C. C. Taylor Jr. Injured

Dog Saves Master From Burning House After Explosion

Danny, a two-year-old German Shepherd, is credited with saving the life of his master, C. C. Taylor Jr., 47, when he ran into a burning building where Taylor had taken the force of a butane blast, tugged at his trousers and led him outside.

"He's gun-shy, but when the chips were down, he came through," Buel Taylor, the injured man's brother, told The Wellington Leader. Danny had not hesitated at the explosion, many times louder than a gun. The accident occurred Wednesday, Jan. 31, at the house on the Elvis White farm at Rolla, into which Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were preparing to move until they could build their own home.

J. B. Clark Dies Suddenly Here Friday

J. B. Clark, 71, who farmed and operated a service station in Collingsworth county for 42 years, died unexpectedly Friday, Feb. 2 at 2:15 p.m. He was stricken ill while visiting with a neighbor and his death came a few minutes after he reached his home. Mr. Clark had suffered with a heart ailment for ten years.

Coming here from Model, Colo., Mr. Clark farmed in the Cross Roads community for a number of years. He had operated his service station on Highway 83 since moving to town.

Mr. Clark was a member of the Methodist Church, and was active in community affairs for many years.

James Bentley Clark was born March 27, 1892, at Lamar, Ark., the son of J. B. and Sarah McCarrell Clark.

He was married to Miss Annie Jeffcoat at Newport on Oct. 5, 1913.

Funeral services for Mr. Clark were conducted at First Methodist Church Sunday at 2 p.m., with the Rev. Davis Edens officiating.

Pall bearers were Cecil Masten, Auburn Keller, Byron Duncan, Melvin Kiker, A. L. Elliott and John Holton.

Burial was in West Wellington Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Surviving Mr. Clark are his wife of the home, and two daughters: Mrs. John Coy of Las Creces, N.M., and Mrs. Charles King of Lazbuddy.

Other survivors are a half-sister, Mrs. A. A. Ayers of Archer City, and nine grandchildren.

nesday, Jan. 31, at the house on the Elvis White farm at Rolla, into which Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were preparing to move until they could build their own home.

Taylor received burns over about 20 per cent of his body, with his face and hands most severely burned, an attending physician said.

He was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital by William O'Rear, who was working near by and heard the explosion. He reached the house in time to see Danny come out with Taylor.

A beautiful grey dog with black markings, Danny had a considerable amount of fur singed off.

Taylor, a former Air Force career master sergeant, was transferred to Altus Air Force Base Hospital Wednesday afternoon, and at 7:30 p.m. that night he was put aboard a hospital plane sent from San Antonio, staffed with doctor, nurse and technicians, and was flown to Brooke Army Hospital, where he is receiving specialized treatment. Skin grafting on his hands has been started, members of his family said this week.

Taylor, with his wife, brother and parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Taylor Sr., had been working at the house recently, but only the stoves were moved in. Butane was delivered Tuesday afternoon, and it is believed fumes leaked into the house.

Taylor told his family he sniffed as he went inside but could detect no odor of escaping gas and started to light the stove when the blast occurred.

The force of the explosion knocked out the north and

Politics Picks Up With Heavy Last Minute Filing

Political talk that has simmered for weeks became reality with a flurry of late filing Monday, Feb. 5, and when the midnight deadline was reached, only one local candidate was without an opponent, veteran county superintendent, B. W. Beaird.

For the first time, the Republicans will hold a primary and although the hoped-for full slate of local candidates did not materialize, there is one county candidate. Emil Kersten, who filed for the office of County Judge. There will be candidates for state representative and congressman.

Late action saw Wellington Mayor Hiram Cudd file for the office of county judge on the Democratic ticket, and Cortez Barnett, a former commissioner of Precinct 4, is seeking that office.

Veteran sheriff Claude McKinney filed as candidate for justice of the peace of Precinct 1.

Paul Spillman and Goat Hopper filed their candidacy for county democratic chairman. Hopper is serving an unexpired term.

County-Precinct Candidates

Close Ties to Wellington

Rev. Kenneth Wyatt Speaks At C-C Banquet Thursday

Approximately 200 will attend the annual banquet and meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday evening, Feb. 8 in the community building, N. M. Higdon, manager, announced. It will begin at 7:15 p.m.

The Rev. Kenneth Wyatt of Chillicothe will be the banquet speaker, consenting to come following the sudden illness this week of the scheduled speaker, Dr. Howard H. Hollowell of Wichita Falls.

One of the brilliant young speakers and preachers of the area, the Rev. Mr. Wyatt has close Wellington ties. He is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Kiker and his wife is the former Veda Mae Kiker.

His talk here will be the fourth banquet address he will have made in one week's period. He is in great demand as a speaker at both secular and religious meetings.

The young pastor's speaking style combines a considerable lightness, leading up to pointed truths. His subject here is tentative, but will probably be "Are You Part of the Problem or Part of the Answer?" It will be discussed from the national and patriotic aspect.

The Rev. Mr. Wyatt frequently visits here, and he has preached at the First Methodist Church.

He is director of youth work of the Methodist Church for this district and dean of the Youth Assembly of the Northwest Texas Conference. He also teaches in the jurisdictional workshop of the Methodist Church at Sequoyah, Fayetteville, Ark.

It is for his work with youth that the Rev. Mr. Wyatt is receiving wide recognition in recent years.

He is now in his third year as pastor of First Methodist Church at Chillicothe, although during that time large churches have requested him as pastor.

Kersten Files for Office of County Judge

Emil Kersten this week authorized The Wellington Leader to announce his candidacy for the office of County Judge as a candidate on the Republican ticket. Mr. Kersten's announcement follows:

It was after much study on my own part and a lot of encouragement on the part of my many friends that I decided to present my name to the voters of Collingsworth county as a candidate for county judge to be considered in the Republican primary on May 6, 1962, and if successful in the primary, to be a candidate in the general election this fall. My reasons are many. First,

Water Board Meets Reclamation Bureau

Directors of the Collingsworth county water control and improvement district will meet with John Thompson of the Amarillo office of the Bureau of Reclamation Friday at 11 a.m. in what may well be a major meeting in the county's water development program, Dan Henard, the new board chairman, announced this week.

The session will be in the directors' room of the Greenbelt Electric building, opening at 11 a.m.

The purpose of the meeting is twofold, Henard pointed out. The Bureau of Reclamation's engineering study on Salt Fork will be taken up. Thompson, and other personnel of the Bureau of Reclamation who accompany him here, are interested in securing data on Buck Creek and Elm Creek, as well as other watersheds in the county. This also will be discussed. The Collingsworth water board, in turn, will request an engineering study of Buck Creek and Elm.

This, Henard continued, will place emphasis on the district's water development program in all parts of the county.

Congressman Walter Rogers has requested the Bureau of Reclamation Amarillo office to bring the local board up to date on information it has available, according to Paul Spillman, the board's legal advisor, who contacted Rogers recently.

Collingsworth County Water

Friday morning there will be a meeting of importance between the Collingsworth water board members and representatives of the Bureau of Reclamation.

One part of this meeting will have to do with the development of all water resources in Collingsworth county. This is the long range aim and the heart of the county's entire water program.

A dam across Salt Fork would be one of the biggest things that has ever happened to Collingsworth. But it would be incomplete without the development of water resources on other and lesser streams in the county.

The Water Board will ask for engineering studies on Buck Creek and Elm Creek. These will take the water program into the extreme northern and southern parts of the county.

The Water Board is thinking wisely when it considers the development of all waters throughout the county. But the step between planning and reality will take the wholehearted unity and co-operation of all people in the district.

Music of the Times

Sometimes one wonders if our preoccupation with the swift tempo of our times, shadowed as it is by the spectre of nuclear disaster, is not reflected in our popular music. Good or at least growing scarce — are the gentler melodies of an era when annihilation of the human race was beyond our wildest speculations.

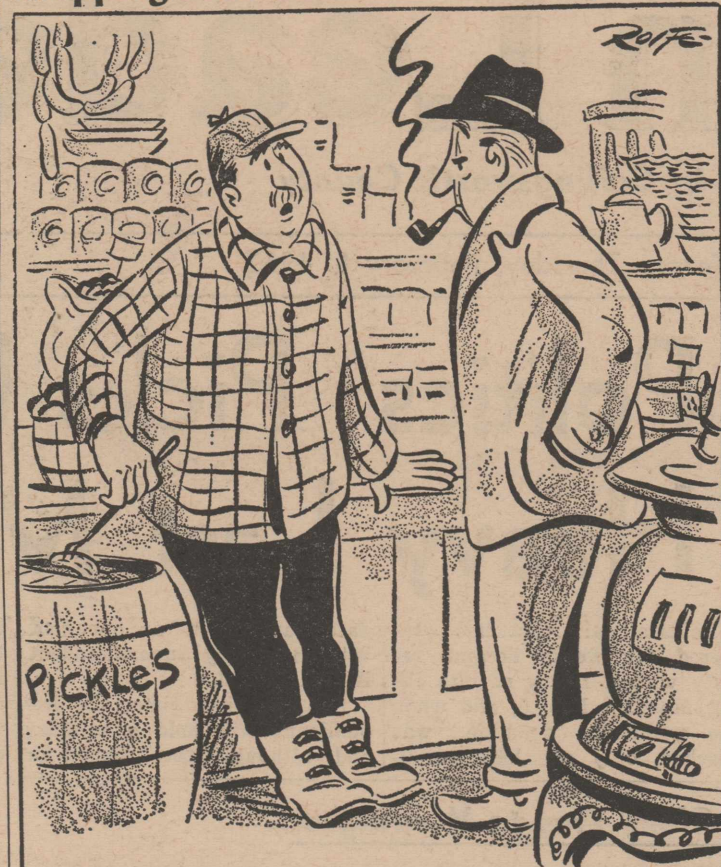

As a matter of fact we were able, in those past days, to dramatize and glamorize the fanciful prospect of only a couple of us being left on earth after some imaginary cataclysm. One old song which still emerges occasionally even painted an alluring picture of such a situation: "If you were the only girl in the world and I were the only boy."

The author made that sound like a delightful situation! But probably he had not the remotest notion that such a development might come to pass. If he were writing today he would. And he'd have to put the lucky (?) couple in a decidedly unglamorous dug-out sealed against fallout.

It may be too bad, but it is no longer possible to get gaga about such a happening or to lyricise about it. Yet why should that bar our composers from creating music such as that lovely song, and many others? Have we lost, along with our confidence in the future, our ear for such haunting restful strains? Are we no longer capable of anything but jungle throb. —Warrensburg (Mo.) Daily Star-Journal

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where our shot at the moon the other day was maybe influenced by the political climate, so it was a little high and to the left.

My gloomy neighbor says if one of these shots does hit the moon and the thing explodes, a lot of people are going to be surprised and embarrassed.

Especially folks who use the moon all the time in their business, and if it wasn't there they wouldn't have any idea when to plant corn or wean the baby.

Telegraph company is offering to let people bawl out their Congressmen by wire at a special discount price of six-bits a bawl.

But my noisy neighbor says he notes they will not transmute profanity at this price, and this is a clear case of people-muzzling.

Says Congress ought to investigate this suppression of free-wheeling speech, so as to make sure they get genuine unexpurgated opinions from the voters.

I see where Interior Secretary Udall wants 60,000 acres of prairie land in its primitive state to be set aside as a National Park.

My qualmish neighbor says this is too much grass for looking at, as when you see one acre of grass you have seen them all, and he don't think coyotes could be trained to beg for handouts anyhow.

Says we don't need to leave a lot of grass for posterity to look at, either, as we have done enough for future generations by inventing capri pants and the coffee break.

I see where a newspaper oracle says that the new type bawdy books and movies don't influence life, they just reflect the way it is.

My medium-moraled neighbor says if life has got in that raw condition, we ought to try to keep it quiet instead of publicizing it.

Says current literature and picturature may show that life needs some cleaning up, but he figures we could get at the real trouble cheaper by just rounding up the writers and dipping their minds.

I see where Congress is figuring on a law which would declare anybody with sixth grade learning as smart enough to vote.

Country might be better off right now is voters in the past had had to meet this requirement, and pass a breathing test.

But my poor-picker neighbor says Congress is tackling this problem from the wrong end, and what we really need is a rule that candidates have to know as much as a sixth grader.

I note that gathering statistics is very easy, like if you bet on ten horses and nine of them lose, that is scientific proof that 90 per cent of the horses in the world can't run.

My mathematical neighbor says this simple sampling type research makes it possible for every man to gather his own statistics in a scientific manner.

Like if you meet ten people on the street and six of them are nuts, that makes a statistic that 60 per cent of the world is crazy, and makes the odds 6 to 4 that you are too.

Start With A Soil Test

Fertilizer Properly Applied Means Higher Yields, Lower Production Cost

Amazing yields have resulted in Collingsworth production from the proper use of fertilizer . . . determined by soil tests. Dryland results in some instances have been higher than we formerly expected with irrigation.

We congratulate you on the progress you have made and we join the county agent and other agricultural agencies in recommending that you have your fields soil tested. If done now, you will get quick returns on your analysis from the Soils Laboratory. For $2, you will get an analysis and recommendations for two years.

Soil testing takes the guess-work out of fertilizing. It means higher yields per acre, lower production cost per unit — and more money in the bank for you. It means a wealthier, more stable county.

Something New on Cotton Goods

COLLEGE STATION—Longer lasting collars and cuffs on men's wash-wear shirts and a single treatment that gives cotton wash-wear properties and also permanently dyes, starches and adds other finishing agents to the fabric were announced today by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

A cotton interliner was treated to give it wash-wear qualities and then bonded by an adhesive to outer layers of untreated cotton cloth to make the collars and cuffs. The finished fabric not only has wash wear qualities similar to those of the treated interliner, but also has high resistance to fraying or abrasion that is ordinarily associated with cotton. Samples made with the treated interliner were somewhat stiffer than the usual soft collars and cuffs but less still than acceptable starched ones. The wash-wear qualities were rated excellent.

The new multipurpose treatment involves the use of divinyl sulfone derivatives. These chemicals have the unusual ability to react with cotton's cellulose molecules to produce a good wash-wear finish and at the same time to attach other finishing materials permanently to the cellulose molecules. The derivatives could prove even more versatile in cotton processing. They may be capable of attaching to cotton many other chemicals, including those that give resistance to fire, heat, rot, mildew, and some repellency to water and oil.

By adding both dye and starch to a solution of divinyl sulfone derivatives, the scientists obtained a permanently starched and colored wash-wear fabric. Laundering tests indicated the treated fabric was highly resistant to damage from chlorine bleach.

The new treatment can be applied with conventional textile finishing equipment. Fabric is dipped into the chemical solution, run through the squeeze rolls to remove excess solution, then dried and cured at normal processing temperatures.

Research workers at the department of agriculture's Southern Utilization Research Division at New Orleans worked out the new treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Roberts and family visited in Amarillo over the week end with Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Clark and with their son, Roland Roberts. Mr. Roberts also attended the gift show that was held there over the week end.

Grass Fires Cause Trouble

Two grass fires reported during the last week reached buildings and damaged or destroyed them; two others were just grass fires.

Virgil Estes reported a set of improvements destroyed on his farm in the Rolla community Tuesday, Jan. 30.

Estes said the fire started from butane used in a tractor, as he started to move a cotton stripper. It spread to grass and from there to a small house. Also destroyed were a garage and shed.

Joe Alex Coleman, working in the vicinity with the county maintainer, brought it over and plowed a strip between the fire and the main improvements, saving them, according to Estes. The family lives in town.

The back of the garage at the home of Mrs. J. B. Forbis was charred Saturday afternoon. It is believed burning trash ignited grass and spread to the garage. Fire Chief Richard Bailey said.

Firemen also put out a grass fire on the right of way of Highway 203 in the Cross Roads community Saturday night.

Fire Marshal Troy Marsh and Jake Leach took the rural truck to the Lynn Carter home Monday afternoon. Between 10 and 15 acres of grass was destroyed, Marsh said.

WHO SHOULD CENSOR?

AUSTIN.—Question of school book censorship was buffeted about by 22 witnesses, when the House Textbook Investigating Committee held its 4th weekly public hearing.

Some 200 persons attended the hearing.

Frank Wardlaw, director of the University of Texas Press said: "There are no men wise enough to serve as censors." He stated that he would prefer that his children's textbooks be censored by authoritative professors, rather than by unqualified individuals.

Author J. Frank Dobie said "the more textbooks are censored, the weaker they become."

The opinion that regulation of teaching materials by elected trustees has worked satisfactorily was expressed by former Baylor University trustee Joseph M. Dawson.

Other witnesses, such as Mrs. A. A. Forester of Texarkana, Richard L. Harvey of Tyler, and M. F. Gabler of Hawkins, criticized the Board of Education's formula for censorship. They said they firmly believe that modern textbooks fail to instill a sense of patriotism and love of country.

Committee will hold another hearing Feb. 9.

Science Students to Hear Trinity Biologist

Dr. C. C. Doak, professor and head of the department of biology of Trinity University, San Antonio, will visit Wellington Junior High school on Wednesday, Feb. 14, meeting with all science classes, the Junior High Science Club, and working with younger students of Junior High.

He comes here at the invitation of Mrs. Jack Davis, science teacher, and A. A. McQuary, junior high principal. His trip was arranged by the Texas Academy of Science Visiting Scientist Program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

His visit will give the boys and girls an opportunity to know a distinguished man of science, both as a lecturer in the classroom and more informally outside of class periods—the first such opportunity many have ever had.

Dr. Doak received his B.S. degree from North Texas State in 1922, MS from A&M in 1928, and his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois in 1933.

After teaching three years in Arlington and Corsicana he went to A&M to teach botany zoology and general biology. From 1947 until 1960, he headed the department. In that year he joined the staff of Trinity University as professor and head of the department.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, of the commission to study the science curriculum, the Botany Society of America, Classroom Teachers Association, American Institute of Biological Scientists, Biologists of the Southwest, and the American Association of University Professors. He is listed in Who's Who in America, and is president of the Texas Academy of Science and past president of his local chapter of Sigma Xi.

Three County Schools in 14-B Tournament

Teams from three Collingsworth schools will play in the District 14-B tournament that opens at Clarendon Thursday at 3 p.m. and will continue through Saturday night.

Both boys and girls teams from Dodson, Samnorwood and Quail will compete, along with four other teams in the district: Hedley, Groom, Claude and Fritch.

Favored to win in the boys division is Hedley, with Samnorwood a close second, if not the top team.

Samnorwood girls likewise are in a favored position, although they are up against the Claude girls—practically the same team that went to the finals in state competition last year. Hedley also is considered a strong contender.

The first session starts at 3 p.m. Thursday and there will be others Thursday night, Friday night and Saturday night. The tournament will be held in the new Clarendon gymnasium.

A special feature of the Saturday night tournament will be the game between the Clarendon College and Garden City Kansas Junior College teams.

100 Year Old Letter Tells of Measles Toll

A small part of the Civil War came alive this week in a letter, written from a Kentucky Army camp one hundred years ago Monday, Feb. 5, to the grandfather of Alvis Derryberry of Wellington. He brought the letter to The Wellington Leader.

From Capt. Samuel O. Cloud, battalion commanding officer, the letter told J. W. Phillips of the deaths of his two soldier sons from measles.

This disease took the lives of many men in the Civil War. The paper on which the letter was written is still strong and the ink black.

The young soldiers were the brothers of Derryberry's mother, and were fighting for the Confederacy. The family home was in Arkansas.

He also had the papers releasing his father from service in the Confederate Army.

The letter follows:
Columbus, Ky.
February the 5th 1862
Mr. J. W. Phillips

Dear Sir:
I write you a few lines which leaves me well, hoping this may find you and family the same. After my best regards to you and yours it devolves upon me as your friend to record to you the painful news of the death of your sons. Abner died the eleventh day of January and Smith died today. They both died with measles, although they are gone our hearts bleed over them, for I can assure you that there never was two better boys lived.

They were loved by all who knew them. Although they were far from home in the tented field, I can assure you that they were well attended to and every attention shown them that could be under the existing circumstances. Abner died in his tent and Smith died at the hospital. I done all that I could for them. They seemed to think as much of me as though I had been a brother.

The South has lost two of her noble sons in the early death of your dear boys.

I have in my possession fifty-three dollars which belonged to the boys and which I will carefully keep until I hear from you. I will send it to you in a letter that is if you are willing to risk it. I want to come home this spring if I can get off but don't know whether or not I can come.

Please let me hear from you at the earliest period you can and say to me what you wish done with the money. I will do what you say on the subject. There is a good deal of sickness in our battalion.

There has 16 men died in our company since we have been in this place. Eli and Josiah Clouen, Elisha Mogley, Eligah Wodley, Jepe Green, Charles Gipson, Charles Johnson, John Evans, William Dedwid, James Dozier, Naman Rountree, Wis Donnell, Green Turner, George Fowler, all with measles but two.

The weather has been very cold and bad. Rain, snow and sleet lots and is raining tonight. Please write to me as soon as you get this. My love

S. S. Return May Be Needed

Persons who receive monthly social security checks and who earned over $1200 in the year 1961 are required to file an earnings report with the Social Security Administration by April 15, 1962, according to Hal Gelson, manager of the Amarillo social security office.

Some people confuse the income tax return with this special earnings report, Gelson said. The filing of an income tax return doesn't relieve social security beneficiaries of the responsibility of filing an annual report with the Social Security Administration.

Most beneficiaries who have received some checks for 1961 will get notice about the report in the mail. The report is necessary so that the Administration can determine if the beneficiaries have received all of the payments to which they are entitled in 1961. Persons who have previously filed for benefits, but have never received any because they were working and making too much money also need to file the report. Some of these people, as a result of filing the report, discover they are entitled to receive some payments that they have not received.

Gelson stated that most people are able to file their report and mail it into the Social Security Administration without any assistance.

Officers Re-Elected

Ex-Students Scholarship Program Becomes Official

Directors of the Wellington Ex-Students Association re-elected the present slate of officers to serve through 1962, then approved unanimously the proposed scholarship fund to be set up through donations from former students of Wellington high school.

Donald Curry was re-elected president of the Association for his eighth term; Mrs. Hubert Bowen (Ineva Cudd) vice president, and Miss Bessie Rainer, secretary-treasurer.

The first scholarship given by the association will be awarded a member of the 1962 graduating class, if the fund progresses according to plans, Curry said following the meeting.

A committee was named to work out rules governing the awarding of the scholarship and to select the recipient. Curry will serve as chairman, and other members are C. A. Crawford, vice chairman; Miss Rainer, secretary; and E. W. Clement, Louis Graham, Mrs. Bob McAlister (Gay Reeves), Richard Bailey, Mrs. Lola Lee Longino Roark, and Mrs. Velman Warrick (Dora Fern Durfee).

The date of the 1962 reunion will be Friday and Saturday, August 3 and 4. It was returned to the summer date in accordance with agreement made before the fall reunion was held.

Curry reported that the 1961 fall reunion, while the crowd was slightly smaller, had a higher percentage of out of town exes registering and was considerably more profitable.

The Association will honor at its 1962 reunion all district championship basketball teams, both boys and girls. The class of 1912 will be recognized on its 50th anniversary, and the Homecoming Queen will be named again.

Three old directors were re-elected to the board and three new ones named.

Returning are Richard Bailey, Mrs. R. L. Maberry (Louise Cox), and Billy Hatch. New members are Herbert Bearden, Miss Louise Fulcher and Eddie Slay.

"YOU MEAN WE DRINK THAT?"

With only the one small opening to let in light, Wellington's crystal clear water takes on a greenish hue in the deep ground reservoir, and the children making the Junior High annual science tour invariably express surprise. In the front row, taking a good look, are Kenny Turnstall, behind him, Worlan Robinson. Behind them, from front to back are Jim Rudy, Danny White, Gary Judd and Sammy Hollingsworth, at the extreme right are Dickie Lindsey, front, and Larry Henard.

Science Class Tours City Water Works

A group from the Wellington Junior High eighth grade science class made the annual tour of the Wellington water works Thursday, Feb. 1, conducted by Russell Yates, water works superintendent.

The boys and girls went first to the wells and pump house a mile and a half east of town, where Yates explained to them the operation of the five pumps, and the youngsters took page after page of notes and statistics, asking questions concerning the water works operation.

Back in town they visited the city shops, then went to the million gallon underground reservoir, where they all had a look at the water. Here they found a scared cottontail rabbit making its home two blocks from the courthouse square.

This is the only group that regularly visits the water works, and few other people come to see how Wellington gets and stores its water, said Yates.

Boys and girls making the trip were Lorenzo Aguirre, Patricia Anglin, John Barjenbruch, Scooter Cason, Stanley Bratten, Glenn Gilmore, Helen Hannah, Bryant Harris, Larry Henard, Sammy Hollingsworth, Mike Hughs, Janice Jesse, Gary Judd, Dennis Leeper, Dickie Lindsey,

2800 Cars Remain to be Safety Inspected

Less than thirty per cent of the registered vehicles in this area have been safety inspected for 1962, according to Patrolman Gwin Fowler, Motor Vehicle Inspection Service, of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

With the April 15 deadline for having the vehicles checked, rapidly approaching, this means there are approximately 2800 vehicles in Collingsworth County remaining to be inspected by the two approved inspection stations available.

Many motorists are going to find long lines awaiting them as the deadline draws nearer, due to the inspection stations not being able to cope with this large number.

The patrolman urged drivers to have their vehicles inspected as soon as possible to avoid this last minute rush. In addition, he reminded drivers that this time of the year is noted for adverse weather conditions which prevents the inspection stations from checking the vehicles.

"Passenger cars are inspected for brakes, lights, reflectors, horn and windshield wipers; while commercial vehicles are inspected for the above plus additional items required by law," Patrolman Fowler said. "All motorists not displaying a valid 1962 inspection sticker by April 15 will be in violation of state law."

A Soil Test Plus Fertilizer

... HELPED THIS AREA BREAK ALL PRODUCTION RECORDS.
... HELPED PUT MORE MONEY IN OUR POCKETS.

Our fields are making yields we thought out of reach just a few years ago. There are several factors, and one of the most important is soil testing to show the nutrients a field needs, and the proper fertilizer to supply those nutrients.

Dodson Co-operative Enterprises, who handle your cotton, wheat and grain sorghum, recommend that all farmers have soil tests before beginning operations.

The test itself will be done at the soils laboratory of the Extension Service in Lubbock. You can get a soil container and information blanks from your county agent.

1. Dig a hole 6 to 8 inches deep
2. Take a half-inch slice off one side with a spade, the full depth.
3. Repeat this at 10 to 12 places over the field.
4. Mix all the dirt thoroughly in a clean bucket.
5. Take out one pint to be sent to Lubbock for testing.
6. Repeat in each field you want a soil test.
7. A copy of the analysis will be sent you and the county agent.

To give an accurate recommendation, your county agent will need to know:

1. Kind and Depth of soil.
2. Previous cropping history.
3. Previous fertilizer history.
4. What crop you will grow.

WE CAN FURNISH YOUR FERTILIZER

Dodson Cooperative Enterprises is dealer for RED STAR fertilizer, which is especially adapted to the land in this section. We will work with you to help you get the most out of your fertilizer dollar.

If you don't plan to plant your cotton acres — be sure to turn them and hold your acres.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The governor's race promises to be one of the hottest in history, with six Democrats and three Republicans contending for the nominations by their parties. We are going to be hearing plenty of politics not only from now to June, but from now to November. Even so the present race will have to generate a lot of steam to outdo those of the Jim Ferguson era. There were no organized mobs in those days, but men did have fist fights in the streets in support of their particular candidate.

We attended a press meeting in San Antonio two weeks ago. The editors were about like the people of Collingsworth. It was in advance of the final day for filing and the newsmen were more or less noncommittal in their attitude toward the prospective candidates. They had a fairly accurate idea of who would run on the Democratic ticket, but none of them had any inkling that there would be three candidates in the Republican primary.

We heard former General Edwin A. Walker make a speech—practically the same one you may have read or heard on the radio or TV. Some of the editors thought that his speech smacked more of a senatorial candidate than a gubernatorial one. Of course, that may be his eventual target, for a man has to become known and discussed in order to make a state race.

A few people seem to be a little confused about splitting their ballot in the May and June elections. You can't do that in the primary although you can in the general election in November. You will vote either in the Democratic primary or the Republican primary. In counties of our size the balloting will not even be done in the same voting place.

I am grateful and somewhat humble over two statements about the paper that I heard this week. One came from a comparative newcomer and the other from a genuine oldtimer. Mrs. Kenneth Grunewald, wife of the assistant coach, remarked: "We have never lived in a place that had such a good weekly newspaper." The veteran banker at Dodson said "I don't see how you do it. The Leader is so attractively arranged and so interestingly full of local news that I marvel at the difference when I pick up some other papers I receive." Many thanks; we think both of you are grand people.

Well, the Serpent swallowed the sun and the moon, that is the five visible planets surrounded them on Sunday and Monday. But the world showed no indication of coming to an end even if there was a total eclipse of the sun visible in Japan. I suppose it is safe now for the people of India to stop bathing in the muddy water of the Ganges and those Californians can come down from the hills in Arizona.

My tribute to the fire department last week brought forth a joke for this week.

A Negro phoned from the flats: "Get over here quick; we got a fire." "Where is it?" "At my house." "Yes, but what is the location?" "In the kitchen." "I know," the patient voice of the fireman answered, "but how do we get there?" "Don't you folks have a fire truck?"

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Morgan and Raymond Morgan Jr., over the week end were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dick Morgan and Mary Ann, of Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ware of Ranger, also a cousin of Mrs. Morgan, Dennis Cleve O'Bryant, Gail and Dennis II of Stinnett.

C-C Adopts 1962 Work Program in Directors Meeting Monday

The 1962 program of work of the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce was adopted by the board of directors in a meeting Monday night, Feb. 5, with continued emphasis on a number of fields of activity, and the introduction of a number of new projects.

The Chamber's program was outlined by N. M. Higdon, manager.

Water Resources

In 1962, the water resources committee is emphasizing county-wide water development. In the past, major emphasis has been on the development of Salt Fork. This year the two part program is to try to develop all possibilities of the Buck Creek watershed and to explore possibilities of dam sites on other streams in the county.

Chairman of the committee is John Coleman, while George Shadid and Dr. Chas. B. Jones are members.

Highway and Transportation
Two new programs will be introduced by the highway and transportation committee: One is to promote improvements at Marian Airport, including lighting, black-topping one runway and possibly extending one runway. This in view of the greatly increased traffic at the airport during the last year.

The other new project is to work toward making US 33 a four-lane highway through Wellington.

Work continues in two other fields: work on the proposed US Highway 336, and promotion of better farm to market roads.

Wayne Cudd is chairman of this committee and Buster Hughs the member.

Retail and Wholesale Development
A series of programs to increase services to customers and to make Wellington a more attractive place to trade was announced by the retail and wholesale development committee, made up of Sandy K. Parsons Jr., chairman, Sam Adams and C. T. Hubbard.

These are:
1. Sponsor a contest with prizes for the best sales personnel in the county.
2. Continue the program on solicitation control.
3. Encourage dollar days.
4. Encourage store front improvement.

5. Sponsor sales training course offered through the extension department of the University of Texas.

Civic Improvement
Mrs. John Coleman, chairman; Mrs. James Sullivan and Jake Leach, co-chairmen.

1. Sponsor tourist court promotion.
2. Lend assistance to Little League Baseball where needed.

Community Beautification
Mrs. E. H. Harwell, chairman.

1. Sponsor lighting of Highway 83 through the city.
2. Encourage planting of grass on vacant lots.

It is my belief that my knowledge, tempered by many years of business life in Collingsworth county, will enable me to make you one of the best county judges you have ever had. If you see fit to elect me, you will never have a chance to be sorry if it is within my ability to prevent it.

As to my qualifications for the office, it is my belief that most of you know me as a man who will do his best on any job. My education was received in Arkansas and my high school education was after my absence from school during World War I and was obtained at my own expense, by working and studying, also taking part in all athletic activities.

It is with pleasure and humility that I say I am an American, a Texan, and a Collingsworth countian, and it is my thinking that all of us have a responsibility to the country far above partisan politics. We need to wake up to the fact that the Democrat and Republican as they were once known, are not now in existence. It is deplorable to me that so much power has been given to so few people.

This is the controlling reason for announcing on the Republican ticket as candidate for your county judge.

It is my belief that a two party system is a must to prevent the creeping paralysis of socialism from overcoming the freedom which we now hold, and it must start in the urban areas, and you can just bet all you own that the eyes of America are on Texas today.

The judicial offices in Texas are important. Justice for all, tempered by mercy, is my motto, and my knowledge of the common law combined with my varied experiences in mechanical lines, in road building and in mechanized road equipment should be an asset to my employers, and let me assure you that if you see fit to elect me, you will be my employer, and it will be a privilege to talk to you any time.

Thank you for your consideration.

EMIL KERSTEN.

Taylor was reared at Quail and his wife is the former Effie Nell Farmer. He retired from the Air Force while stationed at Coos Bay, Ore., last March, after 20 years service. The couple continued living in Coos Bay until this winter when they returned to Wellington to make their home. Taylor is to take over his father's farming interests near Quail.

Danny was won in a raffle at Coos Bay, members of Taylor's family said.

The dog went into the emergency room of St. Joseph's with his owner, and refused to leave. The attending doctor said he did not growl or try to hinder them, but he was certainly interested in what was happening. As Taylor was taken to his room, he said it would be all right to leave Danny outside; he'd stay around. The first time the door was opened, the dog came in, looked in each room until he found his owner and lay under his bed until the family reached the hospital.

Terry has adopted the slogan "The Man with a Cause—Good Government" for his campaign.

A resident of the area in the 87th District all of his life, Terry said he is disturbed by the fact that the opinions of the voters are often ignored when action is taken in the Legislature.

"If elected I will do all in my power to learn the opinions of the voters before making a decision on any legislation brought before the Texas Legislature," Terry pledged.

In order to sample the opinions of the voters, Terry said he feels that the State Representative should spend all the time possible visiting in the communities and rural areas of the district, talking to those voters.

This he intends to do.

Terry has owned and operated Terry's Electric in McLean for the past 15 years. He also has been employed by Phillips Petroleum Company for 21 years.

He has been a resident of McLean since the age of 13, when he moved there from Wellington. In McLean, Terry has been a member of the volunteer fire department for 22 years.

A veteran of World War II, Terry was on active duty with the Army from 1942 to 1946, two years of which were spent overseas. Since being discharged from active duty, he has served in the Army Reserve and National Guard, and currently is First Sergeant of Company E, 192nd Infantry Division in Shamrock and Wellington.

Heart Surgery for Mrs. Barnes

Mrs. Thomas Barnes, a former Wellington resident, and daughter of Mrs. L. H. Wolf, underwent heart surgery in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, Tuesday, Feb. 6.

A sister-in-law, Mrs. John Wolf, said doctors had discovered she had one artery too many leading into her heart, and the surgery was to tie off this additional artery.

Mrs. Wolf has been in Lubbock with her daughter during the past week, and Mr. and Mrs. John Wolf and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wolf went for the surgery.

Barnes, who also formerly lived here, is with the Department of Public Safety, in charge of polygraph work in this area.

"I simply want to make a brief statement at this time announcing my candidacy for the nomination in the Democratic primary," he said.

"I would like for the people to know that I will appreciate your vote and help and if I am nominated and elected I will work at the job diligently and constantly and will strive to perform all of the duties of the office of county judge faithfully and fairly."
