SENATOR ROBERT KENNEDY DIES

Funeral Mass Slated Saturday

By PAUL R. JESCHKE

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is dead.

Struck down by an assassin's bullet at a moment of victory, Kennedy died at 3:44 a.m. CDT in Good Samaritan Hospital.

The senator will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery probably beside his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy who also died at the hands of an assassin four and a half years ago.

At Kennedy's bedside when death came were his wife, Ethel, mother of their 10 children who is expecting an 11th late this year, and Jacqueline Kennedy, widow of the late President.

The tousle-haired senator, 42, was the third of four brothers of the ill-starred family to die a violent death. Only the youngest, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, is left to carry the political banner of the Kennedy clan.

The senator died a little more than 25 hours after he was shot down in the kitchen corridor of a hotel where he had jubilantly proclaimed victory in Tuesday's California primary election. The win in the nation's biggest presidential preference vote was the zenith of Kennedy's march toward the White House.

Kennedy was the same age as his brother was when he campaigned successfully for the presidency eight years ago, and he was a member of the Cabinet when John F. Kennedy was slain in Dallas, Nov. 22, 1963.

Kennedy's widow, Ethel, faced the tragedy with the same stoic courage that bore Jacqueline Kennedy through the cruel days following the assassination of the President in 1963.

Three of the senator's eldest children were flown to Kennedy's bedside in a presidential jet from their Virginia home. They arrived at the hospital about two hours before their father's death in the fifth floor intensive care unit.

Pierre Salinger, who had served as press aide to the late President Kennedy and was active in the senator's campaign, announced the funeral plans at the hospital. He said some plans still were being formulated but added, "I suspect the senator will be buried in the plot" of his brother.

Kennedy's body was taken by plane to New York today and will lie in state at St. Patrick's Cathedral Friday from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. A requiem mass is planned at 10 a.m. Saturday in St. Patrick's, after which the body will be placed aboard a train to be taken to Washington for burial in Arlington Cemetery outside the nation's capital.

Route of the funeral procession from Washington's Union Station to Arlington was planned to pass by the Senate office building and Justice Department where Kennedy had served the nation for a total of nearly eight years.

When asked about the procession, Salinger said:

"I believe it will be simple . . . I hate to use the word motorcade . . . but I believe that it will be."

Red-Eyed

Grim-faced and red-eyed from lack of sleep, Salinger said among friends accompanying the body and family on the presidential jet flight to New York City would be Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., widow of the assassinated civil rights leader.

Kennedy suffered irreparable brain damage from a .22-caliber bullet that lodged in his midbrain. The bullet coursed upward from the side of his head near his ear.

A second shot struck him in the shoulder and within seconds he lapsed into unconsciousness on the concrete floor in the hotel kitchen. His suspected assassin was subdued quickly by Kennedy aides but not before five other persons were wounded, one seriously.

He was swarthy Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, a Jordanian refugee who was held under tight security guard in Los Angeles County Jail five miles from the hospital where Kennedy died. It was not disclosed whether Sirhan was informed immediately of the senator's death.

A team of six neuro-surgeons picked all but a tiny fragment of the bullet from Kennedy's brain in a four-hour operation.

But, the senator's condition changed little through the day and night until he finally succumbed.

"He was not able to build back up tissue after the trauma of last night and the surgery this morning," said Frank Mankiewicz, Kennedy's press secretary who made the official death announcement.

Named For Brother

Joseph, named for Kennedy's father and the senator's eldest brother who was killed in a plane crash in Europe during World War II, informed the two other children, Kathleen, 17, and Robert Jr., 13, who were elsewhere in the hospital.

Also at the bedside was Kennedy's brother, Edward; his sisters, Mrs. Stephen Smith and Patricia Lawford, and his brother-in-law and campaign manager, Stephen Smith, and Msgr. William McCormack of St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York.

Flags At Halfstaff

Flags at city and county buildings in Pampa were flying at halfstaff this morning in reverence for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. The flag was not at halfstaff at the federal post-Office Building here this forenoon. Carl English, assistant postmaster, said the flag could not be lowered until an official order came through from Washington. This, he stated, was expected later in the day.

SENATOR ROBERT F. KENNEDY
... dies at hands of assassin

Sunday Declared As US 'Day Of Mourning'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson today declared Sunday a national day of mourning for Robert F. Kennedy and ordered the U.S. flag lowered to half staff in memoriam to the slain senator.

Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., whose own husband was assassinated just over two months ago, and who flew to Los Angeles to comfort Mrs. Ethel Kennedy, perhaps best expressed the grief of a nation.

"How many husbands, how many fathers and how many sons must die befor we as men, women, youths and children—before we as a nation—will rise up in righteous indignation and demand an end to senseless violence?"

The President, in an early morning statement, declared: "This is a time of tragedy and loss. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is dead.

"Robert Kennedy affirmed this country—affirmed the essential decency of its people, their longing for peace, their desire to improve conditions of life for all.

"During his life, he knew far more than his share of personal tragedy.

"Yet he never abandoned his faith in America. He never lost his confidence in the spiritual strength of ordinary men and women. He believed in the capacity of the young for excellence—and in the right of the old and poor to a life of dignity. Our public life is diminished by his loss."

Mrs. King said Kennedy's death has deprived the nation "of one of its greatest champions of freedom, human dignity and peace."

She added: "We must put an end to violence or violence would put an end to us. Surely the tragic and untimely death of this brilliant and dedicated leader must cause each one of us to ponder our sense of responsibility in bringing an end to this kind of insanity."

The President, in his message, said:

"Mrs. Johnson and I extend our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Kennedy and his family. I have issued a proclamation calling upon our nation to observe a day of mourning for Robert Kennedy next Sunday."

The President directed that flags be flown at half staff from now until the Kennedy burial on all federal buildings, military facilities and naval vessels.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey joined the First Family, issuing a statement which said:

"Mrs. Humphrey and I feel a sense of profound personal loss. We have all lost a great American—a man of deep

438 GIs Killed In Vietnam

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States last week suffered 4,308 Vietnam war casualties, including both dead and wounded, the greatest number for any week of the war, U.S. military spokesmen said today.

Many of them fell in fighting in and around Saigon where government troops today crushed the last remaining major pockets of Viet Cong resistance, killing 167 Communists. Allied forces continued to guard against several more Communist battalions which U.S. intelligence sources said were attempting to infiltrate the capital.

The casualty total last week included 438 Americans killed and 3,870 wounded, the spokesmen said. The previous high figure had been in the week

Commission Will Seek Cause Of US Violence

WASHINGTON (UPI)—"Let us, for God's sake, resolve to live under the law."

With this solemn invocation to a troubled nation, President Johnson Wednesday night dispatched a select nine-member panel on the mission of seeking causes for violence of the sort that struck down Robert F. Kennedy.

In a 7½ minute address on nationwide television and radio, the President said:

"My fellow citizens, we cannot, we just must not, tolerate the sway of violent men among us. We must not permit men who are filled with hatred, and careless of innocent lives, to dominate our streets and fill our homes with fear.

"We cannot sanction the appeal to violence, no matter what its cause and no matter what the grievance from which it sprang . . .

"A great nation can guarantee freedom for its people and the hope of progressive change only under the rule of law. So let us, for God's sake, resolve to live under the law."

Choose Commission

To head the special commission, the President chose Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president emeritus of Johns Hopkins University and brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Other members are Archbishop Terence Cooke of New York; Albert E. Jener Jr., a Chicago lawyer who was on the Warren Commission; Patricia Harris, former ambassador to Luxembourg; Eric Hoffer, the West Coast longshoreman - philos-

Ethel Didn't Cry Either

Kennedy Women Are Brave

By JACK V. FOX

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Ethel didn't cry either.

For one brief moment, the wife of the tousle-haired man a nation knows as Bobby gave way to hysteria and fought an ambulance attendant trying to render first aid. Then she found control.

They are made of solid stuff, the Kennedy women. They have to be. Fate seems to move from one to another and say: "Now, it's your turn. Now, it's your husband."

Awaiting the birth of her 11th child in January, Ethel Skakel Kennedy bent over her husband, lying in a pool of blood on the floor in the awful glare of television lights, and murmured to him. It was heartbreakingly reminiscent of another slim girl bending over a stricken husband in a convertible in Dallas.

When Robert Kennedy moaned as they carried him to the ambulance on a stretcher and cried, "Oh, no, don't" it was too much. She screamed at the ambulance attendant and hit at his face as he tried to put a bandage on the head wound.

Watches Treatment

At Central Receiving Hospital, she had put on the mask. She watched a doctor slap her husband's face trying to revive a spark through pain. Then she took the stethoscope proffered by the doctor and heard for herself the beat of Robert Kennedy's heart.

She followed in the ambulance to Good Samaritan Hospital and waited in a private lounge while surgeons for three hours removed fragments from the interior of the stricken man's skull. Her friend Claudine Longet, the wife of singer Andy Williams, said she never once wept.

Afterwards she talked with John Glenn and the astronaut walked grimly from the hospital to gather up six of the Kennedy brood who had come to Los Angeles to be with their so-often-absent parents and take them back to Hickory Hill.

Then the clan gathered around Ethel. Jean Smith, Bobby's sister, stayed close by her side. Patricia, the divorced wife of actor Peter Lawford, left, leaning on a companion for support.

Jackie Unbelieving

Across a continent, a telephone rang in an apartment on Fifth Avenue and Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy answered a call from London from her stepsister, Lee Bouvier Radziwill. Jackie Kennedy heard the news and she said, "No, it can't be."

Then she packed and boarded a private plane and flew to the side of the man who had stood by her side at a grave in Arlington Cemetery.

At the hospital by now was

MRS. KENNEDY — Uninjured but dazed with shock, Ethel Kennedy rode in the ambulance that carried Sen. Robert Kennedy to a hospital in Los Angeles. Like Jacqueline Kennedy five years earlier, she bent over her wounded husband just after he was shot, whispering to console him.

SUSPECT IN ASSASSINATION — Protected by police from assault by angry crowds, the man seized after the Kennedy shooting is hustled out of the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles. He has been identified as Sirhan Sirhan, formerly of Jordan.

Suspect Called 'Fanatic'

By RAYMOND LAHR

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sirhan B. Sirhan, says a woman who worked with him in a health food store, is honest, goodhearted and a hard worker, but "a fanatic when it came to discussion of religion and politics."

The owner of the shop where Sirhan worked until April said "You had to be careful not to walk on his feet. He wanted you to respect him intellectually."

Sirhan, 24, a native of Jordan, is under arrest as the accused assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

By all accounts, Sirhan is an intelligent, articulate and unusually friendly immigrant but he professed a long standing hatred of the Jewish state of Israel.

Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles reported at a news conference Wednesday that an entry in Sirhan's diary last month said "Kennedy has to be assassinated before June 5, 1968." That date was the first anniversary of the start of the six-day war in the Middle East.

Yorty said the diary also contained comments criticizing Kennedy and such phrases as "Long live Nasser," a reference to Gamal Abdel Nasser, president of the United Arab Republic and dominant figure among the Arab nations in conflict with Israel.

The mayor's office also reported that Sirhan carried a clipping of a newspaper column suggesting that Kennedy was inconsistent in opposing the Vietnam War while supporting U.S. aid to Israel to match the Soviet building of military strength in Arab states.

When police arrested Sirhan early Wednesday morning he had a .22 caliber pistol, and witnesses said he had just used it to pump a bullet deep into Kennedy's brain.

Neighbors said he was a high school graduate who had attended Pasadena City College.

John H. Weidner Jr., owner of the health food store, said Sirhan told him he had to flee Jordan as a child and had seen Jews kill members of his family.

"He was not a citizen and didn't like the United States," Weidner said. "You had to be careful not to walk on his feet. He wanted you to respect him intellectually."

Justice Department records in Washington showed Sirhan was one of a family of eight Jordanians admitted to the United States for permanent residence. None was ever naturalized.

Law Enforcement Agencies Seeking Man After Try To Injure Policeman

Police are looking today for an unidentified Negro man who tried to back over a Pampa policeman last night after he had been stopped for speeding.

Patrolman Dorman Lewis fired one shot at the suspect as he fled in his auto. The incident occurred shortly after 10 p.m.

The car was later abandoned and the suspect apparently fled on foot. A search by Pampa police units failed to find the man.

Four other persons, all from Pampa, were in the car with the suspect. All were Negro youths, ranging in age from 17-22.

They said they knew the man only as "R. C." No further identification was possible. No charges were filed against the four youths.

Patrolman Lewis said he tried to stop the speeding vehicle in the 100 block of W. Francis. But the vehicle sped away, according to Lewis, and a high-speed chase of up to 85 miles-an-hour ensued.

The speeder was stopped in the 1400 block of E. Francis when he came to a dead end street.

"The subject came to a stop and jumped out of the vehicle and tried to run," according to Lewis.

"I got out of my car and hit him with the spotlight and told him to stop. The subject turned around and ran back toward his car.

"By this time, all the people in the car were trying to get out. I was trying to get to the driver before he got back into his car but these other passengers were in the way.

"The subject got into his car and threw it into reverse. At this time I was directly in front of my vehicle and directly behind the other one."

Lewis said he saw the man trying to back over him and he moved. The suspect hit his patrol car with the other auto, causing damage to its front end.

"I then fired one warning shot into the air and yelled for the subject to stop. He threw the vehicle into low gear and started forward with tires squealing.

"I then fired one shot at the driver of the vehicle but the others were in my line of fire."

Parolman Lewis said the suspect abandoned the vehicle in the 700 block of Lowry and fled on foot. A later search of the area failed to turn up the suspect. The vehicle was impounded.

Salinger later reported legal requirements "have been met" for transfer of the body. When asked if a post mortem had been performed, Salinger said he would "not go into specifics."

The announcement of the senator's death came as most of the city's residents were asleep. A saddened mailman, making early downtown rounds, summed up the tragedy for many when he said, "It simply takes the life out of you."

Communist losses during the period were put at 3,237 men killed, the officials said.

The total number of U.S. dead and wounded in Vietnam climbed to 174,597, surpassing the 172,000 suffered by the French in the Indochina War. The U.S. total included 24,364 dead and 150,233 wounded.

The President said it would be self-deceptive to ignore the connection between lawlessness and hatred in general and the shooting of Kennedy. Then he added:

"It would be just as wrong, just as self-deceptive, to conclude from this act that our country is sick, that it has lost its sense of balance, its sense of direction and common decency."

65 Accidents Are Recorded

A total of 65 accidents were recorded in the month of May in Pampa as compared to 53 during the same period of time last year, according to figures released this morning by Pampa Police Chief Jim Conner.

concern, compassion, and personal commitment.

"Our hearts go out to his wife and dear children and to his family — which has already known tragedy beyond that which any should endure.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said softly when informed of Kennedy's death: "There is nothing I can say. I'm just overcome. Just overcome."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Capt. John Paul Jones was the only Continental naval officer to be voted a gold medal by Congress, The World Almanac notes. Jones never held rank higher than captain in the American Navy, but the Russians made him a rear-admiral in 1788 in their war against the Turks.

Wonderful Warm-Weather Salad Idea

Flavorful "Iceberg Fruit Kebab Salads" are sure to dazzle the eyes and appetites of everyone at a warm-weather meal. For these refreshing salads, melon balls, fresh strawberries and avocado crescents are speared onto picks, then served on beds of crisp western iceberg lettuce with green pepper rings in lettuce-lined bowls. A tantalizing dressing of real mayonnaise and yogurt sparked by lemon and honey makes them especially appealing.

For a memorable meal serve "Iceberg Fruit Kebab Salads" to accompany barbecued fowl or spareribs.

Iceberg Fruit Kebab Salads

1 head western iceberg lettuce
1 green pepper or 1 large red onion
1 cup melon balls
1 California avocado, cut into crescents
1 cup fresh strawberries
½ pint plain yogurt
½ cup real mayonnaise
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon honey
¼ teaspoon salt

Core, rinse and drain lettuce; chill in disposable plastic bag. Reserve 6 to 8 outer leaves; cut remaining lettuce lengthwise into halves, place cut-sides down on chopping board and shred crosswise. Slice green pepper into rings. Line 6 to 8 individual bowls or 1 large salad bowl with lettuce leaves. Add shredded lettuce and pepper rings. Thread melon ball, avocado crescent and strawberry on each of 12 or 16 bamboo picks, allowing 2 kebabs per serving. Spear picks into lettuce. Blend all remaining ingredients; serve with salads. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Lemon Poppy Seed Bread

BREAD WITH HINT OF LEMON SPARKS ANY MENU

This fanciful quick bread combines lemon tang with the crunch of poppy seeds in an enticing way. Easy to make — this picture-pretty bread is especially delightful served as a warm accompaniment for fresh spring salads.

Lemon Poppy Seed Bread is made with enriched flour, containing the essential B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin, and riboflavin, and the mineral, iron. The nutritional advantages of using enriched flour in all baking is an important consideration to the wise homemaker.

LEMON POPPY SEED BREAD
1 loaf

½ cup milk
1 tablespoon poppy seed
2 cups sifted enriched flour*
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind

Combine milk and poppy seeds. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs and lemon rind. Blend flour mixture into creamed mixture alternately with milk and poppy seeds, beating well after each addition. Turn into 8½ x 4½-inch greased loaf pan. Bake in preheated 350° oven, 1 hour and 10 minutes, or until golden brown. Cool on wire rack 5 minutes before removing from pan.

*If you don't sift and in absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into a one-cup dry measure, level off, then remove two tablespoons according to USDA recommendations.

NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

Food Buying Guide

The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that ample supplies of meat and poultry and good stocks of some fresh vegetables and fruit will be available this weekend in food stores and supermarkets.

Heading the list of abundant meats are broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys. Beef roasts and steaks may fall into the abundant class in most areas along with ground beef in some areas. Pork roasts should be in good supply in all areas along with ham and bacon in some areas. Fish fillets and steaks and fish sticks and portions are fish buys to watch for, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Bake A Surprise, Serve Ham Pie

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Nutrition Editor

Here's a delicious ham pie. Why not try it for a change and surprise the family?

HAM PIE

¼ cup onion flakes
1¼ cups fresh mushrooms sliced, or 1 can (6 or 8 ozs.) sliced mushrooms
3 cups thinly sliced celery
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground thyme
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
1¼ cups milk
2 tablespoons sherry (or water)
1 package (10 ozs.) pie crust mix
¼ cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
8 thin slices baked or boiled ham. . . .

Blend onions with ¼-cup water; let stand 8 minutes to soften. In large skillet, saute onions with mushrooms and celery in butter, 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in flour, salt and thyme; also black pepper. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly. Return to heat and cook, stirring until thickened. Remove from heat and stir in wine. Add cheese to pie crust mix; prepare pastry according to package directions. Line a 1½-quart casserole or baking dish with pastry. Arrange a layer of ham slices, overlapping slightly, in bottom of dish. Cover ham with one-third of vegetable mixture. Fill casserole with alternate layers of remaining ham and celery mixture, in that order. Moisten edges of pastry. Roll out remaining pastry. Cut vents in center and place over top of casserole. Seal well and flute edges. Bake in preheated 375-degree oven about 50 minutes. Serve hot. Four portions.

Round Steak Is Economical Buy

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Nutrition Editor

Round steak, because it has very little waste, is usually an economical but although it's not as flavorful as other steaks because it lacks marbling. The full round contains three muscles which vary in tenderness.

Be sure to look for U. S. Department of Agriculture meat grading marking. This will tell you what grade the meat received when inspected by expert graders — Prime, choice and good — rolled on all surfaces along the length of the carcass and across both shoulders.

Top round, the tenderest of the three muscles, can be broiled or pan-broiled in prime and choice grades; braise the lower grades. Also called inside round.

Bottom round, not as tender as top; cook with moist heat in all grades. Also called outside round, bottom round is often sold with the eye-of-the-round attached.

Eye-of-round, also a less tender cut, but when sliced, thin, prime and choice grades can be pan-broilerd; cook with moist heat in other grades.

Washington Window

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House:

The "Nixon for President Committee" has gone into the opinion survey business. Well, sort of.

The organization pushing the presidential candidacy of the former Republican vice president recently mailed out an impressively red, white and blue folder containing five or six questions under six subject headings such as foreign,aid and Vietnam.

"Your opinion is urgently needed to guide us in shaping the Republican victory for 1968," the folder said. "To simplify things,we are asking your opinion on six issues. Please check the answers which must closely reflect your views and mail this form immediately."

Only one drawback. No return address. No instructions on where to mail it. Such, apparently, are the hazards of bulk mailing and campaign hither-dither.

And speaking of typographical upsets, this one is totally unrelated to politics but nonetheless intriguing.

A Washington hostess was delighted recently to receive as a gift an attractive Chinese brazier, complete with serving dishes for Oriental food and a small cookbook—all from Hong Kong.

The cookbook contained some excellent Chinese recipes translated into English. The prize recipe, in fact, included as a principal ingredient one of the dirtiest words in the English language, leading someone who read the book to observe, "here is a classic case of Hong Kong Chinese losing something in translation."

Thousands of these handy little helpers must be in existence in American gift and specialty shops.

Judge Sees Marijuana Legalization

By KENNETH R. CLARK

BROWNSVILLE (UPI) —A Cameron County district court judge feels that an inability on the part of the adult community to communicate with today's youth ultimately could result in the legalization of marijuana.

Judge H. A. Garcia, of the 138th District Court on Brownsville, said he drew no parallel between liquor and marijuana, but he said youthful attitudes toward the latter apparently match attitudes taken toward liquor during prohibition.

"It's a case of rebelling again the old folks," he said. "Prohibition was repealed because too many young people decided it was a bad law. They drank anyway—and many of them went blind from drinking Jamaica ginger and wood alcohol."

Garcia said he now could see the same process taking place with regard to marijuana.

Judge Garcia discussed the problem shortly after handing Jose Andres Salinas, 19, of Brownsville, a five-year probated sentence for conviction of marijuana possession.

Prior to granting probation, he questioned Salinas in detail about his views of drug use, and explained the necessity of enforcement of any law "so long as it is on the books."

"Sometimes legislatures make a mistake and pass laws the people do not want," he told the young offender. "If a law is not a good law, it should be changed. I don't know if marijuana is harmful or not. There are medical opinions on both sides of this question. If a law is not good, let's get it changed — but meanwhile, we have to observe it."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Diamond, Turk & Co. say "cash, rather than common sense," seems to be the major prop under the current market, adding that present uncertainties hardly take for "an ideal investment climate." Still, the investment adviser says, most people are convinced the market is "the only game in town" as they seek profits and hedges against inflation; thus, "we expect to see continuing gains in the market."

Indicator Digest Inc. advises investors to take advantage of good trading situations backed up by solid fundamentals but be cautious regarding the longer term picture until various "international question marks" are cleared up. The company says that the day these issues are resolved and "speculative excesses and maladjustments" are corrected, investors can start feeling secure about a long range investment program.

McDonnell & Co. says the basic direction of the economy and stock market is upward, as is the short-term trend. It advises investors to "ignore the small peaks and valleys" traveled by the market in its journey "to potentially high long-term objectives."

Bache Co. says any market reaction to the Kennedy shooting will be "psychological and short-lived." It says that the forces which have been fueling the current market appear "sufficiently powerful to overcome the shock of the tragic news."

Washington Report

from Congressman BOB PRICE 19th District, Texas

A nationally televised program, "Hunger in America," has stirred up a storm of protest and denial by those who administer welfare foods programs. Following the broadcast, Secretary of Agriculture, Orville L. Freeman, reported his views to Rep. Carl D. Perkins, Chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee. That committee had begun hearings on a proposal to establish a commission to investigzte hunger in the United States following an earlier and widely publicized report by a nonfederal group known as "The Citizens Board of Inquiry into Hunger and Malnutrition in the United States."

Freeman told the president of the network that the report on hunger was dishonest and asked for equal time to tell what Food programs. " 'Hunger in America," bluntly and simply, was a travesty on objective reporting." Freeman wrote the president of the network. "It presented to millions of viewers a distorted, oversimplified picture of domestic hunger and what is being done about it."

Immediately after the first report by the so-called Citizens Board of Inquiry was issued, my committee, the House Agriculture Committee, began an W. R. Poage wrote the Health inquiry of his own. Chairman W. R. Poage wrote the Health Officers of the 256 counties listed. In his letter to the officials Poage noted that their areas had been designated as "hunger counties." He pointed out that the agriculture committee is greatly concerned with any possible lack of ability of people to obtain an adequate supply of food, then added this request: "I would greatly appreciate it if you would immediately advise me whether you have any personal knowledge of any actual starvation in your county. Second, do you have any personal knowledge of any srrious hunger in your county occasioned by inability to the individual to either buy food or receive public assistance."

Replies have been received from more than half of the counties named in the report, and are still coming in. Most are signed by medical doctors serving as health officers. No one would state that he knew of a single case of starvation in his county.

Two of these counties were in the 18th Congressional District—Motley and Cottle. The replies including one from the County Health Officer of Motley County, reported no case of actual starvation, but numerous instances of malnutrition. With few exceptions they were blamed on ignorance on the part of parents as to what foods constituted a balanced diet. The letter from the doctor at Matador said the County received about for welfare, "and often it is hard 7,000 pounds of food monthly for welfare, "and often it is hard to find enough people who can qualify for it."

The Mayor of Paducah —Cottle County — which was also listed, said his inquiry to the and City officials, City and Counwelfare Department, County and City officials, City and County Health officers, church groups and interested citizens revealed that "none of these people knew anything about a survey being conducted in this area. I have arrived at the conclusion that no survey was made in this area. . ."

Certainly no one in actual need should be expected to go hungry or suffer from malnutrition. But from the real evidence produced so far, the so-called Citizens Committee was created for the purpose of developing hysteria without regard for the facts, and the establishment of another commission to review the work of a headline seeking group whic' has made such a fantastic report.

Women's News

Wanda Mae Huff, Women's Editor

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I was born in Vermont, where I lived for over 50 years. Now owing to ill health I am living with a younger brother in Nevada.

I have had little formal education, and my brother and his wife are both college graduates. To them, my way of speaking is hilariously funny. Even their children will repeat something I have said, and the whole family will laugh uproariously.

My brother will say, "We're having company tonight. Stick around. They'll get a kick out of hearing you talk." Should I be flattered? Or should I suggest that they charge admission?

I respect my brother and his family for their kindness to me, but how does one keep from feeling resentment? I sometimes wonder if others are also going through the same thing, and if so, how do they handle it?

HURT

DEAR HURT: In all probability, your brother and his family are not aware of how you feel. So tell them. People with accents, (southern, Yankee, eastern, midwestern, and foreign) are frequently the objects of "Curiousity" away from home. Of course it is rude and unkind to laugh at such a person, even though the laughter may be more amusement than ridicule.

DEAR ABBY: Unlike the 14-year-old girl whose problem was a mustache, our 13-year-old daughter, Cynthia, has thick, black sideburns wnich are very conspicious.

I think they look terrible, and when she goes anywhere with me, I make her comb her hair to hide them, but Cynthia thinks they look so "neat" she loops her hair over her ears to show them off!

Abby, she tries to tell me they are "in" now. In fact, she picked up a newspaper at a barbershop showing an ad of "HIS AND HERS" sideburns, sold by some wigmaker in New York (Do they actually make such items, or is it a joke?)

Cynthia boasts that she's the only 7th grader (male or female) with genuine sideburns— like Dino Martin.

I never thought I would produce a freak like her. Maybe she'll outgrow it, but in the mean time, will you pray for us?

PASS CHRISTIAN, MISS

DEAR PASS: The only problem I see here is a mother who is making a problem where none exists. Let the child alone. When Cynthia's sideburns become a liability to HER, together you can find a solution. In the mantime, I'll pray for a better understanding between you two.

DEAR ABBY: Last year we put in a swimming pool. Please don't get the idea that we are millionaires. We aren't. We are just average folks in moderate circumstances. We like to share our pool with our neighbors, but some people don't know when enough is enough.

We strated serving soft drinks to the kids, and beer to the adults, but that didn't last long. We did a bigger business than the country club.

How can we let our neighbors know that there are days when we've invited guests, and the whole neighborhood gang is not invited? I know we should not have been so big-hearted last year, but now that we realize our mistake what should we do?

PORTOLA VALLEY

DEAR PORTOLA VALLEY: Fly a little "flag" on a pole to let your neighbors know that the pool is open for "all." If you plan a private party, no flag. Then educate your neighbors.... It's as simple as that.

If your bra size falls within this range, then you can realize a new, youthful, naturally rounded bust silhouette without special exercising or heavy, unnatural padding.

Young Secret is an all-new kind of weightless wonder bra constructed of science fibers One startling innovation is the manner in which this bra, once put on, feels just like you. It actually moves as if it were you and looks perfectly natural in every possible way.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 7

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a big desire to produce results of your own choosing today and tonight so make a point to get into the things you wish to do early and carry through with the decision that you made during the past two days when you were in a highly cooperative state of making decisions for the future with other persons.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Keeping busy at handling payment and collection of bills, government matters mortgages etc., is fine today. Then show great devotion to loved one. Arrive at that fine understanding that will last far into the future.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Contact most cooperative at this time. Decidd. policy matters wisely. Think big and get big now should be your motto. Stop thinking along such small and petty lines.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have some precise work to perform so get at it early instead of going off on a frivolous tangent. Fellow workers will gladly help you in your finest aims. Show that you are appreciative.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can meet with success in just about any sphere in which you want to express yourself, so make your plans early and carry through. Evening can be equally successfully on the social side. Be dynamic.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Study your home well and see what needs to be done to improve it, both within and without. Make all more harmonious with kin, servants. Spend time planning more foundational security as well.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you sit down early with associates and plan how to be more efficient in your joint operations, you can get ahead much faster in the days ahead. Get machinery checked over. Avoid any possible hazards.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You know you need to make more money, so why don't you think big if you want to get big? Contact that important business expert and get advice you need. Then you can impress that mate of yours in P. M.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Others should not expect so much from you and it would be well if you taught more of helping yourself right now. It's vital you get your health improved, even if it only means resting more. Forget all this altruism business for the time being.

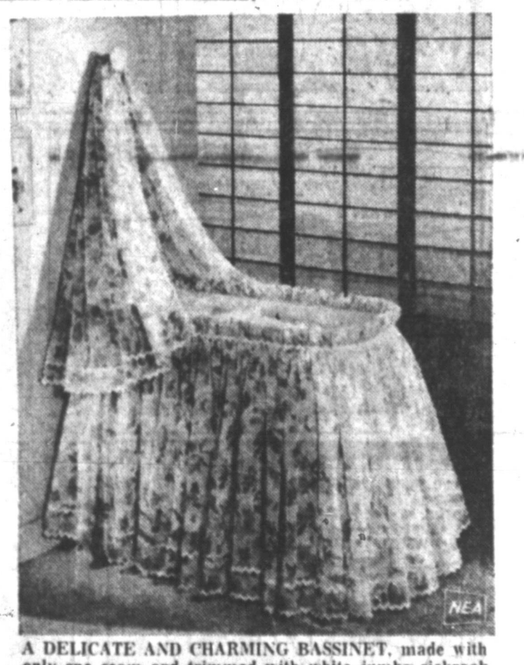

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec. 21) Simmer down and get busy with some private angling that will put all of your business affairs on an even keel. Add to success in the near future. Once your work is finished find happiness with mate—or get yourself one if you are single.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Carrying through with what a good pal has to suggest is best for your interests, since his, or her, ideas are unshakeable anyway. Then off to the social together. Add to your present circle of friendly contacts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) All you have to do is to be in civic-minded circles and you can contact that bigwig who can extend the big favor you want. Also, your contribution in that area can be very meritorious. Be sincere.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Why don't you do something constructive about all those really good ideas buzzing around in your mind instead of bemoaning your fate? Listen to what others have to suggest as well. Success comes more easily.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she will be one of those very dynamic youngsters who can just about magnetize everyone around and should early get into athletics since the physique is excellent and there is much speed here, too. See to it early that there isn't some fixation that could spoil an otherwise fine chart. Give right religious training.

A DELICATE AND CHARMING BASSINET, made with only one seam and trimmed with white jumbo rickrack by J. P. Coats. This original design makes it possible to use the material for other purposes after the baby outgrows the bassinet.

THE LOOK FOR SUMMER is a pretty one. Organdy bands of lace spill from a fitted bodice with a ruffled low scoop neckline (left). The midi, a new look for evening, is featured in this design for David Styne by Eloise Curtis. Ole Borden bares the rib cage for summer in his collection for Rembrandt in the two-part costume (center) of canary yellow four-ply crepe. The bodice is cut on bathing suit lines with a halter top, the skirt gently gathered. Over it he throws a gently tailored jacket. The tailored look with touches of softness (right) is from the Mignon collection by Dorothy Farbo. In beige and white diagonally woven cotton, the ruffled silk organza blouse is tucked into an A-line skirt under a jacket with a hint of fit.

Nursery Material Leads Double Decorating Life

By JOANNE SCHREIBIR

One of the nicest of all redecorating jobs is getting a nursery ready for a new baby. Whether the baby is the first or the fifth, the setting must be fresh, the paint new, the fabrics as soft and pretty as the little newcomer.

Today's mothers no longer puzzle over pink or blue or compromise with yellow or white, they whisk straight off to the dress-goods section of their department or fabric stores and pick up several yards of the prettiest sheer summer print they can find —lawn or voile, all cotton or a cotton-and-Dacron blend, printed or embroidered. Then they make a bassinet skirt and canopy to provide a flower-fresh setting for the baby.

This skirt-and-canopy design has a double life. It is so constructed that it can be reused as dress or curtain material. After the baby graduates to a crib, the gathering may be removed, and mother will have yards and yards of lovely material—enough to make a summer evening dress, for her new slim figure, to make airy nursery curtains or to use (with a lining) as a bedspread.

This bassinet skirt is made from a single length of 45-inch material, cut lengthwide so that one strip forms the skirt, the other the canopy. It's a practical idea and an easy one to carry out using directions contained in the newest Stitchin' Time leaflet.

For directions on the bassinet skirt, plus other new-baby items, including embroidered bibs and a gay laundry bag, write for Stitchin' Time leaflet J 204. Send 50 cents to Stitchin Time, P. O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., 10019. Be sure to include your own name, address and zip code.

This bassinet skirt would make a wonderful gift for a mother-to-be. She would have a lovely setting for her baby and yards of material as well for later use.

CLEAN FACE, SOFT SKIN

If you want a really clean face and baby - soft skin, but don't want that dry, taut feeling that comes from most soap and water washing, try this method of facial cleansing: Liberally apply baby oil all over your face and neck with your fingertips, using gentle, circular movements. Allow oil to remain on your skin for a few minutes to dissolve all the make-up, then remove with a washcloth saturated with warm water. Rinse with cool water, and allow your skin to dry naturally.

Senator Was Sports Fan

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—This was two hours before he was shot.

The returns were beginning to swing more and more his way and in his suite in the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was having a cup of coffee.

One of his aides came into the suite from across the corridor.

"Don Drysdale just broke the record," he told Kennedy, excitedly. "Six straight shutouts."

"Good," said Kennedy, who follows baseball and, sensing an important victory for himself now, was able to share in part the warm feeling of another winner.

The Dodger right-hander nailed down the final out of his 5-0 record-breaker against the Pittsburgh Pirates at 10:26 p.m., California time. Kennedy learned the news shortly after 10:30.

By 12:15 a.m. he was in the Embassy Room of the hotel. The room was filled with his supporters and they knew why the beaming Senator from New York was appearing before them now. He had surged ahead of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in California's Democratic presidential primary for the first time only minutes before. Only five minutes more and he would take one bullet in the head and another in the neck from a furtive gunman as he left this same room.

Praises Another

Kennedy originally came to the Embassy Room to claim victory over McCarthy but even before that he chose to speak of someone else's.

"I first want to express my high regard for Don Drysdale," he said, causing most of the Los Angeles people in front of him to smile even more than they had been. "I hope we have as good luck in our Democratic campaign."

It was more than coincidence that the first words out of Kennedy's mouth to his backers there in that crowded room had to do with something which had to do with sports. The Kennedy name has always been synonymous with athletics.

Stan "The Man" Musial recalls how near the end of his playing career the late John F. Kennedy kidded him by saying:

"We're about the same age, so how come they keep saying "I'm too young and you're too old?"

Robert F. Kennedy feels much the same way about sports and athletics that his brother John did. Down through the years they'd frequently discuss what was wrong with the Red Sox.

Two athletes were right there when Robert F. Kennedy was shot and they had a part in apprehending the would-be assassin.

Rosie Grabs Gunman

Roosevelt Grier, the 6-foot-5, 290-pound one-man brigade for the Los Angeles Rams, grabbed the gunman's arm and Rafer Johnson, the 6-foot-3 220-pound former Olympic decathlon champ, hoisted the guy off his feet and slammed him onto a kitchen table.

Kennedy's assassilant was a little over-matched against those two.

"Rosie is a real easy-going fellow, and has a gentle nature, but it isn't recommended to get him mad," says Allie Sherman about Grier, who he coached with the New York Giants. "He takes charge of a situation very quickly. Let's just say you can not afford to mess with him."

Robert F. Kennedy knows all about the way Rosie Grier moves. He enjoyed watching him any number of times the same way he enjoyed watching most athletes in action.

SWIMMING at Pampa's pool is a popular recreation in the summer, especially with the younger set. Pictured are a group of swimmers who have taken advantage of the warmer weather here recently.

Johnson's Grand Slam Home Run 'Aids Baltimore Victory Over California

By GARY KALE
UPI Sports Writer

Dave Johnson's call for a "medic" was waved off by a tough ex-Marine who knows the value of combat-tested men.

D-Day plus 24 years finds Baltimore Oriole Manager Hank Bauer in another kind of battle, where the stakes are high and a sustained attack could mean another American League pennant to the grizzled veteran.

Bauer acknowledged Johnson's plight, created when the Baltimore second baseman was hit on the hand in a recent Boston series and injured it further during the fourth inning Wednesday night when he tagged California's Roger Repoz trying to stretch a single into a double.

But the situation was critical. The Orioles had the bases loaded the next inning and Johnson was up. He leaned toward the dugout and asked Bauer if he wanted somebody to pinch hit for him. The Baltimore manager shrugged him off and Johnson promptly belted the ball into the right field seats for the first grand slam homer of his career. It helped beat California 7-1.

Stengel's Rules

"I had to tell Bauer I was hurting," Johnson explained. "Last year I got into the doghouse when I tried to hide a back injury. Bauer told me at the time that he was a Stengel disciple and Casey couldn't stand it if a guy played with an injury and didn't report it."

Johnson's homer was his fourth of the season and kept second place Baltimore 2½ games behind Detroit in the standings. Curt Motton also homered for the Orioles as Jim Hardin pitched a strong five-hitter for his seventh win in nine decisions. The Oriole righthander, who was 8-3 with Baltimore last season, threw only other first baseman who is strikes as he fanned eight batters. Tom Satriano spoiled his shutout with a seventh-inning homer.

Detroit edged Boston 5-4, Cleveland nipped Chicago 1-0, Washington rapped Oakland 3-1 and New York routed Minnesota 7-2 in other American League games.

In the National League, New York beat Chicago 4-2, Philadelphia defeated San Francisco 2-1, Cincinnati walloped Atlanta 10-0, St. Louis whipped Houston 3-1 and Los Angeles edged Pittsburgh 2-1.

McLain Wins Ninth

Denny McLain won his ninth game against a single loss as he received three innings of hitless relief from Daryl Patterson. Detroit gained the victory when Boston's sure-handed shortstop Rico Petrocelli threw away a seventh inning double play grounder and allowed Dick McAuliffe to score all the way from first.

Jose Cardenal broke out of a one-for-27 slump with a second-inning single to bring home Cleveland catcher Duke Sims with the only run of the game. Chicago, plagued by one-run losses this season, was limited to six hits as Stan Williams picked up his fourth victory of the year.

Frank Howard, Washington's Paul Bunyanesque slugger, drove in all the Senators' runs against Oakland with a two-run homer, his 21st and a single. Howard also doubled to raise his batting average to .359. Camilo Pascual benefited from the Howard fireworkds, winning his fifth game against three losses.

Joe Pepitone, hitting .464 with men on base since his return to the Yankee lineup on May 25, drove in six runs with a grand slam homer and a triple. Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva hit back-to-back homers in the fifth inning for Minnesota's only runs. Mel Stottlemyre raised his record to 7-4 and Dean Chance's mark was lowered to 4-7.

Pampa Tops Perryton

Righthanders George Bailey and Al Gomez combined to pitch a three-hitter and lead the Pampa American Legion baseball team over Perryton's American Legion squad, 7-2, in the district opener for both clubs at Optimist Park Wednesday night.

Pampa had a big fourth inning. The Rebels scored five runs on a total of six hits when eight batters went to the plate.

Shortstop Al Achord led with a single followed by four hits and a walk which sent starting Perryton pitcher, Teryl Rorabaugh to the showers.

Lefthander Michael Hargrave came in to relieve the righthander.

Larry Turcotte's fly to center field which outfielder Richard Traylor lost in the lights resulted in two runs for Pampa and was the big hit of the inning.

Perryton came back with two runs in the fifth inning and left the bases full as Richard Taylor whiffed. A walk, an error, wild pitch helped account for the two runs scored by Rorabaugh and Jim Hart.

Pampa tallied twice in the sixth frame when Tom Hawkins hit another long ball to center and again it was lost in the lights by the center fielder. This drove in Steve Sumners with a run. Sumners had singled.

Larry Kotara's slow roller down the third base line scored Hawkins with the second run of the inning and the score was 7-2 in favor of Pampa.

It was a contest which saw a total of 29 strikouts. Pampa batters whiffed 13 times, Perryton stickers struck out a total of 16 times.

George Bailey was credited with the win although Al Gomez hurled strong ball after entering the contest in the fifth inning.

Teryl Rorabaugh was the losing hurler.

Perryton had a good opportunity to come back strong in the fifth inning when they loaded the sacks on three straight walks. Traylor hit one sharply down the right field line which was foul by inches. Then, Gomez bore down and struck out the Traylor to end the threat.

Pampa's next contest is a home game with Spearman June 8.

Odessa Golf Team Ranks 3rd In Invitational Golf Event

ROSWELL, N.M. (UPI)—The National Junior College Invitational Golf Tournament heads into the third round of play today with Florida schools holding team and individual leads.

First round leader Miami-Dade shared the first place team lead with St. Petersburg (Fla.) Junior College after Wednesday's second round with 36-hole scores of 579.

Miami-Dade's Bill Springer charged out of the pack Wednesday with a three under par-68 to replace teammate Bruce Fleisher as the tournament's leading scorer with a 142 total.

Springer fired five birdies and two bogies in his round and leads Fleisher, Mike Eestridge of Polk (Fla.) Junior College Ed Pierce of St. John Rivers (Fla.) and Dick Stephens of St. Petersburg by one stroke.

Odessa Junior College, (Tex.) ranked third in the team standing behind the co-leaders with a 582 total with St. John River and Phoenix Junior College rounding out the top five entries.

St. John River's Ron Ferguson also shot a 68 to share low round honors with Springer. Ferguson's round came on the heels of an opening round 82 and now has a 150 total.

The 72-hole tournament is being played over the 6,585-yard long New Mexico Military Institute course with 168 players from 29 colleges entered.

Defending champion Chipola (Fla.) Junior College had trouble with the institute course and was well back in the pack after Wednesday's second round.

PRAYERS OFFERED

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (UPI)—Heavyweights Joe Frazier and Manuel Ramos, both of whom are preparing for their title fight in Madison Square Garden on June 24, took time out Wednesday to pray for the critically wounded Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Frazier, who shares part of the heavyweight title with Jimmy Ellis, prayed in the middle of the ring at the Concord Hotel while Ramos, the Mexican champion, did the same at his Grossinger's training base.

Richey Heads For Rematch

PARIS (UPI)—Billie Jean King has waited two months for her revenge battle with Nancy Richey.

Mrs. King of Long Beach, Calif., was sailing along with a first set victory and leading 5-1 in the second set when disaster struck during a recent New York tournament. Miss Richey, San Angelo, Tex., rallied to beat the chunky Californian, who recently turned pro.

A rematch was assured Wednesday when each won quarterfinal contests in the French Open tennis championships and advanced to the same semifinal bracket.

Mrs. King took advantage of numerous errors by Maria Bueno to beat the Brazilian by identical 6-4 scores. Miss Richey, still an amateur, dropped only one game in mauling Eleana Subirats of Mexico 6-1, 6-0.

Pancho Gonzales, 40-year-old pro from Los Angeles, split two sets with Australia's Roy Emerson to win a match which was halted by darkness Tuesday with the American leading 7-5, 6-3, 3-6.

Emerson, a freshman pro, won the first set Wednesday 6-4, to even the match, but wily Gonzales took the fifth and deciding set 6-4 to set up a semi-final meeting with Rod Laver of Australia.

AMERICANS COMPETE

CARDIFF, Wales (UPI)—Americans split their matches Wednesday at the Gaimorgan County lawn tennis championships.

Tom Edelfson of Berkeley, Calif., advanced to the semifinals by beating Len Straney of Australia 8-6, 6-1. Bill Tym lost to Dave Smith of Australia 6-3, 1-6, 1-0 when he quit during the third set.

The word assassin derives from the Arabic hashishin, literally a taker of the narcotic hashish. The word was brought to Europe by Crusaders returning from Syria and describes the alleged practice by certain terrorist groups of taking the drug to induce visions of paradise before setting out to face possible death in the course of political assassination.

Staub's Switch From Outfield May Earn Him All-Star Spot

By DARREL MACK

HOUSTON (UPI) — Rusty Staub of the Houston Astros reluctantly made the switch from the outfield to first base this year, but the change may well earn him a starting spot on the National League's all-star team.

Staub, who was on the all-star team as a reserve outfielder last year, is leading all National League first basemen in hitting this year with a .321 average and is fielding adequately.

Orlando Cepeda of the St. Louis Cardinals, last year's all-star first baseman, is off to a bad start, hitting only .253. The onlyother first baseman who is having as good a season as Staub is Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants.

Staub, who hit .333 and was one of the top outfielders in assists in the league last year, didn't want to switch to first base. He had started as first baseman at the age of 18 in 1963, but that wasn't a particularly happy summer and he was back to the minors to learn how to play the outfield.

By dilligent application and long hours of work, he developed into a better than average outfielder. He has one of the best arms in the league, being second only to Roberto Clemente in assists two years ago.

But Staub was big and slow, and he wasn't getting any smaller or faster. He also had leg trouble and manager Grady Hatton figured he would have less trouble with his legs if he moved to first.

"I think it'll extend his careeer three to five years," Hatton said.

After two months at first, Staub agrees. He also said he likes the switch because he's "in the game at all times.

"I'm a talker," Rusty said. "I like to talk a situation out. you're going to blow your mental on situations 2-3 times a year. If you talk it out, maybe you won't."

"The main thing I missed in the outfield is not being able to throw," he said.

Casper Pitted Against Field

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Veteran pro Billy Casper was pitted against the field today in the $100,000 "500" Festival Open golf tournament, which he sought to win for the third time.

A field of 144 started competition over the long-playing Speedway course, a 7,179-yard, par 72 layout that is only three years old.

Casper, the pro tour's leading money winner with $104,000, holds the tourney record, an 11-under-par 277, set two years ago over this same court adjacent to the famed 500-mile auto race oval.

Casper won here in 1962, also, and the only other two-time winner, Doug Ford, also was entered. So were defending champion Frank Beard, who hasn't won a tourney since his triumph here a year ago; Dow Finsterwald, and Australian Bruce Crampton.

The 72-hole grind ends Sunday, with $20,000 going to the winner.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

No Spending Cut in Sight

All of the talk about how for the fact that Williams is a President Johnson and members of Congress were ready to exercise a small amount of restraint in spending seems to have been just talk.

Senate and House conferees two weeks ago agreed to Johnson's 10 per cent increase in taxes along with a $6 billion cut in government spending. But the administration is unwilling to go along with the spending cut below $4 billion, so there is no action on approval of the legislation.

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware says Johnson's administration is "playing politics while the American dollar goes down the drain." He said the administration is putting out scare reports about how the additional cut in spending would cripple such programs as school aid, cancer research, rural electrification, veterans' programs and school lunches.

"Let us face it," he said. "All of these scare reports represent backstage tactics on the part of an administration which in effect wants to defeat any play which would curtail its right to spend the taxpayers' money with a free hand.

"Apparently what the Johnson administration wants is a $10 billion tax increase and no control over expenditures. They want to use this extra revenue not to reduce the deficit but to finance an expansion of their Great Society spending schemes during this presidential election year They want to buy another election and pay for it with borrowed money."

That's a pretty stiff indictment, but one which seems justified, even making allowances member of the Republican party. Certainly there is no indication that the Johnson administration truly wants to take any real steps to reduce spending and help restore confidence in the dollar. This is despite warnings from all sides that unless steps are taken quickly toward balancing the national budget the dollar and other international currencies are doomed.

Arthur G. Lanston & Co., a dealer in government bonds, has this warning and comment:

"The consequences of a collapse in confidence in leading currencies and particularly the dollar, would be so horrendous that most people have thus far been unwilling to believe that the proper and essential measures for averting it will not at least be taken—if not in good time, at least in the nick of time. But recently this belief has been shaken, and more than a little.

"Questions are being raised as to whether our congressmen and the President can really understand how critical the situation is. . .boxing as they are over a $2 billion difference in a spending lid that is hardly a tight fit in any event. . ."

The White House expresses fear that some of its beloved give-away programs may be reduced with the spending cut of a little more than 1 per cent in a budget of more than $180 billion. If the dollar collapses, there will be far more serious consequences than a slight cut back in handouts. There just may not be anything to hand out at all.

Ever!

Government by Blackmail

It would be difficult indeed to find a person in these United States who doesn't have one or more proposals that he'd like to submit to the Congress in Washington. Every farmer we know has a few, as does any hou wife. We suspect that law enforcement officers even have a few bills they would like to see placed in the hopper. To a degree, every citizen is a lobbyist.

And all these lobbyists have a right to petition thier representatives for their personal self-interest. That right is important in our country. But the so-called "Poor People's March" is violating the code of civilized lobbying. In the first place, the billing as a poor people's march is misleading, as any recent visitor to the Lincoln Memorial area can testify. There are just too many high-priced automobiles parked at the perimeter of the plywood shanty town, and there are too many people coming and going from the fenced-in compound with expensive cameras handing about their necks. Any protest that the automobiles and cameras don't belong to residents of the commune can be ignored because no one else is allowed inside by the civilian guards at the gates.

In any event, on May 24, a mass demonstration was held in front of the Washington apartment building where Representative Wilbur Mills lives when the Congress is in session. The assembled lobbyists chanted and sang despite the fact that they had been informed that the Congressman was not at home, but had gone out for the evening to celebrate his birthday. The Reverand James Bevel of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, shouted to the throng that, "Wilbur Mills has snuck out of his rat hole and made a run for it. He's out getting drunk; but he'll be back. Surely it is obvious that anyone who would throw around slanderous statements such as this and expect favorable legislation in retturn is trying a new form of salesmanship.

A couple of days later, the leader of the march, the Reverend Ralph Abernathy, was quoted as saying that if his poor people's demands were not met the march will continue to the hometown of each Congressman.

Is that a petition? From where we sit it sounds more like blackmail. And our hunch is that home town neighbors of Congressmen will prove to be less tolerant of such demonstrations than Washington has been.

Canada Loads on Taxes

If you are past draft age but still entertain occasional thoughts of fleeing to Canada to escape not Selective Service but the tax collector, forget it.

Increases in income, sales, gasoline and diesel fuel, tobacco, liquor, motor vehicle and other taxes have been hiked in eight of Canada's 10 provinces so far this year, reports Commerce Clearing House.

Quebec has slapped a 6 per cent surtax on the income tax of individuals and doubled the capital tax on corporations. Newfoundland has upped its corporation income tax rate for the third time in two years.

As for the ubiquitous sales tax, it has been notched up another percentage point to 5 per cent in Saskatchewan and 7 per cent in Newfoundland.

Seven provinces have raised their gasoline taxes, by from 1 to 3 cents a gallon—except for Newfoundland, whose 5-cent boost brings its total to 25 cents a gallon, the highest in either Canada or the United States.

Five provinces have made it easier this year to kick the smoking habit. Ontario led the way with an increase from 2 cents to 6 cents on a pack of cigarettes.

You're just going to Canada to fish and see the scenery, you say?

Ontario plans numerous increases in fees and licenses — an ominous note for tourists, campers, anglers, hunters and just plain nature lovers, says the Clearing House.

He Started Underground Long Ago

By RAY CROMELY
Washington Correspondent

HONG KONG (NEA) This reporter's own first personal knowledge of Ho chi Minh's activities came in World War II.

Ho arranged to have his underground organization work for U. S. military agencies.

While this reporter was concerned with operations in China, not Indochina, in World War II, he had close contact with American Military men who were first-hand observers of Ho's activities at that time.

Ho's men were used as trail watchers to report on the movement of Japanese vehicles, arms and troops, and as coast watchers to report on the movement of Japanese ships.

His men were also used to aid U. S. Air Corps pilots and crewmen forced down or shot down in Japanese-occupied areas of northern French Indochina. Ho's principal mission in this field was to help these Americans get out of Japanese territory into nonoccupied areas of China.

Ho's men were charged with some sabotabe operations a- the Japanese. Ho also promjsed to conduct guerrilla war against the Japanese. Ho also promised to conduct guerrilla war against the Japanese rear if given sufficient arms.

To accomplish this promised guerrilla activity, Ho was given considerable amounts of U. S. equipment and supplies considering the size of his force.

These included rifles, light machine guns, portable radios and an array of other military goods. It is understood, for example, that he was given several hundred American light machine guns.

Ho, however, made very little use of these weapons and ammunition against the Japanese.

Instead, he used this armament largely to build his own strength in what is now North Vietnam. Rival groups were put down or forced under Ho's command, in part through the superiority these arms gave him.

But by and large, Ho preserved his weapons and equipment for use in his post-World War II struggle for control of northern Indochina.

When the Japanese were disarmed at the end of World War II, Ho picked up additional weapons and equipment. Rival groups, with lesser amounts of pick-me-up arms, stood little chance against Ho.

By destroying, severely weakening or absorbing other organizations, Ho's group was able to establish its dominance in the far northern area of Vietnam.

To insure his own victory, Ho had given a considerable number of non-Communists prominent roldes in his organizztion. This gave his front the aura of a popular democratic group.

But as Ho grew certain of victory over the French, he gradually began to purge non-Communists from key posts in his organization.

To separate the Communists from non-Communists, Ho organized classes for his high-ranking officers and civilian cadres. Those who entered the classes and did well in Marxist theory and who otherwise proved their devotion to communism moved up. Those who did not meet these stern tests were sacrificed to the French, shifted to dead-end posts murdered or ousted and allowed to leave with their lives.

Considerable numbers of the most determined military and civilian anti-communists in South Vietnam today are officials, officers or guerrillas who were under Ho in the war against the French.

A thought for the day: Ernest Hemingway said, "The world is a fine place and worth fighting for."

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

True Dislocation Of Knee Is Uncommon

Q—What would cause a person's bones to go out of joint? First it was my shoulder, then my knee and then my ankle.

A—A dislocation occurs when a long bone is forced into an unnatural position and the joint capsule tears, allowing the bone to leave the joint. True dislocation of this joint due to a torn knee cartilage is common and is often erroneously called dislocation of the knee. If you are an accident-prone person, you should learn to relax when you fall, like a professional tumbler, or avoid rough sports.

Q—My husband has water on his knee. What causes it and can anything be done for it?

A. Water on the knee is an accumulation if synovial fluid in the joint, due to inflammation. Various treatments have been used, depending on individual circumstances. these insluded keeping the knee elevated and applying ice bags for two or three days, withdrawing the fluid and injecting hydrocortisone into the joint or, in chronic cases (those of at least three years' duration), injecting a collodial radioactive gold solution.

Q.PWhat are the symptons of a torn cartilage in the knee? What is the best treatment for it?

A—A torn cartilage in the knee will cause intermittent attacks of locking of the joint, pain and an accumulation of fluid in the joint. X ray films are negative because they do not show soft parts (skin, blood vessels, nerves, tendons, muscles and cartilage). Once torn, a cartilage rarely heals and the only cure is surgical removal of the torn fragment. Whether this needs to be done or not depends on how much trouble the knee is giving you and how well you can manage with ice packs, rest and protective bandaging.

Q—During an operation (arthrodesis), a screw was placed in my ankle bone. How can I tell when the screw should be removed? If some pain returns would this be caused by the screw?

A—Arthrodesis is a surgical freezing or immobilizing of a joint. When a screw is driven into a bone, it is often left there for life. Any decision to remove it should be left up to your surgeon. Pain in the ankle following this operation might be from a variety of causes but it is most unlikely that it is caused by the screw.

There Are Many Reasons For Saving Your Teeth

DEAR DR. LAWRENCE: My teeth have always given me trouble. Every time I went to the dentist, he found new cavities and it cost me lots of money. About three years ago, I decided not to spend another cent on them and, when the time came, I'd have them pulled out and false teeth made. But now I'm not so sure about this, because I hear so many people complain about their dentures. What should I do?

ANSWER: Save your teeth. With the money it will cost you to have your teeth extracted and dentures made, you'll have enough to take care of your teeth for many years.

Save your teeth. It's a heck of a nuisance to wear full upper and lower dentures. Let's assume you are fortunate enough to get the perfect dentures: they fit precisely, they make you look like Liz Taylor and enable you to bite the heads off steel spikes.

Save your teeth. The fact is, there are no such perfect dentures. This does not mean that millions of people are not getting on well with dentures. A cynical old professor once said that people will even get used to wearing clam shells.

Save your teeth. Even with so-called perfect dentures, patients must contend with: tremendous loss of chewing power (from 200 pounds per square inch to less than 50); more rapid changes in facial contours than occur in a natural aging process; removing teeth many times a day for cleaning and sometimes just for resting the tissue; not infrequent breakage, usually at awkward moments; and not infrequent pain.

Save your teeth. Dentures wobble and slide because they rest on soft tissue. They limit one's diet to denture-chewable foods. Many denture wearers claim they can eat anything. What they mean is that their desires in f 1 have been limited by natural selection to what they can chew.

Save your teeth. If they loosen, periodontal treatment may save them; if they abscess, nerves can be removed and abscesses drained; if they break, they can be crowned; if they decay, they can be filled; if they're crooked, they can be straightened; if they discolor or are ugly looking, they can be capped.

Save your teeth.

AN IMPORTANT ISSUE

U.S. policy toward Fidel Castro's Cuba may become a much-discussed issue in this year's presidential campaign. The fact cannot be escaped that Cuba has become a base not only for Latin American subversion, but for worldwide subversion as well. Havana is the site of headquarters for the Tricontinental Organization (Asia, Africa and Latin America) which promotes in every way possible the solidarity of so-called "anti- imperialist" movements of the three continents.

The Tricontinental Organization runs 43 guerrilla training camps with the stated purpose of training fighters for "more Vietnams." It has a subsidiary called the Latin-American Solidarity Organization, which maintains a Tricontinental Information Center in New York City.

The Soviet Union, of which Cuba is a client state, is carrying on a twofold offensive against Latin America. On the one hand, Russia gives support to Castro's policy of fostering violent revolution in several countries. On the other hand, the Soviets open diplomatic relations and conclude trade agreements with the very governments their agents are working to destroy.

At the same time, Russia has reduced U.S. strategic superiority in the Caribbean area. According to the highly knowledgeable Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, the Soviet Union maintains in Cuba 23 operational sites for small missiles and six sites for winged missiles and has perhaps as many as 30,000 members of its own armed forces on the island. These are matters that seriously threaten the internal security of the United States. As such, they should be candidly discussed during this presidential election year.

World Book Lore

Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for President of the United States in 1904, 1908, 1912, and 1920, received nearly 1,000,000 votes in the 1920 election. He was in prison at the time.

Laser May Unlock Heavy Oil Reservoirs

By PRESTON F. KIRK

HOUSTON (UPI) — The awesome and apparently limitless energy of the atom is about to unlock heavy oil reservoirs, a veteran oilfield technologist predicted Tuesday.

Robert V. New said he has developed a Laser- principle technique that promises to make commercially available hundreds of billions of barrels of heavy oil heretofore economically unreachable.

New, who founded Continental Southern Corp. and Continental Northern Corp., helped pioneer the development of directional drilling from extremely high angles.

New said his announcement comes after six years of research in which he was assisted by H. J. Gruy, Dallas petroleum engineering consultant, and Dr. Harold E. Rorscach, chairman of the physics department of Rice University at Houston.

"This work has paralleled development of commercial applications of the Laser (light amplification by stimulated emisi sion of radiation)," New said.

New has named his method "Paser," (production amplification by stimulated emission of radiation.j)

The laser-principle technique may be applied to recover the huge quantities of heavy, viscous oil which are known throughout the Western Hemisphere, most of it in relatively shallow reservoirs, he said.

"The Canadian tar sands are the world's greatest unrecovered reservoir of oil and U.S. supplies are enormous," New said.

Nothing Really New

"There are no essentially new elements in the method," he said. "The newness was in the combination of elements."

The Paser technique consists of injecting heat radiation and high-temperature inert gas into the oil-bearing formation. Three things occur:

(1) the infra-red radiation transfers heat and hot gas to the heavy oil, reducing its viscosity; (2) the oil absorbs part of the injected gas, thus diluting the oil) (3) the injected gas assists in the flow of oil as it sweeps the reservoir to produce residual oil."

In 1940 Italian Dictator Benito Mussolini declared war on France and Britain.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—You sit there looking at television and you wonder: will the shooting of John Kennedy, Martin Luther King and now Robert Kennedy frighten politicians from taking strong, controversial positions on the home screen?

Will there be a stifling fear, in the back of politicians' minds, that if they speak out toughly and intensely on key issues, some potential assassin sitting out there in the audience may make an attempt on their lives? Does, indeed, a still tongue—or at least a tactful one make for a happy life?

Communications theorist Marshall McLuhan may well have hit on a brilliant truism when he noted that television is basically a cool medium. Hot, intense personalities register with an enormous impact on video, and to the great discomfort of some viewers.

Personalities Register

Of the recent presidents who caused the least ripples on television, one must think of Dwight Eisenhower and Lyndon Johnson. Both Kennedys stirred either great love or enmity.

And as you sit there looking at television, you wonder also how much the permissiveness of modern American society, as reflected by video, encourages crackpots and or comspirators to believe they can get away with their schemes.

You turn on your set each evening, and you see guns galore, blazing away, and then some smooth spokesman for the television industry says that video doesn't really cause violence—that people know it's all for fun. And you turn on the news, and you hear some brilliant analyst making a halfway apology for rioters and looters who cause death and robbery. Anything goes, right? So why not try it. If you're not a great intellect, you may not intellectualize all the angles.

The NBC-TV local station offered a splendid example here Wednesday night. The last item or so on the evening newscast concerned gun control and showed Sen. Kennedy discussing it some days ago. And then the news was over—and immediately following came the Western series "The Virginian," with guns prominent.

Matter of Taste

I'm not convinced about collective guilt—but it does seem that the television industry could do more than it is doing to play down unnecessary violence and permissiveness. It isn't censorship. In most cases, it's just a matter of taste. Consider a good movie, "Bonnie and Clyde." While it was well done, the countless film offshoots—including television ads—tend to glamorize hoodlums, no matter how campy.

So here we have the incredible worldwide impact of American television, creating an image both at home and abroad about the people who live here and our way of life. We are known for our violence all over the world because of our films, and now we produce periodic assassinations which, transmitted abroad by television, merely verify the image we have thrust on ourselves.

The video industry certainly cannot stop violence by itself, but at least it can contribute to downgrading the monstrous impression we are giving of ourselves, not only overseas but right here at home, every night, in prime time, with millions watching. We are seeing too much of the ugliest American of them all—the violent one.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A young man I know recently told his parents he planned to drop out of college and join the U.S. Marines. Which is something of a switch these days.

The prevailing tendency seems to be for young men to enroll in college in order to stay out of military service.

This student's parents are pretty upset by his defection and are trying to persuade him to continue his education. But thus far he has refused to reconsider.

I gather that if they insist he remain in college he may burn his student deferment in protest.

Anyway, I got to wondering what might happen if the wave of violence that has hit several colleges this spring continues to intensify.

A situation could develop where it would be safer to be in the Marines than in the dean's office.

In that event, many students who are militant pacifists, or pacific militants, might start enlisting in the armed forces to avoid being sent to college.

One result would be an additional widening of the generation gap. Let us now leap ahead a few months and listen in while a youth explains to his father why he became a campus deserter.

"Look, Dad, it really isn't a question of guts. You know me well enough to know I'm not a coward. If I were not all convinced that campus violence is justified, I would be the first to volunteer for the fall semester."

"I'm sure of that, Son. But what this comes down to is a moral question. Somebody has got to attend college. Somebody has got to take the risk. Otherwise, there soon wouldn't be any higher education."

Such an argument could go on far into the night, but the basic issue is simple:

But he got nowhere. The court said he had no standing to complain about what might have happened—but didn't.

The Family Lawyer

One Angry Citizen

Let Congress levy a tax on cats, and any cat owner could challenge the constutionality of the law in the courtroom.

But suppose you have no cat. Could you still challenge the law, simply because you feel Congress is getting out of line? May any angry citizen raise the issue of constitutionality, just on general principles?

Ordinarily, no. The right to challenge the constitutionality of a law is limited to those who are directly involved. Unless you have some personal stake in the matter you lack what the law calls "standing" to sue the government.

Why not let anybody sue? Partly because there might be a court clogging flood of lawsuits, and partly because basic constitutional questions might be decided without the safeguard of having the arguments made by persons motivated by a real interest in the outcome.

What kind of a personal interest must you have to bring such a case?

The most obvious kind is financial. As a cat owner in the example above, you would have a direct interest—because the t would come out of your pocketbook. Likewise, a property owner was held qualified to challeng a zoning law, because it would cut the dollar value of his land.

Even if your interest is not financial, it may still be weighty enough to justify a suit. Thus, a court allowed the complaint of two trolley riders against the government for permitting music on trolleys. Iven thought the music did not cost them any money, it could cost them valuable peace of mind.

On the otherhand, your interest — financial or otherwise — won't support a suit if it is just too trivial. A taxpayer's attack on a federal appropriation bill was thrown out, because his stake in the total federal budget was held too tiny to really matter.

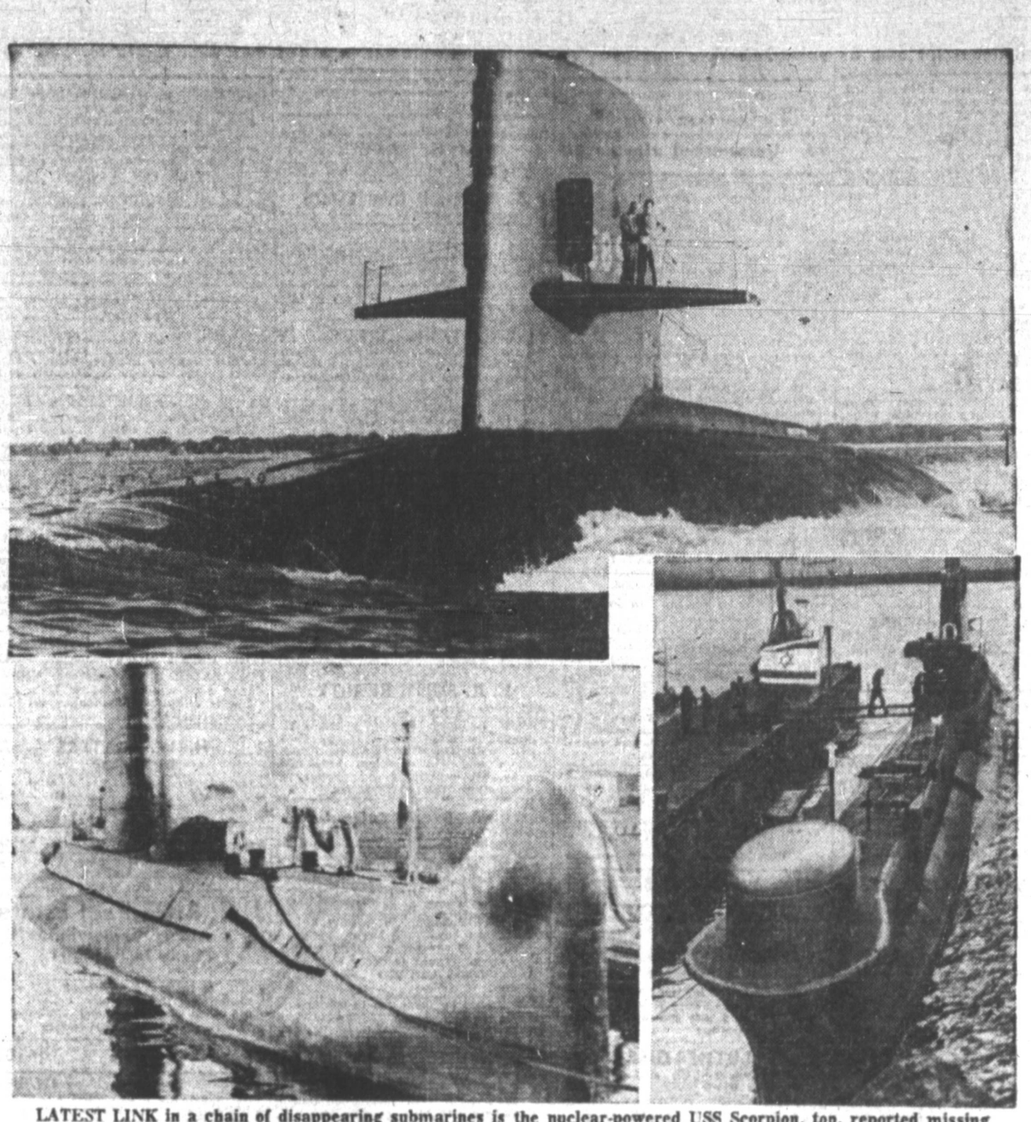

Is it fair for some young men to serve in the Marines while others are enduring the hardships of riots ,sit-ins and other campus upheavals?

My own feeling is that the only fair thing to do is to set up a selective student program and require all young men of college age to register.

Then, at the beginning of each term, there would be a lottery to determine which ones are drafted to attend classes.

GYPSYLIKE refugees in Saigon live wherever and however they can. Here, some youngsters help get out the family wash, laying it on hedges to dry.

French sub Minerve, bottom left, and Israel's Dakar, sister ship to the Dolphin, bottom right, have still not been found after being reported missing early this year.
