PARADE

Junior Rodeo Opens 3-Day Run Thursday

Cowboys and horses will take over Big Spring Thursday when the largest Howard County Junior Rodeo in history comes to town for a three-day run which will climax Saturday.

Record Entry Total

A record 228 contestants have signed to compete in the events of the 23rd edition of the rodeo, which is sponsored by the Howard County 4-H Club, said James Shelton, assistant county agricultural agent.

Opening this year's extravaganza will be a parade at 4 p.m. Thursday through downtown Big Spring. The parade will gather at Eleventh and Main streets, proceed north to Third street, turn west to Scurry, and move south to Fourth. It then will turn east to Main and disband at its starting point.

The Howard County Sheriff's Posse, Howard County Youth Horseman's Club, and Knott Saddle Club will be among the riding groups in the parade. Others are anticipated, Shelton said. The color guard will be from Webb AFB.

Begins At 8 p.m.

Each day's competition will begin at 8 p.m. at the Rodeo Bowl on US 80 west. Tickets will be $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children.

The American Junior Rodeo Association-sanctioned show this year will feature competition for boys and girls in three age groups.

There will be breakaway roping, barrel racing and pole bending for girls 12 years and under, 13-15 years, and 16-19 years.

Boys competition will feature calf roping, pole bending and ribbon roping for boys 12 years and under; calf roping, pole bending, ribbon roping and bull riding, 13-15 years; and calf roping, ribbon roping, bareback riding, and bull riding, 16-19 years.

Outstanding Prizes

Outstanding prizes will be given this year, Shelton said. A saddle, given by Big Spring New Car Dealers Association, will go to the all-around cowboy who tallies the most points in two or more events, and Wards Boot and Saddle Shop will give a saddle to the all-around cowgirl.

Also, trophy buckles will be given to the winners of each of the 20 events. There will be a wild calf race and goat sacking contest each night.

Mutt Black of Black Rodeo Producers in Marfa, will supply bucking stock for this year's show, as he has for several other shows here.

Over 175 Workers

More than 175 4-H Club members, parents and others worked in the production of this year's event.

Rip Bailey will be arena director, and Dub Bryant will be announcer. Bucking judges will be Jack Buchanan and David Barr, while timekeepers will be E. P. Driver, Alton Marwitz, Harry Middleton and Hezzie Read. Field judge will be Jimmy Taylor.

Bethlehem Cuts Price

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp. cut its recent price hikes almost in half today to remain competitive with U.S. Steel, which had announced new but more modest price increases earlier in the day.

Less than two hours after U.S. Steel, the nation's No. 1 producer, announced price raises on steels used in huge quantities by the auto and appliance industries, No. 2-ranked Bethlehem said he was chopping its prices.

Bethlehem said its general price increase of five per cent was being cut to 2.4 per cent on all its products. A spokesman said the cut was made "to be competitive with those of U.S. Steel."

And Inland steel, another big producer, said it would "remain competitive in all its product lines."

Airliner Turns Back

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli airliner turned back to Tel Aviv today when the crew discovered among the passengers two Arabs they hadn't known about, informed sources reported.

The sources said the El Al flight to Istanbul had aboard two Arabs the crew knew about, from Jenin, in the West Bank area seized from Jordan in the 1967 war. But after the plane was in the air, two more Arabs were discovered among the passengers, and the pilots returned.

El Al pilots are on edge since three Arab commandos hijacked an El Al jetliner on July 23 and forced it to land in Algiers. Algeria is still holding the plane and 12 Israeli men who were in the crew or among the passengers.

An El Al spokesman, confirming the report, said the four Arabs were rechecked and cleared, and the airliner was permitted to take off again.

Delegate Count

This is the alignment of Republican convention delegates behind the three major candidates as determined by the latest Associated Press poll. The "Others" column includes uncommitted delegates and those pledged to favorite sons.

Reagan Rejects Second Place

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said today he will reject the Republican vice presidential nomination if it is offered him by th GOP National Convention.

NO DRAFT

"I am not and will not under any circumstances be a candidate for vice president. Neither will I be available for a draft," Reagan said in telegrams to all state delegation chairmen.

The governor, actively pursuing the presidential nomination told newsmen that someone is spreading reports that he would accept the vice presidency.

In the telegram, he told the delegates, "I am not a candidat and cannot be drafted" for the nomination for second place on the GOP ticket.

If he is offered the position, he said "I will become the third person in the history of our party to reject this high office."

Reagan aides said the two other men in history who rejected the nomination were Sen. Silas Wright in 1844 and Republican Frank Lowden, in 1924.

Reagan released the telegram after a closed caucus with his own California delgeation.

He gave three reasons for refusing the nomination.

"I have an unbreakable commitment not to exchange the governorship of the most populous state for the vice presidency," he said.

He said, "I can better serve our party and nation by continuing to make California an example of the kind of good responsible government we all believe in."

CAMPAIGN

Reagan also said he would be "an even more effective campaigner for our party as governor of the largest state than I could be as vice presidential nominee."

Finally, Reagan said, "During the years ahead I can be a more effective advocate for our party as governor of California."

Jobless Rate Takes A Dip

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's jobless rate dropped one-tenth of one per cent in July, reflecting a normal summer season pattern, the Labor Department reported.

The department listed 3.2 million persons as unemployed. This is 400,000 jobless persons fewer than in June, when unemployment rose sharply as nearly three million young people entered the labor market with the close of schools.

The jobless rate, adjusted for seasonal variations, was 3.7 per cent for July compared to 3.8 per cent for June and 3.5 per cent for May and April.

July produced some improvement in the employment of workers 20 to 24 years old. The jobless rate for this group, after increasing sharply in June, leveled off to the April-May average of 5½ per cent.

Employment for teenagers showed no improvement in July. The jobless rate held at 13.6 per cent, the same as in the previous month. The Labor Department said both the teenage labor force and employment rose less than expected in July.

While the rate of unemployment for nonwhites remained twice the rate for whites, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported improvement in July over June and over July of a year ago.

U. S. To Release 14 Enemy Seamen

PARIS (AP) — The United States told North Vietnam at the Paris peace talks today that 14 captured North Vietnamese seamen will be released. Last week three U.S. fliers, released by the North Vietnamese, came out of Hanoi.

The North Vietnamese handled their release of the airmen mainly through the peace talks and the United States responded using the same channel with an obvious interest in tying the goodwill gestures into the search for peace.

PROBES

The peace probes themselves were conducted in today's meeting— the 16th session.

Harriman announced the release of North Vietnamese held by the United States. He told newsmen after the meeting he gave the names of 14 seamen to the North Vietnamese delegation.

Harriman said the release of the seamen was a gesture of goodwill and not an act of reciprocity for the freeing of the pilots. He did not explain why he sought to separate the two actions when an American response had been expected since North Vietnam announced the fliers would be freed.

Harriman told Lau the United States had been ready for months to stop all bombing of the North "but you tried to portray us as unwilling to discuss cessations of bombing ... as changing our postion."

NO BASIS

"The answer to the President's appeal which we have heard thus far in Paris," Harriman said, "and the signs we have seen on the ground in Vietnam—have given the President no basis to take the additional risk that a complete bombing cessation would entail."

Confident Nixon Talks About Veep

Sen. Hatfield Predicted To Get The Nod

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon took his drive for the Republican presidential nomination down the home stretch today, his path eased with signs of buckling within the camps of favorite son candidates.

Brimming confidence, his lieutenants said Nixon did not plan to leave his hotel command post during the day. He was reported fixing his thoughts on a running mate. A top GOP official said he was convinced Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon would be the choice.

SHOPPING

Nixon's chief challenger, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, and the third man in the race, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, went shopping for delegates with the fateful balloting some 12 hours away.

Rockefeller put an appeal for votes to 120 delegates and alternates from 13 western states and then tossed out the No. 1 pitch of anti-Nixon forces—that Nixon couldn't win in November.

"To pick a man who can't win would be a tragedy for the country," Rockefeller told newsmen.

Reagan, in a more relaxed criticism of the front-runner, said if Nixon went off to the Soviet Union before the election, as he said he might, he "would undercut the power" of President Johnson.

FORTUNES

The Rockefeller and Reagan fortunes are pinned to keeping favorite son candidacies alive through the first couple of ballots. Their battle plans are to prevent an early Nixon victory, and hope that the tide for him would ebb on subsequent rounds.

The favorite son governor of Alaska, Walter J. Hickel, cut into these hopes by announcing at a Nixon-sponsored news conference that he was urging the state's 12 delegates to go for Nixon on the first ballot. Hickel said his own name might not even be placed in nomination.

In California, where all 86 delegates are lined up behind Reagan, some 25 would vote for Nixon "if they were turned loose freely," Hickel said.

BREAK AWAY

In the Michigan delegation, where Gov. George Romney is a favorite son and possibly harboring real ambitions for the White House, there was a report of a drive to break away for Nixon.

The Associated Press, in its latest nose count, found Nixon with 630 first-round votes, Rockefeller with 270 and Reagan with 177.

Another 194 delegates were lined up behind favorite sons, 71 were uncommitted and two were for New York City's Mayor John V. Lindsay. Needed for victory: 667.

One of the men close to Nixon said he would not be surprised if the former vice president offered second place on the ticket to Rockefeller. He said he thought that under some circumstances Rockefeller might accept.

CONFIDENCE

Nixon exuded confidence. "We're going to win," he said cheerily on the eve of the ballot-

Dirksen Heaves Platform Onto Floor

Sen. Everett Dirksen, in a dramatic bid for quiet among the delegates to the Republican National Convention, tosses a folder containing the 1968 platform onto the convention floor during Tuesday night's session. Dirksen not only got his quiet, but got the platform adopted with a resounding roar.

Republicans Roar Platform Approval

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Republicans roared approval early today of a platform pledging a new national leadership—under the GOP—will push "for a just peace in the world, for dependable progress for all our people, and for a new serenity and unity in this land."

FINAL SHOUT

With these words Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, performing as actor, orator and chairman of the platform-writing committee, won a final shout of endorsement after two hours of speeches at the national convention.

The leading presidential candidates—Richard M. Nixon, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Gov. Ronald Reagan—already had bestowed their blessing on the manifesto which calls for peace without surrender and de-Americanization of the war in Vietnam and a crusade against crime and causes of social ills at home.

Michigan's Gov. George Romney took the podium to declare he had wanted a plank against excessive economic power in the hands of business and labor groups. But he then urged adoption without change of this "excellent platform" for the sake of avoiding a floor battle.

Later, just at the end of the night session, a Kinston, N.C., delegate, R. T. Hood Jr., pushed toward the rostrum with an undisclosed amendment. Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan, the convention chairman, ruled Hood had taken the floor too late to offer his plank. Hood would not tell newsmen what his proposal involved.

(See Page 8-B)

Instead of reading through all 13,000 words of the platform drafted by his 102-man committee last week, Dirksen roused the convention hall throng right at the start by throwing on the floor what he indicated were set speeches.

Then the silver-haired senator launched into a 25-minute oration of his own, interrupted by applause more than a dozen times.

BOUNCING BILLBOARDS

Dancers Are Going GOP-A-Go-Go

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The dancers are going GOP-a-go-go.

Backsides and bosoms have become bouncing political billboards, emblazoned with NIXON, ROCKY and REAGAN in an eye-catching bit of pub pageantry not officially part of the Republican National Convention program.

The torso of one go-go dancer in a Miami Beach bistro is decorated with an undulating elephant, the trunk of that traditional Republican symbol curled around her navel.

Other dancers already revealing support for ROCKY and NIXON in the obvious places are at a loss on how to bring their political policies abreast of Reagan's entry into the race.

The greasepaint politics is sometimes less than pure at heart.

"I don't like Nixon, so I dance like this," said one girl as she put her hand on her right hip to cover the spot where she carries his name.

On another girl's back dances a show of Democratic defiance:

"LBJ Lives."

OUTBURST OF TROUBLE BLAMED ON WEATHER

Negro Youths Wound 7 Officers

HARVEY, Ill. (AP)—Seven policemen were wounded by shotgun pellets during a disturbance by Negro youths late Tuesday night.

Scores of state, county and local police brought order to the troubled area shortly after the initial outburst. Authorities said the morning hours passed without incident.

The injured policemen, all white persons, were admitted to hospitals and reported in good condition.

Mayor James Haines of Harvey imposed a curfew until dawn in the south suburban Chicago community which has grown increasingly tense since a police officer shot a fleeing Negro youth June 30.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict Tuesday of justifiable homicide in the fatal shooting of the Chicago youth.

Haines, who is white, said five police officers were wounded from a single shotgun blast as they dispersed a crowd of 75 to 100 Negro youths who were throwing rocks at passing cars and shouting expletives.

He blamed the disorder, which started late Tuesday night, on the oppressive heat. "On evenings like this it's more comfortable to stand on a street corner," he said.

The disturbance centered in a four-block-square area near the borderline of Harvey and Dixmoor, suburbs 17 miles south of downtown Chicago with a population of 35,000.

The mayor said the Negro youths massed at a car wash and became abusive. Police moved in and ordered the youths to scatter. They remained in the general area for a time and several shots were fired.

Eight arrests were reported, mostly for disorderly conduct.

A spokesman for Ingalls Hospital said none of the seven policemen—three from Harvey and four from neighboring Dolton—was critically injured. Three officers were admitted for treatment. One officer was shot in the face as he patrolled the area in a squad car.

Three other persons were treated for minor injuries and released, including a Negro woman, who said she was struck by two police bullets while officers were "chasing the rioters and shooting at them." She said the bullets penetrated a wall of her home, striking her in the left arm near the elbow and in the right wrist. She received first aid at Ingalls Hospital.

New Texas Constitution Proposes Many Changes

AUSTIN (AP) — For the first time, the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission has laid out the full text of the proposed new state constitution on which it will vote later this month.

The commission, which started its work about 11 months ago, will meet here Aug. 27-29 to consider the draft constitution.

Several committees assigned to study various sections of the present constitution produced the articles that make up the complete draft, which was released Tuesday.

Although numerous changes are made, the proposed document can hardly be called a radical departure from the present 50,000-word constitution. A total of 103 individual sections were deleted.

BREAKS WITH PAST

Once approved by the commission, which consists of appointees of the governor, Speaker Ben Barnes and state Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert, the draft will go to the legislature. Assuming the legislature acts—a highly questionable assumption—the documents then would be submitted to the voters.

Major breaks with the past are made in the sections dealing with the executive and judicial branches and with local government.

The commission was set up by the House in 1967 after the Senate failed to act on a resolution establishing a constitutional revision group responsible to both houses and the governor. Gov. John Connally said modernization of the 92-year-old document, which has been amended on an average of twice a year since it was adopted, is necessary for Texas to meet its responsibilities.

Only one major change was made in the state bill of rights. It substitutes the words "person" or "persons" for "man" or "men" to remove any connotation that the rights are guaranteed to males alone.

FOUR YEAR TERMS

Governors, who now may serve any number of two-year terms, would be limited to one four-year term. Other officials elected statewide also would serve four years but without a limit on how many terms. Election of state executive officials would be during non-presidential election years. The governor would receive a new power to remove appointive officials of the executive branch.

The Senate would be deprived of its right to hold executive sessions to discuss and vote on gubernatorial appointments. The legislature would receive the right—now belongs to the people—to set its salary and allowances.

Trial of appeals from decisions of state agencies would be "de novo"—that is, all evidence would be reviewed on its merits. Judges in such appeals now are limited to deciding whether an agency acted in accordance with the weight of the evidence presented to it.

JUDICIAL BOARD

Judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals and the State Supreme Court, currently elected, would be appointed by the governor from lists of three nominations for each place prepared by a five-member court nominating commission. After serving one six-year term, a judge then would face the voters for an election on whether he should be kept in office.

Judicial districts would have to be revised after each census. The legislature could delegate this job to a judicial redistricting board.

The proposed article on education specifically outlaws school segregation according to race, religion or ethnic group. The new constitution also would delete the present limit of $85 million and the interest rate of 4 per cent on college student loan bonds.

TAXATION

A section of taxation and revenue would allow taxpayers to go to court if they think their property has been assessed unequally for taxation. The legislature should follow up adoption of the provsion quickly by laying down ground rules for such appeals, including time limits, the committee that wrote the article said.

The committee on local government recommended removal of the present limitation on home rule cities' tax rates for operating expenses and increasing the ceiling on taxes for indebtedness from 2½ per cent to 10 per cent of assessed valuation.

Counties could be required to have only one justice precinct instead of four. The legislature would be allowed to alter county boundaries, subject to approval of voters in the counties involved. The legislature also could provide for optional plans of county government and for consolidation of counties as well as of political subdivisions and functions with a county.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS

Some of the provisions on local government are in accord with what Connally unsuccessfully recommended to the 1967 Legislature, particularly the authorization of optional forms of government.

Such forms could include appointment, rather than election, of traditionally elected officials, such as sheriffs, county attorneys and tax assessor-collectors. County administrators could be given executive authority in a county. A county judge would be required to call an election on petition of 10 per cent of the qualified voters on the question of naming a commission to prepare a proposed county charter. The charter would also be subject to voter appeal.

The legislature could provide by law for special districts, of any type instead of the numerous specifically named kinds of districts—some of them applying to only one county.

The commission held its first meeting Sept. 18, 1967.

'Midnight Cowboy' Story Outlined

STANTON — Cecil Bridges introduced Fred Caruso, unit manager of Jerome Hellmans Productions, Inc., of New York, to the Lions Club at their Tuesday meeting. He stated the reasons for selecting Stanton as the location for several scenes in the upcoming movie "Midnight Cowboy." He said representatives of the company has traveled over 5,000 miles through Texas looking for the right location and several spots in Stanton proved to be ideal.

He also gave an outline of the story and answered questions asked of him by the Lion members. Caruso was presented an honorary "old sorehead award" by the club for his presentation. O. B. Bryan said bids will soon be accepted on the golf course and country club to be built in Stanton. There were 21 members present at the meeting.

Dear Abby

This Is A Doggy Family

DEAR ABBY: My only son has been married for nearly five years, and so far all he and his wife have been able to raise are dogs! All my friends have lovely grandchildren to talk about, and I have nothing. It is breaking my heart. My son and daughter-in-law appear to be very happy and there is never any mention of "hoped for" children. Is this normal? They have two poodles who are treated like babies.

Since I think my daughter-in-law is the one who wears the pants in the family, should I ask her if dogs are the best she can do? DISAPPOINTED IN FLUSHING

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: No. And don't ask your son either. They are apt to tell you it's none of your doggone business.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Some neighbors who have children about the ages of ours were suddenly called out of town for a family funeral, and they asked us if we would chaperon a teenage party at their home. We said we'd be glad to and asked them for instructions concerning our responsibilities. We were told, "You don't have to do anything."

I'd like to know what good chaperons are if they keep out of sight?"

My husband and I sat upstairs in the sewing room the whole time and watched television, and when everything was quiet downstairs and all the kids were gone, we came down and went home.

Is this the way people are supposed to "chaperon" a party? BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: No. A chaperon should have an understanding with the young people as to when the party should end, and a few other specifics, such as where in the house they should be, and the rules of conduct, leaving the premises, etc. Chaperons need not be present constantly, but they should make it clear that they could pop in at any moment.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I usually agree with your advice, but not this time. You seemed to be very sympathetic to the 36-year-old wife and mother who had been corresponding with that young 20-year-old soldier in Vietnam. Her husband objected when she invited him to visit them when he got out because he was jealous. You said the husband had an evil-mind, was sick, immature, and half a dozen other things.

Well, I wonder how that wife would feel if her husband had started to correspond with a 20-year-old army nurse, and invited HER to come to visit them? JUST ASKING

YOUNGSTERS GIVEN NEW CLOTHING

Christmas Came In August

Christmas came in August yesterday for a needy Big Spring family.

The family is the one for which the County Welfare Department sounded an appeal to the public for wearable clothing to insure that two small girls and a little boy will be able to enroll in school next month.

Santa Claus is a Big Spring man, who prefers to remain anonymous. He showed up at the welfare office and asked if he could have the address of the needy family whose plight had been described in Sunday's Big Spring Herald.

At the ramshackle residence, where the mother, her four young daughters, and young son live, he introduced himself and asked if he could take the two older girls, aged 8 and 7, and the boy, aged 5, to town. The mother consented.

The citizen marched his young guests into a store that stocks garments for kids of their age and size. He bought each youngster a pair of new school shoes; new socks; two sets of under clothing. He bought the boy a suit and the little girls new dresses.

Enroute back to the home, he stopped at a food store and bought $25 worth of groceries.

The woman, with tears in her eyes, told a welfare worker, "He was the nicest man I ever met."

Mrs. Ruby Phillips, county welfare worker, said response to the appeal for clothing for the kids has been overwhelming.

She said some of the garments, undoubtedly, would not fit the needs of this particular family group.

"Don't worry," she said, "any garments that these children can't use, are needed by other boys and girls on our lists."

The family, for whom the appeal was made, was deserted by the father six weeks ago and his whereabouts are not known.

The mother is pregnant and will soon give birth to her sixth child. She has five children. The oldest is 8 and youngest is 3. Three are school age and are supposed to enroll in school in September.

Another kindly Big Springer, described by the welfare office secretary as "apparently a working man," came to the office and asked the sizes needed. He was gone a short time and returned with two new dresses.

"Big Spring people are wonderfully kind-hearted," said Mrs. Phillips. "Everytime we ask help for some needy family or child, the response is instant and amazing."

College Plans Moving Ahead

BRAZOSPORT, Tex (AP) — Regents of the Brazosport Junior College are moving ahead on construction planning for proposed junior college facilities to accommodate 1,100 students which may be increased to 2,000 by later addition of facilities, Dr. J. Raleigh Jackson, president of the college, says.

Option on 114 acres between Freeport and Angleton and near Lake Jackson and Clute has be secured. Negotiations are under way for 50 additional acres.

Dr. Jackson has just returned from Washington where he conferred with Mrs. T. Wilkins, institutional status officer of the Office of Education, concerning a federal Title I grant of $500,000. He also conferred with Dr. David Kelley of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in Atlanta.

AGREEING TO RUN AS DEMO OR GOP VEEP

Wallace Hints Ruin For Any Southerner

HOUSTON (AP)— Third party presidential candidate George Wallace says a Southerner would be "through in his state" if he ran for vice president spot on either the Republican or Democratic party ticket.

Wallace, campaigning as the American Independent Party candidate, wound up a 10-hour visit to Houston with a rally Tuesday night before a capacity crowd at a 12,500-seat high school football stadium.

PRESSURE

Earlier in the day the former Alabama governor addressed an overflow crowd of nearly 1,000 at a $25-a-plate fund raising dinner in a downtown hotel. Party officials said they sold 932 plates and a number of other persons attended who did not eat.

Wallace flew to Montgomery, Ala., after the rally.

"The other parties are saying, 'We may have to put a Southerner on the ticket,' " he told the stadium crowd. "I'll tell you that any Southerner who runs on the ticket of one of the other parties is through in his state."

His stadium audience sat through a brief rain while awaiting Wallace, who was 45 minutes late. There was no rain during the speech although the skies threatened.

He told the cheering crowd that the Houston turnout would cause the Republican convention in Miami Beach to "shake and sweat . . . and the Democrats in Chicago will be shaking too.'

CROWD CHEERS

Wallace was interrupted several times by applause and cheers.

"News media people complain that we always give the same speech," he said. "I do say the same things in Texas that I say in Massachusetts. Some people are tired of folks who say one thing in the South and another in the North."

He said there is not "10 cents worth of difference between the two major political parties" and they have led the country with policies "you don't like and the average American does not like."

"The people themselves should control their schools, the seniority lists in the labor unions and their housing," he added.

ANARCHISTS

Wallace blamed disorder in the nation on what he called "anarchists, revolutionaries and Communists."

"When I am your president I'm going to take every Communist out of every defense plant," he said.

Wallace said he is assured of being on the ballot in every state except Ohio and is suing to get on the ballot there.

The former governor predicted, "We're going to carry Texas—it's one of our strong states." He said Houston would be an "excellent" site for the party's national convention.

There were no pickets or demonstrators at the airport, the hotel or stadium, although a few persons in the stadium crowd checked Wallace at one point. This brought an angry outburst from his supporters.

"Everything is all right," Wallace said of the incident. "Somebody just wants to get on television."

THREATS

Strict security precautions were in effect during Wallace's visit. Uniformed and plain clothes officers ringed the stadium.

About half the estimated 100 persons at the airport when he arrived were police, Secret Service agents and other security personnel.

Dick Smith of York, Ala., a Wallace aide, told newsmen "15 or 20 threats" were made on Wallace's life while the candidate was in Houston.

"But it happens every day," Smith said. "We just don't pay any attention to them any more."

Police confirmed two threats, one a telephone call to a hotel and another in a postcard to a local newspaper.

Desegregation Plan Shaping

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A new desegregation plan to replace the freedom of choice plan will go into effect Sept. 1 in the Huntsville Independent School District, said Mance Park, superintendent.

Huntsville school district trustees have ordered total desegregation in accordance with provisions of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Schools that do not comply with the Civil Rights Act face loss of federal funds from the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

Park said Monday senior high school classes in buildings now known as Huntsville High School and Huntsville Junior High School will merge. All seventh and eighth graders will attend school in the Sam Houston High School and Scott E. Johnson Junior High buildings.

The combined facilities will be known as Huntsville Intermediate School.

A Devotional For The Day

The Lord called Samuel: and he answered, Here am I. (I Samuel 3:4)

PRAYER: Our dear heavenly Father, help us to wholly surrender our lives to Thee. Keep us this day in the center of Thy will that we may put ourselves in Thy service, bringing others to Thee. This we ask in the name of the Master, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who are in heaven . . . Amen."

Traffic Jam In The Air

A sense of urgency pervades the federal aviation administrator's call for prompt congressional action on an airport expansion program. Circumstances wholly justify this. The nation's air traffic situation poses such severe problems, and they are getting worse so rapidly, that delay is out of the question if Congress is to deal with the matter responsibly.

The FAA chief, Gen. William F. McKee, said in a public address the other day that during the next decade we will need 900 additional airports, and that 2,000 of the present 3,200 publicly owned airports will have to be improved. This would in itself be a sufficient challenge, requiring billions of dollars. But McKee did not stop at that. He properly noted that, unless extraordinary measures are taken safety requirements will even dictate closing down some crowded airports.

The arithmetic of this is simple. Barring a massive effort, there will simply not be enough FAA facilities and personnel to handle swiftly rising air traffic. Unless adequate funds are available for airport modernization, said McKee, "it will be necessary to restrict growth in an effort to maintain our current safety record —a record still not good enough to suit us. Furthermore, we will reassess present commitments for facilities and services and would relocate funds and staff to high-priority locations, consequently closing down or limiting hours of operations of FAA facilities at many locations throughout the country."

That is plain enough. The answer lies not in general tax funds, but in revenue derived from taxation of air passengers, freight and fuel, just as those who use the highways are taxed for their construction and upkeep.

The question of whether such tax money should be held in a trust fund exclusively for aviation uses is of secondary importance. Congress should be able to resolve it without much trouble. The vitally important thing is that a program of air use taxation be put into effect as quickly as possible to provide resources for airport expansion. This is not a problem of the future, but of the immediate and continuing present.

Flood Insurance Developing

Residents of the Texas Gulf Coast, subject as they are to flooding during hurricanes and occasionally from other causes, can rejoice in a bill just signed into law by President Johnson.

A portion of the bill will make it possible for the federal government and the insurance industry to cooperate in offering flood insurance for property owners.

Insurance is by definition a sharing of the risk. The problem heretofore has been that there was too much risk to be shared by too few people, the obvious result being premiums far out of reach of the typical home owner and small businessmen.

The effect of the new measure is to bring down the premiums with the federal government sharing in the risk.

Flooding can cause a major loss to a home owner, just as surely as fire or windstorm can. Scarcely anyone would want to be without fire insurance. Perhaps now, in areas where flooding is a distinct possibility, no one will want to be without flood insurance.

The next step is for the Department of Housing and Urban Development to work out the guidelines for the federal participation. These guidelines should be coming shortly. Then an interested property-owner should be able to get a clear idea of what kind of an insurance contract he can obtain and at what cost.

Necessarily, there will have to be some public expense. The program is worth the expense — in reducing some of the heartaches of a natural disaster, primarily.

McCarthy And The Democratic Party

WASHINGTON —Sen. Eugene McCarthy, lest anybody doubt it, could still be the man to beat — and this to the wonderment of all.

He wasn't supposed to be in the running at this late stage, much less in a position to snatch the Democratic nomination and to give the Republicans trouble in November. Since any analysis of McCarthy's front position has to be very disagreeable, it should be prefaced by softening remarks. McCarthy, as statesman and human being in mind and conscience, comes out of the top-drawer.

THE DISAGREEABLE thing to say is that McCarthy, by a combination of pluck and luck, stands to inherit the sorriest legacy in the history of American political parties. It began in March when the Minnesota senator had the gall and gumption to challenge Lyndon Johnson in the New Hampshire primary. Not even the gimlet-eyed Kennedy clique dared to estimate what a bag of bones an incumbent President of the United States could become under stressful conditions. Only after McCarthy had exposed LBJ's deterioration in prestige and popularity did Robert Kennedy enter the contest that led to the grave.

McCARTHY DESERVES credit for knowing and showing that his party had a hollow shell in the White House, but he could not have anticipated what came next — Bob Kennedy's foul murder.

The tragic event served to consolidate two factions which — divided —were nowhere near strong enough to keep the Democratic nomination from Hubert Humphrey, the open favorite of Labor, the sentimental favorite of the Negro elite, the inside favorite of the reigning administration.

DID McCARTHY sense the same hollowness in Humphrey as he had sounded out in Johnson? This was the senator's claim, and we need not dispute it. But the tragic coincidence of Kennedy — saved McCarthy again. American war casualties went up to a midsummer mark of 500 a week killed in action. The hand of death, which had removed the rivalry of Bob Kennedy, became a helping hand to Gene McCarthy. The single issue on which he'd undertaken his campaign — the futility of the Vietnam War — mocked the bleeding nation. That issue did for McCarthy what ought never have been — it gave aid and comfort to a presidential candidate who in turn was proferring those very things to the enemy. That issue made an appeal to youth which should never have been — the skin-saving appeal of wartime pacificism.

EVEN AT THAT, McCarthy did not pull clear of Humphrey. Until late July, the Vice President had a psychological advantage, the great expectation that he might get Sen. Ted Kennedy for a running-mate. Young Kennedy's self-removal was a development beyond any outsider's control, another windfall of undeserved luck for McCarthy.

For the first time, McCarthy picked up a momentum that may well carry him all the way home. But it is fair to say that he was already rolling, and that only a Humphrey-Kennedy arrangement could have stopped him. For by the end of July, Humphrey himself was beginning to flounder. The Vice President's crowds, apathetic for a while, turned openly antagonistic.

SAY FOR Clean Gene McCarthy that he will not personally disgrace his success if, in fact, it comes to him. His luck does no discredit to his pluck.

All the same, it's a sorry legacy that he stands to inherit: the war party that has failed of victory; the people's party which has failed the people; the nation's oldest party, like an old tree, dying at the top.

Will you please tell me what you think heaven will be like.
P. R.

I'm afraid that my opinion is irrelevant on such a question. It is enough to know that Jesus had quite a lot to say about heaven, and He was not in the habit of talking about things or places that did not exist.

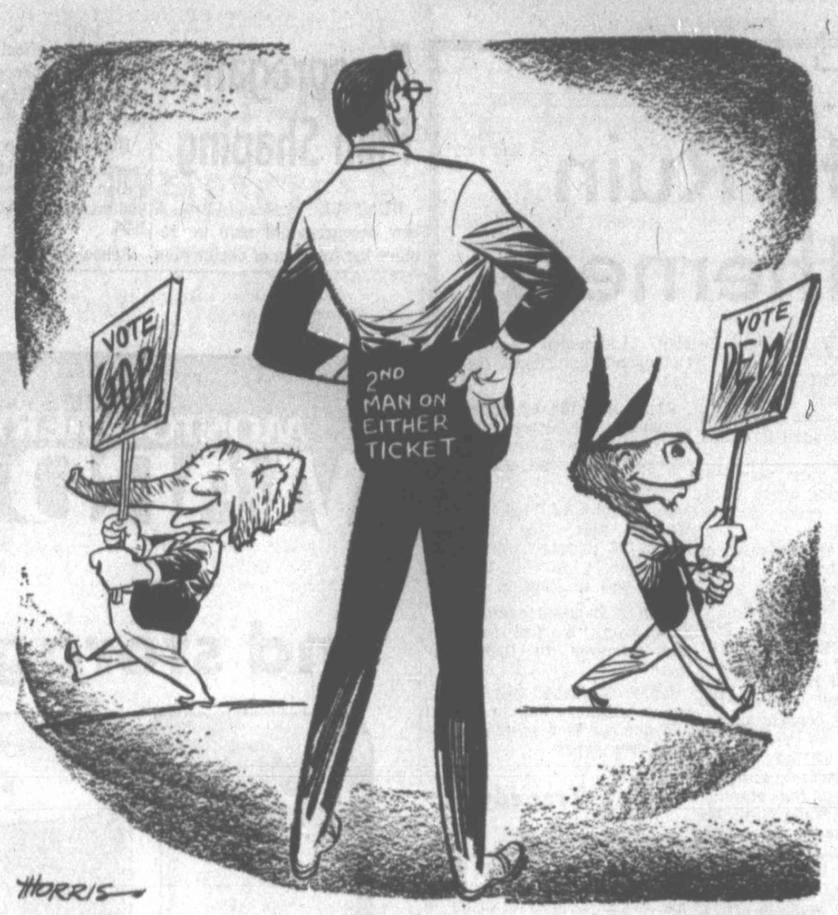

In heaven our knowledge shall be increased. "Then shall we know, even also as we are known."

In heaven we shall at last be conformed to His image. "We know that when He appears we shall be like Him."

In heaven the sorrows and sufferings of this life will be unknown. "He will wipe away all tears from their eyes . . . and there shall be no sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain."

In heaven there will be zestful activity. "His servants shall serve Him, and they shall see His face."

In heaven sin will be known no more. "And there was no more curse, but the throne of God and the Lamb shall be in it." Words fail us, as words failed John, to describe the glory and beauty of heaven. "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, nor the heart of man conceived what God has prepared for those who love him."

Wage-Price Controls Threat

NEW YORK (AP) — Repeated references to mandatory wage-price controls by the Johnson administration have reminded business that while the prospects are played down the thinking about them has been almost constant.

The prospect of statutory controls is unlikely, for many months at least, and both industry and labor know it. The administration's repeated references, therefore, demonstrate more than anything its frustrations in dealing with inflation, its lack of a vehicle for holding down wage-price increases.

THIS WEEK Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz again returned to the subject, expressing his "very real" concern over inflation, insinuating that mandatory controls are a possibility, but adding, "I don't think the situation is out of hand."

This has been a recurring theme. Washington's statements sometimes have been enigmatic enough to cast doubt on what is meant. But one meaning for sure is that the idea of mandatory controls has been explored, very likely with a negative conclusion.

Last November, for example, the secretary answered "poppycock" to a reporter's question regarding the probability of stiff controls. Clear enough.

A few weeks later, in answer to another reporter's question, Wirtz stated: "We're not even in the ballpark as far as considerations of controls is concerned." Again clear.

AT ABOUT THE same time, President Johnson introduced the subject in a talk to the Business Council. Voluntary restraints have made involuntary controls unnecessaary, he said, adding, "to this point."

But a few weeks later, contrary to previous assertions, the secretary stated on a television program that "in the absence of a tax increase it would become necessary to consider wage and price controls."

Almost immediately, Johnson told newsmen he did not "hold to the view that wage or price controls are imminent at all." Later Wirtz issued a clarification.

These repeated references, even though sometimes negative and in answer to questions, seem to indicate that the subject of mandatory controls has been considered quite seriously. But it was felt also that they were simply part of the maneuverings considered necessary to get a tax bill passed.

BUT NOW, even though the tax issue has been settled with a 10 per cent surcharge on corporate and personal income taxes, the secretary has spoken again.

There are, he said, three ways to control inflation: Wage-price controls, unspecified steps that would cause higher unemployment, and third, the use of voluntary restraints.

Life Is Not So Bad If . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Mondays are not only a bore —they're also dangerous. An insurance company has found that more accidents on the job occur on Monday than any other day. The second most dangerous work day is Friday.

To cut down on the cost of cowboys, Japanese ranchers in mountainous areas are experimenting with sound waves to control their cattle herds. So far the high frequency sounds, which to the human ear resemble the echo of church bells, have been used to lure the cattle to feeding stations. But if they don't get fed, the cattle quit responding to the sounds.

ARE YOU OVER 40, overweight and related to a diabetic? Then perhaps you should follow medical urging and take a simple test for diabetes yourself. It is estimated that some 1.6 million Americans probably are suffering from undiagnosed diabetes and by going without treatment may shorten their lives or risk blindness.

The boom in women's wigs has been followed by a boom in the men's hairpiece industry. Last year 100,000 balding U.S. men bought toupees or other forms of hirsute cranial adornment, and some 125,000 are expected to follow suit this year.

America fears a future water shortage. But, according to the National Geographic Society, there is more fresh water hidden in the seeming dry earth than exists in all the nation's rivers, ponds, lakes and reservoirs. The problem is to get it out. At present about a fifth of all the water we use comes from underground sources.

Worth remembering: "The nicest thing about being bald is that when company comes all you have to do is straighten your tie."

Discussion On Combatting Canker Sores

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have mouth ulcers and would like to know what causes them. My local doctor says they are caused by a stomach disorder, but I am only 16 and doubt that.

Another doctor said they were from bruising my mouth, so I quit brushing my teeth for about five days, but that didn't help.

I have had up to 11 at one time. My local doctor would burn them off with acid, but they would come back. Do you think I need a complete physical checkup? — S.G.

Mouth ulcers (canker sores or aphthous ulcers) can be aggravating and you're having more than your share.

These ulcers are inside the mouth (not on the gums) and should not be confused with "cold sores" or herpes simplex, which appear on the outside of the lips and are caused by a virus.

Canker sores are stubborn in two ways. They keep recurring and they zealously refuse to give us a good clue as to the cause.

A form of strep germ has been found in such ulcers, and for that reason a solution of the antibiotic tetracycline has been recommended, the idea being to swish it around in the mouth for two or three minutes, then swallow it. Sometimes it works.

Other experts lean toward the idea that injury to the tissues may be a factor — tooth brush or hard foods. Maybe this is part of the cause in some cases. Other times apparently not.

Allergy has been implicated, probably with good reason in a lot of cases. Nuts, citrus fruits, vegetables, chocolate are among suspected items. One group of investigators found allergy to weak organic acids as a probable cause — the weak citric acid of oranges, lemons, grapefruit, tomatoes, or the mild acetic acid of vinegar in pickles, salad dressings, and so on. You might observe whether your attacks follow use of these acid foods.

Until or unless we can find some common factor which has to be present in all such ulcers, we aren't likely to develop a treatment that will cure all of them.

Meantime I can give you a variety of methods, all of which have been helpful in some cases, none in all.

Keep a "food diary," to see whether you can identify some food allergy. Then avoid the offending foods.

Touching the ulcers with silver nitrate, or with trichloracetic acid is sometimes effective — but the ulcers can recur. An ingredient in licorice has been reported as useful, also.

Putting a tealeaf on the ulcer has been used, the astringent effect of tannin in the tea acting on the ulcer.

In very severe cases steroids (drugs of the cortisone group) have been used to shorten attacks of ulcers and relieve pain.

As high as about 20 per cent of the population has trouble at times with these cankers, more women than men by far. Reason for this? Who knows? There may be a relationship to the menstrual period. Others think emotional stress has some bearing.

Other members of the family may have the trouble, too, but this is not believed to be a matter of infection, but rather of a hereditary tendency.

Should a sure remedy be developed, I'll be overjoyed to say so. For the present, try the various methods.

Around The Rim

Stories Never Told

Lots of stories are never told.

For one reason or another, it is prudent not to put them in print, and it's a shame, for generally, these incidents or events are of such stuff as tales of intrigue are made.

FOR INSTANCE, some months ago I read with more than ordinary interest the news that the North Koreans had "hijacked" a United States patrol boat. The Pueblo, a U.S. Navy intelligence auxiliary ship with 83 men aboard, was seized about 25 miles off the North Korean coast and taken to Wonsan. The ship billeted six officers, 75 enlisted men and two civilians. News stories noted that the Pueblo's crew blew up the vessel's secret coding machine, along with other devices that could have told the enemy much about this country's intelligence gathering procedures.

The front page story, and the Pentagon's acknowledgment that the ship was an intelligence vessel, supposedly lifted the official lid on worldwide electronic spying by the major powers. Perhaps . . . yet there is much in the dramatic top-secret war of wits that will not be known and many men who will never hear public praise for their part in the clandestine activities — and conspiracies — that have drawn the fine line of difference in defeat or victory during days of war.

AMERICAN SECURITY officials, particularly those involved in cryptology, go to extraordinary lengths to prevent security leaks. Top-secret security clearance will not automatically permit their holders to see cryptologic information; this requires a special cryptology clearance. President John F. Kennedy afforded this subject special importance in his Executive Order No. 10964 on security.

Congress, in 1950, agreed with Defense Department contentions that neither the Espionage Law of 1917 nor the Yoraly Law of 1933 (which covered only diplomatic codes) afforded sufficient protection to American cryptologic affairs. It enacted Public Law 513, codified as Title 18, Section 798, U.S. Code, which specifically made it a crime — punishable by a fine of $10,000 and a jail term of 10 years, to disclose classified information concerning American or foreign agents' cryptosystems.

THIS IS BASED on the fact that knowledge of a cipher system can give an enemy insight into vast quantities of information that forms the basis of this country's defense.

The President's directive that created the National Security Agency was, and is, classified as security information, and the veil has remained since that time. To this day, the NSA is more secret and more grave than the CIA (Central Intelligence Agency). It remains the most reticent and least known organization of the entire "hush-hush" American intelligence community.

THE DEFENSE Communication System consists essentially of the strategic nets of three service branches — the Army's STARCOM, the Navy's Naval Communication System and the Air Force's AIRCOM.

Their stories will never be told. Be glad they are there. — JO BRIGHT

GOP Platform Strives For Unity

MIAMI BEACH — Unity instead of divisiveness is the Republican party objective. It has been expressed in such broad and yet politically meaningful terms in the party platform just formulated that Nixon and Rockefeller or Reagan could accept every plank without embarrassment.

The Republican nominee will not be prevented in any way, of course, from amplifying or interpreting what is contained in the platform. Its framers have astutely phrased the planks to last at least through the campaign.

THE VIETNAM WAR plank was the most difficult of all, because contingencies — such as a cease-fire — could develop during the campaign which would outdate some points in the plank. The Republicans merely say that they want the South Vietnamese people to take more of the responsibility for participation in the war, and that the United States desires "neither peace at any price nor a camouflaged surrender of legitimate United States or allied interests."

So far as fighting the war itself is concerned, the Republicans naturally claim that grave errors of strategy were made and that a "prolonged war of attrition" has resulted.

THERE IS ONE statement, moreover, which has in it considerable significance. The foreign-policy plank of the platform says:

"No longer will foreign aid activities range free of our foreign policy. Nations hostile to this country will receive no assistance from the United States. We will not provide aid of any kind to countries which aid and abet the war efforts of North Vietnam.

"Only when Communist nations prove by actual deeds that they genuinely seek world peace and will live in harmony with the rest of the world, will we support expansion of east-west trade."

THIS IS A warning to the Soviet Union and to Red China. In fact, the platform says flatly that, "under existing conditions, we cannot favor recognition of Communist China or its admission to the United Nations."

On the question of future defense, the Republican platform unhesitatingly declares that the administration has had the singular notion that "standing still" in armament building would bring peace. It adds:

"Not retention of American superiority but parity with the Soviet Union has been made the controlling doctrine in many critical areas. We have frittered away superior military capabilities, enabling the Soviets to narrow their defense gap, in some areas to outstrip us, and to move to cancel our lead entirely by the early seventies."

ON DOMESTIC AFFAIRS, the platform provides that the new administration will be firm in its attitude toward law enforcement and will work in cooperation with the states and cities, but there is no indication that the federal government under a Republican administration will move in to put down local disorders. The platform says:

"We simultaneously support decisive action to quell civil disorder, relying primarily on state and local governments to deal with these conditions."

THE EMPHASIS rather is on federal aid in rebuilding the cities, improving transportation, health and education, and creating jobs.

What the platform makers have done is to write a declaration that they can use in the campaign to promise better living conditions and economic stability in America. But economists will wonder whether a healthy economy can be achieved as long as political considerations are so closely related to government spending.

Let The World Choose Our President

WASHINGTON — Everywhere I went in Europe this summer they asked the same question: "Who's going to be the next President of the United States?" Americans don't realize it, but Europeans feel they have as much stake in the outcome of our presidential elections as we do, and the results are watched with as much trepidation in Rome, Italy, as they are in Rome, New York.

This worldwide concern over who the next United States President will be has reached such enormous proportions that I believe there is only one solution to the problem, and that is that it's time America opened up the presidential elections to everyone.

ANY CITIZEN of any country, who is over 21 years of age, should be permitted to vote for the President of the United States. In this way the next President would be chosen on the basis of his popularity throughout the world, instead of just the 50 states.

The advantages of holding such an election would far outweigh the costs of installing voting booths in such far-off places as Sierra Leone and Borneo. For one thing, if the President of the United States is elected globally he would have a worldwide mandate from the people and no one could complain that the President of the United States is just representing the interests of his own country.

SINCE EVERYONE would have a say about the next U.S. President, the people of other nations would be obligated to support him, and back him in the great decisions that affect them. It is my belief that if we open up the elections to everyone on the globe, the attacks on the dollar will cease, the demonstrations against American embassies will come to a halt and the U.S. Sixth Fleet will be welcome in every port in the world.

I know there are nit pickers who will say the idea is impracticable. They'll point out that it will be very costly for presidential candidates to campaign in every part of the world, and there is always the language barrier that has to be considered when you open American elections to outside countries.

BUT THIS IS not a serious objection. For four years now Richard Nixon has been traveling all over the world running for President of the United States and it hasn't hurt him. With satellite-television, the other candidates could get over their message with subtitles. There would be no difficulty for an American political campaign to be adapted to a global affair.

The critics will say that people in many parts of the world are not sufficiently informed to vote for an American President, but this, of course, is a canard.

EVERYONE KNOWS about American politics and even in the Soviet Union, where I just came from, the Russians who refused to express opinions about their own government expressed strong opinions about ours.

The only way we can get the rest of the world to support the United States is to permit them to choose our President. Why should Americans take the responsibility for electing Nixon, Rockefeller, Reagan, Humphrey or McCarthy when everyone else is going to criticize our choice anyway?

New Price Hikes Unfurled By U. S. Steel Executives

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp., which usually sets the pace for steel prices across the nation, announced more price hikes today on certain products.

The nation's biggest steel producer, which had announced hikes in tin mill products and structural steel items several days ago, posted new prices on four new items.

The announcement came in the face of opposition by Presidnet Johnson, who had asked the steel industry to hold the line on price increases. The White House aides has said during the weekend that a stand-pat position on prices by U.S. Steel was one of the President's big hopes.

BIG BITES

In announcing price hikes ranging from $4.50 to $8.00 a ton on carbon and high-strength, low-alloy steels and constructional full alloy steels today, U.S. Steel said:

"To repeat, steel prices are not the cause of inflation. This is now almost, but not quite, universally recognized."

U.S. Steel said the price changes, "if applied industry-wide and taking into account price changes by U.S. Steel since the labor settlement July 30, would mean an aggregate change of about 2½ per cent or $4.30 per ton on all steel sales."

STAINLESS STEEL

At the same time, the company said it does not intend changing prices on a long list of other products, including such items as semi-finished steel, steel for shells, sheet piling, rails, tubular products including bomb pipe, galvanized and other coated sheets, wires, or stainless steel.

But the company added, "From time to time over the next 12 months, depending on market and other conditions, there will naturally be price announcements as there have been during the past year."

The price move by U.S. Steel was the latest in a series by most of the nation's largest producers and several smaller firms since the industry granted the United Steelworkers union a billion-dollar plus labor settlement last week.

LABOR COSTS

Taking note of the higher labor costs, U.S. Steel said "the current price changes fall short of meeting the new employment costs incurred . . . and make no provision for increases in other steel company operating expenses . . ."

The new prices take effect Aug. 16.

Before the U.S. Steel announcement, government and industry sources had said that this was a critical period and that if there were no retreat by industry by Thursday, there probably wouldn't be any.

PREDICTION

This prediction was based by well informed sources on two factors: Evidence the industry is feeling government pressure and the fact the key Bethlehem Steel Corp. price hikes take effect Thursday.

Happy Days Are Here Again

A spontaneous moment of joy unites Sen. Edward W. Brooke, left, of Massachusetts and Thomas E. Dewey on the podium of the Republican National Convention in Miami Beach Tuesday night. Man Threatening To Jump Grabbed

DALLAS (AP) — A policeman crept up from behind and grabbed hold of a man's pants Tuesday to halt a threatened leap from the top of a 41-story skyscraper.

Officers said Robert Lynn Dean, 37, jotted a terse and cryptic note on a newspaper obituary page, scaled a 10-foot barrier and perched on a ledge of the Southland Life Building.

Hundreds of homeward-bound office workers gathered below to watch as Dean paced the ledge for almost three hours.

Police converged on the downtown building, and firemen set up rescue nets in the streets below.

Dean's wife Christine was summoned, and she was talking to her husband when police Lt. A. C. Clark began to edge toward Dean from behind.

Clark thrust one hand between steel bars of the restraining barrier and grabbed Dean's pants. He held on while firemen threw a rope around Dean and snipped seven steel bars to make a hole large enough to pull Dean through.

Police said Dean wrote a note and left it on a table in a lounge that adjoins the top-floor observation deck. The note read: "Dean, R. L.—who cared."

The note was written on a scrap of paper torn from a Fort Worth Star-Telegram obituary page. The note helped identify Dean, police said.

Cohen Insists Integration May Be A Generation Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare secretary Wilbur J. Cohen says integration may be a generation away in many northern city school systems and the goal in the meantime should be to improve conditions in black neighborhoods.

"I think we have to be realistic," the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare said. "In a large number of big-city areas we have a lot of neighborhoods that are going to be completely black."

NOT THE ANSWER

But, he said, "if we can have good schools and good police protection (in such areas), maybe that's better than having fear and riots. And maybe another generation will have to deal with integration."

Cohen also said in an interview that busing of students between slum and other neighborhoods is not the answer to desegregating school systems.

"I have never thought that busing was a very large-scale answer to this problem and I don't think most people do," he said. "I don't see it as more than a temporary expedient. Over-all, nationally, it is not the answer."

Asked whether his assessment means that greater emphasis should be placed on making Negro schools better, he said: "Yes, I think so."

EXPANSION PLANS

Cohen called for expansion of the $1-billion-a-year program of federal education aid to poor youngsters.

The secretary also said that his department plans to "step up very substantially and materially" its program to assure equal educational opportunities for Negro children in Northern schools.

The Northern program, begun early this year, is an extension of HEW's civil rights compliance efforts in Southern school systems.

Cohen acknowledged that expansion of the Northern program would be required under provisions inserted by Southerners in a bill pending before Congress. The provision would require HEW to assign as many school civil rights investigators to the North as it does to the South.

He said, however, that the department planned to expand the northern program anyway.

Barry Woos Texas Voters

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Barry Goldwater, conservative spellbinder of the 1964 Republican convention, is at it again.

The former Arizona senator changed his mind about returning home and quietly set up shop Tuesday in an unpretentious hotel room. Delegates began pouring through the halls.

Goldwater's rousing welcome at Convention Hall Monday night briefly rekindled his glory of four years ago in San Francisco, and provided an opportunity Richard M. Nixon couldn't pass up.

Goldwater said only Nixon could have prevailed on him to remain at the convention. Now Goldwater says he will be in Miami Beach until Thursday, the morning after the presidential candidate is scheduled to be named.

Fire Sweeps Business Section In Texas Town

MAUD, Tex. (AP) — Fire razed a city block which amounted to nearly all the business section in this Northeast Texas town of about 1,000 people Tuesday night.

A night watchman spotted the blaze in an auto parts store fronting on US 67 in Maud, which is 20 miles west of Texarkana. Flames enveloped the building while he was sounding an alarm.

Before it could be checked the fire also swept through a large supermarket and half a dozen smaller business places. There were periodic small explosions of ammunition in another store and cans of cleaning fluid in a dry cleaner's shop.

At one time the blaze was visible for more than five miles.

A power transformer caught fire and a witness observed, "It looked like a bunch of firecrackers going off."

Severed power lines dropped across the highway, forcing traffic to be detoured for about two hours.

Volunteer firemen from Maud with help from four other communities and the Army's Red River ammunition depot controlled the blaze after a two-hour battle.

There was no immediate estimate of loss. Authorities said they had not determined how the fire started.

Ike Is Receiving Oxygen, Outlook Remains 'Guarded'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors said today the heart attack suffered by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Tuesday was a major one equal in severity to Eisenhower's earlier major attacks. They said the outlook was "guarded," or unpredictable.

Doctors of Walter Reed Army Hospital said so in answer to questions submitted by newsmen.

But in a formal medical bulletin they said they were "satisfied with his current progress," and that he had spent a comfortable night.

In answer to questions, they said Eisenhower is receiving oxygen continuously as a treatment.

EQUAL

The doctors had been asked this question:

"How does the general's present heart attack compared in severity with his previous ones, especially the attack of June 15?"

The answer was: "Equal severity."

Eisenhower has suffered five earlier heart attacks, several of them including the last previous one on June 15 rated as major.

The doctors replied "negative" and "not pertinent" to questions whether they had considered a heart transplant for Eisenhower, and whether a person with his history of heart trouble would be an eligible candidate for a new heart.

BULLETIN

As to the outlook in Eisenhower's case, the doctors' reply was: "The prognosis in the early days following any myocardial infarction is 'guarded.' The word 'guarded' means that in this early period after any heart attack, the outcome is unpredictable.

A morning medical bulletin from Walter Reed Army Hospital said:

"Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has spent a comfortable night following his recent heart attack which occurred at 0615 hours (6:15 a.m. EDT) yesterday morning.

"His vital signs have remained stable. The doctors report that they are satisfied with his current progress."

DAMAGE

Vital signs refer to the general's blood pressure, heart rate and breathing rate.

Doctors say it could take days to assess the heart damage caused by the latest attack.

Private physicians told The Associated Press diagnosis of Eisenhower's attack is complicated by the fact that he has had so many—six since 1955.

They said previously affected areas of the heart present a confusing picture on electronic equipment monitoring the heart beat, possibly sending signals overlapping the latest trouble.

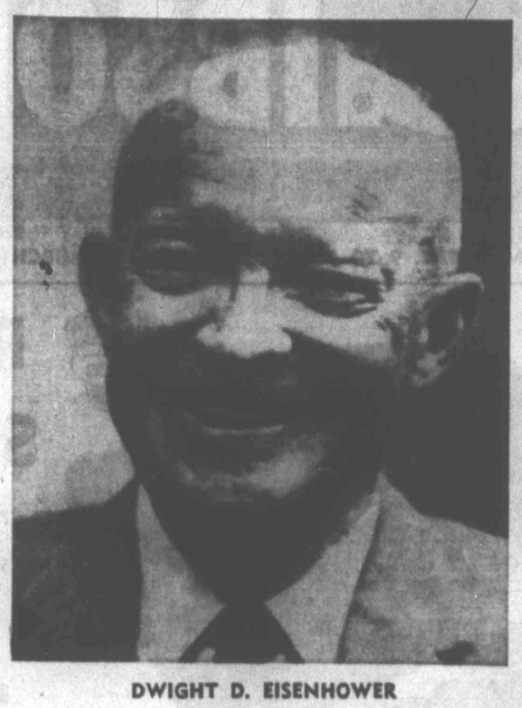

But doctors at Walter Reed Hospital, where the general suffered the latest attack at 6:15 a.m., said: "Any individual who has sustained a recent infarction is considered to be seriously ill."

BLOOD CLOT

The doctors described the attack as probably a myrocardial infarction, or blocking of blood flow in the heart by a blood clot or fatty deposits in the bloodstream.

Doctors said electronic equipment was keeping tabs continually on Eisenhower's metabolism. He was on a low salt, liquid diet.

Visitors were restricted to the immediate family. Doctors said his wife, Mamie, visited him often. His son, John, and granddaughter flew here from The Republican National Convention at Miami Beach.

Oklahoma Delegation Expected To Go Nixon

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Oklahoma delegation had a busy round of meetings Wednesday with Republican presidential hopefuls or their representatives before a final poll to determine where their votes will go at the Convention.

Slated to appear before an afternoon caucus were Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and Sen. John Tower of Texas, who is visiting with the Sooners on behalf of Richard Nixon.

The caucus was to be the final one before the delegation headed for Convention Hall and help pick the party' nominee.

At latest report, Nixon was still commanding the big share of the delegation's loyalty.

An Associated Press count had 14 delegates firmly for Nixon, seven favoring Reagan and one delegate—Atty. Gen. G. T. Blankenship—pledged to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

Former Oklahoma football coach Bud Wilkinson predicted Nixon would get at least 17 of the delegation's 22 votes on the first ballot.

Wilkinson, national committeeman from Oklahoma, said some Reagan supporters could be expected to jump on the Nixon bandwagen.

"Some of the Reagan people are supporting him because they want him in the forefront as a possible choice for vice president," he said.

"That might be the wrong strategy," he said. "What Nixon will need —if he gets the nomination —is a running mate who can get support from the liberal side."

Double Tragedy

NORTH KINGSTON, R.I. (AP) — After Raymond Dumas lost his first wife, Eileen, in an automobile accident at Clinton, Mass., in 1964, he married her older sister, Josephine. Tuesday, Josephine was killed when her car hit a tree off Route 1A in North Kingston.

Dumas, an aviation storekeeper first class assigned to the aircraft carrier Essex, has nine children aged 4 to 18.

GOP

ing. Charts posted by his aides in a hotel headquarters flashed the same optimism. "More than 700 votes," they read.

Rockefeller saw in all this enthusiasm "evidence of cold war strategy." The Nixon people, he said, were trying to give delegates the impression Nixon has the nomination in the bag.

"It just is not true," the governor declared.

Reagan, meanwhile, pushed ahead with a campaign that put the accent on salesmanship and good cheer. He was being low key.

Asked how many votes he had, the onetime actor replied: "I'd love to find out." Asked if he would really like to be President, he replied with more emphasis: "You bet I'd like it."

STRENGTH

Though there have been reports Reagan has been gathering strength, particularly among more conservative delegates, his aides pegged the governor's delegate strength at about 200—a figure they gave a week ago.

To win, the Rockefeller and Reagan people have to keep the flags of favorite sons flying high, especially on the first ballot.

Nixon's chances for a first-ballot victory could hinge on whatever switches might take place if he closed in on 667 as the clerk completed the state-by-state tally.

At completion of the first roll call individual delegates—or whole delegations for that matter—could ask to change their vote in the hope of being singled out for later political recognition as supplying the winner with the margin necesary for nomination.

NOT REFLECT

Although Leonard W. Hall, Rockefeller's convention manager, stuck to his claim that Nixon would get no more than 560 votes on the first count, this did not necessarily reflect the opinion of those grappling with realities in the New York governor's camp.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, one of a dozen inner-circle advisers, said a great problem in stopping Nixon lies in the possibility of southern delegates who have switched to Reagan in the last few days jumping to Nixon if it appears their votes could put him over.

Study Of Budget Due Next Monday

Howard County Commissioners have promised Virginia Black, county auditor, they will devote full time next Monday to a study of the budget for the ensuing year.

Plans had been considered to work on the budget at the meeting on yesterday but Ray Nichols, one of the members, was absent and it was decided to postpone the study until next week.

The budget for the 1969 year must be completed and ready for public hearing by Sept. 9. So far the commissioners, according to the auditor, have only begun to consider the items in it.

Mrs. Black has prepared a first draft and the court will work from this in its preparation of the budget.

Rehabilitation Week Slated For September

The board of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center met Tuesday evening to appoint the nominating committee for the 1969 slate of officers. Appointed to the committee were Don Womack, chairman; Anna Smith, and Chester Cathy.

The board also appointed John P. Wilson to fill the vacant board position held by the late Neil Hilliard. The group recognized the long service given the board by Mr. Hilliard.

In other action the board Rehabilitation Week slated for September. The center will entertain members of local service clubs with a tour of the center and a dinner.

They also voted to participate in the United Fund parade to be held in the fall.

Members of the Rehabilitation Week committee are Ernest Welch, Anna Smith, Mrs. Ruby Ream, and Dr. Keith Thompson while those serving on the parade committee are Goerge Zachariah and Col. Chandler Estes.

Jim Thompson, director of the center, made a comparative report to the board concerning the number of patients and treatments at the center in the past two years.

The number of patients undergoing physical therapy, occupational therapy, and speech therapy totalled 6,025 for the 1967-68 period, an increase of 1,000 patients over the 1966-67 period.

The number of patients in physical therapy for the 1968 period was 4,598 as compared to the 4,421 in 1967. The center began occupational therapy in February and so far has treated 350 patients. The number of patients in speech therapy has almost doubled in the past year. In 1967, the total was 611 patients treated; in 1968, the figure was 1,077.

The three crippled children clinics held during the past year have served some 122 crippled children.

The swimming program included 67 children with 968 lessons given.

Following the board meeting, the members met with the board of the local Easter Seal Society to review the duties of each board.

Two Joining Police Force

Two patrolmen are being added to the Big Spring Police Department, and one is resigning, announced Jay Banks, police chief.

Joining the force today is Ronald Milton Brown, 21, 401 Westover, a native of Big Spring and Vietnam war veteran in the Navy.

Brown, who lives with his parents, is a graduate of Big Spring High School.

Joe Benford Kropp, 20, will join the department Aug. 14, when he becomes 21, replacing Patrolman Mark Lindsey.

Lindsey is resigning to take over a business in Tulia, Banks said.

Kropp, born in Brownfield, graduated from Big Spring High School. He is married and has one child.

Both newcomers to the force passed the written examination, appeared before an oral review board, and passed a background investigation, Banks said.

Ohio Army Reservists Lose Active Duty Suit

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A federal judge has denied a petition by 113 Ohio Army Reservists to be released from active duty.

In a 14-page opinion Tuesday, Judge Frank A. Kaufman of U.S. District Court ruled that a law authorizing the President to call reservists was applicable to them even though they enlisted before the law became effective on Oct. 15, 1966.

The Reservists, stationed at nearby Ft. Meade, Md., had challenged the constitutionality of the law and contended Congress could not delegate to the President the power to call them to active duty.

Their attorneys contended the men had a contract with the U.S. government under the law in effect when they joined the reserves, and that it was violated and abridged by the application of the 1966 statute.

Counsel also argued that the 1966 law, as applied to them, constituted a denial of equal protection of the law and violated the separation of powers doctrine.

Judge Kaufman said that under the law in effect when the men enlisted, the President was authorized to call reserves into active duty in time of national emergency "or when otherwise authorized by law."

The reservists were ordered to active duty as a unit last May 13, for two years' service. They had been on inactive duty with the 1002nd Supply and Service Company in Cleveland, Ohio.

Cotton Meet In Lubbock

Top government and industry officials will be on hand to discuss shipping, marketing and financing cotton for export in a meeting Aug. 13 ata the KoKo Palace in Lubbock.

Topics of the day-long session will cover the significance of cotton exports, programs to expand cotton exports, export-import bank credits for cotton, foreign credit insurance programs, and action that can be taken to expand cotton exports.

Speaking will be several members of the U.S. State Department, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Department of Commerce, Maritime Administration, and Foreign Credit Insurance Association.

U. S. Congressman George Mahon also will be there to air comments on the cotton export situation, as well as Don Anderson, Crosbyton farmer and president of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and Dr. Brandon Hull, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

A significiant decrease in U. S. cotton exports in the past seven years has been a major factor in bringing about this meeting. In 1960, the U. S. exported 7,182,000 bales, but the total diminished to 4,668,000 bales in 1967. Twenty-five per cent of this decrease has been for cotton under one-inch in staple length.

Thug Nabs Telephone

Police Tuesday investigated three thefts and one burglary.

Some five pounds of copper wiring were taken from Delta Electric, on the Snyder Highway, Tuesday afternoon. Several other thefts had occurred there recently, police said.

Dennis Holmes, 1409 Princeton, reported that 50 locks were taken from a Standard Cigarette Co. truck which was parked at 308 NW 3rd, while Holmes was in a restaurant at that address. The locks were used on coin operated vending machines.

A brass center piece, valued at $25, was taken from the women's restroom at the Cinema Theater sometime after 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, police said.

Someone entered the residence of Charlotte Evelyn Stephens, 1313 Virginia, before 10:45 p.m. Tuesday, police said. Nothing but a telephone was missing.

Speakers Tell Story Of 'Midnight Cowboy'

The story of the "Midnight Cowboy," a Jerome Hellman-John Schlesiger, production being filmed in this area, was told by Fred Caruso, unit director, when he was guest speaker for Tuesday's dinner meeting of the Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association.

Other guests with Caruso were Vic Ramos, casting director, and David Moon, scenic artist, who spoke briefly in describing their work with the production. All are from New York City.

Introduced by Mrs. Paul Guy, Caruso presented a resume of the story line before detailing the various areas of production. He noted that company representatives were well-traveled in Texas before the final decision was made on the site for filming. Scenes will be shot in both Stanton and Big Spring, then combined to form one imaginary small town. Caruso explained that when filming is well underway, it will involve about 60 out-of-town people (cast and crew) as well as a number of area residents who will be employed as extras in some of the scenes.

Local sites for filming include Scenic Mountain, the Big Spring, Ritz Theater, Big Spring Motel, and a downtown building which is being converted into "Sally's Beauty Parlor." There will be scenes on the interstate highway as well as aerial shots made from a helocopter.

All three men expressed appreciation for cooperation from townspeople, lauding the "warmth and hospitality" of the city.

The second speaker for the evening was Mrs. Jo Bright, women's editor for the Big Spring Herald, who described her work in several fields before becoming associated with the Big Spring Herald which she now serves as women's editor. Previously, Mrs. Bright was employed in the Foreign Department of the Second National Bank in Houston, worked with a Naval Communication unit for two years and was an airline stewardess before moving to Big Spring.

In describing her present job Mrs. Bright explained the daily operations involved in publishing a newspaper. She traced the path of the news from the moment it reached the office until the time it left the press. In concluding, she invited the women to visit the Herald and watch the processes of publishing. Mrs. Bright was introduced by Mrs. Troy L. White.

The vocational talk was given by Mrs. Tony Barron, a deputy in the sheriff's office, who discussed the check department and the processing of fraudulent checks. She stressed that this service is available to citizens as well as businesmen.

Mrs. G. H. Mixon presided, and Mrs. Lou Orenbaum, September tea chairman, announced that the fall Hand of Friendship tea will be held Sept. 15. Mrs. Mixon advised those planning to attend the national convention, Oct. 18-20 in Jacksonville, Fla., to make reservations immediately.

Mrs. Jimmie R. Jennings was introduced as a new member, transferring from the Garland chapter, and other guests were Mrs. Arnold Marshall, Miss Judy Spivey, Mrs. Orville Bryant, Miss Cecelia Arcand, Mrs. Ralph Hise, Miss Jane Norris and Mrs. Howard E. Houston, the latter of Columbus, Miss.

A LOVELIER YOU

Gaze Into Fashion's Future For Winter

By MARY SUE MILLER

Now, in mid-summer, you can have fun and profit, too, by gazing into fashion's crystal ball. Your eye soon quickens to a top-flight trend as it comes in view. By fall you'll be set with a purchase plan of clothes that dovetail with your looks and needs. Good dressing just naturally follows.

To get your crystal ball warmed up, here are a few daytime fashions with a strong signal:

Newest Shape is small at the top, descending smoothly into pleated, gored or bias flares. Waistlines are built in and belts are part of the design, not tacked on or left off at will.

Hemlines favor the short, but not the mini. Hems turn one to three inches above the knee. However, with a cinched waist, the new length is just below the knee. The midi continues in winter coats and late-date dresses.

In suits and separates, jackets are short-short or long, lean and belted.

Shirts and skirts seem a major trend, either two pieces or as a shirt-dress. Sleeves, here, fill out from a wide cuff.

Sweater knits, from cardigan sweater suits to separate sweater vests, get a big play.

Dresses take to fitted jumpers and wrapped coat types.

Pants — knickers; pipe-stem trousers or fitted-and-flared.

Coats — more and more capes in all lengths and always swashbuckling.

Fabrics — soft and lush with emphasis on neutral shades and deep darks; with flashes of hot red and emerald green. Multiple textures and colors used together.

Multiple looks, The Look.

SPOT EXERCISES

Spot reduction — key to a proportioned figure. Exercise is the only way to trim those stubborn bulges . . . to lose inches exactly where you wish. My new booklet, "Spot Reducing Exercises," gives easy routines — 40 in all — for slimming the upper back, arms, midriff, hips, legs, ankles . . . Plus ideal measurements . . . other figure-trimming tips. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Rice Bag Party Fetes Bride-Elect

Miss Debbie Miller, bride-elect of Tommy Erhardt, was complimented with a rice bag party Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Luke Fortenberry, 1207 Lloyd, with Miss Sue Fortenberry assisting.

The honoree was presented a recipe file.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a white lace cloth over pink and centered with an arrangement of white and pink rice bags. Crystal appointments completed the setting.

The couple will marry Aug. 30 in the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Robert Polk serving as officiant.

Ten attended.

Ellington, second; and Mrs. R. W. Whipkey, Mrs. H. W. Smith, Mrs. Wally Slate and Mrs. R. H. Weaver tied for third and fourth place. Friday will be Master Point Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCarley, worthy matron and worthy patron, will host a backyard party in their home, Aug. 29 at 7 p.m. All members are invited and are asked to call the McCarley residence, 363-4455.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

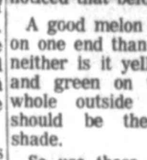

Make Sleeping Bag From Extra Plastic

Dear Heloise:

Here's how I made temporary sleeping bags for my two boys.

I folded old shower curtains in half lengthwise, putting the top edge at the bottom. This gave a double row of metal-reinforced holes which I laced together with heavy string.

The open long side I closed by making eyelets and lacing it also with the heavy string. This makes a large plastic envelope closed on three sides to put the folded blankets in.

HELOISE

The plastic on the bottom keeps out ground moisture and the plastic on the top holds in body heat. (Be sure to leave enough space at the top of the laced long side to make getting in easy.)

If you don't have an old shower curtain, a heavy, quilted plastic closet garment bag is even easier.

Just cut the top section on three sides leaving it attached along one wider side. (This flap serves as a place to lay a pillow without putting it directly on the ground.) Then open the side zipper and just slide in the blankets.

These temporary bags are great when the children just want to camp out in the back yard for a night or two. And they cost you nothing. . . . Charlotte Minnette

• • •

You're a peach to share that one with us, Charlotte.

Thanks oodles. . . . Heloise

• • •

Dear Folks:

While at the fruit market recently, one of the fruit-growers told me how to pick a good watermelon.

A number one watermelon is smooth and never rough. He showed me some rough melons and he was right. I had never noticed that before.

A good melon is never larger on one end than the other. And neither is it yellow on one end and green on the other. The whole outside of the melon should be the same green shade.

So use these tips and see if it doesn't improve on your "thump-and-feel" method. . . . Heloise

• • •

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

Our little boys love to throw sand and dirt in each others hair when playing in the sandpile.

Well, finally I've hit on an easy removal method.

I just use the vacuum cleaner with the round brush attachment and it sucks all the grit off while the hair is still dry.

You'll still have to wash their heads, but you're not grinding the dirt in their scalps or all over the house 'til the job gets done.

Besides, they think it's fun to have their head vacuumed! . . . Judy

• • •

Dear Heloise:

When we go on vacation with the children, we take along a zippered plastic pillow cover to put the soiled clothes in. I put opened cakes of soap into the bag to keep it fresh smelling.

For driving snacks, we find that carrot and celery strips are satisfying and certainly much better for the children than candy or cookies. We soak the vegetables in ice cubes overnight, drain them in the morning, and put them in a plastic container. . . . Donna Wood

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I was looking through my cabinet for a small deep pan to bake a peach cobbler in when I spied an old aluminum ice tray that I did not use in the refrigerator any longer.

So I used it and it was just the right size and depth. Worked great for me. . . . Ruby Davis.

• • •

Don't use your GOOD trays for this, folks. The heat plus the hot water and soap you wash 'em with will remove the film from your tray and the ice will stick. But as Ruby said, it's great for DISCARDED trays. . . . Heloise

Atlanta Is Jelling, Says Norb Hecker

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (AP) — Coach Norb Hecker is convinced he finally has the Atlanta Falcons on the right track, although a lack of offensive punch is still apparent.

"I think we're finally jelling as a team, particularly on defense," said Hecker, hoping to rebound from a disappointing season in 1967 when the Falcons managed only a single victory.

DEFENSE WORKING

"The team attitude is the best we've had," Hecker said. "Our defense is really working as a unit, and our passing should be better because our receivers have made a lot of improvement."

A pair of big rookies, 250-pound Carlton Dabney of Morgan State and 255-pound Claude Humphrey of Tennessee State, are ticketed for starting jobs in the defensive line, a trouble spot for the Falcons since they made their National Football League debut in 1966.

"The line is the key to our improvement on defense, and it should be a lot stronger this year with Dabney and Humphrey in there," Hecker said.

The Falcons have a proven corps of linebackers headed by big Tommy Nobis, and a tested defensive secondary in Ken Reaves, Nick Rassas, Bob Riggle and Lee Calland.

Offensively, however, the Falcons my have trouble because of a lack of running backs.

Junior Coffey, who gained more than 700 yards each of the past two seasons, was the only running standout and he has been sidelined for a couple of months with a knee injury.

NEED VET RUNNER

Perry Lee Dunn, Jim Mankins and rookies Harmon Wages of Florida and Bill Harris of Colorado have not been overly impressive in practice, but the Falcons plan to go with them unless they can work out a trade for a veteran runner.

"We're not going to panic over it," Hecker said. "But we may have to do a lot of passing."

The Falcons have been pleased with their passing attack in practice, with Randy Johnson and Ron Vander Kelen sharing the quarterback duties.

"We've got a lot of good receivers this year, and our passing game should be much better," Hecker said.

Tight end Ray Ogden, split end Jerry Simmons and flanker Gene Snipes have been standouts in summer drills, and rookies John Wright of Illinois, Rick Eber of Tulsa, Ray Jeffords of Georgia and Ed Larios of San Francisco State have drawn praise from Hecker.

GRIMM RETURNS

The offensive line should be stronger, with Dan Grimm back at guard after missing the 1967 season with a leg injury.

"And if we can get the ball to the 50 we should be able to get a field goal," Hecker said, pointing out that rookies Bob Etter of Georgia has been deadly in practice.

Etter, who weighs only 152 pounds, has come up with a special kicking shoe and has been booting field goals in practice almost without a miss.

Etter hit on kicks of 50, 39 and 38 in the Falcons' finaal intrasquad scrimmage.

"We may have the best kicking game in the league," Hecker said, noting that Billy Lothridge won the NFL punting title last year with an average of 43.7 yards on 87 kicks.

Hecker appears more confident this summer than he did in previous training camps, when the Falcons were trying to build a team.

"We've gotten a good organization set up now, and a good coaching staff," Hecker said. "Everybody knows what he's doing and I'm able to look at the over-all picture better."

But Hecker can't carry the ball, and the lack of dependable runners probably means the Falcons will be scrambling to improve on their 1967 record.

Rookie Rides High

Bob Lee, rookie quarterback from San Francisco, Calif., works out during training camp of the Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League at Mankato State College in Mankato, Minn. Lee, a 17th round draft choice of the Vikings, has impressed head coach Bud Grant with his passing arm. Lee, who is 23 today, knows the odds of a 17th round draft choice making the team are slim.

Many Prizes In Offing

Chamber of Commerce members here are being encouraged to take part in the first annual Chamber Golf tournament, which will be held at the Big Spring Country Club Saturday, Aug. 17.

Entry fee will be $3 per person. Trophies go to first, second and third place winners in both open competition and those judged through the Calloway system.

No pre-registration is required and entries can choose their own starting times.

In addition to the aforementioned prizes, awards will be given to the individual making the longest drive on the first hole and to the person getting closest to the hole on No. 4 with his tee shot.

The Chamber committee, which includes Harold Davis and Winston Wrinkle, is ordering trophies for the tournament.

Mercer Would Revive Move

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas-Fort Worth was looking into a report today that Montreal would lose its National League franchise because the Canadian city is unable to finance a dome for its stadium.

The league voted in the spring at Chicago to move San Diego and Montreal into its 12-team expansion program. Dallas-Fort Worth, Buffalo and Milwaukee were passed by.

WGN-TV, a Chicago broadcasting station, said it learned Montreal would lose the franchise and said "a high baseball official" reported the franchise would be shifted to Milwaukee or Buffalo.

Byers Extends Ruidoso Lead

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N. M. — Larry Byers just keeps sailing along on top of the jockey standings and is now apparently out to set new riding records here. The talented rider booted home seven winners last week and extended his margin over second place Walter Hodges to 22 wins.

Clifford Lambert saddled the girth on two winners last week and jumped two wins ahead of Gerald Bloss. A new addition to the trainer standings this week is Morris Marshall, who saddled three winners, among them Turf's Best in the Rainbow Derby.

As of now, the race for first and second place in the trainer ranks is a wideopen affair.

Red Sox To Play Chihuahua City

LAMESA — The Lamesa Red Sox, beaten only once in ten baseball starts this season, will try again to play Chihuahua City, Mexico, in a doubleheader here Sunday afternoon.

Chihuahua City was committed to come here several weeks ago but had passport trouble at the border. The Red Sox' only loss this season has been to Snyder.

Lamesa humbled Carlsbad, N.M., in the New Mexico City last Sunday, 20-5. Willie Tijerina manages the Lamesa team.

Seven Big Springers Are Named To All-Star Team

LAMESA — Seven Big Spring players were named to the all-star team chosen at the conclusion of the ASA District VII Softball tournament concluded the past weekend in Lamesa.

The makeup of the club was revealed by D. A. Miller, district commissioner.

Webb AFB players honored included Lefty Ron Boulding pitcher; Bud Contreras, catcher; and Gene DeVoll, center fielder.

Honorees from the Big Spring Austin Enco team include second baseman Herb Sorley, third baseman Tito Arencibia, right fielder Jack Blizzard and utility outfielder Tommy Young.

Others included on the squad included first baseman Guy Kinnison, Lamesa Merchants; shortstop Willie Tijerina, Lamesa Furr's; utility infielder Harvey Everheart, Lamesa Merchants; and left fielder David Rankin, Lamesa Merchants.

Gaining Honorable Mention were Bernard McMahan, Austin Enco; Larry Snyder and Maury Abram, both of Webb, all infielders; and Cotton Mize, Austin Enco, pitcher.

Montreal Won't Field Team, Insists Source

CHICAGO (AP) — WGN broadcasting, which carries Chicago Cub baseball games on radio and television, said Tuesday night it had learned Montreal will lose its National League baseball franchise because of financial difficulties.

WGN, broadcasting over its radio and television outlets, said "a high baseball official" reported the franchise would be shifted to either Milwaukee or Buffalo.

In Montreal, John Newman, one of the Canadian City's financial backers, said the report is "a lot of garbage."

Newman said both Montreal and San Diego—the league's other expansion city—received an extension from Aug. 1 to Aug. 15 to make the first payment to the league.

Newman said the payment is to be $1,120,000 and the extension was granted by National League President Warren Giles. Giles was not available for comment on the WGN report.

WGN said Montreal will lose the franchise because the city is unable to raise $5 million to finance a dome for its stadium.

Montreal and San Diego were awarded franchises in an expansion move last spring and the Montreal choice came as a big surprise to baseball.

At the time, however, Giles maintained that the financial framework for eventually increasing the capacity and doming the stadium was all set.

Meanwhile, there have been recurring reports that the Montreal citizenry has not gone overboard for a major league franchise.

PURSER TO HELP

Rams Will Lean On Young Team

SAN ANGELO — Loss of 15 seniors off a 3-6 club of 1967 definitely places Angelo State College in the rebuilding category for the 1968 football season.

But despite the presence of only 12 lettermen, including only two bonafide offensive regulars, spirits are high in the coaching offices of head man and athletic director Max Bumgardner, starting his 19th season at the Ram helm.

Part of the optimism stems from the hiring of a fourth coach, Bill Purser, who will be handling the offensive line. Purser, boasting 20 years in the coaching ranks, eight of those at Howard Payne of Brownwood in the Lone Star Conference of which the Rams become members this year, joins Bumgardner in charge of the offensive backs and Buddy Horne and Wade Turner who handle the defenses.

"For the first time we will be going into a season with an offensive line that's well and fully-coached. In the past, I have had to handle all of the offense and just couldn't spend enough time with the line," the Ram head pointed out.

Another reason for optimism will be the presence of three big tackles out of the talent-rich Wichita Falls system when fall drills begin September 1.

The Rams have inked Jeff Wheeler, 6-2 and 230, an All-District 4-AAAA defensive choice and named "Lineman of the Year" in that circuit by the Dallas Times Herald last fall, and his Coyote teammate, Steve Benson, 6-1 and 220, an honorable mention 4-AAAA selection.

Third WF signee is Chester Varnell, 6-4 and 265, an All-District 4-AAA performer at Hirshi.

"We feel these three boys are going to be able to help us right away," Bumgardner states. "In fact, they are going to have to since we are in no position to wait."

The Ram mentor said that at the end of spring drills, the probable offensive lineup showed a sophomore center, two freshmen guards, a frosh tackle, two sophomore halfbacks and a sophomore quarterback. On defense, all of the down linemen will be either freshmen or sophs with one senior and one junior linebacker to go with another sophomore. The entire secondary will be made up of sophs.

Despite all this lack of experience, Bum, as he is affectionately called, feels the team that takes the field at Stephen F. Austin, Sept. 14, could be the best ever fielded on the ASC campus.

"We are going to be quicker and stronger and much better coached than anything we have had in the past. Our speed will be greatly improved with four or five youngsters who can run the 100 in under 10 seconds. We should have much better outside running."

About the only offensive experience the Rams will have will be wrapped up in junior Don Burrell of Lubbock who has already set virtually all pass receiving marks as a Ram; Martin Allen, a 6-2, 225-pound guard who could be moved to a tackle slot and fullback Jim Rodrique of Brady, a part-time starter in '67.

The Rams are enthusiastic over the quarterback outlook with Mike Sullivan, a Texas University redshirt, ready to step in.

HARRIS LEFT HOOKS GRIFFITH
'Ole Man' Emile showed 'em something

Griffith Wins Over Harris

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "They wrote that all Gypsy had to do was show up and bugaloo and he'd win. I guess the Old Man showed 'em something."

Emile Griffith was chortling in his dressing room at the Spectrum after winning a lopsided decision over previously unbeaten Gypsy Joe Harris. He referred to prefight stories he had read which wrote him off as an old man about to be devoured by the 22-year-old unorthodox Harris of Philadelphia.

When it was over, however, Griffith, twice the middleweight champion, had ended the younger man's 24-fight winning streak. He did it with the authority of an experienced fighter giving a pupil a boxing lesson.

The decision was unanimous. Judges Nat Lopinson and Dave Beloff scored it 56-53 and 58-51, respectively, while referee Pete Tomasco had it 58-53 for the 29-year-old New Yorker from the Virgin Islands. The Associated Press gave Griffith all 12 rounds and a 60-48 triumph.

Griffith, who lost his middleweight title last March to Nino Benvenuti of Italy, may have set himself up for a return bout with the Italian.

Griffith's co-manager, Gil Clancy said, "Benvenuti must fight Emile if he wants to fight for money, or else he'll fight for peanuts."

Clancy said Griffith has an offer to fight Jimmy Lester in San Francisco.

There was no doubt from the start as to the winner. Griffith reached the 22-year-old Harris early with short left jabs and left-right combinations which enabled him to build up a comfortable margin through the first six rounds.

Gene Stallings has only been at the helm of the Texas A&M football club since 1965 but his number of career victories already exceed 14 of the 21 Aggie coaches who preceeded him.

The mentor with the most career wins at Aggieland was the late Homer Norton, who copped 82 from 1934 through 1947.

What a team some coach could field from a list of former District 2-AAAA football players now decorating the rosters of Southwest Conference clubs.

For starters, how about Mitch Robertson (Texas A&M), Roger Collins (Rice), Kent Ulm (Rice) or James Garner (Rice) at ends, Bill Jackson (SMU), Dean Wilkerson (TCU), Randy Stout (Texas) or Charles Copeland (Texas) at tackles, Winston Beam (A&M), Andy Reed (Texas Tech) or Bubba Moore (SMU) at guards, Rusty Stallings (A&M), center; Pasqual Piedfort (Rice), quarterback; Frankie Stringer (SMU), Ross Montgomery (TCU) or Alan Moravcik (Texas) at halfbacks; and Tony Conley (Rice) or Terry Collins (Texas), fullbacks?

For linebackers, there'd be Glen Halsell (Texas), Paul Strahan (Rice), Don White (SMU) and David Richardson (Texas) while Wayne Merritt (TCU) could do the kicking off and boot PAT tries.

The San Francisco Giants have attracted an average crowd of only 13,000 at home games but are a reliable lure on the road. Away from home, Willie Mays and Company have played to an average throng of more than 21,000.

The Giants are probably the best gate lure in Houston's Astrodome.

When ex-Big Springers Jimmy Marcus moved in as head basketball coach at Lockney High School recently, he replaced Ronnie Henderson.

Henderson jumped over to Perryton as B team mentor.

Marcus thinks he has a fairly good nucleus for a club. He hasn't coached basketball since 1961, so he's burning the midnight oil cramming for his return to the coaching line and has traveled more miles than the Well Fargo stage to confer with recognized authorities in the round-ball sport.

The income from the gate in the last Winter Olympics held at Grenoble, France, paid only about one-twentieth of the total cost of the games.

Spectators anted up $1,231,400 for the privilege whereas organizational expenses amounted to $23,521,000.

Sale of television rights and other advertising income produced another $2,400,000.

How much is too much? Why should a nation like France or any other country be expected to make up most of the deficit.

Best of the opening weekend of high school football games could be between Odessa Permian and Amarillo Tascosa.

Many think Permian will wade through District 3-AAAA without a great deal of trouble. Tascosa is a strong favorite in 4-AAAA.

The two elevens could be tangling again in the first round of the playoffs down in November.

The people around Los Angeles will tell you that Wilt Chamberlain's wage with his new employers, the Los Angeles Lakers, will not top $100,000 annually.

Wilt himself will tell you that he'll be making much more than that.

It's hard to imagine any pro basketball team could pay a man $3 million in salaries and bonuses over five years' time, which is what one club is supposed to have offered him. Basketball teams just don't do that well at the gate.

Coach Max Bumgardner expects Sullivan to be one of the best crowd-pleasers in West Texas football.

School Drops Grid Plans

FLOWER GROVE — Due to a shortage of boys in high school, Flower Grove will not field a football team this year.

Superintendent of Schools J. W. Massengale said the embargo on the game would continue until the manpower outlook improves. Flower Grove has been fielding an eight-man team.

John Clark, formerly of Leakey, has been named high school principal and boys' basketball coach. Massengale said Clark will also teach social studies at the Dawson county rural high school.

Max Fly, who coached all sports here last year, has moved to Comstock where he will be head coach.

MINNESOTA WINNER, 5 TO 4

Blunder Costs O's

By The Associated Press

It was out and you're on and on and you're out.

Any fan knows that's no way to play baseball. The Baltimore Orioles know it, too.

Tony Oliva led off the sixth inning for Minnesota Tuesday night and struck out. But Oriole catcher Andy Etchebarren failed to handle the third strike and Oliva reached first. One out later, Bob Allison homered and Minnesota had a 5-0 lead.

The Orioles then fought back to trail by only 5-4 with one out in the ninth. Up stepped pinch-hitter Larry Haney, who lashed the ball to right field and ended up on second base. But he failed to touch first and was out.

Ron Perranoski retired the next hitter and the second-place Orioles were beaten 5-4 to fall 6½ games behind the American League-leading Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers edged Cleveland 2-1 in 17 innings on Dick Tracewski's run-scoring single and led 5-2 after eight innings of the nightcap of the twi-night doubleheader when it was suspended by a 1 a.m. EDT, curfew. It will be completed tonight.

In other American League action, Boston trounced the Chicago White Sox 8-2 and California beat Washington 10-3 before losing to the Senators 1-0. The New York Yankees and Oakland were not scheduled.

Cesar Tovar scored the first two Minnesota runs and drove in the third. Frank Robinson and Bob Johnson drove in Baltimore runs in the sixth. The Orioles got another pair in the eighth on Boog Powell's RBI double and an error.

Tracewski's game-winning single was only his second hit in 33 at bats. It scored Willie Horton, who singled and moved to second when Bill Freehan was hit by a pitch.

Cleveland scored in the third inning on Tommy Harper's single, a sacrifice and Jose Cardenal's single. Detroit tied it in the eighth when Don Wert homered off starter Luis Tiant.

The Tigers took a 5-2 lead in the suspended game by scoring four-runs in the sixth, two of them coming on Al Kaline's pinch double with the bases loaded.

Lou Klimchock's bases-loaded single brought in Cleveland's two runs. Detroit's other tally came on Norm Cash's 16th homer.

Boston wrapped up its victory over the White Sox with five runs in the fourth. Carl Yastrzemski hit his 14th homer leading off the fourth, then drove in another run in the inning when he walked with the bases loaded. He also batted in a run with a sacrifice fly in the first.

Jim Lonborg, the Red Sox ace who was injured in an off-season skiing accident, boosted his record to 3-3 as the Red Sox won for the sixth time in the last seven games. Lonborg was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth, with Boston leading by five runs.

Joe Coleman scattered four singles, struck out eight and got the only run he needed when Cap Peterson scored on a wild pitch in the fourth inning in Washington's first game victory.

Peterson singled, stole second, moved to third on Hank Allen's single and came in on Jim McGlothlin's wild pitch.

California took advantage of six Washington errors to score six unearned runs in the opening game. Chuck Hinton homered for the winning Angels and he, Don Mincher and Bobby Knoop each collected three hits.

Cowboy Pair Click Well

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP)—The rifle and the bullet teamed perfectly Tuesday at the Thousand Oaks training camp of the Dallas Cowboys.

Quarterback Don Meredith, the veteran from Southern Methodist who normally nurses a sore arm about this time in pre-season training, was drilling the ball to his receivers.

End Bob Hayes, the former Olympian with the 9.1 speed, was the target in most instances. Hayes has been picking up some moves to go along with his speed from Raymond Berry, the pass-catching great who retired from Baltimore and is now coaching the Cowboys reception artists.

Coach Tom Landry said Meredith "looked awfully sharp and Hayes was catching everything near him."

Landry spent 45 minutes working on the Cowboy passing game.

The Cowboys were scheduled to hold two workouts today. They tackle the San Francisco 49ers Sunday in San Francisco in an exhibition NFL game.

RBI King For A Night

New York Mets third baseman Kevin Collins (16) receives the congratulations of his teammates after clouting a three run homer in the ninth inning of Tuesday night game with the Houston Astros. Collins also knocked in the other run as the Mets won the game 4-1 from Houston. Cleon Jones (21) and Ed Kranspool (7) were the runners on base at the time Collins swatted the ball into the right field stands at the 340 foot mark.

Soccer Kicker Bidding For Jon With Packers

By The Associated Press

For the Green Bay Packers, the team that has everything, Fernado Souza might be the perfect gift.

Souza is a present from the Fall River, Mass., Astros of the American Soccer League, and he might be the latest soccer-style kicker to make the grade in pro football after an on-the-mark performance Tuesday.

The 28-year-old center-forward kicked six field goals in 10 tries against the Packers' defense. He hit five of six from 37 yards and one of four from 42.

The defending National Football League and Super Bowl champions with an offense and defense that puts them again in the favorite's role this season are missing only a kicker since Don Chandler retired. And the Packers know what an important omission that can be.

With Paul Hornung doing the kicking, the Packers won their division title in 1960 and 1961 and Jerry Kramer helped them to the 1962 title with his kicking. But with Hornung suspended in 1963 and Kramer unable to repeat his fine year, the Packers lost out in 1964 and again in 1965 when Hornung returned and was unable to regain his form.

Then came Chandler, a big factor in Green Bay's sweep of the last three NFL titles.

Souza is Green Bay's first try with a soccer kicker, but the success of Pete and Charley Gogolak is nothing to be laughed at. And Souza's kicking certainly had the Packers thinking seriously.

The Philadelphia Eagles, however probably had a few chuckles Tuesday as possibly the first NFL team to be fingerprinted, photographed, questioned and vaccinated all in one day.

The occasion for the squad of 56, plus coaches, managers and reporters, was preparation for the Eagles trip to Mexico City for an exhibition against the Detroit Lions.

People around the county say they save by trading with

Cubs Claim Runnerup Spot In Senior Loop

By The Associated Press

The Atlanta Braves fumbled the ball and Don Drysdale couldn't pick it up.

The Braves committed four errors in the first inning Tuesday night on the way to a 4-3 loss to Chicago that gave the Cubs undisputed possession of second place in the National League.

Drysdale bobbled Maury Wills' bases-loaded roller in the ninth inning and the Pittsburgh Pirates added two more runs for a 4-1 victory over the skidding Los Angeles Dodgers' ace.

Cincinnati's Jim Maloney stopped the first-place St. Louis Cardinals 5-0 with a five-hitter; San Francisco trimmed Philadelphia 4-1 behind the hitting of rookie Bobby Bonds and the New York Mets topped Houston 4-1 on rookie Kevin Collins' three-run ninth-inning homer.

EARLY LEAD

The Cubs capitalized on two errors by Felipe Alou—on the same play—and one each by Marty Martinez and Felix Millan for a 3-0 first-inning lead at Atlanta.

Fifth-inning doubles by Al Spangler and Randy Hundley sent another Chicago run home and the Cubs weathered a late comeback by the Braves for the seventh victory in eight games.

Hank Aaron and Alou hit bases-empty homers for Atlanta before Phil Regan, the Cubs' relief ace, nailed the victory for starter Joe Niekro.

The Pirates broke a 1-1 tie at Los Angeles on Drysdale's second error in the ninth and Willie Stargell provided insurance with a two-run single.

Bill Mazeroski and Jerry May singled with one out and moved up one base apiece on Drysdale's wild pickoff attempt. First baseman Ron Fairly then fielded pinch hitter Manny Jimenez' grounder but failed to make a play after bluffing a throw home.

That filled the bases and set the stage for the decisive misplay by Drysdale, who has lost his last four decisions for a 12-10 season mark.

The Reds nursed a 1-0 lead until the eighth inning at St. Louis, when Leo Cardenas homered and an error by Julian Javier opened the gates for three more runs.

HOLDS BIG EDGE

Maloney, 10-7, allowed five singles—three by Dal Maxvill—in boosting his career advantage over the Cardinals to 11-5.

Bonds tripled in the first inning and scored on a passed ball, then cracked a tie-breaking single in the eighth as the Giants struck for three runs.

Gaylord Perry stopped the Phillies on three hits and leveled his record at 10-10. Loser Larry Jackson yielded just one hit—Bonds' triple—until the eighth, when Jim Davenport, Bonds, Dave Marshall and Willie McCovey reached him for singles.

Collins grounded into a force play with the bases loaded in the seventh, driving in New York's first run, and drilled his first major league homer following singles by Cleon Jones and Ed Kranepool in the ninth.

On His Game Now, Jack Looms As Akron Favorite

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Strongboy Jack Nicklaus looms as a solid favorite to snare his second straight tournament triumph when action starts Thursday in the $125,000 American Golf Classic.

The Columbus belter ended a long drought last Sunday with an easy victory in the Western Open. It was his first tour success since last October.

Big Jack, who always appears at his best when the challenge is great, will be testing the rugged, 7,180-yard' par-70 Firestone Country Club layout, one of the finest courses in the country.

He'll also have to whip a strong field that includes slump-ridden but dangerous Arnold Palmer, the defending champion and the only two-time winner of the American Golf Classic.

There's certainly enough incentive for the 120 pros to shoot at since purse money has been boosted $25,000, which coincidently is the first place prize.

Others in the limelight include leading money-winner Tom Weiskopf; U.S. Open king Lee Trevino; PGA champ Julius Boros; Masters titlist Bob goalby and such standouts as Miller Barber, George Archer, Dave Stockton, Frank Beard and Gardner Dickinson.

Clovis Is Ousted In Boys' Tourney

ABBEVILLE, La. (AP) — There was one team less today in the Southwest Regional Babe Ruth Boys Baseball Tournament.

Clovis, N. M., packed up and headed home Tuesday night after losing two games in the double elimination meet, which will send the winner to the Babe Ruth World Tournament at Klamath Falls, Ore.

Host Abbeville beat Clovis 3-0 and later the New Mexicans bowed to Dumas, Tex., 8-4.

New Orleans, the defending regional and world champion, and Tulsa, Okla., are the only two unbeaten teams left. They play tonight.

New Orleans blanked East Texas 10-0 and Tulsa scored two shutouts—beating Dumas 5-0 and Abbeville 6-0—in other games Tuesday. Arkadelphia, Ark., was idle.

Henrietta Needs Basketball Coach

HENREITTA — Henrietta High School, located in Clay County not far from Wichita Falls, is seeking a head basketball coach. The school fields a Class AA team.

Those interested should contact Carlos Berry, head coach, or Supt. of Schools Bill R. Wood.

DIFFERENCES TO BE AIRED BEHIND DOORS

D-Day For Texas Delegates

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Texas' 56 delegates to the Republican national convention, who have worried and disagreed over the GOP nominee for president for almost six weeks, had to make up their minds today.

Intra - delegation differences were to be aired at a closed door caucus. Then, if there are no further changes of mind, the breakdown will be disclosed tonight when Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., casts Texas' vote in the first ballot.

Delegation leaders, including Tower, predicted former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will get about 40 votes and California Gov. Ronald Reagan about 16 — give or take a vote or two each way.

Reagan's backers, who tried to undermine Nixon's position with a Miami Beach blitz, claim their total will be at least 20. Despite Nixon's apparent margin of support, most of the delegation is favorable to Reagan also.

"My heart belongs to Ronnie but my head belongs to Dick," remarked a woman delegate who said she would cast a Nixon vote.

The Texans got a handshake and a close look at both Nixon and Reagan in special caucuses Tuesday. New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who has no apparent votes in the delegation, sent his brother, New York City banker David Rockefeller, to ask support from Texas if Nixon fails to win on the first ballot.

The delegates will be vitally interested in tonight's voting for a second reason: Whether a Nixon victory would give Tower a chance at the vice presidency.

Tower abandoned his favorite son candidacy July 1 to join Nixon's campaign, and there have been reports that Tower's name is near the top among vice presidential possibilities.

The convention adopted a party platform which several Texans helped to write.

Tower was a member of the resolution committee and, as a member of the Senate Armed Services subcommittee, was particularly involved in drafting the section on Vietnam policy.

Big Viet Cong Supply Depot Invaded By U.S. Task Force

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S.-South Vietnamese task force invaded a major Viet Cong supply depot and killed 219 enemy soldiers in a week of clashes that took American infantrymen deeper into the Mekong Delta than ever before, military spokesmen announced today.

South Vietnamese military headquarters said there were no allied fatalities and only six U.S. infantrymen and three South Vietnamese marines were wounded. A spokesman attributed the unusual kill ratio to American helicopter gunships and artillery, which were credited with killing most of the claimed enemy dead.

IN AND OUT

The fighting swirled in and out of three provinces centered about 125 miles southwest of Saigon on the fringes of the U Minh forest, a Viet Cong sanctuary virtually untouched by government troops for more than 20 years.

Amored troop carriers from the U.S. Navy's Riverine Force moved up and down the rivers and canals with gunboat escorts, carrying more than 1,000 American infantrymen from the 9th Division and 500 South Vietnamese marines into action.

At the other end of South Vietnam, U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese paratroopers reported killing 75 North Vietnamese troops in clashes Tuesday south of Da Nang, an area of intesified fighting in the past two weeks. Allied losses included one Marine and 10 South Vietnamese killed, 14 South Vietnamese and 22 Marines wounded, and two South Vietnamese missing.

HIT MINE

In one clash 10 miles south of Da Nang, U.S. Marines from the 5th Regiment came under heavy machine-gun, mortar and recoilless rifle fire. Supported by fighter-bombers, tanks and artillery, the Leathernecks counterattacked and over-ran the enemy three hours later. Twenty-three of the enemy were reported killed and Marine casualties were one dead and 22 wounded.

Fifty-two enemy were reported killed in a clash with troops of the South Vietnamese 51st Regiment 21 miles south of Da Nang along National Highway 1, Vietnam's main north-south route.

Demonstrators Confuse Convention Delegates

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A creaking covered wagon hauled by two black mules and escorted by more than 70 denim-clad Negroes dripping with perspiration stopped Tuesday at the door of the Fontainebleau Hotel.

The Poor People's Campaign contingent, led by the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, picked this symbol of opulence along the Florida Gold Coast to launch efforts for a hearing by the Republican National Convention.

Abernathy led the group inside the gold-leafed, marble lobby where the chanting demonstrators confronted confused convention delegates and worried hotel staff members.

One of the chants went: "I may not stay in a hotel, but I am somebody—may not be a candidate, but I am somebody —I am a child of God."

Then, after a traffic-snarling march of more than a mile, the demonstrators arrived at Convention Hall. Abernathy obtained tickets to take his self-proclaimed "51st State of Hunger" past the fences and cordons of police.

While the people went inside, the mules were taken back to their stalls.

About 50 of the demonstrators sat quietly in the hall and listened as Sen. Everet M. Dirksen of Illinois presented the party platform.

Outside the hall, about 1,000 aging residents of the Miami Beach retirement neighborhoods carried signs reading: "GOP—Don't Forget Your Parents" and "Social Security No Longer Offers Us Security."

After Abernathy's followers were given tickets to the convention, Abernathy said he wanted to address the delegates. That request was not answered.

Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois said he supplied Abernathy two of the scarce tickets for admission to Convention Hall. Minutes later Abernathy said he had received 50 tickets from Ray C. Bliss, the Republican national chairman, through the help of Rep. Ogden R. Reid of New York and Clarence Townes, chairman of the GOP minorities committee.

The tickets were good only Tuesday but Reid said, "We'll make them good every day."

Final Pitch

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller moved through hotel corridors in this crowded fashion today as he made a last-minute effort to gain more delegate support at the Republican National Convention.

Genetic Makeup Linked To Crime

BARHARBOR, Maine (AP) — New studies indicate that a genetic defect linked to crime and violence may be upwards of six times more common than previously thought.

Instead of affecting one man in 2,000, the abnormality may be present in one out of every 300, three prominent geneticists said Tuesday.

SPECK SPECULATION

The defect involves the make-up of a man's chromosomes, 46 groupings of the genes which are the means for transmitting heredity. Normal women have sex chromosomes designated XX while normal men have sex chromosomes designated XY.

Men with the defect discussed at the seminar have an extra Y element in their sex chromosomes, which are designated XYY.

The XYY condition gained worldwide attention recently when Daniel Hugon, a French stable hand accused of murdering a prostitute, was found to have XYY chromosomes. His lawyers contended he was not responsible for his actions because of his genetic makeup.

There also has been speculation that Richard Speck, convicted of killing eight Chicago nurses, is XYY, but his case still is before the courts and the role of an XYY condition is not clear.

MANY ARE DULL

Men with the XYY condition characteristically are excessively tall, often six inches above normal. Many are dull mentally and often have acne. Their behavior varies from passivity to extreme aggressiveness.

The three geneticists — Dr. Park S. Gerald of Harvard Medical School, Dr. Malcolm Ferguson-Smith of Glasgow University in Scotland, and Dr. William J. Young of the University of Vermont — spoke at a conference being conducted at the Jackson Laboratory by Johns Hopkins University with March of Dimes support.

Their conclusions were based on a total of 3,700 consecutive births, half male and half female, in Canada; Edinburgh, Scotland; New Haven, Conn.; and Pittsburgh, Pa. Six cases of the XYY syndrome were found among the male babies.

LESSON IN ELECUTION, EXECUTION, ELECTRIFICATION

Dirksen Skins 'The Great Society'

By SAUL PETT
AP Special Correspondent

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — John Wayne, the elder statesman, gave way to Everett McKinley Dirksen, the old prairie actor, and the Republican National Convention came alive last night.

Rising up from the tundra of tedium and the rhetoric of rigor mortis, it was Dirksen, United States senator, Senate GOP leader, Convention Platform Committee chairman, marigold musketeer, recording star, Pekin's peerless apostle of the new politics of the age of Elizabeth I, who gave the delegates their first incisive lesson in the arts of elecution, execution and electrification (rural).

CAN'T ACCEPT

They began by giving him a roaring hand and he began by saying, "I accept the nomination." It was the first joke to emanate from this year's podium. Theater critics, allegedly Democrats, predicted it would not be the last.

The delegates laughed and continued to make noise. Dirksen turned alternately imperious, menacing, cajoling, bargaining.

"Quiet!" he thundered, jowls quivering, silver rivulets of hair flailing, like that of an aroused Zeus.

And still there was no quiet.

He held up nine pounds of speech texts.

"If you'll be quiet for 45 minutes," said Everett McKinley Dirksen, the beguiling negotiator, "I'll throw these speeches anywhere you want me to throw them."

DARES RUSSIA

And then he did, nine pounds of speeches, right over the speaker's platform, into the hearts of the peasants. While it was not precisely clear whose speeches had been jettisoned, it was obvious Dirksen still had his.

Now the delegates were quiet and the Pekin Pericles, rising slowly from the Armageddon tones of his basso profundo, began. "In Philadelphia 181 years ago, far-seeing men fashioned us a revolutionary new government. . . ."

He dared Russia to knock the chip off his shoulder.

"A Soviet leader declaims that ours is a rotten, decadent society. God forbid our having to make the point but, should he try us, he'll quickly find out what Americans really are!"

The delegates roared.

Membrane by membrane, Dirksen peeled off the skin of "The Great Society," stretching out each syllable of the phrase in a mockery of rubber.

MOCKING

"Oh, how cynical, how mocking that political slogan!... Never has an undeclared war embroiled America so long. ... Never our prestige so low, our alliances so weakened, our image so impaired. ... Never has the nation been so mired in debt. ... Now we've been rocketed to fiscal outer space. ...

"Great Society indeed! ... It is not a New Deal or a Fair Deal. It's just a straight-out Misdeal. Humor it longer, and it will destroy what the Founding Fathers wrought."

Body swaying, finger pointing out and down as if he were anointing the delegates in holy water, Everett McKinley Dirksen, lay preacher, quoted Abe Lincoln, Oliver Cromwell, Ben Franklin, got the delegates up on their feet and repeating after him, "One nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all," and, with lofty tolerance, finally allowed them to subside back into their seats, fully sated with their first red meat although they never did learn which speeches were thrown away, if any.

Sen. Long Loses Race In Missouri

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton, 39, of St. Louis, defeated U.S. Sen. Edward V. Long in Missouri's hot contest for the Democratic senatorial nomination Tuesday.

True Davis, wealthy St. Joseph businessman who is a former ambassador to Switzerland and former assistant secretary of the Treasury ran third.

With the vote in from 4,138 of the state's 4,358 precincts, the count was Eagleton 205,078, Long 186,286 and Davis 162,261.

LEGAL FEES

Life magazine said in May, 1967, that Long misused his Senate subcommittee's investigations of eavesdropping and wiretapping in an effort to help James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, now in prison. The magazine also said Long received $48,000 in legal fees from Morris Shenker, St. Louis lawyer who was Hoffa's attorney.

Long said the fees came from five clients he had referred to Shenker and that Shenker was not Hoffa's attorney in 1963 and 1964 when the $48,000 was paid. He called the charges a "dead issue" and a political smear.

The Senate Ethics Committee, after a four-month investigation, ruled that there was no wrong-doing on Long's part. The committee later reopened its inquiry and has issued no new report.

Long is 60, a lawyer and banker, and formerly was Missouri lieutenant governor and state senator. He has served in the Senate since 1960, when he was appointed to succeed the late Thomas C. Hennings of St. Louis.

ANOTHER SYMINGTON

Eagleton, who is finishing his first term as lieutenant governor, formerly was Missouri attorney general and St. Louis circuit attorney.

U.S. Rep. Thomas B. Curtis of Webster Groves had no serious competition for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Negro Ex-Con Facing Kidnap, Rape Counts

CLEBURNE, Tex. (AP)— Police reported a Negro ex-convict kidnaped a young white couple at Alvarado, between Cleburne and Fort Worth, and raped the woman today.

Patrolman Ed Norris of the Cleburne force said he and officer Phil Staley captured the accused man and rescued the woman back at her home before dawn.

The officers filed a complaint charging James Crawford Jr., 24, of Waxahachie with kidnaping and rape. Justice of the Peace Alf Bowers ordered him held without bond.

Police said Crawford, a former Dallas resident, had served a prison sentence for forging a government check.

Norris gave this account:

An intruder knocked at the Alvarado couple's door shortly before 3 a.m. and asked gasoline for his car. Told there was none available, he produced a knife and ordered that they drive him to the nearest gas station at Burleson, 12 miles north.

On the return trip they stopped at a roadside park and their captor tied the husband to a fence with the Alvarado man's shirt and strips torn from his trousers.

After the assault, the young woman was returned to her home, where officers found her as they made the arrest.

Crawford was lodged in the Johnson County jail at Cleburne.

GENERAL TENDENCIES Only through the expression of charm, living the Golden Rule and putting your energies in wise and sensible directions do you keep from having the nervous jitters and doing those things that can be regarded as unreliable and scatterbrained. A good day to attend studies or services early and renew your mind in rightness.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) With all those ideas popping around in your mind, you scarcely know which to work on first, but take the most practical and make careful preparations and it works out fine. Forget the others. No fooling around today.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Some hunch you have could lead you into the thick woods, so be sure not to follow it. Carry on worthy interests in a steadfast way. Mate may be jittery, so be gentle since, or she, could be under pressure of some sort.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you go off on tangents, you find that associates could really give you a hard time of it now. Don't renege on any promises you have made or you can be sorry. Take time tonight for recreation you like.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Thinking over how to be more efficient in your work is right in a.m. Then be of service to one who is very troubled. Time spent getting health improved is good, also. Do not neglect yourself.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are bent on having a good time and cannot understand why others will not go along with your ideas, but they have other plans, so don't be demanding. Get busy on that hobby you like so much. You can still be happy.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Listening to what kin have to say is fine, but don't make blunt remarks that could get you in trouble with others, so it is difficult to live with you. Get fundamental affairs in order. Don't procrastinate so much.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take time for studies or attending services that give you a sense of greater well being. Being most careful is important where driving is concerned. Don't take chances that could be very costly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You feel that you do not have the abundance you need and this would be a good time to think along lines of greater prosperity. Take care you do not spend extravagantly. Keep your feet on the ground.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Living the Golden Rule is most important right now as well as showing that you have both understanding and consideration for others. Show self-control at social affairs. Don't talk too much.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Although you feel you have worries of your own, they soon disappear into nothingness if you consider those of others. Be helpful. Be more concerned with what kin are going through, also. You are apt to be too self-opinionated.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) See what you can do to help those who have extended you favors in the past instead of always expecting them to help you. Don't push others too far, either. This could get you into real trouble.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Doing anything to ruin your good name, or not obeying laws would be very foolish right now. Concentrate on how to get your work done in a more clever and efficient way. Stop taking that defeatist attitude.

The bidding:

Pass	Pass	1 ♣	4 ♡
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♣

A deft bit of card handling by South, the declarer at four hearts, enabled him to make three plays from dummy which apparently had only two entries.

West opened the four of clubs, North played the deuce, and East put in the jack to win the trick. He continued with the king which South ruffed. The latter paused to survey the rather barren landscape presented by the dummy. South was confronted with several potential losers in spades and diamonds, and the only hope for restricting the opposition to their book was to make repeated leads from dummy toward the high cards in his hand.

Inasmuch as the North hand was short of entry cards, it was essential that declarer make the most of his limited resources. A heart was led to the ten and the five of diamonds was returned. South put in the nine from his hand and West won the trick with the king.

A club was returned and South ruffed away East's ace. The king of hearts put North in to lead the jack of diamonds thru. Since East could not gain by covering, he followed with a small diamond and South played the deuce from his hand. When the jack held the trick, dummy switched to a spade. East ducked again and declarer put up the king to score his 10th trick.

In all, South lost one spade, one diamond, and one club. The key play on the deal was dummy's lead of the five of diamonds on the first round of that suit. By getting the nine of diamonds out of his hand, South is able to underplay North's jack of diamonds on the next round of diamonds, and thus retain the lead in dummy for the spade play.

Dewey Says GOP Can Spur Peace

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Two-time presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey says Republican leadership can restore peace to the streets and the world.

Dewey, addressing the GOP convention Tuesday night, looked back with lengthy praise on the eight years under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, recuperating from a heart attack suffered earlier in the day.

Dewey said, "Our children are entitled to know that an orderly, decent, peaceful society is possible. They should know that we had one under the last Republican administration and we can have it again with the election this year."

Food Prices Due To Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail food prices are expected to average 3½ per cent higher this year over last, the Department of Agriculture said today.

The gain in 1967 from a year earlier averaged less than one per cent, the department said in a report on the national food situation.

Food prices appear to be leveling off a bit, with increases for the last three months of 1968 estimated to be smaller than those earlier in the year, the department said.

The price of food for home use this year is expected to average three per cent higher than in 1967, while food consumed away from home will average about five per cent higher.

The department said prices are up for fruits, vegetables, meats, poultry, eggs, dairy products and soft drinks. Holding at last year's levels or decreased are coffee, potatoes, fats and oils, cereal and bakery products, and fish products.
