MELLON TURNS DELEGATION TO HOOVER GROUP

OTHERS JUMP ABOARD BAND WAGON; FIRST VOTE CHOICE SEEN
(By PAUL F. HAUPERT
Associated Press Staff Writer)
KANSAS CITY, June 12.—The nomination of Herbert Hoover for the presidency became a certainty today as the republican national convention was about to get under way when the big Pennsylvania delegation, at the suggestion of Secretary Mellon, decided to support the commerce secretary on the first ballot.

No sooner had word of the drift to the secretary of commerce spread among delegates from other states than the Idaho delegation of eleven, previously instructed for Senator Borah, decided to board the Hoover bandwagon and there were indications that before many hours many other delegations which have not been listed in the Hoover column would be found there.

Manager Is Jubilant
James W. Good, manager for Hoover, jubilant over the turn of events, predicted that his candidate would be nominated before seventy five per cent of the delegates had been recorded on the first ballot.

Clear That Coolidge Out
The statement said that when the delegation had caucused in Philadelphia that the president's position still was uncertain but that now that it was clear that he was not a candidate, "my suggestion to the delegation is that we vote for Hoover on the first ballot."

21 HURT IN NEBRASKA TORNADO

AS THE REPUBLICANS GATHERED TODAY FOR CONVENTION IN KANSAS CITY

NO ONE KILLED BUT PROPERTY DAMAGE GREAT

McCOOK HARDEST HIT WITH 20 HURT AND STORM SWEEPS ON

(By Associated Press)
LINCOLN, Nebr., June 12.—Twenty-one persons were reported injured and more than 100 homes wrecked or badly damaged when a tornado ripped through southwestern Nebraska last night. Only meager reports of the damage were available early today.

McCook, near the Kansas-Nebraska line, apparently was hardest hit by the storm, which originated in northwestern Kansas, passed over Ludell, where some damage was reported, and struck McCook. It continued northward to the Platte River valley, where it seemed to lose its torrid characteristics and become merely a violent wind storm, accompanied by rain and hail.

First reports from McCook said 20 persons were injured, two of them probably fatally, and approximately 100 homes demolished. A railroad employe said he watched the approach of the storm for miles. As it neared McCook he said he could see wreckage of the building flying through the air. It is believed much damage also was done in the section south and west of McCook.

At Ellsworth, Mrs. H. J. Blake was reported injured though not seriously. Several families were made homeless, telephone and telegraph service was cut off, much livestock killed and many buildings destroyed.

No estimates of property damage were available, but indications were that the total would reach many thousands dollars.

Uprooted trees, broken power lines and debris prevented an extensive survey in the darkness as volunteers set about searching the ruins for storm victims.

One of the big quadrennial political shows is on. The Republican National Convention opened in Kansas City today with the rap of a gavel in the hand of ex-Senator William Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee. The keynote speech of the convention will be delivered by Senator Simon D. Pess of Ohio, after which Senator George Moses is expected to be named permanent chairman. In the upper right is a scene in the interior of Kansas City's convention hall. In the lower left is an exterior view of Republicans' meeting place.

MRS. STEVENS COLLAPSES IN MURDER TRIAL

CROWDED COURT ROOM SEES WOMAN TAKEN FROM STAND

A packed court room, the majority of which were women, awaited the continuance of proceedings in the trial of Mrs. Nina Stevens, charged with the murder of Mrs. Thelma Collins, of her forced daughter-in-law before Judge Clark M. Mullins in the 99th district court this afternoon while the defendant, Mrs. Stevens rested in an adjoining room under the care of physicians as the result of her collapse during the morning.

A crowd in the court room, numbering approximately 450 individuals, was the largest experienced in a murder trial in the past several years, court officials said today.

Collapses On Stand
Stevens became ill during the middle of the morning as various defense witnesses were being examined. She was carried to an adjoining room where she was resting, unable to return to the stand until later.

A continuance of the trial appeared as a likelihood provided she did not recover this afternoon.

The witnesses appeared in the forenoon, the majority of them being placed on the stand to testify regarding the facts of the case.

In the proceedings yesterday and last night, the queries of witnesses tended to show that the defendant committed the act in self-defense and that she was threatened on various occasions by the slain woman.

C., June 12.—Forced down here shortly before dawn this morning in an attempted non-stop flight from Mexico City to Washington, Captain Emilio Carranza, young Mexican aviator, today awaited the lifting of the fog before resuming his good will flight to the capital of the United States.

"But I guess the people in Washington won't be so glad to see me now," he told the Associated Press. "And my countrymen won't be so proud of me now."

Asks For Instructions
Immediately after landing Captain Carranza sent a telegram to the Mexican ambassador at Washington, asking instructions. He then retired at a hotel with orders not to be called until 7 a. m.

The landing was made when the aviator ran into a dense fog that covered the airmail route he was following and he was unable to see the beacon lights. The aviator was taken to a hospital.

Dallas Man Dies As Car Dives In Lakes

DALLAS, June 12 (AP)—D. E. Mardrum, collector for a local chain store, plunged to his death in Stella Lake today when he apparently lost control of his car and went off a cliff into 15 feet of water.

There were no witnesses to the fatal plunge and the accident was not discovered until passers saw a hat floating on the surface.

DAWES MAY BE RUNNING MATE

By RALPH W. WHEALY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
KANSAS CITY, June 12.—Vice-President Daves' prospects for re-nomination soared high today when Secretary Mellon said he was the "logical candidate."

A meeting of the Pennsylvania delegation will be called soon, he said, to consider their stand on the vice-presidential nomination.

"I have not decided yet, how I will stand on the vice-presidency, but Daves is the logical candidate now," he added.

It will be recalled that at the Cleveland convention, Secretary Mellon more than any one else was responsible for the nomination of the Chicago banker.

Leaders here believe that Daves will accept the nomination, as Ed Clifford, of Evanston, Ill., the vice-president's home town, has set up a Daves office here and is going through the same maneuvers that he adopted at Cleveland where he had charge of Daves campaign.

Why Women Are Not Expert As Speakers

By NEA Service

Women could be as eloquent as men in public speaking if they took the trouble, according to Miss Helen Zaches, instructor in the English department of Cooper Union since 1899 and mentor of many famous orators.

"Inertia and a fear of public speaking are the two chief handicaps of women in public life," she insisted.

"Women are failures as speakers in the majority of cases largely because they do not realize the vital importance of proper preparation for thinking while on their feet."

"Speeches should be prepared carefully. One must know what she wants to say before she can say it. And, less a woman has had much experience, she never should speak extemporaneously. If she puts a little time and attention into it, she will find she really can talk."

"Women fail to realize that through their own careless habits of address much of the force of what they have to say is lost."

"If women get worried when talking, their light, naturally high-pitched voices become strident and discordant. But when they are sure of what they want to say they can have an easy delivery. In time they will realize that a speech should be prepared just the same as a dinner."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. O'Neill drove to Dallas last night to get a thoughtful and not weakly feminine to allow a man the pleasure of feeling that his wishes count for something in his own home.

You modern girls don't realize what a problem you are to your mothers as well as your husbands—and as well as yourselves. Forgive me if I have scolded you, but there are times, dear, when I feel that if you had been scolded more or disciplined more when you were at home you would be better fitted for your present job.

Please be careful, Marie. And do tell me what Julie did to restore peace in your hectic household.

Lovingly,
MOM.

NEXT: The reconciliation.

MARYE and MOM Their Letters

Dear Marie:

So long as I receive letters from you regularly, I do not read serial fiction. For your life seems to be just about as exciting as that of any story heroine.

They say hearts don't change, and I suppose that is true. But certainly moods and moods do. And the calm way in which you can recite one of the quatrains you and Alan have, as if it were just a part of the day's work, is beyond me.

If I had gone through such an angry scene with my husband as you did, I should have been a nervous wreck. And I would have been so unhappy that I would have wept for a week. Perhaps you are wiser to "get it out of your system, once and for all," as you put it.

I don't advise you to "crawl," Marie, but I do believe that you could employ more feminine tactics, and be just a little less direct in your dealings with your husband without injury to your standards.

After all, an artist or a playwright works very hard to get the very effect he is after, in order to create a masterpiece. A sculptor is careful about every mark of his chisel. But you whisk away at life as if nothing mattered but the effort. You seem to feel that any attempt to create a pattern or a thing of beauty out of human relationships is "old-fashioned."

I think you were absolutely wrong to make so light of your accident as you did when Alan came home, and I think it was quite your fault that you precipitated a scene.

If, instead of being flippanant and flaunting the fact that you defied Alan about Pete, you had been softer, and a little more considerate of Alan's pride, you could have averted everything, I am sure.

I can never make you understand it is not deceitful just to be

REVAMPED HUBBER MACHINE WINS SERIES FINAL AT COLEMAN

BEAN'S INJURY CAUSES SHIFT IN FIELD PLAY

"BLACKIE" ADAMS SOLD TO MIDLAND; ANDERSON IS RECALLED

COLEMAN, June 12.—Bennie Brownlow's revamped machine, changed due to the injuries of Bill Bean, stellar first baseman, took the series final yesterday afternoon with the league leading Bobcats by a score of 2 to 1. Cromer allowed the Hub City club but five hits but three of them and an error in the seventh, which gave the Hubbers their two markers.

Brownlow made several changes in the Lubbock club shifting Burch to first base; bringing Ratliff behind the plate; sent Red May to the outfield; and the pilot himself took the shortstop field.

Adams sold to Midland. Sherron M. Adams, leftfielder, was sold to Midland yesterday and he was replaced in the outer garden by Don Anderson, who was released last week, but recalled after the sale of Adams to Midland.

The Hubbers met Abilene today in the first double header bill of the three scheduled at the Sahara City.

Stars For Reds

Ethan Allen is just a few months off a college campus, but he's proving one of the big noises with the Cincinnati Reds this season. This is his second year in the majors, and he looks like he's good for several more. He is keeping his batting average far over the 300 mark and is playing an air-tight game in the field. He's considered one of the best young outfielders in the game.

MIDLAND, June 12.—Spirited over the return of the ten forfeited games the Colts yesterday broke through with a hitting rampage that resulted in a 27 to 9 win over the Pied Pipers in the series final. Harold left fielder for the Colts, had his perfect day at the bat, rapping out four home runs and a triple in the five trips, which is a league record for homers committed in one game.

YANKS IN "SLUMP" AS CHICAGO WINS SECOND

TENTH LOSS IN PRESENT GRIND GIVEN HUGMEN

ATHLETICS WIN 4 TO 2 FROM DETROIT CUTTING YANKS LEAD

The New York Yankees have struck their second "slump" of the season. They've lost two ball games in a row; their deficits have at least reached double figures, and their own and few percentage has slipped below 30. There appears little reason to believe however, that Miller Huggins has started to get in for any worrying on an intensive scale.

Quietly enough it was some other than the lowly Chicago White Sox who reached up from the American League cellar to smite the Yankees for their tenth set-back Monday, just as defeat No. 9 for the champions had come from the same team the day before.

Blankenship Airtight. Reverse No. 1 can be attributed to airtight pitching by Ted Blankenship who held murderers' row to four hits and would have had a 6 to 0 shutout but for Johnny Mostel's error in the seventh inning when the Yankees scored their one run.

Successive home runs by Al Simmons and Fox in the eighth enabled the Athletics to down Detroit 4 to 2, and cut the Yankees' lead to a mere nine and a half games.

The St. Louis Browns consolidated their place just back of the Athletics in the standing by turning back the Boston Red Sox 2 to 1. Alvin Crowder fanned six and allowed only that many hits.

The Cleveland Indians took it on the chin again, Washington walking off with a 7 to 6 victory in ten innings.

Magnifique the National League contenders—and there are about seven of them—continued their merry cut-throat competition.

Rally Wins for Reds. Five runs in the ninth gave the Cincinnati Reds their second straight over the New York Giants, 7 to 3. Val Picinich hit two homers, the second accounting for the Reds' last two and winning tallies.

St. Louis clung to the Red's pace-making heels with an easy triumph over the Boston Braves, 8 to 1. Grover Cleveland Alexander showing a surprising return to form.

Cubs' Bush outpitched McWeney and Ehrhardt, and the Chicago Cubs took the first game of the series with Brooklyn, 3 to 1.

The Pittsburgh Pirates' patched up lineup was so full of holes that Phil Hughes drove through to win, 6 to 4, scoring four of their runs in the seventh inning.

THE DOPE COLUMN

Fort Worth is making a desperate effort to overhaul Houston which leads the Texas League by four and one-half games. After a series of reverses, the Panthers swept forward Monday on a wave of heavy hitting and took a doubleheader from Shreveport, 5 to 4, and 13 to 8.

The Buffs clung to their margin by defeating San Antonio, 8 to 2, and Wichita Falls whittled down the Bears short lead over the Spudders by beating Dallas, 3 to 1. Only three games were scheduled.

The Panthers took an early lead over the Sports by scoring in the fourth. Shreveport tied the count in the seventh. Fort Worth came back in the eighth, with a three-run rally.

MEXICAN FLIER

seemed tired from his long flight from Mexico City.

The plane was functioning perfectly and the landing was made with little difficulty.

Captain Carranza who took off from Mexico City yesterday morning at 8:18 o'clock had been flying eighteen hours and twenty minutes. Until he struck the fog bank which had forced hardy air mail pilots to abandon their flights and send the mails on trains, he had held steadily to his course and was sighted at approximately scheduled time at various points along the route.

Exhibition of Skill. His landing in the darkness here was an exhibition of skill, residents said. More than a score of automobiles provided the landing lights after residents had been awakened by the roar of his motor as he circled the city, skimming the housetops in an effort to get his bearings.

"I ran into some headwinds over the Gulf of Mexico but had little trouble until I reached Spartanburg, S. C.," he said. He was flying low and very fast over the Atlantic-New York air mail route as he passed Spartanburg.

A short distance north of that place he ran into fog and became lost. "Every now and then I had to swing around to locate myself," he said.

When he became hopelessly lost he decided to land and was approximately thirty miles east of his route when he saw the lights of Mooreville. He did not know where he was until he landed.

A HUBBER A DAY

DON ANDERSON. Don Anderson, left fielder for the Hubbers, was born August 8, 1906, at Olney, Texas, at which place he has made his home with his parents since his birth.

Early school days were spent at Olney, but he completed his high school studies at Terrell Prep, Dallas, where he was a three letter man under the tutelage of P. W. Cawthorn, recent athletics director of Austin College, Sherman. Don lettered in baseball, football and track in Terrell.

Completing his prep work in the Terrell school Anderson entered Kemper Military Academy, Booneville, Mo., where he studied for two years. At Kemper Don was awarded in the outfield; in football he played base, indoor and outdoor track.

Is Speedy Runner. In college baseball Anderson played in the outfield; in football he played quarterback and half; and in track he was a dash man, clipping off the century dash at ten seconds.

Anderson's first semi-professional experience began with Olney club in 1923, which was managed by Quattlebaum, the hefty first baseman, who accompanied the Lubbock Hubbers to the Denver Post tournament that year.

Anderson's speed and fielding dash looked good to Sled Allen, manager of the Hubbers, and through the 1926 season Allen secured Don's services in the left field. During that season Don experienced an unusually good year, both in fielding and hitting.

Was Hurt In Football. Last summer Anderson did not play, as injuries received in the fall of 1926 in football at Kemper caused him to miss out during the entire '27 baseball season.

Early this spring Don signed his first professional baseball contract, reporting to Sled Allen at the Amarillo Texan spring training. Immediately before the opening of the Western League schedule he was released and sent to the Hubber camp where he was welcomed by Bennie Brownlow, and completed the outfield for the Lubbock entry in the West Texas circuit.

In the last Midland series at Midland Don hurt his old football injury, flipping his right knee out of place, which kept him out of the Hubber lineup during the last home games and was placed on the injury list.

He was released last Friday by the Hubber management after advisement from local physicians, but was recalled Monday by Bennie Brownlow, skipper of the homebats and played in the last game at Coleman, in which the Lubbock club won 2 to 1.

The last statistic reports released by the league gave Anderson a hitting average of .312.

Don bats from the left, throws right handed and is one of the fastest men in the league, making him a great base runner. He is capable of beating a great number of infield hits, dragging the agate down the third and first base lines.

of both the railroad men and commissioners that the subway should be built so as to provide for future traffic of both the railroad and the highway underneath. The subways will have double passageways with 14 foot drives and a four-foot sidewalk on each side. The clearance under the tracks will be fifteen feet.

Expect Early Action. Mr. Allison is to be notified shortly of the completion of arrangements here and he will in turn notify officials here of his company's action after conferring with other executives in Chicago.

Other Santa Fe officials in the conference yesterday were: J. C. Barton, of Slaton, division superintendent; T. A. Blair, of Slaton, division engineer; E. L. Main, of Amarillo, general engineer; R. J. Murawski, townsite agent and Roscoe Wilson, attorney, both of Lubbock.

Judge Prays Over Divorce Decision

LOS ANGELES, June 12 (AP)—How Judge Dudley Valentine prayed for 15 minutes before granting Albert Preston Henry, millionaire retired Detroit manufacturer, a divorce from his young wife on grounds of misconduct was related in affidavits filed here yesterday.

The affidavits were Judge Valentine's answer to the charges of Mrs. Henry's attorneys that the court was prejudiced against motion picture people including Kenneth Harlan, with whom Mrs. Henry was said to have been friendly.

Declaring he had only the interest of the two children at heart when he awarded them to the father, Judge Valentine declared: "For fifteen minutes before I rendered my decision I prayed that I done the right thing."

FESS LAUDS COOLIDGE AS WORTHY LEADER IN KEYNOTE SPEECH

CHIEF LEAVING OFFICE BY OWN WISH, HE SAYS

FARM RELIEF IS MAIN DISCUSSION TOPIC IN OPENING MEET

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 12.—The Coolidge leadership was emphasized on the banner waved by Simon D. Fess, of Ohio, in delivering the keynote speech today at the republican national convention.

The Ohio senator told the delegates that the nomination and election of the president would be a foregone conclusion did he not forbid, adding that Coolidge "leaves office by his own fiat, which appears to be final and is so interpreted by many of his friends."

Pays High Tribute

Fess, one of the first to start the "Coo" movement, wound up his address with this ringing tribute to the titular leader of the party:

This hold upon the confidence of the American people of every name, class and creed without regard to partisan feeling, makes Calvin Coolidge the greatest personal and political force in the world.

Declaring that the republican party faced the country this year standing squarely upon the record of Coolidge, the senator said that the president's achievement in administration "reflects a type of original leadership at the head of the government rarely experienced in this or any other country."

Texans Claim Hoover First and No Second

With the opening of the convention only a few hours away, the "draft Coolidge" talk, which has been causing the Hoover adherents some concern, was hushed when Texas delegates, as they filed into the republican convention hall today led by R. B. Creager, national committeeman of Brownsville.

Wurzbach to Appeal Contest to Board Late Today

By L. B. DILBECK (Associated Press Staff Writer) KANSAS CITY, June 12.—"Hoover first choice and no second choice" was the shibboleth of the Texas delegates, as they filed into the republican convention hall today led by R. B. Creager, national committeeman of Brownsville.

Wurzbach to Appeal

The contest of their seats by Congressman Harry Wurzbach and his allied delegates at large, appealing from the decision of the national executive committee, was expected to be reached late tonight by the convention's credentials committee.

Seats at Rear of Hall

The Texas seats are at the rear of the hall. Only one other state, Mississippi, is further from the platform.

Deciding to Organize

Despite the pending contest, the Texans renominated their representatives on the national executive committee with little discussion. On motion of C. O. Harris, of San Angelo, Mr. Creager after his renomination was asked to choose his associate. He immediately asked for retention of Mrs. Florence Griswold of San Antonio.

TEXANS CLAIM HOOVER FIRST AND NO SECOND

Wurzbach to Appeal Contest to Board Late Today

By L. B. DILBECK (Associated Press Staff Writer) KANSAS CITY, June 12.—"Hoover first choice and no second choice" was the shibboleth of the Texas delegates, as they filed into the republican convention hall today led by R. B. Creager, national committeeman of Brownsville.

Wurzbach to Appeal

The contest of their seats by Congressman Harry Wurzbach and his allied delegates at large, appealing from the decision of the national executive committee, was expected to be reached late tonight by the convention's credentials committee.

Seats at Rear of Hall

Deciding to Organize

Despite the pending contest, the Texans renominated their representatives on the national executive committee with little discussion. On motion of C. O. Harris, of San Angelo, Mr. Creager after his renomination was asked to choose his associate. He immediately asked for retention of Mrs. Florence Griswold of San Antonio.

HOOVER STOCK IS BOOSTED BY CAL'S REFUSAL

FOES CLING TO HOPE FOR DEADLOCK OVER COALITION MOVE

By PAUL F. HAUPERT (Associated Press Staff Writer) KANSAS CITY, June 12.—The word has gone down the line here that the republican convention gets under way the President Coolidge would not accept the nomination and the effect has been to boost Hoover stock to new high levels.

Confident that their man can't be headed off now, the commerce secretary's managers flatly predicted today his nomination on the first ballot, Thursday. His foes, a determined lot, clung to the hope, however, that a deadlock would develop to throw the convention out of kilter and bring about the selection of a dark horse.

PLATFORM MAKERS TAKE UP TASK AS MANY SUGGESTIONS AND PROPOSALS OFFERED; TWO ISSUES IN FOREFRONT

BY JAMES L. WEST (Associated Press Staff Writer) KANSAS CITY, June 12.—

Literally buried under an avalanche of suggestions and proposals, republican platform makers go to work today putting together the declaration upon which the party will ask a new grant of power from the American people in the November election.

Second in Importance to the Selection of the Standard Bearer, the platform presents an unusual number of perplexities for the leaders who will work out the draft form for the consideration of the convention, probably next Thursday.

May Solve in Committee

Whether all of the problems can be solved within the closely guarded committee room remains a matter of conjecture, with the possibilities that the two most controverted subjects—farm relief and prohibition enforcement—will find their way to the convention floor.

Should These Two Subjects be Shown open for a finish fight by the delegates themselves, the grand old party may furnish the most spectacular convention it has held in more than a decade. But the leaders will bend every effort to prevent a floor fight by settling all controversies within the resolutions committee, composed of one member from each of the states.

Administration Forces and Farm Leaders—still are far apart on the agricultural relief plank and it may require a couple of days to iron out those differences if they can be settled without a vote of the convention itself.

An enforcement of President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill with its equalization fee, but the more conservative in the group with a new declaration for a reasonable relief plan and for a raising of the tariff schedules so as to place agriculture on a parity with industry.

Some Want Fee Bill

Some of the farm leaders want a declaration for the equalization fee, but the more conservative in the group with a new declaration for a reasonable relief plan and for a raising of the tariff schedules so as to place agriculture on a parity with industry.

Vare Goes For Hoover

Meanwhile, William S. Vare, republican leader in Philadelphia who has been fighting for a seat in the senate, came out for Hoover in the strongest of terms, not waiting for McKim to outline his position, or for the Pennsylvania delegates to caucus. Estimates varied as to how many votes in his delegation Vare controls. They ran from a dozen to thirty, with the Hoover supporters so sure that the delegation would take a favorable stand that they claimed the entire 79 delegates on the first ballot.

Women's Ranks Thin

With thirteen states still to be heard from, caucus results show only fifteen women on convention committee, as compared to 41 in 1924. None have been put on the important resolutions committee, and contrary to general expectations Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick's name did not appear as the Illinois member on the credentials committee.

Optimistic Bell Boy

The Muehlebach hotel, where most of the infield practice for the convention has been held preliminary to the start of the game a few blocks away, boasts the most optimistic bellboy in Kansas City. A page spent 20 minutes last night going about the lobby shouting "Mr. Mellon, call for Mr. Mellon."

Interference was that someone had called on the telephone for the Secretary of the Treasury. The page seemed disappointed when he finally reported to the desk, "No answer."

WASHINGTON, June 12.—

It was a cheerful and genial Secretary Hoover who attended today's cabinet meeting at the White House. Instead of arriving at the executive mansion in his usual rap and absorbed attitude, Secretary Hoover stepped lightly out of his car, waved his hand to reporters clustering around and jauntily pranced into the committee room.

At the end of the meeting his cheerfulness was in no way reduced. He refused to talk, however.

Secretary Hoover was one of the first persons in Washington to read the Associated Press dispatch which announced that his nomination as republican candidate for president seemed to be virtually certain because of the adhesion of the Pennsylvania delegation to his cause. He held to the unbreakable silence, however, that has marked his conduct since the convention approached.

BADGES GALORE

Man Minus Badge Half Undressed In G. O. P. Meet

BY BRIAN BELL (Associated Press Staff Writer) KANSAS CITY, June 12.—A man in Kansas City today without a badge is half undressed. He might as well have his coat off as to have it undecorated with a badge. The republican convention broke out in a rash of badges last night and today it was epidemic.

The badges have it. Big badges and little ones, modest ones with small pictures of favorite candidates and some as big as platters, shouting an allegiance so pointedly that he who runs may read.

Hotel lobbies have every appearance of the after luncheon hour just at adjournment of a joint meeting of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs.

No Limit on Number

Apparently there is no limit on the number of badges per capita. Some of the visitors have assembled a collection of half a dozen. One man from Indiana wore so many that a small envious boy asked his mother, "Does the one with the most win?"

A lack of coordination between badge and voiced sentiment appeared here and there. Men displaying pictures of a candidate on their coats talked of what they might do when and if their candidates should be left in the picture only on the badges.

The Hoover badges seemed to offer the most variety in a catch-as-catch-can survey. At least three different types of Hoover label decorations were in evidence. The Curtis buttons were the midge of the class and the Watson badges were the gnats. No difficulty would be found in serving an old-fashioned piece of pie on one of the Watson emblems.

The Curtis supporters introduced a gay sunflower-decorated head-dress extolling the virtues of the Kansas. The Lowden camp met this challenge with a flowing streamer and Hoover's partisans countered with brilliant arm bands. Two young women did not wear their Hoover arm bands on their arms. They displayed them below their skirts.

The badges lend wisdom to their wearers. An unbadged man who talked utterly to gain a hearing was listened to with respect as he spoke authoritatively after pinning on a badge.

Not all the badges are worn by republicans. Hundreds of democrats mingled in the crowds on even terms with the badged and streamered visitors. They are Kansas Cityites. Their badges invite questions with, "Ask me. I live here." Some of these badges were veterans, entitled to a service ribbon from the American Legion convention of 1921.

LaFollette Caustic In Hoover Comment

KANSAS CITY, June 12 (AP)—Commenting on the action of Pennsylvania and Massachusetts in going for Hoover, Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin, declared today that "if the powers that be have decided on Hoover it is very fitting that the final decision should have been made by William S. Vare," Vare had announced for Hoover some hours before the Pennsylvania delegation gave its endorsement.

LaFollette son of the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette, who headed a third party ticket in 1924, was silent on the talk of a third party movement in the event of Hoover's nomination. He is supporting Senator Norris of Nebraska, who has been suggested as possible leader of a third ticket.

TORNADO IN POLAND

WARSAW, Poland, June 12 (AP)—A terrific hurricane and cloud-burst struck the town of Nowogrodok and vicinity today. Many houses were unroofed, others were struck by lightning and burned and trees were uprooted. Telegraph and telephone communication with Warsaw was cut off.

NEW YORK TRADING
NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—The cotton market opened steady at a price of 14 to 14 1/2 points, active bids quickly showing net losses of 1 to 1 1/2 points under overnight selling and further liquidation prodded by the unsettled condition of the stock market.

NEW ORLEANS TRADING

NEW ORLEANS, June 12 (AP)—Bearsish statistics of the bureau and indifferent Liverpool cables were responsible for an easier opening in the cotton market. First trades showed losses of 7 to 10 points and prices continued to decline until July reached 20.13 and October 18.90 or 13 to 12 points down from yesterday's close.

The decline to 20.42 for October brought in a good deal of buying, however, part of which was attracted to covering by recent sellers. Prices rallied after initial selling had been absorbed, the market selling about 1 to 5 points higher by the end of the first hour.

Reports that one of the trade authorities estimated consumption in the country for May at 596,000 bales, compared with 525,000 for April, helped the rally from the early point. October sold up to 20.58 and net advances of about 3 to 5 points in the active months. The market tapered off at these figures.

throughout the morning as did Claude H. Grollman, of Grollman's. Most of the merchants were looking for even larger crowds in their stores this afternoon due to the fact that many do not come in search of the treasures and bargains until in the afternoon. Many are coming early in the morning, however, they said, to gain the advantage of early selection of the bargains and first chance at the prizes.

Montgomery-Ward and company was visited by hundreds of shoppers throughout yesterday afternoon and this morning. The store is experiencing its first Treasure Hunt, greeting it with much enthusiasm.

The prize winners will be announced from day to day, each store giving two prizes during each day of the week.

AUDITORIUM IN CITY BELIEVED NEARING GOAL

BOND ISSUE EXPECTED TO BE PRESENTED IN SHORT TIME

The adoption of the petition by the city commission and the passing of a special bond issue for the erection of a municipal auditorium is believed today as the only obstacle standing in the way of securing the building for Lubbock.

Comment Is E-fused

Although city officials would not make any comment upon the chances for securing the auditorium it is understood that the prospects are brighter today for its building as the result of the meeting last night in the city hall of the various representatives of various civic clubs and organizations in which the petition asking for the construction of the auditorium was drawn up to be presented to the city commissioners in their next meeting. The petition was ratified by the organizations represented.

In the document the commission is asked to "immediately determine the cost of an auditorium that will adequately seat 3,000 persons and house the organizations signatory to the petition." The commission is further petitioned in the paper to call an election for a bond issue sufficient to build the auditorium with the assurance of the organizations favoring the petition.

Held As Big Need
Mayor Harley D. Woods and members of the commission have expressed themselves regarding the auditorium stating that it is an outstanding need of the community and should be constructed.

It was suggested in the meeting last night that the auditorium be made a memorial to the memory of the soldiers and sailors in the World War.

WOMAN TAKES OFF ON FIRST LEG OF FLIGHT

MISS BOLL FLIES TO HARBOR GRACE FOR ATLANTIC JAUNT

(By Associated Press)
FARRSBORO, N. S., June 12.—A plane believed to be the trans-Atlantic monoplane Columbia with Miss Mabel Boll and three men aboard passed over here at 12:30 p. m. eastern standard time. It was flying east very fast.

Plane Takes Off At 7:20 Today

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 12.—The monoplane Columbia with Miss Mabel Boll as a passenger took off at 7:20 o'clock eastern daylight time this morning for Harbor Grace, N. F., on the first leg of a trans-Atlantic flight.

The plane, loaded with about 350 gallons of gasoline, made a perfect takeoff from the famous trans-Atlantic runway after a run of about three-eighths of a mile. Aboard the Columbia in addition to Harbor Grace, N. F., are Captains Oliver Le Buitler and Arthur Argles, the pilots, and Andrew Surrini, mechanic for Charles A. Levine, owner of the ship.

Levine said a late weather report indicated good flying weather would be enjoyed from here to Harbor Grace, but that a 25-mile an hour head wind would have been faced on a flight across the Atlantic. He said more favorable weather would be awaited at Harbor Grace before the Atlantic flight would be attempted.

Only A Few Are Present

Only a small group of friends were on hand to see the start of the flight. Miss Boll, who in a previous attempt last Thursday was turned back by fog after six hours of flying, appeared in excellent spirits.

Miss Boll's mother, Mrs. Josephine Boll of Rochester, N. Y., was on hand to see her daughter started on her trans-Atlantic adventure and kissed her goodbye.

A few minutes after the Columbia had taken the air, Levine took off in his Fokker universal plane with Emile Burgin at the controls. He said he would accompany the Columbia part way to Newfoundland.

Levine changed his plane, however, and returned to Roosevelt Field at 8:40 o'clock. He said he had not sighted the Columbia later in the day Levine will fly to the new airport at Newark, N. J. He is to appear in a civil court case in that city.

Friendship Held By Adverse Weather

TREPASSEY, N. F., June 12.—The monoplane Friendship made three unsuccessful attempts to rise from the water of Trepassey harbor today and take off for Europe. Weather conditions were favorable with a strong west wind, and it appeared that the six ton load was too heavy to be lifted.

Despite the three successive failures, the crew of the Friendship refused to give up and continued their efforts to lift the big plane from the surface of the water. A fourth attempt proved as unsuccessful as the others, although weather and water conditions appeared ideal.

In order to reduce the weight of the plane in a final effort to make the start today, pilot Stultz di-

FARMER HELD IN PRO LAW RAID IS ALLOWED BOND

R. E. Jones, who lives several miles southeast of Lubbock, is out on a $1,000 bond charged with illegal sale of beer as the result of a raid conducted by deputy Vernice Ford, Cap Moore and Constable J. C. Roberts on the Jones place yesterday.

The raid was made with a warrant for the arrest of Jones. Included in the stuff confiscated by the officers in the raid was: one 10-gallon jar, one wooden keg, two sacks of empty bottles, several fruit jars, a copper coil and a number of bottles of beer. Several gallons of beer were poured out by the officers, only a small quantity of bottles being brought to town to be tested for alcoholic content and to be used for evidence against Jones.

The beer and apparatus were found in a cellar near the Jones' farm house.

A negro was arrested along with Jones but officers said that all they had against him was that he had been drinking beer.

Cruelty Charged In Tully Divorce Case

LOS ANGELES, June 12.—Jim Tully, author of several novels, was charged with cruelty in a divorce complaint filed here yesterday by his wife, the former Margaret R. Myers.

Tully early in life started out as a tramp, became a prizefighter and directed the removal of everything from the Friendship that was not absolutely essential to the flight.

then turned to letters. For several years Mr. and Mrs. Tully have made their home in Hollywood.

Among the allegations of cruelty by Mrs. Tully is that her husband accused her of intimacy with another man.

She charged he forced her by threats of violence to sign a statement admitting such misconduct.

Tully has an income of more than $2,000 a month, the wife alleges. She asks for alimony and attorney's fees.

The couple were married in January, 1925. Mrs. Tully also is a writer.

PLAINS TO GET MUCH PUBLICITY AT W.T.C.C. MEET

There will be between 500 and 750 "South Plains of Texas" arm bands in evidence at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Fort Worth next week, it was learned here today following a report from John Bird, of Ralls, secretary of the South Plains Commercial Executives' association. A large percentage of these bands are to be worn by Lubbock delegates it was said.

Due to the fact that so many citizens from this section are going to the convention in their cars, the plan for the South Plains special train was dropped. A number of special delegations will go from the section however it was said today.

Thirteen town of the South Plains are cooperating in the section-wide representation. The South Plains of Texas in the convention and a central headquarters will be maintained for the group. The sponsors of each town will be on the big float in the parade.

RESIGNATION OF GERMAN CABINET ACCEPTED TODAY

(By Associated Press)
 BERLIN, June 12.—President von Hindenburg today accepted the resignation of the coalition cabinet headed by Dr. Wilhelm Marx. The president asked former socialist chancellor Herman Mueller to form a new cabinet.

Established in January, 1927 The Marx cabinet was established on January 31, 1927, as a government of the right after the fall of Dr. Marx's "little coalition" government. It was a coalition of the centrists, German peoples party, German nationalist and the Bavarian peoples party. The socialists in the Reichstag election of May 20 obtained 152 seats, a gain of 22 over their former representation. This was regarded as placing them in a dominant position and making their participation in the new government inevitable.

Herman Mueller who is 82 years old, has been a member of the Reichstag since 1920 and is a member of the directorate of the socialist party. He was minister of foreign affairs in 1919-1920 and chancellor in 1920. With Dr. Joannes Bell, he signed the Versailles peace treaty in behalf of Germany in 1919.

A Detroit policeman, raiding a wild party, was knocked out by a ukulele. Maybe that's the well-known blunt instrument the cub reporters talk about.

Thought For Today
But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night.—1 Peter 5:10.

WE are all approaching that dread tribunal. Hence, diversified opinions, but all converge toward that common center—eternal life.

Disregarding the fact that there are plenty of medical men who will disagree with the Wisconsin specialist, we may admit that his statement is rather fascinating. However, religious, courageous or stoical we may be, most of us have a lurking fear of death.

Life may not be perfectly satisfactory to us, but we dread dying it up. Dr. Voronoff does not promise immortality, but he offers to double the normal life span, and if death is pushed three-quarters of a century into the background, we can forget it for the present.

After all, however, it is only fair to remark that there are several other things the human race needs much more than it needs an extra 75 years of life. In fact, it almost seems as if Dr. Voronoff's gift would not be an unmixed blessing. Imagine the emotions of a bent, toll-worn coal miner, for instance, a man who has drained and sweated for 30 years in the damp underground galleries, ridden always by financial worry and poverty, imagine his emotions on being told that he has another 75 years to devote to digging coal!

Before hearing Dr. Voronoff's double our life span we ought to bestir ourselves and find some way of making better use of the years we already have. For it is not the fact that life is short that causes the world's misery; it is the fact that life is slipshod, tragically misused.

There is a wide gulf between what we are capable of and what we do. We are born the open-handed children of everlasting light, yet behold we grope and stagger and fall in the mire and bind ourselves about with ignorance and jealousy and selfishness and intolerance and blindness until we have lost our heritage. Most of our troubles—our poverty, oppression—arise from our own limitations. They come because we do not yet know how to handle our lives properly.

It would be splendid to have longer lives. But there are other things we need more. We are not ready, yet for a century and a half of living. We must first learn how to make the most of the years we have. When we have cleared the world of poverty, rivalries, wars, industrial conflicts and penury we shall be in shape to talk about a 150-year life span. But at present, such a thing would prove far from a boon.

Money Works
AMERICANS are spending approximately $1,000,000,000 a year in dubious financial schemes.

That Man on Avenue Q says a man in hard luck needs a raft of friends to keep him from going under!

The fact that the city commission and representatives of the Santa Fe railroad have gotten together on the subway problem and an early settlement seems probable is cheering news.

THE PLAINSMAN
Says:
That Girl on Broadway says you can't get in anywhere on a pawn ticket.

This writer has no criticism to offer of the candidacy of Tom Connally. He is a strong man—one who would no doubt fill a Senate post wisely and well.

Little by little Americans are exercising their rights at the ballot box. Little by little they are figuratively thumbing their noses at the bosses who command 'what shall' and 'how shall not'.

Party politics is a necessary evil to a certain extent. There must be some method of grouping to make platforms and to choose nominees. But party politics remains a necessary evil only to the point where the individual voter fails to agree with the action of his party leaders.

There are plenty of good men who believe that Texas would be better off as a two-party state than it is as a single-party state and the Plainman is one of them.

To attempt to force a man—be he candidate or private citizen—to vote for any group of men is political disfranchisement, whether the action be effected in a man's private life or not.

In New York

NEW YORK, June 12.—From Will Hays' new front window, Manhattan is indeed a dream city. Perched, as Mons Hays soon will be, 37 stories above the street—or some 600 feet over the pavement—the panorama of the city is breath taking.

While, all about, the city flaunts its granite cubes and turrets, like some gargantuan inscription on the old Mayan architecture.

What we started out to say, however, is that Will Hays will soon take up apartments in one of Gotham's highest residential spots.

Strangers inevitably point out that a great deal of Manhattan's traffic strain could be lessened if empty taxicabs were to be kept off the main thoroughfares.

spend more than $300,000, and Smith with more than $100,000. It is said that their forces found it necessary or desirable to combat false propaganda spread against them.

Hoover was a fighting candidate. His fight, in such primaries as those of Ohio and Indiana, cost money. More money was needed to propagate New York in the face of the opposition of dominating politicians there.

Undoubtedly he would have had to pay more had he been up against a primary free-for-all like that of 1920. As it was, he did not come into direct battle with Lowden, his most important opponent, in a single primary. And when a bill of $40,000 for a Hoover primary campaign in a large state is compared with the $2,000,000 Pepper fund in Pennsylvania, it doesn't look like so much.

It seems likely that there will never again be such an expensive pre-convention of 1920, when nine Republican candidates admitted spending $2,800,000 and five Democrats $120,000.

The Kenyon committee, which exposed the enormous investment, reported that: "Undoubtedly as to some of the candidates more was spent than is here indicated. Whether the present committee will say anything like that remains to be seen."

So much money was spent in 1920 because nearly all Republicans felt that the party nominee would be the next president. At least $2,000,000 prove it had been wasted.

The Wood campaign expenses of $1,772,000 proved a boomerang. Lowden, with a layout of $415,000, presumably had won if a little of the money hadn't been spent improperly without his knowledge.

Expenses for other candidates were: Hiram Johnson $195,000; Hoover $173,000; Harding $113,000; Poindexter $77,000; Coolidge $68,000; A. Mitchell Palmer $60,000 and James W. Gerard $14,000.

CHANG DIES OF INJURIES FROM BOMB OUTRAGE

MANCHURIAN LORD OF WAR SUCCEEDS TO BOMB INJURIES

(By Associated Press.)
 TOKYO, June 12.—The Japanese war department today received word of the death of Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian war lord and former northern dictator, who was the victim of a bomb at Mukden after he abdicated.
 The bomb outrage occurred as the train bearing Chang and members of his staff from Peking entered the suburbs of Mukden on June 4. Several members of his staff were killed including Wu Chun-Sheng, military governor of the province of Heilongjiang.
 Chang was at first reported slightly injured. As rumors spread, however, that news of his death was being kept secret pending the arrival of his eldest son, the Japanese war minister on June 6 said that Chang was alive but in a serious condition. Since that time he has been reported to be in a comatose state.

 Chang withdrew from Peking on June 3 after a rule of nearly two years as dictator of northern China when his troops failed to halt the drive of the southern nationalist troops toward the northern capital.
 Peace To Reign In Peking, Is Claim
 PEKING, June 12 (AP)—Marshall Yen Hsi-Shan, model governor of the Shansi province, was in control of Peking today. He announced that he would preserve peace and disperse all enemy troops in the northern area.
 Special instructions, he said, had been issued regarding protection of foreign lives and property. Reliable troops were sent to all important points of the district. Distribution of incendiary literature was forbidden and public meetings or demonstrations prohibited.
 Questioned about the disarming of Mukdenite troops under General Pao Yu-Lin which led to protest from foreign diplomats, Yen said he had telegraphed Peng Yu-Hsiang suggesting the Mukdenites be released and their arms returned. He also suggested that they be given safe conduct back to Manchuria. No reply has been received from Peng. It was expected that this request would bring the question of his amenability to Nanking's instructions to a head.

GRAIN CENTER AND SICK, CURED BY OWN REMEDY FOR CITY SEEN IN TWO MOVES

OFFICIAL ARRIVES TO OPEN EXCHANGE AND RAIL SCALES BUILT

Placing confidence in the city as the grain center of this section, two important announcements were made here yesterday regarding grain activities.
 R. R. Stuard, federal licensed grain inspector of the Dallas Grain exchange, will arrive here the latter part of this week to assume his duties with the recently organized Lubbock Grain exchange.
 The Santa Fe railroad will construct a set of modern grain weighing track scales in the yards here to take care of the grain from over the section which comes to and passes through Lubbock. R. H. Allison, of Chicago, vice-president and general manager of the company, announced yesterday.
 With the inauguration of these two services, the city is assured of plenty of activity during the coming season.
 Grain Center Of Area
 The city is destined to be the grain center of the section, Mr. Allison said and the erection of the carload grain scales here is one of the company's moves to meet the demands of the section. Practically all of the lines into Lubbock act as feeders to the great production of grain in the city's immediate vicinity.
 Arrangements have been made with the science department of the Texas Technological college to make the protein test on wheat and the office of the grain exchange will grade wheat and all other grains, making moisture tests and other tests made by similar exchanges at Plainview, Amarillo, Fort Worth, Dallas and other places over the state.

INDIAN, BLIND AND SICK, CURED BY OWN REMEDY

ST. CATHARINE QUIT, JUNE 12

Confined to his bed for two years, apparently paralyzed and blind since July, 1927, Elijah Lickers, an Indian of this city, six weeks ago turned from the white man's medicine to the herbs of his fathers. Today apparently healthy and with his sight restored he has a job digging ditches.
 Lickers was taken ill in November, 1926, while confined in Stony Mountain penitentiary near Winnipeg, as a result, he believes, of lifting a heavy iron bar to show his strength.
 His condition gradually grew worse and last March he was paroled to his brother. Prison authorities informed the brother they believed there was no hope for the invalid.
 A physician was unable to help him. A buttermilk treatment was then tried but failed to produce any tangible results.
 Six weeks ago a fellow Indian by the name of Silversmith was consulted and he prescribed a herb medicine. Within three days Lickers began to show improvement. Yesterday he appeared at an employment agency seeking work. He was offered the ditch digging job and accepted.
 NEW SPEED RECORD

The carrier made 700 miles the first 24 hours out to exceed by ten miles all previous ship speed records.

The men and women whose pictures appear on this page comprise the staff who will cover the national political conventions for The Associated Press.

They have been selected from the nation-wide staff of The Associated Press because of their background of experience and training, their intimate acquaintance with those who are to shape the political history of 1928, and their demonstrated ability to write understandingly and interestingly the day-to-day story of great public events. The dispatches they will send from Kansas City and Houston will cover promptly, colorfully and authentically the whole field of convention news.

Over a special wire set-up, an up-to-the-minute continuing story of the convention proceedings will be transmitted from the first row of press seats within arm's length of the convention chairman. Information of the forest moving beneath the surface will be supplied by a corps of reporters constantly at work among the delegates on the convention floor. Writers of outstanding ability will contribute special picture stories on stirring moments in the life of the conventions. Woman's larger place in the political sun will receive special recognition.

Every state delegation will have a reporter especially assigned to it to write dispatches about its activities for distribution within its home state. The reporters assigned to this task will be assembled from many cities, having in each instance a personal acquaintance with the delegates about whom they are to write. In many cases they will travel to and from the conventions with the delegations to which they are assigned, and will send dispatches en route.

Reference to the names and the city in which the reporters entered The Associated Press will disclose that nearly every state is represented on the staff, regardless of the bureau to which he is now assigned. It will further demonstrate the nation-wide origin of the staff members and the territory from which they spring.

The Associated Press Feature Service will establish a special office in each convention city, and will distribute daily a mat service covering its own special field of convention features and pictures. The Associated Press News Photo Service will have a staff of photographers on the job and will make deliveries of spot news pictures by airplane and telephoto. The descriptive and picture material will be written and signed by Kirke Simpson. F. F. Hauptert will write and sign day and night stories about the battle over the nomination. James L. West will write and sign day and night stories on the making and shaping of the platform. James L. Williams will write and sign the night leads. The running story and the general leads will be written by Byron Price, chief of the Washington bureau.

SIGNED: KENT COOPER, GENL. MGR. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ONE PARTY OF ITALIA'S CREW FACING CRISIS

PLANS FOR RESCUE GO STEADILY ONWARD AS HASTE PARAMOUNT

(Copyrighted 1928 by the Associated Press)

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 12.—At least some of the crew of the dirigible Italia stranded on the ice pack north of Spitzbergen faced a crisis today as Captain Riser-Larsen and Lieutenant Lutwold Helm, Norwegian aviators, rushed preparations to bring them aid.

With three of the crew definitely missing and possibly lost, and the rest of the explorers divided into two parties drifting on at sea westward toward land, the utmost speed was used today to reach the stranded group.

Gasoline For Helm
Two men arrived at Mossel Bay early this morning with gasoline for the Lieutenant Helm who was stranded at that place after a five-day reconnaissance during most of which he had been forced to wait idly because of fog and unfavorable conditions.

As soon as the Norwegian aviator received the gasoline he flew to the sealer Hobbs and went into conference with Captain Riser-Larsen preparatory to making a new series of flights in an effort to find the missing men. He reported that he had sighted none of the Italia's crew during his search.

Fine flying weather prevailed and the two pilots, who have had much experience in northern waters, planned to fly eastward as soon as possible searching the pack ice for the Italia's parties. If the men should be found the aviators will drop messages and provisions.

Two Italian planes with thirty-hour cruising ability are expected late this week to assist the Norwegians in their search over the ice fields. The Italian plane started from Kings Bay will fly on the west coast and will then go directly east to the spot where the Italia was wrecked.

May Face Starvation
It is feared that at least some of the Italia's crew may soon face starvation if the rescuers do not reach them quickly. It is now the third week for the stranded exploring party on the treacherous pack ice and their provisions are reduced despite careful rationing.

In addition to the problem of conserving their food supply, the Italia's men must take care of their two companions whose legs were broken when the gondola of the airship was broken off on May 25 when the Italia tried to land. The injured men were with the party of six which is being personally led by General Umberto Nobile.

The group of three men who became separated from the Italia trying to reach land undoubtedly is facing tremendous difficulties. Crossing the pack ice, they must go over a zigzag route at a very slow pace and the distance gained by hard work on one day may be lost on the next day by movement of the ice. They also may encounter stretches of open water and have to seek a circuitous route toward land. If these men should be close to land in the vicinity of Rips Bay or Dover Bay they may be able to get ashore and the terrain is flat at these points. Speed is necessary for the rescue party.

One Party Has Boat
Radio messages received by the base ship Citta Di Milano from Luigi Goggi, General Nobile's operator, indicate that one of the three parties has a canvas boat but which one was not made clear. The Italia has not stated as yet whether all of the parties have sufficient food, but it is known that some supplies were in the gondola and others were in the body of the airship.

The Russian icebreaker Malin is expected here some time during the middle of the week. It has two planes aboard and ten dogs which can be used for searching the ice pack if necessary. The powerful icebreaker will bunker at Kings Bay and leave for the north as quickly as possible. Speed is necessary for when the pack ice is drifting rapidly it can move as much as six nautical miles a day.

Lyon And Warner To Extend Their Visit

Warner, radio operator, American participants in the trans-Pacific flight of the southern cross would remain in Australia another five days. Programmed speakers greeted the announcement.

An enthusiastic reception was given the fliers when they made a tour of the city before attending the state function.

COOLIDGE TRIP IS DELAYED BY ILLNESS OF WIFE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The time of President Coolidge's departure for the 1928 summer White House depended today upon the condition of Mrs. Coolidge, who has been stricken, although not seriously, with a recurrence of her recent illness.

With preparations completed for leaving last night after the President's address to the government business organization, it was announced that in view of Mrs. Coolidge's indisposition, the journey had been temporarily postponed. The White House physician, Colonel James F. Coupal and Lieutenant Commander Joel Boone, were of the opinion that while Mrs. Coolidge had improved considerably during the day, the trip to Wisconsin would subject the first lady to undue and inadvisable hardships.

Meanwhile, the preparations already made were kept intact so that the trip might be begun as soon as Mrs. Coolidge's condition warrants it.

In his address last night, Mr. Coolidge avoided any reference to the republican national convention or to his own future, stressing, however, his view that a vast improvement in the condition of the nation had been noted since 1921 when the republican party came into power. He emphasized the slogans of his administration—prosperity and economy.

There remain many details to be worked out, but the major difficulty is understood to have been disagreement with the cabinet itself.
