GRANDMOTHER MAIL CARRIER QUITS

Mrs. Katie Bennett, 65, has dropped a lot of letters and bulky catalogs in mail boxes since she decided in 1905 to become a star route carrier. Making the route in those days meant persuading a horse over 25 miles of rutted, unsurfaced roads. Self-starting, heated automobiles and improved roads made that part of the job easier in later years. Mrs. Bennett is shown as she delivered her last letter at Longmont, Colo., before retiring.

U. S. Demanding Halt In World Armament Race

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Feb. 23—Ambassador William C. Bullitt was considered in informed circles today to have placed the United States, with President Roosevelt's approval, beside France and Great Britain in demanding a halt to the world armament race.

Bullitt's speech last night at a Washington's birthday banquet was interpreted as a virtual indication by President Roosevelt of a new international policy as a result of Germany's rejection of French and British overtures of economic peace.

5 Proposals Are Expected

Some quarters speculated on the possibility the statement of American policy might be followed by concrete American, British and French proposals for economic collaboration with Germany.

Such a proposal bringing the United States into the European settlement, would be based on a strictly enforced agreement with the reich, these reports said, for collaboration in a general arms limitation program and lowering of trade barriers to consolidate peace.

The ambassador predicated his re-

DAUGHTER REFUSES TO BELIEVE THAT BODY WAS HER FATHER'S

(By The Associated Press)

NORMAN, Okla., Feb. 23—The family of Sam H. Wilson, 70, discarded mourning today after attending funeral services for him only to discover him alive.

Wilson, a paralysis patient at the central state hospital here, had not been told of the strange burial at which he was mistaken by his wife and son for Sam W. Wilson, another paralysis patient who died Friday.

Coincidence Discovered

The refusal of his daughter Mrs. Pearl Royce of Davis, Okla., to accept identification of the body as that of her father led to discovery of the amazing coincidence.

Hospital officials explained the men bore a resemblance.

When Sam W. Wilson died last Friday, Dr. J. H. Reiger, who has charge of 800 patients, was told Sam Wilson died. He reached into the files and drew out Sam H. Wilson's folder.

SENATE BEATS APPROVAL IN VOTE TODAY

HOUSE HAD SHOWN ITS FAVOR ON SEVERAL OTHER OCCASIONS

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 23—The Texas senate rejected today a resolution to ratify the child labor amendment to the federal constitution.

The vote of 10 to 19 with one pair defeated the proposal for this session of the legislature. The house of representatives had not acted.

27 Have Ratified

Twenty seven states had ratified, New Mexico being the most recent. President Roosevelt weeks ago requested governors of states to submit ratification and endorsed it himself. In Texas Governor James V. Allred urged it, while the state Democratic platform also favored ratification.

The house of representatives several times voted for ratification, and the senate as many times turned it down. Committees of both houses approved it.

Another Message Today

Governor Allred sent another message to the legislature today urging speedy passage of an enabling act for the constitutional amendment creating a new pardon and parole board.

The state's clemency machinery has been idle since February 1 due to the absence of such an act. The governor said this condition had resulted in many persons who should have extensions of furloughs being forced to return to prison.

House sponsors hoped to obtain passage by Thursday, but the two branches were at odds on important provisions and conference committee deliberations likely will be necessary.

Pension Issue Breaks

The explosive old age pension issue broke again on the house floor with introduction of a second resolution requesting state pension authorities to invoke the aid of county commissioners' courts to p[ick] needy persons on the rolls.

Fortune Is Hidden In Modest Grocery

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 23 (AP)—Police guarded today two money-filled suitcases containing everything from pennies to $500 bills as they sought to learn where an humble storekeep now dead, acquired the coin and a $25,000 bank account.

Mrs. Jennie Wood, sent to a hospital from her modest grocery store several days ago, wrote a note just before she died yesterday directing Dr. C. J. Albaugh and Attorney Joseph Jones to her plain three-room apartment adjoining her store.

What they found prompted them to summon the police.

There must have been more than $50,000 hidden around the house, officers said.

NAVAL LEADER DIES

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 23 (AP)—Rear Admiral Henry T. Mayo, 80, naval commander in chief during the World war, died today from a heart attack at the home of his son, Captain C. G. Mayo. He retired in 1920.

SQUAW'S CURSE ON WHITE MEN IS CARRIED OUT

(By The Associated Press)

SACO, Me., Feb. 23—The legend of a sorrowing squaw's curse on the palefaces in retribution for the death of her first-born was retold today.

The Indian mother called on the gods of the Saco river to forfeit each year the lives of three white people, the legend says.

Three Drowned Sunday

Two men and a woman were drowned Sunday, the men trying to rescue the woman, who had tumbled off a wharf.

Last year the river also took three lives, and each year as far back as can be traced from available records, at least three persons have died in the stream.

Story-tellers trace the tradition back to this tale.

In the summer of 1675, a group of British officers idling a day away saw a canoe come downstream, bearing a squaw and her infant son.

Belief Is Tested

Curious to test a belief Indian babies, like young beavers, dogs or ducks, could swim instinctively, they intercepted the canoe and upset it. The papoose

STREETS WILL BE MARKED

WORK ON PROJECT TO START ON MONDAY; WPA IN CHARGE

A Works Progress administration project, sponsored by the City of Lubbock, to construct approximately 2,000 street markers to be placed at intersections of streets and avenues, has been approved, and work will start Monday, March 8, according to district WPA authorities.

Metal letters are to be placed in concrete slabs and placed at the intersections. Although definite plans as to the number, size and exact locations of the markers have not been determined, it is probable two will be placed at each intersection.

Extend Over Long Period

The project is one that we will be able to keep in operation regardless of weather conditions," said W. F. Burke, supervisor of the division of operation of WPA district 17. It is set up to continue over a long period, he said.

About 26 government laborers will be assigned to the project. V. L. Wampler, who was superintendent of the water supply project in Yellowhouse canyon northwest of Lubbock, will supervise construction of the markers.

Markers will be arranged so that streets or avenues on which persons are traveling will be named in large letters and the intersecting street or avenue will be in smaller letters below. The markers are to be placed near the curb.

Young Farmer Held In Girl's Slaying

COATESVILLE, Pa., Feb. 23 (AP)—Alexander Meyer, 20-year-old farmer, faces possible grand jury action today after a coroner's jury found he "deliberately murdered" 16-year-old Helen Mover, whose dismembered body was found in a dynamited well on an abandoned farm.

The verdict criticised the parole system which "permits convicts of the Meyer type to be at large."

Two Women Appear In Divorce Court

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23 (AP)—Arline Judge, actress, and Mrs. Elizabeth Mankiewicz were due for divorce court appearance today.

Miss Judge, who asks custody of their son Charles, 4, charges general neglect and that Wesley Ruggles, film director, left her alone at home one evening to keep an appointment with another woman.

Joseph L. Mankiewicz, screen writer and producer, is accused by his wife of being overcritical of her housekeeping management and of failing her often he no longer loved her.

BIG PUSH FOR WORKERS NOW BEING MADE

FIRST BIG DRIVE IN INDUSTRY PLANNED SINCE 1919 ROW

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 23—The "big push" of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization—unionization of the nation's 500,000 steel workers—moved nearer to a showdown today.

Lewis and his supporters regarded the General Motors strike settlement as the opening wedge of their plan to unionize mass production workers and prepared to come to grips with steel for the first big drive in the industry since 1919.

Last Attempt Failed

The last concerted attempt to organize steel workers failed after a

ASK WAGE BOOST

Nicholas Fontecchio, C.I.O. field representative in the bustling Calumet area immediately south of Chicago, said the steel workers organization committee had enlisted more than half of the region's estimated 60,000 workers and soon would be ready to meet the region's estimated 60,000 worker and soon would be ready to mee[t] all other districts in a national convention.

The delegates themselves will decide the course on a nationwide basis, Fontecchio said. "I assume they will demand recognition of their union, shorter hours and increased wages."

WPA PROJECTS ARE PLANNED

NEW JOBS ARE TO BE OPENED TO WORKERS OVER DISTRICT

Several Works Progress administration projects of the 17th district have been completed within the last week and several others are to be started March 1 to give employment to laborers on those completed, according to information from district headquarters this morning.

A playground improvement project and football stadium at Matador High school, was completed recently. The new stadium will seat 700 persons and is one of the most modern in this part of the state. It is sub-irrigated. Seventeen hundred feet of sidewalk on the grounds were laid.

Similar One At Turkey

A similar project at Turkey High school consisted of sidewalks around the building and playground improvement and a football stadium. The stadium is smaller than the one at Matador, however.

Laborers on the Matador school project will start Monday on building a gravel and caliche road from Matador south through the Teepee flats. It is to be 9 miles long.

Gable Is Chosen As The Best-Dressed Actor But He Goes In For Comfort

CLARK GABLE
"Sartorial Virtuoso"

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Feb. 23—The man whom a group of New York style experts dubbed the best-dressed actor of the screen was dressed rather sloppily today in a scarred leather jacket, battered hat and well-worn boots.

Clark Gable was in the Kaibab national forest hunting cougars, and his appointments were strictly utilitarian. He looked nothing like the fashion plate of nimrod.

Leaves For Safari

The husky film star left for his safari late last week, and he was clad comfortably in the above-mentioned attire when he drove his station-wagon out of the film city.

Selection of Gable as the screen's best-dressed actor occasioned a little surprise among some of his associates. He is not generally considered a sartorial virtuoso.

His is a specialized field. He is at his best in sports clothes and he usually wears them.

Sets Pace In Sports Wear

White tie and tails he seldom dons, off the screen he rarely has the sleek, polished and smooth appearance of a "clothes-horse."

But Gable sets many a pace in

Death Of Buchanan Shifts Leadership

OLDEST MAN IN HOUSE TO SUCCEED TEXAN IN HIGH POST

By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—The death of Rep. James P. Buchanan (D-Tex.) placed 78-year old Rep. Edward T. Taylor (D-Colo.) today at the head of the important house appropriations committee.

The slender gray-mustached Taylor, oldest man in the house, has been directing the committee during the heart illness which led to Buchanan's death in naval hospital last night.

Friends recalled that Buchanan spoke of Taylor in the house two years ago.

Affairs In Safe Hands

"Should anything happen to me," he said, "he would become chairman of that great committee (appropriations). If that should happen the fiscal affairs of the house would be in safe keeping."

Buchanan was a critic of the administration policy of seeking "lump sum" appropriations, instead of funds allocated for specific items, but guided budget proposals through the house.

A strong believer in governmental economy, it fell to him to work for the $4,800,000,000 work relief measure, largest single appropriation in WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Rep. Hobbs (D-Ala.) proposed today employment of the movie art to guarantee what he called "simon-pure" justice in the courts.

Hobbs, a lawyer for 30 years, asked congress to authorize sound picture recording of proceedings in federal district courts. It would be used in presenting appeals.

A youth, about 18 years old, left the automobile and rode back to the business district in a taxicab. The same suspect was blamed for theft of an automobile later from U. V. Blake. The second car was recovered by Blake in downtown Lubbock.

Professional Code Of Ethics Proposed

The proposal, after a hearing last night, received approval of the house judiciary committee without a dissenting vote.

STIFF BATTLE IS PROMISED ON ISSUE

ELIMINATION OF 99TH AND 110TH DISTRICT COURTS PROPOSED

Juggling of South Plains counties and the elimination of two districts in proposed re-districting measures will find stiff opposition, it was indicated today.

A bill introduced by Rep. W. H. Adkins of Brady in the house would eliminate 99th and 110th districts, both in this section. The 99th court serves Lubbock county alone.

To Protest Changes

W. W. Campbell, president of Lubbock County Bar association, said a meeting of the association would be called to protest the changes. The association already has gone on record as opposing any changes in the courts here.

"I think we need two courts, and that need will increase as this section progresses", said Clark M. Mullican, judge of the 99th district court from the time of its organization in 1927 until his resignation last September.

The court has been "as busy as any I know of in Texas", he said.

Should Hold On To It

"It is an easy matter to abolish a court but hard to get a new one. We should hold on to it", he said.

Opposition to elimination of the 110th district already has been expressed by Judge A. J. Folley and District Attorney Alton B. Chapman, both of 110th district.

"Private interests should always yield to public interests, and I personally do not want the 99th district court continued unless it would be for the best interests of the public in this section," said Judge E. L. Pitts of the 99th district.

One Of Last To Retreat

"If the citizens of the 99th and 72nd judicial districts think we should keep both these courts intact, I shall be one of the last men to retreat from the cause," he con-

(By The Associated Press)

WAYS, Ga., Feb. 23.—In this South Georgia community on the banks of the Ogeechee river, Henry Ford will carry to fruition his dream of an ideal industrial community surrounded by farms able to sustain it.

As part of his broad program for this little town 18 miles from Savannah, Georgia's chief seaport, the Detroit automobile manufacturer announced today an automobile parts factory will be erected.

The plant will employ the people of this community which formerly knew farming, fishing and lumbering as its chief source of income, and will be closely affiliated with Ford's newly completed manual arts school here.

"We will aim, as we do in our other plants to have the proper proportion of people of all ages," he said.

"We won't have to import anybody either. Folks right here will have plenty of skill. Everybody will have a part in farming, whether he owns a farm

Oregon Woman Hauls Loads For Construction Work

By NEA Service

ALBANY, Ore. — She's "going to town" as a truck driver — a job husky men often fall down on.

Mrs. Hugh Kizer, petite and pretty, of this city, drives her own two-ton truck, hauls loads of gravel for country roads, will tackle any kind of general heavy hauling job. And she likes it.

She's First In Field

So far as she knows, Mrs. Kizer is the first woman in the country to undertake truck driving on such an extensive scale.

She's also handy with a baby carriage.

Lately Mrs. Kizer has done a good deal more truck driving than baby carriage trundling, for her daughter has long since been graduated from the perambulator. It was three years ago, due to the illness of her husband, that Mrs. Kizer first climbed up into the truck and took the wheel. Her husband's illness continued and he was forced to spend a year in a hospital. Mrs. Kizer kept on driving the truck and did pretty well at it. Today she's rated one of the best drivers in the state.

Rated as Expert

H. A. Renninger, Linn County Commissioner in charge of road work says: "We don't have any who are better. Mrs. Kizer brings in a load of gravel, dumps it where it belongs, gets out and brings in another while some of the veterans are still maneuvering around. She handles that truck of hers like a toy."

Quite a stunt, too, for a young woman weighing 115 pounds. Operating a truck in county road construction is quite different from driving an automobile. Often the driver is obliged to make his own road through brush and rocks. The slithering wheels must be guided to the right spot to be loaded from a huge steam shovel, and when the truck reaches the place where the load is to be dumped, the wheels must stop at exactly the right spot—sometimes the edge of a cliff 100 feet above a rocky creek bed.

In all her experience though, Mrs. Kizer has never had an accident, never ditched her truck except voluntarily to avoid accidents.

Accepted By Co-Workers

When work takes her a long distance from home she lives in road camps and "roughs it" as the other drivers do. She never has any difficulty with her co-workers. "The men are always good to me," she says. Few ever object to competing with a woman and none to her face.

Mrs. Kizer owns her own truck. She and her husband, both work chiefly for Linn County, but they do general heavy hauling of all sorts. Sometimes both work on the same job.

She admits she's over 30, but doesn't look it. Though work keeps her away from home much of the time, Mrs. Kizer still enjoys housework and keeps up her feminine interests. She's something of an expert at pie-making, likes pretty clothes and loves to go shopping.

Mrs. Hugh Kizer who hauls gravel to build roads and is also expert pie-maker.

Zone Meeting Plans Made By Group

There was an attendance of 18 women at a meeting of the Asbury Methodist Women's Missionary society Monday afternoon at the church, Mrs. J. E. Walter presided was in the chair. Mrs. W. F. Boddy led a devotional. Plans were made for a zone meeting which will be conducted at the church Wednesday.

Household Helps

It is a good plan to save meat stock for invalid dishes. But in case you are out of stock and wish to prepare food for an invalid add two quarts of water to one pound of chopped round beef. Then add one teaspoonful of salt and let the meat simmer in a covered pan for one hour. Remove any scum which rises to the top. Then strain the broth. The cooked meat should be served in combination with vegetables.

It is surprising what a little paint or enamel can do to discarded pieces of furniture. Try searching through the attic for old chairs and tables. Make the necessary repairs—gluing and so forth—before you apply the paint or enamel.

If you have brick around your fireplace or flag-stone hearth try rubbing it with oil applied on a soft cloth. Brick treated in such a manner will have a more seasoned appearance.

It's hard to tell where surrealism is likely to pop up next. The whole movement seems to have gone to the hairdressers' heads. "Love Springs at Midnight" they call this one. Woman Sets Stage For Movie Stars

Julie Heron, set dresser, started out to be an actress; now she "acts" to win her way with fellow worriers over big productions such as "Come and Get It."

By The AP Feature Service

HOLLYWOOD—Julie Heron plays house with ten men to help her and the dolls and guys of cinemaland to use the thingamajigs and whatnots she ferrets out of furniture stores, antique shops and junk yards. She is the only woman in full charge of a men's Hollywood studio, United Artists' set dressing section.

She tells the men where to put things in an Italian renaissance palace as for "The Affairs of Cellini" or an American lumber king's rococo mansion as for "Come and Get It." When no one knows what's fitting she finds out. When no one has the proper picture she finds it. Her job is like a continuing university education, every picture teaches her something new about the world.

"Age that mirror a little, not too much," she is likely to order her crew. "I don't want that rug—they wouldn't have a rug like that in a Spanish hacienda."

Cecil B. DeMille started her at it. Samuel Goldwyn and Pickford-Lasky productions have featured her sets. John Barrymore says she's the only person who can fix a set so he doesn't have to fight the furniture while acting.

Sixteen summers ago, Julie Heron entered pictures to be an actress. She stays behind the camera now, but still acts. Brusque and business-like when the job calls for it, sometimes "mothering" to gain a point, it always works.

"There's nothing in picture making," she said, "that women couldn't do if the men would give them a chance."

Hunt School Patrons To Be Honored

A Founders' Day program that will be presented at a meeting of the George M. Hunt Parent-Teacher association Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Central Baptist church, honor local persons who aided in the founding of the school. Relatives of the late George M. Hunt, P.-T. A. officers, patrons, members, and teachers are present. Officers, patrons, and teachers are invited to attend.

E. F. A. directed the program, which was sponsored by the Christian social committee. One hundred and 25 women attended.

Episcopal Minister Conducts Study

The Rev. J. Hodge Alves, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, continued a series of Bible discussions Monday afternoon at a meeting of the woman's auxiliary at the church. Unit 2 of the auxiliary sponsored the program. Twenty-nine members and two guests attended.

T. L. Holt of Idalou, county commissioner, was here this morning on business.

Presbyterians Are In Election Hour

First Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary elected officers Monday afternoon at a meeting at the church, Mrs. S. C. Wilson, vice-president for the current year who has been acting as president since the resignation several months ago of Mrs. H. A. Davidson, will continue as president during the new year, beginning in April. The following other officers will be installed April 26:

Mrs. Charles Galbraith, vice-president; Mrs. J. B. Jackson, secretary; Mrs. Joe Wilson, treasurer, and Mrs. T. R. Prideaux, historian (re-election).

Retiring officers are Mrs. W. L. Hester, secretary, and Mrs. F. W. Newell, treasurer.

As the president's term of office is a two-year one, it was not necessary to vote on Mrs. Wilson. This was the first year of tenure for Mrs. Davidson who resigned because of ill health.

Mrs. Lorainne D. Bucy talked on "The Growth and Development of Auxiliaries in the Southern Church," and devotional was by Mrs. E. L. Robertson.

Members of Circle 5 were hostesses for refreshments. About 40 women were present.

Baptist Society Is At Monday Meet

First Baptist Women's Missionary society, meeting at the church Monday afternoon, drew an attendance of sixty women.

Mrs. George Duval discussed Mexican needs that the society might improve. Mrs. William Lowrimore spoke on "Portraits of Jesus."

Each circle president gave a summary of the work in her circle, and Mrs. Z. L. Wright told of the Margaret students.

Cash, as well as fruit and vegetables, was donated to the activity center of the church for benevolence.

Mrs. Duval and Mrs. N. S. McBride were visitors.

I have derived such splendid relief from the troubles I enumerate above that I am just as pleased as anybody to give my public statement."

RUSH STARTED FOR LOANS

OFFICES IN DISTRICT NOW OPEN; RECORD CLEAN-UP MADE

As great a number of applications this year for federal crop and seed loans as were made in 1935 was the prediction of Fred N. Warren, field supervisor, in announcing a rush of farmers to secure loans. He has all of the offices in his district, Lynn, Lubbock, Hale and Swisher counties, now open.

A record clean-up of loans made last year has been made in this division, Mr. Warren added. Farmers also paid up on their drouth loans made in 1934.

F. C. Rector is in charge of the Lubbock office, 217 federal building. Applications were first taken Friday. The office is open all day.

Office At Tahoka

At Tahoka, Mrs. Lucille Knight has an office in the rear of the First National bank. A. L. Lockwood is chairman of the Lynn county committee.

N. C. Hix, in the First State bank. Abernathy, is receiving loans. He has been with the work for several years and is on the Hale county committee.

At Hale Center Mrs. Orlene Church, in the office of W. G. Sears, is authorized to take applications.

Mrs. Clara Kelley Nels, assistant secretary of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, is handling applications. She has handled the work for several years.

Mrs. Opal Browning handles applications at Tulia.

Not Asking For Limit

Most of the applicants, Mr. Warren explained, are not asking the limit $400. Their requests are reasonable—about what they think they will need for the season," he added.

Security will include a first lien on the crop, if for financing a crop; on livestock if feed is to be bought. Landlords will be required to waive their claims in favor of the lien to the government through the Farm Credit Administration until the loan is paid.

Checks in payment will come from the regional Emergency Crop and Feed Loan office at Dallas.

Louisiana Man Is Killed By Train

HOUSTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Arnold Purness, 32-year-old welder from Austin, La., died in a hospital last night a few hours after both legs had been cut off by a freight train.

He fell under the wheels of a box car.

Purness was so badly hurt that he was unable to give details of the accident when he was taken to the hospital.

Gov. E. D. Rivers of Georgia is a firm believer in "spare the voice and spoil the inaugural address." So the governor let go and the cameraman caught him in full swing at a high point in the speech he made before a throng in Atlanta.

UNCLE NELSON IS ALIVE ALL RIGHT

CHESTERFIELD COURTHOUSE, Va., Feb. 23 (AP)—When "Uncle" Nelson Maury ambled by the courthouse today he wondered why people stared so.

County officials in turn wondered how "Uncle" Nelson was able to amble by.

For in the county records was the statement that Nelson Maury was dead. Moreover there was a recorded bill from a negro undertaker showing payment for Nelson's burial.

Investigation disclosed there had been a death at Nelson's house, but Nelson was not the deceased. The dead man was a visitor, and his estate did not provide for burial. So he was interred as Nelson Maury.

And "Nelson Maury" is on the tombstone.

Oklahoma Baby Is Named After Wally

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Feb. 23 (AP)—The three-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Johnson was named Wally Windsor Johnson today.

"We call her Queen," explained the father, a tin shop employe.

"It was the doctor's idea, but if he'd been a boy, we'd have called him Edward."

Disasters Are Training Schools For Big Relief Staff Of The Red Cross

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—When large-scale disaster strikes, a huge, well-trained force swings into action for the Red Cross.

Headed by the President of the United States, it includes hundreds of regular relief workers and thousands of volunteers.

Previous disasters have prepared it for the work at hand. When floods swept the Ohio valley, the Red Cross had a simple plan of disaster organization ready for operation. It had been tested by the floods of 1936 and earlier years.

24-Hour Basis

Directed from national headquarters in Washington by experienced and seasoned relief workers, a far-flung organization has been established in the flood territory with administrative directors and staffs working on a 24-hour basis.

Colin Herrle, tall, slender, dynamic acting director of the Red Cross' national disaster relief service, is in charge. A veteran of 25 years' experience with the Red Cross, Herrle also headed the organization's relief work during the disastrous floods in the spring of 1936. In the present crisis he has been on duty continuously at national headquarters, sleeping and eating there.

Help From Many Sources

Acting directly under Herrle's supervision in the field are more than 300 national staff workers and 350 Red Cross nurses. In addition hundreds of experienced workers from public and private social agencies in the affected area supplement his staff.

The army, the navy, national guard, coast guard, health services, police and fire departments and two new agencies of the federal government—the civilian conservation corps and the works progress administration—are all in the field combatting disaster and aiding refugees.

It is a far cry from the relief machinery of today and that set up 48 years ago by Clara Barton and her six assistant "angels of mercy" in their little Red Cross tent in flood-ravaged Johnstown. The Red Cross was a small, comparatively unknown organization then and communication and transportation facilities were limited.

Preparedness Is Keynote

Today there is swift, skilled mobilization of the forces of succor, ranging from amateur radio operators in isolated towns to the President of the United States who is also president of the Red Cross with its 3,700 chapters prepared for immediate action in emergencies.

Preparedness is the keynote of Red Cross disaster workers. Members of the national field and service staffs attend institutes for training in disaster relief when not actually on duty in an emergency. Conferences are held following a disaster for a study of experiences and to map out methods to expedite and simplify work in the light of lessons learned.

Salaries $1,500 To $6,000

Staff members of the disaster relief service have undergone intensive training for the past four years. In addition a "disaster reserve" composed of trained people who can be counted on in an emergency has been built up.

Members of the reserves are voluntary workers and receive no compensation. Regular members are paid by the Red Cross, their salaries ranging from $1,500 to $6,000 annually.

BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 23 (AP)—When Dr. Langley Porter retired last July as dean of the University of California medical school he thought his educational career was at an end.

American Men Don't Know How To Drink Liquor

CHICAGO, Feb. 23 (AP)—John A. Moreno, chairman of the National Retail Liquor Package Stores association, inc., said in an interview today that Americans don't know how to drink intoxicating liquors.

"American women," he continued, "can hold their liquor better than the stronger sex. Most men usually make gluttons of themselves. They take whatever alcoholic beverage comes to hand at any hour of the day or night and swig it down."

Moderation in drinking was the theme of the convention.

Underground Roads Are Being Muffled

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—A new item in London's anti-noise campaign is $500,000 to muffle the underground railways this summer.

The project includes welding nearly 500 miles of trackage and other "hush" work.

Rails 90 feet long—twice as long as those in service—will be used and dents and imperfections will be removed. These operations are expected to reduce the noise by 60 percent.

Another 20 percent will be accounted for it is expected, by use of a shield which will jut from the sides of the tunnels almost touching the footplates of the trains.

Gasoline Reserve Plan Now Followed

NANKING, China, Feb. 23 (AP)—Awakened to the fact that it takes a lot of motor fuel to keep a modern military force moving, China's defense experts have hit on the scheme of requiring every automobile owner to keep a 50-gallon oil reserve available on his premises at all times.

In event of war, this reserve automatically would become the property of the military, who found that motor fuel supplies now available would keep the war machine running for about two weeks.

Constipated 30 Years

"For thirty years I had stubborn constipation. Sometimes I did not go for four or five days. I also had awful gas bloating, headaches and pains in the back. Adlerika helped right away. Now I eat sausage, bananas, pie, anything I want and never felt better. I sleep soundly all night and enjoy life." —Mrs. Mabel Schott.

If you are suffering from constipation, sleeplessness, sour stomach, and gas bloating, there is quick relief for you in Adlerika. Many report action in thirty minutes after taking just one dose. Adlerika gives complete action, cleaning your bowel tract where ordinary laxatives do not even reach.

Dr. H. L. Shook, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your bowels a real cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and stubborn constipation. Mark Halsey Drug. Adv.

BRISK ATTACK IS LAUNCHED BY RAIDERS

SECOND BATTLE WILL BE HELD TONIGHT AT TECH GYM

The Red Raiders found the range with their heavy artillery last night and stalled off—until tonight, at least—an attack by Wildcats from Arizona. When the smoke settled the scoreboard read: Texas Tech 39; University of Arizona 26.

It was a Border conference basketball battle, and an important one for the winners. The invaders from Tucson were caught by surprise in an early rapid-fire target drill with the following results:

Taking the tip-off, Judge Garrett whirled and fired from near mid-court for a bucket, catching a pass in the corner, his back to the goal. Wilkinson pivoted, sent a one-handed shot through the netting; taking definite aim from the side-lines beyond the free-throw circle, Hugh Snodgrass didn't even touch the iron ring, running away from the goal. Iggy Morris turned quickly, heaved one that swished. It was Wilkinson's turn again, and he counted. Snodgrass missed one but followed up and made it good.

And so with seven heaves at the backboard, the Reds counted six field goals and were off with a 12-0 lead less than three minutes after the game started.

The victory was a personal triumph for each of the four seniors in the starting lineup. Those four—Garrett, Snodgrass, Wilkinson and Crews—wind up their collegiate basketball careers tonight [illegible] the public as Tech stars for the last time when they meet the Wildcats in the second game of the series and the final game of Tech's 1937 schedule.

[illegible] last night it can be truthfully [illegible] Hustling [illegible] a blaze of glory.

The odds were slightly against Tech when the series opened. Arizona being the champion and still in the running for a second straight [illegible]. Last night's defeat put the pressure on the Wildcats, who now have to win from Tech tonight and [illegible] a two-game series from University of New Mexico Thursday and [illegible] New Mexico [illegible] defeated Tech twice recently [illegible] Big Red.

Surprise! It Isn't Rough

Tonight's game begins at 8 o'[illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] was a different [illegible] last night. There was no [illegible] The Raiders [illegible] to make every pass and every [illegible] count. Except in the matter of [illegible] shots they pretty well did it.

Because of a rough game was [illegible] as both teams played [illegible] and without horseplay. [illegible] player was banished [illegible] Wildcat [illegible] Barringer [illegible] Ten fouls were called against [illegible] visitors, a dozen against Tech, [illegible] there was a minimum of leering.

Defensively and offensively the [illegible] players [illegible] [illegible] Arizona's [illegible] their points were made from [illegible] shots but they were effective under the basket. Cotton Wiginton, [illegible] into replace Paul Morris, thrilled the crowd with his daring dribbling down the court through a mass of Arizona defenders and up under the basket for crips. He sank three of these and made one free throw for a swell evening.

For the second game in a row it was Captain Hugh Snodgrass whose clever dribbling and passing will be seen for the last time tonight who took scoring honors. He poured in five field goals. Judge Garrett made four. Wilkinson made three and one free shot. Crews added five points and played a clever defensive and floor game.

Cat Stars Controlled

Lorry Di Grazia, heralded prize in the Arizona lineup, was all over the court, handling himself and the ball well, but restrained to two points during the evening, both of them from the free-throw line. Barringer, lanky center, made eight points to lead his side. Coltrin, highly publicized guard and goal shooter, made but two free throws, but his floor game did not go unnoticed.

After Tech's opening gesture of a dozen points, the Wildcats began to catch on. Ralph Warford, not exactly a congenial person, opened the Wildcat scoring with a field goal. Barringer made his first one. Wilkinson for Tech and Coltrin for Arizona made free shots, and Garrett looped another field goal. Jackson, replacing Warford, shot a field [illegible] and Barringer another before [illegible] one. Jackson [illegible] Snodgrass [illegible] as the half ended 19-10.

Reserves Wind It Up

Crews opened the second half with a sizzling field goal. Coltrin made a free one for the visitors, and Wiginton, who had stayed in the game after replacing Morris, dribbled through for a crip. Di Grazia made his offensive gesture of the evening then, sinking both free shots after Crews fouled him under the basket. Snodgrass dropped in [illegible] [illegible] a free shot. Barringer [illegible] a field goal and a free goal, and Heim added a free goal.

The Reds got hot again and Garrett, Snodgrass and Wilkinson made field goals. Wiginton added a free goal and one from scrimmage for a run of nine points before the invaders added a free shot. Garrett made his final field goal, and Huffman sent in his reserves. Against them the Wildcats scored three field goals and a brace of gratis shots while Wiginton, staying with the reserves, cut loose for another crip.

SO IT CAME TO PASS that various spokesmen for the University of Arizona basketball club, here playing a Border conference series with Texas Tech that ends tonight, did read and cogitate upon certain paragraffes contained in this corner of yesterday's edition. And they forthwith took offense of a degree thereof and did telephone this agency, did berate it in various manner and did expound their grievance withal a friendly mein, methinks, and mehopes.

Whereupon the overlord of this sanctum did become remorseful—to the extent of denying that this column charged University of Arizona basketball players with employing hockey sticks in the course of a game and of suggesting that the University of Arizona players attend the business of [illegible] basketball and allow this department to attend the business of [illegible] a sports page. To which the last spokesman of a group acquiesced but gracefully.

The harassed reporter was on the verge of tears and of pointing out to his torturers that while they seemed able to withstand the physical exigencies of a basketball game they did seem lacking in ability to "take it" in newspaper criticism.

But we recalled that the preceding chapter had not been intended as a criticism, but, on the other hand, a sort of build-up as it were. We had no intent on whatsoever of standering the good name of Arizona; contrarily we were hopeful of creating respect for an athletic organization that put its heart into its work.

Among other things the Arizonans [illegible] Texas Tech has [illegible] the [illegible] innocuous [illegible] this department to [illegible] the reputation Lubbock has attained of extending the very [illegible] of hospitality to each and every visitor, alike.

We could point out and comment upon the circumstances attending the last visit a Texas Tech team made to Tucson, and the questionable welcome extended the Red Raiders when they were met at the station, not by brass bands and hearty hi-di-ho, but by a platoon of ambulance drivers, their machines decorated with large invitation, as "For Injured Tackles," "For Crippled Halfbacks," etc. But we will refrain from bringing that up again.

If we neglected to say so previously, let us announce here, as a spokesman for the dear peepul of Lubbock and Texas Tech, that the University of Arizona basketball team is welcome to our city may their visit be marked with all good things — except victory in the basketball series.

One could search long without discovering a more genial soul—off the basketball court—than Coach Fred Enke of the Wildcats. Our regard for him, in his position, is no less than our oft-repeated regard for Tex Oliver, Arizona's head man, in his position. At this writing, which is a few hours earlier than press time, results of last night's game is unknown to the reporter. Things may have transpired to alter our feelings, but for the nonce let us indicate our extreme repentance if we have wronged, however unwillingly and unwillfully, our visitors from the west.

At the same time let us challenge our visitors to produce a more perfect day, as regards the weather and the elements, than Lubbock and vicinity provided yesterday.

ALLOW US HERE to pay respects to the four graduating members of Coach Huffman's basketball crowd. They are Captain Hugh Snodgrass, popular for his clever feinting footwork, passing and dribbling, as well as for his goal shooting; Judge Arthur Howard Garrett, husky forward who for the second straight season is the club's individual high scorer; Curly Wilkinson, the long, lanky center whom we've watched through high school and college, a star at retrieving shots from the backboard and at dunking the ball through his own netting, and Leroy Crews, short but husky and talented guard who is a very important person in the lineup.

This quartet is doing its last stand in the colors of Tech tonight, and its public shouldn't need encouragement to come out and see the bowing out process.

SPRING GRIND STARTED BY NEW COACH

MORE THAN 70 BEING EXPECTED TO OFFER SERVICES TODAY

AUSTIN, Feb. 23 (AP)—Coach Dana X. Bible, new University of Texas athletic director and head football coach, started actual work today rebuilding the Longhorns' fallen gridiron prestige with a call to spring training.

More than 70 athletes were expected to attend the opening session this afternoon. Spring workouts will continue through March 24.

Asks Fair Start

Bible, over whose head hangs legislative action instituted by Senator I. J. Sulak of LaGrange threatening to break his $15,000-a-year 10-year contract with the university regents, said he asks "no more than a fair start."

"If in the course of time, I fail," he said, "then I expect to be jumped on with both feet." He would comment no further than to say he had not had an opportunity to read the resolution which asks university regents to rescind the contract and revise salary schedules of coaches to conform with those of other faculty members.

Open To Public

The first week of spring training will be open to the public and inter-squad games have been slated for three Saturday afternoons starting March 6.

Among lettermen ready to don uniforms were Hugh Wolfe, Henry Mittemeyer, John Peterson, Ray Keeling, Bill Forney, Wallace Lawson, Bernie Esunas, Nick Francovic, Will Tullos, J. T. King, Howard Terry and Charles Naiser.

Promising freshmen included Charley Haas, Tom Reed, "Beefuse" Bryan and Clyde Prestwood.

FAST GRAPPLING SHOW ARRANGED

The fighting breaks out in earnest from the very beginning tomorrow night at the Auditorium with a supporting card that might swipe the show if allowed to run long enough.

Sailor Watkins and Rod Fenton, for instance, are to fight in the curtain raiser of a promising supporting card. This is quite a comedown for the Sailorman from Post and Jackson, Miss., who last week pinned back the ears of Jerry Marku in the main event here and for the Lightning Rod from Canada, who kicked Walter Stratton into defeat in Amarillo's top billing last week.

But even the big shots must take their turns on the bottom in this circuit, so the cards will be well balanced and it's Sailor and Rod in the curtain raiser tomorrow night.

Jabbery Jerry, who put up an unexpectedly good scrap against Watkins last week, is on the semi-final tomorrow night with the Indian grappler Yaqui "Legs" Joe, and this should prove interesting.

In the main event, Andy Tremaine, who settled Joe Bauer's hash in short order with an explosive fight last week, takes on Dangerous Dale Haddock in the main event. And more about that later.

Hunk Anderson Is Just Line Mentor

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 23 (AP)—Heartly (Hunk) Anderson, Notre Dame's first contribution to the University of Michigan's football coaching staff, set speculation at rest today with the flat statement that "I'm not here to tinker with the Michigan system."

"That isn't my business," he continued. "I'm a line coach and the strategy is up to Head Coach Harry G. Kipke."

Of the Michigan system of "punt, pass and pray" while waiting for a "break," Anderson said: "I think it's all right and always has been. The record speaks for itself. Coach Yost (Athletic Director Fielding H. Yost) has had some of the best teams in the country."

PROTEST LOOMING

BROWNWOOD, Feb. 23 (AP)—Texas conference officials may have to settle a question of split seconds arising from a hectic basketball game in which Daniel Baker defeated McMurry college last night 33 to 31. The timekeeper ruled a field basket tossed by Anthony of the losers did not leave the player's hands before the game ended. The two points would have made it 33-all. McMurry said it would protest.

Lou Ambers Perks Up For Title Bout

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Lou Ambers, the lightweight champion who seems to save his best fighting for the important bouts, is beginning to perk up now that his first title defense is in sight.

Starting a preparatory campaign leading up to his championship bout with Tony Canzoneri April 2, the "Herkimer Hurricane" handed a sound thumping to the New York veteran Al Roth in a ten-round non-title bout at St. Nicholas palace last night.

Heavyweight Champ Faces Big Schedule

WAR OF PROMOTERS STILL RAGING OVER THE SERVICES OF JIM BRADDOCK IN BATTLES

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Latest developments in the war of promoters over the services of Jim Braddock for a June bout indicate the heavyweight champion will have to do a lot of scrapping to keep up with the men who make the matches.

Statements from Mike Jacobs, the "middle" man who has an interest in Max Schmeling—slated to fight Braddock here June 3 for Madison Square Garden—and in Joe Jacobs, matched with Braddock for Chicago June 22, were answered yesterday by his rival, Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden. Both said they intended to stand by their legal guns and do plenty of shooting.

Jacobs, confident there can be no hitch in the Chicago plans, made a tentative compromise offer which also would enable him to get his "cut" on a Schmeling bout.

"If on account of conditions beyond my control, the Braddock-Schmeling fight fails to materialize," said Jacobs, "I am confident I can persuade the winner of the Braddock-Louis match to meet Schmeling within 60 days."

To this Kilpatrick, fighting for the principle that contracts must be binding as well as for the Garden's finances, replied:

"I see no chance of a compromise along that or any other line."

The Garden's contract with Braddock was supposed to be as tight as a battery of legal experts could make it. However, the champion's manager, Joe Gould, has announced he will ignore it and concentrate on the Louis bout.

TIPSY WOMAN MIXED UP ON FIGHTERS: THE WRONG MAX

BY SCOTTY RESTON
Pinch Hitting for Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Max Baer swaggers into town and claims he's chastened. . . Same night he toddles down to sing with Abe Lyman's band and is embarrassed when a tipsy woman reels up and says: "Hiya Max, I bet on you last summer and won fi'ty bucks." . . . Baer is speechless for a minute until the woman's escort drags her off explaining, "that's Max Baer, not Max Schmeling." . . . Incidentally, Baer is well heeled regardless of the outcome of his comeback campaign. . . . He gets a monthly income of $1,000 for life come his 35th birthday. . . . Dizzy Dean went from Little Rock to Miami for Bill Klem's birthday party. . . . What about that, Mr. Frick? . . . Fraternizing with the umpires?

Honus Wagner will be 64 tomorrow. . . . The Reds have a pitcher named Lee Grissom. . . . He's a big, powerful left hander with ambition and an idolatrous idea of Lefty Grove. . . . Around Cincinnati they tell about the time Grove had two teeth taken out and Grissom had the same two yanked just so they'd be alike. . . . If and when that Gehrig-Ruppert feud is settled, Yankee Business Manager Ed Barrow probably will do the settling. . . Gehrig lives in New Rochelle, Barrow a couple of miles away in adjoining Larchmont, and more than likely Gehrig bewildered by the colonel's definite stand will go to Barrow for a compromise. . . .

CLOSER TO TITLE

SAN MARCOS, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Lumberjacks of Stephen F. Austin college today stood a notch nearer the Lone Star conference championship. They have won five years in a row. In a closely-fought game in which neither team was more than four points ahead, the Lumberjacks basketeers nosed out the Southwest Texas Teachers' college team last night 31 to 29.

AGGIES ARE VICTORS

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 23 (AP)—The fast-moving Texas Aggies out-scored a Houston all-star basketball team here last night, 42 to 22. The Aggies, using a fast-breaking offense, ran up a quick lead and added to it steadily.

Here's Chatter From The Great And Only Dizzy

DIZ CLAIMS THAT HE WILL LAY OUT OF THE GAME THIS YEAR; TAKES CRACK AT CARDS

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Feb. 23 (AP)—Uncensored comment from the irrepressible Mr. Jerome (Dizzy) Dean:

"So they call Frankie Frisch 'Little Muggsie?' Humph—the guy couldn't carry McGraw's glove.

"On paper the Cards have the greatest team in baseball. . . On the field they're a jealous, undisciplined bunch. . . . We've got too many managers. . . . Besides Frisch, there's Leo (Lippy) Durocher, Rickey and Sam Breadon.

"If I sign my contract—which I won't for a cent less than $50,000—not a club in the league will beat us . . . If I don't, the Cards won't finish in the first division.

"I'd like to see Frisch manage that club without me on it. . . . They would hit bottom. . . . Next year, however, if I'm back on the club, see how far up we go. . . . I won 24 games last year and saved 11 more. . . . How many times have I seen the Cards go into the late innings behind and Frisch would look up and down that bench, find me over in a corner, and say 'go in there Diz, we just got to have this one!' And Ole Diz would chunk about four balls and go in there and save the game.

"Rickey will offer me a compromise salary—but it won't get close to my terms. . . . If I'm worth all they say I am in a sale or trade, I'm worth at least 10 per cent of that out there pitching."

Laying Out This Year

(Editor's Note: By way of varying this theme, Mr. Dean last night pronounced: "I'm laying out of baseball this year; I'm tired of all the publicity." He said this in Dallas as he got on a train bound for his home in Bradenton, Fla. "And that's definite and final," he added.)

"I told a bunch of boys over at Hot Springs baseball school that if they're figuring on playing professional baseball to steer clear of the Cards. . . . They're too cheap. . . If they did sign with the Cards, however, I advised them to make their demands early—they won't get 'em later.

"That salary demand business goes for my nephew too (Brother Paul's month-old son). He looks like he might be a lefthander and good ones are scarce. . . . If he grows into a star lefty, Uncle Diz will see that he demands a big salary and gets it."

T. C. U. Ace Signs Contract

Pickups: Jimmy Lawrence, the former Texas Christian pile-driving fullback, has signed a baseball contract with the Fort Worth Panthers. . . . Heavy blow to Texas Aggie football chances was that grade card which rendered Jodie Marek, former Temple high ace, ineligible. . . . He was a great fullback who could have fitted well into Coach Homer Norton's schemes. . . . Norton, however, after a spring peep at Dick Todd believes the triple-threater to be "looser" and better than he was last year. . . . Line Coach Mike Brumbelow of Texas Christian up and about again after that appendectomy. . . . Husky Frank Kimbrough's Hardin-Simmons athletic teams have won their last 20 contests—eight straight in football and an even dozen in basketball to date.

RACE CLASSIC ON SATURDAY

FAIRY HILL CAPTURES $50,000 DERBY FOR FOXCATCHER FARM

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23. (AP)—It looks like a big week for the Foxcatcher farm's stable of race horses. Fairy Hill, the 3-year old pride and joy of William Du Pont, jr.'s Foxcatcher string, drove in to win the $50,000 added Santa Anita derby, and Rosemont, the stable's great 5-year old, after winning the $7,500 San Antonio handicap last weekend, still looms as the horse to beat in the $100,000 classic Saturday.

Yesterday's derby, a wild scramble with 21 horses going to the post in the richest race in the country of its kind, saw Jockey Maurice Peters booting Fairy Hill home by a length over the Milky Way farm's Military.

Favorites Far Back

Cornelius V. Whitney's Ptolemy ran third and the betting favorites were far out of the money—Mrs. W. H. Furst's Gerald Fifth, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Tedious, never a contender, thirteenth.

Forty thousand or more turned out for the program, betting $1,177,674 on the eight races and $183,384 on the mile and one-sixteenth derby.

Fairy Hill's victory, worth $45,425 to the Foxcatcher stable, paid $30.80, $20.50 and $13.20. Military's place money was $10,000 and $14.80 and $10.40 to the betting fraternity. Ptolemy, paying $13 to show, won $5,000 third place money and Brown Jade $2,500 for fourth position.

Rip Radcliff Will Again Be With Sox

ENID, Okla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Ray (Rip) Radcliff, hard-hitting Chicago White Sox outfielder, signed his contract today and prepared to leave next weekend for spring training at Pasadena.

Although the amount of his salary was not disclosed, Radcliff announced that he had received a "nice raise" over last season. Four previous contracts were returned unsigned.

It has come to the attention of the County officials that many persons are plowing up in the right-of-ways of roads in this County. This practice injures the roads and increases the cost of maintenance, besides being a violation of the law. All persons are requested to refrain from plowing up the right-of-ways or otherwise destroying of them throughout this County.

FLASHES OF LIFE

Advertising Note

WATERLOO, N. Y.—Maybe it's a coincidence and maybe he's a stickler for truth in advertising:

Motorists saw this sign at a farmer's home:

"Antiques."

And beneath it—

"Four to six pound roasting chickens."

Ex-Hot Water

CANNELTON, Ind.—Cannelton children are taking whisky bottles to school, but there's no cause for worry.

The bottles contain only water. Since the Ohio's unprecedented flood the pupils have had to take boiled drinking water with them. Whisky bottles have proved popular containers.

It's The Principal

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo.—"Got a quarter?" a stranger asked Ernie Beecham.

Ernie produced the coin.

"Here's a half a buck. Gimme the quarter and I'll thank you," the man told Beecham.

The stranger explained that 15 years ago he had borrowed 25 cents from Beecham for a meal.

Wind Blown

DENVER, Colo.—John Lucero, in police court on a vagrancy charge, blamed an ill wind for his plight.

Police said they found Lucero crouched behind a fence near two squawking hens, his sweater covered with feathers.

Lucero insisted that he had not touched the chickens and had no intentions of doing so. He said the wind blew the feathers on him.

"Then you should have gone with the wind," Judge Philip Gilliam said. "The fine is $25."

Of Ancient Vintage

GENESEO, Ill.—Albert E. Miller has taken out his twenty-second license on his touring car.

The antiquated model, he said, is still hitting on all six cylinders. It may be an ugly duckling in comparison with the stream line 1937 varieties, but Miller is satisfied.

Money's Worth

WOLCOTTVILLE, Ind.—Ray Snahower didn't realize he was making such a good investment when he paid $400 for a team of four-year-old brown geldings 26 years ago.

The geldings still are going strong. Snahower says they work every day and eat as heartily as young horses.

Families Welcome

OYSTER BAY, N. Y.—The little, gray clapboard church where Theodore Roosevelt worshiped as a boy has 1937 streamlined accoutrement now—a baby parking nursery.

Seems as though Pastor Alfred J. Penney wasn't satisfied with church attendence, and he decided maybe mothers had to stay home with their broods. So he instituted baby parking in the parish house.

Yes, he said, it worked.

Some Experience

ST. PAUL—Charles T. Smith, 43, a WPA worker, had three sticks of dynamite explode under his feet and emerged unscathed.

"The only thing I heard was a big bam," he recounted. "I guess maybe I went eight or ten feet in the air."

"And lit running," interjected a witness.

Heavy Eater

LOS ANGELES—Surgeons received something of a shock when they placed 7-year-old James Goetz under a fluroscope to locate an open safety pin he swallowed.

They found the pin in his throat. Then they glanced at his stomach. In it was another open safety pin, a one-inch screw, three one-inch nails, two tacks and a toy whistle. After removing the throat obstruction, doctors advised that the child be placed under observation to determine if another operation were necessary.

Light Fingered

KANSAS CITY—Patrolman John Burns could hardly believe his eyes when he saw a man walking along his beat, radiating a soft green glow.

Burns stopped the man and found he had a street lantern hanging beneath his transparent raincoat. The man told Burns he had picked up the lantern off a street repair job and was carrying it to keep warm.

According to recent estimates, per cent of the people of the U S own 59 per cent of the wealth; 1 per cent own 90 per cent; 87 pe cent own 10 per cent; and 75 pe cent of the people own practicall nothing.

JOHN L. Lewis with one eye on his personal ambitions and the other on keeping his job must be laughing up his sleeve today.

And The Plainsman doesn't blame him.

A couple of weeks ago, when General Motors was settled down for a long, quiet tussle with the automobile workers union, President Roosevelt, battling behind the scenes for the strikers, called on Walter P. Chrysler to help him out. Accommodating Mr. Chrysler granted a wage hike and a working hours cut to the men in his plants and Henry Ford followed suit. That left General Motors in a nine-hole and brought about a peace which although probably favorable to General Motors, was not as favorable as it would have been had the strike been prolonged another few weeks.

Now Mr. Lewis trains his guns on Mr. Chrysler and announces that Mr. Ford is next.

Score a couple of hits for the bushy-headed mine union leader!

THIS is the greatest leather jacket country in the whole United States—which fact is a compliment to West Texas.

Because anybody from the most important citizen to the humblest resident is apt to be wearing a leather jacket, this is the most democratic part of the whole nation. It is one place where "city slicker clothes" don't make the man.

Another indication of the leather jackets is that West Texas is a place where men think more of their work, and doing it comfortably, than they do for a lot of so-called rules of "good taste," and that this is a country where men are still more intent upon what they are doing than on how they look while they're doing it.

Hurrah for the democratic serviceable, comfortable leather jacket! As long as we continue as a leather-jacket country, the longer the country will be [illegible] ahead.

Note to the city department of streets and alleys: There are two sizeable holes in 16th street, just east of where Avenue K intersects that have been there quite a spell. The holes are not in the brick pavement, but in some of the chewing gum hard-surfacing on a fill-in. It is impossible for a westward driver to stay on his side of the street and miss the holes and if he doesn't miss them, his car is shaken and jolted, which also wears the holes bigger and deeper as time goes on. It might be a good idea to look into the matter unless the holes represent the first step in a plan to go into competition with Carlsbad caverns.

SWEET are the uses of publicity. No sooner do we get John Barrymore married, separated and back with his wife again than the Buddy Rogers-Mary Pickford nuptial plans pop up once more.

While The Plainsman is no prophet, he's willing to bet that by the time Buddy and Aunt Mary are safely wed Sister Aimee will find some way to get before the public.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

SYNOPSIS: Laurie has consented to marry the wealthy airplane manufacturer, Mark Albery, because Albery has declared that otherwise he will ruin the career of Rex Moore, the airman. And Laurie loves Rex, and Rex loves Laurie, although they have allowed trivialities to separate them. Now Laurie has met Rex by accident and has told him that she is to marry Albery. Rex is horrified, and disappointed with Laurie as well.

Chapter 38
ALBERY AGAIN

"It's by no means safe yet," said Rex Moore to Mark Albery, discussing the new fuel a couple of days later. "It was just luck that we escaped yesterday. I only landed in the nick of time, and bang went the engine."

"You wouldn't try it for a longer flight?"

"Not in its present state."

"It's a pity. It would make such a sensation. I think you had better put off the Pacific flight until we get it right. It would make such a huge difference to us both—almost halve your time."

Rex Moore looked gloomy.

"I'm not at all sure that it's ever going to be any good," he said. "It's too tricky—anyhow, so far. You can't begin to tell the speed at which it become dangerous. Yesterday, when the first explosion happened, I was making much less than usual owing to the wind. What can you do about that?"

"Get Gerard to go on with his experiments, my dear fellow."

"You don't want to risk lives, Mr. Albery?"

"Of course not. We must have patience and take every precaution, as we always have done. And you're not one to talk about risks, Moore!"

"I should have to put off the Pacific flight," said the airman ungra[illegible].

"Well, think it over. Have a drink, Moore? You must be tired out. I asked you to come up to me so late because I was so anxious to know what you really felt about it, not having seen you yesterday."

Albery got up and went to a table under a [illegible] window and poured out [illegible] for Rex Moore.

[illegible] the great [illegible] of the Orellan Airplane Factory. It was built up on a glass-enclosed corridor that ran along one side of [illegible] hangar about [illegible]. One [illegible] [illegible] staircase.

Underneath was nothing but the [illegible]. The room was small and furnished as a luxurious office [illegible] Albery spent a great deal of his time [illegible].

He [illegible] to be on the spot and often sat here reading and [illegible] his restless imaginative brain engaged on [illegible] of controlling the entire [illegible] of the world.

It was after eleven o'clock. Rex Moore had just come back from [illegible] where he had spent the day [illegible] the [illegible] South America [illegible] he was thinking [illegible] of the Pacific flight. He [illegible] at the [illegible] Albery [illegible] back.

He did not want a drink, as he had had [illegible] day and wanted to be up with the dawn. Anyhow, he [illegible] the idea of drinking with Albery who handed him a tumbler and held up his own.

"You haven't congratulated me, Moore. I want you to drink to our happiness. Laurie's and mine. We may as well drop all humbug from the beginning. You know she has told me the whole truth about your little game. If I may say so, Moore [illegible] was rather stupid and not quite worthy of you."

Rex Moore took a gulp at his glass.

"I acted like a lunatic and a cad," he [illegible] his tanned face dark with disgust and humiliation.

"You mustn't be too hard on yourself," Albery retorted smoothly. "Where you were wrong was that you [illegible] me. But I must give you credit for having shielded Laurie when [illegible] might have shown her up. But, my dear boy, I'm sure this is one of the affairs in which the less said the better. We'll forget all about it. Only I want to tell you that you can leave all the details to me. If you do exactly as I tell you, no more blame shall be attached to you than is absolutely necessary. And what does that amount to when people all around you are being divorced every day?"

Rex Moore was trembling with rage and revolt. He could hardly keep his hands off that inscrutable smiling face. He controlled himself with a mighty effort. Laurie had chosen. There was nothing to be done.

"Another drink, Moore!" said Albery taking his glass and filling it.

This time Rex swallowed it at a gulp. He must get away or something would happen.

"I'll be getting along," he said. "I want to be up early."

"Good-night, my dear boy!" Albery went to the door and opened it. All was darkness outside. "How careless, they've forgotten and switched off the lights downstairs!" he said. There were several systems of lighting in the buildings in case of fire. "I'm staying on for a bit. Can you find your way?"

"Yes, thanks. I'll walk along the corridor and go down the staircase at the other end. The door is always open." That was the way he was in the habit of reaching his bungalow from Albery's office. It was only a few hundred yards from the door of the big building.

Albery went back into his office and shut the door.

Rex Moore hesitated for a moment when he found himself in complete darkness, but he could find his way along the corridor blindfolded. He was terribly tired. The scene with Albery had upset him. There was a loud buzzing in his head. Why had he had those two drinks?

He hurried along. He would be glad to get to bed.

And, suddenly, the solid ground [illegible] under him. The [illegible] He [illegible].

In the [illegible] into space Rex Moore found himself thinking: "This means death!" And in the same flash he saw himself [illegible] by [illegible] cost [illegible] when he had nearly fallen out of [illegible] at Liverpool station.

And with that memory came sudden power and inspiration.

With a desperate effort as of a drowning man, he lifted his arms [illegible] his body sideways and it [illegible] something solid. Half stunned [illegible] the strength of mortal [illegible] he managed to get a grip [illegible] plank and with a mighty [illegible] to hoist himself up and to [illegible] spread-eagled, several yards from the open pit that had [illegible] him in the blackness of the [illegible].

He did not know that he cried out [illegible] he must have done so for the door of Albery's office opened in the [illegible] and Albery's figure became [illegible] in a thin beam of light.

Moore could see but he could not hear for a few seconds. His heart was beating in his ears louder than any engine.

"Is anything the matter?" Albery shouted. "Is that you, Moore? Did you call?"

And Albery began to walk along the corridor.

Then Rex Moore found his voice.

"For God's sake, keep back!" he cried sharply. "There's a hole here. I nearly went through. Some of the boards are gone."

Albery gave vent to a shocked exclamation.

"Are you all right? Wait a minute! Don't move! I'll go down and switch on the lights."

The blackness vanished in a glare of strong white light that half blinded the airman for a few moments.

Then he slowly stood up and saw what had so nearly happened to him.

From the other side of the large gap in the flooring, about six foot square, Albery approached.

Rex Moore had never seen his face showing emotion before.

"Moore, what an escape! However did you save yourself in the dark?"

"I don't know. Instinct, I suppose," said Rex grimly.

They both peered down through the hole into the great hangar, the [illegible] floor of which was quite [illegible] feet below. The explanation [illegible] enough. The boards that [illegible] removed formed a trap [illegible] through which the workmen [illegible] a narrow platform from [illegible] they could inspect the pulleys that lifted the planes up to any desired height if the hangar should be too crowded to hold them all on the floor level.

The workmen had evidently been [illegible] and neglected to replace it.

[illegible] Rex Moore has a disappointment, tomorrow.

THE "FLOOD BOOM" AT LOUISVILLE

We haven't the slightest [illegible] who it was who first observed that "it's an ill wind that blows nobody good", but whoever it was had a pretty good [illegible] life in general.

Truth of the old adage was proven all over again in Louisville last week when a so-called "flood boom" hit the city's business section and the greatest rush of buying in history was seen.

Because recent high waters had ruined furnishings in hundreds of homes, re-opened house furnishing establishments led the buying parade and hung up unheard-of retail records. But buying didn't stop with household furnishings. It permeated every type of business in the Kentucky metropolis. On Saturday, volume of buying in many cases was 10 times greater than on the same Saturday in 1936 and merchants were [illegible] middle of March Louisville [illegible] that has never before been reached.

The devastating floods [illegible] city cost untold millions, but Louisville people [illegible] dismayed, are stepping [illegible] themselves in short order.

The situation illustrates the fact [illegible] country's "comeback power" is the greatest in the world and that in spite of [illegible] people can and do [illegible].

Not only is the [illegible] deeply satisfying.

From Hollywood MOVIE SIDELIGHTS

Behind The Scenes With The Stars Of Talkietown

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 23—Unlike most movie executives, Noel Smith makes his job sound absurdly easy. Too easy; there must be a catch in it somewhere.

What Mr. Smith does is direct westerns, or hoss opery. He has been doing this for years and years, and if all the cowboy films he has shot were joined end to end they could make a triple-strand fence around Texas.

The boots-and-saddle epic now being directed by Smith at Warner Brothers is "Miracle Mountain." It has Dick Foran and a story with a new twist.

The new twist is that the hero's father doesn't get killed. The director says that it's a good idea always to kill off the hero's old father. That's for pathos, and to provide justification for vengeance. But Smith determined to do something unusual this time, so he is killing off the hero's pal instead.

When he gets hold of a new script, Smith calls for his blue pencil and begins slashing. He cuts out dialog until there is just enough left to [illegible] the customers through the story. "Western fans don't want talk," said Smith. "They want to see chases and hear guns going off."

No Tableaux

The boy-meets-girl, boy-loses-girl, boy-gets-girl formula is no good for camera rodeos, declares the expert. The western formula is: villain chases hero, hero chases villain [illegible] kills [illegible].

[illegible]

A western hero must be a man [illegible]

[illegible]

On Their Behavior

[illegible] of the 14 had been [illegible] office before [illegible] mothers [illegible] have been more trouble than [illegible].

[illegible] youngsters were making no [illegible] at all. They were supposed to [illegible] years old. Without being [illegible] they had formed a line [illegible] wall and were standing [illegible].

[illegible] that several of [illegible] were friends, yet [illegible] was no fidgeting or [illegible].

Little Troupers

[illegible] were girls. All were attractive, well-formed children, but [illegible] mature faces. I [illegible] they did not look babyish. [illegible] like pouty little chorus [illegible] costumes.

[illegible] were carefully dressed and [illegible] it was easy to imagine [illegible] careful preparation and [illegible] expense had been lavished on them that morning by hopeful [illegible].

[illegible] Santell and his assistant came to look at them. The [illegible] teacher, Rachel Smith, [illegible] to answer all his [illegible]. They needed no [illegible] obviously each [illegible] at home.

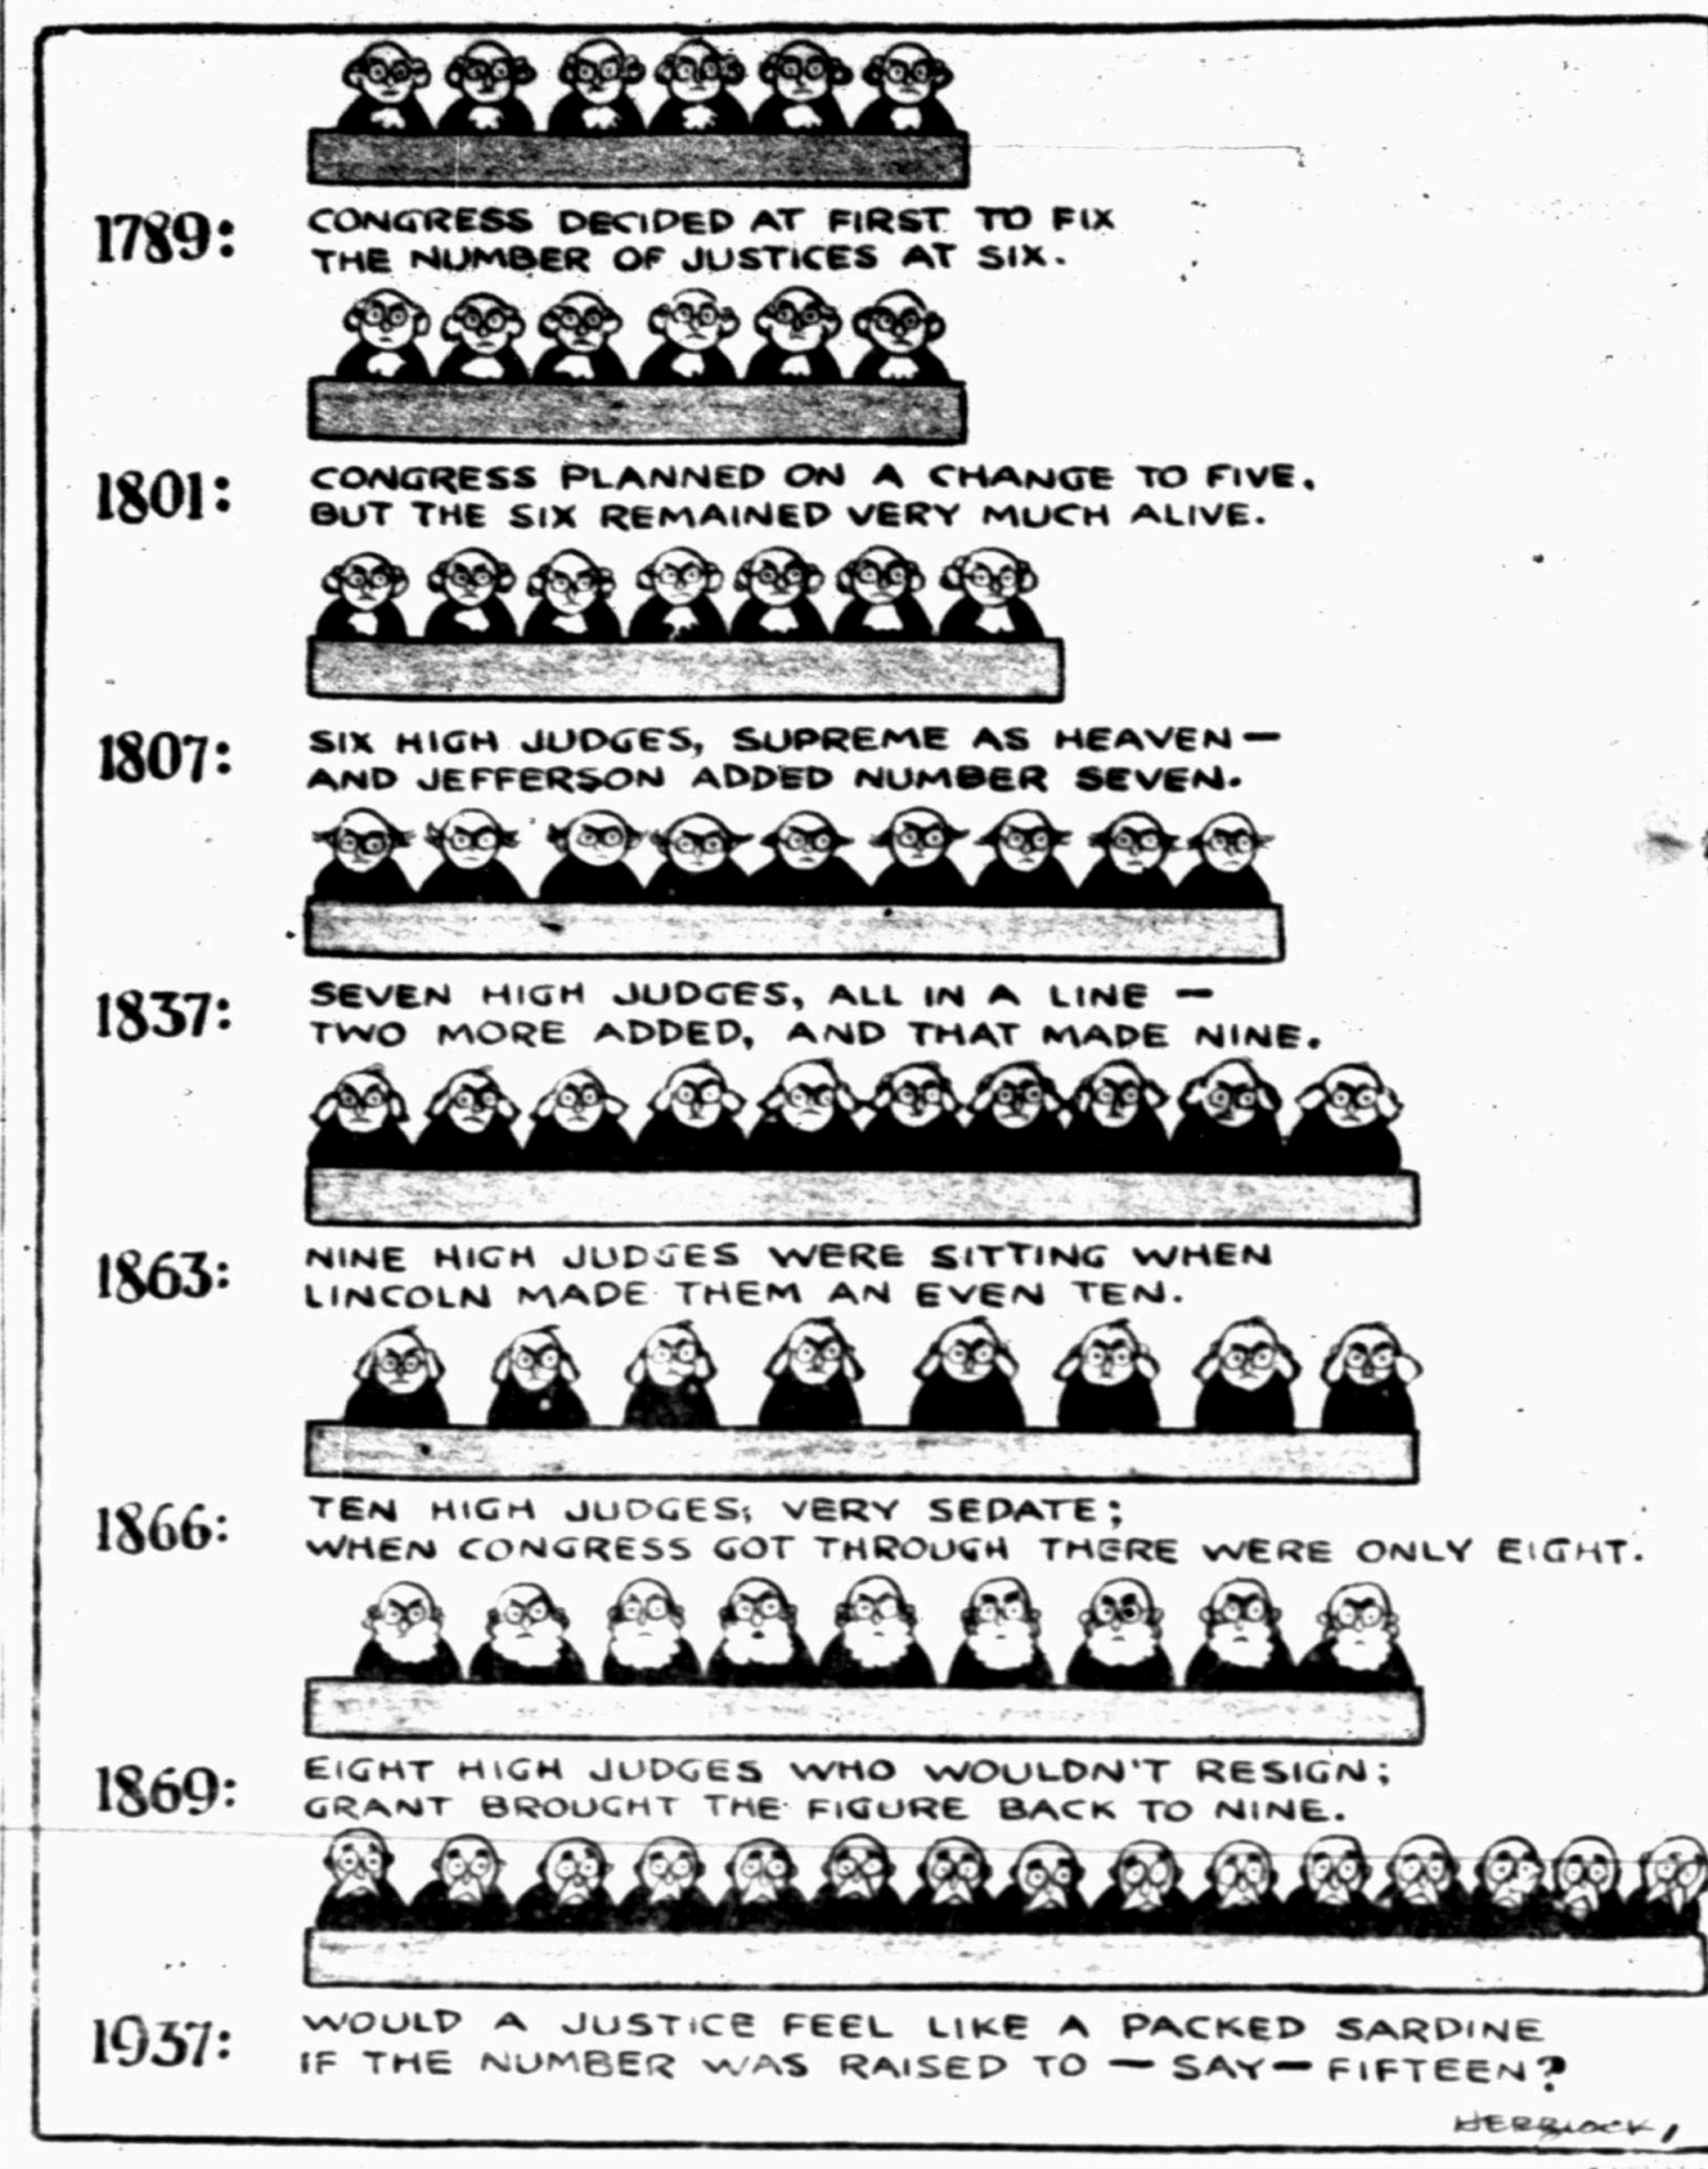

[illegible] there were those [illegible] gestures of a smooth[illegible] reassuring touch to [illegible] they assumed [illegible].

[illegible] two boys, obviously a [illegible] stood there, fidgeting [illegible] embarrassed. Santell [illegible] at once.

[illegible] asked questions to put [illegible]. They gave their names, [illegible] that they were 3 years [illegible] director told me he recognized several of them, and that they were at least 5.

Finally he selected two little girls. The others gave no sign of disappointment. They were little troupers and filed out, chattering, to meet their disappointed mothers.

Historical Figures

Roosevelt's Court Reform Plan Evolving Into Fight Over Youth And Age In Public Life, Is Rodney Dutcher's View

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—The bitterness of older men against the implied insults of a younger man is a real factor in the Supreme court struggle.

There are young men on both sides and old men on both sides, but the fight is one between old men and young men. If you average separately the ages of the outstanding protagonists and antagonists, you will find the disparity as great as that between the 75-year average age of the six justices over 70 and the age of Roosevelt, who is only 55.

Dutcher

Numerous reasons actuate senators and others who have declared for or against the proposal to appoint additional Supreme court justices in cases where sitting judges over 70 don't retire. These include party loyalty, fears of Fascism, greed for patronage, innate conservatism, innate progressivism, and so on.

But everyone here on the ground realizes that when Roosevelt—with a [illegible] asserted that judges over 70 [illegible] served beyond mental and physical capacity while unable to perceive their infirmities, he embittered many of the old-timers. They otherwise might have been able to take his proposal more calmly.

Age Line Doesn't Set Well

The age line of demarcation in this fight seems to be about 60 years. Men over that age have been advised, in effect, by the President at a press conference, that he would appoint no sexagenarians to federal judgeships. That doesn't set well with some who had hoped to end their careers on the bench, or felt they might depend on a judgeship in case constituents voted them out of office. Also the Supreme court retirement would permit justices to retire with full pay at 70, only if they had served 10 years.

Aside from the five conservative justices over 70, whom Roosevelt wants off the bench, most conspicuous figures in the opposition battalion [illegible] Senators William E. Borah, 71; Hiram Johnson, 70; Carter Glass, 79; George W. Norris, 75; Frederick Van Nuys of Indiana, 62; Alva Adams of Colorado, 61; Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina, 72; William H. King of Utah, 72; Walter F. George of Georgia, 59, and Josiah Bailey of North Carolina.

Outside the Senate one observes such [illegible] as Hatton Sumners, 61, chairman of the House Judiciary committee, who might easily have expected to wind up a judicial appointee. He [illegible] distinctly [illegible] to the Roosevelt program. [illegible] John W. Davis [illegible] to hope he would wind up as Supreme court justice or perhaps even chief justice [illegible] conservative administration. He is now 64.

"Youngsters" For Roosevelt

Now as to the men who have thrown themselves conspicuously into the fight for Roosevelt. A reasonably complete list in the Senate would include Senators Bob LaFollette of Wisconsin, 42; Hugo Black of Alabama, 50; Lew Schwellenbach of Washington, 42; Ed Johnson of Colorado, 53; Sherman Minton of Indiana, 46; Jimmy Byrnes of South Carolina, 57, and Bob Wagner of New York, 59.

The outstanding protagonist in the House is Congressman Maury Maverick of Texas, 41. And a list of those who helped Roosevelt work out the plan, or are now plugging for it, probably would include Assistant Attorney General Robert Jackson, 45; Solicitor General Stanley F. Reed, 52; Charles West, White House liason man with Capitol Hill, 42; Jimmy Roosevelt, 29; Donald Richberg, 55; Ben Cohen, 39, and Thomas G. Corcoran, 37. These ages stand out in marked contrast against those of the six oldest justices.

There are certain exceptions, but the list is small.

Answering complaints that Roosevelt slurred men over 70 as a class, his friends reply that establishment of the age principle was the only way he could rejuvenate the court and its philosophy without brazenly "packing" it. Just the same, there are many proud old hearts here that will continue to hold it against him.

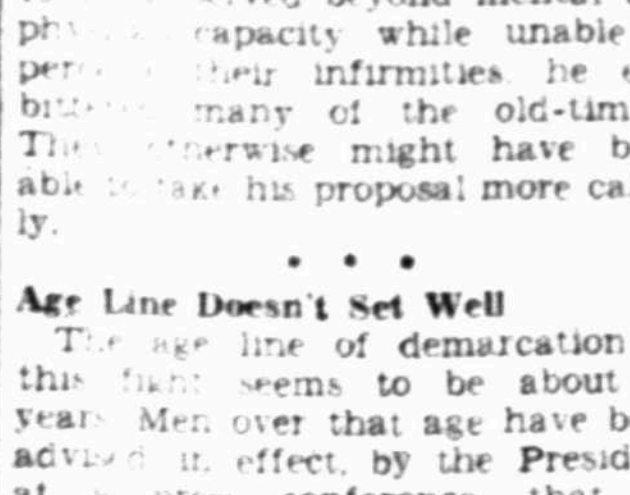

If all the outlying possessions of the United States, exclusive of Alaska, could be combined into a single area they would total less than Montana's area.

BODIES FOUND AT HOUSTON

TWO MISSING PERSONS LOCATED; DEATHS NOT CONNECTED

HOUSTON, Feb. 23 (AP) — The bodies of two missing persons, a man and a woman, were taken Monday from Buffalo Bayou at widely separated points.

The man, W. C. Budd, 44, chief clerk for the Manchester Terminal corporation, had been missing since last Wednesday. The woman, Mrs. Lillian Stephenson, 34, disappeared the same day.

Police said there was no connection in the death of the two.

Iron Attached To Leg

A piece of iron was found attached to Budd's leg when his body was brought ashore near the docks in the turning basin area. The weight, a marine motor gear shift rod, had been tied to his leg by heavy twine.

Detectives said no marks of violence were found on Budd's body which apparently had been in the water for several days. Justice of the Peace Thomas I. Decker of Harrisburg said he would withhold his inquest verdict until police concluded their probe.

Justice of the Peace J. M. Ray said there were no marks on the woman's body. He returned a verdict of death due to drowning.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Stocks executed a nervous double-shuffle in today's market.

Non-ferrous metals issues, responding to yesterday's sensational advance in London, were given a fast upward whirl at the opening for gains of fractions to 2 points. But selling was equally heavy among industrial leaders and, near the fourth hour, the general trend was downward.

The mines retreated from their best positions when the British market turned reactionary. Gains up to a point or so, however, were held by Anaconda, Cerro De Pasco, Patino Mines, St. Joseph Lead, American Smelting, Inspiration Copper and American Zinc. Park-Utah started with a block of 40,000 shares, up more than a point.

Early losses of as much as 3 or more points were later reduced in many instances.

On the downside were General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Goodyear, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Western Union, Public Service of N. J., Electric Power & Light, Standard Oil of N. J., Texas Corp., Seaboard Oil, International Nickel, Howe Sound, American Can, American Locomotive, Westinghouse, General Electric, Du Pont, Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Illinois Central and Crown Cork.

Kidnaper Of Texas Man Being Sought

ELECTRA, Feb. 23 (AP)—Clarence Rounsaville who said he was the victim in a robbery and kidnaping at a filling station here last night, took police to Childress today to aid in the hunt for his abductor.

Rounsaville said the robber, who boasted of "running around" with the late desperado, Clyde Barrow, forced him to drive in a stolen automobile to Childress. When the robber left him, Rounsaville returned here to report the case.

House Will Await Action By Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—House Democratic leaders said today they would await senate developments before starting consideration of President Roosevelt's court reorganization program.

They made the statement at the White House after a conference with the president on the general legislative situation.

Speaker Bankhead added, however, that if senate judiciary committee hearings scheduled to begin March 9 were prolonged, the house judiciary committee might take up Mr. Roosevelt's proposals.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, at 4 to 10 points advance on higher Liverpool cables and trade and foreign buying. March 12.60; May 12.47; July 12.32; Oct. 11.88; Dec. 11.88; Jan. 11.88.

There were notices issued against 12,900 bales at New York or a somewhat smaller total than the trade had been expecting for first March notice today.

The trade and spot houses were active buyers of near months and despite the issuance of notices these positions were somewhat firmer than later months.

The firmer tone attracted some replacement buying. Offerings were not heavy and were scattered, including March liquidation, hedging and local realizing. The demand was active on the advance that carried May up from 12.46 to 12.51 and March from 12.60 to 12.69. Prices after the first half hour were at or near the early highs, representing net gains of 9 to 14 points.

Liverpool advanced on trade calling and local buying with offerings scarce.

Active Liverpool buying on differences aided the tone but demand from abroad tapered off after foreign markets closed. Prices reacted a few points from the best under realizing but continued demand for March was a supporting feature. Spot houses were credited with promptly stopping the bulk of March notices. May was selling at 12.49 at mid-day when prices showed net advances of 7 to 13 points.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23 (AP) — The process of getting in line with foreign prices that advanced while domestic markets were closed on Monday lifted the cotton market today from 4 to 8 points.

The trade was a good buyer in all positions and March opened at 12.52, May at 12.44, July at 12.28 and Oct. at 11.84.

Over the holiday there was little to change the general trend of cotton dealings, but a more optimistic note pervaded the market at the opening today. Speculative interests did a little buying in later positions. Selling was mostly for hedging purposes.

Foreign markets continued to be features of strength and this aided early domestic dealings.

More normal temperatures over most of the belt and little rainfall helped farmers get into the fields for plowing.

The market was called on to absorb 3,000 bales of March cotton as this was tendered in conjunction with first notice day. Notices were divided between 2,200 bales in the big ring and 800 bales in the "job" ring.

Some speculative interests reportedly placed a bullish interpretation on the announcement that 20,000 bales of loan cotton had been sold. These operators were thought to be buying in the new positions on the assumption that the current demand for cotton might hold up well.

By mid-day the market was fluctuating narrowly approximately 50 cents a bale above the previous close.

One indication, usually considered reliable on the size of the coming crop was furnished when the national fertilizer association reported that sales of tags in January were 23 per cent above January last year. The market paid little attention to this report.

A good demand for cotton cloths was reported from Manchester, England.

COURT CHANGE

Established more than 10 years ago, the 99th district court has "justified its existence ever since its creation," the judge said.

In 1936 it tried and disposed of 295 civil cases and 41 criminal cases, making a total of 336 cases actually tried. One hundred 31 other cases were filed and disposed of by being dismissed. Of that number 106 were civil cases and 25 criminal cases, making a total of 467 cases disposed of by the court that year.

Van Zandt Is Sponsor

Senator Olan R. Van Zandt, Tioga, who is sponsoring a similar bill in the senate, has declared that a court should dispose of 300 cases annually.

Seventy-second court has been handling about as many cases as has the 99th.

"The growth and development in this section of the country will give the courts even more business in the future than they have had in the past," said Judge Pitts.

The South Plains court districts as proposed:

64th: Lamb, Hale, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe and Floyd counties.

72nd: Lubbock, Crosby, and Garza counties.

106th: Terry, Lynn, Bailey, Dawson, Gaines, Yoakum, Hockley, and Cochran counties.

The 110th district court is composed of Floyd, Dickens, Briscoe, and Motley counties. Dickens would be placed in the 39th district with Haskell, Stonewall, King, and Kent counties. Motley would be placed in the 46th district with Wilbarger, Hardeman, Foard, and Cottle counties.

The South Plains districts as they now exist, with the exceptions of 99th and 110th districts:

64th: Lamb, Hale, Castro, Swisher, and Bailey counties.

72nd: Lubbock, Crosby, Hockley and Cochran counties.

106th: Garza, Terry, Dawson, Yoakum, Lynn, and Gaines counties.

Might Be Driven In

"We are entirely aware," the ambassador said, "that there is always some possibility some nation might be sufficiently reckless to drive us into war."

Then Bullitt launched into the sharp criticism of the world armament race which was considered a possible forerunner of renewed American participation in negotiations for an European accord:

"It is impossible to restore world prosperity when nations are engaged in ruining their economic and financial positions by participating in an armaments race," he said.

He declared the United States was prepared to participate in any future arms limitation.

fered the prediction the steel industry would announce a general wage boost in anticipation of the move. The industry granted a ten per cent raise last November.

Fontecchio said he believed the national labor relations board will void the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation's employe representation plan, the unionists' big stumbling block.

Scattered sitdown strikes are not the union's plan of attack, he said, but when one arises, like that at the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation in North Chicago, Ill., the steel workers committee supports it.

history, and to see national defense costs reach a new peace-time high.

Handicapped By Health

He had been handicapped by failing health for the last year. He was 73 years old and had served in the house since 1913, becoming appropriations chairman in March, 1933, when the late Joseph W. Byrnes was elected to Democratic floor leader.

Buchanan first was elected to congress in 1913, and had served longer than all but nine of his fellow house members. He was born on a South Carolina plantation in 1864, but moved with his family to Texas shortly afterward.

He was graduated in law from Texas university, and later served as Washington county, Texas, attorney and as a state legislator.

Martyr To Work

Commenting on Buchanan's death, Taylor said:

"He was a martyr to his work. He killed himself by taking on entirely too much work. He was a noble character, one of the best chairmen our committee ever had."

Speaker Bankhead said Buchanan was a "useful and courageous man," and Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex.), house majority leader, called him "a man of fine ability who rendered great service to his state and country."

Governor James V. Allred said Texas had lost "a big man" who would be hard to replace.

Most Farm Houses Erected Years Ago

URBANA, Ill., Feb. 23 (AP)—A survey of Illinois farm houses, says Prof. W. A. Foster of the University of Illinois, shows 90,000 of the 231,000 in this state were built before 1885 and only 56,000 were erected since 1912.

Prof. Foster found 185,000 of these farm dwellings using kerosene lamps and without piped water or sanitary fixtures. Only 15,000 have modern sewer or septic tank connections.

Prof. Foster says many of the early-day houses, "built when materials were good and plentiful and craftsmen were skilled, are still in better condition than some houses built in recent years."

WPA PROJECTS

transferred to a road construction project on a school bus route north and east of Turkey. The 7 1-2 miles of road will complete a 27 1-2 mile loop, one of the most complete systems of transportation of school children to be found anywhere, W. E. Burke, supervisor of the division of operations, said.

Road Is Completed

Six and one-half miles of road construction, consisting of graveling, south and west of Roaring Springs recently were completed. The farm-to-market road is a permanent all-weather road from town to the springs.

Laborers on that project have been transferred to a project to start Monday which will consist of 10 1-2 miles of road construction on the Roaring Springs-Floydada highway. It is to be graveled.

A county-wide sanitary project in Hall county employing 21 men, will begin Monday.

Eleven miles of gravel road beginning 8 miles east of Dickens off Highway No. 24 running north was among the projects completed. For employment of the laborers on the Dickens project, a 12-mile road-graveling project on an Afton school bus route will start Monday.

Burke, who for several days has been on an inspection tour of the district, said all projects were in operation and progressing rapidly.

PARIS' BET AGAINST WAR IN 1937 IS SEEN IN HUGE EXPOSITION; MILLIONS OF VISITORS BEING EXPECTED

AROUND THE EIFFEL TOWER

Architects are inspecting a model of the 1937 Paris exposition, France's "bet against a war in 1937." The Eiffel tower, right, will be one of the focal points of the buildings, work on which is being rushed.

THE AMERICAN BUILDING

This is the artist's drawing of the modernistic structure that will represent the United States in the Paris exposition.

PARIS, Feb. 23 (AP)—France's "bet against a European war in 1937" is the 750,000,000 francs (almost $35,000,000) she has earmarked for the 1937 Paris international exposition.

She has put 4,500 men to work on structures which will house exhibits by 48 nations. Directors hope to be hosts to 45,000,000 visitors.

In this "living exposition of arts and techniques" the United States will have a building. Congress has appropriated $250,000 for the modernistic structure, which will stand between the provincial village and the Czechoslovak building, facing the Seine.

All the buildings are being rushed so that the show can open on May 1. It is planned to keep the fair in operation through November.

Most of France's big expositions have left Paris some structure as a memento. Most famous of these are the Trocadero from the 1878 exposition, and the Eiffel Tower, completed in 1889.

The Trocadero was torn down recently but its foundation remains and will be the base for a new semi-circular "Entrance of Honor." That and the Eiffel tower will be focal points for the new exposition.

When the exposition is over the new Trocadero will remain with two large museums for collections of modern art. All three buildings were studied by Grover Whalen, head of the New York World's Fair of 1939, in his recent visit to Paris.

Paris music halls made much of the fact that the building flying the swastika of Nazi Germany will be directly opposite the hammer and sickle of Soviet Russia. The pathway between the buildings, said music hall singers, is to be "demilitarized."

In Manitoba, by conservative estimate, there were 5000 snowshoe rabbits to the square mile in 1886. But 1887 brought the inevitable rabbit plague, and the bodies of dead bunnies were to be seen every few yards throughout the province.

Crows have been known to fly as high as 6000 feet.

HOLLYWOOD HEROINES ARE SAID TO LOOK HORSEY IN EXPENSIVE GOWNS

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—With a toss of blonde tresses, a slight elevation of the left eyebrow, and a deft crossing of silk-sheathed legs, Miss Gertrude L. Mayer today expressed the opinion that 40 per cent of Hollywood's movie heroines do not know how to wear clothing.

"I do not wish to be—what you say?—catty," she said, "but it is the truth.

"Expensive gowns they wear, and some of them look horsey."

So Miss Mayer announced she was leaving immediately for Hollywood in an effort to correct the situation.

Not from purely altruistic motives, of course. Miss Mayer happens to be president of the Professional Models League, and she has been teaching mannequins how to panic 'em ever since she arrived from Vienna eleven years ago.

She plans to storm the movie capital at what she considers to be its most vulnerable point, its pocketbook.

"I want to show them," she said, "how one of my kids can take a $9.98 dress and make it look like a million dollars. Simply because she knows how to wear it."

Gary Cooper says:

"It's plain common sense for me to prefer this light smoke"

"A little over a year ago I changed to Luckies because I enjoy the flavor of their tobacco. Ever since, my throat has been in fine shape. As my voice and throat mean so much to me in my business, it's plain common sense for me to prefer this light smoke. So I'm strong for Luckies!"

Gary Cooper

IN PARAMOUNT'S "THE PLAINSMAN"
DIRECTED BY CECIL B. DE MILLE

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Mr. Cooper verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.
