Coming Sunday

Summer activities

In anticipation of the "summer boredom syndrome" that usually occurs a few days after school is out, Sunday's Lifestyle sections will list some of the summer activities being offered for children this summer.

Prison camp

The Big Spring Federal Prison Camp is profiled in Sunday's Reporter-Telegram, including an overview of the camp and frank interviews with inmates and staff at the facility, formerly Webb Air Force Base.

Rig shortage

An excess of available well service rigs continues to plague that segment of the petroleum industry. But there are signs of shrinkage in the gap. Read about it in Sunday's Business section.

Twisters touch down near Lubbock

Associated Press

Twin tornadoes raked across a military housing community near Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock Friday night, destroying at least eight homes but causing no serious injuries, police said.

The twisters touched down west of Lubbock at about 6:20 CDT near Wolfforth, 7 miles southwest of Lubbock, and struck a mobile-home community called Country Haven, Lubbock County Sheriff's Capt. Anthony Vaughn said.

Six mobile homes were destroyed, and at least two permanent residences north of the mobile-home park were also flattened, he said.

Police were searching through the rubble to make sure no one was hurt, but they believe most people were able to escape in time, Vaughn said.

"There were actually two tornados. There was a lead tornado that appeared to wrap and unwrap itself," said Reese spokesman Bill Tynan, who added there were no injuries at the base or damage to Reese aircraft or facilities.

"It would drop to the ground, then move back into the clouds. There was a second, larger funnel, what appeared to be a larger funnel behind it that as far as I could see did not touch down."

After strafing about 12 miles of Lubbock County, one of the tornadoes pulled back into the clouds, but the other stayed on the ground and headed northeast toward the community of Shallowater, police said.

That twister had dissipated by 7 p.m.

Another tornado also touched down in the tiny town of Smyer, 15 miles west of Lubbock, and destroyed three mobile homes, police said. No injuries were reported.

The tornadic activity comes exactly a week after a twister flattened the West Texas town of Saragosa, more than 200 miles southwest of Lubbock. That storm killed 29 people and injured 162.

In other parts of the state, lightning struck an apartment building and several people were rescued from low-water crossings after a slow-moving storm sparked flash floods Friday, officials said.

Heavy street and highway flooding was reported in San Antonio, Austin and the Hill Country, where more than 8 inches of rain in the Bandera area forced the cancellation of the last day of school for about 1,300 students.

In San Antonio, lightning hit an apartment building about 8:15 a.m. Friday, but no one was injured, said Fire Department Spokesman Mike Klein.

Charles Lovett and his son Charles, were pulled from a low-water crossing on the city's northeast side about 8:30 a.m. by Al Schuck and Gene Redus.

Lovett was treated and released from Northeast Baptist Hospital, but the boy was listed in good condition after surgery for a lacerated knee, said a hospital spokeswoman who declined to give her name.

"The only thing I was worried about was that little boy. I wasn't worried about my own life," said Schuck, who had climbed onto the bed of Lovett's pickup truck. "I can't believe he tried to cross. The waster was 3-foot deep and it was rushing across."

A four-member Bexar County road crew putting up barricades at a low-water crossing had to be rescued about 8:30 a.m. Friday, said Sheriff's Deputy Sgt. Ed Olivares.

The men were not injured when the water rushed up on them at the crossing northwest of the city, Olivares said.

"It gets real bad out there," he said. "The water went up so quick that they didn't have a chance."

Storm causes flooding on local streets

By PATRICK CRIMMINS
Staff Writer

A stubborn late spring storm system that has hovered over West Texas for the last 10 days fueled more thunderstorms Friday evening in the Midland area, causing widespread street flooding and contributing to at least one major traffic accident.

The storms, which moved into the Permian Basin from the southwest about 6 p.m., caused dozens of streets to flood, stalling several vehicles.

Just after 8 p.m., a Midland woman was critically injured when she lost control of her vehicle on rain-slickened Loop 250. According to Midland police at the scene, the car was westbound on the loop when it jumped the curb, and smashed into three vehicles parked in front of Chili's Restaurant.

The vehicle then landed on its top, and the woman was thrown from the car.

Police said the slick road conditions probably contributed to the mishap.

A spokeswoman at Midland Memorial Hospital said late Friday the woman would be moved to the the critical care unit, and might have to undergo emergency surgery.

By 10 p.m. Friday, pea-sized hail and six-tenths of an inch of rain had been reported at Midland Regional Airport, and heavier amounts were reported in other areas, according to Don Oettinger with the National Weather Service.

About 7:20 p.m., a weather spotter reported quarter-size hail between Odessa and Goldsmith, with a possible wall cloud formation, said Bill Stone, dispatcher at the Midland County Sheriff's office.

Earlier, about 6:30 p.m., a funnel cloud was reported south of Stanton, near the intersection of State Highway 158 and State Highway 137, Stone said.

The Department of Public Safety reported no funnel cloud sightings or weather damage in the Midland area, according to a dispatcher.

Oettinger said flash flood warnings were in effect for much of the evening for Dawson and Borden counties, north of Midland. He said extremely heavy rain was reported in the Lamesa area.

Oettinger said the storms were caused by "the same system that has been with us for the last week and a half."

He said storms were possible again this afternoon, as the system, fueled by moist air from the Gulf of Mexico, continues to dominate West Texas.

Students come to aid of tornado victims

By JAMILAH OWENS
Staff Writer

A group of concerned students headed by Bob Cornell, a fifth grade math and science teacher at Midland's Emerson Elementary School, recently organized a project called "Kids to Kids" to help feed, clothe, provide shelter and amuse the children of Saragosa, a West Texas tornado-striken community.

Cornell's and the students' interest in organizing this project stemmed from their compassion for the victims of the tornado, especially the children, and the fact that an Emerson student, Pete Rodriguez, 10, had relatives who were victimized by the tornado.

Some of the donated money and items will go directly to the Rodriguez family's relatives in Saragosa and the remaining donated goods and money will benefit many of the other victims, Cornell said.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Rodriguez, although still in mourning after recently returning from funeral services for their Saragosa relatives, said that they were "very grateful" and "really touched" by the concern and generousity expressed by the students and Cornell.

"I cannot thank him (Cornell) and the students enough for what they are doing. This is great. My relatives will be very appreciative," Rodriguez said.

Many of the Emerson students, faculty members, parents, neighbors and friends have contributed generous amounts of food, clothing, toys, household items, and money to the cause, Cornell said.

The students at Emerson Elementary are very receptive and sensitive to the needs of the tornado-striken victims and did not mind sacrificing some of their personal time and energy to assist in organizing the donated goods for distribution, Cornell and students said.

"I'm glad that I'm helping the people (in Saragosa) because I know if we had a tornado here, they would help us. So that's why I'm helping," said Amber Middleton, who assisted in organizing "Kids to Kids."

Julie Lumpkin, another concerned fifth grader, expressed sentiments for the tornado-stricken victims. "I feel so bad for those people because they lost everything in the tornado and all I want to do is help them," she said.

Rejection of SSC appeal 'discourages' official

From Staff and Wire Reports

The rejection of the Garden City SSC Commission's appeal to be included among the state's nominated sites for Department of Energy consideration has a top official of the commission "discouraged that the state continues to miss the boat on the best geologic site."

Commission project manager G. Thane Akins said Friday night that the group's board of directors will meet Monday at 1 p.m. to evaluate the remaining alternatives — "abandoning the effort at this point or submitting an independent site."

Akins declined to speculate on the board's action. "We haven't sat down and discussed these options, so I don't know what the feeling may be."

Independent engineering studies by ICF Technologies of Washington, D.C., and Los Angeles-based DMJM Engineering are expected to be in hand Monday for consideration by the board, Akins said.

One use for those reports could be to decide how much additional investment might be needed to improve the application or to submit it as is, if the board opts to submit an independent proposal.

"It's possible to spend as much as you wanted to 'dress it up,' or because it is in DOE-required form, spend nothing additional on the proposal," he added. "Somewhere in-between would probably be the best course."

Bullock warns he could cut as much as $430 million from state spending

By STEVE LEVINE
Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday warned he could cut $430 million or more from his estimate of revenues lawmakers will have to spend when they return for a special budget session this summer.

Meanwhile, with just three days remaining in the regular session, a new House-Senate feud erupted over how far to extend the temporary sales tax increase passed in last summer's special sessions.

Bullock, whose forecasts officially guide state spending, pointed to two bills that could have saved $276 million by resolving two tax protest issues but apparently will die before the session ends. Congressional consideration of increases in gasoline, alcohol and tobacco taxes led Bullock to note the state could lose another $154 million in its taxes on those items because consumption declines with increased taxation.

Finally, Bullock hinted at another drop in state sales tax collections.

"It now appears that while our economy has hit bedrock, the recovery is slower in coming than expected," he wrote in a letter to state leaders. "We are gathering and analyzing new figures with each month's collections and expect to complete an assessment of possible damage in the very near future."

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby estimated the sales tax drop could total as much as half a billion dollars.

Clements, however, doubted whether sales tax collections would fall. "All the information I have is that while some of the tax receipts are down, others are up," he said, adding that Bullock's news in no way changes his opposition to a large special session tax increase.

Both Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis said they weren't surprised by Bullock's letter. "It means we're going to have to take that into consideration in any tax bill," Lewis said. "It was to be made up somewhere."

She was listed in critical condition late Friday at Midland Memorial Hospital, according to the MMH supervisor.

Parker threatens Lewis' higher education bill

By STEVE LEVINE
Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Sen. Carl Parker Friday night threatened to kill Speaker Gib Lewis' higher education reform bill if the House does not pass a bill he described as "just more important to Lamar University than anything else."

As the House reached its midnight deadline for consideration of new bills, Parker and Rep. Frank Collazo, both Port Arthur Democrats, failed to convince House Higher Education Committee Chairwoman Wilhelmina Delco to add the Lamar measure as an amendment to one of her other bills. Ms. Delco co-sponsored the higher education reform bill with Lewis.

"I don't put other people's bills on my bills," Ms. Delco snapped as she exited the House chamber.

"Well, maybe her bills die then," responded Parker, who passed Ms. Delco in the doorway.

The Lamar bill would allow the university's Orange and Port Arthur campuses to share in the state's $100 million a year college building and repair fund. It was one of the Parker bills that suffered a one-day delay earlier in the week at the hands of the House committee that schedules debate. The committee replaced it on the calendar the next day, but it was too far down the agenda for the House to reach before midnight Friday.

Parker said he would probably wait until Monday — the last day of the regular session — to decide whether to kill the Lewis/Delco bill, the product of 18 months of work by the Select Committee on Higher Education. He would not say how he would do that, but added: "If I attempt to kill it, it will die."

"Probably the mistake we made was not putting all of the important things in one bill," said Parker, who sponsored the reform bill in the Senate. "Maybe if — I'm just thinking out loud — maybe if nothing passed that they spent lots of money lobbying for, maybe we could get a better understanding with everybody about what they were backing and promising to pass and just put it all in one bill. Either all of it passes or nothing passes."

A summer special session is assured for consideration of the budget, and Parker said he believed education reforms.

Emerson Elementary students file in with donations of food, clothes, toys and money for the victims of the Saragosa tornado.

The Midland Red Cross and parents of the Emerson students are very proud of the childrens' efforts in helping people less fortunate than themselves.

Emerson parent Carol Hogue said that "the children kept up with the news and watched. They know what is going on...I'm proud of them because their hearts reach out just like big people and they're real sweeties."

"I like the youth to be involved-...because it inspires youth leadership... and a pen-pal motivated response," said Elvis Curb, manager of the Midland Red Cross. "I am touched by the children's response."

Based on current information from the Red Cross, most clothing and food are no longer an immediate need but cash is needed. "Therefore, it seems more fitting to hold a Saragosa yard sale for the donated items and deliver cash to the family of Pete Rodriguez," commented Cornell.

Cornell added that "the Saragosa yard sale will be held on Saturday (today) in the Emerson Elementary School Gym from 7 a.m. to noon."

The proceeds from the Saragosa yard sale along with 500 tennis balls will be delivered and distributed on June 9 or 10 by a group of Emerson students.

Cornell, also a tennis instructor, has collected the tennis balls to be distributed to elementary school children in Saragosa so they can play a new game invented by Cornell called Saragosa Ball 1 and 2.

Saragosa Ball was invented "in honor of the kids of Saragosa" to offer "pride in a game that will be uniquely their own," according to Cornell.

According to Emerson Principal Clyde Hobbs, "this was not a school-sponsored project. It was something he (Cornell) wanted to do as an individual. He asked permission to involve the school and was allowed to do so."

Tension grows as session ends

By JIM WARREN
Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — House members, scrambling to beat the clock, tried frantically Friday to push through legislation as they approached the final 72 hours of the legislative session.

Speaker Gib Lewis said the House would meet until midnight, when the 72-hour-rule that prohibits consideration of new bills takes effect. As the session nears its ends, hundreds of bills are dying from a lack of time. The tension between the House and Senate also grew, as senators charged that the House is sitting on their bills and House members returned the accusations.

Hundreds of bills and resolutions cleared the House Friday, most of them dealing with local issues. Major legislation that has not been voted out of the House by Friday probably will die until lawmakers meet again in a special session this summer. Scores of bills died because not enough time remained to consider all legislation on the lenghty House schedule.

— A major overhaul of the teacher career ladder died Friday night when Rep. Kent Grusendorf, R-Arlington, killed the legislation on a procedural point. The bill would have expanded the career ladder to librarians and other non-teachers and would place more cost on the local school districts. It also changed the way teachers are judged for the career ladder, which rewards good teachers with extra pay.

Rep. Bill Haley, chairman of the House Public Education Committee and sponsor of the bill, became angry after the legislation was shot down and refused to comment.

Charles Beard, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, also was angry, saying he didn't have "any printable thoughts."

Grusendorf said he wanted to protect the career ladder as it is and labeled Haley's bill as "a retreat from education reform" that would force local school districts to raise property taxes.

— The House approved a plan to make prospective teachers major in a subject other than education, in effect eliminating an education major in state schools. Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, chairwoman of the House Higher Education Committee, said college students should concentrate on the field in which they want to teach instead of taking education classes.

Ms. Delco said studies showed that education students were taking half their courses in "how-to-teach classes" instead of learning their specialty field. The bill passed 75-45 and faces a final House vote today.

— Despite strong lobbying from Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, the Senate's presiding officer, the House initially rejected a major portion of the lieutenant governor's "Build Texas" bond program for public works projects. The House sponsor, Democratic Rep. Mark Stiles of Beaumont, could garner only 91 votes for $400 million in general obligation bonds that, if approved by voters, would be used for local construction projects such as sewers and jails.

Concerned that the bond issue could burden the state with long-term debt, conservative members fought the measure, keeping it from gaining the necessary 100 votes needed for a proposed constitutional amendment. Stiles, however, said he could change at least nine votes by today to win passage of the bond package.

BULLOCK

When the regular session convened in January, Bullock's revenue estimate — combined with a state spending plan that maintained current services and boosted appropriations for prisons and universities — projected a $5.8 billion deficit for the 1988-1989 budget cycle. Struggling against Clements' pledge to veto any tax hike greater than $2.9 billion, lawmakers have been unable to write a balanced budget.

At Clements' urging, the House in March made permanent the temporary 5-cent gas tax increase and 1.125-percent sales tax hike passed last summer and scheduled to expire Aug. 31. The Senate agreed on the gas tax, and that bill went to the governor Friday.

Hoping to enact broader tax reform this summer, senators Wednesday extended the sales tax rate only to Dec. 1, discarding the House plan to make the 5.25-percent rate permanent. On a 51-92 vote, the House rejected that change, sending the bill to a conference committee.

"I'm going to take the amendment off," pledged House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Stan Schlueter, "...or the bill's dead."

Senate sponsor Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville, was equally adamant. "Let me tell you this," he said, "I'm not going to vote to take that amendment off."

Meanwhile the feud between Hobby and Clements intensified Friday, as the governor accused the Senate of "playing political shell games" with the sales tax. He called Hobby "obstinant" for advocating $6 billion in new taxes and rejected any consideration of meeting with him to work out a compromise.

Responded Hobby: "I welcome conversation with the governor at any time."

Judge denies change of venue

By FRANK TROMBLEY
Staff Writer

ODESSA — Denial of a change of venue means a 28-year-old man will face trial near the end of July on charges of aggravated assault of a peace officer and burglary in connection with the shooting last December of an Ector County deputy sheriff.

District Judge Bill McCoy Friday denied the motion filed by defense attorney Sandy Torres on behalf of Eliseo Ornelas Franco. Torres contended it would be difficult for Franco to get a fair trial in Odessa because of excessive publicity about the shooting of Deputy Gary Lewis in December 1986 and Franco's earlier trial March 4.

Earlier this week, Assistant District Attorney Dennis Cadra argued that with the number of registered voters in Ector County eligible to be called for jury duty, getting an impartial jury should be no problem.

The 358th District Court judge tentatively set Franco's trial for July 20 after expressing the belief Franco could get a fair trial in Ector County.

Franco was convicted March 4 in McCoy's court and sentenced to five years in prison after a jury found him guilty of deadly assault of a peace officer.

Lewis was shot in the right leg during a scuffle with Franco after going to a mobile home in West Odessa to serve a warrant on him.

The deputy continues on medical leave from the sheriff's department and is still undergoing physical therapy.

TORNADOES

San Antonio received 3½ inches of rain by noon, the U.S. National Weather Service said.

By that time, firefighters and paramedics responded to 31 rescues of people stranded in high water, said department spokeswoman Cecilia Stalsby.

Police officers had responded to 51 major accidents and 261 minor accidents by 2 p.m., said police spokeswoman Romana Lopez.

Bill Crouch, chief meteorolgoist at the U.S. National Weather Service in San Antonio, said the rains were caused by a slow-moving system moving across the state.

"We'll have some breaks in the rain, but looking at the entire system, we'll continue to have the threat of heavy rain (today) or Sunday. The system is moving very slowly. They're redeveloping along the Rio Grande."

Flash flood watches and warnings were posted for North and Central Texas and the Hill Country for Friday.

Austin received more than 6 inches of rain overnight.

"The most potent weather system in the country is sitting right here in south Central, South Texas," Crouch said.

DEATHS

Ralph Truitt

Graveside services for Ralph A. Truitt of Midland were held Friday in Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home. Services were conducted by Robert Morgan.

Truitt died at a local hospital Thursday evening.

He was born Aug. 10, 1900, in Ottawa, Kan., where he grew up. He retired from the Gulf Oil Company in the 1940s, and became a building contractor. He lived in Midland for the past 25 years.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge at Breckenridge.

Survivors include his wife, Norma, of Midland; two daughters, Jane Weckwerth of Midland and Pam Walker of Dallas; three sons, Michael Truitt, John Truitt, and Bill Truitt, all of Midland; a brother, Al Truitt of Towanta, Kan.; six grandchildren, and several nieces and nephews.

The family requests memorials be sent to the Midland Association for Retarded Citizens, 2701 N. A St., Midland, Texas, 79705.

Ida Farmer

Services for Mrs. Ida M. Farmer of Midland were conducted 3:30 p.m. Friday in the Ellis Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Earl Baugh and Ray Stringer officiating. Interment followed in Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Joe Bradley, David Bradley, Thurman Friday, Ray Stringer Jr., John Cavenaugh, and Clan Hancock.

Nona Hawkins

Services for Nona Kell Hawkins of Midland will be conducted in Salem, Ill., under the direction of Rankin Funeral Home. Ellis Funeral Home handled the local arrangements.

Mrs. Hawkins died at a local hospital Thursday evening.

She was born Nov. 8, 1890, in Marion County, Ill., the daughter of Samuel D. Kell and the former Julia Farthing. She was a native of Salem, Ill., and met and married Oscar L. Hawkins in 1915 in Salem.

Mrs. Hawkins served as a deputy clerk of Marion County, while her husband was the county clerk. Her husband died in 1962.

She had been a Midland resident since 1981.

She was a member of the First Christian Church in Salem, and a member of the Isaac Hull chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Salem.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Donald T. Keller of Midland; a brother, William J. Kell of Salem, Ill.; and three grandchildren. A son preceded her in death in 1938.

Jack Osborne

Services for Jack Osborne of Midland are scheduled for 11 a.m. Monday at Resthaven Mausoleum under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Osborne died at a local hospital Thursday evening.

In rejecting the appeals — which included the North Houston, El Paso, and Houston-Beaumont sites as well as Garden City — Edward Bingler, executive director of the Texas National Research Laboratory Commission said the appeals did not offer sufficient new information to change the decisions made earlier this month.

"The ratings were not substantially altered from the first review," Bingler said. "The merits of the sites are virtually unchanged."

Texas has nominated sites near Amarillo and Dallas-Fort Worth as Texas' entries in the $6 billion national derby for the high-energy physics lab.

Also, Gov. Bill Clements announced Friday he will travel to Washington Wednesday to participate in a briefing with the Texas congressional delegation on the project.

A member of Clements' staff said that Peter Flawn, chairman of the Texas National Research Laboratory Commission, will update the congressmen on the super collider project.

Spokesman: Store sale not final

From Staff Reports

There is still no offical agreement to sell the Handy Dan store in Midland, according to Bill Krenn, spokesman for Wickes Companies Inc.

Krenn said TV reports that a buyer for the Midland store had been located were premature.

He said that Wickes was still talking to several parties about the sale of the store and that it would probably be another week or two before a firm agreement was reached.

Krenn would not confirm that the store was being bought by local investors.

Wickes Cos Inc. announced May 10 that it would close a number of its home improvement centers in the Southwest, including Handy Dan locations in Midland, Odessa and Amarillo, and Allgood stores in Hobbs, N.M., Roswell, N.M., Santa Fe, N.M. and San Angelo.

Wickes acquired the stores from from W.R. Grace in 1986.

Police investigate two burlgaries

From Staff Reports

Midland police are investigating two burglaries that occurred Friday, and in both cases stereo equipment was stolen.

According to reports, an AM-FM cassette stereo valued at $200, and cassette tapes valued at $30 were stolen from a residence in the 3500 block of Neely Ave. Police said the burglary occurred between 9:30 a.m. and 12:10 p.m. Friday.

Police have a suspect in the burglary of a vehicle in the 1800 block of East Oak Avenue. Reports said an AM-FM cassette player valued at $375, an amplifier and a number of cassette tapes were reported stolen. The suspect in the case was described as a black male, 21 years old, 5 feet 11 inches tall, weighing approximately 185 pounds, with black hair and brown eyes.

Man remains in hospital after train hit truck

From Staff Reports

A Midland man remained in critical condition late Friday after the truck he was riding in was hit by a train late Thursday.

Gene McKinney, 1416 Ric Dr., suffered head and abdominal injuries in the mishap, according to a spokeswoman at Midland Memorial Hospital. Another occupant of the truck, David Cupp of Midland, suffered head and chest injuries, but was released from the hospital Friday, the spokeswoman said.

According to Department of Public Safety reports, the accident occurred at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, at a railroad crossing about five miles east of Midland, near the service road of U.S. Highway 80.

DPS reports said the truck was westbound on the service road when it turned onto the crossing, and was struck by a 57-car train. All warning signs and lights at the crossing were operating at the time of the accident, according to DPS reports.

MATTRESS FACTORY

Truckload Sale of fine BEDDING

Aladdin House Says...

The best way to judge a mattress is with a razor blade.

Let's face it. A mattress is a blind item.

All the important things that make a mattress good or bad are buried under the fancy cover, where you can't see them.

So what does the usual store salesman tell you to do to judge the quality of a mattress?

Sit on it. Which makes about as much sense as kicking an automobile tire to gauge the quality of a car.

What do you think will happen when you sit on the mattress? Will it explode? Will it cave in? Will it collapse, or pop a spring& Of course not. It's still new. The real test will come in a couple of years. And then it's too late, even when it comes with a "warranty".

Let us tell you something about mattress warranties.

You buy the mattress on sale for 50% off. (When was the last time you ever heard of anyone paying full retail price for a mattress?) Then six years pass, and the mattress poops out. You take the warranty into the store and they give you 50% credit on the FULL PRICE OF THE NEW MATTRESS. Which is the same as buying a new mattress on sale.

Some warranty!

Our EASTMAN HOUSE ROYAL CROWN Sleep Sets have a Non Prorated Warranty for 20 years – AMERICA'S BEST WARRANTY.

At our store we take a razor blade to the Sealy, Simmons, and Serta top-of-the-line mattresses. And to our own EASTMAN HOUSE ROYAL CROWN. So you can see what's going on inside. Our mattresses give you Coil-on-Coil support for balanced comfort.

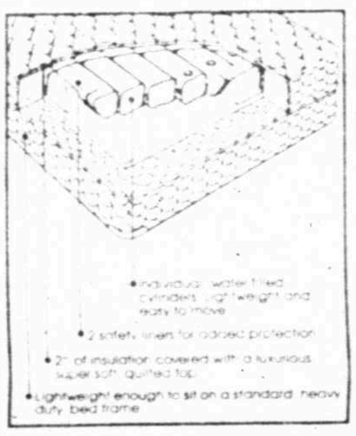
We give you more than 100 layers of rich, non-allergenic cotton cushioning. And the Royal Crown construction offers extra support through the center one third where your body needs it most.

Sealy doesn't give you this. Simmons doesn't. Serta doesn't.

Once you've seen the comparison, you'll see that there is no comparison.

We'll give you a better product, a better warranty, and a better value. So the next time you see a sale ad on mattresses, bring it in to us. WE'LL PROVE TO YOU THAT THE BEST WAY to judge a mattress set is with a razor blade!

The Mattress: A Somma Controlled Flotation System



It's Called Controlled Flotation Sleep. And it's quickly replacing the innerspring mattress.

QUEEN SIZE SETS START AT $499

A Somma looks like a conventional mattress. It's lightweight and easy to move. It required no troublesome heater. It comes in conventional mattress sizes. It uses standard bedding. It sits on a standard, heavy duty, bed frame. And the comfort level is unequalled by any other form of mattress available today.

A Somma's unique, patented design of individual water filled cylinders nearly assures a leak proof bed while completely eliminating wave motion. By filling the individual cylinders to an appropriate level one side of the bed can be firmer than the other. The quilted top, with two inches of insulation, provides a luxurious sleeping surface. Your body is supported without any "hard" spots, a wonderful, relaxed, tension free sleep is easily achieved.

Don't just look at a Somma Controlled Flotation System, lie down on one. You'll discover it's just like a bed, only better.

Somma.

Can't seem to get really comfortable on that bed of yours?

Try this bed of ours.

The SleepMagic Adjustable Bed gives you the right angle on comfort. Just press a button and move your head and feet to any position you choose. It sure beats pounding pilliows and rolling around trying to get settled. But you have no idea just how wonderful the SleepMagic Bed is until you try it here today or any day this week. You'll wonder where it's been all your life. But you'll know where you want it from now on, and that's in the most comfortable bedroom anywhere: YOURS!

Wildlifers hopeful of new Caribou herd

ORONO, Maine (AP) — Wildlife biologists watching two newborn Caribou calves expect more to arrive "fast and furious" in what they hope is the genesis of a new herd in Maine.

The fuzzy, cream-colored calves weighing up to 15 pounds each were born Tuesday at the University of Maine, where 22 adults captured on the Canadian island of Newfoundland have lived since December.

"It's a real nice feeling" to see the calves born, said Canadian big-game biologist Shane Mahoney, who headed a team that captured the 20 does and two stags.

The calves, whose legs are as long as their bodies, are being nursed by their mothers and occasionally nibble at vegetation in the five-acre enclosure.

"They're still quite spindly and wobbly in their legs," said university biologist Mark McCollough, who watched the births through binoculars from about 40 yards.

About 80 percent of the does probably mated during the fall, McCollough said, and as many as 13 more calves are expected to arrive in the next two weeks.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see them come fast and furious now," Rob Greenwood, a spokesman for the Newfoundland Wildlife Division said Wednesday.

The young ones are to be released into the northern Maine wilderness in 1989 in what will be the first attempt since 1963 to restore the woodland caribou, which disappeared from the state around the turn of the century because of overhunting.

This time, biologists chose animals from a non-migrating herd and are taking more time to pick safer release areas. They are also keeping a nursery herd at the university to breed more animals for release.

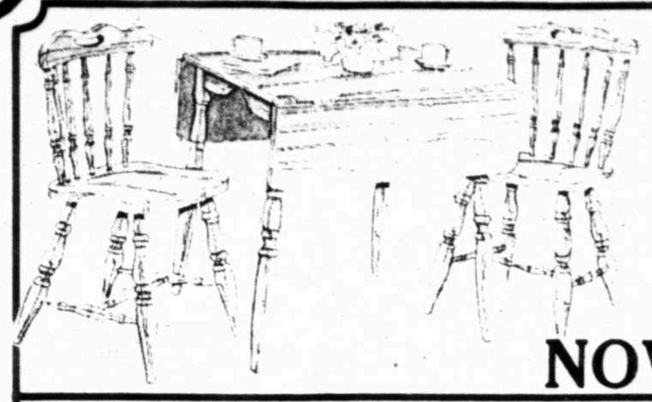
Maine has restored the moose, which had been nearly wiped in northern New England by the early 1900s, enough to allow a revival of moose hunting on a limited scale in 1982.

The new calves are expected to stay close to their mothers all summer, and will depend almost solely on their mothers' rich milk for nourishment for six weeks, said McCollough.

Biologists are feeding the nursery herd high-nutrient foods and drugs to ward off parasites.

Spectators are being kept at bay for fear they will excite the caribou and cause injuries.

The two stags in the herd have been separated from the rest because males in captivity have been known to attack and kill young calves. In the wild, the stags tend to wander away from birthing mothers.



Space saving with the warmth of wood. This compact Early American laminate top dining table is 30 x 26 inches with leaves down or 30 x 44 inches with the two side leaves up. The Mate's Chairs of hardwood with a rich maple (or warm pine) finish, features Early American turned back spindles, legs and stretchers. This grouping perfect for apartments or small kitchens - seats two or four comfortably.

Committee appointed in effort to find compromise on AT&T bill

By DAVID PLESA
Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

STATE

AUSTIN — The fate of AT&T Communication's deregulation efforts rests in the hands of a House-Senate conference committee, with the Senate Friday appointing three of five senators who had threatened to filibuster the bill.

The appointment of the conference committee, however, signifies movement toward a compromise on the bill and eases the threat of the Senate filibuster.

The committee consists of five senators and five representatives who are charged with ironing out significant differences between the House and Senate versions of the bill.

The House has passed a proposal that would allow AT&T to freely raise or lower its long-distance rates by 1989 without approval from state regulators. Senators opposed to deregulation, claiming that the company still controls the long-distance market, are seeking additional consumer safeguards and a provision that would base the level of AT&T's deregulation on a state study on the company's dominance in the market.

"(The conference committee) is a move toward trying to arrive at a compromise that would have the effect of keeping AT&T regulated until there was some official finding that some or part of their services were non-dominant," said Sen. Hugh Parmer, D-Fort Worth and member of the conference committee.

The five senators still threaten a filibuster if the bill does not emerge from committee with adequate consumer protections. A filibuster has an increasing chance of killing the measure as the Legislature approaches the end of the regular session on Monday.

In other action Friday, the Senate approved:

— a "right-to-know" bill that would allow agricultural workers access to information about hazardous chemicals and other materials in the workplace. The bill, already approved in the House, requires employers to keep amd make available accurate information about the hazardous materials being used.

— a measure that would extend the jurisdiction of campus security officers to streets and property adjacent to the campus. Recent litigation involving a Southeast Texas university concluded that campus police cannot exercise authority on city streets that run through or are adjacent to campus property. The House has passed the bill.

— the first step in Beaumont Rep. Mark Stiles' government reorganization plan in a bill merging the Amusement Machine Commission into the comptroller's office. A still-pending Stiles resolution directs a special committee to study various mergers, eliminations and consolidations of all state agencies.

Hunt testifies before grand jury investigating Iran-Contra affair

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas millionaire Nelson Bunker Hunt testified Friday before the special federal grand jury investigating the Iran-Contra affair.

Hunt donated at least $237,500 to a foundation run by Carl R. Channell to help arm the Nicaraguan rebels, according to records turned over to investigators.

Neither Hunt nor his attorney, Mark J. Zimmerman of Dallas, would talk about his testimony.

"I'm not here to give newspaper interviews," Hunt said outside the grand jury room.

Channell and a public relations executive, Richard Miller, have pleaded guilty to charges they conspired to illegally use the tax-exempt National Endowment for the Preservation of Liberty to arm the Contras.

Both Channell and Miller named Lt. Col. Oliver North, the former National Security Council aide, as a fellow conspirator.

Several associates of Channell and Miller also agreed to cooperate with Independent Counsel Lawrence E. Walsh's investigation of fund raising for the Contras, providing those associates were not charged in the case.

A man accompanied by attorney Elaine Lubin, who represents Channell, also testified before the grand jury on Friday. Neither the man nor the lawyer would say who he was.

Miller and Channell pleaded guilty to charges they conspired to defraud the government of taxes owed on contributions to the foundation.

Both men face possible sentences of five years and $250,000 fines. Their sentencings were postponed while the investigation continues.

Paraplegic has no memory of shootings

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Sixteen years after his physician father's shooting spree left him partially paralyzed, Marc Deadrick plans to graduate from high school and eventually enter medical school.

Deadrick was injured in May 1971 when his father, Dr. Lonnie Deadrick, went on a rampage, killing his wife, a 10-year-old son, a 6-year-old daughter and himself.

The younger Deadrick was only 8 months old at the time and a bullet severed his spine, paralyzing him from the waist down.

His sister, Joy, then 13, was shot in the neck, paralyzing her from the jaw down.

The 16-year-old Deadrick is hesitant to dwell on the tragedy and says he doesn't believe he has a handicap.

"I don't feel I've overcome something," said Deadrick, who is confined to a wheelchair.

"Ever since I was little, I've been in a wheelchair. If I'd been able to walk and then couldn't, it might have been different."

Deadrick an A-average student, will graduate Monday from Churchill High School.

He has been accepted at Dartmouth University in Hanover, N.H., the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Texas at Austin.

He has not decided where he will enroll, but plans to study liberal arts and then enter medical school.

"I'm interested in neurosurgery," Deadrick said. "It seems like it would be fun working on a brain. Or maybe I'll be a pathologist."

His father was commuting each weekend to Baylor Medical Center in Houston where he was studying psychiatry at the time of his death.

"I only know what I've been told," Deadrick said of the shooting spree. "I don't remember anything. I haven't even read the (newspaper) articles. I went to the library to look for them once, but I couldn't find them on microfilm."

Deadrick's maternal grandmother, Viola Edwards, said he had adjusted well.

"I remember wondering, 'How will he drive?'" asked Mrs. Edwards, who also was injured in the shooting spree. "But, he can do anything anyone else can do, except walk."

Deadrick said he takes the elevator at school and uses the ramps.

He participates in wheelchair sports, which has strengthened his upper body and improved his control.

Jurors find 'Twilight Zone' director innocent

Hearst News Service

LOS ANGELES — Film director John Landis was found innocent Friday of involuntary manslaughter charges that stemmed from the July 23, 1982, "Twilight Zone" helicopter crash in which actor Vic Morrow and two children were killed.

Also acquitted of the charges were co-defendants associate producer George Folsey Jr., unit production manager Dan Allingham, special effects coordinator Paul Stewart and pilot Dorcey Wingo.

Friday's verdict came at the conclusion of more than eight days of deliberation by the seven-man, five-woman jury that sat through the 8½ month trial.

Morrow, 53, and the two children, Myca Dinh Le, 7, and Renee Shinn Chen, 6, were killed when special effects explosions on the "Twilight Zone" movie set disabled a low-flying helicopter during filming of a Vietnam War scene, sending the aircraft plummeting to the ground on top of them.

Landis was accused of supervising the set in a reckless manner and for placing the children in an inherently dangerous situation.

Testimony in the trial began on Sept. 4, and a total of 90 people who took the witness stand gave the jury varying accounts of what happened on the set and of the events that led up to the crash.

Landis testified that it was his belief prior to the crash that the scene could be conducted safely.

Defense attorneys based a major portion of their case on the testimony of James Camomile, the special effects technician who set off the blasts that downed the chopper. Camomile, who spent three days on the witness stand, testified under defense cross-examination that he was not looking at the helicopter when he detonated the explosions.

Asked by Landis' principal attorney, James F. Neal, if it was his duty to abort the scene if he felt it was unsafe, Camomile testified, "Yes, it is."

In attempting to prove the prosecution theory that the scene was conducted in a reckless manner, Deputy District Attorney Lea Purwin D'Agostino portrayed Landis as a "tyrannical dictator," a "yeller and a screamer" who frantically pushed his crew to complete the film that was beginning to run behind its production schedule at a cost of more than $50,000 a day.

Center will treat victims of torture

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A stucco house near the University of Minnesota is now the official home of the United States' first torture treatment center.

The Minnesota Center for Torture Victims was dedicated Thursday by Gov. Rudy Perpich and university President Kenneth Keller.

"The work of this center can convey to the world Minnesota's spirit of compassion and can inspire other nations to emulate our concerns," the governor said.

Perpich hailed the center as "a place where people from around the world can be trained in order to return to their communities and treat victims there in the most supportive environment."

A non-profit corporation which operates the center leases the building that houses it from the university for $1 per year.

Making the building available to the torture center and doing research on torture victims is part of the larger role of a land-grant institution: Doing more than merely educating students, Keller said.

As part of the dedication ceremony on the front lawn, four Buddhist monks, wearing tunics and sandals, chanted a prayer.

The refugee monks, Chhean Yong and Noeun Yin of Cambodia and Thongtap Keohanam and Phou Chanthalangsy of Laos, then went inside and sprinkled holy water in the rooms.

Renee Pan of the Cambodian Buddhist Society said the blessing is important for refugees from Southeast Asia who might be treated at the center.

"The room has been cleared spiritually of evil spirits," she said. "When you treat people who believe in that they trust you."

PHILADELPHIA TODAY

Today's Pennsylvania Gazette ran the following advertisement:

"Just arrived from Cork, in the Ship May Flower, John Stillwell, master, a number of Fine healthy Redemptioners, Of both sexes, from twelve to twenty-four years of age, AMONG whom are to be disposed on reasonable terms. Apply to the Captain on board the ship, lying above Vine Street, or to RICHARD SOMERS OR JOHN WESCOTT."

CONFEDERATION TODAY

New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina and Mr. Dane of Massachusetts met at the Congress Hall.

Congressman William Blount wrote his brother John: "For some weeks past there have not been more than five states on the Floor of Congress and seven (a quorum) are not expected before the Convention rises."

CONVENTION TODAY

Roger Sherman, of Connecticut, took his seat.

The Convention "went into Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union."

Nathaniel Gorham of Massachusetts was elected to the chair.

After debate, the committee agreed "that a national government ought to be established consisting of a supreme Legislative, Executive and Judiciary," although New York was divided and Connecticut voted no. Discussion then turned to how many votes each state should have in Congress. After a number of motions got nowhere, Madison moved "that the equality of sufferage (that is, one for each state) established by the Articles of Confederation ought not to prevail." George Read (Del.) moved to postpone; the Delaware deputies were instructed not to approve such a change and, were it approved, might have to leave the Convention. Several members said that the Delaware delegates could stay in the Convention even if the motion were approved, but eventually Read's motion to postpone was agreed to and the committee rose.

DELEGATES TODAY

William Samuel Johnson visited James Duane, New York lawyer and former member of Congress, and the British consul, Sir John Temple.

George Washington dined with Samuel Vaughan. He drank tea and spent the evening at the home of John and Elizabeth Laurence. He also found time to write a long letter to Thomas Jefferson to promote Alexandria as a principal depot for the fur trade, to point out some errors in a French article on the Cincinnati, and to announce, somewhat apologetically, his presence at the Federal Convention.

Benjamin Franklin wrote his sister, Jane Mecom, to describe his new houses. Richard D. Spaight wrote from Philadelphia to John Gray Blount in Washington, N.C., asking Blount if he would remit additional cash if the governor approved it, since the Convention would last much longer than Spaight had thought when he left for it.

Charles Pinckney wrote from Philadelphia to Secretary of Congress Thomson that the boundary dispute between Georgia and and South Carolina was settled, and to ask Thomson to tell the judges Congress had appointed to settle the dispute that they weren't needed.

LOOKING BACK
A Letter to a Son

Connecticut delegate William Samuel Johnson, son of the famous theological and Episcopal clergyman Samuel Johnson, wrote today from New York to his son Samuel William.

"My Dear Son,

"I have only a moment's time to acknowledge the receipt of yr. favour of the 6th Inst. and to bless God for yr. health and prosperity. I arrived here last evening from Stratford, where thank God I left the Family all well, including Betzy and her son who are there upon a visit. I go on tomorrow morning to Philadelphia where delegates are assembling from all the States In the Union, except Rhode Island, in a special Convention for the purpose of reforming and strengthening our federal Government. An arduous work. Gen. Washington President and my colleagues from Connecticut are Mr. Sherman and Mr. Ellsworth.

"It is an affair of high and agitated expectation throughout the Continent, but what will be the issue of it no man can yet foresee. I am so pressed in point of time that I must leave everything else to Majr. Alden (deputy secretary of Congress, widower of Johnson's daughter Glorianna) who says he will write you particularly, and recommending you to the blessing and protection of Almighty God.

"I remain with the tenderest Love and compliments to all Friends.

"Yr. most affectionate Fathr and Friend"

Vietnam fails to agree to visit of U.S. envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of U.S. officials ended a round of talks in Hanoi on the issue of missing American servicemen but failed to reach agreement on a visit to Vietnam by a presidential envoy, the State Department said Friday.

The U.S. delegation, headed by National Security Council staff member Richard Childress, returned to Bangkok, Thailand on Thursday after three days of talks in the Vietnamese capital, said department spokesman Charles Redman.

The purpose of the talks was to examine the feasibility of a mission to Vietnam by retired Army Gen. John Vessey, appointed last fall by President Reagan to speed up stalled contacts with Vietnam on the MIA issue. The United States has listed some 2,500 servicemen as missing in action from the Vietnam War.

Vessey's mission has been set back by Vietnamese efforts to link the MIA talks to negotiations for improving overall ties between the two countries. The United States has rejected such linkage, describing the question of the missing as a separate matter that would have to be resolved before other subjects could be discussed.

Redman said the Vietnamese officials who met with the Childress delegation agreed "that the POW (prisoner of war) and MIA issue should be treated as a separate and humanitarian issue despite other differences between our two governments."

But he added that "while the meetings were useful, more work needs to be done to assure that adequate progress would be made on these humanitarian issues should General Vessey travel to Hanoi."

The agenda and framework for a possible Vessey visit were discussed and both sides agreed to report to their governments and stay in touch, Redman said.

Extended forecast

West Texas: Partly cloudy southwest and partly cloudy to cloudy elsewhere. Widely scattered thunderstorms east of mountains Monday increasing Tuesday spreading to all sections Wednesday. Cool nights and warm days. Highs ranging from upper 70s to upper 80s, lows mid 50s to near 70.

Rains continue to drench state

Associated Press

Showers and thunderstorms that dumped up to 5 inches of rain in some areas during a 24-hour period continued to saturate South and East Texas Friday, the National Weather Service said.

Low-water crossings in the Hill Country were flooded Friday, and heavy street and highway flooding was reported in San Antonio and Austin.

More than 8 inches of rain in the Bandera area forced the cancellation of the last day of school for about 1,300 students, while Austin received more than 6 inches of rain Thursday night and Friday morning.

A tornado knocked down power lines and trees when it touched down about 1:15 p.m. Friday in Hardin, about 50 miles northeast of Houston, Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman Jimmy Kirksey said.

Almost the entire state had overcast skies Friday, while the Panhandle and far West Texas had partly cloudy skies, the weather service said.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were forecast for North Texas through Sunday with mostly cloudy skies. Lows were to be in the mid- to upper 60s; highs in the mid-80s.

Occasional thunderstorms were likely in South Texas through Sunday. Thunderstorms were to be more numerous in the central and northwest regions with heavy rain and flooding possible. Lows should be in the 60s and 70s; highs should be in the mid-80s to lower 90s.

It was to be mostly fair in far West Texas through tonight but partly cloudy Sunday. Mostly cloudy skies were forecast east of the mountains this morning with widely scattered thunderstorms, turning partly cloudy this afternoon through Sunday with widely scattered mainly afternoon and evening thunderstorms.

NATION

Cities from Ohio to New York sweltered under temperatures in the 80s and 90s.

By noon, thunderstorms and showers were reported in southeastern Texas and western Louisiana; from northern Alabama to the western Carolinas; along the central Gulf Coast; and in east-central Ohio and western Pennsylvania. Rain and thunderstorms also extended across parts of South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Nebraska, Colorado, Utah and Idaho.

Golf-ball-size hail fell near Barnardsville, N.C., during the afternoon.

A servere thunderstorm watch was posted Friday for portions of New York State, Vermont and Massachusetts, and another watch was posted in South Dakota.

Angels open long home field stand

By TED BATTLES
Sports Editor

Midland's Angels return home 7 p.m. today to face San Antonio's Dodgers at Angels Stadium after a 4-6 Jackson-Little Rock swing through the Texas League division.

Midland slipped 4½ games behind in the Texas League East Division race, a race that will be decided in the next three weeks.

Against San Antonio, Midland will be playing a team that is 5½ games back, which, if Midland can get something going at Angels Stadium, is a plus.

First place Wichita, 28-21, and second place El Paso, 23-25, and two back, will be squaring off against one another, affording an opportunity for one of the lower clubs to gain some ground on somebody.

Manager Max Oliveras probably will send Chris Collins, 2-1, to the hill tonight. The 22-year-old righthander from Macon, Ga., went without decisions in his two road trip starts, games Midland lost at Jackson, 5-4, and Little Rock, 8-6. His last win was 3-2 over Arkansas at Angels Stadium.

While Midland returns from the East with a losing record, it was a trip that could have been a howling success.

Four of the defeats were by one run and another by two.

Three of the four vicitories were whitewash jobs, 5-0 and 1-0 at Jackson and Phil Venturino capping off the trip with a 4-0 four-hitter at Little Rock Thursday. Venturino also pitched nine innings of the 1-0 10 inning shutout against Jackson.

As a result, the righthander from Brooklyn has a string of 18 shutout innings going.

Vinicio Cedeno picked up a couple of more saves and now has eight.

The bullpen received an additional shot in the arm from lefthander Vance Lovelace, who saved a shutout for Mike Romanovsky at Jackson by coming in in the eighth with the bases loaded and fanning a batter. Then in the ninth inning, again with the bases loaded, he fanned the final batter.

That was his first save and Wednesday night the 6-5, 205-pounder from Tampa, Fla., a one-time No. 1 draft pick of the Los Angeles Dodgers, earned his first victory, beating Arkansas, 4-3, in relief.

HALO HOOPS—There weren't exactly any smoking bats on the road trip. Ty Van Burkleo was 9-for-30 with two doubles and two homers, but also suffered the embarrassment of striking out five times in one game. Rick Adams also was 9-for-30 with six RBI while Doug Jennings hit two road homers, one a 10th inning belt that decided a 1-0 game at Jackson. Midland is 5-3 against the Dodgers with two of the games at San Antonio rained out. First it was Captain Dynamite and now its Dynamite Lady and her Coffin of Death after the June 5 game. A pregame Little League clinic is scheduled for 4 p.m. to 5:15 p.m. June 7. All Permian Basin LLers are invited. General Admission tickets to the Texas League All-Star game at Angels Stadium are on sale, $2.50 adults, $1.50 senior citizens and youth 6-14.

Scott Rathburn/Reporter-Telegram

Midland first baseman Ty Van Burkleo is a strong part of the Angels' offense, hitting .322 on the year with 11 home runs. The Angels return to Midland tonight to start a 12-game home stand.

Chaps need help if hope to win crown

From Staff Reports

TYLER — Short of a minor miracle, the Midland College men will come up short in their bid to earn their first national title since 1978 when the National Junior College Athletic Association tennis tournament concludes today.

The Chaparrals, ranked No. 2 in the country before the tournament, will need a lot of help just to take the runner-up position, though after Friday's matches, they can finish no lower than third.

In the team race, North Greenville (S.C.) holds a slim lead over Anderson (S.C.), 33-32, with MC two behind with 31. North Greenville and Anderson both have five chances at points in the finals.

For the Chaparrals to claim a stake to the NJCAA title, they will have to win all three finals and pull for Tyler and McLennan to pull some upsets over the two South Carolina teams.

Just one of five remaining MC singles players advanced through the semifinals into today's finals while both remaining doubles squads survived the semis.

Freshman Giles Ameline carries the Chaparrals' only hope of a national singles crown after defeating Meenakshi Sundaram of McLennan, 6-3, 6-1, in No. 4 singles. The others, Jean Roussel, Eric Lingg, Herve Rousseau and Lars Nordmark were all eliminated. Lingg was dumped in embarrassing 6-0, 6-0 fashion.

The doubles pair of Johan Dysholm and Rousseau took an easy straight set win over a pair from Florida Junior College, while Ameline and Nordmark gutted out a three-setter with a duo from Tyler.

Today, Ameline will play Arturo Gomez of North Greenville, for the national title, while in doubles Dysholm and Rousseau will play Jenkins and Harden of Anderson, in the final at No. 2 doubles. Nordmark and Ameline will play Solano and Alvarez of N. Greenville in No. 3 doubles.

Team Totals: 1. North Greenville 33, Anderson, S.C. 32. 3. Midland College 31. 4. Tyler 27. Mclennan 25. Abraham Baldwin (Ga.) 22. Jefferson State (Ala.) 19. Florida Junior College 17.

Singles: No. 1-Willie Laban, Tyler, d. Jean Roussel, MC, 6-3, 7-6. No. 2-Agusto Solano, N. Greenville, d. Eric Lingg, MC, 6-0, 6-0. No. 4-Giles Ameline, MC, d. Meenakshi Sundaram, McLennan, 6-3, 6-1. No. 5-Tawn Harden, Anderson, d. Herve Rousseau, MC, 2-6, 6-4, 7-5. No. 6-Don VanRamHorst, McLennan, d. Lars Nordmark, 6-7, 6-4, 6-3.

Doubles: No. 2-Johan Dysholm-Rousseau, MC, d. Crowley-Kessler, FJC, 6-3, 6-3. No. 3-Nordmark-Ameline, MC, d. Ritchey-Olliestad, Tyler, 7-6, 6-7, 6-2.

Cards unload on Astros to claim 8-2 victory

Associated Press

ST. LOUIS — Tony Pena hit a bases-loaded triple and Willie McGee hit a two-run single to highlight a five-run seventh and four St. Louis pitchers combined on a four-hitter Friday night, leading the Cardinals to an 8-2 victory over Houston and snapping the Astros three-game winning streak.

Trailing 2-1 entering the sixth, Jack Clark and McGee hit consecutive doubles and Curt Ford followed with a run-scoring single off Aurelio Lopez, 2-1, to give St. Louis a 3-2 lead.

Joe Magrane allowed three hits over four innings, including Kevin Bass' second-inning solo homer, before Lee Tunnell, 2-0, held Houston scoreless over the fifth and sixth innings.

Ken Dayley gave up one hit in the seventh and was followed by Rick Horton, who pitched the final two innings.

Houston starter Mike Scott had allowed only four hits in five innings, striking out three and walking three before leaving with recurrence of previous back spasms.

Houston scored another run in the second after Bass homered.

Magrane walked Alan Ashby, who advanced to third on Chuck Jackson's double and scored on Scott's groundout.

Tommy Herr hit a one-out, RBI single in the fifth to pull St. Louis within 2-1.

The Cardinals announced during the game that Magrane, who left with soreness in his left elbow, would be placed on the National League's 15-day disabled list. A spokesman said Magrane's would be replaced by left-hander Greg Mathews, who was optioned on May 12 to Louisville of the American Association.

National League

Reds 13, Pirates 6

PITTSBURGH — Eric Davis drove in four runs on a homer, double and a single and Tracy Jones hit a two-run homer, leading Cincinnati to victory over Pittsburgh, the Pirates' fourth straight loss.

Davis' solo homer in the first off losing pitcher Bob Kipper, 3-5, was his 18th of the season, tying a National League record for most homers in April and May. The record was previously held by three others including Tony Perez of the Reds.

Cincinnati got 18 hits off three pitchers, while Guy Hoffman, 2-1, worked 2 2-3 innings in relief of Pat Pacillo for the victory.

Trailing 4-3 entering the second, Cincinnati scored three times when Nick Esasky walked, Dave Concepcion hit an RBI double and Jones hit his fifth homer of the season to left field. It was the 11th homer Kipper has allowed in 47 innings this season.

Braves 6, Cubs 5

ATLANTA — Pinch-hitter Gary Roenicke hit a run-scoring single after Albert Hall tripled to lead off the 12th inning to give Atlanta a victory over Chicago.

After Hall tripled off Ed Lynch 1-4, Rafael Ramirez popped out to second. Mike Mason came on to pitch to Ken Oberkfell but Braves Manager Chuck Tanner pinch hit Roenicke, who single off the left field wall.

Gene Garber, 6-3, pitched the final three innings for the victory.

Chicago took a 5-4 lead in the 11th when Gene Garber allowed a two-out, bases-loaded walk to Manny Trillo.

But Ozzie Virgil hit his 16th homer of the year with two-out in the bottom of the 11th to tie the game.

The Braves used two Chicago errors to tie the game at 4-4 in the eighth inning. Shawon Dunston's fielding error on Gerald Perry's grounder started the inning. After a single by Dale Murphy, Ken Griffey hit a grounder to first, where Trillo threw to second to force Murphy.

But Trillo couldn't field Dunston's return throw, allowing Perry to score.

The Cubs broke a 3-3 tie in the seventh when Dunston beat out an infield single, went to third on a single by Dave Martinez and scored when Ryne Sandberg grounded into a fielder's choice to shortstop.

The Braves tied it 3-3 in the fifth on Dion James' triple to right field and Ken Oberkfell's single.

Jerry Mumphrey gave the Cubs one-run leads twice — a bloop single over short in the first and a single to center in the fifth that scored Sandberg, who had doubled to start both innings.

Jody Davis hit his ninth home run of the year for the Cubs in the second.

Atlanta cut the lead to 2-1 in the second on Griffey's sixth homer of the year.

Rain beginning to make a mess of 5A playoffs

From Staff Reports

ABILENE — The inclement weather of the past week is beginning to wreak havoc with the Class 5A baseball playoff schedule.

District 4-5A champion Abilene Cooper holds a 1-0 edge in its best-of-three series with Denton and is slated to play two games, if necessary, today, weather permitting. Cooper is 28-2 and ranked second in the state. Denton is unranked.

But Lubbock Monterey, champion of District 3-5A, has already been forced into a one-game playoff situation with Duncanville today because of unplayable fields in Abilene.

The Plainsmen, 27-4 and ranked No. 8 in the state, are scheduled for a 1 p.m. game with unranked Duncanville at Hunter Field on the campus of Hardin-Simmons.

OSU wins; Ventura ups hitting streak to 57

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Pat Hope's streak was more modest than teammate Robin Ventura's, but it helped Oklahoma State win the opening game of the College World Series Friday.

Hope retired Arizona State's last 10 batters to complete a six-hitter, and Ventura extended his NCAA-record hitting streak to 57 games in Oklahoma State's 8-3 victory.

"It was just another game," said Hope, a sophomore right-hander. "It takes one or two innings to adjust to all the hoopla here, but it wasn't any different than any other game after a few innings."

Hope, 12-2, struck out eight, walked three and allowed only one earned run.

"He deserved much better," Oklahoma State Coach Gary Ward said. "He very easily could have thrown a shutout."

Ventura was retired his first two times up but said he wasn't worried about the hitting streak.

"There's no pressure," the sophomore third baseman said. "This team's good enough that if I don't get a hit, I'm not worried that we can't win."

Ventura extended the streak with a line-drive single in the Cowboys' three-run sixth inning. He added an RBI double in the seventh.

Third-ranked Oklahoma State, 57-11, advances to a winner's bracket game Monday. No. 6 Arizona State, 40-26, will play in a loser's bracket game Sunday.

The Cowboys took the lead for good with their sixth inning rally against Arizona State starter Linty Ingram, 10-5.

Brad Beanblossom led off with a home run to make the score 3-3. Ray Ortiz and Ventura followed with singles. Jim Ifland's sacrifice fly put the Cowboys ahead. Singles by Jimmy Barragan and Adam Smith and an error by shortstop Mike Benjamin scored another run.

Ventura, Beanblossom, Smith and Benny Castillo each had two hits and an RBI for the Cowboys.

All three Arizona State runs were scored by players who walked. John Finn had two RBI with infield hits.

Oklahoma State played without center fielder Anthony Blackmon, who was suspended for two games for dropping his pants and slapping his rear in response to racial taunts from fans at a game Monday.

CWS Playoffs

Louisiana St. 6, Florida St. 2

OMAHA, Neb. — Gregg Patterson won a pitching duel with Richie Lewis when Louisiana State scored five unearned runs in the 10th inning to beat Florida State.

Florida State's Barry Blackwell tied the game with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning when he pulled a 2-1 pitch over the left field fence for his 11th home run.

The homer kept Patterson, 10-2, from becoming the first pitcher to throw a complete game shutout in the College World Series since 1983. The junior left-hander gave up seven hits and no walks in 9 1-3 innings.

Reliever Barry Manuel got the final two outs for his ninth save.

Mike Papajohn drove in the winning run in the top of the 10th with a one-out squeeze bunt that scored Pete Bush. Andy Galy hit a two-run single one out later and Jack Voight added a two-run triple as LSU took advantage of errors by Richie Lewis and center fielder Ronald Lewis.

Richie Lewis, 15-3, gave up seven hits and struck out 12 to increase his career total to 507.

Louisiana State, 48-17, advances to a second-round game Monday against Oklahoma State, which beat Arizona State 8-3 Friday. Florida State, 54-17, plays Arizona State in a loser's bracket game Sunday.

Lendl, Evert breeze into fourth round

PARIS (AP) — Defending champions Ivan Lendl and Chris Evert were in top form Friday and breezed into the fourth round of the French Open tennis championships Friday with quick straight-set victories.

Martina Navratilova, the women's top seed, also won in straight sets.

Lendl won the admiration of a partisan center court crowd with a performance of almost flawless power tennis to beat Frenchman Thierry Tulasne 7-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Tulasne tested the world's No. 1 player at the start, opening up a 4-2 lead in the first set. But the expressionless Czechoslovak hit back in devastating style, winning the set on a tiebreaker and blitzing through the next two.

"Most of the time, the crowds have been against me here. But they appreciate it if someone fights hard and plays well," said Lendl, who had dropped a set in each of his previous two matches.

Evert, the No. 3 seed, found her timing and rhythm on her favorite No. 1 court as she whipped the Swiss-based Eva Krapl, 6-2, 6-0 in just 50 minutes, a change from the previous day when she struggled to eliminate Isabelle Demongeot.

"It's always good to get through a match without playing your best," Evert said. "It helps you for the next one and today I was a lot sharper.

"Early on in tournaments, I tend to play as well as I have to instead of going all out. Perhaps it's now time to raise the level of my game."

EVERT'S LONG-TIME rival, Navratilova, also played extremely well and crushed Austria's Petra Huber 6-1, 6-1 in 47 minutes.

Without a tournament victory this year, Navratilova's confidence was surprisingly high after Thursday's match in which she overcame erratic play to beat Adriana Villagran of Argentina in three sets.

"I hope this is a sign of things to come," Navratilova said.

For the second successive day, only one seed was toppled. Kathy Rinaldi, No. 10 in the women's draw, could not handle her French opponent, Nathalie Tauziat, and lost 6-1, 6-3.

Rinaldi's elimination brought to 13 the number of ousted seeds.

Women's seeds advancing to Round 4 with Evert and Navratilova were No. 5 Helena Sukova, No. 8 Claudia Kohde-Kilsch, No. 12 Katerina Maleeva, No. 14 Raffaela Reggi and No. 15 Sylvia Hanika.

Joining Lendl in the men's fourth round draw were No. 5 Miloslav Mecir, No. 10 Andres Gomez and No. 14 Martin Jaite.

Czechoslovakia's Sukova downed Natalia Zvereva of the Soviet Union, 6-1, 6-3 and has conceded only 10 games in three matches.

Canada's Carling Bassett served for the opening set at 5-3 against Kohde-Kilsch. But she lost her nerve at a critical time and lost 7-5, 6-3 to the tall West German.

Bulgaria's Maleeva beat Kate Gompert of the United States, 7-6, 6-1 and next meets Evert. Reggi downed Anne Minter of Australia 7-5, 6-2 and Hanika beat Italy's Laura Garrone 6-4, 6-3.

MECIR, AMONG the favorites to win his first Grand Slam title, posted his third successive straight-set victory, blasting fellow Czechoslovak Milan Srejber 6-1, 6-2, 6-1.

Gomez, of Ecuador, defeated American Jay Berger 5-7, 6-1, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4. Argentina's Jaite won a 24-point tiebreaker on his way to a 6-2, 3-6, 7-6, 6-0 success over Thomas Muster of Austria.

EVERT, TRYING to win the French title for the eighth time at age 32, was more positive and aggressive than at any time in the tournament.

The only time Evert looked sloppy was when she overhit two forehands and double-faulted to drop her serve while serving for the first set at 5-1.

But she broke back to win the set in the next game on the first of two set points.

In the second set, Evert moved into an even higher gear, dropping just nine points.

Navratilova was equally impressive against Huber, hitting the ball fluently.

Rangers wallop Royals

Parrish knocks in five in 15-5 win

Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Larry Parrish drove home five runs and Pete O'Brien scored five times Friday night in powering the Texas Rangers to a 16-5 rout of the Kansas City Royals.

Parrish hit a three-run homer and two singles and set a Texas team record with 33 RBI in May, surpassing the previous mark of 29 he shared with Jeff Burroughs. Parrish's seven May homers ties a club record.

O'Brien had a three-run homer, two singles and a pair of walks in setting a Rangers single-game record for runs scored. He also had four RBI.

Bo Jackson hit two solo homers and a double for Kansas City.

Charlie Hough, raising his career mark against Kansas City to 12-6, checked the Royals on seven hits in seven innings. The veteran knuckleballer, 5-1, struck out three and walked one. Mark Gubicza dropped to 3-5 and was chased in the five-run third inning.

Ruben Sierra also had three of the Rangers' 15 hits off five Kansas City pitchers as they snapped a four-game losing streak.

The Rangers jumped on Gubicza for three runs with two out in the first. Sierra and Pete Incaviglia singled, then O'Brien and Parrish followed with RBI singles before O'Brien scored on Gubicza's wild pitch.

Sierra singled to open the third and O'Brien walked. Parrish's single scored Sierra and Steve Buechele greeted reliever Dave Gumpert with an RBI single. After Jerry Browne's single scored Parrish, Oddibe McDowell lined a two-run double for an 8-2 lead.

Incaviglia and O'Brien singled with one out in the fourth and Parrish followed with his 11th home run over the center field fence.

Don Slaught's RBI double in the sixth made it 12-2.

Willie Wilson singled in the Kansas City first and eventually scored on Slaught's passed ball. In the second, Jackson doubled and later scored on a sacrifice fly by Jamie Quirk. Jackson hit solo homers in the seventh and ninth innings.

In the seventh, McDowell walked and later scored on Sierra's single. Then Bob Brower walked and O'Brien followed with his 10th home run.

Blue Jays 3, Angels 1

TORONTO — Dave Stieb scattered seven hits in seven innings and Tony Fernandez went 2-for-4 and scored twice as Toronto defeated California.

Stieb, 3-3, gave up a home run to Ruppert Jones on his first pitch of the game, but went on to win for the third time in four decision this month. He struck out four, walked one and set down 11 straight in one stretch.

Jeff Musselman relieved to start the eighth and got his second save.

Don Sutton, 2-5, took the loss, giving up 11 hits in eight innings. It was his first complete game since last July 4, when he beat Stieb and the Blue Jays in Toronto.

After Jones hit his third homer, Fernandez hit Sutton's first pitch of the game for a triple. Moseby then singled home Fernandez.

The Blue Jays took a 2-1 lead in the second when Jesse Barfield singled, took third on Fred McGriff's double and scored on a wild pitch.

Toronto made it 3-1 in the third on singles by Fernandez, Moseby and Rance Mulliniks.

Tigers 15, Twins 7

DETROIT — Tom Brookens hit a grand slam, Matt Nokes hit a three-run and Pat Sheridan and Alan Trammell also homered, powering Detroit past Minnesota for the Tigers' fifth straight victory.

Walt Terrell, 4-5, gave up three runs on four hits in eight innings as Detroit won for the 13th time in its last 15 games.

Mark Salas hit two homers and drove in five runs for Minnesota and Kent Hrbek and Gene Larkin also homered for the Twins.

Nokes hit his team-leading ninth homer in the first inning. In the third, Kirk Gibson tripled and continued home when shortstop Greg Gagne's relay hit in the head and caromed into the seats behind third base. One out later, Nokes walked and Sheridan hit his second homer into the upper deck in right field for a 6-0 lead against Les Straker, 2-2.

Mariners 7, Orioles 3

BALTIMORE — Mike Kingery hit a three-run pinch-homer and Rey Quinones added a solo shot as Seattle defeated Baltimore to snap the Orioles' six-game winning streak.

Dave Valle drove in two runs for the Mariners, who have won only 18 of 56 games in Baltimore. Lefthander Mark Langston, 6-4, gave up seven hits and struck out 10 in his fourth complete game.

The Orioles hit their 49th homer in 20 games, a solo shot by Cal Ripken Jr. that extended their major-league single-month record to 57 with two games remaining in May.

Kingery connected for his third homer in the seventh off rookie Mark Williamson, the third Baltimore pitcher of the inning, after the Orioles had pulled within 4-3.

Indians 9, Brewers 6

CLEVELAND — Pat Tabler drove home three runs with three hits, including a tie breaking single in the seventh inning as Cleveland sent the Milwaukee Brewers to their sixth straight loss.

Tabler, who doubled twice and raised his American League-leading total to 17, grounded an RBI single that broke a 6-6 tie in the seventh and knocked out Ted Higuera. Carmen Castillo followed with a run scoring single off reliever Chris Bosio.

Higuera, 4-5, yielded eight runs on 11 hits as the Brewers lost for the 18th time in 20 games. Higuera is 0-5 with a 6.59 earned run average in May after a 4-0 start in April.

Scott Bailes, 2-0, pitched three shutout innings of three-hit relief and ended Cleveland's four-game losing streak. The Indians have won only seven of their last 25 games.

Athletics 13, Yankees 5

NEW YORK — Jose Canseco triggered a four-run first inning with a two-run homer and Alfredo Griffin drove in four runs Friday night to help Oakland to a victory over New York.

Canseco's sixth homer of the season came off Dennis Rasmussen, 3-4, and scored Tony Phillips, who opened the first inning with a single. Oakland scored two more runs when Ron Cey doubled, Carney Lansford was intentionally walked and both scored on Mike Davis' triple.

Rasmussen has allowed 17 homers in 70 innings this season.

Curt Young, 6-3, the first of five Oakland pitchers, was the winner but allowed four of New York's five runs.

White Sox 8, Red Sox 6

CHICAGO — Pinch-hitter Jerry Hairston's three-run homer broke a seventh-inning tie and carried Chicago to a victory over Boston.

With the score 4-4, Ron Hassey doubled off Bob Stanley, 2-7, to open the seventh and pinch-runner Ron Karkovice took third as Jerry Royster grounded out. Ozzie Guillen, who had homered earlier, was given an intentional walk before Hairston homered. One out later, Daryl Boston hit a solo homer.

Hairston's homer was his first of the season and the first pinch-homer by the White Sox this year. Jim Winn, 2-1, working in relief of starter Floyd Bannister, was the winner.

Celtics, Pistons in one last battle

Associated Press

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The Detroit Pistons and Boston Celtics, like two leg-weary heavyweights, stagger back to Boston Garden for the deciding seventh game of the NBA Eastern Conference finals today.

The winner advances to the NBA finals against the Los Angeles Lakers next week.

The Pistons have never been in the league finals. They also have lost 17 straight games in Boston Garden.

Some blame that on the "Celtic Mystique" but Detroit guard Vinnie Johnson doesn't buy that.

"One of these times we're going to win in there. We're due," said Johnson, "We should have won Tuesday."

That was the night in Boston when the Celtics' Larry Bird stole an inbounds pass with five seconds remaining and fed it to Dennis Johnson for the winning basket.

"Sometimes good things happen if you work hard," Vinnie Johnson said. "I think we can win at the Garden. I don't think homecourt matters that much in playoffs because of the intensity.

"I'm pretty sure everybody will be a little nervous. Game 7 is do or die for both teams."

Johnson kept Detroit from dying Thursday night. His hot scoring touch helped the Pistons break open the game early in the fourth quarter and make the seventh game necessary.

The Celtics have experience on their side for the showdown. Boston has won the NBA championship 16 times, including last season.

THE CELTICS played Game 6 without center Robert Parish, who was sitting ut a suspension for slugging Detroit's Bill Laimbeer in Game 5, and without Coach K.C. Jones, who was attending his mother's funeral in California.

Both Parish and the coach will be back for Game 7.

NBA Playoffs

"We feel very good about our chances in the Garden," said Jim Rodgers, the assistant coach who directed the Celtics in Game 6. "We play confidently there. Detroit plays well there, too. It will probably be a very good basketball game."

As they generally do in big games, the Celtics are expected to get the ball to Bird as often as possible. Bird, who scored a game-high 35 points Thursday, is averaging 25.5 points per game for the series.

"Game 7 is a big game for me because I don't want to go home," Bird said. "We're going home and we'll have Robert back. Now it's for all the marbles. We're ready for it."

Parish is averaging 15.4 points and eight rebounds in the series despite a badly sprained ankle.

"We missed Robert a lot," said Danny Ainge, who missed the first two games with a sprained knee. "I think the Pistons were more confident with him not in there.

"Now it's one more game. We're going home. Either we win or we get out the fishing poles and golf clubs. I'm not ready for that."

The Celtics have appeared weary at times and ready for a vacation.

In Game 6, for example, the Pistons went to their bench for a speedy lineup — including Johnson — that ultimately proved the difference.

"We were getting back into it and we were working on the plays that got us here, but then, I think it was 2:06 or 2:05 left in the game, Vinnie Johnson tipped in his own shot," said Dennis Johnson. "We're still trying to figure out why Vinnie gets to hot against us.

"We're still trying to work on it and we'll figure it out hopefully on Saturday."

The game, scheduled to begin 2:30 p.m., will be televised by CBS.

Cavs' Harper earns Rookie honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland Cavaliers guard Ron Harper, the leading scorer among NBA first-year players with a 22.9 average, Friday was named winner of the Seagram Sports Award NBA Rookie of the Year.

The former Miami of Ohio standout was chosen by a computer which analyzes player statistics to rate individual performance.

Harper, the eighth player chosen in the NBA draft and Cleveland's second choice behind Brad Daugherty, led the Cavaliers in points scored (1,874), free throws made (386), assists (394), steals (209) and was second in blocks (84).

Howard needs sudden death for RHCC win

From Staff Reports

It took Glenda Howard an extra hole, but she was finally held on to her title in the Ranchland Hills Ladies Handicap Championship Friday.

Howard survived the sudden-death playoff with Donna Winborn, another former champion, in the first extra hole. Both women were tied with a net score of 200 after three days of play.

Hoch ties 18-hole record, sets new 36-hole mark

AP Laserphoto

Scott Hoch celebrates his second straight 64 in the Memorial Tournament in Dublin, Ohio.

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — Scott Hoch took over the record-setting role Friday, matching one tournament record and smashing another as he established a 4-stroke lead in the Memorial Tournament.

Hoch, who left his driver in his bag all day long, shot a second-round 64 that, for the second day in a row, tied the 18-hole scoring record for the Muirfield Village Golf Club course Jack Nicklaus designed and built.

The third 64 of the tournament was completed late in the day by defending champion Hal Sutton, who was seven shots back at 138.

Hoch's 36-hole total of 131 was 13 strokes under par on one of the more respected courses on the PGA Tour. It was three strokes better than the old record 134 set by Roger Maltbie in 1982.

Memorial Golf

The continued assault on the record book marked the fourth consecutive week that golf's touring pros, blessed with unusually good weather, have tied or broken tournament scoring records.

HOCH WON the Vardon Trophy for the low scoring average on the tour last year, but hasn't collected an American tournament title since 1982. He has been slowed by a series of ailments this season, including an injured thumb and shoulder, but did take the title to a Rolls Royce, valued at $118,000, for a hole in one at the Las Vegas Invitational four weeks ago.

The automobile hasn't been driven, Hoch said, and is sitting on the dealer's lot in Las Vegas while he attempts to sell it back to the dealer.

And why does he not want a Rolls?

"It doesn't fit in the drive-through window at Wendy's," responded Hoch.

Hoch, who called himself "a streak player," reeled off one string of four consecutive birdies, did not make a bogey and did not have a 5 on his card.

Curt Byrum, who set the first-round pace with another 64, could do no better than a 71 in the hot, humid weather and was second at the tournament halfway point at 135.

Tom Watson, Fred Wadsworth and Scott Simpson were tied for third at 136, 8 under par. Simpson and Wadsworth each had a 68.

WATSON, A five-time British Open champion attempting to fight his way out of three-year non-winning string, again used a birdie-eagle burst as the centerpiece for a round of 69.

Watson hit a sand wedge to eight feet for a birdie on the 14th and scored eagle-3 on the 15th for the second consecutive day, putting a 3-wood second shot on the green and holing a 25-foot putt.

Watson, 37, said his level of intensity and desire has diminished in "the last two or three years.

"The first 10 years I was on the tour, every tournament was like the U.S. Open. I don't get the same feeling every time I tee it up now.

"But I get it here, the feeling that this is something special."

Bradley moves into tie with Young at Corning

CORNING, N.Y. (AP) — Pat Bradley, enjoying her best tournament start of the year, tied Kathryn Young for the lead after two rounds of the $275,000 LPGA Corning Classic Friday.

Bradley, who started the day two strokes behind Young, sank six birdies in carding a 4-under-par 68 for a 36-hole total of 9-under 135.

"This is my best halfway point by far this year," said Bradley.

Young, seeking her first victory after nine years on the LPGA Tour, followed her 65 Thursday with a 2-under-par 70 to share the halfway lead with Bradley.

Dawn Coe and Robin Walton shared third place at 136, after shooting their second consecutive 68s.

Behind them were Rosie Jones, who started the day at 73 but tied the tournament record for low second round with a 64, defending champion Laurie Rinker and this year's leading money-winner, Jane Geddes. All are at 7-under-par 137.

After hearing that Jones jumped into contention with 10 birdies during her round, Bradley said none of the top contenders can afford to slack off during the final two rounds.

"Birdies are a must out there," she said. "People are making them like crazy and in order to win this tournament I've got to keep up the pace of that."

The 36-year-old Bradley, last year's leading money winner on the tour, was confident going into Saturday's third round.

"There's still a lot of work to be done, but a few more 67s and 68s and I wouldn't think I'd have a problem," she said.

Young again played well, but did not have the putting touch she displayed during the opening round.

"The difference between rounds was that I had 31 putts today and 26 yesterday," said the Portland, Ore., native, who has never finished higher than fourth in an LPGA event.

Like Bradley, Coe characterized her performance so far as "my best two-day start of the season."

She one-putted eight holes, including the par-5 second hole, which she eagled.

"The difference in my game this year is an increase in confidence on the greens," Coe said. "I've been hitting the ball close and making the birdie putts when I should. I haven't missed a birdie putt under 10 feet yet."

Walton sliced four strokes off par with a 32 on her front nine, including an eagle with a 120-yard second shot on the 336-yard 17th hole.

Rinker also had an eagle, on the fifth hole.

Non-winner leads seniors play

CASTLE ROCK, Colo. (AP) — Ben Smith, a non-winner in four seasons on the Senior Tour, shot a 5-under-par 67 Friday to take the first-round lead at the $250,000 Denver Champions of Golf.

Smith, 53, held a 1-stroke advantage over former NFL quarterback John Brodie and Bob Brue. Another shot back at 69 were Gay Brewer, Ken Still and Walt Zembriski.

Dale Douglass and Bob Charles were in a group at 70, while Gene Littler and Lee Elder fired 71s and defending champion Gary Player was at even-par 72.

Smith, who was in the auto-repair business in Grand Prairie, Texas, before turning pro at age 48, had tamed the treacherous TPC-Plum Creek course with eight birdies through 15 holes. But he ran into trouble at the 16th hole, hitting his drive into the water and taking a double bogey. He then three-putted for bogey at 17.

Sutton aces at Ranchland

From Staff Reports

Larry Sutton scored a hole-in-one on the 164-yard fourth hole at Ranchland Hills Country Club Friday.

Sutton was playing with Billy Carter, Charles Baker and Norman Reynolds.

Top heavyweights gather for twinbill

ED SCHUYLER JR.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Mike Tyson and three of his boxing elders will fight for all three pieces of the world heavyweight championship Saturday night.

The 20-year-old Tyson, the youngest ever to become a heavyweight champion, will put the World Boxing Council and World Boxing Association titles on the line against 29-year-old Pinklon Thomas.

"Twenty-nine, that's not old," said Thomas, a former WBC champion. "Larry Holmes was 28 when he won the title."

Twenty-eight is the age of Tony Tucker, who will try to win the vacant International Boxing Federation title in a match with 27-year-old James "Buster" Douglas.

Both fights at a 14,600-seat outdoor stadium at the Las Vegas Hilton will be televised by HBO.

The Tucker-Douglas bout, scheduled for 15 rounds, will start at about 9:10 p.m. The scheduled 12-round bout between Tyson and Thomas will begin between 9:50 p.m. and 10:30 p.m.

The winners of the two fights are scheduled to meet for the undisputed heavyweight championship at the Las Vegas Hilton Aug. 1.

Tyson is a 6-1 favorite to retain his titles.

Tyson, who has a 29-0 record, with 26 knockouts, weighed in Friday at 218¾ pounds. Thomas, 29-1-1, with 24 knockouts, weighed 217¾ pounds.

Tucker, who is 34-0, with 29 knockouts, weighed 222¼ pounds to 227¼ for Douglas, the IBF's No. 2 contender, who has a mark of 23-3-1, with 15 knockouts. Tucker is a 3½-1 favorite.

The Tyson-Thomas bout shapes up as an action fight, which probably won't go the distance.

Thomas has won three straight fights since losing the WBC title to Trevor Berbick on a 12-round decision here March 22. But he did not look impressive in scoring seventh-round knockouts over William Hosea here last Nov. 22 and over Danny Sutton here March 7.

The 6-3 Thomas has a 76½-inch reach to a 71-inch reach for Tyson, who is listed at 5-11½, but appears shorter. However, Tyson always gives away advantages in height and reach, but not in power and quickness.

So the question is can Thomas offset Tyson's power and aggressiveness with movement and his jab? His last two fights indicate he can't.

Tyson, who won the WBC title on a second-round knockout of Berbick here last Nov. 22, is still irritated about his dull 15-round decision over James "Bonecrusher" Smith, which gained him the WBA title here March 7. That fight was marred by Smith's holding tactics.

"He didn't try to win," Tyson complained. "This guy will try to win. He knows what he lost and he'll try to win it back."

Thomas vowed: "I'll go in there and fight Mike."

Tyson, of Catskill, N.Y., is getting $2.5 million, while Thomas, of Los Angeles, is getting $650,000.

Tucker, of Houston, is getting $360,000 to $175,000 for Douglas, of Columbus Ohio.

Dodgers release Madlock

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Third baseman Bill Madlock, who recently vented his frustrations over being benched by the Los Angeles Dodgers, was released Friday by the National League club.

The Dodgers requested waivers on Madlock, 36 for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release. Madlock, a four-time NL batting champion with the Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants, had been requesting to leave the Dodgers since last Sunday, when rookie third baseman Tracy Woodson made his third consecutive start in a game at New York.

"We made every effort to trade Bill Madlock as he requested last Sunday," said Fred Claire, the Dodgers' executive vice president. "We were unable to work out a trade involving Bill. We will fulfill our obligation under his contract and he will be free to negotiate with all clubs upon clearing waivers next Thursday."

Madlock was replaced on the Dodgers 24-man roster by right fielder Mike Marshall.

Madlock opened the season as the Dodgers starting third baseman. He played in two games before undergoing arthroscopic surgery on his right shoulder. He appeared in 21 games this season, batting .180 with three home runs and seven RBI.

Nelson wants to own part of Warriors

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Don Nelson, who resigned as head coach of the Milwaukee Bucks this week over differences with team owner Herb Kohl, is in the process of buying part-ownership in the Golden State Warriors, the Warriors announced Friday.

Sandy Frost, a spokeswoman for the NBA team, released the statement in Oakland. The announcement takes Nelson out of the running to replace Dick Motta as the Dallas Mavericks' head coach.

Warriors president Dan Finnane said he anticipated Nelson would be active in the organization, but added that Nelson's role would be clearly defined after team owner Jim Fitzgerald — former owner of the Bucks — returns June 4 from a trip to Ireland.

"We look forward with enthusiasm to Nelson's involvement with the organization and we will communicate further information on his role when more details are available," Finnane said.

Nelson, who also served as vice president of basketball operations of the Bucks, formally tendered his resignation Wednesday, calling himself "the saddest man in the state of Wisconsin."

The split between Nelson and Kohl had surfaced in the past few weeks and then intensified after the Bucks were eliminated from the NBA playoffs in a seven-game series with the Boston Celtics.

Nelson, who coached the Bucks for 11 years, had three years remaining on his contract with the Bucks, and the contract included a provision barring him from serving as coach or director of player personnel with any other NBA team if he were to leave the Milwaukee job.

Nelson had mentioned the possibility of becoming a general manager elsewhere, and he had received a job offer from Fitzgerald.

Nelson and Fitzgerald were close friends while Fitzgerald headed the Bucks organization before selling to Kohl two years ago.

The change from a family type of operation to a business organization was cited by Nelson in explaining his differences with the Bucks owner.

Mariners owner no longer wants to buy Padres

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle Mariners owner George Argyros reversed himself Friday, announcing that he will keep the American League team and is no longer was interested in buying the San Diego Padres.

Argyros told a news conference that he didn't want to spend several years trying to rebuild the Padres — as he has with the Mariners.

"Our decision was based solely on the issue of facing the rebuilding process for another five or six years, or however long it takes," said Argyros. "I really felt that having gone through that after purchasing the Mariners in 1981, due to my time restraints, that I really was not prepared for that."

Argyros, a wealthy Southern California land developer, announced on March 26 that he would sell the Mariners and buy the Padres. At that time, Argyros said he wanted to buy a major-league team closer to his home.

At a simultaneous news conference in San Diego Friday, Padres owner Joan Kroc said she was taking her team off the market for at least the remainder of the season and maybe longer.

"Sometimes things work out for the best," Argyros said. "This decision is no different than any other business transaction. That is, that someone's tendered or made an approach to some other company and for whatever reason the deal doesn't go through. Sometimes those are the very best deals."

Argyros had signed preliminary agreements to buy the Padres and had promised to try to sell the Mariners to a local buyer.

He said he and Mrs. Kroc made the decision to call off the talks two days ago.

"It was prudent to act now and not linger any further for both franchises," Argyros said.

Earlier this month, Argyros turned down a $37 million offer from Bruce Engel, a Portland, Ore., lawyer and lumber baron, to buy the Mariners.

Engel, 46, had said he wanted to buy a majority interest in the Mariners, provided there was significant minority participation from the Seattle business community.

Argyros bought the Mariners in 1981 from their original group of owners, including the late entertainer Danny Kaye, reportedly for about $13 million.

Twins are 'high-achievers'

ARANSAS PASS (AP) — Tom Mathisen never made less than an A, but he's graduating second in his class.

Mathisen's twin sister, Cherie, beat him out for valedictorian honors at Aransas Pass High School with a four-year average of 99.03, compared with her brother's 98.19.

"Everybody thinks we study a lot, but we really don't," Cherie said. "It just comes easy to us."

Tom agreed.

"I never really tried that hard," he said. "I always just wanted to do my best."

Cherie kidded her brother, "I always knew I'd finish ahead. I wouldn't let him beat me," she told the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

The twins, who graduate Friday, both sing in the school choir. Tom serves as class treasurer. Cherie is on the student council. Both like to water ski. Tom likes to hunt.

Cherie works after school as a checker at the H.E.B. food store her father manages in Aransas Pass. Tom has the same job at the H.E.B. store a few miles away in Ingleside. Both have been honored in their respective stores for being the fastest and most accurate checkers.

"They're pretty good kids," said the twins' father, Tom Mathisen Sr. "I think we got lucky."

The Mathisens moved from Kingsville six years ago and now live in a tree-shaded house they built on the outskirts of Aransas Pass, which sits on the east side of Corpus Christi Bay.

The twins share the house with their parents; their sister Latisha, 16; their cousin Sheida, 13; a dog named Polo; and several cats.

Despite the potential friction in a high-achieving, brother-sister relationship, the twins say the competition between them has been healthy, and probably helped them in school.

"Every time I take a test, I figure I better get all the answers right, because I know she will," Tom said. "I think there's a lot of competition between us."

Despite all the similarities, the twins said they excel in different areas. While both are good in math, Cherie said Tom can top her in science classes, and she beats him in English.

Their paths may take them in different directions in the fall. Cherie said she's thinking of attending Texas A&M or Del Mar, possibly to major in business and psychology. Tom said he's interested in marine biology, but is unsure whether he'll go to college.

"I thought about going to one of those real prestigious schools," Tom said, "but most people that go to those schools have a lot of money. I'm not sure I could fit in there."

Scriptures Selected by The American Bible Society

Each child is unique. Though he may look like his mother or act like his father, his particular combination of traits is unlike any other.

Each child needs to know this. He may not be as good an athlete as his brother or as good a student as his sister, but he should be appreciated for the good qualities he has, whatever they may be.

A child develops self-worth from many sources from parents, grandparents, and teachers. The church teaches him that he is important also, for Christ taught us that he loved each of us just as we are. Let your child know that God loves him—that he is unique and irreplaceable.

Tell him—There is no one like you.

Can A Man Be Truly Righteous? Isaiah Foretold The Day Would Come!

He was oppressed and He was afflicted, yet He never said a word. He was brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so He stood silent before the ones condemning Him. From prison and trial they led Him away to His death. But who among the people of that day realized it was their sins that He was dying for - that He was suffering their punishment? He was buried like a criminal in a rich man's grave; but He had done no wrong, and had never spoken an evil word.

Yes, it was the Lord's good plan that He should live again ... and because of what He has experienced, My righteous Servant shall make many to be counted righteous before God, for He shall bear all their sins.

No one is good - no one in all the world is innocent. No one has ever really followed God's paths, or even truly wanted to. Every one has turned away; all have gone wrong. No one anywhere has kept on doing what is right; not one. Their talk is foul like the stench from an open grave. Their tongues are loaded with lies. Their mouths are full of cursing and bitterness. Not one of them has any excuse; in fact, all the world stands hushed and guilty before Almighty God!

Now do you see it? No one can ever be made right in God's sight by doing what the law commands. For the more we know of God's laws, the clearer it becomes that we aren't obeying them. His laws serve only to make us see that we are sinners.

Yes, all have sinned; all fall short of God's glorious ideal; yet now God declares us "not guilty" of offending Him if we trust in Jesus Christ, who in His kindness freely takes away our sins.

Black Catholics want more influence in church

New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON — Fifteen hundred black Roman Catholic leaders gathered here this weekend to let the wider church know, through gospel singing, hand clapping and calls to action, that black traditions must become a more valued part of Catholic worship.

The delegates, taking part in the first National Black Catholic Congress since 1894, included the nation's 11 black bishops, many of the more than 300 black priests and 700 black nuns, and lay members from 110 of the nation's 184 dioceses. There are 1.3 million blacks in the American Catholic Church, which has over 50 million members.

At the meeting on the campus of Catholic University of America, the delegates talked about what it meant to be an African-rooted minority within a church whose traditions of music, homilies and authority are largely European.

Many spoke of the ambiguities of identity in an American church that is overwhelmingly white, in contrast to the all-black Protestant denominations to which most religious blacks belong.

The delegates also raised their voices in complaint.

They said the American Catholic Church must have more blacks leading dioceses. Of the 11 black bishops, 10 are auxiliary bishops; only Bishop Joseph L. Howze of Biloxi, Miss., heads his own diocese.

"We have to go out of our way to appoint a black bishop to state the church's catholicity," said James P. Lyke, Auxiliary Bishop of Cleveland. "Otherwise we remain uncredible."

The delegates also urged the church to fight harder to sustain aging Catholic schools in black neighborhoods; many are closing because they are expensive to maintain. Although inner-city Catholics schools are increasingly educating black Protestants, the delegates argued that the schools should remain open because, with their emphasis on discipline and basic skills, they are more effective than public schools.

The delegates said these schools had also proved to be the best means of attracting black converts to Catholcism.

But the delegates' most heartfelt appeal was the plea that the American Catholic Church affirm black culture and identity.

"Many people do not believe that blacks have anything to offer," said Diana L. Hayes, a lawyer who is studying for a doctorate in sacred theology at the University of Louvain in Belgium. "They see us as receiving, not giving. I see us as giving the gift of our music, our experience, the whole life struggle of people who were once slaves."

The delegates urged wider acceptance of black traditions of worship, including hymns borrowed from black Baptists and Methodists and the more emotional and physical styles of those congregations.

United Spiritual Singers will be performing at Holiday Inn

The United Spiritual Singers will be in concert 8 p.m. today at the Holiday Inn Country Villa.

The concert will include a performance of original songs which will be on the group's new release.

Members of the United Spiritual Singers are Curtis Butler, Laura Butler, Janice Butler, Otis Butler, Allen Hunt, Larry Lewis, Felisha Long, and Debra Sutton. They have appeared in concerts in Texas, Colorado, New Mexico and Louisiana.

The group is a contemporary gospel singing ministry begun in 1972 as a non-profit organization by Odell Niblett of Midland. Curtis Butler presently leads the group.

Though the group has performed at various functions in the Permian Basin, the concert is being held to "formally present the United Spiritual Singers to the West Texas area, in recognition of its recent recording venture," according to a spokesman for the group.

The concert is free and the Holiday Inn Country Villa is located at 4300 W. Hwy. 80.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

St. Mark's to officially welcome the Rev. Ball

Ball

Members of St. Mark's United Methodist Church, 1701 N. Main, will officially welcome their new pastor, the Rev. Earl E. Ball, and his wife, Wanda, June 7.

Ball's ministerial career, prior to coming to Midland, was spent in the El Paso vicinity of the New Mexico conference. It included four appointments in that city.

He received a bachelor of arts degree in religion from Eastern New Mexico University and graduated from Perkins School of Theology, SMU, with a master degree in theology in 1963. He was licensed to preach in 1950.

Ball is a veteran of the U.S. Army, having served in the 82nd Airborne.

All members of St. Mark's and their guest are invited to attend the 10 a.m. service. Immediately following the service, the church will host a lasagna luncheon.

Greenwood services busy

Sunday services at Greenwood United Methodist Church will include confirmation services, a landbreaking consecration service and groundbreaking ceremony.

Ten of the youth of the church, having completed a 13-week confirmation class, will be confirmed as full members during services at 9 a.m. A lunch to benefit the United Youth Fellowship of the church will be held in the Greenwood Elementary School Cafeteria at 11:30 a.m.

At 1 p.m., members will gather at the future site of the church's first building, Hwy. 307 (Cloverdale Road) and County Road 1110 South, for landbreaking consecration and groundbreaking ceremonies. According to the Rev. Dave Odom, pastor, the church should occupy its new facility around the first of September.

All interested parties are invited to the services, according to Odom.

'87 graduates honored

Two events are planned for Sunday at Midland Lutheran Church, 2711 Michigan, in recognition of the accomplishments of two groups of the church's young people. High school graduates of 1987 will be honored at the 8 a.m. service and at 11 a.m. a Confirmation service will be held.

The graduates that will be recognized are Tim Chistensen, John Eberly, Scott Johnston, Missy Liscum, David Solewin, John St.Germain, and Anne Wolle.

The group that will affirm their vows of Baptism and confess their faith in Christ includes Carlo Gast, Yvonne Koenig, Chris Lanning, Jeff Lanning, Jordan Reed, Libby Sanders, Matt Wallace, Jamie Whisler and Marikka Williams. They have completed two years of Bible study, Luther's Catechism, fellowship and Bible camp.

The sermon theme will be "The Total Picture," based on John 17:1-11.

Music will be presented by the Joyful Singers (children's choir) at the 8:00 a.m. service and the Chancel Choir will present "Promises of God" at 11:00 a.m. Herman Porsh will be the organist.

The public is invited to all services.

FCC to welcome guest

Davis

Gilbert D. Davis Jr., will be the guest minister during services June 14 at First Christian Church, 1301 W. Louisiana. He will speak at 8:30 a.m. and 10:45 a.m.

Davis has been director of Church Relations at Texas Christian University since August, 1971. He was minister of the Kings Highway Christian Church, Shreveport, La., for nine years. Prior to his ministry in Shreveport, he served in churches in Hereford and Galena Park in this state, and in Ayden, N.C., and Camden, Ark.

He received his bachelor of arts degree from Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, N.C. He has a bachelor of divinity degree from Brite Divinity School, and received his honorary degree, Doctor of Divinity, June 1, 1966, from TCU.

Group to aid Saragosa

The Midland Hispanic Ministerial Alliance will be sending a delegation of ministers and lay people on Monday to Saragosa with food, clothing, blankets, and money collected from among the member churches and the community.

Upon returning from an investigative trip, two Alliance ministers report that the residents of Saragosa especially need canned meats, blankets and money.

The delegation will serve a hot meal at noon Monday. They will work with the Roman Catholic priest from Balmorhea and the Salvation Army representatives to meet the immediate needs of the people, according to a spokesman of the group.

They will leave at 7:15 a.m. from La Gloria de Dios Church, 611 S. Terrell.

Anyone wishing to help with this effort or needing further information should call the Rev. Hector Gonzalez, 699-6353, or the Rev. Gilbert Cano, 685-1073.

Business women study Bible

The Businesswomen's Bible Study group will hold its monthly luncheon meeting noon, Wednesday, in the Civic Room of the Midland Hilton.

The cost is $6 per person. Reservations, made by calling 682-4780 or 683-8894, must be in by 4 p.m. Monday.

The guest speaker will be Mrs. Gene Hunter.

Church to mark 30 years

The Ranchland Heights Baptist Church, one block off Tower Road, will celebrate its 30th anniversary on June 14.

Following the morning service a dinner on the grounds will be served. Immediately afterward, at 2 p.m., there will be a special service in the sanctuary.

The guest speaker will be the Rev. Ross Payne, pastor of Cottonflat Baptist Church. Payne served as the first pastor of Ranchland Heighs Baptist Church.

The church was founded in 1957 and was then called Tower Baptist Church.

The Rev. D.G. "Rocky" Denton, current pastor, says the public and former members are invited to attend both the meal and the service.

'Science of Mind' studied

Science of Mind I will be taught by the Rev. Nina Douglas 7 p.m. Tuesday at 3213 Preston.

Ms. Douglas said the course is about "changing your life by changing your mind."

A love offering will be taken. For further information on the class, call 684-4230.

Group to hear missionary

United Methodist missionary Ray Hundley will speak June 1 at St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Lubbock. The event is a pre-conference fellowship dinner and worship hosted by the Northwest Texas Good News Renewal Group. Hundley's topic will be on the effects of liberation theology in South America.

The dinner will be at 5 p.m. and the individual cost is $7 for adults and $3 for children. The church is located on Mission Avenue and 44th Street in Lubbock.

In 1980, Hundley and his wife, Sharyn, began service in Columbia, specializing in youth ministry. During their second term, he served as an academic dean and professor of New Testament and theology at Biblical Seminary of Columbia.

He will return as field supervisor of Columbia for OMS. He holds two master's degrees and has authored books on liberation theology.

The dinner will conclude at 7 p.m., prior to the opening session of this year's Northwest Texas Conference for the United Methodist Church.

'The Bible' theme at VBS

The theme of this summer's Vacation Bible School at Southern Baptist churches is "The Bible, God's Treasure Book." Among local churches using that theme are Greenwood Baptist Church and Fannin Terrace Baptist Church.

Greenwood Baptist, located on Highway 307, next to Greenwood Elementary School, will hold Bible School June 1-5, 9 a.m. to noon each day. It is open to children ages two years through sixth grade.

The school will feature Bible study, mission stories, music, crafts and games, according to Jane Stalvey, director.

VBS at Fannin Terrace Baptist, 2800 Mogford, will be June 8-12, 9 a.m. to noon. Mary Pickett, director, says the school is open at their church for children who have completed kindergarten through sixth grade.

She says the week will feature puppet shows, snow cones, a picnic, and "lots of little surprises," in addition to Bible study and games.

Music Machine II presented

The Young Musicians Choir of Bellview Baptist Church will present the children's musical "The Music Machine, Part II" Sunday at 6:40 p.m.

"The Music Machine" is, according to a church spokesman, a musical adventure that teaches the attributes of love.

The Young Musicians Choir is comprised of boys and girls in the second through sixth grades. The choir presented Part I of the musical last fall.

The spokesman said, "The first part dealt with the fruits of the Spirit — which are love, peace, kindness, gentleness, goodness, patience, self-control, faith, and joy. The Music Machine, Part II deals with love for God, family, and self."

Soloists are Josh Aldrin, David Lovett, Tiffani Caraway, Kellie Caraway, Josh Stevenson, Brian McDonald, and Ronnie Adams.

When life's balance no longer is healthy
Like so many people, Carol successfully learned to juggle career, home and personal relationships. She also found the mounting stresses to be overwhelming. Office pressure and deadlines made her tense and irritable, and the weight of tending alone to many domestic matters brought on uncontrollable anxiety. Emotional balance was difficult and, at times, impossible.
Missing work on a regular basis, lack of concentration and errors caused her employer to question her judgment and ability. Her job was in jeopardy. Withdrawing from family and friends only enhanced Carol's feelings of hopelessness and rejection. She felt out of control.
If you or someone you love needs help, call us. We want to help people learn to cope with life and its problems. For more information, call (915) 563-1200.

SUNDAY, MAY 31, 1987

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Pursue several romances simultaneously in the year to come and you could get scorched. Business will require more of your time and attention in the fall. A money crisis will be over soon. Home life becomes less stressful. You have many admirers. A project launched now will produce dividends ahead of schedule. Look forward to a big breakthrough in about six months. Avoid risky business deals.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: Washington lawyer Edward Bennett Williams, actor Don Ameche, actor Clint Eastwood, actor Gregory Harrison, actress Brooke Shields, singer Johnny Paycheck, "Cagney and Lacey" star Sharon Gless, football's Joe Namath, Prince Rainier of Monaco, folksinger Peter Yarrow.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Others seek you out at social gatherings. You will have to make some choices. Male friends bring better balance to your life. A child may just need to know that you are there.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You need more time to yourself. Stop pushing yourself so hard seven days a week. Be honest with mate about your feelings. Halfway measures won't satisfy anyone. Make a total commitment.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Travel plans are in a state of flux. There could be major developments in your love life this weekend. Do not get in over your head. Your faith in someone may be tested.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A shift may occur in a special family relationship or friendship. A casual meeting could lead to exciting romance. Travel is on your mind, but you need to be knocking on doors Monday.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You are able to concentrate today while others go off in all directions. Some fun in the sun would be good for you. Put any worries to rest first. Review a financial strategy.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Develop your verbal and writing skills more fully and your income could rise substantially. A social get-together late this afternoon will lead to many happy times. Be your most charming.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): It behooves you to become more aware of the way you act in mixed company. Mate does not deserve to be embarrassed. Develop alternative travel arrangements in case the weather affects your plans.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You repay the generosity someone extended to you in the past. A parent is receptive to a child's suggestion. Be more open and a love relationship will grow stronger. Trust is a family treasure.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Keep some old traditions but also develop new ones for your family. You will find a way to accommodate a child's special desires. Try to handle more things on your own.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A telephone call will clarify a complex situation. Avoid behavior that will upset family members or friends. A distant relative suddenly wants to win your favor. Be wary. Ulterior motives are possible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Financial independence will improve a somewhat strained marital relationship. A short trip could also bring new understanding. A child's conversation is revealing. Do more listening and less talking. Love thrives on consideration.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A social encounter could start a new chapter in your life. Try to make your goals more realistic. New friends bring out the best in you. The truth helps you bridge a generation gap.

Thomas Jefferson plaster bust sells for $2.86 million

NEW YORK (AP) — A plaster bust of Thomas Jefferson, known to all Americans as the image on the back of a five-cent coin, sold Friday for considerably more — it brought a record $2.86 million, Christie's announced.

The sale to an anonymous buyer broke records for the highest price paid at auction for a portrait bust and for a piece of pre-20th century sculpture, according to a spokeswoman for the auction house, Robin Riley.

The value of the bust had been estimated at $400,000 to $600,000 before the sale. The gavel fell at $2.6 million, to which the auction house added the customary 10 percent buyer's premium.

Jefferson was U.S. minister to France from 1785 to 1787 when he became acquainted with sculptor Jean-Antoine Houdon and began frequenting his studio. Sometime during that period, he apparently sat for a portrait. The plaster bust that resulted was first exhibited at the Paris Salon of 1789.

The bust was later used as the model for a marble sculpture that now stands in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Three plaster replicas also were made.

The bust later served as a model for John Reich's Indian Peace Medal in 1801, and subsequently for the Jefferson nickel.

Neither the buyer nor the seller was identified.

According to Ms. Riley, the previous record for a portrait bust and for a work by Houdon was a white marble bust of Benjamin Franklin that sold for $310,000 in November 1975.

The former record for an auction sale of a pre-20th century sculpture was the $1.1 million paid in 1984 for a bronze horse by Adrian de Vries.

According to the Guinness Book of World Records, the highest price ever paid for a sculpture was the $3.9 million paid by private treaty by the J. Paul Getty Museum in Malibu, Calif., for a fourth-century bronze statue of a youth.

Ms. Riley said the highest price ever paid at auction was the $3.6 million paid at Christie's earlier this month for a female figure by Alberto Giacometti.

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Jean Nassau is not just another businessman, and his latest trip to Paris is not just another business trip.

The 30-year-old son of the Grand Duke of Luxembourg will marry in the next few days, said the palace Thursday without getting specific about the date.

He'll wed Helene Vestur, a French commoner, in Paris.

Nassau is one of five children of Grand Duke Jean and Grand Duchess Jopsephine Charlotte. He was fifth in line to the throne after his elder brother Prince Henri, 32, who has three sons.

He took the name Jean Nassau and last September renounced any claim to the throne of this tiny Grand Duchy wedged among Belgium, France and West Germany to concentrate on his career in business.

Neither he nor his wife will have a royal title.

NEW YORK (AP) — Linda Ellerbee has presided over the demise of many news shows and now she has another notch in her belt.

Ellerbee and Ray Gandolf, whose low-rated nostalgic news program "Our World" was canceled by ABC, signed off their last show Thursday night.

"Our World," which used commentary and film clips to examine various years in recent history, was scheduled against NBC's blockbuster comedy "The Cosby Show."

Ms. Ellerbee, whose biography "And So It Goes" was a best-seller, co-anchored the off-beat NBC News show "Overnight" until it was canceled in 1983. In her book she jested about the number of failed shows she worked on.

"By the way," she told viewers Thursday, "if you wonder whether this sort of thing gets easier with practice, it doesn't."

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (AP) — Singer-songwriter Chris Hillman, who pioneered the 1960s folk-rock sound as a founding member of The Byrds, is getting out of the studio and onto some back country roads with his new band.

"It beats selling shoes, as they say," Hillman told The Associated Press during a break Thursday night at Down Home, a popular club here.

The Desert Rose Band has a country sound with a bluegrass edge, and they've hit the road to promote their first album, called, for some reason, "Desert Rose."

Hillman said he enjoys live performance whether he's at Madison Square Garden or in the mountains of northeast Tennessee.

"The proof is on the stage," said Hillman, 42, who lives in Ventura, Calif. "Session work isn't any fun. That's like seven people painting the Mona Lisa and you painting the eyelash."

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A rally with patriotic speeches, a veterans parade and a concert starring Johnny Cash has been canceled because fewer than 100 people bought tickets, a promoter said Friday.

"Johnny is not coming, and the dignitaries have been contacted and asked to cancel all their flights," said Randy Mathenia, a spokesman for Show Time Productions Inc. of Jackson, Tenn.

The rally had been set for today at the Mud Island Amphitheater, which seats 5,000, but fewer than 100 tickets were sold at $12.50 a pop by Thursday afternoon.

"We didn't feel that 3,000 or 4,000 or 5,000 people would march up on the day of the concert," Mathenia said.

Promoters had originally planned a 10-city tour of flag-waving rallies and musical shows called the Johnny Cash Freedom Train, and the canceled concert was the main surviving event.

Mathenia said planned shows in Baltimore and Pittsburgh were in jeopardy.

DETROIT (AP) — Warren Coville's parents weren't wealthy but they managed to send him to college, and now the part owner of the Detroit Pistons wants to do the same for 78 fifth-graders.

Coville attended Roosevelt Elementary School in the 1930s, but nowadays most of the children end up dropping out of high school.

"We want to convey the message to go on to the class of '94," the year the fifth-graders would graduate from high school, said Coville, founder of Guardian Photo Inc. and part owner of the National Basketball Association franchise. The scholarships could be worth $330,000.

Coville, 62, modeled his efforts on a program by multimillionaire Eugene Lang, who offered scholarships to students at his old school in New York City.

"I just think that education is the main answer to leading a child away from the surroundings of dope and killings that are so much a part of an economically deprived group," Coville said.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The widow of slain civil rights leader Medgar Evers, unsuccessful in her April bid for a city council seat, has been appointed to the city's Board of Public Works.

Myrlie Evers was appointed Thursday by council president Pat Russell, who faces a run-off for a different council seat.

Storm triggers mudslides that kill at least 15 people

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A freak storm that covered city streets with as much as a foot of hail triggered mudslides that killed 15 people and injured at least 40 more, the Red Cross and police said Friday.

The one-hour storm, apparently marking the start to the rainy season that has been unusually late to arrive this year, hit impoverished northern neighborhoods of the city especially hard Thursday night.

"The fall of water was so strong that it forced earth down from the hills, carrying with it people, trees and cars," Red Cross spokesman Julio Martinez said.

Martinez said in a telephone interview the Red Cross counted nine dead, and police spokesman Kim Pinon said the city police Rescue Squad listed another six killed.

Police said that so-called "popular neighborhoods" that generally are marked by shanty-type housing on the northern hills of Del Chiquihuite and La Presa were the most affected by the storm.

An uncertain number of homes with flimsy roofs made of plywood or cardboard outside the mudslide area also were damaged by the storm.

More central neighborhoods, many of them still showing damages from the September 1985 devastating earthquake, also were listed among the most affected.

Martinez said city crews were working Friday to clean streets, remove rubble and unclog sewage lines.

He said those treated at city medical centers for the most part were suffering from minor injuries or shock.

The storm that came as a sudden downpour caused major traffic snarls in this metropolitan area of 18 million people, the largest in the world. Some traffic signals went out of order.

Turtle falls on head of passerby

HONG KONG (AP) — A man walking to work was beaned by a falling turtle, according to news reports Friday.

A fresh water turtle weighing more than two pounds struck 36-year-old Lui Wai-kwong on the head, brusing Lui's temple and badly injuring the turtle, the accounts said. The tortoise apparently plummeted from a high-rise residential building in this British colony's Wong Tai Sin district.

"I thought I was going to faint...I had to lean against the wall," Lui was quoted as saying by the English-language Hong Kong Standard. "I was suprised to find that it was a turtle. So were other passers-by.".

Lui was treated at a local hospital and released, the Standard reported.

It was not clear if the turtle fell or was thrown out a window.

Alliance ready to negotiate with NATO

BERLIN (AP) — Warsaw Pact officials said Friday the Soviet-led military alliance is ready to negotiate a deal with NATO limiting the armed strength of each side to the minimum required for secure defense.

Herbert Krolikowski, secretary general of the Warsaw Pact, also told a news conference it favors negotiations on battlefield nuclear weapons, which have a range of less than 300 miles, once missiles of medium and short range are eliminated from Europe.

A communique said the talks on battlefield weapons should be part of the proposed multilateral negotiations on reducing conventional forces, not handled separately.

But Krolikowski, who is also deputy East German foreign minister, avoided answering whether battlefield weapons talks should be part of any conventional forces negotiations.

Warsaw Pact nations concluded a two-day meeting Friday in East Berlin, the communist sector of the divided city.

Proposal of negotiations on battlefield, or tactical, weapons appeared to address West Germany's concern that it would bear the brunt of a nuclear attack if there is agreement on eliminatilng missiles of medium and short range.

In general, the meeting broke little new ground. The Soviet bloc alliance appeared to be biding its time until the West responds to Kremlin offers on getting rid of the missiles.

"They are really scraping the bottom of the barrel if they could only come up with a call for discussing military doctrines with NATO," a Western diplomat said privately.

According to Krolikowski, the NATO-Warsaw Pact talks could start this year in Warsaw or Brussels, headquarters of the Eastern and Western alliances respectively.

NATO and the Warsaw Pact should discuss strategies and commit themselves to defenses at the lowest possible level, he said, adding that they also could consider "inequalities" in weaponry and forces and ways to eliminate them. He gave no specifics.

"The basic principle should be not to have more forces and arms than are absolutely necessary for the defense and maintenance of peace," Krolikowski said.

Robin Stafford, a NATO spokesman, said in Brussels the proposals appeared to represent an acknowledgement of the Soviet bloc's numerical edge in conventional forces.

"The real problem remains Warsaw Pact conventional superiority," he said. "The Warsaw Pact proposals seem to recognize this in talking of disparities."

Stafford said NATO would have no immediate, detailed comment on the Warsaw Pact proposals because alliance officials had not yet received the full texts.

In what it called its military doctrine, issued later Friday, the Warsaw Pact portrayed itself as a defensive alliance seeking to keep military forces at the lowest possible level.

Krolikowski said: "We will never under any circumstances open hostilities, and we will never be the first to use nuclear weapons."

The communique also called for the abolition of the nuclear deterrence doctrine.

"The participants in the session ...call for a new way of thinking...for the abandonment of the concept of 'nuclear deterrence,' which supposes that nuclear weapons are the guarantee for the security of states," it said. "In a nuclear war, there can be no winners."

Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev left for home Friday after attending the Warsaw Pact, the state-run East German news agency ADN reported.

Gorbachev arrived in East Berlin on Wednesday after a three-day visit to Romania.

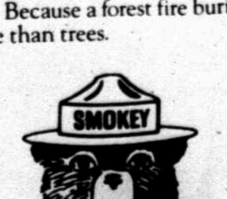
HOW THIS RAKE CAN SAVE YOUR LIFE.

This simple garden tool is a firefighter. It can help you clear away brush and leaves that act like kindling around your home. And you.

So if you live near the forest, do a little raking. And that's not all. Landscape your home with a fire retardant plant like ivy. Use spark arrester screens on your chimney and vents. And put fire retardant material on your roof and underneath your house where it is exposed.

Because a forest fire burns more than trees.



Remember.
Only you can prevent forest fires.

People remember Memorial Day Massacre

Ten workers killed in clash with police at steel mill

By SARAH NORDGREN

CHICAGO (AP) — Laughter and labor songs rang through the sunlit afternoon 50 years ago as men, women and children marched across the prairie grass toward the South Side steel mills.

"It was a beautiful day," remembered Mollie L. West, 71. "It wasn't hot, it was sunny and bright."

But the crackle of police gunfire turned the beauty to horror, she said, recalling how 10 unionists were killed and dozens wounded as survivors fled the bloody May 30, 1937, confrontation in panic.

"To me, it was one of the most terrifying and memorable experiences of my life," said Ms. West, who was in the field behind the slain men during the Memorial Day Massacre.

The rally was organized to support a strike that began when steel companies refused to recognize the union and sign collective bargaining agreements.

About 1,500 strikers, supporters and families marched to the gates of Republic Steel, protesting infringements on the right to picket.

"We were singing songs, special labor songs," said Ms. West, who attended with a group of supporters from the Jewish People's Institute. "It was a real holiday family-type atmosphere."

The crowd gathered several blocks from the plant at "Sam's Place," a dance hall and tavern that served as strike headquarters.

"Children were carrying American flags. It was just a very joyous occasion," said Carl Hirsch, 74, who was covering the rally for the Midwest Daily Record, a labor-supported publication.

A short distance from the plant gate, the path was blocked by a line of 200 police officers.

Hirsch, perched atop a nearby structure, described what happened next.

"The police and marchers came head to head. There was very little conversation between the two — the police captain and the march leader.

"But suddenly, what I saw was police with their guns out firing point-blank into the crowd. The people were just running, running away from the police as fast as they could.

"I myself saw police with nobody even near them, simply firing revolvers, small arms, into the crowd," Hirsch said.

Police firing squads chase striking Republic Steel employees near the south Chicago plant on May 30, 1937 after 1,500 strikers gathered near the plant for a Memorial Day picnic. Ten strikers were killed in the clash with about 200 police officers.

"It only lasted a few minutes.

"When the shooting was over, people stood up absolutely bewildered," said Ms. West.

"It was a bitter lesson for the workers."

Ten men, all strikers or sympathizers, were fatally shot in the back or side. Thirty others were wounded.

Sixty to 80 marchers were arrested. Most ultimately paid small fines on charges of unlawful assembly.

The dead were on the front lines of the "Little Steel" strike launched by the Committee of Industrial Organizations on May 26, 1937.

The strike ultimately failed and so, for the moment, did the CIO effort.

The issue was unionization, and the stage was set by the CIO's heady victory at U.S. Steel — "Big Steel" — in the early spring.

Organizers from the Steelworkers Organizing Committee turned their attention to the "little" steel mills, with Republic, Inland Steel and Bethlehem Steel at the top of the list.

From the start, things went badly for the estimated 1,100 union supporters among Republic's 2,200 workers at the South Side plant.

Company loyalists ate and slept inside the plant, making it difficult for strikers to shut it down.

Strike leaders tried to organize a picket line outside the gates, but police moved in for wholesale arrests, said William Bork, director of the labor education division of Roosevelt University.

Then came the Memorial Day rally.

In the aftermath, police maintained they were acting in self-defense. A coroner's jury agreed, ruling the deaths justifiable homicides.

But a congressional committee headed by Wisconsin's Sen. Robert M. La Follette Jr. found that the police action "was far in excess of that required by the occasion."

The walkout continued for several weeks, but a combination of bitter resistance by the steel owners and a downturn in the economy spelled defeat for the strikers.

It was not until the early 1940s that workers at Little Steel, with the help of the National Labor Relations Board and the U.S. Supreme Court, successfully were organized by what had become the Congress of Industrial Organizations, now part of the AFL-CIO.

Defection indicates communist regime 'failing'

By RICHARD COLE

MIAMI (AP) — Immigration officials and exile leaders, including Fidel Castro's sister, crowed Friday that the defection of a top Cuban military officer shows the island's communist regime may be "tumbling down like Humpty Dumpty."

A Cuban exile umbrella organization which encompasses 150 anti-Castro groups noted that even before Brig. Gen. Rafael del Pino Diaz's Thursday flight to Florida, a stream of refugees had been arriving by sea.

"It proves the failure of Communist insitutions," said Manuel Antonio de Varona, president of the Junta Patriotica Cubana and a pre-Castro prime minister. "This kind of attitude presages a collapse of the tyranny which oppresses the Cuban people."

"A lot of the young people say they don't give a hoot about the beard and the revolution," said Perry Rivkind, head of the local U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service office. "They care about bread and butter."

Del Pino told U.S. officials he was a deputy chief of staff at the Cuban Armed Forces Ministry, but a Cuban statement said he had been demoted and suspended as a combat pilot in January due to "successive states of psychic stress" and eye problems.

Juanita Castro, who fled Cuba in 1965, called the defection a serious blow to the Cuban government.

"The regime must be very worried," said Ms. Castro. "Cuba is going from bad to worse despite all their efforts, their promises and their propaganda."

"The regime must be very worried. Cuba is going from bad to worse despite all their efforts, their promises and their propaganda. (Del Pino's defection could be the first in a series by top officials and) signals the decomposition of the Castro regime."

— Juanita Castro, sister of Fidel Castro

"The whole system is tumbling down like Humpty Dumpty — who is going to put it back together?"

— Ramon Pedro Grau Alsinas, official during pre-Castro Cuba

She said she believed del Pino's defection could be the first in a series by top officials.

"It signals the decomposition of the Castro regime," said Ms. Castro.

Ramon Pedro Grau Alsinas, an agriculture minister in pre-Castro Cuba and nephew of a former president, called del Pino's defection "the beginning of the end."

"The whole system is tumbling down like Humpty Dumpty — who is going to put it back together?" asked Grau, who was imprisoned by Castro for 26 years until he was freed last year.

Rivkind said arriving Cuban refugees are reporting severe economic problems, rationing and shortages of basic commodities. At the same time the 28-year-old Castro government has been cracking down on farmer's markets and other free enterprise that helped alleviate the problems.

He said besides cases in which Cubans floated 90 miles across the Florida Straits on lashed-together inner tubes, about 400 other Cubans have risked imprisonment by using forged documents to enter Miami from third countries.

"Castro has to be humiliated to know that his people are willing to give up everything they have to get out of his 'paradise,'" said Rivkind.

The last mass emigration from Cuba took place in 1980, when 125,000 Cubans left in the so-called Mariel boatlift. Some of those who permitted to leave turned out to be criminals or mentally incompetent.

While most Cuban exiles were pleased about del Pino's defection, many had mixed emotions over the arrival of the man himself.

"This guy fought against us at the Bay of Pigs. He killed some of our people," said Pedro P. Rojas, a spokesman for Brigade 2506, veterans of the 1961 U.S.-backed invasion of Cuba.

"I think he'll have to be worried about the Cuban exiles (retaliating), especially the Bay of Pigs veterans," Rojas said.

Del Pino was a Cuban air force pilot who became a hero while defending the island during the Bay of Pigs, said Henrique Baloyra, associate dean of the graduate school of International Studies at the University of Miami.

Emilio Caballero, assistant general secretary of Alpha 66 anti-Castro group, said del Pino's disenchantment with Castro may be a symbol of more widespread dissatisfaction in the military, Caballero said.

"We know that there are several army officers in the same situation right now who are looking for an opportunity to do something or leave Cuba. We know that we are going to have several situations like this," he said.

Thatcher: Aid not requested

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher said Friday Britain has received no formal request from the United States for assistance in defending Persian Gulf shipping, but would consider cooperating if asked.

Senior U.S. government officials said Friday the United States was exploring military cooperation with its Western European allies and might also ask the Europeans and Japan to make a financial contribution toward defending the gulf's crucial oil lanes.

At a news conference as part of her campaign for re-election June 11, Mrs. Thatcher said: "Of course we would consider cooperation if those proposals are put to us. I am not aware of any proposals at the moment."

The U.S. Navy had seven warships operating in the gulf until the guided-missile frigate Stark was knocked out of action when hit by an Exocet missile fired by an Iraqi jet on May 17.

Neutral shipping in the gulf has come under repeated attacks by both Iraq and Iran, which have been at war since September 1980.

Britain has two frigates in the gulf and Mrs. Thatcher said their first duty was to protect British shipping. "It is vital that the shipping highway be kept open," she added.

Foreign Secretary Sir Geoffrey Howe, in an interview later on the British Broadcasting Corp., said the United States had not asked Britain for any assistance in the gulf.

"I think any change that might be suggested from the present arrangements would need the utmost care and careful consideration," he said.

Former Defense Secretary Denis Healey, on the campaign trail as the opposition Labor Party's spokesman on foreign affairs, described American policy in the gulf as "a dangerous shambles" and added: "It would be disastrous for any other country to get involved with the United States in the gulf until we know what American policy really is. It's been darting around in all directions in recent months."

President Reagan vowed Friday to keep the gulf open for shipping. U.S. administration sources, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the president had approved a "a concept of operations" in the gulf that probably would include adding at least three warships to the Navy task force now operating there.

American warships in the gulf are scheduled to protect 11 Kuwaiti oil tankers, which are to operate under the American flag, but the United States has not indicated when this will begin.

Tass says teen flew in via Estonia

MOSCOW (AP) — A West German teen-ager who hedgehopped a light plane through the vaunted Soviet air defense system from Finland right to the Kremlin entered Soviet air space through Estonia, Tass said Friday.

Matthias Rust, 19, even buzzed Lenin's tomb before landing in Red Square.

"He was a good flier and I thought his stunt was for a movie," said Mikhail Zhukov, 33, a free-lance artist who saw the plane land Thursday evening.

Tass, the official news agency, said: "The flight of the plane above Soviet territory was not cut short, and it landed in Moscow."

Its three-paragraph dispatch said "competent bodies" were investigating, but did not say if Rust was arrested or would face criminal charges.

Police took Rust away after he touched down in the vast cobblestoned square and signed a few autographs, and the plane was towed away later.

A Soviet witness said he had a woman companion who also was taken into custody, but Gregory Brown, a 28-year-old tourist from Des Moines, Iowa, disagreed.

"He came so close to me that I could clearly see into the plane, and there was just one person there," he said.

"It was no more than 10 feet above the ground, tops. People were ducking all over the place, thinking maybe the pilot was in trouble."

Zhukov, the artist, quoted Rust as saying: "I've flown in as a fighter for peace. I'm a fighter for peace."

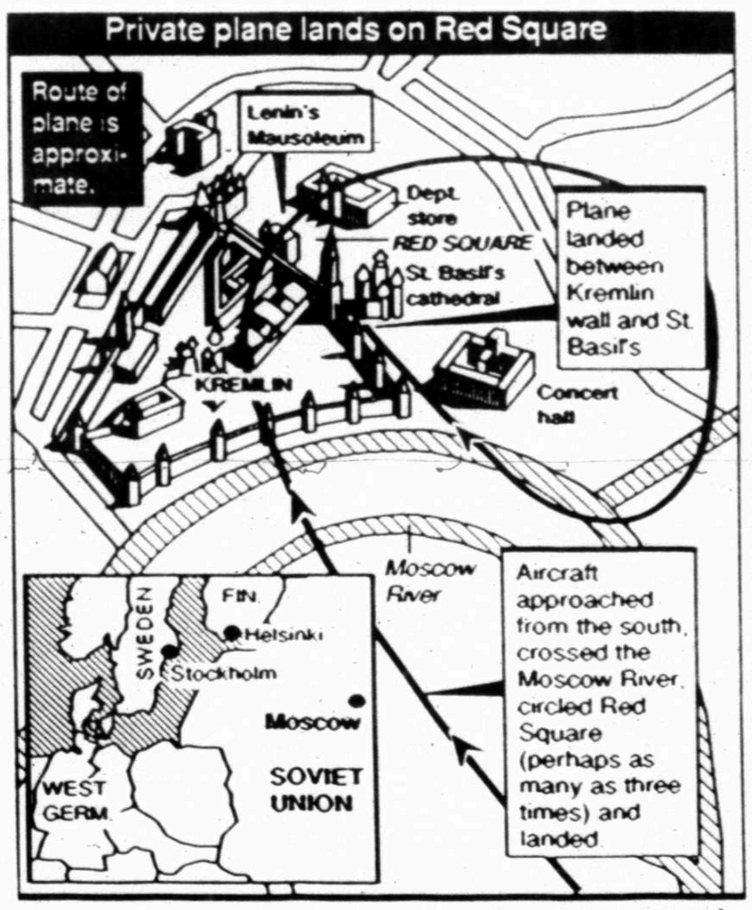
When the young, black-haired pilot climbed out of the plane in a red flight suit, Zhukov said, he told onlookers jet interceptors approached at the Soviet frontier but peeled off and allowed him to continue.

Tass said Rust came in from the Baltic near the Estonian coastal city of Kokhtla-Jarve about 90 miles southeast of Helsinki, Finland.

West German officials said Friday they were not able to learn what happened to Rust, who lives in Hamburg.

He apparently flew the single-engine plane about 550 miles from Helsinki, avoiding an air rescue search in Finland and Soviet defenses. It had been reported missing in Finland.

"It all amounts to an incredible feat of airmanship," a Western military attache said. He said Rust would have had to fly at less than 100 feet all the way to avoid detection.



Soviet air space is vigilantly guarded by sophisticated detection systems.

Jet fighters shot down a South Korean jetliner that intruded over Sakhalin Island in the Soviet Far East in September 1983, killing all 269 people aboard. The area around the Kremlin in central Moscow is known to be heavily defended.

Few aircraft of any kind fly over central Moscow and there are no known instances of a plane landing on Red Square.

Aviation and government officials in West Germany said Rust left West Germany on May 13 in a four-seat Cessna borrowed from his flying club.

His father, Karl-Heinz Rust, told West German television he doubted that Matthias had a political motive. "I can scarcely imagine that. I think that's his first trip over such a long distance."

Hamburg officials said they agreed. Transport department sources said Rust got his license last August and logged 25 hours of flying time since.

A Moscow witness said the plane flew in low from the south at about 7:30 p.m. Thursday, circled Red Square, swooped within about a yard of the hallowed mausoleum of Vladimir I. Lenin and alit near St. Basil's Cathedral.

It stood behind barricades early Friday at the south end of the huge square, where it rolled to a stop about 100 feet from the Kremlin wall.

Western journalists saw Soviet militiamen tow it away at about 4 a.m. No trace of the previous evening's spectacle remained by dawn.

A West German Embassy spokeswoman said "so far we have not been informed" about the pilot's fate. She insisted that her name not be used.

U.S. ambassador expects punishment in Pollard case

JERUSALEM (AP) — The U.S. ambassador said Friday that Washington expects Israel to punish those involved in the Pollard spy affair even though two investigating committees did not recommend action.

Thomas Pickering's statements were the first official U.S. reaction to the reports issued Tuesday by a government commission and a Parliament committee.

Both said Israeli leaders did not know about the recruitment of Jonathan Jay Pollard, a 32-year-old American Jew, to spy for Israel, but were responsible because they failed to supervise those directly involved in the operation. Neither included recommendations for action.

A U.S. federal court sentenced Pollard to life in prison in March for selling hundreds of classified U.S. military documents to Israel in 1984-1985 while he was a civilian intelligence analyst for the U.S. Navy. His wife, Anne Henderson-Pollard, was given five years for helping him.

Pickering said U.S. officials have reviewed the Israeli reports and "are still hoping for appropriate steps and actions with respect to the individuals involved."

"This issue continues in our view to have a long-term affect on U.S.-Israeli relations," he told a seminar on U.S.-Israeli relations at Hebrew University.

Israel's investigations were undertaken in response to a U.S. demand that those responsible for recruiting and operating Pollard be held to account.

The seven-member parliamentary subcommittee singled out Rafael Eitan, a veteran intelligence agent who operated Pollard, and Aviem Sella, an air force officer indicted in the United States on charges of recruiting the American.

Since Pollard's exposure in November 1985, Eitan has become head of Israel Chemical Co., Israel's largest state-owned company. Sella was named commander of the second-largest air base, but resigned in an attempt to placate Washington.
