FIRE GAS AT CONVICTS

Friday Was One of the Fair's Best Business Days

COOL WEATHER IS RELIEF FOR TEEMING MASS

Tied Football Game Was One of Feature Attractions

1,700 IN STAND

Several Orders Reported Taken for Pure-Bred Sires

A mammoth crowd attended the fair yesterday afternoon and evening. The weather was cool and pleasant, and women's wraps were in evidence during the late hours. The midway was a teeming mass of humanity and all concessioners reported a volume of business. The exhibitors, too, stated crowds were about the displays the greater part of the day. The day was declared by fair officials to be one of the best since the opening of the second annual Texas-Oklahoma fair and exposition.

The feature entertainment of the day was the Simmons-Austin intercollegiate football game, which resulted in a tie, 0 to 0. The two elevens were quite evenly matched and early in the game punting exchanges were being resorted to. Austin had an excellent chance to score during the first quarter, when within a few feet of the goal, they lost the ball on downs. Simmons immediately punted out of danger. The game was an excellent exhibition of the national college sport. Field goals from placement were attempted at different stages of the game, but the fast ends came in with a rush preventing the fullbacks from using their educated toes with advantage.

Approximately 1,700 watched the game, according to an estimate made by those in charge of the grandstand.

In the various hangars where the exhibiting booths are located there was a steady stream of people viewing the many displays. Many of the exhibitors were giving souvenirs away while others were serving dainty lunches, still others had unique features that appealed to the crowd.

The lunch rooms and stands, as well as the confectioners and various other kind of venders were kept busy by the oft thirsty and hungry milling crowd. The concessioners displayed their "eats and drinks" in the most conspicious manner and endeavored to out bally hoo each other. Business was good.

Many farmers and ranchmen visited the hangars in which the livestock is being exhibited. It is reported that several orders were taken for pure-bred sires for ranches in Wichita and adjoining counties by stockmen.

The swine exhibit is being praised. It is said to be one of the most complete ever shown in the southwest, there being many fine specimens on display that were not shown at fairs or expositions in southern Oklahoma or north, or northwest Texas districts.

The Vernon Boys' Band composed of 35 members received much praise from fair officials and were favorites with the crowd during the day. The band boys showed thorough training and attracted crowds where ever they rendered selections.

The famous Cowboy Band of Simmons college paraded throughout the downtown district during the morning. Approximately 200 students from the college were in the parade, and during the game at the fair grounds the rooting displayed the college spirit and put much life into the game.

The Cowboy Band is becoming a Texas institution. It is now nationally known, and their favorite "The Old Gray Mare," always sways a crowd, and brings out the jovial fun loving spirit.

Several added features were noticed in the fireworks program last night. The pyrotechnic bill is nightly becoming more interesting. The feature "The Scrapping of the Navy," is a spectacular spectacle that can be enjoyed each night, and each night becomes more brilliantly realistic.

GEORGE IS NOW IN METROPOLIS

Irish Sympathizers Mar Former Prime Minister's Trip

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—David Lloyd George, former prime minister of Great Britain, veteran of 17 years of strenuous activity in the labryuth of old world politics, came to America today and found in a whole-heartedly enthusiastic welcome tendered him by New York, a series of humanly potent thrills.

So delighted was the little Welshman who had guided the British ship of state through the tumultous years from 1916 to 1922, that his demeanor was more often that of an interested school boy and of a deeply touched human being than that of a blase statesman.

The former premier first saw American soil from the deck of the Mauretania early this morning. His passage from the great ocean liner in the police boat Macom to the Battery and thence by motor accompanied by a cavalcade of other cars to City Hall and through the streets of the metropolis was almost a triumphal procession, marred only by two minor street disturbances precipitated by Irish republican sympathizers.

To Canada and to the United States, Mr. Lloyd George declared he brought as Britain's war-time premier a message of heartfelt thanks for their services in the great war. He came, he said, with no political status, and no official credentials but as a private subject of the crown to express to Canada his personal thanks for the volunteer aid she had instantly offered the British empire in her time of need.

To the United States, he explained, he brought thanks for the army that had come like the sword of Excalibur in the Arthurian Legend from out the waters of the Atlantic when the horizon of the allied powers was blackened with despair.

Mr. Lloyd George explained, however, that his visit to the United States—his first—was one of self instruction, that he wanted to say little and to study and learn much.

He will leave tomorrow for Montreal where he will begin a tour through the larger cities of Canada, terminating at Winnipeg, from where he will re-enter the United States in

Webb Denies All In Mysterious Death of Wife

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Charles H. Webb today filled in a pause in the grand jury investigation of the alleged mysterious death of his wife, at the Westchester-Biltmore country club about 10 days ago.

With the grand jury not meeting again until Monday to determine whether the society woman was poisoned, Webb met reporters twice today and gave his version of events preceding her death.

Dr. William J. Meyer who attended her and refused to issue a death certificate, previously had painted a picture of Webb as a callous husband, unheeding of his wife's suffering: careless as the end approached.

Webb sketched a far different picture—of a husband so overcome at the sight of his wife the night before she died that he thought he could not bear to be at her side when the end came, and proposed instead going into an adjoining room to pray.

In his first interview Webb denied that he had told his wife she had only 30 days to live and had better sign a will.

Referring to the fact that Dr. Meyer, describing yesterday Mrs. Webb's end, had referred to her as Gertie Webb, and who described himself as a veteran of the Spanish-American war, Webb asserted the physician would not have dared address her so familiarly when she was alive.

Webb said he had met Meyer for the first time on a picnic six months ago. Asked if he had a dispute with Meyer at that time, Webb replied:

"Why, we had bottles of wine together."

M'BEE ISSUES A CALL FOR NEW HOUSE SESSION

Impeachment of Walton Named as Object Of New Call

DATE OCTOBER 17

Holds That Vote Has Made Self-Called Session Legal

By The Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 5.—A call for a special session of both houses of the Oklahoma legislature on October 17 to investigate "the commission of impeachable offenses by the officers of the state subject to impeachment" was issued here tonight by W. D. McBee, state representative from Stephens county.

The call was made under the alleged authority of a constitutional amendment approved at the polls Tuesday by citizens of the state. The summons sets out that it was issued upon "written request signed by a majority of the members of the house of representatives asking that the legislature be convened pursuant to the mandate of the people."

The text of the call follows:

"To the members of the house of representatives and the senate, constituting the legislature of the state of Oklahoma:

"Whereas, the constitution of the state of Oklahoma empowers the legislature to impeach and remove from office certain state officials who may be guilty of impeachable offenses, and contains no limitations as to the time of preferring and trying such impeachments, and

"Whereas, the people of the state of Oklahoma, at an election held in said state on October 2, 1923, by an overwhelming vote gave the legislature their mandate to convene for said purposes; and,

"Whereas, I, W. D. McBee, now have in my possession a written request signed by a majority of the members of said house of representatives, asking that the legislature of the state of Oklahoma be convened pursuant to the mandate of the people for the purposes authorized by Article eight of the constitution; and asking that I immediately issue a call for the assembling of the legislature for the purposes specified;

"Now, therefore, I, W. D. McBee, a member of the house of representatives of the state of Oklahoma, do hereby call the legislature of the state of Oklahoma, the house of representatives, and the senate, and the members of each body to meet, convene and assemble in their respective halls in the state capitol building in Oklahoma City, Okla. at twelve, noon, on Wednesday, the 17th day of Octover, 1923, for the purposes of investigating the commission of impeachable offenses by the officers of the state subject to impeachment, and of preferring impeachments against such as may be found to have committed impeachable offenses, and of trying the same before the senate sitting as a court of impeachment, as provided in article eight of the constitution of the state of Oklahoma.

"Dated, this, the 5th day of October, 1923.

(Signed) "W. D. McBee member of the house of representatives from the county of Stephens, state of Oklahoma."

In issuing the call, members of the house who have opposed Governor Walton, determined not to await the outcome of an injunction action instituted by the executive to prevent the state election board from certifying the returns of Tuesday's election to the secretary of state.

They proceeded upon the theory that, a majority of the votes cast having been in favor of the amendment, it became law without the formality of certification, which they declared was mere routine without significance in law.

They cited as precedent for their stand the action of C. N. Haskell, first governor of the state, who moved the capitol to Oklahoma City from Guthrie in 1907 before the returns had been certified from an election on an iitiated measure providing for the removal. Mr. Haskell, on

WOMEN TO JOIN WATLON IN FIGHT

By The Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 5.—Some women of the state, resenting the failure of the constitutional amendment making women eligible for all state elective offices, due to the "abnormal" interest displayed in the legislative amendment in last Tuesday's election, will join Governor J. C. Walton in his injunction action to prevent the election returns from being certified, Mrs. H. L. Fite, Tahlequah, announced here tonight.

Mrs. Fite is vice chairman of the democratic state committee.

"The women were made a sacrifice to the political controversies of the men in the election," she declared in a statement to the Associated Press.

"In this connection, we are neither pro-Walton, nor anti-Walton; pro-ku klux klan, or anti-ku klux klan; or even democrats and republicans, but women standing together for what we believe to be fair play for our sex."

ALL NOW READY FOR LAST RACE

Large Crowd Expected For Re-Running of Staley Derby

After a day of rest for the horses due to the Simmons-Austin college football game yesterday, horse racing will be resumed this afternoon at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, with the J. I. Staley Derby the feature event of the afternoon. Seven races will be run, with the best horses entered in what is expected to prove the best racing program of the week.

Inasmuch as today's races will be the last of the fair, a crowd is expected to fill the grandstand. The races will start at 2:30.

The Staley Derby, the feature event of the fair racing program, was cancelled following a bad spill which resulted in no winners being called Thursday, and will be held this afternoon, with two additional horses entered besides those originally on the lists.

The paddocks will be open to the fans in the grandstand during the afternoon prior to the races and many racing enthusiasts are expected to take advantage of the opportunity to see the horses for the last time.

In the Staley Derby the favorites are Jolly Cephas and Whippet, with Whippet probably the most popular. Whippet fell in the original race, while leading the field on the first lap, but Jolly Cephas was running fast a neck behind, and it is expected that the two will give race fans an unusual race. Others in the race may prove equally as dangerous and from all indications the event will be a feature race of the type seldom seen outside the larger meets.

The race schedule of the day is announced with the largest number of horses entered of any day of the fair. The races and entries follow:

JUDGES MEETING GETS OFF TO A GOOD BEGINNING

Repartee and Eats Take Place of Sombre Court Atmosphere

BUSINESS TODAY

Hubert Harrison Addresses Dignitaries on Community Building

The old saying being as "sober as a judge" was relegated to the scrap heap last night when a large majority of the county judges of Texas, along with their county commissioners, held their annual banquet at the Kemp.

Oratory, repartee and some debate entered into evening of instruction and entertainment. Another old adage went by the board, as the dignitaries of the state felt freedom from being away from county and commissioner court problems. This being that one about "Judge not that ye be not judged." This injunction did not deter the judges from entering into a banquet which was declared the best the association has ever held.

The process of eating, usually an item of high importance, went by as a mere matter of form. Judge Sartin, toastmaster, did not start the judicial jamboree until the dishes had been cleared away and all other minor matters disposed of.

Hubert Harrison, general manager of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce, was the first speaker of the evening. His theme was "Community Building." The speaker began his address with reference to the local irrigation project as an example of what years of serious planning plus a finality of action can be done by an average community. This lead to a dissertation on water wherein the speaker reached an effective anti-climax when he observed that "water as a beverage is a total failure."

Harrison stressed the idea that men of high position and influence in the cities are country bred. "It is a serious fact that 51 per cent of our population is now in the towns and cities. The rural districts lose their brightest minds to the larger cities which swallow them up. The brain and brawn of this nation is dependent nearly totally on the rural districts. This is a fact which should not be so. There is no reason why a small city should not be as great in its own sphere culturally and commercially as the great metropolis," he said.

Harrison concluded with a praise of community spirit saying such a spirit is higher than national patriotism for it is nearer home and is more often come in contact with.

County Judge Arch C. Allen of Dallas county and president of the state association, explained in detail what is now to be expected of county judges and commissioners of Texas in the light of recent legislation. He said that the counties in Texas that have today miles of improved highways were not those that stood back and complained of the statutes regarding highways or the legisltive limitations. "Those who really wanted improved roads faced the statute difficulty and struggled all the harder in the face of discouraging contingencies and built roads anyhow."

Judge Allen explained the law recently passed by the legislature whereby counties will receive a part of automobile tax moneys for road and bridge improvement. He said there could be no alibi about limited legislation to hinder commissioners courts from improving their own highways as the statute was very plain. That lateral roads were to be improved by the automobile tax moneys the same as designated state highways was also brought out. "Don't forget that if the laterals are not graded and improved the same as the main highways, we will be wasting every cent of money ever placed in the treasury for road purposes."

The speaker concluded by placing credit upon the commissioners of the state. "There are some who will look at such progressive cities as Wichita Falls with its modern improvements and say that such a city has a live city council and place all the credit there. I say the credit should be laid to the county commissioners who have built improved roads leading into the city which resulted in people wanting to come there and stay after they arrived. County commissioners should

INDICT STOKES AND 5 NEGROES

Wealthy New Yorker Is Charged With Libelling Wife's Reputation

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy New York hotel owner, Daniel Nugent, Stokes' New York counsel and five negroes were indicted for conspiracy by the Cook county grand jury today in connection with the charges of Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes that her husband and his agents conspired to injure her reputation and thus aid his divorce action in New York and keep her two children from sharing in his estate.

Immediately after the indictment had been returned, Chief Justice John H. Caverly of the criminal court issued capiases for the arrest of the seven persons named and fixed bail for each defendant at $5,000.

Those indicted besides Stokes and Nugent are Robert H. ## Temporary Peace Made In Germany By Old Coalition

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—Resuscitation of Chancellor Stresemann's defunct four-party coalition tonight put an end to the parliamentary crisis, the mysterious origin of which is only exceeded in novelty by its baffling solution, in that the four warring parties virtually agreed there had been no ground for disagreement three days ago and that revampin of the coalition was the only way out of the dilemma.

Conservation of party prestige, emoluments of public officers and concern over political patronage are declared to have played an unusual part in the inter-party truce, which was preceded by a day of bartering and jockeying for position. The coalition leaders apparently preferred to risk their immediate political futures by giving the four-party block another try-out to taking a chance on being eliminated from the nation's affairs through the advent of the dictatorship with which they were threatened.

Chancellor Stresemann succumbed to the partisan onslaught and completely jettisoned his earlier plan, of defiance to the reichstag by confronting it with a restricted ministry of non-partisan experts, which would have been vested with extraordinary power by virtue of dictatorial decree of President Ebert.

Predications around the reichstag accorded the resurrected coalition a short parliamentary existence. It is declared the present make-shift solution will have inevitable sequel in the nature of dictatorial regime, without which it is now commonly believed an effective salvaging of the Germany's chaotic economics is inconceivable.

CAR LIGHTS ARE USED TO LIGHT TROOP'S TARGET

Gas Filled Bullets Used In Kentucky Penitentiary Battle

TRIO STILL FREE

Military Censorship Established and Afterward Raised

By The Associated Press.

PADUCAH, Ky., Oct. 6.—A shipment of 300 pounds of ammonia left here early today consigned to the penitentiary where three convicts murderers have made good for three days their defense of a barricaded mess hall.

EDDYVILLE, Ky., Oct. 5.—Using automobile headlights to flood their targets with a bright light, guards about the mess hall fortress of a trio of convict murderers, who have withstood a three-day siege at the western state penitentiary, late tonight began to fire gas filled rifle grenades through the windows of the beleaguered building.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 5.—Censorship established early tonight under military rule at the western state penitentiary where a trio of convict murderers have held for three days a barricaded mess hall, has been raised, reports received here, quoting E. S. Tachau, chairman of the state board of charities and corrections say.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 5.—A censorship has been established by authorities at the western state penitentiary, lone mile from Eddyville, where three convict murderers have been under siege for three days, according to a report received here tonight.

Newspaper correspondents were said to have been instructed to stay at least 300 yards away from the penitentiary until 9 o'clock Saturday morning, when a press conference would be arranged by the prison authorities.

The two other members of the board who accompanied Chairman Tachau were Judge Alex P. Humphrey of Louisville, and Henry P. Barrett of Henderson.

A small army of newspaper correspondents which had gathered within the walls of the prison since the beginning Wednesday of the mutiny and siege of three convict murderers first learned of the declaration of military rule from Sergeant Hawkins of the national guard, who has been ordered to eject them from the penitentiary. Sergeant Hawkins strode into the various rooms of the administration building and asked that all employes of the penitentiary stand up. "hen employes who happened to be present had complied with the order, he said:

"All who are not employes leave the building immediatel-"

This meant it soon was learned, to leave the penitentiary as well, and within a few minutes, every newspaper man was out. The correspondents retreated to a hotel where they immediately called an indignation meeting to protest against the ejection.

LONGSHOREMEN CAN NOT INTERFERE

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5.—A temporary injunction restraining striking union longshoremen from interfering with the business of the port of New Orleans was issued today by Judge Rufus Foster of federal district court upon petition of the New Orleans steamship association. The order, directed against Harry M. Keegan, president of the White Longshoremen's union, and his assistants, enjoined them from interfering with work along the water front, from intimidating men working on ships, from suggesting to such men that they are in physical danger and from congregating along the wharves and in the vicinity of the ships. The court set October 13 as the date for a hearing to determine whether the order shall be made permanent.

The steamship operators charged in their petition that non-union workers had been beaten and driven away from the wharves by strikers; that the streets leading to wharves and vessels virtually had been blocked by union longshoremen; that the situation was so acute they were unable to have lawful use of their own vessels and that although the police had furnished protection this protection had been rendered inadequate by the activities of the strikers.

GIRL ACROBAT HAS UNUSUAL RECORD

Although only fourteen years of age little Miss Anna Siethal, who is appearing at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, daily, has a record on the stage that is unusual even for adult entertainers. With her sister, Marie, who is only three years her senior, Anna appears every afternoon and night in a clever tumbling and acrobatic act that is one of the best obtainable.

The little actress is of French descent and is the daughter of another actress who performs daily with a troupe of tumblers. Her mother, a French actress and her father, a famous acrobat and purely American, Miss Siethal has had every opportunity to become proficient in her art, and she has missed no opportunities.

She is, also, in addition to being an unusual acrobat, more or less of a beauty, and although she takes her place with the grown ups on the stage, she is still just a little girl when she is not at work. While not busy in her act, or rehearsing, she plays with her dolls in a bungar at the fair grounds, or makes trips to Wichita Falls, where she enjoys a pastime popular with all little girls, shopping with her mother.

Anna says she likes Wichita Falls very much. She has visited town almost daily while at the fair and declares that she would like to live in "The City That Faith Built," but of course, she has to go on at the end of the fair with her father and mother, and so can't stay here. She says she doesn't like to keep traveling, although she has seen most of the world already, and will probably see the rest of it as she goes on in her present occupation.

NEW BOARD WALL AT RACE TRACK

A new board fence enclosed the race track and gridiron yesterday afternoon when the Simmons-Austin college football game was played at the Texas-Oklahoma fair. The fence extends the entire distance around the track and is [illegible] high.

Carpenters worked all yesterday morning erecting the fence, which was put up to stop a troublesome practice of many boys and men in riding the outer rail during the races. At times the fun birds proved troublesome, scaring and bothering the racers in the events.

With the new fence completed the grandstand and playing field becomes one of the best in the state, while the track is one of the fastest half-mile circuits in the southwest. The track and grandstand were erected during the summer, the track being banked and laid out at the expense of months of work and time. From time to time corrections in detail have been made and now the sports spot at the fair is in almost perfect condition, and fully equipped.

GEORGE IS NOW

Minnesota, visiting afterward a number of middle western and eastern cities and ending his tour in New York in early November.

New York's welcome to its distinguished visitor was but slightly marred by two disorders, quickly controlled by specially assigned squads of police. Between the Battery and City Hall in Lower Broadway in which scores of thousands of cheering admirers were massed, the police broke up a parade of middle-aged women, carrying placards denouncing Great Britain and characterizing Lloyd George as a "murderer" of Irish women and children. A melee ensued in which banners were torn from the hands of the paraders and in which police and rioters exchanged fisticuffs. The women were dispersed; one was arrested. Later, when the Lloyd George party was proceeding up town, another group of Irish sympathizers was dispersed.

Throughout the day, besieged again and again by newspaper men who asked his views on current European affairs, Mr. Lloyd George expressed his unwillingness to bring any message to America.

DECATUR, Tex., Oct. 5.—Decatur Baptist college Indians defeated Denton Normal ineligibles here this afternoon by the score of 42 to 0, only straight football being used. The game was featured by Sebastian's 42 yard drop kick and Sims' returning a kickoff for a touchdown. Captains Price and Hodgkins showed up well in the line. Generalship of Quarterback Hardy stood out. Denton was never within 40 yards of the Indians' goal and registered not a single first down.

The Indians' goal line remains uncrossed in the three games played thus far this season while running up a total of 203 points. Decatur Indians play Weatherford College Friday, October 12, at Weatherford.

Circular flounces of fur are the distinctive feature of this illustration. The coat proper is a dark, rich brown in one of the newer soft pile fabrics.—velvet cloth.

Viatka squirrel is the fur used in combination. It form the high collar, and deep circular flounces finish the otherwise close fitting sleeves and finish the bottom of the coat.

A handsome wide braid is used

A few hints to the women who have coats that are shorter than the present mode may be in place here. Of course if you have fur you can use the, lengthen your coat you will use it in stranght bandings or in circular effect as above.

If you have no fur and cannot afford to buy enough for your needs, why not get one of the long haired fabrics resembling fur? In case either of last named expedients fail you may be able to match the material of your wrap, using braid or embroidered persia, both of which are much in favor, to hide the join.

receive more pay and more credit when they have actually done what they conscientiously believed was their duty." Judge Allen concluded.

C. C. McDonald, local attorney and former secretary of state, was the next speaker. The speaker explained he was glad of an opportunity to get so many county officials of the state together and talk to them. He said in all his experience as a lawyer and in Texas politics he had never seen a county judge whom he had ever suspected as being untrue to his oath of office. "In his responsibility which leaves him the arbiter of estates when no will is left and the law of descent and distribution is followed, I know no county judge that has not always appointed administrators which he thought would be conscientious in the fulfillment of their important duty," he said.

"Following the addresses of the speakers of the evening the entertainment features were begun, first with a sing-song led by E. G. Huckabee, musical director of the local First Methodist church. "What Did Tennessee?" "She Saw What Arkansaw," and other parodies on the states of the union to an old tune served to liven things up for about 15 minutes. The "Smile" song, in which action was demanded by everybody present in order to properly sing it, ended this part of the program.

A special entertainment feature was the saxophone quintette, musical artists that have been entertaining at the fair this week. The five artists had a repertoire of saxophone specialties which the crowd could not get enough of and they had to make their way from the banquet room by force, to keep from having to entertain the remainder of the evening.

In conclusion Judge Sartin called upon a number of the county judges to tell in two minutes what they thought about their counties. The county judge from Potter county was the first speaker and was filled with the subject of what could be done with the delinquent boys and girls of the state. For 15 minutes he explained his position on this subject.

Judge Jackson of Denton county, said his county had the biggest hog, the biggest bull and the best flour in the world. The county judge of Cook county said the best cooks in the world were there. Judge West of Grimes county said he boasted the best home economics system of any county in the state. The county judge of Cameron county said his county was happily situated on the border with "Nuff on one side and 'nuff on the other." Judge Rogers of Wichita county, responded with a typical western poem.

Others introduced were Judge Carter, Judge Williams from Kaufman county; Judge Jessup of the A. C. Burt and company; State Highway Engineer J. D. Fauntelroy; Miss Lucille Campbell, clerk of Wichita county commissioners court, and Bob Quillen clerk of the Dallas county court.

Today the county judges will meet in business session during the morning. At noon they will be the guests at Burkburnett of the Wichita and Burkburnet chambers of commerce. Luncheon will be served there under the direction of Miss Georgia Lansford, Wichita county demonstration agent.

Officers are to be elected today for next year and the place for the 1924 convention chosen.

TAX ASSESSORS CLOSE MEETING

The eighteenth annual session of the county tax collectors association of Texas came to a close here yesterday after a three days' session, Irvan Denton, tax assessor of Wichita county, being chosen as president of the organization and Dallas as the place of meeting for 1924.

Other officers elected were F. D. Scotten of El Paso, first vice president; Tom C. Pierson of Hamilton, second vice president and Lee Freeman of Fort Worth, secretary-treasurer. As the personal representative of the association in the legislature on all matters pertaining to tax assessment, Paul Williams of Austin was chosen.

The question of a combining of the tax assessors organization with that of the state tax collectors association was disposed of with the decision for the two organizations to meet at Dallas next year at the same time and then definitely decide.

Snowdrift deserved a better bucket. Colgate's Talcum powder made famous the phrase "We couldn't improve the powder, so we improved the box." It probably wouldn't be fair to borrow this and twist it, but it is a great temptation to say "We couldn't improve Snowdrift, so we improved the bucket." We'll say it, this once.

They were outfitted in leather chaps, purple shirts, yellow bandana handkerchiefs and five gallon hats.

The Simmons college students are called Cowboys. That is why, as rooters here for the game the fellows all wore the cowboy outfits. But one item was missing. Instead of six shooters they were armed with horns and drums, and made up a very presentable band, playing the entire time of the game.

The mark set by Lieutenant George in his Beinoen monoplane. He flew the 250 kilometers (155.34 miles) at an average speed of 94.28 miles per hour. But two others finished the race, Percy Hutton in a Laird Swallow was second with a speed of 87.03 miles and C. S. "Casey" Jones third with a speed of 82.09 miles.

The winners of the race which was for civilians only, were decided on speed and efficiency. Atkinson's victory netted him $1,000 in cash as well as the trophy. Hutton received $600 and Jones $400.

Stunt Finish.

Both races developed into hard fought struggles and the 20,000 people were tense with excitement continually. In addition to the thrills of seeing a 10,000 pound airplane make a turn round a pylon but 100 feet from the ground at a speed of over 100 miles an hour, the first pursuit squadron of Selfridge field, Detroit, climbed into their trim Thomas-Morse pursuit planes, accompanied by stunt planes and several other craft at the field indulged in a stunting spectacle. Every known stunt in the catalogue was performed by the daring aviators.

Flying more than a lap ahead of Schur of the navy, George, the army entrant, turned the pylon at the end of the fifth lap with an average speed of 114.30 miles an hour and flying low and in a straight line for the second pylon, started for the last 50 kilometers (31.07 miles) of the race.

George, 114.30; Schur 107.59; Hallenberg, 105.63; Cole, 98.75; Black, Lieutenant H. L. George, flying a twin-motored Martin bomber rated at 400 horsepower, won the exchange race at an average speed of 114.28 miles an hour for the 300 kilometer (186.42 miles) course.

Lieutenant M. A. Schur, navy, piloting a Douglas-Wright, 550 horsepower Wright motored airplane, came in for second place at an average speed for the six trips around the 50 kilometer (31.07 miles) course, at 106.02 miles per hour.

FORD A MARTYR IN SHOAL LOSS

Never Had Chinaman's Chance—But His Offer Saved Shoals

By B. N. TIMMONS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Political martydom of Henry Ford, not altogether undesired by him if expressions by his representatives here may be given credence, appears as the immediate result of the sale by the government of the huge Gorgen steam plant, which was established as the heart of the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant.

Henry Ford never had a Chinamen's chance to get consent of republican congress, and a republican administration, for his taking over the water power, and the nitrate plant in which he projected a plan to give the American farmer cheap fertilizer, and provide means for revitalizing the industrial south by underselling the corporate power monopolies. Yet the Ford proposal made such popular appeal, that, as it was left undecided by the large congress, it would have created serious trouble in the next, particularly since the narrow majority of the administration party divided as it is might have been beaten down, and a contract forced with the motor king on his own terms.

Early disposition of the administration party was to abandon the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant, and the plan to break it up and dispose of integral holdings to private corporations was well under way by means of withholding appropriations necessary to continue it, until Henry Ford came along and aroused the imagination of the people with his offer. Whatever else may come of it the Ford offer saved Muscle Shoals, and compelled an unwilling administration to make appropriations for completion of the power dams started during the war.

Now it has developed that the immense power plant built during the war was placed on property leased from the Alabama Power company, which had been given an option on the plant should it be offered for sale. The alternative under the contract was to dismantle the plant. By opinion of the attorney general it was decided the government had no alternative but to accept the offer of the Alabama Power company, and its offer of approximately $3,500,000 has been accepted by Secretary of War Weeks with approval of President Coolidge.

Built to manufacture nitrates for use in making explosives during the war, and no longer needed for that purpose when the present regime came into power, it was held impractical that the plant could be used for any other practical purpose. Henry Ford's engineers made investigation, announced that the Muscle Shoals property could be operated profitably for peace time purposes, and Mr. Ford backed their judgment with a cash offer of $5,000,000, and an offer of contract to pay annually a fixed sum to the government, agreeing at the same time to hold the nitrate plant in readiness for return to the government for manufacture of explosives at any time necessary. The Ford vision planned manufacture of fertilizer primarily from nitrates extracted from the air, and that appealed to the farmers because it meant cheaper fertilizer. But larger in the Ford scheme was the development of unlimited electricity for power purposes by use of water-power, and at a price far below that in vogue, and that appealed to the industrial south, while alarming power monopolies everywhere. Incidentally it was believed that Mr. Ford would have no waste product, because the site could be utilized to manufacture anything he desired.

From the beginning the Ford proposal met with opposition by administration leaders, until finally every objection raised to an apparently good base was met by him, and the proposal was submitted to congress by Secretary Weeks. In the development Mr. Ford's agents seemed less eager to have congressional approval, but the discussion had made him one of the most talked-of men in the country. And now that the government has taken an act which effectually tears the heart out of the Muscle Shoals development there comes the intimation from apparently reliable sources that Mr. Ford is through. It is explained, however, by government spokesmen, that the government is willing to give Mr. Ford credit on his contract for the $3,500,000 received; that the steam plant was of only temporary value until the water power could be developed; and that in the long run of years its disposal to other interests would be without effect. But that does not appeal to the Ford agents, who say the real effect of the sale has been to reject the Ford proposition.

England Seeks to Show Her Taxes Top the List

By The Associated Press.

LONDON.—At current rates of exchange taxation in Great Britain is almost three times as heavy per capita as in the United States, according to official figures compiled in London. The latest figures drawn up show that in Britain the taxation is $72.44 a head, in the United States $25.70, in France $24.30, and in Italy $11.81.

In issuing these comparisons, the British have challenged as a complete misrepresentation of their own official figures the scale which M. Dimnet of France presented to the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Mass., recently. He was quoted as saying that Prime Minister Baldwin had given figures showing the taxation in France was $88 a head, in Great Britain $83, and in the United States $28 a head.

Heretofore figures given by Mr. Baldwin and the British treasury as to taxation a head in various countries have always been in the respective currencies of such countries, it is said. The latest are:

United States (1923-24) $23.70.
France (1923) 441.27 francs.
Italy (1922-23) 275.3 lire.

The British suppose M. Dimnet may have arrived at the figures he gave by conversion into dollars at par exchange, which they hold to be wholly misleading.

SHEEP RAISERS GET HIGHER PRICE

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Oct. 5.—Prices reported to be higher than any previously paid this season in Texas have just been received by sheep raisers, principally of Sutton county, for 100,000 pounds of fall mohair, according to raisers here. J. M. Lea and E. O. Oglesby of Del Rio, representing a Boston firm, were the buyers. The total returns from the sale is reported as $65,000.

Recent mohair sales in this vicinity indicate a higher market than was previously predicted by some buyers for this season, according to those in touch with the industry. It is expected that shearing, now in full blast, will be heavier than in several years. It is estimated that Sutton county alone will produce 50,000 pounds of mohair in addition to that already sold.

Sheep men are just beginning to realize returns from contracting for of approximately 300,000 lambs for market in a dozen west Texas counties. Idles of these sheep started as early as August 1, and are continuing at satisfactory prices, it is said. Feeders from the middle west and north have been heavy purchasers. Buyers have come from Ohio, New Mexico, Missouri, and other states.

Many sheep men who purchased bred ewes with wool on last spring are said to have realized almost the cost already. The sheep industry in general is reported to be in a highly favorable condition at present.

DISABLED VETS AFTER BIG DAY

Seek to Have National "Forget-Me-Not" Day November 10

CINCINNATI.—An extraordinary effort to have national "Forget-Me-Not" day observed on an active scale in more cities and towns in the United States, than ever before in the history of the nation, will be put forth by the members and friends of the disabled American veterans of the world war, on Saturday, November 10; according to National Adjutant Raymond A. Lasance of the disabled mens' organization, who is assisting in preparations for the big "day."

Pointing out that last year's "Forget-Me-Not" day received the hearty endorsement and active support of high government and civic officials, the late President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding being among the extensive purchasers of forget-me-nots on the occasion, Lasance asserted that the same efforts will be put forth this year to have general observance of the "day," and predicted that governors of practically all states, and the greater number of mayors throughout the country, will issue proclamations urging general observance of "Forget-Me-Not" day and will also assist Citizen's committee in the successful conduct of the "day."

Women's clubs, school children's societies and young ladies' organizations are engaged in the making of the little paper and cloth forget-me-nots in a great number of cities, according to National Adjutant Lasance who stated that disabled American world war veterans in hospitals are also making the little flowers to be sold on "Forget-Me-Not" day, for their particular benefit. Proceeds of the day's sale will go towards the relief, welfare and rehabilitation activities for the nation's wounded and disabled veterans of the recent great war. In every community the active work of preparing for "Forget-Me-Not" day will be headed by a prominent citizen Banks will serve as treasurers of the fund all over the United States. The disabled American veterans of the world war are sponsoring the nation-wire movement of November 10.

Empire's Premiers Gather in London To Discuss Policies

By The Associated Press.

LONDON.—The imperial conference, to deal with political, economic, naval and other matters of importance throughout the empire, convenes in this city in October and will continue for about two months.

The meetings of the conference dealing with political matters will be held under the presidency of the British Prime Minister, Stanley Baldwin. Representatives of the governments of Canada, India Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Newfoundland and Ireland will participate.

Among the important subjects to be discussed is the naval situation resulting from the Washington armament conference. Consideration also will be given to arrangements for future co-operation between the Imperial and Dominion governments in all branches of defense.

Other subjects on the agenda include: The main issues of Imperial policy; problems of foreign policy; naval, military and air defenses; cable, wireless and mail services; inter-imperial communications by air, land and sea.

The prime ministers of the empire and their ministerial colleagues on the imperial conference will all be ex-officio members of the economic conference, which they will attend on such occasions as they or any of them, may deem to be necessary. It is ever possible that sometimes the two conferences may be merged into one, as for instance, when the imperial conference desires to discuss matters in the presence of its expert advisers.

This is the first time an economic conference has been called together in connection with an imperial conference. The economic conference will be composed chiefly of experts in matters of finance, trade, defence, etc., and will be, in the main, an advisory body whose reports and recommendations will have to come before the imperial conference.

Notwithstanding this somewhat formidable agenda, the social side of the conference will not be neglected. There will be a reception at No. 10 Downing street by Prime Minister Baldwin as president ex-officio of the conference; the Secretary of State for the Colonies, the Duke of Devonshire as vice-president, and by other British ministers.

Among the ceremonies in prospect is a banquet to be given by the King at Buckingham Palace. Several prominent public bodies in London will entertain the visitors at public dinners, and they will be the guests of the government at an official dinner.

NEW COTTON TESTS BY STATE EXPERTS

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 5.—As a result of recent discoveries made by the state department of agriculture with regard to tests of cottonseed germination, a new system of testing has been started by which the seeds are grouped into three different classes, according to a statement of today made by J. M. Del Curto, chief of the division of plant pathology and seeds of the state department.

"There seem to be three groups of cotton seeds with respect to germination," Mr. Del Curto said in explaining the new system. "These three classes may be named as follows, those which germinate poorly under all conditions; those which germinate well under both favorable and less favorable conditions; and third, those which are peculiarly sensitive to conditions and germinate well under favorable surroundings of temperature and moisture, and germinate very poorly under slightly adverse conditions. It has been found that a pre-soaking of cotton seeds shows quite uniformly the percentage of live seed."

Until the value of the pre-soaking method is further determined, it was stated that the former regulation method of grading seed will be applied. However, the pre-soaking will be used to supplement the regulation test.

Information regarding the new system has been sent to seed houses over the state by Del Curto. Inspectors of the state department are at this time making extensive inspections of cotton seed.

Germany Needs Seamen.

By The Associated Press.

BREMEN.—The need for officers to man Germany's navy and merchant fleet is so great that three sailing ships soon will be in operation to train young men to follow the sea.

Germany always has insisted upon training under sail for the men who officer her steamships.

THE PUBLIC'S INFLUENCE ON NEWS.

Red headed city editors of newspapers throughout the country tell aspiring young newspapermen what news is—why a news item is worth printing or why it isn't. They do not say, perhaps because it doesn't occur to them, but a fact they all know, that an item to be news must be of interest to the public.

And the public, being made up of human beings like the red-headed managing editors and the cub reporters, tire of certain things they find in the news columns of the daily newspaper. They are forever demanding a change. Newspapers, after all, are regulated more by the public and what that public wants, than by the newspapermen who produce the thing called news.

The "war" in Oklahoma has claimed page one in the newspapers of the country for some time past. There has been much interested in the conflict of the opposing sides in that controversy. It has offered something new in state craft. But with the matter pretty much in the courts and the novelty of martial law worn off, and no new sensations developing, the public is showing signs of losing interest.

One of these days something in the way of big news will happen, and then, to meet the demand of the public, managing editors will "play the story down" and it will pass eventually to the second page and into history. There will be an occasional echo, but that will be all. Unless Governor Jack or the men who are bitterly opposing him, can dig up a new sensation for the press and the public, the story will die of undernourishment as all newspaper stories die.

Of course there is the contemplated impeachment of the governor. But that, in truth, is another story, and others will follow, which, while they will keep the eyes of the people centered on the internal strike of Oklahoma, they will not revive the original story. The news angle of the Oklahoma situation is an interesting phase of our present day life.

News is news.

CANADA AND OUR LIQUOR PROBLEM.

Views of Canadian editors, as gathered by The Literary Digest, would indicate that many hold to the view that Canada should not be called on to help enforce an American made law. Others are inclined toward the belief that as good neighbors, Canada and the United States should work together in stopping the flow of Canadian liquor into the United States, but the most of them take the view that it is mostly our affair, and that if they undertake to assist us, they also would have to share the responsibility.

These interesting opinions of an ever-interesting problem are brought out through the contemplated parley between representatives of the two governments in November. The variance of opinion in the different provinces is explained by the varying regulations affecting liquor in the different localities of Canada.

Probably the most startling revelation which comes out of the editorial opinions is the statement that much of the liquor which is brought across the border is made in the United States, shipped to Canada, and then returned here for sale. All of which maks interesting reading and keeps the prohibition question well in the limelight.

PANTHERS ARE WINNERS

The Panthers, Fort Worth team of the Texas league and easy winners of the Texas pennant, have added to their glory on the diamond by winning the Dixie series. Fort Worth was not always popular with the fans of the towns in the Texas league, but they should gain some satisfaction from the fact that Fort Worth trimmed New Orleans and did a good job of it.

All of which adds to the laurels of Texas, and our sporting blood should cause us to rejoice over the ability of a Texas team to cop an outside penant. If the other towns in the Texas league want to show their real sporting blood, it is mostly up to them to develop a team that can defeat Fort Worth and do it so regularly that it will become a habit.

And the team that does that will be playing real, base ball.

MONEY HE MUST HAVE

Uncle Sam has a surplus of $180,000,000 piled up in the federal treasury. Secretary A. W. Mellon is a remarkable financier. He knows that Uncle Sam will need a huge surplus next year.

There is a soldier bonus coming and it will call for an appropriation of a billion dollars the first year and perhaps $5,000,000,000 by the time the last former service man has received his share. For 50 years to come Jones will be kept digging. There is no other way out of it.

SUPERSTITION

According to a Washington dispatch the $2 not, victim of superstitution, is doomed as the treasury department has omitted it from th designs prepared for the new currency. Most people believe that a $2 bill spells bad luck and it is passed from one hand to another as fast as the exchange can be made.

Now why should bad luck attach itself to a bill of any denomination issued by the richest and best government that time has known?

Governor Jack Walton, the morning after, declared the election illegal and ineffective. Now it will be a matter for the courts and as the day before the election the supreme court ruled that the election would be valid if held most people are of the opinion that the court decree will prevail. In this government a court decree is ever uppermost

A Romance of the Redwoods

"No, you're wrong. They should have the frills. The frills represent the grace and beauty of life. We all have an instinct for frills; and real instincts should be gratified—in proportion. But the point is, frills are too hard to get. A living is too hard to get. Heaven forfend we should ever get anything without working for it; that is absolutely fatal. But there's no sense in having to perform soul-deadening and grinding toil for it."

"But what the battery to do with this?"

"Why don't you see? Every invention that reduces the labor necessary to produce things is a step toward that leisure for the race. It's a step toward supplying more frills, besides more abundant necessities, with the same amount of labor."

With vivid sentences he sketched the world as he saw it a reorganized world, free to put all its energies into the positive creation of those things which men's true instincts crave: producing its abundance by honest, sincere, necessary labor, but accomplishing the production without the exhaustion of squalor.

It was no impossible Utopia; it was no absurd dream of an impossible "equality," but it was a world of opportunity released from pressure. What men did with the opportunity would still be, as it had always been, a matter for themselves.

But no longer would there be any reason or necessity for the submergence under inexorable circumstances of the man whose hands reached toward the stars.

That is what—he visioned; and that is what Barton kindling to his ideas saw too. And as she had not lived with the idea, as had he, and was unaccustomed to it, she was the more eagerly afire

They sat silent for a time.

"Tell me about yourself?" she said suddenly.

"I was born of poor but honest parents and my friends call me Larry," he began.

"You're not the Lawrence Davenport?" she gasped.

"I'm the only one I know about. There's may be others I wot not of; but be assured, O Lady, that they are nothing but spurious imitations."

"Why, I've read all your books and I've just loved them!"

"Long and patient study has not yet revealed to me the suitable answer to one who claims she loves your books," sadly confessed Davenport.

Burton began to chuckle, then to laugh aloud.

"I'm thinking of the joke on us," she explained, "of Dad. We thought you were a garage mechanic!"

"And me with such gentlemanly manners," he mourned, "and my diction faulty as it is, yet observes the rules of grammar."

"Your funny little car misled us, I suppose," she explained, "and then you were so handy about everything."

"You relieve me. The car was the cheapest I could get for a pure experiment."

"And the battery?"

"Came to me just like a story, a little at a time. I'm no mechanic. No one could be worse fitted than I to be an inventor. But I couldn't help noticing from time to time the incredible amount of power everywhere going to waste, and one day when I was filling the starting battery of my car—I have got a car—it struck me what a nuisance it was, and I wondered if we couldn't get a battery that would work with air."

"And then you figured it out."

"I did not," he disclaimed. 'I merely kept it in mind, the way I do a story, and it worked out its own plot, bit by bit. It took me some time to tumble to the But at last I got it to work hard for a long time. One horrible thought occurred to me; that maybe it will fact that the planets had to be just exactly so far apart. only work near electric plants already in operation under the old methods."

"Stealing what's already been made! I see!"

"That's why I'm up in this wild country, bag and baggage. I'm going to get far enough away to find out. It seems to be all right, though."

"You don't know how I appreciate your telling me all this, Mr. Davenport," then said she.

"I told you my friends call me Larry," he pointed out; then at her slight withdrawal, "Now really, look at me. Am I a Larry looking person or a Davenport looking person?" He cocked his eye comically in her direction.

"You're right—Larry," said she.

CHAPTER XI.

In the morning the famous battery, lashed to the running board, had been connected up with the self-starter which was now turning over in the laborious and vociferous manner peculiar to the species. Grimstead and Gardiner were inclined to stand and watch it in fascination but Davenport was quite unimpressed.

"That's all there is to it," said he. "Now all we have to watch out for is that she doesn't run dry for lubrication. Simmins can keep track of that."

He turned away.

"Now we've got a good morning's work in front of us," he announced cheerfully. "I picked a good place for camp, before breakfast. We must move camp, and then we must make a start on our road out."

"I'm going fishing this afternoon," warned Grimstead.

The evening meal that night was a jolly one, thanks to a large trout. Grimstead's high good humor over its capture carried all temperamental differences before it. Even the taciturn Gardiner unbent to tell an anecdote.

Burton was in the highest of spirits, also, for she had what she considered a very intriguing secret, which she intended to keep for the time being at least, in the hope of extracting from the situation still further amusement.

In this she was abetted by Larry Davenport himself. Now that that young man really understood the position in the social structure he was supposed to fill, he played up and became the perfect garage mechanic. When this performance drew Simmins's puzzled eye Larry's happiness was complete.

"Now," sighed Grimstead comfortably, as he struggled to his thick legs after supper, "if you young people will excuse us, Ross and I have a little business to talk over."

He lighted a cigar and, followed by Gardiner, disappeared in the darkness.

"Now," he demanded of Gardiner, once they were settled on a convenient log. "How about it?"

His benign good humor had fallen from him and his whole being had tautened into a hard alertness.

"It's been running without a break, and without apparent loss of energy at any time up to 9 o'clock," answered Gardiner.

"We've got to tie this thing down before somebody else gets hold of it," declared Grimstead. "I wonder if anybody has? He might be tied up already."

"May be," agreed Gardiner, "but I don't think so. This seems to be his first test of the thing."

"Well, we must tie him up," said Grimstead.

"Going to buy him out, chief? You could probably get it cheap, comparatively."

"Gardiner," said the pirate, "I sometimes wonder a little about you."

"What do you mean?" asked Gardiner.

"I gather you think we could drive a cheap bargain with this young man."

Gardiner considered his reply for a moment.

"Yes," he said finally, with conviction, "I think we could—before he gets talking with some one else."

"Of course we could, but we won't. I'll offer him the very largest share I can, or the highest royalties possible consistent with control and good business. See why?"

Gardiner shook his head.

"Well, either this is a whooping big thing, or it is a flivver. If it's a flivver it doesn't matter if we give him nothing. But suppose it turns out to be a world beater and we've made a sharp bargain. Either he, or some one else, is going to buck. Then there's law suits without end. If, however, we have at the very start, before the thing is proved up at all, given him a full share, then when it turns out big he'll stay with us."

"Well young man," said Grimstead, when they had returned to the fireside, "your battery seems to be making good. There's no doubt that you have a big thing there. I don't know just how big, but it's good enough to market as it is. Ever thought of it?"

"Yes, of course. But I've never been sure enough it was going to work to do anthing about it."

Grimstead cast an eye of triumph toward Gardiner.

"Well, said he, "I am considerably in the electric line myself. What would you think of taking it up with me?"

"I was going to propose it myself, after you had satisfied yourself the thing was going to run."

"Good! Now I'm not going to insult your intelligence by trying to buy outright," said Grimstead, craftily gaining merit from his decision. "You'd know better than that. There are two other methods. By one you could get a certain amount of stock in the company. By the other you would be paid a definite royalty. In the first instance you would have a voice in management, and also responsibility. In the second instance you would be relieved from all trouble, but would have nothing to say."

"I see the difference," Davenport nodded. "But I don't believe I could decide as to my choice until I hear a more definite proposition of each kind. How much stock would I get, and how much royalty?"

Grimstead here showed further his qualification for chiefhood by shooting back his proposal. He had thought it all out, and was ready.

CHAPTER XII.

"The royalty idea appeals to me," answered Davenport, "for I certainly do not want to get mixed up in affairs unless I have to. But I do feel responsibility in turning a thing like this loose without at least trying to do my part."

So Goes It

By S. H.

There seems to be considerable question as to whether the defendant in a Chicago murder trial was a man or a woman. with a man's name he she dressed like a woman, had a man's name, insisted that he-she was a man, but wanted to be a woman. Our opinion is that the shooting was not done by a woman. It was too accurate.

They're talking of installing electric lights in an Arkansas town so that the croquet players and the horse shoe pitchers can see to finish their evening games.

You can't always judge a man's brain by the size of his hat.

A college education is a fine thing, but there is little to be gained by trying to drag the campus around after you when you have your degree.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead who hasn't some sort of a diploma stored away somewhere.

We think the employer of the Detroit scrub woman who discharged her because she came to work in her motor car was very unfair. If she had attempted to walk in the city of automobiles she undoubtedly would have been run over on the way to work.

Man in Buffalo had something done to his solar plexus, and then had his stomach removed. While the removal was taking place he chatted with the attending surgeon being perfectly conscious. If anyone attempted to remove our stomach, we might have an argument with him, but "chat with him"—NEVER!

WHAT TODAY MEANS

BY MARY BLAKE.

A very beneficient combination of planetary forces maintain until 4 p. m. and during this period of operation every effort should be made to push forward for progress all important matters. Love affairs should flourish if properly managed.

A child born this day will be a delicate constitution throughout life, kind, generous and thoughtful and a personality of splendid qualities.

If today is your birthday you should have a nature as intricate as it is generally misunderstood, for although you have all the desires, ambitions and feelings of the ordinary mortal your mind is capable of a certain detachment, which makes you clear and fearless in our judgments of yourself as well as of others. In other words you have just the one type of intellectual honesty which is never popularly understood. You do things because they are intrinsically worth doing rather than because there is some profit in it for you.

You have an active mind and a retentive memory. You are careless about money because to you it must be spent in order to justify your possession of it. You do not lack foresight, however, but living dangerously appeals to you as a philosophy which necessitates the activity of all your faculties.

In this you are quite right, for if you do not get yourself into situations which demand an energetic reaction on your part, you might spend your entire life loafing, or doing what you would call thinking, but in reality dreaming.

You are a born student and are constantly analyzing all that comes under your eager scrutiny. You have also the talent for expression in words which should give you some fame as a writer. But you should cultivate both modesty and self-reliance. Remember it is worth twice as difficult to do something you have talked about.

Emotionally your nature is warm and responsive and full of the spirit of play in your friendships as in your affairs of the heart.

CANNOT ORDER A REPARATION

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 5.—The state railroad commission is powerless to order reparation to shippers after rates are corrected, covering losses under old rates, and was Wednesday upheld in this stand by action of the supreme court. The court denied permission to the Clayton Oil and Gas company to file a mandamus against the railroad commission to compel it to hear application for reparations.

The company claimed that it was required to par a rate higher than the interstate rate, on oil shipped to its plant at Harrys near Dallas. The rate was reduced by the rail commission to conform to the interstate rate, after which the concern sought to compel the commission to consider an order which would permit it to secure refunds for amounts paid in excess of the new rates. The commission refused such a hearing on the ground it was without jurisdiction, and was sustained in the position by action of the supreme court

THE FOOTBALL SEASON

Eustace just came home from college
In a plaster cast;
Got his academic knowledge
Just a bit too fast.
He is filled with erudition,
Sanscrit, Greek and such,
But he's not in condition
To employ it much.

Clarence hoped to be a highbrow.
But he's just come home
With a gash above his eyebrow,
And a dented dome.
He got lots of information,
But he's almost blind,
And he'll need an operation
To restore his mind.

Father raged so little Willie
An LLD, might get.
But a tackle knocked him silly—
And he's silly yet.
His attainments will be zero,
His existence through,
But he was the college hero
For an hour or two.

Horace never recked of danger,
Bald he was and grim.
Now he looks quite like a stranger—
A center rush got him.
He came back all bashed and gory,
But happy just the same;
He was injured for the glory
Of the grand old game.

TIMELY VIEWS on WORLD TOPICS

"CONTENTED HUNGARY WOULD HELP STABILIZE EUROPE" SAYS APPONYI

"European civilization lies in imminent danger of collapse, even though the Communist peril has been temporarily staved off. Hungary is the furthest outpost of civilization in Europe. At our back door lies semi-barbarism. The condition of eastern Europe is the key to the continental problem and Hungary, in turn is the key to eastern Europe. A pacified, contented Hungary would do much to preserve the general atmosphere of peace which is so sadly lacking in Europe." So declare Count Apponyi, "grand old man of Hungary," now in the U. S. for a lecture tour.

COUNT APPONYI

"I cannot say that relations are not strained with our neighbors, Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Jugo-slavia, which, of course, compose the Little Entente. It is hardly to be expected that the Magyars are as yet reconciled to the treaty of Trianon, which took away two-thirds of our territory and handed over 3,000,000 Hungarian citizens to the tender mercies of their former enemies.

Wrongs of Treaty.

"The treaty is a direct contradiction of ethnographic and geographical principles. When the allied statesmen with the aid of the Little Entente sat down at the conference table they sadly lacked psychology. For example, although 98 per cent of our woodlands fell into foreign hands we were ordered to make vast deliveries of timber to Austria.

"But lest I create a false impression by these remarks I should like to emphasize that Hungary is well aware of her responsibility in helping to maintain the tranquility of Europe. We do not propose to rebel by armed force against the hard conditions imposed upon us or to antagonize our neighbors by not carrying out in the spirit as well as the letter that treaty signed nearly four years ago with the allies.

"My country recognizes indeed that until such a time as the world recognizes the injustice done to her that nothing is to be gained by seeking to overthrow what must be. Already we have settled many of our outstanding grievances with the Little Entente, and are drawing closer every day the economic and social threads which were snapped in 1914.

Chief Need Is a Loan.

"Hungary's chief need is a loan, though I am no financier, and am not here with my hand outstretched for American dollars. Italy and Great Britain have already regarded very favorable financial assistance to Hungary. We need about $30,000,000 to put us on our feet, and then once the currency and budget have been stabilized, we shall ask for further and greater sums for reconstruction work.

"One of our pressing problems is caring for 300,000 intellectuals who have returned to Budapest and other large Hungarian towns from the lost provinces. Life was made impossible for them in the neighbor states, and now they are thrown on the shoulders of the government.

"The machinery of government already creaks under a top-heavy bureaucracy, which met the needs of a mighty Austro-Hungarian empire, but is crushing upon a small nation of 7,500,000 people. Eventually, I presume, we must dismiss 75 per cent of our government officials to absorb them into our industrial life, which is beginning to recover."

Count Apponyi denied that the recent remark of Premier Mussolini to Premier Benes, the father of the Little Entente, to the effect that Italy would regard as an unfriendly act any aggressive action of Jugoslavia toward Hungary, meant that Italy and Hungary were seeking alliance. He said that Hungary was seeking no entanglements, though she was on excellent relations with all of the great powers.

A question as to the monarchy in Hungary found him an unwilling talker. Count Apponyi reclared that was a matter for Hungary to settle within her own borders, and he did not intend to refer to it while he was in America.

SUNDAY BIG DAY AT PRESBYTERIAN

Sunday will be a big day at the First Presbyterian church. Preparations are being made to celebrate the eighth anniversary of Dr. N. F. Grafton's ministry to this congregation. During this time he has preached more than 600 times, has received 651 members into the church and married 175 couples, of which number 27 were prominent church weddings, perhaps more than any other minister in the state of Texas.

Dr. Grafton has taken a prominent part in the growth and development of our city, having seen it grow from 12,000 to more than 45,000 and has made friends in every walk of life.

The service Sunday morning will be in the nature of a congregational meeting, at which time elders and trustees will be elected, ordained and installed, and ushers for the year, the music committee and such other committees as are necessary for carrying on the work of the church will be elected. Opportunity will be given for church membership and infant baptism. Folowing the congregational meeting the communion service will be held. Every member of the church ought to be in attendance Sunday morning.

At the evening hour Dr. Grafton will preach another of the special sermons which he has been preaching Sunday evenings. The subject will be "The Minister's place in the Life of America." He will trace the influence of the minister in our national life from the Pilgrim days to the present time and will answer the question "Is the Minister a Necessary Evil" and "Has he any right to step out of his pulpit to engage in public affairs." There will be special music at the evening hour that will be unusually attractive to all who attend.

THE COLONIZATION QUESTIONNAIRE.

The Land That Has Been Offered For Sale.

In a previous article we showed that the land owners wanted to sell all of their 16,000 acres except 18 per cent.

This fact would naturally lead to the conclusion that they had made efforts to sell their holdings, but when the question was asked "Have you offered any of your land for sale for farming purposes?" only 33 per cent answered that they had. Fifty-six per cent said they had never offered to sell any. The other 11 per cent did not answer the question at all.

This would indicate a rather peculiar condition. Eighty-two per cent of the land for sale, but with only 33 per cent of the land owners trying to sell.

Perhaps the land owners feel that it would be useless for them to list their lands with local real estate men in Wichita Falls and the surrounding towns under present condition.

Again the owners may feel that they cannot get their price from local customers and that they will have to wait for a real colonization campaign to get under way before they even try to sell.

Or it may be that the realty men have felt that there was but little use of trying to list up lands until the price of land has gone down.

It is a fact that several real estate men have tried to sell land on the irrigation project, and that outside of land that was suitable for suburban residences they have had little success.

Mrs. Robertson Leaves For Haskell Luncheon.

Mrs. Walter S. Robertson, president of the first district Federation of Women's clubs, left Friday for Haskell where she will make an address at a community luncheon to be given by the Magazine club Saturday at 1 o'clock. The affair opens the work of the club for the season. Mrs. Robertson will take for her subject, "There Can Be No Progress Without Action."

Mrs. Robertson states that for the next few weeks prior to the meeting of the State Federation of Women's clubs here in November, she intends to complete her program of visiting the federated clubs in the first district. When she was made president of the first district during her term of office she visited 35 clubs of the district, and now at the close of her term she intends to complete her visiting program.

"I have been exceedingly busy the past few weeks," she said, "getting out 150 letters to club chairmen and presidents over the district regarding the federation work to be completed prior to the convention."

Mrs. Robertson is at home temporarily at Kemot Kort.

ONLY A LITTLE THING

It is queer how one little thing can spoil an evening that ought to have been full of entertainment, when one is in love.

At a party the other night, a certain young girl who lived a few doors from the place where it was being held, said she wanted to run her car in her garage, and would ride home later with some one else. Her sweetheart was playing the piano at the time, and as he did not stop and offer to go with her, she went alone.

She returned to the party but she could not figure out why he had not offered to go with her.

She felt hurt and much more like crying than dancing.

He had always been so thoughtful and considerate of her feelings before.

She was determined to find out what had changed him so.

At dinner she laughed and said she had been quiet about putting her car in, for fear the folks would make her stay home if they heard her out there alone.

"Alone," her sweetheart cried, "didn't your brother go with you?" I thought I saw him go out as you did."

The girl gave a sigh of relief and thought how silly she had been to let such a little thing spoil her evening.

ELECTRA BOYS BAND AT FAIR FRIDAY

The Electra Boys Band made its appearance at the Texas-Oklahoma fair yesterday afternoon, and a very pleasing appearance it was, the boys being dressed in attractive blue uniforms that gave the band a military and natty look. They arrived during the morning and their playing during the afternoon and evening was one of the features of the day.

Under the direction of Paul Smith, organizer and director of the band, the boys played concerts in the afternoon and evening, their playing prior and during the Simmons-Austin college football game being one of the most popular features of the afternoon. They played several pieces at the evening performance in front of the grandstand, alternating with Al Sweets singing band, and were accorded a hearty reception.

The band is composed of 25 pieces, and is exceptionally well-trained and ably directed. The band was organized some months ago and since that time has been rehearsed so well that its playing is more like a complete commercial band than that of a bunch of boys from the age of nine to sixteen.

The uniforms, of regulation band type, are of blue, the trousers being of a shade lighter than the coats, and are trimmed with gold cord making a very attractive bit of equipment. The boys were the guests of the fair while here.

Three Frocks With Simple Lines Unique in Material-Trim

Black is still the favored color for all classes of gowns and simplicity in cut is also noted. Unique trimmings are shown, however, and give a distinctive note to many of the frocks.

The one on the left is a model in point. Black moire silk is used and absolute simplicity is noted in the cut. The rows of flounces down the left side and a deep ruffle depending from the close fitting cuff are the only trimming. It is a frock that would attract attention anywhere by its clever treatment.

Black canton crepe is used in the one on the right. It is a sleeveless model and attracts attention by its trimming of ribbon. Narrow black moire ribbon is interlaced to form trimming for both blouse and skirt. Possibly the frock would be more practical if the ribbon ends were cut shorter than the model shows. One can always vary these trimmings, adopting the general idea but applying them to suit individual taste.

The charming little evening frock in the center depends entirely in its choice of material for the effect. It is made of one of those metal brocades which are so colorful and give a sophisticated and vampirish hint to the most simple frock. The girdle which comes to a point in the center front and is finished with a tassel reminds one of the late craze for bandanas. This one has slipped from the throat to the waist, however.

MENU HINT

Breakfast

Graham Gems Bacon
Doughnuts Coffee

Luncheon

Chinese Rarebit
Head Lettuce with Mayonnaise Dressing
Corn Bread Butter
Fruit Salad Tea

Dinner

Cream of Tomato Soup
Baked Stuffed Pork Chops
Baked Sweet Potatoes
Cabbage Celery
Onion and Green Pepper Salad
Peach Charm Tea

TODAY'S RECIPES

Chinese Rarebit—For Chinese rarebit, take one and one-half cups diced cheese, one egg, two tablespoons flour, salt, pepper, mustard and paprika, two cups scalded milk, one and one-half cups boiled rice, and toasted bread. Mix ingredients in order given in a double boiler top. Add milk, stir over hot water until mixture thickens, turn in rice. Repeat, and serve on toast.

Baked Stuffed Pork Chops—Make a sage dressing and spread thickly on each pork chop, lay in a pan with a very little fat. Bake until chops are thoroughly done, and stuffing is crisp.

SUGGESTIONS

Convenient for Soiled Clothes—Take a small coffee barrel and a little cretonne or silkoline and you will find that an attractive holder for soiled clothes can be made from them. A barrel about two feet high and 20 inches in diameter is a convenient size. Use silkoline or cretonne to match other draperies in the room for a covering. Line the inside plain, but make the outside a trifle fuller by playing little tucks at the top and bottom. Leave a little ruffle of about an inch and a half at the top. The cover can have a little frill at the edge too, and a strap made of the same material for a handle.

Canning Hint—When canning beets tie the mixed spices in a piece of cheese cloth and put in the vinegar when boiling. You get the spice taste without having the pieces of spice in the vinegar. Also put a small horseradish leaf on top of beets before closing jar. When opened in the winter they are fine.

To Color Catsup — When making catsup and chili sauce add some vinegar from beet pickles. The sauce will be a lovely bright red.

Patching Wall-Paper — To patch wall paper tear a piece slightly larger than the portion to be covered, to match, but torn with rough edges and without any definite shape. Then paste over and the patch will not be noticeable.

To Dry a Sweater—Use an adjustable window screen on two chair backs or anything handy. Cover with at least one thickness of paper to avoid any danger from rust, and lay the sweater on without stretching it. Then place in the sun or where a breeze will strike it when the weather will permit.

ZONA GALE

In Collaboration With Russell Gore Writes On

LEADERSHIP.

The guide was takin his usual noon day crowd through the building. And the door, although equipped with a locking device to keep it open, kept swinging in the face of each one who forgot to hold it for the next.

Then a woman stopped the procession, glanced at the locking device, pressed her foot on it. Thereafter the long line passed through without the annoyance of the swinging door.

But how many would have used the trifling thoughtfulness required of the woman who made the door stay open?

Two cars have come together on a city highway. Glass is spilled over the pavement. The participants in the accident get out of their cars, take out note books, jot down license numbers, names, time, location and names of witnesses, climb back in the tonneaus and are on their way.

The glass remains.

Thousands of cars pass that way every day. All have tires that are not at all improved by contact with the sharp edges of broken glass.

Drivers see the glitter on the pavement, growl softly at the carelessness which has left it there, swerve the wheel to avoid it, and meditate during the rest of the drive home on the selfishness of human nature.

What is the matter with human beings?

Not much. Their instincts are good. They mean to do well. They rather like to co-operate. But few have the urge to take the initiative in putting their co-operative, fellow-helping talents into action. The woman who stops to adjust a needlessly swinging door for those who are to come after, the man who halts to brush broken glass to the other side of the road, only do what the others knew should be done, but failed to do. Why?

Inertia perhaps. Sometimes the fear of being conspicuous. Rarely indifference to the welfare of others.

The red-haired policeman on a busy traffic corner had to leave his post a quarter of an hour the other day.

In five minutes the corner was a chaos of cars, each struggling to jam its way through.

In ten minutes individualism had caused an actual blockade. Neither stream of traffic was getting anywhere.

Then a lean countryman got out of his car, stood in the policeman's place a few moments and was restoring order when the latter returned.

"How'd you happen to think of it?" inquired Red Head genially. "No one ever has before."

"I'm a constable, and felt as though I had authority."

"Authority? Huh!" snorted the representative of social order. "You don't need authority. You need common sense."

DAVE PAUL OFFERS LATEST CLUB PLAN

The women of Wichita Falls are displaying a great deal of interest in "Dave Paul's Community Plate club."

"Club Plan" buying is something quite new to this locality. Mr. Paul tells us that through this system he is able to interest many housewives in a complete equipment of high-grade tableware, who otherwise would not see her way clear to invest in it.

The plan is simplicity itself. By making a nominal initial payment and an extremely modest amount weekly thereafter, the women of Wichita Falls may at once acquire a complete tableware service or whatever pieces they may need to finish out their silverware equipment.

In this way, we are told, the housewife secures the silverware at exactly the same price she would pay if she were to pay the cash all at once. The real appeal of the "Club Plan" seems to lie in its extremely modest demands upon the family exchequer.

Austin and Simmons Battle to Scoreless Tie

BOTH LACK REQUIRED PUNCH TO MAKE COUNT; FEATURES ARE FEW; PUNTING IS GOOD

Austin college and Simmons college battled to a scoreless tie yesterday afternoon at the fair grounds in an evenly matched event in which both teams lacked the necessary punch to put over the deciding score. Only once was the outcome in doubt, when Miller, light Austin back, late in the last quarter, returned a punt for 90 yards over the line, but was called back upon officials' decision that he went out of bounds.

Both teams worked their way down to within striking distance of their opponent's line, but within the shadow of their own goal posts the defending team always rolled the attacker back. The lighter Austin crew showed to disadvantage only under the battering drives of Captain Adams and his running mate Camp, but even these bulwarks of the Simmons offense were not able to pierce the Kangaroo defense when that meant a touchdown. Good punting on the part of both the Cowboys and the Kangaroos was another large explanation of the scoreless outcome. What was missed most was a man who could kick a goal, both teams trying and failing more than once.

Few brilliant plays were registered in the entire game what few extra gains appearing being scattered and all were confined to twenty yards. The long run by Miller was a brilliant feat in itself, despite the fact that he was called back, and it looked like a certain touchdown for the Kangaroos in those last few minutes. It was made along one side of the field, the diminutive quarterback carrying the oval from his own ten-yard line after a punt over the other goal line.

Captain Adams of the Cowboys was the star in a game that was practically featureless. Few times were the Kangaroos able to stop this veteran, and several times he ripped off from five to eight yards through the line.

Had Camp, the other Simmons star plunger, been up to his regular game, the story might have been different. To his credit, it must be said that the line did not seem to open up for him as well as for Adams, his plays many times falling short. He was able to gain about half the time, with few extra yards. Estes ripped off one of the prettiest runs of the game when he twisted dodged, and ran around right-end for twenty yards.

Captain Morgan of the Kangaroos was a demon on the defense, making and getting into almost every tackle. He proved a hard man to get around, defense or offense. Quarterback Allred, light but fast, showed a good head, as did Kimbrough for Simmons, and carried the ball well. Hill and Miller showed up well on the offense. Cone was on the receiving end of a pretty pass by Allred, netting twenty yards.

In the overhead game, neither eleven had the sufficient odds. Simmons completing more short ones and Austin throwing a scare into them with some almost complete long passes. Few were attempted until the last period, when the position of the ball near a goal prevented the use of the last, long chance.

The quarter started off with Austin's rush down the field after receiving, on short, snappy plays.

The quarter started off with Simmons receiving. Adams returned 20 yards, but the ball went over on downs. Austin marched down to within the Simmons' ten-yard line, but were held for downs, and Johnson punted forty yards to safety from behind his own goal line. Quarter ended after exchange of punts.

Austin missed a place kick, and the ball was carried out to Simmons' 20-yard line. Simmons made four first downs. Adams and Camp carrying the ball.

Here Austin stiffened. Simmons punting to their 20-yard line. After several fumbles and penalties the half ended, Simmons' ball on the Austin 38-yard line.

Simmons kicked off. Austin was forced to punt. Estes fumbled on a bad pass from center, recovering on his own goal line. Simmons punted 20 yards out. Austin tried a place kick. Tuck missing. Simmons punted. A pass, Allred to Cone, for 25 yards, placing the ball on Simmons' 20-yard line. Allred missed goal. Adams and Camp made first down. Estes another 20 yards around right end. Quarter ended with the ball in Simmons' possession on Austin's 40-yard line.

A pass, Kimbrough to Johnson, netted 10 yards to start the period. Adams made first down on three plunges. Simmons penalized 10 yards for intentionally grounding pass. Kimbrough missed try for goal. Hill made 8 through Simmons. Austin punted to middle of field. Simmons punted to Austin's ten-yard line. Miller receiving and runing the length of the field. Miller brought back, decision being that he was out of bounds. Austin penalized 15 yards. Coach on the field. Austin completed a long pass. Morgan tried goal, missing from 40-yard line. Simmons punted to fifty-yard line.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The New York Yankees today turned back the Athletics, 8 to 4. Babe Ruth gained a notch on Cy Williams of the Phillies, in their spirited slugging race by poling out his 40th home run. ## Wind Brocade About Head; Result—A Chic Chapeau

By no means the least practical of the many hats shown this season is this one rolled as the Hindu rolls his turban of snowy white. Two yards of silver brocade wound about the head, as illustrated—and the result is a chic chapeau.

A fancy buckle on the end of the brocade could be used to fasten it in place when wound. Of course not every one could wear such a turban becomingly, but for the girl or woman who could, a very clever effect could be obtained by the exercise of a little ingenuity.

Another pretty hat along similar lines is made of gold cloth brocaded with gorgeous colorings and built along tam o'shanter lines. It is made quite high on the left side and brought down softly on the right. A tassel of many colors falls from the center of the crown down the right side to the waist. This is a particularly smart hat for evening year with a fur wrap.

Major Claims Ertle Was In Champ's Employ

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Ga. Oct. 5.—The McTigue-Stribling boxing "fiasco" here yesterday, in which the world's light heavyweight championship swung back and forth like a clock pendulum, had a new angle added to it tonight when Major John Paul Jones, who led promotion of the fight for the local post of the American Legion, stated he had in his possession a contract showing that Harry Ertle, the referee was in th employ of McTigue.

A. C. Wildcats Win.

ABILENE, Texas, Oct. 5.—The Abilene Christian ideat took their second victory of this afternoon from Wesley Bradshaws. Texas Military college eleven, 28 to 0.

The contract alleged to have been signed by McTigue, Ertle and the promoters stipulated that the referee was to receive $250 and expenses for his services.

Major Jones said McTigue agreed to pay Ertle $125 of the amount, and the American Legion post the remaining sum and expenses.

Major Jones adtied that the contract was signed in New York "after a man who claimed he was associated with the New York boxing commission suggested Ertle."

MAJOR TEAMS TO PLAY TODAY

Several Important Struggles Scheduled in The East

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Football will come into its own throughout the country tomorrow with virtually all major elevens in action.

In the east, several important inter-sectional struggles are scheduled, while the "Big Three"—Harvard, Princeton and Yale—will undergo their initial tests.

Yale faces probably the stiffest assignment for its opening game in an inter-sectional affair with North Carolina university at New Haven. Last year the Tar Heel team was beaten by the Elis, 18 to 0, and despite injuries to several stars, the southerners hope to make even better showing against the Bull Dog this year.

Harvard, although minus some of its 1923 celebrities, notably Charley Buell, is not expected to have much trouble disposing of Rhode Island. Princeton, whose prospects are as much a mystery now as they were before the start of the 1922 season, in which the Tiger was unbeaten, figures to down Johns-Hopkins decisively.

The army's powerful combination, which ran rough-shod over Tennessee last Saturday, tackles another southern opponent in the University of Florida at West Point.

AGGIES RAN INTO STRONG DEFENSE

By The Associated Press.

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 5.—The Aggies met an unexpected defense in the Southwestern university team this afternoon and were forced to open up a passing game in order to make gains of worthwhile amount.

"Bull" Johnson made the first touchdown in the first quarter when he recovered a fumbled punt near the goal line. The second came in the latter part of the fourth quarter when Gill passed to Evans for 25 yards.

Southwestern threatened the Aggie goal only once, when they came within 30 yards, and tried for a field goal.

T. C. U. TEAM IN STILLWATER

By The Associated Press.

STILLWATER, Okla., Oct. 5.—Texas Christian University's football squad, 24 strong, arrived here tonight from Fort Worth, ready for their first game of the season tomorrow with Oklahoma A. & M. college of Oklahoma.

Both teams were drilled in signals this afternoon.

Still smarting under their defeat by Iowa last Saturday, the Oklahoma Aggies are eager to "take it out" on the Texans.

While nothing is known as to the comparative strength of the Christians, it is remembered that they swamped the Aggies last year at Fort Worth, 22 to 14.

WILL MELHORN LEADS THE FIELD

WICHITA, Kans., Oct. 5.—William Melhorn of St. Louis led the field in the opening round of the second annual mid-continent golf tournament here today when he turned in a 66 for the par 74, Wichita Country club course.

MAJOR LEAGUERS CAN BARNSTORM

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Major league players, excluding those participating in the world's series, will have until November 10 to engage in barnstorming exhibitions, Commissioner Landis ruled tonight. This is an extension of 10 days over the time previously granted. The reason for the extension is due to the late closing of the major league season.

CHICAGO GIRL IS NOW RUNNER-UP

By The Associated Press.

RYE, N. Y., Oct. 5.—A courageous golfing girl from Chicago, Miss Edith Cummings, pushed her way into the final round of the women's national golf championship today by overcoming an almost hopeless handicap and defeating Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, conqueror of Glenna Collett, one up, in 20 holes. With Mrs. Vanderbeck dormie two, the Chicago girl won the 17th with perfect golf, squared the match at the 18th with an eight foot putt downhill and won at the 20th when her opponent missed her tee shot.

In the final round tomorrow, a gruelling test at 36 holes, the Chicagoan will meet Alexa Stirling, three time champion, who eliminated Mrs. Elizabeth Hardin Goss of Baltusrol, N. J., two up, after a close round in which Mrs. Goss always was pressing on her heels.

LOOS IS LEADING IN KANSAS MATCH

By The Associated Press.

WICHITA Kans., Oct. 5.—Eddie Loos of Chicago, and Joe Kirkwood of New York, former Australian champion led a field of professionals and amateurs today in the mid-continent open golf tournament, each shooting 135 for the 36 holes. These scores are 13 under par. The final 36 holes will be played tomorrow.

WESTERN TEAMS ALL PLAY TODAY

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Every team in the western conference will swing into action tomorrow in games regarded as the final practice contests to put the elevens on edge for the start of the championship season a week hence. All the "Big Ten" entries will face opponents outside the conference.

The most important engagements promise to be the game between Nebraska, always a contender for the Missouri Valley title, and Illinois, at Urbana, while Chicago will take on the Colorado Aggies, champions of the Rocky Mountain conference for three of the last five years.

KANSAS CITY IS STILL FIGHTING

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Kansas City clung tenaciously to its one game lead in the American association pennant race today by winning from Toledo while St. Paul likewise held to its slender hope of eventually winning the pennant, by downing Louisville, 7 to 2.

The Standing Tonight.

| Club— | Won | Lost |
|---|---|---|
| Kansas City | 109 | 54 |
| St. Paul | 109 | 56 |

Kansas City can now drop one of its three remaining games and still win the flag, even if St. Paul wins both of its remaining games.

NEBRASKA HAS EDGE ON ILLINI

Cornhuskers Will Have 7 "N" Men in Lineup Saturday

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 5.—Nebraska will have the advantage of experience again Illinois Saturday on Illinois field in the biggest early season football game in the midwest.

"The Cornhuskers will probably have seven "N" men in the lineup while Illinois counts on six "I" wearers. Comparison of the number of letter men on each team does not give a good idea as to the relative experience of the two teams for it is found that Nebraska has green ends, experienced guards, green center, one experienced and one green tackle, experienced quarterback and experienced half and full back; while Illinois has experienced ends, experienced guards, if Miller, veteran guard is in condition, substitute center, green tackles, green quarterback, green fullback and one experienced and one green halfback.

Nebraska won the Missouri Valley conference championship last year while Illinois made a comparatively poor showing in the Big Ten.

The game will give Zuppke just what he is looking for in the way of experience for his men. "Zup" wanted a hard game for the opener and from all appearance he has got one.

The composition of the Illini backfield is fairly certain with Harold Grange, and Wallie McIlwain, halfbacks, Walter Crawford or Earl Britton, fullback, Harry Hall, quarterback. Grange is expected to give a good account of himself as he has shown up well in scrimmages. Open field running in his capacity, McIlwain is hard hitting back capable at running, interference, and hitting the line. Britton and Crawford are sophomores and Hall is a new pilot, not spectacular, but believed to have brains. Coutchie and Baur are other quarterbacks who may be used in emergency, and Rune Clark, Maurer Jenks, and Heinie Schultz are the reserve backs.

Capt. Jim McMillen will again be in guard with Miller, 1922 guard at the other berth if he is in condition. Chellie Chambers and Mittenwaltner are substitute guards.

Umuna, another guard, is being used at center as Viv Green is crippled. Gil Roberts, sub center, is also sidelined. Neill, a sophomore, is another possibility for center.

Dick Hall, 230 pound sophomore, tackle, will probably play one tackle, while Margolis, "Chuck" Brown, Dick Wagner, Oakes and Jackel are other candidates.

Roknsek and Richards, veteran ends, have first claim on the flank jobs with Gruenberg, Robison and Cord Lips as substitutes.

Nebraska will probably place in motion one of the "sweetest" backfields even seen on Illinois field. It is composed of Capt. Lewellen, quarterback; Noble and H. Dewitt, halfbacks; and Harmon, fullback. This quartet are starting their third year together.

ALLOTMENTS

otal Practically Assured By This Coming May

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 5.—Although the allotment to public schools of the state this year is only $12 per capita or $1 less than the apportionment of last year, the schools are practically assured the total allotment by this coming May, according to S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction. Marrs said today he expects to request the first one dollar apportionment of the year within the coming few days.

It was after January 1 last year when the schools received their first allotment for the 1922-23 school year, the school superintendent pointed out. The final payment for that year was not made until sometime in August. This year, however, Superintendent Marrs stated he expects to ask for the apportionment of school funds as fast as the school funds become available in the general revenue fund.

One of the principal results of this plan is that the schools will receive through the regular apportionments considerable amounts which otherwise would be transferred to the credit of the textbook fund, Mr. Marrs said. This is made possible by the fact that Superintendent Marrs has agreed with State Comptroller Smith not to transfer any of the textbook funds until the first of the year.

"The public schools can expect most of their apportionment for the present year before they close next spring," Superintendent Marrs said. "This has the advantage of permitting funds to accumulate to the credit of the school fund during the summer months so that payments will begin promptly next year with the opening of the schools. There is little possibility that the $12 apportionment for this year will be increased to $13, as many of the schools would be closed before the apportionment could be assured."

The $12 apportionment will insure only a four months term to all the schools of the state. Remaining funds to maintain city and county schools for the rest of the nine months session must come from local taxation, it is stated.

NEW RECRUITING SARGE IS HERE

Sergeant Edward H. Burke of the army recruiting service, has arrived in the city to take over the duties of the local recruiting station. Corporal Hammond who was formerly in charge having been relieved and ordered to the Dallas station.

Applicants between the ages of eighteen (18) and twenty-one (21) are requested to furnish the recruiting officer with written consent of parents or legally appointed guardians to enlist. The documents will include their statement of the age or date of birth.

Applicants under twenty-one (21) years of age, claiming that he has neither parents or guardians will be told that he can not be enlisted until he has a guardian appointed and secured guardians written consent to his enlistment.

Applicants, otherwise qualified, claiming prior service and that they are twenty-one (21) years of age or over may be enlisted, as at present, on their personal affidavits, which will in addition to statement of prior service, show age claimed.

Applicants claiming to be twenty-one (21) or over must furnish the recruiting officer evidence of age before enlistment can be made.

GILLIS GIRL NOT "BARGAIN BABY?"

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 5.—Positive denial that Shirley Frances, the adopted three-year-old daughter of Mrs. Rene Gillis, is the daughter of Mrs. Zelma Baldwin H. Adams of Fort Worth, was made by Mrs. Agnes Darrough Weaver this afternoon in her testimony before District Judge Royal R. Watkins.

Mrs. Weaver testified from her couch after having been taken to the court house in an ambulance, being too ill to sit up. She said that when the Adams baby is found, it will be discovered that there is a scar behind the left ear which was the result of an operation shortly after it was born.

RAILROAD APPLIES TO DRILL WELL

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Oct. 5.—Application of the Trinity and Brazos Valley railroad for authority to drill oil wells on its right of way in the Powell field in Navarro county was heard today by R. B. Walthall, chief of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission. It was taken under advisement but it is understood that two of the three permits requested will be granted. A third, asked in the center of the right of way, probably will be denied. Representatives of 19 oil companies protested against the well in the center of the company's holdings.

Warships Visit Sweden.

By The Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM.—Sweden has been host to more naval visitors from foreign countries during six weeks this summer than ever before within so short a period, and the people look on these courteous attentions as a sign of growing interest in the country's trade and political position in the north of Europe.

Ten countries in all have sent war vessels to Sweden, and ten different ports, including Stockholm, Gothenberg, and Malmo, have been visited. The U. S. cruiser Pittsburgh has just left Stockholm, where its officers participated in the memorial services for the late President Harding. The U. S. battleship North Dakota also was in Swedish waters this summer.

Reulbach's Mark Stands Alone

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Reams of copy have been written around the masterful pitching feats in past world's series.

How Babe Adams turned back the Tigers three times while a mere rookie.

How Christy Mathewson, "Big Six," made history in 1905.

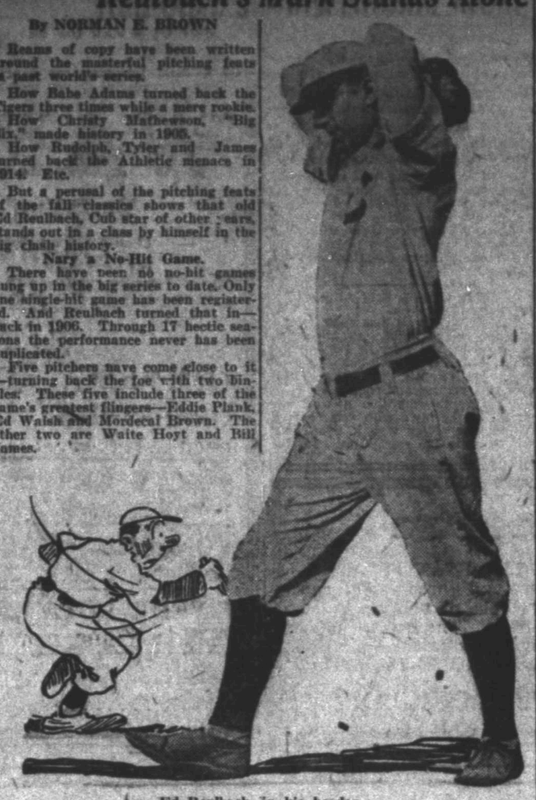

How Rudolph, Tyler and James turned back the Athletic menace in 1914? Etc.

But a perusal of the pitching feats of the fall classics shows that old Ed Reulbach, Cub star of other years, stands out in a class by himself in the big clash history.

Nary a No-Hit Game.

There have been no no-hit games hung up in the big series to date. Only one single-hit game has been registered. And Reulbach turned that in—back in 1906. Through 17 hectic seasons the performance never has been duplicated.

Five pitchers have come close to it—turning back the foe with two singles. These five include three of the game's greatest flingers—Eddie Plank, Ed Walsh and Mordecai Brown. The other two are Waite Hoyt and Bill James.

Ed Reulbach in his heyday.

These records show that 1906 furnished the greatest dish of pitching ever served up for world's series fans. Reulbach let the White Sox down with one hit in the second game. Walsh got revenge by holding the Cubs to two hits the next game and in the fourth fray Brown duplicated Walsh's feat. One one-hit and a pair of two-hit games in three days.

Fifteen Allow Three.

Fifteen hurlers have turned in three-hit games. And there is an odd fact brought to light by these figures. That is that no one pitcher has turned in two of these remarkable few hit games. None has registered two games under four hits.

The late lamented 1919 series between the Reds and White Sox (then undermined by the Black Sox) produced three three-hit games, pitched by Kerr, Ring and Eller.

Art Nehf turned in the best little game of the Giant-Yankee series to date—his three-hit game against the Hugmen in 1921. Fate was against him that day, however, as he lost the game 3 to 0.

Perhaps hitless Sam Jones, Herb Pennock or the young courageous Bill Ryan will turn in such a game this year. Who knows? But as matters stand now Reulbach holds the highest pedestal.

Guard School.

AUSTIN—A school of instruction for all officers of the Thirty-sixth division, Texas National guard, will be held at Camp Mabry here next April. This decision has just been reached by the adjutant general's department after conferences with Major General John A. Hulen, commander of the division.

Over 500 officers will attend the school, which will discuss military problems of every description. The school is planned to be held separately from the annual encampment of the Texas national guard.

For Bootlegging "Within The Law"

Sir Broderick Hartwell.

Sir Broderick Hartwell is said to be embarrassing the British government by his announcement of plans to promote a trans-Atlantic rum-running enterprise just outside the proposed twelve-mile limit of the United States, should that be established. The anchoring of a British ship outside the twelve-mile limit for the purpose of selling liquor to American rum-runners would be perfectly legal.

SMALL OIL CITY IS ATTRACTION

"From Well to Consumer" Is Complete in Humble Display

A miniature reproduction of the Bay Town refinery is on exhibit at the Texas-Oklahoma fair and exposition under the direction of the Humble Oil and Refining company, Houston.

A rotary drill is at work in this exhibit. A standard rig is pumping the oil, while nearby is a gusher, flowing oil nearly to the top of the derrick. The crude oil from the gusher is sent to the "1,600 barrel" storage tanks through pipe lines and from there the oil goes into "55,000 barrel" tanks, then into the pipe lines, through pumping stations and on into the refinery. From the refinery the "47 products" are sent in tank cars to their destinations.

Tiny electric lights illumine the refining district. Electricity is in the houses and buildiing in the territory. Shacks representative of the oil field dwellings are to be found in the miniature oil field. Even the clothes line in the back yard with the washing hanging upon it is given in the reproduction. In the edge of the oil field is a farm home, almost surrounded by the things which come with the finding of oil. The poultry house and the wind mill are left along with the house.

Oil field roads have their place, but the paved roads of the refining district have the traffic of the day. Automobiles and trucks are there the same as elsewhere. The Dayton-Goose Creek railroad winds its way among the wells and buildings. Signals of "Look Out for the Cars" are found at the crossings. An acident occurred at one of the crossings, when a car was overturned. Red Cross nurses from the nearby refinery hospital have been rushed to the scene of the accident to take care of the injured.

The refinery itself is an exact replica of the Bay Town refinery. The products are sent away to the different places in tank cars. Gasoline is sent to many filling stations, and one little station, complete to the minutest detail receives the product.

Much work has been done in preparing this exhibit for the fair. Three men worked four months to get the "refinery" ready. L. P. Stephenson was engineer, and he was assisted by Burt Holdredge. J. E. Stewart was electrician. All the men are from Houston.

When the Texas-Oklahoma fair and exposition is over, the exhibit will be shipped to the state fair at Dallas.

France Faces Problem of Unseaworthy Ships

By The Associated Press.

PARIS.—French freighters of a certain type have earned such a bad reputation among seafaring men, that today sailors are refusing to go to sea on them, while naval draughtsmen declare they should be taken out of service altogether.

Twelve such vessels were built by the government during the war. Their holds are clear, with no bulkheads, which permits the sudden shifting of cargo, and their water ballast tanks have a trick of filling unexpectedly. Five of them already have turned over. The last was the Emile Durant, which rolled over without warning and drowned 19 members of the crew.

Nevertheless, some sailors are occasionally found, from time to time, who will take a chance, so several of the craft are still at sea.

Mexico Takes Steps to Enforce Dry Law

By The Associated Press.

SAN LUIS POTOSI, Mexico.—First steps to comply with Article 119 of the constitution of 1917, which provides that all states take measures against alcoholism, have been taken b the state of San Luis Potosi. Under a law just promulgated by the retiring governor, Rafael Nieto, the establishment of new breweries and distilleries is prohibited and existing plants are enjoined from increasing their capacity.

Ten per cent of the liquor licenses granted by the municipality yearly by lot, and the manufacture of liquor of high alcoholic content will be prohibited entirely after July 1, 1928. The law is being violently opposed.

LABOR TO DEPEND ON ORGANIZATION

By The Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 5.—Labor will devote its efforts toward organization of workers rather than rely entirely upon legislative action for the correction of industrial evil as a program of action at the convention of American Federation of Labor today after consideration of the decision of the United States supreme court nullifying the minimum wage law, for women. For the purpose of carrying on an intensive drive to organize women and other workers which the legislation was intended to benefit, a conference of international officers was ordered.

War Hatreds Still Alive.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON.—It is too soon to expect the end of racial antipathies engendered by the war, in the opinion of the rector of a small town in Norfolk. He recently learned a lesson that was pointed and conclusive.

Wanting to embellish a war memorial in the town with some carved figures, the rector took it upon himself to order the work done. In due time the figures arrived and were installed. Then the trouble began, for it was learned that the figures had been carved in Germany. A storm of indignation broke upon the head of the rector. He appealed to his church superiors for support, which was not forthcoming, and then retired as gracefully as might be from his impossible position.

WHEAT MARKET WEAK AT CLOSE

Word That Intended Relief Did Not Sustain Price

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Although word that President Coolidge and the cabinet were considering farm relief measures had some tonic effect on the wheat market today, buying failed to develop sufficient volumne to support values. The close was weak, 1-8 to 3-8 cents net lower, with December $1.07 1-2@1.07 5-8 and May $1.11 3-8. Corn finished at a range varying from 3-4 to 7-8 cent decline to 3-4 cent advance. Oats 1-8 cent to 1-4c@3-8c down and provisions 5 cents to 25 cents up.

Corn and oats followed wheat evening that old corn continued scarce and rose to new high price records for the season.

Provisions were stronger in line with the hog market.

Fort Worth Livestock.

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 5.—Salesmen did not experience any difficulty in finding buyers for their holdings at steady prices today.

Consignments of cows changed hands readily, values being in line with those prevailing Thursday. A string of drive-ins went at $3 and 2.25. Medium to good cows brought 3.25@3.75. Cutters sold mostly at 2@2.85. Canners cleared at a spread of 1.50@1.90.

Bulls were purchased at the usual range and the demand was fairly good. Medium to good calves brought 5.50@6.00.

A scarcity of receipts developed in the stocker division. The market was steady. Good steers are quotable at 6.00@6.50 and fair to medium kinds are bringing 4.50@5.25.

Packers buyers were more willing in the hog market, and it was a very seasonable hour when it opened. Prices were steady to 10 cents higher. Bulk sales made a range of 7.35@8.00. Receipts amounted to only 1,000 head.

Sheep receipts 100. Steady on all classes and unchanged.

Cottonseed Oil.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Cottonseed oil was firmer today on an urgent demand from shorts in nearby positions, occasioned by reports of light offerings of crude, absence of tenders and the better tone of lard. Closing bids were 35 to 48 points net higher. Sales 11,000 barrels prime crude 8.75@9.00; prime summer yellow spot 12.10 bid; October closed 11.48; December 10.12; March 10.23; May 10.40, all bid.

British To Wait

By The Associated Press.

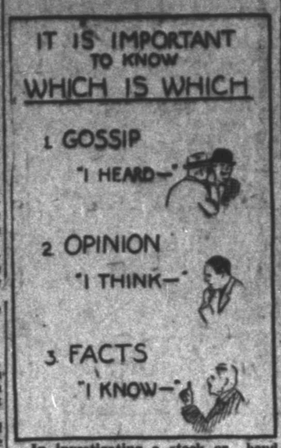

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The present policy of the British government on reparations is to wait the next move from France, now that Germany has "converted her passive resistance into passive assistance," Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon told the premiers in addressing the imperial conference today.

MONEY At Work

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO KNOW WHICH IS WHICH

In investigating a stock or bond, prior to investing it is exceedingly important to distinguish between facts, opinion, and gossip.

As for facts, care should be taken to get them all and get them right. Half the truth is often more dangerous than none.

As for opinions, ask these questions: "Whose are they? What are the qualifications of those issuing them?" Because some man happens to be an uncle or an old friend of the family, does not necessarily make his opinion better than that of a trusted family banker.

As for gossip—watch out! Because "it is reported" does not make it so. Most gossip is started by those who have motives for circulating unsound advice. The report, "Now is the time to buy ABC stock" may have been started by some insider who has good reasons for wanting to sell.

Before you make an investment get the facts. Get reliable advice, if you wish. Then do some thinking for yourself. Make your own decision.

MARKET SHOWS LOW TENDENCY

Speculative Sentiment Unsettled—Opening Tone Heavy

Market Features.

Total stock sales 568,000 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 90.42; net loss .50.

High 1923, 105.38; low, 86.29.

Twenty railroads averaged 82.70; net loss .07.

High 1923, 90.51; low, 79.53.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Speculative sentiment in today's stock market was still unsettled with the main tendency toward lower levels. Business was again on a reduced scale.

The opening tone was heavy, but fairly good support was forthcoming, particularly in the oils, tobaccos and chemicals, and thereafter prices seesawed within comparatively narrow limits. Stocks were pointed upward in the afternoon, but they eased off again just before the close.

Selling pressure was concentrated largely on the motor, rubber, textile and copper shares.

Wall street heard reports during the day that some of the big copper companies were contemplating the shutting down of their mills from Friday until Monday morning until such time as the metal market became more stabilized. Such action, it was pointed out, probably would mean a 20 per cent reduction in output. Copper stocks on hand are now reported to be equivalent to one month's supply. Special strength was again shown by certain of the tobacco shares, tobacco products and the A. stock and American tobacco B, closing about two points higher and Liggett-Myers B jumping 10 points.

The weekly mercantile review threw little new light on the business situation. Bradstreets reported an expansion in fall jobbing and retail trade demands, particularly in the south, but added that caution and conservatism are still the guiding elements. Dun's declares that "the situation is uneven, and presents many contrasts," yet a large business is being done in many quarters at prices above those of a year ago, and there are indications that some buyers who are not active in the markets now may before long find it necessary to replenish stocks of goods.

Call money opened at 4 1-2, but advanced to 5 before close. Time money and commercial paper markets were quiet with no change in rates. Foreign exchanges were firmer, demand sterling being quoted around $4.55 1-2 and French francs around 5.95 cents.

COTTON UP BUT DOWN AT CLOSE

Talk of Domestic Mill Curtailment Responsible For Decline

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The cotton market was lower today under selling which seemed chiefly due to less favorable reports from the goods trade and talk of domestic mill curtailment. After selling at 28.15 early December rallied to 28.35, but later broke to 27.84 and closed at 27.85. The general market closed easy at net declines of 46 to 59 points.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of 17 to 25 points. After net losses of about 25 to 34 points the market rallied on private reports of showers in the southwest and bullish spot market advices.

The latter included reiterated reports that New England mill interests were buying low grade cotton in the southwest; and telegrams reached here from New Orleans stating that Texas exporting interests were in the market there for the better grades. The rally carried October contracts up to 28.63 and January to 27.82, or about 20 to 22 points above the low level of the morning. The market weakened again during the afternoon, when there were vague rumors that there might be curtailment by Carolina mills as well as in New England. There were comparatively few buyers around the ring, apparently, and soon prices were off to 28.20 for October and 27.34 for January, or 50 to 59 points net lower. The close was within a point or two of the lowest on the active positions.

New Orleans Cotton.

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5.—It was a lower market in cotton today, the opening call bringing fairly wide sags, the later trading bringing a gradual downward movement while toward the end the decline was somewhat more rapid and lowest levels were reached on the close when the active positions were 62 to 70 points under the final quotations of yesterday. Closing sales of December ranged from 27.20 to 27.33. Comment on the floor was that much of the pressure came from hedge sellers, some brokers stating there was big buying of spots last night and big selling of hedges against these purchases today.

In the early session the poor Liverpool market, estimated sales of print cloths at Fall river for the week of only 80,000 pieces and predictions from New Bedford that further closing down of mill would be heard of, more than offset the unfavorable weather map, too much cloudy and rainy weather being noted over the belt, with prospects of more to come in some sections, while the first frost warning of the season was issued for the extreme western portion of North Carolina.

SHREWD CRIMINALS EASILY OVERREACH EUROPE'S POLICE

VIENNA.—The many frontiers of central Europe, in some cases no farther apart than state lines in America, are a great help to criminals, and much of the recent increase in a certain type of crime in this part of the world is laid to the ease with which a forehanded offender can skip into another country and claim sanctuary.

This aspect of things has been brought out clearly at the international police congress that has just come to an end in Vienna. It would appear that defraudations, forgeries, embezzlements and thefts are committed with relative immunity, granted the criminal has a wised passport in his pocket, and gets a start of a few hours on the police. False passports sometimes serve just as well as legitimate ones. The pursuing police often as not are unprepared to follow, and must go through the slow channels of diplomacy to get permission to cross a nearby frontier.

Criminality has assumed vast proportions since the close of the war. Vienna is on the crossroads leading to many countries, and has become the sporting ground of innumerable bands of international thieves and adventurers. The Vienna police admit that the city is overrun with foreign criminals from all parts of the world, and every day discloses new methods of operation. In 1919, of 193 persons implicated in the forging of currency, only 15 were foreigners. In 1921 the ratio of foreigners was 308 out of 486. There are issuers of false checks, pickpockets, hotel and railroad thieves, burglars, safe-crackers, adventurers, and imposters without number. In nine cases out of ten they make good their escape because of the inability of the criminal officers to follow them up beyond the frontiers of their own country, and because of the time that is invariably lost before proof of identity and the circumstances of the crime can be placed in the hands of the police authorities of the new place of sojourn of the malefactor.

The criminal has the advantage of the police at every turn, it would appear from the discussions before the congress. He takes advantage of every improvement in traveling conditions, and every new conquest of science. Not so the police, who are local in their activities and have no international character. Many existing formalities must be swept aside before the police can even hope successfully to cope with their astute opponents.

To this end a resolution aimed at better international police organization and intercourse was accepted by the congress. It will later be submitted to a plenary session and, if acceptable, then go to the various governments concerned for ratification.

In the meantime the field for the malefactor is open, and the "crime wave" is rolling on, increasing as it travels.

AUSTIN Texas, Oct. 5.—Appeals of L. A. Ballard, Jones county, from a 25-year murder sentence, was filed in the court of criminal appeals Wednesday. Ballard was convicted of killing Frank Bates, Oct. 20, 1921.

Traffic Improves On Ruhr Railroads In French Hands

COLOGNE. — Constant improvement, in efficiency and economic results, in the operation of the German railway system in the occupied areas is pointed out in statistics tabulated by French officials. Every month, according to these statistics, shows an unanticipated increase in the number of passengers carried and merchandise transported, as well as additional trackage brought under the control of the occupation authorities.

In order, however, to obtain an accurate perspective of what this railway system, one of the most complicated in the world, was like before the occupation as compared with its present status — undoubtedly greatly improved within the past few months —it is necessary to compare it as it is today not only with what it was a few months ago but also with what it was before it was taken over by French and Belgian administrators.

Trackage: In March of this year the occupation authorities were using 865 miles of track, and in July—the latest month on which figures are available — they were using 2,130 miles. The whole system in the Rhineland and Ruhr occupied areas, as operated by the Germans before the occupation, consisted of 7,150 miles of track. Since very few miles are still being operated under German management, therefore, some 5,000 miles of track are still rusting.

Personnel: In March 11,080 French and Belgian train operators, six German trainmen and 2,300 German auxiliary workers were employed on the occupied system; or a total of 13,446 persons. In July, 19,383 French and Belgian trainmen, 357 German trainmen and 9,224 German auxiliary workers—a total of 24,964 persons—were employed. Before the occupation the total personnel, including officials and workmen, amounted to 207,000. Of this number about 200,000 have left the occupied area or have been expelled, leaving about 65,000 former employes still in the occupied zone to do whatever emergency work they can.

Passenger Traffic: In March 600,000 passengers, including German civilians and military travellers, were carried on the trains, whereas in July the passenger traffic had increased to 2,410,000 persons, of whom about two-thirds were German civilians. This, of course, was despite the German edict, tacit or formal, against the use of French trains by German civilians.

During the months of October, November and December, 1922, the passenger traffic over the German-managed lines, judging from the number of tickets sold, amounted to 97,254,000 persons, making the monthly list of passengers about 32,418,000, as compared with 2,410,000 carried on the French train during July, 1923.

COMMITTEE TO CONFER ON TAX

Is Appointed to See Mayor Following Paddock Talk

Following an address by Walter W. Pollock, president of the Manufacturer's Appraisal company of Philadelphia, before the business council of the chamber of commerce at noon yesterday Mayor Collier suggested that a committee be appointed by the president of the council to confer with the mayor and the council regarding the contemplated adoption of a taxation system for the city. The suggestion was acted upon favorably. T. P. Duncan, president of the council, asked that the committee report back to the business council at its regular weekly meeting next Friday.

"The lack of knowledge of proper valuation," Mr. Pollock ascribed in his address as the cause for most dissatisfaction in the assessment of taxes and explained in some detail the working plan of the taxation system his company applies. Most of the complaint regarding taxes, he said, was due not so much to the fact that people dislike to pay taxes as it is up to the fact that relative values are not considered in making up valuations. Land values, improvement values, property location, depreciation and other items must be considered, the speaker said.

Withthe aid of a chart of the principal down town streets of Wichita Falls, Mr. Pollock showed how valuations are property determined, and concluded his talk with a discussion of several points brought up answering several questions regarding the theory of valuation.

To Have Operation.

Word that Miss Edith Maricle, prominent Wichita Falls girl attending the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, was taken suddenly ill with an attack of appendicitis was received here by her brother, Ralph Maricle, about midnight Thursday. She was to be operated on at Dallas immediately, her brother said.

Braid Trimmed

The frock shown is a so-called sports model. It has lines that suggest the coat frock. The wide, circular cuffs and cape collar are the points of difference. The braid trimming in a key design is used in varying widths and is very attractive.

This particular costume is developed in white chinchilla satin and a white felt sports hat is worn with it. It is a pattern that would make up well in the much worn twill or crepe and in dark colors as well as light. Braid trimming is very much worn with these two materials as well as embroidery and either could be used here to advantage.

A plain front panel somewhat shorter than the rest of the frock forms the uneven hem. The circular cuffs are unique and quite popular just now, many of them being slit up a considerable way toward the elbow. Predictions are to the effect that the bateau necks are going out, but they are still being featured in some of the newest frocks and are much liked especially by the younger element. This cape collar gives much the same neckline.

SEC'Y OF NORTH DAKOTA FAIR HERE

F. H. Montgomery, secretary of the North Dakota state fair, dropped in yesterday to call on President George Keith and Secretary C. H. Verscholye, of the Texas-Oklahoma fair. Then he opened his eyes. The North Dakota state fair is one of the so-called "big 4" of the north, and Mr. Montgomery did not realize that Wichita Falls had such a fair as he saw yesterday.

This is the North Dakota man's first trip to the south. For years he had wanted to come to Dixie, especially during the fair season, but he never made the grade until this year. When the North Dakota state fair was on Mr. Montgomery told Mr. Fred Beckmann, one of the owners of the Wortham shows, he wanted to come south.

Mr. Beckmann tendered him the courtesy of the Wortham shows if he would come. Mr. Montgomery joined the shows at Sioux City, Ia., fair and came south with them. He left at Enid to visit Oklahoma City fair and another fair in Arkansas. To the latter fair he drove in a machine. He encountered Lis first ferry on that ride. Likewise he saw many things novel to a northern man.

Yesterday he arrived in Wichita Falls with Mr. Robert Lohmar general agent for the Morris and Castle shows. They went out to the fair, where Mr. Verschoyle made Mr. Montgomery guest of honor. He will remain, and leave with the Wortham shows, to visit the State Fair of Texas. Mr. Montgomery is one of the best fair men in the north. He is having the time of his life on the southern trip, everything being new to him.

BABIES AT FAIR GET GOOD CARE

In order to make the concluding days of the Texas-Oklahoma fair and exposition pleasant ones for the mothers with small children, the Day Nursery of the Better Babies building will be open in the evenings as well as in the day time. Extra nurses will be there to take care of the children.

Mothers have patronized the day Nursery and have felt assured that their babies would be well cared for. In the last few days two sets of twins less than three months old were left with the nurses. From 35 to 40 babies have been cared for each day during the fair.

The clinic for the examination of babies closed Friday evening. Today the judging will take place in choosing the perfect babies.

Clothesline.

We often drive along and see
A house of noble symmetry,
A wide facade of brick and stone
That only splendid folks must own;
A stretch of lawn, a group of trees,
And posies nodding in the breeze.
A high iron fence about the place
Which wealth has made a scene of grace.

Sometimes we've thought how different
Their days must be than those we've spent.
But often there's a proof to claim
All lives are very much the same.
For in the yard the clothesline taut
Holds garments we have often bought—
Small woolen bands, and cotton squares
And clothes just like our baby wears!

Checks Save Miles—

A hundred years ago it was often necessary for a business man to travel many a rough mile with his money to settle an account.

Later it became possible to send his money by express. Today he merely sits at his desk and writes a check in settlement of an account at home or abroad.
