Big Soviet Drive Is Opened, Says Berlin

★★★ FINAL EDITION

Summer Offensive Is Said Launched

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, June 23. — The Germans announced today that the Red army, striking on the third anniversary of Hitler's surprise invasion of Russia, had launched its long-awaited summer offensive on the eastern front.

While Moscow had not as yet confirmed the opening of the drive, the German high command and official Berlin broadcasts declared the Soviets moved forward yesterday on a broad front north of the Pripyat marshes — on the most direct road from Moscow to Berlin and Warsaw — in an assault which may be coordinated with Allied advances in France and Italy.

The Germans said a large-scale Soviet offensive was set in motion from south of Mogilev to north of Vitebsk with heavy tank and plane support, while Moscow announced that triple Russian spearheads drove deeper against the Finns, north of Lake Onezhskoe (Onega) and up the Aunus isthmus, as well as along the northern reaches of the Karelian isthmus.

NAZI LINE BREACHED

LONDON, June 23 (AP) — The German radio commentator, Ernst von Hammer, said tonight that the Russians were attacking along a front of more than 100 miles in White Russia and had made a breach in German lines southeast of Vitebsk.

The Russians were driving to break through along the Dvina river into the Baltic states, he declared.

"Bitter Fighting" Reported

The Berlin communique said the initial thrusts were parried, but "bitter fighting is still going on on either side of Vitebsk."

The assault was accompanied by local attacks northwest of Tarnopol toward Lwow in southern Poland below the Pripyat marshes, the report added.

The first German report was made by Ernst von Hammer, chief military correspondent for International Information bureau, a propaganda agency. His account was followed by similar accounts by DNB, official news agency, Transocean, another news agency, and by the high command.

A broadcast Russian communique and other Moscow dispatches gave this picture of success of the triple offensive in Finland:

From the northern tip of Lake Onezhskoe (Onega), Red army units rolled 10 to 15 miles west-

Congress About Ready To Quit

Recess Due To Start Tonight

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Congress pulled its traveling bags off the shelf today.

After months of morning, noon and night sessions, the House and Senate decided to quit until August 1.

By nightfall, members expect to resolve all the questions remaining in the passage of budget matters for the next fiscal year. That counts now, with the old fiscal year ruhning out June 30. After that date not a cent can be spent by a government agency unless it is authorized.

MONEY BILL PASSED

WASHINGTON, June 23 — The Senate sent the $49,107,785,795 War department appropriation bill to the White House today, then formally adopted a resolution for a congressional recess until August 1.

Calendars in both houses were being cleared rapidly to permit Congress to close up shop this afternoon.

Conventions Upcoming

Moreover, Republicans want to be in Chicago where the Presidential nominating convention starts Monday. The Democrats convene in the same city July 19 for the same purpose.

Senate Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky said there is some thought among members to take a longer recess but most of them want to come back and "see what the situation is" before making the decision.

At the moment, Congress has to settle only such issues as movements to exempt insurance companies from federal regulation, to permit women in the Navy and Coast Guard to serve overseas and to revive federal crop insurance.

May Demand Recall

If "nothing is pressing" when the lawmakers return some five weeks hence, Barkley said, "we might recess again" until early in September.

Meanwhile, either the majority or minority leader of either houses can demand a recall of the Congress in the event of an "emergency."

The legislators swept the docket almost clean yesterday by relaying to President Roosevelt bills providing $3,920,570,000 for lend lease and world relief; $1,031,900,-

Some Relief From Heat Wave Seen

Should the cloudy weather, which prevailed at 2 o'clock this afternoon, continue it is possible that some relief from the heat wave, now in its eighth day, will be felt in Lubbock. Temperature at that time was 97 degrees, three degrees cooler than at the same time Thursday.

The forecast is for partly cloudy weather with scattered thundershowers this afternoon, tonight and Saturday, pointing to relief from the 100-plus weather that has prevailed since last Friday.

High temperature in Lubbock Thursday was 106 at 4 p. m., two degrees lower than the 108 registered Wednesday, the hottest day of the year.

OIL MAN APPOINTED

ARGUMENTS OPENED

AUSTIN, June 23 (U.P.)—Asst. Atty. Gen. J. C. Davis today opened arguments in the state's suit to oust Swift & Co. from doing business in Texas after the case had been recessed since last Tuesday when testimony was completed.

Resistance Of Nazis In Italy Is Increased

Germans Plan To Make Stand In Northern Area

ROME, June 23 (AP) — Allied forces in Italy have made progress along both coastal sectors, but the Germans apparently are planning a determined stand along strong positions between Lake Trasimeno and Lake Chiusi and north of Perugia in the central sector, Allied headquarters indicated today.

The Eighth army is encountering "strong resistance" north of Perugia, and southwest of Lake Trasimeno, where a number of German counter-attacks have been repulsed, the communique said.

Fifth Presses Forward

An Algiers radio news roundup said Allied forces on the Adriatic were 25 miles from the important seaport of Ancona. The communique said troops in that sector vance and are now approaching vance and tre now approaching the Chienti river." The Chienti is about 25 miles below Ancona.

On the west coast the Fifth army, despite strong resistance, has pressed forward astride highway one, leading through Livorno to Pisa, and is approaching Folonica, some 55 miles below Pisa, believed to be the anchor of the next major German resistance line.

Air Forces Active

Associated Press Correspondent Sid Feder, in a delayed dispatch dated yesterday from Giuncarico, on highway one 11 miles northwest of Grosseto, told of increased resistance by the Germans.

Flying 2,300 sorties, the Mediterranean air force attacked targets in northern Italy and the battle area, and also in Albania and Yugoslavia. Two enemy aircraft were destroyed, compared with ten Allied planes missing.

Heavy bombers hit rail yards at Parma, Modena, Bologna, Castel-Maggiore, Fornovo and Ferrera, rail bridges at Rimini and Treviso, industrial targets in the Turin area and an airdrome at Forli.

Tactical aircraft, ranging over a wide territory north of the battle area, attacked rail lines and bridges, motor transport, roads and other targets. A night attack on the rail yards at Vado Ligure in northern Italy capped the operations.

Fireman Is Killed As Trains Collide

SMITHVILLE, June 23 (AP) — A Houston-bound Missouri-Kansas-Texas passenger train and a troop equipment train collided between Bastrop and Dunston, Tex., today, killing one trainman and injuring several persons.

Reports to Katy offices here said that J. E. Cheanault of Smithville, fireman on the road's regular passenger No. 25, was killed, and that fireman A. B. Cloud of the troop equipment train, who also is from Smithville, suffered a severed leg and body injuries.

A mail clerk on the passenger train was reported injured, and several passengers were reported to have been hurt slightly. The mail clerk's name was not available here.

A mail car and two express cars of the passenger train derailed. Both engines were damaged heavily.

Engineer Charlie Pogue of the passenger train and Engineer Tommy Jones of the equipment train were shaken up badly, the Katy offices said. Both live at Smithville.

Cheanault has a wife and two children.

Jap Armada Is Routed Before Salvo Is Fired

BY WILLIAM L. WORDEN

ABOARD FLAGSHIP, U. S. Fifth Fleet, June 21 (Delayed) — This huge naval force today completed the rout of the Japanese grand fleet from waters east of the Philippines without firing a salvo from its formidable battleline or losing a ship.

But Japanese losses in the two-phased plane vs. fleet battle included at least 358 planes downed in an attack on our forces off Guam, possibly one carrier blown up, and another set badly afire when our aircraft rained bombs and torpedoes on the enemy fleet while it was fleeing toward the shelter of the Philippines, in longitude well west of Tokyo.

Our losses totalled 21 planes in the first phase and one ship hit but not seriously damaged.

Plane Losses Moderate

In the second phase our plane losses were moderate and a majority of the downed crewmen were rescued, despite the extremely hazardous return to carriers for night landings.

It is believed today that the Japanese fleet has fled behind the Philippines and the threat of ship or sea-based plane action against our landing forces on Saipan has ended.

The first phase of the battle occurred June 19 when planes an tianti-aircraft guns of Adm. Raymond Ames Spruance's fleet, within sight of Guam, turned the Japanese attack into one of the war's greatest aerial disasters for the Axis.

Long Range Jap Flights

Japanese planes attacked from the west in long range flights from carriers. They struck at the American fleet with the obvious intention of going on to Guam to refuel, then striking the Saipan beachheads and U. S. transports from that base.

However Spruance held the fleet near Guam all day and sent waves of bombeers over Guam and Rota. Thus he prevented Japanese landings there and made it virtually certain no enemy planes survived the aerial battle which raged over hundreds of miles of sea.

Enemy Losses High

Enemy personnel losses were almost 100 per cent, since the battles took place in an area controlled by Spruance's fleet and the Japanese could make no attempt at rescuing their pilots.

Naturally it was impossible to see much of the first phase which was a series of encounters from 10 a. m. until dark, but part of the battle did rage within sight of the flagship.

The first action was the takeoff of hundreds of American planes as the Japs were reported approaching. In a few minutes black puffs of anti-aircraft fire appeared over battleships on the horizon. The distant ships seemed wreathed in fire as multiple batteries threw up an unbeliavable wall of steel.

Almost immediately bomb bursts sputed in the water and two enemy planes started burning in the air and crashed.

Three-Sided Approach

The enemy was reported approaching from three sides. Vapor flowed from friendly planes climbing into the sky.

The first attack was repelled on the fringes of the fleet. An hour later more bombers appeared. One crossed our stern under intense AA and dropped one bomb. It missed. The bomber caught fire when the flagship's 40 mm.

Unit Has Cream Of New Weapons

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) — "The entire Pacific ocean to the gates of Japan is its stamping ground."

With these words the Navy revealed existence of task force 58, "most powerful and destructive naval unit in the history of sea warfare."

It was task force 58—alone — which met, defeated and sent scurrying into hiding a Japanese fleet that dared to move east of the Philippines Monday.

Make-up of the hard-hitting and gigantic task force is secret. But, Rear Admiral Arthur W. Radford, deputy chief of naval operations for air, gave this hint of its size—

"We can safely assume that most of the 22 big new carriers commissioned since Pearl Harbor have been operating as part of the vast task force 58."

Has Newest Warships

Newest and swiftest of the fleet's battleships, cruisers and destroyers also are assigned to the mighty force, which carries its own supply train of ships to provide a constant source of fuel and materials.

For six months it has been battering the Japanese and, the Navy says flatly, has "reversed the direction of traffic in the Pacific ocean"—turned it to a one-way run toward Japan.

Few Japanese airmen have seen the 58th in daylight and managed to return to their home with startling word of its magnitude. One who was shot down and captured saw the force, the Navy related, "scattered over the sea as far as his eyes could peer." He told his captors that "one look at task force 58 convinced him that Japan had lost the war."

Has Blasted Jap Strongholds

Task force 58 ran in to blast Truk—once strongest Japanese base in the South Pacific—for the first time, battered Palau, Yap, Saipan, Marcus, Wake, Tinian and scores of other islands. Too, it

GOP Booming Byrd For Vice Presidency

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—A boom for Sen. Byrd, Virginia Democrat, as the vice presidential nominee on the Republican ticket developed today among GOP members of Congress.

House Republican Leader Martin, of Massachusetts, who will be the permanent chairman of the Chicago Republican convention convening Monday, told newspapermen "there appears to be a great deal of sentiment for Sen. Byrd.

He added that "I'll have to get to Chicago before I know just how strong this sentiment is."

Rep. Knutson, Republican leader of the powerful House ways and means committee, told reporters he would arrive in Chicago Saturday, and would promote the idea of offering the Virginian the second place on the Republican ticket.

Allied Carrier Force Attacks Jap Islands

Seaplane Base, Other Targets Hit Off India

(By The Associated Press)

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, June 23—An Allied carrier task force raided Port Blair, capital of the Andaman islands, in the Bay of Bengal, and scored hits on a powerhouse, workshops, yards and a seaplane base, where an oil fire was started, headquarters disclosed today.

One radio location station was destroyed and another heavily damaged, a special communique said. The Japanese made no attempt to attack the warships and the planes encountered no enemy fighters. Two enemy planes were set afire on the field.

Bombers Followed Attack

Vice-Admiral Sir Arthur John Power directed the operation which was carried out on Wednesday. Heavy bombers followed up the attack, striking in a night raid at the number one airfield of Port Blair. Visibility was poor, however, and results were not announced.

Although no fighter opposition was met, anti-aircraft fire was heavy until just before the bombers arrived. Evidently the carrier-based fighters had sent the ground crews scurrying with a vicious strafing attack.

U. S. Subs Sink More Jap Ships

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) — With the Japanese fleet damaged and in hiding after a smashing rout administered by American carrier-based planes east of the Philippines, the Navy today announced further heavy blows to the enemy—the striking by American submarines of 16 more Nipponese vessels.

Today's announcement came while invading American troops were pushing ahead on Saipan island in the Marianas, now reinforced until they outnumber the 20,000 defenders left to their fate by the fleeing Japanese naval units.

In accordance with Navy policy, however, the report of the submarine action gave no hint of when or where the latest bag was made.

Fifty Sunk This Month

The new report of sinkings shows that the rate of destruction by the American subs now is better than one vessel a day, because it raises to 50 the number of Japanese craft announced as sunk by submarines along this month.

Since the start of the war, submarines are credited with having sunk, probably sunk or damaged 773 enemy vessels of all types including some warships. That total breaks down to 623 ships sunk, 36 probables and 115 damaged.

The newest bag includes 11 medium-sized cargo vessels, four small cargo vessels and one medium-sized naval auxiliary.

Speedy Fall Of Strategic Port To Allied Forces Expected As Bitter All-Out Attack Reduces Nazi Defenses In Grim Battle

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, June 23. — Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's finely tuned American assault troops have stormed over one of the three fortified peaks dominating Cherbourg's military harbor, supreme headquarters announced today, and speedy fall of the city is expected

Describing Cherbourg's defenses as "fairly formidable,' a headquarters announcement said a "prolonged siege is unlikely now.

Attacking with a storm of artillery fire, and a huge array of instruments of destruction, the Americans captured a height at Tourlaville, one mile from the sea and one mile from Cherbourg on the southeast. The Germans had been reduced to machine-guns, small arms and light artillery in defending their pillboxes and prepared defenses.

Americans and Germans were so closely interlocked in the grim battle that Allied air forces were unable to give the close battle-front the support that marked the opening of he all-out attack yesterday.

Three Nazi Divisions Trapped

British and American planes concentrated on "quarantining" the battle area, hitting rail and road communications in a semi-circle 100 miles deep in France as the Americans clamped a vice on Cherbourg and smashed at the other two remaining hilltop bastions.

These were at Nouainville, 2½ miles southwest of the port and three miles from the coast, and at La Mare a Canards, a ridge running 1½ to three miles south of the city.

Three German divisions, mixed with German naval units and a defense garrison, were believed caught in the American clamp.

The Germans apparently had withdrawn completely from the eastern tip of the peninsula in order to concentrate on defense of Cherbourg.

U. S. Fliers Heavily Pound Cherbourg

LONDON, June 23 — Mosquito bombers carried the Allied aerial offensive deep into Germany last night, hitting battered Hamburg with 2,000 pound bombs, while other RAF bombers attacked Nazi communications behind the Normandy front.

The attacks rounded out one of the biggest periods of aerial activity since the invasion. During the 24 hours ending at 5 a. m., the Allied air forces in England carried out more than 6,000 sorties, with nearly 1,000 of them concentrated by the American Ninth Air force against Cherbourg alone.

Thunderbolts In Action

Thunderbolt dive bombers took up the offensive today and hit five key points around the towns of Vire and Avranches on the railroad carrying German supplies to the battlefront. They met no enemy fighters and only light anti-aircraft fire.

One pilot, 2nd Lt. Kenneth M. Knowles, 23, Billerica, Mass., said the bombers hit the railroad tracks "dead center."

Five Rail Centers Hit

While the Mosquitos were hammering Hamburg in an attack made without loss, heavy and medium bombers swept over northern France to hit five main rail centers, vital to German troop and supply movements.

Four engined Lancasters struck at Rheims, and Halifaxes hit the Laon freight depots northeast of Paris through which the Nazi reinforcements were struggling westward, while mediums attacked Lisieux, Dreux and Evreux.

Fighters and Intruders, patrolling the beachhead areas and northern France, shot down seven German planes during the night.

Mosquitos, that hit Lisieux, Dreux and Evreux, also bombed and raked railway targets at Falaise, Argentan, and north of Breteuil. A German road convoy was battered near Evreux.

Tornado Kills 8 In Wisconsin, Illinois

PLATTEVILLE, Wis., June 23 (AP)—A tornado struck two border counties in Wisconsin and Illinois last night, killed at least eight persons, injured an unestimated number, and destroyed more than a dozen homes in Belmont, Wis.

Damage to property was estimated at thousands of dollars.

Sheriff Homer L. Curry of Lafayette county, Wis., said at least five persons were killed in Belmont, while at least six persons were killed in the county. Two other persons were killed when the tornado struck Stephenson county, Ill.

A Wisconsin home guard company was dispatched to the stricken area at Belmont and Darlington.

Officials in both counties said the death toll might be higher than was learned immediately.

The storm cut a path about three miles and extended for about 30 miles.

Dewey Assails Administration

CHICAGO, June 23 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York sent Republican platform drafters a message today criticising the national administration as "a sprawling, overlapping bureaucracy" and calling for a new regime in which the president would act with Congress to "raise the federal service to a high level of efficiency and competence."

The message from Dewey, whose supporters have contended he will win the Republican presidential nomination on the first or second ballot at next week's convention, was read to the platform committee after Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) had presented a proposed foreign plank calling for creation of "peace forces" to prevent future aggression.

Previously Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, chairman of the platform group, had presented the report of the postwar finance committee.

Tax Reduction Urged

It recommended:

1. Post war reduction of individual income tax rates.

2. Abolition of the excess profits tax, elimination of tax duplication on corporation stockholders, and abolition of the capital gains levy.

3. Elimination of federal excise taxes on all items but liquor and tobacco, with gasoline taxes turned back to the states.

"Peace Forces" Proposed

Foreign policy plant, proposing international "peace forces" to prevent or repel military aggression, went before the platform committee today.

One committee member promptly called the draft ambiguous and asserted it would have to be revised to "say what it means." It

Apparently, producers had heeded an urgent appeal of stockyards officials to reduce their sales which brought a new one-day record run of more than 56,000 sheep early in the week to paralyze market facilities. Receipts have slacked considerably since that date.

A bond booth at which bonds of smaller denomination will be issued is to be set up at the scene of the sale. Orders will be taken for bonds of more than $100 denomination and credit will be given for them in the bidding.

The program is to start about 7:30 o'clock, but the nature of it is uncertain. Efforts to get a band have been unsuccessful, but hopes are that a hill-billy or cowboy band can be obtained.

The auction will be broadcast over KFYO.

Allred Calls On Democrats To Refute May Convention Action

HOUSTON, June 23 (AP) — Former Gov. James V. Allred today called on Texas Democrats to "go out to their precinct conventions on primary election day and elect delegates to the county and state conventions who believe that Democratic electors should vote for the people they are elected to elect."

A leader of the pro-Roosevelt Democrats and one of the attorneys who argued the elector case before the Texas Supreme court, Allred said in a statement that the state Democratic convention in September can undo the work of the May convention "if the people will organize now."

"The opposition is well financed and well organized," Allred stated, "but if we go to work we can get the job done."

"Texas Democrats are now confronted with the fact, if this thing goes on unchecked, that their vote may not be credited to the Democratic candidates for President and Vice-President."

PIN-WORMS

Now can be Beaten!

The miseries of Pin-Worms have been known for centuries, and many doctors have sought a way to deal with this dreadful pest that lives and grows inside the human body.

Today, thanks to an important scientific discovery, a new and highly effective treatment is being hailed by medical authorities. It is based on a remarkable drug known as gentian violet. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm tablet developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines.

P-W makes it unnecessary for you or your child to suffer in silence with the embarrassing rectal itch caused by Pin-Worms, or to take chances on the real distress they often create. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to destroy Pin-Worms.

So watch for possible warning signs such as: itching seat and nose, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting. If you suspect Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for a package of P-W and follow the simple directions carefully.

It is easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Reemployment Rules For Vets Explained

With the constant increase in the number of returning veterans of World War II, individual problems are now naturally arising in connection with their reinstatement in former pjobs, it has been disclosed by Gen. J. Watt Page, state selective service director.

A new directive, issued in the form of a memorandum for guidance of local boards and the reemployment committeemen attached to the boards, outlines the policies and principles governing administration of the reemployment provisions of the selective training and service act of 1940, he said.

Luther A. Godwin is the reemployment committeeman attached to board No. 1 here, B. Sherrod for board No. 2).

Each Section Analyzed

The memorandum analyzes each section of the act as it applies to reemployment of veterans. It outlines the principles to be followed in determining the "permanent" or "temporary" nature of employment, deals with problems affecting qualifications of veterans for reinstatement and the duties and obligations of employers, and answers questions concerning seniority rights.

Highlights of the memorandum include:

Eligible for benefits under the act are persons who entered the Army, Navy, Marine corps or Coast guard (male or female) subsequent to May 1, 1940, but the veterans seeking benefits must have a "certificate" indicating satisfactory completion of service in the armed forces.

Some Not Eligible

Members of the Coast Guard auxiliary are not eligible, nor do the reemployment provisions apply to employes of states, although the act declares it to be the sense of Congress that such persons should be restored to their former positions or to positions of like seniority, status and pay. The policy of the selective service system is to render all possible aid to such persons.

Conscientious objectors have no reemployment rights under the law and the selective service system has no responsibility to aid them in regaining former positions or obtaining new positions.

The act requires the veteran to make application for reemployment "within 40 days after he is relieved from" training and service. This is mandatory and compliance is essential if the veteran is to enforce his reemployment rights over the objection of the employer.

Must Be Qualified

A veteran, in order to claim reinstatement in a position, must be qualified to perform the duties and functions of that position, and this is a question of fact to be determined by common sense and experience. The employer cannot set up arbitrary or unreasonable standards. The real question is "Can the veteran do his job in the manner in which he did it before he left?" So long as there is any doubt the veteran is entitled to a chance to prove that he can do so. If unable to qualify for an upgraded job, he is, nevertheless, entitled to a position equal in seniority, status and pay to the one which he left.

A veteran is entitled to reinstatement in his former position or one of like seniority, status and pay, even though such reinstatement necessitates the discharge of a non-veteran with greater seniority.

A veteran is entitled to his former position or one of like seniority, status and pay, and may refuse another, even though the pay is greater and offers other advantages.

Seniority Rights Accumulate

Seniority rights accumulate during the veteran's period of active service in the armed forces in the same manner as they would have accumulated had he remained continuously at work in his civilian occupation.

In the case of jobs created by war expansion, the "permanent" or "temporary" character of the job likewise depends upon the facts and circumstances in each individual case.

The memorandum further points out that:

A veteran entitled to reemployment rights has recourse in the courts to recover back pay, even after reinstatement if it was improperly delayed or postponed by the employer.

Discharge Limited

A veteran entitled to reemployment may not be discharged from his restored position "without cause within one year after such restoration." The question of what constitutes "cause" is to be determined by "standards of common sense" and is to be measured by "practices and customs generally acceptable in industry or practices and customs in common and accepted use in the particular place of employment."

A veteran who has been reinstated in his former position cannot within one year be displaced by another, on the ground that the latter has greater seniority rights.

A soldier who is placed in an inactive status and transferred to the Enlisted Reserve corps, at his own request, on the condition that he will engage in essential industry, loses his reemployment rights if he does not apply to his former employer for reinstatement within 40 days after his transfer.

Waiver Must Be Proved

When it is claimed that a veteran has waived his reemployment rights, the waiver must be proved by clear and positive evidence. The burden of proof is upon the employer to prove a voluntary waiver by the veteran.

The veteran's medical history and diagnosis, as contained in the report of separation provided to the selective service system, has been determined to be confidential and may not be disclosed or furnished to or examined by any person, including the veteran, other than those in the selective service system who have reason for the use of such information. Such information is the property of the War and Navy departments and any registrant or other person desiring such information will be referred to the branch of the service from which the veteran has been separated. An employer has no right to establish as a condition precedent to a veteran's reinstatement in his former position that he sign a waiver of his rights to keep his medical history and diagnosis confidential, or to insist as a condition precedent to reinstatement that the veteran authorize the employer to secure such information from the War or Navy department.

Gen. Page said that local boards and their reemployment committeemen have been instructed to submit to the veterans personnel division at state selective service headquarters all cases where there is doubt as to a veteran's rights. Where the need for legal proceedings is indicated, he said, the file will be sent to national headquarters for review and for forwarding to the Department of Justice for proper action.

Eden Declares Prisoners Shot

LONDON, June 23. (U.P.) — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told Commons today the government had a complete chain of evidence proving that 51 British and Allied prisoners in a German war camp had been murdered in "cold blood."

The evidence, Eden said, was subsequently repatriated and showed that the captives were not shot while trying to escape from the camp or resisting arrest. He identified the prison site as "Stalag Luft Third," apparently an air camp.

Removed In Small Parties

The men were taken to a Gestapo-controlled prison, Eden explained, and then removed in small parties and shot.

The foreign secretary disclosed that the official explanation received throuh a protecting power claimed that a number of mass escapes involving several thousand men from camps throughout Germany during March had been systematically prepared partly by the general staffs of the Allies. The Germans also charged, Eden said, that the escaped had both military and political objectives, and hence gave "specially severe orders" to deal with them.

"The government feels obligated to declare," Eden asserted, "that the explanation now put forward by the German government is in fact a confession of an odious crime against the laws and conventions of war.

"No orders at any time have been given to British prisoners of war to take part, in event of escape, in any subversive action as the German government alleges. All these officers knew the futility of attempting resistance if arrested."

Work To Set Minimum Wage Said Completed

DALLAS, June 23. (AP)—Russell L. Kingston, regional wage-hour division director for the U. S. department of Labor, said today that more than a year before the statutory deadline, the national program to set a 40-cents-an-hour minimum wage for all workers under the wage and hour law has been completed.

Kingston, whose jurisdiction covers Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and New Mexico, said in a press release that while 40 cents an hour "may seem low in these boom times, restitution of illegally withheld wages amounted to $600,000 in the southwest region last year." Thirty-seven per cent of the restitutions involved failure to pay the minimum, he said.

Spices Can Add Zip To Dishes

Potato salad with non-rationed cold cuts or hot crisp bacon is a treat with a dash of nutmeg over the top . . . Look up that recipe for real old-fashioned boiled dressing for potato salad, snappy with dry mustard. Blend it into freshly cooked and sliced potatoes mixed with finely shaved onion. Slice in some sweet gherkins, too . . . New potatoes cooked with their jackets on with string beans are a Southern specialty. Finish them with a dusting paprika for color.

Serving plenty of eggs now that they're so plentiful and plentiful and cheap? Curry 'em and serve in a rice or green noodle ring for dinner. Green peas with baby white onions go well with . . . Stuffed green peppers to the fore now that there's meat with which to fill them. Try point-free breast or shank of lamb, ground and seasoned with onion and a touch of curry powder along with the breadcrumbs . . . The great Mexican Sopa de Haba—a stick-to-the-rids soup any time—is made with dried limas (cook them with a ham bone, if you like), strained to soup consistency, flavored with garlic. Dried oregano and chili powder are sprinkled on at table.

Ever add a touch of dried thyme to salads? The Syrians depend on it as a seasoner for theirs with a simple oil and vinegar dressing . . . Some of us find fresh bananas from time to time. Slice them and serve for breakfast with cream and a dash of nutmeg. Alone or on dry cereal. Fresh peaches the same way later. Or strawberries.

Now that buckwheat cake season is on, try sweetening the batter with a tablespoon of molasses instead of sugar. This gives good flavor and color to the cakes when cooked.

You'll find an excellent accompaniment for lemonade in these lemon oatmeal cookies, made by a new and extra delicious recipe. These cookies are easy to make and are not expensive. A well-stocked jar of them insures pleasing refreshments for mother's committee group, for father after a bout with the victory garden, or for the young folks after a game or a dance.

With lemonade these cookies are a healthful combination. The lemonade provides vitamin C; the oatmeal in the cookies is rich in vitamin B.

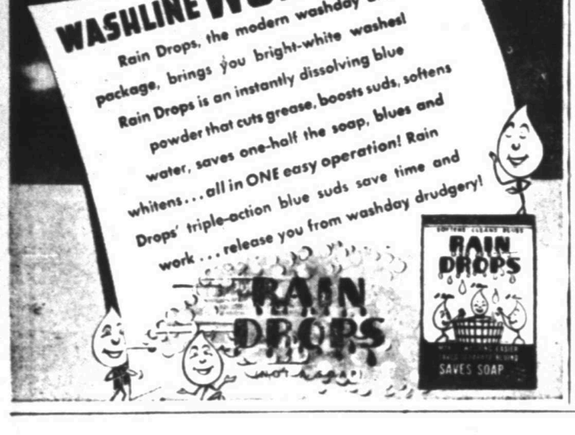

To make cookies, take:

½ cup shortening
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
3 tablespoons lemon juice
¾ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
2½ cups quick or regular, uncooked rolled oats

Cream shortening; add sugars gradually and cream well. Beat in egg until light and fluffy. Add lemon peel and juice. Sift flour, salt and soda together; add with rolled oats to creamed mixture. Drop from teaspoon onto greased baking sheet and bake in moderately hot oven (375° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

A salad sandwich will make a pleasing change in the lunchbox. Chop or grind raw vegetables, such as carrots, celery, cabbage, and turnips. Season well with onion or garlic and salt and pepper. Mix in enough salad dressing to hold the vegetable mixture together and spread on whole wheat bread.

A third cup of chopped green or ripe olives added to two cups of cheese or savory brown or creamy tomato sauce makes a nutritious, economical main dish when poured over hot macaroni or boiled rice or noodles.

Yes, the gentlemen of the South have been well fed . . . even a bit spoiled, perhaps, with simply de-luscious cakes, pies, biscuits, etc., made with Wilson's Advance Shortening.

It's been the "5 Star" shortening for a quarter of a century. Takes first place 5 times . . . for purity, lightness, whiteness, creaminess and digestibility.

City Will Buy New Park Site

Members of the city commission approved the purchases of another $100,000 in war securities and of a new park site in South Lubbock at their semi-monthly meeting Thursday afternoon.

The new park site, which was recommended for purchase by the city parks board, lies between Avenue L and N, east and west, and between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-seventh streets, north and south. The city limits are on Thirty-fourth street. The tract measures 590 feet in width by 660 feet in length.

Bought From J. C. Davis

The owner is J. C. Davis and the city is to pay $6,000 for the land and to give in exchange a square block of land across Avenue N and west of the new site. The exchange was desirable so as to obtain a park site which will not be crossed by a street, officials said.

The new bond purchase will increase the city's holdings of wartime securities to $683,950, City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., reported to the commission. The $100,000 is to be invested in ⅛ per cent treasury certificates. The city already has bought the allowed maximum of other war issues.

A petition requesting that a city bus line be extended to First street on North Avenue H was taken under advisement.

The city manager was authorized to rent a trenching machine to be used in digging the ditch for a 16-inch water main extending across the Texas Technological college campus into Southwest Lubbock.

Leaves Of Absence

The commission approved the recommendation of Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer, that Milk Inspectors G. G. Hunter and Foy Boone be granted leaves of absence to attend a public health conference in Waco June 26 and 27. Similarly, Police Chief Don Reeder's recommendation that Assistant Chief Aubrey Fawver be sent to the meeting of the Texas division of the International Association for Identification in Houston June 26-28 was approved.

Present at the commissioner meeting were Mayor O. W. Ribble and Commissioners W. B. Price, Hub Jones, J. Ray Dickey and Fred Childress.

Heavy Air Attacks On Japan Foreseen

PEARL HARBOR, June 23 (U.P.)—The United States soon—even before the end of the war in Europe—will be able to hurl several thousand planes against Japan itself, unofficial observers said today.

The prediction was based in part on disclosures that nearly 100 American aircraft carriers were roaming the Pacific and that Japan apparently has abandoned the Marianas, at least temporarily, to their fate following her defeat in an air-sea battle east of the Philippines last Monday.

The aircraft carriers alone were believed capable of putting more than 2,500 planes in the air, of which more than half probably represent a potential threat to the Japanese home islands.

Only the large and medium carriers, as distinct from the smaller escort type, were expected to be many of these were revealed by used ultimately against Japan and the Navy department in Washington to be included in task force 58—"the most powerful and destructive naval unit in the history of sea warfare."

American planes already had begun to use Aslito airdrome in southern Saipan and it was likely that Liberators from the Central Pacific Air forces soon will be able to take off from there for round trip raids off the southern Japanese islands.

West of Japan, the Army's new B-29 Superfortresses already have carried out the first of their promised bombardments of the Japanese homeland from bases in China.

The Navy department significantly noted that with the B-29s striking from the west and task force 58 hitting from the east, "the once impregnable Japanese homeland has at last come within range of our strategic bombing forces."

Politics Taking Spotlight Again

(By The Associated Press)

Republicans worked today to clean up preliminaries for their convention in Chicago starting Monday, while in Washington Democrats speculated on whether President Roosevelt is undertaking to pacify the threatened "revolt" in his party down South.

The Presidential nomination issue, which National Chairman Harrison E. Spangler says will be settled by next Wednesday, produced a statement from backers of Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York that party leaders from 22 states and two territories are behind a "Draft Dewey" movement. Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio told reporters he is in the race to the finish and expects to be nominated.

On the Democratic side, much interest was aroused in Washington by a report from Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia that President Roosevelt told him he was "very pleased" to hear that prospects are good for the re-election of Senator Walter F. George, whose defeat he called for in 1938.

Other Developments

George has continued to oppose some administration proposals and the President's reported remark led to the speculation about mollifying Democrats down South who have complained, and acted, against the administration.

Bearing on the Southern political situation were there other developments:

Governor Arnall, in addition to his report on George, predicted that President Roosevelt will be nominated for a fourth term and said he may make known his willingness to run by means of a public statement shortly after the Republican convention. Arnall disparaged the talk of party revolt in the South.

Court Rejects Petition

Rep. Sikes (D-Fla), however, called the threatened revolt of some Southern Democrats an important "movement for political and economic recognition."

The Texas Supreme court, dealing Roosevelt supporters in the state a sharp setback, ruled that Democratic Presidential electors chosen by the state convention and not bound to vote for the party's nominees will be on the November ballot.

Reds Open Drive

ward in the direction of Lake Ostero and cleared a section of the Leningrad-Murmansk railway by capturing three important stations.

Reds Expand Bridgehead

To the south along the Svir river the Red army expanded its bridgehead to a depth of at least six miles on the river's north bank, and captured Podporozhye, a district center of the Leningrad region.

North of Viipuri on the Karelian isthmus Marshal Leonid A. Govorov's conquering army captured Tali five miles north of the fallen seaport, as well as several other places in the flourishing farming and manufacturing belt that extends toward Helsinki, the Finnish capital.

Govorov's right flank was hitting toward the rail and highway center of Lappeenranta (Villmanstrand), 30 miles northwest of Viipuri. Capture of Lappeenranta would sever the Finns' main communications with their forces, estimated at 100,000 men, in the area of Lakes Ladoga and Onezhskoe, far to the northeast.

Finns Admit Withdrawal

The Finnish communique yesterday acknowledged a withdrawal as a result of attacks in the north, but claimed violent Russian assaults in the Viipuri sector were repulsed.

The Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet carried a report, later termed a "fabrication" by the official Swedish news agency, that Moscow had offered to end the war against Finland if Helsinki would accept the border agreed upon at the end of the 1939-40 war and grant the Russians concessions to aid in a continuing Russian campaign against seven German army divisions in northern Finland.

Nazis Exerting Pressure

The newspaper said also that the German minister in Helsinki was bringing pressure upon Finland to remain in the war, declaring German troops would refuse to leave in event of a Russo-Finnish peace.

(The British radio quoted its Stockholm reporter, Norman McDonald, as saying a German pocket battleship and the heavy cruiser Admiral Hipper "are now off the Finnish west coast port of Abo." The broadcast, recorded by CBS, said the Germans were believed risking the ships "either to prevent Russian occupation of the Aland islands, between Finland and Sweden, or to get the Germans away from Finland.")

Bolivian Regime Recognized By U. S., 17 Other Republics

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) — The United States and 17 other American republics today recognized the government of Bolivia ending six months of diplomatic isolation of the South American nation.

One other nation, Uruguay, has agreed to extend recognition but will not take the technical step necessary for a day or so.

Recognition by the neighbor countries followed a decision that the Bolivian regime definitely favors the United Nations' cause.

The United States' action was taken at La Paz, Bolivia, by Robert F. Woodward, charge d'affaires of the embassy there, who presented a note to Foreign Minister Enrique Baldivieso announcing resumption of diplomatic relations by the United States. State department officials said they could not say immediately whether Ambassador Pierre Boal would be returned to Bolivia.

Regime Said Pro-Allies

Officials here said the action was taken in concert by all the countries because they are convinced the administration of Maj. Gualberto Villarroel is definitely pro-United Nations and has given evidence in action of its intention to work for United Nations interests and against the interests of the Axis.

They added that the move does not indicate any change in this country's policy of non-recognition for Argentina.

Information brought back by Avra Warren, minister to Panama, who made an investigation in Bolivia, was favorable to recognition and it was finally decided to take the step prior to the July 2 elections there. Recognition is expected to strengthen Villarroel's position with his people.

Landmarks In City's Residential Area Being Torn Down

Lubbock oldtimers will have cause to remember the early days when they hear that one of the city's few remaining landmarks is going by the boards this week.

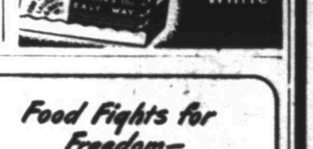

The C. T. Jackson homeplaces located at Nineteenth street and Avenue S are being removed to make way for a modern business building, according to W. Paul Faulkner, present owner of the property.

There are two houses on the corner in which the Jackson family lived. Jackson bought the largest house in 1923 and moved it to the present location from near Broadway and Avenue M. The original homeplace was then moved north on the next lot. The places were sold by the family in 1935.

Walker Jackson, who is one of eight children raised in the two houses, said it made him "sort of sad" to see the places go.

The land and water area of the Netherlands East Indies is about equal to the land area of continental United States.

CIO Political Committee Here To Stay, Sidney Hillman Says

BY MARLOW AND ZIELKE
Associated Press Staff Writers

WASHINGTON, June 23—Sidney Hillman says his CIO political action committee intends to be a permanent force in American politics.

Recently it has been assigned much influence — probably too much in some cases—for the defeat of certain congressmen this spring.

PAC itself has played pretty mum about claiming influence.

Hillman is PAC chairman. In an interview we asked him to say what the score is.

Other Groups Active

He said PAC has not taken exclusive credit for those congressional defeats, and can't. PAC gunned for the whipped congressmen but other groups were active, too.

What about these defeated ones: Sen. Holman (R-Ore), Rep. Newsome (D-Ala), and Reps. Starnes (D-Ala) and Costello (D-Cal), both members of the Dies committee, whose chairman, Rep. Dies (D-Tex), has decided not to run again?

Yes. Hillman said, in each of those cases the local PAC worked to defeat those men. But he heavily emphasized this:

The national PAC, as such, does not work for an individual congressman's defeat. That is done by the local branch of the PAC.

Two-Sided View

Hillman said PAC looks at all congressmen's records two ways: Their stand on international cooperation after the war and their home front policies.

Take the case of Holman. He was defeated by Wayne Morse, former member of the War Labor board. Hillman said:

"Holman was an isolationist. The PAC suported Morse. When he was on the labor board, Morse handed down some decisions which antagonized labor. But we preferred him to Holman. We want a Congress which will work for international cooperation."

Some Commentators Suspicious

Some political commentators have expressed the suspicion that PAC, which endorses a fourth term for President Roosevelt, eventually might seek to take over the Democratic party.

Hillman said: "I wouldn't take the Democratic party as a gift on a silver platter. But PAC is here to stay. It will not end after this year's elections. It is in permanent operation.

PAC was set up by the CIO last July. For many months which it did its spadework quietly, it was practically ignored by the political highdomes in Washington.

But they scrambled over one another after the spring primaries to diagnose PAC.

Three Treated For Poisonous Bites

ABILENE, June 23. (AP) — Two persons bitten by snakes and one bitten by a spider were reported "restin well" at a local hospital where they were brought for treatment.

The three, brought here yesterday from the same general area, are:

Mrs. Elbert Crawford of Oplin, Callahan county, bitten by a rattlesnake.

Shirley Hollingshead, 8, Potosi, Talyor county, suffering from rattlesnake bites on her angles.

Bennie Hill, route 5, Abilene, bitten by a spider.

DEFENSES ALL SET

ALLENDALE, N. J., June 23. (AP)—S. E. Staines has his defenses set up against the annual bluejay invasion of his cherry trees. The first line is tin cans of marbles which rattle like automatic rifles; the second line—toy snakes dangling in the branches.

Tobin Hurls Second No-Hitter Of Year

Braves, Phillies Split Twin Bill

(By The Associated Press)

Jim Tobin, after eight years as a major league pitcher, boasted a .503 won-lost percentage today—and you can chalk up that .003 surplus to yesterday's no-hitter—his second of the season—against the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Boston Brave ace allowed only two walks in the abbreviated contest, which was called at the end of five innings because of darkness, with the score 7-0 in Boston's favor. Only one other pitcher, Johnny Vandermeer of the Cincinnati Reds in 1938, has hurled two no-hit games in one season. Vandy's were regulation nine-inning games, however.

In addition to the two no-hitters, Tobin has pitched a one-hitter, two three-hitters and a five-hitter, this season.

Phillies Took Opener 1-0

The Phillies took the opener of the twin-bill 1-0 in 15 innings on Ron Northey's home run. It was the season's longest 1-0 affair, and Bill Lee and Charley Schanz collaborated to shade hard-luck Bill Javery, who went the route for the Braves.

Whit Wyatt hurled his first complete game of the campaign, allowing the Giants only six hits as Brooklyn won 10-3 over the New Yorkers. The triumph evened the four-game series.

Pittsburgh took both ends of a double header from Cincinnati, 9-4 and 7-4. Rip Sewell won his ninth game in the opener. Al Rubeling accounted for the second game, hitting his second pinch-hit homer in a week, with two on in the sixth.

Sens Handed First Shutout

Bill Zuber handed the Washington Senators their first shutout of the season in their 60th game, doling out four hits as the New York Yankees won 4-0. Bud Metheny's seventh homer with one on off Dutch Leonard, was the big blow.

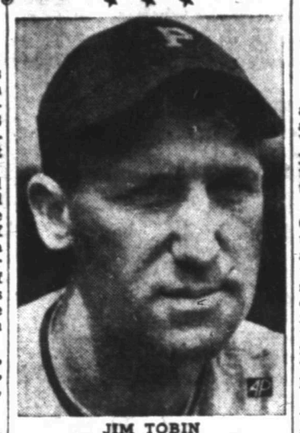

Philadelphia's A's took the second game of a twin-bill 3-2, after Boston's Red Sox captured the opener 5-4 to snap the Mackmen's six game winning streak. Mike Ryba helped himself to his seventh win against one defeat by doubling in the 12th of the curtain-raiser, and scoring on a single by Pete Fox. Bobby Estalella's single with the bases full and two out in the ninth decided the second contest.

Joe Orengo's eighth-inning double which scored Charlie Metro enabled Detroit to edge out Cleveland 4-3 in the fourth one-run margin of the day.

A seven-run outburst in the eighth gave the Chicago White Sox an easy 10-3 victory over the league leading St. Louis Browns. Ralph Hodgin starred for the winners with three hits which drove in three runs.

St. Louis and Chicago in the National league were postponed because of wet grounds.

Canada in 1941 manufactured 82,000 reams of carbon paper, valued at $996,000.

Polk Robison Swats Tech Faculty To Win

Smashing out a home run and two triples, Polk Robinson led the Texas Tech Faculty softball ten to a 12 to 9 victory over the Federals Thursday afternoon at the 23rd and Avenue W diamond.

T. M. Cox pitched for the winners with Chief Barnett doing the receiving. The battery for the Federals was Frigo and Matijoksky.

The Federals staged a rally in the seventh inning, but it was snuffed out before it could prove dangerous.

Walters Due As All-Star Hurler

Reds' Ace Is Best Night Pitcher

BY JACK CUDDY
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 23 — The almost certain and in all probability unanimous selection of William "Bucky" Walters for this year's all-star game gives what we think is a definite advantage to the National league.

Walters, ace right hander of the Cincinnati Reds, is unquestionably the best night pitcher in baseball and if he is Manager Billy Southworth's choice to start for the senior circuit, and his record indicates that he will be, the American league batsmen will do well to eat a lot of carrots between now and July 11 — the date of the game. Carrots are supposed to perk up your blinkers in the dark.

Over the past two years, Walters has been practically unbeatable under the arcs. He puts a hop on the ball which seems to escape vision in the night games and batters find his delivery exceptionally tough to master.

Got Bad Start

Walters got off to a bad start last year and after recovering from an ankle injury which he suffered in spring training, the night games were in progress and he started to shine. The majority of the 15 games he won last year were after dark victories.

This year, he has been effective in both night and day games, but unbeatable at night. His record shows 11 victories against only three defeats and included in the wins were four shutouts. His last time out he whitewashed the Pittsburgh Pirates, under the lights at Crosley Field, with two scratch hits.

At his current pace Walters will break his previous high for a season which he established in 1939 with 27 victories.

Fielding Nearly Flawless

Bucky is a managers' pitcher. His fielding is nearly flawless and in addition he is a splendid hitter, frequently winning his own ball games with base blows. He seldom needs relief and in the 13 games he has started this season Cincinnati Manager Bill McKechnie has had to send in help only on one occasion.

Walters, in his 21st year of professional ball, the first nine of which he spent as an infielder, has been selected for five all-star games and has pitched in four games, seeing six innings of service and allowing one earned run. He has never lost or won an all-star game.

A grey-eyed, brown haired six-footer, Walters has led the league in earned run average on two occasions, 1939 and '40; most games won '39 and '40; complete games, '39, '40, '41; innings pitched, '40, '41, and tied for the lead in strikeouts in 1939.

It seems more than a possibility that Walters could win the National league's fourth game of the 12 midsummer classics that have been played.

Hemphill-Wells Cats Defeat Bill Dean Service Nine 7-5

The Hemphill-Wells Cats were perched on top of the junior baseball National league heap today after winning a 7 to 5 decision over the Bill Dean Service nine Thursday afternoon at Chapman field in their crucial battle that highlighted the week's play.

The Cats were forced to come from behind to win the game, scoring five times in the fifth inning to put the game on ice as they drove Armstrong from the hill and scored twice more off Phil Ragland, who took over the mound duties.

Dean's Take Lead

Blackmon started for the Cats, but left the game in the fourth inning after Dean's had rolled up a 5 to 1 advantage. Bob Galey took over in the late stages and limited the Deanmen to one hit in the last three innings to come out with the victory.

An error and two walks filled the bases with one out in the fifth inning. Clinton Benefield then drove one down through short that took a high hop for a base hit. The ball was fumbled in the outfield and three runs came in to tie the ball game.

Winning Runs

Cope walked, and H. Galey beat out a high, slow hopper to third to again fill the bases. Ragland then came to the mound, and walked Cooper to force Benefield in with what proved to be the winning run. Bill Cope then stole home to ice away the game.

The lone hit off Galey came in the seventh when Newsome led off with a slashing single, but he died on second base as the Cats' right handed ace struck out two men and forced a third to loft one to center for an easy out.

White Sox Hurler In 'Spectacle' Club

CHICAGO, June 23. (AP)—Gordon Maltzberger, Chicago White Sox relief pitcher who is leading the American league, has joined the club's "spectacle club."

Maltzberger, who has been in 23 of the Sox' 53 games and has won 7 and lost 1, decided he would wear glasses while pitching — so he could catch his catcher's signal without too much difficulty.

BOND TICKETS SOLD

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—All the $100 and $1,000 bond tickets for the Yankee-Dodger-Giant round-robin baseball game at the Polo Grounds Monday have been sold, the war finance committee said today. Last year's game resulted in the sale of about $86,000,000 in bonds.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 23 — Mel Ott has broken only three bats so far this season, and each time he picked out a new one and busted a homer with it. . . . Carl Hubbard, the American league ump, claims this has been the toughest season the arbiters ever have had. "There are more close plays to call because they don't have those good infielders to throw out runners by a mile," he explains. . . . When a Pittsburgh scribe chided Leo Houck, Penn State's veteran boxing coach, for claiming he never had been knocked out in some 200 professional fights, Leo's only reply was a photo of the bout in question showing Houck and Billy Murray on their feet with the referee holding Murray's hand aloft.

"Does this look like I was knocked out?" Leo wrote. It doesn't, but Nat Fleischer's record book still lists it as a KO victory for Murray.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Local track experts who watched Charley Parker sprint in the nationals claim he should become a quarter-miler because he lacks the "pickup" for the dashes. . . . Influential Fordham alumni are said to be going a little spadework for Joe Maniaci as postwar successor to Jimmy Crowley. If those ex-pros recently transferred from Great Lakes to Bainbridge remain at that Navy post through the season they certainly should make Joe look like a great coach. . . . At Trenton, N. J., High school, Lightweight Ike Williams was a member of the varsity relay team and of the basketball squad. . . . But Monigomery tossed Ike for a field goal last winter.

Maj. C. W. "Cac" Hubbard, former Denver U. athletic director, has been assigned to the AAF training command radio school at Sioux Falls, S. D., as a section commander. . . . Marty Feldman, former Oregon guard, was knocked flat on a battlefield by a sniper's bullet that struck his helmet, he jumped up and walked to a first aid station — probably mumbling something about those Southern California backs. . . . Steve M. Divich, former Indiana U. pole vaulter, has been made a lieutenant colonel in the Army at the age of 32. That's quite some vaulting, too.

Babe Zaharias In Semi-Finals

Three College Girls In Race

CHICAGO, June 23 (AP)—Three college lassies and 30-year-old Babe Didriksen Zaharias entered today's semi-final round of the nation's No. 1 war-time women's golf tournament, the Western Open.

The youngster of the field, 18-year-old Betty Jane Haemerle, faced the stern test of playing Babe, the Beverly Hills, Calif. all-around athlete who has been averaging nearly 250-yards with her drives. Sturdy Miss Haemerle, a seasoned competitor despite her age, upset Defending Champion Patty Berg yesterday 1-up in 19 holes for one of the biggest surprises in the 15-year-old history of the tournament.

Patty, who in earlier play apparently had recaptured her game after being absent from competitive golf since joining the Marines last fall, trailed 2-down after the first nine holes, but gained the advantage on the 17th only to lose the 18th and extra 19th when she tried lofted irons on the greens to overcome stymies.

Former Junior Champ

Jeanne Cline, of Bloomington, Ill., former western junior champion gained the semi-final round of the open for the third time in six years. She drew one of the top favorites, Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, Beaver college student who won the 1943 western amateur and last week took first in the special 54-hole Red Cross meet at New Rochelle, N. Y. Both girls are 20 years old.

Miss Germain shot some of the best golf of the tournament yesterday to eliminate Georgia Tainter, Fargo, N. D., veteran, 4 and 3. Dorothy was 2-up at the turn after authorizing a one-under par 37 to her opponent's fine 39 and was only one-over when the match ended on the 15th.

Miss Cline Ousts Phyllis Otto

After trailing one-down on the front nine, Miss Cline won four of the last seven holes in a surge which dispelled Omaha's Phyllis Otto 3 and 2.

Meanwhile, Babe, finding herself lagging for the first time, shot three birdies in a row on the back nine and clinched her match with another on the 15th to dispose of Mrs. Albert Becker of Englewood, N. J., 3 and 2.

Favorites Survive In Glen Garden Play

FORT WORTH, June 23 (AP) — Favorites in the annual Glen Garden invitation tournament came through as expected in second round match play Thursday but several of the fair haired boys had to swing their best to beat excellent golf by their opponents.

Naval Cadet Jack Helm of Decatur, home on leave, won his match from Hugh Ardoyno but was forced to go three extra holes and birdie the final hole to pull the match out of the fire. Charles Tims of Arlington, tournament medalist was carried one extra hole before defeating R. Hart of Fort Worth 1 up. J. R. Taylor of Fort Worth eliminated Phil Powell of Graham 3 and 2.

Ike Williams, Cleo Shans Fight Tonight

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP) — With Beau Jack and Bob Montgomery in the Army, Promoter Mike Jacobs hopes a new top-flight light-weight will emerge from tonight's Madison Square garden 10-rounder between Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., and Cleo Shans of Los Angeles.

Jacobs predicted a crowd of 10,000 would pay about $20,000 to see the scrap, in which Williams rates a 1 to 2 favorite.

THE GREAT MASSEY-HARRIS
SELF-PROPELLED HARVEST BRIGADE
IS HERE NOW!
The Harvest Brigade is now operating in this locality—helping solve America's 1944 harvest problems in the face of a serious shortage of harvesting labor and machines. It's your opportunity to see "the combine of tomorrow"—see the Massey-Harris Self-Propelled Combine harvest MORE ACRES PER HOUR, PER MAN, PER DOLLAR than ever before in history.
THE BATTLE FOR BREAD IS ON
Like a vast movement of Massey-Harris-built M-5 Tanks on the battlefront, hundreds of Massey-Harris Self-Propelled Combines in the hands of approved, reliable operators, are invading America's great grain belt in localities where the need is greatest. The goal of the "Brigade" is to harvest at least 1,000,000 acres this year. It is estimated that these Self-Propelled Massey-Harris Combines will save half a million bushels which tractor-drawn combines tramp down in opening up fields—save 300,000 man-hours and thousands of gallons of tractor fuel.
The "Brigade" combines are 12 and 14-foot cut machines built for larger acreage farmers, but Massey-Harris has also adapted this wonderful self-propelled principle to the famous Clipper Combine in 7-foot cut size. The Massey-Harris Clipper is the original straight-through, scoop-type combine. Now available in either Pull-Type or Self-Propelled models. See for yourself how Massey-Harris Self-Propelled Combines are revolutionizing harvesting methods—saving grain, manpower, tractor crew and fuel . . . and money.
Come in or phone and we'll tell you where the Harvest Brigade is operating and then you can see it at the most convenient time and place.

What Readers Of The Evening Journal Say—

The Plainsman Gets Some Mail

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Letters from readers are welcomed at all times and on all subjects However, no letter of more than 500 words will be considered for publication, and all letters belittling, or impugning the motive of any individual, firm or corporation must include for publication, the true name of the author. SOLDIER RAPS LUBBOCK

Dear Plainsman: In the past five years of my Army career I have been in many cities, large and small. But in all my experiences, no place has treated me as badly as Lubbock. A few days ago a friend and I stood on the corner of 19th and Tech for two hours before someone was decent enough to give us a lift. I am sure the citizens of Lubbock who have sons and relatives in the service would like them to be treated decently wherever they may be stationed.

Cars passed us in a continuous stream and the people in them ignored us as though we were lepers. They even went as far to whistle at us.

You hear how the people are doing so much by buying bonds and how much they owe to the men in uniform. In Lubbock the people act as if we owe them. They pass a soldier and as they pass they think, "Oh, the next guy will pick him up. To heck with stopping." The trouble is the next guy will think the same thing.

Suppose we would say to heck with the Army? Let the next guy do the work. Then the people would complain because we were shirking our duty. We were not asking for sympathy. But it's little, inconsiquential things like catching a ride that help boost our morale. All we ask is to be treated like human beings so we can get this war over and go home where we know we are wanted.

If we were civilians we would probably have a job making from $200 to $400 dollars a month, driving a good car, eating steak every day. Instead, our pay is $50 a month; we walk; and we eat what is put in front of us. Can we do more? Yes, we can, and do. We buy bonds on a pay-as-you-go basis and buy extra ones during the drives.

I don't suppose this will get any further than your desk and then the waste basket. But if you read it, at least one person will know how we feel and maybe you can do something to help get these people of Lubbock on the ball. Wake them up! Let them know there's a war going on!

As for me, I'm being transfered and anything you do won't help me. But I have buddies who are staying here and maybe it will help them.

This isn't very much of a letter because if I expressed my true feelings some one might get embarrassed. But at least be decent to the ones who are still here and those who will continue to come until victory.

An Old G. I. Joe.

AS our two dominant political parties prepare to meet with great fanfare and to select their candidates for President and Vice President, from behind the front page (where the poor guy hardly ever lands) pops that hardy perennial, Norman Thomas. Once again, for the fifth time, Norman has "accepted" the Socialist party's standard and is ready to bear it against the foe.

Mr. Thomas has never come anywhere near winning the presidency. He never will reside at 1600 Pennsylvannia avenue. But he has done something that redounds to his everlasting credit: by his gentlemanly demeanor, his scholarly attitude and his innate decency, he has become a respected citizen in the eyes even of those who hate the mere mention of "Socialism."

Perhaps Mr. Thomas' courtliness and decency have contributed to his failure to arouse much popular support.

Perhaps his basic honesty in public discussion has worked against him all the way through his political career, because it is a proven fact that there is no corollary between honesty and success in politics.

Doubtless, Mr. Thomas can teach no political tricks to his more successful rivals but he can teach most of them a great deal about integrity and gentlemanliness.

Approve his political views, or not, you can't take from him a well-earned reputation of being an honest, sincere man.

A VERY welcome visitor—albeit a too brief one — to The Plainsman's cubbyhole the other day was Maj. Warren Freeman, former public relations and special services officer at South Plains Army Air Field, but for the last 12 months an almost constant air traveler between our far-flung military installations overseas.

Now attached to the European wing of the Air Transport Command, with headquarters "Somewhere in England," Major Freeman has picked up a chestful of campaign ribbons—including the Purple Heart—since leaving here. Incidentally, he has one of the pieces of flak which lodged in his side in a foray over France and plans to set it in stone for use as a paperweight!

Fresh from England, as well as from visits to India, North Africa and other bases not permissible to mention, Major Freeman is on special mission in the U. S., will return overseas before too many days have passed. He couldn't talk much for publication, but he could say this:

"The thing which has impressed me the most since my return to the U.S. a week ago is the fact that the war has scarcely touched our home front. Compared to the English, Americans are living in Paradise. The extent of our rationing, compared to that of Britain, is microscopic. Our people at home simply cannot realize what war means when it's on your doorstep, and I'm glad they haven't had to realize it. But there's no room for dissatisfaction anywhere in the U.S. There's no room for grumbling over the small dislocations war has brought here. The person who thinks there is simply has no idea of the real, bed-rock sacrifices being made by people in England, in particular, and over much of the world, in general."

Major Freeman is one of the few who has maintained his normal, well-conditioned weight since going overseas. He has fully recovered from his wounds and is simply full of his interesting job which has taken him to so many places around the globe.

In civil life, he is operator of resort hotels in Florida in the winter; in Massachusetts in the summer. Much of his Army work is based upon his peacetime knowledge of food and quarters.

THERE'LL be fun for all—and some good bargains, too—at the Junior Chamber of Commerce War bond auction Saturday night. The young men of the Jaycee organization, anxious to put a burr under the saddle blanket of the Fifth War Loan drive here, are offering various incentives to patriots in order to run the bond purchase total up higher.

The auction, set for 8 p. m., will be held on the courthouse square. The Jaycees ask that we explain one thing in particular, namely:

The valuable articles to be auctioned will not, in themselves, be sold. They go "for free" to the top purchasers of War bonds.

Here's the way the auction will work:

The Jaycees will bring out one of the more than 75 items donated by Lubbock merchants. Let's say it's a $10 pair of men's shoes. Bids are called for.

One man bids a $25 War bond; another hikes the bid to a $50 bond; on and on the auction goes until it reaches its peak. The fortunate bidder pays only the regular rate for his War bond—but with the bond, at no extra cost to the bond buyer, go the shoes.

Through the generosity of Lubbock merchants, all sorts of valuable—or scarce—items will be ready for the auction. They've all been donated; they're all first class stuff and range from a revolving globe to a cooling unit; from motor oil to cases of soft drinks. Some of the items are worth as much as $25 on the retail market. Many are worth $10.

You'll have fun at the Jaycee auction; you can "back the attack" by buying your bonds there—and make something on the side. It'll be very much worthwhile.

The Japs are a canny lot. Their newspapers do not print war news unfavorable to them, thereby saving tons and tons of precious newsprint.

YOU may think you're pretty important around here and maybe you are in business, professional, civic, social or church circles. But to a youngster in the service home on furlough, you aren't likely to amount to much unless you're his kinfolks or a close personal friend.

Almost every day some youngster drops into Avalanche-Journal offices, on "vacation" from the everyday duties of the Army, Navy or Marines. And the first thing he says is:

"Where is everybody? I've only been gone a year, but everybody's gone. The services sure are taking the boys from Lubbock."

They're right, too. A great majority of the South Plains crop of young men is "long gone from here"—and as far as the returning soldiers and sailors are concerned, when their friends are gone, "everybody's gone."

So don't any of us oldsters take ourselves too seriously! The kids may be more right than they realize when they look us over and then say:

"Everybody's gone!"

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT

(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

A WAVE officer says that service women are rarely invited for dinner in private homes the way service men are. That is probably true — but service women shouldn't take the matter personally.

It is just the way of women to enjoy cooking a meal for a man and fussing over him and making him comfortable. Women, of all ages, get a kick out of that. But they don't find it in any way satisfying to bake a pie and fry a chicken for another woman.

MILLETT

That is so much true that even when a woman invites a couple for dinner she usually prepares the favorite meal of the man guest. She knows that if he likes steaks and his wife goes into ecstacy over lobster, chances are ten to one the meal will feature steak.

Then, too, there is another reason for women's not being too anxious to invite a service woman for Sunday dinner.

The service woman today is a glamorous creature. She is as much a strange being as actresses were in grandma's day. And chances are she is young.

TOO MUCH COMPETITION

SO wives, hating competition as all women do, are loathe to have these glamor girls in uniform around. They are probably a little afraid that a housewife might look somewhat drab beside a skirted sergeant.

If women are slow to invite service women into their homes, these are probably the reasons. And it isn't because the would-be guests are service women—just because they are women.

A RIDICULOUS PROPOSAL

To members of the House Military Affairs committee can be handed, without challenge, the dubious credit of having done the week's most effective job of throwing flies into the soup.

The soup itself has consisted of the discussed proposal to provide extra pay for the GI Joes of the infantry for the time spent in actual combat. This was splendid soup. Most Americans would favor it heartily. Infantry Joe does not—although his is the nastiest, the dirtiest, the most dangerous and the most necessary job of all. The proposal that he be given at least a little extra pay was all to the good.

Now for the flies, and we quote from an Associated Press dispatch relating to the pay boost proposal:

"Chairman May (D-Ky) joined with other committee members in agreeing that the pay scales should not be adjusted until after the war."

Which prompts the question: How will pay adjustments after the war be worth a thin dime to GI heroes like those who have stormed to victory upon countless bloody shores in this war? What good will combat bonuses do when there is no combat?

Of course, if such bonus should be made retroactive so as to cover combat service in the present war, it would be acceptable. But the measure now under discussion does not make any such provision. Combat pay would not apply except for combat action after the present struggle. It would be effective at a time when, presumably, the world will be safe from combats for at least a few years.

Such a measure as that proposed would be ridiculous. Any combat pay measure will be a farce which does not provide for those who have risked their lives in the bloody fighting of the present war.

Giant Corporations Get Another "Break" Little Fellows Are "Racked Back" Again Marshall Stops Promotion Of General Officer "Went To Pieces" During Attack

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Few business leaders know it, but many inside the War Production board were flabbergasted at the ruling that no company getting less than a $12,000,000 cutback should receive government aid or consideration. This was the recent decision of Charley Wilson's special committee on post-war conversion.

What it means is that the big companies which got most of the war orders will now get government help, while the little companies won't. For instance, if a plant is notified by the Army or Navy to cutback a war order of $11,000,000 worth of jeeps, it gets no consideration from the government. But if it gets socked a $12,000,000 cancellation, it can get help. A lot of small companies doing a million dollars worth of business or less are going to be among the hardest hit.

PEARSON

It still remains a fact that seven U.S. companies got 50 percent of all war orders. They are General Motors, Du Pont, Bethlehem Steel, Newport News Ship, New York Ship, Curtis-Wright and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

JONES SEES HIS BOSS

WHEN Jesse Jones went in to see his boss in the White House last week, ostensibly it was not over the Texas political revolt. Instead FDR wanted to see him about the subsidy for stripper oil wells, which the rest of the administration agreed on but for which Jesse refused to write a RFC check. Jesse smilingly reversed himself on the oil subsidy following the White House talk.

But the position regarding the Texas anti-Roosevelt revolt remains the same: "I never knew anything about it until I read it in the papers." This, in effect, was what he took occasion to tell the President during their oil conference. Friends gathered afterwards that FDR didn't exactly believe him.

"Dear Alben" Barkley would give his eye-teeth to know whether or not the President has completely forgiven him for his sudden revolt on the tax veto message last winter. The answer, according to White House insiders, is that the President has almost forgiven him, but not quite. If and when there is a fourth term, Jesse Jones, they say, may be in a different category.

ARMY PROMOTIONS

THE general whose name was suddenly withdrawn by the White House for promotion cracked up on the beach in France. His name had been sent to the Senate for promotion to major general and was about to be approved by the Senate Military Affairs committee. But General Marshall happened to see him completely gone to pieces on the beach, and sent a quick radio message to the White House to withdraw his name from the promotion list.

These things happen in wartime, but some Senators are now questioning the wisdom of quick promotions for generals during wartime. Senators Hill, Kilgore, Wallgren, Thomas of Utah and Johnson of Colorado favor more promotions for boys ranging from corporal to major, less for the generals—until after the war.

Arthur Bunker of Lehman Brothers and the War Production board is lobbying with senators for the promotion of Col. E. F. Jeffe, former vice president of Consolidated Edison, to be a brigadier general. Charley Wilson, former head of General Electric, wants him promoted.

Promotion Deserved

One boy who deserves promotion, wherever he is, is young Lt. Ted Binder, who went down over Berlin last week while bellwethering a squadron of 60 Flying Fortresses. If he made a mistake in direction, then the 60 planes with him did, too. But he didn't. It was his 26th mission over Europe.

Last winter, a newspaper correspondent asked Lt. Binder how he liked London. "I don't know," he said. "This is the first time I've been in London. But I've seen Berlin three times."

Like many other fathers of heroes, Chicago Daily News Foreign Editor Carroll Binder, father of the boy, got the bad news of the last Berlin raid on Father's Day.

PAINT LONDON

GENERAL Eisenhower's London headquarters recently had to be moved to an ancient English residence in a very fashionable district. Like many houses whose owners trace their lineage back a thousand years, it was dark and, to the American military eye, almost seedy. So Eisenhower's boys decided to cheer it up, lavishly applied white paint, made it fresh and sprightly, were proud of their work.

But when the owner came back, he nearly dropped dead. They had painted over a rare old tapestry wallpaper which had been in the house since the days of Oliver Cromwell.

THE Santa Fe officials who piloted the first freight train from California to Chicago using a radio telephone exclusively, was Santa Fe's Superintendent of Telegraph T. P. Brewster. It was a solid trainload of potatoes . . . Real reason why Jim Farley resigned from the New York State Democratic committee when he did was the impending selection of a New York campaign manager. When Jim was re-elected state chairman, it was with the understanding that he would permit the selection of a campaign manager acceptable to the White House. Bob Hannegan, who made the arrangement, said there was no percentage in having Jim pick a New York manager who might go in the opposite direction from Roosevelt . . . So when the time came for a N. Y. manager to be selected, Jim realized that the appointment would make him a mere figurehead. He resigned . . .

"The glamor angle of the cosmetics business," said OPA's Martha Wood recently, "has occasioned a good deal of amusement to the dignitaries of the OPA. It has been a little startling to lawyers and economists to be asked to approve an order pricing a new perfume which is described by the manufacturer as 'Savage Love—distilled by cabalistic incantations at the quarter of the moon when the sap is running full,' as a case for the establishment of maximum prices under Sec. 6, Paragraph (B) TF, Maximum Price Regulation 393."

ON BROADWAY

(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

NOTES of an Innocent Bystander—The Show Shops: After 10 months at the Music Box Theatre (in Hollywood), "Meet the People of 1944" closed to tour . . . So much of it is so good and so many of the cast are so talented that Broadway (which will not see it) has good cause to sulk . . . This is the show which introduced "Shoo Shoo Baby," an ordinary song, perhaps, but not when it is rendered by Roberta Lee, a new-to-these-ears spellbinder . . . Miss Lee almost achieves some of the greatness of the lyrist and composer when she sings a wonderful song titled, "The Four Rivers" . . . And when she sings "Rockabye-Shoo Shoo" you realize that you are confronted by a new star . . . Another good song in this delightful revue is called "You and Your Broken Heart" . . . The most amusing of its sketches is "End the Beguine," in which Marilyn Hare is at her very best.

The Moom-Pitchers: "Two Girls and a Sailor," crowded with chorines, puts its best limbs forward. The story is strictly fluff, but every time the plot starts to faint a star rushes over to revive it with a display of talent. The talent includes: J. Durante, Lena Horne, Gracie Allen and Harry James . . . The only assets in "Secret Command" are the natural assets Carole Landis was born with. Otherwise the film is just another one of those run-of-the-millo-dramas concerning spies . . . The Sovvys have another documentary throbbing with thrills, "People's Avengers." Filmed behind enemy lines, it records the stirring exploits of Russia's guerillas. The narration written by Norman Corwin is in tune with the symphony of heroism . . . "The Amazing Mr. Foster" is an alleged comedy that doesn't amaze anybody.

THE Wireless: No words can match the dramatic impact of the sound of bombs and planes that punctuate on-the-spot broadcasts from the invasion front. The calm, descriptive reporting of newscasters in the midst of danger deserves a sweeping bow from every listener . . . Speaker Rayburn eloquently blue-printed a win-the-peace guide for Congress. That blueprint can be turned into reality if Congress has more legislators like Rayburn . . . A gang of Badoglio-type Frenchmen are now hatching plans to sink their fangs into France when the nation is liberated, Wm. Shirer warned. The place where their confabs are being held is the tip off to the kind of men they are—Madrid. Do you think Franco would allow them to be his guests if he didn't expect them to run errands for him?

The Magazines: Page 60 of the July Esquire has an eye-arresting color picture of lovely Lisette Verea, who plays Clo-Clo in "The Merry Widow." She was just signed by Warner's for their magic lantern shows. The Esquire photo is a terrific advert for opera-length hosiery . . . Read a Navy officer's opinion of civilians (especially waiters who treat uniformed men shabbily) same mag. . . . Eugene Lyons coined a new ism for Click's pages. He observed that Russia has left communism behind and is now heading for "Stateism." More important is the news that Russia is heading towards Berlin.

THE Quipping Post: The New Yorker two issues ago observed: "One of the early Time-words, if you recall, was cinemaddict."

We recall it very well. It was among our first litter, which included cinemagic, cinemaeedchen, cinemaiden, cinemagogue, cinemactress, cinemactor, cinemadonna.

Quotation Marksmanship: Ring Lardner: The critics' opinions seem more like revenge than reviews . . . R. F. Berndt: His eyebrows whistled as she passed . . . Bruce Caldwell: As hollow as the laugh of a man who intended to tell the story himself . . . J. Conrad: A counterfeit smile with all teeth and no heart . . . J. Joubert: The trouble with having a golden heart is that you can't cash it . . . J. H. Broude: A face smudged with discontent . . . Tony Eden: Ah, these wonderful Coolifornia nights! . . . Don Marquis: An idea isn't responsible for the people who believe it . . . Charles Linten: She looked at him as if he were the fly in her soup . . . Hannen Swaffer: I might have made a good actor, but I preferred, rather than having to say the same thing of someone else's every night, saying a different thing of my own every morning.

Freak Incidents--And Accidents--Go Hand-In-Hand With War

Ernie Dwells On Invasion's "Lighter Things"

BY ERNIE PYLE

Special Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE — (By Wireless) — The war is constantly producing funny things as well as tragic things, so I might as well tell you some of our lighter incidents.

For example, the first night we spent in France one of the colonels who slept with us under an apple tree was an Army observer from Washington. Usually we don't care for observers from Washington, but this colonel was a very nice guy and a good field soldier, too, and everybody liked him.

While we were eating our K rations next morning, he said he had slept fine for the first hour, before we had moved in under our jeep for protection from the flak. He said that before we moved he had found a nice little mound of earth to put his head on for a pillow. He said that all his life he had had to have a pillow of some kind. After moving under the jeep he couldn't find anything to put his head on.

ERNIE PYLE

With that he walked over a few feet to show us the nice mound of earth. When he looked down he started laughing. His excellent pillow of the night before had turned out in the light of day to be a pile of horse manure.

It's All "Very Distasteful"

Another story concerns a masterful piece of wartime understatement by one of our truck drivers, Pvt. Carl Vonhorn, of Cooperstown, N. Y. He had pulled into an apple orchard adjoining ours the night before, parked his truck in the darkness, spread his blankets on the ground in front of the truck, and gone to sleep.

When he woke up at daylight, Vonhorn looked about him sleepily. And there on the ground right beside him, within arm's reach, was a dead German soldier. And when he looked on the other side, there, equally close, were two potato-mashers (hand grenades). Private Vonhorn got up very quickly.

Later he was telling his officers about his startling experience and he ended his description with this philosophical remark:

"It was very distasteful."

Everybody thought that was so funny it spread around the camp like fire, and now the phrase "it's very distasteful" has become practically a by-word.

AFTER breakfast that first morning we had to round up about 50 dead Germans and Americans in the series of orchards where we were camping, and carry them to a central spot in a pasture and bury them.

I helped carry one corpse across a couple of fields. I did it partly because the group needed an extra man, and partly because I was myself to get used to it, for you can't hide from death when you're in a war.

This German was just a kid, surely not over 15. His face had already turned black, but you could sense his youth through the death-distorted features.

The boys spread a blanket on the ground beside him. Then we lifted him over onto it. One soldier and I each took hold of a foot, and two others took his arms. One of the two soldiers in front was hesitant about touching the corpse. Whereupon the other soldier said to him:

"Go on, take hold of him, dammit. You might as well get used to it now, for you'll be carrying plenty of dead ones from now on. Hell, you may even be carrying me one of these days."

So we carried him across two fields, each of us holding a corner of the blanket. Our burden got plenty heavy, and we rested a couple of times. The boys made wisecracks along the way to cover up their distaste for the job.

When we got to the field we weren't sure just where the lieutenant wanted the cemetery started. So we put our man down on the ground and went back for instructions. And as we walked away the funny guy of the group turned and shook a finger at the dead German and said:

"Now don't you run away while we're gone."

Even Generals Have Accidents

The Germans leave snipers behind when they retreat, so all American bivouac areas are heavily guarded by sentries at night. And the sentries really mean business.

The other night a pretty important general whom I know was working late, as all our staff officers do these days. About midnight he left his tent to go to another general's tent and talk something over. He had gone only about 20 feet when a sentry challenged him. And just as that moment the general, groping in the dark, fell headlong into a deep slit trench.

It was funny, even to the general, but there was nothing humorous about it to the sentry. He suspected monkeybusiness. He rushed up to the trench, pointed his gun at the general, and in a tone that was a mixture of terror and intent to kill he yelled:

"Git out of there and git recognized, you!"

Anti-Aircraft Guns Used As Artillery

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY in ITALY, June 23. (AP) — There has been so little enemy air activity in the Italian campaign that some American anti-aircraft guns now are being used as field artillery.

One such outfit, converted several weeks ago, is supporting American tanks and French infantry driving up highway 2 — The Rome-Sienna road — and has been found to be a handy weapon.

This type of gun is firing at anti-aircraft and anti-tank gun positions and machine-run nests spotted up to 19,000 yards away.

"When our planes are passing over German gun positions," said Cpl. John Suarez, New Orleans, La., "we send several rounds into the positions to keep them from firing at the planes."

Pvts. John T. Osburn, Kenedy, Texas, and Albert Peterson, Richland Center, Wis., said they hadn't seen a German plane in two weeks for their battery to fire on.

Admiral Mitscher Is Oklahoma City Man

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 23. (AP) — Vice Admiral Marc Andrew Mitscher, commander of the Navy carrier forces in the western Pacific battle with the Japanese, is an Oklahoma City man, 56 years old, whose family made the run of '89.

Mitscher was reported to have been the original captain of the aircraft carrier "Hornet" from which the Tokyo raid was launched by Jimmy Doolittle. After that he was advanced to rear admiral and has participated in major Pacific engagements.

President Maintains Fourth Term Silence

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt declined with a grin today to confirm or refute a prediction by Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgia that the chief executive soon would express his willingness to accept a fourth term nomination.

A reporter asked Mr. Roosevelt at today's news conference if he planned such a statement shortly after next week's Republican national convention, as forecast by Arnall.

The President commented that it was the same old question taking a new form today.

"A new form in the light of recent events," the reporter said.

"Well, it won't work," Mr. Roosevelt replied.

"Don't I get anything for the effort?" the reporter asked.

No, said the President and told him he would have to write it off as a total failure.

Twenty or more U. S.-built locomotives used by American troops abroad in World War I are now seeing service in North Africa.

SPECIALTIES ADVANCED

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP) — Selected industrial specialties advanced in the stock market today, buyers nibbling at packing company issues, top-grade motors and some rails, utilities and metals.

Turnover was around 1,300,000 shares.

Aside from a handful of wider movers, prices changes were fractional in the final hour.

Carriers made a late move. Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Delaware & Hudson and Pullman advanced. Ahead most of the day — some of them touching peaks for the year — were American Beach, Armour, Wilson & Co., Sperry, Certain-Teed Common and Preferred, Sears Roebuck, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Eastern Rolling Mill, Columbia Gas, American Water Works, Cerro de Pasco, Dome and Homestake.

Profit cashing continued to weigh on lower-priced automotive shares. Graham-Paige, Hupp, Packard and Continental Motors had rough going, along with Standard Oil (N.J.) and Texas Co.

Curb trends were as mixed as those of the big board, with gains for Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Pennroad and Carrier Corp., and stumbles for Creole Petroleum and American Cyanamid "B".

Foreign Policy Not For Sale, FDR Says Of Finn's Expulsion

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) — President Roosevelt said today that this country's foreign policy is not for sale for $140,000, the approximate World War I debt payment made by Finland shortly before the State department ordered Finnish Minister Hjalmar Procope to leave the United States.

The President declined to comment further on Procope's expulsion but said we must remember that the present Finnish government is allied with our common enemy, Germany, and fighting against our common ally, Russia.

A reporter pointed out that the State department explained that the expulsion did not mean a diplomatic rupture between the two governments and asked what Procope had done personally to offend the United States. The President said only that the diplomat is persons non grata.

FDR SUGGESTS DELAY IN FRENCH ADMINISTRATION

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP) — President Roosevelt said today that military operations around Cherbourg are proceeding according to schedule and suggested that more of France should be liberated before efforts are made to set up a civil administration.

Mr. Roosevelt made the remark to his news conference in reply to a question about the action of Gen. Charles de Gaulle of the French National Committee of Liberation in setting up perfectures in some French areas.

Mr. Roosevelt said liberation has to come before we can take up discussions of civil administration, adding that military operations should come first.

A reporter remarked that he did not believe De Gaulle had considered the military aspect but the President replied that was just an assumption and that he did not know whether it was correct.

Jap Fleet Routed

shells found it. The plane hesitated like a tired bird and fell slowly into the sea.

The fleet turned and twisted but other Japs came in.

A torpedo bomber off our staboard quarter passed over frantic fire of destroyers without apparent hurt, but then he calmly banked over the waves, and crashed wing down into the sea, afire.

War Went On Silently

Overhead the war in the clouds went on silently and invisibly, the guns of the ships drowning out that conflict.

Another torpedo plane flew over the destroyer and then died spectacularly, the destroyer blowing him apart.

Before noon the near battle was over. Ack-ack still dappled the horizons but no more planes came in. At 12:30 Spruance set the example by going to lunch.

New attacks hit the fringes of the fleet during the afternoon but the battle center moved toward Guam and Rota, where Americans caught the fuel-less Japs trying to land. There also were fighters there trying to protect the airfields and they were downed. On one Guam field only five planes remained next morning of more than a hundred which the Japanese had planned to have there.

Yanks Returned At Dusk

At dusk the last American planes returned to the circling carriers and added up the incredible score—353 to 21.

Some of the downed American pilots were later picked up. Carriers worked until after dark easing stragglers onto decks.

One landing in full darkness was made on a carrier which proudly flew the Lone Star flag of Texas under the United States emblem. Doubtless the Japanese would have been confused about a new ally of the United Nations if any had lived to tell about seeing it. But none did.

By 10 p. m. there were no further alarms, nothing anywhere on the sea as the fleet rushed toward Japanese ships to the westward, nothing except occasional floating wreckage of what had been Nippon's sea-based aerial fleet.

Threat To Invaders Ended

This phase ended the immediate threat to the Marianas landings but Spruance was still trying desperately for a surface battle.

The Japanese were definitely located the next afternoon by scout planes and a big American bombing and torpedo fleet was launched late in the afternoon to try to reach and slow down the Japanese so that fast battleships could catch them.

Bombers took off with only a couple of hours of light left and a trip ahead of them which was almost at the maximum range of carrier planes. Carriers cleared decks for a strike, sent out everything on their flight decks while the fleet increased speed to the westward.

No Report For Hours

Hours went by and still there was no report. Finally, long after dark, our planes broke radio silence just once:

"Two carriers smoking."

Then there were more hours of silence except from the ships complaining at the forced speed.

Long after nightfall, the first planes returned to the blacked-out fleet. First there was one lone bomber circling overhead with landing lights showing on the wings.

The fleet below sprouted lights—red mast lights on the warships, dull landing illumination on the carriers.

Beacon Marked "Home"

Finally, one long searchlight beam was thrown up into the sky. This beacon marked "home" for the returning planes.

More and more planes appeared and more lights covered the sea.

(Remember, this was half way between the Marianas and the Philippines, and well west of Tokyo.)

Unfortunately for our stern chase against the Japs, it was necessary to turn the carriers into the wind, which was blowing from the east, in order to land the planes. This cost valuable time, but it couldn't have been prevented.

Watched Hazardous Landings

It was possible from the flagship to watch the hazardous landings on the carriers. Plane lights circled and dropped lower and lower until, guided by illuminated paddles handled by perspiring deck officers, they approached the flight decks.

Sometimes they made that perilous last 10 feet safely.

Sometimes they were too high as pilots strained to see in the dark.

Then they bounced sickeningly, wrecking their landing gears or smashing into barriers where the plane handlers dared the whirling propellers to haul the disabled planes forward so others could land.

Some landed safely, some did not.

Many Reached Boats

Most of those which struck the sea freed themselves from their planes and reached the fragile rubber boats. Destroyers picked their way among larger ships to haul the downed pilots from the water. Gradually lights in the dark multiplied. The planes were returning faster than they could be landed.

In a few hours it was all over. The ship lights went out and the fleet resumed its almost hopeless chase of the fleeing Japs.

We didn't catch any enemy fleet cripples because any that were left were finished off by our airmen.

We never did catch the Jap fleet and today nothing remains anywhere in the waters east of the Philippines except a few pieces of floating wreckage and some huge oil slicks on the blue sea.

The admiral took his customary two hour walk on the flagship deck this afternoon. His step was a little more springy than it was yesterday.

Battle For China

Chungking, in striking contrast to the telling victory of U. S. naval task force 58 off Saipan, prompted Chinese authorities to say a battle for China itself may develop from the Hengyang fighting. Thousand of civilians were fleeing the threatened city.

Better news came from all other Pacific war fronts. Tokyo radio announced that a force of 35 Allied bombers and fighters raided Port Blair in the Andaman islands in the Bay of Bengal Wednesday morning. The damage inflicted was minor, Tokyo said in its usual vein, and six raiding planes were shot down.

American infantrymen and Marines spread through the hills and plains of Saipan island in the Marianas in pursuit of 20,000 Japanese troops surrendered to their fate by their fleeing Navy. The Americans had complete air and sea control and the ground fighters had the advantage in numbers and firepower. They have all but conquered the whole Magicienne bayshore. Tokyo admitted American reinforcements were pouring in.

Task Force Is Large

The Navy last night disclosed the identity of the tremendous U. S. fleet which in two days last week end sunk or damaged 14 enemy ships and shot down at least 368 planes. It is task force 58, consisting of perhaps 20 first-class carriers and a host of battleships, cruisers and lesser craft. Its stamping grounds is "the entire Pacific ocean to the gates of Japan," the Navy said. Task force 58 can hurl explosives from 850 big rifles ranging in size up to the largest coastal defense guns. Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher is its commander.

Japanese imperial headquarters said of the Saipan naval battle that it had been "unble to inflict a decisive blow upon the enemy," and went so far as to admit the loss of a carrier, two tankers and 50 planes. It called its action a "forestalling attack."

All enemy troops have been cleared from the Kohima-Imphal road for the first time since March 20, southeast Asia headquarters said, signifying Japanese failure to break the Indian supply line to Burma and China.

General MacArthur's airmen bombed Noemfoor island off Biak, near Dutch New Guinea, and attacked a 15-ship enemy convoy near Palau, sinking one enemy merchantman.

Task Force 58

staged the daring attack only a week ago on the Volcano and Bonin island bases less than 500 miles from Japan's homeland.

Commanding the armada is 57-year-old Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, short, thin, retiring admiral who fights much more than he talks, and refers always to "we," never to "I," in discussing operations.

Mitscher and 58 are on the prowl again. "Just where this floating strategic air force will strike next," the Navy says, "is a constant source of conjecture and worry for the enemy. Its one and one-quarter million square feet of runway from which it can launch well over a thousand planes can be moved at will throughout the Pacific, even to Japan itself."

JAPS ADMIT LOSSES IN NAVAL BATTLE

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP) — Japanese Imperial headquarters acknowledged today the loss of a Japanese aircraft carrier, two oil tankers and 50 planes in an engagement with an American naval task force west of the Marianas, and admitted that the Japanese had been "unable to inflict a decisive blow upon the enemy."

The broadcast said part of the Japanese combined fleet had participated in the action which began on June 19 Japanese time and continued until the following day.

A communique issued early by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz had announced that American carrier-based planes had sunk a Japanese carrier of the New Hayataka class and three fleet tankers in addition to damaging a battleship, three carriers and other warcraft. The bulletin acknowledged the loss of 49 American planes but made no mention of U. S. ship losses.

Nazis Bitterly Defending Port

forces outside the city because of the terrific bombing to which the long-contested town had been subjected.

There was no confirmation at supreme headquarters of a German radio report that new Allied air-borne landings had been made at Gavray east of Granville on the peninsula's west coast 60 miles below Cherbourg.

The Germans were making a desperate bid to hold the strategic port as long as possible. Everywhere fierce resistance was encountered, and a particularly vicious battle was being fought for control of the big airfield at Maupertus, five miles east of the city.

(The British radio, quoting a British correspondent, said a captured German battle order declared the Germans in Cherbourg must "hold their positions or be shot." The broadcast was recorded by CBS.)

Small Gains Registered

Inside the besieged port, the German garrison stood up stubbornly under yesterday's 1,000-plane assault on the forts and pillboxes comprising the city's defense. The U. S. ground troops had to fight for every inch of their advance.

Small gains were registered around the port itself, but progress was made on both the eastern and western sides of the peninsula.

Nazi Resistance Slight

Only slight German resistance was reported by American troops which cut off the eastern tip of the peninsula by capturing the road junction of St. Pierre Eglise and then driving two miles westward and taking Carneville within sight of the sea.

A report from the 21st Army group headquarters said this advance provided "strong indications" the Germans had abandoned that tip of the peninsula despite strong fortifications in the St. Vaast la Hougue area on he eastern coast.

On the western tip of the peninsula, the Americans went forward in the area of Beaumont Hague against scattered resistance, cutting off whatever Germans are in that area.

Channel Isles Attacked

Allied bombers and fighters attacked German gunposts and barracks on Alderney, one of the channel isles only seven miles west of the tip of Cap de la Hague. This indicated some of the trapped Germans might be attempting to flee there.

The Allied prisoner bag, meanwhile, was described at supreme headquarters as "well over" the 15,000 announced a few days ago for the period since the June 6 landings.

Despite the biggest Allied air effort in more than a week, embracing more than 6,000 sorties, Gen. Bradley's attack on Cherbourg made only a little progress. The mixed German force of three divisions of garrison troops, marines and sailors fought with the stubbornness of Stalingrad in the French-built fortifications protecting the harbor.

Local Gains Scored

A few local advances were scored along the rest of the beachhead front.

The Americans drove a wedge south from St. Lo-D'Ourville in the direction of La Haye du Puits, widening the corridor across the peninsula, for the only other gain on the American side of the Normandy front.

In the British-Canadian sector to the east the Germans struck with a tank attack two miles southwest of Tilly-Sur-Seulles, but were beaten off. British reconnaissance parties three miles east of Caen encountered determined resistance.

Airmen Smash Steel Works

Allied bombers struck and destroyed a steel works just outside Caen. The Germans had been converting it into a fortified point to block the Allied forces standing less than half a mile away.

The mighty Allied air arm also battered railways over which the Germans are attempting to bring reinforcements to the battle area.

The wind dropped and the weather improved off the Allied beachhead, permitting the Allies to resume, after four bad days, the unloading of supplies.

Naval Fight Reported

An American airman said he saw a naval engagement in the channel last night with two fleets "going at it hammer and tongs," but there was no immediate official announcement of such a fight. If true, it might indicate the Germans were trying to evacuate some of their trapped troops from Cherbourg.

Last night's communique announced that the Germans were rushing new forces to Normandy and that Allied planes "swarmed over northwestern France from dawn to midday to harass enemy reinforcements moving westward from the Paris area."

So far as reported here, there has been no increase in the enemy's Normandy front strength—14 or 15 divisions—in the past week and a half.

Dewey's Statement

bore the unanimous recommendation of the foreign relations subcommittee of the Republican post war advisory council. Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan predicted early approval.

As debate thus blossomed over the platform, the battle of backers of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Ohio's Gov. John W. Bricker for presidential delegates headed toward a possible pre-convention climax. Several big-state delegations caucus Monday—opening day of the convention—and many may determine their choice.

Allred's Statement

electors on the general election ballot.

Application Denied

(The court denied application by pro-Roosevelt forces for a mandamus which would have forced the state executive committee to certify the names of pro-Roosevelt electors, selected at a separate state convention, for printing on the July 22 primary ballot.)

"The Supreme Court of Texas has ruled and George Butler is happy," Allred continued in the statement. "He is happy because Texas Democrats can vote their choice in primary elections this summer for such important offices as justice of the peace, constable and public weigher but are denied the same privilege in selecting the men who will cast the state's vote for President and Vice-President."

Republicans Honor-Bound

Allred declared that the only difference between the regular Republican electors and what he termed Butler's "handpicked electors" is that "the regular Republicans feel honor-bound to vote for that party's candidates while George's 'uninstructed' electors are 'instructed' to vote against the Democratic nominees.

"Unlike Mr. Butler, I cannot be happy over the decision," said Allred. "Since 1796 presidential electors have felt honorbound to cast the vote of their state in the electoral college like the people of the state vote. We have always understood that Democratic electors would cast their votes in the electoral college for the candidates of their party; and Republican electors to cast their votes for Republican candidates.

May Action Not Binding

"Yet Texas Democrats are now confronted with the fact, if this thing goes on unchecked, that their vote may not be credited to the Democratic candidates for President and Vice-President."

Asked to explain his statement that the September convention could undo the work of the May convention, Allred said:

"In my opinion the September convention could either name a new slate of electors or bind the May convention electors to support the party nominees for President and Vice-President. Any subsequent convention can undo the work of a previous convention. The actions of the May conventions are not binding on the September convention."

The primary is July 22. County conventions to select delegates to the state convention are set July 29. The state convention, meeting to certify returns of primaries and to adopt a party platform, will meet in Dallas Sept. 12.

Miller Makes Statement

At Dallas the Times-Herald quoted Mayor Tom Miller of Austin as saying in a telephone interview that pro-Roosevelt forces would carry their battle on electors into county and state conventions.

He was quoted as saying he would express no opinion as to whether the Sept. 12 convention would have power to displace electoral nominees chosen by the regular Democratic convention with those of their own chosing, but that he thought it would have the power to replace Chairman Butler and other members of the state executive committee with Democrats who Miller said would believe in supporting all party nominees.

No Third Party Move

The Times-Herald quoted Miller as saying his group did not want to start anything resembling a third party movement in Texas, or resort to an effort to place a separate set of electors pledged to all party nominees on the general election ballot; that a decision on that point probably would wait action taken at the national convention.

"Our effort to obtain relief in the Supreme court was only a first step. There are several other avenues open to us," Miller said.

NAZIS SHORT OF FUEL

LONDON, June 23 (AP)—Germany's production of liquid fuel now is less than 50 per cent of the requirements of her armed forces, and the shortage has been responsible not only for the curtailment of aerial activity but for the complete elimination of Luftwaffe training, a ministry of economic warfare spokesman said today.

Patriots Take French Areas

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, London, June 23 (AP)—Strong French resistance forces, acting in accord with Allied plans, have occupied several localities in the departments of Jura, Ain and Haute-Savoie near the Swiss border in eastern France, a special communique said today.

The French took over the administration of the civil population in the occupied localities.

The communique said that after four days of hard fighting the French were forced to evacuate one of the towns.

Resistance Increasing

French forces continued to harass the Germans by increasing acts of resistance and sabotage behind the enemy lines.

Two German armored divisions have been delayed seriously in southwest France by sabotage, the communique said.

In many regions the fighting reached such proportions that the Germans were forced to send heavy reinforcements and even then were unable to overcome the resistance.

In Vercors and Ain the Germans attacked the French with armored forces, artillery and aircraft and resistance forces were compelled to withdraw at several points after inflicting heavy losses on the enemy.

Numerous engagements were reported from the Pyrrenees and Vosges mountains, in the departments of Marne, Ardennes and Aisne in northeast France and in Creuse in Central France.

Casualties To Have Railroad Priority

WASHINGTON, June 23. (AP)—The Office of Defense Transportation today broadened the cancellation powers of the nation's railroads in a move designed to help the carriers in their plans for handling military casualties.

The new ODT action provides for cancellation of reservations, space for assignments or tickets, and permits the railroads to require passengers to vacate space and accommodations when necessary to provide room for disabled military, naval and merchant marine personnel.

In addition, the railroads are required, when necessary, to divert transportation facilities or cancel or discontinue passenger train service and to refuse permission to passengers, other than invalid troops and their attendants, to board passenger trains.

Russia May Have Started Offensive

BY J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(Substituting For DeWitt Mackenzie)

Germany's announcement of the beginning of a big Russian summer offensive — which has been expected to tie in with the western front to win the war in Europe —may be premature, but both the time and place fit closely into previous expectations.

It is quite usual for Berlin to announce important Russian military moves ahead of Moscow. The Germans were wrong recently about the importance of local Russian attacks on the Romanian front, but in general they have been fairly accurate, at least up to the point where accuracy might interfere with propaganda.

Waiting For Blow-Off

Ever since the Russians recaptured Smolensk observers have been watching for a blow-off on the north-central front. It is there that the Germans occupy most Soviet territory, and it is there, from Velikie Lukie to Gomel, that it is easiest for Russia to concentrate great forces and supplies. It is the area through which the Germans made their principal stab at Moscow in 1941 The Vitebsk-Mogilev sector which Berlin reports ablaze is bisected by the main highway from Moscow which leads, ultimately, to Warsaw — and Berlin.

The Russians are addicted to the "old one-two" system, getting one drive well-started, as they have in Finland, and then turning loose another. If the north-central drive has started it will be followed by others. Then, wherever the break-through comes, everything will be thrown in for the knockout.

Two Memorial Routes Named

AUSTIN, June 23. (AP) — Two state routes have been named as memorial highways by the Texas Highway commission.

State Highway No. 36 is designated as a memorial to the 36th division. This highway extends from Abilene to Freeport via Hamilton, Gatesville, Temple, Cameron, Bonham, and West Columbia.

Follows Early Trail

The Old San Antonio road, which runs from San Antonio to the Sabine river, is named a memorial to the Daughters and Sons of the Republic of Texas.

This route which follows the trail blazed in 1691 by Spain, and sometimes called "El Camino Real," is considered of historical significance in that it was the path of entrance and means of communication of many Texas pioneers.

The commission also endorsed the plan of the 36th Division Memorial commission, and Daughters and Sons of the Republic of Texas to develop the roadsides in keeping with the memorial highways.

Low Bids Tabulated

The commission announced low bidders on the following projects, by counties:

Grayson, grading, drainage structures, flexible base and double asphalt surface treatment on Spur 151 from 2.3 miles north of Denison to the Denison dam property, Pencer Construction Co., Carrollton, $23,.1061.

Brazos—23 miles removing and replacing sections of concert pavement and placing of asphalt concrete pavement on state 6 from Bryan to Navasota river, Kay and Campbell, Tyler, $42,970.04.

Anderson—45.8 miles seals coat in four sections, on U. S. 287 and 84, Haden and Austin, inc., Houston, $35,440.04.

Harrison, Cass, Upshur and Panola — 37.5 miles seal coat in four sections on state 26 and 181, D & H Construction Co., Dallas, $17,317.96.

The Garnet

Not all garnets are the same by any means. The stone offers considerable variety both in quality and color. The most popular color is fire red, though the deep crimson and flame-like orange specimens are highly desirable.

The finest stones are found in India. Others come from Russia, Europe, South Africa and United States. Garnets are all extremely tough and durable and for that reason are highly valued for men's rings.

Illustrated—Deep red garnet mined in India and set in a man's ring of yellow gold. $40.
