School Board Adopts Budget For New Year

A preliminary budget for 1955-56 was adopted as presented by members of the Pampa School Board last night in the Business office of the City Hall. The adopted budget calls for $65,000 to go towards capital outlay, which includes school sites, new buildings and additions, and furniture and equipment.

Total expenditures of the budget are $1,398,831.50 as compared with $1,282,288 for last school year.

Calculations on local maintenance tax based on $59,250,000 valuation and 98 per cent collections were $1.05, with bonds and interest $1.25.

Dave Baash, tax attorney representing Cities Service Oil Co, of Bartlesville, Okla., met with the board to present his ideas and comments.

Other disbursements include: $33,460 for administrative salaries; $29,480 for elementary principals; $15,300 for secondary principals; and a total of $16,980 for supervisors.

Approved teacher salaries for this year are $398,180 for elementary teachers, $359,624 for secondary teachers, or a total of $757,804 — an increase of $53,013 over last year. This increase is due to 16 additional teachers.

Other provisions of the budget call for $18,480 for instruction of Negroes, $64,750 for miscellaneous school services, $89,500 for operation of plant, $50,020 for maintenance of plant, and $8,250 for fixed charges.

Debt service is set up as follows: $87,000 for redemption of serial bonds, $70,000 for redemption of short - time loans, and $29,292 for interest on serial bonds.

Board members discussed the three issues to be brought before the public in the near future: adoption of maintenance tax rate, a bond issue, and adoption of Senate Bill 116. The senate bill, if adopted, will increase the present $1.25 limit to $1.50 for school maintenance provided the bonded indebtness is not over 7 per cent of the assessed valuation of almost $60,000,000. The bill was called an asset for school house building. Bonds may be voted up to the limit of $4,200,000.

In other action of the board, bids were considered for a ¾ ton '55 pick - up. Consideration was given to six bids, and the low bid of Culberson Chevrolet was accepted if specifications are met.

A request for salary increases for 4 bus - maintenance men who make extra runs met with an additional $25 increase per month.

The sale of feed from the school site north of 23rd St. was given to William Fraser, who planted the feed on the land.

The entire meeting was appropriately summed up by Herman Whatley, chairman, as he said, "School boards have got their worries, too."

Commission Hears Paving Ordinance

The City Commissioners this morning heard the second reading of ordinance number 436, which has to do with paving proposed on Decatur, Kingsmill, Craven and Florida streets.

The second reading of the ordinance closes the public hearing and the third reading will be next Tuesday.

City Manager Fred Brook reported that proposed paving on the 1100, 1200, 1300 and 1400 blocks of Browning were about ready to go and all are paid for with the exception of three owners.

The group heard a representative of Ideal Food Stores, Inc., discuss a proposed store site bordering Gillespie, Browning and Francis streets. The group proposed slightly elevated parking space because of unlevel ground and discussed with the commissioners ways of constructing entrances to the parking lot.

Proposed stop and yield right-of-way signs at traffic intersections were discussed in the meeting and the possibility of creating a traffic safety commission was considered.

It has been decided to re-signalize the intersection of Cuyler and Brown streets, utilizing four corner lights instead of the one overhead signal. The intersection at Hobart and Kentucky streets, which is to be signalized soon, will be a blinker light.

Trap Set For Kidnaper

WAVERLY N. Y. —UP— State police set up roadblocks near here Tuesday on a tip that the kidnaper of the infant son of Dr. and Mrs. Sanford Marcus, of San Francisco, Calif., was seen in the area.

Police set up the alert when a Sayre, Pa., man reported seeing a California licensed car in Waverly about 6 p.m. Monday.

Arthur Maurer told police the car was carrying a man and woman. His description of the woman tallied with that of the kidnaper.

Maurer said he did not see any baby in the car, which was headed west on a secondary road south of Route 17 along the Chemung River.

State police here said a check with California authorities on the description of the wanted woman, tallied with Maurer's.

Peron To Sail Into Exile In Paraguay

By W. H. MCCALL

BUENOS AIRES —UP— Juan D. Peron is expected to sail into exile Tuesday aboard a 25-year-old Paraguayan gunboat where he has hidden for eight days from the revolutionary leaders who ended his decade of iron-fisted rule.

Semi-official sources said Foreign Minister Mario Amadeo would issue a safe conduct permit for Peron about noon after receiving assurances that Peron would not be allowed to remain in neighboring Paraguay from which he might launch a move to regain power and prestige.

Peron sought diplomatic asylum at the Paraguayan embassy and was placed aboard the gunboat Paraguay, an ancient vessel so in need of repairs it was deemed unable to make the 900-mile trip upstream to the Paraguayan capital of Asuncion.

It was considered likely he would transfer from the heavily-guarded Paraguay to its sistership, the 280-foot Humaita, a 25-year-old single-stacker which would require three days for the trip against the muddy waters of the Parana River.

The provisional government that ousted Peron was reported reluctant for Peron to remain in the neighboring country, and government sources indicated earlier Argentina would ask that Peron be sent to another country as a condition for his safe conduct.

While Peron waited on the gunboat for a final decision, officers of the army of liberation began investigating his personal wealth.

Dems Predict Stevenson's Stock To Rise

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON —UP— Some Democratic campaign strategists predicted Tuesday that President Eisenhower's illness will boom Adlai E. Stevenson's presidential chances and help the party keep control of congress.

They gave their predictions privately.

Their appraisals were based on strong convictions that Mr. Eisenhower's heart seizure—no matter how mild it may be—will prevent his being a candidate next fall.

With President Eisenhower out of the running, these Democratic strategists said some potential Republican candidates for the House and Senate will be reluctant to take on Democratic incumbents. And GOP candidates who do run will be unable to do so on the popular President's coattails.

As for Stevenson, these strategists see him in the role of a top contender who lost one decision to the champion. Before the President's illness some Democratic leaders were leary of sending the same contender into the ring for a rematch with the same champion, these informants believe.

But the withdrawal of the champion—regarded as certain because of the President's heart seizure—leaves Stevenson as the man to beat, they said.

These Democrats, party professionals who have not been Stevenson boosters, also are of the opinion that the President's illness may, by stressing the back-breaking physical demands of the presidency, do some harm to the ambitions of New York Gov. Averell Harriman. They point out that Harriman is only a year younger than the President.

The strategists made some reservations in their appraisal of Stevenson's chances. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) probably will conduct a vigorous fight in pre-convention preferential primaries across the nation to establish himself as the peoples' choice for the Democratic nomination.

Nixon In New Role 'Unofficial Chief'

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON —UP— Vice President Richard M. Nixon was moving by force of circumstances Tuesday toward a new role as unofficial acting president of the United States.

It must be unofficial because there is no such office, nor any immediate need for a legalistic delegation of presidential powers to the vice president.

So Nixon's new role is informal. There were hints that it may—probably will—rest there unless President Eisenhower has a relapse or repeat heart attack. That much developed from Monday's White House lunch among Nixon, presidential chief of staff Sherman Adams, acting Attorney General William P. Rogers and other White House personnel.

They agreed to call a Friday Cabinet meeting and that announcement was made by the White House, but in Nixon's name. In Denver it was not felt necessary even to advise Mr. Eisenhower of it. The point was made here and in Denver, that the role of Nixon and Adams, as chief of staff, in this situation merely follows a pattern established when the President previously has been absent or ill. Moreover, it is a personal and not a legalistic delegation of authority.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told Denver newsmen that the question of delegation of power was under study but that there was "nothing in the immediate future requiring the delegation of presidential powers or the signature of the President."

The situation in Washington was further eased by the fact that Mr. Eisenhower is reported in full possession of his faculties and may be able to receive an official visitor or two and to sign essential papers in a matter of a fortnight or less.

The new roles of Nixon and Adams are less a sign of crisis here than of an easy and temporary adjustment to meet an unusual and presumably temporary situation.

The subject will be explored further at Thursday's National Security Council meeting at which Nixon will preside by designation of the President. Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., is not a Council member, but will arrive Tuesday from an interrupted vacation in Spain to attend the council and Cabinet meetings.

Brownell is the chief law officer and a principal political strategist of the Eisenhower administration. He is coming home to give full attention to the question of the delegation of presidential powers if such formal action proves to be necessary.

There was a tendency here Tuesday to soft pedal the idea. Rogers said it may not be necessary to take any formal action. A Justice Department source said the importance of delegation of power was being over-emphasized at the moment in public discussion.

Stock Tickers 20 Minutes Late Today

NEW YORK —UP— Stock tickers Tuesday fell behind the market by nearly 20 minutes, the greatest lateness since the Korean war started in mid-1950.

They were 18 minutes late at 9:30 a.m. with prices generally higher, featured by General Motors which rose $3 a share after falling nearly $9 in the previous session.

The previous lateness record in 1955 occurred on Jan. 5 when the market plunged on a rise in margins from 50 per cent to 60 per cent and the tape was 15 minutes behind. It ran as much as 27 minutes behind on June 27, 1950.

Market Moves Higher

The whole market moved higher after a firm opening. The volume was under Monday but the size of the transactions was smaller which accounted for the inability of the tickers to keep pace.

Overnight reappraisal of President Eisenhower's illness brought in bargain hunters from the start. Monday the market had its worst break in more than 25 years, entirely attributed to the Eisenhower illness announced over the weekend. The selling has been overdone, according to the experts.

Net gains extended to more than $3 a share at the highs. U.S. Gypsum, a $33.25 loser Monday, jumped $12. DuPont at its high was up more than $3 but it later lost part of that rise.

Government officials and Wall Street financiers pointed out that there had been no overnight change in business conditions and predicted it would continue at high levels of activity throughout the year.

The break which began with the opening of the market Monday was the most severe for any single day since Oct. 28, 1929. The values of all shares listed on the New York stock exchange dropped by approximately $11 billion.

Dow-Jones Down 32 Points

The Dow-Jones industrial average slipped 32 points, a record drop for any single day with the exception of Oct. 28, 1929, when the average fell 38.33 points.

Percentage declines were wide—6.79 in the rails; 6.54 in the industrials and 3.75 in the utilities.

Individual losses in the leading shares ran high. Bethlehem fell $14; Kennecott Copper, $12.50; DuPont, $15.88; Texas Company, $10; Union Pacific Railroad, $13; Anaconda Copper, $8.25 General Motors, $8.88; Chrysler, $8.25; Standard Oil (N. J.) $8.63; Union Carbide, $8.88; and United States Steel, $5.13.

Mamie Can Visit Ike More Frequently Now

DENVER —UP— Mamie Eisenhower can visit her husband more frequently now and talk to him without an oxygen tent between them.

She went in to see him twice Monday, and Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty indicated that her visits can become more frequent in view of the President's "satisfactory progress, which is continuing."

She and their son John, saw the President Monday night about 30 minutes before he had a dinner of consomme and vegetables. The oxygen tent was not removed then, though they could converse easily with him through it.

The tent was removed during an earlier lunchtime visit Monday, when Mrs. Eisenhower chatted with him as he ate. It also was removed for him to eat dinner, but his family was gone then.

Mrs. Eisenhower and her son ate dinner together in a small dinette, which is part of the special suite on the eighth floor of Fitzsimons Army hospital. Their dinner was prepared by Army nurses, who also prepare the President's meals in a special kitchen in the suite.

Mrs. Eisenhower's personal secretary, Mrs. Mary Jane McCaffree, was on vacation when the President was stricken. She returned to Denver early Tuesday to be with Mrs. Eisenhower.

There is no indication whether Mrs. Eisenhower will remain in the suite as long as her husband is in the hospital, and that could be a month. Physicians are believed to have assured her that there is no pressing reason for her to be at the hospital 24 hours a day.

Thousands Send Messages Encouraging President

By MERRIMAN SMITH

The chief executive, who looked and felt like anything but a sick man, had a long, restful evening at Fitzsimons Army hospital where he has been a patient since Saturday.

As the President continued to improve in a period which his doctors described as critical, thousands of messages from well-wishers across the world poured into the summer White House offices.

The 8 a. m. cst bulletin on the President's condition said he had spent "a very good night." The bulletin, signed by the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder and Col. George Powell, chief of medical services at Fitzsimons Army hospital, said Mr. Eisenhower slept almost continuously from 9 p. m. Monday night until 7:15 a. m. Tuesday.

Leaves Oxygen Tent

His physicians took away his oxygen tent for three, 30 - minute periods Monday, and they were expected possibly to let him remain from under it even more Tuesday. They let him sleep under it Monday night, to maintain his feeling of well-being.

According to Dr. Paul Dudley White, a world famous heart specialist who examined the President twice, reassured him and returned to his home in Boston in a special military plane Monday, the President's appearance is deceiving.

Barring an unforeseen complication, White expects the President to recover so completely he can run for a second term if he wants to. But he said, after he returned to Boston, that though the President "feels well and looks well," he is still "quite sick."

"Every day counts in his favor, the first week being the most important," White said. Tuesday will make half a week the President has been a cardiac patient.

On Light Diet

The President was on a relatively light diet and at meal hours he was permitted to leave the oxygen tent for as much as 30 minutes. The attending physicians were happy about his morale, but their advice was that the chief executive should remain in the hospital for about a month.

Mrs. Eisenhower, living in a hospital room across the hall from the President, was able to see her husband several times a day, talking with him for brief periods.

Eddie Fisher Weds Debbie In New York

GROSSINGER, N. Y. —UP— Singer Eddie Fisher, despite all the reports he wouldn't, married actress Debbie Reynolds and they were honeymooning Tuesday at an undisclosed spot.

The year-old romance between the bobby-sox idol and the young actress reached its climax Monday night at this Catskill Mountain resort where Fisher began his meteoric rise to fame a decade ago—at $30 a week.

It was a simple, but double-ring ceremony that lasted three minutes. At the end, the diminutive Fisher kissed his petite bride lustily, and she breathed a sigh that was plainly audible to the three dozen persons who witnessed the marriage.

For Fisher, 27, and his 23-year-old starlet bride, it was their first marriage. And for the honey-blonde actress, she said she hoped it would be her last. Asked if she planned to raise a family Debbie replied demurely:

"Doesn't everyone plan to have a family, eventually."

The civil ceremony was performed by Sullivan County Judge Lawrence Cook, arrayed in his judicial robes. He and the happy couple stood in front of a flower-banked fireplace in the living room of Dr. and Mrs. David Etess. Their home is a part of the resort area.

Milton Blackstone, close friend and business manager of the singer, served as best man, and the maid of honor was Jeanette Johnson, of Burbank, Calif., a girl friend of the bride.

Doctor Says Ike Should Go To Work

BOSTON —UP— The famous heart specialist who treated President Eisenhower said Tuesday the President will be able to assume some of his tasks in two or three weeks and should work rather than fret.

"The President will be much better off to take up some of his duties than to worry over neglecting them while he recovers," Dr. Paul Dudley White said.

He said the President quite probably will recover his health sufficiently to run for office again but "of course, the decision is one which only he can make."

After two or three weeks, Mr. Eisenhower should be able to attend short conference sessions and study a few papers.

White arrived here Monday night from Denver aboard a military transport plane. He said he would be in his office as usual Tuesday, but that he would be in daily contact with the President's doctors in Denver.

Interviewed by newsmen on his arrival here, White said he told Mr. Eisenhower, "golf has been blamed as the wrong doer in similar cases."

"I told the President that if he had not played golf he might have had the attack 20 years ago," White said.

"We don't want to predict anything," White said, "but I regard his condition as excellent and his morale wonderful." He added that the President still is quite sick."

White said total rest was necessary for the President during the next two weeks.

White, one of the founders of the National Heart Association and possibly the nation's leading expert on heart diseases, said he did not expect to see the President again until after he leaves Denver for his Gettysburg home.

Cadillac Shows 1956 Versions

NEW YORK —UP— Cadillac unveiled its new models Monday and announced it plans to produce a record 156,000 automobiles during the next 12 months.

The figure is 15,000 higher than its 1955 model production and more than two and one-half times its best pre-war production year, the firm said.

The new models have engines of 285 and 305 horsepower and feature a new transmission system, new bumpers and hoods and fenders as well as a new instrument panel and interior styling.

Nichols Tells What Is New In The Nation's Capitol

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON —UP— What's new in Washington:

John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, frequently sneaks off on trips without telling his office help where he's going. Once he went all the way to San Francisco. When he didn't show up at the office last week, some UMW officials assumed he was off on another of his unscheduled trips. But it turned out that the 75-year-old Lewis hadn't gone far— just to a local hospital for a "routine checkup."

Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen Jr., the Republican from New Jersey, cracks in his newsletter that the law makers, if possible, ought to eliminate the last two weeks of the session. There is, he said, nothing but confusion in the closing days. The law-giver didn't say where his colleagues should file the lost two weeks.

Sen. Milton R. Young, the North Dakota Republican, is a little embarrassed about his trip to Moscow. He had along a movie camera and was doing right fine with it. All of a sudden he was invited to the Kremlin to meet the high command. He asked a guide if it was okay to fetch along his movie gear. The guide said that would be fine. So Sen. Young shot and he shot and he shot. And when he got back to his quarters he started to remove the precious film. But he had forgotten to load it.

Washington's change back to standard time gave one disk jockey a bad night. Les Sands of WWDC found himself on an all night show. On the changeover, which happened at 2 a.m. daylight time, he found himself knocked back to 1 a.m. Meaning that he had to work a whole hour for nothing.

One of the happiest cops in Washington is Lt. Tom Onofrio, now that the kids are back in school. Not that the lieutenant has anything against the young set. It's just that the youngster gave him a bad time during the hot spell by swimming in some of the pools around the capitol. They delighted the tourist by dipping for pennies. But that didn't delight the copper a bit. He was diving most of the summer for younguns.

876 Sign Up For Reserve

WASHINGTON —UP— The Army said Monday it has signed up 876 youths so far to start the administration's new six - month military training program next week.

That is a far cry from the 10,000-a-month clip which the Army must attain to meet its goal of 90,000 in the next nine months.

The still incomplete figures include 386 predraft age youths who have joined the Army reserves, and 490 National Guardsmen who will cut the length of their military obligation by taking the six-month active duty course.

TV Theatre Sets 500th Performance

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK, — UP— Kraft Television Theatre, the longest running show in the land of the magic lantern, notches an elegant mark this Wednesday night — it's 500th performance.

It was back on May 7, 1947, that Kraft uncorked the series with an hour-long drama, "Double Door." Since that time, the stanza has piled up more "firsts" than George Washington — it was the first dramatic show, the first program to be carried on anything resembling a network, the first drama segment to be dolorcast, the first to use trick camera work for dramatic effect, the first drama segment of the colorcast, networks at the same time.

If any one man could be singled out as an authority on the show, it would be Ed Rice, who has acted as script editor since its beginning. Rice stamped his okay on all 500 of the scripts which have gone through the mill—225 of them Broadway dramas; 73, plays from London; 141, original TV plays; the remaining 61, unproduced and classical dramas.

"There's only one test for a Kraft script as far as I'm concerned — how well it reads," said Rice, who pores over up to 20 entries a week. "If I find it holds my attention, I don't worry about any mechanical problems it might present. We've never had to discard a good script because of technical difficulties."

Kraft, a happy hunting ground for comparatively unknown thespians, has used more than 3500 different actors and actresses during its life span. Some, like Rod Steger, Jack Lemmon and Anne Francis, were boosted to stardom by the show.

"We're not interested in big name stars as such," said Rice. "We would rather have the public watch the show week after week because of its dramatic quality than just tune in occasionally because a Hollywod star happens to be on."

'Old Fox' Opens Mayor Campaign

HOUSTON —UP— Oscar Holcombe, the "Old Gray Fox" of Houston politics who has served 10 terms as mayor, opens the Nov. 19 mayoralty campaign Monday night.

Whether or not Holcombe plans to run himself against Mayor Roy Hofheinz is moot. He said he will give his answer Monday night in a radio and television address at 7:15 p. m.

Whether Holcombe answers "yes or no" to the question of "will Oscar run?" he is expected to blast the Hofheinz regime and R. E. (Bob) Smith, multimillionaire Hofheinz backer.

Smith heads the United Citizens Association which will pick a slate in the mayor and city council race.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH

Read Genesis 2:8-10, 15-25, 3:1-12

There is an eternal difference between right and wrong. Here is a fact of the most fundamental importance. Because of it, the race has undergone incredible sufferings. There is something basic in our human nature which makes it impossible for men to stand idly by when wrong triumphs and right is undermined. Because of this difference the most burdensome tasks have been undertaken, supreme sacrifices have been made, and who can even estimate the killing blows the race has suffered? No one can study the human spirit scientifically and leave this central fact out of consideration. It is pivotal in human behavior, and is a spiritual phenomenon which cannot be explained from either a physical or an intellectual standpoint.

It is not true that all things considered wrong in one generation, or among one people, are considered wrong in the next generation or by another people. But in every country, among the people of every race, and within the consciousness of every individual, some things are wrong and some things are right, and between these two classification there is a great gulf fixed which no man can cross without experiencing great spiritual suffering. Than this there is no more significant fact in all of human experience. And this is a spiritual fact!

The ancient writer of Genesis was confronted by this universal sense of right and wrong, and was compelled to explain it in some way. In doing so he made use of the story of Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden, and the basic spiritual truth of that story will never fail. No man is ever able to ignore his inner sense of right and wrong.

I thank thee, O God, for the restlessness of spirit which takes possession of me when I do the thing I know to be wrong. I am convinced that it is the warning that thou hast put in my way to hedge me in for a life of righteousness. Amen.

If you are an average person there is probably in your consciousness at this moment the memory of some moral failure, weakness, lack, or need. Try writing out a full and complete confession. Burn it, of course, but try draining your soul.

HISTORY-MAKING ENLISTMENT—Frank M. Carter, the son of Frank Carter, 1016 Mary Ellen, is shown here as he takes the oath of enlistment into the Army Reserve. He is the first enlistee in the new program providing for six months service. He will be on a six-months active duty status at Ft. Bliss and Camp Chaffee, Ark. He is sworn in by Capt. Albert S. Wimberley, Amarillo. (News Photo)

Pampan First To Enlist In New Program

Frank M. Carter made Texas history last night at 8:30 at the local Army Reserve headquarters. His is the first to be sworn in and placed on active duty in the Texas Military District under the new six months active duty plan.

Carter is 18 and has finished his high school education and is ready now to go into the reserve for eight years. He will be placed on active duty at Fort Bliss for basic training. He will then get a 15 day Christmas leave and be reassigned to Camp Chaffee, Ark. Where he will spend the remainder of his six months active duty.

He will then be placed on an inactive status for a period of seven and one half years in the reserve. He will be draft deferred as long as he participates in 90 per cent of the activities of the reserve unit to which he is attached. He will be free to go to college and participate in his choice of reserve units.

Any young men wishing details on the new enlistment program can contact Lt. M. E. Callahan at the reserve headquarters any Monday night between 7 and 8 p.m. or call him at 4-8120.

Parents are invited to contact him and get the details for themselves. The reserve is now making a concentrated effort to familiarize the public with the new enlistment law.

All high school students who wish may enlist and remain draft deferred until their high school education has been completed. At that thime they will go into the six-month period of active duty and remain in the reserve for another 7 and one half years.

through the glassine walls of the oxygen apparatus, and while he was not under the tent.

The Eisenhowers' son, John, an Army major stationed at Ft. Belvoir, Va., felt that his father's condition was sufficiently stable to permit him to fly back to Washington Friday.

At 4 p.m. (mst) Monday, the White House bulletin on the President's condition said:

"The President had a very comfortable day. He had a moderate lunch of meat, vegetables, fresh fruit cocktail and milk. Mrs. Eisenhower joined the President and visited with him during lunchtime."

At 9:30 p.m. the bulletin said:

"This has been a comfortable day for the President. His satisfactory progress as previously reported, has continued throughout the day."

The President ... has followed a policy of keeping from him any details of official business. The doctors hoped, however, that by late next week the President would be able to consider official documents and hold a limited number of conferences.

One of his first meetings may be with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. From such a meeting might come a statement to assure the world that the President's illness will not lead to any basic change in American foreign policy.

The White House seemed much less concerned than some areas in Washington about the possible delegation of presidential powers to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said a study of possible legal involvements was being made back at the White House and the Justice Department. But Hagerty added:

Woman Fined For Selling Beer To Youth

Kate Bain, operator of the Mule Barn Liquor Store on Brown street, changed a not guilty plea to guilty on charges of selling beer to a minor, in County Court this morning.

Bain was fined $100 and costs.

In other County Cout action this morning, a minor, 18 years old, pleaded guilty to purchasing beer and was fined $15 and costs.

In connection with the offenses, Don Cain, county attorney, said this morning (speaking for his office, Sheriff Rufe Jordan and Chief of Police Jim Conner), "We are going to continue the prosecution of liquor cases and especially those concerned with the sale of liquor to minors. We want to again issue the statement that liquor dealers who sell to minors may be fined up to $1000 or sentenced to a year in jail or both and the minor who purchases liquor may be fined up to $1,000."

LIFE IS SOFT underfoot this Fall — no matter what type of shoe you like best. Soft toes, soft counters (that's the back part of the shoe above the heel), flexible vamps and shanks are the hallmark of this season's shoes.

COUPLED WITH this new development is the return of the welted shoes to real prominence. This is both a logical and fashionable development — since soft shoes require a leather welt to maintain their shape and appearance. Making a virtue of necessity, the manufacturers are giving the leather welt added prominence in extension soles, modified mudguard effects and fancy stitching. The welt — if you didn't know — is visible as the uper edge of the shoe's leather sole. Actually, it continues inside the shoe, holding upper and sole together.

The all-over soft construction is a continuation of the Italian influence which has had such a marked effect on women's shoes this past year. The soft "glove fit" is no longer confined to knock - about casuals. Added to the soft, pliable uppers are all the soft flexible leather sole constructions that cushion the ground you will be walking on during the months ahead. And the nation's tanners have developed new soft upper leathers for the new shoes, such as the crushed grains, the suedes and shags, and the glove leathers.

Almost as revolutionary as the soft shoes, is the increasing style emphasis on low and flat heels. Together with the soft construction, it would appear to be a year for comfort below the ankles. Manufacturers, however, are not sacrificing style to comfort. The new lower heels have very slender, tapering lines, which give the illusion of height.

The printed leathers, which made their debut this past Spring in very high-fashion, expensive shoes, will be found in great profusion this Fall in a variety of styles and price ranges. Textured and sculptured suede leathers are interesting innovations that will be increasingly popular.

THE TREND towards the closed-up shoe — which began last Spring — is rolling ahead. Closed types are the top favorites for Fall. For afternoon wear, many closed pumps feature upswept tab or tongue treatments, — another effect of the Italian influence. Sling - back pumps with closed vamps are being shown in dressmaker and tailored styles — but for party wear, the mule and stripping sandals still hold sway.

The new closed pumps, however, are very much in the elegant line. Slender, elongated vamps, and slim heels give the shoes the same long lines of the new Fall clothes. Treatments are simple and refined. Glove fit is achieved by the use of elasticized toplines and gorings. In cases where toplines have been raised to give a longer line, the sides are cut low or the trim is patterned so as to retain the light, airy look so sought after this autumn.

The leathers for Fall can be grouped in four categories: Polished surfaces — the lustre leathers, aniline finishes and metallic dyes. (2) Suedes — with an ultra - soft nap for dress shoes, and rougher shag type for casual shoes. (3) Matte finishes — smooth leathers with a natural non - polished appearance. (4) Textured leathers — including screened print leathers, woven leathers and grain leathers.

The fewer calories we eat in hot weather the cooler we are likely to be. It's also good to remember that if we cut 500 calories a day from our customary diet, and then take a little mild exercise every day, we can lose a pound of unwanted flesh a week. We get that assurance from Dr. Frederick J. Stare, Harvard University's renowned director of nutrition.

Mrs. Irving L. Griffin of Windy Way, Louisville, Ky., is a strong devotee of low-calorie recipes, especially in the summer. One of her very special recipes is this seafood tomato salad which she says makes a big hit with all her friends. At a recent bridge luncheon, she proved that a low-calorie menu can be just as glamorous and appetizing as gourmet cookery. It also helps the waistline.

As a starter she served hot consomme with crisp crackers. The beverage was iced tea with lemon slices and fresh mint from her own garden. The dessert, a bowl of luscious fresh berries. The entree, this seafood tomato salad.

Seafood Tomato Salad
(4 to 6 portions)

Two envelopes (7 grams each) sugar-free lemon-flavored gelatin, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup hot water, 2 teaspoons vinegar, dash of pepper, 1 cup unsweeteded tomato juice, 1 cup flaked crabmeat or diced shrimp, 1-4 cup chopped celery, 2 or 3 teaspoons horseradish, ¼ teaspoon Worchestershire sauce, 2 drops Tabasco sauce.

Dissolve sugar - free lemon-flavored gelatin and salt in hot water. Add vinegar, pepper and tomato juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Then add fish, celery, horseradish, Worcestershire sauce and Tabasco sauce. Divide evenly into cups or molds. Chill until firm. Unmold.

Indonesia Election May Be Bad News For Red China

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

Communist China is likely to get some bad news within the next few days.

The young republic of Indonesia, the world's sixth largest nation, is to hold its first parliamentary election Thursday.

And that will be the bad news for the Peiping Red regime.

The Masjumi party is based on the Moslem religion. It is opposed to the anti-religious Chinese Communists, and is right wing in politics.

The Nationalist party, which was in power until Harahap became premier Aug. 12, was strongly left wing. It was friendly toward Red China and depended on the 17 Communists in the provisional parliament to stay in office.

Nationalists Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo, whom Harahap suceeded, was a fellow "neutralist" of Premier Jawaharlal Nehru of India.

This so-called neutralism actually has worked in favor of the Chinese Reds and against the United States and its Allies.

Harahap has anounced that if his party wins the election he will keep Indonesia neutral in the cold war.

But he is on record as being friendly to the United States. It is indicated that even if he remains neutral and he may not—the balance of Indoneisan policy will be swung from the Communist bloc to the West.

Indonesia is a big and mportant country. Its 3,000-odd islands and countless islets sprawl for 2,000 miles along the equator.

With 81 million people, it is outranked only by China, India, Russia, the United States and Japan in population.

Wealthiest in Southeast Asia

It is the wealthiest country in southeast Asia in natural resources. These include rubber, sugar, tea, rice, coffee, spices, oil and tin.

It is suffering from severe growing pains. There are sizeable revolts in Java, the main island, Sumatra, the Moluccas and Celebes. Its army forced Satroamidjojo's resignation. Since Sastroamidjojo resigned a number of the country's highest officials, including two of his cabinet ministers, have been arrested on corruption charges.

Harahap won the prime minstry by waging a fight against corruption. He never had been a cabinet minister until he was named premier, and he was little known to the public until a few months ago.

Studious looking, spectacled, he is 38 years old. He fought in the revolution against Dutch rule and took a law degree before he entered politics. From the Western viewpoint, he seems a safe man.

Fight Over Car Fatal To One

HOUSTON —UP— A heated fight between a father and son over use of the family car ended in the death of the father, Irvin R. Rice, 45, here Sunday.

Rice, struck several times by his 19-year-old son, a nightclub musician, died of internal injuries. The son told officers he was warding off his father's blows when he knocked out the older man.

The son, Kenneth, said he returned home at 1 a.m. Sunday after playing his guitar at Club 57 and woke up his father to ask permission to use the car.

Rice refused and lunged at him, Kenneth said. The son's fiancee, Kristine Vang, 21, witnessed the fight.

Kenneth teold officers "I didn't intend to kill my father . . . I was just warding off his attack."

Kenneth was being held pending further investigation.

Two Survivors In Plane Crash

HONOLULU —UP— Two of five airmen who crash-landed the Flying Tiger cargo plane in mid-Pacific Friday were en route to Honolulu Monday aboard the freighter that rescued them after they had been in the water more than 43 hours.

The Coast Guard said the other three crewmen were dead. None of the bodies was recovered.

Flying Tigers headquarters in Burbank, Calif., identified the two survivors as Tony Machado, Hollywood, the pilot, and Robert C. Whitower, Vallejo, Calif., the co-pilot.

The three missing men were listed as Warren F. Gin, Los Angeles, a co-pilot; R. C. Olsen, Van Nuys, Calif., and Dominick Ventresca, Sepulveda City, Calif., navigators.

Dam Engineer Dies Monday

Pyle had been with the engineer corps for 20 years, starting as a surveyman and advancing to resident engineer.

A native of Huttig, Ark., and a graduate of Georgia Tech, he is survived by his wife, a daughter and two sisters.

Means To Wisdom

The Amercian people have been saddled with government schools for close to a hundred and seventy-five years. Every year of this seventeen and a half decades has found the government taking more and more interest in the schools, and the schools becoming less and less of an emancipated educational institution.

In those by-gone days of the late 18th and early 19th centuries, it was deemed a positive good for all men to be able to read and write. From Jefferson on, the men in government dreamed of the advantages to humanity if only the youth was trained in the great thoughts of the world's finest classic writers.

The safety and preservation of our republic was equated with a well-informed electorate. It is certain that when Jefferson recommended three years of schooling for every young man at public expense (he did not envision the compulsion and coercion that has developed since then) his idea was that the great literature of the ages could assist in the formulation of sound ideas and libertarian principles throughout the rank and file. Further, he indicated in his letters and in his prepared legislation, that those with children should be the ones to pay for their children's education. It did not occur to him that one day EVERYONE would be compelled to pay for other people's children.

But irrespective of the method used to collect the money, Jefferson and the other founders of government schools had it figured that contact with GREAT minds through LITERATURE that lived, would provide a stability to the American way of life. If they could see what has become of their fond hope, they would undoubtedly be shocked and disgusted.

For the government schools, instead of being repositories of the principles and fundamentals of sound reason, have become the hothouses of political skullduggery. Many of the books that crowd the shelves of our government school libraries contain lurid and frequently appalling contemporary commentary on every sordid facet of life, plus a spate of socialist propaganda designed to make young people insecure in their viewpoints. All of the proven moral values are held up to question if not to ridicule. And the criteria for everything appears to be the latest government publication, regardless of its subject matter. "If the government puts it out, it must be authoritative," has become the arbiter of intellectual conviction.

So now we can perhaps question the value of both reading and writing. If young people go to school for the dubious distinction of being able to wrestle through the latest comic books, we wonder if the effort at learning is worth the price that is paid. And if the acme of accomplishment in a literary sense is to be able to read the latest governmental communique, then, indeed, it might be better if we couldn't read, so that we could maintain our principles undefiled by the latest political maneuverings.

Surely, reading was intended not as an end in itself, but as a method of transferring the greatness of humanity's greatest minds into the minds of our children. If this process is to be abandoned so that young men and women may now be equipped with a minimum knowledge of 5,000 words which will get them through Mickey Spillane and Dick Tracy, even if it leaves them high and dry on the pinnacles of Socrates, Aristotle, DeVinci and Shakespeare, then reading has become a device for destruction.

Reading, writing, arithmetic, spelling, history and geography are all tools to be used by persons with minds who know how to think. They are not clever tricks for purposes of amusement. Nor are they simple devices so that we may learn to pass the ever more abundant time we have on our hands which has been provided by our advancing capitalistic technology.

The vital need of our generation, indeed, of our century, is more men and women who are truly educated in a free sense. Instead, the darkness of night is closing over our governmentally convinced youth who have had little if any experience with freedom, and fear it because it is unknown.

THE NATION'S PRESS

ON SOVIET TERMS
(Wall Street Journal)

From the time he was invited to Moscow, Chancellor Adenauer was in a political box of Soviet manufacture. Try as he might and did, he could not break out of it. Consequently he brings home to Germany not what the Germans want, but what the Soviets want.

What the Germans wanted was hope of some progress toward unification and a concrete Kremlin agreement to release the more than one hundred thousand German prisoners the Soviets admit they hold. And he brings back an agreement to establish German-Soviet diplomatic relations, which few in Germany particularly care about but which the Soviets obviously want very much.

Yet Dr. Adenauer could not have refused to go to Moscow; his political opposition at home would not have stood for that. Once there, he had to agree to to get any kind of promise on the prisoners. If the results cannot be called an outright defeat for him, the big gainers are nonetheless the Soviets.

This illustrates, in the first place, the incredible flexibility of Soviet foreign policy. Before the German arms agreements were signed, the Soviets reviled the West German government and threatened all manner of dire things if the agreements were signed. Once they were, the Soviets reversed themselves and started wooing the government they could not blow down with belligerence.

It is true the reversal represents a Soviet retreat. The Soviets have been forced to accept a situation created by the West and to recognize and honor a government they despise. But any satisfaction Western policy - makers may feel on this account had best be tempered with the realization that the retreat is from a very advanced position.

The curious German mission to Moscow suggests that the Soviet position is still not only strong but stronger than the West's. In time, the Soviets figure, the Germans will have to come to terms with them — Soviet terms. After Adenauer's encounter in the Kremlin, the West cannot safely assume the Soviet reasoning is wrong.

For while the Western powers have made a friend and military ally of the West German government, only the Soviets can give the Germans the prisoners and national unity they want most of all.

Are We Following The Israelite Way To Bondage?

Installment 3

In the last issue I was quoting from the magazine, Ideas on Liberty, on how the Israelites were sold into bondage. The last paragraph explained how, in the State of New York, the Governor had been empowered to determine the nature of right and wrong as it is taught to the children of our schools. Then the articles goes on to expalin in this manner:

"Here is how we surrendered a large part of our responsibility over the minds and morals of our children: We have given the governor the power to appoint a Board of Regents which, in turn, has the power to approve or disapprove every textbook to be used in the schools of the entire State. If they do not always choose to exercise the power, it is still nonetheless true. We have further permitted this same Board of Regents to set the standards of learning which must be met by a child before he may be passed from one class to the next. This is true not only of a knowledge of subjects like arithmetic, reading, and spelling, but also of such matters as the proper functions of government.

"If you were to offer only one of the offices of our land to those who could change this Republic to something we hate, they would be completely satisfied to have no other power than control of the one just referred to: the power over education. You may say: 'Yes, but the men who are in possession of that power are fine people.' This is quite likely true, even though I find myself in disagreement with certain of the ideas and principles they conclude to be morally right, and which they are causing to be taught to our children. But that is not what's worrying me. My fear is that, at some time in the future, a man who has the power of appointing that Board of Regents will, little by little, destroy the younger generation's resistance to tyranny by causing them to be taught ideas and principles which are in direct conflict with our Declaration of Independence and Constitution. Some of those questionable principles are already apparent in a number of textbooks. They have to do with world government, foreign wars, government ownership of the means productions, and other similar issues.

"And if you think you will 'vote the rascals out' if the government tries to take full control over our children's education, I have news for you: The government already has full control. And so far as I can determine, most people want it that way. True, the government still permits private schools—under government supervision. And there is still some controversy as to whether the federal government or the state government shall exercise the major control over the education of our children, but that is merely a temporary sop for people who enjoy arguing details rather than principles.

"That is just one of the ways we have given power to people—slowly and over a long period of time—because we have confidence in them. The issue behind the Bricker Amendment is another example of this same process. One of the main arguments against the Bricker Amendment is: 'Don't you trust the President?' And the answer could be that the children of Israel trusted Joseph too, but that was of small comfort to them after another person inherited the power and then did something with it that Joseph would never have done. The lesson we should learn from the Israelities is this: In deciding whether or not to give power over you to your most trusted friend, imagine that his authority might eventually be held by your worst enemy. Then act accordingly; for although the friend may never misuse it, there's no way of telling who might inherit it from him.

"The bondage in Egypt was the first period of slavery for the Israelities. It was not the last, however, nor in some ways was it the worst. The next period of their slavery did not take place until many years later; not until after Moses had come along and led them out of the land of bondage and across the wilderness for some forty or more years; until they had finally entered the Promised Land under the leadership of Joshua.

"Those early years in Canaan were wonderful ones. Here was a people who had never really accomplished anything as a nation. They were the offspring of these twelve brothers, the sons of Jacob. They had been suffering or running away from something almost ever since they came into existence. The peoples they had to fight in order to get their place in the already overcrowded fertile crescent were of such famous names in the family of world tribes as the Hittites—the great fighters, the discoverers of iron swords—the Amorites, and also the Canaanites. Those were all accomplished tribes or nations which had tradition and history in their favor. The Israelties were nothing more than a ragged group of desert nomads.

"There was one significant difference, however. This seemingly unorganized group of desert waifs had a most unique type of government. They had no king to command and control them. Long since, these people had learned that there is a great source of wisdom which guides the universe and, although their knowledge of it was quite primitive, and their method of reaching this great source of wisdom and power left much to be desired, they had a motivation which was head and shoulders above all the tribes around them.

"It was not a case of each man contacting this power for himself and in his own way; they were still too primitive for that. Instead, they had selected from among their group one upon whom they felt a special mantle of their God, Jehovah, had fallen. And it was his job to interpret to the rest of them the will of Jehovah.

"By this seemingly simple and childlike system, these people were able to overcome almost insurmountable odds. While all the other tribes were thinking and working only on the level of the mind of man, or satisfying a multiplicity of unknown spirits which seemed to work mostly against them, the Israelities were actually trying desperately— although sometimes foolishly and mistakenly — to know the will of the force that was directing all of creation. You don't have to be very good to be best at something if you are the only one who's trying it at all!

Ineptitude Of Allied Intelligence Is Apparent

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The belated British admissions about the MacLean - Burgess betrayal of vital Allied secrets to Russia over a period of about 20 years reveal the utter ineptitude of Anglo-American Intelligence before, during and after World War II. They cast a pall over forthcoming negotiations with the Communists and support the suspicions of Allan W. Dulles' Intelligence Agency.

MacLean and Burgess were important figures in the British Foreign Service, serving here and in London in posts that provided them with access to secret atomic data and our military strategy in the Far East. They fled to Russia in 1951, which the British admit publicly only now. But the new and astonishing development is that they were betraying Britain to the Communists more than 20 years ago, when they were university students.

They were so unsuspected that they were given vital assignments at Whitehall and at the British Embassy here, where they were able to keep Moscow informed of high Anglo - American policy — political, military, economic, atomic. They were not screened by the FBI because of our trust in British efficiency.

Two others cleared by the British authorities and, therefore, not investigated by the FBI, were Klaus Fuchs and Dr. Allan Nunn May, who were given extremely sensitive spots at the Los Alamos laboratory. They were not detected until years after they had enabled Russia to develop atomic weapons at least ten years before our experts had anticipated.

But the British hurl their own recriminations against us— against American Intelligence operators, or against even higher officials. Although the FBI arrested several Russian agents, who were connected with the atomic spy rings in Canada and the United States, they were released without severe questioning or convicted on only minor charges.

The presumption is that the Administration at Washington preferred not to affront Stalin during the war and in the early postwar era, when Truman trusted that "good old Uncle Joe Stalin" would remain a friend and ally.

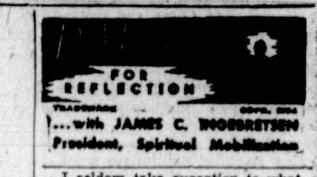

It was this consideration which led F.D.R. to disregard the warning of Communist cells within his Administration, which Whittaker Chambers gave to Adolph A. Berle, Jr., then Assistant Secretary of State. Similar evidence against the Hiss-White cell, then in possession of the FBI, was not acted on by the White House or the Department of Justice.

This carelessness and complacency, as even Democratic members of Congressional Investigating Committees believe, turned out to be a world tragedy in that it "changed the course of history," as a Federal Judge said when he sentenced Julius and Ethel Rosenberg to death.

Without the atomic weapons she now possesses, Russia might not be a threat to world peace. Without the information passed along to Moscow by MacLean, which conveyed Truman's refusal to permit MacArthur to wage an all-out war against the North Koreans, China and North Korea might not now be powerful Red satellites.

These revelations may have other immediate effects. They jeopardize the success of next month's meeting of the Foreign Ministers to implement the "spirit of Geneva." For they prove that Russia was waging conspiratorial war against us at the moment that F.D.R. was recognizing Moscow on the basis of Stalin's pledge to abandon world espionage and propaganda. The question Washington now asks is—How can we trust them again?

These new developments may also toss the Red issue into the 1956 campaign—again. They may subordinate such domestic questions as the farm slump, the influence of "big business" at Washington and the unbalanced budget. The GOP will certainly revive 1952 charges, if Truman or Governor Averell Harriman of New York figure prominently on the Democratic front.

I seldom take exception to what the Salvation Army does or says, but a recent sermon by Salvation Army Capt. Donald V. Barry, as quoted in the press, has me puzzled.

Speaking in Los Angeles, Capt. Barry is quoted as having said, "If the modern Christian church had paid more attention to economics and less to morality, labor unions need not have been organized."

If that is what Capt. Barry actually said, I think he is highly confused.

Certainly the modern Christian church has not paid too much attention to morality.

It may even be that the trend in modern church circles to be somewhat lackadaisical in regard to moral standards has had something to do with the church's questionable viewpoint on economic matters. For, if there is no well defined standard of right and wrong based on eternal principles, economic viewpoints are likely to degenerate to the level of expediency. And that is the level to which, unfortunately, a considerable part of the church's recent economic pronouncements have tended to fall.

American Library In Rome Packed With Untrue Books

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

ROME — The last time I was here, about four years ago, poked up the animals with disclosures about the American Library, across the street from Clare Luce's Embassy. I had made similar discovered the same route and disand observed that the standards were the same throughout the system. You may recall that later, when Roy Cohn and Dave Schine covered the same route and discovered the same conditions they were vilified with slimy inuendoes for observing the flagrantly obvious. The facts could not be denied, so the White House smear was called upon.

President Eisenhower soon afterward went up to Dartmouth and took a swing at Senator Joe McCarthy as a book-burner because Joe called attention to many books by Reds and in favor of Reds and the absence of books by such constitutional pro-Americans as John T. Flynn in these expensive American centers of infection.

As a matter of fact, Dartmouth was then and is now a subsidized "internationalist" project. One of its most influential pedagogs, a master of propaganda, by name Robert K. Carr, did a book blasting congressional investigations long before Ford's Fund for the Republic got around to it. He is high in the faculty of the college which Ike selected as the platform for his speech to the same effect against McCarthy's investigation in particular.

Now, again, I have been nosing around the same library, known as the center of the United Sates Information Service. It is just as bad as it ever was. The first book I pulled out, strictly at random, mind you, had the name "Roosevelt" on it and proved to be Eleanor's prattle about her travels in Israel and India. Certainly, by "literary" standards, this woman can't write. She knows nothing about India. And there must be 50 pictures of her political sight-seeing in India.

This propaganda for India and Nehru is part of the build-up engineered by Chester Bowles, the old Park Avenue advertising operator, ex-governor of Connecticut and political accomplice of Henry Luce, operated through the United Nations. The purport is that these orientals are vastly wiser and better than we are and that we ought to trust their political bosses to run errands between us and the Red governments of China and Russia. It is going to take some time and a good deal of aggressive argument to destroy that idiotic illusion among the Americans and renew our own faith in ourselves, alone. It will be imperative to reject the pretense that Nehru is any friend of ours. He is not. He is a friend of our enemies, China and Russia, and the people of India are no more occult or mystical than so many Veterans of Foreign Wars in Phoenix or Natchez. Let Russia and China have them and let them devour one another.

There are some advertising display frames mounted in the front wall of this USIS library and this country and of Walter Reuther's week's exhibition was devoted to labor day in the United States. It is the most dishonest presentation that I could imagine for the deception of the Italian people about the true character of unions in our so-called, but miscalled, "guaranteed annual wage," in the motor industry.

There may be nobody in this library, maintained at vast expense to us, who actually does know the truth about this "G.A.W." But the stuff in these show-cases is absolutely false and would be harmful if any important number of Italians ever stopped to read it. And there has been no change since Harry Truman was president and Paul Hoffman was squandering billions to build up a personal Army of unemployable) white-collar misfits in soft jobs overseas.

Italians never see displays in these frames revealing the means by which Dave Dubinsky, whose outfit figures lavishly in the fake labor day presentations, keeps his clutches at the throats of his working subjects and the very industry itself. This library has never run a display of news pictures showing the murderers, bloody assaults and vandalism, from bridge-burning to train-wrecking, which union goons, not employers, perpetrated last winter in the Louisville and Nashville and Southern Bell Telephone strikes.

There are pictures of George Meany, but no caption showing that he sneaked into Sing Sing to consult Joe Fay, A foul traitor to American labor, or that he threw down his old partner, Joe Ryan, of the longshoremen.

There are pictures of Reuther triumphant and of parading ignoramuses of his auto workers in Detroit on Labor Day. But there are no photographs, although many could be had, of gangs of UAW thugs beating up bloody single victims and laughting and exulting, in the criminal insurrection which made Reuther a "leader" of American Labor. Nor is there any presentation of that immortal phrase in the letter of Walter and Victor Reuther written from Russia, "Work for a Soviet America."

It is not hard to understand why so many union parasites come traipsing to Rome. It is a beautiful city, and Americans with money still are well received. Therefore, union fakers get a special Red-carpet treatment. Nobody ever thinks to ask what possible excuse any American union boss has to come to Italy. This is a sovereign nation. The last three of our presidents have poured into Italy billions of the taxes of Americans, including those who hate unions for their criminal excesses and the union bosses for their Hitlerian brutality. Yet Dubinsky and Reuther and others flit through, hold "press" conferences for uninformed, gullible journalists who lack the knowledge to frame searching questions.

Persistent Dream About Haircut Gets Hank Down

By HENRY McLEMORE

With every seat occupied, the big passenger plane revved its motors, zoomed down the runway — and then didn't tkae off.

Three times the crew tried to get it airborne, and three times they failed.

Finally, the captain walked back from the cockpit, tapped me on the shoulder, and said, "I'll rave to ask you to get off the plane and get a haircut. The plane is overloaded, and we'll never get off the ground until you do. We'll wait for you."

That's the dream I had five nights in a row last week, and I don't min' telling you that it had me worried. Not because strange dreams are new to me. I have dreamed about almost everything under the sun that begins with every letter of the alphabet.

I just didn't like the way I reacted to the captain's orders. Instead of telling him that he must be crazy, or pointing out that I had less hair than any man on the plane, so why pick on me, I meekly unfastened my seat belt, got up, and went and had a raircut. That's too mousy a way for a man to act, even in a dream.

Too, the daily haircut was breaking me. There wasn't a shop in the airport and I had to catch a cab and ride about five miles. The fare, plus the dollar and a half and a tip for the barber, ran into serious money.

After I had dreamed the same thing four nights running — and this shows you how it was preying on my mind and getting me down — I had my hair cut late in the afternoon.

"Now," I said to myself when I got into bed, "the captain won't have any reason on earth to single me out among the passengers. But if he does — well, I'll tell him off plenty."

But back the captain came, and just as on the flights of the preceding nights, I was the absolute timid soul. I deplaned and spent another six or seven bucks for a haircut.

I broke the spell by staying up all night the sixth night. And as sleepy as I was about four in the morning, I couldn't help but chuckle at how the captain must have looked, and how mad he must have been, when he came back and found his sucker wasn't on board.

I was about to see a psychiatrist about this persistent dream when I remembered that among my books I had one entitled "Ten Thousand Dreams Interpreted" by Gustavus Hindman Miller. When, where or why I ever bought it escapes me, but I got it out and searched for a solution.

It didn't do much good. Mr. Miller covers a lot of ground — the first interpretation is ABANDON and the last is ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS — but there wasn't anything dealing with airplane haircuts. There was quite a bit about hair, though. (To dream you cut your hair close to the scalp denotes lavishness toward a friend. If you dream of a woman with golden hair you will prove to be a fearless lover.)

I also found out that the occasional dreams I have about rhubarb mean that I am in for some pleasant entertainment, and that the dream I had about Swiss cheese a while back will result in my coming into a substantial fortune.

If that comes true, I won't feel so bad about the money I spent on those needless haircuts.

Esther Williams Will Swim In First TV Appearance

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD —UP— Esther Williams, complete with waterproof hair, makes her television debut Tuesday night on TV's first underwater musical show — providing her special swimming pool doesn't spring another leak.

The willowy mermaid of the movies will strip to a swim suit and dive into a pond constructed for "The Milton Berle Show" on NBC-TV (8 p.m. est), Berle's first program of the season and the beginning of his new "variety" series originating in Hollywood.

But getting a tank of waves for Esther to plow through proved to be the biggest production headache of the year.

At last inspection, the NBC stage still was flooded with two inches of water. The special tank built for Esther turned out not to be waterproof.

"I think by now they wished they'd never met me," said Esther during one rehearsal while workmen mopped up the rising tide on the floor.

"The only solution may be to move the tank to another stage. If it keeps leaking during the show, Milton will be doing the sketches with water up to his ankles."

Esther has been interviewed on "Toast of the Town" and "Person to Person", but she's never performed on television because MGM wouldn't let her. This year she won permission for TV. Then the networks frowned that her swimming act couldn't be done on a live show.

"Milton thought it could," she said. "He wants everything to be spectacular on his show this season because the're all in color. He wanted to get people like me who haven't appeared on television. Well, he's really starting off with a splash."

NBC sent two engineers to huddle with Esther on how to get her under the whitecaps. A 40 x 15 x 10 foot tank was built. But the 18,000 gallons of water weighed 128,000 pounds, and the stage floor couldn't take the weight.

The tank finally was rebuilt in a V-shape to lighten the load. Four cameras were planted around the tank — two next to huge plexiglass windows to show Esther undulating under water in her apricot - colored swim suit.

"This is much harder than swimming for the movies," she said. "I had to have a dress designed that can change into a bathing suit. And I have to wear waterproofing on my hair and make-up during the entire show because I won't have time to run out and change after I dance.

"But I hope the tank doesn't fall apart during the show. We'd drown the audience!"

Suspect Is Held

PHILADELPHIA —UP— Raymond Wilson, 33, one of two suspects in the July Fourth slaying of a wealthy Philadelphia widow, was held without bail Monday for a further hearing on a charge of homicide.

Magistrate Thomas A. Connor granted a request for a further hearing on Oct. 3 after Theodore B. Smith, an assistant district attorney, said the commonwealth had not been able to contact all the witnesses it wants to present.

Wilson, of Tulsa, Okla., was brought here from Las Vegas after he lost an extradition battle.

Wilson, who underwent intensive questioning Sunday, was charged with homicide, conspiracy to commit murder, robbery and conspiracy to commit robbery.

Authorities sought to bring him and Frank Ellsworth to trial for the death of Mrs. Lulubel Rossman, 76, who was strangled on July 3. Ellsworth is in Memphis, Tenn., awaiting a final decision on a writ of habeas corpus.

They fell under suspicion while in Las Vegas when they allegedly sported an $87,000 bankroll.

John Jay of New York was appointed by George Washington to be the first Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

P. O. Names New Director

DALLAS—UP—George A. Gray, postal inspector in charge with offices in Fort Worth, Monday was appointed "little postmaster-general" of Texas and Louisiana.

Gray had been mentioned prominently for the job, the directorship of the Dallas region of the Post Office Department which directs all postal activities in Texas and Louisiana.

His appointment, announced Monday by Postmaster-General Arthur E. Summerfield, is effective next Monday, Oct. 3.

Gray will be one of the 15 regional directors. The 15 regions were created June 14, 1954, as part of a Post Office Department decentralization program. The regional directors are being commonly referred to as "little postmasters-general." Each field head will direct all phases of the postal service in his region.

The Dallas region has been operating without a director since its creation. Gray's appointment had been expected for some time, however, and he is about the sixth regional director to be announced across the country.

Gray has been inspector-in charge for the Post Office Department in Texas and Louisiana with offices in Fort Worth. He lives in Dallas and will make his new headquarters here.

The Dallas region includes six post office districts, with offices in Dallas, Amarillo, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio and New Orleans.

Gray entered the postal service Aug. 13, 1913, at Honey Grove, Tex. and later was assistant postmaster at Ranger, Tex. He transferred to the Dallas post office on March 1, 1924.

Reds Discover Discoverer

LONDON, Sept. 26 —UP—Moscow radio has announced that the Soviet Union will issue shortly two new stamps to honor one of its most recently discovered heroes. The stamps "mark the 60th anniversary of the invention of radio by Alexander Popov."

HEADED FOR FILMS—Wally Cox, the Mr. Peepers of TV, has signed for a movie. He'll appear with Mickey Rooney.

Convair Names New Manager

FORT WORTH —UP— Convair announced Monday appointment of Andrew Kalitinsky as manager of its nuclear research and development department.

Kalitinsky formerly was chief engineer of the nuclear energy for propulsion of aircraft project at Oak Ridge. He succeeds Dr. R. N. Little, who has returned to the University of Texas faculty.

Convair is a division of General Dynamics Corp.

At Convair's Fort Worth plant, Kalitinsky will direct research and development work leading to an atomic-powered airplane for the Air Force. A separate department recently was created to handle this work at Convair.

Peron Hoard Is Found

BUENOS AIRES —UP— Investigators have turned up an "Arabian nights" treasure hoard left behind by ousted President Juan D. Peron in Government House and his suburban Palermo residence, it was disclosed Monday.

The treasure ranges from an ivory elephant valued at "millions of pesos" to gold medallions, silver serving sets, oriental rugs and the still unknown contents of safes and archives.

The hoard was turned up in a preliminary investigation being carried on by the provisional government of President Eduardo Lonardi of wealth and possessions accumulated by Peron and his followers during a nine-year administration dedicated to what he called the "shirtless ones."

One million pesos at the current international rate would be worth about $72,500.

"It's like something out of the Arabian Nights," said one lieutenant colonel after emerging from the presidential residence in Palermo.

Reds Would Dam Strait

LONDON —UP— Radio Moscow said Monday that "engineers with imagination" are considering a project to reclaim Arctic wastelands by damming up the Bering Strait and pumping warm Pacific water into the Arctic Ocean.

The broadcast said North America and Europe would share in the benefits as well as the Soviet Union.

The commentator was identified as a member of the USSR Academy of Science's Institute of Energetics. "We are wondering," he said, "whether we could not change the geological history of our planet with the powerful aid of atomic engineering, whether we could change at will the earth's water and air currents."

"What is now barren and frozen wilderness would blossom with fields and orchards and sparkle with myriads of electric lights," he said.

Tips for Mothers
WHO HAVE FINICKY EATERS
(any age)

To help you tempt hesitant eaters, here are food ideas with winning ways!

1. Brighten breakfast with Imperial Brown Sugar sprinkled generously over hot cereal. The rich taste of brown sugar gives cereal appealing flavor. You may want to top with a dab of bright colored jelly and a few chopped nuts, too — looks like a butterscotch sundae. Kids will scrape the bowl and ask for more!

2. Tastier toast for breakfast or snacks . . . topped with Imperial Brown Sugar. Cream brown sugar with butter or margarine and a dash of cinnamon. Spread toast with mixture; place under broiler until topping is lightly browned and bubbly. For Caramel Nut Toast, add chopped nuts to mixture.

3. Tender flaky hot biscuits are even better with sweet centers. Just press each biscuit with your thumb to make a tiny well. Brush tops with milk and fill well with Imperial Brown Sugar. Bake as usual. They come from the oven golden brown with sweet centers.

4. Try this new way to serve the apple-a-day. Halve, core, but do not peel 6 medium apples. Place cut side up in baking dish. Fill center of each with Imperial Brown Sugar. Top with ½ slice pineapple; sprinkle with cinnamon. Pour ½ cup pineapple juice into bottom of dish. Bake at 350°F. for 1½ hours.

5. A healthful drink to satisfy between-meal-hunger is nourishing Butterscotch Flavored Milk. Combine 1½ cups Imperial Brown Sugar, 2 tablespoons white corn syrup, ½ cup cream, ⅛ cup butter in saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, over low heat until sauce thickens and boils 1 minute. Remove from heat; add vanilla and cool. Add sauce to cold milk (1½ teaspoons sauce for each cup of milk); blend well.

Sauce is excellent topping for sundaes and desserts, too!

Bread 'n Butter 'n BROWN SUGAR...
a healthful snack or mealtime treat

Here's a quick and easy old-fashioned treat that children like better than most fancy desserts. And it combines two of nature's basic health foods . . . bread and sugar. Bread is a foundation food for the growing child. Many modern children do not eat enough bread. Sugar is nature's purest form of quick energy. And children burn up energy fast. Imperial Brown Sugar contains many extra health values. So serve Bread and Butter and Brown Sugar often . . . it's both a health food and a treat.

Maryland Vaults To Top After Defeating U.C.L.A.

NEW YORK — UP Maryland, which revenged one of its two 1954 defeats Saturday with a 7-0 victory over UCLA, was voted the nation's No. 1 college football team Tuesday in the first weekly ratings of the United Press board of coaches.

Maryland's hard-earned triumph over the West Coast power earned it 18 first place votes from the 35 leading coaches who make up the United Press rating board. UCLA defeated Maryland early in last year's campaign 12-7 and was voted the nation's top team by the board at the end of the season.

Michigan, which opened its season with an impressive 42-7 victory over Missouri, received 12 first place votes and second place. Georgia Tech received two first place votes, while Notre Dame, Oklahoma and Texas Christian each received one.

Maryland Totals 300 Points

On the basis of 10 points for a first place vote, nine for a second, and so on down to one for a 10th place vote, Maryland piled up 300 points, Michigan received 262.

Georgia Tech placed third, receiving 200 points. Oklahoma, which rallied to beat North Carolina 13-6, collected 196 points and fourth place.

Notre Dame's 17-0 opening game triumph over Southern Methodist brought it 186 points and fifth place.

UCLA which had opened its season with a 21-0 victory over Texas A&M before hitting a road block in Maryland, placed sixth with 124 points.

Army's 81-0 route of Furman earned it 122 points and seventh place. Southern California was eighth with 95 and Texas Christian ninth with 87.

Ohio State, which was second in the board's final 1954 ratings, had to sweat for a 28-20 triumph over Nebraska and rounded out the first 10 with 75 points.

Three Midwest teams, two each from the South, Southwest and West and one from the East made up the first 10.

Among the top 10, Maryland, Georgia Tech, Southern California and Texas Christian have swept two starts. The other six teams have played and won one game apiece.

Rice, which opened by shutting out Alabama 20-0, led the second 10 teams with 51 points. Pittsburgh won its first two games and was 12 with 50 points. Then came Iowa, Wisconsin, Navy, Duke, Mississippi, Southern Methodist and Colorado. Michigan State and Miami (Fla.) tied for 20th with eight points each.

Twenty - eight teams received points in the first week's ratings. The others receiving points were: Washington, Auburn, Mississippi State, West Virginia, Baylor, Wake Forest and Purdue.

Players Want Pay Minimum $7,200

NEW YORK — UP — Baseball Commissioners Ford C. Frick is studying a group of proposals made by major-league players, through their team representatives, including a plea for a boost in the minimum salary from $6,000 to $7,200.

The proposals were approved by the 16 representatives of the big league clubs Monday and forwarded to Frick by the players' attorney, J. Norman Lewis.

The players also asked for a change in the "bonus rule" to keep "bonus babies" from counting against the teams' 25-man rosters, clarification on what players should be paid for appearing on television programs, and permission to make individual deals to play in the Caribbean winter leagues.

In asking for a boost in the minimum player salary, the players pointed out that the cost of living has risen 40 per cent since the minimum was first established at $5,000 three years ago. It was raised to $6,000 two years ago.

Regarding the bonus rule, players objected to the provision that "bonus babies" who receive more than $4,000 to sign must be kept with the parent club for two years, counting against the team's player limit.

The players claim that this provision causes veteran players to be released to make room for a player who provides little or no help to the team. They request that "bonus babies" not be counted against the player limit.

Regarding television fees, the players ask that it be made clear what fees they are entitled to for appearing on pre-game and post-game radio and television shows. Lewis said the players will appear on "sustaining" programs free as in the past, but wish to establish set fees for appearing on sponsored shows.

Regarding winter league baseball, the players want to deal directly with Caribbean officials about winter play. Lewis said the players want some idea whether they will be playing winter ball so they can use the information during salary discussions with their teams in this country.

Army Again Leads Gridders In Gain

NEW YORK — UP — Hard-hitting Army, the top ground-gaining team in the nation last fall, is back on top again Tuesday in the first statistics issued for this football season by the NCAA.

Thanks to a wild 81-0 rout of Furman in their opening game last Saturday, Earl Blaik's Cadets led the country in three departments—total offense, with 567 yards gained in one game, rushing offense with 518 yards and points scored in one game.

At the other end of the scale, Holy Cross ranks as the top defensive team in the nation with only 54 yards allowed in one game.

Nobody's even close to Army in the offense race. In total offense, second-place Oklahoma is 84 yards behind with 483 in one game. In rushing, Boston College is 78 yards behind with 440. In points, for one game, Houston's 54 against Montana on Sept. 17 is the nearest to Army's 81.

Push Yardage But Tough Time

The odd thing about Oklahoma's [illegible] gained in one game is that it didn't prevent the Sooners from having a tough time beating [illegible] 19-6.

[illegible] took the spotlight [illegible] Southwest in that [illegible] opening, by [illegible] the first week, West Virginia gained 206 yards through the air against Richmond to take last place over Texas, which has gained 371 passing in two games for an average of 185.5 per game.

Holy Cross, the top defensive team, stands out in this week's figures as being also among the leaders in offense. The Crusaders stand fourth in offense with 458 yards gained in one game.

UCLA Lost 24 Yards

Boston College which allowed Brandeis only eight yards gained on the ground, leads the rushing defense statistics with that figure. But probably the top defensive job done so far this season was Maryland's feat in holding mighty UCLA to a net loss of 24 yards rushing last Saturday.

Iowa, the only major team which has not allowed a pass completion, leads in pass defense. But Clemson has the best mark for teams playing at least two games, having allowed its rivals only 17 yards gained to show for 17 pass attempts.

Wake Forest has come up with the best way to defend against passes. The demon Deacons allowed South Carolina to gain 109 yards on aerials Saturday, but got even and then some by intercepting four Gamecock passes and returning them a total of 211 yards.

Pampan Wins Rifleman Medal

WASHINGTON, D. C., — The Expert Riflemen Medal, second highest award in American Junior shooting, has been won by Aderon J. Kirkham, Jr., 18, 416 Carr St., the National Rifle Association announced here today.

Shooting several hundred targets in the last few months the new expert marksman fired his way through 13 lower NRA qualifications to achieve his new high rating. With one more set of targets to fire the new expert will up his rating to Distinguished Rifleman, the select top rating for the junior shooters of the nation.

The new junior expert attends Pampa High School and is a member of the Explorer Post 4 Jr. Rifle Club.

Sprays used for the control of weeds and insects can cause severe damage to spraying equipment not thoroughly cleaned.

SWC Has Toughest Schedule Of Season

By UNITED PRESS

Southwest Conference teams, facing a league opener and the toughest intersectional schedule of the season this weekend, were scheduled for hard scrimmage sessions Tuesday.

The seven teams took it easy Monday for the most part as players nursed bumps and bruises from last Saturday's games. But the helmets and pads came out Tuesday.

The Arkansas Razorbacks, who face Texas Christian in the conference opener, viewed films of their victory over Oklahoma A&M, then the first three teams worked out for a short time. Coach Jack Mitchell said he planned to work hard on pass defense this week in preparation for the TCU game.

Those Who Played Excused

Eighteen Rice players who saw action against Alabama Saturday night were excused from rough work while the rest of the team had a very hard scrimmage session.

Co-captain and tackle Eddie Rayburn, who suffered a broken nose, was the worst casualty. But Rayburn is expected to be in the lineup this week against Louisiana State.

Baylor was an exception to the light workout routine of Monday. The Bears, who are preparing for powerful Maryland, drilled long and hard on their attack in the hope that speed and a sharpened offense can lead them to an upset victory over the Terps.

Back Del Shofner, who has been slowed by a leg injury, will be taking it easy this week and Coach George Sauer hopes he will be at full speed by Saturday.

At Austin, The Texas Longhorns' first team and other players who saw the most action against Tulane worked out in shorts while the rest of the varsity scrimmaged against the B team and freshmen.

The Longhorns meet Southern California in Los Angeles Friday night and scouts J. T. King and Charley Waller termed the Trojans a fast, big team with experience.

Top SMU Units Go Easy

SMU's top units took a light workout in shorts while the No. 3 and 4 units engaged in a rugged scrimmage. The Ponies will get down to serious preparations Tuesday for their game with high-ranking Georgia Tech. Trainer Wayne Rudy said that all of the top players should be ready for the Jackets.

At College Station, Texas A&M Coach Bear Bryant viewed movies of the win over LSU and singled out seven linemen for their fine play.

Optimists Pay Tribute To Francis

Buck Francis, vice president and one of the persons responsible for the organization of the Pampa Optimist Club was honored last night as he departed for Snyder where he will be employed by the Daily News.

Francis, sports editor of the News for the past three and one half years was unable to speak after Campbell finished praising him for his work in the community and the club.

Campbell pointed out that Francis had dreams of an active Little League program in Pampa long before it became a realization and had put forth a great deal of effort trying to get other clubs to sponsor the program.

Then when the Optimist club became a realization Francis was there doing all he could to help. Campbell pointed out that the club received the hardest blow since its organization with the departure of William B. Francis.

Ford Wins Carling Golf Meet

NEWTON, Mass. — UP — PGA champion Doug Ford added the $7,000 Carling golf tournament first prize to his impressive array of trophies Tuesday.

The 33-year-old Ford slammed a three-under-par 69 at Charles River Country Club Monday to post a winning 72-hole total of 276 in the $43,000 classic.

Ford, who plays out of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., went into the fourth round with a two-stroke lead over Freddie Haas of Claremont, Calif. and Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa.

The chips were down when Ford began his putting chores on the 8th green. He needed to par that hole to win and did. Had he shot a bogey, the match would have gone into a sudden-death playoff with Ford against Wall.

Ford, whose father is a veteran pro from Connecticut, was behind a pair of strokes when he went into the third round, but he put together fine putting and captalized on what some onlookers termed "a lucky break" on the final green Monday. The champ's tee-off shot appeared to be headed for the rough at the edge of the 432-yard fairway but the ball hit a spectator and caromed out into the open. From that point on it was relatively easy for Ford to get close to the pin.

Second best honors, including $3,750, went to Wall who shot a four-under par 68 in carding his 277.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the Master's champion, played exceptional clutch golf, in the final rounds and registered a 278 in qualifying for third prize of $2,800. The dentist, whose final tee shot landed some distance from the cup, proved his worth by launching a superb chip shot which deposited the ball a few feet from the cup.

Haas, who got off to a fine start on opening day with a memorable 67, finished up with 280.

But the man who came up with the tourney's best round, though he carded a fifth place 283, was Leo Biagetti, of Willoughby, Ohio. Biagetti blazed a scorching six-under-par 66 to come within a stroke of tying the competitive course record. He sunk seven birdies and had one bogey—that one on the 18th green.

South Texas AA Powers In Spotlight

By UNITED PRESS

Nederland, Freer and Weslaco, the most potent of South Texas' powers, step out against Class AAA opposition this week to highlight the state's Class AA schoolboy football program.

Freer seems to be in the most danger of toppling from the state's undefeated-untied list as it takes on an Alice team that has run up 87 points to 24 in three games against good opposition, Freer's game total is 122 to 13.

Nederland, however, may have plenty of trouble getting by Beaumont South Park, which holds victories over AAAA Orange and Beaumont High. The Bulldogs have piled up 128 points to 26 in three games.

Weslaco, with the scalps of three AAA opponents already in tow, faces an Edinburg team with only a mediocre record and should be able to make it four.

Meanwhile, 1954 champion Phillips gets another easy test this week in oft-beaten Slaton as the Blackhawks go after the 19th link in their victory chain.

Some of the better unbeaten teams are matched against each other this week, including Colorado City at Monahans, Wills Point at Terrell, Clarksville at Gladewater, Lampasas at La Vega and Bay City at Angleton.

"The Lone Ranger"
LONNIE GRAHAM
Texas Tech Fullback

Lone Ranger May Rescue Texas Tech

LUBBOCK — The Lone Ranger may ride to the rescue of Texas Tech's Red Raiders who've lost the man who was to duel Oklahoma A&M's Earl Lunsford in Stillwater Saturday (Oct. 1) afternoon.

Originally, the contest was billed as a match of two all - conference fullbacks — Lunsford of A&M, all - Missouri Valley, and Jim Sides of Tech, all - Border. But Sides cracked a wrist in Tech's 20-14 win over University of Texas and will be out three to five more weeks. Each made their respective honor team as sophomore and junior.

Rather than worry about what might have been, Coach DeWitt Weaver plans to counter with an Oklahoman, Lonnie (Lone Ranger) Graham of Broken Arrow, who has a respectable record himself.

Second team fullback last season, Graham led Raider ball carriers with a net of 457 yards on 50 carries. That's 9.1 yards a try.

Graham's nickname comes from the face he wears glasses in mask-like goggles. He was originally dubbed that at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M, whose Golden Norsemen he paced to the Little Rose Bowl for junior colleges two years ago. Graham weighs 195, stands 6 feet 1.

Tech holds a 6-4 margin in the rivalry that sports two ties. One draw came last year in a 13-13 affair labeled the most spine - tingling game of the series begun in 1935. Weaver's only other encounter as a Tech coach with Oklahoma A&M was a 27-13 victory in 1953. Weaver's first starting quarterback at Tech, in 1951, Junior Arterburn, is on the staff of the Cowboys' mentor, Cliff Speegle.

It May Rain Out Opener

NEW YORK — UP—The weather man sees an outside chance that rain could mar Wednesday's opening game of the World Series between the Dodgers and the Yankees. His forecast early Tuesday said there was a "slight chance of light rain" on Wednesday.

Three Teams Unbeaten In District 1-AA

Three teams in the 1-AA district remained undefeated this week and stand out once more as the three teams to beat in the AA loop this season.

The Phillips Blackhawks looked like state champions again as they defeated Wellington 38-0 Friday night. It was their 18th win in a row and their third game this season where they held their opponents scoreless.

The Dumas Demons came through again this week to remain undefeated by dropping the Plainview Bulldogs (AAA) 21-13. The Demons have scored 91 points thus far and have allowed only 20 points to be scored against them.

Hereford is the third 1-AA team that remains undefeated this year as they blasted Tulia 46-0 last week. The Whitefaces have racked up 107 counters this year and might be in running with the Blackhawks.

Perryton's Rangers are to be reckoned with also as they have suffered only one defeat thus far. They have an open date this week and will probably be ready for the toughest of the teams next week.

Shamrock and Childress meet this week in a game which may put Shamrock a little closer to the top of the district. Childress has a 1-1-1 record while Shamrock has a 1-1 standing.

Falcon Chose Academy Symbol

DENVER — UP — All athletic teams representing the new U. S. Air Force will carry the nickname of "The Falcons." The storied bird was chosen as the symbol of the academy Monday by an almost unanimous vote of the 296 cadets in the first class.

Rizzuto May Miss Opener

By LEO M. PETERSEN

NEW YORK — UP — Manager Casey Stengel was juggling the starting lineup of the favored New York Yankees Tuesday, with Mickey Mantle and Phil Rizzuto his big problems on the eve of the first game of the World Series against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Stengel's worries, chiefly about Mantle's injured leg, were responsible for a slight reduction in the odds favoring the Yanks to win the opening game from 13-10 down to 6-5. But New York remained a 13-10 choice to win the world championship for the sixth time in seven years.

"I don't know who's in the outfield and I don't know who's in the infield," Stengel admitted. "But I do know I got two pitchers ready —Whitey Ford and Tommy Byrne."

Pint-sized Ford, a southpaw who won 18 games and lost seven and has "a lot of nerve," according to Stengel, is certain to start Wednesday's game at Yankee Stadium. He will be opposed by huge Don Newcombe, Brooklyn's blaze-hailing righthander with the best won-lost record in the major leagues —20 victories against only five defeats.

Mantle injured a thigh muscle on Sept. 23 and hasn't played since, although he has taken batting practice. Stengel said the final decision on the star center fielder may not be made until just a few minutes before game time.

Rizzuto, who will be playing in his ninth World Series, is an uncertain starter at shortstop for the Yankees simply because of weariness. If Stengel doesn't think tiny Phil is ready, skinny Jerry Coleman will start at short. If Mantle isn't ready, then Irv Noren could get the call in center field — or perhaps it might be Bob Cerv.

By contrast, Manager Walter Alston—making his first appearance as a Series pilot—has the Dodgers' opening game lineup all set. It features seven right-handed hitters to face the southpaw slants of Ford, with only big Duke Snider and Newcombe batting left-handed. Alston is expected to keep the same lineup for the second game when Byrne, another southpaw, is the probable Yankee hurler.

The rivals both had workouts scheduled Tuesday but at each other's ballpark. The switch was made by mutual agreement to enable the players to become more familiar with the strange territory.

Manager Alston, anxious to lead the Dodgers to their first World Series championship in eight tries and to end the "spell" of five World Series losses to the Yankees, is also beset with health problems.

Right-fielder Furillo, the "hottest" Dodger hitter in the final month of the season, had to remain in bed all day Monday with a sinus attack, but Alston said, "I'm pretty sure he'll be ready." And Clem Labine, ace of Brooklyn's relief pitching staff, reported he was feeling "punk."

"The President's illness is a cause for sadness but not of alarm."

Farm Bureau To Study Price Fall

CHICAGO —UP— Leaders of the American Farm Bureau Federation from all over the nation met Monday to study the problem of slumping farm prices.

About 150 federation officials, including presidents of state farm bureaus from every state and Puerto Rico, were scheduled to take part in the five-day meeting.

Included on the agenda were studies of the administration's price support program and the federation's "soil bank" plan to aid farmers.

Ex-Nazi Free From Prison

BERLIN —UP— The four occupation powers Monday released former German Grand Adm. Erich Raeder, 79, from Spandau prison because of his age and health, a British spokesman announced.

Raeder, who planned the invasion of Norway, was sentenced to life imprisonment as a war criminal and placed in Spandau prison with other top Nazis.

He was sentenced on Oct. 1, 1946, by the four - power international military tribunal at Nuernberg.

New Dolls Have Too Much For The Old-Fashioned Ones

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK — UP—A doll with any self respect won't even try to make a comeback with today's little girls after a couple decades in tissue paper storage.

The new dolls currently walking around the toy counters carrying on conversations with tiny customers simply don't give an old-fashioned girl doll a chance. A mother who tried to give her modern miss her own favorite childhood doll may find that daughter doesn't share the sentiment, to say the least.

"But mother, what does she do?" you can imagine the puzzled daughter asking.

And mother could only reply sadly, "She just sits there and stares at you."

Speaking for my own three moth-balled favorites (and in their hey-day a girl has to do the talking for her dolls), I should like to warn doll engineers not to carry this thing too far.

It's all right, I suppose to surprise little Linda in the nursery chatting with her new ballet doll (the latter doll has jointed ankles and knees and can assume classic ballet poses.)

And when bedtime comes, there may be some advantage to having a doll kneel beside her owner and say her prayers in an unfaltering, metallic voice while little Linda stumbles through "Now I lay me down. . ."

But if somebody doesn't call a halt, it is entirely possible trat the doll of a few years from now will outsmart her mistress.

Suppose some mechanial whiz found a way to install a magic electronic eye in one of those talking dolls? Every time somebody approached the doll would strike up a conversation.

Or a junior-sized electronic brain with a few simple push button controls on the forehead? A doll like this could see her owner through third grade arithmetic.

Could Be More Versatile

While these ideas are strictly speculation and do not reflect any known plans of the toy companies, one doll manufactured already has admitted he could make even more versatile dolls—but he is afraid to.

Anything is possible now that little girls are asking for Christmas dolls that pucker their lips, give you a kiss on the cheek, wave their arms realistically and talk back. In defense of my glassy-eyed beauties of a few years ago there is a lot to be said for dumb blonde dolls around the playroom.

There is nothing so valuable to a girl's social future as a four-way conversation at a doll tea party with the hostess handling all four vocal roles. The dolls of my day may not have been the life of the tea party—but they certainly made the live hostess feel smart.

Peacemaker Kills Hubby

HOUSTON —UP —A 24-year-old housewife played peacemaker Sunday and was knocked down for her trouble. She lashed out with a snap-blade knife when she saw another blow coming.

Jeremiah Williams, 22, the woman's husband, was fatally stabbed in the chest as he bent over her after knocking her down.

The wife, Mrs. Rosa Lee Williams, told police her husband got into an argument with another man in a tavern and she managed to get him outside, where he knocked her down.

She said she thought he was going to hit her again when he bent over her and she stabbed him. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

No charges were filed immediately.

GOP Will Run On Ike's Platform

NEW YORK —UP— Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall said Monday the Republicans would run on the Eisenhower platform in 1956 even if the President bows out of the race.

Hall spoke at the Union League Club and was interviewed before his speech. He said the President's illness will not "interfere with any plans" the Republicans have made politically.

"So far as I am concerned," Hall said, "we are proceeding in the same way. There are no changes in strategy and no changes in organization."

Hall said when he visited the President in Denver two weeks ago, "I came away very much of the opinion that he would run again."

Asked if he thought the president's heart attack would "interfere in any way with his plans for re-election," Hall replied:

"No."

Tonight Show To Be Moved To West Coast

NEW YORK — UP — Steve Allen who keeps more people awake than coffee, disclosed Tuesday that the shift of his "Tonight" show to the West Coast "looks about 54 per cent set."

"We won't be able to move for about six months," said Allen. "It is a terrible mish-mash to arrange for the movement of such a gang of people. And we won't desert New York entirely — we plan to bring the show back every three months or so for a couple of weeks."

Allen, proprietor of the relaxed after-hours session since it was launched on NBC-TV in September, 1954, returned only recently to Manhattan. He spent most of the summer in Hollywood filming "The Benny Goodman Story," channeling the "Tonight" show from the movie capital.

"I think the show was better out there," said Allen. "For one thing, we did the show three hours earlier and the audience was fresher. And even more important, the Hollywood studio is more suited to my type of show—the audience is smaller and almost everybody sits downstairs."

Behind Allen's projected move, too, are personal reasons. He has sentimental ties with Los Angeles where he got his first big break running a disk jockey show. In addition, his three sons by a previous marriage, Steve, 11; Brian, 8; and David, 5, all go to school on the West Coast and Allen is anxious to be near them.

Allen said he planned no change in the format of his show. "We do not need a change, frankly because we have no format. As it stands now, we can do anything we want."

Few viewers would contest that statement. Allen a literate, engaging kind of guy, has interviewed everyone from Carl Sandburg to Gina Lollobrigida. Also a snake charmer, a flying saucer expert, a yogi, a lady wood-chopper and one singular gentleman who had invented a combination sandwich and pie.

Elephants And Rhinos May Become Extinct, Man Warns

By ROBERT MUSEL

NAIROBI, Kenya — UP — An angry man leaves his beloved jungles soon to warn Britain and the United States that the rhinoceros and the elephant stand in danger of extermination in Africa because of the cruel poaching to provide the bazaars of the east with two exotic products.

A powder ground from the horn of the rhinoceros is believed in some areas to restore manhood. In others the tusks of the elephant provide the carved ivory that is part of the price paid for a bride.

So Eastern merchants are financing the primitive tribes who do the killing and Mervyn Cowie is afraid the world will wait two long to take action.

Cowie is a famous and respected man in Africa. He is the father of the national game parks of Kenya. Two films have been made about his exploits against poachers in the early days of his career. And we spoke while driving about what must certainly be one of the civic wonders of the world — the game preserve he helped establish at Nairobi's front door.

Only four miles and 10 minutes from the city center, within sight of its buildings, two lions stirred from the grass at the approach of our car, stretched lazily and began the preliminary stalking of a nearby herd of wild beasts.

Cowie is proud of the preserve and he is furious about the poachers who last year, he says, killed 600 elephants by shooting them with poisoned arrows and allowing them to wander in agony for days before falling down to die.

"They don't have to follow the elephants," he said. "They need only watch the skies and there where the vultures gather they know they will find their prey.

"It's as cruel as anything on earth yet animal protective groups who howl if someone strikes a dog or cat show no interest at all. If the slaughter is allowed to continue at this rate, the fate of the elephant will be sealed."

The rhinoceros dies in the same painful way, impaled by poisoned arrows or by stepping on poisoned stakes placed along paths he is known to follow.

Guntoting Boy Gives Self Up

FORT WORTH—UP—A 16-year-old boy who fled to the woods with a deer rifle after breaking into a home near Everman, Tex., Friday, gave himself up Sunday to a deputy sheriff's son and two other teen-agers.

Everman Constable Fred Winchester had sought the youth since he broke into the J. L. Shanks home and frightened Mrs. Shanks.

Winchester said the youth left his boots outside and crawled through a window. When Mrs. Shanks saw him he fled, went home for a pair of shoes and a deer rifle and then retreated into the woods.

Legal Publication

THE STATE OF TEXAS:

To all unknown owners and claimants of any interest in the land and premises hereinafter described, claiming or to claim the same under, through or by virtue of the Last Will and Testament of Bessie Stevens, Deceased, admitted to probate in the County Court of Hansford County, Texas, Cause No. 604, on February 7, 1949, and recorded in the Probate Minute Records of Hansford County, Texas, and a certified copy of the probate proceedings had in said cause being recorded in Volume 140, Page 369, et seq. of the Deed Records of Gray County, Texas, Defendants in the hereinafter styled and numbered cause:

You and each of you are hereby commanded to appear before the 31st Judicial District Court of Gray County, Texas, to be held at the Courthouse of said County in the City of Pampa, Gray County, Texas, at or before 10:00 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance hereof, that is to say, at or before 10:00 o'clock A. M. on Monday, the 7th day of November, 1955, and answer to the petition of Vera Lucille Williams, et ux, Plaintiff, in Cause No. 11,479, styled Vera Lucille Williams, et ux, Plaintiff, vs. Wilson Arthur Weaver, et al, Defendants, which petition was filed in said Court on the 19th day of September, 1955, and the nature of which suit is as follows:

The Plaintiff brings this proceeding for the purpose of having the Court appoint a Receiver for an undivided one-sixteenth (1/16) mineral interest in and to the Northwest One-fourth (NW 1/4) of Section 12, Block 3, I. & G. N. RR Co. Surveys, Gray County, Texas, containing 160 acres, more or less, and that such Receiver be authorized and directed to lease the said property for the development of oil, gas and other minerals, either at public or private sale, and upon such terms and conditions as the Court may direct, and that said Court authorize such Receiver to receive, hold and invest the proceeds thereof under the direction of the Court for the benefit of the persons entitled or who may become entitled thereto, according to their respective rights and interests, all as provided in Article 2320c, Vernon's Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, (being Senate Bill No. 338, Chap. 525, Laws of 1949, Regular Session, 51st Legislature), and as is otherwise within the power of the Court to do; Plaintiff also prays for such other and further relief, general and special, either at law or in equity, to which she may show herself to be justly entitled.

Said undivided one-sixteenth (1/16) mineral interest in and to the Northwest One-fourth (NW 1/4) of said Section 12, passed under the Last Will and Testament of Bessie Stevens, Deceased, admitted to probate in the County Court of Hansford County, Texas, in Cause No. 604, on February 7, 1949, and recorded in the Probate Minute Records of Hansford County, Texas, and a certified copy of the probate proceedings had in said cause being recorded in Volume 140, Page 369, et seq. of the Deed Records of Gray County, Texas. Under the terms of said Will, Vera Lucille Williams, Plaintiff herein, is seized and possessed with a life estate in and to the above described property. Wilson Arthur Weaver and Katherine Lou Weaver, Defendants herein, are the only living children of Vera Lucille Williams, and each of them is still living and each own a remainder interest — whether vested, contingent or both — in and to the above described property under the terms of said Will.

This action is brought against the Defendants named herein, not only as individuals in their individual capacities, but also as representatives of all of the contingent remaindermen or possible future interest holders, born or unborn, under, through or by virtue of said Will of Bessie Stevens, Deceased, hereinabove referred to.

It is necessary for the conservation, preservation and protection of the said property and of all the present and contingent or future interests therein that said land and premises be leased for the production of oil, gas and other minerals. It is to the best interests of the Plaintiff and all of the Defendants and all of the owners of the remaining fifteen-sixteenths (15/16) mineral interest in and to the Northwest One-fourth (NW 1/4) of Section 12, Block 3, I. & G. N. RR Co. Surveys, Gray County, Texas, including any persons who may hereafter come into being and who would, in such event, have an interest in said land and premises under, through or by virtue of said Will of Bessie Stevens, Deceased, that the said land and premises be leased for oil, gas and other mineral development; and the leasing of said land and premises for oil, gas and other mineral development and the safe and proper investment of the proceeds will inure to the benefit and advantage of the persons entitled thereto.

The nature of the proceeding is fully shown by Plaintiff's Original Petition on file in this cause, and a true copy of same will be furnished to any Defendant by J. B. Maguire, Jr., Attorney for Plaintiff, P.O. Box 957, Pampa, Texas, immediately upon request.

The officer executing this process shall properly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs. If this citation is not served within 90 days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said Court at office in Pampa, Texas, this 19th day of September, 1955.
(SEAL)
Helen Sprinkle, Clerk of 31st Judicial District Court in and for Gray County, Texas.

JIM CRACKS

By JIM DEAN

Aloha.

Rummaging through my sparse and weather-beaten library the other day, I found a small faded blue volume. Inside, there is my name, rank and serial number and the date May 1, 1942.

The title is "Introduction to the Hawaiian Language."

I remember buying the book in a Honolulu book store about the time I bought Don Blanding's "Song of The Seven Senses."

This book notwithstanding, the only Hawaiian words I ever learned were Aloha, which means a lot of things and lealea kalikimaka which means Merry Christmas.

But, here, 11 years later and a few miles east of Honolulu, this language book still intrigues me. I began to wonder what words would be most essential to a stranger cast in a foreign land. What words would you want to know first?

I figured out a set for myself, and here they are in Hawaiian just in case you are ever shipwrecked there.

Food—mea ai
Drink—i nu
Friend—hoaloha (very close friend is—aikane)
Help—kokua
Sleep—hiamoe, moe
God—Ke Akua
Good—kina ole
Bad—(sinful) ino kolohe; (worthless) waiwai ole makehewa.
Work—hana

That should get you by for the first day or so. By the way, man in Hawaiian is Kane and woman is wahine (pronounced ka' nee and wa hee' nie).

Then, of course, there is always Aloha which means hello, goodbye, good morning, love and sympathy.

WHILE THAT WASN'T a particularly satisfactory opening lesson in the Hawaiian language, it brings us to a subject of language teaching now going on through the adult education program.

Spanish classes have been in progress here for some time, and I am told that people taking part in the program are having a big time as well as learning a bit of Spanish.

Now comes French, which I am particularly interested in learning. The classes will be held each Monday night at the Lovett Memorial Library with Tommy Abouhalkah, a native of Lebanon, serving as instructor. So all of you with a 'hankering' to learn the language of the diplomats come on in! 'C'est si bon!

FOR ALL WHO may have missed the information elsewhere in the paper, The First Baptist Church is having its fall revival this week with Dr. Kearnie Keegan preaching the services each morning and evening. Dr. Keegan is a radiant personality with a deep voice that would be pleasant to hear even if he had no message to bring.

And the music of the choir under Joe Whitten's direction is tremendously impressive.

THE BIG entertainment feature due next in Pampa is the Horace Heidt show which is being sponsored by the Pampa Shrine Club. Auditions for talent which may have a part on the program will be tonight. Who knows, maybe some Pampa youngster will get a boost to future fame in the entertainment world.

WELL AT THE RISK of being classified as a doting parent who yacks about his offspring, I want to tell this story because it may be appreciated by all fathers who have had the experience of baby sitting with "the modern set."

I was having a particularly difficult time getting the youngest member of the family to bed. After a recitation of "Wynken, Blynken and Nod," the story of "The Three Bears" and such vocal renditions as "Rockabye Baby," Brahms Lullaby and "My Little Buckaroo," the little buckaroo was still very much awake and not inclined to call it a day.

So I turned on the light, picked up the long black strap which is the persuader around our place (psychology or no) and brandishing it menacingly I said quite loud and sternly:

"Now you listen, I've been nice to you, you go to sleep or I'll come back in here and spank you. Do you understand?"

After the slightest pause, David looked up, his face broke in a wide disarming grin and he said:

"I can't hear you, Jim."

Fortunately the light switch was handy and I was able to make a dignified retreat.

THE POET'S NOOK

Our poetry puzzles are apparently too difficult. It's been a month since anyone has called to identify any quotations from this corner.

Last week's puzzler was from the pen of Ben Johnson.

So let's try one that should be much more familiar to a great many lovers of poetry.

"A little learning is a dang'rous thing;
Drink deep, or taste not the Pierian spring:
There shallow draughts intoxicate the brain,
And drinking largely sobers us again.
Fired at first sight with what the Muse imparts,
In fearless youth we tempt the heights of arts,
While from the bounded level of our mind
Short views we take, nor see the length behind;
But more advanced, behold with strange surprise
New distant scenes of endless science rise!"

Now, for the first person to call and tell me the author of the above and the work from which it comes, I will give an unused ticket to last week's Pampa - Vernon football game . . . and you just can't hardly get them no more.

Graphs Record Earthquake

MEXICO CITY —UP— Government seismologists reported an "intense" earthquake in the Gulf of Tehuantepec off the coast of the southwesternmost state of Chiapas Monday.

The seismologists said there "might have been damage."

The quake was believed centered about 460 miles southeast of Mexico City.

Fordham university in New York City reported a "fairly sharp" earthquake believed centered about 2,600 miles southwest of New York early Monday morning.

The quake also was recorded by seismographs in Boston, Cleveland, Pasadena, Calif., and Dallas, Tex.

CONTACT — When it is important, Pfc. John McBride of Finley, Tenn., can keep in constant touch with the officers directing his activities. He's shown at Camp Carson, Colo., demonstrating a tiny radio receiver which straps to helmet.

Chiropractors In Discussions

FORT WORTH—UP— More discussion of a proposed merger of the Texas Chiropractic Society and the Texas State Chiropractic Association will take place in San Antonio Oct. 22, 23, Dr. Sterling Pruitt said Monday in Fort Worth.

Dr. Pruitt is president of the north central district of the Texas division of the Texas Chiropractic Society. He said the discussion will be at a quarterly meeting of the state group.

A three-man committee was appointed Sunday at a board meeting of the TCS to study the merger plan. It is composed of Dr. Elton Berkman of Colorado City, Dr. Charles Walker of Austin and Dr. Gil Knutson of Amarillo.

Dr. Pruitt said the main difference between the two organizations is that members of the TCS are "straight chiropractors," while those in the other group may practice other forms of healing.
