M'NEALUS BILL TO WAIT

Action of Same Was Deferred Until Monday by Decision of Senate.

Special to The Times. Austin, Jan. 27.—A brief session of the House was held today at which little business was transacted, and adjournment was taken until Monday. The McNalus bill regarding party primaries, which had passed the Senate and was to have come up this afternoon, was delayed until Monday, having the effect of preventing Democratic nominations of Dallas city officials in the coming election. Stephens offered a bill allowing the traveling expenses of District Judges and District Attorneys outside their counties of residence. Williams of Dallas and Stevens offered a joint resolution amending the constitution so as to pay members of the Legislature $1,000 annually and mileage at three cents per mile, and prohibit passes.

Refers Submission Resolution.

By Associated Press. Austin, Tex., Jan. 27.—The Senate has referred to the committee of the House the submission resolution and is considering the sheep scab bill. The House did nothing but read new bills for half an hour and then adjourned until Monday afternoon. The committee on irrigation set favorably on the bill appropriating $5,000 to investigate the arid lands. The establishment of the Normal school in Central West Texas will be favorably reported, also Spradley's Pure Bill.

Congratulate Mexico.

Special to The Times. Austin, Texas, Jan. 27.—A concurrent resolution was introduced in the Senate this morning by Senator Murray, congratulating the people of Mexico for her progress socially and politically, and stating that the "government of Texas has no sympathy for, or part in the revolution there." The resolution also provides that the Governor transmit to each governor of a Mexican State and President Diaz, copies of the resolutions. The Senate spent most of the morning considering the presentation of new bills.

Bills in Senate.

Special to The Times. Austin, Texas, Jan. 27.—Among the bills introduced in the Senate today was one by Hudspeeth creating the office of State Inspector of Masonry with a salary of $2,000, and another

W. C. CANNON IS IN OLD MEXICO

W. C. Cannon, for whom the officers of this county hold a warrant on a charge of forgery, has been located in Old Mexico and the officers have telegraphed that he be arrested. He was apprehended through a letter written to this place, which was mailed at Chihuahua, but in which he stated that he would leave on the following day for the Madera country in the Sierra Madre mountains. If his arrest is accomplished in accordance with the telegraphic instructions from this place, the matter of requisition will be taken up at once in an effort to secure his return to answer the charges against him here.

ONE HUNDRED SHARES PLACED FOR ORGANIZING CITIZEN'S OIL & GAS CO.

W. J. Kirwin, who with M. J. Gardner, is organizing the Citizens Oil and Gas Company of this city, to a Times reporter this morning reported good progress in placing the stock, about one hundred shares having already been subscribed for by citizens of the city. The company as planned will have a capital stock of $50,000 to be divided into shares of $100 each, fifty per cent of which will be paid in at the time of the organization of the company. The purpose of the company is to develop this section for oil and gas, the prospects for which, according to Mr. Kirwin, are very favorable indeed.

by Hudspeeth providing for a public service commission, similar to the Williams bill in the House. Townsends offered an amendment to the Labor Commissioner's law providing for the appointment of an inspector of safety appliances and an inspector of factories. Coffer offered a bill prohibiting the sale of cigarettes in Texas.

Consider Redistricting.

Special to The Times. Austin, Texas, Jan. 27.—The Senate prohibitionists today caucused on selecting members of a joint redistricting committee and will probably announce the selections tomorrow. It is claimed the prohibitionists wish to rearrange the congressional districts so as to give certain areas a chance of election in the districts of Congressmen Henry, Burleson, Randall, Dies, Hardy, and W. R. Smith, and to defeat certain congressmen outspoken against Bailey.

Committee Reports.

Special to The Times. Austin, Jan. 27.—The House committee on education today reported favorably the bill establishing an additional Normal to be known as the Central West Texas Normal. The committee on irrigation reported favorably the bill providing for the irrigation of arid West Texas lands and appropriating $5,000 therefor.

Bowie To Come For One Game Of Basket Ball

As heretofore announced in The Times, the Bowie Athletic Association Basket Ball team will be here for a game Saturday night with the Y. M. C. A. team. The Bowie boys are said to be well trained and very successful in playing the game, and an interesting contest is anticipated, as the members of the Y. M. C. A. team are well up on the game and splendid players.

Narrowly Escaped Electrocuting.

By Associated Press. Snyder, Jan. 26.—C. F. Yeager, a lineman narrowly escaped electrocution here late last night when his hand came in contact with a live wire. A hundred volts passed through his body and he was badly burned but will recover.

WITNESSES WILL BE ALLOWED TO RELAY

Special to The Times. Houston, Texas, Jan. 27.—Houston Heights citizens and District Judge Robinson today reached an agreement whereby forty witnesses from Houston Heights will go daily to Galveston to attend the trial of the election fraud cases, which Judge Robinson venued from here. Under the first arrangement every voter would have been compelled to leave the town, thereby leaving the homes unprotected.

Paine Admitted to Bail.

Special to The Times. Dallas, Tex., Jan. 27.—N. B. Paine, charged with killing J. J. Budzies by striking him upon the head with a cooper's maul, was admitted to bond in the sum of $1,000 at an examining trial before Justice Works today. Budzies' skull was fractured. Paine claims self-defense, saying that Budzies was advancing upon him with an ax.

Women for Jurors.

By Associated Press. Olympia, Wash., Jan. 27.—The lower House today passed a bill making women eligible for jury duty.

ONE HUNDRED SHARES PLACED FOR ORGANIZING CITIZEN'S OIL & GAS CO.

The matter will be presented to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their meeting on next Tuesday, and it is hoped to interest that organization in the matter to the extent of securing its endorsement at least, and the subscriptions of many of the members to the stock company. New Captain at Mare Island Yard. Vallejo, Cal., Jan. 27.—Captain Henry T. Mayo, recently in command of the cruiser California, today succeeded Captain Benjamin Tappan as captain of the Mare Island navy yard.

The Committee Encouraged

Frank Kell, N. Henderson and J. W. Culbertson, the committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to visit Corinth, Miss., with the view of investigating the plant of the Corinth Engine and Boiler Works, which company contemplates a removal to this place, returned last night, and this morning made a most encouraging report of the result of their visit.

It will be remembered that this company some time ago made an offer, by the terms of which they proposed to remove their plant to this city in consideration that the citizens here subscribe for stock in the company to the amount of $25,000, and it was to ascertain the extent of the company's holdings that the committee was sent to that place.

In discussing the result of their investigation with a Times reporter this morning, Mr. Kell stated: "The conditions look very favorable for securing the plant of the Corinth Engine and Boiler Works. The committee went over the matter thoroughly and found that they had quite an extensive plant, practically as representing to the Chamber of Commerce. The company agreed to send a committee of its stockholders to Wichita Falls immediately after their annual meeting, which is to be held on February 6, which committee will investigate this place as a suitable location for the plant, and if they are pleased with the location there will be no trouble in closing up the deal for the removal."

"Other details have all been worked out," said Mr. Kell, "and the matter now depends upon the conclusion reached by the committee from the stockholders, and we have every reason to feel encouraged over the outlook."

Discussing the matter further Mr. Kell stated that the company had agreed that in connection with the assumption of a part of the stock by the citizens of this place, that the valuation on the plant would be left to a committee of competent and disinterested persons. The plan is to have a capital stock of $125,000 of which the present company is to provide $100,000, while the people of Wichita Falls will be expected to take stock to the amount of $25,000.

This arrangement seems to be entirely satisfactory to the committee and they will so recommend to the Chamber of Commerce when their report is made. The company has come up to the expectations of the committee, their offer with reference to the valuation of the property is considered fair, and there now seems but little doubt that the matter can be closed up in a way that will assure this important institution for Wichita Falls as one of the several extensive enterprises to come our way this year.

GREAT BATTLE OF LABOR NEAR CLOSE

SUPREME COURT TO PASS ON BUCK STOVE CASE IN WASHINGTON.

INVOLVES CONTEMPT

Wherein Federation Officers Have Jail Sentence Hanging Over Them.

Washington, Jan. 27.—One of the most spectacular legal battles ever waged between capital and organized labor reached its final stages today when the Supreme Court of the United States took up for oral argument the famous litigation by the Bucks Stove and Range Company of St. Louis, Mo., against the American Federation of Labor.

The contending forces started their fight to determine the legality of the "boycott." That was in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. But today when the contest was renewed before the Supreme Court of the United States, the main issue had been narrowed out of the limelight by an incidental one. Now, the burning issue is whether the principal officials of the American Federation of Labor are to go to jail on charges of contempt of court.

Because they failed to obey the injunction issued by the District Supreme Court in the "original case," Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation, is under sentence to serve twelve months in jail; John Mitchell, vice president of the Federation, to serve nine months; and Frank Morrison, its secretary to serve six months.

Fighting for the American Federation of Labor and its officials are Attorney B. Parker, former democratic presidential candidate; Jackson H. Ralston, Frederick Siddons, William E. Richardson and John T. Walker. Opposed to them as the representatives of the Bucks Stove and Range Company are Daniel Dayenport and J. J. Darlington. The Bucks Stove and Range Company was selling stoves and ranges throughout the United States at the time the suit began. It complained that the American Federation of Labor and its members were conspiring to ruin its business by means of a boycott. The court was asked to grant an

PETITION LEGISLATURE FOR CHANGE IN LAW

A petition is being circulated in the city to be presented to the legislature requesting that body to amend the law relating to the collection of delinquent taxes so as to permit the Commissioners Court to employ the County Attorney to do the work.

Under the present law the court is not allowed to employ the county attorney, but must give the work to some lawyer other than that officer. It is claimed that this requirement is both unnecessary, and unfair to the County Attorney, who can do the work for the same money and should be permitted to do so, he being the legal representative of the county, elected by the people for that purpose.

The petition is being liberally signed by the business-men of the city as well as others to whom it is presented.

David W. Bradley of Rochester, Minn., arrived in Wichita Falls yesterday to spend the winter with his son, John Bradley, of the North Texas Fur culture Co.

GOOD PROGRESS ON SEWER WORK

MAIN DITCH COMPLETED FROM THIRTEENTH TO TENTH STREET THIS WAY.

PUTTING DOWN CONCRETE

Two Hundred Feet of Sewer Proper Had Been Built at Noon Today.

Contractor I. H. Roberts, who is constructing the storm sewer preparatory to the paving of six of the business streets of the city and the big outlet into Holiday Creek, is a very busy man these days and has made a good showing on that work already. In speaking of the matter today Mr. Roberts said the excavation work had proceeded from the Wichita Valley railroad track, south of Thirteenth Street, which comprises the bulk of the heaviest part of that work, and that the excavations were being pushed as rapidly as possible.

Mr. Roberts stated that he had begun the construction of the big concrete sewer at sixteenth Street and that over 200 feet of the tunnel which is five feet four inches in diameter, was completed at noon today.

As to the time necessary for the completion of the sewer construction work, Contractor Roberts is unable definitely to state as that depends largely on weather conditions, but under any circumstances it cannot be completed in less than six weeks or two months, for when the paving district is reached the additional work of constructing the sewer intakes and street corner intakes will be necessary and likely to prolong the work.

Fighting in Ecuador.

By Associated Press. Lima, Peru, Jan. 27.—Fighting has occurred between Peruvians and Ecuadorians on the frontier near Zaruma, Ecuador.

PAROLES WILL BE SECRET HEREAFTER

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Men who have won their paroles from Federal prisons will hereafter step back into the world and begin life anew, unadvertised and without the limelight of publicity.

Attorney General Wickersham and Robert V. Ladow, chairman and the parole board, have decided that publicity in such cases helps to defeat the object of the parole law. This decision was brought about largely by the protest of a convict in one of the Federal penitentiaries. His application for parole was under consideration when he saw published the names of ten men who had been paroled from Leavenworth. He withdrew his application with the explanation that he preferred prison to being released with so much publicity.

In the future when the board makes its recommendations for releases and the attorney general approves them, the paroled men will receive their liberty quietly. No man will be paroled at all who has not a promise of definite employment or assistance.

To Hold Skating Races.

Montreal, Que., Jan. 27.—The great Winter Carnival which was to have opened in Montreal tomorrow and continue through the coming week has been abandoned, owing to the lack of time to make the necessary preparations. Though the carnival has been abandoned a number of the sporting and athletic events which were to have been included in the program will be carried out. Among these will be the championship skating races. Many of the speediest skaters from both sides of the international line have arrived in the city to participate in the contests.

Farmer Killed By Train.

Special to The Times. Big Springs, Jan. 26.—Henry W. Chambers, aged 63, a farmer, was killed this morning when his team became frightened at a T. & P. engine. Chambers was buried from his wagon and was struck by the train. He leaves a widow and family.

South Dakota Bee Keepers.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 27.—Honey and bee culture were discussed today by the members of the South Dakota Bee Keepers' association, whose annual convention met in this city with a large attendance. Several proposed measures of legislation affecting the interests of the bee keepers were considered at the meeting.

Road Work By Convicts Near The North Line

Reports from the northern portion of the county are to the effect that work on the roads in that section is progressing in a way that would indicate a very great improvement in conditions.

The road between Burk Burnett and the river is now receiving attention and will be one of the best roads in the country when completed. It is being graded, leveled up and clayed to a depth of from six to twelve inches. Commissioner Burnett is looking after the work, which is being done partly by county convicts, and will see that the very best results are obtained. Three convicts were sent out this week as recruits for the road gang.

INSURGENTS KILL MANY MEXICANS

By Associated Press. San Jose, Mexico, Jan. 27.—It was learned today that Federal troops under Col. Dorante have been trapped and 115 killed by the insurgents. The latter lost two killed, including an American resident and P. S. McComb, a Scotchman from Seattle, who has been in four wars. Four rurales were killed.

The battle lasted for 3 days in the mountains near Cuernavaca. Dorante had 400 men who probably all would have been massacred had not the insurgents exhausted their ammunition and retired. Ojunga is now seriously threatened by revolutionists and Americans are being held there unwilling prisoners within the guard lines.

SOLDIERS SENT TO INVESTIGATE

Special to The Times. Brownsville, Jan. 26.—That a large amount of supplies, arms and ammunition is being transferred from Texas into Mexico for the revolutionists northwest of here is the report received here today and United States troops which have just arrived have been sent to investigate.

AFTER ALL POLL TAX DELINQUENTS TO SECURE CITY'S VOTING STRENGTH

A large force of men were started out this morning by the committee representing the Chamber of Commerce in an effort to locate all those who have not paid their poll tax. A number of men were assigned to each of the ten districts outlined in The Times Tuesday afternoon, and all were instructed to make a thorough canvass and to secure the name and address of every person who had not attended to this important matter. As soon as their work shall have been completed a report will be made to the Chamber of Commerce committee, who will then begin an active

GOV. COLQUITT SENDS A LONG COMMUNICATION TO ATTORNEY GENERAL.

ORDERED BY CAMPBELL

Recent Governor, Just Before Leaving Office, Directed Suits Against Katy and I. & G. N.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 27.—Gov. Colquitt sent a long and important letter to Attorney General Lightfoot today. That much Gov. Colquitt admitted to night, after being faced with questions. Beyond that he declined to make any statement.

Attorney General Lightfoot would neither deny or affirm that he had received such a letter, and refused to discuss the matter.

It is known that it relates to the orders which ex-Governor Campbell gave to the Attorney General just before he left office, to file suits for the forfeiture of the charters of the International and Great Northern Railway and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway and that Gov. Colquitt is directing the Attorney General not to proceed in the matter.

It is known that Gov. Colquitt does not consider those railways insolvent, as was charged by ex-Governor Campbell, saying that while one exhibit in their reports rather indicated that their assets were not equal to their liabilities another indicated just the opposite.

It is known also that within the last few days Gov. Colquitt had a statement prepared in the Railroad Commission offices showing the earnings and expenses of these railroads in detail during the last ten years, and it is assumed that the data has been transmitted to Attorney General Lightfoot.

However, no details of the matter can be secured before tomorrow, as both the writer and recipient of the letter refuse to divulge its contents. Indeed, Mr. Lightfoot has steadfastly declined to discuss the matter of the proposed suits at any time. However, within the last day or two the impression has grown around the Statehouse that it is not his intention to bring the suits.

But, in the absence of definite information upon the subject, opposition to the bill to appropriate $25,000 for the Attorney General's department has been active, the impression existing that such funds, if made available, would be used largely for the employment of special counsel to prosecute the suits in question.

Don't forget Jan. 31 is the last day to pay your poll tax.

IOWA PARK OPENS BASEBALL SEASON

The baseball season for this country has been opened even this early by the boys at Iowa Park in a game played at that place between the High School team and the town boys. The game is said to have been a very interesting one and one that was well played, as the score would indicate. The High School boys defeated the town boys to the tune of 4 to 2. Another game is scheduled for this afternoon between the same teams.

WOULD REQUIRE PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS

Bill Introduced in the Senate by Sturgeon Making This Requirement.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 27.—After many seasons of discussion and innumerable attempts to force corporations and individuals contributing to party campaign funds into the limelight of publicity, for the guidance of the masses and the scrutiny of public judicial officers and others concerned in the purity of the ballot, a bill came into the Senate today from the pen of Senator B. B. Sturgeon of Lamar county that will, if enacted, result in the probable advent of a period of discretion and sober consideration by many large interests in the State. If there is to be any opposition to the bill, its nature cannot yet be learned, as one would naturally offer such opposition in the most guarded way. Considerable interest attaches to the course in committee and on the floor.

Section 1. If any person, firm or corporation shall, within this State, directly or indirectly, give, pay or deliver to another, or receive from another any money or other valuable thing exceeding $5 in amount or value, except in payment of the bona fide hotel bills, railroad fare or other traveling expenses, of the person making such payment, with the intent or for the purpose of in any way promoting, aiding or assisting, either directly or indirectly, the success or defeat of any candidate for any office, or of any candidate for the nomination by any primary election or convention for any office, or the success or of any other proposition to be voted upon by the people of this State, at any election, and shall not within twenty-four hours thereafter, file with the county clerk of the county in which he resides, and also, if such transactions shall occur beyond the limits of the county in which he resides, with the county clerk of the county in which such transaction occurs, a statement signed and sworn to by him, setting forth the valuable thing, or things, or the amount of the money so given, delivered, paid or received, the name or names of the person or persons to whom the same was given, delivered or paid, or from whom it was received, and the candidate or the cause on account of which such transaction was had, and whether its purpose was to promote influence, aid or assist the success or defeat of such candidate, or such cause, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than two nor more than twelve months, provided that any such sworn statement shall be deemed to have been filed with such county clerk for the purposes of this act, whenever it shall have been delivered to him in person or whenever it shall have been mailed by registered mail to such county clerk at any postoffice in this State other than that of the city or town in which the office of such county clerk is located.

Section 2. It shall be the duty of all county clerks in this State to place on file, subject to the inspection of the public, all sworn statements filed by them in accordance with the provisions of his act, by mail or otherwise, immediately upon receipt of the same and to keep the same on file, subject to the free access of the public at all times, and to furnish to any person upon application therefor, certified copies of such statements so filed, upon the payment of the fees allowed by law for furnishing certified copies of papers.

Section 3. The fact that there is now no law in this State providing for publicity of campaign contributions, creates an emergency and an imperative public necessity requiring that the constitutional rule requiring bills to be read on three several days be suspended, and that this act take effect and be in force from and after its passage and it is so enacted.

FISH CAN BE RAISED AT HOME IN A POND

Many a farmer has a pond on his place which he wishes would dry up and give him that much more land to till. Fish Warden George A. Lincoln of Iowa says that when you have such a pond or can make one you can prove to yourself that it is no more trouble to raise fish than vegetables or chickens. He goes on to say:

"A pond or an acre in extent and with eight or ten feet of water in the deepest part will, if properly managed, give excellent results.

"It may be necessary to make the pond less than one-quarter of an acre in extent, but a small pond should have an extreme depth of not less than six feet, although it is quite possible with a strong water supply to raise fish in a very small and shallow pond. This, however, means active cultivation, while daily feeding.

"Fish ponds should be supplied with suitable spawning conditions. Small-mouth black bass, which make their nests in gravel, will require a gravel bottom. Large-mouth black bass, which nest among the roots and plants and weeds of the pond. Yellow perch, which spawn among twigs under water, are easily accommodated. Pieces of brush may be set firmly in the bottom where the water is shallow, in the ranches of which they will deposit their spawn. Black bass and the various species of sunfish, which like the small-mouth bass, make their nests in gravelly places, will absolutely require pieces of that character if they are expected to increase, and a few loads of gravel placed in the pond to water about two feet deep will furnish the necessary conditions.

"In stocking waters it is not necessary to have a large number of adult fishes. For a pond of about an acre in extent twenty pairs of black bass will be sufficient, and perhaps fifty pairs of the other kinds mentioned. In fact, these numbers will suffice for still larger ponds. When conditions are right the progeny of the first year will usually stock the pond to the limit of its food supply, and time will show which species are the best adapted to that particular body of water.

"Heavy stocking serves no useful purpose unless it is the intention to catch some of the adults the first year. It is just as well to stock with two or three kinds of fish, and time will show which species are best adapted to that particular body of water.

"The large-mouth black bass is one of the best fishes for ponds. It grows larger and faster than the small mouth and will take the hook in winter when the others will not. It is easier to cultivate and will thrive in warmer and more sluggish waters. While not so gamey, it can be depended upon under ordinary favorable conditions to furnish a good supply of fish for the table.

"There are, however, a number of game species which are suitable for ponds, such as rock bass, calico bass, yellow perch, white perch, long-eared and blue gill sunfish, catfish, crappies, lake trout, etc. These are good food and probably will multiply in favorable waters with less care than any other native fish.

"It is a mistake to suppose that fish do not require an abundance of food. They may live without it, but can not grow. The principal food of fishes is fish, which should be perfectly fresh. For young fish it must be cut and boned, then rubbed through a fine sieve. If fresh meat and liver are fed it must be prepared in the same way.

"About one-fourth of the ordinary fish pond should be shallow and planted with pond trees, which are necessary to shelter the young fish and greatly increase the various forms of small aquatic life necessary for their food. They may be planted by tying them to stone and dropping them into the pond or set into the ground after the water has been partly lowered. The greater depth, from one to three feet may be planted to water lilies, while the deeper portions should be kept clear. If the pond weeds, together with the brook minnows, frogs, crustaceans and other small fry, which are to constitute the natural supply of food can be introduced a year before the stock fish are put in, the conditions for success will be greatly improved.

Showers of hits of all descriptions were piling up the runs by twos and threes. Cincinnati fielders were in the air, sky high. At last it got so bad that the fielders were standing around like wooden Indians and did not know what to do with the ball whenever they happened to stop it.

In the midst of the excitement Joe Gearhardt collapsed. He pulled such a swell "Brodie" that everybody believed it time for the flowers. Some ran for doctors and others for water. The boys sough a couple of palls on the fallen athlete and three doctors worked over him for about five minutes. Finally Joe took a peep and burst out laughing.

"What was the matter?" a dozen angry friends bellowed at him.

"Oh, nothing much," Gearhardt replied. "I just stopped the game because I was rattled."

That little delay got his club settled down and Cincinnati finally won out after all.

During one of the eastern trips of Buffalo in 1882 we were stopping at the Bay State house in Worcester, Mass. At the dinner table one day Galvin and Dolan got into an argument as to the proper way to cook fish. At first their conversation was mild, but after a while the fish-cookers got excited. Each wished to talk all the time to defend his theory. It finally dawned on Galvin that argument was useless. So, jumping up, he grabbed Dolan by the nose and gave a strong pull. Then he beat it. Dolan thought that Galvin was waiting for him outside, so he armed himself with a knife and fork. For a little joke he told the head waiter that Dolan was a kleptomaniac. The waiter tipped the clerk and the clerk tipped the house detective. The house detective got a real "copper" and the first thing we knew Dolan was in a fair way of going to jail. The hotel people did not appreciate Rowe's sense of humor, and it took a lot of hot argument to keep Dolan from being taken to the bastille.

BASEBALL REMINISCENCES

(By HARDE RICHARDSON.)

Volumes have been written about Pitcher Charlie Radbourne. But why should that prevent me singing the praises of the greatest man who ever stepped in the box? There is no doubt that Radbourne was as great a little man as ever wore a uniform. I know, for I knew him perhaps better than any one who played with him or against him in the old days.

"Really I do not believe any one had a better opportunity to penetrate the reserve of this unassuming little fellow than myself. I spent one winter with him near Bloomington, Ill. We were together almost continually, hunting or knocking about the open country. But I soon realized that the more I was associated with him the less I knew him. But to return to Radbourne, the pitcher.

"Radbourne was a man who never despaired of victory no matter how the tide of fortune flowed. He did not know the meaning of the word 'quit.' Why I recall a time when he set a record that has never been approached. In one week he pitched five games and won all of them. Three of these were victories over Buffalo, and in the three games he pitched thirty-seven innings altogether. Twice he beat Detroit, though it took him twenty-eight innings to do it. Just think of what that meant!

"Sixty-five tough innings or more than seven ordinary games for one pitcher in a week. Where could you find a pitcher today who would even warm up five times? But Radbourne thought nothing of it.

"Two games in which the 'Old Hoss' worked. I remember well. It was in 1890, during the Brotherhood days. In the first contest Radbourne pitched for Boston against Brooklyn. It was one of Radbourne's few poor days and Brooklyn simply hit him here, there and everywhere. They smothered Radbourne by the disconcerting score of 27 to 6. It was one of the real slaughters of the season. But Radbourne never thought of quitting. His teammates asked him to retire, but Charlie stuck to his guns. The more they hit him the harder he gritted his teeth and the harder he tried. He took his medicine like a little gentleman, without a whimper. To the lauders of Brooklyn he would simply grunt to his teammates: 'Well, we'll get them yet. See if we don't.' The next day Radbourne declared that he was going to pitch again. His teammates laughed at him. When he went out to warm up they thought him a fit subject for an insane asylum. The manager even threatened to have him arrested. But there was no stopping Radbourne. And he got his revenge on Brooklyn all right. He shut out the team that had massacred him the day before, allowing only one Brooklyn hit to reach first base.

You see Radbourne's makeup was entirely foreign to that of Joe Gearhardt. Joe played second base for Cincinnati in the same 80s and was a good player, both in the field and at bat, though he was afflicted with heart trouble. Undue excitement was liable at any time to precipitate a collapse on the part of Joseph. His relatives postured the life out of him to have him retire. He was a valuable man with a salary which meant more to his peace of mind than the pleading of his family. One day in the middle of the game Cincinnati was having a tough time of it, so tough, indeed, that it looked as if the Redlegs would never retire the side.

OKLAHOMA LAWGIVERS IN SPIRITED DEBATE

Bill Affecting Establishment of New Counties Discussed in the Lower House.

Oklahoma City, Jan. 26.—The House has taken favorable action on Carson's bill creating the office of county assessor and abolishing township assessors and decidedly unfavorable action on Smith's bill of the Senate, repealing the constitutional provision by which counties may be segregated and divided. The latter was the object of more than ordinary debate and at times assumed aspects that came near making history for the Legislature. Some of the members represented counties involved in county division and from which appeals are now pending in the courts on some question growing out of an attempt to create new counties. Swanton County is one of the latest to be created and the question of its validity is yet unanswered in the Supreme Court. This was taken up from Comanche County, the latter being represented by J. Roy Williams. Investigation is now being made concerning portions of three counties which goes to make another, that of Segar, as to the constitutional requirements after the proposed new county is formed. The position of every member on the matter might easily be construed from a personal standpoint. After most of the afternoon was spent in debating it a motion was made to postpone further action indefinitely. The vote was taken amid extreme confusion and carried by 45 to 45, but the chairman miscalled the vote first and when apprised of his error wished to correct it. Because it was so close the friends of the bill compelled the chair to take another vote on it. Finally the bill was laid over indefinitely by the vote of 44 to 45.

The county assessor's bill went through without material change. The Governor shall, immediately it becomes a law, appoint county assessors for the seventy-five counties in the State. Beginning with the general election of 1912 and every two years thereafter, assessors shall be elected for two years. Their compensation is based on a commission and the salary may be from $2,000 to $7,000 annually. The assessor must hire and pay his own deputy, if he has any. An attempt was made to not include the public service corporations in the property receipts from which are to figure in the aggregate upon which his salary is based and after a motion had been adopted to exclude these it was reconsidered and allowed to remain in the bill. The assessor under the present law does not have anything to do with the assessing of the property of public service corporations, but he will get the benefit of the assessment in making up his salary. The Senate spent practically the entire afternoon on the sheriff's bill and had not finished when they adjourned for the day. The bill will be reported favorably.

FAVOR BILL TO COMPEL EDUCATION

Senate Committee Acts Favorably on Terrell Educational Measure.

Austin, Jan. 26.—The senate committee on educational affairs after a prolonged debate among its members reported favorably the measure introduced by Senator Terrell of Wise providing that counties, independent school districts and common school districts may by a majority vote determine whether or not they wish compulsory education for children between the ages of 7 and 17 years. The measure introduced by Senator Collins requiring compulsory education for the entire State for children between the ages of 7 and 17 years for eighty school days received an adverse majority and favorable minority report, Senators Collins and Ratliff bringing the bill out of committee. The compulsory education measure promise to bring on a very interesting fight upon the floor of the Senate and in committee today, the Senators arguing the measures at length. Senator Collins favors a very drastic compulsory education act, while Senator Adams

An Explanation By Mr. Couch.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Jan. 26, 1911.

Wichita Falls Daily Times:
Referring to your publication of Monday, Jan. 23rd, I find the following:

"COUCH ARRESTED TODAY ON A SERIOUS CHARGE."

"Samuel J. Couch was arrested here today by United States Deputy Marshal North of Fort Worth upon a charge of mailing an obscene and lascivious letter at Amarillo to a woman at Toledo, Ohio."

"The warrant was served upon Couch just after he had called for his mail at the postoffice this morning. He was taken to Fort Worth this afternoon. His home is said to be in that city."

"That I was arrested as charged I do not deny, but the article in question does me injustice unexplained. That I wrote a letter or letters to my former wife, Mrs. Sue H. Couch, and called things by their right name, I do not deny. The language used by you is misleading in the extreme, failing to explain that this letter was one passing between myself and my former wife, would justify the inference that I was a common blackguard and would write an obscene letter to a woman."

A further inference is clearly intimated, viz. that I lived at Fort Worth and had left there to escape arrest. Whereas, I never lived in Fort Worth in my life.

I deem it unfortunate that any man should ever have to separate from his lawful wife, I regret that wickedness should ever thus enter the sacred precincts of any man's home, but such things do happen, as shown by the records of the courts daily.

As to the "seriousness" of this charge, that is an open question, and I see no point in discussing it here. I make this unqualified declaration, that I never wrote a letter in all my life, addressed to any man, "woman" or lady, that I am not perfectly willing that it shall be published broadcast throughout the country in every newspaper of the land, and I promise to defend myself, or suffer the consequences of failing to do so. I have embodied the language of the so-called obscene letters in an affidavit and have sworn to its contents and filed the same with the U. S. Pension Bureau, Washington, D. C., several months ago.

Respectfully,
S. J. Couch

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Times very gladly gives this opportunity to Mr. Couch to explain his arrest and in this connection wishes to state that the language used by the Times was formulated with the sole end and purpose in view of doing no injustice to Mr. Couch or any one else. The Times did not know the woman named in the warrant served by the federal officer was the wife of Mr. Couch and although the writer of the article, in question inferred that such was the relationship he had no authority for stating that such was the case and refrained from so doing though a desire not to misstate anything. Mr. Couch further says: "A further inference is clearly intimated, viz. that I lived at Fort Worth, and left there to escape arrest."

"Nothing was further from the purpose of The Times than to intimate that Mr. Couch left Fort Worth to escape arrest. In fact The Times sought to avoid any inference or intimation whatever in connection with this article and believes that Mr. Couch is honestly mistaken in believing there was any such intimation. It is a matter of common knowledge that this city is in the same federal district with Fort Worth and this fact is so well known that it was not thought necessary to undertake an explanation why Mr. Couch was taken to Fort Worth."

The only statement in the article in which The Times was in error was relative to Mr. Couch's residence in Fort Worth. This however, so far as we can see, does not in any way reflect upon him.

and others went on record as opposed to a measure of such severity. F. I. Townsend of the Farmers' Union assured the committee that the local option measure for compulsory education had a much better chance for passage than the general compulsory education act.

The same committee reported favorably the measure introduced by Senators Ratliff and Perkins and introduced by State Superintendent Bralley providing for establishment of rural high schools in common school districts; providing that agriculture, manual training and domestic science may be taught in connection with the high school subjects; providing that the State shall grant to each such school not less than $2,000 and not more than $5,000 as equal amount; providing that the schools shall be controlled by five trustees instead of the Commissioners' Court as well as many other changes in the educational laws designed to better them.

State Superintendent Bralley and F. I. Townsend both advocated the measure as one that will build up rural high schools all over the State. Favorable report was given to the bill introduced by Senator Terrell of Wise raising the scholastic age limit from 17 to 20 years and making it 17 to 20 years.

Favorable report was given Senator Johnson's bill creating the Electric independent school district in Wichita County.

The same committee reported favorably on a floor report Senator Bryan's bill establishing a State Normal at Abilene and appropriating $75,000 therefor. However, Senator Bryan will today ask for permission to withdraw the floor report and recommit the bill that certain citizens of the west may be heard upon the measure.

Reports from the country that the county convicts are working wonders on the roads under the direction of Commissioner Burnett. Let the good work go on. Everybody ought to work for good roads, and the reports indicate that the convicts are doing their share, and at the same time are feeling and do better than when cooped up in jail. The working of convicts on the county roads is proving one of the best movements ever undertaken by the Commissioners Court in Wichita County.

Plant a tree. Do it now, so that it will have a chance to grow.

The Times has it from trustworthy authority that there is going to be some big good news from the Petroleum oil field in the very near future.

Last night's thunder storm is a harbinger of the abundant rains that will soak God's footstool in the spring and cause abundant crops to spring up for the harvest.

The BIG QUESTION will be settled on July 22. There will be some fellows who will sneak to the woods like a yellow dog on that date, because they failed to pay their poll tax. Have you paid yours yet?

George Bailey in the Houston Post says:

"Don't pay your poll tax. Plant yourself firmly with the Chinamen, lunatics and criminals. But we think it due the Chinamen to say that if he were permitted to vote he would pay the poll tax every time."

The Times' industrial and development page is a winner. Already subscribers are ordering copies of tomorrow's paper to send them to friends in other sections. Saturday's issues from now on will be the result of extra special efforts on our part to record the growth and forecast the development of the wonderful "Wichita country." OKLAHOMAN LEARNS WHY WE GROW

R. L. Deason, one of the prosperous ranchmen residing near Hammon, Okla., is in the city, the guest of his brother, Oscar B. Deason, 1007 Seventh street. Mr. Deason is a bred and born Texan, but ten years ago he went to the "new country" and laid the foundation for a fortune by land investment, which makes him excusable for any appearance of disloyalty to the Lone Star State.

"This is my first visit to Wichita Falls in nine years," said Mr. Deason today, "and I'll tell you the town has gone some in that time. At first I couldn't understand the secret of your success in the work of building so great and beautiful a city in so short a time, but now I have found its why and wherefore. They are eligible, location, cheap fuel, an abundance of good water and above all the indomitable boast spirit of your citizens."

"Wichita Falls is the commercial wonder of the Southwest," continued Mr. Deason, "and mark my prediction, if you keep up your past and present business 'lick' you will double your population and wealth during the next five years."

CITY COUNCIL MEETING TONIGHT

A called session of the city council will be held tonight at which several important matters will be considered. One of the objects of the meeting is that of taking the proper steps to compel property owners on each side of Wall Street to share in the cost of paving that short, but much used thoroughfare, which it is stated some have refused to do.

The other matter is the perfecting of the paving contract between the city and the Gulfport, Miss. Creosoted Block Paving Company, for which purpose a representative of the company arrived here last night.

COSTS BUT A TRIFLE TO CURE CATARRH

How many readers of the Times know that in inland Australia where the mightiest of eucalyptus trees grow in abundance that there is no consumption, catarrh or disease of the respiratory tract.

The refreshing balsam thrown out by these trees fills the air and is breathed into the lungs by the inhabitants and all germ life is destroyed. If you have catarrh you cannot go to inland Australia except at great expense, but you can breathe right in your own home the same pleasant, soothing, healing germ killing air you would breathe if you were living in the eucalyptus district of Australia.

Just breathe HYOMEI. It is made from Australian eucalyptus and scientifically combined with thymol and other antiseptics employed in the Listerian system.

Pour a few drops of HYOMEI in the inhaler and breathe it. As it passes over the catarrh infected membrane it kills the germs and heals the raw, inflamed surface. HYOMEI is guaranteed to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, croup and sore throat, or money back. Complete outfit including inhaler $1.00. Extra bottles of HYOMEI cost but 50 cents. Sold by Marchman Drug Co., and drugists everywhere.

BREACH WIDENS IN SENATORIAL SNARL

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 27.—All negotiations looking toward a compromise of differences between Democrats and Republicans over control of the State Senate were declared off tonight. An announcement was made by the two arbitrators appointed last Tuesday evening, Senators Sawyer and Meredith. Senator Sawyer, representing the Democrats, rejected the demands of the Republicans that Senator Hearne of Wheeling, who had been unseated in favor of Senator Caldwell, be reinstated, and as both sides were firm in their respective demands on this subject, it was decided to not carry the efforts at compromise any further.

The records of the joint assembly held yesterday at which Clarence Watson and William E. Chilton received a majority of the votes of all members of the Legislature in the balloting for the two United States Senators, but at which the Republican members refused to vote, was presented.

Governor Glasscock would make no statement tonight further than to say that he "had not yet signed commissions for Watson and Chilton."

Senator-elect Watson left tonight for Washington, presumably to demand the seat now held by Senator Davis Elkins, the temporary successor to the late Senator Stephen B. Elkins. What will be the course of the Democrats in the State Senate tomorrow and for the next few days regarding the Republican members is wholly problematical. As constituted, the Senate is composed of sixteen Democratic members. The Republicans, numbering fourteen, exclusive of Senator Hearne, who denies the validity of the action unseating him, are expected to continue to refuse to take any part in the Senate proceedings.

After all negotiations had been declared off tonight the Democrats later served formal notice upon Republicans of the Senate that at 5 o'clock the truce on which the Republicans were securing immunity from arrest upon their return from Cincinnati will expire.

SHOT GUN MARRIAGE TRAGEDY CASE

Hartow, Jan. 26.—Paul Holmes, charged with shooting and killing Knox Crow while he was marrying him to his daughter, Dorsey Crow, went on the stand in his own behalf in the district court here today. This is the sixth day of the trial. Holmes shot Crow several months ago at Saragosa, while the latter was reading the marriage service to unite him with his daughter. Crow had reached the point where he asked Holmes if he would take Mrs. Crow as his lawful wife and Holmes delayed the answer until Crow leveled a revolver, then he said, "I do." Holmes said that on the day of the tragedy his son and daughter, Dorsey, approached him at his place of business in Saragosa and that the elder Crow carried a revolver. They shook hands and started for the building when Holmes says Crow threatened to kill him after marrying him to his daughter and he (Holmes) declared he was not the man who had wronged her. Crow began reading the marriage service holding the book in one hand and the revolver in the other. Before Crow finished reading Holmes started to run away and heard a shot. He secured a shot gun and fired hitting both father and son. A number of witnesses are still to be examined.

Nominations in both houses yesterday were made by Republicans and seconded by Democrats.

Washington, Jan. 27.—"If the members of congress from Kentucky do not take action toward contesting the seating of Caleb Powers in the next congress I will myself introduce a resolution to have the matter taken up," said Representative Macon of Arkansas today. "If the Republican members of this house could not sit with Mr. Roberts of Utah because he was accused of being a polygamist, the Democrats certainly cannot sit with a member who has been convicted of the charge of murder and who is now enjoying his liberty only by the favor of a partisan state executive."

DR. COOK RENEWS DISCOVERY CLAIM

Again insists in Lecture That He Has Better Claim Than Peary.

New York, Jan. 27.—After an interval of much length, Dr. Frederick Cook, the explorer, took the lecture platform again tonight and told the German-American Pioneer club of Harlem he is now more positive than ever that he reached the north pole. Within his own bosom, he said, there is "the satisfying thump of success won at a great cost," but at the same time the geographical proof that any one man—himself or Commander Peary—stood at the exact pole can never be laid before the "armchair geographers."

The whole matter is still in doubt, the doctor insisted, except that he had a good, if not better, right to claim the pole than Peary, whom, for the first time, he now accuses, in company with Peary's friends, of forcing "by an organized effort" a combination to discredit his achievements.

AT THE THEATERS

THOS. DIXON TO

Attractions This Date

Wichita Theatre—The Climax

Colonial—The Delays, comedians. Illustrated song, new pictures.

Ruby—Wiesser and Dean; comedians. New pictures.

The Gem—New pictures. Illustrated song.

At the Colonial.

The Delays are the leading vaudeville attraction at the Colonial for tonight and tomorrow night, their engagement having opened with the performance of last evening. The clever comedians are among the best of the list that have visited our city this season and delighted a large audience at the Colonial last night. Tonight they will present an entire change of program, as also on tomorrow night.

The Colonial pictures are high class and the illustrated songs by Mr. Taylor never fail to please.

The Ruby Theatre.

Manager Smith continues to furnish his patrons with attractions of a high class and is enjoying a large patronage. For last night and the remainder of the week, Wiesser and Dean, comedians, are the entertainers, in addition to which two new pictures are presented each day. The vaudeville program is changed daily, guaranteeing the patrons of the house something new at each performance.

Katz's Orchestra has also proven a very popular feature at the Ruby, rendering splendid selections throughout the performance.

At the Gem Theatre.

The Gem pictures last evening were far above the average and pleased the large audience that visited this popular little place of amusement. The first tonight is "The Adoption," a western woman's way and "Daisies," and there was not an uninteresting picture on the program. Two new pictures will be given today as is the custom of the Gem.

Tonight Mr. Gillman will sing "Roses Bring Dreams of You," always a popular song, especially so when rendered by this talented vocalist.

"A Prince of His Race."

The attraction at the Wichita Theatre Saturday, Jan. 28, will be Oscar Grauman's brilliant dramatization "A Prince of His Race." Mr. Grauman has had this successful play on the road for the past three seasons and last season through Texas and Oklahoma. It was pronounced one of the very best ever seen outside of New York or Chicago. This season Mr. Grauman has spent a good deal of money to make "A Prince of His Race" better than ever. The result is an absolutely new scenic production and even an improvement in the play itself. The company, however, is the same as last season for Mr. Grauman keeps the same people with him year in and year out. Miss Loretta Graham, the leading lady, has augmented her wardrobe with some "stunning new gowns," one of which is a handsome Battenburg creation valued at $500. "A Prince of His Race" has been pronounced one of the classic, most artistic and best dressed attractions on the road.

"The Man on the Box."

The press agents say that "The Man on the Box" is a good show, and we are bound to believe them, as it is well known that the press agents union has exacted a solemn covenant from its members to always tell the truth. The company presenting this old favorite comedy at the Wichita Theatre Jan. 31, is the same in its entirety that pleased the audience of all the large cities of the East last season and judging from the reports from the territory they have covered this season, they have not deteriorated any from the standard set in the past.

Will Enact Title Role in His New Success, "The Sins of the Fathers."

Thos. Dixon, Jr., actor, author, preacher, politician, playwright, will play the title role in "The Sins of the Fathers," his new success, when it is presented at the Wichita Theatre soon. Mr. Dixon has had one of the most interesting careers of any present-day man of affairs, his life's story reading like an Arabian Night's tale.

When he was 16 years old he tired of life in a Baptist parsonage in North Carolina. He took a train to New York and joined a theatrical company, presenting Shakespearean plays at the old Madison Square theatre. He stayed on and played important parts until his father besought him to return to the Piedmont country and suggested that he run for the state legislature.

Tom Dixon went back to his old home in Shelby, N. C., and made a spectacular race for public office. He won out, though not yet 21 years of age; took his seat at Raleigh when he had barely attained his majority, and served his constituents with marked success, notwithstanding his youth.

He found time to study law, practiced at the bar, but finally decided to become a preacher, like his father and three of his brothers. Two or three years after his legislative term, he came back to Raleigh, N. C., as pastor of one of the most important Baptist churches in the Tarheel capital. The fame of his oratory spread wide. He received a call for a big church in Boston, Mass., ministered to the grandsons and great-grandsons of the old Yankee capitalists, then accepted a call to take charge of the Twenty-third Street Baptist church, New York City.

Once in New York the Rev. Dr. Thomas Dixon found himself. In less time than it takes to tell it New Yorkers found him and filled his church to overflowing. Finally the church committee decided to rent outright for his services the great Academy of Music, the largest theatre auditorium in the metropolis. Even this great theatre didn't begin to accommodate the thousands who desired to hear him.

Lecture engagements began to come in thick and fast and finally the Rev. Dixon gave up preaching for the lecture platform. While lecturing he decided to try his hand at novel writing and his first book was "The Leopard's Spots," in which he pictured sensationally the sufferings of the Southland in the reconstruction. The success of his novels and of his plays, "The Clansman" and "The Sins of the Fathers" is a matter of recent history. In his new play, which is outdrawing "The Clansman" in popularity, this myriad-minded genius, having dropped all his other titles, is playing the leading roles. As an actor he is back to his old love, happy as a boy with his first pair of long trousers. And when he comes to the Wichita Theatre soon everybody will see him act.

Notice to the Housewives.

For the next thirty days, beginning Feb. 1, I will give one pair of feather pillows free (the tick to match the bed) with every solid cotton mattress that I make into a roll edge; also I will buy every old cotton mattress that is brought to me.

(Ralph Modjeski)

Ralph Modjeski, famous as civil engineer, was born in Cracow, Poland, Jan. 27, 1861, the son of the celebrated tragedienne, Helena Modjeski. After coming to America with his mother in 1876 he had his name changed to Modjeski for American naturalization. He was educated chiefly in France, where he graduated from the technical school in Paris at the head of his class. In 1892 he began the practice of his chosen profession in Chicago. Since that time his work has been confined chiefly to the designing and building of bridges. Many of the largest bridges constructed in America in recent years have been designed and erected under the supervision of Mr. Modjeski, particularly in the Northwest and in Canada. He built two large bridges over the Columbia and Willamette rivers for the Northern Pacific Railroad, also the bridge recently completed for the Illinois Traction Company over the Mississippi river at St. Louis. While specializing chiefly in bridge engineering, Mr. Modjeski has executed other important engineering work.

Fred Stebbins, an expert typewriter adjuster, is in town for a few days. He makes a business of repairing, cleaning, aligning and general overhauling all the standard or leading makes of typewriters; he carries all tools and parts for doing the work here in Wichita Falls, saving the delay and expense necessary in sending them to headquarters for work.

If your machine is not working just right, or has run to a point where a cleaning, adjusting, etc., would be advisable, better send for him. He will call and examine the machine without charge, state what it needs, what the charges will be, and if you have the work done, he will guarantee satisfaction. You can reach him by phoning the Times office. 222-3tp

ALL THE WRITING ALWAYS IN SIGHT

(The biggest order ever placed by any firm or corporation for typewriters for their own use) because their own mechanical experts, sitting as a jury, said it was unquestionably the best.
They examined all competing makes, tested them under every condition of stress and strain, and voted unanimously in favor of the L. C. Smith & Bros. The Duponts thus rendered you an invaluable service. Lacking mechanical experts of your own you can safely rely upon the decision of these five engineers, at the head of their calling, who were willing to stake their professional reputation on the L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter.
Many large concerns have already been guided by this expert opinion and have standardized on the Duponts with the typewriter that stood the test. There could be no test more thorough, or more unbiased decision.

SUBMIT RECIPROCITY

20% AGREEMENT TODAY

Taft is Sending Message Outlining Provisions and Urging Indorsement.

Washington, Jan. 26.—After a day of almost incessant labor on his message which will be sent to Congress tomorrow on the reciprocity agreement recently reached by the representatives of the United States and Canada, President Taft called a special meeting of the Cabinet at 10 o'clock tonight for the purpose, it is understood, of discussing the measure. The same secrecy that characterized the negotiations of the reciprocity conference has been maintained as to the provisions of the agreement. The President, it is said, has prepared an explanation in detail of the principal features of the agreement.
It is reported also that a statement analyzing the effects of tariff laws on trade with Canada in the past and the probable results that would be obtained by the proposed reciprocity agreement will be transmitted through the President from the State Department. A statement by Secretary of State Knox concerning the reciprocity negotiations will be sent to Congress with the message of the President.
All members of the Cabinet joined in the conference with the President tonight. When the meeting was concluded, no statement was made public.

The Cabinet was in session about an hour. President Taft read the message and the reciprocity agreement and the meeting adjourned.

The quick adjournment was taken to mean that the measure as set forth by President Taft and Secretary Knox met with the approval of the remaining members of the Cabinet. Congress will receive the documents at 4 o'clock tomorrow.

Raiser Fifty-Two Years Old.

Berlin, Jan. 27.—National celebrations upon an extensive scale today marked the fifty-second birthday anniversary of Emperor William. The demus were chanted throughout the empire in honor of the monarch, military reviews were held and many municipal celebrations conducted. During the day the Emperor received congratulatory messages from nearly all the rulers of Europe. This evening the anniversary was made the occasion for an unusually elaborate revival of Mozart's "The Magic Flute" at the Royal Opera.

Rohatch's Mineral Well.

This is to certify that I have been indisposed gas collecting in the district of Rohatch's Mineral water for months. I have suffered with stomach trouble for about eight years, stomach eating severe pains to shoot through the lungs, which continued to get worse. I had been sick all summer and was a walking drug store. I had no power, I had no sleep, I had no appetite. I have taken less strong medicine since I have used this water than I have taken in fifteen years. It has been of great benefit to our son. I heartily recommend this water to those who suffer with stomach or liver trouble.

WOULD RECOGNIZE

RIGHT OF CONTRACT

Measure Giving Railroads and Newspapers Authority to Deal for Advertising Approved.

GUIDE—Would recognize

Austin, Texas, Jan. 27.—The Senate Committee on Internal Improvements favorably reported the bill by Senators Perkins, Johnson, Hudspeth and Bryan giving railroads and newspapers the "right of contract" in order that the newspapers may give advertising space in return for transportation.

The committee also favorably reported the Bryan and Hudspeth bill extending two years the time within which railroads and belt lines may construct their lines and thus have their charters from forfeiture.

It agreed to report favorably in lieu of a House bill on the same subject, Senator Collins' bill requiring street cars to be equipped with vestibules during the winter months for the protection of motorists, and cars of ten tons and over to be equipped with airbrakes.

BARRING CIGARETTES

Cofer Submits Measure, That, If Passed, Will Keep Them Out of the State.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 27.—If the bill that will be introduced by Senator R. E. Cofer of Gainesville in the Senate Friday morning passes the Legislature, it will be a misdemeanor to sell cigarettes, ready-made or the "makings" thereof, in the State of Texas. The proposed measure, in terms substantially like the Indiana statute, is as follows:
"Section 1. If any person, for himself or as the agent of any other person, firm or corporation shall sell or expose for sale any cigarette or cigarette paper or wrapper he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine or not less than $10 nor more than $100.

"Section 2. The importance of preventing the selling of cigarettes and cigarette papers to the youth of our State and the near approach of the present session of the Legislature create an emergency."

Help From Corn Clubs.

Help from a new source is offered to the boys' corn contest clubs. B. C. Rhoads, Jr., secretary and manager of the National Feeders and Breeders' Show at Fort Worth, went to the Texas Corn Growers' convention at Corsicana and bought 50 ears of the prize-winning corn, which will be given to the boys of these clubs. Good seed corn is as necessary as good culture in making a big yield, and many of the boys are not able to pay the high prices asked for premium corn. The Feeders and Breeders' Show is primarily for the encouragement of livestock raising in the Southwest, but the management recognizes that the foundation of stock raising is corn growing, and that more corn means more cattle and hogs of a better quality. The show, March 12 to 15, will be attended by many boys of the corn clubs.

National Ski Tournament.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Jan. 27.—Lovers of the great Norwegian sport from many points throughout the Northwest are in Chippewa Falls prepared to participate in the National Ski Tournament, which will open here tomorrow and continue over Sunday. The number and prominence of the entrants assures the greatest tournament of its kind ever held in America.

AMERICA MUST HAVE A NEW TARIFF TO FIT THE WORLD

—JESSE A. PRICE.

America has reached a time in her history when she can no longer think and act as an independent nation. She is not independent. Her business of trade relations binds her with cords as far reaching as thought to every nation on the globe. Business and society roll the great world into one, and pull it about its everlasting disintegration, or pull it together for its eternal benefit.

We can no longer think in States; we must think in nations. America points with pride to her "Declaration of Independence." It is time now to lay it reverently away among the memories of a valiant, courageous, happy, and well-spent youth, and take up, with the duties of mature years, the position of dependence that she thought she had left forever behind. The tariff question is solving itself. Every one recognizes the need of revising downward, in a manner not to disturb business conditions more than necessary. A balanced trade in the world is as necessary and natural as balanced money in the world.

The present tide of Free Trade is a state where no tariff exists; but when the labor conditions of Europe are such, on account of the cheapness of labor in Europe, as to make it impossible for America to compete in certain lines of manufacture, where her own natural supplies make it otherwise expedient and practicable for her to do so, free trade is impossible; and the only way to equalize conditions, and make trade balance, is to impose a tariff to offset the inequality.

To understand the bearing of the tariff on commercial conditions one must look beneath the surface of things. What is the tariff?

To put it in simple language, the tariff is an equalizing machine, adjustable in parts, adaptable to any country or climate, intended to regulate the natural advantages or disadvantages under which the different countries labor, owing to the diverse habits, customs, abilities, and movements of its peoples. Strong, uncontrollable influences keep up a constant fluctuation in industrial and commercial relations between the different nations. There is no way to offset this but by regulation on an industrial and commercial basis.

Each nation must use its discretion as to how much or how little regulation is necessary; but in handicapped at present by having no universal clearing-house. The regulating machine in the hands of each nation is the best guarantee that each will respect and consult the wishes of the others before making any move to upset a proper equilibrium.

When good business conditions in any country invite a great increase in its population with no corresponding increase in its farm products, each month, prices of food become dear under the increased demand.

The population of the world is free to move about, and causes great changes in conditions, overstocking of markets with labor, and depletion of the markets of supplies; the bringing together of "many men, of many minds," all thinking themselves ripe for citizenship, such as they have been accustomed to, but sadly lacking in numerous instances, in the essential knowledge and training to make intelligent voters in their new environment. Thus the tariff in any country may itself help to invite irregularity unless it is supported by the tariffs of other nations, where it may act as a deterrent to keep people at home.

In short, the world is one great whole, and its parts are interdependent. Separate regulation devices applied only to parts, create, in other parts, more disturbance than they can regulate, add bring upon themselves more trouble than they have power to control. The low places of the business world need to be filled, and the hills brought down to the level.

But any artificial conditions brought about by the tariff can not be swept away by violence without doing hundreds of business men to the wall, and playing havoc in the country. The tariff has helped to build up the country; but it is like any other good thing, if allowed to go to excess, it becomes an evil.

America is then not to blame for all the evils brought about by the tariff. When an important country like England is without a tariff, it makes commercial and industrial conditions uneven; but it is not easily brought to the minds of the people of England, who are misled by their high import and export records, reliable enough when applied to America, but very misleading when applied to a carrying country like England, where goods are brought in to be immediately or later exported. These records do not show the work done in a country unless separate records are kept showing the goods imported for export. These records are often difficult to get, and entail a tremendous expense of time and money. That the records are not strictly and accurately kept is a matter of common knowledge, as one can readily verify by conversation with those who handle the carrying trade.

Where one must look for an index of the labor conditions of England is in the condition and minds of the workers. We may talk about the Declaration of Independence, but find ourselves at the mercy of unequal commercial and industrial conditions, that, like a building that has been undermined, are swaying, and may fall, if not properly supported.

The pressure on the part of Great Britain has not been apparent until recently. Now America is beginning to feel it. Months after months, and year after year Great Britain has been pressing down on her laboring population. "Free Trade" and the feudal system kept the laborer turning to America to find occupation and a home of his own. "Free Trade" helped to foster the feudal system, there being no sufficient demand from a flourishing laboring population to lead the large land owner to think it worth while to part with his land.

Both the "Free Trade" of England, and the high tariff of America have favored unequal conditions; and have driven and lured the laborer to America. He has come in great numbers. Had he come in good condition, we might now be able to congratulate ourselves. But he comes today, and has been coming for some time, as a weak, uneducated, and untrained man. He reads visionary books setting forth a glorious time to come when all will be happy and equal; when he has no settled, practical ideas to back it up. He is "the blind leading the blind." He comes, in many instances, from countries where freedom is unknown; his mind has been dwarfed by oppression and ignorance. He talks wildly about the American flag some day waving above the British flag; and is in danger of putting enmity between the two countries, since, on account of his previous condition, he brings no love for the land of his birth or sojourn and expects to make a good citizen in the land of his adoption. This is not true of all British emigrants today. It is sadly true of a large proportion of the British emigrants of the poorer class.

When one has to defend Great Britain from the vituperation of her own citizens, one can feel a sense of satisfaction in the thought that there are points in business, truth, and commercial lines, in which England can teach America today, and can feel sure that the socialist with some English training, whether he is of British origin or not, turns many a warm and kindly thought to old England before he is entirely initiated into America.

As long as some of our citizens are in the penitentiary, and as long as we read signs like this in our good hotels: "Watch whatever you bring into the dining-room; it is not at our but your risk," we have not yet reached the time when socialism is preposterous; except, perhaps, in a "model city," in the midst of a great country, where its neighbors are busy apprehending and punishing its delinquent citizens, and where it has a large area from which to draw only people of high character.

When we see a "model city" overflowing with good citizens, until they begin to reach all the towns around, and are gradually spreading over the state, we may at last conclude that we have found the way that can catch good citizens and hold them true to a straight path.

The outcasts from all the nations of Europe look to England for a place of refuge. It is the proper gateway to America. Europe is becoming more peaceful, while Great Britain and America struggle with the "Giant of Despair" in the grounds of "Donning Castle." It is not "By-path meadow," that looks pleasant and alluring, but the highway of self-control and right living that we need to follow.

Tariff Reform in Great Britain may enable her to detain the European emigrants until they are sufficiently familiar with the requirements of a Democratic Government to understand their own position, and to exercise the functions of citizenship to the credit of both England and America.

We have a quarantine at Ellis Island to keep out physical diseases, where our officials work hard to keep the country healthy in body. Are we giving as much attention to seeing that the emigrants are healthy in mind, before they are allowed to take a hand in our Government?

We read our "Declaration of Independence," and wonder "where we are at."

"Hands across the sea" are more necessary today than ever between Great Britain and America. It is not a race to see whose flag can wave the highest, but to see whose citizens can act most nobly, whose statesmanship can most smoothly the path of civilization, and whose modesty can most contribute to the good fellowship of the world.

America is fortunate at the present juncture in having able men, who are giving time and talent to the solution of her problems. The thinker who may be nearer the surface in his thought may clash with the deep thinker, not wholly understanding the problem, but the foundations of the world's tariff are being laid deeply, as fast as the thought of our best minds grasp the problem.

The evils of a high tariff creep upon us unawares, shaking the political parties to their foundations in the past three years. They have wrestled with graft and corruption in the work of regeneration.

To put down the evil revise the tariff, and preserve the good has required statesmanship of a high order.

As the country now faces the future, chastened and united, we have greater faith in American politics, greater hope for the future, and greater intention to lift individually to universal ends.

WORK PROGRESSING ON RAILWAY SUBWAY

The work of constructing the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad subway at Fourth Street last was begun about a month ago and is being prosecuted with great rapidity. Of the 230 piling that are 35 feet in length 100 have been driven and the big pile driver occupies a position immediately over the main track or the first of the six to be crossed.

Preceding the work of driving the piling a force of men are engaged in opening tunnels under the road bed and Engineer Harrison and Foreman Dillon said today that the subway can be completed and thrown open to the public within two months.

As has before been stated in the Times the subway is about fifty feet wide and divided into two wagon driveways and a wide sidewalk space, each 300 feet long and floored with concrete.

This subway improvement is said to be the heaviest piece of construction work ever done by the Denver Company and aside from one or two of the big steel bridges along the line, the cost, which will be about $50,000, will be the greatest.
