Russians Capture Two Big Railroad Centers

By JAMES M. LONG
LONDON —(P)—Soviet columns have slashed to within 37 miles of Dniepropetrovsk, boulder dam of the Dnieper River bend, and to within 44 miles of Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, by capturing the railway junction of Pavlograd and the railroad town of Bobrovitsa, Moscow said Sunday.

Smashing ahead on ten important sectors on a 600-mile front, the Russians won back a total of 733 villages, killed 8,700 Germans, wounded 2,000 more, and took 500 prisoners Saturday, a communique said.

The drive on Kiev from several directions reached closest to the middle Dnieper River Bastion along the Kiev-Nezhin railway where a Red Army column took Bobrovitsa.

Over 230 populated places were captured in this drive alone and more than 1,000 Germans fell to Russian fire, said the bulletin recorded by the Soviet monitor.

Shell Chernigov
Northeast of Kiev the important town of Chernigov came within Soviet artillery range as Vibili, six miles to the east, was captured and 26 other towns overrun. Thus the Russians were 80 miles north of Kiev and closing in on the highway linking that city and Chernigov.

Priluki, another bastion 78 miles east of Kiev, was gripped by a semicircle of Russian forces moving in from the north, south and east. The nearest Soviet unit was 15 miles from Priluki.

Southeast of Kiev the Russian threat was more distant, but a surprise dash which swamped a Nazi rear guard resulted in a 12-mile Red Army advance had cut the Kiev-Poltava railway at Mirgorod, 135 miles from Kiev and 50 miles northwest of Poltava.

Fire Street Fighting
Another threat to the lower German Dnieper River line developed when the Russians seized the town and railway junction of Pavlograd on the road to Dniepropetrovsk.

Soviet troops first cracked German defenses on the Samara and Volzhya Rivers, wedged themselves into enemy formations and then swept on to fierce street engagements inside Pavlograd. A regiment of German infantry was wiped out, the bulletin said.

Autumn rain was hindering both the attack and the defense in this key sector.

The capture of Pavlograd put the Russians nearest the Dnieper which bends far to the east in lower Russia. Already the Red Army's guns were audible at Dniepropetrovsk, whose $10,000,000 worth of dynamite by the Russians themselves on Aug. 28, 1941, during their scorched earth retreat.

The communique told of these triumphs amid a chorus of pessimistic German admissions relayed from Stockholm, Madrid and even Berlin.

Withdraw Elite Troops
Stockholm reports said Germany was withdrawing elite troops from the Russian front to reinforce Italy, and retreating to save its men for fighting on other fronts. Madrid suggested the Germans might abandon their Russian campaign and fall back 620 miles to the Polish frontier.

In Berlin, Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, German radio commentator, said frankly the Germans were retreating in Russia to save their forces and "it is not yet clear where and when" the retreat will halt.

Germans Weaken Military Position

BERN, SWITZERLAND —(P)—The German secret police went into full speed operation in Italy Saturday with an order imposing death on all Italians caught hiding arms or molesting or stealing military equipment.

The death decree was published throughout occupied Italy—the best indication thus far of the underground resistance the Nazis expect to encounter there and the ruthlessness with which they are determined to fight it.

The Nazi pattern was the same as that first seen in Poland and later used with clocklike precision in Norway, the low countries, France and Russia—a conscription of labor, death to saboteurs and a command to the country's army to appear for surrender or induction.

There is yet no strong indication of sufficient sabotage within Italy to be of great assistance to the Allies.

U. S. Army Air Force Is Developing New Short-Range Bomber

By GLADWIN HILL

LONDON —(P)—The United States Army Air Force is developing new short-range bombers capable of carrying a great weight of explosives to hasten the defeat of Germany, it was learned here Saturday.

Up to now bomber development has been centered on long-range giants. It has been disclosed that super-flying fortresses and super-Liberators capable of flying the Atlantic round-trip without refueling are in production and these will be especially needed in the Pacific.

But the expected conquest of Northern Italy—just across the Alps from Germany—has put a premium on planes capable of carrying big loads of destruction for comparatively short distances. A large force of these planes is being prepared.

Details Are Secret
The new bomb-carrier cannot be divulged.

Marauders today gave the Germans' Beauvais-Tille airbase in France its fourth battering within a month of carry the newest aerial assault on the continent through its fourth straight day.

RAF Mosquitos Friday night bombed Berlin for the third successive night, and other Mosquitos and Whirlwinds swooped over Britain to shoot up a number of trains—all without loss.

Mitchell medium bombers of the Royal Dutch Naval Air Service struck at railroad yards in Rouen, between Paris and La Havre. Allied Spitfires escorted the raiders and engaged in supporting sweeps, destroying one Nazi fighter.

Governors Urge Hike In Price Of Crude Oil

DENVER —(P)—Sixteen western and southern governors Saturday night urged a 35-cents-a-barrel increase in the price of crude oil.

They telegraphed President Roosevelt, Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson and Price Administrator Prentice Brown that the increase was "necessary to maintaining adequate oil reserves for the war effort."

Signatories to the telegram included Sam Jones, Louisiana; Robert Kerr, Oklahoma; Secretary of State Sidney Latham for the governor of Texas, and Attorney General Edward Chase for the governor of New Mexico.

Disorder And Misery Are Reported In Italy

By WILLIAM SMITH WHITE

LONDON —(P)—Disorder and misery on a scale not seen since the fall of France were reported in Italy Saturday night as the Germans sought to kick their beaten Allies back to an unwelcome partnership with them.

But the Italians were fighting back—in increasing numbers it appeared. They were reported ripping up German communications between northern and central Italy at a time when the German command most urgently needed them.

At some points in the North they were said to be standing against the Nazis and shooting it out.

A variety of accounts from neutral and Allied sources pictured this as part of the chaos in Italy.

No food received for days in Rome. No normal activity resumed in the city for more than a week after it had gone under Nazi "protection." The Germans are being compelled to bring in still more troops.

Texas War Bond Sales Exceed $150,043,737

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas Saturday dug down deep as they neared the halfway mark in the Third War Loan drive spearheaded by the batticery, "Back the Attack!"

Against the state's $420,000,000 quota, $150,043,737.25 in cash, representing 36 per cent of the total needed, had been sent the U. S. Treasury through Friday night.

The State War Finance Committee reported that sum had cleared the Federal Reserve System in Dallas and did not account for the hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of bonds already purchased but still not processed.

Salamaua: American Wounded Start Southward Journey

Back into the barges that brought them to battle in the Salamaua area a few days before go wounded American soldiers bound for hospital farther south in New Guinea. Our troops had no picnic here, for firmly entrenched Japs took many casualties among Allied forces who made yard-to-yard advance similar to camp again at Munda.

American Fliers Destroy 20 More Japanese Planes

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC —(P)—American war planes in a new Solomon raid have added 20 to the more than 2,000 enemy aircraft destroyed in the South Pacific since August, 1942, but Japan is rushing in reinforcements and risking big formations in the mounting sky battles.

Sunday's communique reported that bombers "of all categories"—meaning Liberator heavy bombers, Mitchell medium bombers, Avenger torpedo bombers and Dauntless dive bombers—struck twice Wednesday at the Kahili and Ballale airdomes in the vicinity of Southern Bougainville. Fifty enemy planes challenged them.

Japs Reinforce Air Forces
Only the day before, more than 100 American bombers poured explosives on airdomes in the area while escorting fighters battled it out with 100 interceptors.

"The enemy is reinforcing his air forces in this area," Sunday's communique said.

Bougainville in the Northern Solomons is the last air fortress barring American forces now entrenched on New Georgia and Vella Lavella from the enemy's all-important naval and air base of Rabaul.

In the New Guinea war theater, mopping up operations are in progress around newly-captured Lae. Off Kavieng, New Ireland, a 1,000 ton enemy freighter has been hit by aerial bombardment.

Work To Start At New Airport

Erection of prefabricated buildings at the new Midland airport, North of the Country Club, is scheduled to start Monday.

McClelland, Brown and McClelland of Waco have the contract for the work and representatives of the contractors arrived in Midland Saturday to make arrangements. The contractors have done considerable work at the Midland Army Air Field.

Almost a dozen cars of materials have arrived for the buildings.

The airport has been assigned to the Air Transport Command for use of ferrying service detachments and plans call for erection of the buildings and other facilities at the earliest possible date.

The plans call for installation of a control tower and thirteen prefabricated buildings. They will be 30 by 48 foot structures, Mayor A. N. Hendrickson was informed by Lt. Col. Earle E. Hamm, executive officer of the 5th Ferrying Group Headquarters at Love Field, Dallas.

The Army is installing the improvements at no cost to the city. The city owns 720 acres of land at the airport and it now is under lease to the government. In addition, the government has leased 132.8 acres at the ends of the two paved runways to comply with clearance regulations in takeoffs and landings.

Runways and drainage at the port have been completed.

Naval Units Open New Attack On Italy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA —(P)—Allied naval units have opened a new phase in the battle for Italy by seizing three more islands commanding the immediate sea approaches to the great port of Naples, headquarters announced Saturday as Allied ground troops emerged victorious in the bloody fighting at Salerno.

A special communique disclosed the occupation of Ischia, 16 miles southwest of Naples, only a few hours after the regular war bulletin from Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's headquarters announced the seizure of two other islands off the northern spur of the Bay of Naples.

Ischia was taken Thursday one day after the occupation of Ponza, 65 miles west of Naples, and of Procida, 12 miles southwest of Naples and only two miles from the northern land arm of the bay.

Allied forces previously had occupied the island of Capri, on the southern side of the bay. Ischia, largest of the four, has an area of about 26 square miles and is only seven miles from the nearest mainland coast.

Germans Make Claim
(Berlin broadcast an announcement that the Germans had occupied the island of Elba, Napoleon's first home in exile, 32 miles east of Corsica and eight miles from the Italian coast. Seven thousand Italian troops were said by the Nazis to have surrendered there.)

Allied armies emerged victors in the Battle of Salerno—first great engagement with Hitler's legions for the command of Europe—because of an abundance of grim courage on the part of American and British infantrymen and overwhelming air and sea superiority.

The American Fifth and British Eighth Armies merged in the final stages of the strategic victory which enlarged the Salerno bridgehead into a full fighting front.

German troops, who tried futilely for seven days to hammer the American and British forces into the sea, had retreated in the south, where the Allies smashed inland 11 miles, but still clinging savagely to the gateway to Naples in the north.

Capture Roccasapipe
The headquarters communique announced the capture of the town of Roccasapipe, 11 miles inland from the coast on the southern flank, where the Germans were fleeing to escape entrapment.

The victory of Salerno belongs to the battle-grimed infantrymen under Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark who fought ceaselessly for seven days without rest and who refused to be budged from their foxholes on the beaches by Nazi might and who died rather than give up an inch.

The infantry made the victory possible. Air power, which pulverized Nazi communications and front line positions, and sea power, which poured a tide of reserves on the beaches, won it.

Russell Brown Says Roosevelt Mistaken On Oil Production

TULSA —(P)—Russell B. Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association, said Saturday night President Roosevelt was mistaken when he told Congress that U. S. oil production had increased 66 per cent since the outbreak of the war in Europe.

In a statement telephoned from Washington and released here by C. E. Buchner, IPA executive manager, Brown declared the latest official figures showed an increase of not more than 17 per cent.

"No possible combination or arrangement of petroleum production figures would yield the reassuring impression that our producing capacity is adequate," Brown said.

German Secret Police Threaten Italians

STOCKHOLM —(P)—Germany is weakening her military position in Norway and Finland and retreating all along the line from the Smolensk area to the Sea of Azov to establish a shorter Eastern front in a frantic shifting of troops to meet anticipated new Allied invasion blows, reports reaching Stockholm said Saturday.

Twenty to 40,000 German troops have been removed from Norway in the last month, and thousands—one unconfirmed report said two divisions—have been withdrawn from Finland since Sept. 1.

Nation's War Bond Sales $9,532,000,000

WASHINGTON —(P)—The Treasury announced Saturday night bond sales were $9,532,000,000 in the first 10 days of the $15,000,000,000 Third War Loan drive—and its figures are not complete for some areas.

Mussolini Described As Thin And Haggard

LONDON —(P)—Benito Mussolini was described in some dispatches from North Africa as thin-faced and haggard as a result of the physical and mental strain he underwent between his imprisonment by the Italians and his "liberation" by the Germans.

This information was represented as coming from reliable Italians who had been in Rome "within the past few days."

Two American Army Officers Make Daring Trip To Rome For Meeting

By CLARK LEE
Representing The Combined United States Press Distributed By The Associated Press

WITH GEN. DWIGHT EISENHOWER AT AN ADVANCED ALLIED COMMAND POST —(P)—It was disclosed Saturday that two high-ranking American officers made a daring visit to Rome under the eyes of the Germans only a few hours before our invasion of Salerno and returned safely after conferring with Marshal Pietro Badoglio and Italian Military commanders.

The two officers went into the Italian capital wearing American Army uniforms, minus caps, and spent twenty hours in the important military discussions. Most of the time they traveled in a car, frequently passing within a few feet of German soldiers.

The exact nature of their mission was not disclosed.

They obtained vital information which has affected the whole course of events since the Italian armistice announcement. The officers, who voluntarily carried out their rancorous assignment in the full knowledge that discovery would have meant certain execution by the Germans, were Brig. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, 42-year-old West Point graduate, formerly of Kansas City, and Col. William Tudor Gardiner, 53, a former governor of Maine.

They Hired The Money

When the argument over collection of 1917-18 war debts grew hot, Calvin Coolidge settled it, so far as he and others of his view were concerned, with the rhetorical semi-question: "They hired the money, didn't they?"

Apparently there is much of the same philosophy still current. President Roosevelt, who is internationally minded away beyond his Yankee predecessor's wildest moments, now disclaims the statement sent to Congress over his initials that "victory and secure peace are the only coin in which we can be repaid" for our lend-lease to the anti-Axis world.

Roosevelt now says that one of his ghosts prepared the letter to Congress in which that sentence appeared, and he never approved it. He would not have said just that, he discloses.

That is too bad, because we doubt if even the President, a phrase-maker of consummate skill, could have improved upon the statement he now repudiates. He could have elaborated, explained, justified. But he couldn't have made it say so much that is true with any greater clarity.

In his apology, Roosevelt says that, while we may not collect coin that jingles, he expects our debtors to come through with such repayment as they possibly can.

That means nothing at all. We all expect our creditors to pay, so far as they can. Our creditors expect, and probably are quite willing, to pay us so far as they can. The trouble is that for practical purposes they cannot pay in any coin that we can accept with one possible exception. Some of them could pay with territory. But do we want territory? Haven't we troubles enough with the limited empire we now possess?

Probably skillions of words have been spoken and written in argument about World War I debts, and now the same words will be spoken and written about World War II debts. When it's all done, we will not have been paid, and the reason will boil down to this:

Our debtors can't pay in money, because there isn't that much money. They can't pay in goods, because we can't take that much goods without wrecking our own economy. They could pay, partially at least, in insular territory, in which we should assume the white man's burden and, ultimately, turn it free.

Roosevelt's ghost was right the first time.

Financing Revenge

The C. I. O. believes, on the strength of an interpretation by its general counsel, that its unions can legally spend their members' money in an effort to defeat congressmen whose votes the C. I. O. does not approve. This is to be done by operating in the primaries and by spending the money against those it dislikes instead of giving it to those whom it approves.

This, of course, perpetuates the evil which so many dislike. Workers forced to pay union dues in order to hold their jobs must watch their money being used against candidates they favor, for the benefit of candidates they oppose.

The C. I. O. interpretation should be tested in the courts. If it stands, the law should be revised immediately.

All We Ask

OPA General Manager Bowles warns the public not to expect more meat than the present rationing would provide, as a result of the suspension of slaughtering quotas for a two-month experimental period.

All right, Bowles, we won't. We won't expect it, and we won't even ask for it. All we'll ask is that, since there are more beef cattle than ever before, may we please have as much meat as our ration books call for without being forced to grovel at the butcher's feet every time we try to spend a coupon and our money?

Army Led By 1065 Generals

The U. S. Army can now be known as the army of a thousand generals, the exact total as of July 1, last count, being 1065. Only 45 of them have the rank permanently, all the other 1020 being temporary appointments. Of the 1065, only five are full generals, and 764 lieutenant generals, 271 major generals and 764 brigadiers. Nearly all of them are regular Army men, the exceptions being 18 from the reserve corps, 80 from the National Guard and nine promoted to stars after being commissioned to lower grades from civilian life.

Two years ago, the Army had fewer than 350 general officers, but at that time there was one general for every 4200 men while today there is one general for every 6400.

Evening Gowns

Human nature manifests itself in odd ways. For instance, consider the matter of evening gowns.

When the war situation looked dark, and everybody realized the pressure we were under, women sought to express their co-operativeness, among other ways, by informality of dress. Evening gowns were worn only on rare occasions.

But now the tide has turned. We have stopped losing the war, even though we haven't gone far toward winning it. So evening dresses are being bought and worn again.

A Paving Job To Be Completed

Executive Committee Of Texas County Judges Association Will Meet Here

The executive committee of the County Judges' and Commissioners' Association of Texas will meet in Midland Wednesday evening prior to the opening of the annual meeting and war conference of the West Texas County Judges' and Commissioners' Association Thursday.

The date and place for the annual meeting of the state association may be determined at the session here.

Several invitations for the meeting have been received by Judge A. S. Ware of Bryan, president, who will preside at the meeting of the executive group. C. B. Dill of East Bernard is vice-president of the state association and D. Y. McDaniel of Waco is secretary-treasurer.

Expect Record Attendance
Heads of the four regional associations have indicated they will attend the Midland meeting. They are Judge Gilbert Smith, Jones County, president of the West Texas association; Judge Roy Anderson, Johnson County, North Texas; Judge J. C. Looney, Hidalgo County, South Texas; and Judge Leo E. Brannen, Trinity County, East Texas.

Arrangements for the conference of West Texas judges and commissioners are complete and officials predict a record attendance. Registrations will begin Wednesday afternoon with the initial business session scheduled Thursday morning.

Informal conferences between county officials and federal and state officials will be held Wednesday.
Dr. Bernice Moore, consulting sociologist of the Hogg Foundation of the University of Texas, will address wives of the judges and commissioners at a luncheon Thursday noon. Mrs. E. H. Barron of Midland is luncheon chairman.

Farmers Must Keep Production Record

Farmers are asked to keep records of their 1943 cotton production, and it is highly important that those records be kept accurately. W. E. Pigg, chairman of the Midland County AAA Committee, said Saturday.

He explained that in past years, ginners have cooperated with the AAA by furnishing detailed records of cotton production for each farm, but that this year these records will not be obtained from ginners, due to the suspension of marketing quotas.

In the past, the records of production have served as a basis for determining the yields used in marketing quota programs, crop insurance programs and in determining AAA payments.

"It is to a farmer's best interest that an accurate record of his 1943 cotton production be kept because this record may be needed in future AAA programs," Pigg said.

He said each farmer should keep each gin ticket, bale receipt, or sales ticket for baled cotton and for lots of seed cotton sold. The AAA has offered to keep these records for any farmer who wishes to deliver or mail them to the county office.

Voice Purports To Be That Of Mussolini

LONDON — (P) — A voice purporting to be that of Benito Mussolini, the fallen founder of Fascism, Saturday night heaped denunciation upon King Vittorio Emanuele, called for the "elimination of Fascist traitors," and bade Italians take up arms again by the side of Germany and Japan.

Most listeners here who heard Mussolini speak before said they believed the voice was actually that of the fallen Italian premier, whom the Germans have announced as the head of the Nazi-sponsored "Republican Fascist Party."

Li. Louis A. Bartha Returns To Duty At Bombardier School

Three hundred hours of combat flying and never in an airplane when it was damaged. That is the rabbi's foot record of Lt. Louis A. Bartha, a graduate of Midland Army Air Field's first class of bombardiers, who has returned to his alma mater as a student officer in the Central Bombardier Instructors School.

Lieutenant Bartha has flown in planes that were perforated with Zero bullets and torn with Jap ack-ack, but never while he was riding in one did it get even so much as a scratch. This fact is particularly singular since Bartha bombed such Jap hot-spots as Munda airfield, Kolombangara Island, and the seaplane base at Recato Bay.

Not long after receiving his commission and bombardier wings at Midland, Lieutenant Bartha found himself in New Caledonia sweeping the Coral Sea for Jap submarines with the 69th Bombardment Squadron.

Bombed Submarine
On a lazy Sunday afternoon in July, 1942, his B-26 Marauder was returning from one of these search missions out over the water when the co-pilot sighted the periscope of a Jap sub. Bartha's first run on the submerging vessel netted a near miss. The second two bombs were direct hits and brought up large oil slicks and debris to the surface. Just to make sure it was destroyed a fourth bomb was dropped directly onto the oil splashes.

Lieutenant Bartha, who was graduated at the Midland Army Air Field in April of 1942, was much impressed by the changes that have taken place here in the last year and a half.

"Barracks were still under construction when I first came here," he remarked, "today it is a modern plant for the training of the world's best bombardiers."

Lieutenant Bartha and his wife, the former Ruth Woodson of Midland, are residing at 112 Ridgely Drive.

Allies Seize --

General Eisenhower has two great armies surging through the breach in Hitler's European fortress, with a third in reserve.

These are some of the fruits of the week's savage fighting: Lt. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz' Northwest African Air Forces have fighter fields within 10 minutes' flight of Naples.

At least five German divisions have been badly mauled, sapping strength which the German Army can ill afford to lose.

Hundreds of square miles of Southern Italy now are in Allied hands and will serve as the base for the drive north.

Next Big Stand At Naples
The next big German stand certainly will be before Naples. The capture of Naples would give the Allies one of the best and largest seaports in Italy through which thousands of tons of supplies could be funneled.

Every indication that the Germans mean to defend each foot of ground in Italy could be seen in the tactics of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel and Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring, but their tremendous weakness in the air makes their defeat inevitable.

Four-engined Flying Fortresses and medium Mitchells and Marauders struck again at German air power Friday, destroying scores of enemy fighters and bombers on the ground in surprise attacks on air fields near Rome, but encountered no opposition in the air.

American Liberators from the Middle East again joined in the aerial offensive with a daylight attack on the rail junction and freight yards at Pescara, on the east coast across from Rome.

Night-flying Wellingtons of the RAF and RCAF continued the assault after dark, bombing air fields at Cerveteri and Furbara north of Rome.

From his headquarters on Sasafra Street, Cincinnati, King Jeff Davis of the Hoboes of America, Inc., growls contemptuously at Ben Benson, king of the Hobo Fellowship Union and of the Hobo War League.

From his headquarters in New York, the diminutive Benson says nothing at all. He's too busy right now, being road editor of the Hobo News, an incredible publication wherein, if you look closely among the crude cartoons and reprints of famous ballads, you might even find some news of the hobo.

Internal Strife
The internal struggle has been going on since the day a couple of years ago when Benson was elected king of a convention in Britt, Iowa. Jeff Davis, Benson claims, didn't even show up at the convention.

But Davis contends hobo interests are represented only by the Hoboes of America, Inc., also known as the International Itinerant Migratory Workers' Union, of which he has been elected the head man for life.

It is when speaking of the Hobo News that King Davis becomes most bitter and eloquent.

Incongruous Air
"From time to time," he says in a communique dripping with contempt, "we have been misjudged as a part of that one-man paper, the Hobo News. Imposters, tramps and bums, to make an easy living, stand on the corner and yell 'Hobo News.'"

There is, in fact, a note of incongruity around the office of the Hobo News, where an assorted staff turns out, every two weeks, 75,000 copies at 10 cents a copy, of the tabloid printed on bilious green, yellow or pink paper.

The publication's masthead identifies the publisher as Pat Mulken who, according to the office staff, is an old side-kick of Benson's and was known in the best hobo circles as "The Roaming Dreamer." Mulken brought out the first edition of the Hobo News eight years ago on an old $50 hand press, and Benson was one of the first street-corner vendors.

It's Different Now
Things look a lot different now. Publication offices are in a fifty-second street building in New York upon whose front has been painted a weird mural represented a hobo jungle scene. There are other murals on the walls inside, along with huge signs reading "A Hard Day's Work Never Hurt Anyone—Neither Did A Good Day's Rest" and "No Papers Sold to Drunks, Mission Stiffs or Jungle Buzzards."

In the back room in a typesetting machine, a compositor's bank and a flatbed press that grinds out 3,000 copies of the paper an hour.

How many hoboes buy the Hobo News, the publishers cannot say, but they insist that at one time 75 bona-fide hoboes were agents in various parts of the country.

The king is a frequent visitor in the office, although he also spends much time on the road, which seems logical for the road editor of a hobo paper.

XII was reported in neutral Stockholm dispatches to have strongly protested his status as a virtual prisoner as well as the treatment of the people in general. The same dispatches reported that the pope had refused twice to see the German commander, Field Marshal Gen. Albert Von Kesselring, insisting that the Germans must first evacuate Rome and thus make good Hitler's promise that his soldiers would remain outside the city. The German news agency DNE claimed, however, that Luigi Cardinal Marilione, secretary of state, had received the German ambassador.

Every Dog Has His Day, Even In Justice Court

BEDFORD, VA. —(P)—The folks around Bedford call Commonwealth's Attorney W. R. Saunders' dog, Zeke, the "assistant commonwealth's attorney."

The dog goes with Saunders to trial justice court daily and hangs around to listen to arguments. They want let Zeke into circuit court, however.

The other day Zeke waited outside as long as he could stand it, then fled past attendants and raced down the aisle, barking vigorously and wagging his ears.

The doorkeeper threw him out.

Admiral Standley To Make Report To Hull

WASHINGTON —(P)—In a step possibly preliminary to a three-power conference of high American, British and Soviet representatives, Admiral William H. Standley, U. S. ambassador to Moscow, is coming home to make a personal report to Secretary of State Hull and President Roosevelt.

His imminent return was made known Saturday by the State Department which said it was for consultation in connection with discussions being carried on with the British and Soviet governments.

Lt. Gen. Richardson's Command Is Extended

HONOLULU —(P)—Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson was designated commander of U. S. Army Forces in the Central Pacific area Saturday in a move viewed as indicative of Hawaii's transformation from a defensive bastion to an important springboard for an accelerated offensive against Japan.

General Richardson has been commanding general of the Hawaiian Department.

Now's the time to get
TIRE INSPECTION
Here's the place to get it!

• Don't neglect a small cut, break or bruise until serious tire damage results. Get our careful, complete check-up NOW and again at frequent intervals—to get all the long mileage your tires were made to deliver.

Our inspectors are tire specialists—they know how to locate and correct the causes of early wear-out. . . . If repairs are needed, we'll give you reliable work at reasonable cost.

Uncle Sam says—"THIS MEANS YOU!"

Regular tire inspection is one of the vital rubber-savers ordered by your Government. Purpose: to keep your car and all cars in use for essential driving as long as possible. To protect your right to drive, you must have your tires inspected as directed. You must do your part to keep your present tires safe and sound.

Better be SAFE than SORRY!

TIMELY TIPS ON TIRE CARE —SUGGESTED BY THE WPB

- ★ Drive only when necessary
- ★ Drive under 35 miles per hour
- ★ Have your tires inspected regularly
- ★ Keep tires inflated to 32 pounds
- ★ Avoid sudden stops and starts
- ★ Avoid bruising your tires
- ★ Keep oil and grease off your tires

GET OUR OFFICIAL TIRE INSPECTION

• Bring your car here for a good going-over! . . . Have us check and correct air pressure at least once a week—"cross-switch" your tires regularly to even up wear—and do other vital things to help keep your car on the road.

"TOO LITTLE-TOO LATE!"

• Remember—only a sound, strong tire casing can be safely recapped. If worn through into the fabric or badly damaged, your tire becomes a total loss. Stop driving in time.

Since your tires can now be recapped without a ration permit—

GOODYEAR EXTRA-MILEAGE RECAPPING

All work done by experts—with Goodyear factory materials and by Goodyear factory methods. Thorough inspection—careful workmanship—proper curing—these things give you a "new" tire that is tough and resilient, ready for thousands more miles of safe service.

If our careful inspection shows your tire is too badly worn to allow recapping, you can apply for a replacement tire—a sound used tire, a recapped tire, a new War Tire, or a new pre-war tire—depending on your mileage allowance. When you get your certificate, come here for the best tire values money can buy.

CHAPTER XVIII

RETURNING TO Bremen, I met

Frederick Krupp, president of the great Krupp shipbuilding plant at Kiel; Johan George Stein, with whom he had worked out the Stein-Krupp method of submarine gold mining; Sir Basil Zaharoff; and several other international financiers who were interested in undersea hunting. Sir Basil invited several of us to spend a few days in Biarritz.

On the first night Sir Basil gave a dinner party for me. Around the table was a group of impressive, graying, sometimes paunchy financiers of many nationalities—Greek, Rumanian, French, German—and expensively gowned girls of as many races. Sir Basil was able to talk to each one of them fluently in his own language.

My partner, a blond English girl in a scarlet dress, kept shaking her curls in my face like a feather duster as she chattered rapidly in a sort of creaking baby talk. Sir Basil was a good host. When he saw that I was more interested in talking to him than in squiring the blond, he produced a partner for Barbara.

As the evening wore on, we talked quietly. Sir Basil had a mobile dark face, the olive skin of the Levantine, I guessed, and a way of making every subject he touched upon sound like a colossal adventure.

Above the noise of the orchestra and the shuffle of feet, he talked about treasure hunting in the 17th century, when it was one of the world's major financial businesses for governments as well as private individuals. Gold hunters were licensed by the crown and sailed with a great hullabaloo.

"In this age when there is more treasure than ever on the coasts of the world's principal seaways," Sir Basil went on, "and modern engineering has made salvaging much more profitable, it is a business that is looked upon as a cross between piracy and pure speculation."

In the morning, while his other guests were asleep, Sir Basil and I had breakfast on a terrace overlooking the Mediterranean. He told me that Prince Oskar of Hohenzollern, who had a palace at Kiel, wanted me to open a safe which had remained closed since the death of his father, Prince Heinrich, in 1918. But before I returned to Bremen he wanted to engage me for a salvaging venture for next season.

In confidence, he told me that a syndicate of which he was a member had discovered the wreck of H. M. S. Hampshire, the British cruiser that went down off the Orkneys in 1916 while it was carrying Lord Kitchener and about 1000 men to some unknown rendezvous. It was never acknowledged by the Admiralty and was known to but few people that the Hampshire was carrying not only the war lord but $2,000,000 of gold to Russia to bolster up the czar's waning army. That gold was what they were after—$10,000,000 in bullion of the Bank of England. Already a sand sucker was at work digging at the eight feet of sand that buried part of the wreck, and the salvaging could begin in the spring as soon as the weather permitted.

Sir Basil's brown eyes grew darker and brighter as he talked, and the color flushed his cheeks. He was so persuasive that he fired me with excitement. At first, I said that I would make up my mind and let him know, but before we had finished a second cup of coffee, I had promised that I would join.

All the way to Bremen, then to Kiel, my mind was assailed with doubts, and, as if to shake my confidence still further, I noticed that I was being followed by secret service men.

When I reached Kiel and presented myself at the palace, I was taken to a dungeon-like basement where Prince Oskar and a group of men were waiting for me, all of them in opera capes, tall hats, and masks. I wondered why all the drama. Disliking to work with these masked men at my back, I insisted that we have a city official present and waited until the prince telephoned for a member of the police.

The safe was concealed behind packing cases. After they were pulled away, I found that the safe was a familiar American make and comparatively easy to open but, out of perversity, I took a long time at it, enjoying the impatience of the masked witnesses. When I pulled back the door, I stopped away and did not see what was inside. However, Prince Oskar was so pleased that he took from his finger a diamond ring and presented it to me, the ring which I wear today. He also gave me seven old Gothic keys from the palace.

Returning to Bremen, I talked again with Sir Basil, who would listen to none of my misgivings. He promised that the salvaging equipment would be the best obtainable and the plans so carefully laid that there was practically no chance of failure. Two internationally famous divers were working out preliminary details already and would get in touch with me. The fee was staggering.

Having committed myself to join one of the greatest treasure hunts of modern times, I took a North German Lloyd liner for New York. As Sir Basil said, the thought of it did undoubtedly quicken the pulse, but my doubts were so lively that I did not tell my wife and daughter.

RANGE RAMBLINGS

By BILL GRAY

Rains were spotting West Texas again during the last half of the week but the big general downfall which would bolster sagging lamb and calf markets had not arrived. Feeder lambs moved down to the 10-cent notch and feeder calves were mostly at 12-13 cents for heifers and steers respectively. Some sales have been made on feeder lambs in limited instances at 9 1/2 cents and names were withheld by reported sales. A San Angelo buyer reported a crossbred Rambouillet Corriedale lamb deal at 10 1/2 cents.

The gentleman from Kansas has made his annual fall trip, bought his feeder calves and returned home. He is J. D. Joseph, banker of Wheatland, Kan., who comes to Texas and buys calves for his customers. He bought a string of feeders from the Elliott ranch at Big Lake, from Virgil Powell and others, paying 12-13 cents, and current prices.

R. A. Neal, San Angelo order buyer, was bidding on lambs in the Lamesa country last week at a dime a pound. Guy Drake of San Angelo last week received the 2,153 lambs bought from Henry Speck of Eldorado earlier at a dime a pound, averaging 50 3/4 pounds, going to the Drake ranch near Kent. These were mixed lambs.

The Johnson & Clayton yearlings of Borden County were shipped out last week, Frank Medley, Borden County agent, reported. There were 555 heifers and 633 steers. They went north to feeders. The O. B. Ranch in Borden County loaded out to calves to buyers about 10 days ago. Several stockmen in that area contracted their calves earlier as high as 15 cents. One of the fortunate sellers was the Dean Ranch near Lamesa, which sent out part of its feeder calves a few days ago. They were contracted earlier at 15-16 cents—dram prices today. The first shipment was 14 carloads, the remainder to be delivered the latter part of October and around Dec. 1.

B. E. Brooks, San Angelo horse breeder and dealer, sent 30 Quarter horses to James Bryan and Jack Coker of Wauchula, Fla., about 10 days ago.

Jay Floyd of Midland says his calves aren't sold yet and most of the other ranchmen around him haven't sold either. A. K. Mackey of the Texas Livestock Marketing Association, Fort Worth, was in San Angelo and Big Lake looking for lambs. One of the big livestock firms in the north is buying at the yards altogether this year—won't go into the country to bid for the feeder stock. C. C. Brookshire, acting county agent at Lubbock, said Friday that his county had unusually good feed this fall but that the growers won't feed it—price is too high. So they'll sell it. It's the oft-repeated "rub"—too much of a squeeze between livestock ceilings and high priced feed.

L. D. Brooks of Barnhart Wednesday delivered 2,800 feeder lambs to G. W. Nichols, Kansas buyer. T. P. Morgan, Texas buyer, reported a good rain at San Antonio. Bill Field of Sonora sold a Rambouillet ram to R. O. Sheffield of San Angelo for $150; one to Jno. Williams, Eldorado; one to C. O. Bruton, Eldorado; three to Bob Owens, Fort Stockton; three to the three bringing $150 and 30 head of range bulls. Appraisals (government) on fall wool will begin in Texas about Oct. 1, Rome Shield, chief appraiser, said. A large clip is forecast.

Rooms May Be Needed For Convention Guests

Anticipating a record attendance at the annual meeting and war conference of West Texas County Judges and Commissioners here Wednesday and Thursday, and recognizing the crowded hotel situation, members of the convention committee of the Chamber of Commerce Saturday requested persons in housing an expected overflow of conference attendees.

Persons willing to make rooms available to judges and commissioners in case they are needed are asked to call the Chamber of Commerce before Wednesday.

Boy Scouts Distribute Official War Posters

Six members of Boy Scout Troop 85 Saturday morning distributed official war posters for the Office of War Information. The Scouts are Jimmie Greer, Eugene Heff, Donald Hamblet, Herman Hankla, Gilbert Sevier Jr., and Eddie Clarke. The Rev. Hubert Hopper is scoutmaster of the troop.

The posters are distributed through the Retailers for Victory committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Retail merchants are asked to display the posters for two weeks.

Boy Scouts have been designated as official information bearers for the OWI and an organization of Scouts is being set up to distribute posters every other Saturday. This membership troop 54 handed distribution two weeks ago.

"Savings In Wartime Budgets" Will Be Subject Of Tax Clinic Wednesday

"Savings In Wartime Budgets" will be the subject of discussion at an open tax clinic in the Civic Auditorium at 8 p. m., Wednesday. The meeting, to which the public is invited, is being held in connection with the annual session and war conference of the West Texas County Judges' and Commissioners' Association, opening here Thursday. Judge John V. Lyles of Clay County will preside at the forum.

Assisting him will be H. C. Bradshaw, economist in farm taxation, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, College Station, and John T. Smith of Austin, editor of "The Texas Tax Journal."

Stress Responsibilities

The responsibilities of county officials and of tax payers will be stressed in the discussions. "This meeting should be the beginning of a movement that will be far reaching toward the obtaining of an economical administration of county business, all of which means the renewing of the much needed moral courage of the people to do those things that are needed at home instead of asking the federal government to intervene in all community improvements and the passing of all local problems on to Congress," Judge Lyles said. Three or more West Texas tax payers have been asked to appear on the program. Business and professional men, ranchers, farmers, and other interested persons are urged to attend the meeting and to participate in the discussions.

and returned the third heart, which Mrs. Wagar (South) won. Dummy's ace and king of spades were cashed, and a club led to declarer's ace. Deciding that East held the two outstanding trumps, Mrs. Wagar set the hand up for a coup. She returned a club to dummy's king, and led the queen of clubs. East refused to ruff, discarding a diamond. Mrs. Wagar ruffed and led a diamond. East won with the ace and exited with a diamond. East's last three cards were the jack-nine of trumps and a diamond. Mrs. Wagar held the queen-ten of trumps and a heart. A club was led from dummy, East discarded the diamond and South the heart. On the last club East was forced to ruff and Mrs. Wagar overruffed and made her contract.

Actor Makes His Living By Dying
By JOHN L. SPRINGER
NEW YORK—(AP)—Milton Herman is a man who has died a thousand deaths. And he's so happy about it, he'd like to die a thousand more.
Herman is one of radio's dead end kids—those screaming, screaming terrors of the airwaves who conceivably die each time they show, but always wind up steaming in their own poison juice just before the program ends.
"I've committed every kind of crime over the radio," he boasts, "and because of it I've died in every way. I get it in the head, I get it in the neck, I get it in the back and in the side. But always, in the end, I get it."
Herman is a thin little man, with a gaunt lined face, a froggy voice and a vague gesture toward hair on his head. Naturally looking and talking like the characters he plays, he passes in— and out—of such shows as The Falcon, Ellery Queen, The Shadow, Lights Out, and Famous Jury Trials. And although his killing grind has been going on since 1926, when he moved into radio from the stage, he thinks biting the dust an ideal diet for a radio actor.
"Anybody can play the hero, because the sympathies of the audience are all with him," he maintains, "but it takes a lot of acting to be the villain when everybody's against you. You've got more obstacles to overcome—and when you do, you're really achieved something."
The actual business of dying on the air, he admits, is a cinch. According to script, Herman has been fanged by cobras, swallowed by alligators, crushed by pythons, eaten by sharks and has met the Grim Reaper through all the more common methods of introduction. During all that time, however, about the only pain he has felt has been in his throat—from gasping his last, loud enough for the audience to hear.

Headquarters And

Bulldogs Win Opener From Cubs

Lubbock Beats Odessa 18-6

ODESSA — Jim Reiger scored twice in one minute and again a few minutes later to lead the Lubbock Westerners to an 18-6 win over the Odessa Bronchos Friday night.

After a see-saw first quarter Reiger took a pass from Lindsey and went 19 yards to the touch. Lubbock kicked off and an Odessa boy touched the ball as it went over the goal line. Reiger fell on it for another touchdown. Both extra points were missed.

Reiger intercepted a screen pass a few minutes later and went 34 yards for a score.

George Cook, Odessa sparkplug, scored in the fourth quarter on a 77 yard run after taking a short pass from Reynolds.

Odessa made seven first downs to three for Lubbock, gained 127 yards to 63 for the Westerners, completed four of ten passes for 87 yards to Lubbock's two of eight for 22 yards.

Big Spring Steers Defeat Colorado City

BIG SPRING — Behind occasionally brilliant blocking Big Spring backs scampered to score in every quarter Friday night to humble Colorado City, 25-2, in the season's opener.

San Angelo Bobcats Beat Ballinger 38-7

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo's Bobcats, prime favorites in the District 3AA race, defeated the scrappy Class A Ballinger Bearcats here Friday night, 38-7, before a crowd of 5,000 persons.

San Angelo used three teams. The passing of McCortin was the feature.

A run of 70 yards by Rathbone and one of 47 yards by Taft featured the Bobcat offense.

Lamesa Trounces Tahoka By 53-0 Score

LAMESA — Wayne Roberts scored on the third play of the game and added two more touchdowns to lead Lamesa to a 53-0 rout of Tahoka here Friday night.

Roberts passed to Bratcher for one touchdown and Whitmire raced 25 yards for the final tally. Dallas Wise made all five conversions good.

The swordfish is related to the mackerel family.

TCU Captain

CAPT. CLYDE FLOWERS
T. C. U.

Captain of the 1943 Horned Frogs of Texas Christian University is Clyde Flowers, 200-pound senior tackle from Perryton. Captain Flowers, who has been turned down by the armed services and who is classified as 4-F by his draft board, is the only player Coach Dutch Meyer has left from his '42 squad. T. C. U. opens against the Arkansas Razorbacks in Fayetteville Oct. 2.

Sweetwater Defeats Roscoe Plowboys 35-0

SWEETWATER — Sweetwater's Mustangs defeated the Roscoe Plowboys 35-0 Friday night before a large opening season crowd as they have played to in several years.

Mackmen Finally End Long Losing Streak

PHILADELPHIA — (P) — Trv Hall's single with the bases loaded in the eleventh inning gave the Athletics a 5-4 victory over the Boston Red Sox and broke the Mackmen's eight-game losing streak.

The score: R H E Boston 100 000 102 00-4 9 4 Philadelphia 000 020 200 01-5 12 2 O'Neil, Brown and Doyle; Black, Christopher and Swift.

SPORTS BOMBER

Now that the softball season at Midland Army Air Field has come to an end, with Ordinance as the champion, 33rd Air Base second, and 951st Guard Squadron third, the game of touch-football is the chief topic of conversation at the P. T. Department.

This touch-football is quite a game and it may be that Lt. John F. Crooks will nod his head in approval one of these days, for it is a long time till the opening of the Post basketball season and the boys would sure like to have some new competitive sports action.

ON THE BOXING FRONT

The boxing program has been pushed on a faster pace by Boxing Instructor Mickey Schmarion, using talent he gained when he was hustling the boxing rings in New York as a promoter. He has matched several local boxers, and this coming week he will stage a dry run boxing and wrestling show — getting the boys in the "pink" of condition for the sports show.

Some of the boys who have been outstanding during the training period are Corp. Salvatore J. Petrucci, who has been named "Little Tony Galento," and also from New Jersey, the home state of the "Beer Barrel," Pvt. Maxie Hulise, a Texan from Tyler; Pfc. Julian Kaplan, the "Brooklyn Kid," and Pvt. Jack Spanola, heavyweight contender from New Jersey who all his off-duty time keeping in shape by running two miles a day and constantly punching the bag. He should be a tough customer.

Two new wrestlers have joined Instructor Schmarion's classes, as he not only teaches boxing but wrestling also. They are Pfc. Chris Hurd and Pvt. Lawrence Seldeman, both heavyweights.

A DREAM FOOTBALL TEAM

Yes sir! We have football players galore, some stars and all let-tem here at the bombardier school. These cadets come from different schools in as many states, and they were all "honors" on the gridiron. In the line, in the backfield, running with the ball, blocking, tackling, and put them all together and you not only will have a winning football team, but a champion "Hell from Heaven" team dropping their bombs on the Axis goal instead of crossing it.

Here is the dream "Hell from Heaven" team: Cadets Cleve D. Waters of Texas, Robert T. Walsh of Massachusetts; David Ward of Maine, Stanley Richman of New Jersey, John S. Price of Utah, Ralph W. Nix of California, Edward R. Osborn of Tennessee, Joseph Palermo of New York, Martin P. Morheuser of Missouri, Rudolph J. Zebora of Rhode Island, and William Thompson of Michigan.

ALONG THE P. T. AIRLANE

Instructor Clarence Cline is sure kept on the go these days. He conducts officer classes at the swimming pool, where the officers enjoy playing the game of water polo, and now they want to take up water boxing, says Cline. From the pool he jumps over to the Post hospital where a class of nurses are waiting to take their daily P.T. The WAC officers here on the post have joined these classes, and from all reports both the nurses and the WACs have approved the P.T. program a thousand fold.

The enlisted WACs have included the art of lambing in their calisthenics period. Temporarily they are using their mattresses, for the ground here is sort of rough and tough — when you are first learning how to tumble properly.

If you care to watch some really good volleyball playing, visit the officer's area and see the games CBIS students participate in. These officers have recently returned from combat duty and they give you a thrill a minute during the games. Yes sir! they really are good, not only at "Bombs Away" but at throwing that volley ball around.

Cadets of classes 14 and 15 take their calisthenics during P. T. periods under a large beacon light due to early nightfall. These semi-daily periods are supervised by Instructor Bud Hummel.

SPORTS SHORTS

Corp. Orrin Kimball, as a youth in 1930 and 1931, served as bat-boy for Raleigh, N. C., of the Piedmont League. He watched such stars as Hank Greenberg, now a captain in the Army, "Flea" Clifton, Jack Wade, and "Rip" Sewell, break in to pro ball with "his" team.

Sgt. Walter Spink was the chief half mile runner at Mason City High School in Iowa and he was trained by Coach Volney Hanson. At Coldwater High School in Coldwater, Mich., he played varsity football as right tackle, weighing only 152 pounds, the lightest man on the team and a tough job, Sergeant Spink also played commercial basketball in two leagues in Coldwater. Here at the bombardier school he is chief instructor of P. T. in charge of cadets.

HERE AND THERE

Pvt. James Cameron, a real Cherokee chief, loves only two things in life — piloting an airplane and chocolate ice cream. Watching a championship snooker game in the coolest spot on the field, the 491st B.T.S. recreation room, going on between S/Sgt. Wilcher Jennings, Sgt. Horace Wood, Cpl. Frank Weirich and Pvt. Pete Jorgenson. Lt. James Jenkins returned from furlough with the good news that while en route back to his station he was delayed in St. Louis for four hours and just in time to witness the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Cincinnati Reds. Pfc. Thomas Ferris is very proud of the record he made last Tuesday when he struck out 14 men and allowed five hits to win the championship for Ordinance in the softball league.

Speed And Precision Football Pay Dividends In First Game Of 1943

Speed and precision paid off for the Midland High School Bulldogs Friday night and they defeated the Brownfield Cubs 20 to 0 in the football opener of the 1943 season, an intersectional contest.

Within two minutes after the game started, Fullback Ivan Hall plunged off-tackle for the first touchdown, after quarterback Bill Richards had raced 34 yards through a broken field to put the pigskin on the Cub's 5 yard line. Halfback Joe Stickney added two yards before Hall

His Bulldogs Win

Gene McCollum, head coach at Midland High School, saw his Bulldogs win their 1943 opener Friday night.

Brooklyn Defeats New York 6 To 5

NEW YORK — (P) — Brooklyn's Dodgers won 6 to 4 over New York Saturday.

The score: R H E Brooklyn 201 000 102-6 11 3 New York 040 000 000-4 7 0 Wyatt and Owen; Fischer and Lombardi.

Cleveland Beats Detroit 4 To 2

CLEVELAND — (P) — The Cleveland Indians beat Detroit 4 to 2 Saturday.

The score: R H E Detroit 000 000 110-2 5 2 Cleveland 001 021 00X-4 6 0 Newhouse, Overmire and Richards; Unser; Kennedy, Heving and Rosar.

Lt. John Kelley playing ball with a pee-wee mongrel who just loved to chase the ball. The enlisted men are toughening up—they are working out very other day on the tumbling mats. Cadet class 43-16 set a class record the other day when they all finished the mile run in the required time as set by the P. T. Dept. Twice a week the cadets are sent on dry runs, to increase their efficiency in the three point test (Physical Fitness Test). Pvt. Red Bottom has returned to his duties at the P. T. Dept. after being absent on an emergency furlough, due to the illness of his mother. Lt. James Litz, assistant provost marshal, personally has been instructing his M.P.'s in the art of judo—teaching them how to fall properly when thrown by an opponent during a skirmish. Give a sailor a ship to sail, give a jeep to drive, just give the rest of us MORE BONDS TO BUY.

took the ball over the goal line. Hall's kick for the extra point was good.

Soon after the opening of the second quarter, the Bulldogs started their second touchdown march from the Brownfield 21 yard line. Stickney plunged through tackle for 5 yards, Richards crashed through the center of the line for 13 yards and then the quarterback kicked for the touchdown. Hall's kick for the extra point again was good, making the score Midland 14, Brownfield 0.

The third touchdown was scored in the fourth period of the game, after Stickney intercepted a Brownfield pass on the Cub's 35 yard line and raced 7 yards. A pass from Richards to Ed Jimmy Watson added 8 yards and then a pass from Richards to Halfback Hubert Drake added 20 yards.

Stickney raced across the goal line, standing up, for the third touchdown. Hall's kick was short, making the final score, Midland 20, Brownfield 0.

The Bulldogs piled up 14 first-downs to 9 for the Cubs. Midland completed 7 of its nine passes and the Cubs made good only 8 out of 15 heaves.

Brownfield had a big weight advantage over the fast-breaking Midland team, but the Bulldogs had the spirit and determination to open their 1943 season with a victory and did just that.

Their flashes of speed and quick thinking kept the contest moving at a fast pace and there were few dull moments as the Cubs were on their toes watching closely for any break which would help them set up a score.

Coaches Gene McCollum and Jack Atkins were delighted with the showing made by the 1943 edition of the Bulldogs in their first clash, but have a number of suggestions for the squad when it convenes for the next practice session.

But the fans had the answer to the mystery which has surrounded the 1943 team of Midland High School. They saw a sparkling game and not a customer even thought of asking for a refund at the box-office.

Students Celebrate Victory Despite a lack of experience by a number of the Bulldogs the excellent plays provided for them were executed to perfection.

Students cheered their team, crowded around the high school gymnasium after the contest and then moved downtown to continue their celebration after lights at the school were turned out.

A second touchdown threat by the Bulldogs in the first quarter was halted on Brownfield's 5 yard line where the Cubs took the ball.

on downs. But the Midland griders came right back at the opening of the second period to recapture the lead.

Brownfield threatened in the second quarter but fumbled. Right Guard Red Roy recovered and the Bulldogs soon had the ball out of danger, and at the half Midland was leading 14 to 0.

Stop Another Cub Threat In the third quarter the Cubs worked the ball to Midland's 12 yard line with passes and plunges, but the Bulldogs took possession of the ball on downs after pushing the invaders back to the 14 yard stripe.

In the last quarter, M. C. Hale, a new comer to the Bulldog squad, showed to advantage with runs of 14 yards and 7 yards just before the game ended. McCollum sent in a number of substitutes in the final quarter to give them some experience.

The Bulldogs gained 211 yards rushing and 83 yards on passes. Brownfield gained only 81 yards rushing but added 84 by passes. Last year, the Cubs trounced the Bulldogs in a game at Brownfield. The Cubs are in District 1AA and the Bulldogs are in 3AA.

Mrs. McCormick Is Feted At Luncheon On Birthday Anniversary By Friends

Honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Molly McCormick, 217 West Tennessee, Mrs. W. Carl Clement entertained Thursday at a beautifully appointed luncheon in her home.

The interior of the home was decorated with clusters of gladioli and pink carnations, and a color note of pink was in evidence.

At one long table in the dining room, the Wesley Class of the First Methodist Church was seated with the guest of honor, who has been a member of the class for a number of years.

This table had as its central figure a huge birthday cake with pink rosebud base, and across the top of the cake was inscribed, "Birthday Greeting." Other individual tables were placed about the dining room, and each of these had as its central figure a pink candle in crystal holder. Places were marked for 60 guests.

Surprise To Mrs. McCormick
The event was a complete surprise to the guest of honor, Mrs. McCormick, who responded beautifully with a talk.

Mrs. H. M. Reigle sang two numbers, with Mrs. Clement at the piano.

Several musical selections were presented by Mrs. Barbara Wall, and a literary game was played after the musical program.

Assisting hostesses were Mesdames Mayme Stokes, Percy Mims, Gus Miller, and Wilson Bryant. Mrs. McCormick was the recipient of a number of beautiful birthday gifts brought by her friends. These were opened.

Included in the invitation list were: Mesdames J. M. Allen, H. M. Reigle, J. M. Hughes, T. A. Fannin, W. A. Nolen, John Ficke, Frank Smith, Sr., L. C. Stephenson, Mary L. Snodgrass, Minnie Crumley, W. H. Wilmoth, M. D. Johnson, Sr., Mesdames J. M. Reising, R. W. Patterson, W. A. Black, Phil Scharbauer, S. H. Gwyn, Will Lang, Lila Hedges, J. P. Ferguson, Velma Stewart, H. S. Merrell, E. B. Patterson, D. T. Parr, M. L. Wyatt, Bob Patterson, E. P. Cowden; Mesdames C. A. Goldsmith, J. M. Flanagan, C. C. Watson, S. W. Estes, Jack West, J. M. Prothro, Otis Ligon, Holt Jowell, Percy Mims, Ralph Barron, S. Watson Miller, Anna Klapproth, Charles Klapproth, J. Hollis Roberts, Hollingsworth, Pat P. Barber, J. H. Lanham, Barbara Wall, J. H. Barron, J. Homer Epley, Mayme Stokes, T. R. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Houston of Stanton were guests Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. Epley.

Two's Company—And So Are Three Or Four Wardrobe 'Extenders'

Supply Of Blouses, Jackets, Skirts And Sweaters Gives Many Pleasing Combinations

By NEA SERVICE

These are the days when an ingenious gal can figure ways to make a comparatively small wardrobe look like an extensive one. All you need are a few items like sweaters, blouses, skirts, jackets and jumpers plus a knack of selecting them so that no matter how you mix 'em up, garments paired off seem to "go together."

For instance, you have a navy skirt. So you shop around and find a classic blazer jacket, in fireman's red flannel. Not only are the red and navy "naturals" for harmonious contrast, but the navy binding on the jacket helps "tie it up" to the skirt. Next you find a skirt in beige and navy hound's-tooth check. To go with this you have a navy or beige sweater. But you could wear the red blazer with the checked skirt, or wear the sweater with the navy skirt.

One of the grandest wardrobe

"extenders" is the popular jumper.

Worn with tailored flannel or cotton blouses, or a colorful jersey, it's an ideal sport outfit. Switch the blouse type to something softly feminine or frilly and, presto, you're "dressed up."

Expeditionary Forces Kick Against Steady Diet Of 'Disguised' Ham

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Features Writer

There's a gastronomical revolution taking place within the AEF abroad—and it's all because of a steady diet of spiced ham.

You can take the word of Majors John M. Reddy and Harold Leshon, in their new book "Skyways to Berlin," that this war has its food sorrows like any other.

In the last war, they relate, "corned willie and goldfish" (corned beef and salmon) were the chief bones of contention.

"Now they say, it's 'spiced ham,'" And the book says the situation is so serious, the Army newspaper

The Stars and Stripes, offered prizes for the mess sergeants who could best disguise the taste of the ham.

One winning recipe advised: "Dice the ham, cook it several hours with baked beans. In that way you lose the ham and the taste of it without losing the nutritive value."

Chef Louis Bouthemy, formerly of the Hotel Lutetia in Paris and the Hotel Plaza in Buenos Aires, has a disguise for it called Spiced Ham Fritters. To make, you mix the ham, mashed potatoes and spices to taste, form into croquettes, dip in powdered egg batter, fry in deep fat and serve with tomato sauce.

These dishes are the rations served on the ground. In the air more sumptuous fare like oranges, steak,

Altar Society To Entertain At Tea

Saint Ann's Altar Society of St. George's Catholic Church will entertain with a tea at 3:30 p. m. Monday in the home of Mrs. C. P. Yaden, on the Andrews Highway.

Mrs. Kidd To Be Guest Speaker

Mrs. James Kidd, representative of the National Council of Girl Scouts, will be in Midland Monday evening to address the meeting of the Midland Council of Girl Scouts at 8 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce.

She was a visitor to the city in the spring, in the interest of Girl Scout leadership.

eggs, French fries, toast, coffee and chocolate are the rule.

As one navigator remarked, say the authors, while stuffing himself with steak:

"The only reason I fly—to get away from spiced ham."

Guest Speaker To Give Book Review

A covered dish luncheon at 1 p. m. Tuesday in the education building of the First Methodist church will be given by the Women's Society of Christian Service.

Mrs. C. B. Bryan, of Stanton, district president of W. S. C. S. will be guest speaker and will review the book "We, Who Are America," by Kenneth D. Miller.

Recently Mrs. Bryan returned from Lubbock where she completed a course of study in the Educational Seminar taught by Miss Ocie Sanders, an official sent from the New York office of the W. S. C. S. Miss Sanders is a former professor of Vassar College at Albany, New York.

All Methodist women are cordially invited.

Travel-Weary Women Want Permanent Post-War Homes

By RUTH MILLETT

Mrs. America keeps reading about those wonderful houses of the future that the architects are designing now for construction after the war.

She is promised that some of them will be "movable" so that Mr. and Mrs. America can fold their house like the Arabs and move from Portland to Brooklyn at the drop of a hint that there is a nice job waiting for Mr. America in the east.

Judging by the publicity these knock-down houses and knock-down furniture are getting, Mrs. America is a much misunderstood woman.

Sure, she is moving around now. She has to, if she wants to be with her man.

Wants Real Home

But no picture of a shining post-war world ought to include a knock-down house—not if the picture is supposed to tempt Mrs. America.

What she wants when the war is over is to stop put—Her dream of a post-war world—her own little post-war world—doesn't include chasing around the country, living here today and there tomorrow.

She is getting enough of moving. She wants to settle down, build a house that will be tied to its foundation for generations, make a place for herself and her family in a community, and look forward to seeing her children grow up in that same community.

The men of the post-war world may be restless and may find it difficult to settle down. But not the women. They can take just so much insecurity, and then they want a home—a home with a firm foundation, not one that can be shipped around the country any time their husbands get the urge to seek greener pastures.

North Elementary P.T.A. Will Hold Meeting Tuesday

The North Ward Elementary School Parent Teachers Association will hold its first meeting of the fall season at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the auditorium of the North Ward School.

All fathers of North Elementary School students will be invited guests.

A brief program will feature the meeting. Superintendent Frank Monrois will speak on "How the School is Meeting the Needs of the Day."

Mrs. L. G. Byerley, State vice-president of P. T. A., will talk on "The Work of the Parent Teachers Association."

All members of the P. T. A. and all husbands of members are urged to attend.

Most New Books In Library Written By Men In Present War

"Fact books are more prominent today than ever before," declares our new librarian, Miss Mozelle Dement.

"These books, written by war correspondents, service men, and other world travelers, are as easy to read as fiction, and much more interesting."

Miss Dement announces several books just added to the library of this type. They include "Behind the Face of Japan" by Upton Close; "Seversky's Victory Through Air Power"; "Alaska Under Arms" by Foster; and "See Here, Private Hargrove" by Marion Hargrove.

Another new attraction is a series of books entitled "What the Citizen Should Know," and each book deals with a branch of the armed forces; also Captain Eddie Rickenbacker's experiences afloat, and "Pacific, The Raft," by Trumbull, and "I Saw the Fall of the Philippines" by Romulo. There are many new books for the aviation enthusiast, including "The Navy Has Wings" by Pratt, and Billy Mitchell's Biography. Another biography is "Lon Gehrig" by Paul Gallico.

Other fiction titles include "The Notables in the Fiction Field are 'And Now Tomorrow' by Rachel Field; 'Bess Streeter Aldrich's 'The Lieutenant's Lady,' and 'The Robe' by Douglas.

Miss Dement intends to be of the greatest possible aid to the students this year by getting the library completely cataloged in the near future, by giving instruction as to the use of the library to the freshman English students, and by increasing the library as much as possible. She hopes that the interest of the student body will increase as these aims are accomplished, and urges all students to feel free to ask her anything concerning the library and its maintenance.

The following persons are assisting Miss Dement during the various hours:

First hour: Betty Rice.

Second hour: Sharon Cornelius, Pat Ruckman.

Third hour: Jeanne Russell, Willa Drake.

Fourth hour: Robert Walker, Charles Barber.

Fifth hour: Jeanne Russell, Jane Butler.

Sixth hour: Walter Smith, Fredrick Prickett, Vivian Cooper.

SNEC'S DIARY

Monday—We deduce from all outward signs that we are in for another nine months of the old you-know-what. And about the shortened noon hour, sometimes I wonder if I have had my dinner, but there is one consolation, the best way to reduce is to go without nourishment. I keep telling myself, Tuesday—Well, well, well! We wonder why the freshman class voted to a man for three of the prettiest girls nominated for cheerleaders. As one of our favorite teachers said, "If the freshmen were voting for candidates for the track team, each honorable little 'fish' would vote for his pay even if he couldn't navigate under his own power." Nevertheless, we are pleased to see that they show such good taste as freshmen. There should be "some fun" when the class of '47 holds sway as seniors.

Wednesday—Around and around they go; where they stop nobody knows; not even the poor kids who, due to circumstances beyond their control, are participating in this folly. Undoubtedly by this time you are aware of that to which we refer in the foregoing observations. With reference to the little squares executed by the band, let it be said that those participating will probably be counting steps instead of sheep in their sleep. Shore do look right funny, tho.

Thursday—There was a pep rally tonight but we did not go. We were afraid of being trampled to death. Our mutual friend, however, having more intelligence than we, went and came back with a report of the activities that made us sit up and take notice. You know a pep rally is to show pep and that's just what they did. What with every drum the school possesses put into use the cheers really had a solid kick. It is our opinion that those new cheer leaders deserve most of the credit for this fine show. If they keep it up the town will really lend an ear.

Friday—Well, the question is now, after two weeks of supervised imprisonment—How many subjects are you dragging and how many are dragging you? Don't tell me; let me guess. After going barefooted all summer, my friend and I have decided that shoes are only excess weight and that something should be done, but after considering the possibilities, we have come to the conclusion that if we are to remain in civilized society they should remain where they are. "Ah well, such is life," some genius has said but then you know how these geniuses are. Of course I wouldn't know, not being one myself. If you

Who's Who—Bill

Bill Elkin, Senior Class president, is tall, has sandy hair and blue eyes, and is one of the most popular boys in school.

Bill has lived and gone to school in Midland all his life, makes excellent grades, and likes most sports, including tennis, football, basketball, and baseball.

When asked what he intends to do as the Senior Class president, Bill replied, "My ambition is to take two six-month vacations each year." He was critical for the Spanish Club his sophomore year and class critic his junior year.

Favors Ice Cream

Bill says his favorite type of reading matter is adventure stories and that his hobby is collecting match-folders. He is studying mechanical drawing, English, solid geometry, physics, and typing this year and his favorite among these is physics. He refuses to commit himself on the subject of his favorite teachers, but boldly asserts that his favorite food is ice cream. (Whose isn't?)

If the draft board overlooks him, Bill expects to go to college, although he hasn't decided what college he will attend. However, if he finds it necessary to enter the armed services, Bill would prefer to be an aerial gunner in the Army Air Forces.

Home Making Dept. Gets New Heater, Refrigerator, Stove

Some new equipment has been added to the Foods Department of Midland High School. Among this equipment are a stove, a water heater, an electric refrigerator, and some small desk equipment.

Forty first year girls, 31 second year girls, and 10 third year girls have enrolled in foods classes.

The first year girls have begun a unit on feeding the family. Preserving and storage of foods is the second year girls' course of study. The third year girls are working on the cost of menus for a week from the Red Cross Nutrition low cost diet.

In the clothing department, Miss Helen Stewart has 40 first year girls and 30 second year girls.

The first year girls have finished a study on hygiene practice and good grooming with reports and demonstrations in class last week.

The second year girls are studying the child's clothing in relation to the child's development. Each girl will make a garment for a child between the ages of 2-5. When these garments are finished, a style show will be presented with the children as the models.

The sewing machines have been checked and are ready for use.

The high school band has decreased its membership to twenty-six students since last school year. Six seniors left the band last year and three of last year's bandmen are playing football.

This year Ann Vannaman will be the drum major with Mary Ellen Midkiff, Charleen Wood, Anita Webb, and Grace Baker as majorettes. Shirley Culbertson and Norman Conley are the flag bearers.

Members coming from junior high school are John Livingston and Bob McDonald. Don Dailey is the only member of the band coming from out of town. Don is from Wichita Falls and plays a tenor saxophone.

Merl Cornelius is stressing precise playing. The band has been marching after school in preparation for the coming of the football games.

Cornelius has Zacatecas, NC-4, Cymbeline, Downbeat, and On Ye Bulldogs Marches out for the band to play.

Organize Girls' Quartet

In Mrs. DeLo Douglas' department try-outs are being made for the girls' quartet.

There are 80 members in the "choral club" which meets every day during the first period. Mrs. Douglas stated that if she can find enough voices she will have an A Capella Choir.

Along with other new music which Mrs. Douglas has received, the choral club is singing "Gloria Mia" by Rudolf Friml and "Caprice Viennois" by Fritz Kreisler.

Peggy Bissell will accompany the choral club and others will be chosen to assist her.

Tea and coffee are the predominant warm weather beverages served in the Army.

Greetings To Midland High Students

It is a pleasure to welcome you to Midland High School. Our high school family has increased by more than thirty since this time last year.

After talking with many of you, I feel sure that all have had a very helpful place of responsibility that usually have been held by older people. You have profited in that you have been aided financially and profitably. More students than ever before have worked and the work you have done was helping develop you physically.

There seems to be a greater desire on your part to perfect the fundamental processes and develop your mental capacities. We, your teachers, are glad to find you in such a receptive mood and count it a pleasure as well as a privilege to welcome you to the Midland High School for the school year 1943-44.

Sincerely yours,
Frank Monroe
Acting Superintendent

Changes In Building Include Grand Piano And New Curtains

Changes in the high school building since last spring include some additions to equipment as well as painting and redecorating.

In the auditorium, the old stage curtain has been removed. There is a new gray cyclorama installed and a purple velvet curtain will be in place soon. A Steinway Grand piano has been added for the benefit of the music department.

New shades have been placed at the windows and the floor has been refinished.

The gymnasium floor has been refinished and there are new nets on the tennis courts.

The foods lab and the science labs have been repainted and new cabinets have been built.

Bulldog's Kennel

Midland High Bulldogs will meet the Panthers from El Paso's Austin High on Lackey Field at 9 p. m. next Friday in the second game of the season.

The boys from El Paso are expected to arrive Thursday and probably will have two workouts. The squad will include 20 men.

Last year the Bulldogs broke a two-year jinx with a 12-0 victory over the Panthers at El Paso. Midland has the advantage this year of experience in some already played. Friday's clash is the opener on the Austin High schedule. The starting lineup for Midland will probably be Watson, left end; Spurgers, left tackle; Taylor, left guard; Edwards, center; Roy, right guard; Funk, right tackle; Gagliardi, right end; Hall, Neatherton, Stickney, and Richards, backfield.

The Bulldogs and Panthers have always had fairly evenly matched teams. Fans should expect a good game Friday night, although it does not affect conference standing.

The life of wood may be lengthened three to ten times by treatment with chromated zinc chloride in pressure chambers.

Interviews With New Teachers Show Hobbies Include Flying, Reading, Ping-Pong, And Music

The interests of the new teachers are many and varied; they include flying, reading, and ping-pong. All from Texas except Merl Cornelius, who is from Oklahoma.

Miss Lydia Kelley, bookkeeping, shorthand, and typing teacher, is a native of Paducah. She is a graduate of Paducah High School and Texas Wesleyan College, and she has attended Texas Tech. Miss Kelley likes to play bridge and "42."

Miss Minnie Jackson of Cameron is the new Spanish teacher. She is a graduate of Baylor University and she has attended the University of Texas and the National University of Mexico.

This last summer she helped Uncle Sam at the Consolidated Aircraft Factory at Fort Worth. She worked twelve weeks eight hours a day, acquiring callouses all the while. She said she liked the work and that it was very interesting.

Miss Jackson has spent four summers in the "Land of Manana." The last summer she spent in Guadalajara where the American influence is not so apparent as in other cities.

Swimming Is Hobby

Miss Helen Stewart, the physical education teacher, hails from Dallas. She taught last at Texas City. For several summers Miss Phillips has taught swimming for the Dallas City Recreation and Playground Association. Her special hobbies are nature work and swimming.

Miss Helen Stewart, clothing teacher, is from Snyder. She has a B. S. degree from NTSTC which enables her to teach a class of biology. Miss Stewart taught last at Bowie High School in El Paso where for the past summer she taught home economics in summer school.

Miss Trene Adams, history teacher, is from Brownfield where she taught at the Brownfield High School last year. Miss Adams went to Mary-Hardin Baylor two years and then finished at Baylor University. She said that she cooked, washed dishes, and canned last summer. She likes to read and ride horses.

Miss Eunice Latimer, English teacher, has a B.A. from T.S.C.W. where she majored in English and history. Her home is in Stephenville and that is where she taught last. As her hobby she reads non-fiction.

Aerobatics Enthusiast

Miss Helen Cope, mathematics and speech teacher, is from Lamesa and Midland is the first place where she has taught. Miss Cope is a

Thomason Opens War Loan Campaign With Speech To Students

Congressman R. E. Thomason, in an assembly speech, introduced Midland High School students to the Third War Loan drive which began September 9.

The superintendent of schools, Frank Monroe, introduced Thomason with a brief explanation of the representative's career since he went to Washington thirteen years ago, during the administration of former President Hoover. Since that time Monroe explained, Thomason has risen to the position of head of the Military Affairs Committee.

Thomason's message centered about the great challenge with which youth is faced today, and he urged that students study their best and engage in clean sports. He also touched upon some of his recent experiences in Washington with news-making personalities and mentioned the part the state of Texas is playing in the war fronts and on the political fronts.

"The youth of America have a big responsibility in the war, and I'm sure they are going to measure up to it," said Thomason.

Girls Outnumber Boys In Record Enrollment

The girls outnumber the boys this year. While there are 327 girls enrolled, only 240 boys grace the halls of Midland High. This brings the total enrollment for this year to 567 students.

Although tabulation of new students in all classes has not been completed, Principal G. B. Rush released the names of six new seniors. They are Gene Funkhouser from Houston; Juanita Lewis from Courtney; John McCarter from Odessa; Billy Paulson from Stephenville; Dorothy Ann Watson from Lubbock; and Jeanie May Yount from Greencastle, Ind.

Maj.-Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, 44, of Platte, Neb., youngest U. S. officer of that rank, is chief of staff to Lieut.-Gen. Mark Clark of the Fifth Army now invading Italy. He was loaned by General Eisenhower who said, "I feel like I am losing my right hand."

L. I. Classes Plan Useful Projects

Fifty students are enrolled in the laboratory of industries classes which is considerably more than were in the classes last year. These classes are building forty drawing boards to be used by the mechanical drawing students. They also are repairing the ticket boxes at Lackey Field. They will build more equipment for the library later this year.

John Mashburn said a new wood lathe has been added to the department. He said that included in this year's work would be nine weeks' study in wood work, nine weeks' study in mechanical drawing, nine weeks' study in electricity, and nine weeks' study in welding.

Those who have gone to TSCW are Patsy Butcher, Alberta Smith, Norma Jean Stice, Elsie Schlosser, Billie Walker, Mary Frances Carter, and Patsy Tull.

INVASION WEAPONS

FROM YOUR HANDS TO HIS!

YOU ARE the link between some soldier you know and victory.

Maybe he's a son, a husband, a sweetheart or a father. He may be just a friend. You know, the boy who used to crack your evening paper up against your front door around dinner time.

Wherever he is today—on one of the INVASION beachheads, or waiting the signal to open still another front—he's your boy, and he's counting on YOU!

ARE YOU GOING TO LET HIM DOWN?

What it comes down to is this: Are you going to buy enough War Bonds during the 3rd War Loan Drive to pay for the weapons he needs?

Your Government is asking for 15 billion dollars worth this month—to be purchased by individuals. That means you must put every dollar you can scrape together into War Bonds now.

You can't do less and remain an American. You know what America means—it means freedom. All the bonds you buy this month will still be a lot less than freedom is worth to you, and to him.

And it's a lot less than he's paying right now to keep freedom a living, breathing reality.

You are urged to buy at least one extra $100 Bond above your regular purchases. Some of you will have to invest thousands. Take it out of your income or your idle funds—but buy all you can!

YOUR INVESTMENT IN VICTORY

And another thing. The bonds you buy are not gifts, they're investments—investments in victory and your and your family's future.

They are installments on the brave new world which we all will help build after the war is won. With them you will be able to buy added comforts and enjoy greater opportunities for yourself and those you love.

Buy that extra $100 War Bond today. Your hands—the hands of an American—will be passing the INVASION weapons of victory to that boy of yours—or some boy you know.

League Of Voters Issues Warning On U. S. Foreign Policy

A warning that the United States cannot escape its destiny and must act soon if it is to decide its own foreign policy rather than let piecemeal moves by other nations narrow the choice is contained in the latest broadside, "Whose Foreign Policy?" issued by the National League of Women Voters, as a tool for use in its campaign to interest Americans in the importance of international cooperation.

"Why not cooperate?" asks the broadside and urges that we use our influence before the die is cast because "the best chance we have of being able to live our own lives as we want to here is to use our influence to get other nations to help make possible the kind of world we and they need."

"We can try to mold our own destiny or let it be molded for us by others, but we cannot escape it," the broadside states. "If other nations are doubtful what part we are going to play in the world after the war, they will be forced to make their plans without knowing what to expect of us. Then we will have to cut our pattern according to the kind of world others have made."

Happy Endings Seen For War Weddings

By RUTH MILETT

In talking of war marriages, why do the psychologists and educational leaders dwell so much on the percentage that they predict will be failures?

Why not give a little encouragement and a pat on the back to the young couples with their feet on the ground who, without a hint of bitterness or an ounce of self-pity, are going ahead and marrying with a firm resolve that their marriages will be good and lasting marriages? They're the kids who are starting their marriages in one room of somebody else's house, who often don't get to see each other but once a week, and who are neither afraid of the future nor unwilling to plan for it.

There are thousands like them. You probably know several such couples yourself.

They are supremely happy just being together whenever the war permits. Though they haven't much in the way of possessions, they are plenty lucky to have each other.

If they can find life as good as they are living it today, chances are their marriages will turn out all right. Why don't the "experts" pay a little more attention to them instead of talking so much about the war marriages that are almost sure to fail?

To Conduct Rally Here

Dr. and Mrs. A. S. London, Oklahoma City, general Sunday School evangelists for the Church of the Nazarene, will conduct a special rally in the interest of church schools at the Nazarene Church, Indiana and Big Spring Streets, Friday night, the Rev. R. M. Hecker, pastor, announced.

Dr. London is considered an authority on Sunday School work, having lectured on the subject in all parts of the United States and Canada during the past fifteen years. Prior to that time, he served as college president and college professor.

The London's are noted singers as well as Sunday School workers. Mrs. London has taught music in several colleges.

The public is cordially invited to attend this rally.

'Share Your Home' Campaign To Start

In 170 key war industry cities, the "Share Your Home" campaign is now under way. In most communities the peak of this campaign will come during "War Housing Week," October 2 to 9.

Committees and speaking bureaus have been organized and volunteer workers are being recruited to assist the staffs. Accommodations are being sought in private homes and rental properties for at least 200,000 workers with families, and 400,000 single workers in the nation.

Residents who are opening their homes to war workers will be listed in the War Housing Center, according to the recent bulletin of the Office of War Information.

Commandant Of Cadets At Midland Bombardier School Came From Ranks

Harry H. Phelps was a buck private in the Texas National Guard back in 1925, and today he is Major Phelps, commandant of cadets at the nation's number one bombardier school here, where he succeeds Major Clarence E. Bissell.

Major Phelps was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Officers Reserve Corps in 1927. He entered active duty with the Adjutant General's Department in the 36th Division, stationed at that time in Louisiana. This division is now somewhere in the European Theater.

At Fort Sam Houston, he set up a thirteen-week training program for cooks and bakers and after this new program was well underway he was sent to infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., and on arrival was appointed battalion commander and staff officer of the school. On completion of his duty there he was transferred to General Walker's 141st Infantry, and was on duty there until he was assigned to the Air Corps and to the Midland Army Field.

Expert In Mess Management
Major Phelps first assignment here at the then newly activated bombardier school was that of mess consolidator, and he soon established the now famous Mess Company Provisional. This new operation of the mess company became well known and representatives from Childress, Hondo, Del Rio and other fields in this area were sent here to adopt the new plan of Major Phelps. In addition to this he also established the new officer's mess which has proven successful. Besides being mess coordinator, he served as commanding officer of the 83rd Base Headquarters and Air Base Squadron.

During a six weeks course at Kelly Field, Texas, Major Phelps was an instructor in cryptology, mess management, supply and transportation.

He is a native Texan, comes from Austin, and was a member of the Texas Rifle Team in 1928 and 1929, when they fired in the National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. He has been a marksman for many years and recently on the rifle and

Cadet Ragsdale Gets Choice Assignment

Aviation Cadet E. J. Ragsdale, now at the Army Air Base near Tucson, Arizona, has been selected along with nine other men from his squadron to fly twin engine AT-17s in a new program in basic flying, which now is in its experimental stage.

Cadet Ragsdale is a graduate of Midland High School and attended North Texas A. and M. College at Arlington, Texas.

Globe To Drill Test To 6,000 Feet In Schleicher County

By JAMES C. WATSON
Oil Editor

Globe Oil & Refining Company No. 1 T. R. Henderson, 680 feet from the south and west lines of section 24, block L, S&SARR survey in Schleicher County is a new 6,000-foot test, find production in the Strawn-Bend formation in the Page district.

The new operation is classed as a wildcat, being considerably removed from commercial oil or gas production.

Oil Expected Around 5,735 Feet

Most of the wells completed up to now in the Page area have been gas producers from around 5,380-5,540 feet. However some oil from around 5,735 feet has been discovered which tests 41 degrees gravity.

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1 Mrs. Ada C. Price, Pecos County extra-deep wildcat had progressed below 12,781 feet Saturday—and at that level was showing a new West Texas as depth record by only six feet.

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company No. 52-A Lane, Ordovician prospecting project in Southwest Upton County has bored below 7,327 feet in lime and sand. Some geologists indicate that they think the drill is now in the top of the Simpson section. Others contend that it has not passed through the Montoya yet.

Mabee Trying Drilling Test

The Texas Company No. 1 Mabee, Southeast Andrews County wildcat which has recovered a total of 55 feet of fractured crystalline dolomite carrying oil stains and bleeding some oil with varying degrees of porosity was taking a drilling test Saturday afternoon.

The last core pulled was from 4,693-95 feet Friday morning. A full two feet of the formation was recovered showing oil stain.

Following that a drilling test was undertaken from 4,640-4,695 feet. After 3,000 feet of drill pipe had been run in a hole was discovered in the pipe and the tools were pulled and the hole was reconditioned. Then the work of taking the test was started again.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Crews & Mast, North Andrews deep test has progressed below 9,978 feet and is still drilling in lime.

Humble No. 1 Carter, in the central sector of Andrews, has bored below 8,878 feet.

Acid For Fullerton Outpost

Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Eilers, outpost to production in the Fullerton area of Northeast Andrews, is preparing to acidize at a reported total depth of 7,226 feet.

Mid-Continent No. 1-B University, two and one-half miles southeast of the nearest production in the Fullerton, is drilling ahead around 6,800 feet in lime.

C. U. Bay No. 1 Bitler & Lowe, two and one-eighth miles northeast of the Fullerton field, is making hole in the lime around 5,059 feet.

Ohio Oil Company No. 1-A University, southeast outpost to the Clear Fork production in the Fullerton, tested for 270 barrels in six hours flowing after a 6,000-gallon acid injection in the section bottomed at 7,080 feet. Core Laboratories are now taking tests in the pay section of the project.

Skelly Oil Company No. 1-M University, wildcat in South Andrews has passed 6,410 feet and is drilling ahead. A supplemental application to drill to at least 7,000 feet was filed with the Railroad Commission Saturday. The operation has been working under a permit to go to 6,500 feet.

Lion Oil & Refining Company No. 1 University, outpost to production in the Maschio field has a hole full of oil after a treatment with 2,500 gallons of acid in saturated section at 4,468-4,600 feet.

Continental Oil Company No. 1-A Jones, Northwest Gaines County Ordovician test continues in dolomite and has passed by 7,756 feet.

Making Hole In A Hurry
Humble No. 1 Cox, wildcat in West Gaines is boring ahead in lime below 6,334 feet after having made 150 feet of new hole during the latest 24 hours.

Magnolia Petroleum Company and Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-459 Havemyer & Jenny, Northwest Gaines operation which might develop into a producer from the Clear Fork is cleaning out below 7,571 feet after a 235 quart shot.

Shell No. 2 Cox, on the south side of the Wasson field in Gaines, is boring below 2,517 feet.

The Texas Company No. 1 Parmer County fee, Southeast Gaines wildcat, has progressed below 2,930 feet in salt and anhydrite and continues.

Yoakum Wildcat Going
Hugh W. Stoddard No. 1 Kendrick, 8,000-foot exploration in Southeast Yoakum County, is reported to have drilled below 6,300 feet in lime.

Woodyard Petroleum Company No. 1 Harless, East Hockley County exploration, continues to make fast time and has gone below 4,390 feet.

Don McDonald No. 1 Ratliff, outpost to production on the north side of the Slaughter field in West Hockley County, has set 5 1/2-inch casing at 4,867 feet with 150 sacks of cement and is due to start drilling again shortly.

Going Down In Dawson
Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1 Dean, Northeast Dawson County project, has made hole below 8,497 feet and is still drilling.

Seaboard Oil Company No. 1 Spraberry, Southeast Dawson development, is going ahead around 1,900 feet in salt.

Magnolia No. 1 Winter, outpost to the Vincent field discovery in Northeast Howard County, is drilling past 3,970 feet in lime.

Phillips No. 1 Sterling, wildcat in West Sterling County, has bored below 5,860 feet.

Amerada Has Another Almost

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Hickman, Barnhart Ordovician effort has set 5 1/2-inch casing at 9,039 feet with 600 bags of cement and is waiting to drill plug and advance.

Amerada No. 1 Johnson has treated section above 9,124 feet with 2,500 gallons of acid and is cleaning out to allow injecting another 2,500-gallon shot before testing.

National Refining Company No. 1 Merchant, recently spudded Reagan wildcat, has mudded 12 1/2-inch casing at 233 feet and is preparing to start punching again with the cable tool.

Culbertson & Irwin, Inc., and Union Oil Company of California No. 1-A Heiner, Pecos County development, has progressed below 1,945 feet and is drilling away.

Magnolia No. 1 Robertson-State is drilling below 3,752 feet in lime.

Magnolia and Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 2-96 State-Powell is boring below 3,520 feet in lime.

Mid-Continent No. 1 Shearer is below 3,702 feet in lime and going ahead.

Shell No. 3 Sealy-Smith, Northeast Ward County deep effort is still in chert and lime after drilling passed 3,753 feet.

Gulf No. 1-B Edwards, another wildcat in Ward, has progressed beyond 4,193 feet.

Going On Down In Winkler

Magnolia No. 21 State-Walton, Ellinger operation in Winkler County, is drilling below 7,972 feet in shale and lime.

Magnolia No. 234 Walton is making hole around 6,102 feet in brown lime.

Sinclair Prairie Oil Company No. 1 Seth Campbell, Central Winkler Ordovician wildcat, is drilling around 5,181 feet.

Sinclair Prairie No. 4-A Walton is below 3,350 feet and continues to make new hole.

Stanotex Starts Two Delaware Zone Wildcats In Southwest Eddy Section

HOBBS, N. M. —Standard Oil Company of Texas has started development work on two wildcat tests in Southwest Eddy County, New Mexico.

Both new operations will be drilled to the Delaware sand between 2,400 feet and 2,800 feet. Locations were announced during the past week.

Standard of Texas No. 1 H. E. Wilson, 680 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the east lines of section 3-22s-25east will drill to 2,800 feet.

18 Miles From Production

Nearest proven production to the No. 1 Wilson is approximately 15 miles southwest in the Fenton area in which Schuster & Messenger No. 1 Page was recently completed as pumping 20 barrels during a 12-hour test. The No. 1 Page oil was 44-degree gravity.

This exploration is on the Four-Section Dome, about 10 miles due west of Carlsbad. Drilling has started.

Southwest Carlsbad 13 Miles

Standard of Texas No. 1 Smith, 990 feet from the north and 1,650 feet from the west side of section 23-22s-24east is on the Goat Cove Dome and approximately 15 miles southwest of Carlsbad.

Scheduled drilling goal on No. 1 Smith is 2,400 feet. It is 23 miles southwest of the Schuster & Messenger No. 1 Page, the nearest commercial production. Standard tools are being rigged up and the test will be spudded shortly.

In Lake McMillan Area

Heacock & Owen No. 1 Crosley 680 feet from the south and west lines of section 33-19s-25east is a new wildcat project two miles east of the Lake McMillan area.

THE TOOLPUSHER

By James C. Watson

FITZGERALD LEAVES SKELLY TO HANG UP OWN SHINGLE —James Fitzgerald Jr., associated with Skelly Oil Company for the last 17 years—ten of which have been in Midland, has left that concern and is setting out as an independent operator.

He will establish an office in Midland shortly and specialize in the development of wildcat projects. He thinks the next 20 to 25 years will see the most active and interesting program of oil development this territory has yet experienced.

During the last six years he was district land and lease manager for Skelly's West Texas-New Mexico operations. For four years previously he served as district geologist.

His experience includes seven years with Skelly in Kansas and Oklahoma before coming to Midland, and his first work with the petroleum industry after finishing The University of Oklahoma was in the geological department of Empire Gas and Fuel Company in Kansas.

—Fitzgerald is a member of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists and a past president of both the West Texas Geological Society and of the Midland Geological Society.

His successor as district land and lease manager for Skelly for this area has not been officially announced by the headquarters office of the company in Tulsa.

GIBSON QUILTS MAGNOLIA TO TAKE NEW CONNECTION

—George R. Gibson, member of the Magnolia Petroleum Company Midland geological staff for the last two and one-half years, resigned that connection effective September 15 and is now associated with Cary P. Butcher, formerly chief geologist for Tidewater Associated Oil, who recently established an office to work as a consulting geologist.

—Prior to coming to Midland Gibson's experience included one year as a member of the faculty at Ohio State University at Columbus, and a two and one-half year tour doing geological work for Socony-Vacuum in Egypt.

—The Butcher-Gibson combination have some items of considerable magnitude in the "treating" stage at the moment. Definite announcements on at least some of those deals will be forthcoming shortly.

COLLIE FALK SHIFTS TO MAGNOLIA LAND OFFICE

—Collie Falk is the new assistant land officer of the Magnolia Petroleum Company district office, which connection he will work with M. D. Self, pioneer Magnolia department head in this area.

—Succeeding Falk as West Texas scout at Tidewater Associated Oil Company, a position he relinquished on Sept. 15 will be J. L. Fickrick, who is to come to Midland from Evansville, Ind.

—Edward S. Boase, who has been West Texas scout for Magnolia has been transferred by that company to a new job at Big Bend, Kansas, where he will be in the land department.

TOMLINSON CREDITS MUCH PROGRESS TO POWER SOURCES

—Approximately 70 people attended the opening program of the West Texas Geological Society 1943 season at the Midland Municipal Auditorium Friday evening and heard Dr. Charles W. Tomlinson, Ardmore, Okla., geologist in an address on "Natural Resources and Post War Planning."

—Much of the credit for the industrial progress the United States has made was attributed by Tomlinson to the plentiful supply of fuel with which to generate power that has been developed in this country.

—He pointed out that England became an important manufacturing country on account of the large quantities of coal available in the British Isles and he insisted that the coal and petroleum in this country have been major contributors to the prosperity of the people.

—Tomlinson asserted that after the war is won the democratic nations will have to "enforce" peace with power. He suggested that the only way such a program could succeed would be through the joint action of the United States and the British Empire, with the cooperation of Russia, if such cooperation could be obtained under the right sort of an arrangement.

BIG SPRING OPERATOR HELPED START A BIG COWBOY SHOW

—Roy F. Townsend, Big Spring, independent was developing some deals during a visit in Midland the past week. Not many people know it, but Townsend was one of the organizers of the Texas Cowboy Reunion, annual July 4 Western extravaganza held at Stamford.

—He was in the automobile business in the Jones County metropolis in 1930 and was serving as president of the Chamber of Commerce in that community when the suggestion was presented for a cowboy show and pioneer cattleman's reunion to be established and conducted as a yearly presentation.

—Townsend helped mightily to sell the idea to the Stamford people—some of whom were rather skeptical, and now the show is recognized as the biggest thing of the kind in the world.

—Troy Stalls, Stanolind Oil Purchasing Company representative who recently moved to Midland from Wichita Falls turned in an extremely capable job as referee for the Midland-Brownfield football game Friday evening. Stalls played a lot of football at the Tulsa University. His efforts there ended in 1936. He acts and looks like a very good citizen.

—Work is progressing on the new Magnolia loop on the pipe line from Midland to Andrews. Over 60,000 feet of pipe has been strung; 35,000 feet of it has been connected and 10,000 feet has been ditched. The entire Midland-Andrews loop will require approximately 284,000 feet of pipe.

—Another Midland oil man, James R. Maedgen, Skelly scout for West Texas, went over to Big Spring and served as umpire and field judge at the Big Spring-Colorado City game Friday evening. He took his football and book learning on petroleum at the University of Texas, finishing down there in 1937. He made quite a name for himself as a Longhorn.

WARREN TO SPEAK OCT. 5 AT CONTRACTOR'S MEETING

—J. E. Warren, Midland, West Texas partner in Carl B. King Drilling Company is announced as one of the featured speakers for the third annual meeting of the American Association of Oil Well Drilling Contractors, to be held in Houston, Oct. 5 and 6.

—Subject of the paper to be presented by the Midland well-driller is "Need for Continuity of Operations." Warren has many sound and practical ideas on the subject and likely his presentation will furnish helpful suggestions to many operators and contractors.

—Warren is convinced that there are many things which can best be handled by members of the drilling and producing end of the oil business through cooperative action and he is strong for the work of the AAOOWDC.

—George E. Farley, San Antonio, and a former resident of this city was around for several days during the week. George has property in the West Texas oil areas and is here frequently.

Stanolind Pipe Line Construction Work Is Due To Start By Oct. 1

Arrangements are practically completed for starting actual work of laying the new Stanolind 16-inch pipe line from Surdown in the Hockley County section of the Slaughter field to Drumright, Okla. by not later than Oct. 1, according to information from authoritative sources.

Plans of the Stanolind Oil Purchasing Company are being pointed at having the 352-mile carrier completed and ready to start moving oil during January, 1944.

Eight 80,000 Barrel Tanks

Under authority granted by United States government bureaus which have jurisdiction over pipe line matters, eight 80,000-barrel steel tanks are being dismantled at various pipe line terminals in the United States preparatory to erecting them at the new Stanolind pump station two miles south of Surdown in Hockley County and near the center of the Slaughter producing area.

Authority was granted to move 16 of the 80,000-barrel tanks to the Surdown station, but only half that number are scheduled for immediate erection there.

Will Have Two Pumps

Along with the construction of the line which will follow almost an air-line from its start to the terminus, Stanolind will erect two pump stations to push the crude alone. One of the boosters will be at the Surdown station. Location for the second pump has not been announced.

The two pump stations will make possible transporting 65,000 barrels of petroleum each 24-hour period. The capacity of the tube could be increased to 116,000 barrels per day if three more pump stations were put into service.

Approximately 400,000 barrels of oil will be required to fill the line initially. That amount of crude will stay in the pipe at all times. Power for the pump stations will be provided by electricity, Stanolind representatives reveal.

At Drumright the oil from the West Texas district will be delivered by Stanolind to carriers going directly to Mid-western refining centers which are now short on oil of "count of the decline in production in those immediate areas.
