Yanks Smash Into Aachen

Nazis Lose Heavily In Futile Effort To Relieve Men In Debris-Strewn City

By HOWARD COWAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Saturday, Oct. 14—American doughboys with flame-throwers, grenades and tommyguns carried the battle of Aachen into the debris-littered streets of the dead city itself today after 48 hours of bitter air and armored combat which cost the Germans 84 tanks and 30 fighter planes.

Infantrymen broke into the bomb-ravaged city from the east and south behind another terrifying dive-bombing attack of American Thunderbolts and Lightnings, which have dropped 1,600 loads of explosives in two days onto the ruins of the first German city ringed by an invader since the days of Napoleon.

Sixty-four tanks were blown apart by the withering curtain of bomb and shell fire draped about a German Panzer column which attempted to force through a half-mile wide gap northeast of Aachen, but was smashed to pieces three miles away.

20 Destroyed Thursday

Twenty other tanks were destroyed Thursday night south of Eischweiler, eight miles southeast of Aachen.

The Berlin radio claimed that 5,000 Americans had been slain and 14,000 wounded or taken prisoner in the mighty battle for the fortress which refused a surrender ultimatum, but front line reports from Allied sources said Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army had suffered only light casualties and that resistance was collapsing under the assault.

One German tank division was being rushed down from the northern end of the 460-mile western front at Arnhem to join the battle for Aachen, which the German radio said had been all but flattened "by an unprecedented steamroller of fire."

Nazis Flushed From Debris

Doughboys crossed the railway tracks on the southeast and entered Aachen proper at 9:30 a. m., routing dirty, bearded Germans from the rubble, while self-propelled artillery prowled the ruins knocking out cores of resistance described as spotty.

Even as the ancient city of Charlemagne entered its dying hours, the whole British Second Army and American First Army front at the western gates of Germany showed signs of imminent eruption.

Mid-way between Aachen and Arnhem, the British Second Army, paced by American tanks, hammered out a gain of more than a mile beyond the captured Dutch town of Overloon on a front of nearly four miles, near Venray, three miles southeast of Overloon, and were operating six miles from the Maas river, which faces the German frontier.

The Allied communique announced limited gains had been

Stars Retort To CBI Dog Charge

(By The Associated Press)

An Army newspaper's assertion that some of the nation's top-ranking entertainers remain in the China-India-Burma theater "just long enough to send out their laundry" and then "sneak home" with "a lot of publicity" met prompt denials yesterday from stars involved.

Ann Sheridan, Joe E. Brown, Joel McCrea, Paulette Goddard and Al Jolson were named by the G. B. I. Roundup, the theater's official newspaper published weekly at New Delhi, India, as some who developed "an overpowering desire to go home" after discovering that C. B. I. is "hot, wet and full of mosquitos."

Afraid Of Searing Others

The paper said in an editorial it had remained silent rather than "scare away the next outfit that thought of coming out to the rice-paddy league" or "kiss off the efforts of those who came out here and really did a job."

"But when the soldiers in this or any other theater are promised big-time entertainment and the entertainers show up with hammy routines that would get yawns at a free-dish matinee in Springfield, Ohio, and then dog it after a month or six weeks, something ought to be done," the newspaper said.

Miss Sheridan, quoted as saying she did not wish to return to the theater because "it is too rough," immediately offered to "fight boy fashion, no holds barred, with anybody who thinks I, or any of the gang I accompanied, dogged it in the overseas theater."

Flickers Better Publicity

As for publicity: "Any girl who flexes her curves in a bathing suit in a studio shot can get 10 times as much lineage as one who plays the C. B. I.," the red-haired Texan declared in New York.

Brown, 53, whose Army flier son was killed in a crash early in the war, said in Hollywood he "thought I'd covered all the places I could go, and one of their officers told me there weren't 200 men in the whole theater I had missed."

Miss Goddard, also in Hollywood, said one of her "very close friends" had gone to the theater "because I preached the need of the men there for entertainment."

Serious Illness Cases

A spokesman for the Hollywood Victory committee said McCrea and all other players "have fulfilled every contract except in one or two cases of serious illness," adding that Miss Goddard was hospitalized "by Army doctors' order" six days before the end of her scheduled tour.

Jolson said in Beverly Hills he knew of no star who had "played camp shows abroad for publicity or for any other than patriotic reasons." He added that he never had been booked for C. B. I. but would go there "whenever they want me."

The newspaper had said that Jolson "was reported to be ill but gave performances in Italy and North Africa when he was scheduled for C. B. I."

Nazis Slug Back Around Bologna

ROME, Oct. 13. (AP) — German troops before Bologna, like their predecessors at Cassino, came up out of their foxholes today after enduring what the 15th airforce described as the "greatest aerial assault of the war on a single target area" and rejoined the furious struggle for the final hills before the Po valley metropolis.

There was little doubt that yesterday's tremendous strike by hundreds of American heavy and medium bombers inflicted serious damage on Nazi installations, yet today's Allied communique reported heavy fighting in progress with "no material advances" around the embattled highway center of Livergnano 10 miles south of Bologna.

Nazis Admit "Dent"

(A German broadcast said Yank troops, attacking in the wake of the bombers, made "minor local dents" in the Nazi line, but declared they were eliminated by counterattacks. It said "grim fighting" continued.)

East and west of the Florence-Bologna highway the Americans captured several more hills, while the British Eighth Army near the Adriatic moved up highway 9 to a point about three miles northwest of Savignano.

Livergnano, to which the Germans have clung with grim tenacity for several days, is partly outflanked by American infantry moving through the hills of either side. Mount Delle Formiche, two and a half miles east of Livergnano, was captured yesterday. Other doughboys moving forward west of the highway seized Monteramici, overlooking a subsidiary road to Bologna. American troops have taken over 300 prisoners in recent fighting.

In their advance beyond Savignano near the Adriatic, British troops captured Palignano, Massa, Badia and Montiano.

On the west coast, American troops clung to Mt. Canala, about four miles southeast of Massa, western terminus of the Gothic line.

A&M QUEEN CHOSEN

DENTON, Oct. 13 (AP) — Miss Victoria Moran of Fort Worth, junior student at Texas State College for Women, was chosen Texas A&M college football queen and will be presented at the A&M-SMU football game at Dallas Nov. 11. She is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. J. S. Moran of Fort Worth.

Regent Asks Meeting On Rainey Fuss

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. — A special meeting of the regents of the University of Texas to answer charges by President Homer P. Rainey that the board and individual members had attempted to impose on him "restrictive measures" was proposed today by one of the regents mentioned in the president's statement.

Regent D. F. Strickland of Mission was quoted by the Fort Worth Star Telegram as saying he would ask Chairman John H. Bickett of the board to call the special meeting. Bickett declined to comment on this, or upon the controversy which came to a new climax with Rainey's enumeration of complaints reviewing several years of conflict.

Rules On Special Meeting

Rules of the board provide that a special meeting may be called upon written request by five members. The next regularly-scheduled meeting is Oct. 27-28, probably in Houston.

Other developments in the latest phase of the long-continued dispute between Rainey and the regents:

At Brownsville, a group of former students of the university called a meeting for next Monday. Hart Stilwell, writer and newspaperman who announced the meeting, said the group hoped the organization would develop into a statewide "support Rainey" movement. "It is time all liberal-minded Texas exes organized to support their university president against the deadening influence of a reactionary-minded board of regents," Stilwell said.

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, answering questions at his press conference, would not comment on the controversy beyond stating that since it had become a public forum, he considered himself "out of it." He said that Dr. Rainey had not approached him, directly or indirectly, with a request for mediation.

Strickland was quoted further as saying:

"The president has asked for it. He's got his differences why he can't get along with us, and we have some reasons too. The university belongs to 6,000,000 people, and the best way to deal with it is at a public meeting. There's been too much smoke; it ought to be gotten out in the open."

Bigger Than Individuals

Strickland said "nobody is after any man" and that "this (controversy) is bigger than individuals," adding that he did not believe any one regent should answer Rainey's charges that the board had invaded the president's executive province.

In a telephone interview with the Dallas News, Strickland was asked whether he thought the matter had reached a stage beyond reconciliation.

"I would do anything in reason to compose the situation," he was quoted. ". . . You and I could have a fight today but I think we could get together tomorrow and work things out if we were reasonable."

Nurse Warns Others Then Dies In Fire

COLEMAN, Oct. 13. (AP)—Marie Stanphill, 18-year-old graduate nurse of Coleman, died in Santa Anna today, trapped in the burning ruins of the Sealy hospital nurses home which her warning had helped clear of other nurses.

Miss Stanphill discovered the fire and warned the other nurses, who escaped from the building. She then notified the Santa Anna fire department from a telephone in the flaming building. Firemen found her body in the debris of the destroyed nurses' home after a check revealed she was missing.

Cause of the fire has not been determined. Property damage is estimated at $15,000.

Four Billion Yearly Interest On Debt

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP) — It now costs more than $4,000,000,000 annually to pay the interest on the national debt.

The Treasury's monthly bulletin, out today, placed the public debt at the end of August at $209,764,000,000 and the annual interest charge at $4,033,000,000. This is at an annual rate of interest of 1.923 per cent.

Overseas Mailing Extended One Day

DALLAS, Oct. 13 (AP)—Mailing of Christmas packages to service men overseas has been extended through Monday because Oct. 15, originally scheduled as the last day, falls on Sunday.

Notice of the extension of time was received by Postmaster J. Howard Payne this afternoon from the Post Office department.

FDR Studies Way To Have Edict Lifted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP) — President Roosevelt said today that if he could find a legal way he intended to do something about the AFL musicians union's defiance of the War Labor board.

The President was asked at his news conference whether he planned any action now that James C. Petrillo, the musicians' head, had rejected his personal request for compliance with the WLB's order that the union lift its ban on making recordings for two companies.

With a wry smile, the President replied that people wrote that he was a dictator one day and wrote the next day that he should do something about Petrillo.

He would like to do something, Mr. Roosevelt added, but it was a great question whether he could legally. He said he expected to go into that question in the next few days.

Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson ruled last week that the union's defiance was not "unduly impeding the war effort" and hence the government could not act under the Connally-Smith law giving statutory authority to the WLB. Mr. Roosevelt then made his request for compliance with the WLB directive in the interest of "orderly government."

Soldier Sought In Girl's Death

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13 (AP) — Georgette Bauerdorf, whose nearly nude body was found yesterday in her bathtub, was attacked sexually and then strangled to death, Lt Garner Brown of the sheriff's homicide squad said today.

Officers began a search for a soldier with whom they learned she had been forced to jitterbug at the Hollywood canteen the night before.

So far as has been determined, that was the last time she was seen alive. Her body was found in the overflowing bathtub in her sister's apartment, where she had been living alone. Brown said a folded wash cloth had been forced down her throat.

Father Holds Accident Theory

Her father, George Bauerdorf, who has interests in oil and mining, told officers by phone from New York, where he is vacationing, that he believed his daughter's death was accidental. He said she suffered severe cramps and heart pains and that she probably fainted and fell into the tub.

"Our preliminary examination shows she was attacked and then killed," Brown said. An autopsy has been ordered.

The girl's apartment was in disarray. Her clothing was scattered, as well as many of her personal effects. But there apparently was no theft, Brown said, because jewelry was found on a dresser. There were blood stains on the floor in the living room and bathroom and blood on the girl's clothing.

Friend Tells of Soldier

Miss June Ziegler, also 20, told officers she and Georgette were hostesses at the canteen Wednesday night. She told officers of the jitterbugging soldier and said that Georgette was planning a secret trip by plane to El Paso. A notation in the dead girl's diary told of her impending visit with "Jerry," who is graduating from an Army Air school at Ft. Bliss, near El Paso. Airplane tickets for tonight to El Paso were found on Georgette's dresser.

Georgette's car was taken from the garage in the apartment building; it was found today on a street in the negro residential district. Brown said "thousands of fingerprints" in the apartment are being compared with those taken from the Auto.

Hopes Mount For Unity In Polish Scrap

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Saturday, Oct. 14.—Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk of the Polish government-in-exile at London conferred with Premier Stalin and Premier Churchill for two hours last night following talks with leaders of the Lublin Polish Committee of National Liberation.

Present at the discussions of the Polish premier with Stalin and Churchill were British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov, U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Tadeusz Romer, foreign minister of the London Polish group.

General Conference

Observers predicted that the next step in the attempt to resolve the differences between the two Polish groups would be a conference probably tomorrow, with all principals including Edward Osubka Morawski, head of the Lublin faction, and his aids attending.

As the Anglo-American, Russian and Polish talks took shape, some sort of settlement was seen likely. The belief grew that a tentative compromise was near. Mikolajczky said he believed that his invitation to Moscow at this time was part of a sincere effort to settle the vexing Polish problem.

Although the belief grew that a tentative compromise might be reached before the end of the Stalin-Churchill talks, no quick public announcement was expected because Mikolajczyk probably would have to return to London first and confer with his cabinet.

FDR NON-COMMITAL ON BIG-THREE PARLEY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP)—President Roosevelt left wide open today the possibility that he may meet with Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill in the next two months to seek new big-three agreements on the future of Europe and the preservation of United Nations unity when peace comes.

The President touched briefly on the subject at his news conference, where he responded to several questions on foreign affairs. One answer indicated he may be thinking of the French administration of General Charles De Gaulle now as a regular "de facto government" rather than merely an "authority."

Full Dealings Urged

He said you could call it either an authority or a de facto government. Some of his most-trusted advisers are urging him to recognize the De Gaulle regime as a provisional or de facto government and stop dealing with it on a limited military basis. A new American ambassador, Jefferson Caffery, left recently for Paris but pending some further act of recognition he goes only as a representative to the de facto French "authority." Heretofore Mr. Roosevelt has been careful to avoid the word government in talking of the De Gaulle setup.

The President came to his news conference fresh from a study of the latest reports on the conference of Churchill and Stalin at Moscow. There has been some speculation that if the Moscow meeting makes good progress, Churchill, who only recently met Mr. Roosevelt at Quebec, might arrange a conference of all three leaders and possibly also Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek of China.

Jap Losses At Ryuku Raised To 77 Vessels

Three-Area Total Is 140 Ships And Over 500 Planes

(By The Associated Press)

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 13—Revising figures upward, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported tonight 77 Japanese ships, including four small submarines and more than 50 small craft, were sunk or damaged off the Ryukyu islands Monday and 119 planes were destroyed or damaged.

Nibitz' first report on the strike at the Ryukyus, which reach within 200 miles of Japan, listed 38 ships sunk or damaged, as well as more than 20 luggers. The total for planes was given as 89.

Eight Planes, Eight Men Lost

The American forces lost eight planes and five pilots and three crewmen, in combat.

Tonight's communique also disclosed 10 to 15 Japanese planes were destroyed in the carrier raid on Luzon in the Philippines Tuesday.

Nimitz announced the Luzon strike last night but gave no details.

In the Luzon attack the Japanese surprisingly offered no airborne opposition, the communique said. The handful of enemy planes destroyed were on the ground.

The American attack apparently was centered around Aparri on the northern coast where many buildings were set afire.

Island Devastated

In the Ryukyu assault the bombers "devastated Oho Yama island, in Naha harbor at Okinawa island. Naha is the largest city in Ryukyu, with a population of 66,000.

Two lighthouses, three hangars and one factory, many barracks, buildings, warehouses, three fuel dumps and one ammunition dump were destroyed.

The revised Ryukyu box score shows 46 ships and 41 small craft were sunk; 11 ships and nine small craft were probably sunk; 20 ships and numerous sampans, luggers and barges were damaged; 82 aircraft were destroyed and 37 damaged.

The revised figures showed:

Sunk—one destroyer escort; four small submarines; 14 cargo ships; one submarine tender; one

Reds Take Riga In Smashing Assault

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Saturday, Oct. 14—Russian shock troops captured the Latvian capital and big Nazi naval base of Riga yesterday, smashing seven miles through a strong maze of Axis defenses in a conquest which released hundreds of thousands of Soviet veterans for the battle of Germany itself.

At the same time Marshal Tito's headquarters in a special communique announced that Partisan forces had "penetrated to the walls of Belgrade," Yugoslav capital, capturing en route the village of Beli Potok, six miles southwest of the Balkans cross-roads city on the Danube.

Nazis Report Drive Opens

Berlin's high command indicated that the battle for pre-war Germany already had begun with massed Soviet tank attacks on the East Prussian garrison at the port of Memel, and a large-scale Red Army attack across the Narew river in northern Poland on the lower side of East Prussia.

Moscow's communique was silent on the East Prussian drive, which is not unusual on the eve of major events, but there were unofficial reports that the Russians already had crossed from Lithuania into Memelland, annexed by Germany in March, 1939, at three points, and has also fought their way into the streets of Memel city.

Premier-Marshal Joseph Stalin announced the fall of long-besieged Riga.

Two Armies Take Riga

Gen. Andrei Yeremenko's Second Baltic Army troops and those of Gen. Ivan Maslennikov's Third Baltic Army crashed into Riga, a city of 385,000 which the Germans occupied from 1917 to 1919 in the first World war and which they captured July 1, 1941, in the attack on Russia.

Yeremenko's men struck from the east and southeast, and Maslennikov's forces descending from freed Estonia hit from the northeast. The Russians had to reduce a savagely resisting enemy entrenched in some of the strongest fortifications on the eastern front, rows of concrete and steel pillboxes, tank traps and barbed wire.

Victory Salute Ordered

Stalin ordered a salute of 24 salvos from 324 of Moscow's guns for the conquest, a development which promises early liquidation of from 10 to 15 Nazi divisions cut off in western Latvia last Tuesday when Gen. Ivan Babramian's First Baltic Army drove a wedge to the sea just north of the East Prussian port of Memel.

Besides giving the Russians another valuable port for easing the supply problem, the fall of Riga released perhaps 1,000,000 men for the big battle for the soil of Germany itself.

A few hours before Stalin's announcement, Berlin acknowledged that the Russians had captured the eastern half of Riga, which is bisected by the mile-wide Daugava river. Under a violent Soviet shelling the Germans retreated across to the western side of the river, Berlin said.

Nazi Version

"Several Russian attempts to capture river crossings were smashed," said the Nazi military commentator, Col. Ernest von Hammer.

The Germans also announced the fall of Rozan, west bank town on the Narew river in northern Poland, 45 miles northeast of Warsaw and only 33 miles from the lower East Prussian frontier.

Berlin said a "large-scale Soviet offensive" had begun beyond the Narew river by Gen. G. F. Zakharov's Second White Russian Army, intended to slice northwestward toward Danzig and lop off East Prussia in cooperation with other Soviet forces attacking from Lithuania on the north and east.

Capitulation Of Hungary Nears

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

London, Oct. 13.—Early capitulation of Hungary was awaited tonight as Russian tanks battered their way toward Budapest and reports from neutral sources told of mounting panic and confusion in that capital.

In Moscow, the official newspaper Izvestia surmised that "the whole country is going to blow up at any moment."

Budapest Is Tense

In tense Budapest, the defense chamber of Hungary's legislature heard tonight a "report on the country's military situation" from Col. Gen. Ludwig von Csatay, the Army minister, a Budapest broadcast said.

The broadcast added that the foreign affairs committee of the upper House had been called to meet next Tuesday morning "to hear a report by the foreign minister on Hungary's external situation."

Ankara and Stockholm dispatches said the Hungarian cabinet was meeting tonight to decide finally on capitulation to decide cide stand. The Paris radio reported the cabinet already had decided to begin evacuating Budapest tomorrow.

Looting And Rioting

Other reports told of thousands now fleeing the city, and of looting and rioting in some quarters. Censored news from Budapest itself screened, but did not hide, the seriousness of the situation. The government-controlled press and radio poured out admonishments against panic and frantic arguments against thoughts of surrender.

A "national committee of Hungarian members of Parliament," representing a fusion of former right wing political groups, held its first meeting last night in Budapest with the avowed aim of "consolidating all national forces for the defense of the Hungarian people."

Sgt. Ralph Spicer Missing In Pacific

S/Sgt. Ralph G. Spicer, 21-year-old waist gunner on a Liberator, is missing in action after a raid on Balikpapan on Borneo, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Spicer, 2415 Twenty-first, were informed Friday.

SPICER

Sgt. Spicer, his parents said, had shot down three Jap planes and had compiled 240 combat hours. He had been awarded the Air medal as well as the Purple Heart, for wounds received last April 28. His parents expressed belief that their son had just returned to duty after recovering from his wounds.

Sgt Spicer assisted his father in the operation of a farm near Tulia before going into service.

Texas Regulars To Hold Confab Today

AUSTIN, Oct. 13 (AP)—A conference of the executive committee and other leaders of the Texas Regulars will be held here Saturday, campaign director Merritt Gibson announced today.

Here in advance of the meeting was Hamilton Rogers, Fort Worth, secretary of the executive committee.

Rogers thus described the Regulars' plan. "The idea is to get all the anti-New Deal votes in one column. Normally, there are about 75,000 Republican votes in Texas. There are now approximately 500,000 anti-New Deal votes. The problem is to place them all together."

ROGERS BACKS DEWEY

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 13. (AP)—The Beverly Hills Citizen, published by Will Rogers, jr., Democratic congressman who resigned his seat to serve overseas in the Army, announced today it would support Governor Dewey for president.

Carpenter Gets Suspended Term

A 72nd district court jury Friday night returned a verdict of guilty of murder without malice in the case of J. B. Carpenter, 43-year-old Lubbock county farmer, and assessed a five-year suspended sentence, ending the three-day trial.

Carpenter was charged in an indictment returned Aug. 14 with murder with malice in connection with the fatal shooting Aug. 3 of Hubert Green, 42, of Portales, N. M.

Died Following Day

Green died in a Lubbock hospital Aug. 4. He was shot in the left chest after he and Carpenter had scuffled over a pistol, witnesses said.

The jury returned its verdict after deliberating two and one-half hours, the case going to the jury at 7 o'clock.

Verdict was reached by the jury, of which L. E. Grimes, Lubbock automobile dealer, was foreman on the third ballot.

Closing arguments, limited to one and one-half hours to each side, were begun at four o'clock when a contrasting picture of Carpenter's reputation was brought out.

No Sign Of Emotion

Carpenter showed no sign of emotion as the jury field into the courtroom and was equally calm when he announced he was ready to accept sentence. Judge Dan Blair then sentenced him to serve five years in the state penitentiary at Huntsville, but suspended the sentence.

When asked for a statement, Carpenter had nothing to say.

Both the state and defense closed testimony Friday morning and Judge Blair recessed court and withdrew to draw up his charge.

Carpenter took the stand in his own behalf Thursday afternoon.

Counsel for the defendant were George W. Dupree and C. C. Crenshaw, Lubbock attorneys. Handling the prosecution was District Attorney Burton S. Burks.

Dixon Shames Himself And Home Front Shirkers After He Threads Line Of Men In Rest Camp Behind Western Front

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE AEF IN FRANCE, Oct. 8 (Delayed)—As far as I know the folks back home are still buying bonds, working as hard as possible in war plants, saving waste paper—or whatever it is they are saving this month—and otherwise doing everything they can to help win the war.

DIXON

But if anybody isn't I wish he could have walked with me this afternoon through a little French village within earshot of the Western front. He would have been perfectly safe bodily because the guns in the distance couldn't hit him, but his spirit might have been wounded slightly.

This little village is a temporary rest camp where line company soldiers are shipped back to get a bath, shave and 72 hours rest—more or less.

This afternoon I walked into a special service office aiming to borrow some comparatively recent edition of a newspaper or magazine to see what is going on back home.

COMBAT EXHAUSTION—These men, victims of combat fatigue common in every war theater, are Marines who show the strain of two days and nights of hell on a Pacific island. They are typical exhaustion cases.

Jammed inside the office and forming long straggling lines outside, a new bunch of combat soldiers stood in the exact condition in which they had left the line a few hours before. Bearded, dirty, dogtired and obviously heartsick at their losses, they waited stolidly to get tickets entitling them to baths, billets and a moving picture show tonight.

As many times as I have walked it before and as many times as I will walk it again, I don't think I ever will forget that gantlet of gazing soldiers. You can't forget their eyes. They are not accusing, not vindictive, not blaming. They are not anything in particular.

But did you ever meet on the street a man whom you owed money and couldn't pay?

Remember that terrible, guilty sense of indebtedness when you realized that no matter how hard you tried maybe you never would be able to repay him?

Multiply that a million times and you get a vague idea how it felt to walk that gantlet this afternoon.

It didn't make any difference that only yesterday I came back from the front. It didn't help to tell myself that my job doesn't

Editor's Note: This weekly news letter is written for you to clip and send to someone in the armed service.)

Oct. 13, 1944.

DEAR

Well most of us have finished mailing our Christmas packages to assure you of a little cheer and we are hoping with all our hearts this will be the last time we shall have to sing "White Christmas" alone.

The War Chest fund drive which got off to an auspicious start Tuesday, opening day, had sagged a little later in the week. Set goal is $50,505 and less than half of the amount had been raised by today noon. The men in charge are go-getters and the amount will be realized but, of course, we are disappointed that it didn't go over with the bang which it started.

Henry Frnka's Hurricanes of the University of Tulsa will meet Dell Morgan's Red Raiders Saturday night in Tulsa. The Tech players are considered the underdogs in going up against one of the nation's greatest teams. Last year they were defeated 34 to 7.

Last Saturday night the Red Raiders were defeated 14 to 7 by the Oklahoma A. and M. Cowboys in a game played at Tech stadium and climaxing annual Parents day on the campus.

The Westerners defeated Lamesa 40 to 0 last Friday, retaining their undefeated record this season.

Capt. and Mrs. Berl Huffman are parents of a son born at Kessler Field, Miss., where the former assistant coach at Tech college is stationed. Mrs. Huffman formerly taught physical education at the college and will be remembered as Zella Riegel.

Surgeons and physicians from 22 counties attended the Panhandle district, Texas Medical association, convention here Tuesday and Wednesday.

The City of Lubbock is to observe Thanksgiving Nov. 23, fourth Thursday in the month, in conformance with the nationally proclaimed date, Mayor Overton W. Ribble, has announced. Gov. Coke R. Stevenson says Texas will observe the traditional Thanksgiving, the last Thursday in November, on the 30th.

John Temple Graves, II, widely read Southern newspaper columnist, addressed the Lubbock Knife and Fork club Wednesday night on "Free Enterprise."

More than 75 books on Texas and West Texas, Lubbock's gifts to the USS Lubbock, were shipped from the chamber of commerce offices Tuesday and will arrive in time for commissioning ceremonies for the attack transport at a Washington shipyard to be named in honor of Lubbock county.

A Lubbock girl is to be selected to represent Lubbock in a "Miss-Texas-in-the War" contest to be held at Waco. The Woody Tire company is sponsoring the contest. Girls are being chosen from the principal cities in Texas to take part in a final contest in Waco Nov. 19.

A former Texas Tech beauty, Norma Croxton of Wichita Falls, has been selected "Miss Sheppard Field" in a bathing beauty revue attracting 5,000 GI's to the post's airtorium. She won over 14 entries.

Charles B. Read, a Tech graduate, and a member of the U. S. Geological survey, lectured to students of Tech department of geology and petroleum engineering Tuesday night.

First Lt. Robert L. Pardue, who was released with other prisoners of war in Romania after the European country went over to the Allies cause, is spending a 30-day leave with his parents, County Judge and Mrs. G. V. Pardue. Tanned and handsome, he already has lost any signs he may have had of his four months' imprisonment.

A Lubbock woman, T/3 Drucille M. McElvaney of the WAC, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parr Merriman of Lubbock, who is serving in the European theater of operations, is stationed in Paris and has written home of the beauty of the city and of its women who wear pretty clothes and arrange their hair in such arresting styles.

Marine Capt. Noel E. Thompson who is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Thompson, recently was awarded the Air Medal for his meritorious achievement as a transport pilot during the invasion of New Georgia island, Solomons group, in August, 1943.

Preston E. Smith, owner of the Tech theater and state representative-elect, has bought a two-story building at the corner of Texas Ave. and Fourteenth and plans to locate a theater there in the near future.

That's all this week.

New Theater Location Purchased By Smith

A two-story building at Fourteenth and Texas has been purchased by Preston E. Smith, owner of Tech theater and state representative-elect, from John Dalrymple and R. D. Moxley.

Smith plans to establish a theater there soon he said.

Purchase price of the building was $51,500.

Smith said he planned to remodel the brick and tile structure and plans are being drawn for a theater with a 700- to 800-seat capacity. In addition to the theater, the building will also have spaee for several small businesses on Texas and on the Fourteenth street side. The building extends 78 feet from the corner north on Texas.

The theater will be modern in every way and installed with the latest equipment, Smith said.

Smith plans to operate the new theater in addition to the one he owns on College avenue.

Shipwrecked sailors covered with fuel oil are now washed with a new soap, especially effective in cleaning men who have been burned or injured.

Texas Solons Asked To Military Meeting

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (U.P.) — Members of the Texas delegation in Congress today were invited by Texas Adjutant General Arthur B. Knickerbocker to attend a conference on universal military training here Oct. 25.

The conference, requested by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson and Commander Henry Love, Fort Worth, of Texas department of the American Legion, will be conducted by members of a Texas state military affairs committee appointed by the governor.

Knickerbocker asked the congressional group to the session so they might know Texas' attitude on post-war military establishment and proposed legislation on universal military training.

Stamping Of Soldier Envelopes Explained

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP) — Col. Robert Cutler, coordinator for soldier voting, explained today to the satisfaction of Rep. Norman (R-Wash) censor stamping of 33 envelopes containing soldier ballots received by the Grays Harbor, Wash., election board.

Colonel Cutler said that a special inquiry indicated neither the outer nor the inner envelopes had been opened and that it was probable the outer covers had been stamped prior to noting they contained absentee ballots which then were passed on intact to the election board.

Aides of Norman said Colonel Cutler's explanation was entirely satisfactory to the congressman.

Press Agent Called In O'Daniel Probe

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13. (AP) — Garfield Crawford, Dallas public relations man subpoenaed here yesterday to appear in Washington next Thursday before the Senate committee investigating the W. Solid South To Remain In Demo Column
FDR Gains In Six States Of South; Dewey In One

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 13 — In Institute balloting throughout the 13 states of the South, President Roosevelt has gained in popularity in six states since the latter part of September, while Thomas E. Dewey has gained slightly in one, and the other six show no change.

With the President holding a pronounced lead in virtually all areas south of the Mason-Dixon line, Republican hopes of "cracking" the Solid South do not appear much better this year than in years gone by, except in the case of Oklahoma.

GALLUP

The balloting indicates a Democratic lead in that state, but the margin is slight, the Roosevelt percentage in Oklahoma being only 51 per cent, to 49 per cent for Governor Dewey. In Kentucky, also, the division of sentiment as reflected in the poll is closer than in other parts of the South, with the President polling 55 per cent, to 45 per cent for Dewey.

The following table shows the results of the latest balloting in the South. Percentages apply to civilian voters only, not including the men and women in the armed forces.

The column to the right shows the change in Roosevelt's percentage since the last Institute report published Sept. 24.

	F.D.R.	Dewey	Change in F. D. R. Vote Since Sept. 24
So. Carolina	91%	9%	—1
Mississippi	87	13	+3
Georgia	83	17	+2
Alabama	78	22	0
Louisiana	77	23	0
Arkansas	74	26	0
Texas	74	26	+2
Florida	74	26	+3
No. Carolina	71	29	+3
Tennessee	67	33	+2
Virginia	64	36	0
Kentucky	55	45	0
Oklahoma	51	49	0

The 13 states have a total of 148 electoral votes. Even if the Republicans were to succeed in swinging Oklahoma with its 10 electoral votes into the G. O. P. column, the Democrats would still have a very comfortable backlog of Southern electoral votes. There is a possibility, however, that the 23 electoral votes of Texas may be cast for some other Democrat than Roosevelt, as a result of an anti-Roosevelt political movement in the state.

In addition to today's report on the 13 Southern states, the Institute has released latest figures in 23 other states, making 36 in all.

In these 36 states, Roosevelt was found leading in 19 having a total of 196 electoral votes. Dewey was found ahead in 15 states with 157 electoral votes, and two states, with 21 electoral votes, were found "on the line," each candidate polling 50 per cent of the vote.

A report on the remaining 12 states, and a recapitulation for the whole nation, will be published Sunday.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands: One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

A Lesson From The Enemy

IT would be fitting and proper, we think, as well as productive to the war effort on our home front, if every man, woman and child in the nation could view motion pictures recently shown at the local Army Air fields and also displayed before members of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs.

These pictures, complete with sound, show the people of Japan as they prosecuted their war with China and prepared for Pearl Harbor in the months just preceding December 7, 1941. Graphically, they show how a nation much smaller and much poorer than our own is giving its every ounce of strength to conquest, serene in the belief that the all-out contribution of its people will make up the difference between our natural resources as compared to their own.

The Japs believe, and not without some reason, that the American people will not go all-out for victory.

By putting every ounce of brain, nerve and sinew into their war campaign they believe they can extend the period of conflict to such a length that we will grow weary of contributing to our own national effort and will agree to a negotiated peace. The Japs expect a negotiated peace to strip them of a part of their conquered territory, but they expect, too, to escape with generous portions of it and come out of this war with considerably more land, resources and manpower than they had when they bombed Pearl Harbor. Then they expect to start preparations for another war, another negotiated peace with some resultant gain—and then repeat the process until, perhaps 100 years into the future, they finally reach the pinnacle of world power and prestige.

As former U. S. Ambassador to Japan Joseph Grew points out in the films' narrations, the Japs cannot be measured by any Western yardstick. Therefore, it is not surprising that we Americans cannot understand the sort of phsychology which has gripped Japan to such an extent that its people are willing to fight a series of wars for 100 years, if need be, to gain their goal. Yet the foremost of our students of the Japanese people tell us that the Japs are willing to do just that; in fact have started on a long campaign fully aware of the immensity of their task.

The Morning Avalanche believes showing the films in question to the general public would do two things to aid our war effort.

First, the pictures would convince our people that they should strive to the utmost to bring about Japan's defeat at the earliest possible moment; and,

Second, to convince those weak-kneed among us that when Japan is defeated no terms levied against her can possibly be too harsh.

We Americans, then, have a two-way task in the Pacific. We must whip Japan—crush her as we would a rattlesnake. Then we must make sure she remains fully crushed until such time has passed—and it may take centuries—when her national education has reached the point where she may safely take a place in the circle of nations.

Make no mistake about it, the united willpower of Japan is riveted to the goal of world conquest. The Japs are tough, t-o-u-g-h.

We must be tougher.

It Can't Be Shrugged Off

THOSE who are disturbed over the possibilities of many U. S. hurried wartime marriages smashing up on the rocks of divorce have their opinions strengthened by the appalling domestic upheaval now in progress in England.

According to the London Daily Mail, in a recent transatlantic edition, more than 100,000 divorce cases involving British service men have been ground through the mill since the outbreak of the conflict. Recent demands for martial freedom have grown to such great proportions that the Services Divorce Department of the Law Society has been multiplied from one section to five, in order that petitions may be expedited.

The Daily Mail explains that a special service has been set up, too, to permit front line fighting men to get back to London for short stays in order to facilitate the handling of their divorce cases. Special leaves are arranged and men flown back to the British capital so their testimony may be quickly taken. The paper offers one typical example of the service, in which a soldier left the lines in France and 12 hours later was testifying in his own behalf in a London court.

Whether American divorce courts will be clogged to a comparable extent when Johnny Comes Marching Home, no one today may safely predict. But human nature being what it is, it does not require the brains of a genius to forecast that the post-war years in this country will likely see divorce statistics soaring to an all-time high.

One may, if he chooses, shrug off the probabilities by borrowing from the French, "C'est la guerre."

But no amount of shrugging off will protect this nation from the shock its domestic foundations most likely will receive as the result of martial crashes in the years immediately ahead.

Germany Will Try It Again

By Sigrid Schultz

(Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.)

As an American newspaper correspondent in Berlin from 1919 to 1941, Sigrid Schultz saw at first hand the events that led from World war I to World war II. And she saw the behind-the-scenes preparation for the coming "war-in-peace" that she warns may culminate in World war III. This is the story of Germany's plans to win the peace, plans that even now are being put into effect.

VII

If we are to protect ourselves from Hitler's system we must thoroughly know his technique. There cannot be the slightest doubt that in the period of unrest and revolution following World War II, imitators of Hitler will spring up like toadstools all over the globe. His method seems almost a foolproof way to success for the man who can create enough uncertainty and chaos to make a bewildered people lose all sense of responsibility and initiative.

Soon after the Armistice of 1918, Hitler went to Bavaria to rejoin his regiment, possibly to be demobilized. His first step toward becoming a politician made him that lowest of political tools, an agent provocateur.

As a spy, Hitler first went to the little Bierstube where the Workers' Party met. Munich, the capital of the beer-drinkers of the world, with big and little saloons all over the city, had at least one political faction in every Bierstube. All the factions felt certain that they knew how to handle the problems of the day better than anyone in Berlin—a city to be distrusted anyhow, since it was inhabited by Prussians, whom every stout-hearted Bavarian hates.

Each little faction jockeyed for position with its neighbors, while the local leaders of the German army watched closely, intent on picking the winner for their support. One of their most gifted and daring officers, Capt. Ernst Roehm was in Munich. With the funds of his old regimental purse, which anti-Republican industrialists replenished whenever necessary, Captain Roehm wanted to finance the most promising for the new parties to help him build up a new secret army, a Black Reichswehr.

In an army training course for speakers, Captain Roehm found Adolf Hitler. Spouting his hatred of Jews and Marxists, Hitler scored an instant success with his superiors and his comrades. He was less lucky with the Munich citizenry, until he worked out a technique of promising everything to everybody.

Already Hitler had developed what is known in German initiated circles as his "als ob" or "as if" formula, based on the theory that you must act as if you already had what you wanted. Hitler spoke to the Munich mob as if he were a great political leader. In 1940, he boasted to his aides that he had successfully used this technique all his life. Then he ordered them to take all necessary measures as if Germany were at war with the United States.

When Hitler started out as an orator, anti-Semitism was the fashion of the day in Munich. Russian Communists, employing Russian Jews among their agitators for their knowledge of German, had made it possible for the anti-Semites to claim that all Jews in Germany were Communists. None was more deeply convinced than General Ludendorff, who was then directing the enemies of the Republic throughout Germany.

When Hitler ranted against "Jewish Marxists," his superiors decided that he would please General Ludendorff. They gave him special assignments that could be used to build up a future career.

The German Workers' Party assignment was one of these. A branch of the wartime pan-German Fatherland Party, it had risen from dissolution during the revolution to resume active work in January, 1919. Adolf Hitler went there to spy, and remained to lead. The German Workers' Party before very long became the hothouse of National Socialism. It also the proving ground for the Hitler system.

Who had money? Who had power? Capt. Ernst Roehm controlled the funds of the Black Reichswehr. The German Workers' Party contained a dynamic force malleable to Hitler's purpose.

The little men who ran the Workers' Party welcomed Hitler as a member, but they naturally wanted to keep leadership in their own hands. He flattered this one and that, telling them what great men they could be, if they just gave him a little more power. He had taken care to learn things about each one, and used the information to alienate them from each other in his own interest.

Hitler also pursued Captain Roehm with flattery. And Roehm responded to his glowing admiration. He liked the young soldier's "patriotic fervor and his eloquence, which, even when the grammar was faulty, stirred his listeners." At first the other officers suspected that Hitler was just another abnormal friend of the captain. Then they decided he had merely enlisted the "womanish technique" of all-out flattery. Hitler didn't mind what they thought, as long as he got what he wanted.

Hitler lavished promises both on the Workers' Party and on Captain Roehm. He made himself bold to create the vast secret army and the political machine his protector wanted. To the Workers' Party, Hitler promised many new members. He kept the promise, thanks to Captain Roehm, who ordered the soldiers and officers of his and other units to join the Party, with instructions always to side with Hitler. At first the Party leaders were delighted by the influx of new members. By the time they discovered the newcomers were to be used against them, it was too late.

Commercial Ration Renewals Changed

When commercial motor vehicle operators renew rations, they will go now to the coutny War Price and Rationing board instead of the Office of Defense Transportation. The change became effective Friday.

All commercial operators requiring a certificate of war necessity —those who operate buses, trucks, taxicabs and rental cars—will be affected by the change.

It was pointed out by OPA officials that recommendations on temporary and non-recurring gas allotments for trucks owned by farmers will continue to be made by county farm transportation committees, but will be referred to OPA local board for action instead of the ODT.

Applications for certificates of war necessity or for permanent changes in certificate allotments will be handled by ODT district office as in the past.

DOCTORS, NURSES NEEDED

LONDON, Oct. 13. (AP) — Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass) said today more doctors and nurses were needed in the field to care for the wounded and served notice that upon the return to the United States she would seek congressional action unless the increase came soon.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

WHAT a wonderful law the great State of Mississippi has just passed!

It is a 10-per cent gross proceeds tax on black-market sales.

Hereafter all transactions concerning "tangible property, articles or commodities the sale of which is prohibited by law," will be taxed.

To top off the farce, a "secrecy" clause has been inserted into the statute, providing that information obtained by the tax-collecting agency, may not be released to any other agency, which makes the black-market racketeer immune to prosecution as far as the sovereign State of Mississippi is concerned.

What a farce, what hypocrisy, what a sad reflection on human nature!

I am a firm believer in state rights. They are the fundamentals of our democracy.

But those who want more federal control certainly have a fine argument in this black-market tax.

And yet, come to think of it, doesn't the federal government tax gambling proceeds and all other illegal income, from whatever criminal source obtained?

Weren't Lepke and Dutch Schultz and Al Capone all prosecuted for failing to make income tax returns when they were really wanted for murder and hold-ups and hijacking and many other crimes?

"ALL RIGHT," you'll ask me, "if you are so smart, what would you suggest?"

I would suggest that no one has any right to profit from any transaction which in itself is criminal.

Doesn't Mississippi practically invite people to go into black-market selling by going into partnership with the racketeers?

I don't believe, either, that the federal authorities should prosecute a man for income-tax evasion when the income was derived from murder or theft.

That's a lazy man's way. It proves that the prosecuting officials haven't been alert and efficient enough to prove their case. So they use income tax evasion as a substitute and subterfuge.

What would your friends think of you if for a financial consideration you failed to report a person who has killed someone in your presence?

Well, where is the difference?

It is my firm belief that government behavior should be the same as the behavior of the individual.

What is wrong in one is wrong in 10, 20, or a million.

Just because a man has become a policeman, a judge, a senator, a president, he has no right to a different code of ethics from that of those whom he is to represent, to govern and to protect.

This is still—and I hope always will be—a government of, for and by the people and the governing as well as the governed are part of the people subject to the people's laws.

What the State of Mississippi has done is, in the State of Mississippi itself, a felony.

Let us hope the other 47 states will stay out of jail.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

(Now on tour, surveying political and reconversion situations.)

SPRINGFIELD, Mass.—Private polls and the latest registration figures indicate that Tom Dewey has a good chance to carry the Old Bay state, despite the fact that it has not gone Republican since the 1924 days of its adopted son, Calvin Coolidge. While professional pulse-takers list it as 50-50 or leaning toward President Roosevelt, politicos on the spot suspect that as of mid-October it is about 51 per cent for the GOP Presidential candidate.

In addition to the defection of the Poles, Italians and labor factions elsewhere throughout the Northeast, there is a definite factor that may operate adversely to the administration. The mothers of soldiers, especially the Irish people centered in Boston and certain western cities, are bitter at FDR's failure to keep his "again and again and again" promise not to send their boys to fight on foreign soil.

It is not only because he made that pledge in Boston in an attempt to hold anti-British groups in the 1940 campaign. Much as people may not care to discuss the subject, the sons and daughters of Erin in this section of the United States are not reconciled to the intimate friendship of FDR and Winston Churchill. Nor do they like the military alliance with Stalin, especially as it appears to be reflected in the White House acceptance of Sidney Hillman's financial and political support.

It does no good to say that in at least two of his assurances that we would not participate in an overseas conflict, FDR qualified them with the phrase, "except in case of attack." Nor does it avail to recall Britain's magnificent resistance to Hitler and that, had this Atlantic stronghold fallen, the Western Hemisphere might have been endangered. It is difficult to argue with folks moved almost wholly by their emotions.

Ironically, the recent death of "Al" Smith may cost votes. The passing of the man who carried Massachusetts even in 1928 has evoked unhappy memories of White House differences with the gallant wearer of the brown derby, with James Aloysius Farley "Jimmie" Walker. From his grave the "Happy Warrior" may be a more effective campaigner against "the Old Potato" than he ever was as an open backer of Alf Landon and Wendell Willkie.

QUESTIONS: A newspaper poll in Springfield, which the President took by about 5,000 four years ago, points to a Dewey capture of the state's 19 electoral votes. Forty-nine per cent of those questioned said they would cast their ballots for Dewey, while only 47.2 preferred Mr. Roosevelt. Three and a half per cent were undecided. But the most significant feature of this survey was the startling shift from the majority to the minority camp.

Four years ago 62.2 of these same people were for Roosevelt, and only 37.9 per cent could see any good in Mr. Willkie. This swing away from FDR is said to be typical even in industrial centers where he rolled up tremendous leads in 1940.

WOUNDED: The President had another bad break when the McCarran Special committee to investigate Industrial Decentralization recommended that vast wartime plants in New England and five other northeastern states be closed after the armistice to permit continued operation of rival factories in the West and South.

Not since the Boston Tea party have the men and women of the Old Colony been so inflamed, and this applies also to her sister states. Recalling Mr. Roosevelt's suggestion during the textile disputes with Southern competitors that New England was a "backward area" economically, and frequent proposals for revision of freight rates for the benefit of the South and West, the descendants of colonial pioneers feel that they are the orphans of the present administration.

Here again it soothes no wounded spirits to note that the McCarran body is packed with Democratic anti-New Dealers and Republicans. Unless the President quickly rejects the proposition, the Senate prouncement may be the deciding issue of the 1944 battle. But if he repudiates Nevada Pat, he may alienate voters in the wide open spaces and below the Mason and Dixon's line.

Mr. Roosevelt had a majority of almost 137,000 here in 1940. But he amassed that lead in the Boston area and manufacturing cities like Lynn, Lawrence, Chicopee, Holyoke and Worcester. It is doubtful whether he can duplicate that performance, especially in view of the expected small vote. On the other hand, Mr. Willkie did not do so well in outlying regions. Even the western county of Berkshire went for the President by 7,000.

The record shows that the independent Bay staters are excellent ticket-splitters, So it is probable that, even though Mr. Dewey or Mr. Roosevelt wins, Republican Gov. Leverett Saltonstall will go to the United States Senate, and Democratic Mayor Maurice Tobin of Boston may succeed him on Beacon Hill.

One important question mark is the soldiers' attitude. A surprisingly high number, possibly 25 per cent of 100,000 eligible to vote in the Boston area, had returned their ballots up to October fifth. In a tight contest these supposedly Roosevelt rooters might tip the balance.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE surprise visit of General Marshall and War Mobilizer Byrnes to France is a strong hint that the government expects the war to last beyond 1944.

Two million tough Nazis cling to the West Wall fortifications. There are no signs of serious cracks in the morale of the Reichswehr, of the German navy or on the home front. The rainy season starts in earnest in November; fogs and showers already interfere with General Eisenhower's operations.

What effect will winter have on our stubborn enemies?

The kaiser's civilian subjects revolted because they were hungry. Pershing's veterans remember how frequently Boche soldiers surrendered for that reason. Allied propagandists, pointing to the capture of the Ukraine bread basket and last year's poor potato harvest, guessed that Germany would be starving by October.

But this week one of the world's greatest food authorities told the writer that the Reich is better off this Fall than it was in the best peace year. Warned by 1943 crop failures, Berlin agricultural ministers carried out successfully a program of intensive cultivation. Foreign slave laborers, dragooned in the early Spring have been employed on the farms.

DIET: A year ago when spuds were scarce, the peasants slaughtered their pigs. From a long-range standpoint, this was bad but it added sorely needed fats to the nation's fare. As soon as frosts were out of the ground, a campaign was launched to grow great quantities of rape seed, extraordinarily rich in oil for margarine.

The 1943 grain yield was high and partly offset the loss of wheat from Russian plains. As a result, the bread ration was raised. Individuals and local organizations this year planted cabbages, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower and carrots in home gardens and vacant lots.

In addition to acreage in the Greater Reich, the Nazis still possess satellite fields and dairies in the Balkans and the Baltic. Berlin inspectors in Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia demand fixed quotas from farmers. If anyone holds out all the cows and horses on the place, except one head, are confiscated.

In view of these facts, Germany probably has sufficient provisions in her larders to last until spring. A breakdown in freight facilities will cause local shortages. The chief drawback is that the diet will be unusually monotonous—bread, potatoes and cabbage, bread, potatoes and cabbage, over and over again.

New Ministry Planning To Recreate French Industry

In the last of three articles on "The Birth of a New France," Tom Wolf presents an exclusive interview with Minister of Production Robert La Coste, who will be in charge of the nation's reconstruction program.

By TOM WOLF
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Oct. 13 — Robert La Coste, France's Minister of Industrial Production, believes that only by the most rigid state direction of every aspect of French economy plus nationalization of certain key industries can France succeed in the immense work of reconstruction.

"It is evident that the job cannot be done by private initiative," La Coste told me in an exclusive interview, the first he has given since taking office. "The nation must have in its own hands control of the distribution of raw materials, of credit, of directing workers to industry, and control of imports and exports and of prices and salaries.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM

"THIS war has taught us that the states which survive are those which have taken into their own hands the direction of their economies; and those whose key industries are national property.

"During the four years of occupation the Germans have attempted to make our industry nothing more than a complement to their own and have stolen our machinery. My job therefore is to recreate French industry."

La Coste said that this job involves in part the working out of a plan which will allow the most complete utilization of the sources of industrial energy; in part the production of quality products which will earn good prices; and finally the renewing of France's industrial machinery. Therefore, he believes that the first necessity is the working out of an extremely detailed plan for utilization of France's sources of energy, coal, electricity and fuels of all sorts.

"THE coal situation is going to be serious for a considerable time," La Coste continued. "The mines today can only be worked slowly. The enemy hasn't been able to destroy our mines in the north and Pas de Calais—our principal mining areas—thanks to the engineers and miners themselves. But we lack wood for pit timbers."

It all boils down to the problem of transportation, La Coste said. When the railroads are working, wood necessary to work the mines will be quickly available and will permit the mines to work full speed. But until there is transportation, coal wouldn't be mined, because it couldn't be brought to the factories — especially those generating electricity. Many French industries depend on electricity for production and at present the production of electricity is woefully insufficient.

In the weeks preceding the liberation of Paris the Germans cut all high tension wires except those from Kemps on the Rhine. "We are making every effort to re-establish power lines to Massif Central and the Alps but the problem is magnified by the fact that our materials are extremely worn out," La Coste said. "Our efforts are directed most strongly towards repairing power lines to the mining centers of the north.

SEEK QUALITY PRODUCTS

"ANOTHER factor in our industrial rebirth will undoubtedly be the search for quality products. But it's obvious that quality will have to be intimately connected with a price which is able to compete in world markets. The problem of quality is itself therefore closely connected with a very rigid fiscal policy.

"Finally our industrial machinery is going to have to be completely rebuilt. The success of our plan for starting industry—which governs our industrial rebirth—depends on the rebuilding of this industrial machinery.

"France, passionately devoted to the liberty and dignity of humanity, wants to assure every one the right to participate in reconstruction. France wishes to create a new economy at the service of the nation—an economy which will permit France to regain her place as a major industrial nation.

"While working towards these goals France in the immediate future is going to mould all her energies in the most effective fashion to the war effort of the Allies."

FINE WISCONSIN HOLSTEIN CATTLE FOR SALE

Within the last two years, we have brought in 135 head of producing young Holstein cows from Wisconsin.

This herd has been carefully culled down to 100 top-notch producers. They have been here long enough to be thoroughly acclimated, are Bangs vaccinated and are big healthy cows, 100% sound in every respect. We believe that they are the finest non-registered Holstein herd in Texas. Each cow is individually priced and you can purchase any number. We are streamlining our daily production operations and are giving up this leased place and will concentrate on the breeding of Guernseys and the production of Golden Guernsey milk on our own original Guernsey farm.

We invite your inspection at the dary, located 5 miles north of Grapevine. Turn north at Oxford's filling station on northwest highway.

If you want high production and good foundation stock, you cannot afford to miss this opportunity.

BUYERS PREFER SPECIALTIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—Buyers again preferred specialties in today's stock market while many leaders failed to attract speculative or investment attention.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was unchanged at 55.5. Transfers of 683,595 shares compared with 717,150 Wednesday.

At peaks for 1944 were Telautograph, ahead ⅜ in the wake of a 10-cent dividend, first since 1941 when 5 cents was paid; Electric and Musical Industries, also helped by a dividend; American Locomotive common and preferred; Lima Locomotive and Pressed Steel Car.

On the upside were Chicago and North Western common and preferred, Colorado and Southern common and first preferred, Kennecott, U. S. Steel, Chrysler and Allied Chemical. Losers included N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Woolworth, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse, General Electric and Johns-Manville.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Allied gains in Germany and a report that Lloyd's of London had given the equivalent of four to one odds that the European war would end before Nov. 1 caused a flurry of liquidation in the final minutes of grain trading today and futures prices broke sharply.

At the close wheat was 1⅜ to 1¾ lower than Wednesday's finish, December, $1.63⅜@1.63¾. Corn was off 1⅛ to 1¼, December $1.12. Oats were down ⅜ to ¾, December 63⅜@63½. Rye was off ⅛ to 1⅜, December $1.06⅛@1.06¾. Barley was ⅛ to ½ higher, December $1.03⅜.

A&M Veterinary Head Succumbs Suddenly

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 13 Dr. H. L. Van Volkenberg, 51, head of A. and M.'s department of veterinary parasitology, died today.

He became ill while at his office and died a few hours later at his home.

A graduate of Cornell, he had been an A. and M. faculty member since 1937. Previously, he was engaged 16 years in research work for the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He spent 11 years in Puerto Rico.

Survivors include his wife and a son, John, with the Army Air corps in the Pacific.

Dr. Van Volkenberg was the third A. and M. staffer to die within two weeks. The others were G. W. Orms, whose funeral was held here today, and Dr. J. C. Ratsek.

Dowdle Funeral Set Here This Afternoon

Funeral services for J. B. Dowdle, 59, Lubbock dairyman, who died Friday morning as a result of a paralytic stroke, will be held at Rix chapel this afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

The service will be conducted by Guy N. Woods, minister of South Side Church of Christ.

Dowdle is survived by his widow; a daughter, Mrs. J. W. Bittis of Amarillo, and two grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be J. H. Heffington, Marvin Peel, R. E. Gunn, George Hunter, Lee J. Sanders and Archie Carver.

Western Front

made 11 miles east of Aachen from positions four miles beyond Stolberg, indicating that the drive on the Rhine may be about ready to resume. Slow and steady progress was made in Hurtgen forest southeast of Aachen.

Both Allied and Axis sources referred to activity in the Geilenkirchen area 12 miles north of Aachen. A German military commentator said the American troops had been concentrated there "possibly for a grand-scale assault" on the flat lands of the Rhine.

The Canadians along the sea clearing out the Schelde estuary approaches to the port of Antwerp gouged out gains in bitter fighting on the estuary's south banks.

Bridgehead Widened

Their comrades to the south, widening the perilously slim bridgehead across the Leopold canal, fought into the outskirts of the village of Eeede nearly a mile from the canal, and cut the main road to the Dutch city of Aardenburg, two miles farther north.

The Germans were reported hurrying up reinforcements in an effort to rescue an estimated 11,000 of their comrades who have been cut off by the Canadians from escape by land from their imperiled positions on two Dutch islands in the Schelde.

In northern France, the U. S. Third Army was locked in hand-to-hand combat with the Germans in Meizieres-Les-Metz, six miles north of Metz, but there were no developments elsewhere on this front.

The U. S. Seventh Army to the south seized four villages in driving to within 12 miles of Schluchtpass, 28 miles north of Belfort, and had the city of Le Thillot, 15 miles north of Belfort, hemmed in from three sides.

Smoke Overhangs City

There was yet no word that the Americans who yesterday cleared a northeastern suburb of Aachen had joined in the attack on the main section of the city.

A great smoke pall hung over the city, but observers on the edges still could see the spire of Aachen cathédral, where Charlemagne lies.

The first American units found the Germans willing enough to surrender. In their first batch was a lieutenant who received the American ultimatum to surrender earlier this week.

Some civilians who came out of the ruins said German officers forbade them to leave the city. It was estimated that no more than 10,000 of the 165,000 population remained behind.

Meanwhile, Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' artillery, with close support, administered a merciless beating to strong reinforcements who moved in from the northeast in an attempt to obey Adolf Hitler's orders to "chase the terrorist bandits off German soil."

Called Madman Tactics

"They have moved against us in broad daylight," a high-ranking officer said, "and no man in his right mind would attempt such a thing unless some idiot ordered him to attack."

The enemy rushed immediately into battle on arriving at the front, but artillery, fighter bombs and rockets drove them back before they could reach the American infantry outposts.

Dive bombers caught one force of tanks hiding in some woods and plastered the area, while artillery pin-pointed a heavy movement of armor on a secondary road near Rohe, six miles northeast of Aachen.

The shift of German troops from Holland to this front apparently meant that the German high command figured the situation around Arnhem had eased.

Lt. Lawrence Culkin Killed In Action

Lt. Lawrence P. Culkin, whose wife and child live with her parents on the Levelland highway, was killed in action Sept. 27 in England, according to information received here Friday.

Lt. Culkin, a pilot of a B-24, was graduated from Lubbock Army Air field Dec. 13, 1942. He had been overseas since May.

His wife, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bush, received the War department notification at St. Louis, where she and their seven-month-old son had gone several weeks ago to visit Lt. Culkin's mother, Mrs. Josephine Culkin.

News Briefs

An all-school party for Lubbock Senior High school students was held Friday night in the gymnasium under sponsorship of the Student council. There were dancing, games, a variety show and a boxing match. There was music by Nell Anthony, Roberta Niblack, Pat Naylor, Charlotte Baliss, Milton Butler, Joe Arrington, Earl Lockhart, Billy Felty, and Jim Lowrey. George Etz and Gerald Davis boxed.

A former Lubbock county boy, Pvt. J. R. Buddy Wilson, is a prisoner of war in Germany, said a postal card received by Glen Moore of route 3, Levelland. Pvt. Wilson's parents live at Paducah. He was engaged in farming east of Lubbock before going into the Army. He was a paratrooper and was captured in Sicily.

Services for Homer Townsend, whose body is expected to arrive this afternoon from Rogers, Ark., probably will be Sunday, Rix Funeral home announced. Townsend, a former Lubbock resident who moved to Rogers several years ago, died Tuesday in a Fayetteville, Ark., hospital.

W. E. Bogart, 45-year-old Lubbock man, was charged Friday with drunken driving. He had not furnished bond, the sheriff's office said last night. Bogart was arrested by highway patrolmen.

Forty-eight members of the American Business club, sponsor of the Boys club, Friday night were entertained at the club house. The ABC members were taken on a tour of inspection of the building and watched 241 members of the Boys club participate in tumbling acts, stunts, dodge ball, pyramid-building and boxing. Sandwiches and cold drinks were served. John W. Wilson, Boys club director, made arrangements for the event.

A delegation of seven members of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce will attend a regional Jaycee conference Saturday in Amarillo, according to Clifton Cummings, local Jaycee president. The delegates will be Ray Blackwell, Weldon Gibbs, George Atkins, Vernon Peters, Ralph Wyatt, Curtis Cheaney and Glenn Woody. Clint Dunagan of Midland, state president, and several other state officials are expected to attend the conference, Cummings said.

The USO center, 1211 Thirteenth, after two Saturday nights without an orchestra for its regular weekly dances, will offer tonight "Pappy" Burnbaum and his South Plains Army Air field Swing-Combo, it was announced by Miss Loena Gelin, USO director. The Levelland American Legion post and auxiliary will bring refreshments and serve as host organization for the night. Hubettes who have been asked to attend are requested to bring old clothing from two families besides their own for a rummage sale to be conducted to obtain funds to finance entertainment at the center, Miss Gelin said. The DFD, Texas Tech social club, was announced as this week's hostess organization for the regular Sunday afternoon party, from 2 to 6:30 o'clock.

Woman Hides Baby To Bring Husband Closer

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP)—A 20-year-old mother hid her year-old baby in a vacant lot last night and spread an alarm of kidnapping, police Lt. William Ryan said today, because she believed tragedy would draw her husband closer to her.

The mother, Mrs. Valerie McMinis, was held for a psychiatric examination. The child, Juanita, was found by police suffering frostbite on its hands and legs after eight hours of exposure. Hospital authorities said the girl probably would not suffer permanent injury.

STIMSON CHANGES VIEWS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP) — Secretary of War Stimson, who objected on military grounds last spring to legislation calling for the United States to use its influence to open the doors of Palestine for free entry of Jews, said today that the military factors have lost strength and political considerations now should govern.

District Club Boy Hog Show Set Today

Fourteen FFA and 4-H club boys from seven West Texas counties will compete for prizes in the district Sears-Roebuck swine show, to be held in the Texas Tech judging pavilion at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The swine entered are the champion boar and gilt from earlier contests in each of the counties. Prizes will be four registered Jersey heifers, presented by Sears-Roebuck Co. through their local store; three of which will be awarded to the exhibitors of the top three gilts, and the fourth to the best boar entry.

Boys showing gilts are Irvin Himmell of Crosbyton, FFA; E. P. Wicker of Post, 4-H; J. B. Farris of Plainview, FFA; John Morton of Levelland, FFA; John H. Powell of Littlefield, 4-H; Billy Joe Evans of Shallowater, 4-H; and Owen Schneider of Wilson, FFA.

Exhibitors in the boar class are Billy John Fletcher of Crosbyton, FFA; Bill Fumagalli of Post, 4-H; L. D. Ballard of Plainview, 4-H; Eddie Hart of Anton, FFA; C. D. Martin, jr. of Sudan, 4-H; Duane Preston of Frenship, 4-H; and Alvin Limmer of Wilson, FFA.

There will be a luncheon at the Hilton hotel at 12:30 o'clock, today for exhibitors, advisors, and parents.

require living under combat line conditions day in and day out—to remember that it's impossible to write up there and that a reporter must take notes and then come back where he can write with at least a little perspective.

None Of These Help

None of these things helped. And if that guy from back home had been there I don't think it would have helped him to remind himself that after all it isn't his fault he is not fighting in a foxhole, too.

Suddenly I was ashamed of my clean shaven face. Viciously and unreasonably I wished my olive drab shirt and pants were not so obviously clean and fresh. I wanted to shout, damn it, I just had a bath and put them on this morning. But you can't shout answers at eyes when the grimly closed mouths under them won't unlock long enough to put the questions into words.

That new pair of warm combat boots I had been so proud of began to hurt my feet. The fact that I had been sleeping in a fairly warm place on recent nights suddenly seemed something to be ashamed of, although I knew that any one of these guys would have done the same if they could.

Still nobody spoke. Nobody made even the least unkind gesture. Nobody even looked particularly accusing. But I walked out and all the way back to my quarters I kept trying to explain and analyze my feeling. It seemed like shame or guilt but it wasn't. Finally I decided it was the inescapable realization of my indebtedness to these guys.

And the only reason why the whole thing is worth writing about is that I think that, even if that guy from back home had been doing everything in his power to help win the war, he still would have been filled with a sickening doubt that he ever will be able to repay those guys.

Blows In Pacific

oiler; 25 small ships.

Probably sunk: 10 small ships; one minesweeper.

Damaged: eight cargo ships; one medium landing ship; one light minelayer; ten small ships.

Aircraft downed—23; destroyed on the ground—59; damaged on ground—37.

Announcing that American losses "were comparatively light—eight planes in combat" the communique left room for the possibility of some operational losses due to typhoon conditions which make carrier plane duty hazardous.

The previous Ryukyu communique said only "there was no damage to our surface ships and our plane losses were light."

With the Ryukyu and Luzon revisions, the four days of carrier strikes there and on Formosa resulted in the sinking or damaging of 140 Japanese ships and more than 87 small craft and the destruction of from 525 to 530 airplanes.

American plane losses in those three actions totaled 53. No American ship losses were listed.

(Adm. Sankichi Takahshi, commander of Japan's Kure naval station, speculated this and other carrier attacks pressaged operations "for the recapture of the Philippines" but he also told the Japanese people possible landing attempts on Formosa and in the Ryukyus were not to be overlooked. The Federal Communications commission recorded the Tokyo Broadcast.)

The communique added that organized resistance ceased in the southern Palaus on Thursday, with Peleliu the last of the little cluster of islands east of the Philippines to be conquered.

Small resistance pockets remain on both Peleliu and Angaur, however.

Meanwhile Marine Corsairs ranged over Babelthuap in the northern Palaus where an estimated 25,000 Japanese are cut off, through American control of the western Pacific, from all homeland aid.

Evangelist's Death Ruled Accidental

OAKLAND, Calif., Oct. 13. (AP)—The death of Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson in her hotel room here last Sept. 27 was caused by "an accidental overdose" of sleeping tablets, a coroner's jury decided today after hearing medical testimony.

Dr. Mary Ruth Oldt, pathologist of the Western Laboratories of Oakland, who examined the stomach contents, testified the evangelist died "of shock and respiratory failure due to overdosage of a barbital compound" and a kidney ailment.

Coroner Mark L. Emerson inquired whether the death could have been accidental.

"It could," Dr. Oldt replied. "A person could get in such a state of forgetfulness that he may not remember how many he has taken of these pills."

There was definite evidence of a kidney disease, Dr. Oldt testified, "and the effects of such a compound as she evidently took would make this kidney condition more serious."

TITO OPPONENTS PROTEST

LAAF, 'Raiders' Tangle Tonight

The Lubbock Army Air Field Fliers, still rated among the top notch service teams in the country, and Dick Crayne's Beaumont General Hospital Raiders tangle tonight in Tech Stadium in a game that promises to provide plenty of fireworks for football hungry fans.

The tussle is the only major grid contest in the city this weekend and a big crowd is expected for the game which gets under way at 8:15 o'clock.

Raiders Have Stars

Almost as soon as they hit the city Friday afternoon, the visitors who hail from El Paso, began working the kinks out of their legs. They profess to be undazzled by the national recognition recently given the Fliers when sports writers began rating them over such college teams as Northwestern and Marquette.

As a matter of fact, the Raiders have quite an all-star team lined up themselves. Although the boys from the big convalescent hospital gat a late start this year they boast a backfield equal to any seen here to date. In addition to Crayne, who dazzled the nation's football fans not so long ago as the running mate to Oze Sommins at Iowa University, the Medics also have Kelly Kellams, one of the best service team backs in the country last year when he played with Camp Grant, and Buck Boyd, who was largely responsible for putting Mississippi State back in football headlines.

LAAF In Good Shape

The LAAF club should be in near top form. Only at center will they be without the services of first string men, although Bobby James and George Shook may not see much action. Buster Dixon, mainstay of the Fliers' attack, will be at his usual fullback post and his running mates probably will be Jimmie Williamson, Jack Kelejian at the right half spot and George Castle at left half. Tommy Nichols also has been showing up well in the ball toting ranks.

The starting lineups:

Tech Plays Tulsa Tonight With 12,000 Seen For Tilt

By BEN FUNK
Associated Press Sports Writer

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 13—Texas Tech's flashy T-style offensive will collide with a rock-bound defense that has yielded only 21 yards to the rushing attacks of two opponents when the Red Raiders meet Tulsa's Golden Hurricane tomorrow night.

Kansas gained a net total of seven yards in thrusts through and around the big Hurricane lines in dropping a 27-0 decision last Saturday. In the season's opener, the North Texas running game accounted for only 14 yards as Tulsa racked up a 47-6 triumph.

Coach Henry Frnka, declaring the raiders "will be the most aggressive team we've faced", concentrated on defense against Tech's variety of T formation tricks in the week's practice sessions. He pronounced the team in good physical condition.

Frnka and Tech's Coach Del Morgan are former schoolmate and close friends but that doesn't affect the strong rivalry between the two schools which started in the 1942 Sun Bowl game. Their friendship ceases for 60 official minutes each year as the Tulsa and Tech teams try to bash each other out of the stadium.

Tulsa Holds Edge

"Nobody would enjoy beating me more than old Dell," Frnka said. "He'll have some tricks that have had "Tulsa' written all over them since last fall. We'll have to be on our toes."

Tulsa holds a 2-0 edge in the series with Tech, winning the Sun Bowl game, 6-0, and tromping the Raiders, 34-7, last season. The Hurricane was favored to walk away this one, too.

In three previous games this season, Tech has dropped close ones to Texas A. & M. and the Oklahoma Aggies, and Lubbock Army Air fields .

A crowd of 12,000 is expected to be on hand for the opening kickoff at 8 p. m. Skelly stadium.

Probable starting lineups.

Meadow Cops 20 to 13 Game Over Abernathy

MEADOW, Oct. 13. (Special)—Scoring twice in the first quarter and once in the second, Meadow defeated Abernathy 20 to 13 here this afternoon in a District 1-B tilt.

It was Meadow's second conference victory, and Abernathy's second loop loss.

Joel Locke took a long heave from Pete Hobbs for Meadow's first counter. Grabbing a blocked punt, Jack Barnes ran 40 yards for Meadow's second touchdown. The home team scored in the second when Locke plowed one yard through center.

Abernathy marked in the second when McMaster tossed a pass to Lambert for 40 yards and a touchdown. McMaster cracked the Meadow line for another score in the fourth.

Olton Wins Close 6-0 Tussle Over Muleshoe

MEADOW, Oct. 13. (Special)—Olton's Mustangs took a hard fought 6 to 0 decision over Muleshoe's Yellowjackets here this afternoon in a District 5-A battle.

With players for both teams shinning the game developed into one of the best played here in several seasons. Muleshoe cameout on top in first downs, 10 to 6, with both clubs tied on penetrations at one each.

Outstanding for the winners were Gullet and Ball, while Clements, Renfrow. St. Clair and Farrel were the stars for Muleshoe. Jack Ed Cummings, Olton, suffered a broken leg in the first quarter.

Southland Team Runs Over Wilson, 60-7

SOUTHLAND, Oct. 13 (Special)—Southland High school's six-man football team ran roughshod over Wilson here this afternoon to the tune of 60 to 7.

Mack Field of Southland scored four touchdowns; Sims three; Bobby Field one and Jackson one.

Thurston scored the lone Wilson touchdown.

Denver City Is Winner, 12-0

TAHOKA, Oct. 13.—Coach Wilson Head's Denver City Mustangs turned on the pressure for one quarter, struck for two quick touchdowns, then coasted to a 12 to 0 victory over Coach Leo Jackson's Tahoka Bulldogs here tonight before the biggest crowd of the season.

The first period was a punting duel with neither teams offering a threat. On the last play of the first quarter, Denver City took over on its own 41 on a kick. On the first play, Tate backed up and heaved the ball far down the field to Terrell who outran the Bulldogs the rest of the way. Tate's kick for extra point was wide.

A few minutes later, Edwards fumbled a Denver City kick, and the alert Terrell bounced on the loose ball on the Tahoka 16 yard line, and on the next play, Groom circled end for the touchdown on an end around play. The try for point was blocked.

La Vaughn "Seabiscuit" Caraway picked up the kickoff, to start the second half, on his own 8, fell in behind some beautiful blocking and roared to the Denver City 9, but there the Mustangs stiffened and smothered the advance, taking over on the 8.

Denver City kicked out to its own 42, and Tahoka roared right back for another threat, Barrington and Miller sparking a drive to the Denver City 8 for a first down. Again the red suited Mustangs smothered the attack, and took over on the 4 yard line, and that was the ball game.

Harnsberger, Steety and Terrell were the outstanding stars in the Denver City stands upon their goal line, and played some of the greatest ball ever seen on the Tahoka gridiron.

Hodges, Dorman and J. T. Miller were the outstanding defenders for the blue clad Bulldogs, and played a great ball game all the way. The game was even closer than the score indicated with the Caraway, Wayne Miller and Billy Barrington combine rolling up six first downs to three for the Terrell, Harrison, Tate combine of the Mustangs.

Spur Blanks Matador For 27-0 League Win

MATADOR, Oct. 13. (Special)—Spur's hard hitting Bulldogs scored once in the first quarter, twice in the third and once in the fourth frame here tonight to take a 27 to 0 game over Matador in a Conference 4-A contest.

Halfback Draper paced the scoring for the winners, running for two of the Spur tallies in the third stanza and adding the fourth in the final quarter. He added all three extra points after his touchdowns. Rumfield, after catching a pass, dashed almost half the length of the field in the initial quarter for the first Spur tally.

Slaton Ekes Out 12-6 Contest Over Sudan

Slaton, Oct. 13. (Special)—Slaton broke a tie in the last minute of play here tonight to chalk up a 12 to 6 decision over Sudan in a non-conference game.

The Sudan club hit paydirt in the opening quarter when Lynch found Bellar, an end, with a 30-yard heave that spelled six points. After this first touchdown, the two clubs settled down to a nip and tuck battle until the third quarter when Slaton came back early in the period.

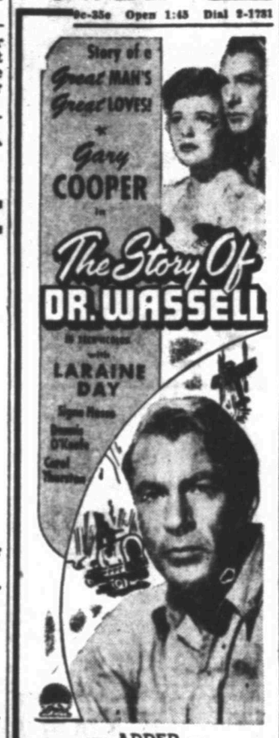

Slaton recovered a blocked Sudan punt on the visitors' 30 and after two plays, Bevis Hannah passed to Grady Elder 20 yards for a tally. In the last minute of play, Dwayne Walters climaxed a 30-yard downfield drive by plunging over for the winning touchdown.

Dupre Wins 22 To 0 Game Over Sanders

The Dupre Dokies won a decisive 22 to 0 contest over the Sanders' Steers Friday afternoon in the schoolboy touch football campaign under way in the city.

All three Dupre scores came on passes with Norman Lindsey tossing the oval to Dick Lowrey for three touchdowns. Jerry Blackburn blocked a punt behind Sanders' goal for an automatic safety and two more points and John Tatum tackled William Price behind the Sanders' double stripes for another safety and two more points.

The game was the first meeting between the two teams.

LINKSMEN COME THROUGH

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 13. (AP)—R. N. "Bob" Nix, two-time champ from Dallas, and Clarence Kraft, former home run king with Fort Worth in the Texas Baseball league, advanced into the 18-hole final of the Texas Golf association's golf tournament at the Country Club here today.

Both golfers won quarter-final and semi-final matches and will play for the championship of the eighth annual event Saturday.

Littlefield Wins Over Levelland, 19 To 13

LEVELLAND, Oct. 13. (Special) — Littlefield's untied and undefeated Wildcats stayed that way here tonight in winning their fourth straight Conference 5-A game with a 19 to 13 victory against a strong Levelland team.

Scoring first then coming back strong after Levelland had threatened and scored in the second quarter, the Wildcats managed to score again in the second and third, then halt a late Levelland rally for the win.

The visitors struck paydirt in the first quarter when Billy Lyman, quarterback, found Homer Peel, left end, for 30 yards and a tally. Buster Owens added the extra point by conversion. Arden Powers, plunged four yards for Levelland's first touchdown in the second quarter, but Littlefield came right back with Peel intercepting a pass to put the Wildcats ahead again.

In the third, Lyman again took to the air and connected on a short heave to Oscar Arend, Littlefield halfback, who galloped another 50 yards to score. Levelland came back strong in the fourth period and managed to push another counter across when Powers slashed off tackle and went 30 yards to score. Blount passed to McMillan for the extra point but it wasn't enough and the Littlefield boys rolled on. Levelland led in first downs, 9 to 7, and yardage, 170 to 133.

Andrews Wins Over Seagraves Club, 18-6

ANDREWS, Oct. 13.—Andrews High school won an 18 to 9 thriller over Seagraves High here this afternoon by putting on the pressure in the last half to score two touchdowns.

Seagraves scored a safety in the second period to reach the halftime on the short end of the 2-6 score. Andrews powered the ball over in the third quarter for a more comfortable lead, and another touchdown was added in the fourth. Just before the game ended, Billy Adams took a 15 yard pass from Harding and ran another 15 for the final Seagraves score.

Sundown Team Bests Whiteface, 26 to 6

WHITEFACE, Oct. 13 (Special)—Sundown's six-man football team scored four touchdowns to Whiteface's one to gain a 26-6 victory over the locals but it took three goalline stands by the visitors to prevent a closer score.

In the first quarter, James Matlock of Sundown took a 25-yard pass from Ruel Neugent and ran 25 yards more for the first score. Sundown kicked off to Whiteface, the locals fumbled and two plays later, Matlock ran another 25 yards around right end on a reverse for the second score. In the second quarter, Neugent gathered up a fumbled Whiteface lateral and ran 30 yards for another touchdown. The fourth score came as Matlock caught Warren Holder's short screen pass.

Whiteface scored in the third quarter when Allen Lamb, big 6-foot, four-inch Whiteface end took a pass from Quarterback Dale Thoms.

Petersburg Defeats Ropesville, 26 To 0

PETERSBURG, Oct. 13. (Special)—Petersburg scored twice in the second quarter and two more times in the fourth period here this afternoon to chall. up a 26 to 0 decision over Ropesville in a Conference 4-B contest.

Three more Petersburg touchdowns were called back. Petersburg led in first downs, 13 to Ropes' 4.

Scoring the four tallies for the winners was Billy Neal Eves, Leroy Kelly, Rayburn Mason and Ralph White. Mason and Kelley each added one extra point apiece by running.

Weldon Fraley, 17-year-old Ropesville player, suffered a broken leg in the fray. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital in Lubbock, where a cast was placed on the leg, and was released.
