Hostages Will Not Be Home Christmas

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Militant students occupying the U.S. Embassy denied today that any of the 50 Americans they hold would be released by Christmas and said all hostages will be tried as spies.

Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh told foreign reporters Sunday evening that some of the hostages "possibly" would be released before Christmas.

"No no, they are not going to be released," a student spokesman told The Associated Press. He said the embassy occupiers would leave the setting of a trial date up to the Iranian people. "The Iranian people will decide that." He did not elaborate.

Ghotbzadeh said the Iranian authorities have not begun considering a date for a hostage trial, but that they are putting together an international "grand jury" to investigate U.S. links with the former shah's regime, beginning Jan. 1 or 2. The proceedings would take about two weeks, he said, and hostages might appear as witnesses, "but not as the accused."

He had said before that the hostages would not be tried until the grand jury reported and its findings could be evaluated.

But the students, who insist the shah be returned to Iran for trial, have contradicted of overruled Ghotbzadeh several times on the status of American diplomats held in Iran.

Tehran Radio today quoted Ghotbzadeh as saying invitations to join the "grand jury" are being extended to Nobel Peace Prize-winning Irish statesman Sean MacBride and Louis-Edmond Pettiti, president of both the Paris Bar Association and the International Organization of Catholic Jurists. Both men said today that they had not received invitations.

Told of the radio report, MacBride, in Dublin, said his participation would depend on the inquiry's terms of reference, its purpose and who else was involved.

Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh has said the government was going ahead with plans for an international "grand jury" to investigate "crimes" of the United States and the deposed shah, although the former monarch's departure from the United States has opened the door to a resolution of the U.S. Iranian crisis.

He also said some of the 50 American hostages held in the occupied U.S. Embassy since Nov. 4 might be released for Christmas. Militants holding them have insisted they would be tried on espionage charges if the shah is not returned to Iran.

Los Angeles radio newsman Alex Paen, who started a Christmas card writing campaign in the United States, deliyered a sack of 3,000 cards to the embassy today, the first of many he hopes to take.

The radio quoted Ghotbzadeh as saying MacBride would be invited to sit on the panel, which is to include members of various nationalities and a number of Iranian "experts and thinkers." MacBride, a one-time Irish Republican Army chief, won the Peace Prize in 1974 for his work in South-West Africa Namibia and visited Iran earlier to help mediate the crisis.

Another broadcast said Iran is stopping oil sales to Panama, where the shah has taken refuge on a resort island. But Panama said Sunday that it has not imported oil from Iran since 1973.

Texas Cold Moves To Mexico

By The Associated Press

The Artic front that brought goosebumps to Texas this weekend chugged south into Mexico today.

But in its wake, winds blustered near 50 mph at Guadalupe Pass, dropping the 13-degree readings to a biting wind chill factor of 30 degrees below zero.

Skies were clear over San Antonio, where subfreezing readings were reported.

The lowest thermometer readings were in the Eastern Panhandle and South Plains with temperatures in the five-to-ten-above-zero range.

Wintry gusts diminished in West Texas except in the mountain areas and were expected to shift to southwest today with the promise of warmer temperatures.

Winds should diminish over North Texas today and under clear skies temperatures will warm into the upper 40s and low 50s.

Monday update

Long Island RR Rolls Again

NEW YORK (AP)-The Long Island Rail Road was back in the thick of its hectic workday schedule today following a week-long strike that forced 180,000 daily commuters to find alternate transportation to and from the city.

Railroad officials said they expected a "normal rush-hour."

The railroad's 17 unions grudgingly sent their 6,200 members back to work at 12:01 a.m. Saturday when President Carter ordered a 60-day "cooling off' period and appointed a three-man board to investigate the contract dispute.

Shah Settles In On Island

CONTADORA ISLAND, Panama (AP)-Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and his wife settled down on a heavily guarded Panamanian island and the deposed monarch said he hoped to stay. Panamanian officials said they can protect him and Panama from his former subjects.

Asked if he planned to stay in Panama, the sixth nation to receive him since he fled from Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's revolution in January, the shah said: "This is obviously within our minds because such a surrounding and such hospitality is not very easy to match in very many cases."

Six Killed In Ulster

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)-The British army in Northern Ireland had its worst day in four months Sunday with the death of five soldiers. A former militiaman also was assassinated in front of his 13-year-old son.

A land mine, apparently triggered by remote control and believed to contain 500 pounds of explosives, blew an army Land-Rover off the road Sunday near Dungannon, 30 miles west of Belfast, killing all four troops in the vehicle.

A bomb killed a fifth solider as he passed by an abandoned house near Tullydonnel, about 40 miles southwest of Belfast.

A gunman killed a former member of the Ulster Defense Regiment, a part-time auxiliary force, in Omagh, about 50 miles west of Belfast. The victim was selling fish and chips from a van and his young son witnessed the killing.

Candidates Flipflop In Polls

NEW YORK (AP)-Americans' opinions of Jimmy Carter and Edward M. Kennedy have flipflopped in recent weeks largely because the public believes Carter has handled the Iranian crisis well and Kennedy has reacted to it poorly, an Associated Press-NBC News poll shows.

The changes in public opinion run deeper than just the Iranian crisis. Carter seems to be dispelling some of the questions in the public mind about his competence, while Kennedy has apparently raised some doubts about his own abilities.

These major swings in public opinion come as the battle for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination between Carter, Kennedy and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. heats up.

Immigrant Policy Misses Northeast

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)-A report prepared for the Coalition of Northeast Governors says federal policy on illegal immigrants fails to take into account the problems of the Northeast.

The report, by Eugene F. Sofer of the coalition's Policy Research Center in Washington, says the presence of illegal immigrants provides a "complex issue" for the region's governors.

The apparent increase in the number of illegal immigrants in the Northeast could create a "permanent underclass" of people with no way out of poverty, the report says.

Citing another report prepared by the Tri-State Regional Planning Commission of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut and based on figures from the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, Sofer says in his study that those three states are the home of 1.8 million illegal aliens.

About 1.5 million are in New York, 300,000 in New Jersey and 7,000 in Connecticut, the figures show.

While noting that reliable figures on the number of illegal immigrants are unavailable, the Sofer report says settlement patterns for legal immigrants indicate that about two-thirds of illegal aliens will settle in New York, California, New Jersey, Illinois, Texas and Massachusetts.

The report says it is also "likely" that New York, New Jersey and Connecticut receive the bulk of illegal immigrants from the Caribbean.

Requested by New York Gov. Hugh Carey, Sofer's study says the Northeast was able to assimilate European immigrants earlier in this century because they could participate in the political process and take advantage of public services.

"Illegal immigrants can do neither without fear of arrest and deportation," the report says.

Yet they "use social services and, to an unknown degree, represent direct costs to state and local governments in the region," it adds.

Connecticut Gov. Ella Grasso, chairwoman of the coalition, said the report "demonstrates the urgent need for increased state attention to immigration policy-making, administration and enforcement."

Mrs. Grasso said that although immigration policy is created by the federal government, state and local governments feel the impact of the policy and "are helpless to deal with its effects."

Ask Us

Q--Why do city police leave lights flashing while they are giving tickets and does a person have to sit in the police car while the policeman gets his information?

A--The lights are left flashing as a safety precaution, says Police Chief Bill Stone. Most of the time the cars are stopped on busy streets. The department has no policy concerning the second part of your question. However, the policeman and the person being interrogated may sit in the police car as a safety measure, if it is more convenient, or if weather conditions make it advisable. This is left up to the individual policeman who is working the case.

Money Order Blanks Stolen At Hereford

Snyder merchants were being notified this morning that some stolen Western Union money orders could turn up in this area.

Money order blanks were taken in a burglary of the Western Union Office at Hereford, local law enforcement officials were advised.

Chamber of commerce personnel were calling Snyder merchants this morning to advise them of the stolen money orders. Missing are blanks with serial numbers 0896004 through 0896050; 0895851 through 085900 and 0395650 through 0395699.

OPEC Decides Another Boost

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries meets here today to raise its base price for crude oil again but many of the cartel's 13 members have jumped the gun and boosted their prices as much as 33 percent.

World oil prices were about 100 percent above last year's levels as the cartel's oil ministers convened behind tight security in this Venezuelan capital to consider yet another price hike.

"The industrialized countries can pay whatever we ask," Libyan Oil Minister Izzedin al Mabrak told a reporter. "They have shown they can stand a price increase."

Libya, which breached the OPEC ceiling of $23.50 a barrel in October, announced another price increase Sunday. It hiked the price of its high-quality crude oil -- prized for its high yield of gasoline -- by $3.73 to $30 a barrel retroactive to Nov. 1.

Mabrak also said Libya, which ships nearly half of the 2 million barrels it produces daily to the United States, will reduce production next year, but he did not say how much.

Indonesia also boosted its price by $2. to $25.50 for a 42-gallon barrel. Iran's official Pars news agency said the price of Iranian crude had been raised $5 to $28.50, but Iranian Oil Minister Ali Akbar Moinfar called the report a rumor.

The pre-conference splurge of price hikes was begun last week when a bloc of OPEC moderates, led by Saudi Arabia, bumped their prices up $6 to $24 a barrel.

County Asked To Cut Hill On Road

County commissioners this morning were presented with petitions requesting that a hill be cut down on a county road near Ira.

Known in the community as "Thrill Hill," the unpaved segment of road about 3½ miles north of Ira Cemetery has been the site of several traffic mishaps, the latest a week ago when four persons were injured. There have been other mishaps there in recent years, including one that resulted in a fatality.

The petitions, with a total of 212 signatures were presented by Richard Hanks at this morning's session of the commissioners court.

Also presented this morning was a request for an additional girls softball court in Towle Memorial Park.

Both requests were taken under advisement by the court, and in both cases, commissioners said that they would make a personal inspection before making any decision.

Eleven Band Students Make All Region

Eleven Snyder High School Students have been selected for the Region II All-Region Band, Sam Robertson, band director, announced this morning. The selections were made at tryouts conducted Saturday in Munday. Five of these students also qualified for Area I tryouts which will be conducted in Lubbock Jan. 19, he said. Any of the students successful there will then progress to the state tryouts which will be conducted Feb. 13-16 in San Antonio.

The All Region II band will perform in a clinic concert Jan. 11-12 at McMurry College in Abilene.

Making the All Region Band Saturday were Glenna Dennis, Amadeo Garza, John Melott, Nettie Moss, Andy Sealy, Brad Robertson, Darrell Calvert, Jon Goodwin, Bobby Alexander, Dayton Robertson, and Martha Womack.

Those qualifying for Area tryouts were: Miss Dennis, flute; Miss Womack, clarinet; Calvert, bassoon; Goodwin bass trombone and Brad Robertson, percussion.

Wants Bigger Paychecks For Armed Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Harold Brown says the government isn't taking good enough care of those in its armed forces. So, he recommends they get bigger pay raises than civilians on the federal payroll.

Hearing Tuesday On Landfill Plan

A hearing is set for 9 a.m. Tuesday at city hall on Snyder's application for expansion of its sanitary landfill facility, and city officials hope that bids can be asked on some ditching work in connection with the project.

The hearing will be conducted by representatives of the Texas Department of Health, which has the responsibility of handling such applications. The landfill area now in use is nearing its capacity, and the expansion being proposed would extend its life for an estimated six years or more.

The city council will hold a special session Tuesday night to authorize bids on ditching work, provided the plans meet state requirements.

Also at the special meetings, the council will inspect another modular type ambulance as it prepares to purchase a new ambulance for use by the local service, Palmer EMS. Indications are that ambulance bids could be sought for opening at the council's regular January meeting.

revisiting the thirties

Now that everyone has had a say about the 50th anniversary of the stock market crash, let's reflect a moment on the Great Depression and its alleged causes. We were taught in school that business excesses caused the stock market crash. The Depression that followed was triggered, we were instructed, by the stock market decline.

Never in want of a happy ending, the standard textbook conclusion is that such an economic catastrophe can never be repeated because of "reforms" instituted by government, most of which started during the presidency of Franklin Roosevelt.

For more than 40 years the American public has been told by academics and government planners that controls of the economy often called reforms will prevent economic upheavals. We have been told that by juggling fiscal and monetary policy, the government can "fine tune" the economy to insure permanent prosperity without inflation.

The "fine tuning" theory, whose primary spokesman was John Maynard Keynes, deserves a close look. Simply put, the theory states that if the economy seems to be sliding into recession, the government need only pump money into the economy and increase spending in order to avert trouble. And, on the other hand, if the economy becomes inflationary, all the government need do is take money out of the economy, and slow down spending. This theory dominated American economics for some four decades. Fine tuning gave government planners a perfect excuse to take economic power for themselves.

The system seemed to work for several decades, but appearances can be deceptive. What really happened was that the vitality of the marketplace, though depressed, continued despite controls. By the early 1970s it was clear government fine-tuning was creating major problems rather than stability. For the first time America began to experience both recession and inflation at the same time. The finetuners were in confusion about what to do. President Ford, listening to his experts no doubt, called for higher income taxes in the Fall of 1974, only to be followed by a call for lower income taxes a few months later - now that's fine-tuning.

In October the Federal Reserve erred twice in its estimation of the money supply, the basic tool of the economic controllers. They overestimated the nation's money supply by $3.7 billion on one occasion and by $800 million on another. In a situation like this, even if the Keynesian theory were correct, it wouldn't work.

To discover what will work, we must go back and examine some of the lingering misconceptions people have about the Great Depression. The first and most important observation is that the massive influx of government interventionism did not bring us out of depression, it caused depression. Without the government preventing natural economic adjustments the Great Depression of 1930-to-1940 would likely be called the Recession of 1930-31. There had been many short-lived recessions prior to the Great Depression, and there is now no reason to think recovery would not have happened as it did before.

Murray Rothbard, in his book "America's Great Depression," details one of history's biggest misconceptions. Many people think the Depression worsened because Herbert Hoover practiced laissez faire economic policies. Rothbard details Hoover's approach and explains that there was very little difference between Hoover's and Franklin Roosevelt's policies. Hoover's interventionism made a depression out of a recession; Roosevelt's policies kept it a depression.

No economy is immune from economic downturn. Even with today's massive interventionism we experience recessions, and now we've inflation to boot.

We must establish a policy which will permit the economy to adjust and recover from an economic slump as rapidly as possible. For this to happen all that is needed is for government to stand back and let the market work.

WASHINGTON (NEA)— Among aficionados of politics, the "revolving door" isn't a department store entrance. It's a technique for abusing public service while advancing the private interests of its practitioners and their clients.

For many years, the beneficiaries of the ethically questionable practice generally were limited to traditional special interest groups such as corporations, unions and trade associations.

But its corrosive influence now reaches to the highest level of politics -- campaigns for the presidency -- and threatens the integrity of the Federal Election Commission, the government agency responsible for enforcing campaign finance laws.

The most recent case of an FEC official offering a political campaign the specialized skills and knowledge he acquired while on the government payroll involves the commission's former general counsel, William C. Oldaker.

The senior officer in charge of the FEC's powerful legal staff since early 1977, Oldaker began negotiating for a new job in mid-October with representatives of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's presidential campaign organization.

At the time, Oldaker's office was investigating a formal complaint filed by President Carter's reelection committee, alleging that the supposedly independent "Draft Kennedy" committees then operating in various states were, in fact, part of a coordinated effort orchestrated in Washington.

Oldaker says that after his first contact with the Kennedy campaign, he voluntarily withdrew from any involvement in that case. There is no evidence to refute that claim, but FEC employees under Oldaker's direct supervision continued to work on the Kennedy investigation while he was actively considering employment with the Kennedy campaign committee.

Oldaker resigned from the FEC at the end of October to seek "a new challenge." He now is deputy legal officer for the Kennedy campaign, responsible for dealing with the same federal laws and regulations he once enforced.

In his letter of resignation, Oldaker noted that he is technically in compliance with the provisions of the new ethics-in-government law specifically drafted to discourage such "revolving door" activities.

But Oldaker's interpretations of the law haven't always been flawless. While serving as an attorney in the Denver regional office of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in 1973, he was demoted and suspended for nine weeks after his superiors discovered that he had falsified records submitted to agency officials in Washington.

Senior officials in the Carter campaign have privately complained about the propriety of Oldaker's job change, but the president's supporters haven't been especially scrupulous in avoiding potential "revolving door" conflicts of interest in their relations with the FEC.

An example: In 1977, attorney Kenneth A. Gross left the Atlanta law firm of Lipshutz, Susmann, Sikes, Pritchard & Cohen to join the FEC's legal staff in Washington. The senior partner in that firm was Robert J. Lipshutz.

At the time, however, Lipshutz was serving as counsel to the president, the senior legal post in the White House. He earlier had been treasurer of Carter's 1976 campaign committee and thus was legally responsible for the financial reports submitted to the FEC.

Last year, while the commission staff was auditing the Carter campaign reports, Gross was promoted to a new job at the FEC -- in charge of audits of all presidential campaigns. Like Oldaker, he says he excused himself from any involvement with the Carter audit.

But also like Oldaker, Gross maintained direct supervision of those working on the Carter case. The ethical problems posed by such situations are quite obvious, yet the FEC's "revolving door" continues to spin at a dizzying pace.

at wits end

by erma bombeck

Someone asked me what my kids were getting for Christmas this year and I said, "I really don't know. Either a chest cold, stomach flu or walking diarrhea."

I don't worry about them. They always come up with something - even if it's at the last minute.

When they were small we always used to hear stories of Christmas ... about how people went to parties or watched the big tree at the courthouse being lit up. Once when I was at the drugstore having prescriptions filled, I even saw a group of people singing. I didn't know what it was all about so I asked the druggist. He said, "They're called carolers and they go out and sing in front of homes and sometimes they're invited in for punch and cookies."

"But how do they get their medication?" I asked.

"They're not sick and they don't need medication," he said.

That was the first time I realized that not everyone got sick at Christmas. It made me curious about how other people spent the holiday. My neighbor to the left had four children and the one on the right had two. One day we compared notes.

"I heard that Betty, the childless secretary in the next block, and her husband come down on Christmas morning in their robes and slippers and open their gifts before breakfast."

"Big deal," said Helen. "We do that."

"But wait!" I said. "AFTER THAT THEY GET DRESSED."

"Maybe their drugstore doesn't deliver on Christmas day," said Charmaine.

"No, I think they go to church and then go to someone's home for a big turkey dinner with stuffing, cranberries, sweet potatoes and pecan pie."

No one said anything for a minute. Then Helen said, "I've got to go home and pull together some clear broth, Jello and Seven-Up."

"And I've got nose drops at 2:00, antibiotics at 3:00 and Kaopectate at 3:30," said Charmaine.

There are a lot of theories as to why children get sick at Christmas. Some say it's the excitement -- others contend it's the exhaustion that makes you vulnerable. My own theory is that we're probably allergic to all that ho-ho-hoing and will break out with something every time we near happiness.

Besides, if childless Betty ever got a rectal thermometer as a stocking stuffer, she wouldn't know what to do with it.

Your Birthday

December 18, 1979

Solid achievement can be made this coming year if you're willing to change that which has been unproductive for you. Friends will be eager to help you open up new territory.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You may have to guard against coming on too strong or making heavy demands on those who are involved in your business today. Be a friend, not a dictator. You'll enjoy the section in your new Astro-Graph Letter which tells you what lies ahead for you in romance. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Make no major decisions today unless you're certain you have all the facts. There is a strong possibility something important is being overlooked.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Maintain a philosophical, mind-your-own business attitude today to avoid trouble. You could inherit someone else's problem if you stick your nose into the wrong place.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Those you least expect could come to your aid today, so don't feel let down if the ones who should be helping aren't. Things will work out.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A resentment harbored against another could cause you to make a faulty decision today. It'll be to your disadvantage as much as it is to his or hers.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you find yourself forced to share time with one you're not very fond of, it would be to your benefit to turn the other cheek and try to get along.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Just because you might have gotten away with it before, don't try to push your family to the wall today. Treat them like friends and you'll get farther.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If confusion arises in your work today, chances are it will be due to your having been given faulty information. Go to the original source and check thoroughly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be held accountable today for any funds entrusted to you. Make certain your spending is in accord with the wishes of those you represent.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Avoid siding with or hanging around persons who band together as a means to hold sway over others. It's not your style to become enmeshed in petty politics.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't base any decisions today on past conclusions. Look for new sources of evidence to understand a present situation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Financial matters, especially those involving friends, should be avoided today. Strong resentment could grow out of a testy situation that may be neither party's fault.

Confusing Predictions In Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)— The nation's economy demonstrated further resilience in November, further confounding predictions of a downturn.

Total sales at the nation's retail stores rose 1.8 percent to $77 billion in November, wiping out the 1.7 percent drop in the previous month, the Commerce Department said Monday.

The date on retail sales — an important component of the economy — came on the heels of a Labor Department report showing that the nation's unemployment rate fell from October's 6 percent to 5.8 percent last month.

Cartier Gets New President

PARIS (AP)—Cartier, the venerable old jewelry concern that has served royalty for 100 years, has a new president.

Nathalie Hocq, 28, was elected by the board Thursday to succeed her father as head of the company. Hocq was killed in a car accident last week.

Ms. Hocq played a leading role in restoring Cartier to financial health under the guidance of her father who took over the firm in 1972. Until now she was director general of the firm.

SLIM RAGSDALE WAS 'FAT MAMA' BEFORE PAT WALKER'S

She reduced from size 18 to 11 at Pat Walker's

"It's really discouraging to try to look good in a size 18 or 20—and that's what I was before going to Pat Walker's. Now . . . I can wear a size 11 and really feel good about it!

"I regret not investing my time and money in this program sooner. Not only do I look better in my clothing, I feel better. And I am not only getting a figure, but I relax when I take the treatments and it eases the tension and helps my circulation.

"My children called me 'Fat Mama,' then friends started doing the same. I tried to act like it didn't bother me. Now I can be called 'Slim' and I like it!"

FUNNY BUSINESS

Should We Harbor The Boat People?

By Abigail Van Buren

1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

MY DEAR AUNT ABBY: Since its onset I have been following the debate in your column originated by AMERICA FIRST, who objected to Americans taking in the boat people. After watching an NBC news report on the subject, I feel I must speak my piece.

History shows that immigrants have never been welcomed by the American masses. Any success these "huddled masses" enjoyed was the product of their own hard labor, often conquering insurmountable obstacles every step of the way. But what outstanding contributions these people made to the American lifestyle that AMERICA FIRST now enjoys!

Many of today's enterprises that made America what it is came from the likes of Andrew Carnegie, John D. Rockefeller, Albert Einstein and, may I say, my own grandfather — and your father-in-law — Jay Phillips. All were immigrants, as are the ancestors of most of us, probably including AMERICA FIRST. Indeed, weren't the settlers who came aboard the Mayflower as much boat people as the millions fleeing Southeast Asia today?

It is, as you well know, only due to America opening its doors to immigrants that I am able to sit here at college and write this letter. Why shouldn't the Vietnamese, Thais, Cambodians and Chinese have the same chance our family had? Who can tell what contributions these new immigrants will make to America in the years to come? At least they deserve a chance.

If America is to close its gates, if Americans are to shun the "homeless tempest tossed" so poignantly described by Emma Lazarus, then we should feel compelled to take the monument to our past generosity, the Statue of Liberty, and tow it out to sea. We don't deserve it!

Love, always,
YOUR NEPHEW, ERIK BERNSTEIN
BOULDER, COLO.

DEAR ABBY: My husband died last March. There are many people who will not have knowledge of this — most of them are past business associates and folks that I barely know — but we have always exchanged cards each Christmas. I have ordered cards with only my name on them, and plan to remember everyone on our list, at least this first year.

Is there a tasteful way to advise them that my husband has died? I certainly don't want to write it on my Christmas card, and yet when they receive a card with only MY name on it they will wonder what happened to George. Some might even think that we are separated or divorced. Please advise me.

NEW WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: It would save a lot of speculation if you included a brief note with your Christmas cards simply stating that George died last March.

DEAR ABBY: For the past year, my boyfriend (I'll call him Sid) has been receiving erotic (and sometimes obscene) correspondence at his office. Nothing is ever signed. This is supposedly leading up to "a rendezvous the likes of which he's never dreamed possible!"

Well, surprise! We just discovered through handwriting analysis that this garbage is being sent by a girl we both know. She is the girlfriend of one of Sid's best friends. Here's the puzzler: She doesn't seem to be anything like the obviously sick person who is sending this stuff.

After discussing it, Sid and I have decided to let the matter drop without confronting either Sid's friend or the girl. Seeing them socially as we do, we are afraid if we let on that we know, our relationship might become strained and difficult.

We are all around 30, so it can't be just a childish prank. (I am certainly not laughing!) What do you think should be done?

Postmaster At Jayton Named

JAYTON--James O. Kidd has been appointed postmaster at Jayton, D.E. Holster, sectional center manager-postmaster at Midland, has announced.

Kidd, 57, has served in both the Jayton and Aspermont Post Offices during his postal career. His first assignment with the Postal Service was as a substitute clerk in the Jayton office in 1965. In 1972, he served as officer-in-charge of the Aspermont Post Office, returning to Jayton as clerk where he served until his appointment as postmaster.

GOP Candidates Play Catch-The-Leader...

Ronald Reagan Still Setting Pace

WASHINGTON (AP)- The contest for the 1980 Republican presidential nomination, subdued by the Iranian crisis, has settled into a catch-the-leader pursuit - with Ronald Reagan still settting the pace.

Republican candidates are pretty much holding their positions and marking time until the field of nine GOP candidates can be narrowed.

The major and some of the lesser-known GOP candidates are devoting their energies and funds to heavy campaigning in Iowa, New Hampshire and the other early primary and caucus states - most operating under the theory that they need early, strong showing to capture national attention.

Campaigning has been rather low-key to date, with the stalemate at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, where 50 Americans are being held hostages, casting a pall over the political landscape and temporarily robbing the Republicans of one of their favorite themes - attacks on Carter's conduct of foreign policy.

Republican candidates have voiced general support for Carter's performance in the crisis without dwelling on the subject.

John Connally, whose $8 million war chest is the largest raised to date by a presidential candidate, has been doing some heavy campaigning - especially in the South.

"The best opportunity is in southern primaries. Reagan's strength is soft in the South," said Eddie Mahe, Connally's chief campaign stragetist.

Reagan aides dispute that theory, noting Reagan's easy victory over Connally in last month's Florida GOP straw ballot.

Meanwhile, former CIA Director George Bush of Texas, buoyed by his upset victory last month over Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee in a Maine straw ballot and his strong showing in the Florida GOP tally several weeks later, is trying to keep that momentum going.

Bush has been stumping hard in Iowa and New Hampshire and also paying close attention to Florida and Maine.

Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., has practically abandoned his job as Senate minority leader to pursue his campaign. He's focusing largely on seven states: Iowa, New Hampshire, Arkansas, Massachusetts, Vermont, Connecticut and Wisconsin as well as Puerto Rico.

Despite initial setbacks, such as the straw ballot loss to Bush in Maine, Baker feels he still has a good chance of being in the finals.

Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., whose moderate-to-liberal philosophy and voting record set him apart from the rest of the pack of GOP contenders, is putting most of his energy and limited resources into making a strong showing in New Hampshire.

He has been campaigning there extensively, while doing little in Iowa but looking ahead to the Massachusetts and Illinois primaries. If Anderson can't begin pulling ahead by Illinois, he probably will drop out, aides said.

Calfhood vaccination protects against brucellosis. Preferably, calves should be vaccinated soon after they reach two months of age.

Chicago Romps Cards, Then Gets Some Help

By The Associated Press

It's Chicago at Philadelphia and ...

And we'll find out the rest tonight when the Denver Broncos visit the San Diego Chargers with a National Football League division title at stake. The loser will wind up with the wild card and a trip to Houston. The winner will get the American Conference West title.

The Chicago Bears can thank their lucky stars -- or, rather, the blue stars on the silver helmets of the Dallas Cowboys -- that they're in the playoffs at all.

Thanks to the NFL's tie-breaking system to determine playoff teams, the Bears not only had to beat St. Louis but had to win big, and needed some help from Dallas. They got it all.

Two other division champions were crowned Sunday. The Pittsburgh Steelers, already guaranteed their eighth straight playoff appearance, locked up their sixth successive title in the AFC's Central Division by beating Buffalo 28-0. And in the NFC's Central Division, Tampa Bay's once-laughable Buccaneers shook off a "choke" collar, halted a three-game skid and, in a near-monsoon, beat Kansas City 3-0 to nail down first place.

Philadelphia, already assured a playoff berth, defeated Houston 26-20. The Oilers will host the AFC wild card game next Sunday at 3 p.m. The Chicago-at Philadelphia NFC wild-card affair is scheduled to kick off at 11:30.

Bears 42, Cardinals 6

Just about the only thing the Cardinals were playing for was rookie Ottis Anderson's chance for the NFL rushing title - but the Bears held him to just 39 yards before he left in the third period.

Anderson finished with 1,605 yards while Walter Payton gained 137 yards and scored three TDs for the Bears to finish with 1,610. But neither of them won the rushing title.

Eagles 26, Oilers 20

Earl Campbell did - for the second successive year - with 1,697 yards following his 134-yard, one TD showing against the Eagles. Quarterback Ron Jaworski ran for Philadelphia's first TD and his backup, John Walton, passed for the game-winner.

Crown On The Line For Chargers, Broncos

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) —For pure drama, Hollywood and Hitchcock would be hard-pressed to dream up a better ending.

Consider the suspense at hand when the San Diego Chargers and the Denver Broncos conclude the National Football League's regular season tonight with the AFC West Division's "Great Shootout."

A national television audience will see:

--Two teams already assured playoff spots battling for a division championship. Either Denver, 10-5, wins its third straight title or the Chargers, 11-4, claim their first in 14 years.

--San Diego quarterback Dan Fouts try his hand at breaking Joe Namath's all-time single season passing record of 4,007 yards. Fouts can set another NFL mark with his seventh 300-yard game of the year.

--A clawing Denver defense, known for its big play tradition, tackling the NFL's most explosive passing attack in 12 years.

"It's going to be a great game," said Fouts, who needs 156 yards in the air to surpass Namath's 1967 mark.

Favored by six points, San Diego is still smarting from a 7-0 loss at Denver 10 weeks ago.

"We have a score to settle," said Fouts, who bore heavy criticism for the loss -- San Diego's only shutout of the season.

A victory would give the Chargers the home field advantage throughout the playoffs. The loser must travel to Houston next week for a wild card elimination match with the 11-5 Oilers.

Temple Cats Fluster Cool California Team

By The Associated Press

The East is supposed to be the least in college football, but improved its image considerably over the weekend, thanks to Temple and Syracuse.

Striking a strong blow for the least-recognized section of the country, the Temple Owls engineered a surprisingly easy 28-17 victory Saturday over California in the Garden State Bowl in East Rutherford, N.J.

And the Syracuse Orangemen followed that with a resounding 31-7 triumph in the Independence Bowl Saturday night over McNeese, only the fourth undefeated team in Southland Conference history.

For Temple, the victory was especially satisfying, considering the remarks that California Coach Roger Theder had made about Eastern football in general and Temple in particular that Temple had taken personally.

"I respect the California players," said Temple quarterback Brian Broomell, "but Theder can eat his hat. He thought because they're in the Pac-10 that they are All World. They were flat and we were sky-high because of his comments. They came in here and said Eastern football stinks. They definitely gave us a lot of bulletin board material."

In other college football action Saturday, Texas A&I defeated Oklahoma Central State 20-14 for the NAIA Division I national championship in the Palm Bowl and Eastern Kentucky won the NCAA Division I-AA championship with a 30-7 decision over Lehigh.

In games next weekend, Brigham Young plays Indiana in the Holiday Bowl Friday night, while it's Washington vs. Texas in the Sun Bowl, Penn State against Tulane in the Liberty Bowl and LSU against Wake Forest in the Tangerine Bowl on Saturday.

Dallas Takes Division Crown In Thriller...

Staubach Leads 'Pokes Rally

By The Associated Press

Things were so bad not even Tom Landry thought there was much hope.

But quarterback Roger Staubach saved the day Sunday with perhaps his greatest magic act of his 11-year pro career, to salvage apparent disaster and give the Dallas Cowboys the National Conference Eastern Division title.

Dallas defeated the Washington Redskins, 35-34, and some of the Redskin players were still looking at the scoreboard after the game was over like they couldn't believe it.

Staubach threw two touchdown passes in the final 2:20 of the game and Landry said, "What else can I say about Roger? He's done this before."

But the Dallas coach admitted, "I wasn't too optimistic after John Riggin's second touchdown run. Roger was down on himself because he had thrown an interception, and if we hadn't won, he probably wouldn't have slept for two or three days."

The Cowboys were trailing, 34-21, with 6:54 to play after Riggins thundered 66 yards for a touchdown on the longest run of his National Football League career.

The Redskins, who knew they had to beat Dallas to get into the playoffs because they had lost the wild card to Chicago, had the game won until Clarence Harmon fumbled, and Dallas recovered on its 42 with 3:49 to go.

Staubach took Dallas to a score in three plays, hitting rookie Ron Springs on a 26-yard throw for the touchdown with 2:20 remaining.

Dallas charged 75 yards for the game winner on an 8-yard touchdown pass to Tony Hill with 39 seconds to play, and Rafael Septien kicked the vital extra point.

"It's a shame someone had to lose, because the Redskins played their guts out, but so did we," said Staubach. "The Redskins played well enough to be in the playoffs. They deserved a better fate."

The Cowboys, who finished with a 11-5 record, will be idle a week before opening the playoffs either Dec. 29 or Dec. 30 against Chicago or Los Angeles.

As the NFC team with the best record, the Cowboys get the right to play a wild card team the first round, but should Philadelphia beat Chicago, Dallas would play Los Angeles instead to avoid a replay between Eastern Division teams.

Washington, which completed the season with a 10-6 record, will be home for Christmas.

"This is the greatest victory I've ever been in, bar none," said Dallas linebacker D.D. Lewis.

Staubach said, "I've never played in a game like that before. I can't remember when I ever got so excited at a football game."

The Redskins didn't die after Dallas went ahead. They charged to the Dallas 42, where time expired before they could call time out and get long-distance field goal kicker Mark Mosely into the game for what would have a 59-yard effort.

Washington coach Jack Pardee said, "There we were, divisional champions with 40 seconds to play, then nothing. I'm just heartbroken. Not just for myself but for the players."

Underclassmen Back O Cage Courts Tonight

Snyder underclassmen battle Lamesa and Sweetwater tonight in basketball action.

At home, Snyder's eighth grade Black and ninth grade Gold squads host Lamesa in the junior high gym. The ninth grade boys open the double-header at 5, followed by the eighth graders at 6:30.

Lamesa plays host to Snyder girls meanwhile, taking on the eighth grade Gold team at 5, followed by the freshman girls squad at 6:30.

In other games today, Snyder buses its eighth grade Gold and freshman Black boys teams to Sweetwater for games at 5 and 6:30 respectively.

Tonight's games are the final games for the underclassmen until after Christmas.

McKinney Wins State 3A Grid Championship

By The Associated Press

A combination of two speedy touchdown dashes and a mistake-plagued Bay City offense brought the state Class 3A schoolboy football championship to McKinney for the first time ever this weekend.

James Harris ran for two touchdowns and Bay City turned the ball over seven times - including six times on interceptions - as McKinney posted a 20-7 win Saturday at the Astrodome.

Harris outran Bay City punter Pat Franklin on both of his first-half touchdown runs.

"Our line was holding their guys up at the line," Harris said. "There wasn't anybody to touch me. And there isn't anyone in the state that can stop me one-on-one."

Kevin Korompai, a walk-on kicker, booted a 27-yard field goal in the second quarter to lead Temple to a 3-0 win Saturday over Lewisville in a Class 4A semifinal game.

The Wildcats meet Houston Memorial - a 22-8 winner over Alice - at Waco's Baylor Stadium next Saturday for the Class 4A state championship.

"We had serious kicking problems early in the season," Temple Coach Bob McQueen said. "We couldn't even make an extra point. But then during the sixth week of the season Kevin just walked in, said he played soccer and could kick, and thought he could do it for us."

CHICAGO (AP)-George S. Halas Jr., president of the National Football League Chicago Bears, has died from a massive heart attack at his home in Chicago, a family spokesman says. He was 54.

Halas, who died early Sunday, was the son of George Halas Sr., the Bears' owner. He became president of his father's team in 1963 and worked with the Bears for 30 years, mainly in front office capacities, said Ted Harris.

Felines Fall In Title Bout

BIG SPRING—Coach Ken Housden's varsity Tigers have played good defense all season long, but sometimes that's just not good enough.

The Felines, who take to the road again Tuesday, gave a good defensive effort again here Saturday, but hit only 28 percnet of their field goal tries. Forsan took advantage of the low shooting to win the championship match of the annual Hawk Queens Tournament, 43-34.

Tracey O'Day, who landed in double figures and led Snyder on the boards each game here, was named to the all-tournament team along with teammate Brenda Anderson. O'Day popped the hoop for 12 points against Forsan. Anderson added 8, while Jamie Hataway had 7, Kim Harlin noted 4 and Sandy Sewell notched 3. Sewell also accounted for three steals.

J. Pointer led Forsan with 16 points. C. Adams had 13.

Snyder won the first and last quarters with scores of 11-9 and 13-11 but Forsan made up the difference by taking the second period 11-4 and the third 12-6.

"Our defense did a good job and we didn't have a lot of turnovers, but we just couldn't score," said Coach Housden, who despite the loss still holds a 10-4 season record.

The Tigers will travel to San Angelo on Tuesday to meet the Central Bobcats, a team Snyder defeated early in the campaign. A junior varsity game will begin the action at 5:30, followed by the varsity tilt at 7:30 p.m.

Tigers Wrap Up Tourney Crown

GRAHAM -- Coach George Byerly sewed up another tournament championship here Saturday, and true to a coach's nature, he's already thinking of what lies ahead.

"I was definitely pleased with the victory," he said of Snyder's 69-56 win over Archer City in the finals of the Possum Kingdom Tournament here. But went on to add, "This week with Midland High and Odessa Permian we'll be playing two teams that have as much talent as any two teams we'll play all year. It's going to be tough."

Snyder, 10-3 with two tournament championships and a third place finish as history now, welcome 5-4A's Midland High School in Scurry County Coliseum at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Thursday, they tangle with Odessa Permian.

Byerly was able to think back for a few moments though.

"Mark (Preston) and Kris (Seale) had exceptional games during the first two games of the tournament," he said. "Mark got in foul trouble in the championship game and Kyle (Short), Brad (Richardson) and Barry (Blackmon) came along and did the job. It's a credit to our team that we had the balance ... people took up and filled in for other people."

Snyder rattled off 19 first-quarter points to lead early in the game before Archer City's Wildcats came back in the second to tie the score 36-36 at halftime. It was all Snyder after that point as the Tigers basketed 18 and 15 points while holding the 'Cats to 10 in each of the final periods.

Preston and Seale, both named to the all-tournament team, nabbed 12 and 7 points respectively, and floor captain Kyle Short came through with 23. Blackmon, who ripped off 15 rebounds in the contest, notched 12 points, and Richardson added 11. Eric Arnold pitched in 4.

Despite their third victory in a row, Byerly added, "I don't think we played as well as we did in the Canyon Reef Tournament, but then the competition probably wasn't as tough. Really though, we've been playing some though people all year. I don't see anything but help from this," added Byerley, who allowed the Tigers still need to improve on "all parts of the game.

"We're trying to get to that point by the time district rolls around. We have just about a month left now."

The District campaign kicks off Jan. 22 for the Tigers as they host Lamesa.

States Win Davis Cup

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)-John McEnroe and Vitas Gerulaitis scored convincing singles victories in the Davis Cup finals, giving the United States a 5-0 victory over Italy.

The U.S. team stopped Italy from winning a single set in the 15 sets spread over five matches. The victory means the Davis Cup will remain in the U.S. which won last year in the finals against Great Britain.

The U.S. team sewed up the title Saturday when Stan Smith and Bob Lutz won their doubles match, giving the Americans an unbeatable 3-0 lead. However, both teams reserved their most spectacular play for the last match when Gerulaitis defeated Adriano Panatta 6-1, 6-3, 6-3. Earlier McEnroe trounced Antonio Zugarelli 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

Lakers Flood Past San Antonio Spurs

LOS ANGELES (AP)-What started out as a laughter for the Los Angeles Lakers turned out to be anything but that. In the end, they were just happy to win

The Lakers shocked the San Antonio Spurs in the opening minutes of Sunday night's National Basketball Association game between the teams, taking a startling 18-0 lead and making their first 12 field goal attempts.

A breeze for the Lakers, right? Not so. Los Angeles won 121-119 and the Spurs weren't out of contention until the final seconds, thanks mainly to the efforts of George Gervin, the NBA's leading scorer.

"You can't hold San Antonio down forever because Gervin picks up the tempo sooner or later," said Los Angeles Coach Pasul Westhead, whose team now has a 22-10 record. "We clearly came into the game trying to stop Gervin and Larry Kenon and did a good job on Kenon, but it's hard to stop Gervin when he's putting in 30-foot finger rolls."

Gervin scored 43 points, 26 of then in the secoind half, while Kenon was held to 12 points and nine rebounds. Gervin made 20 of his 40 field goal attempts as the Spurs dropped to 16-16.

Where Oh Where Has A&M Gone?

By The Associated Press

Arkansas and Southern Methodist remain the only two unbeaten basketball teams in the Southwest Conference forays against intersectional foes while the Texas Aggies own the distinction of being the biggest mystery team.

Both Arkansas and Southern Methodist are 5-0 thanks to the Razorbacks' 67-59 victory over Mississippi Saturday night while the Mustangs were outlasting Texas-Arlington 77-66.

Meanwhile, the pre-season favorite Aggies were losing yet a second game in the Cougar Classic at Provo, Utah, 68-61 to Cal-Santa Barbara after dropping a game to LaSalle the night before.

Sophomore center Rudy Woods scored 24 points but high-scoring Vernon Smith was held to six. The Aggies only got 13 points from their guards.

Texas, now 5-1, crushed Biscayne College 88-63 and now has won 33 of 34 games played since the Super Drum opened in Austin. Frosh LaSale Thompson had a game high 20 points.

FARMERS RANCHERS
Share your knowledge of growing things with farmers around the world as a Peace Corps volunteer. Developing countries are asking for your help to develop irrigation systems in swamp and desert countries, help farmers breed stronger stock, fight animal and crop diseases, teach farmers to use and maintain equipment, and so much more. You can help to introduce new crops, or get better yields from those already planted.
In Latin America, Asia, Africa, and the Pacific Islands, farmers and ranchers are asking for you and your skills to help them feed their families. Help them move from subsistence-level farming to a profit-making operation and help the economy of an entire area. Work with farmers' co-ops, helping them to work together to help themselves and their country.
Peace Corps is a two-year commitment to people around the world. Singles, couples, retirees welcome. No dependent children, please.
Peace Corps will provide your round-trip transportation; teach you the language of the country, and give you a volunteer living allowance while you are overseas, plus medical care, life insurance, and many other benefits.
We'd like to send you more information about what you can do in any one of 62 developing countries. Write to:

Herefords Bring Good Price Here

A good sale at the annual National Anxiety 4th Hereford Breeders Association auction held Saturday afternoon at the Scurry County Coliseum was reported by John Jarrell of Snyder, the association's vice president.

Of the 43 bulls sold, the average price paid was $1,371. The highest price was on a bull consigned by the Pied Piper Farm of Hamlin and purchased for $3,100 by Calvin Lawrence. Volume buyer was Cecil Sellars of Sweetwater who purchased 21 bulls.

Ten lots of cows and calves were sold, with the average price per lot at $1,240. The highest lot was sold for $1,675 and that purchase was made by Scull Brothers of Martindale. Volume buyer was John Jones who bought four pair.

In the bred heifer division, 20 were sold. The average price paid was $721. Highest price was $1,250 paid by Layton Hatter of Moody. Volume buyer was Jerry Dillard with 10 heifers.

In all, 73 units of livestock were sold.

Suspect Held By Police On Drug Charge

An 18-year-old man was arrested early Sunday morning by city police on a drug charge.

The man was taken into custody at a local truck stop and booked on a misdemeanor charge of possession of a controlled substance. Police reported a quantity of pills were found in his possession. The pills, they added, will be sent to a laboratory for analysis.

The suspect was arrested at 1:50 a.m. Sunday.

Also Sunday, Pam Camp told police she was missing three animal traps from her 2912 Ave. U home. The traps were valued at $105. That matter was reported at 12:50 p.m.

A minor traffic accident was reported at 1:40 p.m. in the 3300 block of Ave. K. Involved in it were a 1978 GMC driven by Freddie R. James and a 1976 Buick driven by Mozell James. The accident was investigated by officer Don Cheek. It was reported at 1:40 p.m.

Drilling Pace Dips Slightly

Drilling activity decreased last week in Permian Basin oilfields, but still was far above the level of this time last year, according to Reed Rock Bit Company's weekly survey.

Last week's count showed 316 rigs running in the Basin, compared to 321 the week before. At this time a year ago, the count stood at 268.

Lea County, N.M., was the leader with 38 rigs in operation. Pecos County, with 22, lead in West Texas.

Scurry County had three rigs making hole last week, the same as the week before. Figures for other area counties, with last week and the week before, in order: Borden, 3 and 3; Dawson 7 and 4; Garza, 7 and 9; Howard 10 and 10; Kent 3 and 3; Mitchell 3 and 1.

OBITUARIES

T. C. Echols

T.A. Echols, 85, of Dunn died at 6:30 a.m. Sunday at the home of a daughter on the Colorado City Highway.

He was pronounced dead of natural causes by Dan Callaway, justice of the peace. Funeral arrangements were pending at Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of Tenaha, he had been a resident of Scurry County for the past 55 years. He was a retired farmer and rancher and was a member of the Dunn Baptist Church.

He was married on Dec. 24, 1916, at Center to Miss Georgia Belle Burroughs. She preceded him in death on Feb. 17, 1973.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Mary Eischeid of Snyder; a sister, Mrs. Ruby Wedgeworth of Carthage; a brother, Perry Echols of Ira; two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Mason

Funeral service for Lillian Mason will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday at First Baptist in Plainview. She was the wife of Rev. J. William Mason, a former pastor of First Baptist Church in Snyder. He survives.

Also surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Tommy Browning of Plainview, and three grandchildren.

Truck Mishap

A minor traffic accident was investigated Saturday afternoon by troopers of the Department of Public Safety.

The accident involved a 1974 Freightliner driven by Roger Ray Richardson of Iowa Park that struck a highway sign.

The mishap was reported at 4:30 p.m. at Rip Griffin's Truck Stop.

Russians Restoring Yalta Site

By NIKKI FINKE
Associated Press Writer

YALTA, U.S.S.R. (AP)- Thirty-five years after the Yalta Conference, the Russians are still trying to get it all together.

A full-scale effort is now under way to restore Livadia Palace, where Josef Stalin, Winston Churchill and Franklin D. Roosevelt gathered for one of the most important meetings of this century.

Now, however, the palace is almost empty.

Only one of its 60 rooms even remotely resembles the way it looked when the Big Three leaders met here Feb. 4-11, 1945, three months before the Third Reich's surrender, to divide up postwar Europe and plan the occupation of Germany.

A solid-looking round table and armchairs sit in the palace dining room, once used by Czar Nicholas II and later by Soviet lung patients. Could it be the conference table of the Allies?

"No," a guide said sadly. "But it looks just like it."

To make matters worse, Soviet archivists are just finding out that certain facts they collected on the meeting are wrong.

For example, officials long thought that a walnut-paneled room just off the main hallway was Roosevelt's bedroom during the talks. Historians now know it was really his reception room.

And for years, the Russians thought that a young man seated near Churchill in the official painting of the conference delegations was Sir Alan Brook, chief of the Imperial General Staff.

Actually, it is only an interpreter.

Alexander I. Volkov, deputy director of the Livadia museum, said in an interview he was obtaining more information about the Yalta Conference almost daily, and tracking down the whereabouts of the Victorian furniture used for the week-long talks.

When the Soviet Crimea was occupied by Nazi forces, the Germans used Livadia Palace as their command post. Shortly before the Crimea was liberated on April 16, 1944, the Germans looted the palace, carting off everything from tables to doorknobs to plumbing pipes.

The Russians hastily refurbished the palace before the Yalta conference was convened. Stalin ordered furniture loaded onto trains and, immediately after the talks, ordered it sent back to Moscow.

No wonder, then, that the palace is still stripped bare.

Relatively young for a museum, Livadia Palace was opened to the public in 1974, to coincide with U.S. President Richard M. Nixon's visit to Yalta with Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Soviet officials said they were disappointed that Nixon had declined their offer to tour the Yalta Conference site.

Once the summer watering place for only 224 wealthy Russian Landowners or aristocrats, Yalta is now a bustling city of 150,000 which attracts 2 million tourists a year to its health resorts.

Named for the Greek word meaning meadow, Livadia Palace was built as a summer home for Czar Nicholas II in 1910-1911.

Constructed of local Crimean limestone and marble, its early Italian Renaissance shell cost 2 million gold rubles.

The mansion was nationalized after the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution and opened up as a convalescent home for cardiovascular cases in 1925, following orders from Vladimir I. Lenin.

Combine harvester sales climbed 13.9 percent nationwide for January through June. A total of 8,243 combines were sold during the period.

YALTA PRINCIPALS--Franklin D. Roosevelt, president of the United States, left, and Winston Churchill, Prime Minister of Great Britain, were side-by-side at the Yalta Conference, regarded as one of the most important meetings of heads of state in this century. Russians are now working to restore the site of the meeting between Roosevelt, Churchill and Josef Stalin, which was held Feb. 4-11, 1945, three months before Germany's surrender in World War II.

Jacksboro Police Chief Shot

JACKSBORO (AP)—Police Chief Guy Sullivan, who took over his job less than two months ago, was recovering in a hospital today after a bullet exploded into his left shoulder Friday night and shattered, with some segments lodging close to his heart.

Officials said Sunday night that the 32-year-old Sullivan said he was shot with his own gun by a man about 6-foot, in his middle 20s with dark shoulder-length hair and a short beard.

The sheriff told authorities his attacker was wearing blue jeans, tennis shoes and a green Army fatigue shirt.

Sullivan had been waging an active war on illegal drug sales in Jacksboro and on drunken drivers. Authorities speculated Friday night's shooting was connected to Sullivan's vigorous fight against drugs.

The man came to Sullivan's home about 6 p.m. Friday and was let inside where "there were some words exchanged," said Jacksboro Police Sgt. Arthur Reaves.

Then the man picked up Sullivan's .38-caliber revolver, shot him and fled, Reaves added.

Sullivan was transferred to a Wichita Falls hospital, where he had surgery late Saturday. He was moved from the intensive care unit Sunday, but hospital officials said he would undergo further surgery on Wednesday.

GROWING UP DIDN'T mean giving up toys for Howard Bollinger, vice president of preliminary design for a Cincinnati-based toy company. Here he demonstrates the "pullability" of the corn syrup-filled latex doll that he recently developed with his 25-person creative department. "A good toy implements fantasy, stimulates thought, evokes emotion and causes kids to expand their vision," explains the Kenner executive.

Breaking Into Farming Field As Hard 40 Years Ago As Now

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the big concerns of those who worry about the future of agriculture is that young people, unless they inherit the family homestead, have an exceedingly tough time getting started in farming.

A new analysis published by the Agriculture Department suggess that, in some respects, it was almost as difficult 40 years ago.

Capital requirements are much larger now because of huge increases in land prices and the machinery, livestock and other items needed to be a fulltime farmer.

But what about the first consideration -- finding a farm to buy.

According to the report, the odds against a young person actually finding a farm -- aside from all the other factors of financing -- have increased only slightly since 1940.

At that time, weighing all factors, a "male rural farm youth" had one chance in 2.5 of finding a farm to buy. In the 1970s, it said the odds averaged one in 3.1.

The report, "Financing the Entry of Young Farmers," was written by Eddy L. LaDue, associate professor of agricultural economics, Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., while he was employed in USDA's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service.

LaDue's report was included in an annual issue of "Agricultural Finance Review" just published by the agency.

In the analysis, LaDue took a much broader look at the problems of young would-be farmers, including an examination of financing, down payments, interest rates and investment needed to operate.

But, as an omelet first must begin with an egg, so does farming commence with a farm. It is this aspect of the problem confronting young farmers that sometimes is overlooked when economists and politicians talk about the situation.

"Opportunities for potential entrants usually occur when an existing farm operator dies or retires," the report said. "The character of these opportunities depends on the attributes of the business run by the former farm operators.

"For example, available units (farms) will frequently be smaller than average in size, and buildings may be technologically obsolete."

The actual number of farms becoming available has declined with the reduction of the number of farms in the United States over the last four decades.

"However, declining family size has reduced the number of potential entrants to farming more rapidly than the decline in the number of potential farming opportunities," the report said.

LaDue uses census information, records of real estate transfers and other sources to document his figures.

In the decade 1940-49, an average of 154,990 farms a year were available on the market. The potential young farmers -- those who turned 20 years of age -- averaged 347,021, meaning that a potential of 2.2 young farmers existed for each available farm.

Of the farms available in the 1940s, 89 percent were sold as individual units, some 137,948 farms. LaDue computed that that made the odds of a young person getting a farm one chance in 2.5.

Subsequently, in the 1950s and 1960s, as the number of farms available declined so did the number of potential young farmers and the number of farms sold as individual units.

In the period 1970-79, according to the report, the average number of farms sold each year dropped to 77,332 units. But the potential young farmers also declined to an average of 98,124 annually, or 1.3 for each available farm.

But in the 1970s, the report said, only 41 percent or 31,706 farms a year were sold as indixidual units. The "probability of getting a farm" for young persons rose to one chance out of 3.1.

The declining number of potential new farmers -- allowing that not all farm youth will want to farm or that some non-farm people may want to begin -- "indicates a reduction in competition among potential entrants" for farms that are available, it said.

"However, this does not mean that it has become easier to find a farm," the report added.

Hallmark of narcolepsy

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a close relative who has narcolepsy. The doctor decided this after he had had several hospital stays and every conceivable test made on him, including brain waves, spinal taps and the works. I'd like to know something about the disease. The doctor said it wasn't very well known and that they really weren't sure how to treat it but that it was possibly caused by hereditary factors.

DEAR READER — Narcolepsy is an interesting disease. These people fall asleep rather easily. The periods of sleep are quite short, so frequent short episodes of falling asleep are the hallmark of narcolepsy. This is to be distinguished from hypersomnia which means just prolonged excessive sleep. For example, sleeping 14 hours continuously.

Another important aspect of narcolepsy is that patients with this problem often have addtional findings. They may lose control of their muscles and fall to the floor when they start laughing. This isn't a convulsion but really a paralysis of the muscles. They may also have hallucinations just at the time they start to go to sleep.

It's true that we do not know what causes it and some cases are difficult to treat, although a number of medicines are available that do help in many cases. An individual who has such a problem obviously should not be driving an automobile or involved in occupations that require constant attention.

I don't think you need to worry about developing this problem yourself. But because you're interested in sleep, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 10-6, Sleep and Insomnia. Other readers who are interested in sleep problems can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for this issue. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 34-year-old man and have a chin and neck of a 60-year-old man. I am a few pounds overweight but no more than 10 or 15, yet my chin and neck look like someone twice my age. My neck is so wrinkled and my jaw has a bulldog look. Are there any exercises I can do to tighten the skin in these areas?

DEAR READER — It's hard to describe it but you can experiment until you see what I mean. Jut your lower jaw out and act like you are clenching it in a stiff position, you can pull on muscles that are underneath the jaw. We call this the platysma muscle. It's not always well developed and there is a lot of individual variation in it. It's really part of the facial muscle that runs under the neck area. You can see cords of muscles stand out in the neck sometimes, when you tense them.

You might want to strengthen these muscles and that might help a little bit but I'm doubtful that it will solve your problem. Usually when a person has quite a bit of excess skin, there's only one way to get rid of it and that's a surgical approach. A plastic surgeon who does cosmetic work can do this and give you a good clean-cut jaw and neckline. If there's excess fat in this area, he can remove the fatty tissue. I should add that it will probably come back if you eat too much and allow yourself to be overweight.

$1.25 Million Awarded After Pool Accident

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)-A federal court jury has awarded $1.25 million to a man who was paralyzed in a swimming pool accident.

Randy Gaston, 20, of Lenoir City, originally sought a total of $25 million from Carl Meyer of Brownsville, Texas, and his company, Aquaslide 'n' Dive Corp. Gaston was paralyzed on June 10, 1978, after his head hit the bottom of a pool at the Rainbow Motel in Gatlinburg as he came off the slide.

Gaston contended Meyer knew for several years that his company's slide might cause paralyzing injuries but refused to put warnings on it because it would hurt sales.

Denies Product Caused Blindness

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. (AP)-A pharmaceutical company ordered by a jury to pay a blind man $2.4 million denies its product caused him to lose his sight and says it will appeal the award.

Michael Mooney, 21, of Hartford, was injured in a fall in 1962 and began suffering seizures. A doctor recommended Dilantin. Mooney eventually went blind after he stopped taking the drug in May 1963. He sued Parke-Davis Co. in October 1976.

Mooney claimed the company did not warn the medical profession about the drug. Parke-Davis says the drug was not responsible for his blindness. But even so, there was adequate notification.

Gasohol Being Sold In Omaha

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)-Gasohol is being test marketed here and in Des Moines and Council Bluffs.

Phillips Petroleum said the gasohol - 90 percent unleaded gasoline and 10 percent ethanol - is being evaluated for its handling properties and customer acceptance, because it is one possibility for increasing supplies of motor fuel.
