THE TELEGRAM
Publishes The Full Associated Press Report Every Day

FORT WORTH TELEGRAM.

Morning

THE OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CITY OF FORT WORTH

PRICE FIVE CENTS

FORT WORTH, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1904

VOL. XXI. NO. 138

THRIFTY HOUSEHOLD MANAGERS WILL READ THE ADVERTISING COLUMNS IN TODAY'S TELEGRAM

LIBERAL PROGRAM

Outline of What Moderate Element in Russia Asks in the Way of Reform and Which Czar Is Said to Favor

MIRSKI IS A MODERATE

Ten Years Ago He Helped Organize for This Work and Has Advised That Accomplishment Must Be Along Conservative Lines

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 19.—The czar's attitude relative to the meeting of Zemtvos and the success of Minister of the Interior Mirsky's efforts to promote the cause of conservative liberalism, has encouraged the so-called moderate liberals to come forward at first with a definite program. It comprises but five points, but these are of such far-reaching purpose that their grant would be equivalent with breaking up the power of the Russian beaucracy.

The moderate liberals came into existence some years ago, when, just as now, hope of the inauguration of a more popular government appeared justified. This era did not last long enough to permit the moderates to formulate a program, but they have held together and through several of their members who stand high in the esteem of the public and through a number of newspapers, they managed to impress the czar with their wholesome contempt for radical and revolutionary efforts and the sincerity of their desire to bring about reforms which are not calculated to undermine the power of the throne. Of late a number of the most influential members of the moderates have gained the ear of the czar through Prince Mirsky. It is an open secret that he was among the promoters of the faction ten years ago and that it was largely due to his efforts that it refrained from carrying on a propaganda, concentrating its efforts mainly upon the task of keeping its limited forces together. As a result it forms a compact body of not more than a hundred members, each of whom enjoys the confidence and good will of the czar. Thus it is not unlikely that the moderate's demands will find support at the throne and should occasion arise a search for members would result in the rally of thousands of loyal Russians, who are anxious to defeat the effort of the radical element and desirous of leading their country into the path of civilization.

These are the five points of the program of the moderate liberals:

1. That the press shall be free to discuss matters of international policy.
2. That the Zemptvos or rural councils shall not be unduly restricted in their choice of subjects for discussion.
3. That no hindrance shall be placed in the way of consultation between members of Zemtvos in different provinces.
4. That the repressive measures at present in force against certain learned and other peaceful societies shall be withdrawn and that no further measures of the kind shall be enacted.
5. That the excessive power now reposing in the hands of the administrative authorities shall be restricted to such an extent that public life may take its normal course.

The paper Russkiya Viedovosti, the official organ of the moderates, in an editorial anent the publication of the program, takes pains to point out that its execution would in no way mean the overthrowal of existing conditions, but simply the laying down of hard and fast rules, by the supreme power, for exactly the same tendency of official conduct as have been inaugurated by Prince Mirsky. Instead, however, of permitting the incumbent of the offices to choose between progressive and reactionary use of his power, the official acceptance of the program and its translation into laws, it would compel him to continue the policy now in vogue. The czar, the paper points out, having already approved the methods of Mirsky is no doubt anxious to have them retained under future administrations of the ministry of the interior and failure to create laws in the same sense would defeat his majesty's avowed intentions.

WHILE HUSBANDS FIGHT THE WOMEN STARVE

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—Over the Russian border of Prussia and Austria the stream of reservist fugitives continue to pour. It has lately been augmented through the stopping of the Polish factories, by thousands of women out of work, who have been offered situations in the Alsatian weaving mills. The Russian authorities, fearing to spread the truth about the people's condition, have refused permission to these unfortunates to emigrate. Many of these women, whose husbands are fighting in Manchuria, are now wandering in groups through the forests and uninhabited lands in a starving condition. They arrive across the border in a pitiable plight. They are hunted by the Russian police and if captured are imprisoned.

These fugitives are received in a friendly manner by the German population and are not interfered with by the Prussian police, who, however, do not shrink from delivering over the reservist fugitives to Russia and prosecute Prussian subjects who help them to escape. In the frontier town of Gollub process has begun against two socialists accused of aiding fugitives.

RUSSIAN PAPERS ARE DISCUSSING INTRIGUES

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 19.—For the first time in forty years articles are appearing in the Russian press, discussing the intrigues that prevail at court designed to influence public policy. Nothing could more strikingly illustrate general revolt against the bueaucracy than the fact that the leading St. Petersburg and Moscow papers are also venturing to hint that a crisis such as that which exists in Russia at present has always been met by the assembling of the "zemskisobor," or national council. Such a council at the beginning of the seventeenth century called to the throne Michael Romanoff, the founder of the present dynasty.

CONFERENCE CANNOT BE STOPPED BY CZAR

LONDON, Nov. 19.—It is not believed in London that Roosevelt will permit his project for a second peace congress at The Hague to be postponed indefinitely by the unwillingness of Russia to participate until the war with Japan is ended. The feeling is that Washington, acting with full knowledge of the approval of London and Paris, will push the matter forward largely because American statesmanship believes the chief direct benefit from the congress will be international moral pressure upon Russia.

As a secondary advantage it is pointed out that in the remote contingency of ultimate Russian success the powers of the west would desire to be in a position to restrain the victor from exactions calculated to disturb the balance of power in the far east. The latter suggestion is not dismissed as wholly visionary by Britons, who recall the threat about dictating peace at Tokio.

REPORT OF OPERATION ON THE HUN RIVER

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 20.—A report has been received from General Sakharoff relative to the operations of the Russian forces on the right bank of the Hun river. It is very sanguine in tone and the papers see in it a positive indication of a turn of the fortunes of war in favor of the Russians.

The report describes two engagements on the right bank of the Hun river, one at Manyoukai and the other at Chitistsi, both villages affording considerable strategic advantages to the occupying forces.

The Japanese had captured these positions a few days ago, but yesterday simultaneous attacks were made by Russian detachments, both resulting in the evacuation of the positions by the Japanese. Manyoukai was burned to the ground by the Russians and Chitistsi was partly destroyed by fire.

The dispatches also add that a large number of bridges leading over the Hun river have been destroyed, thereby reducing the danger of further successful attacks upon the right side by the Japanese.

In another report General Sakharoff states that a superior force of Japanese, outnumbering the Rusians five to two, repulsed a sotnia of Cossacks in a sanguinary engagement near Dapingdanshan.

EMPHATIC PROTEST COMES FROM CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Polish and Bohemian citizens throughout the country have entered protest against the sending of the statue of Frederick the Great to America. Mass meetings will be arranged at which resolutions will be adopted.

The Polish Roman Catholic Federation of the United States has prepared a memorial, which will be sent to President Roosevelt and members of his cabinet. The federation has caused 250,000 copies of this memorial to be distributed. Tonight the first mass meeting of protest was held. The German kaiser and Frederick II. were denounced by speakers and in resolutions.

The memorial says: "It is contrary to the spirit of our institutions to have monuments erected in our midst to those who have been enemies of the liberty of the people. The erection of the statue to this absolute monarch is in violation of our principles of liberty and is an offense to the memory of those great heroes who have fought and died for the freedom of this glorious republic."

BROTHERHOOD TAKES UP CARPENTER FIGHT

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 19.—The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners has taken up the New York lockout of carpenters. Its executive officers say that they are determined to win the fight. President William Huber has just returned from a visit to the place, during which he tried to effect some satisfactory settlement, but the right to settle the matter by arbitration was denied. After his unsatisfactory visit to New York he went to Boston, Washington and other large cities and there interested the local bodies of carpenters and joiners in the fight. A call was sent out to the local unions of the brotherhood for financial assistance, with which to carry on the fight and judging from the manner in which similar fights have been arbitrated in the past it is believed that a good response will be received.

THEY ARE ALIVE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 19.—Colonel W. F. Wendelschaffer, Colonel Walter R. Stiles and Willard R. Perkins, who were reported drowned last Wednesday, while reported drowned off the coast of North Carolina, arrived home tonight, having come by express as soon as the report of their drowning reached them. They tell a story of their thrilling times in the storm that swept the Atlantic coast last Monday and Tuesday and say they do not care to repeat the experience.

COLE OUTPOINTING BUTLER

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—George Cole of Trenton outpointed Jack Butler of Brooklyn in all of the six rounds at the Kensington Athletic Club tonight. Butler acted on the defensive throughout and at no time was in Cole's class.

MISSOURI BUILDING BURNS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 19.—The Missouri building at the World's Fair was partially destroyed by fire this evening. The fire broke out at 6:10 o'clock. The origin is in doubt, some claiming that it was caused by defective electrical wires, others that it broke out in the kitchen under the assembly hall.

At the first alarm the marines, camping nearby, rushed to the building and succeeded in saving the costly furniture paintings and hangings in the building, as well as the library. The inflammable matter of the building caused the flames to spread rapidly. At 7 o'clock the beautiful dome fell. The fire companies of the World's Fair worked heroically and by 8 o'clock had succeeded in getting the fire under control.

The eastern wing of the building escaped almost without damage. The western is badly scorched and the center entirely gutted.

A brisk southwest wind was blowing at the time and greatly endangered the United States government building. A bucket brigade of the marines kept the roof well saturated. The Missouri building cost $105,000. The Iowa and Arkansas buildings were offered the Missouri commission for use till the close of the exposition.

One of the firemen was killed and several were injured in a wild run to the scene of the fire. The fire truck passing through a gulch, left the road and the horses separating, the pole struck a tree. The truck was upset and the crew hurled in every direction.

George Garbononback was killed and Captain Edward O'Neill and Jeremiah Fagin were badly injured.

During the progress of the fire, Mrs. Belle Small of Sedalia, Mo., rushed into the building and was overcome by smoke. She was rescued by firemen.

REPUBLICANS TO STOP SUNDAY BASEBALL

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Sunday baseball will not be legalized in New York state next year, the sweeping victory of the republicans sounded the deathknell of all hope in that direction for the present, although, in all likelihood, the amateurs and semi-professionals will be allowed to flourish under sufferance as heretofore. But as regards the National and American Leagues, their hopes of undisturbed Sunday ball games next summer were effectually checked as a result of the landslide.

In the avanlanche that swept the republican ticket into office were buried Charley Ebbets, candidate for state senate, and Silk O'Laughlin, candidate for the assembly up state. Both were expected to offer bills legalizing Sunday baseball had they been elected, but instead they will stay at home to wonder on the unexpected turn of events.

Ebbets was beaten by the proverbial eyelash, so to speak, despite a whirlwind canvass and the apparent certainty of his election. Had he run in an off year he would have carried his district, so it is confidently believed. But the popularity of Roosevelt swept all personalities aside and the voters simply put their crosses at the top of the ballot and ignored those down near the foot. Ebbets lost by less than a thousand votes, a margin that he might have overcome had conditions been different.

WHITECAPPERS ARRESTED

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 19.—Twelve while men accused of being whitecappers and interfering with the home stead laws of the United States were brought to this city today by United States deputy marshals under indictments found by the Federal grand jury, which adjourned Wednesday. These men were placed under $1,000 bond each for appearance at the next term of court. Most of the accused are residents of Franklin county. The Federal grand jury returned eighteen indictments against parties for alleged unlawful interference with United States homesteaders.

ELECTION JUDGES GUILTY

DENVER, Col., Nov. 19.—The supreme court this afternoon found three of the men accused of election frauds on election day guilty and sentenced them to terms in prison and to pay large fines.

Michael Dowd, democratic election constable, was sentenced to sixty days in the county jail and to pay a fine of $250.

Thomas Shepardson and Peter Miller, democratic election judges, were sentenced to one year and fined $1,000 each.

The court decided that the men were guilty of substituting ballots and of swearing in an election clerk falsely.

Attorney Smauel Belford gave notice of an appeal, and asked the court to fix bond so that a decision on the appeal could be given before the defendants would have to go to prison. The court denied permission to appeal and Mr. Belford said he would appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

No action was taken in the cases of the three men who have disappeared. There are still twenty defendants, all democrats, to be tried. The action of the supreme court will have no bearing on deciding the question of the validity of the election of either Peabody or Adams, but the moral effect on the legislature, the umpire body, will no doubt be potent if a contest should be brought before it.

CREDIT MEN OF TEXAS HAVE A MEETING

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 19.—The Credit Men's Association of Texas, representing jobbers in every branch of industry in the state, met at the Commercial Club this afternoon and considered a number of important matters.

Chief of these were the bulk law, whereby jobbers may dispose of goods in bulk that they can not handle in small lots, and the question of fraudulent failures. Committees were appointed to consider and look into these matters, which were announced as being causes of complaint from nearly ever member present, to report at the next meeting.

Committees were also appointed to solicit membership in Dallas, Fort Worth and adjoining towns, and in addition to this each member present agreed to act as a committee of one to the end that new members be added to the association.

The national bankruptcy law was under discussion during a large portion of the time of the meeting. Every member participated, presenting his individual views on the subject and the discussion ended in the appointment of another committee to prepare a report for the next meeting of the organization.

The secretary was instructed to address communications to all members, requesting them to use their best efforts to secure new members.

The next meeting is subject to the call of the president. President W. O. Conner presided.

MUTINY OF SOLDIERS

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 19.—A battalion of infantry stationed at Bahia mutinied yesterday at the instigation of a sub-lieutenant, according to a telegram received here. The commanding officer attempted to address the men, but was shot dead by the ringleader with a revolver. Other troops then charged the mutineers and order was restored. The sub-lieutenant who instigated the mutiny was fatally wounded and has since died.

WASHINGTON INDICATIONS

Eastern Texas—Partly cloudy Sunday; probably showers in east portion; colder in northwestern portion; Monday, fair; light to fresh south winds, becoming variable.

Western Texas—Fair and colder Sunday and Monday fair.

Arkansas—Partly cloudy and colder Sunday; possibly showers; Monday fair.

ONISTHMUS TROUBLE OCCURS

PANAMA, Nov. 19.—Recent events in Panama have stirred the populace to feverish excitement. While the authorities have so far been able to preserve order, the possibility of trouble over the regulation of the fortress at Cheriquito today was the signal for minor demonstrations. Shortly after groups of soldiers assembled in front of the palace and when a sufficient number had arrived the men began to clamor for their pay up to date.

Minister of State and War Guardia, accompanied by President Amador and United States Minister Barrett, appeared on the balcony and Senor Guardia addressed the troops. He admonished them to keep the peace, pointing out the reasons for the government's action and assuring them that employment would be found for them in the future. President Amador then gave orders in full hearing of the men for their payment.

The former soldiers were apparently satisfied and dispersed. Their hope to continue the demonstrations in the cafes and bar rooms proved vain, however, for by previous order, all resorts of this character had been ordered closed until next Tuesday. The authorities believe by that time all traces of dissatisfaction will have disappeared.

The barracks were today occupied by several detachments of police under command of President Amador's secretary, Lefevre. Further police details have been summoned from Colon by telegraph and a special train is now being dispatched from that city. The men will be armed with rifles. The fire brigade also has received orders to be in readiness for police service.

Rear Admiral Goodrich is reported to stand ready to send additional marines on shore, but is at present refraining from such action.

A line of steam barges and tugs have been pressed into commission, however, in expectation of an official request for the landing of more men.

YOUNG ERNE WAS OUT OF HIS CLASS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 19.—At the West End club tonight Abe Atelle proved that he was easily master of young Erne of Philadelphia and after twenty fast and furious rounds of fighting he was given the decision.

Not once did Erne have a look in and the little Californian proved that he was by no means a "has been." Erne fought a good fight, but was outclassed. He seemed to have a terrific punch and during the first rounds Abe did much side-stepping to avoid a collision with one of Erne's rights.

Monte, Abe's brother, made a circus of Dusty Miller of Chicago in the semi-windup and was given the decision after ten rounds.

TAYLOR MAY HAVE TO SEEK ANOTHER REFUGE

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 19.—With the inauguration of Governor Hanly January 9, 1905, William S. Taylor, formerly of Kentucky, who has been protected by Governor Durbin of Indiana, since the assassination of Governor William Goebel, probably will have to seek another refuge.

Governor Durbin will retire from office on that date, and a close personal friend of the governor-elect, who is in the city, said this evening that Mr. Hanly would do his duty by all states making requisitions on him. While he does not believe that Governor Hanly has given the case much thought at this time, he is confident that if the governor of Kentucky makes a requisition on him for Taylor the request will be given every consideration.

Governor Durbin and Governor Taylor have been warm personal friends for many years, and when Taylor was indicted for murder in connection with the Goebel assassination he went to Indiana, where he has since lived. Governor Beckham of Kentucky makes requisitions at stated periods on the governor of Indiana for the surrender of Taylor, but these have been ignored by Governor Durbin. It seems to be the prevailing opinion that Governor Hanly will decide the case upon its merits.

Governor Hanly, when approached on the subject at the Monticello hotel, declared that he could not discuss the issue until he was inaugurated and the governor of Kentucky made requisition on him for Taylor, as he was not crossing any bridges till he came to them, but that he would decide all cases on their merits.

HELEN GOULD IS WRITING A BOOK

PERU, Ind., Nov. 19.—Miss Helen Miller Gould is writing a book.

The work will describe the tour. Miss Gould has just completed of Indiana, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, and during which she contributed most generously toward erecting and maintaining buildings for the Railroad Young Men's Christian Association.

In her book Miss Gould will describe her tour, the receptions tendered to her, all the incidents of the agreeable trip.

The volume will be illustrated. Miss Gould traveled from New Haven, Ind., to Peru on a special train, which ran the sixty-two miles in fifty-nine minutes, including two dead stops. She took the trouble to unglove before shaking hands with Engineer Allen F. King and Fireman John Adams, both of Peru, who ran the train. King and Adams have received requests for their photographs, to be reproduced in Miss Gould's work, which will be in the printer's hands soon.

ON SPECIAL CAR TO SAVE SON'S LIFE

ELKHART, Ind., Nov. 19.—Mrs. C. F. Rexinger, wife of a veteran Lake Shore conductor, was provided with a special car attached to train No. 43 yesterday to carry her to Chicago in time to dissuade her son, Merritt Jacobson, from committing suicide, he having wired her his intention to end his life. No 43 does not carry passengers, being a mail train.

One hour before the mother arrived young Jacobson fired a bullet into his lungs intending it for his heart. A message received late this evening from the mother says that his chances for recovery are remote.

Jacobson was employed in the Lake Shore shops at Englewood, but until recently he had lived here. The act of the railroad company in providing Mrs. Rexinger with a special car established a precedent. It was done as a mark of respect for her husband and for her late father, William Chatterdon, who was one of the oldest and best-known engineers on the road. Mrs. Rexinger was accompanied by her niece, Miss Mary Ingles.

A BANQUET TENDERED TO SECRETARY TAFT

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 19.—Secretary Taft and party arrived here today en route to Panama via Pensacola, Fla. They were met at the depot by an escort of regular troops and state militia and escorted to the St. Charles hotel. In the late afternoon the distinguished visitors were taken for a ride on the river by a committee of leading local citizens. Tonight Mr. Taft was the guest at an elaborate banquet, at which there were 200 present, including army and navy representatives. The United States dispatch boat Dolphin arrived here today to take the visitors to Pensacola, where Governor Taft and his wife and a few others will board the cruiser Columbia for Colon. The Dolphin is not expected to leave before Tuesday morning.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT BREAKS HIS LEG

By the accidental discharge of a forty-four caliber pistol in his hip pocket William Hendricks was shot in the right leg just before 1 o'clock this morning and suffered a practure of the knee.

Mr. Robinson is one of the owners of the Rosen saloon, Thirteenth and Main streets, and is in some way connected with the Black Elephant saloon on Rusk street. Shortly after midnight he went to the Rusk street saloon to count the cash, the proceeds of the day's business. While engaged in counting the money he bent over for some reason and the gun, which was in his right hip pocket, was discharged with the result noted above.

Physicians were immediatley summoned and the man was taken care of.

DAN PATCH, THE PACER IS NOW IN DALLAS

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 19.—Dan Patch, the fast pacer, arrived in Dallas tonight over the Katy from Oklahoma City.

SOON MUCH FIGHTING

MUKDEN, Nov. 20.—Wounded officers who have arrived here state that furious fighting occurred Friday and early Saturday on both the right and left wings of the Russian army, the Japanese executing swift attacks with the evident purpose of concealing their reported intent of preparing a general assault on the center positions. There is every indication that hostilities on a large scale will soon be resumed.

Large bodies of the enemy are advancing on Lone Tree, which is in the line of fire of the Japanese batteries, the enemy's attempt to secure the range at the hill accurately having evidently been successful.

REPORT IS DENIED

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Sensational reports were current this afternoon that several members of the jury in the trial of Nan Patterson, the actress charged with the murder of "Caesar" Young, had been requested to retire. Coincident with the reports came the report that the remaining talesman on the panel had been ordered to report to the court on Monday morning. When the reports had been called to the attention of Abe Levy, chief counsel for Miss Patterson, he said there was no foundation for such reports.

ASPHYXIATED BY COAL GAS

ASBURY PARK, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Harry, 8 years of age, and Mary, 10, children of Mrs. Elisha Worley, were asphyxiated by coal gas from a stove in their home. Willie, another child, was found unconscious, but will recover.

BUYING A NEW BOAT

The Lake Submarine Protector Which Was Smuggled Out of This Country Was Delivered to Russia

LOADED IN THE NIGHT

Same Course Was Followed in Regard to the Fulton, Which Has Been in Dry Dock at Cronstadt -- Russia's Navy Is Thus Strengthened

ELIZABETH, N. J., Nov. 19.—The lake substitute marine torpedo boat Protector, which left this country June 10 last, after being secretly hoisted aboard the Norwegian steamer Fortuna at night in lower New York bay and then taken to Europe, has been placed in commission by the Russian government.

The Protector, it is learned, was not sold directly to the Russian government. She was disposed of to a French concern and then transferred to the czar's navy. It will be recalled that when Simon Lake, president of the Lake Torpedo Boat Company, recently returned from Europe he said he had been in Paris. The Protector was shipped across the Atlantic to be purchased by the Russians, subject to their approval. By those who have been in touch with the situation, so far as the dickering of the Russian and Japanese governments with shipbuilding firms in this country is concerned, the exact whereabouts of the Protector is not known at the present time, but it is not a bad guess that she will turn up with the Baltic fleet when that squadron arrives in Japanese waters. Six more boats of the Protector type are now under way for the Russian government.

The torpedo boat Fulton, built at the Crescent yards here, which also mysteriously disappeared from American waters, and which is the product of the Holland Submarine Torpedo Boat Company, is now in the Gulf of Finland, near Cronstadt. Up to a few weeks ago the Fulton was in dry dock at Cronstadt, but late advices from St. Petersburg indicate that she has been accepted by the Russian government. When the Holland goes out ready for battle she will be in charge of an American engineer. The Japanese will have five American boats of the torpedo type shortly in commission. The Fulton secretly left this country on June 24 last. On board were Peter Vrhill of this city, chief engineer for the Holland Company, and Charles Berg, a trusted employe of the company. The Fulton was hoisted aboard at night. The crew of the Holland Company boat went to Russia by steamer. Several other practical American shipbuilders have gone to Russia and Japan on mission connected with submarines.

RETAIL GROCERS TO ELECT A SECRETARY

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 19.—The State Retail Grocers' Association executive committee will meet in Dallas November 28 for the purpose of considering the resignation of W. E. Dixon of Greenville, who is now secretary of the organization.

There are twelve members of the committee from various parts of the state, and it is expected that there will be a full attendance when Dixon's resignation is taken up. This is considered by the grocers as the most important office in the association and every section of the state has an equal interest in the choice of Mr. Dixon's successor.

PRISONER CONFESSES HE WRECKED CHURCH

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Nov. 19.—Riley Robes, who is confined in jail here on a charge of arson, confessed to the prosecutor today that he was a party to a plot which resulted in the wrecking of a church at Raysville, the burning of Asa Sample's house near Knightstown and a number of other incendiary fires, the object being to punish men who are active in preventing saloonkeepers from getting licenses. Sample was an active temperance worker. The members of the Friends church which was destroyed by dynamite were also active in the work. Robes has implicated others in the plot.

A WOMAN DRUMMER IS ADJUDGED INSANE

WACO, Nov. 19.—Miss Georgie Spruill, a prepossessing young woman, representing an eastern house which sells women's clothing, and who has been very successful in getting orders for some time, was today adjudged insane. She entered the jewelry store of F. T. Elrick, a prominent jeweler, and threatened to kill him unless he would marry her, as she was in love with him. She had to be taken out of the store by officers. The woman claimed that Elrick had proposed to her, but he denies this, though admits he aided her and counseled her as a friend. It is the general impression Miss Spruill fell in love with him and being of an emotional nature has brooded over the matter until her mind was unsettled. The case excited great interest.

Miss Spruill is now under restraint.

M'LEAN AND HONEA MAKE RAID ON GAMBLING HOUSE LAST NIGHT

County Attorney Jeff McLean made his first raid in person last night, closing up a joint near Tenth and Main streets, securing a portion of the paraphernalia and over $300 in cash.

Sheriff Honea, who accompanied him on the raid, stated that a city officer stopped them before they entered the place and attempted to get them away.

Accompanied by Sheriff Honea, County Attorney McLean walked into the Delaware hotel last night, shortly after 11 o'clock, carrying in his hand a canvas money bag, containing the first proceeds of the campaign against gambling instituted in this city.

Together with the night clerk at the hotel and a representative of The Telegram, who was with them, they went to the rear of the hotel office, spread the spoils on the table, and made a count, showing a check for $5, $35 in currency and $286.90 in silver. Replacing the money in the bag, Mr. McLean said:

"The man who claims that money will go up for as long as I can send him."

The scene in the Delaware was but the closing of the preceding actions constituting the first raid by the new county prosecutor. Both gentlemen declined to discuss the raid in detail, but stated that, although no arrests were made, the names of the crap dealer and the Klondike dealer were obtained. These names Sheriff Honea had on a slip of paper.

"It wouldn't do to tell this newspaper man who tried to stop us from going into the place," said Jeff McLean to Sheriff Honea.

When pressed they refused to divulge the name of the person, but Sheriff Honea declared he was a city officer, who called to them and tried to get them away.

"I won't tell you who he is now, but you may make the statement, and if he kicks I will divulge the name," he said.

Continuing he declared that all the uptown gambling houses were closed and observing the law, and that he and Mr. McLean did not intend to let the little joints run.

"One man tried to run in defiance tonight," he said, "and you see the result."

Details of the raid as nearly as can be ascertained are as follows:

The county attorney and Sheriff Honea entered the gambling house after the ineffectual attempt to stop them, their entrance causing a hurried exodus. Their first efforts were confined, of course, to securing the money and paraphernalia, and while this was being seized the men made their escape.

The dealers, as stated above, however, were recognized, and their names taken by the officers. An attempt was made to get one of the dealers, but he ducked and made good his escape.

In the booty as seen at the hotel was a collection of about two dozen dice. The name on the captured check was not divulged last night.

Later in the night five men were arrested over a Jennings avenue saloon on charges of poker playing. They were taken to the court house and released on bond.

W. C. Stripling

THE PRICE IS THE THING.

ARE YOU COMING TOMORROW?
STRIPLING HAS BARGAINS FOR YOU!

'Twixt Dressmaker & Suits

Which will tempt you most? New dress goods? New suits? Perhaps your ideas turn to some ideal of your own or your dressmaker's planning. If so, let us tempt you tomorrow with a wonderful low price on some very rich goods.

Some very fancy high-grade Novelty All-Wool Suiting. We place on sale 150 yards specially priced for Monday's sale, worth $2.50 per yard, at $1.75
6 pieces, about 270 yards, that sells at $1.50 per yard, for $1.00
3, pieces, 135 yards, that sells for $1.25, we will sell at this special sale for only ..... 85¢
360 yards of new Brilliantine to be placed on sale in new pin stripe plaids and plain colors, green, blues, fancy and plain blacks, we sold for 59c, on sale at ..... 50¢
Another big bargain that we just received in Waisting is a Mercerized Chambray, absolutely fast colors, sells anywhere at 18c, Monday we give in all the newst and popular colors, 25 pieces, about 1,000 yards, at the sale price of ..... 12½¢
Nainsooks—Here's a bargain. We picked them up at a bargain knowing you will have use for them in many ways. We give you a bargain instead of holding for better prices, as some stores do.
7 1-2c Nainsook for ..... 5¢ 10c Nainsook for ..... 7½¢
1,500 yards White Pique and Madras go with the bargain hammer tomorrow; elegant goods, large assortment of patterns, when everybody wants them; 20c goods that sell for that price anywhere; sale price only ..... 15¢
36-inch Black Taffeta Silk, guaranteed, for only $1.00
36-inch Half-wool Henriettas for school dresses ..... 25¢
200 yards 6 1-2c Unbleached Sheeting at ..... 5¢
10c Bleached Muslin ..... 7¢
Heavy Cotton Shirting ..... 5¢

Women's Suit News

While brown suits seem to take the lead and we have every shade of brown in almost every cloth that goes into women's suits—we don't forget what we are striving for—to make this the greatest woman's suit store in Texas, where a woman can get the best that money will buy for the least money. You can find your style of suit here. Here's a bargain suit picked from among the new arrivals, in blues, browns and blacks, richly trimmed with silk braid and silk-covered buttons, a suit worth $12.50 anywhere; our price $8.50
These Tourist Suits with the loose fitting backs in all the new Mannish cloths that other stores are selling for $15.00; our price only $12.50

Skirts

Both new and bargain priced. We keep Skirts moving here. We won't let the styles accumulate. The sharp pruning knife clips the price and away they go, new ones are taking their place, little price does wonders in keeping the styles fresh. Before we mention new Skirts, we've assorted a table full of bargains that we are going to offer you; perhaps there are

Fifty Skirt Bargains Priced

In this lot, not a blemish, the only thing is they are odds and ends of this season sizes in Skirts, perhaps your size is among them. You get

$3.50 Skirts for $2.50
$5.00 Skirts for $3.50
Common Melton Skirts, well made, for $1.00

New skirts in browns, blues, grays and blacks, in all the new cloths, for $5.00, $6.00, $7.50 and $8.00. Skirts in all the present popular colors, we save you from $1.50 to $2.00 in price.

Millinery

There is a rustling among the pretty Plumes and Flowers.

The Price-Cutting Knife Cuts Deep

While this department has done better than it has ever done before we realize that some stores are not doing so well. When the season is over they will try to unload. We give you this bargain now while you need them and not after the season is gone. We offer you your choice of fifty fancy trimmed $5.00, $6.00 and $7.50 hats for $3.50
200 Street Hats in smooth scratch felt, all new shapes, many that the trimmings are worth as much as the price asked, that other stores sell at $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00,

Our Price 98c

Baby Caps. We are selling Baby Caps for half their real value, 20c, 40c, 60c, 90c and up.

Ladies Underwear that's Good

When we can give you underwear for 50c that has the good points of the dollar garment in—our dollar garments don't require the telling about. Our 50c Union Suits, made adjustable across the bust, full around the hips and very elastic for comfort; do you want better? 50c or $1.00 Union Suits, separate garments, as low as 2 for ..... 25¢
$1.25 All-Wool Vests at $1.00
Boys' Union Suits ..... 50¢
Girls' Union Suits' 2 to 6 ..... 25¢
30 Knit Leggings that fasten at the waist, for small children, for ..... 25¢

Little Things You Need Where Prices Talk

Prices that you know are right. Bargains that tell of this store's small profit methods.
7-foot Window (linen) Shades, with roller and fixtures complete, any color, for ..... 25¢
2 dozen Pen Points for ..... 5¢
2 dozen 5c Safety Pins for ..... 5¢
5c Colored Handkerchiefs, 2 for ..... 5¢
10c Hemstitched Handkerchiefs ..... 5¢
25c Box of Paper and Envelopes ..... 10¢
100 sheets of Writing Paper, tablet form, for ..... 5¢
Half pound cake of Castile Soap for ..... 5¢
Armour's 5c Toilet Soap, 2 cakes for ..... 5¢
2 packages of white double wove (25 in each pack) Envelopes for ..... 5¢

A Hose Bargain

Bought at a bargain, we share the profit with you; it's a chance you don't get every day. We make money, you save it.
10c Children's Hose, fast black, sizes 6 to 9, for ..... 5¢
Boys' and Misses' 15c Hose, 3 pair for ..... 25¢
Heavy Bicycle Hose, that everybody knows retails at 25c, our price ..... 20¢
Fine Ladies' Fleece Lined Hose, 2 pair for ..... 25¢
Ladies' extra heavy lined 25c Hose at ..... 19¢
Misses' Fast Black Hose, regularly sold at 25c, at ..... 19¢

THANKSGIVING

Next Thursday Will Be Observed as a Day of Thanks as Proclamations Have Directed Should Be Done

SERVICES IN CHURCHES

Football Games in Afternoon and Later Will Come Social Features by the Young People of the City—Number of Hunting Parties Promised

Fort Worth's Thanksgiving day promises to be fully and thoroughly observed next Thursday, in compliance with the presidential and gubernatorial proclamations causing for proper notice of the time-honored custom.

Texas, with her farmers prosperous to greater extent than ever before, her capitalists profiting from present enterprises and fostering others within the boundaries of her sovereignty, her mechanics employed and contented, can truly give thanks next Thursday, and in all things for which Texas may be thankful. Fort Worth may be doubly so, being blessed in that proportion over her kindred in the Lone Star corral.

The earliest recorded appointment of a Thanksgiving day was in 1623. There had been an unfavorable season for the young American colony, and starvation seemed imminent. To avert the terrible calamity a day of humiliation and prayer was appointed, and in the midst of the solemn observance the rain descended copiously. The crops afterward yielded an abundant harvest. To thank God "with all their hearts for the good world and the good things in it," the first American Thanksgiving was officially proclaimed and duly celebrated in the fort church, where Elder Brewster preached the first Thanksgiving sermon.

RELIGIOUS FEATURES

The religious feature of the first Thanksgiving day will be observed in this city by services in many of the churches, while others will join in union services for the day. Residents on the south side have already made announcement of their service at the Broadway Presbyterian church, where the sermon will be delivered by Rev. William Harsha of Denver. Services in other churches will be announced later.

DINNERS TO THE POOR

Another form of religious observance will be the dinners to the poor, arrangements having been made that none in the city shall go hungry on the joyful occasion.

Colonel Mayfield announces that the Christian Volunteer Army will make preparations to feed from 400 to 500 persons at 207 East Fourteenth street, and Captain Gale, in charge of the Salvation Army work in this city, has announced that, following their time honored custom, the organization will again minister to the poor. The dinner of this organizaeion will be held on the Saturday preceding Christmas at 1609½ Main street, the efforts of the army being delayed until that time.

For the Christian Volunteer dinner Collections of supplies are already being made, to which it is reported the merchants are responding liberally. Following the dinner, dinners will be carried in baskets to poor persons unable to attend the dinner itself.

THANKSGIVING MARKET

A Thanksgiving event in this city which will occur prior to the day itself will be the Thanksgiving market opened at Fifth and Houston streets by the W. C. T. U. This market will be opened Tuesday afternoon and remain open during Wednesday, offering Thanksgiving supplies to those wishing to make purchases.

Turkeys, cranberries, pumpkin and mince pies, cakes, celery and all the things going to make up the distinct American institution, the Thanksgiving dinner, will be placed on sale. From present indications, the markets of the city will offer fine Thanksgiving supplies, the turkeys this year being reported as more than usually fat and tempting, while all the side pieces for the meal are being offered temptingly at the stores.

FOOTBALL GAMES

While the older folk are religiously observing the day, the youngsters will be given full opportunity to enjoy the great fall sport.

In the morning the Sans Pareil and the Entre Nous will battle on the gridiron for football honors, cheered on by the friends of the two clubs, whose partisans number all the leaders in the smart set.

In the afternoon, the university will try conclusions with the Elks, this game promising to be the most interesting seen here this year. The Elks are training hard for the struggle, realizing the strength of the 'Varsity, and the 'Varsity has not let up during the recent idle weeks.

SOCIAL FEATURES

Returning from the football field the spectators will barely have time to change apparel for the numerous social features of the evening, and the day will go out with lingering wishes.

Hunting will form the holiday recreation of many of the city's residents, every street car containing a planning crowd who count on a day in the woods.

The holiday will be generally observed by the business houses, thus giving all an opportunity to observe the occasion. The federal offices and banks will be closed; announcement has been made that there will be no stock market; railroad offices will be quiet and those institutions finding it impossible to stop work entirely will arrange a partial holiday for their employes.

The bird will be king and his mandates will be obeyed.

NORTH FORTWORTH ROSEN HEIGHTS STOCK YARDS

Nash Furniture Company.

Forty-eight ballots only were cast in North Fort Worth yesterday on the question of incorporation for school purposes, forty-six of the ballots favoring such action.

In view of the light voting at the recent water works election a heavy vote was not expected yesterday, but even the lowest estimates were cut by the actual number of ballots deposited. Several bets had been made that the total number of votes would not reach a hundred, but no estimates were placed as low as fifty.

Louis Blank acted as election officer, being assisted by W. H. Sprinkle and E. B. Mackey as judges and A. L. Capps and H. C. Moore as clerks.

Under the decision as made by the voters, the city will be incorporated for school purposes, the schools being maintained separately from those of the county district next term, it having been felt by the citizens that they were paying more than their proportionate share for the schools of the district, considering that the majority were without the city limits.

As a special tax had been levied in the school district, as allowed under the law, it is thought that tax, together with the state allowance, will be ample for the support of the city schools, allowing but forty-five or fifty pupils to each teacher, as against the present conditions with in some cases almost eighty children to a teacher.

The construction of additional school houses is also being discussed.

NOTES AND PERSONALS

The Rosen Heights Literary Society met Friday night at the Methodist church. Only a few members were present, but a pleasant evening was spent. Miss Nellie Williams was elected vice president of the society in the place of W. B. Lovejoy. The next meeting will be held Friday night.

Mrs. H. D. Paxson entertained in her charming manner at her beautiful home on West Hill street Thursday afternoon. High five was the chosen game and after a pleasant afternoon dainty refreshments were served. The invitation was included both Fort Worth and North Fort Worth ladies.

Dr. Gallaway is visiting relatives in Bosque county.

Miss Lucille Manning left Sunday morning for a visit in Jonesboro, Ark.

Mrs. Robert Spear of Cleburne is the guest of her sister, Mrs. P. J. Knipp.

Dr. Germany, a former Fort Worth medical student, visited in North Fort Worth this week.

Mesdames F. S. Brooks and G. W. Eastham leave Monday morning for Houston to attend the carnival.

Misses Minnie and Jeanette Farmer entertained very pleasantly at their home on Prospect avenue Saturday night. Dancing and games were indulged in, and every one reports a nice time. Those present were: Misses Vinson, Moody, Boyd and Farmer, and Messrs. Boyd, Anderson, Southerland, Manning and Farmer.

Born, to J. E. Buchanan and wife, a boy.

Additional lighting facilities were placed at Collier's corner yesterday.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

WHAT THE NATIONAL PROVISIONER SAYS

The National Provisioner, Chicago, a standard trade paper, says of Texas:

"It does not matter what the occasion or where the speakers talk stock, crops or boll weevil, bankers and merchants, even lawyers, doctors and preaches, are no exception. They all have the Texas development fever. Hog and hominy was the first economic cry of the south. Texas heard and joined in. Then she became pregnant with prosperity and has given birth to more enterprises than even the most optimistic citizen of the Lone Star State had hoped for in his wildest dreams. Texas has 10,000,000 cattle and millions of hogs, sheep and horses for good measure. Her live stock alone are worth nearly $700,000,000. Texas has a normal cotton crop of 3,000,000 bales. At last year's prices these were worth over $150,000,000 for the lint alone. From this lint dropped 1,500,000 tons of seed, worth $10 per ton at the gin, or $15,000,000 for the lot. This made the cotton crop worth $165,000,000. Texas has over $200,000,000 worth of railroads of all kinds, besides trolley lines and equipment for the same. Texas has $100,000,000 invested in factories of other kinds. Texas is one of the greatest fruit, coal, lumber, grain and mining states in the nation. Texas is, possibly, the greatest natural petroleum field in this age in any country. A hundred other things of a complimentary nature might be said about industrial Texas. Twenty-five years ago Texas was a comparative wilderness. Today the state has multiplied her strength fourfold and no man can now even estimate what the possibilities of the great state will be a decade hense. Energy is alive everywhere. The rich, natural wealth of the commonwealth is being brought to life, and everything feels it as by a magic touch. Texans are talking and doing. It is a great state, and is already a packing house center of the first importance."

Pluto Concentrated Water prevents appendicitis by regulating the liver. Prevention is better than the knife.

Queen Bess Whiskey.

4 FULL QUARTS
$3.45
WE PAY THE EXPRESS

Send us $3.45 and we will send you 4 full quarts whiskey, surpassing anything you ever had in age, purity and flavor. Express charges paid to your city.

We please others—you
TRY IT.
Goods Guaranteed.

ADDRESS
KENTUCKY DISTILLERS AGENTS
KANSAS CITY, MO.
LOCK BOX 567

HILL & HILL

Sayings—

"Too many cooks spoil the broth."

Too many brands of whisky spoil the man.

Insist on HILL AND HILL, and you'll always be right side up with care.

Hill & Hill

(Bottled in Bond)

For sale by all first-class Hotels, Cafes and Bars.

NO-TSU-OH CARNIVAL

$9.00 Houston and Return

Houston & Texas Central R. R.

Tickets on sale Nov. 20 to 25, limited to Nov. 28. Through sleepers leaving 7:30 p. m., arriving Houston next morning at 6:10.

Phone 488 for reservations.

E. A. PENNINGTON, C. P. A.
811 Main St., Worth Hotel.

HOLIDAY EXCURSION

—TO ALL POINTS IN THE—

SOUTHEAST

ONE FARE PLUS TWO DOLLARS FOR THE ROUND TRIP

—VIA—

THE TEXAS T&P PACIFIC RAILWAY EL PASO

NEARLY TWELVE HOURS QUICKER THAN ANY OTHER LINE.

Dates of sale, Dec. 20-21-22 and 26; limit, thirty days from date of sale.

E. P. TURNER, G. P. & T. A. DaMas.
J. F. ZURN, Gen'l Agent. Sixth and Main.

Scott's Santal-Pepsin Capsules

A POSITIVE CURE

For Inflammation or Catarrh of the Bladder and Diseased Kidneys. NO CURE NO PAY. Cures quickly and permanently the worst cases of Gonorrhoea and Gleet, no matter of how long standing. Absolutely harmless. Sold by druggists. Price $1.00, or by mail, postpaid, $1.00, 3 boxes, $2.75.

THE SANTAL-PEPSIN CO.
Bellefontaine, Ohio.

Sold by Weaver's Pharmacy, 504 Main st.

W. L. FARRIS IS OPPOSED TO AN EARLY DATE

He Believes Executive Committees Should Fix Primary After February 1—Apex of a Political Volcano

Editor of The Telegram.

I desire briefly to enter a protest against the recent action of the city democratic executive committee in fixing the 15th of December as the date for holding the primaries to select candidates for the offices of city marshal and assessor and collector of taxes. It would seem that the committee has fixed this date without looking to the interest or convenience of the citizens, and without due regard to the exigencies that may confront the democratic party, into whose keeping its destinies are temporarily given.

Now what reason can be given for holding a primary election right at the holiday season, when hundreds and hundreds of our citizens can not and will not sacrifice the time to participate, especially in view of the fact that the election does not take place until the fourth month of 1905. This thing was done by the committee a few years ago and the dissatisfaction was general and widespread.

A more serious phase of the question is this: This is the only election now known to be had during the year 1905. With the primaries held in December, 1904, where poll tax receipts for 1903 can be used, there will be no incentive therefore for a large numbers of our citizens to pay their poll tax and qualify as voters for the year 1905. After the 1st of February this can not be done. Now, there might occur a vacancy in some important office, or some special election of far-reaching and vital consequences to the material interests of the city might come up. Then where would we appear with perhaps a thousand or more of our citizens disfranchised by failure to pay their poll tax.

Another phase for the committee to consider: Fort Worth today, in the opinion of many, is standing on the apex of a political volcano. The situation is such as to call for wise and patriotic action on the part of the executive committee. In case its action in this instance is not reconsidered and a later date fixed, say February 15, or even March 1, the field is so inviting for a non-partisan candidate that it is almost certain to be entered, that too under the most favorable conditions possible, and a political pile-driver is liable to get in action here in April, that will remind us of the one used in the nation on the 8th instant.

With a view of averting this, and of having the best interests of the city safeguarded, these suggestions are respectfully submitted. Let's hear from others. Let the right thing be done. It is always best.

W. L. FARRIS.

HENRY DONOVAN

Henry Donovan, aged 60 years, died yesterday evening at St. Joseph's Infirmary, where he has been under treatment for about one week. Deceased was a resident of Texline.

A STARTLING TEST

To save a life Dr. T. G. Merritt of North Mehoopany, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes: "A patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in fourteen months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50c. at Matt S. Blanton & Co., Reeves' Pharmacy and W. J. Fisher.

RELATIVES HERE OF BURR J. RAMAGE

Burr J. Ramage, whose presence at the White House in an official capacity has exposed President Roosevelt to danger of smallpox, as told in the telegraphic reports of last Friday's Telegram, has two relatives living in this city.

Rev. B. B Ramage, rector of St. Andrew's parish in this city is a brother of Burr J. Ramage and Mrs. Elizabeth Harrison of North Fort Worth is an aunt of the stricken official.

Neither relative, so far as is known, has received later reports as to the condition of the sick man. No report of spread of the contagion has been received in this city.

Our new corn mill is now in operation and we are ready to furnish the old fashioned rock ground corn meal like your grandmother used to eat. It is the most wholesome corn meal made. It saves the choice part of the grain. Tell your merchant that you must have that corn meal made by the Mugg & Dryden Company.

Oyster Cocktail, Free

All this week the T. A. Snyder Preserving Company will serve our patrons with a delicious oyster cocktail in connection with their demonstration of catsups, salad dressings, cocktail sauce, chili sauce, etc.

THE Parker W. Lowe DRY GOODS CO.

Mail Orders--Best Service

Shopping by mail is a pleasure if you use our efficient mail order service. All orders filled on day received. If we are out of the items wanted, we make every effort to buy elsewhere. Express paid on orders of $5.00 or more, except heavy goods.

Thanksgiving Linen Sale—Profit-Sharing Prices

The continuation of our Thanksgiving Linen Sale gives to every lady in Fort Worth and vicinity an opportunity to replenish her linen chest at a minimum cost. Each day this sale has increased in popularity until now it is at the high tide of success. The qualities shown, in connection with the low prices, are a compelling incentive to buy. Invest now and save money.

68 and 72-inch silver bleach and pure bleach—a big line of patterns to select from; the 60c quality 45c

72-inch snow-white Damask, all pure linen; all the desirable patterns—snowdrop, daisy, rose, etc.; a splendid 85c quality for 69c

Sheets and Bed Spreads Reduced

72x90 full bleached Sheets, the regular 60c grade; Thanksgiving Sale 50c

Richardson's grass bleach, pure Irish Linen, in the $1.50 and $1.75 grades; full 72 inches wide; scroll and floral designs. Just what you want to grace the Thanksgiving table and make you proud of being the hostess; sale price $1.25

Handsome quality Napkins, to match, 5-8 size; per dozen $2.25

Full 3-4 size, to match; per dozen $3.50

84-inch Table Damask, for banquet and extra wide tables; a beautiful quality of double damask; special Thanksgiving Sale price, per yard $1.39

26-inch, fast edge Napkins to match $2.98

68x90 Table Cloths, fringed or plain; good heavy quality; each $1.39

Red border, fringed Cloths, size 68x84 or 68x90; choice 95c

New sets, borders all round; about a dozen different patterns, all good. Prices from $12.00 per set down to $5.00

72x90 hemstitched Cloths, with one dozen Napkins to match, all ready for the table; per set $4.75

Snow-white Double Damask Sets, beautifully hemstitched, size 72x90. One dozen large size Napkins to match; for Thanksgiving Sale $6.98

Beautiful Cloths, for the very finest service, heavy Double Damask; Napkins to match; Cloths 72x108; Napkins 24x24 Several very handsome sets to select from; per set $10.00

Handsome Cloths, borders all round; 2-yard, 2½-yard and 3-yard; at per yard.. $1.25

70x90 hemstitched German Table Cloths, extra fine, heavy quality $2.25

Broken lots of Napkins—the Cloths have been sold and we have nothing that is a perfect match. They come in German and Irish Linens, either silver or pure bleach. The prices have been reduced for quick selling to, per dozen $1.85

18x18 bookfold, fast edge Napkins, good quality, soft and fine; limit of four dozen to a customer; per dozen 38c

$1.25 Table Linens—the prettiest line of patterns ever shown. The quality of the cloth is exceptional, closely woven, well made; during this sale 89c

Big values in Bed Spreads. The best lines shown anywhere are here for our Thanksgiving Sale; the $1.00 quality..... 79c

Knotted fringe Bed Spread, cut corners for iron beds; regular $2.00 grade..... $1.39

Attractive Millinery Underpriced

Fascinating Hats of every color and shape are here for your selection. Attractive Millinery at wonderfully low prices, the magnet that draws the crowds to this ever-popular department and makes of each visitor a customer. Our workroom is putting in overtime to supply the demand, and with the productions of New York's best designers, that are being constantly received, make an ever-changing show that is most attractive. Monday, a big line of beautiful Dress Hats that have sold from $7.50 to $10.00, will be shown at.... $5.00

A handsome line of Street and Dress Hats, in the accepted fall models—the $5.00 and $6.50 grades; Monday..... $3.50

Newest Neckwear

SAVING PRICES

New lines of Neckwear have just been received. Handsomely embroidered soft silk Stocks and Turnovers, in all the popular colors, together with a big line of hand-made Stocks of chiffon and silk, plain or ruched, the lines usually sold at 50c; Monday.... 25c

Evening Coats and Costumes

Rare Values--Prices One-Third to One-Half Off

Right at the height of our social season we present a buying opportunity that should be most pleasing—reductions of one-third to one-half on Evening Coats, Waists and Costumes. Prepare for the Christmas festivities now and make a saving.

Evening Coats, in purest white, made of broadcloth, kersey and broadtail, trimmed with fiber braids, lace medallions, appliques, pendants, fancy buttons, etc.; the $65.00 coats for $45.00; choice of our $50.00 and $55.00 coats for..... $37.50

Imported Matinee Coats, in champagne and brown, beautifully trimmed in Persian brocades; the $50.00 coats reduced to..... $40.00

Beautiful White Voile and Etamine Dress Skirts; the $25.00 garments reduced to $15.00; the $19.50 garments reduced to $10.00

Imported Dress Waists, in crepe de chine, chiffon silk and lace; the $100.00 waists reduced to $50.00; the $25.00 and $35.00 waists reduced to $18.00 and $15.00

Curtains, Blankets and Comforts

EXCEPTIONAL VALUES

Additional lots being received weekly keep the interest in this department ever at the top notch. The stock of Curtains, Blankets and Comforts is now complete in every respect. From the inexpensive up to the better qualities, a saving is plainly apparent.

Nottingham Curtains, full width and length, plain and figured centers; special value, pair 98c

Extra wide Nottingham Curtains, full three and one-half yards long; pair $1.50

Extra wide Saxony Curtains, full 3½ yards long, plain center with effective narrow border; pair, $3.50 and $2.50

Plain and Figured Cable Net Curtains, 3½ yards long and extra wide; pair $3.00

Full size Silkoline Comforts, figured on both sides; each.... $1.00

Quilted or knotted Silkoline Comforts, extra size, figured on both sides; each $1.50

11-4 gray wool Blankets, good weight, well bound; pair..... $3.50

11-4 extra fine white wool Blankets, fancy borders, silk bound; pair $4.00

Extra large, all pure white wool Blankets, blue and pink borders, silk bound, just the size for double beds; pair $5.00

11-4 all pure white California wool Blankets, of fine weight, silk bound, with blue and white borders; fine value; pair $8.50

Extra large cretonne-covered Comforts, pure white cotton, knotted or quilted; each $2.00

Sateen Comforts, pure cotton filling; figured on both sides; each $3.00

Basement Bargains

TREMENDOUS PROFIT SHARING

Many of the regular stocks must be closed out this week to make room for the holiday goods, which are crowding in upon us every day.

Our Skirt Department must be closed out by Thursday. This space needed for Xmas Toys.

SKIRTS AT HALF PRICE— Choice of 100 Skirts, our $4.50 and $5.00 garments; Monday $2.50

Over fifty of our good quality Walking Skirts, in colors and black—the $3.50 qualities for $1.50

Boys' Pants, the double-seat and knee quality—to completely close out this week, we will sell the $1.00 and $1.25 grades for 75c; the 75c grades for ..... 50¢

Bookfold Percales ..... 5¢

Roller Toweling ..... 3¢

10c to 12½c Outing and Flannelette ..... 5¢

Good quality Dress Gingham for ..... 5¢

50 Hardwood Clothespins 5¢

Othello Alarm Clocks.. 59¢

Dress Goods and Silks

RARE VALUE GIVING

The tremendous popularity of our dress goods section has been brought about by the profit-sharing prices prevailing here. Additional help has been employed, so there will be no annoying waits. We mention but a few of the many low prices that are so attractive to our many customers. Many lines not mentioned will appeal just as strongly to your instinct of economy.

New lines of fancy Shirt Waist Silks, in browns, blues — New lines of fancy Shirt Waist Silks, in browns, blues, greens and blacks; specially priced Monday for..... 45c

All silk Crepe de Chine, in all the light shades 65c

Warranted-to-wear Lining Silk, in cadet, cardinal, brown, reseda, mode, nile, white, cream and black; for Monday's selling 35c

$2.50 to $3.50 Imported Dress Goods, in pattern lengths, beautiful materials and rich colorings, in browns, blues, greens and oxfords; for Monday $1.50

56-inch genuine Priestly Cravanette, in tans, modes, etc., $2.50 grade; Monday $1.98

46-inch all wool Fancies—the $1.50 grade—the latest arrivals this fall; Monday $1.29

Handsome Cloakings, in navy, cadet and scarlet, for children's wear; 54-inch $1.50

Worthy Gloves--Kid and Wool

The best Gloves only, is the secret of the phenomenal success of our glove department. The constantly increasing business is an evidence of the satisfaction in making purchases in this department.

New Golf Gloves, in all the late styles, at 50c and 25c

Trefousse, Tampa, Derby, Monarch, P. & L., and Vallier—the best gloves; at $2.00, $1.50, $1.25 and.. $1.00

Thanksgiving Silverware--Special Prices

A splendid showing, representing one of the foremost manufacturers in this country. Every piece triple plate on a base of nickel silver. Special prices for Thanksgiving.

Rogers' A1 Red Seal brand Teaspoons, warranted 4-oz. plate on 18 per cent nickel silver; set of six.... 85c

Rogers' AA1 warranted 4-oz. plate, Teaspoons, Tablespoons and Forks—two patterns; per set of six $1.45

Rogers' Sugar Shell and Butter Knife, Red Seal Brand, warranted 4-oz. plate; two patterns; each..... 10c

Women's & Children's Underwear

RARE VALUE GIVING

The beginning of the winter season finds us splendidly equipped to meet all the demands made upon us for worthy qualities of Underwear for women and children. In this department exceptional care is taken to buy the best fitting qualities obtainable for the money, and we believe that nowhere else will you find the comprehensive assortments and the moderate prices that prevail here.

Splendid quality Ladies Vests and Pants, nicely fleeced, for ..... 25¢

Children's Union Suits, extra value—the kind that fit 25¢

Women's and Misses' Union Suits or Vests and Pants; per garment ..... 50¢

Extra value in Ladies' Union Suits, nicely fleeced or part wool, Vests and Pants; per garment $1.00

Fancy Zephyr Knit Shawls, in all the light colors.. 25¢

Large size Zephyr Squares, fancy border ..... 50¢

Handsome Fascinators and Ice Wool Shawls, Silk Shawls, etc., extra values, at $2.50, $1.50 and $1.00

BOYS' WAISTS—Buy the Boys' Waists here and make a saving. Waists, Blouses and Shirts; $1.00, 75c and.. 50¢

LADIES' TOURIST CAPS—Silk and wool ..... 75¢

ASSAULTS A WOMAN

Mrs. Ludie Therrel, an Employe of Swift's Plant Is the Victim of a Terrible Encounter Saturday Afternoon

WAITS IN THE ROAD

As She Passes on Her Way Home He Attacks Her and It Is Only by Her Resistance and Screams He Is Frightened Away

Mrs. Ludie Therrell, 1102 Peach street, was the victim of an attempted criminal assault about 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon as she was coming toward town from the packing plants in North Fort Worth, where she is employed, by an unknown negro, who is still at large, after fruitless attempts by officers to capture him.

The woman, the mother of two children, is employed at the Swift packing house in the soap department. Shortly after noon Saturday she started to go home, as there was no further work for the day. As she was walking along the extension of Samuels avenue on the road leading past the old cemetery, a slim negro hailed her, and coming up to her made indecent proposals. The woman resented such actions and started to run from the man. With this the negro ran after her and catching her threw her to the ground, tearing from her nearly all the clothing covering her body. The woman fought the field with all her strength and screamed. The man, seeing the opposition to his effort at the screaming point left the woman lying in the road and started toward the thicket of trees along the Trinity river, making his escape.

The woman at once got to her feet and hastened to a tent nearby, where a family of negroes live. Here it was found that while her clothes had been nearly torn from her she had beside been badly choked, the marks of the negro's fingers even being visible at a late hour last night on the woman's neck. Beside she had broken one of the fingers of the right hand in trying to fight off the brute and keep him from accomplishing his intentions.

After washing the dirt of the road from her face and hands and attending to the broken finger and bruised neck, she walked a short distance toward the city and caught a conveyance to Fort Worth and notified the city hall and the sheriff's office. Both city and county officials were at once dispatched to the scene with the description of the negro given as best the woman could. The bottom lands along the Trinity river was scoured and all parts of the city and North Fort Worth, the police there assisting in the search. Up to 9 o'clock two negroes had been arrested by the deputy sheriffs and three by the police. All were taken to the home of the woman and she was asked to identify them as being the brute who attempted the assault, but each and every one was not the man and all were turned loose by the officers.

All night men have been searching the neighborhood of the crime and putting forth the best efforts to find the guilty one, but up to an early hour this morning no one had been arrested who would fit the description given by the woman.

Mrs. Therrell is 37 years of age and has two children. It was to support them and to give them some kind of an education that she was working at the packing house and trying in that way to make a living for the family. People who had occasion to pass the place of the assault report having seen a negro answering the description given by the woman to the officers loitering about the bridge several minutes before the attempted crime. With the description given the officers arrested the five men, but none of them bore out the impression the negro made upon the mind of the woman.

The woman during the afternoon and evening was on the verge of hysteria on account of the terrible experience she had gone through.

CITY BRIEFS

Queen Quality Starch. Try it.

Oysters, any style, at Blythe's.

Cut flowers at Drumm's. Phone 101.

Boaz's Book Store, 402 Main street.

Dr. Ray, Osteopath. Phone 553.

Blythe's for your oysters.

Dr. Blake, Dentist, Hoxie bldg.; phone

For a fine overcoat at a low price, go to Friedman, 912 Main street.

For an up-to-date, first class overcoat, go to Friedman's, 912 Main street.

J. W. Adams & Co., feed, produce, fuel and fat kindling. Phone 530.

Dr. Withers has moved his office to Victoria Bldg., opp. Hotel Worth.

Brown & Vera have moved to 1108 Main, between Tenth and Eleventh.

Nothing so good as a good oyster stew on a cold day. Visit Blythe's.

Good kindling at the Rock Island Coal Company.

Curran's Hand Laundry, 6th and Burnett streets. Both phones 37.

Dr. Suggs has taken office with Dr. F. D. Thompson in the Fort Worth National Bank building.

For cold feet use Manning's Powder. Guaranteed by Pangburn.

Dont buy an overcoate until you see Friedman's overcoats; he is selling such high grade goods for such low prices.

Bowden Tims saves you 10 per cent on building material. Railroad avenue and Wheeler streets.

If you like oysters you are particular how they are served. For that very reason you should visit Blythe's.

Twenty-two cars of chicle, a product of Yucatan used in the manufacture of chewing gum, passed through the city at midnight on a special train of the International and Great Northern, bound for the chewing gum factories at Chicago. The cargo was picked up at Galveston, to which place it had been shipped by steamer.

An oyster parlor is what you have been looking for. You will find it at Blythe's. Your order is prepared by an expert and served in an up-to-date manner.

It will always be found a little better and perhaps a little cheaper at the William Henry & R. E. Bell Hardware Co., 1615-17 Main.

1,650 fine tailor-made overcoats selling now at Friedman's, 912 Main street, from $3.00 up to $12.00, worth more than double the money.

Rock Island Coal Company has moved to Taylor street, opposite Anheuser Busch. Prepared to fill all orders for wood and coal.

Masquerade Ball given by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Tuesday, November 22, at Crooms' Hall. Admission 50c per couple. A prize will be given to the best masked couple.

Our new corn mill is now in operation and we are ready to furnish the old fashioned rock ground corn meal like your grandmother used to eat. It is the most wholesome corn meal made. It saves the choice part of the grain. Tell your merchant that you must have that corn meal made by the Mugg & Dryden Company.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Newt Moffatt, a boy.

Bank clearances for the week were $5,426,106, as aginst $4,522,879.66 for the same week last year.

W. J. Bailey and wife leave here Monday for Marlin Springs and will be at the Arlington hotel for two weeks.

Queen City Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will confer the rank of Knight Monday night on four esquires from Handley.

H. T. Kerr of New York City, a civil engineer in the United States army, is in the city visiting the family of his brother-in-law, J. T. Coppage.

Great Junior Sagamore Clarence Haughton of Galveston, who was in the city yesterday, has gone to Grapevine to institute a tribe of Red Men at that place.

S. P. Rice, state organizer for the Fraternal Union of America, will be in Fort Worth Monday and will hold an open meeting of the order Monday night.

Mrs. N. Ruddick and little daughter Helen, arrived last week from Canada and are visiting Mr. Ruddick's sister, Mrs. D. T. Evans, on Texas street.

After a pleasant visit of three months with his uncle and aunt, H. H. Bailey and wife, of 420 Galveston avenue, Mark McLaughlin has returned to his home in San Antonio.

W. R. Avea of Brownwood, Ga., is visiting his mother, Mrs. Sealy, at the residence of her son-in-law, J. I. Greer, Greer street. Mr. Avea is a substantial farmer of Terrell county, Ga.

A truckload of mineral water was tipped over at the Texas and Pacific depot this morning and about forty dozen bottles broken.

A valuable watch belonging to Mrs. R. W. Moore has been reported to the police as either being lost or stolen from the family residence, corner Rusk and Seventh street.

Paul Hendrick, night clerk at the Texas and Pacific office, left last night for Mineral Wells to attend the conference there.

R. D. Venson of the joint track dispatcher's office of the Texas and Pacific is spending Sunday at Midland on his ranch.

The members of the Young Men's Hebrew association are to entertain their lady friends at a party to be given Monday evening at the home of Max Gilbert on Peter Smith street.

Mrs. A. B. Walton, 314 Bessie street, has gone to St. Louis to visit with friends and attend the closing days of the World's Fair.

Elbert G. Rall has returned from a visit to Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, more satisfied than ever with his home in Texas. He was in Cincinnati when the news of the Roosevelt landslide reached the city.

F. Washburn, a railway mail clerk, made his first run in two weeks Saturday on account of an injury he received at Longview by falling off of a truck of mail. The clerk at that time severely sprained his right wrist.

Many of the cotton pickers who went from southern Texas to the cotton fields in Oklahoma are returning to their homes. They report that they made good money during the season and that now they are returning to assist in the picking of the last scattering crops in the south.

Two teams of young men representing the football players of the Fifth and Sixth wards played a match game of football yesterday afternoon in the Sixth ward. The score at the end of two halves, twenty and ten minutes, was a tie of 5 to 5. The players were very evenly matched.

Railroads at the present time which enter Fort Worth are doing the best business of the season. On the Rio Grande division of the Texas and Pacific the business at the present time far exceeds that done at this time last year.

Nine coaches are to be used to transport the Methodist ministers attending the Northwest Texas conference at Mineral Wells Monday afternoon to Weatherford and then to Fort Worth. Provision is being made to run a special train to this city from Weatherford Monday evening.

A man last night about 10 o'clock struck a colored woman over the head with either a club or pistol near the Panama saloon. The man was arrested on a charge of aggravated assault by Officers Isham and Bilderbeck. Later he was turned over to the county.

Two negroes had a mixup in front of the Shamrock saloon about 10 o'clock last evening. One of the men was struck over the head with a blunt instrument and badly bruised. The other man was arrested by Officer R. R. Porter.

A number of the deputy sheriffs of Ellis county were in the city last evening and accompanied Sheriff John Honea and deputies in their rounds of the city during the hours of the crusade. They were greatly impressed with the way the Tarrant county officials do business.

Conlain Brothers, three wealthy men from Ireland, have been in Fort Worth for the last several weeks looking over various sites near the city and gathering data as to the practicability of establishing here or at some other near point in the southwest a lace factory. They left the city last evening and refused to give out anything for publication at all.

S. L. Easley, the negro restaurant keeper who was shot Friday night, was removed to the St. Joseph infirmary late Saturday afternoon. His condition has not improved and the physicians are doubtful as to the man's recovery. The woman who was alleged to have done the shooting gave herself up yesterday, and after a hearing was placed under $300 bond and was set at liberty upon securing the bonds.

Two gypsy women dressed in their picturesque garbs were about the Texas and Pacific depot late Saturday afternoon telling fortunes. When any of the lady travelers in the depot refused to permit them to tell them what the future had in store for them the gypsies would order them out of the depot with threats of bodily injuries. The matter was reported to the authorities and stopped without any trouble. The two women were ordered from the building and left threatening to do injury to the women who had reported them.

A FRATERNAL FEATURE

At the last meeting of the Barbers' union it was decided to embrace a fraternal insurance feature with the organization and plans along that line were adopted.

The adoption of the insurance feature is expected to add largely to the membership of the union and a thorough canvass is now being made among the members of the craft in this city.

Zenda Bar

1402 Main St., Fort Worth

Has been thoroughly replenished with the finest Wines and Liquors in the city. Fancy drinks, hot or cold, served at the bar. Jerry Deems and Frank Livingston, mixologists, guarantee prompt and polite attention. Call and see your old friends.

JAMES A. MAY, Proprietor.

Unionist of every organization, I have been maliciously belied to you by my enemies to destroy my business. Publicly I announce my sympathies with hand, heart and purse when trouble arises.

Constipation Causes

Headache, Bad Blood and Urinary Troubles. Drake's Palmetto Wine cures in three days. Free bottle sent on request by Drake Formula Company, Chicago.

My Offer to Strangers--
A Full Dollar's Worth Free

You Pay Nothing

I want no references—no security. The poor have the same opportunity as the rich. To one and all I say, "Merely write and ask." I will send you an order on your druggist. He will give you free, the full dollar package.

This offer is only for strangers to my remedy. To those who have not heard, or hearing, have not tried it.

My offer is as broad as humanity itself. For sickness knows no distinction in its ravages. And the restless patient on a downy couch is no more welcome than the wasting sufferer who frets through the lagging hours in a dismal hovel.

I want strangers EVERYwhere to test my remedy.

You Promise Nothing

There is no catch in my offer—no mystery in my remedy. I can explain my treatment to you as easily as I can tell you why cold freezes water and why heat melts ice. Nor do I claim a discovery. For every detail of my treatment is based on truths so fundamental that none can deny them. And every ingredient of my medicine is as old as the hills it grows on. I simply applied the truths and combined the ingredients into a remedy that is practically certain.

But my years of patient experiment will avail you nothing if you do not accept my offer. For facts and reason and even belief will not cure. Only the remedy can do that.

You Deposit Nothing

No one else has ever tried so hard to remove every possible excuse for doubt.

In eighty thousand communities—in more than a million homes—Dr. Shoop's Restorative is known. There are those all around you—your friends and neighbors, perhaps—whose suffering it has relieved. There is not a physician anywhere who dares tell you I am wrong in the new medical principles which I apply. And for six solid years my remedy has stood the severest test a medicine was ever put to—I have said "If it fails it is free"—and it has never failed where there was a possible chance for it to succeed.

You Risk Nothing

But my liberality is of no avail to those who shut their eyes and doze away in doubt. For doubt is harder to overcome than disease. I cannot cure those who lack the faith to try.

So now I have made this offer. I disregard the evidence. I lay aside the fact that mine is the largest medical practice in the world, and come to you as a stranger. I ask you to believe not one word that I say till you have proven it for yourself. I offer to give you outright a full dollar's worth of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It is the utmost my unbounded confidence can suggest. It's open and frank and fair. It is the supreme test of my limitless belief.

Inside Nerves!

Only one out of every 98 has perfect health. Of the 97 sick ones, some are bed-ridden, some are half sick, and some are only dull and listless. But most of the sickness comes from a common cause. The nerves are weak. Not the nerves you ordinarily think about—not the nerves that govern your movements and your thoughts.

But the nerves that, unguided and unknown, night and day, keep your heart in motion—control your digestive apparatus—regulate your liver—operate your kidneys.

These are the nerves that wear out and break down.

It does no good to treat the ailing organ—the irregular heart—the disordered liver—the rebellious stomach—the deranged kidneys. They are not to blame. But go back to the nerves that control them. There you will find the seat of the trouble.

There is nothing new about this—nothing any physician would dispute. But it remained for Dr. Shoop to apply this knowledge—to put it to practical use. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is the result of a quarter century of endeavor along this very line. It does not dose the organ or deaden the pain—but it does go at once to the nerve—the inside nerve—the power nerve—and builds it up, and strengthens it and makes it well.

A Bond of Sympathy

The inside nerve system is plainly the most important system in the human body. Our life rests on the action of the vital organs. While they work we live. When they stop we die. While they perform their duties properly we are well. When they perform their duties poorly we are ill. And the vital organs, each and every one, depend upon the inside nerve system, for it not only regulates them—it operates and controls them.

The work of the inside nerves is not only the most important—it is the most laborious. For our other nerves are exerted only at will. We think and talk and exercise only as we feel inclined, and when we are tired we rest. But the stomach, the heart, the liver, the kidneys, must constantly and continuously—day and night—fresh or tired, perform their necessary duties. We have no way of knowing even that they are tired or at fault save the weakening of the organs they supply.

But this strong bond of sympathy has a useful purpose. For it shows us clearly that all are branches of one great system—that if we make the system strong we strengthen every branch. This is why so many ailments can be cured by one form of treatment. For almost all sickness is nerve sickness—inside nerve sickness and other kinds of sickness, such as purely organic derangements, are frequently due to lack of proper inside nerve treatment.

Many Ailments - One Cure

I have called these the inside nerves for simplicity's sake. Their usual name is the "sympathetic" nerves. Physicians call them by this name because they are so closely allied—because each is in such close sympathy with the others. The result is that when one branch is allowed to become impaired, the others weaken. That is why one kind of sickness leads into another. That is why cases become "complicated." For this delicate nerve is the most sensitive part of the human system.

Does this not explain to you some of the uncertainties of medicine—is it not a good reason to your mind why other kinds of treatment may have failed?

Don't you see that THIS is NEW in medicine? That this is NOT the mere patchwork of a stimulant—the mere soothing of a narcotic? Don't you see that it goes right to the root of the trouble and eradicates the cause?

But I do not ask you to take a single statement of mine—I do not ask you to believe a word I say until you have tried my medicine in your own home at my expense absolutely. Could I offer you a full dollar's worth free if there were any misrepresentation? Could I let you go to your druggist—whom you know—and pick out any bottle he has on his shelves of my medicine were it not UNIFORMLY helpful? Could I AFFORD to do this if I were not reasonably SURE that my medicine will help you?

Evidence

Lane, Idaho, Jan. 23, 1904.

I write you this letter to let you know that I have been entirely cured of Diabetes through the use of your Restorative. I am now in good health and am doing hard work all the time.

I shall always keep the Restorative on hand, for it is the first thing I should think of if I did not feel well.

W. S. O'BRIEN.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 28, 1904.

Your Restorative has been a great blessing in my family; to my mother, my baby, and myself. My baby I feel quite sure would not be living now had it not been for your Dr. Shoop's Restorative. As it is, he is a big strong looking boy for his age. At nine months, when he began taking the Restorative, he was at death's door.

MRS. CHAS. HAVENS.

Chillicothe, Ohio, July 1, 1904.

It is with pleasure that I announce to you the cure of my terrible suffering of heart trouble. I am now 89 years old, and I am tending to a large garden. I feel quite well now, and it is due to Dr. Shoop's Restorative. I felt better after taking the first bottle and recommended this remedy to all suffering aged people.

MRS. JANE C. REDMAN.

Evidence

835 Lincoln Ave., Allegheny, Pa., June 2, 1904.

I have taken six bottles of your Dr. Shoop's Restorative and am completely cured. No more Dyspepsia, no more headache, no more pains. That is to say I feel perfectly well.

MRS. PH. D. DESJARDINS.

Fayetteville, Wis., May 24, 1904.

I was sick for a year with Kidney complaint. Tried two Doctors. They did not help me any. I could not go to church nor any place. I would have to get up ten times through the night.

I got two bottles of your Restorative at the drug store. I could see a change the first week. I took four bottles in all. I am well today, and it is one year ago now since I got it. I can sleep all night and won't have to get up. I know your remedy saved my life.

Sincerely yours,
ROBERT CHENEY.

No. Platte, Neb., Feb. 6, 1904.

I want to tell you what your Dr. Shoop's Restorative has done for my Heart trouble. My suffering was so intense that I had to close school one day, and it was then that my mother urged me to take your medicine. I felt beneficial results from the first day I took it, and now feel entirely well.

NELLIE O. LOVESTEDT.

Evidence Everywhere

I could fill this whole page with such letters as these. But why multiply the evidence?

Your own physician will tell you that the inside nerves—the sympathetic nerves—the power nerves—control the vital organs.

Your own common sense will tell you to treat not the ailing organ, but the nerve that controls it.

And in almost every community in the United States you will find men and women who have used Dr. Shoop's Restorative—who will bear glad testimony that it cured THEIR ailments, relieved THEIR suffering, brought back the color to THEIR cheeks, made THEIR lives happy and wholesome and helpful.

Yet I have not asked you to take my word—or your physician's word, or your neighbor's word—or the word even, of your own common sense. I have merely asked you to let me buy you a full dollar bottle—for which you are to pay nothing—either now or later. It is simply a free gift because I know that if it helps you, you will learn to rely on it—you will tell your friends and they their neighbors.

I am risking my business—my life work—my reputation. I am depending on your own honest opinion after your own test in your own home. I can not profit unless my medicine succeeds. Could I afford this if I were not sure?

Simply Write Me

The first free bottle may be enough to effect a cure—but I do not promise that. Nor do I fear a loss of possible profit if it does. For such a test will surely convince the cured one beyond doubt, or dispute, or disbelief, that every word I say is true.

The offer is open to everyone, everywhere who has not tried my remedy.

But you must write ME for the free dollar bottle order. All druggists do not grant the test. I will then direct you to one that does. He will pass it down to you from his stock as freely as though your dollar laid before him. Write for the order today. The offer may not remain open. I will send you the book you ask for beside. It is free. It will help you to understand your case. What more can I do to convince you of my interest—of my sincerity?

For a free order for a full dollar bottle you must address Dr. Shoop, Box 6863, Racine, Wis. State which book you want.

Book 1 on Dyspepsia.
Book 2 on the Heart.
Book 3 on the Kidneys.
Book 4 for Women.
Book 5 for Men.
Book 6 on Rheumatism.

Mild cases, are often cured with one or two bottles. For sale at forty thousand drug stores.

For Stomach Troubles

The stomach is controlled by a delicate nerve called the solar plexus. Prize fighters know that a blow over the stomach—a solar plexus blow—means a sure knockout. For this nerve is ten times as sensitive as the pupil of your eye. Yet the solar plexus is only one of the centers of the great inside nerve—the power nerve. It is one of the master nerves. The stomach is its slave. Practically all stomach trouble is nerve trouble—inside nerve trouble—solar plexus trouble. Dr. Shoop's Restorative strengthens the inside nerves—strengthens the solar plexus—and the stomach trouble disappears.

For Kidney Troubles

The Kidneys are the blood filters. They are operated solely by the inside nerves. The branch which operates them and regulates them is called the renal plexus. When the renal plexus is weak or irregular, the kidneys become clogged with the very poisons they should throw off. No kidney treatment can clean them out or cure them and one stage leads into another until after a while the kidneys themselves begin to break down and dissolve. There is only one way to reach kidney trouble—that is through the inside nerves that control them, which Dr. Shoop's Restorative alone strengthens and restores.

For Heart Trouble

Your heart beats more than ten thousand times a day. And every heart beat is an impulse of the inside nerve branch called the cardiac plexus. The heart is a muscle, but it is the nerve that makes the muscle do the work. An irregular or weak heart is, almost in every instance, the direct result of a weak or irregular nerve—inside nerve. To cure heart trouble, restore the nerve to normal. Dr. Shoop's Restorative will restore the cardiac plexus, just as it restores the solar plexus and the renal plexus. For all are equal parts of the great inside nerve system—the power nerves—the master nerves.

For Liver Troubles

The liver, like the kidneys, is also a blood filter. It is regulated and controlled by a branch of the stomach nerves. Nine out of ten suffer at some time with liver trouble. The inside nerves which actuate it are delicate and sensitive. The slightest strain, such as over-eating, etc., is likely to weaken the nerves. The result is dullness and lassitude and billiousness which breed other illness. Then take Dr. Shoop's Restorative, a few doses of which will sufficiently strengthen the control nerves to set the ailing organ right. Liver pills and other ordinary remedies can give no permanent relief.

For Overworked Men

The worries of business, the strains of overwork, the penalties of excess, each manifest their first effects on the inside nerves. This is evident when you realize that these nerves are the very source of human vitality and power. There is no other way to restore human vitality than by strengthening its fountain head—the inside nerves. For every organ, every act of life, depends on them. They are the masters—the organs their slaves. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is the most effective remedy known in cases of this kind. It has stood the test of time. No other remedy even claims to reach the inside nerves.

For Womanly Troubles

Almost all of the troubles that are peculiar to woman are caused by weakness of the inside nerves. There is no need to doctor or dose an ailing organ when it depends alone for its supply of energy on the inside nerves. Inside nerve weakness, if not attended to, will spread. The common name for the inside nerves is the "Sympathetic Nerves." Each center is in close sympathy with the other, and when one becomes deranged, general weakness and derangement frequently ensue. Dr. Shoop's Restorative gently tones up the inside nerves and removes the cause of weakness, safely and surely.

For the Home

Keep Dr. Shoop's Restorative in the home against the little troubles that so frequently arise. It is an emergency remedy, because it goes direct to the seat of most all forms of illness—inside nerves. Chronic complaints start from little illnesses which could have been easily checked in their early stages. Dr. Shoop's Restorative will brighten many a dull day, will freshen the spirits and increase the appetite. It is not a cure-all. It does not pretend to do miracles. It reaches only the inside nerves. But these nerves so thoroughly control the vital functions that most diseases will readily yield to it.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

THE GIFT IS A JOKE

Berlin Papers Say Presentation of Statue of Frederick the Great Is Noticed Only by the Comic Papers

PROTEST FROM CHICAGO

Polish and Bohemian Citizens Object to Acceptance of the Gift, Saying Statue of Monarch Has No Place in This Country of Free People

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 19.—A cablegram to the Daily News from Berlin, with reference to the statue unveiling today in Washington, says:

"Germany treats with indifference the unveiling of Frederick the Great at Washington. The Berlin press has taken very little notice of the event. A few comic papers have noticed it only to ridicule it. One of these publications represented German officials dressed as red Indians dancing around the statue. Public opinion in the Fatherland long ago decided the kaiser had made an impulsive blunder in offering the statue, which it is pointed out President Roosevelt dared not accept for the nation until after his re-election. It is believed that under such circumstances the event will not affect German-American relations."

THE UNVEILING ON WAR COLLEGE GROUNDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Amid the enthusiastic demonstrations of a great concourse of people, the bronze statue of Frederick the Great, a gift of Emperor William to the people of the United States, was unveiled today. Seldom has an event presented so many brilliant features of military pageantry and at the same time given occasion for the manifestation of the strong bonds of friendship between the German empire and the United States.

The ceremony of unveiling occurred on the esplanade of the Army War college in the Washington barracks reservation. Surrounding the statue were great stands to accommodate the many officials and guests invited to take part in the exercises. On every hand the colors of the United States and Germany were blended. Within the amphitheater formed by the stands were gathered the representatives of every branch of the government, including the president of the United States and members of the cabinet, the chief justice and associate justices of the United States supreme court, the chief of staff of the army, the admiral of the navy, senators and representatives. Not less notable was the representation of Germany designated by Emperor William. The special commissioners representing his imperial majesty were Lieutenant General von Loewenfeld and Major von Schmettan, both of whim are descended from oficers of Frederick the Great. With theme were the German ambasador, Baron von Speck von Sternberg, and the entire staff of the German embassy, all in brilliant diplomatic uniform, while the diplomatic corps was represented by the British, Russian, Italian and Mexican ambassadors and the ministers from many foreign countries.

A troop of cavalry escorted President Roosevelt and the members of the cabinet from the white house to the scene of the ceremonies. When the president arrived at the stand the entire assemblage rose and greeted him with cheers. After an impressive invocation by Bishop Satterlee, President Roosevelt delivered the address of welcome. He spoke in a strong voice and with great earnestness, pausing frequently at the outbursts of applause.

BARON SPECK VON STERNBERG

Mr. President: The hearty and truly sincere welcome which Prince Henry of Prussia met with throughout the United States during his visit in February, 1902, has left a deep and lasting impression on the German emperor and on the German people. The citizens of the United States showed Prince Henry the true manner of American hospitality and where he appeared he received a greeting which did not come merely from the lips, but which had the true ring of the heart.

In the many addresses with which the prince was honored, the name of Frederick the Great was conspicuous. It was emphasized that the prince's ancestor had shown himself a staunch and true friend of those people who now were welcoming the descendant of their own soil. It was pointed out that Frederick the Great had proved America's friend at a time when the young republic was in the course of her formation weathering many storms and perils. Thus it was this dauntless Hohenzollern, the father of Germany, who laid the cornerstone on which the friendship between the two countries might securely rest.

Emperor William followed with keen interest the movement of his brother in America and was profoundly touched by the attitude of undisguised friendship and good will which characterized every step of the prince who returned to Germany as the true interpreter of the true American spirit.

In order to give this visit, which had terminated under such happy auspices, a lasting memorial, Emperor William called on the genius of Germany's most renowned sculptor to create a statue of his ancestor. This statue he has sent across the sea as a gift of friendship to the American people. We now behold it on the pedestal from which it is destined to watch the men who in the magnificent building, soon to adorn these grounds, are to be instructed in those sciences which the military genius of Prussia's soldier king so marvelously perfected. May the spirit of this hero inspire those men who are to stand as the pillars of the army of the United States with those qualities which made the iron Hohenzollern great among leaders and which alone render armies mighty and invincible.

Mr. President, by order of the German emperor, I have the honor of asking you to accept this statue as a token of his majesty's and the German people's sincere friendship for the people of America.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S ADDRESS

Mr. Ambassador—Through you I wish on behalf of the people of the United States to thank his majesty, the German emperor, and the people of Germany for the gift to the nation which you have just formally delivered to me. I accept it with deep appreciation of the friendly regard which it typifies for the people of this republic both on the part of the emperor and on the part of the German people. I accept it not merely as the statue of one of the half dozen greatest soldiers of all time, and therefore peculiarly appropriate for placing in this war college, but I accept it as the statue of a great man, whose life was devoted to the service of a great people, and whose deeds hastened the approach of the day when a united Germany should spring into being.

As a soldier Frederick the Great ranks in that very, very small group which includes Alexander, Caesar and Hannibal in antiquity, and Napoleon, and possibly Gustavus Adolphus, in modern times. He belonged to the ancient and illustrious house of Hohenzollern, which, after playing a strong and virile part in the middle ages, and after producing some men, like the great Elector, who were among the most famous princes of their time, founded the royal house of Prussia two centuries ago, and at last in our own day established the mighty German empire as among the foremost of world powers. We receive this gift now at the hands of the present emperor, himself a man who has markedly added to the luster of his great house and his great nation, a man who has devoted his life to the welfare of his people, and who, while keeping ever ready to defend the rights of that people, has also made it evident in emphatic fashion that he and they desire peace and friendship with the other nations of the earth.

It is not my purpose here to discuss at length the career of the mighty king and mighty general whose statue we have just received. In all history no other great commander save only Hannibal fought so long against such terrible odds, and while Hannibal finally failed, Frederick finally triumphed. In almost every battle he fought against great odds, and he almost always won the victory. When defeated he rose to an even greater altitude than when victorious.

WILL LAST LONG

The memory of the Seven Years' war will last as long as there lives in mankind the love of heroism, and its operations will be studied to the minutest detail as long as the world sees a soldier worthy of the name. It is difficult to know whether to admire most the victories of Leuthen and Prague, Rossbach and Zorndorf, or the heart-breaking campaigns after Kunersdorf, when the great king, after having been beaten to the ground by the banded might of Europe, yet rose again and by an exhibition of skill, tenacity, energy and daring such as had never before been seen united in one person, finally wrested triumph from defeat. Not only must the military scholar always turn to the career of Frederick the Great for lessons in strategy and tactics; not only must the military administrator always turn to his career for lessons in organizing success; not only will the lover of heroism read the tales of his mighty feats as long as mankind cares for heroic deeds; but even those who are not attracted by the valor of the soldier must yet, for the sake of the greatness of the man, ponder and admire the lessons taught by his undaunted resolution, his inflexible tenacity of purpose, his far-sighted grasp of lofty possibilities, and his unflinching, unyielding determination in following the path he had marked out. It is eminently fitting that the statue of this iron soldier, this born leader of men, should find a place in this war college; for when soldierly genius and soldierly heroism reach the highest point of achievement the man in whom they are displayed grows to belong not merely to the nation from which he sprang, but to all nations capable of showing, and therefore capable of appreciating, the virile and masterful virtues which alone make victors in those dread struggles where resort is at last had to the arbitrament of arms.

But, Mr. Ambassador, in accepting the statue given up today through you from the German emperor, I accept it not merely because it is the statue of a mighty and terrible soldier, but I accept it as a symbol of the ties of friendship and good will which I trust as the years go on will bind ever closer together the American and the German peoples. There is kinship of blood between the two nations. We of the United States are of mixed stock. In our veins run the blood of almost all the peoples of middle, northern and western Europe. We already have a history of which we feel that we have the right to be legitimately proud, and yet our nationality is still in the formative period. Nearly three centuries have elapsed since the landing of the English at Jamestown marked the beginning of what has since grown into the United States.

GERMAN ELEMENT STRONG

During these three centuries streams of newcomers from many different countries abroad have in each generation contributed to swell the increase of our people. Soon after the English settled in Virginia and New England, the Hollander settled at the mouth of the Hudson and the Swede at the mouth of the Delaware. Even in colonial days the German element had become very strong among our people in various parts of this country; the Irish element was predominant in the foothills of the Alleghenies; French Huguenots were numerous. By the time of the Declaration of Independence that process of fusion which has gone on ever since was well under way. From the beginning of our national history men of German origin or German parentage played a distinguished part in the affairs both of peace and of war. In the revolutionary war one of the leading generals was Huhlenberg, an American of German descent, just as among the soldiers from abroad who came to aid us one of the most prominent was the German, Steuben. Muhlenberg was the first speaker of the house of representatives; and the battle which in the revolution saved the valley of the Mohawk to the American cause was fought under the lead of the German, Herkimer. As all the different races here tend rapidly to fuse together, it is rarely possible after one or two generations to draw a sharp line between the various elements; but there is no student of our national conditions who has failed to appreciate what an invaluable element in our composite stock the German is. Here on this platform, Mr. Ambassador, among those present today are many men partly or wholly of German blood, and among the officers of the army and navy who have listened to you and who now join with me in greeting you there are many whose fathers or grandfathers were born in Germany, and not a few who themselves first saw the light there.

Each nation has its allotted tasks to do; each nation has its peculiar difficulties to encounter; and as the peoples of the world tend to become more closely knit together alike for good and for evil, it becomes ever more important to all that each should prosper; for the prosperity of one is normally not a sign of menace but a sign of hope for the rest. Here on this continent where it is absolutely essential that the different peoples coming to our shores should not remain separate but should fuse into one, our unceasing effort is to strive to keep and profit by the good that each race brings to our shores, and at the same time to do away with all racial and religious animosities among the various stocks. In both efforts we have met with an astonishing measure of success. As the years go by it becomes not harder but easier to live in peace and good will among ourselves; and I firmly believe that it will also become not harder but easier to dwell in peace and friendship with the other nations of the earth.

KINSHIP OF NATIONS

A young people, a people of composite stock, we have kinship with many different nations, but we are identical with none of them, and are developing a separate national stock as we have already developed a separate national life. We have in our veins the blood of the Englishman and the Irishman, the German and the Frenchman, the Scotchman, the Dutchman, the Scandinavian, the Italian, the Magyar, the Finn, the Slav, so that to each of the great powers of the Old World we can claim a more or less distant kinship by blood; and to each strain of blood we owe some peculiar quality in our national life or national character. As such is the case it is natural that we should have a peculiar feeling of nearness to each of many peoples across the water. We most earnestly wish not only to keep unbroken our friendship for each, but so far as we can without giving offense by an appearance of meddling, to seek to bring about a better understanding and a broader spirit of fair[illegible] toleration among all nations. It has been my great pleasure, Mr. Ambas[illegible] pursuance of this object, recently [illegible] with you the first steps in the negotiation of a treaty of friendly arbitration between Germany and the United States.

In closing, let me thank you, and through you the German emperor and the German people, for this statue, which I accept in the name of the American people; a people claiming blood kinship with your own; a people owing much to Germany; a people which, though with a national history far shorter than that of your people, nevertheless, like your people, is proud of the great deeds of its past, and is confident in the majesty of its future. I most earnestly pray that in the coming years these two great nations shall move on toward their several destinies knit together by ties of the heartiest friendship and good will.

The bishop of Worcester, in a triennial address to his clergy recently, said that the clergy had fallen under the despotism of choirs, and with regard to monotoning on a high note he complained that they seemed to think there was "something sacred about the note G."

A ZIONIST IS TO VISIT IN THIS CITY

Dr. De Haas, a Leader in the Movement, Will Be Entertained Here by the Orthodox Congregation

The Ahavath Zion, the orthodox Jewish organization of Fort Worth, is preparing to properly receive and entertain on December 26, Dr. J. De Haas, the secretary of the Federation of American Zionists, who is to make a thirty days' tour of the southern states in the interest of the great international Zionistic movement.

Dr. De Haas is the leading man of the Zionistic movement of the English speaking nations since the death of Dr. Theodore Herzel, the founder of the present movement. He has traveled extensively in all lands, and knows better the condition of the Jewish people than any other man living. The work has been taken up by him where Dr. Herzel left off. The purpose of his visit in the south is to organize the members in the various towns where no organization, such as the Ahavath Zion in Fort Worth, exists, and to lecture to the members of the race and the general public, telling all of the work and progress being made and what must be done to have the Hebrews of the world realize their purpose of again reclaiming Jerusalem as their own.

Extensive preparations are already in progress for his reception here, and provision is being made so that the distinguished gentleman may have a pleasant trip and be able to accomplish much as a result of the visit. He will also visit Dallas, Waco, Houston, Galveston and Beaumont.

Our new corn mill is now in operation and we are ready to furnish the old fashioned rock ground corn meal like your grandmother used to eat. It is the most wholesome corn meal made. It saves the choicest part of the grain. Tell your merchant that you must have that corn meal made by the Mugg & Dryden Company.

ELLIS & GREENE
Real Estate, 708 Main St. Phone 1922.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

John Holey and wife to Sam Rosen, part of J. W. Haynes survey, $5,100.

Walter Keys to J. W. Adams, lot 3, block 25, Union Depot addition, $1,350.

Mrs. N. L. Harrison to Miss Willie Davis, lots 1, 2 and 3, block 88, Arlington, $500.

H. B. Herd to Annie M. Taylor, lots 13, 14, 15 and 16, block B, Wray's subdivision block 16, Feild & Welch addition, $3,200.

J. E. Pierce and wife to J. M. Scott, 70 acres of Israel Earl survey, $1,200.

W. P. Wilemon and wife to F. S. Windle, 1.04 acres of the S. C. Neal survey, $3,000.

W. D. Weller and wife to C. E. Manning, 5 acres of G. N. Butts' survey, $750.

E. N. Brandgee to L. L. Hawes, 10 acres of William Welch survey, $7,000.

F. Jennings to L. L. Hawes, part block 12, Jennings' South addition, $150.

Phillips Investment Company to L. L. Hawes, part block E6, Daggett's addition, $800.

Sycamore Land Company to L. L. Hawes, 16.3 acres Sycamore Heights addition, $1,630.

S. W. Scott to Mrs. C. F. Nugent, north one-half west one-half block J. Feilds' Hillside addition, $550.

IN A FLAT-BOAT TWO BOYS WILL MAKE TRIP

Enoch J. Mills and Ralph W. Todd Will Float Down the Mississippi River From St. Louis to New Orleans

Coach Enoch J. Mills of the Fort Worth university is to leave the day after Thanksgiving for St. Louis, where he is to meet Ralph W. Todd of Grand Junction, Col., a former classmate of the Colorado State Agriculture College at Fort Collins. The two young men are to spend several days seeing the closing of the big exposition, and are then to start down the Mississippi river to New Orleans, expecting to reach there in time for the Madri Gras in February.

The trip is to be made by the two adventurous young men in a large sized flat boat. The men are to live in a tent when not drifting down the stream along the banks, and expect to have a delightful as well as exciting time in their novel way of seeing some of the world. From New Orleans after the close of the carnival the young men are to sail for Cuba. After exploring that new republic to their hearts' content they are to go to the Isthmus of Panama, and then back to Colorado to spend the summer. In the fall it is highly probable that Coach Mills will again return to this city and take in hand the football material at the Fort Worth University for 1905, and make of the team the excellent men physically he has done this year.

Both of the men are of an adventurous nature and great believers of the open-air habit. They have taken this mode to get plenty of fresh air and to have several months of recreation and pleasure. Both have parents who are wealthy and well-to-do Colorado citizens, and they have their consent to make the hazardous trip.

McCALL'S Patterns All Seams Allowed 10c & 15c

At Knight's Store!

Just a good, reliable store—a store to which you can telephone your order or send your youngest child and have as careful attention given your wishes as if here in person—That's this store.

THE GREAT ROOM-MAKING SALE PRICE STILL CONTINUES

Examine our stock and compare our prices with what you are paying, and the economy of buying at the one price cash store is very evident. Here is where your money goes the farthest, because profits are at their lowest. No bills but your own to pay, and no extra profit to make up. One price to all, and that is the lowest cash price. Quick sales and small profits are emblematic of the Knight Store.

WE ARE SOLE AGENTS FOR GOOD BARGAINS

Ladies Jackets

Yes, New Jackets and Skirts. We are sole agents for good bargains. A rapid turning stock here. New things appear just as soon as the makers show them, and the constant arrival of new goods fill up the gaps rapid selling makes. Come here for your ready-to-wear garments. You will find fit, finish and fabric all to your liking, and prices to please you, too.

Ladies' Jacket, made of very fine kersey cloth—has the new collar and sleeves, sateen mercerized lined—has large buttons and is neatly trimmed—$7.00 kind; room-making price $4.75

Long Melton Cloth Cloaks—Come in brown and black, nicely made up, the $12.50 kind; room-making price..... $9.95

Children's Long Cloaks, nicely trimmed with braids and buttons; some have single or double cape collars; room-making price, $4.50 ones for $3.45; $3.50 ones for $2.45; $2.00 ones for..... $1.50

Ladies and Misses Skirts

Ladies' All Wool Black Skirts, nicely trimmed and are perfect fitting skirts—$3.50 kind; room-making price..... $2.95

Ladies' All Wool Skirts, straps and buttons of the same material—$5.00 kind; room-making price $3.95

Misses' Skirts in blue, brown, black and green, stitched around the bottom—have buttons of same material—$2.50 kind; room-making price $1.95

Misses' Skirts in blue and white and brown and white, several plaits at bottom, made of light-weight Panama cloth—$4.50 kind; room-making price $3.75

Made in most approved shapes; broadcloth and cheviots, nicely trimmed, well fitting; room-making price..... $2.50

Brown Skirts, beautifully tucked down the front and side, full at the bottom, neat fitting garment; room-making price..... $4.95

Ladies' Jackets, made of very fine grade of melton cloth. most any color; have straps in back—good as any jacket you have seen for $7.00; to start the new Jackets going..... Come in $5.95

LOT 1—50 pieces of red, blue and fancy colored Calico, 5c kind; room-making price..... 2½c

LOT 2—Yard wide Brown Domestic, the 6½c kind; room-making price..... 4¾c

LOT 3—5 dozen Children's heavy wool and wool fleece lined Hoods, assorted colors, 35c and 50c kind; room-making price 25c

LOT 4—25c Wool Fascinators, all colors; room-making price 15c

LOT 5—Light and dark colored Outing, the 5c and 6c kind; room-making price..... 3½c

LOT 6—15 pieces of Cotton Checks, small and large plaid, the 5c and 6c kind; room-making price 4c

LOT 7—25 pieces of best grade Oil Cloth; room-making price 15c

LOT 9—Solid colored fleece lined Outing, in dark, rich colors, the 9c kind; room-making price 7½c

LOT 10—Children's Black Hose, heavy ribbed, 10c kind; room-making price 7½c

LOT 11—10 dozen fringed Cotton Towels, size 40x20, 12½c kind; room-making price..... 9c

LOT 12—Good size Cotton Blankets, white and black, 65c kind; room-making price..... 49c

LOT 13—54-inch Bleached Mercerized Table Linen—very handsome patterns, 35c kind; room-making price 25c

LOT 14—10-4 Brown Wool Blankets, five pounds, $4.50 kind; room-making price..... $3.50

LOT 15—Full size Comforts, made of good grade calico, filled with cotton, assorted patterns; room-making price 85c

25 dozen Children's Golf Gloves, for school wear, the 25c kind; room-making price 19c

Silk Fringed Shawls—extra nice size, all colors; $2.50 kind; room-making price..... $1.95

All 50c Wool Dress Goods at, per yard 43c

All $1.00 and $1.25 Wool Dress Goods, at per yard 88c

We are going to save you money. Everything we sell you is a bid for your next purchase.

25 dozen Misses' Union Suits, heavy fleece lined; just like the kind you paid 25c for; here..... 15c

Wool Blankets the Brown Choral Brand— 10-4 wide, heavy napped; have red border; $5.00 ones for $3.95

Wool Blankets—the Bob White Brand, all wool, five pounds, 11-4; a special value..... $5.00

Comforts, extra wide, made of heavy figured sateen on both sides: We have been selling them for $2.40; a special price goes on them, at..... $2.10

Must-Make-Room Prices on Clothing

Men's Overshirts—Colors, black, brown and blues; plaids and stripes; heavy knitted; half wool and all wool; room-making price, 69c and.... $1.19

Men's Suits, high grade cheviot, Scotch mixtures, broad shoulder effect—$6.50 kind; room-making price $4.95

Men's and Boys' Sweaters, closely knitted; blue and red mixtures and solid colors—a splendid garment; room-making price 48c

Boys' Suits—double-breasted—the $2.50 kind; room-making price $1.95

Boys' Suits—double-breasted, gray mixed cheviots and Scotch plaids—$3.50 kind; room-making price $2.95

Overcoats—Medium length, made of good grade kersey cloth—have velvet collar, good lining—the $5.00 kind; room-making price..... $3.95

Men's Overcoats, with strap back, made of heavy novelty mixed cloth, wire measure, 54 inches long, the $8.50 kind; room-making price..... $6.50

Men's high grade all wool Cheviot Suits, in rich, dark brown mixture, with faint color over plaid, excellent weight, strictly fast color, stylishly cut and well made in every particular—the $12.50 kind; room-making price $9.95

Boys' Long Pants—wool filling; stripes and plain, the $1.25 kind; room-making price..... 98c

JEWEL SHOE—This is our $3.50 Shoe—none better at the price. They come in any shape or style for you—calf or vici kid, cap or plain toe; room-making price $3.15

We have the Huiskamp $2.50 Shoe, that will give you satisfaction and comfort. You can get one with heavy or light sole, box calf or vici kid, lace or congress, all sizes; room-making price $1.95

Men's No Doubt Calf Shoes, with heavy sole, cap or plain toe—warranted solid leather; room-making price $1.45

Men's Heavy Tan Shoe—Bought especially for rough wear. If you need a shoe for wet weather, you must get this shoe; room-making price $1.65

Infants' Bootees, made of Shetland floss, fancy ball stitched, hand-made tie 10c

Infants' Bootees, Shetland floss, closely knit, knit foot and top, tassel and string, 25c kind; room-making price 15c

Ladies' Knit Skirt, ribbed cotton stock, 30 inches long, shaped waist, draw-string tape, crocheted bottom and placket, 65c kind; room-making price 49c

Children's Poke Caps, fine faille silk, wide wire poke, fancy trimming, braid trimmed back and bottom, faille strings, inside lace and net ruche, assorted pink, blue, cardinal, brown, etc., 69c kind room-making price 49c

Children's Bearskin Caps, new and popular fabric, fine white mohair in long nap, lined, hemmed, faille strings; room-making price 49c

Children's Caps, all wool, rippled eiderdown, lace ruche bottom, fancy cord back, hemmed front, lambswool all around front, assorted pink, blue, white and red, 35c kind; room-making price 25c

Petticoats—Mercerized sateen, 10-inch flounce with 4 narrow stitched sateen bands and two 2½-inch ruffles, double stitched seams, draw-strings—the $1.00 kind; room-making price—as long as they last 79c

Cotton Bats—Full weight and full count, good quality white cotton, long staple, clean and pure, wrapped and labeled, 8½c kind; room-making price—as long as they last; roll 5c

Children's Hose Supporters—wear well, ½-inch web, double non-elastice strap, nickel button clasp, adjustable safety pin top, pairs fastening, black only; room-making price and as long as they last; per pair 5c

Infants' Bedford Long Cloaks—white Bedford Cord, deep collar, trimmed with white silk novelty braid and narrow white sateen ribbon, bishop sleeves with cuffs canton flannel lining; room-making price $1.00

Children's Long Coats, size 4 to 14 years, heavy melton double-breasted, deep sailor collar with brass buttons and edged with silk chenille, belt back, bishop sleeves, top collar, cuffs and belt with silk braid, two pockets, oxford and brown mixture, $2 kind; room-making price..... $1.50

The SCRUB — By EDMUND VANCE COOKE

Copyright 1904, Newspaper Enterprise Asso'n.

I sing the Scrub!
The Scrub I sing;
The mut., the dub,
The any-old-thing
To practice on
And jump upon,
A creature to assault and batter,
A face to break, a bone to shatter,
A target for the thunderbolt
Out of its path to jolt,
A ten-pin for the ball
To hurtle to its fall,
A mere ingredient to mix
In the concoction of new tricks,
His whole reward a dream
That he has helped the Team;
The bumped-about, loyal,
Knocked-out, royal
Little, old rub-dub
Scrub!

FORT WORTH UNIVERSITY

The Fort Worth University football team is nearing the close of a very successful season. Two years ago a few choice spirits met in the study room at Cadet hall, resurrected some canvas pants that had laid dormant in the university attic, dug up some of the long-buried college spirit, and after desultory practice, played two games, losing to Austin College of Sherman by a score of 29 to 0, and defeating the Polytechnic College by a score of 6 to 0. The next year, with three old men, the same fellows went at it again, somewhat less the object of ridicule to their friends, but looked upon as a thing apart from the college life. The difficulties that were overcome in the face of loss after loss are a proper measure of the patience and ability of Clifton Lundberg, Garrard and the rest, for the team continually lost games, winning only two out of six, and although the worst defeat was 23 to 0, at the hands of Baylor University of Waco, a team twenty pounds to the man heavier, yet the psychology of supporting a losing team had not yet been learned by its supporters, who failed to recognize the true strength of the men until the Thanksgiving game, when the work told and Polytechnic, which had won earlier in the year, was now defeated by a score of 11 to 6.

But no such stride forward was ever taken by any team as the university has taken this year, as a study of the full score to date will show. The games played so far this season are as follows:

September 24—Fort Worth University 6, Fort Worth Heavyweights 0.

October 1—Fort Worth University 18, Simmons' College of Abilene 0.

October 8—Fort Worth University 4, Dallas Medical College of Dallas 6.

October 15—Fort Worth University 4, Texas Christian University of Waco 0.

October 22—Fort Worth University 9, Fort Worth high school 0.

Ocotber 29—Fort Worth University 11, Polytechnic College 5.

November 5—Fort Worth University 4, Austin College of Sherman 5.

Several things appear in the above records worth noting. Only three opponents have scored at all, and none more than once. Fort Worth has scored as many points on place kicks from the field—16 points—as the total score of the year again her. The worst defeat has been by two points, 6 to 4, administered by the Dallas Medical College, who tied Trinity and beat Arkansas University by a score of 6 to 0. The Christian University, which tied Baylor, was beaten after a terrific struggle by a score of 4 to 0. Austin College came within an ace of losing and the 4 points against her mark was the first score ever made in five years against the team on the home grounds at Sherman.

Perhaps a word of comment on the Varsity men would be interesting:

Mills, the coach and quarterback, has played quarter in three hard games, with a broken right hand. Yet his pluck and indomitable courage have neutralized his physical injuries.

Garrard broke a collar bone on the first down of the second half in the Texas Christian University game, but would not quit and finished the game one-armed.

Kopeck, in the same game, took the whole force of a six-man tandem interference with his head, and stopped it—only losing one day of school thereafter.

No one else has been more than scratched.

Payton and Graham have been steady and sturdy—gaining safely and well.

Borden has improved with each game.

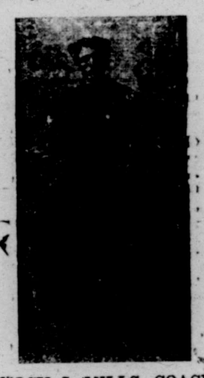

Slawson, new at tackle, shows speed and grit.

Gant and Lundberg are guards hard to beat, and Charbonneau could hold his own with any end yet seen in the state.

Pease is the only kicker of the state who has scored any points from field in a game, and holds center well, considering his newness in the position.

Talbot, Smith, McPherson, Corkill, Reed, Puckett and Nies are lighter newer men, who will be strong 'Varsity timber next year.

There is yet one game to be played,

ENOCH J. MILLS, COACH.

that against the Elks Thanksgiving day. The Elks are the strongest of the city teams—heavy, hard and fast. Heroes of other fields and schools are in their lineup Men who have made their mark in football history. Moore and Liston, Griffith, Spencer, Adkins and the rest are rounding into shape for the great contest. Their brush with the Entre Nous has showed up the places that need work, and they will be fit and ready when the afternoon comes.

The university men are ten pounds lighter, but equal in grit and vim, and will also be in the best possible shape.

The hard games of the season have put some of the best men out of reach, but the team will be as trim as hard work can make it, and will give the Elk giants the battle of their lives.

Society will see the game. Both the university support and the Elks' backing will be at the park in full force. Leather-lunged, beribboned, some in purple and white for the Elks, others in gold and blue for Fort Worth University, armed with horns, megaphones, trumpets and whistles. Football is surely waking up in Fort Worth, and will on its gala day receive the place it deserves as a clean, manly game, big, progressive, orderly, thrilling, the type of the modern spirit of civilization.

Scrofula

It is commonly inherited.

Few are entirely free from it.

Pale, weak, puny children are afflicted with it in nine cases out of ten, and many adults suffer from it.

Common indications are bunches in the neck, abscesses, cutaneous eruptions, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, rickets, catarrh, wasting, and general debility.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Eradicate it, positively and absolutely. This statement is based on the thousands of permanent cures these medicines have wrought.

"My daughter had scrofula, with eleven sores on her neck and about her ears. Hood's Sarsaparilla was highly recommended and she took it and was cured. She is now in good health." MRS. J. H. JONES, Parker City, Ind.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

HIGH SCHOOL 6, DALLAS TIGERS 0

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 19.—A hard-fought game was played on the fair grounds gridiron this afternoon between the High school and the Central Dallas Tigers, and the former won the contest by a score of 6 to 0. The teams were about evenly matched, but the high school boys showed a little better team work and their superior team work was what won the game for them.

There was also some very pretty end runs, as well as fierce line bucking, and it was one of the best games between lightweight teams that has been seen in Dallas for some time.

KATY CHANGES ARE TO OCCUR VERY SOON

It Is Understood That a New Time Card Will Show New Names as General Superintendents

The installation of F. M. Finney to succeed President Rouse of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad system, was evidently not the last act of what will prove something more than a drama for Texas, and the divisions north of the Red river.

It comes from a high Katy official that important changes are to be made in both Texas and the northern divisions, and these mean nothing less than the removal of T. S. McDowell, general superintendent of the Texas division of the Katy, and General Superintendent E. M. Alvord.

Ever since Mr. Finney succeeded Mr. Rouse as the active head of the road certain changes have been contemplated, and these include a new time card, which will go into effect before the first of the year. The names on the new time card will be different from those on the old. According to the new program, N. J. Finney, son of the present president of the Katy, is to succeed Mr. Alvord on the north end, but so far there has been no name mentioned as a successor of Mr. McDowell.

From the source of information than whom there is none closer to the general management of the system, it is learned that both Mr. Alvord and Mr. McDowell have been called to St. Louis to meet with the general officers of the road at an early date.

The new time card will probably be ready by the middle of December and the changes will probably be definitely announced at that time.

From the same authority it is learned that the division officers are not to be changed. Superintendent Sullivan will still remain at Denison and the other officers will continue in their respective positions.

It costs $1.25 to telephone from Berlin to Paris. It would cost nearly $2 to use the wire for a few minutes between Berlin and St. Petersburg, and this is given as the reason why the line projected five years ago was never built.

DON'T FORGET CHILDREN

THRIVE WONDERFULLY ON

Grape-Nuts and Cream

Get the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in each package.

WHISKEY TRADE IS INTERSTATE SAYS COURT

Federal Judge Bryant Makes a Ruling Which Opens Up Business for the St. Louis Supply Houses

SHERMAN, Texas, Nov. 19.—What is considered an important decision bearing upon the local option laws of Texas has been rendered by Federal Judge Bryant as follows:

In Chambers at Sherman, Texas, Nov. 18, 1904—On this day came to be heard the application of George W. Barber on habeas corpus under an order granted on the 5th day of November, 1904. Thereupon came the applicant in person and by his counsel, F. J. McCord, and no one appeared in opposition thereto. The application was verified by the applicant, and no issue made in regard to the contents of said bill. It appears from said petition that said Barber had only solicited an order which had to be sent to St. Louis, Mo., and there approved or disapproved, and if approved, the goods were to be shipped C. O. D. It therefore appears from said petition that said Barber was engaged in interstate business, and the sale, if one had been made, would have been consummated in St. Louis, Mo., and not in Texas, and consequently that said Barber is unlawfully restrained of his liberty by the sheriff of Upshur county, Texas. It is therefore ordered that the said Barber be and he is hereby released from further confinement on this charge.

ASKS INJUNCTION TO PREVENT AN EXECUTION

Trolley Company at Sherman Wants to Prevent Payment of a Judgment of Court at That Place

SHERMAN, Texas, Nov. 19.—A rather unusual suit was filed in the Fifteenth district court here yesterday, being in the nature of an injunction proceeding, through which the Denison and Sherman Railway Company, operating an electric line between the two cities, seeks to restrain J. P. [illegible] a struggle. [illegible] a judgment [illegible] to [illegible] ish its [illegible]

MOVING PICTURE FILMS BURN A THEATER

Opera House in Westbrook, Missouri, Burns, But the Audience Moves Out Quietly and No One Is Injured

WESTBROOK, Me., Nov. 19.—The Westbrook opera house, a three-story wooden building owned by Alex Shiers, was burned tonight.

The fire was caused by the igniting of films in a moving picture machine and started while 200 persons were in the auditorium, which is on the second floor of the building. The head usher and several stage hands quieted the panic, opened the rear stage entrance, the main exit having been shut off by the flames, and stood guard at the rear passageway, forcing the crowd to pass out in line, so as to prevent trampling. A woman and two men leaped from the gallery, but were not hurt. A few received slight burns and scratches.

The only person badly burned was George W. Collins of New York, operator of the picture machine.

Financial loss $23,000, insurance $5,000.

TEN INJURED IN A COLLISION OF TRAINS

Iron Mountain Passenger and Cotton Belt Freight Come Together Head-on Near Summit, Missouri

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 19.—Ten persons were more or less seriously injured in a head-on collision five miles south of Summit, Mo., Saturday afternoon when southbound Iron Mountain passenger train No. 5 and a Cotton Belt freight train crashed into each other. The more seriously injured are:

Oliver Swink, Iron Mountain engineer; fracture of left leg and internal injuries; probably fatally.

Thomas McCammon, passenger conductor; internal injuries.

Edward O'Neil, captain fire corps at World's Fair grounds; fractured left arm and slight bruises.

Jerome Akerman, traveling salesman; three ribs broken.

Samuel Tipton, Summit, Mo.; right hand crushed and spine injured.

George Martin, California, Mo.; internal injuries; serious.

Mrs. Sarah Young, Little Rock, Ark.; slightly injured about the head.

Frank Hogan, William Davis and James Childs, freight brakeman; slight scalp wounds and bruises.

Several others were slightly bruised, but refused to give their names. When the accident occurred both trains were going at a lively clip. The engines were practically demolished. The mail car and first coach were reduced to splinters and every car on the passenger train left the track and tumbled over. Several cars caught fire and a panic was narrowly averted.

The more seriously wounded were brought to St. Louis for treatment, the others continuing on their journey.

FOREST FIRES IN KENTUCKY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 19.—Forest fires are raging all over Kentucky as a result of continued drouth. Stock ponds are dry. All trains save one leaving Louisville are carrying water. Tanks along the route are exhausted and a serious condition confronts the railroads. The forest fires have as yet done little damage of a serious nature.

TRIES TO CUT HER THROAT FOR FUN

Boy Has Never Seen the Girl Before, But Said He Just Had to Kill Some One and She Was There

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 19.—In front of a fashionable store on a crowded street at 5 o'clock this afternoon, Roy Scott, 22 years old, attempted to cut the throat of Lucy Gallaher, aged 17. He never saw the girl before, but says he just wanted to kill somebody. The girl is slashed from ear to ear. Scott attempted to escape. He confessed to having attempted the life of Sarah Burton in the same manner on the streets two weeks ago. There is strong talk of lynching.

With the beginning of the present war Japanese trade renewed its activity along so many lines that the total commerce for the six months ending June was $159,000,000, an increase of $14,000,000, or 9¼ per cent, over the same period of 1902. Some of the import gain was for war material, but exports actually increased by 9 per cent.

No. 3221.

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE STATE NATIONAL BANK

At Fort Worth, in the State of Texas, at the close of business, Nov. 10, 1904.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts		$692,588 78
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured		102,956 04
U. S. bonds to secure circulation		200,000 00
U. S. Bonds to secure U. S. deposits		40,000 00
Premiums on U. S. Bonds		10,000 00
Banking house, furniture and fixtures		40,000 00
Due from National Banks (not reserve agents)		43,042 29
Due from state banks and bankers		21,108 50
Due from approved reserve agents		87,046 00
Checks and other cash items		489 43
Exchanges for clearing house		8,364 05
Notes of other National banks		13,395 00
Fractional paper currency, nickels and cents		64 00
Lawful money reserve in bank, viz:
Specie	$13,754 25
Legal tender notes	50,000 00
		63,754 25
Redemption fund with U. S. treasurer (5 per cent of circulation)		10,000 00
Total		$1,332,808 34

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in		$200,000 00
Surplus fund		100,000 00
Undivided profits, less expenses and taxes paid		58,330 62
National bank notes outstanding		200,000 00
Due to other National Banks		132,018 34
Due to state banks and bankers		11,155 65
Due to trust companies and savings banks		34,079 31
Individual deposits subject to check		512,790 27
Demand certificates of deposit		12,632 00
Cashier's checks outstanding		1,802 15
United States deposits		40,000 00
Bills payable, including certificates of deposit for money borrowed		30,000 00
Total		$1,332,808 34

State of Texas, County of Tarrant, ss:

I, Jno. C. Harrison, cashier of the above named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

JNO. C. HARRISON, Cashier.

Correct—Attest:
S. T. BIBB,
N. E. GRAMMER,
W. B. HARRISON,
Directors.

Subscribed and to before me this 16th day of November, 1904.

M. L. WOODS,
Notary Public.

RECAPITULATION.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts		$662,588 78
U. S. bonds and premiums		250,000 00
Banking house and fixtures		40,000 00
Available cash—
Cash in other banks	$151,196 79
Demand loans and overdrafts	132,956 04
Cash in vault	86,066 73
Cash with U. S. treasurer	10,000 00
		380,219 56
Total		$1,332,808 34

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$200,000 00
Surplus fund	100,000 00
Undivided net profits	58,330 62
		358,330 62
Circulation		200,000 00
Deposits—
Bank	$177,253 30
United States	40,000 00
Individual	527,224 42
Time certificates	30,000 00
		774,477 72
Total		$1,332,808 34

W. A. TRANTHAM

—Dealer In—

High Grade Groceries, Feed and Wood, 400 East Hattie St., cor. South Calhoun.

Greeley Potatoes, per bushel	80c
Best M. and J. Coffee, 20 and	35c
Evaporated Cream, 3 for 25	9c
3 pound Baked Beans, 3 for 25	9c
3 pound S. C. Tomatoes, 3 for 25	9c
3 pound Lye Hominy, 3 for 25	9c
3-lb. Pumpkins, 3 for 25	9c
3 pound Pie Apples, 3 for 25	9c
5 pounds Best Lump Starch	25c
7 Bars White Star or Clairette Soap	25c
Bewley's Best Flour	$1.55
High Patent Flour	$1.50
35 pounds Meal	55c
Best Apples, per peck, 35c and	40c
5 gallons Eupion Oil	65c
2 packages Scotch Oats for	25c
Tasco Cooking Oil	90c
Polk's Best Corn	10c
10 pounds Oak Leaf, Bulk Lard	$1.00
Sweet Potatoes, cheap	75c
Best Ham, per pound	13c
Best Dry Salt Strips	11c
Smoked Strips	13c
5 gallons Brilliant Oil	55c

Goods Guaranteed. Free Delivery in City.

TELEPHONE 849 1 RING.

I. & G. N.

IS THE BEST TO THE South and Southwest

$9.00 HOUSTON AND RETURN.

On sale Nov. 20 to 26; limit Nov. 28. Account No-Tsu-Oh Carnival.

$13.50 CORPUS CHRISTI AND RETURN

On sale daily; limit 60 days.

CITY TICKET OFFICE

IN THE COURTS

COMMISSIONERS' COURT

A short session of this court was held yesterday, during which the bonds of several county officials were approved, among them R. L. Rogers, clerk of the county court; W. L. Sweet, tax assessor; W. H. Hart, county treasurer; R. E. Doyle, constable precinct No. 4; Jeff D. McLean, county attorney; John A. Martin, clerk of district court; J. J. Goodfellow, county surveyor; W. H. Hart, county treasurer (school fund); W. L. Sweet, tax assessor (school fund); J. W. Walker, tax collector; H. C. Cantrell, constable.

VITAL STATISTICS

Births—To Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Hammack of Kennedale, a boy; to Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Handrey of Kennedale, a girl; to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Breen of Fort Worth, a girl; to Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Courtney of Fort Worth, a boy; to Mr. and Mrs. A. Bredford of Fort Worth, a girl; to Mr. and Mrs. William Carrell of Fort Worth, a boy; to Mr. and Mrs. John Beckham of Mansfield, a girl; to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hurley of Grapevine, a boy; to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wells of Grapevine, a girl; to Mr. and Mrs. James Murrel of Grapevine, a boy; to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Tucker of Grapevine, a boy; to Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Yates of Grapevine, a girl; to Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Wall of Grapevine, a girl; to Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Ratliff of Grapevine, a boy; to Mr. and Mrs. James M. Pearson of Grapevine, a girl; to Mr. and Mrs. Tilden C. Smith of Grapevine, a boy.

Deaths—Mrs. Beula Baker of Grapevine, aged 31 years, October 25; Mary M. Clark of Grapevine, aged 3 months, October 4; Willie Sutton of Grapevine, aged 3 years, October 2; Mr. Staton of Grapevine, aged 30 years, November 8.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

T. R. Fountain and Jessie P. Chism; Ben Hamilton and Willie Jones; I. A. Ash and Miss Minna H. Z. Heine.

CASES FILED

T. S. McCullough vs. B. P. Ayrs, administrator, trespass to try title; Oscar Powell vs. Texas and Pacific Railway Company, damages; S. D. Kelley vs. J. G. Watson, to confirm lease and injunction; James Sheppard vs. Ardella Sheppard, divorce.

BANKRUPTCY MATTERS

W. B. Paddock, referee in bankruptcy, yesterday heard two cases in the matter of Simpkins & Barnhart, wherein C. W. Cox and S. B. Owens had acted in the capacity of trustee. The court issued a decree commanding Cox to pay over the sum of $1,134.17 and Owens the amount of $598.40.

FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT

J. Watt Ramsey, J. S. Davis and Sam Ellison were yesterday served with citation to appear in Judge Irby Dunklin's district court and show cause why they should not be held in contempt for disobeying an injunction of the court issued some time ago in the matter of Virgie Ellison against Sam Ellison. On a hearing of the cause Judge Dunklin discharged all defendants.

ASSAULT TO MURDER

Justice Charles T. Rowland heard an examining trial yesterday afternoon wherein a negro woman named Gertrude McCullom was charged with having committed an assault upon Sol Ealy. Judge Rowland admitted the defendant to bond in the sum of $300, which was furnished.

COURT OF CIVIL APPEALS

Proceedings of the court of civil appeals for the Second supreme judicial district of Texas, at Fort Worth:

Motions submitted: Logan et al. vs. Robertson et al., for rehearing; Texas and Pacific Railway Company vs. Edins, for rehearing; Hawkins vs. Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company, for rehearing and for certiorari; Hawley vs. Rogers, for rehearing; Pratt & Co. vs. Gill & Smith, for rehearing; Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company vs. Purdy, for rehearing.

Motions overruled: Bell vs. Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company, for rehearing; Cage vs. Simmons, for rehearing; Word vs. Marrs, for rehearing.

Motions granted: Lyon vs. Waggoner, for rehearing.

The case of the Texas and Pacific Railway Company vs. Mugg & Dryden was certified to the supreme court for determination.

The following cases were affirmed: Northern Texas Traction Company vs. J. H. Lewis, from Tarrant; Texas and Pacific Railway Company vs. Welborn, from Mitchell; Texas and Pacific Railway Company vs. Sears, from Mitchell; Texas and Pacific Railway Company et al. vs. Stiles, from Mitchell.

Reversed and remanded: Chicago, Rock Island and Texas Railway Company vs. Kapp, from Jack; Chicago, Rock Island and Texas Railway Company vs. Williams, from Wise.

Reversed and dismissed: Collins vs. Murphy, from Martin.

Cases submitted: Texas and Pacific Railway Company vs. Wulfjen, from Mitchell; Texas and Pacific Railway Company vs. Bailey, from Mitchell; Texas and Pacific Railway Company vs. Riley, from Mitchell; Texas and Pacific Railway Company vs. Sears, from Mitchell; Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway Company et al. vs. Keel & Son, from Cooke; Wise County National bank vs. Cates et al., from Wise.

Cases set for December 10, 1904: Texas and Pacific Railway Company vs. McNairy, from Mitchell; Brenard Manufacturing Company vs. Thompson, from Palo Pinto; Hardy et al. vs. Brown, Spath & Abernathy, from Lubbock; Western Union Telegraph Company vs. Waller, from Wichita; Bibb vs. Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company, from Tarrant; Bone vs. Cowan, from Erath.

NO DISRESPECT IN JAPAN

In Japan there is no such thing as disrespect from youth to age. No Japanese boy or girl could ever think in a light or disrespectful manner of his or her superiors or teachers, and this may account for the earnestness so unsual among young children.

When a student enters a master's presence in Japan he bows to the floor, and when the lesson is finished he bows again, with expressions of the deepest gratitude he takes his departure.

The teacher, sitting in most cases upon his feet on the floor, gravely returns each salutation, then lights his little pipe at the inevitable bit of a smoking box, and waits for his next class.

QUICK ARREST

J. A. Gulledge of Verbena, Ala., was twice in the hospital from a severe case of piles, causing twenty-four tumors. After doctors and all remedies failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly affected further inflammation and cured him. It conquers aches and kills pain. 25c at Pratt & Winston & Co., Rowan Pharmacy, and W. J. Fisher, druggists.

Big Piano Stock to be Closed Out

1006 Main Street, Fort Worth, Gale Reynolds Bldg.

Spencer & Hampton, Props., (Model Art and Music Co.,) one of Dallas' largest music houses, having decided to positively discontinue piano business, have shipped to Fort Worth their entire stock of fine Pianos, Organs and Piano Players

Will Inaugurate Big Closing Out Sale—Offer Entire Stock

At Wholesale Factory Cost and Less

EASY TERMS OF PAYMENT OFFERED TO ALL PURCHASERS.

WILL POSITIVELY CLOSE OUT IN 10 DAYS The Saving Will be $125 to $200 on a Piano

WE WILL SEND PIANOS ANYWHERE ON THE EASY PAYMENT PLAN.

This is a bone-fide closing out sale of our Piano business. We have positively and permanently decided to retire from the music business. In order to settle up our affairs with the various factories in the quickest possible way—to close out the entire stock quickly and save the long drawn out business expense of selling the pianos in the usual retail way, we decided to transfer our entire stock to Fort Worth, 1006 Main street, Gale-Reynolds building, offer the stock for 10 days right down at what they cost us at the factory. These prices are based on cash, but in order to move the stock quickly, we will extend to all purchasers who desire, easy monthly payments.

All instruments will be marked in plain figures; one price to all; all treated alike. A child can buy as closely as the shrewdest shopper. We describe only a few—to show how all kinds of pianos are marked, as follows:

This Sale Begins Tomorrow Morning, 8:30 Sharp

You'll find here some of the most beautiful Cabinet Grand Upright Pianos, Cottage size Upright Pianos, Parlor size Upright Pianos and Concert Grand Upright Pianos, ever shown in this country, in all the fancy light and dark wood cases. Prices cut on all makes to the lowest point ever known: $300 Pianos cut to $168; $325 Pianos cut to $187; $350 Pianos cut to $198; $375 Pianos cut to $237; $400 Pianos cut to $248; $425 Pianos cut to $263; $450 Pianos cut to $287; $500 Pianos cut to $315; $600 Pianos cut to $348.

Easy terms of payment offered to all purchasers—$10 to $25 down, $5, $6, $7, $8 to $10 per month buys any piano in the stock. No advance will be charged because of easy time payment—only small rate of interest on deferred payments.

No Question About Instruments — Best and Most Reliable Pianos in the World Are Here

Kimball Pianos, Chickering Pianos, Whitney Pianos, Decker & Sons Pianos, Weber Pianos, Hinze Pianos, Hallet & Davis Pianos, New England Pianos, Bush & Gerts Pianos, Matusheck Pianos, Thos. Goggan & Bro. Pianos, Haddorff Pianos, Behr Bros. Pianos, Hale Pianos, Dunham Pianos

Practically all are brand new; some are little shop-worn, others slightly used.

$140 BUYS A $500 CHICKERING UPRIGHT GRAND
$10 cash, $6 monthly.
Medium sized ebony case, seven-octaves, carved panels, rolling fall board; good playing condition; cost $500 new; a bargain at $140.

$195 BUYS A $450 KIMBALL UPRIGHT GRAND
$10 cash, $7 monthly.
The best bargain we ever saw in a Kimball; beautiful walnut case; bell metal pin block; brass flange; double-repeating action; it's in such fine shape it would be taken for new; it's down cheap, at $195.

$55 BUYS A $300 DUNHAM & CO. UPRIGHT GRAND
$10 cash, $5 monthly.
Small size; ebony case; full iron frame; seven octaves; good playing condition; a bargain for some one. Think of the price; only $55.

$37 BUYS A $90 KIMBALL ORGAN
$5 cash, $3 monthly.
Light wood case; high top; French plate mirrors; four sets of reeds; couplers and grand organ lever; was but little used; good as new. Just come and try it.
Other good Organs for $10, $18 to $25.

$185 BUYS A $375 NEW ENGLAND UPRIGHT
$15 cash, $8 monthly.
This is a very beautiful new Upright Grand; the very largest and best the factory ever made; double-repeating action; three strings; ivory keys; three pedals, including fine muffler or practice stop attachment; it's a $375 piano; now $185.

$145 BUYS A $500 WEBER GRAND SQUARE
$10 cash, $5 monthly.
Fine rosewood case; carved legs and lyre; full metal plate; over string scale; splendid action; good tone.

$65 BUYS A $400 DECKER & SON UPRIGHT GRAND
$10 cash, $5 monthly.
Small size; but good tone and action; rosewood case; carved panels; in splendid condition; you would be pleased with this piano. Come and see it.

$155 BUYS A $350 BUSH & GERTS' Upright GRAND
This is a genuine Bush & Gerts, of their best quality; in fancy walnut; has been used very little; double rolling lid; three pedals; three strings; note the price that takes it.

$85 BUYS A $275 GOGGAN & BRO. UPRIGHT GRAND
$10 cash, $6 monthly.
A nice parlor size; ebony case; 7 1-3 octaves; full iron frame; good playing condition; it's worth a special effort to secure; a bargain at $85.

$198 BUYS A $450 NEW BEHR BROS. UPRIGHT GRAND
Patent cylinder top; the very best Upright ever made by this firm; is brand new; rich golden oak case; full metal plate; three strings; 7 1-3 octoves; ivory keys; sells for $450; is a bargain for $198.

Each Piano sold is fully warranted by us and by the manufacturer. We guarantee satisfaction with every sale or your money back. If you live outside of Fort Worth and can't come to this sale, write us at once what kind of a piano you want and we will ship it to you and guarantee to please you; if not, you can return piano to us and we will pay freight both ways. If you've thought of owning a piano, now is your time, and come early. Open nights till 9 o'clock.

Spencer & Hampton, Props.

Model Art and Music Co.

THE SAVING IS FROM $125 TO $200 ON A PIANO.

1006 MAIN STREET, FORT WORTH. PHONE 1628 GALE-REYNOLDS BUILDING

RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE

Benson Maxwell of Temple, Texas, has been appointed to the Fort Worth and Galveston railway postoffice.

Ortle H. Cross of the Denison and Houston railway postoffice has received permanent appointment.

Charles O. Devin of the El Reno and Mangum railway postoffice has received permanent appointment.

KING OF GREECE IN PARIS

For some time past Parisians had not been able to enjoy the spectacle of a king strolling about the boulevard and Champs Elysees like any one of themselves. Leopold II., after the Brussels lawsuit, found it rather awkward to show himself too openly to the public, and abandoned those free and easy excursions which he had been accustomed to indulge in [illegible] But [illegible] and is to be seen here, there and everywhere. King George is the most indefatigable of pedestrians. No sooner has he attended to his correspondence at the Hotel Bristol (where he "occupies" his usual suite of apartments on the ground floor) than he sallies forth with an equerry on his morning constitutional. At an easy pace he approaches the Place de la Concorde, often pausing to look into shop windows, and almost as often entering the shops and making purchases that rejoice the hearts of the tradespeople. Paris evidently delights his majesty, who loves to be regarded as a "veritable Parisian."

JINGLE

Oh, hunter, with your gun of blue,
Your canvas coat and game bag, too

[illegible] bring me back a coo[illegible]

There Are Others

The J. J. LANGEVER CO.

Who will offer to paint your house for less than we will. We also COULD do cheap painting—as cheap as the cheapest of them—and make money on it, too, but we have a reputation for doing good work and living up to our contracts—for giving a dollar in value for every dollar we get. We can't afford to do cheap work, but we do GOOD PAINTING—the kind that stays painted, for a pair price, and if you consider true economy, you can't get cheaper painting than we do.

Opp. City Hall. .....WE PUT IN GLASS.

Telegram Want Ads Bring Results

THE DAYLIGHT STORE
Corner 8th and Houston Streets

WOMEN WILL BE QUICK TO SEE
That These are the Best Values Ever Offered in Ready-to-Wear Garments

MAIL AND TELEPHONE ORDERS WILL BE PROMPTLY FILLED AT PRICES QUOTED

EMPHATIC PRICE ADVANTAGES
WOMENS TAILOR-MADE SUITS
Of excellent quality—all wool Cheviots and mannish Panama materials; elegant, polished buttons, lined with high grade quality of satin; trimmed in wool and silk braids and Peau de Soie Silks. In blues, blacks and grays—excellent value at $15.00; for Monday 9.98

STYLISH DRESSY TAILORED SUITS
THE PRICE A DISTINCT FEATURE
Superior quality Blue, Brown and Black Cheviots—pretty vest effects, latest sleeves, satin lined, deep cuffs, braided buttons, velvet trimmings—looks extremely stylish and dressy; regular $17.50 value, for 14.98

WOMEN'S HANDSOME STREET SUITS
A VALUE THAT IS UNMATCHABLE
Splendid quality handsome silk finished Kersey—beautiful stiched collar; loose or tight back effects, with strap; deep cuffs, satin lined, in blacks and castors and the popular shade of tobacco brown, 27-inch lengths; for Monday..... 10.00

THREE QUARTER LENGTH COATS
THE LATEST FOR WINTER WEAR
Sponged Cheviot material, full sleeves, deep reversed cuffs, elegant strapped shoulder effects, deep side pockets, heavy rubber fiber buttons—very swell and stylish—a choice value; for Monday at 12.50

A NEW SHOWING STYLISH SKIRTS
EXCELLENT QUALITY & MATERIAL
Excellent quality, good wearable materials, walking lengths, pleated from knee down, in beautiful shaded brown mixtures and French twill serges, with stitched yoke effect; buttons, tabs, etc.; for Monday 5.00

NEW MANNISH WALKING SKIRTS
SATISFACTION IN BEING WELL DRESSED
Stylish mannish materials in blacks and browns; paneled front, tucked knee flounce, full length, trimmed neatly in straps and buttons—a skirt that looks well for any occasion; for Monday's selling 7.50

$4.75 Oxford Waists at $2.98 = $5.00 All-Wool Waists at $3.25 = $7.50 French Plaid Waists at $6 = Proving Emphatic Reductions

TABLE LINEN REMNANT SALE
GOOD NEWS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE
The result of our big Thanksgiving Linen Sale—hundreds of lengths in Linen Table Coverings—of Irish, German and Austrian manufacture—broken lots of fine Table Napkins, and a number of odds and ends in good Towels and Toweling. To close them out rapidly we offer them Monday at
ONE-HALF OFF ORIGINAL SALE PRICE

DRESS GOODS AND SILK REMNANT SALE
TRUE ECONOMY FOR MONDAY BUYERS
A reduced sale has been on in this departmnt for the past two weeks. It has left us a large number of desirable remnant lengths in Venetians, Cloakings, French Twill Serges, Flake Suitings, Silks, etc. We offer them to early Monday buyers at
ONE-THIRD OFF ORIGINAL SALE PRICE

REMNANT SALE OF COTTON GOODS
MONDAY SAVINGS FOR EARLY BUYERS
This is the Semi-Annual Remnant Sale in this department—a regular bargain event at this store. Remnants of Outings, Percales, Ginghams, Flannelettes, Tickings, Calico, Apron Checks, etc., for Monday's big remnant sale—
AT ONE-HALF OFF ORIGINAL SELLING PRICE

WOMENS DRESS ACCESSORIES
SPECIALLY PRICED FOR MONDAY
BELT BUCKLES—Recent shipment in gun metal and beautiful gilt designs—the very latest Eastern novelties; each..... 25c
EMBROIDERED TIES—Ladies' all silk Windsor Ties, embroidered ends, anchor and fleur de lis designs—in popular shades; each 50c
HAT PINS—Neat little designs in gun metal, silver, gold and pearl headings—something entirely new in fruit designs; each 10¢ and 15c

VNUSUAL BLANKET OFFERING
FRESH, DEPENDABLE VALUES
Whoever heard of a Remnant Blanket Sale? No one, perhaps—but here's a sale of odds and ends in Blankets that will appeal to anybody's sense of economy. We place on sale Monday, a lot of odd Blankets—not soiled—not damaged—but good, pure wool, white and colored Blankets—an accumulation of broken lots from this season's selling, at POSITIVELY THE FACTORY COST.
See them and you will buy if you have a blanket need.

A TALK FROM OUR ART DEP'T
FOR WOMAN'S BUSY HAND
The holidays are stealing upon us and our Art Department is replete with all accessories for needlework, drawnwork, etc. As a special inducement for you visiting this section Monday we offer—
Lithographed Pillow Tops at..... 45¢
Satin Sofa Pillow Tops at ..... 75¢
Stamped Hemstitched Linen Scarfs at 25c to $1.25
Stamped Laundry Bags at 25c to..... $1.00

YALE-HARVARD

The Crimson Hat Bands Were Put in a Crepe Border After the Championship Game at New Haven Was Played

A DOZEN TO NOTHING

There Were No Exceptionally Brilliant Plays, But Yale Proved the Better on the Offensive Throughout the Entire Game

YALE FIELD, NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 19.—After a fiercely fought gridiron battle the moleskin warriors of Yale this afternoon took the Harvard eleven into camp by a score of 12 to 0. It was a glorious victory and the crimson warriors are tonight wearing crepe in their hat bands. They went back to Cambridge with the realization that they had met an aggregation that excelled them at every point of the game.

The day was all that could be desired. The field was not in perfect condition, as some soft spots were noticeable. Encouraged by the brightness of the day and also urged on by loyalty, fully 30,000 enthusiatic followers wended their way to Yale Field. At noon the crowds began to gather and by 1:30 the grand stands were a mass of impatient humanity, cheering, stamping and waving flags. Many distinguished visitors were among those in the stands, the leading light being Vice President-elect Fairbanks, who was seated among the Yale rooters. His arrival was the signal for prolonged cheering by both contingents.

The scene at the field beggared description. On the east side the usual rendezvous of the Yale rooters, myriads of dark flags set off most vividly by the darker background of their holders' apparel, were frantically waved or swayed back and forward in the rythmic time to the songs of the rooters. The west stand, where Harvard was entrenched, presented the appearance of a hug bank of crimson. At 1:25, the yelling battle, which precedes the sterner work of the gridiron began. Five thousand youths hurled a challenge at the crimson stand in a mighty break-a-deck-mex. Harvard hurled back the challenge with an equally mighty "rah-rah-rah." A roar of "Boola, Boola," from the east was answered by a chorus of "Fair Harvard" sung with bared heads. The game itself was one which amply repaid the many thousands who made the trip from New York and Boston. With the exception of some fumbling on both sides, the tussle was peculiarly devoid of those weak spots which so often spoil what should be a good game.

Harvard was the most at fault in fumbling as Yale was in holding. There is little question that had the crimson eleven been as strong in offensive as they were in defensive work, the result would not have been as great a defeat as it was, and there is a possibility, though a remote one, that victory might have perched on the crimson banner. Three times Yale had worked the ball down close to Harvard's goal line only to be held for downs and the ball punted into safe territory. The crimson line at times presented the appearance of a stone wall, and even Bloomer, famous as a line puncturer, was thrown back like a putty ball.

As to the brilliant work of any individual player, it would be difficult to pick out the stars. Bloomer did his duty in magnificent form, at one time carrying the ball after a fumble within a few yards of the goal line before he was downed. Hogan, the mighty, was there, as well as Rockwell, Yale's quarter and general. Shevlin seemed everywhere and time and again his excellent tackling saved ground and perhaps a score against his team. In the Harvard camp Perry did particularly excellent work and was aided by Mills, Nichols and the other backs.

In the latter part of the first half, Matthews, the negro end of the Harvard team, was put in at left and cheered to the echo. Matthews is known as the "Dark demon," but he failed, except in one instance, to demonstrate a high-class game. In that one instance he came to the fore by a magnificent tackle of Rockwell, who had caught a punt and seemed to have a long clear space before him. But in this work Matthews was hurt and after a few more scrimmages was compelled to leave the game. A review of the play follows:

Roraback kicked off for Yale to Harvard's 15-yard line, Sperry getting the ball and returning it ten yards. Sperry failed to gain on an attempt through the line. Starr of Harvard attempted a quarter run, but was thrown for a loss. Harvard kicked to Yale's 50-yard line, Rockwell returning the ball 10 yards. Hoyt, Flynn, Morse and Hogan carried the ball to Harvard's 18-yard line, where Harvard got the pigskin on downs. Hurley failed to gain through the line and Mills kicked to Hoyt on Yale's 50-yard line. Hoyt returned 15 yards. Yale carried the ball to Harvard's 20-yard line, where a fumble gave the ball again to Harvard on her 25-yard line. An exchange of punts followed. Harvard made little headway in line plunging and finally Hurley hurled the ball and Neal fell on it. For a time longer the fortunes of play varied, with Yale always playing the better offense. With the aid of Hoyt's punting and ground gaining by the Yale backs and by Hogan the ball was carried to Harvard's 2-yard line and then Morse was pushed over for a touchdown. Hoyt kicked the goal. There was but little time left to play. But Yale again showed superiority and when the half ended the ball was in Yale's possession on Harvard's forty-yard line.

Early in the second half Yale played with an irresistible rush that carried the ball to Harvard's 2-yard line. The Harvard line massed together like stone, but Bloomer was stopped and a touchdown prevented. The Harvard stand was delirious with joy. Mills punted to Rockwell on Harvard's 35-yard line. Rockwell was thrown. Matthews tackled, butting him with his head, so that both men were laid out. Harvard now played with more spirit but Mills made a poor attempt to punt when his goal was threatened, his kick was blocked and in a twinkling Yale had the ball on Harvard's 3-yard line. Flynn was sent over for another touchdown and Harvard's hopes were gone. Hoyt kicked a difficult goal. Harvard during the remaining minutes of the play made Yale fight it out in their own territory, but could not score and when the whistle sounded it was Yale's game. The line-up:

Yale.	Position.	Harvard.
Shevlin	Left end	Pruyn, Randall, Matthews
Bloomer	Left tackle	Brill
Kinney	Left guard	White
Roraback	Center	Parker and Parkinson
Tripp	Right guard	Squires
Hogan	Right tackle	Derby
Neal	Right end	Montgomery
Rockwell	Quarterback	Starr and Noyes
Hoyt	Left half	Sperry and Nichols
Morse	Right half	Hurley
Flynn	Fullback	Mills

Umpire, McClung of Lehigh; referee, Dashiel, Annapolis; linesman, McCracken of University of Pennsylvania; touchdowns, Morse and Flynn; goals from touchdowns, Hoyt 2; time, 35 minute halves.

A BIG DEMONSTRATION

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 19.—New Haven tonight is in the throes of what is probably the biggest demonstration of football victory that the town has ever witnessed. The whole town has gone football mad. The streets are crowded with throngs parading up and down giving vent to their joy, singing college songs and giving cheers for the victorious eleven. Hundreds of students are marching the streets, headed by brass bands and the streets are ablaze with red fire. A performance at a local theater had to be stopped on account of the action of the students.

ANNAPOLIS 11, VIRGINIA POLY. 0

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 19.—By the hardest kind of playing for forty-five minutes the Annapolis midshipmen defeated the eleven of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute this afternoon by the score of 11 to 0. The middies scored a touchdown in each half and kicked one of the goals. The southerners put up a stubborn fight.

ILLINOIS 29, IOWA 0

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 19.—Illinois overwhelmed Iowa today, playing with an irresistible vim and spirit that swept the visitors off their feet at the outset. Illinois amassed a total of 29 points while the visitors could not score. Had not so many Illinois substitutes been put in at the last half and the half cut to twenty minutes the score would have been larger. Rothgeb was disabled at the start, but played on his nerve all through the game. The Illinois were not in the best of condition, but neither were the visitors.

WABASH 51, BUTLER 0

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 19.—Wabash ran away with Butler at Washington Park this afternoon, winning the game by a score of 51 to 0. Only twice did Butler have a chance to score. This was immediately after the opening of the game, when Marlatt fumbled the ball on Wabash's twenty-five-yard line, and Wabash recovered it.

WEST VIRGINIA 6, WASHINGTON 5

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 19.—The University of West Virginia at Morgantown, W. Va., defeated Washington University in the Stadium this afternoon by a score of 6 to 5. The game was won by the superior team work of the West Virginia eleven. Washington made its only score in the first half, owing to ragged work of the visitors.

MINNESOTA 17, NORTHWESTERN 0

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—After fighting one of the most stubborn, desperate and nerve-tingling battles ever seen on Marshall Field, Northwestern fell before superior weight against Minnesota this afternoon. The game was a brilliant one, the purple showing up finely. Minnesota had the odds in her favor, weight and superior offensive playing being the most marked characteristic in this line. Northwestern played on the opponent most desperately. Northwestern played a rare, plucky game against great odds and she deserves much credit. Minnesota's offense was slow at all times and nothing but her weight saved her when on the defense. As a whole it was a magnificent game to watch.

TEXAS 58, BAYLOR 0

WACO, Texas, Nov. 19.—The game of football this afternoon between the State University and Baylor was a Waterloo for the latter, though they played pluckily. The team was simply outmatched, and the score was 58 to 0, in favor of the visitors.

WEST POINT 21, SYRACUSE 5

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Outplayed, torn to pieces and with 22 points to their 0 in the first half, the Syracuse team rallied in the second half, shut the Cadets out and scored a touchdown. The army started scoring early in the first half, securing the ball on a fumble, carrying it straight for a touchdown four minutes after the game started and adding three more in the half. Doe failed to kick all but one goal. In the last half West Point replaced both ends with substitutes, Torney and Doe also going to the side lines. The stars for the visitors were Hardwood, Bunell and Powell. Final score: West Point 21, Syracuse 5.

DARTWORTH 12, BROWN 5

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 19.—In one of the prettiest games ever played during the thirteen years these colleges have faced each other, Dartmouth defeated Brown 12 to 5. There were weak spots on both teams and these were found out early and used to advantage.

A SENSATION

Author of Present Election Law Is Only One Out of Twenty-five to Forget to Observe One Provision of Law

NO EXPENSE ACCOUNT

Fails to File One Within the Specified Ten Days—Failure Is Punishable by a Fine of Two Hundred Dollars as a Misdemeanor

AUSTIN, Nov. 19.—Quite a stir was caused in political circles this evening when it was discovered that all twenty-five candidates for county offices in Travis county had complied with the section of the law requiring successful candidates to file with the county judge an itemized account of expenses incurred during the campaign, with the notable exception of Judge A. W. Terrell, author of the Terrell election law.

Judge Terrell was elected to succeed himself in the Twenty-ninth legislature. The law provides that all successful candidates must file expense accounts within ten days after the election is held. This time expired Friday night. Failure to comply with the law is punishable by a fine of $200, it being in the class of misdemeanor. Friends of Judge Terrell think the Judge has forgotten to file his expense account, as it is known that he had one, but just what is going to be done about it remains to be seen. It has created a mild sensation.

A TURF WAR ON

Dan Stuart Sells His Essex Park to John Condon of Chicago, and There Will Be a Contest for Meeting Dates

JOCKEY CLUB WANTS

Hot Springs Organization Desires Last Thirty Days, as That Season Will Be Most Prosperous—Condon Has Influence With Club Stewards

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 19.—A storm cloud is believed to be gathering on the horizon of the local racing season since Dan Stuart announced he had disposed of the controlling interest in the new race track he has been building here. Horsemen already stabled at the old track, Essex Park, are wondering if another western turf war is imminent.

The prevailing idea here has been that Stuart would encounter so many difficulties in raising the necessary funds that he would not be able to finish the new plant in time to secure winter dates from the stewards of the Western Jockey Club at their annual meeting two weeks hence. But since John Condon, the blind magnate of Chicago, has purchased the place all that is changed, as it is realized he can rush the work just a shade faster than most men, and further he is not likely to be refused any reasonable request he may make of the West Jockey Club stewards.

Horsemen arriving lately from St. Louis say they have heard rumors of trouble between the two clubs, but the more conservative and those in touch with the Hot Springs Jockey Club people declare the matter will be straightened out all right. No official statement can be obtained here, as President Humphrey Devereaux of the Hot Springs Jockey Club has gone to St. Louis.

Upon the supposition that the new plant would not be ready every one took it for granted here the Essex Park track would have little or no trouble securing a license from the stewards for sixty days of winter racing. The present strong probability that the new club will want to cut in brings up the question of which will have to open the season. It is claimed the last half of the season will be worth a good deal more than the first thirty days, and so it is expected there will be a scramble between the two clubs for the most desirable dates.

The Hot Springs Jockey Club is declared by some to have a prior claim to the second thirty days, because it raced during those dates last winter, when the meeting did not begin until February 25. But some turfmen here doubt whether John Condon will be content to accept nothing better than the first thirty days as his quota. It is suggested the matter may be settled by some compromise, though the Hot Springs Jockey Club will not care to relinquish its original dates without a struggle.

There are 150 horses stabled at Essex Park already, and as many more are expected from Latonia early in the week, as the meeting closed there this afternoon.

RESULTS AT BENNINGS

BENNINGS, Nov. 19.—The Grand Consolation stakes for 2-year-olds and the Creveyes steeplechase were the features today. Dandelion won the 2-year-old event and Imperialist the steeplechase. Track fast. Summary:

First race—Seven furlongs: Jeuvenal Maxim, 109 (Shaw), 9 to 5, won; Strom, 100 (Cummins), 3 to 1, second; Kilogram, 113 (Travers), 7 to 1, third. Time—1:28 3-5. Rightfull, Lord Advocate, Beverly, Cottage Maid, Cabin Boy, Show Girl and Nellie Forrest also ran.

Second race—Five furlongs: Uucas, 109 (Burns), 9 to 2, won; Golden Sunrise, 109 (Redfern), 4 to 1, second; Critical, 106 (Travers), 7 to 1, third. Time—1:01 4-5. Ice Man, Festoon, Novena, Pat Dumphy, Knight of Weston, Limerick, Cedars Stromme, Black Cat, Lizzie Albertine, Madamme Satin, Dunsverick, Earldom, Priority, Samuel H. Harirs and Judge Taragon also ran.

Third race—Full course steeplechase: Imperialist, 157 (Taylor), 4 to 1, won; Black Death, 155 (Kerr), 9 to 2, second; Pure Pepper, 160 (Page), 7 to 1, third. Time—5:13. Conover and Rich Elieu II also ran.

Fourth race—Seven furlongs: Dandelion, 110 (Shaw), 16 to 5, won; Oxford, 110 (Odom), 9 to 10, second; Gamara, 117 (Redfern), 5 to 2, third. Time 1:27 3-5. Pasadena also ran.

Fifth race—Mile and forty yards: Persistence II, 107 (Wonderly), 4 to 1, won; Dekaber, 108 (Shaw), 9 to 10, second; Wirein, 107 (Burns), 8 to 1, third. Time—1:44 2-5. Colonsay, Ben Mac D'Hui, Oclawahu and Damon also ran.

Sixth race—Mile and one-sixteenth: New York, 107 (Crimmins), 7 to 2, won; The Southerner, 112 (Travers), 6 to 1, second; Carbuncle, 126 (Redfern), 4 to 1, third. Time—1:49 3-5. Hippocrates, Alster, Proceeds, James F. and Moon Daisy also ran.

RESULTS AT OAKLAND

OAKLAND, Nov. 19.—Weather clear; track good. Summary:

First race—Futurity course: Lurene, 113 (Bell), 15 to 1, won; Bronze Wing, 108 (L. Fountain), 9 to 5, second; Karabet, 114 (Davis), 4 to 1, third. Time—1:12¼. Vaughan, Educate, Dr. Long, Waterspout, Silverian, Monia, Box Elder and Polonius also ran.

Second race—Six furlongs; Pelham, 105 (Kunz), even, won; Hooligan, 110 (Fountain), 30 to 1, second; Silverskin, 113 (Dominick), 2 to 1, third. Time—1:16 3-4. Fleetwood, Sea Air and Indicate also ran.

Third race—Futurity course: Aunt Polly, 114 (McLaughlin), 7 to 2, won; Bard Burns, 119 (Sheehan), 2 to 1, second; Hindoo Princess, 114 (Sullivan), 4 to 1, third. Time—1:11¼. Joe Frey, Play Ball, Foxy Grandpa, Estraza, Ida Mula and Mollie also ran.

Fourth race—Mile and one-sixteenth: Fossil, 109 (Knapp), 5 to 1, won; Bombardier, 118 (Michaels), 5 to 1, second; Gateway, 93 (Sullivan), 15 to 1, third. Time—1:48. Barkleyite, Emrafter, Last Knight and Stroller also ran.

Fifth race—Six furlongs: The Mighty, 110 (Davis), 9 to 20, won; Romaine, 105 (McBride), 13 to 2, second; Cerro Santa, 102 (Sullivan), 16 to 1, third. Time—1:14. W. R. Conndon, Revolt, Reeves and Dr. Bissel also ran.

Sixth race—One mile: San Nicholas, 111 (Davis), 3 to 2, won; Eilloitte, 103 (Dominick), 13 to 5, second; Heatherhoney, 98 (Sullivan), 15 to 1, third. Time—1:41½. G. W. Trahern, Fille D'Orr, Flying Torpedo and Oscar Tolland also ran.

RESULTS AT LATONIA

LATONIA, Nov. 19.—This was the last day of the fall meeting here. The weather was fine, attendance large and the track fast. The feature was the Cincinnati Hotel Autumn handicap. It was won by the favorite, Schoolmate. The summary:

First race, seven furlongs—Girdle, 105 (Treubel), 7 to 5, won; D. L. Moore, 109 (Seamstar), 9 to 5 second, Showman, 109 (Minder), 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:27½. Athlone, Determination, Red Raven, Thistledo, Hunterdon and Maggie Lieber also ran.

Second race, mile and sixteenth—Requiter, 107 (Dugan), 3 to 5, won; Benckart, 110 (Minder), 6 to 1, second; Leenja, 101 (Nicol), 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:48. Mintbed, Beaucaire, Glenwood, Annie Williams, Turlando and Meggs also ran.

Third race, five and a half furlongs—Colonel White, 106 (Troxler), 6 to 1, won; Fireball, 106 (Dugan), 2 to 1, second; Mum, 113 (Davis), 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:06. Sprugical, Fox Hunting, Yorkshire, Bowling Bridge and The Thrall also ran.

Fourth race, mile and quarter—School-mate, 111 (Nicol), 1 to 5, won; Fonsoluca, 105 (Troxler), 4 to 1, second; Reservation, 124 (Minder) 8 to 1 third. Time, 2:06. Brooklyn, The Regent and Idle also ran.

Fifth race, six furlongs—Cognomen, 100 (Wilson), 4 to 2, won; Major Pelham, 116 (Pelham), 11 to 10, second; Ed Tierney, 109 (Nicol), 1 to 3, third. Time, 1:12¾. Just So, Apple, Fontesia, Blythenes sand Gus Heideon also ran.

Sixth race, one mile—Milton Young, 106 (Dugan), 3 to 1, won; Big Beach, 107 (Travers), 6 to 5, second; Steel Trap, 97 (Nicol), 2 to 5, third. Time, 1:41¼. Green Gown, Judge Traynor, Merino, Heilda, Arthur Cummer, Muldon and Winifred Lad also ran.

EVENTS AT NASHVILLE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 19.—The first fall meeting in seven years was inaugurated by the Tennessee Breeders' association at Cumberland park today. The weather was perfect, but the track was rather slow. The feature event of the program was the Southern Turf handicap for all ages, at a mile and a sixteenth, for which there were five acceptances. Bad News was the top weight of these, with 126 pounds up, but at the last moment was withdrawn. Lady Jocelyn won with great ease by four lengths. Summaries:

First race, six furlongs: Rusk, 105 (Munroe), 2 to 1, won; Folliberg, 105 (Seder), 20 to 1, second; Nannie Hodge, 105 (Lannon), 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:14. Ice Water and Good Cheer also ran.

Second race, five furlongs: Conjuress, 99 (Boland), 4 to 1, won; McIlVain, 102 (Munroe), 2 to 1, second; Besterling, 102 (Lannon), 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:02. Darthula, Korea, Shea, Talent, Rondolent, Madison Square, Weberfields, Mystic Blaze and Liola also ran.

Third race, one mile: Mafalda, 101 (Austin), 3 to 2, won; Chanterelle, 104 (Munroe), 7 to 1, second; Rachel Ward, 95 (Waber), 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:42 3-4. Bard of Avon, J. H. Postman, Port Warden, Santa Luna, Glendon and Belle Dodd also ran.

Fourth race, mile and one-sixteenth: Lady Jocelyn, 100 (Seder), 7 to 2, won; Brancas, 106 (Austin), 5 to 2, second; Cheboygan, 101 (Munroe), 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:48 1-4. Chorus Cat also ran.

Fifth race, steeplechase, short course: Cardigan, 148 (Pemberton), 2 to 1, won; Russell Sage, 133 (Ryan), 6 to 1, second; Chanley, 129 (Boyle), 20 to 1, third. Time, 3:04. Balzac, Rosin, Oldham, Spring Water and Apteryx also ran.

Sixth race, six furlongs: Chamblee, 109 (Munroe), 8 to 1, won; Laura Hunter, 106 (Austin), 5 to 2, second; J. Ed Grillo, 106 (Boland), 8 to 10, third. Time, 1:15. Frank Kenny, Lady Charlotte, George Perry, Mizzel Mist, Lila Noel, Rattus and Major Carpenter also ran.

Cloaks, Jackets and Hats Again Monday

Although the day was warm as an April day, this little store of ours was packed all day with buyers. It was the prices—out of 600 Jackets we sold 98 Jackets, still more than 500 left. Jackets worth $10.00, $12.00 and $15.00—again Monday, $5.00. Better Come.

This warm weather won't last—a "norther" is coming.

More than a hundred Hats went Saturday, so said the young lady in charge. It's the price that does the business—$3.00, $3.50 and $4.00 Hats; choice again Monday, $1.48.

Another day of Silk selling—Guaranteed Taffeta Silks, all colors, worth 69c; Monday—to clean up, 39¢.

COME TO THE NEW STORE FOR BARGAINS.

BURCH & PRINCE

SECOND AND HOUSTON STREETS

WEEKLY REPORT OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

In the weekly report of the public schools there is an increase over last report of thirty. Room 4 of the Travis school and room 8 of the high school had an absolutely perfect attendance; that is, these rooms did not have a case of absence, tardiness, or dismissed early. The per cent of attendance, .97, is excellent. Next week should show a higher per cent of attendance, as the pupils should attend well for four days, as Thursday (Thanksgiving day) is a holiday.

Buildings—	Av. Enrolled.	Av. Attendance.	P. C. Attendance.
No. 1	315.4	306	.98
No. 2	824.6	311.8	.96
No. 3	336.4	319.4	.95
No. 4	327.4	320.8	.98
No. 5	573.8	550.6	.96
No. 6	559.8	532	.95
No. 7	471.8	453.2	.96
No. 8	409.6	401.2	.98
No. 9	304	300.8	.99
No. 10	504.4	493.4	.98
No. 11	483.4	467.6	.97
No. 12	167.8	162.6	.97
Total	4778.4	4617.4	.97

FORT WORTH KNIGHTS VISIT MANSFIELD

District Deputy Grand Chancellor R. H. Buck of the Twenty-sixth judicial district of the Knights of Pythias of Texas paid Mansfield lodge an official visit Friday night, where the "long form" was put on and a number of candidates initiated into the lodge.

During the evening several knights made short addresses, among them Mr. Buck, B. J. Houston, T. T. McDonald and others. Responses were made by members of the Mansfield lodge. When the speeches ended the knights partook of an elegant spread. In the Fort Worth party were the following: R. H. Buck, John L. Terrell, H. C. Pettigrew, Joseph S. Myers, George B. Gay, G. W. Prichard, J. M. Youngblood, N. E. Grambrell, James A. Lawson, E. B. Randle, J. I. Stephens, H. H. Ingram, F. B. Wood, A. D. Rossiter, O. H. Buck, B. J. Chote, L. L. Slager, T. H. Wear, T. T. McDonald and A. J. Beavers.

MADE YOUNG AGAIN

"One of Dr. King's New Life Pills each night for two weeks has put me in my 'teens' again," writes D. H. Turner of Dempseytown, Pa. They're the best in the world for Liver, Stomach and Bowels. Purely vegetable. Never gripe. Only 25c, at Matt S. Blanton & Co., Reeves' Pharmacy and W. J. Fisher's drug store.

CATHOLIC BAZAR WILL CONTINUE TWO WEEKS

Ladies of St. Patrick's Church Are Making Elaborate Preparations for Affair—Young Ladies at Japanese Table

The Catholic ladies of St. Patrick's church will open a bazar next Tuesday night, November 22, at Fifth and Main streets, in the building formerly occupied by Bullock Brothers & Bannister.

The bazar which will combine all the features usually connected with such affairs will remain open for two weeks and will have special Thanksgiving day attractions.

On that day a Thanksgiving dinner will be served under the direction of Mrs. Dennis Ryan and an able corps of assistants. A Thanksgiving supper will also be served and it is possible, although not yet definitely decided, that suppers will be served each night during the bazar.

The bazar will be directly under the charge of Mrs. Conlisk, president of the association; Mrs. McIlwee, vice president; Mrs. Hird, second vice president; Mrs. Frank McGee, secretary, and Mesdames Lavin, Lehane and Liston as assistants.

The first table will be under the care of Mrs. John Duffy; Mrs. Lavin will have the second, while Mrs. Hird, assisted by the young ladies of the parish, will take charge of the Japanese table; Mrs. Mary Daugherty will be in charge of the fish pond and the beauty corner, and Mrs. Dennis will be in charge of the dinners. Each of the ladies will have a large corps of assistants at her table.

Preparations for the affair were begun yesterday at the building, a large number of the ladies being present. Much interest is being manifested, and it is thought the affair will be a great success.

A Paris cabinet maker has named his thirteen sons, respectively: William II, Charles VI, Edward VII, Charles VIII, Charles IX, Louis X, Louis XI, Louis XII, Alfonso XIII, and Louis XIV. He did this in order to be able to distinguish one from the other according to their ages.

YOUR LAST CHANCE! $1.00 GENUINE DIAMONDS Each!

For the past two weeks we have displayed the Real Genuine Diamonds among our Kaffir Diamonds, set in rings, brooches, studs, scarfs, earrings, cuff links, etc., designs heretofore sold from $2 to $4.50 each, and up to date only five genuine diamonds have been chosen, which proves that Kaffirs Cannot Be Detected from Genuine Diamonds!

The public in general have been so greatly interested—crowds being before our window daily from morning until evening, making it impossible for hundreds to get an opportunity to make a selection—that we have decided to continue the sale for one more week. Come and see if you can pick out a Genuine from a Kaffir. This is an opportunity for the skeptical. They are yours at $1.00 each.
We have had a hard time fixing up a scheme by which our mail order customers can have the same chance as our city patrons, but finally decided

The Lucky People

Diamond Stud—Jessie Kicade, 166 Audrey Street, Dallas, Texas.
Diamond Brooch—"Pansy" Charles Python, 140 Liberty Street, Dallas, Texas.
Diamond Brooch—"Clover Leaf" Wm. Grice, 116 Johnson Street, Dallas, Tex.
Diamond Scarf Pin—Miss Helene Porcher, Texarkana, Texas.
Diamond Scarf Pin—E. W. Ramsey, News Building, Dallas, Texas.

Exquisite Sunburst Brooch

A Brooch nice enough for anybody to wear, worth 3 times what we are selling it for, this sale $1.00

Ladies' Tiffany

A 14-kt. gold-filled, seamless ring of great beauty, ⅛ or ¼-kt. stone of finest color and brilliancy; 10 yrs. guarantee. Cut from $3.50 to $1.00

Golden Ray Sunburst

A beautiful Brooch, 1 or ½ kt. center, surrounded by nine ¼-kt. stones. Reduced from $3.50 to $1.00

Drop Earrings or Screws

Beautiful, brilliant stones evenly matched, with SOLID GOLD WIRE mountings which will wear for a lifetime. Our price this sale each $1.00

Solitaire

A dainty little Ring, set with a very brilliant ¼-kt stone. We recommend this stone to our customers. $1.00

Pansy or Clover Leaf Brooch

As pretty designs as we ever manufactured, set with a ½-kt. selected stone, reduced from $3.50 to $1.00

Fancy Scarf Pin

Genuine opal, ruby or emerald center, with four ½-kt. Kaffir Diamonds, beautiful designs. $1.00

Come to Our Store Monday and Pick Them

Opal Sunburst

Opal center surrounded by beautiful Kaffir Diamonds. Very popular. Reduced from $3.50 to $1.00

Scarf Pin

Stone is full of fire and mountings are solid gold filled. If genuine this pin would cost $175. Actual worth $4.00. Each $1.00

Gents' Ring

Plain or engraved mounting, a very fine stone, indeed. No man need be ashamed to wear this ring in any society. Reduced from $2.50 each to $1.00

1-2 k Solitaire Stud or Scarf Pin

For this special sale we mount an exceptionally fine stone in this pin. All the sparkle of a genuine stone costing $90.00. Price, each $1.00

Cuff Button

Solid gold filled lever links, set with very bright stones, guaranteed 10 years, worth $3.50. Special price, a pair $1.00

Belcher Ring

A popular design for the men; strong and durable; will wear a lifetime. Just try one. Price special, each $1.00

Knot Brooch

Mounting is solid gold filled, set with ¼-kt. brilliant diamond. A very pretty design, each $1.00

Special For Mail Order Patrons

on this one, which gives all an equal opportunity to get a real diamond for one dollar. Send for the article you want, and as soon as your order is received and checked we shall request one of the lady or gentlemen customers in our store at the time to select the article you desire out of the window, where the real diamonds are among the others, and if his or her selection is a real diamond, rest assured on the honor of the Kaffir Diamond Company that you shall receive it as quick as Uncle Sam can deliver it at your door, and all we ask of you in return is that you tell your friends and so advertise the business integrity and fair dealing of the Kaffir Diamond Company.

OUR GUARANTEE.

We guarantee each and every stone to retain its brilliancy forever, and the mountings to give perfect satisfaction. We will give $10,000 to any charitable institution if it can be shown that we ever refused to replace a stone that does not give satisfaction.

SEND FOR THIS CATALOGUE.

Our new illustrated pamphlet contains many designs we cannot show in our newspaper ads. We offer a special discount on catalogue goods, so you will find it to your advantage to have one.

SEND FOR IT TODAY .

MAIL ORDERS.

Prompt attention given to mail orders. All orders filled same day as received. Send money orders or currency, and if goods are not exactly as represented we will cheerfully refund money. WRITE NAME AND ADDRESS PLAINLY.

Kaffir Diamond Co., 296 Main St., Dallas, Tex.

HARDIE'S | Dress Goods Sale | HARDIE'S

An Extensive Recent Purchase of Black and Colored Dress Goods goes on sale Monday, all at 50c

1,000 strictly first-class dress fabrics--every yard is guaranteed perfect--no goods known by the trade as seconds. All reliable, high-grade dress fabrics, nearly all are extra widths, including Panne Zibelines, Panne Cheviots, Fancy Serges, Broadcloths, etc. On sale Monday and Tuesday only, regularly, 75c and $1.00.

Women's Suits
Extra Special Reduction

Only twelve Suits, stylish, new models, fine all wool cheviots, beautifully trimmed coat suits, silk lined coat, onion peel vestings, novelty silk braid trimmed; some with gold buttons; the new skirt. Two reductions:

The fine $22.50 coat suits for . . . $15

The fine $32.50 coat suits for . $20

Handsome new brown three-quarter cloth coats, special . . $15

Extra Silk Special Monday

45c Colored Taffeta; per yard..... 25¢
White, black and tan, desirable plain shades, 20 inches wide—good wearing silk; extra special, the yard ..... 25¢

65c and 50c Dress Goods for 39c

Popular weaves in Colored Dress Fabrics, including all wool Albatross (light and dark colors), fancy Check Serges, Venetians, Zibelines, Etamines, Granites, etc.; nearly all 40 inches wide. This sale, Monday and Tuesday, yard..... 39c

52-Inch New Broadcloth Now 75c

Royal, Blue, Navy, Tan, Onion Peel; real worth $1.00; extra special; yard.. 75c
New Black Granite Cloth; yard 50c

Warner's New Corsets—All Sizes

No. 221—Batiste, long hip, front and side supporters, straight front; price $1.50
Nos. 121 and 171—Same style in fine coutil; price $1.50
No. 196—Fine coutil, long hip, front and side supporters; price... $1.00
No. 237—Heavy coutil, long hip, extra large sizes, stout model; price $1.00
No. 747—Corset Girdle with attached supporters $1.00
Redfern Whalebone Corsets, fine French coutil, supporters attached; price $3.50
"Tape" Girdle and "Beauty" Girdle, all sizes; price 50c
Silk "Hook-on" Supporters and extra pad Hose Supporters; $1.00 and.. 50c
New Front Pad Hose Supporters, all colors 25c

The Busy Corner H. F. Hardie The Busy Corner

Corner Sixth and Houston

CONFEDERATES

Daughters Are to Have Annual Meeting of the Texas Division at Waxahachie in December—The Program

HEADQUARTERS OF SONS

Commander Tisdal Announces That Hereafter the Office of Commander-in-Chief Will Be Located at Rusk—Urges More Activity

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, Nov. 19.—All local arrangements have been completed for the ninth annual convention of the Texas division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. The local chapter, assisted by citizens of the town, has worked arduously in making preparations for the reception and entertainment of all delegates who may attend the convention. Ample provision has been made for the accommodation of every delegate attending, and the attendance of Daughters is earnestly solicited.

The convention will meet Tuesday, December 6, and will be in session four days. The program is as follows:

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 6

At 8 a. m.—Formal opening of ninth annual convention, U. D. C.
At 12 m.—Lunch to delegates and officers.
At 2 p. m.—Transaction of convention business.
From 4 to 6 p. m.—Reception to delegates and visitors by Sims-Watson chapter.
At 8 p. m.—Literary evening conducted by Mrs. S. H. Watson, state historian, at Shelton's opera house.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 7

At 9 a. m.—Transaction of convention business.
At 12 m.—Adjournment for lunch.
At 2 p. m.—Regular order of business.
At 4 p. m.—Memorial service.
At 8 p. m.—President's evening, Miss Katie Daffan presiding.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 8

At 9 a. m.—Regular order of business.
At 12 m.—Adjournment for lunch.
At 2 p. m.—Regular order of business resumed.
4 p. m.—Drive to Trinity University, where a recital will be tendered the delegates and guests by the university faculty.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 9

At 9 a. m.—Regular order of business.
At 12 m.—Adjournment for lunch.
At 2 p. m.—Election of officers, selection of next place of meeting and completion of unfinished business.

SONS CHANGE HEADQUARTERS

N. R. Tisdal, commander-in-chief of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans, yesterday issued general order No. 3 from headquarters with reference to the removal of general headquarters from this city to Rusk, Texas. The order reads as follows:

Comrades: The general headquarters of the confederation are hereby changed from Fort Worth, Texas, to Rusk, Texas, where all correspondence in the future should be addressed.

There is one subject that your commander desires to call to your attention at this time; that is the apathy that seems to exist for a considerable period after each annual reunion and continuing up to within a short period of the succeeding one. This inactivity should be overcome without delay if the organization is to become the success that was anticipated by its organizers. Devotion to duty is a theme for poets, a beacon light for worshipers at the shrine of ancestry and a heritage to hand down to posterity that should inspire the sons of such sires as ours to great activity in the work that has been committed to us for execution. Remember the duty that is ours and "fall in" close to your colors; "Forward! March!" and never fall back, no matter what obstacle you have to overcome. Recruit your ranks and organize new camps if it lays in your power. It matters not whether you be an officer of the confederation or not, we are all working in a common cause.

Go to work now. Do not wait until tomorrow.

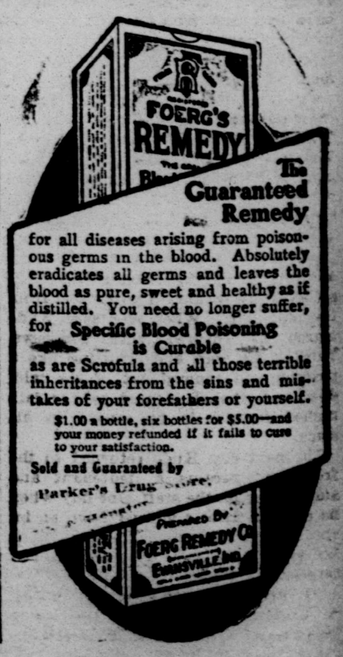

The matter is now yours for approval or disapproval. What will the answer be?

N. R. TISDAL,
Commander-in-Chief.

I. J. STOCKETT, Adjutant general and Chief of Staff.

PROGRAM FOR TODAY

The following is the program of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans meeting Sunday afternoon, November 20, at 4 p. m. in the camp room in the west end of the court house: Music, Miss Charlotte Gregg; reading, W. W. Heathcote; vocal solo, C. E. Able; address, Colonel Abe Harris; vocal solo, Miss Elizabeth Bulwer; reading, Forrest Bedford; opem, Mr. Rattan; song, Oscar Hightower.

A Japanese Wooing

[Original.]

Jiroku Kudo was a common soldier in the Japanese army, or, rather, he was a driver in the artillery. One day Mineyama, a nursegirl in Nagasaki, saw Kudo ride by on one of the horses dragging a cannon, and there was such an appearance of power in the gun (and was not Kudo, guiding the horses that dragged it about like a toy, more powerful than the gun itself?) that she straightway fell in love with him. Kudo noticed the girl standing beside the road, her hand on the baby carriage that contained her charge, and was as much struck with her as she with him. Therefore, when off duty, he waited and watched for her where he had seen her, met her, and then and there was a love affair.

But Mineyama's love had been inflamed by Kudo the gun driver rather than Kudo the man. Consequently when Kurota, a young sergeant in the cavalry, came along with a brand new uniform he looked so splendid that Mineyama at once transferred her affections from the artillery to the cavalry. The truth is that the same day Kurota appeared with his fine clothes and trappings Kudo came along after driving over a muddy road all day, dingy and bespattered. Considering the origin of her love, this was quite enough to turn the little nursegirl's affections. It was all very well for Mineyama and the cavalry sergeant, for that matter, but it was death to the gun driver. He declared that he would commit harakiri, but Mineyama only laughed at him and told him that he had better go and get a plume in his hat like that of Kurota; then, if he looked well, she might reconsider the matter.

There had been a good deal of talk of war with Russia, and that very night the Japanese fleet attacked the Russian vessels at Port Arthur. Kudo had no need to commit harakiri; the Russians were quite willing to save him the trouble. His battery was put on a transport and landed in Korea.

Kudo was in a number of fights, in which his clothes—they could hardly be called a uniform—became so begrimed with powder and dirt that he was in despair. "If Mineyama were to see me today," he moaned, "she would spurn me more than ever." To make matters worse, Kurota rode by one day, and, being attached to the headquarters of a general officer, where they try to keep everything spick and span, his uniform was more showy than ever.

The great battle of the war was coming on at Liaoyang. For several days half a million of men shot at one another. Then the affair took a decisive turn. Kudo was driving a gun in one of General Nodzu's batteries, who commanded the center of the Japanese army. All of the gun drivers' horses were killed, and Kudo, having nothing to drive, turned his attention to his gun. One by one his comrades fell under the terrific fire of the enemy till at last there was but one gun in his battery available and one man to work it—Kudo. A general rode by and saw him putting a shot every few minutes just where it was needed. The officer was so impressed with the driver's efficiency that he said to him:

"When we have less to do report in person at my headquarters."

Well, the battle was over at last, and Kudo, remembering the general's order, reported at his tent.

"Ah, you are the last man to work the last gun in your battery in the late battle. Well, you are promoted to be lieutenant. Is there any special desire that you would like to have gratified?"

Kudo thought for awhile and then said:

"General, I hear that the —th infantry is going back to Nagasaki to recruit. I would like to go with it."

"What!" asked the general, surprised. "Are you tired of war?"

"Oh, no, general; I only wish to march into the city. I will return the next day."

"In what capacity do you wish to go with the regiment?"

"As drum major."

The general laughed. "And why, my brave fellow, do you desire to go home as drum major?"

"I love a little nursegirl named Mineyama who is much impressed with fine uniforms. If she sees me with all the gold lace and trappings of a drum major, tossing my staff in the air, she will be much impressed and perhaps will make me happy."

"You shall have your desire, my good man, and when you return I want you on my staff. You are the first man I have ever met who has the sense to properly woo a woman, and a man with so much brain in that respect must be wise in others."

The next day Kudo marched to the coast with the —th infantry, boarded a transport and was taken to Nagasaki. The people were wild with enthusiasm over the great victory, and the streets were lined to view the entry into the city. As the men proceeded their wives, sisters and sweethearts joined them and marched with them hand in hand. Mineyama was in a second story window a dozen feet from the sidewalk. When she saw Kudo march by covered with gewgaws, twirling his staff and strutting like a peacock, she jumped out of the window, and, though injured by her fall, rushed to him to be caught in his arms.

The next day Kudo returned to the front and became a lieutenant and aid-de-camp on the staff. One day when he came in after a shower from an inspection of pickets and very much bedraggled he saw his rival still a sergeant.

"Go get a plume in your cap," shouted Kudo; "then you may look for a sweetheart."

F. A. MITCHEL.

WASHER BROTHERS.

The Style Center for Men

CORRECT DRESS

Attractive Styles

In Fashionable Apparel for Men

OWING to the high standard always maintained by this store the name, Washer, suggests a superiority in style and quality. Enduring satisfaction is to be found in every instance, whether the price be large or small, and at all times, prices absolutely the lowest, quality considered.

What to Wear and When to Wear It

Over-Garments—That man who can find no overcoat to please him in this day must indeed be over-particular. Fashion never lent more latitude.

It is quite possible for a man to be always well dressed, though he possess but one overcoat. Of course that overcoat needs be the right one.

Broad shoulders, roomy body and fairly good length, with snug-fitting collar are the chief points of a good overcoat.

Black and Oxford Cheviots are in good taste, and a smart style popular with young men is a cheviot mixture with faint plaid effect.

Correct Over Garments Ranging in Price From.....$10 to $40

For Business Wear

Sack Suits—Simplicity and comfort make up the ideal in suits of business and day wear.

The sack suit is pre-eminently the attire for the business day. It may be either single or double-breasted, in a wealth of colors and mixtures, in cheviots, tweeds and fancy worsteds.

This year the sack coats are conservative and about one inch longer than last season. They are cut rather straight, medium broad shoulders and collar fits snugly to the neck.

For young men the coats are cut full and "boxy" with increased shoulder widths. Trousers with slight fullness at hips and small at instep.

Correct Sack Suits....$12.50 to $30.00 Correct Footwear.....$3.50 to $6.00
Correct Neckwear.....50c to $2.50 Correct Headwear.....$3.00 to $5.00

The luxuries of yesterday are the necessities of tomorrow. So it is in the matter of dress.

Correct Dress for Evening

The Season of Festivities and Social Functions is at Hand

INFORMAL EVENING DRESS

The dinner suit or Tuxedo is designed for the home dinner, "stag," theater or card party and club wear.

Theoretically, it is not for any evening occasion where ladies are present, but usage has given it the entree anywhere short of a most formal function.

The material is either a black smooth or soft rough-faced goods. Vest of same material always. The correct accessories are black tie, gray suede gloves, patent leather shoes and derby hat.

FORMAL EVENING DRESS

Full dress suit of black smooth or soft-faced goods is the correct attire for formal functions after 6 p. m. The lapels are either peaked or shawl collar, faced with silk. White waistcoat, either single or double-breasted, although the black waistcoat is permissible.

Correct accessories are white tie, pump or patent leather button shoes, white kid gloves and opera or silk hat.

Tuxedo Suits.....$25 to $40 Full Dress Suits..$30 to $50

GARMENT WORKERS STRIKE

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Following the strike of nearly six thousand garment workers in various jobbing tailoring establishments today, it was decided at a mass meeting of the workers tonight to call out the remainder of the cutters and tailors in Chicago. This means that about four thousand will go on strike Monday morning.

This action was precipitated by a notice served by the National Wholesale Tailor Association on its employers that when the agreemnt with the union expired next March no more contracts would be entered into except with individuals. The union leaders saw a plot to disrupt their organization and determined not to wait until March, but to force the issue now.

The great strike, involving all teaming interests in the city, whach was threatened, has been averted. The Wholesale Furniture Dealers' Association made an agreement this evening with the striking drivers and the latter will return to work Monday morning. The teamsters regard the settlement as a great victory. In it they have secured the concessions: A signed contract until May 1, 1906; closed shop, the employers agreeing that in the employment of drivers, members of the union will be given the preference. The union may place stewards in all barns of the employers.

AN AUTHORESS DEAD

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 19.—Mrs. Elah Docheney, famous authoress, preacher, reformer and educator, died at her home in Jamaica Plains of pneumonia today after a short illness.

WORK OF THE BLACK HAND

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 19.—Two boys found the dead body of Francesco Fanusali in Naughau Park this afternoon with a bullet hole in the left side. Nothing can be learned of the man, as no one in the Italian settlement will talk of the affair. The murder is presumably the work of the "Black Hand" Society.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY

WACO, Texas, Nov. 19.—Walter L. Robertson, a young man from Austin, who is attending school here, was arrested at noon today on complaint filed before United States Commissioner A. P. McCormick charging him with forging a name to a postoffice money order. His bond was fixed at $500.

BRECKENRIDGE PASSES AWAY AT HOME

Famous Kentuckian Who Has Served Long in Congress Is Dead—He Was an Orator of Recognized Ability

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 19.—William Campbell Presenton Breckenridge died tonight. He was the son of Rev. Robert Breckenridge and was born in Baltimore, August 28, 1837. His entrance into the arena of the civil war was made as captain and soon after he became colonel of the Ninth Kentucky cavalry regiment. From 1884 to 1895 he represented the Seventh Kentucky district in the house of representatives, being defeated for the renomination in 1894, following a court scandal in which he figured. Colonel Breckenridge was an orator of recognized ability and had a host of friends in and out of congress.

Colonel Breckenridge died of a double stroke of paralysis, which came upon him Wednesday while seated at his desk in his office in this city.

He was removed to his home four hours later, still in an unconscious condition. He is unable to recognize those about him, despite the agonizing appeals of his son, Desha Breckenridge, that he speak to him. Two physicians were in constant attendance upon him until the end came.

He had been an active man all his life, despite the fact that he was 60 years of age. He was a familiar figure in Kentucky life. Until recently he had scarcely known what it was to be sick. He was full of active life and vigor and of a robust constitution.

Two months ago he was called north on a business trip and at that time he contracted a cold and became so ill upon his return that he was confined to his bed for several weeks. His daily editorial utterances in the Morning Herald of this city were missed, and it was stated that a softening of the brain had set in. The talk concerning his condition was given in a whisper, and since he has been afflicted he has managed to attend court twice only, and then with considerable difficulty. He was in court Monday and his friends began to anticipate a speedy recovery.

Alone in his office he was seated at his desk when the attack came. He fell to the floor, where he lay for several minutes and then by a heroic effort he succeeded in telephoning to his son, Desha Breckenridge, after which he fell back unconscious. His son found him in this condition when he entered with a physician. They started to work in the hope of restoring consciousness and very soon another physician arrived and for four hours they both labored upon the distinguished patient in vain. His wife had arrived in the meantime, and it was decided to remove him to his home. The ambulance was summoned and in this he was taken home and put to bed.

REFORM IN BRANDS

At the coming convention of the National Live Stock Association one of the matters that will come up for discussion is that of setting on foot a movement for the adoption of a uniform system of brands for the western country. The need of some modern system of brands for live stock is becoming more and more necessary. As there will always will be public ranges in the west, there will always be the necessity of marking the animals. When the live stock on the range was owned by a comparatively few persons, almost any kind of a brand would do, but as the great herds have been divided up and owners have multiplied, the supply of symbols that can be used for this purpose has become scarce. In Colorado, where once less than 10,000 brands covered all in use in the state, there are now on record close to 40,000, and the number is steadily increasing, and even then there are a large number of brands in use that have never been recorded.

An Episode of the Decline of Dueling

[Original.]

Prior to the duel between Aaron Burr and Alexander Hamilton dueling was the prevailing method of settling personal difficulties in America, even in the northern states. One evening at the close of the eighteenth century a young man stopped at a tavern in New York and was sitting in the taproom dreamily looking at the embers in the great open fireplace when one of a number of men drinking and smoking at the tables—a fellow with a bad eye and a crafty look on his face—began to make remarks about him in so loud a tone that he could not fail to hear them. Nevertheless the stranger endured them for a time without retort, then got up and started to leave the room, whereupon the man who had insulted him suddenly put out his foot and the stranger fell sprawling on the floor. The fallen man, still apparently unwilling to notice the offense, arose and proceeded on his way to another room.

He had not been there long before a young man of pleasing appearance entered and addressed him.

"You are apparently a stranger here," he said, "and need a friend. The man who has insulted you is notorious for picking quarrels, and when he finds his antagonist one who is likely to get the better of him he invariably finds some adroit method of getting out of the difficulty. I am anxious for a pretext to fight him. Why, I don't care to explain, except to say that it is a matter of the heart. I have recently returned from a long absence in that part of Louisiana lying west of the Mississippi, and, though I immediately recognized this man—Amos Stringfellow—he doesn't recognize me. On account of the lady in the case I would not like to quarrel with him on my own account, nor would he permit me to do so. Your affair is my opportunity. You seem to be averse to fighting him yourself. Therefore I would ask your permission to act as your champion."

The speaker drew forth a card on which was printed his name, Horace George Herrick. In return he received one from the stranger, Henry Pinckney.

"I am not averse to fighting the fellow," Pinckney said. "We of the south usually settle such matters under the code. But in my case there is a reason why I should not. My father killed a friend in a duel and suffered so from remorse that he exacted a promise from me never to engage in one myself."

Herrick pleaded with Pinckney for permission to represent him. Pinckney was unwilling to stand in so unpleasant a light, but at last consented, declaring that in case Herrick fell he would throw aside his scruples and take up the quarrel on his own account. Herrick returned to the taproom and after berating Stringfellow for being so inhospitable as to insult an inoffensive stranger took it upon himself to vindicate the good name of New York and demanded satisfaction. Stringfellow demurred on the ground that the challenger was not a New Yorker, whereupon Herrick informed him that he had been born in New York and of his identity.

Stringfellow saw at once that he had fallen into his own trap, but relied, as usual, on some subterfuge to preserve his reputation for courage and at the same time keep out of harm's way. He accepted the challenge and, as the challenged party having the right to name the conditions, chose pistols in a dark room.

Before entering the apartment Herrick took Pinckney aside and said to him:

"If I fall go to Harlem and find Katherine Van Gaasback. Tell her that her former playmate returned and heard that she was about to marry Amos Stringfellow; that chance gave me the opportunity to defend the good name of New York."

Pinckney, much dissatisfied with the course the affair had taken, made the required promise, and the two principals were put in the room, from which all light had been excluded, and took their positions. Each was provided with two pistols, and the men were permitted to fire on signal.

Ten minutes elapsed after the signal, when two shots were fired in rapid succession, and a moment later a knock was heard on the door from within. It was opened, and Stringfellow was discovered in the fireplace across a pair of andirons, while Herrick stood looking at him, white as a sheet.

"What does it mean?" asked one of the entering party.

"Mean?" exclaimed Herrick. "It means that as soon as the door was closed I was seized with remorse at depriving Kate Van Gaasback of the man she had chosen to wed. Feeling my way around the room, I came to the fireplace. It occurred to me to discharge my pistols up the chimney that they might surely do no harm. I did so, and what was my surprise to hear a groan, and a heavy body came tumbling down."

Stringfellow, who had climbed the chimney to be out of harm's way, was examined by a surgeon. One ball had pierced his leg; the other had cut off a thumb. Beyond this he was uninjured. The same day the wounded man disappeared and was never heard of again in New York.

Kate Van Gaasback heard of the affair and its ridiculous termination. She accepted Herrick for a husband, first exacting a promise that he would never again engage in a duel. Pinckney was Herrick's best man, and the couple afterward made a visit to his plantation in the south.

AMBROSE SPENCER.

PE-RU-NA WORKED WONDERS

For an Adjutant and Chief of Staff in the Spanish War.

Herman A. Finke Says: "Pe-ru-na Made Me Fee Like a New Man."

Herman A. Finke, Adjutant and Chief of Staff, Spanish war, St. Louis, Mo., writes:

"I heartily recommend Peruna to any man who, through the exposure incident to camp life, may have lost or impaired his health. I have suffered severely with kidney trouble brought on in Cuba in the trenches. Nothing I ever did helped me until I took Peruna. This simply worked wonders for me. In a short time I felt like a new man. My pain gone, my appetite increased, my sleep restful and in every way I felt improved. For kidney troubles or any disarranged pelvic organs, I say get Peruna, and it will cure you when nothing else will."--Herman A. Finke.

War Correspondent Recommends Pe-ru-na.

MR. F. B. RICHARDS, 602 "E" St., N. W., Washington, D. C., War Correspondent, writes:

"Exactly six years ago I was ordered to Cuba as staff correspondent of the New York Sun. I was in charge of a Sun despatch boat through the Spanish-American war. The effect of the tropical climate and the nervous strain showed plainly on my return to the States.

"Lassitude, depression to the verge of melancholia, and incessant kidney trouble made me practically an invalid. This undesirable condition continued, despite the best of treatment.

"Finally, a brother newspaper man, who like myself had served in the war, induced me to give a faithful trial to Peruna. I did so.

"In a short time the lassitude left me, my kidneys resumed a healthy condition, and a complete cure was effected. I cannot too strongly recommend Peruna to those suffering with kidney trouble.

"Today I am able to work as hard as at any time in my life, and the examiner for a leading life insurance company pronounced me an 'A' risk."-F. B. Richards.

Doctors Unable to Help Her—Cured by Pe-ru-na.

Mr. George Forrester, 2747 Mascher St., Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

"We have great faith in Peruna. My wife's condition was such that she thought she would die, as the doctors could not help her dyspepsia and catarrh of the stomach. Now she can eat anything.

"We keep Peruna in the house all the time, but it is only once in a while that she needs to use it. I was subject to liver and kidney trouble, which resulted in rheumatic pains, but I have not had a pain since I took Peruna, and very little liver trouble, as Peruna keeps the digestive organs in good working order, and that is the main thing."—George Forrester.

Peruna is not simply a palliative to relieve some of the most distressing symptoms. It is a permanent and radical cure.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

A COLLISION ON TROLLEY LINE SERIOUS

Passenger Car and a Work Train Come Together and Fifteen Persons Are Injured, Two Fatally

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 19.—Fifteen persons were injured, two fatally and more than a dozen seriously, in a collision between a work car and a passenger train on the belt line interurban at 6 o'clock tonight. The seriously hurt are:

A. JONES, motorman; head crushed, internal injuries; may die.

L. TROWBRIDGE, laborer; internally.

CHARLES JOY, left foot smashed; amputated.

— — SCHUSTER, badly injured.

S. P. ASHLEY, badly injured.

The passenger car was filled with shop girls and laborers returning to their homes after the week's labor. Rounding a sharp curve, the glare of the headlight on the work trains motor car flashed full in Motorman Jones' face. He reversed the lever and applied the brake, but before the passenger car could be brought to a stop they were on to the loaded cars pushed by the motor. There was a frightful crash of splintered timbers as the coal car ahead was pushed into the front end of the passenger car. Joy was thrown back through the door, his foot catching in such a manner that it was almost torn off. Motorman Jones was thrown violently back. The passengers were thrown into excitement. They endeavored to leap through the windows.

CATTLE RATE WAR

There is great danger of a serious cattle rate war from southwestern territory to Chicago. The trouble was precipitated by the Rock Island putting in effect a 20 cent proportional rate on cattle from Omaha to Chicago. The Burlington already has met the rate. The effect of the Rock Island's action is to enable southwestern shippers to ship to Omaha to the disadvantage of Kansas City, and if market conditions are unsatisfactory on arrival of cattle there to ship to Chicago without having to pay any higher rate than if shipped through in the first instance. —Chicago Live Stock World.

The farm is the proper place to raise poultry profitably. Fowls, like sheep, will eat much waste grain and rid the farm of weed seed and will destroy millions of insect enemies.

TURKEYS!

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED 100 OF THESE FINE BIRDS FROM WINFIELD SCOTT'S RANCH. THEY ARE CORN FED. WILL HAVE ANOTHER SHIPMENT NEXT WEEK. GIVE US YOUR ORDER FOR THANKSGIVING, SO WE CAN RESERVE ONE FOR YOU.

VEGETABLES	FRUITS
Fine Fresh Tomatoes, Cauliflower, Head Lettuce, California Celery, Bell Peppers, Small Breakfast Radishes, Turnips, Egg Plant, Squash.	Bananas, Grapes, Apples, Oranges, Pineapples, Figs, Dates, Raisins, Cleaned Currants, Lemon and Orange Peel Citron.

CRANBERRIES, MINCEMEAT, APPLE BUTTER, NUTS, NEUFCHATEL CHEESE, EDAM, ROQUEFORT, BRICK, SWISS, PINEAPPLE, NEW YORK CREAM. DRESSED FRYERS AND HENS.

Sunflower Creamery Butter!

Stearns & Stewart

PHONES 766 AND 506. 602 HOUSTON STREET

IN BAD FAVOR

Reynolds Newspaper Says the Prime Minister Does Not Stand as Well at Court as Heretofore

HIS SUDDEN ILLNESS

As Soon as the King of Portugal Returns Home the Prime Minister Will Recover—It Is Said the King's Health Is Again Bad

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Reynolds' Newspaper publishes a sensational article, in the course of which many matters which have been the subject of whispered comments of late are treated in a brutally frank manner.

To begin with the article boldly asserts that King Edward's confidence in Prime Minister Balfour must be severely shaken, judging by recent events in which the premier's subordination had become plain to all Englishmen. Especially in foreign politics Mr. Balfour does not seem to be permitted to play the role to which his rang seems to entitle him. The Portugese treaty, for instance, was announced by the king himself.

Continuing the paper says: "During the period succeeding the Dogger bank outrage matters reached such a pass that Balfour retired from court in high dudgeon. This incident was followed by his sudden illness and his temporary retirement from London. When the king of Portugal goes home Balfour will recover."

The article then engaged in the minimum discussion of the recent rumors regarding the king's health. Of this the paper says the importance of recent disquieting symptoms have been minimized, but in fact they may well be considered of great moment. In addition to his other ailments the king has recently been troubled with insomnia.

Continuing the review the paper asserts that President Roosevelt is indirectly responsible for the release of Colonel Lynch, the Boer partisan. The king, the statement says, was largely influenced by a reported conversation of a notable Irish leader with the president of the United States, in the course of which the latter said that he hoped Lynch would soon be released. This conversation was part of a letter by the unnamed Irish notable, who added that if he were a loyalist he would strongly advise the king to release the only remaining political prisoner from the time of the Boer war, especially as that prisoner had attracted the interested of the president of the United States.

It is remembered that the letter referred to was written by Michael Davitt.

STEAMER IS LOST IN OCEAN

London, Nov. 20.—The Central News sends out a dispatch from Brussels announcing that it is reported that the Red Star steamship Kroonland, with 1,435 passengers, has founded in mid-ocean. The Red Star line officials discredit the report. The Kroonland sailed from Antwerp for New York November 12.

ALL GRAFTERS

Father Schnell Comes Out in Answer to His Critics and Accuses Clergy and Laity Alike of Improper Conduct

HE IS HELPING THEM

Makes Direct Charge That an Archbishop Has Kept Money Which Was Sent for Use on Winnebago Reservation — Says They Are Grafters

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 19.—Father Schell, the Catholic priest who is fighting alleged grafting on the Winnebago Indian agency, left for Washington tonight to lay the whole matter before the president. He declared he would persist in carrying out his work of ousting the grafters because he had proof which would compel the president and secretary to act. Before his departure the grand jury of the federal court gave him a statement signed by each member, declaring their belief in his honesty and integrity of purpose and asking the president to hear his story.

Father Schnell, whose name has become prominent in connection with the scandals at the Winnebago reservation, issued a proclamation tonight in which he said:

"It is an outrage and a scandal to see and to hear Catholic priests, bishops and archbishops, who are entirely innocent and ignorant of the bad conditions at the agency, come out and criticise my efforts to raise the moral standards of 1,100 degraded and much abused Indians. That I do not represent the Catholic authorities, as they claim, in doing this work, is evidently because they have constantly seen before them 1,100 Indians degraded, debased and ruined below the level of beasts. They have seen them in utter distress physically and mentally for years without a friend and they would not send any relief nor would they stop the grafter who call themselves Catholics from fulning these Indians.

"It is entirely due to the many and repeated efforts of Mother Drexel that at last a priest was sent there and I was appointed. I was not supposed to hurt Catholic grafters, but I did it and hence the great howl.

"I was misrepresented and misquoted by the grafters and the name of Mother Drexel was thus maliciously connected. Some Catholic authorities like to believe it and they render judgment and denounced me as guilty and I never said anything of the kind. They brought pressure on Secretary Hitchcock and on President Roosevelt not to listen to me, that I am troublesome. Yes, I admit it; but only for the unjust.

"Last year I reported and proved to the Indian Bureau at Washington and the members of the board that the Most Rev. Archbishop Aehristi of Portland, Ore., had kept for himself the monies distributed by the Catholics of the state for the Indians and in this also I was troublesome and do not represent the Catholic church.

"That any responsible person in the Catholic church should go out of his way to prevent justice to helpless Indians is scandalizing them and to remove the grafters is an outrage to humanity and religion.

"I have kept quiet and have no reason for criticising. I have done my duties conscientiously before God and before man and my actions can stand broad daylight, but not those of my accusers and of their helpers. If their many actions behind the curtains were known it would create nothing but scandals. My patience is long, but will have an end soon."

IN A PISTOL DUEL NEGRO GIRL IS KILLED

One of the Combatants Takes Refuge Behind a Horse and the Animal Is Sacrificed—Bullet Hits Bystander

PARIS, Texas, Nov. 19.—George Lewis and Clay Pierce, two negroes, engaged in a pistol duel in the northeast part of the city this evening. Pierce took refuge behind a horse and the animal was killed.

Nora Pierson, 14 years old, a negro girl, one hundred yards from the fight, was struck by a stray bullet, piercing the body and producing a fatal injury.

Neither of the men were hit. They both escaped.

SCARCITY OF CARS

Audible complaint of car scarcity agitates range cattle circles.

Just why railroads at this juncture were not able to handle range shipments as fast as offered is something calling for explanation.

It is said that several hundred car loads of cattle gathered at Pierre and Evarts, S. D., have been held up owing to lack of transportation facilities.

This shortage has undoubtedly decreased the marketward movement of range cattle materially. Whether or not they will come later on remains to be seen.

It is believed that as long as weather continues favorable and the market preserves its present attitude, shipping will continue.

Several heavy northern Montana shipments are due at Chicago between now and the end of the month.—Chicago Live Stock World.

FIGHTING THE MEASURE

The proposed uniform bill of lading which, it is said, the American railroads will put into general use on and after January 1, 1905, has aroused shippers to action and at a meeting of the American Shippers' Association recently held in Chicago a protest was sent to the interstate commerce commission. The proposed bill provides that if the shipper does not release the carrying company from loss on account of damage or delay 20 per cent will be added to the regular tariff. Lawyers state that the signing of such a release would destroy the value of bills of lading as collateral for loans.

In the church at Suesany, Austria, Herr and Frau Debos Sr. celebrated their golden wedding; their son Mathias and his wife their silver wedding, and the father's daughter was married, all on the same day. Another grandchild of the old people, the bride's brother, read the service as priest for the first time.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

No matter the condition of your health, the Bitters is needed. If you're sick, it will make you well again, or if well, will keep you so. There's nothing like it for fortifying the system against Chills, Colds, Malaria, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Liver Troubles, Costiveness or General Debility. Be sure to try a bottle.

LASCA.

(By F. Desprez.)

I want free life and I want fresh air;
And I sigh for the canter after the Cattle,
The crack of the whip like shots in Battle,
The mellay of horns, and hoofs, and Heads
That wars, and wrangles, and scatters, And spreads;
The green beneath and the blue above,
And dash and danger, and life and love.

And Lasca! Lasca used to ride
On a mouse grey mustang, close to my Side,
With blue serape and bright-bellied Spur;
I laughed with joy as I looked at her!
Little knew she of books and creeds;
An Ave Maria sufficed her needs;
Little she cared, save to be by my side,
To ride with me, ande ever to ride,
From San Saba's shore to Lavaca's tide.
She was as bold as the billows that Beat;
She was as wild as the breezes that Blow;
From her head to her little feet
She was swayed, in her suppleness, to And fro
By each gust of passion; a scalping Pine,
That grows on the edge of a Kansas Bluff,
And wars with the wind when the Weather is rough.
Is like this Lasca, this love of mine,
She would hunger that I might eat,
Would take the bitter and leave me The sweet;
But once, when I made her jealous for Fun,
At something I'd whispered, or looked, Or done,
One Sunday, in San Antonio,
To a glorious girl on the Alamo,
She drew from her garter a dear little Dagger,
And—sting of a wasp!—it made me Stagger!
An inch to the left or an inch to the Right,
And I shouldn't be meandering here Tonight;
But she sobbed, and, sobbing, so Swiftly bound
Her torn reboso about the wound,
That I quite forgave her. Scratches Don't count
In Texas, down by the Rio Grande.

Her eye was brown—a deep, deep Brown;
Her hair was darker than her eye;
And something in her smile and frown,
Curled crimson lips and instep high,
Showed that there ran in each blue Vein,
Mixed with the milder Aztec strain,
The vigorous vintage of old Spain.

The air was heavy, the night was hot,
I sat by her side, forgot—forgot;
Forgot the herd that was taking their Rest;
Forgot the air that was close oppress;
That the Texas norther comes sudden And soon,
In the dead of night or the blaze of Noon;
That once left the herd at its breath Take fright,
That nothing on earth can stop its Flight:
And woe to the rider, and woe to the Steed,
Who falls in front of their made stampede.

Was that thunder? No by the Lord!
I spring to my saddle without a word.
One foot on mine, and she clung behind.
Away! on a hot chase down the wind!
But never was a fox-hunt half so hard,
And never was steed so little spared.
For we rode for our lives. You shall Hear how we fared.
In Texas down by the Rio Grande.

The mustang flew, and we urged him On;
There was one chance left, and you Have but one—
Hale, jump to the ground, and shoot Your horse,
Crouch under his carcass, and take Your chance,
And if the steers in their frantic course,
Don't batter you both to pieces at once
You may thank your star; if not, good-bye
To the quickening kiss and the long-Drawn sigh,
And the open air, and the open sky,
In Texas down by the Rio Grande.

The cattle gained on us just as I felt
For my old six-shooter, behind in my Belt,
And down came the mustang, and down Came we,
Clinging together, and—what was the Rest!
A body that spread itself on my breast,
Two arms that shielded my dizzy head,
Two lips that hard on my lips were Pressed;
The came thunder in my ears
As over us surged the sea of steers,
Blows that beat blood into my eyes,
And when I could rise
Lasca was dead.

I gouged out a grave a few feet deep,
And there in Earth's arms I laid her To sleep;
And there she is lying and no one Knows,
And the summer shines and the winter Snows;
For many a day the flowers have Spread
A pall of petals over her head;
And the little gray hawk hangs aloft In the air,
And the sly coyote trots here and there,
And the black snake glides, and glitters, and slides
Into the rift in a cotton-wood tree;
And the buzzard sails on,
And comes and is gone.
Stately and still, like a ship at sea;
And I wonder why I do not care
For the things that are like the things That were.
Does half my heart lie buried there
In Texas, down by the Rio Grande?

IN NOLAN COUNTY

Sweetwater Reporter.

John Crowley, a Fisher county cattleman, was here this week and says he is in the market for a few hundred steer yearlings. He is paying from $9 to $11 per head.

A. L. Brownfield shipped one car of fat cows and M. F. Bardwell one car of calves to Fort Worth Tuesday.

Halsell Arledge Cattle Company in the southern part of the county shipped 400 2-year-old steers from here this week to the feed pens at Bonham, Texas.

J. A. Kennedy from north of town shipped a car of cattle to Fort Worth Thursday night.

Elmer Long, son of F. M. Long, was in from the ranch yesterday. He says everything is moving along very nicely out there and that they have just finished branding this year's calf crop, which numbered about eight hundred.

E. W. Withers of Nolan sold sixty-five head of 3, 4 and 5-year-old steers this week to Mr. Arledge of Bonham at $19 per head. They will be shipped to Bonham this week and put on feed.

MAJOR KENT'S STRATEGY

[Original.]

General Black had under his command a young major who in wartime, by holding a narrow defile with a single battalion, had saved his command. Garland Kent was consequently the idol of the army. He would have been in favor with the general had it not been that he was a suitor for Violet, the general's daughter. The general had no mind to give her to a penniless soldier, were he ever so brave. Violet was a gem among women, and her father saw an opportunity to marry her to a stripling of British nobility, young Vernon Parke, next in line of inheritance to the Earl of Brereton. Parke was a specimen of the London effeminate dissipated swell. To save him from falling any lower his family had sent him to America to mingle with a better grade of associates, and he had straightway stumbled into another pit, according to their estimate, by falling in love with a girl without family or fortune. Violet, unfortunately for her father's plans, favored Garland Kent.

The young Englishman was on the eve of a proposition when the anniversary of the battle rolled round in which Major Kent had saved the army. The officers attached to headquarters and those stationed near by were invited by the general to a banquet. He knew it would be expected of him to place Major Kent at the post of honor on his right. Parke was invited—the only civilian present—and seated on the general's left. All were gathered at a single table, so that there was a perfect chain of men whose elbows touched from the general around to himself again.

After coffee and cigars were brought on the general made an address on the features of the battle they were celebrating and instead of mentioning Kent's service took occasion to reflect on the conduct of some of his officers. Kent interrupted to defend them by making an explanation, whereupon the general showed his temper by giving him the lie.

Now, such an insult at such a time between equals would call for a challenge. But no subordinate can resent an insult coming from a superior, especially his general. Kent was in a very embarrassing position, but he proved himself equal to the occasion. Taking up his wineglass, he threw its contents in the face of the man sitting next to him, saying as he did so:

"The general's insult; pass it on."

The man receiving the insult threw his wine into the face of the man sitting next on his right, repeating Kent's words. And so the insult went down the table to the further end and was coming back when what must be the termination of the matter was remarked by those present, especially the general. The last man to pass the insult was Vernon Parke, who, if he did so, would give it to the general.

As the wine throwing came up the table opposite Kent he arose and in a voice to be heard by all said:

"General, may I ask the favor that you will change seats with me for a few moments?"

The general was in a quandary. If he declined, Parke would be placed in a position to insult him. If he assented Parke would be expected to insult Kent. Parke being a civilian, it was permissible that he should insult the general, and it was equally premissible that he should insult Kent. But it was out of the question that Parke should insult his host, with whom he had no quarrel. It was under the circumstances incumbent upon the general to change places with Kent and give him an opportunity to gain satisfaction for the insult he could not receive from his commander.

As the words, "The general's insult; pass it on," came nearer the general sat a picture of discomfiture. If he retained his place without a reason that would be acceptable to his officers, who were all in sympathy with Kent, he would be their general no longer except by virtue of his rank, for they would all condemn him. If he gave up his seat he would put his guest in a position to take his quarrel off his hands, and the effeminate nobleman was but a poor match for the fighting major.

The insult was within three men of Vernon Parke. The general turned from white to red or from red to white as it came a file nearer. There was a way out of the matter, but a way not to the general's liking. Nevertheless he had been driven to it by the wit of his subordinate, and there was no escape for him. When the man sitting next to Parke was receiving the insult the general rose and, turning to Kent, said:

"Major, please accept my apology."

There was a burst of applause that made the room ring, and the general knew that he had saved himself from being the most unpopular man in the army and had made friends of those who would otherwise have been his enemies.

The occurrence was not long in reaching Violet Black's ears. The temptation to accept a prospective coronet had been great, but she had not made up her mind to give up love for it. Her lover's adroitness in turning a disagreeable position into a triumph was the feather in the scale that caused love to outweigh ambition. She declined Parke's offer and accepted Kent. The officers at the dinner had had an inkling of the situation, and when Kent's engagement was announced they considered it a triumph at which they had assisted. They gave the major a farewell supper, at which the general presided, and he knew that his daughter's loss of a coronet had retained for him the affection of his officers.

MARY JOHNSTON WOOD.

Makes hair light and fluffy. Stops itching instantly.

Herpicide Will Save It. Herpicide Will Save It. Too Late For Herpicide.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The Original Remedy that "kills the Dandruff Germ"

DON'T BLAME YOUR MIRROR

Many ladies compel their mirrors to bear silent witness to needless hair destruction. Day after day they see beauty and attractiveness despoiled by the removal of great combfuls of slightly diseased hair that could be saved. If your mirror could talk it would plead with you to "save your hair—not the combings." It can be done with Newbro's Herpicide, which kills the microbe that causes dull, brittle and lusterless hair, also dandruff and falling hair. Destroy the germ and the hair's natural luster and abundance will return. Marvelous results. An exquisite hair dressing.

Drug Stores, $1.00. Send 10c, Stamps, to HERPICIDE CO., Dept. H, Detroit, Mich., for a Sample.

COVEY & MARTIN, Special Agents.
Applications at Prominent Barber Shops.

READ PROVEN FACTS!

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Not what they are going to do or can do, but what they have done for suffering humanity. Statements given below prove beyond a doubt that New York Doctors do what they promise.

Mr. Will Yard, a well known railroad man of this city, says: I have have been under treatment of New York Doctors several months for catarrh and liver trouble. I am glad to say that the results are entirely satisfactory. In going for treatment from time to time I have seen their offices constantly filled and all spoke of Dr. Milam and the business.

Mr. E. T. Tibbott, Pecan street, a harness man and well known over the entire city, says: My wife was in bad health and we visited the New York Doctors some weeks since and decided to place her under treatment at once. She has made a most rapid progress and I can not say too much for Dr. Milam and the firm. I suggest that if you are in need of treatment from a specialist to visit their office. You will find them courteous and reliable.

What more would you want, sufferer, than a statement like the above?

Mr. G. W. McMillan of North Fort Worth says: I have been a sufferer a long time. I went from first one family doctor to another. One would say I had piles, another dysentery and another say something else. I was having hemorrhages from my bowels and was so emaciated that I could scarcely crawl to the office of New York Doctors. Dr. Milam, the manager, stated my condition and after carefully examining me, a thing that had never been done before, I say this with all due respect to others, but it is a fact. I think it is simply because New York Doctors have all the electric lights and other necessities and had no trouble in finding out my real condition. They told me what could be done and I am very well pleased to say that in a few days the hemorrhage was stopped and I have gradually gained. I am now at work and am improving daily. It will be but a few days before I am my real self. I am satisfied that they are the best doctors in this country, as I have tried and known many from here to Houston, and can say I never expected to get such grand results in so short a time.

Mr. McMillan is an employer at the great cattle industry and will be pleased to talk with any who may desire to interview him.

Mrs. B. M. Deahl, wife of one of the most prominent passenger conductors out of this city, says: My husband and I are indeed well pleased with results received for myself and little boy from the office of New York Doctors. Dr. Milam did all and more than was promised us. We heartily recommend every sufferer to their office, believing they will get more satisfaction than from any general doctor for the class of work these doctors do. At least this is our verdict.

Mrs. Roberts, Jackson street, says: My daughter has been a sufferer for a long time from nervousness and the allied symptoms accompanying this special condition. I will say that she has received wonderful results from New York Doctors. Dr. Milam explained the condition and has proceeded to work out the results promised. You certainly make no mistake in going to the above for advice and treatment if you are a sufferer. I have been a nurse a long time and feel that I can safely direct suffering men and women to them.

J. W. Mayfield, on Galveston avenue, says: My wife has been a sufferer a long time and has been under treatment of the New York Doctors for some weeks. She began to get better from the start and has gained many pounds in weight, beside feeling better than for years. She is still under treatment, but is gaining every day and we know that in a few weeks she will be as well as any woman. We advise all sufferers to consult and be treated by the New York Doctors. We know of many who have received as great, and in some cases greater results than we, hence the desire to get all sufferers to go to Dr. Milam, manager, for results.

Mr. C. B. Mowry of North Fort Worth says: I was suffering and had been for some time with piles and was directed to the office of New York Doctors by one of their patients and will say that I was relieved of my piles in a few moments. I went to work in a couple of days and am glad of the fact of receiving treatment from Dr. Milam, manager, who did so much for me in so short a time after suffering agonies for a long time. I certainly can recommend them to any one suffering with any condition they handle.

Mrs. D. B. Willman, wife of a prominent contractor of this city, says: I have been a sufferer a long time. I have tried doctors here and at other places and can truthfully say that Dr. Milam, manager, New York Doctors, has done all he promised. I believ him to be efficient and conservative and think am capable from long treatment to suggest that you will find them not only reliable, but responsible in every way. If they promise you something I believe from results given me that you will get it.

Mr. Lewis Parker, who was cured of consumption and whose testimony was given to the public some weeks since, continues to enjoy the very best health. Other people who have testified from time to time since Dr. Milam opened with his assistants here the business known as New York Doctors are still happy, healthy and glad that from any or whatever source they were referred to these doctors, to say to any sufferer that they are cured and commend them to suffering humanity. No higher tribute could be paid any specialist than has been given these doctors—from a medical standpoint.

As business reference we refer to the following:

Mr. A. H. Kahn, President Shreveport National bank, says: Our relation with Dr. Milam has been quite close and we have at all times found him truthful and most pleasant.

The cashier of the State National bank, El Paso, says that our relations with Dr. Milam while a resident here were satisfactory and most agreeable.

The treasurer of the Perkins & Miller Company of Louisiana, one of the largest corporations of the state, says: I have known Dr. Milam for a number of years and have found him not only an efficient and reliable doctor and specialist, but know him from long association to be a man of the very highest type of all that is commendable in a fellow man and heartily commend him to any community or city to whom he offers his services.

The El Paso Herald, the largest paper in Western Texas, says: We have found Dr. Milam reliable and our relations with him have been both satisfactory and pleasant and we know he will succeed wherever he goes.

The business manager of the Shreveport Times, the largest paper in North Louisiana says: We have known Dr. Milam personally and professionally and do not hesitate to say that any promise he may make will be honest and confiding.

We also refer to the business manager of this paper or any bank here, where we have done business for over a year now.

Hundreds of business references like the above could be given, as well as thousands of cures made from a few months to years ago, who testify to the high grade work as well as to the business and professional character of the manager of the New York Doctors.

He has at all times employed and been associated with the very best doctors that could be had to make his work a success.

The evidence that could be deducted from the above and from thousands of other reference given since they have been here proves the assertion they make, THAT THEY SATISFY YOU OR REFUND YOUR MONEY.

If you are a sufferer of any private disease of recent or ancient origin of whatever nature, you do not know, men or women. If you have some chronic trouble that is sapping your very life away, or is threatening to do it for you, you do not need to be told that you are a sufferer, but the old saying that a stitch in time saves nine, yea, it saves a thousand times nine, in some and in most physical conditions.

It is useless to enumerate the various conditions handled by these doctors. You know if you suffer little or much, and also know if you would care again to be a well man or woman and prevent an early death by having yourself cured.

If you are in earnest, present yourself at their office and without a word they will tell you your condition.

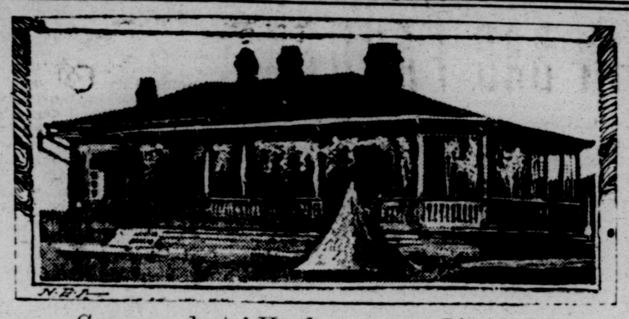

If they are able to do this they ought to be able to be of much service to you—to cure you.

Consultation free to all. Remember, they make no calls and do only chronic and private diseases.

Office at 613 Main street.

New York Doctors,
613 Main Street

Read Telegram Want Ads

Correspondents' Headquarters at Liao Yang

In The Churches

Everything is ready for the meeting which is to be held at the Young Men's Christian Association hall in Dallas at 10 a. m. tomorrow to consider the divorce question. This is not to be a meeting of ministers only, as some have supposed. There will also be present lawyers, jurists, physicians, legislators and business men. The following named gentlemen have consented to deliver ten minute addresses: Hon. S. P. Skinner, W. F. West, M. D., Dr. James M. Hay, Catholic; Dr. George Edward Walk, Episcopal; Dr. C. I. Scofield, Congregationalist; Dr. William H. Greenburg, Hebrew; Dr. J. D. Reavis, Presbyterian; Dr. M. M. Davis, Christian, and Chalmers McPherson. A full and free discussion will follow. All who can be at the place of meeting by 10 a. m. are requested to do so for an informal conference. Every one who feels an interest in the movement is invited to be present and participate.

CHALMERS McPHERSON.

The pastor, Rev. R. E. Chandler, will occupy his pulpit at the Cannon Avenue Cumberland Presbyterian church, corner Cannon avenue and Hemphill streets, both morning and evening.

The Christian Tabernacle, corner Fifth and Throckmorton streets—Rev. I. G. Inman, pastor. Preaching 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Subjects, "What Shall I Render Unto the Lord," "Withholding the Book of Heaven." Sunday school at 9:30 o'clock. Christian Endeavor at 7:30 p. m. A union Thanksgiving service will be held at the Tabernacle at 10:30 a. m. Thursday. Rev. William Caldwell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will preach the sermon.

Broadway Presbyterian church, corner Broadway and St. Louis avenues—Rev. Junius B. French, D. D., pastor. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Sermon by Dr. Harsha at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. At 6:15 p. m. there will be a union Christian Endeavor meeting, addressed by Dr. Harsha, the evangelist. Services continue throughout the week at 3:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. On Thanksgiving day the different ministers on the Sounth Side will take part in the services at 10:30 a. m. at this church. Public cordially invited to all services.

First Presbyterian church, Fourth and Calhoun streets—Dr. William Caldwell will preach at 11 o'clock on "God's Care and God's Discipline; a Word for Those Ready to Perish." The subject in the evening at 7:30 o'clock will be "The Basis of Our Message; Why We Have Good News to You." The music will be a little special. Mr. Pease will sing "The Holy City," by request, at the evening service. The Young People's Society meets at 6:30 p. m. Welcome to all.

Taylor Street Cumberland Presbyterian church, corner Fifth and Taylor streets—Morning service at 11 a. m. Sermon by pastor. Subject, "Paul's Prayer for the Phillipians." Vocal solo by Mrs. J. C. Foster. Evening service at 7:30 p. m. Sermon by pastor. Subject, "The Sinner and the Law." Vocal solo by Miss Downing. Rev. J. W. Caldwell, pastor.

At the First Christian church, corner Sixth and Throckmorton street, there will be the usual services today, with sermon by the pastor, R. R. Hamlin, at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Those interested in the liberal and practical discussion of spiritual thought are cordially invited to meet at the temple on Taylor street, near Seventh, at 7:30 this evening.

Trinity church, Hemphill street and Pennsylvania avenue—Rector, Robert Hammond Cotton, M. A., B. Sc. (London). (Take the Hemphill street car). At the 11 o'clock morning service the rector will deliver the third of his sermons on "Christ." Immediately after the 7:30 evening prayer the "Free Talk on Religion" will be given by Comrade B. B. Paddock, secretary of the Board of Trade. The congregation are requested to be in their seats five minutes before the commencement of service.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, corner St. Louis and Terrell avenues—Services Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and at 8 o'clock in the evening. Subject, "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, or Mesmerism and Hypnotism." Sunday school following the morning service. Wednesday evening meeting at 8 o'clock.

COLORED CHURCH

Sunday services at Allen chapel, A. M. E. church, corner First and Elm streets, Rev. D. S. Moten, B. D., pastor. Sunday prayer band 6 a. m. Sunday school 9:30 a. m. Preaching 11 a. m. Theme, "Our Emmanuel." General class meeting 3 p. m. Allen Christian Endeavor 4 p. m. Preaching, 7:30 p. m. Theme, "Our Ebenezer." Thanksgiving services 10 and 11 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. Welcome to all.

PUTTING IT STRONG

But Doesn't It Look Reasonable?

This may read as though we were putting it a little strong, because it is generally thought by the majority of people that Dyspepsia in its chornic form is incurable or practically so. But we have long since shown that Dyspepsia is curable, nor is it such a difficult matter as at first appears.

The trouble with Dyspeptics is that they are continually dieting, starving themselves, or going to opposite extreme, or else deluging the already overburdened stomach with "bitters," "after-dinner pills," etc., which invariably increase the difficulty even if in some cases they do give a slight, temporary relief. Such treatment of the stomach simply makes matters worse. What the stomach wants is a rest. Now, how can the stomach become rested, recuperated and at the same time the body nourished and sustained.

This is a great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. This is a comparatively new remedy, but its success and popularity leaves no doubt as to its merit.

The Tablets will digest the food anyway, regardless of condition of stomach.

The sufferer from Dyspepsia, according to directions, is to eat an abundance of good, wholesome food and use the tablets before and after each meal, and the result will be that the food will be digested no matter how bad your Dyspepsia may be, because, as before stated, the tablets will digest the food even if the stomach is wholly inactive. To illustrate our meaning plainly, if you take 1,800 grains of meat, eggs or ordinary food and place it in a temperature of 98 degrees, and put with it one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets it will digest the meat or eggs almost as perfectly as if the meat was enclosed within the stomach.

The stomach may be ever so weak, yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished, and at the same time a radical, lasting cure of Dyspepsia will be made because the much-abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much needed rest. Your druggist will tell you that of all the many remedies advertised to cure Dyspepsia none of them have given so complete and general satisfaction as Stuart's Dyepepsia Tablets, and not least in importance in these hard times is the fact that they are also the cheapest and give the most good for the least money.

RAILROAD NEWS

Passenger representatives of lines in the southwest are considering a proposition for the organization of a new southwestern passenger association to succeed the present Southwestern Excursion bureau, which will shortly terminate by outliving the agreement giving it birth.

The present arrangement, it is rumored, is too loose to suit the ideas of the prime movers for the new association and it is believed the new association will become operative on or about Jan. 1, 1905.

As at present outlined the headquarters of the proposed new association will be located in St. Louis, but it is thought many of the meetings will be so arranged as to take place in Texas. In the present incipient state it is impossible to forecast who will assume the chairmanship of the new association, but there is a strong undercurrent pointing to the selection of J. E. Hannegan, the present chairman of the Southwestern Excursion bureau.

Mr. Hannegan is looked upon by his contemporaries as one of the most able men in the handling of such matters as must come before him in such an association and the general verdict of the local passenger men is that no one else who has held the position has given such universal satisfaction to the various interests involved as has he during his administration of the Southwestern Excursion bureau.

Further particulars regarding the new association are expected to develop within a few weeks.

THAT GRAIN RATE

It was stated at Rock Island headquarters yesterday that an official order had been issued stating that the flour and grain rate causing the sensational action of the railroad commission was an erroneous one.

This action confirmed the statement in The Telegram of Friday containing the first explanation of the Rock Island side of the case and showing the trouble to be due entirely to mistake. It is expected that steps will be begun at once to secure an official change of the rate upon the sheets.

HOTELS AND SCALPING

A movement, it is learned, is upon foot to secure the co-operation of individual hotel men and hotelkeepers' associations in the movement to secure stringent anti-scalping laws at the coming session of the legislature.

The interest of the hotels in the matter lies in the representation to them that stopover tickets, excursion rates, etc., are discouraged to a great extent by the scalping of such tickets and that with this element withdrawn much more leniency would exist in the granting of privileges, proving of direct benefit to the hotel men.

Although the argument possesses much force in this state and will undoubtedly bring about the support of many of the hotel men, it is not of so great consequence here as is the case in a number of states which may be classed as resort commonwealths. For instance, in Colorado, where resort hotels flourish as perhaps in no other section of the country, excepting the seaside, the argument has been used to such good effect that the hotel men are lined up solidly as opposed to the ticket broking business.

A meeting of the Rock Mountain Hotel Men's association was called during the past week to consider the matter and scathing resolutions endorsed declaring the ticket broking an injury to the state by prohibiting rates otherwise obtainable.

TEXAS PRODUCTS

Colonel Tom West, attorney for the Frisco, yesterday received additional assurance that anything that can be raised anywhere can be raised in Texas.

From Corpus Christi he received a box of tropical fruit, Texas grown and combining all of the richest equatorial dainties. In the collection were lemons of monstrous size, grape fruit, bananas and a number of still green dates upon the branch. All had been raised in the vicinity of Corpus Christi and were distinctly Texas products.

EXCURSIONS CONTINUED

General Passenger Agent Glisson of the Denver road stated yesterday that at a recent meeting of the southwestern lines at St. Louis it was decided to continue the usual rate of one fare plus $2 for homeseekers' excursions from Mississippi and Missouri river gateways to points in Indian Territory, Oklahoma and Texas.

The rates will be continued through January, February and March of 1905, tickets being on sale first and third Tuesdays, as at present.

Linens
For Thanksgiving Day

Select your linens for Thanksgiving and select them now from the largest, best selected stock in the entire Southwest. A purchase at Sanger's means direct from the market to consumers. No jobbers' profits here. Monday we offer Table Damask to suit every purse. We only hint here at a few of our special numbers.

70-inch bleached Linen Damask, 60c is the regular value, for this week on sale at 45c
70-inch bleached all linen Damask, 75c is the regular price, this sale for only 59c
68-inch all linen Damask, bleached, our 85c quality, at 69c
72-inch bleached or cream all linen Damask, $1.00 leaders, at 85c
72-inch fine double Damask, $1.25 goods, bleached or cream.....$1.00

Great Clean-Up Sale of Napkins

BROKEN LINES TO CLOSE.

5-8 bleached or cream Dice Napkins, regular 90c goods, to close.....65c
5-8 bleached Napkins, our regular $1.35 goods, to close.....95c
22-inch Mercerized Napkins, four beautiful designs, regular $1.50, goods, on special sale this week, per dozen.....$1 15
50 dozen 3-4 all linen Napkins to match our special 69c Damask, regular $2.00 goods, on sale, per dozen.....$1 39
3-4 bleached all linen Napkins, our $1.75 regular value, on sale.....$1 35
3-4 bleached light fine Napkins, regular $3.00 value, per dozen.....$2 50

Pattern Cloths and Hemstitched Sets

Every item in stock absolutely new. Not a single cloth or set carried over from last season. Such goods as William Liddell's Gold Medal Linens, M. Crum Watson and Mercer Irish Linens, Erskin & Beveridge Scotch Linens, Re Einne's Austrian Linens and three German Linen manufacturers find representation. Our stock has been carefully selected. The best has been culled from each line, and we claim the finest assortment south of St. Louis.

8x10 pattern cloths, start at $4.00, $4.50 to $5.00.
8x12 Pattern Cloths, start at $4.50, $5.00 to $9.00.
8x14 Pattern Cloths, start at $7.00, $7.50 to $8.50.
10x10 Pattern Cloths, start at $5.00, $6.50 to $12.50.
10x12 Pattern Cloths, start at $6.00, $7.50 to $15.00.
10x16 Pattern Cloths, start at $4.00, $13.00, $21.50 to $30.00.
10x20 Pattern Cloths, start at $16.50.

Napkins to match all above Cloths. We can give you almost any goods in round or square designs.

HEMSTITCHED SETS—All sizes, one dozen Napkins to match Cloths, prices start at $5.00, $6.00, up to $21.50.

Embroidered Linens

We control the best line which is brought to America. We carry a full line in every size.

6x7 Embroidered Doilies at 25c, 35c and 40c.
7x4 Embroidered Doilies at 35c, 50c and 60c.
9x9 Embroidered Doilies at 40c, 60c and 75c.
12x12 Embroidered Doilies at 60c, 75c and 85c.
18x18 Embroidered Doilies at 85c, $1.25 and $1.35.
24x24 Embroidered Doilies at $1.35, $1.75 and $2.00.
18x36 Embroidered Doilies at $2.00.
18x54 Embroidered Doilies at $2.25.
18x72 Embroidered Doilies at $3.50.
13x20 Embroidered Doilies at $1.25.
20x30 Embroidered Doilies at $1.50.
36x36 Squares, at $3.00, $4.25, upward to $7.50.

EXTRA SPECIAL—18x50 Scarfs, fine linen, embroidered Fleur-de-Lis and Daisy patterns, at $1 50

Fine line of Damask and Huck Towels, Imported Hemmed Quilts, etc.

Write for our new Fall Catalogue.
Send for our new Book Catalogue.
They are both mailed free anywhere.

We Prepay Express Charges

On retail packages value $5.00 or over, to all towns in Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Indian Territory.

C. O. D. packages and heavy goods, such as Domestic, Prints, Blankets, Carpets, Shades, Toys, Poles, Oil Cloths, Matting, Trunks, Valises, Books Crockery, Glassware, Chinaware and Furniture are excluded from this offer.

Mail Section Sanger Bros. Dallas, Texas

Southern Pacific-Sunset Route

Holiday Tickets

—TO THE—

Southeast and East

On Sale Dec. 20, 21, 22 and 26, 1904,
—RETURN LIMIT, 30 DAYS—

One Fare, Plus $2, Round Trip

Round Trip Holiday Tickets to Southern Pacific points in Texas and Louisiana on Sale Dec. 23, 24, 25, 26, 31 and Jan. 1, limited to return January 4, 1905.

Try the "OPEN WINDOW ROUTE" It's the Best.

If you are going to spend Christmas at home with the folks or friends, see nearest Southern Pacific Agent for all information relative to trip, or write

T. J. ANDERSON, G. P. A. HOUSTON, TEXAS JOS. HELLEN, A. G. P. A.

The most common form of color blindness is an inability to distinguish red. Last year 34 officers and would-be officers of the British mercantile marine service failed on their color tests, 23 being blind and the remainder unable to distinguish green. The 4,600 candidates for certificates were also submitted to the form vision tests and 22 of them failed to distinguish the form of the object submitted.

15c free

We want you to try the refined, lasting perfumes made in California. Cut this ad out and present it with 10 cents and your name and address to any druggist in this city. It entitles you to 25 cents worth of any of Rieger's California Perfumes—they are true flower odors—made where the flowers grow. Offer Closes Dec 15th

Down to Our Stoare

Granulated Sugar, 17 pounds	$1 00
Arbuckle Coffee, pound	15c
New Citron, pound	30c
New Lemon Peel, pound	30c
New Orange Peel, pound	30c
New Currants.
New Raisins.
New Figs.
New Dates.
New Nuts.
Patent Flour, sack	$1 50
Corn Meal, sack	55c
New Holland Herring.
New Mackerel.
New Sauerkraut.
New Pickled Tripe.
New Pickled Pigs Feet.
New Bulk Olives.
New Sour Pickles.
New Sweet Pickles.
New Dill Pickles.
Corn, 3 cans	25c
3-pound Tomatoes, 3 cans	25c
Blackberries, 3 cans	25c
Bulk Buckwheat.
Rye Flour.
New Grits, 8 pounds	25c
New Hominy, 8 pounds	25c
New Hominy Flakes, 6 pounds	25c
Scotch Oats, 3 packages	25c
Egg-o-See, 3 packages	25c
Force, 2 packages	25c
Dr. Price's Food, 2 packages	25c
Shredded Wheat Biscuits, 2 packages	25c
Self-Raising Buckwheat	10c
Pancake Flour	10c
5-pound Pail Compound Lard	45c
10-pound pail Compound Lard	85c
5-pound pail Oak Leaf Lard	55c
10-pound pail Oak Leaf Lard	$1 05
5-pound pail Premium Lard	60c
10-pound pail Premium Lard	$1 15
Brilliant Oil, 5 gallons	60c
Eup. Oil, 5 gallons	70c
Gasoline, 5 gallons	80

H. E. SAWYER,
201 S. MAIN STREET. PHONES 8

The World's Wonder

THE GREATEST OF ALL CLAIRVOYANTS, PALMISTS AND LIFE READERS.

PROF. C. W. KELLAR

312 Jackson Street, corner Taylor Street.
(One Block West of City Hall.)

Success Awaits You!

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS AT YOUR DOOR. WILL YOU ANSWER?

WOULD YOU REALIZE YOUR AMBITIONS? WOULD YOU GAIN YOUR HEART'S NOBLEST DESIRES?

IF SO CONSULT MR. KELLAR AT ONCE. HE WILL ADVISE YOU, NO MATTER WHAT YOUR TROUBLES ARE.

ADVICE

IS GOOD ONLY WHEN IT IS GOOD ADVICE. MR. KELLAR WILL GIVE IT TO YOU. HIS ABILITY TO ADVISE YOU IS INDORSED BY SOME OF THE MOST PROMINENT BUSINESS MEN IN CHICAGO, AS WELL AS OTHER CITIES.

His business is done on business principles. He gives you a dollar's worth of honest advice for a dollar. He makes no misleading or unbusinesslike propositions. If he can not help you he will not take your money. Is this not fair?

CONSULTATION FEE REDUCED TO 50c, $1.00, $1.50 and $2.50.

LAST WEEK AT REDUCED PRICES.

DON'T MISS THIS OPPORTUNITY OF CONSULTING THIS GREAT CLAIRVOYANT. CALL ON HIM FIRST. YOU WILL SAVE TIME, MONEY AND A GREAT DISAPPOINTMENT.

IT MAKES NO DIFFERENCE WHAT YOUR PAST EXPERIENCE WITH CLAIRVOYANTS HAS BEEN, PROF. KELLAR WILL TREAT YOU HONESTLY. HE WILL TELL YOU JUST WHAT YOU WANT TO KNOW; JUST WHAT IS BEST FOR YOU TO DO AND HOW TO DO IT AT THE RIGHT TIME AND IN THE RIGHT WAY; HE WILL TELL YOU HOW TO DO THINGS BETTER THAN YOU HAVE EVER DONE THEM BEFORE; HOW TO ELIMINATE ERRORS, TO DEVELOP RESOURCES, TO RECOGNIZE NO IMPEDIMENTS, TO MASTER CIRCUMSTANCES AND HOW TO OBTAIN ABSOLUTE SUCCESS IN ANY UNDERTAKING OR MAKE NO CHARGES FOR HIS TIME. HIS REPUTATION HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED ONLY AFTER YEARS OF HARD STUDY AND ACTUAL EXPERIENCE. HIS LONG RESIDENCE IN CHICAGO, HIS EXTENSIVE PRACTICE AMONG THE BEST BUSINESS AND SOCIAL PEOPLE IN THE CITY PLACE HIM IN A CLASS BY HIMSELF, TOWERING HEAD AND SHOULDERS OVER EVERY RIVAL.

The reason Mr. Kellar has had such great success is because of the manner in which he deals with his clients. In the first place, his business methods are absolutely clean and honest; he never promises more than he is absolutely sure that he can do; he makes no misleading or unbusinesslike proposition; while he is anxious to help every one, he wants to do so upon an honest, fair and square basis, with mutual confidence and respect between himself and client. He has earnestly devoted his life to the exclusive study of his profession. He has mastered every secret pertaining to psychic phenomenon, and thoroughly developed every phase of mental mediumship. All who consult him are sure to get the best that can be had in life.

HE DRIVES DOUBT FROM YOUR MIND AND SLAYS SKEPTICISM AT FIRST GLANCE.

His wonderful clairvoyant powers are almost beyond belief. You will be astonished and mystified at the remarkable things he will tell you concerning yourself and others you are interested in. MR. KELLAR IS TODAY probably the one being of Caucasian blood who can command the occult intelligence and the first alien to be thoroughly initiated into the mysteries of the Mahatmas. HE STANDS ALONE, possessing A FORCE, A POWER, A GIFT, call it what you will, that none can explain, none can account for.

He tells every hope, fear and ambition of your life, gives full names, date of marriage, capabilities, fortunate and unfortunate periods of life. How to win the one you love. In a word, tells everything. If you intend buying or selling property, or, in fact, make any important step, don't fail to consult him. His advice will be the means of saving you serious mistakes.

PERSONAL MAGNETISM QUICKLY DEVELOPED.

Personal magnetism is the magic wand that rules the world. It triumphs over obstacles and brings success in business and social life. It opens to your vision the greatest secrets of life. It is that marvelous, subtle, unseen power that enables you to control man or woman and to banish ill luck.

IT IS THE KEY TO A HIGHER LIFE.

It sways the minds of millions and regulates the destinies of nations. All truly great men and women possess personal magnetism and use it. The rich man is rich because he utilizes this invisible force; the poor man is poor because he lacks magnetism or the knowledge of its use. The salesman, the statesman, the lover, all profit by the use of this marvelous force.

DO YOU WISH TO POSSESS THIS KEY to the vaults of happiness, friendship, wealth and fame, or will you plod along, vainly hoping that luck or chance may open the door for you? If you want to be pointed out as a successful, self-made man or woman, there is an absolutely sure and simple way, a way that never fails. Mr. Kellar tells you how.

The troubled and unfortunate should seek his counsel.

Office hours, 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Sundays, 11 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The Heart Of the Rose

By Martha McCulloch-Williams

Copyright, 1900, by Martha McCulloch-Williams

"I'VE a sort of respect for an outright heathen," Miss Peggy said, "so if I meant to be a heathen I'd be one, sure enough."

"Peggy, best beloved, what have the heathen to do with this case?" Rose, her niece, asked, dimpling all over. Rose stood before the mirror, admiring critically the set of her fine new habit of dark green cloth. She was well named. Her cheeks were the richest damask; her dimples but repeated the true curves of the flower; there was a suggestion of moss in her bright brown hair and the grace of swaying stalks in the lithe poise of her figure.

"Tell me," she persisted, turning her head so far aside she could see the set of her jacket at the back of the neck. Miss Peggy tried to look severe as she answered: "It's heathenish, the way you're actin' about this Thanksgivin' sermon. Thanksgivin' is a real religious day, if the Puritans did start it. Seems to me we all ought to get down on our knees, body and soul, and thank the good Lord for his mercies"—

"I'm sure nobody is more thankful than I am," Rose protested.

"What for?" Miss Peggy asked. "The chance to ride races to church today? I believe in my soul that's what you are up to."

"Oh, Peggotty! How can you?" Rose cried, her voice reproachful, her eyes dancing. "I shall give thanks in church because I have life and health and you and daddy to love. Then, when I come out and start home and see all the other girls staring and tossing their heads, maybe I shall give thanks, too, for having two beaus, when so many of them have not even the hope of one."

"Which of them goes with you?" Miss Peggy asked. Rose opened her eyes in pretended amazement.

"I thought you knew it was both," she said.

"And how'll they like that?" Miss Peggy demanded. Rose laughed tranquilly.

"It is not a question of their liking it or disliking it if I am pleased," she said. "The ally ought to be grateful to me. t is not every girl who would be so thoughtful of their vanity. If I had said I'd go with either and left the other out in the cold the whole congregation would have laughed. Besides, neither of them asked me to go with him. They are both such dear geese. They came sidling up and said, just like a phonograph, 'I'm going to preaching with you Thanksgiving day.' You see how impossible it was to say anything except that I'd be glad to see them and ask them to eat dinner with us."

"Trust you to fix it up," Miss Peggy said, smothering a smile. "But do remember to ask people home with you. John 'll look out for the preacher and the kinfolks generally, but you must hunt up the Elverson girls—I asked 'em last week, but they said they couldn't stay until today—and old Mrs. Hunt—poor soul—and the Jim Malones. Ask Sarah Jennings, too, if it's true what Dinah says—that she's put a white ruche in her bonnet. Whenever a widow does that"—

"She begins to be dangerous," Rose interrupted. "Peggotty, you ought to have more regard for my prospects. You know a widow is the only rival I'm afraid of. And the new minister is a single man and a delight!"

"I hope he has more sense than to look at a girl like you," Miss Peggy retorted. Rose sidled up to her, kissed her left cheek and said sweetly:

"Rosy is a naughty girl sometimes, but who spoiled her?"

"Everybody and everything from the day she was born," Miss Peggy admitted. "It's all the fault anybody can find in John Edmunds. A better man, a better brother, a better husband, a better provider, never wore shoe leather, but he has spoiled you, Rose, and I'm bound to say I've helped him a right smart."

"Was it so bad to love me and give me whatever I wanted?" Rose asked, her eyes suddenly dim. Miss Peggy looked at her with affectionate pride.

"People may say we didn't raise you right, honey," she answered. "But somehow I don't believe you'd be any better if we had."

"Listen! Somebody is coming!" Rose cried, darting to the window. The room was one of the big, square front ones upon the lower floor of the Edmunds house. You could look from its windows down the length of the lawn to the outside gate, perhaps 400 yards away. There was a graveled drive, with maples and beeches standing irregularly either side.

"Oh, see the race! Run, auntie, quick!" Rose cried. Miss Peggy ran to look over the girl's shoulder at two horsemen just inside the far gate. They had come through it together. Now, with the lawn for a course, they were riding so hard and fast it was plain something hung upon the issue.

"Billy Hope will beat," Rose said over her shoulder. Miss Peggy, with her chin in the hollow of Rose's neck, thought she felt a little heart flutter at the name. But the next minute she fancied she must have been mistaken, Rose's voice was so gleeful as she announced, "Billy has got the best horse, but Tom Esten can outride him.

The racers were less than a hundred yards away, running neck and neck, their riders laughing and waving hats at each other. Billy's horse, Captain, a slashing, long striding fellow, brown, with cinnamon muzzle and three parts thoroughbred, ran so easily his rider scarcely swayed in the saddle. He held his head high and fretted slightly under a tightish rein. Tom Esten had given black Warlock his head almost at the beginning. Warlock stood half a hand lower than Captain, was something lighter in the quarters and slighter of barrel. But he made good with tremendous shoulders and forearms, to say nothing of suppleness out of the common. He had a cross the more of blood, but was of a more equal temper. His gait was elastic—a long, stealing stride—devouring distance at a rate that mocked the eye.

Captain's rider sat erect, his bridle hand low, the other swinging lightly at the side when it was not waving the hat. Warlock's master rode another fashion, sitting well forward, half crouched, free hand on the pommel, underneath the reins. Slowly, steadily, he drew ahead. The white snipped, black nose; the clean, muscular neck; the massy breast; the deep, sloping shoulders, forged clear of the brown. But, do what horse and rider might, they could get no farther away. Captain ran stride for stride with them until they reached the goal.

It was the inner gate, white with black tips, leading over a low stile into the Edmunds yard. Rose ran out upon the porch. Before they fairly checked she was halfway down the walk, calling gayly:

"Why were you racing? I know it was not just for fun."

"Anyway, I won. You have got to ride Warlock to church today," Tom said, smiling down at her. He had flung his rein over a horseshoe nailed upside down to the gatepost and rushed to meet Rose, never stopping to close the gate. Billy Hope grinned as he followed the impetuous victor. He stopped and carefully fastened the gate, looking up at the house as he did it to catch Miss Peggy's approving eye.

"You'll ride Captain some other time if I did lose just now," he said tentatively to Rose as he took the hand she held out. She looked up at him with dancing eyes and said:

"I mean to ride him today as we come home. Then I can judge which goes best. Besides, I believe he'd beat Warlock if I asked him to do it."

"If he didn't I'd sell him tomorrow," Billy said, radiant all over at this new turn. Esten laughed easily.

"Captain has been trying to carry you off from me this year and more," he said. "But I don't mean to let him do it, not even with you yourself to help him."

"Don't you love modesty?" Rose asked, turning limpid eyes up to Billy.

His own twinkled merrily, but his face was grave as he answered:

"I hope you don't, for, you see, modesty's other name is Tom Esten."

"You all had better be startin'. It's 10 o'clock now and five miles to preachin'!" Miss Peggy called from the hall door.

Rose put up a hand to her bright bare head, patted a stray tendril in place, then said to Esten:

"Make Dan change our saddles, please, while I put on my hat. I wish I could go without it. Riding bareheaded is such fun."

"What's all this?" Mr. Edmunds asked, stepping out on the porch. He was tall and weather beaten, withal still handsome. Rose gave his cheek a dainty fillip and ran past him, crying out:

"Now, Marse John, don't you say I mustn't ride Warlock? He is as safe as a rocking chair and almost as easy."

Five minutes later the riders streamed away, with Rose on Warlock in front. Esten, mounted upon Rose's roan Barbary, rode at the girl's elbow. Billy Hope jogged contentedly beside her father, his eyes clear, his laugh fresh and untroubled. He was a clean souled, clean blooded young fellow, deeply in love with Rose, but too fair minded for jealousy. He had lost what Esten had won and lost fairly. Losing had hurt at first, but now he was able to laugh at his sweetheart's audacity. It was so like her, this promising to go with the pair of them to church. It was still more like her—the calm announcement that she would ride Captain home.

That meant, of course, the place at her side for Captain's master. No woman had ever ridden the big brown, but Billy was certain Rose could ride him without a shadow of risk. She rode indeed anything bittable, since she had almost grown up in the saddle, having her own horse and riding alone ever since she was four years old. Further, she did not know how to be afraid. Warlock found out that much before he had carried her a hundred yards.

At first, feeling a new hand on his rein, the black horse made play for his own gait. He wanted to run again. The air had just that tingling, electric softness that sets a blood beast wild. Rose had a mind to ride at a fox trot. She meant to go decorously at least as far as Miss Peggy could see. When she felt Warlock's stride stretch and quicken she reined him in gently, yet firmly, patted his neck, then softly snapped her fingers a little way back of his ear.

"Why, how did you know about that?" Esten asked, somewhat amazed. "I never told you how I'd trained him."

"I have eyes on purpose to see things," Rose said, smiling. Warlock had responded properly to the signal, but had not given up his own mind. In half a minute he was again stretching his step. Rose drew lightly on the bit. The horse shook his head, as though defying her. She gathered the reins short, held him hard and gave him two stinging cuts in the flank. As he swerved his master cried:

"Miss Rose, don't do that! He—he isn't used to it."

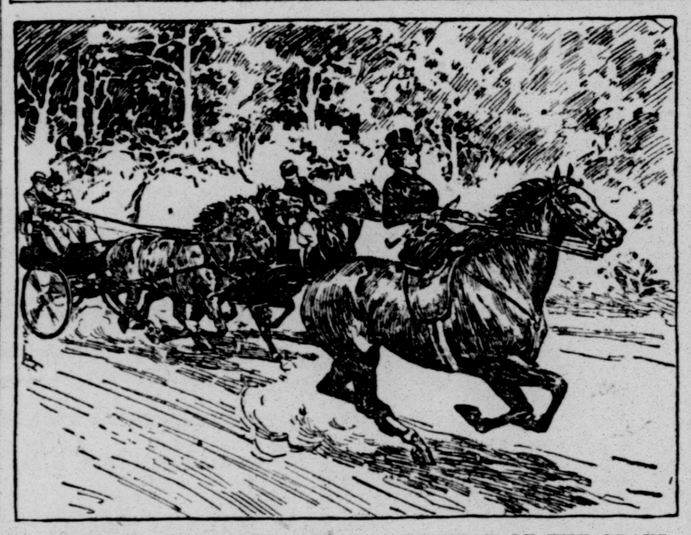

"He will not make me do it again," Rose said, smiling. "That is one beauty of blood in a horse. It makes him remember."

When they were out in the big road which wound past the gate Rose gave Warlock his head a bit. Esten smiled to see it. The black held steadily to the fox trot. Evidently he had not forgotten his lesson. Rose smiled too.

"I wish there was nobody but ourselves on the road," she said. "What a ride we might have! But it would not do at all to risk running into staid, proper people or setting their horses so wild as to make them run away."

"Why didn't we think to go out by the other road?" Esten said discontentedly. "I want you to find out just how well Warlock goes. Then maybe you'll take me to get him. I know you'll never do it unless there is something besides myself."

It was a laughing speech, but with an undertang of reality. Rose blushed faintly—that is to say, the damask roses broadened the least bit. She flicked Warlock daintily and sent him cantering after a rockaway some hundred yards ahead. The Elversons were in it, three excellent young women, with big noses all and no complexions to speak of, who, having no beaus of their own, regarded lovemaking in general as a profane and perilous diversion.

THE BLACK HORSE CHECKED AT THE HEAD OF THE GRAYS.

"Aunt Peggy says if you don't come home with me she'll be heartbroken," Rose began. "She says, too, I am to tell you she has made marble cake specially for Miss Jinny and fried pies for Miss Lucy and cheese cakes for Peggy Ann"—

"Oh, you needn't be telling us!" Jinny said sniffily. "We heard it all this morning. Dinah's sister Dilsey stopped in to see us. Wish you had heard her tell about the turkeys and the ham boiled in wine and the spiced beef and saddle of mutton and goodness knows what besides!"

"She said there was chicken salad and chicken pie and oysters and vegetables and seven sorts of pickle and 'leven kinds of cake, to say nothing of mince pie, ambrosia and wine jelly," Lucy Elverson supplemented, with a sour smile. Peggy Ann, the youngest and Miss Peggy's partial namesake, smiled a small, eager, propitiative smile and added:

"It made my mouth water hearing it all, but I had rather see Aunt Peggy than eat all the good things."

"You are going to do both. That's flat," Rose said, with pretty imperiousness. She knew the Elversons, whose penurious father made nothing of any holiday, were aching to come, but that they meant to make it appear that they were fairly driven into coming.

"Uncle Ben, drive right back to our house after church," Rose ran on to the rockaway's black driver. "Do it, no matter who says you must not. I won't tell anybody else, but Aunt Dinah has got a sucking pig roasted whole"—

She stopped with a little laugh. Uncle Ben grinned happily.

The road, which had curved up hill and down, for the most part through open woodland, now ran straight and level for a mile. Rose looked at Esten, smiled, shook her whip and pointed straight ahead.

"Whatever you please, a race or a runaway," Esten said.

Rose pretended to frown.

"I am amazed at you!" she said severely. "You ought to know I should never think of riding out of a walk. Only the minister is likely to come in down yonder, and I want to overtake him and ask him home with us to dine."

Esten's answer was a low whistle and a touch of the spurs in roan Barbary's flank. The whistle was for Warlock. Both horses sprang away like the arrow from the bow. They had come just far enough—just fast enough to make them warm and supple. On, on, they flew, quickening at each stride, their hoofs striking sparks from the scant pebbles in the highway, running so swift in the teeth of the wind it seemed to strengthen it into a hurricane. Now the black head was in front, now the roan. It was a curious duel of speed, one wherein each rider fondly hoped for the other's triumph, yet spared no effort to come in ahead.

"Well done, Warlock!" Rose cried as together they flashed across the mill road, making in at the end of the straight mile. "You can't beat the Barb; the Barb can't beat you. I must find out if Captain cannot take both of you into camp."

"Look! Yonder is the preacher," Esten said, glimpsing down the cross-road. Rose looked and laughed outright.

"He's riding right beside the Jennings buggy," she said. "And Sarah has got white in her bonnet and at her throat and wrists into the bargain. Ah, me! My cake is all dough with the preacher unless"—with a dimpling smile—"somebody else— Tom, I assure you, Sarah thinks you are a mighty fine fellow."

"Wish her opinion was catching. You go there sometimes," Esten said. The buggy and its outrider had come up to them. So had Mr. Edmunds and Billy Hope. Esten was disgusted with himself. He could not expect to have Rose all to himself again that day. He had meant to say so much in the course of their ride, and he had said nothing at all. He had been courting her openly for three years, ever since she was sixteen. So had Billy Hope. She had a dozen other casual followers, but Hope was the only one of whom Esten was seriously afraid. The pair were reasonably good friends and wonderfully equal—so equal, in fact, that in the mind of their world there was not a pin's choice between them.

They were well born, well bred, of fair fortune and good repute.

The two lovers had been patient, partly because they were so wholesomely virile they were awed by Rose's untouched freshness, partly that each was too diplomatic to force an issue that might go against him and thus leave the other a clear field. Now they had reached the limit of endurance. Without speaking each understood that the other meant to insist upon a definite understanding.

"I lay any money Billy Hope will ask her before they're a mile on the way home," Esten thought, shooting an angry glance at his own shadow on the road. "I wonder what did make me such a fool? But really she didn't give me a chance. I wonder if she'll treat Billy the same way?"

He looked across at her. She was more beautiful than he had ever seen her. Her hat had blown a little back and let rings of bright hair frame all her face. Long fringed white lids veiled her eyes; a sweet, half tricksy smile made dimples play at hide and seek about her mouth. Under cover of Mrs. Jennings' high pitched chatter and the minister's round bass he leaned across and said in Rose's ear:

"I want to give you Warlock and all that belongs to him. Will you take him?"

A startled breath told him Rose understood. But she turned to him eyes of limpid wonder as she said:

"I shall have to think about it. Maybe this is a sort of Christmas gift. You may want the Barb in exchange."

Before he could protest she was galloping forward, heedless of Mrs. Jennings, who somehow felt that the gait was an insult to the minister. The church was in sight—square, steepleless, of weathered red brick, standing unfenced in a grove of forest trees. Already the grove was blotched and splotched with tethered horses and vehicles of every sort. The Jim Malones were just driving up. As Esten lifted Rose from saddle she said in his ear:

"Put me down quick and go help Jimmy."

"He doesn't deserve help, risking a wife and young baby behind those gray devils!" Esten protested. Nevertheless he strode to the heads of the span, caught the bits and held them, while Jim Malone tucked the baby under one arm, then held out a helping hand to his wife.

She was a small, conceited woman, baby faced and always simpering. The simper strengthened as she stepped across to Rose, holding the baby so all its splendid long skirts would show.

"Don't you feel bad over Tom's leaving you this way?" she said. "Poor fellow! He can't see me even now without wanting to wait on me."

"Indeed?" Rose said, with an accent of innocent inquiry. Mrs. Malone tried to look bashful.

"Let's go in. I want to get a seat up in the amen corner," she said. "Don't you be jealous, Rosy. Leave that to Jim Malone. You hadn't rightly set out when Tom Esten used to be so crazy over me."

"Why didn't you take him? He's better looking than Jim and richer," Rose said, with unflattering candor.

She knew, as did all the countryside, how desperately Flora Malone, then Flora Campbell, had flung herself at Esten's head and was full of amused contempt over the woman's present attitude.

"Well, you see, Jim was the craziest and the wildest, too, and I didn't know what he mightn't do if I took Tom. Then, you know, it does hurt a girl so being mixed up in shooting scrapes," Mrs. Malone returned.

Rose entered heart and soul into the service. It was brief and simple, for the most part singing and prayer. Everybody sang, and if the chording was imperfect the underlying spirit of gladness made up in vibrant harmony all of melody that was lacking. Somehow tears came to Rose's eyes as she chanted the "Doxology." Perhaps their ultimate root was the little Malone baby innocently asleep in spite of its mother and its finery.

She glanced across the aisle at her father. Family sittings were unknown in the church. He was singing with shut eyes. Either side of him stood her two lovers, looking decorously down. They were too well bred to stare at her in public. For the first time she realized what she meant to them and how deeply it behooved her to deal with them fairly. So far she had played with them, not in malice, but with a child's light coquetry. She had a frank affection for both, but, if she knew her own heart, no real love for either. And they were men who deserved to be loved.

Could she send them both away? She tried to think of life without them. It would be dull and savorless. She got no further. All about were the stir and rustle of a breathing crowd. It swept her out into the sunshine and on to her father's side.

"Thank goodness, I've asked everybody, and everybody said yes. Now Peggotty can't scold and say I was careless," Rose said as she settled herself comfortably on Captain's back.

She was surprised to see Billy Hope riding Warlock.

"Tom Esten wouldn't give up the Barb," he said in answer to the inquiry of her eyes. "I think it's lucky we're so near the last to start. Captain's in a humor to need a heap of room."

"I don't blame him. You've been keeping behind everything all day," Rose said, patting the lean brown neck. Captain laid his ears flat against it and champed his bit. Rose looked across at Billy. "We had better go home by the hill road," she said. "This fine gentleman is ready to run over anything he may see ahead."

"You're right. I wish you understood men as well as you do horses," Billy said, with a huge sigh.

"Why, I think they are very much alike," Rose protested. "You can do most anything you please with them if you give them apples and sugar and petting—and make them know they must mind." Billy laughed easily.

"I'll mind you without making—if only you'll give me the chance," he said. Rose shook her head.

"Then you are utterly spiritless," she said, "and I like spirit beyond everything."

"Rose, I'm not a coward except in one thing. I have been so afraid you'd say no I haven't given you the chance to say yes. But you shall have it now," Billy said, his face whitening as he spoke. "Don't answer offhand, darling, but will you have me and all I possess?"

Rose looked straight ahead, swallowing hard. They had turned into the hill road, which ran through woodland, high lying woodland upon top of the bluffs bordering the mill stream. New fallen leaves blew down it in long drifts or waltzed airily in the grasp of elfin whirlwinds. There was almost no undergrowth. The branches locked overhead into a fretted roof, flecked here and there with russet or red or yellow. The cushioning leaves made progress almost soundless. Rose smiled to think she was riding through a world of faery. She had no wish to speak, hardly even to think. It was enough to be alive there, with the sunshine, the woodland scents and the subtle delight of knowing herself so loved.

Unconsciously she slacked rein. At almost the same instant twenty bird guns volleyed a little to the right. It was so warm the quail had left the stubble for woodland feeding grounds. The hunters of course had followed them and had fired, not knowing riders were at hand.

Half a breath, Captain stood almost upright; then a long sidewise plunge took him to earth and sent him leaping as though hurled from a catapult down the road. Rose held her seat marvelously, hardly shaking in the saddle, though he reared a second time. He had taken the bit in his teeth. She was powerless to check him. All she hoped for was to guide him and save herself from death against a tree trunk. She did not look back. Warlock, she knew, was ten yards behind. Billy Hope would do his best, but he could never bring the black horse beside the brown. She could look only to herself. Her father and Esten were too far off for help.

She leaned slightly forward, saying, "Steady, old lad; steady!" at the same time giving the horse his head by an inch. He answered by snorting angrily, batting his ears viciously, setting his teeth harder on the bit and stretching into a dead run. His eyes were red and rolling; foam white lather lines marked both counter and quarter. Once or twice he gave a sidelong spring as though trying to shake off his rider. She answered the second leap with a slashing cut in the flank. As Captain ran away from it she said through her teeth:

"You are running to please yourself, my fine fellow. When it comes to stopping you will have to please me."

For all the leaf muffle she knew that the hoofs behind came nearer. She even fancied she caught through the rush of her own wild progress the swish of catgut furiously plied. She was so glad to be upon this road, almost untraversed. Suppose she were in the big road, with people scurrying out on each side, screaming and shouting. Suppose she came upon the Malones, with the grays on edge and ready to bolt at the wink of an eyelash. The thought had hardly formed when she gave a low cry. The road turned sharply. Fifty yards ahead she saw Jim Malone driving the grays at a slapping pace, but under a slack rein.

"Rose, take your foot from the stirrup!" Billy Hope shouted at her back.

Warlock, running as he had never run before, eyes glaring emulously, nostrils wide, mighty muscles tense with the ardor of the race, was lapped upon Captain, head to flank. In three strides more he would be even. Intuitively Rose understood Billy's plan. He meant to snatch her from her perilous seat and let the brown go on riderless. She could not let him do it. The grays would run as surely as they heard anything come behind. Jim could never hold them, even if he were alone. And he would have to look out for his foolish wife and the little innocent baby.

"Somebody must help him." She pointed toward them with her whip and cried: "Billy, the baby! Save it if you love me!"

"We'll do it or die!" Billy called back to her. He had caught her impulse and loved her more than ever that she was so unselfishly brave. Then he shouted loudly: "Drive up, Jim! Drive like the devil and hold hard!"

The grays, Jim's pride, were the fastest team in the county. He gathered the reins strongly, leaned forward and lathered their satin sides. Astounded, they sprang away, their swift, even trot breaking to a plunging run. Jim did not look back. There was that in the note of Billy Hope's voice which enforced instant obedience. His wife began to scream, clutching wildly at the reins. In her frenzy she let the baby drop from her lap to the floor. Jim caught it between his feet and held it safe. Both hands had the reins in wraps. Even at that it was all he could do to keep the horses in the road. They tore along at a whirlwind gait, never slacking for hill or hollow. Jim turned an ashen face to his wife and said: "Flora, we deserve to die for being fools enough to drive these horses—but do remember baby. Let me save it if I can."

Madly as the grays went something behind was faster. He heard it coming. In a little while he knew whatever pursued must pass him. With all his strength he tugged at the reins and sent the grays a little aside. The road, narrow enough everywhere, was narrowest of all just ahead. It ran for thirty yards along a bench in the bluff side, only wide enough for a single vehicle. At one hand the ground rose in a wooded ramp; at the other there was a sharp declivity, with the mill stream at the bottom.

"If they come up with us there"—

Jim shut his eyes with a groan that was half prayer, half curse. Again he lashed his horses. If he could keep in front until the bench was passed there might be a chance of safety.

The bench was bare of leaves. Halfway across he heard thudding hoofs behind. As the grays came to the farther side a brown horse shot by up on one side, a black upon the other. The brown ran on with long, stretching strides. The black checked at the head of the grays enough to let his rider seize and hold the bits. As they were drawn to a standstill Billy Hope shouted:

"Get out and take the baby, Mrs. Malone. I have got to go ahead."

Mrs. Malone obeyed. As she touched earth Tom Esten came thundering by. The Barb was not so quick to get into full run, but as good as the best once he was in his stride. He left Warlock behind with ease when Billy rode on. Thus it happened that he came up first with Captain—Captain, quiet as a lamb and pacing soberly forward. But Captain's master was near enough to hear Tom say:

"Well, Captain did try to carry you off from me—but you see he can't do it."

"No. But I think his master can," Rose said, dropping her eyes.

She had the heart of her name flower. All in a minute it had opened to the sun of love. Tom turned away his head. Then as he saw Billy he reined aside and motioned him to take the coveted place at Rose's elbow. Billy held out his hand as he passed. Tom wrung it hard, then galloped ahead, calling over his shoulder:

"I'll open every gate for you on the way home."

* * * * * * *

Miss Peggy will never forget the shock it gave her to see her brother come riding home with the Malone baby in his arms and Mrs. Malone up behind. Rose, who should have prepared her for it, loitered unaccountably in the orchard. Of course the double runaway gave all the good company a thrill, but it was very far from taking their appetites. Tom Esten was the life of everything—so jolly all the visitors set it down he must be an accepted lover. But at dusk, when everybody had gone away, Mr. Edmunds, who had seemed out of spirits since Billy Hope had spoken with him apart, said to his daughter, stroking her soft hair:

"You have not made a mistake, Rosy. Billy will do to tie to. But I can't help but be sorry for Tom. He's a thoroughbred clean through."

Colds

How often you hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be disregarded.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

has gained its great popularity and extensive sale by its prompt cures of this most common ailment. It always cures and is pleasant to take. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia.

Price 25c, Large Size 50c.

LABOR NOTES

MEETINGS THIS WEEK

Today—Coopers' union, Teamdrivers' union.

Monday—Barbers' union.

Tuesday—Painters' union, North Side Laborers' union.

Wednesday—Carpenters' union, Electrical Workers' union, Laborers union No. 8012, Label League.

Thursday—Trades Assembly.

Saturday—Brewery Workers' union.

BALE TO THE ACRE

R. C. Forbes, a well-known cattleman and farmer of the Panhandle section and a member of the Farmers' union, was in the city yesterday and reports conditions in Dickens county, his home, as unusually good. Cattle, he declares to be in good condition, with plenty of grass to last through the winter months.

Cotton, too, he declares to be of the best class, in many places running from three-quarters to a full bale to the acre.

TEXAS GOOD ENOUGH

In a letter received from C. W. Woodman who is representing the Texas State Federation of Labor at the San Francisco meeting, he declares that Texas is good enough for him and says further that with the expenditure of the same amount of efforts and money in this state it could be made to equal the famed floral beauty and fruit producing record of the Pacific coast state.

The letter was mailed upon the first day of the convention and contains no information regarding the organization of the Texas lumber workers as urged by him before the body.

FORT WORTH SINGER

The November issue of the Locomotive Firemen's Magazine contains two comments upon the work of a local singer of note, Miss Bessie Craig, whose singing in this city recently endeared her to the hearts of the local members of the brotherhood.

Speaking of a lecture given at Parsons, Kan., by Third Vice Grandmaster Maier, it refers to the musical features, saying: Miss Bessie Craig, a noted singer of the Lone Star state, sang the following illustrated songs, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. George Ratliff: "The Holy City," "Come Back to Erin" and "The Star and the Flower."

Vice Grandmaster Maier in his report of the proceedings says: Miss Bessie Craig, the talented singer of Fort Worth, Texas, was in attendance and sang the illustrated songs. Her singing of the "Holy City" was something grand to hear, as well as "Come Back to Erin" and "The Star and the Flower." Miss Craig while in Parsons sang on Sunday at 10 o'clock in the cathedral, her selection being "Ave Maria," and at 8 p. m. of the same day she sang at the Christian church, her songs at that place being "Jerusalem" and "The Song I Heard Sunday Morning." Miss Craig deserves much credit for her splendid work.

$1.00 purchases a $3.00 PEN

THE CELTRIC

Model 2

Fountain Pen

is constructed strictly on merit, and is equal if not superior to any $3.00 pen on the market to-day. It is richly chased, writes fluently and is guaranteed not to leak.

$1.00

is a small sum to invest in a high grade Fountain Pen which with ordinary care will last a lifetime.

OUR GUARANTEE:

The Pen is guaranteed finest grade 14K. Holder is made of the best quality rubber in four parts.

SENT PREPAID

upon receipt of $1.00 to any address in the United States and Canada. If upon examination you are not entirely satisfied or you do not think the pen is worth $3.00, return it to us and we will cheerfully refund the money.

ORDER TO-DAY and name the paper you saw this advertisement in.

THE SELDEN PEN MFG. CO.

140 Nassau St.

NEW YORK.

The Chance of a Lifetime—Big Auction Sale of LOTS ON ROSEN HEIGHTS

TUESDAY, NOV. 22, 1904, 9:30 A. M.

An opportunity to buy a beautiful lot at your own price. TERMS, $5.00 down, balance $1.00 per week, without interest, and no taxes for 1904 and 1905. WHO WANTS TO OWN A HOME? We furnish the lumber to build a home—to anyone who buys a lot—and they pay for it just like paying rent.

$12.50 PER MONTH FOR A THREE-ROOM HOUSE. $15.00 PER MONTH FOR A FOUR-ROOM HOUSE. $20.00 PER MONTH FOR A FIVE-ROOM HOUSE.
Not one cent goes for rent. Every one of the monthly payments go to pay on your home.

FREE—ONE LOT GIVEN AWAY—FREE

Each grown person attending this sale has an equal chance on the FREE lot, no matter whether bidder, buyer or mere spectator. YOU MAKE YOUR PRICE to secure a lot, and if desired, to own a home on Rosen Heights (with our assistance), you will enjoy every convenience one could want living in a city, only at a much smaller expense.

Electric street car, light and fan service, water works with plenty of pure artesian water, good schools, free mail delivery and telephone services are all through Rosen Heights. Every one is familiar with the rapid growth of Rosen Heights, and the indications are that it will continue to grow in the future even more rapidly than in the past, and the lot you buy at this sale WILL DOUBLE IN VALUE BEFORE YOU HAVE HALF PAID FOR IT.

HOW TO GO—Take the Rosen Heights cars at the foot of the bridge back of the courthouse. The fare will be refunded to every grown person to and from the place of the sale. Free carriages will leave the business district of the city promptly at 9 a. m. to convey those wishing to attend this great sale to the Rosen Heights cars. DON'T FORGET THE DAY AND DATE, TUESDAY, NOV. 22, 1904, 9:30 A. M.

ROSEN HEIGHTS LAND COMPANY

THE MARKETS

NORTH FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—The supply for the day was the usual Saturday run, around 2,000 head, compared with 1,951 Saturday of last week, 738 last month and 1,967 the corresponding day in 1903.

The steer supply was of unusually good quality, the best end of it being made up of six loads of well bred stuff from Sweetwater, which were not sold, but shipped out. Feeder steers were not numerous, and aside from the good end of the beef supply, the quality was poor.

Trading was slack at the start, but improved after a while, and a good clearance was effected at steady prices. Top price was $2.50, on beef steers, the bulk selling between $2.50 and $2. Steers are quoted as steady for the week.

Cows came in in diminished numbers, and the quality was poor. Packers took the usual number, and prices ruled steady for the week on good cows, with a decline of 10c on the inferior sorts.

The supply of bulls was small and prices ruled 10c short for the week.

The supply of calves was about the average for a Saturday. The prevailing low prices on heavy veals have checked the run. Medium weight fat vealers are strong for the week, with a weak market on all heavy calves, which nobody seems to want.

The hog market, with around 450 head in the pens, closed 12½c lower for the week. The week has been full of fluctuations, but the general tendency has been downward in sympathy with the northern markets. Chicago has lost 20c for the week, Kansas City 15c and St. Louis between 10c and 15c. Considering the lower tendency, the market here has held up remarkably well. Two times the past week hog tops have brought more in Fort Worth than in some of the northern packing centers. The week has also been notable for the better quality of hogs brought in, and for the large supply, exceeding the previous week by 324.

Bidding was active, and the early supply was closed out by noon. Two late-arriving loads went over to the afternoon session. The top price of the day was $4.80 on a load sold to a firm of butchers at Coleman, Texas. Bulk sold between $4.60 and $4.75. Pigs appeared to be lower, losing part of the strength they displayed early in the week.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK

The record was broken this week for cattle receipts, over 26,500 coming in. Two weeks ago receipts were over 21,000, the excess for the week just past being 5,976.

Hogs appeared to the number of 5,467, compared with 5,144 for the previous week.

The run of sheep, exceeding 1,700, came in one one day of the week.

Fed steers and well-bred feeders, having some flesh, are selling steady for the week; the same can be said of good fat cows, but medium steers are short in price and undesirable cow stuff is selling 15c to 20c lower for the week.

Bulls show a slight falling off.

Calves not exceeding 120 pounds, and in high flesh, are selling strong. The thick-meated sort are barely steady, with a tendency to do worse.

Hogs close the week 20c to a quarter worse than last Saturday on all kinds fit for packing. Pigs have dropped between 5c and 10c. Indications are for a lower market next week.

TODAY'S RECEIPTS

Cattle	2,000
Hogs	500

TOP PRICES TODAY

Steers	$2.50
Cows	2.70
Heifers	3.50
Bulls	2.00
Calves	3.50
Hogs	4.80

M. H. THOMAS & CO

Bankers and Brokers, Cotton, Grain, Provisions, Stocks and Bonds. Members New York Cotton Exchange, New Orleans Cotton Exchange, Liverpool Cotton Association and Chicago Board of Trade. Direct private wires to exchanges. Removed to 709 Main street, Fort Worth, Texas. Phone 2912.

TODAY'S SHIPPERS

CATTLE

Campbell & Shaw, Mansfield	25
Thomas Buckham, Monahans	30
W. A. Vest, Monahans	29
Burt Holloway, Midland	59
Jones Bros., Childress	188
J. L. Hardin, Childress	64
F. Campbell, Seymour	65
Tom Arnett, Seymour	22
T. Buckham & Son, Monahans	145
T. E. Rankin, Midland	121
O. B. Hold, Midland	154
W. Benhrig, Cuero	75
J. F. Newman, Sweetwater	98
W. D. Reynolds, Albany	87
George Hays, Cisco	29
B. A. Gardner, Washkom	30
H. Gordon, Waskom	30
Sam Crush, Waskom	30
W. Crush, Waskom	29

HOGS

C. D. Smith, Lindsay, I. T.	66
G. E. Dean, Detroit	106
O. W. N. W., Grand Saline	90
First National Bank, Hennessey, Ok.	79
A. L. McDonald, Calumet, Okla.	86

HORSES AND MULES

H. Russell, Amarillo	27
Ed Howard, Lawton	22

REPRESENTATIVE SALES

STEERS

No.	Ave.	Price.	No.	Ave.	Price.
1	1,050	$2.50	1	860	$2.50
1	790	2.50	1	1,000	2.50
1	1,060	2.50

COWS

No.	Ave.	Price.	No.	Ave.	Price.
30	622	$1.55	5	780	$1.65
21	816	1.65	30	776	1.75
4	1,070	2.70	2	1,130	1.85
32	767	2.00	22	667	1.50
24	662	1.35	5	890	2.30
15	676	1.50	1	640	1.50
22	611	1.60	2	880	2.10
4	642	1.75	19	635	1.70
6	655	1.40

HEIFERS

No.	Ave.	Price.	No.	Ave.	Price.
2	703	$2.10	193	703	$2.10
1	650	3.50

BULLS

No.	Ave.	Price.	No.	Ave.	Price.
2	955	$1.65	1	750	$1.50
1	860	1.50	4	1,035	1.75

CALVES

No.	Ave.	Price.	No.	Ave.	Price.
25	320	$2.50	5	184	$2.25
3	126	2.50	11	310	1.50
80	171	3.50	129	210	3.50
1	190	3.50	1	250	2.25
1	210	3.25	2	205	1.25
1	200	1.25

HOGS

No.	Ave.	Price.	No.	Ave.	Price.
65	235	$4.77½	2	205	$4.65
55	183	4.60	3	180	4.35
23	246	4.67½	3	200	4.50
4	150	4.50	6	240	4.70
79	238	4.80	22	143	4.60
1	190	4.50

PIGS

No.	Ave.	Price.	No.	Ave.	Price.
50	120	$4.25	24	110	$4.40
9	75	4.00

FOREIGN MARKETS

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Cattle—Receipts, 500; estimated receipts for Monday, 28,000; market steady and unchanged.

Hogs—Receipts, 20,000; estimated receipts for Monday, 40,000; markt steady; rough, $4.40@4.60; mixed, $4.50@4.80; heavy, $4.65@4.80; pigs, $4.10@4.55.

Sheep—Receipts, 6,000; market steady and unchanged; estimated receipts for Monday, 25,000.

KANSAS CITY LIVE STOCK

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 19.—Cattle—Receipts, 300; market unchanged.

Hogs—Receipts, 5,000; market 5c to 10c lower; bulk of sales, $4.50@4.70; heavy, $4.70@4.85; packers, $4.60@4.75; pigs and lights, $4@4.70.

Sheep—Receipts, none; market nominally steady; muttons, $3.75@4.60; lambs, $4.25@5.85; range wethers, $4@4.75; ewes, $2@4.

ST. LOUIS LIVE STOCK

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 19.—Cattle—Receipts, 1,200, including 800 Texans; market steady; beef steers, $6@6.40; stockers and feeders, $2.25@3.75; cows and hifers, $2.25@4.25; Texas sters, $2.50@4.25; cows and heifers, $2@2.65.

Hogs—Receipts, 3,000; market lower; pigs and lights, $4@4.55; packers, $4.50@4.75; butchers and best heavy, $4.60@4.80.

Sheep—Receipts, 300; market steady; native sheep, $4@4.50; lambs, $4.50@6; Texas sheep, $3@5.

COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Cotton opened easy at a decline of 2 to 4 points, or about as due on earlier cables. The weather in the south was favorable, and there were further reports of free offerings of spot in the south. Sentiment in local professional circles seemed against the market and some of the larger room traders evidently were trying to force further declines, but there was also considerable covering by smaller shorts at the lower level and for over-Sunday and the market, following the call, ruled fairly steady, with prices giving ground very slowly. Business was quiet. Spot closed dull. Middling uplands, 10c; middling gulf, 10.25c; sales, 145 bales. Receipts at New Orleans, 11,043, against 14,160 last year.

PORT RECEIPTS

(By Private Wire to M. H. Thomas & Co.)

Receipts of cotton at the leading acumulative centers, compared with the receipts of the same time last year:

	Today.	Last yr.
Galveston	14,876	31,979
New Orleans	....	14,160
Mobile	2,933	1,411
Savannah	8,939	9,409
Charleston	363	924
Wilmington	3,304	2,273
Norfolk	....	5,579
Total	....	66,363
Houston	9,284	14,422

ESTIMATES TOMORROW

	Tomorrow.	Last year.
New Orleans		16,541
Galveston	10,500 to 11,500	16,600
Houston	11,500 to 13,000	27,320

LIVERPOOL COTTON

(By Private Wire to M. H. Thomas & Co.)

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 19.—The spot cotton market was quiet in tone, with an easier demand. Spots were quoted at 5.32d for middling. Sales 6,000 bales. Receipts 34,000 bales, of which 33,100 were American. F. o. b. 300 bales. Yesterday's close: Middling 5.34d. Sales 8,000 bales. Receipts 19,000 bales.

Futures had the following range today:

	Yesterday's Open.	High.	Close.
Oct.-Nov.	5.25-24-25	5.24	5.25
Nov.-Dec.	5.22-23-22	5.22	5.23
Dec.-Jan.	5.23-22	5.22	5.23
Jan.-Feb.	5.25	5.24	5.25
Feb.-March	5.27-26	5.26	5.27
March-April	5.27-28-27	5.27	5.28
April-May	5.30-29	5.29	5.30
May-June	5.31-30-32	5.30	5.32
June-July	5.32-31	5.31	5.32
July-August	5.32-31	5.31	5.32

NEW ORLEANS FUTURES

(By Private Wire to M. H. Thomas & Co.)

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 19.—The market in cotton futures was steady today. Following is the range in quotations:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
December	9.48	9.49	9.42	9.42-43
January	9.56	9.57	9.50	9.50-51
March	9.72	9.75	9.68	9.68-69
May	9.85	9.87	9.81	9.81-82

NEW ORLEANS SPOTS

(By Private Wire to M. H. Thomas & Co.)

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 19.—The spot cotton market was steady today: Prices and receipts were as follows:

	Today.	Yesterday.
Middling	9½	9 9-16
Sales	2,500	6,100
F. o. b.	950	5,300

NEW YORK FUTURES

(By Private Wire to M. H. Thomas & Co.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The market in cotton futures was steady today. Following is the range in quotations:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
December	9.61	9.61	9.55	9.56-57
January	9.68	9.68	9.65	9.65-66
March	9.80	9.81	9.78	9.78-79
May	9.93	9.93	9.90	9.90-91

NEW YORK SPOTS

(By Private Wire to M. H. Thomas & Co.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The spot cotton market was steady today. Prices and receipts were quoted as follows:

	Today.	Yesterday.
Middling	10.00	10.00
Sales	145	....

GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Liquidation pronounced generally results in a rout of the bulls in the wheat market today. Almost everybody had grain for sale, apparently being unwilling to carry it over Sunday. December was $1.08⅝ at the close, a decline of 2½c; May lost 2¼c and July 1⅞c. Even the shorts thought there was plenty of time to buy and did not get in on the decline. Corn went ½@⅝c lower, on selling of a heavy sort in December. The weakness of wheat had a depressing influence throughout. Oats stood alone in the matter of strength. The trade was light, but the market was not much affected by the pronounced weakness in other markets. Provisions grew very weak as the session approached the end, final prices showing a decline of 5c to 10c. The late buying evidently was for a scalp.

Wheat opened weak and selling was conducted vigorously for half an hour, during which 1c was knocked off. The traders who were bearishly inclined were less afraid than they have been for considerable time back to give expression in the market to their expectations of lower prices. They sold with great freedom. With such a feeling predominating the minds of the traders and nothing in the morning's news to create a change from the accumulating bearishness, the prices kept running down and before the end of the first half hour May got under $1.10. The market at that point got filled up for a while with wheat coming out on stop loss orders. There was nothing striking in the news. Liverpool was from ⅛@¼d lower for futures and ¼d down for Argentine spot. Paris was ½c a bushel lower. Selling orders from outside came in large volume from the northwest and there was no let up to the pressure until the price was down to about $1.09. The range of December was from $1.10¾ down to $1.08½, closing $1.08⅝. May was $1.11⅛ at the highest, lowest $1.09, close $1.09⅛.

A remarkably steady market existed in oats in face of the decline in wheat. Much oats were wanted by commission and cash houses, but offerings were too light to supply the demand. Futures lost ¼c for the day. December closed 28⅝c, after selling 28⅞c; May sold from 31½@⅜c down to 31c.

Rye ruled dull and weak. The market was neglected, affected by the decline in wheat.

Barley held steady, except for dirty screenings, which were weak and draggy.

Provisions were dull with prices tending slightly lower. Demand for shipment was called slack and with wheat and corn so weak there was no desire to purchase freely of the hog products.

Flax seed was quiet and unchanged. Timothy seed ruled dull, no trades. Clover seed quiet.

LIVERPOOL GRAIN CABLE

(By Private Wire to M. H. Thomas & Co.)

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 19.—The following changes were noted in the corn and wheat markets today:

Wheat closed ⅛d to ¼d lower.
Corn closed ⅜d lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

(By Private Wire to M. H. Thomas & Co.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The grain and provision markets ranged in price today as follows:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
December	1.10¾	1.10¾	1.08½	1.08⅝
May	1.11⅛	1.11⅛	1.09	1.09⅛
July	98⅛	98⅛	97¼	97¼
Corn—
December	49½	49½	48	48b
May	45⅝	45⅝	45¼	45¼
July	45½	45⅝	45¼	45¼
Oats—
December	28¾	28⅞	28⅝	28⅝
May	31¼	31¼	31	31b
July	31⅜	31⅜	31¼	31¼
Pork—
January	12.57	12.60	12.45	12.47
May	12.67	12.70	12.55	12.55
Lard—
January	7.00	7.00	6.97	7.00
May	7.15	7.17	7.12	7.15
Ribs—
January	6.50	6.50	6.45	6.47
May	6.65	6.65	6.60	6.60

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 19.—Wheat: December $1.01½, May $1.01⅝ to $1.01¼.

ST. LOUIS PROVISIONS

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 19.—Flour—Dull and easy. Soft winter in wood: High patent, $5.40@5.50; special brands, $5.60@5.70; hard winter in jute sacks, patent, $5@5.10; straight, $4.70@4.80.

Bacon—Boxed breakfast, 9½c for heavy, to 13c for choice light.

Hams—10¼@10⅝c; California hams, 7½c; New York shoulders, 7½c; plain smoked, boxed meats, extra shorts, 8½c; ribs, 8¼c; clear, 8½c.

STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—There was little intimation in the stock market today of the nervousness which affected values unfavorably in the late dealings. A more sensible view of the treasury statement appeared to be taken. Nevertheless many traders maintained the position that speculation was entitled to more of a reaction than it had experienced and operations on this theory brought some aspect of irregularity. There was, however, a general tendency to improve on the unexpected favorable character of the bank statement. It had been very generally believed that another loss in surplus reserve would be suffered, but this was prevented by a large reduction in loans. There was a dearth of other news and influences. The feature of strength in the railroad list was Union Pacific, which sold well above a point in excess of last night's closing. Among the industrials Sugar continues to be absorbed and after advancing nearly 2 points, retained more than half of the gain. In the late transactions there was renewed buoyancy in the United States Steel stocks and the other iron and steelers. Amalgamated was well sustained in spite of continued realization. The local traction group was little more than steady. The market closed strong and active. Railroad and other bonds made improvements.

NEW YORK STOCKS

(By Private Wire to M. H. Thomas & Co.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Stocks opened and closed today as follows on the New York Stock Exchange:

	Open.	Close.
Missouri Pacific	108¼	109
Union Pacific	114⅛	115½
Texas and Pacific	37⅝	37⅞
New York Central	....	135¾
Louisville and Nashville	139	138¾
St. Paul	173	173⅝
Southern Pacific	67	67¼
Atchison	86	86⅜
Atchison, preferred	103¼	103⅜
Erie	39⅜	39¼
Baltimore and Ohio	97¼	97¼
Southern Railway	35½	35⅝
Reading	75¾	75⅛
Great Western	25½	25¼
Rock Island	36¼	36⅜
M., K. and T., preferred	....	64
M., K. and T.	....	35¼
Pennsylvania	136½	136¼
Colrado Fuel and Iron	47⅝	47
Western Union	....	92
Tennessee Coal and Iron	75¼	75½
Manhattan L	....	167⅜
Metropolitan	125	124¼
United States Steel	27⅛	27¼
United States Steel, preferred	87⅜	87⅞
Sugar	150	151¼
Brooklyn Rapid Transit	68⅛	68¼
United States Leather	14¼	14
People's Gas	108⅜	108⅞
Amalgamated Copper	79¾	79⅞
Mexican Central	21⅞	22⅜

NEW YORK BANK STATEMENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The following bank statement was issued today:

Less U. S., increase	$ 690,525
Reserve, increase	695,150
Loans, decrease	12,379,200
Specie, decrease	2,640,300
Legal, decrease	706,400
Deposits, decrease	16,767,400
Circulation, decrease	126,400

BUTTER AND EGGS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 19.—Eggs: Receipts 442 packages local and 333 through; shipments 3,410; market steady at 22c for current receipts, repacked strong and high; case-count cases returned 23½c for strictly fresh firsts, 25c for extras.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Eggs: Fresh at 18½c to 22½c; cases returned 18c to 22c; prime firsts 26c; extra 28c.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Butter: Fancy firm, creamery extra 25c to 25½c, imitation firsts 18½c to 19c, state dairy tubs 23c, factory firsts 15½c to 15c.

Eggs: Firm; nearby selected white 32c to 38c, fancy mixed 30c to 32c, western firsts 28c, southern 20c to 28c.

PETROLEUM

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Petroleum, all ports, $7.90@95. Refined bulk, New York, $5.05.

COTTON SEED OIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Cottol seed oil firmer. Prime yellow: November, 27¼@27 1-3c; sales, 500, at 27½c; December, 27¼@27½c; sales, 1,000, at 27½c; January, 27½@28c; sales, 100, at 27¾c; March, 28½@29c; May, 29¼@29½c; sales 200, at 29¼c.

WHISKY

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 19.—Whisky sales 1,368 barrels at $1.24.

SILVER

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Bar silver in London steady and unchanged at 26⅞d per ounce. Commercial bars unchanged at 58⅝@59½c. Government essay bars unchanged, at 58½@59c. Mexican dollars ½c higher, at 46⅛@48c.

COFFEE

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Coffee closed: November, 6.55@6.60; December, 6.60@6.65; January, 6.70@6.75; February, 6.80@6.85; March, 6.90@6.95; April, 6.95@7.05; May, 7.05@7.10; June, 7.15@7.20; July, 7.25@7.30; August, 7.30@7.40; September, 7.40@7.45; October, 7.70@7.75. Market closed steady. Total sales, 71,000 bags.

COPPERS

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 19.—Coppers opened rather quietly with no pressure except in Copper Kings, where there was evidence of selling pressure. In the late trading the market rallied under the lead of Amalgamated, which, after touching 80¼, closed at last night's quotation. Calumet lost 5 on the day's business. The activity recently displayed was missing today. Close: Amalgamated 79⅞, Anaconda 29¾, Bingham 37¾, Calumet 690, Centennial 29¾, Range 72, Royale 31¼, Massachusetts Mining 7;, Mohawk 15½, Old Dominion 28, Osceola 94¾, Parrott 32½, Tamarack 13⅝, United States Mining 24¾, Utah 46.

SEVERAL UNDER ARREST

WILLIAMSBURG, Ky., Nov. 19.—Andrew Meaders, Joshua Commins, Bee and Edward Hollsomback are under arrest for the murder of George Curd and Emma Durham, near Cumberland Falls, Thursday. Curd and Meaders had a dispute over land. The proof is all circumstantial. Several other warrants are out, one for Shelt Smith, a former husband of Emma Durham.

OF INTEREST TO The STOCKMEN

THE ARMOUR PARTY

The Armour party that has been in Fort Worth several days during the past week, left last night, some of them going north and some south. In the party were Watson Armour, John P. Butler, who has charge of the entire telegraph system of the Armour company, and James Tennell.

These gentlemen were here ostensibly on a tour of inspection, but from a source considered trustworthy The Telegram learns that they were here on important business, which is being kept in the background for the present. However, they did visit the packing house plant of the company and express themselves as well pleased with conditions here.

The Armour party had been south and stopped off here en route north. Mr. Tennell is superintendent of the Kansas City plant and superintendent of construction.

Mr. Armour and Mr. Tennell left the city last night over the Rock Island in their special car for Kansas City, while Mr. Butler will remain in Fort Worth a few days yet, investigating matters connected with his work with the company, when he will go south to points where the Armours are interested in the way of cold storage plants and warehouses.

While it was not given out by members of the party, it is learned that the Armour Company contemplates making notable improvements in their plant in Fort Worth, and may possibly branch out to other sections of the state in enterprises having close relations with the packing business.

FROM "THREE CIRCLE RANCH"

P. J. Pierce was in the city yesterday from Erath county, having brought quite a large shipment of cattle to the packing house center of Texas from his "Three Circle" ranch. The cattle, he says, sold well, but were bought by feeders at an advanced price over that offered by the packers.

Mr. Pierce is a firm believer in the Fort Worth market and says that it is the height of folly for a Texas cattleman to take his beef cattle to any of the northern markets when the prices here are as good as elsewhere, the freight difference and shrinkage taken into consideration. He believes that the Fort Worth prices are a shade the best.

Mr. Pierce was showing his friends at the republican banquet Friday night a personal letter that he received from President Roosevelt, in reply to one sent by him congratulating the chief executive on his election.

THE WEEKLY REPORTS

At general headquarters of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association yesterday were received some sixteen weekly reports from inspectors of the association from various points in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Indian Territory and Kansas, giving conditions of cattle and ranges and in each instance the report was flattering. These reports say that there is considerable stuff moving from the San Angelo country and also from New Mexico to market and into the stock fields.

A letter was also received from Secretary J. L. Lytle of the association, who is now in Chicago attending the hearing of the interstate commerce commission. He states that the evidence would all be in by last night and that he would likely start for Fort Worth immediately thereafter. A decision in the case is not looked for for some time yet, as the matter will probably be taken under advisement by the commission.

SAN ANGELO COUNTRY SALES

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Nov. 18.—C. W. Schrimpf of San Angelo who was here this week and bought one car of fat muttons which he shipped to New Orleans, is a mutton buyer who does not believe in patronizing the big markets or "trust centers" as he calls them, and says he can get better prices at New Orleans and Galveston than at the eastern markets for his fat muttons. This whole country is teeming with fat muttons, there are scads of them. McKenzie & Ferguson, J. R. Hamilton & Son and several other firms have from 15,000 to 20,000 each, while there are bushels of smaller firms who have small flocks. If good winter rains come along the mutton shipments to market from this section next spring will be something immense.

There is nothing much doing in the goat business. Goats are not much sought after. The fall clip of mohair is down in price. Everybody is going into the sheep business. Sheep are scarce around here and the stockmen have to go to New Mexico to get them.

J. W. Cunningham of Comanche bought of Stanley Turner of Water Valley and Jap Mason of Christoval 50 suckling mule colts at $30 around and shipped them to his farm at Comanche, where they will be grain fed. Mules bring from $75 to $100 apiece here, that is big fellows, even if not broken.

The shipments the last day or two were as follows: A. S. Cavitt, 1 car fat heifers to St. Louis; other shipments to St. Louis, all with Fort Worth privilege, were: J. K. Barfield, 2 cars cows and calves; E. T. Carson, 2 cars cows; C. H. Powell & Co., 5 cars cows, 1 car bulls; S. H. Henderson, 4 cars cows and 5 cars calves; Henderson & Co., 1 car cows; McCauley Bros., 1 car calves, cows and bulls; J. M. Slator, 3 cars cows, 1 car calves; Ainsley Turner, 2 cars cows; Pearson & Allen, 2 cars cows; G. W. Tankersley, 1 car bulls; S. M. Sample, 2 cars cows to Dallas; C. W. Schrimpf, a car muttons to New Orleans.

Fort Worth is the leading horse and mule market of the south. The Fort Worth Horse and Mule Company, North Fort Worth, holds an Auction Sale every Monday. Write them for particulars.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

A decision was rendered in the appearance case of R. L. Van Zandt, receiver, vs. Myers, Neville & Carver, suit for debt in the United States district court, Judge E. R. Meek presiding, for the plaintiffs, in the sum of $29,871.63, late Saturday afternoon. The jury was instructed to return the verdict given.

The original petition in the case was filed April 5, 1904. The case is one regarding bankruptcy proceedings.

A lighthouse is being built on Mile Rock, at the entrance of San Francisco harbor. Work can be done only at extreme low water and in calm weather. The schooner employed in the work can not get nearer to the rock than 40 feet and men and material are put upon it by means of long booms.

So Tired

It may be from overwork, but the chances are its from an inactive LIVER.

With a well conducted LIVER one can do mountains of labor without fatigue.

It adds a hundred per cent to ones earning capacity.

It can be kept in healthful action by, and only by

Tutt's Pills

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.

A RECOMMENDATION is good, but "delivering the goods" is better. THE TELEGRAM WANT ADS will do it at small cost

HELP WANTED—MALE

MOLER'S BARBER COLLEGE of Dallas, Texas, offers advantages in teaching the barber trade that can not be had elsewhere. Write today for our special terms. 413 Main street.

WANTED—Carriage blacksmiths at Keller's Carriage Works, Second and Throckmorton streets.

MEN—The original Jno. A. Moler's Barber College of Dallas, Texas, teaches the trade in eight weeks and guarantees positions; half rate this month; tuition earned while learning. Do not confuse us with cheap imitators of similar name. Write today for terms.

BOUND'S ELECTRIC CO., FOR DRY BATTERIES.

WANTED—Men to learn barber trade; Special 30-day offer; tools, diplomas and position given graduates; few weeks completes by our method; can earn expenses before finishing. Established in 1893. Eight great colleges in leading cities. Do not be deceived by 5c shops using similar name; our reputation causes others to imitate; catalogue and particulars mailed free. Moler Barber College, First and Main streets, Fort Worth.

WANTED—Good-sized boy at once. Jennings' wood yard, corner St. Louis and Hattie. Phone 1921.

WANTED—Messenger boys, with wheels. Apply, 1002 Houston street, City Messenger Service.

YOUNG MEN everywhere, copy letters, home evenings, $9.50 week. Send addressed envelope for particulars. Manager Dept. S252, box 1411, Philadelphia, Pa.

RELIABLE person each locality for business position. Salary $20 weekly and expenses. Expense money advanced. Position permanent. Previous experience unnecessary. Business established. Address Mr. Cooper, Como Block, Chicago.

WANTED—First class job pressman. Guessar & Ferlet, San Antonio, Tex.

$800 TO $1,800 a year in the Railway Mail, Postal and other lines of government service. We prepare by mail for examination. Nearly 20,000 appointments last year. For particulars address Civil Service School, 914 Walnut st., Philadelphia, Pa.

HELP WANTED — FEMALE

BOUND'S ELECTRIC CO., FOR GAS MANTLES.

WANTED—Middle-aged white woman to do housework; no washing or ironing. Apply Mrs. J. A. Goodwin, 811 West Railroad avenue, or phone 753.

WANTED—Man with horse to deliver paper route on Rosen Heights and Printers' Hill. Must live in North Fort Worth. A good proposition for the right man. See W. H. Calkins at this office.

WANTED—Five girls to learn hairdressing, manicuring and facial massage; small wages to begin, no expense. Call or write today; just opening. Moler College, First and Main streets.

WOMEN to sew at home, $9.00 per week. Materials sent everywhere free, steady work, plain sewing only. Send addressed envelope for full particulars. S. L. E., Du Pont, Philadelphia, Pa.

LADIES wanted everywhere copying letters at home, evenings or spare time and return to us. No mailing or canvassing, $9.00 weekly earned, materials free. Enclose self-addressed envelope for particulars. Guarantee Co., No. S252 Ninth street, Philadelphia, Pa.

LADIES having fancy work to sell, embroideries, battenberg, drawnwork. Also to do order work. Stamped envelope. Ladies' Exchange, Ely bldg., Chicago.

WANTED—A good cook. Apply at once. Mrs. I. H. Burney, Fifth and Cannon ave.

WANTED—Lady or gentleman of fair education to travel for a firm of $250,000 capital. Salary $1,072 per year and expenses. Salary paid weekly and expenses advanced. Address with stamp J. A. Alexander, Fort Worth, Texas.

ATTENTION, LADIES—Earn $20 per 100 writing short letters from copy. Address stamped envelope for particulars. Modern Specialty Co., Allegan, Mich.

WANTED—A woman to make comforts. Apply to Hurley, Hoxie Bldg.

WANTED—Middle-aged woman for house work; good wages and home. Call 120 West Terrell.

WANTED—At once, lady to do pressing at Union Steam Dye Works; must be experienced. 311 Main street, Fort Worth, Texas.

LADIES—$7 to $10 weekly earned doing plain sewing at home. Material sent free everywhere prepaid. Stamped addressed envelope brings particulars. Union Company, 1215 Filbert Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

WIRE FENCES

IRON AND WIRE FENCES—Texas Anchor Fence Co.; catalogue. Ft. Worth.

SALESMEN WANTED

EXPERIENCED salesman, or physician not practicing, to sell to doctors. Established trade. Permanent, remunerative. P. O. Box 858, Philadelphia.

WANTED—Two salesmen in each state; $50 and expenses; permanent position. Penicks Tobacco Works Co., Bedford City, Va.

WANTED—An experienced local solicitor to handle high grade investment proposition; references required. Address International Lumber and Development Co., 210 Odd Fellows' Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.

A WELL ESTABLISHED firm wants specialty men to sell an exceedingly attractive salable line. Special terms and unique inducements to trade. High priced men investigate. E. M. Arthur Co., Detroit, Mich.

SITUATIONS WANTED

WANTED—Position by young lady in law office. Two years' experience. Address Mayde, care The Telegram.

A WIDOW in need, sewing to support two children, would like to have all that she can do. Apply corner New York and Magnolia avenues.

AGENTS WANTED

WANTED—Energetic agent as branch office manager to handle agents; also soap crew managers for road; $200. Parker Chemical Co., Chicago.

WANTED—BOARDERS

WANTED—Four nice men to room and board in private family. Apply 410 East Second. Captain and Mrs. Cumbie.

BOARD AND ROOM—701 Jennings avenue. References required.

FIRST-CLASS TABLE BOARD, $4 per week. 1003 Jennings avenue, over Langever's.

WANTED—To take a boarder, convenient to university. Young man preferred, rates reasonable. Phone 2918.

GOOD table board, $3.50 per week. 832 Taylor street. Phone 2796.

WANTED

A GREAT DEAL BETTER for a good deal less is what people look for at our store. Rhodes-Haverty Furniture Co. W. C. Hathaway, Mgr.

WANTED—A first class cook in the country. Phone 700.

THE J. J. LANGEVER CO., opposite the city hall, house painters.

WANTED TO BUY—A vacant lot north of Terrell, between Hemphill and South Main. Hubbard Brothers. Phone 2299.

LAUNDRY—family work a specialty. Texas Laundry Co.

WANTED—To trade piano for good buggy horse. S. D. Chesnut, 303 Houston street.

WANTED—All the second-hand furniture I can get. Will pay best prices. R. E. Lewis Furniture Company, 214 Houston street. Phone 1329-1r.

WANTED—By reputable young man, place to work for room and board between school hours. Character references furnished. Address George S. Spiller, Arlington, Texas.

WANTED—A car of second-hand furniture at once, will buy in any quantity. New phone 403.

WANTED—Some one to break up five acres of land and plant same. Address J. S. Cree, 928 Humboldt st.

Furniture Wanted!

We have it for sale, for rent and exchange. We furnish your room complete $1 per week and buy any that you have. Our prices and terms are always less. Nix Furniture and Storage Company, 302-4 Houston street. Both phones.

WANTED—TO BUY

WE WANT YOUR FURNITURE—Will pay highest price in cash or trade. Both phones. Furniture Exchange, 308 Houston street.

WANTED—To buy a servant's house to move from present location. Call old phone 1758.

We Have IT!

14 MESH WIRE

Mosquito Proof

Agee Bros. Screen Co.

To the Public

We desire to correct the report that has recently been circulated that the NELSON & DRAUGHON BUSINESS COLLEGE has moved its college and office from the corner of Sixth and Main streets. We will consider it a personal favor if our friends and the public in general will direct all persons inquiring for the NELSON & DRAUGHON BUSINESS COLLEGE or PROFESSOR J. W. DRAUGHON to the corner of Sixth and Main streets, opposite the American National bank, the only Draughons in Texas or in this city connected with a college are with us. We now have one of the largest schools of the kind in the south; 200 students. We desire to thank our patrons and friends for the many favors shown us and assure them that we shall endeavor in the future to do as good work as we have done in the past.

Nelson & Draughon Business College

Sixth and Main streets.

J. W. Draughon, President.

Save the Eyes!

OLD EYES MADE YOUNG

You can't be too careful of your eyesight—a little attention now may save it for you. I give the diseases of the eye and the fitting of glasses my most careful attention and hundreds of people whose eyes I have treated will gladly testify to the merits of my skill. I will give you a thorough examination, then if you can be cured you will be told so. If you can only be benefited you will be told to what extent you may expect benefit. While, on the contrary, if your case is a hopeless one you will be told so and be out no money.

LORD

OPTICIAN

713 Main street.

LOST AND FOUND

LOST—Two bay horses, about 16 hands high, about 10 and 11 years old. A reward of $10 will be paid for the delivery of them to us. Southern Cold Storage Co.

LOST—On Cherry or Seventh street, lady's watch. Return to 707 Cherry street and recieve reward.

LOST—Strayed from 912 College avenue, a brown collie bitch, 7 weeks old, collar with name faintly scratched. White toes, tip of tail and spot on neck. Suitable reward. John B. Hawley.

THE PARTY who found the purse containing $58 in front of the Fair store Wednesday is knwn, and will save trouble if he will return same to the Fair store.

LOST—Bay horse, 15½ hands, white on one hind leg, foretop cut, fetlocks lately cut. Finder rewarded liberally. Return to Fort Worth Broom Factory.

LOST—A boy's Yale wheel at Mulkey Memorial church last Sunday afternoon. A liberal reward will be given for return of same to Henry Lusher, Jr.

NOTICE—If you bring this ad to The Model Grocery Monday, November 21, you can get a ticket for a Christmas present free of charge. 325 South Boaz street.

LOST—Lady's gold watch, between Santa Fe depot and Rusk street, on Fifteenth street. Return to Grunewald Hotel and receive liberal reward.

LOST, STRAYED OR STOLEN—From 1200 Granger, a white and yellow poodle, 6 months old. Return and get reward.

The Nelson and Draughon Business College

Corner Sixth and Main streets, teaches Bookkeeping and Banking in from eight to twelve weeks, and Shorthand in as short time as any first-class college. Phone 1307, College Sixth and Main. J. W. Draughon, President.

MISCELLANEOUS

FOR ALL KINDS of scavenger work, phone 918. Lee Taylor.

EXCHANGE—Furniture, stoves, carpets, mattings, draperies of all kinds; the largest stock in the city where you can exchange your old goods for new. Everything sold on easy payment. Ladd Furniture and Carpet Co., 704-6 Houston street. Both phones 562.

WANTED—House painting and decorating to do by the contract. The J. J. Langever Co., opposite city hall.

BOUND'S ELECTRIC CO., FOR TELEGRAPH SUPPLIES.

New Styles New Materials

OFFICE COATS, SMOKING JACKETS, BARTENDER COATS, $5 to $10.

Velvo Silk

CLUB TIES, FOUR-IN-HANDS, 50c; ENGLISH SQUARES, LATEST STYLES, $1.00.

M. Alexander

THE HABERDASHER,

Main and Sixth Streets.

WANTED TO PURCHASE—A roller top desk in good condition. Address Desk, this office.

LADIES—We are representing the best Laundry in Fort Worth and authorized to make you the cheapest rate on best work ever made before.

Collars	1½c
Cuffs	1½c
Shirts, plain	8c

Washed, dried and ironed at 2½c per pound.

Table Cloths.	Roller Towels.
Napkins.	Hand Towels.
Tray Cloths.	Dish Towels.
Doilies.	Bath Towels.
Felts.	Diapers.
Tidies.	Rags.
Bibs.	Wash Rags.
Dresser Scarfs.	Stand Covers.
Sheets.	Bolster Slips.
Pillow Slips.	Sheet Shams.

Family washing, washed, starched, dried and ready to iron, 5c per pound. Bring us your laundry and save half your bill.

UNION DYE WORKS, PENNY LAUNDRY, 311 Main. S. D. Sandel, Prop.

ROOMS FOR RENT

NICELY FURNISHED ROOMS with board, bath, phone and electric lights. Rates reasonable. 1110 Lamar street.

FOR RENT—Front room with board in new modern home. Phone, on two car lines. 514 East Belknap.

TWO nicely furnished south rooms. 503 East Belknap street.

FOR RENT—Elegant furnished room with bath and phone. References required. Apply 804 Lamar street.

THE HAYS is the best equipped and up-to-date boarding house on the south side. Board and lodging $4 per week and up. 312 South Calhoun street.

FOR RENT—Furnished front room, southeast exposure. Apply 414 Taylor.

ROOM FOR RENT—To gentlemen; bath, phone, gas. Apply, 600 East Third st.

FOR RENT—Nicely furnished rooms, for housekeeping; desirable; cheap. 203 Rusk street.

FOR RENT—Two or three connecting furnished rooms, new plastered home, City Belt. 1130 Washington ave.

FOR RENT—Cheap two, three, four or five furnished rooms for light housekeeping. House and furniture new. 1,000 East Leuda street.

FOR RENT—Two furnished rooms. 1113 E. Fourth street. (Colored.)

IMPERIAL APARTMENTS—All modern improvements; new building; new furniture; rooms single or en suite; gentlemen only. 1006½ Main street.

ONE or two furnished rooms, close in, modern. Phone 1659. 608 Florence st.

FOR RENT—Furnished rooms, bath, gas range, telephone. 815 West First st.

LARGE nicely furnished rooms. Phone 2306 or call at 517 Adams street.

FOR RENT—Two large unfurnished rooms, with hall and porch, water furnished, $8 per month. Call 611 East Fourth or new phone 848.

FOR RENT—Newly furnished rooms, phone and bath. 900 Cherry, corner Jackson.

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—On South Side, two car lines, 8-room two-story house, all modern conveniences. C. T. Hodge, 508 Hoxie Building.

H. C. Jewell H. Veal Jewell.
H. C. JEWELL & SON,
The rental agents of the city, 1000 Houston street.

FOR RENT—Five-room, modern cottage, electric lights and bath. 313 Galveston avenue.

FOR RENT — Four-room furnished house to party without children. See Mrs. Francis at Stearns & Stewart.

FOR RENT—900 Summit avenue, west side, 7-room modern house. Hubbard Bros., 112 West Ninth street. Telephone 2299.

BOUND'S ELECTRIC CO., FOR HOUSE WIRING.

STEAM HEATED APARTMENTS

Brick flat building, Lamar and Jackson streets. Frank H. Sanguinet, Hoxie Building.

FOR RENT—On West Side, 112 Belknap street, a five-room house, hall. New phone 1412, E. T. Bergin.

FOR RENT—Four-room house and hall, corner South Main and Hattie streets, $15. 5-room house and hall, corner Missouri ave. and Hattie street, $18. Alex. Hirschfeld.

BOOKS, other goods and fixtures cheap, house for rent with same. Apply 1504 Main.

UMBRELLAS

WANTED—1,000 umbrellas to recover and repair. Corner Second and Main streets. Chas. Bagget.

REAL ESTATE

Page Addition

With its beautiful views of the city and country, with every convenience and no city tax to pay—every reason why you should buy a lot at once before they are all gone.

Page Addition

When you own a home in this addition you will not have to go to Colorado to get pure ozone. Health and a long life is assured with every lot sold in the Page addition. Only a few lots remain unsold and in order to close them out at once we will sell you a nice lot, 50x200 feet, from $350 to $500. Lots 75x220 feet, fronting two streets, $550 to $1,000. See us.

The Page Co.

D. S. Hare & Co., Agents.
611 Main St.

FOR BARGAINS IN CITY PROPERTY, farms, ranches, and business chances, see E. T. Odom & Co., 105 West Fourth street. Both phones.

FARMS, ranches and city property, small payment, $10 per month; houses to rent in any part of the city; plenty short-time money. Texas Advertising and Realty Co., 1205 Main.

Do You Want the Earth?

ABOUT forty four and five-room houses listed with us to be sold in the next thirty or sixty days, and a cash payment of $50, $75 and $100 and small monthly payments gets them. Now is a splendid opportunity to bid your landlord farewell, and pay for your own home just like paying rent. We are the exclusive agents of all this property.

TWO new houses, four rooms, hall and bath, electric light, barn and gravel walks. See these places. Terms easy.

A FEW LOTS we can build on to suit you. Some beautiful Hemphill lots at a bargain.

LOTS AND HOUSES in any part of city on very best of terms. Money to loan for building purposes, or to purchase vendor lein notes.

WE HAVE many new cottages. We can sell you a new house on as easy terms as an old one. See us for bargains.

Haggard & Duff

706½ Main Street. Phones 840.

A SNAP—House and lot on Henderson, $1,300; $400 cash, balance $15 per month 1205 Main.

80 ACRES black, sandy land, only six miles from Fort Worth, in the edge of the timber, about half prairie, near a small town and railroad station; price $25 per acre. 100 acres black waxy and black sandy land, all fine soil, part in cultivation, on public road; price $18 per acre; $300 cash, balance $100 per year. 20 acres fine fruit and vegetable land; price $300; $100 cash, balance $50 per year. Write for farm pamphlet. Hampton & Morris, 1407 Main street, Fort Worth, Texas.

WANTED—We have money to loan on improved Fort Worth city property, in amounts from $500 to $2,500, at low rate of interest. We also make loans on Tarrant county farms. We buy and sell stocks on commission, make ready sales of business places, such as mercantile stocks, flats, etc. We buy vendor lien and mechanic lien notes. We do a general fire, plate glass and tornado insurance business, and represent none but the representative companies of the United States, such as the following: Phoenix of Hartford, Conn., with a cash capital of $2,000,000; Orient of Hartford, Conn., established in the year 1847, with assets and surplus of several million dollars; American of Boston, Mass., established very nearly a hundred years age, in the year 1818; Camden of New Jersey, established in the year 1841. A. W. Samuels, fire insurance agent, 112 West Ninth street, down stairs, between Main and Houston streets. Old telephone No. 538-3 rings. New telephone No. 988. New telephone residence No. 1059.

FOR SALE—4-room frame house, with porches, brick flue to the ground, neat paintings and hard oil finish inside, on lot 50x100 feet to alley. Price $1,050; $100 cash, $15 monthly.

Five-room frame house on southeast side with porches, closets, hydrants, south front, on car line. Price $1,700; $150 cash, balance monthly.

Four fine lots in suburb at $425 each, small payment and monthly payments.

1,250 acres in Walker county, fourteen miles from Huntsville, 800 acres good tillable sandy loam, all in heavy pinery. Price $5 per acre. Will trade for Tarrant county land or city property. J. A. Ingram, 709½ Main St. Over Starling's Cigar Store. Phone 715.

FOR SALE—Lots 1 to 10, block 3, Rosen Heights, on car line; the choicest lots on Rosen Heights; will sell cheap for cash or on payments. B. Max Mehl, 1211 Main. Phone 710 3 rings.

REAL ESTATE

LIST your farms, ranches and city property with Carver & Hand, 513 Main street, Fort Worth.

WANTED—We have for sale the most beautiful property along the interurban. At Stop 5½ on a parallel line with the Polytechnic College, fronting south, directly on the boulevard. We have the property subdivided into lots, size 105 feet by 206, 105 feet by 214, 105 feet by 150, or if desired will sell as acreage property. This land was once in cultivation. It commands a beautiful view of the city of Fort Worth. Only a five minutes' ride from the city. Cars every half hour. Will make special inducements to builders of good homes. This land lies high and unbroken. This property will be worth double the price we are now asking within the next six months, when the Northern Traction Company finish their double track to Handley. Buy now and make some profit when the advance comes. A chance of a life time to buy this property now, and get rid of the city dust and noise and to get the best school advantages for your children. A. W. Samuels, fire insurance agent, 112 West Ninth St., between Main and Houston, down stairs. New telephone No. 988. Old telephone No. 538-3 rings.

IF YOU WANT to buy or trade your city property, see or write A. P. Thomas Realty Co., 906 Houston street.

SEE us for any kind of Real Estate. Carver & Hand, 513 Main street, Fort Worth.

HOMES FOR ALL IN NORTH FORT Worth—Buy a home on Diamond Hill Addition, close to packing houses, with school, water works, streets and sidewalks easy terms, just like paying rent. Glen Walker & Co., 115 Exchange Avenue and 113 West Sixth Street.

WE HAVE A LOVELY HOME on Quality Hill for $1,500 below value; a profit of $500 to $700 for some one at once in house and large lots on south side, small cash payment holds it; also a good five-room house close in on west side for $1,250. These are all bargains in their class, and we have others. Come at once. George W. Clark Real Estate Co., 105 West First street.

FOR SALE at a bargain, 200 acres of land adjoining Dallas within city limits, street railway runs through it. A big speculation in it. Too far from us to handle. American Land Co., Topeka, Kan.

FOR SALE—My home, a 9-room cottage, 1005 Lamar street, modern in every particular.

7 3-4 acres on Interurban at Handley.

2 lots 50x102 feet, opposite University.

1 large iron safe, book and drawer space 30x20x16½ inches.

New Cecilian piano player, walnut case.

G. W. SHELMIRE, 208 Hoxie Bldg.

Read This!

NEW 4-room house, large hall, front and back porch, bath room, nice china closet, water connection, bath tub, electric lights, etc., picket fence, barn and buggy house. Lot 50x100, within two blocks of car line. Best location in the city; easy terms.

We have for sale a vendor's lien note for $800 for three years at 8 per cent, first lien.

Haggard & Duff

Phone 840.

FINANCIAL

6 TO 8 PER CENT paid on deposits in MUTUAL HOME AND SAVINGS ASS'N. INCORPORATED 1894. 611 Main street.

MONEY TO LOAN—Short time loans on furniture, pianos, warehouse receipts and live stock. Household Loan Company, room 6, Pritchard building, North Fort Worth. New phone 1594. Fred W. Rhodes, manager.

I HAVE a limited amount of money to invest in vendor's lien notes. Otho S. Houston, at Hunter-Phelan Savings Bank and Trust Company.

6 TO 8 PER CENT paid on all deposits in Mutual Home and Savings Association. Incorporated 1894. 611 Main street.

SIMON'S LOAN OFFICE makes loans on all articles of value. 1503 Main st.

DEPOSIT YOUR SAVINGS in Mutual Home and Savings Association. Incorporated 1894. 6 to 8 per cent paid on deposits. 611 Main.

MONEY TO LOAN on farms and ranches by the W. C. Belcher Land Mortgage Co., corner Seventh and Houston streets.

DEPOSIT your savings in Mutual Home and Savings Association; 6 to 8 per cent paid on all deposits. Incorporated 1894. 611 Main street.

MONEY TO LOAN on furniture, pianos, stock and salaries. The Bank Loan Co., 108 W. 9th St. Phone 2496-2r. New phone 922 White.

LOANS on farms and improved city property. W. T. Humble, representing Land Mortgage Bank of Texas Fort Worth National Bank Building.

THE J. J. LANGEVER CO., opposite the city hall, decorators of the first class.

RESTAURANTS

—GO TO—

JOHNSON'S RESTAURANT

For quick and clean service. Merchants' lunch, 11:30 to 2 p. m. Our Drip Coffee Unexcelled.

1012 Main. Phone 92.

UNDER new management, the O. K. Restaurant, neatest dining room in the city, the best the market can afford. Merchants' lunch from 11:30 to 2 p. m., regular dinner 25c. We employ white cooks. Call and give us a trial and be convinced. Cox & Chandler, props., 908 Houston street. Phone 901.

BANK RAILING

BANK RAILING—TEXAS ANCHOR Fence Co.; catalogue. Fort Worth.

STOVES REPAIRED

ALL WE ASK IS A TRIAL—We do the rest. Both phones. Furniture Exchange, 308 Houston street.

Everybody wants to look neat for

Thanksgiving

Phone us and let us do up your Laundry.

Natatorium Laundry

BOTH PHONES 176

North Side Court House

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Gentle and safe family horse, afraid of nothing. New harness and phaeton in splendid condition. Owner gone for winter, reason for selling. Bargain if taken at once. Apply Telegram office.

FOR SALE—A complete or partially complete household of five rooms at bargain, if taken before 1st, at 710 West Belknap. House for rent.

FOR SALE—House and lot at 615 Florence street.

FOR SALE—Wall paper, ready mixed paints and window glass, at the old reliable shop opposite city hall, The J. J. Langever Co.

WINDOW GLASS, window glass, window glass—One car just arrived. Prices will be lower than ever. The J. J. Langever Co., opposite city hall.

FOR SALE—A first-class stock of Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes and Store Fixtures, located in good town Central Texas. Invoice $20,000. Write or inquire McGowan & Wade, Scott-Harrold Bldg., Fort Worth.

WE REPAIR FURNITURE—Satisfaction guaranteed. Both phones. Furniture Exchange, 308 Houston street.

BOUND'S ELECTRIC CO. RENT MOTORS.

FOR SALE—$300 upright piano, slightly used, for $168. S. D. Chesnut, 303 Houston st.

FOR SALE—Saloon in Fort Worth doing good business. Hampton & Morris, 1407 Main street.

FOR SALE—Frame store building, 50x60 feet, corner Fourteenth and Main streets. Inquire of Lusher & Rockett, Second and Throckmorton streets.

FOR SALE—Large hotel range; nearly new; bargain. 202 Houston street. Phone 72.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—A beautiful modern five-room cottage, just completed, on lot 53½x140 to 20-foot alley, on Eighth avenue car line. Owner next door, corner Eighth ave. and Wetherbee street.

FOR SALE—Lawyer's 32-drawer filing case, large plate glass mirror and one sewing machine. Apply Mechanics Loan Co., 706½ Main street. Phone 1782.

FOR SALE—Or will trade, fine piano for organ. Call or addres Mechanics Loan Co., 906½ Main st. Phone 1782. See piano 1300 South Adams.

FOR SALE—A white Angora goat. Call 3038 old phone or address 1104 East Pearl street.

Keith's Konqueror and Selz Royal Blue SHOES

$3.50 and $4.00

Monnig's
1302-4-6 Main

AWNINGS

AWNINGS made at Scott's Renovating Works and Awning Factory. Phone 167 1-ring, new phone 863.

MOVED!

NEAR THE DEPOT, corner Fourteenth and Main streets, Bank of Commerce building,

DRAUGHON'S PRACTICAL BUSINESS College

Open day and night.

Furniture WANTED!

All kinds, new and old. You can buy, sell and exchange any thing, any time at Nix, the Furniture Man. 10 cents per day or $1 per week will furnish your room complete. Both phones, 302-4 Houston street.

SPECIAL NOTICES

A FEW THINGS WE DO—We clean and press ladies' and gentlemen's clothing, steam renovating and dry cleaning. We make a specialty of cleaning fine silks and woolens and kid gloves. Clean and curl feathers. Phone us—we call and deliver. Union Dye Works, 311 Main street.

FULL LINE OF SAMPLES of tailor-made suits, silk shirt waist suits, etc., can be seen by calling at 1216 Fifth avenue, Fort Worth. Suits made to order a specialty. Agent for Charles A. Stevens & Bros., Chicago. Telephone 3223.

WHY NOT buy your fuel and feed from H. H. Hager & Co? They will treat you right. Phone 2232.

WE ARE anxious to buy furniture and stoves. Phone 72, Roberson-McClure, 202 Houston.

WILL open a market Saturday morning in connection with my grocery; will have nothing but first class meat. Patronage solicited. Corner of Pennsylvania and Fulton street.

IF YOU want to sell furniture or stoves phone 72.

I AM running three second-hand furniture stores and must have second-hand furniture and stoves. Will pay highest price for all I can get. R. E. Lewis Furniture Co., 214 Houston st. Phones 1329-1r

FASHIONABLE Dressmaking done with neatness and dispatch at 710 Macon

CARPET RENOVATING WORKS—Carpets, rugs, feathers and mattresses renovated made to order, Phone 167 1 ring old phone.

THE J. J. LANGEVER CO., opposite the city hall, sign painters.

Dr. J. E. Gardiner

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Solicits general practice. Especial attention to consumption. Office, room 411 Hoxie building. Hours 11 to 12 a. m.; 2 to 3 p. m.; residence, cor Malcolm and Lexington. Phone 2592.

SHUCKS—We have them; want to contract with party to take them from our mill. The Mugg & Dryden Co.

LEHIGH Valley and Coal Creek Coal—Have no agents, but sell direct to consumers in car load lots. Not members of any combine or trust. THE FOLSOM-MORRIS COAL MINING CO., Midway, I. T.

PHONE BOUND'S ELECTRIC CO., 1006 HOUSTON street.

WE ARE headquarters for Shirt and Collar work. Texas Laundry Co.

WOULD you pay $75 in weekly payments for two small matched gray mules? Phone 2636.

Goods Guaranteed as Represented

WOOD & WOOD

Carriage Repository, 401-403 Houston Street.

DILLARD'S cabinet shop will move to 923 Travis street, December 1. Phones 1950.

Scholarship $10

$10 pays for a four months' scholarship, night school, at the Nelson and Draughon Business College, corner Sixth and Main streets. Phone 1307. J. W. Draughon, President.

HATS of all kinds cleaned, dyed and reshaped. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed. Wood & Co., 710 Houston. Phone 630-1 ring.

NORTH BOUND

WEST BOUND — BOUND Electric Co. Centrally Located 1006 Houston St Phone 837 — EAST BOUND

SOUTH BOUND

SHOW cases, display cases, jewelry cases or any old thing in the fixture line. Texas Fixture Co., Fort Worth, Texas.

Learn Telegraphy

At the Nelson and Draughon Business College, corner Sixth and Main streets.

J. W. Draughon

President.

BICYCLES

NEW and second-hand bicycles, footballs and bicycle sundries. All work guaranteed. Eureka Repair Shop, 107 West Ninth street. Phone 1893-2r.

BUSINESS CHANCES

WANTED partner in first class poultry and feed business, also three good band men to locate in good town, 3,000 population. Rock Island Land Co., Duncan, I. T.

SAFES

FIRE PROOF SAFES—We have on hand at all times several sizes and solicit your inquiries and orders. Nash Hardware Co., Fort Worth.

Ready Reference Directory

NELSON & DRAUGHON COLLEGE
Bookkeeping, Shorthand, etc., 6th & Main.

ATTORNEYS AT LAW
Beckham & Beckham, 207 Ft. W. Nat. Bk.

REAL ESTATE RENTALS
Tex. Adv. Realty Co., 1205½ Main.

PAINT AND WALL PAPER
BROWN & VERA, 1108 Main street.

BANK AND OFFICE FIXTURES
TEXAS FIXTURE CO., Fort Worth, Tex.

PERSONAL

VIAVA—Mrs. L. G. Thomas. Phone 1284.

When in need of WOOD, phone 525, Toole's Wood Yard.

School Books

Complete Line at CONNER'S Book Store

SCHOOL BOOKS, complete line at Cnner's Book Store.

"PALACE CAR," "PALACE CAR." "Palace Car." Can you remember it? That is the name of the best ready mixed paint on the market, sold only by The J. J. Langever Co., opposite city hall.

DRS. KING AND RATLIFF, Surgeon Dentists, Fort Worth National Bank building. Phone 934.

NO TIME so appropriate as Thanksgiving for treating yourself with new snowy table linens; no place like the Daylight Store, where a linen sale is now going on.

BOUND'S ELECTRIC CO., FOR LAMPS (GLOBES).

WE HAVE just installed and now have operating the finest laundry machinery in the southwest and are prepared to handle large customers on a close margin. Let us figure with you. Texas Laundry Co.

CALL and see our new up-to-date laundry machinery. Texas Laundry Co.

POKER PLAYERS—Write me for free prospectus regarding the most valuable information ever given on draw poker. Address, Ritter Publishing Co., Columbus, Ohio.

INTELLIGENT AMERICAN WIDOW, handsome and worth $60,000, wants good, honest husband. Address, Aetna, Oneonta bldg., Chicago, Ill.

I DESIRE wives for many honorable gentlemen of means and homes. Write in confidence for particulars, stating your age. Family Circle, Toledo, Ohio.

WE desire husband for widow in Texas, aged 33, with $28,000, and for hundreds others as desirable who have means. Home and Comfort, Toledo, Ohio.

WE HAVE JUST STARTED with a splendid stock of Furniture and Stoves, new and second-hand. We are anxious to get acquainted and we'll sell cheaper than anybody. Also to keep our stock complete, we will pay more for second-hand goods. We think this can be done, don't you? Try us and we will prove it. Robinson & McClure, 202 Houston Street. Phone 72.

HANDSOME, JOLLY OLD MAID, age 32, has $15,000. Wants a good respectable husband. Address Curran, 1242 Wabash, Chicago.

LADIES—When in need send for free trial of our neverfailing remedy. Relief quick and safe. Paris Chemical Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

WOULD you marry if suited? Send for best Marriage Paper published. Mailed free. J. D. Gunnels, Toledo, O.

IF ITS bank railing, counter railing or any kind of office fixtures we make them. Texas Fixture Co., Fort Worth, Texas.

DON'T forget to buy groceries while they are cheap at The Model Grocery, 325 South Boaz street.

LUMBER

THOS. M. HUFF, DEALER IN LUMBER, Shingles, Sash, Doors, Lime and Cement. Figure with me before buying. Phone 3150. Corner Railroad avenue and Lipscomb street.

Manhattan Bar

J. N. TRAPP, Proprietor.
Fine Wines, Liquors and Cigars.
1214 Main Street.

Our Glasses Always Fit

Our glasses stop headaches, straighten cross eyes and relieve nervous disorders, when due to eye strain. We fit more glasses than all others in Fort Worth combined. We guarantee to satisfy. Examination free.

LORD, Optician.

TO EXCHANGE

LET US MAKE your face. We can add charms to your winning ways and you will be delighted with your photos. John Swartz, 705 Main street.

OSTEOPATH

DR. HARRIS, Osteopath, fourth floor, Fort Worth National Bank building. Telephone 736 and 3308.

COUNTER RAILING

COUNTER RAILING — TEXAS Anchor Fence Co.; catalogue, Fort Worth.

LIQUORS FOR FAMILY USE

It Must be Good

If it comes from

I. MAYER

FAMILY LIQUORS

1210 Main St., Fort Worth, Tex.

WOOD LONG,

THE TAILOR

Moved to 612 Main Street.

KEY FITTING

BOUND'S ELECTRIC CO., FOR KEY LINE.

ARTISTIC WIREWORK

ARTISTIC WIREWORK—Texas Anchor Fence Co.; catalogue. Ft. Worth.

MONEY TO LOAN

Do you want a little money weekly or monthly payments on your salary? Empire Loan Co., 1212 Main.

PHOTOS

QUALITY stands first at our place, Worth Studio. High grade portrait work a specialty. Phone 1528 3-rings.

TRUNKS AND SUIT CASES

Suit cases from $1.25 up.
Trunks from $1.50 up.
Henry Pollock Trunk Co.,
908 Main street. Phone 825.

CIGARS

SEE MY LINE OF CLEAR HAVANA and Domestic Cigars before purchasing. Box trade a specialty. Billy Coleman, 709 Main.

LOTIONS

Velvetine keeps the skin soft and smooth. Sold by Covey & Martin, Druggists, 810 Main street, phone 9.

BUGGIES AND WAGONS

We carry a complete line of Carriages, Surries, Phaetens, Top Buggies, Runabouts, Express Wagons, etc.

WOOD & WOOD

CARRIAGE REPOSITORY, 401-403 Houston St.

DO you want the best? If you are thinking of buying a runabout surrey, phaeton or anything in the vehicle line, see others, then see us. Fife & Miller, 312 Houston street. W. F. Tackaberry.

BOAZ'S BOOK STORE

Handles all of the state and city adopted school books; also a first-class stock of school furnishings.

STOVE REPAIRING

We do all kinds of repair work and are gasoline experts. Evers & Truman, 208 Houston Street. Both phones 1954-1r.

GROCERIES AND FUEL

FOR FIRST-CLASS GROCERIES, dry wood, feed, coal, etc., telephone your order to L. B. Purcell. Old and new phones, 339. Corner Pennsylvania avenue and Hemphill street.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

ANNOUNCEMENT—The Telegram is authorized to announce James H. Maddox as a candidate for city marshal of the city of Fort Worth, subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

$28.40 VIA M. K. & T. Ry

To Chicago and Return

Account

International Live Stock Exhibition. Tickets on sale Nov. 26, 27 and 28; final limit for return Dec. 5.

T. T. McDONALD
City Ticket Agent

Fort Worth Humane Society

The society requests that all cases of cruelty to children, dumb animals and birds be reported immediately to its secretary, J. C. Miller, Natatorium Building. Unsigned communications will receive no attention.

LIQUORS

H. BRANN & CO.

Will deliver to your homes

A gallon of Green River	$3.50
Full quart of same	$1.00
Same bottled in bond	$1.25
Quart of Hill and Hill	$1.25
Bottle Duffy's Malt	$1.00
Genuine Old Crow, full quart for	$1.25
French Brandy, quart	$1.25
Imported Rum, quart	$1.50
Scotch or Irish Whisky	$1.50
Gallon pure Claret	$1.00
Dozen assorted Wine, quarts for	$5.00
Gallon choice Sweet Wine	$2.00

Complete price list furnished upon application.

H. BRANN & COMP'Y

Both Telephones 342.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish through the columns of The Telegram to return our most sincere thanks to our many friends for their sympathy and assistance rendered us during the late illness and death of our beloved one. Ever will we cherish the kind deeds in our hearts and trust a reward is laid up for all in the celestial home above. Thanking Mr. and Mrs. Rob Wooton, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Wooton, Mrs. Robert Tillison, Mrs. Wilbur Fiddler, Mrs. Call Fiddler and George Roberts, who carried the message, the First Ward Mother's and Teachers' Club and room No. 6; also the Southwestern Telephone Boys, and especially Mr. and Mrs. Ray Potter.
G. S. MILLER AND CHILDREN, MRS. M. A. SAUNDERS, MRS. SUSIE ADAMS.

FRISCO SYSTEM

Special Rates! St. Louis

AND RETURN

$21.40.....Limit 15 Days
On Sale Daily.
$25.90.....Limit Dec. 15
On Sale Daily.
$13.60.....Limit 7 Days
Tuesdays and Saturdays.

Chicago

AND RETURN

$30.90.....Limit Dec. 15

Complete Service, Splendid Trains, Observation Dining Cars.

For full information, telephone

J. B. MORROW, Ticket Agent,
PHONE NO. 2.

Quickest Route to the East
Pullman Sleepers
Dining Cars

T. M. HUNT, T. P. A. DALLAS — C. F. WOODS, T. P. A. SAN ANTONIO.

Low Holiday Rates

TO POINTS IN

GEORGIA, ALABAMA, TENNESSEE, SOUTH AND NORTH CAROLINA AND SOUTHERN KENTUCKY

VIA

Louisville & Nashville R. R.

Tickets on sale December 20, 21, 22 and 26, good returning thirty days from date of sale, at ONE FARE plus $2 for the round trip. Choice of routes via New Orleans or Memphis. Through Sleeping Cars, electric lighted Dining Cars and FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS on through trains. No better service anywhere. For full information address

T. H. KINGSLEY,
T. P. A., Dallas, Texas.
P. W. MORROW,
T. P. A., Houston, Texas.
N. B. BAIRD,
T. P. A., Little Rock, Ark.
MAX BAUMGARTEN,
D. P. A., Memphis, Tenn.
J. K. RIDGELY,
D. P. A., New Orleans, La.

He Came Again

[Original.]

The United States frigate Pensacola, ordered to Brazil, was getting up anchor. Lieutenant Edward Fletcher and his fiancee, Grace Banning, were standing in a corner of the deck speaking the last hurried parting words.

"From all I can learn, sweetheart," he said, "we'll get back here within six months, and when we do"—

"Oh, Ned, suppose something should happen?"

"To you, darling?" he asked anxiously.

"No; to you."

"What can happen in these times of peace? No, I'll be here with the ship, and then"—

"Don't speak so confidently; there are storms and, down there, hurricanes."

"Darling, I tell you I'll be here with the ship, no matter what happens."

There was a signal for visitors to leave the ship, a long impassioned embrace between the lovers, and Miss Banning went ashore. As the vessel moved out she stood on the dock waving to her lover till after she could no longer distinguish him, then turned away and dragged herself home.

On reaching Rio, Lieutenant Fletcher was ordered to command a boat's crew to go ashore and bring off supplies. The passage was not considered dangerous, but a strong wind and tide, despite the oarsmen's efforts to keep the boat steady, carried her bow around so that she fell into the trough of the sea. At the moment a gigantic wave dashed against her side, capsized her, and the young commander and every man of his crew were drowned.

The shock to Grace Banning at hearing of her lover's death well nigh upset her reason. At first she cried to him piteously to come back to her; that he had promised to come back with the ship. Then she fell into a stupor, a lack of interest in everything about her. In vain her mother endeavored to provide her with such occupation and amusement as would divert her mind. All in vain. She constantly brooded over the last scene between her and her lover, especially the words spoken by each, always ending, "Darling, I tell you I'll be here with the ship, no matter what happens."

Mrs. Banning was pained to notice that her daughter was keeping track of the Pensacola. That ship on touching at Rio received orders to proceed around "the Horn" to San Francisco, thence to Hongkong. Grace watched the government reports. Indeed, her heart was in the ship sailing around the world. Perhaps she was waiting for it to return that she might again stand in the corner where she had bidden what had proved a last farewell. When the ship reached China she began to appear more cheerful. It was as if her lover was aboard and, having sailed over half the globe, would now have entered upon the return. Mrs. Banning, not realizing the cause of the change in Grace, began to hope that she was mending and even looked about for a suitable party with whom she might make a match for her. She knew Grace would never marry for love and, being indifferent as to whom she married, might be influenced to take a rich husband.

At last it was announced that the ship Pensacola was due. She did not arrive on time, and Grace seemed troubled. When she arrived Grace was in a flutter, acting as one about to be reunited with a lover instead of with the ship on which he had sailed.

Then came invitations for a ball given by the officers on board the ship. Mrs. Banning reproved the servant who unwittingly gave the cards to Grace, but was thunderstruck when her daughter told her that she would attend the ball. Finding that she could not dissuade her, the mother consented, with a faint hope that the visit under such different circumstances from the last might break the spell.

On the night of the entertainment the ship was brilliantly illuminated, while a marine band furnished music. The decks were in possession of the dancers. Mrs. Banning kept an eye on her daughter for awhile, but Grace seemed to stand up so well under the strain that her mother soon gave over watching her. Then Grace was missing. She had walked, on the arm of a naval officer, to the corner where she had parted with her lover. That corner was now in the light, and couples were walking past it to and fro.

Suddenly Grace's form quivered, she threw up her arms and exclaimed:

"Ned! Oh, Ned! I knew you would be here!"

She started forward with outstretched arms, but soon sank in a swoon.

Her attendant, astonished, picked her up, while several couples who were passing sprang to his assistance. Water was sprinkled in her face, and she revived. Then, with a strange light in her eye, she walked away, supported by her attendant. Her mother was called, and they left the ship to be driven home.

The officer who had been her escort, puzzled, went back to the place where Grace had swooned. There in the corner where she had seen, or fancied she saw, her lover he picked up several strands of wet, slimy seaweed. He wondered how they came there.

Grace was driven to a home she never afterward left. She made no mention of the cause of her shock, and her mother never asked for information concerning it. The physician who was called in pronounced her case one of hysteria, the result of monomania or brooding on one subject. However that may be, her melancholy never left her, and six months after her second visit to the Pensacola she had passed away.

MARY ALICE BERESFORD.

You'd Better Hurry!

IF YOU WANT TO SEE THE BIG SHOW

The St. Louis Fair closes Dec. 1. Only one month is left you.

The Cotton Belt Route

Is runnning the finest trains to the World's Fair City, leaving at 10:30 a. m. and 9:15 p. m. Through Sleepers, Chair Cars, Diners and Parlor Cars.

Always Leave on Time

If you want the best you will go "Cotton Belt." Coach Excursions Tuesdays and Saturdays. City office, Fort Worth National Bank Bldg.

ASK US. WE KNOW. JNO. M. ADAMS, C. P. & T. A.

Idaho

Is one of the best irrigated states in America. People are moving there because hot winds, destructive storms and cyclones are unknown, and because its matchless climate generates vigor and guarantees good health. The

UNION PACIFIC

Many miles shorter than any other line is the only railroad running two trains daily from Omaha, and two trains daily from Kansas City to

Idaho Montana Utah

For information about cheap homeseekers' rates to above points write or call on

E. L. LOMAX, G. P. & T. A.
Omaha, Neb.

The Direct and Scenic Line

BETWEEN

St. Louis and Gulf of Mexico

IS VIA

THE MIDLAND ROUTE

Texas Midland Railroad

IN CONNECTION WITH HOUSTON AND TEXAS CENTRAL RAILROAD
AND
FRISCO SYSTEM
(Via Paris and Ennis, Texas.)

Forming close connections in Union Stations at intermediate junctions, and operating

PULLMAN DRAWING-ROOM SLEEPERS

Through without change between Houston and St. Louis.
Cafe Cars—meals a la carte—and Harvey Dining Rooms are conveniently provided en route.

For rates, train schedules and sleeper reservations, apply to any Ticket Agent, or address

F. B. McKAY, General Passenger Agent, Terrell Texas.

FOLLOW THE FLAG.

THE WABASH THROUGH SLEEPERS

—TO—

New York, Boston, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Detroit, Chicago, Canada and the Northwest.

The Shortest, quickest and Only Line from St. Louis or Kansas City running over its Own Tracks to Niagara Falls or Buffalo.

SEE THIS SCHEDULE

Leaving St. Louis	9:00 a. m.	12:30 p. m.	9:05 p. m.	11:32 p. m.
Arriving at Detroit	7:50 p. m.	11:40 p. m	9.40 a. m.	12:10 p. m.
Arriving at Buffalo	4:05 a. m.	7:35 a. m.	6:50 p. m.	7:50 p. m.
Arriving at New York	3:30 p. m.	9:00 p. m.	7:40 a. m.	7:30 a. m.
Arriving at Boston	5:20 p. m.	.....	9:50 a. m.	10:10 a. m.

Unexcelled Service Between St. Louis and Chicago

Leave St. Louis	9:22 a. m	2:00 p. m.	9:05 p. m.	11:32 p. m.
Arrive in Chicago	5:20 p. m.	9:00 p. m.	7:30 a. m.	8:00 a. m.

St. Louis, St. Paul and Minneapolis Limited

Leaving St. Louis	2:10 p. m.	Leaving St. Paul	7:10 p. m.
Arriving in Minneapolis	8:15 p. m.	Leaving Minneapolis	7:45 p. m.
Arriving in St. Paul	8:50 a. m.	Arriving in St. Louis	2:00 p. m.

The New Pittsburg Route

Leave St. Louis	9:00 a. m.	12:30 p. m.	9:05 p. m.
Arrive Toledo	7:40 p. m.	10:50 p. m.	8:10 a. m.
Arrive Pittsburg	6:30 a. m.	6:30 a. m.	4:15 p. m.

Stopover allowed on all through tickets at St. Louis, Detroit and Niagara Falls.

Meals served in Wabash Palace Dining Cars. Hours of valuable time saved by purchasing tickets via WABASH. Consult ticket agents of connecting lines or address

W. F. CONNER, S. W. P. A., 395 Main St., Room 202, Dallas, Texas.

SPECIAL CARS VIA INTERURBAN

The Interurban is prepared to run SPECIAL cars for select parties, lodges, etc., at low rates. For full information call

GENERAL PASSENGER AGENT, PHONE 208.

Augusts'

Men's and Young Men's

Smart

Suits and Overcoats

At $10 to $25

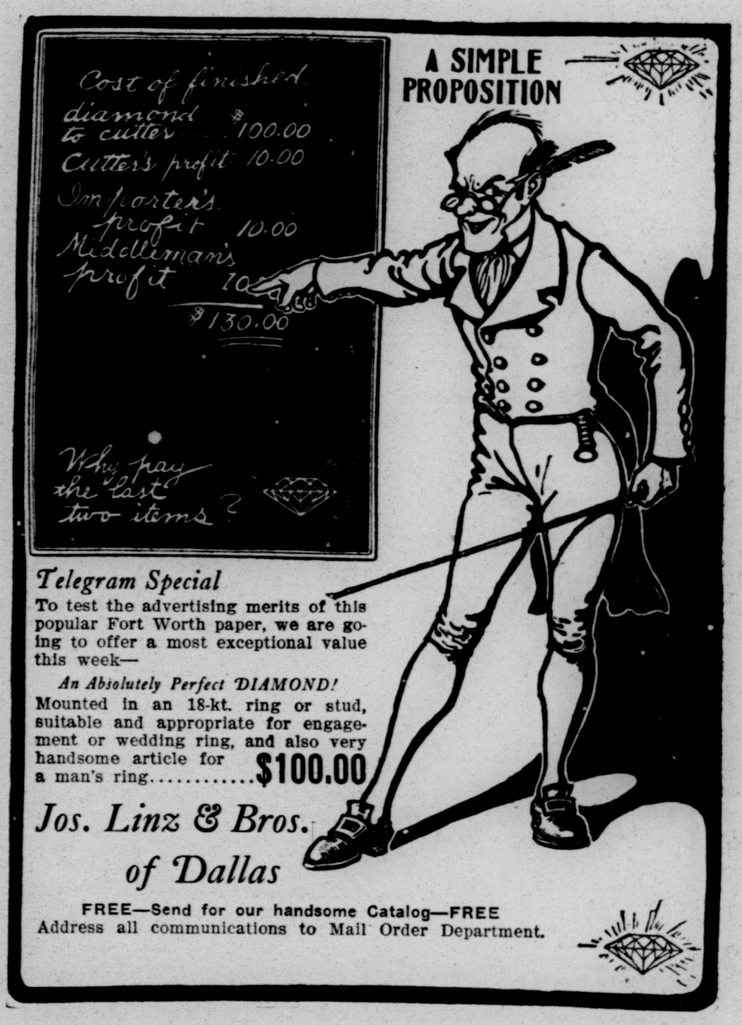

They're just what good clothes should be, possessing all the artistic points usually put into made-to-measure garments. Made of Scotch Cheviots, in the newest browns; also Worsteds, Cassimeres and Scotch mixtures, in pattern and color effects as varied as men's fancies.

These Suits are hand-tailored throughout and express the latest thoughts of fashion builders.

TO BE HAD ONLY AT

A. & L. Augusts'

Copyright 1904 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

Telegram Special

To test the advertising merits of this popular Fort Worth paper, we are going to offer a most exceptional value this week—

An Absolutely Perfect DIAMOND!

Mounted in an 18-kt. ring or stud, suitable and appropriate for engagement or wedding ring, and also very handsome article for a man's ring..... $100.00

Jos. Linz & Bros. of Dallas

FREE—Send for our handsome Catalog—FREE

Address all communications to Mail Order Department.

Telegram Want Ads Pay Best

FIR AND TAR IS THE REMEDY THAT CURES YOUR COUGH

This is not a new remedy but one we have been putting up for eight or ten years, and we know that there is nothing better sold.

R. A. ANDERSON, The Druggist

OPEN ALL NIGHT In this Store Quality Stands First 712 MAIN STREET

PHYSICIANS EVERYWHERE

Know the Value of Pyramid Pile Cure.

"Gratitude alone prompts me to testify to the efficacy of Pyramid Pile Cure. Last March I bought a dollar package at the drug store, which cured me of bleeding piles, and I was a sufferer from them for eight years; but I had not been troubled with them since, until last September, when I gave birth to a baby girl, and after that I had a very severe case of protruding piles, which a trained nurse said was the worst case she ever saw, and my doctor told me to get Pyramid Pile Cure again, which I did and was completely cured in three days. I have not had piles of any kind since, and it is all owing to this wonderful remedy. My nurse took a box, which I was glad to be able to give her, for I know she will be able to help lots of suffering people whom I could never see or know.

"I recommend 'Pyramids' wherever I know of any one suffering as I did. It gives me great pleasure to be able to say I am entirely cured, which my doctor says is true. I say God Bless Pyramid Pile Cure." From a former great sufferer, Mrs. F. Ancott, 1206 Unity St., Frankford, Philadelphia, Pa.

This remedy, which is sold by druggists generally, in fifty cent and dollar packages, is in a suppository form, is applied directly to the parts affected and performs its work quietly and painlessly. Its value is evidenced by the testimony given above, and we urge all sufferers to buy a package now and give it a trial tonight. Accept no substitutes and remember that there is no remedy "just as good." A little book on the Cause and Cure of Piles is published by the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., and will be sent free to any address.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY

CLUBS

SOROSIS CLUB

The Sorosis club completed its study of Russian history on last Wednesday and on this occasion Mrs. McKnight closed her directorship. She has made an excellent leader and was extended a vote of thanks for her splendid directorship, for the study of Russian history as arranged by her has proved not only most instructive but most interesting.

Roll call at this meeting was responded to with current events, Mrs. C. T. Prewett gave a parliamentary drill and two interesting papers were read: "The Present Czar and the Royal Family," by Mrs. Merrill and the history of Moscow and Kremlin by Miss Lewis. The club topic for discussion was the Russian social and educational systems.

PENELOPE CLUB

Mrs. Julia Hill was the director of the Penelope club in it study of German history last Tuesday afternoon. Roll call was responded to with the names of German musical composers and three-minute oral sketches were given by different members on Gustavus Adolphus, Baron Tilly and Count Wallenstein.

There was a fine attendance, and the study is proving unusually interesting.

Mrs. Agnes Geer, the president, represented the club at the state federation at Houston last week.

HARMONY CLUB

The Harmony club met at the residence of Miss Lottie Holland last Wednesday afternoon. Lohengrin was the opera for the day and Wagner the composer. The story of the opera was told by Mrs. F. D. Hill. Mrs. Belle Campbell and Miss Madeline Campbell rendered a piano duet, the bridal chorus from Lohengrin. Rollin M. Pease gave a vocal selection from Tannhauser and Guy Pitner and Miss Whitaker both gave excellent piano solos from Wagner.

The next meeting will take place at the residence of Mrs. Campbell, 403 Wheeler street, Nov. 30.

THE ARIONS

Committees from the active membership of the Arions have been assigned to the work of soliciting subscribers for the series of concerts to be given by this organization during the season.

While these committees are meeting with great success, their time for the work is limited on account of their business relations, and they will appreciate the interest and co-operation that may be shown by those who will encourage them by sending in their names by either letter or phone.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARIES

GOLDEN WEDDING

A pleasant family reunion was had at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Randle, 110 North Throckmorton street, Fort Worth, Texas, last Monday, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, which took place near Brenham, Texas, November 14, 1854. Their children, grandchildren, one great-grandchild and a few friends composed the company. A sumptuous dinner was spread and enjoyed by all present. During the afternoon the little folk played, the larger folk cracked jokes, told old-time stories, and all had a good time generally. The decorations were yellow chrysanthemums, and the bride and groom of fifty years were congratulated upon their youthful appearance, and the wish made that they might celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary. They received many lovely gifts.

SILVER WEDDING

One of the prettiest and most enjoyable affairs of the season occurred on Tuesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Royston entertained a number of their friends at their lovely cottage home, 1508 Lipscomb street, the occasion being the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marrage.

The house was elaborately decorated throughout with mistletoe, chrysanthemums and potted ferns. An orchestra dispensed music during the entire evening. A dainty two-course luncheon was served. About two hundred guests called to pay their respects, and many were the expressions of love and best wishes to the host and hostess. May they live to enjoy their golden anniversary, was the universal wish.

There were many beautiful gifts received, one of the most conspicuous being a magnificent silver water service, given by Mr. Royston's co-workers in the sheriff's department. Mr. and Mrs. Royston were assisted in receiving their guests by Mrs. Royston's sisters, who are her guests at present, Mrs. C. W. Harris of Mattroon, Ill., and Mrs. E. J. Stubbins of Cairo, Ill.

WORTH ATHLETIC GIRLS

Miss Elizabeth Wells was the hostess yesterday afternoon of the Worth Athletic Girls. Whist as usual was played and there were four tables. After the games a three-course luncheon was served. Among those present were: Misses Lola Mayfield, Allie Mallard, Edna Pendleton, Edna Neal Card, Nellie Trippet, Armede Perry, Ruth Hosmer, Mary Dingee, Lucile Griffen, Clara Crowley, Rosaline Perry, Mary Montgomery and Madge Hosmer.

OTHER EVENTS

CHARMING INFORMAL MUSICAL

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Davidson entertained a few friends quite informally but wholly delightfully on Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kuzdo. The honorees both contributed to the pleasure of the evening with violin and piano numbers, when salad, crackers, olives, coffee, cake and almonds were served.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kuzdo, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Sloan Jr. Mesdames Sloan and Orcutt of Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Bomar, Mr. and Mrs. N. Harding, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hutchison, Mr. and Mrs. J. Will Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Deitrich and Mrs. F. L. Jaccard.

ENTERTAINED POLYTECHNIC STUDENTS

A jolly company of music loving friends composed of some of the best talent of the city and Polytechnic Heights were entertained on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Monnig on Alston avenue. Among those who by their presence made the affair thoroughly enjoyable to all participants were Messrs. Sigler, Bond, Hemphill, McDonald, Shriner, Hurt and Pitner, Mesdames Sigler, Cooper Males, La Vesque and Bond, and Misses Paddock, Phenix, Bonnell, Boone and Ray.

The principal features of the evening were the wonderful musical accomplishments of Professor McDonald and Professor Pitner, and vocal selections of Mr. Hemphill, which brought delight to the ears of the listeners and added to the light-heartedness of the merry gathering. Refreshments were served and 10:30 o'clock, which is "au revoir" time for Polytechnic suburbanites came entirely too soon for the host and hostess, who were honored to entertain such congenial company.

PROGRESSIVE PEANUT STICKING

Miss Tennie Owen entertained a few friends quite pleasantly at her home, 1114 Granger street, Friday evening, with progressive peanut sticking. The prize at this, a box of bonbons, was won by Burt Potts. Dainty refreshments were served.

Those present were Misses Bessie Gaskell, Alberta Chestnut, Ophelia Withers, Leona Lytton, Stella DeVitt, Pearl Nored, Mary Bell, Frocia Owen, Tennie Owen, Jennie Owen; Messrs. Schoults, Bert Potts, Bert Rogers, J. H. Knight, McLean, T. W. Sydnor, Vivian and G. W. Roff.

MISS WAPLES' DINNER

Last Monday evening Miss Helen Waples entertained at an informal dinner at the Hotel Worth. The decorations were beautiful, being of autumn leaves and fruit, and six elaborate courses were served. Those present were Misses Ted Edrington, Bernie Newlin and Grace Elser; Messrs. W. B. Paddock, Herman Gahagan, Scheuber and Miller.

After dinner the party attended the performance of "The Forbidden Land" at the opera house.

FIVE ARRESTED FOR MURDER OF WOMAN

Mother and Four Children Are Held and the Children Have Each Confessed to the Crime of Which They Are Accused

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 19.—Mrs. Sophie Merritt and her four children were held today without bail by Judge Orcutt of Towanda for the murder of Mrs. Bigter Johnson, wife of the oldest son of Mrs. Merritt, and her niece, 12 years of age, Annie Benjamin.

The evidence included the confessions of two of the Johnson boys, who, while not denying part in the murderous plot, accuse each other of committing the crime. Charles says that his mother and brother Bigter killed the two and that he and his brother Anson set fire to the house and burned it down. Bigter Johnson declares that he offered his mother and brother Charles $3 each for killing his wife, that they did kill her and Alice, the child, who chanced to be in the house at the time. Nancy and Atkinson Johnson, who are 14-year-old twins, corroborated the story of the plot. Only the mother has made no confession of guilt. They are to be tried in December.

VALUABLE PAPERS

PARIS, Nov. 20.—Through the instrumentality of Secretary Henry Vinaud of the American embassy here, it has become known that a priceless collection of the private papers of Christopher Columbus, including his log book, is in possession of the Duke of Abbe, a direct descendant of the discoverer of America. An agitation has started among American residents to have the United States government acquire the treasure.

Democratic leaders are now engaged in felicitating the party on the fact that there was no surrender. Of course not. But there was one of the most complete lickings that we ever received.

SEE PAGE NINE FOR WASHER BROS. ADVERTISEMENT

Turkey Roast Pans

Are fast going. Two sizes left. They always go when the price is right, 60c and ..... 45¢

The only ones we have left. Come and get them while they last.

Special on Chamber Sets Monday

12-piece decorated Chamber Set $5.35
10-piece decorated Chamber Set $3.35

Other Snaps

Rolled Edge Bowl and Fancy Pitcher ..... 75¢
Slop Jar, with cover and bail $1.00
6-inch Stope Pipe, per joint ..... 15¢

The Arcade,

1204-6 Main Street. Lee Hagood, Prop.

LONG DISTANCE TALKING

Is all very well. We would be pleased to have your order if you phone it to us, but we would rather see you at our store and have the pleasure of showing you our line of FURNITURE and CARPETS.

We want to call your attention to our exchange system. You no doubt would like a new Sideboard, Extension Table, Buffet, Chiffonier or a new Carpet, and perhaps you have something you would like to dispose of. We will take it.

Yours for business,

LADD FURNITURE & CARPET COMPANY

PHONE 562. 704-706 HOUSTON STREET

MEN—

Did you ever stop to examine the magnificent values, combined with the stylish assortment, offered by THE FAMOUS in their celebrated "WORTH" shoe, embracing all the leathers, in patents, plain vici, velours, box calf and tan Russia—with the latest of lasts, in blucher, straight lace or button, single or double sole, with neat extension edge? $3.50

A... "Worth" Leader— $3.50

Mail Orders Solicited

THE Famous SHOE STORE 709 HOUSTON ST. FT WORTH

True Fitting Shoes 709 Houston St.

THOMAS D. ROSS,
Attorney
And Counsellor at Law.
Land Title Block,
FORT WORTH, TEXAS.

LUMBER VESSEL WRECKED

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 19.—The American four-masted bark Makawell, from Tacoma, with lumber for Mexico, has been wrecked off the west coast of Vancouver island and there is no doubt that the crew of fourteen have perished. The Indians have picked up a life boat marked Makawell and great quantities of lumber.

COMIC SUPPLEMENT OF THE SUNDAY

TELEGRAM

NOVEMBER 20th 1904

COPYRIGHT 1904 BY THE AMERICAN-JOURNAL-EXAMINER ALL BRITAIN RIGHTS RESERVED

JIMMY—He Runs for a Turkey!

Copyrighted, 1904, by the American-Journal-Examiner. Great Britain Rights Reserved

1 SING HO FOR THE TURK!
"WELCOME TO OUR THANKSGIVING DINNER!"
MURDER! HELP! THIEF!

2 OH FIDO! HOW COULD YOU?
GR-R-R-R

3 JIMMY!
"SOMETHING MUST BE DONE QUICKLY!"

4 RUSH TO JONES RESTAURANT AND GET A TURKEY. I WILL TELEPHONE FOR IT WHILE YOU ARE ON THE WAY. DONT YOU DARE LOITER!!

5 JONES WRAP UP A ROAST TURKEY FOR ME IN A HURRY MY LITTLE BOY IS ON HIS WAY TO GET IT

AND THEN

6 I'LL HAVE THE LAW ON YOU!

7 I WANT MY TRUNK!

8 PAY YOUR BOARD FIRST!

9 GIVE ME MY TRUNK!"

10 "YOU HAVENT PAID YOUR BOARD!"

11 "I'LL GET MY TRUNK OR DIE IN THE ATTEMPT!"

12 "I WANT MY TRUNK!"
PAY UP! PAY UP! PAY UP!

13 "YOURE A FRAUD!"

14 TAKE YOUR OLD TRUNK!

15 "SAY BUB, MIND THIS TRUNK WHILE I GET A COP!"

16 DONT YOU MOVE! YOURE A WITNESS!"

AND IN THE MEAN WHILE

17 "WHAT! JIMMY HASNT ARRIVED YET?"
"HEAVENS! HE'S BEEN GONE HALF AN HOUR!"

18

19

20 "YOU DEAR LITTLE BOY! WHAT ARE YOU DOING HERE?"
"IM A WITNESS!"

21 "I'VE GOT A WITNESS!"

SWINNERTON '04

SOCIETY'S REALM

Mrs. L. K. Stanbery, society editor, telephone 1499 (old phone); Saturday nights telephone 676 (either phone). All communications for this department should be addresses to 410 East First street.

MY GLAD THANKSGIVING

I counted my little store.
Why were the others given more?
Why were their lips with honey fed.
While mine had labor's hard-earned bread?
A weary, hopeless task seemed living;
I could not bring to God thanksgiving.

There came a poor man to my door;
I shared with him my scanty store.
When, lo! my sense of want had flown.
And rarest riches were my own!
So sweet is love's divided bread.
I seemed with heaven's own manna fed.
What blessed joy there was in living!
I brought to God my glad thanksgiving.
—Selected.

—•—

After five years of consecrated self-sacrifice, the ladies of the All Saints' Hospital Association announce their intention of completing their building and putting it without delay into the service to which they long ago dedicated it. The money has been secured and within a few months the hospital will be in operation.

With this announcement comes the statement from the association that in the first week in January they will give a colonial ball in the rooms of the Imperial Club.

The list of patronesses will include the wives of every practicing physician in the city besides a large number of others who are inclined to philanthropy. This announcement at this Thanksgiving tide gives renewed cause for gratitude on the part of those who have labored and planned and worked that Fort Worth might have a refuge for the sick who may have poverty as companion and old age or helplessness as burdens.

WOMAN'S CLUB—HER SCHOOL

"I am not a club woman," said a busy matron the other day, after reading about the Houston convention, "but I have followed the club movement with much interest and generally with approval. The stock jokes about the club woman reading papers at the club while the husband acquires domestic accomplishments have long since gone to the antique shelf along with the mother-in-law. The club and club woman are here and what they have done outspeaks the paragraphers' wit.

"Every day we hear of what organized feminine intelligence is doing and their activities are not confined to any section of the country. Any good work anywhere is sure to have their co-operation. In some sections it is said that men will not undertake any public-spirited works until they first are assured of the favor and willingness to aid of the club women. Of course this is not true of Fort Worth. Men here do not shirk their civic and municipal duties, allowing the women to bestir themselves in order to secure certain good and better things for the community. But I have heard that in some localities the women even have to raise money by private subscription and from their own personal pocketbooks that school grounds be put in such condition that the pupils can get to the school in bad weather. They deny themselves sundry little indulgences in order that they may keep going kindergartens for the districts where the population is not well to do. But, as I said, this does not occur in Fort Worth. Such a masculine attitude shows, however, that our men folk are getting to depend to a great degree upon the women to carry on the world's work. For civic improvements, philanthropic causes, educational advancement are part of the world's work no less than building bridges are constructing metropolitan subways. This condition may produce an unexpected and strange result.

"Fifty years ago, when woman's suffrage advocates aroused the hoots of derision from a world of superior masculine scoffers, there were no clubs for women, and I think no other opportunities for the expression of woman's talents outside of the home, or in literature. The suffrage movement has grown, but not in proportion to the zeal of its workers. But other activities for our sex have spread a net over the civilized world. She can superintend the street cleaning department of a great city. She can discipline and control schools, containing hundreds of pupils and dozens of teachers, some of them of her own sex. She can manage the details of a farm on a large scale. She occupies positions of trust and responsibility in office, store and manufactury. There is no field she has not entered and filled with credit.

"The club movement is the force that has made possible this remarkable advance in the economic position of our sex. Women were loath to take a radical step with the face of their own kind turned against them. But with women as a body boldly supporting a woman in any line of honest endeavor and labor, the worker threw off her timidity and, running the gauntlet of masculine disapproval, has established herself wherever her talents have led the way.

"The club itself has assumed startling importance in public opinion. When there is a general federation meeting the press throughout the country give the proceedings as much space as to presidential conventions. Learned editorials are written and the members are interviewed with the grave dignity befitting public leaders.

"In organizing its forces to accomplish desired aims, the club woman has shown she does not need even a post-graduate course from the most astute of political managers. She can plant trees. She can raise money to build monuments. She can establish industrial training schools. She can found and keep going hospitals, and more than all, she can get columns of dead-head advertising when a mere merchant or business man would think himself lucky to get a flat rate of 30 cents an inch. These things she accomplishes outside the lines of politics.

"But all the while she is giving daily proof of her abilities as organizer and executive. The result? Well, some of these days a brother man, wiser than his day and generation, will have a bewildering streak of illumination and will have born of that illumination the knowledge that woman is a valuable civic and political asset. Then it will be that the lord of creation will become the champion of woman's suffrage! He will demand it and he will get his demand. And these women who are doing such noble public work in the guise of a retiring and devoted womanhood, will have the ballot and its responsibilities thrust upon them, whether they will or no. Our husbands and fathers—and the preachers—have encouraged the club and have given their approbation to her speaking in public so long as she did not presume to enter the domain of politics wherein man, and especially the brother in black, was the sole possessor of suitable equipment for passing on governmental policies.

"But woman has been going to a political school in her club. She has learned much of parliamentary procedure. She has learned how to form combinations. She has learned how to place office 'where it will do the most good.' She has learned and is continuing to learn how to manage her fellow man and woman. Her previous knowledge had been confined to managing her husband. Some say that the best managed husbands on earth are the husbands of the club woman. Which is another proof that she has profited greatly by her club school.

"Now, men are not fools, even though it takes some time for them to get their brains adjusted to new conditions. And some of these days woman's fitness and the need of the government for her abilities is going to come like a bolt of lightning in the masculine sky. Then woman will not have to ask for the ballot. They will have to get into a storm cellar to avoid the cataclysm.

"Will they accept it? That depends. I think they will; especially if it is presented to them under the label of a great moral duty. How long before this will come about? Oh, that is another question. But the democrats seem to be pretty nearly out of a paramount issue. Maybe ———." L. K. S.

VISITED THE IDLEWILD

The Fort Worthites who attended the Idlewild ball Friday night had a fine time and are saying fine things about the Idlewilds. This is the oldest club in Dallas, the last dance being the twenty-first since the year of its organization.

The decorations were the club colors, blue and white, mingling with American Beauty roses and palms.

Among the Fort Worth guests were Misses Beall, Stripling and Waples and Mrs. Capps, and Ray Nixon, Marshall Spoonts, W. B. Paddock, C. D. Reimers, Alf Luckett and George Kauffman.

Thou, my friend, would like to know
Why fair twin roses blush and blow
In baby's cheeks? I'll tell thee,
They're nourished by "TEETHINA."
See!

"TEETHINA" (Teething Powders) Overcomes and Counteracts the Effects of the Summer's Heat, Aids Digestion, Regulates the Bowels and relieves much suffering and dread.

COMING SOCIAL EVENTS

FOR THANKSGIVING WEEK

The week promises to be strenuous for the pleasure loving folks. The Imperial, the Elks, the Commercial Club, and the Sans Pariel will give dances this week, besides the dinner given to the veterans by the Daughters of the Confederacy, and the dance afterwards by the Children's Auxiliary. The dinner will be spread in the sons' room, and then the dance will take place in the veterans' room.

On Thursday evening, too, the Knights of Columbus will give an oyster supper in their club rooms.

Only a poor soured-on-the-world "critter" need let the Thanksgiving pass in solitude or sadness.

WOMAN'S WEDNESDAY CLUB

The Woman's Wednesday Club will give an informal reception in honor of Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker, president of the national Federation of Women's Clubs, on Monday at 3:30 p. m., at the Hotel Worth. A cordial invitation is extended to all club women and their friends.

RECEPTION IS PROMISED

Cards have been issued by Mrs. J. Y. Hogsett, for her daughters, Mrs. Alexander of Dallas, Mrs. Ballard of Cleburne, Miss Hogsett and Miss Laura Hogsett for a reception for the 30th, the hours being from 5 to 9 o'clock.

MRS. ROBERTSON TO ENTERTAIN

Mrs. L. P. Robertson has issued cards for a reception for December 1, in honor of Mrs. Kennedy of Growley, La. The hours will be from 3 to 6 p. m.

JEWISH WOMEN'S COUNCIL

The Jewish Women's Council will hold their regular monthly meeting tomorrow afternoon, with Mrs. Theordore Mack.

WILL ENTERTAIN WITH CARDS

Mrs. Julian Andrews will entertain with cards Tuesday afternoon for the young ladies of Miss Larimer's house party.

A SOIREE MUSICAL

The soiree musical to be given for the benefit of the Free Kindergarten promises to be a most enjoyable affair. Mrs. Brann, who is arranging for the program, and who has the occasion in charge generally, has received flattering encouragement from Fort Worth's leading musicians as well as the public. In addition to the names already secured, Mrs. Brann announces that Miss Redeker will also contribute a vocal number. Miss Redeker is a delightful singer, and her voice is one of the attractions of the morning musical services at St. Patrick's. She will add greatly to the program.

A RECEPTION MONDAY

The attention of the Monday Book Club is called to a change in their program for the meeting tomorrow. There will be no round table talk nor business session, and Mrs. Crandell's talk will begin promptly at 2 o'clock. This change is necessitated in order that the club may be able to attend the reception at the Hotel Worth, in honor of Mrs. Decker, the national president of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

PLANS FOR A DANCE

The Joe Davis Chapter, Children's Auxiliary to the Daughters of the Confederacy, held an interesting meeting in their rooms in the court house Saturday morning. Seventeen members were present and their plans were completed for the dance they ar going to give the Sons and Veterans on Thanksgiving night.

HOSTS AND HOSTESSES

MRS. McCABE

Mrs. McCabe entertained with an elaborate dinner party last Wednesday evening, for Mr. and Mrs. James Bullough Gray. The dining room glowed brilliantly under chandeliers with Lawson carnation red shades, while the carnation itself formed a stately centerpiece and small bouquets were place favors. Ten courses were served; between times the guests testing their wits on the following anagram:

"My first is mentioned in the first century. My second is connected with industry. My third is neither white nor black. My fourth is the cause of much joy as well as woe. My fifth is a source of wealth. My whole a most welcome guest."

After it was discovered to mean James B. Gray, Moon Ranch, compliments were showered upon the hostess who had so cleverly constructed the game for the entertainment. The prize was one of the late novels and was awarded to Mrs. Olive Edrington Scott.

Mrs. McCabe's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Fosdick, Mr. and Mrs. Newby, Mrs. Olive Edrington Scott and Mrs. Gallagher.

MRS. J. W. MITCHELL

Mrs. J. W. Mitchell entertained with cards in her apartments at the Madrid last Monday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. James Bullough Gray. Whist with hearts as trumps entertained the guests, and hearts were used throughout the suite as decorations.

A cut-glass vase went to Mrs. McCabe, and a Jap bowl to Mrs. Fosdick. Miss Florence Smith, who scored, was given a late book.

The luncheon of oyster pates, pressed chicken with aspic jelly, olives, crackers, frozen punch and coffee, was as dainty as Mrs. Rorer herself could have prepared.

The players of the afternoon were Mesdames Gray, Fosdick, Olive Edrington Scott, I. H. Burney, King, Winfield Scott, Connery, Ellison, R. L. Van Zandt, W. R. Thompson, Tempel, Morris Berney, Menefee, Goggins, Paddock, McCabe, Childress, W. R. Edrington, Ware and Davidson.

MISS LARIMER

A center of attraction this week for feminine as well as masculine interest is the Larimer home, where Miss Larimer has as guests Miss Counts of Galveston, Miss Louise Burke of Dallas, Miss Hazel Brock of Tennessee and Miss Frances Davis of Dallas. Theater parties and dances will supplement the card party given by Mrs. Andrews in their honor.

MISS FAKES

Miss Fakes gave a dinner party last evening for her visitor, Miss Speer of Dallas, her guests being Miss Speer, Miss Deason, Miss Paddock, Miss Downing, Miss Strpling, Miss Jenkins and Messrs. Deason of Dallas, Harding, Guthrie, Hills, Hooe and Pitner. Seven courses were served amid a carnation setting.

FOR BAPTIST CHURCH

The Morrell Family Orchestra, Mrs. Beadle, soprano, and Mr. Beadle reader, assisted by Miss Whittaker, pianist, will give a concert at the town hall in North Fort Worth Monday night, November 21, for the benefit of the North Fort Worth Baptist church. The following program will be given:

Overture—"Idealistic"..... Ellis Brooks
Reading—
(a) "Goodmorning, Smith" .....
(b) "Loraine Loree' .....
Baritone solo—"Beautiful Home of Paradise" .....Robert King
Solo—"Three Green Bonnets".....
.....Guy De Hardelot
Reading—"The Fiddle Told" .....
(A story of Governor Bob Taylor.)
Cornet solo—"Dear"...Audrey Kingsbury
Solo—"My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice."
.....C. Saint Saens

(Continued on page 20.)

HOW TO HOLD A HUSBAND.

The best known guide to married happiness is to hold the husband as you won the lover—by cheerfulness of disposition, patience and keeping your youthful looks. Of course a great many women are handicapped by those ills to which women are heir. The constantly recurring troubles which afflict her are apt to cause a sour disposition, nervousness and a beclouded mind.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, the specialist in woman's diseases, of Buffalo, N. Y., after a long experience in treating such diseases, found that certain roots and herbs made into a liquid extract, would help the majority of cases. This he called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Thousands of women have testified to its merits, and it is put up in shape to be easily procured and is sold by all medicine dealers. This is a potent tonic for the womanly system. So much faith has Dr. Pierce in its merits that he offers $500 reward for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which he cannot cure. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure.

"I cannot express my thanks for the benefit I have received from Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. Julius Wehrly, of Cambridge, Dorchester County, Md. "I took 'Favorite Prescription' and feel that a perfect cure has been effected. I feel like thanking you a thousand times for the good you have done me, and for the kind and fatherly letters which you wrote. I shall always speak a good word for your medicines whenever I can."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

BEST LINIMENT ON EARTH

Henry D. Baldwin, superintendent city water works, Shullsburg, Wis., writes: "I have tried many kinds of liniment, but I have never received much benefit until I used Ballard's Snow Liniment for rheumatism and pains. I think it the best liniment on earth." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by H. T. Pangburn & Co.

The Fair The Fair The Fair

601, 603, 605 and 607 Houston Street = 105 and 107 Fifth Street = Fort Worth, Texas

Ready-Made Garments for Thanksgiving

WELL, what shall it be? A new Suit, a Coat, a Silk Waist, Separate Skirt, or perhaps a set of Furs. If you want, or need anything in ready-to-wear garments, why it's here as a matter of course. Not any store can serve you more efficiently. Discriminating women will favor these Suits, Coats and Skirts because they embody all style and quality requirements, and yet come within the broad definition of economy. Wouldn't offer garments hastily thrown together, or according to designs out of joint with fashion's dictation. Wouldn't recommend apparel, no matter what the price, if it didn't come up to "The Fair's" standard of excellence. These for Thanksgiving week:

New Silk Coats

We display Monday a new line of handsome Coats of silk—can be had in black Peau de Soie or Peau de Siem, with white or black satin inner lining, trimmed very handsomely in fancy Persian braids, 24 to 42-inch lengths; priced at $14.95 to $37.50

Also some handsome Coats of black broadcloth and light weight meltons, for evening wear, made in clever new styles, lined with white or black satin; priced at $27.50 to.....$45.00

Rich New Furs

There is just enough chill in the air these nights and mornings to make one feel the need of a pretty fur neckpiece.

Black Coney Scarf $1.98
Pretty Fox Sable, Boas and Scarfs, $5.95 to $45.00
Boas and Scarfs of wolves' fur, at $5.95 up to $24.50
Black Marten Fur Pieces, at $12.95 to $45.00
Very handsome Boas and Scarfs of real mink, $17.95 to.....$115.00

100 New Skirts at $3.98

Thanksgiving Week Sale of worthy Skirts starts Monday. 100 Skirts in the lot, all new fall and winter styles, plain cheviots in blacks, blue and brown, light-weight coverts, new wool mixtures, ladies' cloth in black only, and herringbone cheviots, in grays and browns, plain and full plaited skirts; some trimmed in straps and buttons, others tailor stitched; most any size now in some style, but sizes won't last long. Prices were up to $5.95; this week the price will be $3.98

No alterations made at this price.

Coat Special at $3.98

Everybody can wear a new Coat on Thanksgiving Day when the price is made so low. Only 15 Coats in this lot, made of light-weight covert cloth, box strapped back, 27-inch length. Price usually $5.95; until they are sold the price will be, for a coat.....$3.98

Women's Suits, $8.45

We offer for this week 35 Women's Tailored Suits; every size is here. Made of cheviots in solid colors, blue, browns, black and in new novelty mixtures. The coats are regular tourist styles and the skirts are full plaited or plain effects. These garments are well tailored and full of style. Prices were $10.00 to $13.95. No alterations can be made at the sale price of.....$8.45

Fine Tailored Suits, $15.00

For this week 40 splendid Tailored Suits, made of black or blue cheviots and new mixtures—two popular styles—the swell Military Tourist Coat with fancy vest and full plaited sleeves, and the nobby Norfolk jacket with strapped plaited back and velvet trimming; all are full silk lined. Skirts are full plaited walking length or plain stitched. The price of these suits was up to $22.50, but Monday they will be sold for $15.00

Handsome Tailored Suits, Underpriced

For the woman who contemplates the purchase of a handsome Costume, this is an opportunity not to be overlooked. Wish we could describe these Suits in detail, but a word picture of so many styles would only be confusing. You simply must see them. The styles are the kind most in vogue. The tailoring the very best. The reductions are as follows:

Suits that sold for $50.00, $59.50, $65.00 and $69.50, go for...$44.95
Suits that sold for $37.50, $39.50, $42.50 and $47.50, go for...$34.95

A Special Sale of Crepe de Chine

All intended purchases of Crepe de Chine should be made here on Monday to secure the price advantages offered in this one day sale.

All Silk Crepe de Chine (colors only), in every new fall color and shade, very desirable for reception or evening gowns, and handsome waists. Monday these prices prevail:

$1.00 grade Crepe de Chine, for yard .....85¢
79c grade Crepe de Chine, for yard .....65¢
69c grade Crepe de Chine, for yard .....55¢

Brighten Up the Table for Thanksgiving

Sparkling Cut Glass

What would better serve to brighten a dinner table than a new piece of cut glass? Only the best sold here, and that at extremely low prices.

Handsome Vases in new patterns, 6 to 14 inches high, at $1.69 up to $17.95
Vinegar Cruets $2.98
Salad Oil Bottles.....$3.98
Nappies in new shapes, $2.25, $2.95
Olive Dishes, 5, 6 and 7-inch, $3.25 to $3.98
Bowls, 8 and 10-inch, $6.50 to $7.45
Deep Bowls, all sizes, $3.98 up to $12.95
Globe Shaped Water Bottles..$6.95
Glasses in new cuts, set of six, $5.95 to $8.95
Carving Knife Rests, $2.25...$2.45

A New Dinner Set

A fine opportunity to supply your table with new china for the Thanksgiving dinner, is offered here this week.

100-piece Dinner Set of good china, decorated, for.....$12.50
100-piece Dinner Set of decorated Austria china, different floral patterns; special $19.00
100-piece Dinner Set of fine French decorated china ;special $26.50
SOUVENIR CHINA—With pictures of Fort Worth's public buildings in colors, pretty vases, paltes, cups, match holders and other novelties. See them in the windows; $1.69 and as low as.....15¢

Handsome Drawn Work

Rich and beautiful art work in linen table decorations, from the skillful hands of the women of our new possessions—the Philippine Islands—is here in time for Thanksgiving. The work is all done by hand, and has been pronounced beautifully perfect by women who know. We invite you to come this week and see—

Linen Lunch Cloths with deep Battenburg borders, $8.50 and...$9.95
Linen Doylies, with honiton borders in pond lily patterns.....$1.69
Linen Center Pieces in many patterns, some very elaborate, $7.95 to $15.50

Ladies' Fine Evening Dresses, Wraps, Kid Gloves, Feathers and Fancy Work Dry Cleaned to Perfection.
Also, Swisses and Organdies Steam Cleaned to Look Like New.

THE IDEAL DRY CLEANING PARLOR
Cor. 11th and Monroe Sts., Opp. Postoffice
'Phone 2493

Gents' Fine Evening Suits White Vests, Ties and Gloves Dry Cleaned : : :
Also, Repairing of All Kinds.

ELLISON FURNITURE AND CARPET CO.

BUCK'S STOVES & RANGES

ELLISON FURNITURE AND CARPET CO.

A THANKSGIVING DINNER WORTH TRYING!

EVERY Housewife arranging the Thanksgiving Dinner will appreciate this menu. You find a recipe for each number on the menu, and we feel sure it will please you. Use a Buck's Stove or Range if possible

Menu

Fruit Soup Roast Turkey
Mashed Sweet Potato
White Potato Croquettes
Baked Squash Spinach, Swiss style,
Apple and Cranberry Jelly
Oyster Souffle Rolls Celery
Surprise Salad Olive Sandwiches
Indian Pudding with Cream
Marshmallow Mold
Mince Pie Lemon Pie Cheese
Lemon Milk Sherbet Nut Cookies
Coffee

Menu

FRUIT SOUP—

One chopped pineapple, two chopped oranges, one pint of canned strawberries (whole), one cup of powdered sugar, half pint sherry wine, mix well together and serve very cold in punch glasses. Just before going to the table add a covering of chopped ice.

ROAST TURKEY—

After it is nicely picked and drawn, wash thoroughly, adding a little soda to the water in washing. To a fourteen-pound turkey take a small loaf of bread, crumb fine, add half a pound of fat pork, one-fourth of a pound of butter, pepper, salt and enough boiling water just to moisten; stuff and sew strongly. Bake twenty minutes to each pound of turkey; keep the oven at an even heat, basting frequently. When done, remove from the pan, and make the gravy.

MASHED SWEET POTATOES—

Bake the potatoes, cut in halves lengthwise and carefully scoop out the potato. Mash well, add a little butter, pepper and salt and a little cream or milk; beat until creamy; return to the shells, heaping lightly, and place in the oven to reheat.

POTATO CROQUETTES—

Two cups of mashed potatoes, two tablespoons of cream, a teaspoon of onion juice, or finely chopped onion, a teaspoon of salt, a dash of nutmeg; yolks of two eggs, a tablespoon of chopped parsley, butter the size of a walnut, a dash of cayenne. Beat the eggs until light, and add them to the potatoes, then add all the other ingredients. Mix and turn into a small saucepan. Stir over the fire until it is thoroughly heated through. The mixture will then leave the side of the pan without sticking to it. Take from the fire, and when cool form into cylinders. Roll first in egg and then in bread crumbs and fry in boiling fat. This will make about twelve croquettes.

BAKED SQUASH—

For holiday dinners no vegetables look prettier than baked Hubbard squash or pumpkins. Two medium sized, round squashes should be selected. One is cut up and baked with butter, pepper and salt in the usual way. The other is put in the oven just long enough to be prettily browned. Using the stem for a handle, cut the top neatly from the second squash and save it for a lid. Scoop out the contents of this squash and save for pies. Cut the baked squash from its rind and fill the other squash shell. Pass this shell on a tray, with the lid in place. It makes a toothsome and attractive dish.

SPINACH—Swiss Style—

After the spinach has been well washed and boiled with a little baking soda in the water to keep it green, put it in a strainer and squeeze out every bit of water. Now run it through the finest knife of the food chopper twice. Chop also very fine, a small onion or half a large one, and saute in a tablespoon of butter, not allowing it to brown. Add half a tablespoon of flour. When blended, add one cup of well flavored stock, stir until free from lumps, then mix in your spinach. Season to taste with salt and pepper, and add a heaping tablespoon of grated cheese. Serve, garnished with slices of hard-cooked eggs.

APPLE AND CRANBERRY JELLY—

Wash the apples, cut into quarters and stew, skins, cores and all (of course, cutting out wormy places). Wash and pick over the cranberries and put into a large kettle in the proportion of one-third cranberries to two-third apples, and three times the measure of the two combined, of water. Let them boil slowly, or until the whole mass is soft, then strain through a jelly bag, add sugar, equal parts, and boil as with other jelly.

OYSTER SOUFFLE—

Heat a pint of oysters in their own liquor, drain and strain the liquor and cut the oysters into small pieces when cold. Melt two level tablespoons of butter; when hot, add two level tablespoons of flour and gradually half a cup of oyster liquor. Season to taste with salt, celery salt, paprika and a little finely minced parsley. Add the oysters, let come to a boil and add the beaten yolks of three eggs. Take from the fire, and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven from twenty to thirty minutes or until the mixture is firm in the center. Serve at once with or without a mushroom or cream sauce.

SURPRISE SALAD—

Select a well shaped cabbage, scoop it out well and decorate the outside with alternate rows of cranberries (fastened with wooden toothpicks) and whole cloves until completely covered. Fill the inside with chopped celery, cabbage and nuts. Use a mayonnaise dressing and serve on a platter decorated with lettuce.

INDIAN PUDDING—(Enough for Five People)—

Take one quart of milk and scald it in a double boiler; while it is heating, take six tablespoons of Indian meal, and stir it up with one large cup of molasses, mixing it in the buttered baking dish, which should be a small stone jar, or an earthen pan, deep, and shaped like a flower pot. When stirred smooth, add the scalded milk, stirring well. It will look very thin, almost as if there were no meal in it. Then scatter some small bits of butter over the top, place jar in moderate oven and bake three or four hours. When it is done it will be of a somewhat jelly-like consistency, with some whey and some clotted cream. Turn it out into a pretty dish and serve with plain cream.

MARSHMALLOW MOLD—

It is simply a well-hardened square mold of lemon jelly, having within it a layer of white marshmallows. It is to be cut down with a knife and served with whipped cream.

PHILADELPHIA MINCEMEAT—

The liquid ingredients for this mincemeat may be varied according to taste—and principles. The original recipe calls for one and one-half quarts of wine, four pounds of meat, boiled tender, three pounds of suet, three pounds of raisins, three pounds of currants, two pounds of citron, one-half pound of candied orange peel, one-quarter pound of candied lemon peel, six pounds of brown sugar, one-half peck of apples, one ounce of allspice, one ounce of cloves, one ounce of cinnamon, one-quarter ounce of mace, one ounce of nutmeg.

LEMON PIE FILLING—

One lemon peeled and grated, yolks of three eggs, one small cup of sugar, one cup of boiling water, a piece of butter size of a small egg, two tablespoons of flour. Beat eggs and put in sugar, flour, then lemon, then boiling water and the remaining ingredients. Cook in a double boiler, then put in crust. Beat up three whites, add one-quarter cup of sugar and a little vanilla, place on top of the pie and brown.

LEMON ICE—

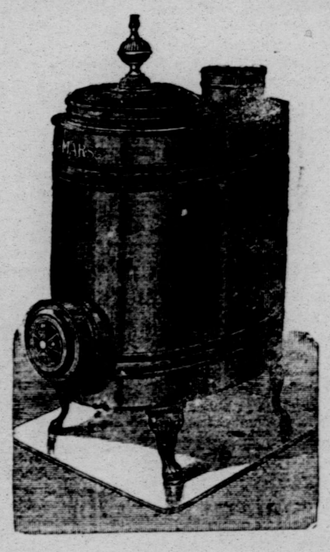

Juice of two lemons, one pint of sugar. Let stand awhile; add one quart of milk and freeze.

NUT COOKIES—

Two cups of broken walnuts, two eggs, two cups of brown sugar, six tablespoons of flour. Drop on buttered tin and bake in a moderate oven.

We Sell Stoves, Furniture and Carpets On Easy Payments to Everybody

A Few of This Wonderful Stove Left

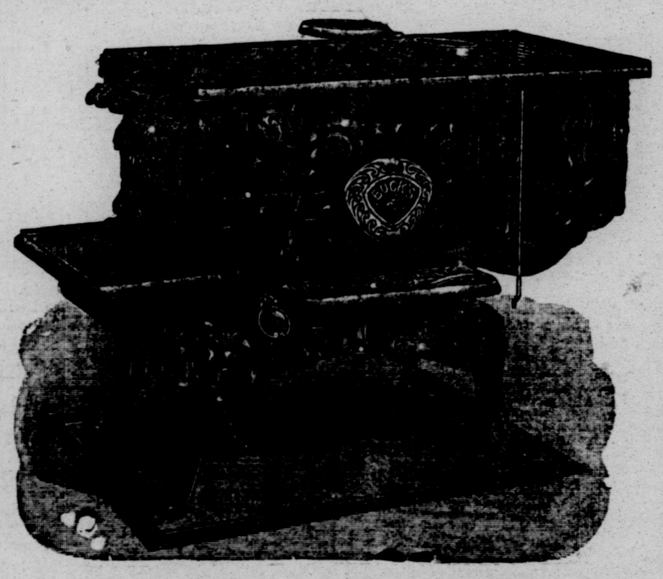

Anybody can have a stove. If the price is what you want, see us for everything on easy payments.

89c

GET IT HERE=EASY TERMS

Buy a Buck's Stove or Range

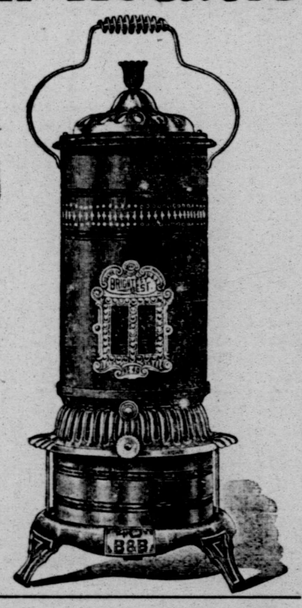

A Trial will Prove They are the Best

These Oil Heaters Are Gaining Favor

They are Just the Thing for Small Rooms

You can get everything you need of us on easy payments.

$5.00

SOLD ON EASY PAYMENTS

ELLISON FURNITURE & CARPET CO.

704-706 Main Street and 705 Houston

LOVE AMONG THE BLACKBOARDS

BY MYRA KELLY

By Myra Kelly.
(Copyright by the S. S. McClure Co.)

In an East Side school, a year or two ago, there was a first reader class watched over and ruled by a female teacher, who was, in turn, watched over and ruled by a cabinet of three. These powers behind the throne were Morris Mogilewsky, monitor of the Goldfish Bowl; Nathan Spiderwitz, monitor of window boxes, and Patrick Brennan, leader of the line. In years they were very young, but in world craft they were very old, for the green fields of their childhood were the swarming streets, and their fairy tales the corner gossip of the district. Chief in their queer assortment of memories was that of a kindergarten teacher of transcendent charm, who had married and faded from their horizon. No heiress to broad acres could be more carefully chaperoned by a bevy of maiden aunts than was Teacher by Morris, Nathan and Patrick.

Morris was the first to discover definite grounds for uneasiness. He met his cherished Miss Bailey walking across Grand street on a rainy morning, and the umbrella which was protecting her beloved head was being held by a tall stranger in a long and baggy coat. After circling incredulously about this astounding tableau, Morris dashed off to report to his colleagues. He found Patrick and Nathan in the midst of an exciting game of craps, but his pattering feet warned them of danger, so they pocketed their dice and turned to hear his news.

"Say," he panted; "I seen teacher mit a man."

"No!" said Patrick, aghast.

"It's a lie!" cried Nathan; "it's a lie!"

"No; it's no lie," said Morris, with a sob half of breathlessness and half of sorrow; "I seen her for sure. Und the man carries umbrellas over her mit loving looks."

"Ah, g'wan," drawled Patrick; "you are crazy. You don't know what you are talking about."

"Sure I do," cried Morris. "I had once a auntie what was loving mit a awful stylish salesman—he's now floor walkers—und I seen how they makes."

"Well," said Patrick, "I had a sister Mary, and she married the milkman, so I know, too. But umbrellas doesn't mean much."

"But the loving looks," Morris insisted. "My auntie makes such looks on the salesman—he's now floor walkers—und sooner she marries mit him."

"Say, Patrick," suggested Nathan: "I'll tell you what to do. You ask her if she's goin' to get married."

"Naw," said Patrick. "Let Morris ask her. She'd tell him before she'd tell any of us. She's been soft on him ever since Christmas. Say, Morris, do you hear? You've got to ask teacher if she's going to get married."

"O-o-h! I dassent. It ain't polite how you says," cried Morris, in his shocked little voice. "It ain't polite you asks like that. It's fierce."

"Well ,you've got to do it, anyway," said Patrick, darkly, "and you've got to let us hear you."

"It's fierce," protested Morris, but he was overruled by the dominant spirit of Patrick Brennan, that grandson of the kings of Munster and son of the policeman on the beat.

Morris' opportunity found him on the very next morning. Isadore Wishnewsky, the gentlest of gentle children, came to school wearing his accustomed air of melancholy snot across with a tender pride. His subdued "Good morning" was accompanied with much strenuous exertion, directed apparently to the removal and exhibition of a portion of his spine. After much wriggling he paused long enough to say:

"Teacher, what you think? I'm got a present for you," and then recommenced his search in another layer of his many flannels. His efforts being at length crowned with success, he drew forth and spread before teacher's admiring eyes a Japanese paper napkin.

"My sister," he explained. "She gets it on a wedding."

"Oh, Isadore," cried the flattered teacher; it's pretty, isn't it?"

"Teacher—yiss, Ma'am," gurgled Isadore. "It's stylish. You could to look on how stands birds on it and flowers. Mine sister she gives it to me, und I gives it to you. I don't need it. She gives me all times something the while she's got such a fond over me. She goes all times on weddings. Most all her younge lady friends gettin' married; ain't it funny?"

At the fateful word "married," the uneasy cabinet closed in about teacher. Their three pairs of eyes clung to her face as Isadore repeated:

"All gittin' married. Aain't it funny?"

"Well, no, dear," answered teacher musingly. "You know nearly all young ladies do it."

Patrick took a pin from teacher's desk and kneeled to tie his shoestring. When he rose the point of the pin projected half an inch beyond the frayed toe of his shoe, and he was armed. Morris was most evidently losing courage—he was indeed trying to steal away when Patrick pressed close beside him and held him to his post.

"Teacher," said Isadore suddenly, as a dreadful thought struck him, "be you a lady or be you a girl?"

And Teacher being of Hibernian ancestry, answered the one question with another:

"Which do you think, Isadore?"

"Well," Isadore answered, "I don't know , be you a forsure lady or be you a forsure girl. You wears your hair so tucked up and your dress so long down like you was a lady, but you laffs und tells us stories like you was a girl. I don't know."

Clearly this was Morris' opening. Patrick pierced his soul with a glance of scorn and simultaneously buried the pin in his quaking leg. Thus encouraged, Morris rushed blindly into the conversation with:

"Say, Teacher, Miss Bailey, be you goin' to get married?" and then dropped limply against her shoulder.

"Well, perhaps so, Morris. Perhaps I shall, some day."

"Teacher, no, ma'an, Miss Bailey!" wailed the Monitor of the Goldfish; "Don't you go and get married mit nobody. So you do you couldn't be teacher to us no more, und you're a awful nice teacher by little boys. You ain't too big. Und say, we'd feel terrible bad the while you goes and gets married mit somebody—terrible bad."

"Should you really, now?" asked Teacher, greatly pleased. "Well, dear, I too, should be lonely without you."

Some days later Teacher arranged to go to a reception, and as she did not care to return to her home between work and play she appeared at school in rather festive array. Room 18 was delighted with its transformed ruler, but to the board of monitors this glory of raiment brought nothing but misery. Every twist in the neat coiffure, every fold of the pretty dress, every rustle of the invisible silk, every click of the high heels, meant the coming abdication of Teacher and the disbanding of her cabinet. Just so had Patrick's sister Mary looked on the day she wed the milkman. Just such had been the outward aspect of Morris' auntie on the day of her union to the promising young salesman who was now a floorwalker and Morris' Uncle Ikey.

Momentarily they expected some word of farewell—perhaps even an ice-cream party—but Teacher made no sign. They decided that she was reserving her last words for their private ear and were greatly disconcerted to find themselves turned out with the common herd at 3 o'clock. With heavy hearts they followed the example of Mary's little lzmb and waited patiently about till Teacher did appear. When she came she was more wonderful than ever, in a long and billowy boa and a wide and billowy hat. She had seemed in a breathless hurry while up in Room 18, but now she stood quite placidly in a group of her small adherents on the highest of the schoolhouse steps. And the cabinet, waiting gloomily apart, only muttered, "I told you so," and "It must be a awful kind feeling," when the tall stranger came swinging upon the scene. One of his hands was held stiffly in the pocket of the baggy coat, the other carried gloves and a cane. When Teacher's eyes fell upon him she began to force her way way through her clinging court, and when he was half way up the steps she was half way down. As they met he drew from his pocket the hand and the violets it held and Teacher was still adjusting the flowers in her jacket when she passed, with flushed cheeks and shining eyes, within touch but without knowledge of her lurking staff.

"I didn't expect you at all," she was saying. "You know it was not a really definite arrangement, and men hate receptions."

The gloom obscuring Patrick's spirit on that evening was of so deep a dye that Mrs. Brennan diagnosed it as the first stage of "a consumption." She administered simple remedies and warm baths with perseverance, but without effect. But more patent to cure than bath or bottle was the sight of Teacher on the next morning in her accustomed clothes and place.

The board of monitors had hardly recovered from this panic when another alarming symptom appeared. Miss Bailey began to watch for letters and large envelopes began to reward her watchfulness. Daily was Patrick sent to the powers that were to demand a letter, and daily he carried one, and a sorely heavy heart, back to his sovereign. In exactly the same sweetly insistent way had he been sent many a time and oft to seek tidings of the laggard milkman. His colleagues, when he laid these facts before them, were of the opinion that things looked very dark for Teacher. Said Nathan:

"You know how she says we should be monitors on her wedding? Well, it could be lies. She marries maybe already."

Patrick promptly knocked the Monitor of Window Boxes down upon the rough asphalt of the yard and kicked him.

"Miss Bailey's no sneak," he cried, hotly. "If she was married she'd just as lief go and tell."

"Well," Morris began, "I once had a auntie——"

"Your auntie makes me sick," snapped Patrick. But Morris went on quite undisturbedly:

"I once had a auntie un' she had awful kind feelings over a stylish floorwalker, und he was loving mit her. So-o-oh! They marries! Un' they dont' say nothings to nobody. On'y the stylish floorwalker he writes on my auntie whole bunches of loving letters.

"She ain't married," Patrick reiterated. "She ain't."

"Well, she will be," muttered Nathan, vindictively. "Und the new teacher will lick you the while you fights. It's fierce how you make me biles on my bones. Think shame."

When the ruffled Monitor of the Window Boxes had been soothed by the peaceful Guardian of the Goldfish the cabinet held council. Nathan suggested that it might be possible to bribe the interloper. They would give him their combined wealth and urge him to turn his eyes upon Miss Blake, whose room was across the hall. She was very big, and would do exceedingly well for him, whereas she was entirely too long and too broad for them.

Morris maintained that Teacher might be held by gratitude. A list should be made out, and each in turn, a child a day, should give her a present.

Patrick listened to these ideas in deep and restive disgust. He urged instant and copious bloodshed. His big brother's gang could "let daylight into the dude" with enjoyment and dispatch. They would watch him ceaselessly, and they would track him down.

The watching was an easy matter, for Teacher, in common with the majority of rulers, lived much in the public eye. The stranger was often detected prowling in her vicinity. He even began to bring her to school in the mornings, and on these occasions there were always violets in her coat. He used to appear at luncheon time and vanish with her. He used to come in the afternoon and have tea in Room 18 with two other teachers and with Teacher. The antagonism of the Monitor of Goldfish became so marked that Miss Bailey was forced to remonstrate.

"Morris, dear," she began one afternoon ,when they were alone together. "you were very rude to Dr. Ingraham yesterday. I can't allow you to stay here with me if you're going to behave so badly. You sulked horribly, and you slammed the door against his foot. Of course, it was an accident, but how would you feel, Morris, if you had hurt Dr. Ingraham?"

"Glad," said the Monitor of the Goldfish savagely. "Glad."

"Morris! What do you mean by saying such a thing? I'm ashamed of you. Why should you want to hurt a friend of mine?"

"Don't you be friends mit him!" cried Morris, deserting his fish and throwing himself upon his teacher. "Don't you do it, Teacher, Miss Bailey. He ain't no friends for a lady." And then, in answer to Teacher's stare of blank surprise, he went on:

"My mamma she seen him by your side, und she says—I go to tell you in whispering how she says."

Teacher meekly bent her head, and Morris whispered in an awe-struck voice:

"My mamma says she like that: 'He could to be a Krisht,'" and then drew back to study Teacher's consternation. But she seemed quite calm. Perhaps she had already faced the devastating fact, for she said:

"Yes, I know he's a Christian. I'm not afraid of them. Are you?

"Teacher, no, ma'am, Missis Bailey, I ain't got no scare over Krishts, on'y they ain't no friends for ladies. My papa says like that on my auntie, and my auntie she's married now mit a stylish floorwalker. We'm got a Krisht by our house for boarder, so I know. But you couldn't to know 'bout Krishts."

"Yes I do. They're very nice people."

"No ma'am," said Morris, gently. And then still more courteously:

"It's a lie. You couldn't to know about Krishts."

"But I do know all about them, Morris, dear. I'm a Christian."

Again Morris remembered his manners. Again he replied, in his courtly phrase:

"It's a lie." As he said it, with a bewitching rising inflection, it was almost a caress. "It's a lie. Teacher fools. You couldn't to be no right Krisht. You ain't got no looks off of Krishts."

Teacher was mildly surprised. She was as Irish as Patrick Brennan, and in her own way she looked it. Truly her eyes were brown, but the face and her faith of her fathers were still strongly hers.

"No look like a Christian?" she was saying. "Well, then, Morris, what do I look like?"

And Morris, ever going straight to the point, replied:

"You looks like a stylish Sheeny," and waited for this intoxicating praise to bring blushes to the light face he loved. It brought the blushes, but they were even redder and hotter than he had expected. There was also a gasp on which he had not counted and a queer flash in the brown eyes.

"Morris," said Teacher, "Morris, did you ever see a Sheeny with a nose like mine?"

Morris raised his head from the red jumper, climbed off the from-silk apron and solemnly contemplated the little bit of a nose. The truth broke over him in sickening waves. The star of his life had set; his doll was stuffed with sawdust; his idol had feet of clay; his light-faced lady was a Christian. And yet she was his teacher and greatly to be loved, so he bore the knowledge, for her dear sake, as bravely as he could. He returned to the from-silk apron, wound a short arm around the white collar and sobbed.

"Teacher, yiss, ma'am, you'm got a Krisht nose. But don't you care, no one couldn't never to know like you ain't a forsure Sheeny the while you got such terrible Sheeny eyes. Oh, but they couldn't never to think you're a Krisht. Und say, don't you have a frightened. I wouldn't never to tell nobody. Never. I makes a swear over it. I kiss up to God. I hopes I drops down if I tells."

At the end of a month the high heels and the festive raiment appeared again, and the staff knew that the time for action had really come. They must bring the Krisht to terms before he should see teacher in her present and irresistible array. He was always first at the trysting place, and there they would have speech with him. They arranged to escape from room 18 before 3 o'clock. Patrick feigned a nose bleed. Morris developed an inward agony and Nathan, after some moments of indecision, boldly plucked out a tottering tooth and followed—bloody and triumphant—in their wake They found the enemy just as they had expected, and Morris, being elected spokesman, stepped forward and took him by his dastard hand. The adversary yielded, thinking that teacher had been forced to greater caution. The Monitors of Goldfish and of Window Boxes followed c[illegible] behind, they having consented, in view of the enormous issues involved, to act as scouts. Around the corner they went into a dark and narrow alley, and, when they had reached a secluded spot between the high wall of the school and the blank windows of a recently burned tenement house, Morris began:

"Teacher don't wants to go on the party mit you the wile she ain't got no more that kind feeling over you."

"What?" cried the astonished Dr. Ingraham.

"She don't wants to be married mit you."

"Did Miss Bailey send you with any message to me?"

The question was so fierce that the truth was forced from the unwilling lips of the spokesman.

"No, ma'am—no, sir," they faltered. "On'y that's the feeling what she had. Und so you go away now 'out seeing teacher, me und the other fellows we gives you f-i-v-e cents."

The cabinet drew near to hear the answer to this suggestion. It puzzled them, for—

"Now, look here, boy," said Doctor Ingraham, "you'd better go home and get to bed. You aren't well."

Morris conferred with his colleagues and returned with:

"We gives you s-e-v-e-n cents so you go home now 'out seeing teacher. A nickel und two pennies so you go now. Und say, Miss Blake could go by your side. She has kind feelings over you."

"Nonsense," said the man. "When will your teacher be down?"

"She ain't coming at all. She has no more feelings. So you goes now we gives you a dime and a penny. Eleven cents. We ain't got it; on'y we could to get. Teacher gives me all times pennies."

Just as the stranger was wondering how much of truth these extraordinary children knew, Teacher, calm-eyed and unruffled, appeared upon the scene. She said, as she generally did:

"Doctor Ingraham! Who would have thought to find you here!" And then: "Are you talking to my little people? They are the cleverest little things, and such friends of mine. Morris here and I are the greatest of cronies."

Teacher's manner as she began her greeting was serene and bright, but a gloomy, even a morose glance, from Doctor Ingraham's cold blue eyes, quite changed her. His voice, too, considered as the voice of love, sounded sulky as he said:

"So it seems. He has given me an answer which you refused me."

"How generous of Morris, and how thoughtful! He's always trying to save me trouble. And the question, now, to which the answer belonged. May one know that?"

"You know it well enough," with a glance up and down the deserted alley, for even Patrick had realized that discretion is the better part of statesmanship. "You know it too well. I asked it yesterday and every day for weeks."

"And Morris' answer?"

"No."

"They really are the cleverest children."

"Little brutes! I can't think why you come down here every day. The brats aren't in the least grateful."

"But they are. They think me perfection."

"That is the contagion of mental states."

"And they're not fond of you."

"They reflect your every thought."

"Yes, the insight of a little child is a marvelous thing. But come. We are a long way from Forty-seventh street and our hostess."

"Tea, do you know," said Dr. Ingraham, "is a dreadful bore."

"Of course. But cold tea is worse. And the cakes are so shattered toward the end. Come."

"I've changed my mind. I'm not going. I'm tired of this sort of thing. Answer me now."

"But the children," faltered Teacher. "I should miss them so."

At this sign of weakening Doctor Ingraham favored the queer old street with a tableau to which it long had been a stranger. And the cabinet, creeping back to reconnoiter, immediately guessed the worst. Said Morris:

"She's loving mit him und he's loving mit her. They've got loving looks. I had once a auntie—"

This was too much for the torn spirit of the Leader of the Line. He laid violent hands—and feet—upon the Monitor of Goldfish. The Monitor of Window Boxes promptly followed suit. Morris' prolonged yell of agonized surprise brought Teacher flying to the rescue, and Teacher brought Dr. Ingraham. While the latter held and restrained Patrick and Nathan, Miss Bailey lavished endearments and caresses on her favorite. The captor grew as restless as his captives under this aggravation, and at last allowed his charges to escape him.

"Miss Bailey!" he remonstrated; "I can't stand this sort of thing, you know. It's brutal."

The Teacher's ears were all for Morris' tale of sorrow.

"I don't know what is mit Patrick," he was saying. "He hits me a hack somethin' fierce sooner I says about mine auntie. Und Nathan, too, is bad boys. He says you lies."

"I?" said Teacher, "I?"

"Yiss, ma'am, that's haw he says On'y I know you don't lies. I know we should be monitors like you says."

"When, dearie?"

"On your weddinge. You know you says me, und Patrick, und Nathan should be monitors on your weddinge when you marries mit him." And Morris stretched a pointing finger at the foe. After one radiant glance at Teacher's crimson face, Dr. Ingraham possessed himself of a scrubby hand and shook it warmly.

"And so you shall, old chap," he cried, "so you shall. You may be best man if you so desire. Anything you like."

"New clothes?" asked Morris.

"From stem to stern."

"Ice cream?"

"Gallons."

"Paper napkins mit birds??"

"Bushels."

"Can I mine little sister bring?"

"A dozen little sisters if you have them."

"Can I go in a carriage, down and up? It's stylish."

"You shall have a parade of carriages—one for each sister."

"But I'm not going to leave you for a long time," Miss Bailey assured him. "I shall get you another and a nicer teacher before I go."

"All right," said Morris, blithely. And he then set out to spend the untold wealth which the enemy had put into his hand.

When Miss Bailey turned to Doctor Ingraham her "light face" was still brightly pink, and the "terrible Sheeny eyes" held a combination of embarrassment, dismay and anger.

"He is making a dreadful mistake," she began timidly. "Believe me, he is confusing things horribly. I can't explain. But you were quite right when you said they were ungrateful little brutes. They are."

"No, no," Doctor Ingraham gently interposed. "You were right. They are the cleverest youngsters. The insight of a little child is a marvelous thing, and your crony, Morris, has answered me, after all." And then, as Teacher made no sign of dissent, he added, still more gently:

"Constance, dear."

What Sulphur Does

For the Human Body in Health and Disease.

The mention of sulphur will recall to many of us the early days when our mothers and grandmothers gave us our daily dose of sulphur and molasses every spring and fall.

It was the universal spring and fall "blood purifier," tonic and cure-all, and mind you, this old-fashioned remedy was not without merit.

The idea was good, but the remedy was crude and unpalatable, and a large quantity had to be taken to get any effect.

Nowadays we get all the beneficial effects of sulphur in a palatable, concentrated form, so that a single grain is far more effective than a tablespoonful of the crude sulphur.

In recent years, research and experiment have proven that the best sulphur for medicinal use is that obtained from Calcium (Calsium Sulphide) and sold in drug stores under the name of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They are small chocolate coated pellets and contain the active medicinal principle of sulphur in a highly concentrated, effective form.

Few people are aware of the value of this form of sulphur in restoring and maintaining bodily vigor and health; sulphur acts directly on the liver, and excretory organs and purifies and enriches the blood by the prompt elimination of waste material.

Our grandmothers knew this when they dosed us with sulphur and molasses every spring and fall, but the crudity and impurity of ordinary flowers of sulphur were often worse than the disease, and cannot compare with the modern concentrated preparations of sulphur, of which Stuart's Calcium Wafers is undoubtedly the best and most widely used.

They are the natural antidote for liver and kidney troubles and cure constipation and purify the blood in a way that often surprises patient and physician alike.

Dr. R. M. Wilkins while experimenting with sulphur remedies soon found, that the sulphur from Calcium was superior to any other form. He says: "For liver, kidney and blood troubles,especially when resulting from constipation or malaria, I have been surprised at the results obtained from Stuart's Calcium Wafers. In patients suffering from boils and pimples and even deep-seated carbuncles, I have repeatedly seen them dry up and disappear in four or five days, leaving the skin clear and smooth. Although Stuart's Calcium Wafers is a proprietary article, and sold by druggists, and for that reason tabooed by many physicians, yet I know of nothing so safe and reliable for constipation, liver and kidney troubles, and especially in all forms of skin disease as this remedy."

At any rate people who are tired of pills, carthartics and so-called blood Wafers a far safer, more palatable and effective preparation.

All Shipments in PLAIN BOXES. No Marks to Indicate Contents.

FREE Thanksgiving WHISKEY FREE

We propose giving you Three Full Quarts of Whiskey FREE, in exchange for nothing but your good will and friendship—but before making our liberal offer we deem it necessary for you to study the following truthful facts:

THINK ABOUT THIS! Some whiskey houses talk about the trusts and warn you to buy your goods right. Why! Simply because they are not distillers and must purchase from the combine. No trust will ever be Strong Enough to Control the North Carolina Distillers. No trust will ever make a Carolinian Demand Two Prices for His Whiskey. OVER 100 YEARS AGO the old time distillers made pure whiskey here in the mountains and the same methods are employed today! When it comes to making good whiskey, North Carolina folks stand on their honor and will not experiment. They are satisfied with their grand-father's record—their chivalry—their proud old ancestry!

Casper's Whiskey Made by Honest North Carolina People is going regularly into the homes of more than 250,000 families all over the world. Do you know it's used daily by frail children, invalid ladies and diseased, suffering men for the betterment of their health? Do you know that pure whiskey—honest whiskey—old time sun aged whiskey produced here in our own beloved Southland—is the best medicine in the world! We have right here in the Mountains of North Carolina the Largest Mail Order Whiskey House in the World, occupying our own 6 story fire proof building covering one entire city block—and last but not least—we have a capital of HALF MILLION DOLLARS.

By the aid of ample money, we are proud to announce, that today we control all the surplus whiskey held in this section of North Carolina and have decided to thwart unreliable competitors by offering sample shipments of our 10 Year Old Hand Made Sweet Mash Whiskey at the following reasonable prices:

10 FULL QUARTS $5.50; 20 FULL QUARTS $10.00
40 FULL QUARTS $20.00.

All Express Charges Prepaid. Shipped in Plain Boxes with No Marks.

Our bottles measure 32 ounces and are full quarts. Buy nothing from swindlers who advertise full bottles and ship pints or short measure quarts. Beware of them. We are an old established concern and refer by permission to Peoples National Bank of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Piedmont Savings Bank, the Largest Capitalized Savings Bank in our city.

If you prefer, we can ship either Rye, Corn, Bourbon, Apple Brandy or Assorted.

As long as you live no other reliable firm anywhere will ever offer pure and wholesome whiskey at above figures. We wish to add 100,000 new customers to our list before Christmas and can afford to be liberal. To avoid delay send full amount with order (as we do not ship C. O. D.) and address plainly:

The Casper Co., Inc., Winston-Salem, North Carolina.
Offices and Warehouses in the Casper Building.
Largest and Lowest Priced Mail Order Whiskey House.

COUPON 1611
Get your friends to club with you

Cut this out and return it with your order. If you send us a $10.00 order we will include FREE one full quart of 10 year old whiskey—or if order amounts to $20.00 we will send FREE three full quarts 10 year old whiskey.

☞ The above Thanksgiving offer made by The Casper Co., Inc., will not be good after Nov. 25, 1904. We urge subscribers to order immediately and be sure and mention this paper.

The aroma of satisfaction

BATAVIA COFFEE

Delicious, satisfying.

Ask about the Coupons.

FOR SALE BY

TURNER & DINGEE, Inc.,
Fort Worth, Texas.

European Events Cabled by Our Regular Correspondent, World-Famous Head of House of Somerset

BY LADY HENRY SOMERSET.
(Special Cable to The Telegram—Copyright, 1904, by the Hearst News Service.)

London Bureau of The Telegram.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—It would have been a grim present to the Mikado on his birthday had the Japanese succeeded in their great wish to present him with the fortress of Port Arthur, surmounted by the flag of Japan.

To that end the most terrific bombardment that has ever been directed against the fortress has been in progress for three days. The attack has been one of the most brilliant in military history, and the defense has been as extraordinary, and, although the Japanese have not succeeded the fortress once declared impregnable is very near the limits of its powers of resistance.

There is little doubt, although news is difficult to obtain, that in the interior of Russia riots are causing the greatest uneasiness, and responsible people fear that they will soon be faced with a trouble within their own borders as grave as anything that has occurred outside. When the Reservists' train passed through the town of Bitefsk, 400 men left the cars, plundered the town, burning by the way and causing the greatest panic.

The refreshment buffets at the stations were stripped bare, and when the attendants ventured to protest they were beaten. In the province of Kieff a priest has been stoned to death, and the police officials who endeavored to stay the outrage, were beaten and thrown to the ground.

The government are so hard pressed for men that they have called out veterans who served as long ago as 1887, married men of 40 and even 44 years of age. Thousands of desertions have occurred in the Russian army, and many of these destitute soldiers have escaped over the frontier, but are headed back by the Germans, on the ground that they are undesirable aliens.

To prevent escapes the government is sending its agents to visit the homes of old soldiers in the dead of night. They drag the men out of bed, and force them to the mobilization centers under arrest. But such disaffected troops will be worthless before the well-trained and enthusiastic soldiers of the Mikado.

On the other hand, the most extraordinary gallantry has been displayed by the troops at Port Arthur. General Stoessel has telegraphed to the czar the message which is now familiar, "We can not hold the fortress, but we can die for the honor of Russia, and we will. The citadel shall never be surrendered." The garrison, it is said, is reduced to its last shell, and all its long-range guns have been destroyed.

What will the war lead to? That is the question everybody is asking. Will it mean that disaffected Russia will rise and turn upon the government which has so long held the people under its heavy hand? The great bulk of the reservists detest the war, and all sorts of subterfuges for evading service are adopted.

The feeling is growing that the war should be stopped at all costs. "We can not smash these little 'yellow devils,' say the people, "even with a million men and three or four years' fighting." If the wave of popular feeling rises high, may it not carry both the autocracy and bureaucracy before it?

Terrible, indeed, must be the plight in which the mighty empire finds itself today, when, after the relentless persecution of the Jews, the czar has been obliged to send for two of the greatest doctors of finance in secret conclave from Berlin.

LIFE OF THE SMART SET

Much comment is being raised by the new play which is called "The Walls of Jericho," which is supposed to represent the life of the "smart set."

John Strange Winter, the well-known novelist, who has been asked whether Mr. Bourchier's play really represents the society of the day, answers that she is going to take a bold stand and to make an assertion which will be as positive as that made by the Rev. Mr. Campbell, who unflinchingly damned the whole of our great working classes, the backbone of this country, and has tarred them with the faults of the few.

"But mine," says the writer, "is not going to be the same kind of statement. I am going to rise up," she declares, "and uncompromisingly state that we have had enough of this indictment of modern manners and morals, which is discussed and written of the smart set. It is not good for the nation at large that impressions should be given to either the upper or lower classes as is done today. It is not good for the upper classes that they should be allowed to believe that all working men are lazy and thriftless, and that all working people are foul-mouthed, and it is certainly even less good that the working classes should be allowed to imagine that because men and women are born noble, or move in the same sphere as the nobility, they must necessarily be vicious." Who are the people who have build up this fiction—for fiction it is? If it were not silly, one might call it by a harder name.

Lady Colin Campbell, writing on the same subject, says: "No one can deny that there is a certain section of society, of which this play gives a correct picture, a group of men who are useless, who have no definite aims, but this section of one-sided drones does not represent society. In no other country and in no other period has there ever been so much done for the benefit of humanity as is done at present by the grandes dames of the great families of the United Kingdom."

"On the other hand, when we come to look at the so-called "Smart Set," whose names bulk so largely in the daily press, what do we find? Few, indeed, of the great names of England appear, but ladies who have not occupied hitherto great social positions, import their thirst for notoriety, their love of extravagance and their lack of personal social dignity, and these nouveaux riches who have so successfully broken down many of the barriers of society, by the weight of their money bags, are the chief ornaments and leaders of that small section known as the "Smart Set."

There is unquestionably a great deal of truth in both these ladies' utterances. It is time that we heard less of the doings of the vulgar few, and more of the real nobility of many good women, who, while occupying great social positions, are zealous for the good of humanity.

MRS. PAGET'S CONDITION

Mrs. Arthur Paget, whose terrible accident has evoked widespread sympathy, is going on fairly well, but has been obliged to undergo a serious operation by Professor Hoffa of Berlin. Professor Hoffa's method is like that of Lorenz. No knife is used; the injured limb is put into plaster of paris by the specialist, who has left an assistant surgeon in London to supervise the special treatment.

Next month Mrs. Paget will go to Berlin to be a patient in Dr. Hoffa's house. This world-renowned bone setter has made a special feature of exercising the muscles of injured limbs, and for this purpose has invented a small machine. He insists upon the use of the muscles, and Mrs. Paget is forced to stand for ten minutes, which causes her daily excruciating pain.

DEALING WITH ERRING CHILDREN

The provision of separate police courts for dealing with erring children has been strongly urged at the education office of the London county council. Children, it is contended, are morally contaminated when brought into contact with adult offenders at the ordinary police courts. More than one-third of the children who appear before the magistrates are not offenders at all, and should not be brought into the company of criminals.

Young delinquents are often placed in the waiting rooms with the most hardened culprits. Last week, for instance, I know of a little boy not 10 years old, who was kept waiting for hours with some of the worst blackguards of London on the plea of having annoyed passers by.

Boys and girls are detained in the body of the court until their cases come on for hearing, and with eyes and ears open listening to the sordid details of the various offenses that are tried. Far from disliking the process, the children are particularly proud of standing between two jailors in uniform in the police dock for the first time, and receive an ovation when they return to the ordinary haunts to recount their experiences to admiring comrades.

It is much to be hoped that the machinery of the law will be set in motion, and that these little offenders will be guarded from the pollutions of the police court.

ILL LUCK OF OPALS

It is difficult sometimes to trace the origin of a superstition, but there are certainly some which die hard, for instance, if people are asked whether they would care to possess opals how many will answer that it is unlucky to wear them.

It is believed that the idea originated with the narrative of Donnerhugel in Walter Scott's novel, "Anne of Geierstein," where the ill-fated Baroness Hermione wore a golden clasp ornamented with an opal, a gem that was never removed save for the few moments during the time her hair was combed.

This jewel was supposed to reflect the moods of the wearer. When happy and animated, it flashed and gleamed; when agitated it became dark red, in sympathy with the emotions of the baroness, and when a drop of holy water alighted on the stone at the christening of her child it shot out like a falling star, and the woman sank to the ground with a cry of pain.

If, however, the story of ill luck of this stone is to be disproved, it may be said that the luck, if there is such a thing, of the late Queen Victoria was undoubted, and she presented all her daughters on their marriage with opals and diamonds.

A lady in waiting once said to the late Queen: "I am surprised you are so fond of opals, Your Majesty, as they are known to be so unlucky." The queen's answer was as follows: "Queen Elizabeth always wore opals, and I have always worn them, and we have always found them lucky stones."

The opal is the emblem of hope, innocence and purity, and the color as snow, with a heart of gold.

THE MAID OF HONOR

The maid of honor has been a less prominent figure since the death of the late queen. During her reign the duties of the eight young ladies, who succeeded each other with unfailing regularity, were defined clearly, although not arduous. The maid of honor was expected to read aloud to the queen, in the afternoon to drive out, and to play the piano in the evenings.

Fifteen hundred dollars a year was allotted as salary, but this did not do much more than pay for the lady's dress, as, although the queen had extremely simple tastes, she had a curious aversion to the constant reappearance of the same gown. On her marriage each maid of honor received a dowry of $5,600. During the sixty-three years of Queen Victoria's reign only thirty-nine maids of honor were appointed.

The first appointment that the queen made when she came to the throne was that of my own aunt, Lady Caroline Somers Cocks, as her first maid of honor.

WANTED, A DOLL; NO MODEL

A charming story comes to us from Rome, showing that, although benevolent and gentle, the pope has had little experience of children. Some nuns were received by him the other day, and took with them two children about 4 and 5 years of age. The little ones had knelt and kissed his hand, but having answered the questions which the pope put to them, conversation became a little difficult.

The nuns, seeing his embarrassment, told the children to repeat the prayers which they were taught to say every evening, for the Holy Father. The pope was touched and said: "Good children, come here. I have something for you." He presented each of the little ones with a silver medal, but was much astonished to see that they received them with sorrowful silence.

Turning to the nuns he asked if anything was the matter. "Don't they like them?"

"Come here" he said to the eldest girl, "and tell me what you would like best in the world."

"A doll," said the child; "a big, yellow-haired doll."

"Ah! that you shall have," said the pope, immensely relieved, and his sister went out the next day and got two of the best, so that the children will remember him as a father indeed.

Speaking of the interview to his secretary afterward, he said: "Royal audiences are not half so fatiguing. I am sorry for the fathers of large families."

CONSTIPATION

Health is absolutely impossible, if constipation be present. Many serious cases of liver and kidney complaint have sprung from neglected constipation. Such a deplorable condition is unnecessary. There is a cure for it. Herbine will speedily remedy matters. C. A. Lindsay, P. M., Bronson, Fla., writes, February 12, 1902: "Having tried Herbine, I find it a fine medicine for constipation." 50c bottle. Sold by H. T. Pangburn & Co.

Weekly News Review of the Great Eastern Empires of Europe, from Our Regular Berlin Correspondent

BY MALCOLM CLARKE.
(Special Cable to The Telegram—Copyright, 1904, by the Hearst News Service.)

Berlin Bureau of The Telegram.

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—Although nearly two weeks have passed since the presidential election in the United States, the great republican victory continues to occupy the minds of a large part of the German people.

A prominent socialistic writer says in a socialistic weekly, which has a large circulation among the working classes in this country: "The socialists in the United States have every reason to feel satisfied with the political evolution in their country, although, of course, the election of President Roosevelt means that their bitterest enemies have won a temporary victory.

"They will be defeated many times yet, but their number will increase more rapidly under a republican administration, especially one which is prone to imperialism and militarism, than would be the case if the more liberal democratic party were at the helm.

"Socialism in America is rapidly becoming a power, and in a not very far future the great fight at the ballot boxes will be fought not between republicans and democrats, but between capitalism, as represented by the republican party, and socialism—and socialism will win, and win all the surer the more the present strong republican party will abuse its power and attempt to crush the working people.

"The socialists of Germany, who have fought hard to attain their present power and influence under a strong monarchical government, will follow the fight of their American brethren with great interest."

NO REPORT YET MADE

The committee of German railroad men who were sent to the United States by the government to study American railroading and who recently returned home have not yet made their official report, but when it appears it will contain little praise of American railroads.

One of these men, who for obvious reasons does not care to have his name appear in print, said to me today: "We may learn a great many things from the Americans, but in railroading we are certainly ahead of them.

"The Pullman cars are, of course, far more luxurious than any on this side of the ocean, and many of the American limited trains compare favorably with the trains used here by the rulers of great countries, but the private companies, who own all the railroads in the United States, show very little concern for the safety of the great traveling public, and the fact that the already large number of railroad accidents is not greater is due more to luck than to anything else.

"It is evident to any practical railroad man that the railroad companies in the United States have only one object—that of making money—and apparatus tending to make traffic more safe which we adopted on our government roads ten or more years ago is still missing on even what are called first class railroads on the other side of the Atlantic.

"The roadbed is quite good on the main lines in eastern states, but in the west we much oftener found it entirely too light for the heavy cars used. The speed of the famous American 'flyers' has also been greatly exaggerated, and the locomotives are inferior in material and strength of construction to German engines."

TRICKS AND HUMBUG

A Bremen clergyman who has just returned from Russia, in an article in the Protestantenblatt, throws an interesting light upon the humbug and tricks of orthodox Russian priests in their dealing with the superstitious peasantry of that country.

Letters, guaranteed to insure the entrance of the soul of a deceased into heaven, are written to St. Peter by many priests and sold for what they think their victim is able to pay.

"A peasant living near Brest showed me one of these letters," says the Bremen clergyman, "and I give it here translated literally: "We, by the grace of God Metropolit of—to our Lord and friend, St. Peter, keeper of the keys of the gates of Heaven, write this to let thee know that Vladimir Petrovitch, who has just died, has always been a faithful servant of the Lord and that before his death he was absolved by us from all his sins."

"It is, therefore, our demand that thou let him pass through the gates of Heaven without delay, and do not let him suffer from lack of anything, and we have, therefore, written this letter."

As it will be seen, the letter is very businesslike, and shows the high heavenly connection of the writer.

REPORT IS FALSE

The brother of Grand Duchess Cecille, who is to marry the German Crown Prince in the beginning of next year, has been troubled by the reports printed in American papers that the trousseau of his sister was to be bought in American and has assured his subjects that the report is absolutely false and too silly to call for any denial.

The trousseau of the future German empress will be made from German goods by German hands, and not one single garment will be imported either from Paris or from America.

HIS FIRST MISTAKE

In these days when Admiral Rojestvensky is being criticised so sharply both here and especially in England for the firing on the Baltic fleet, it is only just to lay before the world a true picture of the man as he really is.

A high officer in the German navy says of him that if he be really responsible for the action of the Baltic fleet it is the first mistake he has ever made.

Far from being the reckless, dissipated roysterer which he is made out in the English press, Admiral Rojestvensky is a cool, brave man of simple manners and habits and a Russian of the best type.

The quiet, reserved, rather too studious sailor who won the cross of St. George for bravery in the war of 1878 is not a man from whom anybody might expect an act of panic-stricken folly.

When the news of the destruction of the Russian squadron reached St. Petersburg Rojestvensky was only a captain, but the czar promoted him because Admiral Skrydloff, under whom he had fought twenty-six years, said that he was the only officer in the Russian navy equal to the task of taking the Baltic fleet half way around the globe.

He is an administrative genius rather than a born fighter and it is due to his efforts and influence that Russia possesses a Baltic squadron at all.

Handsome, broadshouldered and of medium height, cool in face of danger, Rojestvensky is a typical sailor. He loves the sea and has always fretted when kept away from it in the offices of the admiralty, and when other department officials were lounging and hunting in the forests of Finland he could be seen in a little sailing boat navigating the countless bays of Finland's shores. "I have no peace on shore," he always said.

Rojestvensky is a stern disciplinarian and those who know him scorn the idea that his officers were intoxicated during that fatal night in the North sea.

They would never have dared to drink to excess, for though he never storms or gets excited he punishes severely every breach of discipline even in time of peace and his biting sarcasm is feared by his officers.

When the real facts are brought out, if they ever are, it will undoubtedly be seen that the Russian admiral had reasons to fear the presence of Japanese boats disguised among the fishing trawlers and that this fact was known to many in England.

The report of a Danish captain of a schooner which arrived in a French port a few days after the affair, that he saw explosives loaded on a boat in broad daylight at Hull, throws quite a different light on the affair from that in which the English authorities want it to appear.

DREADFUL ARE REPORTS

Dreadful are the reports which continue to come in from the battlefields of Manchuria in personal letters from Russian officers and soldiers at the front. An officer of a Siberian regiment in a letter to a friend in this city describes a harrowing scene from the battle of Liao Yang.

Owing to a surprise by Japanese hidden in a field of millet, nearly two thousand men in one regiment were killed and wounded. Of six companies, only two or three men escaped unhurt. The company of Captain Schoroff was absolutely annihilated, he himself, slightly wounded, being the only man to leave the field.

His men had been mowed down in a mass in a few minutes. That night Schoroff disappeared, and as his queer manner had been noticed, a brother officer went in search of him. He found him on the fatal road where the unburied corpses lay, neither Japs nor Russians daring to approach.

The captain was sitting on a stone. Before him, in little heaps, lay his company, including his two young lieutenants. "Get up," he was shouting, "what do my men mean by such cowardice? I do not lie down in the face of the enemy." The officer caught him by the arm, but he shook him off.

"I won't stand boots like these," he continued raving. "Sergeant Mamir, see that these men get boots! Are you all here, men? Fall in! one, two, three, four—we still have seventy men left, and there will be a big fight tomorrow——"

And the unfortunate officer who had survived in madness all his brave soldiers continued to count the corpses as living men and finally had to be carried into the camp by force.

Foreign News Which Interests All America, by Ireland's Most Gifted Author, Seumus Mac Manus

BY SEUMAS MACMANUS.
(Special Cable to The Telegram, Copyright, 1904, by the Hearst News Service.)

Dublin Bureau of The Telegram.

DUBLIN, Nov. 19.—When male persons who were emancipated from short pants years ago see a ghost in every rush bush that the wind sways the community should look after them. The admirals and the cabin boys of the Baltic fleet are in sore need of looking after when an old tub of a fishing lugger rises up a Japanese torpedo boat before their frenzied eye, and that they let bang at the unfortunate tub powder and ball and all other little amenities peculiar to a ship of war by the bucketful. Such people should not be allowed to wander about except in charge of their mothers.

For a day or two after the Baltic fleet had passed its peculiar pleasantry with the trawlers the English press and people, though with every right to feel outrageously outraged, piped the humblest little note consistent with a great imperial people to light whose dominions the orb of day rolls and works overtime. It then seemed that Russia was out for a good time, its rule of conduct "wherever you see a head, hit it."

John B., underestimating the hardness of his head, lay low till he found that the other fellow had been brave by accident. Then he rose up and divested himself of his coat and his waistcoat with a deal of fuss and swore to have satisfaction, though he should sweat for it.

THE SCOTS ARE ANGRY

The struggle between the Free Kirk and the Wee Kirk is not the only trouble in Scotland at present. The Scots-wha-hae have been celebrating Bannockburn and passing a resolution. They are irate because Edward the Seventh of England claims likewise to be the Seventh of Scotland.

He is only the first Edward to reign over Scotland, so the Scot's conscience rebels at untruth and monarchical presumption.

A warlike clergyman who orated on the battlefield at the recent celebration advised active resistance against the tyranny of the nation which they long ago annexed and have ever since held in bondage. Of late days these subject nations are becoming too despotic toward their masters.

The worm will turn some day, the masters will rise up, and the firmament shall shake with their demand for justice and equality.

After all, though, if the English have imposed on them a Seventh Edward, they imposed a Burns upon the English—and still impose him with a vengeance. The Scot reveres the memory of Bobby Burns. This is probably strange news but true.

Charley Mackay tells a Burns tale illustrating the suffering of the poor Englishman under the Burns' infliction. Mackay, responding to a request, was collecting shillings for yet another monument to Burns. He applied with confidence to an Englishman, Fortescue Harrison, who had for long years represented a certain Scottish borough.

"Mr. Harrison," Mackay said, "I'm certain of a handsome contribution from you for the Burns monument."

"Thank God, no," said Harrison. "This is one of the first genuine delights of my life—to be able to refuse a subscription to a Burns monument. What I have suffered through Burns while I was sitting for that Scottish borough the heavens alone can tell. First I had to praise him in the most fulsome manner, though I had never read a line that he wrote, and could not understand it, I am sure, if I had read it!

"Then I had to get a Scotchman to teach me parrot fashion to recite whole verses of his gibberish, and recite them with a Scottish accent. I have had to walk without my hat, and with the rain pouring down on my unprotected head, as the leader of a procession in honor of Burns, and under these circumstances I refuse, with the most genuine delight, to give a shilling, a sixpence, a penny, a bawbee toward anything that the memory of the man Burns is connected with."

A BEAUTIFUL SEAT

Beautiful Adere, on the gentle Maigue, in Limerick's fair county, is the Irish seat of the Earl of Dunraven, of Irish Reform Association fame.

And beautiful it is for a nobleman's seat. The family name of the Dunravens is Quinn. The first Earl of Dunraven was a grandson of Valentine Quinn, who in the penal days left the Catholic church and conformed to the established religion, thereby benefiting in more ways than the mere spiritual. This Valentine Quinn strove with anti-Irish bitterness against the volunteer movement that was headed by Grattan and Charlemant—the movement that strove for, and temporarily obtained, Irish legislative independence.

The English government awarded him for his services a baronetcy in 1781. For his aid in hanging the Irish parliament at the time of the union, he was made a peer under the title of Lord Adare. The infamous Castlereagh (who made himself famous by his ability with the razor) advanced Lord Adare to Viscount Mount Earl in 1816.

In 1822 in extreme old age, Castlereagh again advanced him to the earldom of Dunraven. Seven months later Castlereagh did Ireland the first real service he had ever done it by cutting his own throat.

ROWS ARE FREQUENT

The European newspapers hold, as a permanent caption, "Scene in the Austrian Diet." The only monotonous thing now about this Austrian diet is the continuous excitement. Rows are more frequent there than at an animals' diet.

It is absurd to endeavor to bind together as a unit races that are in their natures and temperaments distinct, oftentimes opposed. It needs a divinity to make homogeneity out of chaos. Yet very human beings are trying such every day—not alone in Austria.

In England it is dawning on the more reflective that the Irish race can not pull in harness with the Saxon. So here, as well as in Austria, the distinct entities should gracefully agree to disagree, and give rest to themselves, the world, and sub-editors' scissors.

SUGGESTS INDEPENDENTS

Some prominent members of the Irish Reform Association have been modestly suggesting that nationalist constituencies should return associationists to parliament as "independent," unpledged members.

I suppose it is traditional Irish bluntness, but the people do not see the point quite so clearly as do the associationists. The "independent" member is a pretty nimble quantity, a bit difficult to locate at times.

Some one remarked to the great Lord Palmerston once—in reply to some rather severe strictures which he was passing on a member: "But, Mr. Hawkins is an 'independent' member." "A member, do you mean," said Palmerston, "on whom nobody can depend?"

The attorney general for Ireland has challenged the reformists to come before an audience of Ulster unionists and there to expound their heretical doctrine that Ireland is, by herself, capable of erecting her own parish pumps, and legislating for same.

Unexpectedly (so far as the attorney general is concerned) Lord Dunraven has boldly accepted the challenge. Dunraven is a courageous man. The Orangemen of Ulster—particularly Belfast—adopt at times a style of discussing political subjects that is original enough to deserve the title of aboriginal.

Their arguments, which they carry in their coat pockets, are weighty, delivered with skill and usually dumfound their friend the opponent so much that he is unable to offer any reply till he has come out of the hospital again.

PRIVATE RIGHTS IGNORED

Winston Churchill ebelieves parliament is in danger, inasmuch as the rights of private members are being ignored, if not trodden on, more and more by ministerialists every succeeding session.

He thinks Mr. Balfour has proved himself the most notorious offender yet, in that he muzzled everybody and closured everything. Mr. Balfour is one of the ablest men, if not ablest statesmen, among England's political leaders in late years; but he has the usual human weakness of wishing to do all the talking himself. I suppose this is only his right. To the victor the spoils.

A Dublin castle ukase has gone forth here to the effect that the royal Irish constabulary shall not in future be allowed to take ammunition to evictions. If the assembled people get unduly excited the gentle police may only use either the screw-edged baton or saw-edged bayonet to calm and mollify them. The constabulary are by a blundering government placed under a decided disadvantage here; the bayonet—especially the saw-edged one—is very good in its way, and naturally has a soothing influence upon those nervous temperaments which are the source of trouble on eviction occasions; but it never can compete with powder and ball as a sedative.

It is understood that the brave fellows of the R. I. C. will petition the government for permission to return to the old reliable medicine which has so often been tried and found effective. God bless the tender-hearted boys!

He met here in the vestibule,
"He met her in the vestibule,
And they were there alone;
She wished to pass, but he, the fool,
His arms around her had thrown;
She would not say a word to him,
But caught her breath in fright—
And later murmured, "It's so nice, Jim,
You're hugging me just right."

MEN'S MALADIES ARE CURED BY DR. TERRILL'S METHODS

DR. J. H. TERRILL

Dr. Terrill's methods of treatment differ from other methods in many ways. They combine the most successful treatment of the past with the most advanced ideas of the present. In hte treatment of such diseases he has reached the zenith of perfection, then is it strange that he has such marvelous success? The many long years of patient study and research are responsible for his great knowledge of the Diseases of Men. It is the unlimited confidence which he has in his methods that enables him to GUARANTEE A CERTAIN CURE in every case he takes for treatment. CONSULT HIM NOW if you suffer with

VARICOCELE, STRICTURE, CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON, NERVOUS AND SEXUAL DECLINE, PILES, HYDROCELE, OR ANY OF THE DISEASES OF THE GENITO-URINARY SYSTEM

——VALUABLE BOOK SENT FREE——

Dr. Terrill's latest book, No. 8, should be in the hands of every man who is suffering with any of the diseases mentioned above, as it is conceded to be the very best of its kind ever published. It will be of much value to you. Send for it TODAY. It will be sent you in plain sealed wrapper. All Correspondence Confidential.

CONSULTATION AND X-RAY EXAMINATION FREE.

DR. J. H. TERRILL

285 MAIN STREET DALLAS, TEXAS

Brilliant French Writer's Review of Week's News from France and Mediterranean Kingdoms

BY PAUL VILLIERS.
(Special Cable to The Telegram—Copyright, 1904, by the Hearst News Service.)

Paris Bureau of The Telegram.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—The women of France, who formerly have not openly taken part in politics or troubled the government with demands for equality with men, have of late suddenly become very active, and if the present excitement among them does not die out they may in a near future compel changes in the laws of France which will place them on an equal footing with men.

The first visible outbreak of the agitation among the women of France manifested itself quite unexpectedly during the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the French civil code.

While the most prominent men of France were gathered at Sorbonne to celebrate this event the Women's Suffrage Association made a demonstration in the chamber of deputies and protested against "the injustice of this code which treats man as a freeman and woman as a mere chattel."

A prominent woman leader, who, by the way, for years kept up a regular correspondence with the late Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and who is a great admirer of Miss Susan B. Anthony, said to me today when I asked her what she and her associates mainly objected to in the "Code Napoleon:"

"The whole spirit of the code is an insult to woman. It tramples upon woman, and for that reason we protested against the celebration of the anniversary. This infamous work inspired by Napoleon, who had the greatest contempt of our sex, classes us with minors, with criminals, with imbeciles.

"It deprives the woman who marries, who gives birth to the citizens of the republic, of her nationality, her liberty, her personality, her fortune and her right to make an independent living.

"We demand equal rights for both parties to a marriage. We demand the same civic rights as men have, and we shall soon be powerful enough to enforce our demands.

"The women of America have shown the way, we have benefited by the magnificent work done by the American women leaders, the women of two European countries have already acquired equality before the law with men, right of suffrage as have their husbands and brethren, and mark my words, before this century grows much older the women of the world's two greatest republics will have won their fight for equality on all points.

THEY HAVE NO RECIPE

The French government has had poor luck with the "genuine" Chartreuse which it has been making since it dispersed the monks of the Grande Chartreuse, drove them to Spain and seized their stores of alcohol.

Parisian connoisseurs declare the product now made here a vile concoction and absolutely refuse to drink it, and the sales of the famous liquor outside of France have been exceedingly small, though considerable quantities are said to be in the hands of American dealers.

In the meantime the monks, who have established themselves near Taragona, have not been idle, and have already exported several thousand bottles of both yellow and green Chartreuse to England, France and America. They deny the report that the French government has discovered the original recipe and the taste of the liquor now sold here seems to bear them out.

LEBAUDY'S AIRSHIP

M. Lebaudy's new airship La Jaune, which has been seen hovering over this city nearly every day in all kinds of weather, seems to be at least equal to Santos Dumont's latest inventions, and its owner declares that he does not consider the day far off when he will try to sail across the Atlantic alone or with one passenger.

La Jaune made a remarkably successful night journey in the valley of the Seine a few nights ago.

Starting from Moisson at 1 a. m., the ship, carrying four passengers, traveled nearly one hundred miles and returned to its shed without a hitch. "It was the most weird journey I have ever made," said one of the passengers to a Paris journalist. "The huge cigar-shaped vessel was brought out in the open by the light of the moon, which shone dimly through a heavy mist.

"When we rose there was a strong wind higher up, so we kept about fifty meters from the ground.

"The mist was so heavy that we could not see the earth, and occasionaly the top of a large tree loomed up unexpectedly in our path as we sailed along, but our vessel was completely under control and we had no difficulties with them.

"Save for the moon there was nothing else to behold. The lights below were not strong enough to penetrate the thick veil surrounding us, with the exception of those of our balloon shed, which was lighted with hundreds of arclights, so that we could not fail to find our way into it when we returned."

HE IS DISAPPOINTED

M. Alfred Picard, the well known Paris editor, has just returned from a long trip to St. Louis, where he spent two months at the exposition, which he declares greatly disappointed him. "The St. Louis exposition," he declares, "is not an American exposition; it is an exposition of St. Louis, and nothing more, and does not nearly equal the World's Fair at Chicago.

"Well, only three countries outside of America are represented there—France, Germany and Japan. The exhibits of the latter country are, however, far less artistic than those we saw in Paris four years ago.

"Of American exhibits, only the agricultural display is worthy of notice.

"In beauty, our own expositions have surpassed that at St. Louis, but one must remember the United States is a young nation, that the artistic taste of its people is not yet developed, and that all its energies are spent in producing, in invading foreign markets and in making money."

M. Picard is rather severe in his judgment, is the general opinion of many eminent Frenchmen who have visited the great fair, and who have been delighted with it, and, besides this, he was rather snubbed by President Francis, who did not arrange any festivals in his honor, and who did not return the French journalist's call until the day before his departure from St. Louis.

THE KAISER FLIRTING

A good many Frenchmen would give considerable to know what the kaiser is up to now and whether he has any evil plans against France.

Not only has he flirted in the most open manner with France's ally and friend, Russia, ever since the establishment of our "entente cordiale" with England, but during the last month he has withdrawn many regiments of German soldiers from the Russian frontier and concentrated them along the Rhine and in Alsace Lorraine.

Russia also has recently turned a rather cold shoulder to France and this has hurt the feelings of many Frenchmen, especially at this time when only the diplomacy of Delcasse, the French minister of foreign affairs, prevented the outbreak of a war between England and Russia.

That the days of the Franco-Russian alliance are numbered is not doubted here and the strongest ties between the French and Russian peoples are no longer as ten years ago those of sympathy and affection but the millions of French money invested in Russian securities.

When the Franco-Russian alliance expires many eminent French statesmen think the time is ripe for two much more homogeneous alliances, one between England, France and the United States and another between Russia, Germany and Austria with Italy wavering as to which of the two she shall join. The people of France look with some anxiety and a great deal of displeasure upon the constant German warplays on our eastern frontiers where German soldiers go through evolutions of battles likely to be fought in a war between Germany and France.

Only a few days ago a series of maneuvers were carried out in Lorraine to test the strength of a new German fortress at Saulny.

An army corps with 150 cannon represented a French force attacking the fortress, which was defended by two Bavarian artillery regiments and one Saxon, and during this maneuver all the heavy guns of the fortress were tested.

There is, of course, nothing which gives any real offence to the French people in maneuvers of this kind, but they do nevertheless create the impression at times that the strongest guarantee of peace lies in Germany's absolute lack of money rather than in the kaiser's supposed strong love of peace.

And there are many here who think that in case of socialistic disturbances in the fatherland the German government might be used as a suitable means to distract the attention of the German people from dissatisfaction at home, and a defensive alliance with America and England might then be of incalculable value to France.

Amusements

Monday Night—"Peggy from Paris."
Tuesday Night—"Happy Hooligan."
Wednesday Night—"The Jewel of Asia."
Thursday Night—Charles B. Hanford.
Friday Night—Faust Minstrels.
Saturday Night—"The Marriage of Kitty."
MATINEES EVERY AFTERNOON.

The matinee girl will be in her glory during the coming week, and the offering presents several attractions which will be sufficiently entertaining from a dramatic and scenic standpoint to justify her in bringing out her nicest matinee clothes for a pleasant afternoon at the theater. The week opens with "Peggy from Paris," and Jack Pratt, the business agent who came ahead of the show for a day, says it is the genuine New York company. After Peggy is "Happy Hooligan," the hero of the cartoons, next comes "The Jewel of Asia," then Charles B. Hanford, an old friend and a popular one, next the Faust Minstrels and closing the week "The Marriage of Kitty."

THE WEEK JUST CLOSED

The week just closed presented one of the new ones.

The company presenting "The Forbidden Land," the comic opera which is founded on scenes and customs in Tibet, the city which was so long closed to foreign visitors, is reminded more of a big happy family than actors and actresses in cap and bell, paint and powder, and copied costumes. It is true the cap and bell, the paint and powder and the dazzling costumes are there and each goes to do its share of making the production a success, but the players dance together like they are enjoying the dancing, rather than following a daily occupation; they talk to each other like they are enjoying a conversation, rather than saying the lines which another has writ, and they smile at each other like the smiles are meant to make happy the one upon whom conferred, rather than being mere "business" which the stage manager and the musical director require. In fact the players appear to enjoy the play as much as do those in the audience.

"The Forbidden Land" overthrows all the traditions of comic opera. Instead of starting out in a blare of trumpets and a blaze of light, this production opens with a darkened stage and soft music. It reminds one at first of the weird, dark stage setting of "Unorna," which was presented here a couple of years ago by Mrs. Brune, and it can be accounted for when one remembers that Wallace Munro, who then managed Mrs. Brune in that production, is the manager now for "The Forbidden Land." Mr. Munro has been to Tibet. As a British soldier years ago he entered the country during the expedition for the rescue of Chinese Gordon, and much in the dance and the dress of the play is given to it by what he knows of Tibet.

W. H. Clarke, is about the first of the Tibetans in this gathering to discuss. Mr. Clarke is one of the most entertaining singers in this country. It is a fact. It is true he does not rival the Pattis, either black or white, he has no such voice as those, but he has a deep, full voice, and the pipes always work well for him. He is tall, broadshouldered and jolly.

Miss Alma Youlin is a Tibetan who does not look the part, because she is of that native American beauty type which appeals at once to those who love and appreciate that which is pretty and sweet. She sings like a bird, and her two solos, "Love at First Sight" and "Oh, Pity Me," are gems of music which live in one's memory, even though the singer and the song have passed to other places.

Gus Weinberg is really and truly a funny fellow. His broken German, or broken English, whichever it might be called, as it was broken both ways, is a dialect which catches at first speech, and his application of local jokes is good. One of the best things in the part is when reference is made to the kick of the mule, he says, "Her name is Maud." It made a hit because of the familiarity of readers of The Telegram with that Sunday feature of the comic page. Gus admits that he is a better comedian when sitting around a cafe table than he is on the stage. His friends who know him personally recognize much native wit with the boy, but then it would not all go in a part on the stage. It is told of Gus that once he worked in his own jokes in a part he was playing and that the manager called his attention to the fact that he was paying royalty on the lines of the play, and that if Gus did not intend to use them that he would cut off the royalty payments. Gus took the hint and since then he keeps very close to the lines as written.

Little Ethel Johnson, the Swede maid, is a feature of the attraction. "Little Johnson," as she is called, is a dancer and singer. Never was one more springy on her feet and never did a little girl get an ovation as she has in Texas. Light and airy in her work, she is a favorite throughout each performance.

William Cameron presents a new feature in his wrestling match with himself. Those who know the rules of catch-as-catch-can and Greco-Roman wrestling are well entertained by this burlesque.

Taken all in all, "The Forbidden Land" is a first class attraction. Manager Wallace Munro, who has it in charge, is a well met fellow. He traveled around the world and knows a thing or two or three, and an evening with him is a delightfully pleasant one.

Other attractions during the week were "The Village Parson" and North Brothers, comedians.

"PEGGY FROM PARIS"

All who enjoy musical plays—and who in these days does not take kindly to that form of stage entertainment?—will be certain to go to Greenwall's opera house Monday matinee and night, November 21, when Henry W. Savage will offer George Ade's witty and merry and melodious "Peggy from Paris." The mere announcement that "Peggy From Paris" is to be presented in this city will arouse the interest of all theater patrons. The fame of this most successful musical comedy is known to all who keep track of theatrical happenings. It has scored one of the biggest hits any musical play ever produced. It is celebrated for its wit, humor and satire; for the brightness of its book, its interesting and amusing character portrayals, its ingenious and original story. In "Peggy From Paris," George Ade has put some of his cleverest work. No greater assurance of its laughter-creating qualities could be demanded even by the most exacting. There is the verdict of New York, Boston, Chicago and other large cities to guarantee the abundant delights of this play. It ran for four months in New York, for five in Boston and for three in Chicago, and it is better and brighter and wittier now than ever, for since those runs were scored Mr. Ade has added much new material that has freshened and enlivened the book, dialogue, scenes and situations. Indeed, "Peggy From Paris," as it will be offered here, is merrier and gayer than it was when it captured the fancy of New York, Boston and Chicago and scored the hits of the season.

George Ade's co-worker in "Peggy From Paris" was William Loraine, who composed the music for the play. Mr Loraine is known to all music lovers from his "Zamona" and "Salome," two comedy achievement and financial success of the century, in which Frank Dumont has written a witty, sparkling dialogue and introduced scenes and incidents even more ludicrous and laughable than Fred Opper's humorous caricatures in the metropolitan comic papers, will be presented at Greenwall's opera house Tuesday matinee and night, November 22.

The subject lends many opportunities for extremely funny and ludicrous scenes and situations, displayed in many of the most popular compositions ever written. There is not an orchestra in the country that has not played them to delighted listeners, and from the fascination of these works may be judged the qualities of the melodies from "Peggy From Paris." The airs are captivating, catchy and alluring.

There are solos, duets, quartets and numerous especially effective choruses. Indeed, the chorus and ensemble numbers in "Peggy From Paris" are famous. They have scored pronounced hits and have been played by orchestras and on piano and sung and whistled far and near. But no matter how popular a musical number may be, it is never nearly so effective as when heard from the stage by trained vocalists and a pretty chorus and with the accessories of scenery and costume and light. Therefore, those who have heard and enjoyed the music of "Peggy From Paris" will surely wish to hear it again when the company comes here. There is every guarantee of the excellence of the company, chorus, the orchestra and the scenery and costumes for "Peggy From Paris" is under the management of Henry W. Savage, whose name stands for all that is best and most artistic in theatrical productions. This fact is known to all who will recall that Mr. Savage is the producer of many great successes, including "The Prince of Pilsen," "The Yankee Consul," "The Sultan of Sulu," "The County Chairman" and of grand opera in English. Also his are the recent successes, "The Sho-Gun" and "Woodland," while his "Parsifal" in English is one of the most notable of modern musical entertainments. Such a manager gives only the best, and in this class is "Peggy From Paris."

"HAPPY HOOLIGAN"

"Happy Hooligan," the greatest

THE GREAT CHARIOT RACE IN "BEN HUR."

MISS VERA MICHELENA.
With "A Jewel of Asia" at Greenwall's Opera House Wednesday Matinee and Night.

tenor of the Emma Abbott organization, but Miss Vera was placed in a convent, there to forget that there ever were such things as chorus girls in tights and admiring old gentlemen of the front rows.

A love for music and the stage, however, had been born in the little convent bred miss, and like murder it would out. John P. Slocum, the manager of "The Jewel of Asia," is credited with the discovery of this rare artist. As director general of one of the largest touring organizations he found himself in San Francisco one morning minus that most essential commodity, a prima donna. He must have one or abandon the tour. He heard of Miss Michelena and he sought her out.

While an understudy from the chorus was endeavoring her best to render the trills and roulades of the principal role Mr. Slocum was trying to persuade Miss Michelena that nature had ordained her for a comic opera career. He had by this time heard her sing, and he realized that before him stood a young woman who some day might be hailed as the queen of comic opera.

Miss Michelena referred the enthusiastic manager to her father. The latter's consent was finally obtained. One week later the country rang with the praises of this wonderful young woman who had come out of the west to fill the position once so proudly held by Lillian Russell and Alice Neilson.

Her four years' training have served to enrich her voice and give her the dramatic schooling which she needed. From a dozen applicants eager to create the title role in this latest musical comedy success Mr. Slocum has again pinned his faith to Miss Michelena, and upon her shoulders will fall the responsibility of winning from the audiences of the western and southern cities the enthusiasm aroused by "The Jewel of Asia" when it was first produced at the Criterion Theater, New York.

HANFORD IN DON CAESAR

"Don Caesar de Bazan" is one of the dramatic delights which age cannot wither nor custom stale. The character is as typical of gaiety as Hamlet is of melancholy. Some of the greatest figures in the drama have been fascinated by this dashing character and have applied their best abilities to its delineation. Although the scenes of Don Caesar are laid in Spain, the play shares with so many standard successes the distinction of having been first produced in Paris. It was the joint product of Dumanois and Dennery. Its success was enormous and it was adapted for the English stage by G. A. A'Becket and Mark Lemon. With all of Don Caesar's light recklessness, there is in his character a certain determination, a resolute chivalry for which possibly the English collaborators may be thanked. That they bestowed upon it strongly marked and essential qualities is shown by the fact that this is the one of several adaptations that has proved a permanency. Dion Boucicault, the brilliant author of "London Assurance," made a version which could not compete with it, and so did Charles Matthews, who produced his work at the Haymarket theater, London, under the title, "A Match for a King." The most eminent English speaking actors have performed Don Caesar. It was one of the favorite charcters of Edwin Booth. Charles B. Hanford's production of the play will be that employed by Mr. Booth. Recent efforts to readjust the situations and create new dialogue for the play have proved entirely unsatisfactory, the A'Becket-Lemon version being the only one that rings true and touches the responsive chord in public sentiment. There are many plays dealing with the character, but there is only one Don Caesar. Mr. Hanford must be regarded as ideally fitted to portray Don Caesar, who has certain touches of personality in common with so many of the roles in which this favorite American actor has enjoyed distinguished success. His strong sense of justice and his audacity in asserting it might, had he been Roman instead of French, made him another Marc Antony. He has something of Benedick's vivacity and courteous repartee and no small share of Petruchio's rollicking bravado. Mr. Hanford's performance of this play at Greenwall's opera house Thursday (Thanksgiving) matinee, November 24, will be regarded with great interest, especially as he brings with him one of the strongest companies he has yet organized. Miss Marie Drofnah will again be his leading lady and those who have witnessed her previous performances will have no doubt as to her graceful efficiency in portraying the leading feminine role of Maritana. Frank Hennig, a player of high quality and extensive reputation will have the role of Don Jose, the courtier whose machinations Don Caesar makes it his mission to defeat. The king of Spain will be played by Edward D'Oize, who gives up a prosperous career at the head of his own company in the legitimate drama, in order to join Mr. Hanford.

Added interest will be given to the Hanford engagement, for in addition to "Don Caesar de Bazan," Mr. Hanford will present "Othello," as the play Thursday (Thanksgiving) night.

With its wonderful wealth of action, passion and pathos, it is an important feafory of Mr. Hanford's repertory. Special care has been taken to present this greatest of tragedies with a cast and a production that can not fail to win the approval of the most critical. Mr. Hanford has appeared as Othello many times on previous tours, and has found pronounced favor with both press and public. Miss Marie Drofnah has also received enthusiastic commendation in the part of Desdemona, having played it many time with Mr. Hanford and previously with Mr. Keene. By the engagement of that sterling actor, Frank Hennig for the part of Iago, and Miss Bessie Hunter Hight for the part of Emilia, the management gives evidence of his declared intention of making the cast of this play one of the strongest in Mr. Hanford's repertory. "Othello" must always maintain its place at the head of the acted drama. It is the foremost, the widest, the deepest and the best existing analysis and picture in all literature of the passions of love and jealousy.

FAUST'S MINSTRELS

The Faust's Minstrels comes to Greenwall's opera house Friday matinee and night, November 25. The olio has six first-class numbers, the crowning feature being the acrobatic work of the Faust Family. The company carries a first-class band and orchestra.

"THE MARRIAGE OF KITTY"

In "The Marriage of Kitty," the New York semi-musical comedy success of last season, which will be presented at Greenwall's opera house Saturday matinee and night, November 26, a complete dinner is served in the latest English style, and many novelties in the appointments and attendance may be noted. This scene is the basis for some wonderfully amusing comedy, which grows naturally out of the situation. In New York where the play had such a long run last season, this dinner was said to be the only meal

(Continued on Page 17).

A SURE THING

It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is a sure cure for all lung and throat troubles. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs. C. B. VanMetre of Shepherdtown, W. V., says: "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It's infallible for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip, Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it. It's guaranteed by Matt S. Blanton & Co., Reeves' Pharmacy and W. J. Fisher, druggists. Trial bottles free. Regular sizes 50c and $1.

AMUSEMENTS AMUSEMENTS

GREENWALL OPERA HOUSE
Wednesday, Nov. 23—Matinee and Night

JOHN P. SLOCUM Presents the Stupendous Oriental Musical Comedy Success

The Jewel of Asia

Book and Lyrics by FREDERIC RANKEN.
Music by LUDWIG ENGLANDER.
FROM DALY'S, AND CRITERION THEATERS, NEW YORK
—WITH—
Miss Vera Michelena
MR. WM. BLAISDELL AND FIFTY OTHERS

A $25,000 production, extravagantly gowned, artistic scenic investiture. "LOVE IS A GAME"—the musical number in Act II, which cost $6,000 for the imported fur gowns worn by twelve show girls.
Glistening with Gems of Melody—Sparkling with Jewels of Mirth.

You Will Whistle These Numbers

"What's the Use." "Twelve Pretty Wives From Turkey."
"My Oriental Lady." "A Woman's 'No' Means Yes."
"Please Don't Move." "Katie From Dublin."
"Better Late Than Never." Etc., Etc., Etc.
"Love Is a Game."

Matinee Prices—Lower Floor, $1.00; Balcony, 75c, 50c.
Night Prices—Lower Floor, $1.50; Balcony, $1.00, 75c.
POSITIVELY NO FREE LIST. Seats on sale Monday, 8 a. m.

GREENWALL OPERA HOUSE
Matinee—Tuesday, November 22—Night

MR. GUS HILL'S MERRY MUSICAL MELANGE

Happy Hooligan

ALL FUN AND PRETTY GIRLS. Such well-known artists as

MISS RUBY RAYMOND	MR. JOHN PRICE
MISS EVA THATCHER	MR. FRANK E. McNISH
MISS VIRGIE DALE	MR. CHAS. SAUNDERS
MISS ANNA BYRNS	MR. JOS. PETTINGIL
MISS ESTHER MORSE	MR. FRANK BECKER
MISS LILLIAN DANA	MR. MICHAEL HEFFERMAN
MISS GRACE MAHON	MR. JOE HANAN
MISS MARIE WELLER	MR. JAMES MURPHY
MISS GLADYS ROGERS	MR. JOSEPH CONWAY
MISS FRANCES McHENRY	MR. JOHN BURNS
MISS MINNIE ALDRICH	MR. BERT LA ROSE
MISS JEANNETTE D'ARVILLE	MR. GEO. DONALDSON

AND A CHORUS OF 25 PRETTY GIRLS

Matinee Prices—Adults 50c; children, 25c.
Night Prices—$1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c.
SEATS ON SALE AT BOX OFFICE.

GREENWALL OPERA HOUSE
Matinee & Night MONDAY, NOV. 21 Matinee & Night
"She's Not Just the Same as the Rest."

HENRY W. SAVAGE will offer the first of GEORGE ADE'S Plays ever presented in this city.

THE WITTY, MERRY, MELODIOUS AND SPARKLING MUSICAL COMEDY TRIUMPH.

PEGGY FROM PARIS
Music by WILLIAM LORAINE.

Brighter, Breezier, More Mirthful than when it ran FOUR MONTHS IN NEW YORK, FOUR MONTHS IN CHICAGO, FIVE MONTHS IN BOSTON.
COMPLETE NEW YORK COMPANY—CAPTIVATING CHORUS—AUGMENTED ORCHESTRA
"Everything that goes to make a well-equipped musical comedy."—New Orleans Times-Democrat, Oct. 17.
"'Peggy From Paris' and the peaches she brought along with her in the chorus are the real things."—New Orleans Picayune, Nov. 17.
Matinee Prices—Lower Floor, $1.00; Balcony, 75c, 50c. Night Prices—Lower Floor, $1.50, Balcony $1.00, 75c.
FREE LIST POSITIVELY SUSPENDED. Seats on sale at box office.

GREENWALL OPERA HOUSE
Thanksgiving Day! Matinee and Night!
THURSDAY, NOV. 24
ENGAGEMENT OF THE DISTINGUISHED ACTOR, MR. CHARLES B.
HANFORD
Accompanied by MISS MARIE DROFNAH, in Two Superb Plays—each a complete production. "DON CAESAR DE BAZAN" at the Matinee. "OTHELLO" at Night.

Matinee Prices—Lower Floor, $1.00; Balcony, 75c, 50c.
Night Prices—Lower Floor $1.50, $1.00; Balcony, 75c, 50c; Gallery, 25c.
POSITIVELY NO FREE LIST. Seats on sale at box office.

At Greenwall's Opera House Saturday Matinee and Night.

THE SHOW GIRLS.
In the "Happy Hooligan" Company at Greenwall's Tuesday Matinee and Night.

AMUSEMENTS

(Continued from Page 16).

ever served on the stage that seemed real.

The Montgomery Advertiser said:

"The Marriage of Kitty," the delightful and dainty comedy adopted by Cosmos Gordon Lennox and his wife, Marie Tempest, and produced at the Montgomery theater yesterday afternoon at matinee and again last night, demonstrates that it does not require a stage full of boisterous people to entertain cultured audiences.

There are but seven parts in the comedy, and it naturally follows that the seven parts must be assigned to artists. If this were not so producers of plays would seize on those pieces that call for ishied. The action in "The Marriage of Kitty" is natural and throughout the many humorous complications the dialogue is bright and the situations are disclosed naturally.

Max Figman, one of the best known light comedians in the country, is well cast as Sir Reginald Belsize. His face, his voice, his gestures proclaim him the studious, painstaking actor. He expressed in most laughable and forcible style the lines written for the part.

HOW THE "BEN HUR" CHARIOT RACE IS WORKED

Everyone who has seen the great chariot race in "Ben Hur" has been fascinated by the intense realism of this incident in the wonderful spectacle. A large part of the illusion of this incident depends upon the background, which gives the impression of positive motion. This background embodies means for mounting and driving traveling aprons at the rear and sides of the stage, so as to prevent any break in the scene, and this, of course, gives the audience the impression of change of tion to the side aprons, so that they are all driven in the same direction, and to the spectators the three aprons appear to be a continuous unbroken scene. Notwithstanding the fact that the panorama is 96 feet wide and 25 feet high the three panoramas are all rotated at a speed of 2,000 feet per minute by a two-horse power motor. The ease with which this enormous extent of canvas is driven is largely due to the method of suspension on an endless track with wheels in rollers. The operation of this panorama is only a small factor among many essential to produce as near as possible the perfect illusion of a great race witnessed by thousands of spectators.

Ben Hur is to be staged in Dallas the week of November 28.

MISS MARIE DROFNAH.
As Maritana in "Don Caesar De Bazan" with Charles B. Hanford.

few persons. It is just possible, however, that the seven persons presenting "The Marriage of Kitty" cost Jules Murry, the owner of the entertainment, about as much money as some companies of four times as many persons.

One who enjoys clean, wholesome comedy produced without the aid of slap-sticks or the breaking of crockery will remember "The Marriage of Kitty" as a dramatic treat.

Bettina Gerard and Max Figman were the co-stars and they were supported by an excellent company.

As has been said, only seven people are in the cast of this bright little comedy. In almost every company, one may pick a weak spot, but there is no weak spots in the company that presented "The Marriage of Kitty" at the Montgomery theater.

Miss Gerard, the charming Betty Gerard of other days, was known here as an actress of versatility and great ability. The pretty face and fine figure which enhanced her stage presence in other work, have not diminished with the years. Her thorough knowledge of the restrained school of acting makes her an ideal Kitty. Her presentation was highly fin- scenery, as in the illusion the spectator follows the racing horses. At the rear of the stage is an endless apron, flanked on each side by smaller ends, operated in unison. When not in use the side aprons may be folded back against the rear apron, but while the scene is being "set" for the race they are extended. Upon these aprons are painted representations of the background of the scene, in this case representing the antique circus at Antioch filled with spectators.

Directly below the chariots is an electric motor, which actuates all three of the aprons of the panorama. It is a five-horse power motor and is operated at the switchboard that receives the signal of the stage manager by a flash of a colored electric lamp. A twisted belt imparts motion to a vertical shaft, upon which are three pulleys, one to receive the power from the countershaft, and the others to transmit the power into the two ends of the vertical shaft, which carry a cylindrical drum, around which the aprons are passed. Their rotation causes the apron to travel continuously, and gear wheels are provided, which impart the mo-

DRAMATIC NEWS

"Her Lord and Master," which Miss Helen Grantly will revive this season, might be termed an international comedy, as the scenes are laid in Colorado and England.

Miss Louise Ripley, a Texas girl, is playing Lady Macbeth in support of the eminent tragedian, John Griffith, and receiving columns of praise from the press in all the important cities. Miss Ripley is a native of Sherman and has been but a few seasons on the stage. She is a young lady of rare beauty and this coupled with her dramatic powers has made her quite a figure in the theatrical world.

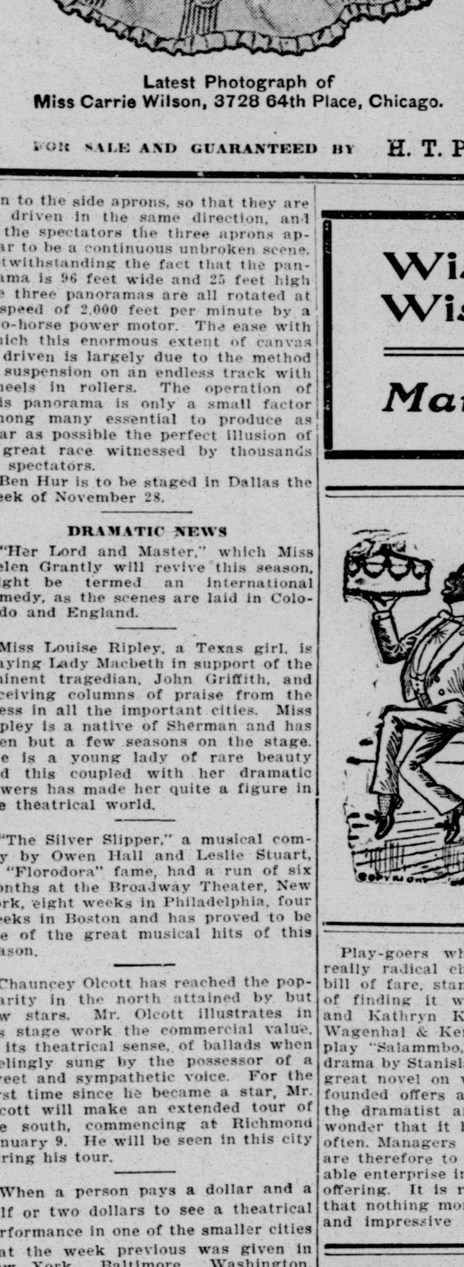

"The Silver Slipper," a musical comedy by Owen Hall and Leslie Stuart, of "Florodora" fame, had a run of six months at the Broadway Theater, New York, eight weeks in Philadelphia, four weeks in Boston and has proved to be one of the great musical hits of this season.

Chauncey Olcott has reached the popularity in the north attained by but few stars. Mr. Olcott illustrates in his stage work the commercial value, in its theatrical sense, of ballads when feelingly sung by the possessor of a sweet and sympathetic voice. For the first time since he became a star, Mr. Olcott will make an extended tour of the south, commencing at Richmond January 9. He will be seen in this city during his tour.

When a person pays a dollar and a half or two dollars to see a theatrical performance in one of the smaller cities that the week previous was given in New York, Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia or some other city for 50 or 75 cents, he naturally feels imposed upon, or in other words, buncoed. The writer paid two dollars a seat to see "Dolly Varden" at the Herald Square Theater, New York, and was well satisfied with the investment. It is the daintiest, most tuneful and best mounted comic opera ever presented in America.

Play-goers who are hungry for a really radical change in the dramatic bill of fare, stand an excellent chance of finding it when Frederick Warde and Kathryn Kidder will appear in Wagenhal & Kemper's much talked of play "Salammbo," the new spectacular drama by Stanislaus Stange. Flaubert's great novel on which the new play is founded offers a tempting subject for the dramatist and it is a matter for wonder that it has been passed by so often. Managers Wagenhal and Kemper are therefore to be credited with laudable enterprise in making a very timely offering. It is reported from all sides that nothing more dazzlingly beautiful and impressive has been seen in the way of scenic effects and costumes for many years. Twenty-five thousand dollars would probably be a small estimate of the outlay involved. The company which is a large one includes such well known players as: Wadsworth Harris, Thos. Cooke, Ina Brooks and Irene Osier.

Dustin Farnum, who made so telling a hit in "Arizona" during its last New York revival, is being "starred" by Kirke La Shelle as the cowboy hero in the dramatization of "The Virginian." Mr. Farnum is said to suggest the Virginian in his manner and appearance off the stage, and his friends expect him to make a notable success in the role.

Latest Photograph of Miss Carrie Wilson, 3728 64th Place, Chicago.

Danderine

Grew Miss Wilson's Hair

AND WE CAN

PROVE IT.

Danderine Is So Exhilarating, Invigorating

and strengthening to both the hair and scalp that even a 25c. bottle of it is often enough to show wonderful improvements. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout out all over the scalp, and grow abundantly, long and beautiful. Use it every day for awhile, after which two or three times a week will be enough to complete whatever growth you desire.

NOW at all druggists, in three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle.

FREE. To show how quickly Danderine acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to any one who sends this advertisement to the Knowlton Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address and ten cents in silver or stamps to pay postage.

FOR SALE AND GUARANTEED BY H. T. PANGBURN & CO., Ninth and Houston Streets.

Wise Dealers Handle It
Wise People DRINK It

Martin's Best Whiskey

"It Takes the Cake"

Is the usual favorable comment on the superb laundry work turned out at the Fort Worth Steam Laundry. The best of linen and other materials are easily ruined by careless and indifferent laundering. We cannot and do not hope to retain your patronage by slipshod work, and the best is none too good here.

FORT WORTH STEAM LAUNDRY
LIPSCOMB AND DAGGETT STS.
PHONE 201.

AMUSEMENTS AMUSEMENTS

GREENWALL OPERA HOUSE
Saturday, Matinee and Night, Nov. 26

BETTINA GERARD AND THE MAX FIGMAN

Marriage of Kitty

SEMI-MUSICAL NEW YORK COMEDY SUCCESS
The Drollest Comedy in Years—(New York Sun.)

FREE LIST SUSPENDED
SEATS ON SALE AT BOX OFFICE

DALLAS OPERA HOUSE
NOVEMBER 28 TO DECEMBER 3
WITH MATINEE WEDNESDAY AND SATURDAY

KLAW & ERLANGER'S
STUPENDOUS PRODUCTION OF GEN. LEW WALLACE'S

BEN HUR

Dramatized by WILLIAM YOUNG. Music by EDGAR STILLMAN KELLEY.

350—PEOPLE IN PRODUCTION—350

Prices—$2.00, $1.50, $1.00 and 50c.

Mail orders with remittance promptly attended to. Address George Anzy, Dallas, Texas.

Seat sale opens Thursday, 9 a. m., Nov. 24.

Money enough to buy a box of Pills?
Then be thankful! It means so much to have a box of Ayer's Pills always in the house. Just one pill at bedtime, now and then, and you need have no fear of bilious attacks, sick-headaches, indigestion, constipation. Sold for sixty years. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

SCENE FROM "PEGGY FROM PARIS."
At Greenwall's Opera House Monday Matinee and Night.

THE TELEGRAM.

BY THE FORT WORTH TELEGRAM CO.
FORT WORTH, TEXAS.

Entered at the Postoffice as second-class mail matter

EIGHTH AND THROCKMORTON STS.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
In Fort Worth and suburbs, by carrier, daily, per week.....10c
By mail, in advance, postage paid, daily, one month.....65c

Subscribers failing to receive the paper promptly will please notify the office at once.
Mail subscribers in ordering change of address should be particular to give both NEW and OLD ADDRESSES, in order to insure a prompt and correct compliance with their request.

TELEPHONE NUMBERS
Business department—Phone 177.
Editorial rooms—Phone 676.

MEMBER ASSOCIATED PRESS.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The Fort Worth Telegram will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given at the office, Eighth and Throckmorton streets, Fort Worth, Tex.

The Telegram absolutely guarantees a much larger paid daily circulation in the city of Fort Worth and surrounding territory than any other daily newspaper printed.

FIGHT BEFORE CONGRESS

Now that the election is over there will be a strong effort made to pledge members of congress to amend the interstate commerce law at the coming short session of congress. The Cooper bill, pending in the house committee on interstate commerce, covers the ground and an effort will be made to have the committee report it early in the short session. If it can be gotten out of the committee there is every indication that it will pass by a large majority. Stockmen have suffered very much during the present season from poor service, and while conditions have been slightly better than a year ago still they have been bad enough and there is a determination to have matters fixed, if possible.

The recent convention held in St. Louis by the interstate commerce law convention brought out a most enthusiastic gathering of prominent business men, representing trade and commercial bodies from all parts of the country. At the meeting the whole matter was talked over and it was determined to make a hard fight at the coming session.

The organizations present decided to raise $10,000 for the purpose of actively proceeding to bring this matter prominently and forcibly to the attention of congress, as well as to every congressman in the country. Money sufficient for this purpose was guaranteed.

The Trans-Mississippi congress, which adjourned the day before the interstate law convention met, passed resolutions indorsing the movement and sent the same to the interstate commerce law convention.—Denver Stockman.

The desired amendment of the interstate commerce law would have been accomplished at the last sesson of congress, had it not been for the action of Chairman Hepburn, who took the necessary steps to defeat the measure. Since that time, however, the people of Mr. Hepburn's congressional district, which is located in Iowa, have raised such a disturbance that he will doubtless pursue a different policy when the matter is again up for consideration. Just why Chairman Hepburn should have acted in the manner he did during the last congress is not clear. The people of Iowa are as much interested in the perfecting of the interstate commerce law as are the people of Texas or any other state in the union. Experience with the law in its present shape has demonstrated to the satisfaction of all shippers that it affords the railway interests of the country too much scope for gouging the shipper, and until the law is perfected by allowing the commission to not only prescribe the rates, but to also enforce them, the railways will continue in the same old way they have been doing business in the past.

While Texas has led in the matter of the agitation that has prevailed for amending the law, this state is not by itself by any means. All over the west and southwest the people have been educated up to an appreciation of the existing state of affairs, and with this realization has come the determination that the proper remedy shall be promptly applied. Every conference that has been held on the subject has but served to demonstrate the determination that exists on the part of the people, and the guarantee of the necessary $10,000 for the purpose of putting the matter properly before congress, shows that there is to be no weakening at the last moment.

Under the present provisions of the interstate commerce law the honorable tribunal charged with the enforcement of its provisions is powerless to do more than say what it thinks the rate on interstate traffic should be. If it makes a rate that does not comport with the ideas of any railway manager, the ruling of the commission is forthwith tied up in some federal court while the offending railway goes right along in the matter of collecting the rate that places such a burden on the shipper. Hearings are granted at different points and masses of testimony accumulated to prove that the rate is almost confiscatory in its effect upon the cattle interests of the country, but under the present status of affairs there is no adequate remedy that can be sought and applied. The shipper simply has to take his medicine and look pleasant while he is swallowing it.

Efforts in behalf of the desired perfecting of the law have been of rather a desultory nature until the situation was taken hold of by the organization of cattlemen perfected at Denver last May. When the interstate cattlemen's committee got in behind the measure there was something doing. Texas is behind the movement inaugurated at Denver, and that fact accounts for the manner in which things have been pushed during the last few months. Judge Sam H. Cowan of this city, attorney for the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas, is the leading spirit in the fight, and so far he has put up a magnificent contest. Judge Cowan never lets opportunity slip to get in some effective work, and there is no doubt that this unobtrusive citizen of Fort Worth is today the greatest thorn pricking the sides of the railways operating in the southwest. Judge Cowan is confident of winning out, and those who know the man best are the most confident that he will win.

But the railways are not idle by any means. They are shaping up for the final contest that is to be had before congress this winter in such manner as to indicate a determination to die game. There will be plenty of railway money to be spent at Washington this winter, and it will employ some of the very best talent that can be obtained. The fight that is to be pulled off at Washington is going to be a very warm and interesting one from start to finish, and the side that wins in the contention is going to keenly realize that it has been up against something.

The railways may again be able to defeat the will of the people, but it hardly seems probable. The necessity for relief has been too thoroughly ventilated and is too well understood. The people are but asking for their rights, and congress must grant their request.

OUR LAY SERMON

"And I said in my haste all men are liars."

When David, the beloved of God, perpetrated the above unique declaration he evinced an insight into human nature that was almost divine. And if all men were liars back in the early days when David smote his harp and indulged in sweet psaltery, they ought to be past-graduates in the art now that they have had so much time for its development.

It is a pretty broad and sweeping declaration to allege that all men are liars, but it is a statement that will come very near bearing continued repetition. The fact that all men are liars is but the strongest of evidence that all men are human. If they were not human they could not be so universally liars. The beast is not a liar, from the fact that its organism is not so highly developed. Give the brute man's knowledge, opportunities and surroundings and there would only be more liars in an already badly surfeited world.

While it is asserted on the authority of King David that all men are thus afflicted, it is somewhat soothing to realize that there are different degrees in the intensity of lying. Some men are natural born prevaricators and lie from constitutional requirements. The constitutional liar is the worst of the bunch, from the fact that he has no other impulse but that of stretching the blanket. Lying is a second nature with him. He could not tell the truth if he would. Then, there is the artistic liar. The world is full of gentlemen of this class. Through long practice and constant application, they shine as purest gems serene in their peculiar and particular avocation. The danger in dealing with the artistic liar lies in the fact that his work is usually so well done as to seem plausible and in every way worthy of credence. The artistic liar usually gets through the world in the guise of a gentleman.

The accomplished liar is the next important in the list of those who trifle with the truth. There is not much difference between the artistic liar and the accomplished liar. The chief distinction lies in the more consummate ability of the accomplished gentleman, who by reason of birth and education, is able to lie with a little more telling effect.

The common liar is the next in the catefory, and he is by far the most numerous of the species. The common liar indulges in his well known proclivities more from force of habit than from necessity. The time when he parted company with the truth is so remote in his recollection that he could not possibly approximate with any degree of accuracy just when it occurred, and he goes through life just a matter-of-fact, common old every day liar. He is not on speaking terms with the truth, and would not recognize one of its features if he was to stumble over it in the middle of the road.

Many of us lie for varied reasons. Some of us attempt to tell some story we have heard and lengthen its thread with strings drawn entirely from our imaginations. We think we have only added to its zest with our harmless little embellishments, but at the same time we know that we have lied before we finish the story. Some of us lie from force of habit and natural environments. We have fallen into the habit of exaggeration, and it sticketh closer than a brother. Some of us lie unconsciously and unintentionally, but like the proverbial hen's teeth, we are few and far between. We make an agreement to meet a friend at a certain place, and we fail to keep the appointment. We agree to pay a certain bill or discharge a certain obligation at a named time, but fail to deliver the goods and thereby shake the confidence of our fellow man and verify the allegation made by David when the human race was so young that all the pink had not then exuded from its toes.

And then, there is the little white lie. We are not at home when some one calls wo do not care to see. We are not feeling well Sunday morning when the time comes to go to church and Sunday school. We turn over imaginary new leaves on the first of each year, and a million more little things of minor importance, but all sufficient to demonstrate that old David had a correct line on the situation when he published to the world his estimate of the human character. These things may seem infinitesimal in their nature, but indulgence only serves to strengthen the ties that bind to the guild of liars.

But the meanest liar who walks the face of the earth today is he who exercises his accomplishments in the defamation of character. There may have been some excuse for spontaneous lying such as fell from the trembling lips of poor old Peter when he thrice denied his Lord, but there is none for the wanton and deliberate act of smirching character. The world as a whole is too much given to an indulgence in this kind of lying, and it is just as common in high places as it is in the humblest cot that decorates God's footstool. Scandal is whispered from lips that should be too angelic to frame such utterances, and while the whisperer may not know the alleged facts are untrue, that does not relieve from participation in the dissemination of an untruth that may be so cruel and blighting in its effects that the wrong can never be undone.

This world is none the better for all the liars that have ever lived in it. A lie is just as reprehensible today as it was back in the days when David formed his hasty but exceedingly accurate estimate of human character. Time has softened none of the effects of prevarication and never will. The effects will be the same 1,000 years from today and men and women will go on lying even then in the same old way. Statesmen call lying by the more refined name of diplomacy, and the accomplishment is known under different names under different surroundings. But the fact remains that the world is full of it, and it is high time that we should all awaken to the fact and strive to do better.

There is no actual necessity for at least half of the lies that are told. There may be some instances where a certain form of lying is permissible if not justifiable, but the plain unvarnished truth is preferable under all circumstances. The truth may sometimes hurt, but when a man tells the truth he at least has the approving whisper of his own conscience and that is worth a great deal. We should learn to tell the truth and shame the devil, even if it literally takes the hide off. There is no permanent advantage that can be gained from telling a lie.

The English court of inquiry has developed that no Japanese vessels were with the Hull fishing fleet, while the Russian investigation will undoubtedly disclose the fact that the entire Japanese navy was there. The two investigations will bring the contestants right back to the point from which they started, and the whole matter will have to be threshed over by The Hague tribunal.

George Gould was out shooting in North Carolina a few days ago, and in some manner managed to shoot an attendant in the eye, destroying the sight, it is feared. Mr. Gould at once sent the injured man to New York for treatment by an eminent specialist, with instructions to spare no expense in an effort to save his sight.

New York farmers have formed a turkey trust, and propose to make the eaters of Thanksgiving birds pay 30 cents per pound for the delicacy. All of which goes to show that the trust habit is not confined altogether to the very rich. We are all born monopolists and would breed the octopus if we could only get a start.

An Oklahoma constable levied on a Rock Island freight train in that territory a few days ago to settle the claim for damages for killing a small bunch of cattle. He made his levy hold good by chaining the locomotive to the track. Such energetic measures ought to have been sufficient to insure prompt settlement.

The most conspicuous feature about the sailing of airships at the World's Fair seems to be the inability of the ships to do much sailing. The celebrated Francoise venture resulted in dismal failure, in spite of some of the most choice French profanity ever heard in the vicinity of St. Louis.

William J. Bryan says that the democratic party must reverse its attitude and fight its next battle as the champion of the people. The greatest trouble the democratic party has had to contend with has been its many reverses, but a few more may bring it back to its senses.

The latest report from Washington is that Postmaster General Wynne is to be made ambassador to Mexico, and this means a fond farewell to the cherished ambitions of James G. Lowden of Abilene. The position pays the very handsome stipend of $17,500 per annum.

The Russians are determined that as few of their remaining vessels shall fall into the hands of the Japs as possible, even if they have to blow them up and send them to the bottom. Such action may seem heroic, but a good live scrap would seem more so.

Aunt Carrie Nation disported herself real lamb-like when in this city a few days ago, and did not make one single war whoop or hatchet play while she remained with us. But no tears were shed when she took her departure.

General Stoessel advises the czar that he is able to hold out for a time, but intimates he would gladly welcome that lunatic fleet. If the general is so well fixed it is surprising that he has indulged in so much graveyard talk.

The price of pork is today just about double what it was seven years ago, and still it requires official investigations to determine whether or not there is a meat trust in existence.

Over in Germany a title of nobility can be purchased outright for $40,000, and American girls will find that much cheaper than the French and Italian articles, with men thrown in for lagniappe.

Texas girls should see that their kissers are kept under cover for the next few days. Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson is touring the state.

General J. Warren Keifer is returned to congress from Ohio, after an absence from that honorable body extending over a period of twenty years.

Russia lost her last chance to save that lunatic fleet now en route to the China sea when she declined Japan's peace overtures.

In the race for congress in this district one J. M. Mallett of Cleburne also ran.

Gleanings From the ....Exchanges....

Some men are so little in their business dealings that they soon kill their influence in a town. It pays to be liberal from a purely business standpoint. It is very seldom that a really liberal man is not a prosperous man. Even though a man's liberality may be at times imposed upon it is best to stand some imposition rather than appear as a stingy galoot. The people somehow feel that a man who hoards his money and will not part with it, after so long a time becomes a little unscrupulous about how he secures it. —McKinney Gazette.

No man loses anything in the long run through the display of a liberal spirit. It is the fellow whose milk of human kindness has turned to vinegar, and whose absorbing desire is the accumulation of wealth that loses out in the end. Wise liberality is one of the crying needs of the hour, and it could be advantageously employed in all things.

Arkansas is to test the validity of the iniquity known as the poll tax qualification for suffrage. One man deprived of his vote on account of having no poll tax receipt has sued the state for $2,000 and here's hoping that he will win. It will make no difference to Texas if he does, but it will be a satisfaction to those who oppose the law in this state to find that another overwhelmingly democratic state has pronounced the thing unconstitutional.—San Antonio Light.

The Texas voters who regard the poll tax qualification as unconstitutional are generally those who failed to pay their poll tax and consequently lost the right to vote.

The announcement comes from New York that the republican campaign committee has $400,000 left over as a nest egg for four years hence. Is this a formal announcement to the democrats that they will have to see that pile first before they can do any raising?—Austin Statesman.

The fact that the republicans had $400,000 left over from the recent campaign indicates that there were not as many purchasable votes as was expected. When you get squarely down to the facts in the case it will be found there are comparatively few Americans who are willing to sell their right of suffrage.

There is a war on in San Antonio. The preachers say they intend to call the hand of the sheriff and county attorney on closing the saloons in that city on Sunday. The saloon men say they will not close, and it is not yet known where the county attorney will stand. If he sides with the saloon men, the preachers will lose the fight.—Tyler Courier.

A spasm of virtue seems to have attacked many of the Texas cities and towns of late. Even El Paso, which has always been noted as the most wide open town in the southwest, has contracted the Sunday closing habit, and her citizens are looking on in amazement when they are not too busy spitting cotton.

Champ Clark says that Parker's gold telegram "cost him the state." In other words, Champ wants the country to understand that the Missourians are yet loyal to the memory of Richard Bland. In an early day Mr. Bland was a miner out in Nevada and he became wedded to the white metal. Later he came to Missouri and was sent to congress, all the while contending for the 'dollar of the daddies." The world discarded silver as a money standard, but Mr. Bland heeded not. He went on swearing by silver and the Missourians swore by Bland. He was the logical man for the democratic nomination at Chicago in 1896, and would have won the prize —is that allowable?—but for his wife's church relations, a sad commentary on our boasted tolerance. The people of Pike county still worship the silver goddess.—Waco Times-Herald.

The political result in Missouri was a great surprise to the nation, and has been satisfactorily explained by the settling of 40,000 Iowa republicans in that state. The silver issue is still alive in the west and the south, and there is no doubt but that the gold telegram alienated more voters from the party than it added to it.

Former Governor Hogg has been retained by the Farmers' Union to represent them before the railroad commission next spring when the hearing to adjust and reduce cotton tariffs will be had before the commission. The farmers' union numbers 150,000 members. It favors the mileage basis which would abolish the differential arrangement now in force to the Texas seaboard.—Sherman Democrat.

There is something of a surprise extant that Governor Hogg has had considerable to do with shaping up the Farmers' Union, and some very interesting developments may be expected in the not very remote future.

The prospects are appearing for some nice fat republican quarrels during the next two years. A president who is finishing his career is somewhat independent, but his congress, composed of men who expect to remain a while, plays politics. Ask Grover Cleveland. —Houston Post.

The republicans may quarrel and scrap among themselves as a matter of diversion, but when it comes to a contest with the democratic party, they line up as one man and forget all their differences. Grover Cleveland practically abandoned his party, just as the managers of the recent Parker campaign did, and democracy has thus twice been betrayed into the hands of its enemies.

We have seen many stories that pointed a good moral, but the following excels any we have ever read. Read it and see if you don't think so: Two boys were seen playing in a back alley. Both of them were covered with mud, and one holding a dog while the other fastened a tin can on the canine's tail. "Why is it?" asked the man who discovered them, "that you boys are not at school instead of out here in the dirt abusing that poor dog? I would think your mother wouldn't stand for this sort of business for a minute." "Say, mister, she hain't onto us," said the boys. "She's been away from home for a week makin' talks to women clubs about the way to raise a family."—Athens Review.

And such is the way of the world. We are really all prone to exercise much vigilance at the spigot while the contents of the barrel are really wasting at the bunghole.

Now it is reported that poultry raisers in the north have formed a trust and are going to make the city folks pay dearly for their Thanksgiving turkeys. Here we have an illustration of the evils of a bad example, but it only proves that human nature is the same, in the country or in the city. Even the men who cry out most loudly against the trusts will sometimes take advantage of the first opportunity to form a trust of their own.—San Antonio Express.

Human nature is the same the world over, and we would all enjoy a monopoly if we could. Even the downtrodden farmers have perfected an organization and are holding their cotton in concert to make the consumer pay a higher price. The fact of the business is we are only against monopoly when we begin to feel its grind.

What some of the Texas papers cannot understand is this: why the same road is assessed more per mile in Arkansas than it is in Texas? The Courier is not well enough posted to give an opinion on the matter. Some of our confreres who seem to know everything, should undertake to explain it.—Texarkana Courier.

Governor Davis explained that matter in his Dallas speech when he said he had compelled a just system of rendition to be adopted in Arkansas. Texas must do something of the same kind.

President Roosevelt may visit Texas this winter. If he does, he will find a warmer reception than he would get in any state north of Mason and Dixon line. Mr. Roosevelt is personally popular in Texas.—Denison Herald.

The people of Texas admire the active energy of the man, and if he should visit the state this winter he will receive such a welcome as will make him forget he is a republican and wish he was a Texan.

The question of questions before the Texas legislature will be that of adequate revenues to meet the growing demands on the state government. There is now a considerable deficiency. This must be provided against for the future. One great trouble is in partial and inadequate assessments. There is no state uniformity—each county proceeds along its own lines. Governor Sayers undertook to correct all of this and had a commission appointed to draft a scientific tax measure, but the whole thing fell through and we are today pursuing the ancient methods of getting our revenues. Did the state get anything from that tremendous oil flow at Beaumont? We think not. The legislature should take up the whole tax question without fear or favor.—Waco Times-Herald.

The legislature will have to go up against the tax question at its next session in no half-hearted manner. And it is going to prove the greatest problem that will come up for consideration. While it is generally conceded that more revenue is needed and must be provided, the people will vigorously protest against any increase in the tax rate.

Years ago, when a person was killed by a railroad, the courts and the juries gave a heavy verdict in damages, but the railroads have learned to bribe witnesses, and the railroad lawyers have learned the value of graft, trip passes and other blandishments. With a sheriff loaded down with free passes and other railroad favors besides, it is now hard to get a reasonable judgment against a railroad for killing an employe or a passenger. On this account these corporations are indifferent about keeping in first-class condition their tracks and rolling stock; hence the growing number of appalling and fatal wrecks. It has gotten to the point now that the railroads own half the district and county judges. A revolution will have to come and that, too, before many years. The people can not long tolerate bribery and corruption in our court proceedings.—Tyler Courier.

The Courier is entirely too drastic in the allegation that half our courts are owned by the railways. Is it not a matter of fact that damage suits against railways are usually passed upon by jurors, and the presiding officer has nothing to do except to charge the jury as to the law and the facts in the case?

THANKSGIVING

What shall I yield a thank-prayer for,
Upon this sacred day?
I have no great endowment or
Much wealth as gold would weigh.
I hold no priceless gems to wear,
No regal coronet,
But though my life of these is bare,
My heart is thankful yet.

I know the lilac blooms are gone,
I know the leaves are dead;
I know there's gray within the dawn,
That yesterwhile was red.
I know the late bird-song is still,
I know all this, but let
These pleasures leave me as they will,
My heart is thankful yet.

The rose died with the Autumn's smile,
But I no tear shall shed;
I owned its fragrance for awhile—
I shall not mourn the dead.
My feet through all the long years crossed,
The flowered ways have met,
And though so much I loved is lost,
My heart is thankful yet.

I feel the face I love the most Against my own each night;
And all my life is just a toast,
To eyes that make my light.
And though some treasure slips my hand,
I never once forget
The blessings that are left to me and
My heart is thankful yet.

God's garden on the hillside grows,
Yet none of mine is there;
The great Tear-river flows and flows,
Yet all my days are fair.
Not that the knife has never cut;
I, too, have known regret;
Some loss I, too, have sorrowed, but
My heart is thankful yet.

When I am tempted to complain,
Because my neighbor has
More than I ever hope to gain,
My envy leaves me as
My heart remembers how I saw
A mother's face all wet
With tears, and peaceful breath I draw,
My heart is thankful yet.

I lift my glad eyes to the blue,
That seems as sweet to me
As when the summer breezes blew
The blossoms from the tree,
And send a whisper bounding up
To where white clouds are set,
That though some dregs are in my cup,
My heart is thankful yet.

—VERNIE LAWSON.

THE RIGHT PIANO FOR YOUR HOME

Buy a Piano as you would a watch—for inside excellence as well as outside show, and from a dealer whose guarantee is reliable.

We sell Pianos just as Tiffany or our most reliable jewelers sell watches. We guarantee the hidden parts as well as the outside—we will take off the case and let you see for yourself.

If the Piano bought of us is unsatisfactory, we will makes it right or replace it with another.

OVR SHEET MVSIC BARGAINS WILL SVRELY BRING YOV ON MONDAY

All New, Bright, Cheerful, Attractive Pieces—regular 50c; now 12½c each.
"Polly Prim," Two-step, and Song.
"The Troubadour," Two-step.
"Katunka," Two-step and Song.
"In After Years When I Am Old," Song.
"Sweetheart," Song
"'Tain't No Disgrace to Run When You're Skeered," Coon Song.
"Beaumarie," Gavotte; regular 60c, now.....15¢
10-Cent Music, Straight .....10¢
Don't overlook our Piano Rebuilding and Refurnishing Department. Old instruments made like new.

WILL A. WATKIN MUSIC COMPANY
CORNER ELM AND MURPHY STREETS, DALLAS
E. E. CHRISTOPHER, Representative

For Cleanliness, Purity and Quality
OUR PRODUCTS HAVE NO EQUAL. We bottle our Milk and Cream.
Alta Vista CREAMERY COMPANY
Producers and Distributers of Pure Dairy Products.
PHONES 1323. We Make Ice Cream the Year Round.

Six Things in Favor of Genuine Gas House Coke
First—It lasts as long, ton for ton, as coal.
Second—Heats your house quicker than coal.
Third—You can carry a low fire with Gas Coke.
Fourth—Gas Coke burns to a fine ash.
Fifth—Makes no smoke.
Sixth—SAVES the almighty dollar.
For Base Burners, Grates and Furnaces
Delivered to any part of the city limits.
Price $6.50 per Ton
FORT WORTH LIGHT AND POWER CO.
PHONE 206.

DON'T DESPAIR
HERBINE
WILL HELP YOU
Cures MALARIA
Cures CONSTIPATION
AND ALL LIVER AILMENTS
EVERY BOTTLE GUARANTEED. PRICE 50 CENTS.
For Sale by H. T. Pangburn & Co., Ninth and Houston Sts.

DEAR KATY! SWEET WILLIE JONES!

Copyrighted, 1904, by the American-Journal-Examiner. Great Britain Rights Reserved.

1 "THANKSGIVING DINNER ALWAYS REMINDS ME OF A FUNNY STORY ABOUT—"

2 "SH-H! NOT SO LOUD, KATY!" "HEY W-I-L-L-I-E!"

3 "AS I WAS SAYING—" "UNCLE, CAN WILLIE COME IN?"

4 "NO! BE QUIET." "CAN WILLIE COME IN?"

5 "HA! HA! IT MAKES ME LAUGH TO THINK OF IT—WELL SIR—ONE NIGHT—" "BOO-HOO"

6 "WHAT IS THE MATTER, KATY?" "I WANNA PLAY WITH WILLIE!"

7 "ALL RIGHT HE CAN COME IN BUT DONT MAKE ANY NOISE."

8 "WELL SIR, HA! HA! ONE THANKSGIVING NIGHT—" "HEY WILLIE!"

9 TEE HEE

10 "STOP THAT NOISE, YOU LITTLE RASCAL!"

11 "WELL SIR, AS I WAS SAYING—" "OOH! DONT IT BOUNCE FINE!" "HEY! YOULL BREAK IT!"

12 "IT'S GETTING LATE!"

SWINNERTON -04

HAPPY HOOLIGAN'S THANKSGIVING DAY OUTING

Isn't Montmorency a Swell-Looking Chauffeur?

Copyrighted, 1904, by the American-Journal-Examiner. Great Britain Rights Reserved.

1 CERTAINLY, DEAR BOY — YOUSE KIN CATCH DE DOG AND GET BACK HIS TOIKEY — BUTCHER — STOP HIM

2 THATS A FINE TURKEY — HE CAWNT ESCAPE US — TOIN ON A LITTLE MORE SPEED, MONTY — GRAB HIM

3 I'LL GRAB THE TURK — WE'VE GOT HIM BY JOVE — DON'T LET HIM GET AWAY — HOLD HIM — THANKSGIVING TOIKEYS

4 MY TURKEY

5 I. SAW YOU DO IT — YOU TRIED TO STEAL MY TURKEY — YOU GOTTER PAY DAMAGES

6 HURRY UP BILL, GIVE 'EM THEIR BREAD AND WATER. YER DINNER'S READY — WARDEN

F. Opper

(Continued from page 12.)

(From Samon et Delila.)
Characteristic—"In Dixie Land"..... Sanglear
Reading—
(a) "Pap's Old Sayin' " .....
(b) "Nothin' to Say".....
Piano solo—"Polanaise," in C. Minor, ... Chosen
Solo—"Little One a-Cryin' "..Oley Speaks
Reading ..... Selected
Solo—"Rock of Ages".....Old Hymn
Orchestra Accompaniment.
"Dixie" .....

AFFAIRS OF THE CLUBS

THE HISTORY CLUB

The History club had their first lesson on prehistoric America last Monday, and will continue the subject this week under Mrs. H. W. Williams in the absence of Mrs. Bailey. The club will meet with Mrs. Williams at 2:30 o'clock.

MONDAY BOOK CLUB

"Is American Literature Declining?" was the subject of the round table talk of the Monday Book Club, the discussion being led by Mrs. Sam Handerson and participated in by Miss Paddock, Miss McLean, Miss Labatt and Miss Crandell. Mrs. Crandell then gave the first of her travel talks, "The Approach to Naples,' Naples being the first city to be treated in these talks of Mrs. Crandell on European travel.

THE S. S. C. CLUB

The S. S. C. club met with Miss May Samuels last week, the prize going to Miss Andre Anderson. Miss Maples will have the club this week.

CRESCENT BOWLERS

The Crescent Bowling club had on the alleys last Monday Mesdames Godwin, Grassie Conway, Otto, Feilding, Claude Van Zandt, Littlefair, De Voll, Grammer, Dingee, Gay, Forbess, Spoonts and Capps.

Mrs. R. H. Beckman, Mrs. Hallett and Mrs. Ed White were elected to membership.

THE KERAMIC CLUB

The Keramic club on Thursday was a busy place. Work was progressing on a nut bowl with acorn designs, a lemonade pitcher ornamented with crab apple fruit and foliage, a berry bowl with sprays of blackberries, and a celery tray with fruit in harmonious color. Mrs. Sharon invites all interested in any form of china work to visit her studio on Saturday afternoons from 3 to 5. The work of the club and that of her own brush may then be seen.

THE KENSINGTONS

Mrs. J. F. Waller entertained the Kensington Klub Thursday afternoon, giving them as luncheon after the happy hour spent in art needlework, salad, coffee, whipped cream and pineapple jelly-and cake.

Those present were Mesdames Judd, Wardlaw, Ryan, Shropshire, Hoover, Darnell, Frost, Williams, Jordan, J. H. Melton, Getz, Triplett and Pollock. Miss Triplett and Miss Melton.

During the afternoon several musical numbers were rendered by Mrs. Waller.

THE OLIVES

A gay company of "Olives" played whist with Miss Cora Drake last week, a burnt wood plaque going to Mrs. J. J. Parker. The guests of the afternoon were Mesdames Hubbard, Hunt, Davis, Parker, Terrell, Van Geison, Van Zandt, Rozelle, Smith, Martin, Swann, Stanley; Miss Swayne, Miss Roy, Miss Shugart and Miss Oxsheer.

Miss Roy, the next hostess, will entertain Dec. 1.

RAILWAY POSTAL CLERKS AUXILIARY

A very enjoyable evening was spent by the members of the woman's auxiliary Railway Postal Clerks Thursday evening, Mrs. W. O. Davis and Mrs. M. G. Beadle being joint hostesses. The two homes adjoining proved to be a capital arrangement for entertaining, the first part of the program being a contest on "society reporting," the men describing the costumes of the ladies and the ladies the marked characteristics of their partners. Mr. and Mrs. Norman won both prizes, Mr. Norman a cake and Mrs. Norman a box of bonbons. At Mrs. Davis' salad and coffee were served. At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Beadle ices and cakes were served and here also was rendered a most enjoyable program, Mr. and Mrs. Morrell and their two song giving orchestra selections, Mrs. Morrell at the piano, Mr. Morrell playing the violin, one of the young men the cornet and the other the horn. Miss Annie Doughty's vocal number was appreciated and Mr. and Mrs. Beadle contributed of their unsual talents. Mr. Beadle is not excelled as a story teller by any of the professionals that come our way and Mrs. Beadle is a finished artist, whether singing the sweetest songs in the sweetest way, or reciting humorous or pathetic selections.

The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. Gaines on the afternoon of Dec. 1.

THE SOROSIS

The Sorosis club will celebrate the first anniversary of its organization Tuesday afternoon of the 29th, with an open meeting in the Arions' studio, corner Third and Houston. There will be an interesting literary program.

THE '93 CLUB

Mrs. M. E. Smith, the vice president, called the '93 club to order last Monday in the absence of the president, Mrs. Bibb. The thirty-three members present took part in an old-fashioned spelling match, conducted by Mrs. Harper.

The regular Dickens lesson with Mrs. Bronquist director followed the spelling match. Mrs. Gross read a paper on Dickens and Mrs. Huffman a peper on "Pathos and Humor." The program closed with a sketch of David Copperfield by Mrs. Gooch.

THE MERRY WIVES

The Merry Wives played with Mrs. Sam Handerson last week, Mrs. Robert Harrison winning the prize, a Texas souvenir spoon. Miss Bartels won the guest prize, a Haviland plate, while the souvenir, a tray doyley of drawn work, went to Mrs. Wardlaw.

WEST SIDE SOCIAL

One of the largest and most elegant parties the season has yet brought was that given by Mrs. Ennis W. Taylor last Tuesday, the guests of honor being the West Side Social club.

Chrysanthemums adorned the card suite, the golden balls of certain large blossoms mingling with deep red and white, to the gratification of every eye trained to note the beautiful.

The prizes were also more than handsome, Mrs. Meek winning a chocolate set and Mrs. W. R. Edrington a Haviland plate. Mrs. Paddock got the souvenir, a mayonnaise dressing dish, and Mrs. Hunt a heart-shaped bonbon dish.

Misses Newlin, Hogsett, Martin and Sparrow scored the favor, a pink chrysanthemum fan going to Miss Newlin.

The refreshments were salad and ice cream. Punch was served during the afternoon by the young ladies who scored.

The guests were Mesdames James B. Gray, Fosdick, McCabe, Burns, Mitchell, Ware, Humble, Wray, R. L. Van Zandt, Wallace, Zurn, Templeton, Swayne, Byers, West, Galbreath, Wallace, Fouts, Paddock, Sparrow, Adams, F. D. Thompson, Williams, George Jackson, W. R. Edrington, Hunt, Dunn, Ross, Goodrich Parks of Dallas, Samuels, Meek, Anderson, Whitla, W. D. Williams, Rawlins, Sloan, Alcott, Mullins, Waples, N. P. Anderson, Walker, Dunklin and McDonald.

The West Side Social club met with Mrs. Charles W. Connery last Friday for reorganization for the winter's play. Mrs. Meek, Mrs. Edward Burns and Mrs. McNatt were elected new members. The first meeting will be with Mrs. Connery Thursday afternoon, Dec. 1. After that time the club will play every week.

THE GIBSON GIRLS

Mrs. Ed Burns entertained the Gibson Girls last Thursday afternoon, three tables participating in a skillful game of whist. The prize, a tea pot and cream and sugar set, went to Miss Mabel Bradley.

INGLEWOOD CLUB

The Inglewood club met with Mrs. Payne in North Fort Worth Wednesday afternoon. The club answered roll call from Pope. After the regular business was concluded a very interesting "Telegram" contest was handed to members. The president, Mrs. Baker, won first prize, which was a beautiful piece of handwork done by the hostess. Members present were Mesdames Hollingsworth, Harrison, Batchelor, Baker and Payne. Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Stran were guests. Dainty refreshments were served, consisting of nut salad, wafers and coffee. Owing to sickness in the club but a few had the pleasure of being entertained by Mrs. Payne. Elizabeth Barrett Browning will be the topic for the next meeting. Mrs. McNeely will entertain next Wednesday afternoon.

CALANTHE CLUB

Mrs. Tom Coppage entertained the Calanthe club at her home last Wednesday. Tables were prepared for that old but fascinating game, flinch. Three games were played. The first prize, a dainty set of fruit plates, was won by Mrs. Bond in a cut with Mrs. Lloyd; the second prize, a decorated hairpin box, was given Mrs. Ault in a cut with Mrs. Addis. Misses Nina and Flossie, daughters of the hostess, delighted the guests with a song, their voices blending admirably together.

A two-course luncheon closed the afternoon.

Members present were Mesdames MacDonald, Frazier, Steinfeldt, Hart, Coulton, Schultz, Addis, Sawyer, Ault, Gernsbacher, Lloyd, Crady, Johnson, Carb, Bond and Bailey.

The guests were Mesdames Hamback, Hasset, Fitzgerald and Miss Seppie Smith.

EUTERPEAN CLUB

The Euterpean club held a combined business and program meeting last Tuesday. An invitation from Dallas to attend a reception to S. H. Clark was read. The resignation of Miss Edrington was accepted with regret. A number of new members were elected, six active members and twelve associate. Of the associate members seven were gentlemen.

The program directed by Mrs. Taylor opened with the roll call, answered by facts from the life of Schubert. "Hark, hark, the lark!" a duet by Mrs. Googins and Mrs. Rose; a paper on Schubert by Mrs. Jaccard, and "Schubert's Impromptu" by Mrs. Taylor were the remaining numbers.

The club's first open meeting will be on the evening of the 29th, to which the associate members and a few guests invited. Victor Kuzdo, the distinguished violinist, will be the artist assisting on the program, which is under the direction of Miss Lutie Tomlinson.

EUTERPEAN CHORUS

The Euterpean chorus met with Mrs. Jaccard Friday, the morning being spent on selections to be rendered at the open meeting. Mrs. Jaccard won admiration for her discovered abilities as a director and the work of the morning was most satisfactory to the club. The chorus will meet again Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

THE TRIO CLUB

The Trio club held a heavy practice Monday afternoon, the near approach of the first winter concert making them zealous to be letter perfect in the numbers they will render. The club has always a large attendance and practice with an enthusiasm that is producing excellent musical results.

For this season they have arranged for a series of three concerts, the first to be given the first week in December at the Christian tabernacle. Excellent talent has been secured for these concerts to assist the regular club.

Two new members were elected last week, Mrs. M. A. Clark and Mrs. Hal Noble.

THE COUNTRY CLUB

PARTIES OF A WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hoadly, Miss Hastings of Dallas, E. C. Wesley of Henrietta, and W. B. Ward Jr. were the members of a Country Club house party last Sunday.

For the Sunday dinner the following registered: John B. Bonner of Houston, Edward Breelle of Strawn, Ed Robertson of Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Camp, Miss Sue Smith, De Voll Harrold, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Anderson, Mrs. Whitla, Mr. and Mrs. Schenecker, Miss Margery Anderson, Edwin Schenecker Jr., Miss Frances Tarlton, C. J. Delano, J. D. McLean, Mrs. C. C. Taylor of Texarkana, Miss Hollinsworth, Miss Keesee of Tennessee and Dr. J. H. McLean.

During the past week the following have been guests of the club: C. H. Davidson of Kansas City, A. S. Goetz, William Cargill, O. R. Menefee, H. S. Ainslee of Chicago, A. H. Belo, Dick Clark and H. H. Harding of Dallas, Miss Eunice Johnson of Indianapolis, C. J. Delano, A. W. Armour of Kansas City, James Fennell of Kansas City and William Cargill.

WILL PLAY GOLF

Mrs. I. H. Burney, Mrs. D. T. Bomar, Mrs. W. T. Humble, Mrs. Jerry Ellis and Mrs. John C. Harrison constitute a golf club that avail themselves of the Country Club links during the week, and especially on Saturdays.

Mrs. Emma Fakes will return from New York city this week.

Miss Speer of Dallas is visiting Miss Lilian Fakes.

Mrs. Lewis Basist of Elgin is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gabert.

Mrs. Lavin and Miss Katie were Dallas visitors last week.

Mrs. G. B. Ligon is visiting in Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil P. Anderson have returned from St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Googins are visiting in St. Louis.

Mr. Zane-Cetti and Carl Zane-Cetti left yesterday for a brief visit to St. Louis.

Miss Madeline McCart is spending the winter with relatives in Bloomington, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hirschfeldt have returned from a trip to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Brooks Magruder are at home to their friends at their residence, 906 East Weatherford street.

Miss Edna Kahly is visiting her aunt, Mrs. A. S. Geotz.

Miss Bertha Pearson of Nacogdoches is the guest of Miss Mattie Melton and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed White, who have been in New York for the past two weeks, are expected home this week.

Mrs. O. W. Matthews and Miss Josephine have returned from a summer in Colorado.

Mrs. Goodrich, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. E. W. Taylor, has returned to her home in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Sachs of Cincinnati are the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Theodore Mack.

Captain and Mrs. Edrington returned Friday from a two weeks' visit to the St. Louis exposition.

Miss Tina Goerte has returned home after a four months' visit with relatives in Kansas City.

Miss Mary Byers, who has been visiting in Chicago for several months, is expected home in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gray left Thursday for a short visit to St. Louis. On their return they will go at once to Colorado Springs, Col., where they have taken a cottage for the winter.

Mrs. M. E. Wallace of Abilene left for a few days' visit there, but will return soon and will be at the Delaware for the winter.

Mrs. Chamberlin of Boyce, La., is visiting her mother, Mrs. C. A. Woodward. Mrs. Chamberlin was formerly Miss Jeannette Woodward, and during her residence here had no end of friends, who are greeting her.

Mrs. Frank D. Boyd and baby returned yesterday from a visit of several weeks in Louisville, Ky. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Emily Callahan, who will spend a part of the winter here. Dr. and Mrs. Boyd are at home at 1513 Hemphill street.

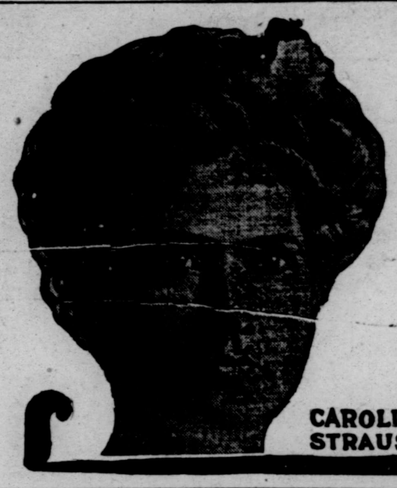

Mrs. J. J. Reimers left last week to spend the remainder of the winter with her daughter in Rochester, Minn. En route the Rock Island train on which she was a passenger figured in a disastrous wreck, but telegrams from Mrs. Reimers tell her family and friends that she escaped any injury.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Crawford of West Virginia are visiting Mrs. Crawford's brother, J. Montgomery Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Crawford are on their wedding trip, visiting the exposition on their way south. They will remain with Mr. and Mrs. Brown several days.

DON'T CROSS YOUR KNEES

A medical authority has recently uttered a warning against the habit of sitting with one knee crossed over the other. "This apparently harmless habit," he says, "is likely to cause sciatica, lameness, chronic numbness, ascending paralysis, cramps, varicose veins and other evils. The reason is simple: The back of the knee, it is explained, as well as the front of the elbow and wrist, the groin and armpit, contains nerves and blood vessels which are less adequately protected than in other parts of the body. The space behind the knee contains two large nerves, a large artery, and numerous veins and lymphatic glands. It is the pressure of these nerves and vessels which is apt to give rise to the various troubles against which we are warned."

Some interesting experiments have been made to ascertain which wood lasts the longest. It was found that birch and aspen decayed in three years, willow and chestnut in four years, maple and red Beech in five years and elm and ash in seven years. Oak, Scottish fir and Weymouth pine decayed to the depth of half an inch in seven years; larch and juniper were uninjured at the end of seven years. In situations so free from moisture that they may be practically called dry the curability of timber is unlimited. The roof of Westminster hall is more than 450 years old.

If sick—blame yourself

When at the trifling expense of 50 cents or $1.00 you can purchase health, there is no excuse for illness of the stomach.

At the expense of thousands of dollars, years of experience, hundreds of cases tried and cured of Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Nervousness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, also, Kidney, Liver and Bladder trouble, and all ills caused by bad digestion, it has been demonstrated that is a perfect remedy for stomach and bowel troubles, and one you can always rely upon.

DR. CALDWELL'S (LAXATIVE) SYRUP PEPSIN

IT SUPPLIES PHYSICAL STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE TO THE BODY.

At your Druggist's—50c. and $1.00.

PEPSIN SYRUP COMPANY,
Monticello, Ill.

GENTLEMEN:—For several years I suffered with dyspepsia, heartburn and insomnia, all caused by poor digestion. I was in despair of getting cured when I heard of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. After taking five bottles I was restored to health. The intense heat of the summer does not prostrate me as formerly, but I have enjoyed every day because my health was good.

I do not wonder at Syrup Pepsin finding such ready sale, as it is certainly worth its weight in gold.

CAROLINA STRAUSS,
289 Amsterdam Ave., New York, N. Y.
Treasurer of Harlem Schiller Club of New York.

FARM LANDS —ALONG—
"THE DENVER ROAD"
—IN—NORTHWEST TEXAS
(THE PANHANDLE)

Are advancing in value at rate of 20 per cent per annum.

Do You Know Any Equal Investment?

As our assistance may be of great value toward securing what you need or wish, as regards either Agricultural Properties or Business Opportunities, and will cost nothing, why not use us? Drop us a postal.

A. A. GLISSON, Gen. Pass. Agt.
Fort Worth, Texas.

A NEW PULLMAN LINE
—THROUGH TO—GALVESTON
—WITHOUT CHANGE—

BEGINNING SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 13, the Santa Fe will operate a line of Pullman Sleepers between

Fort Worth and Galveston
—VIA HOUSTON—

On Train No. 17, leaving Fort Worth daily at 9:15 p. m., arriving Houston 8:15 a. m.; Galveston, 9:55 a. m.

The cars assigned to this line are all new twelve-section drawing room sleepers, modern in every particular.

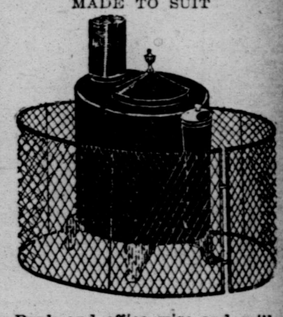

Santa Fe

For detailed information, reservations, etc., call on or address

T. P. FENELON, C. P. A., 710 Main Street,
Phone No. 193. Fort Worth, Texas.

FENDERS

ALL KINDS
MADE TO SUIT

Bank and office wire and grill work done in all designs and finishes. Wire work for all purposes. Call and see it done.

Texas Anchor Fence Co.,
Anchor Fence Bldg.

THE DELAWARE HOTEL
Modern, European
M. D. WATSON, Propr. C. R. EVANS, Mgr.

HOTEL WORTH
FORT WORTH, TEXAS.
First-class. Modern. American plan. Conveniently located in business center.
MRS. W. P. HARDWICK,
O. P. HANEY, Managers.

FORT WORTH LIQUORS
PURE
LEPPSTEIN & SON—FORT WORTH, TEXAS

NEURALGIA PAINS.
Rheumatism, lumbago and sciatic pains yield to the penetrating influence of Ballard's Snow Liniment. It penetrates to the nerves and bone and being absorbed into the blood, its healing properties are conveyed to every part of the body, and effect some wonderful cures. 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by H. T. Pangburn & Co.

EXPLAINING THE SITUATION

We want to tell you how we stand on the coal matter. We have bought largely from the output of the mines, and can make it to your interest to buy your coal now.

It's easy to save money on your fuel supply. Our prices will help you.

S. T. BIBB,
LAMAR AND NORTH STS.
Telephone 147.

PURVIS & COLP
Stylish right-up-to-the-minute LIVERY and CARRIAGES. Finest single drivers in North Texas. New Buggies, New Carriages. Try us. Phone 86.

Manchurian Method of Shoeing a Horse

ALEX
911 Main Street

FINEST FRUITS & CONFECTIONS

Rubel and Allegretti's Famous Chocolates.
New Imported Crystallized Fruits.
New Imported Crystallized Ginger.
New Imported Crystallized Violets.
New Imported Crystallized Rose Leaves.
Fancy California Fruit.
New Selected Nuts.

None better—None so good.

Miss. Bessie E. Ferris.
1023 Emerald Street
Madison, Wis.

Health for Every Woman.

Wine of Cardui makes it unnecessary for any woman to make a change of climate to secure health. This has been proved hundreds of times before it was demonstrated in Miss Ferris's case.

It was not fresh air that she needed, so much as a healthy and regular working of the functional organs. When Wine of Cardui corrected the functions and strengthened the organs by its tonic action, new life and spirit was the result.

Any woman who has not the means to secure the services of a specialist or take a change of climate, can feel sure of quick relief if she will take this great woman's tonic, which is within the reach of all women of moderate means. Don't think expensive treatment is necessary to make you well. Wine of Cardui has brought health to over 1,500,000 suffering women. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

WINE OF CARDUI

1023 Emerald St., MADISON, WIS., Sept. 20, 1903.

I was unable to work for some months as my health seemed to be very delicate and I had no ambition to get well. The doctor prescribed a change of climate and added that I had female weakness which needed treatment. I told him that it was impossible for me to leave Wisconsin, as I did not have the means. I took his medicine for some time, but found that it did not help me in the least. A friend who had used Wine of Cardui for ovarian trouble, suggested that I take it and I did so, as I was so discouraged with the doctor's medicine. I found that in a few days I was beginning to feel better and in two months I was able to go to work again, had no backache any more and no more pains at the monthly period.

I am pleased with what your medicine did for me and congratulate you on having such a fine preparation. Bessie E. Ferris

PRESIDENT, FRATERNAL CENSOR.

MEN Young, Middle Aged and Elderly.—If you are sexually weak, no matter from what cause; undeveloped; have stricture, varicocele, etc., MY PERFECT VACUUM APPLIANCE will cure you. No drugs or electricity. Method cured and developed. 10 DAYS TRIAL. Send for free booklet. Sent sealed. Guaranteed. Write today. R. V. SIMMONS, 203 Tabor Blk., Denver Col.

CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH
PENNYROYAL PILLS
Original and Only Genuine.
SAFE. Always reliable. Ladies, ask Druggist for CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH in RED and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with blue ribbon. Take no other. Refuse Dangerous Substitutions and Imitations. Buy of your Druggist, or send 4c. in stamps for Particulars, Testimonials and "Relief for Ladies," in letter, by return Mail. 10,000 Testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Chichester Chemical Co.
Mention this paper. Madison Square, PHILA., PA.

WHY, TURKEY! OF COURSE!

And everything else that is good to eat—if you deal with us. No retail grocery in the country carries a greater or better assortment. Our prices are positively the lowest. For this coming festive occasion our Poultry, Vegetables and Fruits will be of the highest quality. We want your Thanksgiving orders. We can take care of them properly.

Turkeys
Ducks
Hens
Fryers
Oysters
Sweetbreads
Brains
Sausages
Beef Extra
Lamb

Pig's Feet
Our market Wednesday will be the best.
Plum Pudding
Plum Pudding Sauce
FRUIT CAKES—Very fine quality
Imported Figs
Raisins, Dates,
Oranges, Grapes

Bananas, Apples
Almonds, Walnuts
Brazils, Pecans
Chestnuts, Cocoanuts
Crystallized Fruits
Brandied Fruits
Sweet Cider
Gunther's Candies
Fresh—
Tomatoes, Lettuce

Parsley, Beets
Radishes
CELERY
CRANBERRIES
Beans, Parsnips, etc.
And all other fresh Vegetables obtainable.
Belle Springs Butter
Country Butter
Batavia Game Jelly

Something very nice—
Batavia Strawberry Preserves
Stuffed Olives
Dil Pickles
GORDON & DILWORTH MINCEMEAT
Batavia Apple Butter
BREADS AND CAKES
Give US your order for Turkeys early and we will save you a good one.

TURNER & DINGEE, 502-4-6 HOUSTON ST.
ESTABLISHED 1878 — INCORPORATED 1902

FOOT BALL MAKES THE PLAYER BUG HOUSE

Trainer Says They Have Day Dreams and Imagine They Are Tackling an Opponent at Play

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Football players, according to Jere Delaney, trainer of Northwestern University eleven, are subject to an ailment similar to softening of the brain, which leads not only to the making of peculiar statements, but causes strange actions, which sometimes are amusing.

The exact cause of the trouble, Trainer Delaney said, he is unable to fathom. He declared, however, that it results more from the long continued physical and nervous strain to which the men are subjected during the three months of rigid training, which they are forced to undergo, than from the blows, kicks and bumps they receive on their skulls during the games.

"It is known," said Delaney, "that every player of the game fights his games over and over every day in his dreams, but only by the men who are in closest touch with the players is it recognized that they are given to constant day dreaming, during which they make strange motions as if struggling with an imaginary opponent."

According to Delaney, the athletes are given to almost childish methods of play when at rest. An instance related by the trainer was of a man who during more than an hour pored over a map of the United States, drawing lines with his index finger and imagining he was traveling over the country which his finger crossed.

CURED CONSUMPTION

Mrs. B. W. Evans, Clearwater, Kan., writes: "My husband lay sick for three months. The doctors said that he had quick consumption. We procured a bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, and it cured him. That was six years ago. Since then we have always kept a bottle in the house. We can not do without it. For coughs and colds it has no equal." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by H. T. Pangburn & Co.

BRICKLAYERS MAY GO OUT ON A STRIKE

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Bricklayers' unions, which are working under the building trades arbitration agreement, have become involved in the building trades troubles and strikes or a lockout involving 11,000 bricklayers in this city may be ordered.

Bricklayers are laying tiles in a new abattoir at Eleventh avenue and Thirty-Ninth street and a strike was ordered on the protest of the Tile Layers' union. The contractor took the matter before the arbitration board and the Mason Builders' association ordered the men back to work. The Bricklayers' and Tile Layers' unions are dissatisfied with the decision.

PAWNBROKER BEATEN BY NEGRO ROBBER

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—In an encounter with a negro robber Hyman Isaacs, a pawn broker, has been beaten over the head with a hatchet and probably fatally injured. The robber looted the cash drawer and escaped. He was arrested later and gave the name of William M. Johnson.

Isaacs, who is 54 years old, was alone in the shop when the negro entered. The theory of the police is that Isaacs resisted an attempt to rob him and was struck down.

RUSSIANS BUY FOUR ARGENTINE WARSHIPS

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Another report is curent, says a Herald Dispatch from St. Petersburg, that four Argentine warships have been bought through a French agent and will join Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet, thus giving him a strong preponderance over the Japanese fleet.

PIQUE SHOES

For the babe that wears light weight shoes here is a pretty little pique boot. It consists of three pieces. The sides are cut alike, with the exception of the strap over the insteap, and are joined at the back of the heel. The sole is the other piece. Seams are covered and edges are bound with white tape neatly stitched. A button and tiny bow ornament the front of each. Line the boot with pink, white or blue cambric.

SECTION HAND IS KILLED BY TRAIN

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 19.—Charles Hosky, aged 58 years, a German section hand on the Houston and Texas Central railway, was struck by the engine of a freight train this morning and instantly killed. He was knocked fifty feet and his neck was broken. He was walking on the track and failed to hear the engine approaching, and on account of a dense fog engineer did not see him in time to keep from striking him.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, } ss.
Lucas County.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that can not be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

(Seal.) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

BIG COTTON SALE

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, Nov. 19.—A big cotton sale is reported from the town of Italy. J. D. Echols, a farmer living a few miles west of that place, sold a lot of sixty-six bales for 9¾c per pound.

There is yet considerable cotton to pick in the county. Parties who have been over the county lately estimate that about 10 per cent of the crop is in the fields. The slight advance in the price of the staple brought a great many bales to Waxahachie this week. The total receipts for the season has passed 26,000 bales. It is estimated that Waxahachie's total receipts for the season will be 35,000 bales, or more.

CONDITION OF BRECKENRIDGE

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 19.—There is practically no change today in the condition of Colonel W. C. P. Breckenridge. He rested fairly well during the early hours of the morning. The doctors think he may live through the day.

EUGENE WARE, THE PENSION COMMISSIONER

HIS RESIGNATION HAS BEEN ACCEPTED BY THE PRESIDENT TO TAKE EFFECT JAN. 1.

PRIVATE ARMIES

It is not so very long ago since every great noble thought it incumbent upon his dignity to surround himself with as strong a force of armed retainers as he could afford to upkeep. And even today, within the confines of the British isles the custom still lingers, although few people probably are aware of the fact. One of the most numerous and best equipped of these present-day armies is that maintained by the duke of Atholl, at Blair Atholl, in Perthshire. It consisted, according to the latest returns, of 228 officers and men, whose armament is of the most modern and approved pattern. Prior to 1842 this was not the case, the privates retaining their ancient lochaber axes, claymores and targets, while the officers carried the traditional short broadsword (falchion) of the Highland chieftains.

No torture to that of a rheumatic. Prescription No. 2851, by Elmer & Amend, quickest relief of all. E. F. SCHMIDT, Houston, Texas, Sole Agent.

November Special Ra

St. Louis and return, Tuesdays and Saturdays, extremely low. Longer limit costs slightly more.
Chicago and return, daily, one fare plus $4.50.
Homeseekers' Rates, Tuesdays and Saturdays to Amarillo County, limit 30 days.
Chicago and return, November 26, 27 and 28, account Live Stock Exposition, one fare plus $2.00.

Holiday Rates to Southeast

Will be in effect December 20, 21, 22 and 26, limit 30 days, one fare plus $2.00.

Rock Island System — Through Service via Memphis. Write
V. N. TURPIN, City Ticket Agent.
Telephone 127. Fifth and Main Sts.

700 RECORDS

Just received for Edison Phonograph. Call and hear them.

CUMMINGS, SHEPHERD & COMPANY
700 Houston Street.
Fort Worth Texas.

PURE
APPLE CIDER

From Hagerman's apple orchard, Roswell, New Mexico, at KUHEN & UGLOW, successors
CAPERA BOTTLING CO
Phone 242.

Reliable Fort Worth Merchants Who Can Supply the Wants of Fort Worth People

You Can Alway's Get It in Greater Fort Worth

Confine Your Patronage to Fort Worth Dealers, Patronize Home Industries

LADD FURNITURE and CARPET CO.

HOUSE FURNISHERS

704-6 Houston
Phone 562

The Mugg & Dryden Co.

CORN MILL PRODUCTS

Grain and Coal

We make the Corn Meal and Graham Flour like grandmother used to eat.

ALWAYS OPEN

GEORGE L. GAUSE

Undertaker and Embalmer

Takes Full Charge of Funerals.
314 W. Weatherford St.
Phone 157. Fort Worth, Texas.

PRINTING — S. H. TAYLOR — PHONE 211 — FT WORTH, TEX. — EMBOSSING

We Do Developing and Finishing

BLESSING PHOTO SUPPLY CO. 315 Houston Street. Fort Worth, Texas.

QUEEN QUALITY

Starch and Bluing!

For sale by all grocers. Manufactured by Queen Quality Starch Co., Inc., Fort Worth, Texas.

GREER

LIKES THE BABIES

GREER'S ART STUDIO

The only Studio in the city on the ground floor.
509 Main Street.

"Cleanliness is Next to Godliness"

Natatorium Steam Laundry

North Side Court House — Both Phones 176 N.E. Gambrell, Pro.

MILLER & VOSS

Electricians

508 RUSK STREET 'PHONES 490

A CREMO

OR BLOCK GAS BURNER
ARE A WONDERFUL THING.
Phone 276, 2-r.
PHIL G. BECKER
703 MAIN STREET.

BOUND ELECTRIC CO.

FOR ELECTRIC SUPPLIES
Fresh Dry Batteries Constantly.
Largest Stock of Keys in Texas.
1006 HOUSTON STREET.
Phones 837.

When you think of BREAD, think of

MOTHER'S BREAD

And the MODEL MEAT MARKET AND BAKERY.
CHOICE MEATS AND DELICACIES.
609 HOUSTON ST. Phone 505.

FOR GOOD PHOTOS

CALL AT
700 HOUSTON
HUDSONS

If you want Pictures that are Pictures, see—

SIMPSON

The finest show of babies' pictures in the city.
403 MAIN—On the Corner.

SEE

GREER

For PICTURE FRAMES and MOULDINGS. The largest line in the city to select from.
509 MAIN STREET

Western National Bank

CAPITAL $300,000.

FORT WORTH, TEXAS.
CORNER TENTH AND MAIN STS.

FRIEDMAN

The Licensed and Bonded Pawnbroker.

912 Main St.

Loans money on all articles of value at low rate of interest.
The largest loan office in the city.

Corner Ninth

HAWK BRAND

OVERALLS AND JUMPERS
MILLER-HAWKINS MFG. CO.

YOUR SWEETHEART

Wants a bottle of YOLANDE. Ring up 249 and find out about it.

J. P. BRASHEAR

DRUGGIST
Twelfth and Main.

Van Zandt, Ackley & Co.

PLUMBERS

GAS AND STEAM FITTING.
ELECTRIC WIRING.
904 HOUSTON STREET.

LEFFLER

Makes the finest PHOTOS, and as cheap as good work can be done. Call on him.

COR. FIFTH AND HOUSTON.

MRS. C. H. WARD'S

ART EXCHANGE

807 HOUSTON STREET.

Everything in up-to-date FANCY GOODS for Christmas.

Headaches, Vertigo, Nervousness, Epileptic Fits, Indigestion, Granulated Lids, Dyspepsia, Sores, Piles, Constipation, Bed-wetting, Neuralgia, Insomnia, Spasms, Female Trouble.

My method of fitting Glasses will stop any of these troubles, or your money back. Do others dare make you such a proposition, by any method?

DR. T. J. WILLIAMS

315 Houston Street

CROWN THEATER

PHIL EPSTEIN, Prop.
Twelfth and Calhoun Streets.
SEE THE MOVING PICTURES.
CHANGE EVERY WEEK.

Z. J. Fort Produce Co.

WHOLESALE

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES,
BUTTER, EGGS AND POULTRY.
Phones: New 16, Old 2817.
1305 Houston Street, Fort Worth, Tex.

IMPERIAL APARTMENTS

All Modern Conveniences.
GENTLEMEN ONLY.
1006½ MAIN STREET.

The Only Cafe

Of its kind in the city.

THE DENVER CAFE

STANDARD THEATER

M. DeBEQUE, Manager
NEW FACES EVERY WEEK
THE KOSTER AND BIAL'S OF TEXAS

Fish and Oysters

Everything in the line of Chili Supplies. Celery, Cheese of all kinds. Smoked and Dried Fish.
CITY FISH MARKET, 1016 Main St.

TEXAS PRINTING COMPANY

STATIONERS AND BLANK BOOK MAKERS, LEGAL BLANKS, OFFICE SUPPLIES, Typewriter Supplies.....
Cor. Ninth and Rusk Sts.,
Fort Worth, Texas.

C. BARR & CO.,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in GRAIN, FEED AND COAL AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS.
1608 and 1610 Houston St.
Phone 111. Terms Cash.
FORT WORTH, TEX.

First National Bank

of Fort Worth, Texas.
Capital Stock, Surplus and Undivided profits, $600,000.
M. B. Loyd, pres.; W. E. Connell, cash.; D. C. Bennett, vice pres.; W. P. Andrews, asst. cash.; H. I. Gahagan, 2d assist. cash. Directors: M. B. Loyd, D. C. Bennett, W. E. Connell, George Jackson, Zane-Cetti, S. B. Burnett, R. K. Wylie, R. B. Masterson, J. L. Johnson, G. T. Reynolds, W. T. Waggoner, G. H. Connell, John Scharbauer.

STEWART-BINYON

Transfer and Storage Co.
Front and Throckmorton Sts.

Receivers and forwarders of merchandise. Furniture stored, packed, shipped and moved. Hauling of safes, machinery, freight and house-moving a specialty. Telephone 187.

I AM THE ONLY MAN IN TEXAS

Owning his furniture store, and I have an immense business, and am prepared to pay higher prices for all the secondhand Furniture and Stoves I can get.

R. E. LEWIS

Both Phones, 1329-1 R. 214 Houston St.

DRUMM

Seed and Floral Co.

Trees, Plants and Seeds, Cut Flowers Our Specialty.

DRUMM SEED AND FLORAL CO.,
507 Houston St. Phone 101.

T. R. James & Sons

(Incorporated)

WHOLESALE ONLY.

Everything in Saddles, Harness, Collars and Shoe Findings.

208 to 214 West Third Street,
FORT WORTH, TEXAS.

Northern Texas Traction Co.

Anchor Mills "B" BEST Flour!

THE BEST FLOUR

The Fort Worth Furniture Co.

Manufacturers of all kinds of Spring Beds, Cots, Mattresses, Curtain Folding Beds, Kitchen Tables, Cabinets, Packing Boxes, Crates, Excelsior.

Office and factory: 1011, 1013 and 1015 Jackson street. Planing and excelsior mills: 1010, 1012 and 1014 Jackson street, Fort Worth, Texas.

NOT ONLY BEST

But the Very Best

Of everything good to eat, at

H. H. Pittman

413-415 Main Street.

Fort Worth Macaroni & Paste Factory

FORT WORTH, TEXAS

"OUR BEST"

Sells East and West, as well as North and South

NO DIRT

NO PERSPIRATION

In Eagle Bread, the only sanitary bread making machinery in the city is used in the manufacture of Eagle Bread.

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS

ROOMS FOR RENT

Furnished or Unfurnished
With or Without Board at

Hotel Jennings

And the New Flat Next Door

Call and see our place. Bath, phone and electric light privileges.

MR. AND MRS. VAN WAGNER.
Phone 734-1 R. 303-309 E. First St.

H. C. Jewell Sr. H. Veal Jewell

Oldest Rental Agents in City

If you have anything to rent, buy or sell, see the old reliable firm,

H. C. Jewell & Son

In Their New Quarters.
1000 Houston Street, Corner Ninth.
Established 1886. Special attention given non-resident property owners. Reference, any bank in Fort Worth. Notary in office.

Foreign News Which Will Interest All America, by Paul Lambeth, the Gifted Writer of London

BY PAUL LAMBETH.

(Special cable to The Telegram, Copyright, 1904, by the Hearst News Service.)

LONDON, Nov. 19.—American workingmen have reason to envy the workingmen of England one thing, even if they are generally better paid and situated, and that is the English workingman's college of his own, which has just celebrated its jubilee, and which is in many respects a most interesting institution.

Situated in Great Ormonde street in a quaint old house, it has now outgrown its old quarters, and a new building is being erected for it at St. Pancras. All of its students, or nearly all of them, are workingmen of mature age, the Nestor among them being a man of 71, who is studying Italian. A compositor of 57 is also studying that language, after having mastered Greek in six years.

When he was asked why he wanted to study the language of Homer, he answered: "Well, you see, I sometimes have to set Greek words in type, and I do not like doing things I do not understand."

One student, who while learning Latin had to go to the war in South Africa, translated Virgil while on blockhouse duty, and when he returned he went back to the college and became a teacher of Latin. The teacher of geology is a cabinetmaker, who began by studying at the college. A working jeweler, who was once a pupil, recently left $30,000 to the college.

One of the most promising students is a butcher, who is studying law, and who is as keen about law as he is skillful in handling mutton and beef.

Many prominent men have acted as teachers, among these Ruskin, who taught drawing; Lord Milner, who lectured on political economy, and Mr. Lyttelton, the present colonial secretary, who taught law.

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE STILL LIVES

Miss Florence Nightingale, whose name was on the lips of everybody fifty years ago, when she started out to perform her heroic task in the Crimea during the war, is still living in this city, and, though she is wonderfully bright and well in spite of her high age, she hardly ever leaves her room in her quiet old house at Park Lane.

When I went to see her there a few days ago on the fiftieth anniversary of her departure from England I found her sitting in a room filled with the choicest flowers, reading, as she now does most of the time.

"You see that the people of England have not quite forgotten an old woman who tried to do her duty as she saw it," she said, pointing to the flowers. "In fact, sometimes I really wish that they would forget me once in a while, for the reading of the hundreds of letters which come to me every day is sometimes more than my eyes will stand."

Miss Nightingale is still very much interested in nursing and follows the war in the far east with great interest.

"I should like to meet before I die, Mme. Stoessel, the wife of the hero of Port Arthur. Life is a true heroine, and when I read of her suffering and of her tireless work among the poor Russian soldiers I often feel like crying.

"War is an awful thing and I do not see why England and the United States do not at once put an end to the terrible bloodshed in Manchuria and Port Arthur. I had always hoped that I should have been spared the sight of another war."

STEEL TRUST IN ENGLAND

We have now a steel trust here in England, too, fashioned exactly after American pattern, and shall probably soon see prices of structural steel soar.

Only a few weeks ago it looked as if the Scotch and English steel concerns were to begin a bitter war, but in the last minute the difficulties were patched up and an agreement signed whereby steel manufacturers in Scotland and the northern part of England pledged themselves not to undersell each other or to invade each other's markets.

As a consequence, English ship plates will be sold only to English shipyards, and Scotch to Scotch shipyards.

It is rumored that this agreement is only preliminary to a complete merging of all steel concerns into a single company, to be called "The Consolidated Steel Company of Great Britain."

By the present agreement, the steel manufacturers have severely hurt the business of the railroad companies, which have been deprived of many long distance hands.

DOWRIES FOR SERVANTS

An association has been formed at Windsor which may help to solve the servant problem, and which will, therefore, interest American women.

A number of well-to-do matrons from the members of the association, the object of which is to provide dowries for female servants of at least three years' service under one mistress, who want to marry. Each bride is given $100 with which to buy household goods and furniture.

The first two prizes were given away the other day to Clarissa Paveley and Lizzie Smith, who had both served five years in one family, though neither of them was over twenty-two.

The idea has been very well received by the servants, and, though girls are exceedingly scarce at Windsor, all the members of the association have had more applicants than they could use.

IN A STATE OF PANIC

Whole districts of Paris are in a state of panic caused by the reign of terror of the bandits known as "Apaches," members of an organization of bandits which has grown so strong that the police is powerless to cope with it.

In the suburbs the villas have been transformed into miniature fortresses, which are bolted and barricaded every night. No woman dares venture out in the street after dark and the men who are forced to be out doors are heavily armed.

The state of affairs is a disgrace to the city and the government may be asked to take a hand unless the police is aroused from its apathy.

Besides the Parisian "Apaches" a gang of international burglars known as the "wall-bursters," said to be headed by a burglar who is well known in America, are abroad.

These burglars scorn to make an entrance through doors or windows, but invariably break down parts of the walls of houses and have carried off many thousand francs' worth of valuables and cash from banks, postoffices and large business houses. The police invariably arrive in time to discover the holes in the walls after the thieves have fled with their booty.

STATUES TO ORDER

If you want a statue of yourself, made to order and guaranteed to be a perfect likeness, at a very reasonable price, all you have to do is to go down to Chelsea and order one from "The Mechanical Sculpturing company."

You choose your pose, have your measurements taken, leave your favorite photograph, and a week later you have the statue made in marble by a machine invented by an Italian sculptor.

The machine works by electricity, and consists of a long shaft from which five or six arms project. One of these arms terminates in a pointer, which a workman holds, while the others end with drills, driven by electricity.

All the arms work in accord with the one controlled by the workman. Beneath each drill a block of wood or stone is firmly clamped.

The workman moves the pointer over the surface of the model and the drill cuts out the same shape in their respective blocks. In an hour the machine does as much work as a sculptor could do in two or three weeks, and this work is of the must superior kind, if an artist holds the pointer.

It will not lessen the value of the sculptor's art, nor will it cheapen labor, but it will bring within the reach of all the best examples of sculpture.

AFTER DEPEW'S LAURELS

Sir Thomas Lipton is trying to wrest the laurels of the best after-dinner speaker away from Senator Depew, and is even now training for the contest, which he knows will come when he goes to America to try to lift the cup. At the dinner which he recently gave to American bluejackets at the Crystal Palace he told any number of amusing stories which had his guests laughing all the time.

One of these was the story of the lady, the pipe and the dog. "It happened one day," said Sir Thomas, "when I was traveling on a train in Caledonia. Wanting to smoke a little, I had entered the smoking compartment, but had hardly sat down when I was followed by an elderly lady who carried a small, obstrusive dog.

"'This is a smoking compartment, madam,' I said.

"'I don't care if it is,' was her curt answer.

"I took out my favorite pipe and began to smoke. I had just had three whiffs when the pipe was snatched out of my mouth and flung out of the window. I did not stop long to think, but grabbed the dog and threw it after the pipe.

"The lady began to scream blue murder, and at the next station told the station master to hold me until she could find a policeman. God knows how many years I would have spent in jail had not the dog appeared just then calmly carrying my pipe."

A TYPICAL LONDON FACE

We have long known that we have among us automobile faces, bicycle faces, the subway face and other faces developed by our occupation or surroundings, but it remained for M. Prevost to discover the existence of a typical London face.

"I had read," writes the brilliant French writer, "in a book by an English author something about the tyranny of the human face. But I never realized the true meaning of that phrase until I began to wander about the streets of London.

"In such a street as Strand, at midday, that tyranny may best be felt. What myriads of human listless faces! On they sweep, passively borne past you, on many of them no signs of an intention, a will to go anywhere in particular, but just a vague consciousness that they must go on.

"In Paris, Vienna, Berlin I see vicious faces, cynical faces, tired faces. Yet I kept a general impression that these faces were moving to some end—pleasant, laborious or criminal. In London the faces, beside being often vicious, cynical and tired, bear upon them, above all other signs, the one prevailing sign of London.

"Bored and listless, that is what most of you seem to be as you tread on each others toes in the Strand. You look like people who are struggling to get something you do not want.

"I don't wonder. This gigantic, monster city of yours has got the better of you. You can't get away from it. You have become a part of it. On foggy days I can scarcely tell which are most alive—the endless, moving crowds which stare about them at the houses, or the houses which stare back at the crowds.

"Some of you are slowly beginning to rebel against it. Every evening crowds of you—city men, for the most part—get into trains and try to escape for a sleep in purer air. But you only get to a bogus kind of country—rows of villas with roads and hedges round them. A great city always defiles the country for miles around it, and I don't envy the city men their villas.

"When I was ready to leave London, and took a last look round, I couldn't help wondering how many of the hundreds of thousands that drifted past me would come away with me if they could, and turn their backs upon the place as I did—forever."

When I read this it struck me that it would be interesting to hear what M. Prevost thinks of the American face, especially the New York or Chicago face. The noted German writer, Herr von Polenz, has given his impression of the "American face" in a book which has just appeared, and is even more severe upon Americans than is M. Prevost on Londoners.

"While walking through the busiest quarters of New York or Chicago," says Von Polenz, "observing the crowds glancing at the weary, nervous, hard and greedy faces of the men, seeing how beauty, hysteria and frivolity mark their features, how one desperately destroys what the other builds up, how each seems to have only one thought—'I first'—and yet how all are deeply discontented, one might faincy the modern city was a mad house, one might despair of a civilization bearing so visibly the stamp of death, and one could only hope that such malformations should vanish as soon as possible from the surface of the globe."

The trans-Atlantic rate war which the German steamship companies and their allies in the English trade have conducted for several months against the Cunard line seems as far from a settlement as ever.

A very interesting result, as shown by the figures of passenger traffic across the Atlantic, is that the volume of emigration does not seem to be affected by the price of the ticket.

The following figures for the first nine months of the present year show that, while the first and second cabin travel increased about 1,700, the third-class passengers fell off 150,807:

	1904.	1903.	Increase or decrease in 1904.
First cabin	55,849	57,885	—1,536
Second cabin ...	96,700	93,472	+3,228
Third class	553,251	704,058	—150,807

The remarkable feature of this showing is that the reduction in numbers happened during those months of the year when a sail across the Atlantic is actually a pleasant yachting trip.

This also happened at a time when the steerage passenger, instead of having to pay about $30 for his ocean transport, could purchase his ticket for one-third less than that sum, at the pleasantest season of the year.

The figures, however, make it plain that many people who have taken up their residence in the United States took advantage of the rate war to make a trip back to the old country.

The number of steerage passengers who went to Europe showed an increase of 113,284.

This seems to prove that while the low rate did not tempt Europeans to leave their homes for America it was a tempting offer for working people in this country to spend a vacation in Europe.

The trustees of the River Clyde have succeeded so well in widening and deepening the channel between Glasgow and Dumbarton that at the present time the largest vessels can leave the "Tail of the Bank," opposite Greenock, where the big steamers anchor, a little before high water, and enter the docks at Glasgow with perfect safety on the top of the tide.

The distance from Greenock to Glasgow is twenty-three miles, and after passing Dumbarton on the way up the river is not over one hundred yards wide.

It was not possible until recently for two large vessels to pass up and down the river at the same time at this point.

I understand that some after dinner remarks made by one of the leading merchants of Glasgow on the subject of improved navigation on the Clyde have created quite a stir in the minds of London dock officials.

This gentleman drew comparisons between the "miracles" that had improved the possibilities of steam boating on the Clyde and the conditions prevailing in the channel of the Thames from Gravesend to London. His remarks attracted a great deal of interest.

The following table, from the Board of Trade returns, shows the relative progress in trade of these two seaports during the last five years:

	London.	Glasgow.
1899	15,388,000	3,550,000
1900	15,553,000	3,584,000
1901	15,952,000	3,757,000
1902	16,298,000	3,886,000
1903	17,075,000	3,900,000

These figures show the tonnage of ships entering these two ports to discharge from 1899 to 1903.

The remarkable energy which has made Glasgow a port for big ships is certainly one of the wonders of the age, but there doe not appear to be any immediate danger that the Clyde will rival "Old Father Thames" in carrying into the country a greater amount of trade.