Mukden Fails to Chinese Reds For Great Loss to Government

GUARD ACTS AGAINST MOB VIOLENCE

NANKING (AP)—Mukden collapsed into Chinese Communist hands yesterday in the most stunning government loss of the three-year civil war, reliable sources in this fearful capital reported.

Many high Chinese and foreign sources declared the civil war had been decided with the fall of the great Manchurian city. Quick retirement from the remaining small holdings in southernmost Manchuria was predicted.

Bitter fighting may continue in China proper for months or even years, the sources said, but Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's effort to defeat the Communists on a nationwide scale has died. The latest setback brought speculation on the possibility of replacing China's long-time leader.

Some unofficial quarters said the Communists completely occupied Mukden, population of nearly two million people by refugees.

Later and equally credible reports near midnight said the encircling Communist armies had not yet taken full charge but the last government officials fled by car at 3 p.m., leaving the city in an anarchic confusion.

The Communists themselves broadcast that they had wiped out a government division immediately north of Mukden and that the city's fall was "imminent," but their report did not cover Saturday.

Recent pro-government reports have indicated the bulk of Mukden's 150,000 garrison already had left to fight its way south, west or to escape via the South Manchurian port of Yingkou, 115 miles from Mukden.

The government had no confirmation of Communist claims of destruction of 12 divisions two days ago, but the official denial sounded half-hearted.

Whereabouts of Gen. Wei Li Huang, Manchurian commander, was unknown.

The air lift from Mukden was reported suspended after air lines evacuated their personnel.

The government still has hundreds of thousands of troops under arms, but the best quarters question their will to defend themselves, let alone to attack.

Some observers thought this picture was painted too dark, and banked on a possible lull during which Chiang could pull his shocked forces together.

Chiang, the President and for more than 20 years the strong man of China, flew back to Nanking from Peiping.

This strained and weary man, 62 years old Sunday alone, can answer the question of what his return foretold of "drastic developments."

Display Set Up On Observance

In connection with the nationally observed Religious Education Week, being sponsored locally by Pampa churches, the Pampa public library in the basement of the City Hall has set up a display of more than half a hundred books on the religious theme.

The display, to the left of the reading desk, includes such books as the recently published Westminster study Bible, a life of St. Paul by the eminent Biblical scholar, Dr. E. C. Goodspeed, a tract on the principles and spread of Judaism, and novels dealing with the time of Jesus.

Most of the books have been loaned for the display by local churches, but if a number of subscribers request it, the library will order the most popular books for its collection.

RESERVES TO MEET
Pampa's unit of the organized reserves, Battery C, 820th Field Artillery, will hold a training meeting at 7:45 p.m. Monday in the City Commission Room in the City Hall, Capt. Frank Fata, unit commander, said yesterday.

YETS SET REUNION
DALLAS (AP)—The 90th Division of the Texas-Oklahoma division will hold its 30th annual reunion here Nov. 12-14.

Changes Made In Election Box Locations

Gray County voters face four election box location changes when they go to cast their ballots for national, state, and county offices Tuesday.

Two of the changes are in the county and two in the city. In Pampa the location changes are:

Box 14, moved from the Horace Mann School to the McCulloch Methodist Church.

Box 16, moved from the Tom Rose Ford Building to the basement of the First Methodist Church.

Changes in the county are:

Box 1, moved from the Lefors School Building to the Band Hall, just east of the school.

Box 17, moved from the Cubine Building in McLean to the Ford Building in McLean.

Several personnel changes were also announced late yesterday morning in the Sheriff's Office.

Atty. Clifford Braly will replace Atty. Arthur Teed as election judge in Box 10 at the Courthouse.

John E. Hessey will serve as election judge of Box 12, Old American Legion Hut. He replaces Walter Dean.

Other election boxes and judges remain the same as reset by the County Commissioners Court in September.

A complete list of election boxes and address will be published in Monday's edition of The News.

Fund Drive Continuing
During the first two and one-half days of the general Girl Scout fund drive, $2,103.58 were given to the Pampa Girl Scout Association, Ed. Weiss, finance chairman, said yesterday.

Fifty-six civic club members and Girl Scout fathers are distributing contact cards to local establishments to get support for the drive. The volunteer workers were given instructions Thursday morning at the kick-off breakfast in the Palm Room, City Hall.

Girl Scout Week begins today and will run through Nov. 6 to commemorate Juliette Low, founder of the Girl Scout program. National Girl Scout Week always includes Oct. 31, the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Low, who founded the movement 36 years ago.

Thirty Pampa troops are now in operation with more than 500 girls between the ages of 7 and 18 participating. The majority of the Pampa Scouts, in full uniform, will attend the church of their choice this morning.

All phases of the Pampa Girl Scout Association have shown a 40 percent increase this year over last. Weiss said. Last year there were 34 leaders as compared with 76 this year.

The celebration of National Girl Scout Week takes on new meaning for approximately 150 Pampa girls this year who have just started in the Brownie or Girl Scout programs. Also there are more than 100 women this year than ever before who are realizing the joy of learning with a group of girls by offering their time, experience and ability.

PROFESSOR DIES
NEW YORK (AP)—Prof. Wesley Clair Mitchell, 74, internationally known authority on economics, died today.

Ozo Lowde, For Congress
As a public service, The Pampa Daily News in today's issue has reproduced the election ballot as it will be presented to the voters on Tuesday.

The election laws of Texas do not require that the ballot be published in a large publication; therefore, if The News did not publish this ballot as a public service, most of the voters would go to the polls without having had a chance to study the lists of candidates.

Turn to Page 8 and study the ballot before you go to the polls. You will make the privilege of voting much easier in a year when there is a large ballot.

IS THERE A HAND THAT I FAILED TO SHAKE? OR WINNING SPEECH I DIDN'T MAKE?

SULK THERE A MAN THAT I MADE MAD? OR ONE I LEFT NOT FEELING GLAD?

STANDS THERE A WALL, WITH EMPTY SPACE, A POLE, OR TREE, WITHOUT MY FACE?

DID SOMEONE DOUBT MY SOBER SPEECHES—AND BLAME MY FOE'S UNREASONED SCREECHES?

IS THERE A PROMISE I'VE NOT MADE, OR GROUP I'VE FAILED TO PLEDGE MY NO?

OH DEAR ME—OH ME, OH MY!

First Concert of Season Is Success

New Battle Breaks Out In Galilee

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Serious fighting has broken out in upper Galilee scarcely a week after defeat of the Egyptians in Southern Palestine, and the U. N. has ordered both sides to cease fire.

Arabic broadcasts said Israeli forces were on the march all along the northern front. U. N. observers said the Jews were attacking with artillery, planes and troops along a 20-mile arch from Tarsishia to Lake Hula.

There were unconfirmed reports that Tarsishia, 12 miles northeast of Acce on the coast, had fallen after repeated bombing and land attacks. Tarsishia is the main base of Fawzi Bey el Kaukji's Arab irregulars.

Other reports to the U. N. truce headquarters at Haifa said the Jews had cleared the road from Acce to Safad, 22 miles northeast.

An Israeli army communiqué indicated hard fighting was going on, but said the operations were restricted to a Jewish counter-attack to drive out Syrians, Lebanese and Kaukji's liberation army from heights. The Arabs had seized in the Menarrah region north of Lake Hula.

This is in a finger of northeast Palestine territory reaching between Lebanon and Syria where the Jews claimed Arabs were all heights a week ago, cutting off Israel's line of communications to Dan, Dafne and a dozen other settlements. Israeli units, including armor, have been hemmed in by the Arab seizures.

The Jews said their counter-attacks also were designed to silence Arab guns that have been shelling Safad, Rosh Pina, Metullah and other centers north of the Sea of Galilee.

Brig. Gen. William Riley, U. N. truce mission staff chief at Haifa, sent orders to Israel and Lebanon to cease fire. U. N. headquarters said the Lebanese government promptly agreed, on the condition the Jews would also carry out the order. U. N. headquarters said no reply had been received from the Israeli government.

Oil Flows Half-Century in Yard of Corsicana Pioneer

CORSICANA —(P)— Oil still flows from a well C. D. Speed, Sr., drilled in his front yard a half-century ago.

On Sept. 25, 1898, Speed, now 81-years-old, brought in the well at 212 East Eighth Avenue, Corsicana.

At one time Speed owned seven wells, drilled at depths of from 1,025 to 1,100 feet, in the Corsicana field and three of them continue to produce oil and have shown little decline in daily production during the last 20 years.

The veteran oilman, now claiming to be the first individual ever to produce oil continuously for 50 years in Texas, began drilling the hard way.

Half-century-old wells were completed prior to the invention of the oil well cementing process and the bottom of the oil pipe string was wrapped with rags and wired into place.

Drill pipe was forced into the ground either by weight of the pipe itself or by grip rings. Derricks were made of wood and were small in height in comparison with present day steel towers which mark the Texas horizon.

Speed was inclined for improvements, however, and constructed what is believed to have been the first three-legged steel derrick. This oil industry antique still can be seen at the well in the front yard of Speed's old home place on Eighth Avenue.

Speed turned to steel pipe for his derricks after a wooden structure had twice been blown down during storms.

Oil drilling was no new experience to the then 31-year-old Corsicana resident.

His father, L. E. Speed, was in the business and his uncle, Tom Strubbing, was a successful early-day wildcatter who drilled more than 100 producers in the Corsicana and Powell fields before moving to Beaumont at the discovery of Spindletop.

A younger brother, Guy B. Speed, now residing in Edinburg, gained enough knowledge and experience in the Corsicana field to rush to Beaumont in 1901 and make a fortune.

And oil will continue in the family for all four children born into the Speed family are connected with the oil business either directly or indirectly.

F. P. Hodge, Electric, a son-in-law, is with Magnolia Petroleum Company, and another in-law, H. E. Sherwood, Kilgore, is with the Sinclair Oil & Refining Company. A son, Charleton D. Speed, Jr., born in the East Corsicana home place within 20 feet of an oil well, is a Houston oil geologist and independent operator.

Speed, still confident of continued growth for the Corsicana field, spends much time recalling the crude methods of early-day drilling but he also recalls numerous humorous incidents which accompanied his projects.

He recalls a time when one of his drilling crew became so elated over drilling good oil and they proceeded to celebrate.

During the celebration a valve was placed upside-down on the well. When it came time for the well's final completion, there was no oil. "That well was nearly abandoned as a dry hole before the error was discovered and the valve replaced," Speed smilingly explained. "When that was done we had a good producer."

Speed firmly believed the Navarro and Taylor Marl formations of Navarro County will yield much additional oil. He believes that in time to come the county will be the first in Texas to produce oil 100 years continuously.

350,181 Acres of Texas Pine Lost

LUFKIN, Tex. —(P)— Forest fires since Jan. 1 have burned off growing timber in East Texas equal to a strip from Lufkin to Shreveport five miles wide and 115 miles long, J. O. Burnside, chief of forest fire protection for the Texas Forest Service said.

The total loss since the first of the year in 3,754 fires is 350,181 acres. Nearly one-third of the loss has occurred since the first of October, a 25-day total revealing 684 fires destroying 130,487 acres.

The main concentrations of fires Friday morning were in San Jacinto, Liberty, Hardin and Tyler counties, according to M. V. Dumire of the forest service.

Kermit Would Annex Atomics

LOS ALAMOS, N. M. —(P)— The Kermit, Tex., Chamber of Commerce has offered to "annex" this atomic community.

"The more than 200 miles between us is an item of small importance," read a telegram signed by Manager Charles Green of the chamber. "There is already so much distance out here in West Texas that few hundred more miles wouldn't amount to much."

A petition was circulated here recently urging annexation of Los Alamos to the state of Texas. Discontent followed a recent court order ruling residents of Los Alamos are not New Mexico residents.

Phillips Buys Gathering System

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. —(P)— The Phillips Pipe Line Company has bought all assets of the Longview Gathering System, Inc. President K. S. Adams of Phillips Petroleum Co. announced the purchase Friday.

The Longview system includes 48 miles of trunk and gathering lines in the East Texas oil field. Adams said they will be operated in connection with Cordova Pipe Line System.

13 DIE IN CRASH
AUCKLAND, New Zealand —(P)— A search party reported that all 13 persons aboard a New Zealand National Airways plane which crashed last Saturday were killed instantly.

Bank Loans Rise To Record High In September

WASHINGTON —(P)— Bank loans, already at a record high, increased more in September than in the two preceding months combined.

And installment sale credit, along with consumer credit generally, hit to new peaks during September despite the return of federal controls on September 20 after a lapse of 11 months.

These developments showed up in reports by the Federal Reserve Board, which has given unusual stress this week to warnings that inflation is being pumped up by the spending of borrowed money.

Loans by the nation's 15,000 banks increased $1,100,000,000 during September after moving up only $900 million altogether in July and August, the board said.

At least part of the latest jump could be ascribed to seasonal influences, since borrowing always increases in September as merchants build fall and Christmas season inventories. Also, money is needed to finance crop movements.

Nevertheless, the September bank loan expansion lifted these debts to an unprecedented $47,140,000,000 at the start of this month.

Collie Crosses Ocean to Master

DUNELLEN, N. J. —(P)— The two-year-old shepherd collie Johan Jacobsen left behind in Oslo, Norway, has come home to Dunellen, N. J., and nobody is quite sure how.

The dog was found wandering on Long Island, N. Y., Sunday and was traced to Jacobsen by a collar tag which bore his name and home town.

Jacobsen said he left the dog with friends in Oslo when he returned here last spring. The friends later wrote they were moving and would have to give up the idea of finding transportation to this country for the dog.

A little information on the dog's saga came in a letter Jacobsen received Friday from a Norway man who reported seeing the collie on a plane bound for America. The man, who Jacobsen said he didn't know, wrote that he hoped the dog would reach Jacobsen by means of the collar identification tag.

Edward, Prince of Wales who was the son of Edward III, was known as the Black Prince, probably because he wore black armour.

Cop Loses Chance To Reprimand His Former Teacher

REVERE, Mass. —(P)— The one in-a-lifetime chance to make your former teacher write something 100 times came to a Revere patrolman—but he passed it up.

Patrolman Ralph D'Ambrosio stopped a speeding car and recognized the driver as his grammar school teacher.

"I should make you write it 100 times," he told her. "You used to make me do that when I did something wrong."

D'Ambrosio quoted her as saying she was "late for a safety meeting" when he asked why she was hurrying.

That called for a lecture—and she got it.

Congress May Be Asked for More European Aid Funds

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Foreign aid officials said they expect to ask Congress for an extra $1,200,000,000 to carry the Marshall Plan through April, May and June of next year.

The $5,055,000,000 appropriation for European recovery will have been exhausted by the end of March—12 months after the program's start—a spokesman for the Economic Cooperation Administration reported privately.

Congress voted the money for 15 months, or until the end of the federal fiscal year next June 30, but gave President Truman the power to let ECA use it up in 12 months if necessary.

At ECA it was said the President's formal approval of the 12-month schedule may be asked within the next two weeks.

As early as last August, Mr. Truman said a supplemental appropriation of $1,500,000,000 might be needed for the last three months of the program's first phase.

The ECA spokesman said the new estimate of $1,200,000,000 is as close as the need can be gauged at this minute.

In any event, the prospect of further foreign aid outlays has focused new attention on the attitude of Congress toward next year's Marshall Plan appropriation. ECA Administrator Paul G. Hoffman has said that, because of Europe's marked progress thus far, less money may be needed in the second year of what has been projected as a four-year undertaking.

A private weekly report for businessmen, the Marshall Plan letter, reported that 94 percent of the senators and representatives who answered a news letter poll have adopted a "favorable" position toward the Marshall Plan. Replies were reported from 33 states.

Sixty-one percent said they think next year's regular appropriation should be $4 billion or more, the news letter said. Of these, eleven percent answered "whatever needed," 15 percent said $6 billion, eleven percent $5 billion and 24 percent $4 billion. The replies ranged down to nothing at all.

The publication noted, however, that replies indicate that most legislators "will be sharply critical of the effect ERP is having on high prices in this country if they are re-elected."

Fifty-six percent said they believe the program is contributing to inflation "to a large extent."

A Weak, Run-Down Feeling Is Often A Warning

That The Red-Blood Is Getting Low

If you do not feel like your real self, do not have the urge to be up and doing, why not check-up on your blood strength? Look at the palms of your hands, your fingernails, your lips, the lobes of your ears—are they pale and off color?

Every day—every hour—millions of thin red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that 888 Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK —(AP)— Ho, ho, ho! I know I'm mixed up, boys, but I don't know whether to laugh or cry.

Boo, hoo! Ha, ha, ha! I've just finished reading Homer Croly's "What Grandpa Laughed At." It's an excavation job by the author of "West of the Water Tower" into the popular jokes that America chuckled at in the 25 years before the first world war.

And the chief conclusion is you may be able to keep a good man down—but you can't kill a joke, good or bad. The only difference is that it took grandfathers more words to tell the same gag than it does his grandson.

Want to know what made the gay nineties so gay? Well, hold on to your sides, this one'll stay you:

"Why do married men live longer than single ones?" "They don't. It only seems longer."

That seem familiar? Well, it was printed back in 1891—and before that Walter Raleigh probably told it to Queen Elizabeth.

Let's skip to the merry year of 1893, when the nation whooped and howled about the one concerned the deaf old lady who lived near the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

It seems that on Washington's birthday they fired a 21-gun salute, and the old lady said:

"Come in."

All right, let's go on to 1895. That's the year a country lady approached a hotel desk and said:

"Can you give me a room and bath?"

"No, ma'am," said the clerk. "I can give you a room, but you will have to take your own bath."

Remember 1898? There was a small war that year. But that year somebody also defined a monologue as "a conversation between a husband and wife."

Ever hear a night club comedian married a tattooed lady because he liked to look at pictures? George Ade made it up way back in 1899.

It was in 1902, when steak rose to 24 cents a pound, that the fellow went into a restaurant, ordered extract of beef and got milk.

But it wasn't until 1905 that Father Kelly had lunch with Rabbi Levi and asked playfully:

"When are you going to have some ham?"

And the Rabbi answered: "At your wedding, father."

That same year, 'twas, when a man, sneaking softly into his bedroom after a night out, heard his wife whisper: "Is that you, Henry?" "It'd better be," said Henry. Poor Henry. He's been giving that reply for 43 years.

Seven Jap Admirals, Face War Crime Trial

Food Bill Heads To Lower Levels

By The Associated Press

The family food bill is heading lower again this week.

Butter prices dropped substantially. In New York wholesale grade "AA" declined to 61 1/4 cents a pound the lowest since June 10, 1947, when it sold for 69 cents a pound. In Chicago Grade "AA" and "A" were lower.

Retailers in New York cut butter as much as 4 cents a pound during the week to around 68 to 73 cents a pound.

Some butchers said they would be able to give better buys in meat this weekend too. Pork was lower in the New York wholesale market and there also were declines in lamb, veal and chicken.

Early in the week four coffee firms marked wholesale prices up one to two cents.

The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food index this week declined to a new 1948 low of $6.47 after holding at $6.48 for two weeks. This compares with $6.78 a year ago. The index represents the total cost of a pound at wholesale of 31 foods in general use.

RETAIL SALES RISE

NEW YORK —(AP)— Retail sales in the week ended Wednesday rose slightly above the preceding week and 4 to 8 percent ahead of the corresponding 1947 period, Dun & Bradstreet reported.

One look!... One ride!... You'll know it's... the modern design for '49 new Hudson

Come in, see the car that's years ahead—drive the New Hudson—experience the amazing roadability, comfort and safety of the only car you step down into!

Here's your chance to get the thrill of a real discovery—to see and feel what one of the great advances in motor-car history offers you.

You'll see a Hudson of distinguished, streamlined beauty and low-built silhouette that is instantly recognizable because it is the natural result of a basically new design principle—a principle that puts this car so far ahead it is a protected investment in motor-car value!

The key to this new design principle is a recessed floor. The New Hudson is the only car you step down into!

By using a "step-down" none in an exclusive, all steel Monobolt Body-and-frame, Hudson achieves the lowest car on the highway—only five feet from ground to top—while maintaining more head room than in any mass-produced car built today!

But no amount of looking at this amazing car—beautiful as it is—can equal the thrill of a Hudson ride! And you are invited to enjoy that ride today! Hudson has a smooth, bug-the-road way of going in cross-winds and on every conceivable kind of highway. When you see the way it takes even the sharpest curves, you'll know once again that this car has "The modern design for '49"—and for years to come!

Hudson's remarkable ride is largely due to the fact that its "step-down" design provides the lowest center of gravity in any American stock car—yet road clearance is ample! It is a widely recognized fact that the lower to the ground a car can be built, the more stability it will have and the safer it will be.

You sense a delightful conformity to the road the minute you begin your ride, and this stability, plus the protection of riding encircled by a sturdy box-section steel frame, is a grand experience in serene, safe well-being.

This grand feeling is further heightened by the remarkable ease with which this car is controlled. You enjoy this generous roominess in complete relaxation as the New Hudson glides smoothly along.

We cordially invite you to see and drive the New Hudson, to thoroughly enjoy the ride that comes only with "The modern design for '49!"

HUDSON FLOORS are recessed down within the frame (as shown above), seats are lowered, so you get more than ample head room in this car. With the new, lower center of gravity.

YOU STEP DOWN within a base frame (as shown above), and rear seats are positioned ahead of the rear wheels so that full body width becomes available for wonderfully roomy seats. Box-section steel girders completely encircle and protect the passenger compartment.

TRY AUTOMATIC GEAR SHIFTING in forward speeds as provided by Hudson's Drive-Master Transmission—by far the easiest of all ways to drive. You can accelerate as long and as fast as you like in push-up gear, then lift your toe momentarily, and you're in high. The shift into high comes only when you are ready! Button control on the instrument panel provides instant change to conventional driving if ever desired. Drive-Master Transmission is optional on all New Hudsons at small extra cost.

It's Vote for Redistricting was bitter cold those winter nights of 1947-48 when the men of the Continental Army left their footprints in the snow at Fort Bragg. They dropped like a bomb at Brandywine, and were not to be without representation.

et, as they died there, they left a precious legacy—the right to govern ourselves, and by equal representation a presupposed representative government. Since 1920, the Texas Legislature has avoided the state constitutional directive for redistricting every 10 years. During the years of default, each section of the state underwent population changes. Some grew and some shrank, but the representation from those sections remained the same. Who has suffered?

West Texas. Their voice at the polls has remained but a whisper. This is taxation without representation.

uesday, we will be able to rect this situation. The ballot year carries, as Amendment 2, the measures by which the representation in proportion to the population. If this amendment is accepted by the voters of the state, it will mean representation for West Texas. The proposed law would create a five-man board to act the provision if the Legislature failed to do so. Failing there, would be in the hands of the Supreme Court.

ere we have a chance to inghen our self-government. A voter you should, if you be in this argument, scratch out portion of Amendment 2. ch says "Against. The Constitutional amendment providing a board of apportionment of legislative districts by the event Legislature fails to make such apportionment."

et's support this amendment.

Fair Enough - - by Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK — The authenticity of the goofy guru letters has been established. Sufficient evidence has been presented to surround Henry Wallace with his associates in the esoteric circle of the Roerich cult. The reason he flinched when I challenged him in public at his own convention was that he did not dare deny either the letters with their plain implication of mental unadness or his guilt in other matters, arising from a secretive society of art faddists and serious devotees of the wild, Orientalism which looks to a universal holocaust to purify mankind. Although Wallace pretends to have abandoned this hocus-focus, the atom bomb in the hands of Josef Stalin, who is supporting him for president of the United States, might one day realize his vision.

I want to show today that Franklin D. Roosevelt was not the man next to Roerich in the circle. Horch was a smart dumber parvenu with a load of dough who had suddenly decided to grab a mess of culture. He was a speculator in international finance, and he had been pretty good because he made several millions. And now he made a "connection" with a babbling chump with a seat in the cabinet and red inside information. Horch showed through again when he grabbed ownership of the big joss-house on the Drive, with the help of that altruistic friend of man, Morris L. Ernst, the New Deal attorney, from Harvard Law, and a Jewish fellow named Wallace, who had his own ownership of the joss-house. Wallace's friend, Horch, squeezed out the poor third-hand sucker who had invested their savings in the funny papers, which were known as mortgage bonds.

Horch got a letter from Roosevelt when Roosevelt was still governor of New York showing that Roosevelt was interested in the Roerich Museum, as the lamassery of the cult was called, even before he became president. During some of the press conferences concerning the museum, Roosevelt wrote Horch as follows: "I am distressed to learn of the difficulties into which the Roerich Museum has fallen and sincerely hope that some way of adjustment may be found which will permit the work of the museum and its affiliated enterprises to continue."

Yeah? Why so? Why did Roosevelt write Horch that this work could continue? At any rate, the release of this letter which Horch put out was a job of name-dropping and worthy of that master name-dropper, Felix Frankfurter himself. Roosevelt had just been nominated for president and the people had not yet had a chance to learn about him. He was a great man at the time and the fact that he had expressed sympathy for the fun factory on Riverside Drive was good medicine for Horch's soul. How he got Roosevelt to write the letter. However, the Roosevelt circle were very, very money-conscious. Elliott, The Gab, Anna, Harry Hopkins. They could find a dollar bill crash on a feather.

Anyway I have shown you that Roosevelt was interested in this nut factory where Sol Bloom, the old hoochy-koochy promoter from the streets of Cairo, had a place for himself, and a bubblehead place for himself and the spooks. This was where the goofy guru letters were smuggled enroute to Roerich in Manchuria and stashed away, never to be published until 1948 years too late to prevent bubblehead's election to the White House, but in time to cut down his potential vote of 8,000,000 for president as of last winter, when the letters were first printed, to less than two million today.

The point I am establishing is Roosevelt's guile in picking Wallace for vice president. That was a terrible thing to do and the evidence becomes more and more convincing that Roosevelt, Eleanor, Hopkins and Ed Flynn, the chairman of the Democratic National Committee, knew the terrible truth and let the people elect Wallace to a job from which he might have stepped to the presidency any minute. You can't blame Wallace. He can't help it. At the point of news for you is that this mean faker, with his sham of honesty and utter disinterest in graft, threw $17,000 of the people's money to Horch's museum during the New York World Fair. There was an exhibit of Latin-American paintings and Wallace, representing the federal government, matched the show away from the World Fair, where it belonged, and dropped it into Horch's pithy way up on the Drive, and hard to get to, and paid Louie's museum $17,000 of the taxpayers' money. All this time, Wallace was also putting some fat on Horch through a series of highly influential jobs in the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce.

I phoned Horch recently. He said these matters concerned Henry Wallace, not him, and decided not to discuss anything with me. "The hell these matters don't concern you," I said to Mr. Horch. "If you don't tell me what you were doing in the Department of Commerce as New York regional representative and tell me about your speculation in silver while you were pals with Henry Wallace—brother, I am going to tell you."

And I will too. I will tell him and you can listen because what I am going to tell him isn't going to be confidential.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — I asked two of your favorite comedians if they were worried about television. Jack Benny said: "I'll wait until there's a coast-to-coast network. Then I won't be anything to worry about. Of course, I'll be on television. After all, I'm only 37."

Eddie Cantor said: "I've been ready for television for the last 35 years. I'm just waiting for it to catch up with me. There's going to be a big change because of television. I'm glad I'm around and didn't die two years ago. It would have been all right to get away from Jessel but not from television."

Jack and Eddie went to Europe this summer and are back now for the fall radio season. Jack played the Palladium in London to new box-office records, just played in Paris and on the French Riviera. Then he did a GI tour of Germany.

The Army rushed him around so fast, Jack says, "I had breakfast in Frankfurt, lunch in Nuremberg and dinner in Munich."

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

Eddie Cantor arrived back in Hollywood just in time to be awarded the United Jewish Appeal's 1948 citation for Distinguished Humanitarian Service for his efforts in "Bringing a new era of hope and reconstruction for the Jews of Europe."

Sam Goldwyn made the presentation. Sam was Eddie's boss for seven years. Eddie compares him to Flo Ziegfeld, his boss for 13 years before he came to Hollywood. "Goldwyn," Eddie said, "is never satisfied with a film scene that is good if only money can make it better."

Jack Benny was worried as usual. This time he was worried about some straight lines on his radio show. Jokes don't worry him too much. "We've got a million jokes. It's the straight lines that drives me crazy."

As Jack explained it, "Anybody can have jokes. It's the straight lines leading up to the jokes that make a radio program funny." After 17 consecutive years at the top of the radio heap, Jack should know what he's talking about.

Cantor was worried, too—about all the adverse publicity Hollywood has had in the last few months. He said:

"There should be a school for movie stars to where they could learn how to act before they learn how to act."

Benny was still blushing about stepping out of a taxicab in New York and forgetting to pay the driver. The driver yelled back: "So it's true about you, eh, Buddy?" Benny rushed back and gave him a big tip.

Eddie is conferring again with Warner Brothers about "The Eddie Cantor Story." "There's a thought for 20 films," he says. "But, it's true about you, eh, Buddy?" Benny rushed back and gave him a big tip.

The only sour note to Benny's Palladium triumph was the simultaneous opening in London of "The Horch Blues at the Palladium." Despite the way Benny himself has planned the picture, it has made money for Warner Brothers.

LOOKING AHEAD

by GEORGE S. BENSON
President, National Whirligig Society, Jackson

WANTED: MEN AND MONEY!

There are two chief ingredients in the American recipe for prosperity and economic well-being. The first is men, honest-to-goodness men. These must be men who are not afraid of work, who will not be stopped from getting a job done. They are men who believe in honest work, who give value for value received. They have pride and satisfaction in doing a good job well. Indeed, our American workers (these are today few Americans who do not work) have no equal anywhere.

Then there is money. Money is the most popular exchange for work. We "make" money. Therefore, we can say that money is stored-up work. Another name for this stored-up work is capital. We Americans have found that if we take money and men, then let them both work together for full production, the result is a prosperous and progressive community. In the main, the recipe needs good workmen and plenty of capital.

USE THE RECIPE

The formula has worked wonders for us. Our nation has benefited by having so many good and honest people. By using the tools that capital has bought, we produce the things that all of us need. Will this formula continue to work as it has in the past? This is the question of prosperity that is the envy of the world? Can we keep these good living standards that seem so commonplace to us? Yes, if we can depend on the ingredients of our recipe: men and money! In a nation of free people, men and money can continue to do the job.

We have the men. Employment is good. Yet, there is danger that we may lose the other half of the recipe: money. Money (capital) to buy the tools of production is getting hard to find. Since 1930, America's stock of tools has gradually slipped back to where it was in 1920. This is the first period in our history that we didn't gain in the tools of production. Our tools are of less total value, and they also provide fewer horses (horsepower) to workmen.

A NATION'S BUILDERS

Now, if we had no men of vision and promise, we certainly could not expect the money to do its part. But we do have men. America has intelligent young men, anxious to do and to dare. They are willing to build the things that we need. Who can say how many young men of today may have in them the very spirit of Thomas Edison or Henry Ford? In every cross-roads town and the building of America's future in the hands of their own.

What need have they with money? You see "hard-boiled" ideas, like Alexander Graham Bell's telephone, require money for development. New products, new manufacturing processes, new inventions, new businesses—all require money. A free economy that permits competition, capital works hand in hand with men to give the nation the jobs and the goods that it needs and wants. Men and money!

IN THE TEAM!

In losing the money, there is also danger of losing the men. Inventiveness and ambitions may be killed, when rewards are not available. If we do not have capital to invest, to develop new developments, and new businesses, with hope of large profits ahead, then what happens to your men? They don't invent, and they don't develop anything! No new jobs, no new products, no progress. No getting ahead. It's national suicide.

Why is there so little money today for investment and risk? Our tax system puts heavy burdens on incentive. Taxes take away the money. Twenty-five cents out of every national income dollar in America now goes into taxes. Half the total income of Americans making $5000 or more annually is taken over to the federal government. This would not be necessary. We must give risk-money a real chance to team with men. Only that way may we keep America prosperous and jobs plentiful.

I am convinced that close co-operation on a voluntary basis between the national administration and the state can eliminate many wasteful practices and eliminate many of the overlapping taxes that are so burdensome to our people.

—Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

The most important single measure to meet the danger of inflation is to cut down on every dollar of spending by government.

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — A Dewey-Warren administration will make an entirely new approach to the grave problem of conservation of American natural resources, which embraces the burning, everyday question of insuring a plentiful supply of food at comparatively low prices for a growing population. The project may embroil the administration in savage struggles with Western and Eastern interests normally loyal to the Republican Party.

Despite the Roosevelt-Ickes program that built TVA, Grand Coulee, Bonneville and other dams and storage reservoirs, the United States faces a more severe shortage of productive land, water and other food-producing resources than it did before the advent of the New Deal.

The scoundrels derive partially from the war and the increasing population here and abroad, but they are also attributed to a failure to attack the basic problems.

DANGER — Meat animals and feed, fish, wildlife and all other forms of food are dropping to the danger point because the root causes of their disappearance have not been attacked. For the same reason many sections suffer from the alternate and periodical visitations of droughts and floods.

Not even a score of TVA's and MVA's could correct these evils, according to experts in the Dewey camp. The great need is to start a program of conservation which will keep the life-giving water on the land.

Establishment of such safeguards will require legislation against cattle-men's and sheep-men's overgrazing, lumber interests' overcutting of forests, industry's pollution of rivers and harbors, excessive destruction of game animals and agriculture's misuse of the land.

KEY — The issue is no longer merely an academic or scientific one. With a constantly increasing number of mouths to feed, the U.S. cannot supply itself, not to mention exporting foodstuffs abroad.

All the price controls in the world will not bring a permanent reduction in the cost of living unless the lavish and historic neglect of our basic resources is stopped by an enforced or voluntary program on the part of the federal government and the states.

Governor Warren of California, where water is gold, has long advocated this more fundamental approach. He is expected to have a key role in the new solution, provided he is not chained to his vice presidential chair by a tie or too close a division in the next Senate.

CONSCIOUS — The project is expected to take definite shape with the submission of the Hoover Committee's report on reorganization of the government to Congress. The former president is known to have consulted experts who look upon the problem of conservation from a broader viewpoint even than FDR, Harold L. Ickes and Henry A. Wallace.

It is admitted that they made a good start toward preservation of natural resources, although they advocated this more fundamental approach. He is expected to have a key role in the new solution, provided he is not chained to his vice presidential chair by a tie or too close a division in the next Senate.

LATE that night when the fire was low, Carmen moved stealthily across to Don Jose, so silently that he did not hear her when she came up to him and, nelt for a moment looking down into his face. His hands were clasped behind his head and he looked miserably off into the horizon, sleepless. He turned his head, startled, as she whispered, "Jose!" His face lightened with a bitter disgust and he turned his head away from her.

Carmen crept closer to him. "Joseito, let me tell you something."

"There isn't anything you can tell me now. Why didn't you tell me before? Why didn't you tell me about Garcia?"

Carmen was ready with excuses. "I didn't know he'd come back so soon."

"But you knew he was—"

"Yes, yes. But I didn't think he would be here until tomorrow. She became indignantly defensive. "Is it my fault he arrived so fast?"

The words came from him slowly, bitterly. "What kind of a creature are you?"

"Your kind, Joseito. She put her face against his. "Can you forget me? Can you?"

He shoved her away and turned his back on her. "Go where you belong. Go back to him."

Carmen touched his hair, pleading. "Joseito—look at me."

"It's a little Halloween prank—get it?"

Shamrock

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The 1948 row crops have already brought Wheeler County farmers more than $1,500,000 according to figures compiled last week, some of which, it was pointed out, is estimate of cotton and grain men. Up to 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, 7,588 bales of cotton had been ginned at seven of Wheeler County's gins, three at Shamrock, two at Wheeler, one at Twilley and one at Kelton. Briscoe and Allison's gins were not contacted.

It is a conservative estimate that the two gins from which reports could not be obtained have ginned at least 500 bales, which would give the county a total ginning of slightly more than 8,000 bales.

Considering the high price that Wheeler County cotton has brought this year, because of its unusually long staple and good grade, the 8,000 bales have put more than $1,400,000 into the pockets of farmers and pickers.

Cotton buyers and brokers say that cotton in the immediate vicinity of Shamrock has brought producers an average of one cent per pound more than any other in the Texas Panhandle. The reason given is the rains received in the growing season, making bolls mature to the fullest extent.

In addition to income from cotton, it is estimated that farmers have sold some $200,000 worth of row crop grain. This figure is based on a conservative estimate that 100,000 bushels of grain have been shipped out of the county either by train or truck.

The Forum Club members met for an art program on "Old Masters" at the home of Mrs. Lyle Holmes Thursday night.

Roll call responses were "Favorite Masterpiece," Mrs. Sol Blonstein's subject was "Da Vinci," and Mrs. Rufus Dodgen's topic was "Gainsborough."

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

The Thursday Fine Arts Club was entertained in the home of Mrs. Walter Darlington, Jr., Thursday evening. Autumn flowers in colorful arrangements were used to decorate the room.

Roll call was answered with "Where I Would Like To Go." The program was given by Mrs. Harry Clay on the subject "More Modern San Francisco."

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has announced it will sponsor a second Annual Jaycee Crow Shoot in Wheeler County on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 20 and 21.

The prize list will be larger this year, according to John Larnier, one of those in charge. Awards will be made for several different accomplishments. Gene Howe, member of the State Game Commission, and known to many as Old Crow, will sponsor one hundred crow for $100.

In addition to the hundred crow, sponsored by local merchants and individuals, a beautiful trophy will be awarded to the person who is killer of the largest number of the big, black birds. The crows are now being trapped and will be turned loose on Shamrock's Main Street at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Nov. 20.

Indeed, Governor Warren is known as a strong advocate of the use of federal and state funds, where necessary, to build power, reclamation and irrigation projects. He does believe, however, that they should be multiple-purpose enterprises, and not diverted almost exclusively to production of hydroelectricity, as has been the case at TVA.

More and more the (natural resources) of our country are being exhausted. If we look to the future of our children and grandchildren, the problem looms very large indeed.

Writings of Southwest Compiled in New Volume

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer
With the tide of books about the Southwest still swelling, now comes a book of the region. "Southwest Heritage" is the work of three professors of English in southwestern universities. It's a course in southwestern literature in itself, from the earliest Indian writings to the 1947 winners of the Texas Institute of Letters.

More than a textbook, it is a reference book and good reading for anyone interested in what has been written about this region.

The authors are Mabel Major of Texas Christian University, Fort Worth; Rebecca Smith, formerly of Texas Christian, and T. M. Pearce of the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque.

The first edition of "Southwest Heritage" was published ten years ago. This year's edition contains new material and revisions based on a decade of research and an added chapter of children's literature.

"The Southwest" is a term more easily felt and understood than defined, the authors wrote in their introduction. "It denotes the final thrust of American colonization toward the South and West, the last push of the frontier into new lands."

The authors confined their work to writing about the territory covered roughly by the states of Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona. Most of the material is about Texas and New Mexico.

They started with the literature before the coming of the Anglo-American to the region and carried it up to 1880 in the first section of the book. They began naturally with the imagery poetry of the Indians.

Chronicles and journals of travelers through the region and its earliest history, the tall tales of the range and folk ballads comprise the period of 1800 to 1918.

Literature of the contemporary scene begins with 1918.

The authors did not confine the books discussed to those written by Southwestern authors. Any author who has written about the Southwest is included, even the English essayist D. H. Lawrence who once stayed a while in Taos. "Southwest Heritage" comprises a list of writings about the Southwest, notes about them and their authors and their relation to the history and culture of the region. At the end of the volume is a bibliography of the authors' selected list of 750 titles.

Killer's Curse Credited With Deaths of Four

TACOMA, Wash. — (P) — Jake Bird, Negro transient, remarked last fall after being sentenced to hang for an axe-slashing:

"The guys who had anything to do with this case are going before I do."

That remark has come to be known as the "Jake Bird hex."

Since it was made, four persons connected with the case have died, including the judge who tried it, the chief deputy clerk who filed the official papers, and an undersheriff who helped obtain Bird's confession to more than a half dozen Midwest slayings.

The latest death was that of Tacoma Police Lieut. Sherman Lyons, who also obtained a number of confessions.

His death came Thursday, two days before the anniversary of the axe-murder of Mrs. Bertha Kludt of Tacoma and her daughter, Beverly June.

Bird, meanwhile, is very much alive. His appeal is still before the Supreme Court.

Last spring he was named Baylor's most outstanding athlete. Basketball practice starts Monday with 10 lettermen returning from last year's Southwest Conference championship five.

Pipeline Plan Hearing Ordered

WASHINGTON — (P) — A new hearing on the proposed Texas-New York City pipeline project of Trans-Continental Pipeline Co., Longview, Tex., was ordered by the Power Commission.

The new hearing will open here Nov. 8, the commission said, to receive more evidence on extension of the company's gas purchase contract, its financing plan and other angles of its request for amendment of a May 29 order. Evidence at recent hearings indicated the company may not be able to complete the project within the time limits set by gas purchase contracts, the commission said.

The company's request for amendment involves mainly substitution of 30-inch for 26-inch pipe along much of the proposed line.

Mack Receives Congratulations

PHILADELPHIA — (P) — A book containing letters of congratulation from the governors of all 48 states was presented today to Connie Mack on the completion of 48 years as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

The book was presented by Mayor Bernard Samuel, who told the 85-year-old baseball veteran: "You have been a leading exponent of clean sports, and clean living, and the example you have set during your long and eventful career has been, and ever will be, an inspiration to the youth of America."

Only 103 File Absentee Votes

As the deadline for absentee voting for the Nov. 2 general election, Tuesday, passed, only a little over 100 ballots were cast or received through the mails in the office of the county clerk. Figures in County Clerk Charlie Thut's office yesterday morning revealed 103 persons had voted by absentee.

Several others were disappointed Saturday morning when they came in to the office to cast their absentee ballot only to learn that the deadline was midnight Friday.

According to state law, absentee voting may start no sooner than 20 days before the election and close no later than three days prior to the election.

The News has carried, at various intervals, the number of absentee votes cast to date together with the reminder that deadline for absentee voting was Oct. 29.

HARVESTERS RID FOR TITLE WITH 33-0 WIN

Pirates Down Bronchos 18-13; Still Undeclared in 2-A Play

The powerful Lefors Pirates jumped to an early 18-0 lead over the Clarendon Bronchos last Friday night in Lefors and then stayed off a desperate last quarter Broncho rally to win their third conference tilt of the current campaign, 18-13.

It was again the bruising runs of Halfback Freddie Newsom that provided the Pirates' extra punch. Newsom, who was reportedly to be out of action due to an injured shoulder, failed to score in the Pirate triumph, but set up two Lefors touchdowns and passed for the other.

The hosts completely dominated the first three quarters, racking up nine first downs in the first half. In the last half, they managed only four first-and-tens, while the Bronchos got three in the first three quarters and seven in the final period.

After both teams were held scoreless in the first quarter, the Pirates broke the ice with two touchdowns in the second. Late in the first period, the Pirates took the ball on their own six-yard stripe, and then marched down the field, rolling up five first downs in reaching the Clarendon two-yard stripe. The big Clarendon line, however, poured through on the next play and spilled Newsom for a nine-yard loss, as the Bronchos took over and the quarter ended.

The Bronchos drove out to their 45 where the Pirates again took over. Newsom then crossed up the Broncho secondary with a swirling dash to the Clarendon 20. The Pirates were stymied at that point and the Bronchos took over. Attempting to pass themselves out of a hole, the Bronchos tossed a flat pass which Lefors Quarterback Ray Dickerson intercepted and dashed across for the tally. Newsom's attempted conversion was no good.

Still in the second quarter, after Clarendon had quickly kicked to the Lefors 24, Newsom broke loose with a sensational 51-yard jaunt to the Clarendon 15. Fullback Friday Todd then bulleted across for the tally. Newsom's attempted conversion was again no good. In the opening minutes of the third quarter, the Pirates got their final score set up when Newsom broke loose on a 40-yard run to the Clarendon five-yard stripe. The versatile halfback then flipped a short pass to Butler for the tally. Newsom's try for the extra point was no good.

The Clarendon club started its rally in the last portion of the third quarter, and, after a sustained drive which carried over into the fourth quarter, an 11-yard run by Quarterback Jenkins gave the Bronchos their first tally. His conversion was good.

After Lefors received the Clarendon kickoff and was held to no gain, a poor fourth down Pirate

Panthers Win Over Cats in 1-B Contest

The Panhandle Panthers racked up their second consecutive 1-B triumph Friday night when they slugged the Canadian Wildcats, 12-6, in Canadian.

The Panthers, favored to win by at least three touchdowns, were surprised by the unheralded display of Canadian strength. The eleven fought back and forth throughout the second and third quarters without either gaining the upper hand, after the visitors jumped to a 6-0 lead in the opening minutes of the game.

Using the off-side kick, where the team kicking attempts to recover the ball, the Panthers gained possession of the ball on the Wildcat 49.

Dwayne Howard, brilliant Freshman passing ace, shot several short passes to George Franklin and the Panthers steadily drove to the 12-yard strip in Canadian territory. Joe Knapp and Howard alternated in line slashes to the one, where Howard drove over for the tally. The attempted conversion was no good.

In the fourth period, Canadian Fullback Johnny Farnsworth fumbled on the Panhandle 22 and Louis Garcia fell on the loose ball for the Panthers. The fumble ended a long Canadian drive. After Garcia's recovery, it took the Panthers just 13 plays to go 88 yards, with Dwayne Howard again scoring.

Then with only 20 seconds left to play, Farnsworth nosed across for the hosts, culminating a 46-yard sustained drive. Their attempted try for the extra point was no good.

The Panthers' triumph enabled them to keep their conference slate unblemished in 1-B competition. They held another district win over Spearman, last week.

Wildcat 'B's' Lose To Perryton 13-6 Thursday Night

CANADIAN (Special)—The Perryton Pee Wee football team invaded Canadian Thursday night in a return engagement, and were victorious over the Canadian 'B's' by a score of 13-6. Perryton scored one touchdown in the first quarter and one in the second quarter, but failed to make one extra point, making the score at the end of the first half 13-0.

Both of Perryton's touchdowns were set up by Canadian fumbles. The Canadian Pee Wees came back fighting in the second half, and went over for a touchdown in the third quarter after completing four long passes, and getting off on several long end runs. Dean Hoover, Canadian quarterback, went over for the lone Canadian touchdown on an end sweep, but failed to convert for the extra point.

The game ended with the score 13-6, in favor of Perryton.

A marvelous display of gridiron prowess swept the hapless Brownfield Cubs off their feet Friday night in Cub Stadium as the Pampa Harvesters established themselves as a threat to the District 1-AA crown by trouncing the Cubs, 33-0.

Led by the high-scoring antics of End Derral Davis and the swivel-hipped running of Wesley Kieth, the Harvesters outlasted the Cubs and allowed the second and third string boys to play most of the last half.

Davis scored the first 20 Harvester points, getting three touchdowns and adding two extra points. Kieth reeled off several sensational runs and added six points to his scoring total in the third quarter with a nine-yard dash to pay dirt.

The Harvester squad showed unexpected power and hustle in blasting their 1-AA rivals and several substitutes looked surprisingly good.

Pete Cooper, 140-pound half-back, turned in several nice gains and scored one touchdown in the final period on a six-yard slice off tackle. Carl Kennedy and Elmer Wilson also got in their share of the gains.

The Harvester forward wall tore gaping holes in the Cub line and allowed its backs to race for 275 yards from scrimmage. The Cubs were held to only 92 yards rushing, including a 33-yard burst by Tankersley in the fourth quarter.

Davis, Gail Smith, and Bill Bond held the end slots through the first half and part of the second, and Tommy Allison, Weldon Witcher, and John Nolan successfully worked at the terminal assignments when the former trio was out.

Tackles Bobby Jack Phillips, LeRoy Troop and Ralph Hutsell saw action at tackle through the first half and part of the second, while Paul Boswell and Leon Kennedy turned in some sparkling defensive work at those positions.

Probably the most outstanding Harvester line work was turned in at the guard slots, as the two first stringers, Philip Payne and Jimmy Hill, and their replacements, Mel Cook, brought up English, played 'heads up' ball.

Bill Runyon played his usual rugged game at the pivot slot, getting in on a large share of the tackles and throwing several key blocks. Danny Roche also saw action at the center post, and he and Bobby Hayes looked impressive.

Also sparkling on defense was Leon Taylor, playing as fullback and backing the line. Bob Hinkley and Dale Richardson got in some nice gains and also were in on some of the Harvester games.

Carroll Smith, substituting for the injured Lamar Lively, appeared expert in the "man-under" position, losing two out of five complete passes and executing nice handoffs. Mel Cook, brought up from the Guerrillas, spelled Smith several times and turned in a nice game.

Co-Captain Jack Williams drove with great power and broke away from frequent gains. Williams and Fullback Harbord Cox provided the Harvesters with more power than they have shown all year, plunging through the Cub line for beautiful gains. Jimmy Hayes, sophomore fullback who has started most of the Harvester games, seemed to be driving with more power than before.

Little Wesley Kieth, however, turned in probably the "flashiest" showing of the game. The diminutive 140-pounder baffled the Cub squad with his shifty running. His field reverses, criss-crosses, and stiff arms enabled him to return all of the Cub punts for more than average yardage.

Goody kicked off the game, and on a handoff, Kieth returned to the mid-field stripe. After the Harvesters fumbled and the Cubs recovered on their own 45, both teams settled down to business. The Cubs failed to gain and Tankersley kicked out on the Pampa 18. Williams hit Davis with a six-yard pass and Cox drove over center for seven and a first down.

Cub Quarterback Dale Cary intercepted Smith's next pass but he and Tankersley failed to gain, so Tankersley kicked to Williams on the Pampa 25. Then, on another handoff, Kieth spun up the left side line on a 52-yard return to the Cub 23. After several short gains, Smith passed to Davis for nine yards and the score, Davis converted and Pampa led 7-0.

In the second quarter, after the ball exchanged hands several times, Kieth again stirred the crowd with a 22-yard rimbuck to the Cub 40. The Harvesters made five on three plays and Davis dropped back in punt formation. But, with beautiful blocking, he spun around left end and went 39 yards to score standing up. He promptly added the extra point and the Harvesters led, 14-0.

Still in the same period, after Davis had kicked off to the Cubs, Tankersley kicked a high one to the Pampa 10, but speed-demon Kieth turned in his most stirring run of the game with a 40-yard criss-cross reverse special to the mid-field stripe. The Harvesters, penalized five for off-sides, failed to make the needed 15 yards and Davis punted to the Cub 35. The lanky end intercepted Cary's pass on the Cub 40 and raced down the right side lines to score. His attempted conversion was blocked.

In the final part of the third quarter, the Harvesters held the Cubs on their own five, as the Cubs turned in their biggest threat of the evening. Cary hit Johnson with an 11-yard pass to end the attempted scoring drive. After the Harvesters took over, they drove 96 yards without losing the ball to score. Davis' attempted conversion was no good.

Sandies Top Lubbock 14-6 In 1-AA Tilt

The potential state champs, the Amarillo Golden Sandies, were banged all over the turf in Jones Stadium in Lubbock Friday afternoon, but managed to squeeze out a narrow 14-6 margin over an inspired band of Lubbock Westerners.

The Sandies, rated as the Number 2 team in the state, scored early in the first quarter when Noah Davis culminated a 34-yard drive by going over from the six. Bobby Huggins kicked the extra point.

Bobby Brown passed to End B. Booker for Lubbock's counter in the second quarter but their attempted conversion went wide and Amarillo had a 7-6 lead at half-time.

Marvin McNeil's 69-yard punt that fell dead on the "Lubbock one-foot line" set up the last Amarillo tally. Punting against the wind, the Westerner punt went to Garner on the Lubbock 22 and the Sandie end returned it to the 16. It took the Sandies seven plays to score with Charley Priolo doing the honors with a seven-yard jaunt.

The Westerners had a field goal nullified in the second quarter.

Cadets Slam Gobblers for Easy Victory

WEST POINT (AP)—Army's rampaging backs had a field day for themselves yesterday, slamming through a weak Virginia Tech eleven for their sixth straight victory.

The final count was 49-7 and it might just as well have run twice that high if Gil Stephenson had been permitted to harass the visiting Gobblers for more than a brief period in the second half.

Stephenson, Bobby Stuart and Rudy Cosentino, a third-string fullback, each whistled over for two touchdowns as the cadet machine rolled to at least one score in each period.

Though outclassed, the Gobblers salvaged the glory of crossing an opponent's goal for the first time in six games this season. They tied the score at 7-7 late in the opening period when their quarterback, Bruce Fisher, shot a two-yard pass to Ron Castro, an end, just across the line.

RIGHT DOWN HIS ALLEY Athens, Ga.—Georgia's great quarterback, Johnny Rauch, played 60 minutes in the Oil Bowl, 60 in the Sugar Bowl and more than 50 in the "Gator Bowl."

Reapers Defeated First Time By Sam Houston Rangers, 6-0

After establishing themselves definitely as the "team to beat" in the Junior High School Conference, the Pampa Junior High Reapers met their first defeat of the 1948 season last Thursday afternoon in Amarillo, bowing to the Sam Houston Rangers, 6-0.

The lone Ranger tally came as a result of a blocked Reapers punt in the fourth and final quarter. Kenneth McMullin, hard-charging Ranger tackle, blocked a fourth down kick after the Reapers had punted out successfully once, but it called back by a penalty.

The two clubs fought a saw-saw battle for the first three quarters as neither seemed to gain the upper hand. De Wey Cudney and Charles Ely were the two big guns in the Pampa ground attack.

In the fourth quarter, after the Reapers stalled on their own 25, Bobby Seitz lifted a high punt to the Ranger 35, but an offside penalty necessitated another punt. This time, McMullin broke through, blocked the kick, and then recovered on the Pampa 19. Jimmy Albright skidded to the Pampa eight Donnell then plowed to the five, and on a repeat play, Donnell scored. The attempted conversion was blocked, but the damage was done.

Georgia Tech Wins Over Duke

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Georgia Tech's shuttle system of maintaining backfield speed paid off with a sixth consecutive victory yesterday as the unbeaten Yellow Jackets shipped previously-undefeated Duke, 19 to 7.

Before a homecoming group of 32,000 Duke was outplayed but refused to be outclassed. The result was a fairly close game that settled into a routine affair.

Doak Walker Leads Ponies to 21-6 Win Over Longhorns

Victory Gives SMU Edge in Southwest Conference Race

AUSTIN —(AP)—Doak Walker, a player who does everything and does it right, led the Southern Methodist Mustangs to a convincing 21-6 victory over the Texas Longhorns here yesterday.

Walker made one of his strongest bids of the season for all-America honors the second year in a row as he ran for two touchdowns, kicked three extra points, and originated the play which gave Southern Methodist its third tally.

It took him less than two minutes to convince 88,780 roaring fans that he is one of the great—perhaps the greatest—players of all time in the Southwest.

On the third play of the game, Walker dropped back as if to pass. He cocked his arm, then headed to the right sideline and turned downfield. Wingback Paul Page threw a key block on the only man between Walker and the Doaker. Walker sailed 67 yards for the counter. He calmly toed the ball for the extra point.

That was all the score Southern Methodist needed to win but Walker was just getting warmed up.

Texas, which has a superior forward wall, made it a real contest through the first half and Longhorn supporters had high hopes of victory when Texas marched 69 yards to score in the second period. With Right Halfback Randall Clay and Fullback Ray Borenman carrying on nine of 13 plays, the Longhorns blasted

Michigan Uses Breaks to Win Over Inspired Illinois 28-20

ANN ARBOR —(AP)—Unbeaten Michigan stayed on the victory trail today by edging a stubborn and courageous Illinois football team 28-20. But the Wolverines had an assist from the breaks in chalking up their 20th consecutive win.

An offside penalty nullified Mike Eddleman's 94-yard dash into the Michigan end zone on the second half kickoff play while the scoreboard read 7-7.

Moments later officials ruled Chuck Ortmann's pass to Dick Rifenburg complete for interference on the Illinois 1-foot line when Rifenburg dropped the ball as he was hit by three Illinois defensemen. It took Michigan two plays to cash in on that one.

Inspired Illinois made a fight of it all the way, however, sparked by Eddleman's punting which averaged 41.1 yards on six kicks and the amazing pass work of Bernie Krueger, who completed 12 out of 21 for 216 yards. The Illini traded punch for punch with the Big Nine champions down to the final whistle.

Hogs Trample Aggies 28-6; Campbell Star

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. —(AP)—A bruising fullback, Leon Campbell, and a rugged Arkansas line surged over Texas A & M 28-6, here yesterday.

A partisan crowd of 16,000 watched the Aggies lose their seventh straight game this year, willing in the second quarter before the hard charging Forker line and melting completely in the third and fourth periods.

Campbell smashed his way across the goal line twice and his terrific teammate, Olympics hurdler Clyde Scott, passed to Ross Pritchard for two more touchdowns.

A pass interception in the final minute of play set up Texas A & M's lone touchdown.

With Arkansas reserves on the field, Aggie Center Herbert Ellis grabbed Ray Par's aerial on the Razorback 10-yard line. Bugil Baly faded back and found big Bob Goode in the end zone with a perfect pitch.

Jim Reichert kicked four straight extra points for Arkansas. Herb Turley missed on A & M's try.

Campbell, Scott and Pritchard fired an Arkansas offense that ground out 174 yards on the ground. The Razorback line yielded just 25 yards to the Aggies. A & M missed a chance to score at the game's outset and Arkansas gave it few other opportunities.

Late in the first quarter the Razorbacks started an 80-yard drive that was climaxed on the third play of the second period when Campbell plunged over from the three-yard line. It took them just 13 plays to cover the distance.

Aggie fumbles set up two quick Arkansas touchdowns in the third period.

Louis Schaufele grabbed Ralph Daniel's bobble on the A & M 24-yard line. Scott passed to J. D. Smith for 17 yards and then Campbell bulldozed over for the score.

Less than two minutes later Aggie Back Paul Yates fumbled and Major Tallent recovered for Arkansas on the A & M 34-yard line.

Scott, who was hit hard all afternoon by Aggie forwards, ran 24 yards, then got four more. Campbell picked up three and then Scott found Pritchard with a scoring pass.

On the first play of the fourth quarter, the Smackover, Ark., flash turned what looked like a bad error into his team's final counter.

Irishmen Beat Shell-Shocked Navy, 41 to 7

BALTIMORE —(AP)—Notre Dame's dazzling football forces rocked shell-shocked Navy 41 to 7 Saturday as the undefeated Irish scored in each quarter as they have done in every game this season.

The South Bend maulers ripped to a touchdown in the first two minutes and 55 seconds.

Led by Right Halfback Emil Sitko, who tallied one touchdown and set up a pair of others with slashing runs, the Fighting Irish handed Navy its 11th consecutive defeat. This is record low for the midshipmen—five losses to end the 1947 season and six in a row this year.

Navy did manage a touchdown early in the fourth after Notre Dame had run up 35 points. It was the first time the sailors had been able to score on the Irish since the 1945 game ended in a 6-6 tie.

ALL HALLOWEEN DAY—That's a dressed up name for Halloween, the time of the month of October when, as a kid, I used to play cut-out the most. You know I wish we could get back to the old custom of celebrating it only once a year. It isn't easy to get worked up over witches and hobgoblins after having Truman and Dewey and the whole business of living with "Boo!" at the end of every year long ... The trouble is a bunch of nations (I could name) keep ringing each other's door bells and soaping their auto windshields ... This game of hobbing for atomic bombs doesn't seem so funny to me ... The main trouble today, though, is that election day and Halloween are so close together that I really can't tell myself that I'm celebrating Halloween. I'm celebrating Truman and he has not only threatened to run off with President Truman's porch—he says he's gonna keep it!

PERILS—My oldest Indian is growing more like his father every day. I first noticed it when he began criticizing the way his shirts were ironed. Now, woe unto me, he's begun to complain about my cooking. Even went so far as to say my pies couldn't hold a candle to his grandmother's. For the first five years of his life he was seriously happy with anything I placed before him. But now that he's in school he's taking on the characteristics of a mature male and looking on both sides of his toast and scrutinizing his eggs minutely. I'm not sure I can blame him for this. I've been cooking soft-boiled eggs for breakfast. Things went as usual . . . the continual stream of hungry people migrating from bedroom . . . to bath . . . to kitchen. I run a short-order business at our house, anyway. Nobody gets up at the same time and very seldom wants the same thing for breakfast two mornings hand-runnin'. This particular morning I had made up their minds for them, for there was nothing but eggs for breakfast. My oldest was the latest to get up, everyone else had moved on. Suddenly he came into the kitchen and his eyes had been cooked long enough. With lightning inspiration, I realized that this was my cue to put him right on his attitude anent my cooking. In a terminating tone I yelled right back that I would tolerate no comment, then or henceforward, about my culinary art and to consume his food with no further comment. Hearing a sob from the kitchen, I decided to move closer to the scene of action. When I appeared, he was sitting on the floor, staring at a single raw egg, and it was staring right back at him. Somehow—in the shuffle of getting the meal, I had neglected to boil this particular one. So-o-o, how do you think I stand now—as chief cook in my family! ?

TID-BITS, INC.—Here's a new item: AUSTIN, Texas.—(AP)—In a crowded group at Memorial Stadium, Texas University and Southern Methodist University Saturday had a royal battle amid the cheers of thousands of fans. The royal title was won, however, was from the North Plains, right up at the Top of Texas. Pampa. "Among them were Sherman White, who presided as county judge, Steve Matthews, Red Wedgeworth, Red Weathered, Joe Key, Ray Evans, and C. A. Huff ..." Notice to George Hepler and also writers of The Flame: Okay, I give up; I'm sorry. So you didn't go to Canada, as I said the other day. (Sometimes these spies of mine are that reliable.) ... seems all the local men are reveling in the fruits of the coming year. A group of rodeo men enjoyed venison dinner Friday night, and I heard the Jacks will have the same come Tuesday night, at the American Legion Hall ... the BGKs had a most successful rush party at the CC during the week ... the high note of the evening was the Hammond Electric organ, brought over from Amarillo and played by Bernie Howell ... another dance thoroughly enjoyed was that of the Shrine Club Tuesday night at the CC ... the big Barbershop jamboree must have encouraged J. Ray Martin, Dick Sorrell and Harvey Longren since they were doing a powerful good imitation some of the foursoomes—and they weren't bosomeo either.

Mrs. D. E. Armstrong, area chairman, will be the leader of the program, "Peace is My Responsibility," at World Community Day to be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church.

The United Council of Church Women accepted the challenge for a better world community and chose the project of providing 500,000 "Pack-a-Towel for a Teen-Age" bundles in order to do their share. The bundles are to be sent to displaced person camps in Europe and refugee camps in Asia.

Girl Scouts Visited by Real Witches

Twenty-one little girls thought they would not only scare the living daylight out of each other, but also the "old folks" at their party.

Friday night when the setting was just right for goblins, ghosts and witches, the girls went to the dark residence at 716 E. Kingsmill, ready to horrify everyone.

However, the tables were soon turned. The girls, Girl Scouts of Brownie Troop 21, were thrust into the horror chamber. Inside they saw real ghosts, real goblins and real witches. Thinking they wouldn't scare easily, the girls started to mock the real horror creatures just to show they weren't too afraid.

Before the girls were completely out of fear, the real witch called them into the next room for refreshments. Out of a lighted punch bowl, the witch served 'em smoking brew that really made the girls shudder. The cookies the witch presented them looked harmless enough—however, the girls were certain they were made out of some magic formula the old witch had concocted.

The entire evening wasn't frightening to all of the girls. After the ghost coached them in several spook games, a few of the girls went home happy with a prize the real ghost had presented them.

Army Prepares Steamlining for Peace or War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army is setting out to streamline its complicated organization so it can be ready for keeping the peace or fighting a war if one comes.

In ordering the top-level reshuffling, Army Secretary Royall said its aim is to put the Army on a "peace-or-war functional footing," starting Nov. 15.

Since 1948, the Army's directorate has slipped back toward a structure resembling the pre-war setup. Among other things, the chief of staff—who in the war kept his desk clear of details not directly concerning the overall command of the Army—has become charged with a lot of additional responsibilities.

Under the reorganization, subordinates will handle all details covering branches of the Army. That means the chief, at present Gen Omar Bradley, won't have to spend his day signing relative unimportant letters and orders, and answering the telephone.

Toward this end, a new "vice chief of staff" will be named. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, deputy chief, will take over the new post. Royall said the vice chief will be an "alter ego" for the chief, to run the show when the boss is away on inspection trips at home or abroad.

Christmas Seals Arrive

A small blond boy in red pajamas, sitting on the floor and gazing into a lighted fireplace, is pictured on the 1948 Christmas seals which were just received by Mrs. H. M. Stokes, Gray County Tuberculosis Association president.

The child is in front of the blazing fire, hands clasped about his knees, waiting patiently for the arrival of Santa.

Barry Bart, South Kent, Conn., well-known American artist and illustrator, designed the 1948 Christmas seal. Bart's inspiration was his young nephew who had slipped

Writer's Wife Granted Divorce

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Mrs. Gwyn-dolyn Conger Steinbeck was granted a divorce Saturday from John Steinbeck, the writer. The ground was extreme cruelty on a mental nature.

The Steinbecks married in New Orleans in 1943. They have two children, Thom, 4, and John, 2. Custody of the youngsters was agreed to in a separate settlement.

Mrs. Steinbeck has been called as a witness for the Nov. 5 inquest into the death of Leonard H. Wolff, 28, formerly of Denver, who was found shot to death near here Saturday after he had lost about $86,000 in a gambling house.

Cornor Laurence Layman said Mrs. Steinbeck accompanied Wolff on his visit to the gaming club, and later he drove her to the guest house where she lived. Several hours later he was found dead in his wrecked car off the Mount Rose highway, a bullet in his head.

The coroner said it was possible Mrs. Steinbeck was the last person to see Wolff alive. He divorced his wife last month.

Russians Remove German Factories

BERLIN (AP)—The Russians have started a new wave of factory removals in Eastern Germany which indicates they may be preparing withdrawals of their occupation forces; American intelligence sources said.

These sources said the Russians were not only dismantling factories owned by Germans but also plants to which the Soviets themselves held title.

This indicated, they said, that the Russians might be preparing to pull stakes from Germany. This would fit the Soviet declaration announced at the Warsaw conference of Eastern Eu-element weather, Colville told the commission this week, and, since he has already run considerably more feet of curbing than his contract originally called for, he said could not continue to operate at the old contract price after Nov. 15. In addition to the extra equipment that must be used in the winter, there have been increases in the costs of labor and cement since the original contract was signed.

PAVING

Colville agreed, however, to finish the 11 blocks that remain to complete curbing on all the highway streets through town. Therefore, at its meeting this week, the City Commission authorized the city engineer to call for bids on 20,000 feet of concrete curb and gutter, with a city option for an additional 20,000 feet. Bids will be opened Nov. 16. Although the new contract price will probably be a little higher than this year's, city officials do not believe it will be high enough to materially affect next year's paving program.

By having curbing work continue through the winter, the city will be able to finish its 50-block program next year, barring shortages.

Colville said that one can ordinarily expect to be able to work clear up to the middle of December before bad weather hits. The weather usually clears up for the last half of January and the first half of February. In spite of these weather delays, a block and a half of curbing laid per week through the winter would be a reasonable estimate, he said.

In commending the city engineer and the city manager for their "excellent work" in completing so much of the city's program in spite of the many obstacles, city commissioners pointed out that, except for the curb and gutter installation and the asphalt street topping, the city has done all the other work of street paving with its own men and its own equipment, a move that has saved the city a considerable sum.

BOARD MEN APPOINTED
AUSTIN—Gov. Beauford H. Jester has reappointed T. J. Dunbar and J. A. Whaley of Memphis to the Upper Red River control and irrigation district board. Their terms will expire July 3, 1953.

ASSIGNMENT

Bryant crept in as he spoke of evil men trying to nail the consumer to the wall with spike of greed. And his use of "economic royalists" was a definite throwback to FDR.
Both men came through the campaign wringer in good physical shape, considering. Dewey's only trouble was bursitis, which came on when he reached to shake one hand too many. Truman had laryngitis, aggravated by dust kicked up by campaign crowds.

The once Solid South was torn by the President's program of proposed laws to compel more rights for the Negro.

A dynamo of a man, who shuns alcohol, tobacco and coffee and burns the midnight oil to prepare his speeches, carried the standard of the States' Rights Party.

Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina assailed the "traitorous force bills" which he said would destroy state sovereignty. He drew laughter at the University of North Carolina when he said "I have no race prejudice." But supporters said it was true. He wants gradual improvement of the Negro's status, he said, but by home rule methods.

The states' rightsers claimed they could muster 100 electoral votes, but their real strength appeared in four states with an electoral vote of 38. They are: South Carolina, Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana.

Henry A. Wallace, Progressive presidential candidate, campaigning in Dixie, mingling with mixed Negro-white audiences and pelted, on occasion with eggs and tomatoes.

His now-gray cowlick dangling, Wallace pressed his campaign against "Dooman and Trewey" in the North also. Big business and the big brass, he said, were driving America toward war to keep prices and profits high. Denying he was a Communist prisoner, Wallace said of the Communists "if they want peace, why, God bless them, let them come along."

The Kremlin, reported to believe that Wallace had a chance, changed its tune. Moscow radio said it looked like Dewey, but that Wallace's party is established as "an important factor in American political life."

Norman Thomas, conducting "positively" his last campaign, (it's his sixth try) preached the doctrine of Socialist planning. From the vantage of one who had no hope of winning, Thomas sized up the campaign as the "worst" in history.

Picking Dewey to win, he said, "Governor Dewey makes friends poorly but influences many people."

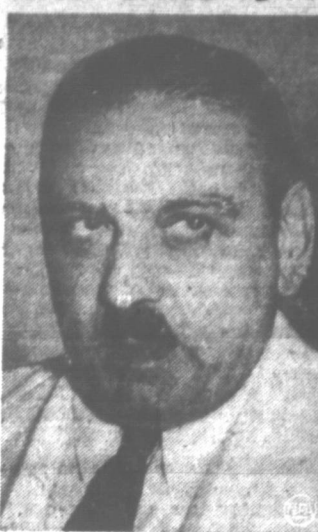

President Truman makes friends easily but influences few. And on the other fringes of the campaign were various minor presidential candidates including: Gerald L. K. Smith, "Christian Nationalist crusader," John G. Scott, bee-raiser who heads the Greenback Party; and John Maxwell, choice of the American Vegetarian Party. A bearded 85-year-old, Maxwell got married last week. He runs a vegetarian restaurant in Chicago.

Payments Are Up 20 Percent

Monthly payments in the form of federal old-age and survivors insurance amount now to $30.177 in the Texas Panhandle area, J. R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo Social Security Field Office. This represents according to Sanderson, an increase of 20 percent in total payments and 16 percent in the number of payees as compared with July 1, 1947.

In Gray County, 225 persons received $3,781 per month in payments under the old-age and survivors plan. Of this number, 88 are retired wage earners and their wives, while the remaining 137 are widows, children, or dependent parents of deceased wage earners.

In the 26 counties served by the Amarillo office, there are 1888 persons drawing monthly payments. Of these 659 are retired workers, 192 are wives of such workers, 798 are children of retired or deceased wage earners, and 237 are widows of deceased wage earners.

Curfew Imposed In German Town

STUTTGART, Germany—(AP)—The U. S. military government imposed a curfew and banned open air meetings in Stuttgart. The action followed Thursday's rioting in which a German crowd clashed with American soldiers for the first time since the war.

Beginning last night the residents of Stuttgart are required to keep off the streets from 9 p. m. to 4 a. m.
Thursday's disturbance grew out of a demonstration over high living costs.

Mrs. Wortham and peace officers. Wortham was arrested Friday at his home by Deputy Sheriff Dick Vaughn. His son, Louis Garland Wortham, was picked up by Texas Ranger Frank Probst a few minutes later.

According to an Associated Press dispatch, traces of poison were found in the dead woman's viscera. The viscera had been sent to Austin for further determination.

Before Justice of the Peace Ivy Wilkinson, Wortham merely asked, "Can I read that, please," after the murder charge was read to him.

Wortham, who talked with newsmen at his home, emphatically declared his wife had died from a dilated heart. He repeated the claim to reporters over and over, threatening them "somebody would have him in their hair" if the story was printed otherwise.

Mrs. Wortham, the night she died, had come home from "parrying" with her husband, according to Wortham's account, and had gone into the bathroom after changing into her night clothes. Wortham continued that he had laid across the bed for a little nap expecting to be called by the Santa Fe Railroad, for whom he works as a conductor, to come to work. As he laid there, he said, Mrs. Wortham came back to the room and bumped into the bed, arousing him. She slumped over on the floor trying to talk to him.

An ambulance was called but she was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

Rice Owls Down Texas Tech 14-7 In Close Battle
LUBBOCK—(AP)—A powerhouse Rice Institute eleven methodically marked up yardage here today before a homecoming crowd of 19,000 persons, grinding a light but fighting Texas Tech eleven under 14-7.

Coach Jess Neely shot a multitude of slithering backs at the Red Raiders, with Fullback Bobby Lantrip, Halfback Huey Kenney, Halfback Gordon Wyatt, Halfback John Kelly and Quarterback Tobin Rote leading the array.

The Owl defenses also stiffened every time the Techs had the ball, cutting down the Raider speedsters before they could get started and breaking up nearly every passing attempt. So strong were the Rice defenders that Tech

NLRB Decisions Affect Mass Picketing Near Plant

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government-through the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB)—made important decisions on dealings between unions and employers.

It is legal for a striking union to use pickets in front of a "struck" plant. But from now on, says the NLRB:

It is illegal for a union to mass pickets in front of the doors of a struck plant to keep would-be new workers or strike breakers from going inside to take over their jobs.

(The board did not say pickets could not gather in a mass some distance from the doors of a struck plant.)

But mass picketing in front of such a plant has been one of the strongest weapons strikers could use in keeping others from taking their jobs.

Before going into a second decision, here's a brief background: International unions are really parent unions made up of many small unions called locals.

Comes a question: Should an international union be held responsible for something one of its local unions does contrary to law? In a recent case the NLRB found the local union had broken the law—among other things, because of violence that had occurred—and held the international responsible, too.

1. Because an official of the international was present during the local's strike, when violence broke out, and, although he took no part in it, did nothing to stop it.

2. Because the international referred to the strike of its local as "our" strike.

3. Because when the case later came before the NLRB, the international and the local admitted the strike was their joint undertaking.

Note that the NLRB held the international responsible here on three separate grounds but all were joined together in the NLRB's decision. So would any other international union be held responsible in a local's strike if it did only one or two of the three things the NLRB said happened in this case?

Aides of the NLRB can't answer. They say they don't know. The only answer seems to be this:

Wait for some future decision involving an international union, or maybe it will take several decisions.

State Needs More Funds

AUSTIN—(AP)—Major branches of the state government want $6 million dollars more to run the state's business during the next biennium than they had in the current biennium.

The Board of Control reported that requests for the two years beginning next Sept. 1 have totaled $207,806,531 from the judiciary, state departments, higher educational institutions, and eleemosynary institutions.

The board is the state's budgeting agency. Prior to each Legislature it hears requests for funds from the state's various divisions and recommends appropriations to the Legislature.

Board Chairman Hall Logan said he was not yet ready to announce what the board will recommend for appropriation by the Legislature.

Requests prior to the last Legislature totaled $146,513,417. The Legislature appropriated $121,788,227.

The requests do not include such big expenditures as per capita and rural public school aid; junior colleges; deficiency funds; or emergency requests; or the anticipated request for four million dollars to revamp the prison system.

House Group Plans Negro Red Hearings

NEW YORK—(AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee plans to hold hearings within the next two months on alleged Communist infiltration into "certain Negro organizations."

Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), head of the committee, said all witnesses to be summoned and all investigators will be Negroes.

Judge Heeds Wife's Plea For Mercy

DALLAS—(AP)—U.S. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson postponed sentencing of a Dallas real estate man convicted in a veterans housing case after the defendant's wife made a dramatic plea before the court for her husband and asked that she be indicted, also.

Judge Davidson said he would withhold sentence of W. O. Barnard until the real estate man is tried on another case—next January.

The jurist made this decision after Barnard's wife walked to the bench where she said: "I am Mrs. Barnard. I want to request that I be indicted. If anyone is guilty it is me, not my husband."

A federal jury found Barnard guilty of making false and fraudulent statements to the Veterans Administration here concerning the sales price of a house sold to an ex-serviceman.

Government attorneys charged that the house, sold in December, 1946, to Ralph E. Coffman, was reported to have cost $6,275 when the actual price was $7,500.

Judge Davidson inquired of prosecutor Clyde Hood the maximum penalty in such a case. Hood advised the judge it was ten years in prison and a $10,000 fine or both.

Mrs. Barnard came before the bench. She was in tears.

"I want to request that I be indicted," she said. "If anyone is guilty it is me, not my husband."

She added that her husband's firm was swamped with GI appeals for homes in 1946.

"My husband didn't want to deal with GI loans," she declared tearfully. "He advised me against it. But these boys had to have houses. They had no place to live. I felt sorry for them. The government prosecutor told the jury my husband was trying to hide behind my skirts. Well, now I am asking to be indicted. In federal court I had always thought the court would listen to the reason why something had been done. I always thought that justice."

Judge Davidson broke in: "You're being heard now. Speak on."

Mrs. Barnard then said she was proud that she had acted against her husband's advice in selling their houses to veterans.

"The court is impressed with what you have said," Judge Davidson commented. "I recall that once my own wife had 11

College Students Picket Thurmond

DENTON—(AP)—Three North Texas State College students picketed Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina as he left City Hall Auditorium after speaking in behalf of his candidacy for president on the States' Rights ticket. They carried placards reading:

veterans at one time in our own home."

Judge Davidson then announced he would withhold sentence until the real estate man is tried on another case next January.

Government prosecutors said Barnard is named in three other veterans housing fraud indictments and that the Veterans Administration is working on some 20 additional cases against him for presentation to the grand jury.

4-H Recreation Director Named

COLLEGE STATION—(AP)—The Texas A & M College Extension Service announced it had appointed a rural recreation director to work with 4-H clubs and the adult recreation program.

Dr. Ide P. Trotter, director, announced that Miss Dorothy Lee Brightwell from Alvin (Brazoria County), a former teacher in Rosenberg schools, had been appointed to the post.

"A Vote for Hate in '48," "Be A Man, Denounce the Klan," and "Never Again," printed across a Nazi swastika. Two of the students, Norman Ramsey and Carl McMillan, said they represented no political group. The third, Gene Owens of Dallas, wore a Wallace button.

Actor and Studio Have Own Feud

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Glenn Ford and Columbia are having their own private war of nerves. The hard working actor has a year to go on his Columbia contract and the studio is anxious to sign him again. So the studio is sending out feelers in an attempt to discover what Glenn wants. The actor remains mum, indicating he'll talk terms when the pact is over. Meanwhile, he has been seen lunching with the boss of another studio. Glenn continues his tight schedule. Now in "Bonanza," he is being mentioned for the lead opposite Paulette Goddard in "Anna Lucasta." Shirley Temple is still resisting attempts to persuade her to make a stage debut. For years Selznick has tried to talk her into doing a play, but she has always said no. And why not? Shirley has done all right without having seen a footlight.

Walter Pidgeon was telling about his recent appearance tour at a radio theater broadcast. "People in the Midwest are shrewd about sizing you up," he reported. He said that people nodded to him on the street and told him how happy they were about his visit. Such public relations work as Pidgeon can help offset Hollywood's reeler publicity. Mona Freeman's award as the best juvenile actress (in "Dear Ruth") in Film Daily's poll draws a laugh. She's a wife and mother.

Next President Can Look Forward to Little Peace

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON —(AP)— The man elected president on Tuesday can look forward to very little peace of mind the next four years.

In the first place, there may be war with Russia in these next four years.

And the man who wins, whether it's President Truman or Governor Dewey, will have that on his mind.

In the second place, if there is no war, what happens in this country the next four years depends largely on what happens abroad.

And what happens abroad depends largely on what happens here. It's a complete circle.

So the new president will have to juggle the world, not just one country.

If this country's economy should collapse from a bust following the present boom, the rest of the Western world's economy is almost sure to collapse.

And through the doors opened by misery, despair and chaos communist can rush in and grab power without need of war.

Here's some of the problem: When the new president throws open the White House windows the day after inauguration, he'll look out on a wonderfully prosperous America.

But it won't be quite so rosy underneath the glow.

For living costs—at just about the highest point in history—are chewing up the dollars the workers make.

To get the nation's prosperity back to solid ground, the president will have to try to get living costs down.

Yet, in doing that, he'll have to try to do to head off a bust is cut down on government spending.

Some of the present prosperity is tied in with government spending—over $20 billion—for the armed forces and help for Europe.

But the big armed force and the help for Europe have been made necessary (1) because of fear of war with Russia and (2) to help Europe recover so communism can't take over.

So long as Russia keeps the world jittery, piling crisis upon crisis, the big armed force will be necessary. But will help for Europe.

Yet, how long can we keep on pouring out billions without a bust?

What's the way out of this endless circle? How can the country get back to normal so long as communism remains a danger? No one has come up with the answer yet.

What's the other side of the picture? If it's costing us so terrifically to try to keep the world balanced, isn't it costing the Russians just as much to try to unbalance it?

No. They're spending money for their own armed forces and military research, but that's about all.

They can sit back and wait for a bust. They think one's coming. They can keep the pot boiling by a little crisis here, another there—either doing it themselves or getting Communists in other countries to do it for them.

SEATTLE —(AP)— The Boeing Airplane Co. called for 2,000 additional workers to step up its production schedule. The company produces heavy bombers, strato-cruiser airliners and strato-freighters for the Army.

Mouse Found Cause Of Squeak in Machine

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. —(AP)— Dr. C. H. Akroon's new dictating machine doesn't squeak any more.

Workmen who hauled the machine into the repair shop for the second time this week discovered the trouble. Out from the frayed wires jumped a mouse.

Drug Combats Blood Clots

A drug called dicumarol, originally extracted from spoiled clover hay and now made synthetically as dicumarol, has proved highly effective in preventing the often-fatal blood clots which may plug up veins after surgery, childbirth, accident or disease. Writing in The Reader's Digest for October, Lois Mattox Miller states that in the opinion of some doctors the properly controlled use of anticoagulant drugs may prevent one-third of the 130,000 annual deaths from coronary thrombosis, and reduce by half the complications following non-fatal attacks.

Coagulation of blood is one of nature's blessings, the article points out, but "blood often clots too well. Frequently after an injury or abdominal operation, or sometimes after childbirth, a blood clot (thrombus) forms, firmly attached to the inner wall of a blood vessel, blocking it. Lacking sufficient blood supply, an arm or leg swells, gangrene, sometimes has to be amputated."

Tests with dicumarol have given results of much promise. From work at the Mayo Clinic, where dicumarol was used post-operatively in 1,486 cases, Dr. E. V. Allen estimated in the Journal of the American Medical Assn. last year that "approximately 73 lives were saved and 211 patients were spared the experience of venous thrombosis and pulmonary embolism."

Investigating dicumarol's effectiveness against coronary thrombosis, Dr. I. S. Wright and associates, of New York Hospital-Cornell Medical College, reported only 15 deaths among 80 patients treated. This is not a high death rate, Dr. Wright states, in view of the fact that these patients had suffered multiple coronary attacks and had heart muscles already damaged by clogged arteries.

The American Heart Assn., in a controlled investigation on hundreds of patients in 16 widely separated hospitals, found that deaths and complications were both "markedly lower" among patients receiving anticoagulant treatment.

Until the discovery of dicumarol, the drug heparin was the only anti-clotting agent known. Once imperfect and sometimes dangerous to humans, heparin is now purified and safe, but it is still much more expensive than dicumarol (49 per dose, as against a few cents). Heparin must be injected or dripped into veins; dicumarol can be administered orally. The fast-acting heparin is reserved for emergency cases; the treatment is continued with dicumarol. Both drugs must be administered by experienced doctors under hospital conditions, the article warns.

Medal Awarded Texas Butcher For Life Saving

WASHINGTON —(AP)— His rescue of two youths from Rio Grande flood waters has won the Coast Guard's silver life saving medal for Joe Moncada, 32-year-old butcher at Eagle Pass, Texas.

Announcement of the award was made through the office of Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.). Formal presentation of the medal will be made later.

Moncada swam through a raging current last June 24 to save two youths stranded on a sand bar which was rapidly being covered by rising waters.

In the past 30 years, he has been credited with saving numerous persons as a result of his remarkable swimming prowess. His feats were brought to the government's attention by Johnson and two Texas lawyers in the Justice Department, David Hume of Eagle Pass and James Kilday of San Antonio.

Why We All Should Vote For JACK PORTER For the U. S. SENATE:

1. Governor Thomas E. Dewey will be the next President of the United States—on that point believe everyone agrees. With Jack Porter representing Texas in the U. S. Senate, he can do more for you and me and all other Texans working with a Republican President than can a New Deal Senator.
2. Jack Porter is opposed to the so-called Civil Rights program of both major parties and will fight to prevent any such Federal legislation being enacted.
3. Jack Porter is against controls and regimentation, socialized medicine and any other form of socialization of our country.
4. Jack Porter will fight to protect the oil-rich Tidelands for the school children of Texas. The Democratic Party is pledged to take them away. The loss of these lands would mean higher taxes for every person in Texas, and deprive the Texas school children of the finest school system in the United States.
5. When we send Jack Porter to the U. S. Senate, Texas will be saved the humiliation of having a lot of "dirty linen" dragged out for public review by a Senatorial Investigation Committee of Congress.
6. Jack Porter will have no stigma or suspicion of fraud attached to his name when he goes to Washington as our Senator.
7. Jack Porter, born on a Parker County farm, is a true Texan who believes in our free institutions and will fight to keep them free.
8. Jack Porter is bitterly opposed to Communism and will aid our next President, Thomas E. Dewey, in throwing them off the Federal payroll.
9. Jack Porter will be seated when he is elected.

Was There Fraud In The Stevenson-Johnson Campaign?

Here is what Judge Whitfield Davidson, U. S. District Court, Northern District, Fort Worth, found to be the facts:

FINDINGS OF FACT

- "1. The Court finds that the names and residences of all parties hereto, both plaintiff, defenders and interveners, are as alleged in the pleadings.
- "2. The Court finds that the evidence makes a prima facie showing of fraud in the election returns certified to the State Democratic Executive Committee from Precinct No. 13 in Jim Wells County, from Zapata County and from Duval County in the Democratic Primary Election held August 28, 1948, in the race for nominee for United States Senator from Texas.
- "3. THE COURT FINDS THAT THE EVIDENCE THAT SUCH FRAUD IN THE COUNTIES AND PRECINCTS NAMED IS PRIMA FACIE SUFFICIENT TO CHANGE THE RESULT OF SAID PRIMARY ELECTION IN THE RACE BETWEEN THE COMPLAINANT, COKE R. STEVENSON, AND THE RESPONDENT, LYNDON B. JOHNSON, FOR DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR FROM TEXAS. (Boldface capitals ours.)
- "4. The Court finds that the giving of effect to the fraudulent returns, heretofore mentioned, will result in depriving the complainant, Coke R. Stevenson, and interveners, H. L. Poole, A. G. Johnson and F. A. Harkrider, of their civil rights, in violation of the Constitution and laws of the United States.
- "5. The Court finds that each material allegation of the amended complaint and the trial amendment is sustained by the evidence.

Justice Hugo Black of the U. S. Supreme Court said Judge Davidson had no right to pass on this matter. NO COURT HAS EVER SAID THAT JUDGE DAVIDSON'S FINDINGS OF FACT WERE INCORRECT.

These findings are a matter of record and have never been set aside. You can find them in Civil Action No. 1640, filed Sept. 25, 1948, in the U. S. District Court at Fort Worth.

Communist Threat May Have Aided Commonwealth

By ROBERT HEWITT

LONDON — Britain can thank Russia for one thing in these days of tension. The Communist threat seems to be tightening the links of the empire that Moscow denounces so bitterly.

That's the view of British officials who praise the "extremely successful" conference of commonwealth prime ministers that ended last week. Only a year ago India was firmly set on pulling completely out of the commonwealth. Last spring South Africa elected a nationalist government regarded as strongly anti-British.

But the 12-day conference of the nine self-governing members of the commonwealth was marked by a surprising atmosphere of friendship and warmth.

A joint communique said the nine leaders "have shown a substantial community of outlook." They recommended still closer cooperation in foreign affairs, economic policy and defense. Common opposition to communism was one of the main reasons behind the solidarity shown by the prime ministers, informed sources said.

India, lying near the Soviet Union's Southern border, has shown signs of second thoughts about cutting loose from the commonwealth, particularly at a time when neighboring Burma is torn by Communist revolt. Burma turned down an offer of dominion status and became completely independent last year.

Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told newsmen that India hoped to retain "close association" with the commonwealth.

A similar problem has arisen with Eire. The Irish republic has announced it will cut its last legal link with the commonwealth in November by repealing the External Relations Act. Prime Minister John A. Costello has said Eire still wants close relations with Britain and the commonwealth, however.

Pakistan and Ceylon have indicated they are satisfied to remain as independent dominions. India's loss would be the biggest blow. Her wealth of natural resources, strategic position and 250 million people make her potentially the most important member of the world-girdling association.

The stumbling block is a formula that will satisfy Indian nationalist desires and still retain with Britain and the other commonwealth members.

South Africa presents a different problem. Feeling between settlers of British stock and descendants of Dutch colonizers has long been divided over commonwealth membership.

Discoverer Of DDT Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM —(AP)— The discoverer of DDT won the 1948 Nobel Prize for medicine.

The Carolina Institute, the university of medicine in Stockholm, chose Dr. Paul Mueller of Basel, Switzerland, as the winner of an award set aside for services to humanity. He will receive 150,772 crowns (about $44,000).

One of the members of the award panel described Dr. Mueller's discovery of the insecticide as one of "inestimable value for the benefit of humanity," thus reflecting the principles in the will of the late Alfred Nobel, which provided for the prizes.

Millions of Allied soldiers were helped in the last war by the insect-killing dichloro-diphenyl-trichloroethane. It was used by British and American armies to prevent the spread of insect-borne diseases.

Dr. Mueller, 48, made the discovery during a series of experiments in the Basel laboratories of the Geigy drug industries.

The Nobel prizes in literature, chemistry and physics will be awarded Nov. 4 in Stockholm.

Actually, after Mueller had completed his experiments, it was found a German student had

Monsanto Collects for Plant Loss

NEW YORK —(AP)— Monsanto Chemical Company's claims for losses in the Texas City disaster have been settled for $17,812,000, Edgar M. Queney, chairman of the board, announced. In a letter to stockholders, Queney said: "We are advised that this is the largest sum ever paid for a single loss."

The settlement is a compromise between the company's original claim and the original offer by the underwriters, but is regarded as "preferable to the only alternative—long and costly litigation," he added.

The insurance recovery was believed adequate to replace the firm's styrene monomer plant with a somewhat smaller capacity plant, Queney said. However, a property settlement of $13,382,000 "will fall approximately $2,000,000 short of the cost of salvage, rehabilitation, replacement of inventories, and improvements incorporated in the new plant."

The company reported net earnings, not including the insurance recovery, of $11,568,483 for the nine months ended Sept. 30. This was equal to $2.51 a share, and compared with $12,395,367, or $2.73 a share, for the like 1947 period.

Monsanto chemical's sales for the 1948 period were reported at $119,382,197, or about 13 per cent greater than sales for the same period last year.

DR. PEPPER EARNINGS

DALLAS —(AP)— The Dr. Pepper Bottling Company reported net earnings of $618,000 for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1948. Earnings per share was listed as $.88, with 700,000 shares outstanding. For the same period last year earned per share was $1.79, counting approximately 16 cents per share on a $112,500 profit from sale of Dallas real estate.
