Paul Spencer, regional agronomist, of Kansas City was speaker for the occasion. He was introduced by Stan Dedmon of Amarillo, District Manager of Big N products.

Local School District Purchases 3 Houses

Andy Gardenhire, Hart school superintendent, has announced the purchase of three frame houses from the federal government for use as teacher residences. The houses will be moved from the Exell Helium Plant at Masterson. The three bedroom houses were purchased by the School District for $125 each.

Gardenhire said the three houses would make 16 teacher residences for Hart. The school housing project was begun in Hart 10 years ago. All are located near the school.

The school employs 40 teachers and whenever possible the board attempts to hire married couples, Gardenhire announced.

"We could not get the calibre teachers that we now have if we did not have adequate places for them to live," commented Gardenhire. "This housing project has enabled us to get better teachers."

Some of the houses already located at Hart are two bedroom, Gardenhire said. Only three have been purchased from the government. Some were built on the property and others were bought from private individuals or firms and moved in.

Former Resident Named Outstanding Farmer

Freddy Lilley, former resident of Hart was named "Outstanding Young Farmer" at Sunray recently. The award was presented at the Annual Bosses' night held in the Community Building at Sunray.

A native of Hart, Lilley, his wife, the former Jaynie Swindle, and their three children reside East of Sunray where he farms over 1000 acres of irrigated milo and wheat ground. Prior to the family's move to Sunray more than three years ago, Lilley farmed at Hart. As a child he grew up on a farm in the Hart community.

Lilley is the son of Alene Lilley of Hart and Hubert Lilley of Sunnyside. Mrs. Lilley's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Swindle.

FREDDY LILLEY

J. Frank Ford Is Candidate

J. Frank Ford, A Deaf Smith County farmer and businessman, has announced as a candidate for State Representative in the 72nd District, subject to the action of the Republican Primary. The District includes Deaf Smith, Parmer, Castro, Bailey, Lamb, and Cochran Counties.

Ford is a native of the Texas Panhandle-South Plains area, and is a 1955 graduate of Texas A&M. He served in the U. S. Army during 1956, 1957, and 1958. He was an honest John Rocket Battery Commander and attained the rank of Captain.

"We are all concerned about the rapid increase in taxes, crime-rates, and the general unrest which we see now in our country", said Ford in announcing his candidacy, "and the best way we can stop this trend is to work harder to make our state and communities better places in which to live. It is my desire to see more responsibility placed at the state and local levels, rather than in Washington, D.C."

"I consider vocational training as a high priority item for progress in Texas. Skills and training for our youth must be matched with the jobs which will be available in the next two decades. The 1969 session of the Legislature will be the most important one in many years in the field of Education.

In matters requiring state-federal cooperation, such as the importation of water to this area, I will work closely with our congressman to insure that our cities and farms have adequate water for the generations to come."

Ford worked in the legal division of the State Board of Water Engineers in 1959, and served as Bill Clerk for the 56th Legislature that year.

J. FRANK FORD

He and his wife Margie, live in Hereford with their four children, Davis, 10, Cindy, 7, Dan, 5, and Susan, 4. They are active in the First Methodist Church. Ford has been Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 52 for 7 years; recently completed a year as president of the Hereford Migrant Ministry, and is currently vice-president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. He is president and manager of Arrowhead Mills, Inc., a stone grinding flour mill in Hereford.

"In entering this campaign", concluded Ford, "it is my hope to help encourage all citizens, especially our young people, to take a more active part in their government. This will help preserve our freedom and extend the opportunities which are our American Heritage."

C. T. Cunningham, pastor of First Baptist Church

Do not worry about tomorrow; it will have enough worries of its own. There is no need to add to the troubles each day brings. Matthew 6:34

There are two golden days in the week, upon which, and about which, I never worry - two care-free days, kept free from fear and apprehension.

One of these days is Yesterday; yesterday, with its cares and frets, all its pains and aches, all its faults, mistakes and blunders, has passed forever beyond my recall. I cannot undo an act that I wrought; nor unsay a word that I said. All that it holds of my life, of wrong, regret and sorrow, is in the hands of the Mighty Love that can bring honey out of the rock and sweetest waters out of the bitterest desert. Save for the beautiful memories - sweet and tender - that linger like the perfume of roses in the heart of the day that is gone, I have nothing to do with Yesterday. It was mine! It is God's!

And the other day that I do not worry about is Tomorrow; tomorrow, with all its possible adversities, its burdens, its perils, its large promise and poor performance, its failures and mistakes, is as far beyond my mastery as its dead sister, Yesterday. It is a day of God's. Its sun will rise in splendor, or behind a mask of weeping clouds - but it will rise.

Until then, the same Love and Patience that held Yesterday holds tomorrow. Save for the star of hope that gleams forever on the brow of Tomorrow, shining with tender promise into the heart of Today, I have no possession in that unborn day of grace. All else is in the safe keeping of the Infinite Love that is higher than the stars, wider than the skies, deeper than the seas. Tomorrow is God's day! It will be mine!

There is left for myself, then, but one day in the week - Today. Any man can fight the battles of Today! Any woman can carry the burdens of just one day! Any man can resist the temptations of Today! O, Friends, it is when we wilfully add the burdens of those two awful eternities - Yesterday and Tomorrow - such burdens as only the Mighty God can sustain - that we break down. It isn't the experience of Today that drives men mad. It is the remorse for something that happened Yesterday; the dread of what Tomorrow may bring.

These are God's days! Leave them with Him!

Therefore, I think and I do, and I journey but one day at a time! That is the easy way. That is Man's Day. Beautifully I run my course and work my appointed task on that Day of ours. God - the All-Mighty and All-Loving takes care of Yesterday and Tomorrow.

"Tomorrow Is God's secret - but today is yours to live."

- Julia Harris May

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

Around and around goes the Texas Liquor Control Board inquiry -- and where it stops nobody knows.

Threatened with disclosures that would "blow the top off" irregularities in operations of some of its field personnel, the board heard just enough to rattle its windows at a one-day public hearing here.

Widely heralded fact-finding proceedings before the three-member board developed little evidence.

But the probe, according to LCB Chairman W. D. Noel of Odessa and First Assistant Atty. Gen. Nola White, coordinator, will continue behind the scenes.

Gov. John Connally said the fact that only five witnesses showed up for the hearing (when 500 had been invited) was "very disappointing".

Ex-inspector William B. Groce and Raymond L. Valenta, among seven Dallas LCB employees fired on Dec. 13, provided most of the testimony. They denied any wrongdoing and demanded exoneration of any part in alleged rigged sale of a confiscated $78 truck and the reported trading of 11 bottles of confiscated liquor to an auto painter.

Dallas Assistant Dist. Atty. William F. Alexander repeatedly questioned Groce and Valenta about their association with a 417-pound private investigator named Smokey Joe Smith. Smith is under indictment on charges growing out of alleged efforts to "fix" liquor license suspensions.

That some partiality was shown in enforcing liquor laws in the Dallas area, was hinted by the ousted inspectors. But they denied pressure to put anybody out of business or any knowledge of license suspension reductions by the board's state headquarters.

White commented after the hearing that no real evidence of wrong-doing developed. Further hearings in Jasper, Dallas, Odessa and Tyler have been suggested.

Meanwhile, new fuel was thrown on the fire by the firing or resignation of the board's supervisor of investigation, John W. Crank. Crank said he quit because he was "fed up". The board said he was relieved of his duties.

BUDGET -- State agencies now are in the process of presenting their 1968-69 budget requests to the Legislative Budget Board and the Governor's Budget Office.

Staffers in these offices have indicated they can be ready for a special legislative session by the end of February if that time should strike the fancy of Governor Connally.

Budget office personnel are confining their attention to agencies offering major changes in their proposals over funds allocated for fiscal 1968.

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION -- A blue-ribbon constitutional revision commission has set itself a late-May deadline for the processing of study-group proposals for changing the state constitution by sections.

Commission granted its study sub-committees broad leeway as to whether to recommend sweeping "philosophical" rewriting or simple updating of basic laws and elimination of deadwood. Most members appeared to lean toward the latter, and some warned that the legislature is going to do as it pleases anyway with the final handiwork.

POLLUTION SUITS -- Two Dallas corporations are suing the Texas Water Quality Board which ordered them to stop releasing untreated sewage into the Sabine River near Orange.

Meanwhile, the board has taken legal action against Harris County Water Control and Improvement District #60 to stop the discharges from its plant into Middle Bayou and Clear Lake. Board also called for Spring Branch Utilities, Inc., to show cause why it should not be ordered to stop pollution of Spring Branch Creek in Houston and Spring Valley with sewage plant effluent.

Inwood Development Company and Westgate Corporation, owners of Riverside Homes Addition near Orange U. S. Naval Station, filed suit after the board told them to tie into the Orange sewage system. Petition claimed the board has no authority over Sabine River since it is the subject of a Texas-Louisiana boundary dispute. Also involved are questions of proof that the plant release is detrimental to health.

Board also learned that Shell Chemical Company is building a $4,000,000 secondary wastewater treatment plant at Houston.

SCHOOL HEARINGS SET -- House standing committee on education will hold 10 statewide public hearings during February. First will be in Kilgore on February 20 and the second in Gainesville on Feb. 22.

Chairman George Hinson of Mineola says the principal purpose is to determine the needs in the area of vocational and technical education, and to explore inadequacies and lack of coordination. Most of the hearings will be held in rural areas and smaller towns, although metropolitan problems also will be explored.

Representatives of the Texas Education Agency, the higher education coordinating board, the regional education centers and the governor's public school study committee will report at hearings. Educators, business and industrial leaders and private citizens are invited to testify.

COLLEGE SALARIES -- A new report from the Coordinating Board, Texas Colleges and University System, has pegged Dallas County Junior College as the highest paying junior college in the state.

Salaries there average $8,962 annually. But the highest individual income for a junior college teacher, $13,600, is reported from Tarrant County Junior College in Fort Worth.

One with the lowest average salary rate is Hill Junior College at Hillsboro. Average salary there is $6,525 per year.

CAR INSPECTION SLOW -- More than 4,250,000 vehicles still have not been inspected for 1968 auto safety stickers reports the Texas Department of Public Safety. April 15 is the deadline.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director, said only 1,574,367 cars have been through inspection lines. A total of 5,702,862 were inspected in 1967.

Garrison urged drivers to have cars inspected soon in order to avoid those long lines which develop every year near the deadline.

Inspections will be a little tougher this year. Items covered include steering, wheels, rims and front seat safety belts where anchorages are part of the manufacturer's original equipment. Garrison observed that some drivers may have to install seat belts before they can get a stamp.

There are 5,336 inspection stations in Texas.

PARK GRANTS APPROVED -- Federal grants of $35,200 and $31,250 respectively have been approved for development of state parks at Daingerfield and Corpus Christi. Funds will be matched by legislative appropriations for $70,400 and $62,500 total-cost projects.

Daingerfield's 551-acre unit adjoins an 80-acre lake. Corpus Christi park is on 13,838-acre Lake Corpus Christi near Mathis on the Nueces River.

COURTS SPEAK -- State Supreme Court, backing the lower courts, denied Sun Oil's plea for injunctions to keep two Hockley County men from blocking its use of fresh underground water in secondary oil recovery operations.

High Court refused to review a Midland woman's suit against a physician who, she claimed, performed an unnecessary operation that caused a stroke.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED -- House Speaker Ben Barnes and California Speaker Jesse Unruh have been named co-vice-chairmen of a new Council of State Government Committee on Legislative Modernization. Committee is to develop a series of new techniques to cope with growing problems facing state legislative bodies.

Danny Burger of La Marque has been appointed manager of the $400,000,000 Texas Water Development Fund, succeeding Howard B. Boswell, who has moved up to executive director of the Water Development Board.

Howard Rose, Austin attorney, has been elected Chairman of the Texas Water Quality Board.

Miss Katherine Ard, Conroe, will serve as a field consultant for Texas State Library in a 33-county Southeast Texas area.

KITCHEN KORNER

By Lela Gallion

We have a new column added to our Hart Beat this week which is entitled "Moments of Meditation" by Bro. Cunningham which we hope will be a weekly part and I think a very nice addition to our paper. Hope you enjoy it.

This quote from Abraham Lincoln suits the way I think so very well I thought you might like to read it.

"I do the very best I know how, The very best I can and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference."

Water Benefits Brought To Lamb

The benefits of modern water service, has been brought to more than 1200 people in Lamb County the past two years through a project financed by the U. S. Farmers Home Administration, FHA County Supervisor Truman J. Jones said today.

Jones reported on contributions made to Lamb County development by the Rural Community Facilities program since it was expanded two years ago with President Johnson's support.

A loan totaling $85,000.00 since January 1966 has financed a new water system in the Earth Community. A constant clean supply of water at the turn of a tap has been achieved for 100 family homes and 20 businesses and institutions served by the new water line, Jones reported.

The water project received $85,000. in a loan from FHA during 1967.

Early Settler Guessed About Medical Treatments

American medical tradition stems from an age very different from the one in which we now live, points out TODAY'S HEALTH GUIDE, the American Medical Association's manual of health information for the American family.

The early settlers, living remote from civilization, turned to the traditions of their ancestral homelands and to the methods of the Indians, and came up with a medical lore all their own. Their ideas of prevention and treatment were not all wrong, but often they did more harm than good. Some of the common misconceptions of the frontier era have carried over into modern times.

TODAY'S HEALTH GUIDE lists the facts about some of these misconceptions—

- Blood pressure of 100 plus the individual's age is not the normal value.
- Red meats and alcohol are not necessarily harmful to those with high blood pressure.
- Fish is not a brain food, it is simply a good food for all parts of the body.
- Sweets, while possibly detrimental to the teeth, are not the sole cause of tooth decay.
- There is no reason of health why one should not eat shellfish and ice cream at the same meal, provided neither of them is spoiled.
- Lemons, oranges, tomatoes and grapefruit do not cause "acidity" of the body.

- Fat people are not necessarily carefree and jolly.
- Being fat and 40 and feeling well does not constitute a good reason for declining to lose weight.

- It is not necessarily unwise to drink water with your meals, if you don't gulp it.
- Gargles and mouthwashes do not kill the germs in the mouth or throat.
- Boils are not due to impure blood.
- Punctures from rusty nails are no more dangerous than punctures from shiny nails; the danger lies in the germs that either one may introduce.
- Night air is not unhealthful. However, it is not necessary to open the windows of your bedroom wide at night, especially when it is cold.
- Whiskey with aspirin is not a good remedy for a cold. The cold might improve in spite of it.

Legislation Would Prevent Farmer Discrimination

Farm Bureau will support legislation in Congress to alleviate the "discrimination against farmers, ranchers and small businessmen" in the provisions of the federal estate tax, according to Sidney Dean, Victoria, president of the Texas Farm Bureau.

Dean said proposed legislation was introduced in the first session of the 90th Congress which would allow an estate's representatives to have the option of having the decedent's interest in the business valued at either its market value--the present system--or the higher of first, the decedent's cost basis; or, second, value based on the reasonable earning power of the business.

The TFB President said voting delegates to the recent American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting approved a policy which reads in part: "The value of farmland for estate tax purposes should be based on its current use."

"In recent years, inflated land prices, usually pushed up by speculators outside agriculture and bearing no relationship to the productive value of the land, have worked an extreme hardship on families of farmers and ranchers when they had to settle up their federal estate taxes under the present valuation system," Dean said. "This has forced liquidation of many farms and ranches which otherwise might have been kept in the family and operated as a family unit," he added.

He pointed out that, in contrast to farms and ranches, the value of publicly traded stocks and securities generally reflects their earning power, and such stocks and securities can be sold on death without destroying a family business. The effect of the present discrimination, Dean said, is to threaten the continuation of the traditional family farm or ranch which is passed on from one generation to the next. Small businesses involving real estate are similarly affected, he added.

To protect against abuse, one provision of the bill introduced provides the decedent must have been in the business ten years prior to his death and that his heirs would have to continue the business for at least five years after his death.

"We believe the proposed legislation to be a fair solution to the problem, and Farm Bureau will work for its passage," Dean said.

Frostbite Can Be Serious If Treated Improperly

"Ears are frostbitten; give 'em a good warm rub!" Right or wrong? Answer: Wrong!

"Finger is numb with the cold. Let me hold it under the hot water tap." Wrong!

"Frost blisters on your hand? Don't touch--just wrap it gently in something warm." Right!

Frostbite, often the subject of gentle joviality, can be pretty serious if treated thoughtlessly. It can lead, for instance, to gangrene--the destruction of tissue. The way to avoid that is to avoid rubbing a frostbitten part with the hand, with gobs of snow, or in fact with anything at all. Friction is the last thing you want.

Frostbite is nothing more or less than the freezing of an external organ or part of the body. It happens most often to ears, noses, cheeks, fingers, and toes. People to whom it happens aren't always aware of it right off. There may be a stinging pain, which soon yields to numbness. Or there may be no pain at all--just a semi-numb feeling of being cold.

One warning signal is the appearance of a light skin flush. As frostbite develops, the color at the site changes to white or greyish-yellow. Then blisters may appear.

Rather than rubbing, the affected part should be covered for warmth. Frostbitten fingers or toes should be placed in water at about body temperature, but no hotter than 100 degrees. No rubbing, and no heat lamps, hot water bottles or exposure to direct heat. If warming treatment fails to improve numbness or skin discoloration, call a doctor.
