ED HARRIS LUMBER COMPANY EMPLOYEES

'Foundation To Finish' Services Offered By Ed Harris Lumber

The springtime philosophy, "Clean up, fix up, paint up" is not a once-a-year thing with Ed Harris Lumber Company. The twenty-six year old business sparkles with a well kept appearance, reflecting pride in the firm and in Hart.

"It has been a most pleasant experience to have had the pleasure of working for the people in the Hart area the past 26 years," says owner Ed Harris. Ed and his brother, James, were partners with their father when the business began March, 1947 as A.J. Harris & Sons Lumber Company.

Ten years later, Ed purchased a lumber company in Tulia and just recently began a new and larger building there.

Through the years, the local company has undergone continual improvements with the modern, attractive building being completed in a re-modeling job in 1962.

"I am proud of the people associated with Ed Harris Lumber Company of Hart," says Harris, "and am indeed fortunate to have such competent people serving the company and its customers."

Bobby Reed, who has been with the firm 18 years, became manager of the local yard in 1969. An enthusiastic booster of Hart, Reed was honored by the Hart Lions Club as "Man of the Year" for 1972-73.

Mrs. W.T. (Joby) Sanders has served as bookkeeper for the firm 16 years. "I enjoy working with people and being where the people are," Joby says of her job.

Other employees are Bob Gallagher, Robert Verkamp and Roy Coronado.

Pioneer Natural Gas Makes Application

Pioneer Natural Gas Company made application today to all incorporated cities and towns served by its West Texas Transmission System to change the cost of gas adjustment provision of the general service rate, according to an announcement by K. Bert (Tex) Watson, company president.

For the last three years, the general service rate has been adjusted annually in April to reflect increases in the average cost of gas for the prior year. Pioneer's request would allow making this adjustment each month for the current monthly average cost of gas. According to the company, this change would more closely meet the objective of the original adjustment provision.

"Annual cost-of-gas adjustments," Watson explained, "will shortly penalize the company for aggressive competition for new gas supplies that one would expect to find in a large city building supply center, at comparable prices, has been the policy of the firm since its beginning.

"We think about how our customers will feel 15 or 20 years from now," Reed says, because of the lag between increases in the average cost of gas in the field and the time these increases may be passed on to the customers."

School Board Meeting Set

School trustees will meet at 8 p.m. Sept. 10 in the superintendent's office. The agenda calls for adoption of the 1973-74 school budget. Gas and oil bids will be opened also.

Members are urged to attend.

To Be Closed

City offices, Farmers State Bank and the U.S. Post Office will be closed Monday in observance of Labor Day.

Grid Contest Begins Here

Pigskin predicting time has arrived.

The Hart Beat will carry a football guessing contest this season. The contestant who proves to be the best predictor for the duration of the contest will receive two tickets to the Cotton Bowl game plus a check for $40 to be used as spending money. Runner-up contestant will claim the second prize, two tickets to the Sun Bowl game and $20.

(In the event of a tie finish, a flip of a coin will determine the winner.)

Local merchants are sponsoring the contest in connection with the Hart Beat. Contest rules are printed on contest pages, 4 and 5 in this issue.

In addition to the grand prizes to be awarded at the conclusion of the contest, weekly prizes are also offered. The contestant picking the most games correctly each week will win a check for $5. Second place guessers will claim $3 and third place will receive $2.

Contestants do not have to be "football experts" to win - lucky guesses may "pay off" since favorites are known to be "upset."

The contest is fun and it's easy. All you need do is to select which team you think will be the winner of the game listed in each sponsoring merchant's ad. Each team is numbered and contestants should circle the number of the team they think will win. The accompanying entry blank should then be similarly marked

MRS. W.T. SANDERS

Cook Of The Week

Acclaimed by friends as a "real good cook," the recipes shared this week by Mrs. Sanders are samples of some of choice recipes. She admits, however, she does much of her cooking by the "some of this and some of that" method.

Joby has little time for hobbies with a schedule that has combined homemaking with bookkeeping. She has served as bookkeeper for Ed Harris Lumber Company 16 years.

Lack of time however hasn't dampened her enthusiasm for many interests. She sums up her hobbies with a quick, "just name it, I enjoy it." She particularly likes bowling and swimming and loves working in the yard.

A "farm girl" who came to Hart when she was just six or seven years old, Joby loves horses and claims she's most at home behind the saddle since she learned to ride with her brother, who makes his home with Joby and W.T.

Painting is another favorite pastime of Joby's. She likes oil paintings and enjoys craft arts, too. She finds little time for art lessons but manages to squeeze in a few hours now and then with Jean Green of Olton.

Joby and W.T. have two married daughters. Judy and her husband, Doyle Warren live in Floydada. Doyle is County Agent for Floyd County. The Warrens have a three-year-old daughter, Michelle, and a son, Chad, 19 months old. Jo and her husband, Bill Thompson, are parents of a daughter, Dawn, who is almost four years old.

They live in Lubbock.

Joby is also a member of Xi Mu Iota chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Pioneer Gas

Watson made note of the increasing demand for natural gas and the critical gas supply shortage which has developed within the last few years.

"There is increasing demand in the company's gas supply area for new gas that is being developed at much greater costs than existing supplies. Pioneer must be able to buy this new and more expensive gas and participate in more costly drilling and exploration activities in order to assure an adequate gas supply for its system customers. Fortunately,

Pioneer has pipelines into two areas of good potential gas supply, and since the acquisition of new gas will be necessary to continue serving existing customers, this advantage should not be lost to Pioneer's service area by failure to meet going prices," Watson said.

If approved, the effective date of the new rate adjustments would be Oct. 1, 1973, and the first adjustment would be applied to all bills rendered on or after that date. Since the end of 1972, the company's cost of gas has increased by about two and a half cents per thousand cubic feet and the first adjustment would therefore be about three percent of the average domestic price.

"In 1970, when we reached the original agreement on a cost-of-gas adjustment with the cities, it appeared that an annual adjustment would be appropriate," Watson said. "At that time, it was not predicted that the energy situation would develop so rapidly accompanied by the accelerated increase in the field cost of gas which makes it necessary for us to request this more current provision," Watson continued. "I think the spirit of the original agreement, to permit Pioneer to recover its increased costs for gas, is reflected in this request," Watson concluded.

and filled in with contestant's name and address. ONLY the entry blank need be turned in, not the entire contest pages.

Final step in entering, contestants should predict the scores of the Longhorns-opponents game which will be used as a tie-breaker if needed and will also count as one point if the winner is correctly chosen.

Young and old may enter and enjoy the fun of the guessing game. Families may compete against each other. Everyone is eligible but persons may enter just once each week.

Entries must be placed in envelopes placed in places of business of each sponsoring merchant by 4:30 p.m. Fridays. Mailed in entries are not accepted.

Enter now, it's fun. Don't give up if you get off to a slow start - lucky guesses can boost contestants scores and leaders may strike slumps. Follow up through the entire contest which will continue as long as the Longhorns play. District, bi-district and semi-final wins by the Horns can extend the contest past the regular season play.

Remember! Be sure to circle a winner in each contest ON THE ENTRY BLANK. Be sure to predict the tie-breaker and be sure to fill in your name and address. Careless oversights can hurt your season standing.

When you deposit your entry blank at a sponsoring merchant's firm, tell him you appreciate his making the contest possible. He'll appreciate your interest. While you're there, give him your business, he appreciates that too.

Ed Harris

"Some people say you can't buy building materials like you used to, quality wise, but you can if you want to pay for it," he says.

Building costs, he explained, have increased through the years, along with all things, but many people do not realize that a big factor in the increased cost of building homes has come about by many "extras" becoming "essentials."

"So many different things are available today - that's what makes a big difference," said Reed, citing the fact that building a house once meant erecting so many bedrooms and a bath.

Today's would-be home owner may choose built-ins, cooking centers, fireplaces, intercom systems, indirect lighting, ceramic tile, carpeting for every room of the house, central heating and cooling, humidity control, central vacuum cleaning systems, plus still other features.

"Built-ins" are now more than just stoves. Modern kitchens include dishwashers, garbage disposals and trash compactors.

"Lumber is one of the smaller items in the cost of a house," Reed concludes.

Ed Harris Lumber offers a wider variety of stock than many lumber companies of towns the size of Hart since there is no other firm in town offering such merchandise. This includes appliances, lighting fixtures and carpeting.

Passing years have also brought about many changes in styles of houses. Not so very many years ago, most houses in the area were frame dwellings where today few are built of wood siding.

Basements have changed from the stark storage or storm shelter space into attractive, inviting spots complete with air conditioning, carpet and paneling.

Paneling rivals the well-known ice cream chain in offering a variety of choices. Customers may choose paneling in wide array with prices ranging from $1.99 to $40 per sheet.

Paints have also changed with the times and concern for ecology. Those with lead have now been taken off the market and latex paints come in economy or premium grades for both exterior and interior surfaces.

Ed Harris Lumber provides customers with services as well as merchandise. Reed finds he spends most of his time helping the company's customers find carpenters, plumbers, electricians, painters or brick layers.

Lack of skilled workmen in the building field is one of the most serious problems facing lumber yards and building supply companies, he believes.

Free estimates are gladly offered to any one wishing to build or remodel. Drafting services are also provided by the company and contract building is available for commercial and non-commercial.

"We look forward to the continued opportunity of serving the BEST area of the Panhandle Plains country," says Harris of the business whose claim is "We have everything you need from foundation to finish."
