Anyone interested in getting a diabetic support group started is asked to contact Carolyn Newman at 728-5869 or 728-3660.

TAP Recycling Drive

Texan's Against Pollution will be collecting items to be recycled on Tuesday, July 16 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the parking lot of City National Bank.

Items to be collected include: glass, tin, newspaper, plastic, computer paper, cardboard, rags and white paper.

Drug/Alcohol Abuse

The Sweetwater Council on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse, will be sponsoring Drug and Alcohol abuse counseling sessions from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. every Wednesday afternoon at the Mental Health Clinic in Colorado City.

Anyone interested in these free services for any alcohol or drug related problem can obtain more information by calling (915) 728-3953, or 235-8955.

Overnight Hosts

On Friday, July 19, a bus load of approximately 50 foreign exchange students will be stopping in Colorado City for one night's stay. They will be back on the road bright and early on Saturday morning.

Colorado City Rotary Club members are trying to help find lodging for those students.

The students will be in the middle of a three-week road trip, and will have several suitcases each, will probably need the services of a good, sturdy washing machine, and would appreciate a homecooked-meal.

In exchange, the students will bring into your home, for one night, a window on the world.

If you would like to offer lodging to one of these bright, friendly youngsters, or two, or three, or four, please call Robert Ramage at 728-2160.

Cleon Williams Fund

A fund is set up at City National Bank to assist with expenses for the Cleon Williams family.

Commissioners to discuss redistricting on Tuesday

The Commissioner's Court of Mitchell County will hold a called meeting at 9 a.m. on Tuesday, July 16 for the purpose of considering a redistricting proposal.

Due to a 12 percent population loss in the 1990 census, the County must redraw its precinct lines to ensure no precinct has more population than another.

Commissioners hired the Austin firm of Bickerstaff, Heath & Smiley in June to make an initial assessment to determine and propose a County redistricting plan.

J. Greg Hudson, of the firm, said that four main priorities are taken into account when making a redistricting proposal.

These four priorities are, that roughly equal populations, within a 10 percent deviation, are represented in each of the four precincts; the impact on minorities, road mileage in each of the precincts, and an attempt is made to keep voters from being confused about precinct lines.

Hudson noted that the Justice Department looks at all four of these factors when studying a redistricting plan.

The Justice Department does not approve or disapprove a plan, Hudson noted. Rather the Department may interpose an objection in regards to a proposed plan. A plan is deemed acceptable by the Justice Department if an objection is not sighted.

"Hispanics compose 30 percent of Mitchell County," Hudson said. "On paper it would indicate that the the Hispanic community should be able to affect the election of one commissioner."

Hudson explained that information on Mitchell County residents was put into their computer to arrive with the proposal produced three weeks ago.

He explained that several plans were drawn in attempting to make a Minority Influence District, a district with 65 percent minority, but efforts to achieve such a block of minority votes was not found.

The latest proposal would have one district with a 40.8 percent Hispanic population, due to the population being spread throughout the community.

Under the precinct plan now in effect, Precinct 1 has a 24.97 percent Hispanic population, Precinct 2 has 32.61, Precinct 3 has 30.29, and Precinct 4 has 37.31.

Oscar Ortiz and Esther Goss of Colorado City were appointed by the Court to work with the Austin lawyers on the redistricting committee.

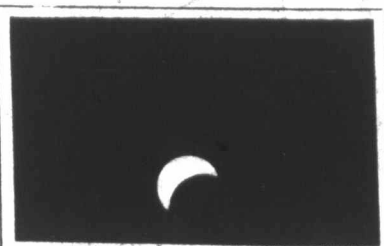

Sara Ortiz, a Colorado City member of the League of United Latin American Citizens, expressed concern about the new proposal.

"We want to work with commissioners," she said, "in developing a Minority Influence District, not for me or my husband, but for the community."

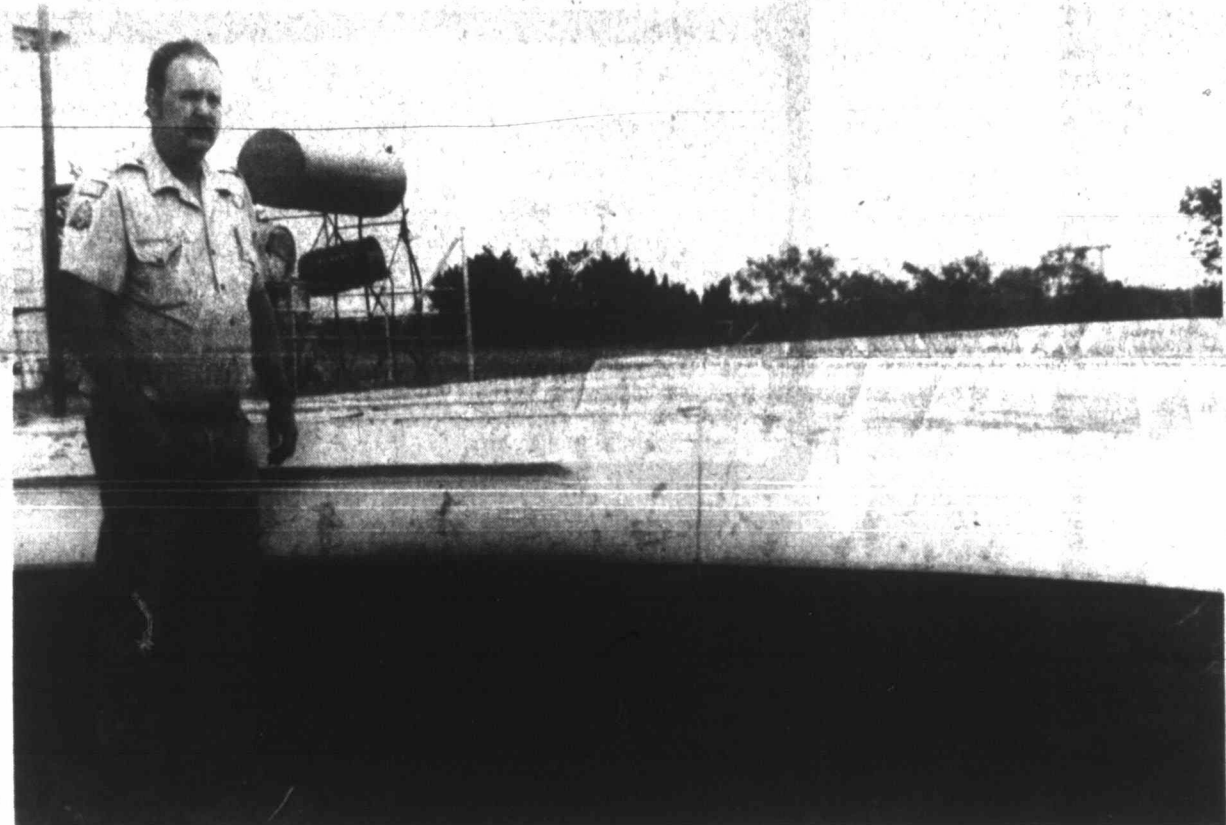

Ortiz noted that Andy Hernandez of the Southwest Voters Education Project in San Antonio is helping as a lawyer specializing in representing minority groups.

Hernandez is expected to look at the proposed redistricting plans in

Shelby Lynne

Lynne to perform here

Shelby Lynne will be at Fort Wood in Colorado City at 8 p.m. on Friday, July 19, to perform a Cowboy Crisis Fund Concert.

The 5-foot-1, twenty-two-year-old, Lynne received 'Top New Female Vocalist' honors during the 1991 Academy of Country Music Awards.

She has released two albums, Sunrise, and her latest, Tough All Over, which showcases the singles "I'll Lie Myself To Sleep," "Things Are Tough All Over," and "What About the Love We Made" have received substantial airplay on both Country Music Television and The Nashville Network video shows.

"Things Are Tough All Over" culminated its climb at number 12 on the Country Music charts.

Lynne was signed with Epic Records after appearing on TNN's Nashville Now in late 1987.

Since that time she has been the opening performer for many Randy Travis concerts.

Tickets for the concert may be purchased at Woods Boots and are $5 in advance, $7 at the gate, and $2.50 for children 6-12.

Commissioner's updated on Economic Development

Commissioners met for a called meeting Thursday afternoon for a discussion on priorities of the Board of Economic Development (BED).

Elmer Martin, Chairman of the BED, and board members Woody Anderson and Bobby Lemmons appeared before commissioners to note options for pursuing industry in Mitchell County, including the possibility of a Texas Department of Corrections (TDC) unit.

BED members also updated commissioners on proposals sent to Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D), in search of grants.

"We need industry," Martin said, "I don't have to tell anyone that, and I think working together we can get something we are all proud of."

Board members referred to Rob Junell's meeting with community leaders last week, noting that the TDC board will be appropriated funds in the Special Session to provide for TDC units.

"A prison represents a long term commitment," Anderson said, "and requires support services which will bring jobs."

Commissioners and board members discussed the possible advantages and disadvantages of a TDC unit.

A proposal to the TDC for a unit would require at least 300 acres of land with utilities run to the site.

"If the community won't back it," Anderson said, "it won't happen."

Commissioners advised the board members to take the facts to the community and get a feel of the

Fuller's invited to Normandy Beach

In late 1944 and early 1945, Raymond Fuller, owner of Fuller's Foods in Colorado City, visited the beaches of Normandy.

He was recovering from war wounds in a tent hospital in Cherbourg, and during the time of mobility but not discharge from the hospital, he would walk the beaches to gather a sense of the history which was made there on June 7, 1944.

Although he entered the armed services after the invasion, he felt a kinship to the men who participated in the adventure.

He did not visualize the time forty-seven years in the future when he would come back as an honored guest along with his wife, Virginia, and seventy-five others to commemorate the action of the Allied forces in Normandy and to see the start of a special school to study the whys and wherefores and possible prevention of other Normandies and world wars.

On the eve of the invasion, a young Texas lieutenant colonel and later president of Texas A & M, James Earl Rudder, had led the Ranger Force (2nd and 5th Battalions) of the 1st Armored Division to an encounter with German gun emplacements secreted above the Normandy beach.

The Rangers came first in the infamous battle to pave the way for the amphibious landings.

Companies D, E, and F of the 2nd Battalion used grapple-tipped rockets to shoot up ropes and rope ladders to scale the steep cliffs and

Wolf sked released

The varsity schedule of 1991 football games for the Colorado Wolves has been announced.

The Wolves will begin the campaign at home against Ballinger on Sept 6.

A week later, Sept 13, will have the team traveling to Stanton for another non-district contest.

On Sept 20, the Wolves will entertain Slaton at Wolf field.

The Wolves two remaining non-conference tilts will be played away, at Merkel on Sept 27 and Wylie on Oct 4.

The district schedule begins with Crane coming to town on Oct 11.

The Wolves then travel to Kermit on Oct 18 for another conference tilt.

Homecoming will be celebrated Oct 25 amid a battle with Sonora, and the team from Reagan County will come to town Nov 1 for further district action.

The final regular season game of the season is scheduled out of town and will pit the Wolves against Greenwood on Nov 8.

Game times are 8 p.m. for non-conference clashes and 7:30 p.m. for conference tilts.

the near future.
 Ortiz said that they have asked for an extension to have more time to look at the proposal and prepare a plan of their own to submit.
 Hudson stated that the time factor for getting a redistricting plan approved will soon become crucial.
 "A plan must absolutely be adopted by Jan 2, 1992," Hudson said and there is a lot of work to be done after the commissioners approve a plan.
 After commissioners approve the plan, descriptions of the new precincts, election boundaries, and Justice of the Peace boundaries will have to be written.
 At that point the law firm will prepare the plan to be sent to the Justice Department.
 "We need to ensure that the package is ready to submit to the Justice Department by the first of September," Hudson said.
 The Justice Department has 60 days to interpose with an objection, but can file for another 60 day extension.
 Hudson expressed disappointment that the plan has been out for three weeks and no one was brought any suggestions for improving the plan to his attention.
 He welcomed the action by Southwest Voters Education Project, hoping that action their action would be taken soon, so that an acceptable redistricting plan might be agreed upon soon.
 The public is invited to attend the meeting to be held at the Mitchell County Courthouse.

attitudes.
 Other industrial options discussed by the BED included a newly patented process that uses cotton to make oil absorbing pads and insulation.
 The company, located in Post, is looking towards expansion.
 An industry that makes a water testing device which operates less expensively than mechanical systems is also being explored.
 Board members also told commissioners that the services of Private Data Base System, Inc. had been employed in the effort to find an industry for Mitchell County.
 The company puts communities in contact with manufacturers and engineers, covering a several state area.
 "They sounded hopeful," Martin said. "Mitchell County has an ample supply of water and is on the Interstate." He explained both are considered as important factors to firms searching for new locations.
 In other action, BED members reported on the RC&D proposals that have been seen to the research

 Some 15 proposals have been sent in from Mitchell County organizations.
 These proposals include: extending the park down Lone Wolf Creek, renovations to Fisher Park, a chemical container disposal system, a cotton mill, improvements to the West Texas Museum, storage tanks for the Westbrook water system, renovations to a Loraine ballpark, organization of a multi-county underwater district, renovation of an electrical generator and bins to be used for collecting items for recycling.
 "We have options," Martin told the commissioners, "we need to know which way to aim."
 BED members said they would keep the commissioners apprised of their efforts to locate industry in Mitchell County.
 County Judge Ray Mayo and Commissioners Ed Roach, Carl Guelker, Buddy Hertenberger and Bill Preston were all in attendance at the meeting.

FULLER'S

From the
Editor's Desk
Dean
Williamson

There used to be a commercial about an investment company, saying that when they spoke everyone listened.

I thought about that commercial as I've gone around town and seen the quiet influence of one man, Nolan Ryan.

When Nolan is pitching, Texas listens. I'm not alone in tuning into Mark Holtz and Eric Nadel, WBAP announcers, more frequently this year. There is that spark of something undefinable about the Texas Rangers this year.

I day-dream about things that haven't happened, hoping, like all baseball fans in Texas have for years, for a league championship.

Each year a new season begins with the same unproven hopes and I start hunting for the phone number to reserve tickets for the World Series as soon as the Rangers win a few games.

But usually by All-Star week the feeling of hope is gone, talk around the coffee shop has turned to football, and my interest in the Rangers waned during a road trip out west when the game times are past bed-time.

The Rangers had a 14 game winning streak with Nolan on injured reserve, Nolan's incredible 7th No-No, Rubeen Sierra and Brian Downing hitting, and they swept a series in Oakland, all in the first half of this season. What more can happen this year?

A lot of people complained, thinking hopes for the season were over when Pete Incavilia was let go, thinking that Bobby Valentine was making a rash decision he would regret. But Brian Downing has come through and people are forgetting they thought that Valentine didn't know what he was doing.

If the Ranger's keep playing ball it will be interesting to see how television coverage of games is handled at the later part of the season.

By the time football season starts, Cowboy's coverage traditionally fills screens, since the only way Ranger teams of the past would ever have a chance to go to the playoffs would be if they bought a ticket. But there is hope that this is the year!

Everyone seems to have a cautious-optimism about the rest of the season.

Texas has always been known as having the biggest and the best, but we have to shy away from conversations about professional baseball because of the lack of a title.

But Nolan, with his aw-shucks grin, has inspired many, bringing a spark of excitement into each game, and the hope of a pennant for the team.

Everyone I've talked to either heard or watched last Sunday nights ESPN televised game when Nolan pitched superbly against California, losing the no-hitter bid in the 8th inning.

I hope, like everyone, that the Rangers are a 'hot' topic in October, and that I'm trying to order World Series tickets.

It may, as Texan's, be our turn to begin bragging about the success of a baseball team like we already can with football and basketball teams. Wouldn't it be great!

find the emplacements.

The battalions completed their mission, the first American unit to do so on D-Day.

The completed mission came with a price, however, with five counterattacks during the first 24 hours, constant artillery and small arms fire until relieved on noon of the third day.

Counting lost at sea, killed, wounded, and missing, LTC Rudder's task force suffered 70 percent casualties.

The people of Pointe du Hoc, a small Normandy town located above the Omaha Beach and back from the scaled cliffs, considered the Rangers saviors and heroes.

A memorial to those Rangers and Colonel Rudder and a museum were constructed as a result of the town's feelings.

Six years ago a group of people came together to chart a course that would forever remember the Normandy invasion, including the actions of the Rangers.

The Battle of Normandy Foundation was created to commemorate the valiant efforts of America's finest and to study ways to prevent the recurrence of such an event.

Some of the projects have been a U. S. Memorial Garden, the Photo Archives, and the latest adventure, the Normandy Scholar Program.

This program was field tested in the winter/spring of 1990 in Caen, Normandy with students and professors from the University of Texas at Austin.

Students and faculty were enthusiastic about the course of study being offered in such an historical environment and with access to glimpses of the characters of the time through artifacts and personal involvement by people close to the source of study.

And, because of the extremely large university population in the state, Texas A & M was chosen to act as a second host university.

Upon an invitation from William McKenzie, chairman of the board of regents, Raymond and Virginia Fuller went as Texas A & M guests to Caen to see what was and what is to come.

On June 4, 1991, the Fullers flew to Paris to meet with the other delegates.

Their first treat of honor, and according to Virginia, the highlight of the trip, was an elaborate dinner at the residence of the U. S. Ambassador and his wife.

The Honorable Walter J. P. Curley and Mrs. Curley extended the invitation on an embossed card sent in May.

Dinner partners at the Fuller's table included VADM John

Bulkely, a Medal of Honor recipient, and his wife.

The four-course meal was served on white china with the same embossed insignia as the invitation.

An intriguing addition to the invitation was the menu, printed in French.

After the meal, the Ambassador invited the men into the drawing room, offered brandy and then opened a small presentation chest holding Cuban cigars.

Whether they smoked or not, the men took the proffered cheroots.

And, Virginia savored the greeting the Ambassador gave her when they arrived for the dinner.

He noticed her outfit, a white St. John's knit embossed on the front with gold cord, pearls and rhinestones, by observing that she had on the 'perfect dress'.

The first night of their trip was spent at Le Grand Hotel Intercontinental in Paris.

The next two nights would be spent in Caen, Normandy, at the Hotel Malherbe.

Their itinerary included a coach/bus trip to Normandy.

Because of the extent of the trip, box lunches were packed aboard.

Early in the afternoon the group arrived in Caen and were welcomed and taken on a tour of the Normandy Memorial Museum by M. Jacques Belin, the director.

Later that evening, after checking into their hotels (part of the group stayed at the Hotel Moderne), the entourage departed for cocktails and a briefing of the president of Basse Normandy, Rene Garret and his wife.

Then, M. Bruno DeCaris, Chief Architect of Historic Monuments, brought an update on l'Abbaye d'Ardennes, the projected campus site for the Normandy Scholar Program.

Before dinner, during a moving, personal ceremony, the Order of Calvados was also conferred.

Each man came away with a medal acknowledging the honor.

Dinner partners with the Fullers that night included the Normandy president and the Caen mayor.

The next day the coaches went to Omaha beach for the wreath-laying ceremonies commemorating the 47th anniversary of D-Day and the U. S. Cemetery.

Jackie Ryan, widow of Cornelius Ryan who detailed the progression of events of the 76 hour battle in The Longest Day, laid the wreath.

The next stop was the U. S. Cemetery at Pointe du Hoc.

During the memorial at Pointe du Hoc, the 100 foot cliff captured by Colonel Rudder and men of the 2nd and 5th Ranger Battalions at 7 a.m. on D-Day, Margaret Rudder laid the wreath.

During this ceremony, an elderly man of Pointe du Hoc (92-years-old), was recognized for hiding 30 of the Rangers in his home during the counterattacks by the Germans.

When he feebly started toward the podium, Margaret Rudder came to him with a hug.

He made the remark that he couldn't die until he spoke to Margaret again.

A visit was made to the Ranger Museum in Grandcamp and then the last stop at the Lecuyer Estate near Utah Beach and the drop zones of the 82nd and 101st Airborne Divisions.

Luncheon was served at the estate, home of M. and Mme. Jean-Yves Lecuyer.

That night, back in Caen, the group visited l'Abbaye d'Ardennes, the 13th Century Norman Gothic Abbey and the projected campus site for the Normandy Scholar Program.

They then met for a farewell dinner at La Raconiere in Crepon.

By this time all these people with a common goal, to honor the people who were at Normandy on June 7, 1944, and to see that future generations learn from the sacrifice, had become fast friends.

During the saying of goodbyes, hugs were made to generals, admirals and businesspeople without regard to rank.

The foundation for commitment to a cause had been laid.

Before Raymond and Virginia Fuller came back to the United States, they spent three days and nights in Monaco and Monte Carlo.

Raymond's birthday gift to Virginia during their trip was a visit to the Moulin Rouge.

Though the Fullers have been to France several times, they will cherish the memories of this time for a long time.

For when two businesspeople from a small town in West Texas are invited to go to a foreign country and be treated in such royal manner, other events take a back seat.

CONTROL YOUR COTTON PRODUCTION COSTS
ACT IMMEDIATELY TO ENSURE OPTIMAL INSECT CONTROL IN COTTON
Proper timing and release of BENEFICIAL INSECTS will optimize control of insect pests and SAVE YOU MONEY. By making a first release of Lacewing adults now, you will begin an effective insect pest management program designed to optimize insect control in your fields. The estimated schedule for optimal insect control in Mitchell and the surrounding counties is as follows:

| BENEFICIAL RELEASED | ESTIMATED DATE | COST PER ROW ACRE |
|----------------------|------------------|-------------------|
| Lacewing adults | now | $2.50 |
| Lacewing adults | July 26 to Aug 3 | $2.50 |
| Trichogramma Wasps | July 22 to 24 | $2 to $4 |
| Trichogramma Wasps * | July 26 to 28 | $2 to $4 |
| Trichogramma Wasps * | July 30 to Aug 3 | $2 to $4 |

* Release rates will vary and some releases may not be necessary depending on in-field beneficial reproduction and how many boll worm eggs are laid.

WHY YOU SHOULD ACT NOW!
Aphid colonies are now appearing throughout Mitchell County. Lacewing flies (the best general purpose beneficial insect) will produce larva offspring and multiply while they feed on these aphids, thereby being a ready army to work in concert with Trichogramma wasps as an effective strike force against boll worms, their eggs and other pest such as aphids, flea hoppers, mites and mealy bugs. PLAN AHEAD! "Draw a line in the sand" so you can stay in control of your production costs.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We, for the last 58 years have been patterned after a fallen government - The Roman Empire.

Read: Christ and Caesar, Will and Ariel Durant (a more modern version), or The Rise and Fall of the Roman Empire, Gibbons. Both books are in the Mitchell County Library.

The only way government will ever lower taxes is for the people to demand of Congress a Constitutional Amendment for a balanced budget, or ask our President to go before the people pleading a balanced budget amendment.

Congress will not adhere to anything less.

If you need more information on how Congress is squandering America's future I encourage you to contact Citizen's Against Government Waste, 1301 Connecticut Ave. N.W., Suite 400, Washington, D.C. 20036. They are leading a fight against government waste, high-taxes and the deficit.

Thanks,
Pearl Watson

Dear Editor,

I noticed in your paper of July 4th, an article I was very interested in and I would like to know how I could get a copy of the VFW published Service Book.

If you could help me on this I would appreciate it very much, as my husband was from Mitchell County. His three other brothers who have passed away were also from Mitchell County.

My husband and one brother were POW's for three-and-a-half years. The other brothers served as Marines.

The article in your paper was 'Chief Lone Wolf.'

Thanks for any help on this book.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Stanley Ragain
1011 Silas Street
Sweetwater, Texas 79556

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my appreciation to the many who make the Fly-In a success each July 4th.

It would seem that this letter might be a personal pat on the back as I have been a part of the ones who have helped for the last several years and although all help is very much appreciated and all are needed to help with such a project, this letter is directed to a special group who I feel are making a definite change for the better. This is the group from the City National Bank.

They are to be commended in a special way for the fine breakfast they are cooking. Theirs is a "hot" job. They do not have the most ideal conditions in which to cook, (it is very hot where they cook), but they constantly produce the finest breakfast at any function that I have attended.

More of our citizens from our city are coming each year to be fed and it shows those who come that we are behind the Fly-In. If you haven't been, try us next year.

Because of the "crew" our Fly-In is a function of Colorado City that now the town can be proud of and I for one just want to say thank you.

Don Browne

VFW holds monthly meeting

The Ladies V.F.W., Post 9178 Auxiliary met July 11.

The meeting was called to order by President Estella Rivera.

At the meeting, a check was made out to the Veteran's Administration Hospital for the birthday fund and morning coffee.

Two cakes, ice cream, sherbert and ten hand exercize balls were taken to the Martin Personal D.A.V. home here in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rivera attended the state convention in Dallas, held the last week of June.

They reported a wonderful program with over 4500 people attending.

It was also reported that there will be a called meeting in Anson at 1 p.m. on Sunday, July 14. All members are encouraged to attend.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be held on July 25 at 8 p.m.

The local swimming pool at Ruddick Park remains busy as children of all ages take advantage of the water to seek relief from the hot summer weather.

Major league all-stars in playoffs at Rotan

The major league all-stars have been battling their way through the Area I All-Star playoffs in Rotan.

Monday the 8th Colorado City's all-stars demolished Stonewall by fourteen points. The final score of that game was a devastating 28 to 4. This victory placed C-City in an 8:00 game on Thursday the 11th against Snyder.

The outcome of that game was not what the C-City team had anticipated as Snyder defeated them 15-0.

Friday night Colorado City played Rotan at 7:00 p.m. to determine who would go to the championship. The first game of the championship will be played at 7:00 p.m. on Monday the 15th. If Snyder wins, the tournament will be over, otherwise a second game will be played on Tuesday the 16th.

The Colorado City Junior League all-stars were also competing in the Area I playoffs. On Wednesday the 10th they defeated Abilene North by five runs leaving the final score at 17 to 12. Unfortunately they suffered a devastating loss of 20 to 3 to Abilene Southwest on Thursday the 11th. This loss eliminated Colorado City from the tournament.

Sallye Zelma Bagwell

Funeral services are scheduled for 11 a.m. Saturday at Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home Chapel, Snyder, for Sallye Zelma Bagwell. Rev. T. O. Upshaw will officiate at the ceremonies. Burial will follow at Hillside Memorial Gardens in Snyder.

Mrs. Bagwell, 85, died Thursday in a Sweetwater nursing center. She was born in Saint Jo. Mrs. Bagwell and her husband ran laundries in Colorado City, Hamlin, Rotan and Snyder.

Mrs. Bagwell was a Baptist, a member of the Eastern Star in Snyder and the widow of Clyde James Henry Bagwell.

Survivors include a daughter, Faye Welch of Clifton; three sons, Bill Bagwell of Sweetwater, Hulén Bagwell of Colorado City and Al Bagwell of Lake Colorado City; a sister, Ruby Taylor of Chandler; eight grandchildren; and 12 great-grandchildren.

Jesus G. Herrera

Funeral services for Jesus G. Herrera, 78, of Odessa are scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Odessa with the Rev. David Herrera and John Waldron officiating.

Rosary will be said Sunday at 7 p.m. at Frank W. Wilson Funeral Directors Chapel.

Burial will be in Sunset Memorial Gardens in Odessa. Mr. Herrera died Friday, July 12 at Mitchell County Hospital in Colorado City after a short illness.

He was born Sept 6, 1912 in Mexico and married Selsa Mata on Aug 12, 1933. His wife preceded him in death.

Mr. Herrera moved to Odessa in 1955 from Roscoe. He was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church. Before retiring, Mr. Herrera was a farmer.

Survivors include a son, Manuel M. Herrera of Odessa; two daughters, Connie Rodriguez of Loraine and Jovita Marquez of Odessa; one brother, Panteleon Herrera of Stanton; one sister, Manuela Ramos of Midland; ten grandchildren; and sixteen great-grandchildren.

Joseph J. Walding

Funeral services are scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Sunday at the Porter Loring Chapel, San Antonio, for Joseph J. Walding of San Antonio. Ceremonies are under the direction of Porter Loring Mortuary with burial to follow at Mission Burial Park North, San Antonio.

Mr. Walding, 94, passed away Wednesday, July 10.

Walding was a member of the Church of Christ for over 70 years. He was a member of the pioneer Mitchell County family and a former resident of Midland. He was a retired farmer and machinist retiring from Kelly Air Force Base in 1970.

Survivors include one son, Jack H. Walding of Dallas; one daughter, Ruth Schoen of San Antonio; five grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers for the ceremony will be Eric Stange, Joe E. Walding, Dennis R. Walding, Shaun Harold Walding and David L. Schoen.

COLORADO CITY JULY 4TH FLY IN ASSOCIATION

J.O. Dockrey, Chairman

Breast detection unit accredited

The Mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit of Odessa, Texas, which services Colorado City, Texas today received the certification of the American College of Radiology Mammography Accreditation Program.

Mammography is an x-ray examination of the breast, which the American Cancer Society and other medical experts see as the best means for the early detection of breast cancer.

The program is voluntary and is designed to insure that women receive optimum quality mammographic examinations. The process is done through a peer review evaluation of the facility's staff qualifications, equipment, quality control and quality assurance programs, image quality, and breast dose. The accreditation must be renewed every three years.

The accreditation program was instituted because of the concerns of radiologists, other national medical organizations, and the public that qualified personnel perform and interpret mammograms and that dedicated mammographic equipment be used. The American College of Radiology received an American Cancer Society Control Grant which was used to pilot test the Accreditation Program.

Breast cancer will strike one in 10 American women. The American Cancer Society predicts that about 41,000 women will die of breast cancer this year. As there is no way to prevent the disease, early detection and treatment offer the greatest hope for survival.

The American Cancer Society recommends that women do monthly breast self-exams and have regular physical breast exams by a doctor. It further recommends mammography on the following schedule: A base-line mammogram (for reference) between age 35 and 39. A mammogram every one or two years between age 40 and 49. An annual mammogram from age 50.

The Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in Colorado City, Texas on Monday, July 29th. You may call 728-3431 for an appointment.
