Britain Urges Israel To Return Jordan Area

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain challenged today Israel's determination to keep all Jerusalem and warned that, in keeping the conquered old city sector, the Israelis will isolate themselves from world opinion and lose the support they might have.

Britain's foreign secretary, George Brown, opening the day's debate in the special emergency session of the General Assembly on the Middle East, said, "War should not lead to territorial aggrandizement." This had the look of important support from the West to a Soviet stand that Israel should not gain territory from her lightning defeat of the Arabs in five days of war early this month.

In Paris, President Charles de Gaulle of France, for the first time, directly blamed Israel for starting the Middle East war June 5.

Mahmoud Fawzi of Egypt, President Gamal Abdel Nasser's deputy prime minister, rejected a U.S. resolution which called on Israel and the Arabs, "with appropriate third party assistance" to negotiate a settlement between them.

At the same time he accepted a Soviet resolution, presented by Premier Alexei N. Kosygin Monday, which demanded punishment of Israel and its expulsion from conquered territories.

Kosygin was not present as Fawzi spoke, nor was Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, who have been huddling with Communist bloc delegates.

Fawzi called the Soviet draft resolution "both just and constructive."

Fawzi reflected Arab pessimism that this emergency assembly session can do anything to force Israel to surrender all she gained in the war. He recalled that Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban had been quoted in in Jerusalem as saying that even should the assembly vote 121-1 to order Israel back to armistice lines, "Israel would refuse to comply with that decision."

The Egyptian accused President Johnson, Eban and some other Western leaders of having "nastily and repeatedly criticized" U.N. Secretary-general U Thant for his decision to withdraw U.N. peace forces from Egypt in advance of the war.

The British foreign secretary, leadoff speaker of the day in the continuing acrimonious U.N. debate on the Middle East, told the 122-member assembly it faces a new urgency now in view of news of "new dangers on a scale which he can scarcely imagine," reference to Red China's explosion of a hydrogen bomb.

"If we in the United Nations fail now, if we fail to meet this challenge, if we fail to act now, if we fail to take a positive and practical action before we disperse, we shall have failed those who depend on us," he declared.

Britain urged the appointment of a U.N. representative, "whose standing should be unchallenged" to go at once to the Middle East with staff and full facilities, to advise the U.N. secretary-general on cease-fire and peacekeeping problems there from day to day.

Brown proposed that Israel at once permit Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, chief of the U.N. truce supervision organization in the Middle East, to reoccupy his headquarters in Jerusalem. He was excluded from the headquarters, in the Arab sector, during the fighting in Jerusalem.

The proposal would reinforce a U.N. military presence in Jerusalem, and could mean an expanded U.N. emergency force for peace-keeping in the area.

Israel has said it would not give up the captured sector of Jerusalem. Israel contends the city now is unified and that the question of Jerusalem's future no longer is negotiable.

Oil Industry To Protect West Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. oil industry has drafted a plan aimed at making sure a prolonged oil cut-off from the Middle East doesn't catch Western European nations shorthanded.

Industry representatives submitted Tuesday to the Interior and Justice departments a program which would allow maximum cooperation among domestic oil firms without fear of antitrust prosecution.

A similar plan was recommended by the industry in the Egypt blockded the Suez Cnl. It came under fire from the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommitee.

Interior Department officials, who participated in the meetings with oil men, said the question raised by the Senate panel in 1956 had been taken into account in offering the new plan.

The industry spokesmen meeting as the U.S. Foreign Petroleum Supply Committee, said action soon must be taken because of the latest closure of the Suez Canal and two pipelines that carried five million barrels of oil a day to Western Europe—about half that area's requirements.

Some Western European nations have said no Arab embargo of Middle East oil to them exists. But Britain, which depends on Middle East suppliers for the bulk of its oil, is reported fearing a shortage soon.

The industry plan calls for assessing Western European needs and taking steps to insure production of enough overseas oil —or diversion of domestic oil in some cases—to those countries when necessary.

DeGaulle Says USA Cause Of Big Woes

By DAVID MASON

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle accused Israel today of starting the Middle East war June 5 but said the conflict was in effect caused by what he called U.S. intervention in Vietnam.

The war in Vietnam created "a psychological and political process which led to the fighting in the Middle East," he told the cabinet.

De Gaulle said France "condemns the opening of hostilities by Israel." Previously France had avoided putting the blame on either Israel or the Arab states.

De Gaulle noted that France had tried to get the Big Four—the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France—"to unite in opposition to the use of arms" in the Middle East.

"Today, France does not recognize any of the changes realized on the ground by military action," he said.

This was a reference to French policy of opposing Israel's attempt to hold any of the land captured from the Arabs in the six-day war.

De Gaulle's views were contained in a statement handed to newsmen following the cabinet meeting.

The president declared that the world is threatened by spreading conflicts. He asserted that peace can only be saved if the United States gets out of Vietnam, a war he blamed on U.S. intervention.

In his strongest statement yet on the Vietnam war, De Gaulle said:

"The spirit and fact of war are spreading again across the world. One conflict contributes to causing another.

"The war started in Vietnam by American intervention," he said, cannot help but spread trouble, not only there but far away."

"France has taken a position against the war in Vietnam and against foreign intervention which caused it. It has maintained since the start that this conflict can only cease through the pledge that America would make to withdraw her forces within a given time."

De Gaulle's gloomy picture of the world scene was drawn following recent talks with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin of the Soviet Union and Prime Minister Harold Wlson of Britain.

"France considers that there is no chance of arriving at a peaceful settlement in the present world situation unless a new world element appears," he said.

"This element could and should be the end of the war in Vietnam, by the termination of foreign intervention."

Britain May Revise Its Plans For Aden

By RODNEY PINDER

LONDON (AP) — The British government's plans to leave Aden and the South Arabian Federation in January were threatened today by a mutiny in the South Arabian army which resulted in the death of 18 Britons and an undetermined number of Arabs.

Twenty-three Britons also were wounded before calm was reported restored Tuesday night to the Aden area in the southwest corner of the Arabian Peninsula.

A curfew was in force in the little Aden section today, with British families ordered to remain in their homes and schools closed.

The protectorate was reported generally quiet, but a general strike was under way and there was considerable tension.

The belief was widespread in London that British government would have to take a new look at its plans, announced Monday, to give independence about Jan. 9 to the federation made up of Aden State and 16 sultanates and sheikhdoms strung along the southwest coast of Arabia.

Foreign Secretary George Brown told the House of Commons Monday that Britain would keep a strong naval force in South Arabian waters and a force of bombers within easy reach for six months after independence to guard the federation against aggression. But the government counted on the native army it is training and equipping to preserve corder within the federation.

The Foregn Office attributed the mutiny to disputes in the 8,500-man army over "conditions of service and intertribal rivalries." The discontent apparently was brought to a head by the suspension four days ago of four colonels for unexplained "disciplinary reasons."

Although the Foreign Office refused to amplify its statement, it was believed the rivalry stemmed from the recent merger of the former federal army trained by Britain since 1961, in which British officers have been steadily replaced by Arab offcers who worked their way up, and the federal guard made up of former police units and personal troops of the various sheikhs.

Trouble broke out first at the Lake Lines barracks in the Sheikh Othman district, where young apprentice soldiers rioted, set fire to some buildings, freed prisoners and prevented British officers from entering the camp.

Arab officers broke up that mob, but the trouble spread to the Champion Lines camp in the same area. There rebellious soldiers sacked the armory and seized its weapons.

The federation government called on British troops to help quell the revolt, and violence erupted in the Crater district, a hotbed of Arab nationalism.

Fighting raged throughout the day. Officials said 17 of the 18 British dead and 22 of the 23 wounded were soldiers. The other two were civilians.

Intensified Red Probes Reported

SAIGON (AP) — The U. S. South Vietnamese commands today reported intensified Communist probes and clashes in the central highlands and the 1st Corps area south of the demilitarized zone—the two current danger points of the Vietnam war.

Particular concern was expressed about the situation in the highlands, where a Communist offensive is expected with the monsoon rains now drenching the jungles.

American forces reported 43 Communists killed in the 1st Corps area Tuesday in a rash of small but stiff firefights. The U.S. Command said American casualties were 3 killed and 32 wounded.

South Vietnamese infantrymen claimed 62 Viet Cong killed in two clashes 29 miles south of Da Nang. "Very light" South Vietnamese casualties were reported.

Communist rocket and mortar attacks continued against allied posts just below the demilitarized zone, with about 120 rounds hitting U.S. Marine posts at Con Thien and west of Gio Linh and a South Vietnamese district headquarters at Gio Linh. Two Marines were reported killed and eight wounded. The South Vietnamese said they had light casualties.

Two heavy Communist assaults were reported during the night in the highlands, both in Kontum Province, which is menaced by strong fresh Communist troops using Laos as a haven. Details of both attacks were sketchy.

In one, a Red battalion of about 500 men was reported to have struck American Army forces for five hours before being beaten off at 1 a.m. with the assistance of flareships and low-flying planes firing Gatling guns.

In the foothills in Binh Dinh Province, troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division reported continuing skirmishes. In clashes Tuesday two cavalrymen died and 28 were wounded.

The U.S. Command announced 23 major ground sweeps are now under way at various points in South Vietnam.

A total of 124 strike missions were flown against North Vietnam Tuesday. Major targets were the Red River rail line running northwest from Hanoi to Red China and the northern line to the industrial complex at Thai Nguyen about 40 miles above the captial.

The North Vietnamese air force again put up no opposition, U.S. headquarters reported. The MIGs have seldom offered to enter into dogfights this month.

In the south, B52 bombers plastered suspected Communist concentration points with heavy raids in three provinces. One of these was in the highlands of Kontum in support of the menaced U.S. ground troops there.

PRESIDENT BECOMES GRANDFATHER

Luci Nugent Fine After Giving Birth To Son Today

AUSTIN (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent gave birth today to an 8-pound, 10-ounce boy.

The baby is President Johnson's first grandchild.

Father Patrick J. Nugent, a box of cigars in his hand, made the announcement to reporters in the lobby at Seton Hospital.

"Luci's fine," he said.

Nugent said the baby was born at 6:59 a.m. CDT.

And he had more figures:

The child is 21 inches long.

The 23-year-old father said Luci had already seen the baby and pronounced, "What a beautiful baby I have."

The 19-year-old mother was admitted to the hospital at 1 a.m. and the baby was born just under six hours later.

Mrs. Johnson was in the hospital with her daughter. Earlier she had notified the President at the White House that Luci had gone there.

Pat, wearing a blue shirt with no tie and dark slacks pointed out that his voice cracked afterward, smiling and showing no signs of weariness from the hours of waiting.

Asked how is wife was, he said, "wonderful."

Asked if his father-in-law knew the baby had been born, Pat said "yes," and explained that Mrs. Johnson had called the President to inform him.

There was no indication of when the President might come to this Texas capital to have a look at his grandchild.

Pat said he and Luci had decided on a name for their baby, but he wasn't ready to announce it yet.

Mrs. Johnson said she was "happy and relieved."

Mrs. Johnson said she had notified the President as soon as she knew it was a boy and that both Luci and the baby were fine.

As for the grandfather's reaction, Mrs. Johnson said "he sort of laughed in a happy way and said something about grandma."

She said she had called the President even before she knew what the baby weighed, and then was on the phone to daughter Lynda, who she said was in New York City, and then to Pat's mother, Mrs. Gerard P. Nugent, in Waukegan, Ill.

As for being a grandmother, Mrs. Johnson said "I'm looking forward to a whole new prospect of experiences."

Luci was described by her mother as in "excellent spirits" when she got to the hospital.

KENNEDY REMEMBRANCES — More than 500 bits and pieces of emotional tribute to President John F. Kennedy, left at the site where he was assassinated, are under lock and key at the Dallas Public Library. A few persons brought poems or prepared sympathy cards. But many others were so moved they scrawled their sentiments on a business card, the back of a telephone bill, or a page torn from an address book. Mrs. Lucille Boykin of the Dallas Public Library is restoring some of the faded copies. (AP Wirephoto)

Fields Rites Here Today

Funeral service was set for 3 p.m. today at the First Methodist Church for Julius L. Fields, 81, who died at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The Rev. Davis Edens of Lubbock and Dr. John English, pastor of the local church, were to officiate. Burial was to be in the Camp Springs Cemetery, under direction of Bell - Seale Funeral Home.

Soviets Rebuild Egyptian Forces

MOSCOW (AP) — Informed sources said today Russia has promised to rebuild Egypt's armed forces to their strength before Israel defeated them, sending free replacement weapons.

The report was supported by hints that have appeared in the official press here.

Reports from the Middle East said some weapons are arriving to replace Egyptian losses, which Israel puts at 357 planes and 600 tanks.

U.S. intelligence sources indicate the Russians have delivered 50 MIG jet fighters, but say tank replacements have been relatively slight.

The Russian chief of staff, Marshal Matvie Zakharov, is in Cairo. President Nikolai Podgorny heads a delegation of Soviet Foreign Ministry experts on the Middle East and Africa arriving in Cairo today.

Egypt is in debt to Russia for more than $1 billion worth of military equipment, much lost in the war, plus another $1 billion or more of economic aid.

The sources said Russia agreed to send replacement weapons—or, in some cases, later and better weapons—without increasing the debt that Cairo owes.

Western experts have said in the past that some Soviet military equipment sent to the Middle East was obsolete and thus cost little or nothing to ship out. But some of it clearly has been new production, increasing the armaments burden on the strained Soviet economy.

The reported promise of replacement weapons was viewed by diplomatic observers here as part of the Soviet attempt to re-establish a position of strong influence in the Middle East.

DEAR ABBY: We live in Huntsville, Ala., where it's very hot and humid. My husband makes over $20,000 a year, we live in a $35,000 home, have no debts, our children are gone and on their own, and we have money in the bank. My complaint? My husband refuses to put air conditioning in the house.

He works in air conditioned comfort all day while I slave over cleaning, cooking, ironing, and nearly die of the heat. He says cheap air conditioning is too noisy, and good air conditioning is too expensive. How can I change his mind?

BURNING UP IN HUNTSVILLE

DEAR BURNING: The price of the finest air conditioning system available will look like peanuts compared to what your husband would have to lay out in doctor bills should you collapse from heat exhaustion.

Make a little noise on your own, Sister, and chill that man of yours until he thinks a North Dakota blizzard has gripped Huntsville. So air conditioning is too expensive? It's a lot cheaper than alimony.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My brother and his lovely wife of 16 years were divorced recently. It was my brother's fault. He "fell in love" with a twice-divorced tramp, so you know there was plenty of talk.

My brother had the nerve to bring this tramp to my home one evening to see how I "liked her." The next day I told him I didn't like her at all, and I didn't want her in my home again.

Last night while I was entertaining, my brother and this woman rang my bell. He said he saw the lights on and cars outside so he knew we were home.

I politely told them that they were not welcome in my home, so they left.

My brother thinks I owe him an apology. Do you?

"FUSSY"

DEAR FUSSY: No. Now he knows where he (and she) stands. Outside.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have so many problems, I don't know where to start.

Right now my two sons, ages 10 and 13, are fighting and yelling so loudly I can't even hear myself think.

This morning my husband told me he promised the guys at work he'd open the fishing season with them, which means he'll be gone all week-end. (He forgot that Saturday is our anniversary.)

My daughter who's a senior in high school came home from the prom this morning two hours later than she said she would, and I was half crazy worrying about her.

Maybe I shouldn't complain about my boys. My neighbor has two sons the ages of mine. One has cerebral palsy and will never walk. And the other is a deaf mute.

About my husband. I guess I should thank God he can go fishing. My sister's husband dropped dead of a heart attack last March, and they'll never celebrate another anniversary together.

And my daughter is really a good girl, and very popular. She said lots of girls in her class didn't get asked to the prom and they were hurt pretty badly.

So maybe I don't have as many problems as I thought I had. Abby. Excuse me for bothering you, but I might just mail this anyway.

FEELS BETTER

Rusk Host To Gromyko

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk will be host to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at a business dinner tonight, a U.S. spokesman announced.

The session at Rusk's Waldorf Towers suite will mark the highest level U.S.-Soviet substantive meeting since start of the U.N. General Assembly emergency session on the Middle East.

Authoritative Washington sources at the same time denied reports that President Johnson is about to pay a courtesy call on Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in New York today or Thursday.

Carmichael Rapped By Negro Minister

MILWAUKEE, WISC., (AP) — A Negro Baptist leader spoke out Tuesday against civil rights leaders "who tell the Negro to fight and kill."

The Rev. Horatio Hill of New York, for 15 years dean of the National Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress told his group's national conventon he meant specifically 'people like Stokely Carmichael.".

Carmichael is an advocate of "black power."

"There are those in the race for Negro leadership for no other purpose but to confuse the issue and to lead us in the wrong direction," he said.

Charge Is Filed

Charges of attempted burglary have been filed here against Donald Fisk. District Attorney Wayland G. Holt said. Fisk was being held in county jail. He was arrested by city police.

More Water Sought For High Plains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Department officials have told Congress any water imported into the High Plains of West Texas and eastern New Mexico will probably have to come out of the Mississippi - Missouri drainage basin. The question remains open as to whether such a diversion is feasible.

During public works appropriations hearings made public today by the House Appropriations Commitee, Reclamation Bureau Commissioner Floyd Dominy noted that studies show water levels of underground reservoirs in the Texas-New Mexico High Plains are steadily falling because the pumping outdoes the natural inflow.

He referred to a Texas basin study of the possibility of transporting water from the eastern part of the state, which has heavy rainfall, to the arid West.

"It seems all the water that can be developed from the East Texas streams economically will be needed elsewhere in Texas," Dominy said.

Committee Chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., asked the Reclamation Bureau last year to undertake a preliminary study of the prospects of finding surplus water in the Mississippi-Missouri basin and whether it would be feasible to transport it to the High Plains, Dominy said.

Mahon's district is in the affected area. He is from Lubbock.

Dominy said the preliminary study was started last year. Conferences have been held with Army Engineers, and more conferences with the engineers are planned, he said.

"We will not know for several years whether or not this is a practical undertaking, but it is a very desirable thing to study and become aware of the facts."

Airman Charged In Infant Son's Death

DENISON, Tex. (AP)—A 24-year-old Lubbock airman was charged with murder Tuesday after an autopsy showed his infant son died from a head injury "inflicted by a human being."

Airman 3C. Doyle Wayne Smith was charged after Justice of the Peace Leon Hayes said the autopsy showed Aron Dean Smith, one month and 13 days old, died from other than natural causes.

Smith, stationed at Perrin Air Force Base, was arrested shortly after the autopsy report was made.

The child was pronounced dead on arrival at the base hospital about a week ago. Deputies quoted Smith as saying his son's condition had worsened for several days before he was taken to the hospital.

Showdown Near On Dodd Censure

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Sen. Thomas J. Dodd pleading with colleagues not to "drag me through any more agony," the Senate headed toward a possible showdown by tonight or Thursday on the censure resolution against the Connecticut Democrat.

The white-haired Dodd, his voice trembling, asked for a vote Tuesday on the charge he double-billed the Senate and private groups for travel expenses.

"Make up your minds. If you want to brand me a thief do it today, before the sun goes down, and let me skulk away, ashamed to face you tomorrow," said Dodd.

"Give me a fair shake, give me a vote on this. Give me a night's sleep, either in sorrow or in grief."

Then Dodd, who earlier in the debate told his colleagues of sleepless nights and growing weariness, slumped back in his seat, hopeful of an immediate vote.

He didn't get it, but Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said later he thought the Senate would come to a vote by Thursday, if not tonight.

Dodd also is charged in the resolution offered by the Senate ethics committee with converting at least $116,083 in political funds to his personal use.

That charge is listed first in the resolution and members of the ethics panel have refused consent to Dodd and his principal defender, Sen. Russell B. Long, to vote on the double-billing charges first.

Dodd said "nothing has gnawed more at my heart" than the double-billing charge, adding: "Do I want my children, my grandchildren, to believe I was this kind of conniver?"

"It is important, it's of the gravest importance," said Dodd, "that my honor and my reputation of 60 years not be stained by the accusation of six pety thefts of $1,700." That is the approximate amount the ethics commitee said the senator received through double-billings.

"You want to mark me as a thief? You want to put that brand on me?" Dodd cried. "I tell you I don't deserve it."

He said he had more arguments to present against the charge that he converted to his own benefit money raised through political testimonials and other political events. But he made clear he had no desire to delay judgment on this.

Dodd said no one wanted to bring the matter to a vote more than he did, "except possibly my wife and my family."

Mrs. Dodd has listened to the six-day debate from a front-row seat in the gallery reserved for senators' families.

Long, D-La., tried repeatedly to get an agreement to vote first on the double-billing charge, reversing the order of the counts in the censure resolution.

But failing in this, he said he would now offer his closing arguments in defense of the charge that Dodd misused political funds. Long estimated this might take him up to two hours.

Indications were that the voting, when it starts, will proceed in rapid-fire order on both counts and on any amendments offered to them.

East Estate Hearing Is Underway

SARITA, Tex. (AP) — Moving like a glacier, the court hearing to determine the beneficiaries of Sarita Kenedy East's $300 million estate absorbed a chunk of documents Tuesday trying to show a former Trappist Monk as a conspirator to gain the vast South Texas holdings.

Lee J. Lytton Jr., county judge of Kenedy County, put into evidence his own 96-page deposition and 28 leters trying to show that Brother Leo, or Christopher Gregory, conspired with a New York millionaire to produce Mrs. Easts final will.

Lytton is himself a major beneficiary of Mrs. East's estate.

Five years ago, when it became evident that the will would develop into a legal jumble, Gov. Price Daniel appointed Corpus Christi lawyer William R. Edwards as a special probate judge in the case.

Lytton's documents—shorter than some yet to be presented—came on the second day of the proceedings. The trial has drawn 100 contestants, all of whom claim to be distant descendants of the late cattle and oil baron, Capt. Mifflin Kenedy.

Mrs. East, Capt. Kenedy's granddaughter, died of cancer Feb. 11, 1961, at the age of 71.

Lytton, a second cousin of Mrs. East, said he found the 28 letters at her palatial home—so large Mrs. East liked to tell visitors she never could remember how many rooms it had—after she died. He said some were signed by Christopher Gregory, 50, a former Trapist monk known as "Brother Leo."

Lytton said some of the other letters were signed by J. Peter Grace of New York, a shipping magnate.

Lytton said Gregory and Grace "conspired" to induce Mrs. East to draw up a 1960 will in such a way as to leave the majorit of her oil and cattle rich estate to a charitable-religious foundation. Grace and Gregory were to be two of the foundation's three directors.

Red Bus Is Good For Only 42 Miles

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — When Wally E. Ripple goes courting in his red German-made bus, he gets 42 miles. No further.

That's when his battery-powered vehicle runs down.

Ripple, 22, a physics major at California State College at Los Angeles, converted the machine himself.

His car is powered by 16 six-volt batteries which run two landing-gear motors from an old airplane.

Welfare Workers Call 'Work-In'

NEW YORK (AP) — Angry welfare recipients have attacked case workers and threats have been made on the life of the city welfare commissioner as a "work-in" by the case workers enters its third day.

About 175 Welfare Department employes were suspended Tuesday for alleged harassment and intimidation of other employes trying to work.

Police assigned a round-the-clock guard to Commissioner Mitchell Ginesberg after two telephone callers threatened his life.

At the West 31st St. welfare center a free-for-all broke out when relieferes—indignant over long waits—atacked case workers. At least two persons were injured in the scuffle which police broke up.

"We're doing everything we can to maintain essential services," said Ginsberg. "If anyone interferes with these essential services, we are and will take disciplinary action."

The Social Service Employes Union has called a "work-in" under which some case workers have reported to welfare centers but have not performed their regular duties. Instead they have held what they say are seminars and training programs among themselves.

The union charges the city failed to submit unresolved issues in a new contract to arbitration. The old pact expired Dec. 31 and a tentative new agreement was reached in January.

The Welfare Department said about 35 per cent of the case workers reporting to work were doing their assigned jobs. However there were 2,000 absentees among the 5,800 workers the department said.

Only One Texan Opposes Draft Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following is the vote of Texas congressmen on a bill the House passed and sent to President Johnson Tuesday amending the draft law and continuing it for four years:

Democrats for: Brooks, Burleson, Cabell, Casey, de la Garza, Dowdy, Eckhardt, Fisher, Kazen, Patman, Pickle, Poage, Roberts, Teague, White, Wright and Young.

Republicans for: Bush and Price.

Democrats against: Gonzalez.

Truck Runs Over Infant And Sitter

PLAINVIEW (AP) Officers said a pickup truck ran over and killed 15-month-old Pete Vaquera Jr. and his baby sitter late Tuesday.

They reported the accident happened near the southwest edge of Plainview while Julio Jiminez, 13, was pushing the infant in a stroller on a dirt road near the southwest edge of Plainview.

The two deaths were the first in Hale County traffic this year.

Hearings Are Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Migratory Labor subcommittee has announced a one-day postponement in its hearings in the strike - torn Rio Grande Valley of Texas.

The new schedule, released Tuesday, calls for hearings June 29 at Rio Grande City — focal point of an organizing drive by the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee — with a June 30 session in Edinburg.

A committee aide said the postponement was made because of conflicting engagements by senators. He said he was not able to say which committee members would go to Texas with chairman Harrison A. Williams Jr. D-N.J.

Williams said he is asking the Texas Advisory Committee to the U. S. Civil Rights Commisson to supply him with a copy of its new report on the strike.

The report, released Saturday in San Antonio, was critical of the Texas Rangers' activities in the year-long labor dispute and said the civil rights of some strikers apparently had been violated.

Cincinnati Negroes List 14 Demands

CINCINNATI (AP) — A group claiming to represent that city's entire Negro community presented a list of 14 demands Tuesday as a followup to last week's race riots.

City Manager William Wichman was told the No. 1 demand was release of all of the more than 350 persons arrested during the disturbances.

An estimated $2.4 million in damage from arson, looting and vandalism was done before the riots were quelled with the aid of 1,200 National Guardsmen.

Municipal Judges William Mathews and George Heitzler said, however, release of the prisoners was not for negotiations and that each case would be decided on its merits.

THIS YOUNG MISS is all set for the first day of school with a woven plaid dress in shades of blue, green and orange with red. An easy-care blend of Dacron polyester and cotton helps minimize wrinkles and makes laundering a breeze for mother.

With all the advantages of marble for table tops and other purposes, it is breakable and it does stain. But as long as you have all the pieces, a broken marble slab can be made whole again with hardly a trace of the repairs visible. And stains can be removed if you know how to go about it.

For repairing broken marble, you will need some acetone, which is used only for cleaning the edges to be joined; some polyester-resin in powder form; and a liquid catalyst. In purchasing the last two items from a marble dealer, buy the smallest quantity possible, since you will need only two tablespoons of resin and 15 drops of catalyst.

In matching up a batch of cement, the amount of catalyst determines the setting time of the mixture. The two tablespoon-15 drop proportion allows 20 minutes working time. Use a small, clean paint brush to coat the edges to be joined. After application, press the pieces together immediately and remove excess cement with a putty knife. Clamping is unnecessary.

Broken corners call for another technique, using marble dust — the same color as the slab to be repaired — and the resin cement. Your proportions here should give you a mixture suitable for pouring. About the consistency of honey will do.

You'll need two pieces of wood about 12" by 3" and the same thickness as the marble. Make certain all edges of the wood are square. Cover two edges with wax paper and butt these sides against the marble. The 90-degree angle where the wood joins should form the pattern for the corner repair. Into this well pour the resin solution and overflow slightly. After overnight drying, remove the forms.

Organic stains on marble are caused by tea, coffee, tobacco, wet bark, flowers and leached colors from paper or textiles. Removal is through the application of a poultice made from facial tissues soaked in a 20-volume solution of hydrogen peroxide. Apply the soggy mass and cover with a plastic garment bag to prevent evaporation. Depending upon the depth of the stain, the process will require from one to 48 hours. Full strength household ammonia can be used in place of the peroxide, but the fumes may be too much for you.

To detect an oil stain, dampen a piece of blotting paper with cleaning fluid. Apply to the stained area, press down and remove. If the blotter absorbs some of the stain, it is most likely oily in nature. Again treat with the tissue poultice — this time soaked with amyl acetate or acetone. Your neighborhood drug or hardware store can supply this. One caution: acetone will quickly ruin any wood finish to keep your poultice confined to the marble.

Rust stains will generally take the shape of the ferrous material that caused the trouble. Commercian iron rust remover is called for here, applied as a poultice.

QUESTION: We have had our kitchen set now for nearly 30 years. It is still in good condition as far as soundness goes. But the varnish finish is now a kind of dark brown. If you look closely, you can see the original finish under it, with a distinctive grain that we remember as being very attractive.

A friend thinks it is birds-eye maple. We would like to refinish it, but want to be sure we don't botch the job and make it worse than it is. What is your advice?

ANSWER: Refinishing a kitchen set, which involves such things as chair and table legs, can be a tedious job — and somewhat messy — but there is very little chance you will get such a poor result as to be sorry that you undertook the project.

First of all, wash the furniture with lukewarm water and a mild detergent, rubbing vigorously with a clean cloth but not using an excessive amount of the liquid solution. It may turn out that the finish needs nothing more than a cleaning. If the washing takes off a considerable percentage of the dirt, dry the furniture thoroughly, wait 10 or 12 hours and repeat the procedure, this time using denatured alcohol as the solution.

If these two washings fail to clean the furniture sufficiently to satisfy you, then you will have to undertake the much tougher job of a complete refinishing. This involves using a paste-type varnish remover, following the directions on the container carefully. When the varnish has softened, scrape it off with a putty knife, working carefully to avoid gouging the wood. On round or curved surfaces, use a toothbrush rather than a putty knife. Be sure to rinse off all traces of the remover with the liquid recommended on the container's label.

Sand with a fine grade of sandpaper or steel wool and proceed with the refinishing. Apply at least two coats of varnish, with an extra coat on the parts of the furniture subject to most wear, such as the seats of the chairs and the top of the table.

Ground Beef, Rice, Chili Seasoning Makes Texas Hash

Hash usually consists of meat and potatoes, but not when the recipe comes from Texas-way. This variety uses beef, of course but it's fresh and ground. Rice goes in it, too, and the seasoning is chili powder.

Ground beef is cooked with the onion and green pepper but the rice cooks in the casserole with liquid from the tomatoes.

Chili powder is made primarily of chili peppers grown in the southwestern part of the country. The one teaspoon n this recipe gives only a moderate seasoning.

Texas Hash

1½ pounds ground beef
2 large onions, sliced
2 green peppers, cut in thin strips
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
½ cup rice
1 teaspoon chili powder
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Brown onions and green pepper slowly in lard or drippings. Add ground beef and cook until mixture is crumbly. Pour off drippings. Add tomatoes, rice and seasonings; mix thoroughly. Turn into a 1½-quart casserole, cover and continue cooking in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 minutes, or until done. 4 to 6 servings.

Skillet Supper Produces Filled Beef Patties

There's surprise and sophistication in beef patties when they take on continental style. Thnned mushroom soup makes the gravy.

Each serving of these beef patties actually includes two seasoned ground beef "cakes" with a filling. The filling has interesting texture and flavor with its combination of chopped bologna, bread crumbs and seasonngs.

Continental Beef Patties are at their best served on a bed of noodles seasoned with celery seed or paprika rice. Complete the menu with a chef's salad, Vienna bread and Neapolitan ice cream.

Continental Beef Patties

1½ pounds ground beef
½ cup coarse dry bread crumbs
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 egg, beaten
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup milk
½ cup chopped bologna
1 cup coarse dry bread drumbs
1-3 cup milk
¼ teaspoon marjoram
¼ teaspoon prepared mustard
2 teaspoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed mushroom soup
¼ cup water

Combine ground beef, ½ cup bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon onion, egg, salt, Worcestershire sauce and ¼ cup milk. Shape into 12 thin patties. Mix bologna, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1-3 cup milk, marjoram, mustard and 2 teaspoons onion. Place about 2 tablespoons of stuffing on 6 meat patties. Top each with a plain patty. Press down edges to seal stuffed patties. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Mix mushroom soup and water, then pour over patties. Cover tightly and simmer 20 minutes. 6 servings.

THE ROCK ART OF TEXAS INDIANS, paintings by the late Forrest Kirkand, text by W. W. Newcomb Jr. (The University of Texas Press, $12.50)

The late Forrest Kirkland was particularly fitted to copy some of the most obscure art in Texas —paintings by Indians, some of them done well before history began.

Kirkland by profession could take a blueprint of a machine and turn it into a picture of that object. It is not a skill given many.

Then he and his wife discovered Indian paintings and were bitten by the bug.

They traveled throughout Texas, with Mrs. Kirkland acting as scout, cook and photographer and her husband reproducing the paintings.

Most of the paintings are unknown to the public and Kirkand could reproduce only a fraction even known to exist. Many more may be discovered later, for virtually all are in places rarely visited these days.

But in the days of the pioneers many were found as attested by the scribblings on or near them and some instances by outright vandalism.

Largely they are found in caves or in rock ledge overhangs that provided shelter for the Indians. Most are in color and the book is extremely well illustrated with Kirkland's paintings, most of the pictures in color plates.

W. W. Newcomb Jr., author of the text, goes into some detail on the question of whether the paintings are art and comes to the conclusions that for the time and place they are.

But still subject to dispute are the reasons for the pictographs. It is pretty obvious that some had religious significance, for witch doctors are prominent in many. Pictures of animals often were painted and then similar paintings, several layers deep, were painted atop them. Apparently this had some religious or luck significance to the hunters.

But the others? Were they tally marks, maps, stories of events or art for art's sake?

Notes by Mr. and Mrs. Kirkland are detailed and so are the discussions by Newcomb.

Kirkland was a Dallas resident. Newcomb is with the Texas Memorial Museum.

HEALTH-SEEKERS IN THE SOUTHWEST, 1817-1900, By Billy M. Jones The University of Oklahoma Press, $5.95)

Physicians were almost helpless until about the beginning of this century against two main, widespread diseases — malaria and tuberculosis.

The entire Mississippi Valley gained a bad reputation for illness, and eastern slums spawned thousands and perhaps millions of tubercularsm

The helpless doctors, whether educated or quacks, discovered by trial and error that dry climates could help victims of both diseases. They didn't know why, but they did.

Thus in the earliest days, ill persons walked, rode in mattresses in wagons, or took the stagecoach to the west. There many recovered completely, although doctors were mystified that identical cases did not respond.

Billy M. Jones, who received his Ph.D. from Texas Tech and now is a department head at Angelo State College, tells about those days in his new book, 'Health-Seekers of the Southwest."

The search for health brought many persons west who were more than impoverished and frequently illiterate pioneers.

AMONG THE WALKING WOUNDED!

It's Hard To Tell Who's Wearing White Hats In UN

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was like a Western with the guys in the white hats and the guys in the black hats. Just who was wearing which hat at any given moment depended upon who was talking.

This was the condition at the end of the second day of debate on the Israeli-Arab war at the U.N. General Assembly.

Discussion reached the intellectual level of "you're another." Reason departed. Blame was the common language. Distortion became routine. Diplomats used bad manners and childishness to make an impression.

If any earnest and sensible effort is being made to reach a peaceful setlement, it must be going on behind the scenes. There what the delegates say to one another doesn't have to have any connection with what they say in the open.

In public they go through a predictable dance, like characters in a ballet.

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin is a good example. His purpose was clear before he began. Moscow wants to regain the goodwill of the Arabs whom they let down when the war with Israel began.

So he denounced Israel, asking the assembly to condemn it as an aggressor and tell it to give back the land it seized from the Arabs. He denounced the United States, too, but more mildly.

It was a tired kind of speech, full of the usual Communist cliches about "Western imperialism." He reached a peak of bad taste in making a comparison between the tactics of Israel and Hitler.

It was a one-sided speech, too, all on the side of the Arabs, ignoring any virtue Israel might have had on its side, and always calculated to endear the Arabs to Moscow.

But the Israeli foreign minister, Abba Eban who answered Kosygin brilliantly, made a one-sided speech, too. In addition, he denounced Kosygin for the Israeli-Hitler comparison and accused him of untruths.

But U Thant, the U.N. secretary general, also accused Eban of untruths.

This was after Eban criticized Thant for acting too fast in pulling the U.N. peacekeeping troops out of Egypt, where they had been stationed 10 years, when Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser told him to.

The usually docile Thant was angry Tuesday when he opened the session with an attack on Eban.

Then came the tactics which have become typical among diplomats who, to show their contempt for an opponent, get up and walk out in the middle of his speech. They apparently consider this a mature rebuke without ever thinking it may look childish.

One of the Arab leaders, Syrian President Noureddin Atassi was in the midst of a denunciation of Israel Tuesday when Eban walked out.

And when Eban made another talk Tuesday top-level Soviet bloc delegates and Arab leaders got up and walked out on him, which is what Kosygin did Monday while Eban was talking.

To nobody's surprise, for they couldn't do otherwise after Kosygin had laid down the Communist line, the premiers of Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia also made speeches attacking Israel.

The only graceful note in the two days came from Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, and even that may turn out to be unrealistic.

He suggested, among other things, that Israel and the Arabs negotiate a settlement, a suggestion which the Arabs had already said they wouldn't consider.

But at least Goldberg offered a five-point peace plan, which is more forward-looking than anything Kosygin had to offer, although there was nothing new in it since President Johnson had proposed it Monday.

Yet, up to this point only one thing is clear. That's the policy the United States is following in this debate.

It has been letting all the others make the noise, denounce, condemn, distort, while it talks reasonableness. It is on the opposite side of the fence from Moscow in this debate, opposing condemnation of Israel.

But the United States is letting Israel make the big pitch for Israel while Goldberg talks about peaceful solutions and a new tomorrow. It's a startling contrast, although whether it influences the United Nations' 122 members is to be seen.

Youth-Age Border Of Big Interest

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Border crossings are often controversial. They have been throughout history.

But the most controversial border today isn't a political border. The one that most people are anxious about isn't even on any map—it's the borderline between youth and middle age.

Many who have crossed it deny that they have; others cross it without ever realizing it.

How then can one tell reliably if one is middle-aged? Well, actions speak louder than prose.

Here is a tentative guide, based on actual conduct. You're probably middle-aged if:

When a new neighbor moves in next door, you automatically assume he'll be worse than the one who just moved away.

You find yourself muttering to all who will listen, "I don't want any more trouble. All I want is a little peace and quiet."

When you yawn in public, you no longer bother to apologize. You realize that a public yawn is about the most honest act a man does in life.

You have forgotten the name of the red-haired girl who turned you down for a date in high school, but you can name to the hour and day just how far away you are from a pension.

Anytime you are served a piece of meat the first thing you do is cut the fat off it.

It's hard for you to make up your mind which you hate more, the alarm clock or the telephone.

Instead of pretending you don't have prejudices, you tend to brag about them. You feel they are a sign of courage and character.

You dislike buying a new pair of shoes because it takes so long to break them in.

At breakfast you and your wife now always start the day by asking each other, "Did you sleep well?" Each then gives a 10-minute summary about how restless a night he or she spent, and the probable reason.

At the office the only fellow workers younger than you that you really like are those who come to you for advice. Those who solve their own problems without your help, you feel, are smart alecks.

Your grandchildren seem ever so much nicer than your own children were at the same age; and you glumly wonder if, perhaps, it's because the grandchildren had better parents.

That's middle age, and you've crossed the border.

Junior Editors Quiz on WHALERS

QUESTION: Why did whalemen do scrimshaw work?

ANSWER: To scrimshaw meant to carve or engrave bone from the whales which were hunted in the old days with sailing vessels, whale oil being in demand for lighting purposes. Two kinds of whales were hunted: the whalebone or right whales, and the sperm whales, one of which is shown in the picture. Look closely and you will see a row of teeth in this whale's lower jaw. It was these teeth that the whalemen particularly liked to take out and decorate with engraved designs of ships and pretty girls (lower left). No doubt our artist has exaggerated by showing a whaleman thinking about scrimshawing while being tossed by a whale in the air; but the general scene of wreckage of the whaleboat is quite accurate, for this happened many times. Beside the teeth of the sperm whale, whalemen used jawbone from the right whale for scrimshaw work. The pie-crimper (lower right) would have been made from this. Scrimshaw work was done to pass the time while at sea and have gifts to bring back to wives and sweethearts.

Dodgers, Buffs In TL Victories

The Dodgers smashed the Sports 7-1 and the Buffs moved into first place with a 6-5 victory over the Braves in Junior Teenage League action Tuesday.

The Dodgers scored two runs in the first inning on a triple by Johnny Quiros and a single by Merce Hernandez, and that proved to be enough for the win over the Sports.

The Sports managed a single run in the fourth frame when Cliff Voss doubled and rode home on a single by Johnny Ramirez, but they could never get back in the game.

The win gave the Dodgers a 2-2 record on the season while the Sports stand at 1-5 in Teenage League action.

The Buffs also jumped to an early 2-0 lead in the first inning, but their victory did not come as easy. The Buffs led throughout the game, and were only seriously threatened in the sixth inning.

Three runs scored for the Buffs in the third inning to cap off the win. Mike Morris, Stewart Sims, and Wesley Bishop led the way in that big frame.

The Braves gave them a scare in the sixth inning when they scored three runs only to fall one shy of tying the game. A triple by Ronnie Lewis scored two runs, and he scored on a ground ball.

The Buffs have a 4-1 record to second place with a 3-2 season mark.

Sacrifice Is Weapon In Texas League

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The sacrifice continues to be a strong weapon in baseball, especially when other methods aimed at victory fail, like the home run.

Tuesday night Amarillo got only one hit through 10 innings and had about given up on scoring. Then there came a walk, a bunt single (intended as a sacrifice) and two sacrifice bunts and the Sonics held a 1-0 victory in 11 innings over Austin.

It gave them a 2½-game lead in the Texas League race.

Amarillo got help from El Paso, which also was helping itself by beating Arkansas 7-1. This dropped Arkansas from second to third. El Paso pulled into the runnerup spot.

Dallas-Fort Worth at Albuquerque was postponed because of wet grounds.

Skip Guinn held Amarillo to a lone hit for 10 innings before he gave way to Monte Sharp, who was victimized by Amarillo in the 11th. Elijah Johnson's bunt enabled Brock Davis to score the only run of the game.

Don Keller pitched a four-hitter in El Paso's victory over Arkansas. Only six balls went to the outfield, including three of the hits.

Dallas-Fort Worth is at Albuquerque for a doubleheader tonight. Arkansas is at El Paso and Amarillo at Austin.

Texas Collegians Are In Tournament Lead

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Four Texas collegians remained in the women's intercollegiate golf tournament today after the first round of match play.

Joan Bastanchury of Whittier, Calif., playing for Odessa College, beat Joyce Ann Jackson of Birmingham 5 and 4. Miss Bastanchury was the tournament medalist.

Pat Reeves of Lamar Tech beat Ann Fulkerson of Hacienda Heights, Calif., 4 and 2.

Jeanie Butler of Harlingen, a student at Centenary College of Shreveport, took out Mary Pritchet of Raleigh, N. C., 5 and 4.

Susan Moore of Odessa College beat Jan Crow of Santa Barbara, Calif., 1-up in 19 holes.

Gail Sykes of Odessa College lost to Beverly Kong of Wahiawa, Hawaii, 1-up.

Rita Weihe of Lamar Tech lost to Cynthia Hill of South Haven, Mich., 5 and 4.

Sixteen players are left in the tournament. They play one match today and two Thursday.

Hermleigh's LL Team Hammers Ira LL 20-0

Hermleigh's Little League team defeated Ira 20-0, and the win gives the Hermleigh team a 6-1 record in league play.

Others in the league are Roby, Roscoe, Loraine, and Westbrook.

Larry Jackson Proves He Is A Met Killer

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Larry Jackson has tossed another curve at the law of averages — and the New York Mets are still waiting for it to break their way.

Jackson, Philadelphia's 36-year-old Met killer, borrowed a pitch from teammate Jim Bunning Tuesday night and beat New York for the 18th time without a loss, firing the second one-hiter of his career as the Phillies breezed to a 4-0 victory.

Jackson's 18-0 record against the Mets is second only to San Francisco's Juan Marichal, who has beaten the expansion club 19 tihes without a setback.

Marichal, however, is proving he can get along without the Mets. While Jackson was closing in on his anti-Met mark, the Giants' ace became the first 10-game winner in the majors by overwhelming Cincinnati's slumping Reds 5-1 on a five-hitter.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs upended Pittsburgh 5-3; St. Louis whipped Houston 6-2 and Los Angeles nipped Atlanta 3-2 in 15 innings.

In the American League, Washington knocked off Chicago 4-2; Boston slammed New York 7-1; Detroit edged California 2-1 and Cleveland outscored Kansas City 5-3. Baltimore and Minnesota were not scheduled.

Tommy Davis' second inning double—which barely eluded right fielder Johnny Callison's leaping grasp—was the only hit off Jackson, who registered his first victory over the Mets in their April 11, 1962 debut, while he was working for St. Louis.

The crafty right-hander hasn't let the Mets out of his hip pocket since then — but he still doesn't take them for granted. He attributed his one-hitter to a new curve ball he picked up from Bunning.

"I've changed my grip," Jackson said. "I'm choking up on the ball and holding it like Bunning does. He's got such a great curve—and mine never was much.

"Now I wish I'd started throwing it 10 years ago."

Jackson pitched his first one-hiter three years ago against Cincinnati. He has hurled 33 career shutouts—six of them against New York.

The Phillies gave him a quick sendoff with three runs in the first inning on Tony Taylor's single, Rich Allen's triple and Don Lock's sixth homer. They added a run in the fourth on Lock's single and a double by Gene Oliver.

Marichal, who missed his last turn because of a pinched nerve in his neck, was clipped for two hits and a run in the first inning but stymied the Reds thereafter while boosting his record to 10-5.

The Giants roughed up Mel Queen, 8-2, for two runs in the second and knocked him out in a two-run sixth. Jim Hart laced a triple and two singles, scored two runs and knocked in a pair as the injury-riddled Reds went down to their fourth straight defeat.

Rookie, Chuck Hartenstein blanked Pittsbkrgh over the final 4 2-3 innings as the Cubs ended the Pirates' winning string at three games. Ron Santo and Ted Savage paced Chicago's 14-hit attack with three hits apiece, Santo driving in two runs.

Hartenstein rescued starter Joe Niekro after Don Clendenon's three-run homer in the fifth lifted the Pirates within one run.

Dal Maxvill drilled a tie-breaking triple in the seventh inning and Orlando Cepeda cracked a three-run homer in the eighth as the Cardinals pulled away from the Astros and increased their league lead over second-place Cincinnati to 1½ games.

Houston's Julio Gotay stroked two hits for a club record of eight in a row before winning pitcher Larry Jaster ended the streak.

Giants, Sox In FL Wins

The Giants beat the Cardinals 13-7 and the White Sox bombed the Indians 27-12 in Farm League action Tuesday.

The Giants scored six times in the first inning with a key single by Rod Head, the winning pitcher. Clay Hill was also instrumental in the victory by scoring three times, and he also had a single.

Tim Collier singled and doubled while scoring twice to help the cause. The Giants scored three more in the third inning for their other big frame.

The Cardinals scored five times in the fourth inning, but could never close the big gap set by the Giants.

The Giants are now in second place with a 5-2-1 record and the Cardinals have a 5-4 record.

The White Sox scored 14 times in the first inning on key hits by Kyle Sikes, Charles Stansell and Danny Brumley.

The Indians had a big seven run inning in the second inning but the White Sox were off and running with their big first inning storm.

Earnest Brandon was the winning pitcher for the White Sox as he went all the way.

The White Sox have a 5-4 record and the Indians have a 3-6 record in the American League.

Sox, Cardinals Show Hit Attack

The White Sox and the Cardinals unleashed mammoth hit attacks as the Sox downed the Indians 8-1 and the Cardinals blasted the Giants 14-2 in Little League games played Tuesday.

The White Sox drilled out 13 hits including a four for four performance by Scotty Sullivan. Sullivan had two singles, a double and a home run with his explosive bat.

Their biggest inning did not come until the sixth when the Sox scored four times. Sullivan, Robert Braziel and Donald Phariss led the way in that inning.

The Indians scored their only run in the fourth inning when Bobby Guzman scored on a double by Hubert Crayton.

Sullivan also pitched a fine game allowing only one run and two hits. He struck out 13 Indians including striking out the side two different times.

The win moved the White Sox into a second place tie with the Indians in the American League. Both have 5-4 records.

The Cardinals managed 14 hits in their win over the Giants, and eight of the starting nine managed to hit safely in the contest.

The Cardinals scored in every inning except the first when only one man reached base, but they exploded for eight runs in the second inning on four hits.

Stan Patchel, Allen Knight, Fred Liner and Marty Pate each had two hits in the wild affair. Doak Howarton led the scoring end of the ledger by scoring three times.

Both of the Giant runs came in the first inning on a double by Richard Gorman.

The Giants could have moved into a tie for second place with the Cardinals if they had won, but the Cardinals now have a 5-4 record while the Giants have a 3-6 mark.

Clippers End Win Skein

The Colorado City Texans clipped the Snyder Clippers from the undefeated ranks Tuesday with a 4-1 Senior Teenage League victory in Colorado City.

The Texans scored two runs in the first inning on key hits by Nathan Hazle and Neal Ramsey. Hazle tripled in a run and scored on Ramsey's hit.

Snyder managed its only run in the second inning when Mickey Almond reached base on a error, and eventually scored on a ground ball.

David Lester, Larry Wadzek, and Ricky Rhodes were the Snyder batters to collect a hit off of Randy Parker, the winning pitcher.

The last time Snyder faced this team, they shut them out, but the C-City team bounced back in fine style.

Colorado City scored two more runs in the fifth inning to complete their scoring for the night.

Snyder remained in first place with a 5-1 record on the season, and for Bobby Clardy, it was his first loss as a starting pitcher for the Clippers.

FINED $10,000 IN MAXIMUM SENTENCE

Clay Sentenced Five Years In All White Jury Trial

By LAWRENCE LEE

HOUSTON (AP) — Lawyers for heavyweight champion Cassius Clay had an appeal motion ready today in the boxer's conviction on criminal charges of refusing induction for military service. They predicted eventual victory and said that jail is 18 months away at worst.

It took one day of testimony and motions and 21 minutes of jury deliberation for the verdict Tuesday. U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham imposed the maximum sentence, five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Clay said he had expected the worst, but he and his lawyers appeared shaken by the quickness of it all.

He walked from the courtroom free under the same $5,000 bond posted after his indictment in May for refusing to take the one step forward into the Army with other draftees.

In two court rulings Ingraham had destroyed the intended defense: that Clay, as a Negro, is discriminated against by the racial composition of draft boards, and that Clay, as Muhammad Ali, traveling bishop for the Black Muslims, is entitled to ministerial exemption from military duty.

Chief defense lawyer Hayden Covington of New York, said he saw a "better than even chance" for reversal of the conviction.

The appeal initiated today will be argued before the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. Covington estimated it would be December or January before the panel could hear the case, which involved crates of files.

Covington said a decision would not be forthcoming from the Appellate Court until sometime next spring, and if the decision is against Clay the case would go to the Supreme Court three months later. He said the high court's decision, if it agreed to hear the case, could not be expected before late in 1968.

Clay will remain free under bond until the matter is heard by the highest court. If a new trial is ordered, Clay again would appeal a fresh conviction along the same, slow route.

Simultaneously, Clay's legal team is fighting before the 5th Circuit Court for trial in the fighter's civil suit alleging draft board and religious discrimination.

Covington predicted before the legal battles began that Clay never would spend a night in jail. He repeated that opinion after the verdict, saying, 'He hasn't yet."

Clay spent the night at a luxury hotel in Houston, the city he adopted as home after a fight in its Astrodome.

In undermining first one and then the other of Clay's two main defense points, Ingraham left Covington and co-counsel Quinnan Hodges of Houston the argument before the jury of six men and six women that Clay was "sincere" in refusing to be drafted.

First the judge held that the defense allegation of draft board discrimination would be an inadmissible conclusion in Clay's trial. Then, answering a lengthy plea for directed verdict of acquittal, he told Clay and his lawyers with the jury out of hearing that he had found a basis for the Selective Service's action in classifying the 25-year-old fighter 1-A, ripe for the draft.

In his charge to the jurors the judge repeated that opinion about the 1-A classification, but told them, "You are not to consider this — the only question is whether or not he knowingly and unlawfully failed to submit to induction in the armed forces."

Most of the courtroom talk was devoted to the defense plea for directed acquittal. Hodges told the judge, "There is no doubt that he gave up universal popularity in this country" by joining the Muslim sect.

Hodges said Clay's religion had cost him, aside from popularity, his marriage to a "beautiful wife" who refused to submit to Muslim standards of dress and conduct, a $500,000 movie contract because the subject of the picture conflicted with his religion, a $200,000 recording contract because the record company would not place his Muslim name on the record jackets, and all chances of product endorsements.

Clay sat silent through the recital, studiously drawing pictures and writing "Muhammad Ali" over and over on a lined yellow legal pad.

As chief prosecutor U.S. Atty. Morton Susman declared that Clay had mounted "a determined and ingenious effort to avoid military service."

He said Clay claimed to have been a Muslim minister since 1964 but failed to list that occupation on draft records, including the medical form at the April 28 induction proceedings, which he signed, "heavyweight boxing world champion."

Susman said Clay had sought draft exemption on grounds of conscientious objection, medical disability, financial hardship, his role as sole support of his mother and his position as a divorced husband faced with high alimony before bringing the religious argument into play.

Ingraham, who noted three times from the bench that he himself had volunteered for service and survived "a full-scale war," denied the motion for acquittal, saying he found "ample evidence for the 1-A classification.

TRAINLOAD SALE!

For the tenth year in a row — here comes the General Electric appliance train! It's loaded, with GE refrigerators, freezers, color TV's, washers, dryers, air conditioners and other major items for your kitchen and/or home entertainment. At big savings for you. Here's why:
GE is the only major manufacturer which makes all its appliances at one location — Louisville, Kentucky. Each year at the start of the summer season the Southwest Distributor assembles at the factory a large selection of special production models, plus some closeouts and discontinued models. These are ordered by dealers in the Southwest at savings from regular prices. Because direct-to-dealer rail cars are used, additional savings in freight, warehousing, handling and paperwork are made.
During the trainload sale event, all these savings are passed on to you — as much as $80.00 on some items!
Naturally, there is a limited supply of some models. So don't delay — if you plan to buy a major appliance, color TV or stereo, soon, shop these bargains today.

State Legislatures Tap More Sources For Taxes

CHICAGO (AP) — State legislatures are taking bigger and bigger tax bites either through tapping new sources of funds or by increasing rates, a survey showed today.

The survey was made by Commerce Clearing House, a private agency that reports to its subscribers on tax and business law. It summarized major tax changes enacted so far in 1967 thus:

Nebraska has levied both a corporate and personal income tax, effective for income earned or received on or after Jan. 1, 1968, with rates to be set annually by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment.

West Virginia will begin levying a 6 per cent corporate net income tax, effective July 1, 1967.

Corporate income taxes have been boosted in three states—in Maryland from 5 per cent to 5¼ per cent, in Montana from 5¼ per cent to 5½ per cent, and in Tennessee from 4 per cent to 5 per cent.

Minnesota has hiked the basic income tax rates on corporations from 7½ per cent to 8½ per cent, and on banks from 9½ per cent to 10½ per cent. North Dakota also boosted the tax on banks from 4 per cent to 5 per cent. Vermont levied a 5 per cent franchise tax on financial institutions.

Maryland imposed a graduated income tax based on the federal law replacing the classified tax on ordinary and investment income.

Vermont now levies its personal income tax as a percentage of federal tax liability, with adjustments, and in Montana a combination of increased personal income tax rates and a 5 per cent tax credit carries the effect of boosting the tax in the lower and highest brackets and decreasing the tax in some intermediate brackets.

North Carolina cut income taxes by increasing exemptions.

While Kansas has lowered its personal income tax on the first $2,000 of taxable income, from 2½ to 2 per cent, Minnesota has extended its boosted individual income tax rates presently in effect as well as the additional taxes and surtaxes on banks and corporations.

With enactment of two new sales and use taxes so far this year, 44 states and the District of Columbia now levy these revenue producers.

Nebraska's 2½ per cent tax became effective June 1. Minnesota will begin imposing a 3 per cent tax to replace the expired 2¼ per cent sales tax and former 2¼ per cent use tax.

Sales and use tax increases were enacted in Rhode Island—4 per cent to 5 per cent; Washington—4.2 per cent to 4½ per cent; and in Wyoming—2½ per cent to 3 per cent.

Texas has authorized local sales and use taxes of 1 per cent which would apply to the same property and allow the same exemptions as the 2 per cent state tax. Nevada has also imposed a mandatory 1 per cent county sales and use tax similar to the 2 per cent tax.

Minnesota and New Mexico have increased their gasoline tax rates from six cents to seven cents.

The same increase is awaiting the governor's approval in Oregon.

Montana has raised its tax a half-penny to 6½ cents. Washington increased its rate from 7½ cents to 8 cents a gallon.

Tennessee and Wyoming both increased their cigarete tax rates to 8 cents a pack this year. The Tennessee rate marked a penny increase, while Wyoming doubled its old rate. New Hampshire hiked its tobacco products tax from 21 per cent to 30 per cent of retail value.

Rug Yanked On Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top defense official literally pulled the rug out from under himself as the Pentagon canceled projects which would have cost $20,003,200.

The $20-million saving came from cancellation of a week-long summer military maneuver involving 70,000 men in North Carolina.

The $3,200 saving came when Asst. Secretary of Defense Phil G. Goulding scrapped plans to recarpet his suite of offices at the Pentagon.

Goulding, press spokesman for the Pentagon, said Tuesday he'd stick with his 363 yards of 10-year-old carpeting in seven offices and a hallway. He announced his decision after publication of an AP story about the purchase but he gave no reason for his move.

Suspect Caught Pushing Evidence

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — James Green, 28, of East St. Louis, Ill., was arrested Monday as he walked along a street pushing a wheelbarrow.

In the wheelbarrow, police said, was an unopened safe, a money order machine and 32 postage stamps. Green was charged with the burglary of an East St. Louis pharmacy.

'Field Generals' Of Both Parties Seek Negro Voters

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The field generals — each a Negro — of Democratic and Republican efforts to woo Negro voters for 1968 already are crisscrossing the country.

With a close presidential election in prospect, these two politicos are intensively seeking to strengthen organization in their competition for ballots of Negroes.

Ask Democrat Lous Martin if he will be in town next day and he is apt to reply, "No, I've got to go to Cleveland and then I'm going on to Chicago."

Drop into the office of Republican Clarence Townes Jr., and he probably is tied up for the moment on a long-distance telephone call — perhaps to Cleveland or Chicago.

Ask Townes where he expects Negro voting to be most crucial and he ticks off: "New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and California," adding as an afterthought, "Then there's New Jersey, Maryland and Missouri."

The first six states are among the seven most populous and together have 185 of the 270 electoral votes needed to win the presidency.

All went to Lyndon B. Johnson in the 1964 election but, except for Illinois, all now have Republican governors.

The Negro vote which could be pivotal in these states is largely concentrated in big cities.

From the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt, these votes have been heavily Democratic.

In 1964, some Negro precincts ran as high as 99 per cent for Johnson over Republican Barry Goldwater.

The Republican National Commitee's figures claim the GOP got about 4 per cent of the Negro vote in 1964 but came back in the 1966 congressional and gubernatorial elections, capturing about 14 per cent.

Republican Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois cut into the normally Democratic Negro vote in Chicago. Gov. George Romney and Sen. Robert P. Griffin, scoring Republican victories in Michigan, got better than expected support among Detroit Negroes.

Townes' goal is to get 30 per cent of the Negro vote for his party in 1968.

Martin professes no concern that many Negro Democrats might heed Republican blandishments.

"The Negro electorate," he said, "is about as sophisticated as any segment of American society. They know where their best interest is. They recognize who is doing what."

Martin said it is true that some Democratic programs aimed at poverty and Negro problems have not accomplished all that was hoped.

"However imperfect these programs are, there is no alternative," he continued.

"The big point is that we started them.

"The GOP is the party of fine rhetoric but no action.

"The President has demonstrated where he stands. He named the first Negroes to the Cabinet and the Supreme Court."

Republican Townes is aiming particularly at younger Negroes.

"Since 1964," he said in an interview, "you have got almost a brand new Negro attitude, and it is being propelled by the young Negro.

"There is a new Negro in America who considers himself, and is becoming, a sophisticated human being. These Negroes seek to participate as any other group.

"The young Negro is realizing the value of two-party government. The Republicans liberate him from one-party captivity."

Townes described the Democratic approach to the Negro voter as "that of the welfare man — where you control the poor and the ignorant."

"Our party is based on the philosophy of the dignity of the individual," he said.

Townes, 39, is one of the new breed of younger Negroes. A native of Richmond, Va., he attended Virginia Union University and got into Republican politics a decade ago to fight the state Democratic organization's policy of resistance to school desegregation.

He was an executive of an insurance company, established by his father in the 1930s, when Republican Chairman Ray C. Bliss brought him to Washington in May 1966, to head the committee's minorities division.

Democrat Martin is a long established figure on the national political scene.

Now 54, Martin is a Detroiter educated at the University of Michigann whose first national political chore in 1944 was as Democratic contact with the Negro press. Since 1960, he has been head of the Democratic National Committee's minorities division and carries the title of deputy chairman.

For a year before taking the full-time committee post, he was in Nigeria as an adviser to the new independent government being established there at the time.

Martin was editor-in-chief of the Chicago Defender 1948-1959 and was a founder of the Michigan Chronicle, published in Detroit. Both are Negro papers.

Both the Democrats and the Republicans estimate there will be about eight million Negroes, maybe more, qualified to vote in 1968. Nothing more than an estimate can be made because most states do not classify registrants by race.

In 1964, the total vote in the presidential election was about 70.6 million.

Probe Ordered In Death Of Soldier

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional investigation has been sought in the death of Spec. 4 Eddie Vela Jr., a soldier who survived a tour in Vietnam but died at Ft. Gordon, Ga., from infection after a wisdom tooth was extracted.

Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., said he received a letter from Eddie Vela, a Bexar County sheriff's deputy and father of the dead soldier.

Vela said his son had been hospitalized after an infection set in but had been dismissed and was in a barracks. Velz said his son was given only aspirin and that he and his wife had to perform nursing duties.

Gonzalez said his information was that Vela was due for discharge from the Army in September. Vela died last week at Ft. Gordon.

"The father described the conditions at the base hospital as entirely inadequate, unsanitary and appalling," Gonzlez said.

"He said that when he told the colonel there (Ft. Gordon) he wanted his son removed to San Antonio or to Walter Reed Army Hospital here in Washington, the colonel had replied that they were doing all for the boy possible, and that not even the President of the United States was going to have him removed," Gonzalez said.

"I have just received a preliminary report from the department," Gonzalez said. "In two pages of medical jargon and verbiage they say that the boy did die of infection following an impacted wisdom tooth extraction. And that's about all.

"The report is very disturbing and very unsatisfactory. Perhaps there is something to the father's complaint of neglect and indifference."

Gonzalez said he has asked the House Armed Services Committee to investigate.

"It will be little comfort to the parents of young Vela, but it might prevent a recurrence of such an incident.

"It is ironical that he should go through Vietnam and come home only to meet death in such circumstances right here in the United States."

Solon Dies Of Leukemia

WASHINGTON (AP) Rep. J. Arthur Younger, R-Calif., who represented San Mateo County, Calif., in Congress for 15 years, died of leukemia Tuesday night at Walter Reed Army Medical Center. He was 74.

Younger's illness was diagnosed after he entered the hospital last April 18. He was able to leave the hospital and appeared briefly in the House last month.

He announced June 1 that he would not seek re-election in 1968 but hoped to serve out his eighth term in the House.

Two Republicans have publicly announced they would seek election to Younger's seat. They are Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore and Paul N. McCloskey, a Palo Alto lawyer.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has authority to call a special election to fill the vacancy.

In Congress, Younger was the second-ranking Republican on the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

Younger first was elected in 1952 after he had served 15 years as executive vice president of a San Francisco savings and loan firm.

Younger is survived by his widow, Norma.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

Jackie's Sister In Theater Debut

By ED DE MOCH

CHICAGO (AP) — Princess Lee Radziwill, Mrs. John F. Kennedy's younger sister, made her professional theater debut Tuesday night amid mixed reaction from Chicago theatergoers and reviewers.

The reviewers, for the most part, thought she was beautiful and wore her expensive clothes well, but that she was not yet an actress on the basis of her lead role as Tracy Lord in "The Philadelphia Story."

The audience of first-nighters applauded mightily, but drew only one encore from the princess who is using her maiden name, Lee Bouvier.

After the play before an audience of some 650 persons in the Ivanhoe Theater, an in-the-round playhouse in Chicago's North Side, Miss Bouvier, the wife of a former Polish nobleman, Prince Stanislaw Radziwill, told newsmen that she had been "a little nervous" in her first professional appearance.

She said, "I enjoyed it immensely" and felt that "the play possibly could have been smoother tonight if we'd had a few more rehearsals."

She said that she has had a "long-time interest in the theater" and that she may continue to act on a part-time basis.

Her leading man, John Ericson of Hollywood and Broadway, whom she personally selected for the role of C.K. Dexter Haven, told newsmen he felt that Miss Bouvier "did a momentous job."

He said that he feels that Miss Bouvier "is an actress and wants to do a good job." He added that "time will tell" whether she will stay in the theater.

Miss Bouvier, 34, the mother of two children, had prepared two years in London drama schools for her Chicago appearance. She said she had been asked to play the role and accepted and "that's why I came to Chicago."

Say Zephyr Too Costly

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — An accountant for the Colorado & Southern Railroad said Tuesday that it and the Fort Worth & Denver could save up to $4,700 a month if the Texas Zephyr between Denver and Dallas were discontinued.

Ray Ritenour gave the estimate in the final session of Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) hearings into the matter. The hearings began June 12 in Dallas.

Robert Kessler, representing the Colorado Public Utilities Commission, tried to show in cross examination that discontinuance of one train merely shifted the burden to other trains.

The two railroads want to eliminate trains No. 2 and No. 7, which would do away with passenger rail service between the two cities.

Several witnesses against the discontinuance said such action would create inconvenience to the traveling public.

Two Watshdogs' Reputations Suffer

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Two German Shepherd watchdogs were returned to their jobs Monday, their reputations tarnished.

The dogs disappeared from the storage yard of a roofing firm.

Police said they discovered two teen-aged boys walking along a street, each leading a watchdog.

Desecration Of Flag Prohibited

WASHINGTON (AP) The House, spurred by a recent antiwar demonstration in New York, has passed legislation against flag-burning-sort of.

What actually emerged Tuesday from a parliamentary melee was a measure that would make desecration of the American flag a federal crime but fails to specify flag burning as such a desecration.

Burning originally was in the bill along with defacing, defiling, mutilating or trampling on the flag or any representation of it.

But the burning section inadvertantly was dropped in a wrangle over a defeated proposal defining desecration as knowingly casting contempt upon the flag.

Also lost in the parliamentary shuffle was another amendment — adopted earlier — that would have made the bill apply only to knowing desecration of the flag.

Red-faced backers of the measure, passed 386 to 16, said later the omission didn't mean flag-burners would be immune if the bill becomes law. If it does, they added, the Senate can change the bill.

Violators of the law could be fined $1,000 and imprisoned for one year.

Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.Y., added to the sponsors' embarrassment by caustically commenting: "I suggest perhaps we have a bill-burning."

Debate on the measure — introduced after a much-publicized April flag-burning in New York's Central Park by Vietnam war protestors — featured visual displays by both sides.

Rep. James H. Quillen, R-Tenn., a sponsor, contrasted a photograph of the Marine flag-raising on Iwo Jima with a shot of the Central Park flag-burning.

Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., countered by displaying a beach bag with red and white stripes and white stars on a blue field and asked if defacing it would fall under the bill's provisions.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., worried that "the foundations of our democracy are so weak" that the House should debate all afternoon "because a bunch of crazy kids in Central Park engaged in what I consider a stupid act."

But the 16 votes against the measure came as a surprise to its backers.

"I dont see how anybody could be against it," said Rep. Joe D. Waggoner, D-La.

A prediction that passage of the measure "would only lead to an increase in the number of burnings" and make antiwar dissent more bitter was voiced by Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif.

Test Seeks Relation Of Food Habit, Heart Attack

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) Heart specialists urged today a go-ahead with a massive test involving 40,000 to 63,000 men to answer a critical health question.

Would changes from typical American food habits really produce some insurance against heart attacks, the nation's leading killer disease?

Many experts believe that such changes — —especially cutting down on intake of fats and cholesterol — do help prevent coronary attacks.

It is known that the amount of cholesterol in the blood stream can be reduced this way. The tantalizing question is whether this step then saves lives.

Getting the answer would call for enlisting a small army of volunteers. Half the men woud change their food habits somewhat and stick with it for five years. The other half would, for comparison go on eating as they do now.

If, five years later, men who changed their food habits suffered fewer heart attacks than those who didn't change, it would be clear proof that most Americans have been eating their way toward heart attacks, but should not and need not.

But would many thousands of men, and their wives, agree to give up some old habits for new and stay with it?

The answer to that is yes, the Executive Committee on Diet and Heart Disease told the American Medical Association today.

It reported results of a two-year feasibility study preparing the way for the huge experiment. Some 2,400 middle-aged men took part, some changing food habits and others not, and only 10 per cent dropped out of the study.

The blood cholesterol of those who ate special diets came down by an over-all average of 11 per cent. Cholesterol is a body material involved in the narrowing and blocking of heart arteries.

The committee declared that the longer and larger-scale study should be planned and started as soon as possible in view of the current epidemic of heart attacks.

It would cost perhaps $30 million to $50 million, "but the answer would be cheap at twice the price," said Dr. E. Cowles Andrus of Baltimore, presenting results of the diet-heart study.

The committee report will be given to the National Heart Institute, the financing agency, with the recommendation that a larger study be undertaken. Setting it up would take at least two years.

Panel To Study Plan For Oil Lift

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee may question next week the administration's plan to let major U.S. oil companies handle an emergency oil lift to Europe because of the Suez canal closure.

No hearing date has been set, but subcommitee officials are checking into results of the last such emergency program.

When Egypt closed the canal in 1956, a similar plan was put into effect although the subcommittee's Democratic majority, led by the late Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D-Wyo., contended "there was no clear showing that cooperative industry action requiring antitrust immunity was needed."

Subcommittee investigators found that oil companies shipped large amounts of oil to Europe before the 1956 emergency plan was put into effect—and lesser amounts afterward.

Ina dissenting minority report then, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said he found no fault with the oil companies, "except that they used the occasion to raise their prices."

In 1956 European nations said an emergency existed, but this time only the United States has said officially that an emergency exists.

Most Arab nations have announced embargoes of oil to the United States, which gets about 5 per cent of its oil from the Middle East, and to Great Britain, which gets much of its oil from that area.

A Senate subcommitee staff member told a newsman that 'we may very well" raise questions about the antitrust aspects of this year's plan being developed by the foreign petroleum supply committee, meeting here today.

Subcommittee Chairman Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said he was interested in the question.

Drug Education Proposed

By STEPHEN M. AUG

WASHINGTON (AP) — A consultant to the president's crime commission recommended today, to prevent drug abuse, that educational programs about drugs begin in elementary schools.

The consultant, Richard H. Blum of Stanford University, counting everything from coffee and aspirin to heroin, pictured the United States as a nation of drug users.

He also called for vastly increased studies of the effects of such drugs as marijuana and LSD.

The present known risks of using marijuana are not great, he said, and he recommended legislation that would lessen penalties for its use and possession.

Three studies by Blum were contained in a report on narcotics and drug abuse prepared by a task force of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice.

The report, released today, is the eighth of nine specialized studies to be published by the commission. All the specialized reports were summarized in the commission's over-all report published last February.

In an accompanying statement, Nicholas Katzenbach, commission chairman, undersecretary of state and a former attorney general, called for expanded efforts to reduce the flow of narcotics into the nation's cities.

Katzenbach also urged increased research and treatment of addiction and broadened education programs — directed particularly at young people — relating to the dangers of drug abuse.

The report estimates that at least 3,300 pounds of heroin are smuggled into the United States each year. It noted that 22 pounds of opium — the base of heroin — can be purchased on the black market from Turkish farmers for about $350.

The refined opium, when sold as heroin, will bring at least $225,000 in the United States.

The report included much material that was released in the commission's general report last February.

Several key recommendations by the commission include:

— State and federal drug laws should give a large measure of discretion to courts and correctional agencies to enable them to deal flexibly with violators.

— The National Institute of Mental Health should conduct a research program on marijuana and should develop a broad education program to disseminate factual information about drugs.

In a study of dangerous drugs and social policy, Blum said "mind-altering drug use in the United States is nearly universal, most of it by individuals without causing danger to others."

Blum included in his definition of drugs a variety of preparations ranging from aspirin, coffee and tea through tranquilizers, sedatives, stimulants, strong pain killers like morphine, "popular social drugs such as alcohol and tobacco, and illicit but relatively harmless (as presently used) social drugs such as marijuana and peyote," to the problem drugs including opiates and hallucinogens such as LSD.

Blum said studies in the United States show many heroin users had earlier experience with marijuana, but he noted their history "is also likely to include even earlier illicit use of cigarettes and alcohol."

Blum said there is much evidence that many persons not in so-called heroin-risk neighborhoods who experiment with marijuana do not progress to hard narcotics.

And he added: "There is no reliable evidence that marijuana causes crime."

Blum said studies of LSD had shown use of the drug appeared concentrated in persons in the 20-35 age group. Until a few years ago its use was limited to an elite group of successful professionals, artists, and communications industry personnel, their families and friends.

But now, teen-agers, motorcycle-club members, delinquents, the urban poor and minority group members also use LSD.

Blum said there was no doubt that LSD use is followed by psychosis, a detachment from reality. He said some of these reactions are temporary and can be treated by certain tranquilizers such as thorazine which "are now sold on the black market as part of the LSD 'trip' equipment."

But more severe reactions require long-term hospitalization.

"Crime associated with hallucinogen use appears to have been minimal," Blum said. 'It would appear that insofar as decent citizens take hallucinogens, their behavior will remain lawful.

"We may expect that with the expansion of hallucinogen use to delinquent groups—and perhaps because it is now unlawful in some states so that its use becomes criminal—a greater frequency of crime will be reported." And, Blum added: "It is the person, not the drug, which is reponsible for criminal act."

Two Negroes On Council

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)— Two Negro women, the first of their race to sit on the Jacksonville City Council since Reconstruction days, were elected Tuesday in an election that left only one incumbent in office.

The two women, both widowed schoolteachers, also were the first women ever elected to the council in this northeastern Florida city.

Sallye B. Mathis won her seat by almost 5,000 votes while while Mary B. Singleton ran unopposed in the general election Tuesday. Mrs. Mathis got 19,416 votes to 14,528 for C. Ted Forsythe Jr.

Both women were swept into office in a clean-sweep Democratic victory that included wins in all seven contested races.

The election left only one incumbent councilman, Lavern Reynolds, in office. He ran unopposed.

Jacksonville voters tossed out the other incumbents in the primaries. The shakeup came after a grand jury last year indicted eight city officials. Reynolds publicly denounced three fellow councilmen who kept their jobs after being indicted.
