CITY COUNCIL

Community Center
Activities Reported

Recent report from the town's Recreation Department Coordinator brought to light several impressive totals in use of Community Center here. Community Center activities since May 1 have included a summer recreation program for 4,822 who attended Community Center and 393 in the Wallace School recreation program.

A children's story hour 1 day a week for 6 weeks had an average attendance of 6. A party for high school students drew 64 high schoolers.

Currently enrolled in Community Center Kindergarten classes are 65 children — 30 in the Monday-Wednesday class, and 35 in the Tuesday-Thursday class.

Brush and Pakette Club have held 36 meetings in the club room — a Community Center "Debby Drake Copycats" met for 22 sessions. Senior Citizens have attended 17 meetings in the center. Girl Scouts meeting in Southwest room have held 60 meetings.

In addition to these regularly scheduled meetings, there have been, these last nine months, 91 private or individual parties or meetings using the Community Center.

Those figures were presented to City Council last week by Mrs. Dick Wistrand, coordinator for Community Center. Located at the old Shell Pipeline office site here, Community Center is available for all civic activities and for such privately hosted affairs as the calendar can arrange.

Council voted, after hearing Mrs. Wistrand's report to go ahead with approximately $800 in remodeling at the Center.

A petition is to be moved to make a larger room for big meetings, and refrigeration is to be secured for cooling refreshment-time treats.

GRASS ROOT POLL

Max D. Carriker, Representative from the 30th District, mailed his questionnaire to voters in this Texas district this week.

Purpose of Carriker's questionnaire is to get grass-roots feelings on current issues.

"Austin is full of experts," the Representative to the House in Texas says, "but I want to get the opinion of the private citizen back home."

"Back home" to Carriker is the 30th District which includes Mitchell, Nolan, Dickens, King, Stonewall, and Fisher Counties. Carriker's hometown is Roby. He won re-election to a third term, last General Election.

Since 1959, he has polled every fourth constituent each session. Persons receiving the questionnaires are chosen at random by going down the poll tax lists and picking each fourth name.

Of the 48 topics that have appeared on previous questionnaires 44 have subsequently become major issues in the State Legislature. "This is remarkable foresight in the selection of key issues in advance," said a fellow legislator of the Carriker polls. To date Carriker has not found it necessary to vote contrary to the findings of the poll on a single issue, his record shows.

Some of the issues included in the present questionnaire are the replacement of the poll tax with a registration law and the highway bill. The answers have always been representative said.

Carriker: "These questionnaires have helped me a great deal in finding out what is in the best interests of the people," he says. "They are completely confidential. I have always kept the individual answers private to make sure that people are frank with me."

Carriker expressed the hope that the response to the questionnaire will be a good year as this year as it has been in the past. One year the response was over 40%, which is an amazing figure for this type of mail out. "It shows that people of the District not only care what goes on in Austin, but they also keep up with the issues," the 30th District Representative said.

SCS MEET

Soil Conservationist Discusses Terracing

"Maintenance of proper blocks in terraces is just as important as maintaining the terraces," A. V. Sheppard, of the Soil Conservation Service office told a group who met in the SCS office here Monday night.

Terracing and related problems and the responsibilities of all concerned with terrace programs were discussed in detail. Chet Latimer, chairman of the Mitchell County Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation, and terracing contractors Travis Turner, Loyd Hare, Ben Sparks, Roy and Roy Nobles, Alvin Clemmer, and Sheppard took part in the discussion.

Proper construction and maintenance of terrace closures for blocks was studied. Sheppard discussed the necessity of terraces and closures to return water to the land and prevent terrace channel erosion.

"Over blocking is a hazard to the terrace system," Sheppard pointed out. "A block which begins at the terrace height and tapers out to the end of the blocks cut down the area through which surplus water may escape," he said, in advising that a block be only 2/3 the height of the terrace where it joins the terrace, "the top of the block built level to the uphill end leaves a much larger area through which surplus water may flow."

"This increased area may mean the difference in surplus water escaping safely or breaking the terrace," Sheppard concluded.

Stress was also placed upon proper disposal of surplus water after it flows over the blocks. Turnrows should be maintained as emergency outlets to lead the surplus water from the field, rather than let it re-enter the terrace system by flowing in behind the block of terraces further down the slope. Discussion of this emergency outlet brought out the necessity of a thorough understanding being had between the landowner and the contractor as to the shaping of this outlet before the terracing job is started.

The duties and responsibilities of each party involved in establishing a terrace system on the land was discussed and the following facts pointed out:

1. The Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service County Committee issues tentative approval, and furnishes the government's assistance with Agricultural Conservation Program cost-share.

2. The Soil Conservation Service renders technical assistance in running the terrace lines, staking the blocks and giving the landowner guidance in the proper disposal of excess water leaving the system over the blocks; then checking the system to see if specifications have been met after the job is completed.

3. The contractor has the responsibility of building the terraces, blocks and any other item he and the landowner have agreed upon before the job was started.

4. It is the landowner's responsibility to furnish SCS with terrace-measurement and accept or reject the job after the SCS representative, with the farmer's and contractor's help, has checked the system and determined that it meets specifications for cost-share. No SCS representative can accept a job for the landowner, he can only tell the landowner that the specifications have been met and the job will qualify for cost-share. It is then the landowner's responsibility to accept or reject the job.

Latimer, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service Committee, pointed out that the ASCS, Soil Conservation Service, terracing contractor, and the landowner must cooperate as a team, each performing his duty and assuming his share of the responsibility to get the best terrace system possible on the land with the funds available.

MUSEUM REMARKS

By Harry Ratliff

Two other tokens have been acquired by the Colorado City Historical Museum, as reminders of early days here.

One token has this inscription: "Gold for 12 cents in trade, ARC Saloon" with the other side bearing the inscription A. R. Earnest, Colorado City, Texas.

A photograph of the ARC Saloon is in the museum which was once located where the W. L. Doss Drug Store now stands.

The other metal token reads "C. H. Lasky Groceries, Colorado, Texas," with the other side saying "Good for 5 cents, Bread."

Lasky Grocery was located on the northeast corner of the block just south of the present Court House, Corner of Oak and Third Sts.

Snow Is Not Just For Boys

Girls can be pretty rough snow playmates as well as boys, as this trio proved after the 2-inch snowfall early this week.

Mary Jane Mundy, center, ducks as Candy Curlee, left, and Marsha Wood, prepare to bombard her with snowballs. The scene is on Austin Street, in front of the Tandy Curlee home at 833 Austin St.

Couple Wed 67 Years Ago Celebrate Day

MR. AND MRS. Y. SWAIM married 67 years

Mr. and Mrs. Y. Swaim, 940 Hickory St., observed their 67th wedding anniversary Tuesday.

They were married Feb. 19, 1896, in Jackson County, Alabama. Mrs. Swaim is the former Miss Rachel Ann Henshaw.

Swaim was born May 6, 1873, in Jackson County. Mrs. Swaim was born Aug. 28, 1878, in Jackson County.

After their marriage, the couple lived in Jackson County until Jan. 4, 1904, where they farmed.

They moved in 1904 to Arlington, Texas, where they lived for ten years. From Arlington, they moved to Venus, in Ellis County, where they lived for two years.

From Venus, they moved to Jean, in Young County, where they made their home for the next 42 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Swaim moved to Colorado City in June of 1959, where they bought their present home.

They have one son, W. R. Swaim of Sweetwater, and two daughters: Mrs. Lillie Sparks of Colorado City and Mrs. Vance Allen of Wichita Falls. Another son, Ray Swaim died in Jean, Texas, in September of 1959.

Their son, W. R. Swaim is a former court reporter for district court here.

They have eight grand children and 18 great-grand children.

The couple are members of the Primitive Baptist Church of Graham.

Swaim retired from farming 15 years ago.

"About the most strenuous exercise we have now," Mrs. Swaim said, "is watching television and playing dominoes."

Sock Hop Scheduled For Friday Night

Mrs. Dick Wistrand has announced that a Sock Hop is to be held Friday night in the All Saints Episcopal Parish Hall. The dance, sponsored by the All Saints Episcopal, First Christian, First Methodist and First Presbyterian Churches, will begin at 7:30 p. m.

PEGGY'S

Paragraphs

By PEGGY BELVIN

THE LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL Wolf Band had their annual banquet Saturday night at the Col-Tex Club. The banquet this year was titled, "HAWAIIAN LUAU."

All the girls appeared in muu-muus and grass skirts and the boys wore beach combers.

Seems that the DWIGHT TOMBS showed up in full regalia. Mrs. Tomb was wearing a brilliantly flowered muu-muu, and Dwight wore a shirt to match.

CENTERPIECES for the banquet were candles stuck in bottles. The kids confiscated all kinds of bottles, and finally decided that old whiskey bottles would serve their purpose best.

So the candle on the head table burned from a bottle that distinctly was lettered OLD CROW.

ATTENDED A BANQUET, myself, the other night. It was graduation night for some cub scouts in Pack 22. Sat just down the table from one of the cutest little cubs that ever rubbed two sticks together.

He was MIKE WOOD, son of Mr. and Mrs. JIM WOOD. I think he and I were having a little unofficial contest to see which one could down his fried chicken and potato salad first.

Talk about good food!

ALL THESE BANQUETS remind me of my senior year in high school, and one of our big occasions... the annual football banquet.

Don't know where we got our banquet food, but our chicken-fried steaks seemed always to be a slab of goodyear disguised with a little catsup.

Anyway, as daintily as was possible, I was sawing away at the main course, when it slipped off my plate and slid down the table a few feet.

Don't know who ended up with my banquet fare, because by that time I was hiding behind a rubber tree in the corner.

OUR BANQUETS were always in the school cafeteria. And you could never use distinctive decorations, because they always clashed with the hideous green velvet stage curtains.

So we decided to transplant one of our banquets to the HOTEL BLUEBONNET in Sweetwater that year.

So we rented the top-floor ballroom, and were excused from school to go over and decorate for the banquet.

YOU'D THINK we'd never seen a town as big as Sweetwater before.

Instead of decorating, we spent the afternoon throwing balloons off the balcony.

The hotel staff handled the banquet service. So that night, we sat at the undecorated tables, in the undecorated ballroom, and waited to be served.

But the hotel manager had forgotten to tell us that the banquet was to be served buffet-style.

So we waited... and waited... AND waited.

Finally someone went to see if the elevator had stuck between floors and the waiters hadn't made it to the banquet.

And there, just off the ballroom, were the waiters. Standing starched and stiff behind a table loaded down with cold chicken, cold rolls, cold potatoes and warm iced tea.

THAT was the last time any of the LHS youngsters were allowed to host a banquet out of the school cafeteria.

What is your Question?

QUESTION: "The Redeemed Soul"

The redeemed soul is a Christian soul. It has been redeemed by the blood of God's loving Son! Its power and value is beyond the ability of finite mind to describe. Jesus valued just one soul more than all the material world. He put the matter in the form of two questions for you and me to answer for our own selves. "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" (Matt. 16:26). Can you answer that question satisfactorily to yourself? Don't you think the latter question is unanswerable? At the judgment day, if you stand condemned, just what would you give for redemption? To sum up the matter we can confidently say that there is absolutely nothing anywhere at any time or enough value that one could afford to exchange for his eternal soul!

The redeemed soul being worth more than all material things combined, is worth far more than this, in spiritual values. It is the soul redeemed by the blood of Christ that mounts up in value in the sight of God; and that is, at the same time, worth so much to the material world. It took God four thousand years of maneuvering providence to bring the church to bear among men for the housing of Christ-blood-redeemed souls. It took Jesus, the Son of God, three and a half years of day and night teaching and training, plus His death, burial and resurrection to convince even the apostles of our Lord of the spiritual side of things.

The beauty and grandeur of the redeemed soul is brought out by a paradox of our Savior. "If any man will come after me," he said, "let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake shall find it" (Matt. 16:24-25). The God-breathed soul redeemed by the shed blood of Christ is the part of man that is in God's own likeness and image; and, that is eternal (Gen. 2:7; 1:26; Eccl. 12:7; Zech. 12:1). Do not forget, my friends, that your souls are immortal; and that the Christian, as such, never dies! (John 6:50).

"I am well satisfied with operation of the Colorado School system," we have some fine men on the School Board now who are dedicated to keeping our schools excellent standing. I am particularly impressed with the caliber of the superintendent and principals our schools have been fortunate enough to employ." Richardson's formal statement concluded.

E. Toby Dearen, life-long resident in Colorado City and 1940 graduate of high school here, is fourth candidate to file Dearen, son of Mrs. Inez Dearen-of-Rock Valley Falls, is a Col-Tex Refinery employee.

He lives with his wife, Virginia — employee of the office of Mitchell County clerk — and their three school-aged children at 1439 Pine St. The Dearen children are Connie, 17-year-old high school junior student, Dee, 15-year-old sophomore, and Larry, 10-year-old and in the third grade.

"I'm proud of our schools," Dearen said Wednesday afternoon. "There may be in this town, somebody who loves our school system as much as I do, but nobody who lives it more."

I want to express my appreciation of such good schools for my own children by working to help keep them good for everybody's children."

Dr. Steadley, incumbent, told the Record today "Efficiency and knowledge of any School Board member is helped tremendously by the time and experience of serving on the School Board."

"As my children grow in our school system, new problems and needs become apparent. This fact, plus knowledge I have acquired from serving on the Board, along with a desire for a continuously improving school system — in all its aspects made me decide to run again."

Sparks, partner in Hudson & Sparks, Dert Contractors firm, gave the following statement: "Nothing should interest a person more than participating in his investments and one big investment that we, the citizens of Colorado City, have is our public school system — educational foundation for our children."

"Trustees of previous years have done an excellent job of providing a curriculum for the future of our young citizens, along with keeping a faculty of high standards in their selected fields."

"I want to do my part in our investment by working with others in improving the foundation that will mean so much to our children in the important years that lie ahead for them."

RITES—

Ann Joe McKinney, sentenced to four years on a plea of guilty to forgery and passing, was granted probation of the sentence with B. H. Erwin to serve as probation officer. Mrs. McKinney's husband, John McKinney, is charged in County Court with wife and child desertion.

CONVERSATION CORNER

STATUS SYMBOLS vary, everybody knows. Where you live, how you live, and frequently why you live influence every conscious yen and yearning.

Some gal reporter, writing for the Sat. Eve. Post, announces that wigs are here to stay and are fast becoming as much a part of good grooming as lipstick and foundation garments.

HER REASONING strikes some of us as peculiar. The writer figures that because Dorothy Provine owns five blond wigs, Arlene Frances any number, Mrs. Kennedy three, at least, and Zsa Zsa Gabor is down to four since a fire burned up her two dozen odd ones, that such statistics make it all a national necessity.

MEBBE SO, What she forgot to add is that these gorgeous dolls in the public eye also go in, frequently, for capped teeth, false eyelashes, starving slowly and stylishly to death, and copping two bushel baskets of diamonds. And 'tis little enough such "rages" have influenced any number of women.

TO TELL THE TRUTH—and now is the time for it, with Washington's Birthday in offing—wigs head our current Couldn't-Care-Less department. Along with whether or not Ben Casey has started "teasing" that black mop of his'n.

Whether our "feminine mystique" is incurring daily damage or exaltation from regular employment—a subject gravely explored at great length in two popular women's magazines.

Or whether the "little heel", plugged for summer footwear is more stylish now or not. The "little heel" has no connection with what Grandma meant by "the cad." It's just a way for feminine creatures to come down to earth.

Silver Scout Seeks Eagle

BY SANDRA CLIFTON

Record Correspondent
Charles Rich Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kennedy, appeared before the Board of Review for his Eagle Scout rank. The review was held in Silver Methodist Church Monday. John King and a committee of reviewers from Ballinger were in charge.

Miss Susan Hughes and her Baylor University roommate Miss Sherrill Seaton were week-end guests in Silver with Miss Hughes' parents Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hughes.

Mr. and Mrs. Benny Franks of Dallas spent the week-end in Silver as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Eubanks.

Howard County Junior College student Jimmy Palmer was here for the week-end with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Palmer.

Recent visitors in Silver were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Butts of San Angelo and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Herr.

goodie. High time it is, too.

HEADING the list of things which DO have appeal, current and choice, include happiness on the face of our Hattie Ramsdell (Mrs. Frank) of Locust St. when the Fred Scalfes arrived late Tuesday from Baltimore, Maryland. Mrs. Scalfes is, of course, the former Elsie Ann Ramsdell. The Scalfes children, Joyce Ann, 2, and Jim, 1 year old, and their mother will be here for three weeks while Fred goes to San Diego, California, on a business trip.

ADD to that the joy little Mrs. Wilma Reynolds knew when she took off for a town near Kansas City, Missouri, to meet her married daughter, the former Frances Reynolds, who lives in Rochester, New York. The two haven't seen each other—until this week—in two years.

NICE, too, to visit by phone with former neighbor Lois Prude Bennett who's looking forward to seeing some old friends, early C. Citizens, expected here for the Hesperian Club 70th anniversary tea, Friday. And with Lois Burns (Mrs. Douglas) who was saying the Historical Museum will be kept open Friday from 2 to 5 p. m. for benefit of all visiting old-timers here for the club celebration.

JOE ROBERTSON, tall, intelligent, and handsome only son of our Irene Robertson, is globe flyin' for his company, Portacamp, which sells pre-fab camps for oil and construction companies all over the world.

Joe flew first to Hawaii, then to Tokyo, then Bangkok. . . . Saigon from whence his mother had a picture postcard via air mail. . . . Singapore. He's due in Rome Friday and from there will fly to London, Paris, and then on to Lybia, North Africa. He expects to be back in Houston, his hometown now, about March 1. Fascinating 'til' the world, isn't it?

SEEN LATELY—here and there—were Mrs. J. Ed Jones and her little brown-eyed blond great granddaughter . . . Tom Morrison and son Tommy. . . . Plus nice Mrs. W. C. Hargrove, 429 Oak St. whose son Sp. 4 James H. Hargrove and his wife Joyce (Schaefer) live in Fairbanks, Alaska now. He's with the Army and Joyce, daughter of J. L. Jr. and Pauline Schaefer of 741 East 2nd St., has a Civil Service position on the base. Good world, isn't it?

CROWN BOWL Tips

By Lonnie Bounds

Shoot for the split
Someone once said that making spares is the mark of a good bowler. This is true especially when you take converting splits into consideration.

While many spare conversions are difficult, none are as hard as splits. The 4, 7 and 9-pin split is one such. To convert this split, the ball has to hit the 4-pin thin on its left side so that it takes out the 9. The ball then takes out the 2-pin.

There is very little luck connected with this split. It must be converted by being on-target.

HONORS, INDEED . . .

Those parents of the six students newly admitted to the National Junior Honor Society at Colorado City Junior High should be proud . . . indeed.

And we're glad there is an organization that provides special recognition here for outstanding students who, too often I'm afraid, don't always receive the plaudits they deserve.

So, a special "well done and keep it up" to Leslie Smith, Robert Richardson, Ann Blackard, Glenn Hunter, Charles Egger and Susan Pritchett . . . and their parents, who apparently have a way of rearing fine youngsters.

FFA Work—A Step Upward

Future Farmers of Texas make a big business out of their laboratory experiences in vocational agriculture. Last year 38,000 FFA members in Texas cleared over four million dollars from 102,000 head of livestock, 51,000 acres of crops, and nearly a million head of poultry.

In the classrooms of more than 900 high schools in Texas, these FFA students study scientific agricultural practices as a part of their regular high school curriculum.

When the school day is over, all is not finished for the vocational agriculture student, because he is responsible for his supervised farming program which is supervised by his vocational agriculture teacher. With money he earns from his project, using improved practices he has studied in class, the student launches into the very competitive field of agricultural production where he must use managerial skill as well as labor to show a profit.

But this event of making a profit—turning production into money—at an early age is just one part of the vocational ag program. And that's why the Record this date salutes the Future Farmers of Mitchell County and all Texas for their endeavor in education, leadership and citizenship.

Our salute is with the hope that the FFA program instills in our youth, most of all, an intense desire for education and knowledge about our soils and water and scientific agriculture and responsible management.

Knowledge and dedication to purpose full farming and ranching are the needs of today—the necessity of tomorrow.

In this light, the vocational agriculture student—just as any other high school student—must consider further educational achievements. And that means college.

A college education is worth approximately $100,000 more than a high school education.

According to the U. S. census information, a person with four years of college education can expect to earn in his lifetime approximately $100,000 more than a person with only a high school education. This emphasis, no doubt, will increase as we progress further into the Space Age.

Of course there are many reasons for one obtaining a college education. Increased earning capacity is only one—and perhaps a minor one at that. The fact is, a college education is valuable because it provides a person an opportunity to be of further help to his fellow man, increase his potentials for acquiring and progressing in occupational positions, adds economical security for himself and his family. And, in the case of agriculture, brings knowledge to an industry in a time of crisis.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

Bill Introduced to Make Relatives Support Needy

BY VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

A bill which would make relatives responsible for the welfare of the needy old people has been introduced by Rep. Collier Adams of Lubbock. Patterned after the "Montana Method," the bill calls for contributions to the support of citizens on Old Age Assistance rolls and disabled persons receiving state aid.

The "responsible" relatives could be the assistance recipient's parent, aunt, uncle, niece, nephew, spouse, brother, sister, son, daughter or grandparent.

Proposed law would make a person earning $201 a month and supporting only himself pay $3 a month to ward a relative's care. If he made $376 a month and was supporting two people, he'd have to pay $20.

"I just believe," Representative Adams said, "that the commandment 'Honor thy mother and father' should be upheld." He said he also figures that the most needy people could get larger benefit checks if others received semi-support from their families.

STAMP TAX — as an alternate to sending "the cream of business profits to out-of-state trading stamp companies," Rep. Jim Segrest of San Antonio proposed a 10 percent gross receipts tax on trading stamps.

Trading stamps are the most hated of all competitive weapons by even those who use them—so why not tax such an unhealthy item? Segrest asked.

He said his bill would bring millions to the state treasury as a balance to some fifty million dollars taken out of Texas annually by trading stamp companies.

$18,000,000 PLANT — Governor Connally, who's been determined to make this state a leader in securing new industry, was greatly pleased with the announcement that the Holly Sugar Corporation of Colorado Springs, Colorado, will establish an $18,000,000 sugar beet processing plant in Hereford.

Construction will begin soon, and the 1,700-acre plant is expected to be in operation by September 1, 1964.

"Establishment of this refinery is a big step toward providing new job opportunities for the citizens of Texas," Governor Connally stated in his message.

FUND-RAISING — Sen. Cross Cole of Houston believes the state should keep tabs on all people who raise money for charity.

Many charitable organizations use professional money-raisers to conduct fund campaigns, and Cole proposes that the charities tell Secretary of State Crawford Martin:

1. What sort of deals they have made with their professional money-raisers;

2. What commissions the fund-raisers would get;

3. When solicitations will be held, and what will be done with the money solicited.

Annual reports of licensed organizations would be checked by a certified public accountant. Attorney general would halt the activities of organizations which try to raise cash without registering unless they are exempt from the act.

TOUCHY PROPOSAL — The Texas Legislature has been confronted with the politically touchy proposal of replacing justice of the peace courts with county courts of record.

Rep. Ben Barnes of De Leon offered a proposal constitutional amendment on the subject. He noted, however, that his sponsorship is "by request."

The idea originated in the State Bar of Texas, and has been the subject of controversy both inside and outside the organization.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Maybe Profits Puzzle Everyone

Editor's note: The Shinnery Plains Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek may be misinterpreting a law, but we aren't prepared to say taxes on something I didn't make? Say I lost money four years in a row raising cotton, you mean to say the government couldn't claim I was raising cotton as a hobby?

This is the first time I ever knew there was a law requiring a man to make a profit. If enforcement of this thing spreads, it'll throw agriculture into a tailspin, not to say the penitentiary.

Up to now, farming was one of the few occupations where a man could lose money every year and still stay in business, and I'm appealing to you to use your influence to get Congress to repeal this law at once. Doesn't Washington know I've had a good year when I can show a smaller loss than the year before?

You set out to tell a farmer he has to make a profit or be taxed for his losses and the bottom will fall out of agriculture.

In the mean time, while Congress is getting around to changing this rule, the least Washington can do is to double my government checks, just to keep me inside the law. I'll go along with such an arrangement, and Congress can take its time on the other part.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Theology Along Our Highways

The other day in our topsy-turvy files we ran across this bit of musing by Dean Roy Person of the Andover—Newton Theological School, Newton, Mass.

He entitles 'em as the Ten Commandments of the Highway, and we, at this time, pass the 10 along to you.

Thou shalt hold nothing but thy steering wheel—neither a baby on thy lap nor a babe in thine arms.

Thou shalt not make unto thee a god of thy horsepower.

Thou shalt not take the center lane in vain.

Remember the driver behind, to help him pass thee.

Honor thy father, and thy mother—

and all thine other passengers.

Thou shalt not kill—not even a pedestrian.

Thou shalt not commit inebriated driving.

Thou shalt not steal—not thy neighbor's eyes with thy headlight, nor his ear with thy horn, nor his enjoyment with thy litter.

Thou shalt not bear false witness with thy signals.

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's right of way.

Our only comment is, that since the original 10 Commandments never seemed to be too popular, there is doubt Dean Person's new version has much chance to catch on.

Life With The Rimples

By Les Carroll

SKIN DISORDERS

In the medical profession, there's a saying to the effect that the dermatologist sometimes has the longest draw-out job of any specialist.

This would apply only, of course, to his work with his chronic sufferers from such lingering and often stubborn disorders as acne, eczema, pruritis (an inflammatory itch), dermatitis of the hands, and the like.

Much still has to be learned about the various diseases which affect the skin. Why, for example, does one person walk across a tile locker room floor and "pick up" athlete's foot (a fungus infection), to be followed by a dozen more who do not, and indeed will never have it in their lives?

In part the skin reflects the general health of the carrier. The healthy skin is covered with its own film of a slightly acid protective oil which acts as a barrier against disease from the outside. If this barrier on the hands, let us say, is broken down by poor health or too constant use of strong washing solutions, the skin's own outer layer prey to what ever happens along, fungus, germs, or other contagion. Even long immersion in water can do this, as with soldiers who acquired trench foot.

Care of the skin involves keeping it clean but not literally scrubbed off, carefully dried (or even powdered) after bathing, and washing with soap of a germicide after exposure to infection.

Attack can also come from the inside, and here the problem is also one of the general health. Acne, hives, eczema, fever and sun blister, shingles—all express the body's reaction to some inner chemical problem.

Since a healthy owner usually has the best skin, the best skin care is good hygienic practice—cleanliness, good diet stressing vegetables and protein foods, good habits of elimination, plenty of rest. Since the skin is one of the favorite organs for psychic as well as physical protest, skin disorders are fairly often linked with emotional upsets or stresses not well understood.

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From It's Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers

A little squib in the Sweetwater paper the other day, after noting all the inadequacies and shortcomings of the County-City hospital, wondered "how long it would be before the county did something about it?"

The county, eh?

We wonder how long it will be before the City of Sweetwater does something about it.

We recall that the last time there was an election on a bond issue to provide funds for enlarging and improving the hospital the Times was the only paper in the county that came out and supported the issue, and that the Roscoe box was the only one in the county in which the bond issue carried. Sweetwater voted it down emphatically.

As a matter of fact, in the Roscoe Times is the only place the county ever gets any credit for having anything to do with the hospital except when money is needed. In our columns it is the "County-City Hospital." In others it is the "Simmons Memorial."

But we'll agree the hospital needs money for enlarging and improving. We just wonder how long it will be before the City of Sweetwater and Nolan County do something about our joint responsibility.

—THE ROSCOE TIMES

Student newspapers, such as our own El Sombreno, often surprise adult readers because of their depth of thought and these student publications usually reflect the views of the younger generation.

So it was surprising to learn that the younger, high school generation, in Hereford at least, is worrying about income taxes.

This editorial, written by Jimmie Weathers, says, "The HHS students this year are experiencing a new problem. Many for the first time are paying income tax. This new problem has been mentioned and discussed daily in the halls by some students since returning from the Christmas holidays."

It looks like the younger generation is becoming conscious about income taxes. If enough of them get conscious about it in high school there may be hope that enough people will get worried as adults to finally do something about the situation.

63 OCCUPATIONS INCLUDED

Prison Survey Is Revealing in Data

Eight contractors, three ministers, five school teachers, one dentist, one lawyer and a shoemaker, were among the occupations listed by the 5,608 inmates received in the Texas Department of Corrections during 1962.

According to the Department of Corrections' annual report prepared by J. C. Roberts, chief of records, persons entering the prison system during 1962 listed a total of 63 separate skilled or professional occupations.

Dr. George Beto, Director of the Department of Corrections said:

"It is a sad commentary on our times that more than one-third of the inmates coming to prison last year were listed in the 'miscellaneous occupation' or, in other words, no prior work or employment history or adequate means of earning a livelihood.

The report from the prison records office shows that six counties in the State sentenced forty per cent, or 2,641 of the total number of persons, to prison.

Harris county led all other counties with a total commitment to prison of 893 persons. The other five counties, in order of commitment, are Dallas, with 747; Bexar, with 346; Tarrant, 293; Travis, 192; and El Paso with 170.

Nearly half of the persons received in prison in 1962 were married. The records show that 49 per cent were married, 16 per cent divorced, and 34 per cent single. Less than one per cent were widowed.

Less than five per cent, or 226 of those received in prison last year, were female. The number of males received in prison, or 19 out of every 20 received, was 5,382.

Six of the persons received in prison in 1962 were more than 70 years of age, and 2,365 or 42 per cent were between the ages of 17 and 25.

Forty four per cent, or 2,486 persons received in prison in 1962, were Baptist, 1,297 were Catholic, and 343 were Methodist. Only 414, or less than five per cent of those received, indicated no religious denomination or preference.

According to Roberts' report, there was an increase in the number of white persons committed to prison. In 1962, 57 per cent received were white, 30 per cent Negro and 13 per cent Latin American.

Inmates received in prison in 1962 are from a total of 47 states, (including two from Alaska) and nine foreign countries. More than four thousand are natives of Texas.

One of every three persons received in prison in 1962 were committed for the offense of burglary. Sixteen per cent were sentenced for forgery and passing, and 17 per cent were sentenced for theft. Two hundred and fifty-two were committed for murder, and 393 for robbery or for robbery by assault. One man was sentenced to prison in 1962 for horse theft.

The prison population on January 1st was 12,203, or an increase of 313 over the previous year's total.

MONDAY NIGHT

Den 1, Pack 22 Cub Scouts Graduate At Scout Banquet

Den 1 of Pack 22, Cub Scouts of America were graduated into Boy Scouting at a Cub Scout Banquet Monday night in the First Baptist Church.

The church is sponsor for the pack, headed by cubmaster, George Hudson.

Graduating cub scouts were Brad Henderson, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Thoma Henderson; Kirk Dibble, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Dibble; Bill Crockett, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Crockett, Jr. and Scott Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hudson.

The banquet was attended by the scouts of Pack 22, their families and guests.

Rev. H. W. Bartlett, pastor of First Baptist Church, was guest speaker. He told the group that they would be careful not to grow into "lopsided persons."

"Lopsided persons," he said, "are those who are not whole."

spiritually, mentally or physically. The rules of life were established by God in the Ten Commandments, the Sermon on the Mount and the Golden Rule. It takes a person with a well-trained conscience to make him right with his fellowman and right with God."

Rev. Bartlett told the group that each of us should try to substitute good habits for our bad habits.

"We must think good in order to act good," he said. "A person who lives for happiness alone is lopsided. For happiness is only a by-product of a good life. One who lives for business only is lopsided. One who lives for this life alone is lopsided. For this life is only a preparation for eternal life."

Rev. Bartlett urged the scouts to start work now to develop those characteristics that would make them whole and not lopsided persons.

He closed his talk by quoting, "Let us all earnestly and sincerely endeavor to come into the unity of faith and the knowledge of the son of God and to a perfect man and under the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ."

Each den in the pack decorated a table for the banquet. Programs were shared as scout caps, with the covers of blue and pieces of gold.

Members of Den 2, under the direction of Mrs. W. B. Crockett Jr., decorated their table with the scout colors of blue and gold. Blue and gold crepe paper strips were placed down the center of the table. Places were marked with miniature plaster of paris cub scout paper weights, made by each boy for his family members.

Centerpiece for the Den 2 table was made by arranging gold mums in a scout cap. Blue ribbon was run around the cap.

Mrs. W. M. Franklin directed the decorations for the table used by Den 3. Blue and gold crepe paper centered the table. Places were marked by miniature cub scouts made from pipe cleaners and attached to cards bearing each person's name.

Centerpiece for the table was a miniature cherry tree with the branches tipped with cherry candles. Axes bearing the name of the pack and den were placed under the tree.

Den 4 decorated its table under the direction of Mrs. Carroll Gray. Blue strips of crepe paper was used on the table top, with gold ribbon entwined.

Miniature flags with Den 4 printed on them marked the places. The flags were anchored to nut cups.

Centerpiece was an arrangement of gold candles with miniature scouts at the candle bases.

George Hudson presented awards to the scouts. Scouts of Den 4 and their awards were: David Harder, gold arrow point and 3 silver arrow points; Scott Sherman, wolf badge; David Chinn, wolf badge; George Gray, gold and silver arrow point; and Wayne Banks, gold and silver arrow points.

Den 2 scouts and their awards were: Bruce Crockett, silver arrow point; Mike Wood, 2 silver arrow points; Tommy Stevens, gold arrow point; John Richard Allen, wolf badge and gold and silver arrow points; John Paul Drummond, 2 silver arrow points; and Larry Dearen, silver arrow point.

Wade Franklin of Den 3 was presented his wolf badge.

The Den 1 graduating cubs received buckskins, showing all the medals they had received as cub scouts.

Graduating Cub Scouts

SAYS MRS. MARTIN WEAVER

Peace Corps Designed For Promotion Of Understanding

The Peace Corps is a vital, important international undertaking designed to promote better understanding by sending qualified and able citizens to work side by side with the people in the less-developed countries to help those people to help themselves.

Mrs. Martin Weaver said the members of the Zeta Phi Beta Study Club at their Thursday meeting.

The meeting was in the Terrace Room of the Baker Hotel with Mrs. Brady Warren as hostess. Mrs. Larry Kinard was leader for the program.

Mrs. Weaver told the group that it is our business as responsible, responsive citizens to know the purpose, the aims, the progress and the extent of this international program.

"The Peace Corps was created by presidential order on March 1, 1961, with Secretary Shriver as director," she said. "The United States Congress enacted legislation and in September of 1961, appropriated $30 million for training of the first year of operation. By June 30, 1962, the corps had 23,000 volunteers in training or on overseas duty."

She said that both men and women make up the Peace Corps. She said that some of the members are teachers. She told the group that a some surveyors, farmers and engineers or skilled craftsmen. She also said that these are nurses, home economists and doctors.

"But all these members have one thing in common," she said. "They have chosen to serve their country. They have been called the silent generation. They have come quietly to enlist for 2-year terms of hard work in Africa, Asia, and Latin America. They have come with a spirit of dedication and idealism."

Mrs. Weaver told the members that it was not easy to serve in the Peace Corps. She said that the cost are thorough. The interviews are probing and the training is rigorous. But once accepted, she said, their contribution will have come at a critical hour in the life of the world.

"A college degree is not necessary for corps service," Mrs. Weaver said. "The Peace Corps needs people with practical experience as much as those with academic qualifications. However, in some teaching assignments, a degree is required."

"The Peace Corps wants older adults as well as the young," she said. "The maturity and practical experience older volunteers bring to Peace Corps projects are of immense value. A number of volunteers in their fifties and sixties are currently in training and in the field overseas."

She told the group that a volunteer may apply by writing to the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. for a questionnaire. She said that the questionnaire may also be obtained from congressmen, post offices, colleges, county agents and labor unions.

"The training for the Peace Corps has been divided into two phases," she said. "One in the United States, the other in the host country. The first phase of training is usually building

Pot Roast Is an Excellent Oven Dish

This veal pot roast is delicious and easy to cook, too.

Veal Pot Roast

BY DOROTHY MADDOX
OVEN POT ROAST OF VEAL

- | | |
|--|--|
| 3 tablespoons soft butter | 1/2 teaspoon dried dill weed |
| 1 1/2 tablespoons instant minced onion | 1 tablespoon flour |
| 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder | 1 tablespoon lemon juice |
| 1 teaspoon salt | 4 1/2 pounds boneless, rolled veal pot roast |
| 1/2 teaspoon pepper | |

Blend all ingredients except veal. Wipe pot roast dry; rub seasoned butter over top and sides. Place meat in center of large strip of heavy aluminum foil; bring top edges of foil together lengthwise and fold over twice to seal firmly. Leave meat loosely wrapped to allow enough room for juices to collect during baking. Fold over each end to seal. Place in a shallow roasting pan. Cook in a 400-degree oven for 2 1/2 hours. Open foil; skim fat from juices. Spoon hot meat gravy over each serving.

Latimer Gives Wool Raisers ASC Details

Curtis E. Latimer, chairman of Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation, issued today a reminder to wool growers.

Latimer's statement concerns the 1962 program for payments, to be made this summer, said that payments "will be made on wool and unshorn lambs which are marketed before March 31, 1963."

The county chairman also pointed out that applications for such payments under the 1962 wool program are to be filed before the end of April, 1963.

Information on payment applications, Latimer said, is supported by adequate records on the sales — producers' sales records for shorn wool showing name and address of buyer, date of sale, name and address of producers, net weight of wool sold, and net proceeds to producer after normal market reductions.

Robert Preston, in the title role, unleashes his fast-talking charm on the young children of an Iowa town in this scene from the dazzling Warner Bros. Technicolor presentation of Meredith Willson's "The Music Man," opening Sunday at the Palace Theatre.

"THE MUSIC MAN" OPENS AT PALACE

"76 Trombones" Is Show Stopper

"Seventy-Six Trombones," the foot-stomping musical wonder of the Warner Bros. motion picture presentation of Meredith Willson's "The Music Man," opening Sunday at the Palace Theatre, may be the show-stoppingest song of all time.

During the second act, New York stage run of "The Music Man" at 10:30, two minutes past nine every evening, a distinctive wave of sound passed its way out of the tightly closed doors of the Music Box Theatre and rolled down west 45th Street.

The musical phenomenon of the "Seventy-Six Trombones" has been the subject of many articles in the street and the city who sold prayers, the first cards at the corner knew unmistakably what was up. Robert Preston had just finished the first chorus of "Seventy-Six Trombones."

By applause by stalling feet and by unabashed cheering, the audience was cheering more. On an average evening, three choruses of the rousing march might be enough to get the show moving again. There were even some extra choruses went to four of five.

Preston gave his classic portrayal of Professor Harold Hill, the combination Pied

Piper and con artist called the music man—a fabulous 882 times on Broadway. The electric hold of the song on audiences elicited some 2700 on

Preston gives his 882nd portrayal of Hill in the resplendent Technicolor Technicolor presentation of "The Music Man."

With its overpowering record of record, Producer-Director Morton Da Costa has built what he hopes is a sufficient number of choruses into the film. DeCosta had also staged the Broadway show.

What is it about "Seventy-Six Trombones" that brings people to a peak of soaring happiness, inspired by no other show tune of recent memory? Part of the answer is the creative genius of Meredith Willson, who wrote the music and lyrics. It is a superbly stirring march tune expressing joy and hope and nostalgic delight. Part of the answer is the classic artistry of Preston, who brings to the song the exuberant drive and magic of personality that make his whole performance a stunning tour de force.

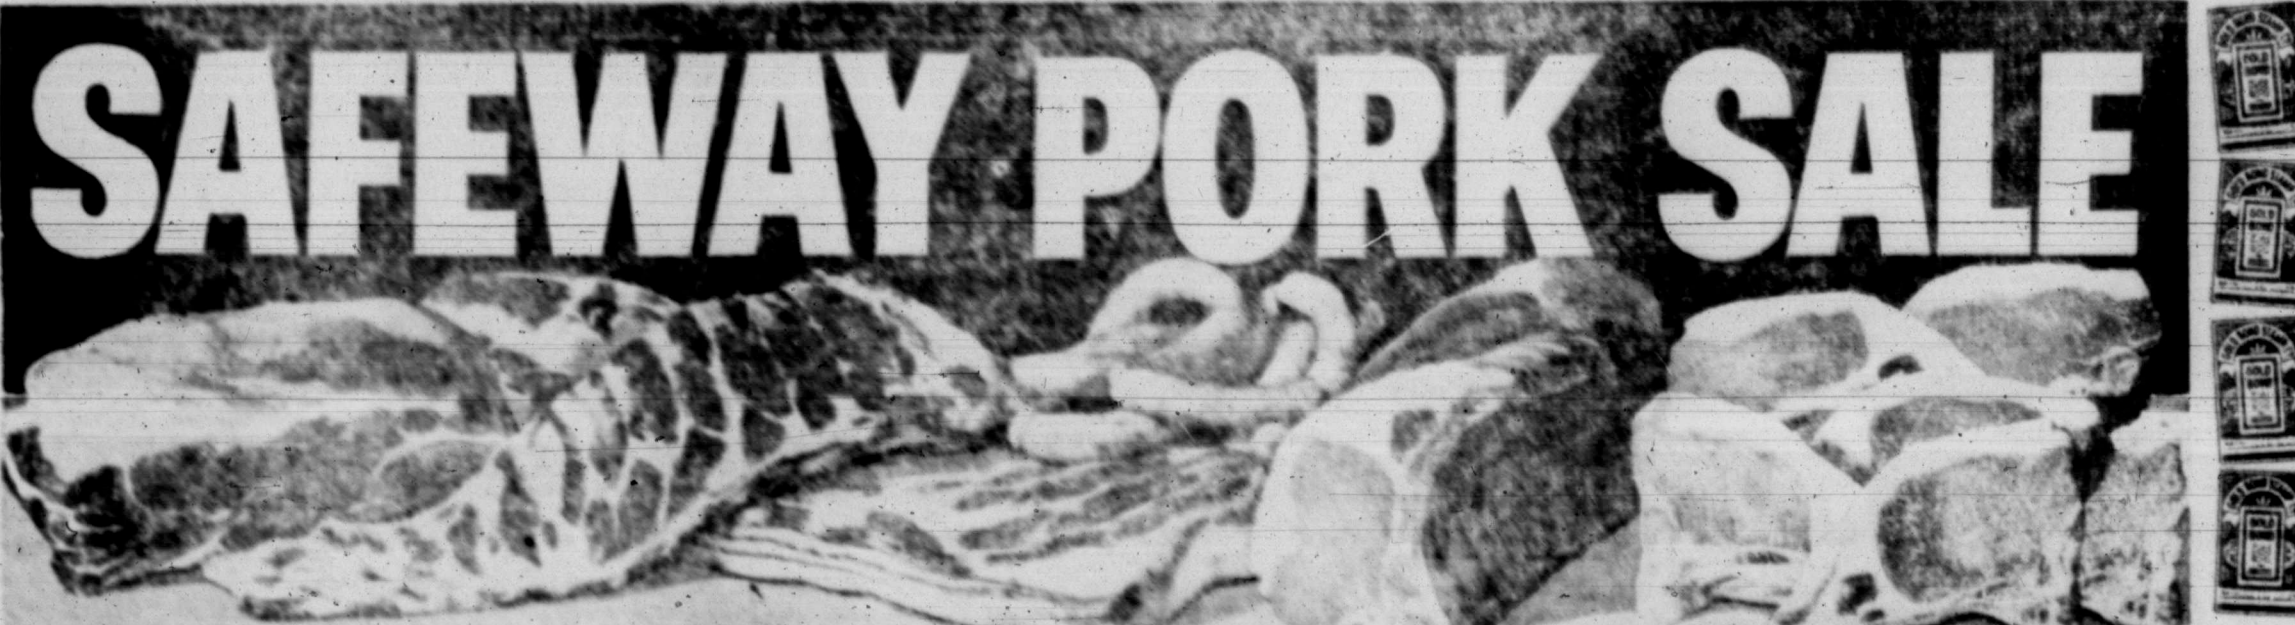

"Seventy-Six Trombones" is sung by Preston as the opening gun in his boyhood sell.

THURSDAY NIGHT

Country Club Has Valentine Dance

The Colorado City Country Club held its annual Valentine Dance at the club Thursday night.

Mrs. Bill Hudson and Mrs. Jim Maddox were hostesses for the dance.

Music was furnished by the Dwight Tomb Combo.

Mrs. Bill Craig headed the decorations committee. Members of the committee were Meses John Shimer, Jr., Jerry Kennedy and Maddox.

The club house was decorated in the Valentine motif. Red and white crepe paper swirls framed the doorways, with cupid's and hearts hanging from the swirls.

The bandstand was backed by a large paper heart fastened to the wall. Styrofoam hearts covered with red glossy paper hung from the ceiling over the bandstand.

A red dimensional heart was featured on the mantle, flanked by red candles placed on white dollies.

A mesquite tree hung with red hearts and green pine needles stood in one corner of the ballroom.

The refreshment table was covered with a white net bouffant cover over white satin. Red and white hearts were fastened around the edge of the tabletop.

A crystal and silver bowl with four red candles held the centerpiece of peppermint carnations and greenery. Silver appointments were used.

Library News

The following is a list of new books just received at the Federation Library. They are available, by request, from Mrs. Boyd-Bozler, librarian.

"THE WITCH OF MANGA REVA." Garland Roark (Doubleday). A wild and crackling tale of Captain Jason Hind's search for pearls just off Manga Reva, an island ruled by a priest-dictator where a "witch" spends her life in mad adventures.

"DEAD AGAINST MY PRINCIPLES." Kenneth Hopkins (Holt, Rinehart and Winston). A humorous but exciting mystery in which three Oxford sleuths, ages eighty-one, seventy-nine, and eighty, set out to find out how Simon Blunt's body had no scar from his appendectomy — if it was his body.

"ALL THE TEA IN CHINA." Katherine Tegen (Macmillan). Eighteen-year-old Emily tells the funny but heart-breaking story of her older sister, Eleanor. Six years ago El had married handsome, aggressive Mike, who, her parents hoped, would "make something" of El. But all he did was to push her over the limit of endurance.

"AN ANSWER FROM LIMBO." Brian Moore (Atlantic-Little, Brown). As poignant as "The Lonely Passion of Judith Hearne." Brendan Tierney, who hopes he is a novelist, sends for his mother to come from Ireland to New York to baby-sit while his wife, Jane, gets a job and he writes. Jane and Mrs. Tierney are of different worlds, so the arrangement leads to ultimate tragedy.

"BY THE KING'S COMMAND." Shirley Seifert (Lippincott). Charles V of Spain had ordered the entire town of Las Alcazar, in eighteenth-century Texas, to move to San Antonio, 700 miles away. To these hopeless people, wealthy Don Antonio became guide, friend, counselor and protector.

"THE CHURCH AND THE REALITY OF CHRIST." John Knox (Harper). The central issues of the Christian faith — the identity of Jesus, his teachings, the meaning of belief in Him, and other significant topics — are considered and explained.

"TOO HOT TO HANDLE." Desmond A. Barry with John E. Roscoe (Doubleday). How the owner of a trucking firm in Texas refused to surrender to the teamsters' union and soon found his small business pitted against Labor, other truckers, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the NLRB, and the world in general. He tells of his fight and of its effects.

"ANTARCTICA: LAND OF FROZEN TIME." Roger A. Garas (Chilton). The forces of modern technology are now uncovering secrets long hidden in the Antarctic. Here is the fascinating account of its known history, its animal life, the men who have explored the frozen land, the studies of the IGY, and the unusual equipment developed for modern research. Illustrated.

"THE CHINA GOVERNOR." Margery Allingham (Doubleday). Turk Street, "the wickedest street in London," had been destroyed in the war and new apartments had been built there. Then someone smashed up everything in one apartment and wrote "Let the past bury its dead" on the mirror. What connection could there be between this, young Tim Kinnit, who might have come from Turk Street as a baby, and the Staffordshire figure of "Miss Thyrza's chair," the statuette of a governess charged with murder long ago? It took Albert Campion to find it.

Parliamentary Quiz Given To Carr Club

Mrs. Don Henderson, president of the Carr Home Demonstration Club, directed the Friday meeting program on "Parliamentary Law."

Mrs. Henderson asked the members true and false questions about parliamentary procedure. Questions that the members could not answer, were reviewed by Mrs. Henderson.

Mrs. Bill Reese was elected to serve as a delegate to the District Home Demonstration Convention to be held April 18 in Lubbock.

A letter was read from the extension department, informing the club that the next program formerly planned would be presented March 15 in the Medallion Room of the Lone Wolf Electric Building.

The members voted to contribute to the March of Dimes and to continue contributing to a scholarship fund for a worthy student.

Next meeting will be March 15 in the home of Mrs. Charlie Buchanan. Mrs. Cricket Taylor will direct the program on "Wardrobe Planning."

ing swindle. To stir the pride of River City's citizens, he interrupts a pageant to sing and strut his golden recollection of that glorious morning in his own youth when five of the land's greatest bands came to town.

The march is then magnificently reprised as the film's finale when Preston leads the entire town, 150 bandmen, 40 dancers, 25 principals and 500 extras—in a high-stepping parade through the streets and parks of River City. Da Costa devoted four weeks to rehearsing and filming the parade sequence with the assistance of choreographer Ona White and Tommy Walker, on loan from Disneyland where he is head of talent and entertainment.

Shirley Jones stars opposite Preston as Marian, the librarian. The role marks her first since winning the Academy Award for Best Performance by an Actress in a Supporting Role for her portrayal in "Elmer Gantry."

Buddy Hackett, as Preston's accomplice in the would-be boys band swindle, Hermione Gussick, as the vinegary wife of the mayor, Paul Ford as the mayor, and the Buffalo Bill recreating their stage roles, are costarred in "The Music Man."

It was held in the Col-Tex Club building. Huge fishing nets hung from the ceiling to the floor from one wall to the opposite wall. Three-dimensional palm trees were placed around the room. loon and sea shells were hung. Low tables were used with the guests seated on pillows.

Centerpieces were candles in bottles. The tables were covered with white cloths, with ivy and leis down the edges. The head table held a polynesian centerpiece of artificial white baby orchids surrounded with seashells, revolving colored lights. Programs were printed in Hawaiian. Guests wore informal polynesian dress; muumuu, grass skirts and beach combers.

Gene Bates, vice president of the band, presented the invocation. Gary Gresham welcomed the guests.
