Skyjacker Demands $300,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — An armed man claiming to carry a briefcase full of explosives hijacked an Eastern Air Lines jet with 56 persons aboard today and demanded $300,000 ransom. Officials assembled money and escape gear for delivery to the big three-jet Boeing 727 waiting on a runway at Dulles International Airport near here.

The Federal Aviation Administration said passengers were still being held aboard while the plane was refueled.

The hijacker warned he would shoot if his detailed instructions were not followed exactly, the FAA said.

Eastern's flight 175 from Allentown, Pa., was commandeered by the man shortly after its 10 a.m. departure. It landed at Dulles 80 minutes later. Dulles is in Virginia, about 20 miles west of Washington.

The man carried a gun and claimed he had explosives in a briefcase, the FAA said.

He demanded six parachutes, two jump suits, two crash helmets, cigarettes, enough food and drink to last until midnight and two bush knives.

Precinct Chairmen Due To Be Named

Saturday, voters in each of the 22 voting precincts or voting boxes for both Democrats and Republicans will be asked to select a precinct chairman to represent voters on the county party executive committees.

All Republican precinct chairmen will be elected by write-in votes. No candidates have filed for the chairmanships. According to W. J. (Bill) Sheppard, current county Republican chairman, the county chairman will also be selected by write-in ballot.

Only seven men have filed formally for precinct chairman in the county Democratic party, and the remaining 16 chairmen will be selected by write-in ballots.

Unopposed candidates are Raford L. Dunagan, box 2; John J. Roemer Sr., box 3; Lloyd Thomas, box 4; L. R. Munt, box 8; Floyd Young, box 16; M. H. Boatler, box 19; and Halvard T. Hansen, box 22.

Lee Porter and Cecil V. Riordan are contesting for the county chairmanship of the Democratic party. D. A. (Dave) Brazel is currently serving as county chairman.

ELECTION TEMPO REACHES CRESCENDO

He's 'Trying To Buy' Votes?

By The Associated Press

Democratic gubernatorial contender Frances Farenthold has charged that Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes "insulted all the citizens of this state" and accused Uvalde banker Dolph Briscoe of "trying to buy" votes.

Gov. Preston Smith made another statewide television speech Thursday night, Barnes called for new leadership and Briscoe denounced "machine politics" as Saturday's primary election battle draws near.

Smith, during his television appearance, said he sees no need for new taxes in the June special session. He pledged to veto a tax bill if one is passed.

"We got such good response from that speech and it covered the main elements of the campaign, so we just decided to reemphasize it by running it again," said a Smith spokesman.

CHALLENGES

Barnes told a Beaumont news conference that only dynamic new leadership could lift Texas to its rightful place among all the states. "The type of caretake government we have had for the past four years cannot meet the challenges of the 1970s nor can a voice from the 1940s and 50s make itself heard with the problems facing our state today," Barnes said.

Barnes told a crowd at the Jefferson County airport that his campaign had peaked at exactly the right time and predicted he would lead the ticket on Saturday night.

Mrs. Farenthold, campaigning Thursday night in San Antonio, took dead aim at Briscoe and Barnes.

While in a largely Mexican-American neighborhood, she claimed Barnes "insulted" Mexican-Americans and all Texans by participating in a 1966 confrontation at which Barnes appeared with then-Gov. John Connally to stop Mexican American workers marching on the state capital for a minimum wage law.

PRIVATE EYES

She accused Briscoe of trying to "buy the voters of this state with paid workers."

Dave Reagan, Republican candidate for governor, told a news conference in Austin that the GOP race had "degenerated into what I would call character assassination." He claimed staff members for Al Fay, another GOP candidate, hired private detectives to look into Reagan's personal life and had fed information to Sen. Henry Grover, another GOP candidate for governor. Reagan called Grover "Fay's hatchetman."

Grover said in Houston, "I definitely feel that this time Republicans sense a real opportunity to elect a Republican governor and the reports I have had over the state bolsters my feeling that our party is going to elect the man with a proven conservative voting record."

Tom McElroy, Republican candidate for governor, also urged all voters to go to the polls Saturday "and put your mark where your mind is. I pledge that I will consider every vote for Republican Tom McElroy for governor as a contract between myself and that voter to devote all my experience and energies toward the speedy clean-up of Texas government."

Briscoe, Democratic candidate for governor, said a 15-hour swing Thursday through Houston and Harris county gave him renewed conidence. "We just may be able to win this election without a runoff," he said.

Briscoe said he was proud of the fact that his campaign force is composed mostly of volunteers. "I wouldn't have it any other way. Machine politics must come to an end in Texas if we are to make a change for the better, and that is what my campaign is all about."

Ralph Yarborough, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, said in Austin Thursday that a survey of more than 8,000 students in 14 Texas colleges showed him favored by almost 63 per cent of those polled. "Every day we are putting our beliefs and approaches to problems squarely on the line to students and all other Texas voters, and they are responding with approval and enthusiasm," he said.

Barefoot Sanders, Democratic candidate for Senate, said in Dallas that voters have a clear choice "to vote for a man of the past or a man who supports reform through new leadership . . . Texas voters are tired of Mr. Yarborough, tired of the ways and days of the old style politician."

Sen. Wayne Connally announced Thursday he would wind up his campaign for lieutenant governor with a 30-minute live television program Friday night in San Antonio (WOAI). He said he chose San Antonio because of his ties with that city, where he lived as a boy and attended public school. Bexar county was part of his state senatorial district for six years.

In other developments:

—The Del Rio News-Herald endorsed Briscoe, commenting that Texans are "looking for someone to clean up the political environment which is polluted by the sickening stench of what has been going on in the statehouse."

Policeman Dies; Man Is Charged

A fight in a west side bar late Thursday left one man dead and another charged with his murder.

Tom Peralis Ramero, 29, a Colorado City policeman for about a year, died early this morning of as yet undetermined causes. He had been shot in the leg and foot with a .22 caliber pistol, and hit on the head with a blunt instrument. The pistol is still missing.

Calvin Lee Camp, 50, was charged this morning in Peace Justice Jess Slaughter's court with Ramero's murder.

Ramero was taken to Hall-Bennett Hospital by ambulance at 11:13 p.m. and died at 3:10 a.m. An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of death.

Ramero apparently entered Kay's Bar, 2705 W. Hwy. 80, and was involved in a fight, either as a participant or was trying to break it up.

"The witesses don't agree on what happened," said Detective Jim McCain, the investigating detective, "but when we got there Ramero told me that he was breaking up a fight."

"We still don't know what or who started the fight or who was involved," said McCain. "This will probably be a lengthy investigation."

Services are pending at Bell-Seale Funeral Home in Snyder. Local arrangements are under the direction of River-Welch Funeral Home.

Survivors include his wife, Stella, two sons and a daughter.

Coast Suspect Nabbed Here

A trip from California police led local officers to Michael Leonard Suetta, wanted in California for the alleged murder of his two-year-old son.

California police were tipped that Suetta had wired for money and would pick it up here. They informed Big Spring police, and the arrest was made at a local bus station Thursday.

According to California police, the Suetta boy was brought to a hospital by Suetta, who said the child was having difficulty breathing. Doctors declared him dead on arrival, and an autopsy showed the boy had died of a blow to the head with a blunt instrument.

Suetta was accompanied by a 15-year old girl, who is being held by Keith Jones, juvenile officer, as a runaway.

Detectives R. H. Cooley, Claude Morris and Capt. Jack Jones made the arrest. No trouble was experienced picking up the murder suspect.

Most Local Candidates Are Running Unopposed

By LINDA CROSS

Only two local races will be contested in Saturday's party primary, and both will be the Democratic party primary.

Walter Grice, incumbent, is challenged by L. A. (Red) Hiltbrunner in his bid for re-election as justice of the peace, precinct 1, place 1.

Former County Judge Lee Porter and Cecil V. Riordan, chairman, are vying for the former county Democratic chairman, are vying for the county Demo chairmanship.

All other county Democratic candidates are unopposed in the primary, and with the exception of George Zachariah, all will be unopposed in the November general election.

CROOKER CHALLENGED

Zachariah is challenging Republic Bill Crooker, incumbent, for his slot as Howard County Commissioner of Precinct 3.

Candidates for county office are W. H. Eyssen, incumbent, county attorney; A. N. Standard, incumbent, county sheriff; Simon (Cy) Terrazas, incumbent, county commissioner of precinct 1; and Zirah L. Bednar, incumbent, tax assessor-collector.

Unopposed in his bid for the office of 118th District Attorney is Robert H. Moore III. Incumbent Wayne Burns announced earlier this year his intention not to seek re-election. unopposed in the primary for state district offices are Jack Hightower, incumbent state senator, District 30; Renal Rosson, incumbent state representative, District 63; James M. Binion, state board of education, District 17; and Raleigh Brown, State Court of Civil Appeals, 11th Supreme Judicial District.

Republican candidates for state district offices are John R. "Rich" Anderson, state representative, 63rd District; and James C. Rominger, state board of education.

ON BOTH BALLOTS

Busing referendums appear on both party primary ballots.

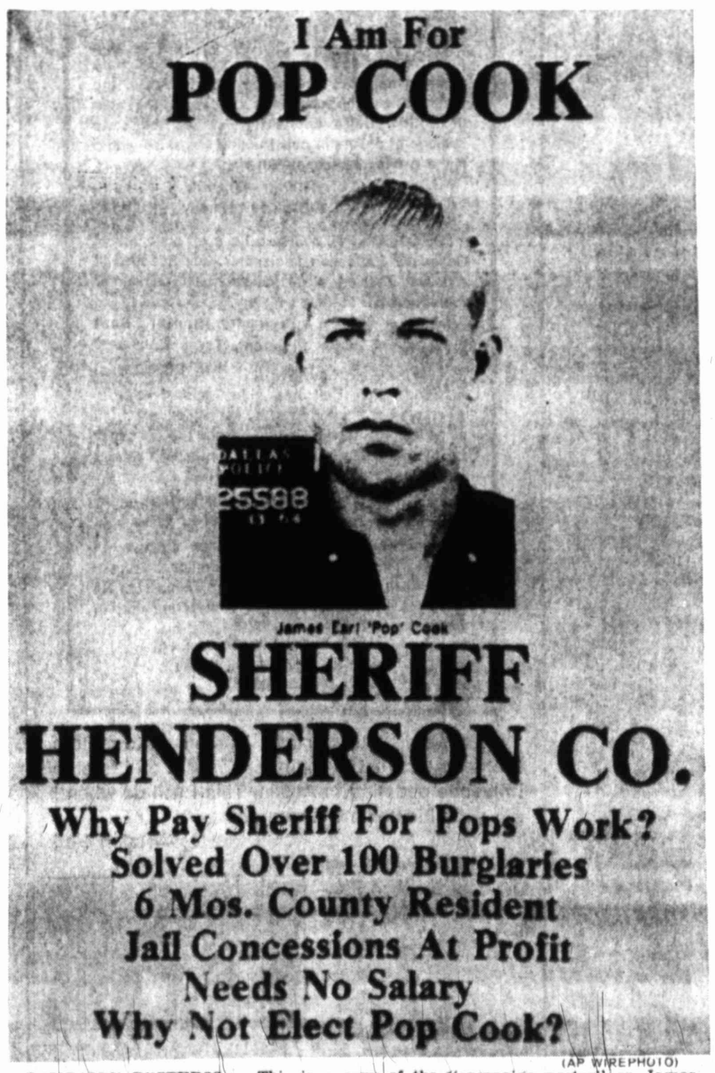

Wording for both "for" and "against" on the Democratic ballot is:

"No public school student shall because of his race, creed, or color, be assigned or required to attend a particular school. This referendum applies to the required busing of public school students and provides for equal quality education for all public school students."

Wording of the referendum as it appears on the Republican ballot is:

"Are you in favor of a constitutional amendment which would prohibit forced busing of school children of forced consolidation of school districts solely to achieve racial balance?"

A second referendum issue on the Republican ballot is "Daylight savings time," for or against. The referendum is accompanied by the statement: "This referendum is an expression of public opinion only and has no binding effect as law."

TRUSTIES 'PICK UP DEAD DEER'

Jail Run By Ex-Convicts In Texas

ATHENS, Tex. (AP) — A rundown, dirty jail, a gutsy woman editor, two colorful candidates—maybe three—shocking charges and counter-charges all make Saturday's election for sheriff here a fast-moving vote roundup.

In the center corral is an old tophand, former Sheriff Jess Sweeten 66, opposing his former deputy, C.W. Brownlow, 47, for reelection to his 10th term. Charlsie Bocell, blonde editor of the nearby weekly Malakoff News, and some of Brownlow's county jail prisoners fill the other corrals.

HEAD START

Publisher Gilbert Bocell has given his wife full rein and chuckles in the News' backshop as Charlsie keeps the News' front page flaming with fresh charges against Sheriff Brownlow and his trusty-studded jail staff.

Some of the charges: "For $60—$50 for a trusty and $10 for the road —a prisoner can find a jail door open and get a two-hour head start."

James Earl 'Pop, The Dealer,' Cook, 33, a convicted church burglar, acts as jailer and dispatcher." He claims he worked as a policeman in Florida two years. Brownlow says he is under supervision, but the U.S. Bureau of Prisons, after an investigation, said more supervision was needed.

Mrs. Bocell says that burglaries in the Cedar Creek Lake area of the county have almost ceased since Sheriff Brownlow, a few weeks ago, stopped allowing Cook and Aubrey Lee "Sonny" Morris, 27, to "pick up dead deer" off the county roads. The pickup, Brownlow said, belongs to one of the trusties and the county had use of it at "no charge."

SHOCKING DEVICE

The News said federal investigators found a hacksaw, a shotgun and a "shocking machine device" made from an old telephone in the dormitory occupied by Cook, Morris and another burglary suspect, Kenneth Childress. A federal source in Dallas, who asked not to be quoted by name, verified the report to The Associated Press. The sheriff was told in effect that his prisoners stayed in jail because they liked him, that the supervision of trusties and security in the jail was so deficient that the Henderson County Jail would not qualify for any sort of federal or state aid.

Editor Bocell also charged that girls in jail have been made available to prisoners at $5 and that trusties regularly "use" women prisoners. She quoted a prisoner as saying that The Dealer paraded "a blonde in pink hot pants" before the others and said they could have her for the stipulated price. The girl, also a burglary suspect, was moved to a West Texas jail before she was allowed to talk to her, Mrs. Bocell said.

WEST'S TOP GUN

Sweeten, billed recently as the "West's Top Gun" at a Caney City Trades Day event, says the jail conditions are deplorable and is running on what he calls his "ability and record as Henderson County sheriff for 20 years," a period when he became a legendary figure in Texas.

Brownlow told a reporter this week, "I don't have anything to say. It's just a political deal—all this stuff that's been printed. We work trusties there—like any other jail do . . .

"I have had problems keeping help due to the amount they let me pay—$300 a month for a night jailer who works 12-hour days, six days a week." Day jailers who also work 72 hours a week get $386 monthly, he added.

The sheriff questioned Mrs. Bocell's sanity and said "she's had a problem." He gave the reporter a mimeographed article on the jail.

Wallace Wins In Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — George C. Wallace got the springboard he sought in his Tennessee presidential primary but the light voter turnout raised questions about how far it will carry him.

The Alabama governor won 68 per cent of the popular vote and the tenuous commitment of 49 Democratic National Convention delegates Thursday in his first primary victory outside his Deep South.

He said, "I feel elated about the delegate vote in Tennessee."

REBELLION

But even though state law binds the delegation to Wallace for two ballots, there is talk of a rebellion by some Democrats against the governor and under new party national rules no delegate can be compelled to support a candidate he doesn't like.

A constitutional amendment to prohibit busing as a tool of school desegregation won 80 per cent approval in a separate referendum. But the busing question, which had been expected to boost the turnout, actually trailed the presidential voting by some 70,000.

Wallace's triumph also marked the first time he had won a clear-cut majority over the field. And it was a big one, 3 to 1 over 10 other Democrats.

Only a quarter of Tennessee's voters bothered to participate—a phenomenally low figure reflecting white voter apathy over a sure Wallace victory and indifference by blacks to an election that many of them felt gave them no choice. Tennessee has 2.2 million registered voters.

UNION LOYALTY

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, who did not campaign in Tennessee but retained some loyalty from union labor and traditional Democrats, finished second with 16 per cent of the vote.

Senate Races Key To Corporation Tax

AUSTIN (AP) — Anyone keeping tabs on the so-called "conservatives" and "liberals" in the Texas Senate will be closely watching three races Saturday—or five, or maybe seven.

The results may affect the chances of a corporation profits tax in the 1973 Legislature. Such a levy was defeated 16-15 in the 1971 Legislature with that vote being used generally as the division of conservatives and liberals.

Legislative sources in Austin, including lobbyists and legislative employes, point to three classic conservative-liberal contests—two in Houston and one in West and Central Texas—as perhaps the most crucial in control of the Senate. However there are at least three, and maybe four, other conservative-liberal races that could affect Senate balance.

WEST TEXAS CONTEST

It could turn out to be undecided until the June 3 runoff, and conceivably the Nov. 7 general election.

The two crucial Senate races in Houston pit Mrs. Gertrude Barnstone, 46, former Houston school board member, against Rep. Jack Ogg, 38, and Rep. Robert A. Gammage, 34, against Rep. Ray Lemmon.

Mrs. Barnstone says Ogg is the candidate of the special interests he says she is soft on the school busing issue and too liberal for the "centrist" district.

Lemmon says he is a "concerned conservative" and claims Gammage is ultra-liberal. Gammage says he is a "militant moderate."

The West Texas Senate race is for the position held by former Sen. David Ratliff, Stamford, who voted against corporate income taxes last year. Ratliff's district, under redistricting, was stretched from Abilene to Waco. He was placed in another district with Sen. Jack Hightower, Vernon. Ratliff decided to run for the House, but recently resigned from that race.

Seeking to succeed Ratliff are Rep. Grant Jones of Abilene and Rep. Tom Moore, Waco, who was a leader of the "Dirty 30" coalition of liberal Democrats and Republicans in the 1971 session.

BUSINESS INTERESTS

"If the business interests can elect conservatives in these three races they think they can defeat the corporation profits tax in 1973," said an Austin lobbyist. "They pretty much consider those the three key races Saturday."

Actually the corporate profits tax issue might not come before the 1973 legislature if the matter is considered by the June special session, which may have to produce new tax money for the 1973 business year.

Other Austin sources point to a number of other classic conservative-liberal races that could affect control of the Senate, where 11 votes actually can block most legislation because two-thirds majorities are needed for so many parliamentary procedures.

In Dist. 9 that includes part of Dallas, Rep. Fred Orr, DeSoto, brother of State Democratic Chairman Roy Orr, faces a young liberal, Ron Clower, Garland, who has been active in the Young Democrats.

OUTSPOKEN LIBERAL

Sen. D. Roy Harrington, Port Arthur, long time liberal and spokesman for Texas labor, is is being challenged by Michael James D. McNicholas of Beaumont, a consevative.

On the coast, in Dist. 20, Sen. Ronald Bridges, Corpus Christi, is being challenged by Michael McKinnon, considered a conservative.

Another race both sides are watching closely is the four-man race for Dist. 26 in San Antonio, now held by Sen. Joe Bernal, an outspoken liberal. Lou Kost Jr., San Antonio, conservative, is given a good chance to join Bernal in a runoff. The winner faces a Republican in November.

Rep. Paul Moreno, El Paso liberal, and Rep. Tom Niland, El Paso conservative, are in a five-man race for Dist. 29 with the winner pitted against a Republican in November.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East

4 ♡	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♠

Altho West failed to uncover the killing opening against South's four heart contract. East capitalized on a slight slip by the declarer to develop a second chance for his partner.

Altho a club lead would have cinched eventual defeat for South, West made the normal opening of the four of spades. The three was played from dummy and East paused to reflect before playing to the trick. If he put up the ace and returned the suit and his partner had the king, then the defense might reasonably expect to cash out two spades, one heart, and at least one club to defeat the contract.

On the basis of South's jump to four hearts, it appeared more reasonable to assume that the latter held the king of spades as well as the missing strength in the red suits. In an attempt to develop a reentry to West's hand, East alertly played the nine of spades at trick one—which dislodged declarer's king.

The queen of hearts was put thru for a finesse and East was in with the king. He now underled the ace of spades, returning the deuce. His efforts were rewarded when West won with the queen and realizing that his partner desperately desired a shift—he led back a club and East cashed out two tricks in that suit to set South down by one.

Declarer could have frustrated the defensive heroics by playing the jack of spades from the North hand at the opening gun. East is obliged to put up the ace, thereby assuring South of winning the return with the king. After the heart finesse, is taken and East gets in with the king, he has no way to put his partner in. If he leads back the ten of diamonds, South plays the queen and pulls the remaining trump with the jack of hearts. The ace and king of diamonds are cashed, North's hand is entered with the ace of hearts, and the jack of diamonds provides a parking place for one of declarer's clubs.

South's losses consist of one trick each in spades, hearts, and clubs, East's takeout double clearly indicated that the ace of clubs would be off side and declarer should exert every effort to prevent West from getting a second opportunity to lead thru North's king.

Hubert Wows Supporters In San Antonio, El Paso

HOUSTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey, seeking Texas delegate support in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, has urged members of the party to unite.

He said one of the reasons the national Democratic ticket lost in 1968 was because "we spent so much time working on each other we had too little time to work for our victory."

"This time we cannot afford that," he told a crowd of about 500 at a downtown hotel reception here Thursday night.

MY MESSAGE

The Minnesota Democrat arrived here after stops in San Antonio and El Paso.

He was to appear at a $25-a-plate fund raising breakfast and news conference here today before going to Fort Worth to wind up his two-day tour of the state.

He predicted he would be nominated because he is taking his message to the people.

"My message is not to downgrade this nation nor to downgrade my fellow Democrats," he said.

"We are in a contest as Democrats but this is merely the way we have of making a choice as to who will be our nominee. I want you to save your energy. I want you to save your power and even your dollars for the main event—for the Super Bowl—and the Super Bowl will be next November."

He lashed out at the problems of senior citizens and unemployment in his Houston speech.

SICK AND TIRED

"The senior citizen is neglected by a government that looks at the problems of the nation not in terms of human values but in statistics," he said.

"I am weary of a government that looks upon 6 per cent unemployment and speaks of it as some how or another as if it were a mathematical equation.

"I am sick and tired of a government that tells the people that we in this country must become accustomed to 5 per cent unemployment.

"Unemployment is not a statistic. It is a tragedy. This administration is responsible for flushing down the political sewers a hundred billion dollars a year of lost income, never to be reclaimed. That's the worst kind of pollution—political pollution."

At San Antonio, Humphrey said President Nixon should go before the United Nations to take action on the North Vietnamese invasion of South Vietnam, which he called a "renewed threat to peace."

He also reiterated his views on the United States withdrawal from Vietnam.

FOUR IN ROW

"I have said that as president if withdrawal was not accomplished by that time (when he took office) that within a period of 30 to 90 days, I would have all U.S. forces out of Vietnam," he said.

At El Paso he said he wanted to "be a candidate that puts idealism and experience together to get social progress."

He said at both Houston and El Paso that he wished there was a presidential primary in Texas.

"I'd like to win four in a row," he said.

He was frequently interrupted by applause during his speeches.

Former Astronaut Gen. and Mrs. James A. McDivitt were in the crowd at the Houston reception and Humphrey called them to the speaker's stand to shake hands prior to his talk.

Base Protesting Puts 40 In Jail

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An estimated 40 Vietnam war demonstrators were jailed Thursday evening after they were arrested while attempting to enter Tinker Air Force Base here to deliver a protest message to the base commander.

The 40 arrested were among about 150 demonstrating outside Tinker's main gate. They were mostly college students and young people who had staged another protest earlier in the day at the State Capitol.

At the same time, Sen. Hall's efforts have saved the state millions of dollars in construction costs. He would make a fine Lieutenant Governor."

TRIED SUICIDE — Al Alvarez, author of new book, "The Savage God," on suicide, has had first-hand experience with his subject — he tried it. But he found the emotions and reactions surrounding his attempted suicide disappointing. "There was nothing, just nothing," he says, recalling that neither his attempt nor recovery were at all dramatic or fascinating.

Says No-Fault Insurance Out

AUSTIN (AP) — State Insurance Board Chairman Larry Teaver says a "Personal Injury Protection" plan with unlimited medical coverage would serve Texas motorists better than no-fault car insurance.

He said Thursday he would place his proposal before the board in July, at the annual automobile insurance hearing.

Teaver's plan would eliminate the present medical payments and uninsured motorists coverage now included in standard family auto insurance policies.

IN CASE OF DEATH

Instead, the policies would include a provision containing these benefits for policyholders, without regard to who caused an accident:

—Unlimited medical expenses for treatment of his injuries. (Medical payments coverage usually carries a $2,000 limit.)

—$10,000 in life insurance in case of death from an auto accident.

—Income replacement, up to 80 per cent or $250 per month. Teaver said he had not decided whether the period covered should be one or two years.

Insurance board actuaries are now trying to calculate rates for such coverage, Teaver said, adding that he thought it could be obtained for a "very reasonable cost."

"The unlimited feature on medical payments is, to me, a must," Teaver said.

He said he felt this would not have much effect on insurance costs because 90 per cent of medical payments claims under existing politics have been for less than $1,000.

Motorists still would buy liability insurance and other drivers—or their insurance companies—could file claims against them for accidents they caused.

Teaver would have to get the backing of at least one of the other two board members—neither of whom has shown any enthusiasm for no-fault insurance—to put the plan into effect.

OPTION

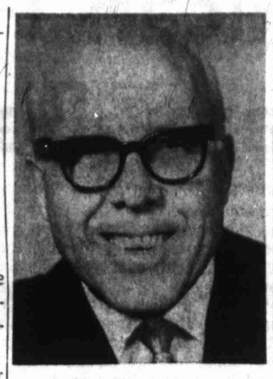

He also said he thinks Texans should be given the option of reducing their car insurance expenses by taking larger deductibles for such things as collision insurance.

The chairman had leaned for some time toward no-fault insurance, in which a driver collects from his own insurance company for his lost income and medical costs after an accident, regardless of whether he was to blame.

One argument for no-fault is it removes legal fees as an element of car insurance costs, including inflated settlements by insurance companies to avoid going to court.

But Teaver said he had found that only 8.9 per cent of all Texas auto accident cases go to court and 18.2 per cent of payments to victims go to lawyers.

This is considerably lower than in Massachusetts, for instance, before that state adopted no-fault in 1970, Teaver said. In Massachusetts, he said, lawyers were involved in almost 80 per cent of all bodily injury claims, and 19.3 per cent of the cases went to court.

Republican Party Switch To Miami Beach Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican party formally switched its 1972 national convention from San Diego to Miami Beach today.

The move was unanimously approved by the Republican National Committee after it received a report that mounting costs and threatened labor problems made it impossible to stage the convention in San Diego.

The convention dates remain the same as originally scheduled, Aug. 21-23.

COSTS SOAR

The report of the difficulties the Repubicans ran into in San Diego was given by Richard Herman, vice chairman of the convention arrangements committee.

Herman said the main difficulty was caused by a disagreement between the party and the operator of the sports arena where the convention was to be held, over construction costs.

"We had a contract with the operator," Herman said, "but substantial disagreement arose over some of its terms. We found we were being forced to accept costs that rose higher as negotiations proceeded."

Party officials have been working for months to change the convention site, and have given their full support to Miami Beach's invitation. Its acceptance was recommended Thursday by the arrangements committee of the national committee.

NIXON'S PICK

San Diego originally was picked reportedly at the urging of President Nixon, whose summer White House at San Clemente is only 50 miles away. But financial and space problems created difficulties that GOP National Chairman Robert Dole said recently have become insurmountable.

Financial arrangements for the San Diego convention also became a potential political embarrassment for the Republicans when it was disclosed that International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. had promised to put up most of the money at a time it was seeking a favorable antitrust settlement from the federal government.

Rep. Bob Wilson of San Diego, who played a key role in getting the convention assigned there, defended his city against the charge that it didn't have facilities or resources to stage it.

Wilson blames the impasse that led to the search for a new site on the "greed, stubbornness and uncooperation" of Peter Graham, operator of the sports arena in which the convention was to be held.

Miami Beach, which will also host the Democratic National Convention starting July 10, offered the Republicans rent-free use of its conventional hall and free bus service for the delegates.

The city has requested the federal government to provide a 1,000-man security force to help local police in case of demonstrations like those that marked both 1968 conventions.

Brazel Urges Early Voting

D. A. Brazel, Democratic chairman, urged voters in the Democratic primary, to vote as early as possible Saturday.

He also cautioned them about the wording on the school busing referendum. It is so worded that votes should be opposite the apparent wording. In other words, those who favor banning forced busing to achieve racial balance should mark the "against" box, or vice versa.

The GOP ballot has the same obscurity in its wording, although it is clearer because it refers to an amendment to prohibit busing for racial balance, etc. Hence to be "for" the amendment is to be against busing.

Brazel said that early voting will help avoid congestion at polls because new regulations require that each voter's participation be validated on a master list, and that a certification of participation be issued as the identification for taking part in precinct conventions. Precinct conventions will be at 8 p.m. in the polling places.

Biggest Dip In Wholesale Food Prices In 8 Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today the biggest drop in wholesale food prices in eight months for April, due largely to a sharp decline in meat prices.

In another report, the Labor Department said the nation's total employment and unemployment remained virtually unchanged last month, with the jobless rate holding steady at 5.9 per cent of the work force.

The report on wholesale prices said the average cost of meats, poultry and fish declined 2.9 per cent in April. This was the major factor in an over-all decline of seven-tenths of one per cent for all farm products and processed foods.

Wholesale food prices are generally reflected fairly soon at the supermarket.

The report said a broad range of prices of wholesale raw materials and manufactured products rose three-tenths of one per cent.

All wholesale prices of food and industrial commodities average out to a rise of one-tenth of one per cent, boosting the Wholesale Price Index to 117.5 of its 1967 base of 100. This meant it cost $117.50 on the average for wholesale goods worth $100 five years ago. The latest index was 3.7 per cent above a year ago.

The report on jobs said the total number of employed Americans actually rose some 400,000 to 80.6 million and unemployment dropped more than half a million to 4.7 million. But these developments are expected for April and the Bureau of Labor Statistics figured no change in both employment and unemployment on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The report also said average earnings of nearly 50 million than half the nation's work r a n k-and-file workers—more than half the nation's work force—rose two cents per hour to $3.59 and increased $1.10 per week to $132.83.

The average weekly paycheck was $8.78 or 7.1 per cent above a year ago. After deduction for the 3.5 per cent rise in living costs over the same period the gain in purchasing power was a little over $4 per week.

The report on wholesale prices listed declines of four-tenths of one per cent for dairy products, seven-tenths for sugar and confectionary, two per cent for animal fats and oils and one-tenth of one per cent for vegetable oils and products.

There were increases of two-tenths of one per cent for cereal and bakery products, 1.4 per cent for processed fruits and vegetables, four-tenths of one per cent for beverages, 2.9 per cent for crude vegetable oils, and two-tenths of one per cent for refined vegetable oils.

The report listed price increases for industrial goods including four-tenths of one per cent for textiles, 3.4 per cent for hides and leather, three-tenths of one per cent for fuels, seven-tenths of one per cent for chemicals, 1.1 per cent for lumber, four-tenths for paper and pulp products, one-tenth for metal products, three-tenths for machinery, one-tenth for furniture and six-tenths of one per cent for mineral products.

There was a decline of two-tenths of one per cent for rubber and plastic products, the only major category of industrial prices to show a decline.

The report said the over-all wholesale price increase on a seasonally adjusted basis was three-tenths of one per cent.

Important Discovery About Schizophrenia

DALLAS (AP) — A love of research and fascination with probing the mind turned a young Harvard Medical School graduate down the road 40 years ago to an important discovery about mental illness that he revealed Thursday.

Dr. Jacques S. Gottlieb, 65, told the American Psychiatric Association he and his colleagues believe they have discovered the probably biological cause of schizophrenia, the personality-splitting mental disturbance that robs victims of thought processes and leads to peculiar ideas, delusions and hallucinations.

OPEN DOORS

Gottlieb, chairman of the Wayne State University psychiatry department in Detroit, Mich., and Dr. Charles Frohman, a Wayne State biochemist, said their research indicates an enzyme deficiency in the brains of schizophrenic patients causes the disease. The deficiency apparently upsets the brain's metabolism and turns it to abnormal production of chemicals known to produce psychotic effects in man.

The finding opens a long-closed door on an effective treatment and possible cure for schizophrenia, which afflicts about 2 million Americans and is one of the most difficult mental illnesses to treat. It usually results in hospitalization and seldom is completely cured.

For Gottlieb, a tall, thin and balding man who speaks with a slow, gruff voice and smoked cigarettes nonstop during an interview, the research is the latest milestone in an infatuation with schizophrenia that began when he graduated from Harvard Medical School in 1932.

LOVED RESEARCH

"When I finished medical school I wanted to go into psychiatry and I wanted to get involved in research. I loved research," Gottlieb said. "There was only one place to go at that time—the Neuroendocrine Research Foundation — and they were already working on schizophrenia." He was hooked.

The foundation was located at a Worcester, Mass., mental hospital affiliated with Harvard. Gottlieb came to Wayne State 17 years ago and founded Lafayette Clinic, which is operated by the state of Michigan and Wayne State. Most of his research was conducted there.

Why study psychiatry in the depression years, an era when psychiatry did not enjoy the prestige it has today?

"I thought it was fascinating," Gottlieb said, "and I've never been disappointed."

Gottlieb likens the mechanism for schizophrenia they have discovered to the simpler one which causes diabetes, the disturbance of the body's blood sugar metabolism that often was fatal 50 years ago.

UNDER CONTROL

It was discovered that an imbalance of insulin, an enzyme manufactured by the pancreas, a gland in the stomach, was responsible. With the isolation and synthesis of issulin, diabetes was brought under control.

"This opens up the doorway to begin looking for a method of bringing schizophrenia under control much in the same way diabetes is brought under control with insulin," he said.

The schizophrenia enzyme, which is found in the limbic and lower stem area of the brain, can be extracted from beef brains and stored. The Wayne State group plans to begin trials with animals to prove that treatment with the enzyme, called Anti-S Protein, has no unpleasant side affects.

Sister Mary Spending Nights In County Jail

MARSHALL, Mich. (AP) — "What's a nice girl like you doing in a place like this?"

Sister Mary Kayatin a Roman Catholic nun, hears that old line a great deal. She is a teacher and spends three nights a week instructing inmates at the Calhoun County jail.

"She looks at us for what we are, not as criminals or inmates," says 21-year-old Danny Charles, one of her students.

Sister Mary teaches under a program designed to help inmates complete their high school education. They study for the General Education Development test, a high school equivalency examination, and if they pass are given a diploma.

Sister Mary, who has 25 years of teaching experience, was not hesitant about teaching in a jail. During the day she teaches adult education in the Battle Creek school system.

"I've learned to accept people as they are," she said. "Once they (the prisoners) are in the classroom, they are just like all students."

Sister Mary has been teaching at the jail three nights a week since September. The program has enabled four prisoners to receive diplomas and between 10 and 13 inmates are expected to graduate in June.

One of her prime concerns is to show the inmates that someone is interested in them.

Charles, as an example, dropped out of high school in the 11th grade because of problems at home. Now he is planning to attend Kellogg Community College when released. He hopes to assist in teaching at the jail.

Auxiliary Deputy James Parsons attends the classes as a guard, although discipline has not been a problem.

He said the prisoners' attitudes generally have changed "from belligerent to tolerable" and attributes this improvement to Sister Mary's program.

N.M. Deputy Shot In Head

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Travis Haynes, Ragland, N.M., who was shot and critically wounded Tuesday in eastern New Mexico, was scheduled for surgery today, a spokesman at Lubbock Methodist Hospital said.

The spokesman, W. D. Holland, night administrator, said Haynes' condition remained critical late Thursday.

Haynes, 59, was taken to Lubbock after he was found Tuesday near Taiban, N.M., with a bullet wound in his head.

State Police found Haynes under a radio transmitter tower about eight miles from the Bill Upton ranch in Quay County.

Haynes, a special deputy sheriff, had been called to the ranch by Upton who said a man had come to the ranch indicating he was having car trouble.

Upton told police Haynes picked up the man at the ranch and drove back to where the car was stalled.

Mrs. Upton said she saw a great deal of movement when Haynes and the man got out of Haynes' car about half a mile from the Upton house.

She said Haynes and two men got into the deputy's car and drove south very fast.

When officers found Haynes, they said he had been shot in the forehead, but was conscious.

Two men were later picked up for questioning in the case.

They were identified as Larry Cotney, 30, and Kermit Frame, 36, two escapees from the Kansas Penitentiary.

LEADING NEWSPAPERS SUPPORT BEN BARNES!

Confused about the Governor's race? More than a score of major newspapers across the state have endorsed Ben Barnes for Governor. These newspapers have the capability to analyze what is going on, and to separate campaign claims from fact. Here, in part, is what just a few of them have to say:

FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM
"Mr. Barnes epitomizes the emerging Texas. He knows whence we have come and whither we must go, and he is better qualified than any other candidate to lead us in the proper direction."

SAN ANGELO STANDARD-TIMES
"The taint of scandal is on Texas Government — but that taint does not extend to the Lieutenant Governor . . . despite the fact that he has probably been investigated by political opponents more closely than any other Texas official. Of all the candidates, he seems uniquely equipped to give Texas the superlative leadership the time demands . . ."

HOUSTON CHRONICLE
"Ben Barnes repeatedly has sought legislative reforms. He is a man who can bring dignity and effectiveness to the Governor's office and credit to the State of Texas."

The Abilene Reporter-News
"One stands out among them all as the best qualified and best suited for these times. Ben Barnes can bring Texas toward a new day in the future that can be as bright and distinguished as the present is discouraging and disheartening."

THE DALLAS TIMES HERALD
"Lt. Governor Ben Barnes has amply proved his leadership qualities and capabilities, forged in the crucible of legislative fire. He has the knowledge, the experience and the ability to lead Texas out of the dismal morass of scandals and petty bickering in which it now finds itself."

The Dallas Morning News
"Ben Barnes, more than any other candidate, has the youth, the vigor, the talent and knowledge-ability to lead the state in the critical 1970s. He is not a status quo man. He dreams and builds for a better Texas."

THESE NEWSPAPERS HAVE THOROUGHLY INVESTIGATED AND CONSIDERED ALL THE CANDIDATES.

New Commander At Base In SA

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Maj. Gen. Edmund F. O'Connor, now assigned to Andrews Air Force Base, Md., has been named commander of the San Antonio Air Materiel Area, a sprawling logistics center at Kelly AFB.

Officials said O'Connor, a native of Fitchburg, Mass., will assume command on Aug. 1.

O'Connor now is deputy chief of staff for procurement and production at Air Force Systems Command Headquarters at Andrews. He will succeed Maj. Gen. W.H. Reddell, who is retiring from the Air Force after 31 years.

During his career, O'Connor, 50, has served in posts that helped send man to the moon.

In November, 1965, he became director of industrial operations at the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., where he was responsible for the program management of Saturn-Apollo launch vehicle programs.

Ralph Hall's Positive Program of Progress

- I will renew my effort to pass an Ethics bill requiring full financial disclosure by all Legislators and state elected officials, and to prevent lawyer-legislators from influence-peddling before state boards and agencies.
- I pledge an all-out assault on the spiralling insurance rates. Aspirin tablet treatment is not adequate . . . major surgery is a must!
- We must enact a strong Consumer Protection Act — like my Senate Bill 430 — which died last session in a House committee.
- Texas must have an effective water resources program . . . It is essential to our economic well-being.
- A sound environmental program, and adequate funding of agencies charged with regulating ecological matters, is a first priority.

MUSKIE CONSIDERING TV TALKS

Seeks To Resurrect Campaign

HILTON HEAD, S.C. (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie is considering a series of national television appearances, if he can raise the money and buy the time, as he seeks to resurrect his Democratic presidential campaign.

The Maine senator said the appearances would offer a way to appeal past the primary elections, which he has quit, and seek to keep his name and ideas before the delegates who will decide who challenges President Nixon on Nov. 7.

"I have taken myself out of the primaries; I have not taken myself out of contention," Muskie said at his rented seaside villa in this golfing resort.

Muskie said he couldn't estimate how many more nominating votes he might be able to get without participating in the primaries, or how many he would need to rebuild his battered candidacy in a divided Democratic convention.

OH, GUESS!

With Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George McGovern and Gov. George C. Wallace all doing primary election battle while Muskie retreated to a week's golfing holiday, that appeared to be an understatement of the odds against the one-time front runner.

Muskie said he couldn't guess at his chances.

But he said it was clear to him "there will not be a first ballot nomination" at the Miami Beach convention. He said that would leave a fluid situation in which he could fashion a comeback after primary delegate commitments lapse. "Nothing is predictable," he said. "Eight weeks ago who would have predicted where I'd be now?"

He said he believes the primaries now are "likely to be a seesaw." That would be to his advantage since his comeback strategy is based on a divided convention.

The past eight weeks plunged Muskie from national leadership to a series of primary election defeats which led him to announce on April 27 that he would campaign no longer in the presidential primaries for lack of money and results.

Muskie won the New Hampshire and Illinois primaries, lost in Florida, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Wisconsin.

"I've had a couple of guys who are capable of contributing talking about supporting a national television effort and that's much cheaper than primaries," Muskie said. "You can do it. One network, if you can get a network, would be about $60,000." That would cover a 30-minute television appearance.

On other points in an interview Muskie said:

—He believes that McGovern now is moving toward the center of the Democratic party.

—He thinks Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will remain out of the presidential race.

—He has given "no thought at all" to what his personal political future will be if he does not win the nomination.

—The primary candidacy of Wallace now is a factor in keeping his presidential hopes alive. Without Wallace, Muskie said, the chances would be pretty good that either Humphrey or McGovern could assemble first-ballot nomination strength.

To Visit Thai

BANGKOK (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will visit Thailand following his official visit to Japan to attend Okinawa reversion ceremonies May 15, the English language daily, The Nation, reported today.

The newspaper, quoting diplomatic sources, said Thai and American officials are discussing the schedule for Agnew's visit, which may last two to three days.

Spokesmen at the U.S. Embassy would not comment on the report.

Acting Director Of FBI 'Different Sort Of Guy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting Director L. Patrick Gray III says he will run the FBI with "a clear difference in manner and style" from that used by J. Edgar Hoover.

"I don't consider myself as an interim or caretaker director," Gray said in an interview Thursday, two days after his surprise appointment by President Nixon to succeed Hoover.

In addition to making the agency more receptive to changes and fresh ideas from within, Gray said, he plans to open the FBI to greater public scrutiny than it was subject to under Hoover, who died Tuesday.

On the question of whether he will be Hoover's permanent successor, Gray said Nixon told him in the White House Thursday that when the time comes he "will be considered."

Gray said he will proceed as if the job were his for good.

Democrats in the Senate, which must confirm a permanent appointment, say they are anxious to prevent the emergence of a personality as powerful as Hoover became in 48 years as director. The interim appointment is not subject to confirmation.

Gray, 55, said he had no quarrel with the way Hoover ran the FBI, "but I know I'm a different sort of guy."

Asked about Hoover's reputation for running the bureau to conform to the director's ideas of what most threatened America, Gray said if that was true, "then I will be more responsive to innovative ideas than Mr. Hoover might have been."

Within hours of his appointment Wednesday, Gray said he called top FBI officials and told them, "I intend to run the place with patience, understanding and compassion."

Brock Salesmen To Be Honored

Charles Wasson and Walter Allen Jr., of Bob Brock Ford, Inc., will be among 265 Ford dealership salesmen honored for outstanding sales performance during 1971 at a banquet in Dallas on Saturday, May 6.

C. J. Soderquist, Dallas Ford district sales manager, said a select number of Ford dealership salesmen will be presented a 300-500 - Club membership award. The Ford 300-500 Club was founded in 1950 to recognize outstanding Ford salesmen throughout the country.

Mr. Soderquist said the average 300-500 Club member sold nearly $750,000 worth of automotive merchandise in 1971 to qualify for the national honor.

'SWING YOUR PARTNERS' IS CHANT

Square Dance Festival Attracts 400 To Town

"Swing your partner and do-si-do" will echo in the Big Spring High School cafeteria tonight and Saturday as the Big Spring Squares host 400 dancers from around the state for their third annual May Square Dance Festival.

This will be the largest gathering of square dancers in the history of Big Spring said James Householder, general chairman of the Festival.

Hosts are expecting over 300 square and round dancers at the tonight's gathering and over 400 are expected for the Saturday's events. The dancing gets under way at 7:30 in the cafeteria.

Calling will be Paul Odor, Midland; Billy Lewis, Dallas, Joe Abott, Brownwood; and Curtis Thompson, Midland. The round dances will be directed by Cecil and Diane Friend, Waco.

A workshop on new calls and round dancing will be held Saturday afternoon from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and an "after" party will be held following the Saturday night dance. Both of these sessions will take place in the Squares Corral Clubhouse on Country Club Road.

Householder said spectators are invited to attend the dances at no charge. Square dancers will pay a registration fee.

"This is our third annual festival in Big Spring and we plan this as an annual event," declared club caller Curtis Thompson. "This will bring several hundred square dancers to the city each year, and the event will grow each year."

Dancers are expected from Dallas, Lubbock, Snyder, Colorado City, Midland, Odessa, Lamesa, Brownwood, Rowlett, Marble Falls, Austin, San Antonio, San Angelo, Brady, Winters, Abilene, Jayton, Eastland, Ft. Worth, Rhotan, Roby, and El Dorado. Many dancers have preregistered from area towns.

Many square dancers will be staying at local motor inns and hotels, Frenchie Steward, hospitality chairman, said, but since this is a family type event many of the dancers have indicated they will be camping out in the campgrounds in Comanche Trail Park and at the Squares Corral clubhouse.

Those in charge of committees are Mr. and Mrs. James Householder, general chairman: Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Steward, publicity and hospitality; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rybolt, finance chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Dow, facilities chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Fox, booth chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Charley Marstrand, registration chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Grady Jones, "after" party chairman. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Thompson, Midland, are festival sound and caller coordinators.

The Grand March will be staged at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Luther Youth Top Junior

Don E. McClurg of Luther has been recognized by Phi Kappa Phi as the most outstanding junior in the College of Agriculture at Texas A&M University.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McClurg, Gail Route, he was among eight college representatives presented plaques at the Phi Kappa Phi installation banquet.

Phi Kappa Phi, honor society for superior scholarship in all fields of study, admits only the top five per cent of the junior class each year. McClurg was among 200 initiates.

He was selected by a PKP committee assisted by Agriculture Dean H. O. Kunkel and his department head on the basis of scholastic achievement and TAMU activities indicating leadership capabilities and an all-around student. A minimum 3.75 grade point ratio is required for junior admittance to the society.

PKP is to all disciplines what Phi Beta Kappa is to liberal arts and sciences.

A range science major with a 3.829 grade ratio, McClurg is a member of the national third place grass judging team, the Range Science Club and Alpha Zeta, agricultural honor society.

He has been Agricultural Council representative this year and will chair committees to which he is assigned as a representative next year. He received the Lloyd E. Smith and John Koerth Scholarship for his freshman and junior years.

The Tulia High School graduate's Phi Kappa Phi award plaque bears the society emblem, a bronze crest of the Aggie senior ring and the inscription "Outstanding Phi Kappa Phi junior in the College of Agriculture, 1971-72."

The FBI Goes On

The mortal remains of J. Edgar Hoover, the man who moulded the Federal Bureau of Investigation into a formidable arm of law enforcement, have been laid to rest. Thus death has ended a career no president would have dared to terminate even had he so desired. J. Edgar Hoover had created for himself and his agency of the Justice Department an image almost as sacrosanct as that of motherhood.

And this was not without reason, for he had performed a distinguished service to the nation. Hoover took the FBI when it was a rag-tag group, which utterly lacked respect. From almost nothing, he forged it into an efficient organization which functioned with such precision that it commanded respect. Here, more than anywhere else, the element of scientific methods in crime deduction were introduced and perfected. Order and instant availability were infused in the identification files. Rapid communication became a part of the bureau network, hence interstate detection and pursuit were added to the arsenal against crime.

The developments were fortuitous because they came along at the time when kidnapping was plaguing the country. The FBI had the men and the resources to doggedly stick to a case until it was solved, and so the dispicable kidnap wave was broken.

Seasoned and by now better equipped, the FBI was in a position to perform outstanding service against subversives and infiltrators during World War II. Afterwards, it penetrated the Communist apparatus so effectively that the Reds could never be quite sure that Hoover and his G Man were not among the inner councils. The record against nationally organized crime, however, was not so brilliant, whether for lack of resources or direction.

J. Edgar Hoover, in his later years, became increasingly crusty and in many respects eccentric. Critics began to crop up, but he was wrapped in the aura of legend and was, as the title of a film series about the bureau indicated, untouchable.

So now the FBI will go on, as some thought it could not without its patron shaper and director, but it will benefit from the legacy of new concepts and methods in law enforcement developed under his direction. Loosed from pettiness which had crept into part of its work, it may make still greater contribution to the nation. This would, within itself, be a fitting tribute to Hoover.

Do Your Duty—Vote

Saturday is primary election day in Texas.

Howard County has upwards of 14,000 eligible voters, and it will be lucky if 40 per cent of them get to the polls.

We hope you won't be part of the disgraceful 60 per cent who won't bother to vote in either of the nominating primaries. Most of those who miss will do it because of apathy.

We don't say that everybody automatically has to take sides on every candidate and every issue, but those who don't exercise a voice in the nominating step miss out on the fundamental ladder of the election process.

Moreover, there are questions on the ballot on which you may want to express an opinion — whether you favor busing of children for the purpose of achieving racial balance in schools (on both party ballots), and on Daylight Savings Time (on the GOP ballot). These have no official standing, but they give opportunity of expression.

And finally — vote as early as possible, for new regulations may slow the process of registering those who go to the polls.

Better Writing

Around The Rim

Steve Hultman

As a reporter I come up with many of the story ideas that I use, but I and the other members of the staff also are given assignments by the managing editor, Tommy Hart.

VERY FEW of these assignments are straight-forward bits of prose such as "cover the school board meeting tonight". Most of them are like the following:

—You say 'pretty please' with sugar on it, and we might let you interview Mrs. Farenthold when she descends from her magic carpet later this week. You should have a lot about which to talk. Perhaps she bought a lemon, too.

—I gauged half an inch of rain last night. Jupiter Pluvius and Thor rambled over much of the county, then fled to the east.

—Eddie Acri gets out of the Halfway House today, I understand. I need something I can slip onto the classified page about his re-entry. Has a motorcade been planned?

THE SALE of tobacco is up, despite the dearth of advertising. What about snuff? Is its demand up to snuff?

—Everyone is advised to keep his head up — everyone, that is, but the lowly worm. Some of those who show initiativeness and alertness are used as fish bait. Does the price of a can of worms equal that of a T-bone steak?

THE WOMEN will be marching in the streets today, and you have a great opportunity to march with them, what with Sissy Farenthold favoring us with a visit. What an opportunity to cut up some old times. I envy you.

—Sen. Tower mixes with the great unwashed Saturday. If you need a reassessment of faith for this challenge, you have permission to spend an hour prostrate at the alter in the Church of What's Happening Now, anytime after 5 p.m.

—I have not yet been overwhelmed with Sunday features. A Sunday paper without features is like a John Wayne movie without cows, Durante without a nose, a Raquel Welch dressed in a tarp. Think mink.

—PERHAPS we should print in purple today, to catch the flavor of some of the prose that developed in the County Commission Tuesday afternoon. Some of the ladies present may have fainted and had to be taken outside to be revived. Our own Nancy Dickenson is made of sterner stuff.

Hart also never lets anyone forget that they failed to spell a word correctly. He does not just correct the spelling, he sends the wrong doer notes, such as this:

—YOU HAD SO much trouble with the word 'battalion,' be thankful you weren't attached to Gneisenau's Hussars or the Royal Fusiliers. You attack a word as if it were possessed of some kind of atomic fallout.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

Please explain the meaning of original sin. I don't understand it and would really like to know.

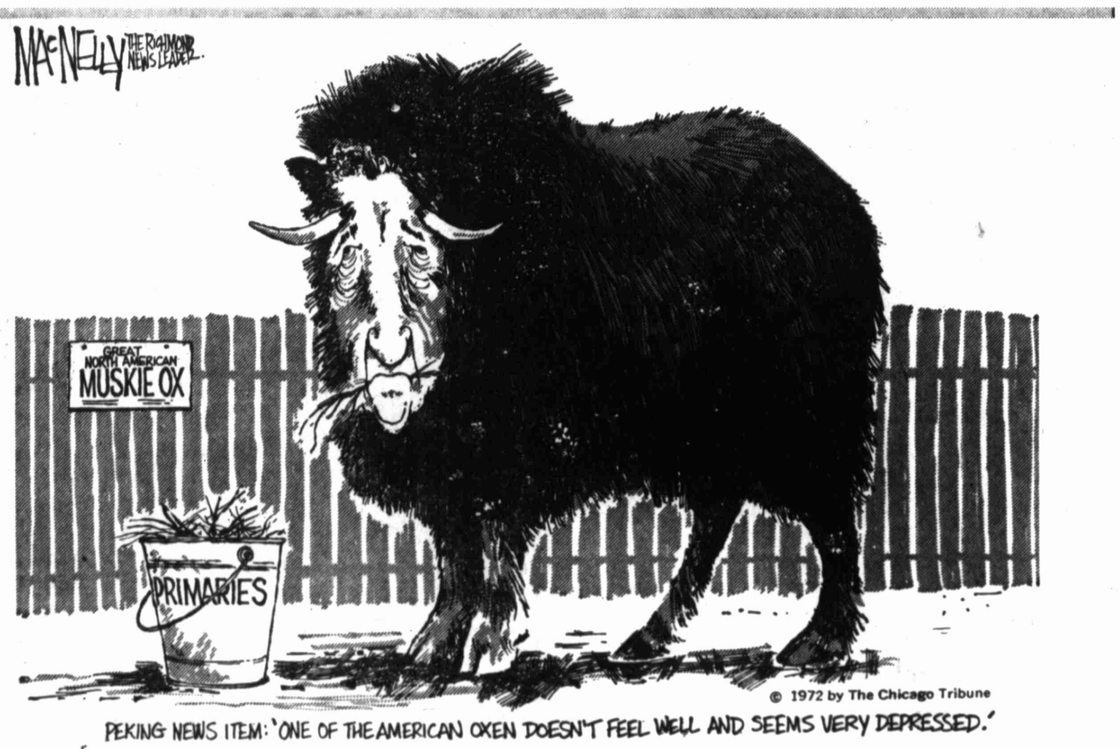

V.L.

One of the best definitions of original sin is one I found in a collection of old essays. It says: "The phrase "original sin" is one way of expressing the natural tendency of man to do the wrong thing." It is, as a prominent columnist has said, "The devouring tendency to gratify our own appetites regardless of the consequences to ourselves or others."

Many modern psychologists are now coming to believe in original sin, for there is so much in human nature that is enigmatic, and unexplainable.

Many modern social experiemtns will not work because they are based upon the assumption that man is inherently good. But all human experience and history witnesses to the contrary. In the ideal state proposed by the communists every man would be equal. But original sin will not allow man to be equal, and it displays itself by monopolies, embezzlement, and other crimes. Pride will not allow sinful man to be equal because he instinctively drives for superiority. That is why a communist state is a police state. It is an effort to control the pride and greed of human nature.

Only when all men are in the kingdom of God (and this will not happen until Christ comes) will there be complete justice. We talk about law and order, but this is only partially possible in a decadent, depraved world. The answer for each of us is a right relationship with God. The revolution we need will come from within — not from without.

Changing Court

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — While it figures little, if at all, in the current political dialogue one result of President Nixon's re-election would cast a long shadow on an indefinite future. In another four years Mr. Nixon would in all probability remake the Supreme Court of the United States in, if he holds to his belief in "strict constructionists," his own image.

THAT HE COULD carry Congress for his party in the event of his re-election in November is unlikely. By naming five or six justices to the high court he would dominate the third coordinate and independent branch of government. Already four Nixon judges, led by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, sit on the court.

Three "liberal" members out of the past survive. Given age and infirmity, one or more is likely to be replaced in the coming four years. That would mean an outright Nixon majority.

INCREASINGLY, THE "liberal" judges are in dissent and the court is moving in a more conservative direction. From within the court come unhappy rumblings about the new order. The chief justice is said to want to make the highest tribunal a personal court.

Cited as evidence of this is his insistence, when he is in the minority, on assigning in conference the justice who will write the majority opinion. Traditionally over the years, when the chief is with the dissenters, the senior judge with the majority assigns the opinion writer. Thhs may seem a small matter, but it touches the prerogatives of independence long a part of court tradition.

BOTH ADMIRERS and critics of the now retired chief justice, Earl Warren, recollect the way in which he pulled the court together after his appointment by President Eisenhower in 1953. Warren's deep conviction was the need to reactivate the amendments in the Bill of Rights adopted after the Civil War as they related to justice for the minority race. He had been chief less than a year when a unanimous court declared unconstitutional the long-standing doctrine of "separate but equal" in the public schools. Warren won the hatred of many, particularly in the South where "Impeach Earl Warren" billboards sprang up along the highways.

NOW RETIRED, he said in a recent talk:

"The right of the press to publish is being attacked; the rights of association and of dissent are being questioned; detention without a warrant is being advocated; the rights of privacy in the home and in communications are being disregarded; the right against self-incriminiation is being restricted; and the words 'due process of law' and 'equal protection of the law' for millions of minority citizens are in jeopardy."

That is a warning flag raised by one who has been through the wars and has emerged with a serene and courageous spirit.

Negotiation Basis

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Explanations by President Nixon and Secretary of State Rogers have made it clear that the United States has really opened the door to peace negotiations in Vietnam. The secretary gave some significant replies in an interview on Sunday in the NBC television program "Meet the Press." These were supplemented by President Nixon's statements in an hour-long question-and-answer session at the ranch of Secretary of the Treasury John Connally in Floresville, Tex., on Sunday evening.

WHILE THE transcript of the latter contained many remarks about the President's visit to Texas and about domestic affairs, a substantial part of the questions and answers dealt with the possibility of peacemaking in Vietnam.

The upshot of it all is that the United States is in favor of a cease-fire and a withdrawal from South Vietnam of North Vietnamese as well as American troops, so that the prisoners of war can be released and an arrangement made for the establishment of a government in South Vietnam which is to be chosen by the people. The election would not occur at once, but there would be ample opportunity for the people of South Vietnam to prepare for a national election and the setting up of a new government of their choice.

SECRETARY ROGERS reiterated the proposals under which total withdrawal of American forces will be accomplished within a six-month period and an all Indo-China conference will be held. An election in South Vietnam would be supervised by an international commission to be determined in the negotiations. President Thieu of South Vietnam would resign, and the United States would not interfere in any way with the elections or with governmental operations thereafter.

WHEN ASKED how the South Vietnamese could be protected while they are trying to put a government into power which would not be interfered with by the North Vietnamese, the Secretary of State said that these were matters that would be taken up by a supervisory, international tribunal. For the present, it is deemed impossible to have any final negotiation on the formation of a government while the fighting is going on. The objective now is to get the military situation cleared up and a cease-fire achieved so that all attention can be focused on the coopertion needed for the setting up of a new administration in South Vietnam.

SO THE emphasis for the time being is on bringing the military situation to a standstill through a cease-fire, and then to concentrate on what is called a "political settlement." There is talk of a "coalition government" in South Vietnam, but Secretary Rogers fears that the North Vietnamese want complete control of the country. He added:

"Now, if they are willing to have the future of South Vietnam be determined by the people of South Vietnam, then we should be able to negotiate a settlement. That is all we want. But we are not going to — I repeat, the President is not going to permit a defeat of South Vietnam at this point, and we are not going to endanger the lives of Americans who are there."

THE PRESIDENT said he expects the offensive by North Vietnam to continue over the next four or five weeks but that the South Vietnamese "will be able to hold and deny to the North Vietnamese their goal, which, of course, is to impose on the people of South Vietnam a Communist government."

Mr. Nixon explained why he feels it is important to continue to use American air and naval power against targets in North Vietnam as well as in South Vietnam — "to prevent a Communist takeover and a Communist victory over the people of South Vietnam."

'Garage Enterprises'

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Eugene Lang believes that the solution to the U.S. balance of payments deficit might lie with the nation's small businesses, the "garage enterprises" rather than the exporting behemoths.

He uses these figures to explain his position:

Of 300,000 U.S. manufacturers of all sizes, fewer than 4 per cent have any export business. They are introverts. Not much more extroverted are hundreds more whose exports are less than $25,000 a year.

If only 25,000 companies, or far less than 10 per cent of the introverts, obtained an average of $100,000 a year in foreign revenues, $2.5 billion would be added to the bottom line of our balance of payments.

"We could wipe out our foreign trade deficit in manufactured products," said Lang.

As founder of REFAC Technology Development Corporation, which helps small manufacturers earn money from exporting technology, Lang has the frustration of knowing that thousands of small manufacturers could be exporting almost effortlessly but aren't.

Small companies don't have the knowledge of foreign markets. They don't have the credit resources. And, he feels, they don't have government support. That support, he claims, is reserved for the larger companies.

Lang, in a recent speech to the National Industrial Marketing Conference, said he believes that many small companies have valuable technology to sell in the form of special product design, special application facilities, special manufacturing techniques.

These distinctive elements may be covered by patents, associated with trademarks or they may, as confidential know-how, constitute a valuable property right. They make up a small company's "proprietary package."

It is this package, says Lang, that often can be exported in the form of manufacturing licenses or joint venture arrangements. He asks: Why shouldn't the same techniques that worked domestically work abroad also?

In the hands of the right overseas licenses, he claims, technology enables penetration of foreign markets without diverting capital, or management and engineering talent.

The format for making such exports feasible, Lang feels, is through the concept of the Small Business Export Trade Corporation. Each SBETC would handle the exports of at least five manufacturers at its own risk and expense.

To encourage formation of SBETCs, special tax benefits would be offered, in addition to the 50 per cent tax deferral on profits permitted to DISCs.

He has made his thoughts known to the Commerce Department and is now working on details of a bill that he hopes will attract congressional interest.

State Senate Races

Garth Jones

By LEE JONES
(Substituting for Garth Jones)

AUSTIN (AP) — Will ex-Speaker Cus Mutscher's erstwhile friends and supporters suffer on election day for their connection with him?

Will Speaker Rayford Price's dreams of a full two years in office vanish at the hands of a diminutive former House committee clerk and an injured "Dirty 30" member?

Will the Senate move to the right?

These are some of the questions that will be answered by Texas voters Saturday in the first stage of electing a 1973 Legislature that will have more blacks, Republicans, urban members and, possibly, liberals than ever before in this century.

AND THERE is a strong chance the Democratic and Republican primaries will cause the biggest turnover in the House since 1952, when 88 new members were elected out of a total of 150.

Ninety-nine incumbent House members are running for re-election, but only 91 have a chance of returning because redistricting created eight "pairings" of incumbents.

All 31 Senate seats will be filled this year, with 20 senators running for re-election. Nine of them are unopposed.

One of the representatives seeking re-election is Mutscher, who was convicted in Abilene March 15 on charges he conspired with two aides to accept a bribe in the form of stock profits from Houston promoter Frank Sharp. His conviction is now being appealed. Mutscher has two opponents in his district that centers on Brenham, Latham Boone III of Navasota and former Dist. Atty. Hulon Hall of Bedias.

MUTSCHER himself is an issue in many other House races, with incumbents who supported him against critics by the "Dirty 30" last year having to explain to their constituents.

Opponents of Mutscher's former backers are using the issue at every chance.

The issue also is being used against some House members who are running for the Senate, including Reps. Fred Orr of Dallas, Don Adams of Jasper and Mike Moncrief of Fort Worth.

Those Were The Days

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Every man holds a magic baton in his heart.

It is called memory.

With it he can dismiss fears of the future and calm the turbulence of today by restoring and enjoying the serenity of a past time. It is perhaps only by the reassurance that memory provides us that human beings are able to endure this world with the fortitude we do.

You've got a lot to conjure up if you can look back and remember when— Only an exhibitionist changed his underwear more than once a week.

More corn was popped at home over the kitchen stove than in electric machines in the lobbies of movie houses.

One of the nice things about being born into a small family was that a hungry kid usually could have seconds at dinner. In a large family a boy who didn't put enough on his plate to satisfy him at the first passaround was out of luck.

The straw boss in the factory always gave you a lighter work load if you both played on the company baseball team on Sundays.

A husband didn't necessarily wind up in the divorce courts if he told his wife that a woman's place was in the kitchen. But, all in all, women really ruled the roost in those days, just as they do now, but they did it without climbing up on the roof and bragging about it.

The height of anonymity in America was to carry the big bass drum in a small town band for the guy behind you to beat.

As vitamins were discovered one after the other, it was widely predicted that soon everybody in the nation would be healthy and stay that way.

The majority of people were more afraid of dying of pneumonia or tuberculosis than of heart disease.

Every small boy thought the best way to win a girl's heart was to ride nonchalantly past her home on Saturday afternoon on a bicycle without holding on to the handlebars. This probably caused more broken bones then than skiing does today.

Most people didn't expect they'd ever inherit much. If they did, it usually was only a few sticks of furniture, a mortgage, and a couple of mules—not money, stocks or bonds.

It was pretty hard to find a business tycoon who hadn't, as a boy, either delivered the local newspaper or sold the Saturday Evening Post on weekends. There just didn't seem to be any other sure ways to success in later life.

It was common for a man to hold the same job—and stick to the same job—all his life. He didn't like to change either.

Those were the days—remember?

A Devotion For Today . .

By their fruits ye shall know them. (Matthew 7:20)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, help us to nurture our lives in Christ that we may bear fruit which will glorify Thee. This we ask in the name of Him who taught us to pray: "Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory forever. Amen."

State Sen. Joe Christie, candidate for lieutenant governor, blasted opponents Connally and Hobby in a press conference here Thursday.

Christie later made an appearance at the Cosden Oil Company and today toured the courthouse.

"I hope I'm in the runoff with Connally," said Christie, "then we can smoke him out from behind his brother's famous last name and get him off that ranch and talk about his voting record. If we do that, I don't have any doubt that I will win the runoff.

"I'm the only candidate in the race who voted against the food tax, for the corporate profits tax, to repeal annual voter registration and the only candidate in the race to file his latest income tax return as a public document with the Secretary of State."

MORE REPUBLICAN

Christie continued to hit his opponents, saying Hobby was more of a Republican than a Democrat, and that he had supported more Republicans than Democrats.

"I don't favor annual sessions yet," said Christie, "not until we get a full day's work out of the legislators in the time they are already there. They need to put in an eight-hour day, like any working man.'

The only exception to this, according to Christie, should be an annual look at the state's financial condition.

Christie also favors constitutional revision. "The present constitution forces us to operate on a crisis-to-crisis basis, and we need to have a modern document to guide the state."

As far as Sharpstown is concerned, "I think it will have a fatal political effect on those involved, but the voters will look at those who were not involved and vote for them," he said.

"I think the nepotism scandal is over, with all the facts out. I have never had relatives working in state government, either before or after I took office," said Christie.

PREFERS CHANGE

He went on to support some type of competitive insurance, with a maximum charge on coverage instead of the present floor on prices.

Christie returned to his opponents, saying the Madison Avenue approach of Connally kept him on the ranch and Hobby hid behind his billboards.

He supported full legal rights for 18-year-olds and would reduce the penalty for marijuana possession to a misdemeanor.

Christie also supports an ethics bill. "I voted for the strongest ethics bill to be introduced," he said. "I support full financial disclosure, and will continue to work for it.

"I also supported the Texas Water Plan, and will support a water plan in the future. We need to get started on the problems involved in bringing more water here, and stop talking about them."

What Makes Wallace Run?

By REX THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — George C. Wallace as the Democratic vice presidential nominee?

Forget it, says one of his top campaign directors.

"The governor told me just two days ago that under no circumstances at this time would he accept the vice presidential nomination," the aide said Thursday. "And I don't think he would."

Then what makes George run?

If the Alabama governor can force a first-ballot deadlock at the Democratic National Convention, he could try to pry delegates loose from other candidates—a difficult if not impossible task.

More than likely, he will seek concessions from the other presidential hopefuls.

The governor has spoken of trying to influence the drafting of the party platform. Or, he might seek commitments from the other candidates to soften the impact of school busing for racial integration, if not oppose it altogether.

Wallace would have to offer something in return, of course, like turning his delegates over to another contender willing to bargain with him.

And that's where the whole thing could collapse.

Wallace could discover that he couldn't deliver. He may have difficulty, in fact, in keeping some of his delegates from turning against him on the first ballot.

Wallace has said he expects to go to the convention in Miami Beach with 400 pledged delegates.

He has shown surprising strength outside the South in the primaries, running second in Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Indiana following a first-place showing in Florida.

And on Thursday he ran away with the primary in Tennessee, polling about 70 per cent of the total vote cast. The victory also captured the questionable commitment of all 48 Tennessee delegates, which he may have trouble holding.

But the campaign aide who brushed aside the talks of a vice presidential spot said he feels that if Wallace is treated respectfully at Miami Beach, the convention will "wind it up" as far as the governor's role in the presidential campaign goes.

"Otherwise," he added, "hell yes, he'll run as a third party candidate.

Merchants' Stock Split Announced

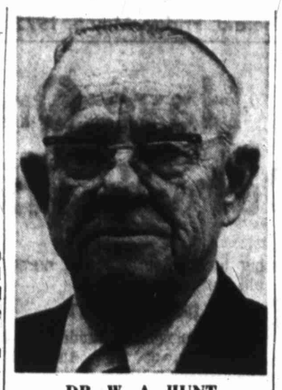

ABILENE — Directors of Merchants, Inc. have announced a three-for-two stock split to be effected in the form of a stock dividend which will result in the issuance of one share of Merchants common stock for every two shares outstanding. The board also approved a 4 per cent increase in cash dividends for the year 1972. After giving effect to the stock split future quarterly cash dividends will be increased to 16 cents per share.

Restrictions Put On Loans

A veteran who buys a home with Veterans Administration financial assistance must certify he will not discriminate in its future sale or rental because of race, color, religion or national origin, Jack Coker, Waco VA regional director, said today.

Coker noted that this is one of the policies inaugurated in the VA home loan program after enactment of the U.S. Fair Housing Law (Title VIII, Civil Rights Act of 1968). The policy applies to guaranteed, insured and direct loans, as well as VA grants to disabled veterans for specially adapted housing.

Coker said in citing another fair housing measure adopted by VA, Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson noted "a builder, developer, broker or sponsor who refuses to sell an eligible veteran a new home can be barred from further participation in the GI home loan program, if it is determined refusal was based on race, color, religion or national origin.

How Much It Costs To Own, Operate Auto

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Highway Administration said today that although Americans spent more than $20 billion last year for new automobiles most of them don't know how much it costs to own and operate a car.

In its publication, "Cost of Operating an Automobile," the agency said the typical owner of a standard-size 1972 automobile will spend $13,553 to buy and operate the car for 10 years—an average of 13.55 cents a mile.

The owner of a 1972 compact car will pay $10,808, or 10.81 cents a mile over the 10-year, 100,000-mile period. The owner of a 1972 subcompact model will pay out $9,444, or 9.4 cents a mile over the decade from assembly line to junkyard.

"During this period, the standard-size-car owner will pay $2,787 for some 7,350 gallons of gasoline," the publication said. "He will pay $2,147 to keep the vehicle maintained and in repair, $1,350 to insure it, and over $1,800 for garaging, parking and tolls.

"His state and federal automotive-tax bill, most of which goes to support the roads he drives on, will amount to $1,319—about 9.7 per cent of total costs."

The publication also reported that:

—Nationwide sales records of 1972 standard-size cars and compacts showed that 70 per cent or more had power steering, more than 90 per cent had automatic transmissions, and 90 per cent had radios. More than 80 per cent of the standard-size cars also had air conditioning. For the subcompacts, power steering was virtually nonexistent, but 45 to 50 per cent had automatic transmissions, and more than 80 per cent had radios.

—Depreciation is by far the greatest single cost of owning and operating an automobile. First-year depreciation is relatively high—16 cents a mile for the standard-size car in suburban use, 11.2 cents for the compact, and 7.8 cents a mile for the subcompacts, in total costs of ownership and operation.

They All Have One Goal, To Get Out Of The Fields

LAMAR, Colo. (AP) — For 11 of his 23 years Manual Rodriguez has toiled for little pay in other men's fields as a migrant farm hand.

His wife, Erlinda, has worked the fields, too. And their two young daughters have tagged along.

Now, Rodriguez wants out of the fields. He wants to settle down and establish a permanent home for his family.

A unique educational program designed especially for people like Manual and Erlinda is opening the way here at Lamar Community College.

Manual wants to become an auto mechanic. Erlinda is learning cosmetology.

"The program has given me new hope," Rodriguez said. "After a year of school I think I can get out of the fields."

Rodriguez, who speaks little English, has been working on farms in Greeley, Colo., and Eagle Pass, Tex., since he was 12. He dropped out of school after the fourth grade to help his older brother support their mother and nine other brothers and sisters.

LEFT SCHOOL

His wife completed the fifth grade before she, too, left school.

And the couple is no exception. Seventy per cent of the 82 persons enrolled, according to program coordinator Anthony Valdez, have no more than the equivalent of a fourth grade education. Some of them speak as little as 100 words of English.

But all have one goal—to get out of the fields.

"The demand for these agricultural workers is declining," explained Valdez, "so we are trying to give these people skilled training so they can settle and become community participating individuals."

The students are trained in prevocational skills such as English, mathematics, consummer economics, job orientation and cultural development.

They also are given vocational training in areas ranging from auto mechanics and welding to cosmetology and nurses aid training.

$500,000 GRANT

The program is funded by a $500,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Labor.

The workers, who range in age from 18 to 50, were recruited in family units of two by the Colorado Migrant Council. They are nearly equally divided between men and women. To qualify a person must have been a migrant farm worker for at least one year with earnings at less than $2,500 annually.

The two most trainable members of each family are chosen for the project. "When they are placed in jobs," Valdez said, "this gives them a better chance to succeed because there are two people who can work."

The students attend classes 30 to 40 hours a week. Each receives $60 a week in living expenses.

One hundred students were enrolled when the program got under way in October of 1971. Since then, 17 have dropped out and one has been placed in a job.

EXPOSED TO BOOKS

Valdez said he expects to be able to place about 50 of the remaining students after their completion of the one-year experimental course. The rest, he said, probably will return to the migrant stream or will find other nonskilled labor.

Missionary Work Studied By Group

The Southern Baptist's foreign missions program was outlinel by Mrs. Dalton Johnston and Mrs. Ross Hill for Women's Missionary Society of Baptist Temple Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. B. W. Simmons, 1703 Alabama.

The work involved in preparing couples to go to Portugal in the early 1960's was used to exemplify the program, and Mrs. Johnston said the call to the mission field comes through thorough Southern Baptist training.

Mrs. Hill said assignment to a foreign mission requires months of study in the country's customs and language, as well as in equipment training.

Mrs. A. W. Page, director, presided and said articles are needed for the church youth planning to attend a vacation Bible school in June in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Members agreed to make 200 tote bags and supply them with toiletry items.

It was also announced that clothing and small articles are needed for under-privileged girls attending Girls' Hope Camp in the Permian Basin Baptist encampment June 5-9 near Stanton.

The missionary prayer and birthday calendar was read by Mrs. Bob Wren. The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., May 9 in the home of Mrs. B. B. Hardee, 2002 Merrily.

Gideons Stage Banquet, Fill Pulpits In Area

Members of Gideons International from over West Texas will converge here Saturday for the annual banquet of the Big Spring encampment.

They will be assigned to 40 churches in this vicinity to speak at the Sunday morning services and to receive offerings for the distribution of the Bible.

O. T. Goldsmith, Houston, who has been a member of Gideons for three score years, will be the featured speaker at the 7 p.m. Saturday banquet in the Settles ballroom. Jim Thompson, encampment president, will preside at the husband and wife affair. At the conclusion of the program, assignments for day engagements will be distributed.

Gideons take their name from Gideon and his band in the Old Testament and are comprised solely of Christian business and professional men. The movement grew out of the inspiration of a Christian travelling salesman.

At first, Bibles were placed in hotel rooms. Later the ministry was extended to schools, hospitals, and servicemen. It took 22 years for the first million copies to be distributed, but now a million copies of the Bible are distributed in the United States and 91 other countries over 45 days. The cumulative total of Bibles given away now surpasses 103 million.

The Bible has been translated into scores of languages, and some copies carry English on one page and the native tongue on the adjoining page. In many countries, the English version is used as a text where English is being taught.

Plan To Aid Tarahumaras

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Luis Echeverria has put into effect a development program to aid the Tarahumara Indians who live in the Chihuahua mountains of northern Mexico.

The program calls for government assistance at once of $8 million to purchase equipment for 10 lumber companies in the area.

Echeverria made the announcement Wednesday after receiving a Tarahumara delegation—the second such meeting in three months. The Tarahumaras were asked by the president to return in 90 days to report progress.

An added $400,000 was granted by Echeverria to be used within the 90-day period for secondary industries in the timber rich mountainous region.

The Mexican government also will invest $10.2 million in the area for development of health centers, schools, roads, airports, water, utility and communications projects to aid the Tarahumaras.

Three local clubs were among those being cited.

The Oasis Garden Club won second place in Garden Therapy, and the Rosebud Garden Club took third place in the yearbook competition. The Planters Garden Club won a horticulture blue ribbon rating.

'Eating For Fun' Program Heard By Phi Sigmas

"Food is given to us not only to sustain life, but to enjoy," said Mrs. Clyde Cantrell in her program, "Eating for Fun," presented to Texas Delta Delta Chapter, Phi Sigma Alpha, Tuesday at the home of Mrs. W. E. Moren, 1301 Eleventh Place.

"We should have enough good sense to enjoy food but not to over-indulge in it," continued Mrs. Cantrell. She emphasized there is a difference between eating for fun and eating for greed. Members discussed aspects of fasting, dieting, vegetarian meals and balanced meals.

Officers for the 1972-1973 club year were installed by Mrs. Johnnie Winham. They are Mrs. Herman Shifflett, president; Mrs. Ernest Bauch, vice president; Mrs. Cantrell, recording secretary; Mrs. Moren, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Winham, treasurer; Mrs. J. A. Duke, program moderator; and Mrs. R. L. Nall, extension officer.

Installation was performed before a table covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of white carnations. Double crystal candle holders with blue and white candles flanked the arrangement.

Plans were finalized for the club's annual spring tea scheduled May 21 in the First Federal Community Room. The next regular meeting is at 7:30 p.m., June 6 in the home of Mrs. Nall, 1305 Scurry.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

From time to time I have come across little hints in my kitchen that I wanted to share with you but somehow never found the time to write.

But now I have a hint that simply must be shared with the many mothers who make those shaped cookies.

I was making gingerbread men: The dough must be chilled at least five hours before it can be worked, and then must be rolled and the shapes cut quickly before the dough warms up

Well, I was rolling a whole section at a time and found my dough getting soft and gooey.

Then I had a brainstorm — use just enough each time to make one cookie and keep the rest chilled all the time.

This presented another problem — how to keep from making a thousnd trips to the refrigerator. Then I had another bright idea . . .

The balls of dough were already wrapped in plastic wrap, so I put a tray of ice cubes in a large mixing bowl and placed my chilled dough on top and just broke off a little dough at a time.

My problem was solved and I had lovely cookies for the girls and my temper lasted a lot longer because I was no longer frustrated with cookies that stuck to the board when I tried to pick them up because the dough was too soft. . . Ann McInnis

LETTER OF THOUGHT

Dear Heloise:

This is a thought on how time flies:

We act our age at forty, we feel our age at fifty; we are sure we're forty-five, at sixty; we think perhaps we should slow down at seventy.

We enjoy a small piece of birthday cake, followed by a teaspoon of soda, at eighty.

And if we make it to ninety, we quietly sit and rock trying to remember what it was we used to do at forty, fifty, sixty, seventy and eighty. . . Great Grandma Bender

• • •

Dear Heloise:

My hint will save all seamstresses a backache.

When cutting out my material, I put each leg of my dinette table on a can (full or empty). All the cans the same size, of course.

This raises the work area to a comfortable height when I am cutting. . . . Sally Owens.

Dear Heloise:

If you have long hair and do all your tinting jobs yourself, this idea might help you as it did me.

I never could seem to get the tinting solution on evenly, sooooo I started using a kitchen meat baster.

I just tilt my head back over the sink, fill the baster with the solution and aim it where I want it to go.

It holds a lot at one time and makes my home job more professional looking. . . . Dorothy

This column is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Installation Stresses PTA Responsibilities

A candlelight ceremony was used to symbolize responsibilities of officers when Mrs. Jack Brown installed the new slate for City Council Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday at Webb AFB Non-Commissioned Officers' Open Mess.

Mrs. Brown told new officers they are "the light bearers" of local PTA efforts for the ensuing year, and she expressed hope that they would be able to "blow out the torch with a degree of satisfaction" following their term.

New officers are Mrs. Roger Coffman, president; Mrs. William May, vice president; Mrs. Frank Moore, recording secretary; Mrs. Fran Bordofsky, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Jerald Burgess, treasurer.

Mrs. May presided at the luncheon meeting, and Sam Anderson, superintendent, presented certificates of appreciation to outgoing council and unit officers.

Mrs. Frank Moore announced the council's scholarship recipient at Howard County Junior College is Deborah Davis, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Ruby Cherry, 223-A Langley.

Instruction for all incoming officers of city council and local units will be held at 9 a.m., May 9 in Room 219 of Veterans Administration Hospital. Mrs. Coffman reminded members that each school will be asked to assist at a fund-raising dinner in mid-September to support next year's city council work.

Registration Opens For Scout Camp

The summer camping program of the West Texas Girl Scout Council has been announced by Mrs. Jewel Jennett, Camping Services Director. Camp Boothe Oaks opens its gates for the 1972 season on June 18. The last session ends four weeks later on July 15.

"We are placing greater emphasis on specialized units this summer," said Mrs. Jennett from the council headquarters in Abilene.

"In addition to the Pioneer Unit for advanced campers, the Counselor-in-Training and Program Aide units, the older Girl Scouts, are offered a week-long canoe trip down the Colorado River," she continued.

Camp folders have been distributed to registered Girl Scouts. Applications for both established camp at Sweetwater and community day camps are now being accepted.

Mrs. Robert Sims, local day camp director, reminds parents that applications for the Big Spring area day camp are due by May 29. Applications should be mailed to the registrar, Miss Connie Thompson, Rt. 1, Box 425-B.

"Camp Seven Wells," located in the Silver Heels addition, will be in session June 12-16, 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Senior Citizens Honored; Church Of God Dedicated

By MYRNA MCFADIN

The congregation of the Church of God, 603 Tulane, is preparing for dedication of their newly-acquired College Park church home Sunday.

Featured guest speaker for the day is the Rev. M. H. Kennedy, state overseer for the Church of God in Texas. The church's youth choir will be featured singers.

The Rev. O. D. Robertson, pastor, welcomes the public to these special services — 9:45 a.m. Sunday school, 11 a.m. worship and 6:30 p.m. meeting.

* * *

May is "Senior Citizens Month," and the First United Methodist Church will honor theirs Sunday.

It begins with the singing of many old hymns. Those present over 65 will receive special recognition. "Dinner on the ground" will be served at noon, with the senior citizens as special guests. The meal will be provided by younger members.

Mrs. Joe Dawes and the Altar Choir will sing fun songs. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McMahon will show slides they made on a "camera safari" in Africa. Mrs. Roy Cederberg has planned the program for enjoyment by the entire congregation.

The Big Spring Baptist Association will hold their monthly meeting 7:15 p.m. Monday at the Hillcrest Baptist Church.

Dr. Guy Greenfield, chairman of the division of social sciences at Hardin-Simmons University, will be featured speaker. Dan McClinton, Baptist Temple, is in charge of special music.

Theme for the meeting is "The Christian Life."

Local members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints won't be attending classes Sunday, and they're not backsliding!

Bishop Craig Funk is encouraging their attendance at the state conference in Odessa. Some members will be leaving early for Saturday leadership meetings.

Elder S. Dilworth Young, member of the church's First Council of Seventy, will speak in the 10 a.m. Sunday session at the Odessa Chapel, 2011 N. Washington. Regular evening services will be held at the Big Spring chapel.

* * *

Area Jehovah's Witnesses will attend the semi-annual circuit assembly in Odessa May 5-7.

C. L. Lunsford, local presiding minister, L. D. Rogers and James L. Watkins have each received service assignments toward organization of the convention.

* * *

The First Baptist Church of Coahoma will host a Lay Witness Mission this weekend.

Activities begin 6:30 p.m. Friday with a pot-luck supper. Saturday's activities include Coke parties for youth, coffees for adults and luncheons for everyone. All members are urged to attend and visitors are welcome. The nursery will be open for all activities.

Guests present will be from Abilene, Pecos, Snyder and Moran. They will be sharing their victorious daily life in Jesus Christ.

* * *

Well-known Texas Baptist evangelist Ken Copeland will be the kick-off keynote speaker at the Full Gospel Business Men's Charismatic Rally Days Conference May 5-7 at the Odessa Inn of the Golden West.

* * *

Former heroin addict Sonny Arguinzoni, widely known as "God's Junkie" because of a book he authored by that title, will be the speaker for the city-wide Odessa "Festival of Truth" Monday.

More than 1,200 young people are expected to attend the 7:30 p.m. event at Bonham Junior High School, E. 21st and Royalty Sts. Admission is free and open to all denominations.

* * *

"The Box," a play starring John Riherd and Roni Haxton, will be presented for the stewardship dinner at the First United Methodist Church Thursday.

Riherd and Miss Haxton both portrayed characters in the high school play "David and Lisa" that brought home a third place trophy in sectional competition.

Church youth will prepare and serve the dinner. Rhea and Ron Haxton are directing the play, and Pat and Ron Medley and Judy Robison are overseeing the dinner preparations.

* * *

The annual Gideons rally will be held Saturday at the Settles Hotel. Forty local pulpits will be filled by Gideons Sunday. Last year in Big Spring the Gideons placed 2,000 New Testaments, 200 hotel and motel Bibles and 100 nurse's Testaments.

Handy Phone

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Five months ago a gal (I'll call her Betty), age 27, moved in with my next door neighbor. Betty came here to get a divorce.

Since my neighbor has no telephone, she asked if Betty could use mine to keep in touch with her lawyer. I said, "Sure." Well, in these last five months, Betty has given my phone number to just about every guy in Las Vegas and out.

She comes in, without knocking, and starts making these collect calls all over the United States, and she talks for hours.

Also, I am expected to go next door and get her at all hours if her boyfriends call. Guys have called me in the middle of the night direct from California, and they get mad at me if I say it's too late to run next door to get Betty.

Abby, I have been insulted by phone a number of times but I kept my cool because I like the neighbors Betty is living with. Well, last Friday when some drunk from Texas called for Betty at 3 a.m., I lost my cool, and I really let her have it.

Now she wants to make up. She says friends don't let a little thing like that come between them. Abby, is this what you call "a little thing?" I'd like your unbiased opinion.

LOST MY COOL IN VEGAS

DEAR LOST: Five will get you 10, there is no way you can spoil the "friendship" between you and Betty. (As long as YOU have the telephone, that is.)

DEAR ABBY: We are Jewish. Our son has recently become engaged to a lovely girl who is converting to the Jewish faith.

For an engagement gift, I was planning on sending her a gold necklace with the Hebrew word for "LIFE" on it.

My husband disagrees with my choice of gift. He feels that we should not emphasize the religious aspect.

What do you think, Abby? We have never met the girl. Do you think that this would be an appropriate gift for her or not? IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: When in doubt, don't.

DEAR ABBY: I need help! My husband works the night shift and I am absolutely petrified from the moment he leaves the house until daylight the next morning.

He calls me "foolish" and laughs at me because I am such a "fraidy cat" but I just can't help it. I have been so afraid that I have actually cried!

I have close neighbors, guns, a telephone at my elbow and even a dog, but these things don't make me sleep any better. I also work (during the day) and I can hardly keep my eyes open at work any more because I don't get any sleep at night.

I am about to crack up. I don't have anyone I can ask to stay with me at night. Nobody understands why I am so afraid. My husband (whom I really love very much) refuses to understand how frightened I am when I am alone and it's dark outside. Even I can't understand it. Please, please help me. I am not crazy, I am just . . . AFRAID OF THE DARK

DEAR AFRAID: It's probably an overactive imagination combined with some unresolved fears from your childhood. If I were you, I'd see a psychiatrist. It's a lot cheaper than a nervous breakdown.

DEAR ABBY: I have read so many letters in your column from young daughters-in-law who were critical of their mothers-in-law.

Please, Abby, tell these young women not to judge their mothers-in-law until they themselves have been a mother-in-law. I have been a mother-in-law for three years now and believe me, it has made me a much better daughter-in-law!

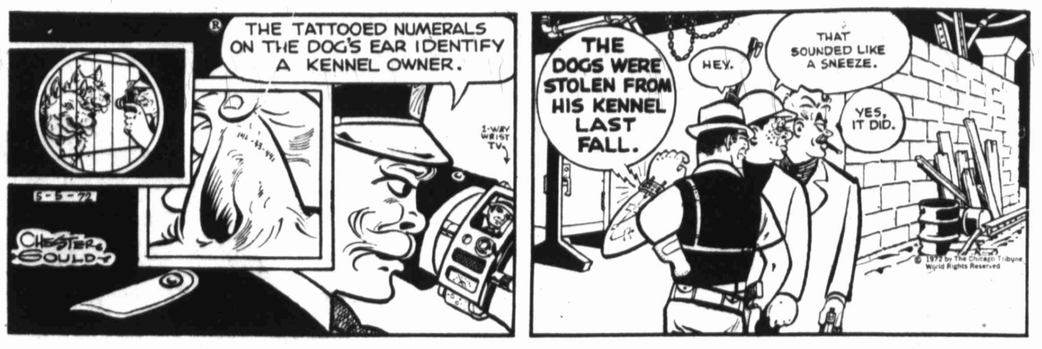

If only a young woman could realize that a man does not have to stop being a son in order to be a good husband.

Need Nutrition

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our 14 year-old son joined his high school wrestling team. I think it is a fine sport but one thing bugs me.

He was a well-built lad, not overweight, always having proper exercise and food. He trains hard, but his coach is a fanatic on weight, and the boy had to lose several pounds.

This was not done with a proper diet, but by going hungry and in any way possible to get down a few pounds.

He is not doing well and he looks pale with red eyelids. I hate to do it, but my better judgment tells me to pull him out before he runs into real trouble.

Some of the boys on the team go for a couple of days without eating a thing, in order to qualify for a match. Would you please make some public comment on this? — W.F.

Is this public enough?

I think wrestling is a good sport, too, but NOT at the expense of proper nutrition. A low calorie diet with ample protein will give him strength and allow weight loss.

In my experience, most coaches have a sane regard for the health of their boys, but when a fanatic starves his boys, as this one is doing, he has just lost perspective on what life and coaching are all about.

I fervently hope that he develops some sense immediately.

If not, if it were my son, I would insist that he either ignore the coach's unwise instructions or quit the team — and most certainly inform the school authorities why.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 73. Lately after driving about 30 miles I get a pain in the back of my upper right thigh and the leg gets a little numb-like. Left leg not affected.

If I stop and walk around the car a couple of times the pain is gone. Would the tension of holding the right foot on the accelerator cause a strain on the sciatic nerve? — C.E.P.

Your tension idea is probably correct. Two suggestions: adjust seat to lessen stretching of leg; or consider a small support for your lower back in the seat.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: The time is after dusk, the place a concrete-walled basement, outdoor temperature 34 degrees, inside 70, humidity very high.

In the group present is a lightly clad baby, two months old, sleeping in a shallow seat. I suggested a lightweight cover for the sleeping baby since in my opinion the baby might not have the metabolism to offset the conditions in the basement. Was my suggestion one of merit or of ignorance? — G.W.

Merit. While a baby's metabolism is rather high, all body processes (metabolism, pulse rate, blood pressure) decrease with sleep.

At 70 degrees, the youngster could be cold unless given some lightweight cover.

Dear Doctor: Would you please tell me why the person who drinks a lot has such an extension of the stomach? — N.N.

Not stomach; belly. Well, alcohol represents a lot of calories so the steady drinker sometimes gets fat. And sometimes the liver develops cirrhosis and there's swelling due to an accumulation of excess fluid as a result. And sometimes the chronic elbow-bender just doesn't get much general exercise.

High blood pressure can be controlled. To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, get "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)" by Dr. Thosteson. To obtain a copy of this helpful booklet, write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

KEN LANCASTER

Lancaster Lands Third In State

Ken Lancaster bobbed up and down on wind-swept Lake Amistad in a fishing boat battling six-foot swells, but he overcame the obstacles to place third in the annual State Bass Tournament last weekend at Del Rio.

Lancaster, one of the best known bass fishermen in the area, finished the contest with a string of bass that weighed in at seven pounds, four ounces. He placed behind Raborn Waites of Austin who had a Sunday string which weighed nine pounds, eight ounces and Alton Burns of Waco with an eight-pound, six-ounce string.

There were 766 contestants entered in the individual fishing event. The Texas Bass Tournament is considered the largest largemouth-bass fishing tournament in the world.

Lancaster said, "I would have finished first if I hadn't lost some fish." Lancaster described four of the fish that got away. "With those fish in the bag, I would have taken the crown."

Another Big Spring entry placed well in the tournament. Rusty and Vicki Marten, entered in the husband and wife division finished fourth in the tournament. They tied an Odessa couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Coffemy, for that slot with both couples having a three pound total.

A cold front moved in last week which scattered the fish. That made it tough for the qualifying round. Lancaster and Mr. and Mrs. Marten all made the cutoffs. Only 409 remained for the finals in the individual tournament after eliminations were made.

Mr. and Mrs. Dom Rogers of Forth Worth won the husband-wife event with a seven-pound, three-ounce catch. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McBee of Del Rio placed third with a four-pound, four-ounce catch. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lewis of San Antonio placed third by netting three pounds, five ounces.

FAMILY FISHIN' — Rusty and Vicki Marten hold the trophy they won as a husband and wife team in the State Bass Tournament last weekend. Rusty and Vicki placed third in the husband-wife event with a three-pound string of fish. Both are members of the Big Spring Bass Club.

Reds Clip Cards, 9-5

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "Thank God for Bobby Tolan," Sparky Anderson said, but the Cincinnati Reds also owed a debt of gratitude to Tony Perez' glove.

Tolan's line-drive triple cemented a 9-5 Reds' triumph Thursday over the troubled St. Louis Cardinals after Perez, a former All-Star third baseman playing first base, kept them in the game.

St. Louis had battled to a 4-4 tie in the seventh when Perez made his move.

A shot off Matty Alou's bat seemingly headed for the right field corner was instead speared by the 6-foot-2 Perez and Alou was held to a single.

The bases were jammed as a consequence, but sinker ball specialist Clay Carroll came on to fan Joe Torre on four pitches and turn the tide.

After the game, Anderson exuded. "I was just telling the guys on the bench, "Thank God for Bobby Tolan. He's leading us in hitting, he's leading in doubles, he's leading in triples and he's leading in most hits.

Tolan, whose hits boosted his major league-leading average to .438, struck his most telling blow as the Reds exploded for five runs in the eighth.

Overshadowed by Tolan's hit but not forgotten by Anderson was Dave Concepcion's winning single, boosting his RBI count to 13. He had 20 all last year.

Only one other baseball game was played Thursday as the Chicago Cubs defeated the Atlanta Braves 8-0 in the National League. A scheduled American League game between Chicago and Baltimore was postponed by rain.

Milt Pappas pitched a six-hitter and Rick Monday, Jose Cardenal and Jim Hickman supplied the offense as the Cubs defeated the Braves.

LAST SIGNUP

Tomorrow is the last day for girls to register for the Miss Teenage Softball League. Girls may register in the Highland South Shopping Center in the mall area Saturday from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. and from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Tryout dates will be announced early next week after the registration is completed this weekend.

Yesterday 147 girls signed up for the league in their respective schools.

The winners of the league will go to Disneyland in California.

Midland Cubs Dump El Paso

The Midland Cubs dumped El Paso, 8-6 last night to pull out of a nose dive that had sent the Cubs deep into the cellar of the Texas League West Division.

The Cubs scampered by league-leading El Paso to bring their record to 10-11, only one game bhind El Paso, supporting a 11-10 slate. The Cubs snapped a string of losses that had sent them spinning from first place to last place.

The Cubs meet El Paso in a home game tonight. In other league action tonight, Amarillo meets San Antonio in the Alamo-city.

Gorman Thomas, the Texas League's leading home run hitter, belted a homer in the bottom of the 12th to give San Antonio a 5-2 victory over Amarillo to tie for second place with Amarillo in west Division play.

In East Division action, Memphis whipped Shreveport, 6-4 to hold the lead in that division while Alexandria defeated Arkansas, 9-4.

A two-out error by Shreveport second baseman Stan Martin opened the floodgates for the winning rally as the Blues defeated Shreveport.

Paul Womble scored from second base on the boot and before three Shreveport relievers could close the door the Blues had pushed across five unearned runs.

State Track Meet's Starting Gun Fires

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The state schoolboy track meet opening today looks like a showcase for the Texas A&M Freshman football backfield next season. The young Aggie recruits have speed to burn.

Five state championships will be decided today and Saturday, with Odessa Ector and Sealy favored to defend their 1971 titles in Class AAA and AA.

Fort Worth North Side should take the AAAA championship away from Port Arthur Lincoln, which still appears strong with a good mile relay team, quartermiler Michael Rideau and discus thrower Albert Mullen.

Wall looks to be the best in Class B, and a five-team race between Forney, White Oak, Kress, Rankin and New Deal is expected in Class A.

A&M football recruits at the meet include Alvin Walker of Del Valle, who has run 100 yards in 9.5 seconds and 220 in 21.8; Carl Roaches of Houston Smiley, 9.7 and 21.3; and all-state Earnest Bean of Kirbyville, who has run the 100 in 9.85.

The Aggies also will get Sammy Dierschke, of Sealy, powerfully built like a football player, who is the best all-around sprinter in the state. Dierschke has won the 220 two straight years in AA and holds the state record of 21.1.

He also won the 100 last year in 9.7 but will concentrate this year on the 220 and 440 and mile relays, which count double points.

Allen Misher of Houston Sterling has tied the national 120-yard hurdles record in 13.4 seconds and has run the 330 hurdles in 37.3, just six-tenths of a second over the national mark.

Whitney Paul, the Galveston strongboy, has hurled the discus 195 feet 11½ inches, compared with the national record of 201-3.

Area Fishing

High winds , and unsettled weather kept fishermen off Lake E. V. Spence part of last week, hence fishing news was reduced.

Particularly hard hit by the winds was white bass fishing, for on several days trolling was not possible.

However, there were some catches, for the W. P. Beavers family of Snyder, reported catching 43 of the sand bass, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lampton, Midland, landed 25 white bass weighing up to a pound and a half.

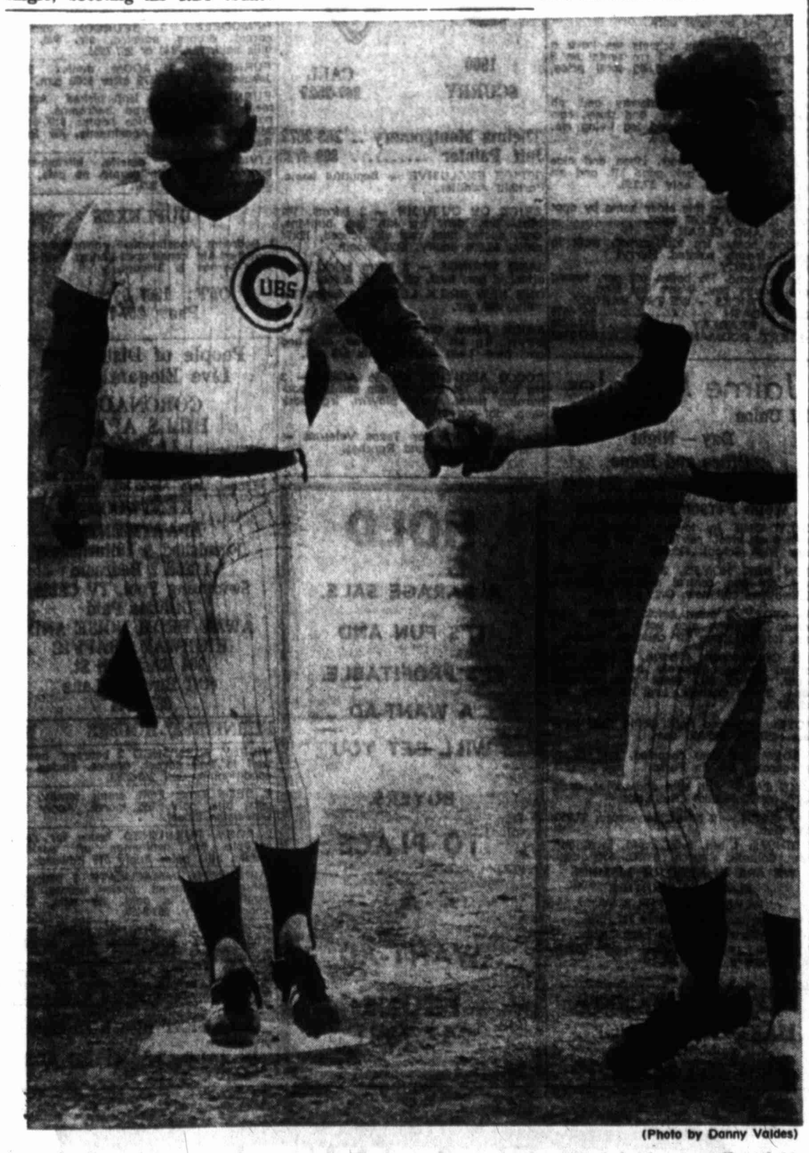

Doyle Caulder, Robert Lee, came in with a string of 17 channel cat weighing up to four pounds, and James Jennings, Odessa, also reported catching 17 channel cat ranging up to two pounds.

F. L. Haley and Lloyd Haley, Robert Lee, reported boating 25 crappie ranging up to a pound and a half.

The big catch at Lake J. B. Thomas was a 47-pound yellow cat by Claude Hodnett.

HE FLUNKED — One Eyed Tom, a Kentucky Derby hopeful, was introduced to the starting gate at Churchill Downs, but the horse wheeled around and ran behind the gate. Four other tries were about as successful. The colt, which has never run in a race, didn't make the grade among the candidates for the Kentucky Derby which starts tomorrow.

Riva Ridge Is Favorite In Rich Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Riva Ridge, a winner of many important stakes and over $500,000, will oppose 15 other 3-year-olds in the Kentucky Derby Saturday including Dr. Neale, a sore-heeled veteran of four races and earner of $6,347.

Riva Ridge, Meadow Stud's 1971 2-year-old champion is the early favorite while Dr. Neale, owned and trained by Chuck Nicholas, was put in the mutuel field after being entered Thursday for the 98th running of the Derby at Churchill Downs.

Riva Ridge's toughest competition is expected from Mrs. Maribel Blum's Hold Your Peace, the Flamingo and Stepping Stone winner; J. R. Straus' No Le Hace, first in the Arkansas and Louisiana derbies, and Paul Mellon's Head of the River.

Others entered were Joseph and William Stavola's Middletown Stable's Freetex, Forrest H. Lindsay's Sensitive Music; Corbin J. Robertson's Introductivo, Robert Michell's Our Trade Winds, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reinhold's Big Brown Bear, Preston Madden's Kentuckian Bruno Ferrari's Pacallo, Dr. Hassi Shina's Hassi's Image, Robert Lehmann's entry of Majestic Needle and Napoise and Max Gluck's Big Spruce.

If there are no scratches, the Derby will gross $182,800, making it second only to last year's $188,000 renewal as the richest Derby ever. Saturday's winner's share will be $140,300.

Each starter will carry 126 pounds over the 1¼ miles on a track expected to be fast. The Weather Bureau now predicts no rain in Louisville on Derby Day. Missing from the Derby will be Mellon's Key to the Mint, winner of the Derby Trial Tuesday in his first start since being injured March 15.

Riva Ridge will start from the No. 9 post under Ron Turcott; Hold Your Peace with go from the third slot under Carlos Marquez; Phil Rubbicco will take No Le Hace from the outside post; Head of the River will leave the No. 14 gate under Mike Hole, and Freetex will go from on the rail under Chuck Baltazar.

Bobby Kotenko was named on both Majestic Needle, who drew the 12th post, and Napoise, who got No. 13.

Riva Ridge, who won the Hibiscus and Blue Grass in three starts this year, worked five furlongs in 1:01 2-5 Thursday to the satisfaction of trainer Lucien Laurin.

Marine Tourney Starts Friday

QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—The 16th annual Marine Corps Relays got under way today with veteran performers seeking to defend their championships in a number of early field events.

Among those scheduled to get an early start were such individual winners from a year ago as Norm Tate in the long jump, Ernie Hearon in the shot put, two-time champion and record-holder Tom Gage in the hammer throw and record-holder Joe David in the high jump.

Thorpe Takes Lead In Houston Tourney

HOUSTON (AP) — Chuck Thorpe, a rookie pro who once had a brief fling as a first baseman with a Pittsburgh Prates farm team, held a one-stroke lead going into today's second round in the $125,000 Houston Open Golf Tournament.

"I'm just gonna go out and try to play the same," the big, rangy guy said. "I'm not gonna play safe, even if I shoot 80. I'm gonna hit it for the flag on every shot and try to make every putt."

Thorpe, one of the few black players on the pro tour, dominated the par fives on the Westwood Country Club course Thursday en route to a six-under-par 66 and a one stroke margin over Don Bies and Hale Irwin.

Dapper veteran Doug Sanders, out of action with a wrist injury for the last month, Jack Ewing and Jim Ferriell followed at 68 with Australian Bruce Devlin, rookie Lanny Wadkins and Bob Menne at 69.

Frank Beard, one of the few big name players to enter this event which replaced the old Houston-Champions Invitational on the pro schedule, withdrew after six holes because of a hand injury.

He joined Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino, Billy Casper, South African Gary Player and Chi Chi Rodriguez, winner of last week's Byron Nelson Classic, on the sidelines.

Bruce Crampton, an Australian veteran who has been in positon to win a half dozen times this year and ranked as the pre-tourney favorite here, was far back in the pack at 74.

The hard-hitting Thorpe, a 6-foot-3, 190 pound son of a greenskeeper at Roxboro, N.C., is making his second try on the pro tour. He played briefly in 1968, before running out of money. He returned to the tour this year under the sponsorship of Walter Burkemo, an old PGA national champion, after spending a couple of seasons playing on the Negro tour and in Canada.

The 25-year-old said he played "a couple of weeks with a Pirate farm team in Asheville, N.C., in 1967.

"But they suspended me for three days one time for slipping off to the golf course, so I said, 'what the hell,' quit baseball and turned pro in golf."

He started in the game as a caddy on his father's course, Roxboro Country Club. "They let us caddies play on Monday.

"Before that I started hitting balls. I didn't have any clubs so I went off in the woods and whittled me out a stick shaped like a club. I could hit it 230, 240 yards with that.

"When I finally got me some clubs, I felt like a gorilla. I didn't know how far I could hit it."

His long game—"I had one drive today about 320 yards"—paid off in his domination of the par five holes on the 6,998-yard par 72 Westwood Country Club course.

He birdied all four of them with the longest putt about four feet. He also made a pair of threes from about 12 feet and saved par on the only two greens he missed as he took a lead for the first time.

He finished strongly last week, however, shooting 65, 68 in his last two rounds for a seventh place finish—his best as a pro—and a $4,000 check, almost half his total of $8,690 in winnings this season.

Women Golfers Continue Meet

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., who has won the Southern Women's Amateur Golf championship six times, today faced Luann Thames of San Antonio, Tex., playing in the tourney for the first time.

Miss Riley eliminated Mrs. Paul Dean of Lakeland, Fla., 6 and 3 Thursday while Miss Thames defeated Debby Marsalis of Shreveport 2 up.

Beth Barry of Mobile, Ala., hurdled another obstacle in defense of her title by ousting Ann Hollier of Opelousas, the Louisiana amateur champion, 2 and 1, and will meet Mrs. E. M. Cox of Lafayette in today's third round of play.

Mrs. Cox, another newcomer in the 57th annual event, defeated Denise Snellman of Mobile, Ala., 4 and 3.

Betty Ferguson of Houston, Tex., turned in the quickest match of the day by beating Mrs. R. D. Bowman of Fayette, Ga., 8 and 7. Miss Ferguson will play Judi Jehle of Montgomery, Ala., who beat Mrs. L. L. Shertzer, also of Montgomery, 7 and 5.

Mrs. Ted Boddie of Shreveport and Mrs. Paul Hedrix will meet in the other third round match. Mrs. Boddie defeated Mrs. R. W. Crow of Houston, Tex., 6 and 3 while Mrs. Hendrix beat Mrs. William Dills of Muskogee, Okla., 6 and 5.

1602 MARCY DRIVE

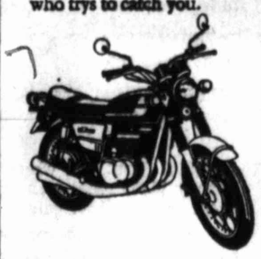

The Suzuki GT-750. It gets competition hot trying to keep up.

This is the first really new bike in over 40 years. A 3-cylinder, 2-stroke that's water-cooled for greater and more consistent performance. 67 hp/6500 rpm. 115-120 mph. 4 pipes, 3 carbs. 5 speeds. CCI automatic lube. Electric starter. 5-way adjustable rear shocks. Does the 1/4 mile in 12.6. Get hot: get a GT-750. And say goodbye to competition.

The Suzuki GT-380. Its styling puts it ahead of everybody. Its engine keeps it there.

38 hp/7500 rpm. 105-110 mph. 3-cylinders, 4 pipes, 3 carbs. 6 speeds, CCI automatic lube. 5-way adjustable rear shocks. You'll swear you're on a much bigger bike. So will anyone who trys to catch you.

Well, It's Like This, Mr. Mayor

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Mayor Roy Webber expected higher rates to finance the city's multimillion-dollar sewage treatment plant improvements, was still astounded by the first water bill he received after the work.

"My secretary said she didn't know we had to pay for the plant by ourselves," the mayor said of the $4,600 bill he received for his flower shop and home.

The problem was traced to a billing error by the city's computer.

Researchers Link Moon To Murders

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Outbreaks of murder may be triggered by the moon tugging on "biological tides" inside the human body, a team of psychiatric researchers has found.

Dr. Arnold L. Lieber, a senior resident in psychiatry at the University of Miami's medical school, said a two-year study had established a "scientifically sound relationship" between phases of the moon and the murder rate in Dade County.

Lieber said a chart of Miami-area homicides over the last 15 years plotted according to moon phases looks remarkably like a chart of ocean tides.

Using computer programs, Lieber and Dr. Carolyn R. Sherin of the University of Miami, analyzed nearly 1,900 murders that occurred between 1956 and 1970.

The data revealed that the county's murder rate began to rise about 24 hours before the full moon, reached a peak at full moon, then dropped back before climbing again to a secondary peak at the new moon.

While the effect of the moon's gravitational pull on humans is small, Lieber said it may be enough to touch off emotional instability in "borderline" cases. This instability is reflected in the murder rate, which he terms a reliable measure of its effect on the general population.

Liber said the makeup of the body itself helped him turn to the concept of "biological tides" to explain the phenomenon. The body is "a microcosm comprising essentially the same elements and in similar proportions as the earth's surface—approximately 80 per cent water and 20 per cent minerals," he said.

"I feel that eventually we are going to show that any organism, human or animal, is an integral part of the universe and responds to changes like variations in the solar cycle and the lunar cycle."

When the moon and sun are in proper position to exert their greatest gravitational force on the earth, Lieber added, there seems to be even a more marked increase in "ruthless and bizarre" violent crime.

During this "maximum tidal force," which occurs once about every 14 months, Lieber said Dade County's murder rate temporarily rose to four and five murders a day.

Voc-Ed Report Goes To Smith

AUSTIN — The third annual report of the Advisory Council for Technical-Vocational Education, an edition keyed to "Stimulating a Commitment to a Redirected Educational System," will be sent to Gov. Preston Smith this week.

Major activities detailed in the report include results of 28 community conferences held in all sections of the state early in 1972. One of these was held in Big Spring. Questionnaries completed by approximately 1,000 of the interested persons who attended the open meetings from Pampa to Brownsville show definite support for future emphasis on career education and more response to the individual needs of students.

"We decided to test our recommendations to the State Board of Education with as many people as we could reach in all areas of Texas, big cities, and small towns alike," Alton Ice, executive directior of the council, points out.

"Our survey results show 87 per cent of the Texans we are able to reach definitely in favor of more public school emphasis on career preparation and opportunities for adults to either prepare for jobs or seek new training," Ice adds.

Bill Jones, Odessa, serves as committee chairman.

Instant Bean Is Now Available

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department scientists say they have developed the instant bean.

Ins'ead of a housewife soaking beans prior to cooking, the new process involves a powder which can be mixed with water and then used quickly for soups, party dips and other dishes such as meat loaves and bean pies.

TERI TROUBLE: (Q.) I'm in love with Teri. When I'm with her I have the most wonderful feeling.

But she likes it better when I'm not with her. At least she acts that way. She has broken up with me three times.

It's great when she comes back, but the time in between is terrible. How can I turn it around so she will like being with me more? — Can't Keep Her in Maryland.

(A.) You may have been pressing Teri to commit herself to you. This is rough on a girl whose mind is not made up.

Make an agreement with her to date less frequently, and for her and you to date others in between.

Let her SEE you on dates with other girls. Seeing that other girls like you may help her to decide that she likes you.

PANTS PLEA: (Q.) I'm so clumsy. I never know where to put my hands or feet. Boys stare at my legs and my feet and my arms. My arms are so skinny. My legs too.

I can't wear long sleeves or pants. I cry all the time. Everybody at school makes fun of me. I'm the only girl that doesn't wear jeans.

I saved my own money and bought a pair of striped pants. They looked so good on me. They hid my skinny legs. But Mother wouldn't let me wear them. If I have to keep wearing dresses I'll drown in tears. Please help me! — Sick of Skirts in Ohio.

(A.) Have you talked to your mother seriously, openly about pants? Have you told her everything you told me? Have you tried to make her understand how important it is to you to look as attractive as you can at school and other places?

I don't believe you have. You are very persuasive and have some very good reasons (I had to cut several out to save space). Talk to your mother just as persuasively as you have talked to me.

Good Orators

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP) — A local youth was destined to win the American Legion oratorical contest held here. It couldn't have been any other way — his name is Dan L. Webster.

Webster, whose namesake, Daniel Webster, was one of the great U.S. statesmen and orators of the 1800s, received a gold medal and a $25 Savings Bond for winning the contest. He spoke on "Our Living Constitution," which was one of the original Webster's favorite topics.
