Coke To Renew Court Battle

Area Children To Be Guests Again Today

100,000 Attendance Is Seen For Fair

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

AN attendance well over 100,000 at the 31st annual Panhandle-South Plains fair was virtually assured Thursday by a 12,586 turnout for First Children's day.

The total gate for the first four days was increased to 83,155, with two of the biggest days of the fair remaining. They are College and Second Children's day today and Press and Grand Finale day tomorrow.

There is no prospect that the all-time attendance record of 145,273 set by the 1935 fair will be broken. But, barring the wholly unforeseen, a total turnout exceeding last year's 107,817 seems a certainty.

More Visitors Seen Today

The attendance Thursday exceeded the most optimistic expectations of fair association officials. They were expecting an enormous drop following the 47,913, an all time record for any day in fair history, who passed through the turnstiles Wednesday when the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus provided the biggest attraction ever presented by a fair in the Southwest.

The officials also were expecting that the attendance on First Children's day, set aside for pupils of area schools, would be relatively light. Many school officials were reluctant to grant holidays which would interrupt the week's class work. Many advised that they preferred to give holidays on Friday, thus lengthening the weekend absences from classes. Consequently, the expectation is that most of the out-of-town Children's day visitors will be on hand today.

Area Attendance Large

Even so, the out-of-town attendance Thursday was large—estimates ranging from 4,000 to 5,000. Approximately 40 buses from more than a score of area schools brought delegations of students. Among those represented were Wellman, Enoch, Fairview, Brownfield, Tahoka, Bled-

Area Road Work Given Approval

Initial approval of three South Plains farm-to-market roads, including one of major importance to southeastern Lubbock county, was given by the State Highway commission in Austin Thursday, the Associated Press reported last night.

They were included in the 1950-51 federal aid program to improve 788 miles of primary highways in Texas at an estimated cost of $48,823,800, subject to the usually routine approval of the Public Roads administration. Plans are to get the work under way next year, the dispatch said.

County To Share Cost

The Lubbock county project branches from U. S. 84, popularly known as the Slaton highway, extends east 4.5 miles and then south four miles back to a juncture with U. S. 84, passing the entrance to Buffalo Lakes en route. Estimated cost is $48,000, to be paid 75 per cent by the county and 25 per cent by the state.

Several county officials when informed of the move last night professed surprise at the highway commission's action. County Judge Walter Davies, presiding officials of the commissioner's court, said he recalled no agreement or contract binding the county to pay any part of the cost. County Clerk Louie F. Moore, who keeps the records of the court's proceedings, said he was sure no such agreement had been made. Another official said plans for the project had been submitted to the state commission for study and consideration, but had not been approved by the commissioner's court here.

Wide Area Affected

Conjecture here was the highway commission gave the tentative approval on its own initiative, based on a survey and traffic count last spring, in the expectation that its recommendation to improve the road will be adopted by the county commissioner's court.

The survey showed, officials here were advised, that the road would serve 136 farms now in cul-

Dancer Pardoned For Slaying Of Chicago Man At Havana

HAVANA, Sept. 30. (INS)—Patricia "Satira" Schmidt was pardoned tonight from her 15-year prison sentence for the yacht slaying of her married lover, Chicago lawyer John Lester Mee.

The pardon was signed by President Grau San Martin. It came less than a year after the exotic 22-year-old American dancer was sentenced.

Patricia has been in Guanabacoa jail since her arrest shortly after she shot and fatally wounded the 33-year-old Mee in a lovers' quarrel aboard the yacht Satira, named after the dancer.

Allied Air Lift Building Up 'Siege Stocks'

By OMER ANDERSON
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Sept. 30 —American and British airmen on the eve of completing 100 days of supplying Berlin have built up "siege stocks" for 39 days ahead despite increased Soviet atempts to interfere.

Maj. Gen. William Tunner former "China hump" commander in charge of the $393,000-a-day operation, declared tonight:

"No interference, intimidation, nor technical difficulties will curb the Allied air lift."

Communist anger at the success of the sky freight trains, which they said originally would fail, had increased visibly tonight.

Reds Denounce Air Lift

Berlin Communist leader Hermann Matern told a Communist "democratic bloc" which usurped city assembly seats at the Berlin city hall:

"The air lift will have to end one way or another. This fantastic nonsense cannot be allowed to continue."

But U. S. Military Governor Gen. Lucius Clay, Berlin Commander Col. Frank Howley, and Gen. Turner all declared it will continue.

Clay had said previously that no Soviet action short of war will oust the Western Allies.

More "Incidents" Predicted

Gen. Clay said in Frankfurt today that the buzzing of two U. S. transport planes by nine Soviet fighters yesterday "is yet another Soviet effort to force us out of the corridor," and added:

"It will take more than buzzing to interfere with the air lift."

Clay did not commit himself on whether fighter escorts will be provided if the Soviet harassment continues, but he predicted "further incidents" in the tense situation.

The military governor also predicted "Communist-inspired demonstrations" from now on through the American presidential elections in November, and said: "They won't worry us."

Col. Howley told a combined German and Allied news conference that the Soviet siege of Berlin "is the most inhuman blockade in modern times—one which all the world knows is unnecessary and unjustified."

Food Stocks Built Up

Howley revealed hitherto secret figures of the Allied air lift showing that the airmen have built up food stocks greater than when the Soviet siege began.

An average reserve stock of 39 days is on hand. Forty-eight days of flour are available compared to a 25-day stock at the beginning. Meat is up 43 days from the original 18.

Howley said a hike in general rations is being considered, but warned Berliners they face a cold winter of difficulty.

PIONEER PACKER DIES

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (AP)—Charles Henry Swift, 75, pioneer Chicago meat packer, died tonight. He was chairman of the board of Swift and Co. Ill two months with a lung infection, he died in his home at 209 Lake Shore Drive on Chicago's gold coast.

FEDERAL CHARGES FILED HERE

Lubbock Man Held In $12,000 Diamond Ring Theft At Airport

BOND of $1,500 was posted at 3:30 p. m. Thursday by Billie Dale Pollard, 25, of Lubbock, after he had waived a preliminary hearing before Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. commissioner, on a charge of stealing a $12,000 diamond ring from interstate shipment.

Bond was marked returnable instanter. Next term of U. S. court for the Lubbock division of the Northern Federal district will be convened Nov. 22. Unless Pollard were to waive indictment and plead guilty to a criminal information his trial probably will be called at that time, it was indicated.

FBI, Rangers and a special agent of the Prevention and Security department of the Railway Express Agency, Inc., combined to work out investigatory elements of the case, newsmen were told.

As related by officers and others connected with the investigation, here is the story of the theft and arrest:

The daimond ring involved in the theft was part of a collection of fine jewelry valued at approximately $2,000,000 which was shown recently at Anderson Bros. jewelry store here.

The diamond ring was being sent back to a firm in the East by Andersons after being shown here. It was shipped via air express, to be carried by Pioneer airlines.

GOP FOREIGN POLICY OUTLINED

Dewey Warns U. S. Will Not Be Bullied Or Bluffed

(By The Associated Press)

GOV. Thomas E Dewey said Thursday night that it should be made plain to the Russians that we "do not intend to be bullied or bulffed."

Dewey devoted almost the whole of a major speech at Salt Lake City to international relations. President Truman meanwhile pounded away in Illinois and Kentucky on domestic issues such as housing, living costs and labor legislation.

In one broad field, the Republican and Democratic presidential candidates were agreed—the United States must be a healthy, flourishing nation in these times of world uncertainty. They differed as to which party could deliver better on this.

Demos Saved Homes

Campaigning through coal mining sectors of southern Illinois, Mr. Truman declared that big business is "rubbing its hands in the hope of another boom and bust spree under a Republican administration."

The Democratic party, Mr. Truman said at Carbondale, Ill., has helped send farm income soaring, saved home owners from eviction, made the banks safe and protected the public in the sale of securities. He held out the promise of "another era of hope with liberal democracy."

GOP candidate Dewey said in his Salt Lake City address that military strength, important as it is, is not enough to wage peace.

More Production Urged

"Our policies will encourage an abundant, increasingly productive nation," he pledged for the Republicans. "We shall see to it that depression and mass unemployment—which the Communists and their allies have been hopefully predicting—never return to blight our land. A productive, united America, increasing in well-being, is a bulwark for our foreign policy, a bulwark for the world's peace."

Mr. Truman drew crowds at numerous stops on his way through Illinois to Louisville. He left his train for a 141-mile automobile trip through coal fields where members of the United Mine Workers make up an important voting factor.

While Mr. Truman has had serious differences with President John L. Lewis of the UMW—and

Two Dogs, Horse Do Masters Good Turn, Get Homes For Life

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—If you do your master a good turn he won't have the heart to throw you out.

From Massachusetts to Connecticut to New York, two dogs and a horse learned this lesson today and saved themselves from homelessness—or liquidation.

As the liner Queen Mary arrived today, a 100-pound Alsatian named Dicksie was greeted by its owner, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith.

Dicksie would have been put to death in England because of her too-healthy appetite, if Mrs. Smith hadn't won $250 on a radio quiz program to pay for Dicksie's passage.

Helped Pay Way

Mrs. Smith wouldn't have been here to win the money if Mr. Smith hadn't come here first to work for a Bridgeport, Conn., factory and saved the money to bring his wife to America.

And Mr. Smith wouldn't have been able to come himself if Dicksie hadn't produced 10 pups a year ago so Smith could sell them to pay for his passage.

So when the Smiths' Pridgeport landlady refused admission to Dicksie, they moved

Two Dallas Milk Distributors Announce One-Cent Price Hikes

DALLAS, Sept. 30. (AP) — Two large Dallas milk distributors today announced one-cent a quart increases in the price of milk.

Milton Adams, of Cabell's ice cream and dairy stores, said the increase in wholesale and retail prices would be effective Friday. Buttermilk prices would be increased one half cent per quart, he said.

At the same time, the price of Tennessee dairies' milk delivered to stores will go up one cent a quart.

The new price, to the store, not to the customer, will be 20 cents for regular, 21 for homogenized milk, 30 cents for whipping and 20 cents for light cream.

The price rise was precipitated, Adams said, by the higher price Dallas distributors "were forced" to pay producers to compete with out-of-town competition.

Recently the Dallas distributors increased their price to producers to $6.60 per 100 pounds of raw milk.

RED OFFER TURNED ASIDE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—The United States today turned aside Soviet Russia's proposal to withdraw all occupation troops from Korea. It said in a brief formal note to Moscow the matter is "part of the larger question of Korean unity and independence," and at an "appropriate time" American views on the entire issue will be presented by the United States delegate to the United Nations General Assembly."

U. S. Offers To Give World Atom Secrets

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Sept. 30.—The United States today renewed its offer to give the rest of the world the secret of the atomic bomb and blamed Russia for blocking international control of the deadly weapon.

U. S. delegate Warren R. Austin told the United Nations Assembly's political committee that his government wants no monopoly on atomic force. Then as October president of the Security Council he set 3 p. m. Monday as the hour for the start of debate on the fateful issue of Berlin where the western powers charge the Soviet Union with threatening the peace of the world.

Fear Supplants Hope

Austin said Russia had blocked global control of the atomic bomb by refusing to sacrifice any of her sovereignty to permit international inspection and control of sources of atomic energy. He noted the Soviet Union vetoed a majority-accepted control plan in the council.

"Fear has supplanted hope," he said, "because the Soviet Union has insisted on placing its sovereignty athwart security for all." Austin said the United States is willing to submit to international control and inspection because the Americans "want peace for the world, for themselves and for their children."

Austin will be in the chair when the first round in the battle over the explosive Berlin blockade comes up. American sources said that once the agenda (calendar) is adopted, Austin will turn the gavel over to Argentina, the next council member alphabetically. Foreign Minister Juan Atilio Bramuglia is expected to sit for Argentina for the crucial debate.

French Reds Back Russia

There also were these developments in UN circles:

1. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told the Assembly's 58-nation social committee that the United States would accept a proposed world bill of human rights without amendment if all other nations follow suit. There seemed little chance of acceptance of her offer due to opposition from the Soviet bloc and other quarters.

2. France's Communists joined those of Britain in backing Rus-

Wallace Scores El Paso Ballot

EL PASO, Sept. 30 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, speaking in Spanish, said in a campaign speech here tonight:

"If my country deposits confidence in me, when I am president of the United States, I propose to end all types of discrimination originating in race, color, nationality, or religion."

The speech was prepared for delivery before a mixed crowd including many Latin-Americans and negroes. It was partly in Spanish and partly in English.

El Paso Balloting Hit

In the English portion the Progressive party candidate for president, 24 hours after being egged in Houston, pledged he will carry on the fight against racial segregation and poll taxes "so long as I live."

Wallace also:

Promised that his party will end the unfair treatment of Spanish speaking Americans and what he said was their use by big corporations as a pool of cheap labor.

Charged that El Paso has no secrecy of the ballot and demanded that the Justice department and the House Un-American Activities committee investigate all interferences with free and secret balloting. He called such interferences true subversion.

MONTANA BASE TO BE USED

Air Force To Train Top Pilots To Keep Berlin Air Lift Going

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The U. S. Air Force announced an immediate, intensive program of training crack pilots to keep the Berlin airlift going indefinitely.

The Air Force announcement, reflecting official conviction that the current low point in U. S.-Russian relations precludes any foreseeable lifting of the Berlin blockade, said the training will take place at the Great Falls Mont., base.

This was a wartime Air Force base established to confront pilots with weather conditions they might expect to meet in Europe.

The sudden announcement also indicated that the pilots who have flown "operation vittles" into Berlin for three months—during which high hopes were held for settlement of the east-west split—must soon be relieved for rest.

The Air Force said an air corridor 20 miles wide, width of the air lane into Berlin, will be laid out at Great Falls with traffic and communications setups identical to the German operation. The announcement added.

Hitch-Hiking Skunk Deposits A Few 'Scents' For Fare

A hitch-hiking country skunk put cab driver Osby James, of 3308 Ave. H, and cab No. 23 temporarily out of business Thursday night just when business, because of the fair crowds, was booming.

James had delivered a fare to Buffalo Lakes about 8:30 p. m. and was returning to Lubbock at a leisurely rate of speed when he saw a skunk jump up in the road ahead of his cab. He smelled the animal after he passed the spot . . . and he kept smelling the animal all the way to the cab stand, but considered that he had only a minor collision with the unwelcome varmint.

However when James crawled out to investigate, he found the skunk had not been run over and left behind on the Buffalo Lakes road. The animal was perched on the gravel pan of the car, and apparently had ridden there all the way into the city. James took his dead-head passenger to the city limits and dispatched him with a stick.

Late Thursday night James was getting a complete change of clothing and the Bryant cab company was wondering how to deodorize a taxi.

Solon Accuses Soviet Spies

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Rep. McDowell (R-Pa) declared today Russian spies have stolen and transmitted to Moscow "one hundred or more" top American military secrets.

McDowell, acting chairman of the House un-American Activities committee, said the secrets were collected by a far-flung western hemisphere espionage ring. He called for impeachment of Attorney General Clark for failure to prosecute members of the network.

The congressman said that in addition to atomic secrets, Moscow got highly restricted jet propulsion and gun information.

Impeachment Urged

The House unit, in a report Monday, called for the indictment of four Americans for wartime atomic espionage in behalf of Russia.

The report declared that the Justice department has ample evidence on which to seek indictments.

McDowell said today that if Clark "does not proceed to prosecute those against whom the government has evidence, he should be impeached."

McDowell said the committee feels that it may be necessary to "add to our American system of jurisprudence to cope with this thing—but we have to stop it."

He added that prosecution of the

Two Killed In Auto Collision Near Kermit

KERMIT, Sept. 30. (AP)—Two persons were killed and four others were hurt, two critically, in a collision of automobiles last night one and one-half miles west of Kermit on the Wink highway.

The dead:

Mrs. Vivian Gober Carter, 25, of Wink.

Charles Carter, 46, oil company employe and no relation of Mrs. Carter.

Mrs. Charles Carter, who was riding with her husband was critically injured. Their daughter, Melba, also was hurt.

Vance Irwin Nix of Hobbs, N. M., was gravely injured. Charles D. Clark of Eunice, N. M., was hurt.

Investigating officers said Mrs. Vivian Carter was riding in a car with Nix and Clarke. The Charles Carter family was in the other automobile.

Door Is Left Open By High State Court

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 30 — The State Supreme court refused today to close the door on any further effort by Coke R. Stevenson to question certification of Lyndon B. Johnson as Democratic nominee for U. S. senator.

As matters now stand — with all pending litigation in federal courts — the court said in effect, it has no jurisdiction. Stevenson's lawyers had said they planned no state court litigation, but that they would press their appeal from a U. S. Supreme court ruling that lifted a federal court injunction barring certification of Johnson.

The state's highest civil court denied Johnson's motion for permission to file a mandamus suit that sought also to force the secretary of state to certify Johnson, and to compel county election boards to print his name on the ballot.

Stevenson To Appeal

The court noted that Johnson had already been certified and there was no showing to indicate that the election boards would fail to do their duty.

In addition to the mandamus, the suit would have enjoined Stevenson from "interfering in any manner" with the secretary of state and the election boards in performing their duties, or "from prosecuting any action in any court" to halt certification.

This action topped developments in the heated senatorial contest. Other political litigation developments were:

1. Announcement by former Governor Dan Moody, attorney for Stevenson, that he would ask the U. S. Supreme court to set aside the order by Associate Justice Hugo Black, staying U. S. District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson's injunction barring Johnson's name from certification.

2. A statement by Davidson who said in an interview at Dallas that "the U. S. Supreme court has altered my opinion, but it hasn't changed my mind. . . There is nothing further I can do in the case. I must observe the ruling of a higher court." He was referring to Justice Black's order Tuesday, lifting the injunction Davidson had granted pending investigation of Stevenson's allegations of vote fraud in Duval, Jim Wells and Zapata counties.

Lubbock Girl Is Shooting Victim

Condition of Mrs. Margie Price, 18, of 1907 Fifteenth was considered not serious and she was resting well late Thursday night, it was announced at Lubbock Memorial hospital, where she had been rushed early that afternoon for treatment of a gunshot wound in the abdomen.

The wife of an Army private, William B. Price, who is stationed in California, she told McDonald ambulance drivers that the gun, a .22 caliber rifle, "went off."

Found Near Phone

She was attempting to load the weapon, District Attorney Lloyd Croslin was informed, in the 1601 Twenty-eighth residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin F. McMasters.

The gun was found across the living room from where the girl lay on the floor beside a phone that had been dragged off its desk, when the ambulance arrived.

The district attorney and Detective LeRoy Boling, jr., quoted the ambulance company as saying a call was received there about 1 p. m.

Asks For Ambulance

A feminine voice asked: "Send an ambulance to 1601 Twenty-eight and rush."

The ambulance drivers, F. T. Black and Tommy Bailiff, rang the doorbell and someone asked that they go to the "back door."

When they went in they found Mrs. Price on the floor. They asked what was the trouble, and Mrs. Price told them the gun had

Red Upheavals In Indonesia Are Called Part Of Asia Revolution

By DANIEL BEHRMAN
INS Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 30.—Netherlands government spokesmen said tonight that the Communist-led upheavals in Indonesia are part of a general time-table for revolution in the southeastern Asia.

Dr. J. H. Van Royen, acting chief of the Dutch delegation to the UN General Assembly, hinted at Dutch military action if the Indonesian Republicans fail to smash the rebellion.

Van Royen linked the Communist outbreak at Madiun in eastern Java with the Communist activities in Malaya, Burma, and French Indo-China.

His government does not intend to press a complaint before the Security Council.

Called Internal Affair

Van Royen said:

"The Indonesian outbreak at present is an internal affair and we do not believe the Security Council is competent to act."

He added that the Dutch will follow a hands-off policy as long as the Indonesian Communists remain within the new republic's borders.

The Dutch never have settled their own difficulties with the Indonesian Republicans themselves despite the efforts of a UN "good offices" team.

The Indonesian republic under a plan by the Dutch will be part of a United States of Indonesia under the Dutch crown by the target date of Jan. 1, 1949.

Van Royen and other Dutch spokesmen said the Communists are trying to take advantage of the troubles between the Dutch and the Republicans.

Van Royen said "now that southeastern Asia is on the road to independence the Communists feel they can dominate its weak, new national governments."

CAPTURE OF EASTERN JAVA CITY IS ANNOUNCED

BATAVA, Sept. 30 (INS)—Indonesian Republican troops tonight announced the capture of Madiun, eastern Java city which was the center of a Communist uprising ten days ago.

The Republicans said that the Communists fleeing from Gorang village northwest of Madiun murdered more than 100 religious and political leaders and looted the village.

The Moscow-trained Communist leader Muso, and, his ally, Dr. Amir Sjarifundin, former Socialist premier in the republic were missing.

They were believed to have escaped to the jungle-covered mountains nearby, and are being hunted in continuing operations.

The Republican news agency Antara quoted an order of the day by Colonel Subruto, Republican military governor, as saying that Madiun fell after an eight-day battle.

Retired Concert Musician Takes Stradivarius Violin To Grave

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Sept. 30. (INS)—Louisa Terzi, retired concert violinist, took her Stradivarius with her to the grave today.

The instrument rested at her feet as her casket was lowered into the ground.

The artist—Mrs. Louisa (Nana) Debois in private life—died last Sunday at the age of 78.

A granddaughter, Mrs. Ramona Carlson, said the violin once was valued at $45,000 but was cracked and seared in a fire and had little more than sentimental value.

Miss Terzi won the violin in Milan, Italy, nearly 60 years ago in competition with 300 musicians.

It was her favorite instrument during her long career and when she became ill several months ago she asked that she be allowed to take it with her in death.

Mrs. Carlson said:

"Nana loved the old violin so much—almost like one of her own children—that she wanted it with her after she died."

Special Philippine Police Seek To Close Trap On Rebel Leader

MANILA, Oct. 1. (Saturday) (INS)—Eleven companies of special Philippine guerrilla police thrust into the marshy areas of northern Luzon today in an effort to trap Hukbalahap rebel leader Luis Taruc.

The reinforced units will attempt to "seal" Taruc in the bogs of western Nueva Ecija in the province of North Pampanga.

As the war against the Rebels moved north some guerrillas were reported trying to break through the borders of the province and other Huks were fleeing the Sierra Madre mountains.

Illinois Bobby Soxer Freed Of Charge She Killed Father

WHEATON, Ill., Sept. 30. (INS)—Frances Korbelik, 16, was acquitted of a murder charge today when the prosecution's case collapsed because an alleged confession that she killed her father, William, 42, was not admitted as evidence.

The defense's request for a directed verdict of acquittal was not opposed by the prosecution.

Prosecuting attorneys had admitted they had no case unless a reported confession by the brunette bobby-soxer was admitted as evidence.

Circuit Judge Win E. Knoch heard the request of Joseph Lustfield, Frances' attorney, and then acquitted the attractive high school girl of a first degree murder charge.

Government Orders Halt To Licensing Television Stations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (INS)—The government today suddenly stopped issuing licenses to operate television stations until technical difficulties interfering with transmission are remedied.

Wayne Coy, chairman of the Federal Communications commission, said the "freeze" will last until federal engineering standards are revised top to bottom to improve television service. He indicated the project might take six months.

Coy announced that 303 pending applications for stations are affected by the "freeze." He emphasized that the 37 stations now on the air are not affected. Neither will the order affect companies holding permits for construction of 86 other stations.

Several Changes Loom

The FCC chairman also gave assurance that possible revision of television standards will not affect sets now in use.

He indicated, however, that the commission may reduce the rate at which it has been granting licenses and may reduce the number of stations in some cities.

Coy explained the chief transmission difficulty has been caused by tropospheric interference experienced because some stations are too close together. He said stations using the same channels should be 150 miles apart, while stations operating on adjacent channels should be 75 miles apart.

The commission will start work on new rules almost immediately at an engineering conference to be called.

Gov. Jester May Visit In Mexico On Trip To El Paso

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. (AP) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester will fly to El Paso Tuesday and he may go to Chihuahua City, Mexico, on the same jaunt West.

Jester will speak at the annual meeting of the League of Texas municipalities. He said he also hoped he would be able to accept the invitation of Gov. Fernando Foglio Miramontes of Chihuahua to visit him at the capital of the Mexican state.

Sharp Drop Reported In U. S. Iron, Steel Product Exports

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. (INS)—The Department of Commerce reported today that iron and steel product exports fell to 2,457,400 tons in the first half of 1948.

This is 26.5 per cent below the total for the same period last year.

Exports fell about 15 per cent below the 1947 average in the first quarter of this year. Second quarter export quotas were six per cent below those for the first three months.

RETONGA GREATEST EVENT OF HIS LIFE DECLARES TEXAS MAN

MR. R. H. ELY

Could Hardly Bear Aches And Pains in Muscles And Hips. Also Suffered Tortures from Bloating And Constipation. Feels Fine Now and Hails Retonga

"I felt better the very first day that I started taking Retonga," gratefully states Mr. Robert H. Ely, widely-known resident of 2806 Runnels St., Fort Worth, Texas.

"For a little over a year I suffered torment from excruciating pains in my muscles and hips," continues Mr. Ely. "In fact, it reached the point where I could hardly get along, even with the aid of crutches. At times the pains were almost unbearable. I dreaded for night to come, for I knew that I would be lucky if I got just a few cat-naps. I had to be very careful of my diet to keep down my toxic condition. After nearly every meal I would have that uncomfortable, full feeling in my stomach and bloat so that at times it seemed as if I wouldn't be able to get my breath. I had to use strong laxatives continually and I lost so much weight I was beginning to look like a skeleton.

"The relief Retonga brought me was one of the greatest events of my life. Nothing had given me any real relief despite the hundreds of dollars I spent. As soon as I began to take Retonga I started feeling better. Within a short while the aches and pains let up and I began to go as I pleased. I sleep good, eat heartily without bad after effects, and no longer use strong laxatives. I have regained 15 pounds and continue to put on weight. My friends all ask me what I have been doing to look so much better and only one word gives them the answer—Retonga."

The active ingredients of Retonga are purely herbal, combined with Vitamin B-1. Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency, and constipation. Accept no substitute—insist on the original. You can get Retonga at all good drug stores. Adv.

Show Made In Andrews Test

Flowing oil production from an undeveloped region in Andrews county, announced Thursday holds current interest in West Texas oil circles.

Champlain Refining company No. 1-F University, slated 10,200-foot wildcat in central-southwest Andrews county 20 miles southwest of the town of Andrews, has indicated the discovery of flowing oil production from the Clear Fork-Permian.

This prospector ran a drillstem test at 7,104-7,275 feet. The tool was open for two hours and 15 minutes.

Gas appeared at the surface in 12 minutes. The volume was not gauged or estimated.

Now Making Hole

The drill pipe unloaded 43 stands of oil and 21 stands of salt water. The prospector is now making hole below 7,840 feet in lime, with shows of oil or gas.

This venture is in the area between the Block 12 field, and the recent discovery from the Devonian made at Humble Oil & Refining company No. 12 J. E. Parker.

The Champlin project is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 34, block 12, University survey.

It is going on down to try to locate and test the Ellenburger. Top of the Clear Fork was called at 5,930 feet, on an elevation of 3,319 feet.

Application Filed

Skelly Oil Company has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to start operations at once on a 3,200-foot wildcat in central-southwest Andrews county.

This exploration is located 660 feet from north and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 34, block 12, University survey. That puts the venture about one mile northwest of the Champlin No. 1-F University, which has shown for a possible discovery from the Clear Fork, and is now making hole under 7,840 feet in lime.

Project Purpose Given

The Skelly project is to try to locate and develop production from the Yates sandy lime.

That formation is producing gas and one and three-quarter miles to the north at The Texas Company No. 2-T Texas, which is on the south side of the Block 12 field, and at the center of the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 22, block 12, University survey.

Oklahoma Special Sessions To Change Segregation Laws Seen

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 30. (UP)—Oklahoma's legislators believed today that they might be called into special session to revise racial segregation laws which were held unconstitutional by a federal court.

A statement written by Gov. Roy J. Turner was read before the special three-judge court yesterday. Turner said that a special session to amend segregation laws "is the answer to our problem."

Turner, who travelled through eastern Oklahoma last night with President Truman, issued his statement after the judges announced their decision.

The case was brought before the court by G. W. McLaurin, a negro, who asked that he be allowed to attend the University of Oklahoma.

The decision, read by Circuit Judge A. P. Murrah, said the panel "refrained from granting McLaurin an injunction on the assumption that the state will amend the law" so that negroes will have equal educational facilities.

District Judges Edgar S. Vaught and Bower Broaddus sat with Murrah in the case.

CHANGING STYLES

NOW that stylists are having their way about pencil slim skirts and sloping shoulders for women's apparel, they are turning to men's fashions and come up with the startling news that drape shapes and extreme shoulder pads are out. Form-fitting dubs are coming our way.

Such clothing deviations are going to be hard on vain men who like tucks to conceal a paunch and who want their coats cut comfortably and loose and their shoulders built way out to make the little woman think they are as broad as Max Baer. Sloppiness will be taken out of men's clothing.

ACCREDIT the fit in men's clothing to the lingering influence of military uniforms. The trench coat, caught with a tight belt — the officer's coat of World War I — is still with us and the Eisenhower jacket came out of the last world war.

Along with the narrower, more honest shoulders, will come coat collars that fit high on the neck.

ON LAUGHTER

WE wish the powers that be would let Bob Hope or some other quick comedian introduce a few fast gags in the United Nations general assembly. Everything in the world now-a-days seems so grim, so serious, so military.

Good comedy shared among the nations might have a salutary effect like the Disney comedy, "Three Little Pigs," which turned the tide during the depression and had the whole nation chanting "Who's Afraid Of The Big Bad Wolf?" Until the animated cartoon came along and showed how funny it was, nobody had a sense of humor about the huffing and puffing and blowing in of houses that was taking place.

Perhaps the answer to today's tied up problems lies in laughter; in comedy that would make strong, unalterable prejudices and hatreds seem ludicrous.

Wouldn't it be fine to see French, Russians, Americans and the British all laughing at the same thing? There are a lot of things people could laugh at if they were given a chance and we think laughter makes for understanding.

BEDTIME TALES

PARENTS who have difficulty in getting their youngsters to bed will be interested in "A Treasury of Good Night Stories," edited by Caroline Horowitz and just published.

Designed for the three-to-seven-year-olds, it is a carefully selected group of stories well within a child's comprehension.

There are no disturbing ideas, no situations which will strike terror, no attempt to capture interest through a frightening plot. The 36 stories are accompanied by full-page illustrations highlighting each story. The shortest stories take two minutes to read, the longest, eight.

WE PREDICT

THE Woman's Angle isn't comparing herself to Doctor Litkenhous and we hope Joe Kelly doesn't think we are trying to take over the sports department, but the October haze, the atmosphere of football and the predictions to right and left have got us going too. So we are taking typewriter in hand and without regard to any particular system or to points (which we cannot understand) we suggest that:

Tech Red Raiders will gallop over the SMU Mustangs in spite of the Mighty Walker.

New Mexico will have the top score over Texas.

Texas A. and M. will be singing the Aggie cry of victory when the last whistle has blown for the tussle with our Oklahoma cousins.

And TCU will win over Arkansas.

RUG DEMONSTRATION PLANNED—The hooked rug section of the home demonstration clubs booth at Panhandle-South Plains fair grounds will be the scene of demonstration by Lubbock's county club women on making hooked rugs at 2:30 p. m. and 4 p. m. today. Mrs. Lloyd Seymore of Sudan, secretary of the Lamb county council and member of the Blue Bonnet club, was in the booth when the above photograph was made. (Staff Photo).

Today's Town Talk

Miss Ruth E. Ford, a vice-president of Citizen's Natoinal bank, who has been attending the annual convention of the Association of Bank Women in Detroit, Mich., has gone by plane to Montpelier, Vermont, for a few days' visit with Mrs. George Hunt. The Lubbockite will return home early next week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Maedgen, sr., 1811 Broadway, will return this weekend from Detroit, Mich., where they have been attending a meeting of the American Bankers' association. He is president of the Lubbock National bank.

Dan Davis, business administration student at Texas A & M, went to San Antonio for the Tech-Aggie game last weekend and has written to his mother requesting permission to attend a game in Fort Worth next weekend. He is liking college very much.

Wanda Lee James, 1504 Twenty-fifth, is a member of one of the trios of the Lon Morris college 1349 voice choir. The group will wear new robes carrying out the Jacksonville school's colors of green and white at its first appearance on Sunday, Oct. 17, at the First Methodist church in Palestine.

Four sets of girls' trios have been selected and these twelve girls will be used in different combinations of two sextets, trios and girls' ensemble.

Mr. and Mrs. George Caddel and baby daughter of Amarillo are here visiting their parents, Messrs. and Mesdames John R. Freeman and E. E. Caddel, of 2810 Twenty-first and 1012 Seventeenth, respectively.

Among the groups of Lubbock residents who will drive to Dallas this weekend to attend the Texas Tech-SMU game are Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Harvey and their son Dewitt, whose date will be Pat Cox.

Parents of some of the members of the Westerner football team will be in Austin for the high school game tonight. Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Young will be on hand to cheer for their son Malcolm. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hensley will be watching especially for the plays their son, Jack, makes, and they will be accompanied in their car by Francyne and Fdda Lyne Cox, Blair Hankins and Doral Sandlin, 1948 LHS basketball star and now a freshman at Tech. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ross, jr., will have a son, Clayton, on the team, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rooker are the parents of Westerner Bob Rooker. Mothers of the boys are all members of the Westerner Mothers' club.

Spending a part of their vacation in Lubbock are Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Cooley and five-year-old son, Edwin Mark, of Amarillo. They will be guests of Mrs. Cooley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bell, 1912 Ave. R, until this afternoon when they are to leave for El Paso. The Cooleys traveled for several days in Colorado.

Convocation will open with high mass at 10 o'clock at St. Elizabeth's church, at which time the choir will sing under direction of Paul Schaefer.

Registration will be held at Hotel Lubbock after the mass with voting delegates registering with Miss Grace Gilson, Mrs. Earl Drerup of Littlefield or Mrs. William Farschon of Slaton. Others will register with Miss Mary Jo Cole, Mrs. William Wyche or Mrs. William Fritz.

Bishop Laurence FizSimmons will address the luncheon at the hotel and following a short recess, a business session will be held. A 4 o'clock tea will conclude the activities.

Mrs. W. H. Melton and Mrs. C. W. Ratliff are in charge of arrangements for the luncheon and reservations are being made at this time. Mrs. T. S. Brown will be in charge of decorations.

Scientific Methods Discussed By Club

"A Scientist and His Methods" was theme of the program presented at a Thursday morning meeting of Daleth chapter, Delphian society, in the home of Mrs. D. M. Beach, 1623 Sixteenth.

Mrs. B. E. Needles was program leader and was assisted in the discussions by Mesdames Garland Newsom, Porter Owen and John D. Frye.

As guests arrived, they were served coffee with Mrs. J. L. Watson presiding at the silver service, assisted in serving by Mrs. Newsom.

Others present were Mesdames H. E. Archer, F. W. Groce, A. G. Swanson and J. W. Mallory and F. A. Kleinschmidt.

The chapter will meet with Mrs. Newsom, 2819 Twenty-seventh, Oct. 7, at 9:15 a. m.

CHILE QUALIFIES

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Sept. 30. (U.P.) — The Atomic Energy commission today announced that Chile has become the 22nd foreign nation to qualify for receiving radioisotopes from the atomic plants here.

The isotopes, on which widely-varied scientific research projects are under way, already are being delivered to 15 countries.

Lubbock High School Paper Given Honor

The Westerner World, Senior High school newspaper, has been given All American rating from the National Scholastic Press Association on the basis of last spring's issues, Mrs. Dick Cozby, director of publications at the High school, announced Thursday.

The rating is the highest possible achievement for weekly publications printed commercially for schools with 1,000 to 1,399 enrollment.

The National Scholastic Press association studied papers printed from Jan. 20 through remainder of the school year.

Dan Davis, now a student in Texas A & M college, was editor. Carolyn Lipshy, now a journalism student in the University of Missouri, was co-editor during the early part of the spring semester. Bruce Brown, now attending the Naval academy at Annapolis, was assistant editor.

Other staff members were: Business manager, Betty Formby; advertising manager, Charles Bartlett; sports editor, Marlin Smith, jr., feature editor, Janet Crandall; art editor, Bob Duff; Photographer, Robert Miller; circulation managers, Sheila Jondahl and Jamie Hinson; bookkeeper, Billie Jean Morris; file clerk, Thelma Cantrell.

The score book received from the N. S. P. A. especially commended the front page make-up and listed the sports page as consistently good every edition.

"SO EASY NOW TO GET BETTER CAKES _thanks to Spry with Cake-Improver!"

SAYS AUNT JENNY

TRY MY BUDGET SPICE CAKE WITH LEMON FONDANT FROSTING

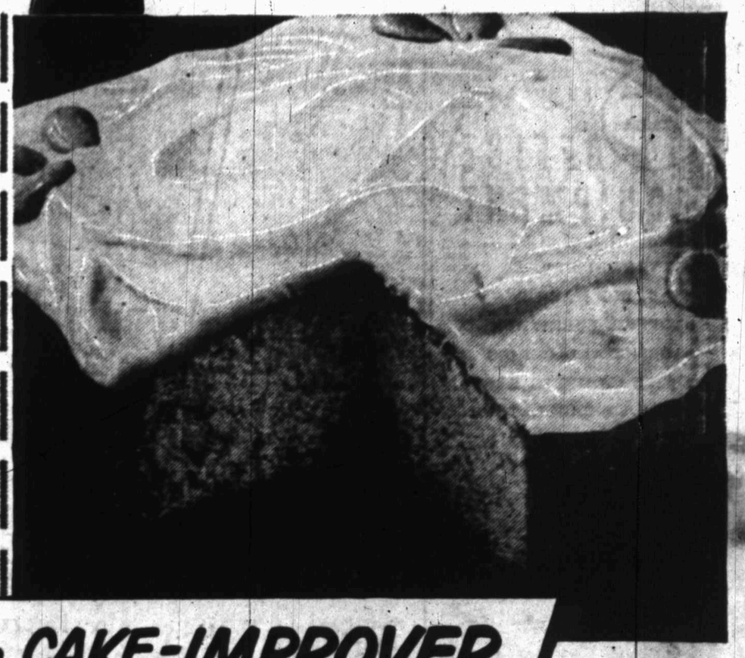

1¾ cups sifted cake flour
¾ cup sugar
2 tsps. baking powder (or 2½ tsps. tartrate baking powder)
1 teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup Spry
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg, unbeaten

"AND they won't cost you a fortune, either! You just try the recipe at left. Budget Spice Cake, I call it, for it's easy on your budget. But its delicate spicy flavor, its fine grain and texture, suggest a far more expensive cake. For Spry contains a special Cake-Improver ingredient you get in no other type shortening. It makes cakes lighter, richer-tasting, keeps them fresh longer. Be smart—use Spry for all your baking and for frying, too. You'll taste the difference!"

SIFT flour, sugar, baking powder, nutmeg and salt into mixing bowl . . . Drop in Spry. No need to cream it first. Spry is soft, blendable, mixes instantly . . . Add milk and vanilla and beat 150 strokes (1½ minutes by hand or on mixer at low speed) . . . Scrape bowl and spoon or beater . . . Add egg and beat 150 strokes (1½ minutes by hand or on mixer at low speed) . . . Bake in Sprycoated 8 x 8 x 2-inch pan in moderately hot oven (375° F.) 25–35 minutes. Spread Lemon Fondant Frosting on top, making attractive ridges on cake. Decorate corners with almonds. Tangy lemon flavor blends wonderfully with the delicate spiciness of the cake.

Lemon Fondant Frosting

Place in saucepan 1 cup sugar, ⅓ cup milk, 1 tablespoon Spry, 1 tablespoon butter and ¼ teaspoon salt. Bring slowly to a full rolling boil, stirring constantly, and boil briskly 1 minute. Cool to lukewarm. Add ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind and beat until thick enough to spread.

Reds Start New Drive In Poland

WARSAW, Sept. 30 (AP) — The Communists stepped up their drive today against Poland's peasantry, whose inclinations toward capitalism have the government worried.

Roman Zambrowski, member of the Communist party polituro, said in a speech that some 226,000 peasants, many of them members of the Communist party, are tainted by "personal advantages." Of these, he said, there are 20,000 who own 25 to 50 acres of land, and many "have become capitalists."

Campaign Is Planned

The party's executive committee has appointed action squads to conduct a purifying campaign among what the committee calls this alien class. The government intends to carry out this drive by buying up crops of poorer peasants at good prices and taxing heavily the kulaks, or rich peasants.

Throughout Poland the peasants have been on a selling spree, turning their goods and cattle into cash to beat the Communist socialization drive.

Justice Minister Henryk Swiatkowski, chairman of the Socialist executive committee, demanded an all-out purge of "reactionaries." He also attacked the Vatican, accusing it of lining up with the west against the Soviet union and Eastern Europe.

Purges now have extended to all walks of life. The action squads are trying to help President Boleslow Bierut close gaps in the Polish Communist front caused by deviation from the line of the Communist International Information bureau (Cominform) by Vice Premier Wladyslaw Gomulka and his supporters.

Left-wing Socialists are holding rallies in all big towns and cities to oust all who oppose the coming Socialist merger with the Communists.

Street Name Changes Confuse Mexicans

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 30. (INS) —Mexico's streets are in what one newspaper terms "the utmost confusion."

But as far as that goes most of Mexico's residents are in the same state with regard to the streets.

Most of the streets especially in the older parts of the city, have two, three or even four names. Each one is known by the name it bore during the childhood of the resident. Thus in one family the same street will be known by one name to the grandparents, by another to the parents and by yet a third to the younger generation.

Confusion Increases

Confusion in nomenclature came about at each change of regime in Mexico's equally confused political history. During the times before Purfirio Diax, who was president during the 1880s and 1890s, streets were given names straight from Spain and from the church. The street of the True Cross, the Street of the Five Martyrs were in the pattern.

With Diaz the nomenclature was changed to French and classical forms. Diaz was a lover of France and a classicist whose attempt to turn Mexico City into a minature Versailles resulted in his exile.

When the revolution came in 1910, the names of both Diaz — Classicism and earlier Catholicism were ruthlessly erased and revolutionary heroes were honored with street names. To add to the confusion, street name plates are few and ancient, many will bear the old names.

Top Texas Demo Officials To Discuss Campaign Today

HOUSTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—Top officials of the Texas Democratic party are to meet here tomorrow to discuss the Truman-Barkley presidential campaign.

National committeeman Wright Morrow said "the all-important matter of finances," will be considered by the group, invited here by Morrow.

Expected to attend are Mrs. H. H. Weinert, Seguin, national committeewoman; Mayor Tom Miller, Austin, chairman of the Texas Truman-Barkley Finance committee; John C. Calhoun, Corsicana, new state executive committee chairman, and Mrs. Claude Hudspeth, San Antonio, new committee vice-chairman.

Morrow said the Texas campaign for the Democratic ticket will be discussed generally by the party leaders.

Jive Hep Girls Make Best Cafe Workers

WINNIPEG, Sept. 30 (AP)— George L. Wenzel of Austin, said today waitresses who can jitterbug are the best in the restaurant business.

"They are alert, lively and anxious to be on the move," he told the convention of the Manitoba branch of the Canadian Restaurant association. "They are extroverts, liking to meet people and be friendly to them."

Wenzel said he learned the lesson while running a cafe in Bluefield, W. Va. He said the top three waitresses were hep to jive and "took in five times the amount of orders than the other help."

Prehistoric Torture Deaths Uncovered

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 30. (U.P) — Anthropologists have uncovered evidence of vicious torture methods among prehistoric Indians.

Dr. Frank C. Hibben, University of New Mexico anthropologist, uncovered the remains of 10 Indians who had been massacred about 900 years ago after horrible torture. The remains were found at an Indian tower near Cuba, N. M.

The Indians were of the tower dwellers who flourished in New Mexico during the period when Europe was having its dark ages. Hibben uncovered the ruins of an Indian tower which he figured was built in 1087 A.D.

"Someone deliberately exterminated the family which had lived in the tower," Hibben said.

All ten of the bodies found by Hibben had had the feet cut off, apparently with flint axes. Most of them were minus hands. Many had flint arrowheads embedded in the body.

"We have not learned why the massacre took place," the scientist said. "We also found axes, arrowheads, knives, and plenty of corn, pumpkin seed and beans, so robbery was not the motive."

Hibben has uncovered 17 other Indian towers in the Cuba area. Nearly all showed signs that the inhabitants had been murdered.

Pickpocket Uses Bible And Lead Pipe To Rob Victims

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (U.P) — Police arrested a pickpocket who worked with a Bible in one hand and a lead pipe in the other. They said Rafael Rios would sit reading his Bible next to a sleeping passenger on the subway early in the morning. Sure that he was not watched, he would tap his victim on the head with the pipe wrapped in a newspaper, and rifle his pockets, police said.

Arraigned in felony court, Rios said he was reading the Bible to "learn to speak good English."

Romeo's Name Fading Into Past In Famous City Of Romance

Lovers From All Over The World Still Sigh At Juliet's Tomb Guarded Only By Poet's Bust

BY ALDO FORTE
United Press Staff Writer

VERONA, Italy, Sept. 30. — Romeo is a forgotten name in the city where the world's greatest love story unfolded. But Juliet is a name that still stands for undying love and eternal romance.

The tomb of the lovely daughter of the Capulet family is a lovers' shrine. There is no evidence of the final resting place of Romeo Montague, history's greatest lover.

The home where Juliet was born is still the scene of lovers' pilgrimages. What remains of Romeo's home is a shabby, ill-kept courtyard which houses a stable and a blacksmith shop.

Of a population of 200,000, Verona has more than 4,000 Juliets and just about 100 Romeos.

Romeo Ignored

Juliet, who lived out her pitiful love story at the end of the 13th century, still receives "fan mail" from lovers all over the world. Romeo has hardly received a single note, although he sometimes gets mention in lovers' notes to Juliet.

Juliet's tomb of gray stone, three feet by six, rests on the banks of the Adige River in the crypt of a small chapel which was erected, with a cloister, in 1910 by the commune of Verona. More than two inches of stone have been hacked off the top of the tomb in past years by souvenir-hunting visitors. Napoleon's wife, Marie Louise of Austria, set about the biggest record for collecting stone chips and had a necklace and earrings made from the pieces of the tomb. She had them set in gold.

The cloister where Juliet sleeps is bordered by chestnut trees and cypresses. A weeping willow droops its slender branches in mournful embrace of the crypt.

The cloister is gay with bright flowers. Stone seats are there for lovers who come here to exchange promises of their ardor. A bust of the Poet of Stratford-on-Avon stands in a shady corner, sole guardian of the tomb of Juliet.

At the entrance of the crypt is a small marble letter box labelled the hundreds of notes dropped in by visitors, thousands of letters arrive addressed to "Juliet Capulet, Verona, Italy." The letters are collected by the custodian, Ettore Solimani, and filed away.

Solimani is 52 and has been custodian of the tomb for the last 16 years. He was coaxed into showing some the letters which arrived recently from the United States. One came from Newark, N. J., another from Washington, D. C. One was from a girl who said she was 22 and "very much in love."

Appeal To Juliet

"Dear Juliet, your tragic love has deeply moved the entire world. Please do your best so that my love may likewise move the heart of my boy friend that he may love me as I love him."

With a shrug of his shoulders, Solimani questioned the veracity of the story first was written by Luigi da Porto in 1523, then rewritten by other Italians and finally translated into French by Pierre Boisteau in 1560. Shakespeare, he said, picked it up from the French.

Solimani said:

"Shakespeare had it all wrong. Romeo was not what Shakespeare made him. I doubt that he committed suicide, as Shakespeare wrote, in this crypt after he found Juliet sleeping because of the secret potion given her by Friar Lawrence to save her from young Paris. I think he was killed in the moonlight duel with Paris when he was found bidding farewell to the sleeping beauty."

Asked why his only son had been baptized Luigi instead of Romeo, Solimani snorted the final derision of the great Romeo:

"Bah. Romeo was a good-for-nothing drunkard and a swordsman. He was aways quarreling. He wasn't the man for my Juliet."

Couple Estranged Over Baby's Operation Are Together Again

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. (AP)—The reconciliation of Fred and Irene Lamphere, estranged by a dispute over whether their baby should be operated upon, became official today.

Judge Walter R. O'Malley of superior court dismissed Mrs. Lamphere's suit for divorce.

In filing the suit, alleging cruelty, Mrs. Lamphere had opposed an operation on their daughter, Pamela, 23 months, who was born with her bladder outside her body. She feared the child might die.

Judge O'Malley placed the question before a panel of physicians who found the child's condition could be corrected by three operations. This finding brought the parents together again.

Pamela has undergone one of the operations and is awaiting the second.

Two Mexican Women Operate Unique Union Card Racket

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 30 (INS) — One of the more picturesque frauds has just been uncovered by Federal Judicial police and two women have been arrested as a result.

The pair had organized—on paper—the Unique Motion Picture Union which they claimed controlled most of the better theaters in the city. Jobs were offered at good salaries with the added inducement of free passes to any cine in town.

Only requirement was membership in the union; initiation fee 500 pesos, dues 45 pesos, uniform downpayment 17 pesos. In return for his 562 pesos the applicant received a handsomely engraved certificate of membership displaying the shield of the Republic of Mexico. But nothing else.

Police, noticing large numbers of obviously poor and unemployed coming and going from the apartment of one of the syndicate's founders, made investigation.

No one had ever received a job from the union. Nowhere was the union registered. None of the cinema owners or unions had ever heard of it.

The two women were jailed. The money they had collected has not been found yet.

Message Cached By Peary Near North Pole Is Published

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)— A note cached by Admiral Robert E. Peary 450 miles from the North pole on an Arctic expedition 43 years ago was published today by the State department.

The short note, dated Sept. 5, 1905, was discovered last summer by a three-ship U. S. Navy expedition on which Canada was represented.

Peary left the note at Cape Sheridan in the Canadian Arctic. It was placed in a whisky bottle within a cairn, or pile of stones.

Also recovered was a copy of a longer record left there July 25, 1876, by Captain G. S. Nares, who headed a British expedition aboard HMS Alert and Discovery. Peary took Nares' original note and left a copy in the cairn with his own record.

The State department and the Canadian government arranged for simultaneous publication of texts of the two notes.

"Cape Sheridan, September 5th, 1905.

"The Peary Arctic club's ship 'Roosevelt' arrived here from New York at 7 a. m. and made fast to the icefoot under the point of the cape awaiting the turn of the tide to proceed to Cape Hecla.

"The Roosevelt left New York July 16th, Sidney, Cape Breton, July 26th, arrived Cape York August 7th and left Etah August 17th. Her last stopping place was the icefoot south of Cape Union which she left at 3:30 this morning.

"Personally visited the Alert's cairn at Floberg beach and took there from Alert's record, copy of which accompanies this. Roster of the Roosevelt's company is also enclosed.

"R. E. Peary, USN.

SOUTH CAROLINIAN FORESEES VICTORY IN SHOWDOWN TEST

Thurmond, States' Rights Presidential Nominee, Predicts He Will Receive 100 Electoral Votes

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—States' Rights presidential candidate J. Strom Thurmond predicted today that he will poll 100 electoral votes, thereby throwing choice of the next president into the House of Representatives.

The South Carolina governor forecast at a news conference that his candidacy will block both President Truman and GOP presidential candidate Dewey from obtaining the required majority in the electoral college Nov. 2.

Civil Rights Plan Rapped

He pointed out that in such case, under the Constitution, the House of Representatives would be called on to choose the chief executive from the three leading candidates.

The States' Rights standard bearer lashed at the President's civil rights program, which detonated the southern revolt and brought about formation of the new party.

He charged Mr. Truman with "dusting off" the program and putting it before Congress when it appeared that "progressive" presidential candidate Henry A. Wallace would win the negro vote in a Bronx congressional election.

As Thurmond talked to reporters, the national Truman-Barkley club revealed plans to have a huge crowd at the railroad station when the President returns to Washington Saturday from his cross-country campaign.

Expects To Carry South

Thurmond explained that he is optimistic because, should the election be thrown into the House, each state will have a single vote, furnishing "an excellent chance" for the smaller states to name the president.

Thurmond asserted that he will be on the ballot in Mississippi, with nine electoral votes; South Carolina, with eight; Alabama, 11; Louisiana, 10; Arkansas, 9; Texas, 23; Georgia, 12; Tennessee, 12; Virginia, 11 North Carolina, 14; Florida, eight; Kentucky, 11, and North Dakota, four.

The governor said he also has a chance to get on the ballot in Maryland, with eight electoral votes, and Oklahoma, with 10.

The Carolinian forecast that he will carry "most, if not all of the southern states." He said he has a good chance to take Kentucky, border state home of Sen. Barkley, Mr. Truman's running mate.

Thurmond hotly denied charges that oil interests have contributed heavily in the States' Rights campaign. He said that the largest contribution received was $540, and that the States' Rights coffers have received no oil money. Thurmond said:

"We are very much pinched financially, and I'm sure we wouldn't be if the oil interests were supporting us."

Tired, "All-In"— Listless Feeling Brought To Halt

As Vibrant Energy is Released To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Do you get up in the mornings still tired, feel down-and-out all day? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? Overwork, undue worry, cold, flu or other illness often wears down the red-blood-cells.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better; play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Agriculture Dean Tells Kiwanis Club Fair Could Be Better

W. L. Stangel, dean of the division of agriculture at Texas Tech college, an ardent fair booster and livestock judge, told members of Kiwanis club at their weekly luncheon Thursday noon at Hotel Lubbock, that "the fair has made some progress, but in some respects is slipping." He said that he spoke "not in criticism, but relating facts.

He referred to the Panhandle-South Plains fair, now in progress here, and pointing to it as "The Show Window of the Plains," it's motto for several years, Stangel urged that it is the concern of every citizen to make the fair as attractive as possible.

Premiums Unchanged

He cited the fair in 1925, his first experience with it, when he judged livestock, pointing out that Hereford cattle were present then, and were exhibited again this year after many years of lapse. He said some other livestock divisions are more extensive now, but pointed out that premiums in most instances are the same or lower now than then.

He was proud of the progress made in erection of new buildings, or enlarged buildings for certain departments, but would do something for agricultural exhibits, which, "are in the same inadequate quarters of 1925."

Guests at the luncheon included 20 or more livestock exhibitors at the fair. They were introduced by Jason O. Gordon, program chairman, who was general superintendent of the livestock department at the fair.

Meeting Place Shifted

The club unanimously approved changing its meeting place for the luncheon two weeks hence (Oct. 14), to the Hilton hotel because of the Beltwide Cotton Mechanization conference, which opents a three-day meeting here that day, with headquarters at Hotel Lubbork, regular meeting place of the club.

Three new members were introduced. They were Dr. A. W. Bronwell, John J. Jones, and Dr. J. F. Murphy. Club President L. E. Davis was in the chair, with invocation by Rev. Claude E. Canterbury.

Brief Bits Of Local News

County Judge Walter Davies at 3:30 p. m. Thursday recessed a petit jury until this morning in the trial of Charles W. Spencer, 37, on a liquor law violation charge. Both the state and the defense wanted to look up legal authorities. Assistant County Attorney Winston Brummett represents the state, the law firm of Burks and McNeil the defendant.

Graveside services for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Minor of 1910 Seventh, who died Thursday morning in West Texas hospital, were conducted at 3:30 p. m. Thursday in Lubbock cemetery, with Rev. Cecil Ray, pastor of Arnett-Benson Baptist church, officiating. The baby, weighing three pounds, four ounces, was born in the hospital at 6:02 a. m. Thursday.

A Sabbath Eve prayer service is to be conducted at 8 o'clock tonight at Congregation Shaareth Israel, Twenty-third and Ave. Q, with Rabbi Julius Kerman in charge.

Students whose parents have signed permission cards for their children to receive tuberculosis patch tests are to return the cards to their teachers today. Patch tests will be given next week to first, sixth and 12th grade students in Lubbock public schools whose parents give permission.

The second of two preparatory services prior to Sunday Communion will be held for members of Westminster Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock tonight at the church manse, Thirty-third street and Tyler Ave., with Rev. David L. Zacharias, pastor, in charge. A similar service was held Thursday night for church members whose names begin with A through K. To attend tonight's service are those whose names begin with L through Z.

Texas Marine Once Kidnapped By Reds, Decides To Reenlist

FORT WORTH, Sept. 30. (INS)—William L. Pollard, 22-year-old Fort Worth Marine, didn't let a mere kidnapping by Chinese Communists destroy his liking for the corps.

Pollard, who was kidnapped by the Reds last Christmas Day along with four comrades, recently reenlisted. He was promoted from corporal to sergeant when he decided on another hitch.

Pollard was held several days before being released. One of his companions died during that period.

LAMESA, Sept. 30. (Special)—Two Lamesa men were listed among 33 men to receive appointments in the National Guard, announcement being made from the Adjutant General's office in Austin.

Included are Louis Rex Morris of Lamesa route B, who was appointed captain in the Headquarters and Headquarters & Service Troop, 124th Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron, assigned to S-2, and Billie C. Harrington of 506 S Travis street, who was appointed first lieutenant to the Executive and Motor Officer, Troop C, 124th Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron.

Illinois Building Cornerstone Is Dedicated 14 Years Late

ALTON, Ill., Sept. 30. (U.P.)—Ceremonies for the dedication of a cornerstone at Piasa Chautauqua summer resort were held 14 years late.

No one seems to know why the ceremony was postponed until this year. Since 1934, the stone remained loosely deposited in the building awaiting formal dedication.

If the stone is removed years hence, those who examine it may well be puzzled by the discrepancy. Behind the stone will be a 1948 coin and recent newspaper clippings while the date carved on the stone will be 1934.

Truman Has Safe Popular Vote In Texas, Latest Survey Shows

BY GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 30 — President Truman, who earlier this week vigorously carried his election campaign into Texas, has a safe lead there over the Dewey-Warren ticket.

However, the substantial reduction in his support compared to Roosevelt's following in the last four elections indicates why Democratic strategists thought it necessary for the party's candidate to stump the state for the first time in modern election history.

GALLUP

Not only has the Republican vote increased about five points in this traditionally strong Democratic state, but the combined support of Henry A. Wallace, Progressive candidate, and J. Strom Thurmond, States' Rights nominee, amounts to one of ten Lone Star voters.

Throughout the state Institute interviewers asked representative voters this question:

"If the precidential election were being held TODAY for whom would you vote — for Dewey, for Truman, for Wallace, or for Thurmond?"

The results:

TEXAS
(23 Electoral Votes)

Truman	63%
Dewey	23
Thurmond	6
Wallace	3
No opinion	5

While the rank and file voters in the state thus give Mr. Truman an overwhelming advantage in the popular vote, state Democratic leaders are split in bitter rivalry.

One sign of disagreement in the top Democratic leadership of the state was the recent announcement by the Houston Chronicle that it would support Governor Dewey. The Chronicle is published by Jesse H. Jones who served twelve years in the Roosevelt administration, as RFC chairman and Secretary of Commerce.

Support of the Democratic candidate in Texas is today at a lower ebb than in any election since 1900 except for 1924 when Alfred E. Smith lost the state to Herbert Hoover. Roosevelt carried Texas with pluralities of better than 80 per cent in each of his four campaigns.

Today's survey, however, was taken before the Truman campaign train rolled into Texas. Later polls will reflect any changes in sentiment caused by his three day tour of the state.

The small vote for Governor Thurmond in face of the fact that Texas is vitally interested in the states' rights most likely reflects a traditional lack of interest in third party movements. Except for 1944 the minor party vote has been comparatively low. In 1912, for example, Theodore Roosevelt got about one vote in ten there compared with 30 per cent of the national total. In 1924 the elder LaFollette received about seven per cent of the Texas popular vote compared with 16.7 per cent throughout the nation.

Rhode Island Democrats Pick New Deal Slate To Meet GOP

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 30. (AP) — Rhode Island Democrats, who boast they made gains in face of the nation-wide Republican trend two years ago, have picked a slate of New Dealers to lead them in this fall's election.

U. S. Senator Theodore Francis Green and "little Rhody's" two congressmen — Aime J. Forand and John E. Fogarty—won renomination in yesterday's Democratic primary.

The 81-year-old Green was unopposed; Forand and Fogarty won by better than 20 to 1 margins.

Gov. John O. Pastore stepped into top spot on the Democratic state ticket without opposition Pastore, who succeeded to the governorship when Democratic national chairman J. Howard McGrath resigned to become solicitor general and later senator, is seeking his second full term.

Two Wyoming Fliers Killed When Plane Rams Hillside

PROVO, Utah, Sept. 30 (INS)—Two Wyoming fliers were killed today when a light plane crashed headon into a steep hillside near Deer Creek reservoir about 16 miles northeast of Provo.

James Carlisle, 22, of Evanston, was killed by the impact. His companion, Louis Pete Collette, about 25, of Frontier, died a few minutes later while awaiting medical aid.

Witnesses said the plane apparently developed engine trouble while flying through Provo canyon. It appeared to be trying to reach a plateau for an emergency landing.

The craft bore the markings of the Western Wyoming airways.

Wandering Sailor Writes Navy Letter Promising To Return

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. (UP)—The Navy's wandering sailor, Manuel Castellano, still was wandering today despite a promise that he would return.

The Navy said he has not shown up, although he sent Navy Capt. Ion Purcell a letter saying that he was in Chicago "walking the streets, suffering," in a hunt for lodging for his wife and three children.

Fears "Great Punishment"

He left without authorization on Sept. 15 for Monterrey, Mexico, to visit his sick mother. It was the second time that he has been in difficulty with the Navy for unauthorized leaves. Purcell headed a court martial board which handled Castellano's case after the first "leave," in 1944. The sailor's letter said.

"Here in Chicago they have made me understand the error which I committed by having gone to see my mom in Mexico and many Mexicans have frightened me and told me that although I do report in, it is going to go very badly with me, that probably I would get even the death penalty for having gone to Monterrey without your permission . . . I have much fear . . . probably you will give me very great punishment . . .

"Now that I am here and you may kill me, it is she who will suffer alone. I will come when she (Mrs. Castellano) has a place to live, even though you will punish me."

The court martial after Manuel's first absence found that Manuel, in his ignorance of English, made a mistake. He got a paper authorizing a 10-day leave, and a friend told him it was a discharge. So he picked up his wife and two children and went to Monterrey to live with is mother.

He discovered his error in 1946, when he presented his "discharge paper" in his hunt for a job. The court martial board which considered the case told him in July of this year that he would have to stick around in the Navy until his official discharge came from Washington.

It hadn't arrived when his mother became ill.

Southwest Texas Teachers College Officials Visit Tech

Four officials from Southwest Texas State Teachers college, San Marcos, and the college architect visited the new dormitories and other new buildings on the campus at Texas Technological college Thursday to study their plans, arrangement, equipment, and other factors in relation to the proposed dormitory construction at San Marcos.

Included in the group were Dr. J., G. Flowers, president, Alfred H. Nolle, dean, J. J. Beretta, member of the Teachers College board, and H. P. Smith, who, though not officially college architect, serves in that capacity.

Mrs. Flowers and Mrs. Smith accompanied their husbands.

Former Officer At Oak Ridge Says Super A-Bomb Possible

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 30. (U.P.)—A 15 per cent increase in the efficiency of uranium and plutonium will produce an atomic bomb 1,000 times as destructive as those dropped on Nagasaki and Hiroshima, according to Thomas T. Crenshaw, a former commanding officer at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atom plant.

Crenshaw, a Watertown architect, said the United States could have had atomic weapons in 1943 had the government been willing to gamble with the lives of its technicians.

The United States is faced with four alternatives, Crenshaw, a member of United World Federalists, believes. He lists appeasement, a preventive war, balance of power or "a real government based on law and order, but on a world level."

Westerners Are Slight Favorites In Tonight's Game With Austin

Maroons Hope To Duplicate 1947 Lubbock Defeat; Brown Has Injury

By EARL SCUDDAY
Avalanche Sports Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 30.—Austin High's speedy Maroons of District 13-AA will bid for their second straight non-conference grid triumph here at 8 o'clock Friday night at House Park stadium, when they tangle with the Lubbock Westerners of 1-AA.

The Maroons, who handed Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio a 7-6 defeat last week, will also be trying for their second win over the Lubbock team in as many years. In 1947, when the present series started, the Austin gridders travelled to Lubbock and gave the Westerners a 29-7 drubbing. Six members of the present Maroon squad participated in the triumph, and they hope to duplicate the feat tomorrow night before a home town crowd expected to total near 10,000.

The Westerners, like the Maroons, are seeking their second victory of the season. The Lubbock schoolboys tied Odessa, 7-7, in their opener, then lost a 21-13 setto with San Angelo. Last week the Hub city representatives upset North Side of Fort Worth, 21-14.

Brown Has Injury

Lubbock had been rated a slight favorite in the setto until today, when Westerner mentors revealed that Bobby Brown, stellar tailback, would probably not see action because of an ankle injury. Brown, slender triple-threat junior, has scored four of Lubbock's six touchdowns in three games, and is the Westerners' chief offensive threat.

Brown will probably be replaced in the backfield by sturdy Malcolm Young, who has been running from the fullback slot. Bill Bridge, a 177-pounder, is slated to fill the fullback post, with regular Don Decker at wingback and Charley Williams or Norman Bantz at blocking back.

Other starters, according to Head Mentor C. R. (Pat) Pattison, will include Bob Rooker and Ted Vaught at ends; Joe Brock and Jack Bryant, tackles; Jack Hensley and Morris Moyers, guards; and Leon Stuart center.

Maroon Lineup

Maroon Coach Johnny Kitchens has announced the following probable starting lineup: Ends—Johnny Shrive (155) and Bobby Tieman (164); tackles—Charles Bryant (191) and Pat Pate (198); guards—Aubrey Kitchens (170) and Clyde Littlefield, jr., (197); center—Lou Welch (176); quarterback—Gilbert Bethel (167); right half—George Hill (165); left half—Bill Clemons (165); and fullback—Howard Zuch (164).

The Maroons will hold a 10 pounds-per-man weight advantage in the backfield, but the lines will be approximately the same.

Thirty-four Lubbock members, accompanied by Mentors Pattison, Bill Floyd and Fred Taylor, were slated to spend tonight in Brownwood, then complete the trip to the game site Friday morning. The Westerners are travelling by chartered bus.

Texas Schoolboy Squads Face Test

(By The Associated Press)

At least three and possibly a half-dozen teams are due to fall from the list of the undefeated this week-end in Texas schoolboy football.

Two of the unbeaten, untied teams play each other—Jeff Davis of Houston going to Fort Worth to meet Arlington Heights. In two other instances undefeated, untied teams play clubs that have been tied. These are Adamson (Dallas) vs Marshall and Orange vs Baytown.

Amarillo's Golden Sandies face a tough test in Paschal at Fort Worth, Wichita Falls could have trouble with Abilene and Kilgore is likely to fall before Denison.

All of the City Conference's seven undefeated, untied teams have games this week but only 13 of the 16 in Class AA play.

Friday—Poly (Mexico City) at Forest (Dallas), Adamson (Dallas) at Marshall, Amarillo at Paschal (Fort Worth), North Side (Fort Worth) at Childress, Poly (Fort Worth) at Corsicana, Amon Carter-Riverside (Fort Worth) at Sweetwater, San Jacinto (Houston) vs St. Thomas (Houston), Sam Houston (Houston) at Lake Charles, La., Austin (Houston) at Conroe, Corpus Christi at Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio), Alamo Heights (San Antonio) vs Burbank (San Antonio), Albuquerque, N. M., at Borger, Vernon at Pampa, Levelland at Brownfield, Plainview at Midland, Odessa at Big Spring, Wichita Falls at Abilene, Mesa, Ariz., at Bowie (El Paso), Highland Park (Dallas) at Sherman, Sulphur Springs at Paris, Kilgore at Denison, Grand Prairie at Carrollton, Mineral Wells at Denton, Gainesville at McKinney, Stephenville at Cisco, Graham at Breckenridge, Cleburne at Longview, Waco at Tyler, Jacksonville at Gladewater, Nacogdoches at Texarkana, Kerrville at Temple, Bryan at Hillsboro, Waxahachie at Ennis, Pasadena at Lufkin, Greenville at Palestine, Baytown at Orange, Galveston at Beaumont, Porth Neches at Freeport, Lubbock at Austin, Victoria at Bay City, Edinburg at Robstown, McAllen at Alice, San Benito at Brownsville, Kingsville at Harlingen.

Saturday—Reagan (Houston) at Crozier Tech (Dallas), Sunset (Dallas) at Port Arthur, Jeff Davis (Houston) at Arlington Heights (Fort Worth), Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) at Lamar (Houston), Harlandale (San Antonio) vs San Antonio Tech.

WEST SCORES TKO

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (INS)—Sonny Boy West, 135-pound Washington lightweight, scored a six-round technical knockout tonight over Maxie Shapiro of New York. The fight was awarded to West when Shapiro suffered a hemorrhage of the left eye.

Pampa Hurler Leads Gold Sox To Crown

KILGORE, Sept. 29. (AP)—Stubby Roy Parker turned back the Kilgore Drillers with eight hits tonight as the Amarillo Gold Sox won the final game and the series in the Class-C professional baseball playoff in Texas.

The West Texas-New Mexico league champions took the series four games to two from the Lone Star league pennant winners.

The heavy-hitting Gold Sox jumped to an early lead by clouting Willis Chamness, the starting Kilgore pitcher, for five consecutive hits. Bob Ross came in to relieve Chamness and served a home run ball to Dick Gentzkow.

Ross lasted until the fifth when Johnny Wood relieved him. Wood allowed the Gold Sox only five hits in the remaining innings.

A crowd of 2206 saw the series. The six-games here and at Amarillo drew 15,000.

Seminole Juniors Win 20-0 Non-Title Till Over Andrews

SEMINOLE, Sept. 30 (Special)—Richard Lindley sparked the Seminole juniors to a non-conference victory over Andrews here tonight, scoring three touchdowns to rout the visitors, 20-0.

Lindley got loose on jaunts of 45, 70 and 85 yards to lead the Indian junior eleven, while Jackie Sparks and Alford Sims booted two of the three extra points. Alvin Booe sparkled in the Seminole line, while Jobes turned in a good performance for Andrews.

Junior High Elevens From Lubbock Win

Carroll Thompson Junior High school continued its march on the conference title last night on the man Field, scoring a 37-0 victory over the Littlefield juniors.

Coach Finis Vaughn refused to single a lone player out for praise, stating that the entire line and backfield worked as a unit beautifully. He paid tribute to the teamwork shown.

End Tom Yelvington caught two touchdown passes, scoring once on a 30-yard pass and once on a 70-yard aerial. Fullback Don Jones crashed tackle for 35 yards and one score and then went 25 yards on an end sweep for another.

Quarterback Jack Weldon went ten yards on a power play to score a touchdown and the final six-pointer was racked up by halfback Paul Hanson, who went 30 yards to score on a straight plunge.

Halfback Charles Hodges kicked one extra point.

LAMESA JUNIORS SCORE 6-0 WIN OVER BROWNFIELD

LAMESA, Sept. 30 (Special)—The Lamesa Juniors scored their first victory of the season here tonight, romping to a 6-0 win over the Brownfield juniors.

Garland Morris, Lamesa halfback, plunged over from the four-yard line in the final quarter for the victory. Earlier, Lamesa had taken defeats from Slaton of Lubbock and Seminole.

O. L. SLATON JUNIORS DEFEAT PLAINVIEW, 25-0

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 30 (Special)—O. L. Slaton Junior High school gridders remained in the undefeated list last night, roaring to a 25-0 victory over the Plainview juniors.

Bo Sexton sparked the Lubbock eleven, plunging five yards to score the first touchdown and ending the scoring bee with another plunge for a touchdown, this one on a one-yard plunge.

In between, Charles Brewer dashed 60 yards with a punt return for the second score and Duane Rampy circled end for 40 yards and the third Slaton tally.

LEVELLAND JUNIORS BEAT RANGERS; RANCHERS WIN

LEVELLAND, Sept. 30. (Special)—Levelland Juniors kept their football machine rolling here tonight with a 16-6 victory over the Lubbock Rangers, but dropped a B squad game to the Lubbock Ranchers, 6-0.

Levelland gave up a first quarter touchdown to Lubbock when Jimmy Livingstone caught a pass from Billy Presley and ran 30 yards to score. But the Lobo juniors came back to lead at the half, 7-6, and scored again in the last half, adding a safety for good measure late in the game.

In the B squad game, James Taylor plunged eight yards through the middle of the line to bring victory for Lubbock.

Injured Conley May Not See Action

Underdog Techsans Set For SMU Squad

A far from discouraged underdog Texas Tech football squad will leave this morning at 9:30 for Dallas, where the 26-point underdog Red Raiders tomorrow will meet the powerful Southern Methodist university Mustangs in Owenby Stadium before a sell-out crowd.

Coach Dell Morgan yesterday named a 36-man travelling squad that did not include Milburn Haydon, injured regular guard, but that listed Fullback Bud Conley, Halfback Tim Hatch and Bud Henderson, reserve center, all of whom were injured last week.

But Conley's knee has failed to respond to treatment this week and the big, bruising fullback may see little action against the Ponies. Hatch is in good condition again, although Henderson still is not completely over his bad knee.

The Raiders are determined to overcome the odds and beat the Mustangs, who have been made anywhere from three to five touchdown favorites. There is no defeatism spirit on the squad and every player feels that the Raiders can write gridiron history by upsetting Doak Walker and Company.

Final preparations yesterday included a long session on defense against SMU plays, with Coach Polk Robison's reserves scoring repeatedly through the air. Although the varsity, working under a defense designed to stop the aerial heaves of Walker and Gil Johnson, tried hard, the majority of the passes clicked. Unless the Raiders are able to break up the Pony aerials, most observers give them little chance of winning.

The game against Texas A. and M. did a great deal for the Raider morale and the players feel that they can handle the SMU line as easily as they handled the Aggie forwards. In their favor is the fact that SMU doesn't outweigh the Raiders as much as the Aggies did. On the other hand, the Mustang line is faster than the Aggies were and Tech plays will have to be more quick in opening than they were last week.

In the defensive drills, emphasis was placed on the fact that Kyle Rote, Walker, Johnson, Dick McKissick and Paul Page are able to change positions, thus giving the Mustangs an even more diversified attack. The Ponies not only can pass from their usual formations, but also are able to run quick-opening line plunges.

Morgan Has New Plays

Along with intensive defensive drill, the Raider varsity and reserves were sent through a long offensive session. Coach Morgan has designed several new plays for the Mustangs, plays that will go for touchdowns, providing the blocking is accurate.

Coach Morgan's travelling squad includes ends, Luke Thompson, Bill Kelley, J. L. Gulley, Frank Ottmers, Elbert Johnson, Walter Edrington; tackles, John Andrews, Marshall Gettys, Don Williams, John Tom Baker, Doug McSwane, Wayne Guynn; guards, Dan Pursel, Hayden Haby, Don Orr, Dorrell McCurry, Bob Hix, Bobby Garner, Ted Cummings; centers, Bobby Williams, J. Hogan Shares Lead In Rich Portland Open

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 30. (INS)—Steady Ben Hogan, the hot lick from Hershey, Pa., shot a sizzling 67 today but had to share the lead with two other pros in the first round of the $15,000 Portland Open golf tournament.

His five-under-par performance was equaled by Gene Webb of Springfield, Ill., and Fred Haas; Jr., of New Orleans. Haas, who began touring the trail of gold only six months ago, barely missed making a 66 on the par-72 links.

Hogan has taken the course apart twice before—once for the Portland Open crown and again for the P.G.A. title.

One stroke behind the leaders was Ed "Porky" Oliver of Seattle, who turned in a 68. Oliver and Haas wound up in a five-way tie for the championship of the Tacoma Open two weeks ago, and Oliver won on the 91st hole.

Three veteran linksmen were bracketed at 69—John Palmer, an ex-air force gunner of Badin, N. C.; Al Zimmerman of Portland, and mustachiod Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago.

Power-Laden First Year Men May Duplicate Varsity Eleven

A power-laden Texas Tech freshman football team will play host this afternoon at 3 in Jones Stadium to an offensive-minded freshman eleven from West Texas State Teachers College in a game that may remind fans a great deal of the varsity game here less than two weeks ago.

Coaches Borden Price and Hatcher Brown of the Buffaloes are bringing a hefty team to Lubbock, where Coaches Polk Robison and Maxey McKnight also boast a strong forward wall. The edge in the game may rest in the Red Raider freshman backfield, where there is more power than has been seen in recent years.

Diversified Attack

The Raider first year men have been working out for almost three weeks now and have come up with a diversified attack. They, like the varsity, will run from the T-formation and so far have not been cluttered up with enemy formations.

Greatest interest in the Tech backfield will be with Judson Brawner of Atmore, Ala., former All-State player, and Ralph May of Sudan. Both these players have been tabbed as great Raider prospects and, with any kind of a line operating in front of them, can be counted on to display a potent offensive machine.

Price Is Outstanding

Also in the Raider backfield will be such high school luminaries as Bobby Close of Shamrock, J. O. McClellan of Phillips, Jack Haynes of Roscoe and Aubrey "Red" Phillips of Fort Worth Tech. These backs drew the limelight in high school circles and are showing up as offensive weapons at Tech.

In the line, Jerrell Price of Brownfield, All-State tackle and selected as the outstanding lineman in the high school all-star game at Abilene, will draw the most attention. Along with Price such players as 224-pound guard Rex Pinson, 175-pound end Dick Pirtle of Lubbock, and Bobby Gene Dobbs of Breckenridge will be watched closely.

Buffalos Are Powerful

The Buffalo fish will have a powerful line, not quite so hefty as Tech's, but still strong enough to cause trouble. Bill Spencer of Amarillo, a 200-pound tackle, and Oscar Ashley, a 190-pound guard of Amarillo, will be remembered well locally. John Poindexter of Baird, a 190-pound tackle, and David Pebehouse of Newcastle, a 200-pound center, also will bear watching.

In the backfield, the Buffs will have Cecil Wynn of Follett, a 190-pound fullback, and Wayne Sullivan of Phillips, a 180-pound halfback, to spark the attack.

Tickets can be obtained at the stadium on a first come, first served basis and will sell at $1 each, with no reserved seats.

PARIS DOWNS SHREINER, 7-0

KERRVILLE, Sept. 30. (AP)—End Joe Murphy raced 45 yards with an intercepted pass to give Paris a 7-0 victory over Schreiner in a Southwest Junior College Conference football game here tonight. Schreiner had taken over the ball in the second period when Melvin Emmons intercepted a pass on his own 30 and returned it to the Paris 48.

Dominican Boxer Dies Of Injuries

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (INS)—Twenty-two year old Kid Dinamita of Santa Domingo, Dom. Rep., became boxing's 12th fatality of 1948 today, five hours after being carried from a ring already marked by death.

Immediately, three separate investigations of the tragedy were launched by those same authorities who, half a year ago, stopped all boxing in Illinois and changed the rulebook in fear that death would come again.

Come again it did, in the same Chicago stadium ring and apparently in the same manner that felled 20-year-old Sam Baroudi seven months ago.

Like Baroudi, doctors said Dinamita, whose real name was Felix Antonio Gomez, died of a brain hemorrhage following his technical knockout loss to Bobby McQuiller of Port Huron, Mich., in their welterweight bout at the stadium last night.

A special blue-ribbon coroner's jury will hold its inquest at the county morgue tomorrow morning.

Highly Regarded Boxer

The 144-pound Dinamita, a highly - regarded workman who had won 76 of his 80 previous bouts, was knocked down twice by McQuiller and was "saved" by the bell that ended the eighth round of their scheduled ten-rounder.

Dinamita's seconds literally dragged him to his corner, and when he failed to come out for the ninth, the fight was awarded to McQuillar on a technical knockout.

Dinamita was knocked down for the first time in the seventh round, and when he came to his corner he complained to his manager, Tony Rojas, of pains in the neck and forearm.

Rojas, also a Dominican, said he noticed Dinamita's right leg trembling after the seventh round, and added he told his charge "not to mix it" in the eighth."

"But the crowd," Rojas said, "They booed. He heard and wanted to fight."

A strong McQuillar right to the chin sent Dinamita down for the last time late in the eighth round. He was dragged to his corner, where, although conscious, he sat, dazed mumbling.

Dr. J. J. Drammis, Illinois athletic commission physician, ordered him carried to the dressing room on a stretcher. There the dying fighter lapsed into a semi-stupor, murmuring brokenly in Spanish:

"My head hurts me. My side hurts. I want to go home."

He was taken to Cook county hospital where he went into a coma from which he never recovered. Doctors placed him under an oxygen tent but, as in the case of Baroudi, did not use surgery for fear the shock would prove too severe for the stricken man.

Death came at four o'clock in the morning.

SMU, TCU, Texas And Rice Are Picked To Win

INS Sports Writers Boast Mark Of 83 Percent In Selections

Arizona State (Tempe) 14, Pepperdine 13—Brother, this week is rough!

Sports Study

By Earl Sandday

Lubbock fans who have followed the Westerners for several years will be interested in the fact that George Brewer, Oklahoma university's stellar halfback and a former Lubbock High school standout, came out of the Santa Clara game last week with a broken leg and will probably be out of action most of the season. Brewer, playing his third year with the Sooners, scored the first Oklahoma touchdown against the Californians last week, but received a fractured leg in the process. He had been handicapped by a pulled leg muscle before the tilt, but an x-ray after the game showed a definite break. George hopes to get back into action later in the season, but he will be in a cast for several weeks.

While we're on the subject of injuries, we might as well point out that the ankle injury suffered by Westerner Bobby Brown Wednesday was the sort of thing that causes coaches to lose all their hair. Brown, a slender 150-pounder, had come through stiff scrimmage drills Monday and Tuesday without a scratch, then twisted his ankle in a sandlot touch-pass game Wednesday morning. Fortunately, no bones were broken, but the Lubbock team will notice his absence tonight when they battle the Austin Maroons.

If nominations were made for college coaches facing the toughest job this weekend, New Mexico's Berl Huffman would win in a walk. Reports from Austin indicate that the Texas Longhorns will be "looking for blood" when they clash with the New Mexico eleven Saturday, in order to wipe away some of the sting from their defeat by North Carolina last weekend. The Steers are mad and playing on their home field, so Berl had better equip his boys with anti-tank guns or some other sure-fire method of halting the Longhorns' attack.

Amarillo's Golden Sandies, who have emerged in first place in the schoolboy grid race four different years, will chalk up another "first" when they play Paschal High at Fort Worth tonight. The game will be televised by the new Fort Worth television station and the tilt, to the best of our knowledge, is the first Texas or Southwest high school game ever to be given the video treatment. Someone had better tell the Sandies to play a good ball game, because there will be plenty of fans watching via their television sets.

The station will also televise the Texas Christian-Arkansas encounter Saturday night, then will do the same for the Texas-Oklahoma classic next weekend. If only there was some sort of a "hook-up" where South Plains sports fans could take advantage of the opportunities! There are thousands of persons in this area who, because of business reasons, lack of time or shortage of tickets, do not get to see many of the top grid tussles. With television, the game would be as close as the nearest receiver. In our opinion, television would be the answer to the prayers of South Plains sports fans.

USC Holds Workout At El Paso On Way To Ohio State Tilt

ENROUTE WITH THE TROJANS, Sept. 30. (AP)—The University of Southern California football team was scheduled to work out at El Paso, Tex., today on its journey overland for Saturday's game with Ohio State at Columbus.

Substitute tackle Mel Vukovich was scheduled to join the squad at El Paso after missing the train when it left Los Angeles yesterday. The Trojans will work out tomorrow in St. Louis before arriving in Columbus in the evening.

E. J. "Pinky" Lowrey invited friends and parents to watch the game from the grandstand at Chapman Field.

Cards Down Bucs Twice

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Harry (The Cat) Brecheen chalked up his 20th victory of the season when he pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4 to 1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the night section of a day-night double header. The Cards also won the matinee encounter, 6 to 1.

The double win enabled the Redbirds to gain a second place tie with the idle Brooklyn Dodgers while the Pirates dropped to fourth.

Aggie Fish Defeat John Tarleton, 13-6

STEPHENVILLE, Sept. 30. (AP) —Chunky Glenn Lippmann tore four yards for one touchdown and 88 yards with a kickoff for another as the Texas A. and M. freshmen trimmed John Tarleton Junior college 13-6 here tonight.

The scoring didn't begin until midway of the fourth period.

The Aggie fish started on their own 30 and drove to Tarleton's four, carried most of the way by Bernard Lemmons' running. Lippmann, a star at El Campo high school last year, scampered around end for the first tally. David Balderach kicked the point.

Tarleton started working from its own 15 after the kickoff. Jimmy Payne of Breckenridge passed 25 yards to Fred Ferguson of Denison, and he ran another 25 before he was brought down. Payne then passed 20 yards to Ferguson in the end zone. Bob Ebeling missed the point.

Mrs. Soash Wins 18-Hole Flight At Country Club

First rounds of the Ladies Handicap tournament at the Lubbock Country club were fired Wednesday, with three winners in both the 18-hole and nine-hole group.

Mrs. George Soash defeated Mrs. Fenner Tubbs 3 and 2; Mrs. T. E. Patterson won on bye; and Mrs. Ewing defeated Mrs. K. L. Riggs, two up.

In the nine-hole flight, Mrs. Harry Holcomb won from Mrs Tobe Foster, 3 and 2; Mrs. Horace Humphries edged Mrs. Tom Duggan, one up; and Mrs. John H Cope took a victory from Mrs Earl Hennersdorf, two up.

SMU FAVORED HEAVILY TO WIN

Arkansas Faces TCU Saturday In Opening SWC Football Diet

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The Southwest Conference starts playing the games that count this week-end. Texas Christian and Arkansas, a couple of dark horses, reel off the first conference tilt at Fort Worth Saturday night with TCU's largest opening crowd in history due. More tickets already have been sold than saw the 1946 opener when 12,000 turned out for a record.

The conference also will be slam-bang in the big middle of the intersectional wars with four teams playing outsiders and with not more than two of them expected to win.

Baylor and Texas A. and M. face the hardest rows. The Bears go to Memphis to meet Mississippi State with its great Shorty McWilliams. A. and M. tackles Oklahoma at Norman. If either Texas team wins it will be classed as an upset.

The stay-at-homes are easy favorites. Texas is expected to bounce back from its 34-7 licking from North Carolina and trim New Mexico at Austin. Rice gets Louisiana State at Houston in a night game and should come through.

Mustangs Favored

Mighty Southern Methodist, now the Conference championship favorite, plays Texas Tech of the Border Conference at Dallas. The Mustangs will enter the game four-touchdown choices in most quarters.

The Texas Christian-Arkansas game is attracting more than the usual amount of interest. The main reason is that both clubs are rated strong challengers for the Conference title. Arkansas is powerful—just how powerful hasn't been determined by two weak opponents to date. But the Razorbacks have indicated one of the most versatile offenses in the country. Texas Christian has shown plenty in its two engagements to date—beating Kansas and Oklahoma A. and M.

T. C. U. probably will go to the post a paper edge favorite because of playing on its home field but there are plenty to back Arkansas. The game should be a thriller, matching the running of Arkansas' Clyde Scott and Leon Campbell against Texas Christian's Lindy Berry and Pete Stout.

Bears Have Great Offense

Baylor could beat Mississippi State and not cause too much eyebrow lifting from this corner. The Bears showed a great offense in their opener with Tulsa and they have manpower to burn. McWilliams gets all the play but he may have to share the glory with George Sims, Baylor's punt-returner and end-runner de luxe. Mississippi State is the more experienced outfit but it's doubtful if it has Baylor's speed.

The Aggies should give Oklahoma a good ball game for a half but they just don't have the manpower—reserve strength, that is.

New Mexico won its opening game of the season last week, beating Colorado 9-6. That wasn't impressive and despite Texas' downfall before North Carolina, New Mexico will be an overwhelming underdog against the Longhorns.

Texas licked Louisiana State 33-0. There is no reason why Rice shouldn't do the same.

USHER JOINS SYRACUSE

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 30. (AP) —The Cincinnati Reds today announced the outright transfer of outfielder Bob Usher to Syracuse of the International league, subject to draft Nov. 10. Usher played with Tulsa in the Texas league this year.

Battle Shapes In Pacific Play

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30 (INS) —Competition for top honors at the 22nd annual Pacific Southwest tennis championships developed today in a battle of the giants.

The semi-finals of the men's singles will see the new National champion, Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, clashing with Davis Cup star Ted Schroeder and Eric Sturgess of South Africa pitted against Frank Parker.

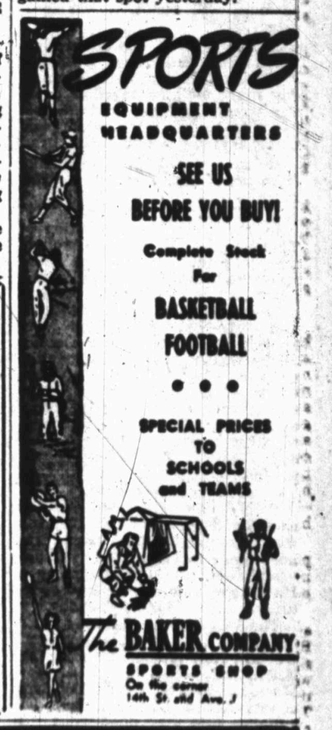

This line-up resulted when, in today's second half of the quarter - finals, Schroeder eliminted Victor Seixas of Philadelphia, while Parker ousted Herb Flam of Los Angeles.

The two Davis Cup aces were at the peak of their game as they swept through today's matches. Parker was particularly impressive as he took only about 45 minutes to dispose of Flam, 6-2, 6-0, 6-2.

Parker drove strong shots deep to the baseline. He was very steady throughout and when Flam tried to rush the net Parker passed him continually.

Schroeder defeated Seixas by a count of 6-3, 6-2, 6-4. He played a strong, steady game and just had too much on the ball for Seixas.

Suit Taken In Burglary Here

A burglary and break-in were among the few major offenses reported Thursday to the police department during a week in which criminal offenses have been at a minimum.

Taken in a burglary of the 1305 Ave. R. residence of Frank Skinner, telephone company employee, was a $65 suit of clothing. Four other suits, an expensive overcoat and clothing belonging to Mrs. Skinner in the same closet were not taken, City Detective LeRoy Boling, jr., said.

The suit was later recovered at a pawnbroking shop, police said, and a description of the seller was given by the shop's operator.

The Howard W. Smith residence at 1107 Thirty-first street was entered after a window screen was pried off, the intruder climbing over a bed near the window to enter the room. The offense allegedly occurred while occupants of the house were downtown, sometime between 7 and 9 p. m. last night. Nothing was reported missing at that time.

Fired Three Shots

Harmon Sullivan, a negro of 2509 East Ave. F, made affidavit that Maurice McCollum, another negro, had threatened to kill him and had fired three shots that missed him, one at close range.

D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, issued a warrant for McCollum's arrest. Peace bond proceedings will result, it was indicated.

Sullivan said McCollum had taken his, Sullivan's, wife and P-38 pistol. Finding them Wednesday night walking together down the street, Sullivan said he told his wife to leave McCollum and that he attempted to "grab her."

He said McCollum fired at him from about eight feet, then twice more in a chase of a block.

Condition Is Serious

In the meantime, condition of Thelma Silas, 36, a negro woman who was shot once in the abdomen Wednesday morning in the negro section of Lubbock, remained serious in Chatman hospital.

A pre-trial proceeding was held in the case before County Judge Walter Davies on a juvenile petition accusing Louis Pearl Clark, 17-year-old negro girl who is a mother, of assault with intent to murder. The case is set down for final hearing at 10 a. m. Monday, John W. Wilson, city-county juvenile counsellor, said.

Car Driver Held

Police were informed by the sheriff's department at Morton that a young Lamesa man was held there in connection with investigation into ownership of a 1947 light automobile that overturned there late Wednesday.

The car, police said they were informed, had been registered this week in New Mexico, by a Hobbs, N. M., man. When discovered near Morton, however, it had Lubbock county license plates on it.

Police said they understood the car had been stolen Wednesday in Roswell, N. M.

A $47.50 postal stamp vending machine was reported by J. I. North of Lubbock route 1 to have been stolen in 1800-block Ave. Q.

An automobile stolen Wednesday from Woodrow Allen of Texas Tech campus was marked recovered.

C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, said he had fined seven gamblers a total of $336.05, including court costs.

A pressure cooker, valued at $13.95, was taken from a car parked in 1100-block Thirteenth street, Mrs. Cecil Parker of 1908 Eighteenth street told police.

Soviet Spies Accused persons accused in the committee report might be difficult but he said it should be attempted because "Communists have been getting away with this sort of thing for years."

McDowell revealed that public hearings on Communism in Hollywood will open in Los Angeles after the Nov. 2 elections. He said no definite date had been set.

The Justice department yesterday denounced the committee report as "political gymnastics" in an election year, and refused on the basis of the document to prosecute the four Americans named.

The four are two atomic scientists, John Hitchcock Chapin and Clarence Francis Hiskey; Marcia Sand, Hiskey's ex-wife, and Steve Nelson, Pennsylvania Communist leader.

The committee said the four conspired to give atomic secrets to Russia.

Says Reds To Go Unpunished

McDowell disclosed that in addition to atomic secrets, spies have given Russia restricted information on jet propulsion, airfield locations, "highly important" gun material, radar, chemical data, State department policy documents, defense devices, detector apparatus and new explosives.

The congressman said that "there is direct evidence the secrets have been turned over to Russia."

He cited evidence compiled by the House unit, the Royal Canadian commission which cracked the atomic espionage ring in Canada, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

McDowell charged also that the Justice department "deliberately drew up indictments" against 12 Communist leaders "in such a way that they cannot be made to stick."

He said the 12 Communist leaders, indicted for conspiracy to overthrow the government by force and violence, are "practically certain not to be punished."

Rep. Vail (R-Ill) another committeeman, arrived in Milwaukee to conduct secret hearings planned for tomorrow and Saturday.

However, a committee source said it was uncertain whether Vail would be able to locate needed witnesses in time for hearings scheduled to start tomorrow.

Crockett Woman To Celebrate 100th Birthday Sunday

CROCKETT, Sept. 30. (AP)—Mrs. Will Hail will celebrate 100 years of life in Houston county Sunday.

Born Nancy Burton in a hotel operated by her parents here, Mrs. Hail will be 100 years old tomorrow. The birthday celebration was postponed until Sunday to allow all of her family to be present.

After her marriage, Mrs. Hail moved to the farm near Crockett where she still lives with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Shipp.

Mrs. Hail has two other daughters living — Mrs. Ed Ripley of Taylor and Mrs. Ralph Littlefield of Sarasota, Fla. Her one son died several years ago, but her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mable Hail, will help with the celebration. Grandchildren, great grandchildren and great-great grandchildren also will be on hand, and the many relatives through marriage will constitute one of the biggest family gatherings ever held in this county. An open house for friends will be held Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Hail has been a lifelong member of the Crockett Methodist church and can remember incidents connected with church work back to when she was 11 years old.

The First National bank of Crockett now occupies the site of the hotel where she was born.

U. S. Offer Renewed

sia's UN proposals for a one-third reduction in the armaments of the world's five big powers. The item comes up for debate in the political committee after a decision is taken on atomic energy.

3. Reliable sources said 12 countries were about to form a middle eastern bloc in the UN. A meeting of the dozen, all of them generally anti-Russia, was set for Saturday. The list included Afghanistan, Egypt, Ethiopia, Greece, Iraq, Iran, Lebanon, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Turkey and Yemen.

The western powers yesterday filed with the Security Council charges that Russia created a threat to peace by her blockade of Berlin.

The Russians have kept silent on their strategy except to say they will be present when the council meets. They are expected to veto any decision against them.

Informed sources said that once the veto is cast and council action is not possible, the western powers will take the Berlin case to the 58-nation Assembly with the hope that an investigating commission may be set up.

CANADA WARNS SOVIET ON DANGER OF ATOMIC WAR

PARIS, Sept. 30. (INS)—Canada warned a hostile Russia today that the United States "is the only nation" able to wage atomic warfare with bombs more powerful than those that razed Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The warning by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton was indirect but plain when he appealed to the UN Assembly political committee for Russia to join a majority control plan for effective inspection and regulation.

Dead silence from the Soviet delegation resulted. Andrei Vishinsky later pleaded for more time to study the proposal and the committee adjourned until 10:30 a. m. tomorrow.

McNaughton, whose country smashed a Soviet atomic spy ring, offered a resolution asking the Assembly to approve the atomic energy commission reports opposed by Russia and her satellites.

Under this plan the United States would open its hugs atomic industry to international control and inspection providing Russia and others do likewise.

The Russian plan refuses to allow inspectors within the Soviet Union and demands prior outlawing of atomic weapons and destruction of existing American stocks.

Pilots To Be Trained

also be part of the training program, with the pilots making ground-controlled approach landings."

Ground-controlled approach (GCA) is a system developed during World War II under which pilots flying "blind" through low visibility are "talked down" by ground radar operators who see the planes on a radarscope.

Hundreds of B-29 Superforts returning to base from bombing attacks on Japan were brought in safely by the then-revolutionary GCA system.

The Air Force said only pilots with 1,200 hours flying time or more, including at least 50 hours "blind flying," will be trained.

This time must have been flown on two or four-engine planes, such as those now supplying Russian-blockaded Berlin.

Pilot Training Official Is Killed In Flaming Plane Crash

DETROIT, Sept. 30. (INS)—James L. Brown, 59-year-old executive of a nation wide pilot training system, was killed and burned beyond recognition tonight in the flaming crash of a twin-engine plane at Detroit.

Brown, who held controlling interest in film actor Dick Powell's "new flight system," was taking off in a four-place Cessna when the craft faltered, fell and exploded into flames.

Brown's associates at the field said the flier was alone in the plane, purchased only three weeks ago from the War Assets administration. He had not revealed his destination

Chief Of Stern Gang Arrested

TEL AVIV, Israel, Sept. 30 (AP)—The capture of Nathan Friedman-Yellin, chief of the Stern gang which has been blamed by the Israeli government for the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte, was disclosed today.

Reliable informants said Friedman-Yellin, a former Polish surveyor, and a lieutenant, Matityahu Shmuelewitz, were caught by Israeli police in a house crammed with guns and ammunition at Haifa Wednesday night. Friedman-Yellin's wife was questioned for two hours and then released.

The two Sternists had $7,000 on them, along with incriminating documents and foreign papers purporting to give them leave from the army. They offered no resistance.

Forged Papers Studied

Informed sources said the documents "threw new light" on the Bernadotte case, and the forged papers were designed to permit Friedman-Yellin to elude the government's order for all members of the outlawed Stern band to join the army or be hunted down as deserters.

(Informed in Geneva of Friedman-Yellin's reported arrest, the Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok commented, "It cuts off the head of the snake." Shertok was enroute to the UN meeting in Paris.)

Friedman-Yellin had been a fugitive since the night of Sept. 17 when Count Bernadotte, the UN mediator, and his French assistant, Col. Andre Serot, were shot down in Jerusalem.

Refuge In Russia Hinted

The "fatherland front," said to be a splinter group of Sternists, has announced its responsibility for the killings in leaflets distributed to foreign consulates.

The government of Israeli immediately outlawed the Stern band and announced that nearly 300 were arrested and their arms seized.

Persons formerly associated with the Sternists said they believed Friedman-Yellin had intended to leave the country but was blocked when the government closed all ports and airports to departures of persons without special permits.

The local press suggested that Friedman-Yellin and his closest associates might try to get to Russia.

Friedman-Yellin, a one-time honor student, inherited the leadership of the Stern gang from Abraham Stern who was killed in 1941. The small but tightly disciplined Stern band conducted a long campaign of terrorism against the British.

News of the arrest coincided with the arrival here of Chaim Weizmann, president of Israeli. Still nearly blind after an eye operation in Switzerland, Weismann was received by three cabinet ministers at an airport whose location was kept secret.

Several officials have expressed fear of terrorist assassination.

Warned Of Flames

In Portland, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson had talked of selling their eight-year-old horse, Mickey.

Early this morning Mickey, pastured in the yard, set up a loud neighing. The Johnsons and their three children awakened in time to rush out of their burning house.

Now, says Johnson, Mickey has a home for life.

The Earl Johnsons of Wakefield, Mass., moved from a big house into a small cottage recently.

They have three children and though the place was too small for the family and Chris, their pet Doberman. They decided to get rid of the dog.

Today their housing problem was much more acute. But wherever they live, Chris will be there.

As fire swept through the cottage, Chris jumped on the bed. He nipped at Mrs. Johnson until she awakened and roused the rest of the family who escaped the flames.

what he called the four freedoms of Dewey and Truman and Thurmond (GOP candidate Thomas E. Dewey, President Truman and States Rights candidate Strom Thurmond).

Wallace said he is afraid the Dewey-Truman-Thurmond "four freedoms" are: 1. Freedom for big business to pursue super profits at the expense of people. 2. Freedom from taxes that should be paid. 3. and 4. Freedom from labor's rightful demands for good jobs, and from security.

Wallace disdained to duck when four eggs and two tomatoes sailed past him at a mixed white and negro audience at Houston last night. Police ejected from the hall a merchant seaman who boasted he did the throwing.

THE NEW LOOK — IN RIGS — First of the new type, hydraulically raised, mobile telescope rigs to be used in West Texas, has been put in operation west of Blair in Taylor county by the Drilling and Exploration company, one of the more recent oil operating concerns to establish district headquarters in Abilene, Texas. In drilling position the rig stands 97 feet high, but telescoped and lowered, as shown above, it has an overall length of 60 feet. The trailer unit on which the rig is built has a gross weight of 74,800 pounds and includes the draw works, power plant, light plant and derrick. The pump, tool house and sub structure are separate units. In theory, the rig can drill to 9,000 feet, but in field practice it is limited to 5,000 feet in 4½ inch hole or 6,500 feet in 3½ inch hole. The derrick is operated at a slight angle, so that the rotary table is outside the derrick. (AP Photo).

Three CIO Officials Refuse To Answer Probers' Questions

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Sept. 30. (AP) — Congressional probers put the "are-you-or-were-you a Communist" question to three more CIO officials today and again got non-committal answers.

But the House Labor subcommittee looking for Communist infiltration in unions heard witnesses testify that:

1—Leo Jandreau, business agent of local 301, United Electrical Workers union, was a dues-paying Communist party member in the late 1930s.

2—Andrew Peterson, president of the local, was a "willing tool" of the party.

3—The Communists have a "stranglehold" on local 301.

The local claims 15,000 workers at the General Electric company's big parent plant here. Yesterday the Atomic Energy commission black-listed the United Electrical Workers from the atomic power plant GE will operate near Schenectady.

Fifteen Wind-Fanned Forest Fires Rage In East Texas

LUFKIN, Sept. 30. (AP)—Wind-fanned forest fires whipped across dry East Texas timberlands today in the most destructive outbreak in two months.

Fifteen fires blazed in the Woodville district and Texas Forest service headquarters said all available fire-fighting equipment was rushed to the area. O. C. Hill, Lufkin dispatcher, called the fires "plenty large" but the acreage involved was not known.

Five fires burned off 126 timberland acres in the Cushing district yesterday. One blaze alone spread over 600 acres. A new $3,200 home near Neches was destroyed.

The forest service said 24 fires were stopped over the entire timberland area Wednesday after a loss of 2,414 acres.

The fighters hoped for rain, but none was predicted.

Burglary Charges Filed Against Three Teen-Agers At Amarillo

AMARILLO, Sept. 30. (AP)—Burglary charges were filed here today against three teen-age youths after questioning of seven boys and two girls disclosed a string of nine burglaries and three car thefts.

Raymond Russell Bybee, 17, of Amarillo, and Lonnie Jefferson Baugh, 19, and Robert L. Bradshaw, both of Fort Worth, were charged with burglaries of a filling station and a grocery store here Tuesday night. Four juvenile boys and two juvenile girls were arrested Tuesday night with the three youths under charge.

Other burglaries were reported at St. Francis, farm community east of Amarillo; White Deer and Borger. The car thefts were in Borger, Muleshoe and Amarillo. Loot in the nine burglaries totaled about $300 in cash and merchandise.

Southpaw Slugger, Marv Rickert Will Join Boston Braves Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (INS) — Marv Rickert, southpaw slugger from Milwaukee, will join the Boston Braves in Brooklyn tomorrow as a replacemeht for outfielder Jeff Heath, who fractured an ankle yesterday.

Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler granted permission for the new National league champions to bring up Rickert, who had previous trials with the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds.

Rickert will be used in the World Series exclusively against righthanders, with Mike McCormick holding down left field against southpaws.

Rice Owls Set To Hamstring Louisiana Tigers Saturday

HOUSTON, Sept. 30. (U.P.)—The Rice Owls shined up their defenses today, preparing to hamstring the Louisiana State university Tigers here Saturday night in a game billed as a good test for both teams.

Passing came in for both offensive and defensive phases in yesterday's workouts, with Vernon Glass and Harmon Carswell sharing the offensive duties.

There was still no official word today that co-captain Huey Keeney would see much action Saturday night. Keeney has nursed a stubborn ankle injury since early season practice.

Dorish Will Hurl For Barons Against Fort Worth In Series

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 30. (AP)—Birmingham manager Fred Walters named righthander Harry Dorish tonight to open for the Barons against the Fort Worth Cats in the start of the Dixie Series here Saturday night.

The chunky hurler won nine and lost four during the regular season and had a 1-1 record in the final playoffs with Nashville.

Wisconsin Lawmakers Leave Out Reckless Driving Law

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 30. (U.P.)—Reckless driving offenses actually don't exist in Wisconsin any more.

Attorney Gen. Grover Broadfoot regretfully acknowledged that somebody took the section out of the statutes during the last legislative session and forgot to put it back.

But the Milwaukee County district attorney's office has a warning for drivers.

"We'll still get 'em," one assistant said. "We just charge them with unlawful operation of an automobile."

title of transportation agent with Pioner Airlines here had access to such packages and knew which ones were valuable and which were not. Two or three days after the ring disappeared, Pollard reportedly quit his job at the Municipal airport. The ring reportedly disappeared on Friday, Sept. 13.

Officers entered the case when the ring failed to arrive in the East as scheduled on an advance notice of its shipment.

Loan Is Obtained

Officers said that the ring had been taken to a West Texas town and a loan of $2,460 obtained on it from a jewelry firm there.

Not all of the loan was obtained, it was understood, two rings the then owner of the ring had at the firm being returned to him in the deal.

During the past few days, FBI men, Rangers and the special agent of the Prevention and Security department of the Railway Express Agency, Inc., started bearing down on the case.

When Pollard learned of the intensive investigation which was underway he reportedly walked in and surrendered. That was Wednesday. Thursday he was arraigned.

Investigating officers said Pollard repeatedly denied that he had an accomplice in the theft and gave no reasons for his actions other than the idea just grew on him. It was the first time he had been in trouble of any kind, it was said.

Anderson Bros. spokesmen said last night that the diamond ring was one of the many fine stones displayed here the week of Sept. 13. No other stones were included in the shipment on which the ring was being returned to the Harry Winston, Inc. in New York.

Pioneer Airline officials last night said Pollard had been associated with the company for eight or ten months.

Jester Believes HST Helped Himself By Touring Texas

AUSTIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—President Truman helped himself politically by touring Texas, Gov. Beauford H. Jester said today.

Jester at his press conference predicted the Democratic ticket would carry in Texas.

He said he had received less than 20 letters about his own participation in the tour, with the proportion three to two saying he did the right thing.

"I tried to be a good host," the governor said.

LUBBOCK MAN INJURED

A man was admitted to West Texas hospital about 10 o'clock last night undergoing emergency treatment for a deep cut of the biceps of the left arm. He was brought to the hospital by members of the family, the hospital said, and had lost considerabie blood. He was very weak and unable to talk about midnight, and was reported "poor in condition." Further details surrounding the injury were not known last night.

Fair Host For Children Today

soe, Petersburg, Idalou, Loop and Plains.

Accompanying the Plains delegations were members of the flashingly uniformed high school band which played several times during the day.

Today's special dedications are to Abernathy, Amarillo, Canyon, Floydada, Friona, Hale Center, Happy, Kress, Lehman, Littlefield, Lockney, Muleshoe, Silverton, Snyder, Tulia and Turkey and to the residents and school children in those areas.

Bands To Perform

Lockney and Whiteface school officials have advised that their delegations will include their bands, and both are scheduled to play during the day. The Snyder band is to appear in the bandstand in front of the Merchant's building at 11:30 p. m. and at the entrance to the grandstand at 2 p. m.

The Whiteface band is scheduled to play on the carnival midway at 5 p.m., just before the Seldon stratosphere act is presented. Seldon will repeat his twice-daily performance at about 11 p. m.

As usual on Children's days, the students will be admitted to the grounds upon the payment of the federal amusement tax of 5 cents for children under 12 years of age and 10 cents for those over. Bargain prices for carnival rides also will prevail.

College Students Honored

Contributing materially to the bright prospects for today is the fact that it is College day, dedicated to all of the colleges in the city and territory.

If the fairs of previous years are a criterion, Texas Technological college students will be very much in evidence on the fairgrounds today and tonight—especially tonight. This is the day when Tech students usually "take in" the fair

An added attraction Thursday was the start of the second annual South Plains Rabbit and Cavy show in the Livestock Judging arena. It will continue through today and Saturday.

The Forsythe & Downs carnival midway got a good play both afternoon and night. Fair officials agree that it is one of the most satisfactory carnivals ever to play in Lubbock.

The biggest mystery of the fair continues to be the light attendance at the "Water Follies of 1948" in front of the grandstand. Those who have seen it appear in virtually unanimous agreement that it is one of the best shows ever to be presented in Lubbock. Yet the matinee attendance Thursday was estimated at 200. The night crowd was around 1,500, far short of the 5 000-seat capacity of the grandstand.

tivation, several thousand acres of virgin land which can be cultivated, large portions of the routings of the Posey and Roosevelt school buses and the heavy traffic to the Buffalo lakes recreational area. It also would provide paved connections for those served both to Slaton and Lubbock.

Officials said the improvement has been requested in petitions signed by several hundred property owners.

The officials said further all the owners of land abutting the right-of-way have agreed to give enough property to widen the road from 40 to 80 feet.

Status Still Not Decided

Officials agreed that the status of the project will remain uncertain until the recommendations of the highway department are presented formally to the county commissioner's court. No one knew when that might be. The county commission's agreement to appropriate its share of the money will be necessary before construction is started. The appropriation, if authorized probably would come out of the road and bridge fund of the precinct in which the project is located.

Another South Plains project, in Briscoe county, calls for a farm-to-market road designated from the end of farm road 146 at the Swisher county line east to San Jacinto school. The estimated cost is $16,000, to be shared 75-25 by county and state.

In Dawson county seven farm-to-market roads totaling 24.4 miles were designated as follows: From U. S. highway 87 at north edge of Lamesa east 2.5 miles. From state highway 137 south of Lamesa west to Klondike school. From U. S. highway 87 northeast of Lamesa east two miles. In Welch, from state highway 328 to state highway 137. From state highway 137 at Welch to one mile north of Grandview school. From end of farm-to-market road 178 at Midway south four miles. Estimated $200,000 cost to be shared 75-25 by county and state.

Draft Board Quickly Solves Registrant's Birthday Problem

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Sept 30 (U.P.) — Registering for the draft seemed a problem for William Gazzaniga but his draft board quickly set him straight.

He told the board he was 24 years old on the day 25-year-old registrants were to sign up and that he would be 25 on the day named for 24 year olds.

The draft board told him his best bet was to register without delay, regardless of the conflict between his age and the registration dates.

Lewis is bitterly opposed to him—he presented his candidacy to the miner audiences on the basis of opposition to the Taft-Hartley labor law.

No Appeasement Urged

By passing this law over his veto, Mr. Truman said, the 80th Congress "cut and hacked away at the workers' newly won rights."

He also talked about the high cost of living, saying:

"I've tried to get Congress to help me fight inflation, but they're not interested."

Dewey's foreign policy speech at Salt Lake City dealt at length with the current conflict between the western powers and Russia.

The Republican candidate called for, among other things:

1. No appeasement of aggressors.
2. Unstinting support of the United Nations.
3. A United States of Europe strong enough to scare off from war any "despotic ruler of a totalitarian state."
4. American land, sea and air forces "that are capable of protecting us in this new atomic age."

Progressives Withdraw

Specifically as to Russia, Dewey said:

"The best way to get along with the Soviet leaders is to deal with them as strong equals and by doing so to restore their respect for us.

"We shall deal wtih the Soviet as with other nations in a spirit of friendship and fairness, but we should make it perfectly plain that now or hereafter we do not intend to be bullied or bluffed."

The third and fourth parties—Progressives and States Righters—also figured in the day's news.

C. B. Baldwin, campaign manager for Henry Wallace's Progressive party announced that it has withdrawn 13 of its candidates for the U. S. House of Representatives.

Baldwin explained in a Washington news conference that in these races, the Democratic nominees "have now turned to a much more constructive liberal path."

Wallace Listed In 29 States

"We are always willing to have a united front on any candidate who is progressive," Baldwin said. There still will be about 100 candidates running for Congress on the Progressive ticket, he said.

Baldwin also announced that the Progressive party has withdrawn its candidate for governor of Connecticut against Democrat Chester Bowles, former OPA administrator.

Bowles has said he does not want Wallaceite support and Baldwin said the Progressive party is not endorsing Bowles.

Baldwin said Wallace is now certified for the ballot in 29 states and expects to be listed in at least 40 of the 48.

Barkley Plans West Tour

On the States Rights front, Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina said the presidential ticket he heads will be on the ballot of 13 states and maybe 15.

Thurmond told a Weshington news conference that he expects to win more than 100 electoral votes in the 13 states, which have a total of 142.

The Republican vice presidential nominee, Gov. Earl Warren of California, was in New York after a transcontinental trip of vigorous campaigning. Warren tuned his speeches to the Dewey slogan of unity for Americans.

Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky, President Truman's running mate, will speak tonight in Pittsburgh. Having just completed one long tour of the east, Barkley heads now for another tour, this time to the West coast.

Johnson's Plea

of Civil Appeals held in favor of Brown County Judge A. E. Wilson, who contested the Democratic run-off primary Aug. 28 in which F. A. Loudermilk had been declared the winner. This decision threw out 1,727 ballots and reversed the outcome of the race. (If finally upheld, invalidation of these ballots would add 466 votes to Johnson's 87 vote lead over Stevenson.)

In the litigation at Austin, the Supreme Court refused to accept jurisdiction, saying:

Motion Rejected

"The case as presented to the court by pleadings and statements of counsel is not within our jurisdiction. . . . Whether a different situation may arise later which will entitle relator (Johnson) to invoke the jurisdiction of this court is a matter of speculation.

"Necessarily our action in overruling this motion will be without prejudice to the rights of relator to invoke the jurisdiction of this court if facts arise entitling him to invoke its jurisdiction."

Attorneys for Johnson had asked the court not to reject their motion for leave to file the mandamus, but to leave the matter open without prejudice. The court rejected the motion and also refused to leave the matter open, unless new facts arise.

Stevenson's lawyers told the court they had no intention of filing any suit in state court seeking to interfere with certification of Johnson, Moody told the court he intended to press his appeal against Justice Black's order in U. S. Supreme court, saying he felt the Texas court could not enjoin Stevenson "in any manner except within the jurisdiction of this court."

James V. Allred of Johnson's legal staff told the court that no objection would be raised to such an appeal from Stevenson.

The secretary of state had certified Johnson's name yesterday, after receiving official notice that Justice Black had lifted the injunction granted by Judge Davidson.

The Supreme court opinion today took note of this, and remarked that Johnson's lawyers did not claim that any election board will fail or refuse to have Johnson's name printed on the ballot.

U. S. Prestige Takes Slump In Turkey On Tobacco Program

ISTANBUL, Sept. 30 (U.P.) — Observers here say that the United States has gambled away her hard-won Truman Doctrine results in Turkey by a misguided tobacco import program.

Some say it was a matter of one hand not knowing what the other hand was doing. Whatever the fault, United States prestige in Turkey has taken a nose-dive.

When the Truman Doctrine got underway in 1947 with a $100,000,000 military aid grant to Turkey, it was the beginning of a new friendship between the two nations. Everywhere in Turkey it was met with enthusiasm.

Then came the Marshall Plan and United States tobacco exports to Germany. United States policy backfired in Turkey with a bang.

First, Turkey was shocked to discover there was no cash forthcoming from the recovery plan money allotments. All she got was promises of priority on machinery purchases. The other nations got the money.

The Turks swallowed that bitter pill. Later they were almost mollified when ERP administrators "threw in" a mere $10,000,000 for recovery help.

Then the next American policy blow landed. It was aimed innocently but directly at Turkey's economic solar-plexis, its tobacco market.

Tobacco is Turkey's biggest single crop and its largest export item. In normal times, Turkey produced 80,000,000 pounds annually, shipping 40 per cent of it to Germany.

Tobacco Called Luxury

When the war ended, Turkey hoped to regain at least a small part of the German market. But military government officials ruled tobacco a luxury compared to food and other essentials.

The decision hurt, but the Turks did not grumble. They sought other markets but with little success. Gradually, between 1945 and 1947, Turkey accumulated a storage surplus of tobacco amounting to 240,000,000 pounds. The Turkish government strained its resources to continue to purchase tobacco from the farmers so they wouldn't starve.

Then last year hope for a slender German market was renewed. American military government officials decided to import a small amount of tobacco into Germany to stimulate worker incentive.

And the Turks immediately sent a sales team to Germany. Eventually, by drastically reducing prices and agreeing to accompany the sale with a gift, the Turks managed to reach a preliminary agreement for the sale of 10,000,000 pounds. It was not much, but better than nothing.

Quota Reduced

But when the agreement reached the desk of the American military governor, Gen. Lucius Clay, he slashed the quota to 3,000,000 pounds. Tobacco, he said, was still too much of a luxury.

Then on top of that blow, two more incidents occurred that made the Turks feel that perhaps Uncle Sam fed them candy with one hand and put a loaded hand grenade in their pocket with the other hand.

First, news leaked out that the military government had approved the purchase for Germany of a substantial amount of tobacco from Turkey's chief Mediterranean rival, Greece. Secondly, the AMG sent a German purchasing commission to the United States with authority to buy $18,000,000 worth of Virginia tobacco, or 40,000,000 pounds.

Last Straw

Then to make matters just a little worse, a report printed in an American tobacco trade journal said the tobacco destined for Germany was the poorest grade available. What was more, the Germans were paying a higher price per pound for the low-grade American tobacco than Turkey had asked for a much higher grade.

At this point the Turks blew up Turkish newspaper headlines screamed charges at the United States. Statesmen joined in.

American diplomats in Turkey have sent urgent messages to Washington calling for an immediate change in the American tobacco policy for Germany. So far there have been no results.

Chronic Alcoholism Perhaps Curable, Clinic Suggests

By EDWARD J. DOLAN
United Press Staff Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. Sept. 30. —The California state department of mental hygiene may have a "partial answer" to chronic alcoholism in the conditioned reflex treatment, Dr. Lawrence Kolb, medical deputy director of the department, believes.

Dr. Kolb said that since the start of the treatment at the state's hospital at Hendocino five months ago, 63 patients have been treated and released on leave of absence. Of the group only six have returned because they "fell off the wagon."

The treatment has been in use too short a time to be sure of its success, Dr. Kolk said, but "we are sure it is not a complete cure for alcoholism."

Reflex Built Up

He described the process of an "unconditioning treatment." He explained that alcoholics have built up a condition within themselves such that they find it almost impossible to resist alcohol. The conditioned reflex treatment combats that condition by in turn building up in the patient a "strong revulsion," for alcoholic liquors, Kolk said.

The medical director said the treatment consists of making drinking disagreeable by giving the patient a substance that will make him sick when he does drink. He is then given considerable quantities of liquor of all types to drink, with occasional drinks of water. In spite of vomiting, he is kept at the drinking for approximately a half hour at a time for four or five consecutive days.

Dr. Kolk said that during such half-hour treatments, the patients consume "several gallons" of liquid, none of which stays in their bodies. He pointed out the process is unpleasant and very strenuous. After several days they develop a "strong revulsion to liquor and the idea of liquor."

Treatment Voluntary

After finishing the "reconditioning" process and other physiotherapy treatments, they are released if thought to be sufficiently cured. However, they are asked to "refortify" themselves by coming back after a few months to take a single treatment.

Social workers keep track of the released patients to see if they continue to make progress or revert to alcoholism. Dr. Kolb stressed the point that the treatment is not forced on anyone and is given to only those found to be physically capable. He said it is not considered beneficial to alcoholic-insane people and is not given to them.

He also pointed out that it is possible for all alcoholics to have a relapse, but it is "hoped" that this treatment will reduce the number that do "fall off the wagon." The six who returned for treatment after resuming drinking represent a considerable reduction in the number that normally returned before the use of the conditioned reflex-treatment, Kolk said.

New Film To Tell Lowdown On 'Murder, Inc.' If Censors Approve; Officers To Get Boost

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 30 — If Milton Sperling can get the Johnston office to pass the title "Murder, Inc.," he'll use it in a story dealing with this mob.

The title "Murder" is taboo in the Johnston office, but Milton does not plan to glamorize these hoodlums who charged $50 a murder and killed 600 persons. He wants to show what the work of the law enforcement officials did against the infamous gang.

The two heroes in the picture are Burton B. Turkus, former assistant district attorney in charge of the homicide bureau, and former police commissioner Frank C. Bals. Syd Boehm, former reporter who covered a lot of these stories, is gathering factual data. Sperling, himself, found a terrific story in the New York police files.

No Gun For Ladd

There is a big dramatic punch in Alan Ladd's next movie, "Dead Letter." Alan tells me it is one of the most exciting stories he ever read, and something new in a factual thriller.

He plays a post office inspector —a cross between a T-man and a G-man—but Uncle Sam does not permit these boys to carry guns, even though there is considerable danger connected with the job. Alan, who packs pistols in most of his roles says, "I feel almost nude without the holster."

Steve Fisher, whose specialty is these chillers and thrillers, will work with authors Ardel Wray and Robert Richards on the screenplay.

Warning For Oberon

I've got news for Merle Oberon —if she cares.

Unless she reports to RKO on the date agreed upon before she went to Europe, her contract may be cancelled. Merle told me herself, when I met her in Italy, that she had a commitment to be fulfilled — but that was before she met the very attractive count Cini.

Now my foreign spies report that the former Mrs. Lucien Ballard has no intention of leaving her fascinating beau. They were recently at Antibes together and very devoted.

There have been many changes going on at RKO since she departed these shores and the present heads of the studio may not be in a temper to await her pleasure to make a picture — if she plans ever to make another.

Durbin To Continue Films

The hot rumor that Deanna Durbin and Universal-International are about to part company is apparently false. But there are negotiations going on to revise her contract.

As I understand it — the six year deal she signed five years ago called for 14 pictures. Five are still to be made — and it is impossible to do that in the remaining 12 months time.

So Deanna and her manager are in the front office talking over settling for three.

The U-I suit against her for $87,000 the company alleges she owes them, has been withdrawn but I must say that happened even before her last picture received very good notices in the trade papers.

Sister Spends Hour At Bedside Of Injured Russian Teacher

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (INS)—Mrs. Eugenia Robertson spent another hour today at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Oksana Kosenkina, the little Russian school teacher who became an international cause celebre.

They talked animatedly of their youth, and of the harrowing experience that Mrs. Kosenkina went through before she made her "do or die" leap from the third floor window of the Soviet consulate in New York, a plunge that almost took her life.

Mrs. Robertson, who flew from London to be re-united with her sister for the first time in more than 30 years, established herself near the hospital so that she can be in close contact with Mrs. Kosenkina and help speed her recovery.

Ohio Girl Can Fly Plane, But Still Can't Drive Car

XENIA, O., Sept. 30 (U.P.) — The automobile is still a mystery to 14-year-old Barbara Jean Gibson. But give her an airplane and she is at home.

Barbara Jean has climaxed two years of flying instruction with three solo flights. The occasion was one month after her 14th birthday.

The high school freshman made the solo flight on Aug. 19 at the municipal airport at Hamilton, Ontario, where she was vacationing. Her instructor had her make three solo flights that day.

Although she has flown solo, Barbara Jean can't qualify for a license until she is 17.

And she still hasn't learned to drive an automobile.

New Religious Program To Be Broadcast By Church Group

A new thing in religious radio programs, a presentation of "Cyrano de Bergerac," Edmon Rostand's timeless drama of self denial, starring the veteran actor Walter Hampden, will be heard from 7 to 7:30 o'clock tonight over KCBD.

This great and oft referred to drama will be presented as the first of a series of Friday night productions entitled "Great Scenes From Great Plays," sponsored by the Episcopal families of Lubbock. Hampden, who created the part of the daring poet and philosopher Cyrano in more than 1,000 stage performances, will perform scenes from the play as the first to be broadcast coast-to-coast over 500 stations of Mutual Broadcasting System.

This unusual radio series is produced by the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church with the cooperation of 800 members of the Episcopal Actor's Guild. Hampden will act as host for all subsequent programs.

A radical departure from the usual religious programs, "Great Scenes From Great Plays" is aimed directly at approximately 70,000,000 Americans who have no church affiliation, as well as those other millions who have allowed their church affiliation to lapse.

HIGH PRICES BIGGEST HURDLE

Alaska, Land Of Opportunity, Plagued With Many Drawbacks

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

Should Alaska bloom as the 49th star in the nation's flag, Texas boosters will have to talk faster and louder.

One fifth as large as the United States, it would be the biggest state. And 160,000 Alaskans are rarin' to call it the best.

They beam fondly on the barcrowded streets of their isolated frontier towns: they gasp with delight at their magnificent scenery; they revel in the odiferous operations of their great canneries and the rich output of their gold mines.

They are aggressive, sturdy, confident and happy with their lot. They catch fish wherever they drop a line and when they are big enough to lift a gun and pull a trigger they get their limit in deer. They shrug off the idea of isolation and go by air. The per capita use of planes in Alaska is 70 times that of the states. Many natives to whom planes are an old story have never seen an automobile.

Some Boosters From Texas

Some of the best Alaska boosters have had previous training in Texas. Gene and Ray Reagan, who operate a frozen food plant at Ketchikan, used to live in Corpus Christi.

"A man really lives when he lives in Alaska," said Gene. "It's the land of opportunity and were I a young man again I could make a million here."

Ketchikan, 662 miles north of Seattle, is built on the southwestern shore of Revillagigedo Island in southeastern Alaska. Incorporated in 1900, it now has a population of 6,000 and is the salmon canning capital of the world. It is situated on the famed inside passage, an intricate system of narrow, protected waterways hundreds of miles in length and flanked with rugged mountains and rocky cliffs that rise steeply from the water's edge.

One Of Most Modern

Ketchikan nestles on evergreen hillsides, shadowed by snowcapped peaks a setting similar to other coastal towns such as Juneau, Valdez and Seward. Juneau and Ketchikan are among the most modern of Alaska cities, boasting paved streets, movies and comfortable hotels.

Southeastern Alaska is warmed by the Japanese current. It seldom freezes at Ketchikan and the summers are pleasantly cool. But how it does rain—150 inches per year and more.

"It doesn't bother us," Gene Reagan smiled. "We all have raincoats.

What about wages?

"Very little higher than they are in the states," Reagan said. "Considering the prices, they should be much higher."

Prices are high, Alaskans complain, because of high freight charges from the United States. Only American ships are allowed, by law, to haul Alaskan freight.

Eugene Lanier, mayor of Seward, had just bought a new Packard, a light model. By the time it reached Alaska (though he bought it at list price) it cost him almost $4,000.

"It would have been cheaper," said Lanier, "to ship it to Australia. What Alaska needs most is foreign steamship competition. The American monopoly is holding us back."

Alaska raises only two per cent of its own food and the imported groceries come high. Some items from a small cafe menu in Seward: Boiled short ribs, $1.45; Chili and beans, .85; tuna fish salad, $1.50; milk per glass, .25; sliced tomatoes, $1; sliced cucumbers, $1; cottage cheese, $1.

Melons Sell Quickly

At Valdez on the coast north of Seward, we watched a ship unload cantaloupes. The cantaloupes were in poor shape and small. A couple of weeks before we had bought larger and finer specimens on the town square at Cameron, Texas, four for 25 cents.

The cantaloupes from the ship were hurried to a grocery store where customers were waiting. We watched an Indian trapper buy two of them. They were overripe and had brown soft spots.

"How much did they cost you?" we asked the man.

"Dollar and a half for the two," he said.

We told him you could buy them four for a quarter in Texas.

"Where is that?" he asked.

Opportunities Limited

Land of Opportunity?

"Not for heavy industry," said Charles Foster, salesmanager for a big Madison, Wisc. tool company.

"It would cost too much to get your raw materials in and you'd be too far from your markets."

Land of opportunity?

"Perhaps the land of opportunity for trapping, mining, and the fish canning industry," said Frank F. Stevens, Waco, lumberman on a northern vacation, "and Alaskan trees are fine for newsprint. The scenery is great and the hunting and fishing would be hard to beat. But the opportunities certainly are limited. I wouldn't advise young Texans to trade Texas for Alaska."

L. J. Terry, formerly of Lubbock and Wichita Falls, made the trade a year ago. He runs a shoe repair shop in Seward. Mrs. Terry is still in Wichita Falls and plans to join him soon.

"I think it's swell up here," said Terry. "I moved because I couldn't stand the cold Wichita Falls climate. It went to 18 below zero one winter I spent there. Up here it only gets about three below."

Novelist Declares He Will Expose Jesse James Claimant

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Sept. 30 (U.P.)—There will be a new book soon on the lives of Frank and Jesse James and it will have little to do with the revived James of Lawton, Okla.

Homer Croy, the Missouri novelist, is gathering material for the new novel on the lives of the famous post-Civil War bandits.

Croy said here that he had visited Col. J. Frank Dalton, 100 years old, at Lawton and that Dalton's claims to be Jesse James would be exposed as a fraud in his new book.

Edinburg Joins Brownsville In Search for City Manager

EDINBURG, Sept. 30 (U.P.) — Edinburg has joined Brownsville in a search for a city manager.

Edinburg's city manager and water board manager — B. H. Cruce — resigned last night at a meeting of the water board.

Cruce said that he was resigning for personal reasons and had no immediate employment plans. He asked that he be relieved as soon as a successor was found but not later than Nov. 30.

Brownsville must find a city manager to replace Ben Freudenstein, who resigned last week, by Nov. 1.

A University of Texas graduate, Cruce became Edinburg's city manager in January of 1946 and took over the water board management last April.

Cruce was city manager at Georgetown before coming to Edinburg.

Mythical Small Town New Englander Says Good Ancestor Is Best Investment

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 30—New England is old America.

I met a mythical man who lives in a small town here, and I asked him:

"Tell me about New England."

And he said, "What do you want to know?"

"Oh, just what kind of a country it is and what the people are like."

"Well," said the man, "I'll do the best I can to oblige you, but really you came to the wrong man. I'm a stranger myself—only lived in this town 20 years."

"And you call yourself a stranger?"

Distant Relative Overslept

"I don't," said the man. "But my neighbors do. You know up this way a foreigner is a fellow who lives in the next village."

"Well, it certainly looks like a wonderful country to raise children in," I ventured.

"It's a better place to raise ancestors," said the man. "You'll never get ahead here without ancestors. If my son got a congressional medal of honor at St. Lo—which he didn't — that still wouldn't wipe out our family stain."

"What stain?"

"My great-great-grandfather," said the man morosely, "overslept and got to Bunker hill after the battle was over."

"You don't hold that against him?"

"Hold it against him—I'll never forgive him for what he did to me that day!"

Owns Vintage House

"A good sound ancestor is the best investment a man can make here. You don't really belong in New England unless you can call Paul Revere's horse by his first name."

"What was his first name?"

"I beg your pardon," said the man, "but we just don't handy a thing like that around in public."

"I suppose if you had a shoe worn by the horse on that ride it would be a pretty valuable antique."

"How odd that you should bring that up! As a matter of fact we have an original nail from one of the shoes. As far as we have been able to establish, it came from the shoe on the horse's left forefoot."

I inquired where he lived.

"I live in the 1767 house," he said. "You know we don't use street addresses here—we just put dates on the houses like the French do on their wine bottles. Mine is a genuine vintage home."

"Is it a white house with green shutters and a lilac bush in the yard?"

"Naturally," said the man. "Is there any other kind of house?"

"Do you like New England?"

"What an unusual query. You don't like New England or dislike it—you live it."

"What would you do if you suddenly came into some money?"

"I would paint my house," said the man.

"What color?"

"Well," said the man, "you've touched me on a sore point. All my life I've had a secret desire to paint my house purple. But I know I never will."

Drouth And Leaking Dam Make Fishing Easy In Lake Killarney

ARCADIA, Mo., Sept. 30. (U.P.)—Fish are being caught by the sackful at Lake Killarney, a scenic Ozark vacation spot.

The lake is running dry fast because of a leaky dam and drouth. More than half of the three-mile artificial pond is nothing but mud and puddles.

Fish were always plentiful here, but they are so crowded in the remaining portions of the water that they can be caught almost by hand.

SECRET CONFERENCES HELD

Montgomery To Take Military Command Of Western Alliance

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Field Marshal Lord Montgomery will retire as chief of the British imperial staff in order to head the military command of the Western European alliance, government sources said today.

An authoritative informant said the cabinet approved the alliance's choice of Montgomery as chief planner for the defense of Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Templer May Move Up

Lt. Gen. Gerard Templer, 50, was believed the likely successor as chief of the imperial staff, a post Montgomery has held since 1946. A major in charge of field security police at the outbreak of the second world war, Templer commanded a division in Sicily and was the first British military governor in Germany.

The official announcement of Montgomery's selection is expected to be made tomorrow by the alliance secretariat in Paris.

The choice did not meet with unqualified approval. The Manchester Guardian commented that Montgomery was "an inspiration to fighting troops," but was not a planner and was "an uneasy co-operator."

"It might have been much better to appoint a not unduly famous Frenchman to act as a 'stand in' and chief of staff to the real—and presumably American — supreme commander to be appointed when and if war should come," said the newspaper.

The cabinet heard from Defense Minister A. V. Alexander a detailed report on decisions reached in Paris earlier this week when the five defense ministers of the alliance met secretly for two days and decided to set up an international military command.

Questions Unanswered

Their decisions were reported to have crystallized more than five months of joint military planning since the alliance was born at Brussels in mid-March.

By invitation, military experts from the United States and Canada have been sitting in on these meetings the past two months to study equipment needs to rebuild western Europe's defenses.

Questions still to be answered included:

Will the alliance combine its land, sea and air forces into joint units, or will cooperation be limited to joint plans?

If a joint force is set up, who will get the jobs under Montgomery of army, navy and air force chiefs?

Will the next step be development of a coordinated program of maneuvers to train the forces of the five countries to work together?

How much headway have the technical experts made on plans for standardization of arms?

Shreveport Industrialist Is Claimed By Death Thursday

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 30. (AP) — W. Harry Johnson, 66, Shreveport, industrialist and financier, died suddenly today while on a visit to his physician.

His death was attributed to a heart attack.

Johnson, head of the State Department of Commerce and Industry during the administration of Gov. Jimmie Davis, had been ill several weeks.

Born and reared in Shreveport, Johnson in his earlier business life operated the old Caddo Transfer and Warehouse Co. and later organized and operated the Tri State Transit Co. which extended over a nine state area.

Engineering Official To Speak At College

E. G. Bailey of New York, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, is to arrive by airplane at 11:40 o'clock this morning to speak at a meeting at 7 o'clock tonight in the Aggie Memorial auditorium at Texas Technological college.

All engineering societies on the campus are to sponsor the meeting, which will be open to students and any engineers in the city. Address subject will be "the Engineer's Opportunities."

Bailey, who is making an extensive tour, has spoken in several colleges before coming here. From here he will go to Amarillo to speak at a national petroleum mechanical engineering conference Tuesday. He later will speak at colleges in New Mexico, Arizona, California, Nevada, Wyoming, Colorado and Kansas.

He is president of Babcock and Wilcox, Co., makers of power equipment, and was founder of Bailey Meter Co.

Services For Brother Of Lubbock Man Set In Vernon

Funeral services for Tech. Sgt. Harmon "Pee Wee" Newell of Vernon, who lost his life last November in a plane crash in the Italian Alps, are to be conducted between 2 and 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Henderson Funeral home in Vernon.

The body is to arrive in Vernon by train tonight, after having been brought by ship to New York City.

The brother of Garland Newell and Earl Newell of Lubbock, Sgt. Newell was aboard a C-47 which crashed into almost impassable terrain while en route from Pisa, Italy, to Frankfurt, Germany. The bodies and plane wreckage were not found until Aug. 6 of this year, when an Italian patrol found them.

Lecturer To Appear On Program For Camera Club Here Tonight

The Lubbock Camera club will sponsor the appearance of Rollin Herald in a lecture and demonstration in portrait lighting for color at 8 o'clock tonight in the junior ballroom of Hotel Lubbock.

Camera club members are urged to attend and have their camera loaded with tungsten type color film, said Jack Glasco, program chairman of the club. The public also is invited, he said.

Models will be present to appear in demonstrations.

Those attending who wish to become members of the camera club may notify any club officer Friday night.

The lecture and demonstration will be supplemented by slides and diagrams furnished by Eastman Kodak Co. Herald attended a school sponsored by the company at Rochester, N. Y., during the summer to study portrait lighting for color.

New Television Station Goes Into Operation At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Sept. 30. (AP)—Television, in a 50-mile area around Fort Worth, is no longer something folks just speculate about. It's on the air.

The first program of WBAP-TV, Texas' pioneer television station was produced last night.

Amon Carter, president of the Star-Telegram company, Harold Hough, director of the company's television and radio stations, and George Cranston, station manager, inaugurated WBAP-TV.

A salute from the National Broadcasting company was telecast, and news reels, commercials and a full length film were shown.

WBAP-TV, 25th television station to go on the air, is the first to operate east of Los Angeles and south of St. Louis.

Hough said the radio and television plant associated with the Star-Telegram represents an investment of $1,400,000. Expenditure of about $2,000,000 is planned before the plant is completed, he said.

Fort Worth test telecasts were reported well received from as far away as Henderson, 155 air miles away, where a man rigged up an aerial on a water tower.

Octogenarian And Horse Find Haven For Winter On Farm

NEW GLOUCHESTER, Me. Sept. 30. (AP)—An 80-year-old man, who headed north for the winter as younger folk were leaving for the south, has found a job for himself and a berth for his horse Baby.

Frank Tatro left his home in Worcester, Mass., to hunt work as a caretaker for the winter months. Irving L. Berry, operator of the Bearboro town farm, learned of Tato's mission and notified him that there was a job waiting for him and a stable for Baby.

Tatro, Baby and buggy spent a leisurely month making the 200-mile trip from Worcester

Dog Hitchhikes Ride On Bus To Be With Mistress

Pal felt lonesome when his mistress, Mrs. James Grimes, left town to go to a friend's birthday party. He trailed her to the bus station and got a gentle pat on the head when Mrs. Grimes boarded a bus.

When she got to her destination, she was greeted by Pal. The dog lesped out of the bus baggage compartment. The bus driver said Pal must have jumped in there while he took tickets.

Modern American Bride Blamed For Boost In Divorces; Study Of Problem Is Urged

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—More couples are being unmarried than are being married in many U. S. cities—and it's the fault of the American bride! At least one "expert thinks so!

More than half the girls to be married this fall will be thinking about divorce by Christmas. This is the opinion of Dr. James F. Bender, marriage counselor and director of the National Institute for Human Relations.

Women Are Blamed

In an American magazine article titled "The Trouble With Most Brides . . .", he points out it's the woman who rocks the marriage because she expects too much and gives too little.

"Brides are anxious to put their marriage on a 50-50 basis," writes the counselor. And, contrary to theories, this isn't a realistic attitude. Dr. Bender believes marriage is about a 75-25 proposition, with the wife supplying the 75. Most brides don't face this prospect pleasantly.

His is one of 10 shortcomings the marriage counselor detects in brides. He lists the others:

1. "Brides have dangerous delusions about romance." They worry when the hypnotic state of "sexually-colored infatuation" wears off.

2. "They are restless from overstimulation." They don't care to settle down; they talk too much; they resent economizing.

3. "They don't know what a thimble is." Dr. Bender points out that girls with a knowledge of household duties have more chance to be happy.

Lack Stamina, He Says

4. "They are brittle and lack stamina." Too many brides haven't a real desire to make marriage work. They are quick-tempered, easily offended, always seeking compliments, unwilling to try to like hubby's friends.

5. "They think babies are all right, but—" brides often look for excuses to delay starting a family, according to Dr. Bender. And when they do have babies, they are willing to trust them to baby sitters, nursery schools, day camps.

6. "They can't make up their minds what they want in life." The counselor recommends a thorough understanding between a couple of the bride's ambitions and the husband's need for domesticity before the minister is called.

7. "They are too apt to be assertive." The career influence enters the picture again when women try to dominate their husbands because they are used to independence and perhaps even authority.

8. "They know too much about sex and too little about love." This results, according to Dr. Bender, in two thirds of them being frustrated.

9. "They are sabotaging the institution of marriage." The last bridal shortcomings lists both men and women as "debasers" of marital dignity. Too many parties, too much extra-marital flirting, and too many drunken visitors to justices of the peace!

PLANE SETS RECORD

SEATTLE, Sept. 30 (AP) — The new Boeing stratocruiser airliner, in tests, has pulled out of a full-power dive at a speed of 498 miles per hour. The Boeing airplane company said this was faster than any other airplane of its size has ever flown.

Farmhand Arrested; 14-Year Old Murder Is Believed Solved

DETROIT LAKES, Minn., Sept. 30. (INS)—A 14-year-old murder may have been solved today when Becker county authorities arrested a farmhand in Raymond, Wash.

The farmhand was identified as Otto Johnson, 38.

Becker County Attorney Carl G. Buck, jr., said Johnson has been charged with the first degree murder of Mrs. Lovissa Markie, Wolf Lake township widow. He will be returned to Minnesota tomorrow.

Mrs. Markie's body was found in a shallow grave near a county road June 30, 1934. She had been beaten to death. Neither friends nor her nine children could furnish any clue to her killers.

Buck said a warrant charging Johnson with murder was issued on the basis of a story told by the farmhand's wife.

Mrs. Johnson declared in a signed statement that her husband beat the widow to death with a wooden club when she refused his demand for money.

Mrs. Johnson has sued her husband for divorce and has been returned to Minnesota as a material witness.

POLIO PATIENT DIES

CORSICANA, Sept. 30 (AP) — Mrs. Mary Frances Gourley, 30, Corsicana, died in Children's hospital at Waco today of polio. She had been a patient at the hospital since last week.

Big City's Temptations Bring Downfall Of Reformed Convict

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 30. (INS)—The big city it too full of temptation for a reformed ex-convict to go straight, Walter Joslin, 25, Toledo, believes.

Joslin, arrested on a burglary charge, told police he was out for a stroll when he spied through an open window a purse on a bed.

He said he reached through the window with a stick and hooked the purse because "the temptation was too much."

He bungled the job and was arrested.

Program To Teach Citizenship To Latin Americans Is Urged

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. (AP)—A program to teach the powers of citizenship—especially the power of the vote—to American citizens of Mexican descent was urged here today by Bishop C. E. Byrne of Galveston.

"Get those who are Americans to live as Americans—to exercise their American rights," Bishop Byrne told his fellow members of the Good Neighbor commission meeting here today.

Could Control San Antonio

The Bishop said 80 percent of Latin Americans in Texas are American citizens. If they voted, he said, a lot of their troubles would end.

"If the Latin Americans in San Antonio were ready to vote, they would control San Antonio," he said. "If the Latin American people in Houston would vote, they would have the balance of power."

Americans of Mexican descent, many of them born in Texas, are being allowed to grow up in "a negligent way," he charged.

There are thousands of Latin American children in Texas who have never put foot in a school, he said. When given an education, he added, many such children come out at the top of their classes.

Would Set Up Program

"Let's make Americans out of our citizens and a lot of this unfortunate stuff will be done away with right away."

The Bishop's remarks were prompted by a suggestion by Consul General Miguel Calderon of Mexico that a program should be created for interchange of students between Texas and Mexico.

Calderon also suggested a program to encourage Mexican tourists to come to Texas on pleasure instead of just business trips. The Mexican, he said, prefers to go to Colorado or New York or California where he travels anywhere he likes without fear of discrimination.

In Texas, Calderon said, the Mexican must go from one big city to another where he is assured of accommodations. The consul general made clear he did not mean there is discrimination against Mexicans in every small town in Texas but that the two or three exceptions are an obstacle to tourist trade. The Mexican tourist is not sure he is welcome in Texas, he said.

Scientist Develops Electronic Composer

AUSTIN, Sept. 30 (INS) — Music composers may have reason in the future to thank a University of Texas physicist for making their tasks easier.

Dr. R. B. Watson, has invented an electronic instrument, which he terms his "composer's music box", makes it easier for composers to write music.

However, the electronic device, won't enable just anybody to sit down and whip out a popular song. It will require the skill of an accomplished musician for its operation.

Pencil Operates Gadget

It is a small box about the size of a sheet of typewriter paper and several inches high. Horizontal and vertical lines cover the top of the box in bar arrangement. The horizontal lines represent intensity, the vertical lines pitch.

The composer runs a pencil along the lines and the box produces the tone he is writing into music. Small buttons enable him to adjust tonal quality. Electrical wirings for the instrument are in a larger box that stands on the floor or on a table nearby.

Dr. Watson says the box will make it possible for the composer to work comfortably at his desk instead of at a piano or other instrument and will make composition simpler.

19,390 DEAD

U. S. Traffic Death Toll Shows Decline

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. (INS)—The nation's traffic death toll is lower so far this year than it was last year for the same period.

The National Safety council reported today that the 3,000 traffic deaths for August was two per cent lower than in August, 1947.

The council also said the 19,390 death total for the first eight months of 1948 was down three per cent from the eight-month toll of last year.

German People Still Resist Red Attempts To Take Over Nation

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

HEIDELBERG, Germany. — An interesting distinction in the use of words appears to be habitual among the men at Eucom—Headquarters, European Command, U. S. Army.

In discussing their security problems they refer to two classes of people—Germans and Communists. Not, mind you, German Communists. There seems to be tacit recognition of something this column has stressed so often—that a Communist is a representative of Russian imperialism, without any claim to the rights of nationality accruing in any other country, regardless of where he was born.

It is the Communist, not the German, who is the problem of those responsible for security in the Allied occupation zones.

But I find no sentiment here in favor of outlawing the party, nor for driving Communists underground with more stringent rulings against their activities.

Instead, security officials keep tab on them, expose them, and cooperate with civilian authorities in the military government to keep them from sabotaging either the economic or political objectives of the American program in Germany.

There is strong evidence that the Germans themselves offer poor material for Communist exploitation. Fifty years ago the radical socialists thought that industrialized Germany would one day be their real spearhead. The successors of these socialists transferred their hopes to Moscow because Germany wouldn't crack.

American experience here seems to lead to the conclusion that, despite terrible postwar social and economic conditions, that situation has not changed basically

U. S. Fire Losses May Hit New High

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (U.P.)—The United States fire loss in the first six months of 1948 exceeded the fire loss for the entire year 1943, according to the National Fire Protection Association.

At the present rate of destruction, this year's loss will top 1947, when a $700,000,000 loss set an all-time high.

The combined 1947 budgets of the states of Arizona, Colorado, Delaware, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont, Utah, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

To establish this record loss, Americans are permitting fires to attack their homes at the rate of one every 90 seconds, and the NFPA adds: "No type of fire is easier to prevent."

To cut the number of fires in half, the association says: make sure the heating plant is properly installed with adequate safeguards; make needed repairs promptly and clean yearly; be sure the chimney is properly constructed and is not soot-encrusted; replace inflammable roofing with a fire-resistant material such as asphalt shingles; and install a good wiring system of sufficient capacity.

If, in addition, people would be careful with matches and smoking, would use only non-explosive cleaning fluids, and would keep closets, attics and basements free of old papers, magazines, rags, discarded furniture and similar debris, the NFPA says the number of home fires would be reduced automatically 90 per cent.

'EMBARRASSING'

Accused Man Walks Out Of Harris Jail

HOUSTON, Sept. 30. (U.P.)—The sheriff's department admitted today it was very "embarrassed," but it had lost track of a former inmate of Leavenworth prison who was being held here on a $9,000 robbery charge.

At large was Roy Lee Auten, 32, of Muskogee, Okla., charged with robbery by firearms after he admitted taking $7559 in cash and a $1500 diamond ring from grocer Sam Hardee August 27. Auten and two companions were picked up near Conroe the same day.

Uses Fellow Prisoner's Name

Chief criminal investigator Jake Colca, reluctant to give details concerning Auten's disappearance, said, "It's sorta embarrassing, but it's true."

Here's how Auten walked out of jail Monday and wasn't missed until two days later:

He simply answered to the name of Theron Sabin, whose $300 bond had been made. Jailer J. L. McPhail, who knew neither Auten nor Sabin by sight, assumed Auten was Sabin. He let him out of the cell and ushered Auten to the desk sergeant, where the prisoner signed papers with Sabin's name and a fictitious address and was released.

Sabin, apparently asleep when his name was called, was still in jail today.

Funeral Services Conducted For V. H. Brown In Slaton

SLATON, Sept. 30. (Special)—Funeral services were conducted at 3 p. m. today in the Slaton Assembly of God church for V. H. Brown, 58, who died at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday in his home here after an illness of about four months.

Rev. Claud Holt, church pastor, officiated. Burial was in Inglewood cemetery with Williams Funeral home in charge.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Sylvia Brake and Mrs. Frankie McGuinn, both of Slaton; four sons, Clifford, Cullen and John W. Brown of Slaton and Cecil Brown of Sundown; three brothers, Ed Brown of Lubbock, Jess Brown of Slaton and Paul Brown of a California city; one sister, and 12 grandchildren.

Chicago Scientists 'Dig Up' Indian History In New Mexico

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. (U.P.)—A group of Chicago scientists has dug up "four centuries of missing Indian history" in New Mexico.

Dr. Paul S. Martin, curator of anthropology at the Chicago Natural History Museum, said the story of Indian culture between 500 and 900 A.D. has always been a blank.

This summer he and the expedition he headed unearthed proof of an Indian civilization during the period.

Martin discovered several years ago that Mogollon Indians ranged through New Mexico country 6,000 years ago. They left small pithouses and crude pottery as evidence of their life.

During the summer, Martin's expedition discovered new pit-houses and pottery of a more advanced type. That provided proof, he said, of the life of the Indians during the heretofore "lost" period between 500 and 900 A.D.

Present estimated endurance of an automobile tire is about three years.

Geronimo, California Quarter Horse, Auctioned For $20,000

CORONA, Calif., Sept. 30. (U.P.)—An all-time world record price for a quarter horse sold at public auction was claimed today for the sale of Geronimo for $20,000.

A. R. (Mike) Levis, Montana cattleman, bought the five-year-old stallion yesterday in a sale at the Circle Jr. ranch.

Movie stars William (Wild Bill) Elliott and Noah Beery, jr., were among bidders for the Circle Jr. stock, which is among the best bloodlines in quarter horse ancestry.

Elliott made the top bid of $1100 for the five-year-old mare Dixie Chub, in foal to Geronimo, and her colt.

Auctioneer Hank Wisekamp said only one other quarter horse, Buckskin Joe, has sold for more than Geronimo. Buckskin Joe brought $25,000 at a private sale.

Philippines Volcano Reported Building Up Huge Stone Wall

MANILA, Sept. 30 (AP)—Hibok-hibok volcano is building around itself a gigantic stone wall that already is 1,100 feet high, an American volcano expert reported today.

The volcano on little Camiguin island in the southern Philippines began erupting Sept. 1, driving more than 35,000 persons off the island.

Charles B. Reynolds of New York, who was there during the worst of the eruption, said it was quieting down now but still was doing weird things.

Stones pushed out from three or four new craters of the mile-high mountain are building the impressive wall on the slopes, he said. He compared the phenomenon with the palisades on the Hudson river.

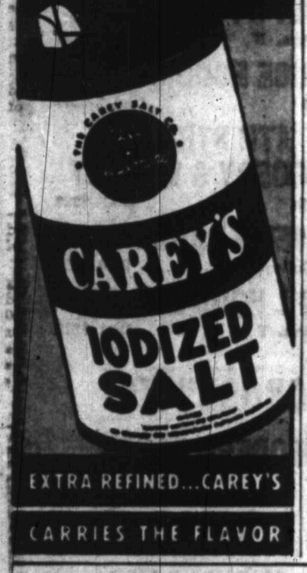

It is possible that the wall may topple, burying large areas, but the volcano evidently is soon due for a period of repose, he declares.

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE

Lubbock, Texas, Friday, October 1, 1948

National Guard Work Displayed

One of the major outdoor exhibits planned for public information, at the Panhandle South Plains fair here, is that of the Texas National Guard, which is also joining in observance of National Guard week throughout the nation.

The fair exhibit is designed for the dual purpose of public information and promotion of personnel increase in line with the stepped-up training program of the guard due to unsettled world conditions, according to Col. Walter F. Smith, public information officer of the 132nd Field Artillery battalion here. The exhibit is located between the Merchants' and the Women's building.

The week for National Guard observance, which started Monday, was proclaimed by President Truman, Texas Gov. Jester, and Lubbock's Mayor W. H. Rodgers. It is supported also by the local post of the American Legion through a resolution endorsing and supporting purposes of the week, and pledging every assistance and aid in further development and training.

Col. Smith pointed out that when the guard was first reorganized after the war, the outlook was for a long period of peaceful development and a six-year program was considered adequate.

Due to unsettled conditions the program has recently been ordered stepped up and streamlined to complete in three years the original six-year program. Training is to be on several levels of proficiency for the more than 300,000 guardsmen in some 4,500 federally recognized units throughout the nation, the announcement said.

Uniform training has been outlined for each type of unit, and all units of the same type are to conduct the same number of training hours in the same essential subjects, thus establishing a minimum standard of training for the National Guard as a whole.

The 132nd Field Artillery unit, with headquarters here, is under the command of Lt. Col. Ross Ayers, and is composed of Battary A in Plainview, Battery B in Big Spring, and Battery C, Headquarters, Headquarters battery, and Service battery in Lubbock. The groups meet for drills each Monday night from 8 to 10 o'clock.

NO DRAFT THIS TIME

FOND DU LAC, Wis. (U.P.)—John E. Murray's number was the first drawn in 1940 when Fond du Lac began drafting men for service. He served more than three years in the Navy. This time Murray has been named a member of the Fond du Lac County draft board.

Area Newsmen To Meet In City

The South Plains Press association will be guests at a luncheon sponsored by the Panhandle-South Plains Fair association Saturday noon at the Hilton hotel. Editors and newsmen from 40 West Texas and eastern New Mexico counties have been invited to attend.

The program will include a speech by Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Avalanche-Journal, on the subject "Area Solidarity," and a talk by Cecil Horne, head of the Tech journalism department. Horne will describe the activities of recent Tech journalism graduates.

A special number on the program will be given by Miss Dorothy Ray Bivens, speech major at Texas Tech.

Lois Vestal, of Levelland, secretary of the press association, announced that a meeting of the board of directors will be held at 11:30 a. m. at the hotel preceding the luncheon.

Dr. Jones To Attend WTSTC Ceremonies

Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of Texas Technological college, will officially represent Texas Tech Saturday at the initiation of Dr. James P. Cornette as president of West Texas State Teachers college in Canyon.

While representing Tech, Dr. Jones will also be the official representative of the Association of American Colleges. Dr. J. N. Michie, professor and head of the mathematics department at Tech will represent the American Mathematics Society at the initiation. Dr. W. C. Holden, dean of the Division of Graduate Studies, will attend, and Mrs. Michie and Mrs. Holden will accompany their husbands.

Dr. Cornette has been the chief executive of WTSTC since Sept. 1. He came to Canyon from Baylor university, where he was dean. Jan. 1 to work with former President J. A. Hill and acquaint himself with his duties. There will be a luncheon at 1 p. m. and a formal reception for Dr. and Mrs. Cornette at 4 p. m.

The Texas Teachers Board will also be in attendance, since its annual meeting is being held in Amarillo this week.

Fifty Counties Under Control

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 30.—B. E. Stallones, manager of the South Texas Producers association today told in 98th district court how his association has gained control of milk production in more than 50 Texas counties the past 17 years.

Stallones was the first and only witness questioned by Attorney General Price Daniel as hearing began on the state's request for a temporary injunction to restrain alleged fixing of milk prices.

Laws Claimed Violated

The association and six Houston milk distributing companies are accused by the state of collusion to fix milk prices in violation of Texas anti-trust laws.

Questioned by the attorney general, Stallones estimated the association controls 97 percent of all raw milk bought by Harris county distributors.

Since its organization in 1931, the co-operative has grown until it now has members in "55 or 56 counties," he testified.

"We could take the whole state in if we wanted to," Stallones declared at one point.

To Continue Hearing

The attorney general repeatedly asked questions designed to prove that milk distributors have had to agree to buy all their milk exclusively from producer members of the association in order to secure any milk at all.

Stallones said association members, who pay dues of five cents per 100 pounds of milk sold and five cents per 100 pounds to a revolving fund, did not like it when distributors bought part of their milk from the members and part from non-members.

"I reckon we were violating the anti-trust laws when we were setting prices to the consumer when Gerald Mann was attorney general," the association manager volunteered.

He said that practice was discontinued after an investigation by then Assistant Attorney General Walter Koch.

Daniel has alleged in his suit that the association has acquired monopolistic control.

WALKING PREFERRED

SPRINGFIELD, O., (U.P.)—John Mitchum, 24, fell 20 feet from a railroad trestle into Buck Creek. He suffered only a few bruises. When offered a lift home, Mitchum declined, saying he would rather walk.

SHADOWS OF COMING EVENTS—At the booth of the South Plains Cotton committee at Panhandle-South Plains fair, two officials of the National Cotton council look over the exhibit and discuss a coming mechanization conference to be held in Lubbock Oct. 14, 15 and 16. They are Sam Haynes, Lubbock, left, field representative in West Texas for the National Cotton council, and J. F. Criswell, Memphis, Tenn., right, education specialist for the council. Criswell will remain in Lubbock until after the conference, helping the South Plains council with arrangements. The booth was prepared under direction of W. N. Williamson, L. M. Hargrave, L. O. Buchanan, and Jamie Caviness, and much of the material displayed was furnished by the cotton council. (Staff Photo).

Faithful Black Dog Leads Searcher To Lost Wyoming Girl

CHEYENNE, Wyo. Sept. 30 (AP)—A black dog which guarded Janet Federer through a cold, rainy night led an aerial searcher to the six-year-old girl today.

Huddled against a creek bank on the prairie ten miles from her ranch home, Janet was found by Jack Strong, a flying instructor. He spotted the large shepherd dog and landed nearby.

"At first the dog was determined to keep me from the child," Strong said, "but she spoke his name and he let me touch her.

"She was too cold, hungry and frightened to say much, but there wasn't a whimper from her."

Strong flew her to the home of her anxious parents. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Federer. She was taken to a Cheyenne hospital, suffering from exposure and bruises.

Janet wandered away from home, 12 miles northwest of Cheyenne, accompanied by two dogs, at 1 p. m. yesterday. One dog returned home without her last night, setting off a search by 600 soldiers, volunteers, state patrolmen and sheriff's officers.

ECONOMIC CONFERENCE SLATED

Gross Receipts Tax Proposed To Provide Revenue For Cities

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Sept. 30—A gross receipts tax was suggested today as executives of 15 Texas cities laid the groundwork here for legislative action designed to broaden the scope of municipal taxing authority.

A gross receipts tax of one-half of one per cent, levied on every business in the state, was advanced by City Manager George Fairtrace of Wichita Falls as the only sufficiently strong crutch which the state legislature could give to crippled city finances.

Other Plans Discounted

City Manager W. O. Jones of Fort Worth quickly indorsed the suggestion, terming it the "eventual answer" to the pressing problem of municipal finances.

Alternative sources of revenue Jones said, would in essence be "nuisance taxes" and revenue from them would be "peanuts" by comparison with the heavy financial demands of city governments which have neared the saturation point of their taxing powers while encountering ever-rising costs.

Meeting at city hall, the executives did not make specific recommendations on any of the possible avenues by which cities could obtain more money.

But they did vote to call a statewide economic conference of city and county officials sometime in November, perhaps here, to crystalize proposals for submission to the state legislature. The conference will have before it the legislative recommendations of the League of Texas Municipalities which meets in El Paso next week.

City Councilman Malvern Marks, who organized the meeting, mentioned the payroll tax used in Pennsylvania as one means of solving the problem.

Smithfield Man Is Killed When Car Crashes Into House

FORT WORTH, Sept. 30. (U.P.)—Thomas W. Miller, 45, Smithfield carpenter, died in the crash of his car here today.

The car Miller was driving crashed into the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Wakefield, about 200 yards from the road. Miller was thought to have become ill while driving, since friends said he was sometimes subject to sudden spells of illness.

Number Of Mexican Workers For Cotton Harvest To Be Reduced

MONTERREY, Mexico, Sept. 30. (AP)—U. S. cotton planters are going to get only about half the 25,000 braceros (workers) they hoped to recruit for picking.

Yesterday 820 men were sent out, the highest number yet, but only about 7,000 braceros have been recruited altogether.

David W. Fessenden, U. S. Employment Service representative, looking after the U. S. employers' interests, said employers are dissatisfied with the slowness of the Mexican processing. He said braceros can be used, especially by Arkansas, up to Oct. 10 but not many beyond that date.

Meeting Is Reported

He said he had heard of a proposed meeting at Atlanta, Ga., to complain of Mexican slowness but that he knew nothing definite about it.

The Mexican recruiting office opened Sept. 5, five days late. There was difficulty in getting qualified office help and at first few braceros appeared. A week ago, the Mexican staff was doubled but the number of men handled did not increase proportionately.

One reason for recent delays, Fessenden said, was a recent decision of the Mexican authorities to require a guaranteed wage while the original agreement was for U. S. employers to pay the "prevailing" rate in each cotton area. Mexico now asks that braceros be paid $3.00 a 100 pounds for the first picking, $4.00 for the second picking and $5.00 for the third picking.

Illinois Postmen Seek Law To Protect Pants From Dogs

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 30. (UP)—Illinois postmen plan to ask the state legislature for a law to protect them from dog bites.

The mailmen want a bite out of the dog owner's pocket for every bite out of the seat of their pants.

Edward F. Benning, vice president of the Illinois Mail Carriers' Association, said that if dog owners are made financially responsible, a pair of gray pants probably will last a lot longer.

The mailmen don't want to collect personally for dog bites. They get compensation for injuries "received in the line of duty" from the government, anyway. The law would permit the federal government to get back money it spent in patching up its mailmen.

Einstein's Son Is Employed By Army

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 30. (UP)—Dr. H. A. Einstein, in Omaha for special work with the U. S. Army engineers, resembles a younger, more neatly tonsured version of his famous namesake.

The resemblance is more than a coincidence. The youthful scientist is the son of the famous physicist, Dr. Albert Einstein.

Engineers working with Dr. H. A. Einstein say he does not need the reputation of his father to enhance his own. In fact, he avoids trying to use the fame of his father.

His associates describe him as the world's foremost authority on his specialty, the movement of silt in water.

Dr. Einstein is a hydraulic engineer and a faculty member of the University of California. He is in Omaha as one of a group of consultants. They are working with the Army in a sedimentation study the largest ever attempted, of the Missouri River.

The study, according to Dr. Einstein, boils down to seeking answers to two questions: How does the river move sediment? And what is the effect of the sediment on the river motion itself?

The questions are vital ones in developing the "Big Muddy" river. The problems of location of dams, the order in which they are built, type of flood control structures and design of hydro-electric generators depends on the answers.

Mexican Goes To Prison After 'Resurrection' Attempt Fails

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 30. (INS)—Hesiqui Garcia has been sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of years simply because his attempt to "resurrect the dead" failed under examination.

Benito Vargas, a resident of Mexico City, took out a 50,000 peso insurance policy on his life with Manuel Gutterrez as beneficiary.

Vargas died recently and Hesequio Garcia presented the insurance company with a formal transfer of beneficiary from Gutierrez to himself.

Suspicious the insurance company began a probe into the case. Manuel Gutierrez had died several years ago, long before either the policy holder or before the public transfer of rights as beneficiary.

Incredulous that Gutierrez had risen from the dead to transfer his rights in Vargas' policy to Hesequio, the company opened a prosecution for fraud against Hesequio. His last attempt to obtain judicial aid, an amparo or setting aside of the verdict, failed, and Hesequio will spend several years on the penal colony of Islas Marias.

Navy Officer Sues Actress For Return Of Engagement Ring

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 30. (UP)—Actress Lila Leeds won't give back his $1000 engagement ring, Navy Lt. Richard C. Andrus, 28, Dallas, complained today in a court suit.

The blond starlet, defendant with actor Robert Mitchum and two others on narcotics charges, has ignored his entreaties to either marry him or send back the ring, Andrus said. Now stationed at Newport, R. I., he filed suit yesterday through attorney J. J. Brandlin.

The officer said their romance began while he was stationed at Lake Charles, La. He gave her the ring last June and she returned to Hollywood to wind up her business before going to Newport to marry him, he said.

New York Police Recover Gems Taken From Rich Czech Beauty

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (AP)—Vigilant police trailing of a suspected safe cracker led today to the recovery of $75,000 in jewels stolen from a wealthy Czech beauty.

Three men were arrested and grilled in the theft of the jewelry from Mrs. Sonja Loew, 31, of Milton, Mass. She was bound and gagged with her own stockings by three towel-masked bandits in the Hotel Madison early yesterday.

Mrs. Loew is the recently divorced wife of Elias M. Loew, New England and Florida theater magnate.

The trio, in whose possession police said they found the jewels, stated they received the gems from a fourth man who asked them to sell the jewelry for him.

Kidneys Must Remove Excess Acids

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Rites Slated Sunday For Lubbock Veteran

Funeral services have been set for 3 p. m. Sunday in First Church of the Nazarene here for Pvt. Carl William Newsom, who was killed in action on Leyte, P. I., Dec. 7, 1944. Rev. A. F. Laing, pastor, will officiate.

The body of Pvt. Newsom will arrive in Lubbock Saturday.

Pvt. Newsom was awarded the Presidential Unit citation, Infantryman's Badge of Honor, the Purple Heart, and the Bronze Star medal.

The Bronze Star medal was awarded for "heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on December 7, 1944," and reads in part, "As the platoon of which Pvt. Newsom was a rifleman was assaulting a heavily foritfied enemy position, it encountered flanking enemy machine gun fire. Realizing the necessity for protection on the flank receiving enemy fire, Pvt. Newsom, with utter disregard for his own safety, moved 25 yards into an exposed position and placed effective fire on the enemy position. During this action, Pvt. Newsom was fatally wounded. His courage inspired all the men in his platoon and materially aided the assault troops in completing their mission."

Survivors include the wife, Mrs. Novelle Newsom of 2010 Twenty-third; one daughter, Carla Jean Newsom; his mother, Mrs. Susie V. Newsom of Bethany, Okla.; seven brothers, Ray Newsom and Glenn Newsom, both of Frederick, Okla., Sylvan Newsom of Lubbock, Lee Newsom of Pampa, Rev. Oliver Newsom of Wichita Falls, Rev. Reuben Newsom of Portland, Ode., and Clyde Newsom of Birmingham, Ala.; five sisters, Mrs. Opal Huffman of Lawton, Okla., Mrs. Faye Poole of Austin, and Mrs. Gladys Waldroop, Mrs. Merle Hainey, and Mrs. Grace Unruh, all of Bethany, Okla.

Burial will be in Lubbock Memorial park with Rix Funeral home in charge.

Prison Reform Plans Discussed At Littlefield Jaycee Meeting

LITTLEFIELD, Sept. 30 (Spl.) —L. D. Whiteley of Lubbock, state vice president of region 2 of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Littlefield Jaycees here tonight.

Whiteley spoke on recent activities of state organization and future plans for conduct of the Ellis plan for prison reform. He recently toured the Texas prison system, and currently is giving a series of talks on the system to Jaycee groups in the area.

Approximately 600,000 matches are consumed every minute of the day in the United States.

Reburial Rites Set Thursday For Veteran

The body of Pfc. Paul Sherrod, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sherrod of 3323 Nineteenth, who was killed in action on Leyte, P. I., November 6, 1944, will arrive in Lubbock Tuesday morning from the regional distribution center of the American Graves Registration service in Fort Worth, relatives here were informed Thursday.

Burial services will be conducted at 4 p. m. Tuesday in Lubbock Memorial Park cemetery, with Dr M. Norvel Young, minister of the Broadway Church of Christ, officiating. Sanders Funeral home will be in charge.

Was ACC Student

Pfc. Sherrod, who was 23 years old at the time of his death, was a graduate of Lubbock High school, and was a junior business administration student at Abilene Christian college, Abilene, prior to entering the service.

He was stationed for a while at Lubbock Army Air field, where he held the rank of sergeant. He gave up his rating to enter the Army Specialized Training program as an engineering student at Peoria, Ill. When the program closed nine months later, he was transferred to the infantry.

Pfc. Sherrod left the States for overseas duty in July, 1944. He was stationed in Hawaii until the Philippine invasion.

The soldier received the Silver Star posthumously in September, 1945.

Other survivors include four sisters, Mrs. Melvin Simmons of Olton, and Elaine Sherrod, Sandra Sherrod, and Winnie Sherrod, all of Lubbock.

Take Off Ugly Fat With Grape Fruit Juice Recipe

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of Liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Widow Of 26th President, Is Claimed

Only three widows of presidents now survive—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt had been in poor health since fracturing a hip ten years ago. She died shortly before 6 p. m. CST, in the family home, Sagamore Hills.

At her bedside were her surviving son, Archibald, and her daughter, Mrs. Richard Derby. Her stepdaughter, Mrs. Alice Longworth, and 14 grandchildren also survive.

Private Services Slated

Mrs. Roosevelt will be buried at her husband's side in Young's Memorial cemetery a few miles from Sagamore Hills. Private funeral services will be held in Christ Episcopal church. The family declined to reveal the time of the service.

Theodore Roosevelt married Edith Kermit Carow, a native of Norwich, Conn., in St. George's church, London, in 1886 after the death of his first wife.

Mrs. Roosevelt lost three of her four sons in war — Quentin in aerial combat in World War I and Theodore jr., and Kermit in World War II.

Although an ardent Republican, opposed to the presidential candidacy of her kinsman by marriage, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt was not publicly active in the party in recent years.

When her husband succeeded to the presidency after the assassination of William McKinley she accented domesticity at the White House where she remained until 1909.

She quietly administered the household and reared her five children. Alice, the President's daughter by a previous marriage, was old enough to be a companion to her.

She passed her latter years at Sagamore Hill, the rambling Victorian country house overlooking Long Island Sound. The house was filled with mementoes of "Teddy" —his days in Washington, his foreign travels and hunting trips.

The slender, silver-haired "first lady of Oyster Bay" entered the political arena several times during the 1930s, issuing statements in support of the Republican party.

Man 'Wilts' Into Arms Of Law After Facing Shotgun

PAMPA, Sept. 30. (AP)—House mover Gerald Bigham thought it peculiar when water dripped through the floor of an 11-room house as it stood on trucks while enroute to a new location.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Rufe Jordan said he found Bigham holding the man at bay with the gun a few inches from his chin.

Jordan said the man "wilted into my arms like a dishrag." The man is in jail awaiting the filing of charges.

New All-Negro City Has Police Force, But No Laws To Enforce

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 30. (U.P.)—The all-Negro city of Kinlock has appointed law enforcing officers but the city hasn't any laws to enforce.

The board of aldermen picked a police commissioner and six patrolmen for the newly-incorporated community near here, but the board as yet hasn't gotten around to drawing up any city ordinances.

Mayor Willie Head says the appointees will serve on a volunteer basis until the city can collect some taxes to pay their salaries.

Last Rites Are Conducted For Wife Of Tech Professor

Funeral services for Mrs. Gerald Sullivan Jones, wife of Dr. P. T. Jones of the Texas Tech faculty, were conducted at 4 p. m. Thursday in Rix Funeral home chapel, with Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of First Baptist church, officiating.

Mrs. Jones, who moved here recently with her husband from Boston, died shortly after noon Wednesday in St. Mary's hospital after a short illness.

Pallbearers were Dr. R. C. Goodwin, W. P. Clement, Dr. A. G. Oberg, J. Q. Sealey, V. M. Johnson, and Mark E. Wood.

LAW PROVES SWIFT

WEWOKA, Okla. (U.P.)—James B. Olivo outdistanced Wewoka Police Chief Bill Nicholson for 20 blocks to avoid arrest. But the chief finally caught up and fined Olivo $1 per block plus $1 for the police fund. The next race will cost $2 per block, the chief warned.

Four-Man Recruiting Team From Occupation Forces In Germany Seek Enlistments Here

A four-man recruiting team from the U. S. ocupational forces in Germany arived in Lubbock Thursday, and will remain here for three days to secure direct enlistments for their respective Army units, Major Harold Fulghum, commander of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station, announced.

Representing the "Fighting First" Infantry Division and the United States Constabulary Forces, currently serving in the American occupation zone in Germany, the four man team will accept enlistments of qualified veterans and non-veterans for direct assignment to either of the two units. Enlistees are normally enlisted unassigned for overseas service and Major Fulghum stressed the fact that this marks the first time that direct assignments have been open for these units.

Members Of Team

The team, which includes from the U. S. Constabulary, M/Sgt. E. H. Krysinski of Marlin, Texas and Sgt. R. E. Peterson of Winlock, Wash., and from the First Infantry Division, Sgt. E. E. Penna of Hebronville, Texas, and Sgt. V. J. King of Dell, Arkansas, opened its 12-day tour of the El Paso recruiting district at El Paso on Sept. 22.

Outlining the qualifications necessary for enlisting in the First Infantry Division or U. S. Constabulary Forces, Fulghum said that volunteers with no prior service must be between the ages of 17 and 34 and that enlistment must be for a period of 3, 4, 5, or 6 years. Veterans may exceed the 34-year age maximum within certain limitations, but enlistments for veterans must also be for 3, 4, 5, or 6 years.

The opportunity to ealist directly for either of those two units for men without prior service, will be open only unti Nov. 30, Major Fulghum emphasized. A total of nine young men from this area have already enlisted for the United States Constabulary Force since the openings were announced on Sept. 1.

FORMER GOVERNOR ILL

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 30. (INS)—Former Gov. Wilbur L. Cross, 86, was reported in "grave" condition today. Cross, who has served four terms as Connecticut's chief executive, suffered a severe breakdown in his New Haven home.

MIKE AND RED WERE FRIENDS

New York Policeman Sets Fine Example In Caring For Friend

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—When the men and women of the United Nations move at long last into their permanent home, on what was once the rough and tumble East Side of New York's roaring forties, I wonder if they shouldn't be told about Mike, the bum, and Red, the cop.

The men who are digging the foundation for the tremendous "workshop of peace" were talking about the two of them the other day . . . And what they had to say seemed both prophetic and pathetic to an evesdropper. The story of Mike, the bum, and Red, the cop, is a legend around UN's permanent site, and one that shouldn't be permitted to die.

Reason Not Known

Mike, like the world, got a good start in life. But something went wrong along the route. Some will tell you that it was a woman, others the bottle, but they can't say for sure. The only sure thing was that Mike turned out to be a bum of a type and aroma peculiar to the region.

Except for two days each year, Oct. 1 and Oct. 2, Mike had only one real friend in the world—Red, the cop, who could have run him in any time of the day or night with a clear conscience. For Mike made even the area seem shabbier.

We mention Oct. 1 and Oct. 2 because an incredible change used to come over Mike on those days each year. On the morning of Oct. 1, without fail, a limousine would drive up to a curb at 46th and First avenue, and two nice maiden ladies in black would step out and begin their annual search for Mike. He wasn't hard to find.

They were the sisters of this black sheep. They'd lead him gently to the car and whisk him away. He'd be gone until late on the night of Oct. 2, and his return to the region was always something of an event.

Always Came Back

He'd come back in a wonderful new suit, hat, coat, shoes—with a haircut, shave, clear look in his eyes and some money in his pocket. Cinderella never did better.

But by the next morning the hat was gone. Then the places with the three golden balls out in front would get the rest, piece by piece, until Mike was down to the bare essentials of clothing. He'd go back to sleeping on the cattle shelves of the big meat packing places in the neighborhood, mumbling of the life he had known. Red would get him out of his meagre jams from time to time.

Red was a big friendly Dutchman who had formed an attachment for Mike years before and though he probably didn't know the meaning of the word "humanitarian" he was just that and only that, where Mike was concerned.

Wreckers Take Over

Then one day the bums buzzed with the news that a man named John D. Rockefeller had given their whole section of the city to UN, and pretty soon the buildings of the area were deserted and left there to face the whim of the wreckers' hammers. Mike and the other bums moved into the vacant-eyed buildings.

But the buildings turned out to be tough ones. "They'd have lasted a thousand more years," big Eddie Sullivan of the wrecking company said. So the wreckers had to bring out the huge iron balls and begin swinging them, by crane, against the thick walls.

And Red, who was but a simple flatfoot with little authority, would never let the enormous machinery of UN's new home get rolling until he had cased the dismal old plants in the mornings. Red would wander through them, calling for Mike. Sometimes it took a long time to find him, but Red would never give up until he roused and routed Mike.

"Why do you worry about a bum like that?" a construction man asked Red one day.

Red thought for a long time. "I dunno," he said. "One of these days poor Mike is going to be a D. O. A. (dead on arrival) case. That's gotta be, for sure. But I just don't want to see him get hit by the ball."

And so it went through the long months of the wrecking job, and then one day the last wall went crashing to earth and there was no place for Mike to go except under the viaduct, where, at least, he'd be safer. And it was then that Red himself died. Of worry, some of the bums said.

He had tagged Mike right. Mike did show up D. O. A. one day not long ago. October was long in coming this year. But wherever Red was, he must have been happy. Mike hadn't been hit by the ball.

Claims Car Will Do 140-Miles-An-Hour

Dallas Mechanic Comes Up With Jet-Propelled Auto

DALLAS, Sept. 30 (INS)—A 51-year-old Dallas mechanic today laid claim to having successfully converted an old sedan into a jet-propelled automobile.

John R. Mitchell is now putting the finishing touches on a super-dooper, Flash Gordon-like automobile that he says will probably do "somewhere near 140 miles per hour if I open her up."

He's already had it out on a test run but cruised it at a conservative 60 miles per hour rather than trying for top speed.

Cost Was Small

The job has taken him 18 months and Mitchell estimates it has cost between $500 and $600 to convert the 1943 automobile.

A conventional engine is used so he can drive around the city without scorching the streets, but when he needs an extra burst of speed he can turn on the jet.

Kerosene fuel is fed into the jet burner from two 35-gallon tanks. If there's no kerosene available, it doesn't matter. Mitchell says the car can be run on crude oil, benzine, whisky or anything else that burns.

A jet tube sticks out from the auto's rear. It was made from an old steel oxygen tank. At the end of the exhaust Mitchell plans to place a stainless steel cuff to prevent melting of the metal.

To supply the needed oxygen for the jet, he has built a supercharger and mounted it in the back of the car.

Mitchell has applied for a patent on part of his jet equipment. He says that he has already received an offer from a Detroit automobile manufacturer who wants to use his invention on jet-propelled boats.

There's still work to be done before the car has the sleek exterior that Mitchell visualizes. When he's finished it will have specially built fenders and body, a double dashboard and a host of other special gadgets.

Workmen Drink Fresh Water Tapped At Bottom Of Sea

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 30 (U.P.)—Workmen driving concrete pilings at the Port of Olympia are drinking pure water piped directly from the bottom of the bay.

The 60-ton piles have a pipe down the center through which water is sluced to cut away mud at the bottom. One piling was set in place and a few days later was found to have pure water flowing out at the top of the pipe.

The workmen decided they must have struck an artesian well. They are keeping the pipe open and helping themselves to the water.

Record Vote Seen In Hawaiian Election

HONOLULU, Sept. 30. (INS)—A record-shattering 100,000 voters are expected to go to the polls tomorrow in Hawaii's primary election.

Republican and Democratic candidates will be selected for the hotly-contested post of congressional delegate and for a variety of local offices.

Anti-Communism appears to be the main issue among the congressional candidates in a contest to see who could declaim most vociferously against Russia and Stalin.

In the race for the Republican nomination for congressional delegate on the final November ticket, incumbent Joseph R. Farrington, and Walter H. Dillingham, scion of a wealthy island family, have been slugging away at each other in speeches and through the columns of rival newspapers.

Main interest is centered on the white-hot inter-party Republican battle but the Democrats are also fighting among themselves.

EVACUATION IS REFUSED

U. S. To Take Differences With Soviets Over Korea Before UN

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The United States today served notice it intended to air American-Soviet differences over Korea—another potential explosion point in the cold war—before the United Nations General Assembly.

An exchange of notes between Moscow and Washington, published by the State department, made it clear American troops would continue to occupy South Korea until the General Assembly had acted.

UN Commission Set Up

Russia advised Sept. 18 that it intended to withdraw from North Korea by the end of the year and called upon the United States to evacuate its southern zone simultaneously.

Replying September 28, Washington declared:

"The United States regards the question of troop withdrawal as part of the larger question of Korean unity and independence, concerning which its views will be presented at the appropriate time by the United States delegate to the General Assembly of the United Nations."

In November, 1947, the UN General Assembly set up a commission to supervise an all-Korean election with a view to giving that far eastern state its independence and enabling withdrawal of occupation troops.

Soviets Train Koreans

Russia refused to let the UN commission into the northern zone, setting up instead a Communist dominated puppet government.

Elections were held in May, 1948, under UN supervision in the South. A native government was elected, headed by President Syngman Rhee.

The U. S. subsequently announced its defacto recognition of the new Seoul government and expressed hope it eventually could embrace all of Kores. A special U. S. diplomatic representative was dispatched to Seoul.

Russia, meanwhile, continued to recognize only its own arbitrarily established government in the north. The Moscow note of September 18 announced that Soviet troops were withdrawing in compliance with a request from "the supreme national assembly of Korea"—the name of the Soviet sponsored regime.

U. S. military authorities are fully aware that the Russians have trained several hundred thousand Northern Koreans into an efficient militia which they will leave behind with Russian officers in command.

Against this domestic force in the north, the American occupation authorities have trained not more than 60,000 men in the south.

Airborne Telecasting Urged By Engineer

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30. (AP)—Airborne telecasting could link Los Angeles with New York and provide daily television to 78 per cent of the nation, C. E. Nobles told the Institute of Radio Engineers today.

Nobles, 30-year-old engineer, claims he originated "stratovision," an airborne television and frequency modulation transmission system. He said that eight planes flying 400 miles apart at 25,000 feet, could not only transmit programs across the continent but to ground receivers in an area 500 miles in diameter.

Results from test flights and public demonstrations in Pittsburgh and at Zanesville, Ohio, have demonstrated, Nobles said, that reception can be accomplished in an area more than 500 miles in diameter. He said 270 cities in ten states reported television programs from a stratovision plane flying in lazy circles above Pittsburgh.

CISCO MAN KILLED

CISCO, Sept. 30 (U.P.)—Harold Herman Terry, 40-year-old Cisco sign painter, was killed today when he lost control of his car and it left the highway east of here and crashed into a tree. O. Harold Burkett, Denver, Colo., was a passenger in the car and was taken to the hospital here for treatment of cuts and bruises and then released.

Japs Show More Interest In Government After Expose

TOKYO, Sept. 30. (INS)—American observers in Tokyo said today a government loan scandal which has rocked the Ashida cabinet is changing the entire political sympathies of the Japanese people.

The scandal was publicized after the arrest of Minister of State Takeo Kurusu in connection with a three billion yen reconstruction finance bank loan to the Showa Denko fertilizer company.

Kurusu, finance minister at the time the loan was approved, was questioned for more than 12 hours today on charges he accepted a bribe from the fertilizer company.

American observers said that as a result of the scandal which may cause the fall of the Ashida cabinet, the Japanese people are turning their sympathies to the social democrats whose political skirts have remained clean in the investigation. They added:

"The healthy thing about this is that the Japanese people for the first time in their history are breaking through their lethargy to get really angry with corrupt political leaders.

"They have been carrying such a heavy tax burden to support the Japanese reconstruction that they have been forced to become interested in what is done with their money."

APPLE TREE BLOOMS TWICE

TACOMA, Wash. (U.P.)—Ed Miller, a farmer near here, reports that one of his apple trees, which blossomed early and began growing apples, has now blossomed again.

CHICAGO GROWING FAST

CHICAGO, (U.P.)—Chicago's population has swelled since 1940 by 303,000, or enough people to fill Columbus, O., according to the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry. The population of the nation's second city was estimated at 3,700,000. Officials said the growth was caused by "the number of job opportunities in the area."

...ation is made particularly to newcomers to the area. But it also is offered to those of longer residence who are not informed as to the rural resources of this territory.

Fair visitors will see an array of displays which may astonish them as to the variety of crops which flourish on the South Plains. The quality is uniformly superior. The registered cattle and swine are as fine as can be seen anywhere in this country. Collectively, they are the foundation upon which present prosperity and future hopes are built. They symbolize the chief reason why many cities and towns thrive and grow on the South Plains. They explain why this has become one of the nation's important farm and livestock regions.

The appreciation of this happy position might be emphasized by the realization that, not so many years ago, the opinion prevailed widely that this part of the country was good only for hardy cattle that native grasses would support.

That opinion inevitably has gone into oblivion with the dodo. But to appreciate just how erroneous it was, visit the agriculture and livestock departments at the fair and see the proof for yourself.

Sever The Bonds

PRACTICAL oil men recognize the improbability of the complete release at any time in the future of their industry from government controls. Few of them want complete freedom. They know, from experience, the necessity of protection for themselves as well as the nation from those who would not hesitate to waste and exhaust one of the most essential of natural resources if controls did not restrain them.

But oil men are virtually unanimous in their agreement that continuing wartime controls are unnecessary, serve no useful purpose and are almost entirely responsible for recurrent shortages of gasoline and petroleum products. They also agree that the governmental straitjacket also practically forbids the exploration and the expansion of refining ... all at the risk of the oil industry which probably would add greatly ... supplies available for an emer...

Malone, of Nevada, declared for more freedom for the industry. His deliberation strengthened the hope that persistence eventually will gain the objective that practical oil men are seeking.

Of Major Import

"SO LONG as the spirit of aggression lives anywhere on earth," said California's Gov. Earl Warren the other day, "no nation—even the most powerful, no matter how peacefully inclined it may be—can be free from fear."

Mr. Warren is right. But he should have added, "and no nation can safely go unprepared to defend itself against attack."

That is of first importance!

It Must Be Simply Wonderful

Tryst

(THE STORY: A mysterious locked room on the top floor of Nuns Farthing, a rented country house, fascinates dreamy 19-year-old Sabrina. Father and Aunt Effie tell her the room belongs to one of the owner's sons and they are not to have the use of it. Sabrina questions Mrs. Pilton, the housekeeper, who says the room is always kept locked when "he" is not at home. One rainy day Sabrina, overcome by curiosity, picks the lock. She finds a comfortably furnished man's room, filled with books. The place enchants her. Mrs. Pilton surprisingly offers to leave the door unlocked henceforth. Sabrina gets to know the room as well as though she knew its ...

IN the beginning Sabrina kept to the middle of the road, as it were, and her invasions were made more or less on tiptoe. She would take a book from the shelf, carry it to the upholstered window seat where the sun fell warmly through the glass, and there, curled up among the cushions, sometimes with an extra one laid across her long silk legs for warmth, she would read, for as long as she dared be absent from below stairs.

But she had learned as time went on that the room was full of distractions. Her eyes would wander from the page to the mantelpiece or the top of the desk, or the great chest of drawers, or to the wall beyond the wardrobe where some framed pictures hung, or to the door beside the head of the bed—where did it lead?—what hung behind the carved panels of the wardrobe?—what was beneath the lid of the old oak chest?

The dominant masculine personality which had put its imprint on the room was a thing almost tangible, as real as the persistent odor of good tobacco which clung about the worn brown pipe left behind on the desk.

In the desk drawers there must be letters addressed to him, whose envelopes—one would of course never think of looking beyond the envelopes—would reveal the provoking secret of his first name. The family name was Shenstone, everyone knew that, and he had a brother George, but he somehow preserved without effort his own exasperating anonymity.

Could one look closely at the pictures on the wall, without prying? Could one tell by his clothes, if any still remained in the wardrobe, what sort and size of man he was? There must be clues—clues to the absorbing personality which had made this place its home, and which still pervaded the atmosphere like inaudible music. So much of him was here, under her hand, for the taking. Would it be an unpardonable sin to try to know him a little better?

SHE was sure that it would. And yet she could no longer resist the attempt. She had to know more about him.

One couldn't visualize him clearly, of course, he was just a vague tweed shape, a nice voice, and quiet laughter. His age was the first problem, perhaps, to be solved, and for that there was Mrs. Pilton's evidence. Mrs. Pilton had been with the family twenty years, she said, or more. Then twenty years ago he must have been a child, which meant that he couldn't be much more than thirty now. Not much less, either, because he was out in the world somewhere on his own.

They hadn't seen much of him here since he was grown, Mrs. Pilton said. What did he do while he was away? Where was he now? What would he look like? What did his brother call him?

The decision to try and find him somehow in his room was made at last, on another rainy day early in June when Aunt Effie was going to the local sewing circle, and Sabrina would have the rest of the afternoon to herself.

Each escape into the sanctuary was always an adventure, but this time she closed the door behind her and stood with her back against it gazing at the room with a new excitement, wondering where to begin.

THE desk stood where the sun from the south would fall across the shoulders of the person who sat there.

It was a spacious, workmanlike desk, with rows of drawers either side of the knee-hole, and on its broad surface a book-blotter and a silver inkwell, with a few enticing small objects round the edges, such as an ivory carving of a mermaid with her tail pulled round under her chin. There was also a very modern fountain-pen in an onyx desk-stand.

How long since that fountain-pen had been used? Again her fingers itched. She lifted the pen from its holder and tried it on the blank side of the desk-calendar engagement-pad. The pen was quite dry, of course, and the calendar presented its large black figures for evidence: June 5, 1936.

For a moment she stared at it, paralyzed by the coincidence—for today was the fifth of June too. He had last turned the date leaf of that calendar exactly two years ago today. She told herself at once that it was no good feeling creepy about a thing like that.

The closed drawers were of course inviolate. But the book-blotter—people sometimes left letters in a blotter like this one—it had a lid of simple tooled leather—if there should be just an envelope addressed to him...

With cautious fingertips she raised the lid, exposing a closely written sheet with a signature, and another unfinished page which must be his reply, in his own handwriting. The letter written to him began: My dear Shenstone—and was signed Walter Thompson. The letter he had begun in reply to My dear Thompson was dated June 5, 1936—and had never got as far as a signature.

A glance at the waste paper basket showed that it had been emptied, and Thompson's envelope was gone. Defeat. . . .

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

ONE of my favorite pastimes is to take those great big human issues about which we hear so much—and will hear much more between now and November—and reduce them down to their simple values.

Labor relations, for instance.

BRANDEIS

You have read and heard many high-sounding speeches about labor relations. The orators use all sorts of long words and make it appear that there is some kind of abracadabra about management and labor getting along together.

Compare all that palaver with an advertisement I just saw in one of the weekly national magazines.

There are four factors that make toward good labor relations, the ad says. I must ask the advertiser what the other three are, but one of them is washrooms.

For Pete's sake, you may ask, is it that simple?"

Yes, it is.

Good washrooms, says the ad, make for good working conditions. Good working conditions make for good will. Good will makes for labor peace.

Give a man a clean washroom with plenty of hot water, soap and towels, and you'll have better satisfied workmen.

A darn good ad and a darn good idea.

Of course the advertiser does not claim that you can eliminate strikes and labor trouble by having nice washrooms and poor wages.

It isn't as simple as all that. But the employer who provides clean washrooms for his employees most likely thinks of them as human beings and will do what's right by them in other ways as well.

I SPENT many years as an employee of one of the largest publishing organizations in the world and later became one of its executives.

There was labor trouble all around us, but not in our organization.

There was no such thing as class distinction. I knew the first names of hundreds of employees, but I didn't know their last names.

We were Jim and Mary and Joe and Bill and Jean to each other. We all ate our lunches in the same restaurants and downstairs there was a lunch counter where the editor-in-chief often sat on the stool next to the little copy girl.

Nobody knew how much the other fellow made and nobody cared. It wasn't who you were but how you acted that counted.

If anybody was sick the whole gang would go calling and helping. If anybody died, there was real mourning and real sympathy.

Everybody was well paid, according to his or her job. Everybody got a vacation with pay. Everybody got sick leave with pay. The head of the organization married his secretary, and it turned out to be one of the happiest marriages I have ever seen.

That very same organization still syndicates this column. I have no contract with them and don't want one. Once a month they send me my check. I have never questioned their payment and I never shall.

And they have clean washrooms, with plenty of hot water, soap and towels.

"I'm going to put a stop to being robbed in my dreams!"

FOR CAMPAIGN FINALE

GOP Saves Heavy Fire

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The strategy of the Dewey-Warren campaign against President Truman has now become so clear that even the Democrats should recognize it. The Republicans' plan for discrediting and defeating the Truman-Barkley ticket was revealed in this column several weeks ago.

TUCKER

Governors Dewey and Warren intend to base their campaign for election on noble, lofty and dignified grounds. Until provoked by Truman attacks in the latter stages of the campaign, Governors Dewey and Warren will decry his attempts to split class against class. They will plump for national unity.

MARTYR: Governors Dewey and Warren will continue to make innocuous speeches for the next several weeks, hoping to tempt Mr. Truman into the delivery of politically indiscreet and unwise statements.

Then, abandoning their modest approach, they will let loose against President Truman with every gun in their political armory.

Until October 15 at the latest, Governors Dewey and Warren will treat Mr. Truman rather kindly, in accord with their Albany agreement not to make martyr votes for the Chief Executive. But after that date, the political gloves will be off.

AREAS: The oddest fact about the 1948 presidential contest seems to be that the voters are more enthusiastic over the vice-presidential nominees than over the men who head the Democratic or Republican presidential tickets.

Governor Earl Warren of California, the Republicans' No. 2 man, is making a great hit in his tour of the Middle West and the East.

In the Far West, the Republicans will carry almost all electorally important states because of his presence on the ticket rather than because of Mr. Dewey's appeal.

If the G.O.P. corrals a majority of the southern and border commonwealths, it will be because of Earl Warren, not Tom Dewey.

Luckily, the two Republican nominees reached an agreement on this question at their recent huddles in Albany. Governor Dewey realized that there were certain areas where Governor Warren could win more votes than he could, and the two strategists parcelled out their campaigning areas.

OVERSHADOWING: Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, the Democrats' vice-presidential nominee, is overshadowing and outsensationalizing President Truman to such an extent that it is pitiful.

Mr. Truman draws crowds solely because he is President of the United States. Who would not turn out to see the head of the world's most powerful government?

Even so, his crowds have not been impressive. And his speeches have aroused no enthusiasm.

SANE: It must be acknowledged that so far Governor Dewey's oratorical efforts have not ... the political bull's-eye. But they have conformed to the pattern outlined here a few weeks after his nomination at Philadelphia.

He is going to let Harry Truman get mad, enthusiastic and hysterical. He and Governor Warren are going to run a quiet and sane campaign, until they think it advisable to bear down in the last few days before election. That is their program.

TEXAS: The important electoral vote of Texas may be lost to President Truman because of recent developments in the Lone Star State, which prides itself on allegiance to old-fashioned democracy.

A defection in this great and electorally influential border state, no matter how President Truman fares elsewhere in Dixie, would insure his defeat.

Although former Vice-President John Nance Garner had President Truman and his troupe for Sunday brunch on September 26, it was only a kindly gesture.

If Mr. Garner votes for Truman, it will be only because he is such a wool-dyed Lemocrat that he cannot vote Republican.

He has no use for Truman's policies, any more than he did for F.D.R.'s spending program, recognition of Russia, the Congressional purge or the attempt to "pack" the Supreme Court.

Together with the decision of Jesse H. Jones to give the editorial support of his influential newspaper, The Houston Chronicle, to Governor Dewey, Mr. Garner's stand-offish attitude and the tremendous primary vote for the anti-New Dealish Coke Stevenson in the senatorial primary places Texas in a borderline status.

It might go Republican, or Thurmond-Wrightish, as it went for Herbert Hoover in 1928.

PREVENT: "Has Moscow closed schools for the children of its diplomats in any other country besides the United States or is the Kremlin singling out this country for rebuke?" inquires T. M. of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Answer: Yes. The Russians have recalled children and teachers from Berlin, Teheran and elsewhere. Stalin apparently feels that it would be dangerous to permit students and instructors to see how the rest of the world lives, even in such a country as old Persia.

In fact, State Department experts believe that a minor factor in the Communists' attempt to drive the Allies out of Berlin is a desire to prevent both civilian and military personnel in their sector from rubbing elbows with better dressed, fed, housed and equipped westerners.

In this connection, Army men say that our successful operation of the food-and-fuel airlift is paying off in its advertisement of American power and know-how.

It seems everyone is in a hurry except the delivery boy.

If some people were to attend a school of beauty, they would be kept in after hours.

A small boy is the one who gulps his dinner down in order to get to the dessert in a hurry.

The modern girl has her problems but dishwater hands is not one of them.

During the depression years, we worried about getting the country out of the red. Now we want to get the Reds out of the country.

Nature could have improved humans by placing a safety valve on the tongue.

It is said that everyone generates electricity, but not every man is a live wire.

Those who drive with care on holidays, usually live to see other holidays.

GOP CANDIDATE EVADES ISSUES

Dewey Vague On Power Projects

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WITH GOVERNOR DEWEY—Governor Dewey has been vague and general in his expressions about the further expansion of public power which, it may be recalled, was the target of a vigorous counter-attack by the great private utilities in the 80th Congress to which President Truman refers so bluntly.

But the Republican presidential candidate has said enough to indicate that he has yielded sufficiently to the utility viewpoint so that he will not follow the bold course charted by President Roosevelt and adopted after him by President Truman. This course had, as a matter of fact, come to be accepted generally as an established government policy until the utilities began their campaign in the last Congress to undermine it—and with some initial successes.

STOKES

Program Claimed Vague

Likewise, Governor Dewey has indicated a weakening on the basic policy laid down by the McMahon act, which declared atomic energy the property of the people and, in effect, made it a public utility. His expressions on this also were vague and general, but the fact that he took pains in one of his major addresses to emphasize the role of private enterprise in development of atomic energy, thus intimating changes in present policy, alarmed proponents of strict public control in the public interest.

On one important phase of public-power development Dewey was explicit in a negative way. He accepts TVA in the Tennessee valley, but he will not stand for the projection of that pattern elsewhere, as has been advocated, for example, for the Missouri valley in an MVA and for the Columbia River valley in the northwest in a CVA, saying "it would be dangerous to the freedom of our people to entrust their total control to any three men appointed from Washington."

Extension of the TVA idea and pattern to other great watersheds was the dream of the late Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, the father of TVA and the great champion of public-power development, and was espoused likewise by President Roosevelt. But it has been resisted bitterly, by the utilities, among others, and none of these enterprises has been approved on the TVA design. Variations have been suggested, and seemingly Governor Dewey has some such of his own, but just what is not clear.

He advocates some shadowy sort of "home rule" in which the people of the area would participate in management. It sounds like a nice, democratic idea, at first blush. But it also fits into the schemes of the utilities, which thus would be able to exercise their influence and, along with other interests presumably also to be represented on some sort of board or commission or with influence on it, would be able to hamstring the unified and sound development of a whole area, as they tried originally to do with TVA.

As a matter of fact, the people of the Tennessee valley participate in TVA. It is a de-centralized project, operated locally and independently and with full consideration for the needs of the people and of industries located in the valley. Its truly democratic type of operation has been a feature most widely praised, even by some who were skeptical originally or openly hostile.

Specific Details Lacking

While Governor Dewey talked very expansively in broad terms about the need for more power and his aim to expand present public-power facilities, he evaded discussion of issues that are very much involved in the whole problem and which determine just how effective and how economical the service is to the people of an area.

He said nothing, for instance, about whether the government should build its own transmission lines from its public-power plants. This was a hot issue in the 80th Congress where the utilities tried to stop any further extension of government transmission lines. They want to build them, themselves, so they can control the distribution and sale of public power on their own terms and for their own profit, which defeats the very purpose of public power.

When President Truman was in the West he pointed to the drive of the utilities in congress to hamstring public-power expansion in this and other ways and came out flatly for public control of distribution and sale of power from the "bus bar" to the ultimate consumer. He exposed the intentions of the utilities, which are not always clear to the public because of the devious way they operate and the manner in which they can impede development through technicalities hidden in bills that are often seemingly innocent. Their lawyers and lobbyists have a gift for that, and they were turned loose upon Washington in the last Congress.

They got co-operation from Republican leaders, and Governor Dewey may find this well-entrenched element ready and prepared to resist expansion of public power even on his own limited terms. It is an issue that will affect the whole nation more and more, both in the field of electronic and atomic energy.

Wall Street

MARKET COMEBACK SLOWED
NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (AP)—The stock market slipped a trifle today after two days of fairly substantial gains.
Losses outnumbered gains at the close but price changes mostly were fractional. Utility shares did better than most other groups.
The market got off to a good start but the effort to recoup still more of Monday's sharp decline soon petered out.
Volume dropped to 700,000 shares from 810,000 Wednesday and was the smallest for any day of the week.
The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .3 of one point to 68.9. The industrial group showed the widest decline with a drop of .4 of one point while the rail section was down .2 of a point.
Of the 935 issues which appeared on the ticker tape, 397 declined and 397 advanced.
Phillips Petroleum was one of the widest losers, dropping 1⅞ to 61. This issue has been in the spotlight during the week following announcement of a hike in the price of crude oil, a move which thus far has not been followed by other companies.
Others marked down included U. S. Steel at 38⅛, Republic Steel 38¼, General Motors 60½, Chrysler 56¾, Boeing Aircraft 24½, Douglas Aircraft 42¾, Consolidated Vultee 10¼, American Telephone 151¼, Cerro De Pasco 39¾, American Smelting 55⅞, Westinghouse Electric 37¼, Philip Morris 34⅛, U. S. Gypsum 66⅛, Nickel Plate common 19, Great Northern preferred 41⅛, Standard Oil (NJ) 74⅞ and Gulf Oil 68⅛.
Two low-priced issues were among the most active stocks. They included Pepsi-Cola, unchanged at 6⅛, and Commonwealth and Southern, up ⅛ at 3⅛.

Produce

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (AP)—Produce:
Poultry: 23 trucks, the market steady for chickens easy for hens. Hens 34 young Tom turkeys 43, young heavy ducks 33, old heavy ducks 30, small ducks 22, ducklings 37.
Butter: 250,887 pounds, the market unsettled, 93 score 65, 92 score 64½, 90 score 61¼. Carlots 90 score 61¼, 89 score 59.
Eggs: (Browns and whites mixed) 9,501 cases, the market steady. Extras 70 ½ 80 per cent A 59 to 68, extras 60 to 70 per cent A 58, standards 46 to 47, current receipts 37, checks 33 to 34.

College Unable To Fill Order For Ton Of Dried Grasshoppers

MANHATTAN, Kan., Sept. 30. (UP)—Kansas State college said today it was sorry, but it couldn't fill a Michigan order for a ton of dried grasshoppers.
The entomology department said grasshoppers had been scarce in the Manhattan area.
The order came from a fish bait concern, Dr. Roger C. Smith, head of the entomology department, said.
