Leopold Refuses To Tell of Jail Break

JOILET, Ill., May 28. (AP)—Nathan Leopold refused to testify today before a coroner's jury investigating the murder of Deputy Warden Peter Klein of the state prison by seven escaped convicts on May 5th.

Leopold is serving a life sentence for the slaying of Robert Frank.

The youth, who viewed the slaying of the warden from a solitary confinement cell and who had already said he refused an opportunity to flee with the convicts, declined to tell the jury anything about the circumstances of the escape, saying that to do so would incur the enmity of his fellow convicts.

Crackmen Set Fire To Bank In Thornton

THORNTON, May 28. (AP)—Crackmen who broke into the Farmers National bank of Thornton last night, got $800 to $1,000 in silver, failed in an effort to blast open the vault and set fire to the building before leaving. Damage to bank fixtures caused by the explosion was estimated at $5,000 and fire loss to the building at $2,000. Adjoining buildings were slightly damaged by the flames which were extinguished by the assistance of the Groesbeck fire department.

The intruders gained entrance by forcing the front door.

TEXAS TECH REGENTS POSTPONE MEET

HORN'S ILLNESS CAUSE OF DELAY OF THREE DAYS

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY OF NEXT WEEK SET AS NEW DATES FOR SESSION

The regular Spring meeting of the Board of Regents of the Tech College that was to have been held here on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week has been postponed until Friday and Saturday on account of the illness of Dr. Paul W. Horn, President of the college, it was announced here Friday.

Hon. H. T. Kimbro, local member of the Board following receipt of the information from Amos G. Carter, Chairman of the Board.

A great amount of business in connection with the institution will be brought up for discussion, and every member of the Board of nine is being urged to attend, Mr. Kimbro said.

The budget for the various departments of the institution, which is now in the course of preparation by R. M. Chittwood, business manager of the college, will be among the more important phases of the work to be discussed, Mr. Kimbro said, for around this point develops the progress of the school.

No Budget Facts Disclosed

While no definite announcement has been made in connection with the budget, it is understood that the state legislature will be asked to appropriate not less than $2,000,000 in the regular bill that will be brought up during the next session that convenes in January, and officials of the college say that this amount is essential unless the institution is handicapped in its work. Authorities are planning the addition of at least 15 new instructors next session, and will add the junior year to the course, necessitating of course, more instructors, and more room and equipment.

The larger per cent of the Board, which is composed of nine persons, probably will arrive here from the south at 11:15 Friday, and will be served luncheon in the Home Economics building.

Search For Men Who Poisoned Race Horses

ATLANTA, Ill., May 28. (AP)—Elizabeth A. racing mare owned by J. Keller of New Orleans, besting her last in her stall at Exposition Park track today, the second to give up life through nibbling poisoned sugar proffered by men in a gambling coup.

Apology, valued at $5,000 by her owner, E. E. Sterrett, of Kentucky, died in agony last night shortly after the big race was called off.

Two men arrested with two other, have confessed a plot to fix a race by feeding the sugar to four horses. A fifth man is sought.

Texas Slayer Given 99-Year Prison Term

GAINESVILLE, May 28. (AP)—Nathan W. Story was found guilty of murder by a jury in district court here today in connection with the slaying of Fred Crain at Krum, Denton county, January 29, last, and sentenced to 99 years in the state penitentiary. The case went to the jury late yesterday. He was tried here on a charge of venue.

Attorneys for Story immediately filed a motion for a new trial.

Dilts Voluntarily Returns To Lubbock

William G. Dilts, who is facing a charge of removal of mortgaged property from the county as the result of a grand jury indictment returned against him here recently, returned to Lubbock late Thursday in the custody of Sheriff H. L. Johnston, from Los Angeles where the Lubbock county sheriff spent eight days in an effort to gain Dilts' release from California authorities.

Reports circulated here to the effect that Dilts had fought extradition from California are erroneous, Sheriff Johnston said Friday in charging that all the excitement about extradition papers was absolutely useless, for Dilts had been willing all the while to return voluntarily to face the charge, making extradition papers unnecessary.

Dilts has been released under bond to await trial.

Third Victim Dies From Bomb; Arrest Constable In Case

MUSKEGON, Mich., May 28. (AP)—Anna K. Bartlett, Blue Lake township constable, and leader of the political opposition to August Krubach, a supervisor, was arrested today in connection with the bomb outrage which cost the lives of Krubach, his daughter Janet, and her fiancé, William Frank at the Three Lakes Tavern yesterday.

"We have highly important evidence," was said prosecutor R. Glenn Dunn, who said when he arrived at the county jail with Bartlett.

Bartlett is leader of the Ku Klux Klan in Blue Lake township and has been active in enforcing the prohibition law.

MUSKEGON, Mich., May 28. (AP)—Miss Janet Krubach, 19, died here early today, the third victim of a mail bomb that exploded in the lobby of her father's resort hotel, the Three Lakes Tavern, yesterday. William R. Frank, 22, of Chicago, who was to have been married Saturday to Miss Krubach, was killed instantly, and August Krubach, her father, died shortly after the explosion.

Officers promised an arrest today. They have located that the small package, much the same as would be used in sending a box of cigars, was mailed at the Muskegon postoffice Wednesday afternoon. Only one theory is held: that the bomb was inspired and mailed because of the bitter political hatred of Krubach, who was supervisor of Blue Lake township.

Work Explains His Stand In Water Row

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—Secretary Work said today that telegrams were sent from the Interior Department in the North Platte project providing methods for occupants of the lands to meet their water payments and get water from the government.

If these telegrams were read, he said, he was at a loss to understand the indignation of the farmers who had burned himself and Reclamation Commissioner Mead in effigy.

Many of the occupants on the project, he said, were long in arrears on their payments with the result that the water had not been turned on this spring. Under the law, he declared, there was no other course for the government to pursue, but an arrangement for payment of the arrears was worked out.

Critical Speech Bars Russell From Britain

PARIS, May 28. (AP)—Charles Edward Russell, American Socialist leader, today said he was inclined to attribute the refusal of the British authorities to allow him to land at Plymouth to a speech he made on St. Patrick's day at Cincinnati.

In his speech he reviewed the historical policy of England toward Ireland and the present British policy toward the Latin countries. He termed England's general foreign policy a menace to the world's peace because of its "imperialistic aim."

LONDON, May 28. (AP)—The Star today quotes an official of the English home office as stating that Charles Edward Russell, the American Socialist leader, was provisionally refused permission to land at Plymouth at the request of the Irish Free State. The Free State's reasons were not divulged.

LYNCH, 'MA' AND DAN TELL THEIR WOES TO VOTERS

ALL THREE SPRING NEW ONES IN SPEECHES TO COMMONWEALTH

Voicing here-to-for unheard pleas in behalf of their candidacy the three major candidates for Governor of Texas last night and today waxed eloquent before their listeners in three different parts of the state. Associated Press dispatches to the Daily Journal indicated today, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, who with her husband took the stump at San Antonio, based her plea for a second term on Texas political tradition; Dan Moody, at Hempstead, explained why he took Jim up on the election bet; and Lynch Davidson, at Edinburg, attacked the expenditure of the Moody campaign.

Moody Explains (By the Associated Press)

HEMPSTEAD, Texas, May 28.—Attorney General Dan Moody today said he had accepted the governor's challenge to resign in the first primary and that it was a usual campaign trick of former Governor James E. Ferguson. He declared, as a candidate for governor, that the Ferguson were caught in their own trap and if the governor failed to keep the pledge to the people, "it would mean the disillusionment of those who still believe in him."

"In making this proposition, Ferguson hoped that I would either ignore or that I would bring the question by saying he would not live up to his promise, Moody declared. He expected me to do one of these two things, and then hoped to go about the state and say I was afraid to call his bluff; that I was insincere in the charges against him and that I was afraid of the result of my candidacy.

He called it "bluff."

"It has long been a political practice of Ferguson to bluster and badger and bluff his opponents, but this time his hand is called and he is caught in his own trap."

"The acceptance of the Ferguson challenge was not in any sense the result of my candidacy."

Implicate Chemist In Poison Plot; He Denies The Charge

DENVER, Colo., May 28. (AP)—Alva Eastabrook, cereal chemist, was taken into custody here today on a Federal warrant for his arrest in connection with an alleged poison plot against Judge E. E. Porterfield, of the Jackson County Circuit Court of Kansas City, Missouri.

Eastabrook is charged, the officers say, with sending Judge Porterfield a sample package of poisoned pancake flour, which, when analyzed, after the jurist, his wife and son, were made violently ill, was found to contain more than 15,000 doses of poison.

Eastabrook was arrested following an all-night vigil by a cordon of officers which was thrown about his store in West Denver. Eastabrook vehemently denied the charge, maintaining that he was being made the victim of a "frame-up."

KANSAS CITY, May 28. (AP)—Alva Eastabrook, arrested in Denver in connection with an alleged poison plot against Judge E. E. Porterfield, of the circuit court, formerly was chief flour inspector for the Kansas City Board of Trade. He and his wife had been estranged since 1924 and this spring Mrs. Eastabrook obtained a divorce, naming Miss Ella Roberts, a former employee of her husband's office, as co-respondent.

Investigation of the alleged plot, following discovery that the package of pancake flour received at the judge's home by mail contained poison, led to Eastabrook when Judge Porterfield told the authorities Eastabrook had written threatening letters to him from Denver. The letters referred to earlier domestic trouble, in which Judge Porterfield had rendered a decision.

Bomb Wrecks Store In Pittsburgh; None Hurt

PITTSBURGH, May 28. (AP)—Many lives were endangered today when a bomb wrecked a store in the downtown district, a few blocks from City Hall. A score of windows in the Catholic Home for Girls, across the street, were shattered. Eighty girls housed in the building became panic-stricken but were quelled by attendants. Eighty occupants of the building were injured.

John Barone, owner of the store, could assign no reason for the bombing.

NEBRASKANS ARE PEEVED In Effigy by Farmers

(By The Associated Press)

SCOTTS BLUFF, Neb., May 28.—Dr. Hubert Work, Secretary of Interior, and Dr. Elwood Mead, Commissioner of Reclamation, were hung in effigy here last night by angry groups of farmers who blame them for failure of the government to supply the irrigated North Platte Valley with needed water from the government project.

One of the effigies had but one arm with a sign "Dr. Elwood Mead" attached to it. Dr. Mead has but one arm. The other effigy was marked "Dr. Work."

This sign was found on that effigy: "For breaking his word and depriving a project of water."

The hanging of the effigies of the two Washington officials is the first intimation of violence or drastic action since the trouble over water started but those conversant with the situation fear that unless relief is extended soon, the farmers may attempt to forcibly gain control of the lateral gates of the vast irrigation system and feed water to their dry crops.

The North Platte valley project is one of the largest in the world, providing drought insurance for 14,000 farms through 12,000 irrigation canals and ditches. The controlling feature of the project is the Pathfinder Dam located three hundred miles in the interior of Wyoming, impounding 1,025,000 acre feet of water.

Cincinnati Reds Grab Bigger Lead In National With Double Win Over Cards; Pate Beats Johnson 3 And 2

(By The Associated Press)

Cincinnati, recovering after a four-game slump, again has lived its margin of leadership in the National League to two and one-half games over the Chicago Cubs.

Brooklyn again is in the first division and the St. Louis Cardinals dropped a place.

Cards Lose Two
St. Louis fell before Cincinnati twice yesterday, 4 to 3, and 2 to 1. Brooklyn, after losing three straight to the New York Giants, took half of a double bill at Philadelphia.

Donohue carried the Reds to its first victory of the afternoon. Mays subordinated his way to a coquest in the second.

Mitchell left-handed excellent ball in the opening contest at Philadelphia and won from the Dodgers, 3 to 1. Douglas McWeeny, formerly of the White Sox, served a five hit performance in the concluding tilt to win, 5 to 1.

Pittsburgh raised its world's series pennant and accepted the usual setback in affairs of this kind when Tony Kaufmann scattered the nine hits the Pirates gathered. Meantime, his fellow Cubs smashed out 13 drives to win, 5 to 2.

The New York Yankees' winning streak of 16 games came near to breaking when they played an exhibition 10 to 10 tie with the Springfield club of the Eastern League. Springfield decided against taking its turn at bat in the ninth in order that the streak remain intact.

Walter Johnson of Washington, took a beating from the Philadelphia Athletics, 3 to 2. Dale, a relief pitcher, doubled in the ninth with one on and two out, a lead relay permitting the winning run.

The St. Louis Browns after a disastrous road trip, returned home with a victory over Cleveland, 8 to 5. Chicago and Detroit battled 12 innings, a fumble by Red Wingo in the field giving the White Sox the decision, 5 to 4.

Stars for Reds

One of the early season's stars of the National League is Ray Bressler of Cincinnati. Bressler has been hitting the ball hard and often and the first five weeks of the chase finds him right up with the leaders. His stickwork has had much to do with keeping the Reds around the top of the heap.

SUMMER TERM FOR HIGH SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY

The regular summer school course that will be offered through Lubbock high school for the benefit of high school students will start Monday, May 31, and will be conducted in the south wing of the high school building. It was announced here Friday by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Reid, and Mr. Carroll Thompson, all of the high school faculty will be in charge of the short term that will continue for eight weeks closing July 23.

The school is organized with the object of allowing the student to make one full credit in some subject. Mr. Thompson said Friday. It is the plan that by concentrating on one subject, the student can do a full year's work in this subject during the eight weeks. A fifth student is doing review work, he may take two subjects.

All students who desire to take the work are expected to report to the south wing of the high school building Monday morning at 9 o'clock when registration will be held, and tuition will be payable in advance, the announcement said.

ROBERTS TO MAKE SURVEY OF DAM AT SCOUT CAMP

Harry N. Roberts, of the firm of Hawley and Roberts, consulting engineer of the city of Lubbock, will accompany K. N. Clapp, scoutmaster of one of the local troops of scouts and leader in all movements that are for the advancement of scouting, will go to Post Sunday where they will make an inspection of the tract of land recently donated by the Post, estate to the South Plains area council of boy scouts regarding the construction of a dam for an artificial lake on the tract.

Recommendations of Mr. Roberts as to the location, size and nature of dam that will best serve the purpose will be made following the inspection, and will be given consideration by scout leaders in making plans for the beautification of the plot. It is not known yet whether a concrete dam will be required, or whether a dirt structure will suffice. Surroundings will be made to a foundation after the most advisable location is decided upon, pending the inspection, little is known of the soil structure.

A thorough inspection of all phases of the proposed construction will be made, it was said Friday.

All of the men walked quietly and calmly to the chair, displaying no emotion. Sloan, the first to be taken from his cell across the narrow hall to the death chamber, seemed in a stupor. He was strapped in the chair at 12:47 a. m. and nine minutes later was pronounced dead. Lake followed quickly and eight minutes after the current was turned on was pronounced dead. Baker was strapped in the chair at 1:15 and at 1:25 was pronounced dead.

99-Year Sentence Assessed Wife In Murder Of Spouse

(By Associated Press.)

LA GRANGE, Texas, May 28.—Mrs. Ella Jones was sentenced to 99 years in the penitentiary by a jury in district court here today after plugging guilty on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband, J. P. Jones, on the night of May 8. Jete Banks, negro, was found guilty on a similar charge last night, with death in the electric chair fixed as punishment.

The state had sought to prove that Banks had fired the shot which killed Jones at the instance of Mrs. Jones. The woman, testifying during Banks' trial, had admitted offering to pay Banks $150 if he would "freeze Jones out." But she declared she did not understand the phrase as intending the death of her husband. Mrs. Jones entered her plea of guilty when the jury to try her had been chosen within 15 minutes after court convened today. Sheriff Loessin, however, was put on the stand for the state before the issue was submitted to the jury to identify a statement made by Mrs. Jones.

In the statement, which was offered in evidence, Mrs. Jones admitted she understood the term "freezing out" to mean that Banks should "zap Jones." "I'm sorry I ever met Banks," one who would have done it for me." At another point the statement continues, "when the second shot was fired, I thought, 'Well, Banks got Jones now.' Jones was shot twice by a shotgun charged while reading in his home.

Billy Evans Says

Knuckle Ball
Despite all legislation, baseball still has a most effective freak delivery. I have reference to the knuckle ball.

The knuckle ball is legal because it is pitched without resorting to any artifice. The peculiar break on the ball is caused by the manner in which it is held prior to delivery.

With most pitchers the knuckle ball is held in reserve. Eddie Rommel is the one exception. He really uses it more than his fast one or curve.

The knuckle ball is difficult to control. A great many pitchers who use it hand their effectiveness, rather than increase it, because failure to get the knuckle ball over keeps them in the hole.

However, the knuckle ball is a decided find these days and every pitcher feels that he must include it in his repertoire.

Freak Styles
When the spitball delivery was at the height of its popularity, some 15 years back, it played much the same role in the life of a pitcher as the knuckle ball does today.

The remarkable success achieved by such twirlers as Jack Chesbro, Ed Walsh and other noted twirlers of the old days caused every pitcher to feel that he must master the damp delivery.

A great many twirlers did go to the spitball strongly but, like the knuckle ball, because of lack of control, it didn't help their game.

Incidentally, the pitchers who didn't actually throw the spitball faked it by going through all the preliminary maneuvers.

Only a very limited number of spitballers are still doing business in the majors. Within five years, perhaps, it will be but a memory.

Smart Pitchers
Smart pitchers are always experimenting in an effort to increase their effectiveness. It is most surprising the breaks certain pitchers can get on the ball through the use of perfectly legitimate methods.

I have never umpired an overhand pitcher who couldn't sell his fast ball. While the opposition invariably alleges trickery, the result is achieved honestly through the manner of delivery. When it came actually to doctoring the ball I never saw a pitcher in all my career who could make it take such uncanny dips as Eddie Cicotte.

While I was in Philadelphia recently "Kid" Gleason dropped into the dressing room for a chat and we discussed Cicotte.

"There never was, or will be, anybody like Cicotte," said Gleason. "Why, he could almost make the ball talk."

"Give him some heavy oil on his glove and permit him to roll his hands and he would soon have in play a ball that would answer his every wish."

"I have seen him pitch fast balls all day to a team noted for its slugging ability and make them look like muckers."

"Cicotte was a magician as well as a pitcher."

Low-Ball Favored
That pitching styles and methods run in cycles can be proved by the change from the high to the low ball. Twenty years ago the high ball, no pun meant, was highly favored. Today a majority of the big league pitchers consider the low ball the hardest to hit.

Pitchers of the old school, twirlers of the Cy Young type, used the high ball perhaps 75 per cent of the time. They kept it inside and better high. I am positive the spitball delivery had much to do with the popularity the low ball now enjoys.

The spitball, to be effective, must be broken low, which makes the batter throw the ball most of the time and hit weak grounders to the infield.

Inspired by this, twirlers who didn't use the moist delivery went to the low ball, so that it is now the most-pitched ball in the game.

LO, THE POOR HUSBANDS

Now is beginning the great annual
"open season on husbands" and Lubbock, like every other city, town and hamlet in this great country of ours,
is viewing its regular summer "exodus
of wives."

Obviously this exodus is permitted
so the "poor, hardworking wives" can enjoy a few days or weeks of well-earned rest, yet sometime, to the general public at least, it seems that the "boys they leave behind them" enjoy
the "vacation" with even more gusto
than do the aforesaid "poor, hard-working wives."

Now, far be it from The Journal to make any slanderous, or even suspicious remarks about the husbands of Lubbock, generally, or individually. Yet, we cannot fail to notice the velled grin on the faces of some of the bachelors as they jauntily disappear into the darkness of the beautiful spring evening or the rapturous sights of comfort emanating from the luscious odor of a "T-bone. Well" in the leading ham-and-eggeries of the city.

THE THORN

Amarillo is in the midst of a great boom—one which will increase her population, add to her wealth and enable her citizens to build, perhaps, a great metropolis where a few years ago stood but a simple cow town. And Lubbock rejoices with Amarillo because a greater West Texas means a greater Lubbock as well as a greater Amarillo.

But with every rose there is a thorn and Amarillo's great oil boom is no exception to the general rule. In spite of the great benefits which are being reaped by the North Plains city
she is reaping too, the fare of increased crime—lawlessness which is some cases is leaving behind it a trail of blood.

It is the way of every oil boom and is to be expected in Amarillo as well as in every other town which, almost over night, becomes the mecca of thousands in a search for rapid gain.

Perhaps the toll of hijackers and murderers is worth prosperity which follows the greasy derrick. Certainly it is from a financial standpoint. Yet it seems a shame that Amarillo can't enjoy her new found prosperity, her unprecedented building boom, her great commercial triumph, unhampered by the criminal element. If such were possible the joy of Amarillo, and her neighboring West Texas towns,
at the North Panhandle's prosperity would be flawless—an ointment without a fly.

BIG ENOUGH

dispatches say, has been presented with a new straw hat which measures six feet and two inches across.

That's some hat, all right, and should be large enough even for Mr.
Lewis, who according to all reports is suffering from a terrible attack of self-appreciation.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON. — Representative
Sol Bloom of New York is ending this season of Congress more in the limelight, perhaps, than he expected, as a result of the hullabaloo over the inroduction of the name of Coolidge into the committee hearing on Sol's bill to regulate fortune telling in the District of Columbia.

The "Presidential spokesman" denied testimony that the Coolidges believe in spiritualism and have seances right in the White House, but that hasn't quieted the row, because the statement was also made that "most senators" are spiritualists, too.

If this is true, the question naturally arises, "How much does spiritualism have to say about the laws we have to live under?" It isn't so very nice to think about being governed by ghosts.

However, "It isn't true," says Sol,
with a contemptuous snort.

"Here's what happens," he continued. "You can call on one of these fortune tellers and right in the middle of the conversation the fortune teller says, 'Excuse me a minute,' and calls
up on a telephone—calls up a confederate, of course—and pretends to discuss an appointment with some senator or representative who wants his fortune told."

"Maybe the dapper faker even professes to be talking with the White House."

"It's all to impress the visitor.
That's how those stories get started. Bah!"

"I've no quarrel," the congressman
went on, "with people who believe human beings can communicate with the dead. That's a form of religion."

"But when a fortune teller—a medium or any other kind—begin making predictions for the future and advising you how to invest your money or what horse to bet on, look out."
Then again, when people are unhappy or in trouble they're credulous.
The fortune tellers take advantage of them—and, if possible, their last cent."

Journal Jobs

Nature condemns all animal life to labor. The old hen must scratch or perish. The hog must root or die, and all forms of life must struggle for sustenance. This iron clad rule of nature is responsible for all progress and development. In a few thousand years it transformed snaking savages into Newtons and Shakespeares.

A lazy man is willing to accept any kind of a job he is sure he can get.

casion for staying in such a place with such a prospect was the fact that there was no place else to go and nothing else to look forward to.

The contests have not fully altered
that as yet. But they are changing it.
They are putting hope back on the farm. They are restoring confidence and self-respect and the will to meet conditions as they arise with resourcefulness and genuine American grit.
The difference between farming as a fate and farming as a fight is enough to glorify the whole industry. It is enough to change the whole picture.
It is enough to effect the economic regeneration of the man behind the plow. And that is what the contest is doing. It found farming as a fate, a pitiable fate at that! It is leaving farming a fight—a fight against weather conditions, a fight against insects, a fight against time, a fight against production records, a fight against indolence and ignorance and poverty. No wonder that Texas is rising to the battle call. No wonder that the farming man stands erect again with determination in his heart and set in his task. The scent of victory has been wafted to his nostrils, and it has made a man of him.

AGRICULTURE PUT UPON A
SPORTING BASIS

From our British forebears we Americans have inherited a sporting instinct which our greater leisure possibilities have encouraged us to develop not a little. Indeed, we may be said to have intensified it to the point where we have no scruples at considering business and trade affairs in the competitive spirit of the football field, or even of the prize ring. Farming in the old days had something of the sort
in the husking bees, logrollings, stump pulling contests and harvest gatherings. But of late farming has been too hard pressed to be much of a lark. At least that was so in Texas until the crop contests began to take hold in real earnest. At this time a total of more than $70,000 is being offered in the form of prizes to spur on agricultural effort. That is a tremendous infusion of the sporting spirit into farming. And it is beginning to show results.

Competition means effort intensified by hope. A better combination could not be asked for the redemption of Texas agriculture. Consider the typical tenant farm as it was a few years ago—and as it is in regions
not yet reached by the "More Cotton On Fewer Acres" and kindred contests—with its tumble-down shack of a house, its signs of want and poverty

NEIGHBORS' WIVES

ERNEST LYNN, author of THE YELLOW STUB

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Largely because the advertising
agency of GRAMAM AND MIL-BURN has just landed an important new contract, JOHN and FAY MILBURN, to whom a baby girl has just been born, buy a new house.

John Milburn, a romantic, impractical individual, is a partner in the agency and does all of its copy writing.

Previous chapters tell how John,
while Fay was in the hospital, had accepted an invitation from PAT FORBES, a married man with three children, to attend a swimming party. There he met NELL ORME and was attracted by her beauty. Pat Forbes tells him Nell is having trouble with her husband and later hints that he is somewhat dissatisfied with his own marriage.

To John, who has been married
only two years, this is a little hard to understand. He refuses an invitation from a friend of his, PAUL DAVIDSON, a lawyer, amateur actor and libertine, to go on a wild party.

DR. RICHARD MENEFEE,
John's best friend, and his fiancée,
Margaret Wayne, are the first visitors at the new home, and they play bridge. After they go Fay scolds John for some misconduct on his part and then tells him she has something on her mind.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XI
"Now Fay," said John, "don't hawl me out any more. I'm sorry if I put my foot in it."

"I'd forgotten all about that," Fay remarked, still gazing at the lamp.
"What I had in mind was a housewarming."

"A what?"
"A housewarming. We've been here three days now. As soon as we get actually settled, and all straightened up, we must give a party. It's always done, you know, when a family buys
a new house."

"No, I didn't know it," said John stubbornly.

"Well, you know it now."
"I'm for a party, anyway," he laughed. "Where're we going to invite? There's Dick and Margaret, of course."

"And Clara Wayne," put in Fay.
"We can't ask Margaret and not invite her sister. Whom shall we invite for her?"

"Why not Nat Graham?" suggested John.

"Oh, I don't think Clara is crazy about Nat."

"Well, how about Paul Davidson,
then? If Paul doesn't think the party is tame, let's invite him."

And so they talked far into the night, selecting the guests for their housewarming.

Invitations were duly mailed to Pat
and Marian Forbes, Noel and Vera Boyd, Margaret and Clara Wayne,
Dick Menefee, Nat Graham, Paul
Davidson and Eleanor Mason, a close friend of the Boyds, whom Fay invited as a "partner" for Nat Graham; and the eventual day arrived.

"Now you won't forget those candy mints, will you?" Fay reminded John at breakfast. "I want you to get them at Rankin's; they have the best in town."

"I'll get 'em, all right. Never fear."
"Well, you know how undependable
you are when I want you to do something for me downtown."

"I'll get 'em," said John doggedly,
his mouth full of toast. "Who'd care,
anyway, even if I did forget 'em?"

What difference does it make to a party whether you have mints or not?
Now, if it were ice cream, or jam, or salad dressing, it would be different.
But mints—humph. He snorted to show his contempt for such trivialities.

He went out in the hall and got his hat. Returning, he said, "Or if it was liquor—that's the really important thing at a party these days. You can bet your bottom dollar I won't forget that."

"John, don't you forget those mints," Fay called after him as he went out the back door. She threw up her hands in resignation after gazing at his tall figure swinging down the walk to the garage.

Just before lunch Fay called him up to ask him not to forget the mints.

"I won't," he assured her. "I'll get them on my lunch hour."
But he didn't. At three o'clock Fay called again and he felt guilty.

"Sure, I got 'em," he lied, and as soon as he could hang up the receiver he grabbed his hat and went out to get them.

But he hadn't forgotten the gin.
There was a gallon bottle of it at his feet as he drove home.

Dick Menefee and Margaret and Clara Wayne arrived shortly after eight o'clock and Nat Graham arrived shortly after. Everyone else was late,
and the Noel Boyds were later.

John was in his element as the gentle host. There were few introductions necessary, for most of the guests already were acquainted, but those few he made with a flourish.
When the Boyds arrived, after nine o'clock, he stood them up in the hallway and, striking a pose, announced:

"Attend, everyone. This is the late Mr. Noel Boyd and his wife."

"I refuse to laugh at that one," said Boyd with his set smile. "It came out of the ark." He was a fair-haired man with squinting eyes and a laugh that was at times hearty and at times a sneer. You never knew which kind you were going to evoke from Noel Boyd.

Yess, his wife, was black-haired and silent, with smoldering dark eyes.

"I must say for John," remarked Paul Davidson drily, "that he does the honors with all the flourishes of a big butter-and-egg man." He was tapping a cigarette against his elegant gold case.

"I wanted you to feel at home, Paul,"
John retorted. Vera Boyd caught Davidson's eyes and the latter handed her a cigarette and lit it for her. She inhaled deeply, closing her eyes as she expelled the smoke from her mouth.

Cigarettes were passed around among the other women. Clara and Margaret Wayne smoked expertly. Marian Forbes clumsily and Fay, after one puff, laid hers down.

"I am quite unsold on marriage," he said in his best stage accent. "It is nothing but a relic of barbarism."

"I want one of yours, Paul," Eleanor Mason said, shaking her blond bobbed
hair as John offered her the cigarette box.

"Want 'em strong, eh?" he laughed.
"I've got cigars, if you'd rather have them," Eleanor, asked. Eleanor Mason, and Frank Harris got married last week."

"No," said Fay, and Pat Forbes groaned. "God forgive them, for they know not what they do."

Marian Forbes smiled tolerantly and Dick Menefee said, "That's treason, Pat, from you."

"If that be treason, make the most of it," quoted Forbes.

"Do you hold yourself up as a horrible example, Pat?" asked Eleanor Mason, and Marian Forbes shot her
a quick look, which passed unnoticed.

Paul Davidson was adjusting another cigarette in his long ivory holder,
and was smiling tolerantly.

"Be careful, Pat," warned John.
"There are a couple of bachelors here."
He smiled significantly at Davidson and Nat Graham.

"I'm safe, I guess," laughed Graham, and everyone turned to Paul,
the oracle and cynic.

"I am quite unsold on marriage,"
he said in his best stage accent. "It is nothing but a relic of barbarism."

Someone started to laugh but instantly checked it, for Paul was unsmiling.

SUCCESS

The act of succeeding; or the favorable termination of anything started.
Success begets success. It is easy to work under the stimulant of success,
but it takes a person of unusual courage and strength of character to press on after a failure. Obstacles obstruct the path of every child of toil and it is only those who can overcome them,
and go on to success who are of great worth. Perseverance and steady-ness are two of the qualities that contribute most to success. One may succeed in accumulating treasure, yet have failed, unless all gains are honestly made. True success is the answer to faithful and honest endeavor.

COOLIDGE'S ORDER

Politicians are having a heated debate over the recent order of President Coolidge that county and city peace officers be made special probi-tion agents. The old question of state rights is brought up, and some challenge the President's legal authority for such a ruling.

Without considering it from a political viewpoint, the public will be inclined to see in the move the strengthening of prohibition enforcement, and for that reason will uphold
Mr. Coolidge.

SWEDISH ROYALTY ARRIVES HERE FOR VISIT

NEW YORK, May 28. (AP)—Looking forward to "an awfully good time," during their three-months visit to America, the Crown and Prince and Princess of Sweden landed at the Battery yesterday amid a welcoming din of whistles from harbor craft and cheers from crowds ashore.

Transferred from the motor liner Orlogsholm to the city tug Macon, and escorted by an official greeting party, Prince Gustavus Adolphus and the Princess Louise, stepped ashore with eager anticipation of their journey through this country they had never been before.

Coming up the harbor, the Prince gave what he declared was his first interview to newspapermen, and in a Democratic fashion expressed his views on many subjects. Both he and the Princess speak English fluently.

The Prince, dressed in a morning coat, admitted that he did not know how to dance the Charleston but asserted his willingness to learn. He expressed an ambition to see Babe Ruth, remarked that he was a total abstainer, partly from principle and partly because I have no desire to drink.

As soon as the royal couple landed, they were caught up in the whirl of official receptions. The elaborate program was expected to take every minute of their time until their departure this afternoon for Washington.

GAS STATIONS ARE PROBED BY U. S. WEIGHT MEN

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—The national conference on weights and measures turned an eagle eye toward the gasoline filling station operator who aspires to get rich quick through short measuring methods.

Patrons by Theodore A. Zerahin, district supervisor of the bureau of weights and measures at Philadelphia, and others, described the most advanced means for making sure that the motorist who buys gasoline gets all he pays for.

Chief among these developments and apparently the most successful in thwarting dishonest dealers appears to be the "decoy" tanks.

Popular automobiles of innocent men are equipped with these devices. A plain clothes man drives up to the filling station and orders five gallons as if nothing were going to happen.

Nothing does happen if a little later, and not far away, a standard measure shows that the "decoy" tank contained five gallons of gasoline, or even a bit more. If the amount is less the dealer has a chance to explain to the judge. Shortages range up to 1 1/2 quarts in five gallons have been detected in this way.

'TLL SWAP,' SAYS A GOVERNOR TO GOVERNOR

ST. LOUIS, May 28. (AP)—Governor Tom J. Terral of Arkansas, before approving extradition for William Allen Scott Rutherford of Pine Bluff, Ark., wanted here on the revived charge of second-degree murder in the killing of Jack Tucker, hotel bell-boy, wants the Governor of Missouri to surrender a man charged with passing a bad check in Arkansas.

Governor Terral, speaking by long distance telephone from his office in Little Rock, told the St. Louis Post-Dispatch today that he desired the extradition of Paul Dollinger of Fredericktown, Mo., charged with giving a check for $500 in the purchase of cattle from a man in Postonville, Ark. Governor Hyde in 1924 and Governor Baker this year, he said, refused to grant extradition, holding that the proceeding was one to collect a debt and should be brought in the civil courts. "I take the position that if a man commits a crime in another state he go back and face the charge," Governor Terral said. "I want action. I am not going to shield Rutherford, but I want my man, Missouri in protecting a man whom we want to try. If he is not guilty, he will be treated fairly."

GIFT TO SCOUTS IS ONE OF GREAT BENEFIT

The gift by the Post estate of 420 acres of land out of the large holdings of heirs to the estate of the great King, who founded the city that bears his name, to the South Plains Area Council Boy Scouts of America, is one of the most appreciated gifts ever conferred by an individual or corporation. In the opinion of scout leaders here who for several months have had such a gift in mind, and these officials are joined by boys who are members of the scout movement in the twelve counties that make up this area council in extending thanks to Manager Wardwell and heirs of the estate for their actions in the matter.

The deeds to the property are just about completed, and the tract will now become the permanent holdings of the boys of the council. The tract will be used as a general playground for the boys and officials, and already plans have been launched to make the property one of the real beauty spots of the state.

The old ranch headquarters building that is located in the tract will be retained in its entirety, with the exception of improvements that will make the building safer and more able to withstand the ravages of time. Around this building, one of the oldest 1 1/2 mile part of the state will center all activities of the scouts, and it is the opinion of scout officials that its ancient walls that have weathered many a storm will be an inspiration, not only to the boys themselves but to leaders in the perpetuation of the ideals established by the pioneer cattlemen of this country who are responsible for erection of the structure.

Plans are under way also for building a beautiful lake by damming up the canyon stream that courses its way through the tract. This lake when finished will be stocked with fish, and will be equipped with boats for use of the boys on their annual camp.

The picturesqueness and romance surrounding the scene cannot be surpassed by any tract in the state, officials say, and the improvements as planned will make of the tract an even more attractive place of outing and camping.

Thus transpired one more step in the advancement of boy scout work on the Plains, and by this transaction not only has the name Post been preserved to posterity, through the younger generation, but a great forward step taken to urge this younger generation to greater achievement. The gift undoubtedly is one of lasting benefit to the hundreds of boys who will take advantage of the opportunity afforded through the grant.

Alleged Assaulter Is Captured By Rancher

DEL RIO, May 28. (AP)—Pablo Marino, one of the two Mexicans wanted in connection with the recent assault and robbery of Mrs. S. C. Holcomb on her ranch near here, has been captured by Bill Tate, American ranchman in Mexico, according to word received by local authorities.

Tate advised he expects to capture the other soon.

Marino and his companion escaped from Mexican authorities who captured them after the pair had crossed the international boundary into Mexico.

CHINESE START CIVIL WARFARE

Open Fighting, Threatened To Begin For Weeks, Finally Resorted To In North

(By Associated Press.)

CANTON, China, May 28.—War between Canton and her northern foes, threatened for weeks, has begun. The forces of Marshal Wu Pei Fu of Hankow having advanced through Hunan province, are now attacking the Canton defenders from three strategic points along the Kwantung border, causing large numbers of casualties.

The position of the National government of Canton, already weakened by internal dissensions between its moderate and communist factions, has been further shaken by the northern invasion. The approach of Marshal Wu's men has caused banknotes of Canton to pass at a slight discount.

Meanwhile there is an exodus of civilians by boats for Hong-Kong.

The attack of the northern army against Canton is part of Wu Pei Fu's declared campaign against bolshevism throughout China. Canton is ruled by the Kuomintang, or National party, founded by the late Sun Yat Sen, and while communist influence has been strong, it has not been dominant, being opposed by an influential moderate faction.

Plans For Annual Convention Of West Texas Chamber Of Commerce Shaping Up In Optimistic Manner

AMARILLO, May 28.—Plans for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention here during June 21-22-23, which have been set in motion are shaping up in an optimistic manner, according to convention authorities. This was revealed Tuesday evening at a meeting of the chairman of the various departments at which time the details of the preparations for the big gathering were further gone into and elaborations made.

The enthusiasm which the committee now at work upon the project have shown and are continuing to show is regarded with pleasure by chamber of commerce officials here and especially by officials of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. All appeals that have been made upon the city or individual citizens have met with gratifying response, it is declared.

Arrangements are now being made for the conduct of a number of group meetings. By far the larger amount of the constructive work of the convention will be done through the medium of such intramural sessions, such as the meeting for the secretaries and presidents of the member chambers of commerce, which is to be held in the First Christian church annex here Tuesday afternoon, and the agricultural and livestock meeting which is due to take place at the Potter county court house on the same afternoon.

Other sessions of this character are to be held intermittently throughout the three days of the convention. George W. Bricker, secretary of the Eastland chamber of commerce will preside over the secretaries auxiliary meeting at the Christian Church, while a program of addresses on pertinent subjects and general discussions of problems confronting the territory comprising the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be carried out.

Livestock Meeting
The program for the agricultural and livestock meeting as announced, contains subjects of much interest to all the Southwest. The arrangements for other auxiliary sessions have not been completed, it is stated.

While convention officials have been delighted with the interest manifested among local citizens they have been fully as delighted with the co-operation throughout the territory, which is served by Amarillo. The efforts of these communities to assist in the gigantic undertaking are shown in the invitations, which they, at the suggestion of the arrangements, are sending friends at distant points in the jurisdiction of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce inviting them to attend the convention here and to spend the nights with them. In this way not only Amarillo, but the entire area directly served by the Panhandle metropolis, will receive lasting benefits. It is pointed out and the various towns are not slow in taking advantage of the idea.

It is the purpose of Amarillo, chamber of commerce and civic officials declare, not to show off this city exclusively, but to show the Panhandle to the Southwest. Following out this idea the preparations are being pressed along lines, which will mean benefit to the whole area, a condition which will not only be productive of greater good to both the territory and the city but will result in greater satisfaction to everyone concerned in the big annual gathering from the vast section that is being developed through this sort of co-operative enterprise, it is declared.

MODERATOR URGES PURE GOSPEL IN FAREWELL

PENSACOLA, Fla., May 28. (AP)—Exhorting ministers of the Gospel to "give to your people the mighty dynamo of Calvary's cross," and declaring that the Bible is "not Christ, but the guide to Christ," the Rev. Dr. George Sumner, retiring moderator of the Presbyterian church, delivered his farewell address before the general assembly of the church in session here.

"No idea or ideal, but a life and a person form the center of a satisfying religion," Dr. Sumner told his audience. "You are not to preach fiction, economics, sociology, science, but Christ and the unsearchable riches of God in Him."

"You are preachers of a gospel, not the advocates of a culture. Fancies and guesses and affected learning have never yet saved or comforted a soul. They may sometimes have been an opiate, lulling men to sleep and leading them to go out into eternity in a spiritual coma. They have not brought peace, lasting peace, and life to either the living or the dead."

"If the church be built upon the principles of the text, the gates of Hell shall not prevail against it." Taking his text, "The Heart of the Gospel," from Isaiah, "And the Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all," Dr. Sumner declared that "these words take us right to the heart of God's scheme of grace."

"And why should we not go there? What better place can there be? What can so meet the needs of our souls? What theme can be more worthy of so august an occasion as this, when we meet as the great court of our Lord?"

"The positive note in telling of Christ will always be both the best defense and the best offense of God's truth. The positive gospel is the best apologetic. It speaks for itself. It will be heard. It can not be gainsaid. Men listen to it everywhere and respect it, and it aways their hearts and wills. A positive Christ and a positive Gospel will sweep the earth while apologetics and polemics are bucking on their armor."

The man who faithfully and in clear-cut terms preaches the message of Christ "is never in the contempt of the mass of men," he said. "He may be looked down upon and derided by the meager class that affects learning and resolves that affection into up-to-dateness and superior wisdom. But the sneer of this class is unqualified praise of the herald of the cross."

FARM IMPLEMENTS IN OLDEN DAYS VERY CRUDE

HOUSTON, May 28. (AP)—King Tut would have had no difficulties in recognizing farming implements in use in Texas prior to and immediately subsequent to the Civil War, Pat Keelan, of Navasota has written H. H. Schutz, department of agriculture statistician here. Mr. Keelan's letter describing pioneer farming conditions was in answer to a questionnaire sent out by Mr. Schutz.

A farm in the early days, Mr. Keelan wrote, was "well equipped if it had a plow, a wooden tooth harrow, a double shovel cultivator or primitive type of Georgia stock and an eye hoe. Plows then were a slight improvement on the old Egyptian affair."

Oxen were the heavy duty tractors, while an ample supply of horses was kept for family use, Mr. Keelan said. Cotton, then as now, was the principal money crop and was hauled to Houston from Navasota in ox teams. Meal for hog cakes was carried along for food, the rifle being depended upon to furnish the protein ration. Ten to fifteen miles a day was the usual distance covered, with the oxen staked out to graze at night.

Seed selection for better staple and body was talked of but Mr. Keelan asserts that when planting time came "cotton seed was just cotton seed. The seed was planted by hand, strewn in feels nothing he feels. Government aid is the only thing that can equate the difference, he asserted.

Assailing the administration's financial program, Senator McKellar declared the "excessive extravagance" for government bureaus, the army, navy, and bonuses for foreign countries in the debt settlements, but "has no money to protect the great basis industry of agriculture."

Texas Potash Lauded By Mining Engineer

CINCINNATI, May 28. (AP)—Recent discovery of great potash deposits in 6,000 square miles of Texas, will free our American agriculture from dependence on Europe for a vital necessity, Dr. Henry Mace Payne, noted mining engineer, of Washington, asserted before the coal section of the American Mining Congress here today. The potash deposits of Texas looks like white sand and are from 500 to 1,500 feet deep, he said.

"There must be government aid in launching the new industry and a bill has been introduced in Congress to appropriate money to drill and prove fields. When this field is developed, we will not have to buy potash abroad."

Texas Bankers Ask For Special Session

GALVESTON, May 28. (AP)—The Texas Bankers Association at the closing session of its 42nd annual convention here yesterday passed a resolution urging the governor to call an extra session of the legislature to validate Texas county road bonds.

A copy of the resolutions will be submitted to the Governor. The association also pledged its support to Charles O. Austin, commissioner of banking in his efforts to secure a revision of the Texas banking laws.

LABOR OFFICIAL TO LEAVE FRIDAY FOR CANYON

Mrs. M. D. Payne, Deputy Labor Commissioner for Texas, who has been here for several days visiting friends and looking into the possibility of establishing a state employment agency here, will leave in the morning for Canyon to attend the graduation of her daughter, Miss Frances Payne who will receive her A. B. degree from the West Texas State Teachers College June 1.

Mrs. Payne has been named representative of the State Department of labor at the annual convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce that meets in Amarillo June 21, 22 and 23 by E. J. Crocker, state labor commissioner, and is planning to attend the convention.

She has been in Lubbock several days conferring with chamber of commerce officials regarding establishment of the employment agency here, and the matter is now in the hands of these officials for disposition. It is explained by officials that the federal labor department has agreed to place an agency here in August, but it is understood that the Texas Commission wishes to place an agency here to serve until this time at least.

TODAY'S MARKETS

Cotton Markets

NEW ORLEANS FUTURES
NEW ORLEANS, May 28. (AP)—Cotton market opened steady with first trades showing no change to two points decline. Liverpool was closed. The market eased off a point or two after the opening and ruled quiet during the first hour but finally advanced 17½c for July, 17½c for October and 17½c for December after the weather map was posted. A private authority makes the condition average 68.7 and the probable decrease in acreage 1.9 percent.

The market ruled quiet all morning, the weather prospects holding out no new indications for a change. Towards mid-session some covering for over the week-end induced a rally which carried July to 17½c, October to 17½c and December to 17½c. At mid-session the market was steady at 17½c.

The market improved during the afternoon on short covering but trading was sluggish. The New York holidays tomorrow and Monday and the holidays in Liverpool caused a general disinclination to trade. October moved up to 17½c, and December up to 17½c.

NEW ORLEANS FUTURES

NEW ORLEANS, May 28. (AP)—Cotton opened steady: July 17½c; October 17½c; December 17½c; January 17½c.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 28. (AP)—The cotton market was quiet again as the opening today, prices fluctuating with a range of four or five points. Traders evidently found nothing in the weather news of sufficient importance to create fresh sentiment on the eve of a three-day adjournment over Memorial day, while owing to the holiday abroad, there were no Liverpool cables to influence sentiment either way.

First prices were steady after an advance of two points on July, but generally 1 to 2 points lower, July ruling around 18½c and December 17½c at the end of the first hour, or about net unchanged to 2 points lower. Trading remained quiet later in the morning. Prices worked off to 18½c for July and 17½c for December or about 2 points net lower under commission house liquidating, but later steadied and were about net unchanged to 2 points higher at mid-day.

There was a little flurry of covering in the early afternoon, October selling up to 17½c, or 2 points net higher, but demand was supplied at this figure and the market was very quiet later. At 2 o'clock October was selling around 17½c with the general market about net unchanged to 2 points higher.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, May 28. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady: July 18½c; October 17½c; December 17½c; January 17½c; March 17½c.

BOSTON, May 28. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say: Demand for wool continues slow and prices are barely firm. Every branch of the wool textile industry is following very closely the move of the man higher up and extreme caution prevails. It is hoped that the repeat orders for goods may presently come along in better volume, however. There is rather more export trade actively for cape wools.

London opening Tuesday is expected to rule firm on the finer wools, but probably easier on medium to coarse to cross-breeds.

Operations in the West are moderate and prices hardly changed for the week.

Mohair is firm. Quotations: Scoured basis: Texas fine 12 months (selected) wool $1.10; 1.12. Fine 8 months 98c; 1.00.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, May 28. (AP)—Stock prices moved irregularly higher at the opening of today's market under leadership of the railroad shares, Norfolk and Western opened 1 3-8 higher and several others showed large fractional gains. General Railway Signal responded to the declaration of an extra dividend by opening nearly a point higher while Famous Players yielded nearly a point on reports of new financing and Woolworth lost ground as a result of the cut in the dividend. Foundation Company broke over 3 points. National Biscuit and American Ice over 1 and 3 points higher.

Buying was spread over a fairly broad list in the early trading, with active short covering again in evidence, particularly in the motors. White Motors was quickly run up over 2 points and American Bosch Magneto advanced 1½. Atchafalpa moved up about a point to within a fraction of its 1925 high. New peak prices for the year were recorded by Commercial Solvent "B" Manhattan Modified Guaranteed, Gotham Silk Hosiery and Amerac Corporation. Food shares gave another good demonstration of group strength with American Sugar refining and corn products among the early leaders in that group. Delaware and Hudson, United Cigar Stores and Atlantic Coast Line were heavy on profit taking.

Foreign exchanges opened irregular. Demand sterling was slightly higher at 4.86 3-16. French and Belgian francs each fell about 8 points to 8.20 and 3.07½, respectively.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE
NEW YORK, May 28. (AP)—Foreign exchanges irregular. Great Britain demand 4.86 3-16; cables 4.86 11-16; 60-day bills on banks 4.82 5-16. France demand 2.74½; cables 2.74½; Italy demand 2.74½; Belgium 2.11; Germany 23.50; Tokyo 47.10½; Montreal 100.125.

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, May 28. (AP)—Rapid fresh upturn in May wheat quotations took place early today owing to renewed security of offerings. Most of the gains, however, were wiped out when an opening rush to buy had been satisfied. Other deliveries were inclined to sag, owing to rains in Northwest. Starting ½ cent off to 3½ cents up, wheat fluctuated nervously at near the initial limits.

Corn, oats and provisions were easy, corn opening unchanged to ½ cent lower, and showing but little power to rally.

Among the disturbing factors in today's wheat market was notice taken of assertions that cash wheat in June would be scarcer than in May.

Greater Harmony Is Need Of Church Today, Report Of Committee Says To Presbyterian Meeting In Baltimore

(By the Associated Press)
BALTIMORE, May 28.—The need for greater harmony in the church and a more strict definition of the rights of Presbyteries under the general assembly were stressed in the report of the committee of fifteen to the assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., presented here today.

Reciting the history of dissensions within the church and seeking the causes of the upheaval which has divided the organization into two camps of fundamentalists and modernists, the committee, appointed last year confined its action to recommending subjects for consideration. No definite action was suggested.

Two Subjects Stressed
The report centered principally around two subjects, the "spiritual condition of the church and the causes of unrest," and the "power of general assembly and the effect of its actions."

Counseling liberty of thought outside the fundamentals of the church constitution, the report asserted: "Tolerance as a principle within the Presbyterian Church refers to an attitude and a practice according to which the status of a minister or other ordained officer is acknowledged and fellowship extended to him, even though he may hold some views that are individual on points not regarded as essential to the system of faith which the church professes."

"The liberty which toleration allows is not to be judged finally by individuals. It is freedom with boundaries and those boundaries are fixed by constitutional authority."

Refers To Past Chisms
Again referring to chisms in the past, the report discussed the need of elaboration of the authority of general assembly follows:

"One of the most important questions to be considered is the relative powers of the general assembly and of the Presbytery as regards matters over which the Presbytery had original jurisdiction. The rights of the Presbyteries and the limits of their independence is a question that has been involved in at least two of the historic divisions of the Presbyterian Church. The responsibilities of the Presbyteries in licensing and ordaining candidates for the ministry run down and root themselves in the broader principle of the relation between Presbytery and assembly and by the full discharge by each body of its conditional functions."

This phase of the report was thought to refer to a question which will come before the assembly at this session, when it will be determined whether the New York Presbytery is to be disciplined for licensing ministers against whom it had been complained that they did not subscribe to the "essential and necessary articles of faith."

The committee reported that this subject required such deep study that is required another year of continuation to prepare a detailed report.

Seeking the causes which have led to the present unrest in the church, the conclusion was reached that "we believed that Christian character and faith have not deteriorated."

MEXICAN SOLDIERS GO TO THE AID OF AMERICANS WHO ARE NOW HELD BY GUERRILLA BANDIT GANGS

TWO OTHER MEN REPORTED CAPTURED, NOW MAKING
FIVE IN ALL; AMBASSADOR SHEFFIELD BUSY
IN MEXICO CITY; WASHINGTON WORRIED

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, May 28.—Federal troops in the State of Vera Cruz have been sent out with orders to exterminate the bandits headed by Vidal Tena and to rescue John W. Shanklin of Canyon, Texas, one of five Americans now in the hands of outlaws in various parts of Mexico.

The Mexican authorities probably were spurred to their efforts because the bandits had set six P. M. Thursday for killing Shanklin, a sugar plantation worker, if a ransom of 25,000 pesos had not been received at that hour.

Two other Americans were taken in the Tampico oil region yesterday and at last accounts were being held for ransom, or death, if the money was not forthcoming. They are oil drillers named Briggs and Greeley.

In addition to Shanklin, Briggs and Greeley, there are in the hands of outlaws C. C. Braden of Laredo, Texas, a mine owner, and a mining engineer named Gallagher. They are held in the State of Durango.

Last reports said Braden was being threatened today as to whether the bandits had fulfilled their threat to kill Shanklin. Nor was there any news of the fate of the other prisoners. A Mexican further was captured at the same time that Shanklin was taken.

Embassy Is Busy

Information of the capture of Briggs and Greeley, the American embassy immediately made further representations to the Mexican foreign office. The men were employed by the British El Aguila Oil Company. The bandits attacked the oil camp on Wednesday, burned several bridges leading to the place and retreated with federal troops in pursuit.

Information received at the American embassy from Vera Cruz is that when the bandits demanded 25,000 pesos for the release of Shanklin, Superintendent McLane of the El Potrero sugar plantation sent messengers at first offering 5,000 pesos, then 10,000.

The bandits issued an ultimatum that Shanklin would be killed during the evening unless the full amount demanded was received. The plantation on which Shanklin worked is owned by Mrs. Virginia King of New York.

Mexican Government Active

The Mexican government asserts that it is doing all in its power to put down the captors of the five Americans. The government is determined to exterminate the bandits, as they are declared to be endeavoring to enthrall the government with the United States. There is a disposition in some quarters to believe that the bandits are bluffing and that they will not kill Shanklin.

Word has been received in Nogales, Arizona, of the killing by a posse at Coyotillo, Sonora, Mexico, of John Edwards, an American mining worker, 70 years old. The chief of police of Coyotillo led the posse.

Shanklin has a wife and three children at Canyon. He is a brother-in-law of Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the West Texas State Teachers College.

Braden Denial Made

LAREDO, Texas, May 28. (AP)—Mrs. C. B. Braden received a telegram from U. S. Consul B. F. Yost at Torreon, Mexico, today, denying he had received a letter advising him that Mr. Braden is being tortured by Mexican bandits who are holding him for ransom. Yost had been quoted in a dispatch as Mexico City announcing the receipt of a letter saying Braden had been hurt by the hands of his captors.

In a telegram to Mrs. Braden, Yost advised he had sent his vice-consul to Mexico to negotiate with the bandits for the release of Braden, and Jules B. Gallagher. Both were captured by the bandits at the Texana mines near Descurridora, Durango, May 18. Additional troops have been assigned to search for the bandits, the consuls telegram said.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The kidnapping by bandits of five Americans in scattered sections of Mexico in the last few days is causing concern in official circles here, although no reports have been received indicating that the incidents are more than they appear to be on the face of press reports.

Ambassador Sheffield is handling the cases with the Mexican foreign office on his own initiative and it is stated that there is no reason to believe that the Mexican City authorities are not doing everything in their power to obtain the releases of the Americans and to capture and punish the kidnappers.

A report from Ambassador Sheffield on the latest outrage, made public without comment at the State Department today, told of the kidnapping, May 26, of two American oil well drillers, Briggs and Greeley, from the Furbero camp of the British-owned El Aguila Oil company in the Tampico region.

Sheffield Writing Notes.

Ambassador Sheffield said he had transmitted another urgent note to the Mexican foreign office requesting that active steps be taken to obtain release of American citizens held by bandits and punishment of the kidnappers.

The embassy received its report from the Mexico City office of the oil company, which transmitted the following telegram from its office in Tampico: "Early this morning (May 26) armed men raided and robbed the Furbero camp, taking away two American drillers, Briggs and Greeley, for whom 500 pesos ransom was demanded, with threats if not paid immediately. Captain commanding soldiers at Padma Sola was advised and left immediately for Furbero with fifteen soldiers."

Bridge Is Burned.

"On arrival at Calichar found bandits had taken away telephone and set fire to Calichar bridge. Fire extinguished before bridge became unserviceable. Proceeded to Furbero but so far unable to locate bandits."

"Have reason to believe same party who assaulted Escobal camp in January last."

The scattered nature of the outrages, it is pointed out here, tends to discredit any suggestion that there is a revolutionary plot afoot in Mexico which has as its object the embarrassment of the Mexican City government through attacks on Americans.

In each case Ambassador Sheffield promptly submitted the facts to the foreign office and urged active steps to obtain release of the prisoners and punishment of the bandits.

Official advices have indicated that the Mexican authorities have been prompt to take measures to that end and have dispatched troops to pursue the raiders.

Davidson Questions Moody

EDINBURGH, Texas, May 28. (AP)—Charges that somebody is "spending many thousands of dollars plastering Texas with Dan's the Man literature" were linked with the inquiry "Whose Man is Dan?" by Lynch Davidson, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, in an address here today.

The speaker continued his attack on the Moody candidacy, declared that "not since Oscar Colquhoun ran for governor has such an enormous sum been spent in behalf of a gubernatorial candidate."

Oil Fight Is Stressed

"The entrance Wednesday of W. S. Farish, president of the Humble Oil and Refining Company, into the gubernatorial struggle has brought into the open for the first time the forces which are fighting my candidacy and supporting that of Dan Moody," Davidson said, referring to a statement by Farish which appeared Wednesday attacking the Davidson position on Senate bill 118.

"With Oscar Colquhoun driving, Standard Oil forces pushing and the political lawyers of Texas trailing along, the Moody wagon is now out in the open where everybody can see."

Then shifting his fire to the candidacy for re-election of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, Davidson described the "respect of the anti-trust laws of Texas by Senate bill 118 as the blackest stain on the black record of Fergusonism."

"Ma" Loo's Backward

SAN ANTONIO, May 28. (AP)—A new basis for her plea that she be given another term was advanced by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson in firing the opening gun of her San Antonio campaign last night.

Both James Harley, who introduced her, and the Governor herself declared her record entitled her to a second term in keeping with the precedent which has not been broken since the Civil War.

Mrs. Ferguson and former Governor James E. Ferguson both spoke, the former but ten minutes and the latter at length. Mr. Ferguson repeatedly assailed Attorney General Dan Moody's candidacy, referring to the Ku Klux Klan, the oil companies, the Baptists, evolution, the highway controversy and the governor's pardon policy.

"Moody," said Ferguson, "is an anti-Klanman by day and a Klanman by night." He alleged that if the Attorney General were elected governor, the rangers would be sent to San Antonio to deprive you of your personal liberties."

Teller Killed When
Canadian Bank Robbed

WINNIPEG, May 28. (AP)—Maurice Garvie, teller, was shot and instantly killed in a holdup here today of branch of the Royal Bank of Canada. The slayer escaped with $2,000.

Driving to the bank in a taxicab, the teller, who was well-dressed, walked into the building and drew an automatic pistol, shouting "put 'em up."

Maurice Garvie was in the back of the small structure and when the teller in the case refused to comply with the command, the gunman fired. Garvie dropped dead.

"That's what you all will get if you don't shove 'em up," the robber told the teller. He gained entrance to the teller's cage, took $2,000 and fled.

less building by the Home Economics class. Following this a formal session will be held at 1 o'clock in the administration building.

The Board was to have gone into session here Tuesday, and was to have been honor guests at the production of "The Spirit of West Texas," the historical pageant that is to be given under the supervision of Miss Ruth Pirtle and Miss Johnnie Glickerson on Tuesday evening.

Pageant Is Coming

The pageant, which will set in motion the closing exercises of the college, will be produced in fifteen episodes depicting the development in West Texas since the time of "The Wind" to the present, and every town and city that made a bid for the college to the location board will be represented in the pageant. The pageant will be staged on a huge platform on the south side of the administration building, and one of the most colorful historical plays ever witnessed in the state is expected. Parts have been assigned to more than 500 students who will participate.

The Board will hold another session Friday night if deemed necessary, and Saturday morning will again meet in business session. Efforts are being made to have every member of the board to attend.

OFFICERS GRAB GERMAN BOOZE

Cruiser Hamberg, With Load
Beer, Raided by American
Pro-Law Officials

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—The Los Angeles Times says it has learned that Federal prohibition officials have seized a quantity of beer aboard the cruiser Hamberg, first German war craft to visit the Pacific Coast since the war. The cruiser is in San Pedro harbor. The seizure followed alleged sales of beer.

The newspaper describes W. W. Anderson, assistant prohibition administrator in this district, as reluctantly admitting that Federal operatives boarded the vessel two days ago at San Pedro and obtained evidence in the form of bottled beer that tested 4.8 and 4.6 percent.

Facts in the case have been "forwarded to Washington for instructions," while the beer has been locked in the Federal vaults here.

"Our men had no trouble obtaining the beer," Anderson was quoted as having said. "Their only difficulty was to avoid the mob that swarmed about the ship's canters and to find an officer who would sell to them."

"This, they did, paying $1 a bottle," the cruiser, a survivor of the famous battle of Jutland, arrived at San Pedro May 17 on a trip around the world. It is scheduled to sail for San Francisco Saturday and thence to the Orient.

to carry out their part of the contract, then I say sign, for on one will dispute the argument that natural gas will be of great benefit to Lubbock. But until such a proposition is submitted, and I believe that one eventually will be, I say do not sign."

"I admit the fact, and any fair-minded man will do the same, that any contract signed now will have a tendency to slow down local development of a field, but as far as this is concerned, if a bonafide proposal is submitted, I consider that the local development is a matter of secondary consideration. The rate to be assessed also is a matter for consideration as to whether or not the initial rate would be raised or lowered after completion of the line."

Consider All Sides

"And we must also consider the fact that under such a contract, unless guarded against, there is a possibility that the promoter will begin work and lay a few hundred feet or less of the line as a beginning of construction, then stall off the balance of construction for a period of time—or until he can sell his franchise at a fancy price to capital."

"There are many things that must be threshed out in connection with a proposition that means so much to the city, and I do not know when definite action will be taken by officials."

Mr. McMahon's proposition, it is understood here, calls for laying a 14 inch line from the field into Amarillo; a 12 inch line from Amarillo to Plainsview; and a 10 inch line into Lubbock; with possibly a six inch line on to Slaton. He also proposes to place pressure stations at intervals along the line to assure adequate and as even pressure as possible.

Mr. McMahon applied to the City Commission in regular meeting here Monday for a franchise, action on which was deferred pending investigation by the officials, and Tuesday the matter was brought up at a meeting of the Board of City Development directors when opposition was voiced.

Thursday the Kiwanis club, approximately 100 strong, voted almost unanimously favoring the proposal, and interest is now at a high pitch, with war being the main topic of conversation all over the city, both officially and otherwise.

Barbecue And Auto Trip Thru Valley To Feature Meet

(By The Associated Press)

HARLINGEN, Texas, May 28. (AP)—An old-fashioned barbecue and automobile trip through the Lower Rio Grande valley are among the entertainment features announced for the annual meeting of the state firemen's convention to be held here, June 8 to 11. J. B. Challes, state secretary of the arrangements committee, said. Three thousand four page invitation booklets have been ordered and will be mailed to fire chiefs and firemen throughout the state, Mr. Challes stated.

Every town in the valley has been requested by Mr. Challes to care for a part of the 8,000 visitors expected for the convention.

The Turkey Trot Band of Cuervo has been extended an invitation to attend the meeting but he reply has been re-

A tentative program for the convention calls for a motor trip through the valley June 8. The following two days will be devoted to business sessions, fire fighting demonstrations and contests, a barbecue and other entertainment features as yet undecided upon. On the closing day another motor tour of the valley by the entire convention is scheduled, winding up at Brownsville where the delegates will cross the Rio Grande and participate in the "pre-Volstead" barbecue at Matamoros, Mexico.

Practically the entire $7,000 necessary for entertainment has been raised. The entertainment committee is composed of fire chiefs and one or two citizens from each town in the valley.

Fire chiefs on the program as announced include: Roy Weller, of Brownsville; L. A. Tedder, San Benito; B. P. Gamble, Harlingen; L. D. Nelson, La Feria; A. A. Talbert, Mercedes; A. W. Spencer, Weslaco; Jesse Norwood, Donna; R. L. Miller, San Juan; R. L. Krueger, Pharr; C. H. Britton, McAllen; and Ross A. Marus, Mission.

Methodist Students Form Association At

(By The Associated Press)

Cecil A. Deese, San Saba, was elected president when a Methodist Students association was organized at the Tech Thursday evening following a "Good Times" program which was sponsored by members of the First Methodist church for students of the church. The meeting was held in Room 305 Administration building, which was decorated in crepe paper. A number of games were played and strawberries and cream were served. Following this, a business session was held and officers were elected. About 100 students were present.

Other officers of the association as elected are: First vice president, Russell Denison, Lorens; second vice president, Maynard Mast, Rising Star; third vice president, Miss Maud Deese, Silveston; fourth vice president, Gordon Trendway, Lamesa; secretary, Miss Lucille Davis, Amarillo; treasurer, Miss Inez Medlock, Lubbock; reporter, Richard Covitt, Lubbock; publicity, Miss Eleanor Houghton, Florida.

Mrs. Horace Nichols, Methodist student worker, met with the group and presented the idea of forming an association. Women of the church who planned for the evening were Mesdames Hub Jones, H. W. Sims, H. W. Richardson, Roger Pierce, E. E. White, H. T. Kimbro, A. W. Evans, E. W. Camp and William J. Miller.
