Three Are Burned To Death In Spectacular Fire Lubbock County Farmers Discuss Problems In Meet

Hundred Meet In Courthouse Here For Discussions

No Resolutions Passed At Gathering; Farmers Voice Sentiments For Planting More Feed Stuffs

Criticize Bankers

Recent Resolution Asking Decrease In Acreage Of 1930 Cotton Crop Held Misinterpreted

ONE HUNDRED men, the greater percentage of whom were Lubbock county farmers, others being bankers and business men, gathered at the courthouse here Friday afternoon for two hours of discussion of the subjects of reducing cotton acreage, raising more feed crops and planting a better variety of cotton.

No resolutions were passed, nor presented, at the meeting, although at the close most of the farmers voiced the sentiment that they would plant enough feed stuff for their own needs.

Called By Overstreet
R. E. Overstreet, state director of the Texas Farm Bureau, was responsible for the meeting although it was not a farm bureau gathering, only a few members of that organization being present. Speakers included J. J. Richardson, farmer of near New Hope; W. O. Stinson, vice-president of the Citizens National bank; Dean A. H. Leitch, of the Texas Technological college school of agriculture; B. Sherrod, hardware merchant; Walter S. Pomeroy, vice-president of the First National bank; Charles Lundell, farmer residing five miles east of Lubbock.

Lubbock Men Seek Rails Extensions

A. B. Davis, C. E. Maedgen Go To St. Louis, Chicago In Interest Of Railways For South Plains Area

Continuing the campaign for South Plains rail extensions, A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock chamber of commerce, and C. E. Maedgen, vice-president of the First National bank, left yesterday for St. Louis in conference with Charles Summers, president of the Quonah, Ace & Pacific railroad.

Extensions are being sought by the local officials from Florida to this city and thence across the Southwest to Lovington, N. M.

Follows Santa Fe Refusal.
The effort follows decision of the Santa Fe railroad not to exercise the permit granted by the Inter State Commerce Commission for its extension from Bessieville to Lovington.

"We feel that the I. C. C. approval of the extension is definite proof that such additional trackage would be justified," said B. Sherrod, chairman of the railroad committee of the chamber of commerce.

To Chicago Next.
Following the conference in St. Louis, Davis and Maedgen will leave for Chicago, where they plan to confer with the other railway officials.

In making an extension to Lubbock, it would be necessary for the Q. & P. to build 16 miles of track from Florida to Lockney. From the latter city the Port Worth & Denver line would be used, according to present proposals.

Indicted in Texas Vote Dispute

NEA Houston Bureau

Charged with denying citizens the right to vote, these three Hidalgo county officials have been indicted by the federal grand jury at Houston, Tex. They are left to right: Sheriff A. Y. Baker, County Judge A. W. Cameron and County Clerk Cam E. Hill. The charges grew out of refusal of the commissioners' court to count returns from one polling place in the 1928 election because the votes were received in an unsealed envelope. Celebrations were staged in McAllen, Weslaco and Edinburg when news of the indictments were received.

Recovery Of U. S. Business Seen By President Hoover

Nation Will Be Free From Aftermath Of Collapse In Stock Market Within 60 Days, Hoover Says

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—American business and industry is now recovering from the shock administered last fall, President Hoover believed, and within 60 days should be free from the distressing aftermath of the national depression which it brought.

He announced the conclusion today after a study of commerce and labor department reports, and a review of the results being attained by cooperation of the heads of national enterprises whom he convened in Washington last December to consider possibilities of business stimulus.

Summarizing conclusions for newspaper correspondents the president said that unemployment "amounting to distress" had been confined to 12 states, and was not more than seasonal in the other 36 states. Low points of business and employment had been passed in December and in early January, he added, and had been followed by slow betterment. With maintenance of wage rates, with lower interest rates, and with enlarged capital betterment expenditures by railroads, utilities, and business generally, he said he looked for the advance of spring to restore normal prosperity. The president made his statement after conferring with Secretaries Lamont and Davis.

In a joint statement amplifying findings as to employment, secretaries Lamont and Davis refused to give specific figures for numbers out of work, but estimated it as between one-third and one-half the number of unemployed during 1921-22. Forces of recovery, the cabinet said, were gaining strength.

Tech Goes On Air On WDAG Tonight

Beginning at 7:30 tonight, and lasting for a period of 40 minutes, millions of listeners through a radio program to be offered from Station WDAG at Amarillo.

The program tonight, of varied nature and under direction of Miss Ruth Fritze, head of the speech department at Texas Tech, will last from 7:30 to 8:10 p. m.

Mrs. Ray C. Mowery is scheduled for several readings while E. B. Fischer, of Amarillo, a student at the college, will speak briefly on the advantages, opportunities and possibilities of the institution.

Harry Le Maire and his saxophone band will be heard through a major portion of the evening and will be the concluding feature.

BERLIN, March 7. (AP)—The resignation today of Dr. Johannes Schacht as president of the Reichsbank is expected to have an influence on the progress of the Young plan and its connected legislation in the Reichstag.

In the case of Will A. Jackson, versus J. Frank Norris, et al., of Fort Worth, a stay of mandate was granted.

Minister and School Girls Included in List of Victims

(By Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 7.—A strange malady with paralytic characteristics, apparently caused originally by the drinking of poisoned liquor tonight, had killed about 40 victims in Oklahoma City hospitals, with probably as many more receiving treatment in their homes.

Dr. W. H. Miles, city physician, who was called upon to cope with the epidemic of collapses, was seeking to determine definitely the cause of the illnesses and whether the disease was communicable.

Minister Included.
The greater part of the victims lost the use of their feet and legs, and most of them told Dr. Miles and Dr. E. Goldstein, a nerve specialist assisting him, that their illness had followed the drinking of alcoholic liquor. Several victims, however, including a chiropractor and a minister, denied they had partaken of liquor.

The chiropractor said he had treated several of the victims when their feet became paralyzed; and attributed his own condition to consumption.

No deaths had been attributed to the disease today, and Dr. Miles said he had been unable to determine whether it necessarily was fatal or whether the disability would be permanent.

The health officer's belief that the illness was caused by drinking was strengthened by the fact that the greater part said they had drunk Jamaica Ginger. Several of the victims gave newspaper men the names of drug stores from which they said they had bought the beverage. Five druggists or drug store employees were among the victims.

Other victims included two physicians, a girl of school age, Samples of Jamaica Ginger being tested by C. E. Clifford, city chemist who said he would report to Dr. Miles tomorrow.

Contract Will Be Let By December

Action Of Proposed Federal Building Here Is Taken According To Word From Senator Tom Connally

Definite selection of the next convention city of the West Texas Retail Druggists association has been deferred until a meeting of the board of directors of the organization within the next three weeks. This information was contained in a message received yesterday from Garnet Reeves, publicity manager of the local chamber of commerce, who has been attending the present gathering at Fort Worth.

The directors meeting will be held at Abilene.

Together with Reeves and C. A. Sheffield, seven Lubbock druggists have been attending the convention in an effort to get Lubbock designated as the next site. Three other cities are making strong bids for the meeting, Graham, Sweetwater and Abilene, but according to information reaching here, consensus of opinion is that Lubbock has the edge. Others at the gathering include H. H. Crabbs, D. Jarrett, John and Mark Bailey, E. L. Robertson, W. R. Fickas and Sam Lightfoot.

It is understood that Big Spring has asked for the 1932 meeting.

REPUBLICANS UNITE

Statewide Organization Is Planned In Texas

DALLAS, Mar. 7. (AP)—Plans for statewide organization of the Young Republican league of Texas, launched recently by Thomas E. Ball, secretary of the Dallas county executive committee, were discussed today at a conference between Ball and C. W. Bullington of Wichita Falls, state vice-chairman.

Organization work will be carried on in every county in the state through present county organizations, Bullington said.

R. B. Creager of Brownsville, national committeeman, and Eugene Noble of Seguin, state chairman, also at the conference, discussed a successor to the late Leonard Withington as committee secretary, but said that it probably would be a month before a successor was selected.

Spring Clean-Up Is Planned Here

A "Spring Clean-Up Week" in Lubbock is being planned by L. H. Simpson, city fire marshal, commencing with a program which will be inaugurated throughout the state March 30 to April 5.

"We are hoping that every resident of this city will cooperate with us during this week in eliminating fire hazards," said Mr. Simpson. "The most economical way to reduce fire losses in Lubbock each year is to stop the fire before it begins and the way to do this is to remove the cause."

"A large per cent of our fires are caused by carelessness, and could have been prevented had the least effort been made to remove hazards."

Sulphur Tax And Pen Legislation Still Hang Fire

Two Problems Ready To Go To Free Conference For Consideration Today As Fourth Session Recalled

Committee Chosen

Pipe Line Bill Passed By House And Sent To Governor Moody For Either Approval Or Rejection

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, March 7. (AP)—Penitentiary centralization and sulphur tax legislation, subjects that hung fire when the fourth called session of the legislature passed out on February 18, were ready for free conference today.

They were virtually in the same shape they were in the other session. The senate reduced the house's proposed $1 per ton tax on sulphur to 50 cents and the house refused to concur in the amendment.

Speaker W. S. Barron named on the house sulphur conference committee Representatives Phil Sanders of Nacogdoches, T. N. Mauritz, of Canada, Mike Hogg and R. E. Morse of Houston and John F. Wallace, of Teague. Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller did not appoint the senate conference.

Neither house had chosen its personnel for the penitentiary conference committee.

The bill to place crude oil pipe lines and storage facilities under regulation of the Railroad Commission was passed by the house, 51 to 14, exactly as it came from the senate. It was sent to Governor Moody, who was expected to sign or file it without his signature tomorrow.

One Dead And Thirty-One Injured In Train Collision

Flagman Crashes to Death As Express Hits Another

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Ga., March 7.—A special express section of the northbound Seminole limited of the Central of Georgia railway, speeding through murky weather early today crashed into the rear end of the first section of the train halted at Glenn Alta, 25 miles south of here, killing a flagman and causing injury to 31 passengers.

O. C. White, of Phenix City, Ala., the flagman, was buried beneath the wreckage of the observation car of the first section of the train, and passengers in two Pullmans which were derailed, were severely shaken and bruised.

Two Badly Hurt.
Mrs. L. G. Morrison, 53, of Marion, Ill., who suffered probable internal injuries, and Mrs. August Schoel, of Waterloo, Iowa, suffering from shock, were the most seriously injured.

Many of those brought here received treatment and left the hospital. Out of 31, fourteen suffered injuries to the ankle. The majority suffered only bruises and small cuts.

Railway officials had not ascertained the cause of the crash, but reports received here said that the first section of the train, an all Pullman train, had stopped to remove a signal fuse placed on the track by a section man, and that the second section, a special express train of Florida perishables, crashed into it before a flagman could be sent back.

Commission Votes To Place Well And Windmill For New Park; Chinese Elms To Be Planted

In meeting yesterday afternoon at the city hall, the Lubbock city commission voted to furnish a well and windmill for Lions park, located in the northeast portion of the city, and which will be improved in the near future by the local Lions club.

The club this week discussed the subject of the park at their regular luncheon and agreed to take over a portion of the large city park planning to plant several hundred Chinese elms and shrubs in the near future.

A large dirt tank will be constructed at the city disposal farm, work to be started within the next 10 days, according to action of the commission. Contract for construction was awarded Val Tudor at a price of 18 cents per cubic yard.

Yesterday's meeting was largely occupied with routine matters while none of great importance were taken up for consideration.

THEATER HEAD DIES

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, March 7. (AP)—The last flight of Carl Ben Eklund and Earl Borsland ended today when Russian and American planes, escorted the bodies of the two aviators killed on the Arctic coast of Siberia, circled over Fairbanks and landed in quick succession at the Alaska Airway field at 1:30 p. m. (3:30 P. M. C. S. T.).

Three Thousand Cases of Whiskey and Beer Taken in Capture of Rum Cargo

(By Associated Press)
LORAIN, O., March 7.—One of the largest rum boats on the Great Lakes, a 55-foot armored motor-cruiser, its cargo of 3,000 cases of whiskey and beer, and its crew of two men were held here tonight, after a spectacular battle with coast guards on Lake Erie today.

One of the prisoners was seriously wounded and was taken to a Lorain hospital. He said he was Fred Henrie of Detroit. The other gave the name of Joe Hanna. Coast guards said the rum boat is the Sambo G. of Port Stanley, Ont., and that it had cleared from Erie, or Kingsville, Ontario.

Captive Follows Fight

The capture was made after a pursuit of several hours in which the guardsmen shot at the boat.

DR. COOK TO GAIN FREEDOM TODAY OR SUNDAY ON PAROLE

Explorer, Author And Oil Promoter Ready To Face World After Five Years Of Fourteen-Year Term

(By Associated Press)
LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Mar. 7.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, whose varied career of physician, explorer, author, lecturer and oil promoter was interrupted by a 14-year sentence to Leavenworth Federal prison, is prepared to face the world again at the age of 63.

A recommended parole was approved today by President Hoover. As soon as it is received here, probably late tomorrow, or Sunday, the man, who was instantly famous and later condemned, by his announced discovery of the North Pole in 1908, will be released.

Convicted of using the mails to defraud in connection with an oil promotion scheme at Fort Worth, Dr. Cook has served nearly five years of his sentence. He has spent 18 months in jail while waiting for a decision on an appeal.

Plans of the prisoner upon his release have not been learned definitely.

A fine of $12,000, assessed in connection with the prison sentence has not been paid. If this is not paid March 2, 1933, when his parole period is up, he will have to serve another 30 days and then take a pauper's oath in order to escape the fine.

Suit For $10,000 Damages Is Filed

Charles S. Kyle Files In District Court Against Black And White Cab Co. Following Collision

A suit for $3,390 actual and $5,000 exemplary damages was filed Friday in the 95th district court by Charles S. Kyle against H. M. Gino, operating under name of the Black and White Cab company, of Lubbock.

In his petition the plaintiff alleges that, as a result of a collision with a taxi belonging to the defendant, his automobile was badly wrecked while injuries to him caused the loss of time at his place of business and also a severe cut on the face, hand left a permanent and disfiguring scar.

The collision is said to have occurred on Jan. 10, 1930, at the intersection of Texas avenue and 10th street. Kyle declares that he was thrown violently against the wall and glass of his car and badly injured. He charges the driver of the taxi with negligence.

Aged Woman, Two Children Victims Of Duluth Flames

Another Missing After Six Story Office Building And Rooming House Razed In Downtown District

Origin Is Unknown

Injured Rushed To Hospitals; Estimate Is Not Given As To Number Of Persons Overcome

(By Associated Press)
DULUTH, Minn., Mar. 7.—Three persons, an aged woman and two small children, were burned to death while a fourth man was unaccounted for in a spectacular fire that tonight destroyed a six-story office building and rooming house in the downtown district of Duluth.

Four persons trapped in the building when fire broke out in the second story and swept through the entire structure. Several other persons trapped in the building were carried to safety by firemen.

Police ambulances were rushed to the scene of the fire and several persons, overcome by smoke were rushed to hospitals. No estimate was given as to the number injured, but fire officials said that there were several persons in the building when the fire broke out. But the flames had gained such headway that the firemen concentrated their efforts on saving adjoining buildings. The flames leaped several hundred feet into the air, and the streets were jammed with spectators.

An hour after the fire broke out, the building was gutted. The structure, one of the oldest in the downtown district, housed a drug store on the ground floor, with the other five floors being used for housing.

Drys Plan Study Of Wet Testimony

WASHINGTON, March 7. (AP)—Supporters of the Eighteenth amendment announced today they proposed to utilize the recess period in the house judiciary committee's prohibition hearings by going over the testimony of the anti-prohibition group and arranging to call witnesses to combat each phase of the question that opponents of the dry law had touched upon.

Mrs. Leona L. Yost, in charge of the presentation of dry witnesses, said it was the plan of the dries to cover every angle of the question from a moral to a legislative aspect.

She added the problem confronting her was attempting to arrange the program to include as many as possible of the number of people desiring to testify.

Wheat Drops as Buying Subsidies

WINNEPEG, Man., March 7. (AP)—A dropping off of buying support in the session cut away early chances of more than a cent in the wheat market today, and prices eased 7-8 to a cent a bushel below yesterday's final quotations.

The early upswing was prompted by outside strength, particularly at Chicago, and by official reports that the United States Farm Board would keep its buyers in the market. Pitt trading was the lightest in several days however.

May wheat closed at $1.10 5-8, down 7-8; July at $1.12 1-2, down one cent, and October at $1.13 1-8 to 1-4, also down one.

Commission Gives Bat Battalino More Time

CINCINNATI, March 7. (AP)—Stanley M. Isaacs, president of the National Boxing Association, announced today he will grant an extension of time to Bat Battalino, world's featherweight boxing champion, to defend his title.

N. B. A. rules require all boxing champions to defend their title every six months. Isaacs said Battalino broke one of his hands when he won the title from Andrew Rodas and has not completely recovered.

When he went to convalesce at Rougemont, M. Polneare, the French Minister, insisted on taking his Siamese cat.

Pro Hearing Will Resume Wednesday

WASHINGTON, March 7. (AP)—The house judiciary committee will resume its hearings on prohibition next Wednesday with the dries continuing their vigorous defense of the anti-liquor statutes.

Two days have been devoted to the friends of the eighteenth amendment with at least five more to come. They have said they will make use of all of the seven days originally allotted to them, and Representative Graham of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, has promised them additional time if they want it.

The chairman made this statement when dry members of the committee objected to extended cross-examination of dry witnesses and the introduction of statements by wet committee members as consuming time allotted the sponsors of prohibition.

DEMAND RECONSIDERATION

WASHINGTON, March 7. (AP)—Reconsideration of the increase voted by the senate on the sugar duty was demanded in the senate today by Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, after the coalition of democrats and republican independents met another reverse when a duty on cement was restored to the tariff bill.

Action of Closing Prisons Defended

TEMPLE, March 7. (AP)—Another contribution had been made today to the controversy over prison reform in Texas, with the statement of Dr. A. C. Scott, vice-chairman of the state prison board, defending the board's order shutting off further crowding of the already over-crowded state prison system.

As well as defending the order, Dr. Scott outspokenly criticized the state legislature, members of which censured the board for its order that no more prisoners be accepted until the prison population has been reduced to normal.

He especially took exception to the statements concerning the board's incompetency, declaring that if he believed the board had shown as little ability in meeting prison problems as the legislature, he would advocate the board's resignation in a body.

BANK ROBBERS SOUGHT

WELLINGTON, Kan., March 7. (AP)—Authorities of southern Kansas and Oklahoma today were on the lookout for three bank robbers who yesterday shot their way out of a barn on the farm of Leo Mueller, four miles northeast of here, in a battle with three county officers. The bandits were believed to have with them $1,480 in bills, part of the loot they took from the Peoples State bank of McPherson yesterday.

BIDS ON SALE

Large signs, lavishly colored, are announcing the sale of the bids to the Architects Mayan costume ball, set for March 29. Even Hall's orchestra will furnish the music. It is requested that those desiring bids buy them early so they will be sure of getting one.

DEBATE HELD HERE

Several class rooms of the college were given over to elimination debate contests for Lamb county contestants in the intercollegiate league debate yesterday. Students in argumentation and debate, members of the debate squad and a few others who had had training along the line, acted as judges. Those included: Don Boggs, Wayne Castleberry, Margaret Cooper, Josephine Cowart, Lloyd Croun, W. P. Dockery, Alvin Ellis, J. W. Gordon, Martha Knight, Lela Faye McIntyre, Mary Gene Owen, Bill Sewell, Ross Ayres, Solon Clements, Mary Beth Sherry, Lynn G. Gordon, W. L. Strickland, Frank Ward, Holmes Webb and Mrs. E. E. White.

TROPHY ORDERED

A trophy, which is presented by the Tech chamber of commerce to the winner of intramural athletics, has been ordered. It will be presented to the Engineers, who have already won the contest for this year by taking the basketball and football series. It is to be a large shield, mounted on black mahogany, bearing emblems symbolizing track, football, basketball and victory. If one school wins the trophy for three years in succession it becomes the permanent property of that school.

PLAN SING SONG

A school song is to be chosen out of about 25 which have been sent into the Tech chamber of commerce the first of the spring term according to Elmer Moore, president of the organization. "We have three that are really good," said Moore. "It may be that two will be selected and presented to the student body in a convocation and a popular vote taken before the award is made." A prize of $25 has been offered to the winner.

Frosh and Sophs Form Agreement

SAN MARCOS, March 7. (AP)—A gentlemen's agreement was signed today between freshmen and upperclassmen of Southwest Texas Teachers college here after the timely arrival of Dean H. E. Speer prevented the two factions from engaging in another tussle in downtown San Marcos last night. The agreement was entered into at a midnight conference in the college auditorium where the dean had ordered the students to meet. They agreed to carry on no further demonstrations as those of Wednesday night and last night, climaxed by the freshmen giving a junior a bath in the San Marcos river. Wednesday night seven freshmen, including the president of the class, were stripped of their trousers and forced from an automobile on a highway several miles from here by upperclassmen.

Narcotic Laws on Druggists Program

FORT WORTH, March 7. (AP)—Chain store competition and the alleged unfairness of the present state law concerning the revocation of druggists' certificates for violation of the narcotic laws were the subjects acted upon by resolutions at the closing session today of the convention of the West Texas Druggists' association. Members of the organization passed a resolution favoring "any fair and legal method of coping with foreign-owned corporations." They also passed a resolution calling on the legislative committee of the Texas Pharmaceutical association to prepare a resolution for submission to the state legislature revoking the present law, which does not permit the state board of pharmacy to review cases of violation of narcotic laws.

SALVAGE FAILS

TOKYO, March 7. (AP)—A fortnight's efforts to save the steamship Alabama Maru, which went aground near the mouth of Tokyo Bay February 23, have proved fruitless. The freighter, bound from Seattle to Yokohama when she ran aground, was breaking up today. Salvage vessels were unable to move her cargo of lumber, wheat and flour.

High School Boys Get Twenty Years

Sentence Added To 5-Year Terms Awarded Previously For Series Of Robberies In Dallas County

DALLAS, March 7. (AP)—Twenty years in prison were added here today to the five-year sentences assessed Raymond Snoga, 19, and Roscoe Hendrix, 18, high school students, recently in Tarrant county in their trials for a series of robberies in Dallas county.

The youths at first declined to accept an offer from the state to plead guilty in the nine robbery cases against them and accept a 20-year sentence.

After hearing testimony of the victims, the first jury sentenced Snoga to seven years imprisonment. A second jury sentenced Hendrix to five years.

The youths had made plans to the jury for leniency, and called a pastor, a high school principal and numerous neighbors to testify regarding their reputation prior to the robberies. They finally decided to accept the 20-year sentence after Prosecutor Andrew J. Priest announced he would have the defendants tried on the remaining charges.

When arrested recently at Fort Worth, the youths were enrolled as students at Forest Avenue high school here and their records showed comparatively regular attendance and high grades.

REACTION AWAITED

DALLAS, March 7. (AP)—The state legislature's reaction to a protest voiced by the Dallas Clearing House association against possible increases in taxes was awaited today. The protest was voiced in a resolution adopted last night, in which the legislature was asked to scrutinize closely every tax bill for the possible harmful effect upon the people.

Naval Conference Resumes Activity

LONDON, March 7. (AP)—Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister and chairman of the five-power naval conference, announced this morning after resumption of the parley at the end of a three weeks recess that the conference was in full working order and that thus "all the prophecies of evil as so often is the case in human history have been confounded."

He declared this morning's meeting of heads of the delegations, at which M. Aristide Briand, the French chief, was present for the first time since the fall of the Tardieu government, had resulted in the advancement of the conference's work, permitting a new hold on the broken thread of the negotiations.

He declared the delegates were at it again and the conference was going to produce a treaty. "If I talk with a feeling of buoyancy, I have very good reason for it," he declared.

"Rundown, Lost Appetite, Took Cold Easily"

Germany has announced that all government purchases of aircraft will be from only four firms which have been selected.

Widua Falls, Texas. "I was rundown, lost my appetite and was nervous and irritable. I took cold easily and always suffered with headache. Finally, I started taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and found it to be the very thing I required to keep me from being so susceptible to colds. I feel my blood circulating better when I take this tonic. I certainly think it is a wonderful medicine. I recommend it willingly and gladly."—Mrs. J. A. Thirty Piano Pupils Of South Plains Will Play In Contest

Second Session Of Festival To Be Held This Morning And Afternoon At Methodist Church; To Have Tea

Misses Dunn and Huff are in charge of division, while Elizabeth Leake of C. I. A. is to be judge.

PUPILS of 16 years and over will play in the second session of the annual spring festival sponsored by the South Plains Music Teachers association today beginning at 9 o'clock and continuing through 4 o'clock. The contest will be held in the chapel of the First Methodist church and 30 entries representing Lamesa, Slaton, Tahoka and Lubbock will be made.

Miss Elizabeth Leake, concert pianist and teacher of piano playing, will be judge for the session which is to be directed by Miss Margaret Huff and Miss Mary Dunn local piano teachers.

Miss Leake is at present associate professor of music at the College of Industrial Arts, Denton. She has studied piano with some of the leading teachers of this country and last summer went to London, where she enrolled in the Mathay school of piano playing, she studied piano with Tobias Mathay and attended a course of lectures.

Prior to this time Miss Leake was a student of Arthur Schabale of Berlin. She has done concert work over the State of Texas and at C. I. A. where she is at present engaged in teaching piano.

Tea Is Planned
While in Lubbock, Miss Leake will be the guest of Miss Alma Girard, a former pupil, in her home, 2215 5th street. Miss Girard will entertain with an informal tea in the afternoon, with Miss Leake as honor guest.

Schedule of Contest

Thirty-Five Are Guests At Supper

Rebekah Lodge Entertains At Labor Temple; Music And Readings Included On Varied Program

Thirty-five guests attended a box supper given by members of the Rebekah lodge Thursday evening at the labor temple. A. S. Eads auctioned the boxes, and men buying the lunches ate with the women who prepared them.

An orchestra composed of Mrs. Devey McClellan, violin, Murray South, saxophone, and Mrs. Murray South, piano, entertained throughout the evening, and Max L. Raney gave a number of accordion solos. A group of clever readings was given by Odell Ford.

Five visitors from Slaton were present for the occasion.

A $30,000,000 plan to unite Southwest England and South Wales in an electricity supply area covering 17,000 square miles has been prepared by the British Electricity Commissioners.

Marriage Vows Will Be Taken Today
By Miss Kathrine Powell, L. H. Beall

Miss Kathrine Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Powell, 1005 Avenue S. will become the bride of L. H. Beall this morning at 10:00 o'clock in a simple ceremony read at the family home by the Rev. H. L. Munger, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating.

Immediately after the marriage vows are said the couple will leave on a honeymoon of unannounced destination and after a few weeks will be at home in this city.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding will be Mr. and Mrs. Judd Beall of San Antonio, the paternal grandparents of the groom, Miss Viola Dickinson of Green Bay, Wisconsin, the bride's aunt, and Mrs. E. C. Dickinson of Rusk, the grandmother and Misses Ellen Campbell, Phyllis McKnight, L. H. Beall this morning at 10:00 o'clock in a simple ceremony read at the family home by the Rev. H. L. Munger, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating.

Flood Waters In France Receding After Heavy Loss

Estimate Over 400 Dead In Devastated Moissac And Montauban Sections; 61 Bodies Recovered

BORDEAUX, France, March 7. (P)—Flood waters receding from the devastated Montauban and Moissac sections today moved down the mother-river Garonne and out to sea. The weather bureau announced the flood peak had passed Bordeaux and that danger to the city had been averted.

From Carcassonne westward what yesterday was a lake of surging water today was a sea of mud, strewn with debris, unrecovered bodies of victims and carcasses of animals which lost their lives in the torrent.

Two hundred and one men, women and children were known officially to have perished in the flood. Unofficial estimates, apparently well based, set the number of dead at 400 and higher. Only 61 bodies have been recovered, all from along the shores of the Tarn in the vicinity of Montauban and Moissac.

Refugees from surrounding towns and villages streamed into Bordeaux throughout the night, recalling the exodus from Belgium and northern France before the advancing German troops.

Farm Board Is Not Charitable Group, Legge Points Out

WASHINGTON, March 7. (P)—Chairman Legge took the position today that the farm board was not a "charitable institution" and that congress would have to guarantee the expenditure if it adopted the McMaster resolution proposing that the board buy $25,000,000 worth of wheat and send it to China to relieve famine.

The resolution was introduced by Senator McMaster, republican, North Dakota, for the two-fold purpose of finding an outlet for surplus American wheat and bringing relief to the famine area of interior China. He proposed that the Chinese nationalist government guarantee the repayment of the $25,000,000 within 10 years.

Further consideration of the resolution was postponed until next week by the senate agriculture committee.

CHARTERS GRANTED

AUSTIN, March 7. (P)—Chartered: The Lindsay Nunn company, investments, Amarillo; capital stock $50,000. Incorporators: J. Lindsay Nunn, J. E. Nunn, E. L. Shelton.

LETTER INTRODUCED Correspondence Shown In Public Utility Probe

WASHINGTON, March 7. (P)—A letter showing that correspondence on the naming of an executive secretary of the federal power commission passed between power company officials was introduced into the record today at the Federal Trade Commission's investigation into the financing of public utilities.

Richard B. Scandrett, Jr., then a vice president of the American Gas and Electric company, wrote Sidney Z. Mitchell, president of the Electric Bond and Share company in August, 1925, saying he understood that O. C. Merrill, then power commission secretary, intended to resign. Scandrett continued that George C. Danforth of Augusta, Maine, had been suggested for the place by F. W. Scheidehelm, an American gas consulting engineer, for the place.

SENATE REVERSED

WASHINGTON, March 7. (P)—The senate reversed itself today and voted a tariff of six cents per hundred pounds on Portland cement, now on the free list.

Nazarene Church Permit Taken Out

Definite Plans Assured For $10,000 Structure To Be Constructed On Avenue Q Between 13th And 14th

With issuance yesterday of a permit for $10,000, definite plans were assured for completion of the proposed Nazarene church, to be located on Avenue Q, between 13th and 14th streets. Pray and Thompson are contractors for the structure.

Meetings have been held for the past several months in the basement, or foundation structure, for the new building.

One other small permit was issued yesterday for $550, to R. A. Woods, for moving residence to 1919 Avenue M.

Valuations for the month, with 8 permits, have been increased to $35,700 while the year's valuations now stand at $290,610 for 61 permits.

Italy has prohibited foreign dialogue and songs in talking pictures.

Claim Livestock Plan Impossible

CHICAGO, March 7. (P)—The National Livestock Marketing association recently proposed by the Federal Farm Board, "will never work out," Charles Wilson, president of the Chicago Livestock Exchange, declared today.

"But if it did work out," Wilson added, "it would put us commission men, who represent the historical marketing system upon which the present livestock market has been built, completely out of business."

Loyalty of the livestock producers of the middle west to the commission men who have rendered them personal service will be the greatest barrier in the Farm Board's progress, Wilson said.

JUMPS OVERBOARD

WASHINGTON, March 7. (P)—The navy department announced today that Lieutenant Commander Allan Barnett of Urbana, Ohio, had thrown himself overboard from the deck of the U. S. S. Bainbridge, the cruiser on which he was being transported from duty aboard the U. S. S. New York at Guantanamo to the naval hospital at Norfolk, Va.

Ft. Worth Man Is Injured In Crash

When the car in which he was riding crashed into a parked automobile six miles southeast of Lubbock on the Slaton highway, W. A. Edmondson, of Fort Worth, received a broken nose and severe lacerations about the face. The accident occurred yesterday morning about 1:20 o'clock.

He was brought to the Lubbock sanitarium by a passing motorist and was discharged yesterday noon. Efforts on the part of officers to identify occupants of the parked car have failed.

Thirteen Banks Named in Suits

AUSTIN, March 7. (P)—Attorney General R. L. Bobbitt today filed suit in Travis county district court against 13 Texas banks for an aggregate of about $50,000 claimed due on assessments against the banks while they were members of the old guaranty fund system.

The banks complained of were: Citizens State bank, Ranger; First State bank, Kosse; First State bank, Cedar Hill; First State bank, Wells; Farmers and Merchants State bank, Maydelle; First State bank, Chilton; Oakwood State bank, Oakwood; State Bank and Trust company, Eagle Pass; First State bank, Elston; Farmers and Merchants State bank, Rush; Mincola State bank, Mineola; Farmers and Merchants State bank, Gallatin; and Farmers and Merchants State bank, Edgewood.

HELD UNDER BOND

WASHINGTON, March 7. (P)—Edith Briscoe, 19-year-old leader of the junior communist league here, was held under $500 bond today after pleading guilty in police court to a charge of assaulting a part policeman during the demonstration yesterday in front of the White House, and upon advice of her attorney demanded a jury trial.

Amelia Rogers, recently fined in Devonport, England, for being an unlicensed money lender, was said to have charged more than 2,000 per cent interest.

COLDS IN HEAD

The throbbing disagreeable cold which settles in the head demands prompt attention. Avoid neglect. Use Mother's Salve. It penetrates and vaporizes, opens the passages and brings quick relief from colds, croup, and coughs. Used since 1894. All druggists stock and recommend Mother's Salve. It is pleasantly scented, easy to use and quick to act. Two sizes, 25c and 50c. Vaporize "Mother's Salve" for Colds.

Denton Wrecks Athens' Hopes For Second State Title

Spring Chatter

Notes From Baseball Training Camps

WIND SLOWS STEERS
DALLAS, March 7. (AP)—The Dallas Steers went through a workout today that didn't mean a whole lot due to a stiff wind and much dust. Bert Grimm, pitcher, notified the club from his Letart Falls, Ohio, home that he had been detained by the illness of his baby, but would arrive Monday.

Harry Kleiser and Nick Borrelli, third basemen, donned spangles for their first workouts.

FRATT SHIFTS COMBINATIONS
WACO, March 7. (AP)—A high cold wind made practice at East Park this afternoon unusually difficult, but the boys stayed out just as long. Manager Pratt uses various infield combinations, but seemed better satisfied with the one that had Stuyvenant at first, Wengardner at second, Moleworth at short, and Boken at third.

Schofield has also flashed brilliantly at short, but his record indicates that he is a very light hitter.

MACKS RELEASE HUME
DALLAS, March 7. (AP)—Redman Hume, former star athlete of Southern Methodist University, today received word of his unconditional release from Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics. He signed immediately as an outfielder with the Dallas Steers. Hume was the property of the A's last season but spent the season farmed out to minor clubs.

JEWISH STAR SHINES
HOUSTON, March 7. (AP)—The hitting of Sol Mishkin, young Jewish first sacker today featured a practice game among Manager Schultz's hired hands. The German-Jews beat the Holylocks six to two, with Mishkin's line drive over the right field wall with two on in a nine inning tilt. Mishkin hit his homer off "Dizzy" Dean, skinny right hander, from San Antonio. Mishkin also hit a line single and was hit by a pitched ball.

Roger Trawick, rookie right hander from Merced, pitched much of the five rounds he worked for the German-Jews. Schultz and Tony Kaufman, former Chicago Cub mound star, gave him particular attention today.

Blackburn was the first casualty of the training camp, twisting his ankle in a rounding first. He likely will be out for a week.

BELL TO FACE MACKS
BRADENTON, Fla., March 7. (AP)—Herman Bell will be Manager Gabby Street's mound selection when the Cardinals meet the Athletics in the first of a four game series beginning at Miami tomorrow afternoon. Street made the announcement after today's workout.

Bell will probably go three innings and it is Street's intention to use three pitchers in the early exhibition games. Others likely to see early service are Fred Frankhouse, Jim Lindsey, Andy Messinger, Al Grabowski and Mac Brown.

GRAY ARRIVES WITH WIND
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 7. (AP)—Pitcher Sam Gray and a hard wind reached the St. Louis Browns' training camp here today. Gray had his first workout, while the wind shortened the practice ground for the other Browns. Gray's arrival reduced the absentee list to five.

Manager Killefer said he would use Holshouser and Caldwell, both right handers, in a milk fund charity game here Sunday.

ALEXANDER LOOKS BETTER
TAMPA, Fla., March 7. (AP)—Alexander by hard work has lifted a load from the mind of Manager Rube Bressler of the Detroit Tigers.

The Tiger first baseman is demonstrating in the Bengal training camp here that he has overcome a great deal of the awkwardness and clumsiness which last year helped weaken the defense of the Tigers.

Alexander also qualified as one of the weakest fielders.

He has been showing speed and form here and explains his improvement by telling how he spent the winter dancing about a base sack in his backyard at Greenville, Tenn.

Former Champions Give Way To Team From North Texas

Rails Jackrabbits Bow To Corsicana In First Round Encounter, 26-22; Estel-line Beats Bryan, 19-18

AUSTIN, Mar. 7.—Denton High School blasted the hopes of Athens for a second consecutive championship here this afternoon by defeating the 1929 champions, 24 to 19 in the state high school basketball tournament. The game marked the opening of the second round of the tourney.

In the first round Denton had little difficulty in disposing of Edinburg, 47 to 34. Corsicana won its way into the second round by a 26 to 22 victory over Rails. Estel-line proved Bryan by one point, 19 to 18. Boyle high school of El Paso proved no match for the basketballers from Denton who won, 37 to 14.

Reagan White Austin. John H. Reagan high school of Houston had a rather easy time with Austin high coming out on top, 40 to 22.

The feature match of the day's play was the Denton-Athens game. Athens jumped into the lead at the start with a field goal but their margin was overcome quickly and from then on Denton was never headed by the former champions.

The first quarter ended with Denton in the lead six to five. They were ahead 17 to 14 at half time and Athens cut their lead to two points, 19 to 17, at the end of the third stanza, when Denton staged a scoring rally and ran up a five-point advantage, stalling the last minute of the game with the frenzied Athenians.

The game was a well-balanced aggregation, while Athens placed most of its confidence in F. Tompkins, who was high-point man of the fray with 12 points, scored on five from the field and two from the foul line. Athens was materially crippled in its defensive department when B. Tompkins was ejected from the game on personal fouls. Denton also lost one of their guards, Carter, via the personal foul route.

At no time was Denton threatened by Edinburg, the victors rolled up a score of 47 points in easy fashion. Leutz, Denton, guard, was high-point man of the opening round with 23 points. Denton was met Breckenridge tonight. The latter team drew a bye in the first round and the Denton game will mark its first appearance on the floor.

Rabbits Lose Out.
The Rails-Corsicana game was a nip and tuck affair with Corsicana displaying a more accurate eye while the shooting of the Rails quintet was somewhat off. The hunt of the Corsicana attack was borne by Polard who scored 11 of his team's points.

Bryan and Estel-line battled to the bitter end with the game in doubt until the final gun. Estel-line lead, 10 to 8, at the first quarter and was behind, 12 to 10, at the half. Bryan held their opponents scoreless in the second quarter and was ahead, 18 to 17, at the end of the third period. Estel-line then held Bryan scoreless during the final eight minutes of play, but was able to add only two points to its total, giving them a one-point victory.

The Bowie high school team of El Paso apparently was stricken by stage fright and failed to get going until the closing minutes.

The Bowie squad was composed entirely of Mexican players and played a fast court game, but could not connect with the hoop. The Denton players experienced little difficulty in looping them through from all angles. Sorrell scoring 10 points on five field goals and Sadler 11 points on five from the field and one from the foul line.

The Houston-Austin game excited little interest as the Austin team was outclassed badly. They managed to get the lead for a few minutes, but after that were never in the running. Baker was the Houston luminary, with 13 points.

Pitchers Holding Fate Of Yanks In Coming Campaign

No Doubt That New Yorkers Can Hit The Apple But Shawkey Isn't So Sure About Mound Strength

By BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 7.—Bob Shawkey, still glorifying as a manager the red shirt he made famous as a pitcher, finds himself surrounded in his Yankee training camp by pitchers as big or bigger than he is. He is now trying to find if he can pitch as well as he could.

When Bob, the gob, came to Petersburg to assume command of the preparatory period, he had three major problems, selection of a third baseman and a left fielder and working out a winning combination of pitchers.

He solved two-thirds of his tasks for the time being at least, when he called 21-year-old Ben Chapman, waved a red sleeve arm, toward third base and said: "play it." The procedure was repeated with 23 year old Allan Cooke at left field. The only instruction given the youngsters was an order to Chapman to throw overhand.

Approximately enough Shawkey then turned his attention to the pitchers. "Yes they are a big bunch," he agreed, when it was pointed out that 18 of the 19 pitchers in camp are six feet, or over, in height. "Six feet, of course, isn't everything," added Shawkey, "but it helps. All of these boys can pitch. How well we will know later. But some of them certainly should help us."

Need Stronger Pitching.
The Yankee pitching staff has not altogether followed the example of the season's one horse show and collapsed all at once, but three or four capable recruits can be used to advantage to bolster the staff. There is no doubt in the mind of any one who has seen even a part of a Yankee practice that the runners up in the last league race can hit.

Led by the irrepressible Babe Ruth, the Yankees can hit right down the batting order from first place to eighth. If a pitching staff can be assembled to hold the opposition in reasonable limits Shawkey may have a very pleasant summer in his first year as a manager.

Recruits Can Hit.
Chapman and Cooke, the recruits from St. Paul who seem about to crash the big league barriers, are big boys who fit right into the Yankee scheme of things, both in size and batting.

Art May Retire Bashful One in Gloomy Mood

DALLAS, Mar. 7. (AP)—Arthur the once Great Shires, now in the depths of gloom, sadly eyed the Dallas Texas League Steers work out today and remarked that he couldn't see why the Chicago White Sox could expect him, one of the world's greatest drawing cards, to toil this season for a smaller stipend than some of the Texas League athletes he was watching.

Bashful Arthur declared he had given up a good paying proposition in winter exhibition fighting (in the ring) in order to please the Chicago magnates. He opined that on top of that big sacrifice on his part, he received a minor league contract. It seems almost too much to bear, he believes.

Bisons May Meet Southwest Court Quintets in 1931

(Special To The Avalanche)
CANYON, March 7.—The West Texas Buffaloes may meet some of the big boys in basketball next season. Texas university, Baylor university and Texas A. and M. have each expressed a willingness to come to the Plains country, if satisfactory dates and terms can be arranged.

It is not quite probable that all of these teams can be brought to Canyon in one season but it appears to be quite possible that one and perhaps two of these clubs will show their wares against the Thundering Herd in Canyon next year.

and often, Benny Bengough, Arndt Jorgens and William John Karlon complete the catchers. But Karlon may be an outfielder before the camp is closed.

Trying to guess right on the pitchers will cause Manager Shawkey to earn his salary. He has Tom Zachary, Waite Hoyt, George Pipgras, Fred Heilmann, Ed Wells, Roy Sherid and Herb Penock who did a lot of pitching last season. Henry Johnson, Floyd Van Pelt, Lee Craig and Gordon Rhodes pitched more or less, but fell victims to sickness, bad arms and injuries. All are back, hoping for better luck.

Two college pitchers, Bob Walsh, Notre Dame and Fred Asbeck, Michigan, are bright prospects who need experience but the rest of the new men know their way about on a pitcher's mound. Vernon Gomez, the left-hander from San Francisco, has been sick but, sick or well, he has a dazzling fast ball.

Ivy Andrews, who has a great prospect last year and looks better now, American Polli, who won 22 games for St. Paul, Bill Henderson, who was a better pitcher than his international league record indicated: Louis McVey, a 22-game winner in the Pacific Coast league and Foster Edwards, former Brave will be given every opportunity to make places for themselves on the staff.

Catching strengthened Bubbles Hargrave has strengthened the catching department and the hard hitting Bill Dickey will get some relief from the former Cincinnati star, who also can hit hard.

Westerners Off Today On Initial Jaunt Of Season

Lubbock High Trackers To Make Strong Bid For Honors At Snyder Track And Field Meet

Off on their first jaunt of the season, more than 30 Lubbock High school trackers will climb aboard all available south-bound cars this morning and head for Snyder, the scene of an all-day invitation track and field event in which 27 West Texas high schools are entered.

The local cinder artists are due to take off at six o'clock and arrive at the Snyder county capital about nine, in time to get in uniform before the first event is called at ten o'clock.

Seven Westerners Win Cage Awards

Basketball: Lettermen Are Announced By Coach Del Morgan Yesterday; One-Third Time Requisite

Seven members of the Lubbock high school basketball squad of the 1929 season were yesterday awarded letters for their services on the hardwood court by Coach Del Morgan.

The awards were made on the basis of a possible 72 quarters during the season. To letter it was necessary for the player to take part in at least one-third of the full season's activity.

Four forwards, two guards and one center are included in the following list of players who won the awards: Holmes, Prizell, Milton McGeehee and Noah, forwards; Sides, center; Melton McGeehee and Price, guards.

PANTHERS MIX SUNDAY
MINERAL WELLS, Mar. 7. (AP)—Regulars vs. Rookies will be the order of the day here Sunday, when the Fort Worth Panthers play a six-inning contest, their first of the training season.

"These veterans are getting pretty cocky," Manager Snyder observed on Friday, "we'll see what they can do against a club of these kids Sunday."

Indians En Route To Camp From All Parts Of Country

Danny Lynch, Former Lubbock Second Sacker, Signs With Tribe For Coming Baseball Campaign

SAN ANTONIO, March 7. (AP)—Coming by rail and automobile the San Antonio Indians are headed this way from their distant homes to start spring training Monday morning.

Pitcher Leo Alter, acquired from Augusta, Ga., South Atlantic league, left his home in Dunlap, Ia., Friday, driving through in his car, according to a telegram received by the San Antonio club.

Southpaw Joe Giard, from Springfield, Mass., and Pitcher Geo. Mallick, from Wymore, Neb., the latter drafted from Martinsburg, Va., Blue Ridge league, were expected to arrive Friday night.

Catcher Pete Slack, obtained from the New England league, is coming from Baltimore, Maryland, and is expected Saturday night.

Francis Leo Farrell, first baseman, from the champion Albany club of the Eastern league, is coming from Emporia, Pa., and expected Monday.

Ad Schinkel, outfielder, obtained from Bridgeport, Conn., Eastern league, in a trade for Chief Lynam Nason, is expected next week from Winners, Cal.

Announcement was made today of the signing of infielder Dan Lynch, last year with Ballinger in the West Texas league. He was the fastest man in the league last year and stole 63 bases.

Uncle Billy Disch Threatens to Leave Texas University if Present Turmoil in Department Goes Unfixed

AUSTIN, Mar. 7. (AP)—The University of Texas, seemingly ever-recurring athletic discord was discussed by the board of regents today, but what was said and what plans were contemplated to quiet the troubled waters were not divulged.

Members of the board said they had discussed the situation at length and would continue consideration of it tomorrow. The agitation came to the front recently when the athletic council failed to renew its contract with Fred Walker, head coach of the basketball team.

Other Coaches Have Say
Uncle Billy Disch, baseball mentor, and Clyde Littlefield, head football coach, had written the board that they believed it would be in the interest of harmony were Coach Walker's contract not renewed.

Today Disch, winner of 17 conference baseball championships for Texas, threatened to leave the institution at the expiration of his contract next June, if something were not done to bring about harmony within the athletic family.

He said he did not care to put up longer with the existing turmoil.

"As long as a small clique of professors and individuals assert themselves to be running university athletics, the situation will be deplorable."

Formal Opening Of New Firm To Be Held Today At Ave. M And Brdwy. 8 Needs Provided For

Announcement was made yesterday of the opening of the Paulger-Noblitt company in their new home at Broadway and Avenue M. Formal opening will be held today. Formerly occupied by the South Plains Motor company, the building has been completely remodeled and a service has been installed that offers to Lubbock and South Plains motorists eight outstanding needs. Gas and oil, tires, washing and greasing, batteries and service, electrical service, tire repairing, United motor products and free road service. All of these have been combined into this one large establishment. Aside from this a complete radio department will be maintained.

Novelty gifts will be given throughout the day to each purchaser of five gallons of gasoline or more, gifts suited for men or women. Policy of the new company has been announced as "insuring a service that you deserve," and both Mr. Paulger and Mr. Noblitt have stated that this policy will be carried out to the fullest extent.

Fuller Is Named Buff Cage Leader

(Special To The Avalanche) CANTON, March 7.—(AP)—French Fuller, who has played center on the Buffalo basketball team through two championship seasons, has been elected captain of the Buffs for 1931. French played his first season in 1929, when the Buffs finished in second place. He was out of school in '26 but played again on the championship team of 1927, and after staying out of school for two years came back and made the team at center again this season.

Fuller is popular with the boys, as evidenced by the majority vote received. Of the 11 votes cast he received 10. Fuller voting for Hatcher Brown.

Although four regulars and one reserve will be lost by graduation or by having played the allotted time, it is believed here that the Buffs will be a strong contender for conference honors again in 1931.

Risko and Giant Argentine Slated For Return Match

NEW YORK, March 7.—(AP)—Johnny Risko, Cleveland, boxer boy, agreed today to fight Victorio Campolo, Argentine giant, in a return match on the House of Calvary calendar, unsanctioned fight, at Madison Square Garden, March 24. Campolo, who was considered "too big" for the pump midwesterner by the New York State Athletic commission, was able only to gain a draw with Risko when they met for the first time in the semi-final to the Sharkey-Scott fight at Miami, Fla., February 27. The Argentine already has agreed to the return bout. The match is scheduled for 10 rounds and replaces a middleweight title fight originally planned for that date between Mickey Walker and Rene De Vos.

Risko agreed to the match in a long distance telephone conference from Cleveland with Tom McCardie, matchmaker at Madison Square Garden. Although the official verdict was a draw a majority of the ring-side experts believed Risko decisively outpointed Campolo in Miami. The New York State commission has since indicated that it will not again object to Risko because of his size.

Fort Worth Polo Team Loses, 10-9

FORT WORTH, March 7.—(AP)—Minus the services of its star, Deane Gill, during the latter part of the game cost the Fort Worth Polo club its chance of victory over Wichita Falls Friday afternoon at the River Crest Country club. Just as his brilliant play appeared destined to carry Fort Worth to triumph, Gill's horse carried him into a tree, shaking him up badly and he was forced from the game.

With Gill's departure, the Fort Worth club slipped from a 7 to 6 lead to allow Wichita Falls to ride into a 10 to 9 triumph.

Silent Cal Retains Sphinx-Like Role In Texas; Does Not Choose to Speak

DALLAS, March 7.—(AP)—Silent Cal was very silent indeed on his most recent trip through Texas, refusing all invitations to make speeches and sticking very close to his train, but the persons who had met or seen him were more voluble.

San Antonio vouched for the anecdote of the breakfast table, where Former President Coolidge became articulate long enough to query "what was the Alamo built for?" Looks Like Democrats. Probably the ex-president's next most quoted utterance was his remark as a crowd surged toward the train in Waco: "Looks like a bunch of democrats," he said to his wife. Police intervened to rescue him from being crushed in a crowd which pressed around him in Dallas. When he was safely ensconced on the observation platform, a man in the crowd shouted, "You'll have to come back to Texas."

Coolidge retorted, "I'm here now." Once he consented to pose in a picture with a namesake baby, but for the most part, he sat on an air-filled cushion as the train chugged through Texas, smoking cigars in a waxed paper holder. Throughout the day he and Mrs. Coolidge had to jump up every few minutes and go to the observation to greet crowds welcoming them at small towns on the route.

The train passed out of Texas at Texarkana at 11 p. m. Memphis, Tenn., was the next stop for Mr. Coolidge and his wife, en route from California to their home at Northampton, Mass.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

Every prudent man doeth with knowledge; but a fool layeth open his folly.

A wicked messenger falleth into mischief; but a faithful ambassador is health.—Proverbs, viii, 16, 17.

MUCH WORK IS YET TO BE DONE

BECAUSE Lubbock county has voted bonds to pave three highways that traverse it, including highway number 33, which is part of the Carlsbad-Cavern highway, there remains a great amount of work yet to be done along the road from Oklahoma City to El Paso, by way of Lubbock and Carlsbad.

Although the Carlsbad-Cavern highway offers the shortest route from Oklahoma City to El Paso, there are other routes, some of them boasting pavement much of the way.

There are three major problems confronting this route. First is to secure federal designation. Second is to secure national publicity. Third is to get the entire route paved.

At Matador on Monday next, March 10, a quarterly meeting of the Carlsbad-Cavern Highway association is to be held. Representatives from the towns along the road will gather for discussion of these problems. It is upon the shoulders of these representatives that rest the work of starting the ball rolling for sympathy in their communities to pave the route.

Since the last meeting, held in Lubbock, this county has voted paving bonds. That information will cheer other counties to do likewise. But the big thing to get over to people residing in cities touched by the C. C. H. is that millions of Americans are soon to become informed as to what the Cavern really are. Following this information they will desire to visit them. Next will come the plan of their tour.

At Oklahoma City the C. C. H. connects with Federal highways which tap the north and east centers of the nation's population. At El Paso the tourist is aware of a transcontinental pass, leading from the Pacific coast to the southwest and points north, east and south. Direction of the stream of traffic made by tourists, along the C. C. H., will mean dollars to every community. Within five or ten years it is easily safe to predict that, with paving solid between Oklahoma City and El Paso, there will be 200,000 tourists each year utilizing this route.

CREATION OF NEW WORDS

The legislature of Kansas has by enactment given authority to a new pronoun, "thn." An example we are told, would be: "The boy or girl can go to thn class." In preference to the present form: "The boy or girl can go to his or her class."

It remains to be seen how readily "thn" will take outside of Kansas. New words become accepted speech only by creeping into the writing and speaking habits of the race, and as a rule, words deliberately created to fill a specific syntactical need have a brief existence.

Robert Graves in his book, "Good-Bye to All That," tells how John Galsworthy resorted to the word "smelled" in a new manuscript, using it in this sense: "Her shape smelled in the distance." A friend protested. Somewhat triumphantly, Galsworthy pointed to the word "smelled" in the dictionary, then read on down the column and discovered that the sole authority for its use was his own name, he having used it in an earlier manuscript.

Galsworthy's experience illustrates how impossible it is for even a writer of standing to promote the use of new language that does not take hold of the imagination. On the other hand, one sees every day instances of how quickly words may be introduced into common speech without sanction of either an outstanding authority or a state legislature.

Such a word is "dunk," meaning the dipping of bread or cake into a beverage. "Dunk" is today in as common use as is the practice of "dunking." It is heard in the best drawing rooms, and a popular song has been written about the dunking of sponge cake. Its source appears to be entirely onomatopoeic. So far "dunk" has not appeared in the dictionary, but neither has "thn." And the odds are considerable that "dunk" will be the first of the two to land there.

UNCLE SAM'S EASY MONEY

Importance of tobacco, and particularly of the cigarette, as a source of federal revenue is emphasized by publication of Treasury receipts from taxation of that commodity for the calendar year just ended, showing a continued steady increase despite reduction of rates in 1926. Tobacco now contributes about $450,000,000 to the support of government, of which cigarettes alone yield nearly four-fifths. Revenue from cigars has declined slightly.

The use of cigarettes of domestic manufacture increased just about a third between 1914 and 1929, the number passing the hundred-billion-dollar mark in the latter year, since when the increase of $38,000,000 in tax yield indicates a further big jump. To what is this phenomenon to be attributed?

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

LIFE OF UPPER HOUSE AROUSED
AS SNOOPERS SPY ON SENATORSBy CHARLES F. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Government snoopers can snoop to their hearts' content, for all the senate cares, so long as they snoop exclusively on private citizens, and strictly refrain from snooping on any senators.

But let a senator suspect he is being snopped on, and HOW he hollers!

When, all at the same time, as at present, practically the entire 96 senators get the complex, each that several snoopers are on his trail, believe me, the senate office building is no safe place for a stranger to venture into; one of Sergeant-at-Arms David S. Barry's anti-snooping fly cops is liable to slug him any minute, as a precaution—and investigate afterward.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler sounded the initial alarm.

Perhaps he had reason for believing he was being spied on. Unexpectedly opening the door, from his private office into the corridor, he found a man with one eye about the place where the keyhole had been an instant previously. The eye owner proved to be armed, too, but that was explained on the ground of his status as an official investigator, of which the Capitol guard was summoned satisfied himself or a "pinch" would have been in order.

Nevertheless, the incident made Senator Wheeler uneasy.

Then Senator William E. Borah decided that he also was an object of espionage.

Complaints from other senators followed. Finally Senator James E. Watson, the senate's majority leader, demanded an investigation. Subsequently he announced that the inquiry had failed to reveal any justification for the scare. However, there has been no relaxation in the thoroughness of the patrol established meantime by Sergeant-at-Arms Barry in the senate office building lobbies and hallways. Folk who doubt this can test it for themselves by entering and looting about for a few seconds in a slightly suspicious manner. Armica and sterilized bandages are to be had at the pharmacy diagonally across the Capitol plaza.

As one would expect, wet senators attribute the snooping epidemic to the eighteenth amendment. Some dry senators, who have been attacking the government's enforcement organization, likewise blame the prohibition administration.

Unquestionably the wet-and-dry situation HAS served to keep the espionage system up to sufficient proportions not even to hesitate at tackling senators, but it appears to have arrived at a formidable scale originally as a war development.

Certain of the executive departments evidently formed the habit then of relying on secret agents' services to an extent which they never have modified since.

Maybe the theory was that executives of the pre-war era did not think public opinion of their day would tolerate such spying as the country regards now with comparative indifference, and consequently did not try it.

With the people accustomed to it, it seems to have suited them so well that they not only have retained but expanded it.

Still, it is a question if they have not made a mistake in undertaking to employ it against the lawmakers with so much boldness as to have attracted their attention.

Spying on a selected few public men may be safe in an occasional emergency, especially if they happen to be temporarily unpopular—such as the late Senator La Follette during the war, or Senator Wheeler, when a plot was hatched to "frame" him for his oil activities.

It is not so certain that it is judicious to set virtually the whole senate chamber by the ears, as in the present instance—despite Senator Watson's reassurances.

OLD-TIME IDEA ABOUT FUNCTION OF SPLEEN NEARLY CORRECT

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Several hundred years ago the term "spleen" was used to indicate anger or malice. The poet Pope spoke of "spleen and sour disdains." Shakespeare used the term to refer to any type of motion. "A thousand spleens bear her a thousand ways," he wrote.

Until recently no one had any real conception of the functions of the organ called the spleen. In 1929 two American investigators, Hargis and Mann, made studies of the effects of a number of emotions on the spleen.

When an animal is subjected to certain emotions to which it responds with muscular effort the spleen contracts. Whenever exercise is taken the spleen contracts. The special nature of the emotion does not seem to make much difference. Apparently when the animal is aroused adrenalin is secreted by its adrenal gland and the nerves controlling the spleen are stimulated to cause it to contract.

Dr. Joseph Barcroft of the Physiological Laboratory of Cambridge University in England has recently supplemented his observations. That the emotional definitely affect the size of the spleen was revealed in the following simple experiment.

A dog named Dimple had developed the habit of chasing any cat in the neighborhood. If the dog lay on a table and a duster was held in front of its nose the spleen remained unaltered. If the first duster was removed and another which had been in a basket with a cat was held in front of the dog's nose, the spleen of Dimple would contract appreciably.

This was observable even though none of the muscles of the dog moved.

Then if a cat in the next room "mewed" the dog's ears would be pricked up, its head and eyes would move and the spleen would contract still further. If the cat were placed directly in front of the dog, the dog's legs and body would move and the spleen would contract still further. If the dog chased the cat even for a quarter of a minute there would be still more contraction.

One of the oldest stories in medicine has to do with the great anatomist Hyrtl, who asked one of his students about the function of the spleen.

"I knew," said the student, "but I forgot."

"Unfortunate man," said Hyrtl, "you were the only one who knew, and now you have forgotten."

After the passage of almost one hundred years the physiologists have begun to find the answer. The spleen seems to be largely concerned in controlling the volume of blood circulating in the body. Upon the volume depends the blood pressure and the general tone of the body.

Now we can begin to understand how a person can get pale when he gets angry, how he can get so mad he will faint away. And what made the writers of hundreds of years ago associate the spleen with emotion?

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DETECTIVE BONNIE DUNDIE, secretly a member of the Hamilton Homicide Squad, accepts an urgent invitation from a former Yale classmate, DICK BERKELEY, to spend the week-end at Hillcrest, the millionaire Berkeley's estate.

His landlady, MRS. RHODES, tells him that Mrs. Berkeley, formerly a nobody, is trying to crash society, and that she has fortified herself with a social secretary, MISS LEITIA LAMBERT, formerly a society leader in New York and Newport. It is also rumored that CLORINDA BERKELEY is engaged to be married to SEYMOUR CROSBY, New York guest in the Berkeley home. For reasons of his own Dundie has a strong professional curiosity to see and study Seymour Crosby.

At the Berkeley home he meets Mr. and Mrs. Berkeley, Clorinda, 15-year-old GIGI, who annoys her mother with her frank criticisms and unbridled comments, and a gracious, well-bred Mrs. Lambert, the social secretary. But it is Seymour Crosby in whom the detective is especially vitally interested.

In an interval between dancing after dinner Seymour Crosby presents Mrs. Berkeley with a large crystal flask of expensive perfume, which Mrs. Berkeley accepts with cries of delight. GIGI, after a strange exclamation of horror, snatches the perfume from her mother and dashes madly from guest to guest, sprinkling them all. At this waste, Mrs. Berkeley is so incensed that she slaps GIGI's face. George Berkeley reproves his wife sternly; GIGI stumbles from the room, and Dick lurches drunkenly after her.

Dundie, sickened, remembers that he wants to telephone police headquarters about Seymour Crosby.

At 10:45 Clorinda abruptly goes upstairs, and the party breaks up. Mr. Berkeley, however, detaining Mrs. Berkeley for a "conference" in the library.

Dundie goes upstairs, sees GIGI, who confesses she has done "something dreadful"; looks for Dick and can't find him. Searching downstairs, Dundie sees Clorinda stealing out of the house a vivid scar in her hands. He also overhears quarreling between Mr. and Mrs. Berkeley.

Worried, beset with premonitions, he goes to sleep and is awakened Saturday morning by a pounding on his door.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VI

"Did I frighten you?" GIGI laughed joyously when Dundie opened his door, showing tousled black hair and startled blue eyes. "You look exactly as if you were expecting to hear that the millionaire master of Hillcrest had been discovered foully murdered in his library, with the doors and windows securely locked on the inside. Sorry to disappoint you, but Dad is in his room and has just sworn roundly at his favorite daughter for waking him up so early in the middle of the night, and he called it, though it's nearly 1 o'clock."

"I feel like swearing roundly myself," Dundie growled at her as he wrapped his dressing gown more decently over his mussed pajamas. "What's the big idea, young woman?"

"Woke up early with a headache—that terrible perfume, I suppose," GIGI elucidated. "Thrust my aching brow out the window, discovered it's a heavenly morn, dewspired, God-in-His-Heaven, etc., and that it has turned divinely warm. So—"

And she flung open her silk Happi coat to display a brief bathing suit. Wake Dundie up, lamb darling, grab a bathing suit off him, make him come along, and meet me at the lake in not more than 10 minutes. I've got to bang up Clorinda and Mr. Crosby now. Do you suppose I'll ever get around to calling Clorinda's lovely fiancé by his first name? By the way, didn't you hear me pounding on Dick's door? He wouldn't answer, but you can roust him out. Tell him a sunrise swim will be good for that hang-over of his."

And, after reaching up to tug his tousled black hair impatiently, she was off down the great marble staircase, her golden-brown curls bobbing merrily as she bounced lightly on rubber-soled sneakers.

"Gigi!" Dundie shivered, as he thought of how cold the lake must be, in spite of the unseasonal warmth of the new morning. But he had no intention of disobeying. Grinning a little at the realization that Gigi was rapidly reducing him to the wax-like state in which the kept her adoring father, the detective padded into the bathroom and knocked at the door leading into Dick Berkeley's bedroom. There was no answer, and he turned the knob, calling:

"Wake up, Dick! Gigi has decreed a sunrise swim!"

But he was talking to an unattended room. The bed had not been slept in, and the light in the door lamp beside the armchair glowed yellow in the morning brightness.

"A fine host you are!" Dundie apostrophized the missing young man. "Invite a guest for the week-end, then spend the night out on a bender."

Underneath his surface disgust, however, there was a growing uneasiness. Doris Matthews most decidedly had not looked like "that kind of girl," and yet what other explanation of Dick's all-night absence could there be? The girl had certainly agreed, however unwilling her consent had appeared to be, to meet Dick after the household was asleep.

"Well, what shall I do?" Dundie asked himself gloomily, as he returned to the bathroom and prepared to take a cold shower. "Alarm the family? It's early yet. The young rake may come sneaking back in time for breakfast, and be properly indignant at my interference. Yes, I guess I'd better give him a little more time—and quite a large piece of my mind when he does turn up."

After the biting cold of the shower, followed by a vigorous towel, he felt fit to cope with any lake. And by the time he had pulled on his dark-blue swimming suit, which Mrs. Rhodes had trusted upon his bringing, he was even whistling in a sudden surge of animal spirits.

His scalp-prickling premonitions of the night before were temporarily forgotten.

In the front hall he found Wickett awaiting him, a tray laden with four tall glasses of orange juice in his hands.

"Miss Gigi has just gone to the lake, sir. It lies to the east of the house. Is Mr. Dick not swimming?"

"I rather think not, Wickett," Dundie answered evasively, as he took the orange juice the butler offered.

Wickett, whose middle-aged face seemed old and tired this morning, was about to ask another question, but the faint sound of a door opening on the second floor deterred him.

Millions Being Benefited By It

Remarkable Gain Of Weight
And Better Complexion Is Striking Example Of Wichita Woman's Case

Millions of people have taken Orgatone (Argotane) and hardly a day passes that does not bring forth hundreds of grateful statements from all parts of the United States, and Canada, each and every one telling of the remarkable merits of Orgatone (Argotane).

Among the vast number of interesting statements recently received is that of Mrs. E. D. Fritz, who is now residing at house number eight in the Cameron Garden District, Wichita Falls, Texas, who in a conversation with one of the representatives in Allison's Drug Store, recently, said:

"I have suffered on and off for ten years, with indigestion and stomach trouble. I had an awful time with my stomach for nearly everything I ate, gave me indigestion my nerves were all torn to pieces and I was shaky and irritable. I was so weak and worn out, I really wasn't able to do my work. I was also bothered with rheumatism and never found anything that would bring me out of it. I got to where I didn't have any appetite, and ate very little. My complexion looked sallow and I really didn't like myself."

"I saw so much in the papers about Orgatone (Argotane), I decided to try it and have taken about three bottles. I honestly feel so much better and stronger than I did that I under estimate what work I can do, and am over doing it. I have gained several pounds in weight, and every one is telling me how good I look. My complexion looks fine now, and I never felt better in my life. I'm not bothered with my stomach and my rheumatism has all left me, which is a blessing, for I suffered something terrible with it. I sleep fine every night, and eat anything I want. I'm getting all my friends about Orgatone (Argotane) and several of them are getting good results as I am. I am glad to say a good word for Orgatone (Argotane)."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Lubbock at the Bowen Drug Store.

Murder Backstairs

him. He set the tray upon a little table in the hall, and gravely opened the door for Dundee.

It was a glorious September morning—"dew-purled," as Gigi had said; a young, fragrant, joyous morning. "Isn't it gorgeous? Aren't you glad you came?" Gigi cried, running to meet her new friend, her arms spread like wings.

For a long minute they stood swinging their clasped hands joyously, while Gigi's topaz eyes shone at him. "You look about 15 yourself this morning, my Bonnie Dundee!" she decided, an oddly deep note under her strident young soprano. "Bonnie, Bonnie!—with your hair all wet-curly, and your eyes as blue as a baby's... I wonder," she added frankly, "if I'm falling in love with you. Just this minute I had the funniest roller-coaster feeling in my tummy when I looked at you—Oh, darn! Here come the grown-up lovers, and you'll have to pretend to be grown-up, too... Where's Dick? couldn't you get him up?"

But she did not wait for a reply, for which Dundee was grateful. She went skipping across the close-curtained room to greet and hug her sister and Seymour Crosby.

"Slow-poke!" she glibbed shrilly. "Or did you take pause on the grand marble staircase for a path embrace? Race you to the lake, Mr. Crosby!"

And Dundee had not realized how much he could like Seymour Crosby until that slim aristocrat had flung off his dressing gown and dashed wholeheartedly after the flying child, catching her for his long legs were swift, two yards short of the spring board.

Clorinda followed slowly, her beautiful face dark with sulky resentment.

"Mad at me?" Gigi challenged her sister impudently. "Did wicked little sister cheat booful big sister out of her beauty sleep? ... Say!" she discovered suddenly. "You look as if you hadn't slept at all, Clor! You've got awful circles under your eyes. Why didn't you tell me to go to the devil, then turn over and go to sleep again? Gigi's sorry—honest!"

"Oh, leave me alone!" Clorinda commanded sharply. "I'm all right, but I don't think I shall swim, after all. That water must be icy," and she shivered and turned her back upon the lake.

"Don't be a sport-sport, Clor! Gigi begged, hopping upon the spring-board. "You'd only be cold a teeny minute, and then—Good-bye!" she broke off suddenly, and raised her short little nose to sniff, as a sudden breeze from the south rippled the rose-and-silver surface of the lake. "Fleur d'Amour! Can't you smell it, everybody? It must have soaked clear through to our bones, to keep on smelling like this!"

"Don't be an idiot, Gigi!" Clorinda commanded angrily, as the lilac-orange-and-brown figure darted from one to another, sniffing like an eager puppy. "It's just your imagination—"

"I do smell Fleur d'Amour!" Gigi insisted. "But come on! Let's swim! I can dive farther than you can on a racing dive, Bonnie Dundee! One for the money, two for the show—come on, Bonnie! Let's show 'em some real diving!—Three makes ready, and four we go!" And on the last word she released her new playmate hand and ran, executing as pretty a racing dive from the edge of the lake as the athletic young detective had ever seen.

How little and brown and adorable she was, with her fire-tipped brown curls, which coiled a balling cap, glinting in the sun!

"Swirl dive!" he sang out, as the wet curls emerged. Then because there was a queer expression on her dripping face, he shouted anxiously: "What's the matter, Gigi? Did you hurt yourself?"

"Hurt myself?" she echoed, her voice quavering and trembly. "Of course not! But—" and she began to swim rapidly toward the springboard on which he stood—"I think—I think I saw a—mermaid down there."

"A mermaid?" Dundee stooped to give her a hand and she clung to the board, shivering violently.

"Don't pay any attention to the little idiot!" Clorinda commanded with contemptuous anger. "I told you it was too cold for swimming. Gigi, come back to the house."

But Gigi had drawn up—her goose-flesh knees and had dropped her head upon them. She was trembling more violently than ever, and suddenly Dundee knew it was not from cold. She had gone to camp in New Hampshire, as she had told him the night before, had swum every sunrise in an icy lake—

The hair stirred on his scalp, with that horrible prickling he had experienced twice the night before. Without another moment of hesitation his long legs climbed over the huddled, shivering little figure, stepped to the edge of the spring-board.

"No, don't!" Gigi cried, when she realized his purpose, but only a mighty splash answered her.

His dive took him many feet short of the spot where Gigi had gone under, but when he had risen and got his bearings he plunged again.

When the detective rose the second time, after a long minute under water, his face was a ghastly gray-white. But he did not speak until powerful, overhand strokes had brought him swiftly to the spring-board.

Gigi stared up at him, dumb with horror, and he comforted her with a hard grip of her shaking shoulder before he addressed Clorinda Berkeley.

"Take your sister to the house immediately, Mrs. Berkeley! Crosby, I'll need your help."

Cotton Sags Sharply After Early Rise

Heavy Selling Is Prompted By Bear
Weekly Statistics

Values Decline Over $2.50
Per Bale From High Point
With May Contracts Off
From 14.64 To 14.08

NEW ORLEANS, March 7. (AP)—Following an early advance cotton sagged sharply late today under heavy selling prompted by bearish weekly statistics and disappointment at the attitude of the federal farm board. Values declined over $2.50 a bale from the high points with May contracts selling off from 14.64 to 14.08. The option closed at the latter figure for a net loss of 37 points. The general market closed largely steady at net declines of 36 to 39 points.

Liverpool cables were relatively favorable and the market here opened steady. Initial trades showed gains of 2 to 6 points. July hit 14.85 and October 15.00, or 14 to 19 points above yesterday's close.

Later the market turned easier owing to lack of buying support and probably some hedge selling. July dropped to 14.45 and October 14.61, or 39 to 42 points below the previous close.

Markets At A
Glance

NEW YORK, March 7. (AP)—Stocks strong; amusement issues at 1939 highs.

Bonds firm; rails well supported.

Curb firm; Lehman corporation and Goodman Sachs reach new tops for the year.

Foreign exchanges easy; leading European exchanges easy.

Cotton lower; liquidation. Sugar steady; better spot demand. Coffee lower; disappointing Brazilian markets.

Chicago. Wheat easy; bearish winter wheat advice. Corn easy; large elevator stocks at Chicago. Cattle steady. Hogs steady.

Cattle Supplies
Light on Market

FORT WORTH, March 7. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Although Friday's run of cattle here was estimated at 2,500, receipts included numerous shipments intended for the Fat Stock Exposition and supplies for the market were small.

Good fed steers, 11.00 @ 11.85. Choice fat yearlings, 12.50. Good grades 11.50 to 12.00. Butcher beefers 9.00 and less.

Good fat cows 8.00 @ 7.50. Butcher cows 6.00 @ 6.75. Low cutters 4.00 @ 4.50.

Good to choice heavy slaughter calves 10.50 @ 11.50. Plaster grades heavy calves 10.50 and less.

Carlot butchers' hogs topped at 10.30. Best truck hogs 9.70. Choice 185-230 pound rail hogs 10.15 @ 10.30; packing sows 8.25 @ 8.75.

TO KNOW FATE TODAY

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 7. (AP)—Joe Hebrecht, charged with murder of Captain Charles Stevens, prohibition agent, near here, Sept. 24, 1929, should know his fate sometime Saturday.

Arguments of attorneys were scheduled to begin in the 94th district court Saturday morning following the reading of the charge.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carson, who died at Kilgus, Ireland, recently, was the first of four sisters whose ages totaled 320 years, to succumb.

BAD SYMPTOMS
LEAVE QUICKLY

Constipation Troubles Soon Go Away Following Use of Black-Draught.

Burke, Texas.—Mrs. Oren Crawford, of this place, tells of her use of Theodor's Black-Draught which she says cures a period of "a good many years."

"We use Black-Draught as a regular family medicine for constipation, and I try always to keep it in the house."

"I have found it a reliable medicine to give the children when they get upset from over-eating, or have colic, for after taking Black-Draught they get all right in a little while."

"I use Black-Draught for bilious, sick headaches. I have found that a dose or two, taken at night, will give quick relief for constipation and the complications which follow when this condition runs on."

"A bad taste in the mouth in the morning, dizziness and a dull headache, all leave quickly after a few doses of Black-Draught. I find it is not safe to let such things run on. I try to head off the danger by taking Black-Draught in time. It is a dependable medicine."

Farmers

Lubbock; Harry Blocker, cotton merchant; J. H. Brewer, and W. E. Olive, Slator bankers; R. J. Murray, president of the Lubbock Board of City Development and chamber of commerce, and Mr. Overstreet.

In opening the meeting Mr. Overstreet stated that the bankers of Lubbock had been put in the wrong light, because of resolutions signed at the recent meeting of bankers and growers of the South Plains. "Many bankers, believing that they were selling the farmers what to raise and how to run their farming business," he explained the purpose of the gathering was to discuss the general farm outlook on the South Plains.

Urges Feed Crops

First speaker of the afternoon was J. J. Richardson. "The man who doesn't raise enough feed for himself is not a farmer at all," he said. "Men on the South Plains should not be asked to reduce their cotton acreage. Those below the caprock and in East Texas, where the cotton country is, they are the ones to reduce."

"I don't believe the farmer should ask any chamber of commerce or other what we are to plant, nor how much. We have overdone poultry, turkeys and dairy cattle, in point of production. We always have and always will overdo these things. I say, never go to the city and ask the business man what to grow. Go home and ask your wife. We need the business man to be needs us, but we do not need him to tell us how to farm. I'm going to plant what I think is right and can get the most out of. What the city man needs to do is to provide the market for our products. We can produce the stuff. There has been too much propaganda in West Texas on production and nothing done about our markets. The first effort made in this direction is what the Farm Board is striving to do."

Following Mr. Richardson's remarks, Mr. Overstreet stated that several bankers had told him that they did not want any man or their books unless he knew what to plant.

W. O. Stevens said: "I don't think Mr. Richardson has poured it on the bankers strong enough. And, I agree with what Mr. Overstreet has said. We would not want any farmer on our books, if he did not have backbone enough to know what he wanted to plant."

"The Great Divide" Presented by Tech
College Sock and Buskin Club Friday

BY C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

Presenting the first dramatic production to the general public in the history of the college, members of the Sock and Buskin club of Texas Tech gave a successful portrayal of William Vaughn Moody's "The Great Divide" in the high school auditorium last night. An audience of approximately 300 people witnessed the performance.

An apparently well-selected cast displayed results of efficient directing the entire three acts of the play. The first act, although opening rather slow, gathered momentum and soon he dith audience affirmative and wondering whether the "villain would still pursue her" (if they had never seen the production before) or if love would triumph in the end.

Miss Pirie Director

Not only did the acting of the cast fulfill requirements but the lighting, properties and stage arrangement were outstanding. The play was under the direction of Miss Ruth Pirie, head of the department of public speaking and dramatics at the college. Miss Anna Jo Pendleton had charge of the lighting effects which were unusually above the average for home talent work. All of the scenery was made by classes in stage craft at the college.

Miss Helen Graves carrying the lead feminine role, easily captured the audience that she has dramatic possibilities. Her portrayal showed understanding and ability.

Burroughs Has Lead

Orville Burroughs was equally as good in the lead male role, that of the outdoors man beyond the "Great Divide" whose life became so queerly entangled with that of an eastern-bred girl.

Miss Kate Prezley, who has appeared in former productions of the city, was outstanding in her characterization of the typical New England mother of old caught in the tide of modern times.

R. V. Willis, as Miss Graves' brother, was also good in his work as were Amnerl Payne, Millicent Pirie and Cecil Kerrey. Others appearing in several minor parts were: Byron Clanshaw, Jack Durham, Treva Brooks, Wayne Castleberry, Warren Huff and Hal Lary.

The plot of the play is more than likely generally known, that of an eastern girl being left alone on her brother's ranch, confronted by three drunken cowboys, agrees to go away with the one who will care her. She leaves no word for her relatives and isn't heard from for several months. They, however, have noticed an account of her marriage to the man who saved her from the others. She is finally found living with the man on a mine and he returns to the east only to find that love triumphs after all.

We need the business man to be needs us, but we do not need him to tell us how to farm. I'm going to plant what I think is right and can get the most out of. What the city man needs to do is to provide the market for our products. We can produce the stuff. There has been too much propaganda in West Texas on production and nothing done about our markets. The first effort made in this direction is what the Farm Board is striving to do."

Following Mr. Richardson's remarks, Mr. Overstreet stated that several bankers had told him that they did not want any man or their books unless he knew what to plant.

W. O. Stevens said: "I don't think Mr. Richardson has poured it on the bankers strong enough. And, I agree with what Mr. Overstreet has said. We would not want any farmer on our books, if he did not have backbone enough to know what he wanted to plant."

"The Great Divide" Presented by Tech

Presenting the first dramatic production to the general public in the history of the college, members of the Sock and Buskin club of Texas Tech gave a successful portrayal of William Vaughn Moody's "The Great Divide" in the high school auditorium last night. An audience of approximately 300 people witnessed the performance.

An apparently well-selected cast displayed results of efficient directing the entire three acts of the play. The first act, although opening rather slow, gathered momentum and soon he dith audience affirmative and wondering whether the "villain would still pursue her" (if they had never seen the production before) or if love would triumph in the end.

Miss Pirie Director

Not only did the acting of the cast fulfill requirements but the lighting, properties and stage arrangement were outstanding. The play was under the direction of Miss Ruth Pirie, head of the department of public speaking and dramatics at the college. Miss Anna Jo Pendleton had charge of the lighting effects which were unusually above the average for home talent work. All of the scenery was made by classes in stage craft at the college.

Miss Helen Graves carrying the lead feminine role, easily captured the audience that she has dramatic possibilities. Her portrayal showed understanding and ability.

Burroughs Has Lead

Orville Burroughs was equally as good in the lead male role, that of the outdoors man beyond the "Great Divide" whose life became so queerly entangled with that of an eastern-bred girl.

Miss Kate Prezley, who has appeared in former productions of the city, was outstanding in her characterization of the typical New England mother of old caught in the tide of modern times.

R. V. Willis, as Miss Graves' brother, was also good in his work as were Amnerl Payne, Millicent Pirie and Cecil Kerrey. Others appearing in several minor parts were: Byron Clanshaw, Jack Durham, Treva Brooks, Wayne Castleberry, Warren Huff and Hal Lary.

The plot of the play is more than likely generally known, that of an eastern girl being left alone on her brother's ranch, confronted by three drunken cowboys, agrees to go away with the one who will care her. She leaves no word for her relatives and isn't heard from for several months. They, however, have noticed an account of her marriage to the man who saved her from the others. She is finally found living with the man on a mine and he returns to the east only to find that love triumphs after all.

Urges Feed Crops

First speaker of the afternoon was J. J. Richardson. "The man who doesn't raise enough feed for himself is not a farmer at all," he said. "Men on the South Plains should not be asked to reduce their cotton acreage. Those below the caprock and in East Texas, where the cotton country is, they are the ones to reduce."

"I don't believe the farmer should ask any chamber of commerce or other what we are to plant, nor how much. We have overdone poultry, turkeys and dairy cattle, in point of production. We always have and always will overdo these things. I say, never go to the city and ask the business man what to grow. Go home and ask your wife. We need the business man to be needs us, but we do not need him to tell us how to farm. I'm going to plant what I think is right and can get the most out of. What the city man needs to do is to provide the market for our products. We can produce the stuff. There has been too much propaganda in West Texas on production and nothing done about our markets. School Trustees Will Be Elected

Announcement was made yesterday that an election, when county school trustees at large and trustees for precincts 3 and 4 will be elected, will be held on April 6.

Carroll Thompson, of Lubbock, is the only candidate who has been nominated thus far for the office of trustee at large.

T. L. Holt, of Idalou, and A. R. Shipp, of Shallowater, are the only candidates nominated for trustees of precincts 3 and 4, respectively.

"All qualified voters of the county are entitled to vote for the trustee at large," County Judge Robert H. Bean explained.

"Qualified voters of commissioners precincts 3 and 4 are entitled to vote for candidates for school trustee for their respective districts."
