Local Citizens Purchase $16,493.75 in First Peacetime Bond Promotion; Goal is $65,000

With the first peacetime promotion for the sale of Savings Bonds by the U. S. Treasury approaching an end on July 4, Ochiltree County residents have invested $16,713.75 toward their quota of $65,000. Sales through this period were listed at $14,493.75 in Class E bonds and $2,220.00 in Class F bonds. Purchases were made at the three dispensing agencies, the two banks and Post Office.

In encouraging the citizens of this and other counties, to increase their purchases of Savings Bonds, Nathan Adams, Chairman of the Texas Advisory Committee on Savings Bonds, said: "A bad case of inflation would be a national catastrophe, affecting each and every one of us. It would distort every economic value, private and public. Investing in Savings Bonds will go a long way toward averting inflation. We must invest our savings and take as few of our dollars as possible to market until production shall match demand."

"Spending money recklessly, buying scarce goods at inflated prices," Mr. Adams continued, "is like cutting down the tree to get at a few green apples. The thing to do is wait until the apples are ripe before you eat them. Leave the tree to bear fruit in years to come."

JUST HERE and THERE

If you don't think Mr. and Mrs. America are really on a vacation here, then just take a trip to the mountains of Colorado and New Mexico. We returned Tuesday afternoon from a 16-day sojourn in those states and business is now at a mid-season peak. What will it be when the peak of the run is reached late in July and early August?

Many of the resorts were closed during the war years, but they are all open now, plenty of new hotels, camps and dude ranches... but it's the same story everywhere... they're full to capacity. Take our advice and plan your vacation ahead... and have reservations confirmed before you leave... unless you like to sleep in your car.

We were at Estes Park and Grand Lake, Colorado for five days in attendance at the first post-war convention of the National Editorial Convention. The high point of this meeting was the fact that Charles and Alwayne Claybaugh and Bill and See No. 1, Page 6

All elevators were full of wheat Wednesday awaiting shipment, and an estimated 800,000 bushels had been dumped on the ground over the county awaiting delivery to elevators. Santa Fe officials said that over 100 cars had been shipped from the Ochiltree loading stations to date and the cars were being employed as fast as they were received. The transportation situation is expected to improve immediately as additional cars are released from other areas. A freight car will handle 2,000 bushels.

The 1946 yield has generally exceeded previous estimates made by producers and grain men, alike, with some sources predicting at this time a total yield in the neighborhood of four million bushels. More conservative estimates are a little over three million. Acreage yield has varied from nothing to from eight to 35 bushels. A total of 330,000 acres was sown in wheat this year.

The labor situation has been well in hand under the direction of the County Extension Service and enough workers and machinery had been available up to Wednesday, it was reported.

As freight cars are received in this area the elevators are ready for additional deliveries of grain, it was pointed out.

Treat Sorghums for Lighter Loss

New methods of treatment for sorghum seed which give planters protection from heavy crop losses have been developed through cooperative experiments in several states, announced Dr. W. Star Chester, plant pathologist at the Oklahoma A and M College.

Treatment of the seed was formerly administered only for protection against smut. Now treatments have another value as a result of the experiments—they protect the young seedlings while they are coming through the ground, develop stronger plants and contribute to better stands.

Included in the experiments was a new improved Ceresan, a mercury dust commonly used on other cereals. Ceresan has been found valuable in the treatment of sorghum seeds, but the recommended amount must not be exceeded or the seed may be injured.

For the best results, use one-half ounce of Ceresan to a bushel of seed. Dr. Chester recommends. This means a cost of about two or three cents an acre.

The cooperative tests also show good results from the use of Arsan and Sporgan, which have been recommended by manufacturers for sorghum seed treatment.

Any of these seed treatment dusts may be applied with a home-made treater. Interested growers may obtain full information about constructing a cereal seed treater by writing to the Oklahoma A and M College plant pathology department.

The dust treatments protect the seed and young plant from fungi and bacteria beneath the surface of the soil. The sorghum is thus given a better chance of survival and develops into a stronger plant after it comes through the soil.

In the past, the A and M specialist said, copper carbonate dust has been the standard seed treatment because it is effective against smut, and because if carelessly used in excess is less likely to injure sorghum seed than mercury dust.

Seed treatment can be done any time up to 24 hours before planting. Remember, Dr. Chester warns, that the chemicals are poisonous and must be kept away from livestock. Use caution in handling the mixture the same as any other pesticide.

When you are watching someone trying to unstart a knot in a string, it is human nature to want to grab it and do the job yourself.

When you assign an employee a job, it takes restraint not to tell him too much about how to do it.

When you are raising kids, it's natural to try to do everything for them.

These examples explain why some people in Washington, D. C. have such a passion to run the details of the life of every citizen of the country. It explains why people in bureaus there who have had a taste of directing lives of others don't want to quit and go home. They have that old human itch to meddle.

But anyone with a grain of wisdom knows that if you want anybody in a home, an office or a country to amount to a darn, you have to lay off, lay off, lay off!

The Question We Are Confronted With Every Day!

When Will I Get A New Car?

We Wish As Much As You Do, That It Could Be Answered

The Following Facts and Figures May Help To Clear Up This Question Which Is Of Such Vital Interest To So Many:

1. It is conservatively estimated that over 16 MILLION PERSONS are anxious to buy new cars.
2. Earlier last year it was expected that 500,000 NEW CARS would be produced in 1945, whereas only 75,000 of that number have actually been manufactured, which is an average of only two new cars to every dealer in the country.
3. The optimistic hope that 4,000,000 new cars would be produced in 1946, becomes impossible because of the numerous strikes that have affected the industry. A conservative estimate indicates that over 2,000,000 cars now in use will be scrapped this year, which will further aggravate the acute demand for new cars.

DO NOT BECOME A VICTIM OF THE IDEA THAT AFTER DISPOSING OF YOUR USED CAR IN THE BLACK MARKET, YOU CAN SIMPLY TAKE THE CASH AND USE IT TO OBTAIN IMMEDIATE DELIVERY OF A NEW CAR.

Consult Your New Car Dealer

DO NOT RUSH TO DISPOSE OF YOUR PRESENT CAR UNTIL YOU CHECK WITH A NEW CAR DEALER as to when you may expect delivery of a new automobile. If you do trade in your used car to one of the undersigned dealers, you may rest assured that it will be made available to some returning veteran or local resident who urgently needs a car.

No One Can Legally Pay More For Your Used Car Than a New Car Dealer

Established dealers today are selling no more than 10 per cent of all used cars being transferred. The bootlegger, who is usually a floating gambler, the kind that jumps on your running board and offers to buy your car above OPA ceilings, is conceivably doing 10 to 15 per cent of the business of violating the ceiling, but at least 75 per cent more of the total sales in used cars, where ceilings are so flagrantly violated, are being made by individuals. If this were not so more individuals would be selling their cars to the regularly established dealers who can spare such sellers so much inconvenience. It is undoubtedly true that OPA has apprehended boot-leggers who have violated OPA regulations on approximately 5,000 used cars, involving perhaps 100 to 300 people who have sold them, to the extent of $3,000 000 in excess of allowable ceilings, but it should be made clear that these elements are not THE AVERAGE ESTABLISHED CAR DEALER.

Legion Warns on Surrender of Atom Secret as Appeasement

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — The American Legion believes that America must be extremely realistic and proceed warily in sharing its atomic secret lest its policy become one of appeasement rather than an instrument for lasting peace.

The position of The American Legion has been outlined by National Commander John Stelle in these words:

"The American Legion is opposed to turning over the knowledge of atomic power to the United Nations unless and until all parties to the Big Four conference in Paris show the rest of the world they do not have imperialistic aims and that their distrust of America, which saved them all, is made one of trust."

All Must Give for Peace

Calling liberation of Cuba and of the Philippine Islands as reflecting the altruism of the United States in World Affairs, Commander Stelle said:

"Let Russia, England and France together with the other nations of the world, cooperate with our country for the freedoms necessary for peace."

"To accomplish this, curtains denying intelligent mutual cooperation must be removed. The American Legion resent any attempt to appease any group in the world unless that group is willing to accept the decisions of the majority of the peoples involved, and is willing to sit with confidence and abide by the majority opinions. Let us examine critically and think hard before we appease with gifts without receiving any benefits of a real peace ourselves. Do we have to be the only giver? Look at an organization of 3,100,000 members who participated in war. Let us be Americans first, willing to work 100 per cent with the other nations for a world peace not including that the others equally give up something of their own or its accomplishment. The future generations of all nations deserve this effort. America should demand it."

News in the World of Religion

By W. W. Reid

Emphasizing proposals of clergymen and educators that some statement of the common bases of America's three major religious faiths might be drawn up and taught in the public schools of the nation, Dr. Joseph R. Sisco, noted Reformed Church pastor in New York City, recently urged upon teachers that they instill in their student as love of God and a broad compassion for all humanity. Both ideals, he said, are necessary for the good life and for the preservation of the human race. "There can never be great living without these two ideals," he declared. "The chief aim of education is still the glorification of God."

For the period of the food emergency in Europe and in Asia, Trinity Methodist Church, Ruston, Louisiana, is receiving a "retiring offering"—a second offering—at the close of each morning service, and the proceeds are being sent to the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief. The "retiring offering" is about the cost of a meal and is taken by ushers stationed at the doors.

According to the Maryknoll Fathers (Catholic Foreign Missionary Society of America, Inc., Maryknoll, N. Y.), Catholic missionaries are serving among 82,532 Catholics in the United States, Canada, and Alaska, with 111 American priests and 78 "native" priests; in Latin America among the Indians there are 2,834,148 Catholics with 843 missionary priests; in Africa there are 6,739,878 Catholics with 3,439 missionary priests; in India, 4,842,633 Catholics with 1,330 missionary priests; in southeast Asia, 1,489,010 Catholics and 457 missionary priests; and in the Pacific Islands, 844,834 Catholics with 834 missionary priests.

They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up dainties at the table, cross their legs and tyrannize over their teachers." New Railroad Tie-up to Offer Traveler Better Connections

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and the Aichison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroads this week asked Interstate Commerce Commission approval of a plan which would enable the Santa Fe to enter St. Louis over a direct route from Kansas City and at the same time would provide the Burlington with shorter routes between Chicago and Kansas City, and between St. Louis and Kansas City.

The transaction does not involve the construction of any new trackage, but would "provide better railroad service, at lower cost, by more efficient and more intensive use of existing railroad trackage."

The application involves the following principal steps:

1. Acquisition jointly by Burlington and Santa Fe from Gulf, Mobile and Ohio (Alton) of the 139-mile line extending from Mexico to Rock Creek Junction (Kansas City, Missouri), and acquisition by Burlington and Santa Fe of trackage rights between Mexico and Francis. The G. M. & O. would reserve rights over the Mexico-Kansas line for freight service.

2. Acquisition by the Santa Fe of trackage rights over the 112-mile Burlington line between Francis and St. Louis.

3. Acquisition by the Burlington of trackage rights over the Santa Fe main line between Bucklin and Sheffield (Kansas City).

4. Acquisition by the Burlington of trackage rights over the Wabash between Camden Junction and Birmingham (North Kansas City).

For the past forty years the Burlington and Alton have operated joint service between St. Louis and Kansas City over their connecting lines via Mexico. The arrangement wasn't satisfactory as to freight, the Burlington giving preference to its longer, solely-owned line via Hannibal and Cameron Junction, and the Alton to its longer, solely-owned line via Roodhouse, Ill. Under the proposed plan, the Burlington and the Santa Fe would jointly acquire the Alton segment of the line, which would give the Santa Fe entry to St. Louis and the Burlington substantial payments from the Santa Fe for use of the Burlington line between Francis and St. Louis.

The Burlington line into Kansas City via Cameron Junction was built in 1867, and has been little changed since. Up to 1888, when the Santa Fe began operation via its shorter line between Chicago and Kansas City, the Burlington was the dominant Chicago-Kansas City line. From time to time, beginning in 1912, the Burlington planned a new line across part of Missouri, but World War I, the ensuing depression and other factors, prevented consummation of the project. Today's proposal would accomplish the principal objective of the 1912 plan without construction of any new trackage, but rather by more efficient and intensive use of existing trackage. The present Burlington line between Chicago and Kansas City via Galesburg, Quincy & Cameron Junction is 495 mi. for passenger service and 496 miles for freight service. Under the proposed plan with trackage rights over the Santa Fe west of Bucklin, the Burlington's passenger mileage would be reduced to 467 1/2 miles, while its freight route, with trackage rights over the Santa Fe and Wabash, would be reduced to 433 miles. In addition, the proposed routes would permit higher speeds.

Operation of the Santa Fe into St. Louis, in addition to improvement of the St. Louis-Kansas City line, upon which Burlington and Santa Fe propose to spend $5,000,000 would provide the first single-line service between St. Louis and the Pacific Coast, and between St. Louis and an extensive territory served by the Santa Fe. It also would permit direct movements between the Atlantic and Pacific Coast through St. Louis using only two railroads, an advantage long enjoyed by Chicago.

The proposed transaction also would add strength to the G. M. & O. by relieving it as a guarantor of $2,093,980 bonds of the K. C. St. L. & C. R. R., and by reducing its expense of operating over the Mexico-Kansas City line to charges for trackage rights.

Back Your Future With U. S. Savings Bonds

During wartime these bonds backed the victorious attack on the Axis. Now these same bonds, still being bought by millions of Americans at their place of work, at banks, post offices and other issuing points, continue to be the chief insurance for a better future for the family and the individual. General Dwight D. Eisenhower describing U. S. Savings Bonds says: "While obviously it is not my prerogative to tell our veterans how to conduct their lives after their release from the Army, nevertheless, my continuing interest in their welfare impels me to urge that they give serious consideration to the advantages offered by United States Savings Bonds."

Takes Four Firsts at Chicago

Lawrence McLachlan, 17, Earlville, Ill., shows his Southdown cross-bred lamb that took first prize at the Chicago Market Lamb Show. Lawrence won four firsts: best lamb, and best pens of three, five, and 10. His niece, Carolee Ann McLachlan, proudly holds winner's cup.

Carnival Here All This Week

Whether you call it a hobby horse, a carousel, a flying jenny, or a merry-go-round, Harry Craig, who is presenting his Heart of Texas Shows here all this week, under the auspices of the Pierce Johnson Post 254, American Legion, believes in them to the extent that he has two, a mechanical one and one with real live ponies.

Mr. Craig, having a lively son of his own named Bucky, is an authority on what children like. He caters to the children at the carnival with numerous kiddie rides. In addition to the two merry-go-rounds you will find airplanes, autos, and a real train all for small children. Then you older children up to the ages of 75 or thereabout, there are two giant ferris wheels, a tilt-a-whirl and a merry-mixup—and of course don't forget the merry-go-round.

Madam Faye's Educated Pets, a trained animal show, will delight the hearts of young and old alike. In this show you will see a Mickey Mouse Circus; a mother monkey clutching her baby to her breast leap from a high ladder; a trained dog walk the tight wire; and nearly every sort of animal and fowl to be seen.

"What is a carnival without lemonade?" is the $64 question. "A dry affair" is the answer. But this carnival has kegs and kegs full of delicious, ice-cold lemonade and orangeade so that a person can really raise a thirst and then proceed with great enthusiasm to quench it. If it's lemonade you want look for the big blue umbrella. Then of course there are hot dogs, hamburgers, and hot pop corn that team up well with lemonade.

In case your home needs something bright and new to help perk it up there is the Bingo game to take care of that. It's fun to furnish the home bingo way.

If it is fun you are looking for then the Heart of Texas Shows is the place to find it. "All for fun—Fun for all" is the carnival's motto!

There is a slight difference in the length of every person's legs.

Only one person in ten over 21 years of age has perfect sight.

Building Own Road To Success

Veterans Administration Photograph.

Three St. Paul, Minn., brothers—all veterans of world War II—having heard about the road to success, are now building their own road in that direction. The tank car gives driveways a thick bituminous matting. The "Jeep" roller provides a permanent smoothness. A $1,500 Government-approved loan helped set them up in business. The Nali brothers, from left to right, are: Lawrence, John and Robert. Their father, Ludwig Nali, has since been taken into the firm.

Jane Long of the Brigham, Utah News-Journal were there. The Utah Press Association held their summer convention at Estes Park in conjunction with the national meeting.

From Grand Lake, we went to the Mesa Verde National Park for our first glimpse at the ruins of Indian dwellings that date back to the early days of the first century. This mesa was at one time the home of hundreds of thousands of first Americans. They were forced to abandon their homes by a 24-year drought in the 1590s.

At the Mesa Verde Lodge, we saw Miss Neva Bransgrove, 1925 Perryton High School graduate. Neva is now grade school principal in Liberal, Kansas. She is spending a profitable vacation in the Rockies by serving as assistant hostess at the Lodge.

Our next stop was in Northern New Mexico where we visited with three former Ochiltree County people, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Fabank and Dave Kettell. Another old timer from these parts, Earl Fryer, dropped in while we were there. Earl and Mrs. Fryer are in the ranching business.

We also saw Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hall and daughter, Yvonne; and Harold Wimber and family, all former Ochiltrees. They live at the Ghost Ranch, north of Espanola, N. M. Herman is foreman of this little 47,000 acre outfit.

We were in Albuquerque for a short time and enjoyed visits with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McLarty, Mr. and Mrs. Hay McMillen and son. Missed seeing another former Perryton citizen, Don E. Woodward, who was out of town for a few days.

So we want to say again, plan your vacation trip and make your reservations in advance. Planned trips are not so hot, but we think that's the best way to go this year. Our idea of vacation trips is to just start out, stop and go when you get ready . . . but such won't work out this year.

dated if payment is made on or before June 29.

On the whole delinquent taxes have been kept to a small portion of the total tax rolls, and it is hoped that Ochiltree county citizens will continue to maintain their fine record as this aids materially to better government. Sheriff Lance said.

SUNDAY LESSON

Jesus' Casualness Emphasizes Power Over His Friend

The International Sunday School
Lesson for June 30
Scripture: Mark 16:15-16, 18-20;
Luke 24:45-49; Acts 2:46-47;
5:42

ASIDE from the character and attributes that mark Him as divine, Jesus stands in history as a remarkable figure. Men have been famous for the books they have written; but Jesus, so far as we know, wrote no book. Men have won fame for powerful organizations they created on earth; but Jesus apparently organized only teachers and evangelists, leaving to those who came after Him the large and detailed work of organizing the church. Men like Moses are famous as lawmakers; Jesus established no codes. About His life and teaching there was a seemingly strange casualness. Yet all the casualness appears to have been a part of God's purpose. The Christian religion, like the Master himself and His teaching, was not to be a haphazard and circum-scribed thing. It was to have free course.

Note how the divine purpose in the free emergence of Christianity has been manifested and justified. The Master, who wrote no book, has inspired the best and most beautiful book of all—the Gospels and the New Testament. The Master, who apparently effected no great, formal organization, so inspired His disciples and so enriched their experience that they, humble men whom He had called from fishing nets and customs seats, became Christian statesmen and organizers. Their failure to understand Him continued to the Cross itself, and until His resurrection revived and quickened their faith they were ready to go back to their fishing nets. But their faith was revived and quickened. They did receive power from on high as the Holy Spirit came upon them. They discovered as they never had before what it meant to be the friends of Jesus, and as the friends of Jesus they carried on His work. It is our privilege, as friends of Jesus, still to carry it on.

Christian Science

"Christian Science" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 30.
The Golden Text is: "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money, come ye, buy and eat: yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price" (Isaiah 55:1).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path" (Psalms 119: 105).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The

don herold says:

I do not want to return to the "old days." There were a lot of things wrong with them. But there were some things that were partly all right about 'em. In the old days, if a man wanted more pay, he asked his boss for more pay and either got it, or he hunted for a better job, or he did more or better work, or he quit, and went into business for himself. These days, he forms himself into a monopoly with 300,000 other men and they all stop work and paralyze not only their own industry but half the industries in the nation—putting thousands of other men out of work. A succession of these fights, and half the nation is out of business most of the time. There should be some way—arbitration—impartial labor courts—or something—to stop these nation-cripping blitz-kriegs.

still, small voice' of scientific thought reaches over continent and ocean to the globe's remotest bound. The inaudible voice of Truth is to the human mind, 'as when a lion roareth' It is heard in the desert and in dark places of fear" (page 559).

What Is Americanism?

By Charming Pollock

In support of the campaign of the National Americanism Endowment Fund to raise $450,000 in Texas, as the opening of a $15,000,000 nation-wide drive to support an expanded program of public welfare work and education in the fundamental principles of Constitutional Americanism, permission to use this editorial was given

The American Legion by Charming Pollock, famous playwright and essayist, and King Features, Inc. (Editor's Note)

The United States is unique in that most of its population started at scratch.

Our original settlers, James Truett Adams says in "The Epic of America," "came from prisons, from hovels, from little farm outrages, from country manor houses and estates, but never from palaces."

Europe was frozen into ruts from which it was impossible for anyone to escape; frozen into classes, and limitations of earning power, and prescribed religious faiths. A poor man must remain poor; a common man remain obsequious and subservient.

So THE best of Europe, in the sense that they were the hardest and most enterprising, set forth on the long, painful and hazardous voyage to a wilderness sunlit by opportunity. Here, they believed, were to be found fair rewards for industry, thrift and intelligence, and a social position depending wholly upon these. They wanted food and freedom; material betterment and things of the spirit.

Fundamentally, theirs was the religion of self-reliance. Let everyone be his own man and let the best man win. There was no room for weaklings and parasites. The "delicate and unfitted . . . that cannot endure the biting of a musketeer," William Bradford, one of the leaders, wrote, "we would wish to keep such at home, till at least they are musketeer proof." A Maryland colonist recorded that "the son works as well as the father, so that before they eat their bread they must earn it." If they worked well enough, the bread might become cake.

Out of all this came not only the best government, the strongest and most prosperous nation in history, but the blossoming, throughout the Occidental world, of the bud of liberty that had been more than a thousand years in development. As Ogden Mills pointed out in "The Seventeen Million," it is no accident that material progress has been greater during the last 150 years than in all the preceding centuries. The explanation is that in 1776 these settlers, these seekers after freedom and opportunity, proclaimed both, that the ideal became almost universal, and that thereafter men assured of the full rewards of their labor, of the right to think and speak and act as they pleased within laws of their own making, breathed a new zenith of happiness and achievement.

There is no mystery in Americanism. It is the warrant that a man may be Master of his Fate and Captain of his Soul. You will find it in every paragraph of the Declaration of Independence, beginning with the assertion that Governments derive "their just powers from the consent of the governed," and throughout the Constitution, which provides for political equality and free and secret elections.

It provides more: The protection of minorities against majorities. "Consent of the governed" doesn't mean 51 per cent of the governed, but ALL of them. The fact—if it were a fact—that 99 per cent of our citizens voted to take the life, liberty or property of the remaining one per cent gives them no right to do so under the Constitution. These guarantees were safeguarded by what has been called a system of checks and balances—by provision for the independent functioning of the Executive, Legislative and Judiciary branches of Government.

They were further safeguarded by the first ten amendments to the Constitution, known as the Bill of Rights. Among these rights are: The right of free speech and a free press; that is, the right to hold and express opinion, and to free sources of information. Also, the right to get together for public or private discussion and the right to worship as we choose.

The right to bear arms—to protect ourselves, by force if need be, against tyranny.

The right to be secure in our persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures.

The guarantee that we shall not the spirit of the Declaration and the Constitution, you have any right that was overlooked, you are assured that it remains your right. All these rights, and many more, have been nullified and violated under the "isms" — Communism and Fascism—now being urged as superior to Americanism. Naturally, I have spoken of the spread of liberty "throughout the Occidental world," but it never spread to the Orient. Slavery and absolute monarchy, under whatever name, have continued to be Eastern concepts, and were adopted by the Fascists. Individualism is an Occidental invention; collectivism is Oriental.

The possessor of the blessings of Americanism will do well to think hard before he sacrifices any of them to the fancied security of a planned economy or a Totalitarian State. Whatever their promise can be no compensation for having every word and deed reported by secret police, for dreading the track of the Gestapo or the OGPU, and liquidation at the nod of dictatorship.

There's no need for any radical change in Americanism. What's done pretty well without radical change so far, and none of the new inventions "isms" seem to have helped much. Slow, steady and organic development within the framework of the Constitution is another thing, and it has been going on from the beginning.

The Best Years of His Life...

"Give Us This Day OUR DAILY BREAD"

Hungry lips across the world are breathing new fervency into the measured words of the Lord's Prayer . . .

"Give us this day our daily bread."

Have you ever been hungry — really hungry? The kind of hunger that gnaws at every waking thought, that sticks to your consciousness like a painful sore? Millions of people today are living with such a hunger as their constant companion.

They ask for bread.

When life cuts down to its fundamentals, when finding enough food to stay alive is an everyday problem, BREAD is a word that means life itself.

So it has been throughout history, when famine walks abroad. So it is now in Europe and Asia. Suppose, from a storehouse containing samples of all the world's foods, you had to pick the smallest selection that would sustain life and health.

You would be wise to choose two—cereal grains and milk.

There are very few nutritive essentials that are not well represented by a proper combination of milk and cereal grains.

Fruits, vegetables and other foods round out your diet, of course; but when you get down to essentials, cereal grains and milk are the great "lifesavers."

WHY CEREAL GRAINS ARE THE GREAT "LIFESAVERS"

If you have an average U. S. appetite, you get about one-third of your food energy and protein from cereal products. Yet in some of the more densely populated parts of the world, 80% to 90% of the total protein comes from plant sources, mostly grains.

American ingenuity and equipment was a big factor in winning the war. Now American wheat is being drafted to help win the peace.

Because cereal grains are the most basic, essential-to-life foods.

Because these foods have high nutritive value.

Because a crop can be grown in a few months, and wheat or flour is easily handled and shipped.

During coming weeks you are likely to find times when you, in this land of plenty, are unable to buy a loaf of bread. We hope you won't complain. We hope you will think of it as a sacrifice which all of us—your baker, food dealer, miller and you—must make if world-wide starvation is to be averted. If millions in many nations are to live.

Does Free Collective Bargaining Require Revision of the Wagner Act?

As debated by
Richard Hapgood
Executive Vice President
Tool Owners Union

MR. HAPGOOD OPENS: It certainly does. Let's first agree our labor problems won't be solved by government meddling, hasty legislation, nor by coercion on anyone's part. Let's agree further, any balanced solution to the labor problem must be found in free bargaining (collective and individual), interpreted to mean exactly what it says. That is, the disputed questions should be laid on the table face up and all groups with a stake in the game should have a chance to watch the play, and even, where necessary, to kibitz. It must be admitted the Wagner Act is an insuperable block to this procedure, since it's clearly a one-sided law favoring 15 million union members and ignoring completely the 35 million workers who are unorganized. Worse than that—no consideration whatever is given to the bargaining right of the 50 million tool owners of American business without whose thrift and self-denial the 15 million would have no tools to use. And these tools do 90% of the work. How can bargaining be practicable under such conditions? While one piece of legislation (the Wagner Act) operates to increase the power of a minority at the expense of the vast majority of citizens, the democratic principle of the greatest good for the greatest number is unworkable. Free bargaining thus ceases to exist, and cannot be restored until the faulty Act is radically revised.

DR. MITCHELL CHALLENGES: I object to Mr. Hapgood's points. First, individual bargaining is rarely free bargaining. The individual worker is far more dependent on one employer than the employer is dependent on any one worker. Second, the Wagner Act is not a block to collective bargaining, but removes the obstacles of employer spies, blacklist, and just plain stubbornness. Third, the law protects the right of union recognition and collective bargaining. All workers may readily avail themselves of these advantages by organizing or joining unions. Fourth, Mr. Hapgood's "tool owners" aren't identical with employers or management, but aside from that, the law was not passed to protect their rights which nobody has ever questioned.

MR. HAPGOOD REPLIES: What management is to the tool owners, union leaders are to the tool users—but management, under the Wagner Act, has lost its seat at the bargaining table to pro-labor government, leaving the tool owner unrepresented. Under present conditions the best that can be hoped for by the owners of the tools is that strike-bound property will not be seized and that their earnings will not be confiscated. It is amazing to see 50 million people—all of whom can vote—being pushed around by 15 million through pressure group activities. Have intimidated the United States Government into this lopsided unfair procedure.

Ways to Help Avoid Heat Exhaustion

The following measures will help prevent heat exhaustion among farm workers: Drink cool water and lemon or other citrus fruit juices, avoiding alcohol and ice water. Eat vegetables and light, easily digested foods. Wear light, loose clothing; avoid over fatigue; bathe daily; get plenty of sleep. Rehydrate body salt lost through perspiration by salting food, drinking salt water, or by taking salt tablets—about eight 10-grain tablets daily.

Sunstroke results from prolonged exposure to the rays of the sun. Consequently, it is advisable to keep the head covered with light loose-fitting, comfortable clothing.

Are you making cucumber pickles this summer? The right amount of salt is important. If the brine is too weak, the pickles will be soft. If the brine is too strong, pickles will shrivel. Ask your home demonstration agent for bulletin H-131 on pickling.

Use every precaution possible to prevent fires in your home. Before you doze, "My home just couldn't burn" and out to see fire hazards.

Being fed at A&M and pullets are being produced by the Texas A. and M. College Poultry Farm this season. The pullets will replace unprofitable hens that are being culled from the present laying flock.

Like every other poultry owner, the College is faced with a serious feed problem. What they are doing to reduce the amount of feed required to care for two thousand growing pullets.

The birds are turned into a fresh green sudan grass pasture at six o'clock each morning. They return to the large, well ventilated houses for a fill of mash during the hot part of the day. Then they come out for another feeding on the grass in the cool of the evening.

All doors and other openings are locked when the pullets go to roost.

Firestone -GROUND GRIPS- CENTER BITE

ONLY Firestone Ground Grip tires will put up to 215 extra inches of tread rubber on your tractor. That is because Firestone holds exclusive patents on the right to build tires with the longer, connected, triple-braced traction bars. This extra tread rubber closes open centers that clog with mud and trash and cause tires to slip. It gives Ground Grips a powerful "center bite."

Just one cubic inch of rubber isn't much, but 215 like it make a set of Firestone Ground Grips the toughest, longest lasting, best pulling tractor tires on the market.

You will find many of these 215 cubic inches of rubber right in the heart of the Ground Grip tread where they share the heaviest part of your traction load. That means your tires wear longer. Because the traction bars are connected, they're protected against bending and breaking. This added strength means longer life, too.

And as for pulling, these 215 extra cubic inches of tread bar rubber are right in there punching every time they strike the surface, forcing their way into the ground.

No wonder then, that the extra tread rubber in a set of Ground Grips increases the drawbar pull of your tractor by as much as 16% . . . or that it increases tread life by 40%. And since you get a cord body that is 14% stronger, Ground Grips are without question your best buy when you need new tractor tires.

WAKE UP, AMERICA! Should Russia Have Free Access to the Dardanelles?

As debated by

Dr. Emil Lengyel, Assistant Professor, School of Education, New York University, Author, "Turkey" and "The Danube"

Murray G. Harris, Military Authority and Near Eastern Expert

DR. LENGYEL OPENS: Russia should have free access to the Dardanelles. In peace or war she should have the right to send her ships across the Straits. This privilege should be extended to all Black Sea powers, of which she is the largest. To the others it means little since they have no navies. This virtually means the Straits should be considered "high seas" from Russia's viewpoint and should not, therefore, remain under exclusive Turkish territorial jurisdiction. There is good reason for considering the Straits (Dardanelles, Sea of Marmara and Bosphorus) "high seas". They are the only warm-water gate of Russia sprawling across half the world all the way to the Pacific. Russia will keep on causing trouble unless she has this warm-water route. She has been causing trouble for the last two and a half centuries for this reason. She can no more remain quiet when she is in an overheated pot. When Stalin says Russia needs this outlet he speaks as a Russian—not as a Communist. Then he speaks the language of Peter the Great and Catherine the Great, the language of "holy Russia". If ever the term of "manifest destiny" was justified, it is here. No amount of firm talk in the U.N. or any other world organization can preserve world peace while Russia is frustrated in fulfilling her historical mission in the Dardanelles.

MR. HARRIS OPENS: There is a fort on the Dardanelles called Kilit el Bahr, the "Key of the Sea". Possession of that key has been Russia's policy ever since Peter the Great. But at the Treaty of Lausanne in 1923 the Bolsheviks opposed the opening of the Dardanelles. They wanted to bolt the door because they were weak and feared their enemies might enter the Black Sea. They feel stronger now and have gone back to the old slogan of free passage for all. Russia is pressing down everywhere. She has got what she wants in Northern Iran; she is claiming Armenia, not for the Armenians but for the Soviet. She has her eye on Tripoli and even the Dodecanese. If she succeeds, it would put her astride that lifeline which was the prime objective of allied arms in this war. This leads straight to the world's richest prize, if not of wealth, certainly of power—the oil of the Middle East. The proved and indicated reserves are greater than those of the United States. Hence, the area is of really vital import to America. Leading oil men say Russia can get all she wants out of her own soil, in spite of her inefficient methods. So Russia's ultimate aim may be to put the squeeze on Britain's lifeline and on Anglo-American oil development in the Middle East. In other words, purely strategic.

MR. HARRIS CHALLENGES: The term "high seas" means outside the three-mile limit of territorial waters. It cannot apply to the Dardanelles, nowhere three miles wide. Russia has two year-round ports, Murmansk and Vladivostok, and transit rights over Manchurian railways to ice-free Dairen. The Straits were always a free warm-water route for all ships, including Russian, proceeding on their lawful occasions in normal times. The true purport of Russia's "historical mission" is shown by the old Russian name for Constantinople—Cairigrad, City of the Cross. Russia was promised all she wanted in 1915, but all such agreements were nullified when she collapsed and made a separate peace.

DR. LENGYEL REPLIES: The ice-free ports Mr. Harris mentions are thousands of miles from European trunk trade-lanes. In "normal times" Russian ships move freely across the Straits but it's in "abnormal times" this freedom is needed mostly, as demonstrated in two World Wars at Russia's expense, and ours, too. We go nowhere fast by sticking to useless "definitions of 'high seas'". Even then the Sea of Marmara—one of three links constituting the chain of the Straits—qualifies as "high seas". Yet, it is under Turkish jurisdiction. Natural waterways, like the Straits, should be accorded different treatment, though they are within the three-mile limit. Otherwise, Russian pressure, accumulated over the centuries, is bound to break the Dardanelles bottleneck.

Pick a Pickle Canning Talk

Uncle Sam! The government at Washington has encouraged everybody in recent years to run crying to it with every little trouble. They have come awfully close to turning us into a whole nation of mamma-babies, sissies and softies. This country was built by men with guts enough to strike out on their own, men who didn't ask Uncle Sam to protect them from every bruise and bump. Today it seems as if nobody wants to work or fight or live or breathe without a "guarantee" and a feather cushion from Uncle Sam. If we don't watch out, the politicians will get us right where they want us—dependent on them for everything in life, God forbid!

Lubbock VA Has Many Problems

Since the opening of the Vocational rehabilitation and education division of the VA Lubbock regional office on June 1, 107 veterans have been approved for entry into training and 180 veterans have been enrolled in training, reported Elton P. Fuller, chief of the division. Forty-three of the 180 awards for subsistence were for veterans with disability or vocational handicap.

On Thursday, June 13, the division authorized subsistence for 71 of these veterans and issued 44 "certificates of eligibility and entitlement"—official permit to go to school—to disability and non-disability cases. Fifty-two adjustments to subsistence have been completed.

Following authorization of subsistence by the vocational rehabilitation and education division, payment to veterans is made through the finance division, allowing $90 per month for married veterans and $65 per month for single veterans.

Regarding further activities of the division, nine thousand files have been inventoried, 250 new files have been created, and 4,500 pieces of mail have been received, sorted and routed to various sections for action.

Forty business institutions in the Lubbock vicinity have been surveyed for recommended approval to train veterans on the job. Determination of eligibility for benefits and certification as to the education or training to which each applicant is entitled is conducted by this division. Veterans classified as eligible receive on-the-job or institutional training. The division assembles regional data concerning the need for general education and for trained personnel in the various crafts, trades and professions.

Individual files and status records for each veteran applying for vocational rehabilitation and for each veteran receiving education or training are maintained. The disabled veteran is under stricter supervision of the division than the non-disabled veteran. Personal counsel is given the veteran and technical correspondence is conducted with those making inquiries concerning vocational rehabilitation and education.

Key personnel of the vocational rehabilitation and education division consists of Elton P. Fuller, chief; M. L. Penn, assistant chief; George A. Heath, chief, advancement and guidance section; Carl G. Clift, chief, education and training section; Luther H. Edwards, chief, registration and research section; and Ben Boswell, chief, training facilities section.

Consider Basement When Building Home

COLLEGE STATION—Whether to build a basement—a question architects have debated for years—is a primary problem the family now planning a new home must decide. M. R. Bentley, agricultural engineer for the A. and M. College Extension Service, has summed up some arguments on both sides for the information of the prospective home builder.

Those in favor of a basement point out that besides providing space for a central heating plant and fuel storage, more effective heating often is obtained when the unit is located below the house level. A basement provides space for storage, workshop, recreation and laundry that might be difficult to locate elsewhere in the house. In cold climates where the foundation must go deep into the ground to get below the frost-line, the cost of the basement is partly paid for anyway.

The fact that many of the newer heating systems do not need to be below the first floor to function well is one of the arguments against a basement. Another is that workshops, laundry and recreation rooms are more satisfactory above ground where they have better light and ventilation and are more convenient to reach. Also, basements are often too damp for good storage of many articles. Proper insulation will be as effective as below ground heating. A basement means carrying loads up and down stairs, adding to the strain of housekeeping.

Mr. Bentley says that where frost is not a serious problem, economical durable buildings without basements may be built on concrete slabs for foundation and floors, although such floors are not so comfortable as wood floors. A good basement costs money to build, but brings greater returns in comfort in a cold climate.

Disabled Vets Producers

Disabled veterans on occupational therapy farms operated in connection with 31 veterans' administration neuropsychiatric hospitals will this year attempt to surpass their last year's record production of 9,857,000 pounds of foodstuffs valued at $948,678.

The higher goal set for this year will aid in conserving other foods for feeding the hungry in Europe, but it will also furnish thousands of patients in VA hospitals with fresh vegetables, fruits, eggs, milk and meat. Although the agricultural activities on VA farms are operated primarily to provide beneficial therapy for patients, all of the food grown is used in hospital kitchens and none is wasted.

During the past year, more than 2,000 patients in the 31 VA hospitals spent a total of 2,265,000 man hours cultivating gardens and tending cattle, sheep, hogs and chickens. They provided the dietetic departments of the hospitals with a total of thousands of pounds of badly-needed food products.

The largest farm is at Chillicothe, Ohio, where 1,444 acres is devoted to truck gardening, wheat and barley crops and pasture for dairy herds.

Questions and Answers

Q. My husband was killed in action on Luzon and I have had several tell me I may be entitled to get a loan to build a home under the G. I. bill of rights. Is this true? And if it is not, then I as one of the many widows of this war think we should be able to. I have three children and have to pay $18 per month for rent which I could be putting into my own home.—Mrs. S. M. S., Littlefield, Texas.

A. As a widow you are not entitled to loan privileges under the G. I. bill. You are, however, entitled to (1) all your husband's back pay, plus a gift of six months pay from the army, (2) a pension for life for yourself and a pension for each of your three children until they are of age. Unless you have already done so, you should make application immediately for back pay allowances to claims division, general accounting office, office of special settlement accounts, 27 Pine street, New York 5, New York. For your pension write all details or visit personally your nearest Veterans' administration hospital or office at Amarillo or Wichita Falls.

Q. My husband has been in service 16 months, 5 months in the states and overseas 11 months. We have one child. What I want to know is does he get two points for the 11 months overseas. Do they get two points a month now?—Mrs. F. C. T., Marshall, N. C.

A. He receives one point a month for each month of service and an additional point for each month overseas, up to September 2, 1945.

Q. My husband has been in service 18 months and overseas 10 months. He has 42 points. All the boys who went with him have already come back. If my husband is still in the hospital, has he been there over 3 months. Do you think he will get home soon?—Mrs. O. C., Tishomingo, Miss.

A. I have no way of knowing how long he will be in the hospital. If he has 40 points, he should be home by June 30, 1946, unless he is detained for some other cause.

Q. I am a widow with four children, my husband died in 1916 during World War I. His death was not connected with the war. I have reared my children from the time of his death until now, 30 years, without an income of any kind. He died before he was enlisted in World War I. Am I entitled to a widow's pension?—Mrs. K. M. C., Union Church, Miss.

A. No, since your husband was never in the army, you are not entitled to a veteran's pension.

Q. My husband was discharged from the army November 21, 1945. He had a war bond coming at that time and hasn't received it as yet. Where should I write to find out about this?—Mrs. J. L. C., Lewisport, Ky.

A. Write to war bond division, U. S. army, 4300 Goodfellow blvd., St. Louis 20, Mo.

Q. My husband was drafted into the army in August, 1944. He landed in India in August, 1945, and is still there, not expecting to be home any time soon. How many points does he have?—Mrs. M. D. P., Blue Springs, Miss.

A. As of September 2, 1945, your husband had 13 months service, or 13 points, plus 1 month overseas or an additional point. If he has no children and no decoration or battle stars, he then has 14 points. No, he will not continue to earn points after September 2, 1945, the army now considering length of service.

but this time most of the picture is predicated upon comedy and domestic life, with the inventions playing a background role.

Miss Loy is the first to admit that she's happy to escape the "perfect wife" type of role, which resulted from her work in the "Thin Man" series.

Ameche is equally happy that he doesn't have to spend most of his time in a laboratory looking serious and detached. He actually plays something of a humorist, which the Maxim character seems to have been. It's all in fun, and a real respite for Don.

Skirball, who sold a profitable chain of theatres to try his hand at motion picture production, has brought his feeling of public reaction to movie-making. Manning, a former New Orleans newspaper man, helped to write the screenplay, and worked with Skirball on the production end.

Joseph Valentine, one of the best photographers in the business, was head cameraman on the project. This is the fifth time he has worked with Skirball.

Directed by Frank Ryan, the cast of "So Goes My Love" includes Rhys Williams, young Bobby Driscoll and Richard Gaines.

Isn't it peculiar how a woman can dash through a department store aisle that's only a few feet wide and never upset a thing; then drive home and knock the doors off a 12-foot garage?

ROMANTIC SURPRISE of the year is furnished by co-stars Myrna Loy and Don Ameche in the gay new Universal release, "So Goes My Love", showing at the Ellis Theatre Sunday & Monday, June 30, July 1.

Trench Mouth Data Given

AUSTIN—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has released some interesting information concerning Vincent's angina which was commonly called "trench mouth" during World War I.

Dr. Cox states that Vincent's angina is a specific infection producing inflammatory condition of the mucous membranes, more commonly those of the mouth, and the disease is spread by indirect as well as direct contact.

"Because of the readiness with which this disease is transmitted, it has been occasionally found in epidemic form among school children and other groups," Dr. Cox states. "Vincent's angina assumed epidemic proportions in the front line trenches in 1914-1918 and it was during this period that the disease became generally known as trench mouth."

Although trench mouth is now worldwide in distribution, reasonable application of preventive measures which are merely those in line with approved personal health practices will be found a sufficient defense against this infection.

According to the State Health Officer the most common causes of Vincent's angina are neglected mouths, broken teeth fillings, and other types of oral irritation. Daily hygiene, plus the periodic visit to the dentist can be relied upon as reasonable buffers against this infection. However, persons who are very careful regarding oral hygiene can acquire this disease by using infected drinking cups and eating utensils and other personal articles; also by kissing, though healthy gums and mucous membranes have a much superior resistance to the infection than does an unclean mouth.

COLLEGE STATION—Camping and picnic season is here in earnest and tasty menus for outdoor excursions must be planned. Edith Lawrence, specialist in food preparation for the A. and M. College Extension Service, says the task can be made easy with a few simple rules and some interesting recipes.

Meals should be kept simple. One main dish, possibly combining protein and starchy food, a crisp or chewy vegetable, one starchy food, and fruit for dessert will make a substantial meal. Beverages which can be prepared ahead of time or that require little preparation at camp should be served. Water should be taken along unless source of supply is known to be safe.

After planning meals, Miss Lawrence advises listing supplies needed. A checking of all recipes will prevent something being left at home.

Recipes for chicken risotto, bean-hole beans, campfire stew, and other camp foods along with detailed menus for 2½ days and rules for successful meal planning are found in Extension Service publication MS-742 Food for Camp.

Anyone interested may obtain a copy from her county home demonstration agent or by writing to the Extension Service, A. and M. College, College Station, Texas.

Labor Immune

THE IMPERATIVE NECESSITY AND urgency of a sound national labor policy to promote industrial peace is emphasized by the public statement of six leading United States Senators, speaking for all parts of our country.

Three of them Democrats, three Republicans, the Senators—Byrd of Virginia, Hatch of New Mexico, Ellender of Louisiana, Ball of Minnesota, Taft of Ohio, and Smith of New Jersey—point out "significant omissions" in CIO President Murray's arguments against the Case Bill. Said the Senators:

He does not defend the practices which this bill would prohibit. He does not assert that it is right the unions should practice robbery or extortion by violence in commerce. He does not argue that it is right for unions to paralyze the nation or a community by pulling the switches and closing down essential utilities without notice.

He does not argue that it is right the unions should escape responsibilities for the acts of their agents. He does not argue that it is right for unions to violate their contracts. He does not argue that it is right for unions to combine with others to fix prices or restrict competition.

This, apparently, would be carrying the matter a little too far. Yet today every one of these things can be done by unions, with complete legal immunity.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Burton returned home last Tuesday evening from several weeks spent vacationing in the Eastern States.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Raynor and children, Richard and Billy came in from Los Angeles, Calif. last week to spend the summer months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. McLain.

BABSON DISCUSSES BUILDING

ROGER W. BABSON, Editor-in-Chief

Babson Park, Mass. June 21—The market for houses—both old and new—is today as crazy as was the stock market in 1929. Someday there is bound to be a crash in the price of houses such as came in the stock market after the last big boom. Houses that cost $8,000 or more to build twenty years ago and which could have been bought ten years ago at $6,000 are now being sold at $12,000 or more.

Reasons for the Boom

There are three reasons for this unhealthy boom in houses: (1) The discharge from the army of 12,000,000 men, a large percentage of whom have been married during the past five years and now naturally want a home. (2) The crazy regulations of the government making it difficult to build new homes. (3) The labor union rules and the aim of their members to do as little work instead of as much work in the day as possible. Hence, it is difficult to get a new house built within a year even if one is willing to pay the fantastic prices.

I don't blame labor for unionizing and for demanding reasonable wage increases, but this "slowdown" in the work is absolutely wrong. Not only will wage-workers themselves be obliged to pay more in rents, but they may start a buyers' strike. People are disgusted with the way bricklayers, carpenters and painters are apparently doing as little as possible and dragging out the work. The nation's standard of living can be raised only by all of us producing more. We cannot pull ourselves up by our bootstraps.

Shall We Sell?

Should homeowners who have a chance to double their money on their present house now sell? My answer is that if it is a house which you own and do not occupy, but from which you collect rents, sell it. This will give you a good profit and you will be rendering a service by helping to break this present crazy market. On the other hand, if it is a house in which you live, unless you definitely have some other place to go, you cannot afford to sell even at these crazy high prices.

The same general advice apply to business property and farm property. Factories, stores and farms which you occupy yourself, you should continue to hold, but now is the time to "cash in" on those which you don't occupy but are collecting rents therefrom. Of course, we are in inflation and it will continue to increase, but there has never yet been an era of inflation that was not followed by an era of deflation.

Getting Tenants Out

The general rules about getting tenants out of houses which they now occupy are as follows: (1) If the property is bought by a G. I. man who immediately gets a lawyer to prepare the proper notices, the tenant can be evicted in three months. (2) If the property is bought by anyone who is to occupy it himself with his family and who immediately employs a lawyer to prepare proper notices, the tenant can be evicted in six months. (3) If your case conforms with neither of the two above mentioned, you will have a hard time in getting the tenant out unless he is willing to move out. Thus, the purchase of homes for speculation is risky.

Not only are old houses selling for more than they are worth, but new houses are likewise inflated. This, however, is not the fault of the contractors. They are working hard to give you as good a house as they can at a fair price. They, moreover, are severely handicapped by labor conditions and material shortages. Yes, they long for the time when they will again be able to build good houses at reasonable prices. They are not only handicapped by the labor unions, but they hate to use the green lumber and small sizes which they are compelled to do at the present time.

QUOTES OF THE WEEK

"I've got to have a man around the place."—Mrs. Mattie Lyons Large, 79, of Louisa, Ky., marrying Delbert Sprouse, 18.

"I don't want to spend the rest of my life explaining."—Senator McKellar, Tenn., on why he wouldn't vote for higher Congressional pay.

"Something ought to be done about the way we waste time in the House."—Rep. Fred Bradley, Michigan.

"Government edict has replaced collective bargaining."—H. V. Kallenborn, commentator, on steel, coal, strike settlements.

"It is becoming increasingly clear that Communism is now the No. 1 issue in American trade unionism."—The Labor Union, Dayton, O.

"We've got enough war veterans already."—Gen. Omar Bradley, Veterans' Administrator, deprecating future conflicts.

Therefore, my final suggestion is that if you can get on without buying a house at the present time, you had better do so. On the other hand, this probably means waiting until after 1950 before you can get a decent house at a fair price.

CASE STRIKE COSTS FARMERS THOUSANDS OF FARM MACHINES

"Farmers throughout the nation have lost the use of thousands of tractors and even greater quantities of other farm machines as a result of a strike called at the plants of the J. I. Case Company," officials stated today.

Production has been paralyzed on hundreds of thousands of dollars of needed replacement parts in addition to the tillage, seeding and harvesting units which will never come off the assembly line, it was pointed out.

The strike, called by the Union on December 26, is being prolonged at the Rockford and Racine, Wis., plants although employees at the Rock Island and at Burlington, Iowa, have returned to work in full force.

Case officials rejected Union demands for a 30 per cent increase on grounds that such a demand is unfair to its farmer customers who would have to foot the bill.

"It is inevitable that large increases in the cost of manufacture must result in higher prices for farm machinery," Case officials stated today. "All but a fraction of each production dollar goes directly or indirectly into wages. The wage level cannot be drastically advanced without the burden being passed on to the farmer customer. It is the policy of the Company to pay wages as high as those paid in the community for similar work and that will continue to be Case policy."

The current wave of strikes which has crippled the farm machinery industry has aroused considerable alarm in Washington, according to dispatches from the Capitol. The food study committee in Congress has called on the Administration to give farm machinery priority, pointing out that restrictions produced an almost complete stoppage starting in 1943 and that the situation has become more critical each year as equipment wore out.

Assembly lines were starting to move at near-normal speed in the industry when strikes set in and prevented farmers from getting but a fraction of much-needed machinery. The Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics has estimated that the accumulated need for new equipment "will far overshadow" limited supplies now in prospect.

Case officials also pointed out that the loss to employees in wages as a result of the strike would affect the farmer as well as other groups in the community. Employees of the J. I. Case Company alone have lost more than $3,000,000 in wages since the strike began on December 26, 1945.

"There were no problems which could be settled on the picket line that couldn't be settled on the production line," Case officials asserted. "There had been no cutback in wages or hours. Employees were still taking home 'war-time' pay envelopes. They were fully aware of the urgent need for farm machinery but took this occasion to call a strike, demanding a 30 per cent increase in wages and greater powers for the Union."

Should Detect Diabetes Early

When we read about people who lived in the Middle Ages and come across a description of the meals which were served them, sometimes we are shocked at the food that the well-to-do consumed. Perhaps we should remember, however, that people were more active in those days than they are today.
 Some of the diseases which people have today may be traced, in part, to their failure to adjust their eating habits to the lives they lead. One of the reasons that diabetes has become more common in recent years may be that people are eating too much rich food while living rather sedentary lives. This, of course, is not the only explanation for the greater prevalence of diabetes but it is undoubtedly one of the factors involved.
 Diabetes is due to an over-abundance of sugar in the blood. The body requires sugar for heat and energy and it obtains this sugar from carbohydrates—such foods as tonnage will be obtained without sacrificing too much feed value. The man who waits to harvest hay until the plants have matured loses very much feed value although the yield might be higher. The season yield will be less, however, because plants cut when mature will not keep growing a sprouts cut earlier will do.

Although it does not take the place of hay and pasture, silage can be used to advantage on every farm. Silage is another source of cheap nutrients which can replace some of the high priced nutrients. The crop that yields the largest tonnage per acre should be used for silage. The better the feed that goes into the silo, the better the silage that comes out. Three tons per cow will be good feed insurance when grazing is short.

If more sugar is consumed than the body can use, the rest is stored away or turns to fat. Conversion of sugar into heat and energy is made possible by a secretion in the blood stream called insulin, which is manufactured by cells in the pancreas. If anything interferes with the flow of insulin, the body is unable to use the sugar consumed from carbohydrates and diabetes results.

Early symptoms of diabetes are constant thirst and hunger, even though a normal amount of food is eaten, loss of weight for no apparent reason and spells of weakness and dizziness.

If these symptoms are present, the individual should consult a doctor immediately. He will make a urinalysis and test the blood for sugar content. The earlier diabetes is discovered, the easier it is to control it.

The diabetic patient should be on a special diet as recommended by a doctor. Indiscriminate cutting down on carbohydrates is not sufficient to control the disease. The patient should be under medical care. Often the diabetic must take injections of insulin, made from the pancreas of certain animals, to supply the deficiency in his own blood. Insulin neither cures nor prevents diabetes. It is an aid in controlling the disease and should be used only as the doctor advises.

Any infection may have serious consequences for the diabetic. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, that extreme precaution be exercised to avoid infection or, in the case of even a small cut, to consult a physician.

Industrial Chaos is Seen in President Truman's Labor Bill

In the public interest, President Truman should either withdraw his request for emergency labor legislation or veto the pending measure when it reaches his desk. Ira Mosher, chairman of the board of the National Association of Manufacturers, declared last week.

"Temporary measures cannot possibly avert the wave of impending strikes," Mr. Mosher asserted, "and the President's bill if it becomes law will only multiply the chaos of an already desperately critical situation."

No Substitute

There can and must be no substitute for a permanent statutory national labor relations policy, the NAM chairman pointed out, and the Congress "owes it to the people to give such protection" before it adjourns.

"Nothing so well demonstrates the bankruptcy of the Administration's labor policy as the President's demand for dictatorial power in peacetime to seize plants, confiscate profits, conscript labor and arbitrarily impose wage rates and working conditions," Mr. Mosher said.

"This is the warp and woof of fascism and the antithesis of free labor, free management and free collective bargaining."

"The demand for power more drastic than that required even in the dark years of war is a confession of utter failure, a continuing demonstration of the futility of seeking a substitute for genuine collective bargaining."

Equality Vital

Genuine collective bargaining is the keynote of a sound national

Veterans NEWS

The veteran disabled in line of duty during his military or naval service has first claim on government medical aid in hospitalization. But ex-servicemen whose illnesses or injuries are not a result of their service also may receive free hospitalization, if they left the service under conditions other than dishonorable, and are unable to pay for treatment at a private hospital.

However, until the Veterans Administration's hospital construction program is completed, veterans with non-service-connected disabilities will experience some difficulty in obtaining hospitalization, since service-disabled vets hold the top priority.

In cases of life and death emergency, any veteran will be admitted immediately to any veteran's hospital. Next in line under the priority system is the vet with a service-connected disability. Third in the lineup is the veteran needing treatment for a non-service-connected disability, but receiving a pension for a disability he did acquire in service. Fourth is the veteran whose only disability is non-service-connected.

In an emergency case, a large part of the necessary paperwork may be deferred until after the veteran arrives at the hospital.

The procedure for a veteran with a non-service-connected disability who wishes to get into a VA hospital is as follows: He goes to the nearest VA regional office or hospital, or to a VA office in a small town, and files an application. He will be examined to determine his need for treatment, and he must certify that he is unable to pay for treatment at a private hospital.

A veteran with a service-connected disability follows a similar procedure, except that it is easier for him to establish eligibility for hospitalization. For example, his ability to pay for treatment is not considered; a veteran with a service-connected disability is always entitled to treatment at a veterans' hospital.

Disabled veterans taking vocational training are entitled to hospitalization or medical treatment at any time during their training period, if they suffer any injury or disease that would cause interruption of their training.

Soldier Letters

Inchian, Korea
June 6, 1946

Dear Van and Jessie,
 Don't you think it is about time for me to write you a line? I'm sorry not to have done so sooner, but with my opinion of things I'm afraid you wouldn't have enjoyed it. I received your card some time ago and thanks so very much for it. It is nice to know people are thinking of you. As for papers, I have only gotten eight of them. It isn't any fault of yours though. I have moved so many times and changed address so often quite a lot of mail hasn't caught up with me yet.

I have read of the other fellows sending you papers, so will try my luck. Maybe you haven't a copy of them yet ("Korean Kibitzer," "Korea Graphic," and "Stars and Stripes").

I'm getting along o. k., but am really anxious to get home. I'm just waiting on a boat now. Have a long wait, but should be home the last of July.

Hope to see you soon.

labor policy. Mr. Mosher emphasized.

"Genuine collective bargaining requires that labor and management be equal before the law. It requires that both parties have equal obligations to bargain collectively and to live up to their agreements."

"Genuine collective bargaining has not existed and it will not until those conditions are written into the law."

Mr. Mosher reviewed the "patch-work makeshift" in which the President put his faith rather than to endorse such a sound national labor policy, and continued:

Strikes Increase

"Since nothing basic has been done to make collective bargaining work, strikes continued to increase. Thereupon the President relied more and more on his power to seize plants."

"But the power to seize plants was not enough. Bricks and mortar and machinery by themselves do not produce goods. And organized labor in crucial instances has defied the government and refused to produce the needed goods."

The Presidential power to confiscate property and arbitrarily set wage rates and working conditions would mean the end of collective bargaining, Mr. Mosher concluded — "and there is little enough of it now."

NOT BIG ENOUGH FOR THE JOB

BUS STOP

Is your home wiring system big enough for its job?

The amount of electricity that a wire can conduct is limited by the size of the wire, just as the amount of water a pipe can carry is limited by the size of the pipe.

Wiring that is too small drops voltage and causes lights to dim and appliances to operate sluggishly . . . frequently results in blown fuses due to overloads. An insufficient number of branch circuits and outlets necessitates the use of unsightly, unsafe extension cords and limits the use of additional appliances.

If you plan to build, buy or remodel a home, it will pay you to insist on Adequate Wiring. Make sure you have enough circuits of large enough capacity to permit you to enjoy full measure electrical living. Don't let yourself be handicapped by "skimpy" wiring.

What is adequate wiring?

Adequate wiring simply means a service entrance large enough to bring in as much electricity as your home may need at any time, enough branch circuits of large enough wire to conduct a full measure of electrical energy to your lights and appliances, plus plenty of outlets and switches, properly located. Adequate wiring is the key to better electrical living.

Waiting is tough on us, too

For months we've been hoping to present each and every one of you with the new Packards you've ordered, and have been waiting for so patiently.

Last fall, the outlook was good. Packard was confident it would double its pre-war output in 1946. (The factory is equipped to turn out far more than that.)

Look what has happened!

Then came material shortages. Parts shortages. For reasons completely beyond its own control, Packard was able to keep its assembly line moving only nine days in the first quarter of this year.

In the meantime . . .

Our friends have kept calling us up and asking, "Hey! Where's that new Packard I ordered weeks ago?" Many of these are old friends—Packard owners since 'way back.

But to make life more complicated, everybody seems to want one of these grand new Packards. Over 65% of the people out to buy new Packards are now driving some other make.

Honest, it's gotten so we hate to answer the telephone or look our friends in the face. But . . .

Your patience will pay off!

One of these days, the shortage of parts and materials is bound to ease up. And when it does, those twin-assembly lines at Packard will really roll.

Anyway, you can depend on this:

As fast as the factory ships cars to us, we'll do everything we can to deliver yours at the earliest possible moment.

So, we hope you'll be patient a little longer. We're doing the best we can, and so are the folks at the factory!
