INDUSTRIAL PLANT SITE IS BOUGHT NEAR COLORADO

ICE, COLD STORAGE AND ICE CREAM PLANT TO BE IN OPERATION APR. 1

Announcement that Colorado is to have a modern ice and cold storage plant in operation by April 1 of next year was made here late Saturday by O. D. Dillingham, Abilene capitalist and banker. The Colorado plant will be built by Dillingham and his business associate, O. L. Alexander of Breckenridge on a site west of the Colorado river purchased from Earl Morrison Saturday.

Announcement that the plant would be erected here was made Saturday night after Dillingham and Alexander had been in consultation with officials of the chamber of commerce several hours. It developed that these men had been interested in building such a plant at Colorado for months but continued to defer definite announcement of these plans owing to inability to acquire a site with railway trackage facilities. The site purchased Saturday adjoins the Texas Sand & Gravel switch where the switch crosses the highway west of Colorado.

Actual construction of the new plant, which is to have a capacity of from 30 to 40 tons of ice daily, adequate cold storage facilities and a department for the manufacture of ice cream, will be started at the earliest possible date ,Dillingham announced Saturday night. The plant will be ready for operation by April 1.

Promoters of the plant announced that plans were already being drawn by architects and contracts would be awarded without delay. Machinery for the plant will be ordered as soon as specifications have been drafted.

"We are going to erect a plant at Colorado of which we feel sure this city will well be proud," Dillingham stated. "We have every confidence in Colorado and will not hesitate to put our money into an industry in keeping with the merits of your city." The projected plant will cost from $60,000 to $75,000.

The plant will manufacture distill water ice. Alexander, who is in charge of the Breckenridge Ice and Cold Storage Company Plant, a 90-ton plant, announced that they had found that it would be impractical to attempt to manufacture raw water ice from the present water supply.

Dillingham, whose home is in Abilene, controls ice and cold storage plants at Winters, Ranger and Breckenridge. He is president of the Citizens State Bank at Ranger and interested in a number of other enterprises.

Mr. Alexander, associated with Dillingham, is manager of the Breckenridge plant, one of the largest in the county. This plant has a capacity of manufacturing 90 tons of ice daily, freezing 1,200 gallons of ice cream and has large cold storage facilities.

Both of the men expressed optimism over future possibilities of Colorado and declared that the plant they proposed to build here would be enlarged from time to time as business justified. The local corporation will be known as Dillingham & Alexander.

AUCTION SALE OF LOTS IN ADDITION NOT HELD TUESDAY

On account of the rain auction sale of lots in the Hart-Costin addition to Colorado, advertised to have been held Tuesday morning at ten o'clock was postponed to Thursday afternoon at two. A. Harris of New York, auctioneer in charge of plans for selling the property and who will personally sell each lot to be placed on the block, is expecting hundreds of citizens to attend the sale.

Attractive terms have been advertised on this property. One fourth cash to be paid at time of purchase and balance in payments of $10 per month, with interest at the rate of 8 per cent. The addition adjoins the city on the north and is in direct line of development in the residence section of North Colorado.

23 HOMES BEING BUILT IN COLORADO THIS WEEK

Monday morning there were a total of 23 homes under construction in Colorado, according to a report issued by the chamber of commerce. This was an increase over the number reported under construction last week. Some of these homes are being completed during the week, but others were to be started, indicating that this ratio would easily be maintained if not increased.

Among the new homes projected is the D. H. Snyder residence, to cost $25,000. Snyder stated Monday that plans and specifications for the building had been completed but that no contract had been awarded.

All of the new construction reported is in the city proper north of Second street and for the most part in additions known as North Colorado.

CONTRACT BRICK BUSINESS BUILDING LET BY KEATHLEY

Mr. and Mrs. E. Keathley, owners of the Alamo Hotel, have awarded contract to John Shurtleff for construction of a brick business building adjoining the hotel on the south. The building, to be moern throughout will be 25 by 60 feet in size.

Excavations for foundation were begun by the contractor Monday. The building is scheduled to be completed at an early date.

L. Landau, manager of the Colorado Bargain House and the Economy Dry Goods Company at Midland, returned to Colorado Saturday after spending some time at Midland getting the new business started. Landau reported that business was good with his store at Midland His son, Chas. Landau is temporarily in charge of the business there.

ROSCOE WILL MEET WOLVES IN ARMISTICE DAY BATTLE

PLANS FOR CELEBRATION ON NOVEMBER 11TH YET TO BE COMPLETED

The Roscoe Plowboys, one of the strongest class B football teams in the district, are scheduled to play an Armistice Day game at the local athletic field on the afternoon of Wednesday, November 11. Smarting under the pangs of defeat rendered them a few days ago by Big Jim and his pack, the Roscoe gridsters are coming to Colorado with avowed determination of scalping the locals. The contest promises to be one of the best games yet played on the Colorado gridiron.

Roscoe is being praised for the clean sportsmanship displayed during the game there recently with Colorado. The two teams were held to a six-seven score, with Roscoe in the lead until just before the gong, when the Plowboys formidable line was crushed and the Wolves scored for a touchdown and goal kick.

J. B. Pritchett, commander of Oran C. Hooker Post, American Legion announced Wednesday afternoon that plans for fittingly observing Armistice Day here were very incomplete. Up to that time those having in charge the program details had failed to obtain engagement of the speaker desired. It was announced that in all probability a patriotic program would be given some time during the day.

COMPULSORY ATTENDANCE TO BECOME EFFECTIVE DEC. 1

The compulsory attendance law, which compels all scholastics to attend the public school 100 days out of each scholastic year, is to become operating in the Colorado independent district December 1, Superintendent R. B. Norman announced Monday.

G. D. Foster, county school superintendent, stated Monday that no date had as yet been set by the county board of school trustees as to enforcement of the act in rural school districts of the county. Foster was of the opinion the law would not become effective in these districts until January 1.

OCT. SETS NEW RECORD FOR COLLECTION OF TAXES

3 NON-RESIDENT PROPERTY OWNERS PAY ONE-FIFTH COUNTY TAXES

All former precedents in tax collections for the month of October in Mitchell county were shattered during this month in 1925, Office Deputy C. E. Franklin reported Tuesday. Franklin stated that tax collections at his office aggregated $30,000 for the month. In October, 1924, $5,000 in taxes were collected and prior to that year $1.000 was the highest record to ever be attained.

$20,000 of the amount paid into the tax collector's office during October represented payments received from non-residents, Franklin stated. Almost one-fifth of the total taxes assessed on the rolls of this county will be paid by three non-resident property owners, he said.

The tax collector is expecting receipt of automobile and truck license number plates daily now. The registrations may be paid after December 1. It is expected that almost 4,000 motor vehicles will be registered in the county for 1926.

FIFTEEN RURAL SCHOOLS IN COUNTY OPEN FOR THE YEAR

With eleven rural schools of the county opening for the year Monday the total of these schools now doing regular work was increased to fifteen. The schools opening Monday were Longefellow, Iatan, Payne, Seven Wells, Fairview, Valley View, Lowe, Horn's Chapel, McKenzie, Conoway and Baumann. Dorn, Spade Buford and Rogers started earlier. Dorn was the first to open and the others followed in the order named. Cuthbert, Shepherd and North Champion are planning to start next Monday, November 9, and the other six rural schools will be open for the year by November 1*th.

All the rural schools are planning for either a seven or an eight month term. There are new buildings at Lowe and Iatan this year and there are now eleven of the twenty-four rural schools that have teachers houses on the schooi grounds, Iatan, Silver, Looney and Lowe having built these homes this year.

"This department is proud of the corps of teachers assembled by the trustees of the rural schools," was the statement of G. D. Foster, county school superintendent, Wednesday. Foster declared that in his belief the rural teachers were the best ever assembled in this county. He is optimistic over outlook for a successful year's work with all the rural schools.

ANNUAL METHODIST MEETING TO CONVENE IN CANYON CITY

The annual meeting of the Northwest Texas conference, M. E. Church South, will be convened at Canyon Wednesday of next week by Bishop James Dickey of Waco, presiding bishop. Colorado is to be represented at the sessions by Rev. J. F. Lawlis, pastor of the First Methodist church.

The question of unification of the Northern and Southern bodies of Methodism is expected to command considerable interest among ministerial and laiety delegates attending the conference. Methodists of the Northwest Texas conference are expcted to register a majority vote against the plan.

Rev. Mr. Lawliss stated Wednesday that owing to the acute housing condition in Colorado, it had been decided that the next annual conference would not be invited here. He explained that with no change in this condition it would be difficult to entertain the approximate 300 people who would attend.

Mr. and Mrs. O. R. McCleress returned Monday night from Dallas where they attended the annual convention of agents representing Southwestern Life Insurance Company. McCreless has sold $225,000 in policies with this company since taking agency for this territory last January.

FREE OIL OF HIGH GRAVITY BAILING FROM O'DANIEL 1

PRODUCTION IS PICKED UP 230 FEET ABOVE PAY LEVEL IN FOSTER ONE

The big sensation in Colorado oil circles developed Thursday morning when the crew at Choate & Henshaws O'Daniel One, wildcat in section 24, block 30, T. & P. Ry. Co., survey, began to bail considerable free oil from the well at 2,640 feet. The oil is of high gravity and was found 230 feet above producing level in Foster One of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, four and one-half miles to the northwest.

Discovery of oil in the O'Daniel well will definitely settle the future of this city as becoming the center of operations for West Texas' coming big field. The new producer has ended any doubt as to existence of a large field in the Iatan sector.

Oil men in Colorado were elated over the find Thursday morning. Royalty and lease trading was expected to reach the highest peak in history in this field and scores of oil men from over the State are enroute to Colorado to personally check up on the well.

Choate & Henshaw have an excellent sand in their Garza county well at 2,470 to 2,515 feet. The crew is on a fishing job at 2,900 feet in this hole. The well is in section 55, block 5.

Neal One of Choate & Henshaw in section 27, block 33 T. & P. Ry. Co., survey, Glasscock county, is drilling at 400 feet.

Scott One of G. A. Henshaw, Jr., in section 32, block 17, Mitchell conty, is drilling at 2,730 feet.

Abrams One of the California Company in section 33, became the center of considerable interest Saturday morning when the test blew in for several million cubic feet of non-inflammable gas. At a depth of 1255 feet the crew drilled into the gas pocket and without warning a stream of gas, water and mud was thrown several feet above the crown block. The well was gotten under control the first of the week and drilling resumed. The crew was down 1,250 feet Wednesday afternoon.

The Abrams well is about one-half mile southeast of Texas & Pacific One, discovery well. Scores of wells have been drilled between the Abrams test and Badgett No. 1 of Bowser & Reed, a few miles to the north and east, which a few years ago came in for a ten million foot gasser, acting in many respects similar to the Abrams well.

Adams No. 1 of the Magnolia Petroleum Company in section 11, block 28, is drilling around 2,500 feet. The company is rigging up to spud at Coleman one location in section 4, block 97. This test is on the P. C. Coleman lease near Cuthbert.

At Watson et al No. 1 offset to the Magnolia Foster well near Iatan, the crew has completed a difficult fishing job and resumed drilling. Log of this test is registering with that of the Foster well, 660 feet to the northeast.

The Atlantic Oil Company is drilling in a good commercial well on their lease in section 11, block 28. The well, according to oil men, promises to be developed into a consistent pumper of from 150 to 200 barrels.

Fred Carey has completed deepening of the Anna M. Keith well, with a decided increase in production to result. This well, completed at 3,172 feet several weeks ago, was shot and put under pump. The hole was deepened to 3,180 feet.

Carey announced Wednesday that he expected to spud the Douthitt test on location south of the Deep Rock well, not later than November 15.

Morrison 14 of the California Company in the Westbrook sector, has been completed and placed under pump. Elder 2-4 is drilling at around 2,030 feet, Womack 2 at 2,340 feet and P. W. Miller at about 1,800 feet.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stone of Abilene came up Wednesday and spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Ragan, the two ladies are sisters.

BURGLARS TAKE $39.60 FROM HERRINGTON BLDG.

Effecting entrance into the building through a south side window, which was broken with some instrument allowing the intruders to reach through and manipulate the latch, burglars rifled the cash register in the A. J. Herrington office Sunday night. A total of $39.60 as taken. Mr. Herrington stated that a check of his stock disclosed that nothing except the money was taken.

The burglary was made between 11 o'clock p. m. Sunday and 12:30 a. m. Monday morning. The intruder left the building through a door on the south side of the building.

Officers detailed to the case were working on several clews but no arrests had been made up to Tuesday morning.

WIDOW OF LATE C. L. WARE IS BURIED HERE THURSDAY

Mrs. C. L. Ware, widow of the late C. L. Ware who was buried here in August, was found dead at her home, 1201 Pennsylavnia Avenue, Fort Worth, Monday and the body was shipped to Colorado to be buried by her husband in I. O. O. F. cemetery. Funeral services were held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. M. Carter Thursday morning at ten o'clock by Rev. J. F. Lawliss, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Ware made their home in Colorado many years, but during the past several years had been living in Fort Worth. Mr. Ware was a brother of Mrs. M. Carter of this city. A son, Bryan Ware, cattleman of Goldthwaite, survives. Mrs. Ware was 58 years of age at the time of her death.

Floral offerings were profuse and very beautiful, bespeaking the esteem in which the deceased was held

WEST TEX. WOLF HUNTERS END FIRST ANNUAL CHASE

78 DOGS ENTERED FOR BIG EVENT STAGED AT THE REYNOLDS RANCH

The first annual meeting of the West Texas Wolf Hunters Association, which closed Wednesday, was a success from every standpoint and a real thrill to every member of the Association who participated in the chase, Dr. P. C. Coleman, president of the organization, reported upon returning to Colorado Wednesday afternoon. The hunt was staged on the Reynolds ranch thirty miles northwest of Colorado.

Dr. Coleman stated that 78 dogs were entered in the events. Fifty members of the association and six ladies were in attendance, placing attendance at fifty six. The hunt started Monday morning and ended Wednesday.

At least three coyotes were accounted for, Coleman said, but it was believed several more were captured by the large pack of hounds. Owing to unfavorable weather conditions the races were arranged largely at night, making it difficult to score running of the dogs and keep complete record of the wolves run down.

"In spite of the fact we were forced to stage most of these races after nightfall," Dr. Coleman stated, "officials of the association saw enough of the dogs in action to conclude those entered were among the very best in West Texas." He stated that many of the dogs were scattered over the countryside Wednesday morning and could not be collected and returned to their keepers until they tired of the chase and returned to the ranch.

Dr. Coleman was profuse in his praise of John Brown, manager of the Reynolds ranch, for the hospitality shown members of the association during the hunt. Brown supplied saddle horses, the use of his home and every convenience to the visitors. Attendance would have been larger but for the fact farmers were busy in their fields.

Miss Elnora Dulaney of Colorado has been elected assistant secretary of the association, Dr. Coleman stated Wednesday.

RAIN AND COLD WEATHER RETARD COTTON HARVEST

21,000 BALES RECEIVED AT GINS OF COUNTY UP TO NOVEMBER 5TH

Farmers of Mitchell county have gone through another week of the annual cotton harvest but owing to rain and a precipitated drop in temperature picking has progressed slowly this week.

Practically all of Monday was lost on account of a slow rain which covered the county Monday morning. After two days of favorable weather the second cold snap of the season arrived early Thursday morning and the day continued cold, making it difficult for pickers to work in the fields.

According to weekly cotton report issued by the chamber of commerce Thursday morning gin receipts in the county had reached 20,954 bales. The report stated that cotton received up to nine o'clock Thursday morning had been accounted for.

Colorado had received a total of 11,273 bales for the season, an increase of 1420 bales for the week, as compared with 2,180 bales for the week previous. Loraine reported 6,269 bales, Westbrook 2,252 bales and Buford 1,160 bales, placing total in the county at 20,954. County receipts would reach 21,000 by noon Thursday, it was stated.

The Colorado cotton market has remained practically unchanged during the week. The staple was quoted at from 15 cents to 19½ cents here Thursday morning. Seed has remained unchanged on the market during the week, and was being quoted at $26 a ton at the gin Thursday, the same price reported a week ago.

VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR AND WIDOWS MAY RECEIVE PENSION

Judge Thompson suggests that all citizens of this county who are eligible to receive pensions under this act confer with him, file application and obtain payment registration without delay.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO HOLD EXECUTIVE MEETING

The November executive session of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce was to have been convened Thursday at 6:15 p. m., at the Barcroft Hotel, according to announcement from the local office Tuesday. Business of importance was pending, it was stated and every member of the board was urged to be present.

A car loaded with cottonseed hulls was discovered on fire Wednesday afternoon by a switching crew in the Texas & Pacific yards. The fire department extinguished the flames before material damage resulted.

The car was being moved into a train due to leave Colorado within a few minutes.

DEMOCRATS OF WET LEANING MAY URGE RITCHIE

The Record is not much on politics but here is an article by Arthur S. Heming that clears up the why and wherefore of the weakness of the democrats that we reproduce it in full.

Propbably the most interesting political developments of the next three years in this country are going to take place in the Democratic party. And right now the development of the most significant interest has to do with the marshalling of the Eastern Democrats under the banner of Governor Al Smith, New York, with the well formed thought in their minds that if Al can not be nominated for President, Governor Albert Ritchie, Maryland, would be an exceedingly acceptable compromise choice.

The Republicans seem to be all set to re-nominate President Coolidge. The Democrats also regard Coolidge as the probable Republican nominee, their prospective opponent in 1928, and their concern is who to put up against him. The Republican program is already mapped out, the Democratic is an unknown quality.

The Democratic party has not recovered from the internal dissension that came to a head in the Madison Square Garden convention and from its devastating defeat in the presidential election last year. It is without a leader, without an issue, and torn with the rivalries, jealousies and maneuverings of a multitude of local bosses more interesting in putting over a county or city ticket than in building for victory in 1928.

The great schism in the party remains—that progressive and dry democracy of the West and South, affiliated with the Ku Klux Klan, still maintaining a political marriage of convenience (more or less) with an incompatible partner, the conservative and wet democracy of the eastern part of the country, which is largely Roman Catholic and wholly anti-klan.

The two wings of the party have made absolutely no progress toward burying their differences and getting together on a common ground for opposing the G. O. P. Old issues, like the protective tariff, seem payed out. The Democratic leaders in the last election admitted with disappointment that they had been unable to arouse opposition to the tariff in the Republican North and they were further embarrased by consciousness of the growing popularity of protective duties in the expanding industrial regions of the Democratic South.

With the issues on which they once agreed played out, the two factions of the party appear unable to get together on new issues, now looming on the horizon and the prospects at this writing is a Democratic national convention in 1928 in which the hosts will meet again, divided by a chasm of differences of kinds and issues that can not be bridged by compromises.

What the Democratic party will do on the prohibition issue is becoming more and more a matter of interest as the difficulties of enforcing the Volstead act become more appalling and reaction against an unenforcible government imposed rule on private conduct spreads. The report of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ on the prohibition enforcement problem bears evidence such reaction is spreading.

The Republican administration and the Republican party are committed to the dry end of the argument over prohibition. The Republican platform in 1928 doubtless will represent the views of the proponents and defenders of national prohibition. What stand the Democrats will take is a question that will loom larger and larger in the next two and a half years, a question the answer to which given by the Democratic convention will exercise a profound influence on the trend of political events in 1928.

The Democrats are still hopelessly divided on the question of what to do about prohibition. The dry Democrats of the West and South yield nothing to the Republicans in defense of the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act and appear ready to enlist again under the banner of William G. McAdoo in support of a platform as dry as the Republican. Their only quarrel with the Republican administration is that it has not been sufficinetly zealous in enforcing prohibition.

The Wet Democrats of that part of the country east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio, go the whole route in the opposie direction. They would raise a sharp, clear-cut issue with Republicans on the prohibition question. They would write a platform proposing such liberalization of the Volstead act as would restore light wine and beer in such states as desire the change, and a large proportion of these Eastern Jeffersonians would take the bull by the horns and go before the country openly advocating repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Governor Smith is now acknowledged leader of the wet eastern wing of the party. He will be New York's candidate for the Democratic nomination for President and he will have the backing of the delegations from New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Delaware, Rhode Island, Maryland, Illinois, Wisconsin and several other state sin which the Democratic organization now is controlled by leaders afiliated with Smith and George Brennan the Illinois Democratic boss.

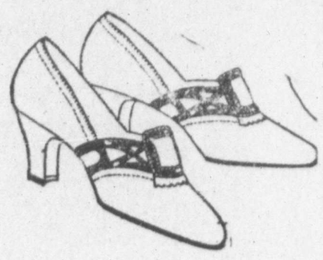

The Smith following will go into the convention as one of the most formidable aggregations that ever sought nomination of a candidate for President. Yet with the two-thirds rule prevailing, even the most enthusiastic Smith shouters would not be particularly sanguine of putting Al over. This is for the sole reason that Al is a Roman Catholic and his nomination would be violenly fought to the last ditch by the anti-Catholic forces in the convention, while even many of the Eastern wets would counsel compromise on a Portestant. They would urge that a Catholic can not be elected in this country and that the nomination of a Catholic by the Democrats would mean merely throwing away the chance of victory and sacrificing what opportunity that might be present for modifying the rule of prohibition.

Right there is where Governor Ritchie of Maryland comes to the fore. He is already in the thoughts of a large aggregation of the eastern wets. Many Democrats who are shouting for Smith now have no idea of putting Smith over, but they do have Ritchie in the back of their heads as the ideal compromise candidate. Ritchie is a forceful opponent of national prohibition and recently has been attracting wide attention by his speeches attacking Federal paternalsim and advocating a return of the first principles of state rights and local self-government.

Ritchie is one of the leaders in the movement to nominate Smith. He was for Smith in the New York convention. He will be for Smith now as long as there is any hope of nominating Al. Then—well, turn about is fair play, and the adherents and admirers of Ritchie have no doubt that the Smith cohorts will play fair when the time comes.

RED CROSS

At the recent National Convention of the American Legion at Omaha, October 5 to 9 Commander James A. Drain of that organization spoke enthusiastically of the assistance give the Legion by the American Red Cross in the work for ex-service men since the close of the great World War.

Introducing Judge John Barton Payne, Chairman of the American National Red Cross and one of the princopal speakers at the Legion Convention Commander Drain said in part:

"The American Legion and the American Red Cross have a special affinity for each other. In a very large measure touching our rehabilitation service, the two have been working hand in hand and in full partnership. The American Legion owes the American Red Cross a debt which it can never repay except thru service to others, because you will know, men and women of the Legion, that for three years previous to this year, but for the generosity of the American Red Cross, it would not have been possible for the American Legion to properly carry on its rehabilitation work."

Prolonged applause followed Commander Drain's remarks.

Little Theatre Play

The comedy "Come Out of the Kitchen" by Alice Duer Miller was given by the Little Theatre at the American Legion Hut last Thursday evening. This is indeed a clever play and was delightfully given. The play is written around a Virginia family of the old aristocracy, by the name of Daingerfield, who finding themselves financially embarrassed decide to rent their magnificent home to a rich yankee. One of the conditions of the lease stipulates that a complete staff of white servants should be furnished.

This seems an impossible thing but one of the daughters rises to the occasion and suggests the idea that she, her sister and two brothers shall serve in this capacity. Olivia Daingerfield is the ringleader and adopts the name of Jane Allen and presides over the destinies of the kitchen. Her elder brother Paul is the butler, and Charley the younger is appointed to the position of bootboy. Her sister Elizabeth is appointed housemaid. When Barton Crane arrives from the North accompanied by Mrs. Faulkner, her daughter, Cranes attorney, Mr. Tucker, they find the staff of servants to possess many methods of behavior out of the ordinary that amusing complications begin to arise immediately. Olivia's charm and beauty impress Crane above every thing else and the merry story continues through a maze of delightful incidents until the real identity of the heroine is disclosed. But not until Crane has professed his love for his charming cook and the play ends with the brightest prospects of happiness for these two young people. It was, indeed, a clever play and the characters were well cast and well trained. Jack Heton as Paul Daingerfield could not have been beaten, neither as to size or acting. J. W. Chase as the bootboy was just as he should be. Dr. Browning as Burton Crane just fitted the imagination as a rich yankee. Harry Ratliff as Mr. Solon Tucker was a "scream". Chester Thomas was the real sure enough real estate agent.

Joe Pond as the poet both looked and acted the part. Miss Mary Terrell as Olivia was beautiful and charming. This part could not have been better cast. Miss Hazel Costin as Elizabeth acted just as one should who did not like the idea anyhow. Mrs. Henry Vaught as Cora Falkner was the meek little daughter one would naturally be with the mother Mrs. Blanks portrayed as the domineering Mrs. Falkner. Mrs. Lee Jones as Mandy just fitted into the affair as one of her race and color is expected, always looking after the interests of those she loves. Owing to the sudden cold spell the house was not so full as it would have been otherwise, but those who were there had a most enjoyable evening. Miss Blume is doing much to develop the talent in Colorado and she is finding artists in all ages.

T. E. L. Meeting

Mrs. James T. Johnson and Mrs. W. R. Morgan entertained the T. E. L. class at the home of Mrs. Johnson last Thursday. The house was prettily decorated in Hallowe'en emblems. After a devotional period the following officers were elected: Mrs. C. E. Way, president; Mrs. Walter Stoneham, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Johnson, teacher, Mrs. Hines assistant teacher; Mrs. Bishop reporter; Mrs. Huth was back after quite a leave of absence.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

A good name the best asset—A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches and loving favour rather than silver and gold. Proverbs 22:1.

Prayer—Enable us, we pray Thee, Thou Lord of Life, to seek the things that do not pass in using, but the things which abide.

THE LEGION AND ARMISTICE DAY

While no citizen or no organization is barred from assuming the duties incident to an armistice day celebration, it is well that the American legion posts have launched the idea and taken charge of nearly all of these events.

The legion is a stabilizing influence in American life. It was for the boys who represent the ideals of the legion, whether members or not, that the North American continent was shaken to its foundations on that eventful November 11, 1918.

It is always a pleasure to celebrate in behalf of peace. We need something to remind us of the tragedy of war; and armistice day seems to be the healthful antidote. If this nation did not believe in peace—if the American legion did not have the cause of peace and domestice tranquility at heart—we would be celebrating a mobilization day instead of an armistic day. This alone is proof of a wholesome trend of popular thought.

As long as the American legion stands for the eternal principles of peace, protection and patriotism, the American people will stand by it. The ideals of liberty are indeed abstrat—beautiful but useless—unless translated into active, virile citizenship; and as we understand it, this is one of the things for which the legion stands.

CHARACTER AS SECURITY

Further evidence that most people are honest with their bankers is furnished by one of the larger savings banks of the East which reports that out of a total of $50,000,000 in loans in the last 10 years its loss on personal loans has been just $414.63.

This loss was confined to three persons, one of whom left unpaid a balance of $1.83 on a Liberty Bond. Another was a woman who put up some stock as collateral and whose estate went into bankruptcy at her death. The third instance was that of a woman once well-to-do who had lost her fortune through bad investments. For a long time before her death she had been unable to pay the interest on her note, and the bank, instead of foreclosing on the security, which was all the borrower had to live on, simply renewed the note as it became due.

Banks are not so much concerned with the fortunes of the intending borrowers of small amounts as they are with character. Borrowers, therefore, represent a selected group made up of people who are known to be honest. There is a lesson to young people, of the advisability of keeping their credit record clean.

A student had been spending too freely and was short of cash. It was near the holidays, and he hated to write home for money. As a last resort he pawned his dress suit.

When the time came to leave for home, the suit was still unredeemed. He hurriedly scraped together enough cash to get it back, packed it in his bag and was off.

At home his mother was helping him unpack.

"Henry" she asked "what is this ticket on your coat for?"

"Why, mother" he replied, "I went to a dance the other evening and that's the cloak-room ticket."

She continued putting away his clothes. Finally she lifted his trousers. They, too, were ticketed.

"Henry" she exclaimed, "what kind of a dance was that?"

If you don't believe winter is here just step outside the house for a few minutes. You'll see for yourself.

THE COTTON SITUATION

The government has made another guess at the crop and the decline in price amounts to more on the unsold portion of the crop than the reported increase will sell for. From reports the recent freeze will destroy twice as much as the reported increase, but advancing the price is in the hands of the owners of the unsold cotton.

The 1925 crop should have sold for 30 cents. Some have sold for much less. The leaders of Cotton States Protective League have been leaders in such work among farmers organizations which have produced results for the past 25 years and is trying to aid the owners to get 30 cents for the balance of it. From the continued increasing sales of cotton goods, the spinners say all that has been reported will be needed.

The slumps in price and the low prices before them could have been prevented if the South had been organized to resist them. Likewise the price can be advanced with proper effort.

From reliable reports there is enough cotton being held to advance the price to 30 cents if it was publically known it was not for sale for less. They why not let it be known. Just holding without letting the public know what it is held for counts for but little to the price.

Two of the best posted, oldest and most reliable cotton factors in the South, W. L. Moody Cotton Co., of Galveston, Texas and R. M. Gordon & Co., of Houston, Texas, fully agree with us that the sale of cotton should cease in order to advance the price, in this connection R. M. Gordon & Co., says: "A general holding movement of sufficient magnitude would exert a greater influence in sustaining the market than any other factor." We can heartily commend the movement of the Cotton States Protective League in its campaign to assist the producers of cotton in obtaining a fair margin of profit on their product, and the aims and purposes of the League are worthy of the endorsement and support of all interests which are concerned in the prosperity of this entire country."

Some of the better-known of the cotton factors announce that in order to help the work of the Cotton States Protective League to get fair prices for coton to the producers, they will advance as much as 75 to 80 per cent of the market value of cotton at a low rate of interest, for which shippers may draw with bill of lading attached; cotton so consigned to be held for account, and subject to the instructions of the shipper, with reasonable charges for storage, insurance, etc.

In addition to such facilities, the banks of the South report ample funds to be loaned on stored and insured cotton. With these facilities at the command of the owners of cotton, and they knowing it is well worth 30 cents, and can get it by asking, they have no one to blame but themselves if they do not price it and protect their interest. Of course the people must be reached for them to act in unison, for which we must depend upon the friendly press to publish.

Public meetings should be held in every community and committees appointed on holding cotton and the reduction of acreage for next year. The present acreage and a fair yield over the belt with no well established organization to care for prices, would mean disaster to the entire country. Announce the results of such meetings to the local papers and send copies to the city dailies. Let your acts be known.

We asked 30 cents for cotton in the fall of 1917 when it was selling for 15 cents and received 30 cents for it. We asked 35 cents for it in 1918 when it was selling for 18 cents and received 35 cents for it. We asked 40 cents for it in 1919 when it was selling for 22 cents and received 40 cents for it. We asked nothing for it in 1920 when it was selling for 35 cents, just sold "slow" or "orderly" and received 15 cents and bankruptcy. Will we profit or lose by past experiences? It is for the owners of cotton to say.

If the Cotton States Protective League is notified of actions taken at meetings or by individuals it will gladly render all aid in its power.

BOOMS

According to those supposed to know, Texas will be the scene of one of the greatest booms ever recorded in the history of the United States. The men in close touch with the situation are of the opinion that California has been exploited to the fullest extent and that the Florida flurry, is just about over and that big capital seeking new worlds to conquer has turned its eyes to the Lone Star State.—Corsicana Sun.

Be Not Deceived

Your life and welfare each depend upon the condition of your spine, just as much so as the same depend upon your environment, intelligence, sunshine, air, water, clothing—and food that you eat. This being true, it is the better part of wisdom to use common sense and have that bad spine examined and corrected by a reliable expert in his profession near your own home town rather than go away and spend 3 or 4 times as much more money than is necessary. Think it over.

OIL ROYALTIES FOR SALE TO SMALL BUYERS

Oil men whose business it is to be familiar with this territory are practically unanimous in believing that an oil field, probably a very rich one, will be opened in the near future on the HS Ranch. Four wells are drilling on this ranch, and five more close to it, and in different directions from it. Every well on the ranch that has reached a depth of 1500 feet has encountered oil, or gas, or both. At least one of the wells there has proven that shallow oil, in paying quantities, is there. We own either all, or part of the royalty under over twenty thousand acres on this ranch. We do not expect to sell all of the royalty under any acre of it, but we do want to sell part of the royalty under every acre of it. We have within recent weeks sold thousands of dollars worth of this royalty to the largest and most discriminating royalty buyers in Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, San Angelo and Colorado. In order that the man who has only a hundred or so dollars to spend on such a deal may have the same chance to buy as the man or company who spends thousands, I will sell part of this royalty in fractions, as small as one-eighth of one-eighth on tracts as small as a quarter of a quarter section. See me in Colorado, Texas, or call me at phone 497. Harry Hyman. 1t

Week of Prayer

The Women of the Methodist church observed the week of prayer for Home and Foreign missions this week. The objects for prayer, study and gifts were The Carolina School in Korea and the Sue Bennett school in Kentucky. Monday the adults had charge of the program with Mrs. Leslie as leader. There was a good attendance. The offering for that day was twenty dollars. Tuesday the young ladies and little sisters gave the program. Mrs. Charlie Thompson led. Nelda Garrett and Exa King conducted the devotional. Mrs. Bill Gordan and Mrs. George Morgan read the leaflets telling of the lives of the founders of these schools.

On Wednesday the children conducted the program with Mrs. Everett Winn, the superintendent out in charge. Their program consisted of readings and music. J. C. Garrett and Freida Merle Reed gave readings. John Tom Merritt and A. J. McCorley told the stories.

The program was completed at the prayer service Wednesday evening. Mrs. Merritt a short Missionary history. Mrs. Leslie talked on the Belle Bennett Memorial. Mrs. McCleary on the specials for the week of prayer. The offering for the week was more than $50.00.

UP-TO-DATE

The latest addition to the army transportation service is the Chevrolet trans-continental auto car.

The machine as used by the military is the regular Chevrolet chassis without the passenger top and body. It is fitted with low, cushioned seats. The fenders and running board are the same as are used on the passenger cars of the Chevrolet line. The car carries front and rear bumpers and the wheels are of the steel disc type.

The Chevrolet army car is used principally for the rapid conveyance of officers during maneuvers or other military operations. The combination of balloon tires, light, stripped chassis and powerful engine enables it to leave the roads and travel over rough country. Attached to the tops the rear fenders are metal hand rails which the occupants of the back seats may grasp when the going is bad.

General John A. LeJeune, commander of the United States Marine Corps, used one of the Chevrolet army cars recently while inspecting a sham battle staged by the "devil dogs" at Camp Meade, Md. He was accompanied by Generals Feland and Williams and Colonel O. S. Eskridge. The latter drove the car during the maneuvers.

MY REASONS WHY

I consider it an honor and conceive it to by my duty to belong to The American Legion for the following reasons:

Because, next to my birth and my marriage, it commemorates the greatest adventure of my life.

Because it is a he-man's organization, constituted by and made up of fighting men.

Because it is in fact and is so acknowledged to be the one organization that is representative of the World War veteran.

Because it affords the best opportunity for me to continue my service to my comrades, my city, my state and my Nation.

Because it is an exclusive organization, which, in time, will have only one member.

Because it makes me a better citizen and a better man for myself and my family to live with.

Because it stamps upon me the trade-mark of an American.

Because there is enough good in it for my soul's salvation and enough fun in it for my heart's delectation.

Because it renews my faith and replenishes my confidence in the cause for which I fought.

MISSION OF THE NEWSPAPER

The real newspaper reflects the life of the community.

Is it a good school town? If so, its newspaper makes that fact known to all the world.

Is it a good commercial town? If so, its pages are filled with advertisements.

Is it a good show town? If so the public is apprised of the nature of the various entertainments.

Nothing escapes the real newspaper.

If there be crime, the newspaper tells about it, as it properly should.

The honest newspaper has two sources of revenue, and only two, to-wit: Its subscription list and its advertising patronage.

Save in rare instances ,the subscription list doesn't pay for the white paper on which it is printed, after deducting the cost of distribution and other incidentals.

If the avertising patronage falls below a certain amount, the publisher is conducting a losing business.

More thant $100,000 was lost by a certain magazine in this state before it turned the corner to success.

What are known as "the interests" occasionally get control of some influential newspaper, but their grip is soon loosed; the public won't stand for it.

No newspaper of any consequence puts a slight on the religious activities of the community.

The thing to bear in mind is that the real newspaper is the mirror of the community; whatever is reflected.

Our "Fairfame" bonnets for children are here. Absolutely the most beautiful line ever brought to West Texas. Come see them. Mrs. B. F.

STAR-TELEGRAM NOTICE

We wish to advise that The Fort Worth Star-Telegram has purchased The Fort Word Record and will consolidate the Record into the Star-Telegram, absorbing the news features and the very best features of the Record. So many popular features were printed in the Record that it will be impossible to give a list of them all, but just as an illustration, "Bringing Up Father" is one.

This consolidation means that the superior news gathering service of the Star-Telegram will now be blended with the attractive special feature service as used by the Record. A combination which offers the most complete newspaper in every detail that has ever been possible to produce in the State of Texas.

The night telegraph service of the Star-Telegram will now be increased by a triple wire Associated Press service. We will have three Associated Press wires running twenty-four hours a day, the only newspaper in Texas to have such news production and protection.

This, combined with our system of printing editions, based on train departure time from Fort Worth, means that we are now in a better position to serve the readers than ever before.

The Bargain Days price this year will be $7.45 for the daily and Sunday and $5.95 for the daily only, as you have already been notified. Two papers for less than the price of one, and remember that new subscriptions get all the month of November free, as all datings on subscriptions written in November will be dated December 1st.

BUILDING UP

Bermans Variety Store is building up and has grown rapidly from opening day a few months ago to the present, when on last Saturday Mr. Berman stated that it was the "biggest" day yet. But what we started out to say for Mr. Berman was that he has just put in one of the finest candy display cases with an order of 3,000 pounds of candy. Think of it, it is the largest single candy order ever placed in Colorado and is only a pointer of how the Berman's Variety Store does things.

Shepherd Notes

School time again! School opens Monday, Nov. 9th. Let's everybody be ready to start the first day.

Our school has the same able teachers that we had last year. Miss Lilla Mae Thompson is our principal and Miss Tella Cook assistant. If these teachers were the most able in the state, still they would not be capable of doing the best without the cooperation of the entire community.

Why not make this the best school year in its history? To do this we must begin now. Let's plan our work and work our plans.

To start with lets everyone meet the teachers and pupils in their respective places Monday morning to welcome them and make them feel they have a part to do

Uneasy Tight Feeling

"I used Thedford's Black-Draught first for constipation," said Mrs. C. E. Buntin, of R. F. D. 5, Starkville, Miss. "I would feel dull, stupid, and have severe headaches, even feverish. I had an uneasy, tight feeling in my stomach. I read quite a bit about

BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine

I began using it and soon my bowels acted regularly and I was greatly relieved. I used it every once in a while for about 18 years.

"About two years ago I found I was having indigestion, a tight smothering in my chest, then severe pain, especially after eating sweets. I commenced taking just a pinch of Black-Draught after meals, and by doing this I could eat anything.

"I gave Black-Draught to my children for colds and headaches. I can certainly recommend it."

Stop Wash Day worries— have your wash done "The Soft Water Way"

Figure the cost of the laundress, her meals, the gas or coal, the soap, the heat and "mess," and your own trouble. Doesn't it make home washing come pretty high?

Why not stop all that? Send your flat work here, as well as your other laundry, to be washed "the soft water way." You can't get such quality from a "hard water" laundry—or even at home—because we use "rain soft" water exclusively in our plant.

Our work is not only clean—absolutely clean. It is fresh, white, soft, sweet smelling, delightful to the feel. And—because we use only pure soap and softest water—your linens last longer, give you more wear.

"Send it to the Laundry"

BIG GAME PLENTIFUL IN MOUNTAINS OF WEST TEXAS

By Joe Allen in Dallas News:

The title "Big Game Hunting in Texas," in any newspaper or magazine would excite the curiosity of its readers, but to see it in a Texas paper, and the Dallas News in particular, probably will bring to light the skeptical questions of more than one native son. In fact, it would not be amiss to imagine that the echo resulting from its first reading would resemble closely a familiar remark of H. C. Witwer, "Now laugh that off."

Big game does exist in Texas and in sufficient quantity and "bigness" to interest even the most sophisticate of those who know the feel of a high-powered rifle and respond eagerly to the thoughts of thrilling hours spent in search of the wary big-horn sheep, the fleet, sensitive buck, or the rarely seen silver-top grizzly. True, the most renowned of all big game hunters, the greatly honored and respected Roosevelt, did not make Texas the scene of any of his famous expeditions, but quite possibly that is one reason why we still have plenty of sporting game at home.

This writer, being a native son of West Texas, enjoys the opportunity of relating some the possibilities for hunting big game in that section of country to the north of the Rio Grande known as the Big Bend. If you read the magazine section of The News regularly you will recall a series of articles published recently wherein this part of Texas, so little known to most people, is very capable and minutely described. Few of us appreciate the extensive reach of the Texas border and we scarcely can visualize a vast area of our State, 9,000 feet above the sea, blocked off from the Plains and prairie country by deserts and abrupt palisaded mountains. So effective have these natural barriers been in halting the ordinary commercial developments that beyond them lies a region almost untenanted and practically unknown.

Pages, endless pages, could be written on the lengends and stories of exciting adventure in the Big Bend. There are the anecdotes of Justice Roy Bean "the law west of the Pecos" and others of equal interest. The very nature of the country lends truth and enchantment to many of these tales of daring and thrilling experiences, for certain sections are almost impenetrable and stand alone, defiant of man's attempt to tame them. The Rio Grande, flowing quietly down from its headwaters in the Colorado Rockies in a general southerly direction, quie abruptly swings east and then northeast for a distance of 100 miles or more. Breaking through the mountain range on this eastward course its canyon walls rise almost perpendicular from the water's edge, giving way only now and then to narrow vent canyons that extend several miles back from the river, bowl shaped, and tterminated on all sides by towering walls of rock, making them accessible only from the river-bed.

A tale is told of three adventurous souls who launched a small boat near the start of the eastward curve of the Rio Grande and floated down through this amazing canyon to a point near the city of Del Rio, Texas. If true, their experiences would fill more than one book, but the only part of their report pertinent to the thought of this article is that back in these rock-walled inlets some rare specimens of almost extinct wild game were discovered, such as elk, antelope, bighorn sheep and the mountain goat. In so far as I know, there is no available verification of the truth of this story, and it is related here for its entertainment value alone.

Doubtless more will be known about the Rio Grande Canyon and its contents in time to come for sooner or later some newspaper man will make the journey and have a yarn to tell that even the best fiction writers can not hope to equal.

A few weeks ago I made a trip from my ranch near the foothills of the Davis Mountains on into the Big Bend, just pokin' around, as C. Sharpe Minor would say, but revelling once again in the lure of the open and the tang of sage, renewing acquaintances with many of the old border residents, listening to a few more strange stories of adventure and in general forgetting that there was such a place as Main and Akard.

On returning to Dallas I could not help reflecting what splendid possibilities or the big game hunter and sportsman are being overlooked almost at our very door.

From the time when I first knew what it was all about I remember that almost any party of hunters of fair ability could spend a week or ten days in the Big Bend and return with ample evidence of their prowess. In those days deer and antelope were common and the really important game to be hunted consisted of mountain sheep, bear, elk and Mexican lions. Incidentally, the last named in some years became too plentiful for the good health and prosperity of the cattlemen and had to be dealt with as wholesale menace just the same as lobo wolves and other varmints. In other words, they ceased to be game and were regarded as pests to be exterminated rather than the object of good sportsmen.

Quite distinctly I recall an experience a neighbor of ours once had with one of those big cats. The word neighbor is used advisedly, for his ranch was some fifteen miles away.

Late one afternoon a line rider found the body of a valuable young colt that had been killed, evidently the night before, and as the carcass had not been touched by coyotes or wolves, it was reasonable to suppose that a lion did the killing and was still in the vicinity. Finding a hiding place near-by, the rider waited out the night but not until daylight did the slayer put in an appearance. Three shots from a .30-.30 Winchester ended his brilliantly started career and he measured 12 feet rom tip to tip.

They are not so plentiful now and if you jumped one suddenly out of cover he would probably be as frightened as you. But, pardner, I can think of lots of things I would rather meet on a dark night than a hungry Mexican lion!

From a practical standpoint the Big Bend section offers excellent advantages to the hunter eager to pit his skill against the cunning of wild game. Two days by automobile from Dallas over generally good highways put one in the heart of a country that could certainly satisfy the demands of the most exacting sportsman. You may lose yourself, so to speak, in a vast area of high rolling uplands, sharp peaks and a wilderness of sage, mountain ash and cedar.

Game is present in sufficient quantity and variety to make the trip well worth the efort. Deer will be seen often, plenty of them, big fellows; bear, black bear, and maybe a silver-tip, the hardest of all to kill and that furnishes the thrill of a lifetime should you be lucky enough to get him without injury to yourself; lions, Mexican lions, the swift, panther-like cat of the Southwest, whose mounted head and skin make a trophy of which anyone could justly be proud. And if you were born under the light of a particularly lucky star you might see a few mountain sheep; and may steady be the hand that draws a bead on these wariest of animals, for they are scare and none but the most patient and skilled of hunters can hope to get within range. It might be advisable to mention here that the State of Texas has declared a closed season on sheep until 1928.

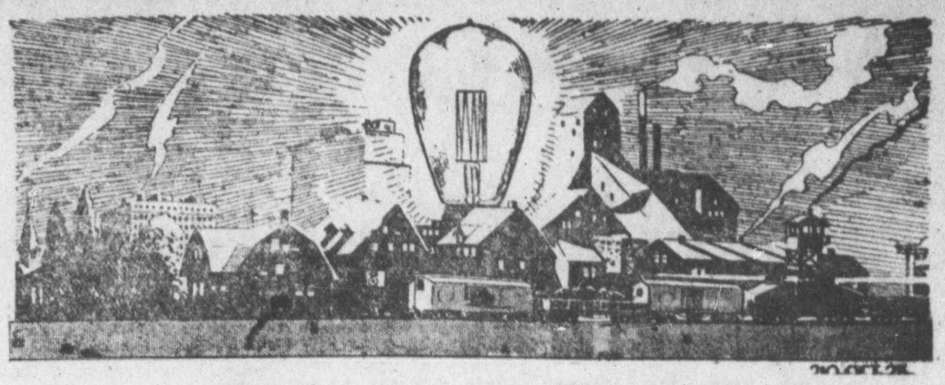

Possibly your taste in hunting is not entirely confined to the all-day search for deer and bear, perhaps you would not be satisfied with tramping and riding for hours in the hope of getting a few shots for the days sport; you may prefer the satisfaction of coming back to camp with game bag filled with all the quail, grouse, plover and other small game that the law allows. Quail are to be found in abundance, the big blue fellows, Mexican quail they are called, and other feathered game in proportion.

The financial side must be given consideration, for everything no matter what it is, costs money. A trip to this section of Texas for big game requires the services of a good guide, and they may be obtained at several off the border towns. The one I recall just now is Pete Crawford, who makes his headquarters at Alpine, Texas.

Pete is a good scout, an ex-game warden and U. S. Government Packtrain Master, knows the country thoroughly and will stake his reputation, which is excellent, on being able to find the game. His charges are reasonable considering the fact that he guides every party personally, furnishes saddle horses, pack horses and their equipment; tents, slickers, camp equipment; plenty of good food and a cook that "knows his venison." The cost for a party of four or more persons on the deer and bear hunts out of Alpine is $10 per day per man. This is the price Pete charges and other guides would quote about the same.

The experienced hunter preparing for such a trip of ten days or two weeks will travel light, carrying only a good sleeping bag, guns and ammunition, and plenty of warm clothing. And remember one doesn't don a clean shirt every day when hunting big game. A competent guide should be arranged for in advance and then placed in complete charge of the party as the success of the hunters depends in a large measure on his experience and ability.

The Big Bend may be reached from Dallas by automobile over two principle routes. The Bankhead Highway Dallas to Pecos, through the Davis Mountains to Fort Davis and on to Alpine, or the State Highway thru Fort Worth, Brownwood, San Angelo, Big Lake and Fort Stockton to Alpine. By railroad the two main routes would be over the Texas & Pacific to Sierra Blanca, then south on the Southern Pacific or from Dallas to San Antonio and then over the Southern Pacific to Alpine.

Back of Civilation the Magic of Electricity

Electricity is indeed the fore-runner of civilization. It has made possible hundreds of ways of lightening toil, of speeding up production, of lowering living costs.

In your own home, you will find scores of uses for electricity. Theres the vacuum cleaner, electric stoves, electric waffle irons, electric washing macnines, electric percolators—not to mention the greatest use of all— that of light.

Make your home, your office and your factory a better place to live and work in—take advantage of electricity.

For service at all times use electricity.

TEXAS PREACHER HONORED

From the Denison Herald:

Dr. George W. Truett, for twenty-eight years pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas, has been accorded additional recognition.

The American Magazine, one of the most widely read monthly publications in America, in its latest issue carries a full page photograph of Dr. Truett, and accompanying it is a long article recounting this great preacher's success as a minister. The article is exceptionally well written and gives an intensely interesting and human picture of this master of the pulpit.

The magazine says: "Dr. Truett is the shepherd of a great flock. Not only the fifty-five hundred members of his own church, but the whole city is his parish. When he celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his pastorate, merchants devoted their paid advertising space in newspapers to felicitating him, and so many people desired to take part in the celebration that it was spread over a week. A Methodist bishop said publicly. 'The greatest asset the city of Dallas has is George Truett—more valuable than your skyscrapers, your railroads, your boasted industries, is this great preacher.' Dr. Truett's study is a sanctuary to people of all creeds and conditions in time of trouble. He has lifted countless church debts, built hospitals, endowed schools and colleges. He is in demand all over the country. The big cities of the east have sought time and again to employ him—but he refuses to leave Dallas."

Dr. Truett is placed among the twenty-five leading preachers of America. In a number of lists submitted by individuals he was named as being among the ten greatest living Americans.

This great Texan, sought by many big churches of the east, believes he can render the best service here.

WOLVES FACING HARD FIGHT WITH MIDLAND COLTS

SMITH, GIST AND FLINT, ALL STARS, HANDICAPPED ON ACCOUNT OF INJURY

With Smith, end man on the pack and one of the outstanding stars in either offensive or defensive work, out of the game on account of injury, and Gist and Flint, two others of the stars who have done so much in bringing honors to Colorado on the gridiron, handicapped by injury, Colorado is facing one of the hardest contests of the season this afternoon when the pack invades the corral of Midland Colts.

Smith will be difficult to replace. He has developed into one of the best fighters ever playing with Colorado, with plenty of technique and the grit to withstand all the punishment his enemies are capable of inflicting. He sustained injuries at the high school building last week which will put him out of the team during the remainder of the season.

Gist, the fastest sprinter in West Texas and a man feared more than any other member of the Wolves pack by all opposing teams, still is handicapped because of a carbuncle on his knee. Then old Captain Flint, the man who has always been such an inspiration to his men, is carrying several surgeon's stitches in his body and will be unable to enter the affray with all his fighting qualities. True to his characteristic to never falter when attacked, Flint bucked the line with an automobile on the highway near Colorado several days ago, only to lose and sustain painful bruses to his breast and face. The flivver was successful in bucking the line and Flint was again put together with assistance of needle and thread in the hands of a surgeon.

Even with those strong men out, Big Jim is optimistic as ever and declares that his Wolves will mangle those Midland Colts in tip top shape this afternoon. Colorado fans are urged to furnish their automobiles to transport the team and pep squad to Midland. It is expected that the usual quota of fans will accompany the Wolves to Paul Vickers town.

An interesting game was played on the local grounds Friday afternoon. A team composed of former football men was organized and took up the argument with the Wolves. It was a good, clean game, resulting in a score of six to nothing in favor of the "Hasbeens." Big Jim played on the latter team and did not fail to demonstrate his good qualities.

SEVERAL NEW MEMBERS ON COLORADO C. OF C. ROSTER

The Colorado Chamber of Commerce never before in its history commanded the universal support of the local public as it does today, if the ever increasing number of contributing members are to be considered as an index. Several new members have recently been enrolled by the organization and with small exception all of the old members remain enthusiastic in their financial and moral support of the chamber.

"It is most gratifying to officers and directors of the chamber of commerce to relize such a condition," was the statement of a member of the official family Monday when this matter was called to his attention. "This is but a continuation of our program of the past five years. At the beginning of each fiscal year during the past five or six years, we have enrolled additional members and had our annual budget materially increased."

It was announced at the chamber of commerce Tuesday that out of the new members added during the past week, two of the number, representing new citizens in Colorado, had called at the office to voluntarily take out a membership card. "We are always made to feel good when a new citizen comes to us before we go to him," the secretary said.

Mrs. Will Dawes and Mr. Wright Maurer of Big Spring came down Saturday to attend the funeral of Mr. Jake Maurer.

KIRBY OIL CO. ENTERS MITCHELL CO. OIL FIELD

Adding another strong company to the long list of oil companies operating out of Colorado, the Kirby Oil Company of Houston are the latest corporation to become identified with the development in this territory, with Colorado as headquarters.

Jack Frost of the land department of the Kirby Oil Company, accompanied by Mrs. Frost and their small so... arrived in Colorado last week to m...ke this city their home.

Entry of the Houston corporation into this field places total at 17. A list of companies already operating out of Colorado was published in The Record last week, placing total at 16.

SMALL PROPERTY DAMAGE IS DONE BY SPOOKS VISIT

Colorado was "full of spooks" Saturday night and varied and weird were the sounds to be heard in every section of the city announcing that Hallowe'en had arrived again. Reports of local police officials and members of the sheriff's department, however, indicate that the youngsters maintained a strict regard for the rights of others and did but little, if any property damage.

It was after two o'clock Sunday morning when the weird sounds and shrieks began to die away and the frolickers disbanded and filed away to bed and sleep. Several social functions in which the spirit of Hallowe'en dominated were enjoyed in the city.

PIGGLY-WIGGLY GROCERY TO OPEN SATURDAY, NOV. 7

Colorado's first Piggly-Wiggly store will open to the public Saturday morning, according to announcement of J. W. Randle, manager. Randle stated that workmen completed installation of the store equipment Saturday and he and assistants have been busy this week arranging stocks and completing other details for formal opening of the store.

The store is located at corner Second and Elm streets in the Earnest building.

GROEGE GOODWIN MAKING GOOD IN LOWER VALLEY

George Goodwin, for many years a citizen of Mitchell county and who some three years ago moved to Hidalgo County, in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, evidently continues to make good as a fruit grower in that section.

Under the caption "Can You Beat Goodwin," The Mission Times, published at Mission, Hidalgo county, has the following to say of Goodwin: "G. E. Goodiwn came to the Valley two years ago the past March. In April the Sharyland Nurseries planted his citrus orchard. Last year he took six boxes of fruit from his trees; yesterday he marketed fruit at the Texas Citrus Fruit Growers Exchange two years and seven months after planting. Can any other place in the world beat that record?"

FIRE TRUCK DRIVER LEAVES FOR HOME IN CALIFORNIA

Floyd Quinney, for the past several months driver of the large LaFrance fire truck, has reseigned and he and Mrs. Quinney are leaving this week for Los Angeles, California, where they expect to make their home. Lloyd White succeeds Quinney as driver of the truck.

LOCAL OFFICERS MAKE RAID

Officers J. C. Jackson of Loraine and Gregory of Colorado raided the Calvin Wynn residence in the south part of Loraine Tuesday night and obtained six pints of corn whisky, and a large number of empty containers in which the whiskey was sold.

Wynn was taken to Colorado and locked up on a charge of the unlawful possession and manufacture of intoxicating liquors. He was released on bail Thursday morning.—Loraine Leader.

Mrs. J. F. Lawlis was called to Lampasas Monday on account of the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Stokes.

COUNTY COTTON CROP WILL BE LARGE, GOSS BELIEVES

ORIGINAL ESTIMATE OF 40,000 BALES WILL STAND UP IS HIS PREDICTION

The 1925 cotton crop in Mitchell county will reach 40,000 bales and would have gone to the grand total of 50,000 bales had it not been for losses to the leaf worm and hail storms, Tom Goss, Colorado citizen, declared here Monday. Goss stated that during last week he personally visited every farming community of the county and made a careful investigation of condition of the cotton crop and had no doubt but that 40,000 bales would be ginned in this county by end of the season.

"At least 20,000 bales have been ginned from this crop already," Goss declared, "and I do not believe the crop is one-half gathered. There are several communities over the county in which more than half the cotton remains in the field."

The estimate, while not accepted by H. L. Atkins, county farm agent, was considered by him as being "not bulged very much." Atkins, who two weeks ago estimated the county cotton production at 30,00 bales, had increased his estimate to 35,000 bales Monday. "I admit there will be more cotton gathered from the farms of this county than indications promised a few weeks ago," he stated.

The first estimate issued by the chamber of commerce on cotton production in Mitchell county this year was for a crop of 40,000 bales. Later, after the leaf worm and hail storms had taken considerable toll this estimate was reduced to 35,000 bales. The organization had no comment to offer on the estimate of Goss Monday morning, the secretary stating that a definite check of conditions of the crop up to that time, together with estimate of percentage gathered, had not been completed.

"The chamber of commerce, however," the report continued, "has nothing to take back yet. During the past five years estimates on cotton production in the county have been made about the time the season opened and we have yet to be charged with making any unwarranted figures. For the present, the organization will hold to its last estimate of 35,000 bales, but we reserve the pri-35,000 bales, but we reserve the priviledge of increasing these figures at the end of our present crop inventory in the event our findings would justify an increase."

HIGHWAYS IN BETTER CONDITION THAN STREETS IN CITY

Howard county folks have some splendid highways—especially those that have been topped with asphalt. This has not cost us one cent more than if the topping had been eliminated. The upkeep on the other county roads we pay for more directly and have some idea of the cost. We do not know what should be the proper charge for topping highways with asphalt. One contractor wanted 40 cents per square yard when asked by the Mayor of Big Spring for a bid. This is ten cents per yard more than it is costing the state to do this work.

We do know that gravel roads in West Texas are short lived; and firmly believe that the plan of topping them with asphalt is the proper solution. Maintenance costs should be reduced an hundred fold where this topping has been properly applied.—Big Spring Herald.

COMPARING COTTON REPORTS

Thursday of last week gin recepits in Mitchell county had reached 18,337 bales. At the same time, according to the Scurry County Times, Scurry county had received 9,438 bales.

Watch Colorado and Mitchell county. They will continue to take the lead among others in this part of West Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Reese returned to Colorado Saturday from Fresno, Calif., where they spent the past several months.

CITY'S GROWTH RETARDED BY LACK LOCAL TRACKAGE

INDUSTRIAL PLANTS MUST BE PROVIDED FOR IF CITY CONTINUES GROWTH

"When it rains it pours."

Not stopping at the acute shortage in hotel and apartment facilities, Colorado has another handicap which must be eliminated if the city is to develop as it should. Colorado has less available railway yardage of any city of similar proportions in this country, a condition which is already telling with effect upon progress of the city. Wholesale houses and industrial plants must have trackage facilities and so long as these are hard to obtain here, the big concerns with the large payrolls and which have such an important part in building a city, will be difficult to obtain.

Outside interests, after several months of waiting, determined Saturday that it was useless to attempt further to obtain and industrial site within the corporate limits of Colorado and purchased a site a half mile west of the city on the Bankhead Highway on which to build a large ice and cold storage plant. They would have preferred to have erected their plant in town, but since there was no trackage available, such could not be done.

Announcement was made Wednesday that this problem was being considered by the chamber of commerce and officials of the organization were hopeful of finding some solution. Action was expected to be taken by officials of the chamber at the November executive meeting, scheduled to be convened Thursday at 6:15 p. m. at the Barcroft hotel.

SIMMONS UNIVERSITY HOMECOMING

ABILENE, Tex., Nov. 4.—Thursday, November 26, Thanksgiving day, will be homecoming day for the thousands of alumni and ex-students of Simmons University now residing in every section of West Texas. The occasion will be the annual "Turkey Day" foot ball game between Howard Payne College and Simmons University. The game this year will be played on the Simmons gridiron. The Howard Payne team will come to Abilene by special train, accompanied by hundreds of students and friends. The train will be met by eight hundred students of Simmons and by hundreds of ex-students who will be present to once again help boost the purple and gold cowboy team to victory. The foot ball game in the afternoon will be a battle royal between these two rival teams for the championship of west and central west Texas, and perhaps for the championship of the Texas Intercollegiate athletic Association for this year.

The Simmons homecoming program will begin on Wednesday afternoon, November 25. Visiting alumni and ex-students will register in the afternoon at the business office of the university. At this time homes will be assigned the visitors. On Wednesday evening a reception will be given at the home of President Sandefer. On Thanksgiving day a turkey dinner will be served on the university campus. Following the game in the afternoon, a banquet will be given the foot ball team by the "S" association of the athletic department of the institution.

There are over ten thousand ex-students and alumni of Simmons University in West Texas and hundreds of these are expected to return to their alma mater for the Thanksgiving celebration.

"GRANDPA CHASE"

Rev. J. E. Chase pastor of the First Christian church, is having the thrill of a lifetime this week. It all came about over the arrival of a fine granddaughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Landers Monday night. The minister was on the street early Tuesday morning distributing cigars and receiving in turn the congratulations of friends.

NOVEMBER DIST. COURT TO OPEN NOVEMBER 23

The November term of Mitchell county district court will be convened here Monday, November 23, by Hon. W. P. Leslie, presiding judge. Announcement from the office of J. Lee Jones, district clerk, indicates one of the lightest dockets in some time to be pending. Only nine civil and two criminal cases were pending Monday.

The November term last year was one of the heaviest ever recalled by local court attaches. A total of 31 felony indictments were returned by the grand jury in addition to a long list of misdemeanor bills.

Several cases are pending grand jury probing, County Judge Chas. C. Thompson announced Monday. It is not believed, however, that the grand jury will roll up as large total in indictments returned as was the case one year ago.

"THE LOST WORLD" MOST UNIQUE PICTURE OF ALL

"The Lost World" the most unique and thrilling heart drama ever put on the screen, caused more talk and sensation when shown in Dallas week before last, than any picture ever shown there. This picture amazes even the scientists, it is without a doubt the most remarkable picture ever made. All the prehistoric animals are mechanical, and some are 120 feet long and 85 feet tall taking fifty men to operate each one, you will see these monsters eat, drink, fight and walk just as any ordinary animal, one is finally taken into captivity then escapes and goes crashing down the streets of London destroying everything in his path, it took seven years to make this picture and these monsterous prehistoric animals, and you can hardly believe they are not real, they look and act so natural.

There is also a beautiful love story running thru this picture that is very modern and interesting, the stars are Bessie Love, Lewis Stone, Lloyd Hughes, Wallace Berry. As a whole its the most wonderful picture you will ever see and one that you will never forget. Starting at the Palace, Nov. 9th showing only two days. Matinee 2:30 night 6:30.

JAKE MAURER DIES HERE AT AGE OF SEVENTY-TWO

PRAISED BY FRIENDS FOR HIS GREAT PHILANTHROPHY AND HONESTY

Ending a life of usefulness and one filled with chivalry and honor, Jake Maurer, citizen of Colorado since 1879, died suddenly at his home in Colorado Friday night. His death came without a struggle between 12 o'clock midnight and 2 a. m. Saturday morning.

Funeral services were conducted at the family residence Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, Rev. M. C. Bishop, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Rev. Mr. Bishop paid a beautiful tribute to the deceased for his life record as a man who never turned a hungry man away unfed and who had always been recognized as a citizen of integrity and honor. The body was buried in I. O. O. F. cemetery. Floral offerings were profuse, and a large number of close friends of the family, many of whom had been associated with Mr. Maurer more than forty years, came to pay their respects to his memory.

Born in Barvaria seventy-two years ago, Maurer came to America at the age of 12 and stopped in Indiana where he was employed on a farm. He soon became overtaken with the "call of the West", however and joining himself to another young man, purchased a wagon and team and drove overland to Fort Worth. After staying there for a time they journeyed west to Fort Griffin and from there came to this county in 1879. His first home, the ruins of which still stand, was a dugout on the Colorado river twelve miles above Colorado.

In 1880 W. H. (Pete) Snyder, owner of a trading post on Deep Creek near where now stands the town of Snyder, moved his business to Colorado. Maurer assisted in moving the store and afterwards was employed by Snyder. It was in 1884 that Jake entered business for himself in the then booming metropolis of West Texas.

Forming a partnership with an old friend, Maurer and his associate opened "Jake & Frenchey's Restaurant" here in 1884. After a short time Maurer obtained full ownership of the business and for 35 years "Jake's Restaurant" was operated under his personal ownership and management. During those years, according to his friends and employees, Maurer never turned away one person who came to him with the request to be fed. The man who had no friends and no funds always found succor in this man. In speaking of this characteristic of Mr. Maurer Saturday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Bishop declared that this man had no doubt set a precedent and had actually given away a fortune thru the channel of charity.

"Had Jake followed another policy, that of turning away those who came to him in continued formation during those thirty-five years, the funds represented in the food he gave away and the cash he furnished unfortunates to pay for beds would no doubt have made him a rich man. He preferred, however, to die in konwledge of the fact that he had been a benefactor to mankind, which is one of the noblest tributes we are capable of paying to his memory."

His widow, who before her marriage was Miss Georgienna Jalvert, survives. She was born in Quebec and came to Colorado during the early days of the city. She and Jake were married here in 1885.

Mr. Maurer was a member of the Lutheran Church and during early life was a consistent worker in a congregation of this faith. A Sunday school class was taught by him several years.

LITTLE BOY KILLED

Everett Lee Bearden, five years, six months and nineteen days, son of Mrs. Dan Bearden, died in this city last Saturday evening, as a result of an accident during play. Everett and three other small children were playing in the rear of the Gary and Sigler Filling Station, on East Third street, about one thirty o'clock Saturday afternoon. One of the little fellows started to climb to the top of a steel gravel truck body which was leaning against the rear wall of the station. His weight caused the truck body to topple over, and Everett was caught underneath, the weight of it crushing his chest and causing internal injuries which resulted in his death several hours later. As it fell, the truck body struck one of the other children in the head, knocking it out of its path, but not seriously injuring the child.—Big Spring Herald.

New houses continue to spring up all around us. As we write this we can see three under construction, and as many more that have just been completed. The new telephone office has just been completed and Dr. J. B. Pirtle and family have moved in and taken charge of the board. Mr. Jack Garber moved to Dr. Pritles house and Mr. Munz to the house made vacant by Mr. Garber.

Work on the new school building is progressing rapidly and we have hopes that by Christmas it will be complete. What a relief it will be to the teachers and pupils to have warm comfortable rooms to work in with no fear of being smoked out with every change of the wind.

Earl Robinson, wife and baby have returned from Paris Texas where they have been visiting Mr. Robinson's parents at that place.

Mrs. Ray Ditrich was hostess at a Halloween party at the skating rink Friday night.

It was very amusing to notice the many different costumes and make-ups as the weird looking guests began to arrive on the scene. Much fun was had in trying to recognize each other, after which they unmasked and a very delightful time was had playing games and pulling the usual Halloween stunts. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served to a large number of guests.

The Womans Missionary society will have a bazaar at the reading room beginning Thursday Nov. 19th. We will have quite an assortment of fancy work and novelties as well as more practical garments. There will be a grab bag containing articles worth from 10 cents to a dollar which can be bought for 10c per grab. A beautiful prize will be given the one drawing the lucky number. Don't forget the date and be on hand to buy your Christmas presents before they are picked over.

Quite a bit of excitement was caused here Saturday by the bringing in of a well which acted very peculiar. For some 24 hours it continued to spurt air and salt water, throwing it clear over the crown block and covering everything around with mud and salt. Work on the well was resumed Sunday afternoon with the hope that it will have better behavior from now on.

Dr. J. L. Dodson, dentist, from Abilene will be in Westbrook several days this week. Those who wish to have dental work done may see him at Dr. Pirtles office.

Mr. George Jeffries and family have as their guests this week Mr. Jeffrie's two sisters from Dallas.

The seventh grade were honored with a Halloween party Oct. 31 at the home of our teacher, Mrs. Gressett. We invited a number of our friends to help us celebrate the event

We assembled about seven o'clock The lights were turned off. Everyone went into the house and sat in silence until we started playing "Passing the remains of Uncle Jobe". The lights were then turned on and we removed our masks and saw who was who.

The house was decorated in Halloween fashion. All kinds of ghostly things were seen about the house.

We drew numbers from a box which told our fortunes. Slips of paper were pinned on the wall and we hunted our number. These were read aloud, and much fun was enjoyed by all. We then assembled before a table where candles were burning. They were all different colors. One was blind folded, and he blew out a candle. It told all his fortune. We then played a game with dominoes, which was also very interesting.

Every girl was asked to write three boy names on a slip of paper and number them, one, two, and three. The boys were asked to do the same. Mrs. Gressett then read from a book what each meant in our future life. We played several other games, after which a big bon fire was built in the back yard, and as we gathered around it, the hostess passed marshmallows. These we put on the end of a sharp pointed stick and roasted. Apples were then passed around, and after eating them we played quite a few yard games.

The costumes were judged. Winnie Armstrong received Old Mother Goose as the reward for the best costume, and Morris Sturdivant received the prize for the second best costume. Then all went home reporting a good time.

Fourth and Fifth Grade Notes

Miss Ingram was heard to gladly remark, that "Roland and Leslie" had up their arithmetic lesson on time this morning. These bright boys are showing improvement in all of their studies every day. We believe and hope they are going to do some real work now, which will greatly please their parents and teacher.

The fourth and fifth grade pupils are abolishing "bad English". A fine of one penny for every mistake is charged. Proceeds will go toward getting a new picture for the fourth and fifth grade room in the new school building.

Story of Our New School Building

One day a little boy found me when I was a seed. He carried me home. The next day he went to the forest and planted me, among the tall trees.

The rain fell upon me, the sun shone on me, and I began to grow. I grew and grew. Soon I was a little bush. Later I became a large tree.

Men came with axes and chopped me down. Two more men came by and cut off my branches. I was then placed in the river to float down to the saw mill.

Bye and bye I came to the mill. Buzz, buzz went the great saws.

They put me in them and cut me into pieces of lumber.

Then they put me near a railroad track to be carried to some lumber yard.

I landed in the lumber yard at Westbrook, Texas and was used in the new school building, to keep the little boys and girls of Westbrook warm and to make them happy.

—By Woodrow Leach, a third grade boy.

Mrs. Gressett—So I have caught you chewing gum, have I?

J. C.—No, mum, I was just keeping it in my mouth instead of my pocket.

Mrs. Hall—Theron why do you call that little girl Postscript?

Theron—'Cause her name is Adeline Moore.

"That man is a lovely man" said Marguerite to her mother. "This morning that great big horse stepped on his foot, and he just sat down on the curb and took his foot in his hand and talked to God about it."

Butcher (to lady walking in)—What can I do for you mom?

Lady—I want a bottle of milk.

Butcher—Which do you prefer, morning milk or nights milk?

Lady—Don't you kid me. I want cow's milk.

Once Grace Plumer was on the program to say a verse. Miss Ingram told her if she forgot anything just say stummy tum tum or something like that then you will remember. So as Grace was saying her verse she said "So she wore a wreath of roses around her—tummy tum tum."

Our boys basket ball team is progressing rapidly under the leadership of our coach, Mr. Richards. We have elected for our captain, Byron Terrell and in the future we expect to have a fast team.

The smaller boys have organized a junior basket ball team consisting of a first and second team. They elected Aubrey Harris captain of the second team and Clyde Miller Jr., captain of the first team. We have some very interesting contests and expect to do some real team work. Mrs. Gressett is our coach.

A meeting was called in the English department of the sixth and eight room, November the third, nineteen hundred and twenty-five in order to organize a club. The following were elected as officials:

Lula Brown, president.
Carrol Gauslin, vice-president.
Doris Davis, secretary-treasurer.
Theron Hall, seargent at arms.
Mozell Donelson, critic.

The name of the club is to be given at the next meeting, which will be the first Monday next month.

The school met in the auditorium Monday morning for the chapel exercises. The seventh grade had charge of the program which was as follows:

Reading, "Myself" by Leonard Morris.

Song "Loves Old Sweet Song" by the class.

Pageant "Grandmothers Tea Party" by the girls of the seventh grade.

The program was enjoyed by all. The ninth and tenth grade will have charge of chapel exercises next Monday morning.

There was a great stir in the primary room when the Chrysler driven by Rennis Hines climbed Morgan Peak in our reading class. The first grade has been having great fun racing in the Chevrolet and Dodge at the end of last week the Chevrolet proved to be the best car.

The past week has been a busy one as the monthly examinations were taken. The sixth grade was said to be the weakest grade in the departmental work at the first of school, but now the teachers say that the sixth grade has shown more improvement than any other grade.

The Baptist W. M. U. honored Mrs. Lucy Grissett with a miscellaneous shower on Friday at the home of Mrs. Jim Moor. The living rooms were decorated with cut flowers, ferns, and pot plants, the color scheme being lavender and white. As the guests arrived they were seated in the living room and when the honor guest arrived she was conducted thru the huose around to the "old well" and as the guests sang the "Moss Covered Bucket" Mrs. Grissett drew the presents from the well. Many lovely dainty articles were drawn up.

Refreshments of iced fruit punch wafers and mints were served to about thirty members and guests.

The B. W. M. U. met with Mrs. Holder on Monday for their regular monthly business meeting. It was decided to carry the play "The Sp... er's Convention" on to New Hope ... Tuesday, Nov. 10.

After the regular business was finished a pleasant half hour was spent in a social way.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Oglesby. Everyone is welcome at all times.

Gloria Adams of Tulia is spending the week end with her Aunt, Mrs. J. M. Adams.

Mr. Bunks Grove and family of Lemon Cove, California, have returned after a brief visit with friends and relatives but hope for their return to Texas for their future home.

AMARILLO HOPES FOR U. S. AIRPLANE CENTER BOOSTED

AMARILLO, Nov. 1.—With the statement by Col. William Mitchell, in an interview in Washington late this past week, that he had recommended an aviation concentration point at Amarillo, board of city development officials are taking steps to try and interest Congress in the Mitchell said Amarillo was ideally located as the site for the "Nations eye" in the form of a base for airplanes, pointing out planes could reach either coast or any part of the Nation from Amarillo in a few hours.

Board members are recalling a survey made here during the war, when it was reported a large airplane base was to be established with a view of converting it into a peace time aviation center when the war ended.

The plan was dropped about the time the war ended and is now being recalled as an indication that the War Department has been considering such a step several years.

BUT DR. CRANFILL THINKS SPURGEON WAS ALL WRONG

J. B. Cranfill in Dallas News:

First thanking my good friend, Judge J. W. Gormley for his generous tribute to my prowess in the field of polemics, permit me to say that in his brief for tobacco he has taken the case of a criminal for which there is really no sane, sound nor credible defense.

Charles H. Spurgeon, one of his witnesses, while testifying eloquently for his cigar, was himself a victim of nicotine. He was the greatest preacher of his time, but, on account of his indulgence in tobacco and the overindulgence of his appetite, he died at 58—a time at which a man of right habits of living should be in life's high and normal prime. Of course Spurgeon defended tobacco just as Judge Gormley is defending tobacco. Almost without exception, every man who forms a vicious habit immediately seeks to justify that habit. Now and again a tobacco poisoned victim will be frank enough to confess that this poison has shattered his health and sapped his vitality, but the rule is that our good friends who are hurrying to their graves through the tobacco habit seek to justify themselves by quoting preachers and statesmen in their defense who are themselves victims of the tobacco poison.

Perhaps Judge Gormley knows that I have spent most of my life fighting the liquor traffic and in all that time have found only one advocate of liquor who, to my mind, was absolutely frank. That man was a lawyer friend of mine at Waco, who said on the stump that he was opposed to prohibition because he liked liquor and did not want to be deprived of the priviledge of drinking it. He declared with equal frankness that all of the agitation for temperance and prohibition increased the price of whisky and he wanted it to remain cheap so he could get all he wanted at the least possible cost. He has been dead many years, but I always think of this old-time friend in terms of admiration. I held a debate with him once and he was at the same time the easiest and most difficult antiprohobitionist I ever attempted to answer.

Judge Gormley could marshall a greater array of apologies for the tobacco habit than he gives us in his very courteous brief. Doubtless there are millions among the victims of this vice who would come to its defense, but on the other hand, every scientist, every physiologist, every well informed physician and every toxocologist in the world will frankly say to my good friend that tobacco is a deadly narcotic poison. One drop of nicotine placed on the tongue of a cat will snuff out its life in five minutes.

My good friend has much to encourage him, however. During the year ending June 30, 1925, there were manufactured and sold within the United States 75,025,064,791 cigarretes, a gain over the preceding year of 7,124,868,038. During the same period there were manufactured and sold 7,018,150,120 cigars, a decrease of 280,090,180 from the preceding year. Of chewing and smoking tobacco there were consumed 371,788,256 pounds, an increase of 1,239,566 pounds for the year. Of snuff the consumption was 37,529,110 pounds, a decrease of 1,397,064 pounds for the year. A significant part of the report from the Bureau of Internal Revenue is the fact that since 1914 year by year, there has been a steady upward climb in the use of cigarettes, starting with more than sixteen billion in 1914 and reaching more than seventy-five billion last year. The grand total for the period 1914-1925 was 509,139,962,205—more than half a trillion.

Permit me to remind Judge Gormley that it is a serious thing for a man, however high his standing, to espouse the cause of tobacco. The acid test of the whole matter is whether or not fathers and mothers wish their little children to become cigarette fiends and whether tobacco-using husbands desire to live with cigarette-smoking wives. If tobacco was good for Thomas Jefferson, Charles H. Spurgeon and Thomas R. Marshall, and is good for J. W. Gormley, it is good for everybody. If it is good for men it is good for women. If it is good for women it is good for children, and the earlier tney form the habit the better it is for them.

I want, however, to remind my good friend that a very large percentage of the men who die suddenly are the victims of nicotine. I heard Dr. J. H. Kellogg, perhaps the greatest physician in the world, say that 75 per cent of the tobacco smokers develop diabetes or Bright's disease before they reach the age of 55. If we could ascertain the other ravages of tobacco that result in arteriosclerosis, heart disease, indigestion, insomnia, neurasthenia and kindered maladies, it would be a revelation that would startle the world.

I have not mentioned the filthiness of the tobacco habit nor the harm it does to those nonusers who, through one means or another, are forced to inhale its nauseous smoke or be defiled by its ambeer. Nor have I referred to the cost of the poison, which runs into hundreds of millions. Many a tobacco adict is smoking up the shoes that ought to go on his baby's feet and many an old bachelor is spending the money for his tobacco defilement that he ought to invest in the care and support of a wife.

I now leave the subject with the jury, which in this case is a discriminating public, while at the same time indulging the hope that my lawyer friend, Judge Gormley will never again tender his legal services free in defense of tobacco, which is one of the most atrocious criminals that ever marched through our world.

THE NEW FORD

Highways and byways all over the globe will soon be dotted with a new line of Ford cars. And curiosity will be just as keen when the improved Fords appear on the streets of Paris, Berlin, Rome, Copenhagen or Yokohama as it was along Fifth Avenue or Hollywood Boulevard. The Ford car familiar in most every country on earth will soon give way to the improved and better looking Ford.

With output rising to new records in this country, Ford plants throughout the world are also getting into production with the improved cars. Distribution to dealers and customers is already under way in several countries.

The Ford Motor Company of England, Lt., began production on the improved cars at the Manchester plant October 10th and England was given its first view of these cars.

France, Belgium, Spain, Holland and the Scandinavian countries are just beginning to receive the improved Fords as production is now under way at the plants in Antwerp, Barcelona, Bordeaux and Copenhagen. Germany also is beginning to receive Ford cars which are shipped from the Copenhagen plant. Shipments are on the way to the Trieste plant and it will not be long before the new Fords will be on the roads of Italy.

The first cars for South America have been shipped to the company plant at Santiago, Chile, for distribution to dealers and other South American plants will go into production in November. The Ford branch at Havana Cuba and the plant at Mexico City will soon be distributing cars to dealers.

The Orient will have its first glimpse of the improved Ford cars most any day now, as shipments of parts for assembly have just been received by the Ford Motor Company of Japan, Ltd., at Yokohoma.

The Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., which supplies Canada and the British colonial possessions has been in production with the new cars for some time and has started shipping to Ford plants in New Zealand, Australia and South Africa.

NO JUSTIFICATION FOR HEAVY DROP IN COTTON PRICE

AUSTIN.—There is no justification for the heavy decline in cotton prices, despite the fact that the United States department of agriculture estimate of the cotton crop is 15,226,000 bales, George B. Terrell, commissioner of agriculture, declared today. He advised planters to hold cotton for higher prices.

Pale, Tired Mothers Should Beware of Chronic Fatigue

Many a discouraged mother thinks that her thin, pale, tired-out condition is due to exhausting housework and care of children—when as a matter of fact the real cause of all her distressing ailments is chronic fatigue.

Don't confuse chronic fatigue with the ordinary fatigue you feel after a good long walk. Chronic fatigue comes from within. Your organs and muscles have become debilitated due to lack of sufficient organic iron in your blood.

To conquer chronic fatigue you must strengthen your system by restoring this organic iron to your blood. But don't take the older mineral iron medicines which many doctors now say do little good. Take organic iron—Nuxated Iron—which is like the iron in your blood and like that in spinach and lentils. Unlike ordinary mineral iron it will not injure the teeth or disturb the stomach, but is promptly assimilated.

Take Nuxated Iron for just two weeks and you'll be astonished how much stronger and better you feel. Money back if not improved. All good druggists

TRY PREVENT EPIDEMICS IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

AUSTIN, Tex, Nov. 4.—With the majority of schools in full swing over the state, precautions for the protection of school children against infectious diseases are urged upon county and city health authorities and school officials by the state board of health.

In regard to this, Dr. H. O. Sappington state health officer, stated: "With the beginning of each school term, reporting of infectious diseases is given an impetus, rising in successive peaks on the heels of epidemics common to children such as measles, whooping cough, mups, diptheria and scarlet fever. The reasons for this are obviously due to the close association of children in rooms which are often over-crowded, not sufficiently heated and improperly ventilated.

"All of the infectious diseases which are commonly called childrens diseases are generally conceded to be caused by some specific germ, and are transmitted from one person to another through personal contact or through the air of a badly ventilated room. Thus a child suffering from one of these diseases may be the means of starting an epidemic in any school community.

"As a general thing, a 'slight cold' is an advance symptom of many of these diseases, consequently a cold in a child especially if accompanied by temperature, should be regarded with suspicion. As all these ailments of childhood will prove themselves within a short period of time, children suffering with suspicious colds, should be kept at home until sufficient time has elapsed to determine the character of such cold.

"Infectious diseases are more contagious during the early stages tho some people have the erroneous idea that the "peeling off" period of measles and scarlet fever is the most contagious period. Children suffering with infectious diseases should be kept at home, and if possible, isolated from other children until health authorities say the danger period is over."

THAT CHEVROLET

DETROIT, Nov. 4.—The Chevrolet Motor Company built 55,865 motor cars and trucks during September a new record for that month and only 378 fewer than the highest production month in the history of the company.

Ordinarily sales and consequently production are expected to decrease during the latter part of the year. However, the demand for Chevrolet cars which has held production at high figures throughout the year continues undiminished. As a result the schedule for the present month contemplates the building of more than 54,500 cars and trucks.

August deliveries to dealers in the United States alone were 41,500 an August record. This figure is exclusive of the thousands of cars shipped to foreign countries. During September deliveries in the United States increased to approximately 44,500, placing September second only to April and May of this year and exceeding the domestic deliveries for June, July and August respectively.

"I am proud of these records for two reasons" said Charles F. Barth, vice-president in charge of production.

"My first reason is that since March the Chevrolet production has remained consistently at 50,000 or more without the usual seasonable fluctuations. This indicates that the automobile industry is becoming stabilizeded upon a regular year-round demand.

"My second reason is that the September production proved conclusively the loyalty and capacity of the Chevrolet manufacturing organization. Unceasing demand for cars from the Chevrolet dealers made it necessary early in September to increase the September production schedule nearly 7,000, the new schedule calling for 53,165 cars and trucks. A production increase of that magnitude is a severe test of any man ufacturing organization. The sales department would have desired us to increase the production schedule even more sharply. The results exceeded our highest expectations. The loyal workers in the Chevrolet factories, most of them veterans who are proud of their jobs and proud of their product, responded to a man. They came through with the record september production of 55,865 which was 2,700 more cars than we had asked for even under the revised schedule."

FORD TOURING CAR

Despite the growing general tendency toward the closed type of cars, the touring car is the biggest selling automobile in America. Severe weather gives closed cars great sales impetus and in the north sections of the country where the climate is rigorous, the preference for open cars of family size is sufficiently pronounced to turn the balance of the entire nation.

In this connection reports of the Ford Motor Company show a demand for Touring cars which is unusual for this season of the year and which calls for a production of 100,000 of these cars during October.

The touring car always has been the most popular in the Ford line. The exceptional demand at the present time, however, may be accounted for by the new features of comfort and convenience which have been incorporated in the improved types.

Addition of a door at the driver's left, storm curtains which afford complete protection and open with the doors, greater leg room and a more attractive appearance in the general lines of the car have all contributed to bringing increased popularity to the five-passenger open type car.

Now comes Earnest Ridge, who resides in Mitchell County, Texas, hereinafter called plaintiff, complaining of Mary Ridge, whose place of residence or whereabouts is to the plaintiff unknown, hereinafter called the defendant; and for cause of action plaintiff represents to the court that he is and has been for a period of twelve months prior to exhibiting the petition herein an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas, and has resided in the said county of Mitchell for at least six months next preceding the filing of this suit; that on or about the 8th day of March, A. D. 1923, when by reason of the following alleged facts they have lived apart, and separate and not as husband and wife; although the plaintiff was a loyal and faithful husband in all things the said defendant did not carry out her marital obligations, harshly mis-using the plantiff and frequently cursing him. That without any cause on the part of the plainiff the defendant abandoned him on or about the 15th day of September, A. D. 1923, leaving said plaintiff and going away from him with one Worth Titus and living with him; since which time the plaintiff and defendant have not lived together.

School Notes

Halloween always falls on Oct. 31. This date is always eagerly looked forward to by the young people.

Many Halloween entertainments were given for the young people of Loraine, Friday and Saturday night.

A social was given at the home of Mrs. G. W. Hendricks Friday night. Most everyone came masked. After we were unmasked we were ushered upstairs blind-folded in a spooky room. Many games were played after which delicious refreshments of sandwiches and hot chocolate were served. Every one seemed to have a very good time and after the party, we went serenading.

A social was given Saturday night at the home of Mrs. J. L. Johnson. A great number were present. Many Halloween tricks were played, which were very exciting. After everyone had reported having a nice time, a truck was waiting for a bunch to serenading.

Entertainments at night and in the afternoon were also enjoyed by the juniors.

Our New World Books

Last week a "World Book" salesman came to the school house and gave us a plan to get a new set of "World Books". He asked how many pupils would be willing to bring one egg a week for a few months in order to get the book. A vote was taken, and the majority agreed to bring the eggs, so our books are expected to arrive soon. Two sets were bought, one for the elementary grades and one set for the high school.

Mr. Blythe suggested that we continue bringinng eggs after the "World Books" are paid for, in order to buy some more books for the library.

Married

On Saturday afternoon, Oct. 31, Mr. Earnest McDonald and Miss Bertha Fuller motored to Loraine and were married at the Methodist Parsonage, Rev. H. W. Hanks performing the ceremony.

W. M. S. Notes

The W. M. S. held three meetings this week observing the annual week of prayer and self denial. The meetings were well attended and the programs helpful to all.

Next Monday the new mission study class will have a lesson from the first chapter of "Healing Ourselves."

The T. E. S. class of the Baptist S. S. entertained the Gleaners of the Methodist S. S. with an Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Furlow on last Friday night. A large majority came masked and the house with its dim lights was all dressed up for the occasion, black cats, witches, owls, jack o'lanters together with the odd costumes made a "spooky" atmosphere.

The guests were first numbered and a contest to see who could guess the most correct numbers in their disguise was held. Also votes were cast for the best costumed lady and the ugliest man. Mrs. S. C. Harris and Mr. Joe Armstrong being the lucky winners, each received a slice of pumpkin pie which they were required to eat with their hands tied and caused much merriment to the on lookers.

Next all unmasked and were ushered down into the basement to have their fortunes told and view the "dead man" which proved very exciting. Various games and contests were held throughout the evening. At the close of which sandwiches, pumpkin pie and hot chocolate were served to about one hundred guests who departed expressing themselves as having a "jolly good time."

Baptist Report

We had a very good attendance at the S. S. and interesting lesson Sunday being our regular church day we were delighted to have with us our pastor and his family also Dr. R. C. Pender. The pastor delivered an interesting message at the morning hour. And Dr. R. C. Pender, secretary and field representative of Buckner Orphans home had charge of the evening hour and in a very impressive way talked of the many needs and various ways Baptist people could help this great institution. At the close of the hour a free will offering of $155.00 was taken for the home.

CONOWAY SCHOOL WINS PLACE IN STATE CONTEST

The judges for the rural school improvement contest, fostered by the Fort Worth Record, during the school year 1924-25 have announced the winners, awarding the Conoway school second prize of thirty-five dollars. The contest was open to all rural schools of the state. The judges awarded the decision upon specimen of work submitted and upon general improvement during the school year. Upon these points the Conoway school was rated first place. The letter received by Mr. Williams, principal reads as follows:

Mr. H. V. Williams, Jr. Pr.,
Conoway School, Rt. 2,
Colorado, Texas,
My Dear Mr. Williams.

It gives me great pleasure to send you this check—Second prize offered by the Prudence Penny Rural school contest. You did exceedingly well and would have received first money according to the judges (business and professional womens clubs) but for the fact that Pontego succeeded in getting State Aid for vocational training. It now has sewing, cooking, agriculture and certain carpenter work. With best wishes I am,

Yours Sincerely,
PRUDENCE PENNY
Fort Worth Record

The entire community is very proud of the work done by the school and it is the aim of the teachers, Mr. Williams, Miss Cooke and Miss Williams, the trustees, and the community to develop a school that will equal the best in the state. And all present indications point in that direction. The trustees believe that the rural school boy and girl should have every advantage possible and they are using every effort to give the best. Great progress is expected during the present term.
