Youth sues to get back in classroom

A hearing is scheduled in 32nd District Court Tuesday afternoon to hear a request for an temporary injunction, which if granted, would allow a Colorado High School senior back in the regular classroom pending the outcome of a suit seeking that the school district's policy on hair length be changed.

Mike Lara, 17, currently in the school's In-School Suspension (ISS) program because of his refusal to cut his shoulder-length hair, tried unsuccessfully Monday afternoon to convince the school board to change the rules governing hair length of students.

School rules state that boys cannot wear their hair longer than the bottom of the collar.

Principal Jerry Reynolds said that Lara had been repeatedly warned about his long hair and that Lara and his mother had been told about the rule in the student handbook and the reasons for it.

The lawsuit says Lara was sent to ISS for six days on Sept. 5 and again on Oct. 13 because he refused to conform to the hair code.

Reynolds said that Lara is given his regular classroom assignments in ISS and that he will remain in ISS until he cuts his hair.

Attorney Pat Barber, representing Lara, said at Monday's special school board meeting, that his client's constitutional rights are being denied and cited two constitutional reasons why the school board should change the rule. Barber said the hair-length rule is sex biased under the state's equal rights amendment and also said that Lara's right of privacy is being denied as a result of the suspension.

Lara said Monday he does not intend any disrespect for wearing his hair long, adding that it's "a

Many of the indictments stemmed from a Sept. 28 drug bust by the Colorado City Police Department.

The drug related indictments include:

- Robert Hudgins of Colorado City, five indictments, one each for illegal investment, criminal conspiracy, aggravated possession of marijuana, engaging in organized criminal activity and aggravated possession of a controlled substance (methamphetamine);

- L.J. Barber of Big Spring, four indictments, one each for engaging in organized criminal activity, aggravated possession of marijuana, criminal conspiracy and illegal investment;

- William Edmond Moore of Big Spring, four indictments, one each for aggravated possession of marijuana, engaging in organized criminal activity, illegal investment and criminal conspiracy;

- Terry Richard Anderson of South Carolina, four indictments, one each for illegal investment, criminal conspiracy, aggravated possession of marijuana and engaging in organized criminal activity.

Other indictments included Julian Reyes Jr., driving while intoxicated, and Anthony Demetres Randle, one for burglary of a motor vehicle and two for aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

District Attorney Frank Conard said the four sealed indictments were against the same person.

Plans progressing for proposed textile mill

Progress is being made in obtaining a textile mill for Mitchell County, said Maggie Compton who is spearheading the project.

Contributions are still being accepted for a feasibility study for the mill. Compton said Friday that work is already being conducted for the feasibility study and that tests are being conducted on different types of spinning and that the material itself is being test in New York.

Compton said $5,000 is needed to conduct the feasibility study which will be sent to the investment bankers. Accounts have been established at City National and First National banks for persons wishing to donate to the fund.

The proposed mill, which will spin texcellano (a mixture of 30 percent wool and 70 percent cotton) will employ about 35 people.

Compton has a meeting scheduled Tuesday with the finance people and a meeting is set for Nov. 9 with the Texas Department of Commerce.

"Everything looks real positive," said Compton. "Contributing to the fund is really helping. It gives me encouragement to keep going."

Proposed constitutional amendements explained

EDITOR'S NOTE: Texas voters will be asked to decide upon 21 proposed constitutional amendments during a special election Nov. 7. Here's a look, courtesy of the Texas Research League, at amendments 11 through 15:

11: Legislators' Per Diem

In addition to setting legislators' salaries, the constitution also specifies that legislators are to be receive $30 a day for living expenses whenever the legislature is in session. Concomitant with the last increase in legislative salaries, the per diem amount was raised in 1975 from $12 to $30. In 1984 the voters rejected by more than a 2-to-1 margin a proposed increase in per diem almost identical to the current proposition.

The constitutional $30 limit on per diem applies only during the 140-day biennial regular session and any special sessions called by the governor. Between sessions the amount of per diem which legislators receive when traveling on official state business (such as attending a committee hearing) is set by law. This amount currently is $81 with a proviso that it will automatically increase along with any hike in the per diem rate which may be authorized by the federal government.

Federal income tax law allows legislators a tax deduction for each legislative day equal to either the amount of per diem paid federal government employees when serving away from home or the amount of per diem set by state law, not to exceed 110 percent of the federal per diem. The federal figure is now $81.

This proposed amendment in effect would conform statutory and constitutional per diem provisions. No specific per diem

The Colorado City Optimist Club will be collecting new and used toys for Christmas for needy families in the Mitchell County area.

Items needed include toys, coloring books and crayons, gloves, toboggans, socks, toothbrushes, combs and brushes, etc. Used items must be clean and in good repair.

For more information or for pick-up, contact Penny Orona at 728-2170, Lulu Boyd at 728-8393, Kay Griffin at 728-5886, Shirley Denson at 728-3607 or any other Optimist member.

Items may be dropped off at Pac-n-Ship or Free's Friendly Shop.

AMENDMENTS

amount would be set in the constitution. Instead the amount of per diem allowed each year would be equal to the maximum federal income tax deduction allowed for living expenses of state legislators.

12: Pledging the Permanent School Fund to Guarantee State Bonds

In 1989, the legislature created by School Facilities Aid Fund, administered by the state treasurer, to provide loans to local school districts for capital construction, improvements or equipment (not land, facilities used for extracurricular activities, or computers). The Bond Review Board is authorized to issue $750 million in state revenue bonds to provide the aid funds. Those bonds would be repaid from the loan repayment proceeds from local districts; delinquent payments would be deducted from the district's state aid entitlement.

A constitutional amendment adopted in 1983 authorized the use of the Permanent School Fund (PSF) to guarantee the repayment of bonds issued by local school districts. In excess of $1.5 billion in school district bonds have been guaranteed under this program, and local districts have realized considerable savings because of the lower interest rates that resulted from the guarantee.

Proposition 12 would provide a similar PSF guarantee for the $750 million in revenue bonds authorized to support the Facilities Aid Fund. Any funds required to be paid from the PSF would become a general obligation to be repaid from the state treasury. The bond amount that can be guaranteed by the PSF can exceed $750 million if authorized by a 2/3 record vote of both houses of the legislature. Only the bond guarantee is contingent upon passage of amendment No. 12; the Facilities Aid Fund is authorized by an existing statute.

13: Rights of Crime Victims

This proposal would amend the constitution by adding to the Bill of Rights a new section which specifies the rights of crime victims. A crime victim would have the right to fair treatment, respect for dignity and privacy, and reasonable protection from the accused throughout the criminal justice process.

In addition, a victim would have the right, upon request, to notification of court proceedings, to attend those proceedings, to confer with the prosecutor's office, to receive restitution, and to obtain information about the conviction, sentence, imprisonment and release of the accused.

The state, through the prosecuting attorney, would have the right to enforce all the rights of crime victims. However, government officials would not be liable for their failure or inability to provide an enumerated right.

In effect this amendment would elevate to constitutional status a basic set of crime victims' rights which are now guaranteed by statute. These basic rights and many others are detailed in Chapter 56 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, enacted in 1985. In addition to enumerating victims' rights, the law requires local prosecutors in jurisdictions of over 150,000 population to designate a victim assistance coordinator to ensure that victims are afforded their rights.

14: Fort Bend County District Attorney

In the 1989 session, a bill was passed, contingent upon the passage of Amendment No. 14, dividing the criminal district attorney's office in Fort Bend County into two parts, a district attorney and a county attorney, reverting back to the form most counties use.

Vacancies in the two offices, under current law, are filled by the governor for district attorneys and by the commissioners court for county attorneys. This amendment would require a district attorney serving in Fort Bend County to be elected and to serve a term in the manner provided for criminal district attorneys. The essence of the amendment is that this one district attorney would be elected for a four-term beginning in 1990 rather than in 1992 when all other district attorneys in the state will be elected, and a vacancy to be filled by appointment would be avoided.

15: Legalize Raffles

The constitution now directs the legislature to enact laws prohibiting lotteries and gift enterprises. With the exception of approved bingo games, this is a blanket prohibition which applies to lotteries and raffles of all kinds, even those conducted for charitable purposes. The holding of a raffle or lottery is a gambling offense under the Penal Code and as such is a third-degree felony subject to a maximum punishment of 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Prior to 1980 the constitution contained an absolute prohibition against lotteries and gift enterprises. In that year voters approved an amendment authorizing certain nonprofit organizations to conduct bingo games if the proceeds are used for charitable purposes and if bingo is approved by local referendum.

This proposed amendment would add another exception to the ban on gift enterprises by permitting the legislature to authorize charitable raffles conducted by certain specified nonprofit organizations. It also would require that all proceeds of the organization and that the raffle be conducted exclusively by the qualified organization.

The implementing legislation for this amendment imposes a number of restrictions on approved raffles. Qualified nonprofit organizations would be limited to two raffles a year. The prize could not be money and could not exceed $25,000 in value. Further, the raffle could not be promoted statewide and could not be advertised in any medium of mass communication. Only members of the nonprofit organization could sell raffle tickets and no one could be paid for conducting a raffle or selling tickets.

INDICTMENTS

Indictments are sealed when the persons named in them are not already in custody. They remain sealed until the persons are arrested at which time they become public information.

A new grand jury was empaneled Friday. The jury members are William Conaway of Westbrook, Cristela Castillo of Colorado City, Apolinar Molina of Colorado City, Adelinda Marquez of Colorado City, Gerry Ritchey of Colorado City, Doris Graham (foreman) of Loraine, Tony Alvarez of Colorado City, Pamela Walker of Colorado City, Tommie Galneau of Colorado City, Willie (Friday) Moore of Colorado City, Joyce Shoemaker of Colorado City and Susan Sanchez of Loraine.

The jury is scheduled to convene into special session Nov. 8-9 to hear evidence in the 1988 police shooting death of Sammy Gomez who was killed as he was being arrested as a suspect in a rape case. A grand jury meeting shortly after the incident did not return any indictments against Billy Ray Williamson, the part-time city police officer who shot Gomez.

Lara said he is getting behind in his class work, especially in algebra and a class in free enterprise system, because he cannot receive help as if he were in class.

"Every additional day that Plaintiff remains in ISS, his school grades and right to effective education are jeopardized," the suit says.

The suit, dated Monday, Oct. 23, asks that the court:

- "declare that the enforcement of defendant's hair length rule against Plaintiff Mike Lara is unconstitutional by virtue of the Equal Rights Amendment, Article 1, Section 3A of the Texas Constitution";

- "declare that the enforcement of the Defendant's hair length rule against Plaintiff Mike Lara is unconstitutional by virtue of his Texas common law right to personal privacy";

- "cite defendant to appear before this Court and show cause and that upon the conclusion of such hearing, a temporary injunction be issued, enjoining Defendant from enforcing said hair length rule as to Mike Lara and that Plaintiff be allowed to remain in his regular classes, without penalty, pending a trial on the merits";

- "upon final trial of this cause, order a permanent injunction, enjoining Defendant, the Colorado Independent School District, its agents and employees, from enforcing said hair length rule against Mike Lara and that he be allowed to remain in his regular classrooms without penalty";

- grant plaintiffs their court costs, including reasonable and necessary attorney's fees; and"

- grant plaintiffs such other and further relief to which they may be justly entitled at law or in equity."

Letters to the Editor

Vote against referendum

TO THE EDITOR: Three pounds of shortening was selling for $.69. Club steak sold for 69 cents a pound. A 12-bottle carton of Coca Cola cost 53 cents and a 14-cubic foot freezer was advertised at $399.95. It was all in the Colorado Record, July 1959.

Also in that issue was the headline news that the newly formed Industrial Team had organized, selling shares at $5 a share to 170 people and firms for a total of $12,625. It was organized as a non-profit organization, stating that the money was to be used "for normal expenses...and capital investment to promote industry in Mitchell County." Porter Richardson bought the #1 share.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

QUESTION: How many traffic accidents do you think we've had in Colorado City this year? 52? 103? 212? (answer at the end of column)

It's comforting to see TRAVIS TURNER and STEVE MORRIS solving the world's problems during a tailgate party on Oak Street...and they did it without even one glass of (watermelon) juice!

Please make it a point to welcome REV. WALTER BARTHOFF to Colorado City. He's the new pastor of the First Christian Church (and, incidentally, a good ol' fashioned common sense preacher). Mr. and Mrs. Barthoff moved here from Muleshoe where he had served his church off and on for more than 12 years. In his spare time, Walter was Muleshoe's park superintendent, as well as the building and plumbing inspector. He's a welcomed addition to the Mitchell County Ministerial Alliance and Colorado City.

JOHNNY SHACKELFORD was sweating it out Tuesday at the Kiwanis Club meeting. He ate some of BILL HOLBERT's Mexican cornbread. Johnny would take a bite, then grab a napkin and wipe the perspiration off his scalp.

Lone Wolf's Red Badge of Courage goes to PAUL BROWN who lives at Lake Colorado City. Paul left his car windows down during the afternoon one day last week and when he returned to the vehicle, the WASPS had commandeered it. Undaunted, but cautiously, the U.S. Navy veteran began offensive maneuvers to reclaim the family chariot. Final score: Brown, 12, Wasps, 0.

Give B.B. HARDEE sympathy when you see him. He bet BOB REILY $1 on the SMU-Houston football game. Reily gave B.B. 59 points and SMU. Then Reily got cold feet and farmed out the bet to three other entrepreneurs...EDDIE PILAND, RICKY McPAUL and JAY GUELKER, who each took 25 cents of the wager. Of course, Houston massacred SMU and Hardee lost his bet. But, at least he had the satisfaction of knowing his dollar changed hands four times. That's helpin' our ol' economy, B.B.!!

Lone Wolf's "atta boy" award this week goes to the COLORADO CITY FIRE FIGHTERS. They were routed out of their beds at 3 a.m. this past Tuesday and out of a 30-man department, 23 answered the call. 23 out of 30! It would be hard to get that many of us out of bed if it were our own teepee on fire. Bingo, Fire Department. Under "B", Bravo!

The answer to this week's question: 103 traffic accidents so far this year in Colorado City. Incidentally, Colorado City police have a combined total of 62 years of experience in their field. Chief BOBBY SPARKS has the most time in law enforcement...12 years.

Parting shot: Happy birthday to MRS. LESTER (JEWEL) HORN...friends say she is 80 plus tax.

Student Council Sponsors SMILE Week

The Colorado High Student Council sponsored a drug and alcohol abuse awareness week Oct. 16-20. The program was called SMILE - Students Myth-Information and Learning Experiences. SMILE is a project of the Texas Association of Student Councils.

Student Council President Mandy Conner was chairperson of the project. Also on the committee were Avan Ceballos, Jeremy Strain, Laura Espinoza, Krista Moore, Tracy Hoover, Jodie Ellis and Lauren Perkins. On Wednesday, all CHS students who wanted to participate completed a questionnaire about the use of drugs and alcohol and its frequency in the high school. The committee members also prepared "Just Say No" messages, attached them to pieces of candy, and threw them in the pep rally Friday morning. Also, the cheerleaders threw footballs with anti-drug and alcohol messages during the game on Friday, Oct. 20. The theme of the entire week was "Just Say No" and "Say No to Drugs and Alcohol". Several Student Council representatives recorded anti-drug and alcohol messages for broadcast on the radio all week. CHS students heard messages on the intercom and saw signs all over school all week discouraging them from using drugs and alcohol. The Student Council members considered the project a success because many students received the information and responded favorably to the project.

Reading Project

The seventh and eighth grade reading improvement classes at Colorado Middle School have a unique project this year, reports teacher Susan Hall.

Since the pre-kindergarten program is also at middle school this year, the reading students are assigned to one or two pre-kindergarten students. Each week the student shares a different book with his "reading friend". Each class period has a different set of books to read, so each child will be introduced to a wide variety of pre-kindergarten books. The older student also will "web" the week's story into another activity such as art, word recall, oral rereading, etc. The students keep their "reading friend" for an entire six weeks.

'Book It' Program

Third, fourth and fifth grade students at Hutchinson Elementary School are participating in the Pizza Hut's "Book It" program, reports librarian Gerry Stone.

The program is designed to inspire, motivate and encourage students to read and to enjoy reading. In turn, the students are rewarded with free pizza.

Teacher Honors

Several CISD teachers have received honors recently. High school art teacher Carolyn Walker received fourth prize and $150 for a painting of "Morgan Peak" (near Westbrook) at the prestigious San Angelo "Realism" art show. At the county fair, she received two first place ribbons and a third place ribbon for three pieces she entered.

High School speech and drama teacher Carl Moore has been nominated for the Texas Speech Communication Association's "Speech Teacher of the Year" by speech teachers of district 14. The winner will be named in October, 1990 in Galveston.

High school English teacher Kitten Arthur taught a seminar at the Master Teacher Academy, at Tarleton State University this past summer. She was asked to teach seminars by Dr. Jim Boyd and Ann Calahan of TSU after she presented a mini-lesson on "cubing" for the Effective Schools Project last spring. During the seminar, she utilized the Big Country Writing Project idea of "cubing" and added her own teaching ideas using overheads, handouts and examples of students' work.

Mrs. Harlow hosts extension homemakers club

The "C" Lake Extension Homemakers Club met Tuesday, Oct. 24, in the home of Marie Harlow.

The meeting was called to order with Bobbie Norman leading the club prayer. Belle Snider read the minutes of the previous meeting. Bea Harlow gave the council report.

Club members voted to keep the club going and new officers were elected for the new year.

Bea Harlow presented the program on "Family Life". She stressed that family living always means clutter and organization is a must. There should be a place for everything and everything in its place.

Refreshments of pumpkin bread, chips, dip and halloween candy were served.

Roll call was answered with "A Humorous Happening" by Inez Richardson, Helen Oglesby, Belle Snider, Vada Carlile, Bea Harlow, Bobbie Norman, Dorothy Sneed, Marie Harlow and Billie Woods.

Wylie spoils CHS homecoming, 14-13

The Colorado City Wolves played perhaps their best game of the whole season Friday night, but as has been the case all year, a few breaks here and there cost them the game, 14-13.

The game was progressing slowly until a botched snap gave the Wolves the ball on their own 34 with 5:57 remaining in the first quarter.

The Wolves could do nothing with the ball and were forced to punt.

Wylie proceeded to move the ball to its own 43-yard line and on second down and seven quarterback Troy Dickson found receiver Randy Ervin open for a catch and a run that was good for 57 yards and a Bulldog touchdown.

The PAT By Craig Marak made it 7-0 in Wylie's favor. C-City wasted no time in coming back as George Ramsey went into the end-zone from one yard out and the extra point by Dane Hoover evened the score at 7-7 with 7:15 left in the half.

Wylie's next possession ended in yet another bad snap that gave the ball back to the Wolves with a first and 10 at the Bulldog 42-yard line and a chance for C-City to take the lead.

Unfortunately, however, Wolf quarterback George Ramsey was intercepted by a Bulldog defender with 3:09 remaining in the first half.

Ray Sutton came up with a sack that forced a fumble that was recovered by newcomer Robert Lewis, but the Wolves could manage no offense and went into halftime tied at 7-7.

The Wolves came out firing on defense and Edward Flores came up with an interception, or what looked like an interception, but fumbled it and it turned into a 5-yard gain for Wylie.

The district-leading Bulldogs pounced on the opportunity and scored on a 42-yard pass from Vic Partin to Ken Blackman.

The PAT left the score at 14-7 in favor of the Bulldogs.

The Wolves responded with an 8-yard TD run by Ramsey with 11:14 left on the clock.

The game would have been tied, but the Wolves got their turn with bad snaps as Hoover picked up the ball and tried to run it in but was stopped short.

The rest of the game was dominated by Wolf defense, but the offense failed to put any more points on the board and the game ended with Wylie ahead 14-13.

Varsity volleyball team wins district

The CHS varsity volleyball team traveled to Clyde last Tuesday and came away with their second district title in as many years.

The Lady Wolves beat Albany prior to the defeat of Clyde. The match was thought of as a tune up for the district game, and they came out of it with an 18-16, 15-11 victory.

Elia Aguilar led all players with 13 service points. In the victory over Clyde, Tracy Hoover and Rosemary Rosas provided the firepower for the 15-12, 15-13 win and a birth in the playoffs.

The Wolf junior varsity also defeated Albany and Clyde by the scores of 13-15, 15-11, 15-1 and 15-11, 15-8 respectively.

Tammy Ceballos and Lisa Martinez were the high point servers in the victory over Albany, constantly keeping them off guard with powerful serves with a little spin added on occasion.

Windy Bradbury and Angie Williams played hard in the three game match against Clyde and helped the Wolves eek out the victory.

However, late in the first quarter, Highland got on the score board with a six-yard pass. The kick was good and the score was tied 8-8 going into the second quarter.

Loraine scored again with 4:22 left in the second quarter on a two-yard run by Lopez. The kick failed, but Loraine led 14-8.

Highland came back with a touchdown with 1:41 left in the second quarter on a nine-yard pass. The kick was good, and Loraine trailed 16-14.

With just 14 seconds remaining in the second quarter, the Bulldogs scored on an eight-yard run by Dwayne Starling. The kick failed, but Loraine went into halftime with a 20-16 lead.

Loraine scored twice more in the third quarter, once on a 41-yard pass from Michael Moore to Aunray Crawford and once on a 17-yard punt return by Crawford. The kick failed both times.

There was no scoring in the fourth quarter, and the final score stood at 32-16.

Leading rushers for Loraine were Lopez with 9 carries for 95 yards; Starling, 11 for 79; and Crawford, 2 for 15.

Leading tacklers for Loraine were Starling, 7; Lopez, 6; and Moore, 6.

PLAYING WITH FIRE

James 3:6; 4:11

Have you ever noticed how much the Bible deals with the subject of human speech? James, the half-brother of Jesus wrote, "The tongue also is a fire, a world of evil among the parts of the body. It corrupts the whole person, sets the whole course of his life on fire, and is itself set on fire by hell" (James 3:6 NIV).

Why would James compare the human tongue to fire? The answer is simple: the human tongue has great potential for doing widespread damage in the lives of people.

The fires of malicious gossip and slander are raging wildly through our community these days, and many innocent persons are having their reputations slandered and maligned by people who don't even have the facts.

James also wrote, "Brothers, do not slander one another" (James 4:11 NIV). How about you? Are you a firestarter or a firefighter?

A spectacular experience...

EDITOR'S NOTE: Margie Oliver is from Loraine and is a 4-H Youth Exchange Student. Here's her latest report.

October 10, 1989

Good morning Texas! As I sit and watch the sunrise over a rippling lake and the autumn mountains of North Sweden my mind is racing over the past four months. I would never have believed "I" could have packed one suitcase and taken off for 6 months so far from my family and friends. I want to take this time to thank my family and friends for all your love and support, for believing I could do this even when there was a real doubt in my mind. To those in Mitchell County and Lubbock County who have been such a support and encouragement to both my family and me with your letters and phone calls--thank you. My deepest appreciation to those who have helped to sponsor the IFYE program this year: the Ford Motor Company, the National 4-H Council for all their support and help, the Texas 4-H program for giving me this opportunity, the Texas 4-H Center staff for being there and for being so supportive--a family within itself! I could go on and on with the list of appreciations but let me just sum it up by saying thank-you to all those who helped to make this trip possible, and for sharing these wonderful experiences with me.

I could not actually say I have shared this experience with you unless we go beyond basic learning experiences and beauty to personal growth. The IFYE experience has been a time of realization and growth for me as I hope it has been and will be for all IFYE's. My parents have always stressed values and priorities. My values have not changed so much, but I feel my priorities have become more focused. In preparation for my trip to Sweden I read an article about "American Values" and found mine to be pretty typical: Religion, family, friends, time, and loyalty rank among the top.

While my time in Sweden has been a lesson in independence and learning how to stand up for should have done years ago. Too many times we just accept things as they are and believe in them without really knowing what we are believing in or why.

My heart to greater loyalty. Many times when we say a pledge we are just pledging words without feeling in our hearts to back up the words we are saying. Loyalty means having the feelings in our hearts and not just the words on our lips. I hope after this experience and seeing this in myself that I will always feel the loyalty in my heart that I am pledging with my words.

My health to better living. Pledging our health to better living means not taking our health for granted. Part of our health is healthy living and taking care of what I believe in, it has also more firmly established my belief in God, family, and friends.

Time...most people I know would say "time is money" or if they would not admit it, their actions would reflect it. A quote a friend shared with me will hopefully help me to keep my new insight on time in perspective as I get back to the U.S.A., Texas, and my daily routine.

"The work will wait while you show the child the rainbow, but the rainbow won't wait while you work."

The good ole' U.S.A. We all value loyalty and I feel my loyalty and patriotism has been--"average". I have had the opportunity to take a look "why" I am loyal to U.S.A. and what the U.S.A. stands for. I have come to realize our interdependence as "our world". No one can stand alone. Sometimes we think of our immediate environment as the whole world but the truth is no matter how far you travel or where you go, people are people and we all need each other. This realization has gone hand in hand with a deeper meaning of the word patriotism in my life. The flag, our American pledge, and our American way of life have all taken on a new dimension. I have had to know "why" I believe in these principles and this way of life. With all the problems America has, it is still a wonderful country and my home.

We as 4-H'ers say a pledge: In support of the 4-H Club Motto--To make the best better.

I pledge my head to clearer thinking,

My heart to greater loyalty,
My health to better living,
And my hands to larger service.

For my club, my community, my country, and my world.

The words of this pledge have gained a new meaning as I have tried to share with my host families and friends here in Sweden what 4-H is really like in Texas.

I pledge:

My head to clearer thinking. My trip to Sweden has meant taking a hard look into the truths that I hold to be real and giving them a definition as to what they really are and why I believe in them. Looking back this is something I the environment and nature. The damage we are doing to our nature often takes a back seat to "time" or gets overshadowed by "money". If we actually pledge our "health to better living" we must take a look at what our actions today mean to future generations. Can we actually continue to abuse the nature and use up our natural resources and say we are pledging our "health to better living"?

My hands to larger service. "If it is to be, it is up to me." A wonderful friend and leader in our 4-H program in Texas often uses this quote and of the many times I've heard it I have never felt it more clearly than after challenging my own thoughts and beliefs. I hope all who read this will see the challenge in the words to us as individuals.

For my club, my community, my country, and my world.

I have come to think of these in the possessive term because I have a new pride in my club, community, country, and world. As never before I see our world as an interdependent network. In the large picture that is so often forgotten we are not Swedish, or Chinese, or African, or even Russian or American--we are God's children living in a world "together." When we say "to make the best better" we have to look at the large picture and see "our world."

I hope that through this newsletter I have shared with you a new dimension to my experiences in Sweden for this trip has been full of new experiences and insights for me. Again thank you to the many wonderful people who helped make this possible for it has truly been a spectacular experience for me.

Halsa from Sweden.
Love and prayers,
Margie
