Bill Cox Gets It Done In Miami

By JOEL COMBS

Pampa News Staff Writer
MIAMI — A Top o' Texan who can "get things done," is Miami's Bill Cox.

Bill, who is a native of Miami, is in the soil conservation service and, besides, is usually busier than Tennessee Ernie at pea-picking time with several Roberts County civic projects.

He is presently head of the two largest service organizations in the county, the Pulaski Post, American Legion and the Miami Men's Service Club.

In his business, keeping the top soil in place on county farms, Bill works with a large number of families and keeps in contact with people from all corners of the county. He and his partner, Ralph Cole, have enlisted about 85 per cent of the farmers in Roberts County into soil conservation districts.

Bill says that the objective of the soil conservation service is to use each acre of land within its capabilities and to treat each acre of land in accordance with its need for protection and improvement.

John Beverly Dies Today

"Uncle John" Beverly, 98, resident of Pampa for 28 years, died in a local hospital at 3 a.m. today.

Mr. Beverly, who was born near Weatherford on March 30, 1857, had lived at 501 N. Cuyler. He died after a two-week illness.

An old-time rancher and pioneer of this part of the country who used to make the old cattle drive to Dodge City, Kan., "Uncle John" was with the Mill Iron ranch, manager of the Watrous Ranch near Las Vegas, N.M., and in the drayage business in Clarendon.

He married Katie Jordan in Clarendon on Dec. 18, 1900. He was a member of the First Christian Church, and the I.O.O.F.

Survivors include his wife, Katie; one son, Lon of Martinez, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Alice Wain of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Ethel Charter, Rawlins, Wyo.; one niece, Mrs. Walter Taylor, Clarendon; two nephews, Roy Beverly, Clarendon, and Bill Beverly, Amarillo.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the First Christian Church with the Rev. Richard Crews officiating. Pallbearers will be members of the Men's Fellowship class of the church, of which Mr. Beverly was a member. Interment will be at the Clarendon Cemetery.

French Election Today

Reds Expected To Gain Seats

PARIS, UP — France votes Monday in one of its most crucial elections since World War II, seeking a stable government to hold its place as a great world power and empire.

Most predictions agreed that the Communists will gain 30 to 35 more seats in the new national assembly because their opponents are split.

But the dramatic struggle highlighting the elections awayed between two former friends, Pierre Mendes-France and Premier Edgar Faure. Backing Faure was Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay, leader of the rightist Independents.

The polls opened at 8 a.m. (1 a.m. est.) in town halls and schools across France with nearly 27 million persons eligible to vote, 2,340,000 more than for the last elections in 1951.

The polls close variously at 6, 7 and 8 p.m. and the counting will go on all night until results are known.

Eighteen national parties and a record number of nearly 6,000 candidates were in the race for the 544 assembly seats from metropolitan France.

Another 50 deputies come from overseas, but the rising terrorist war in Algeria, which became a major campaign issue, forced indefinite postponement of elections of the 30 deputies there. Two other French colonies elect deputies later this month.

Candidate after candidate warned that France must keep Algeria and the French union (empire) to remain a world power.

Faure forced the elections by doing what no Frenchman has dared since 1871. Instead of letting the last assembly throw him out as it had thrown out six others at the rate of one every six months, he threw out deputies.

Then he went into the campaign with a platform demanding immediate dissolution of the assembly if it again tried to throw out a government before it is two years old.

Sen. McCarthy Opposes Funds For 2 Groups

WASHINGTON, UP — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said Monday he will fight to cut off funds of two Senate subcommittees which have criticized the administration's loyalty-security program.

McCarthy told a reporter he will speak on the Senate floor against appropriations for the Constitutional Rights subcommittee headed by Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo.), and the Government Employees Security subcommittee under Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.).

McCarthy said the subcommittees "are doing a tremendous disservice. They are wrecking the security program—what there is of it."

The Wisconsin Republican said the subcommittees, under Democratic control, "are doing exactly opposite" to a resolution passed by the Senate last year in which the Democrats, in effect, promised to continue investigations of Communism.

"Instead, we have two active Senate committees doing everything they can to make it hard on persons fighting Communism," McCarthy said.

"There is no reason why those committees should exist."

The Hennings subcommittee, which received $50,000 last year for eight months operation, has received $125,000 last year. It was charged that the security program for federal workers and has charged that the administration's figures on persons fired as security risks are 90 per cent false.

FIRST CITIZEN — Cheryl Joyce, Pampa's first citizen of 1956, who is one-day old today, is pictured above with her mother, Mrs. Cletis Nichols. Dr. Raymond Laycock, attending physician, described the healthy baby's condition as "real good." The happy mother said, "I feel pretty proud of it; I'm prouder of the girl than I am of winning the contest." The father works in the oil field for Clayton Husted, and the parents have lived in Pampa for two and one-half months.

Red Issue Dead, Party Leaders Say

WASHINGTON, UP — Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California and Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) agree that neither political party should accuse the other of coddling Communists in the 1956 presidential campaign.

Knight, a Republican, and Magnuson debated campaign issues on a television program Sunday (The American Forum, NBC).

They were asked whether the issue of Communism in government would play as important a role in the 1956 campaign as it did in 1952.

"I think the political implications of the issue have died out a lot," Magnuson replied. "Don't you think so?" he asked Knight.

"Everybody Against Communism," Knight replied. "I think everybody is against Communism and Communists and particularly Communism in the government. And so in my opinion, it will be unwise and unfair to claim in this coming campaign that either party coddles Communism."

Knight said he wants President Eisenhower to be the GOP candidate "if he is physically able to do so." He said he himself is not a candidate, but that "any man would be tremendously honored to be vice-president or president."

He said that, even if Mr. Eisenhower doesn't run, the GOP candidate will win "because first the candidate will have the Eisenhower program upon which he will stand, and second, the President."

Schools Reopen Tuesday Morning
Classes will resume again tomorrow at 9 a.m. in all city schools, after observing a 13-day holiday for Christmas and New Year.

has already said he will go out and do everything he can to help the party in 1956.

Believes Democrats to Win
Magnuson said he believes the Democrats will win when the voters realize that the administration policies have benefited primarily big business and about 5 per cent of the people.

"They've completely neglected the welfare of the farmer," Magnuson said. "They have done nothing I know of for the wage earner."

Other political leaders also discussed the question of presidential candidates.

Six Injured In Accident
Two accidents marred the holiday quiet in Pampa Sunday. Six persons were hospitalized as a result of the mishaps.

A two-car collision at the intersection of E. Frederic and Tignor at 10:05 p.m. last night resulted in the hospitalization of five persons. The accident occurred when a 1948 Plymouth, driven by Georgia Bidle Nicolaion, 233 Tignor, and a 1956 Ford, driven by Charlie Alvin Jordan, 701 S. Ballard, collided.

Hospitalized were Georgia Nicolaion, Charlie Jordan, and Clarice Jurnigan, Barbara Tillman and Rachel Hill, all of Lefors. All were released except Georgia Nicolaion and Rachel Hill, whose conditions are listed as "fairly good" and "good," respectively.

In the other accident, Margaret Winifred Hughes, 314 W. Browning, a pedestrian, was hospitalized after being struck by a car. According to Dr. Joe Donaldson, she suffered a fractured pelvis and her present condition is "satisfactory."

Late this morning City Police had not completed their investigation of the accident.

Nichols Girl Is First Baby Born In 1956

The "First Baby of 1956" contest was won by Cheryl Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cletis W. Nichols of 1040 S. Hobart, who was born at 10:40 a.m. Sunday, weighing 6 lb. 3 oz.

She is the first baby born to the couple.

The lucky girl will be showered with gifts by Pampa merchants, who have sponsored the event for several years. Firms contributing the gifts to the new baby include Levine's, Ideal Steam Laundry, Dunlap's, Behrman's, Clayton Floral Shop, Pampa Furniture Store, Clyde's Pharmacy, Hi-Land Pharmacy, Hi-Land Children's Shop, Goldsmith Dairy, Ford's Youth Store, Karl's Shoe Store, Penney's, Leslie's, Ideal Food Stores and Monarch Hardware.

The first Pampa of 1956 was born in Highland General Hospital just one hour and 41 minutes before Mr. and Mrs. Burl M. Graham, 617 Doucette, came in second with a baby boy born at 12:21 p.m. and weighing 9 lbs.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richardson, 1019 Ripley, came in third in the "baby marathon" with a boy, born at 5:40 p.m. Sunday, weighing 6 lb. 7 oz.

War Bride Arrives Finds Mate Dead
NEW YORK, UP — The German bride of a former soldier arrived in the United States with her 13-day-old baby Sunday after months of immigration delays — and learned her husband had died two days earlier.

Christa Holder, 20, learned when she stepped from a transatlantic plane with her baby in her arms that her husband, Frank Holder Jr., 24, died Friday of burns suffered in an industrial accident.

Frank's family told Christa she was in time only to attend her husband's funeral Tuesday.

Safety Group Revises Estimate Of Slaughter

By United Press

Holiday traffic deaths mounted so slowly that safety experts threw away their predictions of a record-breaking New Year's slaughter.

The National Safety Council credited the nationwide saving in lives to an unprecedented traffic crackdown, plus safe and sane driving by the nation's motorists.

On the last day of the holiday, the United Press counted 239 traffic deaths since 6 p.m. Friday. There were 41 deaths in fires, five in plane crashes, and 46 in miscellaneous accidents for a holiday total of 351.

California, with more registered cars than any other state, led the death count with 25. Texas and New York state were tied for second place with 17 each.

Seven States Deathless
Seven states had deathless holiday records—Tennessee, Colorado, Maine, North Dakota, Delaware, Vermont and Utah.

In stark comparison, there were more than 435 traffic deaths by 6 a.m. exactly one week ago on the final day of the "Black Christmas" weekend. The toll finally mounted to 621, an all-time holiday record.

It was this staggering total which sent a small army of policemen and national guardsmen onto the highways over the New Year's week end. Governor and mayors, shocked by the "Black Christmas" record, issued orders that there must be no repetition of the massacre.

The Safety Council predicted a New Year's holiday record of 420 traffic deaths by midnight Monday. But Council President Ned H. Dearborn admitted happily Monday that looked as if his experts had been wrong.

May Cut 100 Deaths
The new target, Dearborn said, is to cut 100 deaths from the council's prediction and wind up the holiday with a creditable total of 320. That would make this the safest three-day New Year's holiday since the 290 counted in 1950.

Until early Monday, the traffic death rate had been about four an hour. It would have to slump to about three an hour to hit 320. However, the 420 record won't be reached unless deaths start occurring at a rate of seven every hour.

Safety experts based added hopes on the fact that the bibulous New Year's Eve celebrations are over and there is no longer the danger of a bumper crop of drunken drivers.

Three-County Hunt For Murder Suspects
TOMBALL, Tex. — UP — Officers from three counties combed a 20-mile square area of Montgomery county Monday for three armed suspects in the gunshot slaying Saturday of Jan David Broderick, 20-year-old Texas A&M college student.

Roadblocks were set up on all major highways and most minor roads in the county by county officers, state highway patrol and Texas Rangers.

Bloodhounds were held ready for a possible close-quarters chase. The quarry was three youths, drunk and armed reported to be in a green and white Chevrolet convertible with Texas license NY-1125.

North of Tomball
The principal search area was just north of Tomball.

The manhunt was launched Sunday when a salesman, H. R. Montgomery, spotted the car. He said the three youths in the car were "running cars off the road."

The car was again spotted, later, on a farm road between highways 75 and 59 north of Tomball. One of the three youths is suspected of having fired a .38 caliber bullet into the head of Broderick, an Aggie senior on Christmas vacation, near Hempstead Saturday, leaving him to die in a roadside ditch and stealing his car.

Seen Near Houston
The car was also seen by Herb Hartman, a liquor store clerk at Spring, Tex., near Houston Saturday. He said it drove up and one of the youth asked for a bottle of whiskey, but drove off without it.

A mass search by officers failed to find the car after it was reported near Houston.

Texas Death Toll Mounts For Holiday

By UNITED PRESS

"Operation Death Watch," the long Christmas-New Year's holiday period, was due to end at midnight Monday as a rash of fatal New Year accidents pushed the death toll upwards in Texas.

The latest Department of Safety count showed the toll which started on Dec. 23, as 172 in Texas. Traffic claimed 93 lives, homicides and suicides accounted for 46 more and 33 persons died in miscellaneous forms of accidents.

The DPS had predicted that traffic accidents alone would take 112 lives over the 11-day holiday period.

The worst New Year's accident occurred just before midnight Saturday at Hockley, Tex., 36 miles northwest of Houston, where four Negroes were killed when their car collided with a crack Southern Pacific steamtrain, "The Owl."

The victims, all in the automobile, were Arabella Jones, 25, a Houston maid; Juanita Green, 24; Johnny Lee Jackson, 26, and Arthur Lee Steward, 30, all of Hempstead, Tex.

Among the latest fatal accidents was Archie Arlen Bailey, 25, of Abilene, who was killed in a two-car collision Sunday night 16 miles northeast of San Angelo. Four others were injured.

Ildiro Vidales, 63, became El Paso county's first 56 traffic victim yesterday when he was struck and killed by a car as he walked alongside the road near Ysleta, Tex.

Hollywood Personalities Keep Making News In '55

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD—UP—Hollywood news continues the same year after year, only the cast gets a little older.

Therefore to save you the trouble of reading the Movietown news for 1956 I prepared this handy calendar of probable coming events:

January—Liberace attends the premier of his new picture wearing a sheared green raccoon coat with matching tie, cummerbund and cuff links.
February—Mamie Van Doren poses for Valentine photographs sitting on a big, red heart.

March—Walt Disney builds an annex to house his Oscars. Susan Hayward swears off drinking coffee. Movie screens become so wide that in a Western film the Indians wound three ushers with flaming arrows.

April—In its drive for "new faces," Paramount publicizes an Italian outdoor-type actor named Al Fresco. Bobby Soxers also show interest in a new western star, Chuck Wagon.
May—Betty Hutton announces her retirement. Zsa Zsa Gabor announces she and Rubi are through. Rita Hayworth announces she has found the love with Raymond Hakim. Debbie and Eddie deny they are expecting a baby.

June—Marilyn Monroe returns to movies in "The Idiot" by Dos-toevski.

July—Arthur Godfrey fires six people: Ed Sullivan introduces so many celebrities from the audience he has no time for his show. Bob Hope puts on the first TV program from Mars.

August—The annual combined corn and lima bean festivals name Mamie Van Doren Miss Succotash of 1955.

September—Four actresses blame "career differences" for their divorces, but claim they still are good friends with their ex-husbands. Four other stars give out interviews saying they want to cover their cleavage and only act. Four other actresses claim their figures are god-given and they never heard of Slenderella. Two fan magazine photographers trampled in the rush for the first pictures of Tony and Janet's baby.

October—Mamie Van Doren poses for Halloween pictures holding a jagged broom.

November—Ann Blyth has a baby. Zsa Zsa and Rubi reconcile. Terry Moore hits headlines when she is photographed standing on her head at the opening of a new Hilton hotel in South Africa, but she claims it was all a terrible mistake.

December—Liberace's outdoor Christmas lights spell out "Moth-

Strapless Dress Zips

LONDON—UP—Well, it finally happened to one of those girls with a strapless, low-cut evening gown. The girl was Anita Ekberg, the bosomy Swedish actress. The scene was London's Berkeley hotel. The time was New Year's Eve.

The mishap was reported by London Daily Sketch correspondent Simon Ward who described himself as an eyewitness.

"Balloons were popping, champagne corks zooming as she reached the hotel for dinner," he said. "And then it happened. As she walked through foyer... zip!... ping!"

"The stitches of her $280 black velvet dress—it had a plunging neckline and was tight to the knees with a froth of tulle to her shapely ankles—had snapped.

"She flung her arms around her body to hold it up—and dived 20 paces for an anteroom."

Ward said his wife followed Anita and gave this report:

"Under it (the gown) was just Anita..."

"The neighbors burn the house down. And Mamie Van Doren is photographed in a short Santa Claus outfit climbing down a paper chimney."

Jane Tulk

By JANE KNOVINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

IN AN ERA OF RISING DESIGN LEVELS, lamps have taken on new life and a fresh outlook, note the fashion editors of Retailing Daily. No longer preoccupied with periods, per se, designers have dipped into a vast storehouse of source materials and flavored their collections with freely adapted style motifs from other lands. The results are designs notable for their esthetically pleasing qualities and distinguished for their color and richness and for their lavish use of many materials.

THIS ELEGANT materials story, plus an increasing array of pedestal bases, French Provincial and 18th Century styled legs and claw feet, reflects an industry that is both more design-conscious and more closely in tune with trends set by furniture producers. And to complete the picture, complementing these richly detailed and more handcrafted bases are the non-drum shaped decorator styled shades that have a hand-sewn look and are alive with elaborate trim and textured interest.

All in all, the general trend lies in the direction of taller, more impressive-looking lamps, veritable objets d'art, designed to dramatize their vital role in the home.

Style versatility in new lamps is achieved through the use of an almost endless variety of rich materials. This season's new ways with materials enhance table models as well as broaden the decorative appeal of floor, desk and boudoir lamps. Ceiling fixtures, too, take the case glass and colored plastic; 18th Century pedestal legs appear on traditional floor lamps; brass teams with satin silver, and glass, ceramic and composition table models designed to blend with modern or traditional interiors achieve heightened elegance in varying degrees of formality through the use of color and materials combinations.

INDIVIDUALITY is the dominant characteristic of case and occasional furniture. It seems paradoxical that furniture has never been easier to coordinate. But that's the bonus when one studies the ways in which furniture becomes more ornamental, more functional and more flexible. To discuss the first — ornamentation — one can begin with three major style factors: Side detail, shape and pedestals. Each offers escape from complaints of "static" or "boxlike" design and draws attention to handsome silhouettes. Eye appeal from its usual viewpoint concerns the use of decorative materials and numerous finishes. Inlay and parquetry enrich not only traditional, but even modern design.

One scarcely hears the term "dual purpose"; yet the scaling of the design and almost always its interior appointment contribute extreme functionalism. Tables of extraordinary length and height appear to support television, serve for informal snacks, and challenge the monopoly of the square table in corner arrangements. Cases are organized to file everything from ties, which may hang on racks placed within the door panel, to shirts. And carts willingly "disappear" snack tables, automatically solving storage problems.

Flexibility of furniture is a matter of several factors, note the editors of Retailing Daily. Most prominent contributor to flexibility is the coordinated collection, rich with varied facades, accent finishes; unique pieces — and a single design theme.

Carefully designed traditional pieces are abundantly available. And, while they look old, the proportions are new and very much in tune with today's living requirements. Emphasized styles are Italian Provincial, Bièze-maire and 18th Century French Provincial appear in more elegant form than previously. Comfortable Colonial styles are invading new areas including dual sleep and reclining chair lines.

Woman Of 1956 Stripped Of Mystery By Accumulated Government Statistics

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK — UP — The woman of 1956 will be surrounded by less mystery than any female in history.

Never have so many statistics been stacked up in a single year on supposedly unpredictable females as we accumulated in 1955. About the only thing statisticians haven't tried to forecast, is women's moods. And even this subject was touched on by one government study group in 1955. Women are jittery, the study group reported, and likely to remain jittery until they define their role in man's life and quit trying to be career women, mothers, civic leaders and glamour girls all at once.

A woman may not have the foggiest notion what she is going to be doing in the next 12 months, yet the facts show that:

If she is 20 years old she is likely to be a bride in 1956. Her bridegroom will be three years her senior, according to the law of averages.

Will Keep Working
This young bride will continue

Built-In Ranges Fit Size Of The Cook

You've heard of the short order cook, no doubt. But have you heard of the cook who was too short?

That's the woman who doesn't conform to the national statistical average and pays the penalty by having to use equipment that will never be the right height for her to cook in comfort.

It's also one of the reasons, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, for the tremendous growth in popularity of built-in gas range units since they can be placed at the level most convenient for the lady of the house.

The taller woman likes them, too, because she can have the oven placed at the proper height so she no longer has to squint down awkwardly to take a look at how the roast is doing.

There's an added safety factor to this oven-off-the-floor business, too: small children won't be able to reach it to experimentally open the door when something is cooking.

For the woman who is redecorating the kitchen, the units are ideal because they allow a flexibility in planning that was not possible before as well as reflect her personality to a greater degree, because the final arrangements will be just what she wants. And for those shopping for a new home, the built-in units provide the ultimate in kitchen luxury.

Death Sought For 2 Youths Charged In Assault Case

LOS ANGELES—UP— Authorities said Monday they will ask the death penalty for two teenage youths charged with raping and slaying a 29-year-old mother of four children.

Mrs. Doris Moulton, of Whittier, Calif., died in a hospital Sunday less than 24 hours after she was brutally beaten and raped by the suspects who were free on bail from a previous attack case, officers said.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Nazario Gonzales Jr., 18, of Whittier, Calif., and Jerry Garcia, 19, of Pico, Calif., shortly after the seriously injured woman was found on a lonely canyon road. They were booked on murder - kidnap charges within an hour after Mrs. Moulton, a bookkeeper for a construction firm, died.

Tells of Terror
The pretty mother told police the shocking account of the three hours of terror while she lay on her death bed at the hospital.

She said she attended a holiday office party Friday night in Whittier and was being driven home by a friend when they decided to stop the car on the Turnbull Canyon road to see the bright lights from the hills.

Her companion, Bertin R. Sariff, 29, a bakery salesman, said the

Frank Hague, Political Boss, Dies

NEW YORK—UP— Political boss Frank Hague, who started work with sixth grade education and a flare for politics and built a multi-million-dollar fortune and almost unlimited power, died Sunday night in his swank Park Avenue apartment.

Hague rose to his greatest political heights in the 1930's when, as mayor of Jersey City, he exerted tremendous influence on state and national politics. It was during this time that he coined the famous phrase "I am the law," which became synonymous with his name and was widely adopted as his nickname.

The Democratic powerhouse boss died some eight years after he retired as Jersey City mayor and one week to the day after his release from the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center hospital which he entered Oct. 6 suffering from bronchitis and arthritis.

Dr. Thomas J. White, Hague's physician, set the time of death at 5 p.m. He attributed death to a "gradual and steady failing with no major cause."

Hague's age was officially listed as 79 and some records show he was born Jan. 17, 1876. However, his family said he was born June 17, 1874, which would put his age at 81.

Funeral services will be conducted on Thursday at 10 a.m. at St. Aedan's Roman Catholic Church in Jersey City. Hague's parish church. The funeral arrangements include a requiem mass.

Hague died at perhaps the lowest ebb in his turbulent career. His health had been failing steadily since October. He had lost much esteem and almost all his political power in the state of New Jersey which he once dominated. And he was embroiled in a law suit in which he and other city officials are accused of exacting $15 million in tribute from Jersey City employees.

Ag Men Are On Guard For Nation

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31—UP— Among the guards who patrol the nation's borders are men with test tubes — Agriculture Department scientists ever alert to prevent the entry of diseased animal and plant life and destructive insects.

These guardians number about 500. They are veterinarians, entomologists, plant pathologists, and technically trained helpers. It is their job to catch, eradicate, or turn back foreign pests and diseases. They thus protect the health of all plant life in the United States.

The stowaway that escapes detection is an ever-present threat. The drama of such escapes often does not show up immediately. It may take weeks, months, or even years for a disease from a foreign country, a noxious crop-killing weed, or a voracious insect to get a strong foothold in this country.

The Agriculture Research Service, which guards the borders in co-operation with customs and immigration officials, is conscious of the threat. While it considers present inspection adequate for the times, it also knows times are changing, particularly as regards air transportation.

"Consider modes of travel," ARS says in its current periodical on research. "This is the air age. International travel and freightage are at a peak. A lot of this is by air. Even our livestock — 76 per cent of the poultry, 54 per cent of the horses, and one out of nine sheep, goats, hogs, and zoo animals — comes in by air."

"Ship dockings have doubled and international air flights have increased 17-fold since the war. One-third of those flights harbor unauthorized plant material that must be apprehended."

Quarantine inspectors have been on the job since 1884. Their work is governed in part by specific law and in part by regulations by the department of agriculture. They work at all major ports of entry.

FINALLY HAPPENS, MAN BITES DOG

CORTLAND, N. Y.—UP— The owner of an ill-tempered Pekinese returned home from a New Year's Eve party and was bitten on the leg by the dog.

He bit the dog on the nose and leg. "He's been snapping at me for weeks," the man told a physician. "I just wanted to get even."

BEWARE THE "COCO... DILE"—This anti-Communist poster in Paris, France, symbolizes the Soviet's "Geneva Spirit." The poster depicts Russian friendship as being armed with sharp teeth. That impression was given by statements of Russia's Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin on their Asian tour. In the French caption "The Smile of the Coco... dile Is Its Strongest Weapon," "Coco" is a play on the French nickname for Communists.

Compromise Highway Bill Being Sought

WASHINGTON—UP— The administration, under pressure from Republican congressional leaders, is seeking a compromise on its proposed highway construction program.

Republican sources said the search for a compromise has delayed plans to have highway legislation ready for presentation to Congress not long after its 1956 session opens Tuesday.

The compromise deals with financing plans for the program. While no final decisions have been made, officials said, the administration is trying to develop a program which would include remnants of its original bond-financing plan as well as higher taxes on highway users as proposed by House Democratic leaders.

Humphrey Wanted to Charge

According to GOP informants, this is what happened: Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey first told congressional leaders the administration was abandoning completely its controversial bond - financing plan and adopting the approach taken by House Democratic leaders.

The Democrats want the big highway program financed partly through higher taxes on gasoline, tires and such items.

This produced sharp protests from GOP congressional leaders. They argued it would amount to an admission that Democrats had been right all along. They said it would pull the rug out from under loyal Republicans who voted for the President's bond - financing plan when it was defeated in show-down votes in the House last year.

When Humphrey asserted that "I was wrong last year," congressional leaders replied that he was about to make a big political mistake which would allow Democrats to blame Republicans for the one-year delay in launching the big program.

As matters stand now, they said Republicans could pin blame on the Democratic - controlled Congress because it scuttled the President's program and failed to put through a substitute plan of its own.

Pampa Furniture Saves $$$ On Beautiful, Tough Carpets

COMBINED BEAUTY AND ECONOMY—Don Foster displays some of the carpets at Pampa Furniture Co., 120 W. Foster, 4-6633. The new department features beautiful, tough carpets at rock bottom prices. Like carpet installed with a 40-ounce pad from $6.95 a square yard! And the new miracle fiber carpet, Colorglo (it's fade proof — and stains, including ink, wash out without damage to the carpet) for only $9.95 a square yard! Here you find carpets by Alexander Smith, Beattie, Downs, Sanford, Firth, Waite and others. Inspect the Shadowai carpet which the factory cuts to fit your home! Shop, compare quality for quality and price for price—You'll buy at Pampa Furniture!

You have a standing invitation to save on carpeting at Pampa Furniture Co., 120 W. Foster, 4-6633, where quality is higher than price.

Shop — compare the quality and compare the price of carpeting. At Pampa Furniture wall-to-wall carpet, installed with 40-oz. pad is priced from $6.95 a square yard! Visit the carpet department in Pampa Furniture. Then count your savings.

Miracle Colorglo

Ask about the new miracle fiber carpet, Colorglo, the fade-proof carpet. You can wash all stains, including ink, from this carpet without damage to the carpet! Select this carpet in one of these beautiful colors: driftwood, light green, mint green, sandalwood, nutria, grey.

This carpet normally sells for $12.95 a square yard, but Pampa Furniture offers it to you for only $9.95 a square yard — including the installation with a 40 ounce pad! What a savings!

Complete Carpet Line

Pampa Furniture features carpet by Alexander Smith, Beattie, Downs, Sanford, Firth, Waite with axminster, velvet and wilton weaves. Materials include nylon, viscose, wool, and rayon.

Of course there's a tweed carpeting in all wool and in blended materials. Compare the quality and compare the price: from $7.95 to $11.95 a square yard installed!

Tough, Beautiful Shadowai

Inspect, compare Shadowai produced by Waite Carpet Co. in 48 decorator colors. Like all custom Waite carpets it is designed for decorator use. It is made to size and shape.

Shadowai is a combination of rayon and cotton yarns in soft, tufted texture. It is the contrast of these two yarns that gives Shadowai its rich high light-and-shadow surface.

Note the extremely close-packed tufting, locked in with heavy latex backing. It is this tufting that resists footprints and provides resilience and enduring wear. The latex backing also prevents slipping.

Tailored For Your Use

Measure your rooms or your house. Special shaped rugs can be cut at the mill in accordance with your dimensioned diagram. Or they can be done at the job since all cut edges are finished edges and no binding is required.

Shadowai comes in your choice of 48 decorator colors, or you may have the carpet dyed to exact shade you prefer. The lustre is inherent in the materials and the full natural bloom can be restored with proper cleaning.

The United States Testing Co. reports "Shadowai has good resistance to abrasive wear." The Waite Carpet Co. has made carpets using either rayon or cotton for 25 years, and it has found both are completely satisfactory.

All Furniture

The unique shadow and highlight texture of Shadowai shows soil less than a plain carpet.

Plan your home furnishings at Pampa Furniture: select from wide arrays of living room, bedroom, dining room suites; from the groups of pictures and mirrors, lamps, individual tables, chairs. Shop where quality is higher than price: Pampa Furniture Co., 120 W. Foster, 4-6633.

U.S. Jets Ordered

NEW YORK — UP — The Scandinavian Airlines system entered the aviation industry's race into the jet age Wednesday with a $50-million order for seven Douglas DC-8 airliners for delivery in 1960.

New Milk Flavors Forecast; Tests Show It Can Be Done

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK — UP — A week in Manhattan:

A forecast of new milk flavors came this week with the announcement that raspberry, strawberry, grape, cherry and coffee flavors can be successfully added to whole milk.

Strawberry flavored milk already is sold in Chicago and coffee-flavored milk is sold in Bridgeport, Conn. Both flavors are successful, the Borden Co. reports. But root beer-flavored milk, tried a few years ago, was a flop.

The University of Maryland predicted added flavors would be introduced in 1956, including orange, lemon and lime. Nutritionists hope the variety will induce teenagers to keep drinking their daily milk quotas.

Gift Exchanges Differ

A local men's store surveyed after-Christmas returns and found that men and women have different ideas about gift exchanging.

When men did their own gift exchanging, the Browning King store survey showed, they usually exchanged their gifts for entirely different items, even if it meant adding a few dollars to exchange a necktie for a shirt or a shirt for a sweater. One man brought back a sports jacket this week and traded it in on a new suit.

Women, the store reported, preferred to exchange a tie for a tie and a shirt for a shirt. They just picked different colors and sizes.

Less Copying Now

Women are getting less interested in keeping up with the Joneses when they decorate their homes, Melanie Kahane, an interior decorator who is famous for combining startling colors in attractive rooms, said when she was asked to review the home decorating future.

Miss Kahane thinks the home of the future will look more individual and less utilitarian.

"When you travel through the suburbs now you see fewer drum tables and lamps in bay windows than you used to," Miss Kahane said. "You also see fewer all-yellow or all-white kitchens. The kitchen may be pink and yellow or a combination of three colors."

Blue will be the home decorating color of the year '56, C. Eugene Stephenson, interior designer, predicted this week. Turquoise and a bright, clear shade Stephenson calls Bristol blue are two of the most popular shades. He suggests Bristol blue as an accent color in a room.

R. I. 4-H

KINGSTON, R. I. — UP — During the past year, some 3,000 4-H club members in Rhode Island completed over 9,000 projects. Kenneth L. Coombs state 4-H club leader at University of Rhode Island, said the figures tell only part of the story. He said 4-H boys and girls also participated in community programs and charitable drives.

Agitation Spreads

LIMA, Peru — UP — The anti-government agitation in Arequipa which forced the resignation of the cabinet Saturday spread Monday night to Lima, where a branch of the opposition student-labor front was formed at a mass meeting in the University of San Marcos.

Acme Mattress Plant Moved To 817 W. Foster, Pampa

THIS IS THE MODERN FELTING MACHINE used by Acme Mattress Co. at 817 W. Foster, 4-6621, to felt your cotton into soft layers, to clean completely your cotton and to add years of constant use to your mattress. C. H. Tollison, owner and operator of Acme Mattress, invites you to inspect his modern plant and to look over the mattresses of all sizes, rollaway beds, bedsprings and Hollywood sets on display there. Remember you save at Acme.

Mr. C. H. Tollison has moved his modern mattress factory to Pampa — to 817 W. Foster, phone 4-6621.

He also has moved his family and his skilled employees to Pampa with him.

Now he invites every one to come by to inspect his plant and his quality of mattresses which are available here in Pampa.

All Sizes

Acme produces over-size mattresses, box spring, foam rubber and felted mattresses in any size; plus quilting cotton. In all these products you get the benefit of Mr. Tollison's 23 years of experience. Why not call him to make your mattress at his reasonable price? Acme Mattress Co. is located in the building formerly occupied by the Pampa Mattress Co., at 817 W. Foster, 4-6621.

The modern, efficient Acme Mattress Co. has a pick up and delivery truck service to operate within a 100 miles radius of Pampa at no extra cost to you.

This firm features the latest patterns in tickings and carries a complete line of mattress units from 180 coil to and including a 312 coil mattress.

Visit the friendly personnel at Acme. You will be glad to meet these people, and they will make you welcome.

Rollaway Beds, Springs
Acme carries rollaway beds, bed springs and Hollywood sets. The firm also runs felt for the upholstery trade.

For quick service, call Acme, or if you don't live in Pampa, send Acme a card — 817 W. Foster.

Pampa. A representative will call on you without any obligation on your part. Give Acme a try.

Acme Features

Consider another Acme feature: this firm guarantees every mattress it sells, whether the mattress is a new one or a remake. And another feature: Acme can build your bed springs into a modern box spring mattress.

Another feature: in some cases you can save up to 50 per cent by having your mattress renovated instead of buying a new one. Acme has one-day service. Call today.

Modern machines in operation here include a felting machine, roll edge machine, renovating machine, tape edge machine, two sewing machines, cutting tables, sterilizer plus other necessary equipment to give you the best in mattress making.

Mr. Tollison also pointed out that he is passing on the savings from his low overhead to Acme patrons. Come in, visit Acme Mattress Co., 817 W. Foster, 4-6621.

Way Of World

How do you feel about the "way of the world"?

There are some who insist that man is incapable of discerning the difference between right and wrong. Others maintain that man is capable of determining, but is largely unwilling to do so because of "the way of the world."

Most individuals who stoutly persist in a search for truth are confronted repeatedly with an attitude on the part of others which is indicative that thinking should occur in this area. Every person who is motivated by a philosophic urge to understand the drives behind human behavior is faced with the necessity of deciding whether men are actually incapable of independent judgment or whether, being capable, some men deliberately practice intellectual dishonesty in an effort to evade the truth.

Albert J. Nock, the great author of "Our Enemy the State," said that he found no comfort in his dealings with people until he reached the conclusion that some men are incapable of knowing the difference between right and wrong. He classed them as "Neanderthal men," and refused to worry about them any longer. He preferred to concern himself with discussing the libertarian conviction with that remnant of humanity which was capable of arriving at an independent libertarian conclusion.

While we have sympathy for Mr. Nock's point of view, and indeed might be inclined to share his rather uncomfortable delirium, we find that we cannot go along with the analysis unless we can suppose that those whom Nock called "Neanderthal men" were just that as a result of their own desires.

In short, we lean toward the belief that man is perfectly capable of knowing the difference between right and wrong, but because of the "way of the world" sometimes concludes that he should not stand out from the herd and do what is right. Rather, that he should conform to whatever mediocrity, even though, by so doing, he goes against his own conscience.

We recall a discussion we had recently with a party regarding government schools. Having carefully outlined the reasons we cannot morally accept the premise that some persons should be allowed to extract money from other persons by aggressive force so that schools of their choice could be paid for, our disputant stated: "Of course, if you want me to be honest, I must admit that this practice is wrong. However, it is the way of the world. And I don't think you or anybody else can change it." This was supposed to settle the argument.

Our friend in this discussion was at least willing to follow the trend of the discussion intellectually. And when cornered was willing enough to admit the validity and consistency of our point of view. His refuge was to invoke the alleged "way of the world" as the perfectly sound reason why he could not support our position. Nock might have classed him as a "Neanderthal."

Our own tendency was to believe that if he were of cave man intellect, at least he functioned at that level through his own personal choice. He could have seen our logic and subscribed to it. Instead he appeared to see it, admitted it was real, but fell back on the fallacy that because the immoral practice of aggressive force coupled with education is widespread, that it is the way of the world and we might just as well make the best of it.

This is the tendency among humans, which, perhaps more than any other trait, holds back progress. But we should be reminded that there were many beliefs and practices in the past which were as thoroughly entrenched as today's acceptance of government schools. Yet, those beliefs and practices are no more.

It was generally accepted once that Ishar and her groves were the proper guardians of young girls. It was conceded that living sacrifices were correct procedure for securing the good wishes of the gods. It was understood that a trip westward across the ocean would drop a vessel into space. And it wasn't long ago that belief in witchcraft drove solid citizens to burn their contemporaries. Certainly it was common knowledge once that a ship made of iron would not float; that a vehicle heavier than air would not fly, and that it was inconceivable that man would be able to make himself heard over long distances by means of wires.

If there is a single burning requirement in this world it is the requirement for men and women who have the ability and capacity to follow a logical presentation to stand by the results of their logic despite the "way of the world." Truth is mighty and will prevail despite the setbacks given to it by those who prefer public approval.

How do you feel about the way of the world?

I do not believe Soviet diplomats have any right to interfere in the internal affairs of the United States. I do not believe Fascist diplomats had that right and I do not believe Arab diplomats have it. The recent attempts by the ambassadors from Syria and Iraq to arouse Nazi-type racial antagonism in this country should receive reprimands from the State Department as violations of the Constitution that cannot be justified by "diplomatic immunity."

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Report On Unesco's Economics

Very few people have ever read the United Nations Charter. Most people believe the United Nations and UNESCO were formed for the purpose of promoting peace. The UN's method of promoting peace is redistributing the wealth. Its promoters contend we can't have peace if we have some rich and some poor.

Articles 55 and 56 really are the heart of the United Nations and UNESCO.

Articles 55 reads: "With a view to the creation of conditions of stability and well-being which are necessary for peaceful and friendly relations among nations based on respect for the principle of equal rights and self-determination of peoples, the United Nations shall promote: a. higher standards of living, full employment, and conditions of economic and social progress and development; b. solutions of international economic, social, health, and related problems; and international cultural and educational cooperation; and c. Universal respect for, and observance of, human rights and fundamental freedoms for all without distinction as to race, sex, language, or religion."

Notice the word "shall" in the above. This means must. It is mandatory not permissive. It is pure socialism.

Article 56 reads: "All Members pledge themselves to take joint and separate action in cooperation with the Organization for the achievement of the purposes set forth in Article 55."

These two articles mean a form of socialism. They mean the welfare state. They mean that rich nations must support the poor nations. The present administration wants to increase the support of foreign nations by $1 billion to bring it up to about $5 billion.

In the last issue I was quoting what Robert S. Byrd had to say about a book, "Economics and Action," he found in the library of the General Assembly Building of the United Nations. He quotes from page 131, "Economics and Action," as follows:

"I have no intention of writing a conventional book review of 'Economics and Action.' It is not a sufficiently important work to warrant attention per se, being poorly organized and showing sloppy methodology."

"It's Official"

"Economics and Action" does not alarm me merely because it offers controversial economic or political views. It alarms me because it shows a strong, pro-collectivist bias. Books, pamphlets, and other publications with one or both of these characteristics are constantly being published. Our concept of freedom rightly provides for this sort of thing. However, "Economics and Action" is not just another book. It is an official United Nations release carrying with it the immense prestige of that organization.

"Specifically, 'Economics and Action' was published by Columbia University Press for UNESCO, carrying the imprimatur of the latter without any disclaimer clauses. It is, moreover, the first in a UNESCO series entitled 'Science and Society' which was authorized under the 1953-54 program and budget of UNESCO and is designed to show the public and particularly secondary school teachers and those concerned with adult education how the social sciences can solve great social problems. In a foreword to 'Economics and Action' it is further stated that this volume will be followed by a study devoted to social psychology and other subjects. Thus it is clear that the UNESCO series will affect the American educational system."

"Oddly enough, while UNESCO publications are under United Nations sponsorship and are officially offered for sale by UNESCO distributors in 72 countries including the United States, neither the U. S. Mission to the U. N. nor the Secretary General of the United Nations have any jurisdiction over UNESCO. The head office of UNESCO is in Paris where it has its own Secretariat, Executive Board and a General Conference which meets every two years. Its present Director-General happens to be an American, Dr. Luther H. Evans. However, organizationally speaking, UNESCO seems to be floating off in space. True, the United States has a representative to UNESCO, Dr. Athelstan Spilhaus, whose contact with our government runs through an Assistant Secretary of State. But the relationship of UNESCO to the United Nations appears to be like that of the Ford Foundation to the Ford Foundation."

"Of course, the United States Congress appropriates money to help support UNESCO. Congress presumably concerns itself or should concern itself with the question of whether U. S. public funds should be used to publish books in favor of socialism. Congress might reasonably inquire of UNESCO if it proposes now to publish a volume which is pro-free enterprise and a market economy, as a sort of counterweight to 'Economics and Action.' Our Leftists would, if true to form, argue that 'no strings should be attached' to any Congressional appropriation and that any admonition to UNESCO would violate 'academic freedom.'"

"It seems that unless the American taxpayer bestir himself about the type of problem raised by UNESCO's publication of 'Economics and Action,' he might as well resign himself to playing the role of 'you pay; then you better pray!'"

Dems, G.O.P. Alike Wonder If Eisenhower To Run

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Congressmen, Republicans and Democrats arriving for the new session of Congress are obsessed with a single political question. Assembling for the first time since President Eisenhower's heart attack, they ask: Will he run again, and who will be the GOP's Presidential and Vice Presidential nominees otherwise? All admit that the answer may determine whether the Republicans will remain in power for another term. Or whether the Democrats may make a surprise comeback next fall.

It also decides the political fate and future of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, now mentioned most frequently as the "White House politician's" "favorite son," if Ike declines to run again.

In discussing this problem, the Republican leaders and their Democratic opponents have a great deal in common. Both are deeply interested in the apparent attempt of the so-called "Republican regency" to seize control of the GOP machinery and convention.

Dewey associates are generally regarded as the dominant figures in this faction — the former governor himself, National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, Attorney General Herbert G. Brownell, Secretary James C. Hagerty, Harold E. Stassen, and Sherman Adams, White House chief of staff.

Headed by Senator William F. Knowland of California, who is no friend of Nixon, a group of anti-Dewey Republicans resent this reputed effort to delay Ike's decision in order, so they charge, that they may block off all possible rivals for the nomination, if Ike is not available.

They insist upon more frankness and honesty in White House circles, although they do not include Ike in their indictment. They think that he will base his ultimate decision on medical rather than political factors. They do not, however, attribute this same lack of guile to the men around him.

Stassen, for instance, insists that Eisenhower need make no announcement until June, less than two months before the convention. Knowland says that he will enter the race, if there is no White House announcement.

West German Fined, Fired For An Illegal Phone Call

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There is a fascinating irony in the case of Gerhard Haschke, apparently a typical bureaucrat in the traitorous Communist government of Dresden, East Germany, who was canned forthwith and fined a little over half a year's pay for making a personal telephone call on a pretext of arranging to get potatoes for the watchdog at another government office.

The watchdog had official status. Haschke's father, the other party to call, was a petty employee of a government financial office. However, they did not confine their discussion to the potatoes for the government hound but prattled about family matters for a total of 14 minutes, including an interruption of about four minutes caused by noise in the Finance Office where building repairs were under way.

This serious case is reported with great severity in the records of both the Labor Court Dresden and the Court of Appeals. It was dug out and exploited by the Bonn, anti-Communist government as a horrible example of the ruthless attitude of the German Reds under Soviet control. But, although they knocked the poor schmuck's brains out, the Reds only did as many Americans would have liked to do to Henry Morgenthau, for example, and Eleanor and Anna Roosevelt, Harry Hopkins and other princes and princesses of privilege in the Long Regime. Or to thousands of petty parasites in state, county and municipal administrations all over the country.

Morgenthau, in time of gasoline rationing and labor shortage often flew from Washington to his home near Roosevelt's Barony at Hyde Park in Coast Guard planes manned by Coast Guard officers with Secret Service cars stationed at intervals on the ground to fetch him in case of a forced landing and put down at a field built especially for him by the taxpayers. One day, after the war, Mrs. Wendell Wilkie and Sam Pryor, of Pan American Airways, made an emergency landing on this strip and were formally pinched for their impudence.

The Empress Eleanor of course used a big military ship to fly out to Guadalupe, after the marines had made it safe, to visit her friend, Joe Lash. Anna had a blue jacket bumped off a service ship to make room for her brother Eliot's main-casting mull, Blaise. And Harry Hopkins used to call Santa Anita and other horse-parks around the country at will and at public expense on White House phones to talk about the steeds and place his bets. There were "priorities" on long distance those days but they did not apply to White House phones.

Gerhard Haschke was a clerk in Dresden City Hall when the local government published a solemn warning on the anti-Democratic nature of private calls on government wires, which had the effect of frustrating the Communist dream of the future. Haschke admittedly knew the contents of this document but nevertheless wasted 14 minutes of precious time on the wire, in the switchboards and in the two instruments, his own and his father's.

On that fateful day, Aug. 3, 1950, Haschke, Sr., got the operator at his bureau to phone his son's office and leave a message reminding Gerhard to drop in and get from one Keller, the voucher for potatoes for the watchdog. Gerhard was away from his desk, but another clerk took the message and left it for him.

That should have been enough for this cynical saboteur. But was it? No. Ein thousand times nein!

All Gerhard had to do was to get the potato-voucher from Keller. But instead, with the most callous indifference to the welfare of the Democratic Republic of Free Communist Germany, Haschke phoned his old man back and they talked about "All kinds of family affairs." He did this knowing that "When employees have conversations like this, citizens who call the city administration must wait unnecessarily, let alone the reports which must be given at fixed times via the city lines."

"Having been schooled in internal office work, he must have known that the clerks misuse city telephones to much endanger our great economic plans and thus the entire build-up of our new, anti-Fascist Democratic order," the Court of Appeals wrote. "Employees acting like this sabotage the basic planning-law regulating the entire life of the German people within the Democratic Republic and thus against the life-interests of their own people. In this light the action of the accused is a breach of duty hardly to be surpassed."

Haschke, Jr., first appealed to the Labor Court, which relieved the punishment to the extent of giving him three months' notice of dismissal. However, the second appeal to the Higher Court and the learned judges there threw the book at him. They revoked this thirty so that Haschke was given the rous at once and they confirmed the fine and assessment of all costs, about 1700 marks in all. This was half a year's pay, which was subject, of course, to deductions for taxes and other costs of citizenship in the anti-Fascist Democratic order.

Bulganan, Khrushchev Might Get Las Vegas Hotel Bids

By HENRY McLEMORE

I am doing my best to track down a person who has been in Las Vegas night club has high hopes of booking Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev for a two-week stand later in the winter.

Las Vegas talent scouts became interested, I understand, when they read that the Soviet song and dance team had broken all attendance records on its recent tour of India, with the SRO signs out from being going to end.

One hotel owner is said to have offered the Soviet Premier and the Communist Party boss an even more staggering sum than Liberace, got, and promised to add Russian roulette to his casino's games of chance as a further inducement.

A rival owner, it is reported, has guaranteed Nikolai and Nikita twice as much as was paid Noel Coward; and, in addition, will add sour cream and caviar to his early morning chuck wagon breakfast menu.

The rumor is that the Soviet entertainers would like to play Las Vegas, but will have to hear from Mr. Anthony Eden before they can make a definite commitment. Bulganin and Khrushchev have a winter booking in England that calls for appearance at No. 10 Downing Street and Buckingham Palace, but promoter Eden is said to be thinking of cancelling the contract.

Eden appears to feel that the English, with their fondness for rather subtle and off-beat humor, might not exactly roll in the aisles at the slapstick routine of the Soviets. It is on the slapstick side, no doubt about that.

One of their funniest bits is provided by Khrushchev when, loaded to his third chin with vodka, he does an olio while Bulganin is changing into a feathered suit for their spectacular Dove of Peace number. The Dove of Peace tableau closes the first half of their act and is nothing short of sensational.

The dove of peace, made from old copies of the Daily Worker and Pravda, flutters down and perches on the Party Line. The dove of peace leans down hungrily and Bulganin and Khrushchev feed him lavishly of scraps marked Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Poland.

"Aren't we nice fellows?" asks Bulganin. "See how we feed the dove of peace and keep him happy."

The Soviet funsters then sing their hit song: "Our bomb is the best bomb, because we don't mind dropping it first."

Bulganin opens the second half of the show with readings after the manner of Charles Laughton; He reads portions of "Little Women" against a backdrop of elderly women working on street repairs in Moscow; he does a page or two of "Black Beauty," a bit of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," and closes with Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. This breaks him down completely and he has to have six slugs of vodka before he can make it offstage.

For a running gag, Malenkov and Stalin's son, the latter still wearing the uniform of an air marshal that was his when his dad was alive, occasionally stroll aimlessly across the stage, muttering, "Where are we?"

Bulganin and Khrushchev always chuckle, wink at one another, and answer: "You're dead, but you just don't know it."

The act lasts for months and months and keeps getting funnier and funnier.

SUBSTITUTES IN

The Wichita Falls Coyote shown shooting is Bob Myers, 6'-4" center. The action was part of the Saturday night Championship game of the Third Annual Top O' Texas cage tournament between the Harvesters and the Coyotes. The shot was no good and the Harvesters won 60-48. The other Coyote shown is Doyle Smith (60). The Harvesters are all substitutes and are Jimmie Enloe, (31), Jerald Clark, (34), and Jerry Pope, (41).

Harvesters Set For Dumas Till Tomorrow Nite

The Pampa Harvesters, who won their third straight Top O' Texas Basketball Tournament championship Saturday night, will not have long to rest after the fast action against the Wichita Falls and Ada, Oklahoma, hardwood fives.

The Green and Golders will be going against the Dumas Demons and Phillips Blackhaws here Jan. 3 and 7.

Coach Clifton McNeely's cagers will be host to the Dumas Demons tomorrow night for their first meeting this season. The Demons' hardwood team is always good as is their gridiron machine.

They should give the home-town scrappers a good game.

The Harvesters, who after winning their tournament Saturday night, will be meeting the Dumas second stringers in a game scheduled to start at 8:30.

Coach Terry Culley has a 9-4 record to date and will be working for their 10th win.

The Harvesters-Demon contest is set for 8 p.m. and the coaches of both teams are requesting that the local fans come on out and get behind the boys.

To date the crowds have been small compared to previous seasons.

The Phillips five is scheduled to be in Harvesters Field house Saturday night for their second game of the season. The Green and Golders defeated the Blackhaws in the Phillips gym in a 79-64 thriller with the Harvesters going ahead 41-27 in the first half and Hawks cutting their lead to nine points early in the third frame.

The Harvesters will have a home and home series with the Chidre cagers and then open their district play on January 20 with Lubbock Westerners on the local court.

Big State Cagers Set For Action After Holiday Rest

By UNITED PRESS

All Big State Conference basketball teams see action this week for the first time since the middle of December.

Three teams cut short their holiday last week to take part in tournaments and two of them—East Texas Baptist and St. Mary's—won third place awards.

East Texas Baptist, which leads the conference with a 1-0 record, downed Lamar Tech 69 to 59 in the third-place contest in the McNeese College tournament at Lake Charles, La. The Tigers had been beaten 72 to 64 by S. F. Austin in the opening round.

St. Mary's Comes Back

St. Mary's, which suffered a 93 to 52 whipping by Texas A&I in the opening round of the Texas Lutheran tournament at Seguin, came back in the consolation game to down host Texas Lutheran 53 to 63.

Texas Wesleyan lost both of its games in the Dallas Elks Club event. Midwestern trounced the Rams 82 to 66 and Austin College edged them 77 to 70.

Only one conference game is scheduled this week. Texas Wesleyan, the defending champion, makes its first league start of the season Friday night by entertain-

Fraley Takes One Last Look At Sports Of '55

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK—UP—The excitement at times gets tough on an aging ticker but, taking one last look back at the sporting thrills of 1955, you know you wouldn't want it any other way.

Usually they start off slow, and rather indigestibly, on the rubber chicken circuit. There was, to tee off, the baseball and golf dinners and the Willie Mays affair at Rochester.

You suffered gladly through the "cold" low 75's in Florida, golfing with Pete de Paolo, taking in the MARVELING at Nashua's power, as he ran off with the Belmont Stakes and then to Indianapolis for a wide-eyed week in the pits and the horror as Bill Vukovich caught it in the big race.

Still not understanding why Sam Snead never won the open as he breezed away from a select field to wait home in the Palm Beach round robin. A training camp in the Jersey hills as Archie Moore extolled his Australian weight-reducing system, and the Polo Grounds on a black velvet night as Moore clobbered Bobo Olson.

Steaming Detroit and the PGA, baby-sitting with Mrs. Doug Ford as Papa hit the jackpot and consoling Cary Middlecoff, one of the best. A visit to Frank Stranahan's folks in Toledo and being mastered by Water Skis on Lake Erie.

Amazed at Australia's rout of the United States in the Davis Cup challenge round at Forest Hills, and pulling for Tony Trabert and Doris Hart as they won the U.S. championships.

The World Series, torn by friendships on both sides. Yet almost delighted to write it as the Dodgers cracked through, leaving their memories of Johnny Podres' pitching, Duke Snider's home run hitting and Sandy Amoros' brilliant catch.

Baltimore and the Laurel International, hardly knowing El Chama was in the field until he won. Football, with blazing fall colors at West Point. The Army-Navy game giving you the same old kick and then watching Tony Trabert's debut.

A good one to go with the rest. And you can only hope you've got another order of the same coming up.

Holiday Tourneys End; District Warfare Begins

Football Classics Seen By 370,000

By FRED DOWN

United Press Sports Writer

An estimated 370,000 fans, in addition to a vast radio-TV audience, were expected at seven stadiums Monday when college football wraps up 1955's unfinished business with the annual bowl extravaganzas.

The top crowd of 100,000 was expected at Pasadena, Calif., where Michigan State opposed UCLA in the Rose Bowl but the top game is anticipated at Miami, Fla., where the nation's only unbeaten and untied major colleges—Oklahoma and Maryland—meet in a head-on collision.

Adding spice to the official New Year's Day menu are the Sugar Bowl clash between Pittsburgh and Georgia Tech at New Orleans and the Cotton Bowl meeting between Texas Christian and Mississippi at Dallas. In addition, there are three minor bowls—the Sun at El Paso, the Tangerine at Orlando, Fla., and the Prairie View at Houston, each of which will dwarf from 10,000 to 15,000 spectators to the scene.

It can't miss being a big day for the armchair strategist, who'll be able to take their pick from among the Rose, Sugar, Cotton and Orange Bowl competitors merely by spinning their TV dials.

Spartans are Favored

At Pasadena, Michigan State ruled a touchdown pick over UCLA, to give the Big Ten conference its ninth victory in 10 meetings with Pacific Coast League Rose Bowl representatives. The Spartans, featuring one of the most diversified attacks in college football, defeated UCLA 28 to 20 in the 1954 game. But followers of the Bruins insist this is "our year."

At Miami, Oklahoma puts its No. 1 national ranking and 29-game winning streak on the line against a Maryland team which was rated No. 3 in the country. The Sooners feature swift backs led by Tommy McDonald while Maryland's built around a 210-pound line backed up by All-American center Bob Pelletier.

World's Top Hurdler Gets Sullivan Memorial Trophy

NEW YORK—UP—Harrison Dillard, the world's No. 1 hurdler for nearly a decade, has been named 1955 winner of the James E. Sullivan memorial trophy, the nation's top award for amateur athletes.

The National AAU announced Dillard's selection Sunday. It presents the trophy annually to "the amateur athlete, who, by performance, example and good influence, did most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship during the year."

The 32-year-old Cleveland resident was the first choice on 173 of the 658 ballots cast in a nationwide poll of sports authorities. On a 5-3-1 tally of first, second and third place points, Dillard collected 1,735.

Patricia Keller McCormick, Olympic diving champion from Los Angeles, was runner-up for the third consecutive year with 144 first-place votes and 1,264 points. Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy, Ohio State's all-America halfback, finished third with 154 first place votes and 1,058 points.

Dillard, a two-time Olympic champion, also has won 14 national high and low hurdles titles, indoors and out. An accomplished public speaker and goodwill ambassador for the State Department, he also is a member of Cleveland's boxing commission and the Cleveland Indian public relations staff.

Dillard is the second Negro to win the trophy since it first was given to golf star Bobby Jones in 1930. Mal Whitfield, two-time Olympic 800-meter champion who won the award in 1954, was the first Negro to receive it.

Two more of those glittering holiday basketball tournaments remain to be decided, but the emphasis in the college court sport switches Monday night away from such carnivals to the more serious business of conference warfare.

The Big Ten, Missouri Valley, Southeastern and Atlantic Coast conferences all have important league games scheduled Monday night.

The tourney merry-go-round, which has been spinning for three weeks, grinds to a halt with the final round of the Queen City tournament at Buffalo, N. Y., Monday night, with Xavier of Ohio vs. Georgia Tech, and the two-day senior bowl at Mobile, Ala., starting Wednesday. So far, 45 teams have won tourney titles.

Final-round victories on Saturday night added North Carolina State and Evansville to the long list of major tournament champions.

Wolfpack Is Impressive

N.C. State, ranked No. 3 nationally by the United Press board of coaches, proved one of the most impressive winners of the entire Christmas season as it crushed arch-rival North Carolina, the No. 4 team, 82 to 60 in the final round of the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C. Even State Coach Everett Case admitted he "had no idea" his Wolfpack would win so easily.

North Carolina, sensation of the tourney's early rounds and spoiling for a win over Case's team, simply never was in the game and suffered its first loss in eight games.

Evansville gained stature with a win in the much-weaker All-American City tournament at Owensboro, Ky., whipping Washington and Lee 84 to 69 in the final round as Bob Walker notched 20 points.

Big Ten Starts

Xavier gained the final round of the Queen City tourney with a 95 to 86 triumph over St. Bonaventure, although Brendan McCann of the Bonnies had 21 points. Georgia Tech scored an 86 to 82 semi-final win over defending champion Canisius after nearly blowing a 14-point lead.

Air Force Wins

Over Army In

Rice Bowl Game

TOKYO, Japan, Dec. 31—UP—The running of halfback George Rice and the passing of Dick Healy fired the Air Force All-Stars football team to a 33-14 victory over the Army All-Stars Saturday in the Rice Bowl game.

Rice, formerly of the University of Iowa, romped 95 and 98 yards for touchdowns, while Healy, an ex-Oklahoma quarterback, passed for one touchdown and plunged over for another score.

A holiday crowd of 30,000 at Meiji Stadium watched the Air Force win the U. S. Far East inter-service championship for the second straight year.

After a scoreless first period, Healy gave the Air Force its first touchdown on a two-yard plunge early in the second period. Rice then made it 12-0 when he caught a punt on his own five-yard line, and eluded the entire Army team to score standing up.

End Wayne Johnson, formerly of Oregon University, caught a nine-yard scoring pass from Healy early in the third period and scored again minutes later when he ran 10 yards with an intercepted pass.

Legislation For Farmers To Be Urgent For Congress

By RAYMOND LAHR • He said Republicans agree there is need for early action on the farm problem.

WASHINGTON — UP—Legislation to prove the economic plight of farmers will be handled on an urgent basis in the second session of Congress, emphasized that he concedes Tuesday.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, a key figure in guiding the Democratic-controlled Congress, emphasized that he considers falling farm income "the No. 1 trouble spot" in the country.

cause 1956 is an election year.

Martin Foresees "problems" House Republican leader Joseph M. Martin Jr., another early arrival, conceded there will be "difficult problems" for him and other GOP leaders in the coming session because their party is in a minority position. He said, however, the session will "not (be) as stormy as some people think."

But a United Press survey shows that Democratic congressional investigators are planning a series of election-year inquiries that may reach record proportions. Many are aimed directly at the Eisenhower administration.

Congress last year voted a whopping $5 million for investigations in the new session of Congress. Their scope may top the 1-951-92 record when the House alone spent $3 million looking into, among other things, the Truman administration tax and Justice Department "scandals."

At least three House subcommittees already are investigating military buying policies, and two others are looking into GOP power policies.

House Groups Investigating Three house groups are investigating "dollar-a-year" men, businessmen who serve as government advisors without pay. Two senate subcommittees are checking into the administration's loyalty - security program.

A new investigation by a Senate group opens Wednesday into the ouster of Civil Aeronautics Administrator Frederick B. Lee. And Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) has said he will continue investigating the Dixon-Yates power contract even though President Eisenhower has cancelled the contract.

Besides the farm program, full-scale political fights will be waged in the new congressional session over foreign aid, taxes, federal aid for school construction and highways and a House-approved measure to exempt natural gas producers from the late - fixing jurisdiction of the federal power commission.

The natural gas bill is one of the first expected to reach the Senate floor. Johnson has included it in his 13-point program of legislative "musts."

Pact in Effect

TOKYO — UP—An atom-for-peace agreement between the United States and Japan went into effect Tuesday with the exchange of notes in Washington, the Japanese foreign office announced.
