advocates re-location along with other provisions of the bill.

"It is not your tropical storms you speak of, it's not the overflows, the bad crops, the army worm, the boll weevil, that is ruining the farms. It is the prison heads themselves who are willing their pockets at every turn, and who have grown to be millionaires right in the system," Mrs. King declared.

Representative T. K. Irwin of Dallas, who headed the recent legislative prison investigation, though favoring a re-location, tod social workers in attendance at the delinquent section that the question before the state was not so much one of re-location as a question of the personnel of management.

"In Texas the honor farm of the prison system was closed because those in charge of it did not want it to succeed." The honor farm did not fail, it was simply closed, he declared further, and forecast that it would be re-opened because of the demand of the people of the state.

Mr. Irwin cited the fact that one member of the prison commission consistently favored the honor system and fought for it long before it was opened. Of the 73 men he selected from the system not one ran away. The head of the commission was as consistently opposed, and out of 58 men he selected, 14 of them ran away the first day the negro honor farm was opened.

Mrs. Jessie Daniel Ames of Georgetown, executive secretary of the Texas committee on inter-racial co-operation, spoke at the night session on the future of the negro in the South. She maintained that the future of the South depends on the progress and development of both races and plended for a consideration of the needs of the negro in welfare programs over the state.

Murder Charge Filed in Death Of Texan's Wife

BELTON, Texas, March 11.—(AP)—A charge of murder was filed against Ethel Hens Holmes, 36, late today in connection wit hthe death of his wife last October, 9, at their farm home two miles north of Belton.

At the time of the tragedy, the death of Mrs. Holmes was said to have been due to the accidental discharge of a shotgun while Holmes and his wife were going to the pasture to drive up the cows, and the family dog, eager for a hunt, reared upon the husband's side, discharging the weapon. Mrs. Holmes was 33 years old.

The charge was filed this afternoon when Holmes was released from the Belton sanitarium where he had been confined since March 3, recovering from a gash in the throat, said by officers to have been self-inflicted. He was placed in the Bell county jail and no arrangement of bail had been attempted tonight.

The recent grand jury investigated the tragedy following rumors that Holmes had collected some $3,000 insurance following the death of his wife. He had been summoned to appear before the grand jury on the morning of March 3, but on the night of March 2, he went into the woods alone—returning the next morning with his throat slashed.

Since Mrs. Holmes' death the husband has lived most of the time with her parnts near Belton.

Jack Russell On Trial Again Today for Highway Robbery

CHARGED WITH LOOTING STORE

May Be His Last In Local Courts; May Plead Guilty

What may be his last appearance in a Wichita county courtroom is scheduled for R. J. Russell today with the commencing of his fourth trial on charges of highway robbery. This time he will be tried in the eighty-ninth district court in connection with the hold up of the Lamar Avenue Pharmacy last November. A special venire of 100 men has been called to report this morning for the trial of the case.

24-Year Sentences

In three previous trials, Russell has received sentences aggregating 24 years in the penitentiary. Inasmuch, however, as twelve years of this time was assessed in the thirtieth district court and the remaining twelve years in the eighty-ninth district court, he is under actual sentence of only twelve years, according to Judge Martin, who states that the sentences received in the two courts must run concurrently.

Will Be Added.

The sentence received in today's trial, however, will be added to the twelve year term already ahead of him. In event a plea of guilty is entered, as has been the case in each of the three trials of the past, the jury will have no choice but to assess a sentence of death, life in the penitentiary, or a lighter sentence not less than five years.

Although two other indictments are held against Russell it is not believed that he will be tried on either inasmuch as they both charge robbery with firearms in connection with the jailbreak last January, for which on a similar indictment Russell has received already a twelve year sentence.
