At the request of the Treasury Department we announce a new feature of interest and service to many readers who are buying or will buy Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps. This will be called the Defense Bond Quiz, and will start in next week's issue. The questions will be chosen from among those asked by most Bond and Stamp buyers. The answers will tell what the new Defense Savings Program means to the individual and to the Nation.

The president made few people in Texas happy last week when he took the trouble to send a wire to Texas calling our governor's slight braggadocio about a Texas army and navy a "preposterous" idea. The president might be as right as a fox at this time and the governor should not have taken up his own busy time and the busy time of the president by writing or wiring a suggestion of a Texas army and navy in addition to any the federal government is getting together, because such is not a logical or necessary thing. But the fact is that, when and if we began to scrape bottom and Texans felt alarmed enough about the matter there'd be things doing in Texas. For instance a Nazi invasion through Old Mexico would be done something about besides what was ordered out of Washington. We really believe that. We qualify with the thought that if the president's only definition of preposterous is "irrational" or "absurd" perhaps it might fit, but preposterous also means "contrary to nature." In that sense the president talked as much too fast as the governor did.

Additionally we ought to say the president could and should have used a bit more finesse, even though he thought the governor's suggestion a "preposterous" one. Eight out of ten Texans of the old stripe feel deep down that Texas can do anything it wants to do. "The hell you say" is their unconscious answer to anybody's suggestion that what they think is "preposterous." Nearly anything or anybody is preposterous at times but they'll quite often be just as well or better off not being told about it, especially by their president. He very well could have been giving his attention to the country's serious problems in California, Michigan, Ohio and the Empire state, where, according to Texas point of view, treason is rife. Instead he blasts away at the governor of the most loyal state in the union.

Whether the purported unofficial returns you hear on election day are true or not we cannot say. However, we are told by competent authority that it is unlawful for any election official to give out any information as to the count before the close of the polls at 7 o'clock. It is an offense against the peace and dignity of the state, and is against both the spirit and the letter of the election laws. This is one kind of offense against the welfare of the commonwealth that we would like to see somebody get "jerked up" about. Another complex we have is against those Smart Ales who help hold elections and afterwards spout off about who voted for whom. They, of course, violate their oaths and violate the law of the land. Doing thus they also cheat their neighbors of the right to a secret ballot.

United States savings bonds provide a quick way to serve your country and conserve your earnings.

People who are trying to raise things in Floyd county this summer are finding out the unusual winter of 1940-41 was a costly warm one. If there are any kinds of bugs, beetles, hoppers, fleas, red lions, spiders that haven't attacked growing flowers, trees, shrubs, wheat and whatnot it is only because their cycle has not brought them around to coming out of the shell. Doubtless they will be here shortly. There are many practical ways of fighting these insects, however, if thought and some detailed attention is spent doing it.

Reward for carrying trees and shrubs through the serious dry years has become evident on nearly every street in Floydada this spring. Trees are getting wonderful growth, shrubs are doing better than they ever have. The beauty of some of the nicely planted streets are only marred in a few instances by those who couldn't give the time or expense of keeping their trees and shrubs watered. If you have not driven over Floydada recently you have missed seeing numerous almost majestic trees and certainly thousands of lovely ones.

Experience this wheat season has given evidence that the shortage of labor, anticipated by the state and federal labor agencies, is more fancied than real. One has heard little complaint from wheat growers that they couldn't get men. They have been able to get all the men they needed to man what machinery they have to put into the fields. Another tractor (for which an operator could have been found) or another combine or another two- or four-row planter could be used by most any farmer, at least could have last week. But just plain manpower was at little premium. And trucks have been available in any quantities you would want to name. It appears that cotton picking time may find the same situation.

What all science has been doing for the business and domestic life of America would fill volumes. An important discovery one week is topped by another the following week. In the last six months, to illustrate, a microscope has been perfected and released that make it possible to see the molecules of some compounds. Small virus infinitesimally smaller than insects that attack plants are thus at the mercy of the seeing eye. New uses are being found for the photo cell which now examines oranges, cigars and candy much faster and better than a human could. Teachers will be glad when the photo cell is put into general use and they will grade school papers by machine. When Samuel F. B. Morse sent a simple sentence by wire he was thinking "What hath God wrought." Now his idea has been perfected to the point that 240 two-way messages can be sent over one wire at one time, anyone of which will make all connections automatically, send back a buzz when the line is busy, call the plant department if the line is out of order and record what was happening when things went wrong. Should the called party be gone from home the telephone will record a message from the other end of the line. Science has gone so far that the dial telephone, only practical six years ago in large cities, are now cheaper to operate and give better service in the wee, small town and are being put into service throughout rural America.

The railroads in 1940 expended more than $61,300,000 for fuel oil and gasoline.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

Nellie Witt Spikes

When it rains, it pours, we said yesterday as car after car drove up to our door. We really had open house and was very glad of it as there has been such muddy roads that friends have not called lately. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Assiter and grandson, Billy Jean, Dan and Jelora James were the first to come, then Walter and Ruby Gillon, son Walter Ellis, and mother Mrs. Ellis, brought their folks who were visiting from Mississippi, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gillon and daughter, Joy, of Granada, and Mr. and Mrs. Thompson of Durant. We liked the friendliness of these Mississippi people, their enthusiasm for our West Texas breezes and scenery. They listened politely to our tales of the west as they looked at old pictures and relics. It is nice to know that Mississippi is not a red spot on a map with dots for cities and long crooked lines for rivers. We know someone there that has put a welcome sign on their door and we long to visit them. Listen to their tales of their own loved state, look at their scenery and find pleasure in their climate.

This is a lovely morning. The sound of running tractors, planting seed and killing weeds makes a sound far more pleasant just now than that of tractors pulling cars and trucks out of mud holes. What was beginning to look like a forest is now taking on the picture of well cultivated fields and gardens, but it still looks like one was going down a tunneled wall on the country roads.

The people of the plains, her women and children have been called on to use the kind of courage that the early settlers had to use. I find they are meeting the conditions with splendid bravery and faith for the future. It is comforting to know that the pioneer spirit has not departed from our land but has only been put away until it was needed. Too much rain, hail, high winds, cotton coming up only to be blown out, wheat going through the winter with much promise, only to be a disappointment and a loss. No the things the early settlers established have not vanished as the antelope and the mustangs. The later comers have proven their mettle and we are content.

S. D. Purgeon was our friend. We enjoyed his droll way of saying things and his fun cheered us. Hearty and hale most of his days, working on the river as a young man, coming west to help develop a new country, doing his part and more, living as a man should at peace with his neighbors, upholding the laws of his country and of his God. No more will we shake his toil worn hand, no longer speak and laugh with him, for he left us as if in a hurry to reach the inheritance that was laid up for him in Heaven. We will be a little more kind, laugh and enjoy life better, be more true to the best things of life, because we have known him.

Believe it or not, a water bucket of English peas out of my garden at one gathering. Never before had I raised my seed back and had only thought West Texas people planted them to help reduce the stock of seed.

Was very sorry to learn of Mr. Byars broken leg. Hope he is able to walk by now. Once I happened to the same accident, only I fell over a chair. I howled or started to when the doctors were putting the broken bone in splints. Dr. George spoke up and said, "Hush up, we want to do a good job, I don't want to see you limping around at every picnic for the next forty years."

Weather report. In daytime this is good ice cream weather. But blankets are needed at night. Unusual in West Texas, going in a row boat after the cows. See Mr. Henry Assiter for details. Milk cows stand in water almost covered up to keep away from the flies. Things get kinda funny. More grass than stock can eat and them not eating. A dry year no flies but no grass.

We are trying to see how fine careless weeds can get with plenty of moisture. Just pass our place and see if they are not the finest you ever saw. Why, I wouldn't mind putting them up to show with careless weeds in the river bottom or those of East Texas. Wonder why the demonstration women have not gone around with sprays of gay paint and turned the weeds all into lovely colors? I must mention this to the Demonstration Agent.

Frank Fox of Kaufman, my husband's cousin from Kaufman, is visiting us. My garden is nicely plowed. Thanks to him. Needless to say the men of boyhood days are not enemies of another. Many a joke is told and I find out all about parties and good times of those early days in Kaufman County on Spikes Prairie.

FLOYD COUNTY'S REUNION

I attended Floyd county's reunion The twenty-eighth day of May And, Oh, What a sweet communion With friends of yesterday.

Some were thin, some were stout, Others could hardly get about, Those with hair as white as snow But their hearts were warm as in the long ago.

The memory of that day, time cannot erase It was so good to be there

Need a Laxative? Take good old BLACK-DRAUGHT It's a top-seller all over the South

And search about from place to place For the much loved pioneer. It was funny sometimes, you see; I wouldn't know them or they wouldn't know me But when we got it straightened out We had a lot to talk about.

Old time friends, sang in the choir As we joined the last refrain I wished for some that were not there And hoped we would meet again.

But next year all will not be there Some will not be able to go Others will pass from this world of care To a place where no tears ever flow.

Some day we will meet again On that happy golden shore And all join in a glad refrain When we meet to part no more.

Mrs. Charles Klierlin.

ROUND UP IN THE SKY

Odetta Ruth Anderson I look up at the star-lit sky And watch as the Boss cuts the herd, And I think of it as a round-up on high, As the stars are gathered to light our world.

I watch as the moon rides a path above And I wonder if it's God's night rider on post, And if His orders are tempered with love, And if He would search if a star was lost.

But with idle dreams I drift asleep There 'neath the teeming sky so bright, And it seems I can hear them softly breathe As He beds His stars down for the night.

FAITHFUL PIONEER FATHER
(To memory of John P. Kerlin)
He came in a covered wagon Across the trackless plain, To make the faint trail clearer, For others when they came.

And now he's journeyed Westward Leaving a trail so bright; To point to you the narrow way And guide your steps aright.

He traveled the long, long trail Over the last divide To join a pioneer mother Waiting on the other side.

And though he leaves you lonely In this land of hate and war; Remember, the greenest pastures Are beyond the farthest star.

Garden Club Flower Show And Program Friday

A very appropriate subject, "Democracy and Trees" was discussed by Mrs. R. S. Wilkinson, sr., at an open house meeting and flower show Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. M. Watson. The program sponsored by the Floydada Garden club was led by Mrs. John Hoffman.

Hostesses with Mrs. Watson were Mrs. J. D. McBrien, Mrs. Alton B. Chapman, Mrs. Roy Snodgrass, Mrs. W. O. Tye and Mrs. O. P. Rutledge. The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Jeff Welborn, president of the club and the hostess Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Jack Henry assisted at the register. Miss Marguerite Leonard played accordion numbers as the guests were seated.

Patriotic Color Scheme
The dining table was arranged in a patriotic color scheme of red, white and blue. Blue delphiniums and white daisies were arranged in a crystal bowl that sat on a reflector. Red roses were arranged on the reflector to circle the bowl. Cookies and punch was served the guests. Mesdames McBrien, Chapman, Snodgrass and Tye served the guests and pinned white sweet pea corsages that were tied with red and blue ribbons, on each of the guests.

Attractive Flower Arrangements
Some of the arrangements worthy of mention was "Mother and Daughter" centerpiece. This was two bouquets of sweet peas, delphinium, feverfew and scabiosa, each an exact replica of the other with the exception of one placed on a reflector that emphasized the color and beauty.

"Peace Found In Nature's Charms," Speaker Says
In her talk, Mrs. Wilkinson brought out the peace and strength to be derived by a close communion with the enduring powers of nature. "The stout hearted oak withstands the storms of nature and raises its boughs again triumphantly; 'The sky larks and the poppy give out a message of cheer to man, even as he struggles in the battle-line.'"

Continuing, Mrs. Wilkinson said, "We as Americans have a great heritage, God's richest gifts have been bestowed upon us. As citizens of this great nation, we like the oak should stand staunch, carrying out part and doing the task that falls our lot. In doing this, we must begin at home, in our own gardens, making the most of the small plot that is ours to tend."

Mrs. Ray Barnard gave a reading entitled, "Mrs. Dorothy Dumb." As a concluding number, the guests sang in unison, "God Bless America" and the meeting was adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. J. M. Gambin for a musical at 9:30 a. m. July 10.

Thiamine Is Essential To Good Health

Pork has recently won new prestige, in the opinion of nutrition experts. It has long been a favorite meat on American tables because of its fine flavor and its satisfying "staying" quality. Now scientific research has shown that there is a good reason why it should be included freely in the diet.

Pork is an excellent source of thiamine, called Vitamin B1, a member of that important vitamin B group. Thiamine stimulates the appetite. It is needed for growth. It promotes the health of body cells. It aids in the utilization of other foods, notably carbohydrates, riboflavin, or vitamin B2, is also contributed by pork. A deficiency in these food elements results in loss of appetite, a feeling of weakness, a general loss of "pep."

Since these vitamins are not stored in the body, the daily diet should include an adequate supply of one's health is to be up to par. Pork chops and pork steaks are among the most popular cuts, for they are tender, they are more successfully cooked by broiling than by boiling. Slow cooking in moist heat is desirable to bring out the full rich flavor of the pork, which should always be cooked to the well-done stage.

Pork chops cut from the rib section, loin chops and steaks cut from the shoulder are all cooked in the same way. Rib chops may be cut so that each contains a rib, or they may be thinner so that there is one boneless chop between each one containing a rib.

Pork chops and steaks are excellent for cooking with other foods. A delicious blend of flavors is thus obtained. Besides this is a very convenient way of cooking the main part of a meal.

Two substantial and tasty pork chop dishes are suggested by Inez S. Willson, home economist.

One-Dish Pork Chop Meal

- 6 pork chops
 - 1 tablespoon lard
 - Salt and pepper
 - 4 cups cooked wide noodles
 - 1 can tomato soup
 - 1/2 cup water
 - 2 tablespoons grated onion
- Brown chops in lard until golden brown. Season with salt and pepper. Place the cooked noodles in a casserole. Dilute tomato soup with water and pour over the noodles. Season with salt and pepper. Place the chops over the noodles. Cover the casserole and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for one and one-half hours.

Pork Chop Favorites

- 2 pork chops
 - 2 tablespoons lard
 - 1 cup cracker crumbs
 - 1 medium onion
 - 1 hard-cooked egg
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 1/2 cups milk
- Brown chops cut 1 inch thick. Brown them in lard. Combine cracker crumbs with grated onion, chopped egg, salt, and one-half cup milk. Arrange a mound of dressing on top of each chop and place in a baking dish. Pour remaining milk over the chops and cover. Cook in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 2 hours, uncovering the dish during the last 30 minutes.

MAKE NEW FRIENDS IN CHANGING HOMES

Americans have always been on the move. They have gone where opportunity beckons, lured by better jobs or a more satisfactory way of life.

Annually this brings a vast segment of our population up against a serious problem; how to make friends in a new town.

To make these acquaintances, list some suggestions which will act as signposts to a more satisfactory social life in a small town.

1. Render civic service. This field is open to everybody. Almost every town has organizations for civic betterment, such as the Community Chest, Red Cross, political clubs, war relief agencies which are hungry for workers.

2. Go to church. Any church is open to everyone without introduction, not only as a religious center, but also as a social one.

3. Be a joiner. If you are already a member of clubs, associations, or brotherhoods with far-flung chapters, you will find them especially valuable in your new home.

4. Have a hobby. A mutual hobby is a sure key to friendship. Join local theatrical societies, reading, garden, and camera clubs. They all welcome recruits.

5. Make the most of business acquaintances. They will have something in common with you for a start.

6. Look up the friend of a friend. If hometown friends offer to write acquaintances don't discourage them. You may not like them at all, but it's worth a try.

7. Don't ignore city hostesses. Many new towns in America now have city hostesses. You can ask them as many questions as you like without embarrassment.

8. Keep up appearances. A good address is valuable. Grooming and good taste count—for first impressions are important.

ELECTRICITY NO LUXURY

Hand in hand with the widespread extension of electric service to rural areas has come an increasing emphasis upon productive use of electricity on the farm and in the farm home, says Harry Slattery of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Administrator of REA. The old notion that electricity is a luxury which the farmer cannot afford is giving place to realization that it is a necessity he can not afford to do without.

Walter R. Irwin, newly appointed general claim agent of the Panhandle & Santa Fe Railway company, was raised in New Mexico and has been many years of railway service, principally in the claims division in New Mexico and Texas. He succeeds the late Bowman Jarrott, veteran railway official, and his headquarters are in Amarillo.

Emily Post Notes Social Changes Of Two Decades

Just because she receives some three thousand letters a day from people asking advice about social and personal problems doesn't mean that Emily Post isn't a woman confronted with several deep perplexities of her own.

One of the greatest, writes Margaret Case Harriman is the fact that although she has written five novels and three other books, she is known chiefly for Etiquette or the Blue Book of Social Usage which she wrote in 1922. It has made her the foremost authority on social manners in the country. Mrs. Harriman says it has run through four editions, which means sixty printings or more than a half million copies.

Even though it's logical to guess from her book that Mrs. Post is stickler for formality, Mrs. Harriman reveals that her manner has an easy charm that breaks candidly into impatience or an occasional mild profanity in the presence of anything fussy or phony. When asked by a linen company to comment on an advertisement of a table fabric set for a formal dinner, "Lord," she stammered, "It's lousy."

Mrs. Harriman relates that Mrs. Post was born and bred in New York City where she was the belle of her debutante season, 1892. Now she is a gay, friendly woman, very hard some and with the spirited good looks one romantically associates with the eighteen nineties. Shortly after Mrs. Post's father died, she divorced her husband, and suddenly found herself a divorcee and, through necessity, a working woman at a time when neither divorce nor gainful employment by gentlewomen was recognized by the kind of people Mrs. Post had known.

Among many other virtues, Mrs. Post's volume on etiquette presents a panorama of the vast changes in America's social scene during the last two decades. When the first edition appeared it was filled with hints on how to handle butlers, chauffeurs, and footmen. The latest edition (1940) now has a scant two-and-a-half pages on butlers and almost nine on the woman who wants to be an efficient cook, waitress and hostess at the same time. The chapters which figured so largely in the early editions has completely vanished, and as for that old bugaboo about which fork one should use in eating, Mrs. Post has this to say, "Nothing is of less importance."

INCREASING DEER HERDS OFFER SPORT FOR HUNTERS

The outlook for increased opportunity for deer hunting in the National Forests is bright, according to Dr. H. L. Shantz, wildlife management specialist of the U. S. Forest Service. Deer reproduces so rapidly that a take of from 25 to 35 percent of all the animals is sometimes required to keep the herd in balance with natural food supplies. If hunters do not take care of the surplus, range depletion and starvation occurs, and the hunting animals such as wolves, coyotes, and mountain lions usually multiply until a large loss from depredations of predators results.

Zeal for protection and preservation of wildlife served a useful purpose in preventing extermination of many birds and animals, but in some States lack of flexibility in protective legislation is now preventing the best management and the "harvesting of the crop," says Shantz.

"For the National Forests as a whole only about 9 percent of the herd is taken by the hunter annually, and in some States the hunter takes as low as 4 percent. Hunters probably do not take more than a third of the annual deer increase in the National Forests. Good management," says Shantz, "would dictate a lower predator take and a higher hunter take." Hunting is controlled by State law, but in many places cooperative agreements enable the State and the Forest Service to work together to accomplish a controlled take in the interest of the range and the game herd rather than a reduction by State-wide open seasons which of ten take too many from one place and too few from another.

SULFA DRUGS POTENT IN PLANTS

Sulfanilamide, one of modern medicine's newest weapons for combating streptococcus infection and other human ailments, now appears important also for its effect on plant growth. Dr. H. P. Traub of the Department of Agriculture's Horticultural Station at Beltsville, Md., has found that in dilute solutions sulfanilamide and other sulfa compounds tested act as plant hormones, or growth regulators. In stronger solutions these drugs arrest normal cell division within plants, resulting in polyploidy or an increase in the number of chromosomes in the cells. Kidney-bean plants grown in the Bureau of Plant Industry laboratories at Beltsville from seed and cuttings treated in concentrated solutions of sulfanilamide showed evidence of mutation, or change in plant structure.

Doctor Traub found that sulfanilamide and other sulfa compounds cause changes in plant form and stimulate growth much like colchicine and acenaphthene. Leaves on some of the treated kidney-bean plants were fluted and twisted in a manner suggesting severe virus infection, because of variation in the changes induced in particular groups of plant cells. Other plants, in which the changes in plant form were more uniform, had broader, thicker, and less pointed leaves, longer stomata, and larger pollen grains than untreated plants.

To determine what had happened in the plant cells to cause these abnormalities in growth, Dr. Traub examined under the microscope stained sections of onion roots which had been soaked in a concentrated solution of sulfanilamide. He found that the treatment caused development of cells with larger, double, and in some cases "dumb-bell-shaped" nuclei, and polyploid cells with double normal number of chromosomes. Whether the changes caused by sulfanilamide treatments are permanent, or heritable, is not yet definitely established. Results of Doctor Traub's experiments are important to plant breeders and may also prove of interest to medical science.

LESS COTTON — MORE GRASS

Crop diversification and soil conservation are twin objectives of a re-viving agriculture in Scott county Ark. Farmers of the county are rapidly changing from a one-crop system depending mainly on cotton to a balanced program including livestock, and food for home consumption. Under agreements with farmers, cultivated land is being reduced about 21 percent, pasture land is being increased 54 percent, and meadow land is being increased 62 percent. In the past five years, 25,000 additional acres have been converted to pasture, and both number and quality of livestock have increased in proportion.

"Ten years ago, cattle from Scott county were penalized on the markets because the animals grown here were of inferior quality," the county agent said. "Today breeders come here for breeding stock, and feeders are buying feeder calves. There are 17,000 head of good—high quality—beef and dairy cattle in this county, where ten years ago there were 8,500 head of scrub cattle."

Groundwork for this program was started by this county agent soon after he went to Scott county 18 years ago. Establishment of a Soil Conservation Service demonstration near Waldron in 1925 gave it impetus, and the success of this work led farmers to vote for the creation of the Poteau soil conservation district, which now covers the entire county.

One result of the diversification program has been that in five years the value of food canned at home and the number of jars of jelly preserved for home use have tripled.

SHRINKAGE FACTS NEEDED FOR SLIP-COVER FABRICS

Good fit is essential in a trimly tailored slip cover for a chair oravenport. Looseness results in wrinkles. It pays to buy either a fabric labeled with a guaranty against much shrinkage or to test unguaranteed fabrics.

The Bureau of Home Economics suggests this practical test. Buy about two-thirds of a yard of the fabric. Mark off a square 18 inches each way and sew a colored thread on the marks. Wash the sample exactly as the slip cover will be washed. Dry, sprinkle lightly, and then smooth out gently so as not to stretch the cloth. Press by putting the iron down in one place, lifting it, and putting it down in another again from side to side in both sections. Measure the marked square directions in at least three places and calculate the shrinkage.

Fabrics suitable for washable slip covers should not shrink more than about two percent. A slip cover made from such material could be used after laundering. Many manufacturers now stamp residual shrinkage information along the selvage of slip-cover-fabrics.

Price is no guide to satisfaction in slipcover fabrics, the bureau finds. Some fabrics guaranteed not to shrink more than one to two percent often cost no more, and sometimes less, than similar materials without the guaranty. In a study of typical materials, the bureau found great differences in shrinkage—warpwise and filling-wise. In some unlabeled materials, wrap shrinkage ran as high as 11 percent, about 4 inches to the yard, and filling-wise shrinkage, 6 percent. In one novelty fabric the figures were 17 and 7 percent.

"THE MACHINE AGE" AND HITLER

Adolph Hitler has done this one thing no one else has ever been able to do—he has fully brought the Machine Age to warfare. While other warriors have had armies of men, Hitler has not only armies of men but also armies of machines—tanks, airplanes, bombers, submarines, flame-throwers, etc. No other warrior has ever had machines in such colossal numbers, of such gigantic power, of such lightning-like speed. And let's remember this: his "armies of machines" have not only enabled him (1) to conquer unready nations more speedily than ever before, but also (2) to disarm every people he conquers and keep them in subjection perhaps for generations or centuries to come. "How?" do you ask. And again the answer must be, "The Machine Age." In the days when war was made by clubs and swords and muskets, it was often possible for conquered peoples to hide or smuggle enough weapons to successfully revolt—but such weapons are as powerless as pop-guns against the monster tanks, bombers, and airplanes of today. With seeming accuracy Hitler is quoted as saying:

"For me there is only the physical and psychological extermination of the enemy... Today science puts at our feet disposal the means to destroy a people physically and psychologically... and we have the technical equipment to scatter whole peoples throughout the world and thereby disintegrate them." — The Progressive Farmer.

FENCE TO SAVE SOIL

Fencing is important in soil conservation farming. When a farmer starts a soil conservation plan he usually finds that fences running uphill, downhill, and straight across the slope, interfere with contour cultivation. Fences have to be moved to fit the new shapes of the fields. In the last seven years, farmers in CCC soil conservation areas have moved 42,000 miles of fences to contour lines.

Many more miles of fence have been built to keep stock from grazing in the woods, to regulate seasonal grazing, to protect vegetation planted in eroded places, and so on. Too often, farming operations have been fitted to the fences. On soil conserving farms, fences are fitted to the farming.

Rain Spoils Election Party

Election Returns Obtained With Difficulty As Storm Interrupts

Saturday night's wind, rain and hail storm spoiled all the fun of The Hesperian's election party. Almost exactly coincident with the close of the polls at 7 o'clock the floods descended and the wind blew. Within thirty minutes the streets were a flood of water and nearly 100 telephones in Floydada were out of commission, including The Hesperian's.

Help of Eddie Williams and his sound system had been promised but the elements stopped any plans for announcing returns over loud speaker system and also for outdoor bulletins.

Part of the returns within the city limits were obtained by telephone before communication was discontinued. Messengers who called for the court house vote soaked up much of the water from overhead and under foot.

First returns came in Floydada Northwest Floydada at 7:04 p. m. At 7:08 Lone Star reported, and Southwest Floydada totals were turned in at 7:10. West Lockney, Southeast Floydada and Northeast Floydada, East Lockney, Starkey, South Plains, and Dougherty came in in rapid succession before 8 o'clock.

Providence, Alken and Sterley had reported before 9 o'clock, Baker and Antelope came in at 9:07 and 9:10 respectively and Lakeview at 9:30. Around 10 o'clock communication was established to Sand Hill, and Goodnight and Allmon in the extreme northeast and southwest portions of the county gave reports about 11:30.

Figures on all other seven boxes were not obtained until Sunday. Fairmount and Cedar presented the principal problems in communication and travel. A messenger was dispatched to Fairmount Sunday afternoon by way of Matador and Fiomot and the returns from Cedar were obtained through M. H. Martin who flew to Cedar in the Floydada Flying club plane and obtained the election figures.

Many telephone lines were still giving trouble as late as Monday, when a crew of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company's plant department were working here to restore city lines.

Final report on the county's complete vote was wired the Texas Election bureau by Mrs. Nora Hatley at 8:45 Sunday night.

Mrs. Walton Hale left Tuesday morning for Granbury to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Vick.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williamson and little daughter Ruth Ann of Amarillo spent the week end with her mother Mrs. P. G. Stegall.

GOOD NEIGHBORS

The chairman of the Red Cross is pleased with the fine response that the ladies are making to the call for help in the Red Cross work rooms. New workers are volunteering each day. An extra sewing machine has been donated for use in the sewing room. Many garments are being cut in the sewing room that need to be carried to the homes to be made. Those women who cannot work at headquarters are urged to carry garments out to be made.

Mrs. O. P. Rutledge, who is chairman of the afghan knitting asks that the merchants and the individuals who have odds and ends of wool thread contribute them for the making of afghan squares. If you have threads to donate, please call Mrs. Rutledge (Phone No. 114) or bring them to Red Cross headquarters. Mrs. Rutledge will be glad to teach young knitters to knit these 6 inch afghan squares. This is a work that should appeal to our young girls. Geraldine Simon and Jennie Pauline Chowning have already been busy with these squares. Kate Sparks, another junior, is making a man's sweater.

The Pastor's Helpers class of the First Methodist church, with Mrs. E. C. Henry as chairman, has volunteered to finish the quilt that was made by children at the Daily Vacation Bible school.

The sewing room chairman are: Monday—Mrs. Glad Snodgrass; Tuesday—Mrs. E. L. Norman; Wednesday—Mrs. Lon Davis; Thursday—Mrs. James Colville; Friday—Mrs. Lola Gallaway; Saturday—Mrs. S. W. Ross.

If you are unable to be present on the day that you have volunteered to work, please call your leader and send a substitute if possible.

Outstanding Services
Mrs. Lola Gallaway in home work has cut 17 girls dresses, 20 hospital shirts, and contributed two hours work each day at headquarters. She is assisting Red Cross production chairman.

Time For Americans To Sit Up And Take Note Of Affairs

Serenity Not in Line with Tears, Fallen Flags in Europe, Chairman Snodgrass Says

In a plea for more active participation by Floyd county people in the Defense Savings program Glad Snodgrass, county chairman of the committee, declared this week that people who have remained on their jobs and in their homes should ever be able to show the boys who have gone to the colors that the homefolks are doing their bit in the best way they can.

"The time has come for Americans to sit up and take notice and to wake up to their responsibilities to their country, to themselves and to the future of their children," he said.

"World selfishness and greed have reached a crescendo—nations have been plunged into war for no other reason than that they felt secure and safe in the belief that their systems could not be tampered with. That their boundaries were inviolable, and because they thought trust and treaties were sacred to mankind. Their security has been ripped from them. One after another they have dragged into an abyss which is dreadful to contemplate or even think about. Flags have fallen and men have wept bitter tears because they took too long to open their eyes.

"We feel safe and serene. Enemies are watching our proceedings. Many of our boys in Floyd county and in our community have already been called to the colors. They have resigned their jobs, said goodbye to their families and are now engaged in a period of intensive training at a great sacrifice to themselves individually. Many of my friends have ask me how they could help.

"You can't do it by continually talking loyalty. You can do it by walking down to the Post office or the bank and purchasing a dime defense stamp or adding to this and purchasing a $25 defense bond that you pay only $18.75 for and is backed up by your government. Floyd county has been frequently called upon for help for this or that worthy a generosity worthy of any group of cause and has always responded with Americans. Now government is offering to each and every one of us a chance to take direct part in our National Defense problem. Maybe you can just buy a little 25 cent stamp and then see how fast you can fill it up. Then when your brother or your neighbors brother comes home on leave—you can show him that you, too, are helping your country. Let's prove to the countries on the other side that our country is safe and sound."

Would Train CCC For Functions In Defense

Double-Barrelled Program Furnishes Job-Training For Enrollees

AMARILLO, Texas, July 1.—The training of enrollees in CCC camps for specific functions in the National Defense effort recently was outlined as a major objective of the camps by the Director of the Civilian Conservation Corps. In conformity with this objective, soil conservation specialists in 25 camps of the Southern Great Plains are co-operating with educational advisors and Army personnel in the camps to give enrollees specific training in such skills as will make them valuable workers in the Defense program upon their graduation from the camps, according to H. H. Fennell, Regional Conservator of the Soil Conservation Service at Amarillo, Texas.

Job-training courses under competent instructors are given in most camps in such fields as the care, repair, maintenance, and operation of automotive equipment and tractors, the construction of roads, bridges and buildings, the laying of telephone lines, construction engineering, surveying, radio operation, baking and cooking and many other skills.

Enrollees from many camps are able to attend vocational training courses, provided in the camps or at nearby trade schools under supervision of the Defense Training Program now being administered by State Departments of Vocational Education and the U. S. Office of Education. Subjects taught in these vocational training schools include maintenance and repair of motor vehicles, wood working, metal work, electricity, welding, radio, and aircraft construction.

Approximately 90 per cent of the enrollees in CCC camps being jointly administered by the Soil Conservation Service and the Army in the Southern Great Plains region, which includes Kansas, eastern Colorado, eastern New Mexico, and Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles, are receiving vocational training of value to National Defense, according to Fennell. The special training courses are taken by enrollees after the eight-hour day of work has been completed.

Fennell emphasized that the camps have not ceased to work on the conservation of natural resources, but are continuing that work and giving the vocational training to the enrollees in addition. He also pointed out that in addition to the vocational training provided enrollees, the program is of value to National Defense in that it graduates enrollees with stronger and more healthy bodies and with experience in how to live, work and play together, which will be invaluable to them if and when they are inducted into the army.

Boom Towns Have Many Problems

National Defense Program In Texas Makes Multitude Of Health Problems

Austin, Texas, June 30.—"Expansion of the national defense program in Texas has transformed normal population areas into 'boom towns' faced with a multitude of public health problems never before witnessed in this State" declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Local governmental agencies, hard pressed to provide minimum public health protection to this increased population, have been faced with problems of inadequate housing, insufficient water and sewerage supplies, and lack of environmental sanitation to offset the possibility of communicable disease epidemics.

Requests for immediate assistance to provide public health protection to these areas deluge the State Health Department day after day. Fortunately a number of counties, in health and military projects were located, had, for some time, maintained standard city and county health departments in cooperation with the State Health Department. Using these existing departments as a nucleus, additional personnel were added to adequately care for pressing needs in the matters of public health protection. El Paso, Dallas, Tarrant, Nueces, and Cameron were among the counties whose public health problems were solved in this manner.

Brownsville, Harlingen, Midland, and Texarkana, where new defense projects, totaling millions of dollars, have recently been located, were equally fortunate in already maintaining city-county health units.

The location of military camps in other areas duplicated problems of the above cities. In setting up public health protection to serve both the civilian and military population, sanitation zones were set up in five to fifteen mile radius adjacent to the military reservations. County health departments were established at Brownwood, Victoria, Palacios, Mineral Wells and Abilene. Personnel of these health departments devote special attention to environmental sanitation within the sanitation zones. The production and distribution of milk and food supplies is carefully checked. Water supplies and sewage disposal facilities have been enlarged to care for added population and housing conditions improved to minimize sanitary hazards. Permits are required for the construction and operation of retail establishments within the zone area, thus securing compliance with necessary sanitary regulations.

Twin Melodiers. Jimmie and Eddie Ferrin are popular entertainers with the Harley Sadler show which is here for tonight and Friday night.

All of these measures have been designed to control communicable diseases within the five to fifteen mile radius of the camps and avert possible epidemics.

It is expected that the near future will see the establishment of several additional county health departments in areas of Texas where other military camps and national defense projects have been located, necessitating the concentration of large bodies of civilian and military population within given areas. Galveston, Wichita Falls, Waco, Beaumont, Fort Arthur, and Orange have been in conference with the State Health Department to effect establishment of such county health departments in order to solve their pressing health problems.

It is noteworthy that during this time of national emergency, as during normal times, county health departments continue to offer the most satisfactory, comprehensive, and economical solution to the local governmental function of providing adequate public health protection for its given area.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Blevins and little daughter Shirley of Dallas spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Roe McCleskey and other relatives. Mrs. Blevins and Mrs. McCleskey are sisters. Mr. and Mrs. Blevins will go to Chicago the latter part of the month to make their home.

To Explain Stamp Plan In County

Representative Will Visit Every Cotton Goods Retailer In County

K. Duggan, a representative of the Surplus Marketing administration plans to call personally on every retailer of cotton products in Floyd county sometime within the next 60 days and acquaint them with the operation of the Cotton Order Stamps program.

This was announced the latter part of last week by D. F. Bredthauer, County Agricultural agent of Floyd county. This visit of Mr. Duggan is a part of the extensive education campaign which will be carried on in counties where the supplementary cotton stamp program is to be undertaken.

"It is of utmost importance," said Mr. Bredthauer "that these merchants and their clerks fully understand the rules and regulations governing the operation of the program. Retail merchants dealing in cotton goods will be one of the most important groups in this program designed to help our cotton farmers, merchants, and the South's Number 1 industry as a whole."

"Many more citizens of the United States depend upon cotton for a living than upon any other crop we grow. It is the most important cash crop we grow. On 2,000,000 cotton farms of the South and Southwest more than 10,000,000 persons are dependent on cotton for the greater part of their income."

"The war has sharply curtailed our exports of American cotton which, more than any other American crop has been dependent on foreign buyers for its market. Accordingly, it is today more in the national interest than ever before that we increase our domestic consumption of cotton goods grown, processed, and manufactured in this country. Merchants, farmers, and the general public should cooperate in this important national objective of increased cotton consumption."

Jupiter Pluvius Makes Trouble For Municipal Authorities, Too

Put down as among other things the rains have done:

The city's income has been materially cut while its expense bills have materially increased.

For 12 years the city has leaned heavily on its income from water service to the citizens of the community, and even now the income for most of the administrative operations of the municipality come from that source. Only 14 cents out of every $1.50 collected in taxes goes into the general fund, the remainder being pledged for bond and indebtedness service with bondholders of the city.

So in April when the rains began to fall so freely the city missed several dollars in income generally obtained from water used for gardens, lawns and trees. Then in May the thing became aggravated and the city's income dropped off again. Came June and the same story over again with still a further decrease compared with the same month a year previous.

The total difference is nearly $600 compared with a year previous. Add to the loss in income an increase in expense incident to trying to keep streets open, culverts done and redone, et cetera, et cetera, and the whole runs around a thousand-dollar difference.

Members of the council this week viewed the possibility that the bottom of the barrel would be scraped soon unless rains let up and the normal use of water is resumed. Jupiter Pluvius lent little encouragement. He dished out more rain in ample quantities.

While the councilmen and street department wonder how they are going to do all the things that need to be done to keep the streets as nearly passable as they are, with the funds in sight.

How this Certified Record can spell new Oil-Savings—new Engine Safety—for You

You get the oil that outlasted 5 other highly reputed brands by 74% to 161% in Certified Competition, when you change to this proved-in-advance new oil named

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL

—Popular-Priced

Your own engine can be fortified by new Conoco Nth motor oil right today, at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. But before going on sale this new oil proved that a regular 5-quart fill could establish startling extremes of endurance, engine protection and miser-economy.

Fantastic Death Valley brings Your Evidence

Death Valley seems to shimmy—like heat at your furnace door. And down on this desert impartial observers watched 6 identical stock cars, at 57-mile speed, torture-testing 6 quality oils, including new Conoco Nth oil. No let-up, day on day, till each oil gave out and junked its engine.

Even the best competitive oil in the test was outlasted 5,683 miles by Conoco Nth oil. And one "rival" was outlasted all of 8,268 miles by new Conoco Nth oil. Certified.

All this New Economy how?

America has long known Conoco best for making it possible to give any engine OIL-PLATING... lubricant that can't all quickly drain down, but must stay PLATED UP—alert against wear in advance—not waiting till oil-flow starts. OIL-PLATING comes from a rare synthetic... man-made under the Conoco Germ Processed oil patent. And Conoco Nth motor oil still brings OIL-PLATING—but not only that!...

In addition this new oil brings Conoco's latest synthetic—Thialkene inhibitor. It inhibits—controls—the effect of foul "leftovers" produced by every engine's normal firing. Otherwise uncontrolled oil spoilage could easily start. In oils that let this spoilage start, it spreads like a rumor—gets worse, faster and faster. But now that's nipped in the bud by Thialkene inhibitor, in new Conoco Nth oil... U. S. Patent 2,218,132. This oil stays more like its own good self. Then your engine will, and that saves oil... as demonstrated by the long life of Conoco Nth in pitiless Death Valley.

You'll never give your own engine such a "trial by torture." You wouldn't pass up your regular time for draining. Authorities say, "Don't!" But you can know that Conoco Nth outlasted other big-name oils by as much as 161%... Certified. So you can see your chance of big Summer savings in changing now to new Conoco Nth at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Co.—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

Three F H S Stars Chosen For East-West Football

PLAINVIEW, July 2—(Special)—West Texas football fans will have a preview of the popular fall sport August 29, when picked teams from Class A and Class B high schools will perform as the closing event of the annual Plains Coaching school which opens here August 25.

From towns over a wide West Texas territory, football stars who are winding up their high school careers are being invited to participate in the All-Star classic which will bring the school to a fitting culmination.

Among the athletes who have already accepted an invitation to perform here are R. E. Goughly, back, Dillon Patterson, tackle, and Royce Turner, center, all of Floydada, are listed on the East squad.

The group of high school stars will be divided into two teams, the East and the West. The East team will be coached by Marty Karow, coach of the mighty A & M college backfield while the West will be tutored by Del Morgan, new Texas Tech grid mentor. These two outstanding coaches will conduct the football school for approximately 100 high school athletic directors who are expected to attend.

In addition to playing in the game Friday night, August 29, the boys are to demonstrate during the week various plays and formations that Karow and Morgan will present at the school.

Transfers Must Be Made In July Guffee Says

All school transfers must be made not later than July 31, County Superintendent Clarence Guffee announced Wednesday. Students whose grades are not taught in the home school are definitely required to get a transfer.

No automatic transfer is provided for students who come under the above classification and parents must make the transfer, Guffee said.

Floydada Schools To Open On Monday September 1

Monday, September 1 is the time set for the opening of Floydada schools for the 1941-42 term. The date was announced at a meeting of the school board Tuesday night at the high school building.

Other business discussions followed but no new teachers were chosen for the two vacancies caused by the resignations of Miss Maurine Hoyle and Miss Lois Wren.

munication lines. Portions of Center, Fairview, Hillcrest, Cedar, Liberty and Campbell were in the rain or hail area. Hail at Ed Lackey's place knocked holes in the roof and J. V. Gilley and one or two others there suffered crop damage from hail. Wheat was flattened and it will be several days before fields can be re-planted at Ed Durham's and Johnnie Lackey's place and in that vicinity. Below the caprock the area around W. I. True and Geo. R. Tibbets places had hail and were badly washed. Some re-planting will have to be done. Northeast around the Taylors and Merrells the rain was about one inch and the damage not so pronounced according to the reports The Hesperian has.

An area of considerable damage in the northern part of the county is also reported, extending into Briscoe and Swisher counties. Above Lone Star and north of South Plains heavy precipitation and some hail added to the spoilage in fields and made transportation problems.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Finding Fault is a lazy man's job; it's easy to do. The galleries are overflowing with critics who crane their necks and wag their tongues. They play no ball; they fight no fights; they make no mistakes because they attempt nothing.

Down in the arena are the doers. They make many mistakes because they attempt many things. Edison, Burbank, Ford, Marconi and the Wright brothers probably have an all time low in battin average. Ford forgot to put a reverse gear in his automobile. Edison once spent two million dollars on an invention which fizzled. The gigantic creative experiments of these men in blazing new trails made mistakes inevitable. But who remembers the critics who laughed at them?

The man who makes no mistakes lacks boldness and the spirit of adventure. He is a brake on the wheels of progress. There are no thrills in his life; and there are no monuments to his memory. But should a friend of his achieve the goal over a road that was rocky and rutty, he is the one who boasts—"I knew him when . . ."

"Name?" queried the immigration official. "Sneeze," replied the Chinese proudly. The official looked hard at him. "Is that your Chinese name? he asked. "No. Melican name," said the Oriental blandly. "Then let's have your native name." "Ah Choo."—Santa Fe Magazine.

The Methodist Church

(R. T. Breedlove, pastor)

There have been many slogans advanced in America within the last twenty-five years, among them, "Make the world safe for Democracy" and "All out aid for Britain". The one we most need is, "Make America safe normally and religiously, for this and coming generations of American children. That should be, and is, the aim of our churches. Go to your church Sunday and do your bit.

Sunday school at 9:45, preaching at 11:00. Evening services beginning at 7:30 for young people, preaching at 8:15.

It is easy to identify the owner of the automobile; he is the one who, after you pull the door shut, always opens it again and slams it harder.

Wheat Shipments Light Over Floyd County

Less than 75 carloads of wheat had been shipped out from Floyd county shipping points and at Petterburg yesterday when a check-up revealed that Floydada and Boothe spur with shipments totalling about 70 carloads of 1500 bushels average had sent out the major portion of the grain so far into the channels of trade from the area.

No grain had been shipped at that time from Dougherty or from Barwise, Lockney, Petersburg or Muncy. At the three last-named places, however, practically all of the grain received will go into local storage plants built this spring. At the same time receipts have not been heavy. Dougherty was receiving grain late yesterday but was probably the only point in the county where weather conditions were favorable enough for any harvesting. Relatively small volume of grain had reached the elevators at Aiken, Cereal, Sterley and South Plains.

The ex-convict had reformed in a big way and attended church diligently. Each week he was asked to lead the congregation in song and to select the hymn. One Sunday the preacher finished his sermon with: "All liquor should be thrown in the river." He then smiled benignly and said, "Brother Smelt will now lead us in song."

The ex-convict arose, struck a pose and ended the service by singing: "Shall we gather at the river?"

Mrs. Oleta Williamson and Mrs. Jess Patterson spent Sunday in Kress attending a birthday celebration in honor of Mrs. W. A. Williamson, mother-in-law of Mrs. Williamson. The day was spent in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Hamilton.

Mrs. W. M. Jeter returned home Friday from Mineral Wells where she spent a week visiting in the home of her father S. H. Boone.
