On The BEAM

By J. W. King, Sr.

Loraine's trade territory was more fortunate than some during the period of rainy weather. Only a small portion of our territory suffered hail damage and no excessively heavy rains fell.

Some people are just plain lucky or they are smarter than the rest of us when it comes to raising things.

Take W. L. Swafford for example, or Charlie House or Phil Horton.

Mr. Swafford brought us two huge radishes last week that were real good. Most people who saw them thought they were turnips but Mr. Swafford said they were Chinese Radishes.

Charlie House raised a large quantity of sweet potatoes on a very small plot of ground. They were nice too because he gave us some and we ate them.

Charlie is also champion pecan raiser of this area I believe. He has four trees that are really loaded with huge pecans. There was at least one cluster of 8 pecans (I saw it myself) and many clusters of 5, 6 and 7 pecans.

Mrs. Phil Horton brought a small limb off a pear tree to our office Tuesday that had a cluster of 9 young pears—the second crop for the tree this year.

Now, for the life of me, I can't see why anybody would want to live anywhere except Loraine.

Mr. and Mrs. Nuke Henderson spent Sunday in Big Spring with Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Richardson and little daughter, Rhonda Lynn.

COTTON REPORT

Rainy weather has kept cotton pullers out of the fields since last Thursday and only 712 bales were ginned after we got the report last week, bringing the total for the season to 4,021 bales.

THOMAS'S HOST BRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Thomas were host at three tables of bridge Tuesday night, October 11.

Bronte Is Next

For Loraine Bulldogs

The Loraine Bulldogs, who lost their first conference game to Trent 50 to 26 last Friday night at Trent, will go to Bronte Friday night of this week.

Bronte until last Friday night was high and mighty but the Hermleigh Cardinals tamed them down considerably. So neither Bronte nor Loraine has won a conference game. Bronte, however, has been riding roughshod over most of her opponents in the warmup games while Loraine was taking defeat at every game.

Bronte is still rated high and her team is a powerhouse. The Loraine Bulldogs will have to take advantage of every opportunity and make some breaks for themselves if they hope to win Friday night.

There is one characteristic the Bulldogs have that will sooner or later pay off for them—they never quit but play hard all the time. If they can get started a little earlier in the game maybe they can score again.

Last Friday night the Trent Gorillas took an early lead of 38 to 0 before the Bulldogs scored in the second period with Redwine carrying from the 35. Jernigan made the 2 extra points.

Moreno scored for the Bulldogs in the second and fourth periods to bring Loraine's score to 26.

Rain, hail and tornadoes have dominated the weather over most of Texas Thursday through Monday night.

The rains began last Thursday when a pressure system moved East from this area and collided with moist air. Loraine measured only 20 inch from that rain when the heavy clouds were East of here. Hail fell East of Chamption doing considerable damage to cotton crops in a strip about two miles wide and three long. Among the heavy losers were Robert Wright and Lewis Rankin.

Friday no rain fell here but Saturday heavy clouds were around most of the day and late in the afternoon a cloud formed in the Northwest and moved East. Heavy hail fell from this cloud in the area around Lone Wolf Cemetery doing heavy damage to several crops in the area. Among the heavy losers were A. G. Haygood, W. C. Stirl, Arthur Lee Pieper and A. E. Narrell. Mr. Stirl said he was in the North edge of the hail strip but his loss would have been much heavier had he waited for all his cotton to open before harvesting. He had pulled over one time and a portion of it the second time. He had also machine harvested a few acres. Loraine was again in the edge of the rain.

Clouds continued heavy and it was foggy and misty most of Sunday and Monday. Monday night showers fell here and in other sections of the state. Galle in Borden County reported 8 inches.

The rainfall here in Loraine measured 1.60 inches for the period.

During the several days of rainy weather rains were heavy in many places, especially East of San Antonio where two or three tornadoes were reported. A tornado or two also struck on the Plains during the period of stormy weather.

Most sections of the state have been soaked by rain that was not wanted in many sections because of crops being harvested.

The rains, however, will be of great benefit to pastures and small grain.

By Vern Sanford
Sandies, those scrappy little fish that are so prolific in Lake Texoma, are creating a sensation along the Texas-Oklahoma border. Night fishing for Sandies is great sport, as testified to by the hundreds of after-dark fishermen who line the Roosevelt Bridge by Lake Texoma Lodge on U. S. Highway 70 between Durant and Kingston.

Almost any evening from dusk to daylight you'll find the anglers elbow to elbow along the rail, almost all the way across the bridge.

Their fishing technique is unique, to say the least. As would be expected, most of them fish in pairs, or families. They bring the kids too, if the youngsters have reached the careful age.

By careful, we mean alert enough to dodge the cars that cross the bridge, sometimes in continuous streams; thoughtful enough to be cautious about leaning over the rather low railing; and calm enough not to become over-excited when the fish strike. Oklahoma is to be congratulated for having thought of the fishermen when they built the mammoth concrete structure that spans Lake Texoma at this point.

A raised sidewalk, about a foot higher than the roadway, affords protection for the anglers. At the same time that it gives them a protected place to fish, it also furnishes a shelf for the necessary gear.

This gear is what fascinates us. Actually, each group brings along its own electric power plant. There were 142 such units by actual count one night a busy week-end.

Each power unit is a home-made affair, and they differ like night and day.

Simplest was the gasoline engine taken from a powered lawn mower, connected to an automobile generator, which in turn fed juice to a 300-watt bulb placed under a broad reflector hood that had been lowered some 75 feet from the bridge, to within a few inches of the water. Many rigs included a weight hanging down from the reflector on three lines a few feet in length. As the weight was submerged in water, this stabilized the light and kept it from swinging in the wind.

A gallon tank of gas was sufficient fuel to last throughout the night. Some of the fishermen used Coleman or Bernz lanterns. These proved effective, but threw less light than did the electric units. The lanterns are better for the shallower water fishing, say some of the fishermen.

The principle of the light was of course, to attract insects. Insects fell into the water only to be gobbled up by the minnows and shad that also had been attracted by the brilliant light shining upon the water.

Deeper down lay the larger fish, pansize Sandies, gobbling up the crippled minnows that sank bottomward.

Most fishermen used a short, heavy rod with a 20 to 28-pound braided line and a small, inexpensive reel. How many are dropped overboard we do not know, but we're sure there must be plenty which is another reason for using the less expensive rigs.

A heavy lead weight is attached to the end of the line. A few feet above is a sturgeon about 12 to 18 inches long, to the end of which is tied on a small hook. Minnows are used as bait.

That of course presents another problem, the matter of keeping the minnows alive while fishing from a bridge high above the water. Solution is a bull cord tied to the minnow bucket and long enough to lower the bucket into the water, and tie the bucket up again to rebait.

That isn't all there is to it either. What to do with the fish presents another problem. Some ice them down, then and there, atop the bridge. Others drop a stringer into the water and keep the string of fish alive until ready to return home.

Slickest deal we saw was by a Dallasite who used the metal stringer hooks, available in singles, that slide down the line. It was a fast ride to the water that his Sandies took, but it sure saved him the task of dragging an ever-increasing string of fish 100 or so feet out of the water each time he landed a Sandie.

Fishing from a bridge is illegal in Texas. Although they can't do it at home, many Texans aren't missing the fun. A large number of the bridge fishermen we talked to were Texans who bought Oklahoma fishing license primarily to enjoy the sport of bridge fishing.

Shopping for foods
What foods would be best for a two-week stay in a fallout shelter after nuclear attack? What would they cost? How much storage space and weight would they involve?
To find the answers to these questions, food specialists of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization asked a Battle Creek, Mich., housewife, Mrs. Norman C. Madsen, to shop a supermarket using guidelines which they furnished her.
She was told to shop for a two-weeks supply for two persons, allowing for personal preferences, but keeping her selection roughly within recom-

March of Dimes Support Urged by Mother Who Lost Birth Defects Baby in 49 Days

Editor's Note: Mary Strous, young Laurelville, Ohio, mother, tells in her own words the tragic story of what happens in a family when a child is born with a serious birth defect.

By MARY STROUS

Our baby Laura was born on Mother's Day seven years ago. We lost Laura seven weeks later on Father's Day.

She gave a soft little sigh as she died in my arms. My husband and I buried her with the rattle to which she had clung tightly during her brief life.

But Laura, who died of the terrible birth defects known as open spine and too much fluid on the brain, still lives in the hearts of her father Don and myself. When asked by strangers, we always say we have three daughters (instead of really only two), and I want to explain why.

We feel that each of us, including our tiny Laura, is brought into the world to serve a purpose, even if our stay on earth is as tragically short as 49 days.

For years we were numbed by our baby's passing. But today we recognize that in being asked by The National Foundation to renew our memories of those despairing seven weeks, my husband and I are somehow fulfilling the purpose of Laura's fleeting visit with us.

That purpose is to repeat as forcefully as we can the lessons we have learned:

1. Scientists insist that parents should not be ashamed over the birth of an infant with a congenital malformation; instead, face the situation bravely and seek professional advice. Feelings of guilt aren't justified.
2. There is no medical evidence that birth defects are always hereditary; and
3. There is no evidence that because a couple have had one defective baby, they are likely to have another. Doctors at Columbus, Ohio, near our farm at Laurelville, said our chances of having another malformed baby were something like one in 40,000. (Donna Marguerite, five years old, and Julie Ann, two, who followed Laura after Don and I had reflected deeply and sought advice, could not be healthier or more normal.)

Mary Strous, of Ohio, and daughters Julie Ann, two, and Donna Marguerite, five, study photos of youngest child, Laura, who died of birth defects at seven weeks.

But by no means have Don and I forgotten our hopelessness and indeed our self-loathing during those 49 days and nights when we took turns holding Laura in our arms, or sat hour after hour beside her bassinet, watching life drain from her eyes.

We detested ourselves because of torments that something was wrong with us physically, or that a shameful defect had been inherited from our forebears (later proved untrue), and that we were thus responsible for this cruelty to an innocent baby.

Never will we forget the frantic drive, while our baby was dying, to our church so that she might be baptized before she left us. In some way our congregation had learned of the reason for our headlong visit, and the tears of those sorrowing folks flowed with ours.

Our Laura was one of 250,000 babies born each year in our country with significant birth defects; that tragic total is growing with our increasing population. Our baby was one of 34,000 who in addition die annually from these congenital malformations; and that awful figure is also mounting.

At last, something constructive is being done about birth defects. With March of Dimes contributions, The National Foundation is directing a broad study of this devastating puzzle, just as it fought polio and in time found the Salk vaccine to prevent it.

With a donation in January from each of us, in time there will be many fewer Lauras in our land.

T. E. L. CLASS

Mrs. Hal Bennett, class teacher directed an "Auto" clinic for the class in regular meeting of the T. E. L. Class at the home of Mrs. Homer Mearse Thursday afternoon.

"All the way my Savior Leads me", was sung and Mrs. Dan Butler brought the devotional in opening the meeting.

Mrs. Butler read Isaiah 40:26, Lift up your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things" and closed her devotional with prayer.

Mrs. Butler, president directed the class business meeting and heard reports from Mrs. King, secretary, Mrs. A. G. Furlow, Treasurer and group leaders, Mmes: Charlie House, Ottella Wilson, Edwin Hallmark and Alfred Richey.

In the business meeting the class voted to adopt as their new class song, "All the Way My Savior Leads Me" and as new motto Proverbs: 3:6, "In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct Thy path."

It was also voted to have a luncheon on Tuesday, Nov. 22 at the home of Mrs. Hal Bennett with Mrs. Tom Ray, co-hostess.

Mrs. Edwin Hallmark was re-elected chairman of the Myrtle Barber Mission fund.
New officers for the class are: Mrs. Dan Butler, president; Mrs. M. A. Gann, vice president; Mrs. Homer Mearse, secretary; Mrs. Alfred Richey, assistant Secretary; Treasurer; Mrs. J. W. King, pianist; Mrs. King, reporter; Mrs. Ottella Wilson, song leader, Group leaders are Mmes: Charlie House, Walter Teeters, Henry Riden and Alva Dunn, Mrs. Edwin Hallmark, was appointed Year Book chairman with Mmes: J. W. King, Dan Butler and Hal Bennett assisting.

In directing the "auto" clinic Mrs. Bennett used as the slogan: The Class with the forward look, and opened by stating "In the beginning month of the Sunday school, our T. E. L. class faces a 12 month trip, with many miles to go and much to see and do. If the passengers are to be transported to the desired destination, they must have the latest model car in which to travel. Mrs. Bennett showed pictures of an old broken down car, representing the old year and a new model car, as the New year.

She used as the theme for her talk, "Let's Go," and as the motto "In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths."

In starting on a trip, we always have plans and charts to consider, she stated.

We must locate garages and filling stations for we know the best cars must be serviced regularly, some represented by the Sunday morning class, the mid-week service and the sermons by our pastor.

All interesting trips start with a "road map", as a guide. So our vice president, Mrs. Gann will be reminding us often of the standard of Excellence. The teacher represents the "driver" in this auto clinic. She is responsible for guiding the Bible study period. In all long tours the driver gradually releases the wheel to an assistant at times, so in Mrs. King we have a very capable assistant teacher.

The president of our class, Mrs. Butler, holds a place of honor and importance. Like the speed of a car is governed by the motor, depends on the motor for momentum. So Mrs. Butler will tell us briefly how she plans to keep us "moving along" during the year's trip.

Our four group leaders, Mrs. House, Mrs. Teeters, Mrs. Riden and Mrs. Dunn are the "wheels" of our car. They determine the direction we are to go, are we to go in reverse, stand still or go forward?

On every trip one person must keep an eye on the road map. Mrs. Gann vice president has that responsibility, to correctly interpret the standard of Excellence.

Our secretary, Mrs. Mearse and her assistant, Mrs. Richey are to secure records and keep them to use as needed. Records are indicators of distance already traveled, of speed and fuel, of temperature and lights.

Our reporter, Mrs. King, has an important place to fill. Many people read the local news and form opinions of organizations by what they see in print. Our song leader, Mrs. Wilson is responsible for bringing the class group together in spiritual unity, as they left their voices together in song to open each class meeting.

In closing, Mrs. Bennett ask the question, "In all that we do, may we pause to ask ourselves,

"By what power and in whose name do we act? and her closing challenge was stated in these words "If we trust together in numbers of class members, in organizations, in activities, we shall have no more power than these things give. If we do the work delegated to us as teachers, officers and class members, trusting in the name and power of Jesus Christ, then God will bless our efforts. She closed by having the class to repeat with her the class motto, "In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy path."

Mrs. Teeters ask members to stand as prayer was offered, in memory of Mrs. Butlers aunt, Mrs. Sandlin who had passed away the previous day.

A refreshment plate of open faced sandwiches, lemonade and angel food cake was served to Mmes: Henry Riden, Alfred Richey, Charlie House, Hal Bennett, Dan Butler, Homer Wilson, Alva Dunn, J. W. King, Fred Lankford, Walter Teeters, M. A. Gann, R. H. Phillips, A. G. Furlow, Edwin Hallmark and Mearse.

'Dream Job' Helps Crippled Tots

Dorothy Buck is so happy today in her "dream job" as a top-rank physical therapist that she's given no serious thought to marriage.

But attractive Miss Buck is more than a physical therapist, fascinating as that field is to a young woman who loves children and has a particularly warm spot in her heart for those disabled by birth defects. At famed New York University Medical Center in New York City she is administrative assistant in the Children's Division. The medical college of the University is aided by the New March of Dimes.

Hers is probably the only "dream job" of its kind in the nation, she says.

"With these tots, new problems arise every hour dealing with walking and crawling, and devising new ways of doing both. And that means a challenge every hour. There's nothing routine about my job," the brunette and hazel-eyed therapist says. "And for that I'm grateful."

She tells how she made a career in physical therapy and of her interest in The National Foundation's professional education program which, in this one field alone, offers annually 103 March of Dimes scholarships of $500 each to applicants in all 50 states and Puerto Rico.

She studied first at McGill University, Montreal. Next, this enterprising young woman enrolled in the women's division of the Royal Canadian Air Force and taught physical education and rehabilitation at the Boundary Bay Base near Vancouver. She then obtained a bachelor of science degree in physical therapy at New York University, worked at Bellevue Hospital in New York City with patients stricken with a wide variety of disabilities; and later by attending night classes she telescoped a two-year course into one year in guidance and personnel administration.

"What is so satisfying about the profession of physical therapy," she explains, "is that we treat the patient as a whole. We don't restrict ourselves to the immediate disability at hand. And in the case of handicapped children, we also find ourselves 'treating' and 'teaching' their parents—telling them that when the great day dawns that Susie or Tommy can leave us, rigorous physical therapy must continue and that father and mother must serve as home therapists. "For any young woman with the normal desire to help others in difficulty, particularly children, there is no more desirable career than one in physical therapy," she says. "It's certainly far better than pulverizing a typewriter or taking someone's fractured dictation."

Finally, even if Dorothy Buck has no immediate thoughts about marriage for herself, she argues that there's no reason why a physical therapist can't have a career and a family too.

P. T. A.'s Seek New Members In The U. S. — And Overseas

When in Rome—or Oslo or Athens, Fontainebleau or Karlsruhe, Addis Ababa or Reykjavik—American parents and teachers do just about as they do at home: they form a P.T.A.

More than 42,000 P.T.A. members in the European Congress of American Parents and Teachers this fall will join in the annual October Membership Month of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Like their nearly 12 million counterparts on U.S. soil, these P.T.A. members who live overseas—from Iceland to the Middle East, most of them on American military bases—will encourage others to "acquire where you are: join the P.T.A."

Serving the welfare of American children, wherever they are growing up, is the primary object of the National Congress. It has brought the P.T.A. into many areas of activity during its 63-year history. Since formation of the European branch in 1958, these activities have taken on new flavor:

—A European program of scholarships, similar to those provided by many state congresses in the United States, this year awarded $500 against tuition to American colleges for seven students; they were graduates of American overseas schools in Nouasseur, Morocco; Stuttgart, Berlin, Biburg, and Heidelberg, Germany; and Vicenza, Italy.

—Concerned, like other P.T.A.'s, with the interests of mentally and physically handicapped children, the European Congress has initiated a program of special class instruction for these youngsters, providing the funds for additional teacher assistants, helpers, and materials to be used in some 20 schools.

—Foreign language education, a natural interest for children whose parents are assigned overseas, has been a major interest of P.T.A.'s in the European Congress. In Air Force schools, extending from Oslo to Libya and from the British Isles to Saudi Arabia, children in grades 3 through 8 are taking classes in foreign language this year.

—Adult education programs of the P.T.A., which in the U.S.

The midst of Europe's Bavarian Alps—it's a P.T.A. meeting. Mrs. James C. Parker, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, confers with Fred L. Miller, coordinator for P.T.A.'s in the European Congress of American Parents and Teachers, during conference in Berchtesgaden, Germany. Some 140 parent-teacher associations in Europe, Northern Africa, and the Middle East will join this fall in programs to enroll more than 12,000,000 parents, teachers, and friends of children as P.T.A. members.

usually take the form of study-discussion groups, may become adult self-education in overseas areas, where American military, government or civilian members of P.T.A.'s take advantage of opportunities for learning the language of the country and for studying its cultural assets.

As these P.T.A. members, both teachers and parents, return from overseas assignments, they bring broader understanding of other countries to their state-side colleagues.

"This is one great contribution our European members can make," says Mrs. James C. Parker, of Grand Rapids, Mich., president of the National Congress, who acted as a consultant to the European Congress when she attended their convention last April.

"Overseas P.T.A.'s," she points out, "bring to American boys and girls living in other parts of the world some of the home and school experiences they would be enjoying if they lived in the United States."

"The richest result is the relationship between parents and teachers; there is a closer relationship in a foreign environment because they have so many unusual experiences in common."

"The National Congress has always recognized, she says, 'that great differences exist among the states and communities'—and still greater ones in overseas communities. But the National Congress program 'always allows abundant room for choice' of projects for local P.T.A.'s, serving 'as a bank or library of ideas from which the local unit draws to suit its needs.'"

In its membership programs this October, the P.T.A. card will become "a passport to the best society on earth," says Mrs. Parker, "an organization working in hundreds of ways to create a better world, working for the welfare of all children—for the handicapped, the gifted, the migrant, the delinquent, the average, for all children whether they live in cities, suburbs, rural areas, or on military bases abroad—an organization that cares about the homes children live in, the schools they are taught in, and the neighborhoods they grow up in."

Questions and Answers

Q. My claim was turned down last year because I had only 11 of the needed 17 quarters of coverage. Can I now collect my social security?

A. Yes. You should file a new claim as soon as convenient for you to contact your social security district office or a representative of that office when he is in your community.

Q. My husband died in 1939. He was covered by social security, but I was told that year and several times later that I could not collect on his social security when I reached retirement age. Has that been changed?

A. Yes. Survivors of workers who died after 3/31/38 and before 11/30 can now be paid in the same manner that has been true for death after 1939. A widow who has reached age 62, has not remarried and has not built up a higher payment by her own work, can collect monthly widow's benefits. Also adult children who have been disabled since before their 18th birthday, may now be paid monthly benefits based on the record of a parent who died after 3/31/38. The same is true for dependent parents of such deceased persons. Of course, the deceased person must have had at least 1 1/2 years of social security credits.

Q. My minor child was not eligible for benefits when his real father died because he was living with and being supported by his stepfather, my present husband. Do the 1960 Amendments change that in any way?

A. Yes. A child can now always be paid on his natural father's earnings record, even though living with and supported by a step-father.

What is the Answer?

Q—Who can be buried in London's Westminster Abbey?

A—Many of England's kings and noted citizens have been buried in the Abbey. The deans of the Abbey decide who shall be buried there and their decision is final. Today space is becoming scarce and very few burials are sanctioned.
