Officers Theorize Woman Met Burglar As She Entered Her Home

AMARILLO, (AP)—Mrs. George S. Hamlin, 33, Saturday afternoon was found slain, her head crushed by blows from heavy instruments. The body was found in the kitchen of her home by her mother and sister who lived nearby.

Two large diamond rings had been stripped from the woman's hands, her purse was empty and the entire house had been ransacked.

Mrs. Hamlin had returned alone late Friday night from a lodge meeting. Her husband, a real estate man, left for California about ten days ago and was expected to return home about January 15.

Officers theorize Mrs. Hamlin met a burglar as she was entering her home.

WASHINGTON By GEORGE DUNNO

Venom—Recent publicity given the bitter row within the Building Trades and Metal Trades department of the American Federation of Labor has had a sobering effect on the union leaders involved. From President William Green on down they are realizing what damaging effects on the whole union movement a prolongation of the scrap may have.

January 29 the executive council of the A. F. of L. meets. The struggle for control of the Building Trades Department will be the big subject of debate.

Union men hope the council will be able to draw up a satisfactory peace treaty. None will venture a prediction on the outcome, however. The fight is too venomous.

Ambitions

In the meantime Dan Tobin, president of the Teamsters' Union, is striving to bring the two factions together. It is almost paradoxical to see Tobin, the fighter, in the role of peacemaker but he is making a sincere effort.

The teamsters cast their lot with the carpenters, bricklayers and electrical workers against the plumbers, sheet metal workers, elevator constructors and others. This has not deterred Tobin from striving to restore harmony but he is finding plenty of discord.

Tobin is a stocky-built man of 60 with a voice that could fill the Rose Bowl. In the last few days he has been calling on one union official after another to plead in woft and dulcet tones.

The boss teamster has had a turbulent career in the union movement. It was he who chased the notorious Connie Shea out of organized labor after that now departed gentleman had tried to turn the teamsters' organization into a racket. Back in 1923 Tobin resigned as national treasurer of the A. F. of L. after failing, in a strenuous fight, to get the Federation to officially endorse Al Smith's presidential candidacy. He missed out on becoming Secretary of Labor in this administration by a close margin—and still has justifiable ambitions.

Cuts

Despite President Roosevelt's statement in opposition to cash payment of the bonus, reports continue to pour in from every section that there is a pronounced sentiment for it.

Travelers back from north, south and west say they found a general feeling to the effect "everybody else is getting a cut out of the treasury so why not pay the bonus, too?"

One of the federal purse-strings are loosened it is difficult to tie them again. FDR may expect to run into an increasing amount of the why-not-too sentiment during this session of congress.

Grooming

A Kansan who went home for the recent holidays says the folks in his state are talking seriously about Governor Alf M. Landon as a Republican Presidential possibility for 1936. Landon has survived two Democratic landslides, which is something in his favor.

General sentiment also was found among Kansas Republicans for a liberation of the G. O. P. Many agree with Senator Borah that Henry F. Fletcher should step out as National Chairman. This is significant when one remembers it comes from the home state of the

Moore Stages Fine Program For Rotarians

Large Group Attends Community Gathering Friday Evening

A large number of Rotarians, their wives and friends were guests of the Moore community Friday night at the Moore school house, where they were entertained royally and enjoyably with music by a fourteen piece orchestra, games, talks and refreshments.

G. C. Broughton, chairman of the P. T. A. of Moore school was chairman of the meeting and introduced Miss Arsh Phillips, who gave the address of welcome, and James A. Davis, president of the Big Spring Rotary club, who responded.

The meeting was held in the school auditorium and gymnasium, and many interesting and fun-making games were played on the gymnasium floor, under the able direction of Madison Smith of Moore community, who has an unusual talent for showing large groups how to entertain themselves.

After the games had been enjoyed for more than an hour, refreshments were served by the young ladies of the community to some 50 or 60 Big Spring people and a like number of people from the Moore community.

"Tanlac" Strangely was induced to make a short talk to the crowd and spoke as only "Tanlac" can.

Many Rotarians were heard to express themselves as having "the time of their lives," and it was evident that the Moore people enjoyed the gathering also.

The program was arranged by the rural-urban committee of the Big Spring Rotary club, of which Earl Phillips is chairman, and which consists of Earl Phillips, Fred Keating, Herman Howie, Sam Eason and C. T. Watson, with the assistance of Miss Arsh Phillips, and is the first of several community meetings to be held in the near future by the Rotary club, with a view of getting better acquainted with people of Big Spring and their neighbors.

Bob Giguera, radio operator at American Airlines station in Big Spring for the past three years, will be transferred to Phoenix, Arizona, in the near future, it was learned Saturday. He will hold a similar position in that city.

C-C PRESIDENT

D. W. WEBBER
Directors of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Friday evening elected D. W. Webber, manager of J. C. Penney company in Big Spring, to lead the chamber of commerce during 1935. He succeeds Dr. W. B. Hardy, Webber recently piloted the Forward Movement by the chamber in this city to a successful conclusion.

Police Seek To End Plot To Smuggle

Federal Agents Aid In Running Down Trucks Carrying Munitions

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Police Saturday disclosed a plot to smuggle arms into Lower California as federal agents and officers throughout Southern California sought to intercept five truck loads of arms, machine guns, and ammunition reportedly intended for a revolutionary plot in Old Mexico.

One suspect, whose name officers refused to disclose, was held here.

Shipment of munitions, which, it was disclosed, had been gathered and guarded in Los Angeles for months, was reported started toward the border Friday night.

Police said the shipment was supposed to include 300 machine guns and several hundred rifles.

D. W. Webber, who piloted the Big Spring Forward Movement over the top in a $9,000 budget drive, was Friday evening elected president of the chamber of commerce to lead that body in the fulfillment of its program.

Carl Blomshield, who has served as a director for a number of years, was elected vice-president and will serve with Dr. W. B. Hardy, retiring president, in that capacity. T. S. Currie, also a director for many years, was named treasurer.

On hand to bid the old president farewell and to greet the new was the largest directors attendance in years. Twenty-one of a possible 25 were present. The remaining four were out of town.

Dr. Hardy extended his thanks to directors for their cooperation and loyalty during his tenure in office and then yielded to Webber.

Told by the present manager that he was resigning to accept a state position, R. T. Piner, chairman of a nominating committee, nominated C. T. Watson for manager and for the tenth consecutive time he was elected. His resignation was then accepted with regrets by the organization.

The board named Mrs. Gordon Phillips to "serve as acting manager until such a time as the directors are able to select a suitable applicant for the office." Directors voted that the board set her salary for the time she will serve as acting manager, to fix a salary for hiring an assistant to aid her, that the press be notified that there is no vacancy in the management. The place is already filled.

A motion that the chamber give active support toward securing a building for the museum in the state park, was passed.

To Ask Texas Legislature To Consider

Says Only Way Destitute Aged Can Be Aided Is By Amendment

AUSTIN, (AP)—Governor-elect Allred announced Saturday he intended to recommend to the legislature consideration of old-age pension plans.

"Because of its paramount importance in providing economic security," added that "the only way a state pension for the destitute aged can be obtained is by constitutional amendment. There is no doubt the extent of the state's action in his regard will be controlled by that of the national congress."

$5,808.19 Is Distributed For Relief

Largest Relief Roll In Many Months Given Out Here Thursday

Howard county's largest relief roll in many months was distributed here Thursday in the amount of $5,808.19.

It was paid out with the warning of the federal government ringing the ears of administrators that the relief roll would have to be materially reduced.

With the pronouncement by the Federal government that the relief rolls must be cleared of all unemployables, fresh worries have cropped out in local governmental agencies.

Task of caring for some 98 unemployables, which also included widows with minor children, will devolve upon the state, county, city, city and county officials met Saturday to work out some solution for the problem.

Attitude of the federal government in the matter is that the nation is in some measure responsible for the inability of its able bodied citizens to obtain work. The unemployables, it considers, constitute charity cases and charity should be handled at home.

Meantime, all projects with the exception of the cannery which was permanently closed after the first go forward with relief workers. There are 140 men on the highway project alone and are making real progress on the highway No. 1 program. The mattress factory and sewing projects are also moving along without hitch in production.

Glasscock Rancher To Bring 500 Cattle Here

Samuel Greep, Glasscock county rancher, who is conducting a large scale feeding project here, said Saturday that he planned to bring 500 head of sheep in his pens here soon.

At the present time he has about 175 head of cattle, on feed in his spacious pens east of the stockyard. He has not yet shipped any stuff.

Kaufman's Athletes Enter Track Events

VINCENT—Coach David Kaufman took his basketball team and some track team members to Rogers, Mitchell county, Saturday for a tournament. With a basketball tournament headlining the program, Rogers was also planning a few track events.

Two Men And Two Women To Be Implicated

Reilly Says Hauptmann Not Among The Four To Be Named

NEW YORK, (AP)—Edward J. Reilly, Bruno Richard Hauptmann's chief defense counsel, said Saturday next Thursday at Flemington, N. J., he would name four persons and charge them with kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby.

"They are two men and two women," Reilly said.

Reilly denied reports the defense would attempt to prove the body of the baby found was not that of Lindbergh's infant son.

Asked if Hauptmann would be one of the four he would name, Reilly replied:

"No."

Reilly declined to reply to a question whether Betty Gow, nurse in the Lindbergh home at the time of the kidnaping, would be implicated in his promised disclosure.

Reilly announced Hauptmann would be the first defense witness.

It was intimated the defense would construct its case on three group witnesses.

The first will be utilized to establish a "complete alibi."

The second handwriting experts, and the third fingerprint experts.

Mad Dog Scare In Knott; Seven Go To Austin

Seven persons were reported Saturday to be on their way to Austin to undergo the treatment against rabies after they had been bitten by a mad dog at Knott.

The dog has roamed the Knott vicinity for more than a week before it was killed. Its head was shipped to Austin for examination and was found to contain rabies.

Two small boys probably will receive the serum treatment here instead of going to Austin.

FDR Plans To Ask Congress For 4 Billion

To Use Funds In American Plan To Employ Three Million And A Half

WASHINGTON, (AP)—An authoritative source Saturday said President Roosevelt intends to ask congress to provide $4,000,000,000 for what he termed the "American Plan" and to "quit this business of relief" and put 3,500,000 unemployed to work.

This, as outlined by persons prominent on Capitol Hill, would be the work relief figure for the fiscal year beginning July 1st next, though it would not all be spent if reviving business absorbed enough of the jobless.

Lanham said no legislation was discussed.

George Mahon, new representative from Colorado, was chosen secretary.

17 Howard County Youths Accepted As CCC Enrollees

Seventeen Howard county youths were Saturday accepted as CCC enrollees. Two alternates were selected.

Some of the group may remain in the camp here while others will be stationed in far removed camps.

The relief administration office here Saturday examined some thirty applicants.

Chosen were Theo Earnest, Lucian L. Smith, Doyce C. Piper, Jesse G. Hill, Willie M. Lloyd, Jack Thomas, Monroe W. Copeland, Wayne E. Brown, Lionel Reed, Melvin R. Ferguson, Luther C. Wheeler, William J. Jackson, Lee Roy Franks, Jack C. Odom, Russell LaVelle, William A. Craig, and George W. Rowlee and alternates Durwood Usrey and Coleman Henderson.

Charter Issued To W. E. Production Co.

ABILENE—Chartering of the W. E. Production company of Abilene was announced from Austin Friday.

The company was incorporated by H. O. Wooten and Sterling O. Wooten of Abilene and S. J. Ellis of Big Spring and owns considerable oil interests 15 miles south of Big Spring, in Glasscock county. The interests include eight producing wells and another being drilled. The company has leased 240 acres, a majority of which is on the W. P. Edwards ranch.

Leaves Jan. 15 To Make Home In Austin, Texas

C. T. Watson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce here since 1926, Friday evening resigned his post to accept the position of assistant state manager of Texas Rural Communities, Inc.

Chamber directors named Mrs. Gordon Phillips, for a number of years organization secretary, as acting manager until the body obtains a permanent successor.

Watson will leave here to be in Austin by January 15 to assume his new duties. As assistant state director in the government's rural rehabilitation work, he will be associated with V. R. Smith, state manager, formerly city manager here.

Directors honored Watson by electing him manager for the tenth consecutive time. In accepting his resignation they gave him a leave when he wanted it. He set a date for his departure, however.

Watson came here in April of 1926 from Lamesa, where he had served as county agricultural agent and chamber of commerce manager since 1918. He was at Lamesa during the town's outstanding period of agricultural and commercial growth.

Stepping from the Lamesa 'boom' to Big Spring, Watson was again placed in the midst of an unprecedented period of development. He guided the chamber here in a result-producing program during the boom period and led the organization in constructive channels during depression years.

In 1931 he was offered the management of the Marshall Chamber of Commerce. He declined the offer upon insistence of directors of the local chamber.

His position in Austin will take time. Born in Downsville, La., March 31, 1894, he was reared on a farm in Navarro and Randall counties. He received a B.S. degree from E.T.S.C. at Commerce and later did graduate work in Texas university and Texas A. & M.

When the war broke out, he was placed by the food administration to aid in the production of food. After the war was over he did not return to his school teaching job, but took up agricultural work.

As agent at Lamesa he encouraged production of pure bred livestock and better dairy herd strains as well as planting of pure bred seed. His livestock judging team and his grain judging team won the state championship in one year, a feat which has not been duplicated since. He missed a trip to London, England as coach of a national livestock judging team because his team fell one point short of being the highest in the nation.

Although his programs for agriculture were not greeted with enthusiasm by farmers of Howard county, he took an active part in promotion of club work when there was no agent. He also represented the chamber untiringly in his efforts to gain reimbursement for losses suffered through the pink bollworm quarantine.

Watson's duties in Austin probably will make him supervisor of the rural community centers being established over the state.

REFINERY WORKERS CHOOSE AGENTS FOR LABOR BARGAINING

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The petroleum labor policy board found Friday that employees in three Texas oil plants had chosen the International Association of Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers of America as their collective bargaining agents.

The concern was the American Petroleum company, Houston, and the Continental Oil company and the Schmershorn Oil company, both of Big Spring.

Joseph S. Myers of the Labor Department reported the results of recent employee elections to the board. At the American plant, he reported, 114 employees voted for the International, 12 for an employees representative unit, and nine for individual negotiation.

Orphan Story, "Anne Of Green Gables," At Ritz Sunday, Monday.

Follow-Up To 'Little Women' Is Successful

Anne Shirley Chosen To Play Leading Character In Film

Pursuing a policy of bringing fiction classics of early youth to the screen, L. M. Montgomery's famous novel "Anne of Green Gables" has been filmed as a follow-up to the tremendously successful "Little Women" by RKO-Radio.

The features comes to the R. & R. Ritz Sunday and Monday.

A story of a whimsical whom Mark Twain once referred to as the most delightful girl character of fiction, "Anne of Green Gables" has been a favorite with youthful and adult readers for twenty-six years. Winning immediate success after it was first published in 1908, it has since gone through more than two-score editions. With a total of more than 500,000 copies issued, it is definitely at the top rank of the world's best sellers. The story reveals the transformation wrought by the orphan heroine in the lives of the spinster and her bachelor brother, who adopt her. It also traces a delightful boy-and-girl romance which has its inception in a country school acquaintance.

The characterization of the central figure is said to be particularly appealing in that it presents an entirely different type of orphan from the conventional sad-faced child.

Anne of Green Gables is a girl who has abundant vitality and imagination and a full share of the fiery temper that is supposed to go with red hair.

Great pains were taken in duplicating the original locale for the background of the film. Residents of Prince Edward Island and representatives of the Canadian National Railway cooperated in providing the studio with scores of photographs of the region about which the author wrote. Among the pictures obtained were exteriors and interiors of the house supposed to be the original Green Gables. Considerable film footage was also taken on the island and sent to the studio for the purpose of authenticating the settings.

Leading Actor Has Gripping Life History

Reincarnation Of Old Mystery Plays Holds Reverent Atmosphere

Three quarters of a century ago a little group of abolitionists in Cincinnati, Ohio, concealed an escaped runaway slave for two weeks, while he recovered from shock and exposure experienced in paddling across the Ohio river on an improvised raft which he had placed under his weight. He had been fished out of the icy river more dead than alive, clinging to a log which was all that remained of the little raft, on which he had embarked in his desperate flight.

That slave, who bore the name of Thomas Harrison, had belonged to the Bullock family of Lexington Ky. He had no complaint of cruelty or any special ill treatment, but was "just tired of being a slave."

A condition of mind heightened by the fact that two brothers had been sold down the river to be never heard of more and he feared the same fate. He had made his way across the country by night, hiding by day, until he reached the river at a point above Cincinnati, where he embarked upon his perilous journey. The tide of fortune ran with the current of the Ohio that night in the early winter of 1854, and swept him into the friendly hands of the Levi Coffin group who cared for him as they had for many other runaways.

Harrison was smuggled away to Toledo, thence to Detroit, Windsor and London, Ontario, where he joined a little colony of fugitive slaves who had gained freedom through similar efforts. Among them was a slave maid, who had been the property of the rich and influential Chouteau family of St. Louis, who spoke French fluently but little English and who had more than a smattering of culture through accompanying the young women of the family as a servant in attendance upon them at church, theatre and opera.

She had experienced more pampering than ill treatment, but for some reason had been subjected to a mild whipping. Her spirit rebelled, and making her way to East St. Louis, she then via Springfield, Chicago and Detroit to London she had attained the freedom all slaves entertained as their ideal.

The two fugitive married. Then joining a begonia to Haiti they sought the Heaven pictured under a Negro government, only to encounter disappointment. Anticipating that she was to become a mother, the wife insisted upon returning to Canada that the child might be born in an environment of promise. The journey was long and perilous in a little sailing ship beset by storms. Fear drove her to devotion she had learned in the slave gallery of the Old Catholic Cathedral at St. Louis. Arriving in New York she indulged in the luxury of attending a performance of "Richard the Third" given by Edwin Booth in order to compare that great star with others she had witnessed in the play.

Such is the background and foundation for the rare combination classic, is only sixteen years old, but made her debut in films at the age of three and has played important roles in more than fifty feature pictures.

Until she was chosen to play the Anne of Green Gables, she was known as Dawn O'Day. With the winning of the coveted role, she changed her name to Anne Shirley, who is the orphan heroine of the story, a story that had long been her favorite, as it has been of countless girls and boys and adults.

Kenneth MacGowan, producer of "Little Women," was at the production helm of "Anne of Green Gables," which presents the youthful discovery, Anne Shirley, in a featured cast that also includes Tom Brown, Helen Westley, O. P. Heggie, Sara Haden and Gertrude Messinger, George Nichols, Jr. directed.

A New Star Who Combines Two Great Talents

"Is Mady Christians greatest as a dramatic actress—or a musical star?"

This is the question being debated on all sides in Hollywood since the arrival of the glamorous Viennese charmer, who makes her American screen debut in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "A Wicked Woman," coming Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday to the Lyric theatre.

Her first picture is an intensely dramatic one, showing the powerful emotional appeal that enabled her to triumph time and time again with Max Reinhardt in Vienna and Berlin on the stage, and in screen hits in England, France and Germany.

Inherited from Mother

At the same time Hollywood has heard her voice—the wonderful singing voice inherited from her opera star mother and which in such European pictures as "The Waltz Dream" won her plaudits in all Continental capitals as well as in America.

Her father was Rudolph Christians, great Continental actor; her mother the singer, Bertha Klein. And in Mady Christians are to be found the talents of both, plus an amazingly colorful background. Traveling to many parts of the world with her parents, she learned many languages.

Advance Sale For "Green Pastures" Indicates Sell-Out

Advance sale of tickets, including mail orders, indicate complete sell-out for "The Green Pastures," stage play to be given at the Municipal auditorium Monday night, January 7, according to J. Y. Robb, manager of R&R Theatres in Big Spring, who said Saturday plenty of good seats remain unsold. Tickets are on sale only at the R&R Ritz Theatre in this city. Although in its fifth season, "The Green Pastures" still retains its Broadway company except for the roles of "Noah" and "Gabriel" which were vacated by death. Richard B. Harrison, 70-year-old veteran who heads the huge cast, never has missed a performance since the play opened in 1930.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Carter had as guests Sunday the following from Sweetwater: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murchison, Mrs. M. B. Howard; also Mrs. F. M. Bowen of Dallas.

The spirit of "The Green Pastures" during his stay in Boston he occupied various church pulpits every Sunday. "I took a trio from the choir with me and told the congregation the story of the coming of Jesus as the Mr. Deshee of our play would have told it in his Sunday School class," he says. "And at the close of every sermon the audience broke into applause—applause in church, too. Can you imagine that?"

"Chained", With Joan Crawford, Clark Gable At Lyric Sunday

Edgar Selwyn learned to write, but the process drove the Prime Minister of England out of his hotel.

Selwyn is the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer asset who produces, directs, writes and sometimes acts with equal facility. He penned the latest Joan Crawford-Clark Gable co-starring vehicle, "Chained." The film will be on view Sunday, Monday, Tuesday at the Lyric theatre.

The incident of the prime minister came about as follows:

En route to Paris from a vacation in Monte Carlo, he stopped off at Cannes to spend an hour with his good friend, the late Arnold Bennett.

Lasted Three Months

"That visit," Selwyn says, "lasted three months."

He and the novelist had fallen into argument over the necessity of "inspiration" in writing. Bennett maintaining it should be handled like a business, applying so many hours a day to it, Selwyn disagreed.

"So he insisted that I stay and learn from him," the director-producer-writer-actor continued. "I took a room in his hotel and went to work, as he did, each morning from breakfast until lunch. Nothing happened. I couldn't get a single idea, but followed Bennett's advice and wrote anyway."

On the third day the manager knocked said he was very sorry, but Mr. Selwyn's daily typing was annoying the gentleman in the room below, and that it was his sad duty to ask him to stop.

Selwyn related this to Bennett in high dudgeon, thinking it an excuse to escape. The novelist, however, rushed to the manager, explained his friend was a professional writer and demanded that he be allowed to continue. The manager explained this to the gentleman downstairs, who evidently had a sense of artistic appreciation, apologized—and moved.

Bennett, hearing this, came to Selwyn's room. "We have the extreme satisfaction," he said, "of having moved the Prime Minister of England out of his hotel. And now—pushing the typewriter forward—I will teach you how to write productively!"

He Was Successful

"And he did, too," Selwyn chuckled. "The result is I can marshal my thoughts any time and any place, where before I waited months for an idea to strike me."

Besides "Chained," part of which was written on a train en route to Hollywood from New York, Selwyn has written two screen plays in the past three months. They are "Paris to New York," in collaboration with Edwin Knopf and "While You May," a musical designed for Evelyn Lave and Ramon Uivarro, which he is to produce.

The cast of "Chained" boasts Otto Kruger, Stuart Erwin, Una O'Connor and Marjorie Gateson. Clarence Brown directed.

The Political Anvil

Sen-elect Gordon M. Burns of Huntsville personally has notified friends in Austin he has no intention of holding into house membership long enough to vote in the election of the speaker next Tuesday. He will qualify in the senate at the beginning of the session. His statement, confirming what his friend and house colleague, Rep. Albert K. Daniel had indicated here, was in answer to reported statements claiming Burns proposed to take a hand in the speaker's race.

Sub-committees of the citizens' conference called by Gov.-Elect James V. Allred to assist him in working out plans for the new state relief program are at work in Austin this week. The entire committee will reassemble during the first days of the legislative session to join in the emergency program of legislation to be proposed. Quick action to meet the federal change, dropping all aged, infirm and other "unemployables" from federal relief Feb. 1, was declared necessary.

V. I. Cargile, Abilene insurance man, who served in the Texas insurance commission during the Neff administration, and who announced for governor, in case the Ferguson should be a candidate, withdrawing when they declined to make that particular race, is now in Austin actively working in behalf of his friend, Rep. R. W. Calvert, for speaker of the 44th legislature. He and Mr. Calvert served together in the insurance department, while Mr. Calvert was working his way through the university. Senate and house halls and the capitol, all during the week before the legislature opens, are swarming with scores of candidates and applicants for legislative offices and jobs. Scores of job-hunters also visit the speaker's campaign headquarters of Coke Stevenson and Bob Calvert daily, and wait in mass formation to buttonhole every member of the legislature on his arrival in Austin.

Activity about the legislative chambers is almost as great as during the session. Probably 25 house members already are in Austin, most of them to stay through until the opening day, others on short visits.

Employment And Payrolls In Texas Make Fine Showing

AUSTIN—Employment and payrolls in Texas during December made a favorable showing both in comparison with November and December, 1934, according to the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. Reports to the bureau from 1,573 Texas establishments for the week ending December 31 give a total of 80,633 employees, an increase of nearly 1 per cent over November and 1.6 per cent over the corresponding week in December last year. Payrolls for the week totaled $1,842,000, up 1 per cent from the previous month and 5.1 per cent above that in the corresponding week a year ago.

Cities in which the increase in number of workers exceeded the average increase for the state were Beaumont, Dallas, Denison, El Paso, Fort Worth, Laredo, San Angelo, and Waco.

Classes of establishments in which the increase in number of workers showed an increase greater than the average for all establishments were: Women's clothing; manufacturing, furniture manufacturing, newspaper publishing and retail stores.

WHO CARES?

Well you may say, there he comes again. Yes, but it may be my last appeal. I am somewhat worked up on our utility rates and the unheard of price we pay for our water, lights, gas and telephone, and most especially our gas. Oh you say, what can we do about it? Well, we cannot do much of anything but howl, for they know or think we are a bunch of nuts, and that is about right I guess. Most everybody is afraid to open their mouths, the common people think they do not amount to much, and the higher ups will not stoop so low as to raise their voice against this outrageous price-fixing. Some of them may be on the inside looking out at this bunch. I think that three-fourths of the patrons of these utilities are sorely against paying for something you do not get. The gas company, for instance, charged me for a two-room apartment for November $2.93 and for December $4.32, and for my residence for November $4.05 and for December $11.49. Now, they think as I have said, that we are a bunch of chumps, and do not know any better. But we do and should protest in an uncertain tone. The gas company will tell you that they have nothing to do with the reading of the meters, that the city does that. Well I will just not tell openly what I think about that, but what is the use? Everybody knows what they think, so that is just my thoughts. In the first place the city should not throw in or cash in on a proposition like that. Now, my friends, utility users and everybody, let's resolve to protest long and loud in this New Year against unequalled, unfair money getting devices, and if you endorse my attitude in this matter, say so. If you do not, say so. Let's see who you are and where you stand. I could say a lot more and if it becomes necessary I will.

Yours for a more liberal utility account for 1935. S. B. STONE.

HOWARD COUNTY SCHOOLS HELD UP TO OTHER RURAL
SUPTS. BY STATE HEADSAchievements Of Mrs. Pauline Brigham
Who Built Up System Summarized; Mrs.
Brigham Now Retired

Everybody in Big Spring knows what splendid educational work Pauline Cantrell Brigham, retiring county superintendent, has done for Howard county during her six years in office, but few can sum up the details.

Starting from one desk and no filing cabinet, Mrs. Brigham has built up a system of files and records that is a model in Texas. State Superintendent Woods tells newly-elected county superintendents to look over the records of Howard county's rural school if they want an example of how to keep them and of what can be accomplished when one starts from scratch.

These files and records are merely an outward symbol of days, months, and years put in by Mrs. Brigham and her assistant, Miss Helen Hayden, in improving rural school conditions until Howard county has the highest percentage of standardized rural schools in the whole state.

Out of the 21 Howard county schools, only two—Midway, a few miles out on the East highway and Hart Wells, way up in the northwestern corner—have not met the requirements set by the state for standardization.

This high percentage is something to talk about, especially when one considers the natural disadvantages of this section of the state. Dallas county has more standardized schools among its many, and one other county has 19 schools standardized. Both of these, however, have many times the number of rural schools, so their percentage is lower than Howard county's.

It has been the delight of Big Spring citizens to watch Mrs. Brigham grow in power and ability with her work. But those on the inside knew that from the beginning, when Judge R. B. Debenport turned the school over to her as the first official county superintendent she began going places and doing things. Her job was never just a desk job.

Immediately after entering office in September 1928, she organized a Howard county teachers' assembly, the next year held the first county-wide graduating exercises. The value of Mrs. Brigham's work was that she could easily comprehend her duties on a county-wide scale. It was not a step by step process with a schoolhouse hither and yon, but always with an eye to making the schools act as a unit. Her first achievements therefore were of unification.

In 1930 she standardized the 7th grade examinations. This was before the state inaugurated its standard achievement tests. With the aid of the teachers a set of examination questions were made out; all rural pupils who passed them were admitted into affiliated high schools.

This saved many a rural seventh-grader from being put back when he went into high school.

A Big Undertaking
County-wide graduation exercises were continued. To make the day complete Mrs. Brigham suggested a big picnic of all the parents. At the first suggestion some old-timers threw up their hands in horror. "Why you can't get all the rural people together," they told her. "It's too big an undertaking."

"Well I can try it anyway," was Mrs. Brigham's reply.

The result was that 2000 people from the rural schools met together at the City park for the biggest picnic ever staged in the history of the county. Those rallies have since been a regular afternoon feature of the graduation exercises, the parents knocking off work for the day in celebration of their children's successfully passing the seventh grade work.

In 1932 the state educational department inaugurated its series of standard achievement tests, which first applied only to the 7th grades, and now apply to the 4th, 5th and 6th grades. By means of these tests, examinations are given every month to determine the pupils' progress, in addition to the final at the end of the year. It was an easy thing for Howard county schools, trained already by the seventh grade local examinations, to appreciate the importance of these tests and to make use of them.

Anticipates Austin
In another thing Mrs. Brigham also forced ahead of the educational department at Austin. This was in regard to rural school chorus.

Last year Mrs. Brigham visited every country school with her portable victrola and records and taught the pupils many old, beloved songs. This enabled them to make the graduation exercises at the Muni auditorium more enjoyable and taught them songs worthwhile as well as training in choruses.

Now the state has organized chorus singing on a huge scale as a part of its Centennial program. Rural school superintendents all over Texas are being asked to cooperate.

And is Howard county cooperating? One hundred per cent. Every school in the county ordered its own victrola this fall and its own songbooks and records, and is already learning the songs.

What seemed impossible in prosperous days, Mrs. Brigham accomplished with ease during the depression. This was the establishment of a county library. Not a regular county library in the accepted sense, which would be open to all residents of the county, but a circulating library available to all teachers and pupils.

She did this by pooling the books of all the schools and keeping them in the county courthouse. The books totaled 1400. The state then gave her $200 to buy more books and so 200 more were added. This library is one of the most valuable assets of county schools. Howard county schools are ahead of city schools in one respect—industrial training. Two schools now have manual training for boys. They also have classes in

Miss Nell Brown will return tonight on the midnight train from a holiday vacation trip spent with a college friend, Mrs. S. L. Calhoun in Tlahualilo, Durango, Mexico. Miss Brown will resume her teaching in the Science department of the high school Monday. While in Mexico she was constantly entertained by the colony of Americans, and spent New Year's Day in Torreon.

Little Misses Marlene and Barbara Lee Gomillion are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Gomillion of 204 E. 6th street. They and their mother planned to spend the New Year's Day in Fort Worth with Mrs. Gomillion's sister, Mrs. Alex C. Hawthorn and her mother, Mrs. E. E. Hester, but were detained by a family party in Big Spring. They will make the postponed trip later in January.

Believing in the old saying, "Homekeeping hearts are happiest," Mrs. J. E. Brigham, better known in public life as Mrs. Pauline Cantrell Brigham, retired from politics this week to take up the duties of housewife and mother at her home at 1015 Nolan street. Until the first of the year Mrs. Brigham has been county Superintendent since 1928. Mrs. Dessa Dreeben Hunter, formerly a Big Spring girl stopped over during the holidays to visit Mrs. William Dehlinger. Mrs. Hunter is now touring Texas heading her own theatrical company, known as the Hunter-Erwin Revue.

trustees and teachers of the county, who have generously cooperated with her throughout the years, to build for the future.

Last summer Mrs. Brigham announced that she would not run for re-election, because she wanted to devote her time to her home and her family. Miss Anne Martin was elected to fill the office and promise to be an able successor who will carry on all that Mrs. Brigham has accomplished and do big things in her own name.

Mrs. Martin has already taken steps toward the future, by making plans to leave for Austin to attend the state conference of superintendents and deputy superintendents on Monday and Tuesday. There she will confer with O. C. Fisher, state representative in educational matters.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Turner of Grand Junction, Colo., spent the weekend in Big Spring visiting friends.

Here Seeing Old Friends

Mrs. Bob Austin of Lubbock, who is well known to Big Spring from her many years of residence here before she and Mr. Austin went to make their home in Lubbock, was complimented by a pretty informal tea at the home of her friend, Mrs. George Wilke Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Austin and her daughter, Rose Mary, have been staying at the Douglass with Colorado friends, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Turner, and visiting her many friends here.

Mrs. Wilke asked in her neighbors to allow them the opportunity of visiting with Mrs. Austin and meeting her seven-months' old daughter.

After an hour or more of enjoyable conversation, cups of tea and Christmas fruitcake were passed.

The guests were: Misses Anna Duvall, Ralph Rix, A. E. Service, Albert M. Fisher, R. C. Strain, Ralph Linck, Lee Hansen, Steve Ford, Shine Phillips, V. H. Flewellen, W. B. Clare and W. P. Edwards. Mrs. Austin returned to Lubbock Saturday afternoon.

cooking and sewing for girls. These are Highway and Elbow.

A Modern School House
At Elbow there is the most modern rural school house in this part of Texas. It has a shop, a large room about 28 by 30, especially constructed for manual training, and well equipped. The home economics class has also its room. There are built-in features and good equipment. The Elbow school has not only a library room but also a good laboratory, in addition to its class rooms.

During Mrs. Brigham's tenure of office, rural schools have been grouped, classified and accredited. Fairview, Highway and Blaco were grouped into one system operating two schools. The high schools of Elbow and Porsan were grouped with exception of eighth grade at Elbow.

Three extension courses from Texas Tech have been sponsored by the school superintendent's office for teachers who are still working on their degrees.

When Mrs. Brigham entered office she had among her assets a certificate, obtained from West Texas State Teachers' college at Canyon which she attended for two years and a winning personality. At first she did not know exactly what she wanted to build on, except that—as has been said—she saw her work always in its entirety and not as a group of individual school houses dotting the prairie.

She gave credit for many of her ideas to the conventions she attended. She has gone to two national conventions, one held at Atlantic City in 1930 and one at Cleveland, Ohio in 1934—representing Howard county. She has missed only one county superintendent's conference at A. & M. in her 6 years of office. She has gone to several state teachers' conventions.

By going to these meetings she kept in touch with the advanced thought of the day and could foresee the trend of the times. She has therefore been able to help the

GRADES OF MILK SOLD BY BIG SPRING DAIRYMEN, PLANTS GIVEN OUT BY INSPECTOR

Below are given the grades of milk sold in Big Spring by dairymen and plants. Grade "A" is the highest and "D" is the lowest. Grade "A" means that precautions have been taken in the production and handling of the milk to prevent its infection by disease-producing bacteria, such as tuberculosis, typhoid fever, diphtheria, intestinal troubles and disorders in children, and other sickness. Grade "D" means that no precautions of very few have been taken to safeguard the milk.

The grades of all milk supplies have been determined by the local health department in accordance with the standard grade specifications of the U. S. Public Health Service Inspection Code.

Any person other than those listed below, who sells and delivers milk in the city of Big Spring is violating the City Milk Ordinance. It is permissible for persons to sell milk without having to have a grade, but when said persons sell and deliver their milk, then they come under the laws governing all milk dairies and must have a grade before selling it. The METHYLENE BLUE system is used for testing all milk, and an average of 8 hours is required for grade "A" with no less than 4 tests from each dairyman each grading period. All dairymen are graded according to the above system together with state laws governing equipment.

Rebekahs In Installation Ceremonies

Mrs. Joe Clere New Noble Grand; Others Take Office

The Rebekahs met at the Odd Fellows Hall Friday evening for installation of new officers for the next six months. Mrs. Ora Martin had charge of the ceremony. Installed was newly-elected Mrs. Leola Clere as noble grand with the following:

Mrs. W. O. McClendon as past noble grand; Mrs. Horace Jarrett, vice grand; Mrs. J. L. Rush, chaplain; Mrs. Morris Stallings, treasurer; Mrs. D. C. Lykins, left supporter to the noble grand; Mrs. Jones Lamar, right supporter to the noble grand; Mrs. L. G. Talley, conductor.

Mrs. Carl South, warden; Mrs. Rex Edwards, left supporter to vice noble grand; Mrs. Bill Sandridge as right supporter to the vice noble grand; Mrs. J. J. Sinclair as outside guardian; Mrs. Johnny McKoughan as inside guardian.

A good crowd was present including Mrs. Ada Ramsey past president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas.

The degree teams chose leaders for a two months' merit contest, the losing teams to entertain the winners in March. Mrs. L. L. Guley and Mrs. Jones Lamar were chosen captains. Points on which demerits will be made will be: attendance, floor work and delivery of charges.

All Rebekahs are asked to be present at the next meeting on January 11.

Planes Fly Tiny Insects
SEATTLE, (UP)—Tiphia popillivora, millions of them, are being rushed east by plane from Seattle, after landing from Oriental steamers. The tiny insects are parasites which attack Japanese beetles, serious pests in parts of the United States. The Tiphia popillivora were gathered by a United States Department of Agriculture laboratory near Yokohama.

Firemen Wear Balled Shirts
WELLESLEY, Mass. (UP)—Wellesley College girls thought that the firemen had gone high hat when they answered an alarm sent from the college in formal evening clothes. The men, dressed in swallowtails and balled shirts, fought the blaze. It was learned later that they were about to attend the annual firemen's ball when an alarm

POLITICAL PRIMER

The money for carrying on the vast work of the federal government is provided for in general appropriations bills, which, by custom, originate in the house.

The procedure is something like this:

Heads of the various departments and agencies of government prepare estimates on the cost of doing their work for the year and submit was sounded and they were forced to answer the call after they were drawn.

These estimates to the director of the bureau of the budget. He compiles them, considers requests, and prepares a budget of expenditures for each of the government establishments. The budget then goes to the President, who after his approval transmits it to congress.

The house appropriations committee drafts the various bills and then they are acted upon by the house. The senate has a similar committee which considers all appropriation bills, with authority to amend them in any way it sees fit.

The budget is for the guidance of congress. It may either increase or decrease budget estimates. All government business is transacted on a fiscal year starting on July 1 and ending on June 30. Appropriations usually are for the fiscal year.

Bills which are not acted upon at a session retain their status at the next session, except that at the end of a congress all such measures die.

Hunting Better Than Farming
CANYON CITY, Ore. (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lowe, Prairie City ranchers, have found predatory game hunting more profitable than farming. In three months, they bagged 440 coyotes, bobcats, badgers and skunks that had preyed on neighbor's crops. Lowe collected a bounty of $350 for each coyote pelt.

Advocates Hobbies
RALEIGH, N. C. (UP)—The happiest people in the world are those with hobbies, Dr. Ed Hedgepeth, of the University of North Carolina insists. "Cultivate a hobby, something that you like to putter around with in spare moments, something entirely different from anything in your daily routine, and you will gain much benefit from the relaxation," he said.

Old Grinding Stones Found
NORTH LOUP, Neb. (UP)—Ancient grinding stones, believed used by some primitive inhabitant of Nebraska, have been unearthed here. Leveling a hill, workmen discovered the flat grinding stones with flint arrowheads, pieces of baked clay and bones. Presence of ashes mingled in the relics gave rise to the belief the find may mark the site of some ancient camp.

Invited To Ski Meet
TAHOE CITY, Cal. (UP)—Fifteen-year-old Kathleen Anderson, petite, blonde and blue-eyed Tahoe High School girl and California women's cross-country ski champion, has been invited to attend the International Ski Meet to be held in Switzerland, Feb. 22.

New Pacific Speed Record
VANCOUVER, B. C. (UP)—A new speed record for the Vancouver-Bonolulu run was set recently by the steamer Empress of Japan. The vessel covered the voyage in six days, 16 hours, 55 minutes, three hours faster than the best previous record. The Empress of Japan also holds the record for the Yokohama-Honolulu leg of the Orient route six days, nine hours, 11 minutes.

New Sun Invention
DURHAM, N. C. (UP)—The sun altitude indicator, an invention to be used in ascertaining latitude, angle of the sun's rays at zenith position, and locating the sun's perpendicular rays, is being manufactured by Dr. Ben F. Lomert, of Duke University. The instrument is useful in "the navigation of ships and aircrafts."

FORD V-8 FOR 1935

A Distinctive, Modern Car for the Woman Motorist

To the power, speed and brilliant performance of the Ford V-8, there have been added a new beauty, a new luxury—and a marvelous riding ease.

The Ford V-8 has always been a favorite with men. You've heard the men in your family talk about it. "That's a great car," they have said. "Eighty miles an hour when you want it, a smooth, powerful engine, swift pick-up and the ability to 'take it' all day long."

But the New Ford V-8 is a car in which women, too, can take a still keener pride and delight. A more beautiful car, with modern style in every line and appointment.

A "FRONT-SEAT RIDE" FOR BACK-SEAT PASSENGERS

In the New 1935 Ford V-8 you ride forward—nearer the center of the car. You ride on longer, more flexible springs. All weight is distributed to give Center-Poise. The back seat is roomy, restful and relaxing—the ride becomes a smooth and flowing glide at any speed, on any kind of road.

THE ROOMIEST, MOST COMFORTABLE FORD EVER BUILT AND THE EASIEST TO DRIVE

The New Ford is a bigger car than any previous Ford. It has wider doors and is lower—easier to step in and out. Front seats are 4 to 5 1/2 inches wider. New, larger space is provided behind the rear seat for suitcases and bags, thus avoiding crowding of passengers.

New features make the Ford V-8 still easier for women to drive. There is a new soft clutch which requires less foot pressure. The brakes also require less pressure, although they are more powerful and stop the car more quickly and smoothly than ever before. New steering mechanism makes the car easier to handle.

STYLE THAT WOMEN WILL ADMIRE

A glance will tell you that the New Ford is just about the handsomest car you have ever seen. Its lines are modern, graceful, without being freakish. Its colors are new and attractive. It is a car that women will stop to admire as readily as they do a new gown.

LUXURIOUS APPOINTMENTS

Modern ideas in design and coloring are seen in the car interiors. New upholstery with narrow piping and pillowed seats; hardware in tones to match upholstery; a new, more convenient and very modern instrument panel; curved gear shift lever which adds to the comfort of passengers in the front seat; double sun visors; doors which are hinged in front and swing forward; Clear-Vision Ventilation—these are some of the features which make these new cars so distinctive.

FORD V-8 RELIABILITY AND SAFETY

Every Ford V-8 for 1935 has Safety Glass all around—in doors and windows—at no additional cost. Every car has welded all-steel body. And, of course, every Ford has the powerful and reliable V-8 engine which makes the car such a satisfaction to drive as well as economical to operate.

We invite you to drive this New Ford V-8 and see for yourself why it is the ideal car for women motorists.

GOLFERS STAGE HOT MATCHES; FORSAN ELIMINATED

Santone Pair In Close Race For Lead

RIVERSIDE, Cal., (AP)—Tod Menafee and Lieut. B. A. Schreiver, former San Antonio amateurs, and a team composed of Orville White, St. Louis, and Paul Sleepy, Long Beach, held an early lead Saturday in the second round of the Riverside Amateur pro golf tournament.

They turned in the best cards of 67, five under par, but four over Friday's 63, which skyrocketed Henry Picard and Ken Summerfield in to the lead.

ago, speakers urged the boys to "attend colleges in this section of the country."

Bill Barker, Associated Press sports editor in Texas, in discussing high school football, said that it cost $15,000 alone just to bring the district standings to the newspapers during the past year, but that the Associated Press felt this was money well spent.

Jinx Tucker, the picturesque Waco scribbler, ranks the first 20 teams in the state Class A race in the following order, giving due consideration, he says, to October and November from the type of opposition encountered:

1. Amarillo Sandies.
2. Ranger Bulldogs.
3. Temple Wildcats.
4. Corpus Christi Buccaneers.
5. Greenville Lions.
6. Masonic Home.
7. Poly of Ft. Worth.
8. Pampa Harvesters.
9. Corsicana Tigers.
10. Dallas Tech.
11. Waco Tigers.
12. Port Arthur Yellow Jackets.
13. Hillsboro Eagles.
14. Highland Park.
15. Thomas Jefferson.
16. Fort Worth Central.
17. Woodrow Wilson.
18. Breckenridge Buckaroos.
19. Big Spring.
20. Athens Hornets.

Of all the ratings we've seen, Tucker turned out the worst. Don't try to tell us Masonic Home rates only sixth place while Ranger rests in the second slot. Surely the Masons would shade Temple and Greenville. And we're positive Big Spring was much better than 19th in the race. Jinx must have been in another one of those dizzy spells.

And Al Parker of Wichita Falls lists the ten outstanding individual performers:

1. Dick Todd. (A special class which has been arranged to fit the Crowell boy who is the one best of them all.)
2. Stidger, Amarillo, quarterback.
3. Cook, Masonic Home, tackle.
4. Also White, Masonic Home, tackle.
5. Peterson, Amarillo, end.
6. Marshall, Greenville, quarterback.
7. Haas, Corpus Christi, half-back.
8. Anderson, Ranger, quarterback.
9. White, Lubbock, quarterback.

Doubleheader To Usher In League Season Monday

By HANK HART

A doubleheader will usher in the new league basketball season Monday night when Dittz and Radford meet and Carter and Whit's teams match shots.

Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays have been selected as the nights for league tilts, and the schedule will run up into the second week of February, each club having the opportunity of playing the other six teams in the league.

The last quintet to join the league will represent the Carter Chevrolet Company.

With the withdrawal of the Cosden Oilers and Bill Tate's Forsan Oilers, the weaker teams of the band can better their chances at the trophy which will be presented to the leading team at the end of the season. The trophy will be awarded by the Anderson Music Co.

All teams except the Elliott Drug five, the Carter aggregation, and the Whit quintet, have started practice. Whit will probably use the same material he employed last year, but it is not yet known where Elliott will recruit his "five."

Thus far, the Dittz Bakers and Radford Wheelers have shown the best form, and will probably be the strongest contenders for the crown, although they can expect some stiff competition from the powerful CCC team.

Flewelien's chances will be centered around the great Cy Reid, former Steer flash. Reid will probably direct the team from his center position.

The CCC corps will be a threat with Eddie Young at a forward position and Jimmy Greer at center. Young broke into form early in the season and has been flashing brilliantly in the last several games.

The Carter team will be forced to search for material.

C. E. Talbot Gets Contract To Remodel T. S. Currie Building

C. E. Talbot secured the contract for remodeling the T. S. Currie building, 208-210 Main street, to be occupied by Wacker's after completion about February 15th. The contract price for the work was around $2000. The remodeling plans call for the front of the building to be modernized in every respect and the space of these two fronts will be converted into one large business area.

Coach Walker from Stamford was a visitor in Big Spring Saturday.

Continuing the discussion as to high school players in college, it is noted where one of the scribes says it's the star high school backs who usually fall in college instead of the linemen. Four years in high school burns them out.

How's this for a score—Cottonwood beat Paint Rock 100 to 9 in a game at San Angelo last Friday.

What, No Crows In South Bend?

SOUTH BEND, Ind., (AP)—For the first time in a decade Notre Dame is struggling along on the basketball floor without the services of a Crowe.

At Notre Dame the name Crowe has become almost synonymous with basketball since the first member of the Lafayette, Ind., family by that name won his monogram in 1923.

Since then a Crowe, of the same family, has won a letter at Notre Dame every year, the last of the clan for the present being Leo J. Crowe, who was graduated last June. He played guard.

However, the situation isn't as bad as it seems at first glance, for from the freshman class this year has come word that another Crowe will be ready to carry on the family name in varsity competition next year.

And the Lafayette high school reports that still another is a senior this year with full intentions of continuing his education at Notre Dame.

GRID GATE RECEIPTS SOAR, SO NEBRASKA SPORTS BOOM

By DWIGHT MCCORMACK

LINCOLN, Neb., (AP)—Football, the bread-winner of college athletics, has made possible a substantial increase in minor sports in 1935 at the University of Nebraska.

On the heels of an announcement that the Cornhusker gridder this year played to the largest crowd in the history of the sport at Nebraska, came the schedules for nine winter and spring sports.

They call for competition in indoor track, outdoor track, swimming, wrestling, baseball, tennis, boxing, golf, and gymnastics on a more extensive scale than has heretofore been the rule. An attractive basketball schedule already has been drawn up.

However, athletic officials will have no trouble finding a spot for the funds available, for there is a $100,000 debt outstanding on the $300,000 coliseum. The stadium, with a seating capacity of almost 30,000 is paid for, but additions and repairs always are needed. In spite of this, the Cornhusker sports program has broadened to give more students the benefit of collegiate competition.

No tax funds were used to build the coliseum and stadium, or are available to pay coaches, pay bond requirements or other expenses incurred in the athletic program. The entire bill is paid out of receipts from athletic events, and football carries almost the entire burden.

In announcing the 1935 football schedule, characterized here as the "most attractive in Cornhusker history," Coach E. K. Bibbe said:

"The attractive home schedule is made possible by the splendid support given the Cornhuskers by the fans in this region. The large attendance has placed a responsibility on the shoulders of the players and coaches to provide the best possible games and the highest standard of play."

Lomax Juniors Looking For Games

LOMAX, (Sp.)—Lomax junior basketball players are out looking for competition, and they don't want any set-ups.

They are willing to challenge any team in Howard county that doesn't exceed their average height more than one inch. The Lomax eagles are rather small, as basketball players go, ranking in height from four feet seven inches to five feet two inches.

They are a fast passing aggregation, and hold victories over Forsan and Midway and have held Courtney and Elbow to close scores.

Forwards are Thomas Newman (Capt.), Jack Rice and J. T. Woods; center, Od Lee Burnett; guards, Jack McVain, J. D. O'Hoff, and Lyman Rice.

Jack Rice is exceptionally good on fast crisp shots, and Burnett is deadly on the long one.

Lomax Wins Fast Series

Victorious In Two Out Of Three Games With Coahoma Friday

LOMAX, (Sp.)—Lomax basketball teams won two out of three games here Friday night. The Hornets defeated the Coahoma Bulldogs 41 to 17. Burnett of Lomax was high scorer in the fast game with eighteen points.

The Lomax sr. girls won over Coahoma sr. girls team, 24 to 12, with Gyal Chairman of Lomax tallying 12 points.

Coahoma's rangy jr. boys club proved too much for the small Lomax team, and the visitors won 28 to 8. Wolf of Coahoma scored ten points.

Elbow jr. girls defeated Coahoma 16 to 4.

Garden City sr. girls, jr. boys, and the Garden City club team, will play here next Friday.

CHAPTER 20
ESCAPE

Leaving Jimmy on guard I hurried to the staircase. I felt certain that Molly would be on one of the upper floors, probably in a back room, and on reaching the first landing, I made straight for the door facing me.

It was locked, but the key was on the outside. I wrenched it round, broke it in my haste, and then, as the light of my torch swept the room, an unprintable oath burst from my lips.

I was strapped down on a small truck bed, her hands tied behind her—her ankles fastened to the rail at the end. The lower half of her face was almost hidden by a roughly twisted handkerchief, which had been stretched across her mouth and knotted tightly at the back. On one cheek, just below the eye, was an ugly red smear.

The next instant I was kneeling on the floor beside her, my fingers working feverishly to undo the gag. I got the thing loose at last and as she drew in her breath with a quick gasping sob, I dragged out a pocket knife which, by the mercy of God, I always carry about with me.

"It's all right," I assured her. "I'll have you free in a minute."

With desperate eagerness I sawed away at the stout cord which fastened her down to the bed. It soon parted and then, having freed her wrists and ankles, I slid my arm round her and lifted her up gently.

"What's happened, Nick?"

Her voice was so weak that I could scarcely catch the words.

"These devils dragged you at the head and took you away in a car," I said. "I know—but how did you get here?"

"Never mind now; I'll explain later," I stuffed the knife back into my pocket and picked up the torch which was lying on the bed. "We must clear out of this place as soon as we can. Do you think you can walk or shall I carry you?"

She made a feeble effort to rise, and then sank back again with her head against my shoulder.

"I don't feel too well," she admitted faintly.

Cutting on my feet I picked her up just as she was. "Put your arms around my neck and hang on tight," I said. "Jimmy's downstairs and there's a taxi waiting for us around the corner."

"If you see what looks like a corpse lying in the hall don't be frightened. It's only that big mutt they left here to look after you. I had to knock him out, but he's not so badly hurt."

I edged my way sideways through

NEW YEAR'S REVELRY RUNS HIGH

Careers were forgotten as Chicago joined the rest of the world in welcoming the New Year. To the music of a well known dance band, thousands celebrated in a downtown night club and a constant din of their own as they hailed the first moments of 1935 and shouted a farewell to 1934. (Associated Press Photo) my arm. Hunched up in the opposite corner Jimmy stared silently through the window.

On we went, past the deserted entrance to Paddington Station and up the long, empty stretch of Edgware Road. By the time we came to the corner of Park Lane I was half asleep myself. I had a vague impression of a glare of light, which I suppose must have been Piccadilly Circus, and then, with an unexpected jerk, the taxi came to a standstill, and sitting up abruptly I found myself outside the flats.

I fumbled for my latchkey and handed it to Jimmy. "You run up and get the door open," I said. "If Dawson's about, tell him to put a kettle on. A cup of tea will do us all good."

I roused Molly, who was still dosing against my shoulder and getting out first, helped her down on to the payment. From his box the taxi driver eyed us with interest.

"Here's a pound for you," I said, and I'm much obliged to you for waiting."

He placed the note carefully in his pocket and touched his cap, saying, "That's all right, guv'nor. Glad you got what you went for." Jerking in his clutch, he leaned sideways towards me. "I was a bit of a lad myself once," he added, and with this cryptic statement he swung out into the roadway.

I glanced quickly up and down the street. At the Northumberland Avenue end a man was crossing the road with his back to us, but except for him there was not a soul within sight.

"You'd better let me carry you, Molly," I said. "If you try to do any more you'll probably collapse."

Disregarding her faint protest I again lifted her up in my arms. It was a more difficult job than I had had before, for the stairs were steep and Jerry's flat was on the second floor.

Tired as I was, however, the sensation of holding her close against me seemed to inspire me with the necessary strength and step by step I struggled doggedly up, until the dressing-gowned figure of Dawson, framed in a light doorway, suddenly rewarded my efforts.

He stepped aside as I staggered in.

"Everything is ready sir, I have put clean sheets on the bed and the kettle will be boiling in a few moments."

"Thank you, Dawson," I said. "It's an odd hour for a tea-party, but we're all three a little exhausted."

Mrs. Bryson Laid To Rest
Four Men Get Two Years In Nash Slaying

Former Glascock County Resident Succumbs In San Angelo Hospital

Mrs. Jennie Bryson, 61, a resident of San Angelo for about 30 years and of Texas for about 50 years, died in a San Angelo hospital Friday afternoon.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from the First Presbyterian church, U.S.A., with the Rev. Fred Rogers, of Brady, officiating. He was assisted by the Rev. Rodney Gibson, pastor of the church. The body was carried overland in a Massie funeral coach to Big Spring for burial at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Bryson was a member of the Presbyterian church and prior to moving to San Angelo, resided in Glascock county. She was buried beside her husband, Andy Bryson, who died in 1899.

Survivors include two sons, C. A. and Norman Bryson, both of San Angelo, two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Ellis, Alpine and Mrs. Editha Daugherty, San Angelo, and three brothers, David Girdwood, San Angelo, Norman Girdwood, Fort Worth, and William Girdwood, Billings, Mont.

Pallbearers were Warren Huff, Sam Kelly, Leslie Harris, Elmer Whitehurst, Dun Glenn and W. C. Johnson Jr.

Honorary pallbearers were J. F. Matthews, Dr. C. E. Mays, R. I. Coulter, W. R. Mhylock, Corv Snow, S. T. Taylor, George Ross, W. Vinson, W. C. Kemp, Eugene Cochran, Ernest Cade and Earl Rogers.

Stanton Pastor To Sneak Here Today

Rev. W. S. Garnett, pastor of the Stanton Baptist church, will fill the pulpit of the East Fourth Baptist church here in both the morning and evening services Sunday. Rev. Garnett is well known here, having appeared as a speaker in many of the denominations meetings.

Birthday

The disease varies. Very conservatively, one official of the Warm Springs Foundation puts the average figure at $300 a year. Tentative returns from an investigation in Ohio indicate that it will cost at least $2,000,000 in cash annually to care for the "olio" patients in that state. It probably cost considerably more when complete records are tabulated. Col. Henry L. Denny, chairman of the 1934 and 1935 Birthday Ball for the President, estimates the national loss annually from the ravages of the disease at more than $300,000,000 in incomes alone. The money needed for curative work he puts conservatively at $60,000,000.

License Tags Received Here

Automobile license tags for 1935 were received here this week end by Tax Collector-Assessor John Wolcott and will go on sale February 1, and not before, he said.

Wolcott warned that the plates were not to be put on cars until April 1. The plates have a maroon background with white letters.

"Poll taxes must be paid by January 31, he said.

Current taxes are to be paid on or before January 31 if they are not to incur penalty and interest. The remission of penalty and interest will not effect current taxes becoming delinquent, he reminded.

Previous delinquent taxes, he said, may be paid without penalty or interest between February 9 and March 15.

Oilers Swamp Bats, 47 To 21

Cosden Oilers scored a surprising 47 to 21 victory over the Christoval Bats here Saturday night.

The Oilers led from the start, holding a 13 to 9 lead at the end of the first quarter and 28 to 9 lead at the half.

Morgan led the victors in scoring with twelve points, and Hopper and West tied for runner-up honors with eight points.

Hanson tallied ten points for the Bats.

The victory avenged a defeat the Cosdenites suffered at Christoval early in the season.

In Addition $10,000 Fines Assessed Against Criminals

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Maximum sentences of two years imprisonment, and a $10,000 fine were imposed Saturday on four men convicted in the conspiracy to release Frank Nash, federal prisoner, which ended in the death by machine gun fire of Nash and four officers at the Union Station here, June 17, 1933.

Judge Merrill E. Otis placed three women defendants on probation after sentencing them to a year and a day in a federal penitentiary and fining them $500 each.

Davids Win By Three Whiskers

The House of David's whiskered beauties beat George Brown's high school cagers out to three whiskers Saturday night and had it not been for a sympathetic time-keeper, the Davids might have won by a margin of seven whiskers.

The Benton Harbor boys did not try quite as many tricks as they did last year, but they demonstrated that they were perfectly capable of doing so, and had team work down to perfection.

Hickman, rangy David forward, feasted little Louie Madison for almost a quarter until Coach Brown replaced him with Wilson, and then Capt. Finley of the visiting aggregation took to the sidelines and megaphoned a few wise cracks to the packed gym while the remaining four Davids continued to run the Steers dizzy, but not quite as dizzy as many of the spectators expected, because the locals showed fairly good form and lots of hustle and determination.

The Davids whipped into the lead almost immediately when Finley scored from in front of the basket without any interference whatsoever, and they had amassed seven points before Cordill flopped in a short one. The quarter ended with the locals trailing 9 to 2. Several times the bearded lads threatened to give the Bovies the lead, but Capt. Finley always choked the threat.

The visitors tried one-handed shots and fast crisps in the second period to boost their total to sixteen, while Cordill continued to dominate Big Spring's scoring with another short field goal and a series of passes to make the count exactly five points, Big Spring still far to the rear.

But the third quarter proved a bit more interesting to fans. Before the Beauties could catch their breath, Sam Flowers, Cordill and Fitzgerald had tallied, putting the Steers within four points of the lead, but the barnstormers thought that a little too close for comfort so they asked to it that they had a six point lead when the count exactly five points, Big Spring still far to the rear.

Three carloads of special scenery and lighting equipment comprised the spectacular production, which still retains its original Broadway cast, except for the roles of "Noah" and "Gabriel", in which substitution was rendered necessary through death, during the four-year history of the play.

Richard B. Harrison, 70-year-old Canadian-born Negro, who rocketed to brilliant stardom in the theatrical constellation, heads the huge company, and never has missed a performance. Recently he marked up his 1500th.

Included in the presentation is the famed Hail Johnson "Heavenly Choir", rendering stirring spirituals throughout the eighteen scenes of the play.

"The Green Pastures" presents the amusing ideas and beliefs of the simple black man on the planations of the deep South, where the untutored but devout Christians think of Heaven in terms of a happy, ten-cent "negro" and a big box of thunderbolts which "de Lawd" keeps handy to hurl at the wicked of the Earth. The old Testament stories are presented in amusing but reverent scenes, which run the whole gamut of Biblical history, from the Creation to the thrilling defense of Jerusalem.

Comedy, music, drama and spectacle abound in this play. The curtain rises at 8:15 Monday night.

Work on the pavilion topping the northeast point of Scenic Mountain state park is progressing rapidly. Monday vacation for foundations of the concessions building will start.

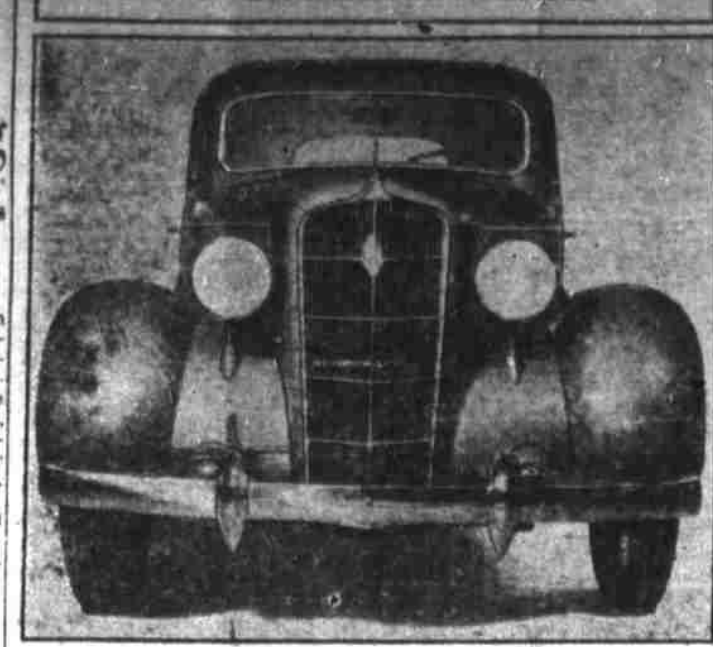

Construction of a septic tank and latrine is due to begin Monday also. Building of several picnic units has already got underway.

Thompson R. Richardson, park superintendent, said that approval has been gained and appropriation made for erection of a wolf proof fence around the park property.

Steady headway is being made on the drive around the mountain, particularly along the rock rim on the north side and the descending drive. The latter is to be one of the most beautiful sections of the park when it is completed.

Camp officials said they were still anxious to receive trees and shrubbery from citizens. Persons having plants to give are requested to telephone the camp and workers will call for them.

"The Green Pastures" Cast Travels On Special Train; Arrives Here Sunday; Show Monday Night

RICHARD B. HARRISON

Traveling on a special railroad train, "de Lawd", "Ol' Brudder Noah", "Adam and Eve", "Moses", "Gabriel" and numerous other Biblical characters arrived in Big Spring Sunday.

They are members of the huge cast of "The Green Pastures", celebrated Pulitzer Prize play, which is being presented at Municipal Auditorium Monday night, January 7.

Three carloads of special scenery and lighting equipment comprised the spectacular production, which still retains its original Broadway cast, except for the roles of "Noah" and "Gabriel", in which substitution was rendered necessary through death, during the four-year history of the play.

Howard Co. Game Chapter Meets Friday

Howard county chapter of the State Game and Fish Protective association declared in favor of best eradication Friday evening and took steps to carry its declaration into practice.

Two delegates to the state convention in Waco January 13-14 were elected. At that time it is anticipated that the state will be divided into either two or four districts and Big Spring will likely become headquarters for the entire West Texas territory.

B. J. McDaniel, president, appointed a committee to confer with the county commissioners court to discuss the possibility of placing a bounty on ravens, rabbits and coyotes. This is asked in a petition being circulated by Earl Brownrigg. The organization voted Brownrigg commendations for his efforts.

Construction of several crow traps was authorized by the membership. The traps are of a type which has been tried and been proven very successful. They will be located at different places in the county.

Tentative plans for a live crow shoot were discussed. After the crows and ravens have been trapped, they will be placed in a wire cage and released one at a time. The hunter who fails to get his bird with two shots will have to pay a 25-cent fee. The crow evading his marksmen will become target of all shooters and will follow the fate of his mates.

Returning to San Angelo after attending the funeral here Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Jennie Bryson, Mrs. L. C. Richey, Marathon, Texas, Mrs. C. E. Mays, San Angelo and Mrs. Norman Girdwood, of Fort Worth, received scalp lacerations and body cuts and bruises when the car in which they were riding overturned twice on the Big Spring-San Angelo highway eight miles south of Big Spring Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock.

A passing motorist picked up the injured and was bringing them to Big Spring for medical aid when an Eberley ambulance met the car and took the injured to Big Spring hospital, where medical aid was given.

They are not seriously hurt, but remained in the hospital Saturday night. Mr. Girdwood, who was driving the car, reported that one of the tires blew out, causing the car to leave the road and overturn.

Nice Shower Is Given For Mrs. C. Reid
A. M. Collins Buried Friday At Midland

Unique Method Of Awarding Gifts To Honoree Is Used

Mrs. Cecil Reid, formerly Miss Lillian Crawford, was complimented by a pretty shower given in her honor Friday evening at her apartment at 409 Main street. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Gene Acuff, Miss Josephine Tripp, assisted by two sisters of the honoree. Mrs. Roy Pearce and Mrs. F. W. Harding.

While Mrs. Reid was being entertained at dinner at the home of a friend the hostesses slipped into the apartment and prepared for the shower.

After a few games Mrs. Gibson rendered a negro dialect poem and Mrs. Angell gave three wishes for the bride. A mock dove in a nest was then brought in and presented to the honoree. The nest held eggs containing advice to the bride, the last of which directed her to the gifts.

When the gifts were opened and admired, refreshments carrying out the evening's color scheme of pink and white were passed. On the plates was a clever chariot salad formed of cubes. A small dove was the driver of the chariot and held pink ribbon reins that extended to the animal cookies which drew the vehicle.

Ruth Class Has Pretty Informal Tea

Teacher Is Hostess To Group For January
Session

Mrs. R. Reagan, teacher of the Ruth Sunday School class, was hostess to the class for its January business session Friday afternoon at her home. Mrs. Lee presided over the meeting.

Before the business was transacted, Mrs. Houser, social chairman, conducted a get-acquainted stunt.

At the refreshment hour the members were ushered into the dining room for tea. The table was spread with an embroidered cloth and held a centerpiece of white narcissus surrounded with leaves of evergreen. Tall brass candlesticks held red candles which furnished the light for the tables.

Mrs. W. W. Pendleton poured tea. Date loaf cake topped with whipped cream and mints were passed with the tea. Present were the following members: Mrs. R. E. Lee, M. W. Rainbolt, J. E. Brigham, Dee Davis, Ann Houser, Roy Case, W. W. Pendleton, W. W. McCormick, George Melhar, L. R. Kuykendall, Mrs. J. E. Brittingham was a visitor.

Big Spring Girl Heads Own Revue

One of Big Spring's home town girls who has gone out and made good is Mrs. Dena Dreeben Hunter. Many people recall Mrs. Dreeben's Millinery Shop and Dena, the talented musical daughter.

Mrs. Hunter visited Mrs. William Dehlinger recently while enroute to East Texas to fill engagements for her theatrical company, known as the Hunter-Erwin Revue.

She has had a varied career since leaving Big Spring High school which she attended in the years 1912-14. She was graduated in piano from T.C.U. and then formed her own orchestra in El Paso where she played for a number of years. During this time she grew interested in the pipe organ and studied it. She was organist in the Rosewin Theatre in Dallas and from there went to the Pacific Coast where she played in various theatres. When the talking pictures came in and organs went out, she specialized on the piano-acordion and began doing radio broadcasting over station XEAW in El Paso.

From there she went to night club entertaining where she was featured with her partner Jack Erwin in the unusual combination of violin and accordion.

Mrs. Hunter told Mrs. Dehlinger that she hoped the revue could arrange their booking so as to include a showing in Big Spring at some future date.

Overton H. D. Club Meets At Mrs. James

The Overton Home Demonstration club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. G. L. James. Miss Mayme Lou Parr, demonstration agent, and six members were present. An impressive installation service was held after which the newly installed officers took charge of the work for the coming year. New committees were appointed and will meet at the Overton home January 10 to fill out the new year book.

Miss Parr gave an interesting talk on planting shrubs and showed pictures of model homes with beautiful yards.

After the business session refreshments were served. Members are urged to be present at the next regular meeting which will be Thursday, January 17.

Conoco Again To Use Newspapers

Newspaper advertising will again form the backbone of Continental Oil company's 1935 sales promotion program, the largest in the history of the company, it was announced here by L. C. Loper, Conoco's local manager, who stated that The Daily Herald has been selected to carry Conoco advertising.

"Proof of the value of newspaper advertising, backed by quality products and outstanding service," said L. C. Loper, "is seen in the fact that our company during 1934 showed a gain of 65 per cent in the sale of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil as compared to the previous year."

"As a matter of fact, Conoco's gross sales in 1934 were better than for any year since 1929—a fact that leads us to believe that general business conditions are definitely on the upgrade. Of course, Continental Oil company hasn't just marked time, but has gone out after business, backed by a larger advertising program year after year. "This year marks the sixtieth anniversary of Continental Oil company, and we expect 1935 to be the best in our history."

Literary Sorority Studies Forgetting

Members of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Literary Sorority held an interesting program on the subject of learning and forgetting Friday evening. The club met at the home of Miss Roberta Gay with Miss Edith Gay, her cousin, as hostess.

The answer to roll call was accounting of embarrassing moments arising out of forgetfulness. The leading paper was prepared by Miss Marie Faubion on the subject, "Learning and Forgetting."

Mrs. C. A. Bickley was a guest. Members attending were: Misses Edith Hatchett, Marie Faubion, Roberta Gay, Elizabeth Owen, Mary Burns, Lellene Rogers, Mmes. Ruth Airhart, Ira Driver, W. J. McAdams, F. V. Gates, J. W. Maddy, L. C. Dahme.

The next meeting will be with Miss Faubion on January 18th.

Women's Golf Ass'n. To Hold Tournament

The regular meeting of the Woman's Golf association was held Friday afternoon at the Country club at which the women voted to start a ringer tournament beginning today (Sunday) and extending until April first.

The first six weeks will be played on the front nine and the last six weeks on the back nine. Three prizes will be awarded at the end of each tournament to the medalist, ringer and one showing greatest improvement.

All members are urged to enter the tournaments. Mrs. Harry Stalcup was winner of the trophy and round of play Friday when the members played after the business session.

Saturday

Two new models of the 1935 Chevrolet automobile were on display Saturday for the first time in the show room of the Carter Chevrolet company, local dealers. The models shown were the standard coach and standard coupe. Over 400 people attended the formal showing here Saturday, said Ben Carter, head of the company.

"We are expecting more cars to arrive some time during the week," Mr. Carter stated, who said the new cars were powered by the same important Master Chevrolet engine, giving great new performance with increased operating economy.

Oldsmobile Prices Out

Shroyer Motor Co., Local Agents, Announce
Price Range

List prices of the new Oldsmobile sizes and eight for 1935 were announced Saturday by Shroyer Motor company, 415-24 East Third street. The new six, according to Mr. Shroyer, continues in the low price field with a base list price at the factory of $675.00, even though the car is larger, more powerful, more economical, and incorporates all the most modern features. The new straight eight, leader in sales in the lower medium price field in 1934, has been reduced in price for 1935, its new base price at the factory being quoted at $880.00. The new eight, according to Mr. Shroyer, also has more size, power and economy, coupled with all the features which Oldsmobile engineers believe the public wants in 1935 cars.

Fourteen body types are being offered in the 1935 Oldsmobile line, seven in the six and an equal number in the straight eight.

Kills Biggest Turkey

HUHHICANE DECK, Mo. (UP)—The prize for bagging the largest wild turkey of the season goes to Miss Sylvia Chaudet, Jefferson City. She brought an 18-pound hen down at 40 feet with a 20-gauge shotgun.
