Clements Planning Gas Sale Controls

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements said today he will issue mandatory directives Tuesday concerning distribution of gasoline in Texas.

He strongly indicated it would include a form of odd-even purchases — where cars with odd-number license plates could buy gasoline on odd-number days and even-number plates on even-number days.

"I think we have to move out on something that has been tried elsewhere, maybe odd-even," Clements told an informal news conference. "It has to be something that goes beyond the voluntary aspects."

Clements said he would talk with his top energy advisor, Ed Vetter, later today and issue the directives Tuesday.

Clements said his directives would concern all energy conservation.

"This is going to be a no-ice summer," he said. "That will really become symbolic. No ties and short-sleeve shirts. That will be a strong signal to everyone to drive slower and turn up our thermostats."

"It's just a gimmick," he said, "but I think it will work."

Elsewhere in the nation, the odd-even system of gasoline sales begun more than a month ago in California makes its debut at midnight on one of the major highways in the Northeast, where getting gas evokes memories of the crush Californians hope to forget.

"Even date, even plate," said Earl McGregor, a spokesman for New Jersey's 173-mile Garden State Parkway, where gas sales are already limited to $3 a gallon.

State highway officials said they were using emergency powers to impose the system to try to prevent a recurrence of the long lines that developed over the weekend. Some cars ran out of gasoline while waiting in lines of up to 150 cars along the parkway on Sunday.

In New York, where only 15 percent of the gasoline stations were open Sunday, Mayor Edward Koch suggested that Gov. Hugh Carey impose an odd-even system and minimum purchase requirements for the state. A Carey spokesman said that while the system was not ruled out for the future, the governor was emphasizing voluntary conservation.

Gas lines were practically non-existent in California, where an odd-even license plate plan has been in effect for 40 days. Despite the ready availability of gasoline, however, tourism industry officials said fewer travelers were visiting such coastal attractions as Morro Bay and the Hearst Castle at San Simeon.

Meanwhile, a leading gasoline industry newsletter said the average national price of gasoline could top $1 a gallon by Labor Day, rather than next spring, as government officials had predicted.

While long lines were the rule in the Northeast, no major problems were reported Sunday in the Chicago area and other parts of the Midwest and West.

In Alabama, where independent truckers have focused their protests on fuel distribution points, National Guardsmen were put on standby alert to begin moving fuel supplies.

Tony Williams, executive director of the Independent Oilmen's Association of Alabama, said the state could be closed by late Tuesday because of the shut down by independent truckers.

Gov. Fob James has pledged to keep the gasoline flowing, even if it means using the guard's 55 tankers to deliver the supplies.

Station owners in Washington, D.C., where motorists waited at pumps for three hours or more earlier in the week-end, said about 5 percent of the 1,500 stations were open for business Sunday.

Carter, Brezhnev Hail Arms Pact

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — President Carter and Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev signed the SALT II treaty today, embraced and kissed each other on both cheeks, and promised to meet again and continue their nations' efforts to limit the nuclear arms race.

Carter termed the treaty a victory for peace, but warned that "the threat of a nuclear holocaust still hangs over us."

The Soviet president declared, "We are helping to defend the most sacred right of every man — the right to live."

Carter immediately flew back to the United States, where he will address a joint session of Congress at 8 p.m. CDT.

In a private meeting before the signing, Carter and Brezhnev agreed to meet with each other more often, without waiting for a crisis or other pressing reason. White House press secretary Jody Powell told reporters.

A joint communique issued later also disclosed that the two presidents have agreed on major elements of a proposed new treaty to ban the invention or use of radiological weapons that kill through radioactivity. No such weapons now exist and Powell said such a ban would not affect the neutron bomb.

The SALT agreement is the most sweeping thus far limiting the nuclear arsenals of the United States and the Soviet Union. It puts ceilings on the numbers of long-range missiles and bombers the two superpowers can deploy through 1985.

The signing ceremony climaxed a three-day summit here between the U.S. and Soviet presidents and almost seven years of negotiations. Carter boarded Air Force One and headed for home just over two hours later to address Congress and the nation on the treaty. An hour later Brezhnev headed back to Moscow aboard his jetliner.

The two leaders signed the treaty texts in Russian and English sitting at a gilded table in an elegant onetime ballroom of the old Imperial Hofburg Palace. They then rose, embraced and kissed each other on both cheeks. The audience applauded enthusiastically.

Each then spoke to the assembled dignitaries. Brezhnev first, sitting before a microphone on the silk-cloaked table.

The entry into force of this treaty opens up the possibility to begin elaborating subsequent measures to not only limit but also reduce strategic arms," the Soviet leader said.

"We are making a major step forward along the road of an overall improvement of Soviet-American relations and, consequently, of the entire international climate."

Listening to the English translation, Carter sat with head bowed and eyes closed, as if in prayer, under the cavernous hall's glittering chandeliers.

Then he faced his own microphone and, addressing "fellow citizens of the world," asserted, "We cannot interrupt or endanger the arms limitation process — a phrase apparently directed at the treaty's foes in the U.S. Senate, which must ratify the pact."

Carter also seemed to have senators in mind when he said:

"I am entrusted with the security of the United States of America. I would never take any action that would jeopardize that sacred trust."

He said the prospect of an unrestrained arms race "is a challenge to our courage and our creativity."

"If we cannot control our power to destroy, we can neither guide our fate nor preserve our future," he said.

"Here today, as we set careful limits on our power, we draw boundaries around our fears of one another. As we begin to control our fears, we can better insure our future...."

"Not one nation on this Earth, not one people, not one human being is harmed, threatened or deprived by this victory in the battle for peace. A victory is here for all."

The American leader also noted that SALT II would clear the way for "even more substantial limitations and reductions" in SALT III.

The two presidents have agreed to continue Soviet-American consultations and to open negotiations for more far-reaching arms control measures after SALT II takes effect.

The ceremony ended with the two presidents shaking hands with each member of both summit delegations.

Helping to keep the ceremony close to its half-hour schedule, Carter and Brezhnev signed some of the treaty documents in advance.

There were four documents in all: the treaty, a protocol, footnotes and a statement of principles for pressing ahead in the future toward a SALT III agreement.

The 22-page treaty limits each country to the deployment of 2,250 launchers for intercontinental weapons, a reduction from the 2,400 allowed by the SALT I treaty. It also limits to 1,200 the number of ballistic missiles that can be armed with multiple, independently-targeted warheads.

Reservoirs Get High Price Tag

By SYLVIA TEAGUE
Avalanche-Journal Staff

If the Post and Justiceburg water reservoirs were constructed today as the city's third major water source, the cost would be nearly $109 million.

A report from Freese and Nichols, Inc., a consulting engineering firm in Fort Worth, indicates construction of the two reservoirs, four pump stations, a pipeline, terminal storage and a filter plant would cost $108,962,500.

However, the real cost of developing the two reservoirs will depend on the rate of inflation between now and 1989 when the project is expected to be substantially complete, said city water utilities director Sam Wahl.

The surface water project actually will cost more, Wahl said, but how much more is an unanswered question.

The project will have to be financed from tax-supported general obligation bonds, water revenue bonds paid for by water users or a combination of both.

City Manager Larry Cunningham said the city council will discuss ways to fund the project at their meeting next week.

The council must decide when to have the election and whether to have the elections in two phases or all at once, he said.

"My initial reaction is to do it all at one time," Cunningham said, adding "it looks like the longest we could wait for an election would be spring, 1980."

Whether submitted to the voters in its entirety or in parts, it probably will be the largest single bond election ever in Lubbock. The largest single election so far was the $26.4 million approved by voters in 1977 for capital improvements.

A suggested schedule for construction of the surface water system calls for land for the Post reservoir to be purchased in 1980-81, with the purchase of land around the Justiceburg dam site to begin in 1981.

Construction of the Post dam and pump station would take place between July 1981 and June 1983 with impoundment of water in the reservoir to begin in July 1983.

The consulting engineers suggest that the city begin using water from the Post reservoir in May 1986.

Impoundment of water in the larger Justiceburg reservoir would begin in 1989.

According to the schedule, the city would begin using water from the Justiceburg reservoir in 1992.

The 10-mile long reservoir is expected to cover 2,800 acres within steep canyon walls. The storage capacity of the facility would be 115,967 acre-feet or 37.8 billion gallons.

Based on the cost estimate provided by the consultants, Wahl said water from the reservoir would cost 97 cents per 1,000 gallons "at today's prices," compared to the 30-cent price currently paid by the city.

But to Mayor Dirk West the reservoir project is essential — no matter what the cost.

"Water at any price is a bargain when you don't have any," he said. "People will be hard pressed to oppose the concept of the project," he said.

"Water is not something we've got an option on."

Rushing, Smith Face Big Task

By KIM COBB
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Walking into a lion's den of financial problems, W.B. "Dub" Rushing and Steve Smith were sworn in this morning as the newest members of the Lubbock County Hospital District Board of Managers.

Rushing and Smith join the board at a time when the LCHD is facing a possible shutdown of Health Sciences Center Hospital because of growing financial problems. The teaching hospital for the Texas Tech School of Medicine is shouldering a backlog of $7 million in unpaid bills, as well as cash flow problems.

Predictions indicate the hospital may well run out of money by early fall if the board and hospital administrators cannot either speed collection on the backlog in accounts receivable or find alternate sources of funding. County commissioners Friday refused to schedule an election to propose raising LCHD taxes, saying county taxpayers were not receptive to the idea of a tax increase.

Judge Deniz Bevers administered the oath of office in 72nd District Court, noting after the brief ceremony that the new board members "have accepted a tremendous challenge."

"It's a tough job, from what I read in the paper," Bevers said, "but one which has to be done."

Rushing, chairman of the board for Briercroft Savings and Loan, and Smith, owner of Smith Ford, Inc. at Slaton, both expressed optimism in accepting their jobs, agreeing that almost every

Court Ruling Vindicates Bride

DETROIT (UPI) — A young Sicilian-American whose husband claimed she wasn't a virgin when they married has vindicated her honor.

The woman, who claimed she and her family became social outcasts because her husband questioned her chastity on their wedding night, said a $250,000 court ruling in her favor has redeemed her good name.

"From a legal and social standpoint, this is the first time that a woman has sued a husband to recover damages for abuses to her during a marriage," said Anna Biundo Ruffino's lawyer. "This is unique in the whole country. It opens the door for women to recover for other injuries sustained in a marriage."

Mrs. Ruffino, 25, filed the suit shortly after she married Salvatore Ruffino, 32, a carpenter in suburban Mount Clemens. She was awarded the money Friday by a Macomb County Circuit Court jury.

"I'm very happy that my name has been cleared," she said after the jury's verdict was announced. "Right now I just want to go home to California."

The couple, who were married in Detroit in June 1977, are immigrants from the same village in western Sicily. Ruffino grew up in the Detroit area and Mrs. Ruffino was raised in Santa Clara, Calif.

Five days after the couple married, Ruffino left his bride on her uncle's doorstep after claiming she had not been a virgin on their wedding night. In her suit, Mrs. Ruffino said the public accusation that she was not chaste spread through Sicilian communities in Detroit and California.

Bridal chastity is a strict tradition among Sicilians, according to testimony at the trial, so when gossip filtered back to Sicily, Mrs. Ruffino said, her family was disgraced socially.

Mrs. Ruffino, who met her husband in September 1976 through an uncle and became engaged a few months later, testified that she never spent time alone with a man before her wedding night and was a virgin when she was married. Annulment of the couple's marriage is pending.

She said the accusation ruined her personal life.

"I'm too embarrassed to see anyone anymore," Mrs. Ruffino testified.

"My social life? I just go in the backyard sometimes. In the evenings I go to my room."

Ruffino said he was surprised by the amount of the award and planned to appeal the jury's verdict.

Non-Food Item Purchases Rise

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The next time you stand at the check-out counter, muttering about the size of the bill and the high price of food, take a good look at your shopping cart. Chances are, many of your purchases aren't food at all.

A growing percentage of the money Americans spend in grocery stores is going for non-food items, for everything from detergents to hair spray, from magazines to tobacco.

Statistics published in the most recent issue of the National Food Review of the U.S. Department of Agriculture show that in 1977, the latest year for which complete figures are available, Americans spent $107.3 billion on food and non-alcoholic beverages in grocery stores and supermarkets. They spent an additional $40.8 billion on non-foods and alcoholic drinks.

In 1967, the USDA reports, non-foods like paper goods and health and beauty aids accounted for 16.7 percent of grocery and supermarket sales; 20 years later, the same items accounted for 27.6 percent of all sales. That means more than one dollar in every four was spent on products other than food.

"As further evidence of the increasing importance of non-food sales in supermarkets," the USDA says, "three of the ten leading products in grocery sales in 1977 were non-food items." Beer was in fourth place with $6.8 billion in sales, cigarettes were in sixth place with $5.1 billion in sales and paper products were in eighth place, with $4 billion in sales.

A look at spending in individual categories provides further clues about where our money goes. We still spend the biggest chunk of our grocery dollar on fresh and cured meat, fish and poultry, which accounted for about $30.4 billion or a little more than 20 percent of total grocery store and supermarket sales in 1977. Fresh fruits and vegetables accounted for the second-biggest chunk — about 11 percent of all sales.

Almost 7 percent of all the money spent in groceries and supermarkets, however, went for household supplies like soaps, detergents, cleansers and paper products. Four percent went for health and beauty aids; more than three times as much was spent on health and beauty products as was spent on all kinds of frozen foods.

From 1975 to 1977, spending on things like household supplies, health and beauty aids, newspapers, magazines, etc., went up 19 percent. During the same period, spending for fresh and cured meat, fish and poultry rose only 7 percent.

The biggest increase in spending, in percentage terms, came in a non-human food category. Spending on pet foods went from $1.9 billion in 1975 to $2.4 billion in 1977, up 26 percent.

Stores, meanwhile, are giving more space to non-food items, which often offer a higher profit than staples where mark-ups are kept relatively low to attract customers.

A food industry study shows that 20 percent of the selling area of stores opened in 1978 was devoted to general merchandise; stores opened in 1977 set aside only 9.5 percent of their space for the non-food items.

Not only are consumers spending more of their "food" dollars on non-food purchases, they also are spending more on convenience. A recent USDA study showed that convenience foods developed since 1960 account for almost 13 percent of supermarket sales. And food eaten away from home accounts for about 35 percent of all food expenditures, up from 25 percent in 1960.

"The increased convenience of food has contributed to the recent rise in consumer food expenditures," the USDA report says. "One alternative open to consumers who feel pressured by large and growing food bills is to buy less convenience ... eat at home more."

Memorial Services Set For Lubbock Educators

Memorial services for Bill Bravenec and Tommy Herring, two Lubbock school principals killed in a traffic crash here early Saturday morning, will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Westmont Christian Church, 4408 Utica Ave.

Dr. Dudley Strain, pastor emeritus of First Christian Church, will officiate. Bravenec, 35, and Herring, 38, were killed about 1 a.m. Saturday when Bravenec's car was in collision with another auto estimated to be traveling at near 100 mph at the intersection of Boston Avenue and 22nd St.

Bravenec was principal at Rush Elementary School and Herring at Ballenger Elementary School.

Bravenec's funeral services were at 3 p.m. today in Abilene and Herring's at the same hour in Stinnett.

A spokesman for friends and colleagues of the men said of the memorial services: "The community has suffered a great loss and would like to pay its last respects to two men whose lives touched so many."

Lawmakers Plan Assault On Oil Profits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. oil industry, considered by some the villain in the gasoline shortage, may be in for a long, hot summer on Capitol Hill.

Congressional liberals want to broaden their fight for a tough "windfall profits" tax on deregulated oil into an assault on the industry's major tax breaks.

The push to change the oil tax structure has been fueled by the long lines at gasoline stations.

Work on the "windfall profits" tax is expected to be wrapped up Tuesday in the House Ways and Means Committee.

President Carter proposed the tax on excess profits the oil companies make as a result of his decision to phase out price controls on domestically produced crude oil.

So far, the committee's bill would take a $6.8 billion bigger chunk out of those profits than Carter's proposal. Overall, $28.5 billion in oil industry profits would be recaptured in 1980 through 1984, under the bill.

While chances for the bill's passage are considered good in the House, the measure will have a tougher time in the Senate.

Once it gets to the Senate, the measure will go to the Finance Committee, headed by Sen. Russell Long, a Democrat from the oil state of Louisiana.

After the excess profits bill, House liberals plan to turn their attention to trying to eliminate the oil companies' foreign tax credits.

Critics argue the credits represent a $2 billion-a-year tax "loophole" that lets oil companies shield their foreign income from U.S. taxes.

But oil officials say the credits are necessary for American companies to compete against foreign oil firms internationally.

The foreign tax credit was originally intended to protect U.S. taxpayers operating abroad from being taxed twice on their overseas income — once by a foreign government and then by the United States.

But congressional liberals contend the taxes that the oil companies pay to foreign governments are thinly disguised royalties.

As royalties, their argument goes, the payments should be considered as normal business deductions. Deductions are subtracted from taxable income, while credits are more valuable in that they are subtracted from taxes owed.

Under a bill by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, oil companies would be barred from obtaining foreign tax credits on any oil-related operation.

The Carter administration wants milder legislation that would bar the oil companies from using credits earned in one country to reduce their U.S. tax liability from income earned in another country.

Meanwhile, Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd complained Saturday that the administration was doing little to respond to the worsening gasoline shortages.

He called on the president to submit a new standby gasoline rationing plan and urged the Department of Energy to exert its power to force refiners to produce more gasoline.

Without a standby rationing plan, the West Virginia Democrat said, the United States would be in an "extremely vulnerable position" if the oil supply situation worsened.

Uniroyal, URW Reach Tentative Pact

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Uniroyal and United Rubber Workers representatives reached tentative agreement on a new three-year contract early today after a Uniroyal official signed a statement apologizing for the company's refusal to honor an earlier settlement.

URW spokeswoman Janis Froelich said the agreement was signed at 5:30 a.m. today after negotiations which lasted almost continuously since 9 a.m. Saturday.

The intensive talks started after a tentative agreement was reached by the union and B.F. Goodrich representatives in Washington on Friday. The URW had struck Uniroyal May 9.

Mrs. Froelich claimed the tentative Uniroyal pact "exceeds the Goodrich contract in value" and said the financial details of the agreement would be announced later today.

Details of the three-year agreement with Goodrich also have not been announced, but URW President Peter Bommarito has called the settlement substantial.

Mrs. Froelich also said Uniroyal bargaining team leader Ed Finkenstadt had put his signature on a statement saying Uniroyal reneged on an agreement reached in mid-April.

According to Mrs. Froelich, the statement said:

"It is evident that both sides understood that a tentative agreement was reached on April 18. The company regrets the misunderstanding and confusion that subsequently arose. Mr. Bommarito and his policy committee have our apologies for this unfortunate misunderstanding, which was not their fault at all."

Bommarito had accused Uniroyal of backing down on the earlier agreement under heavy pressure from the government to stay within President Carter's anti-inflation guidelines.

Uniroyal earlier had denied that any agreement had been reached.

The union president has said repeatedly that he would not accept a settlement falling within Carter's 7 percent guidelines.

Before the URW struck Uniroyal on

'Cow' Retired

To Patio

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — After standing on a dairy-farm roof for many years, the cow was sent not to pasture but to Jim McCoy's poolside patio.

According to McCoy, the 1,000-pound, life-size, cement and reinforced-steel statue, had stood on the roof of the dairy farm since 1930. Students from a local high school would sneak up onto the roof and paint the cow in wild colors on every conceivable occasion. It was taken down in 1971.

McCoy acquired the dairy property in 1976, hoping to turn it into an ice-cream parlor. He located the cow in storage, repaired it at a cost of $600, and put it back on the roof.

But this year McCoy decided to lease the building to a restaurant. The restaurant people didn't want the cow, so he retired it to his patio.

May 9, union demands were estimated at more than 10 percent a year over three years. Average pay for rubber workers is presently about $8 an hour.

The strike at 11 Uniroyal plants has idled 8,300 workers. Employees of Goodrich, Goodyear and Firestone have continued work under contract extensions.

Mart Rally Encounters Resistance

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market retreated today as the previous week's faltering rally ran into new resistance.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, at noon, was off by 87 points at 842.43. Declines held a 6-5 edge over advances among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

NYSE volume came to 14.49 million shares in the first two hours of trading, off from 14.96 million at noon Friday.

Last week's 8.15-point advance in the Dow average was fueled by the round of prime rate reductions that began on Tuesday. But the rally steadily lost steam as the week wore on and as worries began to build again about an economic slowdown.

"Corporate profits appear to be topping out for this cycle, and a downturn of some unknown magnitude appears to be in the cards," said William N. Griggs and Leonard J. Santow of J. Henry Schroder Bank & Trust Co. in a report out today.

Oil issues were mixed as Arabians American Oil Co.'s refused to comment on a report by the Middle East Economic Survey that Saudi Arabia is "understood to be poised" to boost oil production by 12 percent "in an effort to calm" the tumultuous world petroleum market.

Exxon was up 1/4 at 50 1/4, but Occidental Petroleum was off 1/4 at 21 1/4.

Texasco was up 1/4 at 26 1/4. Its chairman, Maurice Granville, said the company's domestic crude oil inventories are "below the desirable level."

UAL, owner of United Airlines, fell 1/4 to 23 1/4. Its DC-10 fleet, the nation's largest, remained grounded along with all other DC-10s. An actively traded Sears, Roebuck was off 1/4 at 19 1/4. Among gaming issues, Caesars World led the NYSE most-actives and gained 1 1/2 to 33.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index fell 10 to 57.5; at the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .60 to 197.79.

A Supreme Being

AUSTIN—As regional administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, Adlene Harrison has the sole qualification necessary for being a successful bureaucrat: Absolute confidence in a Supreme Being. Herself.

Federal bureaucrats are above the rest of us. Their opinions have the force of law without any entangling encumbrances such as logic and fact.

For example, speaking to the annual convention of the Texas Good Roads/Transportation Association here last week, Mrs. Harrison unabashedly revealed her clairvoyance.

"The Houston area," she decreed, "even if you don't have all the proof you need, is plagued by the auto and the pollution it causes."

Well, now, she's very likely absolutely right but, right or wrong, the EPA is going to right the wrong as it sees it.

THE DEADLINE for implementing air clean-up measures is 1982, the former Dallas city councilman said, but this may be extended to 1987 so long as "reasonable progress" is being made.

I don't mean to put down what the woman says. In many respects, the goals sought by the EPA are worthy ones.

Mass transit, van pooling and other steps to conserve energy and protect the environment, where practical, make good sense.

What bugs me is the high-handed attitude that Big Brother knows best and that we earthlings who inhabit the environment will do as the bureaucrats decree, like it or not and hang the consequences.

Holmes Alexander:

So, Who Needs SALT Treaty?

WASHINGTON—Every day is SALT day in Washington. It is like a week of Sundays. There is the solemn ritual of praise the Lord, there is the hymn of hate and the recession which offers the chance to regroup and shine up old arguments until they look like new.

I do not wish to be a neutralist on any subject, for the neutralist is an agnostic, a gutless non-committalist. If I had a vote in the Senate, or a voice in the debate, I would rely on American fundamentalism—"no entangling alliances."

It is not too late for that route. The SALT I Interim Agreement of '72 has technically run its course and we could announce that we do not choose to renew it. The U.S. Senate would be within its Constitutional duty to advise the President against SALT II and to withhold its consent.

GRANTED MY VOTE and voice would emanate from sheer prejudice against treaty-making, but Edmund Burke called prejudice the "wisdom of unlettered men" and H. L. Mencken proudly titled his book of commentaries, "Prejudices."

Mencken was far from being unlettered and a more intelligible title for the masses would have been "instincts of a thinking man." I have willed myself to think long and hard about SALT.

For instance, I bent my mind recently to follow a debate before the Overseas Writers between two acknowledged authorities of SALT II.

For the affirmative was the Defense Department's top expert on the Treaty, Walter Slocombe. For the negative was Richard Pearle, for many years Sen. Scoop Jackson's specialist on Strategic Arms.

The area of agreement between the adversaries was almost as deep as a well and as wide as a church door. They both wanted a treaty that would be good for national security.

THEY BOTH WANTED a pact to prevent Russia from widening its lead, and both hoped the U.S. had national means of verification to detect any Russian trickery.

Yet neither apparently believed the USSR had any idea of a sneak attack during the projected life of SALT II (1979-85).

My conclusion from the debate is that most of our Sundays in SALT school would be better spent almost anywhere else. There are these possibilities regarding the Treaty:

The Senate is almost certain to add some clarifying and strengthening amendments, whereupon two sequences are possible: (1) The Russians, after a certain amount of backing and filling, will accept the revisions. (2) The Russians will declare a downright refusal and fold their tents.

But this would not mean war. It would mean that both parties would take steps to increase their armaments—which is exactly what both parties would do if the Treaty were ratified verbatim.

The driving force is not a will-to-war or will-to-peace, but the remorseless propulsion of sequences.

The pendulum need not swing from one extreme to another in order to accomplish worthy goals and, indeed, even the EPA's Mrs. Harrison gives lip service to that.

"Americans are still intent on producing and consuming more, whether it be highways, autos or TV sets," she says. "I don't think we ought to settle for a heck of a lot less but I think we have to settle for some less."

WELL, HOORAY for her. If the EPA will back up that sensible statement with sensible action, there won't be any major revolt of the American people.

But, alas, the EPA seems heck-bent on saying one thing and doing another.

Mrs. Harrison, for example, sounds like a reasonable bureaucrat when she says she's not against building more highways to relieve congestion, promote safety or relieve air pollution; she's just opposed to those that are built "merely for convenience."

Challenged, though, to name a single highway project in Texas that she would have eliminated as being "merely convenient," Mrs. Harrison grows belligerent and says we've gotta quit being belligerent with one another.

SHE SAYS SHE'S for building only those highway improvements that are "totally necessary"—and she leaves the distinct impression that she thinks she is far better qualified than is the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation or any of the rest of us to decide what is "totally" necessary.

Well, I don't buy that. If her criteria had been used throughout history, the leg and foot would still be the primary means of transportation and we'd have an EPA demanding an environmental impact statement every time we wanted to straighten out a kink in the footpath through the forest primeval.

Highway traffic—moving people, goods and services—distinguishes an advanced society from a backward one.

A highway or expressway that is designed and built to move that traffic safely and in an uninterrupted flow is a great conservator of energy.

Sure, we need to build more efficient engines and look for substitute transportation where feasible. But motor vehicle traffic and the roadways to move it efficiently are a part of the answer to wise energy use and conservation, not a part of the problem.

THE TROUBLE WITH environmental administrators such as Mrs. Harrison is that they look at only a part of the puzzle rather than at how the puzzle fits together into a total picture.

It's the same kind of mentality that would drive the price of gasoline to $2 a gallon as an incentive for more production, then tax away all of the revenue in order to take away the incentive.

It's enough to shake one's faith in a Supreme Being, which is to say in any Bureaucrat.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

'As Go The Baptists...

SOUTHERN BAPTISTS, with a current membership of 13 million, long have had a commanding impact on the religious, social, political and economic life of America.

The direction that Southern Baptists take as a denomination is therefore of interest to all of us because it probably will be reflected in the direction we take as a nation, or at least in the debates about what direction to take.

It can be instructive, then, that the denomination opted for a decidedly conservative point of view at its annual convention in Houston last week.

Messengers, or delegates, to the convention stopped short of cracking down on so-called "liberal" Bible instruction but only, apparently, as a conciliatory and moderating act.

CONSERVATIVES favoring a return to literal Biblical teachings in the denomination's seminaries were behind the election of the Rev. Adrian P. Rogers as president of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Rogers, pastor of the 11,000-member Bellevue Baptist Church in Memphis, won on the first ballot without a runoff. A hardliner on "inerrancy"—the belief that the Bible is God's message, word for word without scientific or historical error—Rogers said he will "not compromise my beliefs."

Even so, he said after his election that the seminaries and denominational agencies should have a chance to take any necessary corrective steps voluntarily, adding "I don't want any witchhunt."

A resolution demanding seminary professors subscribe to Biblical inerrancy and other specified beliefs, such as a "personal devil and literal hell," was then withdrawn. The convention later passed a motion commending those institutions for "exemplary commitment" to preparing Christian ministers.

THE TENOR OF THE Baptists' gathering reflected their concern over a perceived decline in adherence to traditional values.

This includes not only Bible theology but moral and ethical standards of the general population as well. The Baptists see a direct relationship between a willingness to doubt and compromise religious teachings and a willingness to "go along" with relaxed societal attitudes toward sin and moral behavior.

"What you believe determines what you do," new SBC President Rogers said. "If those liberals will ever come to the Cross of Christ, all Heaven will break loose."

As the prevailing sentiment of Southern Baptists, that attitude is certain to be felt as a part of the shifting mood of America.

'Fear' Closes Carter's Eyes

PRESIDENT CARTER'S difficulties with the nature and provenance of the Rhodesian Constitution cannot be taken seriously. De facto power in Rhodesia had been exercised by a white minority since the territory, which comprised native tribes without any sense of nationhood, was settled by white colonialists in the 19th century.

The whole Rhodesian idea, planted by Henry Kissinger at his historic encounter with Ian Smith in 1975, was to evolve toward a biracial society which would secure the rights of the minority.

The white Rhodesian formula, which holds out certain guarantees to the minority, does so for a specified period of 10 years, after which the constitution can be changed by the will of the majority.

Meanwhile the chief executive is black, and 75 percent of the legislative assembly; and the assembly includes members of more than one political party.

In all of Africa there is only one state that approaches the standards of democratic integrity and minority rights written into the constitution:

NO, WHAT CARTER worries about is the reaction within Africa to a lifting of the sanctions. His decision is governed by his concern for "world opinion."

When the Saudis, in retaliation against the aid given to Israel during the 1973 war, announced a freeze on exports, resulting in acute shortages over a painful period of several months, public opinion polls, taken before and after the boycott, revealed that there had been no change whatever in U.S. backing for Israel.

The figure stood resolute, at 70 percent approval. It was a fine hour for the United States, during which we advised the Arab countries that our foreign policy was not for sale.

There might be circumstances, Sec. of State Kissinger candidly announced, in which the United States would be forced to use military power to get oil. But none in which we would justify betraying an ally for commercial advantage.

But the arguments now being used, for instance by Andrew Young, have to do with our fear of Nigeria!

YEARS AGO, PROFESSOR John Roche was asked, was he not frightened by Sen. McCarthy? He replied, on reflection, that his fear of McCarthyism ranked 24th in his hierarchy of fears, just ahead of his fear of college presidents, and behind his fear of being eaten alive by piranhas.

We are afraid of losing Nigerian oil patronage; And afraid of incurring the displeasure of the states that harbor the so-called Patriotic Front. Afraid of Mozambique, Zambia and Botswana, plus those other African states which civil at Bishop Muzorewa, having for years tolerated Idi Amin; continuing to this day to tolerate the Emperor Bokassa, and the presence of Cuban troops.

If President Carter fears African displeasure for the offense of recognizing a biracial de facto government in Zimbabwe-Rhodesia, then we have for a President a man who is entirely too frightened to serve the best interests of his country or of the world.

That much said, let us focus on the effect of Carter's decision on South Africa. It will be devastating. Nothing Carter could have done would more effectively have undermined the position of the racial progressives in South Africa.

AND NOT WITHOUT reason. If at any time in the future the South Africans were to extend to the black population the freedom now enjoyed by the blacks in Rhodesia, something of a miracle would have been accomplished.

By adhering to the kind of democratic abstractionism that rejects, even as a constitutional waystation, the present arrangements in Rhodesia, while finding nothing to cavi at in the racism and tribalism practiced in the despotic countries of Africa, Carter has sent out a signal to the whites in South Africa that nothing is to be gained by giving ground.

If Rhodesian racialism falls, under the pressure of the barbarian ideologues we appear to favor, one can reasonably expect that any evolution in South Africa toward racialism will be set back a generation.

For this reason, Carter should be overruled. Congress, whose opposition to the President is a matter of record, should assert itself.

But the Treaty authorities are in substantial agreement that Soviet-American diplomacy abhors a vacuum. If the SALT II treaty fails of agreement, there will be a short interval before the negotiators gather again. The points of difference will be set aside and a new Treaty will emerge.

We are in a time of history when war is as improbable as the human mind can imagine. The "peace of mutual terror" has come to reign. Who needs a Treaty?

Sylvia Porter:

Many Pitfalls Face Condominium Buyers

DESPITE REPORTS of destructive squabbles between owners of condominiums or co-operatives, record numbers of you are buying your own apartments—outright as a condominium or indirectly through shares in a co-op corporation—and thus becoming your own landlords.

And as owners, you are facing a central problem of modern property management that goes far beyond even the most bitter of fights among neighbors—keeping costs under control in this era of relentless inflation.

A commercial landlord tries to cut costs to boost profitability. You, as owner of a co-op or condo, try to control costs to hold down your monthly carrying charges, or "maintenance."

In co-ops, these monthly charges include a portion of the real estate taxes and mortgage payments on the building.

DIFFICULT to control are such costs as fuel, real estate taxes, replacement expenses, even wages. Just being able to negotiate with unions or bargain for fuel, is not enough.

As an apartment owner, you also must learn to use some of the financial management techniques that will properly put your building's cash to work.

Before you even begin, you must ask two vital questions:

Is your building getting any return on its cash? Are the finances structured to maximize the tax advantages to you, as an individual shareholder, or apartment owner?

To be more specific, every month, cash from maintenance payments flows in. But not all expenses are monthly: real estate taxes, fuel bills, many maintenance costs are paid periodically.

WHAT HAPPENS to that excess cash each month? Does it "sit" in a checking account? Or is it earning a high rate of interest until needed?

(1) This short-term excess cash, emphasizes John L. Steffens, director of investor services at Merrill Lynch, the world's largest brokerage firm, should be invested in cash management funds.

These funds are designed to give small corporate and institutional investors the same high interest rates currently paid on the money market instruments in which large corporations generally invest, while assuring liquidity and stability of yield.

As an illustration, on the Merrill Lynch institutional fund, interest is paid daily: a check-writing privilege permits your building to write checks to pay periodic expenses over $500 directly out of the fund; money need not be transferred back into a regular checking account; the initial investment is $25,000.

(2) CHECKING ACCOUNTS, themselves, also can be a source of interest on a building's funds—for instance, NOW Accounts, Checking Plus, or a combination savings-pass through account that pays regular daily interest on balances maintained.

(3) If you maintain a certain balance, your building may get many other cost-cutting services. Some banks have no-charge, lock-box services. Maintenance checks mailed to lock boxes are deposited immediately, and begin earning interest the day they are received. (4) Roll-Over credit lines, rather than emergency short-term loans, can be used to pay unanticipated expenses. Interest charges on roll-over credit usually are lower.

Terms of the credit can be negotiated as a condition of deposit. Banks also can be authorized to pay electrical, utility, and tax bills directly.

(5) Co-ops can use mortgage prepayment or refinancing to put money to work.

If you're part of an older co-op, financed at low interest, you can take advantage of today's high interest rates, prepay or refinance your low-interest mortgage and by prepayment, reduce monthly maintenance costs while increasing the tax benefits of owning a co-op.

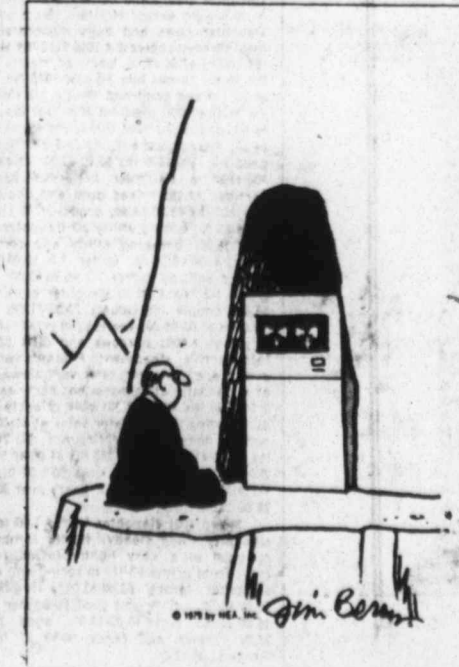

In a new, longer mortgage payment schedule arranged after your prepayment, monthly payments are lower, maintenance is reduced—and since at the start, your mortgage interest is higher, your tax deduction for interest is hiked.

(6) Refinancing a mortgage may give a co-op extra money if the value of the building has increased. The building can then re-invest the surplus capital to earn more interest until it is needed.

(7) BUILDINGS MAY BE able to generate more cash, too, by developing potential sources of supplementary income at very little cost: zoning laws may permit commercial and professional use of the buildings; converting ground floor spaces to offices or stores can provide a revenue source; so can selling recreational services.

(8) If your co-op or condominium hires managing agents to handle finances and daily operations on a fee basis, Steffens warns your board or association to check the cash management strategies of the agent. Be sure you are getting the maximum benefits.

Chinese Parliament Meets To Adopt Legislation

PEKING (AP) — The Fifth National People's Congress, China's Parliament, opened a two-week session today in the Great Hall of the People to adopt legislation authorizing free, direct local elections, making the courts more independent and providing more protection for persons accused of crimes.

Xinhua (Hsinhua), China's official news agency, said Ye Jianying (Yeh Chien-ying), chairman of the Standing Committee of the Congress, in an opening address encouraged deputies to reflect fully the opinions of the people "and give criticism and suggestions on the work of the government."

He said the people want to strengthen and improve China's socialist legal system to "... effectively guarantee the people's democratic rights."

Ji Pengfei (Chi Peng-fei), a vice chairman of the Standing Committee, told a news conference Sunday that the changes in the electoral and judicial systems were sure to be passed by the Congress. Bills providing for the changes were on the agenda adopted Sunday by a preparatory committee, he said.

Xinhua also reported today that Premier Hua Guofeng (Hua Kuo-feng) told the Congress that China's economy is in its best shape in more than 10 years, but major improvements are needed in the next three years to permit sustained, high-speed development.

Hua, who is also Communist Party chairman, said economic recovery in recent years had far exceeded expectations, but "the grave consequences" of 10 years of sabotage by the late Defense Minister Lin Biao (Lin Piao) and the "Gang of Four" radical leaders could not be eliminated in a short time.

"We had not taken this into full account and some of the measures we adopted were not prudent enough," Hua said.

Still, he recited a long list of economic accomplishments which included an increase last year in grain output of 23 million tons or 7.8 percent, to a total 304.75 million tons, and an increase in steel output over the last two years from 20.46 million tons to 31.78 million tons — a 55.3 percent increase. He said the gross value of industrial output in 1978 grew 13.5 percent from 1977, and in 1977 grew 14.3 percent over 1976.

On Sunday, Ji said changes in the election law being submitted to the 3,299 Congress delegates provide for direct election of delegates to county People's Congresses, more candidates than there are seats in the county congresses and the candidacy of non-Communists for the local legislatures and for indirectly elected congresses at higher levels.

Under existing law, candidates are selected by Communist Party committees and in many cases only one is chosen for each seat. During the 1966-69 Cultural Revolution, when radicals took over the nation, many legislators were appointed rather than elected.

Proposed changes in the legal system reflect the often-expressed desire of China's current leaders to solidify "the rule of law after the near-anarchy of the Cultural Revolution."

Bills on the Congress agenda would create judicial organs to deal with criminal and civil cases and would allow a defendant the right to representation by a lawyer and to have the aid of family, friends and organizations.

They would also ban arrests without prior approval of the people's procurator, the equivalent of a district attorney's office, which prepare cases against accused persons.

Hua Guofeng (Hua Kuo-feng), China's premier and Communist Party chairman, will be the keynote speaker at the parliamentary session, but it was not known when he would address the group.

The national parliament also will take up the problem of readjusting the economy now that China's 21-year national modernization drive has been slowed down, apparently by a lack of foreign capital to pay for the government's sweeping plans. A bill on the Congress agenda provides for joint Chinese and foreign enterprises and investment.

Under the constitution adopted in 1978, the National People's Congress can amend the constitution, elect and remove state officials and decide on national economic plans. It meets once a year and elects a Standing Committee of about 140 members that supervises the Commission for State Affairs, the executive organ of the Congress.

Although the Congress is not formally under the control of the Communist Party, the party leaders still hold the real power. There are eight other parties also, but all are members of the United Front headed by First Vice Premier Deng Xiaoping (Teng Hsiao-ping).

Top Egyptian Resigns; Sadat Asks Formation Of New Government

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil presented the resignation of his 3-month-old Cabinet today and President Anwar Sadat asked him to form a new government to usher Egypt into a new era of peaceful relations with Israel, officials said.

Khalil described the resignation as a constitutional necessity after this month's parliamentary elections in which Sadat's National Democratic Party won a sweeping victory.

Khalil, a founding NDP member, will begin consultations immediately to put together a new Cabinet in time for next Sunday's ceremonial opening of the new Parliament.

Officials said only a few changes were expected in the lineup of the outgoing 25-member Cabinet.

Khalil traveled to the Mediterranean city of Alexandria, where Sadat is staying, to submit his resignation.

Cairo newspapers described the new administration as a "peace Cabinet."

Unit Begins Probing Slaughter

PARIS (UPI) — A special investigating team has arrived in the Central African Empire to determine whether Emperor Bokassa I ordered his troops to kill as many as 200 students who protested the end of school uniforms.

The team was formed during the Sixth Franco-African Conference in late May in Kinshasa, Rwanda. The team reached the Central African capital of Bangui Wednesday, according to the latest issue of the Paris-based African news magazine Jeune Afrique.

The team, however, has not indicated when it will release a report on its findings.

In Paris Sunday, the Oubangui Liberation Front met to work out plans to oust Bokassa and return the impoverished, beleaguered African nation of 2.8 million to a democratic form of government.

The FLO was formed in late May by Sylvester Bangui who resigned his post as Central Africa's ambassador to France and confirmed the charges of alleged massacres.

Bangui also charged that Bokassa personally killed some of the students. He has called the self-styled emperor a "mad tyrant."

There are two massacres that are alleged to have taken place in January and April. Both cases are said to have involved students who were protesting an imperial decree requiring them to wear school uniforms.

The uniforms cost $22 each — as much as a teacher's annual salary in Central Africa, which is among the world's 25 poorest nations. The uniforms could only be bought through a Parisian shop partly owned by one of Bokassa's three wives.

Reports reaching Paris indicated that as many as 100 students were killed in the January demonstrations. In April, Amnesty International leveled charges against Bokassa that were later backed up by diplomats. One of Bokassa's 30 children and in part by the emperor himself.

The charges contend that in April Bokassa ordered his troops to round up as many as 100 students, some as young as 8 years old. They were then taken to prison, where they were tortured, beaten, chained and shot to death. According to one report, Bokassa poked out the eyes of one small boy with his walking cane and then shot the child.

At the Algiers Summit, Bokassa conceded some Marxist students had been shot in April because they tried to overthrow the government.

New York Legislature Repeals Tough Drug Laws

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Six years ago, then-Gov. Nelson Rockefeller declared war on pushers and rammed through the Legislature some of the nation's toughest drug laws, providing mandatory life sentences on conviction of selling even small amounts of hard drugs.

But now the Legislature has voted to repeal the key features of those laws. Even former proponents of the 1973 measures say the repeal is a frank admission that the measures didn't work.

The Senate and Assembly last week passed a bill to reduce penalties for many types of hard drug sales and sharply reduce the use of lifetime prison and parole sentences.

The legislation, which Gov. Hugh Carey is expected to sign into law, also may mean reduced sentences for about 1,500 inmates.

The state's drug problem has not diminished. In fact, many people say the problem is as bad as ever.

But they blame the Rockefeller drug laws for court backlogs because plea bargaining was sharply restricted and more defendants — faced with stiffer penalties — chose to stand trial.

One result was an increase in the prison population. But critics note that few of these prisoners were large-scale dealers. Fewer than 200 convictions were for sale of an ounce or possession of two ounces of an illegal substance.

"As someone who represents probably the drug capital of the world, I can tell you these laws have had no effect. Drug traffic is flourishing on the streets of Harlem," Sen. Carl McCall, D-Manhattan, declared during debate on the revisions.

Federal officials say trafficking in cocaine and some hallucinogens in New York state has risen sharply since 1973. And state officials say heroin use has increased since the laws were passed.

The new bill repeals outright the most publicized aspects of the 1973 laws — the mandatory lifetime prison-parole sentences for those convicted of selling any amount of heroin, cocaine, morphine or other hard drugs.

Currently, an individual convicted of possessing as little as two ounces of heroin must be sentenced to at least 15 years in prison. Once released, he must be placed on parole for the rest of his life.

A person found guilty of selling a quarter-ounce of heroin currently faces a sentence of a minimum of six years and a maximum of life. Upon release, he, too, is on parole for life.

The new bill would reduce the minimum for sale of a quarter ounce or possession of a half-ounce to one to three years, and a maximum of as little as eight and a third years.

Yet the Legislature coupled its revisions with increased penalties for things like second-offense drug selling — evidence that lawmakers still believe cracking down on drug abuse is popular with voters.

The revisions retain lengthy prison terms for those caught possessing or dealing in large amounts of hard drugs. And they toughen the minimum sentences for repeat drug offenders. Small-time sellers, who could get a minimum term of one year for a second offense under the 1973 law, would face at least 4½ years for a second offense under the new bill.

"This will make the penalties more enforceable and later and bring them more into conformity with the penalties for other crimes," said Sen. Ronald Stouffer, a Republican from the Adirondacks region, who had supported the original clampdown.

'BTK Strangler' Sends Poem To Woman

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The "BTK Strangler" has surfaced for the first time in 16 months, prompting an investigation that detectives hope will lead to the capture of the man who claims to have killed seven people.

The strangler's silence was broken when he mailed a poem to a 63-year-old woman who police said could have been his eighth victim.

In the poem, BTK — which stands for "Bind, Torture, Kill" — wrote that he intended to kill the woman when he burglarized her home April 28 and regretted that she did not return home while he was there.

The woman lived alone, but she was at a dance that evening. An intruder cut the telephone line and entered the house through a basement window, police said. About $35 in cash and some jewelry and clothing were stolen.

"It is our opinion that had this lady been home, she would have been killed," Deputy Police Chief Bobby Stout said at a news conference Saturday. "We quite definitely believe that this was the intent, and we feel very fortunate that no one was killed."

The woman, who lives about a mile from the site of BTK's last murder on Dec. 8, 1977, received an envelope Friday that contained a 19-line typewritten poem, a sketch, an article of the woman's clothing and a piece of jewelry. Police declined to provide details of the contents.

Saturday morning, KAKE-TV received an envelope with a copy of the poem as well as other items of clothing and jewelry taken in the burglary. The envelope was handed over to police unopened.

Klan Leader Says FBI Backs Rivals

In February 1968, BTK wrote the station to claim responsibility for the slayings of four members of the Joann Otero family in January 1974 and for killing Shirley Vian in March 1977 and Nancy Jo Fox in December 1977.

He challenged police to identify his seventh victim and also warned that he would strike again. But despite investigating hundreds of leads and answering thousands of calls from concerned citizens, police have had no success in finding the killer.

But Stout said, "We've always felt he'd resurface."

"We do not wish to alarm anyone," Stout said. "We simply want to re-emphasize that the person known as BTK is still at large and there is a need for special precautions and awareness by everyone."

Klan Leader Says FBI Backs Rivals

HAMBURG, Ark. (UPI) — The imperial wizard of the United Klans of America made it clear at a weekend rally and cross burning that various branches of the Klan are rivals and charged that some Klan groups are financed by the FBI "to discredit the Klan."

Robert Shelton of Tusculum, Ala., said some branches of the Klan have different goals and rival each other, although their philosophies may be similar.

Shelton said the FBI, in an effort to "discredit the Klan," has financed some of its factions. He did not specifically name the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, which has also been organizing in Arkansas.

But he criticized KKK leader David Duke of Metairie, La., as a publicity hound. "He makes a big splash in the media," Shelton said. "A few people join, and six to eight months later, they seek us out."

Duke spoke at a rally at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock June 9 in an auditorium ringed by state police riot squads. About 300 demonstrators protested the Klan's meeting.

The United Klan, on the other hand, prefers "to have a rally on private property to encourage people to come out to see what we really are — ordinary people — and not to cause confrontation," Shelton said.

Shelton said the United Klan is not "a black-hating group," but a group that "detests the things that some people do." He said Jews would be welcome in the Klan "if they become a Christian."

The Klan provided its own security at the Saturday rally attended by about 200 people on the Doyle Sivola farm about two miles from Hamburg.

Hart's Attorney To Represent Murder Suspect

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The lawyer who won an innocent verdict for the late Gene Leroy Hart on charges of murdering three Girl Scouts will represent mass murder suspect Roger Dale Stafford, Stafford's brother-in-law said.

Garvin Isaacs "will definitely be his (Stafford's) attorney," Roy Denning said in a telephone interview Sunday from his home in the Chicago suburb of North Lake, Ill.

Isaacs could not be reached for comment.

Stafford is charged with the murder of one of six Oklahoma City steakhouse The mass murder was the worst in Oklahoma history.

The 27-year-old Alabama drifter also is labeled by authorities as the prime suspect in the June 1978 murders of three members of a San Antonio family whose bodies were found along Interstate 35 near Purcell.

In addition, police allege Stafford has been linked to 13 other killings around the country.

Isaacs met with Stafford for 90 minutes Saturday in the Oklahoma County Jail. Denning said he spoke with Stafford by telephone following the meeting.

Isaacs led the defense team that won an acquittal for Hart on charges stemming from the 1977 sex slayings of three Girl Scouts at a camp near Locust Grove.

Vietnamese Refugees Put Out To Sea By Malaysian Government

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — Some 2,500 Vietnamese men, women and children drifted in the South China Sea today, lured aboard five wooden vessels by Malaysian promises of U.S. rescue aid and spurned by all nations in the area.

"U.N. officials fear all of them are most likely to be drowned because the boats are not seaworthy," one diplomat in Kuala Lumpur said of the refugees, loaded aboard the five vessels Sunday and towed into international waters one by one.

The expulsion coincided with Malaysia's announcement that it would implement a new get tough policy under which it would expel all 76,000 "boat people" living in refugee camps and "shoot on sight" any new refugees trying to enter its waters.

But in response to protests from world leaders against the "inhumane" policy, government spokesman Ahmed Mustaff told a news conference today that the refugees would only be shot under extreme circumstances in which "Malaysia's security is threatened."

Malaysian authorities apparently tricked the 2,500 refugees into boarding the vessels by telling them the United States planned to rescue them once they reached international waters.

"I don't think there is such a plan," the Kuala Lumpur diplomat said. "Maybe that was why the refugees didn't resist."

In Washington Saturday, a state Department spokesman said the result of Malaysia's new policy "will be the deaths of thousands of people now on the high seas or stranded on remote islands without food, water or medical attention."

While Washington and U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim sought "clarification" of Malaysia's position, Hong Kong Gov. Murray MacLehose flew to the United States from London for talks on how to relieve the crisis.

The Vietnamese, including women and children, were towed out to sea from the northeast village of Kuala Besar, 225 miles north of Kuala Lumpur, as the crowd flies but 430 miles by road.

They were reported heading south for Pulau Bidong Island, 80 miles away, which serves as Malaysia's largest refugee camp with more than 40,000 inhabitants. Under Malaysia's new stand, they are expected to be turned away.

The only other nations within easy sailing distance — Thailand, Singapore or Indonesia — all have refused to accept new refugees and deployed reinforced naval patrols to prevent their landing.

Singapore Foreign Minister S. Rajarathnam said Malaysia's decision was "the only way out." The Hong Kong Standard said the policy was "inhumane but it also indicates the Southeast Asian nations' fears."

If the refugees veer north, they will run into reinforced Thai navy patrols.

"The navy patrols will stop any boats from approaching the Thai coast and adding to our already considerable refugee problem," a Thai official said today.

More than 400,000 Vietnamese have left their country since the communist victory in April 1975. As many as half of the "boat people" drowned at sea.

New Regime Delays Rule In Ghana

ACCRA, Ghana (UPI) — Ghanaians voted today for their first civilian president and Parliament in seven years, but civilian rule was already delayed for three months by the nation's two-week military regime.

In the presidential race, three men were favored — Victor Owusu of the Popular Front Party, William Ofori Atta of the United National Convention and Hilla Liman of the People's National Party.

Altogether, seven parties are contesting the elections based on tribal allegiances rather than political ideology. Besides a new executive president, candidates are competing for 140 seats in Parliament.

Observers said a poor turnout could force a run-off if none of the top contenders gains the required 51 percent majority.

The new president will be elected for a 4-year period. He will have strong executive influence but no veto power in the legislature.

The elections came two weeks to the day after a cadre of junior officers led by Flight Lt. Jerry Rawlings seized the government in a military coup and ousted Gen. Fred Akuffo June 4.

Akuffo is among some 50 military and civilian leaders still to go before the military tribunal that found former head of state Ignatius K. Acheampong and former head of the border guard Maj. Gen. E.K. Utuka guilty of corruption. The two were executed by firing squad Saturday.

Popular Front candidate Owusu, in an interview Saturday, attacked Rawlings for delaying the handover of power by three months. The civilian government was originally scheduled to take over July 1 but the date has been put back to October.

But the 32-year-old, polo-playing jet-fighter pilot told political leaders Sunday it was necessary to delay the handover to "cleanse" the country of corruptive elements — an oblique reference to the ousted military leadership that had controlled the country since 1972.

Rawlings appealed to the leaders to explain to the electorate why more executions are needed.

Watson Eyed To Fill Post

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Abandoning a longtime tradition, President Carter is reported preparing to name an ambassador to the Soviet Union who is neither a career diplomat nor an expert on Soviet affairs.

A high-ranking State Department official said Sunday that Carter would name Thomas J. Watson Jr., former head of International Business Machines Corp. and the 65-year-old son of IBM's founder, to succeed Ambassador Malcolm Toon.

An old friend of Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, Watson does not speak Russian and is not a specialist in Soviet affairs. But one U.S. diplomat said the Russians might welcome his appointment.

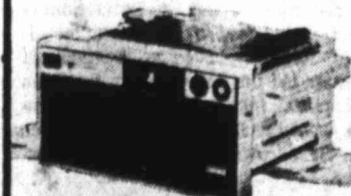

"They don't want a man there meddling in political affairs," he said. "They want a man who will push for increased trade and so on."

Toon, considered a hard-liner by the Russians, has been expected to leave the Moscow post this summer.

Watson declined to comment on the report until an official announcement is made. He is in Vienna for the U.S.-Soviet summit conference because he is chairman of the president's General Advisory Committee on Arms Control and met casually with top Soviet officials Friday night when the summit delegations attended the opera.

Blidet Amor, a village in the Algerian Sahara, is constructed entirely of dried mud and would dissolve in a rain.

A-J News Service
TEHRAN, Iran — The self-proclaimed president of Iran's revolutionary court says his plans to execute the exiled shah are "not a mere bluff" and a group of three "hit men" are in Mexico today to try to carry out his order.

Sheik Sadeq Khalkhali said in an interview in Qom Sunday the three assassins were members of the Fedayeen-Islam guerrilla organization which, he said, the shah tried to crush during his rule.

The organization's revival was announced recently, with Khalkhali as its president.

Khalkhali described the Fedayeen-Islam as a group of "pious and devoted men in the service of our faith," though he refused to answer further queries about the mission.

The remarks followed his earlier statements that Empress Farah and several of the shah's aides also had been condemned in absentia, but that Farah's sentence would be commuted if she carried out the shah's execution.

The trial of two members of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's secret police is giving foreign observers a good look at the Islamic revolutionary justice of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's regime.

Courtroom spectators say they have little doubt that Bahman Naderipour, a 34-year-old senior SAVAK agent, and Ferdous Tavangari, a 25-year-old reputed to be one of the police agency's most feared torturers, will be sentenced to death by firing squad.

Naderipour is charged with nine murders; Tavangari, with several forms of brutal torture.

The trial opened Thursday in the Qazvin Prison mosque and is expected to continue for several more days. There are no defense attorneys, only a three-member panel of judges consisting of a turbaned Moslem cleric and two civilians. One of the judges also functions as the prosecutor, reading out the charges.

Naderipour appeared calm, even cheerful. The bearded Tavangari, reputedly a master at torture with broken bottles and blows of sharp-pointed shoes, sat hunched and gloomy, rarely looking up.

In two hours of testimony, Naderipour read part of a 600-page confession he had prepared on his SAVAK activities. He recalled in particular being ordered to kill two "martyrs" — presumably anti-shah activists — with a machine gun.

"Their eyes were blindfolded and afterward the blindfolds were full of blood and I burned them," he said. "I had never handled a machine gun before and I had nightmares long afterward. We had eight people to kill two people. Why did SAVAK kill them?"

"My conscience troubled me so much," he went on, his voice breaking, "that at the start of the Islamic revolution, when I heard people shouting 'Allah akbar' in the streets, I was shattered, and I repented."

Tavangari, who joined SAVAK at the age of 20, testified: "When people were turned over to me for interrogation, other prisoners would say for them to say their prayers, because they were finished."

The spectators seemed to take a death sentence as a foregone conclusion but said execution alone could not make up for the defendants' crimes.

"I don't have to forgive them," said a young girl in a black dress. "The people who were tortured have to forgive them."

Israeli Army Disperses Protesters

By United Press International
Israeli troops fired tear gas and shots into the air to disperse West Bank Arabs protesting establishment of a new Jewish settlement on expropriated Arab land near their town.

In Lebanon, a mechanized force of Lebanese army regulars threw a cordon around the southeastern Beirut suburb of Ain Rummaneh with orders to apprehend rightist militia renegades to end a week of fighting between elements of the rightist Phalangist and National Liberal Parties.

Egypt's Cabinet was expected to resign today and Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil said he expected President Anwar Sadat to ask him to form a new "peace Cabinet" in line with Sadat's victory last week in national elections.

Israeli Defense Minister Ezer Weizman said he would no longer participate in the Israeli team negotiating with Egypt on the future of the West Bank and Gaza Strip because the committee was "too large and clumsy."

Premier Menachem Begin was reported to comment that only the Cabinet could decide if Weizman will leave the team.

After the arrest Friday of a U.N. officer on charges of smuggling arms to Palestinians, the Israeli Cabinet decided to reopen the border with Lebanon to U.N. traffic but said all U.N. staff, including high-ranking officers, would be thoroughly searched.

Police arrested a Nigerian U.N. officer, Col. Alfred Gom, and a Nigerian U.N. employee traveling with him when they allegedly found two suitcases of weapons and explosives in Gom's car smuggled into Israel for the Palestinians in the Jerusalem area.

A U.N. spokesman in Jerusalem expressed "deep concern" but called the arrest an "isolated incident."

Military sources estimated the Nabulus crowd at 1,500 but local Arabs said 5,000 people were there. They burned tires, shut their stores and pushed back a line of soldiers at the military government building, but retreated when the troops fired tear gas and shots in the air and brought in club-wielding reinforcements.

"Here in the occupied lands we cannot express ourselves democratically," said Nabulus Mayor Bassam Shaka at a rally on the steps of the town hall Sunday. "But we cannot remain silent."

They were protesting the creation of Elon Moreh, an Israeli settlement about a mile southeast of Nabulus on land requisitioned from Arab owners.

The 900-strong Lebanese army force was called to intervene directly "because it is only the regular troops that enjoy a legal cover to apprehend and contain the unruly and undisciplined elements," officials said.

Witnesses said the army was supported by troop carriers, light tanks, jeep-mounted recoilless guns and light and heavy machine guns.

Phalangist and National Liberal party leaders expelled several Ain Rummaneh militia officials at the height of last week's fighting which left at least three dead and a dozen wounded.

NEW AIR ROUTE

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Vietnam and the Soviet Union have agreed to open a new air route between Moscow and Ho Chi Minh City, formerly Saigon, in southern Vietnam, the Voice of Vietnam radio reported Sunday. The report, monitored here, said the Soviet airline Aeroflot would begin flying the non-stop run from Moscow to Ho Chi Minh City on Tuesday.

Girls' Swimwear Styles Change

By JEANNE LIVELY

Family News Staff

Stop the presses! — Bikini sales are down and the one-piece swimsuits are back.

But not like the one-piece ones your mother used to wear. (And, mother, don't think you can get out the one-piece you've been wearing occasionally every summer for the past ten years, because the new swimsuits are NOT like yours.)

The newest trendy suits are the mailots (the French word is pronounced "Mi Oh") and are being shown by local department stores and boutiques and are out-selling bikinis by 60 percent.

If you think the mailots sound not nearly as sexy as bikinis, forget it. The mailots admittedly cover more of the body, but who's to knock the idea that "suggestion" isn't more intriguing to the male you wish to impress than "baring it all."

A local boutique and lingerie shop owner said her customers are asking to see the mailots first before looking at the bikinis. She says women are probably purchasing more of the mailots this year, since they are the newest swim item to wear. "But," she emphasized, "the mailots are definitely a lot more comfortable to wear than the two-piece suits are. Several of my customers say they especially like the mailots because this type of suit stays on better for serious swimming."

"Most of the mailots are made of stretchy materials that cling to the body. The newest materials shed water and dry quickly. Some ask for mailots they've seen advertised in fashion magazines — they are mailots all right, but are fashioned from sheerer fabrics which are okay for swimming in one's own backyard pool."

There are some disadvantages of the mailots. For one thing, they use more material than bikinis and cost more. In some stores, whereas you can purchase a bikini for $23, a mailot will cost approximately $30.

Another disadvantage — since mailots have more covered areas, a tan won't be as evenly distributed over the body. As an example, one of the most popular mailots selling this season has a bare stomach area. The wearer of that suit would have a tanned stomach "triangle" but the rest of the body would have a definite crisscrossed white area.

What do national swimsuit manufacturers say about overcoming the problem? — buy two suits, one of each variety!

Weddings

FAUSETT — TERRAL
WOLFFORTH (Special) — Rhonda Sue Fausett and Mark Terral were married Saturday in the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Ed Scarbrough officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Shirley J. Fausett and Mr. and Mrs. S.L. Terral. The bride is also the daughter of the late Mr. Bobbie L. Fausett.

Honor attendants were Diane Neer of Columbia, Mo., and Johnny Raglin of Lubbock.

The bride was graduated from Frenship High School and Methodist Hospital School of Nursing. The bridegroom was graduated from Monterey High School and attended South Plains College.

Following a wedding trip to Corpus Christi, the couple will reside in Lubbock.

Insulin Role In Cancer Studied

SAN ANTONIO (Special) — Insulin, the hormone that is vital to diabetes patients, is being investigated at the University of Texas Department of Medicine here for its role as a "growth factor" in both normal and cancer cells of the breast.

Dr. C. Kent Osborne, assistant professor of medicine, has identified the same insulin receptors on two different types of breast cancer cells but only one type responds to insulin. To answer this riddle, Dr. Osborne, a molecular endocrinologist, will probe the cell's chemistry to find a difference that can solve the mystery of how insulin actually promotes cell growth.

Previously, at the National Cancer Institute, Dr. Osborne and other scientists tested insulin on rats with breast cancer and found that lowering application of the hormone reduced the tumor growth while increasing insulin raised the growth rate.

Human breast cancer cells grown in the laboratory at the National Institutes of Health also responded to insulin. Amounts comparable to levels found in the whole human system stimulated growth of the breast cancer cells.

At the University of Texas, tests of insulin on growing cells will be continued and its biochemical reactions traced, to finally discover if a method of controlling insulin reaction could be devised.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Our son and his wife are both 30. He's an assistant professor and she's a social worker. They've been married for a year and lived together for two years before that. They're coming to visit us for two weeks this summer and I am not looking forward to it.

I love them both, but two bigger slogs I've never met! Thank God they found each other.

They were here last Christmas and my lovely home looked like a pigpen during their entire stay. They threw their clothes around, left wet towels on the bathroom floor, ate all over the house and smoked pot in their bedroom. I was exhausted picking up after them. I finally blew my stack just before they left. They apologized and we parted friends.

After they left, my husband told me that if I can't keep my trap shut (his words) and treat our children like guests, we should put them up at a nearby motel when they visit.

Abby, do you think I was out of line for telling those kids off? And how about laying down some ground rules before their next visit? I know I won't be able to keep my trap shut if those slogs don't clean up their act.

Had It In Ga.

Dear Had It: Lay down some ground rules. If they break the rules, and you can't keep your trap shut (his words), put the slogs up at a motel.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the wife asking how to get her attorney husband to update his will hit home with me.

Here's how I got my father to update his 30-year-old will. He had left everything to my mother who has been dead for 15 years!

I sent my father a copy of my will, asking for his suggestions on how to dispose of whatever he was leaving to me since I had no children. He got the message and promptly updated his will. I may have been left out of his will for all I know, but at least it made him update his own.

G.A.G. In L.A.

Dear G.A.G.: Thanks for a good suggestion. Read on for another.

DEAR ABBY: My husband, who is an attorney, kept putting off updating his will. My nagging did no good. Finally, I got disgusted and made an appointment with one of the most prominent and expensive estate lawyers in town. Then I casually told my husband about it. That did it.

Precautions Can Prevent Vacationtime Burglaries

NEW YORK (Special) — Burglars don't go on vacation when you do. If it's obvious that you are away from home on vacation, a potential intruder not only has an "easy mark," but once inside he will have all the time he needs to look for hidden treasures.

But, if you are willing to invest a little time and a minimal amount of money before you go on vacation, you can save heartache and hundreds of dollars when you return.

The National Sheriff's Association recommends that you follow a few simple procedures before taking a trip:

•Either discontinue your newspaper and all other deliveries, or have them picked up daily by a neighbor. (You can offer to do the same thing for your neighbor when he or she goes away.)

•Notify the post office to hold mail until you return.

•Arrange to have the grass cut in the same way you would have it done if you were at home. A house with an unkempt lawn is a dead giveaway.

•Deposit excess cash and other valuables in a safe-deposit box. Don't leave them in an empty house. There isn't a hiding place you can think of that an experienced burglar won't be able to think of too.

•Store empty garbage cans out of sight, or get friends and neighbors to put some of their garbage in your cans so it will look as though you are home.

•Turn bells down on your telephone or get a temporary answering service. The unanswered ringing of a telephone that can be heard outside a house or apartment is clear evidence no one is at home.

•Leave shades and drapes slightly opened so your house doesn't look closed.

•Install good locks on windows and doors and block tracks of sliding doors to prevent entry even if the lock is jammed.

•Use timers to turn lights on and off and simulate normal use. A single light burning all night in one room is a good signal to a potential burglar that you are away.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

Fathers used to be a lot like a kitchen clock. They had a familiar face, were always in the same spot, kept pretty good time and were never missed or appreciated until the day they stopped ticking.

The truth is until a few years ago, people actually knew very little about fathers. Whenever there was a car to be parked or brought around (especially when it rained or snowed), they were there.

They spent a lifetime changing fuses and answering the phone when everyone else was busy. They were one of the few who could find the garbage can in the dark, blow up a plastic swimming pool without fainting, and deal with mice. They alone held the secret of what number motor oil was used in the car and their name was always being used in vain like, "Ask your father," or "Wait till your father gets home."

They were rarely in family photos because they were always taking them.

It's only been during the last three or four years that research has made some rather amazing discoveries about fathers. They have human characteristics, love their children, fight to have them born, fight for custody of them, and experience an empty nest syndrome when they leave.

A letter from a woman in Oxnard, Calif., posed a rather interesting question to me. She asked, "What do you say to a father who allowed no one else to 'hit' you because 'they don't love you enough to hit you'?"

"What do you say to a father who walked with you down the aisle to be married and when the minister asked who gives this woman away, shouted in a loud, proud voice, 'I don't ever give my girl to anybody. If this young man wants to marry her, he has my permission, but only if he swears to me that if it becomes necessary he'll return her to me.'"

"What do you say to a father who has leukemia but who insisted on teaching his three-year-old grandson how to ride a bike without training wheels because he wanted Grandpa to help him?"

How indeed? You run, walk, hike, call, crawl, fly, or just stand in the back yard and shout, "Thank you for being!"

MISCELLANY

The Lubbock Chapter of International Connoisseurs of Green and Red Chiles will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Pedro's Tamales, 418 Ave. K.

The group will continue the planning for the Chili Cook-Off which is scheduled for Aug. 18. Rules for the Terlingua Cook-Off will be read.

For additional information about the meeting or the cook-offs, call 763-9531.

As a part of the summer reading program, the Mahon Library will present a program Tuesday at 2 p.m. for children of elementary school ages.

A slide presentation will stress the natural treasures of the state with emphasis on birds, insects and flowers.

For more information, call 742-6411, extension 2839.

Mrs. Norvell Griffin of Lamesa and James Stuart of Lubbock have been selected as outstanding 4-H leaders in District 2 of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

They were honored at a special luncheon during the State 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University in early June.

Health Sciences Center Hospital has a youth volunteers program this summer. Candy Strippers who work in direct patient services and Junior Volunteers who work in support services recently completed an orientation course. Students entering 10th, 11th or 12th grades are eligible for the program. Jacques Hastings is volunteer coordinator.

1 cup instant oats
4 eggs
2 bananas, mashed (1 cup)
1 cup sour cream
1/2 cup yellow cake mix
Combine butter, frosting mix and oats. Set aside. Combine the eggs, bananas, sour cream and cake mix. Beat two minutes on medium speed of mixer. Pour a layer of the cake batter into the bottom of a greased and floured tube pan. Then sprinkle with a layer of frosting butter mix followed with another layer of cake batter. Continue with this process until all of the batter and frosting mix have been used. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour or until a toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean.

Social Security Increase Assists Many Veterans

WACO (Special) — The first cost-of-living increase in Social Security payments since passage of last year's Veterans Administration pension reform bill will affect more than 2.5 million VA pensioners in a variety of ways, Jack Coker, Waco VA Regional Office Director, says.

Coker said the increase will bring a 9.9 percent boost in monthly payments for approximately 100,000 veterans and their beneficiaries enrolled under the new pension plan. For those who chose to remain under the old pension plan there is an upward adjustment in the income limitation ceiling.

Congress last year linked VA pensions to Social Security cost-of-living hikes when it enacted a new VA pension program that gave pension recipients a choice of converting or remaining under the existing plan.

Coker said almost 400,000 applications have been received for conversion to the new pension program and that another 200,000 are expected before the end of 1979.

While the new program offers higher pension rates than the old one, all income of a veteran and his dependents is counted in calculating his pension.

Under the old plan, pension rates are lower but certain income is excluded.

The 9.9 percent increase for new program pension recipients means that a single veteran with no income will receive $3,902 a year, up from the current $3,550.

A veteran with one dependent and no other income will receive $5,112, an increase from $4,651 at present. For each additional child the rate is $660 a year.

A surviving spouse with no dependent child now receives up to $3,116 and will get $3,425 under the increased rates.

When the surviving spouse of a veteran is not eligible for VA pension, or if the child is an orphan, the child's rate is $660 a year.

Coker today renewed his suggestion that veterans or their beneficiaries wishing full information on the pension choices open to them, contact the nearest VA office or consult a service officer of one of the national veterans' organizations in their home community.

The increase in pension benefits is effective the first of June. It will be reflected in the July pension checks.

What action do you take?
A.—North's bidding has shown a very good hand, but little interest in the fact that you have a long club suit. Under the circumstances, there can be no justification for disturbing partner's choice of game contracts. Pass.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A ♥1095 ♦K64 ♠AQ9632
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
3 ♥ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
4 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Since partner has shown a good heart suit and the ace of diamonds, we would not blame you if you leaped straight to six hearts. However, we would not yet rule out a grand slam, which could be a laydown if partner has solid hearts and a second-round club control. To advise partner of the extent of our ambitions, we would cue-bid five diamonds before raising to six hearts.

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ 2 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—Since partner opened the bidding in first seat, vulnerable, we would not allow the opponents to buy the hand so cheaply. Our choice is to bid two spades. Partner will realize that we do not have much of a hand since we took no action at our first turn.

What do you bid now?
A.—It would seem that the natural action is to rebid your diamonds. However, partner has promised at least two diamonds with his no trump rebid, so your hand rates to produce at least five tricks at a no trump contract—assuming, of course, that partner has enough sense to concede the first diamond trick in order to maintain a link to your hand. Bid three no trump.

The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South

Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—Partner must have a very bad hand—if he had anything in the way of high cards, he would have been delighted to defend one no trump doubled, especially at this vulnerability. So despite your good hand and excellent trump support, you must pass and hope that you have enough for partner to make two hearts.

Q.6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠4 ♥4 ♦KJ9843 ♠J872
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ 2 ♠ ?

What action do you take?
A.—The temptation to double is strong, but you must resist. Doubling would surely be the winning action if that would end the auction, but that attitude is rather naive. It is far more likely that either your partner or West will not sit for two diamonds doubled, and the auction would then become very awkward for you. For instance, what would you do if West ran to two hearts and partner doubled? Avoid that trap by passing now.

Q.7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

However, partner has promised at least two diamonds with his no trump rebid, so your hand rates to produce at least five tricks at a no trump contract—assuming, of course, that partner has enough sense to concede the first diamond trick in

What action do you take?
A.—Don't make partner wonder then they might be. There is no guarantee that diamonds is a better spot than spades. Pass, and be thankful that you will be contributing two tricks to your side's cause.

Q.9—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠5 ♥753 ♦AK1096 ♠J532
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♥ 1 ♠ Dbls. ?

What action do you take?
A.—This time your hand is even weaker, but that is precisely why you should act. The action to two diamonds is mandatory in spades, your hand won't produce a single trick for partner. At diamonds, however, you are sure of four trump tricks. Anything partner can add to that, and he must have some quick tricks to overall vulnerable, will reduce the penalty.

Industry Expects Rapid Rise In Price Of Gasoline

NEW YORK (AP) — The average price of a gallon of gasoline could top $1 nationally by Labor Day, months before the government had predicted gas prices would hit that level, according to a leading gasoline industry newsletter.

"Barring an easing of gasoline supplies to a degree not now in prospect, national average retail prices on some gasoline grades — starting with premiums and then going to regular unleaded — should have no trouble at all, (this summer), hitting a dollar," according to the current issue of the Los Angeles-based Lundberg Letter.

The newsletter notes that gas prices have risen about 18 cents since the beginning of the year, almost 4 cents a month. At that rate, the current average price of 86.6 cents a gallon would increase to $1 by October.

Should the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries decide at its meeting in Geneva next week to approve a large increase in the price of crude oil — as many analysts are predicting — that timetable could be moved up.

A 30 percent increase in OPEC crude oil prices, which many analysts are predicting, could add 6 cents to the price of a gallon of gas. Other factors in the potential gas price rise are changes in government price regulations, increases in dealer mark-ups and inflation.

Department of Energy officials have said that the average price of a gallon of gasoline would not reach $1 until next spring, at the earliest. And earlier this year, they were saying that no gasoline price would reach $1 a gallon until late this year.

But that was before the full effects of the crude-oil shortage and rising oil prices reached the retail market, and before gasoline dealers, faced with curtailed supplies of gas, began boosting their mark-ups to maintain profit levels.

Dollar-a-gallon gasoline first appeared on premium grades in Hawaii and New York City earlier this spring and has since spread to many other areas, including Chicago, Boston, Indianapolis, Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco. Varying supply, tax and competitive situations account for the differences in prices from one area to another.

"Retail gasoline prices over $1 a gallon are busting out all over," said Mark

Emond, the Lundberg Letter's editor. "Dollar-a-gallon gasoline has arrived ... more is coming."

According to the Lundberg Letter, the average price of a gallon of premium unleaded gasoline in the Chicago area was slightly more than $1 last week, the first time the biweekly Lundberg survey of more than 16,000 gas stations nationwide has found an average of more $1 on any grade of gas in any market.

Although the newsletter points out that gas prices in Chicago are traditionally higher than in other areas, because of high tax rates on gasoline there, "other markets are closing the gap."

Emond noted that psychological resistance to $1 a gallon gasoline could slow a nationwide move above that price, although many dealers might just use 99.9 cents a gallon as an alternative.

"The question of when retail gasoline prices will reach a national average of a dollar a gallon depends in part on how much of a barrier $1 really is," said Emond. "Or rather, how much of a barrier it will remain under pressure. ... Like a dam, it holds only until it breaks, and then lets go."

Commuter Airline Crash Kills Pilot

YARMOUTH PORT, Mass. (UPI) — An Air New England commuter plane carrying 10 passengers and crew crashed into a densely wooded Cape Cod Boy Scout campground in thick fog Sunday night, killing the pilot and injuring nine others, including two girls in critical condition.

Passenger Susan Mourad, 19, of Dennis, Mass., managed to work her way out of the wrecked twin-engine plane and walked a mile through the thick brush to flag down a motorist for help. She was treated at Cape Cod Hospital and released, then helped lead rescue crews to the crash area.

Miss Mourad was at home early today. A family member said she was doing fine, but that she could not discuss the accident.

The dead pilot was identified as George Parmenter, the airline's most senior pilot and its vice president. Copilot Richard D. Roberti, a 10-year employee, suffered a broken leg and fractured wrist and was in stable condition.

The most seriously injured were two Michigan sisters, Katherine Hanafee, 12, and her 18-year-old sister, Kim. Both were hospitalized in critical condition. A third sister, Wendy, 16, was in stable condition.

Two other passengers, Robert Sabag, 32, of Wellfleet, Mass., and Paul Boepple, 26, of Vermont were reported in stable condition. Another passenger Jonathan Ealy, 19, of Brussels, Belgium, was treated and released. The eighth passenger, Brian McCann, 19, of Brewster, Mass., a student at Boston College, was treated for a shoulder injury and released.

The plane, Flight 248, was en route from New York's La Guardia Airport to New Bedford, Mass., and Hyannis, Mass. It crashed at about 10 p.m. CDT in the 300-acre Camp Greenough, which a state police spokesman described as "very densely wooded with a lot of ponds and scrub brush."

The turbo-prop DeHavilland Otter airplane was the same type as one owned by Downeast Airlines that crashed May 30 in similar weather at Owls Head, Maine, killing 17 people in that state's worst air tragedy.

Air New England spokeswoman Ann Wood said that in Sunday's crash, the plane "overflowed New Bedford because of bad weather and fog and was on its approach to Barnstable Airport in Hyannis when it crashed at 11 p.m."

She said that same plane flew from Hyannis to New York Sunday with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., aboard without any problems.

State police Sgt. Chester Campbell said the aircraft went down about three miles from the airport, and that it took rescue workers about an hour to find the wreckage. "They had to hack and cut their way through heavy jungle," he said.

The plane cut a swath several hundred yards long through the woods. Its wings and tail were torn off. The nose of the aircraft was demolished and parts of the fuselage were hanging from trees.

"I'm just so glad to be alive," McCann, one of the passengers, said as he was being carried away from the crash site on a stretcher. McCann said the aircraft was delayed in New York for "about three hours" because of bad weather.

After a while in the air, he recalled, "the pilot said it would be five to 10 minutes before we landed. Somebody said, 'It's been a long 10 minutes.' Then we crashed."

The cause of the crash was not immediately known and state and federal aviation investigators were expected to be at the scene later today.

commands Somoza's forces in the south, said there were about 700 men in the guerrilla force and they would be encircled and destroyed.

Col. Aquiles Aranda Escobar, the spokesman for Somoza's 13,000-man national guard, said the guerrillas had taken the villages of Penas Blancas on the Costa Rican border and Sapo, about two miles north on the Pan American Highway.

Aranda said the guerrillas were blocked there, but Pastora, in an interview on Costa Rican television that was filmed in Nicaragua, said his forces were advancing toward Rivas.

In Leon, Nicaragua's second largest city 54 miles northwest of the capital, Sandinistas were still fighting pockets of guardsmen who hid in buildings after their garrison was overrun and the building set on fire.

AP photographer Richard Cross was in the city Saturday and Sunday and reported some members of the garrison still held a fortified command post on the southern outskirts and were shelling the city with mortars, while Somoza's planes rocketed and strafed rebel positions.

The situation continued to deteriorate in Managua, where 50,000 persons jammed Red Cross centers seeking food and refuge from the fighting.

Most stores have been looted, food is growing scarce, and strong winds Sunday blew clouds of papers and debris from gutted stores down the streets.

The situation is "ten times worse than the 1970 earthquake" that devastated much of the city.

The Sandinistas, who take their name from a rebel leader of the 1930s, controlled poor sections of the capital and blocked major roads leading into the city, including the Pan American Highway.

Renewed fighting was reported in Masaya, 20 miles southeast of Managua, and refugees arriving from the area said the rebels had erected barricades along the highway.

The rebels received a psychological boost over the weekend when the Anderson Pact nations — Venezuela, Bolivia, Peru, Ecuador and Colombia — declared recognition of "a state of belligerency" in Nicaragua.

The move is a diplomatic maneuver which confers equal recognition to both sides in the conflict.

Rebels Gaining In Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Sandinista rebels battled for a provisional capital in southern Nicaragua today, overran the national guard garrison in the country's second largest city and held large parts of Managua.

The rebel commander in the south, Eden Pastora, said his forces would take the city of Rivas, 30 miles north of the Costa Rican border, by Tuesday and establish a provisional government there.

The Sandinistas named a five-member junta over the weekend and said their aims were to overthrow 40 years of Somoza family rule, hold free elections and install a "government of international unity."

Federal Law Banning Laetrile Use Upheld By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today upheld a federal law that bans Laetrile, a substance intended for use by cancer victims, from interstate commerce.

Voting unanimously, the court said that a federal law banning the sale of any drug not proved to be "safe and effective" makes no exception for drugs used by the terminally ill.

The court's ruling effectively eliminates the use of Laetrile until the federal Food and Drug Administration gives its approval, which it has steadfastly refused to do.

In the future, cancer patients who want to obtain Laetrile will have to do so outside the bounds of the law.

Seventeen states have passed laws which, in various forms, allow Laetrile's use. But these laws now seem to have little practical effect because Laetrile and its ingredients, including apricot pits, cannot legally be moved across state lines with the intent of producing the substance.

No state in which the use of Laetrile is permitted grows the raw materials to manufacture the substance. California, a state in which apricots are grown in abundance, has a state law barring the manufacture and use of Laetrile.

To accept the proposition that the safety and efficacy standards of the (Food, Drug and Cosmetic) Act have no relevance for terminal patients is to deny the (FDA's) authority over all drugs, however toxic or ineffectual, for such individuals," Justice Thurgood Marshall wrote for the court.

The wording gives the decision broader sweep than just the Laetrile issue.

Today's ruling reversed a federal appeals court ruling that the federal law did not apply to liquid Laetrile's use by the terminally ill.

In other actions today, the Supreme Court:

— Left intact lower-court decisions barring a woman from suing a Richmond, Va., convalescent home that had fired her because of her failing eyesight.

— Rebuffed an attempt by Pennsylvania state officials to bar newspapers from publishing "situation wanted" ads that refer to the advertiser's race, sex, age, national origin or religion.

— Agreed to consider expanding an individual's right to sue the federal government for damages when a constitutional right is violated.

— Ruled that a member of Congress may be prosecuted on charges of taking a bribe in return for promising to use his legislative influence.

The Laetrile controversy is a highly emotional one because of modern medicine's failure thus far to conquer cancer.

Some physicians advocate Laetrile's use for cancer victims. Other doctors and scientists discount its effectiveness, and portray its use as medical quackery.

FDA Commissioner Donald Kennedy applauded today's ruling as "an important victory for consumers."

The decision "upholds an absolutely fundamental element of our drug regulatory system, which requires that drugs be shown safe and effective before marketing and that all patients — including the terminally ill — are entitled to equal protection," Kennedy said in a statement.

There even remains some dispute over whether Laetrile, a derivative of the apricot pit, is a drug. The FDA maintains that while Laetrile is not a drug by definition, the health claims made for it give the agency jurisdiction through federal drug laws. This view now has the Supreme Court's backing.

The government said its ban on Laetrile's shipment in interstate commerce was based on "an absence of scientifically sound data upon which experts ... could base an opinion that Laetrile is safe for use in man."

But in 1977, a federal trial judge in Oklahoma City ordered the government to drop all prohibitions on Laetrile's use.

U.S. District Judge Luther Bohannon referred to the "special problems" that arise when discussing drugs aimed at treating terminal cancer.

He ruled that cancer victims have a constitutional right to privacy that allows them to decide for themselves how they try to cope with the disease.

Today's Supreme Court ruling takes away that accessibility, and could spur business for an already flourishing Laetrile black market.

to right are, Steve Smith, owner of Smith Ford, Inc., of Slaton, W.B. "Dub" Rushing, chairman of the board for Briercrest Savings and Loan, and Judge Denzil Bevers, who administered the oath of office. (Staff Photo by Linn Scherwitz) business runs into trouble at some point in its operation.

Hospital Board Facing Problems On Finances

Rushing addressed the accusations of poor management at the hospital, saying almost anybody can get a business into trouble.

"It takes real management to get one out of a mess," he said. The new board member added that a review of operating statements was in order and that he doubted there was any one way of correcting the financial situation.

Both men have experience in hospital management. Rushing having served as chairman of the Board for Methodist Hospital for 17 years, and Smith having worked on the board of Mercy Hospital at Slaton. County Judge Rod Shaw said recently it was the previous hospital experience which counted heavily in their favor when the county commissioners voted them in last week.

Neither Rushing or Smith had any harsh words for the commissioners' decision not to hold a tax increase election. Both seemed to think the problems can be ironed out without asking that taxpayers pay any more in LCHD taxes than they do at present.

However, LCHD executive director Gerald Bosworth said the hospital is still going to need extra help from somebody. Hospital representatives have been lobbying for several years to get state aid for resident physicians' teaching costs. Proponents of such legislation say the state has an obligation to help pay for residents since the physicians ultimately will benefit the state as a whole.

But Bosworth doesn't take the commissioners' refusal to schedule an election as the last word on the subject. He speculated that if Health Sciences Center Hospital's financial picture continues to darken, the county officials may well have to bail them out.

The LCHD Board of Managers were scheduled to meet this afternoon in regular session. Included on the agenda is a proposal from a data processing corporation hoping to lease an in-house computer system to the hospital to be used in patient billing. The hospital's current data processing service is going out of business.

FDA Finds Citizens Hard To Convince

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans find it hard to believe there is a long-term cancer threat from saccharin because it seems to defy common sense, says outgoing Food and Drug Administration Commissioner Donald Kennedy.

"It's very hard going to convince people to change their own behavior in exchange for a long-deferred benefit," he said in a recent interview. When studies first linked cigarette smoking to cancer, Kennedy said, they were "pooh-poohed by everybody. ... Everybody knew somebody who lived to old age smoking two packs a day, and there weren't bodies in the streets, a common sense defied recognition of the hazard." Kennedy will become Stanford University provost.

HOT ROCKS

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The hot rocks used in the nation's largest solar-energy system that heats and cools Honeywell's office here are not stolen diamonds. In two huge underground tanks 580 tons of river rock, along with 17,400 gallons of heat-transfer oil, are used to retain solar heat. On cloudy days and after sunset the stored heat can supply the needs of the eight-story building.

Teamsters, UPS Reach Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators for the Teamsters union and United Parcel Service have reached tentative agreement on a three-year labor contract, according to spokesmen for the union and UPS.

The tentative agreement is the first national contract negotiated between the company and the Teamsters. Negotiators for the two sides reached a settlement after nine weeks of bargaining on a master pact and about 20 supplemental agreements, the officials said Sunday.

No details were released. The agreement would cover some 70,000 union workers, who will vote on the pact by mail ballot.

Chinese Don't Know Hope

PEKING (AP) — Bob Hope, accustomed to double takes from fans, got mostly blank looks in Peking.

HOPE

"I've got one of the most recognized faces in the world and it's very strange to walk along and get blank looks," said Hope, who carried a 4 wood as he toured the huge Tien An Men Square, Democracy Wall, the forbidden city and the summer palace.

"They are more interested in my golf club," he quipped.

Hope, 76, spent his first full day in Peking on Sunday, visiting locations for a 90-minute NBC television special, "The Road to China," he came here to film.

Hope is unknown in China because his films have not played here.

He is visiting the Great Wall today and is expected to leave Tuesday for Shanghai and several days of location work. Shooting begins in Peking on June 27.

Patty, Husband Attend Shows

NEW YORK (AP) — Patty Hearst Shaw, who figured in one of the more dramatic episodes of American crime history, was just another out-of-towner on Broadway this weekend.

In two days, Mrs. Shaw, former kidnap victim turned robber, and Bernard Shaw, her husband and former bodyguard, saw three of the Big Apple's most popular shows.

On a visit from California, where they were married April 1, Mrs. Shaw, 25, and Shaw, 33, attended a Friday night performance of Richard Rogers' "I Remember Mama," starring Liv Ullmann.

On Saturday afternoon, they saw "Dancin'," another of the city's hottest shows. And on Saturday night they went to one of Broadway's biggest box office hits, "A Chorus Line."

Rita Coolidge Captures Award

TOKYO (AP) — Singer Rita Coolidge sang "Don't Cry Out Loud" to win the Grand Prize, worth more than $14,000, in the eighth annual Tokyo Music Festival.

The song was written by Peter Allen and Carole Bayer Sager.

The Gold Prize, worth nearly $5,000, went to A Taste of Honey, a quartet featuring Janice Johnson on bass and Hazel Payne on guitar. They sang "Do It."

Twelve foreign songs from eight countries and three songs from Japan competed in the festival on Sunday.

Let Them Eat Cake

SEATTLE (AP) — President Carter got a stale piece of cake. Energy Secretary James Schlesinger received a "rose-colored" crystal ball. And California's Republican senator, S.I. Hayakawa, was awarded a bottle of No-Doz.

Arline Mathews, founder of American Consumers Together, presented the "Marie Antoinette awards" at Seattle's Waterfront Park during a weekend rally organized to urge consumer boycotts of selected oil companies.

Miss Mathews criticized Carter and Schlesinger for siding with the oil companies and teased Hayakawa for reports that he slept through a recent White House meeting on the oil shortage.

The awards were named after the famous French queen who, when told during the French Revolution that the peasants did not have any bread to eat, replied, "Let them eat cake."

Pipeline Officials Check Cracks

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Engineers for the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. are poring over evidence which they hope will help determine the cause of two leaks in the trans-Alaska oil pipeline.

Cracks in "wrinkled" sections at both ends of the 800-mile, $7.7 billion pipeline caused two oil spills in less than a week. What caused the wrinkles has not been determined.

The latest spill was found Friday by an Alyeska surveillance pilot near Pump Station 12, 65 miles north of the line's Valdez terminal.

The spill was found shortly after the Interior Department announced it planned to investigate the line due to an earlier leak which occurred in the Brooks Range.

The latest leak, a three-inch hairline crack, was clamped by company workers Saturday, said Alyeska's John Ratterman. However, about 300 barrels of oil escaped through the crack before it was repaired.

The flow of oil was not stopped while the Pump Station 12 crack received its temporary repairs. Ratterman said stopping the flow would have increased the pressure and the amount of oil spilled.

The Brooks Range spill was located June 10, 160 miles south of the oil-rich Prudhoe Bay field. A five-inch crack in a buckled section of pipe was determined to be the cause of the spill.

Alyeska said an estimated 1,500 barrels of crude seeped out at Alligun Pass. But the state Department of Environmental Conservation said the estimate is about 2,400 barrels.

The crack was temporarily repaired, and oil began flowing 64 hours later.

Both wrinkles were found in buried sections of the line's 48-inch steel pipe.

Ratterman said engineers were at Alligun Pass, Pump Station 12 and Anchorage searching for the answers to the cause of the wrinkles.

"We don't know if the problems are construction related or not," he said. "They may be."

Water Heater Dedication Planned At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — If all goes according to schedule, shortly after lunch on Wednesday President Carter will walk out to a White House roof and become the first president to dedicate a water heater.

Standing somewhere over the Cabinet Room or the nearby press quarters, he will make a short speech about solar energy. It will mark the month-old operation of a $28,000 collection of glass panels, pipes and tanks that make up the White House sun-powered energy system.

About the same time, Carter will also unveil a presidential message detailing his solar energy program and the direction he wants the nation to take in developing this alternative source of energy.

The new solar-powered system began operating about a month ago. It was designed to heat the water supply of the building's west wing, which houses the Oval Office, the Cabinet Room, the White House mess and several staff offices.

According to Hugh Carter, the president's cousin and special assistant for administration, "It's been operating as it should."

A mixture of water and chemicals is heated by the sun as the fluid passes through glass panels on the roof over the low-slung west wing. The mixture flows into machinery in the basement, where the heat is used to warm the water supply, kept completely separate from the chemicals.

If solar power is insufficient to warm the water for the west wing taps, the existing old-fashioned steam system is used to bring up the temperature.

When the solar system was designed, there were predictions it would save $1,000 annually in energy costs. It has been in operation for too short a period to determine if this estimate was accurate, Hugh Carter said. Nor could he provide figures for the entire west wing energy bill.

Conventional energy problems, rather than bad weather or difficulties with the esoteric solar energy machinery, forced at least one postponement of the unofficial "sun day" ceremony at the White House.

With gasoline and diesel fuel shortages becoming an increasing problem, the energy policy staff that was working on the solar message was tied up and could not prepare the document in time for the first target date last week.

"The same old set of bodies has been working around the clock," said one staff member, cautioning that Wednesday's ceremony could still be put off, although most of the work was done.

Carter's interest in solar energy has been clear for some time. But until he sought increased spending for solar energy in his budget proposals, most of the administration's public efforts in the area had been largely symbolic.

The first occurred minutes after his symbolic post-inaugural walk down Pennsylvania Avenue, when he viewed the inaugural parade from an enclosed, solar-heated reviewing stand. It turned out to be rather chilly.

A year ago, he stood on a rain-drenched hilltop outside Golden, Colo., and announced he would propose a sharp increase in solar energy funds. Key congressional committees had already made clear they wanted to fatten

Rescuers Find Two More Bodies In Wreckage

GRANGEVILLE, Idaho (AP) — Rescue crews have found two more bodies in the turbulent Selway River, bringing to nine the number of people known dead after a DC-3 crash in Nez Perce National Forest last week.

The bodies of Robert Cook, 20, Astoria, Wash., and Philip Leber, 23, Moscow, Idaho, were recovered Sunday, said forest spokesman Steve Waterman.

Only the pilot of the craft, Marvin "Whitey" Hachmeister, 51, Boise, remains unaccounted for. Two men aboard the ill-fated craft, on a trip from Grangeville to the Moose Creek Ranger Station, survived. A third man died before rescue crews could arrive.

Waterman said divers were to continue their week-long search today. In addition, recovery crews hoped to use a logging helicopter to retrieve some of the wreckage from the river.

Currents have been too strong and rapids too dangerous for divers to get to the debris.

Waterman said Hachmeister's body may have been trapped in the main fuselage of the craft, thought to be lodged under the wing section.

Bosworth Expected To Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Bosworth, director of the administration's Council on Wage and Price Stability, plans to resign within a few months and "return to academic life," says Alfred Kahn, President Carter's chief inflation adviser.

Bosworth, 36, selected by Carter in July 1977 to head the anti-inflation council, will leave government for personal reasons, not because of any disagreement with White House officials, Kahn said Sunday.

He said he knew of no firm Bosworth decision on when to leave, but added that "I've known ever since I came into the job last October that Mr. Bosworth had agreed originally to come on for a couple of years and then was anxious to return to academic life."

Bosworth was quoted in a recent interview with the Bureau of National Affairs, a business-oriented research firm, as saying mandatory wage and price con-

$25,000 Approved For Museum Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the name of creating jobs, the Commerce Department has approved a $25,000 federal grant to study the feasibility of building a Little League Museum and Hall of Fame in Williamsport, Pa., the site of the Little League World Series.

The Commerce Department said the feasibility study, approved as part of a federal job-creation program, will include market data to determine the museum's potential for attracting tourists to the central Pennsylvania region and determine the nature and size of the proposed museum complex.

Little League Inc. will provide $8,334 to complete the $33,334 total cost of the project, the department said. Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps approved the federal grant earlier this year.

trols could be a "potential option" next year if warranted by the nation's economic situation. Carter has said repeatedly that he opposes mandatory controls, and the remarks by Bosworth were disavowed by other administration officials.

"I'm not denying that there are people in the White House that get nervous when something comes out ... that seems to contradict what the president's views are," Kahn said. "But that certainly has nothing whatever to do with the likelihood of Barry Bosworth leaving, absolutely nothing at all."

Crime Line Successes Mount

Crime Line has exceeded expectations thus far, and with several cash awards already paid out with complete protection of the informant's identity, the results should get even better, said Mayor Dirk West.

West added that Crime Line has been responsible for the clearing of nine felonies from police records.

Detective Doyle Nelson, officer in charge of Crime Line, reports the line receives dozens of calls a day and that many leads are being checked out on a great variety of felonies.

Nelson said that leads were being checked out on both crimes publicized in the Avalanche-Journal and crimes not appearing in the Crime Line stories.

West also pointed out that many citizens have contributed tax-free donations to the program, which are used for the rewards. However, the city council has authorized a portion of the donations for the purchase of "crime eye" cameras, which will become a part of the Crime

Line Inc. program.

Rewards totalling $17,900 have now been offered, and a list of the contributors will be released periodically. Persons may send donations to Crime Line Inc., P.O. Box 2000, Lubbock.

Persons having information on any felony crime may call Crime Line at 741-1000. The caller's identity is guaranteed secret.

Teachers Learn During Workshops

By LISA PAIKOWSKI
Avalanche-Journal Staff

In the physical education area of Ballenger School a group of teachers equipped with blindfolds and canes discovers the world of blind students.

In a small classroom of a city church, educators focus on a problem as their tapping fingers follow an Oriental technique in math calculation.

Teachers from a 20-county area have converged on Lubbock this summer to participate in a variety of workshops designed to improve teaching skills.

For periods ranging from a day to three weeks, teachers become students in one or more of the 36 workshops sponsored by Region 17 of the Education Service Center.

The Lubbock-based center coordinates short courses that fulfill the state requirement that teachers continue their professional training during their teaching years.

Workshops this year vary from chisnabop — a Korean math discipline — and calligraphy to the use of instructional media, such as films and slides, and special education.

Workshop teachers or consultants are recruited from school districts and universities in and outside the region.

Preregistration enrollment for this summer's workshops is about 1,240, said Inez Moore, information director for the Region 17 and a drug education consultant for the center.

"We plan for a minimum of 1,000 (students) every summer," Mrs. Moore said.

Although workshop coordinators, teachers and participants admit most take courses to satisfy training requirements, many take additional classes after getting involved with the program.

Mrs. Moore said the brief training sessions especially are attractive to teachers "who have families and don't have the time to spend to go to college. The casualized sessions are popular."

Lubbock teachers may take a university course or participate in district-approved workshops to satisfy their training requirements.

Robert Knight, personnel director for Lubbock public schools, said teachers with bachelor's degrees must take six hours of training in the teaching or education field every four years. He added that 15 hours equal one semester hour of university credit.

Workshops are worth 15 to 45 clock hours, and some that are conducted in conjunction with Texas Tech also provide university semester hours.

Despite the crash-course nature of workshops, participating students and consultants say they are valuable.

"I've learned something to take back to the classroom," said Lubbock teacher Lacy Garcia, who participated in a workshop to learn how to make teaching more of an understanding skill and to be more responsive to students.

Added Vee Hisey of the same class, "It's made me stop and evaluate myself. It made me realize how far I am from where I should be."

Dr. Donald J. Merki, course instructor, said he structured the session so that the teachers could take back to their classrooms the activities and learning skills they experienced in the workshop.

"By experiencing this kind of teaching, they are more apt to try some of these things out with their students," he said. "I'm not only interested in them making the classroom a more human environment but also in making more effective ways to bring about learning."

Mrs. Moore said the participating teachers evaluate the workshops and "you can tell from the evaluations that you've given the teachers some help."

Several of the consultants said they are aware of differences between instructing teachers and students, but one noticed a similarity in the two groups.

"It's (teaching teachers) very similar to teaching students because they seem to have the same fears and feelings," said Artice Tate, chisnabop instructor.

Added Dr. Louadah Waggoner, coordinator of special education workshops, "(Teachers) know where their skills are lacking. It's a different thing than to teach students. Teachers are aware of what they need to know."

She said that the teachers in her workshops "come because they want to know."

Mrs. Moore said the workshops downplay the lecture aspect of education and instead focus on participation. Except for the university-directed classes, students are not tested and receive no grades.

The workshops are planned during the fall with assistance of teacher advisory committees.

She stressed that no fees are charged for workshops except those covering the cost of materials.

A $500 reward is being offered for this week's Spotlight Crime.

Police are seeking leads to the aggravated rape of a woman, which occurred May 10, 1979 at 12:20 a.m. at the victim's home.

The victim told police she was asleep but was awakened by a man standing over her bed. She said the man placed his hand over her mouth and raped her while holding a three-inch blade knife in his other hand. Reports show the man held the knife at the victim's throat and on her right cheek. The woman said the man's face was covered with a bandana.

Reports indicate the suspect entered and exited through the window in the victim's bedroom on the south side of the residence. Police found dust marks on the window ledge.

The victim described the suspect as a dark-skinned white male or light-skinned Mexican-American male, 6 foot tall, weighing 160 to 170 pounds with dark hair covering most of his ears. She said the man was wearing a dark shirt, possibly dark brown, jeans with flared legs, and no belt. The woman said the shirt was short-sleeved with snap-on buttons and that she was not sure whether the man was wearing shoes.

A $300 reward is being offered for information leading to the apprehension of burglars who took four bottles of Ritalin when they broke into a business on June 3, 1979 at 6:40 a.m. at 5009 University Ave. Police, who answered an alarm down at the business, found the north window had been broken out. The value of the missing items and damage was $85.

A $300 reward is being offered for information on the theft of a car taken from 1917 Texas Ave. sometime between May 11, 1979 and May 14, 1979. The owner reported the car, a light powder blue, two-door 1979 Buick Regal, stolen to police on May 24, 1979, saying they had waited that long to be sure the car was stolen. The car, which bears 1979 Texas plates SVD 432, has medium blue seats. The keys to the car also are missing.

A $300 reward is being offered for information on the burglary of a residence at 4504 61st St. on June 3, 1979. The missing items include an Admiral 15" color TV, Model SK13C68, Serial No. HO294825, one wedding ring with one large diamond and four small diamonds on the other side set on yellow gold, $75 in cash and three ladies watch necklaces.

Police found entry had been made through a bedroom window on the northeast side of the house. The items taken and damage to the window was $1,475.

PANEL, SUBPANEL TO MEET WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee and a Senate Health subcommittee, both headed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., will hold a public hearing Tuesday to study the health effects of radiation in the atmosphere.

Specifically, the hearing will focus on radiation's impact on troops who participated in ground maneuvers during the nation's atmospheric testing programs of the 1950s and 1960s in Nevada and Utah, workers at naval shipyards and miners working the uranium mines in the Rocky Mountain region.

Evangelist Roloff Asks Homes To Relinquish State Licenses

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Evangelist Lester Roloff, preparing for what may be the last battle in his six-year legal war with the state, has called for all church youth homes to turn in their state licenses.

"Let's all get in violation together," the fiery preacher said at a Sunday night prayer meeting in his People's Church.

An Austin state judge has given Roloff until Tuesday to seek state licenses required for the three South Texas youth homes. But the 64-year-old preacher, who has been jailed before for failure to have licenses, says he will not obey the judge.

"When they put a license on the church, they put a license on the pastor," he said.

WHAT HEAT? — The mercury hit 100 degrees in Lubbock Sunday afternoon, but Lynsey Mitchel appears not one bit fazed by the scorching weather as she splashes happily at poolside with a favorite companion. But then, when you're 20 months old, the annoyances that irritate grownups just don't seem too important. Lynsey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Mitchel of 2101 16th St. (Staff Photo by Dennis Cope-land)

He told his followers that the resistance will be marked by song — not by violence.

"We'll put to rest any thoughts of violence. There'll be none," he said.

He said the court order that may close the homes is "murder for the hopes of these young people." He said there about 400 youths in his homes.

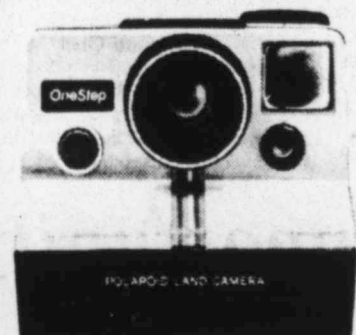

"If their plan should succeed, you put one thing down. We did not die a natural death, we were killed," he said. But the irrepressible Roloff maintained that his faith in the Lord will keep the homes open.

He talked about Noah and the ark. "He was outnumbered. So are we. But 30 days after that first clap of thunder, he was in the majority," he said.

FOR APPEARANCE, RUGGED CONSTRUCTION, COACHMEN EXCELS

Pharr Trailer Sales-Service Sets Special Coachmen Price

Pharr Trailer Sales & Service wants you to enjoy a vacation this summer and for seasons to come.

And Pharr is doing something about it... holding the prices of RV (recreational vehicle) units to a level that makes sense... and savings.

As example:
A limited-time special is posted now on the Coachmen 17½-ft. Cadet dual-axle trailer at a marked-down price of $4,995.

This fully self-contained, functional and attractive unit, weighs only 2,800 pounds, enabling its towing by even the compacts!

Built in Olney (Tex.) by the renowned Coachmen firm, the Cadet is available in a variety of floor plans, with several of these now on the lot at Pharr's, 1702 Clovis Road in Lubbock (at the Amarillo Highway-Clovis Highway "Y" on Avenue Q.)

Cadets are designed for value-minded families who need top value as well as dependable comfort and quality.

The entire trailer is decorator designed. All draperies are color coordinated and are made of easy-to-clean stain-resistant, flame-retardant material.

Key features include work-saving kitchens, interiors that don't cramp one's style, practical and home-style

Finest Construction

Coachmen quality construction involves totally integrated construction: sidewall, roof and floor framing is glued and mechanically fastened to the wall paneling, ceiling panel and one-piece sub-floor for a strong overall structure. House-type full fiberglass insulation is stuffed and stapled throughout. The aluminum exterior is .024 gauge aluminum with painted accent stripes for attractive appearance and minimum maintenance.

The tandem wide track Kelsey Hayes running gear with four-wheel electric brakes affords stability and safety, and the five-lug wheel rims fit all standard wheel changers. And the features go on and on.

Coachmen excels; after all, it is the world's largest full-line manufacturer of recreational vehicles.

"Consumer designed, Coachmen built" has become a motto well recognized for its truth.

Pharr also stocks Apollo motor homes, Silver Streak trailers and Coachmen "pop-up" trailers among its versatile selection of better RV units.

So... see Pharr now, for a new unit at marked-down price, for accessories to make for greater enjoyment of any trip, or for any of the services at Pharr's.

(Not only is a large stock of travel units maintained at the Lubbock Pharr location, but those living in the Odessa-Midland area are invited to rely upon the Pharr facility at 1820 E. 8th St. in Odessa, managed by Jerry Pharr.

"Ask the man who owns a Pharr unit!"

"Why settle for less than travel assistance by Lubbock Travel, Inc.?"

"Actually, travel advantages at least effort on your part is the function and assurance at Lubbock Travel, Inc., phone 792-3237, at 4214 50th St. in Lubbock.

"And there is absolutely no charge to you for these professional services!"

Jean Bachman, owner and director, is glad to explain how the firm is able to offer special services that combine maximum enjoyment of the destination, wherever in the world, at costs less than likely one has believed possible.

Low Costs Cited

Speaking of costs:
"Did you realize that Lubbock Travel can arrange for you a Bahama package, for seven days, starting as low as $289? Or Jamaica, from $349!"

Special Three-Day Opportunity Aailed At Sonotone-Lubbock

"Today, Tuesday or Wednesday could be a very special day for you!"

One June 18 (today) and June 19, 20, Charles Babula, factory-trained representative of the world-renowned Starkey Laboratories, will be at Sonotone-Lubbock, 2318 Broadway for counseling and advice.

Louise Bills, certified hearing aid audiologist and manager of Sonotone-Lubbock, has been most enthusiastic regarding Babula's availability to the Lubbock area on these days. He has 34 years of experience and is a specialist in analyzing nerve-type (sensori-neural) hearing losses.

"Mr. Babula will counsel with you expert confidential advice on how to improve your hearing and understanding and provide a thorough audiometric test and evaluation.

During his visit, Mr. Babula will provide the following services free:

(1) A complete test of one's hearing aid with the Fonix electronic digital computer hearing aid analyzer;

(2) A thorough analysis and evaluation of your hearing and understanding problem with the latest electronic testing equipment; and

(3) Clean and adjust your hearing aid for maximum performance.

By Appointment

"This service is available on an appointment basis only. So don't delay; call now to Sonotone-Lubbock at 762-5469 for your personal and confidential appointment with Mr. Babula," is the invitation of Louise Bills.

"In the past five years, Starkey Labs has become the world's largest manufacturer of all-in-the-ear aids," Mrs. Bills emphasizes, adding: "Their phenomenal growth is due to the proper fit of each custom-ordered aid to the shape of your ear and your hearing loss. They and we are so confident that you will be satisfied that you will receive a full refund within 30 days if you are not completely satisfied. So, you have nothing to lose and much to gain by coming in to meet Mr. Babula!"

"If you hear certain sounds but don't always understand what others are saying, it is reasonable to believe that Mr. Babula may be able to help you. You owe it to yourself to find out if acoustic amplification will bring you back into the world of sound. There is no charge or obligation for this valuable service."

In keeping with the Sonotone-Lubbock record of continuing service, Louise Bills and Ralph Huntington, long-time staffmember, have just completed a special continuing education study at South Padre Island sponsored by the Texas and the national hearing aid societies.

"Professionalism with a human touch" at Sonotone-Lubbock has earned appreciation of customers throughout the area, for years and years! Louise and Ralph have been of tremendous service, literally making life richer for hundreds.

"Can you benefit, too, by availing yourself of these services?"

"If you have a hearing problem or suspect that you may have one, that visit or call you make to Sonotone-Lubbock may be the most important one you will ever make. And we strongly urge that you call now to secure an appointment with Charles Babula who, remember, will be at Sonotone-Lubbock early next week, June 18 through June 20."

"The location: Sonotone-Lubbock, independent multi-line hearing aid dealer at 2318 Broadway, phone 762-5469."

FIREPLACE CORRECTLY HINTS OF QUALITY — Imagine beautiful appointments throughout and spacious 1,680 sq. ft. of floor space in the popular Model 608 double-wide A-1 Mobile Home Unit! Myra Matthews, sales staff member at A-1, is pictured here and is happy to relate the unit's features including two baths, three bedrooms, bar, dining room, full carpeting, option of furnished or unfurnished, etc. On special orders, carpeting can be selected to match the preferred decor. Though the pictured unit is totally electric, it also is available with gas.

A-1 Mobile Homes Explains Concept Earning Record As 'People Pleasers'

For quality in new and used mobile homes, in the Lubbock area it is A-1 Mobile Homes, North University at Loop 289.

"After all, folks have found that 'The People Pleasers' is more than a motto alone at A-1 Mobile Homes; it is the firm's whole way of doing business!"

With volume as the key to A-1's success and cost savings to the customer, the Texas corporation is the largest volume dealer in its field in all the state (with 10 locations including Lubbock and the Midland home office).

No Newcomer
Serving since 1969, A-1 has been in Lubbock some five years, with longtime Lubbock resident Gary Henkel as general manager here.

A-1 has a tremendous stock of mobile homes.

Has Own Crews
The firm maintains its own service crew.

There is an A-1 Mobile Home of the size and price to meet any need. About 30 units are on the lot here at all times, with others available on quick notice. Single and double-wide units are stocked, with up to 1,876 sq. feet space.

All are fully furnished and draped. And 12 and 15-year financing is available! FHA, VA and conventional loans are among purchase options.

Free delivery set-up and anchoring of purchased mobile homes within a 150 mile radius of Lubbock is afforded! Four servicemen and three sales persons are on the job to assist the shopper and purchaser.

A-1 is open six days a week and other times by appointment. Regular hours are 8 a.m. until 8:30 p.m., Mondays through Fridays; with an earlier 7 p.m. closing on Saturday.

A-1 carries various lines of mobile homes, and sells Texas' largest manufactured mobile homes.

With its large operation and its history of quality and customer-considering innovations, A-1 takes pride in "offering more for the dollar."

"May we explain in detail our products and services, proving that we are the people who care? We look forward to your visit and will do all possible to assist in your own mobile home preference and need."

Catering Capabilities Among Vital Services At Mrs. Camp's

For pastries, cookies, cakes and all why consider less than Mrs. Camp's, 4005 34th St., phone 792-3243.

At Mrs. Camp's the delicious answer to every pastry need is present . . . for goodness any day and for the most elaborate of special occasions.

So, treat the children, family and friends to summer delights from Mrs. Camp's where every operation is for finest preparation, display and service related to superior bakery products.

"Did you realize that Mrs. Camp's Pastry (long the solution to every pastry need) offers a really outstanding catering service?"

Catering for all occasions including weddings, anniversaries, birthdays, graduations and other group events is readily available from Mrs. Camp's where the Catering Department gets full attention of a dedicated staff and ownership.

Imagine . . . everything for a complete wedding reception, including the most beautiful cakes ever, punch, nuts, finger sandwiches, mints, coffee, silver service, the complete bride's table, groom's table and guest book tables. Yes, complete to the glassware and silver, catering from Mrs. Camp's assures rightness in every detail.

David Yocum is the very capable manager of the department.

Charles and Frances Scarborough, owners of Mrs. Camp's, take special pride in the catering service they initiated some three years ago and which has been received in a gratifying manner.

Yocum and the long-known Mrs. Camp's ownership and staff invite inquiries for every reception need.

"We think you'll appreciate this service; call 792-2343 for details, or come by the attractive, spotless facility at 4005 34th St. where a large display hints of the completeness of the catering department."

Specializing in custom orders, Mrs. Camp's does "one job better," concentrating all efforts at this one location and this one field.

The custom party cakes, wedding cakes, anniversary cakes and many other products are not only the most delicious to be found, but they are veritable works of art. The skilled decorators create designs or use the customers' design in cakes for special occasions, baking and preparing on as little as one-day notice.

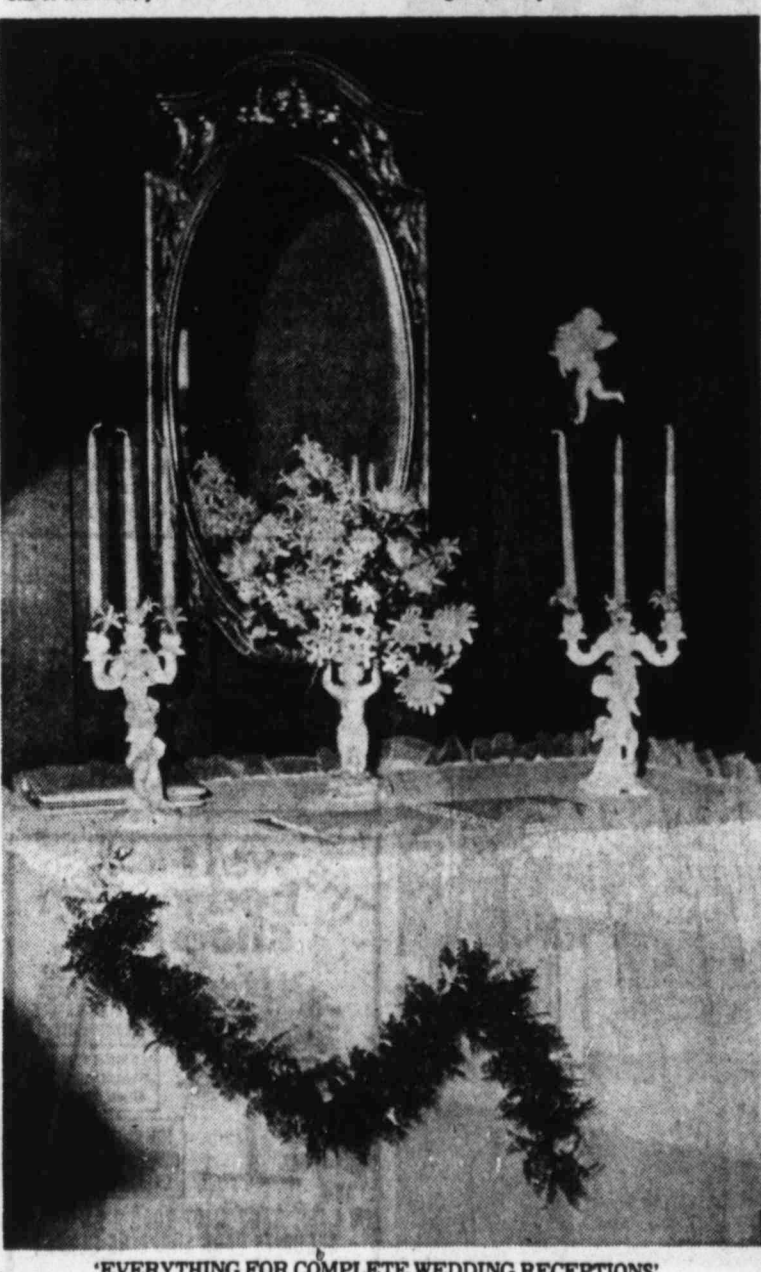

Only Pure Ingredients
Mrs. Camp's uses only pure ingredients in its many products.

Select from doughnuts, Danish rolls, French pastries, several varieties of Danish coffee cakes; and peanut brittle and divinity candy. Twenty-five varieties of cookies are prepared, with only pecans as nut ingredients.

All Mrs. Camp's products are baked and prepared right in the spotless kitchens of the facility.

Cakes and other bakery goodies are stocked in the cases at all times, and many decorative creations are in stock, sometimes eliminating need of special orders for a particular occasion.

Pies, cakes, tarts, etc., are the ultimate in goodness at Mrs. Camp's, open from 7:30 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays.

'CUSTOMIZING — WHY SETTLE FOR LESS?' Van Conversions, Seat Manufacturing Among Multiple Functions At Horizon

"The 1979 Gas Mileage Guide, which is prepared by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and published and distributed by the U.S. Department of Energy, reports the family van is capable of equal or better fuel economy than 61 per cent of all compact cars tested!"

This is the word from Horizon Van Mfg., Inc., production conversion company at 2316 4th St., phone 765-8795, in Lubbock.

As a home-owned and home-operated seating manufacturer and van customizer, Horizon Vans performs quite a service for area dealers and an assistance for "do-it-yourselfers."

The firm, actively owned and operated by Dave Bloys and Greg Wheatley, has experienced a most healthy growth since its founding here three years ago.

Added Fields of Service

In fact, the reception to the products and workmanship at Horizon Vans has been so enthusiastic that the owners are now in process of adding another major service:

Horizon Vans is getting into the manufacture of household furnishings (sotas, love seats, chairs including office chairs, etc.), specializing in apartment furniture.

Also, rather new at Horizon Vans, is pick-up conversion and accessories for both mini pick-ups and the full size vehicles.

Also, T-tops for pickups are expected to be stocked within days.

The seating manufactured by Horizon Vans is of exceptional attractiveness and utility, with vinyl, velour and tweed finishes available, and all meeting or exceeding the Department of Transportation standards, Bloys and Wheatley emphasize.

Serving a trade area of some 150-mile radius out of Lubbock, Horizon Vans especially invites one to check with his or her favorite dealer in the region for van options and standard plans available from the Lubbock company.

For Active Families

Attention is called to the pictured '79 Highway Star, designed for the family on the move. This "go anywhere, do anything" conversion is said perfect for a vacation across the country or a shopping trip across town.

Among the quality features is elegant wood paneling over full 3 1/2-in. insulation; plywood subfloor with plush nylon sculptured shag carpet installed over full 1-in. foam pad; AM-FM 8-track stereo with four high-quality speakers; two pillow-back captain chairs; two pillow style cocktail chairs; pillow style sofa bed; two dual aircraft swivel lights; plenty of storage with large cabinet designed to house ice box, if desired; formica top double decker table; outside tire carrier and cover, and more. ("Because of our efforts to constantly improve our product, specifications are subject to change without notice.")

"Doesn't Horizon Vans have a place in your own plans and life style? We think so and welcome the opportunity of giving full details at our Lubbock headquarters or assisting through dealers throughout the area. Let us explain further about travel cost savings and the conveniences of our conversions. We want you to know the facts."

Touch Of Class Stocked For Year-Around Customer Benefit

It is true that the Touch of Class is a veritable "special-occasion bonanza!" But it is more:

Customers have found that whatever the occasion at hand, Touch of Class seems designed just for that need. It now is being increasingly recognized that this unique Terrace Shopping Center shop is a "great find" for decor items and quality items wanted for one's own home or office enjoyment, in any season. It isn't just a place to visit when special occasions loom but it cannot be beat for that situation, many emphasize!

Sometimes the name of a business so correctly conveys its type of operation that one cannot imagine any other name applying! Such a shop is the Touch of Class, at 4902 34th St., in the Terrace Shopping Center.

Quality Lines

Hallmark cards and gifts are noted in the discriminating stock, with gifts and cards for all ages and at a price to please. A very good selection of beautiful music boxes is now displayed, together with Small World scratch pads and check book covers that are both functional and so attractive.

Wide Selection

Whether the need is for selection from the complete line of Hallmark cards, stationery, party goods, albums, posters, candles, puzzles, etc., the search can happily culminate at Touch of Class.

Quality lines are the fast rules, including Fenton glass, Russell Stover candies, Kamar stuffed animals, Hagan-naker miniatures and more.

The Touch of Class is owned by Gary and Leola Chevalier, with Leola actively operating the attractive shop. Leola, a longtime city resident and a South Plains native, has years of experience in the field, and this knowledge is most evident in the selection presented, with customer consideration and customer appreciation foremost.

Free gift wrap with purchases at Touch of Class is an appreciated feature. Master Charge and Visa are welcomed.

"For a new experience in pleasant browsing and selecting, we hope to see you soon at Touch of Class in the Terrace Shopping Center, 4902 34th St."

Business & Industrial Review

Dubose Provides Full-Service Garage, Machine Shop In City

A major assist in vacation driving preparation is afforded at Dubose Automotive & Machine Shop, 1520 19th St., phone 765-8429, where "satisfaction" is the foremost consideration.

For a limited time a very special low price is arranged on installation of AC-DeLo shocks in the garage unit of the Dubose firm. Good shocks are quite a safety and economic factor, saving on tire wear, for example.

Check with Dubose now for the cost of putting these new shocks on your own unit; and also consider the expert tune-up services that contribute to the Dubose popularity.

Tune-Ups, Too

(Now would be an excellent time to see Dubose for tune-up to add further to the auto's efficiency and economy for summer driving.)

Offering a full-service garage and machine shop at one convenient location,

Dubose emphasizes that "our goal is to satisfy every customer, providing quality parts and service at least expense. We do what is needed, no more. If we find your auto needs additional repairs, we contact you before doing more than you expected."

Isn't this the type shop one can appreciate? Major and minor tune-ups are a specialty and are guaranteed for 6,000 miles or six months with limited warranty.

Mr. and Mrs. Dubose (Doug and Nancy) opened the machine shop in January of 1977, assuming ownership of the garage soon afterward. Both are lifelong Lubbock and immediate area residents, and Doug has literally been in the mechanical field all his life. They are the kind of folks on whom one can depend, folks to enjoy knowing and patronizing.

Capable staffmembers are in the machine shop and garage. Not only does Dubose do work for the individual, but also for other garages and dealerships.

The automotive machine shop can handle any machine work for auto, truck and irrigation engines.

This shop specializes in steel sleeved Vega short blocks, being among the first to offer this rebuilding service.

Dubose also has the ability to bore small cylinders with its new equipment, enabling boring of lawn mower cylinders, motorcycles, etc.

Other services include valve grinding, valve guide knurling and valve seat and guides replacement; resurfacing of heads and engine blocks, engine block boring, piston pin fitting, rod resizing, vat cleaning, brake drum grinding, disc rotor grinding, crankshaft exchange, Vega short blocks and valve work, Kwik-way bead blasting, and more.

"Won't you visit us at first opportunity? Remember, we guarantee your satisfaction at Dubose Automotive & Machine Shop, 1520 19th St."

Earl Ray Music Enables Easy Solution In Musical Progress

"If you are the parent or other near relative of a band student, likely you know first hand of the valued services and products of the Earl Ray Music Company, the 'South Plains' leading band house, located in Briercrest Center, Lubbock."

For decades, Earl Ray has served as a firm sincerely interested in your welfare, in seeing that the student or other musically-inclined person is set with the best in instruments... whether purchase, rentals or repairs are involved.

"Trading up" is a very popular program presented by Earl Ray, making for ease in securing a quality instrument to best serve in the progress one has made in any musical pursuit.

Service does not end with the rental or sale at this leading band house. Earl Ray maintains the largest band instrument repair department on the South Plains, with fulltime specialists on the job.

Reliance upon the Earl Ray Music Co. can solve (and easily so) the many situations and every problem for the music minded.

Long a standby as "the South Plains leading Band House," the Earl Ray Music Co., at 5302 Ave. Q in the Briercrest Shopping Center, pledges the finest in instrument repair and sales, even leasing and trade-up, it is emphasized.

For more than a quarter century of being known and trusted by band directors, parents and bandmen throughout the area, Earl Ray Music Co. early in 1974 moved to the large modern home it now enjoys — a facility that has met with exceptional response from customers who appreciate the added conveniences and still-fine service at Earl Ray's.

Selling, servicing and trade-rent-lease of fine instrument lines still is the whole business of Earl Ray. Whether selection of Conn, Vito, Selmer, Bundy, LeBlanc, Ludwig, Bach, Olds, Gemeinhardt, etc., quality is assured.

More and more students throughout Lubbock and the entire area are learning the advantages of "trading up" to a better instrument at Earl Ray Music Co. As the students progress in their musical careers, the "trading up" is especially advantageous.

"Whether or not you purchased your present band instrument from Earl Ray, they will be glad to give you a price you are sure to appreciate with trade on a better one."

Storkie's Maternity And Baby Shop Adds New Sizes, Tells One-Week Offer

Storkie's Maternity and Baby Shop owners Faye Spoth and Genny Judd say "thank you, Lubbock, for making this your favorite specialty shop... we're excited because you are excited!"

Storkie's is located at 34th Street at Avenue H.

"We want to tell you about the scads of smart looking fashions for the expectant mother, fashions that can be found in this most attractive specialty shop in the Family Park Shopping Center, next door to Anthony's."

Storkie's Maternity and Baby Shop can meet the needs in the maternity section from size 4-24. If you are small, large or in-between, we at Storkie's can help you with your wardrobe.

"We have pretty 'dressy' dresses in wrinkle-resistant silesta for those special summer occasions, and a good selection of vacation needs such as jeans, shorts, swimwear, tops and sundresses to help make yours a fun summer."

There are robes, nursing gowns and nursing smock tops from which to choose at Storkie's.

Added Sizes

In the baby department there are darling fashions for your little ones, size

0-24 months baby boys, and 0-24 months baby girls... and something new is being added: a dress-up corner for toddler girls! We are now carrying up to 4T in little girls Sunday best and long party dresses.

There's always something exciting going on at Storkie's, and we invite you to come and get acquainted and join those that are saying "I can't get over the prices at Storkie's; they are so reasonable, and such cute styles, not only for mother but for baby!"

Special Discount Offer

"If you haven't tried Storkie's as yet, resolve to do so right away! We are going to extend our special get-acquainted offer to you this week."

"Bring this story or the Storkie's ad in this section for a 10 per cent discount on any purchase this week, Monday through Thursday, June 18 through June 21!"

The atmosphere is friendly, personal service and help is provided by Faye and Genny. It is an unhurried and a relaxed atmosphere.

No-charge layaways are provided, and Master Charge and Visa purchases are welcomed. Gift wrap service is provided.

(Don't forget the special 10 per cent discount offer as outlined above; come on in!)

House Clinic Relates Endura Siding Value, Other Benefits

"Did you realize just how very much the House Clinic can do for you this year... in assisting your budget, in energy savings and in overall beauty and comfort of your home?"

Whether the need is Endura steel siding from Arrowhead, overhang and gable problems, or even cabinets for anywhere in the home, the House Clinic at 1922 Ave. E, phone 747-4436, can be valuable service.

House Clinic can cover your complete outside walls with quality Endura Vinyl-coated steel siding (manufactured from inland steel in Minneapolis, Minn.) this is especially designed to go over any outside surface of the home, regardless if it is stucco, asbestos or even brick.

Options Can Benefit
The turnkey job includes insulation behind this siding, and storm windows, too, as optional benefits especially desirable for comfort and qualifying for tax credit. That's right, tax credits are available; see the House Clinic for details.

Buying now can avoid the anticipated early-summer increase in steel costs.

As added assistance, the House Clinic is now giving one the choice of 10,000 S & H or Gold Bond stamps with all complete jobs!

Aren't these convincing reasons for letting the House Clinic work for you for a better summer and for seasons and years to come? We think so.

"Endura is the first steel siding in the industry that is guaranteed against hail," the folks at House Clinic emphasize, inviting inquiry about the special benefits and provisions of this guarantee.

Long In Field

"The House Clinic has over 85 years of combined experience on its staff; so you know you can depend upon them to get the job done, right."

House Clinic is the exclusive distributor in this area for Endura Steel, as well as complete overhang covers manufactured by the same reliable company.

"Stop in and visit at 1922 Ave. E. in Lubbock for complete details on how to eliminate painting, increase property value and save on utilities.

Or call collect to 747-4436 for more information.

All the products at House Clinic are manufactured in the United States. Be sure to learn of the hail and materials guarantees that are added benefit... at House Clinic, 1922 Ave. E.

Gary's Frozen Foods Products Label Sure Solution When Goodness Desired

"Have you noticed how with every sunny, balmy day the urge to picnic seems irresistible? And how very good those picnic meals can taste! And how much enjoyment there is for the entire family and for friends!"

Delicious, nutritious meat products from Gary's Frozen Foods can make each of these meals "something special."

(It is no secret that folks for years have depended upon these products, not only for out-of-doors time, but also as ingredients for nutritious meals for the student, as example.)

Gary's Bar-B-Que Flavored Delight is one of the most popular of the Gary's family of products.

"Shouldn't you find out for yourself how this and other of this Lubbock firm's fine products fit into your menu for the finest in nutritious food? Discover how Gary's provides the best in bar-b-que, corn dogs, super dogs, custom cooking and more. (Yes, Gary's is glad to custom prepare meat, throughout the year.)

Or one may simply discover that the Gary's Frozen Food label in a favorite grocery or supermarket opens the way to variety and nutritious goodness.

Select from Gary's Bar-b-Que Flavored Delight, Gary's Corn Dogs, Gary's Bar-B-Que Beef brisket in bar-b-que sauce, and Gary's super dogs. Whether the occasion is a festive meal, a Sunday dinner or even a backyard snack, picnic or a birthday party, one can profit from dependence upon the home-owned, home-operated Gary's Frozen Food firm and its products.

The Bar-B-Que Flavored Delight is newest of the Gary's family of labels, and it is oh-so-good. A beef, beef steak and textured vegetable protein product, it is a new experience in delicious eating. Keep it frozen, and just heat to eat.

"Check Your Store

The 10-pack Corn Dogs have met with exceptional response.

Consisting of batter mix around a frankfurter, partially cooked in pure vegetable oil, these, too, are easy to prepare. Simply thaw, remove from bag, place in 375-degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes or deep fat fry.

Mrs. B's Sets Season Instruction Schedule

Workshops and classes in the summer schedule at Mrs. B's Arts, Crafts & Gifts are most impressive.

A very exciting program in desired workshops and classes has been announced for the new season, and early inquiry and registration is advised to be sure of participation in these opportunities at Mrs. B's, 5105 29th Drive, phone 797-5850, in Lubbock.

Charles Lyles, widely recognized artist from Hereford, will conduct a two-day-workshop Thursday and Friday, June 21-22, (this week) so immediate advance registration is necessary.

Lyles will conduct the workshop around the "house and mill" oil on 16 x 20 canvas, with both a day and night schedule arranged. Cost for the two days' instruction is a modest $25.

Lyles' latest book, "Landscapes to Draw and Paint, Vol. IV," is now available, stocked at Mrs. B's.

MODERN

Young, Growing Firm Accorded Salute From Modern Chevrolet

Modern Chevrolet, long a leader in Lubbock, this week extends salute to one of the city's newest businesses, Sun Freightway, Inc. and its owners James Thomas and Jim Morris.

"Sun Freightway, a new, progressive trucking firm headquartered in Lubbock, recently took delivery (as shown in the accompanying picture) of two new Chevrolet Bruin diesel trucks from Modern Chevrolet, adding to its expanding fleet of highway tractors."

Sun Freightway, Inc., is a general commodities motor carrier operating out of Lubbock and Amarillo into eastern New Mexico. It is the first new general commodities motor carrier company to be issued authority for this area in the past 20 years, it is reported.

The firm has been in operation for 10 months and employs 12 people in Lubbock.

Terminals are maintained in Lubbock and Amarillo; in Clovis, Portales, Hobbs, Carlsbad and Roswell, New Mexico.

Thomas has 35 years experience in the trucking industry and is a member of the Texas Motor Transportation Association.

Morris has nine years tenure in the industry and is a member of the Delta Nu Alpha transportation fraternity, Transportation Club of Lubbock and the Greater Lubbock Rotary Club.

"Modern Chevrolet is proud to congratulate this progressive company, wishing it every success. We are proud to note the firm's purchase of these two more Chevrolet trucks, units that can greatly contribute to efficient, economical and expanding operation."

Caprock Kirby, Across From Furr's, Proven By Decades Of Area Service

"If you don't buy here, you may be paying too much!"

"For value, for the finest in home maintenance equipment, for a firm that 'lays it on the line, exactly like it is,' one can turn with confidence to Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Sides and staff at Caprock Kirby, 3505 34th St., just across from Furr's Family Center.

Caprock Kirby is no newcomer, no fly-by-night. Sides has been distributing Kirby since back in 1947, and he knows his business, he knows a good product, he knows service and he respects the customer's preferences, needs and pocket-book!

"Over the years, a lot of experience is gained in every phase of the business, and our claims and products have been tested and tried hundreds of times. It all stands up if J.R. Sides is concerned." Sides, together with his wife, personally owns and operates Caprock Kirby at the west 34th Street location, featuring the complete Kirby line.

Advantages Defined

Aside from the product's advantages, look at these other considerations:

(1) "You can't beat our prices; we don't let anyone undersell us if we know about it."
(2) "All you pay for to have a Kirby repaired with us are the parts. There is no labor charge here on Kirby products. We mean just that . . . we charge for parts only and they are made available at a true, non-inflated price. No matter where you purchase parts for a Kirby, we invite you to check and see if you are paying the true retail price. We are strong at Caprock Kirby on going right down the line with true representations and best in service."

(3) Caprock Kirby sells rebuilt Kirbys at a saving, and with a one-year guarantee. A good stock presently is on hand.

Caprock Kirby repairs all makes of vacuum cleaners, also trading for any make.

Many repairs can be made "while you wait," and most are on a one-day service basis.

Home Demonstrations
Home demonstrations of Kirby units, including the sensational new Classic III model, is without obligation.

Shampoos are among the accessories and aids stocked, with the Super Upkeep spot remover recommended as "the best there is."

No-Roach Easy To Use, Effective For Months

Some people never have the neighbors in . . . and it is understandable!

Who wants to take a chance of the neighbor spotting a cockroach flitting across a counter, or down a drain? So it is that thousands of housewives, all over America, never join a Kaffee Klatch, because they know they can never take their turns having the girls in.

Or can they?
Of course they can. All they have to do is discover Johnston's No-Roach . . . the sure-fire answer to cockroach problems, not to mention ants . . . and silverfish . . . and spiders . . . etc.

No-Roach is the household insecticide that keeps the promise of its name. The seeming magic about No-Roach is the ease with which it is used.

Just brush it on anywhere that roaches or other crawling pests may assemble: across doorways, windowsills and baseboards; in cupboards and along the edges of kitchen cabinets. No-Roach dries to an invisible shield that is colorless and odorless.

"All the time you are serving coffee to the neighbors, No-Roach is killing cockroach eggs back in the nest . . . 'cause every roach (or insect of any kind) that crosses No-Roach, picks it up on its feet and takes it home."

Do the neighborly thing. Serve the ladies on the block a cup of coffee in a roach-free kitchen . . . thanks to Johnston's No-Roach, available at Furr's, Safeway, Piggly Wiggly, United, Bylow, Brook's and all grocery stores, distributed by Affiliated and Winn Dixie, Ft. Worth.

Repairs Will Close Library Bookmobile

The Lubbock City-County Library Bookmobile will be out of service for an extended period for major repairs.

Scheduled stops Monday through Friday at 11th Street and Slide Road, 83rd Street and Indiana Avenue, 66th Street and Indiana Avenue and at New Deal have been cancelled, said Library Director Bill Stewart.

Persons with overdue books should return them to the Mahon Library at 1306 9th St. or the Godeke Branch Library at 2011 19th St.

No fines will be charged to bookmobile patrons who return overdue books by July 15, Stewart added.

Prosecution Intends To Play Estes Tapes

DALLAS (AP) — Jurors are expected to once again don the special headsets that last week gave them an earful of the life convicted con man Billie Sol Estes has led since his 1971 parole.

Federal prosecutors are relying heavily on 29 hours of secretly recorded tapes and the testimony of an undercover agent in their fraud cases against Estes and former associate Raymond K. Horton.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Jim Rolfe has said he would give jurors the chance to hear more of the tapes today, hinting they contain more of the outrageous boasting heard Friday.

Estes' notorious reputation as a wheeler-dealer bogged down jury selection for two days last week, but the government opened its case at a full trial Friday with the introduction of the tapes, which bolster the testimony of the undercover agent.

Estes and Horton are charged with devising a scheme to bilk investors through mortgages on non-existent oil field steam cleaners and with conspiring to hide Estes' interest in several businesses. Estes also is charged with conspiring to conceal assets from the government.

Friday, Special Internal Revenue Service Agent Walt Perry testified that in the summer of 1977, he posed as a wealthy Chicago businessman looking for a slightly shady, yet profitable energy investment. What he really wanted was to catch Estes wheeling and dealing, a violation of Estes' 1971 parole.

Perry used the name Walter Placko, and seven other agents portrayed his attorney, accountant, chauffeur and associates. Perry said Estes offered to set up several investments in return for 50 percent of the profits.

"After all the trouble that I've ever been in, my credibility is good as hell," Estes said in a recording dated July 20, 1977. "...I am going to make something of the profit. And I am going to run and I'm not in a position that we can be sued or in a lawsuit for not fulfilling our obligations. 'Cause I'll be on my way back to jail and I cannot have any trouble, you understand."

The recordings were made, Perry said, with battery-equipped body microphones that transmitted the conversations to a special recorder.

At one point in the tapes, Estes refers to Horton as "a complete crook."

Estes was convicted in 1962 of engineering a scheme that defrauded investors through mortgages on non-existent anhydrous ammonia fertilizer tanks. Under the unusual terms of his parole, he was prohibited from self-employment or engaging in promotional activities.

Horton's attorney, Billy Ravkin, refers to Estes as a teller of "can you top this?" lies. Ravkin says his client was this: "a wealthy, good-hearted Texas oil man victimized by Estes."

Estes' attorney, G. Brockett Irwin, contends the now-portly Abilene man has been hounded by the government and has been a "political prisoner for two decades."

U.S. District Judge Robert Hill admonished defense attorneys for their overly long questions several times, indicating he will not allow the trial to drag on. But the lawyers have submitted witness lists that total more than 100.

Lawyers Reach Agreement On Murder Retrial Jury

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — An eight-man, four-woman jury was selected today to hear six murder charges against Elmer Wayne Henley of Houston.

Snyder Officials Find Container

SNYDER (AP) — Scurry County deputies have safely recovered a missing canister of radioactive material that apparently fell from a truck.

An unidentified butane truck driver from Big Spring found the unopened canister lying along the roadside and apparently thought it was an electrical motor, deputies said.

He called authorities Sunday after that reading the 100-pound red canister containing the radioactive element Americium had fallen from a truck transporting it from the Weaver Wire Line Services Co. to a well site about 10 miles southwest of this West Texas community.

Deputies and company employees searched the stretch of pastureland after the container was reported missing Friday.

The substance is used in the cleaning process of oil wells. It is lowered into the well to check for perforation in the walls.

death spree that left 26 boys dead in the early 1970s. State District Court Judge Noah Kennedy recessed the trial for the rest of the day after state and defense lawyers filed their list of strikes from the 34-member jury panel qualified during the past four weeks.

Kennedy had previously planned to immediately begin hearing pretrial motions after the strikes.

However, he said today he had decided to wait until Tuesday morning to seat the jurors and sequester them at a local hotel.

He then will begin a hearing on a defense request to suppress a statement Henley gave investigators upon his 1973 arrest.

Defense attorney Will Gray of Houston also tried to have the statement thrown out at the first trial. However, a judge in that case found that Henley had not been forced to make the statement.

Gray has estimated it may take up to a week to hear the motion.

Henley, 23, was tried for six of the murders in a San Antonio court in 1974 and assessed six 99-year prison terms.

But the conviction was thrown out on appeal, and the new trial was ordered. The appeals court agreed with a defense claim that the judge in the first trial should have held a change of venue hearing.

DR. LAMB

Prostate Trouble

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you please send me any information concerning prostate troubles and any treatments for this? I am 52 years old and have never had any major illnesses. A few months ago I developed severe back pains in the lower back and also I had trouble urinating.

I went to a chiropractor and he said I had prostatitis and that he would get my back problem straight. He hasn't yet after four visits. I was thinking that after my back stopped hurting, perhaps I could go to a doctor and get something for the prostate trouble. That is why I am writing to you for any advice you might be able to send me.

DEAR READER — If possible you might go see a specialist in urology and if that's not possible, you should at least go see a medical doctor. If you do have an inflammation of your prostate, you'll need prescription items which a chiropractor can't give you.

You can have back pain from prostatitis and inflammation in the urinary tract. Under such circumstances, a back pain can't really be cured until the underlying medical problem has been relieved.

If your prostate is enlarged to the point that it is interfering with your ability to urinate, you may even need surgery and that would have to be done by a specialist in urology.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-6 on the prostate gland. It will give you a better idea of the total problem. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

I don't like for people with back pain and symptoms of prostate trouble to wait around too long for a complete evaluation. If a person happens to have cancer of the prostate, it can spread to the back and cause back pain. Cancer of the prostate should be detected before it ever spreads. The way it is detected early

Girl Reports Assaults By Five Teen-Agers

A 17-year-old Lubbock girl said five young males sexually assaulted her Sunday night after forcing her into a room and pinning her down on a bed.

The teen-ager said all her assailants were young Mexican-Americans. Three of the suspects reportedly were 14, 16 and 17 years old.

The victim told police she was at a East Stanford Street residence about 10:15 p.m. Sunday. Reports indicate the girl was forced into a bedroom and ordered to disrobe.

Some of the youths allegedly held the girl down and sexually assaulted her while another held a light over her head. No arrests had been made by early today.

In another report, a 36-year-old Lubbock woman said she was attacked Sunday night by a man who had assaulted her in the past.

She said she went out into her back yard about 8:45 p.m. after hearing her dog barking and was forced to the ground by a man whom she said assaulted her several weeks ago and raped her on Dec. 13, 1977.

The woman said the man, who wielded a pocketknife, ripped off her pants and underclothing. After assaulting the woman, the suspect fled the scene, according to reports.

He was described as white, tall, medium build, blond, blue-eyed and between 26 and 35 years old.

The woman was treated and released at Health Sciences Center Hospital.

Police early today were investigating the reported aggravated kidnapping of a 15-year-old Lubbock youth.

The boy, who reportedly escaped from his abductor about 9 p.m. Sunday, told police he was walking near East 19th Street and Weber Avenue when a man stopped his car near him, displayed a long-blade knife and ordered the boy to get in.

The youth said the man drove him to the 2900-block of East Erskine Street and stopped the vehicle. Reports indicate the man attempted to sexually abuse the boy, but that the youth was able to leap from the car and flee.

The suspect was described as a black man, about 31 years old, tall, heavy, with brown eyes, mustache, short hair and gold-capped front teeth. He was last seen wearing a white hat, black pants and black shoes and was driving a 1972 maroon Chevrolet Impala.

About $3,340 in cash and checks was estimated to be the amount of loot taken in a burglary between 2:28 a.m. and 1:45 p.m. Sunday at the West-Wind Club, at 910 Slaton Highway.

Owner Alfred Reynolds said he locked the cash and checks in the safe early Sunday morning, but when he came back that afternoon the safe was open and the money missing.

Police were investigating the reported rape of a 19-year-old woman about 6 a.m. Sunday.

The victim told police that she and a girlfriend had accepted a ride home from two young black males in the 1700-block of Parkway Drive about 5 a.m. However, reports show, one of the men said he needed to stop at his motel room to pick up something before taking the girls home.

The victim said that when they arrived at the motel room, the suspect kicked in the door, grabbed her and threw her on the bed, telling her not to scream.

Reports show that the second man held the other woman in the room while the suspect bit and raped the victim. The woman described her attacker as aged 14 to 17, and said he was wearing a black shirt, black pants and black shoes. The suspect's companion was reportedly between 18 and 25.

The victim was treated at Health Sciences Center Hospital.

HIGHEST INCOME

Gang lord Al Capone, whose business card listed him as a "second hand furniture dealer," earned an estimated $105 million in 1927 to set the still unbroken record for the highest gross income ever amassed in a single year by a private citizen.

a bullet wound to his finger after he tried to stop a fight near Broadway and Quirt Avenue about 4 a.m. Sunday.

Tyrone Taylor, 20, of 2217 Quirt Ave. said he approached a car at a nearby service station and saw the suspect, who was armed with a pistol, arguing with two other men. Taylor reported that when the suspect and the men got out of the car and began fighting, he grabbed the suspect from behind.

Reports show that when Taylor grabbed the suspect, the pistol discharged and a bullet struck him in a finger.

Taylor said the suspect was a black male, 18 to 25, tall and of medium build. He said the man was wearing a blue hat, blue shirt and blue jeans.

A 21-year-old Lubbock man remained in county jail late Sunday after a fight and subsequent assault of a police officer about 10:15 p.m. Saturday in the west parking lot of the Plantation II apartments.

Reports show that the suspect had fought with a 41-year-old man, who allegedly had cursed at the suspect's girlfriend.

Investigating officers said that when they tried to arrest the 21-year-old suspect, he began cursing them and struck one of them in the face, knocking off his glasses.

Reports show the two officers wrestled the suspect to the ground and handcuffed him.

However, while the suspect was in the police car, he kicked out the left rear door glass and attempted to escape. EMS attendants were called to the scene, and the suspect was placed on a stretcher with restraints and taken to county jail.

Bruce R. Crette, 25, of 1608 Broadway reported a black male stole his $250 turquoise ring during an incident at 19th Street and Avenue K about 10:10 p.m. Saturday.

The victim said he accepted a ride from three black males at 25th Street and Avenue K but was ordered out of the car at 19th Street and Avenue K. Crette said that when he got out of the car, the driver asked to see his ring, grabbed his hand and took the ring.

Reports show the suspect drove off eastbound on 19th Street.

Robert L. Taylor of 2735 79th St. reported that burglars took $4,150 in property, including a color TV, stereo system, clothing and jewelry, in a break-in that occurred sometime between 5 p.m. Thursday and 11:30 a.m. Sunday.

Alphabet Pillows Make Good Gifts

BY SHARI LEWIS

Big fat alphabet pillows make really good gifts. You can easily make every letter of the alphabet into a pillow except A, B, H, R, and P. These can be done too, but because they have a cross bar, they're more difficult. Unless you're experienced at sewing, avoid them.

Here's how to make an alphabet pillow: Draw a fat letter on an open sheet of newspaper. Make your letter shape about 2 inches larger than you want the finished pillow to be. Fold your fabric in half so that the good side (where the design looks best) is inside. Pin the paper cutout on top of the two layers of fabric. Trace the outline in pencil. Cut through both layers, along this penciled line.

Sew all around the edges, making your seam about one inch in from the outer edge. Leave the bottom part of the letter open. (That is, don't sew it shut along those bottom edges.) Turn your letter inside out so that the good side of the fabric is now on the outside. Through that open bottom, stuff the pillow (clean stockings or panty hose make excellent stuffing).

Now fold up a tiny hem at the bottom. Roll that hem up once again, to hide all the cut edges. With tiny stitches, close up the bottom of the pillow.

Today's Brain Twister: How many new words can you make from the letters in the words Brown Rice? The words have to be at least four letters long, proper nouns are not acceptable, and you cannot use more than one form of a word (for example, you can't make the word "own," you can't get credit for "owner"). (Look for the answer in tomorrow's Kids-Only Club column.)

'New Guard' Elects LULAC President

HOUSTON (AP) — A Corpus Christi attorney, who admits he likes to blast people and agencies that turn their back on Hispanics, has been elected president of the 100,000-member League of United Latin American Citizens.

Ruben Bonilla defeated incumbent president Eduardo Pena Jr., a Washington lawyer, Sunday after a bitter election. Pena conceded when vote counting reached 325-205 in Bonilla's favor.

"It is time we assert our combined efforts," Bonilla said after the election. "We should never be ashamed of our cultural backgrounds so that we isolate ourselves from the rest of America."

Bonilla, the outgoing state director for the Texas LULAC, said the Hispanic organization "is not just fraternal any more. After 50 years, we're still Mexicans first, then Americans."

The election centered on the "old guard" that had controlled the organization since its foundation in Corpus Christi 50 years ago. However, the "new guard," many of them farm workers, sought a more activist approach to their problems.

The victory came with strong support from the rural delegations of Texas and with strong backing of voters from New Mexico and Arizona.

Bonilla did not have the support of delegates from the metropolitan areas of Houston, Dallas and San Antonio, but was a heavy favorite of delegates from smaller cities in the predominantly Mexican-American valley of South Texas and those from the farms and ranchlands of West Texas.

Earlier during this 50th anniversary convention of LULAC, Bonilla said, "Some people believe you shouldn't criticize any elected officials unless you have a plan. But the temper of the times is different."

He promised to speak out as he has done in Texas on all issues affecting Hispanics.

Pena, however, said he preferred to work through proper channels to accomplish LULAC goals.

"I like to blast people as much as Ruben does," Pena said, "but it is important for LULAC not to close the doors when we disagree with somebody. I just don't think that holding a press conference always gets good results."

Texas Leaguers Show Stuff Tonight

The Amarillo Gold Sox will be the home team but Lubbock's Lowery Field will be the site of tonight's Texas League clash between the Gold Sox and the Midland Cubs.

The contest begins at 6 p.m. and general admission seats are available at the gate for $3. Also planned tonight are ceremonies to honor Gary Ashby, the Gold Sox first baseman and former Monterey and Texas Tech standout.

Ashby is currently hitting .339 in Amarillo and drew praise from Gold Sox owner John Dittich.

"Gary's one of the best ballplayers we've got," said Dittich. "Right now he's our No. 2 hitter — and we've got a pretty good hitting club."

"We (the Gold Sox) planned two of these out-of-town games (the other one scheduled in Clovis in July) and since Gary is from Lubbock we thought we should do something for him."

Besides honoring Ashby, the game is also a crucial one as far as the Texas League pennant race is concerned. After Saturday night's games Midland was on top of the Texas League Western division with a 34-29 record. The Gold Sox were 2 1/2 games back with a 32-32 record.

Only seven games remain in the first half of the league season and the first half winner earns a berth in the post-season playoffs.

Greed Takes Over

THESE ARE DECEPTIVELY calm June days in the sports world, but pressure is building up under the surface and an explosion soon may rock both professional baseball and football to their foundations.

The lust for money is the root of all evil, the Good Book says, and greed is playing havoc with big league sports. Pro basketball narrowly avoided financial ruin, as a result of million-dollar contracts and red-ink franchises, and now the National Football League and major league baseball are trying to dodge the bullet. Some doubt they can escape without serious damage.

Baseball seems determined to follow the rocky path blazed by the pro basketball moguls. Huge contracts for free agents is the name of the game, giving the rich clubs the top talent and making also-rans out of the rest. Even some of the owners who are not all that wealthy are trying to keep up with the George Steinbrenners, despite a mounting stack of debts.

It isn't just a short-term problem, either. Insiders say that major league baseball clubs now have about $250 million in deferred contract payments to players hanging over them. Will they be able to make those payments when they come due?

That is a very important question and no one knows the answer.

SOME PRO FOOTBALL owners seem bent on self-destruction, too. The millionaires who own most of the franchises are determined to put their teams on top, regardless of the cost. Hence the tremendous contracts that some hand out with reckless abandon.

Sports Illustrated recently revealed that Coach Dick Vermeil is being paid $250,000 a year by the Philadelphia Eagles, plus the use of a car, plus an insurance policy, plus a country club membership. That puts the total take around $300,000, and one NFL official says that figure probably is too low.

Owner Leonard Tose wants a winner, whatever the price. Dallas Cowboy owner Clint Murchison Jr. is not in that category, fortunately. He wants to win, but he believes that it can be accomplished through good organization and hard work. He doesn't substitute greenbacks for good sense.

The Dallas payroll is in the middle range of the NFL salary scale, reported-See SCUDDAY Page 4

Irwin Works For Open

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Hale Irwin: hacker, choker, U.S. Open golf champion for a second time.

The 34-year-old former Colorado football star proved a harsh self critic Sunday after struggling to 4-over-par 75 for a 72-hole total of 288. His analysis:

"I've never worked so hard on a golf course. To go out and hack it and still emerge a winner makes me feel good."

"I didn't sleep well last night. I'd say I started choking on the first tee. This was not your casual round of Sunday golf, an interclub tournament. It was our national championship."

"If you don't feel it, you're not human or you're on something funny. The second time it's tougher."

Irwin escaped a nightmarish finish — he was four over the last five holes, double-bogeying 17 and bogeying 18 — to join only 13 other golfers as two-time Open titleholders.

"Fantastic," replied the 1974 winner of this major championship. "That's why I wanted two Opens. Hopefully, I can hang my star up and it will shine brighter."

Irwin struggled to a closing 75, good enough for his two-shot margin over two other former Open champions, Gary Player and Jerry Pate.

Player handled the immense pressure at Inverness Club the best Sunday, almost becoming the oldest player in history to win the Open. He had a 68, 3 under par.

"I thought if I shot a 66 I'd win the tournament. But I'm happy to finish second. Hale Irwin is the story today," said the 43-year-old South African, second in a fourth international tournament this year.

Pate, who shot a closing 72, also is fashioning a bridesmaid's reputation. He's been second eight times in the last two years on tour and said, "I'm a little bit disappointed."

"I'm one of the best drivers on tour. I drove it terribly today. And I just had trouble with the sand. I couldn't judge it here this week."

Irwin's payoff was $50,000. Player and Pate earned $22,250 apiece.

With a five-shot bulge and six holes to go, Irwin seemed like a shoo-in to the 21,000 tramping Inverness' plush 6,982 yards and to the millions more watching via television.

But he knew it was not going to be that easy. And he was right.

"Never at any time did I feel the lead was safe," he said. "Never did I have a handle on what I was doing. But I was getting along well until 17."

Then he found all sorts of difficulties.

On the 431-yard 17th, a par-4, Irwin drove into the right rough, hit his approach shot into a bunker, blasted over the green and chipped past the hole. He took six.

Suddenly, he was down to 1-under-par. But none of his would-be challengers were charging. His margin was still three strokes.

On the short but tricky 354-yard 18th, Irwin again drove into the right rough, caught the bunker, lifted his third shot onto the green and two-putted for a bogey five.

It was embarrassing to this shot-making perfectionist. "Finishing double-bogey, bogey is not my idea of championship golf. I just couldn't get to the barn fast enough. It was quite a relief," said the winner of $1.55 million lifetime and almost $130,000 this year.

This tournament was not only historic for Irwin. Calvin Peete became the second black ever to qualify for the Masters, the year's first major test.

Peete, 35, a fourth-year touring pro from Detroit, earned a Masters berth by tying for 11th place at 293. Lee Elder, the first black to play in the Augusta tournament, also was at 293, as was defending Open champion Andy North.

The first 16 finishers in the Open qualify for the Masters.

Tom Weiskopf, three shots behind Irwin starting the final round, settled for 76. He tied for fourth place with Bill Rogers and Larry Nelson. Rogers had 72, Nelson 73.

Another shot back in seventh at 73-289 came Australian David Graham. Tom Purtzer, who shared the 36-hole lead with Nelson, shot a 290 overall with a final-round 76.

But the ultimate winner may have been venerable Inverness Club, the site of the Open for a fourth time.

It's record of never having yielded an under-par champion remains. But Irwin denied its reputation by becoming the first to equal par in an Inverness Open.

The world's best golfers played 430 competitive rounds over the 76-year-old layout in four days. Only 22 rounds were subpar. There were 19 par efforts.

Blalock's Pressure Play Wins

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The word around the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour is that Jane Blalock thrives on pressure. But this year her game seems to have blossomed on big victories.

Mrs. Blalock, the only player on the LPGA tour to win a 1979 tournament by six strokes, turned the trick for the third time Sunday with a 1-under-par 72 and a four-day total of 12-under-par 280 in a $100,000 LPGA stop at Locust Hill Country Club.

The four-year-old Sarah Coventry Tournament was played at Locust Hill for the first time.

"This is my best start by far," said the 33-year-old Mrs. Blalock, whose $15,000 first prize boosted her 1979 winnings to $84,752 and elevated her one notch to fifth place in the LPGA money rankings. Jane has won four tournaments this year and 26 in her 10-year career.

"I feel like my game is much more solid and I'm a lot looser than I ever have been before," she said.

Second-year pro Alice Ritzman posted her best finish by matching Mrs. Blalock's 72 and pulling in at 6-under-par 286. The $9,800 for second place more than doubled her prize money this year.

Vicki Fergon, another budding star, wound up third at 288 after posting 74 in the final round.

Jerilyn Britz, Dot German and Sandra Post tied for fourth with 289, Pat Meyers claimed seventh with 290 and Sally Little eighth with 291.

Mrs. Blalock started the day 11-under after earlier rounds of 69, 70 and 69 on the par-73, 6,206-yard layout. She played a secure game in taking dead aim on the championship.

"I had a good margin," she said. "When I have a big lead, I just try to make pars and take the birdies when they come. I think I play better when it's tighter."

Mrs. Meyers, Miss Little and Miss Post appeared to be making a run at Mrs. Blalock on the front nine, but the lightning-fast greens and yawning sand traps of the course took a toll of each.

Miss Little dropped from 4-under to 7-under with birdies on three of the first four holes but blew up with bogey, double bogey and bogey on the fifth, sixth and seventh holes.

Mrs. Meyers started with an eagle-3 on the first hole and later supplanted Miss Little at 7-under, but ended her chances with a double bogey-5 on the seventh hole. She had a bogey and another double bogey in the next five holes and plummeted from contention.

Miss Post survived a double bogey at No. 13, a 403-yard par-4 which also added two extra strokes to Mrs. Meyers' card, but bounced back with a cluster of birdies to shoot the best round of the day — a 4-under-par 69.

Mrs. Blalock's prize money moved her past Donna Caponi Young, who won the LPGA Championship crown last week. Young tied for 18th at 298 and picked up only $1,182 after three straight rounds of par or better failed to undo the damage of an opening-round 82.

Ali Denies Retirement

CHICAGO (AP) — Muhammad Ali has not submitted a letter of resignation to the World Boxing Association, despite the claim of a boxing promoter, says a spokesman for the WBA heavyweight champion.

Eugene Dibble, a longtime Ali associate and the boxer's attorney, said Sunday that Bob Arum was incorrect when he said Ali had submitted a letter of resignation to WBA President Fernando Maynard Galindez.

Arum, who is promoting a bout aimed at seeking a successor to Ali as WBA champion, made the statement during a news conference in Monte Carlo on Saturday.

Dibble said Sunday that Ali is on a business trip to Europe and that he was reading a statement for him.

"Muhammad Ali announced today that he has not retired or resigned his title as quoted by Robert Arum, a boxing promoter," Dibble said.

"Further, Mr. Arum is not my spokesman and I have never needed anyone to speak for me. I am well known for my speaking ability and will continue to make my own announcements and decisions. When I am ready to retire, the whole world will know it."

Dibble declined further comment. The WBA has given Ali until Sept. 15 to sign for a title defense, one year from the date he beat Leon Spinks to regain his championship.

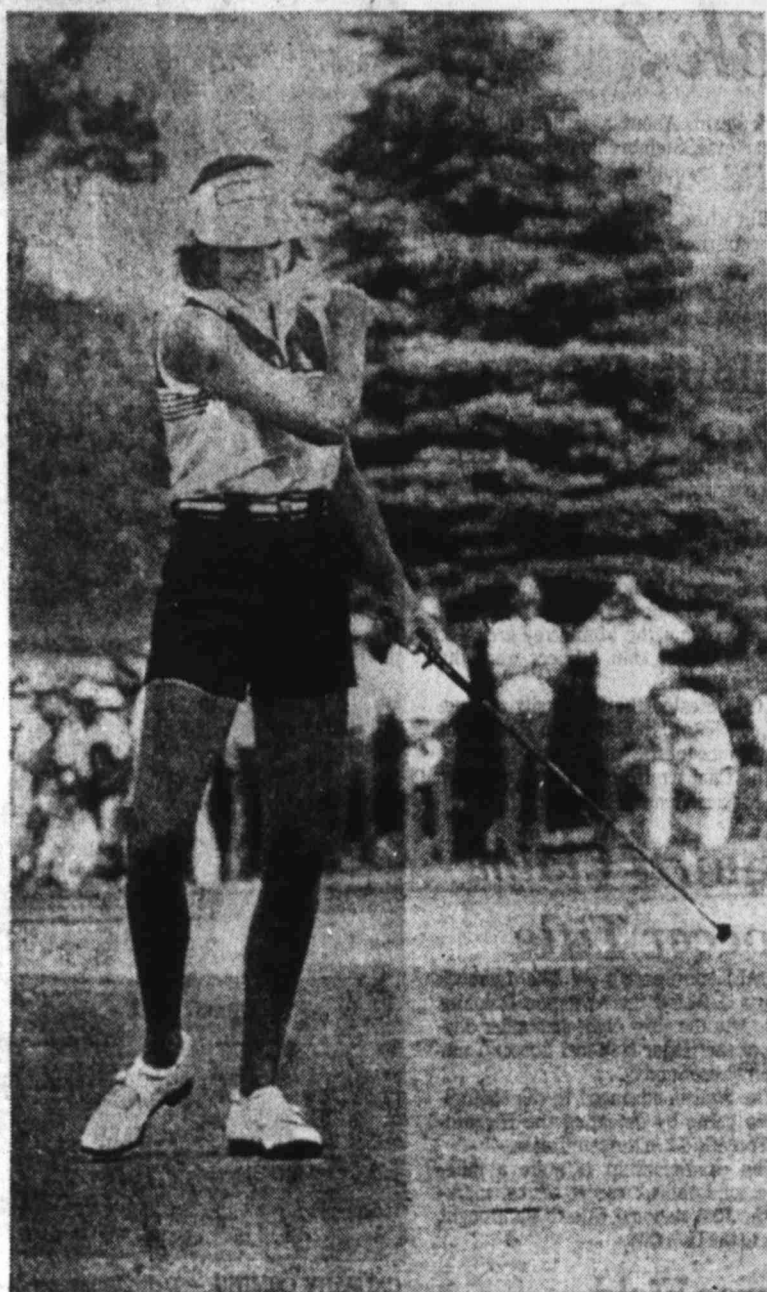

Wayland Names Track, Cage Recruits

Wayland Baptist College has announced the signing of two high school athletes.

Earl Oates of Amarillo Palo Duro, who has personal bests of 10.0 in the 100 and 38.4 in the 330 intermediate hurdles, has signed to run for WBC. He will compete in the quarter-mile, the intermediate hurdles and relays. Oates, the seventh Pioneer signee, ran the third leg on Palo Duro's sprint and mile relay teams.

Rogena Reed of San Antonio Edgewood has agreed to play women's basketball for WBC. Miss Reed, 5-11, averaged 16.1 points a game as a senior and was named all-district, all-city and San Antonio Player of the Year. She will play in the Texas All-Star game next month.

On Aug. 31, 1926, Ray Morehart of the Chicago White Sox made nine hits in a double-header.

Cawley Warms Up For Wimbledon Try

CHICHESTER, England (AP) — Evonne Goolagong Cawley next week will bid to become the first mother to win the Wimbledon women's singles tennis title in 65 years.

The 27-year-old Australian won the title in 1971 as Evonne Goolagong. She now has a 2-year-old daughter, Kelly, from her marriage to British businessman Roger Cawley.

The last mother to win Wimbledon was Dorothea Lambert Chambers in 1914.

Mrs. Cawley stepped up her Wimbledon preparations Sunday with an emphatic victory over Britain's No. 2 player, Sue Barker, in the final of the $75,000 Chichester Grass Courts tournament.

The popular Australian, who also won last week's Beckenham grass courts title, swept Miss Barker 6-1, 6-4 in 61 minutes.

But she'll miss this week's Eastbourne tournament to practice on her own.

"I feel more relaxed that way," Evonne said. "I always prefer not to play the week before Wimbledon."

Two consecutive tournament wins have worked wonders for Mrs. Cawley's morale.

"I really felt like my old self against Sue," Mrs. Cawley said. "The first set was the best I have played since last year's Wimbledon."

"It is all boosting up my chances. I always feel confident going into Wimbledon, but this year I feel I have a really good chance to win it."

Miss Barker, who never threatened the Australian Sunday, also rates Mrs. Cawley's Wimbledon chances.

ly, and the club is going to hold that position even if it means the loss of a player here and there.

THE PRESSURE GETS worse all the time, though, thanks to the throngs of agents entering the negotiation picture. Every college griddier of note is besieged by agents who want to represent him in NFL contract talks, and what better way to get a player's attention than to promise him paradise?

Following the recent NFL draft, an agent for a late-round selection took his contract demands to the personnel director of the club. The salary figure he mentioned nearly knocked the veteran official out of his chair.

"How did you arrive at that figure?" the stunned personnel director inquired when he regained his breath.

"Well, I just asked the player what he would like to get, then went from there," the agent admitted.

The agent may have priced his player right out of the NFL.

SPEAKING OF GREED, the NFL players' union is mighty unhappy these days because it is in the middle of a five-year contract with the league. The pact seemed like a great deal at the time, with all sorts of goodies for the players and their representatives. Higher salaries, improved insurance and pension benefits, protection for gridgers playing out their option — these were just a few of the items won by the union. The cost to the owners was estimated at many millions of dollars, even by neutral authorities.

But thanks to more television money and a refusal to pay millions to free agents, the NFL clubs have prospered. So now the players want to renegotiate the contract to give them a bigger chunk of the action, and there have been threats of a strike. There is a no-strike clause in the present contract, but that doesn't seem to matter.

Which tells us something about sports nowadays.

Lovington Star Joins Tech

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

LOVINGTON — The Army wanted him, so did the Air Force — but Lovington's Floyd Barry isn't interested in the military, he wants to be a doctor.

The result was that Texas Tech track coach Corky Oglesby signed the 6-3 New Mexico state champion to a national letter-of-intent to run track at Texas Tech University over the weekend.

"West Point had contacted Floyd about running track," said Lovington track coach Scotty Watkins. "And the Air Force Academy wanted him to play basketball."

"But he wants to be a doctor," added the coach. "And Tech has a Medical School. I think that's one reason he decided to go there."

Barry is the 1979 New Mexico state champion in the 220 and 440 yard dash in Class AAA and ran the anchor leg on Lovington's state runner-up sprint relay team. Barry ran the anchor on that relay team since he was a sophomore. Twice the squad won the state title before being nipped at the wire in 1979.

His personal best in the 220 is 21.9 and he's run a 48.8 quarter. He was also an honor graduate from Lovington High School.

"He's 6-3 and has a big, long stride," says his coach. "He can really gobble up a lot of yards in a hurry. He's run a 9.7 100, and that's with a very poor start."

"If somebody can teach him how to get out of the blocks he could be an outstanding sprinter," added Watkins.

"He can outrun a 9.3 sprinter running side-by-side in a relay."

Besides the military academies and Texas Tech, other schools that expressed interest in the Lovington trackster were West Texas State, New Mexico Junior College and New Mexico State, according to Watkins.

And the Lovington coach had high expectations for Barry's future as a collegian.

"He's not just a sprinter," said Watkins. "He's also got endurance. It wouldn't surprise me if he wound up running the half-mile at Tech."

Barry hasn't treated his first patient yet, or even been accepted to Medical school but one thing seems certain — he won't be going back marching with an M-16 on his shoulder any time soon.

Olympics Star At Meet

WALNUT, Calif. (AP) — The Moscow Olympics may be slightly more than a year away, but there was little question what was in the thoughts of the hundreds of American athletes who competed in the National AAU Track and Field Championships over the weekend.

While the nation's best were shooting for victories in the annual AAU competition, most considered the meet — and meets upcoming between now and the 1980 Games in Russia — as part of a timetable.

"Moscow has of course been my goal all along," said Steve Scott, the United States' top hope in the 1,500 meters. "All my time and training are geared to beating Steve Ovett (Great Britain) in the Olympics. When I train, I pretend I'm running against him — he's the best."

"I'd love to win the gold," said Evelyn Ashford, who scored a double in the AAU sprints for the second time. "I'd love to win any medal. My timetable is geared step by step for Moscow. I want to beat the East Germans, and I feel like I can do it."

Ashford, a 22-year-old who ran fifth in the Montreal Olympics 100 meters, shattered the American record in that event Saturday during the AAU meet with a time of 10.97 seconds. She came back Sunday to run a 22.07 in the 200, a wind-aided mark that would have rewritten the American standard.

Scott, three-time AAU 1,500 champion, whipped Don Paige in Sunday's final, clocking 3:36.40 to Paige's 3:37.33.

The outlook for America in the Moscow Olympics is generally bright, based on the three-day AAU meet at Mount San Antonio College. The United States apparently will be strong in the men's sprints, both men's hurdles, the 1500 and various field events.

And, according to signs from the AAU competition, the American women may be much improved over their showing in Montreal in 1976.

In addition to Ashford, Deby LaPlante stamped herself as world caliber with an American record time of 12:36 in the 100-meter hurdles. Francie Larriou scored an impressive AAU double, taking the 1,500 in 4:06.53, then coming back to edge defending champion Jan Merrill in the 3,000 with a time of 8:53.79.

"Since I was 13, I've been pointing toward the Olympics," said Larriou, a two-time American Olympian. "I'm doing all I can to be ready next year."

In two of the AAU meet's featured men's events, world record-holding hurdlers Renaldo Nehemiah and Edwin Moses — both won their events easily, Nehemiah with a 13.19 in the 110 hurdles, and Moses with a 47.89 in the 400 hurdles.

Actor Denies Eccentric Charges

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Tony Randall sat as straight as a poker at the restaurant table, his napkin tucked into his sports jacket, spooning vichyssoise with elegant dispatch.

The topic was eccentricity. Randall's eyes flew open like broken window shades when it was delicately hinted that he himself was about a half-bubble off plumb.

"Who me?" he cried, losing for a moment his unflappable.

"No one thinks I'm eccentric, although my wife is convinced I'm crazy."

"I'm perfectly normal and I'm always right. I love the opera. I don't smoke or drink. I've been married to the same woman—I've forgotten her name, it's either Florence or Bernice—since I was in college."

"I also believe that television is run by a bunch of idiots."

"They canceled 'The Odd Couple' which is the most popular series in reruns because we didn't have good ratings. We never had good ratings. And they canceled 'The Tony Randall' show after two years for the same reason."

"Since then I've helped keep television clean by staying out of it for a full year on the advice of Grover Cleveland."

"I'm right about everything."

Tony busied himself with a cold salmon entree, handling his cutlery with precision. He speaks in a mellifluous baritone, sounding at all times as if he were auditioning for "Macbeth" or perhaps "Othello."

He admits being precise but "I'm trying to quit."

Randall, who lives in New York but works almost exclusively in Hollywood, is starring in "Scavenger Hunt," with Robert Morley, Vincent Price, James Coco, Roddy McDowall, Richard Benjamin, Cloris Leachman and Ruth Gordon, a cast which brims with eccentrics.

Randall is a militant antismoker who asks companions to snuff out their cigarettes. If they fail to comply, he stubs them out himself.

"All bit Johnny Carson," Randall complained. "The minute I appear on his show he lights up and blows smoke in my face. Inevitably I lecture him right on the air about the evils of the weed. I belittle him and try to shame him."

"The audience applauds me. At least I think they're applauding me. Maybe they're clapping for Johnny."

"Another man I've had trouble converting is the famous composer Eubie Blake. He's been smoking cigarettes since he was six years old. But what argument can I use on Eubie? Certainly not that it will shorten his life. He's 96 years old."

Randall is a man easily given to chagrin. He says, for example, there is nothing eccentric in the fact that he's never owned an automobile.

"I ride the bus and the subways in New York," he said. "I don't accept the automobile. And I am right. People are beginning to find that out with the gas shortage. I knew the auto wouldn't last."

Randall is not above admitting he marches to his own drum, broken though it may be. But umbrage abounds when he is reminded of this.

FANTASTIC SHOW

NEW YORK (AP) — The exhibition "Fantastic Illustration and Design in Britain 1850-1930" is on view through Sept. 2 at the Cooper-Hewitt Museum, the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of Design. The museum says the show focuses "on original drawings for book illustrations and related materials in the decorative arts."

"People don't call you mad or eccentric if you are well-heeled," he said primly. "It's only when you're poor that they call you a nut. When I was in reduced circumstances, I was considered an oddball."

"I've had my moments. When Wally Cox (his old costar in the 'Mr. Peepers' TV series) beat me five straight games in paddleball years ago, I was crushed. So I took up a noncompetitive weightlifting program to which I devoted 15 years."

"I never became an Arnold Schwarzenegger — who is in 'Scavenger Hunt' by the way — But I did achieve physical perfection. After that, I quit."

It has been banded about that Randall is not the easiest actor to work with. He cheerfully acknowledges the possibility but admits nothing.

"I'm a perfectionist," he said. "This picture is driving me mad. It's all on outdoor locations and I'm being seared by the heat. I like to work on a set with lights and all the beneficences of the arts of cinema and theater."

"As it is, seagulls squawk and bombard me with their droppings. My objection to that sort of thing cannot be considered 'difficult.'"

While claiming he is altogether normal, Randall thinks Americans should respect and encourage its eccentrics as the English do.

"The word 'eccentric' bothers me," he said pithily. "We should purge it from the English language except as it applies to machinery."

"On the other hand I've been reading a book about a genuine eccentric, the father of Edith, Osbert and Sacheverell Sitwell. He was a millionaire who inherited a fortune. But he allowed his wife to go to jail rather than pay some piddling debts she had incurred."

"That's not the half of it. Old Sitwell spent the better part of his adult life writing a history of the two-pronged fork."

"If you're looking for eccentricity, consider Sitwell the elder, but please, not Tony Randall."

'Rocky II' Called Acid Test

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sylvester Stallone, whose first "Rocky" movie won the 1976 Academy Award, says the sequel, "Rocky II," wasn't made "to salvage my career."

"Rocky I" was a very tough act to follow, and we didn't do it for money," the star, writer and director of the new film said Thursday before the world premiere of "Rocky II."

"This is the acid test," he said, in looking ahead to fan reaction. "I felt more confident about 'Rocky I' — which received 10 Academy Award nominations and won three Oscars."

"Maybe that was blind ignorance. This is more like performing before your parents. This is it."

The 32-year-old Stallone was raised in Philadelphia, not far from the old blue-collar neighborhood where the movie Rocky lives.

His recent productions of the movies "F.I.S.T." and "Paradise Alley" received mixed reviews and were box office failures.

Stallone said he hoped the sequel will lead to "Rocky III" sometime early in 1981.

"Rocky was for the masses. It really wasn't about fighting. It was about a person trying to succeed. He could have been doing anything, not just a fighter," he said.

"It was always conceived as a trilogy — the challenge, then barely winning the championship, and finally the graceful retirement," Stallone said, acknowledging that there is something of himself in the religiously-rooted Rocky Balboa character he created.

"I wish I was as noble as the character," he said. "It's a tough image to break. Even the president of the United States calls me Rocky."

"I gave Rocky a great deal of religious fervor because he had no parents. But he has a lot of faith, blind faith."

Co-producer Irwin Winkler said, "Rocky II" stands on its own, and is every bit as good as the original."

City Representative Joseph LaSala said the "Rocky" movies "gave Philadelphia a signature that can only rival touching the Liberty Bell" and thanked Stallone and the producers for setting the locale here.

Writing in Friday's editions of the Philadelphia Bulletin, the paper's film critic Ernest Schrier called the movie, "an awkward, stumbling tale of a rematch that results in an awkward parody of the original version."

The Hollywood-style premiere, which benefited the Police Athletic League, attracted two other of the movie's stars — Clay Aiken and Burt Young, playing Rocky's tough, emotional brother-in-law.

Illness prevented personal appearances by actress Talia Shire and actor Burgess Meredith.

Man Attacks New SBC President

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Hundreds of stunned worshippers watched as a bearded man screaming "I need help" rushed the Rev. Dr. Adrian Rogers while the new leader of the Southern Baptist Convention delivered a sermon.

Rogers, who remained calm, was not injured in the disturbance, part of which was televised live during the Sunday broadcast of Bellevue Baptist Church services.

Rogers, 48, talked to the young man as deacons held him down on the stage, and embraced the intruder before he was dragged away.

The minister could not be reached for comment.

Choir member Samuel Garland, 52, said the man was shouting "I need help" and was trying to grab him.

"I was going to grab and hold him, but he hit me with the fist right smack in the nose and in a reflex action, I hit him on the jaw and knocked him flat, then several of us subdued him," Garland said. "He was growling like an animal and it looked like he was trying to imitate a werewolf."

The Rev. Elmer Bailey, an associate pastor, said the man was not shouting disapproval of the church's preaching or teaching. "What he was shouting for was help, but if anybody tried to help, he would beat them back," Bailey said.

National Smoker Study:

Merit 100's Taste Acclaimed!

Latest research shows 'Enriched Flavor' cigarette equal to—or better than—leading high tar 100's.

Can the taste of low tar MERIT 100's satisfy smokers of much higher tar 100's?

Here are the results of nationwide research involving smokers who taste-tested MERIT 100's against leading high tar brands.

Results Confirm MERIT Breakthrough

Confirmed: Majority of 100's smokers rate MERIT 100's taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar cigarettes tested! Cigarettes having up to 60% more tar.

Confirmed: Majority of 100's smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT 100's.

And detailed interviews conducted among current MERIT 100's smokers documented the same taste satisfaction.

Kings: 8 mg "tar," 0.6 mg nicotine—
100's: 11 mg "tar," 0.7 mg nicotine av. per cigarette, FTC Report May '78

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT 100's smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT 100's smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT 100's smokers not considering other brands.

First Major Alternative To High Tar Smoking

MERIT 100's have proven conclusively that they not only deliver the flavor of high tar 100's—but continue to satisfy!

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT is what it claims to be: The first real alternative for high tar smokers.
