The hunt will start at 3 p.m. "This is for all children of the county, from infants to 12 years of age," Mr. Leach said. There will be three age groups, so the small children will have an opportunity to find plenty of eggs.

He assured that there will be an abundance of eggs—candy ones—for all children who come out.

The Easter Egg Hunt has been held yearly by the Kiwanis Club for more than 30 years.

Serving on the committee with Mr. Leach are Sam Adams and C. A. Crawford, and all members of the club will be at the park to assist.

Radio Club to Plan Weather Watch April 18

The Rolling Plains Citizens Band Radio Club will meet on Thursday, April 18, to revise its weather watch program and set it up for the spring storm season.

The meeting, called by the new president, N. E. Childers of Mearla, will be in the National Guard Armory.

There is other major work to be considered besides the weather watch, Mr. Childers pointed out.

There will be a discussion on working with the Collingsworth County Civil Defense set-up and positions will be assigned to each member which will be filled in case of disaster.

Co-operation with the Texas State Guard will be discussed. Mr. Childers pointed out the need for weather watchers in the rural parts of the county. He also said that efforts toward increasing the membership of the CB Radio Club will be started and he urged all persons interested in membership to be at the April 18 meeting.

Although the number of citizens band radios in the area is not known, Mr. Childers estimated it at between 300 and 400. Any person who operates one of these is eligible for membership.

That Skyrocket Band of Wellington High School will sponsor a Fine Arts Night Tuesday evening, April 30, to bring a greater understanding of the visual and musical arts to the area.

Chris Hubbard, band president, said that the works of local artists will be featured in an exhibit at the Wellington High School, beginning at 6:30 in the evening.

This is the third time that

Salt Fork Soil Conservation District has won this coveted award. It indicates that its work is judged the most outstanding of any soil conservation district in the 51 counties of the Panhandle and South Plains that make up Region I.

This work has been carried out through the board of supervisors, working with the co-operators in the district. Besides Mr. Henard, chairman, the board consists of Orville Vaughan, Otis Emmert, Ted Wheeler and Pat Bradley.

Working in conjunction with the board, and offering technical assistance is the Soil Conservation Service, headed by Gary Reed, work unit conservator. Other members of the SCS personnel are Lynn Courtney, Jon LaBaum and Stephen Qualls.

40-Year History of Arnett School Told

By Cloette Johnson

HOLLIS.—On March 8, 1928, Mrs. Era Bridges, Harmon County School Superintendent, issued the order consolidating Valley View, Bitter Creek and Sybert Hill—this became Arnett. The first board members were E. W. Bennett, Claude Parker and J. E. Darnell.

Arnett was named in honor of Mrs. Maisie Arnett Nelson, who held a state office. She is now living at Arapaho, Okla. She visited the school in 1930 to present it with a silk flag.

Paul J. Selman was the first superintendent and Jack Davis was the first principal. During this first year 1928-29, the high school classes were held at Valley View, the 7th and 8th grades at Sybert Hill, 2nd, 3rd and 4th at Bitter Creek, and the 1st at Antioch. In 1929 the new building was completed and the school moved together.

In 1930 when Joe Brown was principal, the school song of "Hep Pep Pep" was adopted, also the school Indian emblem was chosen by the boys and girls.

1932-33: Loran Wells was superintendent and Ned Bryan principal. The gym was built in 1933-34. In 1934-35, Henry Vaughan became superintendent and Haskell Alexander the principal. Seven teachers were employed and the first school buses used.

From 1935 to 1939, Ivan Cates was principal, a truck garage and duplex teacherage were constructed. In 1939-40, Mr. Cates was appointed Harmon County superintendent and Joe Curb succeeded him. OM school joined the district, adding 20 square miles and 100 students. Arnett had 12 teachers and the boys won the Class C State Basketball tournament.

1943-44: Cecil Lewis was principal.

1944-45: Elbert Patton became superintendent. Because of World War II, Arnett had an all-woman faculty, with Theresa Conner the first woman principal.

1945-46: Jack Witherspoon was principal-coach and his girls went to the regional basketball tournament; 1947-48: Willard Etheridge was principal.

In 1948, Westview school joined Arnett High School. Ike Peace became superintendent for two years: W. B. Patrick and Earl Newberry were principals. In 1950-51, Dale Culver was superintendent and Billy Jones principal. Mr. Peace returned as superintendent from 1951-54, with J. A. Garrick and L. A. (Jack) Owens as principals. Mr. Owens was superintendent in 1954-55, and R. N. Vaughan and Don Ward principals.

Jim Smalling was superintendent in 1956-57, with Ward and Bob Copeland as principals.

Westview grade school was added. Westview school then became Westview boys home.

1957 saw the boys basketball team win the state tournament; O'Dell Stratton, outstanding 4-H Club boy, won a trip to Chicago, and Lindy and Von McDaniel signed with the St. Louis Cardinals.

1953-61: Bill Sexton, an Arnett graduate, was superintendent; Everett Weil and Bill McCamon, principals. The girls basketball team went to state.

1962-68: Bob Copeland returned as superintendent. A number of additions have been made to the school with music reestablished. Larry Palmore was principal 1965-66; the gym, built in 1934, burned.

Arnett has graduated 362 seniors from high school in its 40 years.

Post-Emergency Weed Control Is Introduced

CHICAGO.—A new herbicide for sorghum, that overcomes many of the serious disadvantages of present day weed control methods, has just been announced by Velsicol Chemical Corporation.

Banvel herbicide is absorbed by weeds and penetrates down through the plant to the roots. Bigweed (carelessweed), one of the worst weeds confronting sorghum growers is controlled with one application, as is sunflower, lambsquarter, purslane, annual morning glory, and other annual broadleaf weeds.

Presently, pre-emergence herbicides are used locally and put on before weeds appear. Since every year is not a weedy year, these pre-emergence herbicides are often wasted in dryer, non-weedy years. One of the important advantages of Banvel is that it does not have to be applied until the weed problem appears. This saves wasted material and labor.

Banvel is a liquid and has not been known to irritate skin. It washes out of spray tanks easily with normal precautions. Sorghum growers using Banvel can rotate to any other crop the following year.

Tech Ag School Gets Big Research Grant

LUBBOCK—Dr. Sam E. Curl, interim assistant dean of agriculture at Texas Tech, Wednesday announced receipt of the largest research grant ever to be made by a corporation to the School of Agriculture.

The grant from G. D. Searle & Co., was for $29,500, the fifth annual contribution from the company to Tech in support of Dr. Curl's research of estrus in beef cattle.

Graduate students Bill Durfey of Wellington and Robert Patterson of Lovington, N.M., are assisting Dr. Curl in the research.

Dr. George E. Short, Searle's director of animal products research, said Curl "has had some very, very promising results" in exploring methods of improving and controlling reproduction in cows.

Curl said "our work with the capsule technique during the past year has indicated that it has real potential for commercial application in the cattle industry."

There are still some problems to be worked out, the researcher added, but he and his staff have hopes of making a contribution toward resolving them.

Searle's research grant for the project last year was $20,000. This year's grant brings to $61,200 the funds from the Chicago pharmaceutical firm.

"The increase this year," according to interim dean Wayland Bennett of the School of Agriculture, "is an indication of the quality of the work being done and the value it can have commercially."

First Baptist Church Honors Wellington Seniors at Banquet

Wellington High School seniors and faculty members were honored at the annual banquet given Friday evening, April 5, by the First Baptist Church under the direction of the Woman's Missionary Union.

Held in the church fellowship hall, the banquet had as its theme "Showers of Blessings."

Dr. Ray McClung, the president of Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, was the guest speaker.

He reminded the Wellington seniors of the emphasis that will be put on youth for the accomplishments of the future. It may not be the most studious or the most brilliant student who accomplishes most, he said, but it may be the student with the greatest drive.

With the Rev. Leroy Gaston as master of ceremonies, Mrs. Charles Cason, Sr., president of the WMU, welcomed the guests and Johnny Harris, senior class president, responded.

A skit, presenting famous historic and Biblical couples was presented to open the entertainment. With Mrs. C. T. Hubbard as narrator, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Daves were presented as Anthony and Cleopatra; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harwell as George and Martha Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Derryberry as Hiawatha and Minnehaha; Raymond Horton as Samson, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Clement as Lot and his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilkins as President and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson.

Music accompanying the skit was presented by Mickey Ann Kendrick, Patti Lacy, Judy Porter, Sharon Gaston, Carol Burba and Debbie Lewis, with Elaine Karnes as pianist.

Decorations were a fantasy of spring flowers in all their array of colors. Large tissue balls strung on pink ribbon hung from the ceiling.

Umbrellas in spring colors, and arrangements of roses, iris and tulips decorated the tables.

Mrs. C. T. Hubbard was general chairman. Members of the food committee were Mrs. J. L. Burt, Mrs. Ola Mae Smith, Mrs. Dick Sweat, and Mrs. W. F. Harbin.

Mrs. Jenkins registered the guests.

Easter is upon us and with it comes the pleasant experience of dyeing colorful Easter eggs. For years there has been confusion between the best cooking methods and the best peeling methods for hard-cooked eggs. There are two methods recommended for hard cooking eggs, according to the poultry science and foods specialists. Maybe this can help you in turning out hard-cooked eggs for Easter.

Cold water method: Cover eggs in pan with enough water to come at least one inch above the eggs. Bring rapidly to boiling. Turn off heat and if necessary set pan off unit to prevent further boiling. Cover and let stand in the hot water for 15 minutes. Cool immediately and thoroughly in cold water—this makes the shells easier to remove and helps to prevent dark surface on yolks.

To remove the shell: crackle the shell. Roll egg between the hands to loosen the shell, then peel. Holding the egg under running cold water or dipping in a bowl of water helps to ease off the shell.

Boiling water method: Place cold eggs in dish of lukewarm water to prevent cracked shells. Bring water in a pan to rapid boiling, using enough water to come one inch above eggs. Transfer eggs from warm water to boiling water with spoon; reduce heat to keep water below simmering and hold for 20 minutes. Cool eggs promptly and thoroughly in cold water—this makes the shells easier to remove and prevents dark surfaces on yolks.

Follow directions above for removing shell. Eggs are delicious not only at breakfast, but lunch and dinner as well. Weight watchers, have no qualms — one egg is only 75 calories.

Grades AA and A are top quality eggs that you can use for cooking in the shell, poaching or frying. Grade B eggs are cheaper and are often a good buy. However, both Grade B and C eggs generally have thin whites and flat yolks, yet these are best for scrambling and general cooking.

The National Academy of Science reports that on request of the Food and Drug Administration, it will review the evidence bearing on the safety of artificial sweeteners. In 1935, an Academy committee concluded that there was no evidence that the use of saccharin and cyclamate "for special dietary purposes" is unsafe.

The National Academy said that since 1935, use of sweeteners in foods, beverages and pharmaceuticals has greatly increased so that "it is felt that a new appraisal of the safety of non-nutritive sweeteners is timely and appropriate."

At the present time there is no scientific evidence available that shows artificial sweeteners

Qualifications Gap Favors Preston Smith

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith climaxed a week of campaigning for governor this week-end in San Antonio where he joined a host of dignitaries for the official opening Saturday of HemisFair. He toured the World's Fair with his family Saturday.

Speaking of HemisFair Friday, Lt. Gov. Smith said "the opening marks one of the greatest opportunities for a single industry our state has ever seen. Texas has already edged into the tourist business, but HemisFair marks a significant advancement that can rocket tourism into an economic giant."

Most of the week, Lt. Gov. Smith concentrated his efforts in the Houston and Dallas area, but true to his style in mid-week he attended a barbecue in his honor in Liberty where several hundred supporters turned out. In Liberty, Smith said the qualifications gap between himself and the other candidates is emerging as the only significant issue in the governor's race. He said, "It is apparent now that when my 18 years of legislative experience is compared with those of the other candidates, we readily see who is in the best position to do the best job—not just who says he will."

Smith has another big barbecue rally planned for Hallettsville on Sunday.

On separate occasions, Smith stressed the need for a broadened concept of adult education in Texas from the literacy level to the university level. He said, "It is wasteful and shameful for a state to allow the minds of so many of its people to remain in the semi-darkened condition of illiteracy." He added there are 750,000 adults in Texas today who have no higher than a fifth grade education.

Smith called for expansion of training facilities on yet another front—in the field of medicine. Commenting that Texas ranked 42nd in the nation in numbers of doctors, Smith proposed to alleviate this shortage by creating two more medical schools in Texas: one immediately and one in the near future.

The first recorded State Fair of Texas was held in Dallas in 1850 and drew an attendance of 2,000.

County Farmers Call FU Fly-In Big Success

Delbert White and Rudie Tate of Collingsworth County Farmers Union were among 130 members of the FU Young Farmers Legislative Fly-In which returned last week from four days in Washington where they contacted the nation's congressmen and senators on the problems of agriculture.

"It appeared to us and to the others that they don't want to take much action this year. They want to get ideas and opinions now and act next year, especially on new legislation," Tate said upon returning.

The young farmers divided into groups to call on the nation's legislators. Tate, White and Wiley Taber visited Congressman Sam Gibbons of Florida; Dave Martin of Nebraska; Ray Roberts, Graham Purcell and Bob Price of Texas; Hanna of California; James Broyhill of North Carolina; Od-in Langdon of Minnesota, who is chairman of the Republican Task Force Agriculture Committee.

They also visited Senators Ralph Yarborough of Texas, Walter Mondale of Minnesota, and Gaylord Nelson, Wis.

The Collingsworth County Farmers Union will meet Monday, April 15, at 8 p.m. in the Greenbelt Electric Cooperative, Inc., to hear reports by the young farmers making the fly-in, Rudie Tate and Delbert White.

The public is invited.

"Another thing we found I was not aware of is that there has been a bill introduced already, and it is in the committee on education and labor, to unionize farm labor. It is now in the rules committee," Tate said.

"We also found that urban congressmen are getting this confused with the agricultural bargaining bill."

Where do urban congressmen get the information that determines how they vote on farm legislation?

"We have more urban congressmen who depend on the Agriculture Committee to tell them what to do. We got that response two or three times. They would tell us they'd wait till the day before a bill comes up for vote and contact the agriculture committee members and let them tell them what to do," he continued.

The young farmers appeared before the Senate Agriculture Committee while in Washington and the Farmers Union had the privilege of giving the lead-off testimony.

This spot is usually reserved for the Secretary of Agriculture but he was out of town and Farmers Union was given that position. Senator Ellender of Louisiana is chairman of this committee.

"This is where we seemed to get our summary," Tate remarked. "Ellender said he was not in favor of trying to get an extension of the 1965 Agriculture Act this year. He thought it had a better chance if they held hearings and got everybody's opinions, then tried to get an extension next year."

The fly-in was a success, the Collingsworth men believe, from the standpoint of showing young farmers exactly what has to be done to get favorable action for agriculture, as well as telling congressmen what the Farmers Union wants.

"A lot of them (congressmen) are looking for new ideas on how to improve the 1965 Agriculture Act. Most don't want to extend it as it is, they want to improve it," Tate declared.

At a Department of Agriculture briefing, the proposed Young Farmer Investment Act was explained by Mr. Wilcox, a deputy in the department.

This would provide loans to qualified young men to purchase land and get into operation. Loans would be for 40 years, with interest at the actual cost of the money to the government. Fifty percent of the total would be amortized in that period, and the other 50 percent due at the end of 40 years, but with the option of refinancing for an additional 40 years.

Hodges Tells of FHA Loans at Samnorwood

Raymond Hodges, county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration, discussed for Samnorwood Young Farmers the loans which his agency makes available, when he was their guest speaker Monday night, April 1.

Mr. Hodges did not include farm operational loans, which are the bulk of business in this area, but devoted his talk to programs and loans less well known.

The Equal Opportunity Loan is for families of very low income. Normally, they go to people who work for wages. It may enable a man to buy or sow, or to buy a piece of equipment for custom work, Mr. Hodges explained.

Farm Ownership Loans help a farmer to buy land, and in this program, emphasis is on helping the young farmer. In all these programs, the borrower must meet certain requirements, Mr. Hodges reminded.

Rural Housing Loans are available to people of all ages, and can be made to any individual in a rural area and town of less than 5,500 population. Several of these loans have been made in Collingsworth County and his office has applications for more.

Recreational, Soil and Water Associational Loans include, in the latter phase, the Samnorwood water works. It could, on the other hand, include a golf course, swimming pools, hunting preserves — a variety of things with the aim of keeping rural families in a rural area.

Only recently Dimmitt received a $200,000 loan under this program for recreational purposes, he said.

National Farmer Organization has Dodson Meeting

Harry Thompson, national field representative of the National Farmer Organization, spoke in Dodson Tuesday night, April 2, a meeting that in spite of stormy weather drew a crowd of 18.

Grover Graham was in charge of the meeting.

Mr. Thompson explained his organization and solicited membership. A later meeting will be set up to elect officers and perfect the local organization.

Mr. Thompson explained that National Farmer Organization, which has come into prominence within the last 10 years, bases its effectiveness on three points: holding action, volume bargaining and selling, and establishing contracts at the processor level. Organization is being completed in Greer, Harmon and Jackson counties in Oklahoma, and he said that over 50% of the production in Greer County is behind NFO.

This is an all-commodity group, he continued. Holding actions are voluntary and grain and meat holding is now on.

Other future meetings are planned in the county, Mr. Thompson said. Those wishing more information can contact Mr. Graham.

Area to Benefit From Big Grain Sorghum Sale to Japan

A farmer-to-farmer international agreement, which included such basics as trust, confidence, faith and respect, has brought about the largest single sale of grain sorghum ever completed by American farmers.

In this $8-million sale, Producers Grain Corporation of Amarillo is furnishing 200,000 tons of grain sorghum over 12 months period to the National Purchasing Federation of Agricultural Cooperative Associations of Japan, better known as Zenkoren.

Ceremonies of friendship marked the loading of the first boat at the Port of Corpus Christi recently. This contract is of special significance.

Japan is the world's largest consumer of American farm exports, and Zenkoren is Japan's largest individual consumer of those U. S. Products. This gives the agreement added importance.

It is, moreover, a long-term arrangement. Zenkoren officials believe that their needs can best be served by dealing directly with a similar organization in the United States at a price which will benefit both.

Most of the grain sorghum that goes to Japan will come from PGC co-ops in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado—our own area, and because of this, Collingsworth growers will receive their share of the benefits.

Quite a Record

Dale Smith, owner of an Edwardsville, Ill., restaurant, every Tuesday night puts out the sign that says all the fried chicken you can eat for $1.25.

So these six fellows from nearby Southern Illinois University show up and announce they're shooting for the world chicken eating record. The time limit is three hours. Smith has no choice but to start dishing it up.

Two-and-one-half hours later Patrick Waggaman, 22, of East St. Louis, Ill., gulps down his 51st piece and calls it quits. Waggaman has bested the performance of a Perdue group, whose top chewer got into the high 40's.

The six SU students as a group have put away what amounts to 24 chickens. An observer explains later why Waggaman got up from the table one-half hour early—"He wasn't full but the owner was weeping."

AUSTIN. — President Lyndon B. Johnson's decision to step aside is turning the May 4 Democratic precinct convention from the previous label of "dull" to a new one of "hotly contested."

Gov. John Connally, who had been slated to be the Texas delegation chairman in support of President Johnson, with little objection from anyone, now has a fight on his hands. Connally's forces launched a favorite son candidacy for Connally at a meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee. Senator Ralph Yarborough objected, and appeared close to a decision to challenge Connally in the county conventions.

At first, the Connally candidacy seemed to be leaning toward Vice President Hubert Humphrey, but Connally wiped that out by saying he would not be a stand-in for anyone. By contrast, Republican conventions on May 4 seem more peacefully inclined. The state Republican organization is united behind Senator John Tower's favorite son candidacy. However, a challenge may be posed by a group trying to win delegates for Gov. Ronald Reagan of California. County conventions on May 11 and state conventions on June 11 will follow, but the grass-roots decisions will be made in the more than 5,000 precincts in Texas on May 4.

"One-Man, One-Vote" Rule
U.S. Supreme Court predictably has extended the one-man-one-vote theory to local governments. Like legislative bodies, the Court said, wherever county, city or other governmental units elect representatives from single-member districts, the districts must be substantially equal.

Ruling was on a case that was brought by Midland Mayor Hank Avery to force Midland County Commissioners Court to reapportion. Dissenting opinion warned of "avalanche of reapportionment cases."

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has predicted the ruling will not disturb local elections already in progress this year, and indicated he feels the problems of unequal representation will be worked out by Texas subdivisions without multiple court suits.

Prior studies have demonstrated, however, that the vast bulk of county commissioners' precincts would be affected by the new ruling. To assume that all will voluntarily correct deficiencies pointed up by the high court appears to be expecting too much of local officials, many of whom will have jobs at stake.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court reversed an Alice case in which a woman claimed doctors and a hospital were liable for assault and battery damages for operating on her without her consent. High court ordered a trial to determine if physicians were given adequate consent.

In other actions, state's highest court: Held that the legislature had authority to remove the requirement of an election before major counties can make special, higher-level tax assessments on property in hospital districts to support medical school teaching hospitals.

Shook up lower court rulings in a case involving royalties on an oil and gas lease covering 1,500 acres in Zapata County.

Refused to review the case in which a man received $1,000 damage award after a Bellville surgeon left a sponge inside him after an operation.

—Agreed with an intermediate court that Coca Cola Company was not responsible for a woman's cutting her finger on a chipped Coke bottle.

New Tax Bill Forecast

Texas Research League, after making detailed studies of state government problems has come up with a new estimate that the 1968 tax bill must be in the $123-$130,000,000 range.

TRL noted that the comptroller's estimate of revenue available for next fiscal year has increased $93,000,000 since last April.

Sources indicate the league's estimate is close to that of Gov. Connally's own budget staff. Connally already has tentatively okayed both a tax bill and a 1969 budget recommendation, aides indicate.

Tornado Season Nears

With the tornado season approaching, department of Public Safety has prepared a circular of tornado safety rules. In general, DPS advises: seek safety in a strongly-reinforced building, preferably in a basement; stay away from windows; if out of doors when the twister hits, lie flat in the nearest depression, ditch or ravine.

Last year Texas led the nation with all time record of 232 reported twisters.

Special Elections Called

Gov. Connally has set special legislative elections for May 14 in Harris County, Dallas County and Brooks, Cameron, Kennedy and Willacy counties.

Houston voters will pick a successor to Rep. Glenn Vickory who resigned. Brooks, Cameron, Kennedy and Willacy county voters will replace Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville who resigned to accept an appointment as Willacy County judge. Dallas voters must choose a successor to the late Rep. John Field.

Law Enforcement Program

Texas Research League has agreed to conduct and finance a study for a law enforcement and criminal justice program design for 10-county Dallas-Fort Worth region of North Central Texas.

North Central Texas Council of Governments is among 12 regional agencies in the nation which received a request from the Department of Housing and Urban Development and Department of Justice to undertake a pilot program design for comprehensive law enforcement planning.

One of the first such studies in the U.S., it is expected to serve as a model for other areas. Design will show what a law enforcement plan should

Consider Bees and Pesticides

Most of the pesticides used in insect control are highly toxic to honey bees. The farmer, the beekeeper and members of the pest control industry should cooperate closely to keep bee losses minimized, declared County Agent Sammy Helmers.

"There are several people in Collingsworth County who receive a part of their income from the sale of honey. Management of hives and maintaining them is expensive and time consuming. Without some cooperation these people will sustain large losses during the cotton insect control seasons," he said.

It will only take a simple phone call if your neighbor maintains bees. Give colonies sufficient warning. The beekeeper can cover his colonies with a burlap or dark plastic material for a couple of hours during and after treatment. If necessary a hive can be covered for two days if the cover is kept damp.

NEW! For clean Sorghum... spray weeds when you see them! with BANVEL

Velsicol announces Banvel herbicide for control of all hard-to-kill weeds of major importance in grain sorghum. This includes carelessweed (pigweed), sunflower, lambs-quarter, purslane, morning glory and other annual broadleaf weeds. Banvel herbicide is applied post-emergence, so there are no wasted sprays in years when rain is scarce and weeds are not a problem. With Banvel you see your weed problem and then spray—all in plenty of time to give young sorghum plants plenty of opportunity to grow.

Banvel is sprayed onto weed leaves and translocates to the roots...for new, total control of weeds. Just apply Banvel between the 10th and 25th day after emergence of grain sorghum (approximately 4 to 12 inches tall).

Banvel is not dependent on soil moisture for its effectiveness, so its results are dependable. And it's a liquid that won't clog your sprayers; nor does Banvel need constant agitation.

Banvel increases yields. It's excellent for use on grain sorghum, wheat, barley, oats and field corn. Order Banvel herbicide to get full potential from your valuable, high-yielding sorghum seed.

See your dealer today. You'll be glad you did!

Final Appeal Presented for Easter Seals

A last minute appeal for support of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults and its program of services to the handicapped was issued today by Jack Neeley, who is the Easter Seal representative in Collingsworth County.

The Easter Seal provided treatment and services for 17,622 physically handicapped children and adults in Texas last year, Mr. Neeley said, and this program needs to be expanded. Many people are going without services that would increase the productivity of their lives and make them happier. With increased growth of the Easter Seal Society, more and more of these people will be reached, he added.

The Society is carrying on a continuing program to seek out the disabled who are doing without services and see that they receive the services they need. As Easter Seal representative, Mr. Neeley is the person to contact for services from the Easter Seal Society.

The Texas Easter Seal Society helps support 21 treatment facilities in Texas where crippled children and adults are treated regardless of their ability to pay. Physical, occupational and speech therapy are offered to help the handicapped overcome their disabilities. A complete referral program to ensure equal rehabilitation services to every person in Texas is included in Easter Seal Society services, he added.

Mr. Neeley asked that anyone in need of services contact him at the Wellington State Bank in Wellington, Texas 79095.

He added that the Easter Seal Appeal will close Sunday, April 14, and full support should be given the Easter Seal Society by every citizen of Collingsworth County.

SALT FORK SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

CURRENT EVENTS IN THE DISTRICT

By Stephen Qualls

Construction has been completed on Rudie Tate's parallel terrace system east of Dozier.

Applications are being taken for participation in the Great Plains Conservation Program. At the present time no contracts are being certified for funds by the state office due to the budget cut. It is estimated that no contracts will be certified until after July 1, 1968. At the present time the SCS is holding 14 applications for Great Plains contracts.

The Salt Fork SWCD sponsored its annual soil and grass judging contest for 4-H and FFA teams in the Greenbelt District on Tuesday of this week. As usual, a hamburger supper was held at Ellison Park following the contest for all the participants and their coaches. The SWCD supervisors prepared the meal.

Clee Parr has been the latest Collingsworth County rancher to adopt a range-rotation-deferred grazing program. Mr. Parr has the only rotation system in the southwest part of the county.

Most of the grass seeding scheduled under the Great Plains program this year has been carried out. The outlook for successful stands are excellent due to the moisture conditions. Some of the latest persons to seed their grass are James Stavenhagen, Wendell Morgan, Ben Farmer, C. E. Alexander, Melvin Hymen, Lewis Green, Roy Canada, Oliver Wischkaemper, and H. J. P. Fields. There are several persons whom plan to seed Weeping lovegrass on a clean tilled seedbed after May 1.

Lynn Wauer has been employed by the Soil Conservation Service on a part time basis.

Deer Trophy Lasts Very Short Time

SAN ANGELO.—When Fritz Luckenbach of Menard dropped his buck deer this year he found it sported an impressive set of antlers. However, the trophy didn't last very long.

Luckenbach nailed his antlers to a live oak tree in front of his hunting cabin and thought no more about them for several days. When he returned for another look, he found only a tiny fragment of bone and two nails. The calcium-laden antlers were completely gone.

It seems that other wildlife besides deer like antlers. Busy and doubtless hungry squirrels and other rodents had completely consumed the rack.

Luckenbach feels that if the rodents have an iron deficiency the nails probably won't last long either.

Davis Mountain Park Near Finish

AUSTIN.—Department workmen are putting the final touches on a $1 million plus renovation project at the 1869-acre Davis Mountains State Scenic Park near Fort Davis, according to Johnny Buck, director of park planning for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Department sources say this is the first park in the state park system to have a million-dollar renovation project. The project was completed by Federal grants from the Land and Water Conservation Fund and appropriations from the Texas Legislature.

Major projects in the park include a park headquarters and entrance complex, renovation of Indian Lodge, a water system, an interpretation center, an amphitheatre, a one-half mile nature trail and two miles of hiking trails which interconnect with existing trails at Fort Davis National Historic Site, just across the mountain from the state park.

Approximately $400,000 was spent on Indian Lodge by adding 24 additional rooms, a 22x 42-foot motel type swimming pool, a dining room and an assembly room capable of approximately 100 persons.

More Attention Given Highways

AUSTIN—Texas highways, already hailed as some of the nation's best-kept travelways, will get extra attention this year.

State Highway Engineer J. C. Dingwall today instructed field offices of the Texas Highway Department to impart extra effort this year for the pleasure of visitors to HemisFair.

Dingwall's instructions included regulating mower operations along roadsides. He called for maximum attention to preservation and development of wildflower stands along the highways.

Field offices also were urged to give emphasis to litter pickup, maintenance of signs and markings, cleaning of roadside parks and rest areas, the orderly stockpiling of highway materials and the appearance of Departmental District and Section headquarters.

Texas began highway beautification efforts more than three decades ago. Now 840 thousand acres of right of way to maintain makes the Highway Department the state's largest landscape gardener.

Aside from aesthetics, beautification of highways pays dividends in safety. For instance, a carefully-located shrub discreetly calls attention to possible roadside hazards.

Roadside parks and safety rest stops provide safe, pleasant surroundings where the motorist may stop and take a break from the wheel. An alert, rested driver is less accident-prone.

Also, maintenance of grass, wildflowers and shrubs retards erosion and helps protect the public investment in the highway system.

Galveston was the first town in Texas to have a Chamber of Commerce.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Election in the county and state races is about to slip up on both the voters and the candidates. There will be only three more papers published before the first primary. People have not become accustomed to the early voting date.

The county may have a good fruit crop although some fruit was killed by the freezes in March. John Robert Henard and Leonard Bumpass were talking about the prospects and Leonard said that he had observed some apricot trees that had no fruit on the north side of the tree but they seemed to be loaded on the south side. John Robert seemed to think that his peaches were in good shape and so do many others.

The introduction of new peach varieties such as Ranger will almost eliminate the danger of a total loss from frost. Under scientific planting, spacing, pruning, spraying and harvesting a profitable peach crop can be raised in the Wellington area every year. This area should have at least a hundred 5 to 20 acre fruit orchards. The soil is ideal for the production of peaches and the climate is well suited to the growth of a number of other fruit crops.

The production of pork is another industry that could be increased tremendously here and with profit. The climate is good, the feed is nearby and so is the market. The Panhandle area does not produce half the pork it consumes. It is another opportunity that is being neglected.

The bright sun was shining and a fair breeze was blowing when I stepped out of the Post Office to hear a cheerful Good Morning from James Doneghy with this observation: "Why would anyone dream of living in California when we have weather like this in Texas?" No reason at all, if the facts were known. The desirable and invigorating aspects of our climate have never been publicized properly and neither have the multitude of fair and pleasant days as compared to the harsh ones.

We do not have dreary weather in the Panhandle of Texas. It is different. It can be bad and sometimes it is terrible. On the other hand the good days outnumber the bad ones by a one-sided multiplicity of pleasing weather. There are no long drawn out months of bitter cold, difficult highways, and dirty, ugly slush before the winter turns to spring, as in the northern states in the winter. There are no damp, wood rotting, soul depressing hard days as there are in many parts of the south in the summer. There is an energizing electricity in the air that alerts the senses and activates the emotions. Many times in the winter and the spring and often in the fall, the beauty of the golden days and the silver nights causes you to catch your breath and wish more of your dearly beloved could be with you in this moment of rapture.

This is the time to get out on the dirt roads and see the wild flowers. Some pastures on the old Dodson road are a solid sheen of brilliant yellow and the same wild flowers carpet Fairview Cemetery and the grassland south toward Childress. Soon there will be the abundance of white, blue and red flowers that grew here long before the Indians. The wheat was never so green and the cattle so sleek and fat at this time of the year.

This is the tornado season. There were 232 in Texas last year.
