GENERAL RAIN AND SNOW AIDS PLAINS CROPS

WEATHER MAN PLAYS QUEER PRANKS IN LUBBOCK TODAY

In a slow steady fall, forty-eight hundred inches of rain fell in Lubbock and surrounding territory during Saturday night and yesterday, the rain gauge at the experiment station east of Lubbock revealed yesterday. This brought the year's precipitation to near the one inch mark.

According to reports from the various sections of the South Plains and Panhandle, the fall was fairly general with one-half inch being the average over the section.

Snow Flurry Falls
Shortly before eleven o'clock today, snow, in large flakes, descended upon the city only to melt as it fell and a few minutes later disappear entirely. The temperature stood at 34 degrees but the sun soon shone again.

The roads over the section were fairly rough and slippery yesterday, according to reports from the various bus drivers coming in here. Travel soon made them passable, however, they reported.

Light Snow Falls In Pampa Section

PAMPA, Tex., Feb. 13 (AP)—A light snow from an overcast sky fell today, following Sunday's rain and mist to increase the quarter of an inch precipitation already recorded. Following a four-month drought, the moisture will benefit materially the wheat crops.

Heavy Snow Falls In Amarillo Area

AMARILLO, Feb. 13 (AP)—Amarillo and this section of the Panhandle were hit by a heavy snow storm early today. Mild temperatures prevailed, however, and wheat farmers welcomed the wet snow. Today's precipitation followed from one to two inches of rain and snow which fell over the south and east portions of the Panhandle yesterday.

More out-of-town guests from more neighboring cities will be present at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet at the Lubbock Hotel, Friday night, than ever before, according to the present indications and the number of acceptances being received at the office of the organization this morning. Between 150 and 175 visitors are expected to attend. The sale of the local tickets, which is limited to 150, is fairly good, officials report.

Silliman Evans Is Stricken Ill Here

Silliman Evans, of Fort Worth, widely known newspaperman of the state, suffered a slight stroke of appendicitis in the Lubbock Hotel yesterday and attending physicians thought for a time that an immediate operation would be necessary. Mr. Evans' condition was improved this morning, however, and he expects to return to Fort Worth today.

Rain Bails Fliers In Record Attempt

FORT WORTH, Feb. 13 (AP)—Prevented from taking off by rain and a muddy runway yesterday and this morning, Al Henlev and Joe Hart, Oklahoma aviators announced today that they will start the endurance flight tomorrow from the municipal airport here. The plane in which they hope to set a new world's record for continuous flying was in perfect condition, but the fliers felt that the runway had not dried sufficiently to take a chance of going up.

HICKMAN PLANS TO TAKE STAND AGAINST HUNT

(By The Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13.—William Edward Hickman, convicted kidnaper and murderer of Marian Parker, today definitely announced his intention of turning states evidence against his 16-year-old partner, Wiley Hunt, when the pair appear Wednesday before Superior Judge Carlos Hardy to answer to the charge of murdering C. Ivy Thomas, a druggist, Christmas eve, 1926.

"He had a lot of fun testifying against me, watch me when I take the stand against him," Hickman declared.

This referred to young Hunt's testimony at Hickman's trial for the Parker slaying. Hunt testified that Hickman, in his opinion, was sane. Despite all that his lawyers are doing for him, Hickman himself seems, to judge by his own statements, to have no hope or expectation of escape from the gallows.

"All this thing was planned long ago for me," he declared.

(By The Associated Press)

Killed By Maniac

The five set upon Amlaw, who was making his rounds, and slew him. Other guards who were in the (Turn to Page 2, Column 6, Please)

(By The Associated Press)

Up to 1:45 o'clock this afternoon, eastern standard time, no definite word of his sighting had come through. The opinion, prevailing in aviation circles that he was flying very high to avoid the fog and rain and that the first news of him would come with his arrival at St. Louis, which was scheduled for 2 o'clock, central time.

HEARD OVER CAIRO
CAIRO, II., Feb. 13 (AP)—The lone of an airplane motor was heard over Cairo at 2:29 p. m. today. The plane was not seen because of fog, but as this city was on the expected route of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh it was believed it might be his.

The town, lying northward, at 7:50 a. m. and some observers thought it might have been the Flying Coloner.

At 10:25 eastern standard time this morning, eight hours after his take-off, he should have been over Jackson, Miss., if he followed the Florida coast line, or about half way between Jackson and Little Rock, Ark. if he changed his plans and flew straight across the Gulf from Key West to New Orleans. This is figuring on a speed of approximately 100 miles an hour.

Truth Of Charge On Hamer Doubted

AUSTIN, Feb. 13 (AP)—The adjutant general's department Monday was inclined to treat lightly reports that Ranger Captain Frank Hamer had been charged with entering premises of F. F. Damon, Wharton county rancher, without warrant.

Dispatches from Wharton said Hamer and several others were complained against.

The captain said no warrant for his arrest had been served. It was understood, however, that all preliminaries for bond had been arranged.

Hamer was sent to Wharton county at the order of Governor Moody to put down an alleged "one-man" revolt against state anti-cattle tick laws after cattle inspectors had been reported powerless to act.

IMPROVEMENT IN AGRICULTURE IS SEEN THIS YEAR

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Feb. 13.—Some improvement in agriculture is expected for 1928 if farmers avoid expansion of production and continue their efforts to balance production with demand, says a bulletin received here Monday by H. H. Schutz, federal statistician of Texas, from the federal department of agriculture.

Farm labor probably will be available in a slightly larger supply, while wages will remain practically the same, the bulletin says.

Marketing of the 1928 cotton crop, Mr. Schutz quotes the Bulletin, is expected to reveal a smaller carry-over than last year, and is to be met with about the same demand as in 1927. The wheat crop will be large, as well as the rye, flax and rice. Oats are likely to meet a less favorable market, while corn acreage will show little change.

Beef cattle for slaughter will meet a market in 1928 higher than that of last year, it was predicted.

THREE FEARED KILLED AS TUG GOES ON ROCKS

SMALL BOAT USED BY MISSING MEN FOUND WASHED ASHORE

(By Associated Press)
BOSTON, Feb. 13.—Hope for three members of the crew of the wrecked naval tug Mohave who fled the craft in a punt after she sighted up on Harding Ledge last night was diminished when the punt was found today washed ashore off Black Rock, Cohasset, nearly three miles from the scene of the wreck. The punt was right side up but filled with water.

The remainder of the crew was rescued by the cutter, the tug was found on the wreck. The punt was right side up but filled with water.

Twenty three other sailors, including chief boatswain mate Patrick F. Powers, commander of the tug, were safe. Six were near exhaustion after a long row to Nantasket in an open dinghy that had only two oars. The men had been ordered out in search of the three who were believed to have lost their lives, and failing to find them, struck out for the shore.

Ships to the Rescue
The Mohave's S. O. S. halted broadcasting and sent a flotilla steaming to her assistance. The destroyer Maury found the tug listing badly with a serious hole in her bow, while the coasts guard boat 242 was successful in removing all of the survivors from their water-filled ship. Early reports had placed the victims as high as six.

The missing men were W. J. Enos, C. H. T. Reid, and L. D. Liles. Naval officers who spent a large part of the night and early morning sweeping the seas with powerful searchlights expressed little hope that any of them could be saved.

MARYE and MOM

Their Letters
BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

This is the first of a series of intimate letters exchanged by a "MOM" to be printed daily in The Journal. Another will appear tomorrow—MARYE—and her "old-fashioned" mother—MOM.

Who in the world do you think I met today? But of course you can guess for it must have been in the papers about Norman Darling coming to visit his mother. She has an apartment in the building right next to ours and I didn't know it! That isn't strange though because I never met her when Norman and I were engaged and naturally I couldn't think of asking him for her address when I married Allen and came to this great city to live.

Norman was coming out of their building as I left ours this morning on my way to look for some orchid bath curtains, and we bumped right into each other on the street. At first I thought he wasn't going to speak to me because you know he was simply reduced to jibbering when I jilted him. But I smiled and we got on the bus together and I decided to let my shopping go because Norman looked so sort of sad I felt it was my duty to cheer him up.

It's terrible to be responsible for a broken heart and I'm so happy with Allen that I want to make Norman happy too. I'm sure he will see that best after we've had a few more talks. I'm going to have lunch with him again tomorrow and try to convince him that I never could have made him happy if he had married.

Today he said there'd never be another girl for him but he was so beautifully calm and resigned about it I couldn't mind his saying it even if it did sound just a little bit like making love to me. After all, I suppose I really treated him shabbily and if I can help him to enjoy his visit I ought to do it even if he does insist upon seeing the past.

He is going to stay two weeks he says, so it looks as if I must give up a lot of time to making him happy again. It isn't exactly a hardship though, to bat around with Norman. He always was nice.

night relief room barricaded themselves and sent out calls for help. A preliminary investigation showed that the first man to escape had cut up his bed clothing and fashioned it into a rope and had obtained from some undetermined source a hook to which he attached his improvised ladder and swung it over the transom.

Strangled to Death

He pulled himself over and had just cleared the transom when Gerroir appeared. Gerroir was strangled to death in an unequal test of strength with the maniac.

The latter at once proceeded to liberate the other four and the five dismantled an iron cot in one of the cells. With a leg from this they waylaid Amlaw and clubbed him to death.

All five then hid in the corridor office of the supervisor apparently in the hope that as the other guards ran out they would be able to tell them in single file. Sensing the plan, the guards telephoned for help before attempting a sortie.

Germany's Ban On Ford Easily Halted

BERLIN, Feb. 13 (AP)—Twenty five cents worth of material and ten minutes of time are all that are necessary to make the brakes on the new Ford automobile conform to German law. Herr Heine, manager of the local Ford company, declared today.

The new Ford system of working hand and foot brakes with the same mechanism is in violation of the German safety regulation prescribing a distinct mechanism for each brake. For this reason the latest Ford product was refused a license to operate.

NEW YORK

DIAMOND EXPERTS NOW PUZZLED OVER GRIMES-ALDRIDGE DEAL

GIANT BOSSES TERMED LOSER IN LAST TRADE

CRITICS ARE STRONG IN THEIR CENSURE OF STONEHAM

(Special To The Journal)
NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—To judge from the reaction to the latest trade of the New York Giants, the club has clinched first prize in the keep-the-boss guessing contest.

Without yet having solved to their entire satisfaction just why Hornsby was traded to the Braves, the experts now are puzzling over the deal that sends Burleigh Grimes to the champion Pirates in exchange for Vic Aldridge, the Hoosier schoolmaster.

Stoneham Criticized
The Giants have taken their share of "riding" over the Hornsby deal and one of the assembled critics Saturday was bold enough to inquire whether "Charlie" Stoneham had taken John McGraw into his confidence in trading Grimes.

Perhaps the explanation is that the Giants prefer a curve-ball pitcher who writes his own newspaper stuff, to a spitball heaver with temperament.

Otherwise surface appearances all are in the Pirates' favor, for Grimes had by far the better record of the two last year.

Both Aldridge and Grimes have had erratic and checkered careers under various banners.
Both Hero and Goat
The Hoosier schoolmaster was both a hero and goat in the 1925 world's series with Pittsburgh. Vic won his first two starts against the Senators. So did Walter Johnson and the setting was laid for a dramatic tussle when they hooked up in the seventh and deciding battle in the for at Forbes Field. But Aldridge "blew up" in the first inning, let in four runs with his wildness and passed unceremoniously from the picture. Old Barney stuck it out in spite of the terrific hitting of his delivery, but was beaten and also lost the chance to join the immortal few who have three triumphs in one series to their credit.

The trading of Aldridge marks the passing from the Pirates fold of the last of their 1925 world's series heroes.

Carry Goes to Robins
Max Carey was the all-around star, setting the pace at bat, but Max became mixed up in the 1925 Pirates revolt, receiving his walking papers and now joins the outfield for Brooklyn.

Kiki Cuyler's double off Walter Johnson was the deciding hit of the series but Kiki likewise earned the animosity of the management and now is with the Cubs.
Stuffy McInnis, whose steady influence on the Pirates defense and infield strategy turned the tide in their favor, hit the trail that all fading veterans do.

KUYKENDALL BACK FROM SESSION OF CHEVROLET HEADS

Production at the Chevrolet Motor company factories throughout the United States is running at the greatest clip on record according to G. P. Kuykendall, local Chevrolet dealer, who has returned from Oklahoma City, where he attended the annual Texas-Oklahoma dealer meeting. More than 500 dealers and banker associates attended the meeting which took the form of the most comprehensive sales presentation ever staged in the automobile industry. All addresses were illustrated in the form of playlets, depicting the proper procedure to be followed in the successful operation of a retail automobile business.

The meeting was held under the direction of D. E. Ralston, assistant general sales manager, who declared in the course of the day that Chevrolet production for the first three months of the year would exceed 330,000 units if the present schedule is carried through.

Following the afternoon meeting the dealers and bankers were guests of the Chevrolet Motor company at a banquet in the Hucks hotel.

The meeting was the 11th. of a series of 43 similar sessions that are being held this winter and spring from coast to coast.

FORMER SKIPPER SAYS MERCHANT MARINE LAGGING

(By Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13.—Commander Herbert G. Hartley, former skipper of the U. S. S. Leviathan, believes America's merchant marine is "nothing to be proud of." Nevertheless the proposal to place the merchant marine in private hands finds no favor with Commander Hartley. He told the interviewers the United States is using equipment that was built to help win the war but never was intended for commercial use and "not until congress gets behind shipping will this country take her right place among the maritime nations of the world."

The ex-skipper of the flagship of the United States lines is here to begin operations with the newly formed Trans-Oceanic corporation, which is planning to furnish passenger plane service in connection with fast passenger steamships. "I am leaving the sea and the merchant marine," he said, "because of the deplorable condition of our merchant marine. There was nothing more for me to aspire for. The parting from my ship was the saddest experience of my life, yet what else was there for me to do?"

DENVER HOPES FOR CONFALON AT YEAR'S END

NEW MANAGER AND HIS NEW PLAYERS GIVE
FANS HIGH HOPE

(By Associated Press)
DENVER, Colo., Feb. 13.—With a new manager and the prospect of several new faces in the lineup, Denver enters the 1928 Western league in fair condition and with high hopes of annexing the pennant. Jack Knight, the new manager, is a favorite with local fans having played here two years before going to Sacramento in the Pacific coast league last year. A veteran, but still handling himself like a youngster, he will hold down the initial sack for the Bears.

Denver had much trouble in finding a competent first sacker last year and this addition is expected to fill the weakest infield hole.

Manager Knight now is searching for a first string catcher and a shortstop to finish bolstering up the infield. Roger Beaman, a local boy and the leading sticker of the Bears last year, will again be on the hot corner. Pat Kelly is expected to be on the second base.

The Bruins suffered a great loss when Carl Lind, shortstop, was recalled by Cleveland last year and a search is being made for a capable man to fill his shoes. Tallamanti, a youngster, has signed a contract but it is doubtful whether he will be retained at the short field all summer.

Outfield Is Set
The outfield probably will be made up of O'Brien, Gindardi and Cline.

O'Brien has been one of the leading batters of the Western league for several years. Gindardi did not play baseball last season. For several years before that, however, he was the slugging ace of the Denver team. He is reported to be in good condition and President Milton Anfenger is placing high hopes in his ability to come back. Cline is a Denver boy and a local favorite. He finished the season with the Bears last year and was a consistent hitter.

Bill Evans, lanky right hander, is expected to be again the ace the Bruin hurling staff. After being released from the Kansas City American association team last year, he came to Denver and turned in some remarkable pitching performances. Caveman Greer again will be ready for mound duty and Herb Hall, voted the most valuable player in the Western league in 1926, will be back.

THE JAZZ SINGER

Novelized by Arline De Haas
Taken from the scenario "The Jazz Singer," Starring Al Jolson.
Copyright, 1927, By Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

The New York Ghetto seethes in preparation for its important holiday, Yom Kippur. Cantor Kabinowitz, who has taught his son, Jakie, the songs, preparing him to be a cantor, is horrified by his discovery of the boy singing ragtime in a "beer garden." He whips the child and Jakie runs away from home on the eve of the day of atonement. Ten years elapse. Jakie, his name changed to Jack Robbin, enters a San Francisco-looking office hunting a job in vaudeville. He finds a friend of the road, Buster Billings, who tells him that Mary Dale, a dancer whom Jack admires, is playing there.

"Well, she's not exactly a friend of mine—as a matter of fact I don't even know her. Never met her, even."

"Well, if I remember," Buster began—

"No, I used to catch her act in Cheyenne after ours. They had a good spot on the bill." Jack admitted shyly. "And I admire her work. She's going to make good, and don't you forget it."

"Sure. She's a great little kid."

"Where are they playing?"

"How did the act go over here?"

"Well, notices. Mary got a couple of lines on the Flame Dance of hers."

"That always was a good number."

"Sure. What I always say is she ought to get some good, original stuff, an' then—"

Buster's theories were interrupted by the sound of a buzzer. The waiting group looked expectantly towards the inner office. The office boy jumped to his feet and hurried in.

In a few moments he returned and cast a disparaging glance over the room.

"Th' boss ain't seen nobody else today," he barked. "You can all duck." He returned to his desk and began covering his typewriter.

The applicants looked wearily from one to another, and just as weariness arose and began filling out, Buster and Jack followed the example of the others.

"Where to?" Jack turned to his friend.

"Hungry, kid?"

"Well, I haven't any money."

"Go ahead. You haven't eat for a couple of days, either, have you?"

"No, nothing but some sandwiches. Jack shut his teeth with a little click.

"Well, I'll tell you what, kid. I got an old side kick down to 'Coffee Dan's.' I ain't got no money, either. But Frank'll stake us to something. We can bum some kind of a feed. An' you'd better get something inside you."

"That listens good to me, Buster."

They started for the elevator and when they were out on the street a mist was settling down and the foggy gleam of a gray green light was seeping through a rent in the fog banks, throwing into high relief the Purdie Hills and the rolling steppes of Marin county.

CHAPTER V

The lights in the Orpheum theater snapped off, and the matinee crowds threaded their way to the street, standing in clusters blocking passages, signaling street-car, winding their various ways up and down the street. From the stage entrance came groups of two and three, chatting, laughing, arriving. A small little figure appeared, dressed in a severely cut suit of black and white pin stripe. A smartly tailored hat allowed the escape of golden yellow tendrils of hair that curled back enticingly over the rolled rim of the head piece.

The girl stood drawing on her gloves and gazed dreamily out towards the bay. The Tamalpais loomed to the north; the Golden Gate lay straight ahead and to the south she could catch a glimpse of the Purdie Hills. Far out on the soft boom of the ocean there just barely showed the black dots which are the Farallones. The soft, pastel shades of the sunset merged into a rainbow of color and caught themselves reflected in the still waters of the bay and the mirror that is called Pacific.

Mary Dale of the "Little Folies" act turned to look back at the stage door as it opened to emit a tall dark girl and a slender young man. The pair hurried along the alley way and stopped when they reached the dance floor.

"Where's we eat?" questioned Ben Thorpe, the song and dance man of the "Little Folies."

"Oh, any old place. How about Springers?" Estelle Morton, member of the "Little Folies" chorus, suggested.

"Too high hat," commented Ben Thorpe. "Where'd you want to go, Mary?"

"Any place suits me," Mary shrugged her shoulders. "I just want to get back in time to run over that new number tonight before we go on."

"How about 'Coffee Dan's' then, suggested Ben, turning to the two girls. "Food's good, and there's always some entertainment there. Might pick up some ideas."

"All right," Ben said, and they went.

The three sauntered down the street, talking until they reached the cafe. Once inside they found a table, sat down and began ordering. Then they glanced about the room, picking out familiar faces, nodding to fellow performers, commenting on the general activities of the place.

The room was crowded with a heterogeneous mob of people. Women in low-cut evening gowns, jewels sparkling, accompanied by men in evening clothes, filled a number of the tables. Shy people hurrying through dinner to make the theater by 7:30 or 8 o'clock occupied other tables. Rough, questionable looking characters gathered in little knots at still other tables. Waiters dashed back and forth, trays heaped laden and usually with hair and sweat, the piece de resistance of a "Coffee Dan" meal.

All about there was an air of jollity. Loud conversations buzzed in the air, and shrilled, even louder, when the pianist on a platform at the rear of the room struck up the latest jazz tunes. At a small table to the left of the platform sat Jack Robbin and Buster Billings, both heavily engaged in the absorption of a square meal. But at last, they sat back, satisfied, and a waiter brought them coffee. Frank, the pianist, tossed a package of cigars in their direction.

"Well, just one to celebrate, laughed Jack, as Buster proffered the borrowed pack.

"It's just as good you don't smoke," Buster struck a match and applied it to Jack's cigaret and then to his own. "Because, when you go bust, you get an awful craving for a smoke—an' try an' get one."

"I can always remember about when I was a kid the pianist—what was his name? Oh, yes, George George, down at Muller's cafe where I first started, told me about a guy who'd been on Broadway if he hadn't hit liquor and cigars too hard and ruined his voice."

"Yeah? Well, I ain't got no voice, so I should worry," Buster grinned. The two smoked in silence, drinking their coffee with an evident relish.

"How'd you like it, kid?" Buster waved an arm airily, as though to include the entire room.

"Pretty swell," Jack concluded after gazing about. "And some food! Whew! That's the best meal I've had in a year."

"You said it," Buster sighed luxuriously.

They both turned to look at Frank approvingly, and he smiled down on them, and then, winking at Buster, walked out to the edge of the platform. He leaned over and pounded on a table with a wooden mallet.

"Hey, folks!" he called out, trying to silence the din. "Quiet!" He rapped on the table again.

Little by little the noise died down, and the diners pushed their plates back and turned sideways in their chairs to get a better view of the proceedings. Frank raised his hand for complete quiet.

"I got a little announcement to make, folks," he called. "How about a little cake?"

The announcement was greeted with applause and the banging of knives and forks against glasses.

"We got a little talent in the house tonight, folks," he continued, "an' maybe with a little co-operation 'n' cake, we can make a little son."

The applause broke out again.

"An' now I'm going to introduce Mr. Jack Robbin, the famous tenor from Petaluma. An' I'm going to ask Mr. Jack Robbin to sing you a little son. How about it, folks?"

In full fighting, the pleader rides a horse and is equipped with an armored lance or pike to ward off the beast and irritate him.

CHEVROLET

We have had calls for a Chevrolet four door standard sedan, we are now in a position to offer this car in a 1926 model that is in good condition and ready for service.

This 1927 Chevrolet Roadster is in possession of everything that you could expect in a roadster for the price asked.

It is surprising and unusual for a 1923 Chevrolet touring to be in the condition that this one is in, a low priced car, you'll like this one.

It is useless to say anything about the condition of the 1927 Chevrolet coupe only that it has been used as a demonstrator by one of the best.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

(Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist (adv.)

MINE WRECKED BY BLAST AND THIRTEEN DIE

EXPLODING PARTY IS TRAPPED BY SERIES OF EXPLOSIONS

(By the Associated Press)

WHITEHAVEN, Eng., Feb. 13.—The Hag mine pit where 13 men lost their lives yesterday in the third explosion in five years, was sealed again today. Fifty-six lives have been lost in the series of disastrous blasts.

The 13 victims were members of an exploring party of 21 who had entered the mine in search of the body of a miner lost in an explosion last December when four were killed. It was the first time the workmen had been permitted since the December explosion.

Four blasts occurred: The first occurred when the exploring party reached the scene of the December explosion when four blasts occurred within ten minutes. Foul air soon filled the mine bailing all attempts at rescue.

The eight who reached the surface alive had left the main body to recharge their batteries and eat a lunch. They were about 500 yards away when the explosion occurred.

Just as we finished eating, said one of the survivors, we heard a dull rumbling—then came a second explosion and we all started to get our apparatus and go to the rescue of the others. A third explosion blinded us and before we could find our equipment we were knocked

Relief from Gas

Stomach Pains

Dizziness

The Doctors tell us that 90 per cent of all sickness is due to stomach and bowel troubles. You can't be well if your digestion is bad; you are to get sick unless you relish your food, digest it properly, and keep your bowels regular.

Tanlac has a wonderful record as a relief from digestive troubles of every kind, even those of many years' standing. Read what:

Mrs. Albert B. Greer, 720 W. Markham St., Little Rock, Ark., says: "Since taking two bottles of Tanlac, I can eat anything without indigestion and put in a full day's work without a bit of trouble." Party Struggles Out

Only one lamp remained lighted. Half crawling, half walking guided only by wagon lines, we struggled the two miles to the pit shaft. It seemed an eternity—and at times I never thought I could win through. The explosions had filled the air with a thick dust and we reached the surface completely exhausted.

Desperate efforts to reach the entombed men, several of whom were apparently blocked by the foul air. Relief work was finally abandoned at noon and the mine sealed. The survivors said they found both original fires had burned themselves out, but that a third must have broken out.

Hope Is Abandoned For Life In Mine

TIMMINS, Ont., Feb. 13 (AP)—The work of bringing bodies of the victims from the Hollinger gold mine continues with hope abandoned that any of the missing miners would be found alive.

Early today 25 bodies had been brought to the surface and reports at the shaft head were that the bodies of the 14 other missing men had been located. Twelve of the 51 miners imprisoned Friday had been rescued.

It was announced that the fire, which had been burning on the 550-foot level since Friday morning, was under control. The workers continued to pour water on the blazing debris and the mine passages were being blocked with heavy canvas screens and the smoke and gas cleared from each section in turn.

Work of removing the bodies proceeded slowly and early today, the number brought to the surface had reached 25. Rescue parties had located 14 other bodies at the 675-foot level and they expected to bring out the last of these before the end of the day.

and low visibility and "fliers saw in this the reason for Lindbergh's progress not being visible from the ground. They agreed that to escape the fog he would unquestionably have flown much higher than is his custom and suggested that if from the height he attained he saw that the fog was hugging the coast he might well have decided to curtail the flight, continuing at a high altitude after getting over land again.

Rains Hold Sway Over All Southeast

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Rains and low visibility over the entire southeastern section of the country over which Lindbergh planned to fly on his trip from Havana to St. Louis will continue throughout the day, the weather bureau said today.

In the opinion of the bureau the flier could not have picked a "worse" day to make the flight in quite a while.

The rains are extensive over the territory from north Florida to St. Louis, the bureau said, but have not extended over the states west of the Mississippi.

Col. Lindbergh did not receive a weather forecast from the Washington bureau before taking off today, but may have received one from Havana where there is a station.

Storm Warnings On Coast Are Ordered

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—The weather bureau today ordered storm warnings displayed at 10:30 a. m. from Hatteras to Jacksonville and from Pensacola to Cedar Keys on the west Gulf coast.

The bureau's order read: "Advisory southeast storm warning ordered from 10:30 a. m. to Jacksonville and Hatteras; southeast storm warnings and lower at sunset, Pensacola to Cedar Keys. Disturbance south of Louisiana coast moving northeastward will cause strong southeast winds this afternoon shifting to fresh west tonight. Pensacola to Cedar Keys."

"Between Hatteras and Jacksonville fresh east winds will increase this afternoon and shift to south-east and south tonight and to west on Tuesday."

Takes Off At 2:26 At Colombia Field

HAVANA, Feb. 13 (AP)—Lindbergh was following the long trail home today.

His good will flight completed, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off from Colombia flying field at 2:26 A. M. this morning for his home port of St. Louis, a flight of some 4,200 miles. Night still hung over the waters of the straits of Florida as Lindbergh headed over them on the only water jump of his flight to Key West, Fla.

Fly Along Gulf Coast

As the Spirit of St. Louis left the dimly lighted field only the steady throb of its motor traced its course to the open sea. From Key West Lindbergh's route led along the Gulf of Mexico to a point south of St. Louis from where it turned north to that city.

The plane was loaded with 225 gallons of gasoline, half its capacity. It was estimated that this would carry Lindbergh for twenty

BORAH RAPPED FOR HIS STAND ON LIQUOR LAW

GOTHAM WET CAUSTIC IN HIS CRITICISM OF IDAHO SOLON

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The inquisitiveness of Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, concerning the prohibition views of presidential candidates has brought him a suggestion that he ask also whether they would favor a $200,000,000 appropriation for "vigorous and faithful enforcement."

The suggestion has come from Representative LaGuardia, Republican, New York, who advised the senator to demand positive and full answers from the candidates, and asked if it might not be well to "ascertain by real enforcement and the total cutting off of liquor supply whether or not the people of the country really want prohibition."

"The New Yorker complained that the prohibition is so popular in many of the dry states 'because we have less than one half of one per cent enforcement.' Picking out the senator's home state, LaGuardia said he had been informed that liquor can be bought in every county in Idaho and added:

"It was not so very long ago that competition in your state was so keen that it resulted in a price war bringing the cost of liquor from $14 a gallon down to $8."

LaGuardia complained that federal enforcement officers are not sufficient in number to do the job, observing that Idaho, Montana and Utah, comprising one district, have 50 federal agents, or one to each 60,000 square miles.

Caustic Remarks

"No wonder so many people vote cry in that section of the country," he said. "I am sure that your standing in the nation and congress as one of the foremost leaders of prohibition is such that you could easily prevail upon the treasury department to increase this personnel to 1,600 good agents for Idaho alone and make that state as dry as you would desire to see the whole country. Personally, I doubt that 1,600 men could do it, but it would give a good basis to figure the actual number of men required to enforce prohibition according to your formula in the rest of the states."

Couple, Victims Of Shooting, Buried

HOUSTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—A double funeral was planned Monday for Thomas D. Martin, 39, and his wife Eleanor, 48.

Martin shot and killed his wife here Saturday and a moment later was himself slain by his son, Ray D. Martin, 30, at the son's home. The latter was charged with murder. He was released on $5,000 bond and expected to attend the services.

The elder Martin, it was brought out at the inquest, killed his wife with a pistol in a rage after she had left him. The son, the hearing showed, shot his father an instant later with a shotgun.

State Board Will Visit Mine School

AUSTIN, Feb. 13 (AP)—The state board of control agreed with Representative Adrain Pool of El Paso Monday to visit the state school of mines there March 5 to determine its appropriation needs for next biennium in view of a reported 50 per cent increase in enrollment.

PASTOR'S WIFE DIES

DENTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Kate Galbraith, wife of Dr. William Fred Galbraith, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, died today after an illness of three years.

hours. The flight, the fourth longest in his career, was expected to end at Lambert field, St. Louis, after two o'clock this afternoon. The three flights which have exceeded the present one in distance were New York to Paris, 3,600 miles; Washington to Mexico City, 2,200 miles; and San Diego to St. Louis, 1,550 miles.

Many Cheers Sent Up

Cheers rose from the spectators on the field as the flier swept over them, leaving behind a message of good will and enshrined in their hearts. Miniature flags of thirteen countries visited on his tour painted in the fuselage of the Spirit of St. Louis attested the affection of Latin America for "Wee Wee."

These represented Mexico, Guatemala, British Honduras, Nicaragua, Honduras, Salvador, Costa Rica, Panama, Colombia, Venezuela, the Dominican Republic, Haiti and Cuba. Lindbergh also made stops at two United States possessions, Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Plane Heard Over Town In Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 13 (AP)—The chief of police at Talladega, near here, said this afternoon that a plane, flying in a northerly direction, and at a great height, was heard to pass over that place at 1:05 p. m. central standard time. Because of weather conditions, it was impossible to see the plane and determine whether it was Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in the Spirit of St. Louis.

Major William R. Weaver, commandant of Maxwell field, the local government airport, said that no planes had left the local field today and that none was expected. He said the plane heard over Talladega might have been the Spirit of St. Louis, as weather conditions existing the past 18 hours would have prevented a take off in this section.
