Kansas Wheat Hit By Virus Disease

(By The United Press)

TOPEKA, Kan., May 17 — A mysterious virus disease in wheat was creeping today over the state that regularly produces one-fourth of the nation's total crop of bread grain.

As much as 50 percent of the winter wheat crop in Lane and Scott counties appeared to have been hit by "western wheat mosaic."

A. B. Erhart, superintendent of the Garden City state agricultural experiment station, said that in the western section, whole fields of wheat had been plowed under after being ravaged by the disease.

Heavy Damage Seen

If the disease continues to spread, he said, damage to this year's wheat may exceed $50,000,000.

But Erhart and other experts, said the virus may have "run its course."

The disease has struck wheat in the western third of the state from the Nebraska to the Oklahoma borders. Some damage has also been reported in eastern Colorado.

Erhart said that in his section some fields appeared to be recovering from the virus.

"If they continue to recover," he said, "the damage may be considerably less than $50,000,000. On the other hand, if the disease continues to spread and becomes stronger, the damage could be more."

Disease Is Sutdied

Government offices here estimated that 1,000,000 acres of wheat have been planted in the western third of the state.

New Father Pays Doctor In Dimes

Dimes mount up in a hurry when a person saves every dime received in change, a new father, Milton Ray of 2316 Twenty-first, pointed out this morning.

Following birth of a daughter, NaWana Francene, at 1 p. m. Sunday in West Texas hospital, Ray paid the doctor's bills entirely from dimes saved. He had money left over.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray have saved $100 in dimes since May 3, 1948. Ray placed the 1,000th dime in the collection of dimes just before taking his wife to the hospital.

Six Sentenced In Court Here

Two Lubbock men, three Slaton men and one man from Minnesota were sentenced or fined in Federal court yesterday.

Lawrence Bunton, Lubbock negro, was given 18 months on each of two counts to run consecutively. Bunton was charged with having stolen and cashed checks that were sent through the mails. The alleged thefts took place in his neighborhood where he krew the recipients of government checks.

Joseph A. Melot, Lubbock, was sentenced under the Dyer act which covers the theft of automobils in interstate transportation. The imposition of Melot's sentence was withheld under suspension for a period of three years.

Given Year And Day

James A. Daughrty, Minnesota, was also charged under the Dyer act. Daugherty was sentenced to prison for one year and one day.

The three Slaton mn were indicted for breaking into railroad cars with intent to steal and sell stolen merchandise. Two of the men, Joseph D. Clary and Charles D. Brouse were employes of the Santa Fe railroad. It is alleged that the two men would scan the way bills and note the contents of cars coming into the Slaton freight depot. Then one of them would have the car sidetracked for inspection. The other man would do the inspecting.

The two men admitted that for a period of time they had obtained whisky and other alcoholic

Two Killed In Auto Wreck Near Bronte

SWEETWATER, May 17. (UP)—Two persons were killed and a third critically hurt in a car wreck near Bronte last night.

Marjorie Anderson and Travis Dickey, both 24-year-old Sweetwater residents, were killed instantly when their automobile overturned eight miles south of Bronte.

Robert Rice, also of Sweetwater, was hospitalized with a broken back, crushed chest and other severe injuries.

Talks On New Coal Contract Are Asked

PITTSBURGH, May 17. (AP)—U. S. Steel Corp. today announced receipt of a letter from John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine workers in which he "offered to meet" on a new coal contract.

A spokesman for "big steel" said the letter was received by Harry Moses, president of the H. C. Frick Coke Co., a subsidiary. In the past Moses has been a principal figure in negotiations between the UMW and the steel companies which own coal mines.

The U. S. Steel spokesman said he had no further information. Moses was not immediately available for comment.

AUSTIN, May 17 (AP)—Rep. A. J. Vale of Rio Grande City jockeyed a horse racing bill onto the floor of the House today—but he got left at the post.

The House voted 68-32 not to let him introduce it.

Vale had said he had a livestock bill to introduce and the House gave him permission to do so without discussion. Twenty minutes later some members caught on to what the bill did and reconsidered what they had done.

The bill would have set up a Texas horse racing commission, legalize horse racing and provide for pari-mutuel betting.

Three Injured At Stratford; Farmer Killed

Rain, Hail Storm Precedes Twister; Homes Destroyed

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, May 17—A tornado swept through the northern tip of the Texas Panhandle last night, lashed into Oklahoma and killed a farmer, seven miles west of Guymon.

The tornado, first reported near Dalhart, Tex., slammed northeastward through the wheat-rich Panhandle, injured three persons at Stratford, Tex., and then went on into Oklahoma. The body of James Johnston, 72, bachelor farmer, was found in the wreckage of his home today.

Neighbor Found Body

A neighbor, Jess Jones, found the body. Johnston's home was situated about midway between Goodwell, Okla., and Guymon.

The Amarillo Globe-News said the tornado swept near Texhoma, on the Texas-Oklahoma border. Then it crossed into Oklahoma, crossed U. S. highway 54, and cut south of Guymon.

The twister caused considerable property damage as it tore through the Texas Panhandle.

The injured were at Stratford, about 26 miles northeast of Dalhart, where two homes were destroyed.

Hurt were Mrs. Emory Blake, Mrs. Fred Austin and her daughter, Miss Leona Austin.

Hit Near Dalhart

At Amarillo, Mrs. E. W. Marrs, 41, died today, the fifth victim of a tornado which tore a path of destruction through this Panhandle city Sunday night.

The tornado last night struck the farm home of Victor McRee, eight miles east of Dalhart, damaging the house and tearing up outbuildings and farm machinery. That was at 10:30 p. m.

Thirty minutes later, the black twister hit the northwest edge of Stratford.

There had been a rain and hailstorm.

Suddenly the storm let up and there was momentary silence. Then the tornado struck with a terrific roar.

The homes of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Blake and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Austin were demolished.

Farm Property Damaged

Mrs. Blake suffered shock, cuts and bruises. She was brought to an Amarillo hospital.

It was not learned immediately the extent of Miss Leona Aus-

Storm Jitters Sweep Plains

Uneasy nerves of people who have seen enough rain apparently were causing widespread anxiety on the South Plains today as storms swept the area.

Scattered thunderstorms—some of them intense—were reported in spots over the South Plains. But other reports of heavy damage appeared to be without foundation.

FLASH FLOOD AT RALLS

RALLS, May 17 (Special)—A "flash flood" brought 2.81 inches of rain to Ralls in a downpour between 1 and 2 p. m., P. B. Ralls said at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The area hit was small and no damage to wheat resulted, Mr. Ralls said. The cloud passed on east from Ralls. "I live on Tilford avenue, but it's Flood avenue now," Mr. Ralls said. Light hail caused no damage, he added.

Rain Is Reported

A two-inch rain northwest of Shallowater resulted from a torrential cloudburst over a small area. Simultaneously, three ambulances speeding from Lubbock to the scene of a wreck west of Shallowater apparently started untrue stories of a tornado and cloudburst.

Similarly, in Lubbock early this afternoon reports were heard that Matador was the scene of a 10-inch rain and flood. Mrs. Douglas Meador of Matador said only a light shower had been received at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

A small area near Tahoka also received heavy showers, but Tahoka itself remained relatively dry with only a shower during the morning, said County Judge Tom Garrard of Lynn county.

Tornado Forecast Heard

Probably the fastest-spreading rumor of the current wet weather siege was that of Monday afternoon which had it that an Indian had predicted a tornado would strike Lubbock Monday night. There appeared to be no one who had first-hand knowledge of who the Indian was or where or when

Snub Is Given Party In Vote In East Zone

Communist Chiefs Are Shocked Over Ballot Returns

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, May 17—Eastern Germany has dealt Communism a smashing blow in Soviet-controlled territory. Official figures in the people's congress election showed today a surprising snub by a third of the voters.

Of 12,624,221 valid ballots, 4,080,272 were marked "No."

The Communists had hoped to roll up a virtually solid "yes" vote for their hand-picked single slate of candidates, so that they could go to the foreign ministers conference in Paris next week with a government for Eastern Germany which would match that of the West.

Returns Are Withheld

So shocked were the Communist officials that election returns were withhld 20 hours after the polls closed, and the Soviet-controlled press cried double cross at their political allies in the eastern zone.

There were 12,833,071 persons eligible to vote. Of these 12,887,234 cast ballots, or 95.2 per cent. The valid ballots totalled 12,024,221.

This was the vote:

Yes: (In favor of the hand-picked single slate) 7,943,949, or 66.1 per cent

No: 4,080,272, or 33.9 per cent.

Amarillo Thanks Lubbock For Proffered Help

Throughout today The Avalanche-Journal has received numerous phone calls from Lubbock citizens suggesting that the newspapers take the lead in collecting a fund here to aid the victims of the Amarillo tornado.

The Avalanche-Journal contacted Gene Howe, publisher of the Amarillo Globe-News, whose newspaper is collecting such a fund and offered to aid by staging a drive here.

"That's a wonderful spirit on the part of Lubbock," Mr. Howe said, "and it will be greatly appreciated by everyone in Amarillo to learn of Lubbock's sentiments. However, we in Amarillo are not asking help from our good neighbors in nearby cities. We are going to be able to take care of ourselves. Please thank the good Lubbock citizens for all of us and tell them we appreciate, more than we can say, their thinking of us in our troubles."

In keeping with Amarillo's wishes, The Avalanche-Journal will not spearhead a drive. However, any Lubbock or South Plains people who insist upon helping may send their donations to the Tornado Relief Fund, care of the Globe-News, Amarillo, Texas.

Cancer Victim Worried About His Family

Death May Cheat Gainesville Man Out Of Vacation On Lake

(By The Associated Press)

DENISON, May 17—Death may cheat Gainesville's W. W. Brown out of his vacation at Lake Texoma. The 51-year-old Gainesville man, seriously ill with cancer, was sent to a hospital last Thursday. Earlier, doctors had given him but six months to live.

Brown's Texoma vacation came as a result of his writing a letter in a recent contest sponsored by the Lake Texoma Sportsman's club.

"I'd like to spend the rest of my life on Texoma," wrote Brown, "and I only have six months to live."

Brown was given a special award of a week's paid vacation on the lake at Errie Zink's Island View camp. Brown wrote that he would like to take it in June "so my family could be with me."

Unlike Oklahoma City's Mrs. Heart, Brown has no $10,000 to spend during his remaining days. First a motorcycle cop, then a creamery employe, and for the past 11 years custodian of the Gaines-

OFFICER RETURNS FROM GERMANY

Gen. Clay Awarded Decoration By HST

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 17—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, retiring American military commander in Germany, returned home today and received from President Truman a decoration for services "of supreme value to his country and to humanity."

At a White House ceremony, Mr. Truman awarded Clay a second oak leaf cluster in lieu of a third Distinguished Service medal.

The citation read by the President said the retiring military governor in Germany, "added new and imperishable luster to his record."

Officials Present

Clay, the citation went on, "proved himself not only a soldier in the finest tradition of our American arms," but also "a statesman of the highest order—firm, courageous, dedicated to the cause of peace."

The President spoke from the rose garden of the White House where upwards of 150 notables and virtually the entire White House clerical staff were gathered to honor the general.

In the crowd were diplomats, the cabinet, members of the Senate and House and just about everyone else of importance in government.

The plane bringing him and Mrs. Clay from Berlin landed at the National airport at 8:13 a. m. (CST).

Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson and top-ranking Army, Navy and Air Force officers greeted Clay at the airport.

A 17-gun salute awaited him, as did a White House reception and a rousing welcome in the House of Representatives, where he was scheduled to speak this afternoon.

On the other side of the capitol, the Senate had before it President Truman's recommendation that Clay wind up his 31-year Army career with his temporary rank of full general made permanent. The 52-year-old officer climaxed his long service with the successful Berlin airlift.

He stepped down from his post with the expressed wish to "go back to Marietta, Ga., and go catfishing."

Wallgren Nomination Withdrawn By Truman

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — President Truman today gave up on his effort to install Mon C. Wallgren as chairman of the national security resources board.

He announced he is withdrawing the nomination from the Senate. It had been pigeon-holed there by the armed services committee.

French Reds Said Planning Strike During Paris Talks

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, May 17—Some government circles said today they believe French Communists are quietly planning a strike offensive to coincide with the start of four-power talks on Germany here May 23.

The strikes, they said, probably will be aimed at public utilities and transport, including the railways and the Paris subways.

A 24-hour strike hit gas plants in the Paris region yesterday, and the tieup may spread through France today, crippling industrial plants as Parliament returns to session.

Many observers believe Premier Henri Queuille's middle-road coalition government, which has survived for eight months, is in for trouble. The black market in money, usually a good barometer, supported that belief. Gold prices, the dollar, pound sterling and Swiss franc were rising, which often indicates some shakiness in France. It well could show concern over the host of problems Parliament has on its hands, and over the cabinet' ability to ride out a storm.

The government reportedly faces a deficit of 80 billion francs ($234,000,000). Finance experts have been wrestling with this big problem for weeks, and the cabinet is expected to complete today a plan to solve it. Tax increases would be bound to stir up trouble.

Another critical issue is that of financing the war with nationalists in Indo-China. The government faces a request for money to carry the fight through three more months.

Parliament also will have the debate the North Atlantic alliance. A Communist attack on the pact is being shaped on the line it is an "obstacle put up by Americans to France's trade with eastern Europe.

A Catholic member has demanded a debate on whether France should retain Communist Frederick Joliot-Curie as head of her atomic research commission.

The western policy in Germany also is to get an airing.

The broad international issues are touchy enough, but far less a threat to the cabinet than domestic issues. The critical point ahead probably is the matter of how to pull the country's finances out of the red.

Eisler Bonds Are Forfeited

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — The $20,000 bonds posted by Communist Gerhart Eisler in two criminal cases today were declared forfeited by the U. S. district court here.

At the same time the court issued a bench warrant for Eisler's arrest, as a person ineligible for further freedom on bail while the cases are pending. The actions involve contempt of Congress and passport fraud.

To Seek Extradition

The government plans to use the warrant issued today as a principal exhibit in getting Eisler extradited from England, where he fled as a stowaway on the Polish ship Batory.

U. S. District Judge James W. Morris entered the orders in the local court in response to a series of motions offered by the United States government through William Hitz, assistant U. S. attorney for the District of Columbia.

Hitz prosecuted Eisler in the two criminal cases in 1947. Judge Morris was the presiding jurist then. The trials resulted in sentences of one year and $5,000 fine for contempt of Congress and one to three years for falsifying information on an application for an exit visa.

There was discussion, too, of adding a new charge of the series against Eisler: "Departing the court."

Chiropractor Claims That He Can Cure Achoo's

London Schoolboy's Sneezing Fit In Tenth Day; Hypnotist, Faith Healer Fail To Help

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 17 — The London schoolboy who can't stop sneezing still can't stop. But an Indianapolis educated chiropractor has him in hand and says he can cure the achoo's for good.

Michael Hippisley, 14, has sneezed about every three seconds for ten days, except when he's asleep from drugs or exhaustion.

Leslie W. D. Jelfs, the chiropractor, entered the case Monday night.

He said today he has already eased the sneezes.

Michael wandered around Jelfs's big apartment and office, sneezing quietly and regularly into a series of white handerchiefs.

His own verdict, expressed to a reporter while Jelfs was out of the room: "I think I'm a little better."

Mike's parents called in Jelfs when doctors, a hypnotist, a faith healer and sundry telephoned suggestions from well-wishers had left Mike still sneezing.

Jelfs said Mike has had sneezes and hay fever since he was three.

"Probably had a fall or a severe bump when he was small," he said.

That, said Jelfs, knocked six neck joints of his spine too far to the right, pinching some nerves and causing irritation in the nose. He says X-ray pictures prove the point.

To cure the sneezes, he will have to get the neck bones lined up straight again. He won't say how long that may take, because, he says, the muscles have shrunk on one side and stretched on the other. To cure the sneezes, they'll

3 Die, Others Missing After 12-Inch Rains

Fort Worth Water Supply Cut; Grim Warning Sounded

(By The Associated Press)

Three persons were drowned and at least three others were missing in a flood at Fort Worth today.

Fort Worth was a city without drinking water as the rampaging Trinity river boiled over viaducts and knocked out levees in four major breaks.

Homes and shanties swirled with the flood.

Rains Over 12 Inches

Rains measuring up to more than 12 inches pounded the Fort Worth area last night.

A major flood was forecast for the Dallas area for Wednesday and the weather bureau warned residents of lowlands to leave their homes.

In Central Texas, E. C. Allison, jr., of Hico, drowned today when his heavy truck crashed through a rain-weakened bridge over the Bosque river, three miles west of Hico.

One of the bodies recovered at Fort Worth today was that of a 16-year-old youth, found near Liberator village. Another was that of a 60-year-old white woman, recovered at a bridge. A negro woman's body was found at a grade crossing.

Body Found In Park

A man's body was reported floating in Forest park.

Dee Patterson, about 70, a Fort Worth city water works employe, was believed drowned by Sycamore creek flood waters. Rescuers said they found his body and tried to haul it into a boat. But the boat capsized and Patterson disappeared, they said.

Mrs. Ira Adams said her husband and her mother, Mrs. Josa Kent, 80, were carried off by flood waters while she watched helplessly.

"Mther did not have a chance," said she. "She could not even swim."

Mrs. Adams said she heard her husband call—saw him holding onto a tree limb—then "I did not see him again."

Water Grave Problem

The city's water situation presented the gravest problem. City Manager Jones said all pumps, the filter plant and all other equipment at the Holly pump station were under water. Two or three days might be required to resume full operations.

He said the plant's old standby, a steam pump, would go into operation some time today. He added that the old pump can handle only a fraction of the city's needs.

The Lone Star Gas company said some of its mains were washed out.

Schools were closed at Fort Worth.

Kenedale addition in Fort Worth had 12.08 inches of rain. Meadowbrook near Fort Worth recorded 9.96, Meacham field in Fort Worth 6.03, and Dallas 5.43 inches. Carrollton, north of Dallas, had 6.62 inches.

Every river, creek and arroyo was flooded in the two cities, lowlying residential areas inundated, underpasses clogged.

Above Flood Stage

The Trinity at Dallas already had reached 30 feet, two feet above flood stage, by mid-morning and the boiling, debris-filled waters were still rising. Levees were expected to protect the new industrial section on the Trinity bottoms at Dallas. At Fort Worth, the west fork of the Trinity was at 27.1 feet, three above flood stage.

Severe lightning accompanied the storm, but there were no reports of damaging wind.

The storm front which hit Fort Worth and Dallas was the same as that which sent a skipping, lashing tornado through Amarillo in the Panhandle Sunday night, killing four persons and injuring 83.

The storm front was moving slowly eastward. Although there were no reports of high ground winds at Dallas and Fort Worth, airline pilots said there was unusually strong "turbulence" aloft.

Fort Worth's city water was cut off after the principal pumping station was inundated. The Arlington Heights area and northern Fort Worth were cut off from the rest of the city at intervals by the overflowing Trinity and its tributaries.

Three levees were washed out at Fort Worth, flooding four major residential areas. Fort Worth's city schools were closed until further notice because of the shutdown of city water.

At Dallas, flood waters made several underpasses impassable. The Trinity river, normally low, was swollen to its levees where it threads through the town. Police

Three Injured In Highway Collision

James G. Lancaster, 57, of 2520 Ruby, today suffered a fractured left hip in a two-car collision four miles northwest of Shallowater on the Lubbock-Littlefield highway.

Three other persons involved in the accident escaped serious injury.

An investigating highway patrolman said the collision apparently was the result of wet slippery pavement.

Lancaster was driving a northbound 1948 Pontiac sedan at about 8 a. m. when an oncoming 1949 Chevrolet pickup truck driven by Buck Roundtree, of Littlefield, swerved across the slippery highway.

The two vehicles hit a glancing blow as the pickup attempted to pull back to the right side of the road.

Lancaster and two passengers in his automobile, his wife and her uncle, John D. Hodges of Turpin, Okla., were brought to St. Mary's hospital by Bryan McDonald & Son Funeral home ambulance.

In addition to his fractured hip, Lancaster suffered cuts and bruises. Hodges had only minor injuries, hospital attendants said.

Informal Loan Bid By Spain Rejected

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — The United States has rejected—at least for the present—Spain's informal bid for a multi-million dollar loan.

Officials in a position to know said today that the government's export-import bank and the state department have informed a visiting Spanish representative that Spain's present economic situation makes her a poor credit risk.

Atlantic Pact Measure To Get Slow Action; China Aid Asked

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — Administration leaders today decided to move slowly on the $4,130,000,000 program for re-arming North Atlantic Pact nations while watching closely the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Paris.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate foreign relations committee and Democratic leader Lucas (Ill) agreed there is no pressing need at this time for quick action.

They gave a reporter their views as Senator Knowland (R-Calif) disclosed a group of Republicans will try to get $200,000,000 in military aid for China's battered Nationalist forces.

Knowland said the China aid will be tacked on to the $1,450,000,000 total which the administration proposes for the pact nations plus Greece and Turkey.

Enough Votes Seen

"I think we'll get enough votes on the Senate floor to put the China aid in the foreign military program," Knowland said.

The foreign relations committee is near the end of hearings on ratification of the Atlantic treaty. A total of 13 witnesses were scheduled during the day—all of them opposed to the treaty and arms program.

The committee hopes to wind up the hearings Wednesday.

Connally said it might be well to "let the arms program simmer for a while" before bringing it before the Senate for debate.

"I think it would be a good thing to see how the foreign ministers get along in Paris on their negotiations on the German question," he added.

Connally indicated the outcome of the Paris talks may determine with what speed the Senate acts on the arms program. The talks start Monday.

Report Next Week

Earlier, Connally and other administration leaders had shown a desire to get Senate approval of the treaty and arms program as quickly as they could—possibly by July 1.

Connally did not say whether his decision to move slowly reflected the thinking of the State department.

The foreign relations committee expects to have a report on its treaty hearings early next week. And the pact may be brought up for ratification when the Senate disposes of the bill to extend reciprocal trade agreements.

The treaty—which requires a two-thirds vote of the Senate to become effective—is expected to get top-heavy approval.

The arms program is another matter. Several influential senators from both parties either oppose it or are withholding support at this time.

LOOKING FOR A HOME? — The world's largest private housing development — 5000 homes — is rapidly nearing completion at Puerto Nuevo, on the outskirts of San Juan, Puerto Rico. Started little more than a year ago, 3500 dwellings have already been completed by L. D. Long, Charleston, S. C., builder. Each concrete house has five rooms and bath and sells, on the average, at $4,000. This is the first of several low-cost projects designed to relieve the housing shortage in overcrowded Puerto Rico.

Love-Life In Germ World May Explain Resistance To Drugs

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CINCINNATI, May 17 — Love-life in the germ world may be the key to why certain microbes develop resistance to powerful drugs like streptomycin, some scientists theorized today.

They offer that interpretation to a report made by Dr. Joshua Lederberg of the University of Wisconsin in the 49th annual meeting of the Society of American bacteriologists.

Lederberg reported evidence that at least one form of bacteria can produce itself sexually, just as animals and man do.

Significance Given

This is at variance with the long-held concept that microbes reproduce themselves only by cell division—that is, a given germ divides in two to produce two offsprings without the aid of a sexual partner.

Some scientists who heard the report said the significance was this:

1. The work offers a possible explanation as to why a certain germ —such as the tuberculosis bacillius —becomes resistant to streptomycin after a time in certain cases of the disease.

The explanation might well be, they said, that germs which are themselves sensitive to the drug can produce, before they are overcome, offspring that are too tough for the medicine.

Studies May Be Speeded

2. The research opens up widespread possibilities of speeding studies on heredity.

Such genetic research, they said, is now largely done with the aid of fruit flies, which require months for a given problem because it takes that time for reproduction.

In contrast, they said, bacteria multiply in from 18 to 48 hours.

Doctor Lederberg reported on studies employing an organism called "escherichia coli"—a germ commonly found in the intestinal tract and is not necessarily a cause of any sickness.

Ordinarily, he said, this germ causes lactose—the familiar sugar found in milk—to ferment in the test tube.

But he found that when certain combinations of this coli germ were placed in test tubes together, a strain was produced which failed to ferment the lactose—indicating the production of an offspring which was different from either of the original types.

Lost Perfume Found In Child's Stomach

DALLAS, May 17 (AP)—Vickie Joyce Henry, 3, had a tiny bottle of perfume for her doll. Last November the bottle disappeared.

An X-ray picture found it today—lodged near the bottom of Vickie's stomach, in front of it an open safety pin.

"I noticed one day the perfume had disappeared. I thought Vickie had lost it," said her mother, Mrs. Oleta Henry.

Last week Mrs. Henry noticed Vickie was bleeding internally.

She will go to surgery Friday to get the bottle and pin out. Other ways have failed.

Nurses have to watch Vickie. She nearly swallowed a toy saucer out of a doll play house the kids at the hospital use. Today she tried to eat a paper flower from a basket she had as she posed for pictures. And she cries to go home.

Lawyer In Spy Case Rapped By Judge, Yells For A New Trial

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — Judith Coplon's talkative attorney in her espionage trial has been told to quit some of his talking.

He didn't like Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves saying that one bit.

In fact, Archibald Palmer made the judge's comment the basis for a motion for a mistrial. Like three previous ones, it was denied promptly.

The flare-up occurred late Monday while Palmer was questioning an FBI agent, John P. Daley, about following Miss Coplon in New York Feb. 21.

"So far as I am concerned," Judge Reeves told Palmer, "there is no suspicion concerning her on that day. We're going to stop that line of questioning."

No More Questions

Palmer asked whether that meant he could ask no questions about Feb. 21.

"You must not ask any more questions about Feb. 21," the judge replied. "That is a waste of time."

Palmer objected. "I ask a mistrial," he shouted.

Judge Reeves, indicating increasing impatience over the slowness of the trial, cut off Palmer repeatedly. "That's immaterial here," he kept saying.

Palmer tried to show that the FBI keeps a watchful eye on headquarters of the Russian U. N. delegation on Park Avenue. He asked Martin F. Carey, another FBI agent, whether he had ever stood in front of the headquarters. Not in connection with the Coplon case, Carey replied.

Judge Cuts Questioning

"Were you ever in front of the building in an official capacity?" Palmer asked.

"Yes," Carey replied. -- ----- --

Judge Reeves cut off this line of questioning.

Miss Coplon, 27, former Justice department political analyst, is on trial on charges of violating the espionage laws. She is specifically accused of pilfering secrets from the department's files with reason to believe the information would be used to aid a foreign power.

She and Valentine A. Gubitchev, 32, a Russian engineer, also are under indictment in New York on espionage conspiracy charges.

Annual Jubilee At Spur Is Scheduled

SPUR, May 17 (Special)—Bigger than ever preparations are being made for the annual Spur Cowboy Jubilee and Rodeo — scheduled for June 2, 3 and 4, in Spur.

President J. E. Swenson of the Jubilee association has promised the biggest and best show ever held in West Texas. Four performances will be held. A gigantic parade at 1:00 p. m. Thursday will start the ball rolling for the rodeo. Performances will be held Thursday afternoon, Thursday night, Friday night and Saturday night.

Citizens of Spur and Dickens county are preparing for the event. They will be dressed in some type of western regalia beginning this week to advertise the show. A booster trip to surrounding towns will be made. Directors of the association are constructing a "special down-town jail" for non-conformers to their "go-western" edict.

Over $2,500 in cash prizes will be offered to amateur performers in the eight divisions of the rodeo —bronc riding, bareback riding, calf roping, double mugging, bull riding, cutting horse contest, old-timers roping event and Cowgirl Sponsors contest.

Stock for the rodeo will be provided by "Goat" Mayo, well-known West Texas cattleman.

Registered Jersey Bull Is Purchased

COLUMBUS, O., May 17 (Especial)—Frank A. Guess of Idalou, has purchased the registered Jersey bull, Amiable Volunteer King. The animal comes from the herd owned by W. O. Dear, jr., of Floydada.

The purchase adds to the steadily growing number in this area. Dairymen buy Jerseys because of the high quality of the milk they produce.

Purebred Jerseys are registered by The American Jersey Cattle club which has its national headquarters in Columbus, O. Several programs are available through The American Jersey Cattle club to help breeders get the most profit from their Jerseys.

Ralls Service Man Stationed In Japan

Pvt. Charles E. Bolton, son of Mrs. T. L. Brinegar of Ralls, is now serving with the First Cavalry division on occupation duty in Japan.

Pvt. Bolton entered the service in August of 1948 and took his training at Fort Ord, Calif. He sailed for overseas Dec. 9, 1948.

He is a former student of Ralls High school and was employed with the Preston laundry there before entering service.

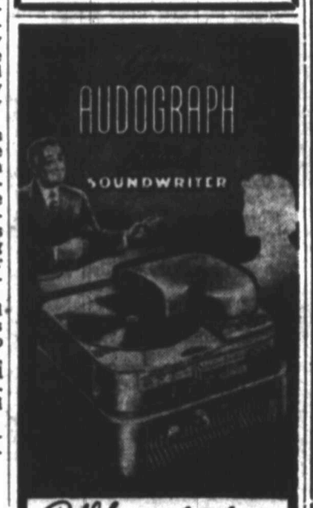

THEIR OWN MEDICINE

CHICAGO, (U.P.)—Cigar-smoking aldermen found themselves on the receiving end of one of their own laws. The city council passed an ordinance prohibiting smoking in public elevators. Now the city fathers must snuff out their smokes or walk upstairs in city hall.

Prince Wilhelm of Sweden has given his castle at Mainau, the French Zone of Germany, for use as a university.

Supreme Court Rules In Favor Of Priest In Free Speech Case

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 17—Once more the U. S Supreme Court has tackled the question: how free is free speech?

It ruled yesterday in favor of a Catholic priest found guilty of disorderly conduct for what he said at a turbulent Chicago meeting.

There was turbulence inside and outside the meeting. Outside the priest was greted with cries of "God damned fascist."

When he got inside, looked around, and didn't like some of those there, he threw around words like "slimy scum" and "Jews."

Decision Not Broad

The ruling in his case is only the latest attempt by the court to decide how free speech can be. It's not final because:

There is no absolute answer that will fit every situation in the future; and the present court or a future one may decided differently in a different case. This is what happened:

On the night of Feb. 7, 1946, the Rev. Arthur Terminiello, an Alabama priest then under suspension by his bishop, went to a meeting in a Chicago auditorium.

The meeting, sponsored by the Christian Veterans of America, was called by Gerald L. K. Smith, one-time Huey Long lieutenant. He described Terminiello as the "Father Coughlin of the South."

Outside a milling mob of 500 to 1,500 people picketed the meeting and they howled at Terminiello when he arrived Before the night was over they broke 28 windows with bottles and brickbats, and 17 of the were arrested.

Mentioned France

Inside were 800 more people, some of whom Terminiello apparently didn't like, for, as the mob surged around outside, he told those inside:

"Now I am going to whisper my greetings to you, fellow Christians. I will interpret it. I said 'fellow Christians,' and I suppose there are some of the scum got in by mistake . . and nothing I could say tonight could begin to express the contempt I have for the slimy scum that got in by mistake."

Then he spoke about "some Jews," called Francisco Franco of Spain the 'Savior of what was left of Europe" and quoted Gerald Smith as saying Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was a "Communist."

The was excitement in the hall. One man called Terminiello a "God damned liar." Another jumped up and yelled 'kill the Jews."

Free Speech Defined

As a result of this meeting Terminiello was charged with disorderly conduct and found guilty because of a breach of the peace. He fought the case up to the U. S. Supreme Court.

He argued that his conviction was contrary to his right of free speech under the first amendment to the constitution. And yesterday the court upheld him, saying:

Freedom of speech cannot be curbed merely because the speech stirs people to anger, invites public dispute and creates unrest.

The court said: "a function of free speech under our system of government is to invite dispute. It may indeed best serve its high purpose when it induces a condition of unrest, creates dissatisfaction with conditions as they are or even stirs people to anger."

Dissenting from the majority decision, Justice Jackson said it is a "dogma of absolute freedom for irresponsible and provocative utterances which almost completely sterilizes the power of local authorities to keep the peace against this kind of tactics."

Since policemen everywhere will act as they think necessary in any situation, the Supreme Court decision doesn't mean that tomorrow someone won't be jailed for talking as Terminiello did. Then that case may start up through the courts for a decision.

Railroad Restrained From Mixing Trains

HILLSBORO, May 17 (AP)—The Katy railroad was restrained for the moment at least today from putting a mixed train on its Waco-Stamford line.

Judge Frank MacDonald granted a temporary restraining order in the 66th District court. The action was asked by an executive committee formed from towns along the line. A hearing was called for May 26 at 10 a.m. at the court in Hillsboro.

The Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad announced tentatively it planned to substitute a mixed train—freight and passenger cars—on its Texas Central line May 21. The run currently has motor passenger service.

Special Meeting Held

No application for the change has yet been made to the Texas Railroad commission.

Representatives from towns along the route held a day long meeting yesterday at De Leon. They chose an executive committee headed by Dr. Silas Grant of Whitney and City Attorney Harmon of De Leon as co-chairman. Mayor Fred Basham of Whitney was chosen secretary.

The temporary restraining order was granted Basham and other members of the complaining committee.

MacDonald's ruling forbids the Katy presently from moving any rolling stock from the trains, from laying off men used to operate the Texas Central line, changing the schedule for another type or service in any way changing present service.

Heart Attack Fatal To Jayton Teacher

ABILENE, May 17 (AP) — A heart attack was fatal today to Edgar Ray Dunlap, a few hours after a windstorm broke a window near where he slept. He was 41.

Glass from the pane severely gashed Dunlap over the right eye. He became seriously ill soon afterwards, and was taken from his Jayton farm home to a Rotan hospital. He died there of a heart attack at noon, 10 hours after the accident.

Dunlap was a stock farmer and a vocational agriculture teacher in the Jayton schools.

MEET THE MANAGER—Edgar William Hendrix, general manager of Mark Halsey Drug Stores, was born at Maybank, Kaufman county, July 14, 1903. When he was eight years old his family moved to Mart, Texas, where he finished high school. He went to Dallas, where he entered the drug business with Skillern's drug chain in 1924. He started in at the soda fountain, then was promoted to the warehouse, purchasing department and advertising manager. Eventually he was named merchandising manager. Later he became vice president in charge of advertising and merchandising. He came to Lubbock as general manager of Mark Halsey Drug Stores Dec. 1, 1948 Mr. Hendrix is a member of Lions club and is a Methodist. Mr. and Mrs. Hendrix and one son, Rae, 12, live at Plaza apartments. Another son, Ed, jr. 23, is married and lives in Lubbock. Mr. Hendrix likes to play golf but says he doesn't have time. He also likes to bowl with his sons. (Staff Photo.)

Five Are Hurt In Weatherford Blast

WEATHERFORD, May 17 (AP)—An explosion rocked a grocery store and injured five people Monday when the owner struck a match to check on an apparently faulty gas meter.

Mrs. W. R. Clardy, wife of the owner, was injured seriously. She received internal injuries and cuts.

The others injured were Mrs. Bert Reddell, right leg broken; Charley May Reddell, 8, arm injury, bruises and cuts; R. T. Martin, bruises and cuts from flying glass and Patty Cook, nose injury and broken leg.

Clardy said he noticed the needle on a gas meter spinning rapidly. He said he crawled under the building to investigate and struck a match.

The explosion bulged the sides of the concrete building. Merchandise was scrambled and an 800-pound meat cooler was blown across the store.

Three Are Injured When Cars Collide

BROWNFIELD, May 17 (Special)—Three persons were injured at 1 p. m. Monday in a two-car collision four miles south of Meadow on the Brownfield highway.

The injured were Mr. and Mrs. Troy Wright, Meadow, and E. B. Lawrence, 3401 Ave. H, Lubbock. All were taken to Treadaway Daniel hospital in Brownfield by Plains Funeral home ambulance.

Mrs. Wright remained in the hospital with a broken collarbone. Wright and Lawrence were released after treatment for minor cuts and bruises.

Texas Solons Will Testify On Poll Tax

WASHINGTON, May 17 (Special)—Rep. Omar Burleson, of Anson, said today he has invited Reps. Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls and Tom Pickett of Palestine to testify this week before Burleson's House Administration sub-committee on the bill to abolish the poll tax.

Gossett, Pickett, and Rep. Brooks Hays of Arkansas will oppose the move to abolish the poll tax. Pickett will testify Wednesday morning.

Belgium and Luxembourg imported $1,500,000 of American canned fruit last year.

AIRLIFT MEDAL URGED

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—The House voted today to give the men who participated in the Berlin airlift a special medal. The bill was sponsored by Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the Armed services committee. It now goes to the Senate.

Inferior Education In Areas Reported

CHICAGO, May 17 (AP)—Many of the nation's children are receiving below-standard education, the Council of State Governments said today.

The council said that public schools have made "encouraging progress" but that it will take expenditure of $7,595,129,000 for building needs alone in the next five years to bring the schools up to par.

A shortage of qualified public school teachers and low quality instruction will not be overcome until elementary teachers are given the status of highly qualified professional workers, the council said.

The council presented its findings in the first comprehensive study ever made of the school systems of the 48 states. Its 256-page survey, "The Forty-Eight State School Systems," has just been published.

The report recommended higher salaries; marked changes in requirements for teacher cerification and preparation of teachers, and changes in teacher working conditions, responsibilities and relationships with school administrations and local communities.

While most states have a shortage of qualified teachers, "few are making satisfactory progress towards overcoming it," the council said.

The survey also said that at least 298,895 new classrooms will be needed in the next five years.

British universities now have 10,000 foreign students, from Africa, India, Pakiston, China and elsewhere.

Says Man Has Strange Powers That Work While He Sleeps

A strange man in Los Angeles, known as "The Voice of Two Worlds," reveals the story of a remarkable system that often leads to improvement in power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Many report improvement in health. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise.

The man, a well-known explorer and geographer, tells how he found these strange methods in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. He discloses how he learned rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats. He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

He maintains that man, instead of being limited by a one-man-power-mind, has within him the mind-power of a thousand men or more as well as the energy-power of the universe which can be used in his daily affairs. He states that this sleeping giant of mind-power, when awakened, can make man capable of surprising accomplishments, from the prolonging of youth to success in many fields. Strangely, he says that this power works best while we sleep, when proper methods are used.

The author states the time has come for this long-hidden system to be disclosed to the Western world, and offers to send his amazing 9000-word treatise which reveals many startling results—to readers of this paper, free of cost or obligation. For your free copy, address the Institute of Mental-physics, 213 South Hobart Blvd. Dept. K-152, Los Angeles, 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free treatises have been printed.—Adv.

"I'm proud the name Kaiser is on the first really new idea since the self-starter...it's 2 cars in one...and I'd like you to see it!"

Henry J. Kaiser

The new Kaiser Traveler...world's most useful automobile!

Henry J. Kaiser
Chairman of the Board
Kaiser-Frazer Corporation

1 Here's what Mr. Kaiser says: "For a long time, I've had the idea that a great many Americans would welcome a practical kind of automobile that could do double duty as a passenger car for pleasure and a cargo carrier for work. I was thinking particularly of farmers, salesmen who have to carry bulky samples, merchants, housewives who do heavy week-end shopping, sportsmen and small businessmen.

"Station wagons aren't very practical. My own station wagon was hard riding, drafty and full of squeaks and rattles. It was hard to handle, and hard to work as a truck. If there was hauling to do, seats had to be wrestled out by brute force. It didn't carry enough cargo. It cost too much to operate, and more to buy than the average family can afford.

"So I talked to the boys of our engineering-production team, and the result was the all-new Kaiser Traveler. I believe that the Kaiser Traveler is the practical answer to the problem of thousands of families who really need two kinds of cars, but can afford to buy and maintain only one.

2 "At first glance, the Kaiser Traveler is a luxurious 6-passenger sedan, with a 123½ inch wheelbase, and nine feet, seven and-a-half inches of usable seating space. But in ten seconds, it becomes a sturdy cargo-carrier with a ten-foot-long, steel-shod hold, powered by the mighty Kaiser engine, with its high compression ratio of 7.3-to-1. You use no tools or bolts.

"You just fold down the rear seat, flip open the cargo-hatch and let down the tailgate. All but the youngest of my eight grandchildren can convert it easily (and he's just a little fellow six months old!).

"Of course, the springs and shock absorbers have extra muscles to carry a big load, but they are soft and cushion-y and give a grand ride. The upholstery is long-wearing and easy to wash. The tailgate is held in place with a piano-type hinge, so that you can use it as a loading platform.

"With three people in the front seat, there is over 130 cubic feet of storage space in the cargo hold. And even with six passengers, you get more than 78 cubic feet of hold. That's room enough to carry almost anything!

3 "One of the things you'll like about the Kaiser Traveler is the price. It only costs $2088.* That's several hundred dollars less than the cheapest full-size station wagon, and is much more practical and satisfactory both as a pleasure car and a work car. It's really a great value.

"Now, before you buy any car at any price, I'd like to caution you to stop, look and listen. Stop in and see the Kaiser Traveler. Look at it carefully. Listen to what the salesman has to tell you. And then see if this isn't the one car that gives you everything you want...the comfort, the safety, the prestige of big car ownership, plus the extra advantages of owning a fine-performing cargo carrier that costs no more to operate than many much smaller, less useful cars.

"When you do this, I think you'll decide to buy a Kaiser Traveler, and I hope you do. If you get half as much use out of yours as I get out of mine, you'll have made a very wise choice!

"After you've seen the Kaiser Traveler, please write me your reaction. Address me at Willow Run, Michigan. I'd really like to hear from you."

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

Humble Background Causes Worried Mother To Feel Outside Her Daughters' Lives

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: In a small town in French Quebec I was born 46 years ago, tenth in a family of 13 children. I had eight years' education, all in French; and as was expected of me, I married early. I was a bride at 17 and a mother at 19.

My husband was seventh in a family of 10 children, and he also had eight years' education, but in English, plus a year of business schooling when he was 20. He is a printer by trade and I have done practical nursing for 15 years.

We have two daughters, college educated. The elder married a doctor and the younger is keeping company with a pre-medical student. Now their circle is growing larger and we find ourselves somewhat on the outside, unable to compete with the new friends and in-laws, some of whom have rather important positions.

BELIEVES DAUGHTERS ARE ASHAMED OF HER

THE girls are very appreciative of what we have given them and I know it would hurt them that we should think they are somewhat ashamed of us; but we know they are. During Easter vacation the younger girl suggested that I take high school courses by correspondence,—a profitable hobby and I am quick to learn, she says.

But how can a person work all day and come home to endless chores, cooking, cleaning, washing, ironing, shopping, etc., and then sit down to study, when tired in body and soul? How does one keep up with these dear children and yet earn enough to meet the bills?

I am glad we gave the girls what was denied us; but sometimes I almost wish they had married "a butcher, baker or candlestick maker" and we still had our girls. I am suffering with an inferiority complex and I miss my "babies." Please tell me how to improve this dull mind of mine. Signed T. R.

SEE THE SITUATION IN TRUE PERSPECTIVE

DEAR T. R.: Every good mother whose children are successfully launched on a course of "more abundant" living than she experienced, feels poignant at times about the "loss" of her "babies," as their progress seems figuratively to leave her behind.

However, every sensible mother knows that this "loss" is testimonial to her positive genius as a parent. If her children clung to her, moving in a duplicate orbit under her aegis, she would be a failure in terms of giving "fullness of life." And some sage has rightly said that real love is the desire to give fullness of life.

When children are in their formative years, it is well for parents to "keep up" with their interests and figure casually in what goes on, and thus be ready to apply judicious restraint or instructive guidance as required.

SHE SHOULD ACCEPT HERSELF WITH POISE

BUT WHEN the children begin to take form as adults, when they begin to create individual orbits on the adult plane, drawing contemporary-age friends, in-laws, etc., about them in a new design for living that is characteristically their own, then it is time for sensible parents to relax and "be themselves," as the saying goes,—no longer shaping their efforts to keep pace with the children.

In all probability your appreciative daughters aren't ashamed of you, or your schooling, or whatever; but rather troubled by awareness of your inferiority complex and wistful conviction of being an untaught outsider to the world they've entered. Perhaps your younger daughter thinks you'd feel better, more secure, if you had more education;—and indeed you might. But if you are too tired and too busy for that, my advice is: don't bother.

On the one hand, you should accept yourself just as you are, with quiet dignity and no apologies to anybody, for you've given splendid account of yourself thus far. And on the other hand, you should psychologically "surrender" your girls to their different orbits, and stand sturdily rooted in your own experience, which contains much solid accomplishment to give it meaning.—M. H.

Emotion Cannot Be Captured

Travelers Return To U.S. After European Vacation

BY MARGARET TURNER

Margaret Turner, woman's editor of the Lubbock Avalanche and Journal publications, writes today from New York, immediately after docking after a two-month vacation in Europe.

NEW YORK—No book or motion picture has captured the thrilling emotion that one experiences when he returns to the United States after a trip abroad; whether the stay was for two months, such as ours, or for two years, the case of Anthony Accardi, a New Yorker who has spent that time studying hotel management at the Ecole Hoteliere of Lausanne, Switzerland.

Mrs. John D. Lynch, Ruth Ford, Tony and I went out on deck as the Nieuw Amsterdam approached her pier in Hoboken Friday afternoon. Through the perpetual green mist that seems to hover over the lady with the torch we saw the Statue of Liberty. Even at that far distance the monument appeared more beautiful than any statue we had seen in seven countries. We looked across the water and we glanced at each other. "It's been two months," we said. "It's been two years," Tony said, tears glistening in his eyes.

When we heard an announcement over the loud speaker for Americans to report for passport checking we yelled like wild Indians and ran whooping down the passage.

Many dramas must have been enacted after our baggage was placed on dock and visitors came to the pier. But when you are trying to assemble eleven pieces and then stand in line for one hour to get your customs inspector assigned, you do not think of drama; your thoughts are of your aching feet and whether or not you have properly filed your declaration. Our group got through in record time at that. When the writer was helping to thoroughly disarrange her luggage, the inspector, who had dated a Lubbock girl when he was in service and stationed in California, brought us up to date on the baseball scores, the fights and the election in New Jersey.

The Nieuw Amsterdam carried 882 passengers, among them Vice Admiral Alan G. Kirk, newly appointed ambassador to Russia, and Mrs. Kirk. We saw few Americans in the lounges and on the decks. Most of the passengers were from Holland, England and Scotland.

There was one youth, Max Treger from Antwerp, Belgium, who was the only member of his family who lived through the war. He was to be met by an aunt he had never seen and who wants him to take the place of an only son who was lost in service. There were mother-in-laws of ex-GI's who are coming to America for visits and who had brought immigration visas in case they want to stay. There were Dutch Americans who had been over for visits to the old country and who seemed very happy to return to their adopted motherland. And there were hundreds of Dutch people on their way to Canada to work on farms.

One of our companions, Hilly ven Dijkhuizen, explained that there are too many people in Holland today and many are anxious to get away and start life anew. In a later column we shall write of a few incidents she told in broken, but understandable English, when we were awaiting the dinner gong one night.

The return trip was not so exciting as the voyage over. Heavy mist enclosed our ship preventing us from enjoying a loll in deck chairs. Attempts to read or to play bridge in the lounges were blocked by chattering people of all ages. They gathered around our table. "Would you like to watch us play?" we'd politely inquire. They would shrug, smile and say "Don't speak English." Two boys brought their harmonicas and one young girl played an accordion and they accompanied their countrymen in songs of their land and in religious numbers. The noise was deafening.

Sitting there watching those people, many of them with sad faces, some of them apparently nervous at thoughts of the future, most of them wearing cheap, new clothing, we thought. There is nothing worldly about any of our shipmates, but they certainly are earthy. Strength and goodness fairly radiated from their scrubbed faces.

Today we are to meet Lt. and Mrs. Robert Smiley, whom we visited in Austria and who are en route to their new assignment in Fort Lewis, Wash. They are arriving this morning on the Goethals, which docks at Staten island.

After a two months' program that had almost every hour of the day scheduled, we feel a terrific lethargy. It takes effort to telephone our friends. Even with such fatigue we'd write a poem about the joys of returning to "mine own, my native land," if that had not already been done.

India's power engineers, in New Delhi, laid plans to double that country's power production in 10 years, at cost of $900,000,000.

Marriage Is Performed

Miss Lois Dean Hale of Route 5, Lubbock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hale, became the bride of Sgt. Benn C. Kinslow, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Kinslow, Route 2, Lubbock, in a double ring ceremony read recently in the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Grady Scott, 3306 Twenty-fifth.

Rev. Brown C. Welch officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white suit with white accessories and wore an orchid corsage.

Miss Betty Jo Hale attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing a lavender dress with white accessories and a pink carnation corsage. Aaron Kinslow served his brother as best man.

A reception followed the ceremony. The table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. The buffet was decorated with pink carnations and pink candles which reflected in a large mirror.

The bride is a graduate of Frenship High school and attended Texas Tech last semester. The bridegroom is a graduate of Frenship High school. He has been serving with the Marine corps in Guam and China for the past 18 months, and will report back to Barstow, Calif., for further orders May 27.

A new ironing table adjusts from a sitting to a standing position and can be raised or lowered to accommodate short, medium or tall women. It adjusts to any height from 26 to 35 inches, has a 15x54 inch wood top and a strong all-steel frame understructure and folds compactly into a flat unit.

Artists To Study In New Mexico

Mrs. T. A. Turner, 2418 Twenty-sixth, and one of her art pupils, Wanda Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Durward Henderson, 1725 Twenty-fifth, will attend the second annual Texas Art colony to be held in Ruidoso, N. M., May 30 to June 25.

The colony's classes are directed by Mrs. Callie Baze, former teacher in Lubbock public schools. Mrs. Florence McNeil Hardy, famed artist, will head the staff, and other prominent artists will teach in the school. Entertainment will be provided for students during the evening.

Eight member couples attended. Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames A. D. Montgomery, Bill Anthony, Ralph Keeton and James Postlewaite.

Rent Director Takes Course On New Laws

Certain significant rights are given to landlords, tenants and veterans under the new 1949 rent control program, Roy B. Carnes, area rent director, said today.

Carnes has returned to Lubbock after a three-day course of instruction on the intent and purpose of the new laws.

The conference was in San Antonio from May 12 to 14. Local rent officials from Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and New Mexico attended the meeting.

"Through a series of work sessions conducted by Federal Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods and other representatives of his office, we were able to get a much clearer picture of the new provisions," Carnes stated.

"As a result, we are better prepared to extend to landlords, tenants and veterans the benefits to which they are entitled."

Special sessions at the conference were devoted to such subjects as landlords' petitions under the fair net operating income provision and the rights of tenants in administrative proceedings.

Under the new act either the tenant or landlord may appeal any rent office order of eviction or rent adjustment issued at the request of the other party. This is to assure both sides of a fair hearing.

Date Is Set For Wedding

Miss Pat Templeton of Sharon, Pa., and Bob Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Harvey of Lubbock, have set their wedding date for Sunday, June 12, in Sharon.

Mr. Harvey, a 1948 electrical engineering graduate of Texas Technological college, will complete a year's training course with Westinghouse next month, and will accept a position in Pennsylvania.

DeWitt Harvey will be his brother's best man. DeWitt and his parents are to leave here June 3 for Sharon. Following the wedding, the Lubbockites are planning a month's vacation which will take them into Canada.

Business Women At Evening Meeting

The program given for First Christian Business and Professional Women's circle Monday night in the home of Mrs. F. C. Rector, 2317 Sixteenth, was as follows:

Prayer, Mrs. J. T. Baisden; devotion on "Prayers of Paul," Mrs. H. T. McKissack; and lesson, "The Christian and the Present Crisis," by Mrs. Loyd Jenkins.

Officers of the circle are Mrs. Elois Elliott, chairman; Mrs. Baisden, program chairman; Mrs. McKissack, treasurer; Mrs. Jim Little, secretary; and Mrs. Walter Ford, publicity chairman.

Refreshments were served to 14 persons.

FOR NEEDLE CLUB

L'Aiquillee Needle club will meet Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. V. T. McMullen, 2418 Eighth.

West Fort Worth Residents Forced To Wade Out Of Flood As Automobiles Become Stuck

By SAM HUNTER
News Editor, Fort Worth Press

FORT WORTH, May 17.—Most of us in Linwood (in the west part of Fort Worth) stayed up all night. The water first started creeping closer. You don't know what to do at a time like that. You hate to leave. You just sit and wait.

Everybody in the neighborhood was joshing everybody else. Neighbors invited each other over for coffee.

Some of the people started pulling out after the water reached the first step on their front porches. Cars that weren't gotten out before 10:30 were stuck.

Retired Too Early

About 1:15 this morning, when the water reached my front door, I suggested we leave the house. But the rain slacked up a few minutes later, and the water started going down.

I went to bed. The next thing I knew, my next-door neighbor, Dean Thompson, woke me up banging on a back window. He said the levee had broken at the West Seventh bridge, and everybody was getting out.

I got my car started, but it got stuck. We threw a couple of dresses for my wife in a suitcase, and a suit for my little boy. I put my five-year-old boy, Jackie, and my dog on my shoulders, and we waded out. That was about 5:45 this morning.

Everything in our house is ruined.

Bureau Needs New Gauge On Trinity

FORT WORTH, May 17. (U.P.) —The U. S. Weather bureau had to tell inquirers it was sorry today when asked what the stage of the Trinity river was at that time.

The bureau's river gauge washed away in the flood waters.

Russian, Western Blocs Gird For Fresh Action On Germany

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Under cover of the "peace" brought about by the lifting of the Berlin blockades, the western allies and Russia are preparing intensively for resumption of the biggest battle of the cold war—the struggle for control of Germany.

The conflict will be joined again next Monday in Paris with resumption of the Big Four foreign ministers' council. Neither side is talking much. Both are burning midnight oil. And German leaders, anxious to see the Reich restored to its former prestige as a great power, are weighing the odds in the political gamble they must make in pledging their cooperation.

Aims Conflicting

The western democracies are standing pat on carrying out their program for creating a federal republic comprising their three zones of occupation. It is their hope that eastern Germany, now under Soviet control, will join this federal government.

Their aim is to create a strong but peaceful nation in the heart of central Europe as a barrier against war.

Russia on the other hand is against a federal government. She wants a unified country under a centralized government. She also calls for the withdrawal of allied troops of occupation.

Observers note that such a set up would be ideal for Russian purposes. She already has Sovietized eastern Germany and, with a centralized German government, she would be in excellent position to extend Communism throughout the Reich by fifth column tactics.

Threat Recognized

A Communist Germany in the heart of Europe, adjoining the Russian bloc on the east, would increase Moscow's strength immensely. That would to all intends put the Soviet right up against Germany's eastern border. On the other side would lie the nations belonging to the Atlantic pact.

Taken at face value the Russian attitude, regarding a unified Germany and a withdrawal of forces of occupation, undoubtedly has attraction for some Germans. However, the German leaders as a whole are said to recognize fully the threat of communization—which they definitely don't want.

Can't Play Neutral

Moreover, they are not overlooking that, on the insistence of Moscow, Poland was permitted to annex 38,986 square miles comprising the former German provinces of Silesia, Pomerania and West Prussia. This rich area was given Warsaw in exchange for the 69,860 square miles of eastern Poland which was ceded to Russia.

In any event the Germans can't play "neutral" successfully between the east and the west. They must pick and stick.

The indications in Washington are that U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and his assistants will want actions rather than words as proof that Russia has undergone any change of heart along with the lifting of the blockade. As a matter of fact William P. Maddox, director of the Foreign Service institute in the State department, says the truce hasn't lifted Moscow's aggressive "threat."

Maddox declares the threat will be lifted only when the Soviet has repudiated aggression of all kinds in her policies and actions and is ready for genuine cooperation with all the United Nations.

Plight Of Indians Discussed At Club

The highest starvation rate in the world is in American concentration camps, the Indian reservations," Charles Eagle Plume told members of the Knife and Fork club Monday evening in the Lubbock hotel.

"An Indian may not leave the reservation unless he is educated, and there are school facilities for less than 25 per cent," Charles Eagle Plume declared. "Yet there is on the payroll of the U. S. Indian Agency one employe for every five Indians."

The speaker's dramatic appeal for Reservations Indians came during a question and answer period following his lecture on Early American Cultures.

Indian Contribution Cited

"It is unfortunate," he said, that American Indians whose ancestors developed 25 of the world's 32 commercially important vegetables, get not enough food to stay alive."

The meeting was presided over by Clarence Whiteside, president, who introduced the newly elected president Dr. A. G. Barsh, and announced that newly elected board of directors include Mrs. Roscoe Wilson, Dr. H. I. Robinson, and Dr. Barsh.

Summer Editor For Tech Paper Chosen

Franklin P. Grant, senior journalism major at Texas Tech from Pyote, was chosen as summer editor of The Toreador, student newspaper, in a publications committee meeting at the college Monday.

Grant will assume his duties June 5 when the first term of summer school will open. He indicated that the first issue of the paper, which is published weekly in the summer, would come out around June 17. Other applicants for the position included Miss Rickey Archer of Grandbury and Jerry Henderson of Weatherford.

Prisoner Claims To Be Col. Zach Miller

Speeding 'Wild West' Texas Showman Jailed In Georgia

DANIELSVILLE, Ga., May 17 (AP)—A man who said he is Col. Zach Miller, the wild west showman, has been held in jail since last Friday as the result of too fast a trip in a truck, Sheriff Pat Colle said today.

"This fellow," the sheriff said, "swore he'd rot in jail before he paid a dime."

Danielsville is a town of about 400 in northeastern Georgia.

The sheriff gave this account of what happened last Friday:

Two state troopers clocked a 1949 (Ford) panel truck going north on U.S. Highway 29 at 65 miles an hour. The maximum speed limit is 55. The troopers halted the truck after a chase of six or seven miles.

Miller Protests

The passenger in the truck said he was Miller, of the 101 ranch, which was made famous by "Buffalo Bill" Cody. He said his home was in Valley Mills, Texas.

Miller said the driver of the truck was a man he'd picked up on the trip, and was just driving for him.

Miller protested vigorously when the troopers charged the driver with speeding. Then the troopers found the driver had no driver's license.

The troopers charged Miller with permitting another person to drive his vehicle without a license, a violation of Georgia law. The driver, who gave the name of James Cobert, was charged with speeding and driving without a license.

Refuses To Stand Trial

"Miller refused to stand trial," the sheriff said. "He refused to plead guilty. He refused to give bond. He said he'd spend $5,000 to beat the charge."

The sheriff said bond was set at $250 each.

Col. Miller's youngest daughter, Mrs. James Gibbs of Valley Mills, was obviously surprised to hear of her 71-year-old father's predicament. She said, "I don't know what to think."

Mrs. Gibbs said that Col. Miller was on tour with his show and that the last she knew he was at the Hillman hotel, Birmingham, Ala., last week.

Daughter Describes 'Temper'

She conceded her father "has a temper," but declared, "I think he's the grandest person in the world."

Col. Miller is the only survivor of the three famed Miller brothers. The others were Joe and George.

Mrs. Gibbs and her husband, a livestock inspector at Fort Worth, own a hotel at Valley Mills, where they reside. Mrs. Gibbs works for a telephone company at Waco, and, like her husband, commutes to Valley Mills.

The 101 ranch, made famous by "Buffalo Bill" Cody, is ten miles south of Ponca City, Okla.

Optometrists Join National Foundation

Three Lubbock optometrists have joined the American Optometric foundation to help support research in visual care and advancement of the visual health of the nation. They are: Drs. C. M. Neel, Weston A. Pettey and Millard F. Swart.

More than 70 million Americans have eyesight problems which need professional care, according to Dr. William C. Ezell, president of the foundation.

"Although scientific visual care has advanced more in the last two decades than in all previous history, there is great need for further research, and for improvement of educational opportunities for young men and women who seek to become optometrists," he said. "The foundation was launched a year ago to deal with such problems. It will finance and administer projects in research, education, publication of technical literature and professional advancement."

The Lubbock optometrists are charter members of the organization, and Dr. Pettey and Dr. Swart are life members as well, Dr. Ezell reported.

Pre-Registration Set At Tech For Session

Students who are now enrolled in Texas Technological college who plan to attend summer school will begin pre-registration Wednesday at the college.

W. P. Clement, registrar at Tech, said Monday that students would fill out cards to be turned in to the registrar's office. The day and hour to register will be mailed to the student at his Lubbock address.

Final examinations for graduating seniors will begin at the college Friday. All other students will begin their tests May 26. The baccalaureate sermon for the senior class will be held Sunday, May 29 and the commencement exercises will be in Jones stadium at 8 p.m. the following monday.

Communists Tried To Exploit Doctors, Newsmen, Says FBI

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Communist party leaders secretly tried to use newspapermen, writers and other professional people to exploit labor grievances for a revolution to be aided by Russia, an FBI undercover agent testified Monday.

The story was told at the Communist conspiracy trial by John V. Blanc, an Ohio industrial plant worker who served five years in the Communist movement feeding information to the FBI.

Blanc identified a copy of a call for a "cultural" conference sent to party officials in 1947 by Ohio Communist headquarters.

The call directed section and county leaders to assemble steel, automobile and other such workers with representatives of middleclass and white-collar groups.

"Practical" Program

These latter included, among others, newspapermen, writers, teachers, doctors, dentists, lawyers, and theatrical and artistic people.

The purpose, according to the document, was to develop a "practical" program of cooperation in support of the party's postwar recruiting drive in basic war industries.

Blanc said the conference was called off, but his testimony did not explain why.

After two days of testimony for the government, Blanc was put under cross-examination by counsel for eleven top Communist leaders being tried on charges of conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government. He was the 12th witness for the prosecution, as the federal court trial entered its 18th week.

Blanc told of being cut off from the outside world while attending a Communist school near Cleveland in 1946. He said he was forbidden to use a telephone for any but emergency calls.

The witness identified a number of lecturers at the school—called "Camp Eintraucht" and also "Camp Solidarity."

The witness described a party conference in Chicago in 1946 at which he said Gilbert Green, Illinois party chairman and a trial defendant, spoke. Blanc said:

"Green said imperialist forces in the United States were trying to bring about a third world war, and therefore labor in this country had been set back 25 years.

"Green also said the only place where labor got a break was in the Soviet Union. He said the only way to have permanent peace was to bring about socialism in the United States like they have in the Soviet Union."

Blanc told the jury about a number of other Communist gatherings in Ohio and quoted from speeches of party leaders, including several of the defendants.

"It is very painful for me to have to sentence a young woman of your position," said Magistrate J. Erasmus, as he fined Lorna Betty Colston, 25, a stenographer $100 for driving drunk in Cape Town, South Africa.

Deductible Clause Opposed By Agents

Opposition to the mandatory $100 deductible clause now applicable to all windstorm and hail policies written on dwellings since Sept. 1, 1948 was expressed by all members of the Lubbock Insurance Exchange, meeting in a called session at Hotel Lubbock Monday.

Every member present expressed his opposition to the clause and each expressed a hope that an equitable solution can be worked out at the public hearing to be held in Austin on June 2.

In the meantime, the exchange voted to invite Paul Brown, state fire insurance commissioner, to Lubbock for a regional meeting of agents in this section to discuss the matter. It was voted to send at least two representatives of the exchange to Austin for the state hearing.

Legion Members At Levelland Honored

LEVELLAND, May 17 (Special)—Two long-time members of the William E. Evans American Legion post here were honored at a Legion meeting here Monday night.

The two members, Bob Ford, who has held membership in the post for 25 years, and H. E. Claingan, who has been a member the past 20 years, were awarded membership pins appropriate to their length of membership.

Jack Thomman was in charge of the program. He introduced Sid A. Lowery, member of the Lubbock Legion post.

Sam Blair is outgoing commander of the Levelland post. New officers for the next year include B. R. Carraway, commander; L. A. Robertson, first vice commander; Moon Kester, second vice commander; Hubert Scarborough, third vice commander; Sam Blair, adjutant; Leroy Flinn, finance officer; C. H. Michael, chaplain; John Toole, historian; Thomas Joe Bell, service officer; Cyrus Humphries, child welfare officer; and Roy Hefner, sergeant-at-arms.

Hughes Admits Large Flying Boat Damaged

LOS ANGELES May 17 (AP)—Refusing to discuss the possibility of sabotage, plane building Howard Hughes admits his huge flying boat had been damaged sufficiently to cause a crash.

Damage of the $28,000,000 aircraft, Hughes stated Monday, necessitated removal of the big elevators and ailerons. Each elevator is larger than the entire wing of a B-17 bomber.

Hughes said only that the damage was done sometime after a brief test hop a few feet above the water in 1947. The damage could have caused loss of the plane if it hadn't been discovered before another flight, he added.

The plane is awaiting new propellors before making further flight tests.

Washington Edges Boston Sox, 3-2

Game Ends In Hot Argument

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The month-old baseball season has been packed with odd turns and unexpected happenings, but one piece of script remains unchanged from last year. The managers are having a trying time of it.

Last season was known as the "year of the axe" because no fewer than six big league pilots knelt with bowed heads before the chopping block. This season is rapidly becoming known as the "year of the blow-up" for the harried skippers.

Shotton Lashes Players

Burt Shotton of Brooklyn and Joe McCarthy of the Boston Red Sox, two of the milder masterminds, are the latest to blow off steam.

After watching his charges drop three straight to the Braves in Boston, Shotton really exploded Sunday. He ripped into his players with a tongue-lashing, the likes of which they had not heard since the departure of Leo Durocher.

McCarthy's explosion came yesterday, but his tirade was directed at the umpires. It came about after the final out was made in the Washington-Boston game, won by the Senators, 3-2.

Plate Umpire Joe Paparella had just ruled that the final out was made before the potential tying run had crossed the plate. This brought McCarthy and the entire Boston team out on the diamond, protesting that Tom O'Brien had crossed the plate before Lou Stringer was tagged after rounding second on pinch hitter Sam Mele's single. After considerable wrangling, Paparella walked off the field with McCarthy and his Red Sox swarmed around him. Of course, the decision stood.

Resume Action Today

Every club with the exception of Washington and Boston enjoyed an off-day yesterday. The clubs resume action today, with the National league's western clubs host to the east, and the American league's eastern teams host to the west.

Yesterday's triumph enabled the Nats to deadlock the Philadelphia Athletics for fourth place in the American league. They trail the front-running Yankees by three games. The seventh place Sox are now five games off the pace.

Mickey Haefner pitched an eight-hitter for his third triumph. He came witin a whisker of losing, though. With one out in the ninth and the Red Sox needing one run to tie, O'Brien singled. Billey Hitchcock flied out, but Birdie Tebbetts singld and Stringer ran for him. Mele batted for losing pitcher Jack Kramer and singled to right. Outfielder Buddy Lewis quickly retrived the ball and fired to Shortstop Sam Dente at second base.

Dente tagged Stringer, who had overrun second base, and Paparella ruled that the final out was accomplished before O'Brien reached the plate.

Resignation Of Roy Morris Accepted

The resignation of Roy Morris as head basketball coach at Lubbock High school was accepted last night by the school board, after R. W. Matthews, superintendent, had submitted Morris' request to be relieved of his coaching assignment.

The board voted to accept the request and voted that Morris should be retained as a member of the teaching faculty. There was no discussion of the matter.

Monarchs Top Amarillo, 6-5

Lubbock fans finally saw an Amarillo team come to Lubbock and lose a game, but the visiting team, the Amarillo Colts, put up a good fight before succumbing to the famed Kansas City Monarchs, 6-5.

The well-played baseball game was witnessed by a crowd of over 500 persons and they saw some fine fielding and pitching. Several promising players were in action and not one of the three hurlers used showed to disadvantage.

Three Long Homers

Three home runs cleared the outfield barriers last night, two of them by Monarch players. Alfred Cartmill, who also had a single, lashed a four master in the third with no one on. Curtis Hollingsworth, losing pitcher, slammed a fourbagger in the seventh for the Colts with the sacks empty. And Sam Goshay lifted one over the left centerfield barrier in the eighth with one on.

That homer got the Monarchs back into the game, after the Colts had widened the margin to 5-2 in the two-run seventh. And the Kansas City Club, the same one which gave Satchel Paige and Jackie Robinson to Organized Ball, won the game in the top of the ninth.

Lee Moody, one of the better Monarch players, drilled a double into rightfield and when the Colt shortstop let the throwin get past him, Moody streaked to third. He scored easily when the Colt second baseman booted Fred McDaniel's hard smash McDaniel moved to second on a single and went to third on a sacrifice.

Foots Parker Colorful

James "Cool Poppa" Bell, one of the more colorful oldtimers on the Monarch club, then pinch hit, rifling a single into leftfield that scored McDaniel with the winning run.

James Birdsong, who relieved Robert Keye in the eighth, was the winning hurler, getting past trouble in both the eighth and ninth innings.

Probably the most colorful and most entertaining player last night was Foots Parker, first baseman for the Colts. Parker kept the large crowd constantly laughing with his antics.

Marshall Takes Lead In East Texas Loop

(By The Associated Press)

The Marshall Browns rest atop the East Texas league baseball standings after the cellar crew from Henderson won its second straight victory last night over the Longview Texans.

Henderson edged Longview, 1-0, skidding the losers into second place. Marshall beat Tyler, 5-1. The Bryan Bombers knocked over the Paris Panthers, 3-2, dropping the Panthers into third place. Fourth-place Gladewater defeated Kilgore, 4-2

Henderson, behind the three-hit pitching of Joe Jones, scored its tally in the first frame to defeat Longview

Two Bryan singles in the seventh inning, followed by Rex Throop's double scored the run that beat Paris.

Marshall counted three runs in the sixth inning to down Tyler.

Tonight, Henderson plays at Bryan, Marshall at Longview, Gladewater at Paris and Tyler at Kilgore.

ROSSON PITCHES FOUR-HITTER

Hubs Blast Borger For 25-13 Victory

(By The Associated Press)

The winning team in the West Texas-New Mexico league usually doesn't leave any doubt about the results. Take these last night:

Amarillo 14, Pampa 2; Abilene 12, Clovis 3; Lamesa 9, Albuquerque 1; Lubbock 25, Borger 13.

The loss for Albuquerque was its first home defeat of the year. The Dukes got only four hits off Eulis Rosson.

Lubbock got four home runs and Borger three to show you just what kind of slugfest this was.

Amarillo's park had no right field fence, because of Sunday's tornado, but the Gold Sox found it was easy to aim at the other two.

Seven Clovis errors helped Abilene win.

Greenville Majors Edge Austin, 8-7

(By The United Press)

The Texarkana Bears, top team in the Big State league, were rained out o fthein scheduled game last night, but none of the other first division clubs were any closer to the Bruins today.

The second-place Austin Pioneers missed their chance to pare their deficit to a game and a half by losing to the Greenville Majors, 8 to 7. Three big Greenville runs in the ninth spelled defeat for Austin.

Third-place Wichita Falls' game against Sherman was washed out, while Waco, next in line, lost to the Temple Eagles, 6 to 3. Temple scored one run in the seventh and added two more in the eighth to post the victory.

Texarkana will have to wait for a new series to play its washed out contest at Gainesville, as will Sherman with its game at Wichita Falls.

Texarkana entertains Wichita Falls tonight in the first game of a vital series. Gainesville is at Sherman, Autin at Waco, and Temple at Greenville.

Big Spring Broncs Swamp San Angelo

(By The Associated Press)

The Big Spring Broncs continue to hold a comfortable lead in the Longhorn baseball league today after winning their tenth victory in 11 games last night.

Big Spring defeated fifth-place San Angelo, 8-2 Vernon's game in Ballinger was postponed because of rain. Midland moved into a tie for third place with the Odessa Oilers, beating the Oilers, 2-0, and cellar-dwelling Sweetwater downed Roswell, N M., 9-4.

Ernie Nelson fanned ten batters and limited Odessa to only five hits as Midland triumphed.

Sweetwater garnered 14 hits in defeating Roswell

Tonight, San Angelo plays at Big Spring, Midland at Odessa, Sweetwater at Roswell and Vernon at Ballinger.

Fowler Called To Greenville

The sore arm of which Cotton Russell complained was found yesterday to be caused by a muscle knot in the shoulder and the Lubbock Hubber righthander has been placed on the disabled list.

Russell, accompanied by his wife, left last night to return to their home in Fort Worth. He may be out of action from three to six weeks.

FOWLER

Dr. J. H. Stiles, club physician, had Russell examined yesterday by a specialist from St. Louis, Mo., who was visiting here. The specialist discovered that even though X-rays failed to indicate any chipped bone or bone condition, the muscle knot was present.

The muscle knot is of a nature that could lead to calcium deposit forming and the specialist ordered complete rest for from three to six weeks.

As a result, the Hubbers will lose the services of the youthful hurler, who has a two-two record so far this season.

More complete information arrived yesterday on the two players that the Hubbers obtained over the week end. Both are outfielders, instead of an outfielder and pitcher as originally stated.

Dempsey Hitting .375

John Dempsey, the righthander, is an outfielder on option from Pensacola, Fla., of the Class B Southeastern League. Dempsey, who reported here yesterday, is a six foot, one and a half inch 205-pound youngster. He has been hitting .375 with Pensacola.

Last year with Petersburg, Va., of the Class D Virginia League, Dempsey, then a rookie, hit .268. He scored 52 runs, had 93 hits good tor 140 total bases and drove in 42 runs. Among his hits were 18 doubles, seven triples and five home runs. His fielding was .908

Robert "Pepper" Martin, on option from Greenville for a five-day look is a veteran. He was with Odessa and San Angelo of the Longhorn League last year, hitting .303. He scored 85 runs, had 154 hits good for 201 total bases and drove in 95 runs. Among his hits were 21 doubles, four triples and six home runs. He also stole 26 bases.

Chick Fowler, Hubber left-fielder of the past two seasons, left last night to join the Greenville team. He was on option to the Hubbers and the option was recalled when Martin joined the local nine.

Diamond Tilts Are Set At Boys Club

Yankee and Dodger Pee Wee and Pygmy League teams in the Lubbock Boys club are slated to tangle this afternoon at the Boys club in continuation of their kid league games.

Yesterday saw the Red Sox of the Pygmy League lick the White Sox 9 to 7, while the White Sox of the Pee Wee loop took the Red Hose 15 to 6.

Roger Stanley and Buddy Shafner each had two for two for the Pygmy Red Sox, while George Smith had the same number for the losers.

In the Pee Wee loop game, Ray Turman had a home run and single in two trips and Keith Harrison had a triple and double in three trips for the White Sox. Gayle Boyd paced the losers with two singles in two trips.

Raider Quints Clash Tonight

Youth and speed will test age and dignity tonight at 8 in Texas Tech's gym, when the graduating basbetball seniors oppose the future varsity court stars in an exhibition game.

The game tonight will be no novelty. The two squads have met twice this spring in training sessions and each team holds one victory. Tonight will be the rubber in the series and the game will be played under regular game conditions.

The public, which ordinarily is not able to see Tech games because of the limited seating capacity, is invited to witness the practice game. There will be no admission charge and seats will go on a first come, first served basis.

Robison With Varsity

Coach Polk Robison will be on the bench with next year's varsity material, which is composed mainly of freshmen, a couple of transfer students and one or two holdovers from the squad that this past season finished behind Arizona university in the Border Conference race.

Playing for the seniors will be an all-star lineup that will be headed by Don Grove at center. Grove was unanimous All-Conference choice at center for three years. He will have able assistance at the forward positions in Whistle Banks and Wayne Bowles, both of whom played a lot of basketball for Tech Ardis Barton and James "Wimpy" Hill will be at guards.

In reserve for the seniors will be C. W. Dukes, Ernest Hawkins and Bill Kelley. Hawkins and Kelley are former lettermen.

Coach Polk Robison's future varsity, which has been looking good this spring, will have in the starting lineup Gene Gibson at center. Jack Alderson and J. R. McAnaly at forwards and Jiggs Jackson and Ted O'Neil at guards.

In reserve for the varsity crew will be Verdel Turner Jim Sharp, Jim Eddins, Don Bagwell, Weldon McClure, Irl Brown and Virgil Johnson.

Gibson, one of the better forwards in the Border loop last year, has been switched to the pivot post and has been performing more than adequately there.

Second-Place Shreveport Rained Out

Dallas Eagles Shade Houston Buffs, 6-5; Fort Worth Wins

A WHOPPER — Clarence Shropshire of San Angelo, proudly shows the 80-pound catfish he caught just below the dam at Lake Nasworthy, San Angelo. Shropshire caught the big fish with his last two minnows after a day without any luck. He landed the big fellow after 45 minutes and three times getting the fish near the shore. It is believed to be the largest catfish ever caught with rod and rel and with 25 pound test line in the San Angelo area.

(By The United Press)

The Dallas Eagles breathed a little easier today on their perch atoo the Texas league ladder.

The Eagles defeated the Houston Buffaloes 6 to 5 last night at Dallas in a game twice interrupted by rain.

At the same time, second-place Shreveport's game at Tulsa was postponed because of rain and the Sports dropped four-and-a-half games behind Dallas.

Cats Beat Missions

San Antonio, which had been tied with Shreveport for second, probably would just as soon have seen its game rained out. The Missions lost an 8-to-3 decision to the Fort Worth Cats.

The fourth scheduled game—Beaumont at Oklahoma City—was washed out.

The Dallas victory wasn't an easy one by any means against the cellar-dwelling Buffs. The Eagles were forced to go 11 innings before Jerry Witte doubled off the wall to score Ben Guintini and break up the game.

Floyd Speer was credited with the win; Augusto Zande was the loser. Both had relieved in the seventh frame.

Erskine Gets Win

At San Antonio, the Cats' Carl Erskine scattered nine hits to post the win. Procopio Herrera, who went to the showers in the eighth, was the loser.

Homeruns played major roles in both games, with the major share of them produced by men on the losing teams.

Houston's Larry Miggins pounded a pair, while Don Lanhardt duplicated the feat for San Antonio.

Single homers were cracked by Don Bollweg of Houston and Fort Worth's Preston Ward.

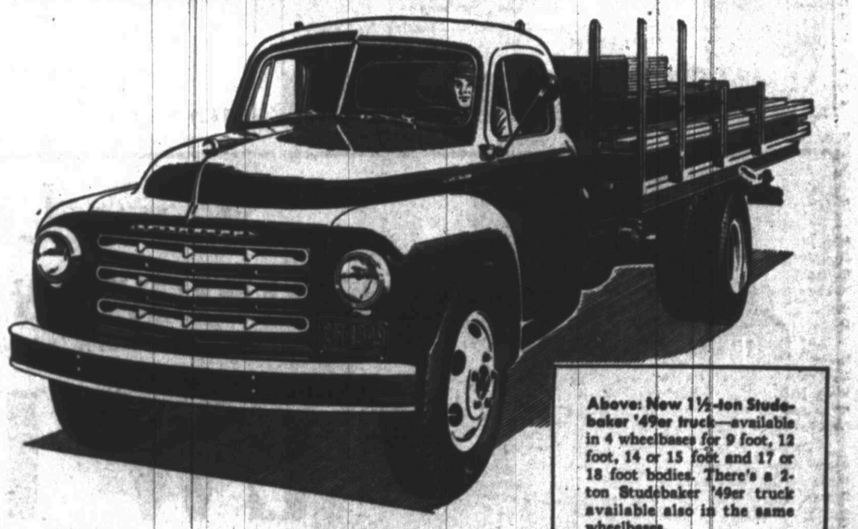

All the round-trip blows came with no teammates on base.

Beaumont and Oklahoma City will try again tonight at the Oklahoma capital. Shreveport remains at Tulsa, Fort Worth at San Antonio, and Houston at Dallas.

Lower prices recently in France have taken much of the wind out of the Communists' sails, Paris reports.

STUDEBAKER'S REALLY ROLLING! 1949 IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR!

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

We have a couple of regrets to offer the public. First, we regret the fact that the Lamesa box score wasn't in the paper Sunday. And second, we regret that the Hubber box score wasn't in the paper this morning. Both normally would have been in, but these aren't normal times on the Plains. Teletype machines, on which we rely, are operated on telephone lines. The electrical storms and damage accompanying the storms interfered with the Lamesa box from Clovis so badly that it was unreadable. Last night Borger was not in communicatoin and it was well after press time before the Borger sports editor, Rusty Ayers, was able to telephone the box in. Situations like this will arise, but we hope as fervently as you do that they don't arise again.

Polk Robison, the genial basketball coach at Texas Tech, came back from the Border Conference's annual spring meeting in good spirits. He saw the conference take action along lines which he has been proposing for a long time. As a result, fans fortunate enough to see Border loop court games next year may see better basketball. Foremost of the improvements was the move made to divorce local and home town officials from working local games. In other words, there will be no more chance to level an accusing finger at officials and say that they favored the home club.

In the basketball coaches meeting, the mentors moved that coaches rate all officials in order of their preference. These ratings will go to the Border Conference commissioner, Emil Larson, and he will combine them with his. Then he will appoint officials for all games and those appointed will not be from the home town or nearby area of the home team. Moreover, three meetings will be held each year by approved officials and they, the officials, must attend these meetings. One group will meet in Texas, another in New Mexico and the third in Arizona, but all will work on interpretation of the rules.

In other words, the conference is stepping toward uniformity in officiating. No longer will officials in one part of Texas call a game closely and officials in another section call it loosely. The same will be true in New Mexico and Arizona. All the officiating will be uniform. They will have not only the same rules, but also the same interpretation. It definitely will take away the stigma of "local" officiating.

Then the conference took another progressive step. The members voted to have uniformity in backboards. Beginning as soon as possible, every conference member will install uniform rectangular glass backboards. It will put an end to the oval, square, rectangular wood and glass backboards that differ in every court around the circuit. The deadline for installation of the glass backboards will be for the 1950-1951 season. Polk is hopeful that Tech will have them installed before next season. Moreover, all backboards will be trimmed in orange.

Another progressive step that was taken was the adoption of an official ball, although that was automatic. According to Polk, all basketball teams in all sections of the nation next year will use the seamless ball. The move was passed at the meeting on the West Coast and most court mentors are hailing it. It will do away with another cause of distress. Some coaches prefer the seamed ball, others like the seamless. Under former conference rules, either was permissible, but the home club used the ball it wanted. So out the window goes another excuse for a team's getting beaten away from home.

Chick Fowler was almost in tears last night when he left here for Greenville. The fine outfielder, who always had a mischievous twinkle in his eye, will be missed. Chick was playing the best ball of his career this spring, hitting a lusty .340 and remaining second in runs batted in, homers and triples. He will be missed, but we hope that he has a grand season at Greenville. We think that he will and we wouldn't want to see him stay here in a lower classification league when he can better himself by going up.

THE ROUNDUP: Jackie Wilcox is playing shortstop for Lamesa, bringing additional confirmation to the rumor that Walt Buckel is on the verge of being released . . . Another player barely hanging on with the Loboes is Glenn Coats, the first baseman . . . There may be no dissension on the Amarillo ball team, but there is little evidence of liking for Jess Landrum, the manager. Not one of his players went ot help him when he and John Myers, Hubber pitcher, started to mix it up Saturday . . . Houston Boyd, the tennis ace, may be moving to Dallas soon . . . Manager Jackie Sullivan is remaining out of the lineup so that his swollen thumb can mend . . . There ought to be a good crowd out at Tech tonight for the basketball game, even though it is out of season.

Hartung Tops Giant Hurlers

BY OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 17—A nice gesture toward an old retainer was paying off today in unexpected pitching victories for the New York Giants.

This case of bread cast upon the waters concerns Frank Shellenbach, one-time pitcher who formerly managed the Giant farm club at Minneapolis, and Clint Hartung, the Hondo hurricance.

Shellenbach became ill and had to give up his Minneapolis post. And the Giants displayed a heart, something rare in the baseball business, by taking him to their Phoenix, Ariz., spring training camp for a rest. Shellenbach wasn't expected to work, but his eye fell on Hartung.

"Bust" As Fielder

The six foot, four-inch Texan had come up to the Giants in 1947 billed as the greatest thing since they wrapped the baseball in a horsehide union suit. His running, throwing and hitting were compared respectively to a deer, a bullet and a siege gun. It was just a question whether the Giants would need eight other men behind him.

But something went wrong with the script. Hartung was a bust as an outfielder and lightly-regarded, after a time, as a pitcher. Yet, out of sheer desperation, Manager Mel Ott looked up suddenly one day during a lost game and told Clint to "warm up." He did and pitched six innings of shutout ball against the Boston Braves.

So for two seasons, Hartung labored indifferently as a pitcher. He had a good fast ball, but that was about all. Still he won nine against seven losses in 1947 and had an 8-8 record last year.

Hurler Gets Instruction

And for two years the whole Giant brain trust had been trying to teach him how to throw a curve. It was strictly no dice.

Then came this spring and the rest trip for Shellenbach. And when the old-time pitcher saw all the things Hartung was doing wrong when he tried to toss a curve, he took the big Texan in hand and tutored him for three weeks. He shortened his stride and showed him wrist snap.

"It's up to you now," he finally told the mountainous young man. "I've taught you all I know. From now on, you're on your own."

Hartung had been an avid pupil.

"For two years, everybody was telling me something different," Clint explained. "Shellenbach really set me straight. I've been straightened away and suddenly have a feeling of confidence."

His pitching performances this season certainly bear out these words. With that dependable curve to augment his fast ball and a low sinker ball, Hartung has gone the route to four victories against only one defeat.

Pitches Three-Hitter

He set down the Brooklyn Dodgers with four hits; beat the Phillies by scattering nine blows; stopped the Pirates with a six hitter and downed the Cardinals with a three-hitter. His one loss was to Cincinnati as the Giants were shut out.

Those performances, along with workmanlike jobs by such other lightly-regarded Giant pitchers as Montia Kennedy and Sheldon Jones, have made a whale of a difference in the Giants.

When the spring training season got under way, the players figured that they had only one pitcher, Larry Jansen. They were low in spirits and inclined to just play out the string and pick up the paychecks.

But Hartung's flying start made the difference. The whole club started to pick up and even the vets like Johnny Mize and Walker Cooper were hustling like the rawest rookies.

Now, up there in first place, they have the idea that they can take it all. Beginning charity at home proved to the Giants that sentiment can pay off even in big business.

Westerners To Play Today??

The first game of the District 1-AA baseball playoff series between Amarillo and Lubbock High schools is set today at Chapman field for the fourth time in five ways. Game time is 3:30 p. m.

A light rain started falling early this morning, dimming hopes for good weather at game time, but officials said that the tilt will be unreeled this afternoon unless an "appreciable amount" of rain falls before 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The second and third games of the two out of three series will be played in Amarillo tomorrow, with the first game at 1:30 p. m. Should one team win the first two tilts then the last would be unnecessary. Winner of the district title will play Wichita Falls, District 2-AA champion, at a later date this week.

Good Workout Held

Soggy grounds caused postponement of the game Monday, but Coach Fred Taylor said last night that the field should be in good shape for today's game unless more rain fell before game time.

A good workout was held yesterday, and the boys looked good despite the long period of inactivity. Since the Plainview game two weeks ago the field has been too wet for use most of the time, and the delay in starting the playoff has hindered the Westerner try for the league title.

Batting practice received lengthy attention, and Westerner batters were hitting the ball fairly well despite the lack of practice recently. In the last two games the local nine pounded out 26 hits including a couple of solid home runs.

Bob Brown Returns

In the last start the infield looked ragged, but the return to the lineup of Bob Brown at shortstop should give the infield smoothness and cut out costly mistakes. Charles Galey will be back at second base; Jessie Fullerton will be on first; and Powell Hinson will be in the hot corner at third.

Morris Turner will be catching for the home club. In the outfield will probably be Jimmy Richards, Garnet Reeves, and Jimmy Sexton. Starting hurler will likely be Jimmy Hamilton.

Norway Prof Elderly But Far From Feeble

OSLO, May 17. (AP)—Do you think an old professor has to be feeble and absent-minded? If so, the chief of the Royal Norwegian Society of Sciences, 67-year-old Professor Ragnvald Iverson is an exception.

The other day the Norwegian Chief Scout, Rev. B. L. D. Brekke, placed a shoestring with two wooden beads around the professor's neck. And it was not just any two wooden beads on the shoestring, either. The old scholar was awarded the "Woodbadge," the evidence of his having successfully completed the Gilwell, a tough Scout leaders' training course.

To get that much-coveted shoestring with the two beads, said to be beads from the necklace of an African tribal chief, Professor Iversen not only had to prove that he had the theoretical background necessary, but he also had to display the same skill in the various crafts of scouting as he would himself demand from his Boy Scouts.

Using just one match, he had to show that he could make a blazing fire, even if it was raining and the fuel was dripping wet. On that fire the professor had to prepare a delicious dinner of fish, caught by himself, and using no frying pan of other cooking utensils.

To top it all, the Doctor of Philosophy participated in an obstacle race, without dodging a single obstacle. During the race he had to cross a violent mountain stream by means of a pair of stilts, made by himself.

AGE RECORD CLAIMED

SYDNEY, Australia, May 17 (AP)—An Australian family of 14 brothers and sisters, living in Victoria and Western Australia, are claiming the title of the world's greatest aggregate age for a family. The 14 Smartt brothers and sisters aggregate 982 years. They are Arthur, 80; Florence 79; Bartha, 78; Esther, 76; Elisa, 75; Thomas, 74; Alexander, 72; Nathaniel, 70; Mary, 68; Martha, 66; Ethel, 64; Walter, 62; Lois, 60; and Samuel, 58. They are the children or Henry and Bertha Smartt, now dead.

Fort Worth To Play Series At Dallas

FORT WORTH, May 17 (AP) — Fort Worth will play its weekend three game series with the Dallas Eagles in Dallas.

The series was switched yesterday because of the $1,000,000 La Grave field fire Sunday.

Fort Worth club officials said the remainder of the home schedule will be played at La Grave field, where 4,000 seats remain available. The main stands burned early Sunday morning.

BARBER COLLEGE WINS

Arthur Penkart hurled the Lubbock Barber college to a 5-4 victory over Asbury Methodist here Monday night at Jumbo Webster park in the opening game of the City softball league.

Men Fined By Head Of Loop

DALLAS, May 17. (AP)—The use of "overripe" words and "hell raising" brought fines to two managers and two players in the Big State and East Texas baseball leagues.

J. Walter Morris, president of both circuits, yesterday fined Manager Joe Kracher of Kilgore $15, Manager Walter Defrietas of Marshall $25, player Arthur Lucchessi of Marshall and player William Sinton of Texarkana $25 each.

Fines Are Ordered

Morris said the fines against Gracher, Defrietas and Sinton were for what they said and the fine against Lucchessi was for "bumping an umpire and wanting to fight.

"The women and children have made this game what it is and we are not going to have the players and managers using language that will keep them away from the parks," Morris said.

Morris ordered the money paid by noon today.

Shower Baths Show Increase In U. S.

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Fully 90 per cent of new urban homes today are equipped with shower baths, a survey of the nation's clay tile contractors shows.

A shower goes in over the tub in 80 per cent of new dwellings, and another 10 per cent are equipped with separate shower stalls, the survey says. By contrast, only 20 to 30 per cent of the homes built in the 1920's had showers.

Seagraves, Denver City Win Triumphs

Oil Belt League baseball fans saw one of the best and one of the worst games of the season last Sunday in league play as Seagraves outclassed Post, 29-8, and Denver City edged Tahoka, 3-2, in a 12-inning game. In other contests Sundown defeated Brownfield, 14-8, and Slaton topped Levelland, 9-4.

In the Denver City contest only five hits were made by three players. Harwick of Tahoka had two hits in five times up for the losers. Gorman had two for three, and Jones had one for five for the winners.

Both teams scored in the first inning and did not scratch again until the twelfth when Denver City pushed over two runs and Tahoka came back in their half of the inning to score a lone tally. But Epperson put out the fire and ended the game. Epperson was the winning hurler, and Bill Holcomb was charged with the loss.

Brownfield suffered its fifth straight loss in losing the Sunday tilt to Sundown. Leading the 19-hit Sundown attack were McChristal, third base with four for six; Joiner, shortstop, with three for five including a homer in the first frame; and Medford with two for four. Holder, Totem and Wright each got two hits. Lewis was the winning pitcher.

Vinson aided the Brownfield cause with two hits in three trips; Graham had two for five; and Anderson collected two for five. R. C. Morton was the loser.

Seagraves lost little time in smothering Post, scoring six runs in the first, eight in the second, and pushing runs across in every inning but the fifth. The game went through eight full innings.

The winning team collected 25 hits to 10 for the losers. Winning pitcher was Faulkner, and he collected five hits in seven times at bat including two doubles. Lawrence had three for six, including a home run and a double, and Goodman, Deatherage, Cope, Woods, Grace, and Hicks wielded strong bats. Greer was the losing pitcher.

Simpson got three for four for the losers, and Holland had two for four.

Flag Tournament Is Set Here Wednesday

The Ladies Golf association at Lubbock Country club will hold a flag tournament Wednesday, and qualification rounds for a handicap tournament next week will be made Wednesday-Sunday.

Play in the tournament will begin on Monday, and approximately 20 golfers will participate in the tourney.

In the flag tournament players are given handicap, and the handicap is added to par for the course. Then with the number of strokes represented by par and the handicap, the individual shoots until all the strokes are used up. The person going the farthest in the alloted strokes is the winner.

Rift Between Truman, Rayburn Denied By Illinois 'Mediator'

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 17 — Ten bills moved to the top of the House timetable today following conferences between President Truman and his House leaders.

The conferences also turned up a little talk — and much denial — of disagreement between the President and House Speaker Rayburn.

The ten bills cover the fields of housing, a lobby investigation, crop insurance, federal buildings, statehood for Alaska, extension of rural telephone service, pay raises for government executives, displaced persons, minimum wages and general labor legislation.

Rift Is Denied

Within the next week or so, Rep. Sabath (D-Ill) told newsmen, he expects the rules committee to clear most of them for House debate.

Sabath's White House visit, following by only a few hours a conference between the President and Rayburn, was interpreted in some quarters as evidence of a rift between Mr. Truman and Rayburn, but Sabath said this was not the case.

Sabath had said at the White House: "Sometimes the President and the speaker don't agree" and "where they are in disagreement I try to smooth it out a bit."

The remarks he made to the White House reporters, Sabath explained, were not intended to give the impression that all is not harmony between Mr. Truman and his House leaders.

Typing Errors Blamed

Rayburn told newsmen "there is no disagreement" on the program outlined by Sabath. And if there is any disagreement between him and Mr. Truman, the speaker said, it wasn't apparent when they talked together yesterday morning.

The impression that the President was miffed with Rayburn grew last week when a copy of a letter from the President to A. F. Whitney, rail union head, was made public.

The White House blamed typographical errors for phrases which read as criticism of congressional leaders who advocated compromise on labor legislation.

Rayburn led a group which unsuccessfully sought a compromise when the House had before it recently a bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley labor law. The President did not endorse the compromise, at least publicly.

Sabath indicated to newsmen that he does not see eye-to-eye with Rayburn on a rural telephone bill, and that was one of the things he wanted to talk to the President about. It remained on the House program after Sabath's White House visit.

Bill Asks Taxes Be Used For Flood Aid

AUSTIN, May 17 (U.P.)—A proposal to remit state ad valorem taxes for general revenue purposes during the next two years to Tarrant county for flood relief was readied for introduction today in the House.

The measure was sponsored by Rep. Doyle Willis of Fort Worth and signed by all members of the Tarrant county delegation.

All state property taxes for general revenue purposes would be remitted to Tarrant county for the next two years, ending Aug. 31, 1951, under the bill.

The action would grant relief "made necessary by reason of the calamitous overflows and floods of the Trinity river . . ."

The bill was scheduled to be offered to the House later today.

Organized Reserve Enlistments Hiked

Twenty-five men reenlisted and enlisted in the Organized Reserve corps as a result of the recent "open house" at Lubbock Air Force base.

Major James Samsel, ORC instructor in the Lubbock area, said the drive for additional enlistments will continue throughout the spring and summer.

A total of 2,867 Texas veterans have reenlisted and enlisted since the start of the current drive March 1.

Full information regarding benefits of membership in the ORC may be obtained at the Instructor's office, ORC, room 255, 1005½ Thirteenth, or at the local Army-Air Force Recruiting station.

Wheat Damaged

college at Manhattan, federal and state agriculture authorities and farmers all are studying the disease. They think the "green bug," a crop insect found in wheat fields in the autumn, spread the virus.

The only answer to the virus outbreak if it continues to spread, Erhart said, is to develop new varieties of wheat which will withstand its effects.

"That would take from seven to eight years," he said.

The disease appeared to have hit hardest in Scott and Lane counties near Dighton, Kan. Field Agent Leslie Frazier said that damage there which could run as high as 50 percent is increasing 10 to 20 percent a week.

Methodists Conduct Ceta Canyon Retreat

Fifty-three young persons and counsellors from Asbury Methodist church joined 57 young persons and counsellors from the Amarillo district of the Methodist church Saturday and Sunday for a retreat at Ceta canyon.

Rev. Uel D. Crosby, executive secretary of the board of education of the Northwest Texas conference, gave the sermon Sunday morning.

A group from Asbury Methodist church presented a play Saturday night.

Abilenian On Trial In Liquor Charge

State's evidence was being presented this afternoon in the county court trial of Clarence Ellison, 48, of Abilene, on a charge of liquor law violation.

Witnesses at the morning session told Judge Walter Davies and a county court jury that inspectors of the Liquor Control board, assisted by Lubbock police, had seized 21 cases and 22 cans of beer March 31 from a car owned by Ellison, at a Lubbock tourist court where the defendant was registered.

County Attorney Waggoner Carr said the state was concerned at the afternoon session in offering proof necessary to asking the jury to impose an enhanced penalty. That proof had to do with a prior liquor law violation conviction Dec. 9, he said.

Burton S. Burks of Burks and McNeil is counsel for the defense.

Second Tornado

tin's injuries. Mrs Austin was not seriously hurt.

A granary at the rear of the Dan Foreman home in Stratford was lifted up and carried about 100 feet.

At 11:20 p. m., 20 miles northeast of Stratford, the tail of the tornado lashed again. It damaged property on the Carl Reynolds farm a mile northeast of Texhoma.

A quarter of a mile north of Texhoma, the twister hit the Shaw Dotson farm, uprooting trees and tearing down outbuildings. The front porch of the Dotson home was sheered off. A windmill was blown down.

Phone Lines Wrecked

All along its path, the tornado wrecked telegraph and telephone lines.

The last report of the twister was 12 miles northeast of Texhoma where it tore up fences and outbuildings on the Elmo Jones farm.

Meanwhile, Amarillo brushed off the confusion and horror of Sunday night's tornado, figured a multi-million dollar damage bill and counted itself lucky.

The twister, which killed four persons Sunday night and injured 83, skipped and bounced over the south part of the city. If it had stayed on the ground it would have shattered the entire southern portion of this Panhandle capital of 102,000, said weather bureau observer H. C. Winburn.

Damage estimates from the tornado have edged past $3,000,000. An estimated 350 homes were demolished or destroyed in a mangled, 38-block area.

Killed by the twister—first destructive tornado in Amarillo's 62-year history—were three women and one man. They were Mrs. Lois Martin, 50; Mrs. George McPherson, 56; Mrs. Charles Maserang (age unknown), and George McPherson, 67.

The hundreds of homeless have been taken in by friends and relatives and a relief fund started by the Amarillo Globe-News has passed $16,000.

Storm Jitters

he made his prediction.

In the Shallowater area, Bill Holly of Old Hardy community, some four miles northwest of the town, said a torrential downpour began at 8:30 this morning and extended up as far as County Line community. There was a spattering of hail but little damage.

Gilpin community in southeast Dickens county was struck by a severe hailstorm that came in two installments—the first at 5 p. m., the second at 9 p. m. Monday.

Little hope for a let-up was extended by Harold Frost, chief meteorologist at the Weather bureau station at Municipal airport.

He said the prospects for Wednesday were for continued cloudiness and widespread showers, with southerly winds up to 30 miles an hour. The wind will result from a low pressure area that is expected to move in from the northwest.

Maximum temperature today was expected to be in the 70's, following a minimum of 60 degrees last night.

American Families Need More Home Life To Raise Children Properly, Lions Told

"The foundation of America is in the home," Episcopal Bishop John E. Hines, Austin, told the Lions' Club today.

"The American home life needs to be redeemed and invigorated if we are to remain a great nation. Healthy home life is healthy national existence," Bishop Hines said.

Bishop Hines went on to tell the Lions that among the factors which diminished the influence of the American home were the emancipation of women and our great mechanical genius which has placed the family on wheels.

Lose Civic Ties

"These factors make it too easy for the family to spend more time away from the home. In so doing they gradually lose the sense of civic and community ties," the Bishop said.

"What our children learn in the home—their attitudes and their relationships with others — will be carried out into society. If the home fails to prepare these children for life in this world it makes the burden on other agencies, such as schools and churches, that much more difficult or even impossible.

"Parents too often want to pass their responsibilities to other agencies," Bishop Hines continued.

"We cannot be neutral in social, political and spiritual life. We must all take an active part. As American businessmen and as family men you all have a huge stake in the future of our country," the Bishop concluded.

Dr. Marshall Harvey, chairman of the convention committee, told of the progress his committee has made in preparing for the entertainment of those attending the district convention here Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Several hundred are expected.

The program was in charge of Ralph Dorsett who introduced the speaker. Visitors today included Robert Hill, jr., Melvin Best, Jack Spangler, of Graham; Ed Merch, Bill Brookover, N. J. Aderton, John Wilson, Carlos Reynolds, Walter Clayton, Dr. C. A. Bickley, Carl Maxey, O. L. Byrd, Giles Meyer, of Hollywood; Bob Dempsey, Amarillo; Marvin Berry, Texas Tech, and Arthur Casey, Matador.

Daily MARKET Report

Stock Market

PRICE SCALE SLUMPS

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP) — The stock market climbed down the price scale today after a slow advance during the preceding five sessions.

Final prices on many cases were at the lows for the day.

Losses included some of the utility issues which were lifted to 1949 highs yesterday. Selected utilities were given a fillip Monday by a Supreme court decision not to halt a reorganization plan for Electric Power & Light Co.

Activity slowed considerably from yesterday's 1,630,000 shares. Turnover was at the rate of about 800,000 shares for the full session.

Electric Power & Light common, at a high for the year yesterday, stayed in minus territory most of the day.

Losers of fractions to a point or so on the big board included American Telephone, Phelps Dodge, American Can, Dow Chemical, J. C. Penney, American Woolen, Southern Pacific, Texas Co., U. S. Steel (old), Chrysler, Studebaker and Montgomery Ward.

Among the steadier spots were General Motors, U. S. Rubber, General Electric, Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, and American Air Lines.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP) — Cotton futures drifted lower early today on scattered liquidation, but turned steady on later short covering and trade buying.

Reports of heavy rains overnight at Fort Worth, Texas, with flood conditions in the Dallas area, had a steadying influence on new crop deliveries. Clear weather is wanted for the cotton crop in Texas.

Nearby July was under some pressure from spot firms who were believed to be hedging in futures or liquidating contracts against purchases of spot cotton. There was some selling in nearby July against purchases of the October 1949 delivery. Buying of October was attributed partly to the fact that it is selling more than three cents a pound under the July delivery and some traders felt that it might be under the probable loan level for the next cotton crop.

Late afternoon prices were 45 cents a bale lower to 35 cents higher than the previous close. July 32.54, Oct. 29.17 and Dec. 28.95.

Futures closed unchanged at 75 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 17 (AP) — Rains over the spring wheat country and a lower government buying basis weakened wheat at the board of trade today.

With the decline in wheat, other grains developed easiness and some stop-loss selling marked the decline.

The government buying basis for the May wheat delivery kept pace with the decline in futures, and a weaker cash wheat basis was reported at Kansas City and Minneapolis.

The federal weather bureau said rains in North Dakota were generous, although spotty.

Fair to good rainfall was reported from the Canadian grain country, breaking a prolonged dry spell.

At the finish wheat was 1⅜ to 2⅜ lower than yesterday's close. May $2.22⅝-¾. Corn was ⅛ to 1 cent lower; May $1.33⅝-⅞. Oats were ⅛ to 1⅛ lower; May 67-68⅛. Lard was 10 to 20 cents a hundredweight lower, May $11.80.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, May 17 (AP) — Wheat No. 1 hard according to protein, variety and billing 2.34-41.

Man Fined Here On Disturbance Charge

Cloyd W. Sumrow, 26, of 3100-block Thirtieth, a motion picture projectionist, was fined $75 when he pleaded guilty of a corporation court charge of disturbance growing out of an investigation into the story of an 11-year-old girl that he had written "vulgar" notes to her when she was in a theater where he works, police announced.

Police detectives said they arrested Sumrow after a police official, in plain clothes, had accompanied the child to the theater and set up watch. The girl identified the man when he came down stairs, they said. A young boy also told officials the suspect had asked him to get the girl's name and telephone number for him.

Anti-Tuberculosis Campaign Planned

COPENHAGEN, May 17 (AP) — The Danes plan an anti-tuberculosis campaign in Greenland this summer.

All children up to the age of 15 will be vaccinated by two doctors and two nurses, who will travel from colony to colony by motor boat.

Tuberculosis is a grave problem in Greenland. Three of the Greenland delegates in the recent talks with Danish authorities in Copenhagen suffered from the disease, and a fourth delegate recently received a telegram telling him that his daughter back in Greenland had died from tuberculosis.

During the summer Danish scientists will inspect the drinking water in Greenland.

Ivey Defense Story Is Told

When Leonard Bailey, about 48, was rushed to a hospital early the morning of Feb. 17 for treatment of a stab wound in the chest, those who undressed him found he had cards in his pocket.

That was testimony this morning of Mrs. Ruth Pierce, a defense witness, in the 99th district court trial of Arthur Lee Ivey, 50, charged with murder with malice in Bailey's killing.

Mrs. Pierce, a nurse, said cards in Bailey's pocket were aces.

Quarrel Is Described

Ivey took the stand and related he and Bailey had quarrel in a gambling game in a Myrtle drive dugout. He had accused Bailey of cheating, earlier witnesses said. Later, he testified, he attempted to leave the dugout and had got to the top of the stairs when Bailey ran up behind him.

Ivey said he attempted to kick open the door, then grabbed his knife and struck back at Bailey over his left shoulder.

Wife Takes Stand

Mrs. Ivey took the stand this morning to testify as to her husband's good reputation.

Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton was recalled by the state for brief rebuttal testimony relating to a search of the vicinity for Ivey, who was arrested four hours after the stabbing at the nearby residence of a relative.

Defense attorneys, the firm of Davison and Irvin, requested an hour for summation, but Judge G. V. Pardue, who had ordered a jury to return into court at 1:30 p. m. had not made at that time announcement as to the time to be allotted to each side.

Wyatt Burkhalter, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Burkhalter of Lubbock route 4, was one of two first-place winners at the annual Enid, Okla., Band festival last week. Burkhalter, a first-year band student at Lubbock Senior High school, won the award with his double B-flat bass solo.

Word has been received here of the death of J. W. (Bill) Holt, 37, of Santa Fe, N. M., the husband of the former Mary Florence Knox of Lubbock. Holt, an employe of the New Mexico State Highway department, died of a heart attack Sunday in Santa Fe while in his automobile. Funeral services and burial were conducted Monday in Carlsbad, his former home.

An agreed settlement, whereby the plaintiff Jack Grimes recovers $2,100 from the defendant Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches, Inc., was recognized in a judgment Monday of 72nd District Judge Dan Blair. The suit, in damages, resulted from a collision of a TNM&O bus Nov. 2 at Monroe with Grimes' parked car. Another car forced the bus to swerve, pleadings set out. Grimes was represented by the law firm of Brummett and Brummett.

Funeral services for William Hennis Putman, 80, retired farmer of O'Donnell, were to be held this afternoon in the First Methodist church of O'Donnell. Plains Funeral home of Lubbock was to direct burial in O'Donnell cemetery. Putman, a resident of O'Donnell eight years, died Sunday morning after a lengthy illness.

Lubbock police said they arrested a 27-year-old San Antonio man at 2:10 a. m. when he walked into the police station, on information broadcast by Houston officials. Houston subsequently said a disposition request would be made today in the case. Early this afternoon there had been none, police said. The investigation hinged about a theft by bailee allegation, local officials said they understood.

Rank of esquire will be conferred on three candidates at the Knights of Pythias meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the lodge hall. A special team will be present to confer the rank.

Leon L. Sutherland, of Atlanta, Tex., son of Mrs. Sarah Sutherland of Lubbock, has been sent a permanent citation for the Air medal, Eighth Naval District headquarters in New Orleans has announced. Sutherland, an aviation chief machinist's mate, USNR, was a member of the Air group credited with dropping the last bombs to hit Japan, on Aug. 15, 1945.

Thirty-six third-grade pupils of George M. Hunt school, accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. J. L. Holt, today made a study tour of transportation facilities in the Lubbock area. The group traveled by train to Littlefield, returning in private automobiles. They then visited Lubbock Municipal airport for a study of air travel facilities there. Ten parents of children in the class went to Littlefield to accompany the students back to Lubbock after the train trip.

"Probably take several months?" a reporter suggested.

"Can't say—might not take that long," Jelfs answered.

Jelfs gave him a treatment for the benefit of the press. He laid Mike on a long table, pressed down and sideways on his head. Mike sneezed. Jelfs twisted his head a little further, pressed a little harder. For about a minute and a half, there wasn't a single achoo.

Then Jelfs let him up. Mike sneezed, a little less frequently.

Democracy Menaced By Poor Attitudes, Optimists Are Told

One of the greatest threats to democracy is the attitude of many persons in democratic countries, Dr. Travis White, pastor of the First Christian church, told the Lubbock Optimist club today.

Speaking at the weekly Optimist luncheon in Hotel Lubbock, Dr. White set forth the doctrine that there is no suitable substitute for hard work combined with fairness and honesty.

Hard Work Urged

"Let us take hold of the great problems that confront us," he said. "Let us roll up our sleeves, and work for our democracy. Let's give the employer an honest day's work for his money, and let's give the worker a fair wage for his efforts."

Earlier in his talk Dr. White had briefly discussed several attitudes which, he said, have helped weaken American democracy. Major common faults, he said, have been the laziness and suspicion of many persons.

New Members Introduced

Dr. White was introduced by Charles Forrester, program chairman.

Two new members, J. C. Armstrong and Walter Wright, were initiated into the club by L. G. Pierce, jr.

One out-of-town guest, Manuel Ayers of Plainview, was introduced.

President G. C. Stewart, presiding, announced that Charles Greer next week will report on the recent district Optimist convention at Oklahoma City.

Invocation was by Dr. White, the guest speaker.

Mrs. Hayes Sieber Is Taken By Death

Mrs. E. Hayes Sieber, 46, a resident of Hotel Lubbock for the last eight years, died at 11 p. m. Monday in a San Antonio hospital after undergoing an emergency appendectomy earlier in the day.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

Mrs. Sieber, the former Helen Corn of Crosbyton, and her husband had resided in Lubbock and Crosbyton the last 19 years. She had been suffering from leukemia during the last three months.

Survivors include the husband; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Corn of Fort Worth; and two sisters, Mrs. E. C. Clements of San Antonio and Mrs. Harris McAshan of Houston.

German Vote

and Liberal Democrats of playing a "double game." They were accused of swearing their allegiance to the Communist-front congress and "agitating in secret" against it.

The two-day balloting for the congress ended last night. The voting was for a people's congress of 2,000 members, all hand-picked and put on a single ticket.

Just before the lid was clamped on the results, the main election committee of the congress for eastern Berlin announced the breakdown of the first 7,000 votes counted.

Write On Ballots

Only 2,820 voted "Ja." A majority of 3,809 voted "Nein." About 250 ballots were declared invalid. Some wrote on their ballots "we won't vote for a police state and we reject Communism."

The western Berlin press reported soon afterward that the election committee was "reexamining" the ballots.

The Communists had hoped 10,000,000 or more eastern zone Germans would vote for them and only a few thousand would dissent. They wanted a huge endorsement of the congress, which is certain to clamor for adoption of Russia's peace terms by the foreign ministers' council at the Paris meeting next week.

Cancer Victim

ville public schools, Brown is unable to leave his family much.

"Worried about myself?" asked Brown early last week before he entered the hospital. "No I'm not. But I am worried about my family. I don't know what they'll do."

Brown's family consists of his wife, a semi-invalid since an auto accident several years ago; a 14-year-old daughter, Leta Ruth, a freshman at Gainesville hig.; and a married daughter, whose husband, Charles Nelson of Denton, is recovering from an attack of polio.

Brown has one last hope. That his case will be given widespread publicity as a warning to the public to be ever mindful to the danger signals of cancer.

Four years ago, Brown had a mole removed from his right leg. It broke out a year later higher on his leg and has since spread to his pelvis area and liver.

Letter Asking Free Planes Is Puzzling

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Coast Guard headquarters received a letter from Cambridge, Neb., today which left it completely baffled.

"Dear sirs," the letter read, "will you please send me some of your free airplanes and ships. I would appreciate it very much."

The signature on the hand-penciled letter was not made public.

Man Is Fined For Brawl In Tavern

PORT ISABEL, May 17 (U.P.)—Juke boxes affect people differently. Take the case of Telicantio Rivera of Port Isabel.

Rivera stopped in at a tavern last night for a couple of beers and to listen to the big red juke box. The music did something to him.

In his own words "it went to my heart." So, he grabbed pop bottles and started swinging . . . at anything and anybody. He cleared out the tavern with a few swings and then smashed in the juke box.

In a justice of peace court today, Rivera blamed the music. "It just affected my heart," he told Justice Joe Lofton.

Floydada Student To Head ASCE Chapter

A. L. Kincheloe junior engineering student from Floydada, was named new president of the Texas Technological college student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers, it was announced this afternoon.

Kincheloe was named president of the Texas Conference of Student Chapters of ASCE at a recent convention in San Angelo.

Other officers of the Tech chapter are Paul Tingle, Fort Worth, vice president; James Johnston, Lubbock, treasurer; Ed Campbell, Ranger, secretary.

The election results were announced following a Monday night meeting at the college. Dr. George A. Whetstone is faculty sponsor of the chapter.

Dr. Kincheloe announced that the Texas Tech chapter has received a letter of commendation from Franklin Thomas, national president of ASCE, "for excellence of chapter activities."

Roads Are Closed In Flood Sections

AUSTIN, May 17 (U.P.) — State highway department headquarters today reported the following road conditions in and around Fort Worth and Dallas:

At Fort Worth: North Main street closed; State highway 199 northwest of Fort Worth, U. S. 80 southwest of Fort Worth and U. S. 81 northwest of Fort Worth were closed; U. S. 377 northeast of Fort Worth was expected to be closed by high water. However, department headquarters quoted the district engineer at Fort Worth as reporting that if no further rains fell these highways would probably be open to traffic by morning.

At Dallas: U. S. 75 north of Dallas and U. S. 80 at Texas Pacific underpass on the road to Grand Prairie were closed; route 12 east of Dallas at the Santa Fe underpass was closed but expected to be opened shortly; state highway 24, Lake Dallas to Frisco, was closed but expected to be open by tomorrow if no further rains fell; State highway 10, from Denton to Pilot Point, was closed and expected to remain closed for at least two days; State highway 78, from Garland to Wiley, was closed, but was expected to be open to traffic sometime tonight.

beverages from the cars after breaking the seals. Much of the whisky, they said, had been sold.

John Wesley Brown, the third man in the case, was not specifically charged with the actual theft of the merchandise or with breaking into the cars but with being an accessory.

When Federal Judge Joseph B. Dooley, Amarillo, asked Brown the nature of his employment, he answered:

"Well judge I guess you'd call it bootlegging."

Each of the three men were assessed fines of $1,000 and were given 30 days in which to pay the fine. Brown and Brouse were each given three year prison sentences suspended for a period of three years. Clary was given an 18 months sentence suspended for two years.

Shallowater Man Dies In Hospital

W. M. Johnson, 75, of Shallowater route 1, died at 2:40 a. m. today in West Texas hospital. He had been in ill health six years.

Johnson, a retired farmer, had lived in the Shallowater area 15 years.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday in Broadway Church of Christ. Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister, will officiate, assisted by A. A. Mitchell of Anton.

Rix Funeral home will direct burial in Lubbock Memorial park.

Pallbearers will be Fay Luck, Joe Boozier, Kermit Giles, Charley Boaz, Kinsey Young and M. J. Williams.

Survivors include the wife; two daughters, Mrs. Fred O'Shields of Sulphur Springs and Mrs. J. W. Rice of Shallowater; two sons, Jake and Carl Johnson, both of Shallowater; 12 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Flood Waters Strike Texas

Marooned In Trees

At Fort Worth, the Red Cross established two emergency first aid stations, one at North Side high school and another at a store near which police rescued some people marooned in trees.

A major flood also threatened at Eliasville in Young county, where a fork of the Brazos river was rising after heavy rain yesterday. At Breckenridge the Brazos river also was rising steadily.

Eliasville, built near the river around the site of an old grist mill, is not protected by any levees, though a railroad embankment does provide some protection. It has a population of about 1,200.

At Cleburne, the flood situation eased after last night's high water. Creeks which burst their banks last night were subsiding.

But the Nolan river which runs four miles west of Cleburne was two miles wide and carried in its flood waters hundreds of cattle and poultry.

Rains In Wide Area

Heavy rains fell over a wide area in Texas. The 24-hour totals at 6:30 a. m. included:

Bonham 2.02 inches, Ranger 2.79, Denton 3.97, Decatur 2.14, Valley View 3.50, Boyd 3.62, Muenster 1.53, Trenton 1.85, Sherman 2.02, Salina 4.50, Cresson (west of Fort Worth), 5.30, McKinney 2.59, Gunter 3.99, and Farmersville 1.75.

Denton's 3.97 inches of rain was accompanied by a lightning storm which narrowly missed killing James B. Anthony, 18, North Texas State college student. A lightning bolt struck Anthony while he was in the bathroom and he suffered severe shock. The rain-weighted roof of a Denton food store caved in during the night—but no one was in the store at the time.

At Highest Level

At Ranger, where 2.79 inches fell, water was running two feet over the spillway of Lake Hagaman, which was at its highest level in more than a year.

Fort Worth's flood struck first at a Liberator village trailer court alongside Farmer's branch, a tributary of the Trinity's west fork.

Farmer's branch broke out of its banks after 5.04 inches of rain fell on Fort Worth and surrounding communities.

Three persons from the trailer court were brought to St. Joseph's hospital shortly after midnight. They were G. J. Flatter, 45; his wife, 44, and their son, Gerald Edward Flatter, 3. Another son of the family was missing.

Flatter said he swam 50 yards to safety and did not remember what happened before he found himself in the water.

Mrs. Flatter was found in shoulder deep water, holding her son above her head on a bridge at Grant's Lane.

Boats Cruise Area

Rubber collapsible boats manned by airmen from Carswell Air Force base cruised the area of the trailer court. They reported taking persons from trees and the tops of trailers.

The waters of Buffalo creek boiled out of their banks at Cleburne as a windstorm and torrents of rain lashed the Central Texas town of 10,588 persons.

Sand bag dykes were thrown about the threatened western residential section, but the flood waters crested near midnight and the threat appeared over.

Two of the five bridges over Buffalo creek were washed away and all but one of the other were under water. Dead hogs and cattle from small stock farms above the city and inside the city limits, tumbled down the stream which runs through part of Cleburne.

McAnear creek, just outside Cleburne, spread over pasture lands in the dairy farming section toward Glen Rose. And several houses between Cleburne, 30 miles southwest of Fort Worth, and Godley, 12 miles to the northwest were flooded.

Annual Steak Fry Held By Tech FFA

Approximately 150 members and guests Monday night attended the annual steak fry of the Texas Tech chapter of Future Farmers of America.

Faculty members and wives attending included Dean and Mrs. W. L. Stangel, Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Young, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Leach, Mr. and Mrs L. M. Hargrave, Communist Student Who Received Aid For Science Study To Appear Before Committee

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 17—Lawmakers were assured today of a first hand account of how at least one admitted Communist received a fellowship for science study from the Atomic Energy commission.

Hans Freistadt, a University of North Carolina student, said last night he had accepted an invitation from Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) to testify before the Senate-House atomic energy committee.

It was Freistadt's fellowship which touched off the sharp inquiry on Capitol Hill into the commission's scholarship program. The 23-year-old student, Austrian born, acknowledged he is a Communist.

He wired McMahon that he wants to testify and asked the senator to name a date.

Compromise Possible

For today's session, the Senate-House committe called for testimony from Dr Detlev Bronk, chairman of the National Research council. In advance of Bronk's appearance, there were these other developments:

1. Senator Knowland (R-Calif) hinted that the Senate appropriations committee may be asked to limit the use of the commission's funds to prevent any student aid from going to Communists or fellow travelers.

2. Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) said there may be room for compromise between the committee's apparent view that the loyalty of all applicants for student aid should be investigated by the FBI and the protests by scientists and commission members that this would "put the government's finger in education."

3. Commission Chairman David E. Lilienthal said he would accept a known Communist in the student aid program if the research council recommended him, because he feels the awards should be in the hands of a "private, non-government, non-politically dominated organization."

Secrets Not Involved

But it might be a good idea, Lilienthal added, if the council were to change its methods of picking students for fellowships.

The committee heard yesterday that FBI investigations had turned up two Communists and two fellow travelers among the aid applicants. One of the Communists was Freidstadt.

Dr. A. N. Richards, vice president of the University of Pennsylvania and president of the National Academy of Science, told the committee yesterday that it now appears that the award to Freidstadt was a "mistake."

But he contended that the government should not require investigation of every applicant for student aid, since none of the science study under that program involves handling atomic secrets.

Richards left to Bronk the task of explaining just how the National Research council—which operates under direction of the Academy of Science—goes about making the fellowship awards under a contract it has with the AEC.

Loyalty Not Passed On

The commission plans to spend $23,000,000 on the student program in the year beginning July 1.

Lilienthal startled the Senate-House committee yesterday when he said that if the council recommended keeping Freidstadt on the student aid roll he would "feel obliged to accept the judgment of the council."

He added, however, he thinks that it is "unlikely" that Freidstadt, although recommended by three professors, will stay on.

Richards testified that the three professors—Nathan Rosen and W. A. Bowers of the University of North Carolina and R. R. Wright of Virginia Polytechnic institute—did not pass on Freidstadt's loyalty.

Dr. Shields Warren, head of the AEC's division of medicine and biology, said 497 fellowships have been granted. He said 103 of the fellows had been investigated by the FBI because they were going into secret work

Senator Hicken looper (R-Iowa) added that 40 more not going into the secret work were investigated before the commission stopped such inquiries.

Of those investigated, Warren said, two persons—one of them Freidstadt—had been found to be Communists. Another two, he said, were found to have "strong Communist associations."

Hickenlooper said that the cell number of the Communist other than Freidstadt was known to the commission, as well as his wife's party cell number, before he got the fellowship.

Richards suggested that the that the council might have all applicants sign a loyalty oath. Knowland said they ought to sign something giving their background, also.

Under questioning by Hickenlooper, Richards said the council would have no objection to deciding only whether a student was scientifically equipped for a scholarship, leaving the final decision on loyalty to the commission.

THE NEW, BIG ECONOMY SIZE—Chicago's Crime Laboratory wanted a new lie detector, but learned that a factory-made machine would cost the city $1295. Policemen Joe, left, and John Price, economy-minded brothers, thought they could do better than that. With an O.K. from the commissioner, they built the detector above, using some old parts and some new ones. Cost: $100.

President Of WTSTC Has Full Schedule

CANYON, May 17 (Special) — Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State Teachers college, has an extensive speaking engagement calendar for the next two months.

He was a speaker at the annual meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society, Friday, May 13 in Canyon. On Thursday, May 19, he will begin the first of seven high school commencement addresses at Happy.

Other commencement addresses will be at Hart, May 20; Groom, May 24; Big Spring, May 25 and Canyon High, May 26. The morning of May 26, President Cornette will participate in senior class exercises on the campus of WTSTC. He will make the commencement address at Vernon May 27 and at the WT Demonstration High school exercises June 1.

The morning of June 2 will be devoted to the WT commencement exercises and he will be at Phillips Junior college the same night.

July 29, Dr. Cornette will deliver the principal address at Western Kentucky State college, Bowling Green, Ky., summer graduation exercises.

Congress Groups To Fix Up Differences In HST Power Bills

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — President Truman's plans to overhaul the executive branch of the government have taken a long step nearer reality.

Senate and House conferees were given the task of ironing out differences over government reorganization bills putting broad new powers into the hands of Mr. Truman.

The Senate whipped through a bill Monday to match the action taken earlier by the House.

There remained important differences which had to be settled before a final bill could be sent to the White House.

The Senate bill exempts no government agencies from the president's power to reorganize.

To Have Veto Right

And it would give either House of congress the right to veto by a simple majority vote.

The House bill would require a majority of both the Senate and House to override a reorganization plan.

The House bill would exempt seven agencies—including the national military establishment — from any general reorganization. They would have to be dealt with separately. One of the biggest fights has been over the House plan to exempt the Army's corps of engineers in its work of building navigation and flood control projects.

Also, the House would not permit the president to establish any new executive department or designate any agency as a department headed by a secretary.

Lubbock Officer Is Assigned To Capital

Major Eugene A. Blue, son of Mrs. M. M. Blue of 2103 Twenty-second, is now stationed in Washington, D. C., with the headquarters of Airways and Air communications service. He is chief of the development division.

Major Blue is a graduate of Texas Tech's engineering school. He was commissioned in 1942 and served overseas in the China-Burma-India theater for more than 23 months.

Last year he completed post-graduate work in engineering at George Washington university in Washington, D. C.

Major Blue is married to the former Miss Ruby Ellison, daughter of Mrs. John Ellison of 3409 Twenty-first. They are residing at 4227-D Silver road, Southeast, Washington, D. C.

Maastricht, in the Netherlands, is building a harbor to accommodate 2,000-ton ships.

Charity 60 Years Ago Not Forgotten

MEMPHIS, May 17. (AP)—J. R. Kunderer of Oklahoma City isn't a man to forget a kindness.

The former Mississippi river bargehand, who'll be 80 years old in three weeks, stopped off here yesterday and gave $25,000 to City hospital, where he was a charity patient 60 years ago.

Errol Flynn's Wife Plans Nevada Jaunt

HOLLYWOOD, May 17. (INS)—Nora Eddington Flynn is scheduled to leave Hollywood for Las Vegas, Nev., on Thursday, with the film capitol grapevine guessing it will be for the purpose of getting her divorce from actor Errol Flynn.

It will be the second Las Vegas excursion for Nora in recent weeks. On her last jaunt she was accompanied by singer Dick Haymes, with whom she has been romantically linked.

Meanwhile, Haymes' wife, actress Joanne Dru, plans to wait for her divorce in Lake Tahoe, Nev. She has announced she will marry actor John Ireland next September.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE SET

SUDAN, May 17 (Special) — Plans to double the membership of Sudan Chamber of Commerce in a concentrated drive among business and professional men of the city were formed at a recent meeting. Earl Chester, newly-elected president, will be assisted by Noel D. Lumpkin and Harold D. Close, other new officers, in this drive.

Remodeled Church Will Be Dedicated

SUDAN, May 17 (Special) — Dedication services for the newly-remodeled interior of the First Baptist church will be planned soon, Rev. Wayne O. Perry, pastor, has announced.

Featured as a realistic background for the redecorated Baptistry at the front of the church will be an oil painting of a river by Mrs. Alton Wiseman, local artist. Mrs. Wiseman was commissioned to do the river scene in memory of Staff Sgt. Delbert Harvey, by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Harvey. S Sgt. Harvey was among crew members of an Army Air Forces plane lost at sea off the Solomon islands in April, 1943.

A series of gothic arches have been built to adorn the interior front. Delmer Earl McCarthy and Homer Morris designed the new arrangement, which will involve a cost of $2,000

Mexican movie producers made 91 films last year, a new high for the country.

U.S. May Step In Auto Strike

DETROIT, May 17 (AP) — The federal government's direct intervention in the 13-day-old Ford strike was believed near at hand today.

With prospects for a private settlement still apparently remote, a federal mediator arranged separate informal talks with the company and the striking CIO United Auto Workers.

Mediator Arthur C. Vlat, acting for the Detroit regional office, planned the huddles under the authority of Federal Mediation Director Cyrus S. Ching. He promised an announcement later.

The UAW-CIO's "speed-up" walkout has resulted in idleness for more than 100,000 men.

Ford Says Keep Out

Original suggestions for federal mediation met with a cool reception from the company although Ford promised cooperation.

Said John S. Bugas, chief company negotiator in the dispute:

"Without casting any reflections on the federal mediation service, we would prefer to be left alone."

Previously UAW President Walter Reuther had asked Ching to step into the fight.

"The company," Bugas said, "takes the position that disputes of this nature can best be worked out by private discussions between the parties involved.

"That has always been the position of the company."

Ford and union officials have tried for a solid week to reach an agreement, but again after Monday's talks both sides indicated little progress.

Decision Not Binding

The union accuses Ford of exceeding proper "work standards" on the assembly line, a charge which the company denies.

Government mediation is fundamentally an advisory procedure. It has no binding effect.

In theory and practice, the government man is in the position of an unbiased third party who make recommendations after listening to the facts in the case.

He makes recommendations to the parties in the dispute but these do not have to be accepted.

'MA' GOES TO BAT FOR HER SON—Grim-faced Mrs. Ada Carter gets set to shoulder an outsized sign to picket the picket picketing the Cleveland, O., bakery shop owned by her son Lee. A local of the AFL Retail Food Clerks wants to organize Mrs. Carter and the shop's five other employes over her son's refusal. "Me join a union? No!" snapped "Ma" Carter.

HEADQUARTERS ROBBED

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Forty policemen were on duty at police headquarters but they didn't seem to bother a casual visitor to the squad room. He broke into a locked, took a gun and holster and walked out after threatening an elevator operator.

Town In England To Move Old Lifeboat

BROADSTAIRS, England, May 17 (U.P.) — The village council has decided to move its principal monument, a lifeboat from the ill-fated liner Lusitania. Brought to this southeastern England resort years ago as a memento of the tragic sinking of the liner, the lifeboat is to be shifted to "a more suitable spot." These are the reasons given by the councilors:

"Visitors who arrive in a festive spirit do not want to see the town decorated with dead men's rafts. It is nearly 35 years since this sad tragedy of the sea occurred and there have been even worse horrors in the late war. It is a menace and a danger to the children who play in it."

HOUSEWIVES NOT THRIFTY

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.) — John Simonton, manager of the dairy exchange, said Memphis housewives threw away some 96,000 milk bottles last year, or $2,880 when it comes down to hard cash at three cents a bottle.

'Sterilization' Mom Loses Fourth Child

LOS ANGELES, May 17 (AP) — Another tragedy has struck the 21-year-old mother who agreed to sterilization to escape prison in the fatal beating of one of her children.

Mrs. Georgette Brucks' fourth child died Monday. The six-pound boy was born with a spinal defect.

Mrs. Brucks pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the fatal beating of her seven-month-old son, Howard, last October. A judge accepted her suggestion that she be sterilized at the time her fourth child was born in March.

Her second child, Donald, now two, was offered for adoption as a condition of the probation. Her oldest child, four, is with the father, Edmond Brucks, Wickliffe, O.

Mrs. Brucks told the court the father of her last two children was Donald Redman, 23, now in jail on a robbery charge.

Rites For Brownfield Man Scheduled Today

BROWNFIELD, May 17 (Spcl.) Funeral rites for John C. Bass, a retired farmer, were to be held at 3 p. m. today in First Baptist church of Brownfield.

Burial was scheduled for Terry County Memorial cemetery, under direction of Brownfield Funeral home.

Bass died at 1:15 p. m. Monday in his home here, after an illness of several months.

He had resided in Terry county since 1923.

Survivors include the wife; two daughters, Mrs. John Hill and Mrs. Perry Bryant, both of Brownfield; three sons, Curtis Bass of Andrews, and J. L. and Otis Bass, both of Brownfield; two sisters, Mrs. G. W. Acheson of Alabama and Mrs. R. C. Warren of Roswell; and three brothers, J. A., L. G., and A. B. Bass, all of Spur.

FDR Jr. Faces Political Bout

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—West Side Manhattan voters, aroused by a noisy and bitter campaign, decide today in a congressional election whether Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., gets over the first hurdle in his ambition to follow his late father in a political career.

As FDF did years ago, the handsome young heir to a famous name was battling Tammany Hall.

Tammany refused to give young Roosevelt the Democratic nomination—which would have handed him the election on a platter—and ran municipal court justice Benjamin Shalleck against him.

50-60,000 Votes Seen

Between 50,000 and 60,000 votes—a heavy turnout for a special election—were expected to be cast in the normally Democratic 20th district between 5 a. m. (EST) and 6 p. m.

It was largely a Roosevelt-Shalleck fight, but Republicans predicted the Democratic split will give the election to the GOP candidate, William H. McIntyre, an insurance executive.

Because of the bitterness of the campaign, extra heavy police details were assigned to the polls. There are 138,054 persons qualified to vote.

Campaign orators have made special appeals to various racial and national groups in the 20th district melting pot—Irish-Americans, Jews, Puerto Ricans, negroes and others.

Roosevelt and Shalleck forces have accused each other of plotting to bring in "floaters" to steal the election.

Tammany has charged Roosevelt is a johnny-come-lately to the district, and is trading on his father's name to win political power. It says his campaign is a plot to try to set up an anti-Truman party.

The 35-year-old Roosevelt, first of FDR's four sons to seek political office, has assailed Tammany as an evil force. He claims to be a 100-per cent Democrat, and has spoken for major phases of President Truman's program.

Roosevelt's election would be a severe setback for harrassed Tammany Hall, now led by Manhattan Borough President Hugo E. Rogers, but a Shalleck victory would greatly strengthen the Tammany leadership. Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath and New York State Democratic Chairman Paul E. Fitzpatrick have supported Shalleck.

British Actress Switches From 'Amber' To A Female Dillinger

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, May 17. (AP)—From "Forever Amber" to a female Dillinger. That's where three years in Hollywood have taken a little Irish girl named Peggy Cummins.

It was three years ago that I first met Peggy in an office at 20th-Fox, where she was to play Kathleen Winsor's free-loving heroine. Petite and Pixyish, she was fresh from England and we pondered what the future would bring her.

I saw her again this week at the studio where she is making "Gun Crazy" for the King brothers.

Killings Are Cut

"They had me killing six people in the script," she enthused. "But I think it's cut down to three now."

I asked Peggy if she ever sheds a tear over losing the Amber role.

"Not so much anymore," she said. "I guess if you aren't right for a role, that's all there is to it."

In 1946, she arrived here a wide-eyed lass of 21 and plunged almost immediately into Amber. After a few weeks of filming, the picture was halted.

The studio indicated that Peggy was not suited for the part. But some insiders praised her portrayal and said the stoppage was due to poor writing and direction.

Anyway, the Cummins footage was scrapped at a loss estimated at $700,000. The unhappy film resumed with Linda Darnell as star.

Peggy was starred with Ronald Colman in "The Late George Apley" as a consolation prize. It wasn't a box-office hit. Nor was "Moss Rose," which had the unique casting of Vic Mature as an English nobleman.

After a horse picture and a film abroad with Rex Harrison, she parted company with 20th-Fox. However, she bears no bitterness toward the studio.

Printing Of Names Of Offenders Asked

SWANSEA, Wales, May 17 (U.P.)—Swansea's chief police officer recommended a new approach to juvenile delinquency: let newspapers print the names of children in court cases.

"It is a well known fact," chief constable D. V. Turner said in his annual report, "that offenders, whether adolescent or adults, are usually more perturbed about publicity in the press than about penalties inflicted in court."

Texas Senate Inaction Hit

House Anxious To End Session

AUSTIN, May 17 (AP)—House members were grumbling today because the Senate had not taken action on any of the major money bills.

Rep. Bill Fly set the pattern yesterday when he wisecracked to Speaker Durwood Manford that the House should adjourn for two weeks because it seemed the Senate was not doing anything.

"I move the House stand adjourned until 10:30 a. m. tomorrow," he said later. "There's no sense in our sitting here working when the lieutenant governor isn't going to let the Senate take up the appropriations bills for a week.

Shivers In Michigan

The speaker turned down the motion, but other representatives said Fly had the right idea.

Lt. Gov. Allan Shivers was out of town, and several legislators said his absence was the reason for delay in taking up the bills providing funds for the state departments, colleges hospitals and courts for the next two years.

The House has passed all these bills, and most members are growing anxious to bring the session to an end.

Shivers' office reported he was in Michigan and would go from there to Washington, D. C., before returning to Austin. He is expected to be gone about a week.

The Senate didn't have enough membrs on hand to do business yesterday afternoon so it adjourned until this morning.

The House worked until 6 p. m., passing six bills during the afternoon.

County Bills Passed

Finally passed and returned to the Senate for action on House amendments was a bill giving county commissioners power to increase county officers' salaries 25 per cent and their deputies' pay 35 per cent.

Also passed was a measure permitting counties, through local option elections, to levy part or all of the 30-cent ad valorem tax which the state will cease levying after Dec. 31, 1949.

Funds could be used for soil and water conservation, flood control, or county road building.

The House tabled Rep. Deno Tufares' bill to expand the game, fish and oyster commission from a six to a nine-man board. The measure is subject to call, but yesterday's action indicated slim hope for its final passage.

Debate of a liquor control bill by Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas was cut off by adjournment of the House. Hanna said his bill would plug loopholes in the present act. Several members said some of the provisions would weaken the liquor control act

LESS GOODS PRODUCED, BUT PRICES LOWERED

Americans Cut Spending Sharply In First Three Months Of 1949 And Boost Savings

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—The American people, confronted with shrinking income, cut their spending so sharply in the first three months of 1949 that their total savings went up.

This tactic of saving more while taking in less was held accountable in large part today for this early 1949 development: the biggest slump in gross national product since te war

Gross national product is the total output of goods and services at market value—or going price.

Prices Lowered

On the basis of Commerce department estimates, it slacked to a $255,900,000,000-a-year rate in the first quarter, off $9,000,000,000 from the peak pace in the fourth quarter of last year, although still $1,000,000,000 above 1948's quarterly average.

There was a two-fold explanation: (1) Less goods and services were produced and provided, since willingness to spend on them was down; and (2) price tags and charges were lower for those that were furnished.

Business acted like consumers: eased up sharply on outlays to build up stocks of goods to sell and went a little lighter on outlays for plants and machines to increase productive capacity.

U. S. Spending Larger

Government spending on goods and services increased, howver, as a result of higher foreign aid outlays. The repartment said the government provided "a further supporting influence on the economy."

The biggest previous quarter-to-quarter declin of recent years was one of only $1,300,000,000, and that came in the first quarter of 1946 when the economic machine was being shifted from war to peacetime uses

The department's figures are adjusted to compensate for seasonat variations so that those variations won't distort comparison between lively and dull business seasons.

Savings Increase

The $9,000,000,000 annual rate drop from the fourth quarter of 1948 to the first quarter of 1949 was in sharp contrast to a $1,-100,000,000 rise in the first quarter of 1948 over the fourth quarter of 1947.

Taking just the expenditure side of things, and using annual rate figures for comparison of first quarter 1949 with the record-setting final quarter of 1948, here is the way things worked out:

Individual incomes after taxes declined only $1,600,000,000 to a $197,800,0009000 rate, yet individual expenditures for consumption dropped $4,400,000,000 to a $176,600,600,000 rate.

Contracts Let For Work On Junior High

Contracts totaling $217,585 for alteration and additions to Carroll Thompson Junior High school were let Monday night by the board of trustees of Lubbock Independent School district, the action following opening of bids at the school business office.

Contract for general construction was let to Sampson Brothers Construction company, who agreed to a $16,000 fixed fee over and above the actual cost of construction. The construction company guaranteed that the entire job would not exceed its base bid of $187,885, and any savings on that figure would be refunded to the school board.

Other Work Let

Tidmore Construction company was low with a base bid of $181,-113 for general construction, but would not guarantee that cost of construction would not go above that figure.

Contract for plumbing and heating went to McKinley Plumbing company on a cost-plus basis, with their base bid of $17,975 guaranteed as the top cost. The contract for electrical work went to John C. Pickett Electric company, with $11,725 guaranteed as the top cost.

Saving Is Sought

Action on letting of the contracts followed more than three hours of "horse trading" on the part of school board members. They pointed out that bids on a remodeling project are naturally higher than those of a new project, since contractors are never certain just what difficulties may be encountered in altering an old building.

The board, in letting the contracts on other than straight bid basis, was attempting to guarantee a saving of needed funds should the difficulties expected not arise, and the contractors find that their base bids were higher than need be.

Additions and alterations to the school plant call for a new library, a sound-proofed band room, showers and locker rooms, and general alterations and additions to heating, lighting and plumbing facilities.

Company Asks Ballot On Bargaining Agent

KANSAS CITY, May 17 (AP) — An election to determine the collective bargaining agent for Southwestern Bell Telephone company employes has been asked by the company.

Involved are workers in Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri and a part of Illinois.

The employes have been represented by the Communications Workers of America, an independent union. Recently, however, J. A. Beirne, CWA president, said it had affiliated with the CIO.

The Curious Reporter ?

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION
Have you noticed any decrease in the cost of living?

THE ANSWERS

NEFF TURNER, Abernathy, builder: "Yes, some. I think groceries are cheaper. I think dry goods are some cheaper. I think it's a gradual thing. You have more to choose from on almost anything you might desire and it hasn't been too long since we'd take anything we could get. Customers are more in a position to bargain and if something seems too high, they will pass it up."

PAUL E. McLAIN, 1002 Ave. X, manager of Western Auto store: "Yes. Our merchandise is coming down. For example, one refrigerator was $225 before the first of the year and now it's $184.95."

D. F. COGBURN, 2316 Tyler, farmer and dairyman: "Well, some, on scattered items. I believe the people can stand it better if the decreases come slowly, as they are doing. On scattered things I can tell a difference, but you kind of have to watch your buys."

W. J. GENTRY, 2010 Fifth, manager of R. & R. Refrigerator corporation: "Well, there are a few items that are lower. Persentagewise, it's not too great as yet. Prices to me are still high. Poultry and eggs seem to be somewhat lower than usual. From an overall picture, it would appear to me that food prices will be considerably lower this fall."

Ghadames, a French colony in North Africa which always has used stamps of Tunisia, is to have the first stamps of its own.

MRS. GARDNER M. PITTMAN, 2405 Tenth, housewife: "I guess, a little. In groceries, you can tell prices are lower on some items. Groceries are a few cents less here and there. I do believe that clothes seem a little cheaper."

JOHN A. McGHEE, Texas Tech men's dormitory No. 3, student: "No, not in the cost of living as a whole. Cars and a few items are down. If the building boom in Lubbock holds up, the cost of living will remain up."

Independent Oil Man Is Claimed At Dallas

DALLAS, May 17 (AP) — Alex McCutchin, 52, independent oil operator, died Monday in a Dallas hospital.

He was owner of the Alex McCutchin Oil Co. and president of a drilling company of the same name.

He had large holdings in both East and West Texas.

McCutchin, then owner of a trucking company, came to Texas during the East Texas field boom. He entered the oil business in 1931. He was a native of Oklahoma and lived at Tyler about 10 years before coming to Dallas seven years ago.

Survivors include his wife, Alma; four sons, Jerry, Gene, Ben, and Ronald; three brothers, John of Midland; Robert of Dallas, and Earl of Bixby, Okla.; three sisters, Mrs. Joe Dukes of Sacramento, Calif.; Mrs. W. A. Chapman and Mrs. Margie Shaul of Tulsa, Okla.

Man To Be Sentenced On U. S. Check Count

KANSAS CITY, May 17 (AP) — Sentencing of Marvin S. Katz, 32, on a guilty plea to a charge of altering a U. S. Treasury check has been deferred.

Federal Judge Albert A. Ridge accepted the plea of the Kansas City drug store chain owner's son Monday. He ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

Mile Extension Proven In NW Scurry County

Approximately one-mile southeast extension to Canyon-Pennsylvanian production in the Diamond M field of west-central Scurry county has been proven at Hiawatha Oil & Gas company No. 1 Wilson.

After drilling plug on 5½-inch casing cemented at 6,745 feet, over total depth 6,761 feet, operator swabbed open hole and the well kicked off. On last report, it was flowing through a one-quarter-inch choke for gauges prior to completion.

This development is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 183, block 97, H&TC survey.

Tests Being Run

Pacific Western Oil corporation has run pipe into the northwest Gaines county Devonian for tests of that formation at its No. 1 Oil Development company fee, deep wildcat between the Seminole and Russell fields.

Bottomed on 11,371 feet, the venture was waiting for cement to cure on 5½-inch casing set at 11,490 feet. Operator is due to drill plus and test open hole around Wednesday.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 315, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

To Drill 6,800 Feet

It will be the concern's No. 1 C. B. Whatley, staked 470 feet from north and east lines of section 394, block 97, H&TC survey. Elevation is 2,440 feet.

With rotary tools, it is to drill to 6,800 feet for a Canyon-Pennsylvanian exploration.

The Canyon Lime of the Pennsylvanian has made salt water at The Ohio Oil company No. 1 J. J. Emery estate, slated 8,100-foot wildcat in northwest Kent county, 15 miles southwest of Spur and 1,980 feet from north, 819 feet from east lines of section 39, block 2, H&GN survey.

A one-hour drillstem test was run at 6,171-6,185 feet. Recovery was 180 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud and 1,140 feet of salt water.

The exploration was drilling ahead from 6,382 feet in lime.

Fires Visible From Downtown Shanghai As Reds Move Closer

SHANGHAI, May 17. (AP)—Fires were visible from downtown Shanghai today as Communist forces from the southeast surged closer to Shanghai's Pootung waterfront.

A Nationalist communique said a Communist encircling column had reached the hamlets of Chowpu and Chawansha on the outskirts of Pootung, which is the industrial and dock area opposite Shanghai's bund.

The fires appeared to be from four to eight miles away. They probably were set by Nationalist planes which have been concentrating on the Communists in that area.

Reds Hunt Soft Spot

Pressure was eased at the critical points of Lunghwa airport and Woosung, fortified area at the mouth of the Whangpoo river. But the Communists, who reportedly had lost 8,000 men in the last few hours, apparently were hunting a softer spot to attack. Pootung, heavily overrun by guerrillas, seemed to be their choice.

Pootung faces the busy riverfront and downtown Shanghai.

The garrison said more than 1,000 Reds based at Fengyen drove to Chowpu, which is less than 10 miles southeast of the bund. The communique said another force of 2,000 Communists drove to Chwansha, which is 12 miles due east of the bund.

Nationalist reinforcements were being rushed to the front. Government spokesmen said the city, "unless mistakes are made," could hold out indefinitely. The morale of troops was described as high.

The city itself got a scare during the day. An explosion, caused by what spokesmen called careless handling of a shell by waterfront coolies, rocked the waterfront. A dozen or more were reported hurt by the blast. Small craft were damaged.

Planes Still Operating

The busy Soochow creek district was shaken by an aerial bomb half an hour later. Garrison spokesmen said the bomb came from a Nationalist plane returning from a bombing mission. Carelessness of the plane's crew was blamed for the bomb, which killed several pedestrians. Windows of the United Nations office were shattered.

Shanghai's shipping and aerial links with the outside world still were operating. Chinese planes, although their crews admitted the Communists were dangerously close, continued to fly from Lunghwa to Canton, Formosa and Hong Kong.

All last night heavy shelling was audible in the main part of the city. Machinegun bursts could be heard frequently.

Fortified Woosung, which commands the Shanghai sea lane, reportedly repulsed several Communists attacks with great success. Government spokesmen said the Shanghai defenders were in high spirits.

The Communist radio in Peiping said Red forces were within 12 miles of the city. It boasted Shanghai would be taken in due time.

Maritime sources said all foreign ships have been diverted from the Whangpoo but that Chinese ships still were plying the stream.

Late Showman Earl Carroll Wanted To Be Surrounded By Pretty Girls Even In Death

LOS ANGELES, May 17. (AP)—Even in death, showman Earl Carroll wanted to be surrounded by "the most beautiful girls in the world."

Carroll, who died in a Pennsylvania plane crash last June, planned an ornate base relief of chorus girls on a marble wall including a niche for his remains, a cemetery official said yesterday.

Testifying at the court contest over the showman's $1,300,000 estate, Harold S. Morrison, secretary of the Forest Lawn Memorial Park Association, Inc., said:

Relative Left $5,000

Mrs. Patricia Carroll Peck, niece and closet living relative of Carroll, is suing to break the will, which left only $5,000. Most of the fortune was left to establish a nonprofit cancer foundation.

Mrs. Peck, through attorney Harrison Ryon, claims it violates California probate code to will a trust in perpetuity in any but a charitable institution.

The court took the briefs under submission.

State Couple To Meet British King, Queen

LONDON, May 17-(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer N. Holmgreen, Bryan, Texas, are due to be presented to the King and Queen of England Wednesday and Thursday.

They are among members of the Economic Cooperation mission staff slated to attend the highlight of the British social season—presentation to the court.

Committee To Probe Race Discrimination In Railroad Unions

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—Top officials of five railroad operating unions were called before a House committee today to testify on allegations that their unions discriminate against negroes.

They were directed to appear by Rep. Powell (D-NY). Powell, a negro, is chairman of a subcommittee conducting hearings on the Truman administration's bill for a federal fair employment practices commission (FEPC).

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Order of Railway Conductors, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and the Switchmen's Union of North America all said they would have representatives at today's session.

The committee's interest in railroad union practices was touched off Thursday by Charles Houston, general counsel for the Negro Railway Executives committee and former member of the wartime Fair Employment Practices commission established by President Roosevelt.

Houston testified that negro railroad employes are denied membership in operating unions, and suggested the committee might find it "interesting" to inquire why.

The administration bill would ban unions, as well as employers, from discriminating for reasons of race, religion or color.

Alben Barkley Living Example Of U. S. Democracy In Action

BY LEE LINDER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, May 17 — Vice President Alben W. Barkley is a living example of democracy in action.

The nation's No. 2 man goes where he wants, when he wants —and flatly refuses protection of any sort.

Says Barkley: "I'm a big boy now. And besides who would want to harm a young man like me anyway?" He'll be 72 in November.

The V. P. turned him down.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder also offered to provide bodyguards. So did FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover.

Preferred Freedom

But Barkley wanted his freedom—"and I'm happier this way."

The vice president came to Philadelphia last night to address an Allied Jewish appeal dinner, seeking funds for Israel. He came alone, rode in a railroad coach after scorning pullman accomodations.

"I carried my own bag off the train too," Barkley said. "After all I'm not a sissy."

He was met at the station by several of his hosts. At the hotel he mingled with some 50 persons at a cocktail party. A photographer's flashbulbs popped constantly.

Everybody wanted to have a picture shaking hands with the vice president.

Mr. Barkley obliged. Each time, however, he put aside his Kentucky bourbon and soda to pose.

Finally he begged a moment's rest.

"Golly, fellows," he said, "I've had a long train ride and I'm just a little thirsty." He took two sips of the highball, put it aside.

Is Regular Guy

"I think I better have some tomato juice first," he said, "I didn't eat any lunch."

Barkley claims he's "just a common man, nothing fancy." In fact, he gets a kick out of people trying to figure out how to address him.

"I still call myself 'senator,' a habit after 22 years in Congress, but the kids call me 'veep,' he says. "I like that."

He could also be called "Mr. President" since that's how he's referred to in the U. S. Senate over which he now presides.

All in all, he showed his Philadelphia hosts he was a regular guy—"just one of the boys."

They loved it.

"Where else could this happen but in America," commented one man who said he had immigrated from Europe."

Old Fiddlers' Fete Scheduled At Athens

ATHENS, May 17 (Special) — As has been the custom for years in Athens, the citizens are preparing for the annual Old Fiddlers' Reunion and Home Coming which will be held May 27.

The fourteenth meeting of the Fiddlers and ex-Henderson county residents is expected to be the biggest ever held in this East Texas city. The Henderson county Chamber of Commerce is in charge of arrangements and preparations are being made to take care of some 30,000 guests.

In conjunction with the Friday program, radio stations from this area will bring their programs to Athens, and broadcasts will be made from the stage on the Public square. Fiddlers from throughout the state will be on hand, as well as many from Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi. The Fiddlers annually come to Athens to compete for the various prizes offered at the contest.

One of the highlights of the occasion will be square dancing exhibitions which will be held Friday night. The Henderson county Chamber of Commerce is mailing invitations to those who have participated in previous reunion programs.

Doctor's Wife Testifying On Affair With Stabbing Victim

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., May 17 (AP) —Mrs. Sydney Rutledge returns to the witness stand today for further cross-examination about her "affair" with the man her doctor-husband is accused of slaying.

Testifying for the defense yesterday, she told of alleged drinking and boating parties with Byron C. Hattman, 29, who was stabbed to death in a hotel room here last December.

She said that early in the morning of last July 31, while "izzy and faint" from a series of highballs, she was taken to her St. Louis apartment and forced to submit to the electrical engineer.

Ended In Stabbing

It was because of this incident that the defense claims Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, jr., St. Louis pediatrician, met Hattman in the hotel room last December 14. The meeting ended in Hattman's fatal stabbing. The state claims Rutledge lay in wait for Hattman and slew him from motives of jealousy robbery and extortion.

Under questioning, Mrs. Rutledge testified that she heard her husband discuss with Hattman sums of money to be paid Hattman if he would leave the Rutledges alone. She said she heard the amount "two thousand" mentioned in one such conversation.

Mrs. Rutledge in her testimony — interrupted several times by her tears — said that Hattman pursued her by telephone.

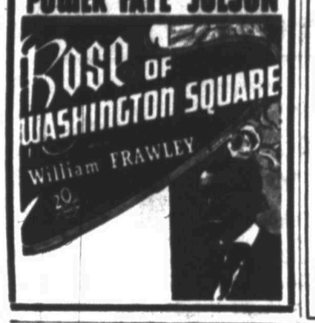

She said on the day of July 30 she went sailing with Hattman near St. Louis and had several bottles of beer. Later, she said, they had drinks at a hotel bar and another place after which "I became very dizzy and nauseated," and asked to be taken home.

At the Rutledge apartment, she went on, Hattman entered and closed the door.

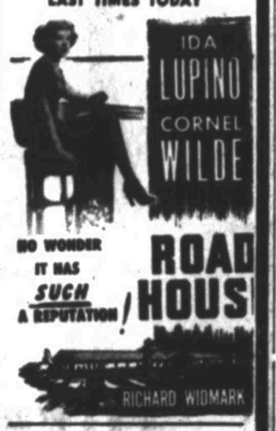

Defense counsel, R. S. Milner asked her, "did Hattman have sexual, relations with you there?"

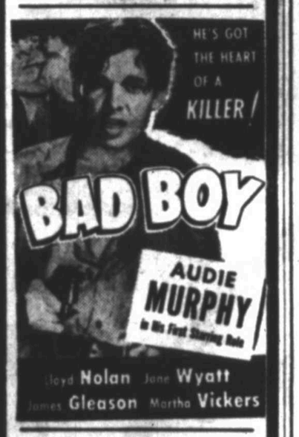

"Yes," she replied in a low whisper. Asked if she had consented, Mrs. Rutledge answered "no."

"Command Decision" is a man's picture — a remarkable, stirring, strongly flavored authoritative tribute to men at war and aerial bombardment. It has an all-male cast —there's no love theme, not even the swish of a WAC's skirt. It's the study of a great man. It's filled with the kind of discussion rarely put on the screen. It should be a command decision of every breadwinner in those parts that his family see this mighty film. We unconditionally recommend it for your "must" list.

BY DREW PEARSON: SECRET OF WHY CALDER DELAYS ARMY DECISION REVEALED TODAY

Truman Reverses FDR On Electric Bond & Share

WASHINGTON — Today will be unfolded the inside story of why Curtis Calder, tall, handsome head of giant Electric Bond and Share, delayed 60 days in accepting President Truman's bid to be secretary of the Army.

It will be unfolded before the Securities and Exchange commission in what on the surface may appear to be humdrum hearings, but which beneath the surface, means millions in dividends to stockholders.

PEARSON

Beneath the surface also, lurks the most important economic question placed before either F. D. Roosevelt or H. S. Truman. In fact it goes to certain root differences between Roosevelt and Truman.

In 1932 Roosevelt picked the big banks and utilities as his principal target of economic attack and, of them, Electric Bond and Share bore the brunt of battle. After election, FDR made good on his campaign promises, and despite murderous pressure from big business lobbies, he got Congress to pass the banking act of 1933, the securities and exchange act of 1934, the holding company act of 1935 and the investment company act of 1940.

Not only did FDR put these laws on the statute books, but he appointed his ablest men to enforce them — Justice William O. Douglas now of the U. S. Supreme Court, Justice Ferdinand Pecora now of the N. Y. Supreme Court, Leon Henderson, James M. Landis and Justice Jerome Frank of the U. S. Court of Appeals.

The company which fought hardest against these laws, especially the holding act, was Electric Bond and Share, which took to the Supreme Court almost every SEC move to protect small investors.

HST Reverses FDR

Then came the administration of Harry Truman, and FDR's crusading policy was changed almost overnight, when Truman selected the head of the corporation which so bitterly fought Roosevelt, Curtis Calder, to be secretary of the Army.

Actually Truman continues to be the great advocate of public power — at least on paper. But as in so many other cases, Truman's selection of personal undercuts his policy. For as secretary of the Army, Calder would control the Army engineers, who build the big dams, and who swing powerful influence against government power projects.

Reasons for Truman's sudden reversal of Roosevelt policy by selecting Calder for this vital post probably were:

1. Calder is the intimate friend of big investment banker floyd Odlum, largest contributor to the Truman campaign fund, and head of the world's largest investment trust — the Atlas corporation. Atlas has long dominated Electric Bond and Share, while Odlum served as its attorney and vice-president. Odlum's motto is: "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em;" and he has maneuvered to put his men in various key spots.

2. Odlum's Consolidated aircraft had paid a legal retainer to Louis Johnson and kept him as a director before Johnson became secretary of defense. Johnson is sometimes naive and super-faithful to his friends.

WHATEVER the reasons, all you have to do is read the records of the Federal Trade commission to see how far Harry Truman strayed from the policies of the man who made him.

FTC records contain chapter and verse on Calder's activities. They tell how Calder, then head of Texas Power and Light, led the power trust propaganda drive in the southwest. They tell how Calder was the first utility executive to advocate lining up schoolteachers to promote the utilities.

Later the power trust even subsidized professors and tried to eliminate textbooks which failed to laud the utilities).

Calder delivered talk after talk before schools and civic groups in the southwest, extoling the great blessings of utilities and the evils of municipal ownership. He did such a good job that he was promoted to be president of American and Foreign power (1937-1944), then went on to head up the parent company, Electric Bond and Share.

SEC Is On The Spot

What Curtis Calder runs up against before the SEC today is a battery of irate stockholders who point out that American and Foreign power has defaulted on both first and second preferred stock dividends. In addition, it hasn't paid dividends on common stock since 1930.

As a result of these defaults, a U. S. district court in Maine recently ordered the SEC to hold a hearing and listen to stockholders complaints. At first the SEC had appeared loath to do this—possibly because Truman had listened to Boss Ed Flynn of the Bronx and appointed certain friendly Democrats to the SEC. But faced with a court order, the SEC is now very much on the spot.

If it takes favorable action for the stockholders, and against Calder and Odlum, then the SEC may incur the ire of a gentleman who doesn't relish opposition to his candidates for office. (Witness his stubborn defense of Mon Walgren).

What happened was that Electric Bond & Share, proposed floating a $35,000,000 bond issue to reorganize American and Foreign power. The reorganization was opposed by some stockholders, Some of whom claimed this was merely the old game of borrowing money to pay dividends.

At first, the courts sided with the company, and against the stockholders — until something unexpected happened. The big banks and insurance companies refused to buy the new bond issue. Also the once "sucker" public shied away from buying. Result: American and Foreign power went into default on dividends on both first and second preferred stocks, causing the U. S. district court in Maine to reverse itself and order the SEC to reconsider the entire case.

That is why a battery of lawyers for both stockholders and utilities has descended on Washington, and why some of Truman's biggest campaign contributors will be in the spotlight during the humdrum hearings starting today.

WHENEVER the Congress of the United States, or the Legislature of any state, puts up an "emergency taxation" measure, old Joe Taxpayer had better do what he can to throw a monkey wrench into the passage of the levy, or else expect the 'emergency' to last a long, long time.

Perhaps you don't recall it, but 'way back in 1932, the Federal government slapped an 'emergency tax' on automobiles and automobile driving. This "emergency" is still with us — has been since 1932 — and it amounts to quite a bit every year.

For instance:

In 1948, total Federal automotive taxes totaled $1,800,000,000. Of this amount, $444,000,000 represented Federal tax on gasoline; $37,000,000 on lubricating oil; $441,000,000 on new vehicles; $159,000,000 on tires and tubes; and $129,000,000 on parts and accessories.

Since 1932, this class legislation — and it is class legislation, because it applies only to those people with automobiles — has cost the motoring taxpayer more than $8,000,000,000 closer, in fact to 10 billions of dollars than it is to nine billions.

Texas, alone, is tapped for a tremendous amount of tax money by way of the Federal automobile taxes — the old "emergency taxes" of 1932.

During 1948, the people of this state alone — those with cars, that is — paid $69,427,025 in Federal taxes, of which $27,396,277 came from the 1½-cent Federal tax on gasoline.

Just how much Texans have paid in on these "emergency taxes" since 1932, we do not know.

But it's a leadpipe cinch the amount totals pretty close to $1,000,000,000—one billion bucks.

Some emergency!

IT WOULD be very interesting to know just how much in taxes — state, federal, city, parking meter, insurance, repair, everything — the average American car owner pays out every year.

Does any reader know where such statistics can be found?

It's a cinch some organization has them and if we can get ahold of them, we will be happy to present them here.

This much is certain:

The amount of taxes, visible and hidden, that the average car owner pays is staggering when applied to the balance of the cost of owning and operating an automobile.

And if the public knew just how much it was being soaked by way of automobile taxes, the chances are that the resultant howl would bring some beneficial changes in our state, as well as our national, capital.

An 11 year-old violinist sent a letter in to one of the juvenile participation radio shows.

"I listen to your program every day," he wrote, "and my greatest ambition is to appear on it and play my violin. I have been taking lessons for three years and already have given two solos at my school. Thank you, sir. (Signed) Homer G. . . ."

The heavy hand on Homer's doting mother in preparing the letter was obvious. But she apparently left the room once it was sealed in the envelope, for on the back flap, in bold letters, Homer had written:

"Nuts to you, you big jerk!"

IS THERE such a word as "unconnected"?

Look out, now! Don't jump at conclusions!

The other day, we used the word "unconnected" in a piece we were writing about business in Lubbock. What we were saying was, "in lines unconnected with the department store business."

Mrs. Naomi Caddel, checking the proof, told us there was no such word as "unconnected." Sure enough, the dictionary doesn't show it.

However, if there is no such word, there should be. "Disconnected" is no good unless what is "disconnected" originally was "connected." We need a word to use when there never were any connections.

How about it, Mister Webster?

THE 1950 gubernatorial race in Texas, already capturing the attentions of Attorney General Price Daniel, Railroad Commissioner Olin Culberson and Lieutenant Governor Allan Shivers, now seems also to be beckoning to Land Commissioner Bascom Giles.

Although most observers expect the race to be between Daniel and Culberson, Giles could be a "sleeper."

There are those who still remember his whirlwind campaign of 10 years ago, when he unseated first-term Land Commissioner W. H. McDonald in a previously considered "impossible" whirlwind finish. They wouldn't be surprised to see Giles upset the gubernatorial apple cart next year.

The Awkward Squad

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"AMERICAN women are being ruined by labor-saving devices. They haven't enough to do and don't know they're alive."

The latest person to sound off on that subject is a woman—an Australian gynecologist — who came to America for a brief visit, looked over our women and our household gadgets and went home to make that questionable statement.

MILLETT

The woman doctor quoted specifically mentioned garbage disposal sinks and dishwashing machines as two of the gadgets contributing to the ruination of American women.

She apparently didn't stop to find out that the average American housewife still washes her own dishes, weekly scrubs out a garbage pail and hasn't much hope of owning either an electric dishwasher or a garbage gadget for a long, long time.

And she didn't tell us just how emptying garbage in the time-honored manner of sticking the hands in dishwater three times a day makes a woman feel gloriously alive.

It so happens that I get quite a few letters from women who are less than joyously alive.

But strange as it might seem to the Australian doctor they aren't women who get their work done in a jiffy by turning on a few electrical gadgets and letting them do the work.

DRUDGERY TO BLAME

THEY are, instead, invariably from tired-out, overworked mothers who are so fed up with endless household drudgery they must pled through day after day they have forgotten what it is like to feel "alive."

Some of them even outline a typical day for me. And that typical day usually starts about six-thirty in the morning and ends at bedtime, when they've finished the family mending or ironing.

There may be women in the world who, after getting a labor-saving device like a dishwashing machine, sigh for the good old days when they could plunge their hands into dishwater three times a day and feel gloriously, alive while they scoured eggs and gravy from the plates—but if there are I haven't met any of them.

And when they feel like singing a happy, little washday song it's because there's an automatic washer in the kitchen.

"Try And Stop Me"

ONE of the famous scenes in Arnold Bennett's "The Old Wives' Tale," describes a public execution. In his review of the novel, Frank Harris said it was clear that the author had never witnessed such a ceremony, and was the victim of a distorted imagination.

Harris then proceeded to tell what an execution really was like and his account was so terrifying and explicit that Bennett wrote him: "If your description only had appeared before mine, I assuredly would have utilised it. Of course, you have discovered my secret. I never have witnessed an execution." Harris replied, "Neither have I."

ALL THE way from Norway comes the story of a famous novelist who was invited to the preview of a new three-million dollar motion picture. "I like it," he said at the conclusion of the showing. "Who wrote it?" "You did," said the producer. "It's based on your last book!" "I never would have known it," admitted the writer. "I think it has the makings of a fine novel. May I use it?" "I guess so," said the producer, "but you'll have to give us an option on the film rights."

William Gargan Is Hailed As One Actor With Common Sense

NEW YORK, May 17.—The only resolution I made this year was to start a new series of pieces, all based on exceptions to the rule, and written in praiseful prose. This is largely selfish of me, since it rests my hammer-throwing, or knock, hand, which has become calloused from over-work.

RUARK

I figured that if you looked hard enough, you could fine a movie actor who wasn't a jerk, a psychiatrist who didn't claim to be able to cure a ruptured appendix with his soulskill, and a government economist who could add two and two and get the same answer every time. The actor was the toughest assignment, but I got him right here in the window. Fellow name of Gargan—William Gargan.

The highest compliment you can pay Gargan is that you would never spot him as an actor, although he has played in 110 pictures, was a successful performer on the legitimate stage, and did two and a half years on the same radio show. He has made two million bucks in 17 years in Hollywood.

Married 21 Years

Mr. Gargan is regarded as a curiosity in Hollywood, New York and Palm Springs. He has kept the same wife for 21 whole years. Imagine! In a business where they swap wives like jack knives, 21 years with the same freckle-faced dame!

Mr. Gargan greatly dislikes actors who talk like actors, dress like actors, and attempt to act like actors when they are not on stage.

"Acting," says he "is a lot of rot." Except he didn't say rot.

Bill comes from Brooklyn, from Red Hook. Here again he is an odd fellow. He does not think that Brooklyn is funny. He is not a Dodger fan. He does not say "goil" for girl, or "erster" for oyster. Bill got kicked out of high school in his second year. I asked him why.

"For being stupid," said Mr. Gargan.

BILL'S old man was a bookmaker. Bill says when his mother was wearing her big diamond ring things were going all right. When it was missing from the finger, old man Gargan was having his horse troubles. It often was missing.

Bill met Mary in a Brooklyn skating rink, which seems a fragile foundation for 21 years, but the meeting paid off in Bill, jr., now 20, and Leslie Howard Gargan, 16. Today, when the money rolls in and father Gargan is apt to be feeling a little cocky, Mary Gargan points to the bedroom. She closes the door.

In the bedroom is a bottle of cheap gin. She and Bill sit there and drink the gin. This always fetches Mr. Gargan from his high horse, since it is piognant reminder of the early Brooklyn days. They were so broke that their only credit was with a bootlegger, and they lived off neat gin and odd delicatessen, also furnished by the legger. It also reminds Bill of the early days in New York, where he and Dave Chasen made bathtub gin.

Bill was a solid hit in the stage version of "The Animal Kingdom," with Leslie Howard, in 1931. He quit the show for Hollywood and teed off immediately with another bellringer as the Marine in "Rain," with Joan Crawford. He later was nominated for an academy award for his part in "They Knew What They Wanted." He survived three depressions in Hollywood.

Shops For Play

Then this spring he just up and quit. He wearied of playing dog parts and quit. He is now shopping quietly in the east for radio, television or a play. He has read 20 plays, and thrown them all away, "Nothing but messages," he says, disgustedly.

Last year Bill gave a ring the size of a golf ball. In it was his mother's diamond. Not so long ago he bought a block of stock, and dough in his personal account to cover the check, so he called Mary who was still in Hollywood. Mary said sure there enough.

"And," she said cheerfully, "If there isn't, we can always soak the ring." The only slightly-graying Mr. Gargan is inclined to hang onto a doll like that.

Today's Journal Editorial

A PLAN WORTH STUDY

Those who are disturbed by the increasing number of fund raising campaigns will watch with interest an experiment in Michigan.

In that State, an organization has been formed known as the United Health and Welfare fund. Its purpose is to consolidate into one all the financial drives of statewide scope. Quotas are computed for counties and communities for inclusion in local Community Chest campaigns.

The Michigan movement, originated in 1947, has hit admitted snags. Some of the biggest of national hat-passers have refused to participate, insisting on conducting their own campaigns. Some localities have protested the state quotas assigned them as being too high.

Opinion, consequently, is divided as to the success of the Michigan United fund. But the preponderant view seems to be that it has cut out a good many drives. Participating this year, fund officials said, were 41 counties with 85 per cent of Michigan's giving potential.

The plan clearly merits study and possible adaption to Texas—and probably all states—where drives have become so frequent as to imperil the success of a"

European Money Aiding U. S. Funds In Recovery Efforts

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP) — European money has gone to work on a vast scale to make the Marshall Plan a success. The $8,000,000,000 of Marshall Plan funds provided so far is only a sixth or seventh of what Europe itself is spending to get back on its feet.

Before the plan got started, the bulk of the European money supply was becoming dammed up, idle, thwarted. Without the comparatively small leaven of dollars needed to buy certain essential western hemisphere products, native money resources could not go to work to rebuild the European economy.

In most of Europe the money was willing to work, but it needed help from the dollars. In some countries the native money had lost its nerve.

David Bruce, chief of the Economic Cooperation Administration's (ECA) special mission to France, says that economic stagnation seized France in the 1930s.

Goods Are Bought

The value of the franc kept falling until the last few months. Not wanting to keep their money in francs, the investors bought hoards of goods—such as rugs, jewelry, and paintings. Some rich people shipped goods abroad on consignment. The shippers kept title while the commodities were held for them in foreign warehouses. The idea was to eventually follow the goods out of the country.

The big change in France came early this year. The government announced it would seek new money in a 300,000,000,000-franc bond issue. Friends of France held their breath. If the people failed to subscribe to the loan, it would show they had no faith in their own government's financial stability. The value of the franc might have dropped out of sight, and the recovery effort would have been dealt a serious blow.

But the bond issue was a huge success. The value of the franc immediately began to rise. Another good sign: The price of gold on the French black market has been falling ever since the bond issue. The price had been boosted by farmers who had chosen to buy gold rather than risk holding on to francs. Now it seemed they were unloading gold and choosing francs.

Up to now most of the recovery plan investments in France have been made by the American government because private capital was unwilling to take the chance. Now the experts expect to see private investors get into the field.

No Change Noted

In Italy the investment situation has been much the same as in France. No marked improvement has been noted yet, although the lira has held its price for about a year now.

In Western Germany there has been a scarcity of investment capital, but to ECA officials the money supply seems to be increasing as the balance of exports over imports continues to rise.

Greece alone of the countries being helped has shown no improvement on the investment side, according to ECA officials. The continuing warfare there drains the resources of the nation.

But for the Marshall Plan countries as a whole there is a great outpouring of native investment capital. They will spend about $30,000,000,000 this fiscal year to modernize factories and farms, build new plants, homes and transportation facilities.

This means they will be taking about 20 per cent of their national incomes and plowing it back into business. In average periods of prosperity such investment is usually around 15 per cent of income. To raise it to 20 per cent, the countries will have to maintain reduced living standards for some years yet, denying themselves a lot of consumer goods.

The business outlook has to be good, and the people's faith in their countries' future must be strong to impel them to invest on such a scale. Even in the United States in some years of the depression '30s the depreciation of plant values was larger than the total of gross investment.

Diplomas Presented To Lamesa Seniors

LAMESA, May 17 (Special) — Diplomas were presented to 101 seniors of Lamesa High school this morning at the school's commencement exercise.

Presentation of diplomas was by Ray Culp, principal, and L. B. Vaughn, president of the school board.

G. B. Wadzeck, superintendent, made the scholarship awards.

Addresses by two honor students of the class highlighted the ceremony. Bill Cox, valedictorian, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cox, spoke on "looking Forward." The salutatorian, Frank Rose, son of Mrs. Eleanor Rose Campbell, delivered an address entitled "Our Future."

Other parts on the program included the processional and recessional, by June Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wright; invocation by Rev. T. L. Nipp; piano solo by Carroll Futrell; songs by the Senior Girls' trio, composed of Jean Seiler, Jane Ann Thompson and Patricia Blanton; and benediction by Rev. L. H. Simon.

Bryant Middlebrook, president of the senior class, spoke on "Lamesa Schools of Yesterday." Douglas Allen and Dee Robinson presented a piano duet, and the assembled group sang "My Alma Mater."

Ethiopia Is Planning First Junior College

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, May 17 (AP)—Ethiopia's first and largest high school will become the country's first junior college next fall.

Under present government plans, 24 selected members of this year's graduating class will form the junior college's first freshman class.

The school was opened in 1943 as the Emperor Haile Selassi I High school and now has an enrollment of 265 students. They come from throughout Ethiopia and Asmara in Eritrea. Board and room and tuition are free for the lucky boys who are selected. With the exception of a few girl day students the school is not co-educational. Girls now attending are studying a special pre-medical course to fit them as physicians' and surgeans' assistants.

NEGRO IS CRUSHED

HOUSTON, May 17 (AP)—Ten tons of steel and sand collapsed yesterday and crushed to death Clarence Jones, 19-year-old negro. Jones had been working under a 50-foot sand hopper when its steel supporting columns buckled.

GETS DEATH PENALTY

HOUSTON, May 17 (AP)—A jury yesterday convicted Porter Henderson, 40, of murder in the Feb. 12 shooting of his wife on a crowded city bus. He was given the death penalty.

Poland Launches New Educational Program

WARSAW, Poland, May 17 (AP) —The Polish government is launching a broad educational program to eliminate illiteracy. Parliament approved a new law making schooling compulsory for all illiterates and semi-illiterates between the ages of 14 and 30.

Special commissions will coordinate activities of organizations tackling illiteracy in urban or rural districts. Officials estimated 2,500,000 Poles do not know how to read or write.

Parliament also approved the issuance of Polish passports by the ministry of public administration. This work, since the end of the war, had been handled by the ministry of foreign affairs.

Arrest Solves 10 Burglaries

Arrest of a 12-year-old Lubbock youth whose father, officials said, is a convict, solved 10 recent residence burglaries, it was announced Monday afternoon by Captain of Detectives Pat Davidson.

The Roy B. Davis residence at 1901 Twenty-ninth, entered Friday;

The W. R. Tunnell residence at 1519 Twenty-fifth, entered May 1;

Many Others Listed

The M. Davis residence at 1509 Twenty-fifth, entered May 1;

The Echels residence at 1620 Sixteenth, entered Feb. 17;

The residence of Mrs. Jack M. Laneck, at 1613 Sixteenth, entered April 24;

The residence of Kenneth Pharr, at 1611 Sixteenth, entered April 24.

The other two, which had not been reported earlier to police, were at 1723 Thirtieth and "that of a kid the defendant used to run around with," police said.

Approximately $10 in money was taken from two or three piggy and church banks found over that period, police said.

In addition, several articles were broken by the burglar.

Carl Barrow, 21, of Lamesa, was released Monday afternoon upon his own recognizance, upon recommendation of District Attorney Lloyd Croslin, in connection with a charge that he had stolen a 10 and a 16 horsepower outboard motor May 12 at Buffalo lakes.

He, a student there until last Friday, was one of three Tech students who were under investigation in the case, it was said at the sheriff's office.

The other two, of Amarillo and Corsicana, were ordered released on their own recognizance to await action of the grand jury, officials said, without charge.

The charge naming Barrow was filed Saturday in the court of D. W. Robertson, justice of peace.

The three youths took the motors to Amarillo, then to Wichita Falls, where they attempted unsuccessfully to sell them without a bill of sale, officials here and in Wichita county said.

One engine, officials later were informed, was dropped in Lake Kemp, near Wichita Falls, and the other hidden at a milling company here.

The other suspects are 21 and 22, a deputy sheriff said.

Burglary of the Neil Wright, sr., residence at 1634 Main and the loss of a $165 glass chandelier and $49.95 gas heater was reported to police Monday.

The burglary, Mrs. Wright said, occurred sometime between Jan. 1 and the present.

Mary Jane Lake, 26, of Borger, was charged Monday in county court with theft of $20 by false pretext, and was fined $50 and court costs, city detectives said.

According to official reports, the woman represented that she had made a $20 down payment on an apartment for another couple, exhibiting a receipt signed by a Mr. Ross. The couple reimbursed her for the money, but found that no apartment had been rented in their name, police said.

EVENING DRESS—Paris designer Pierre Balmain claims the fashion scoop of the summer season—a bathing suit that converts to an evening gown. Here's a close-up of his two-piece creation of two-way stretch elastic fabric, studded with black beads. A floor length organdy stole and a transparent evening skirt complete the outfit. When wearer feels the urge for a dip, she just discards the accessories and heads for the water.

Plans For Boys Town In India Announced

GOA, Portuguese India, May 17 (AP)—A "Boys' Town," eastern style, is in the making in this tropical colony on the west coast of India.

Salesian missionaries, who first arrived here in April, 1946, have acquired land in the city of Nova Goa as the site of their boys' town project. The Very Rev. Vincent Scuderi, head of the Salesians in Goa, says it "will give asylum to all poor boys without any distinction of color or creed or caste."

The Salesians established centers for boys soon after their arrival here. Schools were established to teach Portuguese and English. In addition, workshops and trade schools teach printing, carpentry, mechanics, and tailoring.
