'Draft Stevenson' Trend Of Convention Growing

SENATORS WITH RUSSELL

California Rocked By Quake; Nine Are Killed

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21 (AP)—An amateur radio message received here said at least 12 persons were killed by today's earthquake in the town of Tehachapi, in Southern California.

Almost all buildings collapsed, the report said. The hospital had to be evacuated.

The town is the site of the California women's prison, which has about 400 inmates.

NEED DOCTORS

Sheriff's Capt. F. D. Jones in Bakersfield, nearest major city to the quake's center, said: "It looks like there must be many injuries."

Two tunnels, used jointly by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads were blocked by caveins, Jones reported.

He added that the situation on the main highway between Bakersfield and the desert town of Mojave, which goes through Tehachapi, was so bad that ambulances and sheriff's cars were trying an old road through the hills.

One report to the sheriff's office said "the whole town of Tehachapi is down."

The quake was felt generally through much of California, from San Francisco south to the Mexican border and inland into Nevada.

Its strength in this century is topped only by the San Francisco quake in 1906. But in terms of damage and loss of life the Long Beach quake of 1933 was far worse. It killed more than 100 and causes 40 million in damage. And the 1925 Santa Barbara quake killed 11 and caused 10 million loss.

Seismologists said only the fact that today's shock centered in the lightly-populated mountains kept the toll from being much heavier.

AQUEDUCT

Concern was felt at first for the Los Angeles aqueduct, which passes not far from the damaged area bringing water from the Sierra Nevada to this city of 2 million. But patrols said there appeared to be no breaks in the big line. In Los Angeles there were no reports of loss of life, but many windows were broken, transformers blew up causing power failures, nine street mains were broken and 13 primary electrical circuits were knocked out.

Western Red Cross headquarters was told today the quake had rendered Tehachapi women's prison untenable.

A call went out for tents to be used to house penitentiary personnel and prisoners.

The report came from Douglas R. Sims, manager of the Bakersfield chapter of the Red Cross, who said he got his information from the sheriff.

The ridge route, (U.S. 99), main inland highway between here and San Francisco, was closed by a towering earth slide, which the State Highway Patrol reported was 25 feet high at one point.

"The whole top of a mountain seems to have slid off," said one patrolman. The slide occurred near Gorman, and officers were rushed into the area to try to untangle the traffic.

This would seem to put the quake on the rambling San Andreas fault, scene of most of California's severe quakes. San Andreas cuts through the mountains near Gorman.

Thachapi, a town of about 3,000 population, has only a few stores and its biggest building is an old three-story hotel.

Stevenson Says Principles Not Personalities, Are Issue

CHICAGO (AP) — Adlai Stevenson, with talk of drafting him as a presidential nominee buzzing about the Democratic convention, told delegates today the party will never apologize for its 20th century leadership.

"Who leads us is less important than what leads us," the Illinois governor said in a prepared welcoming speech.

PRINCIPLES COUNT

"What counts now," he said, "is not just what we are against but what we are for. . . . A man doesn't save a century or a civilization, but a militant party wedded to a principle can."

"I hope our preoccupation here," he said "is not just with personalities but with objectives. . . . What America needs and the world wants is not bombast, abuse and double talk, but a sober message of firm faith and confidence."

Stevenson counseled that Democrats must not deny their errors or make excuses "where we have wronged the public trust." Then he added:

"But we will never appease, nor will we apologize for our leadership in the great events of this critical century from Woodrow Wilson to Harry Truman!

"We glory in these imperishable pages of our country's chronicle."

Stevenson went to the rostrum at the opening convention session amid growing draft-Stevenson sentiment. Former Sen. Scott Lucas of Illinois said, "We're definitely going to draft him."

Shortly after Lucas' prediction last night, a "personal choice" poll of the 70-vote Pennsylvania delegation was topped by Stevenson with 32 votes.

"NO. NO"

Stevenson told the 60-vote Illinois delegation that "I just don't want to be nominated for the presidency." But Joseph L. Gill, chairman of the Illinois delegation, said last night, "He didn't say he would not accept a draft."

Gill said he believes Stevenson's name will be placed in nomination.

Stevenson could not turn down the nomination if it were a legitimate draft and if he agreed to the party platform," said Jacob M. Arvey, Illinois national committeeman.

He believes Stevenson would accept a "genuine" draft. That means, he added, a draft that would not be "contrived" by a few leaders but one that would develop among a great number of delegates.

Newsmen asked Stevenson if he would accept a draft if the convention deadlocked. He replied:

"You'd have to show me the deadlock first."

The Illinois delegation recessed its caucus without endorsing any candidate.

This strategy apparently was aimed at having its Stevenson votes handy for use if and when a draft developed for the governor.

WAS TOO OLD YESTERDAY

Barkley Again Declared By Union Leaders to Be Too Old

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—Union labor leaders who called Vice President Alben Barkley too old for the Democratic presidential nomination said today their attitude was unchanged after a long breakfast session with the 74-year-old Kentuckian.

A group of 10 union leaders had scrambled eggs and coffee with the vice president in Barkley's Blackstone Hotel headquarters. They were the same group who yesterday said Barkley was too old for union labor to support him.

Two of those present at the breakfast told a reporter they felt the same about Barkley after the breakfast. They asked not to be identified but said there may be a joint AFL-CIO statement later in the day.

"We had a very friendly meeting with Vice President Barkley," one said.

"We told him we had a great deal of admiration and respect for him but explained union labor could not support him. We gave our reasons and I think the vice president understood. We parted friends."

Meanwhile, AFL President William Green—who also is 74 years old—said in a televised interview that "Mr. Barkley has always been a friend of labor."

This was taken to be a kind of blessing for Barkley on the part of the AFL's top man. However, other and younger AFL union officials insisted, as did CIO leaders, that neither labor group intended to extend support to Barkley.

George Harrison, AFL vice president who got out a statement yesterday pronouncing Barkley too old, was not among those attending the breakfast.

Locations For Kent Wildcats Are Announced

Locations have been announced for two new Kent County wildcats.

One will be drilled by Newman Brothers Drilling Co. and Crane Oil Co. of Texas as the No. 1 Bill Wyatt.

It is 467 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of the N.C. Barnett survey in Block B, public school land survey, about 14 miles northwest of Clairemont. It is about three miles northwest of the Salt Creek field. Contract depth is 7,500 feet, with operations to begin at once.

Chapman & McFarlin Producing Co. will drill the other test as the No. 2 D. M. Cogdell, Jr. It is 635 feet from west and 1,930 feet from north lines of section 775-97-H&TC, about 22 miles northeast of Snyder. It is to drill to 5,000 feet starting immediately.

NO. 1 GANNAWAY

Hurndall & Gray No. 1 Ida Gannaway, Southeast Scurry Ellenburger prospector, is now at total depth of 7,480 feet in Ellenburger and circulating while waiting on orders.

The project has reported two drillstem tests in the Ellenburger. Recovery on both tests was slightly gas cut mud with no shows of oil or water. No shows of production have been reported in any of the upper zones.

Top of the Ellenburger was at 7,355 feet. Elevation is 2,284 feet.

The No. 1 Gannaway is in the southwest corner of section 89-3-H&TC, north and east of Humble Oil No. 1 James Davidson an Ellenburger producer.

FISHER COUNTY

General Crude Oil Co. No. 3 Ralph Colling, outpost to the Claytonville field in Fisher County, is drilling below 3,030 feet in shale and lime.

Bay Petroleum Corp. No. 1 Cooke, six miles south of Sylvester, is drilling below 5,142 feet in lime and sand. It is projected to 6,000 feet to test the Ellenburger.

OTHER TESTS

El Capitan No. 1 Daugherty, Kent County wildcat 12 miles northwest of Clairemont, is drilling in lime and shale below 4,345 feet.

Union Oil No. 1 William D. Loggie, 15 miles northwest of Gail in Borden County, is drilling below 3,110 feet in anhydrite and lime.

No End Seen To Deadlock

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—United Nations and Communist armistice delegates met in secret for only 20 minutes today and adjourned without any apparent break in the protracted deadlock over exchange of war prisoners.

They scheduled another executive session for 11 a. m. tomorrow (9 p. m. Monday EST) at Panmunjom.

In a letter the Communists requested accounting of 101 Chinese soldiers the Reds say are held by the Allies, but whose names were not on POW lists turned over by the U. N. Command.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols will be succeeded tomorrow as U. N. Command spokesman by Lt. Col. Joseph J. Borchert, Salt Lake City, chief censor of Gen. Mark Clark's Far East headquarters.

Nuckols is reassigned as Air Force public information officer in Tokyo.

A veteran newsman said Nuckols' departure from Panmunjom after sitting through 10 months of truce talks means "there isn't anything going on."

GOP Chairman Resigns At Harmony Meet

DALLAS, July 21 (AP)—Orville Bullington resigned today as chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee.

His resignation came at a "harmony" session here to iron out differences between Taft and Eisenhower supporters.

INTERIM CHIEF

Carlos Watson of Brownsville, committee secretary, was unanimously elected interim chairman to serve until the Aug. 26 GOP state convention. A permanent chairman will be picked then.

Bullington, of Wichita Falls, entered his resignation after leaders of both factions pledged a united drive to elect Dwight Eisenhower president and to make Texas a two-party state.

Bullington keynoted the meeting with a speech of amity, then called upon the two foremost leaders of the warring factions to make "their confessions of faith."

Last 2 Rallies Set This Week

The third in a series of political rallies being sponsored by the Snyder Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held at 7:45 tonight in the Ira High School football stadium.

John H. Boren, chairman of the rally committee, will be master of ceremonies. The Fluvanna Fence Jumpers will be there about 7:30, to entertain while the crowd gathers, Boren said.

The final rally will be held at the Snyder High School stadium at 7:45 Thursday night. Candidates for all county offices, including all four commissioners' precincts, have been invited to speak at the Snyder rally.

Absentee Vote Exceeds 200

A total of 201 absentee ballots had been cast in the Democratic primary election by 10 o'clock this morning.

Applications for absentee ballots had been received from 304 persons, 103 of whom had not yet voted. Deadline for absentee voting is midnight tomorrow. Those voting absentee must do so in person at the county clerk's office before it closes tomorrow noon or have their ballots postmarked before midnight tomorrow.

Performers Injured In Rodeo Improve

Dan Utley of San Angelo and Jimmy Pippin of Albany, who were injured while riding in the Scurry County rodeo, were reported in good condition today at Battenfield Hospital.

Utley suffered a spine injury when he was thrown from a saddle bronc and trampled in the Friday night performance. Pippin received a broken leg Thursday night.

Bill Davis of Plateau, who also received a broken leg in the Thursday night show, was dismissed from the hospital Saturday afternoon.

Strong Winds, Dust May End Tonight

Strong winds, blowing sand in the southern part of the county, are expected to continue through today, the Big Spring weather station reported. A low pressure area moving in from the Northwest will probably put a stop to the winds late this evening.

A few scattered thundershowers are predicted for this area, with relief from a rising temperature seen only where local showers fall. The high reading in Snyder yesterday was 97 degrees, with a low of 71 and a reading of 74 at 7:30 this morning.

IS HE CAMPAIGNING?

Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois shakes hands with a couple of boys at the airport when he landed in Chicago to take part in a Democratic National Convention which hears him continually deny that he is a candidate for any office but the governorship of his own state. The boys, both nine, are Henry Koznbowski and Richard Wenzielewski of Chicago.

Riots Force Iran Premier To Quit

TEHRAN, Iran, July 21 (AP)—Premier Ahmed Qavam resigned tonight after violent hours-long rioting in Tehran and other cities subsided. He gave up, after two days, his attempt to form a government pledged to solving Iran's oil deadlock.

TEHRAN, add Lead Iranian

killed in the bloody rioting. No official reason was given for Qavam's quitting but apparently he acted to stop bloodshed.

As news of Qavam's resignation spread crowds began marching towards the residence of former Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

Today's fighting broke out when a crowd of some 2,000 persons tried to storm the Parliament building.

At least three persons and perhaps more were killed when government forces fired into a crowd of 2,000 trying to storm the Parliament Building.

MANY INJURED

Countless numbers of demonstrators were injured or arrested. Troops charged into surging crowds with fixed bayonets, leaving bloody injured behind.

"Death to Qavam," the mobs shouted wildly, venting their fury at the new Premier's declaration that a settlement of Iran's long and crippling oil dispute with Britain would be a chief aim of his regime.

Southerners Show Little Enthusiasm

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, July 21 (AP)—The Democrats opened their 31st national convention today and gave a roaring ovation to Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the man who says he doesn't want the party's presidential nomination.

Cheers roared up from the delegates packed into this big arena when the Illinois chief executive took the podium for what ordinarily would be a routine welcoming speech.

Draft Stevenson Sentiment

It was plain that "draft Stevenson" sentiment ran strong among many of the men and women who by next Friday will pick a man to contest with GOP nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower for the nation's top office.

The applause ran for six minutes and was calmed finally by a request from Chairman Frank E. McKinney of the National Committee for the delegates to restrain their enthusiasm and let the convention get on with its business.

Most of the Southern delegates—backing Sen. Russell of Georgia for the nomination—remained in their seats during the standing ovation for Stevenson.

Stevenson got another big hand at the end of his speech. The Illinois delegates waved their banners and some of them shouted, "We want Stevenson."

Delegate Issue Postponed

But as the convention got off to a start, the whole prospect as to candidates and platform was highly uncertain.

The sectional war over civil rights had threatened to break out at this opening session in a scrap over seating rival delegations from Mississippi and Texas. But convention leaders put the issue over for at least 24 hours by a program shift.

Then shortly after the session got underway some convention officials said there seemed to be a good chance the fight might be settled in committee and thus kept off the convention floor.

These officials told a reporter Southern leaders were "considerably more conciliatory today than they were yesterday."

Conference Scheduled

Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., told a reporter he has agreed to meet with National Chairman Frank McKinney shortly after today's session to discuss a proposed rules change. Roosevelt said he will represent the forces of Averell Harriman and Sen. Estes Kefauver.

McKinney said he hoped the matter could be settled within committee.

One southern leader who asked not to be quoted by name, said if the proposal to require an affirmative statement by the credentials committee on the loyalty of seated delegations remains in its present form and applies only to Texas and Mississippi, it might not be too objectionable.

Southern Applause Light

While some of the Southern delegations stood up, few applauded when Stevenson made his appearance.

WEATHER

EAST TEXAS AND SOUTH CENTRAL TEXAS: Partly cloudy Monday, Monday night and Tuesday. Not much change in temperatures. Moderate southerly winds on the coast.

WEST TEXAS AND NORTH CENTRAL TEXAS: Partly cloudy Monday, Monday night and Tuesday with widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers. Not much change in temperatures.

Bethlehem Settlement Vetoed By Industry, Murray Charges

PITTSBURGH, July 21 (AP)—President Philip Murray of the CIO United Steelorkers charged today that the steel industry repudiated a strike settlement which he worked out with officials of Bethlehem Steel Corp. last June 17.

Murray told the USW's 170-man Wage-Policy Committee that President Charles White of Republic Steel previously had urged the steel companies to accept suggestions made by White which Murray thought could have led to a settlement.

The Potent Wage-Policy Committee as called together to hear Murray's report on the 50-day walkout which has idled more than 1,500,000 and to give the union chief some guidance on future strategy.

The committee heard Murray say that negotiations with Vice President Joseph M. Larkin of Bethlehem and Bethlehem counsel John Morse produced a "memorandum of understanding" in which the steel company executives "substantially accepted the union shop."

Murray said Larkin and Morse took the memorandum before the other major producers with the understanding that would press for its acceptance.

Murray said that on June 20, the Bethlehem steel men returned and "both expressed considerable disappointment that the other steel companies had refused to accept what they believed to be a solution of every aspect of this situation."

Murray added:

"They stated they had been repudiated and told us they felt a deep sense of humiliation."

Murray said that on June 9, President White of Republic made several union shop suggestions which might have been a basis for settlement but the industry refused to consider them and White disappeared from following negotiation meetings.

The union shop requires membership in the union as a condition of employment. As outlined by Murray, White's proposal would have allowed employes to withdraw from the union after a stated time.

Turning to the most recent White House prodded negotiations held during the past week end with Larkin and Vice President John A. Stephens, of U. S. steel, Murray said:

"Again we discovered there was no hope of any satisfactory settlement of the various items."

The committee gave Murray a rousing welcome as he walked into the hotel meeting room. It was doubtful the committee would do anything to end the crippling nationwide strike.

It might also ask Murray to take a new position on a contract, canceling out any tentative agreements reached between Murray and industry in recent weeks.

Both parties reportedly agree on a wage package which is likely to total around 25 cents an hour, a cent less than the Wage Stabilization Board's recommendation.

And despite contradictory reports from Washington in recent weeks, industry seems confident it will get permission to raise steel prices about $5 a ton once it and union agrees on a new contract.

If nothing comes from Murray's closeted session with his Wage Policy Committee today, the government may decide to move ahead with a plan to seize a small number of plants under the 1948 Selective Service Act.

The act permits seizure under certain emergency conditions. It would apply to mills producing steel for such defense items as bullets, tanks, etc. Workers in affected plants presumably would be barred from striking against the government as temporary operator of the mills.

Snyder Car Showrooms Nearly Empty, Strike Cuts Supplies

The steel strike has pinched off delivery of new cars to dealers in Snyder, who depend largely for the success of their businesses on sale of new cars.

"We have not had any new cars or trucks delivered to us this month," Wade Pipkin, owner of the Wade Pipkin Motor Co., Ford agency, said.

Pipkin's statement could be applied to almost all other new car dealers here.

LOW SUPPLY

H. E. Hickman, manager of Lamb Chevolet Co., said that his firm still has a few trucks on hand, but that their supply of new cars has long been depleted. The last carload of new cars Lamb Chevrolet received was shipped July 2, the day before the Chevrolet plant shut down because of the steel strike.

"We don't know when we will get any more new cars, either, Hickman said.

Marcene Holt manager of Pollard Motor Co., Chrysler-Plymouth agency, said that his firm anticipated the car shortage and bought new cars from other dealers in an attempt to out last the strike.

"We still have a few new Chryslers and Plymouths on hand, but we will be out soon if the strike continues," Holt said.

NO CARS ON HAND

R. B. Sears, owner of R. B. Sears Motor Co., Oldsmobile, Cadillac, and GMC truck agency, said he still has a few new trucks, but no cars.

"Anybody's guess is as good as mine about when new cars will start coming through to the dealers again," Sears said.

All the dealers interviewed told the same sad story about delivery of new cars, and all agreed that the price of clean used cars has risen slightly because of the shortage of new cars.

"There has been a slight increase in the price as well as the demand for good clean used cars," Pipkin said.

Most of the dealers said delivery of new cars to their showrooms would take from five weeks to two months after the steel strike is ended.

The Chrysler Corp. has informed its dealers that it would take at least three weeks to get production started after the steel strike is over, and shipment of cars from the factories requires another two weeks, Holt said.

"So even if we got the first new cars off the assembly lines after the strike is over, it would be five weeks before they were here," Holt said.

"Another sad note is that we will probably not get the first cars off the assembly line, because there are about 10,000 Plymouth dealers in the county," Holt added.

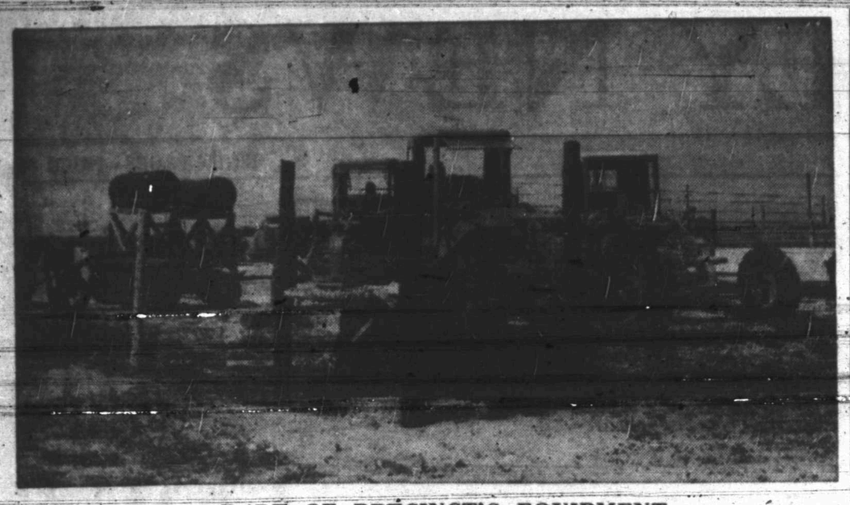

Even the delivery of new replacement parts is beginning to be slowed by the steel strike," Com Ezell, owner of Ezell Motor Co., Dodge - Plymouth and Dodge truck agency, said.

Ezell said that a few new pickups and trucks are still being delivered but that they probably would be stopped soon if the strike lasts.

J. B. Davidson, manager of Lee Motor Co., DeSoto - Plymouth agency, said they have one new Plymouth on the floor, and no prospects of replacing it when it sells.

"Both the price and demand for good clean used cars is up with us, too," Davidson said.

A. W. Pierce, owner of Pierce Motor Co., Studebaker dealership, said delivery of new Studebakers to his showroom has been cut off most of this month, with no prospect of relief soon.

PART OF PRECINCT'S EQUIPMENT

The equipment yard for county commissioner precinct No. 1 is located next to the home of Walter H. Grant, commissioner, in Northeast Snyder. Some of the precinct's equipment includes the three maintainers, dump truck, tractor and rotating broom shown above. The precinct also has two pickup trucks, two flatbed trucks, one water truck, and two other dump trucks.—(Staff photograph).

Fleets of Maintainers, Trucks Kept for County's Road Work

Equipment owned by the county and held by the four commissioner precincts for road building and maintenance is valued at many thousands of dollars. Sufficient for all types of common road maintenance and most construction jobs, the equipment includes 13 road maintainers, or motor graders, a fleet of 15 dump trucks, eight pickup trucks, two flatbed trucks, two water tank trucks, one track type bulldozer, two small tractors, two cement mixers, two power shovels, one rotating broom, and one automobile.

The county government operates its road maintenance program by precincts, each having its own equipment and hired hands to operate it. Occasionally one precinct may borrow a certain type machine from another if it has no such machine of its own or if an extra one of its kind is needed. For the most part, however, each has sufficient equipment to handle its maintenance problems.

Some of the equipment is owned jointly by two precincts, and two machines are owned jointly by all four. One of the latter is a track type bulldozer. The four together also own a rotating broom for sweeping a roadway or spreading gravel, etc.

Precinct No. 1 and precinct No. 4 jointly have a power shovel, often referred to as a caliche loader. A similar machine is owned jointly by the other two precincts. The two cement mixers are likewise owned jointly, one belonging to two precincts, the other to the other two precincts.

Walter Grant, commissioner of precinct No. 1, listed this precinct's equipment to include one small tractor, three maintainers, three dump trucks, one water truck, two pickups, and two flatbed trucks. Precinct No. 2, with Commissioner Cullen Toombs, has a small tractor, three maintainers, four dump trucks, a water truck, and two pickups. Ted Haney said precinct No. 3 had three maintainers, five dump trucks, two pickups, and a car. Precinct No. 4 has four maintainers, three dump trucks and two pickups, Doyle Parmer said.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Boren, 1810 Thirty - eighth, and three daughters returned Tuesday from a five-day trip to Ruidoso and Cloudcroft, N.M. They returned by way of Albuquerque. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bullard and sons, 3606 Avenue V, joined the Borens in Ruidoso for the week end.

Truman Still Mum on Choice

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—President Truman was at his desk at the White House today for the first time in more than a week. And his press secretary took the occasion to swipe at the unending string of rumors dealing with Truman's position on Democratic politics.

The President spent three days last week at the Army's Walter Reed hospital, undergoing a series of tests as a result of a mild virus infection that had been plaguing him. He left the hospital Saturday.

Meanwhile, rumors were flying between Chicago and Washington as to just what Truman would do in regard to the Democratic National Convention, opening in Chicago today.

Here's what press secretary Joseph Short said of the rumors:

"I'm not going to comment on any of them."

And, he added:

By that, Short meant that some of the rumors were so exclusive they could never be substantiated. The idea was that most of them weren't true.

Short said the President still plans to attend the convention and speak after a presidential nominee is chosen, and that he plans to go to his home town of Independence, Mo., to vote in the Democratic primary there Aug. 5.

Air Force Says More Sky Watchers Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force says the first week of round-the-clock skywatch operations by volunteers was successful — but more persons are needed if the gaps in the nation's radar net are to be plugged successfully.

An estimated 70,000 to 80,000 volunteers last week reportedly spotted hundreds of planes flying too low for radar to detect.

Glenn Lewis Only West Texan In Race For Supreme Court

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series on candidates for major office in Saturday's Texas Democratic primary. Tuesday: retirement of Congressmen Combs and Pickett, Beckworth's decision to run for U. S. Senate, gives East Texas three multiple-candidate congress races.)

By TIM PARKER
Associated Press Staff

Only two state supreme court races are in contest in Saturday's Texas Democratic primary.

There is one contest for a place on the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin. And voters will have choices to make for spots on the civil appeals court at Galveston, Dallas, Amarillo, El Paso and Waco.

Here are the candidates:

Spurgeon H. (Soud) Bell, 44, Houston lawyer. Born at Gatesville, son of late Holland Bell, former chief supervisor of the oil and gas division of the State Railroad Commission. Bell's public office record—two years as assistant district attorney for Harris County, two as first assistant city attorney for city of Houston, three as state's attorney before court of criminal appeals. Has tried cases before Texas and U. S. Supreme Courts.

R. A. Stout, 52, Waxahachie, a district judge 14 years. Born in Ellis County. Public office record—former assistant county attorney of Ellis County, member of Texas House of Representatives, Ellis County judge, Ennis city attorney, assistant Texas attorney general. During 14 years as district judge at Waxahachie he has served as visiting judge in 30 other counties.

Glenn R. Lewis, 50, San Angelo, former district attorney and former assistant Texas attorney general. Only West Texan in the race. Born in Limestone County, studied at old Trinity University, Waxahachie, and University of Texas, a Navy officer in World War II. Served three terms as district attorney at San Angelo, three years as assistant attorney general.

Frank P. Culver, 62, Fort Worth. Culver practiced law 14 years in Fort Worth before being elected district judge in 1928. An associate justice of the Fort Worth Court of Civil Appeals since Jan. 1, 1951. Culver's 24 years of court experience was interrupted only by three and a half years of service during World War II.

Supreme Court, Place 2:

Graham B. Smedley, 72, incumbent seeking second elective term, former member of the court's Commission of Appeals. Specialist in land, water, oil and gas law, was an assistant attorney general for five years under Ben F. Looney beginning in 1913. Calls Fort Worth home, also practiced law in Midland, Austin and Wichita Falls.

Robert Bruce Keenan, 61, Gladewater. An attorney. Keenan ran fourth in a four-man race for Supreme Court in 1950, says court procedure needs simplifying and that East Texas should be represented on the court. Keenan came from Oklahoma to East Texas in 1931.

Court of Criminal Appeals (Incumbent Tom L. Beauchamp retiring)

Jesse Owens, 57, Vernon, now district judge, a lawyer for 25 years. Former Foard County judge, 46th District district attorney, and an assistant state attorney general. Appointed to district court in 1949 and elected to full term in 1950. An unsuccessful candidate for Appeals Court in 1946.

Kenneth J. Woodley, 59, Sabinal and Austin. A commissioner to the Court of Criminal Appeals since 1950. Uvalde County attorney for four years, district attorney there for ten years, district judge for 13 years. Making his first statewide race.

Court of Civil Appeals

First District (Galveston)—Incumbent George W. Graves, 79, Houston, who has been on the court since 1917, seeking re-election. Edgar C. Soule, 65, also of Houston and Graves' only opponent, formerly was with the U. S. diplomatic service.

Fifth District (Dallas)—Joel R. Bond, 71, now chief justice of the court, seeking re-election. On court since 1932, former district judge at Terrell. Opposed by District Judge R. J. Dixon, 54, of Dallas, who has been on the district court bench since 1937 except for service.

Seventh District (Amarillo) — Associate Justice James G. Lumpkin not seeking re-election. Candidates are E. O. Northcutt, 61, Amarillo, former member of the Oklahoma legislature, former Potter County judge; Joe S. Moss, 41, Post, former county attorney of Garza County; Hal D. Houston, 53 Amarillo, a former Oklahoma lawyer, and Harry Bunnenberg, 51, Vernon, a practicing attorney.

Eighth District (El Paso)—Two candidates for post being vacated by Associate Justice C. R. Sutton of El Paso are both former district judges and district attorneys —Alan R. Fraser, 48, Alpine, and Henry Russell, 59, Pecos. Fraser is a former Alpine city attorney.

Campaigners For Russell In High Gear

CHICAGO (AP)—Campaigners for Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, discounting Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson as a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, shifted today into high gear.

"I think Stevenson is definitely out of the race," Russell's campaign manager, Sen. Edwin Johnson of Colorado, told reporters.

Johnson added that he feels whatever support Stevenson has "is more for a holding operation than a bonafide draft."

Russell, after 13 speeches to delegate groups and three television appearances yesterday, planned to continue today without a letup.

The Russell guns were trained chiefly on candidates Averell Harriman and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. But it was well known in the Georgia camp that the man most feared by Russell forces was Vice President Alben W. Barkley.

Russell still stuck to his statements that he would get 300 votes on the first ballot and pick up gradually. Forecasts around Russell quarters were that he would win after about 10 ballots.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

Copperheads, gila monsters and porcupines are closely connected with the favorite hobby of Mrs. A. G. HUDDLESTON, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. LEONARD WHITE, Lamesa Highway.

Just thinking of these small creatures makes chills run up our spine, but Mrs. Huddleston uses such snakes and animals as targets to practice - marksmanship. She has hunted in many parts of California, Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado. How did the hobby start?

"I reared seven children and worked hard, then after I married Mr. Huddleston 14 years ago, I decided it was time to take it easy. So about nine years ago, we started hunting," she recounted.

Judging from her activity here, she has done everything but "take it easy." She has pieced and quilted four quilts. When she grew tired of sitting at the quilt frame, she loaded her .22 rifle and shot at lizards, flashing in and out among the bushes around her daughter's home.

MYSTERIOUS REPTILE

During a lizard hunt recently she saw a blotch of yellow, brown and gray hidden in a bush. She almost disregarded the incident, thinking she had seen a quilt scrap which had been swept out of the house. On closer examination she discovered the "quilt scrap" moved. She took aim and grazed the spot of color.

When she could slow it down with another shot, she took a closer look. Nowhere had she seen such a reptile—if reptile it was.

"At first glance I thought it was a Tennessee copperhead, then I remembered copperheads have slender necks and rather pointed hears," she said. She could associate the reptile with nothing she'd encountered in the western states.

Her daughter called in friends to see if the curiosity could be identified. One woman thought it was a mud dog, but Mrs. Huddleston, who had seen plenty of mud dogs in her native Tennessee and in Kentucky, discounted this idea. Two boys pried the reptile's mouth open and found fish-hook-like fangs.

"They weren't like rattler's fangs, either," Mrs. Huddleston said. Then the onlookers discovered the nameless monster had two feet about six inches from the tail. "And the upper lip had a shell-like spoon," Mrs. Huddleston added. She's hoping some student of reptiles can identify the strange creature, since she is sure it has a mate hidden somewhere around the house, and she believes the species to be poisonous.

PREFERS FISHING

Actually, Mrs. Huddleston says she likes fishing better than hunting, "because I can beat my husband at fishing." The two thought they would find streams to fish around here, Mrs. Huddleston laughed. She particularly likes deep-sea fishing.

For her Annie Oakley-like pursuits, she chooses a Craig deer gun as her favorite. She also uses her .22 often, and her third gun is especially for birds. She explained how the bird gun had to be plugged, since game laws prohibit shooting more than three quails, pheasants or ducks at one time.

The hunter says she's never had an accident in her years of hunting, but she admitted she'd been scared alone in the woods, when it was uncertain whether bear or elk would run toward or away from her. She and her husband often hunt in the wild country in Colorado. When they reach hunting grounds, they agree on a meeting place, and then each goes to a different part of the canyon or woods.

WEAR RED CAPS

"We usually hunt about one-fourth of a mile apart, and we always wear bright red coats and caps so we won't mistake each other for game," she explained. Neither she nor her husband uses hunting-dogs. They also look with disdain on duck calls and other mechanical gadgets designed to lure game.

"We always carry one empty cartridge with us. In case I want to summon my husband when we're separated out in the woods, I blow into the cartridge," she said.

Mrs. Huddleston is well acquainted with the out-of-doors and says she is happiest when she has on big boots and other hunting paraphernalia. She has killed bear, deer, elk, antelope, rabbits, squirrels, turkeys and a multitude of birds and smaller game, but she never eats the meat.

Mrs. Huddleston is no slacker when it comes to cleaning the guns, either. Her husband cleans his guns and leaves her guns strictly up to her to care for. She never uses a shoulder guard or fancy equipment to load her down.

Traffic Deaths, Drownings Lead In Violent Death Toll

By The Associated Press

A hot July week end and its resultant drownings pushed the violent death toll in Texas to at least 18.

In the count beginning at 6:30 p.m. Friday and ending at mid night Sunday, there were four drownings, seven traffic deaths three fatal shootings, a fire death one fatal stabbing, an electrocution and a hanging.

The most recently reported included:

Jose H. Molina, San Antonio, was dead on arrival at a San Antonio hospital Sunday night after he had been stabbed once in the heart. Police said the stabbing occurred in a street fight.

Deborah Trimble, two-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Trimble of Wichita Falls, drowned Sunday night when she strayed from her yard and fell into a neighbor's swimming pool. A nurse in whose care the child had been left by Deborah's vacationing parents, was talking on the phone when the tragedy occurred.

Mrs. Mary Evelyn Stefens, 35, Beeville, was fatally injured six miles north of Stockdale, in the San Antonio vicinity, when her husband's pickup truck struck a horse. She was dead on arrival at a Seguin hospital.

W. H. Hope, 62, Dallas, was found hanged in the back yard of his home Sunday morning. Police said Hope left two notes for his family.

Jessie F. Gibson, 35, Longview fireman burned to death Sunday while fighting a blaze which destroyed a one-story furniture company building. It was the worst fire in Longview since 1948.

Three children were killed Friday night in a headon automobile collision near Cleburne. Their parents Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hudson, Fort Worth, and four other persons were injured seriously. Killed were Dianne Hudson, 9; Hames Hudson, 10, and Judy Hudson, 5.

Billy Fred Haddock, 11, drowned Friday night at Eagle Mountain Lake near Fort Worth while attending a picnic.

Nine-month-old Hollis Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Perry, Lufkin was electrocuted Saturday when he brushed against an outside electric drop cord while playing on rain-soaked ground.

Leo Rios, 52, San Antonio taxi cab driver, was fatally shot Saturday as he sat in his cab in Brackenridge Park in downtown San Antonio. His fare, a man who identified himself as Jerry George Adrian, Newark, N. J., was charged with murder.

James Acklin Jr., 4, died in Dallas Sunday of injuries received Saturday night in a traffic collision at Seagoville, Dallas County.

Mrs. Douglas Cavett, 32, Gladewater, and her 12-year-old nephew Bobby Pope, drowned Saturday night while wading in the Sabine River, about two miles south of Gladewater.

Elaine King, 4, died Saturday night when the car her father, Airman 1-C Cecil King, Lackland Air Force Base, was driving overturned near San Antonio.

Willie Lee Allison 38, Monticello, Ark., Negro, was shot to death Saturday night in the home of his former wife, Mrs. Bessie Lee Vaughns, in San Antonio. Officers said Allison had just been released after serving a short jail term for assault on his ex-wife with a dangerous weapon.

Gilberto Dominguez, 22, of Pecos was fatally shot in Pyote Saturday night. Officers jailed a 29-year-old Pecos man.

Jesus Faz, 63, was killed Saturday night when struck by a car on the outskirts of Sanderson.

U. S. Cargo, Passenger Fleet Getting Smaller

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's active cargo and passenger fleet has shrunk from 1,520 ships last Jan. 2 to 1,098 on July 1 — a drop of 28 per cent, the National Federation of American Shipping reported yesterday.

"The present threat of another world war points up the acute shortage of commercial passenger-carrying ships," the federation said. The passenger ship total, including the new SS United States, amounts to 51 ships of 15,623 capacity compared with 123 of 37,741 in 1939.

The sharp overall 1952 decline in the merchant marine was brought about mainly by reduced foreign aid exports, which reduced by 411 the number of government-owned ships operated by private shipping lines.

Program Set Up For Post-Attack Planning

WASHINGON (AP) — The Defense Production Administration has set up a "post-attack production staff" to plan the rebuilding and operation of bombed-out plants in case of enemy attacks.

The DPA, announcing this yesterday, said William J. Hoff has been named head of the new unit. Hoff was former director of the technical assistance program under the Marshall Plan.

Hoff was ordered to put into operation any part of the preparedness plans which can be carried out in advance. This includes dispersion of factories.

Baseball Gets Priority On Television Station

CLEVELAND (AP) — What's more important baseball or politics?

Television station WXEL announced it would carry both the Democratic convention and the Cleveland Indians' home stand this week.

But in case of a conflict, the Indians get priority.

Barkley Maps Fatiguing Day

By A. P. BRYAN

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Alben W. Barkley, the senior entry in the Democratic presidential sweepstakes, got another chance to prove his stamina as the big convention opened today.

The 74-year-old "Veep" mapped a busy day to be climaxed by a trip out to Convention Hall for the night session. He is a delegate-at-large from Kentucky.

Even before he wound up a round of television appearances yesterday with a final telecast just before midnight, he scheduled a tight program of campaign activities for today.

A man who says he never gets tired, Barkley's starter was an early morning breakfast conference requested by 10 AFL and CIO leaders.

The labor union spokesmen said yesterday their organizations cannot support Barkley because of his age.

Following the labor parley, the vice president set aside 45 minutes for conferences with members of his staff, including his campaign manager, Sen. Earle C. Clements of Kentucky.

During the rest of the day, he faced photographers, radio broadcasts and possibly additional television appearances.

In between, the vice president planned conferences with delegates who might be influenced to vote for him on the first or later ballots.

Clements said last night he hopes Barkley will win the Democratic nomination by the third ballot.

Federal Outgo Is Twice As Big as Income

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—Uncle Sam is spending twice as much as he is taking in these days. In the first two weeks of this month the treasury ran behind by two billion dollars.

The financial district thinks the treasury will soon be borrowing more money—possibly seeking four billion dollars from corporations as a sort of advance payment on next March's income taxes.

Under the impact of defense and other spending the federal debt has hit 263 billion dollars, eight billion higher than a year ago. And the government has borrowed six billion dollars in "new money" since April.

July is always a bad month for the treasury, of course. Tax collections are slow, while government agencies start to spend funds appropriated for the new fiscal year.

But this July's two billion dollar deficit in two weeks compares with a one billion deficit a year ago, when the Korean War was only a year old. This double - time into debt shows how defense spending is now really hitting its stride.

The treasury has tried various means of meeting this deficit. The total of a 91-day treasury bills has been increased by 1 billion dollars. A disappointing non-marketable bond issue brought in 318 million. A popular marketable bond issue last month brought in 4¼ billion.

The treasury hopes its more liberally termed savings bonds will coax money from the public, which was cashing in more of the old style savings bonds than it was buying.

The treasury may next turn to tax anticipatory bonds, a form it has used before. These are sold to corporations, who have to save money for months to meet their tax bills. By buying the bonds, they get some interest on the cash they are laying aside. And then in March they turn the bonds into the treasury for the taxes due at that time.

Hot Dry Days Are Forecast

By The Associated Press

Another day of hot weather—dry except widely scattered showers in north central and western portions of the state—was due in Texas Monday.

The weather bureau expected another day of near-normal summer heat to follow Sunday's high temperatures which ranged from 103 at Presidio downward into the 80s.

Sunday showers were light and far apart and at 4:30 a.m. Monday there was no rain and little cloudiness over the state. There was what the Weather Bureau called early morning cloudiness in Central Texas, but elsewhere the skies were clear.

The cool air mass that stalled Sunday on a line across Central Colorado and Nebraska apparently lacked enough force to move into Texas.

Temperatures at dawn ranged in the seventies across the state. They were to rise until almost dark.

Summer was back.

Bobby Lynn Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Taylor, Big Spring highway, has been sent to Fort Sill after being inducted into the army Wednesday.

Howard Campbell of McCamey was a visitor Saturday in the home of his sister, Mrs. L. B. Dennis, Clairemont Road.

Three Farm-Born Men Running For State Agriculture Chief

(Editor's note: This is the fourth in a series in candidates for major office in the July 26 Texas Democratic Primary. Monday.

By TIM PARKER
Associated Press Staff

Hottest race among those seeking to become a member of the Texas governor's official family is the three-way contest for agriculture commissioner.

Three men, all farm-born and with experience in agricultural administration, are on the ballot which Texans will mark in next Saturday's statewide Democratic primary.

They are incumbent John C. White of Austin, formerly of Wichita Falls; Walter McKay, Fredericksburg, and Billy E. Beard, College Station.

Two Are Unopposed

State Treasurer Jesse James of Austin and Comptroller Robert S. Calvert of Austin are unopposed. But there are contests, some of them heated, for lieutenant governor, attorney general, land commissioner and railroad commissioner.

Here are the candidates:

Agriculture commissioner

John C. White, 27, the "giant killer" of the 1950 election who defeated the late J. E. McDonald, commissioner for 20 years until then. A tall red-headed native of a Clay County farm, son of a tenant farmer, White worked his way through Texas Tech at Lubbock, won his degree in agriculture, and then taught vocational agriculture at Odell, Tex., and later at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls. Campaigns for orderly farm marketing, pure seeds, and soil and water conservation.

Former Department Worker

Walter McKay, 46, Fredericksburg, stock farmer and radio station owner, formerly with the Texas Agriculture Department for 22 years during which time he became familiar with office functions. Born and reared on Caldwell County farm, graduated from San Antonio High School, and studied at Baylor University before becoming employed by the State Agriculture Department. He accuses White of inefficiency, "destroying" the pink bollworm plowup program in the Valley, and of being guided too much by the federal government.

Billy E. Beard, 34, farmer and rancher, born on a rice farm in Jefferson County, studied in Liberty High School and Texas A&M College. After Air Force service during World War II Beard returned to farming and his A&M studies. Only Texas Aggie in the race, Beard quit as appraiser for the veterans land program to enter the contest, campaigns for employment of more competent personnel, better use of farm and ranch products, soil and water conservation.

Lieutenant Governor

Ben Ramsey, 48, San Augustine, is the incumbent lieutenant governor seeking his second term. Ramsey served two terms in the Texas House of Representatives and two terms in the State Senate before being appointed secretary of state by the late Gov. Jester in 1949. He resigned to enter the 11-man race for lieutenant governor in 1950. Won in the run-off primary.

Frank Hessbrook Morales, 51 Austin funeral home operator. Morales has not made a statewide campaign. Morales paid his $600 filing fee in $1 and $5 bills and has limited his vote-seeking to personal contacts, principally in Austin. Wants higher pay for teachers and state employes, repeal of the motor inspection law, and equalization of old age pensions.

Attorney General

John Ben Shepperd, 36, Gladewater attorney, popular speaker, former president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce who quit as secretary of state (an appointive post to which Gov. Shivers named Shepperd) to seek the attorney generalship left open by Price Daniel's campaign for the U. S. Senate.

Curt Stiles, 37, Dallas attorney with eight years of civil and criminal law practice, opposes Shepperd. Oklahoma-born, Stiles is a Southern Methodist University law school graduate. He pledges an honest and economical administration.

Railroad Commissioner

Bascom Giles, 51, Austin, land commissioner since 1938, long identified with Texas' fight for title to its tidelands. Giles was employed in a minor post in the general land office shortly after graduating from high school in Austin. Giles says experienced hand is needed to supervise the permanen school fund which has grown from $56 million to $190 million under his administration, and the university permanent fund, up from $27 million to $140 million in the same period.

Guy Patterson, 46, Eastland real estate man and former car dealer there, opposes Giles. He claims oil and gas leases from state-owned lands should bring about three times more than they do into the school funds and that the Veterans Land Board should be reorganized.

Railroad Commissioner

Olin Culberson, 65, incumbent and chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission whose principal function is to regulate oil and gas production. Former Hill County Judge, Culberson has served two terms on the commission, formerly was its director of production. He pledges efforts toward greater industrialization of Texas through use of natural gas.

Joe Laird, 34, Houston, is seeking Culberson's post. Born in Polk County, Texas, Laird was graduated from high school in Houston, studied petroleum engineering and geology at Texas A&M and University of Oklahoma, has several years' experience as a practicing petroleum engineer. He quit as associate professor of petroleum engineering at A&M to make his campaign. Pledges better secondary recovery program, more attention to butane fuel industry, conservation of natural gas, improvement of the state's production proration formula.

Year-Round Air Conditioning Promoted By Manufacturers

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP) — Complete year-round air conditioning of a new home at no extra cost may be just around the corner, say equipment manufacturers.

They hope to be able to show that you could offset the cost by taking advantage of savings in construction that would be possible by designing a house specifically for air conditioning.

Cloud Wampler, president of the Carrier Corp., says, "It's something we're trying to evaluate," along with future savings in costs of redecorating and keeping draperies, rugs and furniture clean.

With air conditioning the home owner could save money by leaving out windows that added little or nothing to the view from the inside or the appearance from the outside. He wouldn't need them for ventilation.

"There would be no need for screens, ventilating devices or storm windows," Wampler says.

Also, another possibility of saving money would be to omit a breezeway, screen porch or other place designed especially for keeping cool. You could keep cool better inside.

Meanwhile, what appears to be a boom in complete year-round air conditioned houses has started.

Among the first was a 210-home development in Dallas, Tex., equipped by General Electric, with the air-conditioned homes selling in the $12,000 bracket. GE estimated the added cost for air conditioning at about $1,000. Another similar 125-home project has been started there.

Carrier is furnishing equipment for a project of 500 air-conditioned homes in Kansas City, selling in the $15,000 to $17,000 class. The added cost of the air-conditioning equipment is estimated at $1,240. Another similar project is at New Orleans.

Eva Peron's Condition Reported About Same

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Eva Peron, gravely ill wife of Argentina's President Juan Peron, was reported holding her own early today after rallying slightly over the week end.

A medical bulletin at 1 a. m. said there was no change in her condition in the last 24 hours. Fears had been expressed for her life Friday after she took a turn for the worse in her nine-month illness.

Yesterday thousands of organized workers under leadership of the General Confederation of Labor stood in the rain in Buenos Aires' Central Plaza de la Republica for nation-wide mass praying for her recovery.

Ike Paints, Cooks In Rocky Retreat

DENVER (AP)—If Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has a favorite candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination—someone that he as the Republican nominee would prefer to run against—he is keeping mum about it.

He was ducking questions on that matter today as the Democrats opened their national convention in Chicago to pick his opponent in the November election.

The general is vacationing at a Rocky Mountain ranch 72 miles west of his campaign headquarters here, where a political staff is at work.

Newsmen have no direct access to him at the secluded ranch where he and an old friend, Aksel Nielsen, are "batching it" and cooking their own meals.

So reporters asked Eisenhower Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, who talks to the general daily by telephone to find out whether he has a favorite Democratic candidate.

Hagerty said he put the question but that the general wasn't going to name his choice—if he has one.

The general slept late at his vacation retreat yesterday morning then prepared a breakfast of pancakes, sausage, tomato juice and coffee.

An amateur artist, he spent a good part of the rest of the day on the fourth landscape painting he has tackled since he arrived at the ranch last Thursday. He has completed three and also has started a portrait of Nielsen. Also, he has copied an Indian girl's head from a magazine.

In Denver, Eisenhower headquarters announced that he has received an invitation to address the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars opening Aug. 3 in Los Angeles. He will decide whether to accept within a few days.

If he does, the speech probably would be his first major address as the Republican nominee. He already has agreed to address the American Legion's national convention at Madison Square Garden in New York Aug. 25.

The Army released yesterday the texts of Gen. Eisenhower's resignation from the Army July 12, the Army order formally releasing him, and a personal note from Army Secretary Frank Pace Jr.

Eisenhower's letter and the Army order were brief and official. The letter from Pace said, however:

"It is with great regret that I accept the resignation of your commission in the Army. In the discharge of the grave responsibilities you have borne you have displayed the highest order of devotion to the causes of freedom and inspirational leadership in your various military assignments.

"In consequence, as you leave, you take with you not only the gratitude of the Army but that of the entire free world as well. May I take this opportunity to convey to you my own personal regards and esteem. With your departure the whole Army feels a deep sense of loss."

No Relief In Sight; Polio Still Spreading

By The Associated Press

The march of polio, steady and deadly, continued in Texas Monday with no signs of a let-up.

Houston hospitals accepted 18 new polio cases over the week-end as Dallas reported five new cases and Fort Worth reported four.

Smaller towns of the state made no reports, but—unless the number fell below the average—there were unreported cases in the smaller towns that will further boost the state's appalling total.

Heaviest incidence of the crippling malady continued along the Upper Texas Coast with most victims going to Houston for treatment.

The Houston-Harris County total climbed to 415 for the year with 245 cases from Houston alone. On a similar date a year ago, Houston-Harris County had reported only 94 cases with four deaths. This year there have been eight deaths in the area attributed to the disease.

Of seven cases reported in Houston Sunday, four were from within the city limits and three were non-residents.

Three of the five new polio patients in Dallas were placed in iron lungs. The 27-year-old wife of a Baptist pastor was among the Dallas cases, her condition termed critical.

Another Dallas case was a 23-year-old Red Cross nurse from Gainesville who had been helping treat cases in the Parkland Hospital polio ward in Dallas.

The others in Dallas included a 29-year-old man, a six-year-old boy and an infant. Apparently the disease was hitting almost every age group.

At Fort Worth, where the polio ward of City-County Hospital had 42 cases under treatment, nine-year-old Gary Alan Shepherd was in a respirator in critical condition. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Odell Shepherd.

Fort Worth has had a total of 122 cases so far this year.

Claralane Bielefeldt, 20, a Baylor University co-ed was under treatment in her Waco home after the illness was diagnosed as polio Saturday.

Miss Bielefeldt, was McLennan Countys 42nd case of the year. For all of 1951, the county had only 29 cases.

Veteran Soldier Has Served In Armies Of Three Nations

SAN ANTONIO, July 19 (AP) — Nearly everyone admits Pfc. Charles F. Riss, 27, of the San Antonio General Depot is a well-rounded Army man.

Riss has served in three armies —German, French and United States.

He speaks six languages.

He has been a U. S. prisoner of war.

He has fought the Russians.

Riss, a native of France, was impressed into the German Army after France was overrun in World War II.

"They asked me if I'd rather be in the army or go to a concenetration camp," he explained. "I chose the army."

He served three years as a German soldier on the eastern front, fighting Russians. Forced to retreat, he retreated right into a U. S. prisoner of war camp where he spent eight months.

When his history became known, Riss was repatriated to France. He volunteered for a year's duty in the French army.

Still later, he joined an uncle in Boston, Mass., took out his first citizenship papers —and was drafted into the U. S. Army.

Riss, now a clerk-typist, pays high tribute to the effectiveness of German infantry basic training. And he thinks the Russians are good soldiers.

As for languages, Riss speaks German, French, Italian, Arabic, Dutch, English and an Alsace-Lorraine dialect.

He's a musician by vocation and intends to re-visit France when his discharge from the Army goes through—maybe in February. Then he wants to return to the states to make a living as an accordian soloist and entertainer.

"But no more army duty, please," Riss sighs.

Old Baldy Is Captured By U. N. Forces

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — United Nations infantrymen today drove Chinese Communists off the crest of Old Baldy on the Korean Western Front in the wake of a tremendous barrage of artillery, tanks and warplanes.

Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters in Tokyo said the bitterly contested height west of Chorwon was captured. But front-line dispatches indicated the crest of the hill was a no-man's land with U. N. troops dug in below the crest.

A U. S. Eighth Army staff officer said the hill definitely was not secured.

Associated Press correspondent George McArthur at the front said the Chinese had not give up their bid for the vital hill they wrested from the Allies last Thursday. He said Chinese foot soldiers were observed sneaking back toward the hill in the afternoon despite intense Allied fire.

More than 50 U. N. planes raked the hill with flaming gasoline, rockets and machine-gun fire. U. N. tanks and artillery blanketed the hill with schreeching shells.

Allied troops worked to within 100 yards of the top by dawn and then pulled back to their base.

Chinese casualties were reported heavy but an Allied officer told McArthur: "We can't get on the hill to count them."

Communist artillery fire was heavy but did not equal that of the Allied guns.

Both sides continued hurling artillery and mortar shells in the afternoon.

American carrier planes Sunday hit Communist power installations at Changjin in Northeastern Korea and two power plants in Northwestern Korea.

Yarborough Is No Mudslinger, He Asserts

AUSTIN, July 21 (AP)—Ralph Yarborough denied today he has done any mudslinging in his campaign for governor.

Gov. Allan Shivers last week charged both his opponents with mudslinging.

In an early morning radio broadcast, Yarborough quoted Webster's dictionary definition of mudslinging as "offensive epithets or personalities."

"I have never used offensive epithets or personalities toward the governor," Yarborough said, "but on the courthouse squares and street corners of Texas, I have looked Texans in the eye and quoted from the governor's official record as a state senator, as a lieutenant governor, and as governor. I have stated that record for the benefit of seven and a half million people because Texans are entitled to know the facts about the highest office in this state.

"The only villification and false statements in this campaign," he said, "have come from the governor's own mouth, because he has issued false accusation against me. His machine is conducting today one of the most expensive campaigns in the history of Texas and one of the most slanderous and vituperative."

Expansion At Craft Studio & Camera Shop

An expansion program which included installation of new display cases to better display the complete photographic trade merchandise has just been completed by the Craft Studio & Camera Shop, Jack Craft, owner, said. The firm is located just west of the West Texas State Bank on Twenty-sixth Street.

"We try to have everything that both professional and amateur photographers need at all times, and the new cases help us to display the merchandise so that the customers can see what they need more quickly when they enter the store," he said.

Among the items displayed in the new cases are all types of still and movie cameras, slide projectors, movie projectors, editors and splicers, viewers, picture frames, field glasses, and auxiliary lenses for all types of cameras.

The firm is dealer for all Eastman products including films, papers, and supplies so that any photographer need not go any further then the studio to fill his every need, Craft said.

Other products included are all types of flash guns, and lighting equipment for both movie and still cameras.

Storage Is Service Of McAlister Co.

Storage, a problem with which many Snyderites and businesses here are constantly faced, is one of the specialites of the McAlister Transfer & Storage Co.

The company has a large bonded and insured storage warehouse that contains more than 5,000 square feet of floor space. O. A McAlister, owner, said that the building is almost full at all times, but that the company is usually able to take care of new customers because of the turnover in the storage items.

Before anything is stored in the warehouse every item is carefully wrapped and packed so that breakage and damage to the items is kept at a minimum.

"Almost everyone who moves to or from Snyder needs the storage service for a while at least," McAlister said.

"We move many families to Snyder, who must store all or part of their furniture until they have found a place to live," he said.

The storage service is offered to all businesses here, too.

Ku Klux Leader Tried On Flogging Charges

WHITEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Thomas L. Hamilton, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, stands trial today on flogging charges.

Hamilton is charged with conspiracy to kidnap and assault in four flogging incidents involving white men and Negro women. Sixty-four alleged members of his order are accused in a total of 146 cases, including cross warrants ad indictments to comprise one of the largest court hearings on record in the state. The indictments are the outgrowth of floggings in Columbus County and nearby areas.

Hamilton surrendered to North and South Carolina officers at Florence, S. C., last May after an all-night search for him. He came here today contending that the charges against him were "harped up."

Judge In Temple Today

Unless Steel Strike Settled, Half of Crops Will Be Lost

PITTSBURGH, July 19 (AP)—The neatly stacked rows of canned beans, tomatoes and other foods in your corner grocery may soon become another big victim of the steel strike.

Regardless of when the walkout is settled, it has lasted long enough now to threaten seriously the supply of steel which goes into the manufacture of the lowly but useful tin can.

The National Canners Association says continuation of the strike will make it impossible for the canning industry to process available farm crops.

Sufficient cans are on hand to preserve only about half the peach and tomato crops. The association says corn, tomatoes and peaches are in the greatest jeopardy.

Tin cans are made from a kind of steel called tin plate. That's just thinly rolled steel which is covered with a thin layer of gleaming tin.

All major sources of tin except one were shut off by the June 2 strike of the CIO United Steelworkers. Still in operation are the tin plate mills of Weirton Steel Co. in Weirton, W. Va. and Steubenville, Ohio.

Weirton steel was not struck because its employes are not represented by the CIO union. Weirton bargains with the independent steelworkers and recently negotiated a new contract with that union.

While Weirton steel is the second largest tin plate producer in the nation, it can hardly make enough for everyone. Most tin can manufacturers are using up their inventories now and face shutdowns when their stockpiles are gone.

Weirton steel was not struck because its 3,400,000 tons of tin plate for use in packaging food.

Now that the food packing season is at hand, the tin plate shortage has reached alarming proportions. If the supply doesn't open soon, crops now ripening can't be processed and the corner grocer will point to empty shelves and shrug his shoulder about next September or October.

Conservation On 15 Farms Is Approved

Supervisors of the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District have approved plans for conservation for 15 farmers. These were approved last week in a monthly board meeting in which several conservation practices were discussed and planned.

These practices included work on farm ponds, terraces, stubble mulch tillage seeding perennial grasses, and cover crops.

Farmers in Scurry and Borden Counties whose farms were included in the latest plans were Ben Weathers, George C. Arnett, Roy Bonner, Milton Winter, Virgil Walton, Forest G. Sears, W. A. Cross, Alfonse Wimmer R. J. Kubena, C. A. Hall, J. C. Barrett, Travis Rinehart, E. Rinehart, Elton Crowder, and G. W. Wemken.

Farmers in this district who plan to seed grass next spring should begin now preparing to establish a drilled sorghum stubble as a protective crop in which to seed the grass, the supervisors advised.

The sorghum should be drilled early enough to attain a height of six to 12 inches before frost. In the spring the grass can be seeded with the district's grass drill without further preparation. The stubble will aid in establishing a good stand by protecting the soil from blowing during the winter and early spring, lessening water erosion, holding moisture near the surface, and regulating soil temperature.

The stubble will also absorb shock of the force of raindrops on the soil, reduce evaporation and lessen crusting of the soil. It will increase the rate of water intake into the soil and the amount the soil will hold. The cover also protects the young seedling from hot winds and blowing soil until it is well established. This dead litter cover is a necessity in obtaining a good stand.

A good grass mixture that is approved for this area is side-oats grama, blue grama, and King Ranch bluestem, the board advised. A good grass to replace Sudan for supplemental grazing in the summer is blue panic if planted on deep-fertile soil.

Kayser Takes Part In Archeology Expedition

J. M. Kayser, assistant principal in Snyder High School, is among a group of advanced archeology students at Texas Tech who will study Mogollon Culture near Ruidoso, N.M., during the second summer term of the college.

Ten students, under the direction of Dr. W. C. Holden, head of Tech's history, anthropology and sociology departments, are enrolled in the course, which will be conducted at the Bonnell Ranch excavations, about 14 miles east of Ruidoso.

Richard Parks and John Farris Top Winners in Scurry Rodeo

Late Saturday night officials of the 16th Annual Scurry County Rodeo breathed a sigh of relief that the show was history, then started writing checks to pay off the more than $3,400 in cash prize money won by contestants.

A Snyder cowboy shared the honor of being top money winner in the show with an Iowa Park wrangler. Richard Parks, Snyder yearling tie down expert, and John Farris, bareback bronc rider from the North Texas city, won $168 each to lead the show's money winners.

THIRD MONEY

Another calf roper, Bill Karr of Fort Worth, hit third money with $150. Tommy Riley, Snyder saddle bronc rider, was fourth money winner with $135, and Gerald Hart, another Snyder cowboy, was fifth with $125 awarded for winning the cutting horse contest.

Mrs. Florence Youree, Addington, Okla., was top girl money winner, taking home $105 won in the senior sponsors contests. Her sister, Miss Sherry Price from the same town, took second money for the girls with a total of $65.

Mrs. Youree was winner of first place for the entire show when all times were figured with an average of 15.4 seconds. Miss Price took second place with an average time of 15.55 seconds.

Most of the more than 300 contestants won small prizes or none at all. Billy Boren, president of the Scurry County Rodeo Association which staged the event, said.

RECORDS

Best time or point averages for the entire show were:

Senior steer riding: Don McDonald, Fluvanna, 282 points; and Jimmy Moore, Post, 279 points.

Saddle bronc riding: Tommy Riley, Snyder, 287 points; and John Farris, Iowa Park, 286 points.

U.S. Trackmen In Lead at Olympics

HELSINKI, July 21 (AP)—The United States scored a grand slam today in the shot put of the Olympic games. Parry O'Brien, Darrow Hooper and Jim Fuchs finished 1-2-3, with O'Brien setting a new Olympic record of 17.41 meters (57 feet 1.43 inches).

HELSINKI, July 21 (AP)—Charlie Moore of the United States, who yesterday set a new Olympic record for the 400 meter hurdles, breezed into the finals today but his two compatriots, Lee Yoder of Arkansas and Roland Blackman of the U. S. Army, were eliminated.

This was the first break in the American ranks in a day which saw all three American entries easily qualify for the finals in each of three field events—the pole vault, broad jump and shot put.

Moore won the second semi-final heat with ease in 52 seconds flat after his arch rival, Jurii Lituev of Russia had taken the first in 51.8. Moore, former Cornell University star who now represents the New York Pioneer Club, was timed in 50.8 seconds for his first heat yesterday.

Blackman was eliminated when he finished fifth in the first heat.

John Holland of New Zealand was second to Lituev in his semi-final and Antolli Julin of Russia was third. Three men from each heat qualified for the final. Harry Whittle of Great Britain, Armando Filiput of Italy and Yoder trailed Moore home. Yoder was shut out of the six-man final.

Parry O'Brien of Southern California broke the Olympic record on his first attempt in the shot put final with a mighty toss of 57 feet 1.43 inches. The old record was 56 feet, 2.03 inches set by Wilbur Thompson of the United States at London in 1948.

U. S. hopes suffered another blow when Art Bragg of Morgan State College, who won American tryouts at 100 meters, finished last in his semi-final heat, limping badly.

Although Dean Smith of Texas and Lindy Remigino of Manhattan College both appeared to have won their semi-final heats in the 100 meter dash, the judges called two others as the winners.

Smith was announced as the winner of the first semi-final with Emanuel McDonald Bailey of Great Britain second. Some 20 minutes later when the judges took a look at the finish pictures they reversed the order, placing McDonald Bailey first and Smith second. Vladimir Soukharev of Russia was third.

McDonald Bailey's time was given as 10.5 seconds and Smith's as 10.6.

Remigino appeared to have won the second heat by two feet but the judges gave the decision to Herb McKenley of Jamaica and the time as 10.4.

John Trelarf of Australia was third. The first three in each heat qualified for the finals.

The second day of track and field competition in the 1952 games drew 25,000 spectators. Skies were overcast and there were occasional sprinkles of rain.

Two more records are in grave danger today, the 400-meter hurdles and the shot put.

Charlie Moore, the former Cornell star from Ithaca, N. Y., glided over the 400-meter hurdles in :50.8 yesterday, three-tenths of a second better than the previous mark. He was looking over his shoulder at the finish.

Today he tackles this treacherous race in the semifinals and almost assuredly in the finals. He can beat his yesterday's time. He may well break the world record of :50.6 held by Glenn Hardin of the United States since 1934.

The other record smashers yesterday were:

1. Walt Davis, a Texas cowboy, who cleared 6 feet, 8.32 inches (2.04 meters) in the high jump.

2. Nina Romaschkova, a new name among the powerful Russian women athletes, who hurled the discus 168 feet, 8.46 inches (51.42 meters.)

3. Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia, who has his sights set on winning the 5,000 meters, 10,000 meters and the marathon. He took the 10,000 yesterday, lowering his own 1948 mark from 29:59.6 to 29:17.0.

In the other track and field finals today the broad jump and the 100-meter dash — the U. S. should score heavily although the Americans face a real battle in their pet dash.

George Brown of San Diego is favored in the broad jump. Emanuel McDonald Bailey, the Trinidad sprinter who runs for Great Britain, rules the choice in the 100-meters. Art Bragg of Baltimore, who won the American 100-meter trials, aggravated a leg injury yesterday and isn't expected to figure in the finish, but Dean Smith of Austin, Tex., and Lindy Remigino from Brooklyn will provide Bailey with stern opposition.

Rowing performances yesterday were in the same class as the track and field but there are no Olympic records in rowing. The sites of the regattas vary so much that records in the sport are unreliable.

Yugoslavia and France won their heats in the four-oars without coxswain event in the fastest times ever recorded in the Olympics. The Yugoslav mark of 6:34.4 for the 2,000-meter course was almost two seconds better than the previous low set by Great Britain in 1928.

The unbeaten heavyweight crew from the U. S. Naval Academy won going away in its battle with the vaunted Leander Club of Great Britain, but both boats qualified easily and neither one appeared out.

The Russians led the field in gymnastics after the compulsory exercises, with Switzerland second and Finland third. The United States was ninth. Free style gymnastics are on today's program.

OLYMPIC TORCH LIGHTED

Paavo Nurmi, the original "Flying Finn" who made Olympic history in the 1920's, lights the traditional urn in Helsinki's Olympic Stadium after carrying the Olympic torch on the last lap of its journey from Greece's Mount Olympus. The rite was one of the most colorful aspects of ceremonies opening the 15th Olympic Games.

Oklahoma Golfer Wins Trans-Mississippi

DENVER, July 21 (AP)—Charley Coe, Oklahoma City, won his third Trans-Mississippi Golf Championship yesterday to prove he's ready to lead Uncle Sam's best amateurs against Canada and Mexico next month in Seattle.

Coe won 3 and 2, in 34 holes from Buster Reed, 24-year-old collegian from Sanger, Tex. Coe, six-foot 145-pounder, held steady in 92-degree heat that seemed to wilt the Texan.

Coe, 28-year-old winner of the T-M in 1947 and 1949, was four over par for the 34 holes over the 6,711 yard par 70 Lakewood Country Club course.

Coe was named last week to captain a team of seven U. S. amateur golfers who will play similar teams from Canada and Mexico for the championship of the Americas at Seattle, Aug. 14-15.

National Skeet Meeting Opens

DALLAS, July 21 (AP)—At least two new champions are assured in the sub small competition at the 15th annual National Skeet Shooting Championship.

The event opened in Dallas today after 10 members of the 128-man field fired perfect 100 x 100 scores yesterday at the Dallas Gun Club shooting site.

The perfect scores were fired by: John Shock, Little Rock, Ark.; George Glass Sr., Midland; Joseph M. George, Sudelersville, Md.; John Garrison, Joplin, Mo.; Charles Poulton, San Antonio; Henry Adler, Dallas; M. W. Knutson, San Leandro, Calif.; M-Sgt. Charles Barr, Randolph AFB, San Antonio; Capt. Robert Copple, Westover AFB, Mass.; J. V. Elliot Jr., Pasadena, Calif.

D. Lee Braun, San Mateo, Calif., will not defend his sub small industry title. And Francis Ellis, Jacksonville, open event champ and high over-all champ last year, will not defend his titles.

Washington Upsets Experts' Predictions, Cops 3rd Place

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Four consecutive victories by one run and 21 one-run triumphs for the season.

That is the principle reason why Washington's scrappy Senators are in third place today.

All but a handful of experts had picked them to finish in the American League cellar.

The Nats added their fourth straight one-run victory yesterday as they swept a doubleheader from the St. Louis Browns, 7-6 and 6-3, to move into third place, a half game in front of Cleveland, a half game behind the Boston Red Sox. The double triumph stretched their winning streak to five and left them that many lengths away from the pace - setting New York Yankees.

The Red Sox picked up a full game on the Yankees, vanquishing the Indians, 8-7, in 12 innings while the fifth-place Chicago White Sox were upsetting the world champions, 5-4. Philadelphia's Athletics took the opener of a doubleheader from Detroit, 8-7, and played a 3-3 tie in the second game, halted by Pennsylvania's 7 p. m. curfew at the end of nine innings.

Brooklyn's runaway Dodgers maintained their 7½-game bulge in the National League, taking Pittsburgh into camp for the 13th straight time, 8-5. The runner-up New York Giants whipped the Chicago Cubs, 9-7, and the third-place St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Boston Braves, 8-4.

Philadelphia and Cincinnati divided a doubleheader, the Phillies bounding back with a 4-3 win after the Reds had taken the opener, 6-5 in 10 innings.

Washington gave Connie Marrero a 7-1 lead in the first game but the Cuban righthander was tagged for five runs in the eighth before Joe Haynes quelled the Brownie uprising.

Bob Porterfield had a 6-0 lead in the second game but weakened in the late innings and gave way to Sandy Consuegra.

Johnny Lipon singled with the bases loaded in the 12th to drive in the run that gave the Red Sox their 10th victory in the last 12 games. Dizzy Trout picked up his seventh triumph and 13-game winner. Mike Garcia dropped his seventh game.

The White Sox snapped a six-game losing streak and won their first game in eight attempts at Yankee Stadium as Saul Rogovin outpitched Bob Kuzava.

A single by catcher Joe Astroth in the ninth scored Billy Hitchcock with the run that gave the A's their first-game win over the Tigers. The second game was marred by stalling on the A's part after the Tigers had taken a lead in the 10th. Philadelphia used three pitchers to face three batters in that inning.

Home runs by George Shuba, Jackie Robinson and Andy Pafko helped the Dodgers make it 13 out of 13 against the Pirates.

Three hit each by Bobby Thomson and Hank Thompson enabled Larry Jansen to pick up his 10th triumph as the Giants evened the two-game series with the Cubs.

Not-So-Rough Rodeo Saturday Ends 16th Annual Event Here

John Farris, Iowa Park bareback bronc rider, stuck with his seat atop "Wagon Wheel" Saturday night to win second place in that night's first riding event and at the Scurry County Rodeo. That ride put him in the top bracket as a money winner at the show.

David Rushing, Abilene, was winner of the first place in the bareback riding contest for Saturday night, however.

NOT SO ROUGH

Saturday night's rodeo was tamer than previous nights had been. About 3,500 persons in the audience did not see the ambulance come onto the field during the entire last performance. Earlier performances had been marked by frequent appearances of the ambulance to take away injured cowboys.

Officials of the show said that the rodeo here this year was one of the most successful in its 16-year history.

Third place in the bareback bronc riding contest Saturday night went to Billy Kerley, Fluvanna.

Winners of other events Saturday night were:

Senior calf roping: Dock Moon, Snyder, and J. B. Stoker, Breckenridge, tied for first place with times of 16.2 seconds each, and Burl Hitson, Breckenridge was third with a time of 16.4 seconds. Bill Herring, Fluvanna, was fourth with 16.6 seconds, and Bishop Mathis, Post, fifth with 19.2 seconds.

Doyle Kerley, Fluvanna, was the only rider in the junior steer riding event to stay atop his mount until the eight - second whistle blew making the ride official.

First place in the yearling tie down contest went to Dee Burris, O'Donnell, 17 seconds; second place to J. B. Stoker, Brekenridge, 22.5 seconds; and Dock Moon, Snyder, 36.6 seconds.

SADDLE BRONC

Saddle bronc riding: John Farris, Iowa Park, first; Jimmy Beck, Snyder, second; and Tommy Riley, Snyder, third.

Junior ribbon roping: Doyle Kerley, Fluvanna, 21.8; Jackie Dee Pylant, 24.7; and Jerry Smith, Gail, 27.4 seconds.

Senior sponsors: Marie Gist, Colorado City, 11.3 seconds; Iris Lomax, Snyder 11.4 seconds; Anne Mathis, Post, 11.5 seconds; Sadie Smith, Gail, 11.5 seconds; and Sue Stephens, Gail, 11.8 seconds.

Jerry Rainwater, Snyder, dressed in an Indian costume, won first place in the soda pop race, and Skeet Whatley, Snyder, won second.

Doug Riley, Snyder, was the only cowboy to finish the wild mare race Saturday night.

Gerald Hart, Snyder, and Whit Thompson, Jr., both of Snyder, tied for first and second places in the cutting horse contest Saturday night, and Bob Beal, Gail, won third place.

Behind your Election Headlines . . .

Back of your newspaper headlines on election day and the day following are thousands of workers. Only through their coordinated efforts do you get election results so quickly, so accurately.
First, this newspaper collects the returns locally. Then from here . . . as from every other county in Texas . . . long-distance telephone, telegraph, all available facilities, are used to speed county returns to a central location. There they are tabulated by the Texas Election Bureau and distributed by press wires to its newspaper and radio station members.
Result: You vote . . . and it's only a matter of hours before you know the unofficial outcome of the election.
This service costs many thousands of dollars each election. It is paid for entirely by the newspapers and radio stations that constitute the Texas Election Bureau.
Thus, this newspaper, a member of the Texas Election Bureau, provides you with statewide as well as local election results, while the results are still news!
