AN ALIEN BILL IS SIGNED BY THE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, June 29.—President Roosevelt today signed legislation requiring the 3,500,000 aliens in this country to register and leave a record of their fingerprints with the nearest postmaster within the next four months.

In an accompanying statement he promised vigorous federal action against disloyal aliens but pledged that there will be no harassment of any local aliens.

"It seems to me that attempts by the states or communities to deal with the problem individually will result in undesirable confusion and duplication," Mr. Roosevelt said.

"I ask that citizens and non-citizens alike cooperate with a full sense of the responsibilities involved so that we may accomplish this task of registration smoothly, quickly and in a friendly manner, our aim being to preserve and build up the loyalty and confidence of those aliens within our borders who desire to be faithful to its principles.

"With those aliens who are disloyal and are bent on harm to this country, the government, through its law enforcement agencies, can and will deal vigorously.

"The alien registration act of 1940, which I have just signed, should be interpreted and administered as a program designed not only for the protection of the country but also for the protection of the loyal aliens who are its guests. The registration and identification of approximately three and one half million aliens who are now within our borders does not carry with it any stigma or implication of hostility towards those who, while they may not be citizens, are loyal to this country and its institutions."

The bill also imposes drastic penalties on fifth column attempts to incite insurrections or disloyalty in the nation's armed forces. It outlaws the dissemination of doctrines aimed at overthrowing the government by "force or violence."

The measure provides a $100 fine and 30 days' imprisonment for those failing to register before the four-month period expires. Aliens over 14 must register personally, while those under the age limit are to be registered by the parents or guardians.

Aliens "wilfully" failing to register will be subject to deportation as well as the fine and prison sentence.

The measure provides maximum penalties of $10,000 in fines and 10 years imprisonment for attempts to interfere with the loyalty of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Naval Reserve and Marine Corps Reserve.

Wakefield said that it now appears likely that all the delegates and alternates who were named at the Waco state convention will go to Chicago.

The delegation is instructed to vote as a unit for Garner for president.

GEMANY HAS INTENSIFIED AIR ATTACKS

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG, JR.
United Press Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, June 29.—Intensification of German aerial attacks on the British Isles—believed by many to be preparations for a land, sea and air blitzkrieg— was described in the German high command communique today.

The communique, issued from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters, said that yesterday and last night the German air force continued bombing harbors and arms factories in Southern and Central England "with evident success."

Continued British air attacks on Germany also were reported, and the official German news agency, D.N.B., said in a Hamburg dispatch that two members of the crew of a British bomber were killed and two others taken prisoner when their plane was shot down in Schleswig-Holstein during a raid Wednesday night. D.N.B. said that another British bomber was shot down near Hanover and that three members of the crew were killed.

The high command reported that Hitler had visited Strasbourg, in the German-occupied Alsace-Lorraine section of France, on the 21st anniversary of the signing of the Versailles treaty yesterday.

According to the high command German air raids yesterday on the Jersey and Guernsey Islands were directed against troop concentrations and resulted in fires and heavy explosions in the ports.

(London and Guernsey dispatches reported that the islands had been demilitarized and had been declared "open" in hope of saving them from bombardment.)

The high command said that a German submarine had reported the sinking of 38,000 tons of enemy shipping and that another submarine had sunk three enemy merchantmen totaling 11,000 tons.

It said that British bombers continued their raids on Belgium, the Netherlands and Northern and Western Germany, damaging private houses and injuring a number of civilians. In all, it claimed, four British planes were shot down.

The communique said that there were no particular events in France.

After crossing the Rhine from Kehl, Hitler was greeted on the Alsatian side by Gen. Friedrich Dollman, commander of the German army which broke through the Maginot Line in Alsace.

Hitler toured the city and spent considerable time at the ancient cathedral over which the German war flag has flown since June 19.

Later, Hitler drove through Schlettstadt to the Vosges battlefields and then visited the Rhine flats near Briesbach, where the Germans had forced a crossing of the river.

Hitler was said to be in constant touch with developments in Southeastern Europe. Authorized spokesmen have said that Russia's moves in Rumania were taken with the advance knowledge and approval of Germany and Italy.

Newspapers said that Russia's occupation of Bessarabia and Northern Bukovina province had destroyed the last link in the European guaranty system built up by Great Britain.

At the same time, authorized quarters denied vehemently various foreign "wishful rumors" that the Red army's march would harm German-Russian relations. They insisted that the Russian move followed a pre-arranged but "loose" agreement by Russia, Germany and Italy.

Newspapers published accounts of the Russian occupation for the first time today. All published approving comment.

The tone of the German comment generally was that there would be further "revisions" in Southeastern Europe, but no one would say what they might be.

Newspapers said that Rumania had "earned" her present "humiliation by vacillation which permitted the British guaranty" system to function.

Former American Vessels Reported Sunk By Subs

NEW YORK, June 29.— Radio Marine Corporation received messages early today saying that the steamers Edgehill and Empire Toucan had been torpedoed southwest of Ireland in the North Atlantic.

Lloyd's Shipping Registry lists an American ship Edgehill, 6,868 tons, owned by Lykes Brothers Ripley Steamship Company of New Orleans, but a spokesman for that company said its Edgehill had been sold in December, 1938, to the Calmar Shipping Company for coastal service and had been renamed the Oremar. He believed that the Edgehill mentioned in the message was a foreign ship.

The Calmar Shipping Company said that it had no vessels in the vicinity mentioned by the messages picked up by Radio Marine. The Oremar, it was said, was in Baltimore.

A dispatch from London said the Empire Toucan was formerly the American ship Freeport Sulphur Number Five, 4,127 tons, of the Freeport Sulphur Company, and that it had been purchased by the British Shipping Ministry and was now managed by Reardon Smith and Sons, a British firm.

The message picked up by Radio Marine identified the sender as "S. S. KGWT." Radio Marine operators said those were the call letters of the American Export Line's vessel Excalibur, which left Naples, Italy, yesterday with 350 American war refugees. "S. S. KGWT," said it picked up the message from "GYW," which Radio Marine identified as "a radio station in Europe."

Radio Marine's announcement said: "Grom GYW: 'S. S. Edgehill 49.47 onrth (latitude) 15.25 west (longitude) torpedied 2225 28th (10:25 p. m. Grenwich time June 28.) S. S. Empire Toucan 49.20 north 13.52 west torpedoed 0315 29th (3:15 a. m. June 29.)' Above received from S. S. KGWT."

In Washington, a state department spokesman also said the Edgehill must be a foreign ship because the neutrality act forbids United States ships from the vicinity of the reported torpedoing.

Italian Newspapers Hint British War Is Due To Come Now

ROME, June 29.—Italian newspapers hinted today that a German-Italian offensive against Great Britain was imminent despite Russia's occupation of Rumanian territory, which threatened to cause tumult in the Balkans.

The newspapers also disclosed that Benito Mussolini had entered France near St. Bernard Peak in the Graian Alps to inspect Italian occupied territory. He was accompanied by Marshal Pietro Badoglio, War Under Secretary Ubaldo Soddo, Alfredo Guzzoni, commander of the Fourth Army Corps, and other high military officials.

Italian Destroyer Is Sunk by British

LONDON, June 29.—British light forces sank an Italian destroyer yesterday, the admiralty said in a communique today.

"Friday three Italian destroyers were reported by Royal Air Force reconnaisance aircraft," the communique said. "Acting on this information our light forces located the enemy and in a running engagement at extreme range sank one of the enemy destroyers. There is no reason to believe that there were any British casualties."

Women Are Urged To Join Motorcade

M. H. Kelly, city manager, today urged that all women who could do so make up cars to go with the motorcade Tuesday, which will advertise the big Fourth of July celebration in Eastland.

The trippers will leave Eastland at 1 o'clock, and will visit Carbon, Gorman, De Leon, Comanche, Dublin and Stephenville.

Marine Recruiting Station Established

FORT WORTH, Tex.—In order that young men of the North Central part of the state of Texas may be afforded the opportunity of enlisting in the U. S. Marine Corps without traveling long distances, a recruiting station has been established in the U. S. Court House Building in Fort Worth. This office will be open daily from 8:30 a. m. to 4:00 p. m., except Saturday afternoons and all day Sundays.

For a number of years the United States Marine Corps has been limited to a small number of enlistments due to the comparatively small size of its enlisted personnel, with that of the Army and Navy.

But, due to the present plans for a large national defense program, the lid has been lifted and the quotas will be "unlimited" for a certain period of time. This ban on restricted enlistments will afford many young men throughout the United States, an opportunity to enlist in the service of their choice, the United States Marines.

The Marine Corps does not require that you be a mental genius in order to enlist, in fact the requirements have been lowered from that of a high school education to that of a grammar school education. The Marine Corps educates its own men through the Marine Corps Institute, an educational institution comparable with that of any high school and many colleges.

If you are between the ages of 18 and 30 years, from 64 to 74 inches tall, white, single, with no dependents, a graduate of grammar school, physically sound and of good moral character, then you are eligible for enlistment in the Marine Corps.

Sultan's Estate Is To Quarter Troops

By United Press

SINGAPORE—The Sultan of Pohore has lent to the War Office the grounds of his Singapore residence, Tyersall Park, for accommodating some of the Indian trops now stationed on the island.

Tracks where the Sultan used to ride on horseback for morning exercise have been made into roads for the newly mechanized units of the Indian army. Wooden huts with atap (palm tree thatch) roofs have been erected for the troops.

Monthly Milk Sales Show a Decrease

NEW YORK.— Daily average sales of fluid milk during May decreased 2.41 per cent over the same period a year ago, according to reports from leading distributors in 136 U. S. markets to the Milk Industry Foundation.

In May daily average sales totaled 6,514,060 quarts compared with 6,674,887 quarts in May, 1939.

Home Defenses Planned for U. S. By Legionnaires

HOUSTON, June 29.— The American Legion's national organization planned today to form 11,000 security home-defense units throughout the United States and train them in military tactics to meet an emergency.

Dr. W. J. Danforth of Fort Worth, National Legion Executive Committeemen for Texas, outlined the plan last night at a meeting of 3,000 Legionnaires and guests and said that full details would be revealed on July 8.

Ike Ashburn, assistant to the president of Texas A. & M. College, said that Americans must adjust themselves to a "plainer scale of living," and warned that higher taxes must pay for an armament race with dictator nations and appealed to parents to "toughen and harden our youth and teach them there is something in life but good times."

Dr. Danforth said that the national defense units would be composed of American citizens over 18 years of age, who can qualify for service.

"These units will be charged with specific duties concerning the security of the community in which they are organized and will be ready upon the call of the community, state or nation to assume in case of emergency the duties of defense in which they are charged," Dr. Danforth said.

He said the Legion "recognizes the need" for compulsory military training.

13 Are Injured In Five-Way Crash

DUNCANSVILLE, Pa., June 29.—A crash of vehicles involving a bus, two trucks and two automobiles, resulted in 13 persons, including nine bus passengers, being injured.

As a west-bound truck attempted to pass another last night the east-bound car driven by Joseph Yeager, 30, Cleveland, O., was forced off the highway, state motor police reported.

In returning to the roadway, Yeager's car sideswiped the auto of Rev. John W. Sproul, 44, Wilkinsburg, then plunged into a bus behind Sproul's car.

The bus of the All-American bus lines was enroute from New York to Chicago.

The injured bus passengers were taken to a hotel here and given first aid treatment. Among them was Gleason C. Mangum, 16, San Antonio, Texas, who suffered burns and bruises.

Pershing Believes U. S. Can Prevent An Axis Victory

BOSTON, June 29.—General John J. Pershing has sent a telegram here saying the United States would not be forced to make "the last sacrifice" if it provided Great Britain with all the food, arms and munitions she needs.

The telegram was read last night at a Faneuil Hall mass meeting sponsored by the committee to defend America. Speaking at the same meeting, Rear-Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, U.S.N., retired, warned that the United States must defend itself in the Atlantic as well as in the Pacific if the British fleet is destroyed.

Lacking only a few minor details the program for Eastland's July 4th celebration, which begins with a big free street dance at 8:00 o'clock on the evening of July 3rd, has been completed and promises to be the greatest of its kind ever presented in this city. Also the largest attendance of any former July 4th affair is promised.

The entire program is free. However, inside arena seats of which there is a limited number, are available at 25c each and may be secured at the City Hall or at the City Park.

Admission to the boat races will be 10c to one and all. In going to the lake go out the Breckenridge and Lake Eastland road and just after crossing the Texas & Pacific railroad turn to the right along side the golf course.

H. J. Tanner, secretary of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, which organization is sponsoring the program, is very much pleased with the outlook for a good program and good attendance. He states that everywhere the Eastland boosters have gone advertising the show they have been met by large crowds and given cordial receptions.

Some of the features of the second day of the celebration will be an Old Fiddlers playing contest, Old Rip Horned toad derby, molasses eating contest, bathing revue, boat races at Lake Eastland, fireworks display, and band concerts.

Twenty-five cars of Eastland boosters, accompanied by the Eastland band, visited Cisco, Moran, Albany, Breckenridge, Strawn, Ranger, and Olden Friday of last week.

Also accompanying this motorcade were Miss Nancy Jane Seaberry, Maya Lou Crossley and Glenna Johnson, singers, who delighted the audiences with their songs. Norma Gene Maynard and Callie Jewell White, attired in bathing costumes, were present to advertise the bathing revue feature of the program.

Tuesday a motorcade will visit Carbon, Gorman, DeLeon, Comanche, Dublin, Stephenville and other points for the purpose of advertising the celebration.

Bathing revue judges will all be out-of-town men and have already been selected. They are all prominint Texas citizens.

An added attraction to the program, according to James Harkrider, who has charge of the races at Lake Eastland, will be the performance of three women who will give exhibitions of surf board riding behind powerful motor boats.

Harkrider states that 30 boats, from 32 horsepower down, have already been entered and that others are expected.

Gasoline Price In Houston Slashed

HOUSTON, Texas June 29.—Gasoline prices dropped near the 1934 low today with the regular grade selling at 16 cents, Ethyl at 18 cents and third grade at 13 cents a gallon, off two cents.

Distributors said prices were forced down because anticipated exports had not materialized. A few retailers were selling at even lower prices.

Tank wagon prices were reported steady at 10 cents for third grade, 12 cents for regular and 14 cents for Ethyl. Prices will be hiked half a cent a gallon Monday when the new federal defense tax is added.

One distributor said that the price change was the result of readjustments to the domestic problem of excess gasoline stocks.

NEW ROTARY HEAD

Judge W. P. Leslie is the newly elected president of the Eastland Rotary Club. He will preside over the club's meeting to be held on the roof garden of the Connellee Hotel Monday at noon. No announcement has been made as to who will have charge of the program for that day, nor as to what the program consists of.

From Lip-Service to Real Service

Everybody agreed: an arms program, yes!

Higher taxes to pay for it? Yes!

Action! Let's go!

But most people thought of all this as something to cheer for ,perhaps something to pay for, but yet remote from themselves, something the other fellow was actually going to do.

Now comes, from the President himself, the proposal that every young man and woman shall devote to his country's service a year of his or her life. Some would train for the fighting forces, some for the mechanical and technical services which keep modern fighting forces in motion, some in conservation work along CCC lines, some in ways not yet clearly outlined. But all serving their country, and preparing themselves to know to serve it effectively in some later crisis.

* * *

The President has apparently put this idea before the American people in a "trial balloon" even before submitting it in detailed form to Congress, which alone has power to adopt any such plan.

It is revolutionary, no less. To propose any such plan for peacetime operation would at any prior time in American history have produced a storm of opposition. Today even those who oppose it will give it the gravest consideration.

At no prior time in the country's history has it ever faced a world such as it faces today. Precedents are no guide, as England and France know to their cost. This proposal must be considered squarely in the light of today's conditions.

* * *

If any further reason was needed why Congress should stay in session and not adjourn, the President has provided it by advancing this proposal for universal service. The working out of a plan of any such magnitude, involving literally millions of young men and women, is a staggering task.

First, it is Congress which must decide whether it is to be done at all.

Then it will be Congress which must reduce the general plan to specific terms. The sooner it gets down to both tasks, the sooner the whole thing will be either discarded in favor of something else or begin to be effective.

In today's world everything depends on time. Those tragic words, "too late," which were the doom of Europe, must not be written of the United States.

War being what it is, we're looking for the dispatch reading: "General (one word censored) is reported to have said, quote: (10 words censored) unquote."

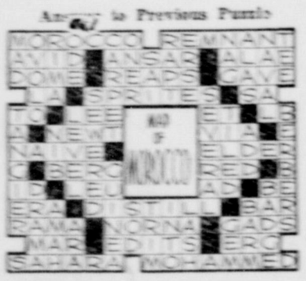

The British pilot who got lost and found himself flying along in a formation of Messerschmidts will recall it as the time he got into a Messer-trouble.

No Time for Moaning

MODERN MENUS

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer

PEACHES and cream—that's about the last word in fruit perfection. But for a change now and then, try peaches in some other way. For breakfast, try them and serve with crisp bacon and rolls. Use firm but ripe peaches. Cut in half and remove pits. Sprinkle lightly with salt and then roll in brown sugar. Fry them gently in hot bacon drippings. That's a new brand of breakfast surprise.

For luncheon, serve them baked. Use large peaches. Peel, cut in half, remove pits. Into each cavity, place a little butter, about 1 teaspoon sugar, ½ teaspoon lemon juice and a shake of cinnamon. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 15 or 20 minutes. Serve hot with cold cream.

Peach ice cream is rated as one of the best of all frozen desserts. Here are two recipes, one for the automatic refrigerator, one for the old-fashioned and ever popular hand freezer.

PEACH ICE CREAM FOR REFRIGERATOR TRAY

One and one-half cups fresh peach pulp, ½ cup (or more to taste) granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup heavy cream, well whipped, 1¼ cup evaporated milk.

Sprinkle sugar over peach pulp and stand 10 minutes. Then add salt and lemon juice. Stir and [illegible] the whipped cream and undiluted evaporated milk. Add to peach pulp mixture. Freeze in refrigerator tray until mushy. Remove from tray and scrape bottom and sides until smooth. Return to tray and freeze for 3 hours more.

PEACH ICE CREAM FOR HAND FREEZER

Three cups fresh peach pulp, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1¾ cups granulated sugar, ½ teaspoon almond extract, 1 quart heavy cream, 1½ tablespoons lemon juice.

Add salt to peach pulp. Sprinkle pulp with sugar, lemon juice and almond extract. Stand for about 10 minutes, stirring several times. Chill, then add cream (do not whip the cream). Freeze in hand freezer, using 3 parts ice to 1 part salt. Remove dasher, then pack for 2 hours in 4 parts ice and 1 part salt. This will ripen the ice cream and give it a smoother texture.

MONDAY'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit juice, crisp bacon with fried peaches, toast, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Frankfurter and vegetable salad, watercress sandwiches, fruit cup, nut cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Broiled steak, mashed potatoes, stuffed egg plant, lettuce and green pepper salad, peach ice cream, chocolate cake, coffee, milk.

Cradle Rocks To Stimulate Blood

By United Press

CHICAGO.—Rocking in an electric cradle, which moves from end to end instead of side to side, is science's latest treatment for a sluggish blood stream.

Instead of setting-up exercises or other violent exertion, the patient goes to a hospital and crawls in the cradle, attendants at Wesley Memorial and Passavant hospitals explained.

A nurse regulates the mechanism of the cradle, called a vasocillator because it is designed especially to relieve diseases of the peripheral blood vessels. The patient's posture is changed at intervals and the circulation stimulated.

The device looks like a bed mounted on a cradle. It is geared to swing the head and foot of the bed in arcs of 10 to 24 inches from the floor. A coil spring and felt mattress make the patient so comfortable he learns to sleep for hours in the bed so treatment can be continued for long periods.

The council on pharmacy and chemistry of the American Medical Association included the bed in its list of accepted therapeutic devices.

VACATION CHECKS DELINQUENCY

DENVER—Boys and girls still believe in being good around Christmas, but the summer months show less juvenile delinquency than any other period of the year, reports Juvenile Judge Eugene Maden. "With the coming of vacations children get so much varied activity that they don't have time to get into trouble," he said.

Recruiting Letter Sent To Wrong Man

AUSTIN, Tex.—Sergeant Chas. Leinweber, army recruiting officer, had one of his letters advertising the fine points of the army backfire on him.

The officer had a letter from a 62-year-old Bertram man whose name had been turned into the office as a possibility.

"I am at a loss to know how come you to address me as a young man eligible for the army," the letter read. "I am 62 years old," the man continued, "have a wife and two daughters and having a hard time keeping off relief."

Leinweber commented, "I hope it never does come to this."

What About the Census Report?

When the census population report was announced for Eastland a few days ago, it knocked us all cold. Most informed persons were expecting a slight decrease over the 10-year period, but not so many as 800 people. Averaging 5 to a family, this would account for 160 families, and 4 to a family, which is nearer correct, 200 families have folded their tents and silently stole away!

If the 1930 figure was correct, and the comparative reports we have from the utility companies are an index to population numbers, then there is something wrong somewhere. Light and water meters have increased since 1930, and we believe it is common knowledge that we have more habitable, occupied, housing units than we had 10 years ago. Are you satisfied with the 1940 census report? If not, what are you going to do about it?

Cheese, Ice Cream Shows Increase

AUSTIN, Texas—Climbing seasonally far above April, two mainstays of the Texas dairy industry—American cheese and ice cream—last month also showed substantial gains over May, 1939.

Statistics for the industry were compiled by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research on the basis of reports from representative plants of the State.

The Bureau estimated cheese production for May totaled 2,220,000, pounds, up 8.3 per cent over May, 1939, and 30.1 per cent higher than in April, 1940.

Ice cream production was estimated at 1,349,000 gallons—up 4.2 and 24.8 per cent above the comparable periods.

Butter, likewise showed a large increase in output over April—43.1 per cent—but remained about the same as in May, 1939—3,317,000 pounds.

The other staple, creamery production of evaporated milk was 5.9 per cent lower than in May, 1939.

Miss Wilson has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. William Lloyd Cohn, 4730 Neola Drive, the last two years.

The bride-elect attended Hockaday School and is a graduate of Miss Bruke's School in San Francisco, Calif. She made her debut at the Idlewild Ball in 1938-1939, and is a member of the Slipper Club. Miss Wilson and her mother have traveled in all parts of the world.

Mr. Castleberry attended Eastland schools and was graduated from Southern Methodist University, where he was a Lambda Chi Alpha. He also is a member of the Dervish Club. He is manager and vice-president of the Southwestern Air Motive Corp., in Dallas.

The wedding date and attendants will be announced later.

South Carolina Has Found Original of First Constitution

By United Press

COLUMBIA, S. C.—The original South Carolina constitution, believed to be the first state constitution adopted in this country, has been rediscovered.

The valuable document, which was adopted at "a congress begun and holden at Charles Town Nov. 1, 1775, and continuing by divers adjournment to Tuesday, 2th day of March, 1776," was found in a statehouse storeroom where it lay unnoticed many years.

An appropriation to provide a suitable cabinet for the paper was made immediately by the general assembly, and it will be placed in the historical commission archives.

More accidents occur in the kitchen than any room in the home, and that doesn't include cakes which fall in the oven.

CHAPTER XII

AUNCIE turned, sobbing, "Take [illegible] to him, Pops. I want to go [illegible], Gusty."

[illegible] Weston took his daughter's [illegible], a look of relief breaking [illegible] his face. "Good girl, Fran- [illegible]," he murmured, and led her [illegible]ly out of the studio into the [illegible] California night.

Francie felt faint. She was [illegible]ely conscious of the lights of [illegible]ywood swirling by the car [illegible]ndow, and then they were at [illegible] hospital.

As they approached Gusty's [illegible], a gray-haired doctor met [illegible]. He said to Francie in low [illegible], "Are you 'Sugar'?" She [illegible]ded. "You can go right in. [illegible] been calling for you."

Gusty was a white, still figure [illegible] his bed. His eyes were closed. [illegible] breathing came with an effort. [illegible] she crossed to him softly. A [illegible] pressed against her [illegible] at the bent over him.

[illegible]s lids came up slowly. His [illegible] lighted. Restless fingers [illegible] for her hand. "Hullo Sug- [illegible]" he said with an effort.

"Gusty! Oh, I'm so glad you [illegible]. You're going to be all [illegible]. You're going to get well, [illegible] you, dear!"

A shadow of a grin flickered [illegible]s left wet lips. Gusty said [illegible] "Darn right, Sugar." Then [illegible]nt to sleep.

Francie held his hand until the [illegible] came and quizzed her [illegible]. "Your boy friend has a [illegible] constitution," he smiled. "Couldn't plan any funeral yet."

* * *

FRANCIE and Gusty were sitting [illegible] on the hotel veranda when [illegible] Weston joined them.

He said, "Well, Gusty, I've finally settled matters. I've been talking with one of the studio executives. He admits they were at fault for not checking your qualifications more carefully before letting you smash that car."

"Are they going to pay Gusty?" Francie asked.

"Better than that," Mr. Weston replied. "They're standing all hospital expenses and giving Gusty $100 in cash. And if he wants it, he can have a job showing props around. How does that sound, Gusty?"

"Swell!" After six days Gusty's grin was still wan. "I can sure use that money."

"And the job? It will put you in contact with some pretty important musicians. That's your ambition, isn't it? To play with some big outfit?"

"Well . . . yes, Mr. Weston, but, gee, I hocked my trumpet."

"You can easily unhock it." Jason Weston noticed his daughter's hand clasped in Gusty's, and his eyes smiled. "Well, it's up to you, son. At any rate, you're not broke."

He faded discreetly from the veranda. Gusty and Francie sat for a while in silence.

Francie said, "It—it's a grand opportunity, Gusty. Pops is right. You'd soon know everyone important, and before long you'd get a real break. Maybe doing music for pictures or something."

"Yeah," Gusty said, "I guess so."

* * *

MORE silence. Hollywood sunshine lay warm and yellow about them. Lace-bladed palms stirred in the breeze. The city stretched cool white and clean and glamorous against its backdrop of hills.

"Pretty here, isn't it?" Gusty said.

Francie's heart ached solidly. Gusty liked it. He was going to stay. Some day she would read in the Elspeth City Bugle about how he had signed a big movie contract . . .

"Yes," she said tonelessly, "it's pretty."

"Prettier than Elspeth City?" he probed.

"I—I guess so."

Gusty sighed. "Well, I suppose if this is where you want to live I'd better take the job."

"Me!" Francie said. "I—I don't understand, Gusty."

"Well, holy smokes, do I have to draw you a diagram? Look, Francie, what happened when I got banged up? I started yelling for you and wanting you to have the ticket. What did you do? Why, you tossed away your big chance to come to the hospital."

Francie said, "Gusty, you mean . . ."

"Well, it's darn funny, ain't it?" "Yes. Yes, it is. It . . . it seems like each one of us was thinking of the other instead of ourself."

Gusty nodded. "We're pretty young, of course, but if you want me to stay in Hollywood I could send for you some day."

"Gusty, do you want to stay [illegible]?"

"Do you?"

Francie frowned. "Everything's sort of changed, Gusty. It's not [illegible] I even want to be a singer except just for fun. Like with Dulio Meyers or someone."

Gusty's hand tightened around hers. "Well, heck, why didn't you say so, Francie? Because I . . . I feel like that too. Course, I want to go on playing my old bat trumpet and maybe work out new licks and play with Duke. But fixing autos is a good business. It's solid. If you're good you can always make enough to—well, run a home."

"Oh, Gusty."

* * *

HE straightened. "Say, what night is it, Francie? It's Friday. I'll bet Mavis's got a lot of new records. Wouldn't mind sitting in on the old jam session right now."

"Gee, it'd be swell, Gusty." Francie said. "Maybe Pops was right after all. He said the nicest girls stay in their Elspeth Cities and marry their Gu—" she broke off, cheeks crimson.

"Marry their who?"

"He said . . . their Gusty Gals."

"Well, why not?" Gusty said fiercely. "I guess if we want to do things that way it's our business. Maybe we're just getting a little sense. In a year or so, maybe—"

Francie fumbled in her bag. "I've still got your wallet, Gusty, and your little trumpet pin. I found it the night Blubber robbed you. I was afraid you might lose it."

"Well, I'll be!" Gusty fingered his beloved pin. "Am I glad to have it back!"

Francie said, "The ticket's still in there, Gusty."

He pulled it out, examined it. Francie watched him with clear, unafraid eyes. Even Pops had agreed it was better for Gusty never to know she'd taken it.

Gusty said softly, "I—I'd like you to keep the pin, Francie."

"Gusty, not really?"

"Yes," he said gravely, fumbling as he pinned it on her blouse. "It sort of makes all the things we've planned seem kind of near and real."

Then he bent and kissed her. It was not a movie kiss. It had no glamor. It was just a plain, ordinary kiss, but it filled Francie's eyes with ecstatic tears and made her happier than all the empty kisses Jerry Finney had given her.

Snuggling close to him, Francie said, "Gusty, let's frame this old thing and hang it in the living room of our house back in Elspeth City."

Story of Jonah Teaches That God's Grace and Mercy Are for All People

Text: Jonah 3:1-10; 4:10, 11

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

THE title of this lesson, "Jonah: the Outreach of God's Love," is impressive in the truthfulness and accuracy with which it describes a book that has been perhaps more seriously misunderstood and misinterpreted than any other writing in history.

With the serious literalism of those who have been unable in their reading of the Bible to reallize the nature and extent of imagery in the presentation of truth, or with the light and trivial humor that has attached to it, reference to the book of Jonah has almost completely centered around the "fish story."

This would not matter so much, were it not that in this literalism and in this concentration upon the story of the great fish swallowing Jonah, there has been an almost complete loss of the great, spiritual teaching and beauty of a book that, although it is only of a few chapters, marks the very highest point of Old Testament teaching in its conception of God and His grace.

* * *

IT is not any part of this comment to enter into, or to discuss, the controversies by which men have missed the message and meaning of this prophecy. But I do wish to emphasize its great teaching. It is obvious that, to get any teaching from the book, it must be read as a whole. The text of our lesson, in fact, is taken from two chapters. But the book is not a long one, and even before considering the passage set for a lesson, one should read the entire book.

The details of the story are fairly familiar. Nineveh, at the time of the story, was a great and wicked city, and Jonah received the call of God to go and witness there for righteousness and truth. It was not unnatural that he should rebel against such a task. It was an unpleasant task in itself, to go as an individual and set himself as a preacher in the hostile environment of luxury and wickedness. He might well have asked what his lone voice, crying in such a scene, could have accomplished.

But there was a further antipathy in Jonah to obedience to this call. Nineveh was a foreign city against which Jonah might have been expected to have all the prejudice of a Jew, who believed himself to be of a chosen race.

* * *

HERE there emerges the great central idea of the book and its teaching. It is a missionary book, presenting with considerable clarity the conception of God as the God of the whole world whose grace and mercy are for all people and not for the chosen few.

In this respect Jonah's reluctance to go and preach in Nineveh is typical of that narrow conception of religion and life, that lack of any apprehension of the richness and fullness of God's mercy, which has led even good people in later ages, as in our own time, to be very apathetic regarding the spread of the Gospel.

Is it not true that we are most content to live within our own narrow circle of home, or community, or nation, disregarding the larger world and its needs and the boundless grace of God which He has intended for all?

If the world had been more a world of Christian missions, in the spirit of the Book of Jonah, it would be less the war-torn world, stricken with disaster, that it is today.

Locked Roadhouse Opened for Revival

By United Press

ANNISTON, Ala.—Sounds of tinkling glasses, rattling dishes and raucous laughter have given way to prayers and singing in the old Bonnie Castle, roadhouse on the Pelham road near Fort McClellan.

The roadhouse, originally arranged for a cafe and dance hall, was padlocked several months ago as a nuisance.

Recently owners of the property gave consent for its use as a place of worship. The padlock was removed, the place cleaned, and Sunday School and preaching are held there regularly.

The Rev. Ralph Howe, of the Baptist Tabernacle, who had been conducting daily revival services in the roadhouse-tabernacle, said "converting a roadhouse and dance hall into a place of worship is stealing a march on the devil."

West Texas Chamber of Commerce Is Disappointed Over Action Putting Off the Freight Rate Reductions

ABILENE, Tex.—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is disappointed but not in the least disheartened over Wednesday's action of the Railroad Commission putting into temporary storage its order of May 15th reducing by 13 per cent class freight rates in Texas. The WTCC in turn is petitioning for immediate hearing before the full commississon.

"Just another obstacle to be overcome and we will take it in stride," said D. A. Bandeen, manager of the regional chamber. From Bandeen and J. M. Willson of Floydada, president of the WTCC's Freight Rate Equality Federation, came this statement:

"This new action of course is an unpleasant surprise. Only a week ago, June 20th, the Railroad Commission denied a petition by 60 rail and 93 motor transport lines to vacate outright the order brought to our Big Spring convention by Commissioner Jerry Sadler, or to reopen the proceedings our organization instituted in a two weeks commission hearing one year ago out of which came the rate reduction order of May 15. Then on the 26th came news that the commission had reversed itself, this apparently by vote of Commissioners Lon Smith and Ernest Thompson, for Commissioner Sadler has advised us that he was not consulted and would not have concurred in reopening the case.

"Reversal by a majority of the commission was on an amended petition presented by Carl Phinney and Carl B. Callaway on behalf of the Common Carrier Motor Freight Association, Inc. The petition stated that since receiving the denial of June 20th economic changes have developed which were overlooked less than two weeks ago when the general petition was presented to and denied by the commission. Messrs. Phinney and Callaway say that heretofore they have urged the commission to give consideration to their clients' increased costs. In the amended petition they say these costs cannot be reduced, therefore present levels of freight rates should not be reduced.

"In the long fight for freight rate equality for Texas the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Freight Rate Equality Federation have not been against the railroads and truck lines, but only for the people who produce, ship and consume the goods moving on these lines. Surely no regulatory body or court will take the position that rate levels must be fixed on the basis of guaranteeing a profit to the carriers only, or be periodically shifted up or down according to transitory changes in movement or freight or in business. That would be unfair regard of the interests and welfare of the hundreds of thousands of farmers, merchants, manufacturers and housewives who produce, ship, process and consume the goods and are responsible for the tonnage carried in transportation.

"Surely these classes need protection too. If that sort of reasoning is to apply, the whole level of freight rates in Texas should have been gradually lowered in recent years as the people's income has gradually fallen, yet nothing of the sort has happened. On the contrary, the rate trend has been steadily upward."

The WTCC and FREF, said Bandeen and Willson, will move for immediate hearing on the new rate-suspending order, and will fight to have the May 15 reduction put into effect.

Fossil Remains Of Pre-Historic Animals Collected

LUBBOCK, Texas—Fossil remains of pre-historic animals which roamed the high plains several million years ago have been added to the West Texas museum collection on the Texas Technological College campus.

Elephant remains from every part of the Texas Panhandle are in the collection, as are many species of pre-historic animals found at the Miami, Texas fossil quarry. A majority of these fossils are those of horses, whose sizes vary from graceful antelope proportions to the stockier built

College Heads To Be Guests of Penn U.

By United Press

PHILADELPHIA — Four hundred universities, colleges and learned societies throughout the world have accepted invitations to send representatives to the bicentennial celebration of the University of Pennsylvania this September.

Among foreign acceptances are those from China, England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Italy, Spain, Switzerland, South Africa and New Zealand. Two hundred college presidents and heads of learned societies will represent their institutions at the celebration, making it one of the largest gatherings of college presidents ever assembled.

"The one great international event of a peaceful nature which has been planned anywhere in the world in this eventful year of 1940 is the bicentennial celebration which the university will hold in September," said Robert T. McCracken, Philadelphia attorney and chairman of the bicentennial planning committee.

Calling the Maginot Line the eighth wonder of the world now may be looked upon as not saying very much for the original seven.

Australia Bids For Air Power

By United Press

CANBERRA, Australia.—A program for making Australia one of the front rank world air powers by March, 1945, has been announced by Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies.

It involves an increase of eleven times the present program for training pilots, observers, gunners and aircraftsmen and an increase of seven times the present program for the production of aircraft.

This would give Australia by the time the program is in full operation in March, 1945, a total of aviation personnel of 97,473 and an air force of about 2,000 planes. With the program and production thus in full operation, Prime Minister Menzies believes that Australia can increase the air force each year until it ranks with the most powerful air nations in the world.

Under the program as launched, Australia will have 28,500 trained men, consisting of crews, pilots and ground personnel by June, 1941. By June, 1942, an additional 18,012 will have been trained and by March, 1943, when the entire program will be in full operation, an additional 16,961 will have been trained, giving Australia an aviation personnel of 97,473 which will be maintained thereafter.

For carrying out the program there will be installed as rapidly as possible three initial ground training schools; 10 elementary flying training schools; four air observers schools; four bombing and gunnery schools; four wireless operators' schools; and two air navigation schools.

As regards the participation in the war, the crews of the Royal Australian Air Force will be earmarked to be concentrated into self-contained purely Australian squadrons as rapidly as feasible.

Menzies announced that this rapid increase in aviation, coupled with the rapid growth that is taking place in the military and naval program, is intended to make Australia capable of defending itself.

In addition to this element of self-defense, he declared it would enable Australia, in connection with Great Britain, Canada and New Zealand to be party to the plans that are vital to assure an Allied victory.

"With such an air force, Menzies pointed out that the highest authorities agree that it would give Australia always the mastery of the air as it would never be possible for an enemy with ship-based aircraft to get the upper hand of a land based aviation in a country as large as Australia.

ARMLESS, LEGLESS, BUT ACTIVE

LINDEN, Ala.—Charles Rentz is an unusual fellow. Born without arms below his elbows and without legs below his knees, he can drive an automobile, play a piano, use a typewriter and sliding machines — and roll his own cigarettes.

The advertising industry might never thank Germany for anything else, but it'll always be grateful for the word blitzkrieg, or hadn't you noticed?

NOT ALL HONEY FOR BEE KEEPER

By United Press

SALEM, Ore.—At least one Oregon bee keeper feels that he gets stung every time he pays his apiary license. His letter to the state department of agriculture reads "If you will pay me back the money I have paid you in the last three years, you can have all the bee hives, honey and all."

BEAVER HAT 100 YEARS OLD

By United Press

KALISPELL, Mont.—A beaver top hat made more than 100 years ago by his grandfather has been produced by Oliver Vose for use in a western celebration here. The hat has been handed down from generation to generation but still is in a good state of preservation. Vose said his grandfather trapped the beaver from which the hat was made.

ROYAL PARKS BECOME GARDENS

By United Press

LONDON.—Even the royal parks of England have to do their share of making sacrifices for the war. The beautiful green stretches of Bushey Park, Richmond Park and Regents Park are being turned into gardens. Keepers have been instructed to grow vegetables.

Suspender Playsuit

Priscilla Lane, pretty motion picture star, models a suspender playsuit—just the thing for a weekend in the country. It includes green suspender shorts in the new longer length, a matching green jacket and a gingham shirt in red, green, blue and yellow plaid. Jacket and shorts are hand-stitched in ivory yarn.

WAYNESBURG, Pa.—If Ruth Nichols calls the name "Phillips" in her high school classroom here, a minor riot is likely to result. Thirteen students in Miss Nichols' school room are named Phillips—six boys and seven girls.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia.—A mother who has had time to be an author, public speaker and civil leader as well as a homemaker, has been honored with an honorary Doctor of Letters by Coe College as the seventh member of her family to receive a degree from the school.

She is Mrs. Frederick G. Murray, Cedar Rapids, author of "Tranquility Folk" and other pioneer tales under the name of Jannette Stevenson Murray.

Last year's tournament champion, grand prize of Houston, will return to defend its title this year, fighting tradition that no team has twice copped the meet.

Sodium Flouride Kills Cockroaches

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — Sodium flouride, either pure or mixed with equal parts of flour, is the ticket for killing cockroaches.

Roaches will tackle almost any kind of food and usually pollute several times more than they actually eat. The pests hang out in the kitchen or pantry or other places where food is kept.

For control, dust sodium flouride in the places frequented by the roaches, especially along the edges of the rooms. The best results will be obtained by use of a dust gun which will force the dust into cracks and crevices.

The insecticide is most effective when applied in the evening, since roaches do not move around much in the day time.

"Sodium flouride is toxic to man and animals and should not be used where children may get at it," warns Cameron Siddall, entomologist of the Texas A. & M. Extension Service.

Budget Figures In Philippines Top 44 Million Mark

By United Press

MANILA.—The Philippine budget bill for the fiscal year 1940-41, providing for the expenditure of about $44,500,000, has been signed by Commonwealth President Manuel L. Quezon.

Of the total appropriation, approximately $40,000,000 will cover operating expenses of the different government departments, bureaus and offices, while the remainder will cover fixed expenditures required by laws, mostly the amortization of and interest on the public debt, pensions and gratituities.

Under the act. the appropriation for the resident commissioner's office in Washington is increased by more than $50,000. The act included an appropriation of $500,000 for the acquisition of new revenue cutters and customs launches. This appropriation was designed to intensify efforts against illegal fishing, smuggling, and offenses of a similar nature.

At the beginning of the year, it was estimated that the government's income in the fiscal year 1940-41 would exceed the appropriations by about $1,000,000. There were reported to be unexpected increases in government collections since this estimate was made and it was expected the balance would be much larger than $1,000,000.

Submarine Net Is Installed In Bay

SANDY HOOK, N. J., June 29.—Navigators were warned today that the Navy has installed a submarine net in Sandy Hook Bay, for training purposes.

Major L. S. Dillon of the War Department Engineers office said the net would be there until Aug. 15. Navy Department officials said the net was not placed for protective purposes "but solely for the purpose of training naval reservists in that area."

"It can be swept out each morning, but I recommend ground pyrethrum in homes where there are small children." Pyrethrum is not poisonous to humans.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

LEWIS NON-PACIFIC AS EVER, BUT HOPE GROWS FOR SOME KIND OF PEACE BETWEEN AFL, CIO

BY BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Some sort of peace between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. is daily growing more likely.

John L. Lewis is as non-pacific as ever, but events have slipped out from under him, so to speak. The C. I. O.'s arch-apostle of peace, Sidney Hillman, is now labor's man on the National Defense Commission. Rumor is that A. F. of L.'s Dan Tobin is also to get "some sort of White House job"; he's as peace-minded as Hillman, and the two work well together.

Catton

Another significant straw in the wind is the return of David Dubinsky's Garment Workers' Union to the A. F. of L. Dubinsky is also all for peace; to get him back the A. F. of L. had to cancel its cent-a-month tax which had been used to raise a war-chest to fight the C. I. O.

FAIR CO-OPERATION ALREADY EXISTS

MORE important than any of these developments, however, is the dawning realization here that an acrimonious split in the labor movement is just naturally too expensive a luxury to be carried through the big defense program.

Inside understanding is that the first jurisdictional fight that pops up in any of the important defense industries will be the signal for immediate and drastic White House action—along the lines of "make peace, boys, or else . . ."

Meanwhile, a fair degree of co-operation between the two labor organizations already exists. Labor Secretary Perkins not long ago named an advisory committee of A. F. of L. and C. I. O. men to meet with her once a week and study ways by which labor can co-operate effectively in the defense program. This group is meeting regularly and harmoniously; Messrs. Green and Lewis are absent, but through their subordinates Miss Perkins is getting what she wants.

SENATE SHIFTS ON AID TO ALLIES

PROFOUND shift in sentiment in the Senate on the aid-the-allies question is indicated by a poll just taken by a private research organization. This poll—which covered all but two of the 96 senators—showed only 11 who can be classified as old-line isolationists, with a dozen more in a rather more moderate position working for "strict neutrality." The remaining 71 were listed as favoring the measures-short-of-war policy to defeat Hitler.

MAIL TELLS CONGRESS TO STAY ON JOB

CHIEF thing that knocked the bottom out of the administration's hope for an early adjournment of Congress was the members' mail from back home.

This mail has been coming in floods lately, and the overwhelming majority of letters have urged aid for the allies—which is right down the administration's alley. Most of the letter writers, however, added the injunction—"and stay in session during the crisis." A lot of members got so many letters like this they began figuring it would really be political suicide for them to go home.

There are other factors, of course. One is a lingering distrust—still fairly widespread—of what is considered the impetuous nature of the President's handling of foreign policy. Another, seldom discussed but quite potent, is the realization that a number of pending laws which would die if Congress adjourned in June can probably get passed if it stays another month. These would include such important measures as the Wagner act amendments and the Walter Logan bill.

Officers Carry A Jail With Them

TYLER, Tex. — Streamlining their methods, Smith County officers are going into action against roadside honkytonk drunks by carrying a jail along with them.

The sight of a convict bus, borrowed from the county farm and manned by officers, is said to be scattering patrons of the night clubs. In a single raid, 40 persons were taken into custody.

Utilization of the bus serves several purposes for raiding officers. One spokesman said he believed that it would reduce drunken driving as the arrested persons would not have to drive their own automobiles into headquarters, and ofifcers can make several visits without returning to their base.

CHILD ERRS ON THRIFT

Officer Can't Believe His Pistol Shoots Buckshot Pellets

By United Press

DALLAS, Texas.—City Officer R. L. May, Jr., is trying to figure out why his pistol unloaded buckshot instead of pistol bullets in the back of a negro. The incident occurred when May and his partner, C. C. McKeever, answered a disturbance alarm.

May ordered the negro to stop but he failed to do so and the officer shot at him. The negro kept running.

He was captured a few minutes later, and although there was no sign of a pistol wound on his body, a later examination revealed a number of buckshot wounds in the man's back.

He was brought to the city jail and charged with disturbing the peace.

HORSE-HAIR SOFA RETURNS
By United Press

LONDON—Grandma's solid and comfortable horse-hair sofa once again may become the main article of furniture in the living room, though it will probably be disguised in modern attire. For the armament industries are mopping up steel supplies and makers of the springs for the modern type of furniture are hard put to find supplies.

No Danger for U. S. Food Supply Is Seen from War

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — More than ever today the farmers and the rest of the nation's population are in need of continuous operation of the AAA, George Slaughter, chairman of the state AAA committee, told that committee in College Station last week.

Former export markets for cotton, wheat, and other farm products have been destroyed and lost to the American farmer, the chairman continued. If it had not been for the support given the farm price structure by the Ever-Normal Granary, prices for farm products would have suffered much more severely than they have and resulting distress for the farmer would have been severe.

In Texas, as in the rest of the nation, the AAA is set up on a county-by-county basis with 751 county committeemen administering the program. In farm communities in the state 2,868 local committeemen are overseeing the work. All of these men are cooperating in assisting the government to adjust agriculture to the demands made upon it and to see that administration of the program is kept up to the minute.

With such machinery in operation, there is no danger of the American people being threatened with a shortage of necessary foods, Slaughter said. In fact, the great problem is to find markets for the tremendous supplies available, as there is plenty for the American market and the Ever-Normal Granary is overflowing.

"We sincerely hope and believe that the various parts of the AAA program are sufficient to save the farmers from any such disastrous times as they have experienced in past years, such as 1914," he said, "and that farmers in Texas and the rest of the country will continue to cooperate with the program as they have in the past."

Old Lafitte Ship To Be Salvaged

AUSTIN, Tex.—Maybe there's a lot of gold in the old vessel and maybe there isn't. At any rate, modern science will delve deep into a Texas lake to attempt recovery of a ship that Jean LaFitte scuttled 120 years ago while trying to escape a U. S. revenue cutter.

The long-lost brigantine—90 feet long, a hound 30-foot beam—dashed into a shallow lake a little way up from the Gulf and there LaFitte sank it rather than have it fall into government hands. The vessel now rests 20 feet under the sands of a silt bed.

The ship was discovered in its watery grave 90 years ago by Jake Sherman, an aging farmer. It was covered then by only four feet of sand. Several legends and rumors sprang up after the discovery, one being that several wealthy persons had offered rich rewards for maps showing the location of the ship. Then there was the episode about the 101 year-old Mexican giving a map drawn on a hogskin to a son and the map being examined by the Shermans who said it was accurate.

Now science says taboo to these stories and set out to raise the pirate ship. G. C. Chambliss, Jr., of Beaumont, has hired Rep. Price Daniel, a lawyer of Liberty, Texas, and they have started out to salvage the vessel in legal fashion.

Chambliss says the facilities of modern science can raise the ship.

Fifth Columnists Are Feared By Drunk Motorist

DALLAS, Tex.—Despite his complaint that "fifth columnists" were following him, a drunk motorist is working out a $50 fine placed on him by Corporation Court Judge Joe M. Hill. The man had run across the lawn of a Dallas home and almost smashed into the front porch.

There was a foreign-looking guy after me, Judge," the motorist maintained. "I was trying to get away from him and the only thing I could do was run across the lawn." The man admitted he had a few bottles of beer but said he wasn't drunk. A drunkometer showed a very definite degree of intoxication.

When brought to the city jail after arrest, the man begged to be sent overseas to "get a crack at Hitler." Officers laughed at him and he shouted, "You must be fifth columnists too," and attempted to attack them.

CRIPPLE LOADED WITH SILVER

By United Press

BUTTE, Mont.—Police had to recruit the services of a bank's counting machine when they found 31 pounds of silver coins in 11 bags secreted in the clothing of an elderly, bearded cripple booked as Frank Reed. The total came to $298.13, of which Reed forfeited $25 when he failed to appear in police court on a disturbance charge.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Christian Science" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 30.

The Golden Text is: "The prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost" (II Peter 1:21).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And when he was demanded of the Pharisees, when the kingdom of God should come, he answered them and said, The kingdom of God cometh not with observation: Neither shall they say, Lo here! or lo there! for, behold, the kingdom of God is within you" (Luke 17:20,21).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "This kingdom of God within you," is within man's consciousness here, and spiritual idea reveals it. In Science, man possesses this definition of harmony consciously in proportion to his understanding of God" (page 576).
