Clouds Cut Air Attacks, Fail To Prevent Rescue

SAIGON (AP) — Thunderstorms and low clouds cut U.S. air attacks on North Vietnam, but failed to prevent the rescue of two downed American flyers hunted for 40 hours by enemy troops and tracker dogs, the U.S. Command announced Saturday.

In ground action, South Vietnamese marines were hit by a barrage of 850 mortar shells Friday as they tried to extend the area of government control between Quang Tri city and the demilitarized zone, the Saigon command reported. Marine casualties were described as light.

troop concentrations and staging areas in Quang Tri province during the 24-hour period ending at noon Saturday, the U.S. Command reported.

Fighter bombers mounted 78 tactical strikes in support of South Vietnamese forces in the same general area.

Battle action elsewhere dropped to its lowest level in nearly two months. The Saigon command reported only 58 enemy attacks — 44 of them by indirect fire — across the country.

Even though fighting subsided, U.S. and Saigon government officials said there was no indication that Communist command forces are pulling out of South Vietnam prior to any possible peace agreement.

U.S. officials speculated, however, that a reluctance by both sides to risk casualties at a time when peace prospects seem improved may account for the low level of military activity.

American tactical fighter bombers made only 30 raids in the southern panhandle of North Vietnam on Friday, the U.S. Command reported. Earlier in the week they had topped the 300 mark.

B-52s, flying above the cloud cover and using radar to identify their targets, flew 12 missions. Other B-52s bombed North Vietnamese and Viet Cong base camps in Cambodia and hit the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos.

U.S. officials said the cut in air strikes was due entirely to bad weather and had no connection with the imminent resumption of peace negotiations in Paris.

Despite the stormy weather over enemy territory, Jolly Green Giant rescue helicopters saved Maj. Norbert J. Maier, 36, and Capt. Kenneth D. Thae, 33, from capture after their F-105 was shot down in North Vietnam on Thursday night.

PRICES RISE FOREVER...

Freezes Come And Incomes Go

LONDON (AP) — "Freezes come and incomes go, and prices rise forever..."

The laconic comment came from a young printer escorting his wife around the Elephant and Castle shopping center in London, almost two weeks after the British government followed President Nixon's lead and imposed a wage and price freeze in an effort to beat inflation.

OUT OF BUSINESS
"You either put up some of your prices, or your shutters and go out of business," said one storekeeper.

"We are taking follow-up action to find out why some prices have gone up," said a government official. "But it still hasn't got through to people that there are certain things exempt from the freeze."

The comments summed up a three-dimensional view of Prime Minister Edward Heath's 90-day freeze, imposed earlier this month.

Shoppers and small storekeepers agreed "something must be done" to conserve the value of their incomes. Some welcomed the government's move because it simply represented action, but few believed it would have any real effect.

They will take some convincing that Britain's inflation rate of nearly 10 per cent a year — the highest in Western Europe and about 4 percentage points above that prevailing in the United States — can be harnessed.

But the freeze seems to have had some initial success.

The government is encouraged, but the people on the shop floors of the Elephant and Castle were frankly skeptical.

STILL GOING UP

"My costs are still going up by the day," said Shirley Bezodis, 33-year-old wife of printer John, 34. She has about $65 a week to spend on rent, utilities and food.

"Rising prices is one of those things we have had for ages," she said. "Talk about bringing them down is just a gimmick."

A store nearby offers a wide range of furniture with "no deposit-36 months to pay." Widespread, easy credit has been blamed by many economists as one of the root causes of inflation. Too much money is being printed, they argue, devaluing the currency.

One snag about the clamp-down is that the British Isles import almost 50 per cent of their food. If the nation doesn't meet world market prices it doesn't get the goods.

MERCY

"It's no good a shopper complaining to me," said Robert Wilkes, manager of a small fruit store. "We have to pay what the wholesalers demand. And he's at the mercy of the markets."

Officials at the ministry say complaints are getting fewer because, they believe, prices have not been rising. Privately some admit a certain amount of apathy might be holding the public back.

Winter Storm Slaps Area In West Texas

Kissinger Paris Bound

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger, after conferring again with President Nixon, heads for Paris Sunday amid administration hopes that a Vietnam peace agreement will be reached by around mid-December.

This was described by U.S. sources as a reasonable expectation — provided Hanoi's Le Duc Tho shows the same negotiating interest the North Vietnamese envoy demonstrated in the secret October parleys which produced the proposed nine-point peace plan.

BORROWED PISTOL LEADS TO DEATH

DALLAS (AP) — John P. Frye, 46, who borrowed a pistol to protect himself, was himself a victim of the weapon Friday night.

Officers said witnesses related that Frye had borrowed the weapon because of what friends called "recent threats on his life."

Friday night, witnesses said, the 19-year-old owner of the pistol came by Frye's home and picked up the pistol. In the ensuing argument and struggle, the pistol discharged, killing Frye.

HUNT ABILENE BACK SHOOTER

ABILENE (AP) — A Dyess Air Force Base airman died early Saturday of a gunshot wound in the back, police reported.

The victim was identified as Leonard E. Jones, 22. Police said the shooting occurred at a barbecue restaurant. Officers said they had no suspect in custody.

Reviewing the... Big Spring Week... with Joe Pickle

There must be mixed feelings about the raids which produced 26 arrests and 25 charges on drug sales or possession of drugs. The feeling of accomplishment in hacking at a serious problem is tempered with sorrow that so many young lives are touched and so many families are affected.

If the weather will clear up, our ginning season should suddenly hit full stride. Frosts during the past week just about killed all the cotton except for a few patches in the Lomax area of southwest Howard County. A few days of sunshine and dry winds will fix the fields for the strippers. Early cotton is showing excellent returns in quality and yields; late cotton is uncertain except for poor quality. Our guess is that the total yield will be about 40,000 bales, but the gross value maybe only about $3,750,000 exclusive of seed.

Monday is the deadline for returning labor survey forms, and it cannot be stressed how important this is in efforts to obtain another manufacturing plant for our city. Other details seem to be worked out, and this is the critical factor. So if you know of anyone in the area who

PUT BULLET THROUGH HEAD OF YOUNG MOTHER?

'Manson Girls' Arrested In Slaying

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — It is more than a year since he was sent to jail for life — the little man whose name has become a synonym for evil — Charles Manson.

His loyal women followers, the ragged tribe which called him father, Jesus and God, seemed gone, "disintegrated, blown to the four winds," says one who knew them.

EERIE OVERTONES

But now, in an epilogue to the macabre Manson story, two "Manson girls" have surfaced in the windy farmland city of Stockton, accused of putting a bullet through the head of a young mother and burying her deep in the cellar of an inconspicuous white frame house.

There are eerie overtones. Two men among those arrested with the women are ex-convicts who had marked on their chests the letters "A.B.," the symbol, authorities say, of a white racist gang of convicts calling themselves "The Aryan Brotherhood."

State Department of Corrections spokesmen have verified the presence of the Brotherhood in prisons throughout the state.

Police here, declining any comment on the murder case, would say only that the possible "Aryan Brotherhood" link was being investigated.

HIS OWN MAN

In a jailhouse interview at Stockton, one of Manson's women, red-haired Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, 24, told The Associated Press that for the past year she has been drifting through California, visiting "brothers" in prison, mostly trying desperately to visit Manson.

"We know a lot of people that are in prison," said Miss Fromme. "That's where all the strength is. A man's got to be his own man. Inside the prisons they get strong. They learn to live with themselves. They learn to live with violence."

She referred, still with reverence, to the philosophy attributed to Manson by his followers — a vision of a future in which blacks and whites would war in the streets, killing each other off and leaving the world to be run by the Manson "family."

"We foresee violence in the streets," Miss Fromme said. "We only want to survive." She added, "There's an inner tension between peoples that eventually has to come out."

The freckle-faced, youthful Miss Fromme, still using her Manson family name of "Squeaky," said she is innocent of the charges against her and said she expects to be out of prison soon.

HEADLESS CORPSE

The murder case here came to light last Monday when police announced they found the body of Lauren Willett, 19, buried under a house on Flora Street, a neighborhood of neat one-story houses with colorful gardens.

The headless decomposed corpse of her husband, James T. Willett, 26, had been found earlier, they said, buried in a shallow grave near the Russian River resort of Guerneville. A hiker found that body after he noticed a hand protruding from the ground.

On Monday, police identified five persons booked for investigation of murder. They included Miss Fromme and Nancy Laura Pitman, 24, a Manson follower known in the "family" as Brenda McCann. Also booked were Priscilla K. Cooper, 21, of San Jose, who, like the other women, had the Manson "X" symbol carved on her forehead; Michael Lee Monfort, 24, and James T. Craig, 33.

The men were identified as ex-convicts. Also later booked for investigation of murder was William Gaucher, 25, already in prison after being arrested during an armed robbery of a Stockton jewelry store.

SQUEAKY'S STORY

Squeaky's story of the "family's" travels begins nearly a year ago, months after Manson, 38, and three women followers were convicted of killing actress Sharon Tate and six others in Los Angeles.

Miss Fromme and other women clan members who had camped outside the courthouse during 10½ months of trial, waited out the trials of the two other Manson followers, Steve Grogan and Bruce Davis, convicted in the decapitation killing of a ranch hand whose body was never found.

During that time, Miss Fromme served 90 days in jail after pleading no contest to a witness in Manson's trial by slipping her an LSD-spiked hamburger.

Then the women left Los Angeles. They gave up the old white van which had served as their communal dormitory outside the courthouse.

"The van broke down so many times that we had to get rid of it," said Miss Fromme. She said the women took off in different directions, traveling mostly by bus, and some wound up at San Quentin where they tried futilely to get in to see Manson, then imprisoned there.

Paul Fitzgerald, a Los Angeles attorney who defended Patricia Krenwinkel, one of the women convicted with Manson, said he heard from Miss Fromme last month.

TRYING TO FIND HER

"She called me on the phone and she sounded very desolate," he recalled. "She said they'd been to San Quentin, but it was cold and rainy and they couldn't get in. She didn't know where Brenda (Miss Pitman) was and was trying to find her... The opinion among those of us who knew them was that the family had disintegrated, blown to the four winds."

Then, little more than a week ago, Miss Fromme says she "just touched up with Brenda."

She said she took a bus to Stockton late Friday from Los Angeles, met Miss Pitman there and stayed the night at the house where Mrs. Willett's body was subsequently found.

On Saturday, she said, "I went to visit a brother in the men's jail at Stockton." The brother, she said, was William Gaucher.

RIGHT AWAY

Emerging from the visit, Miss Fromme said, she went to a phone booth and called the house "to have someone pick me up. I wanted to go back to L.A. right away."

But police, who had already arrested others at the house, took the call, went to the phone booth and arrested Miss Fromme.

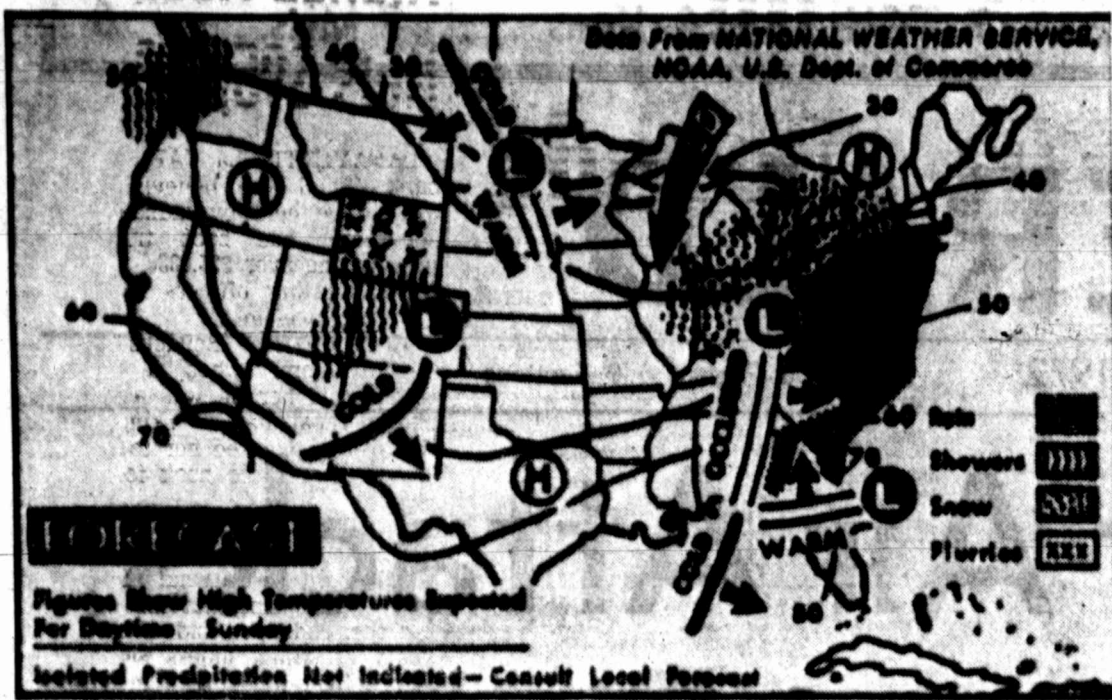

Her attorney, George Vaughn of San Rafael, verifies details of the arrest as do police.

Vaughn says he met Miss Fromme last spring after she was referred to him by a prisoner he had met at a trial. He too said the Manson women seemed to know many people in prison.

He said Miss Fromme wanted him to represent her in connection with a book she and other "family" members had written — a collection of poetry and "thoughts" which told of their philosophy and included pleasant memories of their life with Manson.

Ben Dechard, News Exec Dies

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — H. Ben Dechard, chairman of the board of A. H. Belo Corp., publishers of the Dallas Morning News and owner of Beaumont and Dallas radio-television properties, died late Saturday in a Houston hospital.

M. D. Anderson Hospital & Tumor Clinic said Dechard succumbed at 5:45 p.m. At the time of his death, the corporation he headed owned WFAA-TV in Dallas, KFDM-TV in Beaumont, the Atlas Match Corp. in Arlington and the News-Texas, Inc., publishers of community newspapers in Dallas-Fort Worth area.

HCJC Trustees Meet Tuesday

Trustees of Howard County Junior College will consider Tuesday a recommendation to sell the college-owned vehicles.

The college increasingly has gone toward the leasing of vehicles. At the 5:15 p.m. meeting in the board room at the Dora Roberts SUB, the board also will consider an early admission program. On tap are reports from the tax collection study committee, also the tax-adjustor-appraiser committee. The annual audit also will be presented.

Big Spring and Howard County will be on trial Tuesday when efforts are made to close a $7,000 gap between funds raised for the United Way and the $13,000 goal. There are literally hundreds upon hundreds who haven't done anything to help, and perhaps some will mail or call in gifts Tuesday. But if the project succeeds, it will be because you warm-hearted people who already have given a fair share have the conscience to give just a little more.

Governing boards (or their representatives) are still pursuing studies toward contracting joint services. Jack Watkins, who is chairman of the Intergovernmental Cooperative committee, last week cited a statute which seems to provide the legal way for this cooperative enterprise, although an attorney general's opinion of the statute may need to be examined for clarification.

The Ackerly-North (Cisco) pool got its second completion in southeastern Dawson last week when Conoco No. 1 Stanfield showed 227 barrels of high gravity oil. Wildcatting strikes may not be as spectacular as in the past, but if operators keep punching holes, more discoveries will come.

The story of the death of Earl Foster Henry, 75, was a dramatic one. He attempted to call for an ambulance, saying he was dying, but said he could get no one. (The ambulance service could hear sounds but not make out the signal.) Mr. Henry called a hospital, who

Dance Back With Ballet Brio To Delight Of Crowd

The dance came back to Big Spring after an absence of several years, and the Saturday evening audience at Municipal Auditorium delighted in it. Lacking were the lavish settings of the Chicago Civic Ballet days, but the young Ballet Brio troupe nevertheless demonstrated an equal versatility of the art.

In Sandra Balestracci and William Forsythe, the audience found about the best dancers since Marjorie Talchlef and George Skibine performed here. And this is not to take away from Rose Marie Mendes and Georgette Marcel, who were matched by Conrad Corry and Sameu McManus.

For sheer beauty and poetry of motion, the opening excerpts from "The Red Poppy" was the equal of any on the program. Miss Balestracci and Mr. Forsythe were excellent in the Phoenix passage, and the girls' dance was outstanding, then embellished with fluid use of multicolored streamers that accentuated the motion.

Another excellent selection was from Don Quixote, with Miss Marcel achieving a remarkable sequence of pirouettes.

The remarkable "Person" dance, with its electronic music and primordial movements by Miss Balestracci and Mr. Corry was unique, and, while lacking in beauty and grace of the more ephemeral numbers, yielded some of the best of the dance.

Miss Mendes and Mr. Forsythe scored heavily in Tchaikovsky's "Black Swan," as might have been expected, and in "Raymonda," the only passage to use any sort of setting, was well received, particularly in solos and a saucy number by Miss Marcel. The finale got one of the best hands of the evening.

Ballet Brio held to an old axiom, "leave 'em smiling" with the comic lampoon of the ballet in the "Battered Bacchanal." Characters looked like something from the company of wayward saints, from Mercury to the Indian princess, and Pan. In their bumptious antics, they demonstrated no less of the virtuosity than they did on the classics. —J.P.

For the first time in 11 years, having to settle for a second division rating Saturday.

In their respective divisions, two area bands did place first when both Forsan and Borden County won first division in the Class B portion of the contest.

The contest was held in W. T. Barrett Stadium in Odessa where 4,000 bandmen competed. It was the annual University Interscholastic League's Region 6, marching competition.

In the AAAA division, the first division ratings went to Odessa High, Midland Lee and Permian High with Big Spring and Midland High placing second.

In the AAA division, the first divisions went to Pecos, Fort Stockton and Monahans with Andrews, Kermit, Ector and Colorado City placing second.

In Class A, Rankin won the only first with seconds going to Wink and Marfa and thirds to Iraan and Sanderson.

In Class C, junior high, first divisions went to Pecos and Monahans and seconds to Andrews, Fort Stockton, East Pecos and Crane.

In Class CC junior high, Blachear placed third and Ector and Midland Edison, second. In CCC, Crockett, Bonham, Nimitz and Hood placed first with Midland Austin and Bowie given seconds.

Four Youths Assault, Rob Aged Widow

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An 84-year-old widow living on the 16th floor of a north Philadelphia public housing project is recovering from five days of terror during which she was beaten with a broomstick, stripped, raped, tortured, burned and robbed of her savings by four youths, police said.

The widow, with no known relatives, was so bruised and covered with welts and frightened that she ate nothing during the ordeal.

It began Sunday, police said, when the four youths — aged 10, 11, 12 and 13 — knocked on the door of her apartment in the Fairhill Housing Project and asked if they could run an errand.

Recognizing the voices of youths whom police said she knew (one lived next door), another had delivered her groceries), the 5-foot-1, 125-pound woman opened the door and permitted them to enter.

But, police said, the youths immediately ransacked drawers, ripped open a mattress and demanded money.

They found some money, took the only key she had to the door and threatened to kill her if she told anyone about their intrusion, the victim told police.

On Monday, investigators said the youths used the key to enter the apartment, and again ransacked the room for money. And they assaulted and raped the woman, police said.

On Tuesday, the youths forced their way into the apartment, raped the woman and burned her on the chest with an electric comb and matches.

The youths returned Wednesday and Thursday and committed similar attacks. A social worker found the apartment in shambles during a visit Friday morning, police said.

The worker said the woman told her the youths took all her money, about $229. The woman had no telephone and was afraid to leave the apartment because she feared being locked out without her key.

The youths were charged with burglary, robbery, rape, vandalism, indecent assault and aggravated assault and battery.

Oil Drilling Is Steady

Drilling in the Permian Basin eased off slightly to 183 rigs during the past week, but in this area the level of activity was steady.

Martin County continued to lead with 10 rigs turning, a gain of two for the week. Borden had one, down one; Dawson four, the same; Howard three, down two; Midland five, the same; Mitchell one, the same; Reagan six, the same; Scurry one, up one.

Howard gained a location, Kewanee Oil Co. No. 4-F Gular, 1,320 from the north and west lines of section 22-A, Bauer & Cockrell, seven miles northwest of Big Spring, to 2,400.

Mitchell County had a completion in the Westbrook field. Geo-Tech Petroleum Management Corp. No. 10-T Bird, 467 from the north and west lines section 39-38-1N, T&P, bottomed at 3,195, set 1/2-in. at 3,198, plugged back to 3,175, the acidized with 1,000 gallons, fraced 20,000 gallons and 40,000 pounds; initial pumping production 72 barrels 32-gravity oil, 32 barrels water.

Choirs Take Part In Odessa Clinic

The Big Spring High School choir, the Meister Singers and the a cappella group, participated Saturday in a one-day choir clinic sponsored by the Odessa schools. Mel Ivey, formerly director of the BSHS choral program, served as the clinician and delivered critiques to each of the participating choirs.

Improves

Peace Justice Jess Slaughter was listed in serious condition at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock Friday afternoon. His condition had improved some, since midweek when he was in critical condition with what was unofficially called a heart condition.

THEFTS

Patty Austin at 106 E. 22nd reported missing from her apartment one stereo tape player with radio, two large speakers and a class ring.

Question Mark On Crop As Ginning Season Nears

Now that nature has defoliated most of the 1972 Howard County cotton crop, prospects are still good for around 40,000 bales harvest.

The weather, however, will have a hand in that. But more than increasing the yield, good weather for the next fortnight could result in substantially better grade on late cotton, which is the mystery element in the current crop.

Most observers agree that late cotton is apt to have a low mike, but good weather (to crack bolls) could improve grade substantially. Late cotton needs every bit of help it can get.

Early (May) cotton is yielding and grading from good to excellent, and what little has come in has found its way to the open market above the loan rates.

The consensus is that late cotton, which may account for

MS Balloon Day Is Reset

Balloon Day for the multiple sclerosis drive was sidetracked Saturday and rescheduled for Saturday Dec. 2. Don Worthan, drive chairman said.

This will be the final activity of the MS fund campaign, which has run into difficulties because the muscular dystrophy appeal, scheduled originally around Labor Day, was staged about a week ahead of the announced MS date.

Nevertheless, Worthan was hopeful that around $3,000 can be raised in this area, thanks to several hundred volunteers who canvassed the block in which they live. These workers brought in some $1,900, but several have yet to report and Worthan asked that they take their packets to the Central Fire station when complete.

Added to this will be $217 collected by Sand Springs-Coahoma volunteers, plus $280 from Westbrook. Colorado City has its appeal scheduled for Nov. 27.

Worthan said that youth groups are being contacted for the school city effort. The Big Spring chapters and the Jaycees have helped with the residents' appeal. He and Mrs. C. R. Woodruff, executive director for the area multiple sclerosis group, reminded that 60 per cent of funds raised stay home to help MS victims and their families. The remainder is used in research in the battle against the neurological disease.

Now in adding up the harvest of cotton, Dawson County farmers have been chanting "We're No. 1" early in the season.

Instead they were eying hopefully being No. 2 behind Lubbock County, who has been No. 1 in Texas in cotton production for the past five years.

For many years, Hidalgo County down in South Texas held the title but it diversified its acreage to orchards and vegetable crops.

While hoping to be No. 2, Dawson County has been creeping up a little on Old No. 1, whose crop hasn't developed quite as much as hoped for.

Cold weather in October hurt both counties, both have a lot of cotton stalks that opened at the bottom, but the heavily fruited stalks failed to open at the top.

Dawson County has increased their acreage in the past few years and the entire county is almost one big cotton patch.

There is really only one real ranch left in the county and the old dairy herds that used to be Dawson County's stronghold are long gone.

DEATHS

Former Longtime Mayor Dies Saturday Afternoon

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Monday at the Nalley-Pickel Rosewood Chapel for George W. Dabney Sr., 84, former Big Spring mayor for 13 years and honorary mayor for life. He died at 5:30 p.m. Saturday in a local rest home. Burial will be in Mt. Olive Cemetery.

Born Nov. 20, 1887 in Trenton, Tenn., he moved to Big Spring in 1931 from Toyah where he served as a telegraph operator from World War I. He worked for T&P Railroad.

He was elected to the city commission in 1945-46 and was elected mayor from 1946-1959. He married the former Willie Mae Chesney May 12, 1909 in Monahans.

He was a member of the First Christian Church, serving as an elder since 1911. He was a member of the Order of Eastern Star, Chapter 67 and also a member of A.F.&A.M. Lodge 598.

At one time, he served 12 years as president of the Toyah school board. He served as a public official of some sort for two score years.

He worked as a telegrapher at Mt. Pleasant, Tenn., Denison, Tex., Sapulpa, Indian Territory, Atlanta, Tex., Monahans and Toyah. At one time, he was both on the city council and school board in Toyah.

At the time that he retired as mayor, he was given an appreciation dinner with officials from the church, college, Texas & Pacific Railway, Texas Municipal League and the city commission giving words of appreciation.

Survivors include his wife, Willie Mae of Big Spring, five sons, George Dabney Jr., Ventura, Calif., Chesney Dabney, Big Spring, Jack Dabney and Robert Dabney, both of Chicago, Ill., and Ray Dabney, Big Spring.

Two daughters also survive including Mrs. Jim Raoul, Big

Rites Today For Mrs. J. R. Johnson

COLORADO CITY — Mrs. Joe R. Johnson, 86, died at 2:10 p.m. Friday in the Root Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Austin Street Church of Christ with the minister, Tom Yoakum, officiating. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery with Kiker-Rains-Seale Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Johnson was born in July 1886 in Fannin County but had lived here most of her life. She was married Dec. 16, 1908 to J. R. Johnson at Buford. He died in 1966.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. John Morgan Hale, Big Spring, and Mrs. Darrell Smith, Ackerly; also two grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Local Woman's Sister Succumbs

Mrs. Tommie Harcrow, 55, sister of Mrs. W. A. Cobb, Big Spring died Saturday in a Lubbock hospital.

Survivors include a husband, one son and two daughters, two sisters, including Mrs. Cobb and one brother. Funeral arrangements are pending at Sanders Funeral Home in Lubbock.

C-City Woman Drowns In Tub

COLORADO CITY — Beatrice Holland, 67, was found dead in the bathtub of her home at 9:15 a.m. Friday, and Justice of Peace Leonard Henderson ruled death due to accidental drowning.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Mount Zion Baptist Church with the Rev. Otis Archie of Snyder officiating. Interment will be in the Mitchell County Cemetery.

Mrs. Holland was born Dec. 18, 1904 in Navarro County and was married to Miller Holland Aug. 19, 1921. He died in 1961.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Robert Bracy, Colorado City, seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Jimmy Taylor, First National Bank president and former county agent, says he has seen some fields of early cotton yielding 1 1/2 bales to the acre, yet some of the late cotton may do well to make a third of a bale. It's still too early to tell the story on the late stuff, he says. More will be known in two weeks.

Alton Martwitz of the State

National has a similar appraisal. He's skeptical that the late cotton will turn out as well as hoped. He agrees the quality likely will be low, the volume doubtful. Early cotton looks fine both in quantity and quality of yields.

Ginning should hit full stride in the county before the end of the month, with a perceptible pickup toward the end of this week.

DEFOLIATED — Many acres of cotton in this area have now been defoliated and are being harvested by machines. This field between Big Spring and Lamesa is one of many fields that whiten the horizon. The neighboring county of Dawson may end up Texas' leading cotton producing county this year.

LAMESA — Everybody wants to be Number 1. Dawson County cotton farmers are no exception. Often in football, fans get quite excited over wins and run around chanting happily: "We're No. 1."

Now in adding up the harvest of cotton, Dawson County farmers have been chanting "We're No. 1" early in the season.

Instead they were eying hopefully being No. 2 behind Lubbock County, who has been No. 1 in Texas in cotton production for the past five years.

For many years, Hidalgo County down in South Texas

Weather Break, Dawson Might Say 'We're No. 1'

While hoping to be No. 2, Dawson County has been creeping up a little on Old No. 1, whose crop hasn't developed quite as much as hoped for.

Cold weather in October hurt both counties, both have a lot of cotton stalks that opened at the bottom, but the heavily fruited stalks failed to open at the top.

Dawson County has increased their acreage in the past few years and the entire county is almost one big cotton patch.

There is really only one real ranch left in the county and the old dairy herds that used to be Dawson County's stronghold are long gone.

Early projections of this year's crop by the cotton experts were 203,000 bales, which is within 10,000 bales of Dawson's alltime record of 213,217 in 1967.

Up in Lubbock, early projections of the crop were 215,000 bales. It looks at this point as though Dawson County may top its estimates, while Lubbock County may not reach its projections.

But one thing for sure, first or second, Dawson County farmers have had a good year.

Former Longtime Mayor Dies Saturday Afternoon

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Monday at the Nalley-Pickel Rosewood Chapel for George W. Dabney Sr., 84, former Big Spring mayor for 13 years and honorary mayor for life. He died at 5:30 p.m. Saturday in a local rest home. Burial will be in Mt. Olive Cemetery.

Born Nov. 20, 1887 in Trenton, Tenn., he moved to Big Spring in 1931 from Toyah where he served as a telegraph operator from World War I. He worked for T&P Railroad.

He was elected to the city commission in 1945-46 and was elected mayor from 1946-1959. He married the former Willie Mae Chesney May 12, 1909 in Monahans.

He was a member of the First Christian Church, serving as an elder since 1911. He was a member of the Order of Eastern Star, Chapter 67 and also a member of A.F.&A.M. Lodge 598.

At one time, he served 12 years as president of the Toyah school board. He served as a public official of some sort for two score years.

He worked as a telegrapher at Mt. Pleasant, Tenn., Denison, Tex., Sapulpa, Indian Territory, Atlanta, Tex., Monahans and Toyah. At one time, he was both on the city council and school board in Toyah.

At the time that he retired as mayor, he was given an appreciation dinner with officials from the church, college, Texas & Pacific Railway, Texas Municipal League and the city commission giving words of appreciation.

Survivors include his wife, Willie Mae of Big Spring, five sons, George Dabney Jr., Ventura, Calif., Chesney Dabney, Big Spring, Jack Dabney and Robert Dabney, both of Chicago, Ill., and Ray Dabney, Big Spring.

Two daughters also survive including Mrs. Jim Raoul, Big

Rites Today For Mrs. J. R. Johnson

COLORADO CITY — Mrs. Joe R. Johnson, 86, died at 2:10 p.m. Friday in the Root Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Austin Street Church of Christ with the minister, Tom Yoakum, officiating. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery with Kiker-Rains-Seale Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Johnson was born in July 1886 in Fannin County but had lived here most of her life. She was married Dec. 16, 1908 to J. R. Johnson at Buford. He died in 1966.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. John Morgan Hale, Big Spring, and Mrs. Darrell Smith, Ackerly; also two grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

held the title but it diversified its acreage to orchards and vegetable crops.

While hoping to be No. 2, Dawson County has been creeping up a little on Old No. 1, whose crop hasn't developed quite as much as hoped for.

Cold weather in October hurt both counties, both have a lot of cotton stalks that opened at the bottom, but the heavily fruited stalks failed to open at the top.

Dawson County has increased their acreage in the past few years and the entire county is almost one big cotton patch.

There is really only one real ranch left in the county and the old dairy herds that used to be Dawson County's stronghold are long gone.

Dawson Museum In Pioneer Home

By MARJ CARPENTER

LAMESA — Like many area towns, the destiny of Lamesa was decided on a county seat vote. The study is detailed in the Dawson County museum.

Back in 1905, a vote was held to see whether Lamesa or Chicago, located two miles north of the present town, was to become the county seat of Dawson County.

Lamesa won by a resounding majority of five votes. The next morning, a delegation from the two towns walked a mile each and met halfway in between the two towns.

They then held a peaceful discussion with citizens from both towns requesting the other town to give up and move to their location.

Lamesa offered free lots for business houses and residences, and offered to help with moving frame buildings. All but two hardheads moved to Lamesa within two days and Chicago died on the spot.

Back in the first cattlebrand book in Howard County, there is a cattlebrand registered to Chicago, Texas.

Lamesa was incorporated in 1917 and went on homerule in 1945.

TO HOST TOURS

Some people might claim that a 70-year-old town isn't old enough to worry about its early history. But most pioneers die off within 70 years.

So about 10 years ago, Dawson County museum was opened. It will be among the West Texas museums that will host special open house on Dec. 9 and 10 when the Permian Basin Museum Association holds a West Texas museum tour.

The museum is installed off the highways in the older residential area in the former U.S. Dalmont home.

The unusual home was hauled in from Chicago — Illinois that is — not the Chicago north of Lamesa. It was a 1905 pre-fab, because it was taken apart in Illinois and hauled by railroad to Big Spring and taken by wagon to Lamesa and put back together.

The Dalmonts moved in from the ranch around 1917 and lived there only a little over a year when Mrs. Dalmont died in the flu epidemic. The house was then sold to a Simpson family and the Dalmonts moved back to the ranch.

HOME RESTORED

Later, it was obtained by the city and a newly-organized museum society held fund raising projects. It has been painted and completely restored. It is located north of the highway out of Lamesa to Stanton or Andrews.

It is open on Thursday afternoons and Sunday afternoons but the museum association is willing to conduct special tours. Mrs. Forest Meeks and Mrs. H. M. Bruner are two of the local women who are willing to conduct tours.

Various clubs around Lamesa have taken a room in the old home and restored it. One upstairs bedroom is a typical early-day West Texas ranch bedroom. One room holds early Dawson County artifacts. Over the mantle in the living room are pictures of the original owners. Elsewhere in the home are some other early-day settler photographs.

HAS A WINDMILL

The house features a sidesaddle, an old piano, a cradle, old horseshoes, an early cotton gin and many other items.

A windmill outside was donated by the John A. Andersons of O'Donnell. The yard is also kept up and attractive. It is terraced with old fashioned curb heights. The museum association, headed by C. L. Houston keeps up the facility.

For it is another West Texas museum that history buffs might want to browse through.

Thanksgiving Rites Planned

The Howard County Ministerial Alliance will sponsor a union Thanksgiving service Thursday morning at 10 a.m. at the First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Edwin Beasley, pastor of the First Church of God, will bring the message.

The invocation and welcome will be given by the Rev. John R. Baird, pastor of the First Christian Church.

The Rev. J. B. Sharp, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, will word the Thanksgiving prayer.

In charge of the offering will be the Rev. Earl Price, First Presbyterian. The Rev. Donnie R. Bradley, associate pastor at First Baptist, will read the Scripture.

The Rev. Arnold Denney, Highland Church of God pastor will give the benediction.

HOUSTON (AP) — Van Johnson Jr., 32, trying to break up a fight in a downtown night club about 1 a.m. Saturday, was shot to death.

Johnson was hit five times by bullets from a .38 caliber pistol. Officers held a 38-year-old man.

The Lonely Dieter: Fatsos Find Togetherness Helps To Shed Pounds

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copy News Service

The loneliness of the early morning jogger is nothing compared to the agony of solitude suffered by the dieter.

The fatty finds the world is peopled with hostile friends who devour cream puffs, hateful spouses who pile up mashed potatoes and cruel children who crunch candy around the clock.

TAKE IT OFF

Yet failure usually awaits the average dieter who tries every fad, every crash weight reduction program alone.

This, claim the nutrition experts, is why more and more Americans — in the millions — are turning to organizations like the Diet Workshop, Inc., founded by Lois L. Lindauer after her own adventures in dieting convinced her there must be a better way to take it off.

The experts concede that the lone dieter, adrift in a sea of calories, usually finds it impossible not to be swamped by desire. There's no one around to understand; no one to comprehend; no one to care, for what is more of a bore than the other guy's or gal's story of her fatty tissues?

So loneliness can be the dieter's undoing. The long, long time of going without the comfort of caloric-rich foods and without the comfort of sympathetic understanding simply drains away the desire to succeed.

DIET CLUBS

This is where and why the diet clubs are moving in. Loneliness stops at the registration desk, for it is here the dieter finds that the people who will lead his or her class — the instructors or their assistants — have been fatties, too, in their day. So they have sympathy, empathy, understanding, and they know precisely the temptations and stresses to which weight control group members will be subjected because they've been through the same mill a few years earlier.

Not all the newly sprung-up diet clubs are alike or use the same approach. But most of them teach members how to eat. Most fat people, it develops, have lived in a state of abysmal ignorance of the nutritional facts of life. One reason, some experts say, is because public schools put more emphasis on sex education than on proper eating.

END OF RAINBOW

To generate enthusiasm and determination, a mong club members, most instructors set a weight goal — the end of the rainbow, the carrot before the nose, which all weight-reducing energies are directed.

During classes the instructor often lectures on dieting problems — how to pick up a menu in any restaurant, for example, and order a well within the boundaries of a prescribed diet.

WAY OF LIFE

In some clubs, the members emerge as tub-thumping evangelists for their new way of life. They're on the hunt for others to convert.

This usually is when the club instructors have put on polished and peppy presentations, well garnished with visual aids and devices to encourage member participation.

But Ms. Lindauer says there is more to the diet club than all that. Her Diet Workshop started with its own authority, Morton B. Glenn, M.D., a former nutritional consultant to the United Nations and now chief of the Knickerbocker Obesity Clinic.

His nutritional know-how was translated into practical kitchen logistics by Ms. Lindauer in a series of recipes and menus designed to keep dieting delicious.

What came out of this was a nutritional manual especially written for Diet Workshop instructors. It helps them to deal with the questions and problems of club members. Now each instructor must study and be tested on the manual before he or she can become a Workshop teacher.

Ms. Lindauer says she believes the informal give-and-take among members after a formal lecture is just as valuable as expert instruction. "When someone volunteers that they were overwhelmed by a desire for a marshmallow stuck on a Tootsie-Roll, they will find company," she smiles. "Someone else wanted something just as gooey and ghastly."

There's very little sacrifice involved in belonging to diet clubs like the Workshop. Recipes and menus substitute for favorite foods. The flavors are all there and some members say the helpings are even larger than before dieting.

At the Workshop and other diet clubs like it, three low-calorie meal a day plus snacks are a must. The snacks are the big surprise, of course, because they often have been the downfall of the fatiso in the first place. They're usually fruit or dietetic gelatins.

Ironically, a frequent complaint from the beginning dieter during a program like the Workshop is: "But I can't eat it all."

Who will you find in the diet group? Ms. Lindauer says it could be the doctor who was driven to diet when he had to hold up an operation while the scrub nurse searched for a sterile gown large enough to cover him. Or it could have been the two ex-beauty queens who graced a Cincinnati class while they reduced their way back to beauty contest shape.

Kidnap Hoax Nets $95,000

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — A bank official here, believing his wife to be held by kidnapers, apparently has been tricked into turning over $95,000.

Investigating officers Friday gave this account:

Mrs. Charles Boudouseque was at home when a man called, told her he was a telephone repairman working in the area and asked her to take her phone off the hook for an hour.

Then the caller phoned Boudouseque, a vice president of the First National Bank here, telling him that his wife had been kidnaped and that she would be killed unless $95,000 was delivered to him in the parking lot of a shopping center.

The caller also warned Boudouseque not to go near his home.

When Boudouseque was unable to reach his wife by telephone, he delivered $95,000 of the bank's money to the parking lot of a local department store.

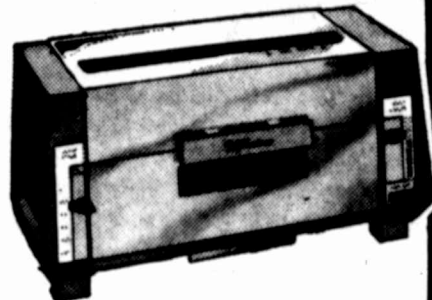

Police and FBI agents said they were seeking a man who had been noticed earlier near the parking lot.

After delivering the money, Boudouseque returned home to find his wife unharmed and unaware of her "kidnaping."

CAPT. R. B. ALLENSWORTH

Army Capt. Robert B. (Bruce) Allensworth, 24, son of Dr. and Mrs. William B. Allensworth, 906 Mountain Park Drive, Big Spring, recently was presented the Bronze Star Medal at Ft. Bragg, N.C. This is the Armed Services fourth highest decoration.

Capt. Allensworth earned the award during his last assignment with the U.S. Army support element in Vietnam.

Capt. Allensworth, public safety officer with the 42nd Civil Affairs Company at Ft. Bragg, entered the Army in 1969. He was graduated from Mineral Wells High School in 1965 and received a BA degree from the University of Texas, Austin, in 1969.

In Mineral Wells, he was a member of the Order of Arrow, an Eagle scout, holder of the God and Country (Scout) award, and was Boys State Representative. At the university he won the American Legion medal for excellence for his four years in ROTC, and he was No. 1 in his class when he graduated from Fort Gordon, Ga. communications school. He was assigned to staff at the U.S. Military Academy (West Point) for two years. The citation noted that he had "distinguished himself by outstanding meritorious service against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam. He consistently manifested exemplary professionalism and initiative in obtaining outstanding results. His rapid assessment and solution of numerous problems inherent in combat environment greatly enhanced (his unit's) effectiveness."

Lt. Col. Justin A. Holmes, now serving as chief, communications-electronic branch, office of the deputy chief of staff for logistics, Department of the Army, has been reassigned as assistant for communications-electronics, office of the assistant secretary of the Army (I&L), the Pentagon, Nov. 1. His new duties include the monitoring of telecommunications and other electronics equipments-systems requirements, programs, budgets, procurements, etc.

Col. Holmes, commissioned in the Signal Corps from Texas Tech in 1955, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Holmes, 301 Washington. He is married to the former Claudia Jean (Salmons) of Middletown, N.J. Col. and Mrs. Holmes currently reside in Fairfax, Va.

Nollie A. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Wilson, 1800 Seminole Drive, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School (OTS) at Lackland AFB.

Lt. Wilson is being assigned to Laredo AFB, for duty with the 38th Air Base Group. The 38th is a unit of the Air Training Command and which provides flying, technical and basic military training for U.S. Air Force personnel.

A 1956 graduate of Big Spring High School, the lieutenant received his BA degree in biology this year from Texas Lutheran College, at Sequin. His wife, Wilma, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon V. Williamson, 1608 Bluebird.

Airman Patrick A. Halfmann, son of Mrs. Delores Halfmann of St. Lawrence Route, Garden City, has graduated at Lowry AFB, Colo., from the U.S. Air Force weapons mechanic course conducted by the Air Training Command. Airman Halfmann is a 1972 graduate of Garden City High School.

Navy Seaman Recruit Randall L. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jones, 1206 Scurry, has graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center in Great Lakes near Chicago. He is a former student of Big Spring High School.

RANDALL L. JONES

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: There is disagreement in our family as to the minimum amount of milk an adult should have, and also how much he can have without detrimental effects.

I read somewhere that adults need no milk at all, and should not have more than a glass a day. My father says this is not so, and that no amount of skim milk can be detrimental.

L.M.
Well, I'll tell you. These "all-or-nothing" arguments are mostly a big fat waste of time, but I'll try to give you a fairly sensible notion of what the facts are. Trying to establish some exact amount of milk for an adult is about like asking, "How much gasoline should a motor vehicle use per day?"

What are we talking about? A family car? A bus? A motor scooter? A double-bottom truck rig going across country?

People are at least as variable as motor vehicles. In fact, more so. There's the occasional person who is hypersensitive to milk, and should have none, or very little (But he MUST take pains to see that he gets his calcium and other nutrients from other sources.)

At the other extreme, there's the nut who insists that "milk is bad for adults," and won't drink any. Maybe his diet otherwise includes enough calcium, protein and miscellaneous mineral traces to meet his needs.

And then again, maybe not. Maybe he is lacking in calcium, and among other things he has brittle bones and bruises easily and doesn't heal readily.

Or there's the fellow whose digestive tract goes into a war dance because he has a natural intolerance of milk, yet he insists on putting cream in his coffee, eating ice cream and other dairy products, and won't give up dairy products because he "read somewhere" that "everybody needs milk."

For the great majority of us, like you or me or your adversary in the argument, about a glass a day will fill the basic requirements. If we miss a day, now and then, no harm. Or if somebody happens to like milk and wants to drink a quart or so a day, still no harm.

If he's fat, he ought to drink skim milk, not regular. If he's skinny, he can pick up some extra calories by using whole milk, not skim.

If we don't drink milk, but we get the same nutrients in ice cream, cheese, baked goods, cream in coffee, or in other dairy products, what's the difference?

My great difference of opinion with the food faddists is that I don't agree that you "must" eat thus and so, or "must not" eat so and thus.

Same for milk. It's a good, useful, nutritious drink, and in my experience there are more people harmed by avoiding milk than are helped by avoiding it.

The whole violent argument makes about as much sense as the drunk who, just before he takes his ninth shot of booze for the day, pauses and says, "Wait. Gotta take my vitamin pill now."

What I mean is, let's be sensible about this.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For about a month now I've been having small quick pains in the anal and vaginal region. I was wondering if it was anything to be worried about. I'm 17. I've heard it means you're supposed to have a hysterectomy done.

C.D.
Most decidedly it is NOT a sign that you need a hysterectomy. Probably something quite minor, but I still recommend that you see your doctor. Something's not quite right.

Five Perish
In Plane Dive

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency today began an investigation of the plane crash that killed five persons including an El Paso family of four, when it exploded in mid air and fell near Troy in Central Texas Friday.

The victims were identified as Robert Doyle Perkins, 31, his wife Linda Faye, 25, and their children Cindy Sherree, 8, and Kristie Michelle, six weeks. The pilot was identified as Joe M. Henry, 24, also of El Paso. Department of Public Safety spokesmen said the plane fell near FM935 six miles east of Troy.

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty persons have been linked by indictment to rings that allegedly smuggled more than 500 kilograms of heroin worth $250 million into the United States.

The indictments, unsealed in Brooklyn federal court Friday, named Christian David, 41, and Michel Nicoli, 42, both Frenchmen, as the leaders of two of the five biggest rings smuggling heroin from Marseilles to the United States.

David and Nicoli, each being held in lieu of a record $2.5 million bail, brought from Brazil to the United States Friday to face the charges.

TURKISH OPIUM

Federal authorities said the two rings processed Turkish opium in Marseilles and smuggled the resulting heroin directly to Miami and New York or by way of South America, a route referred to as "the triangle of death."

Brooklyn U.S. Atty. Robert Morse said the two rings smuggled $217 million worth of heroin between January 1969 and May 1971, concealed in cans of imported fish, in expensive European cars and in secret compartments of private and commercial airplanes.

Narcotics officers estimated that the volume of heroin smuggled into the United States by the rings was enough to supply the nation's addict population — estimated at 350,000 to 550,000 — for three weeks.

They were accompanied by Claude Pastou, who was indicted by a federal grand jury in Manhattan on May 18, 1971, on charges of conspiracy to smuggle narcotics through another ring from Europe by way of Canada.

Pastou — who was indicted March 21, 1968, in Brooklyn on narcotics violation charges — was held in lieu of $250,000 bail. He faces a 20-year prison sentence in France for armed robbery.

All three were arrested Nov. 1 in Brazil at the request of the U.S. government in connection with the seizure a month earlier of 132 pounds of heroin worth $40 million aboard the U.S. cargo vessel Mormac-Altair, destined for the United States.

The indictments named three other Frenchmen, three Swiss, two Argentines, two Italians, three "John Doe's" and four Americans, identified as James Christian, 41; Paul Navarro, 39, and Domingo Padron, 61, all of New York, and Marcello Delgado, 46, of Fort Lee, N.J.

HCJC Workshop Begins Monday

Howard County Junior College student activities will be suspended for the week beginning Monday during the faculty workshop and the Thanksgiving holidays.

The week, however, shapes up as an intensely busy one for the faculty with a three-day session conducted by the junior college division of the Texas Coordinating Board for Higher Education.

The workshop will point up the strategy of implementing a systematic approach to individual instruction, said Ben F. Johnson Jr., academic dean who is in charge of the three-day parley.

Dr. Thomas Salter, president of HCJC, will open the workshop at 9 a.m. Monday in Room 100 of the Science Building when he welcomes the consultants. They are Dr. George Wilkerson of John Tyler Community College, in Chester, Va., and Bill Scott, specialist in vocational training for John Tyler, and Clifton Van Dyke, Austin, of the coordinating board's junior college division.

Studies will concentrate on behavioral objectives, and one of the projects will be to develop a short individualized instructional unit designed to fit some topic within a specific course. Faculty members have been studying Robert Mager's "Preparing Instructional Objectives" and Barton Herrscher's "Implementing Individualized Instruction" in preparing for the workshop.

D. Pickle Gets Scholarship

The first David A. Cheavens Memorial Scholarship has been presented to David Pickle, Baylor junior journalism student from Big Spring.

The $325 scholarship, to be awarded annually, honors outstanding work done by a junior journalism student at Baylor.

Pickle, sports director for The Baylor Lariat, campus newspaper, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pickle of 2808 Cactus, Big Spring. Pickle, 20, attended Howard County Junior College in Big Spring before transferring to Baylor.

Mrs. Alice Dawson Cheavens of Waco, widow of the former Baylor journalism department chairman, made the scholarship presentation that was attended by her father, Dr. J. M. Dawson of Corsicana, who founded The Lariat in 1900, and Baylor President Abner V. McCall. Baylor journalism faculty and students were present also.

Mrs. Cheavens said her husband "believed that scholarships were incentives, and that they were rewards for integrity, skill and responsibility already demonstrated."

David Pickle is a graduate of Big Spring High School and served as an editorial intern on The Herald during the past summer.

More Post Bail Bond

Three more persons, who were arrested in connection with illegal drug activity, were released on bond during the day Friday.

James William Weaver is out on two counts with a $10,000 bond on each count.

Steven Gordon Rogers was released on three counts with a $10,000 bond on each count. A 16-year-old juvenile was released to the juvenile officer.

This brings to 12 the number out on bond in the arrest of 26 persons here this week. A few more arrests may be expected, according to Police Chief Vance Chisum.

Twenty-Four Students Selected For Who's Who

By JOHN HICKS

Each year 14 seniors and 10 juniors are selected by the faculty for Who's Who. The selection of these students is based on leadership, character, scholarship and service. The senior girls selected for this year are Patti Womack, Dana Mancel, Debra Irwin, Paula Meek, Susan Smith, Bonnie Anderson and Teresa Sheppard. Senior boys selected are John Hicks, Kent Shaw, Alan Davis, Willie Williams, Donald McKee, Joel Dyer and Keith Swin.

Junior girls selected are Nadine Teague, Leigh Jones, Mickie Fletcher, Carrie Wheeler and Linda Pittman. Junior boys selected are Tom Sorley, Tim Dunn, Ronnie Hise, Van Johnson and Glenn Carlton.

The Optimist Clubs of Big Spring will hold its annual "End of Marching Season" banquet for the Steer Band. The dinner will be held Nov. 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College cafeteria. All marching awards will be presented at this banquet, including the 10 best marchers award, the best marching spirit award, the band directors award, and the John Phillip Sousa Award.

Nominees for best marchers are Paula Collins, Rob Holme, Kerry Newell, Shiretta Ownbey, Keith Teel, Karen Fortson, Laura Jones, Billy Nugent, John Riberd, Stan Vick, Ronnie Hise, Richard Kitchen, Cindy Pearce, Laurie Proctor and Gary Witte.

Nominees for best marching spirit are Sandra Floyd, Billy Nugent and Shiretta Ownbey.

Drills were done by the Steer band at UIL Marching Contest Saturday. The band members have been preparing this show for three weeks. They can receive a rating from one to five. One is the highest and five is the lowest.

Fruitcake sales started Monday. The area tryouts for all state orchestra were held in Odessa last Tuesday. Big Spring High School students competed with students from all of the schools in this area. Fourteen of the Big Spring students qualified for further competition. Students qualifying are recorded and these tapes are sent to a panel of judges at the state level. All state orchestra members are selected on the basis of the recording.

A group of juniors attended "Courage," a play based on the book "Red Badge of Courage," at Midland Community Theatre.

The National Honor Society held its monthly meeting last Thursday. All members were reminded that they are to check in either Mrs. Betty Green's or Miss Colleen Slaughter's room to find out when they are to take care of the concession stand during basketball games. Miss Marilyn Campbell presented a program where she showed her gymnastic abilities.

The Library Club will have its state meeting in February in El Paso. At their last meeting the club elected their beau. They will announce the winner at their next meeting. There are about 20 in the club, with each member having a class in the library. About five students are in the library in each class period.

Reed Whitley, a senior in BSHS, was the master of ceremonies as well as the winner of the Open Division of the Chess Club tournament. He is also the president of the Chess Club. Stanley Shanks came up with second place. Stanley is a student of HCJC. A Gollad teacher, Mr. Charles Arnold, merited third place; Jon Riley, a junior at BSHS, and Mike Scarbrough, a teacher of BSHS, tied for fourth. Steve Reagan placed sixth. In the Junior Division, Richard Moren, an eighth grader of Gollad, won first place.

All Goldiggers have been working as slaves this week for the football players. At the Monday meeting, the format to be used was planned. Tuesday was set as cake day in which all of the girls were to bake a cake for their player. On Wednesday the Goldiggers put signs in all the yards of the players and on Friday they carried a sign with a boy's name and number on it. Tuesday night the Goldiggers

The monthly meeting of the Permian Basin section of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers will be held Tuesday at the Midland National Bank building. Dr. Lee Harrisberger, dean of science and engineering at the University of Texas at the Permian Basin, and vice president of the American Society for Engineering Education, will be the speaker. Dr. Harrisberger's subject will be on "Control Engineering" offered at UTPB.

COAHOMA

Induction Held For NHS Members

By CHERYL BOHANNON
On Homecoming night of Nov. 10, the crowning of band sweetheart, football sweetheart and hero took place in the Bulldog Stadium. Crowned as band sweetheart was senior,

Wanda Weaver. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Weaver. Diana Kohanek, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Kohanek, was crowned as football sweetheart. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland L. Beal, Snickle a senior was presented the honor of being football hero. Following the exciting night was a victory over the McCamey Badgers. Receiving the spirit stick for the Bulldog Badger game was the band. The Big Red team played their last district game against Crane.

The FHA met Monday to hear senior Cindy Parrish present a program on Americanism. Also nominations for FHA Beau were made. Nominated was Robbie O'Daniel, Bobby Reid, Gary Hippi and Ricky Jones. On Nov. 21 the club will host a can food scavenger hunt at 7:00 p.m. The group receiving the most food will receive 5 points on their FHA point system. The FHA Beau will be voted on that same night. Also plans will be discussed about the Veterans Administration Christmas party.

The FFA club met Nov. 13, and discussed their project of selling oranges. The one selling the most oranges will receive $30.00.

The National Honor Society installed four new members Tuesday. Pledging membership was senior Wanda Weaver and juniors, Terry Beistle, Dennis Mays, and Cheryl Bohannon.

Tuesday the girls basketball team traveled to Hermleigh. Monday the A and B team will play Leuders-Avach at 6:00 p.m. The game will be there. Band Marcher of the Week is Jennie Kohanek. The band will travel to Odessa for a marching contest. School will turn out two new students this week. The new students are Benita Herrick, eighth grader, from Runnels, 127.

were honored at the Quarterback Club meeting and were served refreshments.

Mrs. Janice Rosson, a counselor at BSHS will be in Waco this weekend to attend a counselor symposium. This symposium is to acquaint counselors with Baylor University. Friday, representatives from West Texas State University and Western Texas Community College were in the counselor's office to inform students of these colleges.

The Meistersingers, along with the freshman and a capella choir, went to Odessa yesterday. They competed with the other choirs in District 5-AAAA, in a clinic at Odessa College.

GARDEN CITY

Assembly To Be Held Wednesday

By DINELL HIRT

On Wednesday Nov. 22 at 12:30 p.m. grades one through six will present a "sing song." They will be singing songs both old and new. They are inviting the parents and friends of the children to join them at this time. The Thanksgiving party will follow the program. School will let out for the holidays at 2:00 p.m.

At the pep rally last Thursday, the junior high football team presented a plaque to Coach Henderson. Van Gill and Gary Gibson were in the "From the Office of the Organization" sports, and Don Bradford gave a pep talk. The Garden City Bearkats played Klondike Thursday night and won 40-20. This finishes the Bearkats district games with 4 wins and 6 losses.

There was a FFA meeting last Wednesday. They are planning a Teachers Appreciation Day for Dec. 15. They are starting on the programs which will be sold at the Garden City 10th Annual Tournament, which is Dec. 7, 8 and 9. The Home Economics I class had a Thanksgiving Brunch for the teachers second period last Friday.

The high school girls won the basketball game against Westbrook last Tuesday, 68-29. The "B" girls won their game, also. The junior class is selling candy, and the Science Club is selling candles.

Make-up pictures will be taken Monday Nov. 27. Organization, sports, and personally pictures will also be taken. At the Nov. 10 pep rally, Bobby Doe from the football team gave speeches. They were Chris Hirt, Mike Batla and Douglas Pagnas. The Bearkats elected Mr. Larry Bradford Back of the Week.

FORSAN

Crowning Held During Halftime

By KATHY REED

The pep squad and cheerleaders held two separate meetings to elect Mr. Buffalo and Miss Buffalo Gal. Mr. Buffalo is chosen for his spirit, his school work and participation in sports. This year Mr. Buffalo is Tommy Brunley.

Miss Buffalo Gal is elected by the cheerleaders only. Miss Buffalo Gal is chosen for being the most spirited, helping cheerleaders and attending all the football games. This year Miss Buffalo Gal is Debbie Martin. Mr. Buffalo and Miss Buffalo Gal were presented during the half-time of the Bronte and Forsan game.

Dramatic Personae presented the play "I'm a Fool" last Thursday night. A preview of the play was presented to the school at the beginning of fourth period.

The band held a meeting to elect the band sweetheart. This year the band sweetheart is Gayle Moore. The band went to Big Spring Stadium at noon Wednesday to practice for the marching contest during fourth, fifth and sixth periods. The band traveled to Odessa to perform at 9:00 a.m. Saturday in the AIL marching contest.

Monday the football players elected their sweetheart. The Football Sweetheart is Kathy Frayar.

Farm Bureau Has Trespass Project

The Howard County Farm Bureau is joining the state farm bureau association in attempting to put teeth into the "no trespassing laws."

Starting retroactive to Nov. 1, all members who have the official "No Trespassing" signs posted on their property are cooperatively protected against offenders.

The farm bureaus are combining to offer $200 rewards for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons committing trespass, felony, theft, arson or malicious mischief on their property.

The 50 cent fee for the signs, which may be obtained at the Farm Bureau office, goes toward the reward program.

Club Project

The Junior Tri-Hi-Y will meet Tuesday at the YMCA to arrange for delivery of food to a family of five. In addition to the Thanksgiving project, the club will talk about a hay ride, bike ride and making toys for needy children at Christmas.

Mother Goose Book Flap In Harlingen

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) —

Will the book titled "Inner City Mother Goose" ever be returned to the public library shelves at Harlingen? — or will the book ever be returned to the library at all?

Those questions came to the forefront Friday as a city commissioner vowed that the book, described by the librarian as political satire, would never be allowed to return to the shelves.

The commissioner, who wishes to remain anonymous, says he objects to a word or phrase in the book and he also points out that the book has an endorsement by former U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark.

The publicity-shy commissioner also said he may survey the entire library to determine if there are any more books there with dirty words.

City librarian Helen McPherson Thompson said Friday she feels that neither the city commission nor the city library board has the right to dictate which books she stocks.

Told of the commissioner's statement, Mrs. Thompson said "I really do not believe I'm going to take this book off the shelves. I don't think I should respond to this sort of pressure."

She pointed out that the book is currently overdue. It is believed to be checked out to a member of the city commission who has been observed carrying the book around in a plain brown envelope.

Band Boosters To Get CR-73 Prevue

The Big Spring Band Boosters Club will get a prevue of Campus Revenue '73 at its 7:30 p.m. meeting Wednesday in the high school auditorium.

Admission will be a Band Booster membership card, and for those who do not have them, memberships will be available at $1.50. There will be a brief business meeting in charge of Charlie Wash, Booster president.

Tuesday evening the bands will be honored by the Optimist Clubs with their traditional band awards banquet.

Students are asked to consult their advisors in advance.

Jack Dunn, chairman of the Foreign Language Department, has announced that he will be in his office, A-2, to advise students for pre-registration during the following hours the week of Nov. 27-Dec. 1:

Monday, 12:45 p.m. to 1:55 p.m.; Tuesday, 12:45 p.m. to 1:55 p.m.; Wednesday, 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.; Thursday, 12:45 p.m. to 1:55 p.m., and Friday, 7:50 a.m. to 8:50 a.m.

Mrs. Reva Adams, acting chairman for the Business Department made an announcement as to the time and places for pre-registration. The Business Department will be in offices B-2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 and Nov. 27, 28, 29 and 30 from 1 to 3:30 p.m. have been set aside for pre-registration.

There will be two instructors at each session of pre-registration.

With a new twist in timing and a pre-Christmas touch, curtain will go up Dec. 2, at 8 p.m. for the 1972 Miss HCJC Pageant. The pageant is the second activity this year sponsored by the Campus Press Club. The first was the Halloween carnival which was tagged the "Ultimate Ripoff," and was labelled a success by students and faculty alike.

"While we probably entertained up to 1,000 students Halloween night, the cost was another factor, and we now have a financial deficit to make up," explains Cindy Williams, press club president.

The pageant should help serve that purpose.

"We also use pageant profits for journalism scholarships and travel to meetings," said Dal Herring, director and originator of the pageant. "We need every eligible coed to participate." Eligibility is being female, never having been married, and enrolled for any course on campus. This includes full or part time, and spans the adult education or Tec-Voc programs.

Application blanks may be picked up in P.A. 106 at any time during the day. Deadline for entering is Nov. 24 at 5 p.m.

Residents of the Women's Dorm recently presented six requests for six changes in the dorm rules, four of which were accepted. The administration accepted rule revisions which would allow residents to sit and lie on the floor of the lounge except during visiting hours, play cards and have record players in the lounge, braid hair in the lounge and collect empty beverage containers. The administration rejected requests that men be allowed to enter the dorm earlier and leave later than presently allowed and that the late hours for residents be extended.

Nov. 17 was the deadline for students to sign up for intramural basketball. Intramural basketball, according to Coach Eddie Trice, is another big chapter in HCJC sports history. Students will enjoy a longer holiday period than the faculty for Thanksgiving, as the faculty will be involved in a workshop on Nov. 20, 21 and 22. Classes were dismissed at 5 p.m. on accepted. The administration accepted rule revisions which

RUNNELS

Dress-Up Day To Be Held

By PHYLLIS HART
The Yearlings will begin their 1972-1973 basketball season next Monday in the boys gym at 5:30. They will play San Angelo Edison.

A total of $1,861.90 was collected in the magazine sales which ended Monday. Steve Hedges was the high salesman. He collected a total of $102.

The eighth grade advance choir sang in a choir clinic at Odessa, Saturday. Songs which they sang were "Very Last Day," "Cantata Domino," and "My Heart is Offered Still To You."

The student council met again Wednesday. In the meeting plans for the Thanksgiving assembly next Wednesday were discussed. A "dress-up day" is scheduled for next Wednesday. They also discussed what kind of prize to award the winning homeroom for the Christmas door decoration contest. Plans for the canned food drive were also discussed.

The eighth grade girls PE classes have begun their unit on rhythmic balls. They will be on this five days.

New students this week include Lynnece Parker, from Broadus, Tex., Robert Beams from Odessa, David Lamar from San Antonio, and Erlinda Hilario from Houston.

The elective classes, Spanish, drafting, woodworking, grafting, business and homemaking, got their report cards Friday. Their new terms start Monday, when they will change electives. All the elective classes will receive their report cards, even if they do not change every term.

Hearing Asked For School Man

BROWNWOOD — Guilford Jones, Big Spring attorney, Friday filed a request for a hearing by the Brownwood Independent School District school board, on behalf of James McMeth, who was dismissed as superintendent Monday by the board.

Jones said that this was the first step in administrative appeal. If the board refuses to reverse its ruling, then the case goes to the state commissioner of education. If the commissioner upholds the board, then relief can be sought in the courts.

Dr. James Gandy, president of the board, declined to specify reason for dismissal of McMeth, who formerly was superintendent at Colorado City. Wm. Strickert, member of the board who voted for dismissal, subsequently resigned in protest over what he called the procedure followed in ousting McMeth.

Need Computer To Count Votes

HOUSTON (AP) — A court suit Friday by Republicans to get a recount of computer ballots cast here for governor in the Nov. 7 general election was continued here until Monday because no one could come up with another computer to count the ballots.

Two experts witnesses testified Friday that no equipment comparable to the computer equipment used by County Clerk R. E. Turrentine to make the original count was available in the county.

Condemning 'Judicial Repression Of Media'

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, issued a report today condemning "judicial repression of the media" and other governmental actions it said inhibit the flow of information to the public.

"When courts coerce the media with contempt orders, they assume power which they should not," said the report.

prepared by the society's Advancement of Freedom of Information Committee.

"When petty, despotic bureaucrats withhold news; when executive privilege is asserted; when legislators confer in secrecy—all are usurping power from the citizens and all are lessening the public's ability to make effective collective judgments and decisions," it said.

The report, presented to representatives of the 25,000 member society at a convention, said the lesson from the recent conflicts between media and government is "... The people will have to firmly establish their power to govern."

"It's the lesson of the Pentagon Papers, it's the lesson of imprisoned reporter Peter Bridge, it's the lesson of the Defense Department's suppression of the Peers Report about the My Lai investigation," said Dick Fogel of the Oakland, Calif. Tribune, chairman of the committee.

The report also described the work of the News Access Committee, a group of journalists who joined a battle to assure unimpeded rights of news access at the United Nations.

The controversy began when the U.N. ousted two Taiwan journalists on the demand of the People's Republic of China, which replaced Taiwan as a U.N. member.

The group announced they will wage a protracted fight to get Secretary General Kurt Waldheim to make good on his pledge to help resolve the problem.

The report also detailed the ordeal of New Jersey reporter Peter Bridge, who was jailed for civil contempt for refusing to answer grand jury questions beyond the scope of one of his stories and recounted the "incredible treatment" of Los Angeles reporter William T. Farr who was cited for contempt when he refused to disclose the source of a story about the Charles Manson murder case. Farr was ordered jailed Thursday but released on a writ of habeas corpus.

Screwworm Cases Rise

Thirty-eight cases of screwworms in Howard County helped boost the total list of known cases in Texas to 14,503 in October. This was in comparison to 141 cases in the entire state in October 1971, four in the same month in 1970 and two in 1969.

It is more than were reported in October during the very first year of the program in 1962 when 8,702 cases were recorded. Since that time, the test fly program has been under way in the state and cases had shown a steady drop until this year.

Other counties in this area show cases in their October report including four in Andrews, 33 in Borden, 73 in Coke, three in Dawson, six in Ector, five in Garza, 30 in Glasscock, three in Lynn, nine in Martin, 13 in Midland, 20 in Mitchell, 10 in Reagan, 25 in Scurry and 33 in Sterling.

The cold weather, such as Big Spring is having this weekend, is predicted by agriculture leaders to halt the cases of screwworm in this part of the state.

Two Texans Die In Home Blaze

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) — A home fire in the early morning hours Saturday took the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Huggins in this South Plains city.

The blaze was seen by a person passing by who had difficulty awakening neighbors to report the blaze to the fire department.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

H-SU Launches Building Drive

Hardin-Simmons University Friday launched a $5.5-million financial campaign.

Dr. Elwin L. Skiles, president, disclosed details of the three-year campaign at a joint meeting of the board of trustees, board of development and board of young associates.

The fund drive is a part of H-SU's "Profile for Progress." Key projects for the campaign are 1) the construction of a new $1.5 million library to be built next to Moody Center where Mary Frances Hall currently is located; 2) a new physical education athletic complex to be constructed adjacent to Rose Field House; 3) renovation and modernization of five key facilities on campus including Abilene Hall, Anderson Hall, Blanche Lange Hall, Sander Memorial, Behrens Hall and 4) an endowment fund for faculty enrichment programs.

AGENT RETIRES — J. W. (Jake) Holmes, who retired as Borden County agricultural agent early in the year after 35 years in extension service, was presented a plaque by Nueces County Judge Robert N. Barnes, left, president of the Texas County Judges Association, at a recognition dinner in College Station recently. Prior to moving to Borden County in 1952, Holmes served in Mason, Culberson and Ward Counties. He is a native of Crosby County and holds a BS degree in animal husbandry from Texas A&M University.

Bountiful Thanksgiving Menu Slated At Webb

Throughout the world, airmen will enjoy a traditional Thanksgiving dinner Nov. 23, according to an Air Force message.

And at Webb, the Chuck Wagon dining hall will serve its annual dinner to military personnel and their guests, complete with turkey and all the trimmings.

Webb diners won't have to wait for their meals to be airlifted in, like isolated units in Southeast Asia, but will be able to begin their eating when bachelor airmen are allowed to enter at 12:30 p.m. All other guests will be invited in between 1 p.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Guests tickets are on sale through Monday at the dining hall after 1 p.m.

The menu for the day will feature: Shrimp cocktail, turkey, turkey, baked ham, giblet, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, glazed sweet potatoes, buttered whole grain corn, buttered green beans, tossed vegetable salad, assorted dressings, fruit salad, relish tray, and hot rolls and butter.

Desert will consist of: pumpkin pie and whipped cream, macmeat pie, fruit cake, assorted candy, mixed nuts, and assorted fresh fruit. There will be coffee, tea, and white or chocolate milk.

BIG SPRING HERALD

SECTION B

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER

ALL WRAPPED UP — Texas Aggies quarterback Don Dean (12) makes an effort to evade Rice defensive men in the first quarter at College Station Saturday. Richard Hollas (53), Owls linebacker, falls into Dean as his teammate Preston Anderson (40) wraps his arms around Dean.

WILLIAMS BOOTS FIELD GOALS Rice Owls Drop Aggies

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Mark Williams booted two fourth quarter field goals Saturday as Rice defeated Texas A&M, 20-14, in a Southwest Conference game in which the Aggies were the victims of their own enthusiasm.

Williams, the second all-time SWC field goal kicker, knocked through a 44-yard three pointer with 8 minutes 56 seconds left in the game and later kicked one from 35 yards.

Safety Bruce Henley clinched Rice's victory with two pass interceptions, which ruined Aggie hopes of a possible rally.

A fumble enabled Rice to run out the clock at the A&M one-yard line.

The Aggies led 14-0 and the pass interception by Henley and the pass interception by Henley at the Rice 28 set up what looked like a third A&M touchdown.

But Henley slammed the ball onto the artificial turf and A&M was penalized 15 yards back to the Rice 43. Rice held and A&M had to punt.

Rice quarterback Bruce Gadd then guided the Owls 86 yards to a touchdown, hitting split receiver Edwin Collins on a 12 yard scoring pass.

Gadd's five completions to 233 pound tight end Gary Butler keyed Rice offense. Gadd completed 15 of 28 for 245 yards and one touchdown and was intercepted by Henley.

Henley's interception and 26 yard return set up Williams' second field goal. The Rice place kicker missed attempt of 47 and 25 yards.

The victory gives Rice a season record of 4-4-1 and SWC record of 2-3. A&M is 3-7 for the season and 2-4 in SWC.

Aggies had to overcome their own exuberance as halfback Alvin Walker also was called for slamming the ball down. The 15-yard penalty pushed the Aggies back to the Rice 18, but they scored in three plays as Osborne caught Dean's pass over Henley in the end zone.

Another A&M freshman, Ronnie Hubby fumbled and Rice linebacker John Kelly recovered at the Rice 11.

The Owls advanced to the A&M 27, and Williams kicked the winning field goal on fourth down.

Gadd's five completions to 233 pound tight end Gary Butler keyed Rice offense. Gadd completed 15 of 28 for 245 yards and one touchdown and was intercepted by Henley.

Henley's interception and 26 yard return set up Williams' second field goal. The Rice place kicker missed attempt of 47 and 25 yards.

The victory gives Rice a season record of 4-4-1 and SWC record of 2-3. A&M is 3-7 for the season and 2-4 in SWC.

Porker Miscues Turn Into Pony Touchdowns

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Southern Methodist turned four Arkansas mistakes into points and knocked the Razorbacks out of the Liberty Bowl with a 22-7 decision here Saturday.

The Mustangs traveled 28, 23 and 25 yards for the touchdowns — two by Alvin Maxson — following two fumble recoveries and a pass interception. The Razorbacks fumbled nine times and lost six.

Liberty Bowl officials attended the game and were prepared to invite the Razorbacks if they had won. One official indicated that the Liberty Bowl might turn to SMU as a possible choice.

The loss was the Razorbacks' fourth in their last five games and left them with a 5-5 record. SMU, which broke a three-game losing streak, is 5-4 for the season.

Walter Nelson, a fifth-year senior, made his first varsity start at Arkansas and guided the Razorbacks to their only touchdown. He was replaced late in the first half by Joe Ferguson when the Razorbacks were forced to throw the football.

SMU's first touchdown came when Keith Bobo, facing fourth and one at the Arkansas 8, faked inside and then tossed a short pass to tight end Rory Best, who banged into the end zone.

Richardson fumbled the kickoff and the Mustangs were on the score board 87 seconds later when Maxson broke off left tackle and eluded two tacklers to complete a 13-yard scoring run. Maxson, who gained 123 yards on 22 carries, scored from one yard out in the fourth period after Jim Ryan had returned a Ferguson interception 34 yards to the Razorbacks' 25.

Arkansas tailback Dickey Morton carried 18 times for 92 yards, giving him 1,053 yards for the season. He is the first Razorback to top the 1,000-yard rushing mark.

Campus Paper Calls For Dismissal

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The student newspaper at the University of Arkansas here has called for the dismissal of Razorback head Coach Frank Broyles.

The Arkansas Traveler, in an editorial titled "Farewell Frank," said, "The time has come, Frank Broyles should be fired."

The editorial went on to say that this season Broyles had taken "a group of really fine, inherently talented athletes and failed miserably."

"We have only praise for the players," the newspaper said. "Arkansas has a group of dedicated and skillful individuals whose talent was never fully realized. What we need is a new coach. We believe the players think so too."

Trinity Trips Tribe

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Quarterback Billy Lynch threw for one touchdown and ran for two others to lead Trinity to a 32-22 victory over Arkansas State in a continuous downpour Saturday.

Lynch threw eight yards to Bill Hodge for one touchdown. The quarterback plunged two yards for another and scrambled 24 yards on an intended pass play for a third.

Trinity also scored when guard Bruce Bealor jumped on Lynch's fumble in the end zone and on Earl Costley's 80-yard bolt.

Texas Captures Fifth Straight SWC Championship

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Longhorns rolled to an unprecedented fifth consecutive Southwest Conference crown Saturday, crushing fumble-bedecked Texas Christian 27-0 behind quarterback Alan Lowry's three touchdown runs.

The victory gave Texas a 6-0 SWC record and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl Classic New Year's day.

The seventh-ranked Longhorns pounced on three Horned Frog fumbles and cashed them in for touchdowns with short scoring drives in the first half.

Lowry, the spunky senior who has sparked to an 8-1 season, sneaked over from the one-yard line twice and from the three-yard line on the muddy floor of Amon Carter Stadium.

Lowry's replacement, freshman Marty Akins, got into the quarterback sneak himself, with a two-yard touchdown plunge in the fourth quarter.

The 45-degree cold numbed fingers, but it didn't bother the Texas backs like it did TCU ball handlers.

TCU safety, Lyle Blackwood fumbled a Texas punt and the Longhorns' Lonnie Bennet flopped on the ball in the go with the game less than three minutes old and the rout was on.

Texas drove 39 yards with halfback Tommy Landry contributing runs of 8 and 9 yards to set up Lowry's first score.

Three plays later Horned Frog halfback Terry Drennan bobbled the ball and linebacker Bruce Cannon recovered. Texas only had to go 27 yards with Lowry again sneaking over for the final 12 inches.

In the second period, TCU's generosity continued with Mike Luttrell dropping the ball and Sherman Lee corraling it. The Longhorns drove 56 yards with the big play being a 22-yard pass from Lowry to Jim Moore. Lowry again sneaked across for the score.

TCU is now 5-4 for the season and 2-3 in SWC play.

The stout Texas defense did not allow the Horned Frogs a first down in the third quarter and made a magnificent goal line stand near the end of the game to preserve their shutout.

TCU halfback Larry Harris was stopped by horde of Longhorn defenders at the one-yard line on the Horned Frogs deepest penetration of the day.

After the Longhorn first half point production, the game settled down into a punting duel in the second half.

Jim Moore returned a TCU punt 42 yards to set up Texas' fourth touchdown scored by Akins, who was a star at Gregory Portland High school last year.

Texas again got excellent play from its sledge hammer fullback Roosevelt Leaks. The sophomore from Brenham, Tex., gouged out 96 yards in 20 carries in the heavy going.

The Longhorn defense, led by linebackers Randy Braband and Glen Gaspard and defensive end Bill Rutherford, barely allowed TCU in Texas territory in the first half. The deepest Horned Frog penetration was to the Horn's 41-yard line.

Texans Nip 'Hawks, 70-68

ODESSA — Howard County rallied from a halftime deficit to grab an eight-point lead in the second half only to see South Plains College come back to take a 70-68 win over the Jayhawks in the Odessa Invitational Basketball Tournament Saturday.

Two Jayhawks, forwards Mike Randle and Tom Bledsoe, were named to the All-Tournament team, according to tournament officials.

In the final four minutes of the game, the Jayhawks missed the first shot on one-and-one bonus situations three times, which enabled the Texans to come from behind to claim the victory.

Howard County will meet Cisco Jr. College in Cisco Tuesday night.

Lee Takes CC Meet

Midland Lee took first-place honors in the varsity division of the annual Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Cross-Country Meet here Saturday morning.

Lee tallied 82 points to edge Odessa Permian by four points. Seventy-four competitors finished in the varsity division and 35 finished in the junior varsity division.

Ricky McCormick of Big Spring turned in the best time of any Steer competitor. The sophomore ran in the junior varsity division because he only finished football Thursday and started cross-country work Friday. Coach Glenn Petty said that McCormick will run in the varsity division next week.

The Steers will compete in a cross-country meet in San Angelo Tuesday.

'Horns Take SWC Crown In Stride

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Texas players and coaches took their fifth consecutive Southwest Conference football title in stride Saturday with a missing key to the dressing room their biggest obstacle of the day.

After the seventh-ranked Longhorns demolished Texas Christian 27-0 to earn a berth in the Cotton Bowl classic New Year's Day, they had to wait five minutes to get into their dressing room.

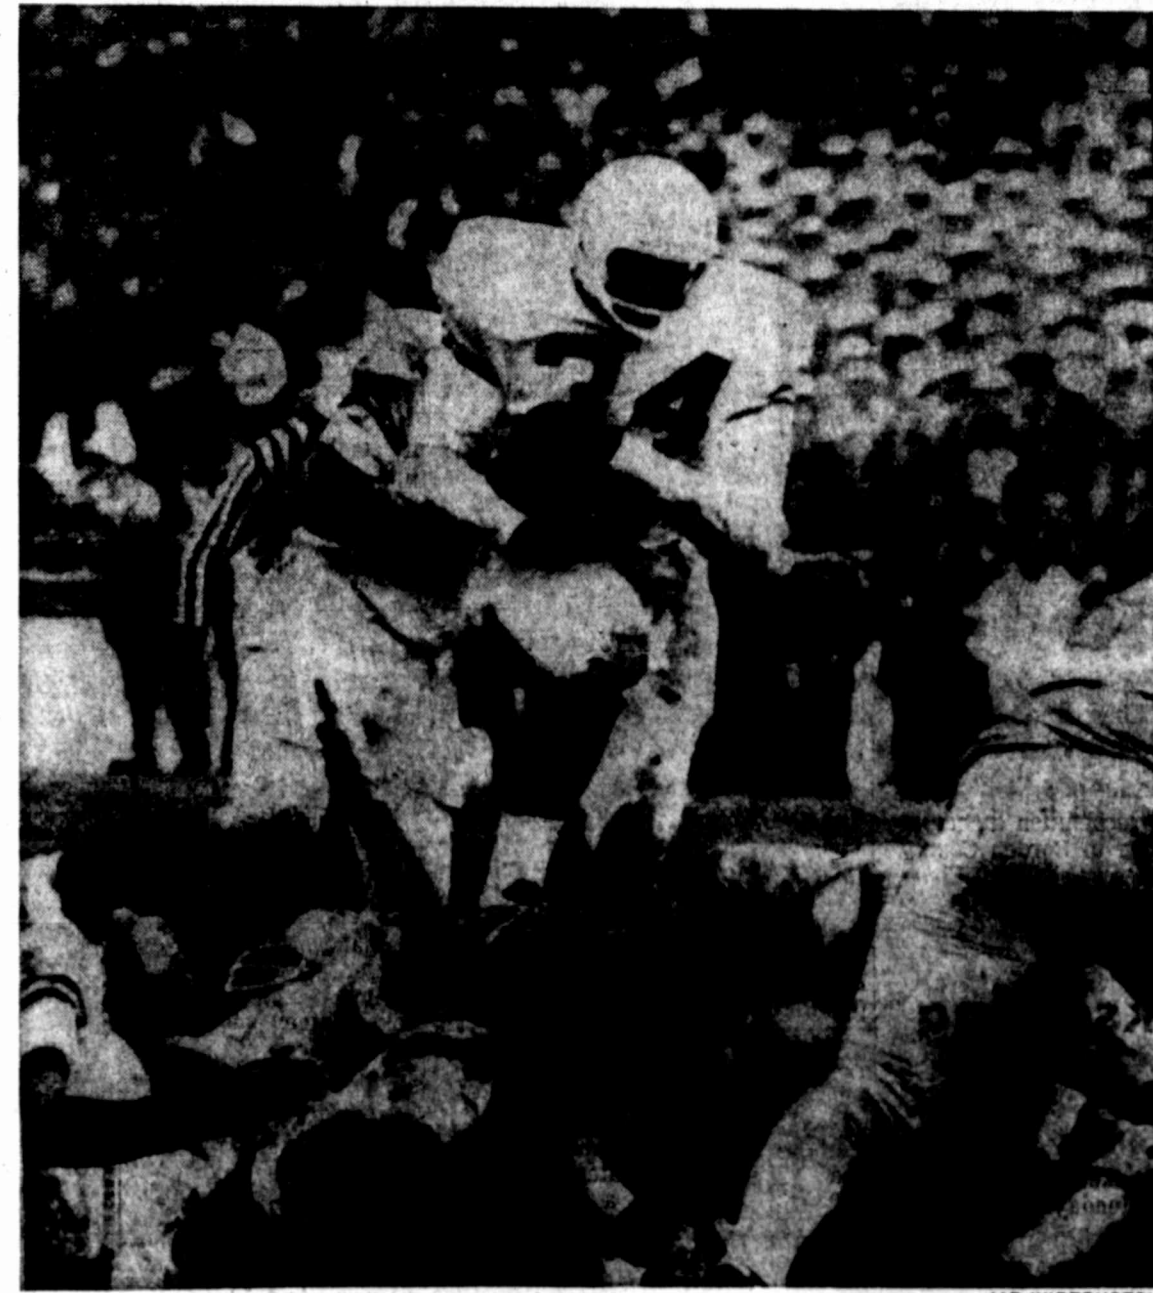

Bi-District Tilt Set In Coahoma

COAHOMA — The bi-district playoff game between the Jayton Jaybirds and the Imperial Buena Vista Longhorns will be played in Coahoma's Bulldog Stadium at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 25.

Jayton is the representative of District 3-B and Buena Vista is the representative of District 4-B.

General admission tickets will be sold at each of the two schools and at the Coahoma State Bank. The tickets cost $2 for adults and $1 for students.

During the season, the two teams have met two common opponents. The Sands Mustangs fell to Jayton, 44-0, and Buena Vista, 41-3. Forsan was downed by Jayton, 34-14, and by Buena Vista, 39-6.

OVER THE TOP — Donald Ealy (34), running back for the Texas Longhorns, goes over the top of the TCU line for the first down. The action took place in the first quarter.

HEAD FOR SUN BOWL

Red Raiders Slip Past Baylor Bears, 13-7

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech, with Lady Luck wielding the scalpel, cut down Southwest Conference rival Baylor 13-7 Saturday and appeared headed for a Sun Bowl berth opposite North Carolina.

The Red Raiders, 8-2, rode Don Grimes' two field goals and Cliff Hoskins' running to the triumph on a cold, cloudy, windy afternoon.

Sun Bowl officials called a news conference for 6:05 p.m. CST at a Waco hotel and press box sources said they would formally announce the selection and acceptance of Tech and North Carolina.

The Tar Heels, champions of the Atlantic Coast Conference, blanked Duke 14-0 Saturday and were poised for their first trip to the El Paso bowl classic on Dec. 30.

The Raiders, themselves plagued by miscues, pounced on five Baylor fumbles and stole two passes as they recorded their fourth SWC victory against losses to champion

Texas and Texas Christian.

They close out the regular campaign next week against Arkansas, once the pride of the Ozarks but suddenly the patsy for four Southwest Conference foes.

Grimes lofted field goals of 21 and 34 yards in the first period, and Hoskins, who reeled off 204 yards, belted in from the three for the lone Tech TD in the third quarter.

Baylor, despite retrieving four Tech fumbles, crossed the goal but once, a fourth-period caper culminated by Neal Jeffrey's 15-yard pitch to Brian Kilgore.

The Bears, now 4-5 for the season, were aided by a 15-yard roughing-the-kicker penalty as they drove 76 yards for the score.

First downs	20	17
Rushes-yards	72-229	47-213
Passing yards	19	69
Punts	14-0	5-16-2
Fumbles	4-25	4-23
Penalties-yards	4-5	5-4
	4-0	6-34

They lost their last opportunity for victory when Danny Willis intercepted a Jeffrey pass at the Baylor 34 in the final minute of play.

Tech moments earlier missed a chance to clinch the triumph when Grimes' field goal attempt from the 10 was blocked.

The Red Raiders would be making their eighth appearance in the Sun Bowl and their second under Coach Jim Carlen in three years.

Georgia Tech thumped the Raiders 17-9 in the 1970 Sun Bowl game, and the Raiders have won only once in seven previous appearances.

The Red Raiders walked through the Baylor defense for 329 yards as Hoskins, a sophomore, turned in the top performance of his young career. His 21-yard scamper and a key 7-yard run for a first down were the outstanding plays in Tech's only touchdown drive.

He carried 37 times in eclipsing the 200-yard mark.

The aroused Tech defenders held Jeffrey, one of the SWC's most dangerous passers, to five completions in 16 attempts. The Bears netted only 60 yards through the air and twice were intercepted.

The Texas Tech performance as a sharp reversal from last week when TCU pounded them 31-7 before a regional television audience.

First half miscues boggled the mind Saturday with Tech fumbling away the ball four times and Baylor three.

Derrell Luce captured two Raider bobbles at the Baylor 18 and 37, and the Bears got two others at their own 31 and 37. Tech charted its recoveries at the Baylor 29 and 23 and its own 10.

Clarence Williams galloped 67 yards with the opening kickoff to set up Grimes' first three-pointer and a Williams fumble recovery at the Bear 23 led to the second.

GAINS-ON KEEPER — Baylor quarterback Neal Jeffrey (11) steps out on a keeper and picks up four yards in the first period of their game with Texas Tech at Waco Saturday. Tech

STEEN SCORES — Ricky Steen scores on a one-yard plunge in the second quarter of the Big Spring-San Angelo football game here Friday night. Blocking for Steen are tackle Mark Risetter (65) and tight end Jerry Knoepfel (81). Making the tackle are Bobcats Scott Yancey (63), Gerald Butts (74), Charlie Davidson (65) and Dan Junell (32).

HENDERSON ACHIEVES GOAL San Angelo Jolts Steers

By DON COOPER

"Jackie the Jet" Henderson achieved his goal and the San Angelo Bobcats controlled the game as they defeated the Big Spring Steers, 35-14, in the season finale for both teams.

Henderson, who suffered a sprained ankle in the San Angelo-Abilene game and has seen only limited duty since then, saw action in the final quarter of the game Friday night. Henderson ran for 89 yards and became the first Bobcat to ever reach 1,000 yards rushing in a single season. Henderson finished with 1,027.

San Angelo got on the board midway through the first quarter when Vernon Beck broke loose down the left side and romped 76 yards for the touchdown. Russell Hartsfield booted the Bobcats into a 7-0 lead with 7:17 left in the first period.

The second San Angelo TD was set up by a pass interception by Dan Junell. Junell picked off an errant Tom Sorley aerial at the Big Spring 22 and returned it to the Steer five.

After Dickie Shultz carried to the three, David Dodson carried over for the touchdown.

HARTSFIELD CONVERTS Hartsfield again converted and San Angelo held a 14-0 lead with 2:04 left in the first quarter. The Steers dominated play in the second period of the contest. Quarterback Alan Davis, who had been benched two weeks ago in favor of junior Tom Sorley, came in to direct the Steers 16-play, 45-yard drive for the only Big Spring touchdown. Henderson blocked the drive with a pass interference penalty against San Angelo and was highlighted by the running of Davis and Earl Reynolds. Reynolds had one 10-yard run in the drive and Davis ripped off a 13-yard gainer.

STEEN SCORES The touchdown came on a one-yard plunge by Ricky Steen. Steen booted the extra point to cut the San Angelo lead to 14-7 with 4:23 left in the first half.

Bronte Nips Buffs, 14-12

FORSAN — Allen Barbee ran for two touchdowns as the Bronte Longhorns capitalized on Forsan miscues to defeat the Buffaloes, 14-12, in the season finale for both clubs.

Forsan wrapped the season with a 5-5 record and a 4-2 District 3-B record.

Bronte got the first score in the second period on a short run by Barbee. Barbee tacked on the extra points to give the 'Horns an 8-0 bulge.

In the third quarter, Forsan scored on a 30-yard pass from quarterback Mike Murphy to tight end Rudy Holguin. The run for the two points failed.

The Buffs took the lead in the fourth period when Murphy tallied on a three-yard run. Again the try for the two point conversion failed and the Buffaloes held a 12-8 margin.

Late in the final frame, Bronte recovered a Forsan fumble at the Buffalo 25. Barbee capped the drive with his second TD of the night. The run for the two points failed.

Forsan got one last chance to pull the game out as the Buffs drove to the Bronte 28 and tried a field goal; however, the snap was bobbled and Bronte took over and ran out the clock to preserve the win.

Defense dominated play in the third quarter as neither team could get on the scoreboard. San Angelo drove to the Steer 12 early in the third period only to see a bad snap spoil an attempted field goal by Hartsfield.

Late in the third quarter, the Bobcats drove to the Big Spring one only to see the Steer defense rise to the occasion and hold the Bobcats out of the end zone.

After holding San Angelo, the Steers were forced to punt from deep in their own territory. Davis' punt was downed at the Big Spring 41.

On the first play from scrimmage, David Fielder broke loose for 41 yards and the touchdown. Hartsfield converted and San Angelo held a 21-7 margin with 11:01 left in the contest.

HENDERSON ENTERS TILT After a Davis pass was intercepted by Ronnie Hawkins at the Big Spring 37, Henderson came into the game. He carried five straight times as the Bobcats quickly moved in for the score. The scoring play was a 16-yard burst by Henderson. Hartsfield again converted and San Angelo held a 28-7 margin with 8:37 left in the game.

Late in the final period, San Angelo launched another drive from the Bobcat 22. Again Henderson shouldered the brunt of the work on the drive to move San Angelo to the Steer 29.

After Fielder lost six yards to the Steer 35, San Angelo started throwing to Gerald Coley. Coley came into the contest trailing Big Spring's Nate Poss for the receiving lead in the district and the Bobcats were trying to get the ball to him.

Ironically enough, Poss stepped in front of Coley three yards deep in the end zone and rambled 103 yards down the sideline for the touchdown. Steen booted the PAT to cut the margin to 28-14 with 2:12 left in the game.

The Steers attempted an onside kick; however, it was recovered by San Angelo at the Bobcat 46. With time running out, the Bobcats tried desperately to put another score on the board.

The Bobcats drove to the Big Spring 14 where a motion penalty moved them back to the 19. Hawkins ripped off a 15-yard gain to the Steer four. With five seconds left in the game, Hawkins burst into the end zone for an apparent touchdown; however, the score was nullified by a penalty and the ball was moved back to the nine.

The clock was stopped by the penalty with one second showing. On the final play of the game, Hawkins carried over for a touchdown. Hartsfield booted his fifth conversion of the night to give the Bobcats a 35-14 win.

Coyotes Win Loop Crown

GAIL — In a see-saw battle that saw the score tied twice and the lead change five times, the Borden County Coyotes defeated the Sterling City Eagles, 34-30, for the District 1-B championship here Friday evening.

Not until Randy Hensley broke loose and scampered 45 yards for a TD with 3:45 minutes on the clock was the issue settled.

Borden County will meet Goree at Aspermont at 7 p.m. Saturday in the semi-finals of eight-man ball. Coach Bobby Dyess announced Saturday. His charges apparently emerged from the hard-fought Sterling contest without injuries.

Sterling City drew first blood when Tommy Bynum sneaked in from two yards out early in the first quarter. The try for extra points failed. Shortly afterwards, Garland Williams broke loose for 25 yards and a Borden TD. But the point try failed, leaving it 6-6.

Coahoma Advances To Bi-District Tilt

CRANE — The Coahoma Bulldogs powered over Crane 16-0 here Friday and seized the District 7-AA Championship. Coahoma will zero in on Alpine at Monahans at 7:30 p.m. Friday for bi-district

After a scoreless first quarter and ran for the extra point. Quarterback Roland Beal followed a curling 29-yard road to the goal. Tim Tindol crashed in for the only two not credited to Beal Friday with a 2:50 left on the clock. Beal charged 20 yards for the next TD late in the fourth Possession was traded nine times before Beal first scored. In the first quarter, Bulldog Troy Kerby gave Coahoma an easy touchdown opportunity with a fumble recovery at Crane's 25-yard line.

But the Bulldogs floundered on a fourth and seven play nine yards from the goal. Crane sent the ball back to the visitors with its second punt after six yards and three plays. Coahoma was ending another series when roughing the kicker gave them a second chance. Fullback Eddie Padron tore off 29 yards and then 16 yards. Coahoma pushed the Golden Cranes back 70 yards. Then, on fourth and two-to-goal, Coahoma fumbled.

The Bulldogs ran 81 yards in nine plays for their first touchdown. Freddie Franklin rushed for 24 yards and 12 yards in two carries. And 18 additional yards would have been his but for a penalty.

Crane made 10 yards in a pass-run before fumbling. Three plays later, Beal threw an interception. Passing has become the weakest part of the 'Dog offensive threat.

Halfback Lynn Ashley intercepted a Crane pass and ran 20 yards with less than 13 seconds in the half.

Defense continued to dominate the game until Coahoma put together a seven-play, 53-yard scoring drive.

Strong End Randy Ford returned a deep kick-off on a hand-off reverse to the Coahoma 42. Beal intercepted a bomb and returned to the Coahoma 35-yard line.

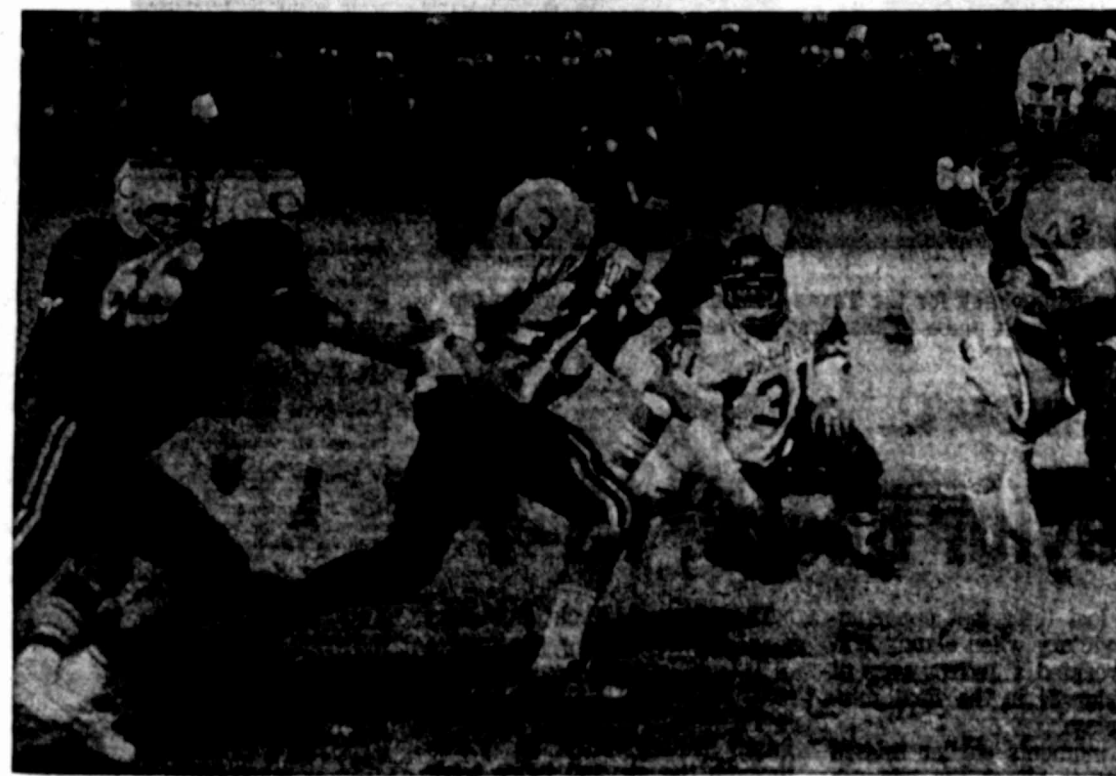

Time ran out a few plays later. Coahoma had ended their regular season with a 6-4 record and district 4-1.

COWBOYS FACE EAGLES

Quarterback Problems

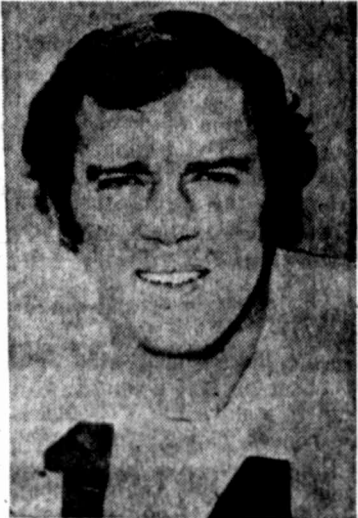

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — There are quarterback problems and then there are quarterback problems.

Take the Dallas Cowboys—who wouldn't. Craig Morton is playing so well at quarterback that last year's National Football League player of the year, Roger Staubach, can't break into the lineup.

Then take the Philadelphia Eagles—who would? They can't find a quarterback who can lead the team into the end zone. It has been 14 quarters and four games ago since the Eagles scored a touchdown.

This Sunday the Cowboys 7-2 meet the Eagles 2-1 at Veterans Stadium. Dallas is a 14-point favorite. The Cowboys must win to at least keep with one game of the Washington Redskins 8-1 in the National Conference East. Washington meets Atlanta in the weekly Monday night television game.

Dallas coach Tom Landry explains almost apologetically that he has been trying to get Staubach into a game, so the former Navy star can regain the form that led the Cowboys to the Super Bowl championship last season. Staubach fractured a shoulder during the exhibition season, and hasn't played a minute in the regular season.

CRAIG MORTON

What has happened since Staubach became ready for action is that the Dallas Doomsday Defense has been making games too close for Landry's comfort.

The Cowboys led Washington 20-7 at halftime and lost 24-20. They led Detroit 14-0 and 21-7 and had to hold on for a 28-24 triumph. They led San Diego 31-0 in the third period and were life and death to win 34-28. Last week they had a 30-24 lead over St. Louis and won 33-24.

What puzzles Landry is what has happened to a defense that allowed on 49 points in the first five games of the season and has given up 100 in the last four.

"It's not a panic situation," says the Dallas coach, "but it is a concern. We're making a few little mistakes and I feel it's a matter of concentration. We work every day and I feel it will come around."

Landry observes that one of the problems has been a lack of a consistent pass rush. Another is the pass defense giving up the big play. San Diego's John Hadl completed four bombs on the Cowboys. Last week Gary Cuozzo hit one for St. Louis. During this defensive slump, Landry has benched the veteran Herb Adderley in favor of Charley Waters.

So far, Morton has managed to put more points on the board than the defense has been giving up. He has completed 133 of 236 passes for 1,721 yards and 11 TDs. Calvin Hill with 650 yards on 180 carries and Walt Garrison with 508 on 116 dominates the running game. Hill, Ron Sellers and Garrison are the leading receivers.

Sands Takes Three From Westbrook

Sands swept three games from Westbrook basketball teams in Westbrook Friday evening, and the same schools will play again Monday at Ackerly starting at 5:30 p.m.

The Sands A boy nosed out Westbrook, 70-68, in a hectic finish that saw the home team nearly catching Sands. The Sands girls triumphed 56-36, the Sands boys B team ran away 73-28.

In the B game, Victor Rodriguez scored 20 points for Sands, while Hogue led Westbrook with 10 points.

Randy Cheatham with 25 and Frosty Floyd with 15 paced the A boys and Cheatham had 12 rebounds and Floyd, only a freshman, had 11. Anderson scored 32 points for Westbrook.

The box score the Boys A game:

SANDS — Danny Coldiron 21-5, Randy Cheatham 11-3-25, Frosty Floyd 7-1-15, Ricky Hughes 5-2-12, Kenneth Scheelke 3-8-7, Joe Paul Beall 1-4-6, totals 29-12-70; WESTBROOK — Anderson 15-2-32, Rich 4-4-12, Oden 4-0-8, Sweat 0-4-4, Denson 3-0-6, Alaniz 3-0-6, totals 29-10-68. Hufnagel Leads Penn State To 45-26 Victory

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Bowl-bound Penn State, the nation's sixth-ranked football power, survived a third-period scare and pulled out of danger behind quarterback John Hufnagel Saturday for a 45-26 victory over fired-up Boston College.

Hufnagel scored two touchdowns and passed for two others as the Nittany Lions posted their ninth consecutive victory since an opening loss to Tennessee.

Penn State was expected to announce acceptance of an invitation to meet Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Eve.

B.C., which has a 3-6 record, closed to within 21-19 early in the second half and, after Alberto Vittello booted a 48-yard field goal for Penn State, the home team threatened to take the lead.

Duke 14-0 Saturday. A crowd of 47,000 and a regional television audience saw the Tar Heels score their 15th straight Atlantic Coast Conference victory and run their season record to 8-1.

Six pass interceptions and a fumble proved costly to Duke, which ended its season with a 5-6 record.

North Carolina, frustrated for more than three quarters by a tough Duke defense, finally capitalized on a break in the fourth quarter. Mike DiCarlo intercepted Mark Johnson's pass and returned it 19 yards to the Duke 23. Three plays later Vidnovic hit Taylor on a 17-yard scoring pass.

Later in the quarter, Phil Lamm intercepted another Johnson pass and returned it 26 yards to Duke's 20. Vidnovic fired another scoring pass to Taylor, this one for 16 yards.

Duke moved to the North Carolina 31, 27, 24 and 22-yard lines in the first half and to the 34 and 32 in the second half.

Rodgers Rattles K-State, 59-7

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska's Johnny Rodgers rattled Kansas State with a 52-yard punt return for a first-quarter touchdown Saturday, setting off a scoring parade that carried the fifth-ranked Cornhuskers to a 59-7 Big Eight Conference football triumph.

It was the 100th victory for Coach Bob Devaney in eleven Nebraska seasons, put the Huskers at 8-1 for the season, 50-1 in the conference and set the stage for a showdown with Oklahoma on Thanksgiving Day.

Rodgers scored another touchdown on a eight-yard run before the game was turned over to reserves in the second quarter.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and consequently misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service life in normal family use. If a tire's tread wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

Parents Without Partners

By JO BRIGHT

In less than three months, Big Spring Chapter 619, Parents Without Partners, Inc., has grown to include 25 dues-paying members, and there are approximately 50 other eligible persons who receive the PWP newsletter.

To be eligible for membership, a person must be a parent and single by reason of death, divorce, separation or unmarried status. Custody of children is irrelevant.

Parents Without Partners strives to help single parents by providing educational programs designed to help solve problems characteristic of single parents. It also provides recreational and social activities for both adults and children, creating a comfortable environment for recreation free of that "fifth wheel" feeling.

According to its sponsors, Parents Without Partners can help the single parent find sympathetic and understanding people with whom experiences, hopes and problems can be shared. In this way, one can gain a new perspective on discovering that he is not alone; that others have conquered the same problems in rearing children alone.

Founders of Parents Without Partners note that modern society is based on the traditional two-parent home and is not equipped for, nor does it understand, the special problems faced by the millions who must bring up their children alone. The organization stresses that children need not be "victims" of the one-parent situation.

Officers of the local chapter are Mike Craddock, president; Mrs. Margaret Brooks, secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Cross, treasurer; Mrs. Dorothy Herbert, publicity chairman; and Mrs. Patricia Smith, newsletter editor.

THE LADIES LEARN — Whether it is dominoes or card games, the women members of Parents Without Partners give the men some stiff competition on game nights. Pic-

POT LUCK SUPPER — Many family events are sponsored by Parents Without Partners in order that youngsters may become acquainted with others from one-parent homes. Here, planning

PEANUTS AND POTATO CHIPS — Tidbits for munching help relax the atmosphere for discussions of common problems when Parents Without Partners meet to hear guest speakers. Preparing for such an informal session are, from left, Mrs. Estaleene Rice, Mrs. Barbara Phares and Mrs. Wanda Nickle.

'WOMEN WILL HAVE TO STAND TOGETHER'

Will Women Pay The Price For Success In Politics?

"It was not until the second decade of this century that the campaign for women's right to vote became a notable, ambitious and determined campaign," said Mrs. R. W. Whipkey, Thursday to the 1948 Hyperion Club.

"It is said that in that decade the gale threw away their corsets; perhaps, as some are burning their bras today," continued Mrs. Whipkey. "They marched, demonstrated, cajoled and threatened until they finally won the vote."

In conjunction with the club's study theme, "The New Woman," Mrs. Whipkey centered her talk on "Women in Law and Politics." The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Harvey Williamson, 103 Canyon.

"In 1920, the first presidential election after women's suffrage, less than a fourth of eligible women voters went to the polls," said Mrs. Whipkey. "Throughout the years we have not taken full advantage of our power at the polls, uniformly voting in less proportion than men. We constitute 53 per cent of the nation's population, but have never exercised that majority."

LAWYERS INCREASE

Mrs. Whipkey said the vote is the means women should use to achieve ends of public and political influence they desire. She said the field of law is perhaps one starting place for women to advance in politics, since the two professions are closely associated. She said the great majority of our congressmen, legislators and other public officials have legal training.

"The United States has about 9,000 women lawyers," said Mrs. Whipkey, "representing only 2.3 per cent of the total. This percentage is up just one per cent since 1948, but an encouraging note is that in 1971 the 8,680 women studying law made up more than nine per cent of the total number of law students."

Mrs. Whipkey explained that in 1971 less than 12 per cent of the women lawyers made more than $20,000 yearly, but that more than 50 per cent of the men lawyers made that income. The law field is not the only place for women to establish more representation, according to Mrs. Whipkey, who briefly outlined some familiar names of women in politics. Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross of Wyoming became the nation's first woman governor in 1925, followed closely by "Ma" Ferguson of Texas in 1925-1927 and again in 1933-1935. The first woman senator was Mrs. Hattie Caraway, Arkansas; and Jeanette Rankin, Montana, was the first woman elected to the House of Representatives.

Mrs. Whipkey said 79 women have served in Congress: 70 in the House and 9 in the Senate. Margaret Chase Smith, Maine, is the only woman who has served in both.

SCENE CHANGES

"The election Nov. 7 undoubtedly changed things," said Mrs. Whipkey. "For the first time in 24 years, there will be no women in the United States Senate. Elaine Edwards did not run for re-election, and Margaret Chase Smith was defeated. However, a few more women were elected to the House.

THE SPEAKER

"I believe that with time we shall see more women in the Washington legislative scene, but will we ever have a woman president? The attitude of the people, both men and women, has not accepted this outstanding step yet. The women's vote has never been an organized bloc. Women will have to stand together if they ever have a female president or vice president. Some analysts say this is not impossible by the end of this century."

The speaker said the National Women's Political Caucus recently showed what organized strength women carry by boosting the women's delegate strength at this year's national party conventions. The caucus is working hard for final adoption of the Federal Equal Rights Amendment approved by Congress in March. Twenty states, including Texas, have already ratified it.

"We talk of women's entrance into state and national politics, but I wonder if the whole process shouldn't begin at home," said Mrs. Whipkey. "It has to start out with our own precinct conventions. Big Spring has never had a woman on its city commission, and I can only recall two who were ever candidates. There has only been one woman on the county commissioners court, and only two women who ever served on our local school board.

PAY THE PRICE

"There is a place for women in the home and on the outside. Women of leadership, conviction and good conscience know they are needed both inside and outside the home. Success in the home, in law or in politics calls for paying the price. The price is desire and hard work, and where women go in politics in the years ahead will be determined by whether or not they want to pay the price."

Mrs. Sidney Curtis was a guest for the meeting. Members made contributions to the Howard County Library and to "A Way Out, Inc."

Wedding Ceremony Held Friday Evening

Miss Debra Jo McDaniel and Bill Junior Loftis were united in marriage during a candlelight ceremony at 7 o'clock Friday evening in Trinity Baptist Church.

The Rev. Claude N. Craven, pastor, performed the rites as the couple stood before an archway of greenery flanked by pedestals holding baskets of white gladioli. Tall candelabra completed the setting.

Miss Lila Williams, organist, provided a background of traditional wedding music. The bride is the daughter of R. C. McDaniel, 1612 State, and the late Mrs. Jonell McDaniel. Loftis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Loftis, 1707 Ayford.

BRIDE'S GOWN

The bride's formal-length gown was fashioned in white satin overlaid with lace. The bodice was highlighted with a V-shaped lace ruffle which extended to the fitted natural waistline. The gown featured three-quarter-length sleeves and a short lace-covered train. Her finger-tip-length illusion veil fell from a cluster of white satin bows, and she carried a bouquet of white pompon mums accented with purple ribbons.

Miss Debbie Coryell served as maid of honor, and Miss Vicki Coryell was bridesmaid. Both attendants wore floor-length gowns of purple velvet with princess lines, long sleeves and scooped necklines. They carried long-stemmed lavender carnations.

Tim Drinkard was best man, and Don McEvers served as groomsmen. Ushers were Mike McDaniel, brother of the bride, and Dean Loftis, brother of the bridegroom.

Gina Loftis, the bridegroom's sister, was flower girl, and Mrs. Tim Drinkard served as ring bearer. Refreshments, and Mrs. Don Mr. and Mrs. Loftis will McEvers presided at the reside at 1011 E. 13th. They are registry table.

both graduates of Big Spring High School. Loftis previously served in the Army and is now a civil service employee at Webb Air Force Base.

RECEPTION

The couple was honored with a reception in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony. A purple cloth overlaid with lavender lace covered the serving table, which was centered with an arrangement of lavender and white carnations.

Mrs. Tim Drinkard served refreshments, and Mrs. Don Mr. and Mrs. Loftis will McEvers presided at the reside at 1011 E. 13th. They are registry table.

Decorations Planned At VA Hospital

American Legion Auxiliary members were among those attending a recent orientation program for volunteers at Veterans Administration Hospital. A review of the program was given at an auxiliary meeting Thursday at the Legion Hall. Speakers at the orientation urged women to give field service and to visit veterans in local nursing homes and surrounding cities.

Auxiliary members will decorate a tree at the hospital Dec. 4 and will sponsor a Christmas party there at 7 p.m., Dec. 22. Anderson Hicks, VA chaplain, said a dedication ceremony for new stained glass windows in the chapel will be held Dec. 13.

Mrs. Margaret Hicks was introduced as a new member. A program concerning civil defense is scheduled at 7 p.m., Dec. 7 at the Legion Hall, with a speaker from Webb Air Force Base.

Charcoal Grills Are Dangerous

With the onset of fall, more and more people will continue to enjoy camping and outdoor cooking.

Caution is necessary when using charcoal grills. In the event of rain, or cooler temperatures, people have taken charcoal grills inside their trailers, cabins, and their own kitchens. A large quantity of carbon monoxide is released by burning charcoal.

In an unventilated area the danger point is soon passed. Be sure to burn charcoal only in well ventilated areas — for your safety, for your family's safety.

YMCA Youth Groups Elect New Officers

Officers have been announced for youth groups at the YMCA. Heading the Senior Tri-Hi-Y is Teresa Stewart, president; Susan Smith, vice president; Donna McDaniel, secretary; and Brenda Thomas, treasurer. Miss Becky Jenkins is chaplain. Miss Suzzan Craig, secretary-treasurer.

The Junior leaders are Cindy Taylor, president; Mavis Ray, vice president; Leigh Jones, secretary; and Beth Picquet, treasurer. Sponsors are Mrs. Nancy Marshall and Miss Teresa Conner.

Officers for the sophomores are Leanne Brazel, president; Sue Garrett, vice president; Jane Emerson, secretary-treasurer. Miss Caren Chaney is sponsor.

Topping the slate for the freshmen are Paige Little, president; Kamel Bunch, vice president; and Suzzan Craig, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Marshall and Miss Conner also serve as sponsors for this group.

Hi-Y officers are Larry Crittenden, president; Carol Smoot, vice president; John Taylor, secretary; and Grady Harris, treasurer. The sponsor is Mike Scarbrough.

'Quotable Women'

"All my best wishes are with Sen. McGovern and Sargent Shriver," Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis as she voted in Manhattan.

"I'm voting for America: I'm voting for my father," Tricia Nixon Cox as she voted in Westhampton Beach, N.Y.

"I would really prefer to live on this side of the Atlantic," Ballerina Natalia Najanova, who defected from Russia two years ago and now says she'll stay in Europe rather than the United States.

"I am grateful to God, my family and my doctors for the successful outcome of this operation, because I have much more to accomplish before I am through," Shirley Temple Black after undergoing surgery for removal of a cancerous breast.

"All I heard was a lot of crashing, a lot of screaming. It's just a miracle we're both alive," Mary Donal after she and her husband were rescued from the Brunswick River after the collapse of the Sidney Lanier Bridge near Brunswick, Ga.

Full Calendar For HD Clubs

Appetizers, and the increasing popularity of party-type foods continued as the main topic of Howard County home demonstration clubs throughout the week. Most clubs made plans for holiday festivities.

LOMAX CLUB

Lomax HD Club sponsored the annual Thanksgiving dinner Thursday for residents and former residents of the community, with more than 50 people attending. It was held in the community building. Invocation was by the Rev. Floyd Dunn.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Sue Ratliff and Russell Tidwell, representatives of Texas Electric Service Company, showed slides demonstrating ideas for handmade Christmas decorations.

"Party Perfect Appetizers" were discussed by Mrs. Bob Adkins and Mrs. Lawrence Adkins. They pointed out that the primary types of appetizers are canapés, skewered tidbits and piquant morsels.

Mrs. Jack McIlvain was hostess, and Mrs. Claude Dutton was introduced as a new member. Members will have a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Waymon Etchison; time and date to be announced.

COAHOMA CLUB

"Shape, texture, color and temperature of hors d'oeuvres should all be considered when planning a party," said Mrs. Lowell Brown Wednesday morning to Coahoma HD Club. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. D. S. Phillips outlined the uses and types of appetizers, and agreed they are now used for many occasions other than to stimulate the appetite as they were originally intended.

Mrs. Phillips said the idea of appetizers was brought to America from other countries, and that most appetizers can be identified with another country. She said women should use their imaginations when preparing hors d'oeuvres for their guests.

Mrs. A. C. Hale presided, and devotion was by Mrs. Brown. Members will sponsor a party for Brownie Troop No. 233, Nov. 21 at Coahoma Elementary School. Plans were also made to collect items for use in classes at Westside Community Center.

Following the business meeting at the home of Mrs. Brown, the women went to Furr's cafeteria for a Thanksgiving luncheon. The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., Dec. 15 in the home of George Callihan.

CENTER POINT CLUB

Several types of party appetizers were prepared and served Tuesday by members of

Center Point HD Club at the home of Mrs. Tommy McCullough. Mrs. Ella Gill was cohostess.

Samples served included crab salad, "emerald dreams," salami rolls, vienna sausage, medley meats, spicy Russian sauce and hot fudge sundae cake squares. The origin of appetizers was discussed, and it was stressed that types of appetizers are limited only by one's imagination in preparation.

Mrs. Bob Wren presided. Arts and crafts workshop, featuring four guest speakers, will be held at 10 a.m., Dec. 27 at the county fair barns. Lunch will be served. Everyone attending is asked to bring an item for a white elephant sale. The items should be wrapped and priced at 25 cents, 50 cents or $1.

Mrs. N. R. Garrett, who attended a recent workshop on estate planning, said it is important to have a will to avoid expense and confusion for heirs in the event of death.

A party for all county HD club members is scheduled at 2 p.m., Dec. 8 at the fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church. Women are to bring a gift not exceeding $1.50 in cost. An offering will be taken for patients at Big Spring State Hospital who have no means of income. The party is in lieu of the HD council meeting. The Center Point Club is responsible for decorating the Christmas tree.

Members will entertain about 100 patients at the state hospital with a Christmas party at 10 a.m., Dec. 4. It was also announced a party for the county's senior citizens is planned Dec. 20.

Mrs. Garrett won the attendance prize. The group will meet for a Christmas dinner party at 11:30 a.m., Dec. 12 at Furr's cafeteria.

Pornography Is Defined In Court

A French court in Paris has decided on the difference between eroticism and pornography: "The mark of the erotic work is the glorification of the amorous gesture. Pornography deprives the rights of love-making of all sentimental contexts by describing only the act."

Gold Star Unit Holds Installation

Mrs. T. D. Peacock assumed duties Thursday as president of the local chapter, American Gold Star Mothers, Inc., following installation services conducted by Mrs. F. H. Talbot.

Other officers are Mrs. A. W. Moody, first vice president; Mrs. Truett Thomas, second vice president; Mrs. J. R. Hale, secretary; Mrs. Huey Rogers, treasurer; Mrs. Mildred Lusk, chaplain; Mrs. Domingo Abreo, Americanism chairman; Mrs. Herbert Smith, historian; and Mrs. S. R. Nobles, hospital representative.

It was announced that three members completed orientation at Veterans Administration Hospital and were assigned volunteer work. They were Mrs. Hale, Mrs. M. J. O'Brien and Mrs. Rogers. Mrs. Peacock said patients at the hospital need bibs and lap robes.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nobles. The group will meet at 9:30 a.m., Dec. 1 in the VA Hospital, and will decorate a Christmas tree at that time for patients in the recreation room.

Coordinator Praises Volunteers

Slides depicting volunteer services provided by volunteers at Big Spring State Hospital were shown Friday by Mrs. Larson Lloyd to members of the Woman's Forum. Mrs. Knox Chadd, 606 Dallas, was hostess.

Mrs. Lloyd, volunteer coordinator at the hospital, emphasized that volunteer services play an important role in hospital operation throughout the year, and that anyone can help, regardless of how much or how little time and money they have to offer.

Mrs. W. N. Norred was cohostess, and members expressed appreciation to her for purchasing gifts for patients at the state hospital. She announced the club will host a party at the hospital Dec. 14, working with members of the Non-Commissioned Officers Wives Club from Webb AFB.

A club Christmas party and salad luncheon will be held at 1 p.m., Dec. 15 in the home of Mrs. J. Y. Smith. Each member is to bring a gift.

Open House Marks Silver Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shaffer were surprised Saturday with an open house at their home in observance of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Hosting the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pender, Odessa, the couple's son-in-law and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Gray Shaffer, the couple's son and daughter-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller, Carlsbad, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Teeter, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Yeats, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Medlin.

The honorees were married Nov. 16, 1947, in the Trinity Baptist Church parsonage, with the Rev. Marvin H. Clark, officiating. They have lived in Big Spring since that time. He is self employed, and Mrs. Shaffer works in the finance department of the city. Shaffer served in the Philippine Islands during World War II. The couple attends Trinity Baptist Church, and Mrs. Shaffer teaches a junior department Sunday school class.

Mrs. Shaffer is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hull, and Shaffer is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Shaffer. Attired in a blue knit dress, Mrs. Shaffer was presented a corsage of blue and white carnations, and her husband received a white carnation boutonniere.

The serving table was covered with a blue linen cloth and overlaid with white lace. A crystal epergne holding blue and white carnations and leather leaf fern centered the table, flanked by silver candelabra with blue candles. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Mrs. Pender and Mrs. Gary Shaffer served.

Miss Norma Galvan Weds Diego Olague

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Norma Galvan and Diego Olague Jr. at 10 a.m., Saturday in St. Thomas Catholic Church. The Rev. Leo St. John performed the rites.

The couple stood at an archway entwined with green ivy and decorated with blue and white chrysanthemums. A prelude of background music was provided by Johnny Arguello, organist.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Nieves P. Galvan, 1504 Robin. Olague is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Diego Olague Sr., 909, N. Rannels.

The bride wore a formal-length gown of floral lace accented with embroidered sequins and seed pearls. The gown, fashioned with princess lines, featured long sleeves and a high round neckline encircled with sequins and pearls. Her floor-length tiered illusion veil was edged with lace and held with a hand of Spanish azures. Her bouquet was also formed of azures and tied of streamers.

Miss Sandra Sanchez served as maid of honor and Emilio Molina was best man.

Other attendants were Mrs. Emilio Molina, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrosio Sanchez, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Claveran, Mr. and Mrs. Mingo Rubio, Mr. and Mrs. Santos Tjerina, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Preseno, Mr. and Mrs. Chale Rodriguez, Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Olague, Miss Belen

Rubio, Miss Margie Rubio, Miss Teresa Rocha, Miss Lorie Martinez, Miss Priscilla Valdez and Miss Ramona Gonzales, Lupe Lara, Pete Correa, Ismael Rubio, David Gamboa, Orlando Olague and Marcos Rocha.

The bridal attendants were attired in blue floor-length gowns fashioned with V-necklines and long sleeves. The necklines and cuffs were edged with silver trim. The women wore small hats with blue bows.

Angela McCune of LaMarque served as flower girl, and train bearers were Jimmy Olague and Alicia Landin. Serving as cushion maids were Delia Galvan, Galveston, sister of the bride, and Mary Jane Arista.

Ushers were Jose Lopez, Horacio Yanez, Francisco Rubio and Ramon Lopez. Ring bearer was Fabian Salazar.

SCHOOLS

Mr. and Mrs. Olague both graduated from Big Spring High School, and Mrs. Olague attended Draughts Business College. She is presently employed at Gay Hill Elementary School. Olague is employed at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

A reception honored the couple in the Sacred Heart Youth Center, where the refreshment table and baskets of white gladioli accented each end of the table. Serving were Mrs.

Ramon Lopez and Mrs. Luis Ramirez.

GUESTS

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William C. McCune, Mrs. Ginger Culbreth, Mrs. Margaret McCune, Ray Galvan and Lupe Gonzales, all of LaMarque; Mr. and Mrs. Fernando Mendoza and Mrs. Janie Galvan, all of Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Valdez, Mr. and Mrs. Marcos Lopez, all of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Olague and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Trevino, all of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Rubio, Marfa; and Mr. and Mrs. Nestor Licon, Lubbock.

Winners in the east-west position were Mrs. Paul Shaffer and Mrs. Jim Bill Little, first; Mrs. LaFond and Mrs. Harold Davis, second; and Mrs. Monroe Gafford and Mrs. Birt Allison, third.

Trimming List

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last year you had the perfect solution for people who wanted to cut their Christmas gift list. It was a diplomatic way to advise certain friends and relatives that you weren't sending them anything. It made such good sense to me I cut it out, intending to follow your suggestion, and now I can't find it. Will you please print it again? Thank you.

DEAR ABBY: Many others asked for a repeat of that letter, and here it is:

DEAR ABBY: This is a tough one. How do you suddenly take someone off your Christmas gift list? And let them know in advance, so they will take you off theirs?

We have many friends and relatives with whom we have been exchanging Christmas gifts for years. It started when our children were young. We used to give inexpensive toys, elaborately wrapped, so they would have something under their tree, and the kids would have the excitement of unwrapping them on Christmas morning.

The kids aren't kids any more. We almost never see most of them. Many have moved out of town. Christmas shopping is not only a big bore, it has become costly. I am sure these people feel the same way about it, but we don't know how to break this vicious circle. So we keep buying the same people Christmas presents every year because we know they'll buy us something.

If you have a solution for this universal problem, Abby, you're a genius. SICK OF CHRISTMAS? DEAR ABBY: I'm no genius, but here's a suggestion: Around Thanksgiving, send them a note saying you are thankful for friends with whom you can be perfectly candid. Then tell them you are trimming your Christmas gift list, and do not plan to send their children (or them, if that's the case) a gift. So to please do likewise. I would help the circulation promise you, it will be the best in your scalp.)

Christmas gift you could give them.

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I married a wonderful man who adopted Ross, my illegitimate son. He loves and accepts this boy as our son, and treats him exactly like the son we later had together the following year.

The problem is my husband's mother. She takes all of her grandchildren on trips, except Ross. She buys presents for her other grandchildren's birthdays and at Christmas and Easter, but she simply ignores this child's existence. Ross is 4 now and he is beginning to wonder why she is so cold to him.

When she was here last, my husband asked her why she behaved this way, and she simply got up and walked out of the room.

Her own children are less than saints themselves. Two were forced to marry, and her daughter had an illegitimate child, too, so why should she resent me and my son?

Should I talk to her or have my husband talk to her? Or should I write her off completely, and tell her she is not welcome in my home? HURT IN ANDERSON

DEAR ABBY: Are you sure the woman is well? It's difficult to believe a rational woman can be so incredibly cruel. If she's just plain mean, you and your husband should tell her together that unless she treats Ross the same as the others, she is not welcome in your home.

Double Duty Cuts Beauty Ritual

Cutting down on the time for your beauty ritual requires some extra planning. If you must sit under a hair dryer, then give yourself a manicure while you're waiting. If you blow-dry your hair, it's the perfect time for doing those waist bends or toe-touches. (Besides trimming the waistline, brushing your hair while you bend forward will help the circulation in your scalp.)

'THE MANIPULATED MAN'

Are American Males Exploited, Oppressed?

LONDON (AP) — The American male is the most oppressed man in the western world, says the author of a book that also argues men are really slaves and women their exploiters.

Esther Vilar, author of "The Manipulated Man," also thinks that women are stupid and getting more so every day; that men are brilliant but locked into stultifying jobs; that housework is a pleasure and men are deprived of it and that all of this stems from mothers who condition their children into manipulative and slave roles.

The book was originally published in Germany where it made the best seller list before it was launched in seven other European countries.

Now Miss Vilar has added a special chapter devoted to the American male and is preparing for a lecture and publicity tour in the United States.

She actually wrote the book in New York almost two years ago during a five-month visit in which she lived in an East Village Hotel and made research trips to suburbia.

"The book is, she said, an illustration of a theory she calls 'the pleasure of nonfreedom.'"

Basically her theory is that the male is brilliant and capable of doing great things with his freedom but his intelligent thoughts frighten him. He seeks the security of the enslaved and married.

Conditioned by his mother from childhood to believe that he is smart and responsible and that girls are incapable and helpless, he easily assumes his responsibilities. He is therefore bound for life in stultifying jobs. For the American male this is all compounded by the high standard of living and the emphasis on success.

"In no other country do mothers so pitilessly train the male infant to perform. No other society exists where the male sexual drive is exploited for money so unscrupulously," she wrote.

OPPOSED TO WOMEN'S LIB — Esther Vilar, author of the European best seller, "The Manipulated Man," claims that men are trained and exploited by women. Shown here recently in London, Miss Vilar believes the American male is the most oppressed man in the western world.

Girls, though born intelligent, Miss Vilar says are taught they don't have to think because men are going to work for them. Their goal is to find a man to do this. Some women may work or go to college but only to make themselves attractive to men. They may even proclaim that housework is drudgery and that the male is fulfilled because he works outside the home but in fact, they know housework is easy and they really think it is a pleasure. "Housework is so easy that in psychiatric clinics it is traditionally the job of morons who are unfit to do any other kind of work," wrote Miss Vilar.

As for feminists, these are women who from time to time, throughout history, emphasize their claims to masculine prerogatives. American contemporary feminists are doomed to failure because they have directed their efforts against men, their real allies.

The only women who escape Miss Vilar's pen unscathed are those who go to work and let their husbands stay home. Those, she notes, are rare.

A meek, almost mouse-like woman with long brown hair parted in the middle, Miss Vilar, 37, was born in Argentina of German parents who were divorced when she was three.

After graduating from medical school she practiced for one year, then studied psychology and sociology and became a sales representative for a pharmaceutical company so she could support her writing career.

At various times she has worked as a sales girl, a secretary and on the assembly

Bride-Elect Honored At Gift Shower

Miss Rebecca Ann Jenkins, future bride of Colbert (Hank) Pope, was presented a corsage of yellow and brown daisies when she was honored at a pre-nuptial gift shower Thursday. The party was held in the home of Mrs. Tommy Stewart, 2702 Apache, and calling hours were from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Joining the honoree in greeting guests were her mother, Mrs. Pete Jenkins, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. J. D. Pope, both of whom received similar corsages.

Cohostesses were Mrs. T. A. Procter, Mrs. Wayne Morris, Mrs. Billy Badgett, Mrs. Ray Stewart, Mrs. Charles Gressett, Mrs. Danny Wright, Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. Ira Hester and Mrs. Gary Huckabay.

An arrangement of mixed fall flowers centered a refreshment table laid with a gold linen cloth bordered in lace. Cake and punch were served, and table appointments were of copper.

Miss Jenkins and Pope will be married Nov. 24 in the First United Methodist Church.

ENGAGED — Mrs. Mary Cobb, 3906 Hamilton, and Tex Cobb, Rt. 1, Stockdale, announce the engagement of their daughter, Vicki Diane, to Emery Leeroy Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bennett Jr., Box 321, Coahoma. The couple plans to be married Feb. 23, 1973.

Special Ed Students View Cotton Plants

"Cotton grown in Howard County is very important to our economy," Mrs. Charles Harwell told a group of special education students Thursday at Moss Elementary School.

Mrs. Harwell discussed cotton as part of a garden therapy project sponsored by Oasis Garden Club for special education students. She was assisted by Mrs. C. O. Hitt, Mrs. Alton Marwitz and Mrs. J. D. Leonard.

Stalks of cotton were displayed, and the women showed how bolls are picked and how cotton is separated from the hulls. The children were allowed to separate the fibers and twist them into crude strings as Mrs. Harwell told them about spinning machines used in cotton mills.

Some cotton threads were pulled from a loosely-woven fabric, and Mrs. Harwell asked the children to compare them with strings they had made. She said cotton burs could be used in making various Christmas decorations such as wreaths, trees and ornaments.

SALE IN MALL TO BE NOV. 25

Christmas decorations, gift items and baked goods will be sold at the Rosebud Garden Club's "Christmas Preview" Nov. 25 in Highland Center Mall. ENGINE TALK — Mary Ann Clote, 44, a used car salesman in Dallas, describes power plant of a late model auto to a prospect. "My four kids have to eat same as anybody," she tells customers who can't believe their eyes when they see the former stewardess and model competing with 20 men in the salesroom.

Truth Out: Miniskirt Helps Her Sell Cars

DALLAS (AP) — It takes a lot of smooth talking to be a car salesman. It also helps to have nice-looking legs.

Just ask Mary Ann Clote, 44, mother of four, former stewardess, model, magazine editor, secretary, actress and now car saleswoman.

"My kids have to eat same as anybody's," she tells the curious customers who can't believe the lady with the big green eyes is hustling cars.

"I owned a personal development school until the recession wiped it out. I saw an article about Peggy Ann Garner, the child star, selling cars in Hollywood. I thought I could do that easy — I mean I've tried out everything else."

Mrs. Clote not only talked her way into a job opening, but made salesman of the week before the 20 men in the sales department could say "male chauvinist pig."

"The other salesmen were great teaching me car-talk like 'positraction' and 'gross horsepower,'" she said. "I help push cars out of the showroom just like the men. But because I'm a 'lady' they still hold the garage door open for me."

FACTS OF LIFE — "My sisters in the women's movement will hate to hear it, but I sell twice as many cars when I wear a miniskirt instead of a pantsuit," admits Mrs. Mary Ann Clote, mother of four.

Being a female on the sales floor has mixed advantages: "The women all look relieved and whisper to me they're glad I'm a woman because they trust me more. But then the women are usually harder to sell."

Mrs. Clote is working on a novel about a "victim of sexism" and is active in the women's equal rights work. She admits with a wry smile that being a handsome woman does pay off in her job. "I just hate to say it, and I know my sisters in the women's movement would hate to hear it, but without fail, I sell twice as many cars when I wear a miniskirt as when I wear a pantsuit. The salesmen are usually harder to sell."

Pilgrims Saw Selves As Privileged Saints

"Man and His Sense of Humor," this year's study theme for 1965 Hyperion Club, was viewed in a new light by Mrs. Ben F. Johnson Jr. and Mrs. Jordan Grooms Thursday when they presented a program in the home of Mrs. Garner McAdams, 1313 Dixie.

Their presentation was "A New Look at the Pilgrims," in which they revealed that because of religious beliefs and hardships endured in pioneering a new country, pilgrims found very few occasions for laughter.

These Englishmen who came on the Mayflower to Plymouth in 1620 seeking religious freedom, sometimes called themselves "saints"; the generations that followed spoke of them as "forefathers." It wasn't until 1793 that the name, "Pilgrim," was applied to them on the celebration of "Forefathers' Day" at Plymouth.

LITTLE LAUGHTER

According to the speakers, "nineteenth century portraits show them as dull, sentimental, drab, uncomplaining, eyes fixed on ground at feet or turned tearfully toward the Pearly Gates, but that is a caricature at which the Pilgrims themselves would have been first to laugh, and they were not given much to laughter, least of all at their own expense."

William Bradford was described as the greatest Pilgrim of them all; his writings revealed his sense of history and, now and then, a grim sense of humor and a flash of malicious wit. Diaries, letters, histories and journals allowed the Pilgrims to paint their portraits and speak their own minds, revealing very human characteristics as they struggled to pioneer new frontiers in both the physical and spiritual world. They had high adventure and inflexible resolve; they were humble folk, with passions, ambitions, frustrations, who surmounted incredible barriers.

LIKED THE BOTTLE

They appreciated pleasures of the table and bottle; married early and often. Only on the Sabbath did they go in funeral black, usually wearing greens and browns.

To justify their taking land from Indians, they voted in 1640 that:

1. The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof.
2. The earth is given to the saints.
3. We are the saints.

The speakers said because of their celebration of Thanksgiving for their first harvest, pilgrims and Thanksgiving are inseparably linked in the minds of Americans. On that first such occasion, the Pilgrims feasted on venison, duck, goose, clams, eels, cornbread, watercress, wild plums and wine, but not turkey.

The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Miller Harris, program chairman, and Mrs. Rogers Heffley, president, conducted the brief business session. Mrs. Hayes Stripling reported on the recent meeting of Western District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, which she attended in El Paso.

A report was read from the district conservation chairman, concerning control of webworms, which are killing many trees in Texas.

The Dec. 14 meeting will feature Mrs. Clyde Angel on a program entitled "The Christmas Mouse."

Credits Men With Helping Get Equal Rights Amendment

DALLAS (AP) — In 1957, as now, the Texas Legislature was a club of males with a dash of females, whose cumulative effect on women's issues was more of a light spice than a robust ingredient.

"I was met with derision at the very idea that women should control their own property," says Hermine Tobolowsky, who is satisfied Texas now has an equal rights amendment.

Now included in the Bill of Rights of the Texas Constitution, as a result of Tuesday's voting, is the command: "Equality under the law shall not be denied or abridged because of sex, race, color, creed or national origin."

Mrs. Tobolowsky, a Dallas attorney for three decades, began pushing a women's rights amendment in 1959, two years after she says she went to the legislature to back "two innocuous bills."

Those proposals, one of which would have given women right to property they obtained before marriage, was thwarted. "I decided right there that if men and women were to have full legal equality, that it would take a constitutional amendment."

She recalls the amendment's childhood, fraught with rejection after its birth in 1959 when the late Sen. George Parkhouse and Rep. Ben Atwell, still a legislator, introduced it.

"At the time it was startling idea," she says of the legislation — backed originally only by the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women. She is legislative chairman of the federation.

Besides Parkhouse and Atwell, Mrs. Tobolowsky credits others with legislative help, including Rep. Bill Heatley, Sen. William Moore of Bryan and most recently, Rep. Rex Braun of Houston and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes — all men.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here's a little hint for those who have to prepare large amounts of turkey dressing for the holidays.

After all these years of trying to prepare the turkey stuffing, I found that the amount of mess created in the kitchen was not always worth the trouble.

When I found a pot or bowl large enough to hold all the ingredients, I didn't have enough room in the bowl to stir or mix them without spilling bread crumbs, diced celery, chopped onions, and any other ingredient that has to be diced, sliced, or chopped.

The last time I fixed a turkey, I decided I'd resolve my problem. After puzzling over it, I remembered the method my mother taught me for preparing chicken for frying. (Place the ingredients in a bag, mix well by tossing and then put the chicken pieces in and tumble or toss — this coated the chicken uniformly.)

With this in mind, I used a large plastic bag (the type used for lining small kitchen garbage pails) to mix the various items in. First the chopped and diced vegetables, then the chopped gizzards and water chestnuts, then the bread crumbs, croutons, cornbread or other stuffing — mixing and tossing vigorously as each item was added.

The last thing added was the liquid. I normally use the water in which the giblets are boiled. Since the bag is waterproof (or should I say leakproof?) I had no problems getting the proper consistency of liquid throughout the mixture.

After my first attempt I was so amazed — no vegetables or other matter to clean off the work counter and, needless to say, none on the floor either.

I think this is a good idea, at least it has proved to be a labor-saving method for me.

Sit Back, Relax With Typewriter

Fed up with typing? Then try the new French "Type-chair." It's a reclining chair in which the typewriter, attached to an adjustable tray, moves as you recline, even if you're all but lying down. And there are earphones for music while you work.

Pastels, Darks

Pale colors work well with babylike fashions. But the trend now is to interplay pastels with darker colors or with different patterns and fabrics.

Here's How To Make Consumer Complaints

By SHERRY MULLIN
(County Extension Agent)
NOTE: This is the final article in a series of articles on how to make consumer complaints.

If a textile product has failed you, ask yourself the following questions:

Is it my fault or the product manufacturer's? Did I follow care instructions? Did I use the product for its intended purpose? Did I use common sense in using the caring for the item? Did I have reasonable expectations of the product's performance?

If the answer "yes" to these questions, you may have a legitimate complaint. It is your responsibility to let your dissatisfaction be known. But keep cool, and curb your emotions. The following plan is suggested.

Begin by returning the product to the retailer. Make sure the article is in clean condition. Let him know that you expect an exchange, repair or money return.

If talking gets no results, write to the product manufacturer. Explain the complaint. Tell what you have already done in complaining locally, and give the name and address of the local retailer. Make a request for help, and be sure to address the letter to the Customer Service or Consumer Relations Department of the company. Keep a copy of the letter. If you do not receive a response within a month, let the product manufacturer know you are taking the next step — writing to a consumer protection agency.

For consumer complaints of any kind, write to: Special Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs, The White House, Washington, D.C., 20500.

For fraud and poor practices in trade and advertising, write to the Better Business Bureau in your town. (If there is not such a bureau in your town, write to one of the nearest towns. Your local Chamber of Commerce may be of help in locating one in a nearby town.)

For complaints about textile products and wearing apparel, write to: American Textile Manufacturers Institute, 1501 Johnson Building, Charlotte, N.C., 28202, or the American Apparel Manufacturers Association, 2000 K St. N.W., Washington, D.C., 20006.

Remember! Your satisfactions are voiced by loyalty to brand names and retail stores. Write an occasional letter when pleased with a product.

A LOVELIER YOU Apply Cosmetics For Evening Glow Effect

By MARY SUE MILLER

In your own home you can and should arrange the lighting to flatter your face and the faces of your guests. But you are at the mercy of the glaring night light encountered outside your home. How often it does detract from your looks. Happily a deft makeup prevents the misfortune. To avoid color drain-and-change on your skin, make certain that your evening cosmetics have a high degree of luminosity and clarity. No masky, murky effects wanted.

Moisturized foundations that lend sheer coverage and a warm glow form an ideal base. If more color or highlight is needed try a pink or scarlet "contourglaze" on the cheekbones; wing it up and out to the temples. A dusting of finely milled and slightly pink powder adds a gauzy finish with staying power.

Lipstick holds its own when you wear a clear shade, velvety in texture and deeply lustrous. A luscious red or luscious coral, never a blue-red or rose, remains true under both soft and bright lights. For sparkle that no sort of bulb can dim, use a soufflé creme-gel, a gleaming flower shade like marigold.

Above all, it is vital to have a proper light to work by. The minimum requirement is two lamps with 100 watt frosted

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

The frost has already been on the pumpkin and most all of the plans for Thanksgiving Day are set. All we have to do now is wait until Thursday. That's the day when many families will gather for the day and many will spend the long weekend with relatives.

The home that hosts the family is the happy one and many blessings will be acknowledged and more will be asked. Helen Taylor put it all together in her song, "Bless This House," which readers have asked to have repeated in this column:

"Bless this house, oh Lord we pray,
Make it safe by night and day.
Bless these walls, so firm and stout,
Keeping want and trouble out.
Bless the roof and chimneys tall,
Let Thy peace lie over all;
Bless this door that it may prove,
Ever open to joy and love.
Bless these windows shining bright,
Letting in God's heavenly light;
Bless the hearth ablazing there,
With smoke ascending like a prayer.
Bless the folks who dwell within;
Keep them pure and free from sin;
Bless us all that we may be,
Fit, oh Lord, to dwell with Thee."

DR. and MRS. PAUL KIONKA returned early last week from an extended stay in points in Arizona. They visited friends and relatives in Phoenix, Tucson, Green Valley and Sun City.

MR. and MRS. CLYDE JOHNSTON are in Houston to see some ball games and to visit relatives.

Former Webb AFB residents, COL. (RET.) and MRS. ROBERT DUNBAR, who now reside in Waco, have been guests of MR. and MRS. JOHN KNOX. The Dunbars came here with the opening of Webb and have kept in touch with many friends here during the ensuing years. Last week, they visited another former Big Spring, MRS. RILLA WEBB, who now makes her home in Levelland.

MR. and MRS. R. B. ABERNATHY are expecting many relatives to arrive during the week for Thanksgiving in their home. From San Angelo, MRS. LILLIAN HART and MR. and MRS. J. E. MONTGOMERY, and MRS. LORENE CLARK are coming from Rotan. Two of their grandsons, RICHARD and ROBBY PARKS, are here with them from their home in Albuquerque, N.M. Richard is a HCJC student.

Incidentally, Richard and Robby's parents are MR. and MRS. WALTER PARKS who lived here when Mr. Parks was county engineer. They went to Albuquerque from where he was transferred two months ago to Washington, D.C., where he is associated with the Department of Indian Affairs. His offices are in the building that was occupied by the Indians last week. The couple live in Reston, Va.

DR. and MRS. GLENN ALLEN will have to wait until Christmas for two of their children who are in Arkansas to come home for a visit. JO ANNE, the elder daughter, is a speech pathology major at Henderson College in Arkadelphia and was selected last week along with two other students to go to Little Rock and attend the Congress on Human Relations this week. She has pledged Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority.

Son John is still happily residing with his grandfather in Mt. Ida and going to school there.

DELORES MARIE CLANCY, student in North Texas State University in Denton, will be home with her parents, MR. and MRS. JOHN CLANCY JR. for the holidays.

The GEORGE BAIRS are expecting their son, J. MAX BAIR, home from Odessa where he is attending Odessa College. Their daughter, JUDY, will be here from Lindenwood at St. Charles, Mo. She is a physical education major and recently was selected as a member of the United States Volley Ball Association team. It is from this team that the Olympic team members are selected.

DR. and MRS. HAUVARD HANSEN will have their son and daughter-in-law, MR. and MRS. TERRY HANSEN, for the holidays. Terry is working toward a master's degree, and his wife is looking forward to a bachelor's degree.

The LARSON LLOYD family is to spend the holidays in Dallas with her mother.

MRS. BILL DROKE and her children, Amy and Russell, are visiting her parents, MR. and MRS. W. T. MCREE, from their home in Santa Fe, N.M. Dr. Droke accompanied them as far as Midland and continued on to New Orleans, La., where he is taking the national board of pathology exams.

Expected this week in the home of MRS. C. E. SHIVE are two of her daughters and sons-in-law, MR. and MRS. C. W. SHEHANE of Fort Worth and MR. and MRS. FRANK SEARCY of Ponca City, Okla. Also here from Dallas is DON SHIVE who is visiting his parents, MR. and MRS. BERT SHIVE.

FALLS FOR RE-ENLISTMENT — A tiny WAC, Spec. 4 Nina Garcia, upper figure, and Air Force Capt. Ronald Diggs, took a free-fall parachute jump from a helicopter 9,600 feet over San Marcos Thursday. During the jump, Miss Garcia, a 95-pound member of the Women's Army Corps, took a re-enlistment oath for an additional 4-year hitch in the WACS.

Tiny WAC Re-Enlists During Free Fall Jump

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — After clicking her heels in mid-air and then slightly missing her landing target, Spec. 4 Nina Garcia was safely back on earth and officially a WAC for four more years Thursday.

She chose to re-enlist during a free-fall sky dive which began from a helicopter 9,600 feet above a small airfield in this South Central Texas town.

The Army says she is the first woman to do so during a free-fall.

Miss Garcia, 20, of Hollywood, Fla., pulled in her red, white and blue parachute after the landing and said, "You know, I think I could be a good recruiting poster."

Air Force Capt. Ronald Diggs, a member of the same skydiving club as Nina, administered the re-enlistment oath while the two were sinking toward earth. The pair, accompanied by a witness, then pulled the cords to their chutes and floated to earth.

Nine, who has also tried scuba diving and motorcycling, gets a $4,000 re-enlistment bonus and a choice of one year's duty at any installation.

BRAND NEW F-111 FLAP

Will It Fly Or Won't It?

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service

The Air Force's controversial F-111 tactical fighter-bomber is on the rack again. Three of the supersonic, all-weather jets vanished on combat flights over Vietnam in the last several weeks.

BITTER FOR

Sen. William Proxmire D-Wis., a bitter foe of the F-111, has called on the Air Force to prove the losses were the result of enemy fire and not mechanical failures.

(The Communist North Vietnamese later answered the senator so far as the disappearance of an F-111 on Nov. 6. Its high command said the plane was shot down over enemy territory. It did not mention the fate of the crew.)

ONCE MORE

Proxmire said all F-111's in Vietnam should be grounded until their structural and operational soundness once more is evaluated and proved.

But that's about par for the F-111, already grounded Air Force-wide on six occasions yet still sporting the best air safety record of any fighter during the first 100,000 hours of flight.

Never has an American military aircraft had so much scorn and praise heaped on it.

in a decade of controversy. While some members of Congress derided the F-111 as a cumbersome weapon more dangerous to its pilots than to the enemy, the men who have flown the General Dynamics-built aircraft insist it is the greatest military airplane ever built for specific missions.

COMBAT WEAPONS

F-111 pilots fault congressmen for claiming the plane can't maneuver well enough to out-fight the Russian MIG's. They point out it was designed and built primarily as a fighter-bomber, not as an air-to-air combat weapon. The airmen note its designation later was changed to FB-111 (B for bomber) for one type to conform with its combination mission.

The Air Force's confidence in it is reflected in a decision to keep a constant shuttle of the $15 million-a-copy aircraft flying between Thailand bases and key North Vietnamese targets, despite Proxmire's outburst.

The F-111, ever since Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara proposed it as "the greatest single step forward in combat aircraft in several decades," has whipped up conflict in government — between the civilian and the military, the Air Force and the Navy, between Congress and the administration, no matter who was in the White House, and between bureaucrats and technocrats.

Perhaps this was because it was the first real attempt at equipment commonality between the Air Force and Navy, just as it was the first production aircraft to incorporate variable sweep wing and afterburning turbofan engines.

The Navy, it turned out, didn't want a carrier version of the Air Force's F-111 and the project was abandoned on grounds it was impossible to lighten the aircraft sufficiently to give it carrier landing and takeoff capabilities. Now the Navy is having its troubles, too, with the F-14 Tomcat, a new-generation carrier-based jet fighter.

Never Alone

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

BODYGUARD: (Q.) I have a problem with this kid that likes me. Every time he comes over he brings his friend along with him. I don't know whether he doesn't want to be by himself or if he's afraid of me (not likely). But I don't know what to do. — Never Alone in New York.

(A.) His bringing a friend could be partly for both the reasons you give. If you want him to leave his friend at home when he visits you, ask him to.

ROUGHHOUSE: (Q.) Just before school started I was at camp and one night we were having a pillow fight. I accidentally broke the glasses frames of another boy.

I apologized, and he said forget it. The next morning I taped them up so he could wear them till he got back to town. Then I did forget it.

Yesterday I got a letter from him saying he had to get new frames and they cost $12 and he wanted me to pay for them. Should I? I don't have $12. I am 15 and he is too. — Surprised in Pennsylvania.

(A.) If the boy was pillow-fighting with his glasses on and they were broken he should bear the cost. If he had no part in the rough-house and you threw a pillow and hit him you are at fault.

Do not ignore his letter. But do not try to handle it all by yourself. Talk to your parents about it. Ask them to help you decide what you should do. If they think you should pay, offer to do extra chores to earn the $12.

SHORTER: My hair is brown. It is naturally curly. It is down to my shoulders. My mom wants me to get it cut. I don't want to. My face is sort of oval. Would

I look good in a shag? — Long Hair in Louisiana. (A.) A girl with an oval face can wear just about any hair style. But don't get a shag. It has sort of had its day. For you, a very short cut that is curly all over would probably look best.

STEPMOTHER: (Q.) My stepmother is on the witchy side. She thinks I should not go out at night — even to walk the dog around the block.

My boy friend is 15. I am almost 15. He can come to see me, but we can't go anywhere.

So I am home all the time with my stepmother. Either I'm working, or studying, or sitting in my room.

How can I get her to see that I am old enough not to have to stay home all the time. — Captive in Connecticut.

(A.) There are all kinds of things you and your boy friend can do at home — talk, listen to music, dance, make things in the kitchen, play table tennis, study, read to each other, look at TV, teach the dog tricks, sing, write poetry, call friends on the phone — even talk to your stepmother.

The more she sees you and your boy friend having a good time healthily at home, the more she will realize you are ready to be out on your own.

Be friends with her, and encourage your boy friend to be her friend. Before long, maybe by the time you are 15, she should be convinced that you are mature enough to go out on dates.

The rules about dating could be set up at a family conference, with your father present.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

Liberties And Hijackers

If the people of the United States and their federal government were willing, air piracy could be eliminated tomorrow — or even today. Why have the appropriate steps not been taken?

Manpower and womanpower could be mobilized in sufficient numbers to search the skin every person preparing to board an airliner. Others could assume the responsibility of searching thoroughly every piece of luggage that went aboard that plane. As a practical matter it would be impossible to carry a hand weapon or bomb aboard a commercial airliner.

Why haven't we taken these precautions? Why do we permit a situation that accepts the hazard of skyjacking on hundreds of flights a day?

The answer, whether it is right or wrong, can be found among some of the most cherished personal liberties enjoyed by Americans.

One is the freedom from what many people consider an unreasonable search or seizure, protected under the Fourth Amendment. Yet there is some reason to weigh a search of airline passengers against the lives of, say, 100 fellow passengers.

Another is the extreme distaste shared by most Americans over a personal search of any kind. It is both emotional and visceral. They don't like it.

The Federal Aviation Agency deplores the incident, warning airlines, or even fining them for failure to take appropriate security precautions. The airlines are left without much of a response. They do not like to search passengers, for fear it will drive away trade. They would accept universal search procedures, since they would not be placed at a competitive disadvantage. But they do not have the manpower, nor could they very well afford the cost of a strict search program.

If a successful program is to be launched, it must be done by the federal government. Yet there has been no great rush in Congress to eliminate the threat by legislation and enforcement.

This leads to the conclusion that nothing much is going to be done about air piracy. Attitudes may change if one of more airlines carrying 400 to 500 passengers is destroyed in flight during a hijacking attempt. In the meantime the people of the United States and their representatives in Congress are unwilling to adopt the totalitarian means required to do away with the menace of skyjacking. Perhaps the best hope is that Cuba may agree to cease being a haven for hijackers. With no place to go, hijackers might find the holdup to be unpractical.

'Do It Day—The United Day'

Tuesday will be "Do It Day — The United Way" in Big Spring and Howard County.

This is a sort of do-or-die effort to close the last $7,000 gap between United Way pledges and the current goal. If you haven't given, please call 263-8397 Tuesday, or mail your check today or Monday to United Way, Box 24. If you have given, won't you be one of the gallant "second effort brigade" by giving just a little more. Even 7,000 giving a dollar would do it, or 3,500 '2, or 1,500 giving $5.

Everyone doing something will make it possible. To many waiting for someone else to carry the load will mean failure.

And failure will mean that the work of the Salvation Army, the Boy and Girl Scouts, the Boys Club, the West Side Center, the rehabilitation center, YMCA, and a dozen other of our local agencies will be crippled for the year.

Don't let that happen — please give — or give again.

Will To Work

William F. Buckley Jr.

There have been vague protests in the past against shoddy workmanship, absenteeism, and the weakening of the will to work but now it is becoming a formal preoccupation of American business, which recently convened, under the sponsorship of Industry Week, four or five experts on the subject. They stuck them in front of television cameras for four or five hours, and gave them an opportunity to speak, via closed channel, to 3,000 business leaders around the country. As usual, in affairs of this sort, no line emerged. But interesting things were said.

Robert Townsend was there with his catherine wheel. You will remember him as the man who put Avis on the map as No. 2, went on to write the bestseller "Up The Organization," and nowadays does consulting work, and writes fire-eating book reviews for the New York Times at the expense of American business, which he thinks is corrupt and going to the dogs. The reason people don't work better, he says, is because the organization of American business is crazy. Here are some of his prescriptions:

THE BOSS. He should be constantly with the workers. So important is this that the paraphernalia of the boss should be entirely removed. He shouldn't have a mahogany office, shouldn't have a limousine, shouldn't have a space reserved outside the office for his car, shouldn't be addressed by anything but his first name, and shouldn't receive a salary more than five times that of the least of the employees. For all intents and purposes, that means his salary should not be in excess of $25,000.

What happens then? Well sir, what happens then is that morale is very high, people have a sense of participation in the business. Anyone is allowed to apply for any job. Absenteeism all but disappears, "absit invidia," and the problem is pretty well solved.

W. P. GULLANDER of the National Association of Manufacturers objected on the grounds that the formula ignores the market function in management. If the boss is a truly successful boss, he is worth more than 25 grand, and someone is going to bid him away.

Prof. William Gomborg of the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania stressed the workers' wife, and reiterated the general hostility, now well acknowledged, to the idea of the assembly line, which was pretty much killed off by Charlie Chaplin in his famous movie.

There are very new approaches now to manufacturing. They stress joint endeavor, and there are exciting case histories around of business whose productivity has increased by this formula.

Prof. Gomborg went on to say a very interesting thing, to wit that labor unions are ontologically monopolistic, that if you take away from them their monopoly privileges, really they have nothing left to offer. He challenged one participant to come up with the name of a single successful labor union which was not a monopoly, and said contestant failed. Very interesting.

Prof. Frederick Herzberg stressed the shifting notion of obligation. Once it was everywhere assumed that to justify oneself before God, before one's family, and before one's countrymen, one was obliged to work hard and long. That is substantially eroded. There hasn't been, however, a correlative erosion in the notion of society's responsibility to the individual. One feels sorry for societies that cop-out, but particularly sorry for individuals within those societies who have energy and ideas to burn. What will they do?

'Peace At Hand'

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Only a few days after his "peace at hand" press conference Henry A. Kissinger, the President's national security adviser, gave the ultimate sign of his confidence that the pieces of the puzzle would fall together. He let it be known that at some point he expected to visit Hanoi.

IT COULD be that after his coming session with Le Duc Tho, North Vietnam's chief negotiator, he will go with Tho to the North Vietnamese capital to initial the cease-fire agreement there. This is assuming that the points of difference between the two sides can be worked out in Paris in a relatively short time. Over the long months of their dialogue the two negotiators have struck up a close relationship in which Kissinger's dry, ironic humor has found a responsive chord in Tho.

THERE HAS been a chorus of doubt and disparagement has been directed against the possibility of a cease-fire as a first step toward a negotiated settlement of the war.

The loud offstage noises ignore one fundamental fact. The war with its fearful suffering and destruction has left both sides exhausted. Further fighting, more killing, and the destruction of the little that remains habitable are simply not to be endured.

From Saigon the line is that the Communists are played out. Their spring offensive was stopped, with the failure to take Hue as the turning point. They have taken terrible losses of men and the bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong areas has crippled their ability to continue the struggle. This can be discounted as propaganda, yet for all the will to continue to fight the prospect for the North is surely not a hopeful one.

ADD TO this the pressures from Peking and Moscow to make peace. Here is the big power game, with both the Communist giants concerned that some untoward event in Southeast Asia will cut across the lines established by President Nixon. Southeast Asia has been downgraded to a secondary localized conflict.

AS FOR SAIGON, President Nguyen Van Thieu must surely know that he has had all possible help from his ally in Washington. Planes, tanks, ships, guns are pouring in to buttress his position during the ceasefire. According to reports from the White House, President Nixon's patience has run out. Without continuing American help Thieu's country could last scarcely a week. The principal reason is his failure to gain any allegiance from the mass of the peasants who are the core of Vietnam.

HE SCORED---BUT CAN HE CONVERT IT?

Economic Systems On 'Go'

NEW YORK (AP) — All the economic signals seemed to point to Go this past week, as the government reported a surge in industrial production and the stock market rose to new highs.

The Federal Reserve Board said its production index measuring the output of factories, mines and utilities rose 0.9 per cent in October, representing a 9.3 per cent jump over 1971 levels. Although last year's figures were dampened by the slump in steel output, the year-to-year gain was still solid, analysts said.

The October report comes on the heels of upward-revised figures for the two preceding months, which showed a 0.6 per cent rise in September and a 1 per cent boost in August.

At the same time, government economists said two important economic indicators would be revised upward, showing the current economic recovery is more robust than previously reported.

They said the gross national product in the past quarter grew more than the $22.8 billion reported last month, and that factories operated at about 83 per cent of capacity in the September quarter, sharply higher than the 77.6 per cent originally reported.

And in its current survey, First National City Bank reported that corporate earnings soared 18 per cent over 1971 levels in the third quarter, to $9.2 billion. The survey of 1,848 companies revealed the "gathering momentum of a healthy business recovery," Citibank said.

Free Admission To 'Pig Bowl'

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Spectators at Sunday's second annual Pig Bowl have been promised "real police brutality" by a least one prospective player.

And admission is free. The Pig Bowl was given its name by members of the Eugene Police Department's Blue Blazers and the Green Tie of the Lane County Sheriff's Office.

The game to be played is flag football, a cross between touch and tackle football which is sure to produce some moments of "brutality."

The Blue Blazers hold a 1-0 edge after their 20-6 win last year.

The Week's Business

- FED output indices show .9 pct. gain, or 2.5 pct. in quarter
- GNP increases by 22.8 billion during month of October
- Factories report 83 pct. of capacity, up from September's 77.6
- Corporate earnings up 18 pct., momentum is growing
- Dow-Jones industrials to 1,000 for first time

Prompted by a spate of encouraging economic reports and hopes for an imminent settlement of the Vietnam war, the stock market broke into new territory this past week when the Dow Jones industrial average closed above the 1,000 mark for the first time in history.

The widely watched market indicator closed at 1003.16 on Tuesday, reaching what analysts called a psychological milestone and conceivably setting the tone for the post-Vietnam market.

To Head Off Slump In Profits, U.S. Steel Plans Price Hikes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — In an apparent move to head off a profit slump, U.S. Steel Corp., the industry's key barometer and No. 1 producer, has announced price increases on about half its product line.

The company refused to specify the amounts of increase, saying only that the move's cumulative effect would be to raise prices over its entire product line by 2.7 per cent. The increase, the company added, falls within limits previously approved by the federal Price Commission.

The Price Commission said in Washington that U.S. Steel was using authority granted last Dec. 8 to raise prices by an average of 3.6 per cent. The firm did not use full allowance at that time.

Other big steel producers said they were studying Friday's announcement by U.S. Steel, which usually leads the industry in price moves.

Bethlehem Steel Corp., the No. 2 producer, previously had said it would hold current price lines at least until April 1.

Frederick G. Jaicks, chairman of seventh-ranked Inland Steel of Chicago, said in his company's nine-month report last month that he was disappointed with earnings.

"We are convinced," Jaicks said, "that price adjustments will be a necessity for Inland to reach a satisfactory level." U.S. Steel said the increases would apply to semfinished

Huge Dragnet For Cop Killers

KENNETT SQUARE, Pa. (AP) — The FBI, 30 state troopers and homicide experts from Philadelphia joined in a massive dragnet today for the assassin who gunned down two Kennett Square policemen early Wednesday in a parking lot behind their station.

Authorities have interrogated three suspects, giving two of them lie detection tests, but have made no arrests.

Dead are patrolmen William Davis, 27, and Richard Posey, 38, both discovered sprawling face down in a pool of blood beside their patrol car.

Davis and Posey, the only two of the town's eight-member force on duty Tuesday night, were shot once each by a rifle fired from a driveway about 200 feet away, authorities said.

Group Action?

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

The Sage of Scurry Street, A. J. Vaughn, reports:

Just heard the news that a Big Spring drug abuse group has been formed. Do you really think we need groups formed to abuse drugs. Seems to me we do a good job individually.

It's nice to hear from someone else whose mind is askew. (Or to quote that philandering old philosopher, Groucho Marx; "Who askew?")

GOLD OL' BILL Factor sent in some "red humor."

"Just the other day I heard an Indian father say to his boy, 'If you don't behave, I'm going to tell John Wayne on you.'"

Kenneth Hart, taking in the world chilli cookoff at Terlingua, said he overheard:

"Generally speaking, what did you think of all the candidates?" "I thought they'd never leave."

I think it was Harold Canning, the money man, who saw a bumper sticker reading: Goat Ropers Need Love Too!

MAMA LADD, my 98-year-old grandmother, who moved from Mississippi to Durant, Okla., in a mule-drawn wagon ("we couldn't afford a cover") recalls some memories, some fond and some not: Taking raw quinine (Yuck!!!) or Groves Chill Tonic every summer to keep from having the chills.

Cloverine salve was a must in every home. The pictures you received for selling a certain amount of boxes were beautiful. Grinding coffee beans in the old coffee grinder before breakfast.

LYE MADE in an ash hopper. Ashes from the fireplace were emptied here, then water was poured over, causing a steady drip of lye, which was used to make soap.

Tying clothes up in a sheet and carrying it to a spring down in the pasture. Standing on a rail over the spring, pulling water up, hand over hand, to fill a wash pot. Rubbing clothes on rub-board, boiling, hanging on fence and bushes to dry.

FIXING LUNCHEONS for children in lard buckets.

Studying by a kerosene lamp, in front of the fireplace, watching the flames flicker, while sweet potatoes baked in the coals, and hominy cooked in the dinner pot.

Heating irons or bricks to put to feet of children on cold winter nights.

There are more, which I will relay later. It's hard to realize how far we have gone from these days in roughly three generations.

And — to show my age — I'll add that I'm not sure some of the so-called "advancements" have improved our lot, because those chores made a person more appreciative of what he had.

My banking aunt, Leona Factor, said she overheard two women talking about their small houses. One of them said:

"I never complain about such things because my grandmother raised 11 children in four rooms." "How did she manage?" the other asked.

"Easy. She took in boarders."

Ex-rancher and ex-truck driver Glenn Moffett, now helping tear down Mesquite, says a cross-country truck driver is called a "gear jammer."

Couldn't he also be a "pile driver."

HIS BEAUTIFUL six-year-old daughter, Tammie Lou, reports:

"A little boy told a friend his sister's boyfriend was so dumb 'the other night my dad even had to show him the door.'"

Resignations

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — It's been a grim week in the White House. After his landslide election, instead of getting even with the Democrats, President Nixon surprised everyone by announcing that he was purging the Republicans who helped him get elected. Everyone with a high administration job has been asked to hand in his resignation.

ONE SOURCE in the White House told exactly what kind of week it's been: Pat Nixon came into the President's office.

"Look what someone just gave me," she said angrily.

"What is it, Pat?" the President asked. "It's a resignation form to fill out. Are you asking me to resign?"

"IT'S JUST A formality," President Nixon said. "I've asked everyone in the White House to resign so I can get rid of the people I don't want."

"But that's unfair," Pat protested. "I worked very hard for you during the campaign."

"OF COURSE you did, Pat, and I told Haldeman and Ehrlichman to take that into consideration. I said, 'When we go over the list of the people we're dropping, keep in mind that Pat was at my side during the three times I left the White House to campaign.'"

"DICK, DON'T you remember the Checkers speech, the stoning in South America, your defeats in 1960 and 1962? I was the only one who didn't turn her back on you. Doesn't that count for something?"

"It does, Pat. We've not only got all those facts but we have your FBI record as well. On the basis of all this I would guess you have a better than 50-50 chance of staying in the White House. But it isn't my decision alone. The purge staff has to look at the big picture."

"I went with you to China, I went with you to Russia, I went with you to Iran. Surely that must mean a lot to you."

"IT DOES, Pat. The boys were very impressed with those trips and it's a big plus."

"Suppose I refuse to resign?"

My Answer

Billy Graham

I have a son for whom I sacrificed to educate, and he obtained a master's degree in his field. He married a fine girl, and they have a child. But now, something has happened to my son. He quit his job in the university, talks like a radical, and is for the overthrow of our government. What can a father do under these circumstances?

It may be your son is a victim of our affluent society. We have had such an emphasis on material possessions, on wealth, on achievement and status, that many a young person is turned off. Having had the fill of our success-oriented culture, they major in a life-style which is just the opposite, just to demonstrate their disenchantment.

It can also happen that children discover, even after marriage, that they are no more than puppets on the family stage — that is, they have never been permitted to be themselves, but just a carbon copy of parents. Someone once asked "Since God made us to be originals, why stoop to be a copy?"

But having said that, let me comment on the direction your son seems to have taken. If he extols unemployment, and proclaims the overthrow of our government, he's been hooked by a delusion. I once talked to a leading radical in New York City, and after he announced his plan for burning down the establishment, I asked what his next move would be. He had none. He only knew how to demolish, not to build and develop.

The only thing you as a father can do, is to copy what the father of the prodigal did in Luke 15. He let the boy go on his rite of passage, but he kept his love strong, and his hope high. The Scripture says that when the boy was still a long way off on his return journey, "The father saw him, was filled with loving pity, and ran and embraced him."

Set a good example yourself, and use massive doses of understanding.

A Devotion For Today..

They received the word with all eagerness, examining the scriptures daily to see if these things were so.

PRAYER: Help me to study Your Word every day, dear Lord, and find ways to express Your will in action. Amen.

Missionary To Speak Today

The Rev. Claylan Coursey, Southern Baptist Missionary to Kenya, will be guest speaker today at College Baptist Church. He and his family will be present for the Bible study hour at 9:45 a.m. and the morning worship hour at 10:55. Today is Missions Day at the church.

They are stationed in Mombasa, Kenya, where he teaches at the Baptist High School and also assists local pastors in beginning Baptist work in the area. Mrs. Coursey, in addition to her homemaking responsibilities, helps in the high school office. She teaches three Bible classes at a local primary school and participates in Baptist women's work in several area churches.

At the time of their appointment by the Foreign Mission Board in 1968, Coursey was pastor of Round Prairie Baptist Church at Kerens, Tex. Previously he was pastor of First Southern Baptist Church, Gooding, Idaho, a mission which he and his wife helped start in 1963.

He is a native of the Lubbock area and began his career while a member of Antioch Baptist Church, near Lubbock, in 1957. He attended Howard Payne College, Brownwood, and Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, where he received a BA Degree. He received a ME from North Texas State at Denton. Coursey and his wife both attended Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary before being appointed to Kenya.

They are presently on furlough, and make their home in Lubbock. Mrs. Coursey, the former Patricia Davis, was born in Abilene and lived in Austin, Corpus Christi and Lubbock as a girl. They have three children: Mike, 16; Laura, 14; and Scott, 10.

Folk Musical Slated Today

"Tell It Like It Is," a folk musical, will be presented at 6 p.m. today in the First United Methodist Church sanctuary by the youth of the church. Everyone is invited to hear this presentation.

It is beamed to answer the problems confronting all people, and youth in particular, such as non-belief, how to find God and to gain and strengthen faith. How God makes Himself known through Christ.

Individual songs within the musical deal with these issues individually. Most of the members of the choir will have solo parts in interpreting the musical.

Candidates File Last Statements

Two incumbent county commissioners who won reelection Nov. 7 have filed supplemental campaign expenditure reports.

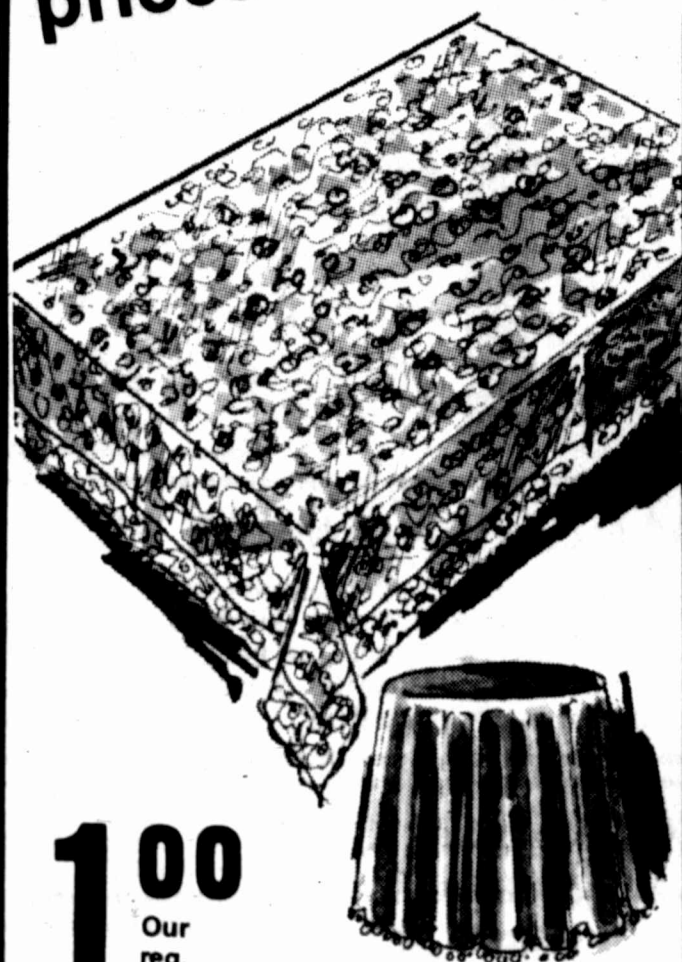

Simon (Cy) Terrazas, commissioner of Precinct 1 reported Thursday that the campaign cost $377.05. He showed no contributions.

W. B. (Bill) Crooker, commissioner of Precinct 3 reported that his campaign expenditures ran $410.45.

Offsetting spending were these contributions: Bill Sheppard, $20; Truett Thomas, $10; Roger Brown, $10; and $70 from the Howard County Republican Party. The West Texas Republican Women's Club, Big Spring had given $100 previously and were counted in totaling $210 in contributions.

Wood To Have Heart Surgery

Donald D. Wood, 1313 Settles, will leave Monday for Lubbock where he will undergo heart surgery at Methodist Hospital. Indications are that three arteries on the left side of heart will be by-passed. Wood, an employee of Texas & Pacific Railway Co. for 25 years will be accompanied to Lubbock by his wife and daughter, Mrs. Raymond Ferry.

Star Giant Hit With Playgoers

LONDON — The American Embassy in London is definitely contemporary. Stark of contour and garish with glass, it looks like a refrigerator tray filled with ice cubes and set upon its side.

Even so, Deborah Kerr, whose gracious apartment on Grosvenor Square confronts this American dream, said she enjoys her view.

NOT BAD AT ALL

"I'm rather attached to the American Embassy," she said, studying the numerous windows from her living room. "It does look something like television sets stacked one upon the other, but I don't think it's bad at all."

Miss Kerr, a British lady who took Broadway by storm when she appeared in "Tea and Sympathy" and who's been nominated six times for an Oscar as best actress of various years, had just opened in London in a new play, "The Day After the Fair."

"THE QUEEN" IN PRIME — In her prime at 51, Peggy Lee, known as "The Queen" of American pop music, sums up the secret of her zest for performing after some 30 years on the road as "the more you are interested in living, the more life gives you." Miss Lee keeps her ash blonde hair pulled straight back to show the still-smooth and porcelain-like beauty of her face.

Street People Like Rita Hayworth Films

By JAMES MEADE
Copy News Service

HOLLYWOOD — Through the magic of motion pictures, this generation is the first in history that can see the entertainment idols of recent generations just as their parents and grandparents saw them.

Admittedly, they see them in limited dimension but they are viewed at the peaks of their exuberance. This accounts for the current faddish interest in nostalgia, at least in part. Ironically, while rejecting the past, youth admires its symbols including vintage motion picture stars.

A case in point is Rita Hayworth's recent appearance at a retrospective showing of her films at the San Francisco International Film Festival.

THE YOUNG AUDIENCE, mostly street people and students, responded enthusiastically to Miss Hayworth's films, largely musicals.

The films included all of "Tonight and Every Night" (1945), a wardrobe musical set on a soundstage version of World War II London. Excerpts were shown from "Blood and Sand" (1941), "Tales of Manhattan" (1942), "You Were Never Lovelier" (1942), "Cover Girl" (1944), "Gilda" (1946), "The Lady From Shanghai" (1948), "The Loves of Carmen" (1948), "Miss Sadie Thompson" (1953), "Paul Joey" (1957) and "Separate Tables" (1958).

Despite Miss Hayworth's excellent communication with a body English on film, in person she proves nervous and inarticulate. Most of our questions brought answers of the "Yeah, sorta, maybe" variety.

LENGTHER ANSWERS

On her first major co-starring film, "Blood and Sand," with Tyrone Power and Linda Darnell: "I was terrified. I hadn't had that much experience working with superstars."

On Columbia and Harry Cohn: "They treated me as a person — an actress. He was a bright man and very smart."

How do you feel about seeing yourself young on the screen and then looking at your face when you get up in the morning? "I don't get up until afternoon."

Thai Art Shipped For Shows In U.S.

BANGKOK (AP) — Thailand has arranged to display some of its ancient art treasures in the United States and Canada, Thai officials report.

Officials said a shipment of 98 pieces of art was airfreighted to the United States.

The display, sponsored by the Asia Association of America, started in New York Oct. 5, moved to Cleveland, Jan. 9; Indiana, March 21; Montreal, July 1; Seattle, Sept. 17, and then Dallas, Nov. 1.

Library Shows Art From Area Schools

Art from young school students is being shown in the Howard County Public Library during the Thanksgiving and Christmas Holidays.

Now being displayed are drawings from Mrs. Ray Cantrell's class at Kentwood Elementary. Other teachers who have promised their students art in the future include: Cruz Montanez, Head Start; and Mrs. Helen Danford and Mrs. Mary Ann Hartin, Elbow.

'BELIEVE IT OR NOT'

Ripley's Work Is Carried On

By CIMA STAR
Copley News Service

NEW YORK — The invitation to the party called it "a celebrity reception."

'ODDITORIUMS'

It was in honor of Ripley's "Believe It Or Not," which has grown in the years since Ripley's death in 1949 into a full-scale international operation which operates, among other things, "oddtoriums," in Chicago, San Francisco, St. Augustine, Niagra Falls and Gatlinburg, Tenn. The world's most famous cartoon column is still carried in over 300 newspapers into 20 languages, and millions of cartoon-filled pocket books are published in 30 languages.

The Hunt Room walls of Club 21 were, of course, hung with posters of "Believe It Or Not."

A tree in Siberia that has grown straight through an iron stove in the middle of a hut; the Tokyo replica of the Eiffel Tower which is 108 feet higher than the original; a swafish which has two sets of teeth, one in its mouth and one in its sword, are among the thousands of "Believe It Or Not" collected by the California sports cartoonist whose memory we were here to honor.

FASCINATING DATA

Cindy Reagan, of Bill Doll and Co., Ripley's original publicists, came over. She talked about Robert L. Ripley, born of poor parents in Santa Rosa, Calif., in 1890, who eventually visited 190 countries, more nations than any other single human being.

Ripley himself was a living "Believe It Or Not." His ambition was to visit every country in the world in search of strange and fascinating things and data. The duke of Windsor dubbed him the modern Marco Polo, because he rarely stayed in one place for more than a few months.

One day he would be posing with a 9-year-old child mother in Java; a week later he would be interviewing a Papuan cannibal chief, a "monkey man" of India, or a fierce Zulu tribesman.

Ripley's two homes, a 29-room estate on Long Island Sound and a 20-room apartment in Manhattan, were filled with unique objects. A collection of Oriental art, African carvings, Aztec masks, a medieval torture device, the three-foot shell of a man-eating clam, and an aquarium of fish that swam backwards, were only a few pieces of the collection valued at $2 million.

MORE MODERN

Alec Rigby, with the Ripley organization since 1962, said that as president he hopes to "modernize" "Believe It Or Not." "I know we're not contemporary enough," he said, "but we're getting into more modern things now. There is no end to truth and subjects, and we can go into areas like the moon, sex, religion."

Rigby has two men who keep track of phenomena on the Isle of Man in Britain, where witchcraft and occult studies flourish. Researchers and investigators roam the world searching out the new and odd and strange, but "about half" of the Ripley ideas come from people who write in to headquarters about strange new things.

HE WAS FIRST

Ripley was the first artist ever to send a cartoon by radio, from London to the New York Tribune. He was the first to telephone a drawing, and he broadcast the first radio program from mid-ocean to a nationwide network in 1931. He was the first, in 1934, to broadcast to every nation of the world simultaneously, assisted by interpreters.

Ripley always claimed he had never been wrong, to which he would add, "and I promise never to be wrong again."

Dismiss Suit
For Damages

District Judge R. W. Caton Friday afternoon dismissed with prejudice a $102,234 suit for damages that stemmed from a pickup accident involving Clifton John Patton.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lee Segrest Sr., the plaintiffs, requested Judge Caton dismiss their suit against Patton.

Their son, Archie Lee Segrest Jr., 15, was killed in an accident between Big Spring and Sand Springs on July 10, 1971.

Action is pending on an indictment charging John C. Patton with murder with a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

The youth's parents have signed a statement filed Tuesday saying they do not object to Patton getting a probated sentence.
