SEIZE 23 HOSTAGES

Raid Chapel

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP) — Four armed prisoners, including a Palestinian hijacker, raided the chapel of nearby Scheveningen penitentiary during Mass on Saturday night and took members of the volunteer choir hostage, the Justice Ministry said.

A spokesman said 23 of the hostages were neighborhood men, women and children who sang regularly at prison services. A Roman Catholic priest and two prison guards were also held.

ROADBLOCKS

He said nine prisoners attending the service were allowed to leave the chapel and return quietly to their cells.

Police brought in reinforcements and threw up roadblocks as about 500 spectators gathered outside the prison gates.

There were no immediate reports of injuries, a police spokesman said.

Police outside the building talked with the hostages by two-way radio. The two guards being held hostage carried walkie-talkies as part of their standard equipment.

The convicted hijacker, Adnan Ahmed Nuri, and the other armed inmates demanded they be put in touch with the consul or ambassador of an Arab country, and that Nuri's fellow hijacker, Sami Houssin Tamimah, also a Palestinian, be allowed to join them in the chapel.

GUNS MYSTERY

Police said Tamimah has been confined to the hospital ward at the prison as the result of a hunger strike he staged last week.

Police said Tamimah was not recovering from surgery, as they first reported.

Nuri and Tamimah, both in their early 20s, hijacked a British Airways VC10 March 3 on a flight from Bombay to London. They freed the hostages at Amsterdam's Schiphol Airport, destroyed the plane by explosives, then surrendered peacefully.

They were sentenced last June to five-year prison terms.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY AVERTED

Family Fights Flash Flood Fears, Wins

What was dangerously near a triple tragedy turned instead Friday 5:30 p.m. in to a thrilling story of family teamwork.

First Skipper Butts, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Butts, was swept downstream in a normally trickling or dry creek that crosses the 200-acre Butts place on Derrick road east of town. Fed by what must have been a localized, sudden cloudburst, the antry stream had washed the family pet, a dog, away.

Mrs. Butts, hearing Skipper's cries, went after him and was caught in the current. The Butts, who had arrived at home just as the flash flood hit, went in after Pat (Mrs. Butts) and the two of them were swept their feet.

Miracously, they grabbed an overhanging limb after being washed only a short distance, and clutched it almost helplessly as the raging current tore at them.

Their oldest daughter, Tracy, 15, seeing their plight, ran to get a horse and rope. But she first told her younger sister to get help.

While Tammy sounded the alarm, first calling a neighbor, Air Force Capt. Terry Herndon, Tracy raced back to toss the rope to her mother.

Pat Butts had succeeded in getting the rope around her about the time that Herndon rushed up.

"Tammy had called," he related, "and said her Mother and Dad were drowning. She pointed in that direction, and there's where I went."

The family pet, a dog, was drowned by the torrent. In the vicinity was a dead cow, but it was not ascertained if this was the result of the flash flood.

"HAPPY MIRACLE"

Members of the family were all swimmers, but they were almost powerless in the face of the water, Butts recalled.

How Skipper got out, he could not imagine.

That they all managed to escape with only the loss of the pet was a "happy miracle," as he put it. By the time other neighbors, officers and ambulances arrived, the Butts family was safe but shaken. Skipper and his father were bruised, particularly Mrs. Butts was brused and battered.

Proud of his clan, Butts beamed: "They came through when it really counted."

County Judge Contest Poses Many Questions

By JOHN EDWARDS

A Republican nominee with a long list of contributors, the Watergate scandal and an incumbent Democrat county judge running as a write-in candidate make the county judge race a big question mark.

Bill Tune defeated County Judge A. G. Mitchell in the Democratic Primary 2,580 to 2,244, and Mitchell announced his intention to run as a write-in.

In the Republican Primary, Jerry Worthy took the nomination 434 votes to 84 for Glenn Stallings.

Asked if he thought Mitchell's campaign would help him, Worthy said: "Again, I believe I leave that to the professional politicians to speculate on."

VICTORY OR?

Mitchell was questioned how his candidacy would affect the election if he was unable to gain a plurality.

"I don't think it will have any effect whatsoever due to the fact we've still got a Democratic county, and they'll vote Democratic on a local race."

If Worthy is elected county judge, he will be the first Republican to hold that position here, a long-time local political observer said.

Mitchell's candidacy "would have no reason to split" the Democratic vote, Mitchell said.

In reply to the same question, Tune said: I don't know whether he will (split Democrats) or not."

"I think he'll definitely encourage more people to go out and vote," Tune said.

MORE, BETTER

"The more voters we can get out; the better results we'll have," Tune said.

Tune and Worthy predicted "medium" numbers of voters at the polls Nov. 5.

"I personally think it's going to be a real, real heavy turnout," Mitchell said,". . .due to the fact they're just not happy with some of the candidates that are on the ticket."

Tune said he has been "well accepted as the Democratic nominee."

Would a heavy turnout hurt a write-in candidate?

"I think it's going to help due to the fact so many told me that they did not go vote in the primary, because they thought I had it made, but did state they'd go write my name in Nov. 5," Mitchell said.

"When it comes to a showdown, the friends I've made in 31 years in Howard County are going to stay with me," he added.

Tune said his campaign strategy was to urge persons to go to the polls "and if they don't have a preference to vote for me."

Mitchell said 11,000 didn't vote in the first primaries.

This time, Mitchell said: "I think it'll take 3,600 votes to win."

SCANDAL NO FACTOR

Of voter reaction to Watergate, Mitchell said: "On our local elections, I don't think it will have anything to do with it."

The candidates themselves are too well known and Watergate "too remote" an issue to influence voters, Mitchell said.

Tune said: "I would have no earthly way of telling whether it would have any effect on local politics."

"I find the people are a little reluctant to accept the Watergate propaganda and everything. . ." Tune added.

With one check mark, citizens may vote a straight-party ticket. The ease with which this may be done and the time it takes to write-in may be crucial.

DOLLAR DRAWER

According to the last campaign finance reports, Worthy was both spending more and getting much more than either of his opponents.

A list which read like a local social register gave

with Joe Pickle

How can a year that is 12 per cent above normal in rainfall be failure agriculturally? We've seen the reverse many times in West Texas. More rain last week brought our total to 18.26 to this point. This is 12 per cent above the average. Our October rainfall amounted to 5.13, which with 6.12 in September brings to 11.25 the amnout measured at the U.S. Experiment Farm within the past month. That happens to be 69 per cent of the year's rainfall, which explains, since it came too late in the season, this pardox of soaked soil and poor crops exists.

But last week's unexpected two to three inches of moisture isn't in vain. It only adds frosting to cake of having a great underground moisture reserve which will guarantee a sound foundation for a better year in 1975. Small grain fields are growing as if by magic; grass is making progress but slowly because of cool to cold nights. While that super-shower, except for isolated areas, has not come to create runoff, most stock thanks now have ample reserve to carry through next spring.

ABSENTEE VOTING

As in-office absentee voting enters its final week, the county clerk's office reported 149 ballots cast in the general election.

After the door closed Friday, Mrs. Margaret Ray, chief deputy county clerk, said 125 had voted in the office and 24 returned ballots by mail. Yet to be returned are 61 mailed ballots.

Friday this week is the last day for absentee voting in the office. Mailed ballots will be counted if received before 1 p.m. Nov. 5, the day of the election.

CLOUDY

Forecasters expect considerable cloudiness today through Monday with a slight chance of showers tonight. The high today is expected to be in the mid 70's, the low tonight in the mid 50's and the highMonday in the mid 70's. There is a 20 per cent chance of showers tonight.

U.S.-Red Exchange Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russians and Americans reported progress Saturday under a scientific and technology exchange agreement.

In a news conference, the U.S. chairman of the Joint Commission on Scientific and Technical Cooperation, Dr. H. Guyford Stever, hailed the program's work as "an important building block in the detente between the two countries."

His counterpart, Soviet academician V.A. Kirillin, said, "I have no doubt our work will proceed successfully."

The exchange agreement, reached 2½ yeas ago, calls for work in 37 areas from solid state theory to forestry.

Nearly 500 scientists from both countries have been in exchange programs for planning conferences and actual research, which is just beginning on some of the projects.

Congressional conservatives have criticized the agreement as a giveaway of valuable American technological advances in aerospace and computers, as examples.

Stever told reporters that the programs will benefit both countries and that view is also shared by President Ford, who met with the Soviets Friday.

Wall Fees

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany announced Saturday it will reduce fees charged visitors from the West in an apparent bid to win a loan of $300 million from West Germany.

The official news agency ADN said that effective Nov. 15 visitors from outside the Communist bloc will have to pay the equivalent of $5.50 for a visit to East Germany and about $3 per day to East Berlin.

Exactly a year ago, the East Germans had raised these fees to $8 and $4, just twice what they had been before.

The West Germans accused the East Germans of reneging on terms of an agreement covering visits for the West Germans beyond the wall and withheld approval of a $300 million, interest-free loan for next year pending reduction of the fees.

UW Campaign Leader Remains Confident

Collections and pledges for the 1974-75 Howard County United Way campaign now total $88,379.84.

Three of the ten divisions have exceeded objectives and several others are close. The drive for $121,777 to sustain the various agencies supported wholely or in part by the United Way is supposed to wind up by Nov. 1.

Collections and pledges amount to 72.5 per cent of the amount originally sought.

"We're going to make it, I feel sure," campaign chairman W. S. (Dub) Pearson said Saturday, "we have some large collections that have not yet been reported and I am confident we will go well past the $100,000 during the coming week."

By divisions, the collections to date include:

Out-of-Town, $4,462.50; Big Gifts, $29,714.10; Special Gifts, $3,203; Employes, $15,614.42; CFC, $24,499.85; Schools and City, $5,015.03; Metropolitian, $1,501; County and State, $853.94; Area, $895; and Women, $2,621.

The three divisions which have surpassed their goals are Special Gifts, headed by Clayton Hicks; CFC, directed by Maj. John Grathwol; and Metropolitian, led by A. J. Statser.

Five Bomb Explosions Directed At Big Banks

NEW YORK (AP) — Five bombs went off at or near banks in Manhattan early Saturday in what a Puerto Rican nationalist group called an offensive against "yanki monopoly capitalism."

No one was killed or injured by the blasts, four of which were in and around Rockefeller Center and the other in the Wall Street area.

A handful of guards and custodians at the site emerged somewhat dazed and shaken after the series of blasts, which began at 2:56 a.m. and ended at 3:30 a.m.

"We have just bombed imperialist banks," a woman caller told The Associated Press minutes later. "Free all Puerto Rican political prisoners!"

Acting Chief of Detectives James T. Sullivan said he believed the five bombings were the work of one group because of the rapid sequence of detonations.

PUZZLE

He said he was puzzled only by the inclusion of the glasswalled Lever House at 53rd and Park Avenue. The building has no bank offices, though a First National City branch is across the street.

The other bombed midtown sites were the Banco de Ponce at 49th Street off Rockefeller Plaza, the Chemical Bank branch in the Exxon building at 49th Street and Sixth Avenue and the Union Carbide Building at 48th Street and Park Avenue, where Manufacturers Hanover Trust has a branch.

The biggest of the blasts, Sullivan said, was the one in Wall Street, which destroyed the car of Mary Rothbell, of Massapequa, N.Y., a night worker.

Sullivan said the device used in that explosion was the equivalent of 40 sticks of dynamite or 20 pounds of plastic explosive.

The explosion shattered windows of the Marine Midland office up to the 11th story and windows of four other banks within 300 feet.

The broken glass zone took in the Chase Manhattan headquarters, the Chemical Exchange Bank, the Federal Reserve Bank and the Barclay Bank.

The timing of the blasts, in the early morning hours, indicated "that the people responsible has some consideration for human life," Sullivan said.

A letter left in a telephone booth to which the caller directed The Associated Press was titled "Communique No. 1" of the Armed Forces of Puerto Rican National Liberation.

It used the acronym FALN, for Fuerzas Armadas de Liberacion Nacional Puertorriquena.

NO KNOWN LINKS

Sullivan said at an afternoon news conference that the name FALN was new to the department.

"There is unfamiliarity with the organization by us, but not necessarily with the people in it," Sullivan said. "We have some idea that the people have been involved with (other) Puerto Rican nationalist organizations."

Visitors To Tour The Herald Plant

Open house will be observed at The Herald from 2 until 5 p.m., today, at which time visitors will be given a tour of the newly remodeled plant.

Roses will be pinned on the ladies. Rather than guided tours, personnel will be standing by in each department to explain the functions of that particular segment of the operation.

For the past ten weeks, The Herald has been converting to a photographic or off-set type of operation. Striking changes have also occurred throughout the building and new offices provided for the administration.

Co-incidentally, The Herald is observing its 70th birthday, an event which focuses attention on the fact that it is one of Big Spring's oldest business instutitions.

Showpiece of the paper is the new 28-unit Goss Community offset press, a relatively quiet piece of machinery which papers at a rate one-third faster than the former press.

Souvenir papers will be run off for visitors at half-hour intervals, starting at 2 p.m.

Those who call during the day will be served refreshments at the end of their tour.

Section D of today's edition of The Herald is devoted to the change-over to the "cold type" operation.

FIRST HERALD PLANT — This frame building was the first Herald plant as A.C. (Coonie) Hayden, Tom Jordan, Will Hayden, and Ted Cornell posed for this shot. Note that the name of Big Spring was at that time "Big Springs".

From Inception, Herald Beamed In On Local News

Thomas Edwin Jordan was born July 1, 1868 in Clinton, Ky., came to Texas as a young man, tried merchandising and then discovered that his career lay in printing. He worked at his trade in Weatherford, where he was married, then in Dallas, and founded and successfully operated the Stephenville Tribune. When he sold this, he began in September 1904 to prospect for a new location.

He looked over San Angelo, Lubbock and Big Spring, but Big Spring had the railroad. That, plus some familiarity with the town because his wife's parents lived here, he decided on Big Spring. With his brother in law, Will R. Hayden, they founded the Big Spring Herald.

For $250, they acquired a frame building on East Second, between Runnels and Johnson. They bought the equipment of a weekly which had given up the ghost after a year, and with a "shirttail full of type" and a decrepit press, they began opposition to the well established and popular Enterprise. Half a dozen years later, they had the field to themselves.

NEW HOME

Within a short time, the Herald moved to a basement of the Ward Drug store (now the McCrory location), acquired a Babcock press and published until around 1909 when it was moved into the Hayden (Henry R.) building.

Around 1917, the Herald took a bold and decisive step. It acquired a Linotype machine which speeded up the composition of type considerably, even faster than Tom Jordan, who was one of the fastest 10-point compositors in the state. He won numerous awards at type rodeos, clicking letters from the type case into the stick (holder). Will Hayden did most of the writing.

In 1925, Mr. Jordan bought out Will Hayden's interest in the business, and Hayden moved briefly to California but soon returned to open an appliance and tire business, which he gave up to establish the Big Spring Weekly News.

GOES DAILY

In the meantime, Big Spring was caught up on the throes of an oil boom, and suddenly the city was the largest between Abilene and El Paso. The time had come, Tom Jordan decided, to "go daily." He replaced the old Babcock press with a Duplex B, a flatbed which printed off a web (a continuous sheet of paper). But this was too much for his strength and his staff, so on March 15, 1929 he sold to Hanks-Harte (now Harte-Hanks), the second paper the two partners acquired jointly.

In 1930, the company brought up from Corpus Christ a Goss-Acme press, which at one time had been used in magazine work. The seven-column rotary wonder was converted to an eight-column press. When in 1933 the Herald was moved to the Jordan building on East Third, across the alley east from the Settles, the press was dismantled, moved — and reassembled over the space of one weekend — and with all other machinery, was made operative by the following Monday afternoon.

NINTH AND MAIN

In December 1940, the Herald was set up in a new location, this one at Ninth and Main (where Knight's Pharmacy is located) and installed a new 16 page Duplex tubular press. Although a crude engraving plant had been installed briefly in the mid-30's at the East Third location, it was at 10th and Main that the first photographic and electronic equipment was added.

When the paper had gone daily, Mr. Jordan subscribed to the Associated Press "Pony," which later was expanded with the help of Marvin K. House, who had been a railroad telegrapher. During the Depression, the Herald returned to the "pony" (terse wires via Western Union) but in the mid 30's brought in the AP teletype. The AP Photofax was added in 1963.

PRESENT PLANT

The Herald got its first new building exclusively designed for newspaper production in 1956. Located at Eighth and Scurry, it had acquired a 32-page Hoe Simplex from a Toronto, Canada paper. Gradually more Linotypes, Intertypes, Ludlows (various typesetting machines) were added until the Herald had the capability of printing one and a half times its press capacity as a regular edition.

In August 1974, this was all changed with the most far-reaching production step in the Herald's history. A new Goss Community 28-page (seven units) press was installed. The old press was ripped out after its final run in the early hours of Aug. 18. The die was cast. Although the paper was several hours late, it finally came off the new offset web press. In the interval since, the Herald has been working the bugs out of the process, speeding operations and mastering technical skills. With its computers and electronic cold type machines which are far speedier than previous machines, it now is geared to turn out a quality project for the remainder of its first century.

HERALD PROMOTION — Less than a year after the Herald was founded, Mrs. T. E. Jordan made this dress entirely of Herald newspapers to advertise a "Field Day Basket Picnic" slated for July 4, 1905. Miss Dolly Merritte, who was then Miss Big Spring, modeled the dress.

Five Papers Before Herald

The Herald was by no means the first newspaper in Big Spring, but it is the only one that stuck.

In fact, there were five papers before the Herald came on the scene, and oddly enough, one of them was a daily.

Likely the first paper was the "Pantagraph" which appeared first Feb. 19, 1883, within a year of the county's organization and less than two years from the time the first train had pulled into town. Its publishers were T. G. Andrews and H. M. Hudson.

The Pantagraph's owners proudly boasted they were the first to bring in a "G. Washington Press" to this part of West Texas. By yanking down on a lever, pressure was applied to paper on top of the inked form of type. Released, the pressure plate sprang up, leaving the paper to be removed. It was a whiz for tiny weekly papers.

Reflecting the venturesome spirit of the day, E. W. Pool and Wade Long joined hands to issue the Daily Venture, a small four-page hand-set paper that appeared first Aug. 25, 1899. It seemed to have faded the following year. Long before that time, R. W. (Pantagraph) Walker had acquired the paper that gave him his nickname.

In the meantime, the Big Springs Enterprise (all the early mastheads had that extra "s") had been established in 1898 and continued as a vigorous publication until 1911.

Apparently the Pantagraph was phased out soon after the turn of the century, and the Big Spring News (not to be confused with a later paper by that name) moved into the partial market vacuum in 1903. It had three publishers, the Rev. C. W. Irvin, R. B. Davis and Clyde Henry.

It was into the field dominated by the Enterprise that Thomas E. Jordan and Will R. Hayden, brothers-in-law, founded the Big Springs Herald and issued the first edition Oct. 7, 1904. This partnership endured for 21 years until Mr. Jordan bought out Mr. Hayden's interest. With the aid of three of his 10 children, Albert Jordan, Jena Jordan Barker and Tommy Jordan Jr., and a brother-in-law of A. C. Cooney Hayden, he continued avigerous operation and elected to become a daily publication June 3, 1928. On March 15, 1929, he sold to the present owners Hanks-Harte (now Harte-Hanks.)

In the boom days of the late 1920s, an opposition daily appeared momentarily. It was called the Big Spring Sun.

Milk, Meat Producers To Ask Immediate Action

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Beef and cattle producers will ask President Ford for immediate action on their sevenpoint program when industry representatives gather at the White House next Wednesday.

"We started out on this thing three or four weeks ago and we feel we've made an all-out effort," James Traweek, president of the Cross Timbers Beef and Dairy Producers Association in Central Texas, says.

"We've done a lot of research on our plan and we hope to present it to the President. If we can get immediate action taken, it will be a large step toward correcting our situation."

The cattlemen claim they are caught in a price-squeeze between the high cost of feed and the low price of beef.

Traweek said the program included a "feasible" feed grain export policy, improved milk prices, cuts in meat imports, enforcement of sanitary standards on imports, and revised emergency loan programs.

Traweek said he had received a call Friday asking him to attend the meeting between President Ford and livestock feeders and ranchers.

U.S. Rep. Bob Price, R-Tex., of Pampa announced the meeting Thursday in Amarillo. He said Ford had told him to draw up a list of about one dozen cattlemen from several states to meet with the President and provide first-hand information on their problems.

Traweek said his name was added after Price drew his list. He said he believed Phil Campbell, undersecretary of the U.S. Agriculture Department had suggested his name.

Campbell, and U.S. Rep. W.R. Poage, D-Tex. met with 2,000 cattlemen and dairymen in Stephenville Wednesday to discuss the industry's plight.

"Price picked people who were not involved in our demonstration," Traweek said. "He picked industry leaders who have not faced up to the fact that our industry is going broke.

"This is the reason people down on the farm are actually living off the farm. The farmers themselves had to act because the industry representatives wouldn't."

Traweek said the attention his group had received over a threatened protest slaughter of calves had dramatized their situation.

Prior to the demonstration there was little government concern with their problems, he said.

"Most of them (government officials) have been afraid to stick their noses or their necks out because they're up for re-election Traweek said. "They would rather have the consumer for them than the farmers."

He said he believed there would be concrete action taken after the White House meeting and Texas officials would be more than happy to work with the federal government.

Process Of Producing Newspaper 'Changed'

Not only has the Herald completely changed its process of producing and printing a newspaper, but it has "completely" changed its interior appearance.

Extensive remodeling has resulted in an attractive look that is translated also into a quieter, roomier operation.

The interior walls of all but the press and circulation rooms have been refinished in ranch birch wood paneling, replacing the painted concrete block masonry. New floor covering has been installed throughout the front offices and the production room, and the east tier of administrative offices have been carpeted and draped.

Interior counters and proof desks have been removed to provide a sweeping view of the entire front section. The wire room has been moved form the front to a separate room off the editorial department, and the "punchers" (operators to convert copy into perforated tape) have been moved to the back section in the production department. New light fixtures have been installed in both the front and production areas. The phone system has been expanded. New office equipment has been added.

In the production area, where a considerable array of heavy machinery has been replaced by half a dozen pieces of light electronic equipment with vastly greater capacity than the old machine, a snack bar or employe lounge has been set up as has a storage room. The room formerly used for engraving machines is now a small photo studio. Another new room houses the big camera.

The remainder of the production area is given over to offices for the production manager, for make up, and for printing plate processing.

The new Goss Community 28-page press, with four-color capability, was erected in the former paper storage area, and where the old ponderous press was ripped out is now storage area, as is much of the section formerly required by the old stereotyping department. Part of this, however, is now used for an enlarged circulation area.

A portion of the former [illegible] has been converted into an office for the circulation manager, and the same is true for the business office which now has a private office for the business manager. All the changes have resulted in a revamping and addition to the air conditioning equipment. The only exterior change, other than a repainting of all the trim, was to raise the roof over the press to accomodate a balloon former, the unit which collects paper from the units and folds them. Restroom areas have been refurbished.

$4 Million Burglary Rap Hits Guard

CHICAGO (AP) — A security guard has been charged in the burglary of more than $4 million from a Chicago vault last weekend. Authorities put 300 federal and local officers to work hunting him down.

The FBI charged Ralph Marrera, 31, of Berwyn, Friday with bank larceny, bank burglary and use of explosive devices in the theft from the Armored Express Corp., an armored car firm. It was the largest cash haul by thieves in U.S. history.

The amount of cash taken was revised upward late Friday from $3.9 million to more than $4 million by Richard G. Held, special agent in charge of the Chicago FBI office.

Authorities said Marrera was the only guard on duty Sunday when thieves carted off the 800 pounds of cash in small, hard-to-trace bills.

Furr's Net

Furr's Cafeteria, Inc. had increases in sales and earnings for the nine month reporting period ended Sept. 28., Don Furr, president has reported.

During the nine month reporting period, Furr's had net earnings of $1,720,405 per cent increase over the similar period of 1973. Per share earnings were 75 cents this year to date versus 57 cents in the same period of 1973. Sales increased to $33,432,718 in the first nine months of 1974, up from $28,477,668 in the similar period of 1973, an increase of 17 per cent.

We shall always remember with deep gratude your comforting expressions of sympathy.

First of all Imaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church for accepting our son's funeral services at their church — since there's where he attended classes. Thanks to Father Moeller and all the sisters for the wonderful service planned by all his classmates and teachers.

We would like to thank all our friends for the flowers and food — most of all their Love and Comfort, during our grief and sorrow due to the loss of our son, Joe Mata Jr., Oct. 5th.

We're especially grateful to Dr's, Murses and employes at Cowper Clinic and Hospital for their care, love, and comfort.

Contributions made in memory of our son to Texas Dept. of Mental Health and Mental Retardation by Dr's Nell and Virgil Sanders, also to Martin County Library by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Harold, and to the Boy's Rancy by Mr. and Mrs. Santos Lujan, deeply appreciated.

A MESSAGE FROM CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER

PAUL SHAFFER

Next month, if you exercise your valuable privilege to vote, you will make a choice for County Commissioner, Precinct 2. Your choice will be determined by which candidate you feel can best serve as your representative on the Commissioner's Court. I sincerely hope the following information will help you to evaluate my qualifications:

- Age 44, born and raised in Big Spring and Howard County, son of T & P Ry. Conductor and Mrs. W. L. Shaffer.
- Married 22 years to the former Rosie Parks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parks of Big Spring.
- Oldest son, Pete, is a student at Texas A & M University, Bob attends Howard College.
- Graduated from Big Spring High School in 1948, from Texas A & M in 1953 with a BS Degree in Architectural Construction.
- Two years Air Force as Installations Engineer.
- Five years experience in Architectural and Engineering design with Benson-Thompson-Nash, Engineers & Architects of Big Spring. Major design project — Howard County Airport.
- Twelve years experience in General & Mechanical Contracting, most of which was as Vice President of Kasch Bros., Inc. of Big Spring. Personally responsible to Fred and Paul Kasch for over $20 million worth of construction projects all over the State, five of which exceed $2 million including the Webb AFB Hospital.
- Now self-employed as partner in Chaparral Park and Chaparral Contractors. Projects of Chaparral Contractors include a ten-unit T-Hangar for Howard County Airport, which should be completed by December. If elected, I would disqualify myself from bidding future County work.

County Government is intended to serve the whole County in furtherance of the desires and ambitions of its residents in a fair and impartial manner. It must work with, and not against, other governments and agencies within the County to effect the maximum benefits for the County. Its attitude must be positive and all employees, as well as elected officials, should work hard to justify their respective positions.

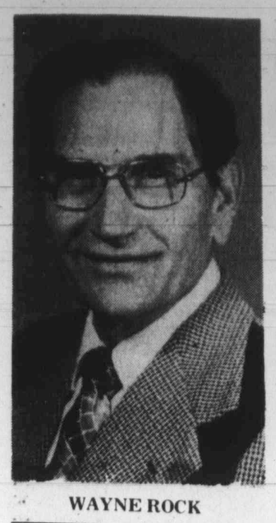

I am proud to be a resident of Howard County. It has been good to me and to my family and its where we'd rather live. I owe it to my County to offer my services to Her. You owe it to your County to vote your convictions. Please do not shirk that most valuable privilege and responsibility.

PLEASE VOTE NOVEMBER 5 FOR

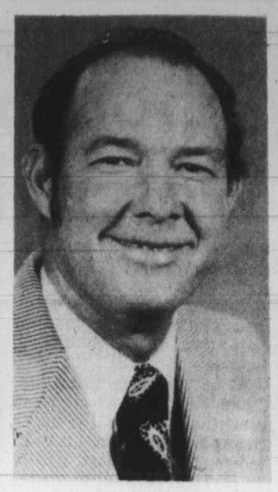

PAUL SHAFFER

COUNTY COMMISSIONER, PRECINCT 2

West Texas Historian, Wife Feted

NEW BRAUNFELS — West Texas historian Dr. William Curry Holden and his wife, Frances Mayhugh Holden, researcher, and museum official, have received the highest award given by the state in the field of preservation for 1974, the Ruth Lester Award for Meritorious Achievement in Historic Preservation.

The award was conferred by the Texas Historical Commission on Saturday at New Braunfels during the Commission's Annual Meeting.

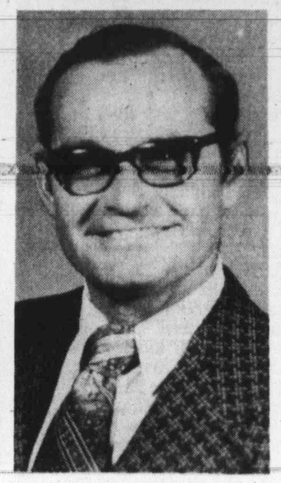

W.C. and Fran Holden, residents of Lubbock, have for many years been active in Texas history, archeology, anthropology, and museum operations. The Ruth Lester award recognized all their achievements, individually and jointly, but focuses on two particular areas: their work with the Ranch Headquarters museum at Lubbock and the Lubbock Lake archeological site.

The Holdens are largely responsible for implementing the idea of a group of buildings to tell the story of ranching in Texas. The Ranch Headquarters, located on the Texas Tech University campus in Lubbock, now contains 12 ranch buildings and plans call for a total of 23 buildings to be in place by the Bicentennial year of 1976.

The Holdens have also taken great interest in the development of the Lubbock Lake archeological site of the Folsom Culture.

Omar Burleson Day Is Slated Here Friday

The American Business Club will play host to the Chamber of Commerce, civic clubs, Industrial foundation, Century Club, Police Association and other interested agencies on Friday, Nov. 1, a date which Mayor Wade Choate has designated officially as "Omar Burleson Day."

Congressman Burleson will be visiting Big spring at the special invitation of the American Business Club. Festivities planned include the dedication speech by Mayor Wade Choate, an address by the congressman, luncheon, and music. About 250 guests are expected to attend this event which will be held in the ballroom of Hotel Settles. Everyone is welcome to the Dutch treat affair.

Members of the various city and area organizations will act as honor guard for Rep. Burleson, flanking his entry path into the hotel.

Handling arrangements are Wayne Rock, president; Earl Newell, Stewart Forest, and Bill Sneed, vice presidents; Morris Robertson, president of the Past President's Club.

At least one other service club is having its regular meeting on Friday with ABC to honor the congressman. Downtown Lions will delay their regular weekly conclave. At one time more than three decades ago, when Rep. Burleson was Lions district governor, the Big Spring club was in his territory.

Training For Cub Leaders

A two-hour training session has been set up for all Cub Masters, Den Leaders and Webelos Den Leaders and any other persons interested in Cub Scouting.

The training will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. on Monday at the First Baptist Church Activities Building. The Cub Training Leader will be Ruby Bruns.

This training is essential for new leaders and will be of great value as a refresher course for all old leaders, said Art Hyman, Scout Executive, who urged maximum attendance.

Dawson Bids To Be Opened

The Dawson County Commissioners will open bids for a sheriff's car and for repairs to the courthouse in their regular meeting Monday.

Also on the agenda for the meeting is a report from a committee on the Women's Building at the fair grounds and a report on information about microfilm.

Shortening Is Equally Good

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Common kitchen shortenings can be just as effective for skin care as cosmetic oils — and a lot less expensive, a University of Wisconsin dermatologist says.

Furthermore, water is better than oil for soothing itchy skin when oil is used to trap moisture against the skin immediately after bathing, Dr. Sture A. M. Johnson said Friday at a meeting of physicians and nurses discussing care for elderly persons.

Gala Evening Drawing Fine Initial Response

Initial response to invitations to take part in "Gala Evening," a social extravaganza, has been exceptional.

The first turns brought more than 100 responses, and acceptances continue to come in. While invitations were sent to many, it was emphasized that it is impossible to know whom to address them and that this is open to everyone. Those who may not have received a bid are asked to correct this oversight by calling 263-1062.

The tickets are $25 and will include entertainment by Bernie Howell and the Triolins during the cocktail hour and at the buffet. More importantly, net proceeds will go to help overcome a projected $17,000 operating deficit of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. Jack Davis, executive director, pointed out that this is probably a minimum deficit figure since that much revenue was counted upon from special events alone, and this is one such occasion in this direction. Reduced revenues in some instances and higher operating costs, may increase the amount of money needed. One expense (which may ultimately bring in more revenue) is the necessity of providing transportation to Lamesa and other outlying points where the center is obtaining physical therapy contracts.

The gala will be held at the Dora Roberts Community Center (former Cosden Club) the evening of Nov. 7. Highlights will include a showing of exotic skins by Jan Tauben, Dallas furrier, along with an extraordinary collection of diamonds. A 27-inch brown shadow mink shirt jac will be given away.

NEVER WENT HUNGRY--HAD A BLAST

Runaway Girl Thumbs Way To Sex, Dope

By JOHN EDWARDS

Candy, a cute 15-year-old built for a swimsuit, has met Shreveport streetwalkers, accountants, truck drivers, a bookie, a lesbian, thieves and dopers since she started hitchhiking long distances two months ago.

"I like hitchhiking," Candy said. "It's fun, and it's something to do."

"People take care of a person who hitchhikes, really," Candy, not her real name, said. "I never went hungry."

Candy, though, doesn't plan to continue thumbing, an occupation which has taken her around Texas to New Mexico and Louisiana. It wasn't always pleasant.

Although Candy has no permanent home, she is classified a runaway, a category in which the police juvenile division has counted 56 from March through September.

'A Mamas Baby'

Of the 56, twenty-five were girls.

These young adventurers are from 10 to 16 years of age, Police Lt. Jim McCain said. Those younger are termed missing children, and those older are called missing persons.

So far, the division has found all runaways reported, McCain said. Since the division's creation last spring, runaways have been found faster than when it was another of the detective division's responsibilities, he said.

This year through September, Ed Cherry, juvenile probation officer, has been referred 48 runaways, a number which may overlap statistics from police.

Cherry did not care to comment on the problem, saying a change in state law made the matter no longer his responsibility.

Youths frequently run away because of a "disagreement between them and either their parents or some other authority they have to deal with," McCain generalized.

"Most of the time this disagreement will be over their freedom or lack of it," the juvenile division chief said.

'Didn't Know Where To Go'

"They come from every type of family we have in town," McCain said.

District Judge Ralph Caton, who presides over juvenile courts in Howard, Martin and Glasscock Counties, believes most youths run mainly to adopt a "life style against the will of their parents."

Some runaways catch rides with friends, and others steal cars, McCain said. About half hitchhike.

"We had one particular young lady that was picked up about a year ago," McCain said.

The driver attempted to rape her, McCain said.

"Around close to Abilene is where she got dumped off," because she fought so hard, McCain related.

"Once they get out on the highway, they have no way of telling what's going to happen to them," McCain said.

★★★

Candy was driving my car through a desolute stretch of the Andrews Highway at night, as I took notes.

She remembered once waiting there in the dark, alone, for the first vehicle which offered hope or danger.

Candy said she usually doesn't have to wait long.

You look older than you are, I said.

"I know. That's been my luck, because I never would have gone the places I've gone and done the things I've done otherwise."

Before September, "I just thumbed around town and to nearby towns."

"I was a mama's baby, a scared to go anywhere," she confessed.

Candy said her mother has remarried and lives in Arizona.

Why don't you live with them?

'Still Patted Her Knee'

"I finally got tired of them picking at me and what friends I had and where I could go. See, my stepfather is 64."

"His daughter is a year and seven months younger than my mother," Candy said. "He's an old fashioned cowboy."

Her stepfather, a former welding shop owner, prospects for gold, copper and turquoise. Leases from land he owns provide additional income.

"See, he's still rich, and he doesn't need to work."

Her mother has metal plates in her head where she shot herself in the head while in a bar once, Candy said.

Candy's mother divorced her real father when Candy was three.

"He's in Huntsville," Candy said, "He's in the pen. This time, it's revocation of parole."

"He's been in the pen five times." Convictions were for passing worthless checks, armed robbery and driving while intoxicated.

"We went to his trial in San Antonio when I was in the fourth grade. They tried to plead him insane, but it didn't work out."

"Mama never lets me get close to him," Candy said.

"My oldest sister ran away when she was 12. Had her first baby when she was 13 and got married."

"My other sister, I guess she ran away when she was 12, too. She's been in several girls' schools. I think two or three."

Have you ever been in trouble?

Once, she said. "I took the blame for my oldest sister for breaking and entering," Candy said.

"Me and my sisters, we're real close," Candy said.

Candy was living with one sister here when she started hitchhiking long distances.

'So I Took A Knife'

She hit the road for Odessa, looking for the sister she had lived with. Candy couldn't find her, and Odessa Police couldn't find her.

"So I didn't know where to go," Candy said. "I thought I was still a runaway. I didn't have any money or anything."

This "chick" gave her a ride farther west and $10. Next, a businessman picked her up.

The man, who kept running his hand up her leg, asked why she was going to El Paso. Because they have a good VD clinic there, she told him.

Still, he kept patting her knee.

"He was fat and ugly, Jesus," Candy said. "He scared me, really. He let me out in El Paso."

"I forgot who picked me up to take me to Las Cruces, but it wasn't anything big."

Next, a "real cute dude" pulled over for her, bought her lunch and rented a motel room.

"He slept on the floor and let me sleep on the bed myself," Candy said. With $5 he gave her, Candy took a bus to Big Spring.

Next came Austin. "That's the most fun time I've ever had."

Her 18-year-old cousin, Karen, and she took the bus down four blocks from their motel, they got lost, and two dudes stopped.

"They took us driving around, and we went drinking at the Armadillo Headquarters."

Gerald, her pickup, called the next day. He thumbed over to their motel.

What was his occupation?

"At the moment, he stole cars and sold them," but mostly Gerald dealt in expensive motorcycles.

They stayed in Gerald's apartment four days, cleaned it and ironed his clothes. The girls wanted to go to San Antonio next, but they chose the wrong highway.

Two accountants took them to eat pizza, and later asked to stay with them in a motel.

Sex In A Truck

No. Candy said her aunt was expecting her.

"So those dumb butts paid for a fake telegram," Candy said. She doesn't have any aunt. So Candy sent it to a friend.

Around 3 a.m., the two girls were back on the highway.

Then, two men, 22 and 34-years-old, gave them a ride to Dallas.

They had to go to work. . . and they was all hung up on Karen," which freed Candy.

Less than 24 hours later, they left the men's plush apartment.

"So Karen ripped off those dudes some pants, shirts, a couple of belts and beer. We hot tailed it then. I was so scared the cops was going to pick us up."

Rides took them to "Nigger town," to the turnpike and to another route home, because they thought it was illegal to hitchhike on the turnpike.

A bookie fed them hamburgers and bought them cigarettes in Weatherford.

A pair of trucks were their next transportation. Candy rode in one, and Karen in the other.

"On the way, I was learning to drive and everything. Man, that truck had 13 different gears."

Then, in the middle of nowhere, her driver stopped to rest. Enticing her into the back with him, he told her either love him or get out. She stayed.

Baloney, Whores

An old-fashioned mail truck conveyed them farther. The driver said "he was going to lose his job if anybody found out about it, but he couldn't stand to see two pretty girls hitchhiking that early in the morning."

In Abilene, two truckers offered them a lift, but both rode with the same man.

"These guys had a CB radio and everything," including leather upholstery. Karen and Candy became tired and crawled into the sleeper.

They woke, and the truck had stopped. "And that man was so nice he was sleeping across two seats."

Rolling again, Candy started playing with the CB radio. "Like, I just didn't have nothing to say, but I just wanted to talk and see what it feels like."

They arrived at Big Spring. "So Karen went back to her home with her mama."

Then came her last long trip.

"I was going by myself. So I took a knife with me. Anyway, I had a blast."

"All I took with me was the clothes I had on and a pack of cigarettes."

One driver was a dyke. "To me that is immoral," Candy said. Another was a 47-year-old Houston man with a three-year-old kid.

"His wife was married (formerly) to my uncle Earl. I was flipping out meeting a relative I didn't even know."

He took her from Houston to Shreveport. "I stayed with these Spanish chicks, and they were prostitutes."

They were streetwalkers, "heavy-laden make-up and all that. I stayed with them two days."

What did you do? "I ate baloney and bread most of the time."

Forgot How She Got Home

Straying two blocks from the apartment, Candy met a dude named Glenn, 25. "He took me to Austin."

"We picked up this chick and this dude. They looked like far-out hippies and were going to Aspen."

At Austin, the couple and she stood two hours by different but nearby highways waiting for rides.

When a chick gave her a ride, Candy was drinking a milk shake. "She blared the horn, and I dropped chocolate milk all over me."

That was all the clothes Candy had other than a dirty set. The girl gave her a blouse and shorts so big Candy had to fasten them with a safety pin.

"We snorted acrylics, and we smoked some pot she had with her. I forgot how I got back to Big Spring. I don't remember who I got rides with or anything."

Candy woke up in a ditch by the Holiday Inn, bruised and beaten with nothing but the blouse and shorts.

"That was the last time I've been hitchhiking except for tonight," Candy said.

"Since then, I've been hitchhiking around town a lot and everything."

What do you want to do with your life?

"I want to be married and raise a family. Only, I don't want a marriage that dissolves in a divorce and a husband that goes to the pen."

RIVER STILL FLOWING

'Phantom' Puts Water In Spence

A series of "phantom" downpours at scattered areas Friday sent the Colorado River on another rise and may put another half foot in Lake E. V. Spence.

At 5:30 p.m. Saturday, Lake Spence reached elevation 1864.03, which made a net gain of an even ten feet for the past month. O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, estimated that the lake, which now has 156,500 acre feet, may hit the 160,000 mark. The river was still flowing nine feet deep Saturday evening although upstream reports it would fall by morning.

Friday afternoon, Peacan Crossing on the Spade ranch was 2½ feet deep, but Saturday morning it had swollen to eight feet. The Lake at that time was elevation 1863164, representing an increase of 1.16 feet since Tuesday.

Lake Spence recorded .80 of an inch rain overnight, but while there were reports of little or no rain in most regular guaging stations, creeks began to rise. This was the case with Beals Creek, which heads above Big Spring. At SH 163 bridge in Mitchell County, it was 7 feet deep. Big Silver Creek, above Lake Spence, had run down, then was back to 2½ feet Saturday morning.

Moss Creek Lake, southeast of Big S pring, caught .30 of a foot which may have resulted in part from an intense, localized downpour southeast of the city.

Lake J. B. Thomas, on the Scurry-Borden line, was at elegation 2224.46, having gained .75 of a foot during the week.

Heir To Tend Sick Animals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Gamble, an heir to the Procter & Gamble soap fortune, has been ordered to spend one day a week for the next year tending sick animals at the San Francisco Zoo.

It's part of the probation terms worked out after Gamble, 35, was convicted of transporting illegally killed game. He was also fined $10,000.

SOLICITING RIDE LAW

"No person shall stand in a roadway for the purpose of soliciting a ride from the driver of any vehicle," state law says.

Big Spring has an ordinance which reads almost identically, City Attorney Jim Gregg said.

How a municipal judge or justice of the peace will define "roadway" is open for question.

There's no case history on it," Gregg said, observing a case must be presented in an appellate court to be recorded in law books.

High Cost Of Halloween Scares A Lot Of Folks

By The Associated Press

The ghost of inflation is haunting treaters and tricksters alike as Halloween 1974 approaches.

Treaters accustomed to buying several bags of candy for neighborhood goblins are getting still another reminder of how sugar prices have shot up as they pay roughly 50 per cent more than they did last year.

For tricksters, the higher costs of paper and plastics have forced up the cost of new costumes as much as 25 per cent over 1973.

Jack O'Lantern is experiencing a mixed fate—pumpkins prices are up in some areas because of smaller crops and poor weather, but in others the price is about the same as last year.

Most retailers contacted contacted by The Associated Press in a random survey said that people were buying about as much candy as they did in the past. But a revolt is under way in Greene County, Pa., where a check at a local market showed that a box of 24 candy bars that sold for 79 cents a year ago now costs $1.29.

Ten communities in that western Pennsylvania county are discouraging house-to-house visits and substituting community parties that feature entertainment, costume contests and some candy donated by citizens and merchants.

The higher costs of candy have "made it really tough on our families," said Mayor John Throckmorton of Waynesburg.

Trial Pending For Tisdale

Hearings over 11 pretrial motions in the murder case of Benjamin Thomas (Tommy) Tisdale, 49, will begin in San Angelo 10 a.m. Wednesday, District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III said.

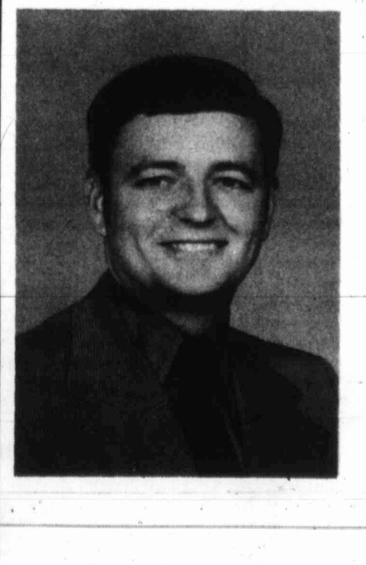

Tisdale is accused of participating in the murder and robbery of Steve Currie in Glasscock County.

The date of the trial is pending.

Pan American Regents To Pursue UT Merger

Regents of Pan American University voted Saturday to move forward on an investigation of merging the Edinburg school with the University of Texas system.

With no dissension, the regents appointed a committee of Morris Atlas, Ruben Cardenas and Moises Vela to explore the possibility of the merger.

The regent committee was named after they heard a report from Dr. Ralph Schilling, president of Pan American, which in very general terms outlined advantages and disadvantages of the possible merger.

ALL EARS

Spokesmen for the UT system have been committal about any merger, saying only that they would be pleased to listen if Pan American came to them with the proposal.

Pan American offers undergraduate and masters degree programs in Edinburg and junior, senior and masters degree courses at Brownsville.

Atlas, a UT graduate, urged the regents to name a committee to study the matter.

Atlas said Schillings report, while general in nature, could serve as a starting point for the study.

NO DEADLINE

He said any regents' committee should meet first with members of the UT system board of regents, then bring in members of the faculty and student body at Pan American in the discussion.

"We absolutely don't have any deadline on this matter and shouldn't set one for ourselves," he said.

Cardenas, while saying he did not have enough information to take a position for or against the merger, said, "A lot of people look at Pan American University as a window to the north. I would hate having someone in Austin setting our entrance standards."

Schilling, in his two-page report, said affiliation with the University of Texas system would give Pan American access to system operational experts, increased prestige for its graduates because of the UT name and the advantage of being associated with a system "which is geographically board based and therefore with statewide political contacts."

SEEDS LOCAL

"In the relm of possible disadvantages, several items were investigated," he said. "There was no evidence to indicate that existing institutional autonomy would be jeopardized in such areas as academic governance and tenure, student organization and governance, private fund development and fees and charges based on local needs."

The regents spent most of their meeting with the architect for the university, Kenneth Bentsen.

NEW BUILDING

Bentsen recommended, and the regents agreed, to accept the low bid of $2,059,000 for the construction of a new liberal arts building and a fine arts annex on the Edinburg campus.

The successful bidder was Braselton Construction Co. of Corpus Christi. Construction is expected to begin within 30 days, with com- 'ion in the mid-summer of Bentsen told the board he hoped to have a new library resource center ready for bids by the first part of January. The new center, which will contain the library, auditoriums and a media center, would be the largest building on campus. It would take about two years to construct, he said.

PLANT COOLING

He also gave a report on three other projects currently underway—part of a $12 million building program on campus.

They are:

—A business administration building which Bentsen said would be completed by January of next year.

—The nursing education building which is now 85 per cent complete and should be finished by December of this year.

—A central cooling plant, delayed some six months by a strike of the supplier of water chilling units, but scheduled now to be completed next month.

Regents also gave school officials permission to seek approval from the College Coordinating Board for a new $1.3 million maintenance center for the school, to be built on the west side of the campus on a 40-acre tract.

College Coeds Curfew Mulled

HOUSTON (AP) — Officials at Pan American University in Edinburg said saturday they will probably know Sunday whether they can continue to require college coeds between 18 and 21 who live in dorms to honor curfew hours.

"We have asked Atty. Gen. John Hill for an opinion on this matter and we expect a report tomorrow," Dr. Ralph Schilling, the college president, told members of the school's board of regents meeting here.

The university has 186 women living in dorms. All women over 21, who total 27 persons; and those under 21 with parental permission; who total 46 persons; don't have to observe curfew hours.

Others must be in the dorm by midnight on Sunday to Thursday nights and by 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday nights, he said.

A petition bearing over 100 signatures has been received by the college, protesting the curfew hours for the 18-21 group, Schilling said. Under state laws, persons 18 and over are considered adults.

The president said the college has also been threatened by law suits.

Schilling told the regents if the attorney general rules they cannot enforce curfew on the 18-21-year-old adults the college will have no choice in the matter.

"If he says we cannot legally impose curfew at age 18, then we can't," Schilling said.

The college sets no curfews for men students in the same age group he said. It does not require the women to live in dormitories.

Carnival Set For Wednesday

A gala carnival, beamed primarily for residents but to which the public is invited, is being planned Oct. 30 at Big Spring Nursing inn, starting 6:30 p.m. There will be numerous booths set up in the south building (next to the First Christian Church), and there will be various prizes awarded during the evening, Jean Lopez, activities director is in charge.

TEXAS CROPS

Cotton, Sorghum Harvesting Begins

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — A few more weeks of warm weather are needed in the Panhandle and South Plains to mature the cotton crop there, Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says.

Cotton in the Trans-Pecos area is ready to harvest but growers are waiting on a freeze to defoliate the crop, he said.

HARVEST PECAN

The pecan harvest is increasing with harvesting underway from the Far West to East Texas, Hutchison said. The crop ranges from poor to good but is expected to be almost twice as large as last year.

Some vegetables are moving to market in Southwest Texas and along the coast, he said. A few early oranges and grapefruit are being picked in the Rio Grande Valley.

Early planted small grains are providing grazing for livestock in some areas, he said.

District Agricultural agents gave these reports:

Panhandle: Sorghum harvesting is active. Sugarbeet harvesting is increasing as fields dry. Yields and sugar content of the beets are good to excellent. Early planted wheat is providing grazing.

South plains: Harvesting of sorghum and soybeans is active. Yields are generally good. Wheat planting continues to make good progress.

GRAZING GOOD

Rolling Plains: Cotton and sorghum harvesting is under way in about half the counties. Yields are mostly average to below average. About 75 per cent of the small grain acreage is seeded.

North Central: The cotton harvest is at the halfway mark. Yields are poor. About 20 per cent of the peanut crop is in and yields have been good. Pecan harvesting has started with fair to good yields.

Northeast: Most of the corn crop is in. Harvesting of sweet potatoes is in full swing. Soybeans are maturing. A few pecans are being harvested. Most winter pastures have been planted.

Far West: Small grains and alfalfa are making excellent growth. The pecan harvest has started. Livestock are in good condition with good grazing available on pastures and ranges.

Net Income Of Mo-Pac Up

ST. LOUIS — The Missouri Pacific System's consolidated net income for the first nine months of the year increased to $41,354,000 from the $23,648,000 reported in the same period of 1973.

Fully diluted per share earnings were $3.31 for the nine-month period compared to $1.77 in 1973, after giving effect to a 5-for-1 stock split effective July 5, 1974.

Operating revenues were $658,366,000, compared to $551,885,000 reported in the same period last year.

Deserters Discharged

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The military deserter processing center at Ft. Benjamin Harrison reports 1,481 persons have been discharged with 28 still in processing under the President's amnesty program.

The military services have received 4,069 telephone inquiries about the program.

Meanwhile, in Washington, the American Civil Liberties Union said it is acting as a clearing house for men who want to know whether they are under indictment for draft evasion.

The ACLU said it has obtained a complete list of pending federal draft indictments and anyone can determine his status by telephoning the ACLU.

Taylor Visits

Ross Taylor of Altus, Okla., is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Parks of Coahoma. He plans to spend two weeks with them.

Dr. Mike Jarratt is Promoted By Hospital

Dr. Mike Jarratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Jarratt, 1506 Phillips, has been promoted to chief of dermatology in Children's Hospital in Houston.

He also has connections with Methodist Hospital and St. Luke's Hospitals where he has been charged with helping to set up dermatology departments. He serves as associate professor of dermatology in Baylor Medical College, engages in research, writes and also has reviewed medical papers prior to publication. He manages to find time for some private practice.

A 1959 graduate of Big Spring High School, he earned his bachelor's degree in his pre-med years at SMU, and earned his M.D. at Southwestern Medical College in Dallas. In his student years, he worked in the blood bank at Parkland Hospital in Dallas and was on duty the day that President Kennedy was brought in after the assassination.

Dr. Jarratt did his Internship in Stanford University at Palo Alto, Calif., then his residency at Harvard in Boston, Mass. from whence he was assigned during his final three months to study at St. John's Hospital in London, regarded as the foremost center of research on skin problems resulting from exposure to the sun. He also had opportunity to visit major medical centers in Europe.

His parents met him there after he completed the work and they took a three-week tour of Europe before they returned and he made a global tour before going to Houston.

PRESENTS CHECK — Jack Reese, Chief of Personnel and chairman of the Veteran's Hospital Combined Federal Campaign presents a check to Wing Commander Robert A. Owens, general chairman of the CFC for over $4,200. The VA hospital CFC exceeded its goal by about 140 per cent and achieved 100 per cent participation from its employees.

Budget Will Permit More County Spending

Proposed amendments to the 1974 Howard County budget will permit spending $111,414 more than originally anticipated.

Through September this year, the county had spent $1,401,000, revenue sharing included, Mrs. Virginia Black, county auditor, said.

From revenue sharing funds, County Commissioners Court has approved spending $207,612.

Monday, County Commissioners Court will consider amending the budget to reflect actual spending.

But a conference with Ed Harper, courthouse maintenance supervisor, appears on the agenda and has been canceled, County Judge A. G. Mitchell said. A firm is performing work on air conditioning compressors.

Bids for office supplies in 1975 will be opened at 10 a.m.

Texas Baptists Set Conversions Goal

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Texas Baptists will hear proposals for a $20 million fund in 1975 for world missions and be urged to set a goal of 100,000 conversions to Christ next year at their annual convention here Tuesday through Thusday.

Although these matters may meet with little opposition, the messengers (delegates), noted for being outspoken, may clash over such issues as abortion and women's role in congregations.

The Rev. Ralph Smith of Austin, Convention president, will make the call for the conversions goal in the opening session Tuesday night.

The spectre of world hunger will be a theme running throughout the convention. The Texas Baptist Christian Life Commission in its annual report is expected to offer positive solutions.

Workers who helped transport the Texas Baptists' disaster relief mobile unit to victims of the Honduras hurricane will be on the program.

The Christian Life Commission said it also plans to speak on jail reforms and problems of the Texas Youth Council.

"I think a discussion of the issue of abortion is possible at the convention," said the Rev. Mr. Smith.

Rich Anderson Has The Experience That Counts

Rich is a hard-working man with his roots in the soil. A 5th generation rancher-farmer and Texan, Rich knows the story of agriculture and what rural America faces today.

Rich is vitally interested and always involved with people in the district he wants to represent. A mature man with knowledge and experience in agriculture, business and education, he is a man truly representative of the 63rd District.

The rural people really don't have a voice in Austin. Rich Anderson believes in a strong legislature to fight for the needs of the rural population.

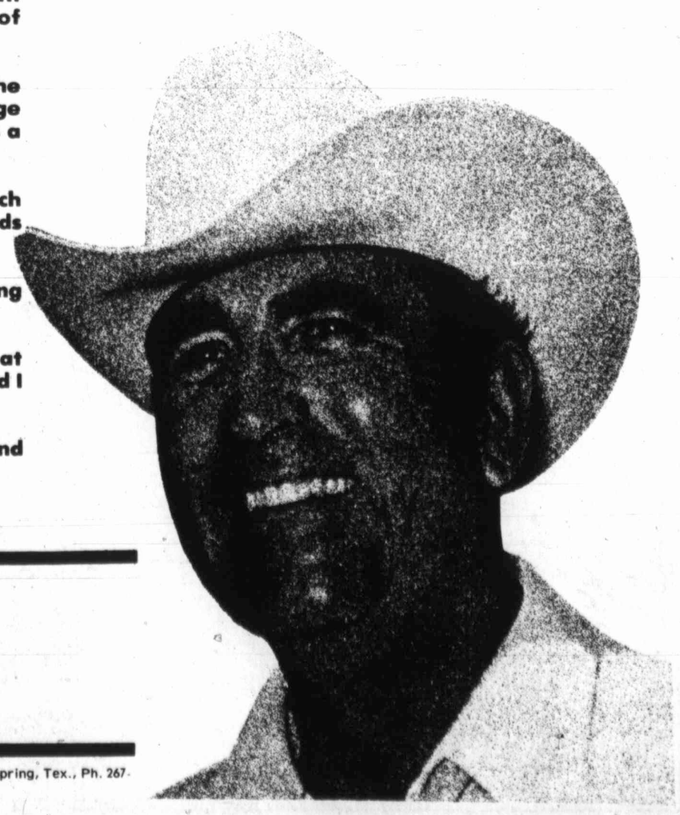

His voice will be heard in the capital. He will be a contributing factor in the making of a strong legislature.

"I am a candidate for the Legislature because I care about what happens to our state, our country and our people. I care — and I want to act."

Redd Foxx Adopts Town

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Comedian-actor Redd Foxx, dressed in blue jeans and a denim jacket, has been sworn in as chief of police in nearby Taft.

District Court Judge Bill Haworth gave Foxx the oath on Friday.

Foxx, star of NBC's "Sanford and Son" had been named chief of police of the all-black eastern Oklahoma community several months ago by Taft Mayor Lelia Foley.

Foxx said he didn't take the office lightly and would spend some time in Taft — the site of a state childrens' home.

"It is my desire to put Taft on the map, to turn the town into a city," Foxx said. "Hopefully other entertainers will adopt towns and together we'll improve the plight of black people all over this country."

Power Crazy Thief Strikes

An unknown thief apparently has developed an appetite for car batteries as two residents of Big Spring Mobile Lodge reported that their batteries had been stolen within a half hour Saturday morning.

Donald Day, Big Spring Mobile Lodge No. 16, reported his battery was stollen at 9:03 a.m. and Connie Kenaston, Big Spring Mobile Lodge No. 13, discovered her battery was stolen at 9:30 a.m.

The batteries were valued at $35 each.

Hanging In Huntsville

CUERO, Tex (AP) — Julius Moonye, 32, of Cuero was found hanged in his cell at the state penitentiary at Huntsville at 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

A prison official who said Mooney used his belt to hang himself. The official said Mooney was alive when a check of his cell was made at 6:30 a.m.

The Cuero man was serving a 25-year sentence for the shooting death of Robert Cox in Cuero, June 7, 1970.

Aliens Freed In Murder Case

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Authorities said Saturday they lack sufficient evidence to charge three Mexican nationals being held for questioning in the slaying of three women and two children.

Officers said they held two of the men as material witnesses and the third as a principal but were unable to complete a case. The three are in the United States illegally.

Three young women and two toddlers were found knifed in a blood-spattered apartment earlier this month.

Police said they will turn the men over to immigration authorities.

JACOBSEN INDICTMENTS

Conflict Between Courts, Justice Agency Picking Up

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A conflict between the courts and the Justice Department gained new momentum during the past week as a judge sought to try Jake Jacobsen and government attorneys began setting up roadblocks.

U.S. Atty. Frank McCown filed a motion with the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans Friday seeking to stop prosecution of Jacobsen on a seven-count indictment charging he misapplied $825,000 from the San Angelo (Tex.) First Savings and Loan Association which he headed.

He asked the court to dismiss the indictment and to disallow the appointment by U.S. District Court Judge Robert Hill of Dallas of special prosecutors to try the case.

Numerous constitutional questions have arisen as to Judge Hill's power to appoint special prosecutors and concerning the separation of powers—between the executive branch (Justice Department in this case) and the judiciary.

The Justice Department wants to try John Connally on an unrelated $10,000 bribery charge while letting Jacobsen, small fry compared with Connally, to go free.

To do this, they allowed Jacobsen to plead guilty to bribing Connally with $10,000 for his influence in raising milk price supports while Connally was secretary of the Treasury, and at the same time promised him immunity from prosecution in the San Angelo and other cases. In this deal, Jacobsen promised to testify in the Connally case.

WILL FIGHT

At the time he was charged, Connally was a prime candidate for the GOP presidential nomination in 1976. He had switched parties after being a life-long Democrat and was elected Texas governor repeatedly on that ticket. All talk of presidential aspirations now has died.

Connally pleaded innocent and has declared he will fight the charges with all his strength.

Judge Hill, who has jurisdiction in the savings and loan case, was asked by government lawyers to drop the charges. Hill balked and ordered Jacobsen to go to trial.

Meanwhile, Jacobsen's onetime partner, Ray Cowan, pleaded guilty to the misapplication charge.

NEST MOVE

The government lawyers then said they would not go into court and prosecute.

Last Wednesday, Hill appointed two special prosecutors and an assistant to pursue the Jacobsen case as his own counterattack.

The next move came this weekend when McCown went to the appeals court.

"HEAD START" — Lions Pete Jones (left) and Joshua Frierson present a check for $95.28 to Keith Swim, director of the "Head Start" program in the Big Spring school system. The money was raised during a carnival staged by the Webb-Spring Lions Club earlier this month in ovservance of World Lion Service Day. Other projects staged by the club during the month included a dance and a fashion show. Proceeds from the dance, which went into a scholarship fund, came to $240.28. The money derived from the fashion show was not known at press time.

Packers Slaughter Hundreds Of Calves

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP) — A meat packing company slaughtered 551 calves Saturday as cattlemen continued their protest over a price squeeze they claim is threatening beef producers. The 41,000 pounds of veal from the slaughter will be sent to Honduran huricane victims.

A spokesman for the Dubuque Packing Co. said the cattle came from members of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) in Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota.

Earlier this month NFO beef producers shot or slit the throats of 636 calves and buried them in trenches near Curtiss, Wis. They said the action was to dramatize the effects of high feed prices which cause farmers to lose money in fattening cattle for market.

Richard Wertzberger, a spokesman for the meat packing company, said workers were sent home Saturday after they slaughtered all the calves that had arrived at the plant by 10 a.m. He said more animals, en route to Dubuque from southern Minnesota and Postville, Iowa, would be slaughtered Monday.

Jim Runde, the NFO co-ordinator of the slaughter from Cuba City, Wis., said an anticipated goal of 1,000 calves for slaughtering Saturday wasn't reached because the state NFO president, Steve Pavish, had been called to Kansas City on business, and the calf roundup in Wisconsin was not organized properly.

He said only the meat from calves killed Saturday will be trucked to Miami on Monday for shipment to Honduras. The rest will be distributed to as yet unspecified charitable organizations in this country, he said.

"We're checking on several organizations now," Runde said. "Brother John has 104 dependent children at Boys Town in the Desert at Beaumont, Calif. If it turns out he needs the meat, I imagine we'll give it to them. We're also checking groups in the Midwest," Runde said.

Runde said the NFO in Washington advised his group that President Ford would visit Wisconsin beef raisers soon to discuss their economic problems. Wertzberger said his firm did not hesitate to donate the time, labor and facilities to slaughter the calves.

"We agreed to do the processing because we believe it is morally wrong to kill and bury calves when so much of the world is going hungry."

NFO President Oren Lee Staley of Corning, Iowa, said the benefits of having the calves slaughtered and given to charity include: Keeping cattle off the market in hope prices will rise, getting food to the needy and drawing attention to the plight of beef producers.

Alberti International, Inc., a Honduran meat exporting firm, said one of its ships will carry the veal to San Pedro Sula. There, the Honduran Red Cross will distribute the meat.

During the gold rush to the Klondike, eggs once sold for $1 each. Today eggs and other food and fiber items reach the market faster, fresher, and at a lower cost because of rural electricity. And while increased fuel costs have raised the price of power, the rural electric cooperative, as it has for more than 30 years, delivers electricity at its lowest possible price. A dependable supply of power, when and where you need it, is their premise today . . . and their promise for tomorrow.

"LET'S ALL WORK TOGETHER"

And why shouldn't we? We've got a great county recognized for years as having the friendliest people around. Howard County doesn't need a lot of changes for change sake. We've got so many good things like climate, natural resources and hard-working industrious people. All we really need is to restore the pride and dignity that made Howard County great in the beginning. As your County Judge, I feel I can help in doing this. I'm ready to get started.

I have spent a great deal of personal time working for industrial expansion and new, higher paying jobs for Howard County citizens. As County Judge, I will work to keep Howard County and our area in the mainstream of the vital Texas economy.

Please give me your vote and support in the election Tuesday, November 5th.

VOTE WORTHY

HOWARD COUNTY JUDGE

GENERAL ELECTION TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1974

Political Advertising Paid For By Jerry Worthy

Judge

Worthy $1,766. For his campaign, the Republican had used $2.200.

Meanwhile, Tune and Mitchell claimed to be relying almost entirely on their own resources. Worthy had spent twice as much as Mitchell and about three times as much as Tune.

"I'd say it's been a low-key campaign," Worthy said. "I feel like its a good campaign without campaign without any triteness."

"Personally, I believe in running on our own merits, experience and qualifications," Tune said "Candidates should run for the public office rather than against each other."

"FRESH START?"

"There's no big burning issues that I can see," Worthy said.

The question before voters is whether they want "politics as usual or kind of have a fresh start and see if we can't do a little better."

As county judge, Worthy said he would "give it the dignity the position is due."

Tune said he wanted to serve the county as a whole and "not just a minority."

COURT CONTROVERSY

Asked for campaign issues, Tune mentioned the "overload" of the county court docket. Mitchell and County Attorney W. H. (Bill) Eyssen Jr. have been criticized for failing to try more criminal cases in county court.

Mitchell pointed to taxes not being increased, purchase of new equipment for the road department with revenue sharing funds, paying "employes of Howard County a whole living" and "cooperation" with the city in establishing a city-county landfill.

"All they (city officials) have to do is call the county judge, and there will be cooperation," Mitchell said.

OTHER RACES

While Mitchell, as an incumbent, must defend county government , neither Republican Paul Shaffer nor Democrat Ikie Rupard, who defeated the incumbent in a primary runoff, have served as county commissioner.

Should Shaffer and Worthy win, the Republicans would have a majority on the court. Republican Bill Crooker does not face election this year.

Both parties have fielded nominees for the area Texas House and Senate seats.

Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Mary Virginia Kirchhoff, R-Plainview, want to be state senator. John R. (Rich) Anderson, R-Borden County, and Michael H. Ezzell, D-Snyder, oppose each other for the legislature.

Mrs. Mary Joy Cowper, R-Big Spring, is seeking the district 17 chair on the State Board of Education. James M. Binion is the Democratic nominee.

Big Spring Detox Center Being Used As Pattern

Remodeling is now complete at Big Spring's Detoxification Center, which has met with so much success its first year of operation that it is being used as a pattern across the state for this type operation.

Ed Mitchell, director, announces group therapy is now available daily with Mrs. Myrtle Tatum, outreach counselor from the State Hospital available at 10 a.m. Monday and Thursday. Fred Tatum is in charge on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

The facility is open 24 hours a day for people in this area who have a drinking problem. Help, information and referral are available for the alcoholic and for friends and families of the alcoholic.

The center also offers to work with any employer of anyone with a drinking problem. Mitchell says the unit can supply literature on alcoholism and speakers to church, civic club, school or any interested group.

Every Wednesday at 8 p.m. there is an open AA meeting which the public may attend.

The director contacts the local police department daily to offer help to anyone in the jail with a drinking problem that wnats or needs help.

Working with Mrs. Mildred Sevey, counselor of Texas rehabilitation commission at the Halfway House, the staff at the center has been able to phase many of their people back into a normal life. The center also tries to assist with job placement or training for the patients.

All patients are required to take a physical examination by the doctor, who is on call at the center 24 hours a day.

The staff includes Mitchell, along with Leland Rathbone, resident supervisor; Mrs. Myrtle Tatum and Fred Tatum, counselors, Mrs. Mildred Sevey, vocational rehabilitation counselor, T. G. (Henry) Cook, Joe Cox, and Albert Ridgeway, part-time helpers.

The center is located in the old Firehouse Six building at 2906 W. 13th. The phone number is 263-4021 and the mailing address is Box 391, care of City Hall, Big Spring.

Five Die, Two Jailed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two men were arrested Saturday in the deaths of five persons slain late Friday night when a gunman opened fire at a birthday party with an automatic carbine, police said.

Lt. Ralph Joyce, chief of the Cleveland homicide division, said police were not searching for other suspects. He said the shooting was being investigated and declined further comment.

The victims were identified by police as Leola Phillips, celebrating her 40th birthday; James, her husband; James Muldrew, owner of the two-family house and host of the party; and Leo Bradford and Napolean Cooper, 60, guests, all of Cleveland.

Wounded were guests Odis Gamblin and Johnny Reed, 49, also of Cleveland, police said. Gamblin was reported in critical conditon at Huron Road Hospital. Reed was treated and released, hospital officials said.

Miss That Big Bill
They've Unplugged All-Electric Homes

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Members of the Webbie Armstrong family have found a way to beat the high cost of electricity. They've unplugged their all-electric home.

"I think it's something that everybody may have to do sooner or later," Mrs. Armstrong said this week — the family's third without power.

They now have no operating air conditioner, television, washer, dryer, stereo, stove, hot water heater, electric can opener, hairdryer, clocks, refrigerator or toaster.

Instead, there are lanterns, a kerosene stove and cold showers at the Armstrong home in this Lower Florida Gulf Coast city.

"To me it's not an imposition at all," said Armstrong, operator of an automobile repair business. "About the only thing we miss is that big bill."

Amstrong had the electric company turn off the power when his monthly bill topped $100. He said the lights will stay out until the rates go down, which "probably won't happen very soon."

He estimated his weekly fuel costs are now about $9.70, including the cost of kerosene, quarters to wash at the laundromat and ice.

Mrs. Armstrong buys a block of ice every three days and crams it into the refrigerator's freezer compartment to keep groceries fresh. She buys her meat daily and cooks on a kerosene stove.

Armstrong insisted that the entire family, including two sons and a daughter, are enjoying their new lifestyle.

"I find I've got more time now," he said. "I'm less tense, more relaxed. I talk to my kids. We do things together."

Deputies Hunt 'Killer Dogs'

"Killer dogs" are being sought by the sheriff's office in connection with the killing of chickens and sheep.

At least two, maybe three families, have lost domestic animals to the dog or dogs, Sheriff A. N. Standard said.

The throat of the sheep had been ripped open, Standard said. Chickens were bitten on the back, shaken and thrown down.

Mrs. Floyd Earls told how wood was torn from a fence around a chicken pen near the Howard County Airport.

"We had a snare, but he got through it," Bruce Griffith, Mrs. Earls boss and county extension agent, said.

"They struck twice," Mrs. Earls said. Two lambs and 50 chickens were killed.

Telling of another instance, Mrs. Chester Railsback, Moore Community, claimed 26 chickens were destroyed.

"This happens ever so often," Standard said. A dog maimed a colt near Sand Springs a couple of years ago, he said.

About the latest predator dogs, the sheriff's office wants to know "where they're coming from and who they belong to."

Under state law, Standard said, persons are legally responsible for damages done by animals they own.

Approaching Election

The general election is little more than a week away, and if talk is any indication, the campaign to this stage has struck less spark than any in a couple of decades.

We hope it is not a weariness with politics to the point of staying home. Free people have an obligation to vote, to exercise a choice for those whom they will have serve them.

At the top of the ticket is the governor's race, Dr. Jim Granberry of Lubbock, who is challenging Gov. Dolph Briscoe's bid for a second term, is a fine gentelman, with a record of exceptional civic service in his hometown. It has fallen his lot as the challenger to be on the attack, but there just aren't many key issues, certainly not the allegation that Gov. Briscoe is a rich man and has spent liberal chunks of his own money on his own campaign. This might assuredly make him beholden to no outside interests. Anyhow, there's nothing wrong with having been blessed with wealth.

What it gets down to is who can do the most for Texas and get the most done. We feel that Gov. Bricoe is in a much better position by legislative and gubernatorial background to accomplish this. He has demonstrated a sensible outlook on holding the line on taxes and in resisting changes for the puspose of change. He can exercise a steady hand without having to buck an opposing legislature.

Similarly, in this legislative district, we have two men of good character and with records of civic service to support them. J. R. (Rich) Anderson, however, as a practical matter, is more of the home-towner, doing his banking here, serving on local boards, including his church. He is, by reason of long association in local affairs, more closely identified with our community, even though his legal residence is in south Borden County.

Our 70th Birthday

The Big Spring Herald is now in its 70th year, and today we mark this milestone with an open house to recognize our conversion to cold-type, offset printing process. We have taken this step at tremendous expense to be in step with today's and tomorrow's technology — to be in a position to produce the best possible paper for our readers.

We are conscious of our heritage. When Thomas E. Jordan and Will R. Hayden founded the Herald in October 1904, their aim, they said, to produce a newsy journal by "hewing to the line and let the chips fall where they man."

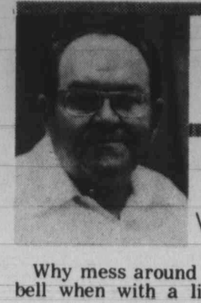

This still is a basic goal of the Herald. We want to get the news to our readers — the significant news of the world, the nation, state and area, because it is imperativethat participating citizens be informed of what happens anywhere in the world that may affect them. We want to present this interestingly and with an absolute minimum of distortion.

We want to present our local and area items more in depth, recognizing that what may be trivial in the state and nation may be important to our people, particularly to the people involved.

We recognize our obligation as a quasi-public institution and as the only newspaper of the community to promote the progress of our community and area, because, as the late R. W. Whipkey, for 32 years publisher of the Herald put it, we progress when our community progresses.

We reserve the right to comment on the passing scene, not with the purpose of controlling opinion but for stimulating thought; to entertain; hopefully to enlighten.

That we have survived and prospered these 70 years indicates that we must have done something right; we pray that we will be able, with out new improvements and our good people, to do even better.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Today I attempted to fast as Jesus did. I could have succeeded, but I don't know for sure the meaning behind it. Please explain.

P. B.

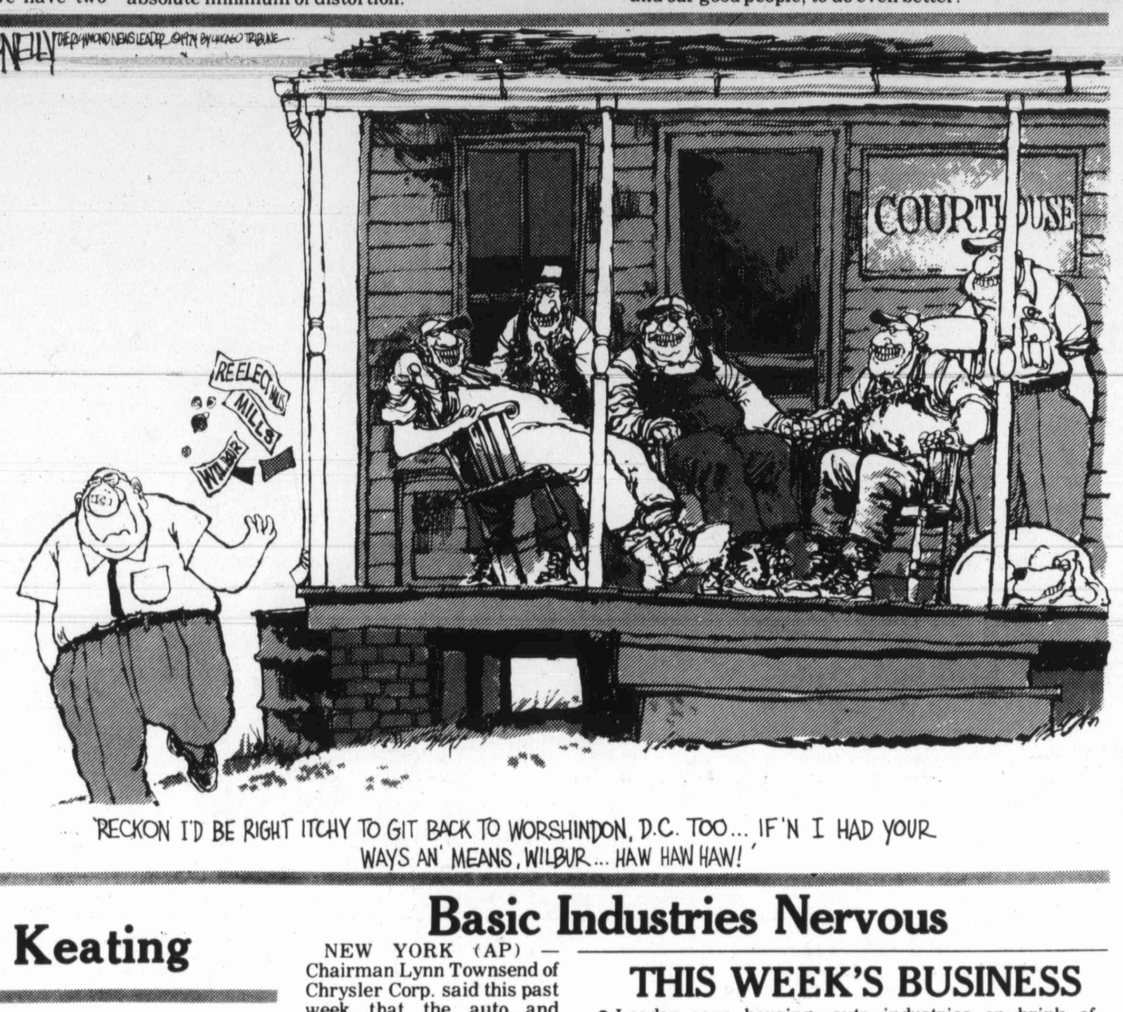

It is well-known that often fasting can be beneficial to health but this was certainly not the original reason for the practice.

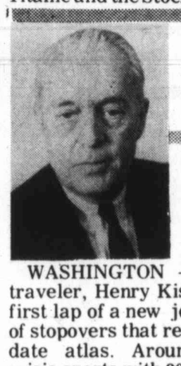

It is also a matter of observation that great distress can cause loss of appetite, and hence abstinence from food. Hannah, for example, according to 1 Samuel 1:7, "wept and did not eat" as a result of being childless. David demonstrated his grief by fasting, (2 Samuel 3:35).

It is also natural then that fasting should be associated with the confession of sin as evidence of sorrow for wrongdoing.

In any event, there appears to be a close association between fas ting and insight — between the refusal of food in order that there be acceptance of something more important.

You don't fast for the sake of fasting. But if you are preoccupied with some overwhelming spiritual concern which obliges prayer and Bible study, your abstience from food will serve a worthy purpose.

Intrepid Henry

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — That intrepid traveler, Henry Kissinger, is on the first lap of a new journey with a list of stopovers that reads like an up-to-date atlas. Around that world's crisis sports with 80 minutes allotted to each visitation is the prescription.

YOU HAVE TO marvel at the sheer physical stamina of miles flown, time zones breached, strange meals eaten. But even more than the physical burden is the weight of apprehension the Secretary of State carries with him. His foreboding is conveyed by the German word "weltschmerz," the literal translation "world sorrow." falling short of the implication of intimate involvement in the anguish of mankind in a time of revolutionary change.

After touching all the other bases Kissinger intends to end his tour in the Middle East. Or, rather, he will go back to the old crossroads of shuttle diplomacy if he believes there is half a chance of moving the Arab-Israeli peace talks off dead center.

THERE, WHERE HE rang up the disengagement score earlier this year, is the greates threat. By cold calculation of the irresistable force and the immovable object, a new war in the Middle East is inevitable.

Imminent is the term used by Kissinger's knowledgeable lieutenants is estimating the time reaining to seek a solution before hostilities. Immennt means more than three months, less than six months.

Syria is the spearhead. Having built extensive settlements in the Golan Heights, the Israelis will not put the settlers in danger by returning any part of this occupied territory. So the Syrians with a rapidly accelerated increase of Soviet arms will meet this refusal by an attack. Or the Israelis fearing such and attack will resort to a preemptive strike.

INCREASINGLY THE blame for Israel's plight is placed on the United States. That was the thrust of a column in the New York Times by C. L. Sulzberger writing from Israel. He gave figures for the tanks produced annually by the Soviet Union, 5,000, against 500 produced by the United States, and the tank and plane totals for Syria. These are the same figures put out by Israeli Prime Minister Yitzak Rabin when he was in Washington recently seeking assurances of greater military aid.

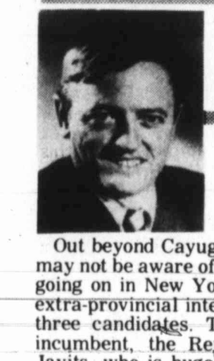

The blame for this is put, in part at least, on Kissinger. In Israeli calculations, he is set off against Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger.

BUT IN THE Sulzberger column, as in other reflection of Israeli concern, the growing doubt has a larger compass. It is over our preoccupation with our own troubles: inflation, the energy crisis, the scandals of the Nixon administration. A reflection of all this is a trend toward isolation, a determination to stay out of other peoples' troubles.

That this is seen in Israel as a failure of will is understandable Their situation is infinitely worse than ours with taxes that absorb all but a small fraction of surplus income. The defense budget is at least 25 per cent of gross national product. And this is rising iwth new fortifications on the Golan heights and the call-up of reserves.

TO ABSORB ANYTHING like 60,000 Russian Jews will mean an extraordinary effort in housing and job creation, should the agreement with the Soviet Union on emigration be lived up to. This comes at the same time that the rate of giving from Jews in the United States has begun to decline.

In event of still another Middle East War, an Arab oil embargo would certainly follow. America's western allies, bent on saving their own skins, would stay clear of any effort to help the embattled Israelis. What another embargo would do to public opinion hardly needs underscoring. Kissenger is his interview with James Reston, relfects an awareness of the troubled state of his own nation.

'Sen.' Keating

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Out beyond Cayuga's waters, you may not be aware of the Senate race going on in New York City. It is of extra-provincial interest. There are three candidates. The first is the incumbent, the Republican Jacob Javits, who is hugely devoted to a cause best expressed as Himself.

THEN THERE IS Ramsey Clark. Mr. Clark is a triumph of ideological technology. His replies to all questions are unerringly given in fundamentalist eastern seaboard liberalese, including the paradoxes. He is for drastic cuts in military spending and unconditional military guarantees to Israel. He is for a) law, b) order, and c) criminals. Only New York is so hubristically confident of its urbanity as to take him seriously as a candidate. His crowning achievement comes at a Madison Square Garden Rally at which his candidacy will be boosted by Frank Sinatra, the politcal sage who was last seen urging California voters to go for Ronald Reagan, and in between, saw Australia.

THE OTHER CANDIDATE is something of a revelation. She is a beautiful woman, so that right away she violates a New York tabu, which steadfastly refuses to put beautiful women on the ballot, preferring Bella Abzug. Secondly, she is a functioning housewife, with five children under the age of 10. Third, her husband was killed in the Vietnam War, but she refuses to denounce that war, believing it to have been the high cost — for her, and 50,000 families like her own, the ultimate cost — of a network of treaties and alliances that have kept the world peace. A couple of years ago, Foreign Minister Abba Eban of Israel said that anyone who could automatically denounce America's spoken obligations to Vietnam, could never be trusted to underwrite America's spoken obligations to Israel. By Abba Eban's logic, New Yorkers for Israel could not trust Javits or Clark: but they could trust Barbara Keating.

THE THREE candidates met recently in the august chambers of the New York Times, there to answer questions posed by the editors. From all accounts, Javits and Clark devoted all of their time to denouncing each other's personal inadequacies, and to be sure their time was thus usefully spent; while Barbara Keating was saying things like a) if you are going to do something about inflation, you have got to cut down on federal spending; b) you cannot guarantee military security to countries like Israel while coming out for mammoth reduction in defense spending, c) black-white tension in the schools cannot be ameliorated until there is action by Congress or through a Constitutional Amendment forbidding discrimination according to color even when that means that federal judges can't take white students because they're white and send them far away to school; and d) you cannot revive the work ethos when every day it gets easier for people who would rather not work and receive money, than work and receive money, to do so.

HER PERFORMANCE glowed with lucidity and candor in an age when candor is supposed to be selling very high in America, particularly in New York City, where Ramsey Clark (for instance on Israel and inflation), and Jack Javits (for instance on Rockefeller and Watergate) have girded their loins for Candor, and stepped forth into the old massage parlors of Eastern seaboard superstition.

WHAT A FINE opportunity for Conservative Barbara Keating. I swear, if she won this one, the stock of America would go up through the roof. The people of Israel would dance in the streets. The American specialists in the Kremlin would figure the show was over. Alexis de Tocqueville would come back from the dead, to write another, happier chapter about the probable end of democracy in America. Dow Jones would declare a split. New York Magazine, the Mother Bloor of social justice which spends the other half of its time telling you where to buy champagne, would stop smirking about the need for Candor maybe for an entire month, as it absorbed the consequences of the triumph of Candor.

Basic Industries Nervous

NEW YORK (AP) — Chairman Lynn Townsend of Chrysler Corp. said this past week that the auto and housing industries were on the brink of serious recession and President Ford's economic advice hadn't helped.

"He urged people not to buy, and they're not buying," said Townsend, whose company announced the day before that it had lost $8 million in the third quarter.

Townsend said that instead of urging Americans to cut their buying, he should tell them to spend. He said the government should also ease credit controls and put a moratorium on any further requirements for safety or antipollution equipment on cars.

Townsend's remarks came the day it was announced that the rate of new car sales for Detroit's auto producers in mid-October was down 28.4 per cent from a year earlier.

Sales at Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler were both off about 18 per cent. The drop at General Motors Corp. was 34 per cent; at American Motors, which has not yet put its 1975 models on the market, the decline was 46 per cent.

Townsend said that in spite of the declining sales, Chrysler planned a second price hike. He said increases averaging $400 a car last month still left the company with an average of $250 in unrecovered costs per car.

Generally, if demand for a product declines, the prices follow it downward. But the Chrysler chairman said Nixon administration economic controls had caused dislocations which still hadn't worked themselves out in the economy.

General Motors said Friday slower sales, strikes and rising prices cut its third quarter profit to a mere $16 million, or a nickel a share, down from a record $267 million, or 92 cents a share, a year earlier.

GM, the nation's biggest manufacturer, said it had been absorbing cost increases of more than $300 a vehicle during 1972-74 price controls and was now absorbing $500, including $100 in costs added just since the start of the 1975 model year.

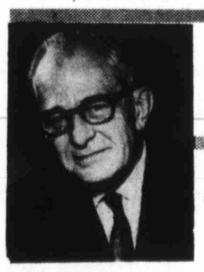

Earlier in the week, GM had announced about 6,000 workers were being laid off because of sagging auto sales — the first time in recent history that layoffs had been ordered so early in a model year.

Exxon Corp., the world's biggest oil company, said this past week that its third-quarter profits totaled $800 million, up 25 per cent from the year before on a 63 per cent gain in revenues to $11.94 billion.

Even larger gains were reported by some other major oil companies.

THIS WEEK'S BUSINESS

- Leader says housing, auto industries on brink of recession
- Auto magnate wants relaxed credit, scrap antipollution units
- GM profit picture skids 17 times from last year's high In reverse, twice, Chrysler plans raise despite sales drop
- Oil company profits soar — Shell 158 pct., Conoco 122, Exxon 25

Crawling Not For All

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Perhaps my experience will help the woman who has shooting pains from one hip down into her leg. I had the problem and the cause couldn't be pinpointed by two doctors.

At age 35 we moved into a home with a big yard and I took up the hobby of flower gardening. Then I noticed that every session of weeding or transplanting that required a lot of kneeling was followed by two or three days of incapacitating discomfort with shooting pains from my left hip down into my leg. Then came the dawn.

All my life it had been habitual for me to kneel on my right knee with my left leg flexed up. This was putting strain on my left hip. Next time I gardened, I tried an experiment. Instead of kneeling, I got down on hands and knees and crawled along as I worked.

Sure, I was lame, but the pains didn't come afterward, and they never have since.

In closing I must tell you that it looks a bit ridiculous to see a 59-year-old woman crawling around her yard and I've taken a lot of kidding. A new neighbor told me once he'd watched me "for a month before he knew I had legs."— E.K.

Your "shooting pains," like those of the other woman I wrote about, could be sciatica, induced by pinching or pressure on the sciatic nerve, around its point of egress from the lower spine. It could be arthritis of the hip joint.

First off, I certainly have to compliment you on detecting the vital clue. Second, I should explain why crawling on all fours, so useful to you, may not be helpful to others with sciatica.

In your case, your one-knee gardening apparently shifted your hips in such a way as to put pressure on your spine — and on the important nerve. The rest of the time, that pressure was not there.

You don't mention having had X-rays, but even if you had, they might or might not have pinpointed your trouble, unless the X-rays were taken while you were in pain. Yours was an intermittent sciatica. Human ailments, if intermittent, often can be as hard to trace as intermittent failures of TV sets, cars or appliances.

With the sciatic nerve under continuing pressure, you have a good chance of finding just where the pressure is. When the pressure is off, it can be quite a trick to discover where it might, at times, be.

In your case, you might have lost your trouble by learning to kneel on the other knee, reversing the direction of pressure on the spine or the hip joint. But crawling did the job, and that was the important thing.

For others with sciatica, crawling might not relieve the pressure and pain. Indeed, a misplaced or damaged vertebra or disc might not respond to any change of physical position, and need some more vigorous treatment.

Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Dizzy Spells," discusses loss of balance, vertigo and nausea, Meniere's disease and labyrinthitis. For a copy write to him in care of The Big Spring Herald enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Oct. 24, 1974, Associated Press: "SUGAR FIRM'S PROFITS SOAR 1200 PERCENT." This headline refers to Great Western Sugar Co., the nation's largest processor of sugar beets.

In October 1973, I bought 250, 100 pound sacks of beet sugar at $14.60 per hundred pounds. Then, in February 1974 we paid $25.60 per hundred. Today, that same brand of sugar is priced at $41.50.

Is it any wonder that sugar profits soared by 120 per cent. Anyone knowledgable of the beet industry knows there has been no sugar produced in 1974 except that processed from the 1973 crop. The 1974 beet crop is just now being harvested.

Much has been printed about the high profits of the oil industry where a good percentage of the price of a gallon of gasoline is taxes, and, where exploration costs are almost beyond the average man's comprehension.

Now, I am hopeful that the people will take the sugar companies to task over this deliberate gouging of the public. A boycott of such companies by the consuming public might be helpful.

Some would advocate government control over such practices as this by the sugar and other companies. I am of the opinion that anything done bad, can be cone infinitely worse by government agencies. People at the market place control all prices by their refusal to buy that product on which they are being deliberately gouged.

I am not in the oil business. I am in the beverage business where it is my job to answer to the public for such exhorbitant prices as these imposed on the consuming public, bu sugar companies.

Volleyball Team Is Chosen For Season

By JENNIFER SMITH

During the pep rally Thursday, the 1974-75 band and football sweethearts were presented. The Band Sweetheart is Wendy Hamby, and the Football Sweetheart is Barbie Kothmann. Other girls in the run-off for Football Sweetheart were Rene Conley and Julie Ray.

Also during the pep rally an award was given to Mr. Dois Pace, band director, for helping at pep rallies and teaching his band to show great spirit. Awards were made to the eighth grade cheerleaders by the football team for leading the pep rallies and for backing the Mavericks.

A skit was presented during the pep rally by the Spirit Committee of the Student Council with the help of a few other students. Students taking part were Julie Miller, Jennifer Smith, Willie Dunivan, Ray Rhymes, Donnie Burleson, Ronnie Burleson, Shari Halvorson, Lisa Missman, Karen Smith, and Ronna Tyler.

Members from the three Goliad choirs auditioned for ensembles for contest. Results are: First sopranoes, Kristi Haynes, Keely Joseph, Patti Morris, and Kathy Turner; Second sopranoes, Brenda Beil, LaVoy Moore, and Julie Yoetsch; altos, Penny Ray, Tammy Long, and Gail Matthews; First tenors, Bill Kothmann, Lucian Grathwol, and Mike Workman; Second tenors, Joe Goodwin, Brian Jenkins and Ray Rhymes; and Basses, Steve Champan, Rusty Touchstone, and Jack Odom.

The choirs have been selling pecan log rolls the past few weeks. Each participating student had his name put in a barrel to win an 8-track tape player. Mr. S.A. Walker, principal, drew the name of Robin Spencer, the lucky winner.

Miss Jeanie Hester, eighth grade girls volleyball coach, has chosen her team for the year. Members are Mitzi Balios, Brenda Beil, Kathy Birdwell, Carrie Custer, Brenda Gilbert, Lahoma Goodblanket, Shari Halvorson, Jan Hoover, Cindy Jones, Penny Ray, Patty Sheldon, Debbie Wiggins, and Paula Witte. The managers are LaVoy Moore and Starla Mize.

The Goliad Mavericks and Runnels Yearlings combined forces to play two games Thursday against Andrews. They won both. The final score of the first game was 12-0, and the final score of the second game was 28-6.

The Goliad Chess Club met Wednesday, Oct. 23. There were 19 members and one guest, Mr. Don Hise, present. The next meeting will be from 7:00 to 9:00 on Nov. 6.

Miss Carmen Johnson's foods classes will be making cakes and salads this week.

Mrs. Linda McCamant has a birthday this week. She will celebrate it on the 29th of October.

Clubs Sell Many Items

By MINDY HAISLIP

There seems to be some confusion lately as to whether SHS is turning out students or salesmen as everyone rushes around vending anything from light bulbs to t-shirts. Almost every organization seems to be selling something and it is getting to the point where we are hearing transactions such as "Hey, I'll buy your grapefruit if you'll buy my fruitcake!;;

Actually these are all ways in which organizations and classes are attempting to make money. Proceeds from these sales go to finance activities not covered by dues or school funds.

The drama club is selling light bulbs. The price is $1 per package of two bulbs. These bulbs feature a three-year guarantee.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is selling candy at $2 per box.

FTA members are selling t-shirts with SHS and Stanton Buffaloes imprinted on the front. The shirts are red and white and sell for $5 each.

The junior class is selling fruitcakes. These come in one or two pound bars at $2.40 and $4.65 or two, three, and four pound sizes packed in tin boxes for $5.65, $7.80, and $12.00.

FFA members are taking orders for grapefruit and oranges. These will be delivered between December 2 and 10. These come packed in 20 lb. boxes for $4 or 40 lb. boxes for $6.50.

Purchases of these items help support school activities and are greatly appreciated by SHS students.

Lady Prof Honored

ABILENE — Mrs. Forrest (Mary Hale) Harlow, associate professor of library science at Abilene Christian College and a member of the library staff for 26 years, was recently honored during a reception conducted by the ACC "Friends of the Library" during the college's annual homecoming festivities on the ACC campus.

The organization proclaimed "Mary Hale Harlow Day" during a reception in Mabee Library Auditorium. Dr. Leo Crowder, Abilene dentist, is president of the "Friends of the Library."

"This year our Friend is someone very extra special," said Dr. Crowder in declaring her the "Friend of the Year" in the proclamation, "one who has never been out in front very much. She has been on our library staff since 1948, and has not only helped build out library, but she has helped thousands of our friends — a few every day — and make better use of the resources we have available."

Mrs. Harlow is the fifth recipient of the award for contributions to the ACC library program. The organization honored ACC head librarian Callie Faye Milliken in 1970, the late Dr. J. W. Roberts in 1971, Mrs. Bettye Nichols Cook in 1972 and Mr. and Mrs. Ray McGlothlin Jr., in 1973.

Dr. Crowder also presented a citation to Mrs. Harlow for her "dedication and service to the 'Friends of the Library'." The citation also cited her for "her unfailing dedication, unflagging loyalty and outstanding professionalism."

A graduate of Abilene High School, Mrs. Harlow recieved the bachelor's and master's degrees from Hardin-Simmons University. She has also attended Theodore Irvine's School of DRamatic Art; and the University of Georgia, University of Texas, Northwestern University and Texas Woman's University.

Wright is a junior physical ecucation and biology major.

BIG SPRING HIGH SCHOOL

Debaters Travel To Andrews Meet

By CAROL HART

The Student Council attended the Fall Forum Oct. 19, held in Kermit High School. At least 80 schools were represented at the Forum. The B.S.H.S. council members held a session in which they discussed some things about the Safety council. Donny Knight was the leader of this group and is chairman of the council.

BSHS represented the whole district, along with Runnels Junior High. After the Forum, students had a weiner roast at Kermit Sandhills. Students attending were Donny Knight, Doug Robison, Ronnie Mullins, Steve Cannon, Joe Millaway, Greg Brooks, Greg Horton, Donna Carpenter, Cynthia Fierro, Paige Little, Jodi Grant and Sherry Spraberry.

Only eight schools were invited to attend the Andrews debate tournament yesterday. Big Spring took four teams of debaters. Team one consisted of James Burleson and James Hughes. Mary John Cherry and Julie Davidson made up team two. In team three, Debbie Shroyer and Jennie Speegle competed, and team four consisted of Donny Knight and Mariella Wise. Cathy Hartsfield accompanied the groups to observe. Other members of the debate team include Boyd Harrington, Charlesta Dickens, and Steve Cannon.

The debate started at eight a.m. Saturday. This was the first meet of the season for all area schools.

The speech and drama members are now preparing for a tournament November 2. The tournament will be held at Odessa High. Several area schools will attend the meet.

Tickets for the department's play "Harvey" are now on sale. The prices are $2.00 for adults and $1.50 for students. They may be bought by contacting the speech room at the high school.

Tuesday morning the Future Homemakers of American executive council will meet at 7:55. Ms. Sue Willbanks, sponsor, said, "all room chairmen and officers must attend."

All FHA members will be participating in the March of Dimes drive and Trick or Treat for UNICEF October 29.

The Art Club discussed decorating doors at their meeting Tuesday, Oct. 15. If teachers want their doors decorated, they should contact Ms. Diane Mitchel or any Art Club member. They will charge $2 and $3 for decorating the doors with a Christmas scene. All orders will be C.O.D.

The club will have another meeting Tuesday to make further plans on decorating the doors. They also will discuss plans for making a mural in the teacher's lounge.

Students can join the Art Club at anytime. The membership fee is only $2.00 a year. The officers for this year are: Annette Steele, president; Judy Tereletsky, vice president; Debbie Nikolai, secretary; and Viloisio Garcia, treaurer.

The BSHS choirs competed for all region choir in Odessa yesterday. Four hundred competitors from surrounding schools were in attendance.

Students interested in a possible career in the armed services need to see Mr. Rothell in the Guidance office about taking the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Test Battery. The text will be given on November 7.

There is one thing Metal Trades Instructor, Richard Nelson wanted everybody to know! The Metal Trades organization will do work for anybody and they urge you to see them. The club has been discussing plans for the State Banquet. Members of the club are selling scrap metal to cover the expenses of the banquet.

The Spanish Club will hold a Halloween party Thursday in the high school cafeteria at 8 p.m.

Student committees have planned Spanish games, refreshments and dancing, both native and American, for the party.

Each club member is allowed to bring a guest. Ms. Colleen Slaughter and Ms. Marjorie Hutte, sponsors, urge all members to attend.

The Big Spring High tennis team played two duel matches this past week. On Monday, October 21, they defeated Abilene Cooper by a score of 11 to 7. On Tuesday, October 22, they defeated Odessa High 12 to 6.

Football Teams Join Together For Games

By JONI CLINE

For the first time in Runnels history, the Runnels eighth-grade football team and the Goliad eighth-grade team have combined for the last three games. To prompt spirit, each student council representative encouraged his advisory to make posters. The cheerleaders also worked hart to promote unified spirit between runnels and Goliad. Eighth-grade cheerleaders are Selena Jones, Yvonne Kimball, Diana Dominquez, and Johnnie Mitchell. Seventh-grade cheerleaders are Michele Ortiz, Kay Haught, Sherry Byrd, and Gaylene Bruton. Everyone at Runnels is glad to associate with the Goliad students and team.

Mrs. Marjorie Talmadge's and Miss Kathie Sullivan's English classes had a visitor from the Big Spring Herald Wednesday. Mrs. Marj Carpenter talked to the classes about the history and production of the newspaper. The eighth-grade English studentts are making notebooks of articles from newspapers. Each class has been divided into groups, and each group is responsible for a Halloween newspaper. Mrs. Sonia Dean took her Junior Business Class to the Big Spring Herald and Western Glass and Mirror Company last week. Mrs. Dean's class has been studying the operations of various businesses.

Mrs. LaRue DeViney's art classes have been making block prints. An exhibit of the best work is posted on the second-floor bulletin board. Second-Lieutenant Felix Velasquez from Bolivia was a guest of Mrs. Betty Conleys fifth period Teen Interest class. He discussed the Bolivian schools and customs.

Last week the National Junior Honor Society Candidates recorded their grades for the first nine weeks. Thursday, individual and group pictures were taken for the annual.

The physical education department has been very busy. Eighth-grade girls' classes are playing football. Seventh-grade girls' gym classes are playing soccer in class and intramural softball during advisory. Boys gym classes are having relay races.

Monday, October 28, Runnels Junior High Band will have a new band director, Steve Waggoner. Mr. Waggoner is a graduate of Oklahoma University and an accomplished trumpeter. Runnels welcoms Mr. and Mrs. Waggoner to Big Spring.

New students to Runnels are Kenneth Owens from Goliad, and James Timms from Lubbock, Texas.

In Chanters

William E. Parmenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Parmenter, 710 Birdwell, has been selected as a member of the Chanters, a singing group at McMurry College in Abilene.

Bill Parmenter is a 1970 graduate of Big Spring High School and is a junior at McMurry.

Halloween Parade Time

The Forsan High School band, under the direction of Mike Neal, will lead off a Halloween parade for residents of the Big Spring State Hospital at 2 p.m. Wednesday on the hospital campus.

A Halloween Queen wil be selected from candidates from each unit and will reign at the Halloween dance that night in the auditorium. Leon White's band will play for the dance.

Carnival Is Planned

By MARY MARTINEZ

Monday, Westbrook students had a holiday. School was not held because of the annual Texas State Teachers Association Convention held in Sweetwater.

Tuesday, five students from the Junior class were in Loraine to take the PSAT-NMSQT Test. They were to be at Loraine at 8:00 a.m. Taking the test were: Mary Martinez, Pandora Moore, Julie Sweatt, Ronnie Miller, and Jimmy Anderson.

Grade School sold candy during lunch hour this past week. Part of next week grade school will also be selling candy during the lunch hour.

Wednesday, Mrs. Lamb's class sold candy during the lunch hour. Every student's mother brought something. This is to help raise money for the Halloween Carnival. It was estimated by Mrs. Lamb that they had made $18.

Friday, Mrs. Rachke's class, 2nd grade, sold candy.

For the week of October 21-25 Fonda Porter was elected as Best Citizen of the Week.

Last Saturday, four seniors took an ACT test. They were Eve Duran, Brenda Matlock, Rodney Moore, and Roger Crawford. They meet at Howard College at 8:15 a.m

Jr. High will open their basketball season Monday, October 28 with a home game against Greenwood.

The Juniors are typing thank you letters to all the Colorado City business firms to thank they for the generous donation, which will help the Bingo game to be a success.

The Seniors are working on the theme of the Halloween Carnival but the student body will not know the theme until the night of the carnival. The crowns are ready for the crowning of the candidates.

PACE Exams

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced the testing schedule for its new Professional and Administrative Career Examination (PACE) which will be administered this year, for the first time, to candidates with a college degree or equivalent work experience.

The new examination will be used to fill a variety of career positions at GS-5 (presently $8,500) and GS-7 ($10,520). Nationwide about 10,000 appointments are expected to be made through PACE each year, from among the more than 100,000 candidates who take the test. Information can be had from CSC, 1411 N. Stanton, El Paso, or call toll free 800-552-7000.

'Sesame Street' Firm Plugs 'Feeling Good'

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The same folks who brought you "Sesame Street" and "The Electric Company" now proudly present a sugar-coated pill for adults on the PBS television network.

Called "Feeling Good," the 26-program series starting Nov. 20 will plug preventive medicine.

Children's Television Workshop unveiled its new show Monday at the 102nd annual meeting of the American Public Health Association, meeting here through Thursday.

"We're trying to motivate people in their own behalf," explained CTW spokesman Eliot Tozer.

"We hope to reach several million people, but to do that we have to be entertaining enough to make them turn on their television sets week after week."

Thus, PBS viewers will be treated to comedian Bill Cosby remembering how his brother Russell looked when he got the whooping cough and was advised to raise his leg each time he coughed to prevent a hernia.

"But nowadays there is no whooping cough," Cosby concludes. "Not if you've had your shots."

Or sportscaster Howard Cosell saying, "To be a winner in life, you've got to have all the shots," as the viewer watches player after player sinking baskets.

The series, funded mainly by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, covers mental health, heart disease, weight control, nutrition, alcohol abuse, high blood pressure and other topics.

"We filmed a sequence on breast cancer last spring, but events ho[w]," Tozer said.

Archie Left Family, But Not For Money

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carroll O'Connor says it wasn't money that made him walk off "All in the Family."

O'Connor, whose weekly salary is between $25,000 and $35,000 a week — he won't give an exact figure — said he had reached a point where money was no longer an issue.

But he was willing to risk his role as Archie Bunker to achieve what he wanted.

What he wanted was a Monday-through-Friday work week instead of a Wednesday through-Tuesday week.

And at least 12 weeks off during his regular 24-week-a-year schedule.

He won at least part of his demands—four weeks off and a Monday through Friday schedule.

O'Connor was off the show for nearly three weeks in July because of a contract dispute with Tandem Productions, owners of the Popular CBS comedy show.

In August, he was out again for three weeks, shutting down production, because he would not cross a picket line set up by striking electricians. That, he said, was a matter of principle.

"I must have seen 200-300 newspaper clippings about the contract dispute and strike," said O'Connor. "I'd say 98 per cent of them took a hostile attitude toward me on both occasions.

"They assumed it was money. Therefore, since I was making a lot of money I was wrong. They just assumed I wanted more money.

"Salary was not in question," he said, "although I did want certain back money due me. I wanted different working conditions.

"You get to a point where salary is no longer important. You can only make so much and it can actually become a burden."

He said the public does not realize that an actor is under a seven-year contract that gives all the options to the network or production company.

"A network can drop a show at any time and not pay an actor. A production company can drop him from a show and not pay him.

"The actor is the only one who is bound," he said. "So what does he do if he doesn't like the show or doesn't get along with them? He either fights to get out or fights for conditions to make the show bearable."

He quickly points out, however, that he doesn't mean that he doesn't like being in "All in the Family."

He said, "People say I'm sick of the show. Sick of Archie. That's not true. He's a tremendous character. A character I created. So why should I be sick of him?

"It offers infinite possibilities and it's always an acting challenge.

"The only thing that disturbed me was why the producers were not willing to accommodate certain real needs of mine. Their refusal to accommodate these needs made me furious and made me want to leave."

City Plans On Cable

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) — The Palestine City Council has unanimously approved a proposal for a city-owned cable television firm.

Mayor Jack Rogers submitted a proposal Friday to the council saying the city could finance the venture with a $500,000 revenue bond.

The council's approval followed a legal battle with Tele-Prompter, a firm which has been offering cable television to Palestine residents. Last month the council rejected a proposed rate hike of almost $2 by the company.

The company sought an injunction against the city to keep it from interfering with the rates. The court issued a temporary restraining order. No date has been set for the trial.

Arab Summit In Disarray

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Arab leaders opened their summit Saturday with unprecedented security and an appeal to end the feud between Jordan's King Hussein and Yasir Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization.

Hussein arrived surrounded by bodyguards to ward off any possible terrorist attempt. Newsmen were examined by an X-ray machine and then allowed into the conference chamber for less than 10 minutes.

Meeting to decide on the next move toward peace in the Middle East, the Arab leaders heard an emotional appeal for unity from the conference host, King Hassan II of Morocco.

Referring to the dispute between Hussein and Arafat over who should gain control of the West Bank of Jordan should Israel withdraw its forces, Hassan said:

"If King Hussein and brother Arafat can surmount their personal conflict to build an honorable bridge across the problems and setbacks, they will find us all supporting them and wishing them well."

Arafat, seated directly across the horseshoe-shaped table from Hussein, asked for the right to speak after Hassan finished the opening address, but Hassan overruled him and asked Arafat to wait until the conference went into closed session.

The session lasted only 35 minutes and the coference was adjourned until Sunday morning.

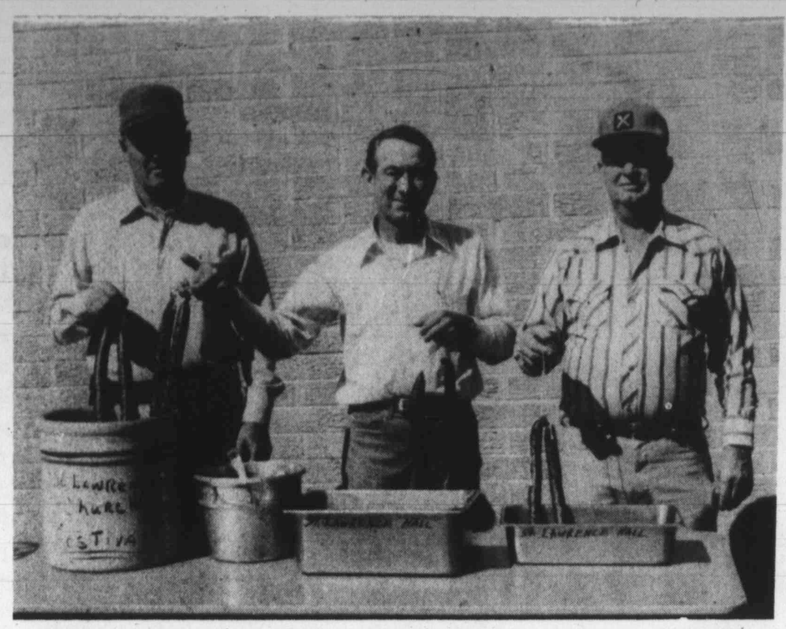

In Tel Aviv, the Israeli military command said the army and air force would begin large-scale maneuvers Saturday night on the occupied Syrian Golan Heights and in the Jordan valley.

A spokesman said there was no connection between the military exercises and the Arab summit conference.

The Soviet government, meanwhile, issued a message to the Arab summit meeting saying peace in the Mideast requires "liberation of all Arab lands seized in 1967" and ensuring "legitimate national rights of the Arab people of Palestine."

The message, carried by the Soviet news agency Tass, was signed by President Nikolai Podgorny and Premier Alexei Kosygin.

The kings and presidents of the 18 Arab countries hoped to reach consensus on whether to try for more partial agreements with Israel or insist on a full meeting of the Geneva peace conference to work out a comprehensive settlement.

GETTING READY — Cecil Halfmann, Hubert Frerich and Fred Ernst are getting ready for next Sunday, Nov. 3, when the St. Lawrence Festival will be held. Sausage dinners will be sold at 12-2:30 and 5-6:30. There will be an afternoon auction at 2 p.m. and Bingo and games. Jimmy Heap and the Melody Masters will furnish the music for the dance that night. The public is invited.

World Food Warning Issued At Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. participants in the World Food Conference in Rome next month are warning against expectation that ways will be found to feed all of the world's hungry in the next few years.

They say they don't want to build false hopes by other nations that the United States will agree to bankroll an international food welfare system.

Instead, participants such as ambassador Edwin M. Martin and Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz say the emphasis at the meeting in Rome Nov. 5-16 should be on improving agriculture production in developing countries.

Support will be given by the U.S. delegation to the idea of a system of nationally held food reserves. However, Russian participation is regarded by some delegation sources as a key condition before such a system can actually function.

U.S. officials say a stockpile of 30 million to 60 million tons of grain could be set up but details would have to be worked out.

The meeting of about 130 nations was proposed a year ago by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to discuss ways of maintaining adequate world food supplies and to deal with hunger arising from natural disasters.

Martin, a career diplomat who is organizing U.S. participation in the conference, said the Ford administration may pledge some increase in its food aid program, which has declined sharply in volume in the last two years.

But he said world hunger probably will be a fact of life for 10 years to come.

"There now are 400 million undernourished people in the world, and there is doubt that we will eliminate malnutrition in the next 10 years," he said. "Our target should be to reduce it numerically."

Some government officials planning the conference believe there has been a shift in emphasis by the United States from help-now to help-tomorrow. They said this is in part because of a worsening outlook for U.S. farm production this year.

However, these same adverse crop conditions, with rising prices, have made the developing countries desperate for help now.

Missing Disc Jockey Found Dead In Woods

DELAND, Fla. (AP) — The body of disc jockey Fred C. West was found in a wooded area Saturday, a day and a half after he was apparently kidnaped for $10,000 ransom, police said.

Two men were arrested in the case ealier Saturday, and the ransom money was recovered.

A spokesman for the Volusia County sheriff's office said the body was found lying face up and three empty cartridge cases were found nearby.

Rick Stone, a coworker of West's at WKKX, said, "Fred West was found. He's been shot three times, he's dead."

West had been reported missing Friday morning by his employers.

Volusia County Sheriff Edwin Duff II was at the scene and could not be reached immediately for comment.

But Duff has said earlier Saturday, after James Perry Ables Jr., 28, was arrested, that "We are hoping for the best but fearing the worst" for West.

Ables was arrested after FBI agents and sheriff's officers surrounded an office building in downtown DeLand.

The ransom, paid by West's emloyers at radio station WKKX, was recovered Friday when Victor Williams, 28, also of DeLand was arested, police said.

West, single, moved to Central Florida from Kerrville, Tex., about 18 months ago and had since been working at WKKX. His mother, Kathleen West, is family editor of The Kerrville Daily Times.

Ables was initially charged with kidnaping and was being held without bond. Williams was charged with grand larceny and was being held in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Ables was arrested Saturday morning after agents and police surrounded an office building in downtown DeLand.

Police said they moved in on an apartment on the top floor of the three-story building after getting a tip from a source described as confidential. They said Ables surrendered without resistance.

The ransom, paid by WKKX, was recovered Friday evening after Williams was arrested at a home outside the city. Police said the money was found burried in the backyard.

Tom Joyner, owner of WKKX, said he was told by the Friday morning ransom caller to take the money to a telephone booth outside a DeLand department store. There, he said, he got another call directing him to a fishing camp on the St. Johns River five miles from the city.

"I left the money in a men's room there and noticed a man going directly in," Joyner continued. "He was followed by police and FBI agents to the house where the money was found."

THE WEEK

Another beneficiary is Lake E. V. Spence, one of the CRMWD's big reservoirs. Saturday morning it had come up 1.16 feet for the week and the river was emptying into the lake at the rate of 9,000 acre feet per day. This means a catch for the week may exceed 15,000 acre feet of relatively good water. Also adding to our water quality picture was a .3 of a foot catch at Moss Creek, the storage pool Lake J. B. Thomas continued its poor luck with only .75 of a foot, about 1,800 acre feet. However, fall rains there have pushed back the "pump back" date until well into the Spring, and that means more rains might come by then and avoid this step.

All three Howard County teams took their lumps in football Friday night, Coahoma being upset by Ballinger, Forsan being nosed by Sterling City, and Big Spring succumbing to Midland Lee. Despite the 27-7 score, it was a much closer and better game. A bright spot is that much of the best performance came from the younger players.

It's all been so relatively quiet that it's difficult to reqlize that within 10 days the general election will have been held. During the week Rupublican gubernatorial candidate Jim Granberry came to town, as did Democrat state senatorial candidate Ray Farabee. Meanwhile, the tempo of campaigning and amount of talk stepped up, reflected in the number of absentee votes that shot far beyond 100.

Cub Scout Pack 179 will hold a membership meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Kentwood Elementary School.

All boys accepting the invitation are required to bring a parent or guardian to the meeting with them. The fun of Cubbing will be explained and they can sign up on the spot.

Electric Firm Raising Fish

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Edison Co., whose power usually is of the electric variety, is going in for fish power.

Edison and the Masschusetts Department of Natural Resources have started the initial stages of a $2 million project to build a salmon hatchery near the company's Pilgrim nuclear power station in Plymouth.

The hatchery would use warm water discharged from the plant to raise salmon eggs. Edison says the hatchery could raise as many as a million fish a year.

Accidental Shooting

DALLAS (AP) — Douglas Roberts, 28, of Tyler died here Saturday in Presbyterian Hospital of a gunshot wound in the abdomen, police said.

Roberts reportedly was attending a party when the shooting occurred. He had gone out to a car to look at a friend's gun, police said.

Police said as the friend handed him the weapon, the gun went off wounding Roberts.

Police said no charges have been filed, but the investigation is continuing.

Hogs Bop CSU

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas halfback Ike Forte scored two touchdowns and set up another on a 67-yard run as the Razorbacks outclassed Colorado State 43-9 in a non-conference game Saturday night.

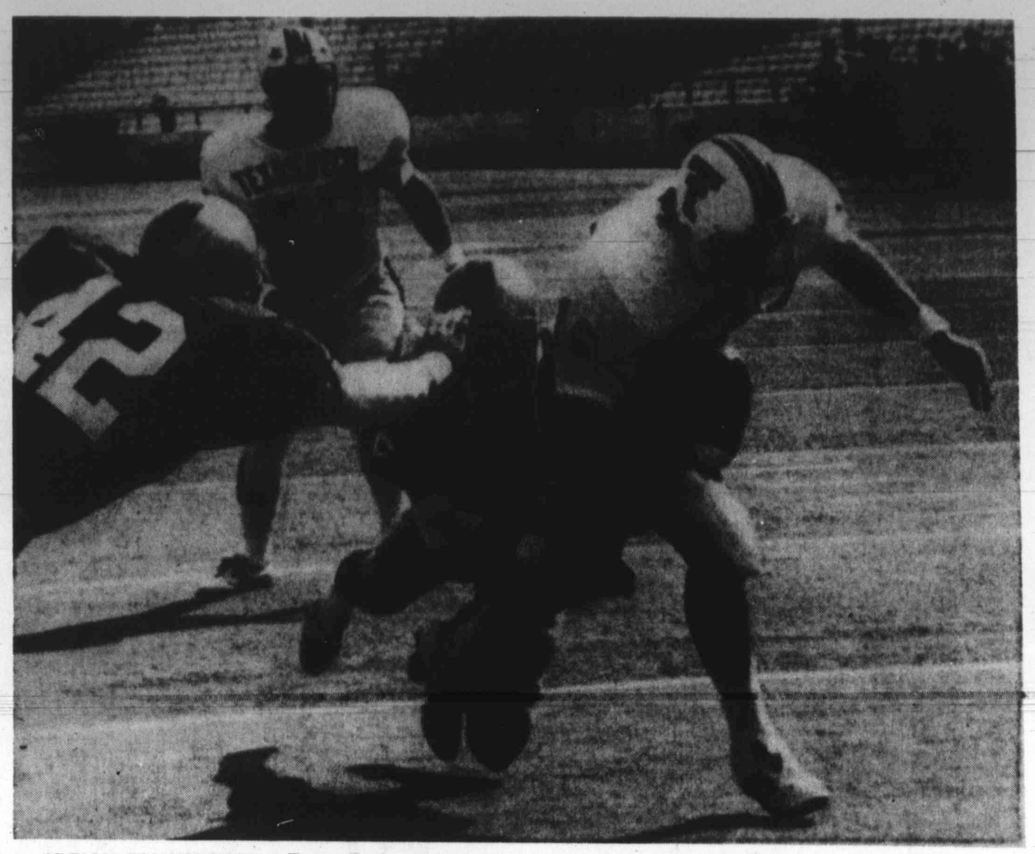

Forte gained 140 yards on 16 carries in the first half and wound up with 153 yards on 20 attempts. The junior college transfer scored on runs of 7 and 11 yards and went 67 yards to the one to set up Rolland Fuchs' second TD.

Arkansas scored on six of its first eight possessions while building a 37-9 halftime lead. The Razorbacks had little trouble moving the ball against the Rams. Arkansas' first half scoring drives covered 65 yards in 11 plays, 11 yards in one play, 80 yards in seven plays, 80 yards in six plays, and 80 yards in five plays.

The Rams were particularly susceptible to wide plays in the first half.

Colorado State, which led the nation in passing with an average of 252.3 yards, completed 19 of 48 for 329 yards, but it did the Rams little good as three were intercepted and CSU lost three fumbles. Their only TD came on a one-yard run by Ron Harris after a 41-yard pass from quarterback Jack Graham to Willie Miller that carried to the Arkansas two. Harris' TD made it 31-9 with 3:14 left in the half.

Arkansas is 4-3 for the season and returns to Southwest Conference play next Saturday against Texas A&M.

Texas Over Rice

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas quarterback Marty Akins, left to roam almost at will by the Rice defense, rushed for 188 yards in 23 carries Saturday and scored two touchdowns to lead the 13th-ranked Longhorns to a 27-6 Southwest Conference victory over the winless Owls.

The Owl defense, apparently keying on Texas freshman fullback Earl Campbell, allowed Akins to spurt free off the Longhorns' Wishbone offense to keep their hopes alive for a seventh straight SWC title.

Texas had to settle for a 6-6 halftime tie after missing field goals of 24 and 36 yards by Billy Schott after the Longhorns lost fumbles at the Rice 34 and 15 yard lines to kill scoring threats.

But Texas, the No. 5 ranked rushing team in the nation, pounded out long scoring drives in both of their third-quarter possessions when they controlled the ball 11:20. The touchdowns came on one-yard plunges by Raymond Clayborn and Akins.

Rice's Tommy Kramer hit freshman flanker David Houser on a 42-yard touchdown pass for the Owls' only score in the second quarter.

COLLEGE ROUNDUP

OU Races By 'Cats

Archie Griffin rambled 173 yards on 19 carries to match a National Collegiate Athletic Association record and lead topranked Ohio State to a 55-7 stampeding of Northwestern in collegiate football Saturday.

Griffin, who also scored once before leaving the game midway in the third quarter, tied the record of 17 consecutive 100-plus yard rushing games set in 1968-69 by Oklahoma's Steve Owens, now a star running back with the National Football League's Detroit Lions.

And Griffin raised his season rushing yardage to 1,050, making him the first Buckeye runner in history to surpass 1,000 yards two years in a row.

In other games involving The Associated Press Top Ten, second-ranked Oklahoma buried Kansas State 63-0, No. 3 Michigan routed Minnesota 49-0, fourth-rated Alabama blitzed Texas Christian 41-3, fifth-ranked Auburn beat Florida State 38-6, No. 6 Southern California downed Oregon State 31-10, seventh-ranked Notre Dame defeated Miami, Fla., 38-7, No. 9 Nebraska slipped past Oklahoma State 7-3 and 10th-rated Penn State beat West Virginia 21-12.

Joe Washington dashed for 133 yards and a touchdown and quarterback Steve Davis scored one touchdown and passed for two others against Kansas State as Oklahoma's Sooners rolled to their 15th straight victory and their 24th game without a loss.

In The Associated Press' Second Ten. No. 11 Texas Tech, beat SMU, 20-17; No. 12 Florida downed Duke 30-13; Maryland beat North Carolina State 20-10; Drigham Young held off Arizona 37-13; Georgia Tech slugged No. 18 Tulane 27-7; Miami of Ohio scored 38-22 over Toledo; UCLA beat California 28-3.

Rockets Top Gra-Y Entry

Regular season Gra-Y play concluded Saturday on Blankenship Field as the Rockets crushed the Shorthorns, 42-14, Bears blasted the sharks, 38-0, and the Stars and Longhorns fought to a 6-6 tie.

The Rockets rushed to a quick 18-0 lead and with the second team playing mostly the second half waltzed to their fifth consecutive victory.

Jeral Wrightsil scored two Rocket TD's, Rogert Rubie and Byran Gossett Tallied one each and Reginald Dawon heaved one TD pass to Lupe Ontiveres.

Shorthorn attack was led by Bingo Martin's two urial TD's to Mike Eggleston.

David Bonner's three TD runs paced the Bear attack and Dennis Perea sneaked in for a score.

Playoffs will begin next Saturday at 10 a.m. The Rockets and either the Bears or Shorthorns will receive a first round bye.

Sam Leads PGA Round

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Sam Snead survived what he called "a lousy round of golf" Saturday to add a stroke to his lead with a third-round par 72 for a 213 total in the PGA Club Pro championship.

The 62-year-old Snead was two shots ahead of Roger Watson of Cary, N.C., and Bob Benson, first-round leader from Easton, Conn., going into Sunday's final round of the $110,000 tournament.

The field of 365 was trimmed to 110, with a score of 226 the cutoff point. Twenty-one golfers were tied for 90th place, surviving the cut.

Snead twice laid tee shots up against tree trunks and had to play safety shots back into the fairway. Weak putting also had him unhappy.

'Kid Pambele' Keeps Crown

TOKYO (AP) — Champion Antonio "Kid Pambele" Cervantes of Colombia knocked down Japan's Uasuaki Kadota eight times Saturday night and retained his World Boxing Association junior welterweight title with an eighth-round knockout.

Cervantes, 28, making his eighth title defense, stopped the challenger at one minute, 42 seconds of the eighth round of the scheduled 15-round bout.

Braves Begin Negotiations

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Braves and Milwaukee Brewers have begun formal negotiations on a possible trade of home run king Hank Aaron, the Atlanta Journal-Constitution reported in Sunday's editions.

The newspaper quoted Braves vice president Eddie Robinson as confirming the report.

Robinson said that talks had begun with the Milwaukee club and "we'll talk some more this week when we reach ColoradB Springs."

General managers of major league teams will meet in the Colorado city beginning Sunday.

Aaron ended a 21-year career with the Braves this season, smashing the all-time home run record and lifting his total to 733.

The 40-year-old star has indicated he would consider playing in no other city than Milwaukee, where he started his career in 1954.

Cones, Issac Uplift Red Raiders, 20-17

DALLAS, (AP)—Texas Tech defensive end Tommy Cones crashed through to block a punt early in the fourth quarter Saturday and hard-running Larry Isaac cashed the break into a touchdown to give the Red Raiders a 20-17 Southwest Conference victory over Southern Methodist.

Until Cones' big play, it appeared the underdog Mustangs were on the verge of pulling off an upset before the crowd of 32,000 on a warm day in the Cotton Bowl.

The 11th ranked raiders, now 5-1-1 for the season, remained alive in the SWC race with a 2-1 ledger. SMU is 5-2 overall and also 2-1 in conference play.

Cones roared in untouched to block John Blackburn's punt after Blackburn appeared to juggle to ball. Tech, trailing 17-13 at the time, took over on the Mustang 26-yard line.

Sophomore quarterback Don Roberts, who was a surprise starter because of back problems to number one Red Raider signal caller Tommy Duniven, completed a 14-yard pass to tight end Pat Felux. Isaac ran five yards and then bolted two for the winning touchdown.

SMU jumped to a 7-0 first quarter lead on a five-yard touchdown run by David Bostick. Tec quickly tied it on an 11-yard touchdown run by Roberts.

Field goals of 23 and 27 yards by Brian Hall gave Tech a 13-7 halftime lead.

But the Mustangs overhauled the Red Raiders on a five-yard touchdown pass from Ricky Wesson to Oscar Roan and a 26-yard field goal by Ted Thompson.

That's when Cones made his big play to turn the game around.

Isaac, a 181-pound sophomore tailback from Lubbock, dashed for 125 yards on 20 carries and the slippery Roberts picked up 76 yards on 22 attempts.

Bostick, ignoring the pain of a torn rib cartilage, was the workhorse for the Mustangs with 118 yards on 26 carries.

Both teams were ineffective in the air with Wesson completing only five of 13 for 85 yards and suffering two interceptions. Roberts went to the air nine times completing only four for 60 yards. He was also intercepted one time.

A controversial third quarter inteception by Ronnie Robertson almost turned the game around for the Mustangs. He caught the ball right at the sideline on the SMU six-yard line to stop a Texas Tech drive.

The Mustangs, trailing 13-7 at the time, swung into high gear and marched 94 yards for a goahead touchdown sparked by a 32-yard pass from Wesson to Kenny Harrison.

Roan, SMU's 6-6 tight end, caught the five-yard touchdown pass wide open and the Mustangs led 14-13. Thompson's 26-yard field goal then put Tech into deep trouble before Cones took advantage of Blackburn's error.

Aggies Spoil Baylor Plans

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Carl Roaches scored on a teammate's miscue and set up a field goal with a pass reception Saturday night as Texas A&M spoiled Baylor's homecoming with a 20-0 victory before a record Baylor crowd of 51,200.

It was the third straight Southwest Conference triumph for A&M, the nation's eighthranked team, and made the Aggies favorites to represent the conference in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1.

Roaches, a 165-pound junior, scored A&M's winning touchdown when he grabbed teammate Bubba Bean's fumble and sprinted 56 yards through a clear field midway in the first quarter.

Bean was short of a first down when he was hit about the A&M 35-yard line and the ball popped forward to the 44 when Roaches, slanting in from his wide receiver slot, took it waist high on the first bounce and used his .5 speed to run away from Baylor defenders.

In the closing minutes of the first half, Roaches pulled in a 15-yard pass from quarterback David Walker at the Baylor 28.

Backs Direct Tide, 41-3

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Quarterbacks Robert Fraley and Jack O'Rear, subbing in fine style, directed fourth-ranked Alabama to a 41-3 football victory over outclassed Texas Christian Saturday.

Fraley scored once and threw two scoring passes and O'Rear ran for one touchdown and passed for another.

Fraley triggered the Crimson Tide, now 7-0, on an 83-yard drive on its first possession taking it in himself from the four.

With 55 players seeing first period action for Alabama, fourth-stringer O'Rear took the Tide on a 68-yard march, capped by Rick Watson's one-yard scoring run.

After TCU's Tony Biasatti kicked a 30-yard field goal late in the half, the Horned Frogs tried an onsides kick, but Rick McLain fell on it for Alabama at the TCU 49.

Willie Shelby, who ran for 86 yards on only 6 carries, got 31 of them on the next play and the Tide then moved to the 5 from where Fraley hit George Pugh with a scoring pass.

In the second half, Fraley hit Ozzie Newsome and O'Rear hit Jerry Brown on scoring tosses, both for 15 yards, and O'Rear scrambled 21 yards for another score.

IT'S MINE — Big Spring quarterback Mark Moore refuses to let go of the ball as Rebel chargers swarm over him in an attempt to wrestle it away. The Steers suffered their fifth straight loss at the hands of Midland Lee here Friday night, 27-7, in a 5-4A contest. (Photo By Danny Valdes)

Rebel Charge Stops Steer Drive, 27-7

By CLARK LESHER

Big Spring played heads up ball through three quarters but the Rebel charge broke the game wide open in the fourth to pocket a 27-7 verdict over the Steers here Friday night in Memorial Stadium.

Lee held somewhat an uneasy 13-7 lead over two periods, scoring seven in the first and six in the second. Big Spring closed the gap with seven second quarter points.

The Rebels put the game completely out of Steer reach in the uneventful fourth, ramming across 14 big ones.

Big Spring continued to sputter as in past billings as the Steers failed to cash in on a fourth and three situation.

The Steers timing was checked real quick on a first quarter fumbled ball, an interception, another pass miscue in the third, and a second offensive fourth quarter bobble.

Lee had to wait patiently until 3:05 of the first to make its TD entry. Russell Kellner swivel hipped his way into the Steers end zone from the 12. Milton Jones' kick provided the PAT.

Jones switched from tailback to fullback this season by Rebel coach James Acree leaped across for Lee's second TD at 8:02 of the second. Extra point try by Jones was no good.

Jon Russ showed a brief Steer smoke'em in the second. He initiated this TD pursuit by hauling in a Lee pass attempt on the Steer 13.

Then Doub Robison amazed the crowd four plays later with his trickery as he faked a fourth down punt and raced through Rebels' middle for 27 yards.

Time was running out on the second frame clock but Big Spring still excited over the two R's efforts made a hole for Danny Ferrell to scamper through. He brought an ovation from the crowd racing 51 yards to Lee's end zone with a breath-taking 35 seconds left. James Coffey kicked the PAT.

Big Spring, unable to get on the board, here on in kept Lee checked through the third period, but a Rebel fourth quarter drive locked the Steer gate.

Greg Rendall, Lee's quarterback caught Big Spring off-guard at 11:27 of the fourth as he sprinted in for six. This play had been formulated by Rusty Laughlin's interception of a Steer pass. He raced the sidelines for 51 yards to close out the third. Then Rendall made his apperance.

Lee, still on the move, added another TD for insurance protection. Clyde Gary bolted over from the two with 3:01 left in the finale. Jones quickly provided the PAT, a kick.

Big Spring found its main spring unwound early in the first. Lee's Robert Johnson grabbed a Steer pass at 3:40 and Big Spring's fumbled ball was lost at 1:29.

The Steers failed to take note of a fourth quarter endeavor on another lost ball.

Yeoman defensive handling was seen by Steers' Joe Rains, John Miller, Ray McCutcheon and Mark Starks.

Big Spring, though gaining only 58 yards rushing, switched to the air and piled up 224 yards. Steers' quarterback Mark Moore found a new target in Ken McMurty. He was on the receiving end five times for a net gain of 72 yards.

Lee had vivid memories of last year's contest as the Steers won, 27-12.

Both Lee and Big Spring had punt situation come up only twice. The Rebels, noted for being a ground pounder, slipped to the aerial paths three times.

The Rebels are 6-1 overall and 3-1 in 5-4A. Big Spring stands 2-5 for the year, loser in the last five and district wide, 0-4.

Controversial Call Spices Bulldog Loss

By TROY BRYANT

COAHOMA — A controversial call in the last ten seconds of the game Friday night robbed the Coahoma Bulldogs of their third district win as a Jody Bennett pass was ruled incomplete in the end zone as the Bulldogs trailed the Ballinger Bearcats 10-6.

The play capped a brilliant passing drive engineered by ailing quarterback Jody Bennett which started on Coahoma's 23 yard line with only 1:35 remaining in the game. He hit receivers Joe Brant and Randy Gee for several good gains and drove down to the five yard line with ten seconds left in the game.

Bennett rolled out of the pocket and found Gee all alone in the end zone, and one official signalled a touchdown and the Bulldogs started celebrating. However, another official across the field from play ruled that the pass had been trapped and that it was incomplete.

The Bulldogs tried to run another play but the clock ran out, preserving the Ballinger win.

The loss did not mathematically eliminate Coahoma from the District race, but Hamlin and Ballinger must lose their remaining games, and Coahoma must win to stay alive in District 6-AA.

Coahoma is now 2-1-1 in District play while Ballinger is 2-1. Hamlin, which enjoyed an open date, is now 3-0.

The Ballinger defense was impressive all night long, holding the Bulldogs inside the four yard line earlier in the fourth quarter.

Ballinger took the lead in the contest with 4:10 to go in the first quarter as they took a Bulldog punt on their own 40 yard line and drove the 60 yards for the score.

Tommy Parrish ran the last 14 yards for the touchdown and Jimmy Smith's extra point kick put Ballinger ahead 7-0.

Tommy Parrish ran the

The rest of the first half was a defensive battle as the tough Ballinger defense kept the Bulldogs outside Bearcat territory most the the rest of the half.

In the third quarter, Coahoma's defense held Ballinger as they drove from their own 30 yard line after taking the kickoff down into scoring range, but were thwarted when Bill Jennings intercepted a Ballinger pass in the end zone.

The Coahoma offense finally showed signs of untracking in the fourth quarter as they took a Bobcat punt on their own six yard line and using the inspired running of Putt Choate, drove down to the first and ten on the 11 yard of Ballinger.

Four plays could only net them eight yards, however, and Ballinger took over on downs on the four yard line.

Ballinger then put together their own impressive drive, moving down to Coahoma's 15 yard line before the defense stopped them. Jimmy Smith came on the field on fourth down and kicked a 25-yard field goal to give Ballinger a 10-0 lead with six minutes left in the game.

Ballinger tried to run out the clock after stopping the Bulldog offense once more, but an inspired play by a Bulldog defensive lineman knocked the ball loose from Ballinger's Fredrick Snell, and Coahoma recovered the fumble on the Ballinger 36 yard line. On the very next play, Bennett hit Ricky Patterson with a pass on the five yard line and he shook off two tacklers and darted into the end zone. He was injured on the play and did not finish the game.

For the extra points, the Bulldogs lined up in kick information, but Bennett rolled out to pass, but it was intercepted in the end zone and Ballinger preserved the 10-6 lead.

WINNING TOUCHDOWN? — Coahoma's Randy Gee (23) signals "touchdown" along with his teammates in the closing seconds of Friday night's game with the Ballinger Bearcats. One official signalled that the score was good but another ruled the pass incomplete in the last 10 seconds of the game. If the TD was allowed, Coahoma would have led 12-10 with four seconds left, but instead, Coahoma lost, 10-6.

Aggies Stunned

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska cornerbacks Ardell Johnson and Jim Burrow made key defensive plays in the final three minutes to halt Oklahoma State drives and preserve a 7-3 victory for the ninth-ranked Cornhuskers in a Big Eight Conference football game Saturday.

With Nebraska holding a 7-3 lead, Johnson recovered Cowboy quarterback Charlie Weatherbie's fumble on the one-yard line with 3:22 showing on the clock to stop an Oklahoma State drive that had covered 79 yards in 10 plays.

The Husker offense could not sustain a drive on the next series and had to punt. Oklahoma State started its final drive on its own 38 yard line. Weatherbie threw three incompleted passes and his fourth aerial was picked off on the 14 by Burrow who returned it to the 33 with 55 seconds remaining in the game.

Nebraska's lone touchdown came in the third period when fullback Tony Davis popped over from the four-yard line.

His tally capped an 11-play, 79-yard drive highlighted by quarterback Dave Humm's 30-yard pass to Ritch Bahe on third down.

Oklahoma State's only score came with 12:01 remaining in the fourth period, when Abbie Daigle put the Cowboys on the board with a 32-yard field goal.

It was an expected defensive show. Nebraska went into the game ranked second nationally in total defense, and Oklahoma State is ranked third in that department.

Poaching Increased

By The Associated Press

The ancient and oft-maligned practice of poaching is on the increase in hunting areas across the country, say game and wildlife officials. The price of steak, unemployment and inflation are among the explanations offered for the increase.

"Ten years ago, a lot of poaching was a carryover of the old tradition of living off the land," said Norma Ames of the New Mexico Game and Fish Department. "Now your poachers contain a much larger percentage of urban people concerned about getting meat."

Most poaching involves deer—hunting them without licenses or permits, shooting them out of season, hunting at night or with spotlights and illegal killing of does.

The kings of ancient Assyria, faced with similar problems protecting the royal preserves, resorted to cutting off the bow arm of poachers. In 19th century England, judges just shipped poachers off to Australia. In Ohio, the maximum fine for deer hunting without a permit is now $500 and 30 days in jail.

Without returning to the punishments of old, officials in several states said more severe penalties were necessary now to deal with the poaching problems. "We're going to have to keep fines in line with the price of meat," said Charley Kelly, director of Alabama's Game and Fish Department.

Texas officials reported 118 violations during August of the two major hunting laws—killing or possession of deer out of season and hunting at night. That was up more than 100 per cent from the 58 violations reported in August of last year.

Despite fines, some people feel poaching is worth the risk, said Henry Burkett, director of law enforcement for the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife. "When inflation is up to your eyeballs, they feel that the free meat can save them money unless they get caught," said Burkett.

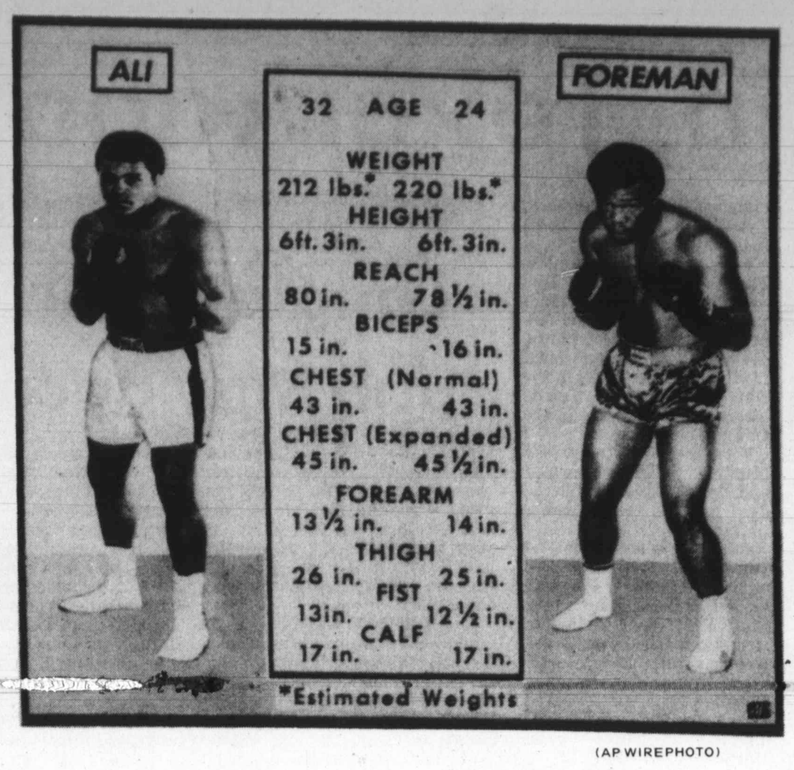

Like other state officials, Burkett reported that most of the illegal hunting was being done by people who wanted to put meat on their own tables.

However, three men were fined $5,060 after being stopped in Belton, Texas with 13 dead deer. Burkett said they were leaving venison at cafes and lining up customers for a regular run.

In Michigan, there were 5,500 poaching arrests between January and June of this year, up 500 from the same period last year Mississippi officers have handled 1,896 more poaching cases this year than last. Fines totaling $249,000 have been handed out in Mississippi this year, up $62,000 over last year.

Unemployment has aggravated the situation this year.

"A person who has lost his job may be more interested in providing food for himself and his family," said Anthony Dean, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation. "And someone who is not working may have more time to enter into outdoor pursuits."

Wolves Caught

COLORADO CITY — Anson built up a two-touchdown lead at half-time and went on to defeat Colorado City, 28-7, here Friday night.

The resident Wolves had cut Anson's edge to just five points before Anson's Johnny Breeker broke loose on a 75-yard scoring jaunt just before the half. Benny Jackson added the two extra points after taking a pass.

Late in the opening period, QB Tony Watts had put the Tigers out in front with a three-yard run. The touchdown had been set up on a 60-yard run by Breeker, who broke loose after taking an option pass from Watts.

In the second, Anson's Moreland ran 20 yards for a TD to climax a 72-yard scoring surge.

Ed Warren, Colorado City halfback, powered his way one yard for Cee City's initial score at the end of a 65-yard march midway in the second. Robert Rivera booted the point.

The only touchdown in the second half occured in the final round when Jerry Vaughn of Anson blocked a punt. Watts ran in the final two points of the game.

Anson is now 5-2-1 on the year and 2-1-1 in 6-AA play. Colorado City has an overall mark of 2-5 and is 1-2 within district.

Coahoma Wins Two

COAHOMA — Crane's seventh and eighth graders dropped a pair of games here Thursday, 24-0 and 22-0 respectively to Coahoma.

Coahoma's eight's scoring came from Gary Hulme's 50-yard intercepted pass, Tracy Frazier's 13-yard run and Danny Tucker's 59-yard gallop. Jim Bob Reed ran over the PAT's after Frazier's and Tucker's TD's Isidro Mendez, Tony Flores and Tim Davidson collected six points each for Coahoma seventh graders. Mendez chalked up four points and Flores' two in the PAT department.

Seagraves Holds On To Outscore Stanton

SEAGRAVES — Favored Seagraves hung on to edge a crippled Stanton team, 30-22, here Friday night.

Bill Young's Buffaloes fought back to tie the count at 22-22 late in the third period, but Seagraves mountained a sustained drive that paid off with the winning score in the first four minutes of the fourth round.

Stanton came right back to threaten, moving from its own 20 to the enemy before Seagraves' Brad Weeds picked off an errant pass at the Eagle 35.

Seagraves scored with 6:39 left in the opening period when Gary Crutcher rolled 81-yards across the double stripes. The kick attempt for the extra point was blocked.

Elvin Brown accounted for Stanton's first tally on a four-yard run with 1:47 left in Round One. The try for point was aborted.

With 10:48 left in the second, Robert Tamez bruised two yards for Seagraves' second TD. A pass from Ken Norton to Kenny Jackson tacked on two extra points.

Crutcher scored again for Seagraves from 28 yards away with 7:01 left in the second, after which Norton flipped an aerial to Weeds for two conversion points and Seagraves left at half time with a 22-16 bulge.

The third period was all Stanton. Brown cranked up for the Buffs' second score, going one yard over left tackle. Gordon Eiland passed to Johnny Gonzales for two extra points. Stanton had cut the margin to 22-14.

With 1:57 left in the quarter, Eiland sprinted five yards for Stanton's third TD, then barreled over for the two extra points that enabled Stanton to tie the count at 22-all.

With 8:50 left in the fourth period, Joe Stanley put Seagraves out in front to stay with a one-yard carry, after which he accounted for two extra points on a rush at the line.

The defeat left Stanton with a 4-3 overall record. In conference, the Buffs are 0-1. They host Plains next Friday.

On offense, QB Eiland and FB Brown were outstanding for the Buffs. On defense, HB Darrell Christian glistened.

Fishing Improves At Lake Spence

White bass fishing picked up at Lake E. V. Spence during the past week, but there were good catches of the old reliables — channel cat and black bass — plus several striped bass. A few crappie catches showed up in the report.

Various areas reporting were:

Y. J.'s Marina — Debbie and Billy Hefner, 23 white bass to 1½ lb, and a 3-lb striped bass; Henry Watson, McCamey, 10 black bass to 3¾-lb.; Y. J. Sherrill, Robert Lee, 3½-lb. blac, also 5 channel cat to 5 lb.

Henry's Care & Striper Inn — Howard Henry Jr., Robert Lee, three blacks to 3 lb.; Mr. Edwards Tahoka, 40 white bass to 1½ l., also 6-lb. striper; Windy Stoneman, Lubbock, 10 blacks to 3½ lb.;; Jack Barkley, San Angelo, 4½-lb. striper; Lanney Swannee and party, Slaton, 8 blacks to 4 lb.; David Jones, Littlefield, 30 white bass; T. K. Duncan and party, Seminole, 12 channel cat to 3 lb.; John Milton, Robert Lee, five channel cat to 6 lb.; Le Roy Crawunder, Shallowwater, seven white bass, also 3-lb. black bass; Jack Maiers, Midlnad, five blacks to 2½ lb.; C. Sands Loses Again, 6-0

HAWLEY — Hard-luck Sands lost another heart-breaker here Friday night to Hawley, 6-0.

Hawley dominated the offensive action but the only time it was able to get in occurred in the third period when Bearcat Tony Pack probed left guard for one yard. The try for point failed.

Hawley advanced to within the shadow of the Sands goal six different times but penalties, combined with fumbles, set it back in all but the Pack touchdown try.

The Mustangs, though touch on defense, could not mount anything resembling an offensive punch. The Mustangs gained only 43 yards rushing and just six yards passing.

The Ponies are now 1-6 overall and stand 0-4 in district. Hawley is 3-4 on the year and 1-3 within conference.

Score By Quarters:
Hawley	0	0	6	0—6

Dawson Humbles Klondike, 16-0

KLONDIKE — Dawson shutout Klondike 19-0 here Friday night in a 2B eight-man contest.

Dawson's Hesse Martinez scored all of his team's points which took place in the last half. Jim Hataway's kick provided the lone PAT after Martinez's final touchdown.

NFL REPORT

Cards Very Much Alive

By The Associated Press

"I don't think we're different from any other team in the National Football League," says St. Louis Cardinals' Coach Don Coryell.

Oh, but he's wrong, of course. The Cards are very much different—and they want to stay that way. They want to remain the only unbeaten team in the league.

To do so, they've got to knock off George Allen's visiting Washington Redskins on Sunday, the halfway mark of the season.

Coryell, naturally, isn't talking about being unbeaten. He's talking about the desire every team and every coach has. "All of us desperately want to win. We will use our material the best we can.

"Maybe I take it for granted that other coaches feel the same way. George Allen has Charley Taylor. We throw to Mel Gray. We run Terry Metcalf. He has Larry Brown."

Coryell also has Jim Hart at quarterback—but it's Coryell who calls the signals, shuttling in plays. Hart doesn't seem to mind that. "It's refreshing," he says. "You get a feeling of being an 'offensive' offensive team, instead of a 'defensive' offensive team.

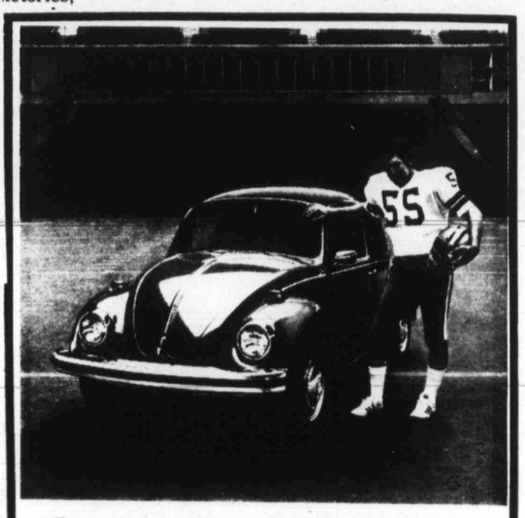

The Cardinals already have the upper hand over Washington. They beat the Redskins 17-10 in the second weekend of action. With another victory, St. Louis would become the first National Conference East team ever to knock off the Allencoached 'Skins twice in one year.

In Sunday's other games, it's Philadelphia at New Orleans, Chicago at Buffalo, Houston at Cincinnati, Denver at Cleveland, Green Bay at Detroit, Baltimore at Miami, Dallas at the New York Giants, Los Angeles at the New York Jets, New England at Minnesota, Kansas City at San Diego and Oakland at San Francisco. On Monday night, it's Atlanta at Pittsburgh.

The Eagles and Redskins are tied at 4-2, two games back of the Cards. Philadelphia will face the Saints' Archie Manning, restored to a starting role at quarterback after a oneweek benching. Bobby Scott, who led New Orleans to its first road victory in 19 games, is back on the sidelines with a knee injury.

Carl Garrett, who rushed for 101 yards last Monday night against Green Bay, is expected to get some help with the return of Jim Harrison. Their running will counter Buffalo's, led by the NFL ground-gaining leader, O.J. Simpson. The Bills, who have run off four straight victories,

They just go on and on and on.
Both Lee Roy Jordan and the Beetle have been around a long time. But they both still have a lot of good years ahead of them.
During his career, Lee Roy has earned the reputation for being Mr. Reliable. The Beetle, in its own league, is just as reliable. Even Lee Roy would have to be impressed with these stats.
A lot of Beetles are still on the road with over 100,000 miles on them. Which shouldn't be surprising considering the way they're built. Every Beetle is coated with 13 pounds of paint, has a sealed bottom, is inspected by 1000 inspectors, and is covered by the Owner's Security Blanket, the most advanced car coverage plan in the world.
And if and when you sell it, a Beetle offers extraordinary resale value. A 1972 Beetle retails for about as much today as it did new.
But here the similarity between Lee Roy and the Beetle ends. You can get a Beetle for only $2625.* It'll cost you a lot more to get Lee Roy.

Lamesa Nipped

BROWNFIELD - Brownfield overcame a Lamesa lead to edge the Golden Tornadoes, 8-7, in District 3-AAA play here Friday night.

The Tornadoes have yet to win in district competition this season. Lamesa is the defending conference titlist.

Halfback Anthony Manuel put Lamesa out in front in the second quarter on a three-yard run, after which the Tornadoes added the PAT.

Midway through the third, Brownfield marched 89 yards for its touchdown. QB Scott Wiley kept the ball on an option and raced the final 43 yards to pay dirt.

Still trailing, 7-6, the Cubs scored what proved to be the winning margin when Wiley passed to Robert Lepard for two points on the conversion try.

Brownfield had 11 first downs to nine for Lamesa. The Tornadoes outgained the Cubs on the ground, 175 yards to 155, and through the air, 50-24.

Brownfield's win was its second of the year in seven starts. In district, the win was the first for Brownfield in three assignments.

Morton Glad To Be Giant

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Craig Morton, who has been unhappy as backup to Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach, gets a starting opportunity Sunday when the Cowboys travel to Yale Bowl to face the New York Giants Sunday.

The start, however, won't be for the Cowboys.

Morton was shipped to the Giants Tuesday for New York's No. 1 draft choice in 1975.

New York should be glad to see the Cowboys. The Giants' lone 1974 National Football League victory came in Dallas last month when they scored an impressive 14-6 decision.

In that game, New York scored two touchdowns within 64 seconds, sacked Staubach six times, intercepted three passes and recovered two fumbles.

The Giants have been going downhill since then and have dropped three straight games. They tried combinations of veterans Norm Snead and Jim Del Gaizo and rookie Carl Summerell at quarterback, but none had been able to move the club. That's why Morton was imported. To make room for him, the Giants sent Snead to San Francisco for two draft choices.

Coach Bill Arnsparger had little doubt that Morton would be able to learn the Giants' offensive system in time to start against the Cowboys.

"Compared to the Dallas offense, ours is relatively simple," Arnsparger said. "Craig should have no trouble picking it up quickly. He's a person that has had some experience, a person that has been in some big ball games."

Morton's arrival excited members of the Giants' offensive unit, and Snead's departure should quiet the Yale Bowl boo-birds who have blamed him for the Giants' failures.

Dallas hasn't been winning very often either. The Cowboys had dropped four straight games before beating Philadelphia last week.

In that game, Calvin Hill rushed for 140 yards and caught five passes from Staubach for 27 more. Drew Pearson, the NFL's leading receiver, also grabbed five passes for 77 yards as Staubach pushed his season's total to 1,329 yards, top in the league.

Borden County Picks Off GC

GAIL — Teddy Cooley and Garland Williams each scored two touchdowns for Borden County in the Coyotes' 32-12 District 1-B eight-man victory over Garden City here Friday night.

The Coyotes managed to score in every quarter. The win was the fourth in seven assignments for Borden County.

Buffs Survive 3B Acid Test

STERLING CITY — Coach Jack Woodley's Forsan Buffaloes proved this could be their 3B year as they survived an acid test from Sterling City, 12-7, here Friday night.

The Buffs, though not ranked state-wide, have compiled a fantastic 7-0 seasonal output and likewise unblemished 4-0 3B showing.

Sterling City, playing before a standing homecoming crowd, had suffered only one loss prior to this all-important contest. Its record is now 5-2 overall and 2-2 3B.

Forsan, encountering probably its most physical game, kept Sterling City just enough off-balance to grab this key win.

Wesley Thixton came to Forsan's aid first by scoring on a eight-yard first quarter TD. This drive netted 63-yards in 10 plays.

Forsan completed its scoring in the third on a 72-yard drive 12-play pattern. John Medlin hauled in a 22-yard TD pass from Ralph Miranda.

Sterling City came back in the fourth with a 88-yard run TD by Russell Davis. PAT was good. Sterling got hold of the ball with less than a minute remaining to play but forward movement was stymied.

Thixton carried the ball 18 times for 81 yards, Miranda, 15 for 67, and Landon Soles, 18 for 63.

Woodley said, "I feel that we got a great effort out of the win. Our boys took it to them all the way and rose to every occasion except Sterling's one long run."

Forsan is back home next Friday entertaining 3B rival Hawley.

San Angelo Ties Game

MIDLAND — With seconds left in the final quarter, San Angelo tied Midland 13-13 here Friday night in a 5-4A District contest.

The Bulldogs, leading 13-7, lost the ball on a fourth down play on their own 19. San Angelo's Rick Crain passed to Freddy Davis for the TD.

Vance Jenkins' first extra point try was wide for San Angelo. A Midland penalty gave Jenkins another shot and on that try, the boot split the uprights and a 13-13 deadlock.

Both teams are 5-1-1 for the season and 2-1-1 in 5-4A.

Longley Worried QB Job May Become His

DALLAS (AP) — Last July, Clint Longley was worried about getting a job after graduating from Abilene Christian College in West Texas. Today, Longley is still worried, but now it is because the job may be his any minute.

And that would mean stepping right in at quarterback for the National Football League Dallas Cowboys, if anything should happen to No. 1 quarterback Roger Staubach.

"I feel extremely fortunate as a rookie, being the No. 2 quarterback for a power like Dallas," said the soft-spoken Longley who last year carried Abilene Christian to a National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championship.

The Cowboys have not overpowered anyone this year and, with a 2-4 record, are in danger of being left out of the playoffs for the first time in eight years. They meet the Giants in New York Sunday.

Longley's quick move to the No. 2 spot has been the result of a combination of talent and circumstances. The most important factor was the removal, by way of a trade to the New York Giants, of second man Craig Morton early this week.

But before then Longley already had established himself as the No. 3 man, eliminating two rookies and two veterans in the tryouts.

Then Coach Tom Landry decided to give Longley a chance against the Kansas City Chiefs after Staubach injured a rib, and the rookie came through with an impressive passing performance.

"That was my big opportunity," he said. "Roger had hurt his ribs and Craig hurt his hand. It worked out well for me.

"What can I say, really, except that I enjoyed it."

Longley had been scouted by the Cowboys, but was drafted by Cincinnati.

Eagles Fly By Broncos

ABILENE — The Eagles from Abilene put together 14 points in the final frame to upset Odessa High, 23-20, here Friday night in a 5-4A game.

Odessa had built up a 20-9 lead, but Eagles' Jimmy Minor threw two TD passes within a 15 second span to hobble the Broncos.

Abilene now stands 4-3 overall and 2-2 district wide. Odessa falls to a 2-5 seasonal performance and in 5-4A, 0-4.

Mojo Shows 5-4A Power

ODESSA — Mojo showed off its power here Friday night before a homecoming crowd as Permian stopped Abilene Cooper, 14-6 in a 5-4A contest.

Permian's two touchdowns were provided by Travis Howard in the first and second quarters. Runs involved were four yards and one yard, respectively.

Cooper dented the scoreboard on Troy Deen's nine-yard pass to Dee Flamming in the second.

Mojo keeps its seasonal record unblemished with a 7-0 mark and 4-0 in district action.

Fifth-ranked White Oak lost 12-9 to Whitehouse and 10th-rated Friona was stopped 6-0 by Olton in Class 2A games. No. 1 Hamshire-Fannett shackled Anahuac 28-0, No. 2 Newton strapped Kirbyville 27-0, third-ranked Comanche scalped Breckenridge 20-14, No. 4 Freer slapped Hebbronville 20-6, No. 6 Kenedy nudged Karnes City 14-6, No. 7 Hooks white-washed Paul Pewitt 0, eighth-ranked Van Vleck overcame Bloomington 14-6 and Floydada, tied for 10th with Friona, blasted Tulia 33-14. Number 9 Dimmitt did not play.

Three members of the Class A elite were defeated, although division kingpin Aledo slaughtered Boyd 77-0. Honey Grove spoiled No. 4 Whitewright 12-9, No. 5 Deweyville was surprised 53-9 by Hardin and No. 10 Crowell fell 20-3 to KNOX City. Second-rated Rankin busted Balmorhea 38-12, No 3 Brookshire Royal crushed Tidehaven 55-0, No. 6 Falls City rapped Skidmore Tynan 49-0 and No. 7 Schulenburg crushed Lexington 61-0. Eighth-ranked Jim Ned and No. 9 Grapeland were not scheduled.

Three top Class B games will be played tonight. Number 1 Big Sandy tangles with Leverett's Chapel, third-ranked Bronte meets Loraine and No. 7 Axtell plays Riesel. In Friday night's contests, No. 2 Wortham punished Scurry-Rosser 68-0, No. 4 Runge humbled Navarro 62-0, fifth-rated Celina bounced S&S Consolidated 76-0, No. 8 Sundown outscored Anton 35-20, No. 9 Groom saddened Happy 49-6 and 10th-ranked Paradise burned Perrin 70-0. Sixth-rated Valley View was stopped 18-13 by Alvord.

HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are certainly stirred up to get out from under whatever you have agreed to do, but you can take upon yourself new interests even more confining and difficult to handle. Don't get rid of present outlets, or commit yourself to new ones.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Help others in need, then your own troubles will seem lighter. Don't fall for some bait which romantic tie tries to feed you.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Don't quarrel with a pal who has been treating you badly of late, since this person is under pressure of some sort. Avoid the social.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Safeguard your reputation, or you could lose the favor of bigwigs who are watching you. Do philanthropid work that adds to prestige.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Sit down with bigwigs and gain their advice, then you make big headway in the near future. Stop being a martyr; take your rightful place.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Use good judgment and intuition to make the most of this day. Mate may be irked and wants to make you the whipping boy. Silence heals.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sepg. 22) You want to lash out at partners for what you believe are their faults, but this would only bring heated retaliation that is best avoided.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A fellow worker is not in a good mood, so handle own work yourself without relying on this person now. Avoid one who bickers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't get together with others, but enjoy pleasures you can attend alone. You want to lambast mate, but it would be wise to keep quiet.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Entertain at home and please kin thereby; show more devotion than in the past. Express appreciation for favors received.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan 20) Drive with utmost car. Don't permit others to bother you so much on the telephone, and don't make any unnecessary noise.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb. 19) You think you can buy your way out of difficulty, but if you face the facts honestly, you do much better. Study budget and economize.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You are discontented and want to fly off the handle, but use tact instead. Improve appearance and health. Be happy with those you love.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: New conditions come to your attention as the new week opens. You would be wise to combine the suggestions from others with your own wishes to pioneer new outlets of expression. You have to be open-minded for best results.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You have fine ideas now and should bring them to the attention of one who is influential. Make new acquaintances tonight.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) With the help from experts you can put over a deal now that was difficult in the past. Use a better method in romantic goals.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Seek new friends and find the type of enjoyment that you desire. A trusted friend can be most helpful at a group affair.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Gain the goodwill of influential persons so that you can rely on them when necessary. Show your finest talent.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Engaging in a new venture now could be profitable and a fine exercise for your fertile mind. Obtain information you need.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You would be wise to take care of your responsibilities in a more enthusiastic and accurate way. Show more understanding with mate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can now study a situation well and come to a meeting of minds with an associate. Be more understanding with mate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take time to buy new garments that make you look more charming. Stay within your price range. Don't neglect health treatments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Show your finest talents to those who can help you commercialize on them. Avoid one who is a spendthrift. Be wise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make sure that everything is functional and harmonious at home before inviting friends for entertainment. Be poised.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You thinking in a clever way now and can accomplish much in your line of endeavor. Objectivity is the keynote now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Find more modern methods of increasing your income to meet the higher cost of living. A business expert can be helpful.

Mo-Pac Inks Agreement

ST. LOUIS — Shareholders of the Missouri Pacific Railroad today overwhelmingly approved a plan and an agreement to merge into MoPac the Texas and Pacific Railway and the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad. Missouri Pacific will be the surviving company.

Shareholders of the T&P approved the agreement on Friday, Oct. 18, and a special meeting of stockholders of the C&EI will be held on Thursday, Oct. 24, for this purpose.

The merger plan provides that all outstanding shares of the T&P and C&EI will be exchanged for new shares of the Missouri Pacific at the ratio of 9.5 shares of MoPac common stock for each one share of T&P outstanding and 1.1 shares of MoPac Common stock for each one share of C&EI outstanding.

The T&P operates 2,134 miles of track in Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma and the C&EI operates 644 miles of track in Illinois. The merged system will include 11,726 miles of track and the three railroads reported $753,582,000 in revenues and $30,895,000 in net income last year.

New Rodeway Supervisor

DALLAS — Rodeway Inns of America, Inc., has announced the appointment of Mrs. Susan Cunningham to personnel supervisor in the headquarters offices at 2880 L.B.J. Freeway, Dallas.

Mrs. Cunningham joined Rodeway Inns in April 1974 as secretary to Jack Collins Sr., vice president of project development and was formerly associated with the Governor of Texas' office in the division of planning coordination. She was also previously administrative secretary of the governor's office of educational research and planning.

Mrs. Cunningham is a graduate of Texas Tech University. A native of Big Spring, she lives with her husband, Terry, in Dallas.

Hopes To Stay In United States

NEW YORK (AP) — Thomas Barta, a member of a four-man Hungarian rock music group which recently toured the United States, has defected and hopes to remain in this country, a spokesman for ABC-Dunhill Records says.

The spokesman said Friday that Barta married an American, Carol Russin, who went along on the tour as a representative of Jimmy Miller Productions.

He said Barta, who is living in Los Angeles and looking for work, wrote to the Hungarian government to announce his marriage and his intention to apply for U.S. citizenship. The Hungarian government wrote to Barta telling him to come back, the spokesman said.

Opera Star Bounces Back

NEW YORK (AP) — Opera star Beverly Sills was in satisfactory condition after undergoing surgery for the removal of a malignancy in her pelvic area.

Miss Sills, 45 and the mother of two, had the operation on Thursday after flying back from Dallas where she had been rehearsing for "Lucreta Borgia."

A spokeswoman said the operation was a "total success"' and the singer would know by Monday whether further treatment was necessary.

Trouble In Auto Industry

DETROIT (AP) — Huge auto price increases and a downturned economy are keeping buyers out of the car showrooms this fall, causing auto industry layoffs and tumbling stock prices.

General Motors, with sales down a whopping 34 per cent during mid-October, is dropping second shifts at three plants on Nov. 11 and slowing down an assembly line in December, laying off 6,000 workers indefinitely.

The layoffs came at the earliest point in a model-year in recent GM history—a time when production should be running full throttle. Industry observers said it is a sign that more layoffs are certain.

Chrysler, whose dealers are reportedly stuck with a 95-day stock of new cars, has threatened to close one of its six assembly plants—and throw 5,000 Detroit workers off the job—unless sales rebound.

After sales figures came in showing the industry 28 per cent below a year ago and Chrysler announced its cost-cutting programs, many shareholders couldn't wait to unload their auto stocks.

Shares of Big Three common stock were up for grabs on Wall Street this past week. Ford, GM and Chrysler were the most actively traded stocks Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange, all heavy losers.

GM reported Friday that its third quarter profits plunged 94 per cent from last year. GM said increasing costs and sagging sales brought its profits for the three-month period down from the record level of $267 million a year ago to $16 million.

Auto executives, who rarely mention the price hike factor in auto sales, have begun to rake President Ford over the coals for urging Americans to save instead of buy.

At midweek, after disclosing a third-quarter loss of $8 million at Chrysler Corp., Chairman Lynn Townsend said consumers "have been asked not to buy, and they're not buying."

But Jack Neal, a spokesman for the National Automobile Dealers Association in Washington, said buyers are being scared away by sky-high prices.

One Big Three vice president, who did not want to be identified, said there is a lot of sympathy in industry circles for Townsend's attack on Ford. He said he believes restrictive government credit policies "have hurt us more than anything, maybe more than high prices."

Even if consumer thrift is playing a big role in the sagging sales picture, in the words of one dealer: "It's that brand new price tag that's proving so resistible."

The U.S. automakers raised prices at model introduction time last month an average of more than $400. It was the biggest single increase in history and put average car prices almost $1,000 above a year ago.

Dr. James Mathews

Mathews Admitted

MIAMI BEACH, FLA. — More than 1900 initiates were inducted into Fellowship in the American College of Surgeons, the world's largest organization of surgeons, in formal Convocation ceremonies held in the Miami Beach Convention Center Thursday night.

The annual initiation was a highlight of the College's 60th annual Clinical Congress, attended by 20 to 25,000 surgeons, their families, members of other medical disciplines, and members of the scientific and general media. The Congress ends today.

Fellowship (membership) in the College entitles the recipient to the privilege of using the designation "F.A.C.S." after his or her name. It indicates that the surgeon has fulfilled comprehensive requirements of acceptable medical education and advanced training in general surgery or one of the 11 surgical specialities recognized by the College; and has given ample evidence of high moral character and ethical practice.

The five-day clinical congress program also included scientific and industrial exhibits, postgraduate courses, research-in-progress reports, panel discussions and symposia, live telecasts, and films.

Inducted from Big Spring was James Evert Mathews, M.D., member of the surgical staff at Malone & Hogan Clinic.

Dr. Mathews is a native of Pampa, earned a double premed major at Texas Wesleyan, his M.D. at Tulane University in 1954. He did his internship in J. Peter Smith Hospital in Fort Worth, was stationed at Fort Hood, did a residency in surgery at Scott and White in Temple and was on the VA Hospital surgery staff before he joined the clinic here two years ago.

To Visit U·S·

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Swedish King Carl XVI Gustaf will visit the United States during bicentennial celebrations in 1976. Several Swedish-American groups invited the 28-year-old bachelor king to attend, the government said Friday.

WHY — I did not campaign during the Primary of 1974.

1. I was running 326 head of cattle. While working these cattle the foreman was entangled in a rope and lost his life, therefore leaving me the duty of taking care of the cattle on my time off.
2. I was taking care of Commissioners' Court and Probate Court at this time.
3. I had a brother who was very ill and passed away during this time.

WHY — I would like to serve a second term as your County Judge.

1. I like the County Judge position and with four hears experience, I feel I Could be an even better judge the next four years.
2. Also, I would like for the 10,973 citizens who did not vote in the primary election to go vote and write in the write-in column A. G. Mitchell for County Judge.

WHY — Are you going to the polls November 5, 1974 and write in A. G. Mitchell for County Judge? Because the records show that he has for the last thirty years had Big Spring and Howard County at heart and will continue to run your County Government on a sound economical basis.

"Newsmakers"

By JO BRIGHT

The Herald's women employes are "newsmakers" in a sense, because they put it all together — into a daily package which tells the world that nearly 30,000 people are living in Big Spring. Living, working, loving, laughing, crying, selling, buying, talking, listening and doing!

Working for a newspaper gives you more than one ticket through life for, through its pages, you share the lives of many people.

JEANNE STRIEGLER

Behind the scenes are a host of newspaper employes who help chronicle the events of every day. This afternoon, some of them will be on hand to host the Herald's open house.

Come by and say "hello," and meet the women who are part of the newspaper's staff.

Jeanne Striegler, planning coordinator and secretary to the publisher, worked in the travel business for 14 years prior to joining Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc. Her father was a Navy man, so she attended many public schools before enrolling at the University of Texas. Her daughters are Mrs. Dale Mace of Kuala Lumpar, Malaysia; Mrs. Steve Dunca, Washington, D.C.; and Kelli Peters, Big Spring. Since transfering to the Herald three years ago, her job has entailed budgeting for the division, handling national and legal advertising, personnel records, etc.

Lucille Pickle, wife of Joe Pickle, Herald editor, left Texas Tech in 1931 to accept a job with the old Daily Herald, working in the classified and society departments at various times, but leaving for a number of years to rear three sons, Thomas, of Dallas; Gary, married and living [illegible], now a reporter for the Corpus Christi Caller-Times. For a while, she worked part-time, helping when needed, and wrote a social column until two years ago. Called on last summer, she has again become a familiar face in the Women's Department.

Jo Bright, editor of the Women's Department, has been a member of the Herald staff since 1959 and department head since 1964. Included in her responsibilities are newswriting, page layout, copy editing and photo and story assignments. In addition, she writes a column for the editorial page. Mrs. Bright attended the University of Houston where her daughter, Mrs. David (Becky) Williams, is now a student. Her son, Bruce Bright, also resides in Houston. Prior to moving to Big Spring in 1950, Mrs. Bright had worked with U.S. Naval Intelligence, been with the foreign department staff of a Houston bank and, for two years, was an airline stewardess.

The Herald is indebted to the military for several of its most dependable employes, and their voices are familiar to the many advertisers and subscribers who handle their business by telephone.

Neilda Wild is the wife of T. Sgt. Vann H. Wild, and they are the parents of five children, Dale, 15; Carlynne, 14; Terry, 12; David, 10; and Neil, 9. The Wilds arrived here two years ago from the Philippines and, Neilda, who was formerly with the Tampa Tribune in their home state of Florida, has been with the Classified Department of the Herald for 19 months. Her job consists of taking ads and "kills," soliciting for special pages, doing end-of-the-month billing, relieving the switchboard operator and, gererally, keeping the work flowing.

Wedding Rites Held Thursday Afternoon

The parlor of First United Methodist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Julianne Cataldo and Sgt. Larry L. Jones at 1 p.m., Thursday.

Miss Cataldo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace V. Cataldo of Madison, Conn., and the bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Roy McClure of Priest Run, Ida., and Verl Jones of Coeur-d'Alene, Ida.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reeder, 2600 Crestline, are grandparents of the bride.

The Rev. J. B. Sharp officiated, before twin pedestals which held white milk glass vases filled with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums accented by persimmon carnations.

Murry E. Vise Jr., was pianist and vocalist.

The bride wore a street-length dress of light turquoise made along princess lines with A-line skirt. The yoke and long, full sleeves with fitted cuffs were of sheer fabric. Tiny flower edging in shades of green trimmed the dress.

Her shoulder-length veil was held by a large sheer bow trimmed with tiny flowers centered with pearls. She carried a nosegay of green carnations.

Halloween Festivities

Cadette Troup 43 is hosting a Halloween Costume Party for all the Brownie and Junior Girl Scouts in the College Heights, Park Hill, St. Mary's and Immaculate Heart Schools. The event will be held in the county fair barn, 4-5:30 p.m. on Halloween Day. All girls and leaders in the above troops are invited to "don their spookiest costumes and join the fun."

In addition to refreshments, games, costume prizes and a spook house, the Cadettes have planned a Ghost Theatre to portray events in the life of the founder of the Girl Scout movement — Juliette Low. A contribution to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund will be made on behalf of all the Scouts in Service Unit 34.

SCHOOLS

The bride graduated from Daniel Hand High School in Madison and earned a BS degree from the University of Bridgeport at Bridgeport, Conn. She taught at East Lynne High School and was also on the faculty at St. Margaret Episcopal School for Girls at Waterbury, Conn. The past year she has been a counselor for emotionally disturbed and delinquent children at Cedar Knolls School at Hawthorne, N. Y.

The bridegroom graduated from Priest River High School in Idaho, and attended North Idaho Junior College at Coeur d'Alene. He entered the U. S. Air Force in 1970 as an air traffic controller, later serving at Nakhon Phanom, Thailand. He is now stationed at Webb Air Force Base and expects to receive his discharge Nov. 15.

WEDDING TRIP

The couple is on a wedding trip to South Texas and, after his discharge,d will travel to New Mexico, Arizona and California before going to Couer d'Alene to reside.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Lewis F. Chaney of Corpus Christi announce the engagement and future marriage of their daughter, Caren Dell, to Paul Thomas Rawlings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Rawlings, Water Valley. Miss Chaney resides at 403 E. 8th, Apt. 2, and her fiance lives at 1505 Tucson. The couple is planning a February wedding.

Mrs. F. Griffith Forsan Visitor

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. Floyd Griffith, Los Angeles, Calif., is a guest in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gilmore, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. J. W. Griffith.

Mrs. Don Murphy is a surgical patient at Medical Center Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Frank Swiger is a guest at Moutain View Lodge after being discharged from Cowper Clinic and Hospital.

Mrs. L. B. McElrath has returned to Forsan after being with her daughter, Mrs. Al White, who recently had throat surgery.

Workshop Attracts Local PTA Members

The first fall workshop for the 17th District, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, was held Wednesday in Odessa with 15 persons representing Big Spring.

The local representatives were Mrs. Nell Burgess, first vice president for the district; Mrs. Marion Barber, Cleo Carlile, Mrs. Thelma Ditto, Mrs. Helen Jones, Jim Holmes, Mrs. Betty Kloor, Mrs. Helen Larson, Mrs. Mildred Puckett, Mrs. Carol Reeves, Mrs. Lajuana Walter, Mrs. Sherry Wegner, Mrs. Vicky Whiting, Mrs. Vonda Townsend, local PTA council president; and Dr. Emmett McKenzie, school superintendant.

Areas represented, other than Big Spring, were Midland, Pecos, Odessa and Fort Stockton. Ed Clark, Odessa, and Bill Clark, Midland, were in charge of arrangements for the workshop. Registration began at 10 a.m., and total attendance was 70.

Mrs. Ben Johnson, district president, extended the welcome and introduced Wynn who presented the workshop agenda. Tom Patton, Austin, spoke on school financing, explaining the "intracacies" involved in applying and budgeting for various purposes in the school system. In conclusion, he presented a breakdown of financing for Texas schools and showed a film "The Scholar, the Dollar and You."

There were three discussion groups; the subjects being school finance, equalization of tax distribution, and local, state and federal tax appropriation.

In the afternoon, Dr. McKenzie and William M. Holmes, Odessa school superintendent, addressed the delegates. Dr. McKenzie outlined procedure involved in preparing for a bond issue, distributing booklets as guidelines in establishing a need for the bond issue (starting with the professional evaluation of cost involved and factors in determining the plan or plans) and a thorough scrutinizing of the legal technicalities involved. A group discussion followed, concerning the effectiveness of PTA in this regard.

Announcement was made of the state convention at Corpus Christi Nov. 13-15, with a registration fee of $5. A charter bus will leave Midland at 8 a.m., Nov. 12, and accomodations will be at the Sheraton Marina Inn. Each district will be in charge of the hospitality room on a designated date, with the 17th District being hosts Nov. 12.

Housewives Make Every Jar Count

WASHINGTON (AP) — Who put eight great tomatoes in that little bitty jar?

The home canner, that's who, forced by a shortage of equipment to stuff as much produce as possible into each container.

Although the canning season has ended for most parts of the United States, the Agriculture Department already is trying to prod manufacturers into increasing production to avoid shortages next fall.

Increased home canning is predicted because of of inflation and President Ford's plea to each citizen to plant a WIN—Whip Inflation Now—garden.

Meanwhile, Americans who didn't can will find the commercially canned vegetables costing more this fall and winter, with some shortages also expected, according to the Agriculture Department.

The department also said that prices of fresh vegetables this fall are higher than last year, primarily because of smaller harvests and higher markups of middlemen.

The figures that canning equipment manufacturers have provided privately to presidential consumer adviser Virginia Knauer show that only half the raw material they need for full production presently is in the industrial pipeline.

Mrs. Knauer's office already has written 20 steel manufacturers to urge increased production by lidmakers. A Knauer aide said this week that the steel companies have yet to respond to the supply queries.

Gwen McNally and her husband, S.sgt. Kevin R. McNally, whohave a daughter, Cathy, 2, came here from Okinawa in January, 1973, and she has worked in the Classified Department for 15 months. Another child is due in December, after which she plans to rejoin the staff. A jack-of-all-trades, she is a telephone receptionist, cashier, advertising solicitor, prepares tear sheets for merchants, handles billing and collections and does clerical work. Her previous experience was with the Times Herald Record in Middleton, N.Y.

The newest face in the same department is that of Catherine H. Beyer, wife of Lt. Merrill L. Beyer III, a student pilot at the base. They arrived here in August from Colorado Springs, Colo., and she began her job the following month. Catherine assists with ads, classified copy changes, proof reading and soliciting.

Lenora Willingham became a "Herald angel" in 1961 in the Accounting Department and has served as accounts receivable clerk since that time. Her husband, Jewell J. Willingham, is a captain at the central Fire Station. They have two married sons, Larry of Fort Worth and Thomas of Big Spring, as well as a third son, Gary, who lives here. Lenora now works part-time in order to have more visits with her two grandchildren.

Working with Mrs. Willingham is Rita Kay Ellison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Ellison of Luther. As a senior student in the Vocational Office Education program at Big Spring High School, she joined the Herald in June, assisting with posting, preparing mail and general office work.

A lady with technical skills is Carol Ann Avery, a computer operator and AKI tape puncher who doubles on the phototypesetter and does proof reading and paste-up too. Carol, who joined the paper a year ago, is married to Donald L. Avery, a long distance truck driver for Burnham Van Service, and they have one son, Randal Steven, 10.

Sitty Landers, wife of Hudson Landers, manager of Southland Apts., is new to the Herald staff, having joined the group as a proof reader last spring. During spare moments, she is learning to operate computers. The Landers' have a daughter, Mrs. Susan Moore, Ft. Lewis, Wash., and four grandchildren.

Pretty Carla Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Walker of Fairview, is a Big Spring High School senior who is enrolled in the Early Admissions Program at Howard College. In September, she started working part-time at the Herald and is now learning paste-up, proof reading and computer operation.

Sandra Green is supervisor of the tape punchers. She came to The Herald in May, 1970, and learned her trade under supervision of Mary Vick. She is married to Floyd Green, a Safeway employe. She attended business school in Abilene.

Meaningful Prayer For Older People

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago, when my dear grandfather passed away, my son, his first great-grandchild, was given his grandfather's Bible A few weeks ago, I was looking for a particular verse and discovered an old yellow clipping which I would like to share with the many younger people, like myself, who find annoying fault with their elders.

"Lord, thou knowest that I am growing older.

Keep me from getting talkative. Release me from trying to straighten out everybody's Affairs. Keep me from reciting endless

Details. Give me wings to get to the point."

"Give me grace to listen to the tales of others'

Pains, but help me to endure them with patience.

But seal my lips as to my own aches and pains.

Teach me the glorious lesson that occasionally

It is possible that I may be mistaken. Keep me

Reasonably sweet, make me helpful but not bossy.

I want a few friends at the end."

After finding this clipping, I feel sad and ashamed that I did not show more love and patience to this lonely old man.

LINDA M.

DEAR LINDA: Thanks for sharing. Who wrote it?

DEAR ABBY: Why do total strangers feel that they can take the liberty of touching and handling a young baby they've never seen before?

I frequently take my six-month-old son with me when I go shopping, and am constantly appalled at the number of people who feel free to grab his hands or feet, or try to tickle him, even when he's in my arms.

I appreciate remarks on what a lovely baby I have, but I consider touching rude and offensive. Babies are constantly putting their hands (and feet) in their mouths, so how easy it would be to have a cold (or worse) transmitted from a stranger who touched them.

I apologize for using your column to "sound off," Abby, but maybe my message will reach some of the offenders.

What are your thoughts on this?

CONCERNED MOTHER

DEAR CONCERNED: The fear that your baby might be contaminated by a stranger probably is more damaging to you than the actual touching is to the baby.

Simmer down, and calmly discourage strangers from touching with a pleasant: "Please, don't touch." A harsh reprimand will give your child the idea that all strangers are "Typhoid Marys."

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old girl who was born with a large strawberry mark on my right cheek. It's reddish brown and quite conspicuous without makeup. I've been to several outstanding dermatologists and plastic surgeons, and they've all told me the same thing: "It can't be removed, so cover it with makeup and learn to live with it."

The makeup I use does an excellent job of covering the blemish, but it gives me the appearance of being rather heavily made up. (However, it's still preferable to wearing a lighter makeup which wouldn't cover the blemish as well.)

My problem is what to say to well-meaning people who hardly know me, but take me aside and tell me (for my own good) that I'd be much prettier if I didn't use so much makeup.

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: I can think of no better answer than the truth. Try it — you'll be amazed at its effectiveness.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069 Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Foreign Women Speak To Club

Two members of the International Women's Club were guest speakers for the Thursday meeting of the Altrusa Club at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Willard Sullivan, a member of the International Committee, introduced Mrs. Genevieve Hernandez, a native of France, who has been in the United States for three months, and Mrs. Geertje Karwedsky, a native of Holland.

Mrs. Karwedsky told of life in Holland and showed pictures of buildings, dikes, and canals as she described the beautiful architecture.

She showed pictures of tulip fields and said one of the biggest industries in Holland is cheese making which is mainly in the northern part. Holland is comparable to Texas in size, said Mrs. Karwedsky, who also told to habits of women who stay at home, making one trip a year to the beauty shop for a permanent. Their dress is conservative, mainly in black, blue and brown, and they bathe in public bathhouses for 10 cents.

The Karwedskys have eight children, seven foster children and one unadopted child whom they have had since the age of three months.

In telling of France, Mrs. Hernandez said the women past 45 are considered old and have an old appearance. They, too, in the provinces wear clothing made of darker colored materials and only go to a beauty shop once a year, staying home most of the time.

Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday

The wedding of Miss Susie Rodriquez to Roman M. Ramirez was performed Saturday at 4 p.m. in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic church.

Miss Rodriquez is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Rodriquez, Ackerly, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Paula Ramirez, 507 NW 5th, and Felipe Ramirez, Hwy. 87 N.

The ceremony was held before an altar adorned with pink and lavendar carnations backed with greenery. Officiants were the Rev. Louis Moeller, the church priest, and the Rev. Julian Vejil, a Baptist minister.

Mrs. Leslie Green, organist, accompanied Mike Ramiriz, Miss Sarah Haas, and Miss Jaynie Tidwell, vocalists.

The bride's gown was of heavy satin, overlaid with sheer organza, and fashioned with an empire waistline and A-line skirt. The sleeves were full and widely cuffed, and the ring neckline was trimmed with lace and sequins, a motif that was repeated on the lower sleeves and waist. Her illusion veil was held by a band of azares, and her bouquet was of white carnations.

Miss Yolanda Rodriquez of Ackerly, sister of the bride, and maid of honor, wore a white satin dress styled with ring neckline and organza sleeves. Mrs. John Calvin first bridesmaid, also wore white and, Mrs. Ramon Holquin of Forsan, the other bridesmaid, wore lavendar.

John Calvio, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man, and Ramon Holquin, Forsan, was groomsman. Ushers were Victor Rodriquez Jr., Ackerly, the bride's brother, and David Cantu, Ackerly.

Nikki Ann Rodriquez was the flower girl, and ring bearer was Sammy Rodriquez. Erlinda Calvio of Knott, the cushion maid, wore a pink dress.

The couple will live in Big Spring.

The bride is a graduate of Sands High School, and her husband is a Big spring High School graduate. He is employed by Big Spring Automotive Supply.

A reception was held in the church hall following the ceremony.

Out-of-town relatives attending were Mr. and Mrs. Salvador Martinez, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Mendoza and Mr. and Mrs. Jaime Herrera, Odessa; and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Flores, Temple.

Aerosol Containers Can Be Dangerous

By SHERRY MULLIN
(H.D. Agent)

In the thirty-some years since aerosols were first introduced they have become so popular that 300 different types of products are now available packaged in them.

When these pressurized, push-button containers are used properly, they are safe. Improperly used, they can be extremely dangerous.

How do they work, and what are the dangers?

All aerosols are designed in essentially the same way. The product in the container is mixed with a propellant (liquefied gas). When you press the push-button mechanism, the propellant, in vapor form, which is exerting pressure on the mixture, forces it up the tube and out of the valve. As it enters the atmosphere, the liquefied gas in the product converts to a vapor, producing the familiar spray or foam effect.

Among the hazards associated with aerosols is the danger of explosion if the container is exposed to high heat, even "empty" cans can explode if heat causes any remaining contents to expand. Other dangers can exist because of the nature of the product itself.

For example, certain aerosol products are flammable if sprayed near an open flame; others, such as some insecticides, may be toxic if inhaled. Some household chemicals, even some cosmetics such as hair sprays, may cause skin or eye irritation if misdirected. Specific label directions and warnings can vary according to the nature of the product and the way it has been made. This is why it is important always to read the label, heed warnings and follow directions when you use an aerosol product.

When disposing of the container, hold the valve open until all the product and gas have escaped, then place with nonburnable trash (never incinerator). Always store aerosols away from heat and keep then out of the hands of children.

In the last few years, a new danger has arisen involving the abuse of aerosols. The shocking statisic is that over 100 youngsters have died, and many have become ill, after deliberately inhaling aerosol vapors in highly concentrated amounts (often from a plastic bag) in the attempt to get a "high". Cause of death is not yet completely understood.

AAUW Units To Begin Discussions

The first general meeting of the Big Spring Branch of the American Association of University Women will be Monday, 7:30 p.m., at First Federal Community Room.

The topic, "AAUW, What and Why," will be explored. The Day Study group will meet in the home of Mrs. Lennie Keese, 1719 Yale, Nov. 4 at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Carla Warrington will lead a discussion on water salvage.

Cider-Poached

Cider-roached apple slices partner with baked ham for dinner, accompany a chicken sandwich at luncheon and top your favorite dry cereal at breakfast.

Volunteer Council Sets Fund Raisers

Plans for two big fund raising activities that will benefit Big Spring State Hospital residents have been completed by members of the Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Council.

Donations are needed now for the rummage sale to be held from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Nov. 1, 2, 4, 5, 6 at 1006 Lamesa Highway. The building use is courtesy of Johnny Walker.

Items suggested for donations include children's toys and clothing, books, jewelry, kitchen articles, draperies, bedspreads, and household items of all kinds.

Volunteers are also needed to help in pricing and sorting now. Volunteers will also be needed to sell at the sale beginning Nov. 1.

Those wishing to donate or offer services can contact the Volunteer office at the state hospital, 267-8216, ext. 308.

On October 31 from 7 until 9 p.m., the council will sponsor a spook house at KBYG Radio in Comanche Trail Park. Admittance will be by donation, with all proceeds going to the council fund to help buy Christmas presents for the residents of the hospital.

Salad Plate

Combine large chunks of turkey meat with diced celery, chopped apple and mix with mayonnaise, salt and pepper to taste. Mound on a crisp lettuce leaf, top with half of a hard-cooked egg and garnish plate with sliced tomatoes and olives.

Caylor Exhibit Attracts Many to Heritage Museum

TO MARRY — Mr. and Mrs. W.O. Maxwell Jr., Dogwood Street, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Debra Jean, to Audry Wayne Brummett, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Brummett Jr. of Vealmoor. The wedding is scheduled Nov. 29 in Berea Baptist Church.

The popular exhibit of H. W. Caylor works at Heritage Museum had two specially interested visitors last week. They were his nieces, Mrs. A. H. Ellington and Mrs. J. M. Barnes from Dallas, and they were surprised at the excellent scope of the show. Caylor, it will be remembered, came here shortly after 1890 and captured on canvass the early West Texas as it really was. The Museum is open from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. today, and the exhibit stays up for the remainder of this month. Museum members (new-renewal) were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Etheridge, Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Mays Jr., M. A. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Kionka, Mrs. Leon M. Kenney.

The University of Texas Music Department will host the Southwest regional meeting of the National Association of Teachers of Singing, Nov. 3-5. Some 1,800 are expected to attend. Phyllis Curtin, Metropolitan opera soprana, will be a special guest.

Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Midland, is looking for items. at the moment such things as flat irons, posters, churns, straight-edge razors, wash pots, Big Ben alarm clocks, boots, old phonograph records, dime-store jewelry, etc. These are needed in effort to recreate a "boomtown room" of the mid-1920's or early 1930's. Those who have something to give may write the museum at Box 1310, Midland 79700.

Pat Buttram, star who was the corn-fed con-artist, "Mr. Haney" in "Green Acres," will star in "Send Me No Flowers," the Hayloft Dinner Theatre offering which previews Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Lubbock's Hayloft telephone number is 806-866-4213.

The Globe of the Great Southwest has announced its world premiere of an original play by Regina Walker McCalley, "George's Jean," a romantic pharaphrase of the life of George Jean Nathan and Julie Haydon. Opening night has been set for Nov. 22. The play begins in 1937 when Nathan and Miss Haydon met for the first time, and from that moment the vehicle is a parade of Who's Who in American drama.

Travis Johnson, Arlington, has been elected publicity director of the Western Writers of America. Johnson also has had a career in motion pictures and TV series such as "Death Valley Days" and "High Chaparral." Incidentally, at the national confab in Fort Worth when Johnson was elected, Elmer Kelton, San Angelo, won the Golden Spur Award for his novel, "The Day It Never Rained."

Museum of Texas Tech University has opened its Hall of Early Texas Cultures with ceremonies honoring David M. and Florence A. DeVitt, early West Texas ranchers, and the late Charles E. Maedgen Jr., Lubbock banker and civic leader. The exhibit follows man in Texas from the earliest hunters into the historic Indian era. Also a 17x40 mural, depicting the use of water in arid and semi-arid lands, had its premiere at the Museum recently. It is the work of artist Peter Rogers and is in India ink and gesso. Approximately 50 of Roger's works also are on exhibit.

Julian Bond, Georgia state representative from Atlanta's 32nd district and the first black in history to be nominated for the vice presidency of the United States, will be on the 1974 fall guest lecture series at Abilene Christian College. He speaks Monday, Nov. 4, in Moody coliseum in an address free to the public.

If you like to peg dates a long way off, the Texas Folklife Festival, "Texas' biggest block party," it will be Aug. 7-10, 1975 at San Antonio.

Curing 'Blahs' In Youngsters

If your child has the "blahs," consider the following: 1) A change of diet, including more fruits and vegetables, less starch. 2) A change of scenery. Give the "blah" victim a paint-brush, and let her redecorate her bedroom. 3) Ask your child to list her problems: She'll realize she hasn't much to gripe about. 4) Relieve her from her chores for a week. If that doesn't cure her, nothing will! 5) Interest her in a hobby. Cooking and sewing are confirmed "blah" chasers.

A LOVELIER YOU

Dieting? Sure, You Can Eat Potatoes

By MARY SUE MILLER

Plain-cooked potatoes are recommended to reducers-at least three weekly. The idea of anything plain-cooked is seldom attractive to the reducing contingent. But you just know that you would not gain if you enjoyed simple food in normal quantities.

Some diet regimens cut potatoes and other carbohydrates altogether. But for the long haul a lifetime of healthful, enjoyable eating a correct balance of nutrients is desirable. Carbohydrates are basic. Actually its not the potato, but the gravy that's fattening. A medium sized potato weighs in at 100 calories. A mere tablespoon of gravy comes to 90 calories. Like most foods the potato can be prepared in ways that satisfy the gourmet palate without exceeding a raeducers calorie limits. For example: done. (One potato per person)

Cheese Bake. Halve and scoop out a medium baked potato. Fork meat with teaspoon of whipped butteror margarine and teaspoon of grated Parmesan cheese return to shells, sprinkle top with cheese and broil to brown. (One half potato per portion.)

Hot Potato Salad. Toss hot diced potatoes with dieters herb dressing. Add diced celery and onion to taste. (One potato per person.)

A plain potato is gravy enough for a hungry dieter. The recipes above total between 100 and 125 calories.

CALORIE COUNTER

Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our leaflet,POCKET CALORIE COUNTER, tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan- a way to eat and slim For your copy, write to MARY SUE MILLER, care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclosing a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

First Aid Counts In Emergency

When injury occurs, your knowledge of first aid and ability to act quickly may save a life. Here are some emergency action tips. When bleeding occurs, apply pressure directly to wound with cloth pad, or to the nearest pressure point (below the armpit for the arm, below the groin for the leg). In case of poison, dilute the poison with water or milk, induce vomiting if victim is conscious and has not swallowed a corrosive or petroleum product. If you bring the poison victim to the hopsital, take along the container and poison for easy medical identification.

Chrysanthemums In School Colors Next?

LUBBOCK — Chrysanthemums — traditionally offering the last radiant blaze of summer throughout much of the United States — are one of man's oldest cultivated flowers.

For more than 2,000 years they've been cultivated in the Orient. The flower is an official emblem of Japan's emperor, and it is common in Chinese embroidery.

In the United States, mums are available year 'round from florists. In Lubbock, the Chamber of Commerce sponsors an annual "Chrysanthemum Colorama." Texas Tech University in Lubbock participates, and, in October, the campus flower beds present spectacular displays of white, orange, red, yellow and sometimes lavender blooms.

The ordinary "store variety" isn't good enough, however, for Horticulture Prof. Edward W. Zukauckas Jr. He's developed an oversize creamy white mum with a yellow center. He named it the Ima Smith Crysanthemum in honor of the wife of former Gov. Preston Smith. It was planted on the campus for the first time this year.

Now Zukauckas, with the aid of computers, is working on new varieties — both red types and kinds with red outer petals and centers so dark they look black. Red and black are Texas Tech colors, and when Zukauckas' tests are complete he hopes to have the variety planted in profusion on Tech campus.

The process isn't a lone effort. Advanced students of horticulture help in the studies as a part of their training. More than 70 Tech students have designated horticulture as their major, and prospects are now excellent for their employment, Zukauckas said.

The work in developing a red chrysanthemum presents special problems.

"There are only a few red mums that will hold their color," Zukauckas said. "The first day all of them look beautiful, but they tend to fade quickly to an unattractive bronze.

"We have found a few pretty durable lines that don't fade, but we're not there yet," he said.

The color is only one factor for which the plants are bred. They must be consistent in the color, free flowering, have good standability, and show good color in the foliage. They must be easy to propagate — transmitting characteristics from one generation to the next. They must bloom early enough to provide a generous blooming season, and they must hold their color for a long period of time in sun and rain, wind, cold and heat.

The process involves selection from tens of thousands of possibilities, and the spin-off results are sometimes as interesting as the ultimate goal.

In the Texas Tech greenhouse, Zukauckas has a shrimp colored mum which has an unusually long blooming period. This is one accidental result of his breeding for the red mum. He is anxious to use the low, sturdy, profusely blooming shrimp color in field trials to determine how it will perform outside a protected environment.

There also are red-tipped quill chrysanthemums and several spoon petal varieties. These have blooms in which the petals fold over on themselves so that the underside of the petal becomes the major visible color, and only the tip of the upper side is visible at the end of the petal.

"We will be using computers more in the future," he predicted, and that will simplify the current system of choosing from thousands of seedlings to achieve a plant that is equal to or better than anything available.

"Once in a while you hit it lucky," said the horticulturist, "but most of what you get has to be thrown away. It takes years of patience."

SPECIAL PRIVILEGE — Mrs. Ima Smith picks Ima Smith Chrysanthemums at Texas Tech University where the flowers were developed and named officially in her honor. Mrs. Smith is the wife of former Gov. Preston Smith and has been named a Distinguished Alumna of the university. Tech horticulturists developed this large, creamy white mum with a yellow center. Traditionally, flowers on the campus are not picked for pleasure, but an exception was made for Mrs. Smith.

Party Fetes E. F. Tatum

E. F. Tatum, 82, was honored Wednesday evening with a surprise birthday party at his home, 802 E. 15th.

Refreshments included a decorated birthday cake, punch, coffee and ice cream, with those attending including the Don Avery family and family friends.

Tatum is a widower. His wife, the former Pearl M. Watson, died in 1971. They were married in 1939 at Eastland, and there are four children in the family. They are Mrs. Don Avery and Mrs. R. V. Beck, both of Big Spring; Mrs. D. Clawson, Monahans; and Glen Tatum, Long Beach, Calif. The elder Mr. Tatum has one grandchild, Randal Avery, 10.

Born in Burton in 1892, Mr. Tatum spent most of his life in Lubbock. During the years from 1908 to 1911 he worked at breaking horses and at roundup time for the OK Ranch (below the Caprock), the Beal Ranch north of Lubbock and several others. After that, he operated several creameries and a bottling works before going to work for Banner Creameries at Abilene and Ranger in 1927. He started a plant at Midland and, in 1939, moved to Big Spring. In 1940 he went to work for the 7-Up Bottling Company and remained with them for 28 years; the last 13 spent as plant manager in Lamesa.

Mr. Tatum enjoyed riding all his life and, in his younger days, "did a lot of hunting."

Quotable Women

By The Associated Press

Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

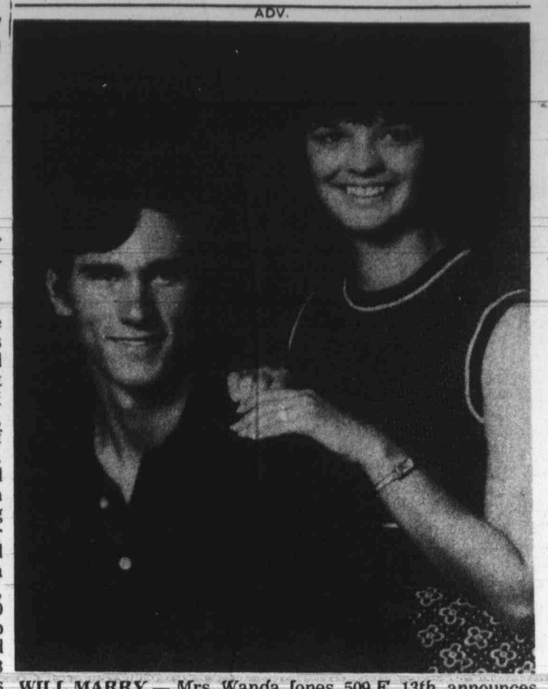

"My life is supposed to be quieter now that I'm not doing the weekly show, but I'm busier than I have ever been." Lucille Ball, who gave up her weekly television series in favor of specials this year.

"If I can just keep myself active and stay well, I'll be doing this for a long time. Sometimes, I feel God was thinking about all the lonely elderly people and He said, 'I guess we'll get Cora to do something about that.'" Cora Dudley, 84, who runs a volunteer program for senior citizens in Miami.

"Sometimes I think that the past is much more interesting than the present," Hannah Joyce Massie, who spends 40 hours a week in a security vault doing research at Wright Patterson Air Force Base.

"I read a lot. Books. Yeah, got a whole bunch of junk in here. I just don't like it in here. All that medicine I have to take which I don't like and I have to take." Bobbie Archer, a 9-year-old, on leaving the special plastic-enclosed hospital room in Albany, N.Y., where she spent five months.

"Evidently it is meant for me to be a singer. It probably never would have happened if I had not had to really get myself together. Things have a habit of working out, even things that are tragic." Syreeta, former wife of singer Stevie Wonder, now launching her own singing career, in a New York interview.

WILL MARRY — Mrs. Wanda Jones, 509 E. 13th, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Glenda, to Frank Long. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert M. Long of Route 2. The wedding will be Friday, Nov. 29 at the Trinity Baptist Church.

Microwave Ovens Are Exhibited

Advantages of using a microwave oven were demonstrated for the City Home Demonstration Club Friday when members and guests met in the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

Hostesses were Mrs. Marvin Sewell and Mrs. Joe Cox. Mrs. Ross Callihan gave the devotion.

Guests from the Elbow Club were Mrs. L. L. Soles, Mrs. B. N. Borougs, and Mrs. Joe B. Evans. Mrs. A. H. Gordon, Seagraves, was also a guest.

Mrs. Dana Feaster, home economist, gave the demonstration and said the microwave oven is a boon to the busy housewife as a time saver and for convenience. She said it is the perfect companion for the food freezer as it defrosts food so quickly and helps maintain the food flavor by putting the heat in the food, not in the oven. According to the demonstrator, most foods can be cooked electronically but one cannot use metal of any sort in the oven.

Consumer Priorities Eyed By Economists

LUBBOCK — The major consumer issue today is a question of learning to set priorities, according to Grace Richardson, manager of consumer affairs for Consolidated Edison Company of New York.

Miss Richardson spoke today on challenges for consumers and consumerism before a 50th Anniversary convocation sponsored by the College of Home Economics of Texas Tech University.

"The major issue seems to be a question of learning to set priorities as to what we as a society feel is important to our quality of life, she said and then posed two questions.

"Is the benefit gained from any given change worth the added cost?" "What are we willing to trade off in order to get what we want?"

As far as the consumer is concerned, Miss Richardson said, "we seem to be at an all-time low." She attributed the decrease in consumer confidence to a combination of factors — "inflation, Watergate, the energy crisis and a general feeling of not knowing whom to believe regarding the scarcity of some goods."

She quoted a study which indicated that the two areas in which consumers are most pessimistic are autos — because of record price increases and new anti-pollution devices — and home buying, attributed to tight credit.

Miss Richardson discussed five consumer rights: to be informed, to be safe, to choose, to be heard, and to a physical environment that will enhance the quality of life.

The last of these, she said, was the most difficult because many single actions are not harmful to the environment, while the same action by masses of people affect the quality of everyone's life.

The consumer movement, she said, has gained momentum with the increased discretionary income of the population as well as other reasons.

Technology has brought a larger number of products and more sophisticated products into the market, she said. The educational level of consumers has increased and, with that, greater expectations for product performance and a decreased tolerance of failure. With media growth, consumers are bombarded with product messages. The consumer has become aware of group power politically. The marketplace has become impersonal, and the consumer no longer has confidence in big business and in institutions.

She urged them to articulate consumer concerns to business, government and other consumers; to establish the immediate needs of consumers and monitor the long-range goals, to become involved in the discussions about and the drafting of legislation which affects consumers; to educate consumers to use new legislation and information to their advantage; and to conduct research of value to consumers, business and government.

Sewing Club To Tack Quilt

Plans were made to tack a quilt when members of the Sew and Chatter Sewing Club met in the home of Mrs. Lewis Murdock, 602 E. 17th, Wednesday.

The quilting will be at 1 p.m., Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Lee Porter, 1919 Parkwood. Members worked on individual handwork which included afghans, tableclothes and knitted slippers.

The Nov. 13 meeting will be at 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. S. R. Nobles, 405 Washington.

DATE SET — Mr. and Mrs. Dean Holland, 1217 Ridgeroad, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sherrell Kaye, to Terry Lynn Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon H. Mitchell, Gail Rt., Big Spring. Date of the ceremony has been set for Jan. 3, at Crestview Baptist Church.

Sweet Linens

Next time you replenish your supply of deodorant soap, buy several bars. Then, when you arrive home from shopping, unrap them all immediately and tuck the unwrapped bars in your linen closet. The clean, pleasant scent of soap adds a lasting fragrance to your linens. Exposure to air outside the wrapper makes hard-milled soap long-lasting for sensible savings.

Club Views Christmas Decorations

Decorative items to make for the Christmas season were displayed by Mrs. Raynell Best when she was guest speaker Thursday evening for Howard County Young Homemakers. The meeting was held at Coahoma High School with Mrs. Max Nichols presiding.

Mrs. Best advised, "Never throw anything away, for you can always use it in some way." Illustrating her point, she showed small Christmas trees made from air freshner containers, and others made of old jewelry attached to velvet. She cut and covered paper cylinders to form small decorative drums, and used oatmeal boxes in making small gift packages.

In conclusion, Mrs. Best said she saves unuable items all year to make into holiday decorations, and her family's Christmas tree is completely trimmed with homemade decorations.

Other guests were Mrs. Ann Bohannon and Mrs. Gaynell King.

Yearbooks were distributed by Mrs. Jeannie Lindsey.

The next meeting will be Nov. 21 at the school with Al Neatty of the regional Better Business Bureau in Midland as guest speaker.

French Housewife Has Her Troubles

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

CHATILLION-AURSEINE, France (AP) — The French housewife trying to do the family grocery shopping faces the same kind of inflation that has hit her American counterpart.

Prices for some supermarket items have gone up more than 30 per cent in just under a year, according to an Associated Press spot check.

Supermarkets have only recently gained popularity in Europe. Many consumers still prefer to get their meat from the butcher shop and their fruits and vegetables from a small produce store or from their own gardens.

A check of the shelves of a medium-size supermarket in this small town about a two-hour drive from Paris showed several sights unfamiiiar to an American consumer: a sparsely stocked produce department, a meat counter featuring several displays of tripe but no hamburger.

The price increases, however, are all too familiar. A 500-gram package of butter — a little over a pound — that cost about $1.30 at the same store a year ago, was priced at $1.49, an increase of 14 per cent; a pound of pork chops that cost $1.20 in 1973 was $1.55 this year, an increase of almost 30 per cent.

In the United States, an AP survey showed that butter prices generally were under $1 per pound and pork chops cost about $1.29. Pork prices have been declining in the United States as farmers, unable to afford the high cost of feed grain, sell off their livestock, producing an increase in supply and temporarily lower prices.

Farmers throughout the United States and Europe complain that despite the rising consumer prices they are losing money.

REVOLUTIONARY, SPEEDIER — The seven-unit Goss Community offset press recently installed by The Herald is not only quieter than any press used previously by the paper but is capable of printing 18,000 papers hourly and makes full use of revolutionary new color processes.

Herald Part Of Texas Group Of H-H Chain

The Big Spring Herald is a member of the Texas Group of Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc.

The news chain owns 22 newspapers, two television stations, including KENS in San Antonio and TLVK in Jacksonville, Fla., as well as other publications.

The Hearld was purchased by Harte-Hanks on March 15, 1929, after it had gone daily on June 6, 1928 under the late T.E. Jordan. It had been a weekly since Oct. 7, 1904.

The chain was begun by Houston Harte of San Angelo and Bernard Hanks of Abilene. The newspapers in those two towns, the San Angelo Standard Times and the Abilene Reporter News, are members of what is now called the Southern Metro Group which is headed by Allan Johnson of Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

Arthur J. Kenney, publisher at Corsicana, is president of the Texas Group, which includes seven dailies and two weeklies. These include Big Spring, Bryan, Commerce, Corsicana, Dennison, Greenville, Huntsville, Marshall and Paris.

The Harte-Hanks corporate office is headquartered in San Antonio. Robert G. Marbut is president and chief executive officer. He heads the entire operation, including the Texas group, the Metro group, the San Diego group and the Northeast group.

The board of directors includes Houston H. Harte, chairman, son of a founder; Robert G. Marbut, Bruce B. Meador, Edward H. Harte, son of a founder, A. B. Shelton, Myles L. Mace and Bill D. Moyers.

The companies present expansion and change over in Big Spring and the investment by Harte-Hanks in the Big Spring Herald depicts their faith in the West Texas area and in Big Spring in particular.

The late Robert W. Whipkey went to work for the Herald as managing editor in 1935 and became publisher in 1940. He retired in August 1971. W. S. (Dub) Pearson, the present publisher, came here May 1, 1972.

The Harte-Hanks newspapers last year won 29 top awards, including the first won by the Herald in team effort reporting — the very first year it was awarded by the Associated Press in Texas. The Herald also won first in headline writing last year.

Dub Pearson Serves As Firm President

W. S. (Dub) Pearson is president-publisher of the Big Spring Herald, having served in this position since May 1, 1972, when he moved to Big Spring from Midland.

In Midland, he served as executive vice president and general manager of the Midland Reporter Telegram for five and a half years. Prior to that he was in Lubbock where he was in advertising sales at the Lubbock Avalanche for ten years.

His first newspaper job was as a paper boy at the age of ten on the Portales Daily News. He also gained four years experience in the back shop while in high school and college and wrote sports part time.

His first fulltime job was in the advertising sales department of the Portales Daily News in Portales, N.M. A graduate of Portales High School, he attended Eastern New Mexico University.

Active in the Texas Daily Newspaper Publishers Association, he also is vice president of District 6 and director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

CIVIC AFFAIRS

Locally he is active in civic affairs and is president of the Century Club, chairman of the Base Community Council and a vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. He is a director of the Rotary Club and currently campaign chairman for the Howard County United Way. Last year, he directed the Heart Fund campaign.

Pearson serves on the YMCA board, the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center Board, the Easter Seal Society, Goals for Big Spring, Community Relations Council, is a trustee of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum and is a member of the First Baptist Church.

He and his wife, Johnnie and four children reside at 606 Highland. His daughter, Patricia is a sophomore student at Howard College, having attended Texas Tech her freshman year.

They have three sons, Greg, Steve and Brad, two of whom attend Big Spring High School. Brad is a student at Goliad Junior High.

How She Killed Her Deaf, Blind Daughter

READING, England (AP) — "I laid her on her face so she would not swallow her tongue. I wrapped her in a blanket so she would not get cold ... My intention was that she should die quickly, peacefully and painlessly."

Police quoted Elizabeth Wise, a third cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, as recounting in these words how she killed her 9-month-old blind and deaf daughter Emma on June 9 after doctors told her the child had no hope of living.

Mrs. Wise, 38, pleaded guilty to manslaughter Friday on grounds of diminished responsibility, and was placed on probation for 12 months, meaning if she commits no other offense in that time she will not receive further legal punishment.

"I regard this as an extreme case even among exceptional cases," Judge Kenneth Jones told Mrs. Wise. "In my judgment you have suffered enough."

The court was told that three-quarters of the child's brain had been destroyed by disease, and that she could not swallow and was fed by a tube through the nose.

The prosecution said Mrs. Wise admitted giving the child barbiturates crushed in milk after doctors told her Emma had no hope of recovery.

Mrs. Wise, separated from her husband, was staying with her friend, Jennifer Cubbitt, when the child died.

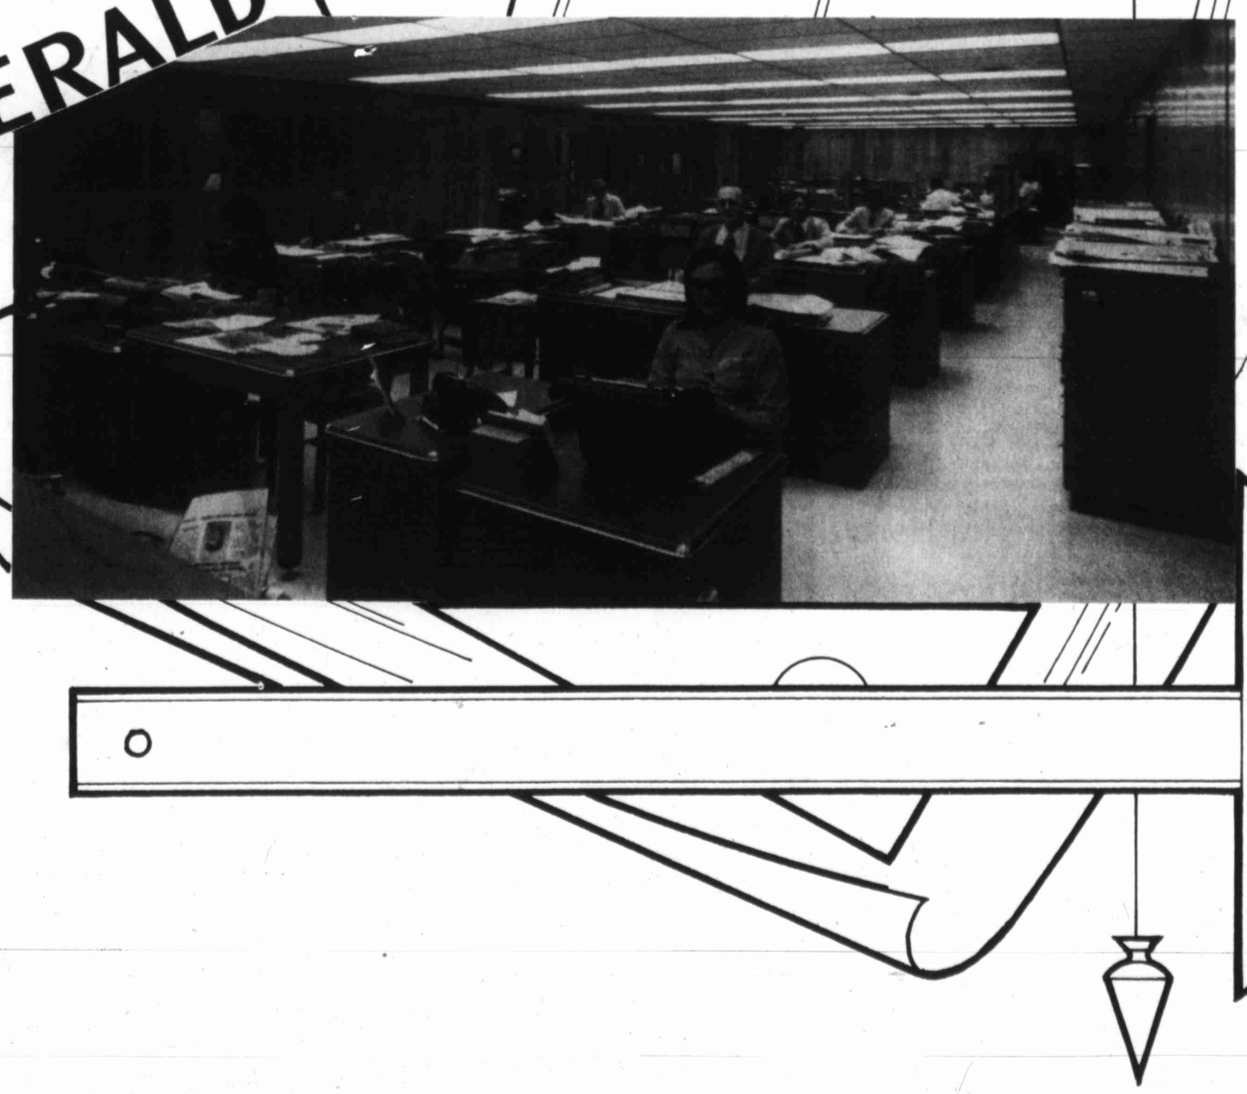

Mrs. Cubbitt testified: "I have never seen a maternal instinct so strong in any mother, and I have four children.

"Her devotion was absolute. She would spend many hours feeding the child drop by drop.

Joe Pickle Heads News Department

The Big Spring Herald editorial department is responsible for collecting, writing and editing the news before it appears in print.

A staff of ten reporters and editors, headed by Joe Pickle, editor, make up the editorial department's three main sections — news, (local and wire), women's and sports.

Managing Editor Tommy Hart heads the operation, particularly the news section, whose personnel consists of Walt Finley, wire editor, and reporters Marj Carpenter, John Edwards and Troy Bryant, and photographer Danny Valdes.

Sports Editor Clark Lesher covers sports and Women's Editor Jo Bright and Lucille Pickle cover the "society" section.

Much of the news printed in the Herald is state and national news, gathered by the Associated Press and distributed through New York and Dallas through a teletype machine, known as the "wire". Photos of national and state importance are received in a special AP machine known as the Photofax. On this machine, special charts and photos are transmitted through a telephone hookup to the receiver which reproduces them.

Both of the machines produce stacks of stories and pictures each day and it is up to the three editors — the wire, sports and women's editors — to look over the news and decide what to print within the available space.

EDITORIAL CHIEFTAIN — Joe Pickle, a regular member of The Herald staff since 1932, now serves as editor of the paper. He first served as a reporter for the paper in the summer of 1931. He is a graduate of Baylor University.

Local news is gathered from many sources across the county and area by three reporters, Mrs. Carpenter, Edwards and Bryant. News is gathered daily from the police station, city hall, courthouse, sheriff's office and other places. The VA hospital, State Hospital, private hospitals, college, schools and Chamber of Commerce, funeral homes, etc. are also regular news sources.

The local news is written by the reporters and turned into Tommy Hart who reads copy, edits it, writes headlines, and, in consultation with Walt Finley, decides where and how it shall be played. The material is "dummied" (written into a chart) and sent back to the production department to be converted into columns of type, headlines, and finally a page form.

The sports department, similarly, prepares local and area copy, and evaluates this with sports news from the state and national wire, selects and lays out what will run.

While the women's department ordinarily is not concerned with the wire, there are, however, many stories of state and national interest which are of sufficient interest to be put into the layout and printed.

Editor Was Employed By Herald In 1932

The direction of the Editorial Department is seasoned with many years of experience, led in tenure by Editor Joe Pickle and Managing Editor Tommy Hart.

Both of the editors have worked for the Herald in various positions since the early 1930's.

Pickle came to work for the Herald after he graduated from Baylor University in 1932. (He had worked as reporter for the Herald the previous summer.) He began working as a reporter with no pay during the Depression, solely to gain experience. He was later made city editor and became acting publisher in the early 40's. He was then promoted to managing editor and six years ago, was made editor.

He has served as president of the West Texas Press Association and the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

He has headed several local civic orgainizations including the Downtown Lions, Chamber of Commerce, YMCA, Howard County Fair Association, Heritage Museum and US 87 Highway Improvement Association. He has been secretary of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, even before its formal creation.

He was recently inducted into the Big Spring High School Hall of Fame.

Hart, who started working for the Herald in the early 30's as a newspaper boy, worked his way through the sterotype department and mail room to sports writer which he also did without pay. He worked his way up through the ranks to sports editor by 1940, when he left for military duty. He returned to work after the war in 1945 and resumed his sport editor job "temporarily" to help out when the Herald was short-staffed, and he's been working for the Herald ever since.

Hart has been named an Outstanding Sportswriter in Texas and has served as president of the Texas Sportswriters Association.

He always showed an active interest in sports, attending thousands of sporting events throughout the years and officiating for area high school baseball for 15 years. He was dean of West Texas Sports Writers.

He gave up his sports editor's job three years ago to take over the managing editor's post.

There Goes The Diet

CAMPBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Chances are, if you have a sweet tooth, you're not so dumb! Researchers at Massachusetts Institute of Technology here have discovered that carbohydrates stimulate brain activity and that an intake of protein blocks chemicals that activate the brain.

Dr. Richard J. Wurtman and John D. Fernstrom, PH.D., say the key is a chemical called serotonin that acts as a messenger between neurons, or information transmitter cells in the brain.

These scientusts say the brain can sense metabolism and blood chemistry changes.

The researchers found a high-carbohydrate diet increases the secretion of insulin from the pancreas and results in raising the level of tryptophan, an amino acid in the blood.

'Extra' Is Part Of Past

One adjunct of the Herald which has passed from the scene over its 70 years of life is the "extra."

There were a few occasions for this extra edition, printed to present momentous news ahead of the next regular press time, when the Herald was a weekly. There were several notable extras during and around the end of World War I.

Oddly, when the Herald went daily, there appeared more impulse to toss that red hot news into the forms and run off hundreds of copy for boys to hawk as "Extra! Extra!" There were such instances as when the beleaguered Zeppelin, the "Akron" lost communication with the world while over here. A few years later there was the death of Will Rogers. Then came the war extras, and when Normandy was invaded, the Herald produced its first "regular" morning edition as extras for a week to keep the townspeople abreast of the tide of battle. Later another was issued with death of Franklin D. Roosevelt then the "peace" extras.

The last extra printed, was that in November 1963 when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

Cat Chat Puts Him Behind Bars

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) — The man sitting in his car at the local drive-in restaurant was talking with a cat, said the caller to the Chelan County Sheriff's Department.

It was midnight, and the man had been chatting with the cat for about 30 minutes, the drive-in employe said.

Efficient Crew Sees Newspaper Delivered

Without a circulation department, a daily newspaper would be hard-pressed for the paper to be distributed and read by the public eye.

Gene Kimble is manager. He is assisted full-time by Grady Cunningham, district manager. Four part-time mailroom employees assist in circulation handling, Ricky Drake, Ricky Bearden, Alex Arce and Tony Reidy. Sandra Leach serves as a part-time office clerk.

As soon as The Herald newspaper is run off the press, papers are counted, bundled and distributed. There are 71 carriers who have walking routes. Motor route carriers deliver 3,000 newspapers to customers covering a 900 mile range. Five out-of-town agents oversee that distribution.

The Herald mails to people who are interested in Big Spring area news residing coast-to-coast and border-to-border of the United States.

"Since The Herald mailroom has been remodeled, it is capable of handling circulation three times the amount now figured," Kimble pointed out, "It is one of the nicest mailrooms of its size I have seen."

Featured in the mailroom is an automatic bundling machine. Convenient to have around come press time, it speeds up production considerably.

Mass Murders Ruling

HOUSTON (AP) — A judge denied today a motion to delay the Nov. 4 sanity hearing for David Owen Brooks, 19, accused in the Houston mass murders of 27 youths.

Ted Musick, Brooks' lawyer, had filed a motion for continuance, claiming prosecutors were denying him evidence.

Brooks is charged in four of the 27 deaths discovered in the Houston area in August, 1973.

Elmer Wayne Henley, another defendant in the slayings, was convicted in six of the deaths and sentenced to six 99-year prison terms last July.

Jury selection is scheduled to begin Nov. 4 in the hearing which is to determine if Brooks is mentally competent to stand trial.

Musick said necessary results of psychiatric tests and examinations were being withheld despite his pleas.

Prosecutor Don Lambright said he has abided by orders of State District Court Judge William Hatten to make information available and that Musick has been delinquent in getting the material.

Pig World To Trick Nature

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — While the "back to nature" movement is sweeping the country, a scientist at the University of Missouri is headed in the opposite direction toward "programmed pigs."

Wisconsin Agriculturist, a rural magazine, reports that scientist Billy N. Day is using harmones similar to the birth control pill to induce earlier puberty, control ovulation and increase litter size of pigs.

Some of the drugs he's using produce side effects which prohibit their being used on the farm, but Day is certain he's on the right track.

Basic Design Of Plant To Be Followed Today

Visitors to the Herald today, as they follow the "path" identified for their itinerary, will be following the basic design of the plant.

The entire layout of the building is conceived to follow the flow of production through the entire process of turning out your daily newspaper.

Coming through the main entrance, most people have one of four basic options — to place an advertisement (usually classified); to pay an account or collect money due them; to do business with the circulation department; or to see about getting a story in the paper.

CLASSIFIED

The "front" section of the building is arranged so that the receptionist can easily and quickly direct the caller to the right department. The classified ad department is at the counter as the visitor enters, and at one end of this is a desk to handle the routine circulation calls. Also just a few steps away are the business offices which can service all financial details connected with sales and supplies.

DISPLAY ADS

To the left of classified ads (these are the generally small-type ads so named because the goods and services offered are under classifications) is the local or display advertising department. It gets its title because these ads display merchandise much as a dealer's show window might do it. Staff members here, after calling on merchants and others, design ads to specified sizes, arranging type and illustrations to catch the eye and sustain interest.

EDITORIAL

Beyond the display advertising department is an area devoted to the women's news, an integral part of the editorial department. Next are the desks for local reporters, for the wire editor and for the managing editor. Near the wire editor is a small room which houses the Associated Press teletypewriter with state and world news and the AP Photofax machine which brings in scores of pictures every day.

At one end of the department (and building) are counters for housing bound files for some 10 years (beyond that files are kept on microfilm).

A tier of private offices flanks the other departments on the left. These include a general conference room, an office for the advertising director, for the publisher and his secretary, and for the editor.

When copy is edited, it is passed through a small window to the production department, and this takes the visitor to the next step.

PRODUCTION

Seated next to the slot are "punchers" who convert typewritten copy into perforated tape that actuates the type-producing machines. Nearby is a desk where proof is read, also two machines which will produce the later photographic type for headlines and advertising. (By process of enlargement, it would be possible to produce letters as big as the newspaper page.)

The basic type machines literally photograph letters on to a sensitized paper horizontally until the line is filled, whereupon the paper is advanced vertically to take the next line. All the time the tapes are read to make the lines come out even (as to column width) and properly to divide words, but at such speeds that the two machines can produce far more type than half a dozen of the formerly-used linotype machines could grind out.

Materials here go to makeup, where they are "pasted" up (a misnomer, because a lightly adhering wax is used) in forms. As a page is complete, it goes to the camera room where a page-size negative is shot, in order to expose sensitized aluminum plates.

PRESS-CIRCULATION

When these are processed, they go the next department — the pressroom. They are locked on the press, and where the plate was exposed, ink will adhere; where it was not, ink washes off.

Each time the press revolves, it produces a copy of the Herald, which is picked up on a conveyor and taken to the final department — circulation (or distribution).

CIRCULATION

If there are more than two sections, the papers move down a conveyor and "inserters," their fingers and hands moving at lightning speed, slip sections together. At one end, the papers are put into bundles, automatically wrapped and wired pneumatically, and tossed to the distribution counters where route carriers wait to get them

(Photo By Danny Valdes)

SHE ANSWERS CALLS — This very pleasant and patient voice one hears when he or she dials the circulation department of The Herald belongs to pretty Sandy Leach (above), whose job it is to explain why the paper is late or why it hasn't been delivered.

Cooney Hayden Helped Herald

One man who figured in the publication of the Herald for some three decades but whose name never appeared on the masthead was A.C. (Cooney) Hayden.

When he graduated as a member of the first senior class of the Big Spring Independent School District in 1904, he took off to Fort Worth to find a job. About that time his brother-in-law, Tom Jordan, and a brother, W. R. Hayden, had joined to found the Big Spring Herald. Tom Jordan got hold of A.C. Hayden and urged him to come back and work for the new paper. "Either come or send me somebody," Tom Jordan wrote. Cooney Hayden came home and became one of the best ad and page makeup men in West Texas.

CONGRATULATIONS to the BIG SPRING HERALD ON THEIR 70th ANNIVERSARY

We haven't been around as long as the Big Spring Herald — but nearly as long as the Daily Herald.

When we set up shop here in 1929, the Daily Herald was but a year old, and all through the years we've felt a sort of partnership.

The Herald was always on hand to tell the public about our growth and development, chronicling the replacement of our old Dubbs unit, the establishment of headquarters in Big Spring, the catalytic cracker, alkylation unit. Long before we made waves in the petrochemical industry, the Herald was telling about our early research, our major venture into the field with the BTX unit, reformer, then the polystyrene unit, the desulphurization facility, the new refining plant.

Well, the Herald wasn't exactly letting moss gather. It changed plants three times in the intervening years, constantly improving its facilities and processes, and most of all its quality and content. Today, the Herald also has passed another milestone with conversion to cold-type and offset printing, equipping it for new frontiers.

At Cosden we're proud to have marched stride for stride with the Herald all these years.

Centennial Paper Tops

The largest edition ever published by the Herald was Sunday morning, Oct. 2, 1949, the paper's celebrated "centennial edition" which had been produced by a relatively small staff in the space of less than two months. It contained 208 pages, most devoted to history, in stories and pictures, and of the contemporary times. The demand for it was so great that after initial production, the presses were replated and several thousand more copies were run of sections already printed. At that, the final demand far exceeded the supply.

The smallest copies likely were those first four-page Heralds at the start 70 years ago, although there weren't many. In the Depression days of the early 30's however, there were occasional 4-page papers.

The Herald has never missed a regular scheduled edition, although mechanical trouble a few times made it run quite late. In a few instances, mechanical breakdown caused the Herald to rush its plates to neighboring cities for printing.

Indian Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department has allocated $18,816 to Texas' two Indian tribes for public service jobs.

The funds are part of $5,211,095 allocated to 214 reservations.

The Texas tribes are the Alabama-Coushatta in East Texas and the Tigua in El Paso. Each got $9,408.

Louisiana tribes will receive $4,272, New Mexico tribes $430,065, and those in Oklahoma $48,264.

Photography Is Now Heart Of Operation

Where photography formerly was an adjunct to the printing process, it now is at the heart of the Herald's new offset printing.

This has three primary divisions. One is the photography department under the hands of Danny Valdes, the Herald's photographer. This consists of a room used as a studio for photographing "mugs" (quick portraits), small groups and advertising material. Next to it is a dark room where the film is processed, and printed to the prescribed size. These prints are taken by the editorial and advertising department and marked (with the use of a circular calculator) for enlargement or reduction.

Then they go back to the big camera room where the illustration is "shot" for its final size.

A second part of the photographic process is used in electronic-photo type machines which turn out type, not in metal, but on paper (hence the name of "cold type").

The third step in the photographic process is taking the finished pages, taking a page negative which this time is printed not on paper, but on sensitized aluminum plates from which the paper is printed.

94th Congress Likely To Push For Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nov. 5 election is likely to confront President Ford with the most heavily Democratic Congress in a decade, primed to push for more programs at home and fewer abroad than the President will want.

But some Democrats already fear that weak Democratic leadership, especially in the House, could produce a mixed legislative record that would leave the party vulnerable in the 1976 presidential campaign.

With 10 days to go before the election, an Associated Press survey shows the likelihood of substantial Democratic gains has increased. The Democrats could pick up five or more GOP Senate seats and from 30 to 50 in the House.

MORE LIBERAL

The Democrats currently control the Senate 58 to 42, and the House 248 to 187.

Even if Republicans hold Democratic gains to their 20-25 target, the new House will have more Democrats than any since 295 were elected in the late Lyndon B. Johnson's 1964 landslide.

Many of the likely Democratic victors are younger and more liberal than the Republicans who are either retiring or facing defeat.

In the Senate, Democratic strength seems likely to go above 60 for the first time since the 1967-69 period. But it will take a far bigger sweep than now seems likely to reach the 1964 total of 68.

VETO PROOF

Even if the Democratic majorities near the two-thirds level that is needed to override a presidential veto — 290 in the House, 67 in the Senate — the 94th Congress is unlikely to be the "veto-proof" body against which Ford has been campaigning.

Straight party votes are a rarity. With majorities nearly that big in the last two years of the Eisenhower administration, Democrats overrode only two of 44 vetoes.

A major question mark is how the lame-duck 93rd Congress that returns Nov. 18 and the new 94th Congress will react to the nation's deepening economic crisis.

Candidates in both parties have generally opposed the President's 5 per cent surtax plan.

Congress is likely to push harder than Ford for expanded public service employment and lower income tax relief. Many Democrats think 1975 will be the year in which Congress can enact broad tax reform and health insurance plans that go beyond the administration's likely proposals.

On the foreign front, the new Congress may be even harder to convince than the current one of the need for continued large-scale U.S. military assistance to South Vietnam and Turkey. Clashes with Ford seem inevitable.

The survey, based on reports by AP bureaus and interviews here, shows projected Democratic statewide sweeps in California and New York could increase the party's congressional gains in those states beyond earlier estimates.

The figures vary, depending on how many elections are included.

Herald Leaders Have Long Tenure Record

In its three score and 10 years, the Herald has had relatively few publishers and probably no more editors.

Thomas E. Jordan and Will R. Hayden, who founded the Herald in October 1904, continued as publishers until 1925 when Mr. Jordan bought out Mr. Hayden, his brother-in-law.

Continuing as publisher, Mr. Jordan sold the Herald to Hanks-Harte (now Harte-Hanks) in March 1929, and Robert W. Jacobs was installed by the new owners as publisher. In late 1932 he left to pursue his own carrer as a newspaper operator and was succeeded by Joe Galbraith, who had been superintendent of the production department.

LONG TENURE

He was succeeded in 1940 by Robert W. Whipkey, who had come here in the fall of 1935 as managing editor and Mr. Whipkey continued as publisher until his retirement in the autumn of 1971.

His successor was Robert N. McDaniel, who in May 1972 was succeeded by W. S. (Dub) Pearson, who guided the Herald through its conversion from hot-type to cold-type printing process.

The founders were also editors of the paper with the exception of brief intervals. Tom Jordan laughed how, during one of the periodic droughts, he threw his pencil down one day and announced: "I've lied about this country long enough. I'm going to get an editor." He and Will Hayden did this, to free themselves for production of the paper, and among those they imported were a Mr. Ballentine, and James Devers, a product of Chicago's yellow journalism days. He didn't last long.

CHANGED OWNERSHIP

They also hired C. D. Ambrose, who was about as much an advertising and mechanical man as an editor. When Mr. Jordan sold the paper in March 1929, the new owners sent in Wendell Bedichek as the new editor. He was an energetic, imaginative editor who fit immediately into the progressive spirit of the booming town. He left in 1934 to join Cosden Oil Corp. briefly, and the following year, R. W. Whipkey, who also was a product of the Abilene Reporter News and who had newspaper experience in New York, was assigned "temporarily" as managing editor. It was under his tenure that the AP teletype was installed, and the Herald began to take on the aspects of a real daily paper.

In 1940 he was made publisher but continued also as editor, although after 2½ years out for World War II, he divested himself of much of the editorial functions, relying in this area on Joe Pickle, his managing editor who assumed the title of editor in 1968. Pickle had joined the Herald first in the summer of 1931, then returned to finish work on his degree and the next June began an interrupted 42-year tenure with the Herald first as reporter, then city editor, managing editor and editor.

Journalism Draws on Herald

The Big Spring Herald has share of professional leaders in area and Texas journalism.

The late R. W. Whipkey, publisher of the Herald for 32 years, held office in the Texas Daily Newspaper Association. Oliver Cofer was president of the Texas Advertising Managers Association, the late Jack Kimble president of the Texas Circulation Managers Association; Tommy Hart president of the Texas Sports Writers Association. Joe Pickle served as president of the West Texas Press Association and of the Texas Associate Press Managing Editors Association.

VA Open House Slated Monday

The Big Spring Veteran's Administration Hospital will have an open house Monday from 2 to 4 p.m. as they honor the Veterans on Veterans' Day.

Members of the Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, and their auxiliaries plus the Gold Star mothers and fathers will conduct the tours.

Visitors to the Hospital on the special occasion will be able to see, for the first time, a one-of-a-kind exhibit assembled by Volunteer Services Director, Dene Sheppard. It is the only such exhibit in the United States.

A showcase in the hospital lobby now houses a complete display of all Congressional Medal of Honor winners from Texas along with the actual Congressional Medals on display.

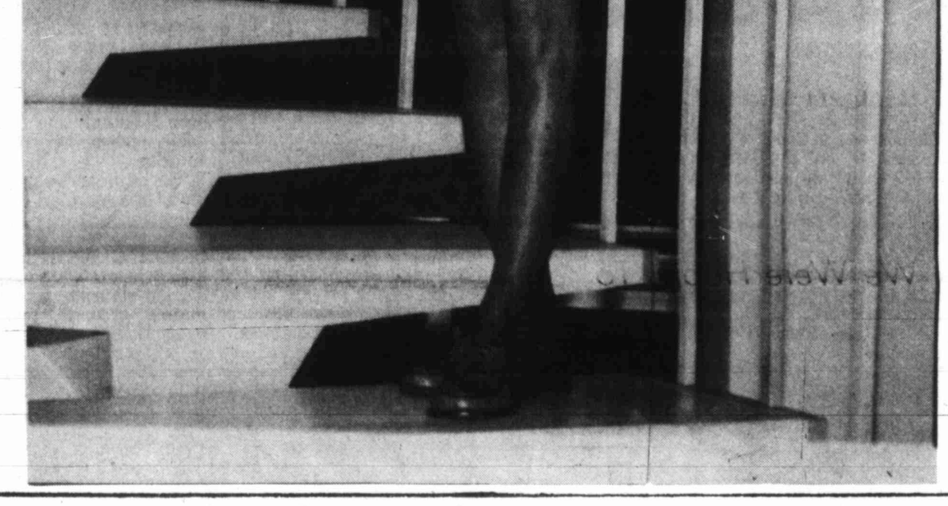

The showing of the exhibit culminates more than two years of gathering the citations of all the medal winners from 1861 to 1974 and most of the men's photos.

Authorities Hunt Robbers

HOUSTON (AP) — Authorities sought today a man who robbed a teller at the Jacinto City Bank and escaped with $1,070.

Teller Rebecca Brent said a man entered the bank in suburban Jacinto City Friday and handed her a deposit slip with the word "all" written on it.

"He told me to give him all the money, that he had a gun," she said.

ADVERTISING DIRECTOR — Oliver Cofer has been with the Big Spring Herald for 26 years in the advertising department and now heads the department.

Cofer Bought Grid Ducats, Cemetery Lot First Year

Oliver Cofer, advertising director of the Big Spring Herald, has worked with the company for 26 years. He started as an advertising salesman.

He had worked previously for eight months with the Alvin Sun Weekly and one and one half years in Terrell.

A graduate of Grand Saline High School, he took journalism at North Texas State.

Cofer jokingly said "I decided to stay in Big Spring because the first year I was here I bought season football tickets and a cemetery lot and decided I was tired of moving."

He and his wife, Bonnie, have a son, Steve, who attends the University of Texas at Arlington and a daughter, Vicki Schmitt, who is a teacher in the Arlington School system.

Cofer is a past president of the Texas Newspaper Advertising Managers Association in 1969. He is a past exalted ruler of the Order of the Elks, past president of the Jaycees, a former Chamber of Commerce director, and has served as chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, worked on the United Way and is a Rotarian. Cofer is a Methodist.

Police Kill 50 Persons

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Police shot and killed 50 persons — 42 of them Africans — in the execution of their duties during the six months ending June 30, 1974, J. T. Kruger, the minister of police, said during questioning in Parliament.

Kruger said the others killed included seven colored mixed race and one Asian.

'You Ought To Be Shot'

LONDON (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Adolf Hitler were comparing their experiences in World War I during a dinner party in Berlin in 1935, Eden, who is now Lord Avon, recalled in a television interview today.

They found they had fought in the same sector about the same time.

Avon said afterward Francois Poncet, the French ambassador at the time, asked him, "Is it true that you were opposite Hitler on the war?"

"Well, it seems so, doesn't it?" Eden replied.

"And you missed him! You ought to be shot!" said Poncet.

Ferguson Is Ad Manager

Don Ferguson, advertising manager of the Big Spring Herald, has been a member of the advertising department at the paper for 23 years.

He joined the Herald in January 1951 as an advertising salesman in both display and classified advertising. He was named manager of the department in October 1972.

Ferguson was born in Vivian, La., but moved to Texas when 10 days old and has lived in Texas since. His father was an oil contractor and they followed the oil fields to Big Spring, Kermit, Pampa, Pecos, Monahans and Burkburnett. He graduated from high school in Big Spring.

He went to California and worked for a defense factory from 1941-45 when he returned here and worked as a salesman prior to joining the Herald.

He and his wife, Kitty, have two sons, Dale and Glenn, and two grandchildren. Dale works for the Herald in advertising and Glenn in the press room.

Inflation, Is Easing, Says Tower

TULSA, Okla. (AP) —Inflation and a stagnant economy were placed squarely on the doorstep of Congress Thursday night by Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

Tower said, however, there are signs that inflation is easing.

The diminutive Texas senator said Congress can't claim credit for the encouraging signs on the economic front.

Tower touted the candidacies of his colleague, Henry Bellmon, Jim Inhofe, the GOP gubernatorial candidate, and George Mizer, the party's nominee for the 1st District U.S. House seat, at a $50-a-plate fund-raising dinner attended by 175 persons.

Tower said the encouraging signs are that interest rates have started down, the wholesale price index has "flattened out," the stock market has improved and inventories of goods are up.

He said a restrictive monetary policy by the Federal Reserve Board and efforts of the private sector have brought about the turn for the better, not Congress.

ADVERTISING MANAGER — Don Ferguson, who has been with the Herald for 22 years, is in charge of display advertising for the paper each day.

Ad Department Develops Idea, Sees It Through

The advertising department of the Big Spring Herald develops each ad from an idea to a layout to an actual ad in the paper.

Oliver Cofer is advertising manager, and Don Ferguson heads the local display department. Also in advertising are Mike Edwards, Susan Kelly, J. O. Sheid, Dale Ferguson and Bob Clark.

They conceive an idea for an ad and then take it to an account (businessman) to ascertain if it will fit in with his or her advertising program and help to sell their product.

Then, staff members go through advertising service books and pick out pictures or make local pictures that fit the situation. Danny Valdes, who is chief photographer for the Herald, makes the local pictures.

Classified advertisements, which are processed by a department headed by Ed Thomas, handles the pages of ads which list rentals, for sale items and many other "classified" messages.

His department includes Gwen McNally, Neilda Wild and Cathy Beyer. These three women also alternate at the telephone switchboard and furnish information for customers with questions.

Elephant Seals Make Comeback

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Elephant seals have returned to the Farallone Islands, a lonely group of windswept and fog-shrouded islands 30 miles off San Francisco's Golden Gate.

The discovery was made by a group of scientists who have been making periodic trips to the islands since they were abandoned by the Coast Guard.

For thousands of years these giants of the sea lived along the California coast from Pt. Reyes south to Cape Lazaro off Baja California. Their only natural enemies were giant sharks and killer whales.

They were practically annihilated starting about 1855 when they were slaughtered by seal hunters who used only the fat from their bodies for rendering into oil.

The killings stopped in 1870, but by that time the Elephant seal was virtually extinct. Now a new generation of these 5,000-pound giants of the sea has started returning to the old mating grounds, protected by the U.S. government.

Ultimate Step Is Completed

From the time that Johannes Guttenberg opened the era of literacy by inventing moveable typ — two score years before Columbus sailed for America — until recent years there were refinements but no revolutionary changes in the graphic arts industry.

The process was basically the same—assemble type, put ink and paper on it, press the paper.

One departure from this was lithography, in which plates are treated in such a way as to hold or repel ink. From this evolved a process know as offset (lithography).

To speed up this process, electronic machines were invented to produce type photographically, a sharp departure from using lines or letters of metal type.

Suddenly, the printing process is on the threshold of many revolutions, most of them electronic. The technology exists (and indeed is being used in many instances) today for typing news matter or advertising, storing it in computers, to be called on CRTs (little television screens) for editing, layout, etc., then back to the computer to be assembled, with pictures and other matter, by the touch of a button into a final form that exposes the printing plate for the press. No hand would touch it from the fingers of the reporter until it rolls from the press.

Photographic Process Used To Print Paper

The Big Spring Herald looks differently now, because it is printed by a photographic process rather the formerly-used letterpress method, the Herald has utilized for 70 years.

Before, raised surfaces printed both photos and type seen in the Herald.

Now, Robert (Bob) Rogers, production manager, said: "All of production is put out on photo-mechanical paper."

With the new press, it will be easier to be innovative with presentation of advertisements and news material, Rogers said.

"We can do a lot more with it than we could with hot metal. All it takes is a pair of scissors," Rogers said.

"The pictures are supposed to be better," Rogers said. "And the reading material is supposed to be sharper."

"You can get your copy (type) up a lot faster," Rogers said.

ONE MORE PLATE

The new press is capable of printing up to four colors about as easy as one. Alton (Rink) Davis, pressroom foreman, said all you have to do is burn one more plate for each primary color and clean out ink wells for color ink.

Also, with the new press, the Herald can print up to full four-color photos, given color separations. And the Herald can print four colors on eight-page sections as compared to four colors on only four-page sections before.

Women sitting behind what look like electric typewriters set local stories formerly put into lead galleys by Linotype operators.

"All we do is type it," Mrs. Carol A. Avery, a tape puncher, said.

"Typing" punches six rows of holes in paper strips.

Most Associated Press stories come over a telegraph wire machine which automatically punches tape.

Computers justify or straighten the edges of news stories, which are photographically printed.

Proofreaders, like Sitty Landers and Mary Ann Marquez, compare the story as sent back by the editorial department and the type prepared photographically.

Errors are corrected, and the stories stuck to grid sheets with wax, Judette Bloom explained.

TO THOMAS

Photographs taken by Danny Valdes locally and transmitted by the AP wire and other art go to the camera room where James D. (Red) Thomas works.

Thomas converts these images to halftones. "We put the dots in it. In other words, put a screen on it. So it would reproduce shades of gray in the newspaper."

"Our (newspaper page) film is processed automatically, and our plates are processed automatically," Thomas said.

ROBERT E. ROGERS

Whole pages are "proofed again" and corrections made.

The big camera also photographs pages complete with stories, pictures and ads. With the negative created, aluminum plates sensitive to light are exposed.

These plates pick up varying amounts of ink.

Water circulated through the unit washes excess ink from the plates mounted on rollers, Alton (Rink) Davis, pressroom foreman, explained.

Conveyor belts take the finished newspaper sections to the circulation department.

Among the employes working in the photo composition department are Thomas, Frank Gonzales, Danny Martinez, Steve Holcombe, Ronnie Robins, Sandra L. Green, Sitty Landers, Mrs. Avery, Johnnie Pearson, Mary Ann Marquez, Gayle Murphy, Dawn Burt, Miss Bloom, Carla Walker, Claudette Green and Charlie Tingley.

Press room employes include Ben Olive and Glen Ferguson.

IN CONVERSION

Production Manager Had Leading Role

Robert E. Rogers, production manager, helped coordinate the conversion of the Big Spring Herald from letterpress to offset printing.

In approximately six weeks, the Herald changed from the hot metal to photocomposition.

Rogers has worked in the back shop since his senior year in Big Spring High School. He started work here on Jan. 24, 1955, and was graduated later that year.

A machinist's helper and galley boy, Rogers was working for Granville (Gramps) Glenn then.

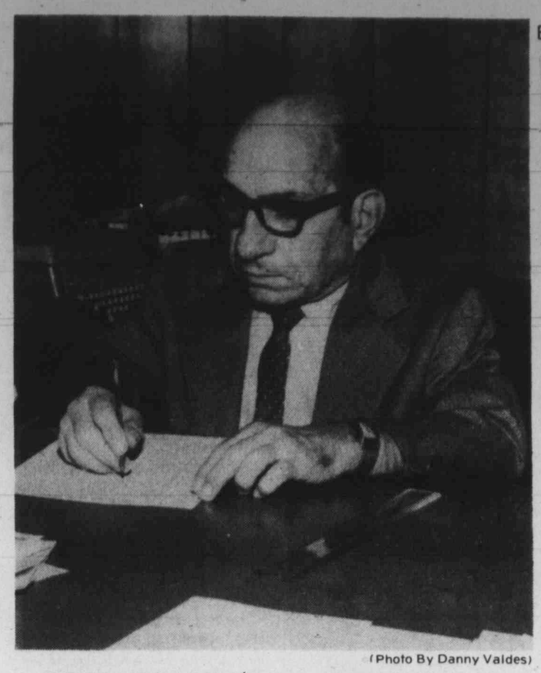

A call to active duty in the Army interrupted his tenure with the Herald. Rogers served in Fort Polk, La., in 1961 and 1962 and was section chief for a self-propelled, 105 mm howitzer.

In 1963, Rogers was promoted to assistant foreman for the back shop. Robert Whipkey was publisher when Rogers was back shop foreman in 1970.

On Sept. 1, Rogers was named production foreman by W. S. (Dub) Pearson, present publisher. Rogers supervises work in the back shop and pressroom.

He has studied at Howard College and trained with the Greenville Herald-Banner prior to the printing conversion.

Rogers was reared in Big Spring. He and his wife, Deanna, have two children; Robbi, 16, and Mike, 13.

(Photo By Danny Valdes)

CIRCULATION MANAGER — Gene Kimble is The Herald's circulation manager. He has been employed in that department 23 years and has served in his current capacity for 5½ years.

Paper Has Come Full Cycle

The Herald has made full cycle from cold to hot type and back to cold type again in its 70th year of existence.

When the Herald was founded, Thomas E. Jordan had what was then commonly known as "a shirttail full of type." This was foundry type, that is each letter cast separately in bronze or brass. This was true of the smallest type (such as you find on the classified page) as well as the larger type up to billboard display. All type was set by hand, locked in forms for printing, and then had to be redistributed painstakingly into the type cases.

Later, The Herald obtained a Linotype (it derived its name because it cast a solid line of type by means of mechanically assembling a line of mats or moulds and pumping hot metal into these).

From that time until August of this year, this "hot" metal process was used. Not only were the lines of type hot metal, but in 1929 when the Herald added a rotary press, the final printing plates were cast from hot metal.

FATAL LEUKEMIA
Kept Secret From His Wife

LONDON (AP) — Rex Harrison, the breezy star of "My Fair Lady," says he put on his greatest performance to keep Kay Kendall, his third wife, from knowing she was dying of leukemia.

The comedienne and dancer died in 1959 at the age of 28, never knowing what was wrong.

Harrison said doctors warned him that Miss Kendall must not be told of her illness. He kept the secret until the end two years later, masking personal agony in his own flip and frivolous way.

Harrison tells the story in his autobiography, "Rex," published Friday by the MacMillan Publishing Co.

The story of Rex and Kay inspired Sir Terence Rattigan, one of Britain's top playwrights, to write a play, "In Praise of Love," about a man faced with the same tragic challenge. Harrison, 66, will appear in the lead when the play opens in Washington next month. It will move later to New York.

The star, married now for the fifth time, met Miss Kendall while he was married to Lilli Palmer. He said Miss Kendall, a flirtatious former chorus girl, had a vitality and joy in living which "infected me as nothing had ever done before."

Harrison and Miss Palmer parted, and Rex and Kay became constant companions.

Late in 1956, after Harrison's success as Professor Higgins in the New York production of "My Fair Lady," Miss Kendall complained of headaches and lassitude. She underwent blood tests at the Harkness Pavilion in New York. A doctor summoned Harrison, but was hesitant to tell him what was wrong.

"I reassured the dedicated and priest-like old man that I wanted to accept responsibility for Kay, whom I loved very much," Harrison wrote. "So he told me then that she had an incurable disease, myeloid leukemia, and had a life expectancy of about two years."

ASCS Slates Referendum

Ballots are being prepared for mailing to all known wool and lamb producers in Howard County to enable them to vote in a national referendum on a proposed new agreement for the advertising and promotion of wool. The referendum will be conducted locally by the Howard County ASCS office.

The mail referendum will be held Nov. 4 through Nov. 15 and will enable producers to vote their approval or disapproval of a new agreement between USDA and the American Sheep Producers Council which allows the USDA to withhold a part of any wool payment to producers in order to finance advertising and sales promotion programs for wool and lamb.

Ballots are mailed to all known wool and lamb producers, but those not already known may come by the local ASCS office and vote.

Ex-Rancher Pressman

Alton (Rink) Davis, pressroom foreman here since June 17, came to the newspaper business from ranching.

In 1958, he began employment as a pressman's apprentice with the Midland Reporter-Telegram.

Davis worked his way up to pressroom foreman before accepting a position with the Abilene Reporter-News. At Abilene, Davis stayed three years as a pressman.

When he came to the Big Spring Herald, Davis was managing the Sam Allison ranch near Sonora.

He and his family live on the Garden City Route. Davis is married to the former Miss Sue Wiggley, Oklahoma City.

They have four sons: Floyd Alton, 21, Donnie 19, Jimmy, 13, and Johnny, 11.

Cyclethon Upcoming

Participants in "Cyclethon '74," a special event scheduled Saturday in Big Spring, will be potential winners in several ways.

Terry Hansen, chairman of the American Heart Association Cyclethon here, said today that prizes contributed by local merchants will go to participants who raise exceptional amounts for the Heart program as a result of the bike riding event.

"In addition, every cyclist who takes part will have the satisfaction of being part of a project to support local programs against heart diseases," Hansen said. He added that the exercise of the Cyclethon ride itself will also benefit the individual in his personal exercise program to reduce the risk of heart attack.

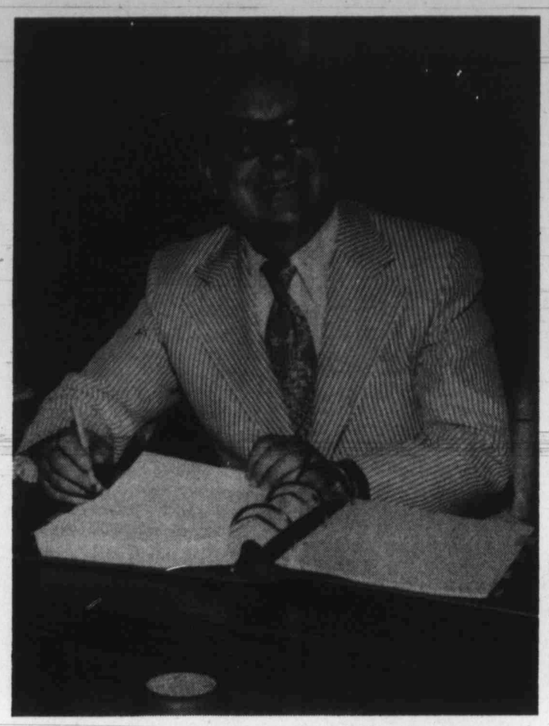

In other communities throughout America, similar rides will also be scheduled to support the Heart Association programs and services. In addition to the local awards, three major prizes will be given on a state-wide basis to riders who raise the greatest amount of Heart Fund support from their individual sponsors.

Registration forms and information about "Cyclethon '74" can be obtained at the local YMCA at 801 Owens or at the Chamber of Commerce at 215 West 3rd St. Additional information can also be secured by telephoning either organization.

Mayor Of Dallas Has Few Assets

DALLAS (AP) — Mayor Wes Wise, who faces a $30,000 court ordered judgement, has no real assets except the equity in his home and $50 in a bank checking account, court records showed Friday.

BUSY BUSINESS MANAGER — Harold Canning, Herald Business Manager for the past 27 years has his hands full keeping up with billing, purchasing and the payroll for the firm.

Harold Canning Works To Keep Herald Going

The business department of the Herald has a big job. It is charged with keeping up with the payroll for 58 employees in addition to handling all purchases, accounting, billing, collecting and watching over the budget.

Harold Canning, a veteran of 27 years at his job as business manager, heads the department which includes two part-time helpers and two computers.

Lenorah Willingham and Rita Ellison help with the manual aspects of bookkeeping and billing while a computer in San Angelo handles the general ledger and a computer here handles the payroll.

The department handles the billing for advertising and circulation.

Canning, who came to Big Spring in 1937 and worked for a while at the State National Bank before coming to work at the Herald, is a native of Newfoundland, Canada. He came to the U.S. at the age of 10 and is a graduate of San Angelo High School.

He and his wife, Doris, have one son, Barry Canning who is a senior in Big Spring High School.

Canning has been involved in civic activities, having served on several boards of directors including the Salvation Army Activity Board, Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center Board and the First Christian Church board. In addition, he is a Kiwanian.

SPORTS EDITOR — Clark Lesher began an assignment as sports editor of The Herald last Aug. 15, at which time he and his family moved here from Colorado Springs, Colo. Lesher is a graduate of West Texas State University.

Wise and a former business partner, George Rodgerson, have been ordered to repay a $30,000 loan made by two Dallas men for financing a now defunct import-export company.

Wise said he has offered to pay back $15,000, what he considers his share of the obligation, but the two creditors, James M. Schleder and Dr. Bernard Dolenz, refused to accept.

Rodgerson has appealed the court judgement and a hearing is set for Dec. 12.

The creditors have sought a list of Wise's assets to determine how the judgement may be satisfied.

According to the mayor's court-recorded listing of assets, he has monthly expenditures of $2,500. He earns approximately $22,000 as vice president for international affairs at the World trade Center and his wife earns $400 monthly, according to the listing.

The only property of significance he listed was $18,706 in equity in his $38,000 home which by state law cannot be taken from him.

Wise was elected mayor in 1971, his second term subject to re-election in April.

DUAL DUTIES — Tommy Hart operates from the city desk of The Herald, where he serves as a copy reader and suggests story assignments for reporters who run regular news beats. He also fills in where needed around the news room.

PRODUCING HEADLINES — Joe Awtrey, back shop foreman, watches while Charlie Tingley (left) and Dawn Burt make news headlines and advertisement heads.

Backshop Foreman Is Also Grid Official

Robert Joe Awtrey, who started as a printer's devil at 12 years, was promoted from assistant backshop foreman to backshop foreman Sept. 1.

Born in Randlett, Okla., Awtrey grew up at Comanche, Okla., where he worked for his first newspaper, the Comanche News.

In 1956, he was graduated from Tribbey High School and started working for the Duncan Eagle. Here, he stayed four years.

The Army claimed him for two years, sending the printer to Germany during the Berlin Crisis.

The Duncan Daily Banner was his employer for two years, followed by four years with the Hereford Brand.

Work with the newspaper in Poteau, Okla., preceded three years with the publication in Denver City, Tex. Before coming to the Big Spring Herald, Dec. 11, 1972, Awtrey worked at a power plant in Denver City.

He is married to the former Miss Carol Coats of Nocona. They have three children — Robert Joe Jr., 10, Dorothy, 8, and Rhonda, 6.

Awtrey is a member of the Southwest Football Officials and officiates at a number of area schoolboy games.

At Denver City, Awtrey was president of the Jaycees and a Sunday School superintendent.

Pope Censures

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today issued his toughest censure yet to a world assembly of Roman Catholic bishops, telling them he could not accept all they have said in their month-long debate on ways to deal with the Church's problems.

Describing himself as an "overseer" in an address at the closing session of the 4th World Synod of Bishops, the pontiff said:

"We praise the spontaneity and the sincerity that has been shown, yet not all the elements are to be retained.

Operate Topless Girls Volleyball League?

HOUSTON (AP) — Is your heart set on owning a box of crane parts, 36 kegs of steel screws, size 8 by 1½ inches, or possibly 80 bags of green coffee?

Or perhaps you operate a topless girls volleyball league and need 48 cases of girl's shorts and one case of matching shirts.

It's all for sale Nov. 2 along with a lot of other valuable articles and miscellaneous junk at the semi-annual U.S. Customs auction sale.

Twice a year the department gets rid of unclaimed or seized articles that pile up in bonded warehouses.

"We try to notify everybody involved but they don't always respond," says Gilbert Snyder, customs management service officer who supervises the sales. "Most of it is merchandise somebody orders from overseas but then changes his mind about."

"We sell it and pay warehouse charges, customs duties and taxes. If there is any excess money it goes to the owner if he notifies us, otherwise it goes into the government general fund," Snyder said.

Divided into 335 lots, the merchandise ranges from the most prosaic to the weird.

For sale are three cases of tape recorders, three clocks, two pictures and an outboard motor.

For a fast getaway, the auction offers a volkswagen, an American Motors Gremlin, an Opel, a British Land Rover or a 1936 motorcycle with a carton of spare parts.

You can also find 16 cartons of bird cages and you might populate the cages with the contents of a case full of mounted butterflys.

Of course there is a trunk full of used household effects for sale and another carton containing a stuffed dog, and ice chest and an Army sleeping bag.

And if you hair is thinning a bit, the customs people will be glad to sell you 59 cases of synthetic hair wigs, and 58 coils of steel banding to hold the wigs on during a windstorm.

Ancient Woman Is Attacked

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Philadelphia woman told police she was threatened at knifepoint and struck over the head with a flower vase in her own apartment Friday. Adding insult to injury, the assailant took a freshly baked pie that was cooling on a dining room table.

Betty Fox, 81, said she was watching television at home when a small boy opened a kitchen window Friday, walked into the living room and grabbed a purse containing $1.50.

When Mrs. Fox followed the boy outside, she was confronted by a woman who ordered her back into the apartment.

The woman pulled out a knife, picked up a flower vase and struck Mrs. Fox on the head and then grabbed the pie as she left the apartment, Mrs. Fox said.
