FARMER BADLY HURT IN CAR ACCIDENT

TECH STUDENTS ALSO INJURED TODAY IN AUTO COLLISION

Five persons were injured when two automobiles collided at a crossroads at the northwest corner of the state experiment farm near here at about 8 o'clock this morning. One possibly was injured critically and three possibly were hurt seriously.

F. C. Adams, a farmer, believed the most seriously injured, was thrown from a small sedan he was driving when its right front wheel was struck by another light sedan driven by James B. Potts, jr., outstanding Lubbock four-H club member and a student at Texas Technological college. Both machines were damaged considerably. Adams' car overturned, as he was thrown about 10 feet from it to fall on his back, and stopped again on its wheels. The Potts car, occupied by four Technological college students, rebounded into a field.

The injured, all of whom were taken to Lubbock sanitarium, were:

Adams, who suffered several fractured ribs and possibly a head and internal injuries.

James Potts, about 21, bruises, abrasions, cuts, and possibly other injuries.

Wade Potts, about 18, his brother, minor bruises and abrasions.

Miss Goldie Potts, 23, sister of the Potts brothers, a fractured clavicle and possibly spinal injuries.

Miss Luvenia Boyd, about 18, a fractured clavicle.

Views of the two drivers were obstructed by weeds, trees, and other growths and each did not see the other automobile until they two virtually were together in the intersection, F. Trotter of Hardy said. Trotter said Adams was driving westward and the college students southward, both cars being en route to Lubbock. James Potts also was hurled about 10 feet by the impact. Both he and Adams were knocked unconscious, though the younger man regained consciousness before a Rix ambulance arrived.

AUTO CRASHES CLAIM SEVEN

THREE OTHERS TAKEN BY VIOLENCE OVER THE WEEK-END

(By The Associated Press)

Seven of ten persons who met violent death in Texas during the week-end died in, or as the result of, automobile crashes.

One other person was burned fatally and two others died of knife wounds.

The dead: Joe Compton, Texas City; J. V. Dement, 70, of Afton; Hamil James, 19, of Dallas; Olin Stephens, 15, of Lakeview; Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Veazey of Waco; George D. Cunningham, 50, of Sherman; Arthur Warshauer of Mexia; Mrs. Johanna Quinterro of Seguin, and Eustacio Quinterro of Seguin.

Killed In Collision

Compton was killed when an automobile in which he was riding struck a freight train at Texas City junction. Dement was killed in an automobile wreck near Dickens.

Killed In Collision

The James youth was injured fatally when a truck on which he was riding collided with another machine and overturned.

The Stephens boy was struck and injured fatally by a truck on the Memphis-Lakeview highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Veazey were injured fatally when the automobile in which they were riding was in collision with another machine.

The automobile in which Cunningham rode collided with another

DEMOS, G. O. P. ARE EVEN UP IN HOUSE

DEATH OF NEW JERSEY REPUBLICAN PUTS PARTIES IN TIE

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—Republican and Democratic party strength for the control of the next house stands evenly divided.

The death of Representative Ernest R. Ackerman, a New Jersey Republican, yesterday, left the lineup as follows.

Republicans, 214; Democrats, 214; Farmer-Labor 1; vacancies 6.

Since last Tuesday when T. R. Amlie, progressive Republican, was elected to fill the vacancy in the first Wisconsin district to succeed the late John Allen Cooper, the Republicans had been one in the lead with 215.

Five of the vacancies, two normally Democratic, are to be filled at special elections November 3. Governor Larson of New Jersey is expected by Republican members here to call a special election to fill the vacancy in the normally Republican fifth district before the new congress convenes December 7. Attorney General Stevens of New Jersey believes, however, there is not sufficient time.

Representative Snell of New York, chairman of the last house rules committee, recently expressed belief the Republicans would be able to organize the next house with the lineup as it was at the end of the 1930 November elections.

Four-H Girls Off For Fair At Dallas

Selected as Lubbock county's outstanding four-H club girls this year, four girls with Miss Ruth Stockton, county home demonstration agent, left here by train early Sunday afternoon for Dallas, where they will attend an annual four-H girls encampment at the state fairgrounds.

Virgie Moores, Hazel Ayers, and Dorothy Horton, all of Hurlwood, and Eugenia Emery of Liberty were chosen as the best performers in their respective years of club work.

D. F. Eaton, Lubbock county farm agent; his daughter, Miss Fannie Brown Eaton, and two four-H club members, Irene Brown and Woodrow Booter, both of Shallowater, returned Saturday night by automobile from the national dairy exposition at St. Louis. The Shallowater pair competed in a dairy demonstration contest.

LIQUOR DEALER SHOT TO DEATH

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Gangland has extended the hand of death to Matt Kolb, northwest side gambler and liquor dealer.

While one man put out his hand in a cordial greeting to him yesterday, his companion shot him to death in Kolb's Morton Grove roadhouse, wich the police said was visited five months ago by hoodlum followers of Al Capone who warned Kolb to "clear out of the district."

Authorities said they believed Kolb's failure to heed the warning was responsible for his death. Two car loads of gangsters, the police said, invaded Kolb's establishment, dumping beer and destroying gambling devices as a means of letting Kolb know he was through and that a new syndicate was going to rule the district.

Postpone Action On Quinn Defense Plea

NEWKIRK, Okla., Oct. 19 (AP)—Judge John S. Burger postponed today announcement of his decision on the new trial plea of Earl Quinn, condemned slayer of Jessie Griffith, school teacher, until November 3.

The postponement was at the request of James L. Mathers, attorney for Quinn, who was obliged to be in a county court today. The state did not oppose the continuance.

Caliche Highway Will Be Favored

STATE ENGINEER CITES SAVING OVER CONCRETE PAVING; COUNTY DADS TO GO TO AUSTIN

Claude Denton of Lubbock and J. T. Pinkston of Slaton, members of the County Commissioners court are to go to Austin Tuesday where they are to confer with the State Highway commission regarding the type of construction on Highway 7 from Lubbock to the Hockley county line.

The highway department has notified the County Commissioners that plans have been completed for a nine-inch compacted caliche base 22 feet wide and one and one-half inch asphalt surface 20 feet wide for the highway, stating that the saving of $10,530.34 per mile will be affected. The cost of the caliche and asphalt is placed at $9,117.86 per mile while the cost of concrete per mile is $19,648.20.

The department asked that if the caliche-asphalt type of pavement does not meet the approval of the county court, that representatives be sent to Austin to meet with the State Highway commission Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

"The State Highway department has constructed many miles of the caliche type of pavement in the last few years," the notice from Guy R. Johnston, resident engineer here to the commsson stated, "and it has proved highly satisfactory both from maintenance costs and riding qualities. This type of pavement has an additional advantage at this time in that the greater part of its costs is labor; whereas, the larger percentage of costs on other types is railroad transportation."

"These differences in cost are not truly representative of the values represented," the letter stated," but are due to the fact that we have an unlimited supply of very excellent caliche base material available and

CAPONE FACES SENTENCE

JUDGE WILL ANNOUNCE SENTENCE TUESDAY; NEW TRIAL ASKED

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 19—The next move in Al Capone's fight to keep out of the penitentiary as an income tax violator is up to the gang chief himself and his attorneys have indicated it will be a motion for a new trial.

The law-harrassed gangster, convicted in federal court Saturday night, had a day of grace today—an interlude between his conviction and his day of judgment. Tomorrow he will go back to federal court to face Judge James H. Wilkerson who has indicated he will pass sentence immediately.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 (AP)—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today granted counsel for "Scarface" Al Capone a continuance until Friday on the hearing of their motion for an arrest of judgment in his recent conviction for income tax violations. It was to have been heard tomorrow.

Maximum 17 Years

The maximum sentence for the scar-faced gangster, who has bossed Chicago's underworld for 12 years, is 17 years imprisonment and fines totalling $50,000. The highest sentence ever given out in the so-called gangster-income tax cases, however, is five years against Jack Guzik, Capone's No. 1 helper.

The jury found Capone guilty on five of the 23 counts in two indictments charging him with income tax evasion. Defense attorneys said that in the jury's selection of the guilty counts are "unusually good grounds for appeal."

Consider Bids On Highway Projects

AUSTIN, Oct. 19. (AP)—The Texas highway commission considered bids today on highway construction projects in 15 counties. Approximately 125 miles of highway building and three bridge jobs were involved.

Tomorrow the commission plans to consider contracts for almost an identical amount of work, the lettings for the two days having been estimated to aggregate $2,500,000.

Recommend Airship Akron Be Accepted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The naval inspection board has recommended to Secretary Adams that the airship Akron be accepted.

Rear Admiral George C. Day, chief of the board, messaged the navy department today from Akron, Ohio, that the tests were satisfactory.

CHARGE NEGRO IN SLAYING

MISTAKEN IDENTITY IS CLAIMED AFTER SHOOTING HERE

A murder charge has been filed against Pitson Lambert, a negro, as a result of the death of J. E. McKnight, 50, also a negro, late Saturday night at Lubbock sanitarium. McKnight was wounded in three places when a rifle bullet penetrated an automobile in which he was riding Friday night and was shattered before striking the man.

Lambert told Assistant District Attorney Burton S. Burks he had mistaken McKnight for Johnny Green, another negro who had quarreled with Lambert. A negro taxicab driver with McKnight when he was shot was not wounded.

Lawyers for the accused negro indicated they possibly would ask for an examining trial and fixing of bond Tuesday, the assistant district attorney said.

MEXICAN SOUGHT AFTER STABBING

Lubbock police this morning were hunting a Mexican accused of stabbing Refringo Corrillo, 30, another Mexican, at about noon Sunday in Little Juarez, Mexican quarter here. The wounded man's condition was not serious, attendants at West Texas hospital said.

Corrillo was stabbed once in the left arm and seven times in the back, hospital attaches reported. Police said they had not learned what caused the altercation in which the man was wounded.

HOOVER URGES COURAGE IN SPEECH AT YORKTOWN BATTLEGROUND TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

YORKTOWN, Va., Oct. 19—Drawing a lesson from the victories of 150 years ago, President Hoover chose this battleground today to remind the nation it had met obstacles similar to present day "temporary dislocations" and yet had "swept forward to ever increasing strength."

Facing more than 30,000 people packed into the huge wooden amphi-theatre, raised on the site of Lord Cornwallis' surrender, the president called for "courage, strength and resolution for the future."

He stood head bared in the warm sunlight of a cloudless day. Behind him were massed troops, chosen from the thousands dressed in uniform of many colors that had lined the pathway he rode with Mrs. Hoover after coming ashore from the U. S. S. Arkansas. Just as the presidential party entered through an archway on the pageant field, a twenty-one gun salute boomed him welcome.

"This national shrine," the president said, "stands for more than a glorious battle. It is a shrine which symbolizes things of the spirit. The victory of Yorktown was a victory for mankind. It was another blaze in the great trail of human freedom.

"Here America became free to be America."

SUIT IS FILED BY LAWYERS FOR CYR

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR OF LOUISIANA TRIES TO OUST INCUMBENT

(By The Associated Press)

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 19—An ouster suit against Huey P. Long as governor of Louisiana was filed in the state district court here today by Lieutenant Governor Paul N. Cyr.

The suit was filed by Frank J. Looney and E. Wayles Browne, who with Charles T. Wortham of Donaldsonville, were attorneys for Cyr. Wortham and Cyr were not present.

The suit was based on the claim that Long having filed credentials as United States senator could no longer act as governor.

Gov. Long will have ten days after service in which to file and answer and the suit will follow the regular process on the court calendar.

Election Cited

Cyr alleged that, following an election November 4, 1930, "Huey P. Long submitted his credentials in regular form as United States senator from Louisiana for the term of six years beginning March 4, 1931, to the United States senate at the national capitol at Washington, D. C., and they were received and accepted by said United States senate, sitting in regular session, and have ever since remained in the records of said United States senate.

"That by thus actively and voluntarily presenting his credentials to the senate the said Huey P. Long irrevocably accepted the senatorship of the United States from

COURT TO DECIDE ON NEGRO VOTING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Whether negroes in Texas have a right to vote at Democratic primaries in that state will be decided by the supreme court. It today granted a review to L. A. Nixon of El Paso, who was prevented from voting in Democratic primaries.

Nixon for years has protested the refusal of Democratic precinct election judges to permit him to participate in Democratic primaries.

He brought the suit which resulted in the supreme court declaring the Texas law which barred negroes from voting in Democratic primaries invalid.

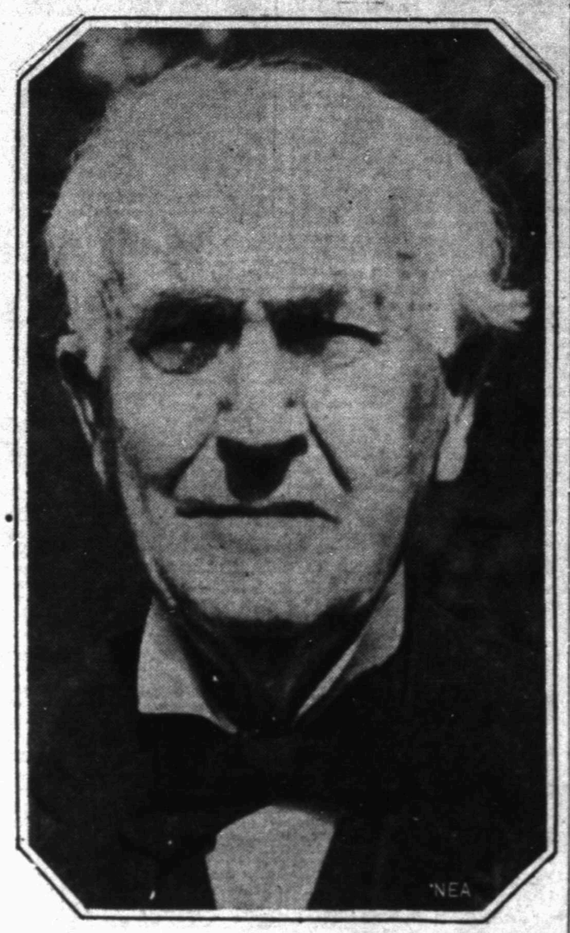

The court announced that C. N. Love and others who had joined as friends of the court in support of Nixon would not be permitted to participate in the oral argument.

TO HONOR EDISON

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 19. (AP)—All the electric lights in Chile will be extinguished for a brief time at eight o'clock tonight as a mark of respect to the memory of Thomas A. Edison.

GREATEST INVENTOR OF HISTORY DIES

The world today is mourning the loss of Thomas Alva Edison, below, the greatest inventor of modern times, with more inventions to his credit than as many in history. He died early Sunday morning after being ill for more than a month. His list of inventions includes the electric light, the phonograph and hundreds of other articles used the world over.

Achievements Of Edison Recalled

MANY CONVENIENCES OF PRESENT - DAY GIVEN BY HIM

(By Central Press)

So full of achievement was the life of Thomas Alva Edison that any record short of a volume can be only a partial summary. A list which appeared in the program of a celebration in honor of Edison in 1928 at his West Orange laboratory, prepared for the Edison Pioneers by William H. Meadowcroft, gives summary of the best known achievements.

The average reader will be astonished to observe that many of the present-day conveniences he takes for granted were brought into being by Edison, who likewise made possible the chief amusements of today and the past generation.

1847—Born on Feb. 11, at Milan, Ohio.

1857—Started chemical laboratory in cellar of his home.

1859—Became newsboy and "candy butcher" on trains of Grand Trunk Railway, running between Port Huron and Detroit.

1862—Printed and published a newspaper, "The Weekly Herald," on the train. The first newspaper ever printed on a moving train.

1862—Put up a telegraph line from Port Huron railway station to village and worked in local office.

1863 to 1868—Spent nearly five arduous years as a telegraph operator in various cities of the Central

MAN HELD FOR LITTLEFIELD SLAYING

FARMER CONFESSES TO KILLING COOK AND GIVES SELF UP

(Special To The Journal)

LITTLEFIELD, Oct. 10—A 25-year-old farmer, Ivan Inklebarger, whom Deputy Sheriff Bob Miller said had confessed he shot and killed John Lee, 28, a cook in a Littlefitld restaurant, appeared before County Judge S. D. Hay here Sunday for examining trial on a murder charge. Bond was fixed at $5,000 to await grand jury action.

After shooting Lee through the head twice with a pistol, as a result of the cook's alleged attentions to the farmer's wife, Inklebarger went to Sudan and telephoned Sheriff G. R. Crim here that he wanted to surrender. The fatal shooting occurred on a highway about four miles northwest of Littlefield at about 8 o'clock Saturday night, after Inklebarger and Lee had left Littlefield in the farmer's automobile.

Justice of the Peace Black of Amherst conducted an inquiry and ruled Lee had been killed by bullets fired from a gun in Inklebarger's hands. Lee, whose home was at Brownwood, formerly had worked for Inklebarger on the latter's farm, 12 miles northeast of Littlefield. Lee surrendered at about 9 p. m. Saturday.

Youth Shoots Self When Girl Marries

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 19 (AP)—Fred Booth, 19, of San Benito, was shot and wounded seriously while sitting in his automobile on a street here last night.

His condition was considered critical. He told officials he shot himself after learning an 18-year-old girl had secretly married.

Charge Dallas Man After Spouse Dies

DALLAS, Oct. 19 (AP)—T. W. Strong was charged with murder after the death of his wife, Mrs. Katherine Wiseman Strong, at a hospital here last night of gunshot wounds.

Strong had been in jail since Oct. 9, when he allegedly shot the 38-year-old woman. Police learned the shooting was precipitated by Mrs. Strong's threat to file suit for divorce. The Strongs had been married about six months.

Boy Charged With Stealing Of Horse

A 12-year-old boy was charged with horse theft in the juvenile division of county court this morning following his arrest by the Lubbock county sheriff's department Sunday night northeast of Posey in possession of the horse.

L. C. Boyd reported Sunday that the horse, a sorrell saddle mare valued at $40, had disappeared from his farm near New Hope. A search by county officers ended in arrest of the boy, who after first saying he had bought the horse from a Mexican confessed he stole it at night because he "liked its looks," a deputy sheriff reported.

The boy, who lives near Woodrow about a year ago, with a small brother, took an automobile and set out for Oklahoma to visit relatives, the deputy sheriff recalled.

Suspect On Bail In Assault Trial

Travis Lewelling, 27, of Lubbock, is free in bail of $1,000 awaiting reconvenment in Justice of the Peace H. K. Porter's court for examining trial, continued Saturday as a result of the condition of a 15-year-old Lubbock High school girl who accuses Lewelling of criminally assaulting her. She underwent an operation Friday at a local sanitarium.

MILLIONS PAY HOMAGE TO INVENTOR

DEATH CLAIMS AGED CREATIVE GENIUS EARLY SUNDAY

(By The Associated Press)

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 19.—Thomas A. Edison in death received today the homage of the millions for whom he had made life more comfortable.

The body of the 84-year-old inventor, who died at 3:24 a. m., Sunday lay in state in the library of his laboratory.

After a private funeral Wednesday at his Glenmont estate here, Mr. Edison will be buried close to the scene of his long labors here and not in Milan, Ohio, near his birth place, the Edison family decided today.

Soon after Edison died representatives of the family announced that burial would be in Milan after the funeral Wednesday. Today, however, after a family conference, it was decided to have burial here. The family indicated interment would be in Rosedale cemetery, East Orange.

Hoover May Attend

President Hoover hoped to come from Washington Wednesday to stand at Mr. Edison's bier both as a personal friend and as head of a sorrowing nation.

Meanwhile Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone, the inventor's two "old cronies," hastened to West Orange.

Mr. Edison slipped quietly from a deep coma into a lasting sleep Sunday morning. Holding his hand was Mrs. Edison, for 45 years his constant companion. At the bedside were his six children.

After his death, Dr. Hubert S. Howe disclosed that Mr. Edison, on learning recovery was improbable, did not desire to live. His life's work done, he did not wish to place an invalid's burden on his family, he said.

Employes At Bier

Arrangements were made for the library to remain open from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. today and Tuesday, the bier to be surrounded day and night by a guard of honor composed of four of Mr. Edison's employes. The personnel was to be changed every 15 minutes.

The building, standing only a few blocks from the Edison Llewellyn park estate, is a treasure house of

FARMER TAKES OWN LIFE

MAN IS FOUND DEAD NEAR LITTLEFIELD AT NOON SUNDAY

LITTLEFIELD, Oct. 19.—(Special)—After shooting away the left side of his face, W. T. Bishop, a farmer, reloaded a shotgun and shot himself in the chest, falling dead with the weapon clutched in his hands, Deputy Sheriff Bob Miller of Littlefield said after investigating the death which occurred about noon Sunday.

Bishop shot himself at his home in the Fieldton community, northeast of Littlefield. Funeral services were to be conducted today. Relatives were notified Sunday by telegraph. They were expected here for the services.

As reconstructed by Deputy Sheriff Miller, Bishop loaded his shotgun with one shell, placed the barrel at his chin and pulled the trigger. Walking into a room and looking at a mirror, the farmer evidently decided the shot would not prove fatal, reloaded the gun, returned to a porch where he had first fired and pulled the trigger with a wire. He had placed the gun butt against a post, the barrel on his chest, and pulled a wire tied to the trigger.

TWO MEN TRIED ON BOOZE COUNT

ROBY, Oct. 19 (AP)—Charlton Brown, mayor of Mineral Wells, and T. L. Hemphill, Mineral Wells business man, went on trial in district court here today on charges of transporting intoxicating liquor.

The jury was chosen quickly. Attorneys for Brown and Hemphill questioned talesmen closely as to their views on the use of liquor for medicinal purposes.

Both defendants were indicted last May, after Brown's automobile overturned on Highway 83 in the outskirts of Roby, while the Mineral Wells mayor and Hemphill were en route to Lubbock to attend the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention. They were bearing with them an invitation to the convention to meet in Mineral Wells in 1932. Officers claimed they found several pints of whisky in the damaged machine.

Social Events Are Expected To Be Delayed By Women's Conventions In City

Early Arrivals For UDC Meeting Here

Although collegians probably will continue with parties and dances that come regularly during the fall term of school, other social affairs in Lubbock are expected to be on the wane during the next few weeks.

Several events regularly scheduled for this week have been postponed because of the convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and many women in the city are busy with arrangements for the Texas Federation of Women's clubs convention.

Delegates to the U. D. C. meeting are arriving in Lubbock today for the convention, which opens on Wednesday. Mrs. Whit Boyd, state president, probably will arrive this afternoon from Houston, according to Miss Delia Wilkinson, president of the local chapter. Other delegates are coming in today, also, she said.

Opens On Wednesday

Pre-convention meetings will be held Tuesday and the convention proper will open on Wednesday morning. General sessions will be held at the American Legion hall. Local chapter members are making final plans for the convention this afternoon, decorating the halls and welcoming early arrivals.

Several events took place here during the week-end. Among these was a six-table bridge party given by Mrs. A. D. Brown in her home at 2305 17th street. Guests were from Lubbock, with the exception of Mrs. C. E. Dean and Mrs. Reed Loflin, who came from Ralls for the event. Hallowe'en appointments were used.

Mrs. E. L. Pitts scored high in the games, Mrs. J. B. Jackson made second high score and Mrs. D. Z. Dobyns' score was low.

In addition to the events that were booked in Sunday's social calendar, another party has been announced for the week. This is to be a dinner and theatre party for members of Las Chapoarritas club and their guests. The dinner will be at 6 o'clock at Hilton hotel on Thursday evening.

Receive Inquiries Concerning School

Inquiries are coming in concerning the annual free school of cookery, health and charm that is to be held here on October 27 to 30 under the auspices of the Avalanche-Journal Publishing company. Great interest is being evinced in the coming of Miss Christeen Chitwood, who will conduct the classes each afternoon.

Miss Chitwood's classes are always made up of women of a great range in age. The matrons, brides and brides-to-be especially fill the classes because Miss Chitwood, although only in her early twenties, is recognized as an authority on problems of the home, and comes to us direct from the Boston School of Cookery. She demonstrates and discusses the latest methods in the scientific world of cookery, foods and nutrition. Miss Chitwood is an example of the modern youth that accomplishes things. She teaches the women her latest scientific methods of cookery and efficiency in the home. She shows in her practical demonstrations, how kitchen work can be made a pleasure instead of drudgery, and how women may finish their work efficiently and have more time for social activities or community building.

A Modern Maid

Miss Chitwood is an example of the modern youth who has accomplished much at an early age, and who is helping thousands of women to make their home work easier, their foods more fitted to the nutrition of the body, more pleasing to the eye, more palatable and less expensive. Miss Chitwood hopes that the matrons in Lubbock will attend her classes because she believes that she can teach them newer methods of savings in foods and household equipment that up to the present days have not been divulged to the public. She has many delicious and attractive dishes for the creation of which she is famous in the East. She hopes, too, that the younger girls will come to the school and let her teach them how they can best manager their homes, when the time comes for them to wed and take on the responsibilities of the home. A girl who knows little or nothing about the composition of food, the requirements of the body and the preparation of the proper foods to meet these needs has a great problem to face. Her problems can be lessened by attending the school.

Miss Chitwood tells the women how they can do their work with greater ease and efficiency and with less worry and dread, and in this way keep their youth. She tells how to avoid the wrinkles and surplus flesh that come with age. She also tells how a woman may scientifically lose the flesh which has accumulated on her. Many women lose their health by the wrong reducing method, but by the proper method there is no danger. Miss Chitwood is going to tell you how you may eat all you want, but eat foods which are not converted into human flesh and foods which act as a filler to the stomach and which supplies the necessities of the body. In this way health may be kept and the youthful figure attained.

INTELLIGENCE TESTS

No intelligence test measures mentality with the precision of a yardstick measuring cloth. Suppose I were your psychologist and you were to bring your child to me for an intelligence test. I could rate him on one or several scales. I could say to you, 'Your child rates a mental age of 12 years 3 months on the 'Stanford Binet Scale,' for instance; or that he rates as good as the upper 10 per cent of the army on the Alpha group test. I should know that his actual intelligence may be a little higher or a little lower than the rating indicated. Nevertheless, I almost surely would have more information regarding your child's mental capacity, his ability to learn which I acquired within an hour with the aid of this intelligence test than your teacher had arrived at after several months, and more, no doubt, than you had gathered in the child's lifetime. No trained psychologist claims absolute accuracy for any measurement of intelligence.

Manifestly a group test is, as a rule, less accurate than an individual test. High grade school systems are, therefore, spending more money on trained clinical psychologists, to give individual tests to as many children as possible, particularly young children. If you have a psychologist in your school system and find in your child some learning difficulties, or suspect that he is very bright or very dull, get in touch with that psychologist.

The school psychologist has been able to help find the very bright child early. Often he finds superior minds not discovered by the teacher. These children, under proper guidance, can be so directed as to escape the boredom of average or slow school work. Moreover, the psychologist has helped parents and teachers to take a more humane and sensible attitude toward the child of markedly low intelligence. We little know how many children who otherwise would have been dubbed as devilish or lazy, punished shamefully for school failures, have, through the aid of intelligence tests, been saved from such tortures.

Bright or normal parents of very dull children find it hard to believe their child can really be dull. They prefer to believe him lazy or his teacher incompetent.

About the most touching thing I have had to listen to is, "Won't he grow out of it?" or "Won't he brighten up when he is a little older?"

Merely to write this gives me a heavy feeling above my waistline. The answer? It may be, Mother, that your child did not do quite so well as he could do, and that his mental age is a little higher than the test indicated (suppose the mental age is only five and that the child is eight years old.) But you see he has not got on well at school or with other children.

No, it is not wise to expect him to be any brighter for his age at fifteen than he is now. You will be happier and he will be happier if you do not build up unreasonable hopes. Do all you can to help him develop freely and naturally and to make him live as comfortably as in one chance out of ten thousand, he should surprise you and suddenly take a spurt nothing would have been lost.

Unfortunately, well meaning neighbors, wishing to please and comfort, clergymen, and even many family doctors, encourage parents of very dull children to entertain false hopes, only to suffer untold agonies by and by. The trained psychologist can get nearer the truth in such matters, though his verdict for the moment may be painful to the parent.

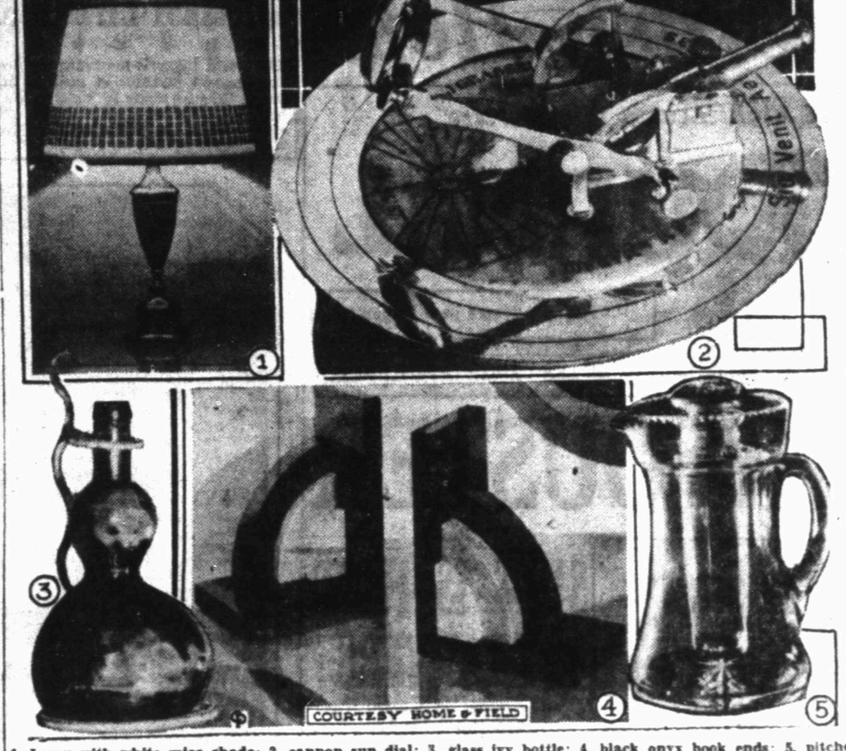

Divorce Suit Fees Will Be Increased

The next time a divorce suit is filed in 99th or 72nd district court here before District Courts Clerk Charles M. Metcalfe, the minimum costs deposit will be $2.50 instead of the $1 paid in filing each of about 100 such suits thus far this year, he said.

The courts clerk said a dollar would not cover 50 per cent of costs in the most inexpensive case. The minimum of $2.50 will be charged only in suits in which a waiver is filed, he said. If salutations must be served, a deposit of $5 will be required.

1, Lamp with white mica shade; 2, cannon sun dial; 3, glass ivy bottle; 4, black onyx book ends; 5, pitcher.

Art Supplied to Central Press By Home & Field Magazine

THE SHOPS are showing many new and intriguing pieces of decorative art for the home and garden, so keep your eyes open if you are in need of a unique gift or a piece to add color to your room.

Take lamps, for instance. Just the right lamp, in shape, height and color, can do much for a room. The one picture above, numbered 1, has a handsome new mica shade. Mica is particularly fascinating for lamp shades because of its translucence when the light shines through. The plainness of this shade is relieved by a cut-out checkerboard band at the bottom, made by weaving narrow bands of mica in and out in criss-cross pattern. Either a very tiny binding of silver or gold paper braid is used to finish the top and bottom.

One shop shows the very unique "cannon dial" from Cuba, 2. It is supposed to be nearly 200 years old and bears the inscription in Spanish, "Grasseli, Optician to His Majesty at Madrid."

As far as is known, besides the old model pictured here, there are only two other such dials still in existence, one in a museum in London, and one in Cuba. An interesting feature is the small magnifying glass that catches the sun's rays at high noon and ignites the fuse in the breech of the cannon, causing it to explode. The base is marble, the balance of the dial, including the gnomon, is of brass. The cannon is a small yacht variety. The shop where this is sold will reproduce this cannon as pictured or with a metal base at a lower price than with the marble.

Below, 3, is shown a green glass ivy bottle with a wrought iron bracket for hanging from the wall. Frequently a small wall space needs some sort of incidental piece to relieve its bareness. This bottle was created to fill just such a space. Or, if preferred, it would be charming filled with certain feathery flowers and placed on a table.

Next to the ivy bottle is a pair of black onyx book ends combined with gray and white marble. Unusual book ends are at a premium, and if you wish to make a friend a gift of a pair and are uncertain of his or her preferences, these conservative but graceful pieces will be just the thing to choose.

To keep a drink cold for the belated guest and yet not have it spoiled by melting ice, the novel pitcher, 5, has been designed. The tapering glass cylinder container which fits into the center is made so that it may be lifted out and refilled with ice from time to time without diluting the contents therein. The pitcher is made of crystal glass and comes in two sizes, one and one-half quart and two-quart.

Charming glass bowls, electric clocks, furniture in simple, graceful forms that fit in with every decorative scheme, are all on view in shops that aspire to select the unusual for their patrons.

PATENTED PROCESS REMOVES GUESSWORK FROM ROASTING

Automatic Control of Heat Insures Exactness. Hills Bros. Coffee Has Matchless Flavor

There are many risks attached to roasting coffee by ordinary methods. For a man must guess when the roast is right. If he misses his guess, the flavor of the coffee usually suffers.

Hills Bros. eliminated guesswork when they invented and patented Controlled Roasting—an automatic process that develops the fullest flavor in every berry of the blend!

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow . . . a little at a time . . . so the unvarying flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting — the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously . . . a little at a time. Automatic control of heat and flow of coffee does what ordinary methods often fail to do. Every pound is roasted to the same degree of perfection, and every pound has the same fine flavor.

To preserve this delicious flavor, Hills Bros. pack their coffee in vacuum cans. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of these cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale! Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

MATADORS PREPARE FOR COLORADO MINERS TILT HERE FRIDAY

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY COLLIER PARRIS

Far be it from us to brag or boast, but the scribbler of these lines is right proud of his constitution. We not only survived the Pampa-Amarillo killing in Pampa last Saturday; we learned to take it on the chin and like it. We feel fit for any football game that might be played now. Odus Mitchell's Harvesters got together and preached a sermon that fully converted us to the Pampa religion, and no foolin'.

* * *

As both of you all readers know, we took lightly the news that Pampa had a great football team, as strong or stronger than that of last season when it whipped Lubbock and fought Amarillo to a scoreless tie except for a safety. We picked Amarillo to win, even in the face of predictions and warnings that Pampa would win. We learned a good lesson, part of which is that when we want a team to win we should pick the opposition. That's why we are going to pick Pampa to beat Lubbock when the teams meet in Pampa next Saturday week—maybe.

From our observation of the game we learned mainly that Pampa has a sweet football team and that Lubbock must play better ball than the Westerners have played heretofore this season if they even hold Pampa to a close score, and they've got to play inspired football if they beat Pampa. Pampa played inspired football against Amarillo, and the Harvesters have another inspiration up their collective sleeve. They'll pull it out when they meet Lubbock.

We'll have more to say about the Pampa-Amarillo game and Pampa, but today we're going to let William Braucher, sports editor for NEA service, to which this newspaper subscribes, finish the spurt. Braucher's works appear in leading newspapers from coast to coast. His headquarters are at New York, and he's nationally popular. Before we let him go on let us say that the Slaton-Plainview game which resulted in a tie and which was given to Plainview may be re-played. The district committee is supposed to get in a huddle and decide. Mr. Braucher, who will take as his subject, "Texas Example."

"Two high school football teams in Texas, Plainview and Slaton, battled fiercely to a seven-point tie the other day. Plainview won the game. Officials of the scholastic league, of which the two teams are members, ruled Plainview winner because the Plainview players had penetrated the 20-yard line of their opponents more often than the lads from Slaton had been able to reach the Plainview 20-yard line.

"Thus is the football field arbitrarily shortened by 40 yards. The two school teams actually were playing on a field 60 yards between goals.

"While not exactly the same situation, a baseball game could be decided after that fashion by declaring the team winner that had most men left on bases in case of a 13-inning tie called because of darkness.

"The same principle in golf would mean that the player in a twosome who came closest to holing his putts would defeat his opponent in medal play if both finished up at No. 1 with 80.

"Carried out, the principle used by the Texas schools would mean eventually that the team which managed to remain longest in its opponent's territory won the game. That is rather odd football.

"Most of the thrills of football, it seems to me, come in the shadow of the goal posts. There the heroes and goats are made. The defending line stiffens as a touchdown is threatened. The aggressors, calling upon every resource to out the ball across, key themselves to the top of their fighting vigor.

From the standpoint of the spectators, a man could not enjoy a football game between two schools in that league unless he took to the gridiron a chart and an adding machine. He would never know in case of a tie game, who was ahead.

"Neighbors in the stands could check their notes and compare their respective charts. To add to the fun of the thing they might take along their stop watches.

"Only one step remains necessary to perfect the conditions under which such games would be played. The tabulations of five or six officials should be sent to the A. A. U. for final ratification. Then a young man who graduated in 1931 would be almost sure to learn by 1962 whether or not his team had beaten its dearest enemy in the thrilling 0 to 0 tie game of 1929.

* * *

"Let us suppose for the sake of example that Harvard and Yale used the system, and that Yale, back in '95, had scored two touchdowns on Harvard n the first few minutes of play. After that, however, Harvard stiffened and nearly all the rest of the game was played in Yale territory, the Harvard team 10 times reaching old Eli's 10-yard line. We would just be finding out about now officially from the A. A. U. that Harvard really won the game by a score of 94 to 12.

"Well, what about it?"

Some of the giant sequoias of the Pacific coast are estimated by the national park service to be from 4,000 to 6,000 years old.

MUSTANGS, FROGS AND BEARS TIED IN SOUTHWEST

CHANGES MADE IN LINEUP OF CLUB

HARD WORKOUTS ARE IN STORE FOR THE TEAM THIS WEEK

Necessary changes in the lineup having been accomplished and with the gridsters who have been shifted having become more or less accustomed to their new positions, the Texas Tech varsity Matadors will get down to the first of a five-day series of serious work in preparation for their next game.

The Matadors meet the Colorado School of Mines from near Denver here Friday night. It will be the first intersectionaf football game ever played on the local college lot, and the second ever played by the Matadors. In efforts to bring a string of good teams here and to schedule games abroad, Tech officials secured the Colorado Mines game as one of the high-lights of the local program. The game promises to be perhaps the best played here this season, even though it marks the opening of athletic relationships with the Colorado school. There is no tradition to consider, but the fact remains that the Matadors are out for all the scalps they can get this season.

Price Shifted To End

Yancy Price, sophomore husky from Lubbock High school, is running at left end on the Matador first string today where Bill Teal ran before. Teal convalesces in a local sanitarium from a compound leg fracture sustained in the Haskell Indian game last week at Dallas. The veteran wingman will play no more football this season. Price, a natural end who has been playing fullback with the regulars this season, is due to take on the new responsibility with haste and ability.

To replace Price in the backfield, Harold Crites has been shifted from halfback to fullback, with Murray Nichols, "shock troops" fullback, ready to give Crites a battle for the line-backing position. Slick Close is being given a clear shot to a halfback position to run with Lawrence France. Moffett and Sollis are other leaders for halfback positions. Jim O'Leary, regular quarterback, will be relieved by Close when necessary.

Practice was slack last week with time being allowed the Matadors to recuperate from the long bus ride to and from Dallas. There were light workouts Friday and Saturday. Today will see the gridsters in a snappy drill and tomorrow probably will be given to scrimmage against reserves and freshmen huskies.

HOWARD PAYNE DETHRONED

SOUTHWESTERN IN TIE WITH SIMMONS AND AUSTIN FOR LEAD

The 1931 Texas conference football campaign went into its third week today with Howard Payne college, for the first time in three seasons, crowded out of the lead.

The Yellow Jacketts' first bid of the season for their fourth consecutive grid title went for naught the past week-end and Austin college's Kangaroos, triumphing over Howard Payne 13 to 7, went down in the records as the first Texas conference team to halt their victory march in three seasons.

Southwestern university triumphed over St. Edwards university to go into a three-way tie with Simmons university and Austin college for the lead. Simmons gained the top perch earlier in the season with a 13 to 0 victory over St. Edwards.

Trinity university opens this week against St. Edwards. Trinity won from the North Texas Teachers last week after Southwestern and Austin college had lost to the North Texans.

Simmons humbled the College of Mines in El Paso Saturday, 45 to 0. The Cowboys have a game scheduled with Texas Christian university Friday at Abilene.

Southwestern university and the Southwest Texxas Teachers of San Marcos will resume their inter-conference rivalries Friday night at Georgetown. Austin college has an engagement at Shawnee, Okla., with the Oklahoma Baptists.

Intersectional Play Is Carded

NINE MAJOR EASTERN ELEVENS ARE BOOKED TO PLAY TEAMS FROM OTHER AREAS SATURDAY

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK—Oct. 19 (AP)—The east will be the heaviest contributor this week to the most comprehensive intersectional slate of the football season.

Nine major eastern elevens are booked for contests against teams from other sections—Pittsburgh, Harvard, Carnegie Tech, Georgetown, West Virginia, Fordham Pennsylvania, Temple and Boston college.

Panthers Meet Ramblers

Pitt's Panthers, apparently just about as strong an array as the Atlantic seaboard boasts, must tackle Notre Dame in the Ramblers' stronghold at South Bend.

Harvard, fresh from its thrilling victory over Army, will stay at home to entertain the Texas Longhorns, 1930 champions of the Southwest conference.

But there also are outstanding intra-sectional or conference games. Briefly here's the way the conference or group games line up with their possible effect on the standings:

Big Ten: Northwestern and Ohio State clash at Columbus in crucial conference game. Michigan, with one victory and one defeat, hopes for another win at Illinois' expense. Indiana and Chicago are paired in another conference battle and Minnesota starts its "league" season against Iowa.

East: Army's clash with Yale will be watched most closely of the intra-sectional games. Navy will be favored over Princeton and Syracuse should dispose of Penn State. Washington and Jefferson will occupy the favorite's role in the game with an ancient rival, LaFayette.

Southern conference: Tennessee, Tulane and Georgia, outstanding contenders at present, all should win. Tennessee is matched with North Carolina, Tulane with Georgia Tech and Georgia with Vanderbilt. Other conference games involve Auburn-Florida; Virginia-Washington & Lee; Maryland-Virginia Military; Alabama-Sewanee and Virginia Poly-Kentucky.

Pacific coast: Southern California looks much too strong for California. Stanford mets Washington and Washington State will play Montana in the only other conference game.

Rocky Mountain conference: Utah Aggies, with three victories, leads the rest but Utah, defending champion, remains the favorite. Utah plays Denver while the Aggies battle Wyoming. Colorado university faces Colorado Aggies.

Southwest: The only conference game involves Baylor and Texas Aggies, Southern Methodist confronts Centenary at Dallas; Rice plays Arizona at Tucson, and Arkansas meets Louisiana State at Shreveport.

Big Six: A strictly conference schedule sends Kansas against Nebraska; Missouri against Iowa State and Oklahoma against Kansas State, with Nebraska, Kansas State and Missouri the favorites.

LEAGUE VOTES FOR ECONOMY

CLUB OWNERS LAUNCH PROGRAM FOR CUT IN LIMITATIONS

DALLAS.—Oct. 19—Texas League club owners yesterday launched an economy program for 1932 which included provisions for a reduction of the player limit and individual and club salary limitations.

The player limit, raised to 18 men in 1927, was reduced to 17 with each club being required to retain six non-class men.

An individual and club salary reduction, well under the figures of the past four years, was ordered. Legislation was revised to give the president authority to penalize the club for infraction of the rule and at the same time declare the player a free agent.

The schedule committee was instructed to open the 1932 season Wednesday, April 13 with Dallas in Fort Worth, Wichita Falls in Shreveport, Galveston in Houston and San Antonio in Beaumont. The season was ordered closed Sunday, Sept. 11.

The magnates endorsed alterations on two rules. Base runners, under the altered infield fly rule, will be permitted to advance at their own risk. The league previously ruled the ball dead on such a play.

The waiver rule was the second to be revised. Clubs will be permitted to send out under option non-class men without asking waivers. However, the revised rule stipulated the option of recall could not be cancelled without obtaining waivers.

By resolution the league went to the defense of Ted Robinson of Fort Worth in his controversy with Mike Sexton, president of the National Association of Minor League Clubs. Robinson suggested that Sexton retire in favor of a younger man, preferably Alvin Gardner. Sexton replied with a caustic letter.

NATION'S LEADING FOOTBALL SCORERS

(By The Associated Press)

Bob Monnett, fleet halfback of Michigan State, has taken the lead in the national football scoring race.

Monnett has scored 11 touchdowns and kicked 18 points after touchdown for a total of 84 points and a one-point lead over Louis Bush, 145-pound sophomore at Massachusetts State.

The leader in each of the nation's nine major conferences follow:

Mid-West — Monnett, Michigan State, 84; East—Bush, Masschusetts State, 83; Rock Mt.—Christensen, Utah, 51; Southern—McEver, Tennessee, 42; Pacific—Mohler, Southern California, 42; Missouri Val.—Barham, Okla. Aggies, 30; Southwest — Ledbetter, Arkansas, 24; Big Six—Kreizinger, Nebraska, 24, Graham, Kansas State, 24; Big Ten—MacDougall, Minnesota, 24.

ALL-STARS WIN

DALLAS, Oct. 19 (AP)—Earl Mack's barnstorming major league all-stars defeated a picked Dallas nine here yesterday, 6 to 2. Marberry, Gomez, Walberg and Schacht, the comedian, divided the pitching duties.

THREE PACING TIAA RACE

TEXAS A. & I., A. C. C. AND DANIEL BAKER TIED FOR LEAD

(By The Associated Press)

The Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association's 1931 football campaign entered its third week today with Texas A. & I., leading the eastern division and Abilene and Daniel Baker ruling in the western sector.

The rise of Texas A. & I. into undisputed possession of the lead featured the week-end play in the eastern division. A 7 to 66 triumph over the East Texas Teachers Saturday night left the Javelinas high and dry in the lead.

Daniel Baker, staging a belated rally at the expense of the West Texas Teachers at Canyon, runners-up in the 1930 T. I. A. A. race, scored a 40 to 19 victory to go into a tie with A. C. C. at the top.

A. C. C. led again by "Goober" Keyes who scored both of its touchdowns, marked up a 13 to 7 win over Sul Ross to remain at the top.

San Marcos Teachers, spurred by their 7 to 0 loss to Texas A. & I., came back at the expense of the Stephen F. Austin Teachers for a 19 to 0 victory.

Sam Houston, 1930 champions, was defeated by Schreiner institute. "Boone" Magness launched one of his famous victory runs, for 85 yards this time, to score a touchdown after his team had trailed the Bearkats past the half-way mark. Schreiner kicked the extra point, and won, 7 to 6.

THREE FIGHTS TO BE HELD TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—On three different sections of the fistic battlefront tonight heavyweights will get the national boxing program off to a running start.

Heading the rest will be Tommy Loughran's duel with the Cleveland veteran, Johnny Risko, at Philadelphia. At New York, Victorio Campolo, Argentina giant, attempting a comeback after decisive defeats by Loughran and Ernie Schaff, will meet Ralph Picucello of New York in the ten round feature of the St. Nicholas arena. At Los Angeles, Arthur Dekuh, New York heavyweight, tangles with Dynamite Jackson of Santa Monica.

FOOTBALL STARS OF SATURDAY

(By The Associated Press)

Barry Wood, Harvard—Put Harvard in position for two touchdowns against Army with his passes, scored both points after touchdowns and prevented Army score with brilliant tackle.

Gene McEver, Tennessee—Scored three touchdowns against Alabama and paved way for fourth.

Tony Matal, Columbia—Blocked two Dartmouth punts, scoring touchdown on one, and overhauled Green runner in clear field to save a score.

TEXAS STEERS AND HARVARD WILL PLAY

BAYLOR - AGGIE GAME IS ONLY ONE THIS WEEK IN LOOP

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 19 (AP)—Leaving the Southwest conference race to Southern Methodist, Texas Christian and Baylor, all tied for the leadership, the University of Texas Longhorns, 1930 conference champions, embark Wednesday morning for Harvard for one of the most important intercollegiate games this week.

The Longhorns' 3 to 0 victory over Oklahoma Saturday erased the hurt of their defeat by Rice. Blanton's field goal in the fourth period proved the Longhorns have more than one scoring possibility. Offensively, Texas far out-played Oklahoma, scoring 15 first downs against two for the Sooners.

Baylor Meets Aggies

While Texas is battling Harvard, other Southwest conference teams will be attending to intersectional and interconference foes. Only one conference championship game is scheduled. Baylor and Texas A. and M. meet at College Station. Other games will see Centenary and Southern Methodist at Dallas; Rice at Arizona, Texas Christian against Simmons, and Arkansas invading Shreveport to battle Louisiana State. The T. C. U. and Rice games will be played Friday night.

Southern Methodist, only undefeated team in the Southwest conference on a full season standing, heads the conference race with victories over Arkansas and Rice. Saturday, the Mustangs stopped Rice 21 to 12 in a game which featured Mason's 45-yard run for a touchdown in the first few minutes of the game; and Jack Frye's two touchdowns in the fourth period in a desperate attempt to save Rice from defeat. S. M. U. scored 103 points aganst opponents 28 in four games.

Evenly Matched

Perhaps the best game last week was Texas Christian's 6 to 0 victory over Texas A. and M. For three periods and most of the fourth, two well drilled and powerful lines smashed against each other without advantage. With five minutes to play, Spearman tossed a 19-yard pass to Hinton who raced 15 yards more to A. and M.'s 4-yard line. The Aggies stopped the first plunge, but on the second down, Hinton circled end for the only touchdown.

Saturday at College Station, the Aggies will try to atone for their defeat by playing Baylor. The Bears inaugurated their conference race Saturday, defeating Arkansas 19 to 7. Arkansas, reputed to have one of the best pass defenses in the conference, was completely baffled by the uncanny hurling by Alford and Pierce.

Florida legislators have made arrangements to receive clippings of editorial reaction to their actions by airmail.

WITH NO GAME THIS WEEK, LUBBOCK WESTERNERS BEGIN TRAINING IN EARNEST FOR PAMPA CONTEST NEXT WEEK

With first hand information concerning the strength and abilities of the team against which they appear in their next major game, the Lubbock Westerners needed little urging on the part of their coaches to report as early as possible and work until darkness with all the vim and vigor of their bodies today.

Coaches Weldon Chapman and Burl Huffman did not have to say, at the beginning of practice today, that the Westerners must work hard and consistently in preparation for the Pampa Harvesters Friday week, nor did the coaches need to go into detail as to how the Pampans defeated Amarillo, 13 to 6, last Saturday. With one or two possible exceptions, the entire Westerner squad was on the sidelines, and what an eyefull the lads got!

Spirit was a bit high on the high school campus today, and class room lessons were not without their Pampa football. The Westerners seem to realize, even before they take the practice field, that they must do better than they've done so far ths season if they defeat Pampa.

A rigid course of instructions is in store for the local school boy gridsters this week and next. There are no serious injuries now and efforts will be made to keep the casualty list low, but there will be plenty of hard work, intermingled with scrimmage sessions from day to day.

With no game scheduled for this week, the Westerners may go on through Saturday with another workout. A game may be scheduled, but such was not definitely known today. The Westerners will journey to Pampa on Friday of next week to meet Odus Mitchell's Harvesters in what looms as the classic of District 1 this season.

Community gardens are to replace community woodyards for unemployed at Asheville, N. C.

OVER 30 TEAMS ARE UNDEFEATED

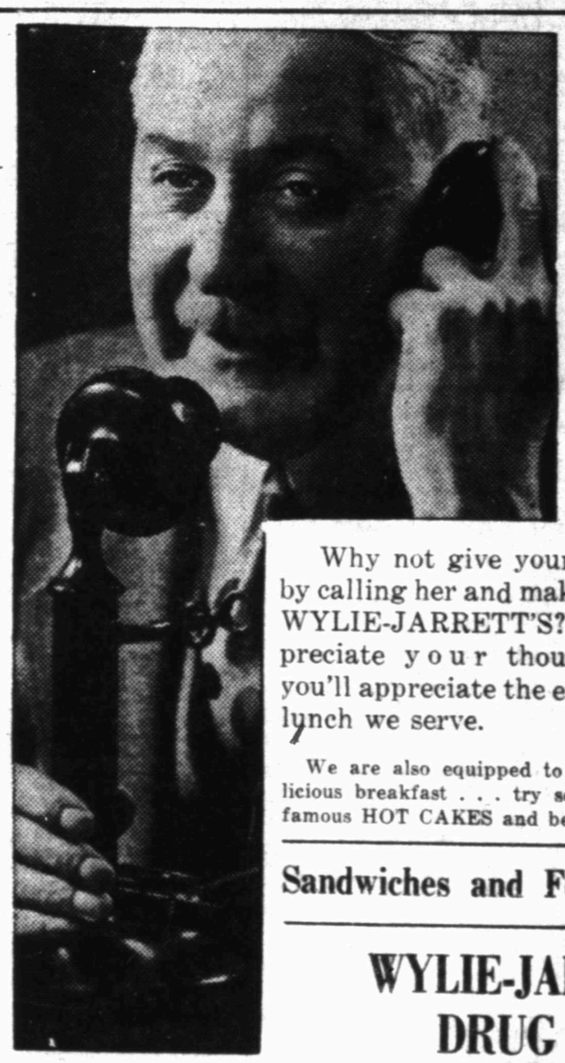

Scattered over the nation today were 32 college football teams which have suffered neither defeat nor tie.

Heading the list with five successive victories was the "Scarlet Hurricane" of Davis and Elkins college, Elkins, W. Va. Davis and Elkins, not only has won the most games among undefeated and untied teams, but has scored by far the most points—232. New York University holds second place with 180 with Syracuse, Columbia and Cornell trailing in that order.

Defensively, only six of the group can boast uncrossed goal lines—Davis and Elkins, Pittsburgh, Tennessee, Colgate, Tulane and Grinnell of Iowa.

Thought For Today

Behold, I am against the prophets, saith the Lord, that use their tongues, and say, He saith—Jeremiah 23:31.

* * *

Large offers and sturdy rejections are among the most common topics of falsehood.—Johnson.

Another Loss

The volume of more important news probably kept many newspaper readers from noticing the recent dispatch announcing the death of Mrs. Annie Fellows Johnson, author of the "Little Colonel" books; but there are countless middle-aged Americans who grew up on those books, in whom the news will provoke a good deal of pleasant reminiscence.

Now the "Little Colonel" books were not, by any critical standard, good literature. In another generation they will almost certainly have disappeared, and the juvenile reading public will be none the worse for it. But they belong in that peculiar classification which holds a great many of childhood's favorites, and it is a great deal harder to write books of that kind than most people may suppose.

For the child, when he opens a book, demands something especial—a touch of magic, the opening of a door through which he can escape from an imperfect world and get some help in the dreaming of dreams. Write for adults and you can choose any one of two dozen angles of approach; write for a child and one thing is inexorably demanded of you—the ability to lift the younger into never-never land.

This job was attempted in the "Little Colonel" books; and, really, the author did not do so badly. There was a priggishness about the books, of course, an insistence on the good, the true and the beautiful that was a bit saccharine; but there was also just a hint of that enchantment, that magic, with all great juvenile literature possesses.

Youngsters, by and large, are given a terrible lot of tripe to read. The tradition of Horatio Alger is still strong in the land. The "Little Colonel" was a step upward, just as were the Oz books—one or two of which, conceivably, may live a long time—and the Hollow Tree books. These books did not attain greatness, but they were above the common lot.

Not more than once in a generation or two does a writer appear who can really produce something for children of all times and places; and it is noteworthy that when this happens the book can be enjoyed by adults even more than by children. The shelf that holds "Alice in Wonderland" and "Huckleberry Finn" and "Uncle Remus" is not overcrowded. Meanwhile, we can pay our tribute to those whose glimpse of the magic lands was only a glimpse and nothing more.

More Economy

The presidential campaign chests next year, it appears, will not be what they once were. The depression has kept the coffers from being refilled, and in the campaigns which start next summer the party treasurers will find themselves hard pressed for the needed cash.

This, of course, is news to bring dismay to the hear stof "the boys," who had the time of their lives in 1928, when both major parties had, and spent, plenty of the needful. But it is not bad news from the viewpoint of the ordinary citizen.

After all, political campaigns have grown altogether too expensive in recent years. It should be possible to elect a president without spending any such sums as were spent on both sides in the last election. A year of forced economy, however distasteful it may be to the party hacks, may do a lot of good.

Having served several months in New Mexico State Prison, Albert B. Fall says, "Pardon me." Which seems a little oily.

But in thawing our frozen assets, probably it would help to eliminate the political plums in the plumbing.

When a show girl decides to shake down her millionaire husband, hey divorce suit usually fits without alteration.

That Girl on Broadway says every man tells a girl she is 'so different' then attempts to charm her with the same old line.

The first sign of Love is your inability to start the day until you've gotten his call over the telephone.

BACK in the saddle, albeit rather wabbly, after a three-day wrassle with Old Man Flu, The Plainsman is thoroughly convinced that fame and fortune is awaiting some now unknown physician and some likewise unknown—and probably unborn—pharmacist.

We refer to the doctor who some day will prescribe pleasant, as well as an efficient medicine and to the chemist who, prior to the prescribing, will concoct some of the same.

We have prizes for this and prizes for that—why they're even giving a peace prize every year and everybody knows that there isn't any peace 'til yet! But still we rock along, gobbling some of the most upsetting mixtures the mind can conceive of every time we get off'n our feed. It ain't right, folks, it ain't right.

If some of these philanthropists, who are always kicking in fortunes for foreign missions, fortunes for schools for Persian cats and similar projects, will just get wise to themselves maybe some of us ordinary mortals will get a break.

Until we can work up some kind of a popular demand for tastier medicines we'll continue to gargle mixtures made from old rubber boots, castor oil and asfeddity (which is not the way you spell it) but anyway, not many of us will like it!

BUT to get away from personal matters, The Plainsman must admit that he missed his guess regarding the outcome of the Pampa-Amarillo football game, having hazarded that Amarillo would win the mix. However, this column is not ready to admit that it has missed its guess on the opinion that Lubbock High will be the deciding team in the district. No air. Not by a long shot!

* * *

One of the wisest students of football in this country—he's been a player and an official for a score of years—saw the Amarillo-Pampa setto Saturday and The Plainsman conferred with this gent on Sunday afternoon.

"Neither one looks as good as the Westerners", he averred. "Neither club looked like it had anything near as much as it had last year."

THAT is good news, as The Plainsman sees it, although to give all the facts he must quote the afore-mentioned gent a little further. Here 'tis:

"I believe", he continued, "that Lubbock has a good chance to beat both Amarillo and Pampa and only one thing keeps me from saying that a Westerner triumph is a cinch. That is, the boys haven't had a real ball game all year—they haven't been up against any real opposition yet."

* * *

That certainly is a true word, if ever there was one spoken.

The Plainsman doesn't know who drew up the Westerner schedule—personalities don't matter.

But from the looks of the schedule it must have been pulled out of a hat.

There couldn't have been much planning on it.

THAT'S something that shou'd be looked to for next year. It's no' fair to the home fans who like to see at least a coup'e of tightly contested tilts a year, and it's not fair o the athletes to let them run right up to the crucial games without having a chance to play somebody who can give them at least a ghost of opposition.

* * *

But be that as it may, it's too late to cry over the 1931 schedule now. What Lubbock High players and Lubbock High fans want to do now is to point toward Pampa and Amarillo like nobody's business. The games are there for Lubbock—all Lubbock has to do is to take 'em.

WHICH reminds The Plainsman—Walter Alderson, Fox-worth-Galbraith big boss in the South Plains area, came back from the Pampa game nursing an idea.

"Why not a speshul train to Pampa?" Walter inquired. "We'd ought to run up there with our boys and watch the Westerners gather in the harvest".

That sounds like a good idea to The Plainsman.

What do you think? The round trip would be something like $3.50.

Just think it over a day or two and ask the opinion of a few friends. It isn't at all impossible that a special may be arranged.

It would be a nice trip for everybody concerned and supoort of several hundred local fans would help the Westerners get the job donz.

That Man on Avenue Q says many a man's expenditure of speech exceeds his income of ideas.

HOORAY!

"The women out our way have formed a secret society."

"Tut! Women don't know how to keep secrets."

"But this society isn't to keep secrets; it's to tell them."

Do you like puzzles and trick problems? If you do, here's one to try. It was sent The Plainsman by Bob Hayes.

Two little boys sold apples. Each boy had 30 apples to sell each day. John sold his apples two-for-a-nickle; Bill sold his three-for-a-nickle. John received 75 cents for his and bill received 50 cents, which made a dollar and a quarter for the lot.

But one day, John was sick so Bill had to sell all 60 of the apples. Instead of selling two-for-a-nickle and three-for-a-nickle, as had been the custom, he combined the two and sold five apples for a dime. After the apples were all sold, Bill found that he had only a dollar and 20 cents.

Bill wants to know what became of the other nickle. Can you tell him?

Death Of Dwight W. Morrow Seals Mystery Of What He Might Have Been; Successful In Everything He Tried

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—There will always be speculation now as to what kind of a senator Dwight Morrow would have made had he lived.

DUTCHER

His brilliant record elsewhere caused him to be considered one of the two or three outstanding statesmen in Congress. His success as a financier, diplomat, international negotiator, as a friend and adviser of two presidents and in most else that he undertook ranked him high among the public men of this country.

Although he served through an entire session, his death leaves the capital wondering whether he would or would not have achieved a splendid senatorial career such as might have led him to the presidency in 1936. For in the few months during which he sat in the Senate he effaced himself as far as possible from the public eye. He sat, listened and ran around backstage asking questions. But he introduced not a single bill and made not even a one-sentence speech. And those who had expected him to raise a new liberal voice on Capitol Hill saw him vote each and every time to support the administration in any matter of controversy.

Perhaps, if he had lived, he would have distinguished himself as a fighting champion for an administration which needs one sorely in the next session. Those who think so saw him emerging as one of the great conservative Republican senators such as dot the past, a breed presently extinct. They saw him five years from now as the logical man to succeed either Hoover or a Democratic president, believing that the time would then certainly be ripe for the election of a leader as wet as Morrow declared himself last year in New Jersey. . . . Of course there were others who thought Morrow—who solved the Mexican unpleasantness, saved the London naval conference from collapse and helped importantly to guide Hoover in recent critical international situations—was definitely out of his element in the Senate, fitted best for behind the scenes maneuvers and never likely to rise much above the level of the ordinary standpat senator. . . . The mystery is now insoluble.

Governor Theodore Roosevelt of Porto Rico, here lately, confirmed some of the weird stories which deal with his early attempts to master the Spanish language on the island to the point where he could make a speech in it.

For instance, the time he was on the platform trying to tell a few thousand Porto Ricans that he had four children and only succeeded in assuring them that he had "given birth to four children."

Whereupon, according to the governor, President Sanchez Morales of the Porto Rican Senate broke in and shouted.

"All things are possible in the tropics!"

Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur, who is the most lugubrious-looking member of the cabinet, is always making wisecracks about something or other.

He is just back from the west, after traveling extensively over the government's public lands and looking over various federal projects. He was so impressed by the number of jack rabbits, on the domain under his jurisdiction that he returned with the boast:

"I am the king of the jack rabbits!"

William Allen White's reported assertion that he joined the Hoover-Gifford unemployment committee so as to be in better position to criticize it recalls the prominent member who strolled out from one of the widely ballyhooed and supposedly important committee meetings and was asked by the correspondents what was going on inside.

"Don't quote me," he said, "but it's just a lot of sublimated blah-blah"!

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets and six articles by Dr Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1439 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Feminine Hygiene" "Indigestion and Constipation," "The Care of the Hair and Skin," "Infant Feeding" and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

DOCTORS' TESTS

I HEARTILY recommend a book lately published, "The Doctor Explains," by Dr. Ralph H. Major. The title indicates the subject matter. It is meant to help put those people who want to know the meaning of the tests their doctor has just put them through.

Dr. Clendening

For instance, Basal Metabolism. Many people must have taken this test in the last five years. And they must have been mystified. They usually describe it to me thus: "Then the doctor gave me a malamism test—you know, made me breathe into a kind of a can and then took the can away and analyzed my breath."

Dr. Major takes this test and tells how it came to be discovered. Then how it came to be adapted to the needs of practical medicine. Then he describes an average patient going through it—and what the doctor expects to learn. What steps he goes through to get the results and how he forms his conclusions.

He does the same for many other tests and methods of treatment. If you are puzzled by some of the stunts your modern doctor has made you perform, get this interesting volume and find out what they mean.

Among other recent books on medicine the one that interested me the most was, "The Young Doctor Thinks Out Loud." It is about the old subjects of the cost of medical care and the many changes in the modern organization of medicine, but differing from most of the others it comes from someone who knows what he is talking about, because he has actually been in medical practice. The young doctor's conclusion is that there is plenty of room for the private physician who is willing to give sound medical service and who has not too exalted an opinion of his importance.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

Mrs. E.: "I have on my upper arms red ridges, or scars, like those that come on a woman's abdomen during pregnancy. They show when I wear short sleeved dresses or a bathing suit. My baby is nearly a year old now. Is there any way to get rid of them, or will they go away?"

Answer: These fine scars have the same origin as those on the abdomen—i. e. stretching of the skin due to excess weight rapidly acquired during pregnancy. Treatment has been tried by cold cream massage, but it is not reported as very reliable. Frequently they tend to become less and less noticeable.

Mrs McC: "Would you settle a disoute for us? 'A' claims that only fortunate or lucky babies are born with a caul. 'B' claims that all babies have one to protect the child's face from the water when carried in the mother's uterus, and is usually dislodged at birth."

Answer: The caul is the amniotic sac—a thin membrane that completely envelopes the baby during its stay in the mother's uterus. It is usually ruptured during labor, but when not it is said the child is "born with a caul". The old superstition has it that such children will never be drowned.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—St. Andrew's Church, in the Park Row section, is one of the few churches that has held a special mass for newspaper printers and nightworkers.

In those days when the "row" was to newspapermen what the Palace is to vaudeville players, scores of workers in the varied journalistic crafts would gather at the 2:30 mass. When the old morning World became the World-Telegram and moved away, it was thought that this unique service would also pass. But it is being continued, and in the early morning hours the toilers in the back room of newspaper shops still attend.

For months after the World passed, Harry Hansen, the nationally known book reviewer who went to the World-Telegram, insisted on using his old desk. A lone figure in the cavernous emptiness of the famous old city room, he would return to his familiar seat to write his daily column.

Nor is he alone among newspapermen who have found it difficult to accustom themselves to a new atmosphere. S. J. Kaufman, now one of the most successful playwrights, once wrote Sunday drama pieces for the New York Times. When success in the theater came to him he struggled with the surroundings in his comfortable and newly achieved study. Invariably he would drift back to his old desk at the newspaper and with a sigh of relief, would knock off scenes and dialogue for some forthcoming play.

Nunally Johnson, once a feature writer for the New York Post, finally cracked the inner circles of the Saturday Evening Post, but frequently appears in old newspaper haunts and asks to borrow a typewriter.

And here's a laugh for you: a certain Sam Park wrote a play titled "Philadelphia." And it wasn't much of a much. Another young playwright, Herbert Ashton, Jr., brought out "Brothers," which had a little better luck.

Well, things being what they are, both of these young men are acting in a piece titled, "The Enemy Within." Park and Ashton play gangster roles and Park is taken for a ride by Ashton.

At last one lives to see a playwright get shot!

Katherine Cornell, one of the most successful of women theatrical producers, has strong faith in the judgment of her fellow women where show matters are concerned. She appreciates that women make up the large percentage of audiences.

Hence, she employs a woman play reader and her press and advertising matters are also handled by a woman.

"L. B.", my pet college correspondent, reminds me, by the way, that "the tender years are the toughest."

Absolutely "L. B." what with puppy love and young heartaches and all that.

WEED DAMAGE MOUNTING

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—J. J. Pieper, associate chief in crop production at the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, says weeds now cause an annual loss of from $200 to $250 a farm in Illinois and the damage is increasing.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

THE tower was straight and rose up high, a monument against the sky. "It sure looks old," said Scouty. "It's a wonder that it stands." The Travel Man replied, "Well, son, the building work was rightly done. In days of old sure such buildings were put up by expert hands."

They then moved on to other spots, and looking 'round saw lots and lots of very interesting sights. The Travel Man then said, 'I'd like to find a place to eat where we can pick a comfy seat and rest while we are dining. Then we'll all turn in to bed."

Wee Clowny, who was quite tired out, said, "That will do us good, no doubt, I'm sure that I can eat my share and then sleep good and sound." They walked a little ways and then heard Mister Travel Man again. Said he, "We'll stop right here and see what good food can be found."

The tables were set out in front. Each Tiny thought it quite a stunt to dine out in the open where 'twas cool as it could be. Soon right to eating they all fell and then they found a nice hotel. Said Coppy, as they crawled in, "Gee, this bed feels good to me."

Next morning they were up at dawn to find the Travel Man had gone ahead and planned a plane trip. "Hurry up," he loudly cried. You all will like that place, I know." And, ere 'twas noon, the Tinies were off on a fine plane ride.

Once in the city, they looked 'round and Scouty shouted, "I have found a sight that is quite puzzling." Then he pointed to a man who stood and made fine music ring out of a long and funny thing. And then he added, "Tell me what he's playing, if you can."

the state of Louisiana."

The suit further stated that Long by filing his credentials, procured for himself all the prerogatives, privileges and immunities possessed by any and all other senators.

Further the petition stated "that subsequent to the 13th day of October, 1931, and after said Paul J. Cyr had been inducted into the office of governor, the said Huey P. Long has procured Alvin V. King, president protempore of the senate of the state of Louisiana, to act under the constitution of Louisiana and to assume the functions of lieutenant governor and has publicly acknowledged said King as the person who should act as lieutenant governor upon the action of the elected lieutenant governor, Paul N. Cyr, to the governorship of Louisiana, which has been vacated by the election together with the other acts thereafter by said Huey P. Long."

labor costs are very low."

"We are attaching hereto a list of caliche material pits which it will be necessary for the Commissioners' court to secure from landowners for base material," the letter continued. "The state will reimburse the county on final estimate. "The usual price paid as royalty for caliche material, including right of egress and inegress is from three to five cents."

Mr. Johnston suggested that the court not pay more than five cents for that satisfactory contracts be prepared with each of the property owners as early as possible so that the department will be ready to award the contract on this project before the November letting.

County Judge E. L. Pitts said this morning that the court had taken no action on the letter other than that Commissioners Denton and Preston to Austin today. He explained that, although the majority of voters of the county were of the opinion that the county bond issue called for concrete paving entirely, it really called for any sort of macadamized, graveled or paved road.

He cited the original petition of the bond issue which reads as follows: "whether or not bonds of said county shall be issued in the sum of $800,000 for the following purpose to-wit: issuance of county bonds for the purchase of district roads and for further construction, maintenance and operation of macadamized, graveled or paved roads and pikes, or in aid thereof throughout such county."

It is estimated that the county will save approximately $60,000 on the highway construction through the use of caliche and asphalt. A meeting of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and B. C. D. directors was held on the matter this morning but no official action was taken.

JAPAN LOOKS TO CHINA FOR PEACE

TOKYO, Oct. 19 (AP)—In view of the deadlock between Tokyo and Geneva over the League of Nations recommendations aiming at a peaceful solution of the Sino-Japanese controversy over Manchuria, Japan today beame more inlined than ever to look to China for a settlement.

New possibilities of negotiations directly with China were foreseen in official circles here as the result of reports that the fall of Chiang Kai-Shek as president of the Chinese republic was imminent and that Chiang's political foes, the Canton insurgents, would play an important role in the foundation of a new government at Nanking.

The League of Nations recommendations, which included a suggestion that Japan give assurances of completing evacuation of her troops from Manchuria within three weeks and that China and Japan begin direct negotiations for a settlement before hand were unofficially termed "quite unacceptable" in government circles here.

GRANTED REVIEW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Harry M. Blackmer, Colorado oil operator, now residing in Paris, France, today was granted a review by the supreme court of fines totaling $60,000 imposed for his refusal to appear as a witness during the trials of Harry F. Sinclair, oil operator, and Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, in connection with Teapot Dome oil leases.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19 (AP)—Cotton opened rather steady today. Liverpool cables were about as due and first trades here showed gains of 4 points. December advanced an additional point after the start to 6.44, or five points above Saturday's close. The later months remained at the opening figures, at 6.54 for January and 6.73 for March.

The early advance was due to moderate trade buying and some price-fixing.

Later the market turned easier in sympathy with an easier opening in stocks. December traded down to 6.37, January to 6.48 and March to 6.66, or 6 to 7 points under the opening highs.

The weather map showed considerable frost in the eastern belt but the market appeared to be unaffected by this.

Near the end of the first hour the market was easy and at the lows.

The market, after easing off in the early part of the second hour on hedge-selling with December dropping to 6.34, January to 6.46 and March to 6.53, down 8 to 10 points from the early highs, later rallied in sympathy with a recovery in stocks which included good trade buying and short covering.

Before noon December traded up to 6.53, January to 6.63 and March to 6.81, or 17 to 19 points above the earlier lows and 12 to 14 points above Saturday's close.

At noon the market was very steady and at the highs.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 1 to 9 points on quiet active buying. The market held fairly steady during the first few minutes of trading but later selling appeared here for New Orleans account.

Reports of frost in North Carolina, Tennessee and northwest Georgia, with killing frost at Asheville, N. C., seemed to have little or no effect on the market which, by the end of the first half hour, was selling about 3 to 5 points net lower, or around 6.37 for December.

Liverpool cables reported trade buying and calling in that market with an improving demand for cotton cloth from India. Some of the early buying here may have been promoted by reports of larger sales in the goods market here last week.

After selling off to 6.35 for December and 6.65 for March under the early offerings, or about 6 to 8 points net lower, the market steadied up on continued covering and trade buying. The selling by the south tapered off later in the morning and the prices advanced to 6.49 for December and 6.81 for March, or 6 to 8 points above Saturday's closing quotations. Business was not particularly active but the market seemed senstitive to buying orders after the early selling had run its course.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady today: Oct. 6.25; Dec. 6.43; Jan. 6.54; March 6.73; May 6.93; July 7.14.

NEW YORK OPEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady today: Oct. 6.43; Dec. 6.50; Jan. 6.59; March 6.77; May 6.94; July 7.11.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—The stock market had a heavy undertone today but trading volume was extremely light during the earlier hours.

Small offerings brought maximum declines of a point in numerous pivotal issues, including U. S. Steel, New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, American Can, American Tobacco "B", Westinghouse and Union Carbide. However, the list firmed when the selling had been absorbed. American Telephone regained most of a one point dip and fractional recoveries took place elsewhere. General Motors and General Electric were steady.

Call money renewed at 2 1-2 per cent.

WORLD MOURNS DEATH OF EDISON; TO HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES WEDNESDAY

EDISON NEVER FOUND PROOF OF IMMORTALITY

BY SAMUEL G. BLACKMAN

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 19. (AP)—Thomas Alva Edison robbed nature of many secrets for the happiness of man but he never found one secret he sought—proof of the immortality of the soul.

The electrical wizard, long an avowed disbeliever in the existence of life after death, recently came to the conclusion it is possible the soul lives on.

Urged Investigations

Edison, although never troubled by his disbelief, was perplexed that he was unable to find proof of immortality. He urged and promoted investigations.

What brought Edison, at 84, his health gone, to change his views after 21 years, may never be known.

That Edison came to believe in the possibility of a hearafter is revealed by Dr. Hubert S. Howe, his personal physician.

Dr. Howe recalls a dinner table conversation with Edison in which the inventor explained his theory. Even to Edison it was vague.

Dr. Howe recalls Edison remarking: "Well, if there is a hereafter, it doesn't matter, and if there isn't a hereafter, it doesn't matter either. I've lived all my life and done my best."

Gives Views

Edison's view on the subject, as he explained it to Dr. Howe, is that "man might be made up of a lot of intelligent units, which, partially dispersed at death, certain of the intelligent entities might live and persist and prove indestructible and later reunite in another form."

On his 80th birthday, Edison said:

"I have stated many times, but no one understands, that man is not the unit of life, that he is dead as granite, that the unit consists of swarms of billions of highly organized entities which live in the cells. I believe at the time a man dies this swarm deserts the body—goes out into space, but keeps on, enters into another or last cycle of life and is immortal."

On another occasion, Edison said: "I am not an individual. I am an aggregate of cells, as, for instance, New York City, is an aggregate of individuals."

It is a far cry from this belief to that expressed by the inventor in 1930 in an interview with Edward Marshall, a friend of long standing.

"Soul? Soul? What do you mean by soul?" Edison asked. "The brain? There is no more reason to believe that any human brain will be immortal than there is to think one of my phonographic cylinders will be immortal."

Needs Analysis

And again in the same interview: "I cannot believe in the immortality of the soul. This speculative idea of immortality of the soul needs but to be analyzed to fall wholly to the ground."

Apparently it was as Edisor was turning 80, termed a "mere boy" then by the late Chancey M. Depew, then 83, that the inventor experienced a change of conviction.

In 1926 in an interview, he still held to his first conviction that deep investigation was necessary, but he reiterated that data was insufficient and that knowledge of psychic matters was so negligible that investigation and experimentation could not follow lines definite enough to warrant sound conclusions.

His view was that the soul could not be analyzed by chemists or weighed in scales, or photographed or recorded by instruments.

Edison urged that religious teachers seek genuine evidence and endeavor to build up proof at which the skeptical cannot laugh. Edison, at death, still a bit skeptical, but willing to believe, did not laugh.

the inventor's most intimate possessions—a duplicate of his first phonograph model, a bronse bust of Herbert Hoover, a picture of Mr. Edison with Mr. Ford, and similar mementoes.

The funeral Wednesday will be on the fifty-second anniversary of Mr. Edison's perfection of the incandescent light. Although his famous Menlo Park demonstration did not take place until December 31, 1879, he perfected the light October 21 of that year.

His electrical inventions were considered by the snowy haired genius as the greatest of his 1,300-odd patents whose value to mankind has been set at $15,000,000,000.

Mr. Edison's death ended an eleven weeks' illness, which began with a sudden collapse August 1. Saturday afternoon his children, grandchildren, and servants filed through his room.

Throughout the evening and into the morning's early hours Dr. Howe and the family maintained their vigil. Police guarded the estate. Newspapermen waited in the garage, transformed into press headquarters.

The news of the inventor's passing was carried to the reporters by Arthur L. Walsh, vice-president of Thomas A. Edison Industries, Inc.

After his collapse in August, Mr. Edison's remarkable stamina enabled him to rally. His old alertness, however, was dimmed; in fact, associates traced his illness back to an attack of pneumonia more than two years ago.

Diabetes, gastric ulcers, bright's disease and uremic poisoning combined to wear down the inventor's resistance. For the last six days he had been unable to take any nourishment.

Recognized Wife

Mrs. Edison remained in attendance; she felt her husband's dependence on her. She was the last person he recognized, smiling wanly a week before his death when she shouted into his ear, "dearie, how are you?"

Messages of sympathy and of tribute to Mr. Edison's memory were received at the rambling red house from all parts of the world—from President Hoover, from Pope Pius XI, and from other rulers, diplomats, and business associates.

At Cambridge, Mass., two college boys lauded his generosity. They were Wilber B. Huston of Seattle, Wash., and Arthur O. Williams of East Providence, R. I., to whom M. Edison gave scholarsips at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as winners of nation-wide "bright boy" contests.

Hebrew School Is Formed In Lubbock

Organization and establishing a Hebrew school and Sunday school in Lubbock was completed Sunday in a meeting of Jews of Lubbock and the South Plains at the home of H. J. Jarett, 1916 Main.

L. Feldman was elected president, A. Kessel of Slaton, vice president; Claude Grollman, treasurer and Al Mirsky, secretary. J. Liberstein, H. J. Jarett and William Levine were named trustees.

The Hebrew school will be taught by Sol Olim, student of Texas Tech. It will be held three days each week and instruction in Jewish history will be featured.

There are twenty families in Lubbock and neighboring towns who will be members of the congregation.

Road Work Delayed As Workers Strike

AMARILLO, Oct. 19 (AP)—Concrete work on state highway No. 5, north of Amarillo, was held up today while Earl V. Baker Construction company awaited the arrival of truckers from various points in the Panhandle.

Half a dozen of the 30 truckers who struck for higher pay Saturday returned to the construction camp and stated their willingness to work, but the number was insufficient to keep concrete mixers busy. Construction foremen said they expected 25 or 30 additional trucks in the camp by tonight.

The striking truckers were being paid 87 cents a load and demanded $1.

School Students To Honor Edison

This week will be "Thomas A. Edison Week" in the Lubbock public schools, M. H. Duncan, superintendent, announced this morning.

"We're going to try to put over the inspiration from Edison's life to the children," Mr. Duncan said. "I consider him the greatest American."

Students in all grades will make a study of Edison's life, his inventions and discoveries, writing themes making talks and reading his biography, Mr. Duncan said.

the injured persons. As Potts pulled at the wheel to avoid a crash, the machine struck and turned over Adams' car, Trotter said.

Adams, who was conscious shortly before noon, lives near the experiment station, which is about two and a half miles east of Lubbock. The Potts reside eight miles east of Lubbock near Canyon community. Miss Boyd's home is a mile north of Canyon. The college students were en route to classes when the collision occurred.

James Potts recently was selected as one of the 25 outstanding four-H club boys in Texas. He represented Texas at the last four-H club national encampment at Washington, D. C.

The Potts brothers were dismissed from the sanitarium before noon, although James Potts' condition was believed more serious than had been expected.

Local Negress Is Held In Robbery

Wanted in the robbery of a white man at Carlsbad, N. M., Jennie V. Brown, Lubbock negro woman, was returned to custody of the Lubbock county sheriff to await arrival of New Mexico officers, following a habeas corpus hearing this morning before Judge Clark M. Mullican of 99th district court.

Justice of the Peace H. K. Porter fixed bond at $750, which could be posted as appearance bail pending arrival of New Mexico officers. The negro woman alleged, in asking freedom by habeas corpus, that she was held illegally. The sheriff's department countered by presenting a warrant for her arrest from New Mexico authorities.

ACHIEVEMENTS OF EDISON RECALLED; MANY CONVENIENCES GIVEN TO WORLD

Western states, always studying and experimenting to improve the apparatus.

1868—Entered office of Western Union in Boston as operator. Later, resigned to experiment on duplex system of telegraphy, and went into private telegraph line business.

1868—Made his first patented invention, electrical vote recorder. Application for patent signed on Oct. 11, 1868.

1869—Landed in New York City from Boston boat, poor and in debt. Shortly afterward, looking for work, was in operating room of Gold and Stock Telegraph company when apparatus broke down. No one but Edison could fix it, and he was given a job as superintendent at $300 a month.

Improved Tickers

1869—Went into partnership with Franklin L. Pope as electrical engineer. Improved stock tickers and made new inventions.

1870—Received first money for inventions, $40,000. Opened manufacturing shop in Newark, where he made tickers, etc.

1871—Assisted Sholes, the inventor of the typewriter to make the first successful working model.

1872 to 1876—Worked on and completed many inventions, including motograph, automatic telegraph systems, duplex, quadruplex, sextuplex and multiplex telegraph systems; also paraffin paper, carbon rheostat, microtasimeter, etc.

1875—Discovered previously unknown and unique electric prenomena, which he called "Etheric Force." Twelve years afterward these phenomena were recognized as due to electric waves in free space, and became the foundation of wireless telegraphy.

1876—Moved from Newark to laboratory at Menlo Park, N. J.

Made Phone Practical

1876 to 1877—Invented the carbon telephone transmitter, which made telephony a commercial art. This invention included the microphone, which makes radio possible.

1877—Invented the phonograph. Patent was issued by United States Patent Office within two months after application, without a single reference.

1878—First half of year improving the phonograph. In summer went with astronomical party to Rawlins, Wyo., to test his microtasimeter during a transit of Venus. On returning commenced investigation of electric light problem.

The Electric Light

1879—Invented incandescent electric lamp. The invention was perfected Oct. 21, 1879, on which day the first lamp embodying the principles of the modern incandescent lamp was put in circuit and maintained its incandescence for more than forty hours.

1879—Invented radical improvement in construction of dynamo, making them suitable for generators for systems of distribution of current for light, heat and power. Invented systems of distribution, regulation and measurement of electric current. Invented sockets, switches, etc.

1879, Dec. 31.—Gave public demonstration of electric lighting system in streets and buildings at Menlo Park, N. J., using underground mains.

1880—Invented magnetic ore separator.

1881—Established first commercial incandescent lamp factory at Harrison, N. J. Organized and established shops for the manufacture of dynamos, underground conductors, sockets, switches, fixtures, meters, etc.

1880 to 1882—Invented and installed first life-sized electric railway or freight and passenger at Menlo Park, N. J.

1882, Sept. 4.—Commercial operation of first commercial central station in New York City for distribution of electric current for light, power and heat.

1883—First three-wire central station for electric lighting installed at Sunbury, Pa.

1883—Discovered a previously unknown phenomenon. He found that an independent wire or plate placed between the legs of the filament as a valve to control flow of current. This became known as the "Edison effect." Patent was issued to him in 1883, No. 307031. This discovery covers the foundation principle on which every modern radio lamp (or tube) is based.

Strenuous Years

1880 to 1887—Strenuous years of invention and endeavor in extending, improving and exploiting the electric light, heat and power systems. During these years he took out upwards of 300 patents, many of them of fundamental importance, such for instance, as that covering the feeder system, and that covering the three-wire system.

1881 to 1887—Invented system of wireless telegraphy (by induction) to and from trains in motion, or between moving trains and railway stations. Installed on Lehigh Valley Railroad in 1887, and used several years. Same principle capable of use at sea.

1887 to 1890—Invented improvements on cylinder phonograph.

1891—Invented the motion picture camera. By the invention of this mechanism, with the continuous tape-like film originated by Eastman, it became possible to take and reproduce motion pictures as we have them at this day.

Brilliant Work

1891 to 1900—These years were spent on the great iron ore concentrating enterprise, in which Edison did some of his most brilliant engineering work. He made many important inventions during this period, among which were those covering the giant rolls for breaking large masses of rock, and the three-high rolls for fine crushing.

1900 to 1910—This period covers the work resulting in the invention of the Edison Alkaline Storage Battery, and its commercial introduction.

1900 to 1909—During these years Edison established a Portland cement mill. He made many important inventions relating to the method and processes in the production of Portland cement.

1906—Introduced new dictating machine, which enabled the dictator to hear repetitions and make paper scale corrections.

1907—Introduced the first time the Universal electric motor for operating dictating machines on all lighting circuits.

Perfected Phonographs

1910 to 1914—Worked on improved disk phonograph. This work resulted in the production of an instrument and records which reproduce vocal and instrumental music with absolute fidelity and sweetness.

1912—Introduced the kinetophone or talking motion picture, after spending much time in its development during a number of years past. He foreshadowed the production of this combined device in 1887.

1913—Introduced automatic correction device for dictators.

1913—Edison, being the largest individual user of carbolic acid in the United States (for making phonograph records), found himself in danger of being compelled to close his factory by reason of the embargo placed on exportation by England and Germany, the sources of supply, carbolic acid being used in making explosives. Edison devised a plan for making carbolic acid synthetically, set gangs of men at work twenty-four hours a day to build a plant, and on eighteenth day was making the acid. Within four weeks plant could turn out a ton a day.

1914—Invented the telescribe, combining the telephone and the dictating phonograph, thus permitting the recording of both sides of telephone messages.

1915—Very early in the year Edison found he was in danger of being unable to obtain a continuous supply of benzol from which he made his synthetic carbolic acid. The European war had created an enormous demand and supplies were uncertain. He decided to erect his own benzol plants. He first looked up all the literature on erection and operation of benzol absorbing plants, and then made engineering plans for a quick type of plant that could be quickly installed. Experimented on and perfected it in his laboratory.

Incredible Speed

1915—About March Edison conceived the idea of helping out the textile and rubber industries of America by making myrbane, aniline oil and aniline salt, which are always in great demand and which had been previously imported from Germany. He exhausted the literature on the subject, as usual, and then laid out the plant. By bringing great pressure to bear, and working day and night, he installed his plant in forty-five working days, commenced deliveries in June, and was soon turning out over 4,000 pounds a day.

1915—The fur dyeing industry and other arts were suffering from a great scarcity of paraphenylenediamine, formerly imported from Germany. Edison also used it in the manufacture of phonograph records. He equipped a separate plant for this and ultimately manufactured over a ton a day, thus relieving a serious situation.

1917 and 1918—Worked all the year on special experiments on war problems for the United States government. Space will not permit details.

Returns To Plant

1919 to 1926—In his zeal to serve the government, Edison had left his business in charge of his officials for the two years he was so engaged. After the armistice he returned to his plant at Orange, N. J., and resumed the direction of his affairs. In these years he performed a prodigious amount of work in reorganizing his plant, experimenting on new devices, processes and improvements, and perfecting many technical processes and mechanisms, including the electric control of Executive Model Ediphone, and other important developments. Many patents were issued to him during this period. Altogether about 1,150 patents were issued to Edison.

1927 Till Recently—Mr. Edison devoted a great deal of time to investigating and experiments looking toward the production of rubber from plants, bushes shrubs, etc., grown in the United States, to meet possible national emergencies.

SOLONS FAVOR DEBT SLASH

QUESTIONNAIRE SHOWS SENATE MAY TAKE UP REDUCTION

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (AP)—The New York Post said responses of 34 senators to a questionnaire indicated the senate would listen favorably to a proposal for reduction of war debts, if coupled with a corresponding cut in armaments.

Four of the 24 senators who took a definite stand on such double-barreled reduction, in their replies to the newspaper, favored the idea without requiring further definition of the terms of such a proposal.

Nine Opposed

Eleven others expressed willingness to listen to the terms of such a bargain. Nine were in avowed disapproval. Others of the 34 senators who answered the poll were doubtful or failed to express an opinion. The senate has a membership of 96, but there is one vacancy.

To a second question, whether they favored an extension of the one-year Hoover moratorium on war debts and reparations, seven voted no and four yes, with the remainder doubtful.

Interest in a proposed bargain with European countries over limitation of armaments and a cut in war debts has been heightened by the conferences President Hoover soon will hold with Premier Laval of France, and Signor Grandi, foreign minister of Italy, naval holiday exponent.

In Washington it is considered certain the president will insist on drastic arms reduction before there can be any further relief from war debts and reparations.

Congressional leaders already have signified to him a willingness to look sympathetically on the war debt pleas if Europe promises to co-operate along the other line.

CATCH HUGE FISH

CHILDRESS, Oct. 19. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff H. E. Mote and his son, Ansel, caught a 20-pound catfish from Lake Childress. The fish was 30 inches long, and one of the largest ever caught from the lake.

Periodical Pains Relieved In 3 Minutes

Month after month some women still suffer needless pain but those who know simply go to a drug store or soda fount, get a package or dose of "B-C" and get perfect relief in 3 minutes, continuing their duties in pain-free, easy comfort.

"B-C" is the formula of two North Carolina druggists, contains several ingredients that function together for the relief of headache, neuralgia and periodical pains, accomplishing in a few minutes what no one drug formula can do under 1 to 3 hours.

"B-C" stops the pain, quiets the nerves, is perfectly harmless. No other preparation like it. Nothing else gives such profound relief. Ask your druggist, he knows. (Adv).
